A BOOST FOR WOLFVILLE

United States Writer Describes Blossom Time in the Annapolis Valley

A book published in the United States this spring should be of interest to the people of this section. It is called "Ambling Through Acadia", and is written by Charles Hanson Towne, who describes a trip he made through the Annapolis Valley last summer. In the chapter entitled, "The Orchards at Last", he gives a splendid description of the apple blossoms, and incidentally gives a boost for Wolfville. This is what he says:

"Some one had told us we should stop over at Kentville, but when I learned that it was a railroad centre, filled most of the time with commercial travellers, and boasted proudly of a sanatorium big enough to house between two hundred and fifty and three hundred tubercular patients, it didn't appeal to me much. We were more than eager to make Wolfville without further delay, to get into the Land of Evangeline we had come to see. Moreover, a certain lithograph which had greeted us from almost every Inn at which we stopped, showing Longfellow's heroine standing in the midst of a radiant orchard, got a bit on our nerves. I was weary of vicarious glimpses of the apple trees and I knew that if we didn't soon find them in their bright abundance we should feel cheated.

"So, without stopping at bustling Kentville, we allowed our train to carry us on to the next important stop; and, sure enough, Wolfville lived up to its glided reputation.

"It was like finding oneself suddenly in a cloud of bloom. What drifts of wonder enveloped us. It is a strange and beautiful sensation to be in so deep an orchard that one cannot see where it begins or ends—something like sailing on a pink and white ocean of tenuous blossoms, with no coast line to tell just when the journey will be over. All around us that magical purity, that glory of color and dream. It was as if we wandered in a fairy tale, the world well lost. What drifts of beauty what Niagaras of wonder poured their radiance upon us! We were melted in joy, bathed in dazzling beauty. Showers of radiance surrounded us, and through the pink-white blossoms we could see shafts of sunlight falling, and now and then a flake of the loveliness fell upon us, as though a star had lightly touched us on the shoulder. Oh! those clean blossoms! to be so magically amid them, to have them over us like clouds and drifts of snow, making a very heaven of the good earth.

"It seemed to me that all the magic of all time dwelt in these rich orchards, that never could I wish for anything more than the marvel of wandering through these aisles of beauty, these lanes of delight. If but this magic could last forever! If this white glory would never end, this moment abide always!

Never had I been in such opulent orchards. Never had I felt so aloof from the world—even on the wide turbulent ocean. There were no sounds to disturb the peace of these paths. And one by one, in these late spring days of Canada, "the leaves of life were falling," the shower of perfection would be over in a few short weeks—perhaps in less time than that. Wandering through those aisles how could one wish for greater beauty?

There are times that we never forget, when all the wonder of life seems to be packed and crowded into one bewildering instant, and the heart grows faint with what seems to be life's highest moment. Where was the train we had left? Yet why should we care. I wished that this torrent of wonder would pour over my heart till the end of time. Heaven, I thought, could not be more filled with radiance. Above us, beneath us, the piercing beauty shone."

The book also contains an occasional poem written by the author. The best is one he wrote after looking down at night from a hilltop at Wolfville on blooming apple orchards shining in the moonlight and saw "the shafts of moonlight strike the apple trees with a new radiance." of which these are the first lines: I saw the blossoms shining in many a Wolfville lane; Along the road to Grand Pre I watched the orchards gleam; I saw them in the sunlight and through the rustling rain— Long regiments of fairy stuff and endless drift of dream. Orchards, orchards, apple orchards, snow-white even in June; But oh! how wonderful they looked beneath the ghostly moon.

Since our editorial on conditions on the water front was printed the notice from the Health Officer, which appears in another column, was handed in. We are pleased to note that action is to be taken and will be very glad to report progress as it is made, as well as to assist in any way in our power in having the necessary improvement made.

RETAINS HER TITLE

Suzanne Lenglen, the French tennis star, last Friday at Wimbledon defeated Miss Kathleen McKane, the best of Britain's tennis playing women, by the score of 6-2, 6-2, and so won for the fifth successive season the title of world's champion.

