"Tell Him I Loathe Him."

CHAPTER XXXII. Husband and Wife. BECAUSE I was so great a coward, Etienne! You are a man. You are braver and stronger than I, and can endure life, while it would have worn me out body and soul! He—Lilford Loyd-Mostyn—will not try that again—

There was a slight pause, then the sister answered very gently: 'Virginia Beaufort.' 'And now you are a sister! Does my death come too late to help him? Tell me that it is not true. Tell me that you have taken no vows which will prevent your being his wife!'

The latter hurried to the bedside, his countenance pallid as marble. 'Bebe! he gasped. 'My poor little one! How came you here?' 'The blind eyes were lifted. Hoarse as the voice was, she had recognized it.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

'Believe it! Poor little girl! Poor little unhappy child! You—Meredith Lansing has told me all. He deceived us both, Bebe, and I was not quite so bad as you thought.'

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. It is known from the beginning would prove fatal. He had asked those who came to his relief to take him to the hospital, where he then was, because he could not die content without a few last words with Soeur Mathilde.

'What can we do, Soeur Mathilde?' he asked. 'I will consult the physician!' she answered softly. 'Whose voice was that?' cried Bebe, half starting up in bed.

And Erle Childes had placed his cool palm upon the burning brow, looking downward with eyes that were filled with tears. 'I do forgive you,' he said gently, 'fully and freely. I promise you that living or dead I shall find Bebe, and that I will redeem the past in so far as lies in mortal power.'

CHAPTER XXXIII. "I Die Content!" Under the physician's personal superintendence the cot containing the form of Meredith Lansing was brought as gently as possible, and placed side by side with that of Bebe. She who had been for the greater portion of her life called Mignon Moreau was beside him. She had heard the story of her own life, and of Bebe's; she knew who it was that lay upon that couch dying, but she also knew that if she would not shorten her sister's life by a few precious moments, she must say nothing. And how very precious those last moments are to the ones who are left behind.

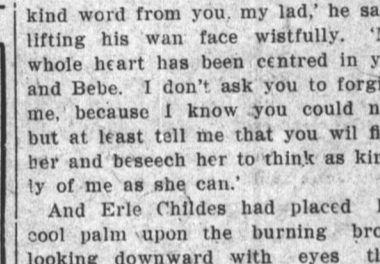

Mr. Jos. J. Roy, a prominent tinsmith of Bathurst, N.B., July 16, 1909. "I cannot let this opportunity pass without letting you know what benefit I received from your Liniment. For five years I had a sore shoulder, which prevented me from working or from sleeping at night. I had tried everything possible and still could find no relief, until I was advised to try a bottle of your liniment, which I purchased without delay. I only used one half of the bottle when I was completely cured, and now I feel as if I never had a sore shoulder. I would advise anyone suffering from Rheumatic pains to give your Liniment a trial, for I cannot praise it too highly."

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctors said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would kill me. After I came home they found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and will take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Mrs. Howe's having written the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and of her great services to the cause of Abolition.

I happened to have the great honor of knowing Julia Ward Howe, and of being occasionally "received" into her home, and I want to tell you the thing that impressed me the most about her. And that was, not the work that she had accomplished, but simply the wonderfully beautiful old age which the quality of her life made possible for her.

You cannot often say "beautiful old lady" and really mean it. You could of her. I never saw a young woman who gave any more pleasure to the eye than this exquisite old lady as she held away from her "Throne Chair," as the visitors call it. She almost always wore a lavender gown and a white lace cap beneath which her white hair was parted and drawn softly back. Her hands and face looked as if they were carved out of ivory. Thomas Lawson, who paid her a beautiful tribute at her death, called her a Dresden china figure. She always made me think more of lavender, ivory, old lace and things of that sort.

But the really beautiful thing about her was the wonderful expression of that old face. You see Mrs. Howe had never stopped really thinking, never ceased being interested in things. She has had a large family and done her duty by them. A lover's family of children and grandchildren you could not hope to see. But she has always had time to be interested in the outside world, to study, to read, to be thoroughly alive.

Mrs. Howe was 91 when she died, and yet up to her last illness she wrote a little every day, read a little Greek and Latin, and practiced at her piano. Last spring there was some question about the purity of the milk the Boston babies were getting, and it was Julia Ward Howe's pen and presence that aroused the public in this serious matter.

There is a little story about a portrait of Mrs. Howe, which her son-in-law John Elliott painted, without which no tribute to her is complete. It seems to me this illustrates her greatest service to American women.

This portrait which represents Mrs. Howe sitting in her morning room reading, was exhibited at her son-in-law's studio in Italy. Queen Margherita, who was at the exhibit, was so impressed by this picture that she would scarcely look at any other. She asked many questions about the original, and as she was about to leave came to Mr. Elliott and said: "You tell me that this is a portrait of a distinguished old woman of your country, but I tell you that it is a picture of old age as it ought to be."

It seems to me it isn't what Julia Ward Howe wrote or her work in the abolition cause that makes her such a great figure. It is more the quality of her life—A life ripening into an old age that deserved such a tribute as that—a life which stands as a pattern for that which, without neglecting her home or children, a public-spirited woman's life ought to be.

Household Notes.

In washing small, dried fruits, such as cherries, currants or raisins, the best way is to turn them into a colander or coarse sieve and stand it in a deep pan of clear water. Rub the fruit thoroughly between the hands and change the water as often as needed. Finally hold the vessel and turn on cold water, then spread on fresh towels to dry.

