MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Contains No Alum

WHY EXPERIMENT?

Food scientists claim that the leavening is largely responsible for the flavor, texture and wholesomeness of your home baking. That on no other one ingredient does so much depend. It is important, therefore, to use a baking powder that you know possesses the necessary leavening qualities.

and is the only strictly high class baking powder in Canada selling at a moderate price. Its reputation is built on purity and highest quality. The only well known medium priced baking powder made in Canada that does not contain alum and that has all its ingredients plainly stated on the label.

REMORSE and REPENTANCE.

For Daisie's Sake

CHAPTER IV. FALSE.

"So Mr. Sherwood went away with my rash promise, and—yesterday I went out on my new wheel with my friend Annette, and, as I was not a very skilful cyclist, that awful accident happened. I might easily have been killed," shudderingly. "Well, Mr. Bain brought me home in his buggy, and when I revived from my fainting spell he was holding me in his arms, and—oh, I blush to tell you—but my heart rushed out to him! I realized I loved him wildly, madly, and could never love another. This morning he came—we could not meet formally—and we talked like old acquaintances. I hinted about his marrying you, but he denied it. I began to see that he cared for me"—blushing vividly—"and I quickly made up my mind to break with Mr. Sherwood, because he had deceived me intentionally, so as to leave me free to accept Dallas when he should propose. Oh, please don't look as though you think me the vainest girl on earth! Indeed, I am not! And so, all at once, before I expected it, Dallas was impudently asking me to marry him, and I accepted, meaning, of course, to tell him presently all about that other affair, and that I should break with Mr. Sherwood immediately; but in five minutes, before I had confessed to him, you came, and—spoiled—everything!" concluded Daisie, with a sob of despair.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine cured me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 2 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Then she caught her breath, and waited; but Mrs. Fleming said never a word, only looked cold and incredulous.

Daisie rallied her courage, and persevered humbly:

"You see how it was, Mrs. Fleming, don't you? I was weak, but not wicked. As for flirting, I never thought of it. I exorcise it as much as you do, and I am very sorry I ever listened to your cousin. But you must see that he was to blame. Why did he try to prejudice me against the man I loved? He might have guessed I would find it out some time."

Mrs. Fleming found her voice, and said huskily, trying to remedy Royall's defeat and her own:

"You misjudge my cousin. He thought I was engaged to Mr. Bain because he knew he loved me, and I was very friendly with him. But when he proposed I refused him, because I couldn't love a stranger I knew nothing about. It was simply through spite he turned to you, but he is gone now in anger, so my advice to you is to keep your promise to Royall, and let him go."

"Could you advise me to act so base-ly? No, I can never marry Mr. Sherwood now. When he comes I want you to tell him all that happened here today, and that I set him free."

"Indeed, I shall tell him nothing of the kind! I would not give him such pain as to tell him the girl he loves is a cruel little coquette. Think better of it, Daisie Bell, and marry Royall, who is so rich, and can give you a palace for a home and diamonds a princess might envy. He is of a sweet, sunny disposition, too, and will make you far happier than Dallas Bain, who is sullen, violent, and jealous. Besides, he is gone away, and you will never see him again, so I will keep your secret of this morning, and Royall need never know it," coaxed the little widow.

CHAPTER VI.

"I CANNOT GIVE UP MY LOVE."

But all her pleadings could not move Daisie from her resolve to tell Royall everything and break her engagement. She persisted in it, crying pleadingly:

"Oh, if you really want to do me a kindness, you must help me with Dallas. He is at your house, and you will see him when you go back. Won't you tell him how it all came about, that I love only him, and ask him to forgive me and come back to me again?"

She did not know that she was pleading to a woman who loved Dallas so madly that she would rather have seen him dead than married to another; but somehow she could not believe the story that he had proposed to Lottie Fleming and been refused. Daisie believed that any woman would be glad to accept such a splendid lover. She told herself that the artful young widow was just trying to shield her cousin and to further his cause.

Mrs. Fleming said decisively: "I decline to speak to Dallas Bain on this subject, or to work against my cousin's interests in any way, and I believe that when you come to your sober senses, girl, you will be glad enough to keep this affair a secret and marry Royall, after all."

So saying, she swept from the room and rustled out to her carriage, nodding a careless greeting to Annette Janowitz, who was just entering the gate, and who went in the open doors

Daisie sobbing with hysterical grief on her sofa.

"Oh, my poor dear, is your foot so bad?" queried she, with quick sympathy; and presently she drew from her friend the story of the morning's happenings.

"Oh, Annette, I cannot give him up! I love him so dearly! You will help me to win him back, won't you, dear?" "Indeed, I will, if you will only tell me what I can do for you," responded Annette, the tears of sympathy shining in her bright dark eyes.

Daisie thought a few moments, very seriously, and then announced her plan: "Write him a friendly note, Annette, asking him to call at your house this evening and see you about a very particular matter. Don't mention my name, or, in his first resentment, he might refuse to come."

Annette nodded her approval, and said: "And when he arrives I must explain your affair to him, and beg him to forgive you, and come and see you?"

"If you will be so kind, dear Annette," murmured Daisie, whose shining eyes were dried now in the sunshine of hope.

Annette went to the writing desk, and penned a dainty little note, inviting Dallas Bain to call on her that evening, as she wished to consult him about his taking part in some private theatricals they were planning for a village charity.

"I have heard that he is a splendid amateur actor, so he will not refuse," she said gleefully. "And I can tell him afterwards that it was just a ruse to get him to my house to plead your cause. Depend upon it, he will be overjoyed to learn that you intend to throw over Royall Sherwood for his sake," she added encouragingly.

"Now, Annette, please run out to the post office at the corner, and post it quickly, so that he will not fail to get it this afternoon," cried Daisie, with feverish impatience.

Annette went as requested, and when she returned she said joyously: "Oh, Daisie, I wish you were as happy as I am! I am engaged, you know, and only think—I had a letter from my dear boy this morning, saying that he is coming to see me tomorrow. He is a commercial traveler, you know, and just perfectly magnificent! The only drawback is that he's just horribly jealous, and does not permit me to look at any other man."

"Well, you need not want to, if you love him. I would not care if there were not another man in the world to look at but Dallas!" cried Daisie tenderly.

"Oh, I dare say you may be tired of looking at him some day when you are married to him!" laughed Annette; but she could not persuade Daisie of it. She was in love in the most romantic fashion.

While the girls laid their innocent plans for calling back Daisie's lover, Mrs. Fleming rode back to Sea View with fury in her heart—the fury of "a woman scorned."

Keen and bitter had been her humiliation when Daisie had said so innocently:

"He laughed at the idea of marrying you!"

Her last hope of winning him was gone now, and jealous anger entered her heart and drove out the sweet guest, Love.

She hated and envied Daisie Bell with a hatred beyond all telling.

"She took him away from me—came between us with her dazzling face—I might still have won him if they had not met. Very well, I will punish them both most bitterly," she vowed. "As for marrying, they never shall, if a woman's wit can prevent it."

As soon as she entered the house, she ascertained that Dallas Bain had not yet returned.

Her young-lady guests were down at the beach, and she went to her room to rest and plot how to keep the lovers apart for the future.

"I dare say she wrote to him as soon as I came away, explaining everything, and begging him to come back to her," she thought astutely. "I must make sure of getting that letter."

And as the village was so small that the letter-carrier service was not yet established, she presently sent her maid, Letty, to the post office, saying:

"Bring everything that is in the Sea View box straight to me, Letty before you let any one else see it. My cousin, Mr. Sherwood, wanted me to get out of it some private mail for him."

