Sterling and Stubbs are in the Distance Events

Dan Madden Appeals From Magistrate's Decision in Scott Act Case—Poor Box Thieves Were in Moncton.

MONCTON, N. B., June 24.—Five St. John athletes are entered in the Moncton A. A. handicap meet tomorrow evening. Covey will run in the sprints, Brooks in the 100 yard dash and high jump, Roy Wheeler in the sprints and jumps, Ernest Sterling and George Stubbs in the mile and five mile events. There is a big entry list, about fifty athletes in all, including a large local contingent. Sterling's chief rival at the five mile distance, Fred Cameron, of Amherst, is entered in that event. Entries from Springfield and Amherst, and Percy Glasgow, of Hampton, will take part. Entries from Prince Edward Island and Chatham are expected today. Not yet satisfied with the decision given by Magistrate Kay in the Scott Act case, Dan Madden has appealed the case in which he is charged with tampering with a witness. The appeal case came up this morning before Judge Wells and adjourned till this afternoon. The case is that of Madden, who is accused of bribing a witness in a Scott Act case, against himself to skip out. The witness, Allen, swore at the previous trial that the accused drove him to Salisbury and there gave him ten dollars and two boys who robbed the poor boxes in the Cathedral at St. John, also St. Peter's church, were in Moncton Sunday week, making the police station their headquarters.

BRITISH BUDGET IS STRONGLY DENOUNCED

Weakens Security in all Private Property and Hampers Industry

LONDON, June 23.—Supporting the letter protesting against the provisions of the budget signed by nearly forty London bankers and merchants and sent to Premier Asquith, May 24, there was a great meeting in the city this afternoon, at which it was resolved that the "main proposals of the budget weaken security in all private property, discourage enterprise and thrift and would prove seriously injurious to the commerce and industry of the country." The gathering, which numbered 1,000 persons, was thoroughly representative of all phases of city life. It was also wholly non-political and many of the most prominent men present were radical. Lord Rothschild presided. He said that the meeting was due to the unsatisfactory reply of Premier Asquith to their representations, May 14, and that it was desired to make quite clear that the object of the budget proposals which "introduce an innovation in the history of English finance."

BAIE VERTE MAN MAKES A RICH FIND OF GOLD

Walter Chappell on the Road to Riches

He and Companion Found Valuable Deposit—Entries for the Sackville Races—Removing Lingley Hall.

SACKVILLE, N. B., June 24.—Walter S. Chappell, formerly of Baie Verte, was one of two young men who recently discovered a valuable find of gold bearing quartz in the west end of Stragun Lake. Chappell and a companion named Stewart Cameron, were in search of a practical route for the transportation of supplies to the inland Stragun Lake mines. The property touched by the pick of prospector, they found a six foot lead of gold bearing quartz. The quartz carries some free gold. The gentlemen staked the property, procured samples and will file claims. One assayer says that the rock is richer in gold bearing qualities than any previous specimens from Stragun Lake mines. The property is only a few miles from the transcontinental route and the fact that it will be accessible from the main line makes it doubly valuable. Already work for preparing Lingley Hall for removal is under way. The pipe organ was taken from the building some time ago by John Guy, of Moncton. Now the chimney has been torn down and other steps are being taken preliminary to the work of moving. The work will be done, it is understood, by Contractor McDonald, of Moncton.

The handsome black stallion, Joe Patchen, Jr., has been purchased from Amos Setter, of Amherst, by Charles Dixon, of Sackville. Joe Patchen, Jr., was sired by Joe Patchen, 2014, and weighed 2,200 pounds. He was bred in Illinois and has a record of 2:27. Horses and foot races, which are advertised to take place on the track here on Dominion Day, will surpass anything ever seen in Sackville. A large field of horses has been entered and excellent racing is assured. The track is in splendid condition.

The following is a list of entries for the races to be held here on July 1st. Also lists of entries for five mile foot races. The N. B. and P. E. I. trials will be held over and a clock in the evening.

COMMITTED ON CHARGE OF CHILD MURDER STILL NO TRACE OF CHINESE MURDERER

Boyles and Mrs. Nesbitt Sent Up for Trial. Police Still in the Dark About Leon Ling

Hearing Was Concluded Yesterday—Neither of the Prisoners Went on the Stand—Many Witnesses Heard.

SACKVILLE, N. B., June 24.—William Boyles and Mrs. Annie Nesbitt have been committed to stand before the Supreme Court in September on the charge of causing the death of a child whose body was found in the cellar of a Coakville house several weeks ago. This is the outcome of a preliminary examination before Police Magistrate Jordan, which was brought to a conclusion on Wednesday. Guilty a number of witnesses were on the stand yesterday. For the most part their evidence was in regard to the relations which had apparently existed between Mrs. Nesbitt and Boyles prior to the discovery of the body of the child. Included among these witnesses were Archdale Dixon and his son Gerald, who were present at the finding of the body; Arthur Hicks, Burwash Robinson, James Lund, Alfred Troop, Mrs. William Polley, Miss Polley and Miss Lund. Several of the witnesses were examined at considerable length by James Friel, for the crown, and A. B. Copp, for the defence. The day was enlivened by some lively interchanges between the lawyers. Neither prisoner made any statement to the court. On being committed they were taken to the Dorchester, where they will await trial.

DR. PUGSLEY DISCUSSES MR. BRODEUR'S STATEMENT

Limiting British Preference to Importations Through Canadian Ports, He Regards as a Most Beneficial Move.

Hon. William Pugsley arrived in the city early last evening from Rethsay, where he spent the afternoon. He will return to Ottawa this morning. When seen by the Sun last night the Minister stated that his principal object in coming was to confer with the harbor committee of the Common Council in the matter of the transfer of foreshore lots at Sand Point.

WANTS IT SETTLED

"I am most anxious," said he, "to have the matter disposed of as soon as possible that there may be no delay in the dredging operations. I intend leaving Ottawa for the West early in July for the purpose of inspecting the public works that are being carried on by the department and also to enquire into the merits of the various applications that are being made for federal appropriations. I intend going as far as the coast and expect to be away in all some six weeks. Upon my return I shall visit New Brunswick and will spend some weeks in the city.

