LADY LAURAS' RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

A groom crossing the yard to go to the saddle-room, seeing the captain still mounted, went up to him.

"Shall I take your horse, sir?" he asked.

The gleaming eyes fixed themselves on the man's face. Had there been an accident, surely he would speak. The captain declined his aid sullenly, and the men passed on. Then the captain saw Jones coming quickly toward him, and by the old man's manner he guessed that he had something to tell him.

Captain Wynyard's face flushed fiery red, then as suddenly grew deadly pale; his hands shook so that he nearly dropped the bridle, his whole frame trembled; great drops gathered on his brow.

"What is it?" he asked, as Jones came up to him and stood cap in hand.

"There has been a terrible accident, captain," he replied, quickly.

An accident. Had his scheme succeeded? His voice was hoarse and thick as he cried out:

"An accident with the boat, captain—the very boat that I tried on the river yesterday, and which was safe and sound as any boat could be."

Then the old man told of Angela's mishap and her rescue. The flush in the captain's face died away; but the great drops gathered more quickly and fell from his forehead.

"Then Miss Rooden is all right?" he asked, huskily.

"Yes, captain; but she might have been drowned."

"And if she had been, you would have been responsible for it. The accident must have been caused by your carelessness. I told you to see that the boat was safe."

"So I did. No boat was ever more safe and sound, captain."

"Then what had happened to it?" he cried, angrily.

"That is what no man can tell, captain. If you have it raised out of the lake you will learn. I cannot understand it."

"So it was Major Norton who saved her life?" he said, with an evil look.
"Yes, captain. But for the major the young lady would have been drowned, certainly."
"I am grieved to hear of your accident, Angel," said the captain, when he met her an hour afterward.
She raised her eyes wistfully to him. "It is strange," she remarked, gently. "That is the second narrow escape I have had from death."
But the strangest circumstance was that the captain would not allow the boat to be raised from the depths of the lake.
"It was so very nearly being a coffin," he said, "that I should never like to see it used again."
CHAPTER XXXVIII.

Three days after the boat accident Angela stood alone in her room. She had not yet ceased to wonder at the strangeness of her misadventure, but to solution of the mystery came to her. The captain refused to have the boat raised, although Major Norton and every one who spoke to him about it strongly advised him to have it done.

"You ought to know what was wrong," the major said. "Life is far too precious to be sacrificed in such a way. If the fault lies with those who repaired the boat, they ought to be reprimanded for it; if with Jones, he ought to be dismissed. You take it far more coolly than I should."

"It would be a waste of time and labor to have the thing raised," the captain replied, "for I should never allow it to be used again. I hate the very thought of it."

It might have been the major's fancy, but it certainly seemed to him that, instead of being grateful to him for the service he had rendered, the captain grew cooler to him from that time forth.

Angela was as much perplexed as ever regarding the cause of the accident. But she had not seen a silent figure creeping down the stairs at night, grooving in the darkness, unfastening doors with a stealthy hand, passing out of the house through the grounds, down to the boat-house. She had not seen the boat-house door carefully closed, and a lantern procured and lighted. She had not heard the muffled sounds that might have proclaimed the treacherous deed.

The captain had calculated to a nicety how long the nails would hold, how long the loosened plank would be before it gave way and allowed the water to rush in and overwhelm the frail craft.

Up to this time Angela had not the faintest suspicion of the truth. She was restless and uneasy concerning the mishaps which had so nearly terminated her existence. "Danger and death seem to pursue me," she said to herself. "Why should it be so?"

There was a faint knock at the door, and Jaua Felspar, her faithful old nurse, came in.

"Are you alone, my dear?" she asked. "I want to talk to you."

"Come in, nurse. I am glad to see you," said Angela; for, although a fashionable lady's maid had in some measure taken old Jane's place, no one to Angela was like this faithful woman. She had nursed her fair young mistress through her infancy and childhood, and she worshipped her now as one of the most lovely and perfect of women. She had been in great trouble and distress about her young mistress, and, with the sure instinct of love, she felt there was danger near her.

"May I stay and talk to you, Miss Angela?" she asked. "I am not lippy about you, my dear. I do not like to be always hearing that you have been in this accident and the other."

"I must be more careful, dear nurse," said the girl.

"You are careful," returned the old woman; "it is not your fault. I have my thoughts and my fears, but I hesitate to tell them to you."

"You may tell me anything, nurse," she said, gently.

"Perhaps it is cruel of me," Mrs. Felspar went on, "and perhaps it is unjust. Still I cannot help it. Something bids me speak, and I must speak. My dear," she continued, bending to her and whispering into Angela's ear, "my dear, do you think the captain has any motive for wishing you dead?"

The captain? cried Angela, in astonishment. "No, certainly not. My death would make no difference to him."
"You are quite sure, dear?" persisted the nurse.
"I am quite sure of it," she answered. "My death would not affect him in the least. He would neither lose nor gain by it."
"Does he like you?"
"I should think not," was the grave reply. "I have never liked him. I can truly say there is no love lost between us."
"I thought not, dear. I have never liked him. I saw how the dark shadows fell round the old house on the night he came home with my lady. People call him handsome; but I know he is cruel. I have never said one word about it, but I have seen my lady's heart breaking slowly day by day. It was an evil hour that brought him here. He means mischief, I am sure; I have seen his face looking wicked and cruel—ay, and troubled, too. Do not be angry, Miss Angela, if I say out what I think."
"Say what you will," said Angela.
"I am sure, my dear, that the captain means some harm to you; he intends to do you some deadly mischief. I have seen it in his eyes and his face when he has been looking at you. Love is quick to read signs of love or hate."
"You must be mistaken, nurse," said Angela, gravely. "I have never liked the captain, and he has never liked me, but he would not do me any harm, I am sure. Why should he?"
"That is the very thing I should like to know," replied Mrs. Felspar. "I cannot help feeling that he seeks your death, though why he should seek it I cannot tell."

Pisanky—The Painted Easter Eggs of The Ukraine.

(By FLORENCE RANDAL LIVESAY.)

The genius of the Ukrainian people manifests itself in very many ways, and naturally so, for the peasants living in the midst of a beautiful and very fertile country, varied as it is, must be susceptible to its influence, they have an ancient culture, an art in embroidery and weaving handed down for centuries, and a wealth of folk song. Their work "bears the imprint of a noble simplicity, of what is natural and real, and this is proper to all kinds of their creative product, nothing grandiose, no excessive waves and curves."
Those who saw the section devoted to Ukrainian work in the Women's Building at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, may perhaps have been struck by the odd Easter eggs, a dozen of which had been procured from an Ukrainian woman living in the city. They formed a very interesting example of this people's artistic expression. The Galicians are said to excel in this particular instance of applied design. The Ukrainian artists and manufacturers of the present day use the motifs of the Easter egg in the decoration of pottery, textiles, etc. Before the war this was especially the case in the Art School at Mykhovrod, Poltava Province.

The many museums of Russia had really wonderful collections of these eggs; one, in Lemberg, possessed two thousand specimens. Formerly, any one applying to the head of the "Gubernskaya Zemskaya Uprava" of Poltava, and sending two dollars, would receive an album in color, showing all the specimens of these eggs collected by the ethnographer Wewjnovsky, the originals being in the Museum. These ran into the thousands and were bewildering in the diversity of their patterns and colors. They were collected from the peasant cottages, where at Easter even to-day, or at least in peaceful times, old women are quiet but grim contestants with boys of sixteen in matching their skill.

In Winnipeg, and doubtless in some Toronto homes, you can watch the work being done. The egg is covered with wax, and the conventional figures, often of the workers own designs, are carved with a knife or sharp pointed instrument.

A hollow is left for the desired dye, and the same process is continued for each tint. Some really beautiful effects are attained with the many hues skilfully blended into bizarre and barbaric designs.

In their own land they make their own dyes for the adornment of their gifts. Onion skin will give a yellow tint; buckwheat chaff a greenish color; wild apple bark, red orange; the flower of the "prolisk" or squills, green-blue; the dark red mallow blossom, dark purple. There is, too, a special red dye—symbol of Christ's grave. As from the inert egg life appears, so Christ from the tomb.

There is an old legend of the Russian Church which says:
When Mary of Magdala learned that Christ was risen she hastened to her home, and there, to her great joy and amazement, she saw that some eggs left in the house were wonderfully painted in red.

Full of the joy of the miracle she went to the house where the apostles were gathered together, sad at heart. Beside the great news of the resurrection which was hers to give she might also show something that had been reserved for herself alone. She distributed the painted eggs, but as she gave each one, it turned into a bird and flew away—as proof that from the blood and sufferings of Christ eternal life would rise in vision of men.

There are legends, too, about "Pisanky" in old church tradition. One is that the stones which were cast at St. Stephen became transformed into painted eggs. Another says that when Christ carried his cross to Golgotha and fell under its burden, a peasant bearing a basket of eggs was compassionate over his suffering and helped to bear the cross. When he looked again at his basket all the eggs were changed into beautiful Pisanky.

In some parts of the Ukraine people dye eggs only in one color, red, green, yellow and so on, calling these "halnky," because of the fact that these eggs must be washed in alum before being dyed. But elsewhere the painted eggs were kept as treasures in small huts for years; they might be found as frames for the icons, or attached to a string, depending from the ceiling in front of the holy images.

In Galicia shells of consecrated eggs are thrown into rivers, and the people will tell you that the shells will be taken by the water to some far distant and mythical people known as "Rakhmen"—"Men who are always late." Then, when these see the shells they will learn of the great feast, and, being always behind the times, it will not matter if their celebration is late. Who knows when the shells will reach them? This custom has passed into a proverb, and when the Galicians wish to tell children that something will happen "in a blue moon" they say:

"Oh, that will be in the Rakhmen Easter."
In some parts of the Ukraine, when a man dies at Easter time, a painted egg is placed in his hand in the coffin.

Does Baby fret?

In the majority of cases it is a question of food. Either the diet of the mother who is feeding her child is insufficient or unsuited to her peculiar need, in which case Virol will help her, or the food substituted for that living liquid is unsuitable to the needs of the child.

More than 3,000 Infant Welfare Clinics and Public Health Authorities are meeting these difficulties by supplying Virol the food specially designed by Medical Experts to meet the needs of growth and development. Virol contains those vital principles that enable the body to transform food into living tissue. Virol is such a palatable and delicate preparation that it is assimilated by the weakest digestion.

In some parts of the Ukraine people dye eggs only in one color, red, green, yellow and so on, calling these "halnky," because of the fact that these eggs must be washed in alum before being dyed. But elsewhere the painted eggs were kept as treasures in small huts for years; they might be found as frames for the icons, or attached to a string, depending from the ceiling in front of the holy images.

