CHAPTER VII.
An Unseen Spectator.

She fell asleep at last, but slept lightly, and was awakened by the sound of voices which ascended by the open staircase from the room below. Kittle lay and listened languidly; but presently she heard Mrs. Bickers addressing some one as "Selina," and Kittle knew that the lady's maid had dropped in for knitting-lessons and a cup of tea. Kittle raised herself on her elbow and listened as intently as she had listened to Mrs. Bickers a little while ago. The lady's maid was recounting, with the fullest detail, the incident of Lashmore's rescue of Eva from the dogs. She did it so well that she might have been present at the affair; and she had evidently seen, probably through the open doorway, the cauterizing operation, and Miss Eva's close attention to it.

"Such a nice young gentleman, and handsome, too," said Selina. "And so brave, you know, Mrs. Bickers. Sir Talbot seems to have taken quite a fancy to him, and he's up at our place most every day. And Miss Eva and the two gentlemen go a-fishing together. And, of course, she's very nice to him."

"Perhaps something may come of it," suggested Mrs. Bickers, with an appropriate smile; but Selina gave a lady's-maid toss of her head.

"Lor' bless you, no, Mrs. Bickers," she said. "There couldn't be anything of that kind, for, though he's a very pleasant, handsome young gentleman—quite a gentleman in every way, I do assure you," she put in emphatically, as she remembered the half-sovereign with which Lashmore had tipped her—"but I'm afraid he's what you call a nobody. I mean that Miss Eva would naturally look higher than him. Do you count twenty now? I'm getting on famously, ain't I? There's a gentleman coming to stay with us—quite a rare thing, isn't it!—he's a lord, Lord Herdale; a very high nobleman, and very rich. He's a friend of Lady Lorchester—Miss Eva's aunt Emily, as we call her. Now, something might come of that, for he'd be a very suitable match, we all think."

She told all she knew about the coming visitor; and it was wonderful how much she knew; or it would be wonderful if our servants' knowledge of our most intimate affairs had not long ceased to surprise us. "But, lor', how I do run on. I declare it's getting quite late! But I must be going. How is your young lady? I haven't seen her yet. I suppose the quieter she's kept the better? Yes, I must be going. Oh, that new dress has come down from Madame Cerise's for Miss Eva—the one with the new color of pink, a kind of pale rose de barri—Miss Eva wore it for the first time on Tuesday night. Mr. Lashmore was dining with us that evening and he upset his claret glass. I never saw a man so upset in my life, for he thought that some of the wine had gone on her dress. I happened to be passing in the hall at the time, and just looked in as I sometimes do, and I saw and heard him. 'That beautiful dress! I've been admiring it all the evening,' says he; but he was looking at Miss Eva as he spoke, not at the dress. There was a spot or two on it; a mere nothing for most persons; but I thought Miss Eva would not wear it again; but she asked for it this morning, and I've got to see if those spots will come out. It's a beautiful shade, but it won't fetch me a lot of money, those kind of dresses never do, especially from the dealers."

She had got her things on by this time, and had moved towards the door; but it was evident that her mind was still harping on the dress; for she said:

"The dealers give so little. I suppose your young lady," she added suddenly, as if an idea had struck her, "wouldn't like to buy such a thing? It's just as likely as not Miss Eva won't wear it again; and I could sell it really cheap."

"I can but ask her, my dear," replied Mrs. Bickers. "It all depends upon what you call cheap; I don't think the dear child's very well off."

As Kittle heard the visitor take her departure, she dropped lightly from the bed, and went to the window to look at her, and found that she was just an ordinary looking girl, on whom her mistress' cats-off clothes sat not unbecomingly. When Kittle went down stairs, after an interval of reflection, during which she had pigeon-holed every word the girl had said, Mrs. Bickers gave her an account of the visit, and the conversation, thus fixing it permanently in Kittle's memory.

"Would you care to have the dress, my dear?" asked Mrs. Bickers. "If Miss Eva gave it to Selina, which she is very likely to do?"

Before Kittle's eyes was a vision of herself, clad for once in a dress of her double; and she felt an overwhelming desire to see how she would look, and if the resemblance would be heightened by the similarity of apparel. But the money? She shook her head and sighed.

"I'm afraid I couldn't afford it," she said wistfully.

Mrs. Bickers opened her lips to say something; but closed them again without speaking, and bent over her knitting with a little smile.

Kittle was feverish the next day, and Mrs. Bickers very sensibly would not let her go out for several days, and almost kept her to her room, sitting beside her, and talking while she plied her knitting-needles; the subject was nearly always that of the Court and its occupants; and Kittle strangely enough did not seem to grow weary of the topic. She gleaned an amazing amount of information about everything connected with the great house, and the equally great Sir Talbot and his daughter.

For instance, she learned such details as the names of the servants, of which there were fewer than such large places usually employ; the names of the horses and the dogs. Eva's wardrobe was by no means as extensive as that of most girls of her position; but Mrs. Bickers loved to dilate upon it, and could give a description of nearly all the dresses Miss Lyndhurst had "in wearing." The old lady described some of the rooms at the Court minutely—she had paid several visits there when the family was absent—and Kittle could have told you exactly where such-and-such a portrait or painting was hung, and where a cabinet of curios—"of priceless rth," as Mrs. Bickers asserted—stood in the great hall.

Little wonder that Kittle's mind was filled with the Court and its people. The existence, the doings, the very speeches of her double began to seem to her so distinct as to belong to Kittle herself. She longed to see the girl again, to know if Lashmore was still with her, still fishing, walking with her, with that eloquent look in his eyes, that expressive attitude of imploration, of mute worship. So, when Mrs. Bickers at last allowed her to go out, she went through the wood in the direction of the river; and, as chance would have it, she saw Eva and Lashmore again.

She stood behind a tree that had screened her before, and she watched them with intent eyes. It did occur to her on this occasion that she was spying on them; but she soothed her conscience with the reflection that she was watching them with no object, and that her watching could not matter to them. She saw them as they stood on opposite sides of the river, and she could hear their voices, though she did not distinguish what they said; she saw Eva attempt to cross the bridge and fall, and Lashmore plunge down the bank. In her agitation, caused by the accident, Kittle was about to run forward to offer assistance; but the sight of Lashmore, with Eva in his arms, checked her; she pressed her hand fiercely against her heart, and stood, as if incapable of movement, watching them.

She saw presently that there was no need for her to go to their assistance. Miss Lyndhurst had evidently recovered. And something else had happened; for she was standing on the bank erect, and proudly, resentfully, regarding her companion, whose head was bowed, whose whole attitude was one of humility and dismay. In an instant Kittle knew what it meant, as certainly as if she had heard the words which Eva had spoken, or if it seemed to her that she knew as certainly as if she had heard them. The young man had avowed his love for her, and Miss Lyndhurst had refused him with dignity, if not with scorn.

Kittle drew a long breath, and her hand fell from her heart to her side; a thrill of satisfaction ran through her, the color that had suffused her face while Eva had rested in Lashmore's arms died down. She leaned against the tree and watched them part, and saw Lashmore go up the river with a dejected air of the rejected suitor. She felt like a person who has been witnessing a comedy, in which he has a vital part; and she turned homeward with a thrill of satisfaction, a sense of victory which she could not analyze. The man who had rescued her from the panic-stricken mob was not Miss Eva Lyndhurst's future husband. Sir Talbot's daughter had evidently refused him. Why the fact should afford her any satisfaction, Kittle did not know; but that it did she was almost painfully conscious.

She reached the cottage looking tired and somewhat pale, and Mrs. Bickers at once ordered her to bed; and Kittle was not sorry to go; for she had witnessed a comedy, a tragedy, in which she still felt that she had a part and lot. It was almost as if she herself had listened to Lashmore's avowal and refused him. But would she have refused him? The blood rose to her face, and burned it as she asked the question, and knew, with all a woman's insight, that she would not have done so.

Mrs. Bickers kept her in bed for breakfast the next morning; and later in the day came in with a dress-maker's box.

"Here, my dear," she said, smiling nervously. "Here's something I've got for you. It's the dress Miss Eva got spotted with wine. She gave it last night to Selina Brown—her lady's-maid, you know? She said she never wanted to see it again—and I bought it for you. Now, don't be foolish," for Kittle had exclaimed and protested, "it will become you very well. I know you wear evening dresses, for William tells me that your father moves in the best of society. And you needn't have any scruples about accepting it, for I know from William's letters that your father is William's best friend, and has often helped him. Just slip it on, dear, and let me see how it looks."

Still protesting, Kittle put on the dress; and Mrs. Bickers surveyed her with evident pride and satisfaction.

"My dear!" she exclaimed. "It suits you, beautifully, beautifully! You might be a real lady, like Miss Eva herself. I beg your pardon! Of course, you are a real lady; any one could see that."

"Do you think so?" said Kittle, with a curious gravity, as she eyed herself in the glass.

CHAPTER VIII.
A Business Proposition.

Some one has said that one of the proofs of immortality lies in the fact that the worst of us are capable of remorse. Lashmore was just one mass of remorse, as, with bent head and shame-stricken soul, he went to meet Sir Talbot, whose kindness and hospitality he had outraged by speaking words of love to his daughter.

Sir Talbot could not fail to see the young man's agitation; and when Lashmore, in husky and faltering accents, said that he had received a telegram which necessitated his immediate return to London, Sir Talbot expressed very genuine regret and as genuine a hope that Lashmore had not received bad news.

"We shall miss you very much," said Sir Talbot. "Your presence here has brightened us up; and I trust that we shall see you again."

