The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6943

TRY

D. DODD & BRO.,

—FOR—

Choice Family Groceries,

WINES, ETC.

THE DUNDAS STREET, 8 doors east of Oddfellows' Hall. Dly

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARPET WEAVING—AS CLOSE as the closest, on warp as strong as the strongest, prices as cheap as the cheapest, by a workman as good as the best.—J. S FLEMING, Market Square. Jly16 tu su

THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE existin between Wm Rose and Geo McNeill, of the City of London, as wool Dealers, has been dissolved this day by mutual consent. WILLIAM ROSE, GEORGE McNEILL.

Witness—JAS LEAVENS. October 25, 1879. Kly

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mrs. H. Bunn, the American artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be equalled in Canada. Factory—No. 515 Richmond Street, London. Jly

S. THREAPLETON, RAG CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 121 south Clarence street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. All orders promptly attended to. 19vn

MEDICAL.

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., London, England, Physician, Surgeon &c., successor to Dr. DeLoup, Dundas street opposite Town Hall, London East. Edmonton

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. Ely

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Edge Block, Richmond street. Oddly

H. McLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office removed over Shrubb's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall. 393 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office, 194 Dundas street. Ajly

L. M'DONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street, over Dr. Lewis' jewelry store. Ajly

R. A. REEVE, B.A., M.D. Residence and Office: No. 32 RECTOR STREET, TORONTO. At Metropolitan House, London, on the FIRST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH. Mdecdhtn

BUSINESS CARDS.

SUPERIOR MATTRESS FACTORY.—Mattresses of all kinds kept on hand or made to order. Old Mattresses refitted and Feather Beds renovated by patent steam process.—James Hunt, English Feeking House, Silent street, London. Jly

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Issuer-ess Office, Talbot street, opposite Sahara Grove, London East. Jly17

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, Assignee and Agent, Real Estate Broker, Mortgage, Insurance and Money Agent, Valuator, Auctioneer, and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets. Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. N. B.—Parties wishing to sell waited on, and letters to call attended to. ooddly

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has resumed business at the old stand, 3rd Dundas street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. Jly

HOTELS.

CLIFFORD.—M'DONALD HOUSE —New and elegant brick building, heated throughout with hot air. Furniture and appointments first-class. This establishment is designed to furnish a home-like combination. Travellers can rely on good accommodation equal to any offered by the best hotels in the town. Liquors always to be at hand. Excellent sample rooms. Fdly

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. S. P. HUDSON, Proprietor. Jly

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travellers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful cattler.—D. J. SOMMAN. J'tfdn

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE, TO RENT, adjoining Grand Trunk Railway Station, Strathroy. Modern. $1.50 per Day.—F. A. TROTTER, Proprietor. Jan15dly

THE ROYAL HOTEL, WOODSTOCK, F. FASKEL, Proprietor. Central commercial house. Bus meets every train. Woodstock, Oct. 9, 1878. Dly

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, Ont. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. Bus meets all passenger trains.—P. J. RANKIN & Co., Proprietors. Dly87

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. Jly5 MATTHEWS, Proprietor. 19oly

HARDWARE.

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS of and Dealers in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils, Dundas Street, London, Ont.

GROCERS.

R. A. GALBRAITH, 402 RICHMOND STREET, Has on hand a good stock of Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Spices, etc., which he will sell cheap for cash. Remember the place. Jly

FOR GROCERIES AND PROvisions at cheap rates, go to C. C. HIND'S, corner of Dufferin avenue and Maitland streets. Choice butter at 12c. Aloolon

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR House, Egerton street, East end of G.W.R. Car Works. Carling's and Labatt's ale and porter always on hand in bottles. A call respectfully solicited. Also Carling's fresh lager.—JOHN WILLIS, Proprietor. Fdecly

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

GEORGE KEEB, IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS Stutely 364 Richmond street, London.

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block Richmond street, London, Ont. Jly

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office — Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont

HOWARD HARR JAMES MAGEE, GEO. M. OAT. W. J. CLARKE

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders. — Mirrors, picture cornices, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 362 Dundas st. Fdly

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in the city. Repository of Fine Art.—J. L. HAGUE, 393 Dundas street, near Adelaide st. Jly

JEWELERS.

T. C. THORNHILL, PRACTICAL Watch and Clockmaker, General Jobbing Shop, 324 Talbot street, late W. Riddell. Diamonds, Pearls and Jewellery repaired with neatness and despatch. Gives Sight, Guessing a all its branches. Klly

FINANCIAL.

PREFERENCE STOCK IN THE Financial Association of Ontario can still be obtained at par from the Company by applying at the Office, Oddfellows Building, Dundas st. —Edward Le Mesy, Managing Director. Jly

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!

ELLIOTT BROTHERS,

155 Dundas Street,

south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in

Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS A ten cent sample bottle of KARKNESS' BRONCHIAL CURE will convince you that it is the best preparation for the market for Throat, Bronchial and Lung Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. Jly

The Ontario

LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.

WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.

Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).

Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.

WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.

London, Nov. 3, 1878. Dlm66tw

LAGER BEER

PER 3c GLASS.

ED. LEE,

Dyn International House Dundas street.

NORTH END STORE,

Nos. 729 and 731 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

GEO. DAVISON, DEALER IN General Groceries, Provisions, Fancy Groceries and 29 Liberals, it now stands 84 Conservatives and 30 Liberals.

SMOKE

—THE—

Old Man's Favorite.

NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP

sodly

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,

Importers and Wholesale Dealers in

BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.

360 AND 362 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON.

Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. Jly

TO CONSUMERS.

GO TO THE

California Store

—FOR—

FIRST-CLASS

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS

at prices to suit the times.

Goods delivered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed.

WM. MOORE & CO.,

CORNER KING AND RICHMOND STREETS London. Aug28 dly

SAVORY AND MOORE'S

NOTICE.—The Best Food for Infants, prepared by Savory and Moore, and supplied to the Royal Nurseries of England, Russia, &c., contains the highest amount of nourishment in the most digestible and convenient form.

IT IS THE MOST PERFECT substitute for healthy Mother's Milk yet produced, with the elements necessary for the bone, growth, and vigor of the child.

MALTED FOOD, LIEBIG'S principle, of the most nutritious and easy of digestion.

BEST FOOD

THOROUGHLY COOKED, it is always ready for use, and suits Mothers and Nurses much better than Arrowroot. —Time 3s., 1s., 5c. and 6d.

FOR INFANTS

SAVORY & MOORE, 143 New Bond Street, London, and Chemists generally throughout the world.

WANTED,

$1,000 American Money

AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY, 357 Dundas St., to Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND VALISES

now and save money.

American Bills taken for same.

C. F. AYARS, 357 Dundas St.

COME ALONG JOHN

To C. F. AYARS and buy Trunks and Valises Cheap. American Bills taken.

od 357 Dundas Street.

LADIES WANTED.

WANTED, A LADY TO SELL BRUNTON'S RHEUMATIC ARSORBENTS and DIGESTIVE FLUID, which are certain remedies for Rheumatism, Headache, Catarrh, Dyspepsia and diseases peculiar to women. Ladies whose sales are preferred, as they can be cured and recommend the medicines from experience.

Only one lady in each place required.

Medicines will be sent to be paid for when sold. A large income for intelligent women.

Address, for particulars, W. Y. BRUNTON London, Ont.

RECEIVED THIS WEEK,

A LARGE STOCK OF

TOILET GOODS

—AT—

CENTRAL DRUG STORE.

J. H. NASMITH & CO.

London, Sept. 20, 1879. tusly

North End Coal and Wood Yard.

The subscriber begs to thank his many friends for past favors, and having purchased my late partner's share, I will endeavor, as in the past, to give satisfaction and good measure. All accounts due the late firm must be paid at once.

eodlf GEO. McNEIL.

TURKISH BATHS!

Corner King and Waterloo streets,

LONDON - - - - - ONTARIO.

For the Treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Blood, Kidneys, Lungs and all Chronic Diseases. All experienced Turkish bathwomen for the Ladies' Department. Medical and Surgical Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.

eodlf DRS STERNE & McLAREN.

REMOVAL.

DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 324 Dundas street, five doors east of Waterloo street. Dly4w

KINGSMILL'S,

—THE—

Great Dry Goods House

OF THE WEST,

OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES

in various departments this morning.

Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool

FANCY FLANNELS.

Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American

CANTON FLANNELS

EMBOSSED

DRESS MATERIALS,

with Velvets to match.

BLACK

GROS GRAIN SILKS.

Ladies' Black and Drab

CLOTH JACKETS,

Berlin and Paris make.

All Wool, Twilled

CANADIAN

BLANKETS.

TABLE LINENS.

CASHMERE

AND OTHER

DRESS GOODS.

Received to-day, new shapes in

LADIES' DRAB

MOSCOW HATS.

To Get the Best Value for Your Money

GO TO

KINGSMILL'S.

For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,

GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

SOUTH AFRICA.

Violation of Law by Armed Boers

London, Nov. 3.—The recent disturbances at Middleburg, in Transvaal, among the Boers arose on the occasion of the trial of a Boer for assaulting a native. After the court armed Boers forcibly took ammunition from a store, leaving payment on the counter, in violation of an order forbidding Boers purchasing ammunition until they had paid taxes. The offenders will be prosecuted.

THE ZULU WAR.

Basuto made an attack on the British camp, but was repulsed.

AFGHANISTAN.

MORE ARRESTS — ROBERTS' PROCLAMATION.

London, Nov. 3.—A Cabul despatch says three more Sirdars have been arrested. Roberts' last proclamation was received quietly.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE EPIDEMIC AT CAPE CLEAR.

London, Nov. 3.—The epidemic, typhoid fever and measles, at Cape Clear, continues to extend. One hundred cases reported on Saturday. Many of the inhabitants have left.

SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.

A sailor landed at Andtune reports, that on Thursday the schooner Marie Therese, of Vannes, from Santander, for New York, struck a rock near Hevaret and sank. The master, his wife and child and five men were drowned.

LAND MEETINGS.

London, Nov. 3.—Two large land meetings were held in the County Galway, Ireland, on Saturday. Parnell and Mitchell Henry, Home Rule members of the House of Commons, were present.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS—LIBERAL GAINS.

London, Nov. 3.—At the municipal elections through England on Saturday, where political considerations were involved, the Liberals were mostly successful. In one or two very important boroughs the balance of power was completely reversed in favor of the Liberals. In Liverpool, where the Town Council stood 42 Conservatives and 29 Liberals, it now stands 84

RIVETING INDUSTRIES.

What the recent activity in the crude trade of the Cleveland district continues only slightly diminished, there is considerable animation springing up in the manufactured iron trade. At Stockton the malleable iron works have added to the number of puddling furnaces in use, and it is expected that in a few days the Bowesfield works will also increase their output. At Witton Park there is very great activity, and both these and the iron-making centre of Consett, the productive facilities of the works are now fully tasked, while at Middlesbrough the large Britannia works, which have been for some time idle, are about to be recommenced in part. Large orders for shipbuilding iron have been or two orders for bars and other kinds of iron used by local and Clyde-side firms, and manufactured from iron from the Bowsfield Teesdale firms for America. Already the Middlesbrough steel-works have been started at Middlesborough, the first in the town in which the Siemens open-hearth system has been used.

RUSSIA.

POLITICAL OFFENDERS SENTENCED.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3.—At the political trials at Kieff one man was sentenced to be hanged, two to imprisonment at hard labor for life, one for twelve years, two for four years, one to one month and two to one week's imprisonment.

WAR PREPARATIONS.

Private letters from Russia state that immense activity prevails in all the arsenals of the Empire. A full force of work men in all Russian establishments is employed, working on full time, and a large number of guns and ammunition are being turned out, ready for use, and deposited in neighboring magazines. It is believed in St. Petersburg and in Moscow that this activity shows that active steps are soon to be taken on the part of Russia which will again plunge Europe into a general war.

GERMANY.

THE CZAREWITCH.

London, Nov. 3.—The Berlin Telegram says that Bismarck's health is very unsatisfactory. Well informed report says the Czarewitch will visit the Emperor William, in Berlin, the end of this week, at the special request of the Czar.

EASTERN COMPLICATIONS.

A Berlin correspondent telegraphs that the German Admiralty, considering the warlike complications in China and Japan, decided to reinforce the fleet in East Asian waters to protect German interests.

BAVARIA

FAILURE OF A COTTON SPINNER.

London, Nov. 3.—Cael Salvarath, proprietor of the cotton spinning and weaving mill at Ertargen, Bavaria, suspended. Liabilities, half a million dollars.

SPAIN.

WEST INDIAN QUESTIONS.

Madrid, Nov. 3.—The representatives in Cortes from Cuba and Porto Rico have decided to ask the Ministry to present to the Legislature simultaneously with the bill for the abolition of the slavery, bills for the reform of tariffs, and the commercial relations between Spain and the colonies. If the demands are not conceded the members talk of withdrawing from the next Legislature.

CABLE NOTES.

The session of the Cortes re-opened yesterday. The Royal Message announced the approaching marriage of King Alfonso.

A Vienna dispatch says it is expected a treaty will be put by England on the Porte to bring about another change in the Cabinet.

A Berlin dispatch says that the Minister of War has ordered the construction of two more forts in the Primor Valley to protect the Scotch Trophael frontier.

In London, Miss Emma Thursby, the American vocalist, had a benefit in the Garden Theatre last night. She was afterwards entertained at a complimentary supper prior to her departure for America.

It is stated that Mgr. Halver, Bishop of Brazes, has suggested a compromise of the Belgian educational question by priests agreeing to give religious teaching in communal schools at hours fixed by themselves.

A Constantinople dispatch says the Porte decided to carry out promptly all reforms it considered necessary, as well as those to which it is bound by treaty. The Austrian squadron is expected to arrive at Salonica shortly.

The German admiralty have agreed to extend the contract time to the end of the year for raising the iron-clad Grosser Kurfurst, sunk by a collision off Sandwich. The contractors will attempt to raise her in the middle of November.

A telegram from Malta states that Prof Gerhardt Rohlfes' expedition sent out by the German African Society, having explored the Kufla oasis was there plundered. Rohlfes consequently was compelled to return to Benghasi. He hopes to receive help and compensation from the Turkish Provincial Government.

TERRIBLE STORM IN JAMAICA.

$1,000,000 in Property and Over Sixty Lives Lost.

Panama, Oct. 25.—A terrible storm in Jamaica lasted from October 12th to 16th. Dwellings were carried away by floods, roads blocked, and over 60 lives lost. The damage to property is estimated at $1,000,000.

THE SNOW STORM.

A Heavy Fall of the "Beautiful," and Good Sleighing Reported in Many Places.

St. Davids, Ont., November 3.—A fearful snow storm started here at nine a. m. on Sunday and still continues. Ten inches of snow on the ground.

Beamsville, November 3.—Steady snow fall for 24 hours; snow fifteen inches deep on a level.

Lucknow, Nov. 3.—Good sleighing; about 10 inches of snow.

St. Thomas, Nov. 3.—Fifteen inches of snow here. Good sleighing. Weather clear, with strong northwesterly wind.

Machdale, Ont., Nov. 3.—The weather is cold and frosty. Six inches of snow has fell, and continues to snow.

Haliburton, Ont., Nov. 3.—First snow of the season fell here yesterday; three inches; roads in very good condition.

Rosseau, Nov. 3.—Three inches of snow fell last night; weather cold; roads good.

Cobourg, Nov. 3.—Two inches of snow has fallen at 11 a. m; still snowing; roads rough and travel very difficult.

Chatham, Nov. 3.—Eight inches of snow, weather clear and cold.

Prenque Isle, Ont., Nov. 3.—Weather cold; snow fell to the depth of twelve inches, Saturday and Sunday; making lake rough, and boats all delayed.

Wiarton, Nov. 3.—The main roads are nearly passable; about ten inches of snow.

Buffalo, N. Y., November 3.—Lake reports arriving to-day report that the storm of last night as very severe. The wind blew a perfect gale, and was accompanied by a blinding snow storm. The schooners Columbian and Pomeroy collided near the port, carrying away their mizzen rigging and the schooner Mineral State, loaded with wheat from Detroit, went ashore at Point Abino, five miles up the lake.

A SCENE IN THE INDIAN WAR.

Frank Dresser's Sad Farewell Note to His Mother.

Rawlins, Nov. 3.—A courier from Merritt's camp, October 30th, says:—The Utes seem confident that they can fight or elude the troops, and threaten to burn the Uintal Agency and massacre its whites. They also threaten a raid on the Union Pacific Railroad. Frank Dresser, whose body was found between the agency and the scene of Thornburgh's fight, in the cavern where he had crawled to die, had written the following on a post near the entrance to his tomb:—"F. G. Dresser, died October 1st, 1879; have been 20 hours; all killed at the agency; send to mother."

THE DANGERS OF THE DEEP.

Five Days Without Any Food Except Six Spoonfuls of Cat's Blood.

New Orleans, Nov. 3.—The two surviving seamen rescued from the wreck of the American brigantine Sally say they were without food or fresh water for five days, excepting that they killed and ate a cat, dividing six spoonfuls of blood between them.

MINOR AMERICAN TELEGRAMS.

The Howard Relief Association of Memphis has ceased operations for the season.

Gen. Hooker's remains will lie in state in the New York City Hall until Wednesday.

The President has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, Nov. 27, as Thanksgiving Day.

Gen. Sherman's annual army report says, there are but 30,799 troops available for actual service.

James Fitch, who recently murdered his wife and four-year old daughter at Hadley, Mich., has been sentenced for life to the penitentiary.

Michael Kelley was arrested in Orange, N. J., for shooting his wife. He was attempting to burn the eyes out of his deformed son with a red hot poker when his mother interfered. Her wound is not dangerous.

Great excitement was caused among the New York dry goods trade yesterday by the announcement of the failure of Stettaure Bros. & Co., a leading Chicago concern, with liabilities of half a million. Probably twenty New York firms will suffer.

A Cayuga, N. Y., dispatch says that Courtney sent a dispatch to Blaikie accepting the suggestion to row Hanlan for $6,000, agreeing to put up $600 forfeit. Courtney says he considers this proposition fair and hopes it will result in a race. The rumors that he objected to Blaikie as referee are unfounded.

Midnight Weather Report.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Indications—Lower Lakes, areas of light snow, followed by clearing and slightly cooler.

THE DEMPSTER DEFALCATION.

Latest Particulars from Montreal.

Special Telegraph to the Free Press.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—As mentioned in a telegram on Saturday, William Dempster, the Manager of the Ingersoll Branch of the Molsons Bank, was discovered to be a defaulter to the extent of $20,353.

The Board of Directors here was at once informed of the state of affairs, and also that it was believed Dempster had gone to Montreal. At the request of the President of the said Detective Arcand was on the alert, and yesterday afternoon succeeded in apprehending the defaulter. He made no effort to disguise matters, but expressed passionate sorrow at the course which had placed him in such a position. After the first disclosure he was obliged to practice deception to disguise it. The only account he gave as to what became of the funds was that he had spent it, and yet there were no exhibitions of extravagance to attract notice. He will remain in the jail here until his transfer to Woodstock, where his trial will be held at the Assizes

The bank's books were falsified. It is said the money was spent in extravagant expenditure, connected with fast horse and farming. He came here to effect a settlement, but the Directors would not listen to a compromise.

Wm. Dempster, the defaulting bank manager at Ingersoll, was committed by the Police Magistrate here to-day, to stand his trial at Woodstock Oct. He admits his default, and says the money was spent in extravagant living.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.

Sir Samuel Tilley's Opinion of Its Workings.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—In an interview with a reporter on leaving this city, the Finance Minister of the Dominion expressed his opinions on the result of the N. P. He has visited, since his return from England, the Maritime Provinces, as well as Ontario and Quebec, and everywhere he found business improving very much, the demand being much greater than formerly and prices advancing. He attributed the present state of affairs and the bright outlook to the N. P., and the good harvest. He thinks the high price of breadstuffs will not press heavily on the working classes, as they will get more employment, and possibly better wages with the improvement in trade. In reply to a question as to what modification in the tariff, if any, might be looked for, Sir Samuel said dry goods will be considered. The change, however, will be probably in a definition of the terms used and the lines drawn more distinctly. The admittance of chilled iron free, Sir Samuel did not view with favor. The blocky used in carriage making will be considered, as the supply in Canada is not sufficient for the demand. A change in the present mode of levying duty on rubber goods the Minister did not think practicable. Next session Sir Samuel said he would take up the agricultural interest, as he is anxious to see what effect the N. P. has upon the farmers. He has not yet completed his inquiries into the industries of the country, and will resume them before the end of this month.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Prescott, November 3.—About twelve o'clock yesterday it was discovered that Mr. Alastair Wells' barn was on fire. The firemen were promptly on hand, and succeeded in confining the flames to the barn. Mr. Wells' horse had a very narrow escape, and also the building of Messrs. Birks, Blair and Hines.

LATEST FROM MONTREAL

Montreal Nov. 3.—John Lang, a sailor, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment for stabbing two of his messmates.

The Exchange Bank opened its doors for the resumption of business this morning, no excitement of any kind being noticeable in connection with the event. Up to 11.15 only about $60 had been paid over the counter to customers. The institution has now been closed about three months, during which time the circulation has been reduced from $468,149 to $147,775, and the public deposits from $493,125 to $159,480. The total liabilities are now $676,826.49, against $1,300,891.42 on July 31st. The bank has a cash reserve of $435,461.16 to meet its liabilities to the public, which amount to $847,353. A reduction of $711,150.28 has been effected in the amount of notes under discount. At all the agencies business was resumed to day.

Ambroise Humbert, an old Frenchman, who has been insane for some time, took poison in his house, on Compeau street, from the effect of which he soon after died.

An evening paper says the Liberals are already hard at work looking up strong men to oppose the new Ministers in the coming elections, and a tough contest may be expected in the different constituencies, though no names are yet brought out in opposition to Mr. Lorange (Liberal), who was previously returned by acclamation.

The Harvard students scored another win to-day at foot ball, having beaten the McGill University students in one goal.

Oliver Dauphines, owner of the barge Catcowk, sank in the river by the Harbor Commissioner's trg St. Peters, has entered an action of damages against the Commissioners for $1,000.

Hon. John Henry Pope has entered an action for alleged libel against Atinas McMaster, agent of the Scottish Land and Emigration Society, for being the author, and W. A. Morehouse, proprietor of the Sherbrook Examiner, for being the publisher, of a libel which appeared in that paper, Oct. 17. The trial has been fixed for an early date.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The anti-vice movement has created a panic among the keepers and females of disreputable houses, and many are leaving for other parts. On Saturday seven cabloads left one street for New York.

Yesterday while four men were loading ties on the Grand Trunk, some fell off the car, and one struck George Redding, one of the men employed, knocking him senseless and inflicting such injuries that he now lies in the hospital in a most critical condition.

A man named Finnegan, from Napanee, had a baby thrust upon him on Saturday by a strange woman. He was standing near the Union Station in the morning, having just arrived by the eleven o'clock train, when the woman approached him, and, after a few minutes' conversation, asked him to hold the infant while she went into the station to make an inquiry. Finnegan saw no more of her, and has now to provide for the baby.

It has been mowing, sleeting and hailing by times nearly all day.

A wrestling match took place last night in the Royal Opera House between Thos. Lynch, of New York, and D. C. Rose; best of five falls. Ross won the first fall, catch-as-catch-can, in 10½ minutes, the second fall, Scotch style, in 15 minutes, and the fifth, collar and elbow, Lynch took the third and fourth falls, Cumber and style and Graeco Roman.

SHIPPING.

New York, Nov. 3.—Arrived, Bristol, from Bristol, and Spain, from Liverpool.

London, Nov. 3.—Arrived out, Labrador.

New York, Nov. 3.—Arrived, steamship France, from London.

London, Nov. 3.—Arrived out, steamships City of Richmond and Othello.

New York, Nov. 3.—Arrived, SS. Moravian, from Antwerp.

A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Made

IS THE REMARK OF CUSTOMERS leaving our store daily, when they compare our prices with those of others in the trade who do not a similar business, and look on the long prices system. Our motto is and has been for the past seven years, "Quick sales and light profits," which, together with great attention to all wants of our customers has secured for us the largest and most satisfactory trade in our line in the city. We have it at all times for the masses to buy our goods store, but we promise to save our customers ... now that the eye of the largest and finest stock in the Dominion.

Horner and Somerville

CITY GROCERY.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

CANADIAN SUMMARY.

Nappanee girls, it is said, smoke, chew gum and ring door bells, and are the special terror of bank clerks.

The canal basin at Ottawa is frozen over and navigation is expected to close soon. Some snow fell yesterday.

Mr. George Smith, B. A., has received the appointment of classical professor in the Baptist Institute at Woodstock, at a salary of $900.

The Ottawa police made a raid on the saloons on Saturday night, and thirteen proprietors have been summoned to appear before the Police Magistrate for infraction of the license law.

The Quebec Chronicle published a long letter yesterday morning from Rev. Mr. Webster, an English missionary on the Labrador coast, which speaks of the fisheries as having been very successful this year.

The jury in the Elsie Armstrong election case in Ottawa did not bring in a verdict on Saturday night, but have adjourned until Thursday. The name of the commercial traveller involved is Hawthorn. He represents a Toronto House.

The Belleville Ontario deplores the frightful increase of intoxication amongst the young men of that city, and says that the liquor can be obtained at all hours, lawful and unlawful, and that on Sunday nights, with close drawn blinds, bacchanalian scenes are enacted that disgrace civilization.

The American barge Ark, owned by S. B. Greenwood, of Detroit, was seized on Sunday at Amherstburg by the customs authorities. A rescue being threatened by one of Greenwood's comrades, four men were placed in charge under Customs Officer Hamilton. No rescue has yet been attempted.

Robert Spencer, a frequenter of the York street dens in Toronto, enticed a young man from the country into one of these establishments a day or two ago, and relieved him of his watch, money and coat. The culprit was arrested, and sentenced by the Police Magistrate to four months in the Central Prison.

The Guelph Herald says:—The model farmers had some model fun on Hallowe'en. They procured a colt and put a board over his horns. The name of the owner was painted upon the board, and the colt was driven to the Market Square. The funny practical jokers then went home to read up Shakespeare, Captain Mayne Reid, and other agricultural authorities, on the subject of sawing Southdown sheep.

Five burglars laid siege to Sheriff McEwan's house at Sandwich, about two o'clock on Sunday morning. Three of them stood guard while the others entered the house and rummaged around on the second floor until the Sheriff woke up and yelled for help. The burglars fled precipitately, but after they got out of the yard two of them had the cheek to come back after some tools which they had left under the Sheriff's window. Nothing was stolen.

Fitzwilliam H. Chambers, of Detroit, a Canadian lawyer, formerly of Brockville, has been appointed to succeed Judge Reilly on the bench of the Wayne Circuit Court. The new Judge was born in New York State in 1833, and is consequently in his 47th year. His grandfather was an American who emigrated to Canada previous to 1837 and took sides with the British Government against the Canadian rebels. Mr. Chambers received a collegiate education, studied law, and was admitted to the Canadian bar in 1855. He was subsequently elected to the Canadian Parliament, and held that office for one term.

A respectable looking young man named Phineas Glover, who had been arrested by Constable McNair on a warrant issued in August, charging him with stealing a rape on the person of Margaret Murray, a young girl of nineteen, who lives in Saltfleet, was brought up before the Hamilton Police Magistrate yesterday and pleaded not guilty. The young woman testified that she was walking from Stoney Creek to Mr. Marshall's, when a young man approached her, knocked her down and assaulted her with felonious intent. He did not accomplish his object, as she was too strong. On going home and hearing the matter talked over, she came to the conclusion that it was Phineas Glover who had assaulted her. The prisoner, with several other young men who were in Court, told to stand in a row, and the witness—who meantime was not in a position to see or hear what was going on—was subsequently asked to identify the guilty party. She replied to His Worship: "The young man who knocked me down is not here."

DOMINION WIRELETS.

Allan Leemon, aged 89 years, a veteran of 1812, died in Odessa Sunday night.

Last week the waters of Lakes Huron and Superior were terribly rough, and many schooners suffered.

The steamer Myrtle, shortly after leaving the harbor at Wanbanshene, yesterday, struck, knocking off her shoe, and was towed back by a tug.

Large cargoes of tubers are preparing in the Maritime Provinces, as the advices of last week reported potatoes selling in England at 48 lbs. per ton.

James Ryan, of Peterboro', who was sentenced to imprisonment for life in the Kingston prison, for wife murder, has been released after serving about three years.

In accordance with the recommendation of the International Y. M. C. A. Convention at Baltimore, next week will be observed in Toronto as a special week of prayer.

A report from Maloo to-day says that Rev Father Orrilly was found dead in bed at a hotel at that village this morning. No further particulars as yet has been ascertained.

Mr. Michael Coughlan is preparing another shipment for England. He will send five hundred sheep and fifty head of cattle. He leaves Quebec about the 15th inst. for Liverpool.

During the gale of Friday last the little schooner North Star, owned by Jno. Paterson, of Midland, went ashore at Grant's Tomb. The schooner and cargo are a total loss. No lives lost.

The receipts of apples at shipping points this fall have not been large. This is principally due to the good markets for the fruit in Great Britain. Cable reports last week quoted apples at from 18s to 26s per bbl.

Mr. W. Greenwood, of the firm of Holmes & Greenwood, builders, of St. Catharine's, dropped dead yesterday afternoon on the way to his office. The deceased was in his usual health in the morning, and had just partaken of dinner. He was highly esteemed.

A Port Dalhousie despatch says:—The schooners Twilight, Speedwell and Oddfellow, bound from Oswego to Toronto, put in here for shelter, with their sails badly damaged. The schooner Geo. W. Davis lost her jibboom and two jibs, and had her foresail split. No vessels have moved up the canal to-day. The wind has been blowing a gale from the west and north west, but is now lighter. The weather is cold, and it is freezing to night. About six inches of snow fell yesterday and last night.

LATEST FROM THE NOR-WEST.

Winnipeg, Man., November 3.—The heaviest part of the work on Section B of the Canada Pacific Railroad has been completed. Abundant supplies have been taken in for the winter's work. The contractor is Major Bowles. The erection of ten engineers' houses has been completed.

Two men, working in the Cut, were killed last week by a stone falling on them.

A winter road is being built from Rat Portage, on the Eagle River.

A new silver mine discovery is reported from Tunnel Island, in Lake of the Woods.

Four more British tenant farmer deputies, with Gordon, Wilkins and Walker, are now here, and will travel through the Province.

The Free Press.

Tuesday, November 4, 1879.

COAL IN THE NORTH WEST.

The grand drawback to the settlement of the great prairies of the North-West has always been considered the [illegible] timber and fuel of some kind. Timber for domestic purposes other than fuel may be obtained without much difficulty, but a large supply of firewood is out of the question in a country where prairies predominate. But the recent discoveries of coal in abundance will remove the only serious obstacle to the settlement of the country, and will be the means of furnishing cheap fuel and in sufficient quantities. The evidence of the Hon. Peter Mitchell to the effect, that these coal-fields will meet the wants of the North-west in this respect is only corroborative of what we have learned from other quarters, but it shows that the scarcity of fuel was looked upon as a serious obstacle to the rapid settlement of the country. A New York Herald's reporter interviewed Mr. Mitchell, who gave the gentleman of the Herald all the information in his power. He is asked, among other matters:—

"Did you visit the coal fields of Manitoba?" and he answers:—

"No; but I saw very good specimens from the best recently discovered at Pembina Mountain, about one hundred miles from Winnipeg. A railway company has been organized to build a road from Winnipeg to the coal fields, and the work of construction is likely to commence very soon. The Canadian Pacific Railway will run south of Lake Manitoba, and not only pass through the magnificent country at Portage la Prairie, but also will run through or near the coal fields, which I see by a late dispatch to the Herald, have been discovered in the Assiniboine Valley. There will be no lack of fuel in that prairie country when these coal fields are developed.

From this it is plain that coal will soon be found on the line of the Railroad sufficient to furnish the supply of fuel required by the settlers, and thus be removed one of the most serious obstacles that have intervened to prevent the great North-west from becoming all that nature designed it should be, and what it undoubtedly will be in the near future. It is proposed to run a branch line to the extensive coal deposits in Pembina Mountain, and this, with the Pacific passing close to the coal fields on the Assiniboine, will soon put an end to any lack of fuel that may have been felt, and remove all fears as respects the future. In several sections in these great plains coal has been found, and if the quality is not of the best, it will still answer every purpose as fuel. In Vancouver Island the coal fields are inexhaustible, and the quality is excellent. The mines of the Island furnish both anthracite and bituminous coal in great abundance, and it is difficult to say what this may yield to, as respects the future of the Dominion. Some parts of the Island are exceedingly fertile, and though the surface is ragged and mountainous in general, yet the valleys are rich and productive, and some of them of great extent.

When one considers the capabilities of the great prairies to the east of the mountains to produce food of every kind, the boundless mineral wealth of British Columbia, and its immense forests, its inexhaustible fisheries, its genial climate, and the magnificent harbors along the shores of the island and mainland, the combination points to this section of the Dominion as destined to attain to no distant day the emporium of the pacific and the workshop of a large share of both continents. Vancouver Island is situated as to contact the trade of the west coast of America and a large share of that of China, Japan and British India, while the advantages we have enumerated can scarcely fail in giving origin to manufactures that may yet rival in extent and variety those of the Mother Country herself. One can with difficulty point to a single element of success that is wanting to make Vancouver and British Columbia the workshops of the Pacific, and the future Britain of western America. It is quite as likely that the staple productions of the great plains of the Saskatchewan may take their course to the west and find their market and their consumption in the factories of Vancouver as in those of Lancashire.

