SLIPPERY ONE MAINTAINS REPUTATION

Hon. William Pugsley Not a Voter on the Conscription Measure.

ST. JOHN MEMBER ARRANGED A PAIR

Has Aspirations to Succeed Laurier as Head of the Liberal Remnants.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, July 6.—The limit of division trickery was reached by Hon. William Pugsley this morning when the votes were recorded on the compulsory service bill. The member for St. John was paired with Col. J. J. Carrick, member for Thunder Bay and Rainy River. Why he should be paired at all is the mystery, but Mr. Pugsley's political ways are always mysterious. When the division was taken on the Barrett six months hold amendment Mr. Pugsley recorded his vote against it.

When the division was taken on the earlier referendum amendment he did not vote, declaring that he was paired with Col. Carrick, and he added: "If I had voted I would have voted for the amendment."

The next division was on the Copp filibustering amendment. He did not vote. The last vote was on the main question. He did not vote in this case either.

This, however, is where the story comes in. It is the practice for a member who is paired to state what he would have done had he voted. Mr. Pugsley did so in the case of the referendum, but when it came to the issue of conscription or no conscription he sat still in his seat. He kept his own counsel. He saw how the wind was blowing, that all the responsible English-speaking members were voting in favor of conscription, and he had an eye on his own constituency. He did not want to declare against conscription and thus alienate such support.

There's a Reason.

Besides, since it became apparent that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was no longer leader of a united Liberal party, he has had another eye on the succession to Sir Wilfrid. To that end he has been the loudest supporter of the French-Canadian in this fight. He has been their inspiration in attack and obstruction. He could not become leader without their votes for he could not secure sufficient from amongst the English-speaking Liberals to give him a show of a show without the French.

So he decided to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. He sat in his seat and said nothing.

MEMORABLE SCENE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS WHEN COMPULSION VOTE TAKEN

Things Looked Stormy for Time When Copp of Westmorland and Oliver Attempted to Obstruct Proceedings.

HOUSE LATER ON EFFECTIVELY SQUELCHED MAN OF TANTRAMAR

Hundreds Sit in Gallery During All Night Session—Lafortune, Liberal of Montcalm, Talks Two Hours and a Quarter.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, July 6, (Special to The Standard)—The scene in the House this morning when the conscription bill was given a second reading at five minutes after five o'clock, by a vote of 118 to 55, or a majority of 63, was a memorable one. The artificial light of the chamber had given place to the light of a brilliant morning and it shone upon the greatest gathering of members the House had known for years. Men like Sir Edmund Osler, who rarely are seen within the precincts of parliament, were there in force to see the thing through. Except on great occasions it is seldom that a debate is forced to a conclusion and a division demanded by a government in the morning hours. Picture the situation, the excitement of the unusual throng, the bustle of the crowd, the knowledge that a real issue is at stake, the nervousness of the whips, and the swaying galleries and affected emotions of a class of men who are emotional if they are any good.

Rose From Sick Bed. The little incidents play their part. R. E. Bennett had come from a sick bed in Montreal, George B. Brantford deserted his sanitarium, Gullbankit is wheeled into the chamber in an invalid chair, David Henderson has defied his doctor and stayed up later than allowed, Blondin had left Lassard to do the recruiting alone for a day or two and so on. Everybody who can be there is there and all creates an unwonted excitement.

Party rivalry is always strong, and the revulsion of political feeling is exhibited on every pretext. It reaches fever heat when members who are not personally popular rise to address the house. The report discourteous is frequent and the Speaker has his hands full to maintain order.

This was the case this morning and Speaker Rhodes was tested thoroughly. He proved equal to the task. He maintained order when at one time the pulse of the house was beating so quickly that anything might have happened. "Order," he instantly called. Members openly disobeyed him for a while, and then they began to do so furiously. Finally he had mastered the house.

Closing Scene Dramatic.

The closing scene was dramatic. The conscriptionists were joyous over the fact that they had secured a larger vote than they had anticipated, and when the Speaker declared the second reading carried they burst into great cheering and then sang "God Save the King."

True to his own traditions, Hon. Frank Oliver, the sternest speaker this morning, and one of the filibusters, sat silent in his seat while the rest of the house sang the National Anthem, or pretended to.

At the first pause the Prime Minister moved the adjournment of the house and the members fled out into the hall to join their faithful wives and friends who had sat these long hours in the uncomfortable galleries.

Not without much travail did the house finally succeed in getting the bill past the stage of second reading. The Barrett sub-amendment calling for the six months hold, was disposed of, only nine members voting in favor of it. The Laurier amendment, asking for a referendum, was put to the vote and having been disposed of the Speaker called for the division on the second reading.

The Fly in the Ointment.

Before the question was put Mr. A. B. Copp, of Westmorland, took the floor with another amendment. His action occasioned great surprise, and the object of it other than to obstruct, cannot be surmised. It is understood that the chief Liberal whip, Mr. Pardee, who is a conscriptionist, was not even consulted. The amendment proved to be a proposal to hold up further consideration of the bill until the pay of soldiers and the allowances of their dependents were increased.

THE PREMIER PUT QUIETUS ON SIR SAM

Sir Robert Borden Did Not Request Hughes to Let Up in Recruiting.

SUBJECT RE-OPENED AGAIN IN HOUSE

Recruiting Results During the Year Brought Down in Commons.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, July 6.—Sir Robert Borden put the quietus on the often repeated charge of General Sir Sam Hughes that the Prime Minister had asked him "to let up in recruiting." "I desire," declared the Premier, "to take the strongest exceptions to the statements of the ex-minister of militia, so far as they affect me. I repeat the denial I have already made in the house. In doing so I assure the house and the country I never displayed any intention of hindering recruiting."

General Hughes had previously said the statement was untrue in the presence of Mr. MacDough of the Dominion Iron and Coal Co. Sir Robert read a statement from Mr. MacDough showing that he did not agree with Sir Sam Hughes' version of what had taken place.

Another Old Story.

"Later Sir Sam Hughes repeated the old story that Mr. J. M. Godfrey of Toronto had told many gentlemen that the Premier said he did not want to send over any more men. This was also called by Sir Robert.

"Well, I intend to leave the matter to Mr. Godfrey's memory, as far as I am concerned," was the Prime Minister's last word.

Then Sir Wilfrid came into the mix-up by pointing out that there had evidently been a misunderstanding between the Prime Minister and his late colleague as a result of which there had been a let-up in recruiting. In view of the fact that the present bill was on the assertion that voluntary recruiting had ceased, he drew the conclusion that the conscription bill was in a way a result of this misunderstanding.

Sir Robert met this by giving statistics of casualties and recruiting results during the past year. For the year to May 31st, there had been 42,523 infantry enlistments and 67,086 infantry casualties. From January 1st to May 31st, infantry recruits numbered 13,353, while casualties mounted up to 27,228. For April and May the failure of voluntary recruiting to make up for casualties was still more striking. In that time there were 3,002 infantry recruits and 21,864 casualties or more than seven casualties to every new infantry man. In the time since the conscription announcement was made 6,968 had been recorded in the casualty lists. Sir Robert promised to get Sir Wilfrid Laurier an estimate of the number of men who returned after being wounded. Sir Sam Hughes figured it at sixty-five per cent.

FRENCH ARMY AGAIN TAKES OFFENSIVE AND HOLDS ITS GROUND AGAINST GERMANS

Four Strong Attacks Hurlled Against French by Teutons, but General Petain's Men Able to Hold Ground Recovered.

FRENCH STRAIGHTEN OUT PART OF IMPORTANT DEFENCE LINE

Great Artillery Battle in Progress Between Russians and Huns—British Forces Take Part in No Action Except by Artillery.

Special to The Standard.

After checking the latest efforts of the German crown prince in Champagne, the French took the offensive and succeeded in straightening out their line in the region of Mont Haut and Mont Carnillet. General Petain's men held to their gains despite four strong attacks hurled against them and which they repulsed with heavy losses.

Switching his attack from the operations from the front north of the Aisne did not help the crown prince as his effort in Champagne west of Mont Carnillet and southeast of Tahure failed as did his recent heavy attack north of the Chemin Des Dames.

General Petain responded to the German effort by attempting and succeeding in reducing salients in his line to the east of the scene of the Teuton attack. The French not only captured prisoners, but beat off counter-attacks, showing that the Germans attached importance to the French gains.

Heavy Gun Firs.

On the rest of the French front and especially around the curve in the French line northeast of Soissons violent artillery engagements are in progress. To the north the British and attempts to fraternize with the Russians activity outside of patrol encounters and raids.

A great artillery battle is in progress on the front where the Russians made their sudden advance early this week. Near Zboroff and between Zloshoff and Brzenany, in Galicia, the Russian and German guns are hammering the opposing lines, and near Smorgon, north of the Pripiet marshes the big guns too are active.

Signs of a reawakening of activity on the front in Roumania are increasing and near Bialesch German attempts to fraternize with the Russians were answered by the Italian. Northwest of Salo, on the Carso, an Italian surprise attack netted some gain of ground.

Austrian counter-attacks were beaten off successfully.

British Statement.

London, July 6.—The official statement

dated by hundreds of electric lights and ornamented by many flags, and the scene was an enchanting one. The weather was ideal and many came from St. Andrews and other parts of the country by automobile. Ice and cake were served in abundance by charming young ladies. Among the honored guests was one whom all were pleased to see present, Mrs. John C. Robinson, aged 84 years the venerable mother of the governor's wife. His worship Mayor Grimman was director of ceremonies if the function could be described as a ceremony for it was most delightfully informal.

The St. Stephen band furnished music and Miss George I. Nesbitt, a very popular soloist, sang patriotic songs from the balcony. At the close of the delightful evening Governor Ganong briefly addressed the gathering of his friends, expressing his appreciation of their presence, his desire and intent to creditably discharge his new and important duties and his regret that the premier of the province had found it impossible to be present.

DESTRUCTION IS WROUGHT NEAR AVION

Germans Possibly Blew Important Works Before Move to Retreat.

TALK OF REVOLUTION BY HUNS HEARD

Remarkable Letter Written to Bavarian at the Front Found.

Special to The Standard.

Canadian Headquarters in France, Friday, July 6, via London—Possibly, the pithead which overlooked our outposts in Avion, disappeared yesterday in a cloud of dust and fire. It had been for some time a mark for our heavy artillery, but whether the destruction was caused by our shells, or by the Germans themselves is not known. If they anticipated a further immediate advance of our men they may have blown up the mining works themselves, for it is their policy to leave behind them nothing that would aid in speedy resumption of mining operations in this important coal area.

A Remarkable Letter.

Much evidence of the lowering of the German morale continues to be discovered in captured trenches and raided houses. A remarkable letter was found recently which had been written to a Bavarian at the front three weeks ago. The letter said in part:

"One can well understand that you are sick of this horrible business. I believe that the climax has been reached, for now one hears nothing but complaints. The German Social-Democrats have announced that if a single shot is fired in August revolution will follow. The situation is no longer good. They are on the track of the German Kaiser, too, and if it lasts much longer it will be the end of Prussia, for the Prussians and the English are the masters. These two alone are carrying on the war. The others are merely in their hands."

I understand that our casualties have been very light during the past two weeks, and exceptionally so in the killed and missing classes.

REV. J. J. McCASKILL WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Was Formerly Stationed in This City as Pastor of the St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church—No Particulars Received.

