EASTER!

There has been during the past few years a great revival of the old-time honored custom of gift giving at Easter time; and what season is more appropriate for gifts? Useful things are what you can find in this store, useful articles neatly done up in pretty boxes that add so much to the appearance of a comparatively inexpensive present.

Kid Gloves

Every pair of Kid Gloves that leaves this store carries with it our guarantee of satisfaction. Our Spring and Easter assortment is now complete, and every requisite style and shade is here. Prices—$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a Pair. Put up in neat boxes on request.

Ladies Ties, Collars

Ladies' pretty Neckwear is a particular feature of ours. We make it a distinct object to always have before you the very latest and noblest styles. Our Easter assortment is particularly attractive. Any Tie or Collar put in a neat box on request. Prices—25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

Easter Belts

Belts have become an indispensable article of dress; in fact a pretty and well fitting belt is needed to give the desired complete finish to a gown of any description. A Belt put up in a nice box makes a pretty gift. Prices—25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00.

A Bit of Linen for Easter

No household is ever supplied with small linens. No store keeps a choice assortment than this. If you are at a loss for an Easter Gift. Come and see our Small Linens. Tray Cloths, Doilies, Carvers, 5 o'clocks.

One Mill Output—Carpet Sale!

Never in the long history of our store have we put on a sale that has created such widespread interest as this Carpet Sale. The immense saving offered, the style and quality of the Carpets, the opportune time of the sale, all tend to its great success. The Carpets offered are not old undesirable stock, but the latest designs and best qualities of one of the largest carpet mills in the world. $1.50 Wiltons for $1.25; $1.35 Brussels for $1.05; $1.15 Brussels for 77c; $1.15 Velvets for 85c.

PEOPLE'S POLICY WON EAST KENT

Farmer's Sun Interviews Phil. H. Bowyer on Coming Battle Between the People and Corporations

"Preserve Rights From That Which has no Body to be Kicked or Soul to be Damned", Says Phil.

This week's issue of the Farmer's Weekly Sun contains the following forceful interview with Philip H. Bowyer, M. P., East Kent, which speaks for itself. Mr. Bowyer's earnest utterances are identical along the line of his advanced radical platform, which is so heartily endorsed by the people and did so much to win the last election.

The Farmer's Sun says:

The air about the Parliament Building is charged with electricity these days, and everybody is talking about the marvelous new power from which so much is expected. How Adam Beck has let some things drop which seem to indicate a disposition on the part of the Government to expropriate the electrical development works under way at Niagara and to carry these through as Provincial undertakings. A rumor credits Hon. Dr. Beaman, Commissioner of Public Works, with the intention of water-powering a fraction of the water power of New Ontario for the purpose of operating the Provincial Temiskaming Railway.

"I sincerely hope both these schemes will materialize," said Mr. Bowyer, the representative of East Kent, to the Sun. "From a party standpoint it would be good politics. You cannot go too far on a radical platform for the people of Ontario today. The defeat of the Ross Government in the last election was inevitable in any case, but the overwhelming overthrow was due to a belief on the part of the masses that the Conservative party as constituted to-day stands for the people in what the masses instinctively see is the coming battle between the people and the corporations. I couldn't have been elected in East Kent, a number of other representatives could not have been returned, on an old-time party platform. At least a dozen of Mr. Whitney's followers owe their election solely to their advanced radical views, and all were helped to the position which the party has lately taken on the coming questions.

"From the standpoint of the interests of the people—and that, after all, is the only standpoint from which such things should be judged—I shall also be delighted to see what is being carried through. It has been demonstrated that electrical energy generated from water power is cheaper than coal power, under equal conditions. In New Ontario the conditions are all in favor of electrical energy, generated in the way suggested, because the waterfalls are alongside, while the coal supply—unlike the case in the United States—is on the shores of Hudson Bay, hundreds of miles away. To utilize the water-drops would, therefore, spell economy.

Something else would be gained. Think of how Ontario's industrial possibilities would be advertised abroad by a map showing a line of railway, owned by the Province, running for some two hundred miles through a country rich in all the raw materials needed for manufacturing, and operated by this new and marvelously cheap power.

"Equal or even greater benefit would be secured by the acquisition of Niagara power by the Government, and its distribution through Ontario. An objection is entered on the ground that, it is said, such power could not be taken to all parts of the Province, and there would be jealousy if some sections were served and some not. Whatever the conditions may be in this respect, they will govern no matter whether the work is carried out by the Government acting under public authority. Then, what is the difference? Again, it is so certain all of old Ontario cannot be reached either by Niagara power or other power located in the eastern part of the Province. It was said a few years ago that electrical energy could not be carried over eight miles without ruinous loss; to-day it is being carried over eighty miles in Canada and more than one hundred miles in other countries.

"It is said, again, that if Niagara is taken over other powers must be taken over also. Why not? Electricity will, in five years, mean as much for Ontario as coal means for Pennsylvania and adjoining States to-day. We witnessed a few years ago the distress caused by the tying-up of the Pennsylvania coal fields, which are in the hands of private corporations. Do we wish to run the risk of a similar tying-up of electricity here, and power here? By all means, let all the water-powers capable of being utilized for the development of electrical energy be taken over. The public safety demands that this mighty engine, which is just beginning to show the throbbings of unlimited force, shall not be permitted to lie within the control of any corporation which is without a body to be kicked or a soul to be damned."

LICENSED TO KEEP HOTEL NOT TO SELL WHISKEY

Dawn of New Era in Administration of Liquor Laws—Commissioner Sifton of the East Kent Board Presents Premier Whitney's Policy—Many Applicants Rejected—Blenheim on Trial—Proceedings at Important Inaugural Meeting of Commissioners.

It best be understood by all applicants that, in accord with the principles of the new Provincial Government, this Board grants only licenses to keep hotel. ANY LICENSE FROM THIS BOARD IS TO KEEP HOTEL AND NOT TO SELL WHISKEY, and license holders will do well to remember it.

This earnest, forceful comment by ex-Warden W. C. Sifton, chairman of the East Kent Board of License Commissioners, at the conclusion of their meeting at Ridgetown on Thursday, gives the keynote of the policy of the Whitney administration. And with the words of the chairman his fellow commissioners, ex-Warden Francis Gifford and Robt. L. Jarvis, heartily concurred.

"Moreover, there are other matters that license-holders should understand," continued Chairman Sifton. "The hotel must be well equipped and well kept, the law must be rigidly adhered to, and the proprietor must in every way conduct himself to prove worthy of the confidence which the Government has, through this Board, conferred in him. Such a course is only honest and right; just alike to both temperance and liquor interests."

"The Commissioners have personally visited and inspected the premises of all asking licenses from this Board; they have obtained through Mr. Boon, the inspector, a list of the convictions and fines in the district for the past few years, so that they may be better able to form an estimate of those who have sought to observe the law, and they have endeavored to put themselves in possession of all the facts necessary to an honest, just and conscientious performance of their duties.

"We are not, however, judging on the past. The past is gone and cannot be helped now, but we intend to hold ourselves strictly responsible for the future. License-holders must co-operate with us. They must keep the law. And we want every hotel man to spell out that word, emphasizing it with capitals, M-U-S-T, because no excuses can be considered. This is our absolute intention: If any license holder is convicted, even once, of a violation of the law he is down and out. NO LICENSES WILL BE GRANTED NEXT YEAR TO ANYONE WHO HAS BEEN CONVICTED OF BREAKING THE LAW. There will be no more scores of 'first offences.' EVERY FIRST OFFENCE WILL BE MADE A LAST OFFENCE BY THIS BOARD.

"At the same time we want the license holders to feel that, in so far as they honestly co-operate in this effort, they will have our confidence and support and we shall be ready and pleased at any time to have them consult with us on any matters pertaining to their welfare."

The announcement of the Commissioners presages the dawn of a new era in the administration of the governmental department. It means that it will be conducted in a manner that will call for the hearty endorsement of the right-thinking people of East Kent, no matter what their political proclivities may be, no matter what their views on the question of temperance reform.

THE MORETH TAVEN.

The Commissioners, with Inspector Thos. Boon, met in the Town Hall, Ridgetown, on Thursday morning and sat till late in the afternoon. Chairman Sifton presided. Quite a large audience was seated in the auditorium, including Rev. G. B. Brown, of Blenheim; Rev. W. J. Waddell, of Harwich, and a number of legal representatives.

The first application considered was that of John Easton, for renewal of his present license for the tavern at Moreth, which has been a license of place for some 30 years past. The application was supported by a petition of 131 names.

Inspector Boon tendered a report that the house was a good one.

M. Wade and J. W. Simpson briefly addressed the Board against the renewal of the license. They said there was practically no necessity for business or commercial accommodation and the tavern had become largely a gathering place for an element that was not desirable. It was a danger to the young men. Mr. Wade presented a petition of 97 signatures against the renewing of the license.

The Commissioners examined the contradictory petitions.

VALUE OF PETITIONS. The chairman said he knew the locality well. The petition he was looking over (that against a renewal of the license) was a very strong and influential one. He was sorry to see on the other petition names that were not qualified voters in the division and not living there. Petitioners should be honest with the Commissioners.

The applicant admitted some of the signatures were not bona fide, but said it was a mistake.

Chairman Sifton—I see the same names on both petitions. Surely that's very strange.

Commissioner Jarvis, smiling—I'm afraid there's nothing strange about petitions.

Continuing his investigation, the chairman located some bogus signatures on the petition for. The applicant said he could not explain them.

Commissioner Gifford pointed out that taverns that became rendezvous for young men and permitted the patronage of minors, could not be countenanced. He asked the Inspector if the complaints were justified.

Mr. Boon said he had understood that the young men gathered there at nights and sang hymns and recited comic speeches.

Chairman Sifton—That will do. Next case.

THE BLENHEIM CASES. The applications of E. J. Buzzard, Wm. O'Brien and A. B. Veater, of Blenheim, were next taken up. Each applicant presented a very largely signed petition in favor of his application.

R. L. Gosnell, representing the Temperance cause, and Rev. Constable Brown appeared to oppose all licenses in Blenheim.

Mr. Gosnell presented a detailed argument regarding the passing of the Local Option by-law by a majority of three votes and the subsequent proceedings, pointing out that although the by-law was never passed, the Council had been an unjust and illegal one and the people had so expressed at the municipal elections following.

Chairman Sifton—Were we satisfied that the vote was a legal one and legally taken we would never grant a license whether the Council had passed the by-law or not, or even if it had passed with a majority sufficiently large to prevent any doubt of the result.

Commissioner Jarvis—Had there been a scrutiny of the lists, throwing out illegal voters, what would have been the result?

Mr. Gosnell—Each party claims it would have been in their favor.

E. G. Thompson, who represented Blenheim Town Council, asked for the granting of licenses. The vote in question had been an unjust and illegal one and the people had so expressed at the municipal elections following.

Chairman Sifton—Is there any question concerning the reliability of the petitions for licenses put in to-day?

Mr. Gosnell—No, we don't question them, but a secret vote is surely better than a petition.

Chairman Sifton—Is any objection at all urged against any of the applicants or their premises?

Mr. Gosnell—Oh no, it is against the general granting of any licenses in Blenheim.

The chairman declared the discussion closed, and the commission adjourned for luncheon.

HARWICH LICENSES. On resuming applications from Chas. Fluellings, McKay's Corners, David Walker, Charing Cross, and John Forbes, Cedar Springs, were taken up. Mr. Thompson represented the applicants.

Chairman Sifton—In the case of Harwich, unlike Blenheim, public opinion at the polls, I understand, was expressed on local option by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Thompson—The majority was large, I admit. But the by-law was quashed. There were many irregularities.

Chairman Sifton—What were the irregularities?

Mr. Thompson—Partly faulty publication, partly misunderstanding as to polling places.

Chairman Sifton—Just matters of legal technicality to quash the vote of the people of Harwich. Were the technical faults sufficient in any case to alter the total result of the vote?

Mr. Thompson—Oh, we cannot claim that it would have upset the majority which was large, but the High Courts have held the by-law to be invalid on the grounds mentioned.

HIGH COURT VS. PEOPLE. Chairman Sifton—It is hardly a matter of High Court legal technicalities. We trust we are here as sensible men to do our honest duty. Does our duty not call for an observance of the clearly expressed will of the people? You say the High Court said that there was not sufficient publication and that polling places were changed. As a matter of fact did this prevent any from voting? If every unpolled vote in these divisions were recorded against the by-law it would still have carried by a substantial majority. The total vote on the by-law was 1,029 and at the municipal elections last January the total vote was 1,091. The by-law was carried by a majority of 551. High Court or no High Court the people clearly expressed themselves pretty clearly, did they not?