Letty Green returned in an hour with a budget of letters, books, and papers for her mistress and her guests; but she had made sure, with feminine curiosity, first, that there was nothing for Royall Sherwood; also, that there was one very dainty-looking perfumed letter for Dallas Bain, bearing the town postmark, Gull Beach.

This was what Mrs. Fleming expected, and as soon as the maid's back was turned she opened and read it, laughing to herself:

"She has planned with Annette to get him back; but Dallas Bain will never see this letter, and the two young misses will be disappointed this evening."

CHAPTER VII.

TEMPTED TO END IT ALL.

Words are too weak to describe the feelings of Dallas Bain as he rushed with frenzied haste from the presence of the beautiful girl so lately worshipped as the queen of her sex, only to learn that she was the most heartless coquette in the world.

Never was there such a rapid transition from rapturous joy to the depths of misery—misery and anger, for now could any prodd man bear with equanimity to be made a fool of, as Daisie Bell had just fooled him?

To be engaged only two days to Royall Sherwood, although of their intimacy he had had no inkling until now, and then to accept another's suit with the most complacent smile and the sweet blush, pretending a tenderness she, of course, did not feel—it was the most shocking thing he ever had heard of. He loathed, execrated himself for falling so easily into her wiles.

He was strong, passionate, and proud, and only twenty-five—this hero of ours—who could blame him for the pride and resentment that fired his blood as he rushed from the scene of his humiliation, not heeding the piteous cry of woe with which Daisie sought to recall him to her side?

He strode down the village street in hot haste, looking neither to the right nor left until he reached the beach, where he sought a secluded spot by the sea, where none could intrude upon his rocky retreat, and flung himself down to brood over his cruel defeat in love.

A POPULAR COAT SUIT.

Ladies Skirt Pattern 3315, and Coat Pattern 3318 are combined in this model. The Skirt is cut in 7 Sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34 and 36 inches waist measure. The Coat is cut in 8 Sizes for Misses and Ladies, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure.

Wool velours was used in this instance with braiding for decoration. Serge, heather mixtures, taffeta, velvets and satin could be used. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 1 3/4 yard. To make this suit for a medium size will require 7 yards of 46 inch material.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

A NEW AND STYLISH GOWN.

Pattern 3317 was employed for this design. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size will require 5 1/4 yards of 42 inch material.

Serge and fancy silk or satin braided with soutache or with floss would be attractive for this model. It is also good for velveteen, taffeta, velours, duvety, jersey cloth, faille or broad cloth. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 1 3/4 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address or receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE STANDARDIZATION OF CODFISH!

WHEREAS it is essential in the interests of the Colony that the methods of preparing and exporting codfish which are at present in use should be regulated and improved;

Be it enacted by the Governor, the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Legislative Session convened, as follows:—

- There shall be a Commission to be appointed by His Excellency the Governor-in-Council, which shall be known as the Codfish Standardization Commission.
- The said Commission shall consist of not less than five or more than eleven persons, of whom the Minister of Marine and Fisheries shall be one, ex officio, and shall be the Chairman.
- It shall be the duty of the said Commission to prepare and draft rules and regulations for the improvement of the manner in which salt codfish (hereinafter called codfish) is prepared for sale and transported, and in particular governing the following matters, that is to say:—
 - The manner of catching, splitting, cleaning, salting, drying, curing, pickling and preparing fish for sale and export; and generally all and singular the operations involved in the preparation of the production of the finished article.
 - The culling, selecting, assorting, standardizing, and determination of the different grades or varieties of fish, with a view to the establishment of grades thereof in the local and foreign markets and to the ensuring, so far as possible, of suitability for the several markets.
 - The stowage, storage, packing, inspection, and weighing of fish and marketing of packages.
 - The lading, stowage, protection, unloading, covering, and all other matters connected with the carriage and conveyance of fish whether within this Colony or from this Colony to other countries, and whether in ships, vehicles, or any other modes of conveyance.
 - The establishments of standards of size, type, condition, grade and quality of fish, and the means of determining and enforcing the same.
 - The fixing of differences between the prices of different sizes, types, conditions, grades, and qualities in the local markets, and the provision of methods for accurately determining such sizes, types, conditions, grades and qualities.
 - The fixing of penalties for the breach of any of the rules and regulations to be made as aforesaid. Specific penalties shall be fixed for each particular rule and regulation.
- All such rules and regulations shall be laid before His Excellency the Governor-in-Council for approval, and if when so approved and published in the Royal Gazette shall at the expiration of 15 days from the date of the Proclamation have the force and effect of Law if incorporated in this Act.
- This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Fish Standardization Act, 1920."

SEBASTOPOL, Crimea, Aug. 26. Civil war in Russia would cease immediately if the Russian people were free to organize a government, according to their own wishes. General Baron Wrangel, who was recognized as head of the south Russian government by France a few days ago, declared here to-day. They are able to do this however, because the domination of Soviet leaders, and the fight must go on until the Russians are free to take matters in their own hands, he continued. In a discussion of the situation and the fundamental problems with the Associated Press correspondent, he made no prophecy except that Russia ultimately would be re-united under government expressing the will of the majority of the people.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. Picketing of the British Consulate on Withhall St. by Irish women sympathizers, began last Monday in protest against MacSweeney's imprisonment, was continued to-day.

LIPTON AT TORONTO.
TORONTO, Aug. 26. Probably the most jovial, hearty man in the Empire arrived at Toronto to-day, in the person of Sir Thomas Lipton. Tired, after night travelling, he sat down in the room at his hotel for three-quarters of an hour to tell reporters all the amusing circumstances concerning the late races for America's cup of which he could think. "Next year, I am going to challenge for America's cup," he said. "That cup has been in foreign country for seventy years and I think that a mouthful of its native air would do it good. This year we did something that has never been done before. We won two races. I think that Americans were decidedly nervous after the second race. We are going to use the same type of yacht next year, that we have always used. Yes we'll stick to the same type. If I were certain of winning the race, I would never race, it would not be sport. "What do you think of a Canadian boat as a challenger for America's cup?" he was asked. "I do not know very much about it, but I should think that a Canadian boat would have as good a chance as any other," he answered.

MILK ADVANCES IN WINNIPEG.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 26. The price of milk to consumers here will be advanced one cent per bottle on September first. Sixteen cents will be charged for quarts and nine cents for pints.

CANUCKS IN ENGLAND.
OTTAWA, Aug. 26. Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and President of the Privy Council, who is in England, has called the Immigration Department to the effect that there are now five hundred Canadian ex-soldiers in London; who are unable to get employment, and who have no means of returning to Canada. Following their discharge the majority of these men returned to England, under the impression that they could obtain employment at good wages.

LODGE'S DIPLOMATIC REPLY.
BOSTON, Aug. 26. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, in a letter sent yesterday to State Senator John Walsh, said that the resolution passed by the Senators last year expressing "sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice," expressed his attitude with regard to Ireland and that he had nothing to add to it. The letter was in reply to one from Senator Walsh asking that he introduce at next session of Congress a resolution to provide for financing a commission from the United States to investigate conditions in Ireland.

Cricket's Funny Flukes.
It is curious how rule 24 in cricket has sent many a man back to the pavilion through no fault of his own. Rule 24 says that obstruction by any part of the person entitled dismissal is one of the hardest cases of the kind on record occurred during a match between Derbyshire and Yorkshire, when Cadman, who was playing for the former county, was struck on the neck by the ball and given out "Leg before wicket."

In another professional match a batsman struck out at the ball and the force of the shot splintered a piece off the edge of the bat, which flew up and neatly nicked off the balls. The batsman was given out, "Hit wicket" being the verdict.