Word was received in the city last night that Hon. Capt. Rev. J. J. McCaskill has been wounded. No details concerning how he received his injuries, or if they are serious, have been received.

Rev. Mr. McCaskill left Montreal with the 73rd Highland Battalion, but has been connected lately with the artillery service. Previous to joining the 73rd as chaplain he was stationed in this city as pastor of St. Matthew's Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. McCaskill, although an American, early in the war relinquished his important charge to offer his services.

The Rev. Mr. McCaskill while resident of this city made many friends, and it is hoped that his injury is only slight, and that he will soon recover.

Musical Treat.

A number of music lovers other than the gathered last night on the invitation of W. H. Thorne & Co. at their music rooms to hear some of the world's great artists as re-created by the "Edison New Art Music's Re-Creation." In addition to the programme of great artists Prof. W. G. Borden, the well known violinist and cellist of this city gave a number of tone tests, and it was impossible for the audience to tell which was the player and which the re-creation so perfectly does Mr. Edison's new invention re-produce every sound and do away with any mechanical effect.

CONSCRIPTION COMPULSION BILL WINS BY LARGE MARGIN

CONSCRIPTION MEASURE WINS BY A MAJORITY OF 63 VOTES

Laurier Referendum Amendment Voted Down by 111 to 62—Barrette Six Months Hoist Amendment to Amendment Voted Down, 165 to 9—All Night Session

Ottawa, July 6.—After fourteen days of debate, members of the House of Commons at two forty this morning were ready to vote on the amendments to the second reading of the military service act. The first vote was taken on the sub-amendment moved by Mr. Barrette of Berthier, calling for a six months hoist, which was defeated on a division of 165 to 9. Those who supported the amendment were Messrs. Barrette, Paquet, Boulay, Descaresses, Patenaude (ex-Secretary of State), Girard, Bellemare and Gullbault on the government side of the house, and Achim, the former government supporter who crossed over to the Liberal side yesterday.

Referendum Amendment.

The division on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment proposing to refer the question of conscription to the people in the form of a referendum was then taken. The amendment was defeated on a division of 111 to 62, a government majority of 49. Members who voted for the amendment from the government side of the chamber were: Sir Rodolphe Forget and Messrs. Patenaude, Descaresses, Barrette, Girard, Gullbault, Bellemare and Boulay, while Monlon and Achim, former government supporters, stood up on the other side of the house in favor of the amendment.

Liberal members who voted against Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal numbered 19. They were: Messrs. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Pardee, Guthrie, Clark (Red Deer), McLean (Halifax), Loggie, Turiff, McMillan, Champagne, Buchanan, Douglas, Ross, McLean (Queens-Sunbury), Carvell, Cruise, Charlton, Nesbitt, McCraney and Neely.

Copp Amendment.

The Copp amendment calling for the postponement of further consideration of the bill until such adequate provision had been made for the dependents of men enlisted for overseas service as would avoid the necessity of raising money by public subscription for their support, was voted down by a majority of 59 after a brief but brisk discussion. It was supported by the following: Achim, Barrette, Bickerdike, Bolvin, Boulay, Chisholm, Copp, Desaisie, Demers, Devlin, Ehir, Fortier, Gauthier, Gauvreau, German, Gullbault, Hughes (Kings, P.E.I.), Kay, Kite, Lachance, Lafortuna, Lanctot, Lapointe (Kamorouska), Lapointe (St. James), Laurier, Lamloix, McNutt, McCoig, McCrae, McMillan, Marcell, Martie (Bath), Martie, Michaud, Mullon, Monlon, Murphy, Oliver, Paquet, Papineau, Power, Proulx, Robb, Seguin, Sinclair, Tobin, Trux, Turgeon, Turiff, Verville, Wilson (Laval). Total, 55.

The following Liberals voted against: Buchanan, Carvell, Champagne, Charlton, Clark (Red Deer), Cruise, Douglas, Guthrie, Knowles, Loggie, McLean (Halifax), McCraney, McLean (Sunbury), Nesbitt, Neely, Pardee, Thompson (Qu-Appelle). Total vote against amendment, 111.

On Second Reading.

The motion for the second reading of the bill was supported by the following: Aiguire, Ames, Armstrong (Lambton), Armstrong (York), Arthurs, Ball, Barnard, Bennett (Calgary), Bennett (Simcoo), Best, Blais, Blodin, Borden, Bowman, Boyce, Boys, Brabazon, Bradbury, Burnham, Burnett, Clark (Bruce), Clark (Wellington), Clements, Côté, Côté, Côté, Cromwell, Crothers, Currie, Davidson, Doherty, Donaldson, Edwards, Elliott, Fisher, Foster, Fripp, Glass, Green, Hanna, Hase, Hart, Henderson, Hepburn, Sir Sam Hughes, Jameson, Kemp, Lalor, Lewis, MacDonnell, MacLean (York), McCurdy, MacLean (P.E.I.), McLeod, Marshall, Melgoin, Menon, Middleboro, Murphy, Morris, Morrison, Munson, Nicholson, Nickle, Robidoux, Rocha, Rogers, Schaffner, Northrup, Oeler, Paul, Rainville, Reid, Scott, Sevgny, Serzellan, Shepherd, Smith, Stevens, Stewart (Hamilton), Sutherland, Taylor, Thoburn, Thompson (Yukon), Thorson, Walker, Wallace, Webster, Welch, Sir Thomas White, Wilson (Westworth).

Wright and the following Liberals: Buchanan, Carvell, Champagne, Charlton, Clark (Red Deer), Cruise, Douglas, German, Graham, Guthrie, Loggie, MacLean (Halifax), McLean (Sunbury), McMillan, Nesbitt, Neely, Pardee, Ross, Sinclair, Thompson (Qu-Appelle), Trux, Turiff, Knowles, McNutt, McCoig McCraney. Total 118.

Those Opposed.

Those who opposed the second reading were: Achim, Barrette, Bellemare, Bickerdike, Bolvin, Boulay, Bourassa, Boyer, Brouillard, Bureau, Cardin, Chisholm, Copp, Desaisie, Demers, Descaresses, Devlin, Ehir, Forget, Fortier, Gauthier (St. Hyacinthe), Gauvreau, Girard, Gullbault, Hughes (Kings, P.E.I.), Kay, Kite, Lachance, Lafortuna, Lanctot, Lapointe (Kamorouska), Lapointe (St. James), Laurier, Lemieux, McCrae, Marcell, Martie, Martin, Michaud, Mullon, Monlon, Murphy, Oliver, Paquet, Papineau, Paquet, Patenaude, Power, Proulx, Robb, Seguin, Tobin, Turgeon, Verville, Wilson (Laval). Total, 55.

SLIPPERY ONE MAINTAINS REPUTATION

Examination of his speech shows that it is couched in wily terms. It is savage enough against the government to suit the anti-conscriptionists, but it is full of non-committal phrases by which he can crawl out of an anti-conscription attitude if he finds that it will be more productive in securing votes in his constituency.

THE SATURDAY MARKET.

Prices for produce and meats at the local markets remain about the same as last week, with only a slight variation in some lines. Prices on butter and eggs have declined a little and flour is also a little easier. Beef is slightly higher this week, due to the scarcity of this meat, the price being 28c to 30c a pound. Pork is a scarce article in the markets and prices are high accordingly. Strawberries are making their appearance in small quantities from up the river and they are selling for 30c a box wholesale. A barrel of cabbage came down the river from Sheffield yesterday, these being the first of the season.

COURT NEWS OF INTEREST.

The small boy who was arrested yesterday morning, charged with stealing four watches was before the magistrate yesterday afternoon. The case was adjourned pending further investigation.

The intimidation case against four striking plumbers, which was set for yesterday afternoon has been postponed until Monday.

The case of a John O'Brien who was tried on Monday in the Supreme Court. The attorney-general will prosecute.

Woman Apparently Insane.

A middle aged woman was taken into custody last night by Police Constable McNamee on Waterloo street. She was causing considerable trouble by her strange manner. It is feared that she is insane. She will be examined by a doctor this morning.

At 5 a. m. Monday St. Rose's church Fairville, was the scene of a pretty wedding when in the presence of immediate relatives Miss Mary Melrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Driscoll, Fairville, became the bride of Charles Tipsett, Rev. Charles Collins officiated.

A wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride parents, following which the happy couple left on the train for Boston and New York. The bride was the recipient of many useful presents. The groom is a returned soldier of the first contingent.

Primecost Creditors.

The creditors of Primecost, Ltd., met yesterday afternoon at the office of G. H. V. Gelyon. The assignee reported that the book debts had not realized enough money to pay the wages due employees and the cost of the assignment. A claim was presented by Judge Melmeray, who holds the title for the purchasers of the property, that the book debts went into full and the assignee and inspectors have agreed to take the balance as remuneration for their services.

Town Planning Commission.

A meeting of the Town Planning Commission was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, at which various matters in connection with the work were talked over with Thomas Adams of the Dominion Conservation Commission. Mr. Adams explained to the commission the reason for the delay in outlining plans. The commission submitted to him a report of the work done to date and he will draft a scheme and submit it in the near future. Mr. Adams expects to return to St. John the first of August and spend a couple of weeks and he hopes to have his report ready by that time.

Richard J. Harby arrived in the city yesterday noon from Boston and signed on with the Canadian Engineers.

Nuxated Iron Makes Strong, Vigorous, Iron Men and Beautiful Healthy Rosy Cheeked Women

Dr. Howard James, late of the Manhattan State Hospital of New York and formerly Assistant Physician Brooklyn State Hospital, says:

"Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. A patient of mine remarked to me (after having been on a six weeks' course of Nuxated Iron), 'Say, Doctor, that there stuff is like magic!'"

It is such a valuable remedy that it should be kept in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country.

Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. James, is for sale by Wilson's Drug Store and all good druggists on an absolute guarantee of success and refund if you are not satisfied or your money refunded.

CHARMING HOSTESS TREATS FOX AS ONE OF FAMILY AND INTRODUCES FUGITIVE TO HER GUESTS

Fugitive "Conscripted" by Prominent Pharmacist Is Invited into the Laboratory and Put to a Severe Cross-Examination, the Wily Druggist and Assistant Meeting His Bluff But Not Understanding It.

Fox Clues in Fredericton, at Dibblee's and B. Fred Edgecombe's and Alonzo Staples' Where One Was Discovered.

Fredericton—Friday. Safely stowed away in one of the most comfortable homes in this little city, I have foiled the most alert of Fredericton's shrewd citizens. And my charming hostess, prominent in church and social circles, has as yet given me no reason to believe she has the least suspicion. While entertaining house parties and friends from a distance, many introductions I've been favored with through her kindness—but not as Fox the Fugitive. Coming and going while making Fredericton the base of the fugitive's trail, I have found this attractively furnished home safe "cover."

On an evening when the company had gone to be followed by other arrivals later on, we have spent pleasant hours in the reception hall, she with her sewing and I with my book. Within a stone throw of a busy part of Queen street we see from our windows all that's going on. With a challenge thrown out to three prominent citizens in this town I am laying odds against me. They are The Chief of Police Alonzo Staples B. Fred Edgecombe and his staff of Weisenheimers—his sales people.

One of the busiest pharmacies is that of Alonzo Staples at York and King street. Now I dare not go around that corner, as I have done time and again—for I boldly placed clues to the fugitive in that store. I woke up the veteran pharmacist. I still retain a mental picture of this gentleman as I left him after a conversation of several minutes. Learning over a box on which he rested one foot he was reflecting deeply. Plainly he was puzzled. There was something that did not fit well in the story I told him. Just what it was he couldn't understand.