Window and door screens usually get very dusty during the latter part of the summer, and it is poor economy to put them away in that condition; neither is it a good idea to wash them just before storing unless they are most carefully dried to prevent rusting. Last year I tried Kerosene, applying it with a paint brush, and found that it cleaned the wires better than water, besides preventing rusting.

The family bottle of glue generally becomes a great nuisance and of little use after it has been opened for a few days. It becomes hardened and impossible to use. It may be softened by heat or by adding a teaspoonful or more of vinegar to the bottle, and allowing it to stand for a few minutes. If the bottle can be kept in a warm place all the time it will stay soft as long as there is any left.

One who has grown accustomed to using a damp cloth in dusting will never again resort to a dry rag. Have a small basin or bowl of tepid water always at hand when dusting, and use a piece of soft cheesecloth. Wring the cloth out quite dry and then wipe over the woodwork and furniture. There is no danger of the dust flying around, making one's work in vain, and the dust is actually removed. This method of dusting is especially desirable in the sickroom.

It is a great mistake to allow eyes to freeze in order to keep them from doing so their delicate flavor is injured. Place them in a glass or a stone jar and stand inside the refrigerator, if it contains ice. If not cover with a cloth and stand in a cool place where they will keep cool without freezing. If they are to be served fried, it will not harm them to put small pieces of ice in the jar with them, but do not do so until ready to bring in if to be served at natural.

As every sprout that starts on a seed potato and is broken off removes a certain amount of vitality from it, care should be taken in storing the potatoes so they will not sprout. The following method will prevent them from sprouting: Dig a pit about ten inches deep, fill with the potatoes, spread straw over them about eight inches deep, then a layer of dirt the same depth; add another layer of straw the same depth, and cover with dirt. When opened in the spring the potatoes

It is hard to believe, nevertheless true, that a carpet or rug, whether Axminster or a cotton square, can be effectively cleaned with water. Throw it over a line or bed springs and beat out all the dust you can, then hang on the clothesline and deluge with water from the garden hose. The first water will remove the dirt, so use plenty on both sides, to rinse thoroughly. Dry in the shade or at night, so as not to fade the colors. We have tried this a great many times, always with the greatest success, and have no hesitation whatever in recommending it, as it is simple and effective.

Strike Threatened

Cardiff, Wales, Nov. 2.—A strike of 200,000 men, which will tie up the coal mining industry of Wales, is threatened as a result of a renewal of the dispute over the employment of non-union men. Seven thousand employees of the Nixon colliery have given notice that they will walk out. Another colliery employing 8,000 miners is already idle. The men have assumed threatening attitudes, and violence is feared. The owners of the two mines have asked for police protection. Within forty-eight hours, it is believed, a big portion of the coal mining belt will be idle. Difficulties have arisen over the employment of non-union men in place of the strikers who never went to work after the last strike, six weeks ago.

London, Nov. 1.—London will soon claim to possess the biggest dry goods store in the world. It will be the New Emporium, in which the business founded by the late William Whiteley, who described himself as the "universal provider," will be lodged. The foundation stone was laid on Saturday.

The managing director says that when complete the new premises will be the largest palace of merchandises in the world. The building will have a frontage of 600 feet, a depth of 350 feet, and will thus be larger than Marshall Field's Chicago store, the dimensions of which are stated to be 430 by 240 feet. The building will be five stories high, with three domes, rising to a height of 150 feet. The central dome will be a representation of that of Santa Maria della Salute in Venice.

Kitchener's Speech.

It was only fitting that Lord Kitchener should take the chair to hear Mr. W. K. McKean read his paper on Khartoum and Omdurman at the Town Planning Conference recently. At one of the dinners given in his honour during his recent journey through America the famous General apologised for his lack of eloquence. "I can't speak," he said, "and that is why I don't. I think it is better to keep silent than to put you to sleep. The officers of the British Army are noted for their inability to make public speeches. Whenever an officer is foolish enough to rise to answer a toast, the guests say to one another as he sits down 'Well, the bigger the gun, the bigger the bore, you know!'"

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You
 Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes sixteen ounces—a family supply. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50. Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 3/4 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualitol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Constitutional Reform.

It is understood that when the British Parliament meets next week that Premier Asquith will make an announcement of the progress made by the Veto Conference. This conference, it will be remembered, has been sitting for some months. Its membership is made up of Mr. Asquith, Premier, and three other leaders of the Liberal Party; Mr. Balfour, the leader of the Opposition, and three leading colleagues of his party. The object of the conference is to discuss thoroughly the relations of the House of Commons and the House of Lords in all its aspects, and to try the possibility of finding a common basis of reform which shall be adequate to the business of Parliament and satisfactory to the electorate in general. Although nothing has been given out so far, as to the progress of the conference towards success or failure, there is a current running in Unionist quarters which has great significance.

Mr. J. L. Garvin, the statesman-journalist of the Unionist Party in the Observer has suggested the enlargement of the conference, in membership, scope and time, with a view to the important recognition of Home Rule on a federal and imperial basis, and a recognition by the Liberals of the need of a strong Navy.

This suggestion has been followed up by some letters in the Times under the nom-de-plume "Pacificus" by a writer whom the Times declares editorially had much to do by his letters earlier in the year, with shaping the course of events towards the present round table conference on the Veto question.

"Pacificus" claims that the opportunity of settling the question of Ireland as well as the question of the House of Lords in the year of national rejoicing would appeal to the popular imagination as few other things would. And it would appeal not only to the hearts of people at home, but as much, and perhaps more, to the hearts of our people in the Dominions. For these have never understood our quarrel with Ireland nor Ireland's quarrel with us—perhaps we have not entirely understood it ourselves, either on this side of the St. George's Channel or on the other.