A similar incident to this occurred in a match between Sussex and Surrey, when a batsman, lifting his bat to strike, discovered that the binding round the handle had become unfatened. Before he realised it the loose binding dislodged a ball, and he was sent back to the pavilion.

Not always, however, have batsmen been unlucky. For instance, whilst playing in a Middlesex v. Surrey match at the Oval, Stoddard was stumped in the first innings, but as the balls held firm he was given "Not out." He was stumped again in the second innings, but once more the balls favored him.

In a match in Australia the varnish on the balls had become so affected that it caused them to stick to the wicket, and the ball striking the stumps when the batsman had still to reach his crease, failed to remove the balls. The batsman was given "Not out" by the umpire.

The Origin of Cricket.

(John o'London's Weekly.)

The beginnings of our premier English summer game appear to be "wropt in mystery." But there is plenty of evidence that it is an old national pastime. It can be traced back under its present name to the seventeenth century, though cricket as we know it was not played until the eighteenth century. In a rudimentary form, something like the game existed in the fourteenth century.

The Crooked Bat.

There is an MS. in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, dated 1344, which shows a figure, a female, in the act of bowling a ball (modern cricket-ball size) to a man who raises a straight bat to strike it. Behind the bowler are several figures waiting. In attitudes grossly eager, for a "chance." The game is called club-ball, but the score is made by hitting and running, as in cricket, for in a later MS. the writer refers to a similar game, and remarks that the club-bearers change places if the bat (a piece of wood 4 in. long and 1 in. in diameter) be struck, and each change of place counts one to the score like club-ball.

In old engravings the bat is represented as crooked, and as the Saxon word for a crooked stick was "crice" we may fairly assume that the game got its name in this way. This crooked weapon of defence was probably borrowed from a game known as "bandy," when wickets were introduced in place of a block-hole (1 ft. in diameter, 7 in. deep), which could be guarded with a club.

A Chaplain's Diary.

Coming to a much later period, very definite and in some instances interesting references to cricket by its modern name are to be observed. One of the earliest is from the "Diary of Henry Teonge," chaplain on board His Majesty Charles II.'s ships Assistance, Bristol, and Royal Oak, A.D. 1675-1679:—

This morning early (6th May, 1676), as is the custom all the summer long, at least of the English, with his Worship the Consul, rode out of the city (Antioch) about four miles, to a fine valley by a river side, to recreate themselves. There a princely tent was pitched, and we had several pastimes and sports, as duck-hunting, fishing, shooting, hand-ball, and cricket, and then a noble dinner brought thither, with great plenty of all sorts of wines, punch and lemonade; and at 6 we all returned home in good order, but soundly tired and weary.

There is a reference to cricket in a remarkable book written by a nephew of John Milton in 1688. The title of the book is remarkable, at least: "Mysteries of Love and Eloquence, or the Art of Wooing and Complimenting, the Treatments of Ladies at Balls, Sports, Drolls, the Witchcrafts of their Persuasive Languages, etc." But cricket is only mentioned in a casual way in the sentence, "Would my eyes had been beaten out of my head with a cricket-ball the day before I saw thee."

In 1710 a gentleman named Thomas D'Urvey wrote a book called "Pills to Purge Melancholy," in which occur the lines:—

Herr was the prettiest fellow.
At football and at cricket;
At hunting chase or nimble race
How feisty Herr could prick it.
And about the same period more familiar writers glanced at the name. Pope in the lines:—

The Judge to dance, his brother Sergeants' call,
The Senators at cricket urge the ball.
Whereas Duncombe, laying the scene of a match, be it noted, near Canterbury, exclaims:—

An ill-timed cricket match there did At Bilshopsbourne befall.

The reference of Jenyns, another poet of the period, suggests that the game then stood among the least respectable class of sports.

England when once of peace and wealth possessed,
Began to think frugality a jest;
So grew polite: hence all her well-bred heirs
Gamblers and jockeys turned, and cricket players.

Dean Swift, in 1712, in his essay on "John Bull," has a lively passage, in which he describes this typical Englishman as pursuing his way despite

STOPS BLEEDING
Instantly, then its soothing influence heals the wound. Egyptian Liniment is an all-round remedy that every household should have for the prompt treatment of Cuts, Scalds, Burns, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Sore Throat and Chest, Neuralgia, etc.

many impediments, dropping some of his acquaintances, knitting his brows, putting on a serious air, and making considerable progress in politics, considering that he had been kept in the dark. "However," he concludes, "he could not help discovering some remains of his nature when he happened to meet with a football or at a match at cricket." Neither Swift nor Pope ever saw real cricket played.

Keat v. All England.

It may seem a little strange to those who have heard or read within recent years pronouncements on the modern craze for gambling and amusements to read the following of 170 years ago:—

An action in the Court of the King's Bench to recover two bets of £25 each, laid on a match of cricket played by Keat against All England, was brought in the year 1748. The question raised was whether cricket was a game within the meaning of the words of the statute, "or any other game or games whatever," by the 5th of Anne. The court held that cricket was a game, and a very manly game too, not bad in itself, but only in the ill use made of it by betting more than £10 on it; but that was bad, and against the law.

The evidence as to the respectability of the game seems a little mixed. Robert Southey remarking that the game of cricket "was not deemed a game for gentlemen" in the middle of the previous century. And yet, indeed, another writer tells us—and who can doubt the respectability of a game countenanced by dukes?—"Dukes at Marybone bowled time away, and ladies sat and watched them."

The game of cricket may surely claim to be both "ancient" and "honourable." Ancient we have shown it to be, and, despite a dissenting testimony here and there, invariably held in high favour by the noblest of our race.

Nye Was 'Way Off.

How Humourists Were "Stang" in Business Ventures.

Among the many comical stories told of James Whitcomb Riley's experiences with Nye was the history of a book called "Nye and Riley's Railway Guide," which gave them a broad personal and legal experience with publishers. From their first tour in 1886 their fancy ran riot with the idea of a comic railway guide for just such poor, ill-fated travelers as they themselves proved to be, for the man, as they wrote in the introduction, "who erroneously gets into a car which is sidetracked and swept out and scrubbed by people who take in cars to scrub and laundry."

"Nye and I," Riley used to say, "thought a little book made from our readings might perhaps stanch a long-felt public want. In fact, we grew enthusiastic as our eyes swept the prospect. Nye, indeed, thought there was money in it. I remember that, in his optimism, he wrote: 'Let us make some money, by gosh, and put it in our inside pocket. It feels bully.' Riley always chuckled reminiscently at this point in the story.

"Well, we went to Chicago to look for a publisher, and there we found one Ketchem & Skinnem who had a sign on the door, 'Drop MSS. Here.' We dropped ours and went away feeling pretty good."
Riley then told of a long wait, during which they wondered whether the manuscript would be accepted; then how glad they were to find the book on sale at the news stands, and finally how they paid a visit to the publishers to inquire timidly into the matter of royalties. The door was locked. Some months later, in response to their letters, came an invitation to a banquet given by the publishers in their honor. Hopefully they presented themselves. "As we fed into dinner Nye whispered to me, 'Think they'll hand us checks with the cigars?' Well, when the cigars were passed at length the publisher at the head of the table pushed back his chair, put his finger tips on the cloth, beamed on us, and said:

"Gentlemen and publishers, we have met to do honor to our two illustrious humorists to-night in an unusual way. We appreciate their humor, especially that which has made our book so successful. And in token of our appreciation we now present to them one hundred shares apiece in our great company. Ahem—I believe that is all."