The people of this section of the Dominion entertain great expectations as respects the future of their country, and we have pointed reasons sufficient to justify them in holding such views. Some may imagine that their public men and writers are too sanguine regarding the future of their country, but none of the facts we have stated are at all visionary, but on the contrary, they are likely to be realized with time, and this time not far in the future. To claim that this Island is destined to be the Britain of America is only to say what has a sufficient basis of fact to rest upon, and is very likely to be verified. And this is the country which the Honorable Edward Blake and his leader would have wished to be well rid of, and which received a polite invitation to pack up its traps and go. Poorly are they qualified to hold in their hands the destiny of a great nation who are unable to see and appreciate the value to this Dominion of such a country as the Pacific Province.

The experiments of Grandeau on maize and johnson led him to believe that the development of florescence and fructification were both retarded and stunted by withholding the influence of atmospheric electricity. He placed iron or wooden cages over the plants and grew the plants near trees or other bodies likely to withdraw the electricity from them, and observed the results. He then made some over the same ground, and his conclusions somewhat modify the deduction of Grandeau. Atmospheric electricity does influence vegetation in the manner stated, but only as one of many other factors, such as the species of plant, the climate, the season, the temperature, the degree of light, the amount of moisture in the air, and probably the geological structure of the soil, which may or may not conduct electricity equally. In short, this paper, which was lately read before the Academy of Sciences at Paris, goes to show that the problem which Grandeau set out to solve, instead of being a simple one, is highly complex, and that the exact nature of the part played by electricity in vegetation requires much deeper and more extensive research than has yet been devoted to it.

New York Bulletin:—The advance in prices will have an important bearing upon certain classes of corporations. Railroads, for instance, having to pay more for materials, labor, fuel and rolling stock, will find their operating expenses materially increased, and, unless they can correspondingly advance their charges, their net earnings must suffer. This is a factor that needs to be kept in mind in estimating the future profits of this class of corporations. The insurance companies also are very directly interested in the new position of affairs. A general large advance in prices means an increase in the money amount of whatever is insured; and, with the increased activity of production which follows an enhancement of prices, there must be also an enlargement in the bulk of insurable property. These changes therefore lay the basis for a very important increase in the premium receipts of the fire insurance companies, which may be expected to appear in their returns for the last half of the year. In like manner, the increase of salaries and of business profits will directly tend to alleviate the depression that has so long rested upon the life companies.

Such activity was never, it is stated, witnessed in the port of Boston as in the month of September. The number of ships entered reached 182, with a total of 101,930 tons, including 35 coasting vessels of 48,617 tons. The increase in the imports is due chiefly to the arrivals of corn-laden ships from America.

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS TO-DAY.

To-day elections will be held in the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Minnesota, Nebraska and Maryland. Those of New York will possess a national interest, because it is understood that the result will show the position which the State will take in the Presidential election next year, and perhaps have a decisive effect upon the issue of that campaign. A full State ticket will be returned, members of both Houses of the Legislature and a member of Congress in the Twelfth District to fill vacancy. For Governor, there are five candidates in the field, namely, Lucius Robinson, Democrat; A. B. Cornell, Republican; John Kelly, bolter; Harris Lewis, Greenback, and J. W. Means, Prohibition. The Democrats are divided in their allegiance between Robinson and Kelly, and there will be almost as much interest among them to know what strength Kelly has been able to develop, as who has been successful. For the past fortnight the campaign has been vigorously conducted on both sides. It has been peculiar, inasmuch as the opposing parties have hardly met in the same field of dispute. The Republicans adroitly treating the campaign as the forerunner of the Presidential fight, have agitated national issues to the exclusion of State questions. The Democrats, embarrassed by their internal split, have fought the battle on State issues alone. While Republicans have waved the bloody shirt and claimed the credit by their commercial and financial policy of assisting the return of better times, Democrats have set up Robinson as the smasher of carpet-rings and in the ply placable enemy of John Kelly and Tammany Hall. Should Cornell be elected it would be so much in favor of Grant as the next President. The opinion is general that it would be an effectual check on Tilden's aspirations. The family quarrel among the democrats is regarded as strongly in favor of Cornell's chance, though the rest of his ticket may be defeated. The young Republican element is against him. He was Collector of Customs in New York city, but was put out by the Administration of President Hayes because he made the Custom House a centre of machine politics. The young Republicans are therefore expected to vote against him, and upon this fact the Robinsonites base their principal hope of victory. The vote of New York since and including 1872 is as follows:—

	Dem.	Rep.	Obh.
1872 (President)	387,190	437,031	.....
1873 (Secretary)	347,171	303,189	.....
1874 (Governor)	416,582	333,074	.....
1875 (Secretary)	290,913	337,491	.....
1876 (President)	521,041	489,225	1,962
1877 (Secretary)	383,962	371,780	707
1878 (Judge)	326,451	301,712	13,130

There were upwards of 11,000 Prohibition votes polled in each of the years 1874 and 1875, and 17,250 in 1877. In 1877 there was also polled 20,362 votes for a Work-ingmen's ticket. The present Legislature of the State has a Republican majority of upwards of seventy on joint ballot. The State Senators elected to-day will participate in the choice of a United States Senator in 1881.

INTERESTING RAILWAY REPORT.

The half-yearly report of the Great Western Railway, just issued, contains some facts of interest to the western public. Taking the London & Port Stanley Railway account, we find that the amount contributed during the six months ending 31st July last, by passenger traffic, was $18,700, while freight during the same period produced $11,800. The total receipts were $31,690, leaving a balance adverse to the company of $8,940. The number of miles run by the various trains on that road was 38,899.

The London, Huron & Bruce likewise shows a deficit upon the general account equal to $5,300, but provides for a payment of bonded interest to the amount of $98,000—which is so much earned for the proprietors. The number of miles run was 74,000. The total loss on the branch lines is put down at $69,000, the greatest proportion of which accrued on the Wellington, Grey & Bruce branch, chiefly caused by the line having been blocked by snow during some weeks during the half year. The number of locomotives in general service is 216, performing a mileage of 2,434,527; the total car stock being 4,804. The total locomotive expenditure was $410,030, of which $260,000 was on account of fuel, coal being somewhat in excess of wood. The reduction in the amount paid for fuel, under the present management, is very large, the corresponding half year for 1878 having cost $254,000. The total reduction of traffic expenses for the half year were over $28,000, while a much larger tonnage was moved than during the corresponding period. On the whole the report is a satisfactory one. At the time of its compilation anticipations were held out that owing to the more settled policy of the general through lines and an increase in rates better times were in store for the road. This anticipation is in the course of realization. The last two weeks' receipts show an excess of about $50,000, while the stock which not long since was quoted at 5½ to 6 is now selling at 8¼ to 9—an advance of 50 per cent. in the current price within a short time. A portion of this gratifying advance is no doubt due to the general rise that has been going on in the value of stocks on this side of the water, but chiefly, we apprehend, owing to the excellent position in which the road is to take advantage of the increased traffic offering, the better rates obtainable, and the efficient economies which have been introduced into every portion of the service. As an illustration of the general efficiency, now secured, it may be mentioned that compensations on freight during the half year only amounted to a little over $1,000, a small sum indeed, in view of the gross amount of tonnage carried. Another favorable feature in the account is the reduction in the cost of working expenses. In 1875 it cost 4s. 6d. per train mile, being 90.7 per cent. of the gross receipts. The train mile now costs but 3s. 1¼d., the proportion per cent. being reduced to 75.43 of the gross receipts. In fact, the Great Western enterprise may be said to have been saved by economies during the hard times.

A new and unexpected source of international anxiety has developed itself on the Mexican border. In the mountainous district known as the Sierra Majada, in the interior of Mexico, mines of extraordinary richness have been discovered. The results is a rush from all parts of Mexico and also from the United States. It happens that the Majada mine district is situated near the boundaries of three or four States, whence has arisen a triple or fourfold claim of jurisdiction over it, while a still more formidable claimant appears in the Mexican Federal Government, which is contemplating the seizure of the disputed district of Majada, a law for this purpose having already been introduced into the Mexican Congress. With the excitements of greed, with the recent discovery of new and richer mines, with the rival State claims, with the dissolution of several mining companies on account of the action of the Federal Government, and with the flocking of 12,000 persons to a heretofore almost uninhabited region, the condition of things at Majada may be imagined; and now the cauldron of pandemonic excitement has been stirred up by the arrival of troops of Texas Yankees, determined to share in the spoils. It is this invasion of mining emigrants that causes fears of international trouble.

LORD LORNE AND THE NEWSPAPERS.

His Excellency Lord Lorne has perhaps more freely than any of his predecessors submitted for the information of the English Government expressions of opinion on questions of public interest as they are given in the newspaper press of the day. He did this in connection with the Liberal-Conservative policy as it affected the introduction of the principle of Protection to home manufactures, and again when the Letellier question forced itself upon attention. In his despatch, April 9th, 1879, to Sir M. E. Hicks Beach, he said:—"I enclose extracts from the public newspapers of all shades of politics with regard to this important question, and for facility of reference I transmit copies of the printed papers which accompanied the despatches just quoted." This was a proper step to take, for it enabled the Home Government to see just how opinion was among us on that question at that time. No doubt some surprise was felt that a party calling itself Liberal should have sustained Mr. Letellier in the act of usurpation by which he displaced a Ministry when in the full enjoyment of the confidence of Parliament then in session. They must have seen also that the Conservative party are the champions of Parliamentary rights and ministerial responsibility, both of which principles were trenched upon and outraged by the ex-Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Letellier. It must have struck them that under such circumstances the name "Liberal" as adopted by those pursuing that course was but a sham, for true Liberalism and the advocacy of personal government as illustrated in the conduct of Mr. Letellier, supported by the whole of his "reform" friends, are as wide as the poles asunder. However, the end has pronounced itself, and a fit termination put to the introduction of Cæsarism into Canada. In the course of an excellent speech at Hamilton on Friday evening last, by the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, he said:—"We have various lessons to deduce from these general principles of national action. One is that we can never hope for anything essentially good from an evil beginning; nor can we hope for any great national strength where discordant elements are brought into juxtaposition." That was precisely the case with affairs at Quebec, under Mr. Letellier. He made an "evil beginning" and it had naturally a bad ending. The "discordant elements" which he evoked, and which have been the cause of so much disquietude would have slumbered had it not been for the "bad beginning" he made. As it is, not only is his usefulness gone, but it may be feared that of Mr. Joly's also. Both of them have made shipwreck of their political reputation in this matter, and not only public opinion, but events, have decided strongly against them.

The Engineer describes, under the title of "A Floating Fighting Island," a new armor-clad vessel, for the construction of which a Scotch ship-building firm has received an order. This vessel is to be five hundred feet long, to have a displacement of seventeen thousand tons, and to be propelled by engines indicating ten thousand horse-power. With an average draught of twenty-two feet, this craft will have a beam not much less than seventy-five feet to get the stated displacement. She will be like no other ship afloat, save in the sea, as her upper deck, rising from the waters edge to the middle, fully covered, will form both side and deck, and resemble the upper shell of a tortoise. She will, in a word, resemble a floating land, up whose slopes the beach the waves will wash, rather than a ship.

A New York correspondent writes:—The "incipient paralysis," which the doctors discovered in Bonicault ten days ago, has not made any progress since, and the famous playwright and actor is said to be getting on nicely. Some unbelievable people hint that his illness had close connection with a desire to get rid of the responsibilities he had assumed at Booth's, and one theatrical paper went so far last week as to say that he opened the theatre with a great flourish of trumpets and closed it behind the scenes with a whisper, leaving between—and perhaps unjust. At all events, Bonicault was really a very sick man ten days ago, and he was by no means altogether a well man for some time to come.

The Railroad Up Mount Vesuvius.

London Globe, Oct. 16.

The latest reports from Naples repre sent the railway destined to carry tourists to the top of Vesuvius as progressive fast toward completion, and the walls of the station which form its terminus are already rising above the ground. The line is to be laid along the western slope of the mountain, and will be rather less than 1,000 yards in length. The station itself, which stands at the bottom of the volcanic cone, is 2,500 feet above the level of the sea, and the line rises rapidly from thence to the verge of the crater, at an incline which averages 56 feet in the 100, but reaches at its steepest part as much as 83 in 100. The construction of the railway has been a matter for serious debate, and it is only after long consideration that the projectors determined upon the system planned by the engineer, Olivieri. According to the principle adopted in this plan, the whole of the inclined plane, from top to bottom, is covered with a thick platform of wood, resting upon the lava and other crumbling soil, which would of itself in much too unsteady to form a support for the sleepers. Above the cinders and detritus, of which the mountain side is composed, the platform will be like a gigantic raft, and upon it the rails will be laid with ease and regularity. The wheels of the carriages are to be so firmly attached to the rails that they can never jump or slip off, and the tackle are to be drawn up by means of two steel cables worked by a steam engine stationed at the bottom of the volcano. They will also be provided with a brake so powerful that even in the unlikely case of a breakage of both cables they can be brought to a standstill very quickly, even in an incline of 50 in 100. The only other difficulty which faced the projectors of the new railway was that of water supply, for it was calculated that the engines of bringing from Resina enough water to supply the engine would run away with more than all the profits that could possibly be expected. In order to avoid this alternative, two large reservoirs are being constructed, which are expected, even under the peculiar circumstances of the position, never to run dry.

Escaping Military Service.

From the London Telegraph, Oct. 18.

Repugnance to a military life has induced among the inhabitants of certain villages in the Department of the Seine a curious practice of atrophying one of the great toes by some secret method of muscular retraction which has baffl d the scrutiny of the most experienced army surgeons. The deformation prevents the proper surface of the foot from being brought fairly and fully on the ground. With such success has this system of mutilation been carried on for the past 40 years in one particular village, and so discreetly have the peaceful peasants kept their own counsel, that in the whole of the long period only three conscripts have been drawn who were found able to march. It must have appeared to the baffl ed investigators of this physiological phenomenon as if a new species of countrymen were being developed, but at length a peculiarly suspicious case attracted their special notice, and led to an enquiry before the local tribunal. A young man who had been noted as a good walker, and was in great request among the maidens of the district as a partner in the dance on Sundays and fete days, took to absenting himself from those junketings, until he came forth from his retirement an accomplished cripple. It remains to be seen what can be done with him and with other evaders of patriotic duty. Perhaps a law may be passed which will compel all owners of crooked toes to contribute a fixed proportion of their sedentary earnings to the State.

The apple crop, which threatened to be in New England at least, a failure, pans out tolerably well. The market is pretty well supplied at fair prices.

Between Two Fires.

The Noted Peruvian Ship Huascar Riddled and Captured.

Particulars of a Great Naval Battle —Death of Gallant Officers—A New Ship to be Built.

Panama, Oct. 13.—The official report of Capt. Garcia, commandant of the Union, which was cruising with the Huascar at the time the latter was captured by the Chilians, states that while cruising about to find the Chilian fleet, which, in two divisions, were searching for them. On the 8th of October the Union and Huascar sighted the first division of the Chilian fleet and immediately fled toward the southwest, the Chilians following. A stiff breeze was blowing from the south, which decreased the Huascar's speed, when Grau, her commander, resolved to steer north, and the Endeavor was run in between the Chilian fleet and the shore. He succeeded, and swept by the enemy's first division without firing a gun. The Peruvian ships rapidly steamed away from their enemies, the Blanco, Encalada and three wooden steamers, when suddenly they sighted the second Chilian division directly ahead, composed of the Admirante Cochran, and several smaller vessels. Grau saw that the speed of this iron-clad was equal to his own, and accordingly steered for the shoal water on account of his light draught. The Union here escaped, closely followed. The fight was begun by the Huascar discharging her two 300-pounders at close range at Admirante Cochran, followed up by an unsuccessful attempt to ram. Another Chilian ironclad came down upon her, and Grau boldly placed himself between the two, which were prevented from firing so rapidly on account of the danger of hitting each other. The fight is said to have lasted two hours. It is not known whether the Huascar was taken by boarding, or that, after the death of Grau, which is said to have occurred early in the action, and the wounding of the executive officer and several subordinate officers, the remaining officers unhurt only four in number, hauled down the flag. The hull of the Huascar is said to be riddled and the engines damaged. She was afterwards towed to Antofagasta. The turret was jammed so that it would not revolve. The damage to the Chilians is inconsiderable. The Huascar had but two 300-pounders to oppose twelve of the same calibre. Her armor was three and a quarter inches against nine inches of the Chilian ironclads.

A subscription has been opened already in Lima for the purchase of a new ironclad, to be named Almirante Grau. The people are giving money, houses and jewellery. One lady sent diamond jewellery to the value of two thousand pounds. The Archbishop heads subscription with 2,000 soles. Already nearly 200,000 soles have been collected. The Ministry resigned en masse. It is believed their resignation will not be accepted.

A Commission sailed for Europe to endeavor to purchase another iron-clad.

It is reported that Mrs. Grau, on learning of her husband's fate, fell ill and died.

ENGLISH RULE IN AFGHANISTAN.

How Roberts Entered Cabul—Destruction of Bullets—Martial Law Proclaimed.

The ceremony of the formal occupation of Cabul took place on the 12th of October. At noon Gen. Roberts, accompanied by the whole of his staff and by all the native chiefs and a cavalry escort, left the camp and moved slowly down the road through the lines of troops. The bands and trumpets played and the troops gave the general salute. As the procession neared the Bala Hissar the artillery commenced a salute of thirty one guns, which was not completed before the head of the procession had reached the gateway into the Bala Hissar. Conducted by numerous Birdars, including the Ameer's nephew and his son Padsha Khan, the Ghilzai chief, the procession arrived at the Ameer's garden. On its way it passed the scene of the massacre. The Embassy is in ruins; its wall's and those of the surrounding buildings are scored with bullet marks, and the ground is strewn with rags, equipments and other traces of the struggle. General Roberts entered the palace, attended by his staff and a few natives appeared at a window overlooking the garden, where a large number of people were assembled by order of the Ameer. Yakoob Khan himself was ill, and pleaded this excuse for not attending at the ceremony. General Roberts then addressed the multitude, pausing between each sentence, which was then translated to the crowd—first in Cabulese, then in Persian by the Birdars.

"People of Cabul—Early in October I issued a proclamation to you telling you that the British army was advancing to occupy Cabul, and warning you that any one opposing the advance of the army would be treated as a rebel against the authority of the Ameer. In spite of this warning the progress of the army has been persistently opposed by the people of Afghanistan, especially of Cabul. In return, it would not go beyond the demands of justice that Cabul should be levelled to the ground. The great British Government, however, tempering mercy with pity, decrees that Cabul shall be spared. It is necessary, however, that a severe punishment should be inflicted. It has been decided that the buildings of the Bala Hissar, and of the city, interfering with the proper military occupation, shall be destroyed. A heavy fine, the amount of which will be fixed later on, will be levied on the citizens. A military governor will be appointed over the city and a cordon of his guards around it. This district will be placed under martial law, and all within it are required to give up their arms. Any one found bearing arms within this district within one week of the present time will be punished with death. All persons having in their possession property belonging to the late Embassy are required to bring it in immediately, under the severest penalties. A reward of fifty rupees will be paid for the denunciation and conviction of any one concerned in the late cowardly massacre, which has left a lasting blot upon the Afghan name. For a subaltern officer or captain seventy-five rupees will be paid. For a field officer 125 rupees will be paid. For each English rifle delivered up three rupees will be paid. The native troops will march through the city to-morrow and the Birdars are ordered to attend."

After the speech the General and his staff entered the camp and the troops marched back to their quarters.

An Anti-Fat Spring

While surveying in the mountains northeast of Anaheim last year Major William P. Reynolds encountered a man who had worked for him in former years. He failed to recognize him, however, until the stranger explained who he was. He was then a man of about two hundred pounds weight, whereas he weighed three hundred and forty pounds when in the Major's employ. The secret of his reduced size was freely given. A short distance up the mountain was a spring, the waters of which contained some mineral and fat properties. Did the Major want to lose some of the superfluous flesh which incumbered him? He did. He drank the water, and in ten days his weight had been reduced twenty-five pounds. He continued drinking the water until from two hundred and ten pounds he was reduced to one hundred and seventy pounds, his present weight. This was accomplished without any violent action on the part of the water. Major Reynolds will obtain water from the spring and forward it to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington for analysis. The spring is about sixteen miles from Anaheim, easily accessible, and if analysis establishes the fact that there is nothing to be apprehended from using the water, many obese persons will avail themselves of the opportunity to try nature's remedy.—Anaheim (Cal.) Gazette.

"Well, my man," said a military doctor to a patient who had been on the "low diet" for a long time, "how are you?" "Much better, sir." "Could you eat a small chicken to-day?" "That I could, sir." "What would you like it stuffed with?" "Please, your honor," replied the hungry patient, "I would like it stuffed with another."

An indefatigable mamma, who has succeeded in getting her own seven daughters "well off her hands," has determined to extend to others the benefit of her system. She is going to open a class for the instruction of young ladies in the art of husband-catching. It is to be called the "School of Design."

Flower gentlemen are more wary on evening and reception dresses than ever.

A Soldier Who Can Talk.

One of the distinguished officers of the Zulu campaign was General Sir Evelyn Wood, to whom the people of his native county in England have been presenting a beautiful and costly sword of honor. Sir Evelyn's speech in reply was unusually interesting. He said:—

"My Friends: I hope you will allow me to call you so—(cheers)—for indeed I feel every one here present to-day comes as a friend to me and to the profession to which I have the honor to belong. I could have had no idea during the eighteen arduous months I was spending away from my native country and my home of the warm welcome that was awaiting me here: nor if I had known of your generous sympathy can I say whether it would have made much difference to me then, although it makes so great a difference to me now; for to do one's duty to the best of one's power is, I believe, every honest worker's chief aim. (Cheers.) It is the fashion nowadays to discredit some of our best traditions, but I hope our schoolboys will never cease to believe in the glorious homely words, 'England expects that every man will do his duty.' (Cheers.) These words were spoken with regard to the service whose brightest ornament attired them. I had not the honor of being associated with my former messmates during this last war, but having commenced life as a sailor, and served with the Naval Brigades in the Crimea and India I trust I may be pardoned when I mention their services. You have all heard of the hard work they did in bridging the Tugela, and of their determined conduct at the Inyazane and Ekowe, but you have probably not heard of their patience under sickness, the brightest example of this English-like trait being Mr. Colier, who rests, alas! in the graveyard at Ekowe. I have known many men of all ranks who have patiently lived and ungrudgingly died for no more brilliant reward than the quiet approval of the 'still small voice.' Some, alas! like Ronald Campbell, have gone away from us so quickly in their noble haste that they have not even heard our 'Well done' of their comrades, but their example has not been lost. When the noble and exuberant of a war are over the soldier who has seen men die for each other or for duty's sake can never again be altogether unheroic in his life. One well known for his courageous nature and who is, by right of his graphic pen, far better fitted to describe life and character than I—I allude to Mr. Archibald Forbes—(cheers)—has said that there is more gallantry in camp than in barracks. I endorse that cordially. There is brotherhood in common hardships and peril; there is reverent tenderness for the home which may never be seen again. The inalienable ties of kindred and blood come out strongly when the loneliness of death may have to be faced far away from loving hands. Though his many years ago, I have never forgotten, and indeed the scene is as vivid before me this day as the morning it occurred, the face of Arthur Eyre, my adjutant and friend, as he lay sorely wounded, the last officer hit on the day Sir Garnet Wolseley entered Coomassie. For the six months we had lived and worked together this gallant youth had never failed when we were exposed to threat himself between me and an ambushed foe. Composing his features that I might not see his suffering, he looked up in my eyes and said with a quiver which told he had accurately gauged the mortal nature of his then undressed wound, 'Pull my rings off for my mother.' I do not believe sweethearts and parents ever get so many letters as they do from men employed on active service at remote stations. We all remember Thackeray's immortal touch when he describes Reuben Stubble on the eve of departure for Waterloo, writing home to his mother a loving letter full of pluck and bad spelling' (Laughter.) Well, we have improved in some respects, for the rank and file now write as well or better than Reuben Stubble did then; but the pluck is, I think, very much as it was, and the youngsters who, under experienced non-commissioned officers, vied with the veteran battalion in rolling back the line of Zulus who, twice to one at Kambula, finally stood as steady as a wall at Ulundi, where, in the words of Scripture, 'they joined battle, and the heathen being discomfited fled into the plain.' (Cheers.) These boy soldiers, I say, are the professional heroes of these rare militia lads whose imperturbable squares regulated the desperate onsets of Napoleon's devoted cavalry, and restored the equilibrium of shaken order. (Cheers.)

UNITED STATES ITEMS.

The salmon run at Neah bay, Cal., is said to be much larger than ever before known.

Several girls at Hagerstown, Ind., tattooed their legs with the figure of a garter. The coloring matter proved to be poisonous, and one of the sufferers is in a critical condition.

The Humboldt river, Nevada, is lower at present than it has been at this season of the year. A few more snowless winters would dry up the stream altogether.

The Rev. Henry Morgan, of Boston, has formally warned Archbishop Williams that prosecution at law will follow if lotteries are permitted at a coming Roman Catholic church fair.

The trial of a copyright lawsuit, in Washington brings out the fact that one picture has, within a year, furnished thousands of counterfeits of foreign champagne labels to put on American wine.

All that the promoters of the proposed Florida ship canal now wants is a charter from the legislature, and as that body does not meet again until January, 1881, Mr. Aspinwall, who represents the French capitalists, asks Gov. Drew to call an extra session.

Assistant Postmaster Now, of Pittsfield, Mass., added $1,000 to his income in a year by removing fresh postage stamps from letters, putting on those that had been used, and selling the stolen ones. He used the money in maintaining his social pretensions.

Many of the mines on the mountains around Leadville, Col., have suspended work for the winter, being inaccessible in consequence of snow. Those that can be worked are carried on with difficulty, and transporting is not easy. The ground is covered from two feet to eight feet with snow.

Wheat is selling in the Gallatin valley, Montana, at fifty cents per bushel, and there will be a large surplus which can't be disposed of even at that low figure, and probably not at all. With the Northern Pacific extended through that region, as it will be next year, the future of Montana promises to be almost limitless.

A series of towers are being built from Lake Michigan to the Gulf of Mexico for the purpose of making a survey of the Mississippi River and its tributaries with the object of determining the true water course from the lakes to the gulf. One hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars was appropriated by the last Congress for this purpose.

A number of old dwarfs and young children arrived at New York in the Celtic on Saturday, from Italy. They were brought here for the purpose of making beggars of them. One of the men was over seventy years of age. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children will return the children, and the Italian Consul will take charge of the dwarfs, and send them back to their own country.

By the effect of the drouth a lake in Caldwell Parish, Louisiana, which usually covers an area of many acres, was reduced to the size of a slough two hundred feet in length and forty in width. It appears that the lake is full of fish, and that the drying up of the water exposed great numbers of them to view. Advantage was taken of the opportunity and several large gars were killed, one being over six feet in length.

Lawlessness was common in Kentucky in 1856. Ebenezer Kennedy got drunk while out with a party hunting for horse-thieves, and, in pure wantonness, killed an inoffensive negro. No effort was made at the time to punish the murderer. Recently, thirteen years after the crime was committed, he was put on trial. The testimony was direct and uncontradicted, but the jury could not agree to a conviction, and the Governor is to be petitioned for a pardon.

Catholic Bishop Hendricken, of Providence, R. I., himself an Irishman, said to his congregation on Sunday that he would advise them to be careful how they contributed their money to any scheme for the regeneration of Ireland. He said that if they were asked to subscribe to keep up a peaceful agitation and send men of the right stamp to parliament, that is right, reasonable, and proper, but don't give your money to swap rye who comes shouting for Ireland. These are the kind of Irish politicians who stand around the corners, and, amid the froth and foam of beer, shout hurrah for Ireland, and want to have a fight."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

The Rev. T. W. Handford, Of Toronto, will deliver his popular lecture on "George Fox and the Quakers," IN VICTORIA HALL, ON TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 11th.

A LARGE CHOIR, that will include some of the best singers of the city, under the leadership of Mr. R. F. Lasey, will give a choice selection of music from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Tickets 25 cents, and 15 cents to the gallery, may be had at Northedine's music store, Mrs. Hitchcock's fancy store, and at the Golden Lion, Dundas street; at Taylor's book store and the office of Mr. J. Nattress, Richmond street; Clark's book store, in the Arcade, and Freeman's music store, Clarence street.

The Rev. J. A. Murray will preside during the lecture. 2-11

Y. M. C. A. VICTORIA HALL.

Grand Opening of the Season Course for 1879-80.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1879

MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS, IN HER CELEBRATED DRAMATIC RECITALS, which have won for her a brilliant reputation, and made her name a household word throughout the world.

Single reserve seat tickets, now on sale, $1; unreserved in gallery, 50c.

Plan of the hall open on and after Nov. 3, at Northedine's Music Store.

N.B.—Course tickets still on sale at $2.25. Doors open at 8 p.m. 45b11

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE Monday, November 3.

First production of the new and sensational opera, written for the Holmans.

U. S. REGULARS! NEW DRESSES, MUSIC AND STAGE APPOINTMENTS. Prices as usual. Reserved seats at Murray's. 41v

—MORE— NEW GOODS.

6 cases French China Cups and Saucers.
2 cases French Playing Cards.
1 case French Foreign Note.
3 cases Pleated Window Shades.
3 cases Odd Sizes—7 Envelopes.
1 case Toy Centers.
3 cases New Toys.
3 cases Walnut Writing Desks.
1 case Photograph Albums, cheap grades.

&c., &c., &c.

At Bryce's Depots 168 and 215 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON, ONT

LATELY RECEIVED —AT— W. L. CARRIE'S 417 Richmond Street, FRESH IMPORTATIONS OF HYDE & CO.'S AND STEPHENS' BLUE-BLACK WRITING FLUIDS —AND— COPYING INKS, India Black Ink, Violette Noir Ink, School Ink, the Celebrated Hindoo Red Ink.

DAILY OFFICE JOURNALS for 1880 London, October 31, 1879. 45y

LONDON Paper Warehouse ONE CARLOAD Straw Board, For manufacturing Paper Boxes, now in hand.

Paper Boxes of every description made to order at close prices.

REID BROS. & CO. LONDON, ONT.

Essential Oils! RECEIVED. (4) Four Coppers Oil Lemon. (2) Two do. " Bergamot. (4) Four Tins " Myrbane.

B. A. MITCHELL. Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers, which can be seen in operation at Holly Wood, 78 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains. THE HOWLAND FOUNDRY & HORSE NAIL WORKS, TORONTO.

L. C. Leonard's Cheapest Place in London for CROCKERY, GLASSWARE, CHANDELIERS, LAMPS, ETC. Dundas Street, 17 Opposite Kingsmill's and A. B. Powell's.

JUST RECEIVED A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF JOSEPH RODGERS & SON'S CELEBRATED Pocket Cutlery and Scissors, Also, Full Lines of WADE & BUTCHER'S RAZORS Direct from Manufacturers.

Meat Cutters, Sausage Stuffers, Lard and Fruit Presses.

T. HERBERT MARSH, 161 Dundas street.

Auld Acquaintance A BIRTHDAY BOOK, Of the wise and tender words of ROBT. BURNS Compiled by a grandnephew of the poet. Neatly bound, cloth gilt, 90 cents.

JAS. I. ANDERSON & CO., (late Reid & Anderson), 176 Dundas St.

Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats, Fin FINE ULSTERS, FINE ULSTERS, FINE UL Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes, Fine

In all the newest and most fashionable goods, made and trimmed Don't pay merchant tailors high prices for Overcoats made to order. to $15 by buying from us, get as well made and trimmed a garment, an better fit. Our stock is immense and our assortment unequalled. nobby Ulsters and Ulsterettes at $10, $12 and $15. Special attention Reversible Overcoats, two coats in one, the nobblest garment of the sea at them.

C. R. MABLEY Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring De and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodwar DETROIT, - - - - - M

Sales by Auction. THIS DAY. INSOLVENT SALE OF TWO HORSES, BY AUCTION. ON MARKET SQUARE, LONDON, on TUESDAY, NOV. 4TH, 1879, at 11 o'clock, a.m., belonging to Estate of Michael Guyton. Particulars on application to R. J. DE LEB, Official Assignee. En

TO-NIGHT. IMPORTANT AUCTION SALE. British Plate Mirrors, Oil Paintings, Engravings, Chromos, Illustrated Books, Lambrequins, &c.

MANVILLE & BROWN WILL sell at their Rooms, Mechanics' Institute, On Tuesday Evening, Nov. 4, The largest stock of articles of a decorative character ever offered in our city. The Oil Paintings represented by choice specimens from the studios of Jenkins, Chapman, Rayner and Lonsdale. Elegantly framed Water Colors by Jenkins and Chapman. English Water Chromos after Richardson, Turner, Rowbotham, Hunt and others. Steel Engravings in large variety. Illustrated Books suitable for public competitions. Oil Chromos, Colored Engravings, etc. The Illustrated Books comprise Doré's Bible, Hunt Martin's Picazzo, Guizot's France, Addison, Hargreaves and American selections, Pictorial Shakespeare, &c. Lambrequins of fashionable patterns, all the latest designs. Mirrors, Cornices, Curtain Poles, Brackets, Cords and Tassels, Chromo Frames, &c., &c. Lambrequins of fashionable material and latest fashion, New York manufacture.

PLATE MIRRORS. 30 Mantel and Toilet, ranging from 48x24 to 36x60, in a variety of shapes, all in gold leaf frames. Sale at 7:30 p.m. Time given on Oils. Positively no reserve. Now on view.

MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers, &c. K 14

MORTGAGE AUCTION SALE Household Furniture! AND PIANO.

MANVILLE & BROWN WILL sell on the premises, corner York and Maitland streets, ON WEDNESDAY, 5th NOVEMBER, the entire contents of a private residence, including parlor suite in rich terry, with crushed cretonne Hentsake patterns; centre table, whatnot, handsome bedroom set (Rose, Chamberlain & Co.'s extension table, dining chairs in hair, cloth and leather), sideboard, spring, wool and hair mattresses, tapestry and kidderminster carpets, oilcloths, stoves, kitchen furniture, and a variety of household effects. This is one of the most attractive sales of the season.

Sale at 11 a.m. Terms cash. Goods will be sold free of m

ONTARIO.
seds, Clothing,
oolen Goods,
&c., &c.,
& Co HOUSE"
L CHEAP.
E PREMISES.
CHORTS & CO.
er 4, 1879.
ight.
ne night ould hear ikening eler, right.
On darkening night,
o no my ear,
nd many a sounded locked tight,
shrieve and tear,
nuing thought,
drowning virtually,
wrought,
house I sought.
Norfolk Magazine.
ODWIN.
adils from her went fearlessly ne that led to-very lovely under broad branches
f black shadow ves made a fairy stirred them—trac there was ows would, and salt, exhausted glad to linger ear least happi-ity of the scene almost painful
the first time day the town, rushed down
ide, resting her ld back of the ed a hollow in which George and his color-box thrash of the
r. It had been age in that old ldren a letter ar attention to t message left rant moment ir knees before ith her hands.
with moss and dranging these ite gleaming in looked up that
; the scattered Westford could
"For Violet," mpatient as she that precious wait until she as the moon ake, that poetic to throw light modern gentlelay had Violet twelfth-four hours be reached the anded, took a Oliverian her airy room, so girlish tastes,
ds of strangers.
o the light, and ore's envelope brief, and had rtreme haste.
words: Circumstances
his letter com-mmediately. I s able to return;
ill be to claim sentence, I im-
the post office,
to me, dearest,
not doubt my your faithful ken as that of "GHOSES."
e comfort which from this brief e words, George of unalterable mod of very girl, who did o deceive, that rne to me!" she nds in a rapture comes back, it girls. But what ds the Grange anoes so cruelly too! This was it asked herself
s familiar room longer or rest to the s country-house
The scarcity of skeeper's room, of their mistress lavished upon table must be ste;" and faith-ch by the sadness required to be
r. They were
s of the family nd in their dread encountered in ntain master and of the wakne strength home mistress's re-them.
But Moran's room to be almost Grange rests.
Mrs. Vaughan's mistortunes, but they had s in the dodo. The ncerely sorry for ould be new to shioned type of
fr. frequently in old novels, seems ll of volunteering to follow the family and poverty with ould rush into the parlor ings at the fast of her mis in the pathos of world of romance. They the sorrows of the house, as ir own; and shook their ver the housekeeper's ickles, but their hoxes were all ked, and their plans all made for an departure from the ruined house.
All through that long dreary night Mrs.
Violet sat at her desk, sorting and carrying old letters and documents, the ments of her happy womanhood. Of all friendly notes, she pleasant gossiping letters, she kept none, except those written by her husband and her children.
Ah, how happy she had been in that simple country home! What a calm life it had been! and how brief the years seemed as she looked back to the early days in which her husband had brought her into Hampshire, house-hunting, in a happy summer holiday, when their honeymoon was scarcely wasted, and there was still in the minds of both the sweet, strange sense that it was a new thing to be thus together.
She remembered her first year in that quiet haven. The glorious summer time, in which every sunny day had brought the Grange in a hired fly, that was to convey them to Winchester.
To be continued.
ANONYMA.—E. Stone Wiggins, M. D.,
writes under date, Ottawa, 6th Oct., 1879:
—"We have used Kachs in our family several weeks and find it an excellent substitute for coffee, with none of its nerve-destroying qualities, and which it greatly resembles in taste and appearance. I feel sure it will some time stand as when its good qualities become known."
A lit le Chamberlainger was called upon to Sabbath school to say a text from the Scriptures. When the time came she had forgotten her verse, but from her general knowledge of holy writ she solemnly quoted: "Little children should be seen not heard."

First Report of the Water Commissioners

FOR THE CITY OF LONDON.

To the Board of Aldermen of the City of London.

In submitting this, their first report, the Water Commissioners feel great pleasure in announcing the successful completion of an efficient and extensive system of water works, and would congratulate the citizens of London on the very encouraging manner in which applications have been made for the introduction of the water into their premises—over eight hundred and fifty houses being now supplied.

The question of an abundant supply of good water for domestic and manufacturing purposes, and as a protection against fire, had long engaged the attention of the people of this city. Various schemes had been set on foot at different times to meet this want—a want more pressingly felt as year by year the population and trade of the city have increased. In all quarters of the world experience has been a stern teacher of the doctrine, that in a densely populated city the sanitary condition of the inhabitants depends greatly on the purity of the water supplied, and it is equally borne out by experiment that pure water cannot be obtained from wells in such a soil as that on which London is built, where the surface water, with all its impurities, permeates the whole site, in many cases rendering the use of the water exceedingly dangerous. These facts were, on several occasions for years past, forcibly impressed upon the minds of the citizens, and resulted in several fruitless attempts to furnish the city with the necessary supply.

Mr. Wm. Robinson, until recently City Engineer, may be said to have explored the neighborhood for miles around to find the desired supply. The North branch of the Thames was believed by many to be the source from which this would be ultimately drawn. But the opinion of Mr. Keefer, C. E., corroborating that of the City Engineer, was adverse to this scheme, showing that the water to be derived therefrom would be of an inferior quality, and that there was no site in the immediate vicinity suitable for a reservoir. It was also believed that the ponds or small lakes at Pond Mills would furnish a sufficiency. So confident were the members of the Council on this head that the property on which these ponds are partly situate was bought, and shortly after experiments were made which showed conclusively the insufficiency of the supply.

The attention of the City Council and Engineer was afterwards drawn to Coombs' Springs, on the south bank of the Thames, west of the city, and distant from it three and a half miles, which were believed to furnish pure water in sufficient abundance for a city much larger than this, and Mr. Keefer estimated the cost of such works at $400,000. A by law to give effect to this scheme was submitted to the ratepayers, but failed to receive the necessary support.

Shortly after, however, the Board of Aldermen took the subject up with vigor. Reports of the most favorable kind were submitted by the City Engineer, Mr. Robinson, and by the chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee for 1877. These again recommended Coombs' Springs, and were in favor of pushing forward the work without delay. From the reports of the Engineers it was evident that a very large supply of pure water could be obtained here, as also grounds adjacent sufficiently elevated for reservoir purposes—being 180 feet above the part of the city where Dundas and Wellington Streets intersect.

That the supply is ample is shown by the careful measurement of the quantity which may be obtained from six of the springs, and more of the same kind can be rendered available should the necessity arise. The following, according to the estimates of Mr. Peterson and Mr. Robinson, is the capacity of the respective Springs every twenty-four hours:

Coombs' Springs Nos. 1, 2 and 3	2,058,377 Gallons
Dolton's	394,168
Colwell's	80,247
Griffiths'	407,174

Thus shows that Coombs' Springs alone will produce an abundant supply for the inhabitants of a city much more populous than London is at present, with a large quantity in reserve. Meanwhile the Commissioners would suggest the propriety of so directing the water from springs Nos 2 and 3 on the Coombs property into the basin, which might be constructed contiguous to the pumping house, to which may be added, if judged necessary, the outflow from the other springs mentioned above. The rapid growth of the city in population may soon render an increase in the water supply necessary, and it might not be wise to leave the control of the water from these springs into a central basin until it is just needed. It would be advisable too, the Commissioners believe, to have erected around the reservoir and different ponds from which the present supplies are drawn, a fence sufficient to prevent impurities of any kind from being cast into the water. These improvements the Commissioners beg to suggest, leaving the Council to determine how far, and when, they may deem it advisable to carry them into effect.

The estimates for the construction of the whole works were much lower than the Engineer had ventured to submit on any former occasion. Mr. Keefer had assumed a much higher figure, but the result has fully justified the correctness of Mr. Robinson's estimates and the accuracy of his calculations.

Messrs. E. W. Hyman and John Carling were elected Commissioners 16th of January, 1878, with the Hon. Mr. Ewart, Mayor, after duly organizing, proceeded to take steps to procure lands and other privileges necessary for the purposes of the work, and to advertise for tenders for the construction of the various parts, and also for offers for the supply of delivery castings. They also, in accordance with the promises made during the canvass for the by-law, obtained the services of Mr. MacKenzie, who drasilo engineer, A. Peterson, Esq., who fully endorsed Mr. Robinson's estimates and data.

In reply to the advertisement of the Commissioners for the purchase of debentures, they received offers, not only from London for such portion of them very unsettled state of the money market in England, some of them were unsatisfactory nor were withdrawn by telegram the day before the date fixed for opening them. However, they found such facilities, not only in London to render them independent of the brokers, and our fellow-citizens, Messrs F. A. Fitzgerald & Co., purchased the whole at the rate of 98½ per cent., and the proceeds were placed in the Canadian Bank of Commerce at this city.

They were soon, however, to meet with a sad and severe loss in the death of Mr. Hyman. Comments on his personal merits and usefulness as a citizen are here unnecessary, for the whole city turned out to mourn his loss and follow his remains to their last resting place as a mark of respect for his integrity, public spirit, and unassuming kindness.

Mr. J. R. Minhinnick, for several years a member of the City Council, was chosen by the Board of Aldermen as Mr. Hyman's successor.

The lands purchased, amounting to 73 acres, are as follows, viz.:—

From Mr. Coombs	46 Acres.
" Mr. Tunks	20 "
" Mr. Cummings and Cook	7 "

the value of which was determined by arbitration, and in connection therewith the Commissioners would tender their thanks to Geo. G. Magee, Esq., for the valuable services rendered as arbitrator for the city, for which he refused remuneration.

In addition to advertising in the newspapers, the Secretary obtained the names and addresses of upwards of one hundred contracting firms and pipe founders, and mailed to them direct copies of the different advertisements, the result being that over one hundred and twenty tenders were received. The lowest tender was that of Messrs. Stevens, Turner & Burns, being $194,000 for the reservoir, hydrants, valves, pipes and pipe laying.

The contractors deserve great credit for the rapid and efficient manner in which the work was performed under the constant and able supervision of Mr. Tracy, the Engineer in charge, according to the original plans for pumping to the reservoir was to be done by steam, and had this been carried out it would have involved a heavy annual expenditure for coal and attendants. The Commissioners, after careful consideration, resolved to change this part of the original plan and substitute water power to work the pumping machinery. To carry this into effect it was found requisite to purchase the Griffiths water privilege, a mile up the river, and to construct a dam opposite the water works property. This machinery is capable of pumping into the reservoir three millions of gallons of water in twenty four hours, and the mutual saving by the adoption of water power will be about $6,000.

The Commissioners, during the progress of the works, deemed it advisable to make considerable changes on the original plans, which they believe will be found beneficial and meet with general approbation.

1st.—They have purchased 11 acres of land additional from Mr. Tunks for $1,100, which will give the means of extending the reservoir, should this be deemed necessary at any future time, and will render the outlines of the grounds more complete.

2nd.—They have purchased between two and three acres on the north side of the river, at a cost of $287 50, by which free access may be gained to the dam and the works from that side.

3rd.—They have increased the supply main from 15 to 18 inches, and the pipes on Dundas and Ring streets from 4 to 6 inches, at an outlay of $9,917 80.

4th.—They have increased the capacity of the reservoir from four to six million gallons, at an estimated cost of $6,000.

5th.—They have continued pipes on Queen's Avenue westward to Talbot street, and on Hamilton Road from William to Adelaide street, at a cost of $372 81.

6th.—At the request of the City Council, they caused to be laid down a line of pipes along the north side of the Market Square, at a cost of $183 49.

7th.—They have expended $10,409 93 in laying house services free of expense to the consumer. The Commissioners were advised by parties who had much experience in the management of water works in other cities to adopt this plan as the most economical way of raising a revenue, as the preliminary cost would deter many from taking water who would willingly pay the annual rate. The result has fully borne out the wisdom of this view.

8th.—They also expended $8,000 in constructing a road over the pipe line from the city to the works, by which they have access at any time to the main, without being liable to injure crops, etc., which might have been the case had the main been laid through private property. On account of building the road, they obtained permission from the landowners on the south side of the river to back up water, thereby giving abundant water power for working the pumps. By the erection of the dam a splendid water stretch has been secured, which will furnish a pleasant and healthful recreation to the citizens, supply the steamers and other craft with the means of plying between the city and pleasure grounds which surround the Springs, give them access to a delightful retreat and to scenery which, in point of beauty, is unsurpassed in any part of the Province of Ontario. The advantages which the citizens may enjoy in health and pleasure from these excursions will, there is no doubt, be highly valued, and add yet another to the many beautiful and attractive spots in and around the Forest City.

9th.—They have also erected a cottage for the caretaker at the reservoir, and have granted leave to the Indians to go-cart building known as the Woollen Mill as to enable them to rent it for three years, at the low rate of $500 per annum. Messrs. Conklin & Moore, who have also laid out a considerable amount of money in fitting up the premises, and in making the place attractive and pleasant resort. The cost of these improvements, $3 294 44.

10th.—They have placed a good, substantial fence around the whole of the property. Cost, $1,730.

11th.—They have increased the number of the valves and hydrants. Cost, $340.

12th.—They have erected a telephone between the city and pumping house, and also between the pumping house and reservoir, which is found to be extremely useful in the proper management of the works. Cost, $585.

The Commissioners, taking into consideration the great success which has attended the construction of the Water-works, find—1st, that the value of the water rates has risen on revenue account within one year from the commencement of the works, and also that they have been allowed for 11 worst. of work not in the original estimates, as before detailed, have fait that they were justified in erecting the cottage at the new Victoria Park which would not only be a source of pleasure to the citizens, but would be of service in the water circulation, and, if funds had permitted, they would have liked to place drinking fountains in different parts of the city.

The Commissioners have already alluded to the causes which they deemed advisable to make by the substitution of water power for that of steam, but as it is possible that objections may be raised to the pumping machinery or the dam, which might occasion no inconvenience or perhaps enhance the value of the property, they would respectfully request the Council to consider whether it would not be prudent in the immediate future to have in reserve a steam power in reserve, as well as a contingency in case it should arise, as even if the original idea of pumping by steam had been adhered to, it would have been as necessary to have it duplicated as it is now to have steam as well as water. While the Commissioners are not in the least distrust no such contingency will arise, they feel it their duty to invite the attention of the Council to the matter, and leave the determination of the subject to their own judgment as respects both the necessity of such a reserve power and the most opportune time at which to supply it.

It may, perhaps, be well to give, for the information of the citizens, a comparison of the cost of our works with those of some-thing like similar capacity in other parts of both Dominion and the neighboring States. It is unnecessary to state how what all are now convinced of, that in no town or city in this continent is there to be found a better supply of pure and more wholesome water. The following figures will afford means for comparing the cost of our works with those of the places named. Of the many that might be given, only a few are selected, and in some cases only a portion of the pumping machinery is capable of pumping into the reservoir three millions of gallons of water in twenty four hours, and the mutual saving by the adoption of water power will be about $6,000.

The Commissioners, during the progress of the works, deemed it advisable to make considerable changes on the original plans, which they believe will be found beneficial and meet with general approbation.

1st.—They have purchased 11 acres of land additional from Mr. Tunks for $1,100, which will give the means of extending the reservoir, should this be deemed necessary at any future time, and will render the outlines of the grounds more complete.

2nd.—They have purchased between two and three acres on the north side of the river, at a cost of $287 50, by which free access may be gained to the dam and the works from that side.

3rd.—They have increased the supply main from 15 to 18 inches, and the pipes on Dundas and Ring streets from 4 to 6 inches, at an outlay of $9,917 80.

4th.—They have increased the capacity of the reservoir from four to six million gallons, at an estimated cost of $6,000.

5th.—They have continued pipes on Queen's Avenue westward to Talbot street, and on Hamilton Road from William to Adelaide street, at a cost of $372 81.

6th.—At the request of the City Council, they caused to be laid down a line of pipes along the north side of the Market Square, at a cost of $183 49.

7th.—They have expended $10,409 93 in laying house services free of expense to the consumer. The Commissioners were advised by parties who had much experience in the management of water works in other cities to adopt this plan as the most economical way of raising a revenue, as the preliminary cost would deter many from taking water who would willingly pay the annual rate. The result has fully borne out the wisdom of this view.

8th.—They also expended $8,000 in constructing a road over the pipe line from the city to the works, by which they have access at any time to the main, without being liable to injure crops, etc., which might have been the case had the main been laid through private property. On account of building the road, they obtained permission from the landowners on the south side of the river to back up water, thereby giving abundant water power for working the pumps. By the erection of the dam a splendid water stretch has been secured, which will furnish a pleasant and healthful recreation to the citizens, supply the steamers and other craft with the means of plying between the city and pleasure grounds which surround the Springs, give them access to a delightful retreat and to scenery which, in point of beauty, is unsurpassed in any part of the Province of Ontario. The advantages which the citizens may enjoy in health and pleasure from these excursions will, there is no doubt, be highly valued, and add yet another to the many beautiful and attractive spots in and around the Forest City.

9th.—They have also erected a cottage for the caretaker at the reservoir, and have granted leave to the Indians to go-cart building known as the Woollen Mill as to enable them to rent it for three years, at the low rate of $500 per annum. Messrs. Conklin & Moore, who have also laid out a considerable amount of money in fitting up the premises, and in making the place attractive and pleasant resort. The cost of these improvements, $3 294 44.

10th.—They have placed a good, substantial fence around the whole of the property. Cost, $1,730.

11th.—They have increased the number of the valves and hydrants. Cost, $340.

12th.—They have erected a telephone between the city and pumping house, and also between the pumping house and reservoir, which is found to be extremely useful in the proper management of the works. Cost, $585.

The Commissioners, taking into consideration the great success which has attended the construction of the Water-works, find—1st, that the value of the water rates has risen on revenue account within one year from the commencement of the works, and also that they have been allowed for 11 worst. of work not in the original estimates, as before detailed, have fait that they were justified in erecting the cottage at the new Victoria Park which would not only be a source of pleasure to the citizens, but would be of service in the water circulation, and, if funds had permitted, they would have liked to place drinking fountains in different parts of the city.

The Commissioners have already alluded to the causes which they deemed advisable to make by the substitution of water power for that of steam, but as it is possible that objections may be raised to the pumping machinery or the dam, which might occasion no inconvenience or perhaps enhance the value of the property, they would respectfully request the Council to consider whether it would not be prudent in the immediate future to have in reserve a steam power in reserve, as well as a contingency in case it should arise, as even if the original idea of pumping by steam had been adhered to, it would have been as necessary to have it duplicated as it is now to have steam as well as water. While the Commissioners are not in the least distrust no such contingency will arise, they feel it their duty to invite the attention of the Council to the matter, and leave the determination of the subject to their own judgment as respects both the necessity of such a reserve power and the most opportune time at which to supply it.

It may, perhaps, be well to give, for the information of the citizens, a comparison of the cost of our works with those of something

J.M LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.

Tuesday, November 4, 1879.

ALLEGED LARCENY.—Detective Murphy visited Ingersoll yesterday, and took into custody a young man named E. Sinclair on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $12.05 from Mary Elliott, of this city. The prisoner was brought to this city on the train in the afternoon, and will come up for examination in due course.

A SIX MONTHS' SENTENCE.—His Honor Judge Hughes held a Court of Interim Sessions at St. Thomas yesterday, and tried Chas. W. Johnstone, recently of Aylmer, on a charge of receiving goods from Messrs. Carling & Co., of this city, under false pretences. He was found guilty, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor.

DRUNKEN ARRAIGNED.—The prisoner W. Drought, charged with causing the death of the late Franc L. Gundlach, was arraigned before His Honor Judge Elliot yesterday. He pleaded "not guilty," and was remanded until the first court of competent jurisdiction. Application was made by his counsel, Mr. Meredith, for bail, but His Honor declared to first read the depositions before coming to any conclusion on the matter.

DISGRACEFUL CONCERT.—About two o'clock a. m. yesterday many persons living on Talbot street, between Simcoe and Horton, were rudely awakened by the uproarious conduct of three drunken men. One of them rode in a buggy, and the other two banged the doors of peaceful citizens and made loud inquiries for certain persons, no doubt of questionable repute. Those who remonstrated with them were abused in the most disgusting manner, and the riot did not cease until some of the party discovered that they were in the wrong locality.

KILLED ON THE G. W. R. TRACK.—The G. W. R. accommodation train, while running between St. George and Paris station, ran over and killed a woman on Saturday night last. Mr. John Irwin, of this city, the engineer, when about two miles from Paris saw a woman on the track and immediately blew the whistle. The woman paid no attention to the warning, and did not leave the track. The engine was instantly reversed, but not in time to prevent the cowcatcher from striking the woman. She was found a short distance back quite dead. Her name was ascertained to be Jarvis, and she was very deaf and blind.

POLICE COURT PROCEEDINGS.—At the Police Court yesterday morning, the usual Saturday night crop of inebriates was conspicuous by its absence, and the Court mourned. Maud McPhee was committed for one week on a charge of stealing a dress from another servant in the hotel at which she worked. George Wilson was assessed $1, and $3 costs for over indulgence in the cup, &c. Catharine Lane was remanded until the 5th, on a charge of assaulting Mary Windsor. The investigation into the charge of keeping a vicious dog, preferred by Michael Lailty against W. F. Howell, was further laid over until the 8th inst., the injured boy being still confined to his bed.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The new Methodist Church in Thorndale was dedicated on Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Sanderson, Chairman of the District, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Robinson and the Rev. D. W. Thompson. The church is of white brick, and is a model of good taste and comfort. The stained windows, seating and pulpit are not surpassed by any churches. The cost was $2,000, and the whole amount has been secured by the liberality of the worshippers. Notwithstanding the storm of Sunday, the congregations and collections were large. Dr. Sanderson preached in the morning, Rev. Mr. Hall (Presbyterian) in the afternoon, and the Rev. J. H. Robinson in the evening.

THE THEATRE.—The Holman Troupe appeared last night at their Opera House in the new American opera, by H. Hinton, Esq., entitled "U. S. Reg'lars." The audience was small, owing to the storm prevailing, which kept all but the most robust indoors, but those present were well and pleasantly entertained. The piece is a curious admixture of music, and humorous, dramatic and eccentric character, abounding in droll situations, rollicking fun and excellent singing. It is a capital stock piece, and cannot fail to draw well during the coming dramatic season, especially on the other side. The company has been enlarged and greatly strengthened by the addition of Mr. Wm. Wolf, an excellent basso; Mr. Andrew Adams, delineator of eccentric Dutch character; and Miss Addie Flint, all of whom made a pleasing impression on their first appearance last night at the "Reg'lars." Miss Sallis Holman, as the heroine "Marian Radway," appeared in splendid voice, and acquitted herself with great credit. Miss Blanche Bradshaw was also very effective in her double part of "Nora O'Flannery" and "Corporal Flynn." Mr. Dalton Baker through of "Patsy O'Flannery" very creditably. Mr. A. D. Holman was "Jeff. Goon," a colored recruit, giving incidentally drum imitations of the rattle of musketry and railroad train, which "brought down the house." Miss Addie Flint recited "The Polish Boy" and "Lochinvar" in a very finished style, proving herself a dramatic artiste of no ordinary attainment. Mr. Adams, as the Dutch recruit, "Jacob Wallorf," made a "hit," and showed himself to be a valuable acquisition to the company. The "U. S. Reg'lars" will be repeated to-night. Give the Holmans a bumper house this time, as a "send off" for the season.

LOCAL NOTICES.

SALE OF PICTURES.—To lovers of pictures a rare chance will be offered at the auction rooms of Messrs. Manville & Brown to-night. They have received from ——— and artists a large number of pictures, with directions to sell them at the highest figure offered. Among the specimens of art are several excellent landscapes and other scenes from the brush of Mr. W. L. Judson, whose name is a sufficient guarantee of the quality of the work. Mr. G. Chapman is the author of several pictures in oils, a number in water colors and one in sepia—all of them fit to adorn a drawing room wall. There is also one picture from the studios of Mr. Lochmans and Mr. McEvoy respectively, and although of small proportions, they are of good quality. There will also be offered for sale a large collection of chromos, steel engravings, photographs, colored photographs, and other pictures worth possessing. They are all well framed and will no doubt be eagerly sought after by persons desirous of purchasing good pictures at moderate prices. At the same time there will be sold a fine collection of plate glass mirrors, equal to any ever offered in this city, on which there will be no reserve figure. For seeing persons will take note of this sale.

GRAND MIRROR AND PICTURE SALE TO-NIGHT.—Our citizens who have failed to inspect the superb collection at Manville & Brown's rooms have neglected a grand opportunity, for without exception the choicest lot is now on view that was ever offered at public competition in our city. Sale to night at 7:30. See advertisement.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On the evening of Thanksgiving Day, the choir in connection with the Congregational Church will give what promises to be a thoroughly enjoyable social and entertainment. These gatherings are always well attended, and will be enabled to spend a profitable evening.

A CELEBRATED LECTURER.—The members of King Street Primitive Methodist Church have succeeded in arranging with Rev. Mr. Handford, of Toronto, to deliver one of his excellent lectures in Victoria Hall on the evening of the 11th inst. As Mr. Handford is so well and favorably known in this city, nothing further than an announcement is required to ensure a crowded house.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Two more cheese fairs will be held in London this fall—on the 9th and 16th inst.

Fielding Post Office, in West Middlesex, and Union Hill P. O., in East Middlesex, have been closed.

The besom will soon be seen in other hands than the housekeeper's if this weather continues long. The London cutters sweep the snow.

Messrs. E. Adams & Co., of this city, imported 300 bags of rice the other day by the steamer Lake Champlain from Liverpool.

"A Trip to Mexico," with the appendix to be published therewith in Canada, has been copyrighted by Mr. H. C. R. Becher, Q. C., of this city.

The return match between Mr. D. Dodd, of this city, and Mr. Charles Walkinshaw, of Wingham, will take place here on Thanksgiving Day (Thursday next).

Workmen are busily engaged laying the pipes on Ridout street for the Steam Heating Company. Mr. B. Holly, of Lockport, N. Y., is superintending the work personally.

A little hot water, a little sugar, a spoon, a tumbler, were all in greater request yesterday than they had been for months previous. Sometimes a slice of lemon was thrown in—nothing more.

The officers of the Covered Rink Company for the year are:—President, Mr. Samuel Crawford. Vice-President, Mr. Wm. Durand; Secretary, Mr. C. W. Ambrus; Treasurer, Mr. Chas. Murray.

Mr. George Wallis, of London, and Mr. G. Thalale, of Simcoe, ran a 100 yards foot race at Simcoe, on Saturday, for $100 a side. Wallis won by about a foot, although wonderly pressed by his opponent all the way.

Mr. J. Mahon, of this city, has been appointed one of the Executive Committee of the Agricultural Implement Makers' Association recently formed in Toronto, and of which Mr. James Noxon, of Ingersoll, is President.

The horses belonging to Mr. E. S. Jarvis, of Nilestown, which were driven off from Hall's Tavern some time since, have been returned to the owner, and the youths who took them away were taken before Squire Anderson and severely reprimanded.

Mr. J. G. Scragg, caretaker of the Exhibition Grounds, denies most emphatically that the sheds and stables thereon are the resort of disreputable characters. If they are, Mr. Scragg says, it must be early 15 o'clock morning, when he is asleep.

A man named Player, while at work winding wire in the G. W. R. Car Shops yesterday afternoon had the misfortune to have two of the fingers of his right hand severely lacerated by the wire tightening upon them. Dr. Street dressed the digits.

The London Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of this city, had a risk of $1,000 on the barns, sheds and driving house of Mr. Wm. Hinch, of Camden, which, together with their contents, were consumed by fire the other day. Mr. Hinch's loss is over $3,000.

His Excellency the Governor-General has ordered that the petition of "The Ontario Savings and Investment Society" to change the name of the Society to that of "The Ontario Loan and Debenture Company" be complied with, and the Secretary of State has so ordered.

Mr. A. D. Holman, of the Holman Opera Company, is to be complimented as a complimentary benefit on Friday evening by his numerous friends, on which occasion "H. M. S. Pinafore" will be presented. In addition to other attractions, Mr. Sol. Hanlan, the champion sculler, will be present and deliver a short address from the stage. The hall should be crowded on this occasion.

Four youths named Connell, Murphy, Henwood and Black have been summoned to appear at the Police Court this morning to answer the charge of damaging the property of Mr. J. W. Jones and Mr. James Ryan on Hellowe'en. If boys will not take a joke, their parents must bear the consequence, and then "take it out of their hides," as the saying is.

A young woman named Mary Winsor was arrested by P. C. McGuire last night at the instance of Mrs. Annie Gilleno, who charged her with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to leave her house. While in one of the corridors at the Central Station the woman took a couple of tits, and for some time caused Constable Burke, who was in station duty, considerable uneasiness. She rallied, however, and went into a deep sleep.

COUNTY COURT.

His Honor Judge Elliot presiding.

The following cases were disposed of at the sitting of this Court this morning:—

Noble vs. McKenzie. Action on two bills of exchange. Verdict for plaintiff for $169.92.

Dingwall vs. Fox et al. Action on promissory note. Verdict by consent for $138.57.

Parsy vs. Fox. Action, three notes. Verdict by consent for $184.92.

McInnes vs. Lawrie. Action on note against the endorser. Verdict for $164.79.

Ross vs. Fox. Action on two promissory notes. Verdict for plaintiff by consent.

Currie vs. Cowell. Action on promissory notes. Verdict by consent, $259.15.

Dominion Paper Co. vs. Cliffe. Action on bill of exchange. Verdict for plaintiff, $142.41.

Sage vs. Ayers. Action on six promissory notes. Verdict by consent for $217.19.

In all these cases no defence was made, as Mr. G. C. Gibbons, of the firm of Macpherson, Gibbons & McNabb, appeared for the plaintiffs.

The So-called Malt Frauds.

Letter of Exoneration from Commissioner Brunel.

Mr. John Labatt, of the London Brewery, yesterday received the following letter from the Inland Revenue Department at Ottawa, in regard to the trumped-up charge of fraud investigated by the Chief Inspector a couple of weeks since:—

Inland Revenue Department.
Ottawa, Oct. 31, 1879.

John Labatt, Esq., Brewer, &c., London:

SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that Revenue has had under consideration a report of Chief Inspector Godson in relation to the alleged fraud at your malthouse. He directs me to inform you that he concurs with the Chief Inspector in exonerating you from the charge of fraud, for which he believes there was no foundation. I have the honor to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,
A. BRUNEL,
Commissioner.

Daring Burglary in Ilderton.

A daring burglary was committed in the usually quiet village of Ilderton on the evening of Saturday, the 1st inst. The house of Mr. Geo. Lipsett was entered on the above evening between the hours of eight and ten o'clock and goods taken to the amount of $125, consisting of clothing, one watch valued at $25, three watch guards and other articles of jewellery. As soon as the robbery was discovered Squire W. Patrick was sent for, and in company with Constable, endeavored to obtain some clew to the perpetrators of the theft, but up to the present writing nothing definite has been discovered. The sufferers of the above robbery, Mr. George Lipsett and Charles Lasky, have offered a reward of $75 for the apprehension and conviction of the thieves, and we sincerely hope they will be successful in bringing the guilty parties to justice.

SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARIES.—The anniversary services in connection with the Dundas Street Centre Methodist Sabbath School were held on Sunday. Rev. Alfred Andrews, of Strathroy, delivered appropriate discourses in the morning and evening to large congregations. In the afternoon an open meeting was held for the purpose of hearing addresses especially from the teachers and scholars. Mr. Wm. Bowman, Superintendent, presided, and addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Andrews, Dickson and Philp. The children, under the leadership of Mr. Scroston, with Miss L. Shaw presiding at the organ, sang a number of beautiful hymns.—Similar services were held in the New Brighton Methodist Church. The Rev. Jos. Colling, of Lambeth, preached in the morning, and the pastor of the church, Rev. Thos. Colling, in the evening. Some finely rendered music was given by the children of the school, led by Sir. E. Topper, Mr. John Ward acting as organist.

THE WATER-WORKS REPORT.—On the third page of this issue will be found the full report of the Board of Water Commissioners, which will repay perusal.

Dundas Street Methodist Church.

Sunday School Anniversary Last Night.

The anniversary services in connection with the above Sunday School were held in the church last evening, but owing to the heavy snow storm many of those interested were unable to attend and the audience was no a large one, though it was very creditable, taking the weather into consideration. Mr. W. Bowman occupied the Chair, and after the regular opening services Mr. Bradford, the Secretary, read the annual report, which showed the school to be exceedingly prosperous both financially and as regards attendance. The total number of names on the roll—370; average attendance, 239; number of books in the library, 350.

Last year's officers were re-elected, and are as follows:—Superintendent, W. Bowman; Assistant-Superintendent, C. J. Beal; Treasurer, C. Douthwaite; Secretary, A. Bradford; Librarian, R. Saunders; Assistant-Librarian, Frank Kearn.

Rev. A. Andrews, of Strathroy, was then introduced and delivered an able address on "The Influence of the Sunday School upon the Church and Modern Society." He quoted the words of W. F. Craft, of Chicago, "Childhood is the text book of the age," and went on to show what the Sabbath School is, its object, method, relations, and what has been accomplished in working out the ideal as he presented it.