Commenting editorially the Times

declares the suggestion "worthy of the careful attention of the Unionist Party and the nation."

These declarations are no mere sporadic utterances on the part of a few nobodies. They have been endorsed by all the great Unionist organs except two—the Spectator and the Daily Telegraph, and they are thus evidences of a temper on the part of Unionists to abandon even the very basis which brought their party into being and has kept it alive for nearly a century.

A miracle was wrought by conciliation and compromise in Colonial Government as a result of the Durham Commission, and good temper and a spirit of compromise gave rise to the Union of South Africa.

Like causes produce like effects. What has succeeded in Canada, in the older Colonies, and in South Africa should succeed at home. A real union of hearts would, we believe, follow a devolution scheme in the British Isles, which should give to England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, Legislatures to deal with such matters as concerned themselves alone. This would relieve the Houses of Parliament of immense local burdens, and enable it to think and act imperially, and perform those functions better in which England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and the Dominions beyond the Seas have an interest in common.

Received A Shock.

Miss Pollet whose father is skipper of the schooner Mary Joseph, reported to be missing came in by last night's train. While coming along on the cars a man who sat near her took out a paper and after reading the report of the vessel's non-appearance, spoke of it to others. The young woman overheard the conversation and this being the first intimation she had of the missing came in by last night's train. She fainted as the result of sudden shock, and it was some time before she revived. After arriving here she was very ill for some time in the hotel where she put up.

ACCIDENT ON PORTIA.—People who came down on the Portia and arrived here by last night's train from Placentia, say that one of the crew of the ship had his leg broken a couple of days ago by being hit with a large spar which was being put on board. The doctor at Port aux Basques set the broken bone and the man is coming along here on the ship.

Sudden Chill Stopped the Heart

Various stories of the tragedy have been told, and it is difficult, owing to the excited condition of the boy's companions at the time of the accident, to arrive at the true facts. The first account stated that the party landed for the purpose of balling out the canoe, and young Baggs was in the act of pushing off when he fell into the stream and was swept away by the current.

The sudden chill caused by immersion in the cold waters of the stream stopped the action of the heart, and death resulted. The young man had six carbons on board the canoe which, with the addition of the occupants and their luggage, overloaded the frail craft causing it to careen and thus throwing Baggs overboard. The father of the deceased boy states that he exacted a promise from the young men not to put more than three carbons on board the canoe, and blames the disregarding of his wishes for the sad accident.

The body floated down the river, some 150 yards from the spot where the fatality occurred and was discovered by John Pennell and the river warden. The former went up the stream in his motor launch to search for the body of the young man.

The physician's examination proved that drowning was not the cause of death, no water having entered the lungs.—Western Star.

Swallowed a Snake in His Sleep.

Never again will Paul Natale, of Lincoln Avenue (Bristol, Pa.), recline at ease on the green sward and take his rest till his mouth hangs open. Natale tried that one day last June at the Corona Leather Works and awoke to feel something brush his mouth and to gulp. Now he knows why. He was seized with what he thought was an attack of acute indigestion, and from that day forth he lost weight and ran into a general decline.

His health having been broken up, he went to the Fabiani Hospital, Philadelphia, but the physicians were not able to relieve him. Then he went to a Trenton hospital, but still he lost weight and still suffered biting pains in his abdomen.

Natale was brought back to his home here and continued under the care of the local doctor. The latter sought traces of known diseases in the man, but could find nothing satisfactory.

Finally he starved him for several days, and two days ago gave him a strong emetic. Up came a rather snake eight inches long, much to the consternation of Natale. The snake is now preserved in alcohol, and the patient has gained weight.

Funeral on Saturday, at 2.30 p.m., from her late residence, 120 New Dover Street. Friends and acquaintances will please accept this, the only intimation.

John Sheppard Crushed to Death at York Harbor.

John Sheppard, of Lark Harbor, was instantly killed by falling debris at York Harbor mine on Nov. 1. The unfortunate workman had been only employed at the mine a few days when the accident occurred. He leaves a wife and a large family to mourn the loss of a breadwinner. Deceased belongs to Lark Harbor, where his family resides.

Immediately on learning of the fatality Mr. H. L. Bratton, manager of the mine, called the head office and sent messages to deceased's family, and to Judge March who, in company with Inspector Bartlett, proceeded to York Harbor to hold an inquiry. Several witnesses were examined, including the manager, and their evidence showed that all necessary precautions were taken in the working and tramming of the ore on the night in question. Sheppard had been working in the ore car and when the earth began to work loose, the form man shouted a warning to him to leave the place at once. When the debris fell he called to him several times but received no response. He then came to the conclusion that he had been overtaken by the fall of earth. After the debris had been cleared away Sheppard was found pinned in the car, his hand crushed by a three ton boulder. About 30 tons of rock fell upon the spot, the timbers being torn away by the force of the fall. An inquiry into the disaster will be made by the Government Engineer. So far indications show that the accident is not an unusual one in the best regulated mines, and had Sheppard been a little quicker his life would have been spared.—Western Star.

Manuel has taken up his residence at Norton, near Evesham, the seat of his Orleans relations, a residence which by its seclusion and surroundings is ideally suited to console the early days of the exile.