"It was all, Nye and I hoped at first for the best, but neither of us secretly could find any market for our shares and the company never paid any dividends before it went out of business."—Harper's Magazine.

The Kaiserin's Baggage.

The Kaiserin seems to have been more fortunate than some queens in the matter of luggage in her flight to Holland, since her luggage, though described as rather shabby, was appears to have been badly provided. When Charles X and his entourage were turned out of France one who went down to see them remarked that they had nothing in the way of "furnishings," though they had money. Louis Philippe and his queen crossed the channel as Mr. and Mrs. Smith, were ill-provided, and there is the case of the ex-Empress Eugenie, whose message to a friend when she reached England was "Come to me; I have nothing—not even a handkerchief!"

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

TO MAKE A SUMMER HOLIDAY.

RUTH CAMERON

I have a neighbor who is a very kind-hearted, conscientious woman. I met this neighbor coming home from the station the other day and she said, "I've just been taking some company to the station." She sighed what was unmistakably a sigh of relief. "Company," she added, "you know the kind."

I knew. And when I heard a woman of that calibre speak like that, I also knew how great the strain must have been.

On another day I found another of my country neighbors poring over the calendar. "My dear," she said, "I'm almost in nervous prostration trying to get everybody in. You know there are only so many week-ends in the summer and when you have as many relatives as John's and mine, and a few friends, too"—she made a gesture of mock despair.

But though it was only mock despair, there was a very genuine sense of nervousness and harassment showing through. "Why don't you have some of them in the winter?" I asked.

"Didn't that free her from Obligation?"

"Oh, they don't care about coming in the winter," she answered. "What they want is to get away from the city in the summer."

A third instance. I know a woman who has had a cottage all summer for some years. This summer she is going away to board for a month. "I need a real rest," she said, "and that with the entertaining and all the people being miffed when they're left out. I just can't get one at the cottage. I'll have a shorter vacation this year, but it will be a real one."

The unpardonable sin.

Now of course one has nothing but scorn for the person who is willing to keep a lovely house at the shore or the country or in the mountains all to herself because it is too much bother to have company. There can be few greater sins in the world than selfishness like that. It comes close to being my idea of one example of the unpardonable sin.

But on the other hand, one surely has sympathy for the woman who hosts those sense of duty and hospitality

Beetle Holds Up a Car.

ALIVE AFTER A MONTH IN AN OIL-PIPE.

Motorists and naturalists will be interested in the solution of a motor-car mystery, which for at least a month puzzled many clever brains.

The oil-gauge of the car, which should register a pressure of 15lb., refused to register more than 8lb., and sometimes 5lb. The car was examined and tested at a garage, but the mystery was not solved. A fitter took a hand at the job. He blew at the 1/4 in. pipe running from the oil-pump to the register, and out shot what appeared to be a blob of oil. To the fitter's surprise the blob had legs, and on close examination he discovered that it was a beetle. It was alive, though in a very comatose condition—well oiled, in fact.

The tiny cause of all the trouble must have been happily blocking the pipe for at least three weeks. The beetle got livelier hour by hour. It was taken out at noon and was very active at 6 o'clock. The car, like the beetle, was running about again and in perfect condition.

Motorists know what a car lives on—petrol. But what did the beetle live on? Oil?—London Daily Mail.

THE BATHING BEACH.

I view the heaving ocean, that sight of sailors' graves, and have no foolish notion of splashing in its waves. For men in bathing garments, when they are old or fat, are silly looking varnishes there is no doubt of that. The human form's a winner when it is neatly dressed, when all around one's dinner there is an ample vest; when pants have tailored creases, and coats are trim and neat, men loom up to their necks as something cute and sweet. But man's no more a dandy, when, from his garments free, on scrawny legs and bandy, he lumbers to the sea. I see fine men and stately go by my punk abode, and I admire them greatly, and frame them in an ode. Their linen's nicely laundered, their duds inspire the muse, and money they have squandered for shining of their shoes. I say, "Their sons and daughters must view such 3eds with pride"; and then, into the waters, I see the fine men slide. They splash among the billows with idiotic glee, and look like cheap gorillous escaped from some museum. I watch fat men, denuded, go frisking to the sea, and my old tub, secluded, is good enough for me.

THE ROAD TO LAUGHTER.

This is the road to laughter— Hands clean from the grime of shame.

No sin that may follow after, No smudge on an honored name, Kindness and open dealing, And though you may weep awhile, In days when the laughter's pealing You shall be free to smile.

This is the road to laughter— Courage in time of test, Faith in the hours of sadness, Believing that all is best; With never a wrong behind you And none who may doubt your worth.

When the glorious joys shall find you You may give up yourself to mirth. For laughter and joy are treasures Which those who are false must lose.

Shame offers men tawdry pleasures For never, if shame comes after, And better the failures burning Which pass in a little while, Than when the road is turning They leave us the right to smile.

For this is the road to laughter— Honor and truth my boy, For never, if shame comes after, Can man know an hour of joy. Sorrow shall set you weeping, And burdens shall fret awhile, But in the name your're keeping Lies ever your right to smile.

Dinner gowns are combinations of black velvet and black crepe, or black crepe and black chiffon.

Skirts feature flat horizontal draperies covering the hips. Tunics are usually pointed, in double and triple tier effects. White linen and black Chantilly lace are being used together. Gowns and blouses are embroidered, beaded and bejeweled. A dress of navy blue serge is trimmed with white organdie. Iridescent mauve spangled net is much used for evening gowns. Boots in light-colored leathers will be popular for fall and spring. The wide belt and Eton jacket effect is very youthful and smart. Full overskirts made of looped draperies are seen on fall models. Fall suits are of duvetyn, duvet de lain, velours, silver-tone and bolivia. Sleeves of colored velvet are veiled with brilliantly embroidered black net. Metal brocade and navy blue serge make a fashionable combination. Honors are divided between the short box coat and redingote in suits. Sleeves in contrasting fur are seen on full-length fur dolman wraps. Long-sleeved one-piece dresses in light-colored crepe de chene will be worn.

Nicholson May Design Challenger.

MONTREAL, August 20.—A. C. Ross, promoter of the Canadian challenge for the America's Cup, has cabled Charles G. Nicholson, designer of the Shamrock, to inquire whether he would accept a commission to design the new challenger.

Mr. Ross intimated to Mr. Nicholson that he desired the yacht to be Canadian in all possible respects, from the man who built her to the crew by whom she is managed.

In reply to the invitation, Mr. Nicholson stated that the fulfillment of these requirements would be an extremely difficult, if not impossible, task, moreover, he considers July too early for the race, and suggests September.

He will accept the commission, providing the preliminary work is carried on in England, where he wishes the moulds, etc., to be made and shipped to Canada.

Lachute, Que., 25th Sept., 1908. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen.—Ever since coming home from the Boer war I have been bothered from running sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. After two bottles the sores completely disappeared and I have worked every working day since.

Yours gratefully,
 JOHN WALSH.

If True, Why Make Others Pay?