His very evident sincerity only deepened Lashmore's remorse; and he was scarcely capable of speech, as he took the hand which he felt unworthy to touch. He went to the inn, packed his portmanteau and took the next train. It need scarcely be said that it was anything but a pleasant journey, for he had plenty of time in which to realize the enormity of his offense. Youth has a fatal tendency to act on impulse; and Lashmore had yielded to what he felt now was a weak and discreditable impulse in coming into the vicinity of the Court.

Since the day he had been informed of the terrible fact that he was a nameless outcast, he had felt like a rudderless vessel, drifting at the mercy of the waves and wind; he had no occupation, no work, to divert his mind from his great trouble; and he had yielded to temptation to run into the country, ostensibly for fishing, but really to catch a glimpse of the girl who had made so great an impression on him at Earl's Court. He had not foreseen that fate would throw them together again, and that he should fall in love with her.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A SPLENDID STYLE FOR BUSINESS AND HOME WEAR.

Waist—2026. Skirt—2025. Separate skirts and waists have lost none of their popularity, and surely no combination is neater, especially for general wear than a neat waist of linen, crepe, or other seasonable material, and a skirt of serge or cloth, linen or taffeta. In the combination here portrayed the waist has the popular yoke extension, below which the fronts are full and gathered. This gives comfort and ease, and is very becoming, especially to slender figures. The sleeve in wrist length has a deep shaped cuff to which a flare section may be added. In elbow length the sleeve has a turnback cuff. The Waist Pattern 2026 is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. It requires 3 yards of 36-inch material for a 38-inch size. The Skirt Pattern 2025 is cut in 7 sizes also: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 24 inch size. The Skirt measures about 3 1/2 yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

A NATTY SUIT FOR THE LITTLE MAN.

2030—Boys' Blouse Suit, with or without Shield and Yoke Facing, and with Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths. This style is fine for wash materials, such as galatea, drill, linen, linene, corduroy, seersucker, gingham and chambray. It is also good for serge, velvet, flannel, and suitings of all kinds. The blouse may be worn in smock, or in sailor style. The sleeve in short length is ideal for warm weather. The shield may be omitted, likewise the yoke facing. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 44-inch material for a 3-year size.

Tea is Still Advancing

But We Intend to Protect Our Customers as Long as Possible

We notice the Canadian Press expresses the opinion that good tea may soon be a dollar a pound. This may appear rather pessimistic but it is not impossible, as at the moment there are a variety of reasons which contribute towards considerable advances in the price of tea.

We are to-day offering a MAGNIFICENT TEA in 1 lb. packets only, at

50c. per lb.

This is better than many teas offering at 60c. per pound, and on to-day's market quotations should be selling at 70c. per pound. This tea is being used by many of the best families in the city and has gained many encomiums.

We are also offering a SPLENDID TEA at

45c. per lb.

Both of these teas are specially put up by ourselves and are better value than can be obtained anywhere.

We shall be forced to advance our prices later or reduce the quality and we would sooner advance the price than reduce the quality. A word to the wise is sufficient.

WEEK-END NOTES.

(L. C. M.)

From the mountain height of which we wrote two weeks ago we will continue our tour until the waters of Trinity Bay come in sight and our feet tread the picturesque town of Heart's Content, or as it is better known, the Cable Town. For more than half a century Heart's Content has been one of the principal centres of transmitting Atlantic messages—and day and night the ticking of the electric spark has been continuously heard. This fact alone has added prestige to the place, and given to it an air of importance peculiarly its own. But in the main, its chief industry has been the fisheries, and some of our smartest skippers have hailed from its port; and such names as Hopkins, Moore, Legge, Rendell, George and Rowe, stand out as commanders among the people.

As a fishing centre Heart's Content seems to have lost its prestige, and the fleet of the past has fallen off in a marked degree. All the bankers are gone and the coasters have disappeared with them, but the people are still independent, and the best proof of this is found in the neat homes which everywhere greet the eye, and a passing stranger needs no better tell-tale as to the conditions of the people than that which is thus afforded.

The advent of the train at Heart's Content has marked a new era for the place, and has linked the trade of the town into daily communication with the city, and with the main lines of our railway system. This means much for the town itself and also for the other settlements along the line. But another boon has fallen to the lot of Heart's Content of late and one which bids fair to increase the earning power of the people and thus make up, in a degree at least, for the waning of the fisheries.

This boon is the storing of pulp and paper, and the winter shipment of the same. The labor from this alone runs into tens of thousands of dollars in the year, and is a ready cash transaction. During our stay we endeavored to take in the situation and to see for ourselves the huge piles of pulp which have been brought in from the mills at Grand Falls; but although we walked around them and saw their immensity and considered the calculation of the contents of each great bulk, we failed in any way to approximately total the lot. The task was beyond us, and all that we could do was to look and wonder and then admire.

The pulp is packed in bundles about four and a half feet square and is piled in the open, but the paper, we were given to understand, is all stored and under cover in the huge sheds near by. These vast piles of pulp, and the great sheds near by, with the long pier in the distance lends an altered appearance to the former town which we visited a quarter of a century ago. And then the railway and the neat station, and the concrete curbing, helped to change our vision of the older town that we once visited about. We missed the ships and we missed many faces, but we admired the neat houses, and nice churches, and the comfortable lot of the people. Such towns as Heart's Content represent the conditions of life in Newfoundland outports in general, and these conditions stand out in bold relief as a flat contradiction to the tales of poverty which sometimes are circulated about Newfoundland.

We had hoped to drop along at a time when one of the ships would be at the pier loading for London, but we were too soon, and therefore had to content ourselves with the sight of the pier only. The pier is well and substantially built, and the pile-driving necessary for such a structure, must have entailed much difficult labour and great expense; but capital and labour combined soon surmount obstacles, and so the pier at Heart's Content stands out strong and firm. The entire plant is a branch of Lord Northcliffe's enterprise at Grand Falls where the paper is manufactured, and which place has responded so nobly to the call of duty in the defence of Empire.

We did not ascertain how long it took to load one of the ships, but as far as we could judge from the equipment of the falls to the pier, there exists a quick, and yet a systematic dispatch in working cargo. Such ships as the Alconda cannot afford to lose much time in port, hence it is, that they are fitted with every mechanical appliance which invention has created; but to meet the equipment of the ships, there must of necessity be the counter equipment of the pier at which they load, and of the dock at which they berth. These are the things for which we looked at Heart's Content, and these are some of the things which we found.

The visitor to Heart's Content can rely on the hospitality of the people, and a few days spent there, and in the near by settlements will well repay any who ramble in that direction. There is yet a lot to learn about our country, and in no better way can this knowledge be gained than by seeing for ourselves the homesteads, schools, halls and churches which adorn our outports.

Use "Tiz" If Feet Ache, Burn, Puff Up

Can't beat "Tiz" for sore, tired, swollen, calloused feet or corns.

You can be happy-footed in a moment. Use "Tiz" and never suffer with tender, raw, burning, blistered, swollen, tired, aching feet. "Tiz" and only "Tiz" takes the pain and soreness out of corns, callouses and bunions.

As soon as you put your feet in a "Tiz" bath, you just feel the happiness soaking in. How good your poor, old feet feel. They want to dance for joy. "Tiz" is grand. "Tiz" instantly draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, aching, sweaty feet. Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug store or department store. Get instant foot relief. Laugh at foot sufferers who complain. Because your feet are never, never going to bother or make you limp any more.

And the Worst is Yet to Come

Rejection of Volunteers.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I see by the English papers that the military authorities are re-examining those who were 18 months ago pronounced physically unfit for active service, and no doubt this is being done owing to the ever-increasing demand for men and yet more men, there is an antecedent probability that many who were rejected two years ago are now sufficiently fit to bear "arms" and do their bit for King and Country and I am thinking that if something could be done by the authorities in St. John's when a young man offers himself for active service and is found to be not quite up to the standard many more would be in the ranks to-day than the present figures indicate. For example, a young man walks many miles to connect at the nearest point with the railway and arrives in St. John's no doubt feeling the effects of a tramp of 40 miles, and a sleepless night on the train. I should think his condition at that time to be most unfavorable for medical examination, and any slight defect, barring the loss of an eye would be rather aggravated by such physical strain. Would it be possible to give the prospective volunteer a week's complete rest, and then put him in the hands of the medical examiners? We are losing a good many men who as far as one can see and judge return to work which must be quite as laborious as soldiering. Four young men from this place walked to Gambia, then by train to St. John's; they were all rejected. I think three ought to be in khaki now. The British army needs thousands of men to keep the whole machinery of warfare in fighting order; lines of communication to be guarded, ammunition to be transferred from point to point, trains to be loaded and unloaded, a hundred and one things to be done beside being actually in the firing line. The women of England in their thousands are working in the munition factories. Many men could be released for sterner work if those physically unfit were given a chance to do work which did not require the perfection of an Apollo. I think that men desirous of doing something and who were not absolutely incapable should be given a chance.

We are a long way from victory, and before we attain that most desirable end every resource of the Empire must be mobilized. There are hard times ahead of us, and it is only a fool who with complacent optimism thinks that in a few months' efforts will be crowned with success. We are fighting a nation which will stick at nothing, and before the end Germany will put thousands of English, French and Russian prisoners in her front line of battle. No crime is too repulsive, no line of conduct too degrading if perchance defeat may be prolonged for a few months. England as far as fresh meat and sugar are concerned is on rations. It strikes me that we too ought to be most economic in the use of those things which we must import and every man, woman and child should be taught the necessity of cultivating every square inch of ground capable of yielding any produce, for as Rudyard Kipling says:

No easy hope or lies
Shall bring us to our goal
But iron sacrifice
Of body, will and soul.
There's but one task for all—
For each one life to give
Who stands if England fall?
Who dies if England live?