The days when an Emperor and Empress of France, a Queen of Spain, and a King of Hanover were in exile at the same time are now over. The rulers in exile of to-day are Oriental despots, the Shah of Persia, a pensioner of Russia, and Abdul Hamid not really in exile, but hidden behind the walls of the Villa Altarina, in Salonica. These, with the widow of the ex-King Milan and the aged ex-Empress Eugenie, complete the list. And yet the lives of the majority of royal and princely exiles seem cast in pleasant places. Endowed as most of them are with great wealth, they enjoy the honors and pleasures of royalty without the responsibilities. "Even" when an opportunity occurs of returning to their former position they generally refuse. A notable instance is the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, who, going to England owing to royal displeasure, has now settled down to the life of a great English nobleman, not even despoiling the office of mayor, and though the gates of Russia are again open to him, sensibly prefers his adopted home.

In olden times Twickenham was a refuge for dispossessed Royalities, and the Prince de Joinville came after the Revolution of 1848 had driven them from France. Orleans House—Louis Philippe's Twickenham home—is now "to let." By the park gates there is a public house known as the Crown. Many years ago a former landlord of this hostelry saluted the ex-King of the French as he was walking through the streets of Twickenham. "What were you when I lived here?" asked Louis Philippe. "Please, your Royal Highness," replied the man, "I kept the Crown." "Did you?" said the ex-King. "Well, you were lucky; you did what I was unable to do!"

Herring Are Plentiful.

This morning the Marine and Fisheries Department had a wire from Carling saying that eight American vessels had arrived there to date and that prospects were good for a successful herring fishery. Bonne Bay reports plenty of herring but very little demand for them as they are not so large as the first school which struck in there.

Sound Island says that herring are very plentiful in Placentia Bay, but it is too stormy for fishing.

Exiled Royalty.

Old England Offers a Pleasant Refuge For Deposed Kings and Queens.

Now Cured of Rheumatism

Cost him $100.00 for medicines which failed—Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster which so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.

The Democrats Are Winning in United States.

Special Evening Telegram. HALIFAX, Nov. 9. The sweep of the political tidal wave, which rolled over the States yesterday, has been further emphasized by the additional returns and revised figures at hand to-day.

The Democratic majority in the House of Representatives will be at least 42, and possibly more, as compared with the present Republican majority of 43.

Added to the reversal in the Lower Branch of Congress, this morning's returns showed that the Republican majority of 26 in the United States Senate was rapidly approaching vanishing point, although the Republicans are now reasonably assured of 48 Senators, or one more than necessary for a majority, with a number of States in doubt.

In OHIO, a democratic legislature and Governor has been elected. In former legislatures, republicans had a majority of 6 in Senate and 26 in Lower House.

In WEST VIRGINIA there has been a complete turn over. In the late legislature the republican joint majority was 54 in a legislature of 116. The new legislature is democratic.

In INDIANA the legislature is in doubt, the democrats claiming a majority of 12. This is a republican gain, the democratic majority having been 16.

IOWA is still uncertain. It was strongly republican. Both sides claim the Governorship.

The PENNSYLVANIA legislature, which was overwhelmingly republican, 212 to 45, remains republican.

WASHINGTON State also remains republican. The former legislature contained 128 republicans and only 9 democrats.

UTAH also remains republican. In the dissolved legislature, out of 63 members, there were only 2 democrats.

MONTANA remains in doubt. Late legislature gave republican majority of 2.

Indications point to the election of the republican candidate for Governor in CALIFORNIA. In the 1908 election the republican vote was 2 to 1.

From OREGON the returns are incomplete, but indicate the election of a democrat as Governor. Last Governor was democrat.

The MISSOURI legislature is believed to be safely democratic—no change.

Aside from these main developments to-day, the results already announced remain practically unchanged. The plurality of John A. Dix, as democratic Governor of NEW YORK, approximates 65,000, or almost as great as the republican plurality of 63,462 in 1908. Dix has carried the entire democratic state ticket with him to victory.

The plurality of Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for Governor of NEW JERSEY, is placed at 20,000. At last election the vote for Governor was very close.

In MASSACHUSETTS, the legislature stands Senate republican, 25; democrat, 15; House of Representatives, republican, 128; democrat, 111; socialist, 1. In joint session the republicans have 154 votes to 126 votes for the democrats to re-elect Senator Lodge. Last Legislature stood on the joint session, 24 republicans to 65 democrats. Congressmen so far elected are 9 republicans and 5 democrats.

Special Evening Telegram. ENOSHAMA, Wis., Nov. 9. Arrangements have been completed for a 15 round fight between Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, and Frankie Connolly of this city, the Bantam weight champion. The fight is to take place at New Orleans on Saturday afternoon before the West Side Athletic Club of that city. Hard on Teddy.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, N.Y., Nov. 9. Wm. R. Hearst issued this statement this morning: The voters of the country have repudiated the Republican party, and undoubtedly the Republican party has amply merited the rebuke it has received. The voters have turned to the Democratic party, and the serious question now to be determined is, whether the Democratic party will deserve the confidence of the citizens, and will they remedy the conditions of which the people complain more so than the Republican party has done. For my part I sincerely hope that the Democratic party will fully realize the expectations of its supporters and fully respond to the requirements of the citizens. I supported the Democratic party in many States, but in this State I was exceedingly anxious to see Mr. Tupper elected, as I decided him to be the most genuine Democrat in the field for Governor. As for Mr. Roosevelt, he came home from his parade abroad just in time to give the tottering edifice one final push and to be buried in its ruins. I am not disposed to mourn for Roosevelt, as a matter of fact I am thoroughly delighted that the United States, like Portugal, has decided to be a Republic and depose of this royal pretender.

Indignation at Trinity.

Editor Evening Telegram:—
Sir, The long promised, and long agitated for, Railway has come at last and the work so far as this town is concerned, is about finished, the rails having been laid well towards Trinity East.