THE BRODEUR STATEMENT

Asked as to the recent reported statement of Hon. Mr. Brodeur in the matter of limiting after 1910 the British preference to vessels coming direct to Canadian ports, Dr. Pugsley replied that this was quite in accord with the settled policy of the government which in 1897 had ceased to be inserted in the tariff act a claim providing that after a date to be fixed by the governor general in council the British preference shall be limited to importations brought directly to Canada. At the time the clause was adopted Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that the date of its being brought into force would be coincident with that of the Transcontinental Railway. "And I presume," Dr. Pugsley continued, "that Mr. Brodeur intended by his remarks to refer to the date of the completion of the railway as the time when this policy shall be carried into effect. I regard this as a matter of the very greatest importance in the development of Canadian ports, the more especially for the ports of the Maritime Provinces which in the winter season suffer a very keen competition with the ports of Portland, Boston and New York. It will prove one of the great-

THE QUEBEC BANQUET

At the banquet tendered me in Quebec a few nights ago I referred to the policy of the government in this respect and was pleased to notice the unanimous expression of approval from the large number of influential citizens present. If their views may be taken as indicative of the trend of Canadian public opinion, and I think they may, the government can rely upon having the enthusiastic support of the people of Canada in the carrying out of this truly national policy.

My principal object in visiting Quebec, went on Dr. Pugsley, was to examine into the progress being made in the construction of added facilities for the ocean steamships which are now coming to the port of Quebec in increasing numbers, and also to look into the matter of future requirements. While there I discussed with the mayor and harbor commissioners the opportunities for harbor development and as to the best course to pursue in order to meet the demands of traffic.

The question of a new dry dock was also taken up. This the people believe to be urgently required on the St. Lawrence by reason of the fact that there are now some eighteen steamers coming to Quebec and Montreal to call on to enter the dry dock at Levis. I enjoyed very much my visit to the port and was greatly pleased with the warm reception I met with from the citizens of Quebec.

During the afternoon our party was taken by steamer to St. Michael by Mr. Talbot, M. P., who represents the constituency in parliament. While there I inspected the work being carried out by the department at that place. Although notice of our visit was very short the town was decorated with bunting upon our arrival and the reception we met with was most gratifying.

One thing which particularly impressed me during my visit to Quebec, concluded Dr. Pugsley, was the helpful feeling of the people, who seemed to be thoroughly alive to the fact that a bright future of progress and development, awaits the city as a result of the completion of the National Transcontinental.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Rumors and conjectures as to the whereabouts of Leon Ling who is sought by the detectives in charge of the Esile Sigel case continued in abundance today. While District Attorney Jerome considers this case extremely simple there are many who look upon it as one of the most mysterious ever brought to light. The theory of Quan Yick Wem that the girl had died from an overdose of chloroform administered by Leon cannot be confirmed as the handkerchief which his room mate, Chung Sing, declares he saw over her mouth, has disappeared. The finding of the two letters written by Leon to Chu Gain whom he regarded as his rival in the affections of the Sigel girl in which Leon threatens the life of both Chu Gain and the young woman, is the best evidence obtainable as yet to show the motive of the case. The actual text of these letters has not been revealed, but it is known that in them Chu Gain is threatened with violent death unless he discontinues his attentions to Miss Sigel. Chu Gain has also said that his own brother brought him oral warning emanating from Leon that he must cease his visits at the Sigel home, and that on one occasion when he called at the home of the young woman Leon, who was already there, left the house in a passion.

GREEK LADIES USEFUL AS WELL AS ORNAMENTAL

Want Right to Spend Own Earnings

CONGRESS CLOSING

Several Important Resolutions Passed Yesterday

FRÄULIEN ANNA BUCH, Denmark.

TORONTO, June 22.—The International Council of Women rushed their business along with great celerity this morning and practically cleared the agenda paper. Unfinished business, in questions and discussion, on immigration and the question of the social problem commonly known as the "white slave traffic," was postponed to the special session which was held at the university Friday night. Tomorrow the delegates will visit Niagara Falls and Saturday they will have an opportunity of inspecting the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

After the little flurry of Monday with regard to peace and arbitration, the council returned this morning to their usual calm way. The greater part of the morning was occupied in the reception of reports from various National Councils and vice-presidents, and while there was much of interest in the reports, there was so inordinately long that Lady Aberdeen had to appeal to the ladies to confine themselves to salient facts.

Among the items of interest called for the mass it appeared that the Danish government is paying the travelling expenses of the two delegates from Denmark to the International Council. The fact was appreciated by the delegates, all of whom considered it was an example which might well be followed.

The women of Greece want the right to spend their own earnings without asking for something really useful, however, they have formed themselves into an ambulance corps and ready to follow the defenders of their country to the field of battle and there to do about errands of mercy. The women of Greece have also taken a practical part in the war, and have succeeded in reforming the establishment of women's prisons in which there are no work-rewards, and excellent results have followed their efforts to uplift the unfortunate class which come under the influence of the educational system which is carried on.

The council passed on to the selection of a meeting place for the quinquennial gathering of 1914. Invitations had been received from France, Norway, Australasia and Italy. China was enthusiastically urged by the representatives of each country, but it was decided that the next quinquennial meeting should be held in Italy. The executive committee will meet in Sweden in 1911 and in Netherlands in 1913.

On behalf of the executive, Lady Aberdeen moved, that the National Council should, during the quinquennial period, 1909-14, devote a large share of their attention to the questions concerning children and adolescent special discussions on such questions at the next quinquennial meeting.

The reason for the resolution was to enable them to establish a common platform and a common line of action. The resolution was seconded by Mrs. Oglivie Gordon, in moving that a standing committee on education be formed and that the National Council who had not already an education section should be recommended to adopt a similar course, pointed out that at the same time she considered that it was only when they obtained suffrage that governments would acknowledge the need of educating the girl equally with the boy.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 22.—Your correspondent had today an interview with General Scheffket Pacha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army. In reply to a request for his opinion on the situation in Crete he replied: "I am a soldier and must therefore keep silence. The force alone is competent to deal with the matter, but in case of annexation war is inevitable."

Scheffket Pacha, however, denied the declaration attributed to him by the Berlin Tageblatt that he is ready to march on Athens with 200,000 men. He confirmed the approaching execution of Cretes Mehmet Pacha, as numerous proofs have been obtained of admiralty crimes committed at his orders. At the same time, however, other executions will take place, but the general is of the opinion that they are the last.

And Be Cured Quickly.