Continuing Mr. Thompson drew attention to the largely signed petitions in favor of Messrs. Walker and Forbes. In answer to the commissioner's enquiry he admitted that the taverns at McKay's Corners and Fargo had held unsavory reputations but Messrs. Walker and Forbes should not suffer on that account.

Mr. Gosnell spoke against the granting of the licenses. He pointed out that several names on the petitions were illegally put there.

Commissioner Jarvis asked if there was much travel and these houses did any commercial trade.

The Inspector said they both bore good reputations.

EXIT DRINKING PLACES. Commissioner Gifford said that the Board regretted to deal with disappointment to good men. Mr. Walker, of Charing Cross, had been in business for years and the commissioners found that there had never been a conviction or even a complaint lodged against him or his house. He had kept a good house. Mr. Forbes also bore a good reputation although one fine of $10 for selling to minors two or three years ago had been registered. But he felt with the chairman that the will of the people had been unmistakably expressed and he felt it his duty to be governed by it. As a matter of fact, Mr. Gifford thought, the time had come when the passing of the country taverns was largely demanded. When they ceased to be a necessity to the travelling public and become only a dangerous rendezvous for young men and a congregating place for some who should know better, there was little excuse for their existence. He desired to point out that the commissioners were, however, much pleased with Mr. Walker's record.

There were no further deputations. The commissioners proceeded to deal with the applications as follows, decision in every case being unanimous:

MOEPETH TAVERN CLOSED. The application of John Easton for renewal of license for tavern at Moepeth was rejected and the license cancelled. The commissioners allowed him one month in which to sell out.

ARLINGTON FAILED. In Ridgetown renewals were granted to John M. Sheldon, Queen's Hotel; H. W. Parsell, Anderson Hotel, and Vital Carron, shop.

The license of John Weiss, of the Arlington Hotel, was not granted. The commissioners had found the place in an unsanitary and unsatisfactory condition and had received no assurance of improvements. The matter was left for the Inspector to look into.

BLENHEIM ON TRIAL. Licenses were granted to E. J. Buzzard, W. J. O'Brien and A. B. Veater, of Blenheim, on very strict conditions which must be fully complied with. "Blenheim is on six months' trial," is the way the chairman put it.

A GOOD HOUSE. Renewals were allowed to Henry Koehler, of Duart, and E. A. Collins, of Muirkirk, against who no objections had been submitted. The commissioners took occasion to refer in very complimentary terms to the house of Mr. Koehler and the way it was conducted.

CUT IN ROTHWELL. John Menhenick, of the Central Hotel, Rothwell, and Edward Letevre, shop, were granted renewals; but the commissioner declined to grant a renewal to Richard Maloney, of the Brunswick Hotel.

ALSO IN DRESDEN. Allan McIntosh, of the Clifford House, and James Martin, of the Queen's, Dresden, were granted renewals.

NON PARTISAN ADMINISTRATION. No better evidence of the absolute fulfillment of Mr. Whitney's prediction declaration that under his Government there would be for the first time an honest and non-partisan administration of the License Department could be furnished than the initial proceedings of the East Kent Board of Commissioners. It will be noted that the majority of the licenses penalized were Conservatives.

Unique Distinction.
Mr. Henry Tollemache, M. P., addressing his Cheshire constituents at Malpas, says The London Star, observed that he shared the almost unique distinction of the late Sir Watkin Wynne of having been in the House of Commons for 24 years without making a speech. Mr. Tollemache, who has represented the Eddisbury division of Cheshire for 24 years, is one of the Unionist M.P.s who will retire at the next general election. Parliament seems to have been a disappointment to him. He complained not long ago of the deterioration of Parliamentary manners. "It seems," he said, "that nowadays a member, to be really popular, ought to get himself named by the Speaker, and if he is only carried out by a policeman he can have a safe seat in many a constituency for life." At the house of which he has forgotten the number, he said the doorkeeper was B. flat, and Sir Alexander kicked the scampers in the street till he heard the note.

Practical Use of Mucil.
The London Chronicle says that the late Sir Arthur Sullivan wanted to direct Sir Alexander Mackenzie to the house of which he had forgotten the number; he said the doorkeeper was B. flat, and Sir Alexander kicked the scampers in the street till he heard the note.

Owne a Home.
A house, like a child, is an educator. It has an ethical and spiritual influence commensurate with its economic value. With the school of thought, now somewhat in evidence, which would send the mothers out into business and professional life, "farm out" the babies in nurseries and fetch the food supply from a co-operative kitchen, we have little in common. The family, united and sanctified by a happy homelife, is the unit of society and the bulwark of the nation. On the home building, the simple life, and the doctor and the preacher rise up and call them blessed. Practice the simple life and have a home—Good Housekeeping.

TIRED MISTAKES.

Of Honest Workers Who Are Born Tired, Live Tired and Die Tired.
How many of us wear ourselves out trying to correct mistakes we never would have committed if we had not been so tired? It is a simple semicolon which occurs in the law regarding the hours at which hotels shall cease to sell liquor, and which its opponents allege was a copyist's mistake, that has caused so much petitioning to the Massachusetts legislature for and against retaining that special punctuation mark. More than likely the clerk was "plain tired."

Three mistakes needlessly imbibed family life. When we have neuralgia, how we find fault with those who were not to blame! If it is a good rule to sleep upon the desire to chastise before inflicting punishment, how much better it is to be perfectly well before thinking of reproving some one!

Joy the Antidote.
And yet we have not been unfaithful in purpose, though failing every day. It is not the indiscriminate pumper who is most tired, but the man, woman or child who works hard and honestly from morning till night. They are born tired, live tired and die tired.

Still, in spite of tired mistakes, we should go on correcting them and trying again. That is, we must have personal enthusiasm over ourselves and our work, however tired and fatigued.

It has been stated that one reason why Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has such vitality of physical frame, and such marvelous intellectual strength is because she enjoys. So for us average people one of the ways of avoiding tired mistakes is to be willing to enjoy.

Put Mistakes Into "Sundries."

It should be a matter of home economics and personal religion not to get overtired, or, if we are, not to crucify ourselves by way of retaliation upon ourselves for unimportant mistakes. If the cup is broken because we were too daisy to put it in its saucer worrying over its breakage does not mend it. The item "sundries" in our account book is a noncommittal hiding place for errors that concern only ourselves.

A child can wait for its reproof. We can do without theaters, fine clothes and expensive menus for the sake of rest. Then when we have made mistakes let us accept them and begin again. The daily wretchedness in average homes arising from conscientious worrying over trifling mistakes can well be set against the daily grind in other homes to gain the pleasure for weekly food and rest.—Kato Gannett Wells in Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Handy Household Devices.
Two handy arrangements for the kitchen or pantry walls, either of which can be easily made by the home carpenter, are illustrated in the Ladies' World.

Fig. 1 shows a rack for holding tin covers, these being slipped into the slots at the sides, top, middle or bottom.

FOR THE KITCHEN CULINARY.

At the bottom is a receptacle for knives or other articles, such as cork-screws, can openers, etc., which need some such special place that they may be at hand when desired.

Fig. 2 shows a thick strip of wood that has been saved in it for holding meat knives and other cutlery with sharp points, the edges of which would become dull if all were placed loosely together in a box or drawer to rattle over one another.

Keeping a Bright Stove.

In polishing a stove if the blackend is mixed with strong soap-suds—the kind that will jelly when cold—it will polish with less labor and dust than when mixed with water. Then, too, use an old woolen stocking for polishing where the brush will not go, and always for wiping the stove unless it is greasy, in which case wet a cloth with vinegar or coal oil and rub the grease off first. But there is a great deal in being careful of the stove after you get it polished. For instance, always cook ham and bacon in the oven, as it not only saves the stove, but improves the meat, and when cooking anything that "spatters" keep it covered as much as possible.

Household Winkles.

A paper bag inverted over the lamp chimney which not in use, prevents dustiness which comes from dust and greasy vapor.

In bedwork heads often come slipping off the needle. Have a bowl of water handy and dip the needle in it occasionally. The moisture on the needle will prevent the beads slipping off.

Give your chamals a dry rinse in soapy water. It will dry softer than if wrung from clear water.

Knot your thread at the end where it was broken off, next to the spool, if you don't want the thread to kink while using it.

White woodwork may be cleaned by covering the surface with flour, letting it remain several hours, then brushing it off. Repeat the process until the cloth is clean.

Of all overworked women probably the farmer's wife is the hardest worked. She has so much to attend to with very little help. Hard work can be very much lightened if she knows the value of system and she should try and take a short rest in the day time. A physician who has become famous almost around the world, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the specialist on women's diseases, for many years practiced medicine in a persons farming district in Pennsylvania. He there observed the lack of system in the planning of the work.

If it is a headache, a backache, a sensation of irritability or twitching and uncontrollable nervousness, something must be wrong with the head or back, and a woman should take rational treatment for its cure. The local disorder and inflammation should be treated steadily and systematically.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, the proprietors and makers of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure, should they fail in a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

WHYS AND WHEREFORES.

Pleasant Old Time Dietetic Habits

Justified by Modern Science.

There are many eating habits which, though followed merely because they have been customary from time immemorial, really have a scientific basis. Such is the eating of butter with bread, which by itself, though rich in starch and having a fair proportion of protein, at all events when made of whole meal flour, has not the fat which is dietetically necessary. Similarly with rice puddings the milk is added to make up for the deficiency of protein in the rice.

The Justification of Milk in Tea.

The scientific justification for adding milk to tea is quite different. When taking meat with tea, the tannic acid contained in the latter combined with albumen to form tannate of albumen, which is practically leather, so that by drinking tea the coating of the stomach is made leathery. But milk also contains albumen, and when milk is added to tea the molecules of tannic acid select their albumen from it, and, as a divorce is unknown to tannate of albumen, the albumen of the stomach is less liable to be affected by tannic acid than it would be if the tea were taken alone.

Sharp and Smooth of the Salad.

There is a chemical reason for adding vinegar to salads. Raw vegetables are easily enough digested by cows and horses, but with difficulty by the human stomach, because they contain that hard, fibrous substance, cellulose. But acids dissolve cellulose to some extent, and vinegar is an acid. That is why it is a good thing to take vinegar or lemon juice with salad and cabbage, and doubtless that is why it tastes so well, for the palate is an excellent judge of what is good for the stomach. The justification for adding oil to fat in the salad itself and partly that it protects the lining of the stomach from the action of the acid in vinegar.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

It takes less sense to find fault with all than to be fair with all.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow.

The Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. John 12, 12-26.

Golden Text—"Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." See four records—Matt. 21, Mark 11, Luke 19, and John.

Multitudes of Jews from all parts of the world crowded Jerusalem at the Feast of the Passover. The fame of Jesus and His mighty works had roused the people to believe and receive Him as the Messiah and many desired Him as King. This spontaneous reception was not political, but designed by God to fulfill prophecy.

Note how careful our Lord was to fulfill to the letter all things written concerning Himself, and when He returns to reign He will be just as careful to fulfill to the letter His millennial glory. The unbounded enthusiasm of the common people and of all who saw Lazarus raised from the dead, the Greeks who had come to this Passover and longed for an interview with Jesus, who, in the midst of it all, is overshadowed by the cross.

The mystery of our Lord's death and resurrection we credit though unable to comprehend. He likens it in verse 24 to the life springing from a dead grain of wheat which can only thus, by death, multiply itself. See I. Cor. 15, 36-37. What is sown lives not only fully satisfied divine justice against our sin and on our behalf, but it is God's way to impart to us a new life, raising us from a death of sin and to know the power of His resurrection.

Sinner, wouldst thou serve and see Jesus? If we set our hearts on our own selfish lives ours is an eternal loss, but if our lives are as nothing to us in comparison to Jesus Christ we shall be eternal gainers. Surrender all and accept all in Christ Jesus, and all is well; him will my Father honor.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Miss Julia Marlowe of New York City, has the following to say of "Peruna":
"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most cordially."—Julia Marlowe.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition. This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves.

This could be easily obviated by the use of Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion. Digestion furnishes nutrition.

The License Commissioners Have Some Trouble in Conforming with the City By-Law

Chairman Baxter Says Hotel Men Must Live Up to the Law and He Means It—Busy Meeting

Chairman W. R. Baxter forcibly remarked at the opening of the meeting of the License Commissioners that the hotel keepers must live up to the letter of the law and in future lounging in bar-rooms, blinds on bar-room windows, selling after hours and all other infractions of the law would be severely dealt with. The other commissioners echoed Mr. Baxter's declaration.

Up till the noon adjournment the Board was quite busy and transacted considerable business. They granted the following licenses:

AN EARLY START FOR THE BAY.
Neptune Will Leave Halifax June 1 For Hudson's Waters.