(Western Star.)
The Telegram on the 19th inst. editorially stated that a West Coast merchant refused to pay the extra charges demanded by the Food Control Board on a quantity of sugar he had imported from Canada. That "deadlock" ensued for some little time, which, however, was broken by "threats of certain legal proceedings," and ultimately the sugar was released, and the consumers saved the "extra cost."
The public would like to have some further information on this matter. In the first place who was the merchant, and "are the consumers saved the additional cost?"
If one sugar importer was permitted to obtain his shipment of sugar without having to pay the extra charges, why should others be compelled to pay from two to three cents a pound extra, thus setting up an unfair competition or giving one merchant an opportunity to make a big rakeoff? We do not condemn the importer who put up the strong fight and won out, providing he is giving his customers the full benefit of the result; but rather we would congratulate him for the interest he has manifested in the behalf of those he is endeavoring to serve. But we do demand that, if privileges have been extended to one, they shall likewise be extended to all, and the trade owes it to those upon whom they depend to purchase their merchandise to see to it that their customers are not victimized.
(The Telegram can vouch for the truth of its statement, as quoted above, and begs to inform its Western contemporary that the consumers were saved the additional expense on the shipment of sugar referred to. The matter is now public property and it should not be difficult for the Western Star to discover the identity of the Port aux Basques importer who kicked against the decree of the Food Control Board and won out. Ed. Telegram.)

Port aux Basques.

TO BE PORT OF ENTRY FOR MAIL PARCELS.

(Western Star.)

The Railway Commission, accompanied by Hon. H. J. Brownrigg, G. Shea and W. W. Halfyard, went west by special train on Wednesday evening and returned east again on Saturday morning. While west they visited the coal areas of the Reid and Co. at South Branch, and those of the St. George's Coal Fields at Robinson's, looked over the location for a railway from the latter property, and visited Port aux Basques for the purpose of selecting a site for the proposed new freight sheds at that place. In conversation at Port aux Basques on Friday morning, we were told the new sheds would extend from the present old one to the railway office. That new quarters would be provided for the Customs and for the handling of express and baggage. And that provision is to be made for the examining and assessing of parcels by post for the West and South Coasts at Port aux Basques, instead of, as at present, being conveyed to St. John's for examination and assessment. This last announcement will be hailed with delight by the people of the West and South Coasts, who in the past, have often been placed to much inconvenience through the long delay in the transit of mail parcels from Canada. It was in the year 1900 that the present manager of the Western Star first took up the matter with the then Postmaster General. Since then we have repeatedly advocated this reform, and the late Postmaster General, Dr. Robinson, gave the project considerable support. We also took the matter up with the Customs Department, and were assured the support of that Department whenever the Executive Government choose to give the matter consideration. It has always appeared as needless expense and delay to transport mail parcels intended for this section of the country all the way across country and back again, incurring extra carriage of a thousand miles, besides the delay in going and coming, as well as that often caused by the congestion of the examination ends, while express packages come in and are delivered wherever there is an express office. And not only the South and West Coasts will benefit by the proposed innovation, for by putting it into operation will relieve the tax on space and officials at St. John's, and thus enable the handling of mail parcels with greater facility. We would also suggest that similar arrangements be made for mail parcels from this country to Canada. We fail to see any logical reason why these should be subjected to the delay of transmission first to St. John's. The same argument we have advanced time and again regarding incoming parcels apply equally to outgoing parcels.

DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

WANDERERS DEFEAT B.L.S.

Despite the awful weather last night a bunch of dyed-in-the-wool fans turned out to see the clash between Tim's aggregation and the clan whose chief-tain is Bert Channing. Conditions made it impossible to hand out a good brand of ball and the players were pretty high spirited. It resulted in the Wanderers snatching the game with a score of 6 to 3. Up to the fifth they were 1 run each, but then the "Up and Down" boys went up and before they came down again 5 blue clad forms made the circuit of the cushions. In their portion of the frame the Irish lads got 2 runs. Umpire Chesman called the game in the last half of the sixth innings owing to darkness with 6 more tallies to the credit of the Wanderers all through errors, and the B.L.S. with 1 run and one man down. According to the rules, however, when the game is called the uncompleted innings does not count and the score reverts to the previous innings. There were no earned runs. O'Leary had 10 strikeouts but issued 4 walks. Donnelly had 8 strikeouts and passed none. French is charged with 2 wild pitches. In the errors list were Wallace, French and Phalen with 2 each, and McCrindle, Dillon and O'Donnell 1. The only slugging for the evening was Gordon Mutt's three bagger. Eddie Phalen had the misfortune to severely sprain his ankle while stealing third in the fifth which will lay him up for some time. Only three more games remain to be played, as follows:

B.L.S. vs. Cubs.
C.E.L. vs. Lions.
Cubs vs. Wanderers.

The first will be played on Tuesday evening, while the remaining two will have to stand over until the Inter-Town series are completed.

CITY TEAM PICKED.

Manager—Thomas, Hall, Hartnett, Fulmore, Treasurer Power, Umpire Chesman, and Mgr. Orr had a session yesterday forenoon, and as a result of their deliberations the following players were selected to represent St. John's in the Inter-Town series against Grand Falls for the R. G. Reid trophy:

1st base—Tim Hartnett.
2nd base—Damon Duggan.
3rd base—Dave Robertson.
Shortstop—Billy McCrindle.
Left Field—Charlie Quick.
Centre Field—Freddie Phalen.

SINN FEINERS RAID VILLAGE.

OMAGH, Ireland, Aug. 26.

While a fair was in progress at Drumquin, about seven miles north-west of Omagh, to-day, a party of armed Sinn Feiners dashed through the village in motor cars and opened fire on a small force of police controlling traffic, wounding two of the men. The sergeant in command was wounded slightly and a constable received critical injuries. After their opening dash the raiding party turned its attention to the barracks which the remainder of police were striving to defend. After a long and futile siege the Sinn Feiners departed. A large military force was despatched to the scene from Omagh, but arrived too late to be of assistance.

RIOTING AND BLOODSHED.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.

Serious rioting broke out in Belfast to-night, during which there was considerable shooting and some incendiarism. A number of wounded persons were taken to hospitals. The casualties were reported as one person killed and twenty injured, including two young women. One of the latter is in a critical state. The fire brigade reported twenty-eight incendiary fires in twelve hours, ending at seven o'clock this morning. Thirty-nine persons were arrested for rioting and kindred offenses.

INCITED BY BOLSHEVIKI.

LONDON, Aug. 26.

A despatch to the London Times from Simla, British India, dated Thursday, says the Northern Afghan garrison at Malmalal Sharif, has mutinied owing to Bolshhevik influences. The troops are demanding the establishment of soldiers' councils on the Russian plan.

MAY CAUSE CRISIS.

LONDON, Aug. 26.

The Evening Standard's Dublin correspondent says divisions of opinion between Irish Executive and the Cabinet have reached an acute stage, culminating in Sir Hamar Greenwood's visit to Premier Lloyd George at Lucerne. The Viceroy's position, as well as that of responsible members of the Executive, is in the balance, and it is stated here that the next few days will bring a definite announcement of more of a liberal ameliorative policy in Ireland or resignations that must wholly alter the personnel of the Irish Administration.

GOT RELIEF IN NICK OF TIME, SAYS PIKE.

System Went All To Pieces After He Was Gassed But Tanlac Has Now Restored His Health.

"It's a good thing I started taking Tanlac when I did," said H. E. Pike, ex-soldier, residing at 24 Gilbert Street, St. John's, N.F., "for if I had waited much longer I'm afraid it would have been too late.

"Back in October, 1918," continued Mr. Pike, "while I was in France, I was severely gassed, and it just seemed to effect my whole system. My stomach got out of order and my appetite became so poor that sometimes I didn't even want to look at anything to eat. And when I did force down a little, something it always soured on my stomach and caused gas to form. I would bloot all up and have a heavy, full feeling that just looked like it would never leave me. My nerves finally broke down and I became easily irritated and excited. I was bothered with terrible pains in my back, couldn't sleep to do any good and when morning came felt like I didn't have any strength or energy left. Natural-

Wedding Bells.

