ORDERED TO VACATE

C. L. Woodworth Must Close Stables

Veterinary Surgeon Fails to Keep Copy of Notice—Must Conduct Cases Properly.

Dr. Zera Strong, the veterinary surgeon, had another case in the police court this morning which resulted in dismissal owing to the inability of the doctor to produce a copy of a notice served on the defendant.

Woodworth is one of the parties who have recently been compelled to dispose of a horse owing to the presence of glanders and the stable in question is the one in which his horse had been kept and which the veterinarian claimed to have ordered closed after the horse had been killed.

Dr. Strong was called to the stand and stated that on the 14th of February he had served a written notice on the defendant to close his stable as it was infected by contagious disease.

"Have you the notice?" asked his lordship.

"I have not the notice as I sent it to the department of agriculture," replied the doctor.

"Why did you send it to Ottawa?"

"Because the act requires it."

"After looking over the act his lordship informed him that the law required him to do no such thing."

"It states that a copy must be sent," said his lordship.

"I will swear," said the doctor, "that I served the notice declaring the place infected."

"That will not do," stated his lordship.

"I cannot take your evidence on a written statement when that statement is not produced. The law governing the taking of evidence will not allow it. If you are going to act as the veterinary surgeon and bring cases to be tried before me you should study the law more closely and act in accordance with the law."

"I beg the substance of the notice in my day book," said the doctor.

"Where is your book?"

"In my office."

"Why is it not in the court?"

"I asked the judge. Every time you come before me you have left your documents in your office and I thought by this time that you would have learned to bring them to court."

"I talked the matter over with the sergeant," stated the doctor, "and we came to the conclusion that we had a strong case without the documents."

"I cannot consider any conclusions that may be made," replied his lordship.

"The veterinary surgeon and sergeant do not make the laws of the land. However, you may proceed with the case."

The doctor then continued his evidence which was to the effect that on the 14th day of February he had given to the stable of the defendant and ordered him to take his stock out and close it up.

Woodworth waited a little time in which to move and the surgeon granted his request, setting a date in which he was to have the place closed. At the time mentioned he went around and the defendant was still there and again he told him to move out. He went a third time and the place was still occupied. He was then taken ill and was laid up for several days, and then taking Constable Graham with him he went to the stables and told Woodworth again to move or he was liable to get into trouble. Defendant had then refused absolutely to move and yesterday his horses were still in the stable.

Constable Graham corroborated the statement of the doctor as to the part he took in the matter, saying that he had accompanied the doctor to the stable and heard him warn Woodworth to move. He had heard Woodworth refuse to do so and had seen the horses in the stable yesterday.

Woodworth testified in his own behalf and told a rather lengthy story of what passed between himself and the surgeon, the effect of which was that he had been served with two notices each regarding the killing of separate horses, but that he did not remember seeing anything in either concerning the closing of the stables.

He had asked the surgeon if there was any danger of his other horses being contaminated and the surgeon had replied that there was none if they did not occupy the same stall, which should be thoroughly cleaned and the refuse burned and then closed up.

He had been on the point of moving but did not think it necessary.

His lordship stated that he was perfectly satisfied that the notice had been served, although the law would not allow the taking of evidence on that point without the producing of the notice. He ordered the defendant to move his stock from the stable today and lock the doors and thus save himself further trouble.

Woodworth said he could do so and the case was dismissed.

PHILIP JOYELL

In Court for Selling Liquor Without a License.

A case came up in police court this morning which promises to be one of interest when it comes to trial. Philip Joyell, proprietor of the Joyell roadhouse at the mouth of Hunker creek, was charged with selling liquor without a license. He pleaded not guilty. He was asked to produce his license and said that he did not have it with him. His lordship stated that in cases of violation of the liquor license act it was not necessary for the crown to prove that there was no license but it was for the defendant to prove that he had a license.

The defendant stated that he had a license but that it had been taken from him by Corporal Ryan. It had been seized by order of the sheriff to satisfy a judgment obtained by the N. A. T. & C. Co.