OUT IN FRONT

(By the Pioneer Sergeant)

IT is not our intention
TO incite peaceful citizens
TO disregard the laws
OF the land.
WE have yet to spend
A NIGHT in the cooler
OURSELVES.
POSSIBLY due to the LENGTH of our legs,
AT any rate
WE would prefer not
TO see any of our friends
TAKE up their residence
THERE,
ALTHOUGH it is
MORE comfortable now.
WE are led to believe
THAT the Chairman of the POLICE Committee
HAD cause to fine
ONE of our suburban friends
THE paltry sum of
TWENTY-FIVE dollars
THE other day
FOR driving without numbers.
SAID suburban friend
IMMEDIATELY touched another friend
FOR that amount
AND paid the fine.
IT cost him twenty-five dollars.
WE can well remember
A similar gruesome instance
IN the distant past.
THE fine was the same but
IT was never paid.
POSSIBLY there were no
CONVENIENT friends
WHO could be touched.
AT any rate the Council
HAD compassion and
CANCELLED the fine.
APPARENTLY
OUR suburban friend
WAS not familiar
WITH this phase of the POLICE Commissions administration.
SUCH a knowledge
MIGHT have saved him
TWENTY-FIVE dollars.
WE thank you.

HANTSPORT NOTES

Evelyn Louise Wall
In the death of Miss Evelyn Louise Wall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Wall and grand-daughter of Mrs. Geo. Yeaton, Hantsport has lost one of its brightest and most popular young ladies. Miss Wall's illness was of short duration. About three weeks ago she contracted pneumonia from which she partially recovered, but complications developed from which she failed to rally, passing peacefully away on Wednesday, July 4th. Of a bright and cheerful disposition, kind and sympathetic in her nature, musical in her tastes, she was a great favorite, not only among the young, but with all who knew her, and her demise has cast a gloom over the entire community. She was an adherent of the Methodist church, a member of the Sunday School and Young Peoples League of that church. The large number of people who gathered at the home to pay their tribute of respect indicated the high esteem in which she was held, and the wide circle of friends touched by her passing away. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved ones. The services were conducted on Friday by the Rev. A. B. Higgins, Pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by the Rev's W. A. Outerbridge, J. W. Prestwood, and G. J. Bigney. The hymns rendered by the choir were, "Some Day, Sometime We'll Understand" and "I Shall Know Him". The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Smith-Higgins
A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized in the United Church, Yarmouth, on June 23rd, when Frances Dorothy Higgins, of Hantsport, became the bride of Bernard V. S. Smith, of St. George's, Bermuda. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. O'Brien, pastor of the church. The bride was given in marriage by her father Rev. A. B. Higgins. Miss Higgins was a very successful teacher in pianoforte at Mount Allison Music Conservatory, also of the Ladies College, Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. Smith visited several cities in the United States before sailing for Bermuda. Dr. and Mrs. Woodbury, of Halifax were among the guests. Many and sincere will be the good wishes from the citizens of Hantsport.

He, with some companions about his own age were out in a boat. When nearing the shore he had the misfortune of falling over board and was going down for the third time when some men working on the wharf noticed his predicament, and went to the rescue. He was conveyed to his home and the doctor summoned, who succeeded after a time in removing the water from his lungs. He is now suffering from an attack of pneumonia, the result of exposure.

THIS NEEDS ATTENTION

The attention of the town authorities is again directed to the unsightly and rather alarming condition of affairs which at present exist along the water front. These conditions have been referred to before by this journal but so far we have been unable to secure the necessary action on the part of the powers that be. A stroll in this section of the town at the first of the week revealed a state of affairs far from creditable and inspired this comment.

The principal place of offence appears to be at the rear of the old DeWolf wharf. This property was purchased some years ago by the Dominion government and what remains of the wharf is in a most delapidated condition. This has apparently been made a place of deposit for all sorts of refuse material which emits a stench that is almost unbearable, and the nuisance continues practically along the whole bank. With the tourist season now at hand the prospect presented to the passengers approaching the railway station is far from pleasing or attractive, while the neglected section furnishes a most favorable breeding place for all kinds of insect pests. Immediate steps should be taken to prevent the practice of using this place as a public dump and the work necessary to put it in a satisfactory condition should be proceeded with at once.