He "Had Only Known." But he didn't and that is what troubled him. It probably did not occur to him that I was fishing for pointers. He had taken himself apart from his customers and inviting me to follow him led me back into the chemical department where his working force were busy.

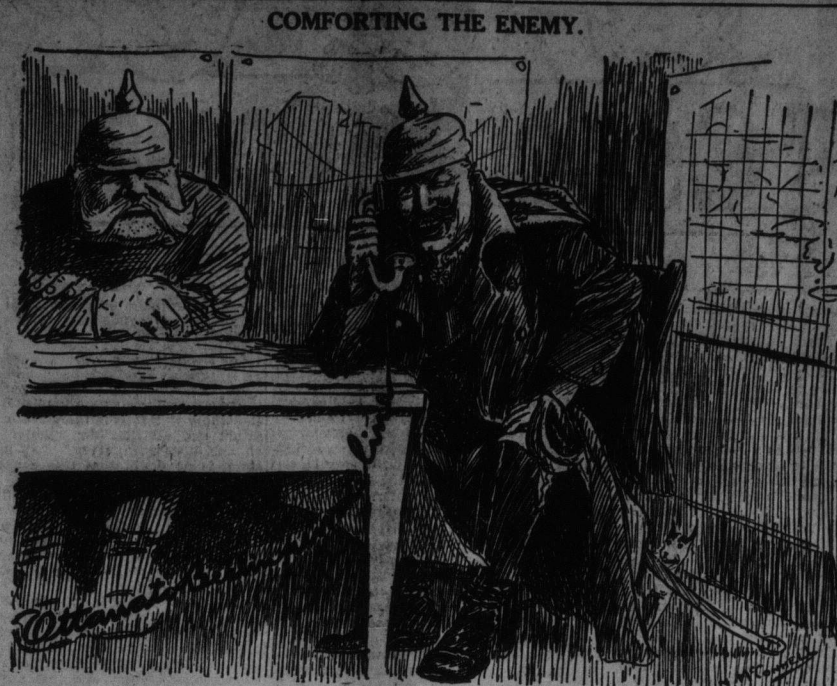

His purpose was to put one of his men on to me. He was "trying out" my statements. Subjecting me "to the proofs"—as to my purpose—perhaps my veracity. Yes, I had purposely laid myself open to question. The workman who was an intelligent, thoughtful and well informed man turned from his work and studied me with sharp looks and a close cross-examination. And I will say that I did not come out of it with any reason to suppose that either him or his boss believed a word I told them. And that was the impression I deliberately intended to leave with them.

"What is your friend's name, who you say is in business in Halifax?" the workman who was engaged at the bench and had turned squarely around. "Where is his business located?" His tone, the searching look he gave me and his manner in every way suggested that he was probing with the foregone conclusion that I would get upset.

He was well acquainted in Halifax and he had never heard of the man by the name I gave him in business on Barrington street. "I didn't expect he had, for it was all fiction—my friend in Halifax, having a relative across the river who raises pork—whom he had sent me to see—and whose name I had forgotten. And when Mr. Staples' wily workman paused to consider (I suppose) the pharmacist took a hand.

"You have forgotten the name of this farmer who raises pork?" "And you had come here to see him?" "Way, yes," I replied. I faltered in my reply. That was bad and Mr. Staples noticed it. What does it all mean, he was probably thinking—this stranger telling us this stuff. The three of us were facing each other. We were back away from customers. Girls at work close by were getting interested. I was too much concerned to pay attention to what they were doing. In fact I can't recall if there was more than one girl or not. One I particularly noticed for she had dropped her hands in her lap and was partly turned in the chair looking at me with a smile. "I think I could remember the name if it were spoken," I said. This of course was a bluff. The fact is I was fishing for pointers, as I have said to be used by me in meeting the chief of police which I had planned.

"Is it McNeill?" Mr. Staples asked. Ordinarily this inquiry would mean nothing. I think that was the name he used. "Well, now," I replied, "I think that's the name. He lives down the river," Mr. Staples said in a quiet, convincing tone which with the smile he favored me implied that he had seen my bluff and caught me at it. And he had. Yes, that was the man. I recognized the name. Yet I had been firm in my statement that the man I wanted lived

THE MEN MAY HAVE TO WEAR LESS CLOTHING

The Fat Ones Will Look Fatter and the Thin Ones Thinner, but How in Russia?

Chicago, July 6.—Fat men will look fatter and thin men thinner if they conform to the styles forecast for the coming season by garment authorities, assembled here for the convention of the National Association of Clothing Designers in session here. The scant English styles are to be resumed, they say, and suits will be patterned with sharp-forming lines.

It is predicted also that Spring suits in 1918 will be without belts, cuffs or pockets. The production of "trench style" overcoats will be restricted to Uncle Sam's uniform makers.

WILL WEAR NO CLOTHING.

Petrograd, July 6.—The Russkaya Vedomosty reports that the peasants of two cantons near Odessa, in view of their inability to obtain clothing, have passed a resolution to organize "processions of naked men."

Lift Corns Off With Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Corns and calluses loosen and fall off! Magic!

Few drops of Freezone take all pain and soreness from corns instantly

No humping! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

Will loosen and can be lifted right off with the fingers. Freezone doesn't cut out the corns or calluses but shrivels or rather loosens them without even irritating the surrounding skin. Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. Try a little and see for yourself. It is surprising.

Wonderful discovery by Cincinnati man

This remarkable drug is called Freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man. Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of Freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus. Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus stops instantly, corn goes!

Few drops stop corn-pain

Take soreness from any corn or callus instantly

Women should keep Freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice. If a corn starts hurting just apply a drop. The pain stops instantly, corn goes!

Very bottles of Freezone cost but a few cents at any drug store.

MOTTO: "KINDLY DEEDS MAKE HAPPY LIVES"

FOX THE FUGITIVE STILL AT LARGE; TWO DOLLARS AWARDED TO C. G. MEMBER WHO CAPTURES HIM

Fox the Fugitive is still roaming somewhere throughout the Province, and up to the moment of writing has not been caught by any member of the Children's Corner. The offer made last week, and particulars of which are again given below this week, are still open. Who is the lucky boy or girl going to be, because some Kiddie has the prospect of getting two dollars? I wonder if you are the fortunate member of the Corner? In any case read these conditions very carefully, and be ready to get the hunted man.

To the boy or girl who manages to get Fox the Fugitive I shall award a Two-Dollar Bill, under these conditions:

- 1st-You must be a member of the Children's Corner. (If you are not at the present time, just sign the coupon, as published on this page and forward it to Uncle Dick, The Standard, St. John, N. B., who will understand by the receipt of same that you promise to read the Children's Corner every week, and take an active interest in its welfare.
2nd-You must not reside in the City of St. John.
3rd-You must not be over fifteen years of age last birthday.
4th-Carry the current issue of the Standard with you.

The way to go about it if you are sure of your man is this: 1st-Lay your hands on him. 2nd-Say to him: "You are Fox the St. John Standard's Fugitive. Do you deny it?" 3rd Present Fox with copy of The St. John Standard of date.

This offer is open until the first boy or girl who is a member of the Children's Corner, succeeds in capturing him, according to the above rules. Now go to it and win the two dollar award.

FOX THE FUGITIVE ALSO MAKES SPECIAL OFFER.

In speaking to the hunted man, just after he was captured in St. John, last week, he told me to inform every reader of the Children's Corner that he, himself, will give a prize to the first boy who captures him, and the child who catches him, to the first girl who catches him. The boy or girl must be twelve years of age or younger. No matter where you live in the province.

Uncle Dick's Chat With the Children

My Dear Kiddies:-

It has been most interesting to see the way in which you have responded to the suggestion that you should endeavour to catch Fox the Fugitive. From all parts letters have arrived telling of the fun and excitement to be found in watching for him. I am glad to hear that you are all so anxious to catch Fox the Fugitive, and I am glad to hear that you are all so anxious to catch Fox the Fugitive. I am glad to hear that you are all so anxious to catch Fox the Fugitive.

I am also publishing one or two of the descriptions, which the Kiddies have written, as being their idea of what Fox the Fugitive looks like. They are most carefully thought out, and show the possession of a clever and imaginative mind by the writers. Let me have others, and I shall also publish the best of them, in future issues of the Corner. You may remember that two weeks ago, I gave half of the story about the little girl, being left an orphan, was taken by her mother to a country, and also telling how she cut her hand badly with a piece of broken glass, whilst at school. Now I have been waiting to see if any Kiddie thought of completing the story, but none have arrived.

I have therefore decided to give a prize of a story book, to the boy or girl who succeeds in completing the best. The place the first installment ended, was just where the little girl fainted through pain and the sight of her bleeding hand. In my previous chat I mentioned that the story might go on by telling of the kindness of her school mates during her illness, and then afterwards how she is the means of saving her school mates when the school catches fire.

You write just what you think, bearing in mind these outstanding features, and send the results to me. I shall make the award as given above to the boy or girl whose story appears to be most interesting and carefully thought out. This week among the letters received from Kiddies asking permission to join the Corner, is one saying that the reason they are joining several clubs, is because they are collecting the buttons, or badges of same. Now boys and girls, I hope there are not many more like that, at least so far as the Corner is concerned. Those children who join the Children's Corner are understood to be joining for pleasure, amusement, and instruction, including thoughtfulness for others.

In case there are some Kiddies who do not know what is expected of them when they join, I give below the rules of membership:- 1st. I promise to be more thoughtful of others. 2nd. I promise to be cheerful. 3rd. I promise to be thrifty. 4th. I promise to be trustworthy. 5th. I promise to live worthy of my native land, and of the great Empire to which I belong. 6th. I promise to be reverent towards God. 7th. I promise to take a personal interest in the Children's Corner of the St. John Standard, and to read Uncle Dick's Chat every week.