The defendant had inquired of Comptroller Lithgow, Legal Adviser Newlands, U. C. McGregor, liquor inspector, and Attorney Noel and they had all told him to continue selling liquor.

The case was enlarged until Monday morning to allow the defendant to prepare his case.

CITY BY-LAWS

Should Be More Closely Observed By Citizens.

"When will people learn to observe the city bylaws?" asked Mr. Justice Macaulay in the police court this morning, after Robert Dodge had pleaded guilty to the charge of hauling a loaded sled along the sidewalk on Third avenue.

"Surely," he continued, "they have had notice enough. If they do not observe the bylaws there is no use in having them passed. The offense is a light one and I do not wish to tax you a fine and costs, but the city's bylaws must be observed."

Mr. Dodge stated that while he was aware of the ordinance he was in conversation with another man and it had simply slipped his memory for an instant.

"I will dismiss the case," said his lordship, "but I trust it will be a warning to you in the future."

With Ball and Chain

If a letter that was recently received from Coldfoot the writer stated that F. X. Gowans was still in jail at that point awaiting trial. Since his effort at making an escape last winter Gowans has again distinguished himself it is said by stealing all the grub there was in the jail. He is now compelled to carry a log of wood with him everywhere he goes, such being fastened to a stay chain with a staple and then attached to his ankle, used in lieu of the customary ball and chain.

Enjoy Pleasant Trip

Major Cuthbert, commanding officer of the N.W.M.P., returned last night from a few days trip up the river. Major Cuthbert went as far as Indian river where he tried a case of infraction of the liquor license act finding the defendant guilty and imposing a fine of $50 and costs.

The major says that the roads generally are in very excellent condition but on the other side of Swede creek it is in rather poor condition as there is not much travel beyond that point except by single hobs and dog teams which make the road very one-sided. This is the major's first trip to Indian river over the ice and he says he enjoyed the ride immensely.

INTEREST REVIVED

Tennis Association to Soon Meet

Club Will Probably be Allowed to Retain Their Court on the Reserve This Season

A sure indication of the approach of spring is in the revival of interest that is apparent in tennis circles. Secretary Finnie of the Dawson Lawn Tennis Association, when called upon this morning was seen to be pouring over the latest sporting goods catalogue just in from the outside, the book being open at the page referring to tennis goods. Mr. Finnie has forwarded an order for sixteen dozen balls, two nets and several other minor affairs pertaining to the game, which he expects to reach the city before the break up of the ice.

The annual election of officers of the association will soon be held at which there will also be other business of the club transacted. Captain Starnes was formerly president of the association, but since his departure those duties have fallen upon T. Dufferin Pattullo, vice-president. A. F. Nicol, also one of the vice presidents, is out of the country and may not return and his place will be to fill Acting Commissioner Major Wood is the honorary president.

Some time ago the idea of increasing the membership of the club was seriously considered, but this has been decided adversely. The association has a membership of 50 gentlemen and 18 ladies, 68 in all, and it will continue to be limited to that number. As members leave the country officers will be accepted to fill their place, but the total membership will not be increased. It is considered impossible to accommodate any more players and there are not enough to warrant the construction of another.

There is one matter that will prove a welcome piece of information to members of the club. Some time ago served notice on all the occupants of the government reserve requiring them to vacate the same by the 1st of May. The order was sweeping and included the tennis association, their court being on the reserve. Since that time some correspondence has been had with Ottawa relative to the matter and it is believed now that the club will be allowed to retain their present location at least for this season. Unless ordered off temporarily before hand the court as soon as the frost is out of the ground will be repainted and readjusted ready for play as soon as the weather is favorable.

AID WILL BE FORTHCOMING.

The business interests of the community have lain dormant altogether too long and permitted public improvements to drift into the hands of a few irresponsibles. The reorganization of the board of trade and the active steps taken in the direction of ameliorating unsatisfactory conditions in local affairs is an excellent sign.