Cure the Skin Through the Skin

It is now thoroughly established among skin specialists that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ beneath the skin and curable only through the skin. Thousands of people suffer with skin disease who are perfectly healthy otherwise, which shows that their blood is not diseased. Ugly-tasting stomach remedies are therefore as worthless for skin diseases as they are for a tooth-ache. Eczema germs must be WASHED AWAY. Sweaty salves do no good for they cannot penetrate the skin. They merely close the pores and aid the rapid increase of germs. The only way to reach the germs is by a penetrating liquid. The D. D. Prescription, a wonderful new discovery for skin diseases, is a simple, scientific wash—a reliable home remedy that brings about marvellous cures in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Pimples, Ulcers, Barber's Itch and all other skin ailments. E. D. D. relieves distress instantly, kills and washes away disease germs and leaves the skin wholesome and healthy. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

Are the Allies Crazy?

Berlin Trying to Save Them, Utters a Last Warning. (By Otto Augspiegel, in the New York Sun).—By wireless to any paper that will cable it to London. Berlin, March 23.—I am permitted to say on the authority of a great military personage, that it is the height of folly for the Entente forces to follow the Germans on their triumphal eastward march. It is realized by the German people, for they have been so officially informed, that the wonderful strategy which the English call a retreat is the most victorious movement that has been made by the great Hindenburg yet. For the sake of humanity, of which the Hozenzollern family has been the only conservator, let me warn the Allies that the pursuit of the Germans on the west front is fatal. Can they not see that it is a trap into which they will fall? Of course the French and English generals know nothing or they would realize the hopelessness of what they are doing. The German general staff feels so sorry for them that I am permitted to warn them of their terrible mistake. Will they not stop and think, or at any rate, stop? If they do not believe that this retreat, as the fools call it, is mysterious, let me assure them that it is. It is so mysterious that it is painful, like neuritis. And any one trying to solve a war mystery except Hindenburg is crazy.

How do the Allies know but that the great Field Marshal is going to lure them into Berlin, where there is Your Boys and Girls.

The child in a delicate state of health needs more entertaining at least when confined to bed and many interesting things can be done by him and for him to keep him amused and entertained. In contagious diseases, tin toys and dolls of rubber or celluloid are wisest to give him as they can be boiled at the end of each day. I have read of a clever way to make a modelling substance with which he can amuse himself for hours—four and enough water to form a dough which can be burned when the child has finished playing with it. If the disease is not a contagious one, a magazine from which to cut out pictures to paste in a scrap book may be given the child and the scrap book may be sent by him to a hospital and given to one of the poor children who has no toys to play with while confined there. A little sweet milk added to the water for working house plants will keep them in good condition.

Weakened by Anaemia Doctors Gave No Hope

Said She Was Threatened With Consumption, and Gave Her Three Weeks To Live. Anaemia is indicated by thin, watery blood. The gums and eyelids grow pale, there is great weakness and fatigue and digestion fails. Since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new, rich blood, it is naturally most suitable as a treatment for anaemia. This letter proves its efficiency in the most severe cases. Mrs. J. Adams, Port Hope, Ont., writes: "About six years ago I was taken with very weak spells and though I doctored with the family physician and used other medicines for two years, I got very little relief, and, in fact, continued to grow weaker. I was so weak I could not wait on myself or raise my hand to my head and decided to go to my daughter in Toronto. When examined by Toronto doctors they pronounced me to be in a dangerous condition, threatened with consumption and other ailments and said I would not live for three weeks. One day I was looking

The Reward of Barbarism.

Anticipation of America's action has so far and for so long robbed the realization of its effect that it is difficult to find words that can fitly describe the sense of great an event. Through the conclusion of the great debate in the American Parliament was practically foregone, we can see the nation that has been held in leash bound forward, rejoicing in its liberation. Its action will be the swifter for being so long denied. We have good reason to believe that it will be decisive. Any moment may bring also the news that Cuba will add her valuable assistance now that the great Republic has given the lead; while Germany, with fatalistic stupidity, has chosen the worst possible hour in which to injure Brazil. That large and wealthy country is in a ferment from the combined effects of America's entry into the war and the sinking of one of her own ships with the murder of several of her citizens. If only for the naval bases she would afford to the Allies, her accession would be invaluable.

Beyond the expected impetus to the "reform" movement, nothing but a sort of stolid indifference is reported from Berlin. The papers shower abuse on the President and his country, but it is almost perfunctory and all stereotyped. No one will be surprised at this, for while it would be a mistake to imagine that the Germans as a whole are asleep to the meaning of what has happened, their complete reliance upon their submarine war and their belief that it will bring England into submission before America can make her weight felt are general knowledge. This mental obsession distorts their view of the meaning and leads them to disregard all other consequences of their campaign than the hopelessly exaggerated effects they are confident it will achieve upon England. The following utterances of a German statesman last month are worth quoting as summing up this view and over-confidence:—"Everything that can possibly happen to us in the way of difficulties as the result of the intervention of another State, and all the possible economic losses of Germany, do not weigh against the possibility of bringing down England. Our bitter enemy, who made the war into a world-economic war, is now himself feeling the consequences. In this economic war we are now taking the offensive, and Lloyd-George has to announce what foods, hitherto regarded in England as indispensable, can no longer be imported. England is now experiencing, more acutely, and more rapidly, the difficulties which we experienced. Herr Zimmermann expressed in a conversation firm confidence that the submarine weapon will soon bring us peace, and bring it this summer. That is no mere sentiment of the moment. England is much more defenceless against such an offensive blockade than Germany was against the economic war. Nothing can go to England except in ships, and these ships are under German control. England's greatness depends upon sea power, and a blow which brings her down from the first place in world-shipping strikes her nerve centre. To begin with, England will be able to bear the pressure."

We may add to the last sentence, "and America will enable her to continue to bear it." It will be the height of irony if the first discernible effect of America's intervention is the defeat of the very causes which have brought her in. When the American navy gets under way, when she has organized and lent to England her fine mosquito fleet, when the ocean is dotted with a new innumerable host of the little sea wasps which have been found so effective against the submarine, when, most of all, the shipyards of the States begin to turn out food-carriers as fast almost as they are being destroyed, when even Germany is compelled to see that Great Britain is not and never can be starved, then the full meaning of yesterday's proceedings will be felt. Then Germany can look to the field of battle, with the knowledge that a million fresh foes are preparing to enter it against her and that many of them are already there, as they assuredly will be. Such is the prospect which she affects at present to despise.

The Best of all.

All fishermen of Newfoundland who sail the waters blue, There is a Boot, now understand, Which we would sell to you. Of all the boots you ever wore In summer, spring or fall, There is no doubt that we are sure The Buddy beats them all.

At Bay St. George, at Notre Dame, On Fogo's sea-girl Isle, Our boots have won the greatest fame Among the sons of toil; And "Buddy" Winsor wore this spring; You must not forget that, The Buddy Boots, and he did bring The heaviest trip of fat.

Now Grand Bank's hardy fishing youths Think them the best of all, Their skippers wear our Buddy Boots, The big ones and the small; There's Thornhill, Matthews, Hendrikan, Three captains of the West, And each a stalwart fisherman, Who says our Boots are best.

Sure they are of the neatest make, Their color now is grey, We sell the most, and no mistake Of all the boots to-day, That's sold around our Island home, And worn by men and youths, Both on the land or on the foam, There's none like Buddy Boots, St. John's, April 7, 1917.

MURPHY'S LINIMENT CURES DANDRUFF.

Girls! Have Wavy, Thick, Glossy Hair Free From Dandruff

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments—try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Dandruff.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Dandruff. If eventually—why not now?

An Easter Sociable.

Prominent amongst the list of social events scheduled for Easter week is a Sale of Work, in aid of the building fund in connection with St. Joseph's new church, which is now in course of erection and expected to be ready for occupancy in less than two months hence. The affair will open on next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the school-room, Hoytestown, with a sale of fancy goods, including most attractive and seasonable articles, such as are sure to find ready purchasers also less and refreshments will be available. It will terminate on Wednesday night with a concert, at which some of the best musical talent of the city will perform. Rev. Dr. Kitchin, P.P., and his assiduous co-workers are leaving nothing undone for the pleasure and entertainment of visitors, and this alone ought to be ample assurance that the attendance will be large, without mentioning the laudable purpose for which the event is being held.

The Allies' Revue.

On Monday, Rossleys re-open with the best show ever presented by this clever combination, and that's saying something. The theatre has been all thoroughly cleaned and done up with lots of improvements. "The Allies' Revue" is a musical comedy, very beautifully costumed and staged, and can only be seen at Rossleys. It is entirely original, written by the author, and is being presented, all appearing in new and beautiful costumes. The songs and dances and acting cleverly done by the talented little troupe who are a credit to their teacher.

SATURDAY, April 7, 1917.
We would say that we are open to buy clean second-hand bottles if they be of suitable kind. Dispensing bottles plain or with our name thereon will be accepted, and reasonable prices given. Bottles larger than one pint, are not desired, and we cannot take patent medicine bottles. We would ask all who desire Sutton's Seeds to send along their orders at once. Early in the season as it is many people have made up their minds to be in good time, and orders are coming in fast. Our stock cannot be duplicated this year, and it must be a case of "first come, first served."