Ottawa, April 22.—The Government has closed a charter party with Job Brothers, of St. John's, Nfld., for the steamer Neptune to proceed northward with another Hudson Bay expedition in charge of Commander A. E. Low, who made such a successful voyage on the same steamer last season. This year an earlier start will be made, with a view of investigating the ice conditions in Hudson Strait during the spring. The Neptune to sail from Halifax on June 1.

The Neptune will carry supplies for the steamer Arctic, which wintered at Cape Fullerton. The two vessels will perform summer patrol. The Neptune probably striking north to the entrance of Barrow Strait, where the conditions seemed so favorable last August for making the northwest passage that Commander Low expressed regret that his instructions did not allow him to make the attempt.

Fatal Fall From Train.
Prescott, April 22.—A man named Thomas Forrest, hailing from Halifax, N. S., and holding a check for $100, Reno, Nevada, fell off No. 3 T. & N. train going west Thursday night, and was killed. The body was found lying between the double tracks, two miles east of Prescott, about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Papers would show his wife was traveling with him.

Gave Sam Charters a Purse.
Brampton, April 22.—A complimentary supper was given by the Conservatives of Cookville and Brindale on Thursday night. There was a large attendance. Addresses were delivered by Richard Blain, M. P., and others. A feature of the gathering was the presentation of a purse and address to Samuel Charters, Conservative candidate in the recent election.

$2,500 GOES TO RONDEAU PARK

Phil. H. Bowyer, M. P. P., Secures Government Aid for Improvements Contemplated

Next Year's Estimates Will Include Club House and Hotel—Government to Buy More Land

It is now officially announced that upon the most solicitations of Phil. H. Bowyer, Esq., Kent's popular member, the Government has decided to this year grant $2,500 for improvements to Rondeau Park. It is also stated that Mr. Bowyer has obtained assurance of a substantial grant next year for the erection of a club house and summer hotel, and that the Government will negotiate for the purchase of the land between the Bow Line and the Park.

The Ridgeway (Dundas) (Mr. Bowyer's paper) modestly comments on his work in this connection as follows:

The people of Kent will be pleased to learn that Mr. Bowyer, member for East Kent, has been successful in having placed in the estimates now before the Legislature the sum of $2,500, over and above the usual sum required for maintenance, to be used in the improvement of Rondeau Park. While deserving credit for their action in creating Pointe aux Pins a Provincial Park and doing considerable towards its improvement, the opinion has been general that the Government has been a little slow, if not actually parsimonious, in its treatment of the Park. The late Mr. Robert Ferguson, when member for East Kent, repeatedly urged Hon. Mr. Davis to be more generous, and it was not the former's fault that the Park was practically neglected. During Mr. John Lee's term a road from the town line to the entrance was constructed, a splendid improvement, which seems to have exhausted the energy of the Government.

While the new Government has only been in office a couple of months and owing to the demands upon their time have scarcely had an opportunity to study the details of the different departments, Mr. Bowyer found both the Commissioner of Crown Lands and the Treasurer ready to lend a sympathetic and interested ear to his requests that something be done to place Rondeau Park in a condition worthy of the Government and to add to its attractiveness to visitors.

For that purpose the sum mentioned was placed in the estimates. The management of the Park has been transferred from Mr. Gibson, Director of mines and Secretary of Parks, to Mr. Southworth, Director of Colonization and Forestry, who is a Colonist and a sportsman, and promises to take fully as intelligent and enthusiastic an interest in Rondeau Park and its future development as did Mr. Gibson. The $2,500 will be expended under the direction of Mr. Southworth. The dock will be repaired and extended, a driveway will be constructed from the terminus of the present road up into the heart of the virgin forest, the last remaining by the way, in the southwestern Ontario, and a large area in the vicinity of the pavilion will be cleared and leveled for picnics, and a portion levelled as an athletic ground for games and sports.

Mr. Bowyer confidently expects that next year's estimates will make provision for the erection of a suitable club house or transient visitors, but for those who like to get close to nature for a week or longer amid the many beauties and attractions of the Park. Neither is there any delay in this day of electric railroad promotion and construction, as it is found to construct and operate a line of railway from the great trunk lines running east and west to the Park, making it easy access to the entire population of the southwestern part of the province.

It may not be out of place to mention here the Government has at present under consideration the advisability of buying the land between the townline and the Park (which borders both sides of the Government road), thus securing possession of the entire Point. This is a step in the right direction. The Government is prepared to pay a fair and equitable sum to secure the land in question but scarcely will balk at any "fancy" price.

east and west to the Park, making it easy access to the entire population of the southwestern part of the province.

It may not be out of place to mention here the Government has at present under consideration the advisability of buying the land between the townline and the Park (which borders both sides of the Government road), thus securing possession of the entire Point. This is a step in the right direction. The Government is prepared to pay a fair and equitable sum to secure the land in question but scarcely will balk at any "fancy" price.

Can Eat Anything Now.
How many Dyspeptics can say that?
Or perhaps you are dyspeptic and don't know it.

Have you any of these symptoms?

Variable appetite, a faint gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach, unsatisfied hunger, a loathing of food, rising and souring of food, a painful load at the pit of the stomach, constipation, or are you gloomy and miserable? Then you are a dyspeptic. The cure is careful diet; avoid stimulants and narcotics, do not drink at meals, keep regular habits, and regulate the stomach and bowels with BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Nature's specific for Dyspepsia.
Miss Laura Chicombe, Belle Anse, Que., says of its wonderful curative powers:—

"Last winter I was very thin, and was fast losing flesh owing to the run-down state of my system. I suffered from Dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get, but to no purpose; then finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. From the first day I felt the good effect of the medicine, and am now feeling strong and well again. I can eat anything now without any ill after-effects. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Burdock Blood Bitters, for I feel it saved my life."

Maple Syrup

This is the time for new Quebec Maple Syrup. Of course you can get the factory make at any season of the year, and one time is as good as another for it. Surprising how many brands of Maple Syrup are now sold, which has very little in it, but ordinary cane Sugar flavored with the genuine Maple Syrup. It's not so with our Quebec Maple Syrup, it's the genuine bush kind. It's pure Maple Syrup, made only from Maple Sap, and prices are very reasonable too.

Hear the beautiful selections of vocal music, St. Joseph's Hall, Monday night.

Miss Beatrice Turner is spending Easter with her parents, in London South.

Miss Anna Kerby, of Dresden, is visiting Miss Daisy Colville, Selkirk street.

Miss Carrie Wanless and Miss Maggie Patterson spent yesterday in Detroit.

The Young Men's Club give an entertainment in Park street church Tuesday, April 25th.

Misses Beatrice Turner, Minnie Burgess and Sadie Towd are spending the Easter holidays in London.

Don't fail to see the musical burlesque, Mikado from the "O." at St. Joseph's Hall Monday night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Assisting Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Innes, Monday, 24th, at 3.30.

Mrs. Wm. Brown, of London, is spending Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tickner, VanAllen avenue.

John H. Snell, Lorne avenue, is still confined to his home suffering from the sprain he received. His leg has been encased in plaster Paris.

Frank Hayes, general superintendent of the wiring department of the Chatham Gas Co., has just completed installing a private telephone system at the Chatham Wagon Works.

Ladies and gentlemen desiring to learn photography will find it to their interest to call at or write the Gibson Studio for terms. Special rates for a short time.

Bishop Wilmore will leave on Monday for Philadelphia to attend the W. A. M. E. conference, and will attend conferences in Baltimore, New Haven, Conn., and Camden, N. J., before returning, that will not be until about June 1st.

Nearly 60 vested chorists will lead the praises in Christ Church tomorrow, Easter Day. The services and sermons will be in keeping with the joyous festival. The services will be semi-choral. All will be welcomed.

I am going to offer you for the coming week, starting to-day, a line of fifty gents' gold watch chains, comprising all the latest patterns and styles. Every chain positively guaranteed for ten years, for the small sum of $2.25 each. Such values have never been known in Chatham before. E. J. MacIntyre, leading jeweller and scientific optician.

Baldern street will certainly be good and noisy when street cars are running with their gongs and horns, and trucks going back and forth on that brick pavement, but if you were to multiply both by ten they would not make as much noise as that new neckwear at the Urban Store. See window to-night.

W. H. CARSWELL

GETS CONTRACT

New Market Sheds to be Erected at Once on 1d Site

Busy Meeting of Council—Ald. Potter Complains re Tecumseh Park.

The tender handed in by W. H. Carswell for the erection of the new market was accepted by the Council last Thursday evening.

The Building committee, of which Ald. Jas. King is chairman, brought in the following report:—

To His Worship the Mayor, and Aldermen of the City of Chatham: Gentlemen,—The Special Building Committee beg to report as follows:

That W. H. Carswell's tender be accepted for No. 4, for the consideration of $16,500, the same not to include police cells, on condition that he guarantees to proceed with either of the front sections, No. 1 or No. 2, as per tender, No. 1 $39,617.00, No. 2 $30,297.00, received by Council in regular session April 17, 1905.

If Council decide to proceed with the work after June session of the County Council.

James A. King,
Chairman.

Ald. Westman brought up the matter of the Police Court cells. It was unfortunate that these were not included in the specifications. They were omitted in all of the tenders.

Ald. Austin asked if the cells in the present Police Court could be utilized, but Architect Rutley, who was present, said they were out of date.

The tender was so high that if accepted the Council will have to ask the people for more money before they can finish the front part of the building or cut the building down.

This last proposition of cutting the building down was not commended by any of the aldermen.

Ald. King and Westman thought that the ratepayers along the market should pay a fair share of the cost of the pavements.

Ald. Austin objected to this. He said the money was voted by the people for the pavement and it should be spent on pavement.

As this was a matter for after consideration, the report of the Building committee was adopted.

There were present at the meeting, Mayor Cowan and Ald. Austin, King, Ainsworth, Potter, Westman and Edmondson.

A report from the City Engineer on the garbage lot was referred to the Property Committee.

The Blonde Company were granted permission to build a granolithic walk in front of their premises.

Ald. Potter brought up the matter of the city's rights on Tecumseh Park. He complained that athletes were practicing games on the Park now, when they should not. The Park should not be used until the last of May. He had no authority to keep them off, as the players said they had permission from Col. Rankin.

It was arranged that before an athletic club can play on the Park they must get a permit from the Chief of Police, countersigned by Col. Rankin. This was the best arrangement he could make with Col. Rankin.

This arrangement was allowed to stand for the present.

Ald. Edmondson called the attention of the Board of Works to a bad crossing on St. Clair street, at Amelia street.

The Council then adjourned.

DIED IN DETROIT

Well Known Ex-Chathamite Passed Suddenly Away in City of Straits—Was Fenian Raid Veteran.

Dr. Fleming received a telegram this morning announcing the death of Harry Mercer last evening in Detroit, where he had taken up his residence three days before. Mr. Mercer had been living at St. Clair, Mich., but had been in poor health for a number of years. He was the youngest son of the late Sheriff Mercer and a brother of the late Robert Mercer, who passed away in this city a few months ago. During the Fenian Raid he served as an ensign and was deputy sheriff for a number of years. He afterwards took up insurance and later held the position of Canadian passenger agent for the Rock Island Railroad. He was born in Chatham and was well known and liked by the older citizens who remember him. Mrs. Mercer and several children survive. The funeral will take place on Monday on the arrival of the 12.25 noon G. T. R. express from the west.

If Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Won't Cure the Spring Fever Victim he Has Something Worse than a Bad Stomach.

With the warm days comes that disinclination to eat and that dreary far away feeling that is commonly known as spring fever.

And the victim of spring fever is a general nuisance to himself, dissatisfied with everything he does and leaves an air of dissatisfaction wherever he goes.

Do you know what's the matter one else and he leaves an air of order?

That stomach has been overworked and needs a rest.

How do you prove this? Give the spring fever victim a treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will cure him. If they don't he is troubled with something worse than a bad stomach. For no bad stomach is so bad that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will not cure it.

SUCCESSFUL PHONE SYSTEM.

Grey County Company Are Doing a Good Business.

Ottawa, April 20.—At the Telephone Committee yesterday, Thomas Begley, of the Township of Croton, Grey County, was examined. His company was called the Grey Telephone Co. They had 18 miles of line and bought three miles from a doctor, making in all 21 miles. They paid $125 for three miles. The capital stock was $15,000. He and his associates put $1,300 into the line, and it paid six per cent the first seven months. They had seven phones and a connecting one. They were public phones, and it cost 15 cents a message. These messages were delivered. There was a demand among the farmers. It was the intention to increase the capital stock to $40,000, and extend the line.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c. per bottle.

Not Very Crazy.
A nobleman against whose insanity was impudently his relatives was asked during examination by Lord Loughborough, "How many legs has a sheep?"