Rev. Mr. Wallace gave a very interesting sketch of old time Sunday Schools, such as he attended when he was a boy, and contrasted them with those of the present day. In view of the opportunities enjoyed by the scholars of the many Sunday Schools of London, he thought the boys and girls of to-day should be grateful for the beautiful music they hear, the lessons helps that assist them in learning God's work for the interesting papers given them every Sunday, and for being so comfortably cared for in such fine structures as the Dundas Street Methodist Church. He exhorted his juvenile hearers to be careful when receiving from the good book not only to commit the verses to memory, but to comprehend their meaning, and follow the spirit of the Divine Teacher. He closed by telling them of the glorious happiness of a Christian life, and deprecating the idea of Christianity being gloomy and dull.

Rev. B. B. Keefer, of Petersville, followed, and expressed the opinion that the best talent of the Church should be consecrated on the altar of Sabbath School work. He thought no Christian should complain of the amount of time and money which the schools cost them, for it has been established that the Sabbath School does more to prove themselves, and many of the brightest and noblest ministers had been thus brought out. According to the report which had been read, 100,000 persons had been added to the Methodist Church by means of the Sunday Schools during the past year. Doubtless 50 per cent. of those who are converted would confess, were they asked, that their first religious impressions were made in the Sunday School. For his part he was born a Methodist, converted into the Methodist Church, and he believed its doctrines were in accordance with reason and amenable to common sense, or he would not be in the Methodist Church; therefore, he thought the Methodist Catechism should be taught, that the boys and girls should grow up in sound doctrine, lest they go to build up other churches, thus losing to the one in which they were educated the best material in its midst. In conclusion, he called upon parents to assist in the work, not only by enrolling their children, but by coming themselves and encouraging the teachers by their countenance and their means.

Rev. G. N. A. F. T. Dixon moved a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening and to the choir for his kind services as musical director. He called attention to a return made by the Governor of Sing Sing Prison, which declared that of 500 convicts confined there only three had ever been in a Sabbath School.

Mr. J. C. Beal seconded the motion, and made a few remarks concerning the school. The motion having been carried amidst considerable applause, Mr. Screston tendered his thanks for the manifestation of good will and the services were closed by singing and the pronunciation of the Benediction.

Boiler Explosion Near Delaware.

One Man Killed and Two Others Seriously Hurt.

On Saturday afternoon last a sad accident occurred in the township of Delaware, caused by the explosion of the boiler in the saw mill known as Gauntlet's, and owned by Mr. Jas. Gauntlet, on the 8th concession of Delaware. The engineer in charge, Mr. Edward Johnston, son of Mr. James L. Johnston, lost his life by the unfortunate occurrence, and Charles Turner was seriously injured. Mr. Garnett Johnston, who were at work in the mill when the catastrophe occurred, had most miraculous escapes. The explosion was heard for a long distance, and the news of the terrible accident spread like wild fire in the neighborhood, and for miles around, drawing large crowds of people to the scene during the afternoon. The building was completely gutted, and presents a most dilapidated appearance. The cause of the explosion, owing to the death of Johnston, who is in charge of the engine and boiler, has not as yet been definitely ascertained, but it is generally believed that he neglected to keep a sufficient supply of water in the boiler when it was most needed. An inquest will in all probability be held to enquire into the circumstances attending the affair.

LONDON SOUTH.

Anniversary Tea-meeting of the Methodist Sabbath School.

Last night the London South Methodist Church was comfortably filled on the occasion of the anniversary tea-meeting in connection with the above. During the earlier portion of the evening a plenteous supply of refreshments was served by the ladies, after which

Rev. T. Colling, the pastor, was called upon to preside in the absence of Mr. Gibbons, the Superintendent of the school. He was glad to notice so many present, notwithstanding the inclement weather and storm, and in a short address congratulated the promoters of the Sabbath school on the success which had attended their efforts during the past year.

Mr. John Ward, Secretary, then read the annual report of the school, which showed that the past year had been characterized by unprecedented prosperity. The number of scholars was materially increased, and there are at present on the roll the names of 170 pupils, an increase of 47 over last year. In addition to those there are 6 officers and 17 teachers in connection with the school. During the year the girls, numbering 66, recited 11,261 verses; and the boys, numbering 55, recited 8,760. In addition to this With $47.50 of a subscription a library was started early in the spring, and now 200 volumes there at the disposal of the pupils and teachers. The receipts during the past year had amounted to $148 70, and the expenditure to $154.05, leaving a small debt of $5 35.

At the annual meeting of the teachers on Friday evening last the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Superintendent, G. C. Gibbons; Asst Superintendent, H. B. Nelles; Secretary-Treasurer, John Ward; Assistant Secretary, James O. Weldon; Librarian, S. Thomas; Assistant-Librarian, J. Justin.

Rev. Mr. Rolling, pastor of the Bible Christian Church, in a humorous and interesting address, referred to the success of the school during the year just closed, and regarded the large number present as an indication of the interest taken in the Sabbath school work. Early life was the best time to impart instruction and to cultivate the morals. He was pleased to notice the prosperity of the school, and trusted that its success would continue.

Dr. Nelles, Assistant Superintendent, also made a brief congratulatory address.

During the evening, the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Topper, and with Mr. J. Ward at the organ, sang a number of pieces, selections, which were highly appreciated.

"No Cards!"

How Love Laughed at Bolts and Bars.

An Interesting Event at the County Jail.

Shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon a visitor to the County Jail would have noticed an unusual excitement, any amount of whispering and smiling, and a hurrying to and fro of the officials which was calculated to arouse curiosity and inspire questioning. The hireboy was smiling all over, and his assistant stood up against the door of an unused cell, and between good substantial roars he asked of a representative of this journal "Why, Law did ron find it out" Now, the "it" in question was nothing more nor less than a wedding between a prisoner awaiting trial and the girl of his choice. To be brief, a young man named Thomas Ward, a cooper living on Thames street, was arrested on Saturday night on a charge of attempting to relieve the daughter of Hamilton Ramsay of a certain difficulty, which need not be further explained at this time. The charge was a criminal one of a serious character; the prosecutor was no less a person than the irate father, and the only witness was the girl herself. Since his arrest a scheme was concocted whereby the trouble between Miss Ramsay and her lover could be dispelled, and the strong arm of the law stayed. The proposition of marriage was submitted to the parties more directly interested, the result being an acceptance and a hasty preparation for this usually happy event. In the first place a license was procured from Mr. E. W. Harris, and the services of Rev. Mr. Grant, pastor of York street Baptist Church, called into requisition. At the time mentioned the friends of the contracting parties and the minister were shown into the most commodious cell in the female ward, and the necessary preparations made for the ceremony. The bride, a good looking girl of about seventeen years of age, was already present, dressed in keeping with the occasion: the bridegroom, a tall, thin young fellow dressed in his Sunday suit, was escorted in by Mr. Kelly, and the services of

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6945

TRY

D. DODD & BRO.,

—FOR—

Choice Family Groceries,

WINES, ETC.

329 DUNDAS STREET, 2 doors east of Oddfellows' Hall. Rdy

LADIES WANTED.

WANTED, A LADY TO SELL BRUNTON'S RHEUMATIC ARSORBENTS and HOMOSTYLE FLUID, which are certain remedies for Rheumatism, Headache, Catarrh, Dyspepsia and diseases peculiar to women. Ladies who are unfit are preferred, as they can be cured and recommend the medicine from experience.

Only one lady in each place required.

Medicines will be sent to be paid for when sold. A large income for intelligent women.

Address, for particulars,

W. Y. BRUNTON
London, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARPET WEAVING—AS CLOSE as the closest, on warp as strong as the strongest, at prices as cheap as the cheapest, by a workman as good as the best.—J. S. FLEMING, Market Square. Jly8tfn.

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mrs. M. Ross, the American artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be equalled in Canada. Factory—No. 515 Richmond street, London. Jly8

S. THREAPLETON, BAG CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 191 wellington street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. All orders promptly attended to. 19yn

MEDICAL.

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., London, England, Physician, Surgeon &c., successor to Dr. DeLeon, Dundas street opposite Town Hall, London East. 876oolm

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. 876oy

H. B. NELLES, D. D. S.,
SURGEON DENTIST.
Office—King Block, Richmond street. 876ly

H. McLAREN, L.D.S.,
SURGEON DENTIST.
Office removed over Bradford's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall,
380 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON.
Teeth extracted without pain. Gas or chloroform administered. 876

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S.,
DENTIST.
Office, Ellis Block, Dundas street. Ajly

L. MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street over Dorey's jewelry store. 876ly

R. A. REEVE, B.A., M.D.
Residence and office:
No. 61 SHUTER STREET, TORONTO.
At Tecumseh House, London, on the
FIRST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH.
Miscellan

BUSINESS CARDS.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and INSURANCE Agent. Dundas street, opposite Salter's store, London East.

JOHN O'KEEFE, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Kly

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash price paid for second-hand clothing. Vic. Buildings, on Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. Jly

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. —J. McKENZIE has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment and Part Emporium to 702 Dundas street (R. J. Wade's old stand), late W. Tutill's Old Sewing Machine Repair, Part and Attachment Emporium of the city. Better facilities for repairing, and cheaper rates than ever. Having a Celebrated Machine for sale, with a life-time warranty given with every Raymond sold. Jly8oflm

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for Cash by SAINSBURY, King street, two doors west of Market Square. Auctioneer, and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets. Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. N. B.—Parties wishing to sell wanted on and letters to call attended to. 876dly

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has resumed business at the old stand, 392 Dundas street.—W. Dodson, corner Wellington and Dundas streets.

HOTELS.

CLIFFORD—M'DONALD HOUSE —New and elegant brick building, heated throughout with hot air. Everything appointed in first-class. This establishment is designed to supply a long-felt condition of things. Persons can now obtain accommodation equal to any hotel—I beg the leave to say. Lunches attended to as at trains. Excellent sample rooms. Kilty

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. R. F. SIMMONS, Proprietor. 876

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler on the premises. Jly8m

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE, TO MOTOR, adjoining Union Railway Station (steam heated). McGann. $1.50 per day.—M. A. TRUTTER, Proprietor. 1ajly8

THE ROYAL HOTEL, WOODSTOCK, F. FARRELL, Proprietor. Centre commercial house. Bus meets every train. Woodstock, Jan. 9, 1878. ly

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ONT. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. This house all pneumatic Hotels. P. J. HENRY & Co., Proprietors.

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEFFERSON Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES MAWHINNEY, Proprietor. 1my8ly

HARDWARE.

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS of and Dealers in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils. Dundas Street, London, Ont. ly

LEGAL.

A. CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block Richmond street, London, Ont. Ly

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office—Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont.
EDWARD MAGEE. JAMES MAGEE,
GEO. M. COX. W. J. CLARKE

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Oil frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 561 Dundas-st. Fly

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. HENRY, 399 Dundas street, near Albert Block

JEWELLERS.

T. C. THORNHILL, PRACTICAL Watch and Clockmaker, General Jobbing Shop, 324 Talbot street, late W. Riddell. Umbrellas, Parasols and Jewellery repaired with neatness and despatch. Saws filed. Grinding all its branches. Kily

PREFERENCE STOCK IN THE Financial Association of Ontario can still be obtained at par from the Company by applying at the Office, Oddfellows' Building, London.—EDWARD LE RAY, Managing Director. ly

MUSICAL.

NOTICE.—DAYTON'S DANCING Academy, 120 Dundas street, will re-open for tuition Tuesday, November 4th. Class for pupils at 8 o'clock. Terms—$4 for 12 lessons. Pupils for 3 months will please apply at my rooms, Saturday evening, Nov. 1st.—C. DAYTON, Teacher. ly

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

GEORGE KERR,
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS
Stuttly 265 Richmond street, London.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!

ELLIOTT BROTHERS,

155 Dundas Street,

south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in

Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

A CALL SOLICITED.

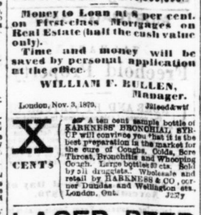
The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.

WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.

Money to Loan at 6 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).

Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.

WILLIAM F. BULLEN,
Manager.



London, Nov. 3, 1879. 31loodawtf

X CENTS A ten cent sample bottle of DARKNESS' PERSONAL STOCK TAKER will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by DARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 327y

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Opp. International House, Dundas street.

TOBACCOS

FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to REAL FINE TOBACCO.

TRADE MARK.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in
BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.
360 AND 362 RICHMOND STREET,
LONDON.
Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. Jly

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

To Printers, Book Publishers, Stereotypers, Etc.

ALFRED CRAIGIE

Has REMOVED his manufactory from St. George to Galt where he has increased facilities for manufacturing and shipping first-class Printers' Rollers, Label Rollers, Printers' Wood Rule Reglets, Quoins, Stereotype Bottoms, etc., etc. Quality of goods unsurpassed, and prices will be quite cheaper than any other firm.

ALFRED CRAIGIE, Galt, Ont.

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE

TRADE MARK. The GRAY TRADE MARK.

Before Taking. After Taking.

English Rosemary, &c. unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of vision, Premature Old Age and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. ☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
Toronto, Ont., Canada.

Sold by all Druggists everywhere.
B. A. MITCHELL, London, Wholesale Agent
Cmdlw ly

SMOKE
—THE—
Old Man's Favorite.

NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
sodly

TO CONSUMERS.

GO TO THE California Store
—FOR—
FIRST-CLASS
GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS
at prices to suit the times.
Goods delivered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed.
WM. MOORE & CO.,
CORNER KING AND RICHMOND STREETS
London, August 21, 1879. 1my

THE—
NORTH END STORE
IN THE OLD BOB
CHOICE FAMILY GROCERIES
AT MODERATE PRICES.
All Kinds of Poultry Below Market Prices.
Oysters received daily, at 35 cents per can.
GEO. DAVISON,
Nos. 729 and 731 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

Essential Oils!
RECEIVED.
(1) Four Coppers Oil Lemon.
(2) Two do. " Bergamot.
(4) Four Tins " Myrbane.
B. A. MITCHELL.

Howitt Fysh,
CONFECTIONER,
DUNDAS STREET, NEAR Clarence street, is prepared to supply citizens or parties at a distance with the best of Cakes, Biscuits, &c., on the shortest notice. If you cannot call and leave your orders, send them by mail and they will receive prompt attention.
Wedding cakes a specialty. D1839

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 78 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains.
1my8ly STEWART TURNER & HUTSON

REMOVAL.

DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 324 Dundas street, five doors east of Wellington street. 31dawly

KINGSMILL'S,
—THE—
Great Dry Goods House
OF THE WEST,
OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES
in various departments this morning.

Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool
FANCY FLANNELS.

Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American
CANTON FLANNELS

EMBOSSED
DRESS MATERIALS,
with Velvets to match.

BLACK
GROS GRAIN SILKS.

Ladies' Black and Drab
CLOTH JACKETS,
Berlin and Paris make.

All Wool, Twilled
CANADIAN
BLANKETS.

TABLE LINENS.

CASHMERE
AND OTHER
DRESS GOODS.

Received to-day, new shapes in
LADIES' DRAB
MOSCOW HATS.

For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,

GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

To Get the Best Value for Your Money

GO TO

KINGSMILL'S.

British and Foreign Grain Trade

Mark Lane Express Weekly Review.

London, Nov. 4.—The Mark Lane Express says:—In the southern counties of England fifteen are many fields of beans still exposed to the weather. In the latter districts the harvesting of oats still drag on. Irish advices continue favorably with them. The wet and foul condition of land in England delays plowing. Comparatively little wheat is as yet sown. Despite the damp weather a good deal of English wheat has been thrashed lately, with results fully confirming the shortness of the crop. The condition of the bulk of the wheat which was offered for sale the past week, owing to the pressing pecuniary needs of farmers, has been anything but good. Really sound grain fit for milling or sowing has been comparatively rare, and was unaffected by the decline of 1s to 2s per qr., which had been generally quoted. Trade has been very dull. If no further decline occurs in foreign wheat before the approaching closing of the Baltic ports by ice, there appears to be sufficient strength in the trade to withstand the action of America without the present range of values undergoing much alteration during the winter. Even if a slight further fall occur, it is more than likely that it will be speedily recovered, under the influence of the increased demand for France. The local trade has been very quiet throughout the week, with only a moderate consumptive demand. Specula tors were anxious to realize, and prices receded about 1s per quarter for all description of foreign and English wheat. Indian wheat has been arriving more freely, and has attracted a fair share of attention, though the activity therein will probably be less marked than in 1878, when large arrivals very seriously interfered with the sale of Russian and American descriptions.

The arrivals of maize have been very light, but at the beginning of the week it was unsalable, except at a reduction of 5 per cent. per qr. Prices have tended downward ever since. The arrivals at ports of call have been limited. The depression in wheat continued until Thursday, when the decline stone Monday amounted to 3s. per qr. The sales, however, were few. A reaction has since occurred, and is, to-day, of the decline been recovered.

The demand for maize has been small, and it has receded 6d. per qr.

Business in wheat, to arrive, has been very restricted, and red winters declined 2s. to 2s. 6d per qr. during the week, both for prompt and for shipment, but is, to is. 6d. has since been recovered.

Barley quiet and steady.

Maize has fallen fully 6d per qr.

Sales of English wheat last week, 39,946 qrs at 40s 5d, against 59,000 qrs at 39s the corresponding week last year.

The imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending October 25th were 1,808,837 cwts of wheat and 307,175 cwts of flour.

RUSSIA IN THE EAST.

Discovery of the Part She Played at Cabul.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The National Zeitung alleges that papers found in the Cabul disclosed the fact that Russian influence is active in Afghanistan against England Some of the papers seriously compromise the government at St. Petersburg.

THE CENTRAL ASIAN EXPEDITION.

London, Nov. 5.—A St. Petersburg correspondent says when Kaufman represented to the Czar the impossibility of preparing for a new Central Asian expedition without cash and supplies, he received a significant answer that it was perhaps better not to proceed with the preparations. The proposal to furnish a pretender to the Afghan throne with money for the purchase of intrigue among the Afghan chiefs met with an absolute refusal. The irritation against Salisbury's speech has subsided. Although a question had been even raised as to withdrawing the Russian Ambassador from London, the idea was negatived on the ground that the speech could not be regarded as an official expression.

AN EMBARRASSING POSITION.

London, Nov. 5.—A St. Petersburg despatch says the report that the British fleet will proceed to the Gulf of Smyrna has caused embarrassment here.

A Bakr despatch reports that on the 20th October the main portion of the Okhal Tekke detachment returned to Tchikislar.

GREAT BRITAIN.

CLEARING AWAY OF POLITICAL CLOUDS.

Manchester, Nov. 5.—A London correspondent says that the clouds on the political horizon have vanished; diplomatic action has resulted once more, in a satisfactory solution of things.

The British fleet will not proceed to Turkish waters.

THE IMPORTATION OF UNITED STATES SHEEP RESTRICTED.

London, November 5.—The Privy Council issued an order that sheep from the United States shall, after the 23rd inst., be subject to the same regulations as the American cattle.

NEW AMERICAN WHEAT.

London, Nov. 5.—The first cargo of American wheat arrived at Cardiff—49,800 bushels—in splendid condition.

The Times says there is no reason to suppose that the rebuffs on which the British Ambassador at Constantinople is insisting are beyond the powers of the Turkish Government.

TURKISH AFFAIRS.

London, Nov. 5.—A Cabinet Council was held yesterday and another to day. The Turkish Ambassador had an interview with Salisbury before the Cabinet Council, and the French Ambassador after its adjournment. The Russian Ambassador had an interview with Beaconsfield.

HANLAN AND THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

London, Nov. 5.—It is learned that Hanlan intends to visit England to defend his title to the championship.

TURKEY

A BRITISH MOVE.

London, Nov. 5.—There is considerable excitement in Stamboul on account of the expected arrival of the British squadron. The Porte having received no official explanations, has telegraphed to the Turkish Ambassador at London to ask Salisbury for information.

BRITISH SUGGESTIONS.

Constantinople, Nov. 5.—Layard, British Minister, semi-officially suggested to the Porte the appointment of Baker Pasha as Governor of the Province of Erzeroum. The Minister of Foreign Affairs declared it was impossible to comply with the proposal, but Baker might be appointed English commander of the gen d'armie in Armenia. Layard has not yet presented a formal note to the Porte concerning the execution of reforms. It is stated his demands have not been supported by the representatives of other Powers.

SPAIN.

MORE DISASTROUS FLOODS.

Madrid, Nov. 5.—Floods have occurred in the Province of Jaen, causing great loss. There has also been a renewal of the floods in Murcia.

THE CUBAN SLAVERY QUESTION.

Madrid, Nov. 5.—In the Senate to-day the Minister of Colonies read the Government Bill relating to the abolition of slavery in Cuba. He said that slavery was contrary to the laws of nature, and could no longer be maintained in the civilized world. Owing to the impoverished state of the exchequer it was impossible to pay indemnity to owners of slaves, and the Government deemed it indispensable freed negroes should remain for a certain period under the patronage of their former masters; for, by adopting this course, dangers which might ensue from immediate and simultaneous emancipation of all slaves would be averted. The Government considered the scheme for gradual enfranchisement was contrary to the law of 1870. The Minister also announced that a Bill embodying economic reforms for Cuba would soon be presented to the Cortes.

INDIA.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

London, Nov. 5.—An accident occurred to a passenger train on the Madras (British Indian) Railway, near Arconum, on the 31st 6' October, in consequence of the sinking of the embankment after the rain. Nineteen persons, including three Europeans were killed, and 45 wounded.

STATE ELECTIONS.

Large Republican Gains Throughout the Union.

Cornell's Election in New York Confirmed.

The Last Sound of the "Tilden "Boom" —Yazoo County Heard from— Other Localities.

NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 5.—The late edition of the Herald says Robinson is defeated by 15 000 to 20 000, and the remainder of the State ticket is with little doubt elected.

The Times claims that the Republicans elect 25 Senators, and 8 Assemblymen, and the Democrats 7 Senators and 40 Assemblymen.

The Herald makes the Senate 26 Republicans; 3 Democrats; 3 Tammany. Assembly, 75 Republicans, 49 Democrats, 10 Tammany; 2 anti-Tammany.

The Times' editorial refers to Kelly's vote, and says that victory won by such means is obviously deprived of more than half of its significance, though its effect on the political prospects of Tilden ought to be fatal.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 5.—The Commercial commenting on the result in New York says the election of Cornell, under the circumstances, with the rest of the Republican ticket defeated, is a poor sort of Republican victory. It certainly does not authorize Conkling to rise in the next Republican National Convention and claim that New York would vote for Grant and for no other Republican candidate, and he must therefore be nominated. On the contrary, the Republicans of New York are admonished if they would not permit their State to become a province of the Solid South they must escape from the Conkling machine, which is virtually only the operation of a Tammany machine.

New York, Nov. 5.—The Commercial's Albany special says:—The Republicans believe, excepting Potter, that the Republican state ticket has been elected. The opinion is prevalent that the Kelly Democrats did not vote on the whole state ticket.

New York, Nov. 5.—The Times says Cornell carried 46 of 60 counties in the State, and his vote exceeds Robinson's by 40 000 to 43,000. It is probable the Republicans have elected the entire State ticket. This, however, is open to doubt. The Senate stands, 24 Republicans and 8 Democrats; Assembly, 92 Republicans, 36 Democrats. Kelly's vote will not fall far short of 70,000.

The Sun says Cornell's plurality is 35,000, and the remainder of the Democratic State ticket is elected. The Senate stands 24 Republicans and 8 Democrats. Assembly—89 Republicans and 39 Democrats.

The World still claims the election of the Democratic State ticket, excepting Robinson. The Republicans have doubtless secured a two-thirds majority in both branches of the Legislature. Kelly's vote will not much exceed 60,000.

NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 5.—No reliable returns. Prominent politicians estimate the Republican majority at 10'000 to 11,0 0.

MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—There is probably a Republican majority in this State of over 10,000 in a light vote.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Returns indicate a much smaller vote than two years ago. The Republicans probably carry the State by about 10,000.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Nov. 5. The Senate stands 31 Republicans and 9 Butler Democrats. The Republican vote, compared with last year, shows a falling off of 14,000.

KANSAS

Has gone as solidly Republican as usual.

CONNECTICUT.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 5.—The Senate will stand as follows:—17 Republican, 4 Democrats. The House will probably stand 153 to 70 on a joint ballot. Senators elected now will hold over till next year, and will then vote for United States Senator.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The city is Republican by 5,000, a gain of 10,000, and the county by 7,000 to 8,000.

ILLINOIS.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5.—Sangamon county, which usually gives 500 Democratic majority, has elected a Republican County Treasurer by 300 majority.

MISSISSIPPI.

Grenada, Miss., Nov. 5.—The Democrats carry this county by 500—a gain of 300 over last year.

Yokkabny, Miss., Nov. 5.—Election quiet. Result not known, but it is expected the Democrats carry the State with the exception of a few counties. Yazoo county, Democratic; Hinds county probably elects the greater part of the Greenback ticket.

Jackson, Miss., November 5.—Fourteen Counties have been heard from. Of these eleven elected a straight Democratic ticket, with a majority of 6,000.

The election was quiet, small vote cast, and but little enthusiasm.

DETROIT.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The result of the municipal election shows the Republican gain to be 3,000, the Republicans electing a Mayor by a majority of 1,800, and the entire city ticket, with the exception of the City Clerk, and one Justice, also nine of the thirteen Aldermen.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark, N.J., Nov. 5.—The Republicans have gained the State Senator in New Jersey, and probably five or six members of the Assembly. They will retain control of both branches of the Legislature.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 5.—Philadelphia has gone Republican by a larger majority than ever known on the State ticket. Returns from the State continue to show Republican gains.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—There is a Republican gain of 3,000 in Milwaukee over the last vote. The State is sure for 20 000 Republican majority.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—Returns from the interior are coming in slowly. Nearly all those received to-day show Republican gains. Indications now are that the Republican State ticket is elected by 35,000 majority, the largest ever given in the State.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—Returns to-day are rather gloomy for the Debt payers. At their headquarters here despondency prevails. Some of the leaders are ready to acknowledge defeat. Leading Readjusters here claim 25 of the 40 Senators and 58 of the 100 delegates. The current sets steadily in favor of the Readjusters, and the indications are that they will certainly have a majority in both Houses.

Honors for the Brave.

THE MEXICAN UNDER NEW COLORS.

London, November 5.—A Valparaiso despatch of October 12th says that the captured ram Huascar will be refitted and manned by a Chilian crew. The Chilian Government ordered funeral honors to the late rear Admiral Grau, who commanded the Huascar.

MICHIGAN'S DEAD SENATOR

Obsequies of Zachariah Chandler Yesterday.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The funeral of Hon Zach. Chandler took place here to day, and was a grand tribute of respect to one who was a power not only in the State but in the nation. Rev. Dr. Pierson pastor of the Fourth street Presbyterian Church, preached the funeral sermon, in which he said "the Doric pillar of Michigan has fallen." As the remains lay in state they were viewed by an immense crowd, numbering over 10 000 people. The face looked calm and serene The lowers of the brow was universally remarked. Chandler had not the accepted emblem of intellectuality—a lofty forehead—but the mind and force could be discerned by the size of the head over and behind the ears, in the cerebral location of combativeness and destructiveness, in the protruding perceptive faculties, which bulged out like a cornice over the eyes, and in the extraordinarily developed organs of causality and comparison which swelled out the upper part of the forehead.

The ceaseless stream of people which passed through the building in two continuous lines, lasted from 8.15 a.m. till 1 p.m.

The procession was an immense one comprising national and local notabilities secret societies, military, firemen and private citizens. The funeral cortege reached Elmwood cemetery at 4.20 p.m. The military halted outside the cemetery formed in open order, and stood a "present arms" as the hearse bearing the remains of the dead senator passed within the gateway of the silent city of the dead.

ARCTIC EXPLORATIONS.

INTERNATIONAL ACTION.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—It is announced that the International Geographical Congress at Hamburg, in October, called for the securing of the harmonious action of the various governments and Geographical Societies of Europe and America in the work of Arctic exploration, adopted a resolution "recommending the establishment of permanent stations of observation in the Arctic regions at nine different places, to be under the direction of the different governments.

LOST IN THE LAKE.

Fears that the Propeller Argyle has Gone Down in Lake Superior.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The Canadian propeller Argyle, Capt. McLaughlin, owned by Graham, with a crew of 17 men and some passengers, is supposed to be lost in Lake Superior. She was last heard of at Sault Ste. Marie canal, October 28.

Midnight Weather Report.

Washington, Nov 6 1 a.m.—Indications—For the Lower Lake region, light snow and rain, followed by partly cloudy weather.

THE LAKE MARINE.

Storm Notes from Neighboring Ports.

Southampton, Ont., November 5.—The schooner Argo, when leaving here this evening, ran on a reef south of Chantry Island. She is loaded with cedar posts for Chatham. The amount of damage is not yet known. She is waiting for the steamer Quebec, which is on her way up to try and render her some assistance. It is snowing hard, with a wind from the south east.

Owen Sound, Nov. 5.—The schooner China, on her way from Buffalo to Parry Sound, light, ran aground ashore in the isthmus by the Georgian Bay on Sunday night last. She experienced remarkably rough weather ever since leaving Buffalo. On Sunday she was caught in a blinding snow storm, and when ashore, owing to the severity of the weather, the crew were obliged to leave the vessel. She is badly damaged.

Port Colborne, Nov. 5.—The schooner Mineral State, ashore at Point Abino, still lays broadside. They lightered over 8,000 bushels of Ity grain to-day, and as this did not light her up any they scuttled her.

Port Stanley, Nov. 5.—In-Schooner Cataract for shelter; wind south east and fresh, with heavy snow this afternoon.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Dublin, Ont., Nov. 5.—Christian Habitel, of Logan, had his barn containing a large quantity of grain totally destroyed by fire last night. Cause, unknown; insurance small.

Quebec, Nov. 5.—A fire declared itself on Monday evening in a barn on the property of Dr. Douglas, at Beauport. Half an hour later a fire also declared itself in a barn belonging to the Seminary, on the old Dinning property. About ten o'clock another barn on the Douglas property, fifty feet from the scene of the first alarm, was discovered to be on fire. The fire at the Seminary barn destroyed about 1,000 bushles of hay; the other barns were empty. It was the work of an incendiary.

Whitby, Nov. 5.—About ten o'clock last night a fire was discovered in a large two-story frame dwelling house, owned and occupied by Mr. Thomas Dewsell, on Dundas street. A prompt alarm was given, and the fire was thought to have been put out, but it appears to have not been thoroughly done, as it broke out again this evening at 8 o'clock, and the building was burned to the ground. Most of the contents were saved. Building insured.

Halifax, Nov. 5—A fire at the Nova Scotia Provincial Penitentiary, on the shore of the North-west Arm, to-night, destroyed all the outbuildings of the institution. It originated in the blacksmiths' shop, in the main prison, in which were all the inmates. They escaped uninjured.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Owing to the decision in the great seal case at Ottawa, Mr. Bethune and others have doffed their Queen's robes.

A telegram received a telegram from Mr. Blaikie this morning stating that Courtney had accepted his proposition and asking Hanlan to forward amended articles. This evening Hanlan replied to Mr. Blaikie, also accepting and asking him to instruct Courtney to forfeit articles for a race at Washington about the 1st of December. Hanlan thinks that his conditions having been rejected by the Union Springsculler, the latter should now have an opportunity of formulating his terms, and if they are within reason there will be no doubt about their acceptance. Hanlan said to-night that he would go anywhere for a chance of meeting Courtney.

Col Gzowski and Mr. Walter Shanley have finished their inspection of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce, and will at once report to the Directors.

Burglars broke into the clothing store of H. Hibbell last night, and stole $200 worth of goods.

Weather stormy and snowing.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—A brakeman named Jones, lately from Portland, was knocked down while coupling cars on the G. T. R. at Scarboro' this evening, run over and killed, his body being horribly mangled.

LATEST FROM MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—A military walking match takes place here on Saturday evening.

Louis Ethier, a wood cutter, was killed while driving over a crossing of the M. O. & O. Railway by a passing train. He was hard of hearing, and the warning given by the train officials had no effect.

The volunteers will obtain leave from the authorities to visit Brooklyn next year, but without arms.

Mr. Hall, a lawyer of Sherbrooke, will contest the election on behalf of the Liberals against Hon. Treasurer Robertson.

A full cargo of cattle and sheep for England was taken by the steamship Ocean King, which left the port to-day.

A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Made

IS THE REMARK OF CUSTOMERS leaving our store daily, when they compare our prices with those of others in the trade who do but a limited business, and trade on the long prices system. Our motto is small loss from for the past seven years, quick sales and large profits, which, together with special attention to the wants of our customers, has secured for us the largest and most satisfactory trade in our line in the city. We only ask a call for the limited room in our store, but we promise to show our customers as low rates as one of the largest and finest stores in the Dominion.

Horner and Somerville,
CITY GROCERY.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

CANADIAN CURRENCY.

A man, name unknown, was killed on the Occidental Railway, near Mile Rest, Tuesday forenoon.

A case of attempted indecent assault occurred Tuesday night at a Yonge street hotel, one of the boarders breaking into the room occupied by the female servants, and there attempting an outrage.

Brantford Telegram.—From good authority we learn that Mr. David Maxwell, agricultural implement manufacturer, of Paris, has done one-third more business this year than he did last. Tally another for the N. P.

The Montreal and Quebec rubber companies have decided to make another advance of from 2½ to 5 per cent on rubber shoes. The advance is between 30 and 40 per cent. since the new tariff, and is as'd by some to be out of proportion to the advance in rubber.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

No decision has as yet been given in the North Ontario election appeal.