While we dislike exceedingly giving publicity to such matters as the above mentioned and much prefer pointing out only the beauties and attractions which abound on every hand, we feel that we would be remiss in our duty to the public by refraining from calling attention to the need of correcting the case of every evil that exists in the community.

A GENERAL ELECTION NEEDED

The present indications in the political affairs of Canada point to the necessity of a federal election in the not far distant future. While the outlook is by no means a pleasing one it seems the only way out of the muddle into which the country has been plunged as a result of the contest of 1921. Both sessions that have been held during the life of the present parliament, while decidedly expensive to Canadian people, have been practically barren so far as the passing of any useful measures has been concerned. A member of the present house some time ago volunteered the information to THE ACADIAN that "government by minority is no joke". It certainly is no joke so far as the interests of the country are concerned. The existing three-cornered fight for supremacy is a menace to the country's well-being that we cannot afford to longer continue.

Canada pays more per capita in governmental expenses than any other country under the sun and its people should demand efficiency and honesty in the conduct of its public affairs. A government that fails to function is of no use to the people of this promising young country. Regardless of its political stripe our next government should be strong enough to be able to deal with the many important issues now facing Canada in an independent and aggressive manner, with due regard for the happiness and prosperity of its people.

A LITTLE HELP WANTED FOR A GOOD CAUSE

The "Neracar" recently purchased by the Victorian Order for the use of Miss Harry in her work is giving splendid satisfaction. By its use the nurse is able to proceed easily and quickly from place to place and render more efficient service.

There yet remains, so THE ACADIAN is informed, a balance of about ninety dollars to be met in the payment, which it is hoped some generous person or persons will provide. In the recent canvas citizens responded most willingly and over two hundred dollars was secured, mostly in small amounts. One lady, who has since taking up her residence in Wolfville been foremost in every good work, made a donation of fifty dollars, which gave the undertaking a splendid start.

The work being done by the V. O. N. in this community is of such value as to appeal strongly to the sympathy of the public, and as a consequence every appeal that has so far been made for help has been generously received and responded to. THE ACADIAN hopes to be able in its next issue to announce that the present requirement has been provided for in full. Contributions may be left at the office of this paper and will be duly acknowledged.

He Uses The Long Distance Telephone Service

There's a Business Man in Halifax to-day who does not complain of hard times. While others have been lamenting over constricted markets, he has built up an extensive business within and beyond the Province—and it is all the time extending. He is an enthusiastic believer in the use of modern business methods, notably the Long Distance Telephone.

Speedy and effective means of communication with distant points—not merely the despatch of messages to these points—is essential to the success of his operations and for that he pins his faith to the use of the Long Distance Telephone Lines.

The other month he spent $800 on Long Distance Telephone Calls alone. Is this use of the Long Distance Telephone a cause or an effect of his success? There seems to be little doubt of his opinion!

CLEANING AIR FOR ENGINES

Passenger cars fitted with means of removing dust from the carburetor-air are being offered this season for the first time. Air cleaners have been in universal use on tractors almost since the beginning of their manufacture, as they have been found to be a necessity and they have been used to some extent on trucks. While the passenger car—and even the truck are exposed to very little dust-laden air, as compared with the tractor, which operates almost constantly in a cloud of dust, there is enough grit floating in the air which their carburetor "breathes" to act detrimentally, especially when unimproved, loose-surfaced roads and winds are encountered.

Attention was first called to the dust that entered motor car engines by the disclosure, through chemical analysis of large proportions of silica (sand) in their carbon deposits, which could be accounted for only as being drawn in with the air. The filtration of long-used engine oil also discloses a considerable amount of fine sand, if the car has been much driven in dusty air. Sand is an active abrasive or cutting material, like emery: its entrance into the oil results in excessive wear of bearings, cylinders and pistons.

On tractors, the practice is to wash the dust out of the carburetor air, by passing it through water, but the application of this method on passenger cars seems hardly warranted. Instead of suitable provisions at the intake the air may be made to deposit most of the dust before entering the carburetor in a compartment from which it can readily be cleaned out.