"Does your lordship mean a live or a dead sheep?" asked the nobleman.
"Is it not the same thing?" said the chancellor.
"No, my lord, there is much difference. A live sheep has four legs, a dead sheep but two. The others are shoulders."

AN AMERICAN DISEASE.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself.—25c. per box or live boxes for $1.00 at all dealers.

The percentage of the wooded areas of European countries as compared with their total areas is as follows: Finland, 51.2; Sweden, 49.3; Russia, 40.4; Austria, 32.6; Luxembourg, 29.1; Hungary, 27.7; Germany, 26.1; Serbia, 24.9; Turkey, 23.4; Norway, 22; Roumania and Switzerland, 21.4 each; Bulgaria, 20.8. The other European countries have less than 20 per cent of woodland.

A "WHEEZY" CHEST.

Means your trouble is deep seated. To delay is dangerous. All the inflammation will be dry out in one day by applying Nerviline. AN AMUSING TOY.

The Way to Make and Use the Trick Blowpipe.

Take an ordinary tobacco pipe and stop the bowl with a tightly fitting cork. The pipe may be either a wooden or a clay one, but it should be new and clean.

Bore a small hole through the cork, near one side, just big enough to hold a straw. The straw should be a little longer than the cork, and at the top it should be slit down an inch or so and the pieces spread out in the form of a funnel.

Or you may use a small glass tube with a little paper funnel pasted to the top of it. If the straw or tube does not fit the hole exactly a little wax at the top will make the joint air tight. Now take another cork, cut it down to a round ball as big as a small marble, "a niggler," and pierce it through the center with a long hairpin from which you have broken off the greater part of one leg. The straight end should stick farther out of the ball than the other, so that the hooked end will be higher and will stay on top. Now in the other side of the large cork nearest the stem of the pipe stick a long wire, bent over and above and ending in a hook exactly over the little funnel and three or four inches above it.

Then drop the cork ball into the funnel, put the pipe to your lips and blow.

Your breath rushing up the little tube will lift the light ball and keep it dancing in the air for a second or two. When it falls the funnel catches it, and your breath sends it up again.

The trick is to make the hook attached to the ball catch on the hook above so that the ball remains suspended; that is all.—New York Mail.

SPELLING GAMES.

A Good Way For Girls and Boys To Amuse Themselves.

There are several kinds of spelling games which can be played in the same way, one of the most amusing being as follows: A long word, such as "catastrophe," is given out, and each player writes it down at the top of his paper. Five minutes are given in which to write down any words which can be made out of the letters in catastrophe which begin with the letter C (such as cat, car, cast, cate, cate, cap, cape, cost). When this is over the same thing is done with the next letter, and all the players write down A, with at, ate, ape, etc., underneath.

When the word is finished one of the party reads aloud the words he has found, and every one runs a line through any word of which he has the duplicate. Each player reads aloud in turn, and a mark is allowed for words which no one else has thought of. If possible, the selected word should be one in which no letter occurs twice.

Another variation of the spelling game is called the "cate" game. A quarter of an hour is given in which all the players have to write down as many words as they can think of ending in "cate," such as delicate, advocate, vacate, and at the end of the time one of the company reads the words aloud. If more than one person has thought of a word it does not count. The prize is given to the person who has found out more words than any one else.

A Soap Bubble Party.

Did you ever give a soap bubble party for your little friends? It is very amusing, and this is how you set about it:

Have five rings made of cardboard and wound round with tissue paper of bright colors in a doorway, suspended in a row by strings.

Each ring should measure about seven to nine inches across, but they need not all be the same size.

Have ready some bowls of strong soapuds in which a teaspoonful of glycerine has been dissolved, and as many clay pipes as will be needed for yourself and your guests.

The players take turns in blowing their bubbles through the rings, and the one who succeeds in getting the most through without breaking them is declared the winner and gains a prize.—Exchange.

The Shortest Day.

A little day ran past me
Without a word from me;
I thought it ran too fast,
But that could hardly be.
Because a little boy next door, they say,
Found time to speak a happy word that day.

A little day was spent Almost before I knew;
I wondered where it went,
And so, indeed, would you
If, of a sudden, at the set of sun
You found how very little you had done.

REASON No 28

WHY YOU SHOULD USE

Red Rose Tea

Because it is Recommended by the Best Grocers.

You will generally find Red Rose Tea in a store which deals in standard brands of high-class goods.

These are the merchants who do not look for goods which give them the largest profit, because it pays them best to sell goods which are the most reliable and give their customers the greatest satisfaction.

Ask a grocer of this kind his opinion of Red Rose Tea—his opinion will be honest, because nearly all other teas pay him a larger profit than Red Rose. He probably uses it in his own house, and will tell you in a very few words why he recommends it.

Brushes on Fine Furniture.

Brushes can be removed from fine furniture by means of what is known in the cabinet trade as the steaming process, and any intelligent person can do it by exercising a reasonable amount of care. The object, of course, is to raise the grain of the wood to the same level as before the damage. Take a piece of wet felt or heavy flannel about the size of the dent to be removed and a hot iron. Lay the felt on the damaged spot and apply the iron so as to make the wood hot with the steam. Repeat the process until the grain of the wood has risen somewhat higher than the rest of the surface. Allow it to dry for some hours. Sandpaper it with 00 paper until smooth, then refinish. If this is properly done the surface will be like new. Very hard wood will succumb to this treatment, but will take more time than woods like mahogany or black walnut.

To Restore Gray Hair.

A celebrated German physician's recipe which is said to restore the color to gray hair after illness is to give sulphur and iron internally and by anointing the scalp with yolk of egg. A hair restorer is made from one dram of sulphate of iron, one-half dram of sulphate of ammonia, one ounce of tincture of rosemary, four drams each of extract of rosemary and extract of thyme, one ounce each of rectified spirits and glycerin and one-half pint of elder flower water. Add the hon the spirits, the glycerine to the extract and tincture, the sulphate to the perfume water. Agitate, then add the first mixture to the second and lastly unite them to the third. Apply to scalp and hair nightly with massage.

THE LABYRINTH PUZZLE.

See if You Can Trace the Course Taken by the Tourist.

If you were suddenly placed at the center of the earth, provided with the accompanying chart and told to start on a pilgrimage around the world, you would pursue a tangled course before reaching your home city. A man, so runs the story, started to make this trip around the world. His starting point was the black spot on the chart. He wanted to stop at some big city.

THE LABYRINTH PUZZLE.

but could not decide whether that city should be London, Paris or New York. At last he decided on the city he would first visit and set out at once. The twisted, snarled lines in the picture represent his course. Do you want to know what city he went to? Then take a pencil and follow the line of his travels from the black spot and you will find yourself at last at the city he chose, for the line ends abruptly at that city. Try this and see how unconfused you can keep your brain in tracing the wanderer's travels.—New York World.

A NEAT LITTLE TRICK.

How to Make the Silver Quartet Drop into the Hat.

A very neat trick may be performed by any boy with a hat and a silver quarter. The quarter may be brand new, just from the mint, but the hat had better be an old one, or at least one that its owner is not very particular about, for it is likely to get a little rough handling.

It must be of the pattern known as a "stovepipe," either silk or beaver. Lay it on its side on top of a glass tumbler, and on the upper side of the hat place the quarter.

Now what you ask one of your little friends to do is to knock the hat from under the quarter so that the latter will fall into the tumbler.

Every one that tries it will be sure to strike the hat on its brim, but that will only send it across the room and the quarter somewhere on the floor.

When the feat has been pronounced impossible you make a few feints as if you, too, were going to strike it on the brim, and then suddenly you give it a smart tap on the inside of the crown, when it will jump quickly out and let the coin fall directly down into the tumbler.

Ethel's Letter to Cecile.

Dear little Cecile Valory had promised to pay a visit to her friend Ethel, and Cecile was such a sweet little girl that her visits always brought pleasure. But when the day for the visit came it poured rain, and as Cecile could not go out, so she wrote a little note of apology to Ethel, who sent the following letter in reply:

Dear Cecile—I am so sorry it rained and you could not come to see me. I missed you very, very much. Do come your soon as you can. Our baby broke my big doll's face and pulled the little doll's wig off. So you can see that my poor children are not very well. I hope to see you very soon. Your loving friend, —ETHEL.

Don't you think it was too bad for the rain to have kept those two little friends apart, and don't you think that Ethel wrote a nice little letter to Cecile?

Dolls in Ancient Greece.

The dolls the classic Greek children played with were made of wax and clay decorated with bright colors. As these children married when they were very young they played with their dolls until just before their wedding day. Then they made a sacrifice of all their toys, dolls and clothes included. They dedicated them as a pious offering to some deity. If the little girl died before she was grown up her dolls were buried with her. Thus it happens that we have been able to learn the kind and fashion of dolls which comforted these ancient children.—New York Press.

Took Them by the Handles.

Philip had gone to bring in the new kittens to show them to a visitor. His mother, hearing a shrill meowing, called out, "Don't hurt the kittens, Philip!"

"From the hall came the reassuring answer: 'Oh, no. I'm carrying them very carefully by the stems.'—Youth's Companion.

Wanted—A Twin.

If any little boy who reads is five years old today
And likes to look at picture books and dearly loves to play
And doesn't care to sit on chairs, but much prefers to sit on the floor
And measures just as high as me upon our kitchen door
And isn't frightened in the dark, but feels a little queer—
As if he'd like to cuddle up to some one very near—
And means to be a soldier just the minute he's a man.
To fight with bears and Indians—and pirates, if he can—
If there's a boy like that I wish that he would please begin Right now to pack his toys and come to be my little twin!
—Hannah G. Fernald in Youth's Companion.

Jail Governor's Courage.

Oshawa, April 22.—Governor W. I. Sparks, of Sandwich, and Deputy Sheriff Summell of Sandwich, were taking Wm. Brown, aged 24, to the penitentiary on Thursday. After leaving this town, when the train was going 15 or 20 miles an hour, the man, who was a prisoner, took a dive for liberty through the car window. Governor Sparks, although 62 years of age, promptly followed him, and after chasing Brown a couple of blocks secured his prisoner. It was a wonder both were not killed, as it was the prisoner only strained his leg, and the governor suffers from shock.

THE ESTIMATES
THE ACTUAL WORK

Temiskaming Engineers' Guesses By Rule of Thumb.

Figures Brought Down in the Legislature Show a Remarkable Discrepancy Between the Actual Excavating Quantities and the Estimates—Hon. Mr. Hanna Introduced His License Bill in Blank—Assembly's Routine Work.

Toronto, April 22.—Before separating for the week's holidays the legislators made rapid progress with the routine work outlined on the order paper of the Legislature on Thursday. A number of bills were read a second time and 14 bills of various descriptions were introduced to the House for the first time, a couple of license law amendments being among the number. The House struggled through this routine until 5 o'clock, when the Premier was ready to go into the estimates, but Mr. Graham, who was leading the Opposition, suggested that the estimates should wait until the Premier's routine work.

The House adjourned till May 2. Temiskaming Railway Excavating. In reply to Mr. Dunlop, the Commissioner of Public Works gave figures showing the amount of rock and earth taken out by the contractors of the Temiskaming Railway as compared with the estimate, as well as the cost and estimate of trestles and bridges. Question 1. What were the actual quantities of solid rock, loose rock, hardpan and earth excavated and paid for and what was the extent of the permanent trestle constructed and paid for under the contract of Messrs. A. R. Macdonell & Co. in the construction of the first 112 miles of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway? 2. What were the estimated quantities of the above materials and works on which the contract was let and the contract price of each?

	Actual	Estimated	Contract
	Yards.	Yards.	Yards.
Solid rock	882,542	200,000	$107
Loose rock	65,387	100,000	50
Hardpan	774,123	500,000	38
Earth	764,695	1,600,000	22
Permanent trestle	1,341,567	4,000,000	25
Temporary trestle	687,241	10,000	25
Cuverts	751,051	1,800,000	24

Need Only Six Millions.

Col. Matheson said it was necessary to borrow money to take up the treaty with the Indians, last year in connection with the Temiskaming Railway. The bill gives power to borrow $7,000,000, but it was not intended to borrow more than $5,000,000, as they would not need the $2,000,000 if they got the Dominion subsidy.

Hon. Mr. Hanna introduced his license bill in blank. He informed the press that it provided for minor changes, the nature of which he would not say.

Mr. Crawford's license law amendment provides that a municipality may cancel a license in case of a second offence.

The bill of Mr. Smith of Peel, if it becomes law, will permit women having votes at municipal elections to vote for members of the Legislative Assembly.

Hon. Mr. Hanna presented a report on regulations for the new mining divisions of Michipicoten and Temiskaming.

Qualifications of Aldermen. Mr. Preston (Brant) introduced the second reading of his bill to amend the municipal act. It provides for the reduction of the qualifications of mayor and aldermen to $500 freehold and to $1,000 leasehold.