But what a disappointment the Government has kept in store for use. The line which was surveyed and located to come right into the heart of the town is to stop at a spot nearly two miles away, locally known as Gott's Cove, and rumor has it that a station is to be built there on the property of a prominent supporter of the Government.

But Mr. Editor, we would not have taken the disappointment to heart as much had we been told in the spring that the line was to stop at Gott's Cove.

Our local M. H. A., Mr. Grant, when the survey was made, to his credit be it said, interested himself in the matter, and got the assurance of the Premier that the line would be extended into the town.

The survey into the town was accordingly ordered, but what a blunder this has proved to be! When will poor Newfoundland get a common-sense Government? Instead, Mr. Editor, of deciding before the arbitrators were held whether the line was to be built into the town or not, the arbitrators went to work and made a decision which belonged to a dozen or more persons, and about a month later, on some line in September, officials from the Mines and Agriculture Office came and paid those persons different sums, totalling something over Two Thousand Dollars, and if this line is not built the owners of the land it question will have both the land and money.

But this is not all, Mr. Editor, in order to connect this contemplated sub-branch with the main branch line the surveyors took a sweep through Jenkins' farm and around Gott's Cove through Morris's land which necessitated a 400 feet trestle to be built across Gott's Cove, when if this sub-branch to Trinity had not been contemplated the line could have been built at least half a mile shorter and the cost of Gott's Cove trestle saved not speaking of the award, by reason of this extra half-mile of valuable farm land being taken.

Reports Mary Joseph Safe.

The schr. Companion, Geo. Follett, arrived here yesterday at noon from Paradise, P. B. She left there Tuesday morning and from 9 till 11.30 yesterday had a hard time of it in the S. S. race which Mrs. Skelton Follett says that a tremendous sea and no vessel with a deck cargo nor any vessel deeply laden would be able to hold the shore in such a gale. Follett holds that his father in the Mary Joseph is safe, and says that his brother who resides at Angel's Cove, Cape Shore, had a message from him on Friday last saying that he had arrived at St. Mary's all well. Mr. Follett further says that the Mary Joseph left Hants Hr. on Wednesday of last week. Some who came from the same place seemed to doubt the statement that the Mary Joseph is safe and it seems strange that when Miss Follett was coming here from Paradise last night, should be so much affected by it. If aware that her father was alright at St. Mary's she certainly would have asserted this to friends who were with her. The names of those on the Mary Joseph are, James Follett, master, his two sons, Peter and John, Benjamin Dahey, and Wm. Foley, the two later of St. Brides. The police had been looking for the arrival of the Mary Joseph for some time past, as it is known that one of those who stole a quantity of fish from G. T. Young's store at St. Brides is on the vessel. A resident of Culetlet who saw the man enter the store is at present in the city. Yesterday the Companion passed a boat in the height of the storm which the skipper took to be the Mary Joseph. She was then off Cape Broyle, making weather and the belief is that she sheltered at Bay Bulls and should arrive here this afternoon. A boat which arrived to Goodridges' today reports that the Mary Joseph is now at Bay Bulls.

Regulus-Golden Arrow Fund.

Editor Evening Telegram:—
Several of our manufacturing concerns and machine shops have promised to put up subscription lists, and the employees to contribute towards the Regulus-Golden Arrow Relief Fund. I trust their example will be followed by many other manufacturing and other establishments, and if one volunteer in each of our shops and stores on Water Street and the places where they collect from their fellow employees, the fund would, I am sure, be greatly augmented.

The following additional subscriptions have been received by me, which I will thank you to acknowledge through your paper:—
Job Bros & Co., Ltd. $250.00
Reid Nrd. Co.'s ship carpenter, per W. Watson 18.15
J. J. McLean & Sons' employees 5.00

Rough at Bell Island.

The schr. Mary, which arrived last night from Bell Island, reports that it was very rough there yesterday. The s.s. Kamford, which was loading on the N. S. S. Co's pier, had to haul out in the Bay owing to the heavy sea running. She was pounded heavily against the pier, which she would have damaged had she remained there. The steamers Mary, Progress, Euphrates and Victor had to leave the island also and running over to Portugal Cove, took shelter there until the storm abated.

No Arrest Made.

No arrest has been made yet in connection with the snatching of the nurse from Mrs. Mallins' Saturday night, nor is there likely to be, as the police have a very imperfect description of the desperado. The search at turn from the woman was found by two boys in Spinous field, of Hamilton Avenue, but the smaller nurse which contained the money was not with it. Had the police been notified of the affair by Mrs. Mallins immediately after it took place, and the roads in the neighborhood of the place where the outrage occurred watched, the man might have been captured; but there is little hope of this now.

Died in Boston.

Mr. William Ford, of Water Street West, yesterday afternoon had a telegram from Mrs. Ford now visiting relatives in Boston stating that Mr. Charles Garland had died there of paralysis. Mr. Garland was Mrs. Ford's step-father, and she went to Boston to visit him. Mr. Garland, who was a cooper by trade, left here several years ago to take up his trade in Boston. He was well known and highly respected in St. John's, and his many friends here will be sorry to hear of his death. Five children are left to mourn him.

Scarlet Fever.

Three cases of scarlet fever were reported to the Health Office so far this week. They are all young children. Two reside at 40 Casey Street in one house; the other at 16 Coronation Street.

Rosalind Arrives.