In Galicia shells of consecrated eggs are thrown into rivers, and the people will tell you that the shells will be taken by the water to some far distant and mythical people known as "Rakhmen"—"Men who are always late." Then, when these see the shells they will learn of the great feast, and, being always behind the times, it will not matter if their celebration is late. Who knows when the shells will reach them? This custom has passed into a proverb, and when the Galicians wish to tell children that something will happen "in a blue moon" they say:

"Oh, that will be in the Rakhmen Easter."
In some parts of the Ukraine, when a man dies at Easter time, a painted egg is placed in his hand in the coffin.

When you are "waizung around again" or at functions where full dress is usually worn, don't you feel out of place with a jacket on? Now is the time to leave your order for Full Dress or Tuxedo. Our prices for these Suits are remarkably reasonable. For special parades, or social calls, we can give you something within your means in a Prince Albert, or Morning Coat. We specialize in these garments.

THAT CHALLENGE.

The Reason Why It is Not Accepted--A Disaster for the Railroad.

The latest information given out regarding the Humber Deal throws new light on the matter. Most people regarding the issues of the Squires organ would imagine that it was going to be a wonderful benefit to Newfoundland. Nobody will dispute that the establishment of this industry, or any other industry of the same kind, is going to be beneficial. But nothing is easier than to exaggerate the benefits it will bring about. Mr. Coaker, for instance, in his "dear friend, Jim" letter, published a day or two ago, said that ten thousand men will be employed and that in five years the number will increase to fifteen thousand; and also that the expenditure will be $6,000,000 a year. The more or less official publications appearing in the Mail show that the number employed will be only about 3,000 and that the annual expenditure, once the mills are running, will not exceed $3,000,000 a year. Even then, of course, the special benefit to the country will be only the increased amount the men employed would earn while working in the mills over what they would earn at the fishery or otherwise. That it will be seen that it will not be new money or employment for people, but only for those who would be without work.

A DISASTER TO RAILROAD.

We say that this change of plan on the part of the Company is a disaster to the railroad and we defy anybody to successfully contradict this. It is easy to see under the circumstances why the Reids should be desirous of getting rid of the railroad, but it is not easy to see why the Government should want to take it over and pay the Reids more millions of money to give it up. If Squires and Coaker could have come before the country and shown that through the building of the mills at Deer Lake all the paper that would be manufactured at the mills every year for all time to come, would have to be taken by rail down to Bay of Islands, and that all the coal, sulphur and supplies of every kind for the mills would have to be hauled up from Bay of Islands to Deer Lake, which would give the railroad a tremendous freight traffic, not to speak of the passenger traffic at all, then a case might be made out for buying the railroad. But with the mills established at Corner Brook and all this traffic lost, the question at once leaps to the mind of the student of the problem—why should the Government of Newfoundland want to take over the railroad from the Reids under these conditions and pay them millions of dollars to part with it? With this question in the foreground clamoring for an answer; need anybody be surprised that Sir Richard Squires declines the challenge of Cashin, Linegar and Hunt, to debate on a public platform in the West End of St. John's the true inwardness of this Humber Deal?

CHANGE IN PLANS.

But the ruinous feature of the arrangement to which we must call attention to-day is shown in the announcement that the mills are to be built at Bay of Islands and not at Deer Lake. This means that the railroad system of the country will get little or no benefit from this new enterprise. If the mills had been built at Deer Lake the whole of the output—120,000 tons a year—would have to be hauled to Bay of Islands for shipment, and all the raw materials and supplies of every kind would have to be brought up from Bay of Islands in the same way. But now, by putting up the mills at Bay of Islands, not a pound of freight for this new industry will be carried by the railroad—except the winter output to Port aux Basques. The railroad then

Need of Interest and Effort.

(By JEAN E. JOHNSTON)
Some time since a short article appeared in one of our local papers regarding the work done by the Girls' Industrial Home Association during the past two years. Since then the writer has made enquiries from various persons whose work brings them in touch with conditions about which very few of us have the least idea and that the information gained convinces us that more than ever is there need of some place, call it by what name you will, where young offenders can be trained in decent habits, personal responsibility and work—for again and yet again the fact is forced upon us that much of this evil is due to lack of knowledge and training. There are three girls whom I know who have wandered the streets without homes (they sometimes had scarcely shelter) who had been taken in hand by such an Institution as the Girls' Industrial Home Association. I have brought under observation, would have made good, to-day one is very ill, one with-out enough balance to see the need of working, the third so wayward that she cannot settle anywhere. There is on our Statute Books now a law which could be much more effective had we the type of Home or Institution in which to place those wayward ones. Those who administer the law tell us of many in our city who should be in such a place and yet they can only be admonished or sentenced to the Penitentiary, where no training or uplift is obtainable. Hearing a while ago that some interest had been aroused amongst members of the Old Colony

Club, the writer attended the Saturday afternoon meeting, listened with pleasure and profit to an excellent paper on Social Service work given by Miss Lightbourne, and was privileged to be one of those who gave a few facts regarding the efforts made by our workers, many ladies present listened with apparent interest. May we ask them and all ladies, young and old, of every class and creed to help in this much needed work. Who will attend the meeting of the Association being held in the Music Room, Methodist College Hall, on Monday at 4.30 p.m. and give fresh zeal and help to the few already at work? (Outport friends desirous of helping can do so by sending their names and $1.00 as associate members of the Association.)

STILL PEACE AT SYDNEY.

SYDNEY, N.S., April 1.—The possibility of a strike of steel workers and a sympathetic walk-out of miners employed by the British Steel Corporation seemed a thing of the night, when all was peaceful in the steel circles in Cape Town. A meeting is to be held on Monday night at which it is thought some pronouncement will be forthcoming, before the Union officials. The Corporation uses to make further reply to the demand that contained in the grant of ten per cent. increase wages. Officials deny the allegations of the miners that contracts and working agreements are not kept.

BOR TO SETTLE RUHR QUESTION.

LONDON, April 1.—Ramsay MacDonald, Labor Leader in the House of Commons at the closing of a three day congress of the Independent Labor Party here today expressed the conviction that in consequence of the recent visit of delegates of the Socialist Parliamentarians to Germany, and their conversations with representatives of German, French, Italian, British and Belgian Socialist opinion the Labor Party was going to begin a settlement of the Ruhr Question which would be settled by Governments acting alone.

DIRECTORS ARRESTED.

ESSEN, April 1.—Four Directors of the Krupp Works are arrested by French military authorities to-day on charges of inciting an attack by German workmen on troops on Saturday, which culminated in killing nine Germans and wounding thirty-four others. The casualties at the Krupp works which followed a visit of a body of French soldiers sent to requisition motor trucks. The French declared that the Germans set the streets going which always taken for a danger signal, and the workmen in crowds gathered round them. Stones were thrown according to the French, and some Germans fired upon them with revolvers. The fire was returned first over the Germans heads, then point blank among them. The arrival of reinforcements with tanks and armoured cars saved the detachment and some captured Frenchmen from a further clash with the crowd which dispersed the sign of machines of warfare.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

Major Cotton Does Good Work.

At 12.30 p.m. on March 1st, 1923, Dr. O. V. Smith, the local practitioner of Botwood, received a hurried call from Lewisporte. Snow conditions being exceedingly bad for a cross-country journey to the outport, Dr. Smith went down to the headquarters of the Aerial Survey Company, and asked if it would be possible to do the trip by air. As this kind of thing is what the Aerial Survey Company is for, he at once received an answer in the affirmative. After a hurried lunch in the Company's comfortable dining room, Dr. Smith, accompanied by the pilot, took his seat in the Westland Hmoiseau, the engine of which was already ticking over ready to start. The engineer jumped up beside the pilot, and a start was made at 1.45 p.m. precisely. In less than a quarter of an hour Burnt Bay lay 2,000 feet below, and throttling the engine a perfect landing was made alongside the Reid Nfld. railway pier at Lewisporte. Enquiry here, however, showed that the patient's house was some five or six miles further up the bay at Salt Pond Cove. Five more minutes and the doctor was pointing out the very house—some 1,000 feet below—to the pilot who landed safely almost in front of the door. Another patient was then visited by taxing up the Bay about a half mile, and the machine then set off for Point Leamington where another call was made. The distance was covered in less than twenty minutes, and here landing was not so easy, as the drifting snow had made the surface of the Bay pretty uneven. However, except for some pretty hard bumps, nothing serious was encountered. After three quarters of an hour's wait, while Dr. Smith visited various patients, the return journey was made in about 10 minutes. In all, the journey took about two and a half hours, whereas by road, it could not have taken less than four days. Moreover, Dr. Smith was able to sit in perfect comfort in an upholstered arm-chair in an enclosed cabin, heated by hot air from the exhaust of the engine, looking out over Newfoundland's coast line.

Genuine Beaver Board

Genuine Beaver Board

Genuine Beaver Board is the quality wallboard, because it best meets all the requirements of actual use. It is made to do just that. Every characteristic is considered carefully and with the right appreciation of its importance. Genuine Beaver Board fails in no requirement and excels in those that really mean better service. That's quality.

Built of Unadulterated New Spruce Fibre

One of the chief reasons for the superior quality of genuine Beaver Board is the material that goes into its manufacture. It is the only wallboard built entirely of new spruce fibre as it comes from the log, a more costly material, but the best. An examination of a sample cut from stock throughout, the only difference in physical appearance found in the surface liners being due to sizing and calandaring. Genuine Beaver Board has no news stock or other reworked fibre, nor any of inferior pulp woods. It is pure, clean, new spruce.

Manufacturers with largest, Most Complete Equipment

The manufacturing facilities of genuine Beaver Board are the most extensive and most complete of those of all fibre wallboard producers. They include vast holdings of the finest white spruce and mills whose combined capacity exceeds by far that of any competitive manufacturer. Beaver Board factories are complete and perfected as a result of longer experience and greater production. Every operation from the cutting of the spruce logs to the making of the patented "Sealtite" size is done within the Beaver Board organization.

Rigid Without Being Brittle

The fibres of new spruce are long and tough. They mesh thoroughly within each ply itself and make certain a firm bond of the four plies into a strong, practically homogeneous board that does not crack off or split between plies as does the board built of short and broken fibres of inferior woods or reworked material. Beaver Board is not pressed hard to give apparent rigidity nor is it soft and spongy. Just the right density is secured to result in the maximum of flexible strength to make easy working, to prevent breaking out at the nails, and to provide an attractive mat surface for decoration. Pure, new spruce fibre plus careful manufacture make this possible.

Works Easily—Decorates Splendidly—Lasts Indefinitely

Genuine Beaver Board saws cleanly and easily. It nails in place smoothly, conforming perfectly to any unevenness of the wall without strain or injury to any finished result. And a big advantage to genuine Beaver Board is the ease and economy of its decoration.