These rules are not hard, but if kept, and carried out, will help you to become better citizens, and subjects of your country, as you grow up. In a week or two, I expect to give special attention to each rule, and make them the subject of my chat, so that you may more readily understand what they mean. Meanwhile if any of you readers have found the following out of the rules of assistance and help, please write and tell me, as I am always glad to hear of such results. An anxious to make this Corner more interesting and helpful, than ever, particularly when the holidays are over, but until then I am hoping that you have nearly all the page devoted to stories, and things of interest whilst schools are closed, and you are having the time of your lives. It has been a source of much pleasure to me to find that although you must have all been very busy since the holidays commenced, packing up and getting away to spend your vacation with others, that you have thought of your Uncle Dick, and have written him so many nice letters. I shall continue to expect them all the time, and shall watch for them in every mail. Tell me how you are enjoying yourselves, what the place is like where you are staying, and a thousand and shing flower. Remember that it appears on open spaces always, shunning the shade of our woods, and is thus spread on the dinner table of the herbivorous animals, always exposed to attack from their grasping lips or nibbling teeth. Yet the situation pleases this plant despite the danger. The animals see the flower as a warning signal, not as a dainty morsel, as some people, blind to nature, have thought. A green flower might run danger, but a golden one is safe for the whole of its seven days' life. All the surrounding grass may be cropped short, while the tall flower remains unharmed, to set its seed. When dry, it is eaten with the other hay herbage, yet it lessens the value of the yield, and is decidedly not encouraged by the farmer. The plant has its own methods of defence against the competition of neighbors, of multiplying by seed or runner, and of overcoming other necessary tasks, but no facts of its life are of such importance as those which save it from extermination by grazing beasts. Incidentally, the yellow petals attract a host of insect visitors, especially flies, for the neck of the honey secreted at the base of the petals. These sometimes lead up with the yellow pollen which is shed from the anthers surrounding the numerous stamens, and cross-pollination and self-pollination must both occur with ease. The ovary consists of a number of separate parts (carpels), each ending in a tiny stigma of its own. The fruit too well known to need description. When the flowers are in a branched candelabra fashion the first flower to open is that of the main tip of the inflorescence, and the next opens at the end of a side branch. All bristlers are more or less acrid. Of the three commonest kinds the first to appear is the bulbous, the date usually being about April 10. By April 16 the creeping should appear in flower, and April 24 should usher in the common upright kind. Not until mid-May, however, are our meadows clothed in their glorious cloth of gold. It is interesting to note the altered conditions of light and moisture. In a flower which is of open habit and has a long life (about a year) some such protection for the pollen is almost a necessity. The water-crowfoot has pretty reaches flowers, which cover the tips of some rivers. Its submerged leaves are cut up into long green threads, adapted to withstand the current, or rather, to give way to it, and to the conditions of light. They remain all through the winter, and in spring the surface leaves, of flat round shape, appear. Other water plants are similarly provided, and they are strikingly adapted to their environment. The golden kingcup of the marsh is an instance of a water-loving member, and the celandine certainly favors damp banks and hedge bottoms. Other damp bank and hedge plants are the anemones, columbines, the bellflowers, peonies, the poisonous wolfsbane, and the larkspur. Monkshood has often been mistaken for horse radish root growing in gardens, with fatal results. Its tapering root should warn us as it through the winter, and in spring the cups vary. Some are bulbous and others fibrous. Naturally, we find the bulbous ones flowering before the fibrous ones.

THE MYSTERY A Scout Varn.

In the early part of the year 1908 a man who gave his name as John Henderson presented himself before the headmaster of Arleigh College—that famous school in the South of England—and having been shown into his presence, went straight to the business which had brought him there. "I am the guardian of a boy of ten years old," he said, "whose name is Henry Foster. I wish this boy to be entered as a pupil at your school for at least six years, and I am prepared to pay the entire fee for that period."

Dr. Crosby, the headmaster, opened his eyes. "There will be no need for you to do that, sir," he said, "indeed, if you do, it might say so, rather foolish on your part to submit yourself to the payment of such a sum; you see, anything might happen."

"Exactly so," answered the other briskly; "but that is what I want to guard against. I want to ensure that my ward shall have the very best education possible, and I want to make one job of it, so to speak, so that I may have no further liability in the matter. I should like to be able to pay you a fixed sum, and to include in my extra that might occur during that time. I am a rich man, and I can afford to indulge myself in this way. The only stipulation that I should like to make would be that no further questions are to be asked. The lad is a quiet, clever boy, and I can give you excellent references as to my own respectability."

Dr. Crosby hesitated. "If you really mean what you say," he said slowly, "it will cost you exactly 1,500 pounds ($2,500) that will include anything for six years." The stranger produced his cheque-book with a smile. "If you will allow me," he said, "I will give you the money right away, and perhaps you will permit me to make it $7,000."

Dr. Crosby bowed. "Your generosity is rather bewildering," he said, "but in the name of the governors of the school I accept it." The other nodded. "Then Henry will come to you at the beginning of next term," he said. "I particularly want him to have a classical education, to engage in all the sports and pastimes of the school; in fact, I want to make him as thorough as English as possible."

"It is not English, then?" asked the doctor. "Most certainly he is," was the response; "but he has lived for the first ten years of his life abroad." And that is the story of how Henry Foster came to Arleigh. He was a strangely quiet, shy boy, and when he first came had to submit to a good deal of ragging from his school-fellows on account of his broken English. But he soon learned to talk as well as any boy there, and although he had never gone to games, he proved to be exceedingly brilliant at his work, and won golden opinions from the masters.

He made few friends. There was indeed an air of mystery about him which seemed impenetrable. He always went abroad for his holidays, and when he came back from them he never told a soul what he had done or where he had been. He apparently had no father, no

ARE YOU ENTERING THE SPECIAL CONTESTS

WHAT IS FOX THE FUGITIVE LIKE? BOY OR GIRL? READER OF STANDARD MAY WIN TWO DOLLARS

Last week you were asked to write out what you thought was a good description of Fox the Fugitive, the man who is being hunted by almost every one in the province. Below I am publishing one or two of the answers, which I consider is well written, though of course, I am not going to say if correct!

Dear Uncle Dick:-Reading The Standard daily and steadily inspecting the pictures of Fox the Fugitive, I at last came to the conclusion that he answers to the following description: He is a trifle below the average height, stout, but not too much so, has broad shoulders, a large head with a rather thick set neck, a rather prominent nose, dark eyes and medium dark hair and complexion. He must be very nimble on his feet and exceedingly sharp witted, together with having a clear eye, quick perception and a brain that can put two and two together easily; if one may judge from his stories in The Standard.

I also find from weighing his stories, in The Standard, that in course of his adventures with those who are after him, and in the work with which he attracts their attention and also in his conversation with them, he reveals intelligence and the possession of a brain that will work according to his purpose, and will work.

Your sincere niece, DORA L. WILSON.

The contest as to describing what Fox the Fugitive looks like is still open, and for the benefit of those who may have missed last week's Standard, I am again publishing the conditions. At the present time he is somewhere in the Province of New Brunswick with several dollars on his head to be awarded to the person who succeeds in capturing him. Wouldn't you like to be the lucky person? These read the offer published in another column of the Corner.

On the other hand many of you boys and girls who read the Corner may not have the best of chances to get Fox the Fugitive, so Uncle Dick is making the following offer, open to every member of the Corner living outside St. John City under the age of sixteen. You will have formed in your mind some idea of what the hunted man looks like. Write a description of what you think his appearance is, after you have carefully read the stories which he is writing, and in which he gives many clues as to his actual likeness. Send it in to Uncle Dick, The Standard, St. John. All entries to be in this office before Fox the Fugitive is captured, and have the coupon as published below attached to same.

"I now appear," he concluded, "The Foster's real name is Heinrich Foster. His father, the man who interviewed me, is a man who is very high up in the German Secret Service, and he it was who conceived the idea of sending his boy to a famous English public school and having him trained as an English school boy. The Foster's holidays were spent entirely in Germany, as the lad has himself confessed. During the last few months he has been writing articles with spies in this country—these spies, I am happy to say, were caught in a few days by the instrumentality of the Scouts."

"I understand all that," said the inspector, "but what I don't understand is how these boys tumbled to the German game."

"It's really quite simple," put in Fairhurst. "Some months ago, when I was walking down the hill outside the school, I picked up a book of Greek grammar—which had evidently been dropped by one of the boys. As he did so Foster, thinking to take him by surprise, sprang at him and gave him a fierce push. The other lost his balance, yet, as he fell, managed to shoot out his arms and clutching Foster by the sleeve dragged him over the side of the sluice with him. Together the two fell into the water of the mill race."

In falling Foster uttered a shrill scream. The two boys struck the sluice almost together. Fairhurst, on rising to the surface, struck out for the wheel, which was revolving with the rush of the water on its paddles, while Foster tried to grip the spokes.

But help was at hand. From out the mill Julian came rushing, and springing on to the gangway leading across the sluice realized in a moment what had happened.

There was only one thing to be done—to shut off the water that was pouring through the sluice. In a few seconds the rush of the water ceased and the wheel came to a standstill.

This naturally brought out some of the mill hands, who were at a loss to understand why the machinery of the mill had been stopped so abruptly. On realising the situation, however, they all played their part in rescuing the two boys from the mill-race.

Foster, who like his companion in misfortune, was little the worse for his ducking, would have decamped with all speed, but the Scouts laid some gentle hands on him.

"No you don't," said Fairhurst. "You're not going to get off so easily. To begin with you did your best to drown me, and secondly, Julian and I would like to go through your pockets."

The color left Foster's face. Quick as lightning he put his hands into his pockets and pulled out a sodden envelope. This he would have flung away, but the boys were too quick for him. Fairhurst snatched it out of his hand, and, opening the envelope drew forth a sheet of paper upon which was a number of closely written sentences.

"Look at this, Julian," he said quickly. "Is your German as good as this? 'Hullo, it looks as if the schemes worked all right,' and he pointed to an approaching knot of figures, consisting of four Scouts and four burly police constables, who were escorting two men towards the mill."

"I have sent for you," he was saying to the boy, "because now that Foster has confessed, I should like you to hear the story of how it was discovered what were his real intentions at the school. It is now several years since a man came to me with rather a strange proposition. Here the doctor described his interview with the mysterious stranger which we need not repeat, as it is already familiar to us."

London, July 5—The peking correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., says that the advance of the northern and southern republican army, under Tuan Chi-wei, the former premier, and general Feng Kwo Chang, the former vice-president, respectively has commenced. They are moving towards Peking. The situation, the despatch adds, is considered grave.

Proverbs. Did you ever wonder who makes proverbs? whether someone says a bright witty saying and another person repeats it and so it goes until after years it becomes dignified by the name of a proverb and worthy to be put in a book of quotations away at the back? The author never gets any credit unless he is a Solomon. Perhaps some unknown woman is responsible for some of these sayings. They sound as if they might be the result of a woman's experience at times.

Here are a few to be hunted while hunting for a quotation in a fat volume of a reference library. You can imagine for yourself whether a man or a woman originated the saying. "One chick keeps the hen busy." "We all know 'the only child.'" "Whiles the hawk has and alies he-hunger has."

LOYALIST CHAPTER, I.O.D.E.

With three more of their members going overseas this chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, has every reason to congratulate itself on the glances desire to take an active part in what should be foremost in every woman's mind—war work.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting, held in their rooms on German St. Mrs. MacKay, the regent, was in the chair. It was reported that $212 had been realized from the sale of magazines in three months; $350 came from the sale of the special editions of the Buffalo Sunday Times.

The chapter will co-operate with the N. B. Kennel Association in a dog show to be held in October. Various committees were appointed to arrange matters for this event. A report was given of the provincial meeting held at Fredericton and Mrs. MacKay told of the meeting of the national executive, at which she was present in Toronto, and of which she has been appointed a member.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS GUILD.

CROCKETT IN THE CHAIR.

Miss Pritchard acted as secretary in the place of Mrs. F. S. Carter who is visiting in Toronto.

It was decided to send out circulars to every member of the order asking that talent money should be raised through the summer to be presented at a reunion to be held at Thanksgiving. In the Autumn a picnic and jam shower will be given for the benefit of the Guild and later in the season as a means of raising money a Rummage Sale will be arranged by members.

As so much money is given to Patriotic causes it was felt that extra sacrifices must be made by all members this year.

The Guild on Chipman Hill has twelve permanent boarders and lately a number of transients have been accommodated there.

The order will begin work with renewed vigor in the fall.

IMPERIAL

"The Hawk"—"The Great Secret."

"The Hawk" was a gambler, and not even a gambler who played fair, yet rightly or wrongly our sympathies are with him from the opening of this Greater Vitaphone picture. Perhaps it is that Earle Williams makes such an attractive hero or perhaps it is that the Hawk is contrasted with Rene, a man who deliberately makes love to the gambler's wife.