Mr. Hanna observed that the bill either went too far or did not go far enough. The school boards were quite as important in his opinion as the boards of aldermen and the only qualification necessary for trustees is that of an elector. He suggested that the bill be withdrawn and that a solution be evolved from the ideas that might be presented.

Mr. Harcourt said the analogy between the school boards and councils was not true, as the opportunity to be extravagant did not come to the school boards more than once in 40 years. He had known municipalities to be carried to the verge of bankruptcy and a wholesome check is placed on the councilors by requiring a property qualification.

Mr. Downey said it would be illogical to allow a man to sit at a council board who would not be qualified to vote on a money bill. He had such a bill before the House last year, but it was strangled in the House.

Hon. Mr. Whitney believed it was desirable to reduce this qualification. It was desirable to abolish it. He was distinctly opposed to the bill.

annexation shall be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in council.

Public Parks.

Another bill of Mr. Preston of Brant makes it possible for municipal councils to purchase small squares or parcels of land for public parks, and also provides that municipal councils shall issue debentures to pay one-half the cost of a park, for which the other half has been subscribed by individuals.

The Premier saw some objection to compelling municipalities to pay one-half the cost of a park just because someone provides the other half. It was contrary to the spirit of the act to say that a body of four or five should be allowed to compel the citizens to undertake the expense.

The bill was changed to give the councils the option of purchasing parks without submitting the matter to the ratepayers.

Black Eye For Crimes Act.

Napanee has a grievance against the two lighting companies, which have been doing business in the town, in darkness, and some of the streets without light save that of the feeble tallow candle or coal oil lamp, during the greater portion of the past winter.

The town council proposed to go into the lighting business on its own account, and authority is asked from the Legislature to establish a municipal plant without being required to buy out the plants of the existing companies. The private bills committee on Thursday passed the bill.

THE FUN WENT ON.

Though a Hamilton Youth Was Electrocuted While Carrying Calcium Light Across the Stage.

Hamilton, April 22.—Thos. Bradt, 134 Jackson street, was electrocuted on the stage of the Grand Opera House at 8.30 last evening, during a performance of "The Wizard of Oz." The show went right on as though nothing had happened. The members of the company kept their heads and continued their fun-making, and the audience did not get an inkling of what had happened. Bradt was a youth of about 16 years of age, but was so light that he looked to be many years older. He was employed by Lowe & Garrett, the electricians, and was engaged for the evening by the opera house people. His work was to handle a calcium light; it is a portable affair, and he seized it in his hands to carry it across the stage. He stepped on a register and that completed the circuit. The wires were supposed to carry a voltage of only 250, but it was enough to render the youth unconscious. Dr. McCabe was summoned, but Bradt was dead before he arrived. While the building echoed with the laughter of the big crowd in the front of the house, the stage hands carried the corpse out. It was taken to James Dryden's morgue, where an inquest will be opened today. Bradt was a son of William Bradt.

One Nun, Twelve Children and Four Old People in Convent.

St. Genevieve Branch of the Convent of the Sisters of St. Anne of Lachine Reduced to Ashes With Awful Loss of Life—The Heroic Dead Nun Only One Who Could Tell the Cause.

Montreal, April 22.—The fatality at St. Anne de la Poutie, when seven of a family were wiped out by fire, was followed yesterday morning by an awful disaster near this city. Fire broke out at a tan early hour and reduced to ashes the convent in the beautiful Little Village of St. Genevieve. One nun, twelve children and four old people who occupied an adjoining hospital perished in the flames. As soon as fire was discovered bucket brigades were formed, and every possible effort made to save the building, but the fire had gained too much headway. The inmates, aroused by smoke, attempted to grope their way out of the building. Notwithstanding all efforts, there was a deplorable loss of life. One of the nuns, in heroic endeavor to save the lives of the children in her charge, succumbed. The pupils who were lost were in a portion of the building where the fire had obtained too great headway before the alarm was given to enable those who responded to effect a rescue.

These in the Convent.

When the inmates of St. Genevieve Convent, near Lac Beauport, Quebec, retired to bed Good Friday evening there were 10 sisters, 12 pupils and five old ladies inmates. Of these one of the reverend ladies, 10 pupils and four of the old women perished in a fire which broke out at midnight. One of the old women was in the upper story. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The Known Dead.

Sister Marie Adjeur, Parmalee Dugas, 13 years, of St. Genevieve; Louise Dugas, 16 years, St. Genevieve; Berthe Tessier, 17 years, St. Genevieve; Amanda Garand, 15 years, St. Genevieve; Marie Legault, 12 years, St. Genevieve; Marceline Villeneuve, 11 years, St. Henri; Emma Perrault, 15 years, Montreal; Irene Bertrand, 9 years, St. Genevieve; Alder Robitaille, 9 years, St. Genevieve; Eganthe Proulx, 10 years, Montreal; Madame Cardinal, 92 years, St. Genevieve; Madame Marguerite Potvin, 99 years, St. Genevieve; Madame Beaujeu, 92 years, St. Genevieve; Madame Lalonde, 85 years, St. Genevieve.

The Injured.

Sister Marie Therese De Jesu, Sister Marie Robertine, Alexine Pilet, Eveline Paquin, Eva Perron of St. Genevieve.

Started in Hospice. The fire started in the old ladies' hospice, and the smoke was so thick that the children on the floor above were unable to get downstairs. The origin is unknown and probably could not be told by lips now sealed in death. Sister Mary Adjeur, superior of the ill-fated convent, confessed her utter ignorance of the cause, nor could any of the other sisters rescued give it. One of the inmates, Mrs. Meralier, let fall some remarks which might show how the fire originated, but she was in such a state of excitement that nothing coherent could be obtained. The general explanation is that one of the old charity boys, who were during the night, let a match fall.

One of the older sisters was first to notice that something was wrong just before midnight, when she was awakened and her room was heavy with smoke. Her cries awakened the sisters. The sleeping quarters were divided; some were downstairs and others were located in the upper floors. The convent was three stories high. Those in the lower floor attempted to go to the floors above, but great volumes of smoke drove them back. The sisters in the upper floor appear, however, to have been quickly aware of the fire, and Sister Marie de Jesu spread the alarm by ringing a bell, calling all in the dormitories to arise.

Jumped for Their Lives.

The sisters then warned the pupils in the other parts of the convent, and then all downstairs and ordered them all downstairs. Some ran all the way down, others half way, and came back screaming with terror. One of the pupils on the second floor, Miss Pelletier, broke one of the windows, and the Sister Therese jumped below, as it was their only chance. The girl escaped uninjured, but the sister had her arm broken.

In the upper floor there remained Sister Marie Adjeur, and with her died the pupils whose lives are sacrificed.

Just what happened in the third floor, it is impossible to tell. Doubtless the nuns and the children found themselves cut off from the stairway and perished by fire, or perhaps they were suffocated while yet in their beds.

The convent was called St. Anne, and was a branch of the convent of the Sisters of St. Anne of Lachine. Joseph Daniels' house and two barns caught fire and were also destroyed.

Archbishop Sympathetic. The parish priest of St. Genevieve is Rev. J. B. Bourget, who was on the ground early and did splendid work attending to the wounded. Early yesterday morning he received the following despatch from the Archbishop of Montreal: "Stricken down by the terrible catastrophe which has brought mourning to so many families, to the Sisters of St. Anne, and to the whole parish, I pray that God may console and fortify the afflicted. To-morrow I will refer to your village in order to extend my profound sympathy."

Money Loss $15,000.

The loss sustained by the Sisters of St. Anne in the destruction of their convent will reach about $15,000; covered by insurance.

F. D. Monk, M.P. for Jacques Cartier, drew at once to the scene of the conflagration, as scores of his constituents are in mourning.

It is probable that a serious effort will now be made to improve conditions in hundreds of these educational

Firemen Hurt; Women Burned.

New York, April 22.—Three firemen were injured, six women were severely burned, seventy families were made homeless and property valued at $150,000 was destroyed by a fire which raged for two hours in the heart of the thickly settled Hebrew center in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn yesterday.

SPECIFIC

For the Treatment

ALCOHOLISM

Used in Connection with the Province of Quebec Probation System with Unvarying Success

The City Council of Montreal has ordered the marvelous discovery. The Finance Committee of Montreal recently voted $500 to delay the expense of placing the medicine in each of the city police stations, as prompt application of the treatment to bad cases will prevent the fatalities continually occurring in the cells.

No Sanatorium is required. The treatment can be taken at home. No special diet required. The desire to reform is simply necessary and spirits avoided for a few days.

This medicine is now within the reach of all, the price having been reduced. The wonderful results obtained with the worst cases of drunkards coming before the Judges of the Recorder's Courts in Quebec and Montreal warrants the statement that the disease of Drunkenness can be cured—readily and surely—under ordinary circumstances and with the reasonable desire upon the part of an inebriate.

This treatment is simply the medicine of the medical profession—the only secret is as to its administration.

Dr. Mackay's discovery is the result of 25 years of practice as a specialist and expert. He is a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec.

The Government of Quebec through the Judges ordered over 600 boxes of the medicine for prisoners appearing in the Courts in 1904—Official Reports establish 80 per cent of cures with these cases.

With public and official endorsement and the record of results published it is unnecessary to waste money experimenting further. All communications private.

At the Court of King Edward

Interesting Ceremonies which, since His Majesty's accession, have been received in all their Historic Splendor.

Wherever the King is, there also is his court. It is, however, when King Edward is in London or at Windsor that the court may be considered in full swing.

Most interesting from the public point of view are the great ceremonies which, since His Majesty's accession, have been revived in all their old historic splendor, and with all their wonderful glamour. The afternoon drawing rooms of Queen Victoria—all too few and far between for London society—were formerly the great events of the season. But the memory of these pale insignificance before the crown-glories of the evening courts now by King Edward and his Consort at Buckingham Palace.

At London home of the King Queen, so dainty-looking and unassuming from outside, is more wonderful than the Palace of Aladdin. Any one who has the high privilege of entrance to one of those evening receptions. The noble staircases, spacious lofty rooms are ablaze with light, and decorated with rare tapestries and fountains. The furniture is but splendid in gold and red, the rooms are cleared in the and before the assemblage of present seemingly endless polished wood in which the candelabra are reflected as in a mirror.

One of these evenings a guard is drawn up in the quadrangle and the stately old Yeoman Guard, in their rich Elizabethan costumes, are posted in the hall and partly up the staircases. Their lines being confined further by the Honorable Corps of Gentleman-at-Arms, and on the landing and in the ante-rooms the Gold Sticks and the White Sticks-in-Waiting, and a little crowd of court officials in black velvet and white.

Outside the palace the streets are thronged with Londoners, who never weary of waiting in the dark, in the cold, or in the rain, and watching the steady streams of carriages which dash up to the palace gates in one long tidal procession, revealing glimpses of women in wonderful white dresses and men in brilliant uniforms.

RECEIVING DEBUTANTES.
But even these watchers in the roadway may form no real impression of the gorgeous color and rich pageant to be seen within the palace as the guests to His Majesty's Court make their way slowly up the grand staircase and take their positions on the right-hand side of the drawing rooms.

All the great nobles of the land are here and the very cream of the society of three kingdoms, in military and naval uniforms glittering with stars and ribbons, with jeweled collars and orders of every rank and honorable distinction, of in ordinary court costume of black velvet coats and knee breeches, with silver braid and silver-mounted swords. And all the beautiful and stately women of the British aristocracy vie with each other in wondrous dresses and jewels of almost blinding brilliancy which are perhaps literally worth "a king's ransom."

But the most beautiful sight in this beautiful scene is the crowd of debutantes, the young girls who are to be presented for the first time, and in whose whole lifetime there will be only one day more memorable than this, and that their wedding day, which is generally not far distant. Many have been the hours spent in consultation with a Court dressmaker over the white gown to be worn to-night; great the excitement when it arrives in all its beauty of soft white billows and long white train, a very dream-dress, yet not so beautiful by far as some of those sweet young faces with bright sparkling eyes and complexions still fresh and fragrant as summer's first rosebud, who stand trembling a little at the ordeal they are about to pass through.

Then the King comes, and the Queen. His Majesty wears the brilliant uniform of a Field Marshal, with the order of the Garter. Her Majesty is in a handsome gown of black and silver, with a little diamond of diamonds, her long train held by little page boys in scarlet coats. They are preceded by the Lord Chamberlain, the Gold Sticks-in-Waiting and the White Sticks, and followed by other officials of the household, and the little procession passes slowly through the Gold Drawing Room, the White Drawing Room, the Blue Drawing Room, and the State Drawing Room, to the Ball Room, through lines of tall women who sweep into low curtseys; past lines of men in uniform, who bow silent as Their Majesties pass with gracious smiles and acknowledgments, occasionally stopping to give a special greeting to some old friend, or to some distinguished officer returned from active service, a high favor to be chronicled for ever in the families to whom they belong.