WAY—PITT.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes, 60 Patrick Street, at 3.30 p.m., Thursday afternoon, when Miss Florrie, daughter of the late Gideon Way, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Rev. Thomas J. Pitt, of Teignmouth, Devon, England, but who for the past seven years has been identified with the Newfoundland Methodist Conference. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. B. Bugden, Pastor of Wesley Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Pedley, one of the professors under which Rev. Mr. Pitt studied while attending college. The bride, looking very sweet in a dress of white Georgette, with pearl trimmings and bridal wreath and veil, carrying a beautiful bouquet of white roses and asters, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Wm. Way, entered the room, while Wagner's Wedding March was being played by Miss Estelle Barnes, niece of the bride. The bride was attended by Miss Marie E. Way, one of Newfoundland's talented Poetesses and sister of the bride, and wore a dress of pale blue voile, with hat to match, carrying a beautiful bouquet of pink sweet peas. The ceremony commenced by the singing of the hymn, "The Voice that Breathed of old Eden," etc. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy bride and groom received the good wishes and congratulations of the immediate relatives and friends. Refreshments were served, during which the following toasts were proposed and honored, the Bride, proposed by Rev. W. B. Bugden, the Bridesmaid, proposed by Rev. Dr. Pedley, and the Parents of the Bride and Groom by Mr. W. F. Parsons. The many valuable and useful gifts received, including several cheques from England, bore ample testimony to the popularity of the bride. At 5.50 the happy couple motored to Waterford Bridge station to entrain for Holyrood, where the honeymoon will be spent, after which the Rev. T. J. and Mrs. Pitt will return to town and join the S.S. "Susu" for their future home at Musgrave Harbor.

VIA BELGIUM.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 26.

The Libre Beige to-day quotes a member of the Government as declaring that because of the present situation the Belgian Government intends to authorize the transportation of munitions through Belgium to Poland.

COUNTRY AGAINST IT.

LONDON, Aug. 26.

Balloting to-day again shows a large majority in Wales in favor of a miners strike, but in some parts of the country adverse votes were recorded. Indications are, however, that the strike will be voted by the necessary two third majority. Simultaneously an anti strike movement among other trade Unions is growing fast, as the public begin to realize the serious results coal strike would have on practically all the trades, apart from domestic inconvenience and discomfort. Campaigning is active on both sides, and strong efforts at mediation by moderate labor leaders may be expected immediately the result of the balloting is announced.

MUNITIONS.

LONDON, Aug. 26.

Munitions and hydro airplanes, valued at nearly two millions, which recently were confiscated by the entente commission in the Pitsche Works on the Spree River, were destroyed Thursday evening by three thousand employees of the plant, many of whom are Communists, says a Berlin dispatch to the London Times. The Reichswehr was summoned out but proved powerless to act. The Government is sending representatives to the scene.

OTHER FIRES IN RUSSIA.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 27.

A despatch from the Tidnings from Helsingfors, Finland, says terrible fires are raging in Russia, and entire towns and villages have been burned. In the Volga province of Alene, five hundred houses have been destroyed and a hundred and fifty persons have perished. Tens of thousands of acres of forest lands in the Moscow district are in flames, and former pest boes are burning in Government of Vladimir.

ADEY—DAVIS.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adey, 2 Springdale St., on August 25th, at 3 p.m., when their only daughter, Cora Isabelle, was united in the holy bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Jack Davis, of the firm of Messrs. Ayre & Sons, Ltd., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Davis, of Freshwater, B.D.V. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. B. Bugden, B.A., pastor of Wesley Church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Israel Adey, who acted as father giver, while the bridal chorus was being played by Mrs. W. B. Bugden, wife of the officiating clergyman. The bride looked charming in a gown of ivory duchesse mousseline, and wore veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. The bride was attended by Miss Lena Taylor, cousin of the groom, who was tastefully attired in mauve duchesse mousseline, and carried a bouquet of variegated sweet peas and asters. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Arthur E. Pike. After the ceremony had been performed, the beautiful song "Until" was rendered by Mr. Harold Chaplin in a very efficient manner, after which the health of the bride and groom was duly honoured, and a very pleasant evening spent. After refreshments had been partaken of the wedding party motored to Donovan's, from which the bride and groom entrained for Clarke's Beach, where the honeymoon will be spent, proceeding later to Freshwater, B.D.V. The bride was closely connected with Wesley Church, having been prominent in Sunday School and Epworth

The Gas Company and the Government.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—To-day Sydney coal again advanced in price in the local market, and the end is not yet. The situation in the outside coal markets is such that any hope of a reduction in price this fall would appear to be without foundation. There is also a prospect of a short supply. Throughout Canada and the U.S.A. public utilities, requiring coal for their operations, are very seriously hampered by coal shortage, with poor prospect of better conditions.

I hear it stated that our local Gas Company is unable to obtain gas coal from the usual source, and that it is depending on the assurances of the Nfld. Government to supply its needs from the West Coast coal areas, where suitable coal is available. Failing this it would appear that the Gas Company would have to cease operations. This is such a serious contingency, entailing as it would much loss and inconvenience to the industrial and domestic life of the city, that nothing should be left undone to prevent the closing down of the Gas Works. It is up to large users of gas for industrial purposes to urge the Government to give the Gas Company all the help possible in the circumstances.

Now that a local supply of good gas coal can be made available, coal also suitable for domestic or other use, it would be a crime to allow anything to retard the development of our own coal resources, and allow the Gas Company to go down for want of fuel. It has been stated that gas appliances used and owned by gas consumers in St. John's would approximate in cost $250,000, all of which would be scrapped if the Gas Company ceased to supply gas to the city, in addition to which would be the cost of substituting other appliances for power, heating and cooking.

It is to be hoped that the Government is sincere in its promise to supply the Gas Company with coal, and that the necessary steps will be taken before it is too late. I understand that the Gas Company has been serving St. John's for the past seventy years or more, and, to allow it to go under now, with plenty of local coal available, would be worse than a crime, it would be a blunder.

Yours truly,
Aug. 26, 1920. GAS CONSUMER.

Nfld. Not Looking to Join Canada.

London, Aug. 21.—(Cross-Atlantic Cable).—Premier R. A. Squires, of Newfoundland, was interviewed today by Cross-Atlantic Service regarding the report connected with the proposed confederation of Canada and Newfoundland. "If you want to annoy a Newfoundlander, mention the possibility of Newfoundland joining with the rest of Canada. Our Dominion is the oldest and most loyal British colony. It is not a matter of Newfoundland joining Canada, but of Canada joining Newfoundland. Any proposition to the advantage of Newfoundland would doubtless be considered."

C. L. B. Cadets.

Avon Battalion of the First Nfld. C.L.B. Cadets attached to the King's Royal Rifle Corps paraded at the usual hour in the Armoury last night. They have now settled down to their quarters after the past few weeks of camp, garden parties and picnics. The fall and winter programme will now be in order. Lt.-Col. Goodridge, Major Williams, Rev. Lieut. Fletcher, Adjutant, and Lieuts. Frank Miles, Harold Hayward, W. R. Mott, Norman Henry, were on duty.

A large shipment of new kit from the London stores arrived and Assistant Quartermaster Mott, Sergt. Downton and Lance Corporal Whitten were busy checking the same and assorting the badly needed goods for delivery.

The Athletic Committee under Chairman Rev. Lieut. Fletcher are busy finalising arrangements for their C.L.B. sports on St. George's Field on Wednesday next. The officers at last night's conference gave the committee a cash donation of fifty dollars towards providing the prizes. A team for the football match is coming from Heart's Content, and it is expected Major Lindsay, of Wabana Company will despatch a few of his seasoned veterans from the Ironmen of Bell Island to bring home the victor's palm. Many of the finest athletes of St. John's have already entered for the "Open Championships" in the different events. Capt. Sandy Morris and his musical combination will be on hand Wednesday with something extra choice in his department and it will be served with all the extras!