Its pure spruce fibre content produces a clean mat surface which is not hardened to produce a semblance of stiffness to the board. It is perfectly sized by the patented "Sealtite" process, a process of such unusual merit as to warrant the government issuing a patent on it. It takes the minimum of paint necessary to give even coverage and absolutely eliminates difficulty with brush marks.

And once up, Beaver Board is up to stay. It improves with age. It will never crack or fall. Its high quality content and careful manufacture insure years and years of dependable service.

Easter Services.

AT WESLEY CHURCH.
The Easter services held at Wesley Church yesterday were bright and inspiring, and large congregations were in attendance. In the morning the pastor, Rev. J. G. Joyce, B. A., preached from the words: "He that believeth in Me, though he were dead; yet shall he live; St. John, Chap. 11, 25th verse. He explained that from the earliest ages those who peopled the world believed in the immortality of the soul. Although the subject had been criticised by the ablest scholar, not to persuade others, but to satisfy themselves, the weight of evidence compelled them to admit the truth. The inscriptions over the dead in the vaults of the Catacombs of Rome—"In Christo"—R.I.P., show the faith of the early Christians in the resurrection of the body, and the joy and peace in the faces of the early martyrs betrayed no fear, because of assurance of victory over death. At the evening service the Minister took his text from 1st Corinthians, 15th Chap.: "Now is Christ Risen from the Dead," delivering an eloquent and convincing exposition of the theme. Special music was rendered by the Choir, the Anthem, "On the Wings of the Morn," was particularly good. Mr. Harry Chaplin sang the solo "Arise and Shine," in good voice.

The Song of Victory.

We'll shout the good old chorus, boys,
And shout it shrill and clear,
And rent the skies with our glad cries,
From Quirron to Cape Spear,
With silver trumpets sound it,
Peal joyous bells and chimes,
As one we stand on sea and land,
FOR BENNETT'S BETTER TIMES.
Chorus.
Hurrah! Hurrah! We'll sing our victory,
Hurrah! Hurrah! From Chain Rock to Cape Ray,
Cashin, Hunt and Linegar are the boys that set us free,
As we go marching to victory.

Unpleasant Walking.

CITY THOROUGHFARE IN SLIPPERY CONDITION.
The heavy rain storm on Saturday last rendered the walking extremely unpleasant for citizens. The various inclines were in a very slippery condition and many people received nasty falls as a result. On Water Street large pools of water formed on the sidewalks and many pedestrians received a good wetting. The frost of Saturday night and early Sunday morning increased the difficulty in getting around. People going to and from church received many a bad toss, but only a few minor accidents were reported.

The Mail Puts Its Foot in it Again.

It is sad, very sad, to see the frantic efforts of the Mail to boost its lost cause. And what a mess it is making of it! Poor old Mail! Read what it says: "Eighty Million Dollars expended by Cashin and his associates in TEN YEARS." Eight Million Dollars a year. And there was a war on, which cost the country fifteen millions, but of course, nobody expects the Mail experts to know anything about the war! Then friend Squires arrived. He will have spent nearly sixty million dollars by the time the Bennett Government takes charge. SIXTY MILLIONS IN THREE AND A HALF YEARS. Over Seventeen Million Dollars a year. More than twice as much as Cashin spent. And no war! Poor old Mail. Chopped celery, chopped stuffed olives and cottage cheese with a dish of paprika make a tasty sandwich filling.

Dear Sir,—We people in the West End love to play the game fair and square, and let the best horse leap the ditch. That is why I ask permission to use your columns to point out to Messrs. Campbell, Squires and Fitzgibbon that whatever chance (even if remote) they have of winning a seat they are ruining it by permitting the Honourable (2) Michael Gibbs to be associated with their party; and crazy must they be to allow him to be their public exponent of the mysterious Humber Deal. We were suspicious enough before about this wonderful enterprise, but now that the Hon. M. P. is connected with it, "day day" to it. For the love of Mike, yourself, and your party, don't let him appear on a public platform in answer to the open challenge of Cashin, Linegar and Hunt, or the price of eggs will have an immediate advance, and goodness only knows they are "high" enough—especially in case of breakages.

Yours truly,

No Bonia—Coaker Mortgage on St. Mary's Voters.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—A Government supporter here, ran around with the news that Bonia was coming out for this district as a Squires-Coaker candidate. He shouted as if it was a wonderful thing, but when he found the people unconcerned as to whether Bonia came or not, knowing as they do right well that any such candidate has no chance whatever, this impudent chap went nearly mad with rage and tore his hair. He talked to us as if "Tom" had a mortgage on the voters of our district. Let me tell all such henchmen and all concerned that there is no Bonia-Coaker mortgage on the voters, young or old, around here. We trounced the Squires-Coaker candidates the last time, and for much greater reason as a result of their swamping the country in debt and ruining the fisheries, we will trounce them more this time. Look for Bonia at the foot of the poll, which is the fittest place for him.
Yours truly,

St. Mary's for a Change.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In justice to the occupants of this settlement I am obliged to refer to Salmonier Notes so conspicuously placed in Advocate of St. Mary's. The writer to my mind acted as the drowning man with the straw. I do not blame Mr. P. J. T. so very much to land Mr. Coaker every chance he gets, yet I think it would be only fair to Mr. A. Squires should the writer give him credit for his portion of the mistakes made during the last three years. To boost Mr. Coaker the writer would need to have a press for himself and even at that in case of election it will be hard to find more than two ballots in the box marked for his benefactor. So much for political side of Salmonier notes. I am sure the public are at a loss to know what the writer of these notes had up his sleeve when he fixed that religious medicine to flash the most meaningless composition ever seen in public print. I would advise that writer not to play too much with edged tools. St. Mary's says a change and I agree.
Yours truly,

NOTICE!

Numerous patrons of the Majestic have represented to the management and to Mr. A. E. Holmes that the prices charged for "MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM" were, in view of the general depression existing, prohibitive to many who wished to attend. It was decided—that although this was the first show of its kind to be staged at the Majestic, and while the expense and excellence of the performance warranted the charge—to reduce the prices to 50c. and 30c., feeling confident that the result of the first performance will fill the hall the remaining nights.

The Open Door to Oblivion Awaits Him There.

self into the ditch of political oblivion. Not a young man or young woman would remain in Newfoundland, during the next four years, should a Coaker Government again trick the electorate into sustaining them at the polls.

Bay de Verde has been strewn with the wreckage of Coaker homes and yet Mr. Cave has the gall to go into that district so despoiled by Coakerite misrule. But his gall won't carry him far for the voters there have made up their minds to vote for the BENNETT GOVERNMENT.

The Water Street Clerks are fully alive to the danger in the air by a return to power of Coakerism. Rightly fearing the loss of their positions, as others have lost theirs since Coakerism held sway.

Four years more and Dr. Campbell would be able to pack his pile in barrels, then hike it back to Fugwash, N. S., thus qualifying himself to exclaim as others before him—"GOOD-BYE YE POOR POOLS OF NEWFOUNDLAND: GOOD-BYE FOREVER MORE."

The Squires-Coaker combination seem to forget that the working people are intelligent enough to know that if business conditions had not been tempered with by Coakerism there would be no necessity for—"ROCK-BREAKING," because regular and congenial employment would abound in plenty.

Citizens of St. John's your intelligence now is matched against the political intrigues of Squires and the menace of Coakerism. The Telegram has not the slightest doubt of your intelligence prevailing overwhelmingly against these twin enemies.

sacrifice their own welfare, nor that of their wives and children, in order to swell the purse of Bonia.

How a native of this district should so attempt to demean our intelligence by asking us to endorse a menace that has ruined thousands of our people is beyond comprehension?

How a native of this district should so demean himself by accepting favour from the hands of a Coaker Government, who has done so much injury, cannot be understood, except we view it from the standpoint of many whose words I now recall, as I look back over nearly a score of years, that to them the manner of the man never ceased to give them the impression that some day the political Jekyll and Hyde masks of Bonia would be exhibited in the garish light of the noon day sun.

Instinct is never a deceiver and the truth of this finds ample verification again in the warnings of all those friends of mine with regard to Bonia. Some of you have been accustomed to meet him in St. John's since the years he has lived there, who may have been guided by your instinct in discerning the same, and so would not be surprised at what he has done. His days of cuteness, however, are now finished and when the men of Placentia and St. Mary's confront him between now and polling day they will all be better fortified to gauge him as those old timers with their keen instincts gauged him in the long ago. They will mark him well, mark him with the scorn due to all contemptible minions who place self-interest away above the ordinary common interests of the poor hard struggling fishermen who are attempting to earn barely a living for their families.

Bonia's plunge into Coakerism has been the means of elevating Walsh to a much higher pedestal than ever in the popular esteem. Well may Placentia be proud of this patriotic son of ours who in spite of all temptations stood four square to all the winds of chicanery and corruption. His name will go down in history as one of our outstanding patriots; future generations will ever repeat with pride the name of WILLIAM WALSH, whilst that of Coaker's new found colleague will only be referred to as a warning to their children not to pin their faith in any man against whom your instinct sounds an alarm.

Yours truly,

The result will be that swarms of ballifs will descend upon the homes and the property of the people and confiscate everything worth taking.

It is decent work at decent wages that the people desire, not work at the "ROCK-PILE," or the temptation of a "rum bottle."

Fitzgibbon is convinced now that in riding the horse of Coakerism in St. John's West he will only tumble himself into the ditch of political oblivion.

This is the hand that's destroying the business and prosperity of NEWFOUNDLAND.

WRITES LOCAL THEATRE IN CONNECTION WITH RECENT PRODUCTION.

Shortly before leaving for Canada and U.S.A. Mr. J. P. Kiely of the Nickel Theatre received the following letter from Marguerite Clark, famous film star, re her latest production: (Copy)

Mr. J. P. Kiely,
 Nickel Theatre,
 St. John, N.F.

Dear Mr. Kiely—Am so glad to learn that in "Scrambled Wives" I am soon to be your guest.

As the screen does not allow me to speak and tell you what I feel, I am writing just to let you know how glad I am to be with you and all my friends once more.

"Scrambled Wives" is certainly not a problem play. It was meant to amuse and give my friends a pleasant evening. If it does this, I shall be very happy, and I should be most grateful if you would tell them that I will be glad to hear from them, and also will appreciate hearing from you, as it is the only way I can know if the picture is really liked.

With every good wish and Easter Greetings.

Sincerely,
 MARGUERITE CLARK.

"Scrambled Wives" is the attraction at the Nickel beginning to-night.

Bonus For Fishermen.

Bennett Government Will Boost the Fisheries.