By the testimony of John A. Cress, by the words of those who have profited by the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, you may satisfy yourself that indigestion and dyspepsia are curable. "Four years ago I got into a condition of low health—suffered all possible tortures with acute indigestion, wind on the stomach and dizzy headaches. The very smell of food often was sufficient to make me violently sick. Energy was gradually fading away. I no longer had any desire for work or for the company of other people, and was in the depth of despair. My marriage had broken up, and my body could not support any more. I used so many remedies without success that I almost gave up. Getting relief when I started on Dr. Hamilton's Pills, a slight improvement and kept right on. In a month I was another man, looked healthy, strong, hearty, and felt as if I had been made anew. Four years have gone by and I still rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills and attribute to their power my present condition of robust health."

Interest of promotion of peace and arbitration. The International Council of Women urges all National Councils to promote the use of such text books as will present historical facts with the least possible bias, and to endeavor to arouse living interest in modern methods of peacefully settling international difficulties. Miss Sigrid Ulrich, of Sweden, did not think the resolution necessary, in view of the careful preparation of modern histories, but Mrs. Sewall pointed out that such could not be held to be the case in view of the great differences between English and American histories. Mrs. Edwin Gray of Great Britain, in seconding the last mentioned resolution, said that ladies should be careful what they wore in their hats, and thereby raised a broad smile, in which the government was having a conspicuous part of her own headgear. Froken Edch, Denmark, brought forward a resolution for the use of a neutral language for official purposes in connection with the council. Mrs. Henry Hobson, Tasmania, seconded the resolution, which was easily carried. The resolution was adopted unanimously and Mrs. Oglivie Gordon was enthusiastically elected convener of the new section.

Brodeur States Government's Policy at Montreal Conference

To Help Empire but Safeguard Canadian Autonomy

Quebec to be the Site for the New Dry Dock

Preference Limited to Goods Landed at Canadian Ports

Montreal, June 22.—A conference of the government officials yesterday here made the following statement: (1) That the maintenance of a Canadian navy was the policy of the government in regard to imperial defense. (2) That if only one dry dock to accommodate large vessels is to be built on the St. Lawrence, then the city of Quebec would secure the more advantageous situation. The primary object of the deputation was to urge on the minister the claims of Montreal as to the proposed location of a dry dock. Mr. Prefontaine, however, raised incidentally the question of imperial defense.

"This dry dock at Montreal," he said, "might serve not only for the repairing of vessels, which would not help the workmen at St. John, but also for the construction of vessels and even for the construction of vessels for naval defense." The delegates read the resolution which the delegates of the Chambre de Commerce would bear to the coming conference of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire at Australia. "That the congress reaffirm the principle which is its duty as a nation to discuss the merits of the proposed defense of the Empire, but at the same time to safeguard its autonomy and the control of its construction."

BRODERER'S REPLY.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur replied in regard to the question of naval defense: "There are three proposals made: To offer to England one or two Dreadnoughts, which would be a great asset in the country; to contribute five property, secondly, to contribute annually a round sum which might be used without our knowledge; the third, to discuss the merits of the proposed defense of the Empire, but at the same time to safeguard its autonomy and the control of its construction."

More than 15,000 people, her above, saw what was intended to be a wiser approach to the German poet's idea of a "Joan of Arc" and the museum scenes in her best career, than Schiller's drama itself is to the accepted facts surrounding the French maid and her death scene in the cathedral.

The resolution was adopted, as was that proposed by Dr. Alexandra Skovlund for the protection of birds. Mrs. Edwin Gray of Great Britain, in seconding the last mentioned resolution, said that ladies should be careful what they wore in their hats, and thereby raised a broad smile, in which the government was having a conspicuous part of her own headgear. Bodily Formulated in a Speech in Sydney Before Consul

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 22.—Following the appointment of a consul general to China, to protect their interests, the Chinese in Australia no longer hesitate to speak frankly regarding colonial legislation. In a remarkable speech delivered by the president of the Chinese Merchants' Association at a dinner given by Sydney shipowners to the consul general, two demands were formulated, one for the abolition of finger prints photographs, a regulation based on the supposed inferiority of the race, and second, that Chinese after a residence of ten years be allowed to bring their wives from China. If these demands are granted, the Chinese will respect the white Australian policy, if not it would be impossible for Australia to enter into any treaty with China. The consul general, practically endorsed the speech, which has gratified the commonwealth statesmen.

Judge Rules That Mrs. Gould be Allowed More Expense Money

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 22.—VENUE counsel for Katherine Clemons Gould brought up a rebuttal of witnesses in her case today. The court today to combat the charges of intoxication and misconduct made by the defense, in her suit for separation, with almost her husband, Howard Gould, the plaintiff was the victor in another part of the case by a decision of Justice Gleicher. He ruled that Mrs. Gould should be allowed an additional counsel fee of $10,000 at the expense of her husband. An allowance of $5,000 was made for Mrs. Gould's legal fall for the "broader" portion of all occasions that "dime" the court intimated that a subsequent application for an increase might be granted. Attorneys for Mr. Gould protested today that it had not been shown that the wife was "without sufficient means to pay her counsel, but Justice Gleicher thought otherwise.

While the financial feature was being decided Justice Dowling continued to hear the case proper. Hotel and hotel manager who denied knowledge of any undue intimacy between Mrs. Gould and Dusha Farm, the actor, as the defense alleged, members of the Gould family, members of the hotel "chefs," hair-dressers and seamstresses who testified to Mrs. Gould's sobriety on all occasions that Justice Dowling could recall, constituted the bulk of the testimony of the reserve forces which were called by Mrs. Gould's lawyer today. There are thirty or more witnesses yet to be called. At adjournment of the court Justice Dowling announced that he would justly "do down" the defense. He had finished, with the exception of Mrs. Gould's testimony in rebuttal, if she should be recalled to the witness stand.

Declares Directors Were Afraid of Big Interests Gobbling Up Stock

TORONTO, June 22.—For two hours this morning in the office of the Royal Trusts Company Charles McGill, who almost collapsed yesterday while giving evidence before Justice Gleicher regarding 1713 shares of stock which appear in his name on the list of contributors waded through the Ontario Bank, of which he was general manager.

"I never had much to do with the '1713 shares' but now that I have perused them I feel that I can readily relate what actually transpired to give facts and facts only. With reference to these transfers made twice a year to various parties, 'what if any, did the directors ever take in having these transfers made?' began Bicknell. "I cannot connect the transfers with any particular event. There were certain directors who took over for that purpose knowing the purpose for which they took them over."

SHARERS TAKEN OVER.

"On December 1, 1905, 469 shares were taken over by Charles McGill and R. Hall as trustees. What authority did you have for this transaction?" "None, officially but it was discussed with the directors."