The S. S. Rosalind, Capt. Smith, arrived here at 9.30 last night from New York and Halifax. She left New York at 7 a.m. Saturday and had fine weather to Halifax where she arrived early Monday evening. Leaving for here at 6 that evening the ship had a fine until yesterday morning when she encountered a gale of southerly wind with heavy rain, fog and high seas, especially in the neighbourhood of Cape Race. The ship was 25 miles west of the Cape at noon yesterday but did not pass the promontory owing to the force of the storm and big sea running. Off Cape Race the ship passed one of the Russian Volunteer Line steamers which like herself was meeting it rough. The Rosalind brought a two-thirds cargo, and her passengers from New York were—Joseph Schlicher, Paul Katz and six in steerage. From Halifax—Miss Alice Coughlan, H. B. McLoughlan, A. P. Stoneman, Miss E. W. Robertson, Master A. Hutton, Miss Olga Hutton and one steersman.

McMurdo's Store News.

It is worth while looking round your cellar, out-houses, etc., to see if they are in a sanitary condition. There is often decaying vegetable matter, etc., lying around, and the summer and it is well to see that such is all cleared away before the coming of winter, and everything placed in a wholesome condition. To this end a good disinfectant is essential. We have just opened a full stock of Jeyes Fluid, Cylind Sanitas, and other well known disinfectants, and you can get what you need at our stores. Pine Tree Luges will prevent your cough from becoming troublesome, and help to cure it. Price 25c. a box—adv.

Mills Closed Down.

The saw mills of the Horwood Lumber Co. at Dog Bay and Campbellton have closed down for the season. The loggers are gone to the woods for the winter's work.

Sir Archibald Hunter.

By One Who Knew Him in the Sudan.
The news that General Sir Archibald Hunter is at last to enter the bonds of wedlock with Lady Inverclyde will take back the memories of many thousands of persons to those gloomy and disastrous weeks, when our enemy held Sir G. White's forces besieged in Ladysmith. These who are in the know have long held that had Hunter's views been adopted before the siege, the whole course of the 'Natal' campaign might have been changed, greatly to the British disadvantage.

In the Sudan.
Of course, the great Boer War quite eclipsed the long years of campaigning in the Sudan which ended in triumph at Omdurman but a year previously. And, thanks to the fact that Sir Archibald is as modest as he is that in the holding and reconquest of the Sudan was the great work of his life.

He had fourteen years of the desert and the Nile valley, and throughout them was in the front of each and every fight—they were many—waged in that wide area. His bravery in all that close hand-to-hand fighting was a byword with the black troops whose adored leader he was—men whose reckless disregard of danger, whether as allies or as foes, has ever forced enthusiastic admiration from all British soldiers.

When the ill-fated gunboat El Teb, turned turtle in the fifth cataract, Hunter had a narrow escape, being struck in the side by the bridge rail as he leapt overboard. While he rested, news was brought to him that the boat which had drifted thirty miles down stream was aground on an island, and that a "tapping" was heard from within her. Instantly he was in the saddle making at top speed for the wreck with a party of workers.

And throughout twelve hours of cutting out work sat himself on the keel, hammering to encourage the two poor fellows imprisoned below, who were finally rescued.

A Fateful Day.
At Omdurman, it is probably due to him that Lord Kitchener lived to wear the words "Khartoum" after his name. It was in this way:

The Commander-in-Chief and his staff were inside the enclosure of the Iron Mosque towards sundown on that fateful September 2nd, when suddenly a shell burst over the party. All thought it came from the Khalifa's house, beside the Mosque, and that he was at home and we had got him. The shell was followed by another, and a third, and then the awkward missiles began to drop pretty rapidly. Suddenly, Hunter appeared on the scene, having come through the enemy. "These are our own shells sir," he cried. "We cannot stay here, for we can't stop them." Kitchener looked perplexed for a moment.

"Well, gentlemen," he said with a laugh, "it would be a pity to be killed when the day's won; we had best move away." And he turned to go while the shell hail grew hotter and thicker.

A moment later Hunter found another opportunity to show the kindly consideration which is a part of his nature. Some pressmen were present, and of them three—Maund, and Graphic, Stevens, of the Mail, and Howard (Lord Carlisle's son)—were dismounted, while this writer was holding their horses. Of course, we all turned to follow the Sirdar, and as the three mounted, another shell burst just over us. Maud's horse was killed and mine lost an ear, and for a moment we were out of control.

Then Sir Archibald Hunter came up. "Poor Howard is killed," he said, "but you must stick to the chief, I will look after your friend." And he did. He waited for a bearer party and carried our poor comrade to his quarters for the night, whence we borne him to his grave next morning.—M. A. P.

Novel Subscription List.

It was stated of Alfred Shunter, aged nineteen, a labourer, who was sent to Bostel from London Sessions yesterday for breaking into an empty house at Bethnal Green, that some hours before committing the offence he was arrested for gambling. He was liberated on condition that he appeared before the magistrate the next day, and he started a subscription list to enable him to pay the expected fine.

He secured a printed sheet, headed "On behalf of —, who requires assistance in consequence of —." In the second blank space he filled in the words "police fine," and induced thirty-seven persons to contribute 4s. 10d. Apparently with the object of augmenting this fund, he broke into the house to rob the gas-meter.—Mail, Oct. 26.

Buying Green Fish.

People who came down by the Portia say that there is a Gloucester fish buyer up there who has made extensive purchase of green fish at Grand Bank, Burin, Hr. Breston, St. Jacques and other places. He has paid 3 cts. per lb. for large and 2½ cts. for small, and is taking a large quantity. He has sent already several shipments to Gloucester.

Here and There.

POTATOES ROTTING.—The farmers of the city and suburbs are alarmed over the fact that the potatoes are now fast getting rotten in their cellars.

MR. WOODFORD'S CONDITION.—Mr. John Woodford, who went to the Hospital a few days ago, had an operation performed on his eye. He is doing well and will recover.