One of the chief planks in the Manifesto that Mr. J. R. Bennett, Opposition leader, will shortly issue to the country, will be a bonus, which will have as its object the encouragement of the fishery. It is impossible to get away from the fact that the fishery is the staple industry of the Colony, and upon its successful prosecution depends the prosperity of the people.

Every policy in connection with this all-important industry which the Squires-Coaker Administration have introduced has been destructive in its results, and many young men have been compelled to leave the country and seek employment in other lands. If this exodus continues much longer there will be none of the youth of the country left to carry on the fishery and national bankruptcy will certainly follow.

Mr. Bennett and his colleagues have realised the necessity of offering an inducement to the young men to remain in the country and to continue to prosecute the fishery industry, and their bonus policy is the result.

The form in which it will be applied, will be the result of much deliberation on the part of men, whose practical knowledge of the fishery, gained from long experience in all branches of the industry, will ensure its successful application.

No Humber proposition can fill the place of the fishery in this essentially fishing country. Even if it gives employment to ten thousand men, there are several times that number who will require work to keep them from starvation. Where the real value of the Humber will lie is in increasing the earning power of the fishermen by providing them with employment in the winter.

Heretofore, our fishermen have only been able to earn sufficient to tide them over the winter till the next fishing season. The present administration have rendered even this impossible. With the help of other industries, such as the Humber, the fishermen may be able to improve their position but their existence will still mainly rely on the fisheries. It is apparent, then, that if this country is to regain its former prosperity, it is necessary to do everything possible to encourage the fishery, and the only way in which men can be led to prosecute the industry is to make it worth their while by providing some monetary inducement, such as the proposed bonus.

The Bonus will result in the making of better fish, and will have a general effect on the efforts of exporters to regain those markets either partially or totally lost through the operation of the Fishery Regulations.

It is up to the people of Newfoundland to show their belief in the fisheries and their desire for renewed prosperity by casting their votes for BENNETT, BETTER FISHERIES, BETTER HUMBER AND BETTER TIMES.

THE EVENING TELEGRAM

THE EVENING TELEGRAM, LIMITED, PROPRIETORS. St. John's, Newfoundland, Monday, April 2, 1923.

MR. COAKER'S MANIFESTO.

The Manifesto which Mr. W. F. Coaker has issued to the electors of Bonavista District bears, in one particular, a very striking resemblance to that notorious Speech from the Throne delivered at the opening of the Legislature in 1922.

As an important policy which the Liberal-Reform Party, if returned to power, intend to adopt for the alleviation of the distressful economic conditions which prevail throughout the country would have been announced in Mr. Coaker's Manifesto, it is a safe guess to make that outside the Humber scheme, the Government has not been able to conceive any plan which would help the people of Newfoundland to regain their lost prosperity.

Let us briefly consider the promises which the F.P.U. Leader makes to the electors of Bonavista:

First, of course, we have the Humber Development Scheme, and Mr. Coaker makes it clear that the defeat of the Government will mean that the people do not support this deal. He does not state what is a fact, that the Humber Deal is NOT an issue; that it is not an agreement between the British Government and the Government of Sir Richard Squires, but with the Government of Newfoundland.

Now for the next paragraph. From it we learn that the Government pledges itself to establish a Flour Mill and Sugar Refinery in the country, as well as a Steamship Service to the West Indian Islands. A pretty policy, indeed, when thousands throughout the country are compelled, because of the mismanagement of the Government practically controlled by Mr. Coaker, to obtain their flour from the Poor Relief Officers, while Sugar is a luxury they must do without altogether.

As for the West Indian Service, this, too, is an experiment, and to judge from the Government's previous failures in shipping, likely to prove a very costly one.

The Spanish Agreement! That is not a policy, for it is already "un fait accompli", and although the particulars furnished the public have been very scanty, and up to the present, very little, if any advantage has accrued from it.

And now! A promise of more Regulations for the Control of Fish Exports. A strong plank in the policy to be inaugurated by the Government, says Mr. Coaker! He may rest assured that the country has not forgotten, nor is likely to for many a year, the drastic results which attended the Fishery Regulations instituted in 1919, and yet, he has the temerity to suggest them again! But Mr. Coaker goes further. He asks for a sound, solid proposal in connection with the improvement of the methods of fish marketing to be suggested to him by F. P. U. men, and this will be welcomed when, to quote the Manifesto, "the financial situation of the Colony will permit the earnest and sincere consideration of such a policy."

In the next paragraph of this amazing document, Mr. Coaker hints at the possibility of the transfer of Labrador to Canada, and states that "in the event of this transfer," there will be a perpetual bounty provided for the fishermen of the country.

The transfer of Labrador, rich in its mineral and forest wealth, proving safe harborage and residence for the men who prosecute the fishery in Northern waters, cannot be thought of for a single moment. It is our birthright, millions have been spent to keep it as a dependency of Newfoundland, and yet Mr. Coaker and those associated with him in the Government, would sell it to Canada. If Coaker were permitted to control the Government for another four years, who knows but that he would sell the Island of Newfoundland to Canada!

The final policy in this Manifesto is the promise of three or four locally owned sealing steamers, which will be built to encourage the Sealfishery. We think we have heard that promise on many previous occasions. It is one that Mr. Coaker produces for every emergency, but he has never yet been known to fulfill it.

The Manifesto closes with an appeal to the people of Bonavista couched as follows: "We leave our re-election in your hands feeling sure that you will show your appreciation of our work in the past on your behalf and on behalf of the country generally."

The country will show William Ford Coaker on polling day, how much it has appreciated his efforts, efforts which have brought the most prosperous people in the world to ruin, and, in many cases, starvation; and when Coaker and his pawns are turned down at the ballot, Richard Anderson Squires and his followers will suffer a like fate, and none will say that justice has not been done.

Senef Inward.

WILL LEAVE FOR WEST COAST. S. S. Senef, Capt. Norman, arrived from the northward at 4 p.m. Saturday. The ship will probably sail for the Westward to-morrow afternoon or early Wednesday morning, calling at Pass Island, Funching, Remouire, Roma, Burgeo and Za Poile, where supplies will be landed. The people along the West Coast are fast running short of provisions, and it is hoped that the ship will manage to reach all ports of call.

Twillingate Acclaims the Bennett Canadiates.

Special to Evening Telegram TWILLINGATE, April 2. Committee unanimously endorse and citizens generally acclaim, with great satisfaction, the entry of Mr. Joseph Peters in this district thereby throwing increased prestige on winning side of J. R. Bennett. Twillingate district will go triumphantly over the top and gain the objective of Bennett and Better Times. Barnes and Colleagues arrived at Moretons Pt. on Good Friday where they met an icy reception and actually held their political meeting on that night where they received their medicine good and strong from indignant voters of that place. They arrived here Saturday afternoon in the severest snow blizzard of the winter forcibly forewarning them of the blizzard of ballots that will, in near future, seal their political doom. In this district watch Bennett win. Harrah for Ayre, Peters and Short—Ability, Protection—Security.

Wants Royal Commission

TO INVESTIGATE HOW SIXTY MILLIONS WERE SPENT.

We would utter a grave word of warning to the fishermen, laborers, clerks, mechanics, professional people of St. John's and the country before they decide as to who is to govern this Dominion for the next four years. Never before were we, as a people, faced with such a crisis as that which faces us at present. For the past four years or so owing to an abnormal situation, caused by the greatest war in the world's history, we have been facing the fact that sooner or later, lean years must be our portion for we cannot always ride on the tidal wave of prosperity.

Many of us have already dreamt of the "lean years," but what provision has been made for the days of scarcity, the era of depression in trade and commerce? An effort is now being made to perpetuate the carnival of extravagance which has been in existence since Squires and Coaker control. Surely our people are not obtuse enough not to discern what is impending. Is it any wonder that we can be told that in less than four years the enormous, the colossal, the gigantic sum of $60,000,000 has been spent by the Government. Why should people be surprised to realize that men like Squires, Campbell and others who have had the dispensing of the public revenues are either actual or potential millionaires, while the general rank and file, poor men and needy, a few short years ago, now rank amongst our most well-to-do people and are on the high road to wealth. Such as these will fight to the death to retain power, they must have it to attain the affluence which only Government patronage can afford them, for few of them are engaged in any kind of paying business and their great gains have been and must be contributed by the people from the taxes they pay.

No wonder that men whose salaries are stationary, laborers and others whose stipends fluctuate, curse the men who have kept them and their families in dire poverty for four years, while their taxmasters wax fat and fatter. And those higher up are the ones that should be first brought to book, while none should be allowed to leave our shores until a Royal Commission or some such Board of Enquiry should have pronounced on the administration of the Colony's financial affairs.

Squires has the consummate impudence and gall to ask for a continuation of public confidence and support after such a devil's dance of misadministration, and other political moral sins.

Why, fellow-countrymen, if you again empower Squires and the crew with him to run the country for another four years you will present him with a blank cheque on the Colony's finances with the one ending, the goal that he and his crowd have in view, their solution of self-created difficulties—difficulties that might have been averted—CONFEDERATION.

Such an outcome will make those who have named above rich beyond the dreams of avarice, but will plunge into dire poverty the country's warm-hearted, trustful people, while at the same time destroying for ever our valued independence. Vote for the Liberal-Progressive Party, give some one else a show to rescue this country and its people from the awful position they now occupy. We see no men in sight at present better qualified to relieve this unfortunate country than the able, fearless leader, Mr. J. R. Bennett, and the men associated with him in the Liberal-Progressive Party.

DOWN WITH CORRUPTION! GIVE US A NEW GOVERNMENT! VOTE FOR BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

NOT REPORTED.—S. S. left Ferrisette at 3.30 p.m. yesterday for points in Placentia Bay. A press hour there was no passing Cape Race.

COAKER INSULTS CONCEPTION BAY MEN

F. P. U. Leader Said Ten Dollar Bill Would Buy Them--Amazing Statement at Bonavista.

Speaking at Bonavista on Monday night last, W. F. Coaker, Leader of the Government ticket in that District, offered an astounding insult to the men of Conception Bay.

The story is told in the following messages received by Sir John C. Crosbie last week.

"Bonavista, March 28th.

"Coaker said in Public Meeting here Monday night that Conception Bay men could be bought for a Ten Dollar Bill. He hoped to God the people of Bonavista would never descend to such depths.

"LEWIS LITTLE."

The following was received in answer to Sir John's request for corroboration of the above message:

"Bonavista, March 29th.

"We confirm Lewis Little's message to you regarding Coaker's utterances re Conception Bay men.

Supreme Court.

(Present Full Bench)

The Spring term of the Supreme Court opened this forenoon. The Grand Jury present was addressed by His Lordship, Chief Justice Horwood. As there was no business calling for their attention they retired until further notice. The members of the jury are as follows:—Thos. Harris, Foreman; Peter Benmore, Frank Pike, H. J. Burnell, John Brown, P. T. Bulter, John Marshall, P. C. Mars, Wm. Gillingham, Thos. Murphy, Norman Matthews, David Maynard, Joshua Burt, Arthur Alcock, John McBay, Jas. H. Thomas. In the following matters decisions were handed down.