Giving the air a whirling movement, which causes the separation of dust particles, by centrifugal action, into a cleanable receiver is one method that is being tried. Every known expedient for the prolongation of engine life is being resorted to by engineers and air cleaning is one of these, along with more liberal surfaces, better lubrication systems and superior materials.

ACCIDENT MAKERS

The newer members of the motorist clan show a rather warped sense of responsibility. This is especially true in cases where the party who drives is neither the owner of the car nor an employee of the owner.

Such drivers are invariably wives of car owners or sons and daughters who are old enough to be legally entitled to drive but not old enough to have a very keen appreciation of the responsibilities which are placed upon anyone who pilots an automobile. The reason is that such drivers feel they can depend upon the owner of the car in event of trouble, and if he is fully insured "everything will be all right."

This attitude is directly responsible for many of the serious automobile accidents that mar motoring.

The owner of the car is usually involved technically and must always pay the bill for damages, but he is not held criminally responsible for what happens. He isn't the one who pays the real penalty for carelessness or recklessness.

The most fortunate driver is the one who has no one he thinks he can pass the buck to in event of a mishap with the car, for he then operates the car with a better knowledge of why he should avoid those unthinking acts which result in collisions and fatalities.

If more families would have a heart-to-heart talk over the points of responsibility in the driving of a car more operators would appreciate the importance of caution—and there would be fewer accidents.

Never use water to cool a bronze bearing that has been running hot. The best method is to wait for the bearing to cool in the ordinary course, but, if this is impossible, use oil to cool the part.

STRIPPING THE GEARS

It is no novelty to hear a grinding or clashing within a car when a careless driver starts or when he changes from one speed to another. If such a driver knew what was going on when this unseemly noise occurs, he probably would hire a chauffeur or else take a few lessons in automotive mechanics to learn how not to abuse his machine. If the driver were a chauffeur and the owner knew what such a noise meant it is likely the chauffeur would be sent to school or be out of a job.

There is nothing more exasperating to the motorist than the horrible sound which tells a story of stripped gears. It is not in the permanent mesh gears, where shaft motion is turned into axle motion that the trouble comes.

If the rear axle gears are properly set and packed they should never make any trouble. But it is in the shifting gears of the transmission, where gears come into mesh at varying rates of speed and with the number of revolutions, load and several other things to complicate the situation that there is wear and tear. It would not be so bad if there were only wear. The tear is what raises havoc.

When the car is standing, the engine is running in neutral and no gear on the transmission shaft is engaged. To start, it is customary to disconnect the engine by disengaging the clutch and to move the lever so that the gears that give the slowest speed will engage. Once the car is under way and it is desired to increase the speed, the lever is shoved forward, moving the transmission gears forward until the gears that give second speed are engaged.

The wise driver, just at the instant of shifting the gear, would throttle down his engine one-half and bring the number of revolutions of the gear shaft to approximately that of the transmission shaft, which is kept in motion by the momentum of the car. He will also stop for an instant in neutral before completing the shift to allow for adjustment. When both gears are revolving at about the same speed, the shift is practically noiseless and frictionless.

TOURIST TRAFFIC MEANS BIG MONEY IN TRADE

Before the war, reliable estimates showed that citizens of the U. S. spent hundreds of millions of dollars annually in Europe, as follows:

France $700,000,000; $60,000,000 on the Riviera; Norway $10,000,000; German Health Resorts $17,000,000; Austria $21,000,000; Switzerland $50,000,000; Italy $100,000,000.

The campaign of "See America First," started during the war years, has had one good effect. It has made people realize more than ever before something of what we possess on this continent in the way of scenery, beauty, travel and hunting facilities. Some provinces and states are organized for tourist traffic, and they are reaping the harvest. The State of Maine is estimated to have $45,000,000 a year spent by tourists and sportsmen. New Brunswick gets millions a year through the activities of its tourist association. Quebec, as was shown in this column recently, is organizing in a big way for still greater trade. B. C. has been doing great things for some time.