The story is adapted from a French one and is decidedly Frenchy in both plot and sub-titles. It is also very foreign in the way that love-making is apparently done in the presence of other people and almost makes one feel embarrassed that one adds another to the crowd.

It is a well acted, well put on picture, but is rather unpleasant in that of the three chief characters none are admirable—the husband who uses his wife as a decoy for his gambling table, the wife who allows herself to be persuaded to cheat, and the man who breaks a young girl's heart in order that he may be free to make love to a married woman.

The wife repents at the close of the picture and leaves for a new land with her reformed husband.

Earle Williams is of course splendid as the Hawk, Ethel Terry is good as the wife, and Denton Vane has the part of the Frenchman. A fine looking character and well dressed for the part is Julia Swayne Gordon, as the French mother, to whom nothing mattered except the happiness of her son.

"The Great Secret."

In a room in the very heart of the financial district of New York "The Secret Seven" is holding its regular meeting. A square-jawed man, with closely-cropped mustache and glittering gray eyes, presides. He is the Great Master, a brilliant blackguard of mystery, cynical, sneering and bitter toward all men, who possess a great secret affecting his criminal band, by means of which he rules his underlings with a brutal genius.

MARKET AT LOW LEVEL OF SEASON

Heavy Offerings of Important Stocks—Market Rallies Towards Close—Rails and Metals Steady.

New York, July 6.—The short interest, which seems to have reached formidable proportions indulged in further determined efforts to depress quoted values today. For a time heavy offerings of important stocks forced the list to the lowest levels of the present movement, the decline being aided by greater weakness in speculative issues long under critical observation.

Prices rebounded quite generally in the greatly reduced dealings of the last half of the session, many leaders finishing at net gains.

In the main, however, the outcome was without significance because of the market's ultra professional character.

Various stocks, particularly those dealing with the question of excess profits and war taxes, again tended to restrain public interest. Labor problems and the undefined attitude of the administration towards general industries also served to check constructive operations.

General Motors Heavy.

Automobiles stock furnished more than their usual quota to the day's moderate turn-over, the status of that industry, according to trade authorities, finding reflection in the heaviness of the better known issues, notably General Motors.

All the prominent equipments were firm to strong at times, but forfeited their gains when selling became extensive. United States Steel and kindred shares improved on covering of short contracts and Industrial Alcohol gained over five points at its best for much the same reason.

Rails Are Steady.

Rails pursued a narrow but steady course, responding to such support as developed at irregular intervals. Metals were steady despite the expansion of labor troubles, but shipping stocks backward or heavy on intimations of an early regulation of American vessels by the federal authorities, but rallied on the general upward tendency which marked the close. Sales amounted to 590,000 shares.

Additional gold imports of $6,500,000 were again partially neutralized by exports of about $2,400,000 to Spain and South America. Sterling was strong and francs rallied from yesterday's heaviness.

Trading in bonds was irregular on diminished dealings in Internationals. Liberty three and a half's ranged from par to 109.3-50.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,725,000.

DOMINION WAR LOANS IMPROVE IN MONTREAL

$364,600 of Third Loan Changes Hands, Advancing 3-8 to 94 1-2—Tram Power and Quebec Weak.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, July 6.—Business was slightly more active on the Montreal Stock Exchange today with a larger number of issues contributing to trading, but price fluctuations continued narrow and irregular and general conditions were unchanged. Early heaviness in the New York list was a restraining influence, but hardly an important one as occasional rallies in that market were not reflected to any degree in prices here.

Further improvement in Dominion war loans was one encouraging development of the day. The last loan finished with a net gain of 3/4 at 94 1/2, the second was 1/2 higher at 94 1/2, and the first firm at 97 1/2. The third was most active of the three with turnover of $384,600, par value.

Scotia Steel was the most active stock, about 300 shares being dealt in with the price unchanged at 97 1/2 throughout. Rights to the new issue were traded in for the first time with the price 85 cents. Of other steel issues Dominion was a shade firmer at 60 1/2, Steel of Canada sold off 1/4 to 57 1/2. A two-point gain for Converters at 42 and a one-point gain for Laurentide at 171 were among the few changes in the industrials.

Steamship common, which was among the more active stocks in the balance of the list, was steady around 43 1/2 to 43 3/4. Tram Power at 37 1/2 and Quebec at 18 sold at new low prices for the year. Quebec rallied a point later.

Apart from the war loans the only feature in bonds was a decline of 3/4 to 57 in Quebec Railway 5's, a new low for the year.

BOND MARKET IS FLAT AT THE PRESENT TIME

Several Municipalities Refused All Bids, Including Amherst—No Bids for Winnipeg Water Loan.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, July 6.—The Monetary Times today commenting on the bond market of June says:

"The features of June bond market were comparatively few offerings, the refusal of all bids by several municipalities and the offer of two large bond issues without the attraction of a single bid."

Strict economy on the part of municipalities, the review continues, is partly responsible for the sparse offerings of municipal issues, and the prevailing market conditions are preventing many municipalities from entering the market at this time.

Several municipalities have tested the strength of the local investment conditions, selling their bonds to investors in the district. A number of municipalities last month refused all offers received for their bonds, among them being Amherst, N. S.

Regarding the outlook the review says:

"It is possible that municipalities who refuse to accept prevailing prices for their bonds will regret that action. A bid of 91 1/2 was received for the $48,000 five per cent. bonds of Amherst, but this and two other bids were refused, the city council stating their unwillingness to consider an offer less than 94 and interest. The best financial advice to our municipalities is that they should accept the highest bid received under prevailing conditions. The outlook in the money market is that market conditions are not likely to change for the better for some time to come."

BIG BULL MARKET IN WALL ST. INADVISABLE

This is Opinion of London Banking Interests—Russian Situation Looked Upon More Favorably.

(McDOUGALL & COWANS).

New York, July 6.—A leading national bank interest says the shortage of labor has had the effect of causing manufacturers not only abroad but in the United States to install every possible labor saving device. It is pointed out that this machinery is going to meet the labor shortage after the war in a very surprising manner.

Far seeing investors are reported to be giving careful attention to the Russian situation. Their deductions up to this writing are very favorable. The huge Russian equipment orders followed by the report that American interests are to be given mine developments control and the resumption of Russian offensives against Germany are understood to have turned banking attention to this field in a broader and more aggressive way.

A feature of the market in light of ferings of leading standard stocks. Special advice column statements to the effect that both high grade rail and industrial stocks in a small supply for such investors. Studebaker's rally has had the effect of concentrating attention away from that group to equipment stocks. London banking interests are quoted as saying that it would be inadvisable at the present time to promote a big bull market on the New York stock exchange. They express great admiration for the manner in which the federal reserve interests have handled the new currency system.

New York, July 6.—Irregularity and spotty liquidation is expected temporarily. Professionals are offering down stock and are reaching stop loss orders because of the unsettledness brought by the persistent weakness of St. Paul and Studebaker. Peace talk in being circulated by this element, which is making capital also of the copper strikes, price fixing and the war taxation muddle at Washington. Most of the selling is for short account and the buying is mainly scaled down and the whole market is highly professional because of the absence of many leaders from the street on holidays.

WALL ST. AT SEA AS TO COURSE OF THE MARKET

(McDOUGALL & COWANS).

New York, July 6.—In this afternoon prices worked gradually up from the low level of the day with strength showing chiefly in a few specialties like U. S. Steel, Republic Steel and Crucible is noted.

Well informed copper interests hold that notwithstanding the somewhat lower prices for copper metal higher operating costs and increased taxation, the copper companies will be able to make a better showing than any other group of stock during the present year.

Conservative sources are of the opinion that while Washab "A" may not be advanced to 5 p.m. in the near future, as recently asked, the four p.c. dividend is safe and any improvement in earnings beyond present revenues may well be followed by higher prices for the stock in anticipation of an increased dividend rate.

Buying "HOME PRODUCTS" A Full "DINNER PAIL"
 Means

"PATRONAGE OF HOME PRODUCTS IS THE WORKINGMAN'S BEST INSURANCE."
 No matter what your position in life may be, when you spend money for goods made at home you save directly the freight on the article purchased and indirectly you are benefited by the money being kept at home. No matter who you are or what you do, some of the benefits of the dollars spent for home products filter down to you. It is good insurance for the working man to buy goods made at home. This policy universally practiced insures steady employment at good wages—means improved working conditions, and a happier more prosperous community as a whole. It means better education for the children, a greater opportunity for them when they become bread winners. So the support that you give the concerns located here brings you back prosperity, success and happiness. Not only in a spirit of so-called selfishness, but moved by local patriotism, every purchaser should give his preference in every case to articles of domestic production. Buy some thing of local manufacture today.

THE CONSCRIPTION VOTE.

The Government's measure for compulsory military service would pass its second reading in the House of Commons was expected and the majority of sixty-three is just about what was predicted as the probable figure. After the first half dozen outstanding Liberals had announced their intention of voting for aid to the boys in the trenches in preference to supporting the senseless referendum proposal of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Quebec friends any doubt as to the fate of the bill disappeared.

Yesterday's voting Quebec alone furnished a majority for the anti-conscriptionists. In the other provinces they secured but ten votes, which, with Quebec's forty-five, gave them their total. New Brunswick came next in opposition to the measure, three Liberal members from this province casting their votes for Laurier. Ontario and Nova Scotia each gave two votes, while the western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia gave but two in all. In other words, west of the Great Lakes the Laurier referendum found but two supporters.

The Government measure found its greatest support in Ontario, where fifty-eight votes were cast for it. The West went very strongly conscription, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and the Yukon lining up solidly. Of thirteen votes cast by representatives from Manitoba and Alberta, eleven were for conscription. The Maritime Provinces also did well, supplying fifteen conscriptionists out of twenty-one votes cast.

An analysis of the vote in connection with the results gained by voluntary enlistment is decidedly interesting as it shows that the representatives of those provinces which, in proportion to their allotment, have sent the greatest number of men to the front as voluntary recruits were most decided in favor of conscription. This is not surprising as it has been felt from the first that even in the event of a referendum every man in Canada whose blood is represented on the Empire's fighting lines would vote for the plan which will come nearest to giving an absolute equality of service.

After the bill had passed its second reading the House lost no time in taking it up in the committee stage. Advances from Ottawa are to the effect that this work was actually commenced yesterday afternoon and will be proceeded with today. There is likely to be prolonged discussion in committee, as the enemies of the bill will leave nothing undone to obstruct and, if possible, defeat it, but their efforts will be fruitless.

THE ARTFUL DODGER.

Mr. William Pugsley whose opposition to conscription was one of the features of the recent debate in the House of Commons demonstrated yesterday that the appellation "Slippery William," sometimes applied to him, was bestowed for cause.

In the debate on the measure he was outspoken in his advocacy of the Laurier referendum. He grasped at the entrance of the United States as an excuse for Canada slackening her war effort, and expressed the opinion that with our new ally there need be less concern for the safety of Canadians already in the trenches. When it came to a vote, however, he was not so sure of his ground. He first announced that he was paired with a member from Ontario. Then he voted against the Barrett sub-amendment. On the Laurier proposal he did not vote, but announced that if he had not been paired he would have supported it. On the original motion he neither voted nor declared himself.