Efforts at securing needed reforms have failed too frequently owing to the fact that they have been regarded as inspired by motives of a political character.

The plan in view by the board of trade contemplates action along lines which will command the support of the entire territory and which will be recognized as voicing public sentiment in an unmistakable manner.

In the view of this paper, and we believe that our opinion is shared by nine-tenths of the territory's population, the future of the community rests largely upon the successful outcome of this undertaking.

Stroller's Column.

The attention of the Stroller has been called on several occasions to the fact that over anxious stampedees have acquired the habit of loading their dogs and horses down to a point beyond the power of the poor animals to sustain.

It was the usual case of small horse and big load. It was estimated by bystanders that the amount of freight piled on the sleigh could not have fallen short of a ton.

There were three men with the outfit which consisted not only of provisions and horse feed but a vast amount of other truck taken along for speculation in the new district.

In other words the Stroller believes that there is good faith behind the action of the territorial authorities in ordering a preliminary survey for a public water system, but he is also of the opinion that the arguments in favor of that undertaking should be laid before parliament at the earliest possible opportunity and in the most forcible manner possible.

Bible School Lesson for Mar. 15

Title—The Riot at Ephesus. Acts 19: 29-40. Golden text: "The Lord Preserveth the Faithful." Ps. 31: 23.

The preaching of Paul at Ephesus was warmly received, and bore abundant fruit. But of course his success stirred up opposition.

Ephesus was the seat of the worship of the goddess Diana, whose temple was a marvel of beauty and magnificence. It was currently believed that her image had fallen from heaven, by that we suppose it may have been carved from some meteoric stone.

In the lesson we have an example of a trade which was doomed if Christianity succeeded. Demetrius the maker of images had evidently felt the slump in business due to Christian influences, and immediately stirred up the members of his own craft, on the plea—First, that their business was in danger—an appeal to self interest.

Demetrius succeeded in gathering an enormous mob, and seizing Gaius and Aristarchus, two of Paul's helpers, they hurried with them into the theatre.

One of the chief rulers of the city, entitled here "The Chief of Asia," was timely warning to Paul, who escaped.

In the midst of the confusion the Jews, growing fearful lest the rage of the mob might be turned against them prompted one of their number, Alexander, to put up a defense. His words, however, only served still further to enrage the blindly bigoted

"What's that?" said Bittner, standing straight up in his chair. "Two seats in hell," repeated the stranger, rather surprised. "Come on, move along now," said Willie impatiently, thinking he was talking to a nutty man.

CONCESSION MUST BE ABOLISHED

Board of Trade Has Begun Aggressive Measures to Accomplish the Overthrow of Treadgold Octopus

Dawson, Y. T., March 6, 1903. To the Editor The Klondike Nugget:

Dear Sir,—It is the wish of the Dawson Board of Trade that you forward a copy of telegram sent this day to Messrs. the Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada; Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior; William Mulock, Postmaster General; and James Hamilton Ross, Member of Parliament for Yukon, and which reads as follows:

"Oppose any attempt to pass order in council or act in parliament that will in anyway confirm Treadgold concession. Are having monster petition signed and reliable data prepared to forward Ottawa asking government to aid in furnishing water for mining purposes.

The Treadgold concession and water grant as granted by an order in council and which when ratified by the parliament at its next session will become law is in the opinion of this board one of the most iniquitous measures that was ever inflicted upon a people.

An immense petition to the Dominion parliament to cancel and disallow this measure is being prepared and circulated (a copy of which will be sent you) embodying the objections of the people of the Yukon to the granting of this measure.

These suggestions were followed in so far that the postmaster general was made a member of the cabinet, and within eight years a navy department, on which Commodore Jones naturally laid much stress, was established.

of which would materially and rapidly increase and an immense avenue for Canadian manufactures and merchandise would be opened up and not only would this territory be benefited but the benefit would extend to the whole of Canada.