The potentialities are great, and the harvest can easily be reaped, if it is handled in a business-like way. Before the war, it was estimated that 30,000 tourists passed through Toronto on their way to the Muskoka Lakes and the Ontario Highlands. It is a reasonable figure to assume $10 per day as the minimum expenditure of a tourist under these conditions. If the tourists averaged 30 days, that would mean $9,000,000 spent in one season alone, and for one part of the province alone. If this was the case before the war, what figure might we expect to-day with organization?—Financial Post.

An aristocratic lady was instructing a new servant in some of her more important duties.

"Now, I want you, Mary," she said, "to be especially careful in dusting these portraits—they are all old masters."

Mary looked at them for a moment.

"Just fancy, ma'am," she said, "Who'd ever have thought you'd been married so many times!"

IGNORANCE ABOUT BATTERIES

Perfunctory attention to the battery is gradually resulting in ignorance of its construction and operation. Car owners add water to the cells—when they happen to think about it— but seldom know exactly why they are obliged to do so. One man who has driven cars for six years does not know yet why he should not fill the cells above a certain point.

Water must be added to the cells because it is the water content of the electrolyte solution which evaporates—not the acid.

When drawing the solution out of a battery for a hydrometer reading always return it to its proper cell. Unless this is done the strength of the electrolyte in the various cells will naturally vary.

Gassing of the electrolyte will cause a cell to overflow when being charged if too much distilled water is poured in.

You add water before using the car—or run the engine awhile after doing the job—so that the chemical action will be started and the battery strengthened.

CELEBRATES HIS EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Our esteemed townsman, Rev. A. Cohoon, D. D., celebrated his eightieth birthday Tuesday of this week. During the evening a goodly number of friends called to tender congratulations and a very enjoyable time was had. The doctor bears his years lightly, his keen intellect and physical energy giving no indication that he has passed the prescribed four score. He still continues to carry a weight of responsibility that a much younger man might shrink from. Besides keeping a close oversight of the affairs of the University his interest in public and civic matters is by no means impaired. A good and worthy citizen, very many friends will join THE ACADIAN in wishing for him continued years of usefulness, and that satisfaction attendant upon a well spent and honorable life.

THE CLOSING PRODUCTION

The Management of the Wolfville Opera House were very pleased when they were able to secure the use of the building for another month and did their best to book photoplays which would please all of their patrons. In this we trust we were successful.

On the 18th of this month, in fact next Wednesday, the Opera House closes for the balance of the Summer and movie fans have the opportunity of seeing only two more productions. Of the program for today and Saturday we need not speak further for a glance at the advertisement on another page will convince you that "The Face on the Barroom Floor", portrayed by a notable cast, is more than worthy of your attention and patronage as one of the most thrilling and exciting photoplays of the day.

The closing presentation on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next has been chosen with particular care as we wished to present as our final program nothing but the very best obtainable. In selecting "Orphans of the Storm", a D. W. Griffith production, with Lillian and Dorothy Gish, we believe that we have filled the bill. It is a picture you will both enjoy and marvel at whilst witnessing and one that will live with you in memory during the weeks that you are without pictures, and yes, afterwards as well. We have all heard about "Orphans of the Storm" and those who have already seen it had no hesitation whatever in pronouncing it as "The best picture we have ever seen".

We thank you for your patronage and support in the past whilst it has been our pleasure to serve you and trust that you will avail yourself of the opportunity to see this, our closing production.

IMPORTANCE OF WEEKLY PRESS

(From the Halifax Herald) Halifax was glad to welcome and entertain the representatives of Canadian weekly newspapers, and the weekly newspaper representatives we are glad to know went away with pleasant impressions in regard to this city and its people.

It may be timely to remind citizens of Halifax that the influence of the weekly press is a very potent one; and that it is well for this city to have the goodwill of the fine body of men and women who are interested in that enterprise.

A disposition to regard the weekly newspaper as of little consequence in these days of enterprising and aggressive dailies is not well advised. The daily fills its place as the regular visitor of certain classes of populations. The weekly newspaper with equal regularity and efficiency does its work for other classes some of whom have access to the dailies, others of whom are too far removed from centres to find the daily of desired service to them.

Together the daily and weekly perform valuable public service in the conveyance of news and the dissemination of educative influences.