Harry J. Brownrigg, Minister of Finance and Customs and the Avalon Telephone Co., Ltd.

The judgment of the Court is read by His Lordship, Mr. Justice Kent, ordering that judgment be entered for the plaintiff with costs.

Sir Wm. F. Lloyd guardian of estate of Augustine Kavanagh, a minor and Annie Malone, administratrix of estate Lawrence Kennedy deceased.

It is ordered that the exceptions to the masters report be upheld and the report varied accordingly.

Orange Crush Co. and the British Aerated Water Co. and Gaden's Aerated Water Works.

On motion and by consent of parties the motion for leave to appeal is enlarged, till June 1st.

U. F. Delegates Arrive.

BIG RECEPTION AT KING'S COVE.

Three delegates of the United Fishermen arrived in the city Saturday by s.s. Senef, from Greenspond. En route the delegates visited King's Cove and received a wonderful reception, which was in marked contrast to that accorded the Government candidates R. J. Winsor and J. Abbott, who were canvassing there. The delegates report that the North side of Bonavista Bay is disgusted with the Coaker-Squires rule, and will give a big majority to the Bennett candidates. Committees working with this end in view, have been formed in the various centres. At Greenspond the committee numbers 230, whilst other places have an equally strong representation. The delegates are still actively engaged and are determined to put their best efforts in the fight for Bennett and Better Times.

Missing Men Safe.

RETURNED HOME YESTERDAY.

The two men Jacob Stoodley of Coomb's Cove and Thomas Green of Red Cove, Fortune Bay who were reported as missing after Thursday's storm have turned up O.K. according to a message received in the city today.

The men left their homes on Thursday morning en route to English Harbour. They had a terrible experience, but managed to reach Mose Ambrose on Saturday. They were able to return to their homes yesterday.

Makes Good.

A friend in the city received by last mail a magazine named "The Apprentice" published in Lynn, Mass., in which is given a glowing account of Mr. Arthur Rendell's ability as a hockeyist. "Art" is employed with the General Electric Co., at Lynn, which carries a hockey team in connection with the works. Mr. Rendell figured prominently in all games played against outside teams. In a recent match with the Linfield boys a decisive beating was administered that team by a score of 12 goals to 1. Rendell being the chief goal-getter. Arthur, before leaving here, was a member of the Feldian hockey team, and all his friends in local sporting circles will be delighted to hear that he is still in the game, and meeting with much success.

MAJOR COTTON UNABLE TO LAND AT BOTWOOD.

Major Cotton left Hawke's Hr. at 10.40 o'clock this morning for Botwood, but owing to meeting with bad weather conditions enroute, he made a hasty retreat, returning to his base fifty minutes later. A message to this effect has been received by the Post and Telegraphs Department.

Train Notes.

Last Thursday's west bound express left Glenwood at 6.40 a.m. to-day. The local Carboner train arrived in the city at 1.20 p.m.

They Would Sell The Labrador!

For "The Price of a Sheepskin"—After Three Years of Misrule, Squires and Coaker Would Sell the Country to the Canadians.

Coaker has said that the Labrador is to be sold to Canada, for money to pay off part of the Public Debt, if the Squires-Coaker Government is given a new lease of office. The Mail published a report to the same effect Tuesday last. Many great dangers threaten the colony if fresh power be given to the Squires-Coaker party, but none of them is commensurate with this treasonable proposition.

It is quite clear that the plot has been pursued for quite a while, and ready, and probably the price has been already fixed. Coaker would not speak with such certainty of the sale if he had not been talked over already with the Candidates. A few weeks ago Canadian newspapers made mention of this proposal, with the object, perhaps, of feeling out public sentiment, and it was then said that Squires had been talking about the sale while in London.

When they're looking for votes, Squires and Coaker profess to want a Mandate, to make a Humber bargain, but when they intend to sell away part of this land of ours, they go about it in the dark, and the shameful plot only sees the light of day in this Colony through a letter from Coaker to a supporter, which Coaker probably never expected the public to read.

To sell the Labrador to the Canadians is to give them the Labrador fishery, and all the mineral and forest wealth which the interior of Labrador, especially along its river valleys, undoubtedly holds. It is said that Newfoundlanders will not be stopped by the Canadians from fishing on the Labrador, that all the present holders of fishing rooms there will be protected, and that the titles whereby timber lands there are now held will be respected. But what if all this be so, it will not be the same thing as our own control over our own property and affairs.

CANADIANS WILL ENFORCE REGULATIONS.

In the first place, Canadian fishery rules and regulations will be enforced on all who fish the Labrador. Canadian customs duties will be applied to all fishery supplies for the Labrador, our merchants will lose the trade, and the Colony the revenue. In the second place, Quebec laws will become part of Labrador. In the third place, Newfoundlanders will not be able to obtain new fishing rooms there, for, naturally, the sites will all be taken up very rapidly by Quebec-French. Only this year, traps berths on the Canadian-Labrador, held for many years by Newfoundlanders, have been taken away from them by Canadian officials to give to residents of Quebec.

Then regard the possible, even probable, mineral wealth of the Labrador, which it is proposed to sell for a song, and the amount which might be realized by royalties upon its gold and other precious metals. It is said that the silver measures of Cobalt and the gold measures of the Porcupine regions of Ontario run to the North-East, and probably they crop out on the far Northern Labrador. In fact, a new Klondike may develop within the territory we now claim. The gold rush, which is already preparing for the coming summer, is clear evidence of the value the Labrador minerals may assume for this Colony at any time.

Not all the timber of the Labrador has been taken up yet, and none of it is developed, and securing the titles to it for the speculators who now hold it, will do little good to us. Sell the Labrador to Canada, let Quebec absorb it, and the development of its timber will go on under Quebec laws, and all the work done will be by Quebec labor, under surroundings and conditions which would effectively bar any Newfoundlanders from a day's work there. In this connection, too, the great water power of the Hamilton and other rivers should be borne in mind. The Wilson deal of 1916 was wholly based on the wonderful value of the Hamilton water power.

PART OF CONFEDERATION SCHEME.

This Squires-Coaker scheme of selling the Labrador is only a part of the large scheme of Confederation, and a most dangerous part. Sell the Labrador, they say to themselves, under a proposal to pay off part of the public debt, and the Colony will be forced to follow her fishery into Canada. Better far to swallow the whole dose than to sell a great part of what we have, and then have to follow that part because without it we cannot continue to go on. Why rave against Confederation, yet sell half the country to Canada? Is it not plain that Squires and Coaker are trying to do a piecemeal what they dare not attempt by wholesale? Who, fearing to swim, would cut off his arms or legs before taking to the water. Yet, that, precisely that, is what Squires and Coaker propose to do to this country when they advocate the sale of the Labrador, with all it implies. Who gave Squires a right to sell this country or any part of it? Who authorized Coaker to wrest its dependency from the Colony? Is this country or any part of it to be "sold for the price of a sheepskin" to pay part of the enormous public debt which Squires and Coaker have so recklessly run up? What disaster indeed has come upon us, when our financial position has become so bad that political jobbers can propose to dismember the country by selling the heritage of Newfoundlanders to Quebec-French-Canadians?

Fire at Come by Chance.

TRAIN CREW PREVENT SERIOUS DAMAGE.

A fire which threatened the telegraph office at Come-by-Chance broke out yesterday morning, and but for the timely arrival of a freight train, whose crew rendered valuable assistance, the building would have been destroyed.

Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott for Placentia and St. Mary's, and McDonnell for St. George's Candidates Who Will Have the Confidence of the Electorate.

Messrs. W. J. Walsh, M. S. Sullivan and E. Sinnott, who have represented the District of Placentia and St. Mary's during the past three and a half years, will again make up the Liberal Labour-Progressive team there in the ensuing election.

Mr. Walsh has represented the District since 1919, and an excellent representative he has made. He has given unparagoned of his time and attention to its affairs, indeed it may be truthfully said that his chief occupation during the past ten years has been attending to the requirements of the district and the needs of its people; and in the House and out of it he has been a sturdy fighter in their behalf. As a result "Billy" enjoys a popularity that is unique and that will assuredly bring him home again triumphant from the ensuing contest. Mr. Walsh was elected ten years ago as a supporter of the Morris administration; but when Sir Edward Morris retired from the leadership, following the formation of the National Government, he refused to be a party to Coaker control and took a seat on the Opposition side of the House. In 1919 when the National Government gave place to the Cashin Administration Mr. Walsh gave his support to the new Government and became Minister of Agriculture and Mines, subsequently receiving the endorsement of his constituents who returned him at the head of the poll—a splendid tribute to his work on their behalf.

MR. M. S. SULLIVAN also enjoys great popularity in the big southern district—a popularity earned by constant attention to the demands of his constituents. His political association with the district, however, dates further back than that of his colleague, as he was first elected there in 1904 as a follower of Sir Robert Bond. He was returned again in 1908—the year of the 18-18 election—but met defeat a few months later in the contest necessitated by the tie. In 1919, following his return from Overseas, where he had been in charge of the Forestry Battalion, a position which he filled with credit to himself and his native land, Col. Sullivan again entered the political arena, this time under the leadership of Sir Michael Cashin, and came back triumphant from the polls. In the intervening period the District of Placentia and St. Mary's has had in Mr. Sullivan a representative who has given faithful service, responding at all times to the calls made upon him, and working strenuously in their behalf. That his efforts are appreciated and will not go unrewarded polling day will undoubtedly show.

MR. EDWARD SINNOTT, who completes the ticket, has had a shorter political career than either of his colleagues; being elected for the first time in 1919. But during the past three and a half years he has proved himself a loyal colleague and a good representative. With Messrs. Walsh and Sullivan he has worked for his constituents during three of the worst years in the history of the District. Like other parts of the West Coast, Placentia and St. Mary's has suffered terribly as a result of the reckless fishery policy of the present Government, and it is largely due to the energy of its representatives that its people are not in a more desperate plight than they are. Reports from all over the district indicate that their re-election by big majorities is assured.

The standard bearer for the Liberal-Labour-Progressive party in St. George's will be Mr. James McDonnell, who has been the district's representative since 1919. Mr. McDonnell was elected as a supporter of Sir Richard Squires, and was one of the first of his party to discover that the slogan of his opponents that "you can't trust Squires" was true. Pledges were made to Mr. McDonnell which Mr. Squires when he discovered he had a substantial majority behind them, refused to keep, and the former transferred his allegiance to the Opposition party, subsequently proving himself a veritable thorn in the flesh to the Government during the debates in the House of Assembly. A rather unique situation has developed in St. George's District. At the last election the opposing candidates were Messrs. McDonnell and Downey, the latter at that time opposing the Squires party. In the ensuing campaign the same gentlemen will oppose each other, Mr. Downey also having changed his political allegiance. In 1919 Mr. McDonnell won with a very large majority, and indications point to another victory this year.