The Dominion Plumbago Company were yesterday put into insolvency. The liabilities of the Company are not known at present, but they are said to be large.

The West Hastings election trial has been again postponed, this time till Dec. 16, in order to hear the evidence of John Johnston, who is now absent.

The girl Ellis was acquitted of the charge of murdering Duncan McIntyre, whom she shot at "The Farm," a disreputable house near Belleville. The jury were out two hours.

Only one match of the Paris pigeon shooting tournament took place yesterday. First prize, E. Axton, $10; second, G. E. Heming, $6; third, H. Cotton, $4. All the remaining matches take place to day.

The gold mines in Beance county, Que., are to be vigorously worked. In addition to the works already reported, a contract has been awarded for the construction of a $25,000 dam at the Grand Falls of the Chaudiere, Beance, where the bed is supposed to be very rich.

In the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday, at Quebec, the Grand Jury asked the Court respecting the propriety of indicting the Mayor and Corporation of Quebec for illegal expenditure and misappropriation of the public funds. The Court did not consider it proper so to instruct the Grand Jury.

Yesterday afternoon, as Mr. Edward Murphy, of Tecumseh, was returning home from Rosemont, driving a span of high-spirited horses, one of the lines giving way, the horses ran against a telegraph pole, throwing him out against the fence, and causing such injuries as will probably prove fatal.

In the Supreme Court at Halifax, N. S., yesterday, before Judge Macdonald, the jury returned a verdict for seven thousand dollars damages for libel in the case of John Silver & Co. against the Dominion Telegraph Co., for falsely saying that the plaintiff had failed with heavy liabilities. An appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada will be made.

The annual fall cattle fair for Arkona came off yesterday. The weather was cold and stormy, and it was snowing. From two to three hundred head of cattle on the ground. Quite a number of buyers were present, and something over one hundred head changed hands at moderate prices. Taking the weather into consideration, the fair might be called a success.

Some startling spiritual manifestations are said to have taken place recently at Eddy's Match Factory, Hull. It was in the room where the finished matches are packed in paper boxes. Upon the middle of a large round table lay a pile of matches, and around it sat the girls at work. For a moment or two a cessation took place from some cause or other in the dances, and numbers of workers incantiously rested their hands on the table. This produced sundry currents of electricity, which caused the table to waltz around. One of the girls fainted, and the majority of the others were so severely frightened that they decline to work around that particular table any more.

MINOR AMERICAN TELEGRAMS.

Ann Atkinson, aged 39, suicided by hanging in the jail at Brooklyn, N. Y. last evening. She had been arrested an hour before for drunkenness.

Henri Carter, a New York variety actor with Harrison's Western Varieties, was found dead in bed at Albany, Ill., yesterday morning. He did it with morphine.

Alfred Cary, insurance agent, Fort Plain, N. Y., aged 30, shot himself yesterday. He was to have been married to an estimable Fort Plain lady to-morrow. Cause unknown.

Dennis A. Mahoney, editor and proprietor of the Dubuque Daily Telegraph, died yesterday morning of cancer of the stomach. He was founder of the first daily paper in Iowa, and his career was a most eventful one.

A dispatch from Singapore says the King of Siam has sent the decoration of the Golden Flower of Siam to Hon. Thaddeus Fairbanks, inventor of the platform scales. This is the first time that this decoration has ever been conferred on an American.

On Saturday, three Indian murderers, confined in the jail at Yakima, Washington Territory, assaulted the jailer with a sling shot, improvised with stone. He escaped to an adjoining room used as an armory. The Indians seized muskets and bayoneted him. The jailer got a revolver and shot all three. One was mortally wounded, and the others will probably live to be hanged on the 22nd inst. The jailer will recover.

CABLE NOTES.

It is reported that a plan is being elaborated for the purchase of the railways in Belgium by the State.

It is stated that Count Zichy is charged to give formal assurances to the Sultan of the friendly feelings of Austria.

A correspondent at Berlin reports that the Emperor telegraphed to Varzin Tuesday regarding Bismarck's health. The answer was not satisfactory.

M. Humbert will appeal to the Council of State against the annulment by the Prefecture of the Seine of his election as member of the Municipal Council.

A Berlin dispatch says the appearance of an English squadron in Syrian waters is likely to be succeeded by the dispatch of German and Austrian vessels of war to the Eastern Mediterranean.

The Austro Hungarian Ambassador to Turkey has suddenly returned to Constantinople, probably to assist in the energetic efforts now making to compel Turkey to fulfil her promises of reform.

A Berlin despatch says that the Duke of Brunswick, being desirous of securing the succession to the Duchy to Duke of Cumberland, intends to appoint him Co-regent. The consent of the Imperial Government of Germany will be necessary.

The London Stereoscopic and Photographic Company commenced proceedings against the Lord Mayor for slander, growing out of a scene in the Lord Mayor's Court recently, wherein a bookseller was summoned for exposing certain photographs.

SHIPPING.

London, Nov. 5.—Arrived out, Circassia and Italia.

New York, Nov. 5—Arrived, France, from Havre.

Halifax, Nov. 5.—Steamer Hibernian, from Liverpool, arrived at St. John's, Nfld., this afternoon, due here Friday evening.

...Several hundred students of the Michigan University marched in a body to Ann Arbor, with the avowed purpose of retaliating for the arrest of some of their number on the previous night. The Mayor had the alarm bells rung, a military company responded promptly, and ten of the rioters were put in jail.

The Free Press.

Thursday, November 6, 1879.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Mindigo Telegraphic Dispatches, published every morning, supplying the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western towns—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 9 o'clock, a. m., also finds a place in its columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is issued at 4 o'clock p.m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at TWO CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various newsdepots throughout the city, and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month.....$ 20
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid.....6 00

Send post office order when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to ingure attention, our subscribers wishing their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly names and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts made at following rates, per inch, in Daily:—

1 Day	$1 20	5 Days	$3 70	1 Month	$6 00
2 "	2 00	1 "	4 00	3 "	9 00
3 "	3 00	2 Weeks	4 00	3 "	12 00
4 "	3 40	3 "	5 00	6 "	20 00
One Year					$30 00.

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must be ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page.—First day 15c per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Births 25c, Marriages 50c, Deaths 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, headed, 15 cents a line; advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1.00 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long time advertisements.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News communications of interest by character is invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE EDITOR FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly mated and full postage paid to insure their delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless so requested and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' assume is invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON, ONTARIO.

WEST DURHAM.

As the time approaches in which the constituency of West Durham is to select a candidate to represent the Reform interest in the Riding, one would naturally expect a little ripple on the surface of political society in this favored section of Ontario. It is passing strange that the second doctor of the most distinguished member of the great Reform party, should be hailed with as little eclat as though he were an ordinary mortal like Mr. Mackenzie or Sir Richard John Cartwright. Where has gone his genius for making disturbing speeches? Never was there more need of a little yeast to set the masses a moving. Are we really to attribute this deathlike stillness that pervades Durham, and has seized on the Darkamites, to an indifference for the honor of being represented by the great man? Is not this Grit magnifico to Sir John Macdonald what Samson was to the gates of Gaza, what the rams' horns were to the walls of Jericho, and what Balaam's ass was to the prophet who rode him—we hope we quote our neighbor correctly—and yet this champion who returns to lead the saints to victory challenges no more notice from the people of the riding than if he were a butcher come to buy their bullocks.

Now, we are of the opinion that the fault is entirely his own. He might at least tickle their ears a little by showing what cause he had to play a double game with his leader, why he stabbed him under the fifth rib openly and deliberately at the first place in the House of Commons, when measures of the highest importance to the Government were about to be voted on—thus showing that the man in whom the Ontario Grits had, at the time, the greatest confidence, had no confidence in his leader nor in the measure which he had initiated—and why he should endeavor to cast contempt upon them before the people's representatives by an occasional sneer at his leader and his leader's peculiarities, especially in the domain of legislation.

Has the question of Imperial confederation lost all its charms, or has it become too stale for a man of original genius to meddle with at this time? Here we are within a fortnight of the nominations, and he has not yet given the electors a shaking up, so, not enough to arouse to action of a torpid liver! Will he not tell us something about the plans he has formed to make Canada the possessor of herself, and the controller of her own destinies? He has convinced that we have attained to our majority, and the electors of West Durham might like to be informed of what usage are to make of it when we have reached this interesting point in our national existence, and donned the toga virilis as sign of our determination to live up to our convictions of the responsibilities which Independence entails upon us.

The first thing which Mr. Blake ought to do is to place before the electors an explanation of who he is. Is Mr. Blake a Freeman, emancipated, disenthralled, freed from his shackles, or are we to regard him still as a mere gilly-donkey of Mr. George Brown? The electors are entitled to know this, and if his originality cannot furnish anything more with which to sow distrust, once in men's minds, he can at least let us know whether it is his intent, provided he obtains a seat in the Commons' House, to come to trouble Israel as he did before. He is crucified with possessing the brains of the party, and he himself submits quietly to the soft impeachment, and therefore we might well have expected from him before this time, a vivid delineation of that grand scheme by which he is to lead his followers to victory. The Opposition are without organization and without a platform of principles for their future guidance, by which to gain the confidence of the people. At the present time they may, if they choose, give him the nomination because he is Mr. Blake, but of this blind confidence they will soon tire, and therefore they have a right to know before placing him in such a position, what views he holds on the great questions of the day, and also how he stands affected towards the dictator of the Reform party. Let us hope that this silence indicates the intellectual close season with Mr. Blake, and that the result of this incubation on his part will startle the world as powerfully as did his Aurora bantling, which, though a prodigy at its birth, has not thriven since, and it is to-day regarded as weird and unearthly, rather than a thing of this world. Still we go in for another clutch, be they men or monsters, humsh or effin, it matters but little which.

Many a politician who resembles a sturdy oak in his native town, when he is testing his constituents what policy he proposes to pursue, becomes a mere willow when he reaches Ottawa and mingles with our great Canadian statesmen.

FORECAST OF DISEASE.

The Canadian Lancet for November contains an interesting paper returning to the benefits to be derived from the registration of the prevalence of disease. So far, the chief knowledge respecting the inroads made by diseases, the localities in which they prevail, and the peculiar forms they assume has been gathered from the returns of mortality. It is evident that such returns refer to past rather than to present conditions, and in that sense are valueless. What is aimed at by the proposed registration is, to indicate the presence and progress of disease as it exists, so that it may be provided against and intercepted where possible. The investigations of the past few years have shown that the state of the weather, or in more general terms, prevailing meteorological conditions, have an important bearing upon health, and now that it is possible to forecast the weather with extraordinary accuracy the public is able to anticipate a cold wave, a heated period, or a severe storm, and provide against either contingency. If, then, the current conditions of the weather could be tabulated with the fluctuations of disease, comparisons would after a short time be possible, showing in what respects health became affected by the constant changes that occur. We all know something of this already—that old age and infant life are affected prejudicially by the extreme cold. That sloppy and changeable weather develop throat and lung diseases, that the east wind pinches, the south wind enervates, and so forth. Yet there are many conditions affecting health which work in an occult manner. What paris, for example, do the magnetism of the earth and the electrical condition of the air play in regard to health? Is it likely that a magnetic storm can be in full, nay, terrific action immediately below our feet, and have no influence upon us? Can the electrical condition of the atmosphere in which we are immersed (somewhat after the fashion that fish are in the water) undergo rapid changes without affecting those that breathe it? Yet there are no records by which the results of these influences can be accurately traced. The proposed registration would be carried on by members of the medical profession in different parts of the country. The Government has been applied to by the Canada Medical Association to furnish the necessary blank forms, and permit the passage of them through the post free. Mr. Monk, of the Meteorological office, Toronto, is working up the subject during his leisure moments in a painstaking manner, and it may be expected that in a short time a sufficient basis for action will have been arrived at. Meanwhile, it would be well if the members of the medical profession would take a lively interest in its movement. By this means concurrent observations made at different places would soon throw much light upon that which is now obscure. The art of cure is excellent in its way, but sanitary science is directing its efforts to prevention, which is far better. The step now proposed is an important one in that direction, and we have little doubt that the Dominion Government will lend its aid to sustain and promote it.

The British Foreign Office has issued a correspondence respecting the condition of the population of Asia Minor and Syria. It comprises seventy-nine despatches Sir Henry Layard, writing to the Marquis of Salisbury, says he has on several occasions brought to His Lordship's notice that an attempt is being made to create an "Armenia" in Asiatic Turkey, which Europe or Russia was to form into an autonomous province, and ultimately into an independent State. Sir Henry Layard proceeds—"I have warned the Porte over and over again that unless it speedily introduced the reforms to which it has pledged itself in the Asiatic dominions of the Sultan, and can secure the protection and the just and equal government of the populations, the question of an Armenian nationality, and even of other nationalities, may be raised, which will probably add in further diminishing the authority and territory of His Majesty." Consul-General Wilson gives a favorable view of the state of affairs in Anatolia. Mr. Wilson specially urges the formation of a disciplined corps of gendarmerie in that province. The state of the courts of justice, he says, leaves much to be desired. The judges, though in theory elected by the people, are really nominated by the local government, or the seats in them are sold. Bribery and corruption are the rule, and retention in or escape from prison is frequently a matter of bribery. The most urgent reform needed by the people, however, is relief from the merciless robbery of tax collectors and the grasping avarice of money lenders.

Inquiries which the London correspondent of an Irish journal has caused to be made at Camden House, lead to the belief that there is substantial foundation for the rumor respecting the Empress Eugenie's resolve to visit the spot in Zululand which has been restored with the blood of her much regretted but ill fated son, the Prince Imperial. Remonstrances by those who consider themselves most privileged to address the Empress on the subject have been urged against the pious parental pilgrimage, but the widowed and childless mother, regarding it as a matter of duty to offer up prayers for the repose of the soul of him she loved so tenderly, and on the ground where his life was sacrificed, declines to be influenced by reason or argument, and very soon after she returns to Chiselhurst from Scotland arrangements will be commenced for the journey. It is said by any means impossible that one of Her Majesty's steam yachts may be placed at the disposal of the Empress for the accomplishment of the voyage to Durban.

At the conventions of Associations for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held in Gotha, Germany, the characteristically German suggestion was made, and it was adopted by the convention as one of the resolutions, that it is better to make men humane, and thus desirous of their own accord of treating the brute creation kindly, than, having permitted them to become cruel, to endeavor to deter them from the infliction of cruelties by penal laws; and therefore, going to the root of things, that a general plan should be devised of instilling into children in all the schools of the country, at an early age, feelings of gentleness and humanity toward the lower animals, to which end the co-operation of teachers should be sought. Associations in eighty-four different cities were represented in the convention.

A literary property was sold the other day in London, which strikingly illustrates the vicissitudes of literary speculation. The Hornet was put up and knocked down for one hundred pounds and a few shillings. It was started seven or twelve years ago. At two years old it was returning as many thousands a year; at three it had declined, and was sold for four thousand pounds. To shorten the tale, stinging feebly, it went from bad to worse, until a few months ago, when the Westminster Association, whose affairs are in chancery, bought it for fifteen hundred pounds. Since then good writing has appeared in it, but not Petrarch nor Burns could galvanize into vitality the dying sheet, which went, with fixtures, plant, and goodwill, for a hundred.

A London correspondent writes:—"The dairy show in London drew crowds of visitors. The show included not only butter and cheese, but also cattle, goats, dairy utensils and poultry. All the cheeses of the world were on exhibition, and the American and Canadian products attracted considerable attention. Even Russia is now coming into the market as a manufacturer, and produces a cheese similar to the old cannon Dutch cheese. The annual produce of English dairies is about 125 000 tons of cheese, and 90,000 tons of butter; while the importation is 98 300 tons of cheese, of which America sends 58,000 tons, and 89,770 tons of butter.

THE ALASKA BOUNDARY.

The dispute between this country and the United States in reference to the Alaska boundary is shortly to come up for settlement. It involves important interests in British Columbia, and upon its adjustment will depend in a great measure the future amicable relations of the two countries. The records of our American neighbors in the San Juan award, which was made in their favor by the Emperor of Germany, has emboldened them somewhat in regard to the claims set up on the northern border of British Columbia, and no doubt they will tenaciously insist on the demands which have been made. Not long ago the Americans were in the habit of depreciating the territory which had been acquired in Secretary Seward's time at a cost of $7,000,000, and it must be said that at the time the purchase was made there was my more solid ground for the acquisition than the prospect of one day getting hold of the entire coast of the Pacific by the seizure or cession of British Columbia. Gradually, however, the value of Alaska, as a fur-bearing and fish producing region, came to be better understood. Its climate also was found to be very much more favorable than was at first supposed. Instead of a perpetual iceberg, inhabited only by a few blubber eating barbarians, Alaska, at least its southern part, embracing a very large district, is now known to be salubrious, and suitable for agriculture, being similar in many respects to the adjoining Canadian Province. It so happens, too, that the British Columbia miners on their way to and from the Cassiar gold fields, are obliged to pass through the territory of Alaska, thus creating a highway which is probably embraced in the grounds of dispute. It will be seen that the question has important bearings, which will not be lost sight of by our Government when the subject comes to be discussed.

Probably a man of gentlemanlike appearance would have very little difficulty in attending a large party without an invitation in almost any great city, and many years ago it was done in London for well night a whole season without the offender, who went in the most fashionable halls being brought to book. At length, however, he was "spotted" at Devonshire House, then the ne plus ultra of ton. The Duke noticed him and asked several friends if they knew him. Nobody had the honor, but several had seen him about and wondered who the d—l he was. His Grace then sent his Secretary to say that the Duke would like to have the pleasure of knowing the stranger's name, and the murder was out. He was requested to go home in two hours, to suppose that he came with any other motive than to amuse himself. At Lady Palmerston's famous receptions no one was announced, but the hostess trusted to her memory and also to a corps of young men about town, who were always at hand to do her behests. Lord Salisbury's grandmother—a famous old party giver, who used to scandalize the proper by her Sunday card parties—used to employ Townshend, the famous "Bow Street Runner," as London detectives were called in those days, to watch her guests. Townshend used to say that he knew every girl in London when she had been out a season.

The revision of the Bible, now nearly completed, has been a far more expensive work than most persons imagine. There are fifty two members of the Committee and these meet for five days in every three weeks. No salary is paid to any of them but they are allowed their travelling and inn expenses. These, with other items, will bring the cost of the first edition of the Revised Bible, as estimated by the University Press Company, which is responsible for it, to about $200,000, and consequently it has been determined to sell the first few copies at a high price. The new Bible will receive no "authorization" either from Parliament or Convocation. It has been discovered incidentally during the sitting of the Committee that the so-called Authorised Version never was, in fact, authorised either ecclesiastically or politically. It made its way by its own merits, and the Revised Bible, is expected to do the same.

Russia's eagerness to plant a firm hold upon Badakshan and the western border of China is now wholly political. The vast stores of rubies, and lapis lazuli contained by the former, and the mines of iron, coal, copper, silver, lead and petroleum, with which the latter abounds are likewise a strong inducement. Moreover, the richest of rich gold fields which, tempted the wish of Peter the Great, and which at present supported by the name of "Zar Afghan" (gold bearing), given to the river that drains the Samarcand Valley, seem likely to be realized. Russian merchants report the successful practice of "panwashing" by the Chinese in several of the harder rivers, and the existence of antifer ous quartz, though to a limited extent, has been proved by the explorers of the Thian Shan Mountains. With such hopes, Russia may well cling to Kuldja and Kashgar.

Mr. W. E. Forster said in an after dinner speech the other evening that before the school cessions of England was taken there was no idea of the multitude of children who were untaught. Before the School Boards came into operation teachers were being argued against the pious parental plea, but the widowed and childless mother, regarding it as a matter of duty to offer up prayers for the repose of the soul of him she loved so tenderly, and on the ground where his life was sacrificed, declines to be influenced by reason or argument, and very soon after she returns to Chiselhurst from Scotland arrangements will be commenced for the journey. It is said by any means impossible that one of Her Majesty's steam yachts may be placed at the disposal of the Empress for the accomplishment of the voyage to Durban.

It is said that the Emperor Alexander of Russia has become a confirmed hypochondriac. He shuts himself up for days, and can with difficulty be persuaded to take food, which must be left at his chamber door. He frequently bursts into tears, and is afflicted with strange dreams. On the nights when these seize him two doctors sit up in his bedroom. In short, it is supposed he is mentally affected, and his long seclusion at Livadia, it is believed, is to be devoted to a system of treatment which will either kill or cure.

London Life:—"The Princess Louise will remain in England until March, when she will return to Canada, and in the summer will proceed, accompanied by the Marquis of Lorne, on a tour through Manitoba. Though the Marquis of Lorne hopes to be able to join the Princess in England at Christmas, it is not certain that he will be able to do so, and, even should he succeed in getting away from Canada, he would not, it is thought, be in a position to remain for any length of time at home."

The London New Quarterly Review has discovered that in the United States the degeneration of the wisdom teeth has gone further than in any European country, and that the jaws are abnormally short; that the lower jaw is apt to be rather "undershung," and that it is becoming a common practice to remove some of the molar teeth of children, as the jaw does not grow large enough to hold the proper number.

Melbourne is unhappy about the supply of female servants; they are very short in number). A lady in one of its suburbs advertising was answered by a young and pretty maid, with unexceptionable references, a pleasing manner, and a willing disposition. The lady was glad enough to get her. "But I have always had a whole day's leave every fortnight," the young girl remarked, "and an evening a week besides." "You shall not be deprived of that," was the reply. "And this is a very lonely place, ma'am," the girl rejoined, "and I could not come home by myself; would the master mind coming for me?" There was a single in the lady's mind, but a good servant is not to be picked up every day, and she consented. And now that wretched master has to refuse all invitations for two nights in one week and one night in the other, that he may faithfully fulfil the duties which the head of his household has thrust upon him.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN NOTES.

The Crown Prince of Germany celebrated his forty eighth birthday on the 19th of October.

The house in which Garibaldi was born, at Nice, is about to be pulled down to allow of the construction of a port.

It is said that the withdrawal of the Bodega of Evans' Supper rooms, in London, will result in a loss of $50 000 a year to that establishment.

The Russian missionaries in Japan having succeeded in converting 4,000 Japanese to their faith, a Bishop is to be sent to Jeddo by the St. Petersburg Synod.

Passenger motion has been discovered again. This time in Liverpool. It goes by water, and can be made to "produce power sufficient to drive all the engines in Liverpool."

Water recently broke into the tunnel which the Great Western Railway is constructing under the Severn, and the two headings of which were expected to meet in a short time, and the accident will cause a delay of six or eight months in the work.

The experiment of lighting the reading room of the British Museum by electricity began on the 30th of October, and is to continue until March. There are four lamps of 5,000 candle power, and the brilliancy of the illumination is said to excel that of daylight.

Miss Sara Bernhardt is devoting herself with great ardor to painting in the studio of M. Alfred Stevens, having for the moment abandoned sculpture for the sister art. She is working hard at a picture intended for the coming Salon; it represents a young girl picking the leaves from roses, while Death is leaning toward her to seize her in his grasp.

A project for a tunnel under the River Mersey, between Liverpool and Birkenhead, has taken definite shape. Its estimated cost is £500 000, and the Liverpool Town Council, the Mersey Docks and Harbor Board, the railways having termini at Birkenhead, and the Birkenhead Town Council, are expected to co-operate in the enterprise, for which the necessary powers are to be asked of Parliament at the next session.

An Italian soldier, named Mariotti, and recently to be taken to a hospital in Florence for sickness, and was discovered to be a woman. She entered the army at the beginning of the struggle with Austria, in 1866, to save her brother, a married man with six children, and had served ever since, receiving a medal for bravery in the Austrian war. King Humbert presented her with the cross of his order, and directed her discharge on a pension.

Ayuntamiento publish the returns of the last census made in Greece. The population of the Kingdom, which in 1870 was 1,457,894, had risen in 1879 to 1,679,775, an increase of 221,881. In 1836, when the first census was made, the number of inhabitants was 850,000, so that it has almost doubled in 40 years. In 1870 Athens had a population of 48,000 souls; in 1879 it had augmented to 74,000 souls, and the Piræus, which at the former date had 11,000, has now 32,000. About half a century ago Athens was only a village, and the Piræus did not exist as a town.

The Paris Temps describes Marshal Mazzuffel's visit to Metz as a series of difficulties. Scarcely anybody was in the streets, and those who were there turned their backs on seeing him approach, or looked steadily in the shop windows. The silence was only broken by the occasional cry of "Vive la France!" At the hotel he found heaps of letters acquainting him with the true sentiments of the inhabitants, and on receiving the authorities at the prefecture, he declared, in a threatening tone and striking his sword in a significant manner, that he would tolerate no intrigue with the foreigner.

"I have those Hibernian sneezboxes," says "Atlas," of the London World, "when they are new and true and characteristic. Here is the latest. I have added to a tolerably extensive repertory:—An angry bellman burst into a police court at Limerick, muttering incoherently and gesticulating violently. 'What d've want, in the name of goodness?' asked the magistrate. 'Justice!' ship shrieked. 'Arrah! look at the hour it is,' petulantly answered His Worship, who was getting hungry; 'it's four o'clock. I tell ye, an' divel a bit more justice any body will get from this binch to-day.'"

The Paris Gaulois thus states the determination of the ex Empress Eugenie to make a pilgrimage to Zululand:—"Very important intelligence reaches us from Scotland, the Empress Eugenie has just formed a great resolution, which has been dictated to her by her inconsolable grief for the loss of her son. She is about to start for Zululand, where she will kneel and pray on the spot which has been bedewed with the blood of her ill fated son. The Empress's determination is irrevocable, and the representations of New York. She is the inventor and friends and followers have had to yield to the formal wish of the august exile.

Fans the London World:—"If the shade of Albert Smith were permitted to revisit the glimpses of the gaslight, he would be astonished to learn the change in the condition of the ballet-girl, whom he loved so wisely and so well, and whose history he wrote with such chivalrous earnestness. It is understand that the ballet at Sadler's Wells is composed of the impoverished daughters of gentlemen, who are compelled to get their own living, and who are glad to earn £1 a week in this position. Among them, perhaps, are to be found in embryo the Nellcons, the Terrys, the Footes of the future. I am sure that, under Mrs. Bateman's kindly care, they will have no reason to complain of the stage door being beleaguered.

SCOTTISH ITEMS.

The fines imposed on the gamblers recently arrested in a billiard room in the city of Edinburgh amount to £180.

The East and Coutches of Strafford and Warrington and party had a picnic on the top of Calrngorm on the 6th October.

Mr. Peter Banks, S. S. C., keeper of the rolls of the First Division of the Court of Session, died at his residence in Edinburgh recently, at the age of 67.

The Earl of Aberdeen has resolved to construct, at a cost of about £55,000, a railway through his property in East Aberdeenshire from Udny to Methlick.

John Hume, laborer, was charged before the Justice of Peace Court at Alloa with carrying a gun without a license. Accused pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to pay the mitigated penalty of £5.

The public health returns for last week show a death rate of 19 per 1,000, or a total of 31 deaths. Scarlatina has been the most prevalent among zymotic diseases. There have been 37 births during the week.

An action has been signated, in which the liquidators of the City of Glasgow Bank sue the directors of the bank for payment, jointly and severally, or severally, of four sums, amounting in all to £6 931,000.

It has been decided, by a number of Scotch observatives, to raise a penny subscription for the purpose of presenting Mr. Gladstone with a new coat, in connection with his approaching visit to Midlothian.

There are nearly a score of plants of Adam's Needle (Yucca Gloriosa) in flower at present in the Botanical Gardens. Such a number of specimens of this state by American Lilliaceous plant in flowers at one time is a sight rarely seen in this country. Many of the plants measure 8 to 10 feet in height.

John Oliver, a plateman in the employment of the North British Railway Company, died in the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary recently from injuries received at North Leith Station. He was engaged coupling waggons to a train, when the engine was put in motion, and before he had time to get out of the way, was struck in the abdomen by one of the waggons. He only survived six hours after. Deceased resided in Hermitage Place, Leith.

Recently, in the Sheriff Court, Robert Nicol Maclear, ship chandler, Dock street, was called in order to be examined in bankruptcy. Mr. William Shiven, accountant, the trustee, and his agent, Mr. Simpson, were present. The bankrupt failed to appear, and on the request of Mr. Simpson the Sheriff granted warrant for his apprehension. The assets of the bankrupt amount to £1062 8s 4d, and his liabilities to £3116 6s 6d. The estate shows an apparent dividend of 5s 7½d per £1. It is supposed that the bankrupt has left the country.

A very painful accident occurred at the railway goods station at Port Glasgow recently. A telegraph boy named John Wilson, 14 years of age, son of Henry Wilson, a rafter, employed in the Wemyss Bay junction, was sent to the goods station to inquire as to the delay of a mineral train. On returning on an engine he jumped off on the up line, and it is supposed that owing to the fog he did not observe the approach of the 7.30 a. m. train from Greenock, which struck him, and killed him on the spot. His head was smashed, and his brains scattered on the line. He had been nine months in his present situation.

The High Church, formerly part of St. Giles Cathedral, Edinburgh, was re-opened recently after having been closed for a couple of months. In the course of that time what are known as the Preston and Chaplain Aisles at the southern side of the cathedral have been thrown into the church, and progress so far made with the entire restoration of the edifice, which has been undertaken by Dr. William Chambers. On the occasion of the re-opening special services were held in the church, the pulpit being occupied in the forenoon by the Rev. Dr. Lees, minister of the parish; in the afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Stewart, North Leith, and in the evening by the Rev. Mr. Kennedy, of Trinity College Church.

UNITED STATES ITEMS.

The startling sudden deaths of Senator Chandler, General Hooker, and Jacob Abbott, the author, bring forcibly to mind the fact that the list of distinguished American names that already swell the death-roll of 1879 is unusually large.

David Dixon and Mary Swinton were to have been married at 9 o'clock in the afternoon, at Sheboygan, Wis. An hour earlier, he and others were in her room where the finishing touches were being put on her toilet. An old pistol lay on her bureau. He supposed it unloaded, playfully snapped it at her, and shot her dead.

Henry Ward Beecher once wrote a letter to the Government in behalf of Franklin D. Woodruff, at present running for Mayor of Brooklyn. "That letter," he now says in a note to the Brooklyn papers, "was based upon statements made to me by Mr. Moulton and Mr. Woodruff at the time when I believed implicitly in their honor and honesty."

Quite a little excitement has been created recently in religious circles at Olean, N. J., because the Rev. E. M. Chrtis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, "enjoys hunting too well, is to free and unreserved with everybody, wears a slouch hat, doesn't chide the young for dancing at private parties, and isn't sufficiently deferential to the elders of the church." The older members called for his resignation. This he has twice tendered, but the congregation have twice refused to accept it, in the last case by a majority of two-thirds.

Miss Helen M. McDonald, of Boston, has won the suit she has been prosecuting in person in the United States circuit court for $10,000 damages. She was ever argued a case in the United States circuit court. Under this decision her patent will have great commercial value as long as the present fashion of ladies' dresses continues.

What Stanley is Doing.

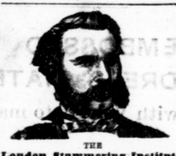
From the London Telegraph, Oct. 28.

All alike will be interested in the following extract from a letter which has just been received from Mr. Stanley, the famous African explorer, by an intimate friend. The letter is dated from Banana Point, at the mouth of the Congo River, September 15, and says:—"All this year I have been very busy, and have worked hard. I have equipped one expedition on the East Coast; have reconstructed another—namely, the International, of whose misfortunes we have heard so often, and have explored personally several new districts on the East Coast. Having finished my work satisfactorily to myself, my friends, and those who sent me, I came through the Mediterranean and round to this spot, where I arrived two years and four months ago, and glorious day on which we sighted old Ocean after our rash descent of the Livingstone. And now I begin another mission seriously and deliberately, with a grand object in view. I am charged to open—and keep open, if possible—all such districts and countries as I may explore for the commercial world. The mission is supported by a philanthropic society which numbers noblemindedness of several nations. It is not a religious society, but my instructions are entirely of that spirit. No violence must be used, and wherever practiced the mission must withdraw to seek another field. We have abundant means, and therefore we are to purchase the very atmosphere, if any demands be made upon us, rather than violently oppose them. In fact, we must freely buy of all and every, rather than resent, and you know the sailor's commandment—'Obey orders if it breaks owners'—is easier to keep than to stand upon one's rights. This is a principle which I have always attempted to follow, but frequently the demands were so exhortionate that they exceeded the value of my property. However, this time a chief must have a large mouth indeed that cannot be filled with good things. A year's trial will demonstrate whether progress can be made and tolerance be granted under this new system. In some regions experience tells me the plan may work wonders. Grant it succeeds everywhere! I have 15 Europeans and about 200 natives with me. It is too early yet to say much of them; but most of the natives are not worth their rations. However, patience! We shall see what time will make of us all, and how it will mould us all anew for the good work." Who is there in Great Britain that will not wish well to this new enterprise, which thus peacefully seeks to reap for commerce and civilization the fruit of the splendid discoveries effected in Central Africa by this illustrious traveller?

A way to prevent a duel has been shown by a spirited woman near Berlin, Germany. Principals, seconds and an army surgeon were on the ground, and the pistols were loading, when the lady suddenly drove up to the place of meeting, stepped up to her husband's second, snatched a pistol from his hand, and directing its muzzle toward her bosom, declared that she would kill herself unless the projected duel was given up. The whole party returned peaceably to Berlin.

When dentists discover a way to pull teeth without making a man wish he had been born a hen, life will have twice as much brightness.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.