The weekly newspaper necessarily devotes itself more particularly to matters of local concern. It is the regular newsletter of its readers in the country and in villages and towns as well. It becomes part of the family, and its coming every week is looked forward to with anticipatory pleasure. It fills another place with great satisfaction to persons who remove from the "old home". The home weekly gives them the news of localities and old friends. Only those who have enjoyed its reading under such circumstances know how eagerly its columns are read.

In this province we have a good weekly press. It is enterprising, well conducted, and useful. It is in the hands of publishers and editors who are devoted to their profession, and who are ever striving to give good service. It is gratifying to know that their work is appreciated. We have pleasure in wishing the weekly press continued and growing success.

SCOUTS AND GUIDES ATTEND CHURCH SERVICE

A large congregation attended divine service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, when the pastor, Rev. Thomas W. Hodgson, addressed the Girl Guides of the town and the Boy Scouts of the Methodist Church. The parade from the Armories was led by the Scouts (Scout Master Thomas W. Hodgson, Asst. Scout Master J. Mullett) troop leader Seldon Smith bearing the banner "Be Prepared". Patrol leaders, Eugene Spicer, William Payzant, Leonard McBride and troop followed. Next came the Girl Guides, Captain Bigelow, Lieut. Melvin, with patrol leaders Erma Goldsmith, Ruby Borden, Bessie Borden, Emma Bennett, who were followed by the guides. As the procession entered the church "Onward Christian Soldiers" was played, which was followed by prayer and the singing of "Stand up, Stand Up for Jesus". The Pastor chose for his subject "Pauls Sister's Son", who amid great danger in defence of the truth by his prompt action and noble achievement deluded the enemies of Paul thereby saving the life of the apostle. The speaker presented this young lad as an example to the young life before him urging them to portray, like Paul, the life of the Master, the Great Path Finder, remembering that youth is the period to begin. Devotion to Christ will promote dignity to your young nature. Live out your Guide and Scout principles, be loyal to the Scout law, the King and your God. The service closed with "I gave my Life for Thee", which was followed by the Benediction.

INDUCTION AT CANARD

More than 300 gathered in Cornwallis Baptist Church on Thursday evening of last week, the occasion being the induction of the pastor elect, Rev. G. D. Hudson, A. S. McDonald, Senior Deacon, presided. The service opened with prayer led by Rev. G. W. Schurman, who expressed the hope that God would manifest Himself to us. "We believe that Thou hast answered our prayer for a Shepherd, and that we have followed Thy guidance, to that we have responded may this be a time of unity of heart which shall continue. Stress was laid on the important part the congregation plays in making the pastor—in the most serious business of the world—a success. May this be one of the best pastorates of his life, may he receive anointing from on high and bring many to the feet of co-operation, knowing that he is not alone, but has God for a constant companion. Rev.

H. T. Wright then read the Scripture lesson, Cor. 1, ch. 2, after which the male quartette, Messrs. John Clark, John Cross, Spurgeon Cross, Burpee McGowan, sang beautifully "The Haven of Rest, is my Lord". Dr. Simeon Spidle, of Acadia, then delivered the "charge to the congregation". He expressed the delight that was his to participate in the marriage festival between Rev. G. D. Hudson and the church, paying high tribute to one of the first members of his class in Theology, and congratulated the congregation on their choice of a Shepherd. Why should I, said the speaker, give advice to you, who know so well how to treat your pastor. Instead of such a task let me call attention to one quality I know your pastor should like to see developed in any congregation, namely, Spiritual Mindedness, the attitude of the mind toward life, that Jesus had. No man ever appreciated spiritual value as Jesus did. The saving of Souls had first place in the heart of the Master. Let your mind be of spiritual not material values. When you have a church with that quality developed you have its problems solved. The problem of employer and employee. The problem of church attendance is solved. No minister can make the work of Christ in the community go without co-operation and for this the church must be spiritually minded. Co-operate with your pastor, who is worthy of your confidence and he will do the right thing and God will bless you. "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" was then sung by Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Howe Burbridge and greatly enjoyed. The charge to the Pastor was delivered by Rev. O. N. Chipman. "I desire as Senior Baptist pastor in this district to extend a welcome to you and your family to this the choicest part of Kings Co. This is a district of great opportunity for the service of Christ and an ideal place to live and serve. You will find a hospitable, sympathetic, enthusiastic people in the work of the Lord. PROHIBITION IN TURKEY

The way in which the nations of the world are coming to grips with their ancient enemy, strong drink, is more surprising and encouraging than our rashday life sometimes permits us to realize. One of the latest governments to come into line with prohibition is that of Turkey!