This is typical of Mr. Pugsley. His whole public career has been characterized by a desire to twist and turn and wriggle and squirm from one position to another, but always, like the cat in the story, making a desperate effort to land on his feet. Even when considering a question of such vital importance as the one voted on yesterday he could not resist his temptation to squirm. Why he so suddenly subsided after his wordy statement in the Telegraph, his speech in the debate and his later effort to burke the whole discussion cannot be stated definitely but it is possible that he had heard from St. John in the period between his speech and his vote.

Mr. Pugsley's acrobatics will not serve him. By his own speech, and by an interview in the newspaper, the editorial policy of which he controlled, he opposed conscription, and showed himself to be willing that the boys at the front might look in vain for help until the proposal to aid them had been passed from one end of the country to the other by means of a referendum. By now he should know that the people of his constituency will hold him to account. Mr. Pugsley as a political factor has ceased to exist. But even in the days of his political extinction he continues to be the artful dodger of Canadian politics.

THE PUZZLED TIMES.

The esteemed Times, in its editorial on conscription last evening, was pathetic and at the same time humorous, though, possibly unconsciously so. After reciting that the measure passed its second reading it announces that the Liberals who supported it did not vote merely for conscription of men. Yet the bill passed yesterday, dealt with conscription of men and nothing else, and those Liberals who put patriotism ahead of partisanship and supported it knew exactly what they voted for. The Times cannot excuse the defection of from twenty to twenty-six of the most prominent men in the Liberal party by the statement that they had something else in their minds when they decided to oppose the leader.

It also expresses the fear that "some Quebec members will put obstacles in the way of speedy action." Exactly, and it is doubtless particularly interesting to know that the leader of these obstructionists is none other than its old friend and political idol, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

After thus lecturing the Liberal friends the Times passes on to give gratuitous advice to Sir Robert Borden. It says his "course is plain, if he has the courage to take it; and it is to facilitate the formation of a cabinet which will command the confidence of the country," as it fears "conscription cannot be successfully enforced by a partisan government." As to the first matter the Premier can be trusted to do what is necessary. That he has already endeavored to get away from the idea of partisan coalition is evidenced by his offer of coalition to Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the basis of an even division of responsibility and authority. Conscription was the foundation of that proposal and Sir Wilfrid refused it. Now that the measure has been carried to committee, despite the bitter opposition of the Liberal leader aided by the Pugsleys and Oliveres and Leminas of the party, does the Times think the offer should be repeated? If not, what does it suggest that the Premier should do?

Our esteemed contemporary is in the peculiar position, of a man who tries to serve two masters. Previous to the conscription question arising, its owners decreed that it should render an unquestioning support to Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Carvell. For a time that course was clear as the pair trotted well in double harness. But at the conscription fork in the political road they separated. Mr. Carvell supports the Government measure, while Dr. Pugsley opposes. How to hold both is the problem that now vexes the Times, and it is a problem calculated to test the ability of even such a practiced political acrobat as the editor of that journal. Like the young man with two sweethearts, our friend is in a quandry. He could be so "happy with either, were 'tother dear charmer away."

THE BIG WIND AGAIN.

The big wind of the Tantramar, Mr. Alphabet Copp, almost allowed the conscription debate at Ottawa to pass without projecting himself into the limelight. Almost—but not quite. During the progress of the debate, while other Liberals of far more value to their party and the country than the gentleman from Westmorland were coming boldly forward and stating their views, Mr. Copp sat silent—for him a most unusual proceeding. However, yesterday morning, after the speaking was supposed to have concluded, and the vote had actually been taken on the Barrett sub-amendment, he arose. He had a plan to obstruct the measure and attempted to put it into execution by offering an amendment to the effect that the conscription process should be withheld until arrangements were made to increase the remuneration to the soldiers and, until, under the new condition, another attempt had been made at voluntary recruiting.

Mr. Copp's amendment was such as no one but Mr. Copp would undertake to advance and it received the scant consideration it deserved. The situation today is far too serious to permit the wasting of time by small-bore back benches is politics.

The present Canadian rules were framed in the year 1906. They have since that time, but they are undoubtedly not suited to meet present day conditions, railroad men declare. It is claimed that consignees in Canada

SHAMROCKS DEFEATED DEVEN'S AGGREGATION IN LAST NIGHT'S GAME

The Score Stood 8-4 at End of Fifth—Knudson Pitched Good Ball for Shamrocks—"Mugy" Gets Two Bagger.

Brainy pitching by Knudson, heavy whalloping by McIntyre, Butler and Murphy, and frequent fumbles by Mullan, conspired to paint victory upon the McIntyre pennant last night in St. Peter's League. At no time after the first inning, were the Shamrocks in danger of losing the game. The score ended 8-4. During the first inning both teams managed to score a couple of things that count. In the second the Shamrocks stopped ahead of their opponents by three scores, and to this was added three more in the third and fourth innings. The Thistles did make a faint attempt to rally in the fifth, but were only successful in making two runs, thus bringing their total up to four. The last two runs scored by the Thistles were never had made had "Mugy" used little bit of the grey baseball matter which is supposed to be contained in his head. He made two bad throws which might have proved disastrous had the score been a little closer.

Knudson was the man of the hour. His cool, steady and deliberate twirling was a feature of the game. Unfortunately he did not receive the support he should have, as several of the Shamrocks were either a little bit off or were too lazy to field the ball. Kelly, for instance, had anything but active in the field. This mode of playing is not going to take many fans very far out of their way to see a game. When a player puts on a uniform, the least he can do is show some snap and pop. The length of time it takes the fielders to get in on the bench is a crime. In other leagues many times larger than the North End one, the players run in from the outfield, but the boys of St. Peter's seem to think that it is a part of the game to take their time. Kelly, if he is to be hoped that in future games all of the players will show a little more life when on the diamond. If it is necessary for the men to sleep, the gates should be secured for the night. The box score follows:

U. S. IMPORTS FROM EUROPE DECREASE.

The falling off in May of imports from Europe, received at the port of New York, is attributed to the submarine activity, scarcity of raw materials and shortage of labor.

The total imports last month from all the world also fell off when compared with the preceding month, while European entries were noticeably less than those of May 1916, despite the fact that practically every import item sold abroad at a higher price last month than in the corresponding period one year ago.

REVISED DEMURRAGE RULES NEEDED IN CANADA
Judging from the opposition at the recent hearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners to the proposed revision of the existing car demurrage rules, applicable to Canada, it is evident, railroad men state, that the consignees of traffic coming from points in the United States, particularly coal, do not realize how acute is the situation which exists today in car supply and transportation.

Ottawa, July 5 (Lensed wire)—The report of the special trade commission appointed last year to consider ways and means of improving Canadian trade conditions and opportunities in Great Britain, France and Italy, was presented to parliament today by the minister of trade and commerce. The commissioners who spent considerable time in Europe last year included W. Frank Hatheway, of St. John, with Roy Campbell, of Montreal as secretary. Their report deals in considerable detail with the transportation question and the post-war opportunities for Canadian trade in Europe. Their main recommendation is for co-operative action by the Canadian and Imperial governments for a radical re-organization of trans-Atlantic transportation. The report also urges government action towards stimulating shipbuilding in Canada.

MEASURABLE SCENE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS WHEN COMPULSION NOTE TAKEN

It was by this time nearly four o'clock. The members were tired and sleepy, impatient and peevish. The speaker had difficulty in keeping order, after Sir Robert Borden had replied briefly, showing that Mr. Copp's amendment was simply a dilatory and obstructive measure, and that he would not accept it.

Oliver Grouchy.
Hon. Frank Oliver took the floor. He was evidently in bad humor and when it became apparent that he was on a filibustering expedition he met with a stormy reception from the Conservative members. He was frequently interrupted, and the more he was interrupted the angrier he became.
On several occasions the chamber was in an uproar, and it looked at one time as if the proceedings would break up in disorder. The speaker finally succeeded in calming the house, although Dr. Molloy, who followed, had also a stormy passage. Sir Herbert Ames disposed of Mr. Oliver's statements by showing that they were in fact accurate.
It was a quarter to five o'clock when the division bell rang for the vote on the Copp filibustering amendment. It was defeated by 115 to 66 or a majority of 59.

The Main Division.
Then came the main division on the motion for second reading, the result of which has already been noted. It was a big night in parliament, one of the biggest in the memory of the old parliamentarians. It is a noteworthy fact that several hundred people sat patiently in the galleries from eight o'clock in the evening to five in the morning waiting for the division. It was worth all the trouble. There was a gathering of members of parliament such as not seen for years. Members who had not been in the buildings since the fire turned up. It is rumored that some turned up by instinct to Parliament Hill, forgetting that the house now sits in the Victoria Museum on McLeod street. The absentees were few.
The final day of the debate was unduly prolonged. It had been proposed by the party whigs that a division

Give Me a Chance to Cure Your Rheumatism FREE

Mr. Delano took his own medicine. It cured his rheumatism after he had suffered tortures for thirty-six years. He spent thousands of dollars before he discovered the remedy that cured him, but I will give you the benefit of his experience for nothing.
If you suffer from rheumatism let me send you a package of this remedy absolutely free. Don't send any money. I want to give it to you. I want you to see for yourself what it will do. The picture shows how rheumatism twists and distorts the bones. Maybe you are suffering the same way. Don't. You do not need to. I have the remedy that I believe will cure you and it's yours for the asking. Write me today. F. H. Delano, 786-C, Delano Building, Syracuse, New York, and I will send you a free package the very day I get your letter.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercurio-iodine. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. It is actually absorbed by the skin. One ounce of mercurio-iodine is sufficient to completely remove a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.
As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good skin-protecting lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered salicylic acid in 1 pt. witch hazel. Rub the face in the morning, the best of the day or before going out for the day. It will remove the remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.

Winnisquam, N. H., July 5.—Mrs. Frank Woodward of South Alexandria was killed and seven others injured, one fatally, in an automobile accident here. The car in which they were riding was struck on a crossing by a Boston and Maine southbound express.

Social Notes of the Week

A cable was received this week from the Canadian General Hospital, England, stating that the condition of Lieut. Harold O. Evans was favorable. Lt. Evans received severe wounds on June 3rd and was reported missing for some days. Naturally his friends in St. John have been very anxious but feel he is now on the road to recovery.