Now, in order to convey to you some idea of the magnitude of the grant which Mr. Treadgold and his associates are looking for and which it appears likely they will receive, if the intention of the minister of the interior is allowed to be carried out, it having been recommended by him we believe, that the said Treadgold and his associates receive the sole and prior right to divert and take water from the Klondike river up to 5000 miners inches for distribution and use in the district, said district comprising the beds, banks, valleys, slopes and hills of the Klondike river, of Bonanza, Bear and Hunker creeks and their tributaries.

But on the other hand if the government will only listen to our plea, cancel or disallow this infamous Treadgold grant and themselves supply the water to the miners of this territory at a figure that will enable the government to get the cost of the installation of the necessary plant for supplying said water out of the water supplied, we will say in about eight years, it would we know give the miners cheap water and enable them to recover the precious metal from the immense low grade gravel deposits that we have in this country and would mean a greatly increased population and prosperity for this country and would cause and bring about an immense trade with and throughout Canada.

DAWSON BOARD OF TRADE. PETITION. To the Honorable the House of Commons in Parliament Assembled:

The petition of the undersigned residents of the Yukon Territory humbly sheweth:

1. That by order in council of April the 21st, 1902, certain privileges are granted to Malcolm Orr Ewing, A. N. C. Treadgold and Walter Barwick, in connection with the proposed establishment by them of a system of water supply for washing out gold-bearing gravel in the district therein described, including the Klondike river, Bonanza, Bear and Hunker creeks and their tributaries.

district affected which includes the richest portion of the Klondike. 4. That the need of this territory is not the creation of monopolies but their prevention, and the encouragement of the individual miners by securing equal privileges and opportunities to all as far as the law and the administration can provide them.

Your petitioners therefore pray— (1). That the order in council of April 21st, 1902, may be cancelled completely, and that no special privileges shall hereafter be granted within this territory with respect to wood, mining, water or any other class of rights affecting the general public, but that all persons shall be restricted in such matters to the rights conferred upon every member of the community by the mining regulations.

POSSIBLY LOST AGAIN

En Route to Coldfoot Via Dahl River

Fears Entertained as to Safety of Men Who Escaped Death Early in the Winter

Friends of D. V. Lowery and his partner Burns are becoming somewhat alarmed lest they may have met the same fate on their last trip to Coldfoot that befell them early in the season.

They were in Dawson last September and secured some pipe fittings and other small pieces of machinery for which they had come out all the way from the Koyukuk, starting back about the 15th.

On the 24th they were met at Eagle City by Sam Williamson, formerly jailer at Coldfoot, and E. E. Reynolds, deputy marshal at the latter point.

Reynolds gave to Lowery government checks to the amount of $2400 to be delivered at Coldfoot to the commissioner in payment of salaries, court expenses, etc., and they left Eagle on a snow for the mouth of the Dahl river intending to go in via that route.

That was the last heard of them until near the holidays when the U. S. mail carrier who had the contract for taking the mail to Coldfoot on his return trip to Fort Yukon came across the pair roaming about the woods raving maniacs.

He succeeded in getting them back to Fort Yukon and after careful nursing and medical attendance they regained their mind and shortly afterward recovered. The story they then told was harrowing in the extreme.

It appears that after leaving the mouth of the Dahl river they soon ran into an immense patch of timber land that the previous summer had been burned over.

The trees growing merely up on the surface as soon as the moss had been burned away fell over with the first breath of wind thus creating a windfall miles in extent.

The trail was totally obliterated and after traveling for days and days through the blackened forest they at last came to the realization that they were lost.

Still they continued to push on as their grub was short and they hoped to soon reach some point where they would recognize their surroundings and be able to catch the trail again.

Finally their grub gave out, the snow was falling thickly and their condition was fast becoming desperate.

They killed a few ptarmigan and also ate a porcupine that they had succeeded in bagging. That was the last they knew until they had been rescued by the mail carrier and were being nursed back to life at Fort Yukon.