SNAP SHOTS. By ZIF.

Day by day
In every way
The people say
Coaker Times are Hard Times.

A landlode for Bennett is the verdict.
Nine men for the Bennett Government from Conception Bay District.

R.A.S. What does it mean? Rocks and Spits.

M. P. Gibbs fixed Squire's, Campbell's and Fitzgibbon's chances in the West End.

It is a shame to waste good space on the "Bees" in St. John's East and Placentia.

Bennett and Better Business are the three "B's" that interest the people of these districts most.

The West Coast is only waiting for the chance to fling back Coaker's Bankruptcy Policy which comes to an end on polling day.

The news from the Northern districts is a sure sign that the Menace of Coakerism will be destroyed when the ballots are counted.

Coaker told his council men that every Conception Bay man can be bought for a ten dollar bill.

Squires must be of the same opinion when he said "The soldiers and naval reservists were paid to fight."

I nearly forgot: who was it that stole the documents and got Mr. Warren's one hundred dollars reward?

Traders of St. John's West, you are witness daily to the cry of Government paid healers—"Give us one of your votes for Squires anyway; we know it is all up with Campbell, and that our third man is gone down below zero; so split your vote boys by giving us one for Squires." Don't fall for their coaxing but let the whole three sink with Coaker with whom Squires and Campbell have been swimming and Fitzgibbon trimming. Vote the straight ticket for CASHIN, HUNT and LINEGAR, and thus help the country on to the highway of prosperity for you all.

SONG OF THE TIMES.
Oh! 'Tis hard, hard times, since the present gang got in.
'Tis hard, hard times, we have seen; But soon they'll pass away, when comes election day.
For the Bennett party, surely they will win.

Then those hard, hard times, that for years have made us weep.
Those hard, hard times we have seen. Never more will come to stay, once arrives election day.
And the gang that rules us now are put to sleep.

So the hard, hard times, that we've had for months two score.
These hard, hard times that all have felt.
Will give place to blissful days, to contentment's brightest rays,
And the happy, cheerful, good old days of yore.

STRAIGHT TICKET.
Bennett is off with a flying start on the fifth round.
And all that Coaker, Gibbs, Squires and the bought and paid for crews cannot stop him.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher! Oh, Mr. Gallagher!
Have you noticed all the men for sale to-day
Like a pretty little cow
Or nice first prize bow-wow
Piccott, Downey and Tom Bonta so they say.
Oh, Mr. Shean! Oh, Mr. Shean!
I easily see exactly what you mean
With his pockets full of dough
Mr. Bough Man cheer-i-oh
Going, going, Mr. Gallagher,
Going, gone—oh, Mr. Shean.

Variety Entertainment.

The Employees of the Royal Stores, Ltd., are holding a Variety Entertainment on Easter Tuesday evening, 3rd of April, at 8 o'clock, in the Grenfell Hall. The entertainment, we understand, is for themselves and their friends and will consist of vocal and instrumental selections, saw solos, ventriloquism, comedy reels, jigs, step and flower dances. The feature of the evening will be the Minstrel Troup, with the real dorkies. The entertainment opens with an overture by the full orchestra, and then continues pleasure to the end. Tuesday evening promises to be another red letter day for that famous store.

Senef From Northward.

S.S. Senef, Capt. Norman arrived in port from the Northward on Saturday afternoon, bringing a quantity of fish from Port Union and several passengers including J. G. Stone and Capt. Jesse Winsor. On the trip North the Senef had a stormy time owing to ice conditions and had to make two attempts before getting round Cape Bonavista.

His Name is Mud.

Squires bargained for a "bombshell" but he only got a "dud."
And from Nonsuch to Mistaken Tom Bonta's name is "MUD".

G. W. V. A. "At Home" To-Night.

The G.W.V.A. Annual "At Home" will take place in the Grenfell Hall to-night and should be a very enjoyable function. The interest evinced in this "At Home" by friends of the G.W.V.A. augurs well for its success. The appointments of the Grenfell Hall have been placed in first class condition and ample space in the dressing rooms has been given to novelty dances and with this end in view, novelties received from England together with special paper caps, balloons, etc., should ensure that those particular dances will be enjoyed. Electrical effects for the twilight dance have been arranged, and the whole should form a splendid setting for a function of this kind. The catering is in the capable hands of Mrs. MacKeen and lady friends, and supper will be served in the Restaurant adjoining the Grenfell Hall. The lounge near the entrance has also been reserved and will be thoroughly cleaned thereby allowing more space for sitting out. Mr. Karl Trappell has kindly consented to sing the "Song of the 29th Division" which proved so popular with the Regiment whilst overseas. His Excellency the Governor and Suite will arrive at 8.30 p.m. and will be introduced by Mr. J. G. Higgins, Past President, G.W.V.A. His Excellency has consented to reply after which a Grand March will be the opening dance. Amongst the Padre Nangle Returns.

Padre Nangle returned from England by S.S. Sabie I. on Saturday last, after spending months of active work attending to the Newfoundland Memorials that are being erected in France and Flanders. The Padre upon arrival received a hearty welcome from his many friends. The work on the Nfld. War Memorials is progressing very rapidly, he states. The Memorial Park at Beaumont Hamel has been especially laid out, under the direction of Mr. Cochius, who, it will be remembered, superintended the laying out of Bowring Park. The trees which were sent from Newfoundland have been planted, and with very few exceptions have taken root, and when the park is finally completed it will present a very creditable appearance. From the Newfoundland Memorial Park at Beaumont Hamel one can look out upon some 35 cemeteries, where some thousands of England's bravest and best are resting, including those of "Ours" who fell there on July 1st. These cemeteries are being put into shape, the headstones erected and otherwise looked after. At Gaucourt, the Nfld. Memorial is completed; while all others with the exception of Monchy are now well in hand. Memorials are now being erected at Cambria, Contrai, in Belgium, on the banks of the Lys, Beaumont Hamel and Monchy. The Padre will be here for some weeks, and his present visit is in connection with the National War Memorial which it is proposed to erect on the Beach. The matter of caring for the graves of those of the Regiment, who are buried here and in Canada also received attention. Some sixty bodies come under his jurisdiction in these localities.

"My Heart Would Palpitate, I Had Weak Spells"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THEY WANT TO WRITE.

By any chance do you think you would like to write stories some day. Read or friend?

Not? What an unusual individual you are!

There are times when I doubt if there is such a person in the world. Why, when writing stories is such an easy way to fame and fortune should anyone bother with any of the harder ways?

So and so, you are told, gets $1,000 for one of his short stories. You read one of them. It doesn't strike you as anything remarkable, just simple little every day comments, things you have thought yourself many times.

And the plot isn't strikingly original. "I could write as good a story as that myself," you say. "If I had the time." And you plan some day, when you have the time, to sit down and write one and get one of those $1,000 checks. That is, if the editors will pay any attention to new writers. You have heard that it is all graft and pull and having an established name.

Of Course Not.

Of course you don't expect to do any systematic studying or to go through any hard training and practising before you write that $1,000 story.

But here's a funny thing. You go to the concert of a great pianist. You, too, play the piano and suspect yourself of some musical talent. Yet you never fancy yourself being able to get an engagement to play before an enormous audience and receive several hundred dollars as he does, without going through long years of training first. Paderewski has had years of finger exercises. Even after he was the world's greatest pianist he is reported to have said: "If I neglect my finger exercises a day I see the effect. If I neglect them a week the critics know it, if I neglect them a month, the world would know it."

But Writing Is Different.

The young artist looks at a great picture and dreams of some day painting one as great. But he knows it will mean years of study of technique and of life, before he can do it. But the mass of people seem to think writing stories doesn't take any technique or any study of life or even a knowledge of the English language or of grammar.

A woman wrote me that she had had to work hard all her life at housework and that her knees had given out and she couldn't do heavy work and so she thought she would like to write stories. Apparently that was her only qualification.

Expect Hard Work.

Mind you, I do not say that this desire to express oneself isn't a perfectly natural one and a perfectly laudable one and that some who have it may not have a spark of the great fire. Nor would an initial ignorance of grammar be a bar sinister if one really did have that spark. What I protest against is the fact that people don't realize that writing stories has its technique just as much as other arts. That it is one thing to be able to think things and quite another to be able to write them. And that long days of labor and nights devoid of ease are the portion of the writer as well as of other artists.

Write if you want to. It's a splendid mental outlet, and it may some time lead to something. No one can say it won't. But don't expect immediately to win successes for which others have studied and worked and concentrated for years.

And now I want it understood that when I speak of writing I mean the laborious constructive work of a story. I don't call my own talks writing at all,—just talking to you on paper.

Ye gods!
Poor old Mail! Same old mail.

Just Folks.

"I FORGOT" AND DIDN'T THINK.

Two excuses met one day, "I forgot" and "Didn't think". Met beside a country well, where they'd stopped to get a drink. "Hello, brother," shouted one in a slum and dreary way. "Haven't seen you for a time. How are things with you to-day?"

"Well," said Didn't Think, "I'm tired. I've been working day and night. I get blamed for everything, nothing that I do is right. Every blunderer on earth quicker than a cat can wink. Stands beside the wreck he's caused telling men 'I didn't think'."

"Yes, you get some blame, of course," then responded I Forgot. "But you do not get it all—on my back there falls a lot. I'm abused from day to day, I'm the handy man they call. Every time a blunderer's made that should not occur at all."

"We're a sorry pair we are, Didn't Think and I Forgot. Didn't think the world's excuses o'er, we're the poorest of the lot."

"Yes," said Didn't Think, "we are. We're not worth our cost in breath. Still the blunderers of the world keep on working us to death."

MINARD'S LINIMEN FOR FALLING OUT OF HAIR.

The Menace of Coakerism.

ARTICLE XVII.

JUST READ THESE EXTRACTS TAKEN FROM THE NEWS-PAPERS NOW CONTROLLED AND EDITED BY SIR RICHARD SQUIRES, MR. COAKER AND DR. MOSDELL.

(From the Advocate.)

"From 1897 we (Coaker) opposed Reid and we (Coaker) pray that our fingers will drop off and our blood (Coaker's) cease to circulate the moment we become soft enough to recognize the Reids as anything but Grabbers of the best blood of the people of Newfoundland."

It was about the same time Coaker wrote in his organ the following choice paragraph:

"God's curse will rest upon him (Sir Edward Morris) and his gang (which included Cashin, Crosbie, McGrath, et al) for their treachery in not protecting the people from the clutches of Reids' outrageous freight rates."