NEW SCHOONER.—Messrs. Harvey & Co. are having a new schooner built at Shelburne, N. S., of 80 tons register, for the local trade. She will be launched about New Year.

A drunk was discharged and an affidavit case between parties residing in Pouch Cove was tried in Camera. A woman who assaulted another and threw a pail of water over her, was fined 5 cents and costs.

Had $150 with Him.

Friends who profess to know say that Michael Knight the second engineer, who was lost in the ill-fated Regulus had $150 in his possession when he was lost. He intended sending the money in New York where he had to have gone up to get a certificate as chief engineer.

Happenings at Bell Island.

OUR IRON ISLE.

Your correspondent was "not dead but sleeping." Hence no items this time back.

Mr. Symonds, the English mining engineer, who has been touring the peaks and crags of our island home the past summer, spent a few days on Bell Island last week examining the mineral-iron ore—that has earned for Bell Island the title of "Our Iron Isle."

Mr. J. Cantwell, who has a drug store at the Mines, is at present here on business.

The Dominion football team still sing "Sydney town, take me there." Bell Island has had many weddings, but none can approach the celebration given in honor of Mr. Elias Gosine, who with his bride arrived on Saturday. Mr. Gosine is the son of Mr. M. J. Gosine, the "Assyrian King" of the Island, and was recently wedded to a fair damsel from his native land in Sydney, C.E. They came cross country, and a special steamer carrying the Assyrian colony established here went to Kelligrews to meet them and brought them to the Island, where a reception, the like of which is unequalled at Wabana, took place at the residence of the groom's father on Main Street. At night dancing was in evidence. "The cup that cheers" was not omitted, while sky rockets, Roman candles and stage fire illuminated the horizon, so much so that some residents of the Mines thought there was another fire at one of the piers, recalling recollections of a few years ago. On Sunday a special Mass was held at St. Michael's Church by the Assyrian priest, at which the Assyrian colony, including the bride and groom, attended. The writer extends felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Gosine and wishes them bon voyage through life.

The s.s. Euphrates was in St. John's last week, being fitted up for the winter traffic. While there the mail service was carried on by the s.s. Progress.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Hookey are glad to see him back once more at Wabana.

An "At Home" is being held this week in St. Joseph's Hall by the Knights of Columbus.

The s.s. Hector was here last week with a cargo of coal for the D. I. & S. Co. and freight for the N. S. S. & C. Co.

The one query on Bell Island, at Lance Cove, at the Mines, in the East End, at Freshwater and "at the front" is, "What's become of our Road Board?"—save the mark. "Where is our wandering Road Board to-night?" Indeed, Mr. Editor, the roads are in an awful condition, absolutely nothing has been done to repair them, the Government have given money for them. What's become of the money? That's what Bell Islanders justly want to know.

During the past fortnight hundreds have come to Bell Island seeking work. Several have succeeded; many had to go to pastures new.

Hallowe'en was not forgotten on Bell Island, and on that evening a most enjoyable time was held at the residence of Mrs. W. K. Murphy, Miss Minnie being the hostess of the evening. Dancing began early in the night, games were going on, music resounded through the house, and all seemed to spend a great night. The usual tricks were played (such passed the night) and at midnight came the supper, which, needless to say, comprised the luxuries of the season, the "Cauld Canon" being there, and in it the ring, the money and the burton. We won't say who got these superstitious articles, but they were found amidst much fun and laughter.

What was also an equally enjoyable affair was held later during the week at the home of Mr. J. T. Lawton, when Miss Gertrude tendered a dance to her many friends on the Island. The guests of the evening were Mrs. Bown, wife of the manager of the D. I. S. Co.; Mrs. House, Mrs. Thomas Murphy and Miss May Liddy, of Torbay, now here on a visit. Besides these guests the youth and beauty turned out in force. After dancing had been indulged in for some time, refreshments were served, and together with music and singing the night passed all too rapidly.

Mr. Farrash, the popular agent of the Blastine Powder Company, England, is again visiting Wabana. Mr. Farrash is traveling salesman for his firm and has set foot in nearly all parts of the world.

Mr. K. Noah, of St. John's, visited Bell Island last week, as did also Health Inspector O'Brien.

Mary Writes Again.

Wants Employment for Tom — Refuses to Allow Him to go on the Railway—A Bright Idea Strikes Poor Tom's Mind—Mary's Explanation Knocks Him Out—Tom Leaves Hurriedly.

Editor Evening Telegram:

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent nearly frightened the life out of me when he intimated there was likely to be an action in court on account of my last letter. I had a notion of going to St. John's to take in the Exhibition, but I felt too "fusterled" to go, and it's all his fault, and so it is. He said I had started a hornet's nest. Well, my sake's alive, if it isn't time to start something here, I don't know what to say. Here we have the girls and boys going away, and it is only we old people, who are no good for any place but the cemetery, remaining.

But what I meant to write about to-night was that meeting in the Court House lately, when the committee appointed promised to represent the need of employment to the Government, and try and have some sewer work opened up for the people who were in need of work. I am tired waiting for some news in the papers of their success. Poor Tom has his boots worn out going from one to another looking for work. To make matters worse the flour barrel is getting low, and I expect to see an ugly thing every time I go to it, and what uglier thing could any poor woman see than the bottom of the barrel. Tom called on the local member shortly after that meeting and he was told that there was plenty of work on the railway for the men who cared to go. But, my dear sir, to hear the way my man spoke of working there last year was enough for me, and I would not let him go if he was ever so much inclined. It is all very well for the members to stay in their comfortable offices and send their servants to the post office for their wages, but the poor man who has often to work a pick and shovel while he is wet to his knees, and when he leaves off, to light a bit of fire and try and get a cup of tea for himself. No, Mr. Parsons, Mr. Seymour and Mr. Piccott, my man will go no more on the railway. When they went last year they were promised they would get a free pass down and back, and that a crew of men would be sent ahead to build shacks for them, and said Tom if they build shacks like the one they built on Bannerman Street I will send out for you, Min, and we will stay in there. What did they find? Charged for their tickets in and back, and disappointment about shacks. But here comes Tom, and I will see what luck he has had this evening.