Then, taking their stand before two gold chairs on a square of soft carpet, the King and Queen receive the debutantes, who advance one by one, as their names are announced by the Lord Chamberlain, kissing hands with that wonderful courtesy which is one of the most graceful and difficult things of a society woman's education, and retiring backwards amidst the murmur of admiration.

KING EDWARD

AT WORK

Whatever writing King Edward finds it necessary to do himself is done in a quick, hurried style of penmanship, which in itself is a suggestion of the quantity of work he has to perform. The King is most particular that all his letters and papers shall be arranged and filed according to an excellent system which is largely his own invention, and he never keeps any of them after the necessity for doing so has ceased. It is an instance of His Majesty's reluctance to accumulate "rubbish," as well as his strict regard for secrecy, that every morning the contents of a large waste paper basket are taken charge of by his private secretary, who is personally responsible for seeing that they are burned. He smokes hard while he is engaged on business matters, and invariably has a box of cigars and another of cigarettes at his elbow.

THE SAME AFTER

ALL THOSE HOURS

When the ten-year-old slipped out of the house at daybreak, says "Chums," he left a note stating that he was "off" to fight Indians. The foe could not be found, however, and when night came, a hungry, tired and homesick little boy crept back to his father's house under cover of darkness. The family, however, did not receive him with open arms. When he went into the library, father kept on reading his evening paper, mother bent over her sewing and sister kept her eyes glued to a book. The cat alone seemed aware of the return of the prodigal, and rubbed his soft fur caressingly against the lad's legs. The would-be terror of the redskins stooped to pet him, then, straightening up and swallowing a lump in his throat, he demanded, wearily, "Is this the same old cat you had when I went away?"

SIR THOMAS LIPTON The Merchant Prince of England

The first time that Sir Thomas Lipton came to America was in 1865 as a stowaway in an old-fashioned little tramp steamer, and when the vessel neared port he was busily engaged in shoveling coal into the furnaces. The latest time was in 1903, when a whole nation held him in honor as a valiant and true sportsman, making his third brave but vain attempt to take a silver cup back to New York. On this occasion he lived like a prince on his gleaming "Erin," surrounded by his fleet of thirty-three boats—steamers, houseboats, barges, tugs, cruisers, steam launches, gigs, jolly boats and dingies—maintained at his expense and manned by over two hundred men.

Sir Thomas was born in Ireland, but spent his early years in Scotland; his education was a hurried, unconventional, picked-up variety, and at fifteen, with rosy dreams, he ran away from home, smuggled himself into a steamer and came to New York. His eight dollars did not last long, and after working in the rice fields of South Carolina, driving a street car in New Orleans, canvassing for a crayon portrait concern, stending rides on freight cars, and making a day-by-day living as best he could, went back two years later to Glasgow, empty of purse but rich in experience.

The prodigal was received with open arms, and with £100 of his father's savings, he opened a little meat and provision store. He introduced American ideas, worked, as he says, "twenty-five hours a day," and advertised to the limit of his ingenuity. One day, seven of the leanest, gauntest, hungriest men in the kingdom paraded the town in Indian file, bearing on their backs the legend: "We are going to Lipton's." Next day, seven of the fattest men that could be found, walked the streets proclaiming in large letters: "We have been to Lipton's." Meanwhile, the proprietor slept under the counter.

This little shop in High street was the beginning of Lipton's 600 stores throughout England, his fruit farms in Kent, bakeries in Glasgow, the greatest tea plantations in the world in Ceylon, his curing factories in Liverpool, his candy manufactory in London, his fruit trees in Georgia, and his other vast industries, giving employment to ten thousand people, and having made for their owner a fortune of $50,000,000 and an income of $7.50 a minute. He gave $25,000 for the Jubilee Memorial dinner to the poor of London, and his check seemed little to him when his eyes filled with tears at the sight of 310,000 poor people eating as his guests. Not till later did the world learn that it was his gift; for the only thing he never advertises is his charity.

Entered according to Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the year 1904, by W. C. Mack, at the Department of Agriculture.

LAUGHTER AS A MEDICINE

There is probably not the remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the body that does not feel some wavelet from the great convulsion produced by hearty laughter shaking the central man. The blood moves more rapidly—probably its chemical, electric, or vital condition is distinctly modified, it conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular, mystic journey, when the man is laughing, from what it does at other times. And thus it is that a good laugh lengthens a man's life by conveying a distinct and additional stimulus to the vital forces. The time may come when physicians, attending more closely than they do now to the innumerable subtle influences which the soul exerts upon its tenement of clay, shall prescribe to a torpid patient, "so many peals of laughter to be undergone at such and such a time," just as they now do that far more objectionable prescription—a pill, or an electric galvanic shock; and shall study the best and most effective method of producing the required effect in each patient.—Health Culture.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY AN ELEPHANT

"How much does an elephant cost?" asked the old animal importer. "Well, it depends a good deal on the state of the market. Just now elephants are ruling high, because there aren't many for sale in India, and African elephants are almost out of the question. They are held at fancy prices, and even if you were to pay from $3,000 to $4,000 for one of these tall, ugly, ill-tempered, unbroken monsters, you couldn't be sure of getting him, for it's a difficult job to transport an African elephant from the jungle alive. The food that he gets on the voyage doesn't agree with him at all.

"Indian elephants, as I said, rule high just now. The last purchase of a fairly big elephant was made for the New York Zoological park. This elephant is six and one-half feet high at the shoulders, and he weighs 3,780 pounds. His price was about $2,400. You will see that this is about 64 cents a pound. So, if any one asks you hereafter what elephants cost, just tell him from 60 cents to 70 cents a pound, according to the market and the elephant."

Farmers and other wise people in the rural districts predict an early winter, a long one and a strong one. One of the signs is that the birds are already preparing for a flight southward, and another that the husk of the growing corn is very thick and close, and covers the ears to the very end, a never failing proof that overcoats and fuel will be in great demand.

The harvest in France was an absolute failure. Forty millions sterling were spent in 1861 to make up the deficiency. Sixty million francs in gold were sent to Russia to buy grain.

Last evening, the 2nd inst., a very successful socree was held in Dolan's chapel four miles below Chatham, for the benefit of the River Sabbath school. Holmes, Mr. William Holmes and Mr. Warren Martin. At intervals the choir sang in a highly creditable manner some very pretty selections, and children recited pieces. There were about 200 people present.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The Globe and other Liberal journals have become solicitous lest some of the appointees of the late Ontario Government should be released, now that a Conservative Government is in command. There has even been a suggestion of reprisals by the Dominion Government in case Mr. Whitney and his colleagues should dismiss employees of the service. There is no likelihood of any sweeping change in the offices. Men who have attended to their duties need have no anxieties, we believe. Some Government employes, however, have been offensively partisan, and there need be no astonishment if, following the precedent set by the present Dominion Government after the election of 1896, such men are retired. Indeed, those appointed since May 29, 1902, have no right, from any but a party standpoint, to the offices they hold. Mr. Whitney was the choice of the people, and the court proceedings have demonstrated that had it not been for crooked work, a Conservative Government would have been in power two years ago. There would be justification for the dismissal of those appointed since that time. We would not advocate such a course, however, in the case of efficient men who have not taken a flagrant part in the political campaigns. As to appointments made in the dying hours of the Ross Government, there can be no justification for such. They were made as rewards for party services, when the Government had no majority and should not have been in office.

HIGH-CLASS BLACKMAIL.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company has no cause to be dissatisfied with the public assistance which it has been guaranteed in the construction of a transcontinental railway. Canada's public credit has been or will be mortgaged for a very large amount to assist the enterprise, and the unprofitable half of the road is to be built wholly at the expense of the Canadian people.

But the company is not satisfied. Probably it would not be satisfied with anything short of what it is possible to get. Its general manager has attempted to "hold up" the British Columbia Government for a huge land grant by threatening to postpone construction in the Pacific province unless the grant is made. So far, the attempt has failed. Now, the company, which has been granted by the Ontario Government a tract of territory as large as a European principality for building a branch line to Thunder Bay (which would have to be built in any event) is trying to coerce the town of Port William as it tried to coerce British Columbia. Fort William is the best terminus of the branch line; but the company threatens to sidetrack the town unless it grants aid.

Probably these cases indicate the course which is to be pursued by the company in its dealings with provinces and municipalities. It is a policy which is hardly to be distinguished from blackmail. It would be interesting to know whether Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and the G. T. B. directors have authorized this policy, whether the person solely responsible for it is Mr. Morse, the general manager of the G. T. Pacific, or whether Mr. Morse is doing as General Manager Hays bids him. Mr. Morse is one of the numerous American railway men imported by Mr. Hays. He seems to have imbibed the spirit of that other American railway man who gave to the world the immortal epigram: "The public be damned!"—Hamilton Herald.

A woman, who is deaf, for the first time in twelve years enjoyed the pleasure of hearing a sermon last Sunday in one of the Presbyterian churches in Cleveland, Ohio. She had been a regular attendant during all the years. On the desk in front of the minister was a telephone transmitter, and wires were strung from that to the lady's pew, where, with a little disc attached to the end of the wire, which she placed at her ear, she heard every word of the sermon. A year or more ago a lady needed with the First Methodist Church in this city was an invalid and unable to attend church. She is a great admirer of the preaching of Rev. Dr. Wilson and did not want to miss his sermons. A telephone wire was connected with the pulpit of the church and the lady's apartment at her home, and she enjoyed not only the sermon but all the services, hearing every word distinctly.—Hamilton Spectator.

Geo. D. Ross is a dry goods merchant on King street.

Wm. E. Easty is an auctioneer of Montreal who conducted a business in Chatham at McNabb's old store, Post Office Block.

The Toronto papers report the death at Goderich on the 26th ult., of Mr. Joseph Barry. He was the first white male child born in Little York. Mr. Barry was only 65 years of age when he died, yet Little York had during those 65 years grown to be the city of Toronto with 45,000 white inhabitants.

Some persons were fishing at Hill's wharf, Lake Erie, a short distance below Morpeth, when a man, named Smith, caught a splendid silver eel measuring about 3 feet in length.

Mr. Thomas Keating of Chatham, being present at the time, purchased the eel for 25 cents, and the day following eleven persons made a meal off it. This was undoubtedly one from the stock of eels put into the Rond Eau a few years since by Col. Prince, and is, we believe, the first that has been caught in Lake Erie.

A man is called selfish, not for pursuing his own good, but for neglecting his close neighbors.

THE THIRST OF CHRIST

LAST WORDS OF THE SON OF MAN BEFORE HIS DEATH.

Very Need of His Suffering Flesh Rings Out As a Message For the Centuries—No One So Weak, So Feeble, So Utterly a Waif in the Gutter That He Cannot Join in This Cry.

Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst.—St. John, xiv, 28.

These are the last words of the Son of Man before His death to mankind. They are uttered for a purpose by one dying in full possession of His faculties; to discourage human aspirations; to unite Him with the feeblest cry of human flesh.

No one so weak, so feeble, so utterly a waif in the gutter that he cannot join in this cry; a dog can whine it! The lonely One of Calvary never for a moment forgets His mission. Every little one may understand His last word. The very need of His suffering flesh rings out as His message for the centuries. The same hand that created a tongue to cleave to the jaws by thirst, has turned it into the sweetest message ever heard by true hearts and sincere lives.

If one look for a sign of the divine nature of this Man let him go back and mark how carefully He has prepared for this His last will and testament. He has taken a sponge and dipped it in His vessel of wine and touched it to the lips of the crucified One. Poor fellow, he little knew how in coming centuries men would envy him this simple act of a completely human heart.

This mere impulse of a sweet human nature had marked the drink of a gulf between God and man, and on the other side, separated by centuries, stands the One who had thirsted.

Across the gulf comes the long deferred answer of the Son of God, "I was thirsty and ye gave me drink." It was thirsty and ye gave me drink. The Son of Man is the crowd in the gutter (we are in it), crying, "When were you thirsty and when did we give you drink?" And then the tender and fearful answer comes, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." As you would love me had I taken your little child, lost and desolate, thirsting and hungry, and given it drink and food and care, so now the Son of God declares that as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me. It is supremely simple—ye would do the same to me as God would do unto you. But pause a bit. What does Christ mean by the "least"? Least is a relative word. You may despise a man for his poverty, but may admire him for his genius; he may be your least, while to me he is great.