ROTHESAY

Rothestay, July 6.—The attendance at the Red Cross meeting on Tuesday was large and the monthly report for June read by the secretary, Miss Muriel Robertson interesting and satisfactory. There was some discussion in regard to the holding of another picnic late similar to those of the past two years, and a meeting to arrange for the conduct of the affair at a special meeting of committees called for by the president, Mrs. John H. Thomson; this was held last evening (Wednesday) in the Sunday school house, July 5. The date was set for Saturday, July 7, but the grounds are not yet decided. Tuesday's afternoon tea was in charge of Miss Pitcher and Miss Gossage. One hundred dollars was voted toward the fund for the wounded French soldiers in hospitals of France and $100 sent to Canadian headquarters for general hospital supplies. Mrs. W. S. Allison presided at the 'shop' table. 'That four of our Rothestay young ladies have been chosen for service overseas is a matter of pride to the community. The names of Misses Purdy, Miss Jean Daniel, Miss Anna MacKeen and Miss Dorothea MacKeen, members of the V.A.D., who, with many others, responded to the appeal of the Red Cross, to assist the trainees in the naval and military hospitals overseas. Nine of the war nurses accepted. Miss Alice Wilson, who with her parents, Hon. J. E. and Mrs. Wilson, have their summer home at Fair Vale, is also among the accepted. While most of the girls regret their going from home, they will be accompanied by the very best of good wishes from all. Mr. and Mrs. James F. Robertson left this morning (Thursday) for Portland and expect to visit different pleasure resorts along the Maine coast. Miss Mabel Thomson and Miss Rowland are planning to enjoy a few weeks at their suburban home at Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ritchie and little Miss Mary, came from St. John and of last week. Also last week, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Campbell and family arrived from the city at their summer cottage, Fair Vale. Mrs. Louis W. Barker and little daughter, Phyllis, are among the guests at the Kennedy House. In honor of Miss Edith Hegan of St. John, recently returned from nursing in a Russian hospital, Mrs. Simpson entertained informally at a small luncheon on Thursday at her summer residence, Rothestay Park. Wild flowers, attractively arranged, decorated the table and room. Guests present were Miss Edith Hegan, Miss Alice Hegan, Mrs. L. W. Barker, Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mrs. Harry Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Frank Fairweather and little Miss Lois Fairweather, of St. John, are now at their summer home here. Mrs. Fred Crosby and children left a few days ago for Dixby. After a short stay in the St. John hospital, Rev. Canon Daniel came home by automobile on Saturday. That he is still in good health is good news to his many friends. Having arrived Wednesday last week Mr. Fred Longley and his bride are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McNeil, N. S., spent part of Tuesday and Wednesday in Rothestay with Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. Everybody is glad again to see Miss Gertrude Davidson, who arrived a few days ago from Boston to visit her mother and sister, Mrs. W. J. and Alice Davidson. Captain (Dr.) W. A. McVeigh has planned a good time for members of the 8th Field Ambulance and friends on his grounds on the shore of Rothestay Park, Saturday afternoon. May the weather man smile upon the project and give the men a real fine day. The mission study class met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. J. Davidson and began the study of Wm. Carey's life. It was a very interesting session. Hamilton Cochrane, a wounded hero returned from the front, was warmly welcomed at Gondola Point.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous for children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, dysentery and jaundice, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond all help before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Apoahqui, July 6.—The closing exercises of the Apoahqui Superior school took place on the afternoon of the 6th, when a large representation of the parents and interested friends of the pupils assembled to show their appreciation of the untiring efforts of the teachers, and also enjoy the programme so capably carried through. Much credit is reflected on the teachers, Miss Jeanne McBeath and Miss Martha McVey, for the very excellent work accomplished by the scholars, shown by the unusual high averages made by the pupils. In the advanced department Helen Adeline Jones made the highest average mark for the year's work and thus won a place for her name on the "Nelson Shield," while in the primary department Elsie Northrup won the highest mark with the termination of the scholastic year came the usual exodus and influx of teachers and students. Among those returning to their homes here were:—The Misses Annie Armstrong from Sackville, Bessie Mc-

Knight from Lake Edward, Bessie Ryder Lutz Mountain, Georgie Chambers Smithtown, Ethel Gilchrist Holderville, Annie Parise Drury's Cove, Mildred McAfee from Fredericton and Freda Robinson and Florence Vail. Geo. B. Jones M. L. A. and Mrs. Jones, returned last week from a two weeks visit to New York. Mrs. Bradley and Miss Bradley of Bellisle spent a few days of this week with Mrs. Northrup. Mrs. W. F. White of Stettler, Alta, who has been the guest of her sister

Mrs. Geo. H. Gregg, left last week to visit relatives at Petticoat and Prince Edward Island, before returning to her home in the west. Many congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Urquhart on July 4th when it left a baby daughter in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Parise and daughter Hazel spent the weekend and holiday at Young's Cove. Mrs. L. A. of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erb. Mrs. I. D. Pearson returned on Sunday from a pleasant visit with her sister Mrs. A. M. Floyd of Barnesville. Master Milan Floyd accompanied Mrs. Pearson home and is spending part of his vacation here. G. Fred Erb of the Canadian Engineers left last week for St. John's, to take up military training for the front. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burgess spent Wednesday in St. John. Mrs. F. S. Small, Miss Grace Small and Master Harold Small of Montreal, have been spending a week with friends here. Miss Margaret Mills and Master Lawrence Mills of Sussex, are spending a week with their grandmother Mrs. John Maccheater. Mrs. Harley S. Jones, accompanied by her guest Mrs. F. S. Small were guests of Rev. L. H. and Mrs. Jewett at the Methodist Parsonage, Berwick, on Wednesday of this week. Miss Alice Chambers spent the holiday with her friend Miss Grace Murray, Penobscia. W. E. Cooper, St. John, spent Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Connelly. Miss Lena G. Fenwick has returned to her summer home here, after a few weeks stay in Fredericton. For the week-end and holiday Miss Fenwick had as guest her uncle, Capt. Owen of St. John. L. Y. Urquhart spent the holiday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. D. Urquhart of Hattfields Point. E. B. Kyles of Fort Fairfield, Maine, and Hamilton Kyles of Alma, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Connelly for the holiday. Mr. and Mrs. A. McClary and party of St. John were holiday guests of L. C. Musgrove and the Misses Musgrove, Lower Millstream. An official telegram from Ottawa was received on Sunday 1st, by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McAfee, stating that their son Lieut. R. E. McAfee was wounded, with no further particulars. Lieut. McAfee crossed overseas in March 1916, having enlisted at Ottawa with an Engineering Co., being a graduate of McGill in 1900. This is the second time Lieut. McAfee has been wounded, his previous injury having been in the face and nose and was comparatively of a minor though painful nature and from which he had completely recovered. His relatives and friends are anxiously waiting for further news, with hopes that his condition may not be exceedingly serious. Private Arthur McAfee of the Seige Battery, who is also in active service is a brother of Lieut. McAfee. Mrs. E. R. Fokins of Centreville met with a most distressing accident last week, when she fell from her carriage and suffered a fracture of the collar bone in addition to a severe shaking up and in consequence is confined to her home. Her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery. A very successful and pleasant lawn party was held on the beautiful grounds surrounding the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carruthers on Friday afternoon of last week when despite the rather unfavorable weather many enjoyed the sport and games. Delicious refreshments were served and $35.00 was taken in for Patriotic purposes. Mrs. Isaac Gambin, Miss Della, and Master Murray Gambin are spending a few weeks at Mrs. Gambin's old home at Pleasant Ridge. Geo. Lutz, Moncton was a week-end and holiday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marks Sumner, spent the holiday with Mrs. Marks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Hicks,

How the War Can Be Won From the Skies

Tremendous plans are now being formed to deliver a crippling blow at Germany's military efficiency, not only "putting out her eyes," but spreading havoc by aerial armadas numbered by thousands. Vast sums are to be spent for the establishment of an American air fleet on a colossal scale, and training-schools for air pilots are beginning to spring up like mushrooms over night.

During the past three years, there has been in Europe not only a vast development of the art of flying, but a specific evolution of the allied art of the aerial duello.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for July 7th, one of the most interesting articles is a translation from the French of Oscar Ribet, Chief Instructor in a French "School of Pilotage." This article explains in much detail, the tactics of air fighting. It is illustrated by sketches which visualize the tactics of pursuit, offense, and defence.

There are many other features of unusual interest in "The Digest" this week, among which are:

A World-Tour In An Observation-Car

Those of us who have traveled to any extent are familiar with that luxury of the tourist, the observation car. It enables the voyager to obtain a clear view of all parts of the landscape through which he is passing. Its windows open impartially upon every side. It affords a panorama of the country to right and left, of the pass ahead and of the long trail winding out behind. It shows you mountain and plain, river and sea, green fields and smoky towns, and you are free to decide which of all these you prefer. There is no compulsion, no touting. Your judgment is completely unbiassed. Through the world of events THE LITERARY DIGEST travels in precisely the same manner, giving its readers an unbiased view of all questions, all ideas, all diversities of thought. Here, as in the observation car, you are free to decide upon your likings. You are simply given a broad view of the facts. The decision rests solely with yourself.

Eastport, Me., July 5.—The advisory board of the National Cannery Association, sardine section, met here today to consider the action to be taken by the Eastern Maine sardine cannars on the request of President Wilson, that every possible effort be made to increase the pack of canned goods and to reserve supplies for the government.

As herring is scarce at the present time and unusually high prices are asked for fish by the New Brunswick weir owners, the sardine packers are not anxious to handle more fish than they have to. It is doubtful if the pack will be much larger unless fish are more plentiful, but it is understood stocks will be reserved for the government.

A New Wonderfully Balanced Six Sturdy Light Weight—Abundant Power

This announces a brand new development in Sixes.

Here it is at last!

A popular priced Light Six with weight and power in scientific balance.

Think what that means.

Economy and durability in combination with six cylinder advantages at last—an accomplished fact.

Don't ask any more why you can't get a durable light weight six with real six cylinder performance.

You can—it's this new Willys Six.

By scientific designing with the aid of our great experience in building Sixes, we have produced a lighter car without sacrificing sturdiness.

Its forty-five horsepower motor, combined with its light weight, makes it a wonderful performer.

Quick as a flash on the getaway; speedy; surprisingly economical, yet with worlds of power and the sturdiness to support it.

Think what this means figured—in greater gasoline economy—in additional tire mileage—in an easier car to handle.

Now let us demonstrate the wonderful performance of the New

Willys Six—we want you to sense what this new balance between power and weight means in an economical, durable light Six.

We want you to know, too, what a wonder the New Willys Six is from the standpoint of easy riding and easy handling.

Also we want you to know what a beautiful car it is—long, sweeping, graceful lines—one of the year's most advanced models—a perfect beauty.

And the price!—$1815 complete!

It's the Six you've longed for—come in and see it now—before we are loaded with orders for more Willys Sixes than we can get.

VERT GREA Austin A. Gives About Product

A most interesting visitor is at present in Austin A. Briggs, visiting manager of The Dunlop Co. of Toronto. Mr. Briggs is the big gun among the ad men in Canada and the position he occupies with our country's largest advertising agent is a most eloquent proof of his ability and for initiative.

A few minutes' conversation with The Standard reveals that Mr. Briggs has a wonderful edge of his country and of its possibilities for trade expansion. In regard to his country's progress, he is most optimistic. He holds the position Mr. Briggs is not a man; he does not believe in advertising campaigns behind his back. He spends a large part of his time visiting the numerous branches and thereby an intimate acquaintance is made with the possibilities of the community. Then with such security at first hand he is able to carry out a successful advertising campaign in some new territory and the fresh lustre to the name of Dunlop is secured at first hand.

Mr. Briggs' travels take him coast to coast and last fall an extensive trip north as far as covering a distance of some over 10,000 miles. In 1910 as a member of the J. K. Cornwall expedition, he was in the north as the Arctic Circle. His present trip Mr. Briggs is making in Canada and is devoted to those who are interested in the far north. He is most enthusiastic about the conditions here and predicts a great future for the Maritime Provinces. He intends to make sure that the company does not miss any opportunity in its prosperity.

Good Roads a Pet Subject
Rubber tires is one of the chief interests of the Dunlop firm and Mr. Briggs is greatly interested in road conditions wherever he travels. He believes that on the condition of highways depends the commerce of any community without which he is apt to tell you that the roads can withstand the ravages of any road.

Mr. Briggs who was chairman of the E. R. Fenwick, Division of the Company, at the local office, 88 Canterbury street, has questioned regarding some of the inner history of the Dunlop Co. The Daily Standard representative then questioned Mr. Briggs as to the scope and extent of the Company's operations.