RHEUMATISM
CURED IN 12 HOURS.
Brunton's Rheumatic Absorbent
IS WARRANTED TO GIVE IMMEDIATE RELIEF!
and effect a permanent cure in 24 hours. Sold by all druggists.
PRICE.....50 CENTS

Post Office Notice!
TO-DAY BEING A
GENERAL HOLIDAY
The Post Office will be open from 9 to 10 a.m. only.
The early morning mails will close as usual—others at 10 a.m.
Strope Letter Boxes will be cleared before 8 a.m., and before 10 a.m.
Anything mailed at the Letter Box, G. W. R. Station, will be in time for 8 p.m. Offices passing East and West.
There will be only the morning delivery by Letter Carriers.
L. LAWLESS,
Postmaster.
London P. O., Ont., 5th Nov., 1879. 47

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE
Grand Double Bill THANKSGIVING DAY.
Thursday, Nov. 6th.
—DRAW 2—
THE BOHEMIAN GIRL
To conclude with the OLD FOLKS' CONCERT. Prices of admission as usual. KH

OPERA HOUSE.
FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 7th, 1879.
COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT TO A. D. Holman on which occasion
EDWARD HANLAN,
Champion Sculler of the World, will appear and exhibit the Sportsman English Championship Cup.
Secured seats at Murray's. 45tf

Y.M.C.A.
VICTORIA HALL.
Grand Opening of the Season Course for 1879-80,
FriDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1879
MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS,
OF HER OWN CELEBRATED
DRAMATIC RECITALS,
who has been won for her a brilliant reputation, and made her personally a household word throughout the world.
Single reserved seat tickets, now on sale at Nicholson's music store, at $1.00.
Reserved seats in gallery, 50c.
Plan of the hall open on and after Mon. 8 at Nicholson's Music Store.
N.B.—Course tickets still on sale at $2.50 admit Commencing at 8 p.m.

THE London Stammering Institute,
131 MAPLE STREET.
TESTIMONIAL.
I have been troubled with a very bad impediment in speech for many years. A few days ago I placed myself under treatment at the London Stammering Institute, and I am highly pleased with the result. By the use of Prof. Sutherland's method I can speak with perfect ease and without fear of stammering. I most unhesitatingly recommend Prof. Sutherland to all speech defects. For myself I would say that I have found him up to his promises in every respect.
Kingsville, Nov. 1, 1879. JAMES McKAY, Jr.

NOTICE OF
Dissolution of Copartnership.
THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE existing between the undersigned, and carried on in London, Ont., under the name of Boyd, Watson & Co., has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. Henry Jonathan Hodgson, Alexander Boyd and James Boyd Watson retiring. The business, under the same name of
BOYD, WATSON & CO
will be continued by James Watson and George Boyd, to whom all debts are to be paid, and who will pay all liabilities.
Dated this first day of November, 1879.
Witness: JAS. GARDNER, Clerk. JONATHAN HODGSON, J. S. HENDERSON, ALEXANDER BOYD, JAMES BOYD WATSON, GEORGE BOYD.
A. J. DARCH, Notary Public.

MORE
NEW GOODS.
6 cases French China Cups and Saucers.
3 cases French Playing Cards.
1 case French Foreign Note.
3 cases Eight-Window Shades.
3 cases Odd Sizes of Envelopes.
1 case Toy Castors.
3 cases New Tops.
2 cases Walnut Writing Desks.
1 case Photograph Albums, cheap grades
&c., &c., &c.
At Bryce's Depots
168 and 215
DUNDAS STREET, LONDON, ONT
LATELY RECEIVED
—AT—
W. L. CARRIE'S
417
Richmond Street,
FRESH IMPORTATIONS OF HYDE & CO'S AND STEPHENS' BLUE-BLACK WRITING FLUIDS
—AND—
COPYING INKS,
India Black Ink, Violette Noir Ink, School Ink, the Celebrated Bludoo Red Ink.
DAILY OFFICE JOURNALS for 1880
London, October 31, 1879. 45tf
SUPERIOR MATTRESS FACTORY—Mattresses of all kinds kept on hand or made to order. Old Mattresses relined and Feather Beds renovated by patent steam process.—JAMES HOWE, English Packing House, Talbot street, London.

Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats, Fine
FINE ULSTERS,
FINE ULSTERS,
FINE UL
Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes, Fine
In all the newest and most fashionable goods, made and trimmed Don't pay merchant tailors high prices for Overcoats made to order.
to $15 by going from us, get as well made and trimmed a garment, and better fit. Our stock is immense and our assortment unequalled.
Nobby Ulsters and Ulsterettes at $10, $12 and $15. Special attention is Reversible Overcoats, two coats in one, the nobblest garment of the season at them.
C. R. MABLEY,
Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dep and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward
DETROIT, MI

Sales by Auction
MORTGAGE SALE
—OF—
VALUABLE
Freehold Property.
UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF
The power of sale contained in a mortgage made by Thomas Lewis to the vendor, which will be produced at the time of sale, default having been made in the payment of the money secured by the said mortgage, there will be offered for sale by Public Auction, by Messrs. Macvitie & Brough, at their auction rooms, Dundas street, in the City of London, on the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon,
On Saturday, the 22nd Day of November, A.D. 1879.
the following desirable Farm Lands, that is to say:—
PARCEL 1.—The north half of Lot Number Two, in the Tenth Concession of the Township of London, in the County of Middlesex, containing 102 acres, more or less.
PARCEL 2.—The southwest quarter of Lot number Three, in the Eleventh Concession of the said Township of London, containing fifty acres, more or less.
On the first of the above-mentioned parcels there is a large dwelling house and also a good frame barn. There are on the second parcel about twenty acres cleared and twenty acres timbered with hardwood timber. On both of the said premises are well fenced.
On the second parcel there is a good bearing log house and frame stable. There are about forty acres cleared and in a high state of cultivation, the rest being timber. The premises are well fenced.
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE.—Ten per cent of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale; the balance of four thousand dollars (which five per cent interest) to be secured by a mortgage on the lands, payable in five years, with interest.
Further particulars will be made known on the day of sale, or on application to the auctioneers, or MACVITIE & BROUGH,
MANVILLE & BROWN,
Vendor's Solicitors.
Dated at London this 5th day of November, A.D. 1879. 45tw2-tu-th

Sparkling Saumur
CHAMPAGNE
Carte D'Or
Carte Bleue,
Carte Noir,
IMPORTED DIRECT
which we can sell at
LOWER PRICES
than have ever been offered.
Fitzgerald,
Scandrett
& Co'y
169 DUNDAS STREET,
4th door east Richmond St.
London, Sept. 27, 1879. sodly

OREGON
Silver Mining Company
OF UTAH.
LIMITED LIABILITY.
CAPITAL, $1,000,000.
A limited amount of Stock proposed to be sold for working capital in our offices for as low as each $10 share.
The Oregon Silver Mine has been developed sufficiently to prove beyond a doubt that it is a valuable property and believe the investment one of the safest ever offered.
Further particulars and copies of latest reports can be had from the undersigned.
Corporate Officers:
JAS A MASON, President.
SAML GLASS, Vice-President.
WM BLAKE, Secretary.
JOHN BEATTIE, Treasurer.
W. BOWMAN, Manager.
And 67 G M GUNN, Treasurer, at the Company's Office, Richmond Street, adj

THE CAPTIVE CHIEF.

Gotewayo Penitent and Anxious to be Kindly Treated.

Cape Town Correspondence of the London Times.

At noon yesterday the ex King was visited by Sir Bartle Frere, attended by the Hon. Mr Littleton, his private secretary; Capt. Hallam Parr, military secretary, and Lieut. Dalrymple, aide de camp. Later in the day the Premier, Mr. Gordon Sprigg, and Mr. Miller, Treasurer-General, visited the royal captive's quarters to see if the arrangements for his accommodation were satisfactory. During the course of the Premier's interview, Gotewayo, through Mr. Longcast, the interpreter, talked with apparent frankness of many incidents of the war. From the accounts his people gave him, it seems they grossly exaggerated the English losses and magnified the Zulu successes in all the engagements which occurred. He acknowledged, however, he had done wrong in allowing his people to fight with us. "Chaka," he said, "was a child of the British Government. I was also a child and subject. My father, the Government, came to chastise me for my wrong-doing. I caught the stick with which he wished to beat me, and broke it. I did wrong to fight with him, and I am punished. I am no longer a king; but the English, I think, are a great people; they do not kill those who have fought with them. I am satisfied to be in their hands. I hope the great Queen will pardon me and allow me to return to my country, and give me a place to build myself a kraal where I may live. I am sorry I did not follow the advice of my father, Panda, on his death-bed; he told me to live at peace with the English, and never make war with them. When informed it was the wish of our Government to treat him with every consideration, and never to want for any necessary comforts, he expressed his thanks, and asked that some of his favorite wives (naming ten, might be sent for to be with him, in addition to those already here. His mind was at once relieved on this head, for they had nobody to look after them now, and he felt lonely without their companionship. He further begged that his case might be put before the great Queen as favorable a light as possible, and asked how many days it would take to send a letter over sea. He said he could not sleep happy than he had hitherto done. Gotywayo personal appearances is quite satisfactory of the dismal pictures which have appeared in the pictorial press. He is an exceptionally fine specimen of the Zulu race, as regards size, and about 40 years of age, standing nearly six feet high, of well proportioned and fully-developed frame, with a good-natured, broad, open face of the prominent Zulu type. Mpilo Pool speaks favorably of his general accomplishments, and says he has given little trouble except on one or two occasions, when he showed a sulky disposition, and demanded to have an antelope roasted for his daily rations. While in Simon's Bay he was taken on board her Majesty's ship Boadicea, and over the ship through their drill. He expressed wonder and admiration of everything remarking, "I was only born yesterday."

The Sphygmophone.

From the London Standard, Oct 31.

At the first meeting last night of the one hundred and seventy-first year of the Medical Society of London, and address of the learned societies of medicine in England, after a short introductory address by Dr. Clocket, M. A., F.R.C.P., Sir Richard Owen brought before the meeting a new instrument he has designed, which bids fair to find a large field of use in diagnosing diseases of the circulatory system. It consists of an ingenious combination of the sigmograph, by which the beating of the pulse is graphically delineated on paper, the microphone, which magnifies sound, and the telephone, which so marvelously enhances the power of hearing, and its office is to render the beating of the pulse distinctly audible. The clock part of the sigmograph is replaced by a microphonic clock, the working power is a small biohm mate battery, a signophone, then a rest for the wrist, and finally a Bell telephone. The principle is that when the pulse is working the needle a series of motions are made along the microphonic slide instead of along a gut, and the sounds thus produced are communicated from the microphone to the telephone. By modifying the battery power, the intensity of the sounds can be increased so as to be heard 20 yards from the instrument, or as diminished as to be quite inaudible to a patient, and to require that the physician shall apply the telephone to his ear to be able to distinguish them. In its present stage of development, Dr. Richardson said the sphygmophone was not so applicable to the cardiac as to the wrist pulse, but he had almost arrived at an instrument which he anticipated would indicate failure of chest movement in particular parts of the chest. An experiment with the instrument was then made, and the sound of the pulse, beating at the wrist of one of the gentlemen present made audible with different degrees of intensity. Dr. Richardson then gave an account of his own experience with the instrument in specially indicating palpitation, aortic insufficiency, increased and deficient arterial relaxations, partial intermission, and anæmia and his reasons for believing that its use would throw increased light on these derangements of the circulation.

Rough Weather at Sea.

FURIOUS HURRICANES REPORTED BY OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

From the N. Y. Times 4th.

Nearly all of the vessels arriving at this port continue to report severe weather at sea. The steamship Germanic arrived from Cardiff yesterday morning, after a stormy passage of 17 days. On the 29th, when off Sable Island, she met with a hurricane from the south. The wind rapidly went around to north by way of east and caused a terrible cross sea, in which the steamer labored violently, shipping great quantities of water. Everything movable was washed from the decks, and the stanchions and rails were injured in several places. The wind at one time suddenly died out, and was succeeded by a calm of only fifteen minutes' duration. The hurricane then returned with redoubled fury, the wind going round to west and blowing still harder than before. Captain Newell found his vessel too light to steer against the heavy wind and sea, and he was obliged to heave her to.

The steamship Bristol, which arrived from Bristol yesterday, was also 17 days in crossing the Atlantic. On the 26th she met with a hurricane, of 10 hours' duration, off Sable Island. The wind first came from the southeast, and then chopped around to the southwest, making a heavy confused sea. Tremendous waves washed over the decks of the steamship. Several of the life-boats were smashed to pieces, and considerable other damage was done before the storm ceased. The Hamburg steamship Cimbria, which reached port late Sunday night, encountered a great deal of very bad weather, as did the Spain, of the National Line, which arrived from Liverpool yesterday. The ship Stamboul, from London, which was among yesterday's arrivals, was 71 days west of the Banks of Newfoundland, and experienced strong westerly gales.

A Real Thanksgiving Day.

From the Rural New Yorker.

The year is drawing to its close—growing aged, so to speak. One can almost look through it and see the shadow of 1880. After a long period of depression, everything again looks bright for our favored land—favored as few other lands are favored upon the face of the earth. Individuals, households, and as must ever be, have had their sorrows and sufferings to bear; but the nation in its history has never been placed under a heavier load of obligation to Him who directs the sunshine and the rain—the germinating plants and their maturing fruits. It is with a saddened feeling that one sees in some of our home journals an ill disguised satisfaction that we must be the gainers for the depression in other countries. We have enough to be thankful for without the heaping measures which the sufferings of others may for a time secure us. The National Day of Thanksgiving draws nigh. If we would have it a day of true thanksgiving, let us, while we rejoice over our own abundance, heartily sympathize with those who, from no apparent insertions or faults of their own, are denied of their daily bread.

Italian Prisons

SOME RECENT QUARTERS AND CURIOUS TREATMENT FOR CRIMINALS.

Rome Correspondence of the London News.

Cursed be the man," said an Italian citizen beside me in the Court of Assize the other day, who included exterminating circumstances. Then he turned from the speaker to the male prisoner in the dock, and contemplated his cool, self-possessed demeanor under the most irrefragable proofs of his guilt. I could not help agreeing with my interlocutor, who had already foreseen the regulation verdict of Italian juries, and the sentence it would inspire in the prisoner that his neck at least was safe.

Even under the conditions of penal servitude the convict has much to solace him. Come with me to the vast prison of Civita Vecchia, and let us see how the prisoners there get through the twelve hours. Though not so unexceptionally clean and tidy as our great county prisons, the "lague, as it is called, of Civita Vecchia is a sweet and garnished to a degree unheard of even in middle-class Italian bodies. The criminals (not including those who endure solitary confinement) lead lives of luxury—compared, at least, with what a quarter of them have been accustomed to. Certainly, their lot might be envied by many a herdsman or plowman of the adjacent Campagna.

The obligingly sociable light will conduct you into the workshop for lithography, where every facility is afforded for perfecting one's self in the art. The room is large and commodious, with two handsome windows, and the walls are of a brilliant whitewash. Before the eye could be enjoyed. The iron gratings outside those windows are thoroughly concealed from the gaze of inmates by a lovely arabesque of convolvulus, and in the centre of this fragrant and eye-soothing bower plays a tall bella (this thick warbled fountain, whose graceful jet of silvery spray is constantly replenished from the aqueduct that supplies the whole prison. Fresh and pure as the mountain air surrounding it, this sparkling fluid is at the disposal of the prisoners, a large cup for the use of each cell being fixed to the basin. Or, if more ambitious refreshment be desired, there is a buffet or refreshment-room in the establishment, where beverages of a more sophisticated character may be obtained. Then there is the "Winter Garden," a large square court, with a fountain in the centre, and a number of orange trees, which, with a good-natured, broad, open face of the prominent Zulu type. Mpilo Pool speaks favorably of his general accomplishments, and says he has given little trouble except on one or two occasions, when he showed a sulky disposition, and demanded to have an antelope roasted for his daily rations. While in Simon's Bay he was taken on board her Majesty's ship Boadicea, and over the ship through their drill. He expressed wonder and admiration of everything remarking, "I was only born yesterday."

A Reign of Terror in Colombia.

A Mob in a House of Worship—Houses Destroyed and their Occupants Killed.

The Panama Star and Herald contains an account, sifted from the conflicting mails, of the recent two days' reign of terror in the city of Bucaramanga. The prime movers of the affair were two officers of the State, Gallegos and Rodriguez. The former was leader of the band of assassins and robbers, and the latter, placed under the direction of Gallegos, the small force of State troops in the city, who made some mess (sense with) the assassins. A political massacre was at first intended, but Rodriguez became offended at the action of a German merchant named Frisch, to whom he owed money, and the German and other merchants were inclined with them to be attacked. The municipal election was on the 7th of October, and, in a contest between nominees of the leading parties of the community and those of Gallegos and his associates, the Gallegos party triumphed. They began celebrating their victory by fireworks and other tokens of rejoicing, and while the celebration was at its height, Obdulio Estevez, a Conservative, passed close by. He was attacked and killed. His murderer was the public jailer. His body lay in the street for two young men ventured to carry it to the house of the murdered man's daughter. The mob followed, broke into the house, and greeted the mourners with imprecations and vile language. The next day, being a fast day, the proposed robbery was thwarted by hoisting all the stores closed. The funeral of the murdered Estevez was in the afternoon. Many of the most respectable residents of the city followed the body to the church. The mob rushed into the church in the midst of the service, and began an assault on those present. Four members of the funeral party were severely wounded from the Remington guns of the assassins. A Mr Valenzuela, who was shot through the hand, drew his pistol and mortally wounded one of the bandits. The clergyman fled, and while the mob was engaged in sacking the church, the congregation escaped by the rear door. Another victim of the mob was Colonel Ordonez, a leader of a Jacobinical society known as the "Colerbra," which was exterminated some years ago by Gen. Salgar.

THE END OF A MONSTER.

Callisto Vasquez, the Bandit, Taken Out of Prison and Shot to Death.

Panama, Oct. 21.—The Star and Herald's Honduras correspondent writes that at five o'clock on the 17th ult., the terrible Indian Callisto Vasquez was taken from La Paz prison and shot to death in the plaza of the town, a company of soldiers performing the duty. The execution was painful to witness. The cage of both men from their knees down was covered with cuts and bruises, and the heavy corduroy pants they wore were kicked to ribbons.

When the match was decided Davis sank into a chair thoroughly exhausted. Frondit was so elated by his victory that he pleased the admiring spectators by dancing a jig with a tumbler of water on his head. The seconds then washed the legs of the "purrers" and covered the wounds with poultices of rotten apples, to prevent inflammation and allay pain. Supper was then handed over to Frondit, who "set up" a keg of beer for the crowd. Davis was carried to his room, and as Frondit was not in much better condition. This is said to be the first "purring" match ever fought in this neighborhood. Some of Sheuandah since Davis beat a noted "purrer" named Tom Bosley, in 1864 or 1865. Davis's defeat on Thursday night was unexpected, as he was known to be agile, game, and experienced.

Sensations after Opium Smoking.

Wm M. F. Round, Good Company, Number Two

Did I feel drowsy? No. I felt quietly jubilant and happy. The problems of life were all gone. The mysteries of life were mysteries no longer. I lay there and literally sneered at the world as a thing of no consequence whatever. I could not move my eyes from the light, but it was as large as a saucer, and then it receded from me perhaps bigger. It was a star—it was a fixed colored moon; the atmosphere around it a few inches, and though I was conscious of his act, the light itself was a fiery comet of a thousand tail (that short though immeasurable lengths of night. Newt grew and grew. It was the sun. The whole world, the stars, the universe were lost or absorbed in it. I was absorbed in it. The pony touched me on all sides, below me was the tiny earth, a Lilliputian ball upon which myriads of crawling men fell down and worshipped me. Opposite to me was Jesus. I was conscious of His presence in everything about me. Had anyone spoken to me I should have answered rationally enough, yet the things about me were not so real as my dwelling place in the heart of light. I was living a real existence. I was immortal. I had commenced upon the eternal life. Eternity! The thought became real to me. Time was no longer, save in my own person. I was the time piece for eternal ages. I was wound up and going. The pulsations of my heart each measured a thousand years. A dreadful tension lengthened me out and stretched me in all directions. A great movement was going on which lasted all my powers—the tension grew more and more intense. I could endure it no longer. There was a quick sharp snap, a relaxation of all my energies, all my powers, and I was the eternal clock and knew that I had ticked and marked off one second of the fathomless aces and that second had recorded a thousand years of human time. The pendulum moved to two syllables—ever, for ever! I lay dreading the stillness of eternal year which should mark no more hundreds of years. Pliny assures us readers, ancient and modern, that tales are of Gallic origin. Diogenes can have known nothing about them. The threats kept their wine in jars, frequently bottomless, and threw the dregs of their cellar floors, so that the liquor could filter through. Another drilled out through inequalities in the lower rim of the amphora. It was in one of these bottom less pitchers that Diogenes took up his abode. Placed upon its side, he slept in it, sat upright, he walked about in it. There is monumental evidence extant to the fact that he chose for his dwelling a cracked and chipped jar, unfit for liquor-containing purposes, being prompted to this selection by his hatred of anything like luxury or wastefulness. In certain districts of Brazil, the aborigines formerly buried their dead in jars exactly similar to Diogenes's earthenware freehold, and these burial coffins are still not unfrequently found, containing mummified bodies of priests and warriors, with their ornaments and arms, under the grandiferous on the banks of the Paraiba, where abide the Coroados, a civilized Indian tribe.

Taking Tea in a Bus.

From the Pall Mall Gazette, Oct. 23

An American is about to carry out the railroad dining car system in a novel direction. He has designed, especially for the use of Londoners, a "tea bus." In this vehicle there will be every accommodation for "o'clock tea." It is expected that the bus will be a great favorite with ladies, who will take advantage of it not merely for shopping purposes, but also as a pleasant way of spending the afternoon and having agreeable chats with each other over their teacups. A narrow table runs along the middle of the vehicle, and behind the seats there will be room for the conductor to wait on the tea drinkers. Water will be boiled in a little apparatus beneath the seat of the driver, the tap being inside the bus, so that kettles may be filled without difficulty. The tires of the wheels are to be India rubber, to prevent noiseless jolting, and the springs of the carriage will be adjusted on an entirely new and improved principle, insuring the comfort of its occupants. With a plentiful supply of biscuits and bread and butter the solemn may be driven with extreme ease, for the horses of a single bus abroad will be great vegetarians, by broken crockery and boiling water.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

Adelaide Neilson will act in Philadelphia this week, and then will go to Baltimore.

George Bignoli is going to give "Henry V." a trial in Drury Lane Theatre, London.

"Buffalo Bill" is touching the Great West in what true histrionic genius really consists.

Mary Anderson is making a professional trip through Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Frank Mayo has made a stage-strike with "Davy Crockett"—from London to San Francisco.

Charles Reade's version of "Ambrosine" is to be produced in the Boston Theatre, with T. W. Keene as "Geppo."

It is whispered that the sickness of Mr. Bateman's child upon several occasions has been a serious cause of anxiety and disappointment, and that a serious lack of mind and body was at one time feared.

Frank Mordaunt, the actor, will shortly visit Europe, primarily for the benefit of his health. He was a favorite from one end of the country to the other, and has a host of friends, their rather up and their fresh following in all parts of England, who will, on special occasions, be glad to welcome him on his return. Mr. Mordaunt is not enough for them—he spend from 50 to 60 pounds in London, a sort of compliment of a more substantial character than the encouragement to the profession which he has had for money. Any, for instance, or if succeeded, can lay on from one to two hundred pounds a night in creating comforts for the visiting fish to the extent I found the supply of fish warm and the stanchions and rails were injured in several places. The wind at one time suddenly died out, and was succeeded by a calm of only fifteen minutes' duration. The hurricane then returned with redoubled fury, the wind going round to west and blowing still harder than before. Captain Newell found his vessel too light to steer against the heavy wind and sea, and he was obliged to heave her to.

The steamship Bristol, which arrived from Bristol yesterday, was also 17 days in crossing the Atlantic. On the 26th she met with a hurricane, of 10 hours' duration, off Sable Island. The wind first came from the southeast, and then chopped around to the southwest, making a heavy confused sea. Tremendous waves washed over the decks of the steamship. Several of the life-boats were smashed to pieces, and considerable other damage was done before the storm ceased. The Hamburg steamship Cimbria, which reached port late Sunday night, encountered a great deal of very bad weather, as did the Spain, of the National Line, which arrived from Liverpool yesterday. The ship Stamboul, from London, which was among yesterday's arrivals, was 71 days west of the Banks of Newfoundland, and experienced strong westerly gales.

A Real Thanksgiving Day.

From the Rural New Yorker.

The year is drawing to its close—growing aged, so to speak. One can almost look through it and see the shadow of 1880. After a long period of depression, everything again looks bright for our favored land—favored as few other lands are favored upon the face of the earth. Individuals, households, and as must ever be, have had their sorrows and sufferings to bear; but the nation in its history has never been placed under a heavier load of obligation to Him who directs the sunshine and the rain—the germinating plants and their maturing fruits. It is with a saddened feeling that one sees in some of our home journals an ill disguised satisfaction that we must be the gainers for the depression in other countries. We have enough to be thankful for without the heaping measures which the sufferings of others may for a time secure us. The National Day of Thanksgiving draws nigh. If we would have it a day of true thanksgiving, let us, while we rejoice over our own abundance, heartily sympathize with those who, from no apparent insertions or faults of their own, are denied of their daily bread.

Observations of Mars and Jupiter.

From Galignani's Messenger.

MM. Henry, astronomers at the Observatory of Paris, have profited by the clear atmosphere of the past few nights to study the physical conditions of the three planets just now stimulated so favorably for observation. They estimate the brilliance of Saturn as equal to that of the star Altair. while Mars is two inches half times and Jupiter four times brighter. The ice accumulated round the south pole of Mars is scarcely visible, inasmuch as the summer in that portion of the planetic hemisphere is drawing to a close, and the sun has reduced the frozen blocks to a minimum. The northern pole, which cannot be seen at present, shows a white spot of immense expanse. For the first time a red spot has been seen on the face of Jupiter, occupying one-fiftieth of the planet's size, in the northern hemisphere, in parallel latitudes to our own; its shape is elliptical as seen from our earth, and its length is set down at 12 minutes, and its breadth at 4 minutes, and it evidently adheres to the surface. The appearance of this phenomenon can only be accounted for by supposing that considerable changes have been taking place in the solid body of Jupiter and not in its atmosphere. The region thus distorted confines a space equal to that of Europe, and is relatively not more agreeable, considering the difference in the size of the two planets.

Oscar Moore.—"Knacks is the best substitute for coffee I have ever seen—most of the guests at my table prefer it to either tea or coffee."—14. Lavoilette, proprietor Manitoba House, 347 and 349 Sussex street, Ottawa.

MANITOULIN ISLAND.

LETTER NO. II.

After we took dinner, Mr. Hall took us out to see his potatoes and cabbage. His potatoes were not planted until the beginning of July. He dug up a hill to let us see them, and they were fine and large. His cabbage heads were the largest I ever saw; you could not get one of them inside a half bushel measure. We proceeded towards Manitowaning, about half way between the last mentioned place and Michael's Bay. We came to a farm known as the Blue Jay Farm. An incident happened there two years ago last May that will immortalize the name of that farm. Although we do not wish to scratch up old sores, we will give the particulars as near as we can remember. It seems Amer and his next neighbor, Bryan, had had frequent quarrels. Amer's horses trespassed on Bryan's farm. Bryan caught the horses and tied them to the fence. Amer's son went for the horses and came back and told his father that they were tied to the fence. Amer, sen., went for the horses, but prior to his going told his son to bring something with him. His son understood that thing to be a revolver. Amer, sen., tried to untie the rope that was fastening the horses, but failing which, he took out his knife and cut the rope. At this juncture he was struck with a club in the back of the head, and Bryan and son jumped on the top of him. Amer called out to his son to pop them. He fired and killed both Bryan and son. Bryan and son were both tried, and sentenced to be hanged; but, subsequently, the sentence was commuted to ten years each in Kingston Penitentiary, and they are there now serving their terms. Amer's house is the first house we heard music in on the Island; some one was playing on an organ as we were passing by. This is one of the finest farms on the Island; there is a spring creek running through it, and a fine bank barn built on it. To due time I arrived at Manitowaning, and put up at the Commercial Hotel, owned by Mr. A. Leslie. Manitowaning is situated on a bay of the same name, and, like Auld Reekie, is built on a rock. It has three churches, viz: Church of England, Presbyterian and Methodist; two hotels, three or four stores, a flour mill, a planing mill, a tannery, a blacksmith's shop, a shoemaker's shop, a "hobby." There is neither a physician nor a lawyer there. There are three Indian reserves in the village. Right across the bay is the Indian Reserve. The Indians there are Roman Catholics. They have followed a regular system of government on the Reserve, and they are talking of building a larger college. The Indians are civilized, and cultivate the bay in small boats (the distance is only about a mile). The squaws are generally better looking than the bucks. Many of them wear shawls and their dress is composed of them with a blanket around them. They wear shawls and straw hats, and ribbons with all the colors in the rainbow on them. There is also a newspaper published in Manitowaning called the Expositor. One of the storekeepers there makes three or four journeys on foot every winter across the ice to the mainland. He carries his basket, &c., with him. I understand he goes as guide to the mail carrier sometimes. The mails are conveyed hither in winter on a sledge drawn by dogs. The scenery on Manitoulin Island is beautiful. I saw a beautiful waterfall in the township of Sheguiandah. This water comes from Turtle Lake. This island is generally rocky. You see rocks projecting here and there like fortresses, and yet they raise splendid crops. I brought samples of wheat and grass with me. It requires the hair to be worn low over the forehead, either crimped or fringed. The outside trimming is large satin bows, feathers or colored velvet flowers, with a great deal of foliage.

A pretty wrap, called the milkmaid's mantle, has been introduced in Paris. It is cut and faithfully from the cloaks worn by Breton milkmaids. It is somewhat large, made of white woollen waterproof, and lined with poppy red flannel. It has a square hood, also lined with red, and is bordered with black velvet. The mixture of red, white and black is characteristic, and the mantle will be popular for an early morning and damp evening.

Black evening dresses are very popular, because they are useful, and can be freshened up and modernized in a variety of ways. Velvet, satin, and faille and silk are all desirable materials for this purpose. A pretty way of renovating a black silk dress is to arrange draperies of black spotted tulle point d'esprit, edged with lace over the skirt, and to trim the bodice, open in a V or square, with puffings of similar tulle. The semi long sleeves should be entirely of tulle, with lace edging.

The present fashionable style of wearing the hair in the morning is low in the brows, either in plain or waved bandeaux, or in a fringe; all the back it is coiled or plaited. For dress occasions it is less simple. The front hair is crimped, or strongly waved, or cut short and frizzed over the forehead. The back is arranged in short coils, so called because turned round over the finger and fastened on tightly; over the temples it is invariably brushed straight off. Pins of large size and combs of all designs, flowers or jeweled insects are worn as ornaments.

Latest Fashion Gossip.

The newest styles of fichus are of lace or mousseline de laine, with a full trimming of lace and ribbon.

Cream white is much employed this season for dinner and evening dresses, and it looks admirably with the rich colored brocades.

Beaver divides the honors with velvet as a material for winter jackets. Its furry surface is decidedly becoming to the majority of wearers.

Fashionable seal skin, trimmed with otter, are the most costly and elegant wraps that will be worn later in the season. They cost about $250 to $600.

Fur trimmed garments will be more used this year than they have ever been before. Boas are displayed by furs, which is placed at the neck and cuffs of garments.

Walking costumes are extremely simple and masculine in shape, and very unlike the elaborate receptions and soirees which are complicated in the highest degree.

Bonnets are much worn by young girls and children. Costumes are made with kilted skirts and long, half fitting paletots. The hats are of Leghorn, well shaped, and answer for a useful wrap until very cold weather.

Coat basques made of light weight goods, such as cashmere, camel's hair and ladies' cloths in seal browns, navy blues and dark grays, are a decided feature of the fall styles. They are made smoothly like gentlemen's coats it, fit and finish.

The rage for shirring, which seems to be on the increase, has extended to princess dresses, which are shirred in groups at intervals in perpendicular clusters of two or three gauging threads, throwing the intervening sections into puffs.

Plaitings of various kinds remain in favor for the general garniture of dress skirts, and mixtures of piece trimmings are used, in order to produce novelty and variety. These always match whatever is used upon the upper portion of the toilet.

The throat is dressed as high and close as possible. Ruches of white lisse are placed inside ruches made of real lace. Lisse collars are fastened as high as may be, and underneath a soft silk cachitie is worn, fastened in front with a bow knot.

Startling effects are noted in dress materials that are known as novelties. They are in every variety of color, and in and through them all run threads of gold. Egyptian designs, palm leaves, dots and dashes; in short, every conceivable variation of design.

Black kids are admissible everywhere; even in full dress for the opera they are considered stylish. Gants de Suede are worn in full dress when very long. The most stylish glove for evening wear is corn color. In Paris it is the most popular, and is worn to the exclusion of white.

Calicoes this season are exceedingly pretty. The groundings are dark and brown, navy blue, olive and moss shades, upon which polka dots, plaids floriated patterns appear in great varieties. A border for trimming comes in nearly all the yard wide goods, and is placed at the top and bottom of the flounces and upon the cuffs, collar and pocket flaps.

The winter bonnet is decidedly larger that the early autumn exhibits suggested, and it has a pretending border line with gathered velvet or satin, but with no ornament inside. It requires the hair to be worn low over the forehead, either crimped or fringed. The outside trimming is large satin bows, feathers or colored velvet flowers, with a great deal of foliage.