The Colonel Commanding held a conference of officers last night and made a stirring address to those present after the usual routine business went through. The Mess President was in the chair with Secretary Lieut. P. B. Rendell. Lieut. Phil Rendell will be visiting Montreal shortly and Lieut. Harold Rendell will act as Secretary until his return. We wish Lieut. Rendell a pleasant trip and hope he will return with health in A1 shape.

The School Department last night had a holiday, as Lieut. R. G. Ash was at Grand Falls on business, and his chief lieutenant Fred Emerson being on leave at St. Pierre.

We ask the public to patronize the sports on Wednesday as the Battalion needs money on account of the recent outlay of Topsail Camp—Q.

Pleads at Ponzi's Door for His Money.

Boston, Aug. 15.—A musician, frantic with worry because of the illness of his wife, and the probable loss of his savings—$1100, which he had invested in the Securities Exchange Company—was one of the few callers at the Ponzi home in Lexington yesterday.

Carrying a violin case in one arm the man sought admittance to the Ponzi home. He was prevented from entering the door by a butler. After pleading with the servant for an opportunity to speak to Mrs. Ponzi the man left the house, dejected and discouraged.

"I thought that perhaps Mrs. Ponzi would help me to get my money back," the musician said to reporters. "My wife is very sick, and I haven't been able to earn a penny by playing because I have been so worried. Eleven hundred dollars that I had saved to buy a house are in the Ponzi company and I'm afraid now that I won't get any of my money back."

Another man, who has known Mrs. Ponzi for years, tried unsuccessfully to gain admittance to the Ponzi home also. "This man admitted that he entrusted money to Ponzi, and he does not believe he will get anything for his note. "But other friends of Ponzi still believe in him," said the man.

"I ended corns forever in this scientific way"

Millions have said that about Blue-jay. Others tried it and told others the same story. So the use has spread, until corn troubles have largely disappeared.

If you have a corn you can settle it tonight. And find the way to end every corn. Apply liquid Blue-jay or a Blue-jay plaster. The pain will stop.

Soon the whole corn will loosen and come out.

Think what folly it is to keep corns, to pare or pad them, or to use the old harsh treatments.

Here is the new-day way, gentle, sure and scientific. It was created by a noted chemist in this world-famed laboratory.

It is ending millions of corns by a touch. The relief is quick, and it ends them completely.

Try it tonight. Corns are utterly needless, and this is the time to prove it.

Board of Trade
Discuss Various Matters.

Meeting of Exporters Arranged.

At the meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday, Mr. H. R. Brookes presided and read the following statement as between the Council of the Board of Trade and Mr. Coaker.

Your Council regrets that the Minister of Marine & Fisheries has decided to refuse to be present at this meeting.

In their opinion the matter under consideration is of such vital importance to the whole community that it should be the subject of the fullest discussion; that the views of the Board having been expressed, a decision should be arrived at regarding the course to be adopted, and that this course should be put into operation with the least possible delay. They fully realize that any further delay in setting the matter in which it is proposed to operate and regulate the operations of the Codfish Exportation control this season must seriously interfere with the satisfactory marketing of this season's catch. In view of the necessity for a definite plan to be decided without further delay, and because of the statement made by the Minister of Marine & Fisheries to the President, that matters relating to the Export Regulations will receive consideration when emanating from the Fish Exporters, as apart from the whole Board of Trade, and in view of the fact that the meeting between the Codfish Export Commission and licensed exporters has been called for the 2nd of September, your Council propose that a meeting of the exporters should be held forthwith, when the Export Regulations can be fully discussed and a policy or plan of action can be adopted for the present season that will be satisfactory to all or the majority of the exporters.

The exporters should undoubtedly have their opinion on the Regulations carefully prepared and ready for submission to the joint meeting between the Codfish Export Commission and the licensed exporters, called for the 2nd of September, and the preliminary meeting which it is now proposed to call and should make this possible.

With your approval, therefore, it is proposed that this meeting should not further discuss the question of the Fishery Regulations, and that the fish exporters be called together for that purpose when this meeting adjourns.

Mr. Brookes explained that it was not intended that discussion should cease but something definite was necessary to be known before the meeting of the codfish exportation board and the codfish exporters called for September 2nd took place and to facilitate matters the Council of the Board of Trade anticipating matters had telegraphed those fish exporters on the West Coast and in Conception Bay, with whom contact could be had, to come to the city and attend preliminary meetings, to arrive at some decision before the September meeting took place. He then moved the following resolution: that a meeting of the fish exporters be called for today, Friday, at 4 p.m., for the purpose of discussing the Fish Regulations.

Hon. W. B. Grieve thought it was not within the province of the Board of Trade to summon a meeting of the fish exporters, Mr. Brookes replying that some one will have to call the meeting and he did not think it would be outside the province of the Board of Trade, but he was willing to alter his proposition in accordance with the suggestion of Hon. W. B. Grieve, and have the resolution take the form of a request.

Mr. McKay then asked the Chairman who was to express the finding of the exporters and report to the Board of Trade.

Hon. Mr. Grieve thought that the matter as it concerned the whole Board of Trade should be dealt with by the fish exporters, who before they submit their conclusion to Mr. Coaker, should report back to the Board of Trade.

Mr. Rodger thought that there was a good deal of comic opera in calling meeting after meeting when in fact the Board of Trade had no voice, "what is the use of bringing us here," said the speaker, "I for one resent it."

After some further discussion on the discourtesy shown the Board by Mr. Coaker, Mr. H. E. Cowan moved a resolution, but before doing so said: "If we are going to accept the dictum that one body of this Board is greater than the other then we are standing on dangerous ground. I feel whatever finding the codfish exporters make should be as coming from the Council of the Board of Trade." The resolution as follows was seconded by Mr. McKay:—"That the matter of the Fish Export Regulations be referred back to the Fishery Exporters' Committee of the Board of Trade with the recommendation that a meeting of the fish exporters be convened promptly, and that anything they may decide be reported to the Council of the Board of Trade and to the Governor-in-Council through its secretary."

The subject of the water supply from Petty Harbor Long Pond as referred to in the half yearly report was then taken up. Mr. Cowan speaking on the subject said some of us were told that decreased insurance rates were in view with the improved water service, but the fact was that instead of lowering the fire insurance along Water Street and the business section of the town it had been increased, there was, however, a slight decline in the rate for the residential portion of the city. He wished to know why the people of Waterford Valley are not to be given the privilege of linking up with the new service, which according to report was to supply only the Sanitarium and Lunatic Asylum and why was not the city service which already extends a good distance in that direction not further extended for the same outlay, and he suggested that Mayor Gosling be invited to attend a meeting and explain what led to such a decision which involves an outlay of $40,000 or $50,000.

Mr. E. R. Bowring as far as he happened to know said the Municipal Council had nothing to do with it and believed it was a Govt. measure. The system will pass through Bowring Park and they were in hope of getting additional supplies there.

Hon. J. Anderson gave credit for the improvements made in the city service but felt that the Government and City Commission should act in conjunction and extend the main outside the city so as to help build up the suburbs. The Board of Trade should use their influence in the matter.

Mr. Brookes agreed some explanation should be given why the existing service was not extended.

Hon. J. Anderson pointed out that contrary to the principle in every other country the practice here was to make the people pay for water and sewerage and then assess their property for it.