Now that the poor suffering people whom Mr. Coaker championed when he made those insane and profane outbursts, are asking what it is that prompts his silence and what happened to change his opinion of the Reids, who, up to a short while ago, were (according to him) grafters and bloodsuckers. What do the same fishermen who were being, according to Mr. Coaker, robbed right and left, think of Mr. Coaker's duplicity and his present favoritism towards the Reids? We will leave it to readers to ponder over.

THAT $5,000 DEAL—THIS MAN SQUIRES AS TOLD BY MR. COAKER.

(From the official debates of the House of Assembly, May 16, 1913.)

"This man (Squires) who is attacking me in the Star, and exhausting the English language to find sufficient words to vilify me, as quoted in the article 'Throw him out,' opened up negotiations with the Reid Nfd. Co., in reference to the supposed failure of one of the Reids to live up to a promise made respecting financial aid to the Star which negotiations ended by the payment in Bank of Montreal notes of $5,000 by Mr. R. G. Reid to the then Colonial Secretary, Mr. R. A. Squires. The public will be solely concerned with that aspect of the matter which led the chairman of such a responsible committee trusting and dealing on behalf of the Dominion, with claims of such vast proportions, accepting the sum of $5,000 paid him by a Company whose claims were under consideration and adjustment. I leave the public to decide as to HOW CLEAN THE HANDS OF SUCH MEN ARE."

Squires Suffering From "Hives."

We positively giggled at Thursday night's Advocate. The Prime Minister obviously must have B's in his bonnet. After "buzzing round" for three solid weeks, using "honeyey" words and flowery inducements, he has collected a flock of B's and let them loose to buzz around in a tormenting way, until soon, very soon, we will have an opportunity to fly-swat these poor things and cease their irritating existence. Wait until your B's discover your roses are but painted, and your flowery delusions have vanished. Mr. Prime Minister, and you will need the dear old Doc's professional services to alleviate the "stinging" you will receive. In our levity we cannot resist from saying, they will B. D. Veasted.

Coaker's Colleague at Salmonier.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—Please allow me space in your valuable paper which I am just going to give the people of this district a tip concerning the two Coaker men of this little town have given such praise to Mr. Coaker and his bunch as I have noted in the paper of last week. Certainly these two men praise doesn't go very far. Referring to Mr. Coaker as Coaker's friends and these two men's friend are but very few in Salmonier. As he mentioned in his speech concerning an unknown man of the place without either house, as far as I am concerned I don't know of any gentleman in this place without a house, as every man here has got his own house. They don't have to get a $1,000 salary from Coaker to build a house like this man did. He started a big store three years ago for Coaker business. That's where some of the country's money was spent. Now these men are afraid Mr. Coaker will lose his position. That will be the means of this man losing the Perry, as he got $1,000 for making four trips across the lake, come and go when he like. He got no more respect for a clergyman or a lady than he got for a dumb animal. Now he will have to transform Mr. Coaker's shop shed into an ice cream parlor as these two men have hundreds of tons of ice in, and they say they won't work win or lose. But I am very much in hope to see Coaker boss on the roads and Mut and Jeff clearing the drains behind him. But it's well the people of this place and Placentia district got more brains than that they have got. As to my experience in this district the way people have been treated for many years, it's only a fool or a mad man that would mark a ballot for Coaker or his bunch. If Coaker's bunch come to Salmonier they will be lamed to the woods, as Coaker has lamed the fishery since he got in power. Only for the British North American Trading Co. this place would be in a starvation condition as the fishery is completely gone. Messrs. Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott cannot lose as they have done their duty faithfully and well since they got in power to help the people of this place. We are anxiously waiting to see them come around here again as they are not the graballs. Dear Reader, please overlook this short space as theirs is not so much grammar or dictionary in this speech as there was in that speech of last week concerning the unknown man. But I think every person knows who he means. I don't know where he got all this grammar too as it cannot be understood by anybody. If Coaker had been in power before this man graduated he would have built a special college for him. Coaker's day is done. Peter and Jim are on the bum.

Yours sincerely,
SYMPATHIZER.
Salmonier, March 31, 1923.

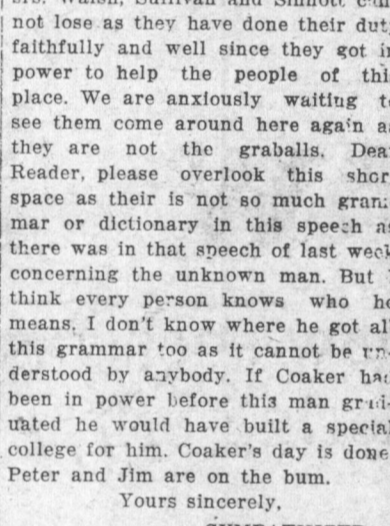

IMPOSSIBLE OPTIMISM.

Let us pay our income taxes with a broad and cheerful grin, looking not like battle-axes as we hand the money in. Let us be serene and sunny, chortling with a joyous sound; for our Uncle needs the money, he must make the wheels go round. Though the total has dismayed you, wear no frown upon your brow; being grouchy will not aid you—you must pay up anyhow. It is hard to take the boodles that we need for gas and oil, paying it to Yankee Doodle who'll make the kettle boil. It is hard to hand the lure that we need for pie and jam and for games of bridge and euchre, to our worthy Uncle Sam. But our Uncle needs the blunder, he is holding out his hands, and we strip our rolls asunder to comply with his demands. He requires a sum that's regal, coin must reach him in a stream, that our celebrated eagle may not wilt and cease to scream. So the dead game sports are rising, with their bundles on their backs, and with fortune surprising they pay up their income tax. And the pikers all are swearing as they near the captain's desk, they are angry and despairing, and their words are picturesque. Since we all must take our bitters let us take them with a grin, let us fill the air with twitters as we hand the kopecks in.

IMPOSSIBLE OPTIMISM.

BILLY'S UNCLE

Bennett Leader? Yes!

ATTENTION MR. ADVOCATE.

The Advocate still refuses to tell us WHY they still about "Cashin is the Leader." In a laboured attempt to draw a red herring across the tracks of their contemptible tactics, they ask us why we refer to Fitzgibbon and Bonia as Coaker candidates.

Of course they are Coaker candidates! And, FURTHERMORE, Squires is also a Coaker candidate.

For Coaker is their boss, he is the real leader of the Government, he controlled the Government with his eleven seats, he took over the railway, he brought in the Fishery Regulations, he appointed the trade commissioners, he obtained "the Coaker Nery" he was behind the fat and salt scandals, in fact, he did just as he pleased and Squires did not dare object.

It is the Coaker party that appeals to the electorate to-day. Why, Squires says that the Humber is his and Coaker's in his famous letter. "The Humber is my life's work."

They are ALL Coaker candidates, every mother's son of them!

And now, Mr. Advocate, you say "for the sake of argument" it is granted that some of the new members are friends of Bennett." Who are they? You hate to hear them mentioned, we know, but here they are again—MONROE, HUNT, OUTERBRIDGE, AYRE, LONG, HODDER, BRADLEY, ARCHIBALD, HICKMAN, HARRIS, PUDDESTER, LINEGAR, JOE MOORE, JIM MOORE, PETERS, SHORT, and the others who will be announced in a few days.

Oh, yes, BENNETT got under your skin alright, Mr. Advocate, and you see the writing on the wall.

In addition to the above array we have the following men, loyal, pledged without condition to BENNETT, the LEADER who is forming the strongest party in the history of Newfoundland, CASHIN, CROSBIE, HIGGINS, FOX, VINCOMBE, WALSH, SULLIVAN, SINNOTT, MACDONNELL, MOORE.

BENNETT has got you running Mr. Advocate, and you know it.

BENNETT, BENNETT, BENNETT.

The Flag of Despair.

Flying from the masthead of Newfoundland to-day we witness the Flag of Despair, that significant token of hardship and destitution, unsettled business conditions, emigration of the young workers, and all the undesirable conditions of complaint and discontent and lack of income to make life worth living.

The after-effects of the war would have very little bearing on the material conditions of the people had we been governed in accordance with even the principles of the most common placed ability during the past three years. Conditions then would gradually develop that would prevent the fishermen and the working class generally, from being driven from the smiling fields of comfort, and contentment deep down into the dismal pit of misery and despair. Instead of governing the Colony as it should have been, an orgy of wild squandering began the moment the present gang of misfits warmed their seats; salaries of Departmental Heads and Members were doubled and quadrupled; inspectors of all kinds of tom-foolery were appointed to pretend they were doing something for the big salaries dealt out to them in bucket-fuls of solid hard cash, gouged out of the earnings of the Colony's producers, the fisherman, the farmer, the mechanic and every toiler. So-called Trade Commissioners were sent abroad to foreign lands as far away as Timbuctoo, with nothing to do except kill time and draw down each one of them a salary that fifty families all together would scarcely earn in a year after the wild carnival of squandering had sucked the taxpayers dry and compelled the Colony to borrow millions of dollars more to save it from going under and driving us all into insolvency. The prodigal son was a rigid economist compared to the Government of the past three years. Apart from blowing in his own money he did not seem to have wasted the substance of others, as our Government has done with out our people's money in reckless casting it away to such ill-purposes. No wonder it is that in place of the White Flag which betokens Peace, Happiness and Contentment we have floating over us the Flag of Despair, emblem of Discontentment, Hard Times and all the discordant and distressing events that ever follows in the wake of hard, hard times.

But in a few weeks more the electors will see to it that this token of distress must float there no longer; that the hands which are upholding it shall forever cease to flout the people's wishes; that their incapable brains will no longer direct our affairs of state, but that instead there will be a strong clean government bearing along the Flag of Prosperity under which happiness and contentment will again be restored to Newfoundland.

The Tide of Victory.

Intelligent observers of the political situation have no hesitation in freely stating that in their opinion there is going to be a change of government next month. Employers of labor here in the city say they can feel it in the air. The men employed on their premises are talking it and the people visiting their stores are saying it also. The news from the outports is that there is a tremendous sentiment sweeping the country against the Squires-Coaker Government. The masses of the people are incensed over the wrongs and the glaring and openly practiced graft that has disgraced the country and impoverished the country the past four years. The feeling is that the fair name of Newfoundland must be vindicated and the only way to accomplish this is to run Squires and Coaker out bag and baggage.

The menace of the Squires, Coaker, Reid controlled executive is something that is forcing all thoughtful men to rally to the standard of the Liberal-Progressive Party and to do their bit to see that Newfoundland is not betrayed.

A political game is being played in this Dominion to-day and upon its result depends the outcome, that of proving the ability of our people to rule themselves successfully, instead of submitting to the despotism of a centralized authority, which everywhere else is fast becoming a relic of the past.