A pretty wrap, called the milkmaid's mantle, has been introduced in Paris. It is copied faithfully from the cloaks worn by Breton milkmaids. It is somewhat large, made of white woollen waterproof, and lined with poppy red flannel. It has a square hood, also lined with red, and is bordered with black velvet. The mixture of red, white and black is characteristic, and the mantle will be popular for an early morning and damp evening.

Black evening dresses are very popular, because they are useful, and can be freshened up and modernized in a variety of ways. Velvet, satin, and faille and silk are all desirable materials for this purpose. A pretty way of renovating a black silk dress is to arrange draperies of black spotted tulle point d'esprit, edged with lace over the skirt, and to trim the bodice, open in a V or square, with puffings of similar tulle. The semi long sleeves should be entirely of tulle, with lace edging.

The present fashionable style of wearing the hair in the morning is low in the brows, either in plain or waved bandeaux, or in a fringe; all the back it is coiled or plaited. For dress occasions it is less simple. The front hair is crimped, or strongly waved, or cut short and frizzed over the forehead. The back is arranged in short coils, so called because turned round over the finger and fastened on tightly; over the temples it is invariably brushed straight off. Pins of large size and combs of all designs, flowers or jeweled insects are worn as ornaments.

WORDS NEVER TO BE FORGOTTEN.

Lorne's Parting Advice to the Citizens of London:

Buy Your Hats at Heal's.

CALL AND SEE OUR NEW STOCK.

All the Latest Styles, at Lowest Possible Prices

A FEW DOZEN OF OUR BIG BANKRUPT STOCK STILL ON HAND WILL BE CLEARED OUT AT A SACRIFICE.

Heal's, 179 Dundas Street,

OPPOSITE STRONG'S HOTEL.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME and SODA.

TRAVELLER'S GUIDE.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

GOING WEST

GOING EAST.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

MACHINE AND SET SCREWS

MACHINE HAND TAPS.

Chucks, Twist Drills, Emery Wheels.

RICE LEWIS & SON, TORONTO

NOTICE.

NEW YORK STORE

A. M. SMITH,

W. S. SMITH,

Importer and Dealer in

Groceries, Wines and Liquors,

Dundas St and Market Square,

LONDON, ONTARIO.

North End Coal and Wood Yard.

Auld Acquaintance

A BIRTHDAY BOOK,

Of the wise and tender words of

ROBT. BURNS

Compiled by a grandmother of the poet.

Neatly bound, cloth gilt, 90 cents.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS

T. H. FERGUSON & CO.,

Manufacturers of PURE WHITE WINE CIDER and MALT VINEGARS, Dundas street west, opposite Court House, London, Ontario.

T H FERGUSON. H ROBBS, J A SCHNEIDER Jr.

BAR IRON

Shelton, Lowndoor Norway, Siemens.

BOILER PLATE, SHEET IRON ROOF AND BAND IRON

STOCK COMPLETE.

Firth's and Mushett's Steel

Rice Lewis & Son

TORONTO.

WANTED,

$1,000 American Money

AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY,

227 Dundas St., for Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND VALISES

now and save money.

American Bills taken for same.

C. F. AYARS, 227 Dundas St.

COME ALONG JOHN

To C. F. AYARS and buy Trunks and Valises Cheap. American Bills taken.

227 Dundas Street.

GEORGE F. JEWELL,

ACCOUNTANT,

INSURANCE AND COMMISSION AGENT.

OFFICE—No. 10 Jeffers's Block Dundas st. Union, Ont. Telephone

JAS. I. ANDERSON & CO.,

(late Reid & Anderson).

1878 175 Dundas St.

TURKISH BATHS!

Corner King and Waterloo streets,

LONDON ONTARIO.

For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs and all Chronic Diseases. An experienced Matron has charge of the Ladies Department. Medical and Surgical Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.

DRS. STREET & McLAREN.

CITY Coal and Wood Yard,

TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G. W. R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF thanking our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we are better prepared this fall than ever we were before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 quality.

The Coal is a new branch in our business, but we will endeavor to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.

Wholesale prices on application.

FAIRGRIEVE & CO.

London, Oct. 9, 1879. 608dly

Economy Combined with Respectability.

W. Hinton

UNDERTAKER, Etc

(From London, England).

Tasteful house in the city having a Children's Mourning Carriage.

First-class Hearses for Hire. Private Residence, 224 King street.

SKATES

ACME,

BARNEY & BERRY,

UNION HARDWARE CO

Full stock, all sizes and cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips

Will not freeze or harden in coldest weather, keeps out cold perfectly and saves fuel.

T. HERBERT MARSH

HARDWARE MERCHANT,

161 Dundas St., Toronto.

CANADA SOUTHERN RY.

Trains leave St. Thomas as under—

GOING EAST.

GOING WEST

STAGES LEAVING LONDON.

LUCAN STAGE—Leaves Western Hotel, London, at 10 a m and 5 p m. Leaves Lucan at 9 a m and 2 30 p m.

FOR DELAWARE—Every day, arriving at 1 a m, and leaving at 3 p m, from the Westminster Hotel, King st.

FOR BELMONT—Every day from the Ontario Hotel, opposite the Market, King street, at 3 30 p m. for Belmont. Leave Belmont every morning at 7 o'clock for Dorchester, Thorndale and Salisbury.

FOR ST. ANNA GRAIG STAGE leaves for Grenoside, 7 to meet the 9.26 train. Returning leaves Brander at 6 o'clock p m.

Cleveland Steamers

CITY OF DETROIT - NORTHWEST

Leave Merchants' Central Wharf, Detroit,

Daily at 10.30 p.m. Sundays excepted.

Arrive at Cleveland at 6 a.m.

Connects with Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway for all points East and South.

Through Tickets to all points East and South.

D. CARTER, Manager.

Foot Wayne street Detroit, Mich.

1879

ALLAN LINE

—OF—

Royal Mail Steamships

—FOR—

LIVERPOOL, LONDONDERRY, GLASGOW

EVERY SATURDAY, FROM QUEBEC.

WHITE STAR LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS

—BETWEEN—

Queenstown, Liverpool and New York.

EVERY WEEK.

*ADRIATIC, Thursday, September 4, 8 a. m.
GERMANIC, Saturday, September 13, 3 p. m.
*BALTIC, Thursday, September 18, 8.30 a. m.

*Passengers taken on board the night before.

Unsurpassed for Safety, Comfort, and Speed, and Do not carry Cattle, Sheep, or Pigs. The superiority of their accommodations for cabin and steerage passengers, combined with the regularity of their rapid passages in all weather, have earned for these splendid steamers a world-wide reputation. For rates of passage, cabin and steerage, inspection of plans and other information, apply to

J. MATTHEWS,
Richmond street, London.

J. C. NORTHWORTHY, Ingersoll; E. T. Jarvis, Woodstock. 1879

LONDON Paper Warehouse

ONE CARLOAD

Straw Board,

For manufacturing Paper Boxes, just to hand.

Parties in want of every description made to order at short notice.

REID BROS & CO.

LONDON, ONT.

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The London "Free Press"

JOB OFFICE

executes all kinds of commercial and other printing in the best style, on excellent paper, and at lowest rates.

Owing to the large staff constantly on hand, work can be expeditiously turned out.

Colored and fancy printing a specialty. Ball and programme work in excellent taste.

The Free Press.

Thursday, November 6, 1879.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

How Londoners May Observe It in a National Way.

To day having been set apart by His Excellency the Governor General and Council as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful harvest vouchsafed us and for the material prosperity enjoyed by the Dominion at large, all good citizens are enjoined to observe it as such, and Londoners will not lag behind other citizens of the Dominion in complying with the terms of the proclamation.

The congregations of the Church of England will hold a union service in St. Paul's Church at 11 o'clock, when the Rev. Dr. Stocking, of Detroit, will preach.

At the same hour a non-denominational union service will take place at Victoria Hall, and addresses by several city pastors may be expected. The collection will be given to the W. C. A. to aid them in their good work.

The Rev. Dr. Sanderson will also preach a Thanksgiving sermon in the Wellington street Methodist Church at 11 o'clock.

Should the weather prove favorable, the members of the London Rifle Club will close the competition for the President's medal, and also engage in one or more snapshots matches on their new range.

From the numerous entertainments announced for the evening, our citizens will have some difficulty in deciding which is the best worthy of their patronage.

A sacred concert will be given in Rev. Dr. Proudfoot's Church, commencing at 8 o'clock. Good programme prepared, and the collection will be in aid of the church revenue.

Mr. G. F. Jewell will give a stereoptican entertainment in the Memorial Church school-room, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Association, commencing at 7 30 o'clock.

The Congregational Church choir will give a musical and literary entertainment in the lecture room, in behalf of the Church fund. Refreshments will be provided.

The Methodists of Petersville will hold a tea-meeting in the evening, for which an attractive programme has been prepared.

The Holmans will cater to the theatre-going public, at their Opera House, by presenting Balfe's opera of "The Bohemian Girl," and concluding with an "olde folkes' concerte."

The Dime Company will give a matinee at 2 30 p.m., and also show again in the evening, at Mechanics' Hall. Every child will receive a prize at the matinee.

Turkey shooting matches will be held at Graham's Hotel, on the Hamilton Road, and at other places.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Orange Young Britons' fife and drum band visited Ingersoll last night and assisted their brethren in that town to celebrate Guy Fawkes Day.

An elderly woman named Eliza Cloyes was arrested yesterday evening for being "too full for utterance." She has often been in a similar condition before.

The Orangemen of the city celebrated the anniversary of Guy Fawkes' Plot by a dinner at John Reid's hotel, Richmond street, last night. A pleasant time was spent.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Hunt, of Wakefield street, took place yesterday afternoon. The remains were forwarded per G. W. R. to New York for interment.

A man named James Knott was arrested last night at the instance of his wife for being drunk and dangerous to be at large. He will appear before the P. M. to answer this morning.

A young woman named Louisa Macdonald was arrested last evening on a charge of vagrancy. She is wanted as a witness in a fire case at St. Thomas, and will probably be detained here until sent for by the authorities of that town.

Col. Moffat, Brigade Major of this District, and Chairman of the Board of Education, inspected the Collegiate Institute cadets yesterday afternoon, and put them through their facings. He also read to the "mifleh" the "articles of war" from the School Regulations.

Forest City Curling Club.

The annual meeting of the Forest City Curling Club was held at the Mayor's office Tuesday night, there being a fair attendance of members. At the recent meeting of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, this Club was drawn to play against the Dundas Club for the Caledonian medal. The following officers were elected: — President—Col. Lewis.

Vice-President—Mr. Benj. Cronyn.

Representative Member—Colonel Moffat.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. Thomas Blakeney.

Committee of Management—Messrs. J. Robertson, F. A Despard, Geo. Gray and Col. Macbeth.

Skips—Col. Lewis, Col. Moffat and J. Robertson.

"WERE PECULIAR."—At the city election in Detroit on Tuesday—and our readers are informed that up to the present time Detroit has been always regarded as a Democratic city—Mr. Oneilah Wood, the colored candidate on the Republican ticket for member of the Board of Estimates, was elected by about 400 votes over the highest Democratic candidate. Verily, politics make strange bedfellow.

LOCAL LEGAL.—In the Court of Appeal at Toronto, on Thursday, before His Lordship Justice Burton, the case of the Ontario Lightning Rod Company vs Hewitt, was taken up. Mr. J. Campbell, for respondent, moved to dismiss the appeal for want of prosecution. Mr. Aylsworth contra. Order made that appellant be allowed to set the case down for argument at the January sittings of the Court.

THE WYOMING ROBBERS.—A few days since a telegraph dispatch announced that Westland & Co.'s store in Wyoming had been robbed of a large quantity of goods. On Saturday last Michael Pigeott and Robt. Baird were arrested at Port Huron, and on Tuesday Constable Herkness, of Sarnia, went over the river, and with the prisoners' consent they were brought across and placed in Sarnia jail. The clothing, which was identified by Mr. Westland, was found at a second-hand store and given up. The officers engaged in this case deserve great credit for their promptness and tact.

"ALTOGETHER TOO CONTRACTED."—The Sarnia Canadian of yesterday says: "A London Coroner reads the FREE PRESS of that city a lecture in connection with its remarks on the Brought-Gundlock farmicide. Apart from the difficulty of depicting what really amounts to the assuming on sufferance the Coroner's ideas of what the rights of the press are in certain cases—such a case, for instance, as the one he was by rights sitting—are altogether too contracted for the present condition of society, and we are pleased that the FREE PRESS, which, as a matter of fact, made no 'comments'—as we understand the word—one way or the other, stands up firmly for its rights."

ODDS AND ENDS.

Compiled, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

When papyrism attains its full growth it becomes dogmatism.

Why didn't Courtney race on the half-mile when he found that his boat had been cut in two?

An ounce of generous praise will do more to make a man your friend than a pound of fault finding.

Some people are so seriously inclined that do to "no laughing matter" to read over their jokes.

If you regard yourself as the guardian of your own honor be careful that your position is not a sinecure.

Even the plumber begins to look pleased, as he anticipates a glorious Winter of frosts and consecutive water pipes.

"She is really a malicious woman," says an injured husband, "who will put long hairs on a man's coat just to make his wife mad enough to sue for a divorce."

There was a young girl of Lucan,
Who said "I'll be married, if I can."
But the fellows who passed her,
All giggled and sassed her.
This singular girl of Lucan.

Deceit always overreaches itself, as in the case of the little boy who proposed to dress himself at a circus by crawling under the tent, and who afterward found that he had got into a reveral meeting instead.

There are people so deluded that they still insist that the earth is flat. If they would modify their convictions just a little and insist that most of the inhabitants of the earth are flat, not even science could contradict them.

A son of the Green Isle stood on the highway looking on a comrade who was lying helpless through drink. The day was hot, and, as the Irishman wiped his forehead, he said sadly, "Ah, my boy, I wish I had just half of your disease."

The new form of will is much simplified. The testator simply provides for his funeral expenses and makes his attorney the residuary legatee—gives him all there is left. It reduces court costs to a nominal sum, and saves the relatives a heap of unnecessary worry and disappointment.

A man can always write better than he can speak. This is a rule of universal application. Even when the gentleman stands on the bank of a trout stream, he gets no fish by speaking, though he be never so eloquent; but, on the other hand if he just "drops a line" to the finny tribe, they respond with great alacrity.

Jerrold could say things sharper than a surgeon's knife when he was in ill-temper. A gentleman who was very sensitive about a book which he had just published said to him, "Mr. Jerrold, I understand that you have told Mr. Blank that my last book was the worst I ever wrote." "No, I did not," said the graff wit; "I told him it was the worst book anybody ever wrote."

A sharp answer is relished by every one except the person who is hit. When a lady in Louisiana was gruffly asked why she rang the bell at both ends she quickly replied, "Because I wanted both ends to stop, sir." And when a soldier who was bitten by a dog, and who killed him with his bayonet, was asked by the owner why he didn't merely beat him off with the other end of his musket, answered, "Why, so I would if he had run at me with his tail."

A young lawyer around here, who is wedded to his profession, recently rescued a King street girl, with whom he has an individual half interest in a large arm chair that ornaments her father's parlor, to sing him "that beautiful County Court air." Disengaging her chatelaine tackle from his encircling arm, the charming creature went to the piano and began "Baby Mine." This event is regarded by the servants as one of the most extraordinary phenomena of the present season.

CHOOSE FOR ME.

In the throng of a bazaar
Bewildered, sighing
Mid toys spread wild,
Mid clash and mad'ning tar,
"What to purchase
Choose for me, father," said the child.

In a labyrinth of flowers,
Gold daisies far and
Pink bells inlaid,
Round roses raised in showers,
"Which to be wearing
Choose for me, love," said the maid.

In lifelong dazzling maze—
Joy's flood, Love's passion,
Fame's wild race—
"Which mine of these vexed ways?
In thy compassion
Choose for me, Heaven" prays the soul.

It is said that every man has a right to be tried by his equals. There must, however, be some slip of the tongue here, for if a murderer were to be tried by his equals there would likely be no convictions at all, and in certain exceptional cases it might be a difficult to find twelve equally great scoundrels to try a man as it is sometimes to find twelve men who are so utterly ignorant of a celebrated case that they are fit to become jurors. It may be fairly said that there are few cases of murder solved by his superiors the ends of justice will not be reached.

THE BACHELOR'S LAST HOURS.

Not a laugh was heard, not a joyous note,
As our friends to the bridal we hurried;
Not a well discharged bit farewell joke
As the bachelor went to be married.

We married him quickly to save his fright,
For the parts from the night turning;
And we sighed, as we stood by the lamp's dim light,
To think him not more discerning.

To think that a bachelor, free and bright,
And shy of the sex as we found him,
Should there at the altar, at dead of night,
Be caught in the toils that bound him.

Few and short were the words we said,
Though of sake and wine partaking;
We couldn't join hands from the nature of dread,
While his knees were awfully shaking.

Slowly and sadly we watched him adown
From the top to the lowermost stair;
And we have never heard from nor seen the poor man
Whom we left alone in his glory.

The moment the human mind is upset through the pangs of suregated affection the rhyming dictionary becomes a sovereign balm, and, like the conventional vestments of sorrow, which change from the deepest black to a mitigated tint, corresponding to wife; H. Mclachlan, Tin Inspector, G. W. R.; W. W. Rutherford, Port Rowan; J. E. Cruise and F. E. McCormick, St. Thomas, and John Willis, Exeter.

Tecumseh House guests:—T. J. and J. G. McIntosh, of Chatham; John Elliott, of Brantford; F. W. Gates, and T. Little-hales, Hamilton; B. W. Wand, Hamilton; Hyman Miller, Toronto; J. C. Graham, St. Catharines; J. H. Duncombe, Waterford; Ross McKenzie, Toronto; W. N. Morley, Guelph; Allan Brown, Montreal; E. C. Jackson and wife, Tilsonburg; Alex. Finlayson, Toronto; Alex. Gillies, Hamilton.

Alaska's Big River.

Alaska explorers report one of the largest rivers in the world, the Yukon, as navigable for steamers, and at 500 miles from its mouth it receives a very large navigable tributary. The basin formed by the confluence is twenty-four miles wide. The Yukon is nearly as large as our Mississippi. Indians are everywhere and the war between tribes is a fixed institution. There is snow for six months, and without roads dog-sledges find good travelling. Game abounds, and Indians have a very easy life. From seven to nine dogs make a team, the odd one being the leader. The driver has to watch this dog. If it gets on the scent of game it is off, and the whole team is demoralized. Off they scamper through the woods and thickets, upsetting the load, smashing the sled, tearing the harness, and giving the boss days of hunting to restore the status quo. So vast a country, traversed by navigable waters, will soon tempt restless and speculative adventurers to explore it.

A Mother's Sacrifice.

Mother—"My darling daughter, you ought to go into a convent and be a nun. That is more pleasing to God than anything else you can do."

Daughter—"But, mother, why didn't you go into a convent and be a nun?"

Mother—"How can you ask such silly questions? I sacrificed everything out of love for thee."—Galveston (Tex.) News.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.—His Honor Judge Elliot Tuesday afternoon admitted to bail William Drought, the young man indicted by the Coroner's Jury for manslaughter, in connection with the death of Peter L. Gundlock. He was bound over to appear at the General Sessions personally in the sum of $1,000, with two sureties of $500 each.

—There is not a single boat loading at the lumber docks, Ottawa. Lumbermen report that it is impossible to charter a vessel for love or money, the demand has been so great for the past six months.

The Land of Promise,

As Viewed by the Prophetic Eyes of the "Colonizators."

The Only Question of "How to Get There" as Yet Unsolved—Last Night's Doings and Sayings—Mr. Mowat's Government Expresses Itself.

A meeting of the Canadian Colonization Society, held last evening in Victoria Hall, was attended by only twenty-five of the members. The consideration of those present was first directed to a couple of letters from the Deputy Attorney-General who gave his views with regard to the schemes of the Society in a direct and candid manner, much at variance with those expressed by his superior before the election. The idea of novices as farming settling together in Muskoka on an appropriation of land, say two townships, was characterized as "a suicidal policy," which the Government declined to accept the responsibility of furthering. Men without means were warned not to go to the free grant districts on the verge of winter, or at any other time, without sufficient money to secure them from starvation during one season at least. The Deputy Attorney-General said that the Government felt perfectly satisfied that it would be an act of cruelty to send a body of over-sanguine men, like the writer of the letter to which he was replying, to Muskoka unless amply provided with money. In other respects Mr. Scott thought the scheme a good one. With regard to the promise of land on Haley River, he said that the Government made no promises which they did not calculate to fulfil, but the Canadian Colonization Society "assumed promises to have been made which had never been made." A draft for $50, to pay the railway expenses of the delegates from the Society to Muskoka was enclosed, together with a letter of introduction to the local agents, directing them to assist the prospecting party to select suitable lands.

On the motion of Mr. Thorongood, the election of a delegation to view the land of promise was laid over till suitable weather for examining the soil. As there was no probability of such weather occurring before spring, the Society ordered the money to be placed in the Savings Department of Molsons Bank till needed for the purpose for which it had been received.

The regular order of business was then suspended, and officers nominated. The election was laid over till the next meeting, owing to the slim attendance.

A scheme to raise money by the deposit of money in $24 shares was then discussed. It was resolved that a fund be so raised, the depositors having a vote for each share of deposit, loans to be granted from the fund at the option of the depositors to those desirous of taking up land, to assist them in settling, tilling the soil, and providing food for their families till the crops came in. No stock was subscribed, but arrangements were made for its disposal should it ever be taken up.

The entrance fee was reconsidered, and placed at $2, with a monthly subscription of ten cents per member for expenses.

After a long session, the meeting then adjourned.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Sheriff McEwan, of Essex, was a guest at the Grigg House last night.

Mr. J. Barnett, a student with Mr. J. D. O'Neil, Veterinary Surgeon, has left for Toronto to attend college there.

Chief of Police Partridge and Constable Lanagan, of St. Thomas, visited London yesterday on official business.

Mr. W. R Robinson, the General Ticket Agent of the Great Western Railway, was on a visit to this city yesterday.

Mr. George Bibie, Paymaster of the G. W. R., has returned home from a few night's shooting expedition at St. Clair marsh.

James Moorhouse, Edward Monroe and Samuel Chester, of Chatham, were among those who registered at the Revere House yesterday.

The Rev. J. A. Murray, of this city, is announced to speak at the anniversary meeting of the Barnia Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening.

Col. J. H. McLaughlin, the professional wrestler, has quit the athletic arena, and accepted the position of conductor on the Grand River Valley Division of the Michigan Central Railway.

Mr. J. G. Sage, formerly of the Cleveland Herald and well known to many Londoners, died at his home on Monday last from paralysis of the heart. He was Secretary of the Board of Trade for fifteen years.

Mr. D. M. Cameron, the genial Deputy-Reeve of Strathroy, accompanied by his bride, were in the city yesterday, and left for Detroit by the afternoon train. His many friends showered congratulations upon him.

Osborne House guests:—Thomas Billing, Sarn, St. Thomas; W. Merrill, Norwich; O. S. Clark, Dundas; John Forbes, Strathroy; Jacob Swan, Ingersoll; A. Geiger, Toronto; Joseph H. Strong, St. Thomas; John Johnson, Kingston.

Strong's Hotel transients:—B McCully, Hamilton; Porter McKay, Princeton; Mrs. Robt. Welch, Montreal; W. T. McFarlane, do; W. D. Fame, Guelph; Robt. Mc. Donald, Ingersoll; Wm. Cook, Gordonville, and I. B. Barwell, Caradoc.

Among the registrations at the City Hotel yesterday were:—R. Graham, St. Catharines; M. H. Marks, Toronto; S. C. Hopkins, Jr., Toronto; James Ollinger, Warden of Middlesex, Dorchester; Miss Roth, Palmerston; W. Hastings, Parkhill, and J. Taylor.

Grigg House guests:—John Lindsay, Waterford; F. C. Wilson, Clinton; W. T. Smith, Dresden; S. Brown and wife; W. A. Ferguson, Delhi; James Hallem, Toronto; Cyrus Jule and Thomas Jule, Orangeville; H. Mclachlan, Tin Inspector, G. W. R.; W. W. Rutherford, Port Rowan; J. E. Cruise and F. E. McCormick, St. Thomas, and John Willis, Exeter.

Tecumseh House guests:—T. J. and J. G. McIntosh, of Chatham; John Elliott, of Brantford; F. W. Gates, and T. Littlehales, Hamilton; B. W. Wand, Hamilton; Hyman Miller, Toronto; J. C. Graham, St. Catharines; J. H. Duncombe, Waterford; Ross McKenzie, Toronto; W. N. Morley, Guelph; Allan Brown, Montreal; E. C. Jackson and wife, Tilsonburg; Alex. Finlayson, Toronto; Alex. Gillies, Hamilton.

A Mother's Sacrifice.

Mother—"My darling daughter, you ought to go into a convent and be a nun. That is more pleasing to God than anything else you can do."

Daughter—"But, mother, why didn't you go into a convent and be a nun?"

Mother—"How can you ask such silly questions? I sacrificed everything out of love for thee."—Galveston (Tex.) News.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.—His Honor Judge Elliot Tuesday afternoon admitted to bail William Drought, the young man indicted by the Coroner's Jury for manslaughter, in connection with the death of Peter L. Gundlock. He was bound over to appear at the General Sessions personally in the sum of $1,000, with two sureties of $500 each.

—There is not a single boat loading at the lumber docks, Ottawa. Lumbermen report that it is impossible to charter a vessel for love or money, the demand has been so great for the past six months.

POLICE COURT—WEDNESDAY.

L. LAWTASON, Esq., P. M., Presiding.

DRUNK.

Joseph Smith subscribed $1 towards the inebriate endowment fund, and went out to marvel at his charity. N. Fossey and C. Tinsley were minus the necessary wherewithal, and left without making the customary deposits.

BREACH OF COW BY LAW.

Angus McInnes was charged by P. J. Clare, "keeper of the City Pound," with rescuing a cow on the way to the Palace Grounds, and, on being convicted, was fine $7 and $3 80 costs. Clare got $3.50 of the amount.

ASSAULT.

Catharine Lane was charged by Mary Winner with assault on the 1st of the present month. Mary was the only witness in her own behalf, and related a long story in which several Mrs. So-and-so's should have said that Mrs. So-and so should have said that she should have said that Mrs So-and-so was not acting with propriety," also that the defendant should have said that she was "a girl of inferior character" and did strike her in the face. For the defence Richard Blake Cahoun testified that Mrs. Lane never even attempted to strike Mary in Mrs. Walsh's house and that several of the persons referred to had gone out to "see a party" at that time. Mrs. Lane corroborated. Mary, who is a young woman of about twenty, cross examined the witnesses sharply. Mary was overwhelmed with evidence for the defence, and lost her case as well $2.10 costs.

SUSPICION OF LARCENY.

The young man McNally, who is being detained on the above charge, was once more remanded for a few days.

WINTER IN EARNEST.—Although it can scarcely be possible that winter has set in here early, yet the weather has an appearance which lends plausibility to such a belief. Instead of a thaw setting in Tuesday night, as was expected by many, the air grew colder, and during the night the frost was severe.

ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Tenth Anniversary of Court Forest City.

Pleasant Dinner in the Society's Hall.

The tenth anniversary of Court Forest City, A. O. F., London East, was celebrated last night by a grand supper in the Society's Hall, Hicks Block. The District officers were represented by Bros. F. Toll, E. T. Essery and J. Wilkins, and among those present were:—Dr. Street, I. Waterman, Reeve of the village; B. F. Hall, W. Dennis, H. Oliver, H. Pugsley, W. Lamerton, E. W. Tinson, F. C. R.; W. Scott, E. A. Luscombe, J. Dunn, J. Landon, J. McDougall, A. Taylor, W. Murray, M. James, T. Tullett, B. Noble, S. Murray, J. Noble, J. Barrett, A. J. Murray, F. Ragsey, F. Taylor, W. Nelson, G. Ingram, W. Player, J. Robertson, A. Kingshott, Henry Croxon, J. Bryant, J. Pugh, J. Simmons, H. T. Smith, J. Burns, S. Hobbs, J. Kingston, P. C. R., Ottawa; W. Luff, J. J. Tracy, C. A. Hall, E. Gillett, J. Jamieson, R. J. McInnes, J. Rogers, R. Green, W. Adams, G. Taylor, C. R., Court Pride of the Dominion; F. W. J. Ball, A. March, P. C. R., J. Sumner, W. W. Snowdon, J. Pratt, E. Head, Dr. Gardner, E. Barwell, J. Medland, J. W. Bartlett, G. Berry, C. Lhatborne, C. Galan W. Gold, C. Gold, W. Taylor, C. Ware, A. Gay, H. Herbert, J. Fitzgerald, T. C. Bartlett, W. T. Henshaw, W. Braund, W. Smith and R. Quick. A plenteous supply of oysters was served, and after a most enjoyable hour had been spent in this manner the toast list was opened.

Reeve Waterman occupied the chair, and in opening the proceedings, expressed the pleasure he experienced in being present on the occasion, and felt honored by the position in which he had been placed. He was glad to notice that the Foresters were prospering and that they had now got into such comfortable quarters, notwithstanding that he regretted losing them as tenants of the Town Hall. Though not a Forester, he had seen sufficient good by the Order to know that they deserved every encouragement. (Applause).

After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts, Mr. John Hobbs sang a lively song, which was heartily applauded.

"The Governor-General and Princess" was warmly received, and followed by a song, "Vive Victoria," by Mr. Phil Morrough, and in response to an encore he sang "Come to the Ingleside."

In proposing the toast of "The Corporation and Educational Interests of London East," the chairman passed a warm eulogium on the manner in which the schools of London East were managed.

Deputy Reeve Bartlett briefly returned thanks.

Mr. Peter Toll, on behalf of the School Board, took pleasure in replying to the toast which had been so heartily drunk. He believed that the schools of London East compared most favorably with those of any other municipality, and he had every reason to feel that their reputation would be sustained.

Mr. W. Luff sang a merry "Toast song," and, on being encored, gave "The Shire Wife."

"The Army, Navy and Volunteers" was responded to with "The Red, White and Blue," by Mr. Hobbs; "One Hundred Years Ago" and "McCarty's Mare," by Mr. Nelson.

"The Ancient Order of Foresters" elicited a hearty response from Mr. James Wilkins, District Sub Chief Ranger. He was happy to say that Foresters were now scattered over the entire world, the membership numbering over 600,000. As a benefit society he regarded it as a most useful organization; in fact, equal to any in the world. He wished the Order success.

Mr. P. Toll, Secretary of Court Forest City, took pleasure in replying on behalf of the Court of which he was an officer. When the Society was first organized in London East, the maximum membership was expected to be fifty, and yet $56 members had been initiated since that time. In the July audit of the present year it was found that $21 002 86 was in the treasury, whereas only $1 864 46 was shown to be on hand in December last. There were many other good features, but he regarded the Foresters as an organization founded on a good substantial basis, and with ample financial backing. Many pleasant evenings had been spent at meetings similar to the present, and he looked forward to the time when the membership would number 500 strong (Applause).

Bro. E. T. Essery, in a happy response, thanked those present for the hearty manner in which the toast had been honored, and briefly explained the basis upon which the Order was operated. We congratulated the members of Court Forest City upon the excellent entertainment provided.

"The Ancient Order of Sheppards" was responded to by Bro. Hobbs, who explained the objects of this order of Foresters and its special benefits.

Bro. Murray Anderson, Vice-Chairman, then assumed charge of the toast list, and after a few introductory remarks proposed the toast of "The Manufacturing Interests of London East." There was a time when Canada depended for its sustenance upon other countries, but now it was able not only to manufacture sufficient for itself but to export considerable.

Mr. Green sang "I Will Stand by a Friend," and Mr. Burwell "I'd Like to See Old Mazea's Face Again," in fine style.

"Brother Visitors" was coupled with the name of Mr. G. Taylor, Chief Ranger of Court Pride of the Dominion, and that gentleman made a cordial reply.

Mr. F. Burroughs sang "My Cabbages and Turnip Tops."

"Our Sister Courts" was honored with comic songs by Mr. Burroughs and Mr. G. Taylor.

"Kindred Societies," was responded to by Dr. Gardner, who, although a member of other societies, held a very high opinion of the Foresters.

Mr. H. T. Smith returned thanks in behalf of the Temperance Societies.

Mr. A. Luscombe sang "Nora O'Neil" and "Write Me a Letter From Home."

"The Press," "Chairman and Vice Chairman," were proposed and replies made, after which the happy proceedings were closed with "Rule Britannia" by Bro. E. T. Essery.

QUOTING IN ONTARIO.

The Champion Quoiter of Canada and His Record.