Why, Tom, you look bright and happy, surely you have not succeeded in getting a job, other than the job we have all the time to keep the wolf from the door. Yes, said he, a happy thought struck me as I was sitting under the bell, on their big pipes there. I will go into raising poultry this winter, and in the spring I will try and do a little farming. Sure, I can send the hens, ducks and so forth to the Exhibition, and also the cabbages and potatoes as well, and perhaps get some prizes.

Well, Mr. Editor, although I felt sorry to throw a damper on his plans I had to ask him did he remember that the Exhibition was not for the likes of him. For see here, said I, see this year's prize list for Harbor Grace, Carbonear and St. John's and note how many Government officials took prizes. A good many prizes were arranged by sergeants, policemen, jailers, poor commissioners, customs officers, not to speak of doctors, lawyers, ministers and goodness only knows who. If you do such a thing, and there is a prize given for the biggest fool in the island you will get it. Well, sir, he was so mad he went out and banged the door. I will try and tell you what he said for your Saturday evening's paper.

But before I close I must, say I quite agree with Mr. Shannahan to encourage home industry, don't eat anything but locally raised vegetables, butter, eggs, ham, etc., and never put your foot in anything but a homemade boot. Let the farmer and his help, and the manufacturer and his help feel they have all to live and live as well as they can. Let the interest of the one be the interest of the other. As cost of living is increasing, so increase a man's wages, and then if a mechanic engages Tom to do a day's work for him he will be able to afford to pay him fair wages.

Yours, etc., MARY. Harbor Grace, Nov. 8, 1910.

Puts an End to Stomach Misery.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

In Aid of the College Fund.

Tea was served at St. Bonaventure's College yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Meehan and Mrs. O'Flaherty in aid of the College Fund. A concert was also held at which the attendance was fairly large. Mrs. Bradshaw gave a piano solo, Miss Jean Strang a solo, "Beloved it is morn," and "Fairies Lullaby" and "To-Night"; Miss Ross rendered piano solos "A Rustle Spring" and "La Filieuse" from Raff; Miss M. Fitzpatrick rendered vocal solos "The Sweetest Flower that Blows" and "Absent"; Miss Gertrude Strang rendered that sweet song "I hear you calling me," a beautiful Cushman ballad.

Newfoundlander Injured abroad.

Last week Mr. Pierce Dunne, of this city, had a letter from his brother Michael, who is at Howitzer Lake, Montana, saying that he was the victim of a serious accident early last month. He is engineer with a Mining Co. there, and while at work received an ugly fall near his engine. The man fell on a bar of iron on which there was a sharp point and this pierced the man's abdomen. He was brought to St. John's Hospital where for a while it was feared he would die, but when he wrote the doctors believed he would pull through all right. For an hour after he met the accident Mr. Dunne remained near his engine believing that his injury was not serious though it gave him much pain. Then he collapsed and when he was brought to hospital his clothing were found to be saturated with blood.

The Regulus Enquiry.

Yesterday afternoon the Regulus enquiry was continued in the Judge's chambers in the Magistrate's Court. Those examined were A. J. Harvey, Esq., Capt. Roberts, Mr. Ricketts and the engineer of the tug John Greene, which had the ill-fated ship in tow. The Court will sit each afternoon until all who have evidence to give in the case will be examined.

Codfish Still Plentiful.

At this advanced season of the year codfish were never so plentiful on Bell Island Ledge as at present. Boats out daily secure large catches. Tuesday several of the boats from Portugal Cove loaded up with cod which are of large size and good quality. Herring of large size are also very plentiful on the Bell Island shore, and Broad Cove men who have nets out are making good catches.

In Bad State.

Last night Constables Devine and Lidstone picked up an unfortunate drunk lying on the ground on Duckworth Street. His clothing was saturated and covered with mud, and hiring a cab the officers drove him to the station.

SHIPPED HORSES.—By the S. S. Fogota yesterday the Horwood Lumber Co. shipped six horses to their mill at Dog Bay. They will be used hauling logs.

Wedding Bells.

The wedding of Mr. Richard Dalton, of the R. N. Co. train service, and Miss May Buckley, daughter of Mr. Cornelius Buckley, took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Military Road, last night. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Aggie Buckley, who wore a pretty wedding gown. Mr. Thomas Dalton, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride and groom, who have hosts of friends, are very popular and received a large number of presents. A beautiful wedding supper was served after the ceremony, at which a large number of friends attended. The Telegram extends its congratulations to the bride and groom.

Tea and Sale.

Yesterday afternoon Canon Wood Hall was the scene of an excellent entertainment when teas were served by the ladies of St. Thomas's Women's Association. A large number of people were present, teas were served from 3 to 6 p.m. and a sale of work was also held, the clothing and candy tables being besieged by purchasers. A concert was also given in which Mrs. W. C. Job, Miss LeMesurier and Rev. Canon Dunfield contributed excellent songs. All who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves and a substantial sum resulted from the entertainment.