W. B. GRIEVE, Esq.,
Hon. Secretary,
The Recruiting Committee of the Patriotic Association of Newfoundland.

TO THE MEN OF NEWFOUNDLAND:

The King's Government call for lumber men and all skilled workmen not eligible for the Regiment or the Royal Naval Reserve for service in the forests in the United Kingdom. These men shall not be employed in the fighting line. They are needed for skilled work at home. They will be under their own officers and need no training in military duties beyond elementary drill. They will work with their friends and comrades as in Newfoundland. The medical examination required for members of these Newfoundland Companies shall be modified so that all able bodied men can be enrolled without limit of age or height. No one shall be rejected for eyesight, flat feet, loss of fingers, deafness, etc. No unmarried men of military age and fitness may be accepted; their place is in the fighting forces.

The pay, allowances and pensions of the Newfoundland Companies shall be the same as the pay allowances and pensions of the Newfoundland Regiment. Skilled workmen and mechanics such as millwrights, mill-sawyers, saw-filers, cooks, etc., may be eligible for extra pay. The period of enlistment shall be for the duration of the war; but arrangements may be made under which skilled workmen specially required for Newfoundland industries may be released after six months.

PHILOSOPHY.
Philosophy is not much good, unless it helps you saw your wood, with patience, year by year; unless it teaches you to bear the weary load of workday care, without a sigh or tear. Philosophers of high repute are known at divers times have handed down a lot of heavy books; they're loaded down with maxims sage, but on their dull and dusty page the tired man seldom looks. Most all the sages who inscribe their wisdom for the human tribe are not in touch with men; at heavy tasks they have not wrought; at ease they write their gems of thought, in a sequestered den. Philosophy is what we learn, as we our weekly stipends earn, and make the wheels go round; examples set by some good man will teach us more than any plan set forth in books profound. We've learned that honesty is best, and that vice will knock us galley west, that industry is wise; we've learned that when a task's on hand, it's wise to work to beat the band, with smiling lips and eyes. We learn these things, and hundreds more, not from the sage's musty lore, but in our sphere of toil; this is philosophy that aids, that lifts our souls from out the shades, and makes the kettle boil.

time should have no starch in it, as that causes it to crack.

WHAT GEO. W. GARDNER SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
His Symptoms All Said Kidney Trouble and They Yielded Readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Fern Creek, Alta., April 6th. (Special).—After suffering for three years from kidney trouble, Geo. W. Gardner, a well-known farmer living near here, is again in the best of health and he gives full credit for his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.
"I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are wonderful," Mr. Gardner said, in telling of his cure. "My trouble started from a strain or a cold and I noticed it first about three years ago. "My eyes were puffed and swollen and had dark circles under them. I was very irritable at times and my skin had a dry harsh feeling. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the morning. "I took medical advice, but got no permanent benefit, till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. Just two boxes of them fixed me up and I feel as well as ever I did."
Every one of Mr. Gardner's symptoms is a symptom of kidney trouble. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them so quickly.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR

APPEAL FOR MEN

By His Excellency the Governor.

War can be won this year if every man comes forward.

Newfoundland Forestry Battalion to be raised.

Government House,
St. John's, Nfld.,
25th March, 1917.

Dear Mr. Grieve,
I am glad of the opportunity which your letter of the 24th instant gives me to re-affirm my readiness to serve the Recruiting Committee in any capacity anywhere through the Colony to foster Recruiting for the King's Service.

My position as a Constitutional Governor requires that my Ministers should concur in my proposal; and I am proud to say that the official leaders of the Colony have gladly and at once agreed to support my action. And I have good reason to know that the Political Leaders in Opposition are equally glad that I should help in any way your Committee consider best.

I speak from the fullest knowledge when I say that, upon the issue of the War in France this year and next, depends the future of our Race. Any compromise or inconclusive peace is the Death-knell of the British Empire. Only complete victory is possible for us, because on complete victory alone can the British People maintain their glorious heritage.

Men must have and Tonnage; nothing else matters. If we have all the men we ought to have and we need, the War can be won this year. In the Homeland, every man between 18 and 41 must give his services. If the reserve of men still proved insufficient, the limit is to be raised to 50 years. Here there is no compulsion. But the fathers of us all have in years gone by been ready to give both Life and Fortune for the Flag; and Shame on their Sons who hesitate to play their part as loyal men.

Hitherto, I have been content, at public meetings, to explain the causes and meaning of the War. It is brought about because the German Emperor wishes to establish a German Empire on the ruins of the British Empire. I have felt that it did not become me,—not being one of yourselves,—to dictate to any Newfoundlander what sacrifices his Honour calls for. But now I cast away all reserve because the crisis is at its height and hesitation may mean ruin to us all.

As the King's Man, I call on all men capable of bearing the hardships of public service to enrol their names before the nearest Magistrate, regardless of any personal reasons. And let it rest with the Magistrate to decide what duty shall be imposed upon each man; whether he should serve the King in his Army or Navy or should be allotted the lesser duty of staying behind and working for the maintenance of those left at home.

A third course is now open to those who, although physically strong, have been rejected for some ailment which is a disqualification in a fighting soldier. It is open also to those fathers of families who dare not risk their lives in battle because they fear to leave their wives and families in want. It is open, too, to those who have conscientious objections to taking part in actual warfare.

His Majesty's Government are prepared to accept the services of 500 or more Woodsmen or Lumbermen or Miners who shall receive the same pay as the Soldiers and wear the King's uniform and shall be formed into Newfoundland Companies to be employed on Forestry work in the United Kingdom, on engagements for the duration of the war.

I call upon every man to enrol his name. I call upon every man of station or having authority, all the Leaders elected by the people, all the Clergy of all Denominations, the Merchants, the Magistrates, the Doctors, the Teachers, to join as one man sinking all the petty differences of peace time and to supply the Army and Navy with all the help which the Old Colony can give.

Not a man of military age should stand aside. Let him not judge his own fitness or his own temporal needs. The decision should rest with those on whose impartial judgment—the Magistrate, the Doctor and the Clergyman—the people can all rely. No man deserves the claim to manhood or the right to citizenship who fails to answer to this summons.

I call upon the Women of Newfoundland—Mothers and Wives—to let their men go—nay, to urge them to go as becomes their manhood. Do not let your men have to endure the reproach of having been tried as True Men and found wanting.

I think that, after my wife and I have lived among you for four years, you know that our hearts are bound up in your welfare. I know better than any man here how grave are the issues

Homely and Therefore Nice.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"She's terribly homely, but she's nice," said Molly, the little stenographer lady. "Why do you say that?" said the Authorman. "Well, why not?" said Molly. "I think 'and so' would be better, said the Authorman. "She's homely, and so she has to be nice."

"Why has to be?"

"It's Not An Accident That Homely Girls Are Interesting."

"To make people like her. Did you think it was by accident that homely girls are apt to be the most interesting and the best mannered and generally the nicest. The way I've doped it out is that they have to be if they want to be liked, and being human beings, they do."

Molly considered. "You mean that pretty girls are never interesting or nice and that homely girls are never disagreeable?"

"Of course Some Cases Of Homeliness Are Ingraving."

"Not at all," said the Authorman, "I said 'apt to be'. And I don't mean that the homely girl consciously thinks things out and says 'I've got to be amusing and interesting and tactful, if I'm going to be liked.' A few of them do but the most of them just go in that direction unconsciously. Circumstances push them that way. Of course, some of them don't have the sense to go where they're pushed. They're the kind whose homeliness grows in on them and sours them. As for pretty girls, now and then you find one who is naturally too sweet tempered or clever to be spoiled by her own prettiness, but the most of them think it's enough for them to be pretty and just lie back on it. That's why it isn't usually the pretty women who are the best at holding their husbands."

"Pretty Girls Make The Cycle Tired."

"By George, you're right," broke in the 'Wants-to-be-Cyclic.' "There's nothing makes me so tired as one of those pretty girls who make a business of being pretty. They expect everybody to kneel down and worship them and they're about as interesting or unselfish as these little pink pigs that are being fattened for the market. When anyone tries to introduce me to one of them I always refuse. Prettiness is all right in itself, but it takes an exceptional girl, as you say, not to be spoiled by it."

"Something like the rich man and the eye of a needle," suggested Molly. "I suppose masculine approval stands for Heaven in your simile," said the Authorman's wife scornfully.

"I've usually found it so," said the Authorman quite unperturbed.

"To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT myself as well as prescribed it in my practice where a liniment was required and have never failed to get the desired effect."

C. A. KING, M. D.

Recruiting Tour.

Feb. 16th.—Left Cape LaHune at 7.30 a.m. and arrived at Francois at 9 a.m. At 10.15 a.m. squad debarqued and canvassed the settlement and distributed literature and posters but met with little success. Saw Church of England teacher, Thoreu, and got his help. At some of the houses here admittance was denied us and no interest seems to be taken in war matters by these people, and no patriotic work of any description has been attempted.

At 12 a.m. left Francois for New Harbour and arrived New Harbour 1 p.m. Squad immediately after dinner proceeded on shore and actively worked the settlement for several hours. We here found the Church of England Teacher, Miss Batten, very enthusiastic, as were the inhabitants, and arrangements were made and immediately put into force to hold Patriotic meeting at night. The S. U. F. Hall was kindly placed at our disposal by the Master, Officers and Brethren of that body and at 7.30 p.m. the meeting opened. Mr. W. H. Cave in the chair. All the boys made admirable speeches and the writer closed with an appeal of a patriotic nature; 100 or more of an audience were in evidence with a good many young men—two of these were very anxious to go but were prevented by their mothers. The parents in most places I find are the stumbling block to enlistment. I feel sure that we shall hear from this place later on.