We fill the picture of the judgment before Christ with some poor tramp to whom we have shown some cheap kindness while we have overlooked the real need of his soul. Perhaps our "least" robe by us in a carriage, wearing royal robes, being least to us because of our animosity, envy or hatred; because he had done us injury, had taken from us the world's praise, we thought to be our right, while we at great expense had assuaged his thirst, for all men have their hours of deep solitude and anguish of spirit and any one of us may act the part of the Roman soldier.—W. Everett Johnson, Rector Church of the Redeemer, New York.

DR. WARD AFFECTED.

Former Assailant Wept At Sight of Beecher Portrait.

The New York Herald of April 12, says: Dr. William Hayes Ward, editor of The Independent who thirty years ago was attacking Henry Ward Beecher in his paper, wept convulsively before a portrait of the great preacher in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, in the presence of one hundred ministers.

It was the first meeting of the Manhattan-Brooklyn Association of Congregational Ministers held in Plymouth Church, since the death of Mr. Beecher, who withdrew from that body while charges were pending against him. Dr. Henry A. Stimson, pastor of the Manhattan Congregational Church, made a touching allusion to Mr. Beecher and to the troubles that led to his withdrawal from the association.

Dr. Stimson's eyes fell on a picture of Mr. Beecher. He pointed to it, and referred feelingly to the attacks on so noble a man. Dr. Ward's frame trembled, and covering his face with his hands, he wept bitterly. Then he left his seat by Dr. Stimson's side and departed.

Press Censorship Run Mad. The press censor in St. Petersburg refuses to permit the mention of astronomical research "because it tends to subvert traditional belief."

How This Smith Got a Name. A negro who was sent to prison charged by his bride with non-support gave his name as Extra Smith.

He explained that there were so many Smiths in Virginia that when he appeared no name was left for him, so he was christened "Extra."

AT COURT OF KING EDWARD

tion which their loveliness stirs even in that decorous assembly.

THE PIVOT OF SOCIETY. Hardly less brilliant, save that no ladies are present, is one of the morning levees held by the King at the Palace of St. James'. Generally the King comes from Windsor for the occasion, and drives to St. James' in his gorgeous state coach, with out-riders in the Royal livery, escorted by a cavalcade of the Household Cavalry.

In the courtyard are mounted guards of honor, and His Majesty is received by the great officers of state and conducted to the Throne Room. All the diplomatic corps are here, the ambassadors and attaches of every nation accredited to Great Britain, in the orders of their own country; the Cabinet Ministers of the Government in power, military and naval men of high rank, and young officers who are to receive the honor of a presentation to His Majesty. Generally there are many foreign visitors of distinction whom the ambassadors are anxious to introduce to the King, and these are always received with that affability and courtesy which has gained for the King the admirable title of "The Peacemaker."

The Court balls and State dinner parties at Buckingham Palace are equally brilliant and impressive, and these, together with the others already described, comprise the more formal ceremonies of King Edward's Court.

But the King is truly the pivot upon which the whole of British aristocratic society revolves, the fountain-head of all honors, titles, and distinctions, the final appeal in all matters of State business, and the supreme head of the Government and of the Empire in its admiration and control. The people of Great Britain, proud of their representative government, do not quite realize the power and personal influence of the King. Queen Victoria allowed a great deal of this power to pass out of her hands, but King Edward is a man of high ideals, of practical kingdom and statesmanship, great industry and zeal and determination, and he is a King in far more than name and show.

THE KING AT WORK.

Every day he rises at an early hour, generally at six o'clock, and spends at least two hours in the study and despatch of State documents which require his signature. Then there is his private correspondence to personal friends at home and abroad, and the superintendence of his household, every detail of which is under his personal supervision and instructions.

In the morning he generally receives one or two Cabinet Ministers, with whom he advises on matters of imperial and national importance, the Ambassador of some Powers with whom the nation is engaged in some new diplomatic agreement or treaty, one or two Kings-at-Arms or heralds, who are busy with the arrangements for some State ceremony, and any foreign visitor of high distinction on a visit to London whom he may honor with an invitation.

The Royal function has come to be a function for conferring Royal favor upon any subjects who have done good things in the service of the Empire, and many a distinguished young officer or colonial administrator, or athlete, or sculptor, or inventor is astonished and delighted to receive a morning or two after his arrival in London from foreign parts a "command" to Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle.

In the afternoon, perhaps the King presides at a meeting of his Privy Council, after which, considering the early hour at which he rises, he may be justly entitled to consider the business of the day at an end, and spends the rest of the afternoon in calling upon the Prince and Princess of Wales at Marlborough House, or the Princess Louise, and the Duke of Argyll, at Kensington Palace, or the Duke and Duchess of Fife in Portman Square, or the Duke and Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz at Mecklenburg House, or any other members of his family or private circle of friends.

Almost every evening the King and Queen are in London they go either to the opera or one of the theatres. To those who do not live in the heart of the social whirligig, it is impossible to realize what the Court means to London, but in gaiety, in pageantry, in social influence, in commercial prosperity, in friendliness between Great Britain and foreign powers, in patriotism and enthusiasm for the person of the King, it is not too much to say that King Edward's Court is of vast importance to the well-being and prosperity of the British Empire.

Bluebird, warbling in the leafless grove,
 Sweetly caroling, "Life is love, is love!"
 Dandelion, in the wayside grass
 Springing, gold to give to all who pass:

Clinging Mayflower, scenting wide the land
 Where the patient forests waiting stand:
 Joy unassailed, liveliest hope ye bring,
 Life anew! the secret of the Spring.

"THE FIELD OF BLOOD"

STORY OF INIQUITOUS BARGAIN AND USE OF TAINTED MONEY.

MORBIDITY OF SOME PEOPLE

Wonderful Lessons From the Evil of Avarice and Cupidity—Warning to Men Treading the Path of Sin—Evil Comrades All Leave in the Day of Trial—Necessity to Eradicate the Tendency to Sin.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada,
in the year 1905, by Frederick Dyer, of Toronto,
at the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 16.—From
the story of an iniquitous bargain and the use to which the tainted money earned by it was put the preacher in this sermon draws lessons of the evils that come from avarice and cupidity.
The text is Matthew xxv, 1, "Wherefore that field was called the field of blood."

A gruesome fascination hovers about the bricks, and the stones, and the boards, and the grounds where lived and wrought some of the world's evil workers. Island of Blennerhassett!
Wonderful name, rich in historical associations! I see the boats every spring and summer and fall filled with sightseers almost daily pushing out upon the Ohio river to seek this little island near Marietta. Why? Is it a summer playground? Is it an Isle of Wight? Is the entire mansion? Are its banks forests? Are its trees filled with sweetest of songsters as they were once in the halcyon days when its owner, Barman Blennerhassett, took his bride
there and changed this island into an Edenic garden, as Nebuchadnezzar, who had, courted Princess Amytis
among the hills of Babel, to honor the whims of his queen, had lifted high for the wonderment of the world the famous "hanging gardens of Babylon"?
Oh, no. Blennerhassett island to-day is of little intrinsic value. A few scrub trees, a few rocks, perhaps a few herons such as can be seen in scores of islands in the middle of this Ohio river are all the scenic beauties it has to offer to the landscape artist. But to the historian Blennerhassett has the same fascination as have the broken walls of Kenilworth Castle. Blennerhassett is immortal on account of the infamous history of Aaron Burr. That is the place the ex-vice-president stopped on his way to establish a monarchy in the great southwest. It has an evil fame as the rendezvous of the traitorous con-spirator of that day, just as it is as the scene of the dramatic tragedy of the house in a side street of Washington in which Mary E. Surratt welcomed the thugs of the later time who were plotting the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Scores and hundreds of people naturally seek in fascinated awe the places where a great crime has been committed. The star in the floor of the Pennsylvania depot, where Garfield was shot,
for years had its thousands of sightseers. The scene of the Chicago Hay-market riot, the place where Edward Stokes shot James Fisk, the sausage vat where Leutgers disintegrated the body of his murdered wife, all have drawn their morbid sightseers even as the room in which George Washington breathed his last has its daily visitors.

Crowds of sightseers in Jerusalem for years after the crucifixion went to the scene of my text out of a morbid curiosity, as the multitude seek the island of Blennerhassett. Indeed, had they not gone out of a morbid curiosity they never would have gone at all.
"Aeldama—that is to say, the field of blood"—is not, as some people might suppose, an Esdras plain where a mighty battle was fought. It was an old potter's field, filled with clay. It was too poor ground to be used for agricultural purposes. It had been turned into a paupers' cemetery. Yet this paupers' burial ground had for years hosts of sightseers. Why? Perhaps the best way to answer you is to tell you what some of the sightseers are now saying. "Yes, this is ground," says one, "that was bought by the priests with the thirty pieces of silver Judas received for betraying Christ." "Aeldama—that is, the field of blood"—says another, "it is well named." Could we have a better subject to preach upon on the Sabbath preceding Good Friday than this potter's burial ground? Judas received for betraying Christ? Aeldama, in the first place, teaches us that there is no honor among thieves.
When a man becomes a Satanist, his life is not likely to be true to his partners in iniquity. A murderer, in order to save his own neck, as a rule will turn state's evidence against his companions in crime. A pickpocket will be just as willing to empty the purses of an associate as he is to snatch the watch of a bank president. It is often vaunted that there is honor among thieves, but experience proves that it is a vain boast. The thief has no honor. The evil spirit who seeks to lead you into temptation is the evil spirit who will desert you as soon as you have been caught in a fatal trap or are floundering in the quicksands of shame.

A sly fox has no loyalty to her kin.
She has but one desire—to save her own skin. This characteristic is essentially true of the Satanist devotees.
All that you have to do to prove this premise is to study how this Aeldama was purchased. For weeks and months the priests were trying to destroy Christ. They knew not how they might capture him, for they feared the people. At last one of their spies came and told them, "He has solved the problem! One of Christ's apostles can be bribed. We will find out where Christ is hiding at night.
Then we will take some soldiers and arrest him and summon the sanhedrin
and try him and crucify him before his friends can come to the rescue. Here is my man at hand. What say you, Judas?"
Will you betray your Master for thirty pieces of silver? "It will," answered
the apostate. Then what happens?
No sooner is Christ betrayed and Judas is overcome with remorse than he comes back to these same priests and says: "I cannot take this money.
It is blood money. Here it is." And he flings it at their feet. Then what happens? Why, the priests look down upon this blood money and say: "That money is too vile for us to touch. We cannot use a murderer's money in the temple. We are too good and holy for that. Let us take the money and buy a paupers' burial ground. That certainly will hurt no one. They got Judas to betray Christ. Then as soon as Judas had done this vile, underhand, sinful work they turned their backs upon him and said: 'Judas, you are too low, too mean and too tem-ptible for us to have anything to do with you. We will not even take back the money we paid you with our own hands, for it is blood money.'"

Ah, the evil genius who lead us into temptation will never stand by us
when they have miserably destroyed us. In ancient Rome the defenders for months were defying the northern barbarians. The strong walls and the iron gates could not be broken down. At last these barbarians went to a Roman woman and said, "If you will open for us the gates at night and let us in, we will give to you our war shields, made of ornamental gold and silver." She opened the gates by night, and Rome fell. But as soon as the northern barbarians became masters of Caesar's throne they destroyed the woman who betrayed her country. They gave her their shields of ornamental silver and gold, but they hurled those shields at her with all the force of their mighty arms until her mangled and bleeding and lifeless body lay buried under her prizes of war. After Benedict Arnold betrayed his country he was hated even more in England than in America. One day he was seated in the gallery of the House of Commons when a statesman rose to address the House. Before commencing his speech he said: "I see in the gallery of this House a contemptible character who, by the betrayal of his own land, has forfeited every right to the respect of mankind. Before I enter upon my speech I hope that Bendict Arnold, known as Arnold, the traitor, might be requested to withdraw from this body of honorable men."
Yes, the very men who profit by a crime despise their instrument and desert him in his iniquity.

Men treading the path of sin, do not be a fool. Do not suppose that those sinful people who are praising you now will fawn upon you after your moral and money are gone. All that the saloonkeeper wants is your gold;
as soon as you are in rags his free lunch counters will no longer give a welcome to you and yours. All that gambler wants is your gold; as soon as your money is gone he will kick you out of his presence as willingly as he would put a bullet in the heart of a mad dog. Ah, yes, the far country held plenty of friends as long as the younger son had horses and wine suppers, but as soon as his money was gone his friends were gone, his wine servants were gone, there was a great famine in that land. Companions of sin, will fawn at your feet while you live in a palace. They will crush you under their heels when they can destroy you. Aeldama, the field of blood, was bought by the evil priests, who had turned against Judas as your companions of sin will yet turn against you.