The Canadian and American Governments could learn one lesson at least from the Turk—that is, if the drastic Prohibition law just promulgated in Turkey is enforced. Under this law all alcoholic liquors in the country are to be confiscated or shipped abroad, all persons convicted of manufacturing, importing, or selling spirituous beverages will be fined and jailed, and those found intoxicated will be liable to imprisonment for from three months to two years. Moreover, offenders occupying Government positions will forfeit their offices. It is further announced that there will be no appeal from these decisions. If we would grapple with the problem as effectively, there would not be much more talk of evasion of the law.—"Clarion Call."

greatly bless you."

"Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling" was then sung by the male quartette.

Rev. G. A. Logan brought greetings from the Presbyterian church and expressed the hope of cordial relations existing, continuing between the congregations.

Rev. G. D. Hudson responding, thanked all for their kind words. We are willing and anxious to do our Master's work, and realize our privilege in spending a little time with you. What kind of a church do I want this to be? A church that excels in intercession. We need the spirit of real and earnest intercession. If this is in us, all other things will come. May God use me to minister to your needs. I shall consider it a privilege to lock in my heart your confidence, which will be a sacred trust. I thank you for your welcome and may God richly bless our sojourn together.

Rev. A. J. Frosser, a former beloved pastor, then addressed the congregation, welcoming the pastor and his family and expressed the joy that was his in looking once more on the faces of his old congregation. Special music by the choir was greatly appreciated.

The service which was a very beautiful one closed with the Benediction, followed by supper and a social hour in the vestry with the Pastor and his wife.

HALIFAX PRESBYTERIAL MEETS AT CANARD

A large number of delegates attended the opening meeting of the Halifax Presbyterian church on Thursday evening of last week. Mrs. A. D. Falconer, Halifax presiding. The devotional exercises were led by Rev. G. A. Logan, pastor of the church, who expressed the hope that all things in Canada would tend towards Godly things, and the church realizing the great task would go forward till all nations should own Him Lord.

Rev. G. A. Logan in the absence of Rev. Robert Layton conveyed the greetings of the Master and the Presbytery is proud of the Presbyterial and hopes that the work will be carried on to great success.

RHUBARB RECIPES

Rhubarb Jam—Allow 1 lb. sugar for 1 lb. rhubarb; cut up the fruit into small pieces, put on the sugar, and let it stand several hours, or until next morning; then take out the fruit, and boil the syrup until it thickens; then put in the fruit and let it simmer gently until done, stirring it to prevent its burning; then put in glasses.

Orange and Rhubarb Marmalade—Pare the yellow rind carefully off the oranges; remove the thick white rind and squeeze the pulp through a sieve; use 1 quart of rhubarb sliced for 6 oranges; add one half cup water to 4 lbs. fruit and set on to boil; add the yellow parings of the rind, cut into pieces, and boil half hour, or until the rind is soft; add 1 lb. sugar to 1 lb. pulp, boil a few minutes and put into jelly glasses.

Strawberry and Rhubarb—Two qts. cut rhubarb, one quart strawberries, five cups sugar. Let rhubarb stand overnight with the sugar on it, then in the morning add the berries and cook until as thick as desired. If desired, the rhubarb may be scalded and drained before covering with sugar. This makes the marmalade sweeter.

Rhubarb Jelly—Cut the rhubarb into pieces about 1 inch long, but do not peel it; cook it to a soft pulp in water enough to cover it; strain through the jelly bag, and allow 1 lb. sugar to each pint of juice; finish like other jelly. Apple and rhubarb make a nice combination.