Feb. 17th.—Left New Harbour for Rencontre West at 8.30 a.m. and arrived at 9.15 a.m. Squad soon debarqued and moved among the inhabitants for several hours—found several young men desirous of enlisting but parents again intervened and but one recruit secured. Rousing patriotic speeches and songs were given during the evening in the S. U. F. Hall and the populace seemed much impressed, and I think we shall hear of this place later. Self in chair and Messrs. Cave, Deering, Small and Gladney spoke with much effect.

Feb. 18th.—Left Rencontre West at 11.30 a.m. to-day for Richard's Harbour and arrived there at 1 p.m. After dinner boys went on shore, saw all the people and secured two recruits. Stayed all night. Wind S. W., strong, and snowing hard.

Feb. 19th.—Left Richard's Harbour for Great Jervois at 7.30 a.m. and arrived at 9 a.m. Boat proceeded on shore. Two young men offered here and were notified of meeting to-night at Pushtrough. We here left Great Jervois for Pushtrough and divided up, self and Corpl. Small and R. N. R. Deering going on shore here and Mr. W. H. Cave with Ptas, Gladney & Hartery proceeding in steamer Fiona to Ship Cove and Bay Despair. At Pushtrough we saw all the people and in the evening held meeting in the Church of England School Room, the result of which was three recruits, the Rev. Geo. Hall in the chair. Mr. Hall we found to be most enthusiastic—he and his good wife gave the writer quarters and provided food, etc. for the squad for two days and in every way did his bit for his Country, and we are also under an obligation to the two Mrs. Camp who were good enough to provide sleeping quarters for Corpl. Small, Reservist Deering and Volunteer Simms.

On the next day (Feb. 20th.) we went to McCallum Harbour by motor boat kindly placed at our disposal by Mr. Johnathan Rowell (a very old friend of mine and among the many to whom I laboured nearly forty years ago on this coast that still survive) who accompanied us himself, thus showing his loyalty to King and Country by knocking off his work of shipbuilding for the purpose. The Rev. Geo. Hall came along and did all possible in his power to further the cause, both acting as chairman and in many other ways aiding and assisting us. Had patriotic meeting here—result two recruits. I must also thank Mr. and Mrs. Jude Nash for entertaining us to dinner, etc., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo (who have a son at the Front) for refreshment after meeting. As our motor boat broke down we had recourse to the use of a dory, 7 males being the crew—surely very much overloaded—but we arrived back at Pushtrough at 11.30 p.m. on Shrove Tuesday night just in the nick of time, very weary and tired, but escaped by less than an hour the severe gale of Ash Wednesday which broke just after our landing.

Feb. 21st.—Very stormy—nothing doing. No news of Fiona.

Feb. 22nd.—Still very stormy. 10.30 a.m. Fiona arrived and squad embarked for Gaultois, after saying goodbye's to all old friends. Gaultois was reached at 12 a.m. Here I got Mr. W. H. Cave's report of trip to Ship Cove, Bay Despair and St. Alban's. After

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a time saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

It Eliminates Hard Work.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

leaving Pushtrough we proceeded up Bay and after forcing our way in ice for about five miles the party left steamer Fiona about 7 miles from St. Alban's and travelled over ice to Village. Arrived about 5 p.m. Father St. Croix kindly received us at his home and made every provision for our comfort. He also arranged for a meeting at night—himself doing all the necessary arrangements. At 8 p.m. a large gathering assembled in the school room, Father St. Croix in the chair, and after explaining the object of the meeting the speakers addressed the public. The results were most enthusiastic and one recruit came forward. Next morning we left for bottom of Bay, travelling over 6 miles of ice, and held meeting at night in Church of England School-room. Result—3 recruits.

Next morning we left about 6 o'clock to travel to steamer, which meant a walk of upwards of 15 miles. This being Ash Wednesday Father St. Croix arranged for us to meet his people after Mass at St. Alban's. Meeting took place in Schoolroom at 8.30 a.m., every man in the neighbourhood being present, and six young men came forward to offer for enlistment.

The party then proceeded to rejoin the Fiona. The weather was very boisterous and a heavy storm raged during the day with blinding snow but eventually, after much exertion, we reached the Fiona about 1.30 p.m., Feb. 21st, and very thankful we were. Father St. Croix is very much interested in the campaign and hopes to see more young men go to the Front from his section of the Diocese.

Feb. 22nd.—Made a house to house canvass at Gaultois and held patriotic meeting in the schoolroom in the afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mr. Andrews, H. M. C., in the chair; good speeches and a rousing meeting resulted and 4 recruits responded to appeal. Mr. Nelson Garland merchant here, Mr. Andrews, and others too numerous to mention were very kind and obliging and our visit was much appreciated. About 120 audience. Ship lay here for the night.

Close of the Northern Sealfishery.

The S. S. Neptune, Capt. Geo. Barbour, returned from the northern sealfishery yesterday morning, reporting for 16,000 seals, mostly young harps. Capt. Barbour's account of the voyage has already been told. He never saw the ice so broken up before as he did when the main body of seals were struck this spring. During the last fortnight the Neptune had been doing hardly anything, but if the law allowed the taking of hoods the ship would have come home loaded.
 The S. S. Ranger, Capt. S. R. Winsor, reached port a few hours later, hauling for 10,000 seals. While coming through Bonavista Bay on the way home the ship rescued 24 men who were in distress. They were in motor boats and got jammed in the ice while seal hunting. Some of the shore people had done exceptionally well with seals this year. At the time the Ranger was searching for the body of a man from Elliston who had been driven off on the ice.
 The S. S. Bloodhound, Capt. Whiteley, has closed the ties of the northern sealfishery and is the last arrival. A message to Mr. W. B. Grievé last night stated that the ship was 2 miles outside of Hr. Grace Island jammed in the ice. She will dock at Murray & Crawford's premises as soon as the ice loosens. Her catch is 10,000. The northern voyage is now closed and 185,000 seals have been brought in for 11 ships.
 The present season promises to be one of the best on record for landings, thousands of seals having already been captured by people in Green Bay, Bonavista Bay and particularly in White Bay.

RUSSIAN DEFEAT.
 PETROGRAD, April 5.
 After Tuesday's battle for ammunition dumps on the left bank of the river Stokhod in the region of Tobaly Halain which was unsuccessful for us, our detachments occupied the right bank of the river, says today's War office statement. The enemy is conducting intermittent artillery fire.

MEXICAN TROOPS MOVING.
 EL PASO, Texas, April 5.
 The defacto troops of the States of Neuve, Leon, Cahila and Chihuahua have begun a general movement toward the American border, according to highly reliable information received here to-night. The movement of these three border state troops has been officially reported to Washington and is being watched closely. In Chihuahua the movement has been made in a northwesterly direction by General Marquez's troops; the reason given by Carranza officials being, it is an offensive campaign against Villa.

U.S. AMBASSADOR LEFT AUSTRIA.
 WASHINGTON, April 5.
 Official confirmation of Ambassador Penfield's return to this country from Vienna was given out by Secretary of State Lansing to-day for the first time since rumors were started about a week ago that he was coming back. No reason was given for his return.

INTERMENT OF AMERICANS.
 LONDON, April 5.
 A Hague despatch says it is understood General Von Bissing intends ordering the interment of all Americans between the ages of 17 and 45 living in Belgium. They will probably be sent to Aix-la-Chapelle.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SIGHTED.
 NEW YORK, April 5.
 A German submarine was sighted 560 miles southeast of Bermuda. Warnings have been sent to British and Allied shipping. The spot indicated is close to the great circle trade route between New York and Cape Roque and other points on the eastern coast of South America.

WILL LIKELY REMAIN NEUTRAL.
 COPENHAGEN, April 5.
 The expectation that Austria-Hungary will remain neutral for the present at least in the conflict of Germany with the States prevails in diplomatic circles here. This is the intention and desire of the two governments, if left to themselves, but if Germany insists upon their fulfilling in full measure their alliance, they will have to yield and formally declare war.

Automatic Sprinkler Saves Factory From Burning.

An automatic alarm from box 121, which is situated at the Standard Manufacturing Co.'s premises, Water Street East, summoned the Central and East End fire companies to that locality at 2.40 p.m. yesterday. On reaching the scene they discovered that the blaze had been instrumental in extinguishing itself, which is accounted for as follows: Installed all through the plant is an up-to-date automatic water system, which was brought into action by the heat of the fire, which caused the soft metal valves connected with the piping to melt, and within a few minutes the blaze was extinguished. The alarm is so arranged that the pressure of running water sets it in motion. How the blaze originated is not known. The all-out signal was sent in about 20 minutes after. With the exception of three hundred sacks of paint powders, standing on the second flat, there was very little damage done.

Alarming and Baseless Report.

Without any regard whatever for the feelings of others, some ghoul started a report yesterday morning that a sealing disaster had occurred in the Gulf and that the crew of the s.s. Vikings were the victims. As the day advanced the sensation spread until it was on the lips of almost every one in town. It is unnecessary for us to repudiate this groundless and fiendish rumor and that the following message received last night by Bowring Bros. from Capt. Bartlett will suffice:—
 "Viking 20 miles south of Grindstone Island in loose ice, which extends as far as can be seen. Nothing new to report."