"Who is Hall?" "He belongs to Peterboro."

"Who were you two men acting for?" "For the Ontario Bank. Before I came to Toronto were joint trustees of the bank. I had frequent conferences with them, but they practically ceased after I came to Toronto."

They have engaged a special train, which will leave here in the morning on the arrival of the train from St. John. The list of speakers announced, includes Premier Hazen, Mr. Fleming, Dr. Daniel, O. S. Crockett and Hon. J. P. McLeod. Dr. Daniel will be the first to speak and will be followed by Mr. Fleming. Mr. Fleming is here also, and it is said that his speech tomorrow will make an effort to explain his backing of the Valley Railway scheme.

THE FUTURE

BYRN

Whether religion, as Kant said, essentially a sanction for duty, "morality touched by emotion," (definition of Matthew Arnold), or to fear (as Lucretius, Hobbes, and Strauss contended), in Britain at events it is undergoing a process of re-formation. Were the founder of Christianity to visit contemporary Britain and to note the inscription on the Royal Exchange—"The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof" (text was chosen by the Prince Consort)—it would convey to his mind nothing but an impression of humorous incredulity. The founder of Christianity would have been amazed at the materialization of international politics, and the ever increasing of the soil of Europe for the growth of pure religion. The action of Britain are nominally governed by the Christian churchmen, but the doctrine of the Sermon on the Mount were applied in practice to the spheres of administration at home and of diplomatic abroad, and still profess to be the Empire would collapse "instantly" like the Campanile at Venice. It is no our fault that we do not act on the principles of the religion of our fathers. It is our destiny that we can not but compromise.

THE SUPERSTITION OF THE HUNGRY.

The decay of faith that marks the "proletarian movement of Europe" is accompanied by a general transfer of ecclesiastical energy from theology to politics. All forms of Christianity have produced, and still produce, individual lives of saintly perfection, but Christianity in the sense of its Founder has as little in common with Europe as with Asia. The religious sentiment beyond the grave do not exercise their ancient power in deterring men from evil and in alluring them to right. Yet there is more virtue in their religion than in the age of faith. Pestilence and famine are always accompanied with a state of gross immorality. Hungry and hopeless proletarians have been seen in the streets of London, and in the streets of London, and in the streets of London, and in the streets of London.

IMPERIAL DEFENSE AND IMPERIAL UNITY

The Montreal Star already reflects the sense that has come over Sir Hugh Graham's views since he went to London and saw the King. Heretofore staunchly adherent to the principle of colonial autonomy as the basis of Empire and to the idea of partnership in counsel as well as its defense as the aim for Imperial unionists, the Star, upon receipt of the first English mail since the Peace Conference has come out with a double column hurrah, flat-footed for Canadian cash contributions to a navy built, manned and managed by the British.

A Canadian navy, it has discovered, would be useful chiefly as a field for graft. If it were ever completed, it would be a "weak link" in the chain of defense, would be something like "the Admiralty would probably like to present to the enemy at the outbreak of war." The spirit in Canadians impels them to desire a hand in the direction of this Imperial game, to create and command a force the control of which will give them influence in Imperial councils—the spirit which balks at the anti-British system of taxation without representation, which is either "foolish provincialism" or greed for patronage, says The Star. Centralization, it insists, is the essential of modern naval policy, and the establishment of scattered colonial navies would be destructive of this—and so on.

And we must admit that, aside from The Star's unnecessary and unjustifiable slurs at Canadian efficiency and honesty, that the argument is sound in this argument from the standpoint of present day panic conditions. Undoubtedly it would be better for the immediate physical safety of British fighting fleet if Canada and her sister Dominions were to finance the construction and maintenance of some new warships, asking no question better than if these Dominions preserved their position as Imperial allies and built ships of their own. Undoubtedly better ships can be built in Britain than Canada can build today. If we were to break out tomorrow it would be worse than parochial for Canada to parley and haggle before John has her and her money to the last fighting man and the last dollar. But what Canada is asked to consider at this time is not a question of emergency—there is only one way to meet that and Canada will not be found wanting if it comes—but a permanent policy, one that will place the burden and the responsibility of Imperial defense. She has to keep before her eyes not a passing Imperialism as a future condition and possibility.

It is to be taken for granted that the bulk of Canadian opinion is Imperialistic, that the great majority of Canadian people desire and hope for closer and more solid union independent of the several scattered and practically independent states which comprise the Empire as it is. Obviously then it is the duty of a Canadian government to plan every step of its Imperial policy with this end in view. It must be equally obvious that a British Empire, to be permanent, must be organized in accordance with the principles of British democracy—that a system of dependent states dominated and directed by one sovereign state, in whose councils they have no voice, cannot continue. Yet this is the system which the policy advocated by The Star would tend to fix upon Canada. Under present conditions we are at least nominally independent and in a system of states upon equal terms with the Mother Country. Committed to a scheme of contribution of money for Imperial purposes to the Imperial Parliament, we should subordinate and postpone immediately the prospect of Parliament in the Canadian government's naval policy. It proposes to create a Canadian naval force which will be in cooperation with the Admiralty, to be fit for operations with the British navy in times of emergency. At all other times this force is to be in the British control. So far as possible it is to be built and manned by Canadians. And Canada is to be the judge of the emergency which demands the passage of this force from the control of Canada's Parliament to the control of the British Admiralty. That is, co-operation demands counsel—before the arrival of the emergency. Under the conditions thus created Canada will be assailed in Imperial questions involving possible hostilities, and consultation thus established must tend to become permanent, must lead to the creation, in some form, of a permanent Imperial Council or Parliament in which all British states shall be represented and shall have voice in the determination of all questions of Imperial policy.

MISCHIEVOUS POLITICS

Local Conservative papers quote with approval the mischievous assertion of The Toronto Globe that "Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to power in 1896 by the aid of the Orange Association." Recalling the facts of that famous controversy, The Toronto Globe points out that the Conservative party, under the leadership of Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Grand Sovereign of the Orange Order, were committed to passing a federal law which would permit Manitoba to restore separate schools. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, while all his life a card of the Orange, believed that the feelings of minorities, believed that the method taken by the government, namely, of forcing separate schools on Manitoba, against the overwhelming sentiment of its people, was not only wrong, but would be ineffectual. He therefore opposed the remedial bill. It is sometimes asserted that he welcomed the issue as a stepping-stone to power. Nothing could be farther from the mark. Those who were closest to him at the time know that he believed the stand his principles compelled him to take was his political death-knell. He felt that he was arrayed against his own people on a subject that engaged their feelings profoundly. Their clergy alternately ignored and denounced him. The electors were enjoined from the pulpits and from the benches to vote against his candidates. To the keenest political forecasters it looked as if he would be overwhelmed in his own province. It seems now barely possible that he gains in Ontario and Manitoba might balance the losses in Quebec.