Rhubarb Canned—Take fresh green stalks peel and slice as if for pies; then take fruit jars and pack this in up to the necks, and then fill the jars with cold water; now seal up air tight. To use it, pour off the water and use like fresh pieplant; to sweeten it not over one half the sugar ordinarily used will be needed.

Rhubarb Vinegar—Crush the rhubarb, cover with lukewarm water, and let stand 36 hours; then strain, add 1 1/2 lbs. raw sugar or molasses to the gallon of juice, and also add a little yeast; keep it covered and in a warm place for four weeks; then strain, put in a keg and leave it to ripen.

Follow this simple rule to have lovely, gleaming hair

Never shampoo your hair without olive oil, hair specialists warn. To do so is to leave hair dry, dull, brittle—all its rich warmth of color and life gone. No hair can be beautiful unless clean, they say. Nor can hair be beautiful without the glossy sheen so much admired.

Therefore—use olive oil shampoo.

You see prettier hair everywhere, today. Women have learned that the most delightful form of olive oil hair wash is PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO.

It is convenient for home use, and most economical—costing but a fraction of what you'd pay to have the same treatment from a specialist.

It cleanses away all dirt and oil—thoroughly removes dandruff. And it leaves hair fluffy, soft, pliant as a baby's; with the gleaming sheen of new silk.

Send coupon today for free 15c-size trial bottle. Or get full-size bottle at your dealer's. Use it. Results will amaze you—after even one shampooing.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE PICNIC

The Women's Institutes of Kings county held their annual picnic at the Experimental Farm on Thursday, July 5th. A large number were present from the different Institutes and a very enjoyable time was spent. After dinner a number of speeches were given, the first speaker being Dr. Chisholm of the Health department, Halifax. He spoke of the necessity of looking after the child even from its birth, to keep it from coming in contact with that which might infect, as being the only sure way of combating diseases, especially tuberculosis; that the Kings County Home at Waterville, stood foremost among such homes in the Maritime Provinces, but said that the Kings county council took a backward step when they dispensed with the district nurse, as children were reached in the schools that could not be touched or taught the rules of health in any other way. The next speaker was Miss MacKenzie, chief nurse of the health dept., Halifax. She although limited for time spoke very strongly on the subject of co-operation with the different workers in promoting sanitary and health methods, and urged the Institutes to work towards that end. Rev. G. W. Miller, Wolfville, President of the "Children's Aid Society" gave a very stirring talk on this work, which is so dear to his heart. He held the attention of all, since we understood more of the importance of this great work than ever. The last speaker was Miss Annie Stuart, Grand Pre, Vice President of the "Federated Women's Institutes of Canada". She gave a brief report of the Convention which was held in Fredericton, N. B., last month, and gave an idea of what the Western districts are accomplishing in spite of the many obstacles which they are facing every day. When Miss Stuart begins to talk we know we will always hear something worth while, and we were not disappointed. The singing of "O Canada" brought to a close a day well spent by all who were there.

A RARE TREAT

A trip on the S.S. "Prince Albert", between Kingsport and Parisboro, can be enjoyed by everyone, be he visitor or native, with a few hours leisure, as it is less than two hours sail across the land locked Minas Basin. Wolfville is also a port of call; adding further interest to the trip.

At this season Nature's handiwork is everywhere evident, but for real loveliness the view from the deck of the "Prince Albert" as she steams out of the busy little ports of Wolfville or Kingsport, unsurpassed anywhere on the Continent. Dykes of pale green and undulating meadows of a darker hue, with a cluster of white cottages in the foreground flanked by red flats uncovered by the receding tide furnish a picture for the artist. Again the eye is confronted by majestic Cape Blomidon, with a fleeting glimpse of Cape Split and in the distance the purple, sapphire, green or silver sea.

Parisboro shore, changing color with each passing hour as brilliant sunshine and fair blue skies may decree. The scene inspires a feeling of restful appreciation of the wondrous beauty with which Nova Scotia is endowed and well rewards the time taken for the trip.

Which is the best cup of tea of the day? Some people say the first one in the morning others the one they have in the middle of the afternoon. There may be a difference of opinion on this point, but there is no difference of opinion as to which brand of tea is the best. For many years the large majority of people have been expressing a preference for MORSE'S.