M. C. L. I. Annual Meeting.

The fiftieth annual meeting of the Methodist College Literary Institute was held Thursday evening, a large number of members being present. The reports of the last year, which showed the Institute to be in a flourishing condition, were read and adopted. Despite the fact that 38 members are on the Honour Roll, some of whom have made the Supreme Sacrifice, there was an increase in membership during the year.
 The election of officers for the ensuing year, which was conducted by Mr. George Peters, resulted as follows:—
 President—Geo. Grimes, M.H.A.
 1st Vice Pres.—C. C. Pratt.
 2nd Vice Pres.—W. Drower.
 Secretary—L. R. Curtis.
 Asst. Sec.—Fred. Peters.
 Treasurer—A. H. Edgewood.
 Asst. Treas.—Walter Moore.
 Librarian—A. E. Parkins.
 Asst. Librarian—E. Burye.
 Messrs. W. White, S. Whiteway and T. Soper were added to the Executive Committee.
 The banquet to commemorate its fiftieth anniversary will be held on April 15th, in the Methodist College Hall.

Favours Home Rule

The Benevolent Irish Society, received the following message from Sir E. P. Morris, now in England:—
 "T. P. Halley, Secretary Benevolent Irish Society, St. John's, Newfoundland.
 Being entirely in favour of Home Rule for Ireland, I will be glad to cooperate and assist any proposal coming before the Conference to that end."
 E. P. MORRIS.

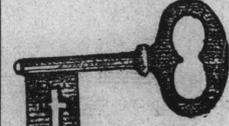

EXPORTS GOOD.—The exports of codfish for the current fiscal year promise to be much ahead of previous corresponding period, the Hun submarine campaign and the loss of a considerable amount of tonnage notwithstanding. The Customs returns show that the total shipments were 1,421,327 quintals last year as compared with 1,349,278 for only nine months of the present year.

CITY COUNCIL PASSES HOME RULE RESOLUTION.—At the weekly meeting of the City Council held on Thursday afternoon, Coun. Brownrigg introduced, and Deputy Mayor Morris seconded, a resolution favouring "the granting of self government to Ireland at the earliest opportunity," and assisting Sir Edward Morris in bringing the matter before the Imperial Government be requested."

R. C. CATHEDRAL.—The C. C. C. band will render the Hallelujah Chorus after Last Mass at the Cathedral to-morrow.

ST. THOMAS'S

To-morrow, Easter Day, there will be special celebrations of the Holy Communion, at 6.30, 8 and at the mid-day service. The Rector will be the preacher, his subject being "The First Appearance of the Risen Christ." An Easter Day Service for the Sunday School Children will be held at 3.30 p.m. At the evening service the Rector will deliver the closing sermon of the winter course on the "One Gospel and some other Gospels," the subject being "The Gospel According to Christ," as a prelude to the present discussion between the Methodist Church and the Salvation Army concerning Parish intrusion. At the 11 o'clock service the following music will be rendered:—Easter Anthem, Grand Chant, Gloria Patri, Boyce; Te Deum, Hopkins in G, Jubilate, Mornington; Communion Office—Smart in E-flat. Anthem, "The Lord is my strength," Coleridge-Taylor; Hymns Processional at 170, 165, 459. At 6.30 the service will be choral and the following music rendered: Magnificat, Russell; Nunc Dimittis, Garrett; Anthems, "The Lord is my strength," Coleridge-Taylor and Hallelujah, Chorus (Messiah), Handel; Hymns, Processional 176, 386, 356.
COCHRANE METHODIST CENTRAL CHURCH—A n t h e m s: "Death is swallowed up in Victory," Alfred Hollins; "Worthy is the Lamb," from the Messiah; Carol—female voices—by Gaston Borch; solo, Miss Vincent—"I know that my Redeemer Liveth," from the Messiah. Rev. D. B. Hemmeon's subject in the morning is "Three Easter Voices," while the Rev. Dr. Bond will preach in the evening from "The Conqueror of Death."
GEORGE STREET—10 a.m., Prayer and Praise Service in the Young Men's Room. At 11 a.m. Rev. H. Royle will preach, while the Pastor will occupy the pulpit in the evening. The following music will be rendered at each service: Anthem, "As it began to Dawn," Sir George Martin; soloist Mr. Carl Tressell. "Cradle," "Welcome Happy Morn"; solo, Mr. H. T. Courtenay. A special self-denial offering for Christian Missions will be taken at each service.
GEORGE ST. A. B. C.—The service to-morrow afternoon will be of special interest and in keeping with the day. The Rev. Dr. Cowportwillie will deliver an "Easter Message," and Mr. Amberman, of the Bank of N. S., will render a solo. Special Easter hymns will be sung, and a bright and inspiring service is assured. A Class Rally is asked for, also visitors will be cordially welcomed. Service starts at 4.45 p.m. Entrance by Buchanan St. Come and join us.
OWER ST. SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The Gower Street Sunday School will hold its usual Easter Service to-morrow afternoon in the Gower Street Church. Addresses will be given by Mrs. Guy and Rev. Dr. Penwick. The Primary Department will render several exercises and Miss Flora Curtis will recite. The collection last year amounted to about $700, which was devoted to the Mission Fund. We hope, this year, to increase that amount and it will be put to the same fund in support of our Missionaries, the Rev. Sam Soper and Dr. Sheridan, who are now working in China, and from whom we receive very good reports, as to the work that has been done by them in that far-off land.
WESLEY CHURCH—A special Easter Service will be held by the Sunday School at Wesley Church to-morrow afternoon commencing at 2.30. An address will be given by Rev. Gordon Dickie, D.D., and the members of the Sunday School are giving some solos, choruses and recitations. Come. Everybody welcome.
EASTER MUSIC AT ST. PATRICK'S.—At the 10.30 Mass on Easter Sunday, the choir will sing: "Kyrie—Angel; Gloria—Angel; Credo—Angel; Regina Coeli—De Merlier; Sanctus—Guonod; Angus Dei—Angel.

BRAZIL MAY DECLARE WAR ON GERMANY.

LONDON, To-day. Anti-German excitement in Rio Janeiro is intense as a result of the sinking of the Brazilian steamer Parana, according to a telegram from the Brazilian capital transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Buenos Ayres. The Brazilian Foreign Minister is quoted as declaring the situation is grave and that perhaps a declaration of war against Germany would be necessary.

DETAILS OF GERMAN BARBARITY

NEW YORK, To-day. Details of the attack by a German submarine on two Belgian relief ships the Tunisla and Haelen, off the coast of Holland, on March 17th, were related by Capt. Gilles of the Tunisla on the arrival of the vessel to-day. The capted reports of the shelling of the two relief ships at the same time in which seven of the Haeken's crew were killed, were corroborated by Capt. Gilles. In addition to those killed, he said, nine men of the Tunisla were wounded by shell fire. The Haeken's men were killed in a boat after they had put off from the ship.

U. S. RUSHING ARMY AND NAVY PLANS.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Plans to make ready for actual hostilities with Germany went forward swiftly to-day at the War Navy Departments. President Wilson issued a statement urging the prompt enactment of the general staffs of the army's plans to be taken up to-morrow by the House's military committee. Complete mobilization of the navy was ordered by Secretary Daniels immediately after the Cabinet meeting. The naval reserve totalling nearly 150,000 men will join the colors within two or three days. Every arrangement has been made for the mobilization of means, the immediate organization of the coast patrol service and the taking over of swift and privately-owned motor craft, already enrolled with volunteer crews. These boats will be called out also under the call for service. Scores of retired naval officers, starting at posts previously selected for them, will relieve every active officer now on shore duty whose services can be spared. The active men will go to the fleets on active service and to the merchant craft already surveyed and listed to be drafted into Federal service in the War Department. Further moves towards mustering a great army await action by Congress. Every preliminary step has already been taken, however, to carry out the project of raising and training a million men in a year, and supplying them with full war equipment. In a statement President Wilson formally placed himself on record as supporting the general staff plans for the army in every detail, including the provision for a selective draft to obtain men. Later in the day Chairman Dent of the House Military Committee called to see Secretary Baker, who will take the staff plan and its accompanying $3,000,000,000 budget before the committee to-morrow for conference to do with the draft clauses, to which considerable opposition is expected at the Capitol. Plans have been laid for calling to full strength the general staff to help in the administration of the huge task of army building before the department. Only half the authorized strength of the staff is now on duty here under the existing law. Congress is expected to remedy this at once, however. Wide latitude has been left to the President in the selection of Generals under the staff plan. They may be appointed from any part of the forces to be raised as from civil life up to and including the grade of Colonel. With thirty-two infantry and four cavalry divisions to be organized there would be at least 56 Major-Generals and three times that number of Brigadiers will be selected and commissioned with Colonels and Majors in proportion. No further steps toward calling out the national guard will be taken until Congress has acted on the proposed draft of the entire guard into the Federal service, divorcing it from its militia status at once. This can be done only with the authority of Congress.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER RECEIVES CORRESPONDENTS.

LONDON, To-day. David Lloyd-George, British Prime Minister, to-day received American correspondents in London at the cabinet chamber on Downing Street. With the correspondents seated about the Cabinet table, the Premier read impressively to them a message to the American people, which he said he had been asked to deliver on behalf of the Imperial War Cabinet. Except for the war maps on the wall behind the Premier's chair showing the different fields of operations there was no military atmosphere about the Premier's official residence. Lloyd-George and all the secretaries and attendants were in civilian clothes. Not even a policeman was visible.

GERMAN PLOT TO INFLUENCE NEGROES.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., To-day. With the arrest of a white man and a negro late yesterday the Federal agents have two men in custody. It is announced they have evidence of a movement by German agents to influence the negroes in the South. Those agents, the Federal authorities say, have worked particularly in Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Carolina and Mississippi, posing as Bible salesmen and ministers of the gospel. The Federal agents declare they have urged the negroes to migrate to Mexico, telling them that special trains would carry them there on April 15th.