THE PARLIAMENT OF WOMEN

Referring appreciatively to the assembly of the International Congress of Women in Toronto, the Star of that city notes the significant fact that while the suffrage in most countries is confined to men, the first world-wide Parliament is a woman's. Man, with all his political experience, has not organized anything quite so cosmopolitan and broadly human as the International Congress of Women. The Peace Conference at The Hague confines itself to one subject, which is admittedly of paramount importance. The Congress discusses many subjects which are of human interest all over the world. It has been frequently asked whether this organization was intended to advocate woman suffrage. Probably there would be differences of opinion among the delegates on that subject. But whatever their intentions may be, the deliberation of the Congress must have an important bearing on the matter of the suffrage. For they furnish a partial answer to the question: "If women had votes what use would they make of them?" If women were legislators, what laws would they enact? In what subjects are they interested? What are their ideals of citizenship? Obviously the answer to these questions involves considerations more important than a mere numerical increase of the number of voters.

The subjects for discussion are grouped under the heads of art, education, health and physical training, industrial laws concerning women and children, literature, philanthropy, professions and careers for women, and social work and moral reform. Thus we find that the women who are organizing the movement are deeply interested in the home and the family, in the occupations and careers of women, and in the development of character in these respects. Women are in close touch with later movement in legislation. The Aquatic government, which is the type of a modern government managed by a woman and the betterment of the home and family and the general condition of the workers of the nation. The appointment of Laurier of Laurier as Canada is a step in the same direction.

The parliament of women, therefore, is a parliament of a distinctly modern character. It is a body of a liberal body, its deliberations are of interest as showing what would be the direction of women's thoughts and activities if the power to vote and legislate were placed in their hands.

CHOOSING IMMIGRANTS

Canada's action in restricting its immigration to the cream of the current flowing from Great Britain has brought upon this country the accusation of boggishness. The president of the Australian Immigration League writes to the London Evening News protesting against the policy announced by the Hon. Frank Oliver. Mr. Oliver aims to obtain immigrants whose purpose in coming to Canada is to occupy farm lands, to work in the mines, or to do other work which is not profitable in their own countries. He would exclude those whose coming would tend to add to the congestion of cities and towns. He would exclude those who are mentally, or physically, or morally, or otherwise defective. He would exclude those who are not of the same race as the British.

NEW BRUNSWICK IN 1950

A population of a million; an export trade that has overtaken John has her and her money to the last fighting man and the last dollar. But what Canada is asked to consider at this time is not a question of emergency—there is only one way to meet that and Canada will not be found wanting if it comes—but a permanent policy, one that will place the burden and the responsibility of Imperial defense. THE POLITICAL HIGHWAY ACT

The new Highway Act has only been in force a few weeks and the government machinists have hardly yet had opportunity to realize upon its political possibilities. It is, however, a prospect of an early election in New Brunswick county, they are hurriedly getting into working order. Already the chief treasurer of one of the County Highway Boards has threatened that not a dollar of government road money shall be expended until the Board has decided upon the members of the Board who shall make some of the partisan appointments he desired and recommended.

A WELL-DESERVING GOVERNMENT

Commenting on the prospect of a provincial election in Nova Scotia the not far future The Charlottetown Guardian points out that the Liberals have been in power for 182 and remarks that twenty-seven years is too long a period of office; either for the good or the bad of the country. The opinion is based on a very good rule; but no rule is so good as to lack exceptions; and the Nova Scotia government is a notable exception to the rule.

AN ABSURDITY OF PROTECTION

In the United States senate the other day Senator Aldrich, the arch-dreaded protectionist, expressed himself strongly against the policy of Ontario and Quebec in prohibiting the export of pulp-wood. Such policy was "meddlesome and most unfriendly," he openly threatened vigorous retaliation. He also admitted that this policy of Canada's would severely injure the paper industry in the United States.

The Manchester Guardian, one of the sanest and most influential of British journals, gives the result of a survey of the excited patriotism of those Canadians who are clamorously exhorting New Zealand's example in presenting a bill to prohibit the export of wool. It is not a matter of wool, but of the principle of protection. The Guardian expresses the opinion that the bill is not a matter of wool, but of the principle of protection.

LA PRESSE AND SIR WILFRID

In the guise of an Ottawa dispatch, featured under glaring headlines, The Star has printed a maliciously false article from the Toronto News charging Sir Wilfrid Laurier with the mischievous efforts of La Presse of Montreal to stir up race feeling on the question of Imperial defense. The article represents that the campaign of La Presse is purposed to work up a matter of public manure, and is both approved and inspired by Sir Wilfrid. "Sir Wilfrid Laurier," says The News, "is in absolute control of the press of Canada, and his foregoing may be considered his own personal appeal to the electors of his own province."

THE POLITICAL HIGHWAY ACT

The new Highway Act has only been in force a few weeks and the government machinists have hardly yet had opportunity to realize upon its political possibilities. It is, however, a prospect of an early election in New Brunswick county, they are hurriedly getting into working order. Already the chief treasurer of one of the County Highway Boards has threatened that not a dollar of government road money shall be expended until the Board has decided upon the members of the Board who shall make some of the partisan appointments he desired and recommended.

CHEVROLET TAKES CROWN CUP BY NARROW MARGIN

Major Event of the "Western Vanderbilt" Contested Saturday—Bourque - a Close Second—Great Enthusiasm Among the Crowd at Finish

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 19.—A Buick 40 horse power car, driven by Louis Chevrolet, won the Western Vanderbilt over the $55,850 Locomobile of a Knox, who captured second honors, made a desperate bid for victory and the result was in doubt until the winning machine had flashed over the tape.

It was eight hours, one minute and thirty seconds after Starter Warner had started the race when the victor crossed the line for the first time. Owing to the fact that he was the tenth entry in a field of 12, and that Bourque crowded so perilously close to him in the final laps, the Knox car No. 2 on the list, was the first to pass the tape.