Mr. W. S. Monroe hoped there would be a larger attendance than before when Mayor Gosling attended to deal with the water question and only a handful were present. It was decided to invite Mayor Gosling to enlighten the Board on the matter.

Mr. J. Moore asked if it were true that the Gas Co. would soon go out of business.

Mr. Brookes replied that he had no definite information on the matter.

Mr. E. A. Bowring explained that the Company had sufficient coal to continue operations till September 30th, but their carrying on after that date depends on whether the Government can supply them with coal from the St. George's fields. If the supply is not available they must close down. North Sydney coal is not suitable and none can be obtained from the former supplying markets. The Government have made promises but not of a very definite nature and don't seem in a hurry to do anything. There seems little hope of the Company continuing after September 30th.

Mr. Rodger—The closing of the Gas Company will be a calamity.

Mr. Brookes—Has anyone any suggestion to make to the meeting that would help the matter out.

Mr. Bowring—The Government have made some promises on the matter but they don't seem to be in a hurry. It looks as if the town will be without gas on the 30th September.

The meeting then closed, after the Fish Exporters had been requested to meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the regulations and other matters concerning Fish.

Labrador Report.

A report of the Northern Labrador fishery was received by the Fisheries Department yesterday from Capt. Barbour, via Foggo:—"North to Hebron from Magford south, a better sign. A good deal of fish seen on the bottom at most places but no trapping yet, the water being in bad condition. No fish got yet. Our route clear of ice, with the exception of numerous bergs which considerably hinder fishermen in using gear. Weather fair."

Gloomy Outlook
at Bay de Verde.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—The summer is drawing to a close and nothing doing in fish buying owing to the iniquitous Fish Regulations which have placed an embargo on exporters. People are anxious over the gloomy outlook and murmurs of discontent are heard on all sides, against those responsible for this serious condition of affairs. Are we living in the Dark Ages? How much longer will the people stand quiet while the bone and sinew of the country are leaving to enrich the revenues of other lands?

The greatest crowd of time servers and office hunters that ever disgraced a country are now in charge and they appear to revel in their infamy. Last fall Squires posed as the champion of the people's rights and promised if the electors would rally to his banner that living would be cheaper and that prosperity would be the peoples portion. Where is the promised prosperity to-day? Ask the fishermen who cannot dispose of their small catches if they are prosperous? Ask the labourers who cannot get a day's work? Ask the widows and orphans are they more prosperous? Ask the outport trader and merchants and their answer will invariably be: We have never known trade to be so dull; everything is paralyzed and business is at a standstill. Trains are running over this branch practically empty and schooners are lying up for want of freights.

In the meantime those who have the means are getting away from the country to seek the living denied them at home.

"Dear Newfoundland have I got to leave you to seek a living in a foreign land. Forged from this nation by sheer starvation I now must leave you poor Newfoundland."

It is a sad state of affairs to witness the young men leaving by nearly every train, while Squires and Coaker et al: are drawing thousands of dollar salaries, wrung from the crushed and downtrodden toilers, whom they so cruelly deceived, and betrayed.

Those who cannot see eye to eye with Coaker are vilified and abused. Hon. W. B. Grieve who is respected by fishermen all over the country, and whose shoes Coaker is not fit to tie has done more in raising prices of fish than Coaker ever will. This gentlemen's opinions on the notorious Fish Regulations and his experience in trade should be an authority on market conditions and his counsel should be respected and acted upon.

Yours truly,
FISHERMAN.

FISHERY REPORT—Between Cape Race and St. Shott's the catch of codfish is reported to be 13,825 qts. Three motor boats and 87 dories and skiffs are fishing. Cod is fairly plentiful for trawling when bait is obtainable, but there is only a little squid and herring available.

McGuire's Ice Cream is now ready for delivery. Please send in your orders.—aug5.ft

COOPERS LAID OFF—During the week quite a number of coopers, employed at the mercantile premises along Water Street, have been laid off, there being no work for them. At one premises nearly all the men have been paid off without any definite idea when work will be resumed.

LABOR DAY—A notice from the S.P.U. posted in the Board of Trade rooms says it has been decided to observe Wednesday next as Labor Day.

MUTT AND JEFF

MUTT, IF IT'S ALL THE SAME TO YOU I PREFER TO PLAY ALONE. YOU DRIVE OFF AND I'LL KEEP ONE HOLE BEHIND YOU!

SURE, BUT WHAT'S THE IDEA?

WHEN WE PLAY A MATCH TOGETHER IT ALWAYS ENDS IN A FIGHT AND YOU BEAT ME WITH THE BALL! THAT TAKES ALL THE PLEASURE OUT OF THE GAME FOR ME!

SOME DRIVE! A PUNCH!

JEFF'S REAL REASON FOR NOT WANTING TO PLAY WITH ME IS BECAUSE HE AIN'T IN MY CLASS! SOME PUTT! I MADE THIS HOLE IN FOUR AND THAT'S FAR! I GUESS I'M POOR!

NOW JEFF'S GONNA DRIVE OFF! I BET HE'LL TAKE ABOUT SIX ON THIS HOLE! I'LL JUST WATCH HIM A MINUTE! TEE HEE.

Men Who Steal Wives.

Health Journal Asks: "Why Should They go Free?" England to-day is a land strewn with the wreckage of homes, says the Weekly.

All over the country there are signs of the breaking up of family life upon a scale greater than ever before. The rate of marriage is being treated with contempt by a type of man who is at nothing in pursuing an attack on another man's home.

The result is that at the present time the divorce courts are working at high pressure dealing with petitions for divorce presented by husbands who, on returning from service abroad, have found that advantage has been taken of their absence by the case wrecker.

Many people think it is a serious matter in our legal system that so many of these men usually should escape with nothing more than a few scathing words from the judge.

The president of the divorce-court at the time ago, in concluding the hearing of a case, said: "It is much to be regretted that there is not some mode of marking the infamous conduct of such men as the co-defendant, who, while the husband is away, took the opportunity to 'steal' the wife."

The war was largely responsible for the growth of the evil, but the cause is actually increasing. This is proved by the number of cases that are still being put down for hearing at the divorce courts.

A type of man has been let loose whose sole aim seems to be to "rob" men of their wives, regardless of the fact that by doing so he is incurring untold misery by breaking up the home.

The fact that there is no legal remedy for this state of affairs has led to the exercise of what is called the "Lawless Law," in which the injured person himself sets out to deal with the offender. Several notable examples have occurred during the last few years, resulting in the death of the home-wrecker at the hands of the husband.

To many people this may seem a just way of dealing with the offence, but the majority agree that, however justly the guilty one may deserve such a fate, it is far more desirable that the punishment should be meted out by a judge in a court of law.

Bedrooms & Beds

There's nothing more important to the bedroom than the Bed itself, is there? From the point of usefulness or ornament it ranks first. Does your Bed suit your taste? Does it harmonize with your room? Does it give you the sleep-comfort you need? No? Well, then it's time to discard it and get another, quick.

We are showing All-Brass, Brass and Enamel, and All-Enamel Beds in all sizes and very fine designs. Each and all of which Beds can be fitted with Springs and Wool or Felt Mattresses if desired.

Ice Cream Makers and Bakers.

Oil of Vanilla

Just received a small shipment of Oil of Vanilla. This is the actual oil obtained from the Vanilla Bean and has not got alcohol or other preservative added to it. Two teaspoonfuls will flavor a ten-gallon batch of Ice Cream. It will be found much more economical for manufacturing purposes than any brand of Vanilla Extract.

Orders should be placed promptly as this will be the last shipment received this season.