WILSON ANNOUNCES WAR WITH GERMANY.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The United States to-day accepted Germany's challenge and has formally abandoned its place as the great neutral in a world at arms. President Wilson at 1:15 official time in the afternoon signed the resolution of Congress declaring the existence of a state of war, and authorizing and directing the Chief Executive to employ all the resources of the nation to prosecute hostilities against the German Government to a successful termination. The act was done without ceremony, only in the presence of the whole members of the President's family. Word was flashed immediately to all the army and navy stations and vessels at sea. Orders for further precautionary steps were withheld until the last moment and were despatched by proclamation. The President announced a state of war and called upon all citizens to manifest their loyalty. He assured the Germans in this country that they would be unmolested as long as they behaved themselves. Orders were issued soon afterwards for the arrest of the German ring-leaders in the U. S. and intrigues. Complete mobilization of the navy, calling all reserves and the militia to the colors were ordered by Secretary Daniels as soon as the war resolution was signed. The War Department already have taken virtually every step contemplated before the raising of a large war army is authorized by Congress. The President went over all the great preparatory measures with the Cabinet, discussing what had been accomplished and dwelling, it is understood, upon arrangements for co-operation with the Entente Allies against the common enemy. Plans for co-operation are said to have taken very definite shape. It is thought here there will be no announcement on the subject for the present. The seizure of German ships laid up in American harbors was the subject of interested comment. The legal officers of the Government began a consideration of the question whether the United States can confiscate the ships outright or must pay for them after the war. In any event, as soon as they can be made seaworthy the merchant fleet thus acquired will give America a merchant marine that could not be duplicated several years ago and also be made seaworthy by the transportation of supplies and munitions to the Allies. Both Houses of Congress have adjourned overnight Monday, so that their committees may be free to-morrow for preliminary work on war legislation. Word that King George and President Poincare have despatched messages of congratulation to the President was received unofficially. Only unofficial information also came regarding the action of President Moca of Cuba, recommending the declaring of war against Germany by Cuba and the growing sentiment for war in Brazil. The first act by the State Department when war became a fact was to prepare copies of the war resolution and proclamation for all foreign ministers here for immediate transmission to their Governments. Cables were sent to American ministers abroad, and full mail despatches prepared to go forward at once. So much of this work had been foreseen that it merely awaited the release word. The President signed a proclamation, the announcement of which will be made shortly. Allied war vessels have been given free admission to American harbors. It is probable, however, that with the seizure of German ships here and the enlistment of the American navy patrol forces the Entente will withdraw virtually all war craft from this side of the Atlantic. Great Britain is understood to have under consideration the withdrawal of its commercial black list in so far as it refers to firms and individuals in this country. It will now be the duty of the American Government to see that nobody in the United States give aid or comfort to Germany. Methods of financing the war and extending huge loans to the Allies constituted one of the chief topics considered at today's Cabinet meeting. Financial and other co-operations

GERMAN RING-LEADERS ARRESTED.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The arrest of sixty alleged ring-leaders in German plots of conspiracies and machinations in the U. S. was ordered to-day by Attorney General Gregory immediately after President Wilson had signed the war resolution. Every man whose arrest was ordered is a German citizen and is known by the Department of Justice. It was authoritatively said, to have participated actively in German intrigues in this country and is regarded as a dangerous person to be at large.

CUBA CONSIDERS PARTICIPATION

HAVANA, To-day. The following resolution will be presented to a joint committee tomorrow afternoon by Representative Alfred Betancourt Wanduley for consideration: "The Congress of the Republic of Cuba declares that there has been created and exists a state of war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, and authorizes the Chief Executive of the United States to take such steps as may be necessary to maintain and defend Cuban territory and provide for the security of its inhabitants and co-operate with the United States of America and other Allied nations, rendering every assistance for the defence of the liberty of the seas, of the rights of neutrals and of international justice." Representative Jose Estrampes will present at the next session of the House a resolution authorizing the President to organize and lead the disposal of the War Department of the United States a contingent of 10,000 men to assist in the military operations of that country in the European conflict.

BRAZIL ENTHUSIASTIC.

RIO JANEIRO, To-day. The entrance of the United States into a state of war with Germany, says the Journal de Commercio, means for all American patrons the beginning of concerted action in support of the United States. The newspaper adds: "American nations must choose between the only two possible attitudes, to side with the perpetrators of crime or with the defenders of liberty. The United States has ex-

ENTHUSIASM AT THE FRONT.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, To-day. News of the action of the United States Senate in voting for war with Germany was received on the far-flung western battle line to-day and was hailed with cheers. Nowhere was gratification greater than along the section of the front held by the Canadians, with whom many thousands of Americans are serving.

closed in this continent a decisive influence and one which has established for all other American nations an obligation of solidarity. Old Europe is fighting for liberty, justice and right. All the destinies of humanity are at stake. The United States vainly attempted to maintain neutrality; three years of temporization did not avail. They using the treaty of the Prussian beast. It is for us an indefeasible duty not to leave the United States alone in this decisive hour. Our chancellor must prove his present position; to act in a different way would be equivalent to a disgraceful suicide." The Arazzo declares that Brazil is greatly pleased with the attitude of the United States and the people of Brazil are as enthusiastic as though they themselves were taking part in a similar action.

AUSTRIA BREAKS WITH U. S.

NEW YORK, To-day. News received here to-day by cable announces that Austria has taken the bit between her teeth, probably at the dictation of Berlin. Officials of the American Embassy at Vienna have been handed their passports. It is announced and the Austrian Ambassador to the United States has been instructed to ask for his. Turkey and Bulgaria are believed to be following suit.

AMERICAN DESTROYERS WITH BRITISH NAVY.

NEW YORK, To-day. Sixteen torpedo boat destroyers of the American Navy are on duty at the far end of the British safety zone, southwest of the Irish Coast, doing patrol duty in conjunction with the ships of the British Navy. These destroyers actually escorted the great liner St. Louis across the Atlantic when she made her memorable voyage, but caught the liner before she had gone very far on her voyage. They escorted her in safety through the German danger zone and then took up the stations agreed upon between Washington and the British Admiralty for patrol duty on the extreme end of the British safety zone. This information has been in the possession of certain highly placed officials here for some time, but for obvious reasons has not been published. It is now made known for the first time that the ships of the United States have been actually co-operating for several weeks with the British Navy in keeping safe the sea paths against the German submarine menace.

INTERMED CRUISER BLOWN UP.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The intermed German cruiser Cormoran has been blown up by the crew in San Juan Harbor, the Navy Department announces.

TURKEY AND BULGARIA BREAK WITH U. S.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Vienna says that Turkey and Bulgaria have decided to break off relations with the United States and the Allies will probably look after Austrian interests in Washington and American interests in Vienna.

GLOWING TRIBUTES FROM LONDON PAPERS.

LONDON, To-day. The morning papers devote their chief editorials to the adoption by the American Congress of the war resolution against Germany and President Wilson's formal declaration of war. The disinterestedness of the United States in coming forward to defend right against wrong, not moved by greed, ambition or hate, is emphasized, and President Wilson's conduct throughout the crisis and events leading up to it receive warm tribute; but the main note struck is recognition of the vast importance to the interest of the world of American democracy entering the war. The intervention of America as the champion of right in the European controversy, says the Times, is an event so great in itself and so pregnant with inscrutable results for the whole world that it baffles understanding on both sides.

HONESTY REWARDED.

On Thursday last a young lad, employed as a messenger in the Postal Telegraphs, picked up a $20 note in the lobby of the Post Office, and handed it over to Constable Sheppard, who shortly after found the owners, Messrs. Bishop and Sons. The latter appreciating the lad's honesty, gave him a handsome reward. The amount picked up equalled the boy's salary for two months. There is economy in buying good, solid, well-worked butter; it will not go soft, and will go further.

This is the Economical Paint to Use

CERTAIN inherent qualities are essential in paint to ensure your permanent satisfaction with its application.

Of these, the more important are Endurance and Covering Capacity. The extent to which these qualities are present, accurately determines the real value of your paint.

B-H "ENGLISH" 70% Pure White Lead 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint made in over fifty artistic shades, combines these virtues in such a manner as to produce a result no other paint can excel, and few can equal.

It is economical because it will cover more surface and wear longer than other paints. A cheap paint does not permit of the use of the best ingredients, and always is expensive in the long run.

B-H "English" Paint—costing but little more than a cheap mixture—produces a better job that lasts three to four times as long.

Celebrated Case in Court To-day.

The locally famous "spot on the crackle" case was heard in the Magistrate's Court this forenoon before Acting Judge Morris. The courtroom was so filled with eager spectators that standing room was almost at a premium. The name of a resident of Twillingate, who left a "black and white crackle" at the disposal of some of his town chums and during its consumption suggested that it be "retailed," was read from the bench. Thereupon the northern man stood before the bar charged with a breach of the Prohibition Law—selling liquor without a license. No evidence was taken, to the disgust of the attentive audience, as the defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or 2 months' imprisonment, which was the full penalty under the section of the Act.

Congress Decides! U. S. Now at War With Germany.

CONGRESS VOTES FOR WAR.
WASHINGTON, April 6.
By a vote of 373 to 53 war was declared on Germany at 3.15 a.m. Washington time.

SEIZE GERMAN SHIPS.
WASHINGTON, April 6.
Orders to seize all German ships in American ports went out this morning. They are to be held at present as a measure of safety.