At this time Chevrolet was somewhere near the beginning of the long south stretch with eight minutes to go to seize the prize. As he flashed by the stations along this part of the course the news of his location, transmitted by wire to the grandstands, was heard through them to the spectators, sent the stands into a climax of enthusiasm.

CHILDREN'S BATHING SUITS. Many mothers put their small daughters into bathing suits exactly like boys wear, but it is well to make some distinction, and the bathing suit for the little girl shown in this illustration allows perfect freedom for send and water frolic while being a bit more feminine in character than the boy's jersey trunkie. It is well to make the child's bathing suit of wool flannel or of serge to prevent any danger of chill when leaving the water. Of course these little folk may dispense with the bother of stockings and bathing caps.

BOARD WILL REBUILD CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

Last Saturday evening the board of management of the Consolidated Schools at Kingston, met to discuss the advisability of erecting a new building upon the site of the one burned this spring. Chairman, H. J. Flewelling, of Perry Point, presided, and the districts of Milton, Kingston, and Perry's Point, Summerville and Perry's Point, were represented. J. H. Lee will not enter with the new proposition, as the traffic-bridge at Perry's Point was carried away in the spring freshets and there is no immediate prospect of its being rebuilt by the local government. Many Jubilee people feel that they are too remote and the encouragement of district would prove more satisfactory. Sufficient funds are available to make a start on the new building, and with the $12,000 grant and an annual grant of $1,000 from the government the building could be completed immediately. The meeting was held in the school building, which was being used for the cleaning up of the basement of the burned building and plans will be immediately given up for the erection of a new modern school building than the old one. The gardens on the grounds have been cared for and present a splendid appearance. The school committee, led by Mr. J. G. Gagnon, entertained Hon. Mr. Pugsley and a number of other guests at luncheon at the Garrison Club this afternoon and this evening the boys' gentlemen will be the guests of the school committee. Residents of the various districts are jubilant over the decision of Saturday morning, as every ratepayer seems convinced of the benefits derived from the consolidated school.

THE LATEST IS THE TORPEDO BATTLESHIP

Naval architects, apparently carried away by the wonders of the Dreadnought, have recently been spinning their faith to the "all-big-gun ship" and have apparently lost sight of the fact that since he end of the Russo-Japanese War the size and power of the destroyer has rapidly increased and likewise the torpedo. The latest type being 21 inches in diameter with an affective range of 7,000 yards, working on the lines that one torpedo well "blow" is of more destructive power than a dozen big shells, pointing as an example the Russian battleship, the Suvoroff, which at Tsushima received fourteen terrible blows from the Japanese big guns alone, and yet continued to steam and fight, the Austrian naval experts have designed a huge heavily-armored ship to carry torpedoes. Twelve in the front, eight between the fore and midship turrets, and eight between the aftermidship turret and the aft smokestack, whilst a further couple of tubes will be placed on the deck, the ship will be able to carry a gun but better than our 47 weapon, presumably for repelling torpedo boat attack and commerce destruction. Her bulging sides and rounding decks, all heavily armored, will be constructed to throw off the heavy projectile of her enemies whilst she is steaming into effective range, and with the speed of three knots faster than any big-gun ship afloat she will be able to outmanoeuvre them.

SINKING SENSATIONS IN THE STOMACH

Do They Affect You? These unpleasant feelings of weakness and collapse indicate that the sympathetic nervous system is out of order. The cause is impairment of nerve tone, arising from failure of the stomach to perform its work. Acute indigestion follows and the natural result is mental depression and a feeling of collapse and extreme weakness. The best, because the quickest and surest cure, is Ferrozone. It acts at once upon the digestive and assimilative organs—it fortifies the stomach—makes the blood nourishing, gives it a rich, red color, the best evidence of health. For ten years I suffered acutely from stomach trouble," writes Mr. Maxwell Thompson, of Toledo. "I always had a headache and dull feeling about meals. My appetite was poor, and I didn't relish food. It was all due to a weak, defective stomach. I read about Ferrozone and ordered six boxes from my druggist. It was no time at all before I felt much better, and when all the Ferrozone was used I really took a new lease of life. I am stronger, brighter, and feel more like work than before trying Ferrozone. It is a splendid tonic, the best I ever used." Ferrozone is unrivalled in curing stomach ailments. Try it and be convinced. Sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

DR. PUGSLEY AT QUEBEC

QUEBEC, June 21.—The Minister of Public Works spent a busy day in Quebec in the inspection of the harbor works here. Accompanied by several members of the Quebec harbor commission Hon. Mr. Pugsley made a tour of inspection of the harbor on board the government steamer Druid, which left the breaker about 11 o'clock this morning. The vessel proceeded to the river as far as the bridge and on the return Lewis was visited. Sir J. G. Gagnon entertained Hon. Mr. Pugsley and a number of other guests at luncheon at the Garrison Club this afternoon and this evening the boys' gentlemen will be the guests of the school committee. Residents of the various districts are jubilant over the decision of Saturday morning, as every ratepayer seems convinced of the benefits derived from the consolidated school.

BOYS STOLE FROM COLLECTION PLATE

MONCTON, June 21.—The forest fire situation in the vicinity of Moncton is greatly improved, and tonight Fire Warden Vincent, parish of Moncton, reports the fires at Cherryfield and Scotch Settlement to be practically out. In the fire at Cherryfield the fire included in its sweep about two or three thousand logs. Farm fences were burned and valuable woodland burned over a Scotch Settlement. Chief game and fire warden A. E. O'Leary came down from Richibucto today, and tomorrow goes out along the Grand Trunk Pacific to swear in fire wardens. This afternoon the police arrested three young lads, Roscoe French, aged eleven; Fred Bell, aged twelve; Harry Rhodes, aged thirteen, for stealing the collection from the West End Baptist church during last night's service. The boys confessed to the theft and five or six dollars of the collection was found on them. They are locked up and will be arraigned in police court tomorrow.