The general dictum of the sworn representatives of the people at the present hour is self first and country last. Principles are dashed aside, honor is cast upon the scrap heap, and consistency is an unknown quality to them. The speaker may have been addressing a Newfoundland audience when in the following he pointed to the fact that "already one great corporation has trifled with the sovereign power and insulted the state." Continuing he said "the question will arise, and arise in your day, though perhaps not fully in mine, which shall rule—wealth or man, which shall lead—money or intellect, who shall fill public stations—educated and patriotic free men, or the feudal serfs of corporate capital?"

No thoughtful person can deny that the Government party in the House of Assembly is to-day constituted by men who have neither honor, principle or the slightest conception of public morality. Now, then, can we expect to have our affairs watched over as they should be. Can we expect men who have sold themselves for place and power to protect the very constitution they have violated and trampled upon?

The people realize this fully. The tide of victory is with the Opposition. Everybody is going to vote for BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

"All for a Handful of Silver: All for the Sake of Gold"

BY THE MAN ON THE STREET. (With Apologies to Jack Turner).

There was a man in St. John's West, who really thought he ought to save his bleeding country from the ruin that Squires had wrought: too spirited to hesitate—or so the story goes—

He hastened to his colleagues to recite his country's woes. They acquiesced in all he said, they praised his wondrous zeal, and endorsed his patriotic stand to protect the common weal; they advocated patience; but his conscience wasn't right, and he worried like blue blazes 'cause he couldn't go and fight.

"The time has come for men to act," our budding hero cried, "Or else too late we'll try and stem the devastating tide "Of this Government's mismanagement, that bids fair to inundate "And sweep away the vested rights of our dear beloved State.

"Give me a place amongst you—in the forefront of the fight—"and well-vindicate, again, the cause of justice over might." Judge his surprise, however, gauge if you can his state when they said "WE COULDN'T—WOULDN'T—HAVE YOU—FOR A CANDIDATE."

There was a West End dry goods man, who sold flannelette and shoes and worsted socks and petticoats in flaming reds and blues: His muslin would delight the eye of any connoisseur, and his crepe-de-chêne unmention 'tles drew every passing stare.

But trade was dull—yet not so dull as the heavy aching pain that in sorrow for his country—near rent his heart in twain: Till he got a special order in Doc Campbell's natty scroll that cleared his shelves, and still'd the pangs of his overburdened soul.

There was a three-man ticket; and marvellous to relate this erstwhile champion of our rights was the third name on the slate. But he must have got things twisted in a most peculiar fashion for the men he marched to battle with were neither Hunt nor Cahlin.

There never was a clearer case of gross inconstancy: Yet 'twas only what one might expect—at least from such as he who pledged allegiance to a cause, as everybody knows, but in an hour changed his views, and linked up with its foes.

This is the simple story; but tell me heart o'mine What made this gallant gentleman (!) desert his firing line (Cavetion! Disappointment! Pique! time will the tale unfold, But some are bad enough to say 'twas the story Campbell told.

LEUVOL

Oh Joseph! Thou hast dug thy grave deep as the wrong thou'st done to thy honour—reputation—name!—all in a moment gone. THIS COUNTRY NEEDS NOT SUCH AS THESE WHO'D BARTER THUS AWAY ALL THAT MANLY MAN HOLDS DEAR—FOR THE SAKE OF PLACE AND PAY.

The Blasters Cry.

WILL NOT PREVAIL AGAINST INTELLIGENCE.

Dear Sir,—With a raving vehemence that would do credit to the most frenzied fanatic the Government press is daily indulging in shrieks against the Merchants, as if forsooth, the intelligent voters are capable of being stampeded by these shrieks.

Now we have already witnessed the devastation inflicted on the business conditions of this country during the past few years, since the curse of Cakerism afflicted us, yet here we see again witnessing what is simply a blaster's cry to ruin whatever is left to us yet of the sustaining powers of our trade and commerce. In other words the Government want to blast their way into power again by tumbling down around our heads every mercantile employer, large or small, who wishes to see the country prosperous once more, and all of its people happily employed.

To us in St. John's West, as I am sure it is so felt elsewhere, the cry of the blasters is simply met with scorn and contempt. Our common sense rises superior to the impression sought to be created by those frenzied shrieks against employers, for we know full well that it is the business interests of the city are driven to the wall it would be mighty poor consolation for the working people to be bawling around a Squires-Coaker Government for the next four years bawling the cries of hungry people, men, women and children lamenting the loss of our labour giving industries, and with nothing but the howling laugh of their betrayers living in the laps of Government luxury and witness and behold.

Keep your cry false friends. We will catch it with our intelligence, and prove to you by our votes for CASHLIN, DUNN and LINEGAR that your blaster's cry is not going to stampede us in your cause.

Yours truly, WEST END TRADESMAN.

Some Pertinent Questions.

ANSWERED BY MESSRS. SQUIRES COAKER & CO.

Who called Squires a "Black rascal"—Coaker.

Who said you must never trust Squires and Gibbs.—Coaker.

Who said Squires and Gibbs, defeated candidates, had no right in the Executive Council.—Coaker.

Who appointed Shea, Campbell and Winter, who represent nobody, to the Executive Council?—Squires and Coaker.

Who, without any authority, are voting and squandering hundreds of thousands of dollars to win the elections.—Squires and Coaker's nominees.

Who said "Squires can't be trusted"—P. T. McGrath.

Who said "Coaker was a menace to the community"—P. T. McGrath.

Who proved that Coaker was a menace to the community?—Squires and Coaker.

Who muzzled P. T. McGrath with a big salary, as the cost of high living in the best hotels of Europe and America for the last year?—Squires and Coaker.

Who found the West End contented and prosperous?—Squires and Campbell.

Who reduced it to pauperism and convict labour?—Squires, Campbell and Coaker.

Who threatened to make the grass grow on Water Street.—Coaker.

Who very nearly fulfilled the threat?—Squires and Coaker.

Who made the one mistake in their political lives when they elected Squires?—The West End Voters.

Who are going to strike the first stroke to rid our unfortunate country of the menace of Cakerism?—The West End Voters.

Who are going to snuff Squires under in the coming election?—The West End Voters.

Who are going to put Cahlin, Hunt and Linegar at the head of the poll?—The West End Voters.

What is the War Cry of the West End?—BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

What is the War Cry of the East End?—BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

What is the War Cry of Conception Bay?—BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

What is the Watchword and War Cry of all Newfoundland?—BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

Transportation Mismanagement.

NO TRAINS FROM H.E. GRAVE.

The Government management of the railway is apparently going from bad to worse, and like the Coastal Service is the cause of much dissatisfaction. Ever since Mr. Coaker took over the management of affairs by the formation of the infamous Railway Commission the transportation facilities have been the subject of frequent complaints. The coastal boats are not serving the needs of all people around the West Coast, the people are short of provisions and in many places they are faced with starvation. Had freight facilities been offered at the proper time of year this condition of affairs would have been avoided. The West Coast has never so badly treated as during the reign of the present administration. The Portia which was built especially for the western coast service, was taken off and put on just when it suited the Government to do so. As soon as it became known, however, that an election was within halting distance, there was a general move in the direction of the West Coast. The Portia was again put on the route, extra trips were made by some of the smaller boats which were some of the smaller boats but owing to the prevalence of ice the strength of the move is not effective. The train service is likewise mismanaged. For some reason not apparent, no train has left Harbor Grace since Thursday last and quite a number of people have been put to serious inconvenience as a consequence. Many people who were anxious to get to their homes were unable to do so. Several solved the problem by hiring teams and travelling by this method. To serve their political ends the Coakerites administration can run the trains and steamers at will as witness Mr. Coaker's specials from Port Union and the Daisy's trip with Hon. S. Foote.

A Grand Manifesto.

This is not politics but something equally as important as the B.L.S. Club rooms on Wednesday. The Irish boys and ladies have arranged a big card party, supper and dance will be held, including some new and special features which will add to the enjoyment of the night will be introduced. Cards will start sharp at 8 p.m. Be with the big crowd that have set themselves to spend a very enjoyable time.

Sealing News.

POOR OUTLOOK TO-DATE.

The messages received from the Sealing Fleet over the week-end practically remain unchanged and the prospects of the ships securing full loads do not look bright. The message received from the wireless operator at Port aux Basques on Saturday last, advising Messrs. Bowring Bros., that the Viking had struck the main patch in the Gulf is apparently untrue. Capt. Bartlett in his message yesterday stated that he was trying to locate the main patch and was passing through scattered seals. He was steaming in a W.S.W. direction, making slow progress. It is quite possible that the Sagona will have to abandon the voyage as she is running short of coal. The following messages are the latest to hand:—

BOWRING BROS., LTD.

Viking, (Saturday)—74 miles S. E. half E. St. Paul's, ice tight, ship jammed, weather not suitable, too thick to see far; young seals scarce.

Viking, (Sunday)—75 miles S. E. half E. St. Paul's, in heavy sheet ice, making slow progress. W.S.W., trying to locate main patch, young seals scarce, too thick to see far.

Eagle, (Saturday)—Killed 800 bedlamers yesterday, men hauled them on board; got clear at 1 o'clock this morning, making fair progress.

Terra Nova, (Saturday)—Twenty miles north of yesterday's position; killed 200 bedlamers to-day.

Terra Nova, (Sunday)—80 miles N. of last patch; have struck a small patch of bedlamers hays.

Sagona, (Sunday)—Ice light, ship jammed; all ships in sight except Terra Nova.

JOB BROS. & CO.

Neptune, (Saturday)—Made poor progress to-day, tight ice as far as can be seen; no change in position.

Neptune, (Sunday)—Position at noon, 140 miles S.E. Cape Spear, steamed 10 miles, jammed since afternoon, passed a few whitecoats; tight ice as far as can be seen.

Thetis, (Saturday)—230 miles S.E. Cape Spear, jammed to-day until afternoon.

Thetis, (Sunday)—245 miles S. E. Cape Spear, steamed 20 miles N. E. by N., passed several whitecoats to-day.

All ships reported to the Postal Telegraphs, crews on board and well. The catch to date is as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Ship Name, Total. Includes Thetis (12,900), Sagona (11,000), Eagle (10,800), Neptune (10,500), Terra Nova (8,200), Seal (7,000), Ranger (7,000), Viking (500).

DIED.

Passed peacefully away at his residence, 3 Gilbert Street, Mr. Wm. Cranford, aged 88 years. Left to mourning is a wife, daughter and son, 2 sisters and one brother. Funeral notice later.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. W. B. Kean, for herself and her husband who is now absent, wishes to thank all those who helped and sympathized with her in the loss of her dear daughter Nellie.