BRAZIL MAY DECLARE WAR.
RIO DE JANEIRO, April 6.
Brazil may declare war on Germany, the Foreign Secretary states. The sinking of the Brazilian steamer Pazana and the killing of three Brazilians has aroused intense excitement.

ASKS CUBA TO DECLARE WAR.
NEW YORK, April 6.
The President of the Cuban Republic has asked Cuba to declare war against Germany, inspired by the action of the United States.

LLOYD GEORGE'S MESSAGE TO AMERICA.
LONDON, April 6.
Premier Lloyd George to-day gave the American newspapers, on behalf of the War Cabinet, the following: "America has at one bound become a world power in a sense she never was before. She waited until she found a cause worthy of her traditions. The American people held back until they were fully convinced that the fight was not a sordid scuffle for power and possessions, but a unselfish struggle to overthrow a sinister conspiracy against human liberty and human rights. Once the conviction was reached the great Republic of the West has leaped into the arena and stands now side by side with the European democracies who, bruised and bleeding after three years' grim conflict, are still fighting the most savage foe that ever menaced the freedom of the world. The glowing phrases of the President's noble deliverance illumine the horizon and make clearer than ever the goal we are striving to reach. There are three phrases which will stand out for ever in the story of this crusade: The first is that the world must be safe for democracy. The next menace to peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will and not by the will of their people; and the crowning phrase is that in which he declares that a steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. These words represent the faith which inspires to sustain our people in the tremendous sacrifices they have made and are still making. They also believe that the unity and peace of mankind can only rest upon democracy, upon the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own government, upon respect for the rights and liberties of the nations both great and small, upon the universal dominion of public right. To all these the Prussian military autocracy is an implacable foe. The Imperial War Cabinet, representatives of all parts of the British Empire, wish me on their behalf to recognize the chivalry and courage which call the people of the United States to dedicate the whole of their resources to the greatest cause ever engaged in by human endeavor."

BRITISH ADVANCE.
LONDON, April 6.
Continuing their attacks north of St. Quentin, the British have captured the village of Lempire north of Roussoy. The official from headquarters in France adds that prisoners were taken and large numbers of German dead found. The operations of the past week between St. Quentin and Arras, the statement adds, resulted in severe German losses. The text of the statement reads: We continued our attacks north of St. Quentin yesterday in the neighborhood of Roussoy, ten miles north of St. Quentin, and carried the village of Lempire. Further prisoners and three machine guns were captured. Large numbers of dead were found in the captured positions. To-day we made further progress northeast of Noreuil (about 10 miles S.E. of Arras) and drove off a German counter attack after a stiff fight. During the operations of the past week between St. Quentin and Arras our advance proved the enemy suffered severely, large numbers of dead being found in many localities. We entered the enemy's trenches yesterday east of Arras and took eight prisoners. We carried out another successful raid during the night opposite Wytchachte on a front of three hundred yards, in which we captured 21 prisoners. We blew a mine last night east of Ypres. Yesterday and Wednesday night several long-distance raids were carried out by our airplanes and a number of important railway junctions, munition depots and aerodromes were bombed successfully.

WANTS WAR.
HAVANA, April 6.
President Menocal this afternoon sent a message to Congress asking that body to declare that a state of war exists between Cuba and Germany.

AMERICA'S ACTION HAS HAD EFFECT UPON GERMANY.
COPENHAGEN, April 6.
America's entry into the war evidently has had an immediate strong effect upon the reform movement in Germany. The conviction that the instant modernization of the Prussian constitution and the proclamation of a more democratic basis of the government and the diplomacy of the empire without waiting for the end of the war is necessary as a military and political measure "to counteract the tempest of the world's public opinion," as the Vorwaerts put it, is evidently gaining ground in all except reactionary circles. The demand that Germany follow the example of Austria-Hungary and declare itself in favor of peace without annexations is heard from the moderate liberal as well as from the Socialist quarters. This demand no longer represents alone the belief of many thinking persons that annexation except for slight frontier alterations would be against the real interests of Germany, but also the realization that after the United States had joined the ranks of the enemy time has passed when Germany could hope to dictate terms of peace on even moderate terms.

WILL SEIZE SHIPS.
NEW YORK, April 6.
With the formal declaration by Cuba of a state of war with Germany, the Cuban Government, following the course of the United States, intends to seize three German ships now in Havana Harbor. This announcement was made to-day by the Republic of Cuba news bureau here, the Cuban Government agency. There was no doubt the Cuban Congress would accede to President Menocal's request for war declaration, it was said by J. V. Knight, the director of the Bureau, which received to-day from the President a copy of his address to Congress. Already plans were well advanced for economic mobilization of Cuba's food resources, he said, and the Republic would be in a position to help the United States to its fullest extent. The German ships in Havana Harbor have been under suspicion and close watch for some time he said. Recently when one of them took on a considerable quantity of supplies it was feared she was going to make a dash to sea to co-operate with a German raider. To prevent this a Cuban warship trained its guns on her and kept her under cover since.

PORT OF NEW YORK CLOSED.
NEW YORK, April 6.
The port of New York will hereafter be closed at six o'clock every night to all ships passing in or out, it was announced at the custom house to-day.

RUSSIANS AND BRITISH MEET.
LONDON, April 6.
The Russian and British advance detachments came into touch Monday on the Diale river in Mesopotamia, near the Persian border, the war office announced. The Turks are reported to be in retreat. The statement follows: Russian and British advance detachments established touch on April 2, on the left bank of the Diale river. Turkish forces in this region are reported in retreat in the direction of Kifri.

VESSLS SEIZED.
NEW YORK, April 6.
The seizure of German merchant vessels which took refuge in Atlantic ports at the beginning of the war began almost immediately after the Congress passed the resolution declaring that a state of war existed between the United States and Germany. The collector at the port of Boston was the first to act. Federal officials at New London, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newport News, New Orleans, Savannah, Wilmington and New York quickly followed. Before daylight U.

S. Deputy Marshals were in charge of the German ships in these ports ranging in size from the majestic Vaterland 54,282 tons gross, to the small sailing vessels. The port officers acted under orders issued by the Secretary to the Treasury. It is understood this move does not involve confiscation and that the vessels are held for the present as a measure of safety. German vessels now in American ports number 91 with a gross tonnage of about 600,000 tons.

BRAZILIAN STEAMER SUNK.
CHERBOURG, April 6.
The Brazilian steamer Parana was sunk during the night. Three members of her crew are missing. The Parana registered 4,861 tons and was owned at Rio Janeiro.

BRITISH GAINS.
LONDON, April 5.
The British have captured the villages of Bassee, Boulogne and Roussoy, northeast of Peronne. The Germans suffered heavy casualties by being caught in their own wire entanglements and raked by the fire of British machine guns. Additional gains for the British east and northeast of Metz-en-Coutre are also chronicled by the British war office.

AMERICA'S WAR PLANS.
WASHINGTON, April 5.
The vast scope of the Administration's plans for the army and navy were revealed to-day after a military budget of $3,400,000,000 had been submitted to Congress. In broad terms, it is proposed to quadruple the enlisted strength of the navy and have in service within a year an army of one million trained men, including the first 500,000 brought to the colors by selection. Conscription bills to carry out the programme already have passed the Congressional Military and Naval Committees. The budget is divided so that $2,922,000,000 goes to the army, $468,000,000 to the navy. These sums are in addition to the regular army appropriations bill of $246,000,000, and appropriations totalling $157,273,802 already available for the navy. The navy's task will be to raise the present enlisted strength of 68,000 men to 197,000 in the shortest possible time. It is estimated it will cost $175,865,761 to do this. A lump sum appropriation of $292,538,790 for the army bill drafted by the general staff has been approved by President Wilson, and the department decided to-day to make it public immediately upon the passage of the war resolutions by the House.

AMERICA'S DAY IN FRANCE.
PARIS, April 5.
This was America's day in France. There was a great display of the Stars and Stripes throughout the capital. Municipal Councils met in the cities both large and small throughout France and passed resolutions acclaiming the United States. Such was the demand for newspapers that the evening editions of the Paris papers giving the votes in the United States Senate on the war resolution was quickly exhausted. Crowded subway cars were more animated than at any time since the war began with general conversation about the new American ally. Knots of soldiers and civilians in front of all cafes and at all street corners discussed the great event with manifest satisfaction.

GERMAN ATTACK FAIL.
PARIS, April 5 (Official).
Between the Somme and Oise German artillery violently bombarded our positions north of Urvillies. The vigorous reply of our batteries silenced the enemy's guns. The enemy made use of flaming liquid but was repulsed by our barrage of fire and left dead and prisoners in our hands. Northwest of Rheims the German attack announced in the preceding communication against our positions between Sapignuill and Godat farm, developed on a front of 2,500 metres. The enemy assembled numerous special troops for an assault with the object of driving us from the left bank of the Aisne as proved by orders found on dead officers and prisoners. The attack completely failed over the greater part of the front where we re-occupied almost immediately our first line of trenches. Attacks are under way for the capture of some of the elements which the enemy still holds. This afternoon on the left bank of the Mense our guns caught under their fire north of Hill 304 German troops which suffered heavy losses. In Loraine, in the region of Grimecey, we shelled a train of which several wagons were burned.

RUSSIANS JOINING BRITISH.
PETROGRAD, April 5.
In the direction of Khanikin our cavalry detachments pursuing the enemy have occupied Kasnichin and Khanikin and are engaged in a battle near the village of Debbke, northwest of Khanikin with the Turkish rear-guard which is endeavoring to prevent us from crossing the Diale River with the purpose of joining the British. A Cossack detachment has been despatched from Khanikin to Kissil Robot.