LEON IS STILL IN THE LAND OF THE MISSING

Sigel Crime Remains Unsolved

UNIMPORTANT ARRESTS Chun Sin Unable to Throw Light on Crime—Body interred

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 21.—After a bit of police flurry today, an hour or two of unverified reports, and telephoning between cities, the murder of Elsie Sigel, daughter of Paul Sigel of this city, and granddaughter of Master General Franz Sigel of Civil War fame, resolved itself into an unimportant crime again today. Chun Sin, who formerly occupied a room adjoining that where the girl's body was found, is held by the police at Amsterdam, N. Y., but what has been learned from him has served to clear up the case little if any. At Schenectady the Chinaman arrested today, at first thought to be Leon Ling, or William L. Leon, who is sought as the girl's murderer, has according to all indications, proved well-established that he is an "unoffending" Celestial, who formerly worked in a restaurant in New York, and whose arrest was brought about merely through his strikingly unfortunate resemblance to Leon Ling. The disappearance of Shun Sin about the time the murder was discovered here made the police eager for his apprehension, which was considered second in importance to that of Leon, but the interview with him at Amsterdam today seems to have brought out nothing of value to the authorities. He maintains that he rarely associated with Elsie Sigel, knows nothing of the murder. Thus, with his arrest of no great importance, aside from developing a lead in New York today, a place lost where it was when Elsie Sigel's body was found crammed into the trunk in a room over the Eighth Avenue chop shop restaurant, which was nearly night, was being questioned at police headquarters here. Sun Leong disappeared on the night the body was found, but he quietly and calmly surrendered himself early today. He is being detained as a material witness, but his voluntary surrender is taken to mean that he is not implicated in any way in the crime. In the midst of all the police activity the body of Elsie Sigel was quietly buried this afternoon in Woodlawn cemetery. As her father announced last night that he wished no more publicity, the coffin containing the mutilated form was taken directly from the morgue to the burying ground in a plain undertaking wagon. The ceremony at the grave was strictly private and was attended only by the girl's father, her brothers, Reginald and Theodore, and her uncle, Franz Sigel. Mrs. Sigel, it will be recalled, broke down completely when she learned of her daughter's death and is now in a sanitarium. Although the mission in Chinatown where Elsie Sigel formerly taught has been closed, a meeting of Chinese who have been converted to Christianity was held in a Doyer street mission today to plan for a reward for the capture of Elsie Sigel's slayer. No definite sum was decided upon, but a committee will go through Chinatown today soliciting subscriptions. Thirty Chinamen, all scholars in various Sunday schools in the district attended the meeting, and the Rev. Fung P. Mow acted as chairman. In discussing the case the Rev. Mow said that Leon Ling was never connected with the mission in any way, and so far as he knew never attended and school in Chinatown. Miss Sigel, he said, taught him. The pupils, he continued, keenly felt the disgrace that the murder has brought upon the mission schools and stood ready to do all in their power ready in bringing about the capture of the murderer.

TAX ON CAPITAL PLAN IN FRANCE

PARIS, June 19.—The budget for 1910 was introduced in the Chambers of Deputies today by the Finance Minister M. Caillaux. It shows a deficit of $21,000,000. Nine million dollars of this is charged to the budget of 1911. The Minister recommends that the remaining $12,000,000 be raised by a new tax of a cent a litre on the petroleum used in automobiles, a tax on jeunism used in automobiles, a tax on dogs, administrative rearrangement and a stricter enforcement of the taxes on colonial obligations and mines, and a new tax in connection with the inheritance of property. M. Caillaux explained that it was planned to levy the latter tax on the capital revealed by inheritances, thus paving the way to the institutions of a more important progressive tax on capital by which the government hopes to raise the $20,000,000 or $24,000,000 necessary to cover the workingmen's pensions, now being discussed in Parliament.

SHE DRANK BUT LITTLE

Mrs. Gould Moderation Itself OPPOSITE TESTIMONY This is the Contention of the Temperance Party at Richibucto

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 21.—Sensational-seekers and the curious who have waited daily on the sidewalk outside the Court House for separation with alimony of $250,000 a year from her husband, Howard Gould, were sadly disappointed at the resumption of the hearings before Justice Dowling in the supreme court today, when it was announced that the defense had rested and that Howard Gould would not take the stand. It had been expected that his direct testimony and his cross-examination by Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for the plaintiff, would take two full days, but the termination of the case is now looked for at a correspondingly earlier date.

Mr. Shearn was apparently greatly surprised and taken aback by the announcement that Howard Gould would not testify. Gould himself seemed relieved and Mrs. Gould annoyed. "Once the record of last Friday, your honor," said Delancey Nicoll, counsel for the husband, "my association and I have decided that the testimony which we have offered is so complete that there is no necessity for going further. We have therefore decided to rest at this time."

It was on account of the unexpected attitude taken by the defense that Mr. Shearn was obliged to introduce the depositions. He promised, however, to have a string of about fifty ready when court resumes tomorrow morning. They testify in rebuttal to disprove, if possible, the husband's charges, including Mrs. Gould's alleged associations with Dustin Farnum, the actor.

All the visitors of last night were here, also Judge and Miss Laidlaw, Hector Landry and bride, Father Guerin presided. A mass of flags on all side, college colored of the graduating classes, pretty tablets of the ladies made a charming scene.

The valedictory was delivered by LeBaron John LeBlanc of Dorchester, N. B. "For the class of 1909 this day has a strange, sad significance. Now we must leave the scenes of school life; now must we tear ourselves all the ties that hitherto have bound us as one, and as one, we must separate. We are strengthened by years of closest fellowship and intercourse. Those days of study seemed long, yet now we cannot part without saying one last, long farewell to these our college days. O death in life the days that are no more!"

"Very Reverend President,—Sadly conscious of our utter inability to transfer from the heart to the lips the noble and generous sentiments of your kindness, we are compelled to refrain from the oft repeated professions of love and esteem. You have been a guide to us throughout our college course. You have met with patience our many shortcomings and inconstancies in labor. We have witnessed the success of your plans and your wise direction, and only trust that God will spare you to lead her on to still greater prosperity and nobler ends.

"Reverend Professors,—Through your labors and sacrifices we are brought to our present stand in life. The burdens and trials of college days have been lightened for us by the zealous care and latestest you have taken in all that contributed toward our formation. In you we see models through which we may mould our future lives. You have often, perhaps, found us wanting in our many duties. But we hope, if such be the case, we attribute it to the all too hasty judgment of youth. The only appeal, then, is to swathe the calm degree of future years which will tell the story of our struggle with the world. Then, when the battle is over, and time will have uttered its solemn verdict, may you be proud to claim as the finished products of your earnest endeavor. As often as our minds revert to St. Joseph's and we hear the melodious strains of the organ, let us remember the many sweet and tender recollections of our college friends, we shall think of you, the men among men who first taught us the higher principles of Christian education.

FREDERICK ROBINSON HIS LIFE AT WEST

The pretty suburb of Westlock and the surrounding district were thrown into gloom yesterday by a sad drowning accident in which Fred L. Robinson, a promising young man of this city lost his life. and together we have partici- in our college games. But now I leave you. All those bonds of ship are no more and of those days nothing is left but a memory. Old friends of college are well!