Aeldama teaches another lesson.
The easiest way to make an apostate
out of a man is to make him a Satanist.
But by denouncing or ridiculing the divine Christ, or by teaching but by developing the tendencies to sin which have not been eradicated from his nature. Let me illustrate my thought practically. You have all wandered through the northern forests in the winter time. Everywhere you have seen the tall trunks of the trees supporting the bare branches. Not a leaf is in sight; not a flower is blooming. Where are the millions upon millions of leaves which as an arched roof covered the mountain pathways last summer? All gone. But if you will rub your fingers lightly over the bark of those branches you can see where new buds and new sprouts will come forth just as soon as the springtime places to her lips the silver trumpet of the warm winds. As I approach a man who is called a Christian man I figuratively find him without sin, but as I touch his heart I find still figuratively speaking, that all over his heart are latent sinful buds easy to be developed. Unless a man lives close to Christ and continues to live close to Christ these evil buds will sprout and grow even as the white apple blossoms cover the tree branches almost in one May day. The reason Judas betrayed Christ was because he allowed his latent buds of sin to develop; that is all.

Judas not different from his fellow apostles? How was that? Some one asks me. "Why, Christ called him a devil." Aye, my friend, that is true.
But Christ did not call Judas a devil
in the sense that he was in the beginning any different from any other of the apostles. Indeed, I know he was just about the same. The apostles at that time honored and respected Judas as much as they did the other apostles.
He was their almoner; he handled all their money. He was not impusive like Peter. He was a calm, cool calculator. Why, if Peter had been elected treasurer in Judas' place, the first ten beggars who came to him
would have got all that he had, and no provision would have been left for the needs of the little company. The reason Judas was elected treasurer was because at first he was loyal to his Master and he was very careful in handling the funds.

But when Judas began to look after the money the old latent sin of his life grew warmer and bolder and sprang out. Covetousness was Judas' sin. Every penny, every piece of silver and gold which came into his possession, only maddened his passions. Methinks
I can see him in the night, selling of gold while his companions slept. "Ah," he kept saying to himself, "if this gold was my mine." This passion, this evil passion, kept growing upon him just as the desire for gold or fame or social position may have been growing upon you. Once Judas would have knocked a man down who would have placed a menacing or murderous hand upon his Christ. But now he kept saying, "Gold, gold, I must have gold."
Must have gold, even if I do destroy Christ to get it! Listen! Let me trace the downfall of Judas—first, the honored apostleship; second, the election to the treasurer's office of the apostolic band; third, the hugging of the gold bags to satisfy the cravings of his developing avarice; fourth, the protest
because the box of ointment of spike-nard, very precious, was poured upon Christ's head; fifth, the selling of Christ's life for thirty pieces of silver.
Judas was not a devil always. Judas went down to the betrayal of Christ
as some of us are going, slowly, surely,
awfully, demoralized, step by step,
step by step.

The field of blood teaches us, in the next place, that the most awful danger that can be done against Christ is done by his apostates and not by his out-and-out enemies. For weeks and months, as I said before, the high priests were trying to take Christ and crucify him. "But when they sought to lay hands upon him they feared the multitudes, because they took him for a prophet." What is the meaning of this? They dared not touch him.
Christ's beneficiaries at that time would have risen up and swept the high priests and the Pharisees from off
the earth.

Supposed toward the close of the Crimean war the English general had given order that Florence Nightingale was to be shot as a spy, what would have happened? Methinks about the commander's tent a brother would have seen 5,000 poor fellows pleading and praying: "She nursed me through a fever and saved my life. She shall not die!" Another would say: "She held my hand when they cut off my leg. She must not die!" Another would have said: "She bandaged my eyes, blasted by the gunpowder explosion. It was on account of her care that I now can see." So those whose limbs Christ had strengthened and whose eyes Christ had opened and whose whole inferous skin Christ had cleansed would have risen up and cried out: "He shall not die! He shall not die!" But when Judas led the Roman officers by night to the garden of Gethsemane, he showed where Christ was in retreat then Jesus was taken by stealth and tried while Jerusalem slept. He was tried by night. He was crucified on the early morning. Oh, my friends, shall it be that you and I as apostates have betrayed Christ into the hands of his enemies?

Another thought, "Aeldama—that is,
the field of blood," teaches that remorse for a sin committed does not necessarily wipe out the record of that sin from the Lamb's book of life. Judas was sorry for his sin. No sooner had he given that betraying kiss than he would have been willing to pour his right arm to have undone the damage. He flung the money back into the priests' faces. He did more than that.
Lacerated and agonized on account of his mental sufferings, he went forth and hanged himself. He practically said:
"O God, my brain is crazed! Let me die!" But to be sorry for a past sin is not enough. Remorse is not salvation through Christ. Dr. Whitley well said in one of his sermons: "Judas had a right and sense of sin, but no apprehension of the mercy of God in Christ,
and so he pined away in his iniquity."
O man, to-day you are sorry for your sin. You are sorry because they dragged you down and down and down and down. But are you more than sorry? Are you ready to renounce them and to plead with God for pardon through the blood of Christ? This pardon is offered to all who come in Christ's name. Remorse for sin does not necessarily mean salvation by faith. There are two facin the life of the prodigal son I would have you well bear in mind. The one is, he was sorry; the second fact, he rose and went back to his father's house. Oh, my brother, will you repent of your sin? Will you do more than that? Will you turn your back upon sin and look at the loving, forgiving face of Jesus Christ?

But the last thought to me is the mother's love. Standing by "Aeldama"—that is, the field of blood, I find that, no matter how much we have sinned, God never loses his love for the son who loves us and clings to us in exactly the same way as a mother clings to her children. I asked a dear friend of mine some time ago who was the favorite among her many children? She answered, "I love the youngest best, all the time, and the absent one best until he returns,
and the sick one best until he gets well."
Yes, I said to myself, "And the prodigal best until he comes back to the father's love." So God clings to his wayward ones. The more we sin the more he wants us by his side and the more he pleads with us and clings to us.

Do we not find this fact true in reference to Judas? Why? Christ knew that Judas was to betray him, did he drive Judas from his side? No; that was not Christ's way. He kept Judas with him clear up to end. He seems to be saying all the time, "Oh, Judas, why wilt thou betray the Son of man?"
One of the last acts of Christ's earthly life was to honor Judas above all his brethren when he gave to him the sop of the supper. The giving of the sop was an act of love, not of hate. So Christ to-day is pleading with you and we. We may spit in his face, as did those who led him forth for crucifixion;
we may place a crown of thorns upon his head; we may betray him with a kiss, as did Judas, but we cannot make Christ cease to love us. Oh, my friends, will not you and I yield to this love of Jesus Christ, which passeth all human understanding? We have wandered far, far away, but Christ is to-day still loving us. Will you accept his pardoning love? Will you accept it now?

This is a worldwide invitation which I am giving you to come to the saving cross. Indeed, so great, so far reaching are the possibilities of human redemption through Christ, that while I was writing this sermon in the quiet-ude of my study the thought arose:
"How do I know the Judas was eternally destroyed? God changed his mind in reference to the Ninevites when they repented of their sins. How do I know that Judas, even when he was damning on the end of that rope, did not make such supplication as brought him within the influence of the divine Father's forgiving love?
Perhaps in the death struggle Judas called upon Christ for rescue. If he did, who shall say that Christ did not pardon him? He could pardon Judas' sins just as he forgave Paul's, who was the "chief of sinners." If Judas did call for divine forgiveness, I know he received it, just as the penitent thief, as Mary Magdalene, as the woman of Samaria, received forgiveness
when repentant, just as freely as you can be forgiven to-day. Oh, my friends, with such a divine love surrounding us,
will you not throw yourself upon the mercy and atonement of Christ, which have saved in the past, which save now and which will save through all time. The cross can be changed into a cross by changing the last two letters. Remorse can be changed into triumph if to-day, in Christ's mercy,
you will reach up and look and live.

HE FEELS AS YOUNG AS EVER

Mr. Chester Loomis Took Dodd's Kidney Pills.

And from a Used up Man he Became
as Smart as a Boy.

Orland, Ont., April 17.—(Special).—
Mr. Chester Loomis, an old and respected farmer living in this section, is spreading broadcast the good news that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for the Lame Back and Kidney Disease so common among old people.
Mr. Loomis says: "I am 76 years of age and smart and active as a boy, and I give Dodd's Kidney Pills all the credit for it."
"Before I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was so used up I could hardly ride in a buggy, and I could not do any work of any kind.
Everybody thought I would not live long. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy."
The kidneys of the young may be wrong, but the kidneys of the old must be wrong. Dodd's Kidney Pills make all wrong kidneys right. That is why they are the old folk's greatest friend.

WHEN OLD MEN DIE.

You know at least one of them had Consumption. At first it was only cough—but it was neglected. When "Catarhoxone" cures so quickly it is foolish to suffer—it is a shame to keep on suffering and waiting. Catarhoxone goes direct to the cause of the disease—that's why it is so dead certain to cure. It stops the cough, prevents that disgusting discharge, clears the phlegm out of the throat in five minutes. Very pleasant, and safe, too; get Catarhoxone

THE TONIC OF HEALTH.

Must be more than a stimulant — must be a food as well. There is one medicine that is both a food and a tonic—it aids digestion, promotes assimilation, converts food into nutriment that builds up nerves, blood, brain and bone. That tonic is Fer-rozene, which contains exactly what a run-down system needs. Ferrozene supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain,
iron to harden the muscles. No wonder it makes such vigorous men and women. You'll eat, sleep, think and feel better by using Ferrozene; try it —now. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty chocolate coated Ferrozene tablts, at all dealers.

Historical Mansion Sold.

The Baby mansion, one of the landmarks of Essex County and one that is intimately associated with the history of that part of Canada, was sold rebuilt by the late Charles Baby, in 1779,

upon ground given him by the Crown.
It is built of walnut logs, with stone and brick trimmings. Its architecture will be preserved.

JUDGES APPOINTED.

We are pleased to be able to announce to the juniors the week that arrangements for the Special Essay Competition are progressing very favorably. It is very interesting and gratifying to note the enthusiasm displayed by the juniors in this competition and from present appearances the essays entered will be the best efforts of the competitors.

As was announced last week, the judges for this competition will consist of a Board of five competent writers of literature. Particular care has been taken in the choosing of the Board, which will be as follows:—

W. E. McKEOUGH, ex-Mayor of the city, who has been asked to act as chairman.

THE LADIES OF ST. URSULA ACADEMY.

MRS. BOBT GRAY, of this city.

DR. THOMAS L. McKEOUGH, of McKays Corners.

W. D. A. ROSS, of Norwich.

The literary attainments of these judges are well known and it would have been difficult to have secured a more efficient Board.

When the essays are received they will be immediately turned over to the judges and a selection of a number of the best essays will be made. These selected essays will then be sent to Hon. Dr. Pyne, Ontario Minister of Education, who will choose the medal-winner.

It is also the intention to ask the judges to make recommendations to personally award the medal to the winner.

It is hoped that the result of every school in the county will be worthy of the competition. Those who enter should remember to put on the essays a distinctive title, as it will be selected as the best Junior essayist in the County of Kent.

SPECIAL ESSAY COMPETITION.

Our little friends, the readers of The Planet Junior, have been asked to enter a competition for the Special Essay Competition. The essays must be written by the young people of the county, and must be sent to the Editor of The Planet Junior, at Chatham, Ontario, before May 23rd.

The subject of the essay is "Our School", and the competitors are at perfect liberty to write anything they like so long as the school has a place in the story.

The essay must be the unaided work of the pupils. Age and grade will be taken into consideration in judging the compositions.

The contest will close May 31st, and all essays must reach this office before 4 o'clock on the afternoon of May 31st.

Envelopes containing essays must be addressed to the Editor of The Planet Junior, and marked on the outside, "Essay Competition".

Competitors must write in ink on one side of the paper only, and the pages must be properly numbered. Names will be considered.

The Honorable Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, will be the final judge and award the Gold Medal given as a prize.

HE WAS NOT ANXIOUS FOR PAYMENT

It was the day before Christmas, and a man was slowly driving his horse-drawn wagon through the snow-covered streets of a small town. He was an old man, with a long white beard and a kind face. He was driving a heavy wagon loaded with goods, and he was looking down at a piece of paper in his hand. The paper was a bill for payment, and he was trying to remember the name of the person to whom it was due.

He was driving slowly, and he was looking at the bill for a long time. He was trying to remember the name of the person to whom it was due. He was driving slowly, and he was looking at the bill for a long time. He was trying to remember the name of the person to whom it was due.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S WISDOM

Want of care does us more damage than want of knowledge.

For want of the nail the shoe was lost, and for want of the shoe the rider was lost.

For want of a screw the wheel was lost, and for want of the wheel the horse was lost.

For want of a horse the rider was lost, and for want of the rider the kingdom was lost.