Dunlop the Pioneers.
"I understand that the Dunlop name is the pioneer of the industry in Canada."
"That is correct," said Mr. Briggs. "It is true that in following the originality in featuring the 'your Company' were unexcelled means of causing the Government to enact a special statute on 'tag'."

"What you refer to is the story over by the Dunlop Company years ago. Our people evolved the idea of stamping a number on the trademark. Whenever was returned the successful idea was given an honorarium. The idea created so much interest that the Canadian Government shut down on it, and put the statute making it impossible to such a scheme in the future. show you how the 'Two Hands' been secured on the minds of people, eight years after the distance of the contest, the Dunlop company received a letter from a small town in Quebec, signed by one of the special five cent longest to us. You can imagine large a pair of hands would common five cent piece, who hands were imprinted into clear of all words and borders while man, living in a district, would no direct advertising, for what the mark meant and who longed to.

Widening of Trademark
"While we are on this subject may not be amiss to note that all the 'Two Hands' mark slogan. These are 'The Only You'll Need', the reference to the Dunlop idea of quick detection in bicycle tires. After years of advertising in Canada, until the 'Hands' became known as the known trademark in the country.

SENTRY DID HIS DUTY, SAY JURY AT THE HAMM INQUEST

Private Arseneault Exonerated—Released on Order of Magistrate—Important Testimony Presented at Coroner Kenney's Court Shows Shooting Unavoidable.

"We the jury empaneled to inquire into the death of the late Lance Corporal Walter Scott Hamm find that the said Lance Corporal Walter Scott Hamm came to his death at the General Public Hospital on July 5th, 1917, following a hemorrhage from wounds caused by a .303 bullet fired from the rifle of Private Hermany Arseneault while on sentry at the magazine on Fort Howe, while in performance of his duty, and

"We find that the sentry used poor judgment in firing and that the discipline of the guard was poor."

Such was the verdict of Coroner Kenney's jury at last evening's inquest, following more than an hour's deliberation. The evidence was plain and no one can be held to blame for the sad occurrence. In fact with all due deference to the members of the jury, it is difficult to understand how Private Arseneault could have exercised poor judgment, when he only did what was required of his position from the military authorities, likewise there was no evidence to show that the discipline of the guard was poor.

Major J. S. Frost in his evidence said that he considered Arseneault had done his duty from a military standpoint. He had not heard of any hard feeling between the members of the guard.

Hon. R. J. Ritchie, police magistrate and judge of the city court, gave evidence that he was called to the hospital. The deceased did not have a sense of impending death and therefore no dying declaration could be taken. The deceased did say that Arseneault had shot him, but it was an accident. He thought the deceased said it was all play or something like that.

Dr. Macaulay was the next witness and corroborated the evidence of the

MARSH BRIDGE IS THE LIKELY SITE FOR NEW SHIPBUILDING PLANT

St. John Shipbuilding Co. to Locate There—An Ideal Situation. Engineer Coming to Lay Out Site and Install Modern Plant.

It is expected that the St. John Shipbuilding Company will reach a decision regarding the site for their new plant in the district of next week. It was learned yesterday that the company is negotiating for the purchase of the Marsh Bridge, adjoining the York cotton mill. This property will make an ideal site for the new plant, inasmuch as there is sufficient water frontage to lay down five vessels. The property covers ten acres and was formerly the old McQuiggan ship yard. Edward McQuiggan, the master builder, who came to St. John this week to take charge of the new company, built the river steamer Victoria in these yards. Mr. McQuiggan has been at Bath, Maine, for several years.

The company plan on bringing an expert engineer to the city from the United States and lay out the site and install the new plant. The engineer will reach the city in the course of a week or two. He will undertake the installation of a permanent plant, and the preliminary work will be rushed in order to get an early start at the work of building the ships.

The company propose the building of 2,500 ton boats with auxiliary power and oil engines. The new concern will have a capital of $700,000 and will employ as many men as can be secured.

MASS. OFFICERS WILL BE INSTRUCTED FIRST IN TRENCH WARFARE

St. John Officers to Leave on Monday Night—Instructional School at Wakefield Will Likely be Attended by 600 Officers.

Lieut. Col. J. L. McAvity, Captain F. H. Elliott, Captain Gordon Johnston, and Lieut. Charles D. Knowlton, and W. H. Brooks will leave on Monday night for Boston to take up their new duties as instructors in the State of Massachusetts.

Fully six hundred officers will be in attendance at the school of instruction at Wakefield, which is situated about thirteen miles outside of Boston. As soon as the Canadian officers arrive in Boston it is understood that they will start upon a course of actual trench warfare. The place of training has been used on several occasions as a rifle range. It is a splendid piece of ground and the facilities for quartering and housing the men are most favorable.

It has been reported in military circles that other states in America would adopt the same plan, that is, having Canadian officers to train the men, but no confirmation of this report was available yesterday. One officer, who is in a position to know, said that Brigadier General Sweetser was taking upon himself, with the consent of the military authorities, this unique method of training the officers in the district over which he has command. Although it has not yet been announced as to the length of time the Canadian officers will be in Boston, it is the general opinion that their stay will be indefinite.

Will Proceed to New York.

Lieut. Col. P. A. Guthrie has received word to report to New York on the morning of July 16th. The City Pipe Band will accompany the officer commanding the 238th Battalion on the trip. No announcement has been made as to the officers who are likely to accompany Col. Guthrie, but it is possible that a staff of two senior officers will go along on the trip.

Machine Gun Draft in England.

It has been announced through the chief censor's office that the machine gun draft, which was recruited in and around St. John has arrived safely in England. This unit was recruited by Lieut. J. K. Scammell of St. John.

Water Sports.

City swimming instructor Mark Burns is preparing a programme of water sports to be held in the months of July and August and expects to have the most successful season since the placing of the swimming scoops. He is arranging for a long distance swimming contest and has six boys and girls in training for this event.

H. PRICE WEBBER AT LYRIC NEXT WEEK.

The announcement that the veteran actor of the stage, Mr. H. Price Webber would appear at the Lyric Theatre the first three days of next week as a special attraction has been received with much pleasure and anticipation by the many friends and admirers of this well known artist. Mr. Webber's offering will consist of an interesting monologue bearing the significant title of "Times Change," during the delivery of which Mr. Webber will recall the days gone by and tell of many amusing experiences and with during a long career as an exponent of the dramatic art. Undoubtedly the many friends of the Lyric Theatre will attend the Lyric next week as once more the Lyric name has been a household word for years.

The feature in the picture department will be "Annie For Spite."

EMPIRE PROBLEMS WERE DISCUSSED LAST NIGHT AT THE BOARD OF TRADE

St. John Group of Round Table Heard Good Addresses on its Aims and Objects.

At a meeting held in the Board of Trade rooms last night under the auspices of the St. John Group of the Round Table in Canada the aims and objects of this body were placed before those present by Chief Justice McKeown and H. A. Powell K. C. in well thought out and eloquent addresses.

Mayor Hayes occupied the chair and introduced the speakers.

Chief Justice McKeown.

The first speaker was Chief Justice McKeown who told of the aims and objects for which the Round Table Groups were organized. It was an organization which had for its aim the discussion of problems affecting the Empire and the leading and moulding of public opinion so that those problems should be solved in the best possible way.

In England two schemes for the conduct of the affairs of the Empire after the conclusion of the war had been put forth.

One by the late Postmaster General Mr. Samuel, called for an executive council of 12 and a larger council of 70 from all parts of the Empire who should act in an advisory capacity on all Imperial matters while each section should administer purely local affairs for itself. The other proposed by Lord Bryce called for some effective scheme of defence, the cost of which would be borne by all portions of the Empire proportionately, and all questions of peace or war dealt with by all of the Dominions.

H. A. Powell.

H. A. Powell, congratulated the Chief Justice on the mastery way in which he had set forth the aims of the organization and outlined some of the problems facing the children of the Empire at the close of the war.

War he said was a stupid thing and very few of the great wars had resulted in anything but a return to the status quo. War was also an absurd way to settle disputes.

There had been many epoch making events in the history of the world. The greatest of these was the death of Christ which was still having its effect on the lives of men and women.

The rise of the Roman Empire was an epoch making event and to the Roman Empire world was indebted for its law. The French Revolution was another event which was still being felt in the world but the present crisis was the most serious through which the world had yet been called to pass.

Mr. Powell paid a tribute to the work of the British Navy in the present war. He said the navy had been criticised, but he demonstrated that it had fulfilled every duty devolving on it. The navy existed to guard the shores of Britain from invasion, it had done this; to guard British commerce and to drive enemy commerce from the seas, it had done this; to keep the enemy navy bottled up in port and it had done this; it had safeguarded the transportation of troops all over the globe.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was moved by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter and seconded by Premier Foster.

THE PLAYGROUNDS ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD EXHIBITION

Executive Met Last Night and Heard Reports of Past Month's Activities.

The executive of the Playgrounds Association met last evening in the Y. M. C. A. with the president, Mrs. W. C. Good, in the chair. Matters relating to the supervised playgrounds were dealt with and arrangements made for a meeting of members of the executive with the playground teachers to discuss the work, with special reference to preparation for an exhibition at the close of the season.

The last report of the Travellers' Aid work before it passed to the Y. M. C. A. was submitted. It showed that during June 114 persons were helped at the depot, of whom forty eight were conducted to the Girls' Club and others to hotels, the U. S. Immigration office, the King's Daughters' Guild or to friends. The secretary was authorized to send to Miss Hoyt, the Travellers' Aid agent, a letter of appreciation for her valuable services while connected with this association.

The report of the Girls' Club showed twenty-four meetings in June, with several outings and a concert given at the County Hospital. There were also classes in school studies, type-writing and short-hand, and Sunday evening song services. The secretary reported having sent to Miss Pitt a letter of appreciation for her valuable services in the Girls' Club and as the pioneer in Travellers' Aid work.

With regard to the Boys' Club the secretary reported that steps were being taken to secure grounds for the two baseball leagues to continue their games through the summer.

The president was requested to send a letter of condolence to Miss Leslie Green in her recent bereavement. Miss Green has given very valuable service as a voluntary teacher in connection with the Girls' Club. The secretary was authorized to send a letter of appreciation to Mrs. W. C. Matthews, Allison playgrounds; and also to convey to R. J. Walsh, who has been one of the hard-working members of the executive, an expression of sympathy for him in his prolonged illness.

The reports and the discussions showed that the work of the association is going along very well this year. There is need of tennis racquets and balls for some of the playgrounds.

J. H. A. L. FAIRWEATHER WINS MILITARY MEDAL FOR BRAVERY IN ACTION

Another Local Officer Decorated for His Splendid War Work. Displayed Remarkable Courage in Bringing Battery into Action.

Still another St. John man has won high honors on the battlefield. Word reached the city yesterday that Lieut. J. H. A. L. Fairweather, who went overseas with No. 4 Siege Battery, under Major Barker, had been awarded the military medal for gallantry in action. Numerous friends in the city and throughout the province will extend congratulations. Mr. Fairweather was one of the most popular officers to leave the city. He qualified for his rank at the Royal School of Artillery at Halifax, passing a highly successful examination.

While it is not yet known definitely in the city just exactly for what act Lieut. Fairweather received his decoration, it is understood that he bravely brought his battery into action at a dangerous and critical moment. Lieut. Fairweather is a son of the late A. C. Fairweather.