School life brings no day that is bright which places us upon our scholastic feet. We go forth from the walls Alma Mater to the great world's life. There is a freshness in early triumphs which, like the and fragrance of the dawn, is lost. But of all sweet thoughts in the countless chambers of the hallowed memories, the days, the hours we spent will be the dearest. We are encouraged by the sanction and ion of our worthy professors. In life with all the energy of childhood. Bright and clear horizons. But before our shining edifices of our ambition, to fight the world, we must see all its phases and overcome the obstacles. Friends, let us be true to our Alma Mater, and let us be true to the world, and let us be true to the life. Now, there are many fortune deal out to you portion of success. Four Famed Queens Who Use Cigarettes; Most Royal Women Smoke Nowadays

QUEEN VICTORIA OF ENGLAND, QUEEN ALEXANDRA OF GREECE, QUEEN MARIE FEODOROVNA OF RUSSIA, QUEEN ELIZABETH OF ROMANIA

According to London Sketch, which proudly prints testimonials of character from King Edward, the majority of the crowned women of Europe do smoke cigarettes. But they don't use them in public. If Carmen Sylva and King Alfonso's mother were to exchange such testimonials it would be in the privacy of their boudoirs. In England, women of birth smoke in the public restaurants of London, Vienna, Madrid and St. Petersburg, according to the Sketch.

mother of Russia, and Marie Amalio, dowager queen of Portugal. One firm of manufacturers tobaccoists in St. Petersburg prints this on its best brand of cigarettes: "By royal license of Marie Feodorovna, dowager empress." Not able opponents of the growing custom of smoking among court ladies are Queen Alexandra of England and the Empress Victoria of Germany. Alexandra condemns the practice every time it is mentioned. "Victoria will not permit even the men to smoke" is the motto which she has let alone the women.

The sale of a proprietary article used to remove yellow cigarette stains from fingers has reached an enormous sale in England of late years. "Tiffed women buy it by the case," says Sketch.

HERR VON HOLSTEIN, THE MAN BEHIND THE SCENES

"The world knows nothing of its greatest men." Contemporary life has hardly given a more remarkable illustration of a famous phrase than is afforded by the death of Herr von Holstein.

"What's done we partly may compute but know not what's prevented." No individual ever born could see the whole of things from his own angle of vision. Success is apt to breed conceit. In the fortunate man, however, most like to lead to their undoing. For this reason the greatest persons are even more in need of good advice than are the mediocre.

For the things that minister to ordinary vanity this strong soul cared little. Enough for him that the patterns upon which the Government should be so much admired for its wisdom that the world should forget to ask what weaving fingers were hidden behind the scenes. He sought for the substance of reality. He understood it. He despised the show. In an age of sensationalism he had until recently the distinction of being less than any other individual playing a potent role in the world's affairs.

Also there are very few persons who have the astonishing faculty required to be a power behind the scenes—ability for the great order and self-enclosedness. These qualifications are as uncommon as precious, yet they undoubtedly exist. We are not now referring to the matter of knowledge, though that is a more valuable thing in itself than is sometimes thought. Sheer knowledge is a sort of power that cannot be denied. It is the basis of all departments throughout the world. There is nearly always some permanent official whose mind dominates those of the politicians who are nominally the principals.

Even before Bismarck's fall his ability and force of character were such that he counted for a good deal at the Wilhelmstrasse. At that event, when he was in the position of minister, the only person who knew the whole secret of the iron Chancellor's mind and tradition, it might have been said to him that he did not so much part of German Foreign Office as the rest of it. The entirety of that potent institution seemed to be incorporated in him.

That a similar situation often exists behind the scenes in connection with the business of enterprises, is a truth which is confirmed by most men's experience. It is more unusual, but also more effective, for power behind the scenes to be exercised by one man. The man who is the superior of knowledge or of business efficiency of the highest order with true greatness of will and character. When a personality of this kind is found, who is genuinely willing to subordinate his own interests to the interests of the organization to which he belongs, and to live only for his work, you have one of the cases which are fascinating to the dramatic imagination, and to every psychological expert.

That was, as we have said, the position of Herr von Holstein. Now, it is certain that in various countries and in various walks of life there are men who are closely connected with the shape the policy of nations, to set on foot great public schemes, who help to make and unmake the reputation of others, who take a vital part in the creation of great enterprises, who mould opinion, who play on most other persons as upon the notes on a key-board, who in short, exercise immense political power, and, of whom very few people have ever heard.

What is the chief requisite for this kind of power? We shall be told that it may be expressed in one word—"intelligence." That is true, but only in a special sense, which requires to be more closely defined. Stupidity is inarticulate. Faculty of words is sometimes the unfailing index to paucity of ideas. The Elizabethans were masters of action, but they gloried no less in great talk than in great adventures. Alexander was a person of considerable flow, and Caesar could play the orator when he pleased. Frederick the Great could be stern, concise, incisive when the occasion required, but at other times he expanded in conversation like a Ptolemaic. Napoleon's case is more subtle, but though he could both use eloquence and dispense it, he could not be described broadly as a silent man. Bismarck was a magnificent talker—and his whole genius was expressed in the Shakespearean variety, the humor, the power, the depth of his conversation. Nor is it by any means important, particularly the only one of the highest grade, will present a varied repertoire with unusual excellence.

Exacty the same thing might be said of Herr von Holstein himself. He was an expert outsider, but when he unbent among his intimates he was fluent and masterly.

ROSS RIFLE WILL BE USED AT DISLEY

Was Banned From Competition Through Misunderstanding.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 25.—A cable has been received from Disley by which it is stated that the Ross rifle will be admitted to the competition this year. A week ago the rifle was barred from the competition. It appears, however, that this action was based on a misunderstanding. It has been re-considered with the result that the Ross rifle is permissible.

IMPRISONED ONE NIGHT IN MOUNTAIN CAVE

MANCHESTER, June 25.—Five members of the Yorkshire Ramblers Club have had a weird and exciting week end adventure. Engaged in exploring Gaping Ghyll, one of the deepest and most famous "pot" holes in England, they were unable to regain the surface owing to an influx of water, and were imprisoned in the bowels of a mountain for over thirty hours. "Pot" holes which belong to a chair and a windmill are faults of geology, in the limestone and are believed to have been principally formed by the chemical action of water.