The two trails one leading from Fort Yukon and the other from the mouth of the Dahl river converge far back in the mountains and it was at this point that the famished and half crazed men were found. Their clothes were in tatters and judging from the date of their arrival at Fort Yukon, about Christmas, they must have been wandering through the woods in a demented condition for nearly a month.

They had cached the grip containing the checks and other articles near the base of a large tree when they discovered they were on the verge of collapsing and as soon as they had recovered their health and strength they again set out in company with some Indians to recover the valise and it possible to push on to their destination. Since then not a word

MORE CRACK HOCKEY

Surveyors Are Said to Have Fluked on Challenge

Tomorrow night will see a great struggle for supremacy when the Merchants and Lawyers hockey teams come together for battle on the D. A. A. rink.

The Merchants are disappointed in not being able to have their match brought off with the Surveyors and for what reason they do not know.

Ever since they accepted the Surveyors' challenge Mr. Barwell, their captain, has been mislaid somewhere and can not be found. However, the Lawyers have consented to accommodate Mayor McLennan and his team of colts by playing them instead.

Albert Forrest, the Yukon champion skater, will at 8:15 sharp try to lower his previous record. This he intended to do on Wednesday night last, but was suffering from a severe cold.

After this event the hockey match will commence promptly at 8:30. At the previous matches there has been considerable delay, but tomorrow night's match will commence sharp on time.

The teams will line up as follows: Merchants—Goal, R. Chisholm; point, M. H. Jones; coverpoint, J. P. McLennan; forwards, Mayor McLennan, M. Pinsky, F. S. Macfarlane and Albert Reid.

Lawyers—Goal, A. G. Smith; point, J. K. Sparling; coverpoint, P. Ledley; forwards, D. Donaghy, H. E. A. Robertson, F. G. Crisp and H. S. Tobin.

Neck Broken. Butte, Mont., Feb. 28.—A special to the Miner from Kalispell says Claude Lines, 9 years old, son of Mrs. Eliza Lines, who resides a few miles from this place, while playing at school fell from an old building upon which he had climbed, instantly breaking his neck.

COURT MATTERS

Lists for Next Week and the Following One.

There are quite a few cases on the territorial court docket ready for trial next week and should the list not fare as it did this week there will be enough to keep the court occupied during the entire time.

The cases include the following: Bank of B.N.A. vs Hartney; McGillicuddy vs McAllister; Terrill vs Ganstad; Johnson vs Jewell; Olson vs McMartin; McDonald Iron Works vs J. Abbe; Wagner vs Kennedy; Terrill vs Finger; Kennedy vs Grant; Gilbert vs De Lion; Lilly vs Morrison.

For the week following, that is the 23rd, 24th and 25th, which will be the only days the court will sit, the regular monthly vacation commencing on the 26th, the following have been arranged: Maltby vs Lilly; Lowe vs Hartman; Cole vs Moncrief; Smith vs Thompson; Becker vs De Soucey; Golden vs Munger; Hannon vs Cashman; Flemming vs Munger.

On Friday of next week, the 20th, Mr. Justice Macaulay will preside over a session of the small debts court at which proceedings in the following cases will be heard: L'Abbe vs Vial; De Lion vs Adair; Peterson vs Adair; Fyfter vs Goldspring; Stiel vs Klinech; Stone vs McDonald; N. C. Co. vs Brennan; Rumball vs Adam; Whitley vs Eanson; Sinclair vs British Yukon Navigation Co.; McDonald vs Perry; Gibson vs Erickson; Ashland vs Bell; Matheson vs Carlson; Allen vs O'Connor; Kilgore vs Mayhood.

"I think," said the old rooster, "you are making a most tremendous racket over one egg."

"Perhaps you don't know," chuckled the old hen, "that eggs are worth 24 cents apiece these days."

"That's exactly what I'm kicking about," returned the rooster. "It takes a whole dozen of such eggs as the one you are cackling over, madam, to look like 30 cents. Now stop your noise!"—Chicago Tribune.