Charles A. Walkinshaw, of Wingham, the present heavy weight champion quoiter of Canada, is Scotch by birth, having been born at Slamannan, Stirlingshire, in the year 1855. He is therefore in his 24th year. His height is 5ft. 8in; chest measurement, 40in; weight, exactly 170 lbs. At an early age he evinced a fondness for the game in which he now excels, and the extensive privileges for practice which he enjoyed in Scotland were put to good account when, five years ago, he came to this country. The following is a resume of the more prominent matches he has played in Canada:—His first match took place three years ago. It was for $100. His opponent, Bright, of Listowel, was defeated by six shots. He played at Galt tournament on the 3rd of August, last, and came off third in a field of 34 competitors. At the Toronto tournament held in September last, against 16 players, he took second place. At the Caledonian games of Lucknow, Sept. 10th, he took first. On the 11th, 12th, at Brussels, and first at Listowel on the 13th. He won the silver medal at Wingham tournament on the 16th, and gain prize at Brussels tournament on the 24th. Encouraged by his success, Mr. Walkinshaw immediately challenged the then champion quoiter of Canada—Dobson, o' Galt—to play for the championship and gold medal. The match took place at Galt on Sept. 26th, and Walkinshaw was winner by eight shots. He afterwards won a $100 match from the ex-champion by a score of 61 to 28. Said the first holder of the medal, then tried his skill with the new champion. The match was for $100, and took place at Galt on October 22nd, and resulted in the following score:—Walkinshaw, 61; Reid, 25. D. D. J., of London, one of Canada's finest pitchers, next issued a challenge to play Walkinshaw for the championship. A splendid contest was the result. Mr. Dodd was forced to succumb to the superior playing of the champion, who retained his title by a score of 62 to 28. The return match between these players, which was to have been played here to day (Thursday) has been indefinitely postponed in consequence of the snow storm. The champion throws a 10½ lb. quoit, apparently with the greatest ease, and owing to excellent staying powers is capable of finishing a game in splendid form. The vibratory motion of his quoit rather gives the onlooker the impression that his pitching is unsteady, but in marking its position at the "end" a different opinion is held. Mr. Walkinshaw is a young man of modest manner, prepossessing in appearance, and very much esteemed by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.

DEMPSTER, THE DEFAULTER.

His Arrival in Woodstock—His Sick Wife Ignorant of Her Husband's Wrong Doings.

Per Dominion Line

Woodstock, Nov. 5.—Wm. Dempster, the late Manager of the Ingersoll branch of Molsons Bank, whose arrest took place at Montreal the other day, was brought to the county prison this a.m., by the 6.45 train from the east. He was remanded to day by the Police Magistrate, pending the assistance of counsel. It is expected that the case will engage attention to-morrow, when the facts as to the defalcation or crime are expected to be presented.

Mrs. Dempster, who is very low and critically indisposed, has not been made aware of the situation of her husband.

Jealous Wives.

Given a good reason, who can blame a loving woman for being jealous? But assuredly that woman is her own worst enemy who indulges in causeless jealousy of her husband. It does not so much matter about a lover, because there is nothing so easy in these days of lightly-made "engagements" as to break them; but for the jealous wife, who has no just reason for her jealousy, and for her husband, there is nothing but long continued misery.

Watch the woman who has no confidence in her husband when in the society of others. She is only happy when he has followed the abominable custom of retiring into a corner with other married incumbrances, and addressing vapid words on any subject to either a clever or a pretty woman, and her mouth sets, her face flushes with anger, and her meagre glances soon end the conversation in which her spouse is taking part, if his vis a vis is a woman of tact and not unfrequently brought to desire to see another woman suffer.

The genuine coquette is, of course, delighted to be the cause of jealousy, and the wife who exhibits it renders herself liable to severe wounding.

Men are bad enough, I have no doubt, but as a general thing any gentleman can safely be permitted to make himself agreeable in society to which his wife has the entree. Yet we all know men who dare not do this because of the scene at home which would be sure to follow.

A woman brought up in society seldom displays her jealousy frankly, seldom feels it without cause. She knows that husband as well as wife must play a part in the often empty spectacle that to smile and chat becomes a social duty under such circumstances; that the man who really admires her will not admire her less because he takes a pretty woman by the down to dinner, and she would be ashamed of him were he to forget the courtesies enjoyed by those about him. But the woman whose early life has been very restricted and domestic, and who has a natural jealous spirit, is alarmed by a demeanor which is only the natural result of being in society at all, and often wrecks her happiness by indulging in emotions which she might easily repress, and recriminations which are felt more bitterly that they are totally undeserved.

I once knew a woman—it is an actual fact—who quarrelled with her husband because he helped a lady guest, at their own table, to some dish before he asked his wife if she would also have some of it.

Few wives go so far as this, but many go far enough to make their homes places of torture for all who dwell there. And when this is the case it does not betoken great love on the part of the wife, for one who loves is also truthful.

MARY KYLE DALLAS.

...A petrified fish, in perfect form, was found between two layers of quartz in a Nevada mine the other day.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

Published are the current London Stocks at noo... London, Nov. 5. 1879.

No.	NAME.	Bid.	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
200	Agricultural	111
100	Commercial	100
50	Dominion	118
100	English Loan	100
50	Financial A. of Can.	100
50	Do. do. 2 year	100
50	Imperial Loan Ext	100
50	London Loan	100
50	Royal Standard	105
50	Superior	100
	MANUFACTURING.
50	Fare Faree Pf'y Co	101
	London Gas	130
	Do. Pref	100
	Ben. Estate Assoc'n	100
	Street Railway	100

Montreal Stocks—Nov. 5.

$20 P.M.

	Asked.	Offered
Bank of Montreal	207	206
Merchants' Bank	109	109
Bank of Commerce	117	116
Ontario Bank	73	72½
Bank of Toronto	120	119
Molsons Bank	80	75
Montreal Tel.	1	99
Mon real Tel.	99	98
City Pass. Railway	99	98
Bank Jacques Cartier	104	99
Exchange Bank	101	100
B. C. Insurance Co	55
Bank of Montreal, ex-div	179½
Merchants' Bank, ex	99½	99
Merchant's & Ont. Nav. Co.	80	79½
City Pass. Railway Co	80	79
City Gas Company	99	98

SALES—Bank of Montreal 41 at 207; Merchants' Bank, 60 at 99; Montreal Tel., 26 at 99½, 25 at 99½, 20 at 99, 50 at 99½; Merchants' Bank, 50 at 99½. Morning Board—Bank of Montreal, 25 at 207; Merchants' Bank, 50 at 99½; Montreal Tel., 26 at 99½; City Gas Co., 125 at 100, 25 at 100½.

European Exchange.

London, Nov. 5, 3:00 p. m.

	Demand.	Sixty Days.
Consols	96⅞	96⅞
Erie	33½	33½
Illinois Central	85½	85½

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Nov. 5, 4:00 p. m.

	d	s	d
Flour, p. t.	10	12	6
Wheat, spr.	11	0	11
Wheat, winter	11	0	11
White	11	1	11
Corn	5	10	6
Peas	6	3	6
Barley	5	6	6
Oats	4	7	4
Pork	54	0	55
Lard	37	0	37
Bacon	35	0	35
Cheese	60	0	62
Tallow	39	0	39
Spirits turpentine	27	6	28

The following are the highest quotations for the past week:—

	Oct. 29	30	31	Nov. 1	3	5
	d	d	d	d	d	d
Flour, pe.	12	12	12	12	12	12
Wheat, spr.	11	11	11	11	11	11
Wheat, winter	11	11	11	11	11	11
White	11	11	11	11	11	11
Corn	5	10	5	10	5	10
Peas	6	3	6	3	6	3
Barley	5	7	5	7	5	7
Oats	4	7	4	7	4	7
Pork	54	0	54	0	54	0
Lard	37	0	37	0	37	0
Bacon	35	0	35	0	35	0
Cheese	60	0	60	0	60	0
Tallow	39	0	39	0	39	0
Cake	62	0	62	0	62	0

Cotton.

Liverpool, Nov. 5, 11:30 a. m.—Cotton firm. Uplands..... 6 13-16d | Orleans..... 6 13-16d

Beerbohm's Telegram.

London, Nov. 5.—Floating cargoes of wheat at the opening rather easier; corn steady. Cargoes on passage—Wheat, very inactive; corn steady. Quotations of good cargoes red winter wheat, off the coast, per 480 lbs., sea damage, for sellers' account, less usual 2½ per cent. com., 56s 6d to 58s. Cal. wheat, off the coast, per quarter of 500 lbs., 56s 6d. The importation of wheat into the United Kingdom during the past week:—200,000 to 255 000 qrs.; corn, 80,000 to 85,000 qrs.; flour, 40,000 to 45,000 sacks to be converted into barrels. 140,000 to 165,000 qrs. Weather seasonable. Liverpool—Spot wheat at the opening slow; corn slow. Cal. white wheat, No. 1 standard club, per central, 11s. No. 2 standard, 10s 7d. Cal. red winter wheat, fair average western, p. c. 11s 6d; white Michigan 10s 9d. Liverpool—Red American spring wheat, to No. 2, per central, 10s 10d; range of No. 2, 10s.

Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 5, 9:30 a. m.—WHEAT opens at $1 14½ Dec.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—midnight.—FLOUR dull and unchanged. WHEAT in good demand and lower. No. 2 red winter at $1 14½ to $1 16. No. 3 spring at $1 14½ cash; $1 15½ Nov. CORN lower, at Galt cash; 36½ Dec. OATS lower; 32½ cash; 32½ Dec. RYE easier, at 73c. BARLEY dull and lower, at 85c to 91c. PORK steady and firm, at $10 cash; $9 55 to $9 60 Nov. LARD lower; $6 17½ to $6 10 cash; $6 17½ to $6 20 December. BULK MEATS easier; shoulders, $3 75; ribs, $5 85; do. clear, $5 45. WHISKEY active and lower; $1 06. RECEIPTS—Flour, 25,000 bbls; wheat, 15,000 bush; corn, 197,000 bush; oats, 123,000 bush; rye, 27,000 bush; barley, 79,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 21,000 barrels; wheat, 154,000 bushels; corn, 150,000 bush; oats, 77,000 bush; rye, 3,000 bush; barley, 54,000 bush.

Toledo.

Toledo, Nov. 5.—RECEIPTS—Wheat, 11,000 bush; corn,

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6946

TRY

D. DODD & BRO.,

—FOR—

Choice Family Groceries,

WINES, ETC.

OPPOSITE DUNDAS STREET, 3 doors east of Oddfellows' Hall. 1947

MEDICINES!

can now be obtained both

Night & Day

—AT—

SHUFF'S DRUG STORE

An assistant always sleeps on the premises to answer calls. mwf tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mrs. M. Bird, the American artist, for 30c. per ounce, cannot be equaled in Canada. Factory—No. 213 Richmond street, London. 2167

S. THREAPLETON, RAG CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 121 south Dufferin street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. All orders promptly attended to. 1948

MEDICAL.

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. 2067

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Edge Block, Richmond street, Ottily

H. McLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office removed over Bell's confectionery store, opposite the Post Office. 184 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office, 104 Dundas street. Ainsy

MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street over Davis's store. 1370

MEDICAL CO-PARTNERSHIP.

We, the undersigned, have entered into partnership for the practice of the Medical Profession:

F. RICHARD HOOLE, M.D., JOHN WESTCOTT, M.D., F.R.C.S., Edinburgh, M.R.C.S., England, M.R.C.S., England.

Office hours—9 to 10 a.m., and 2 to 4 p.m. Office and residence, No. 4 King street, cor. Wellington London. Estate-built

HOTELS.

CLIFFORD.—M'DONALD HOUSE.—New and elegant hotel building, newest throughout with hot air. Furniture and appointments first-class. The establishment is designed to supply a long-felt desideratum. Travellers can now obtain accommodation equal to any afforded by the larger towns. Lounge attached to all trains. Farmers' Saturday market. Ottily

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. J. F. MCINTOSH, Prop.

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. DONALD. 2dmy

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE, TO JOHN FOLLINGSBEE, Cobourg Station, Steam Boats. Stages. $1.50 per day.—R. A. PROCTER, Proprietor. 1466-G

THE ROYAL HOTEL, WOODSTOCK, P. FARRELL, Proprietor. Omnibus accommodation to and from Woodstock Jan. 9, 1875. ly

FRANKLIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, P. O. OTT, First-class rooms for commercial travellers. Free sample room. Every convenience. Bus meets all passenger trains.—The report that Austria is co-operating with Russia might be considered necessary. I believe that no steps thus far have been taken towards any military movement. It will be the business of diplomacy to render such steps unnecessary.

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE HOTEL, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES MARTINEAU, Proprietor.

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, Importers and Wholesale Dealers in BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE 262 AND 263 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON. Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. ly

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS and Dealers in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints, Oils &c., Dundas Street, London, Ont. ly

LEGAL.

A. CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc. Edge Block Richmond street, London, Ont. 1930y

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office—Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont. RICHARD HARRIS, JAMES MAGEE, GEO. M. COX. W. J. CLARKE

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 340 Dundas st. Ottily

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—P. J. Horn, 393 Dundas street, near Albert Block

P. J. EDMUNDS, SOLICITOR OF CANADIAN & FOREIGN PATENTS, FIRST PRIZE ENGRAVER ON WOOD. 365 RICHMOND ST. con. KING, LONDON, ONT.

London, Sept. 12, 1879. sodly

AUCTION ROOMS.

ALEX. TYTLER Has received Consignments of New Goods.

AUCTION SALE THURSDAY AND SATURDAY, 11.30 a.m., 7.30 p.m. ALEX. TYTLER, Auctioneer. sod

Arkell's Brewery

AMBER ALE

—AND—

XXX Porter.

The Forest City Grocery

Corner Dundas and Clarence streets, opp. Odds lows' Hall, is noted for the best and cheapest

Groceries, Wines and Liquors.

Highest market price for farm produce. Visitors to the city, don't fail to call at the Forest City Grocery and inspect our stock and prices.

Wines and Liquors of the best brands, done up in flasks, cheap.

S. VINCENT, Grocer, Wine and Spirit Merchant. Jly6dly

LONDON EAST

Book & Stationery Depot,

—AND—

GENERAL NEWS AGENCY.

School Books, Stationery, Purses, Fancy Goods, Violin Strings, Draughts, &c., always on hand. All the latest English and American periodicals. General agency for city papers.

W. ALLASTER, Dundas St. London East sodly

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!

ELLIOTT BROTHERS, 155 Dundas Street, south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in

Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS

A ten cent sample bottle of HARKNESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Pneumonia and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 2057

LAGER BEER PER 3c GLASS.

ED. LEE, Jly3 International House, Dundas street.

TOBACCOS

FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the best, most reliable TOBACCOS.

TRADE MARK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

To Printers, Book Publishers, Stereotypers, Etc.

ALFRED CRAIGIE Has REMOVED his manufactory from St. George to Galt, where he has increased facilities for manufacturing and shipping first-class Cut Cake, Labor-saving Furniture, Wood Rule Reglets, Quoins, Shooting Sticks, Boxwood Rule Board for price list, and he is confident that he sells cheaper than any other firm. ALFRED CRAIGIE, Galt, Ont. 2044

You Should Try

—A—

Extra Choice English Breakfast

TEA

AT SIXTY-FIVE CENTS PER POUND, an A splendid Congou Tea, 50 cents per lb.

TORONTO TEA COMPANY Branch No. 4. Market Lane, sod LONDON, ONT.

Offers superior facilities. Send for circular. Jly5-mwfwly

THE NORTH END STORE IS THE PLACE FOR CHOICE FAMILY GROCERIES AT MODERATE PRICES. All Kinds of Produce Taken in Exchange at Market Prices. Oysters received daily. 25 cents per can.

GEO. DAVISON, Nos. 730 and 731 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

Essential Oils!

RECEIVED.

(4) Four Coppers Oil Lemon.
(2) Two do. " Bergamot.
(4) Four Tins " Myrbane.

B. A. MITCHELL.

TO STEAM USERS.

The Canadian Steam Users' Insurance Association make regular inspections of Steam Boilers and secures by insurance against loss, or damage by explosion. Special attention given to the economizing of steam, saving of fuel, &c. Plans and specifications of boilers and engines made and erection supervised. Head Office, 10 Front street east, Toronto.—Geo. B. Ross, Chief Engineer. G. M. GUNN & SON, Agents, London. 2dmwly

Hewitt & Fysh, CONFECTIONERS,

DUNDAS STREET, NEAR Clarence street, is prepared to supply evening or parties at a distance with the best of Cakes, Blancmanges, &c., on the shortest notice. Or cannot call and leave your orders, send them by mail and they will receive prompt attention. Dundas st. Ottily

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains.

THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs in Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 79 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains. Ottily STEPHENS, FITZGERALD & STEPHENS.

REMOVAL.

DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 364 Dundas street, five doors east of Wellington street. 1913-mwf WANTED, $1,000 American Money AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY, 227 Dundas St., for Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND VALISES now and save money. American Bills taken for same. C. F. AYARS, 227 Dundas St.

COME ALONG JOHN To C. F. AYARS and buy Trunks and Valises Cheap. American Bills taken. s-d 227 Dundas Street.

TO CONSUMERS. GO TO THE California Store —FOR— FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS at prices to suit the times. Goods delivered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed. WM. MOORE & CO., CORNER KING AND RICHMOND STREETS London, August 11, 1879. 1974-y

North End Coal and Wood Yard.

The subscriber begs to thank his many friends for past favors, and having purchased the entire business of Mr. Archibald Parker's share, I will endeavor, as the past, to give satisfaction and good measure. All accounts due the late firm must be paid at once. eodtf GEO. McNEIL.

KINGSMILL'S,

—THE—

Great Dry Goods House

OF THE WEST,

OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES

in various departments this morning.

Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool

FANCY FLANNELS.

Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American

CANTON FLANNELS

EMBOSSED DRESS MATERIALS, with Velvets to match.

BLACK GROS GRAIN SILKS.

Ladies' Black and Drab

CLOTH JACKETS, Berlin and Paris make.

All Wool, Twilled

CANADIAN BLANKETS.

TABLE LINENS.

CASHMERE AND OTHER DRESS GOODS.

Received to-day, new shapes in

LADIES' DRAB MOSCOW HATS.

To Get the Best Value for Your Money

GO TO

KINGSMILL'S.

For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,

GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

THE TURKISH QUESTION.

As Viewed by the Russian Press.

England Determined to Have the Promised Reforms Carried Out.

Effect of Sending the British Fleet to Gulf of Smyrna—A Counter Action Suggested.

London, Nov. 6.—A St. Petersburg correspondent, after stating that the report that the British fleet would proceed to the Gulf of Smyrna had caused embarrassment there, says the people say if the Sultan removes his ministers in consequence of the menacing position of the Beaconsfield Government, it would be a diplomatic defeat for Russia. It is difficult to suppose to prevent this is by sustaining the Sultan in his choice of ministers. A counter demonstration in a military direction by Russia might be considered necessary. I believe that no steps thus far have been taken towards any military movement. It will be the business of diplomacy to render such steps unnecessary.

The Novoe Vremya says:—Evidently Beaconsfield's Ministry aims either at a peaceful change of the Turkish Minister, which would practically place Turkish central authority in England's hands, or at open rupture, threatening Constantinople with serious danger in either case.

The Golos refers to the change in Beaconsfield's policy, in which he lately professed to maintain the integrity and independence of Turkey. It says that the presence of the British fleet in the Gulf of Smyrna will open the eyes of Europe to the real course, namely, England's implacable hatred of Russia, exhibited by the English Ministers at every convenient and inconvenient opportunity.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6.—The official newspaper gives notice of the decision of the Council of Ministers, approved by the Emperor, embodying a report of the Governor-General of Moscow, announcing that the provinces of Kaluga, Tula and Riazan are placed under the Imperial ukase establishing martial-law. The nominations of officials to municipalities and courts of justice, except judges, is transferred to the Governor-General.

THE BRITISH FLEET NOT TO GO TO TURKISH WATERS.

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—It is reported that Moustapha Pasha, Turkish Ambassador to London, having promised Salisbury that the reforms insisted on by England shall be duly carried out, the British Government countermanded the despatch of the squadron to Vourlah. The Porte is now deliberating upon the early execution of the reforms.

London, Nov. 6.—It is stated that Englan merely postponed the despatch of the fleet, notifying Turkey that the fleet would proceed unless substantial action be taken by the fixed date.

London, Nov. 6.—A Vienna dispatch says all accounts from Constantinople unite in testifying to the consternation that the palace at the step taken by the British Government.

London, Nov. 6.—It is asserted that the despatch of the British squadron to Vourlah has not been countermanded, but that Admiral Hornby telegraphed he is delayed at Malta by the unseaworthiness of the Tomaraire.

DENIAL.

London, Nov. 6.—The Turkish Consul-General at Pesth has been empowered to formally contradict the sensational report that England sent a note or ultimatum to Turkey, and to declare the relations between Turkey and England will be as friendly a footing in the future as in the past.

Malta, Nov. 6.—The departure of Hornby's squadron for Vourlah has been postponed for ten days.

London, Nov. 6.—A correspondent at Berlin telegraphs that the movements of the Austrian fleet is considered to confirm the report that Austria is co-operating with England in the endeavor to enforce the execution of the Treaty of Berlin.

London, Nov. 6.—The Times confirms the statement that the British fleet will not go to Vourlah. The Porte has given positive assurance that it will no longer delay the execution of reforms. Moustapha Pasha visited Salisbury on Tuesday to express regret at the misunderstanding. He assured Salisbury there was no change in the Porte's foreign policy. He said the Sultan was very desirous to carry out the reforms, and also that it would be feasible to appoint Baker Pasha commander of the Turkish army. Salisbury, in reply, said the British Government could admit no further delay, and in the opinion of the Turkish Empire was failing to please under the present incident condemn of affairs, but considering Moustapha Pasha's assurances the Government would hold its hand.

GREAT BRITAIN.

GUY FAWKES RIOT IN EXETER.

London, Nov. 6.—There was a riot in Exeter early this morning in connection with the Guy Fawkes' celebration. The mob assembled in the yard of the Cathedral around a bonfire, and attempted to force the enclosure erected to protect the City Bank. The Riot Act was read, and a company of infantry was called out, who fixed bayonets and loaded with ball. This and the free use of policemen's staves cleared the yard in about an hour. Several arrests, and the streets were patrolled till daylight.

FAILURE.

London, Nov. 6.—John Pilkington, proprietor of the Albion Mills, Bolton district, has failed. Liabilities, $240,000

CRISE AFFAIRS.

London, Nov. 6.—It is stated that a long report by the Chief Secretary for Ireland was presented to the Cabinet yesterday concerning the condition of affairs in Ireland. The Secretary was called to participate in the Cabinet deliberations.

THE COTTON TRADE IMPROVING.

Continued improvement is manifested in the Preston cotton trade. Yesterday the Ribble Bank Spinning Mill, which stopped some months, started again, and Herrick's & Jackson's race started their large mill, which has been stopped six months, on full time. The manufacturers are rapidly advancing on the continent.

THE SITUATION IN IRELAND.

London, Nov. 9.—The most distressing accounts continue to reach us of the peasantry in Ireland. It is universally acknowledged that unless they receive assistance there must inevitably be great suffering and possibly starvation during the coming winter. The people are much disturbed at the uncertainty of the Government's intentions toward the poor, and the promise to refer the whole subject to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland for investigation and report is considered by no means encouraging. Alarming reports have been received from Roscommon, where, hitherto, there had been comparatively little disturbance. It is stated that anti-rent leagues have been organized there, and are serving threatening notices upon tenants who pay their rentals. The situation is regarded as very grave throughout Ireland, and it is receiving the serious attention of the Government.

A CONFESSED CRIMINAL.

London, Nov. 6.—George Montagu, who was re-arrested on the 29th ult., after completing a term of imprisonment in Maidstone Jail, and held to await the action of the American authorities, on a confession, which he afterwards retracted, of murdering a soldier in Baltimore, has been discharged for lack of evidence.

ASSASSINATION.

London, Nov. 6.—A Paris correspondent telegraphs that Pilliport has disappeared, leaving enormous liabilities.

RUSSIA.

GEN. LOMAKIN SUPERSEDED.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6.—Russian General Lomakin has been suppended in Central Asia, on account of the defeats by Turcomans.

FRANCE.

A Financial Panic.

London, Nov. 6.—The Times' financial says the Paris Bourse is evidently thoroughly disorganized. It will only recover after the whole speculative position, which has accumulated the past six months, has been liquidated. Several declarations of defaulters were made on Wednesday in Paris, and many speculative brokers failed to meet their engagements. The Bourse closed with a pretty general rise, but was very much agitated. The agitation concentrated on two securities, viz., the shares of the Banque Europeene and Credit Mobilier, Philipport, or his institution, being known to have become a large holder of the latter. Bourse thought and talked of nothing but rumors of the immense losses sustained by Philipport in his speculations. It is stated that the directors of the Banque Europeene have held an extraordinary meeting and decided having no knowledge of the Philipport Bourse operations, which were managed personally by himself. The bank could not hold itself responsible. Philipport was reported to be at Brussels endeavoring to arrange to meet his engagements.

BELGIUM.

FOUR CARLOTTA.

Brussels, Nov. 6.—The most startling and remarkable change has taken place in the mental condition of the unfortunate ex-Empress Carlotta, widow of Maximilian, and her speedy and perfect restoration is now believed to be not only probable, but almost certain, to take place. She now converses lucidly and intelligently. Her memory has returned, and she discusses logically and clearly of her present surroundings and future prospects. She is now engaged in transcribing her diary of the disastrous series of events in Mexico which culminated in her Royal husband's death and the dethronement of her own reason. Her story is told in the most graphic manner, and will be a valuable contribution to the literature of the period. Her condition now plainly indicates that the long night of oblivion and insanity which has enveloped her is nearly at an end, and that the unfortunate lady whose sad story has enlisted the sympathies of the civilized world will soon be restored to reason and to the society of which she was so conspicuous an ornament.

GERMANY.

FORTIFICATIONS.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—To neutralize the strong hold of Belfort on the French frontier, a fortified camp is to be constructed at New Breisach, near the left bank of the Rhine, on the upper Silesia.

FAMINE THREATENED.

Schwasburg and other indigent parts of the empire is threatened with famine, in consequence of bad harvests.

SIGNS OF A DOUBLE POLICY.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—It is much noticed that the Emperor has invited the Russian Grand Duke Vladimir and the Russian Ambassador for several days' shooting at Letzlingen.

THE NEW FOREIGN SECRETARY.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—It is stated that the Foreign Secretaryship, vacant by the death of Von Bealow, has been offered Prince Hohenlohe, German Ambassador at Paris, who would simultaneously be appointed Imperial Vice-Chancellor. It is understood the present Vice Chancellor consented in the arrangement.

AUSTRO-RUSSIA.

BASIS OF THEIR AGREEMENT.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—It is reported the agreement between Russia and Austria, in addition to providing for a general understanding in regard to general interest, also secures a joint action, if required, for the protection of the interest of either Power in the Balkan Peninsula on the basis of the Treaty of Berlin.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6.—The Golos declares that it is time for Russia to offer the Poles the hand of friendship, and thus secure such allies in Germany and Austria that no Austro-German alliance will be dangerous to Russia.

ROME.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN AMERICA.

London, Nov. 6.—It is stated on trustworthy authority that the Vatican is seriously contemplating the reorganization and increase of American bishoprics, in compliance with recent suggestions of Cardinal McCloskey. The Pope will hold a consistory on the 5th of December, when some action in the matter will doubtless be taken.

NEW YORK STATE.

The Result of the Election Still Doubtful.

The following is the total vote in New York City on the balance of State officers after Governor and Lieutenant-Governor already published:—Secretary of State—Carr, 49,736; Beach, 80,132. Comptroller—Wadsworth, 51,094; Olcott, 98,059. Treasurer—Wendell, 50,209; Mackin, 98,408. Attorney-General—Ward, 53,307; Schoonmaker, 97,316. State Engineer—Bemis, 47,845; Seymour, 99,000.

New York, Nov. 6.—The Sun says the rest of the Democratic state ticket seems to be elected by a small majority, although it admits the wards increased the vote over other Republicans. The candidates in New York city makes the contest for the Attorney Generalship very close. It estimates Cornell's plurality 38,818; Potter's majority, 4,232; Kelly's vote, 69,173

New York, Nov. 6.—The Herald says that the probabilities still favor the success of most of the Democratic candidates.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6.—The Express claims the election of the whole Republican ticket, except Beale.

A FUNERAL FIASCO.

Most Disgraceful Scene.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 5.—A disgraceful scene occurred at a funeral yesterday in Henrietta. The widow of deceased and sons by the former wife differed concerning the arrangements and place of burial. Graves were dug at Bloomfield and at Mount Hope, this city. The corpse was hastily transferred from one coffin to another, in the street. The burial proceeded at Bloomfield without further difficulty. It will probably be necessary to guard the grave.

THE CHINESE MUST GO.

Dennis Kearney's Method of Accelerating Their Departure.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—A meeting ostensibly of cigar-makers was addressed last night by a son of Mayor Kalloch. Auditor Dunn and Kearney announced it was proposed to organize a secret society, called the "Jacobin Society," whose object would be to hang any merchant who should employ Chinese, or in any way encourage Chinese labor. A show of hands being called for, the hands of all present were raised in approval. There was no disapprobation shown. Much excitement was produced wherever this action was known.

Canadian Modesty and Morality.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Postmaster-General to-day received a communication from the postal authorities of Canada, stating that all publications styled Police Gazette, &c., are prohibited circulation in the Dominion on account of their immoral character. Despite the utmost precaution of the Canadian Postmasters, some copies of the obnoxious papers are still received in the mails from this country and delivered. It is therefore requested that the United States Government take measures to prevent the forwarding of this class of matter in Canadian mails. The Postmaster therefore this afternoon issued an order that all such publications addressed to Canada shall be unmailable.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

The Credit Valley Railway track was laid as far as Hillsburg on Wednesday night.

The Waterdown Sabbath School Convention commenced yesterday afternoon with a good attendance.

At Cornwall, two men, names unknown, employed by Messrs. Gordon, Woodward & Co., were fatally injured by a falling embankment yesterday.

At the inquest on the body of Elsie Armstrong, in Ottawa, the jury returned a verdict that death was caused from an attempt to procure an abortion by some unknown persons.

The late decision of the Supreme Court of Canada relative to the Queen's Counsel appointed by the Nova Scotia Government, will deprive forty or fifty legal gentlemen of wearing the silk gown.

Wm. Murray, of Salmon River, Colchester County, N. S., seventy years of age, was found dead in the woods near his residence on Friday last. He is supposed to have fallen out of his carriage in a fit.

The Stadacona Bank give notice of an application to Parliament for an act to authorize it to wind up its affairs, in accordance with the resolution of the shareholders passed at the recent special meeting.

John Nicholson, a farmer of Lavall, aged 68 years, while returning home from Quebec yesterday in company with three friends, suddenly fainted and fell out of his cart. When picked up life was found to be extinct.

While the steam barge Morley was coming up the Detroit River on Wednesday night she ran aground. The Great Western ferry Saginaw tried to get her off, but without success. She is still aground at 7 p. m. last night.

Two young men in the employ of Messrs. Green and Ellis, a firm lumbering in Sherbourne township, are supposed to have been lost in the woods, as no trace of them has been found since the time they were first missed on Friday last.

The girl Esther Cox, who created so much interest about a year ago relative to a spiritual manifestation, has been committed to Cumberland jail for trial in the Supreme Court for theft from her employer's house, and also for setting fire to the outbuildings.

The following is the result of the pigeon shooting match at Paris yesterday:—Amateur prize—1st, P. Smuck; 2nd, Geo Baity; 3rd, Fred. Luxford, all of Paris. Innkeepers' prize of $30—1st, James Wheeler, Paris; 2nd, James Cook, Paris; 3rd, James Ramsay, Brantford.

Henry Jackson, supposed to be the man that stole a horse and buggy from Aylmer last week, and robbed a clothes line, between Thamesford and St. Mary's, some two months ago, was arrested at Ingersoll yesterday. Jack won had a rug and buggy in his possession when arrested.

At Hillsburg an inquest was held by Dr. McNaughton, Coroner, on Wednesday night, on the body of Thomas James Neal, who died after a few days' illness. The inquest was held on account of a rumor that he came to his death from ill treatment by his step-father. A post mortem examination was made by Drs. McKinnon and Algie. After a full enquiry, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased had died from natural causes, and exonerating all parties from blame.

Quite a sensation has been caused in St. George by the death of Michael Murphy, laborer at the Commercial House, on Wednesday evening. Deceased has been drinking very hard for the last three weeks and was brought very low in consequence. Dr. Patten was called, but it was found impossible to rally him and he died at nine p. m. He has no relatives where he died, but has a son in good circumstances near Clinton. Deceased for a number of years has annually spent the summer's wages in a carouse, drinking as long as his money lasted. He otherwise bore a good reputation. An inquest is not considered necessary.

Yesterday morning, about 7 o'clock, Mr. Peter Gillaily, a farmer on the 4th Concession of King, was found dead near his own gate. It appears Mr. Gillaily, with some friends, were at Hogan's Hotel on the previous evening, and leaving there about 10 o'clock in company with Mr. Burrows, who was going a part of the way towards Gillaily's home with his wagon. After leaving the wagon Gillaily walked over a mile, when it is supposed he fell, and there remained until found on his knees, with his head inclined under him, by Mr. P. Ross & Mr. Gillaily leaves a wife and three children. Coroner Hillary, of Aurora, will hold an inquest to morrow.

MINOR AMERICAN TELEGRAMS.

At Chicago 1,000 men struck at the Stock Yards yesterday morning, and received the advance from meat-packers, and resumed.

The house and outbuildings of Isaac Spefford, in Brownfield, Me., were burned yesterday. Spefford perished in the flames.

At St. Paul, Major Reno, of court-martial notoriety, of the 7th Cavalry, is to be tried before a court-martial on the 24th for conduct growing out of a drunken spree on Friday, which resulted in two fights.

A Washington dispatch says the Democratic managers say their party will pursue a conservative and constitutional policy in the next session of Congress, keeping the fire-eating and fire-breathing element as quiet as possible.

Mr. Potter, an English member of Parliament, and Wm. Forwood, President of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, were introduced to the New York Chamber of Commerce yesterday, and in a speech favoring a revision of the American tariffs, Potter said he did not doubt that in twenty or thirty years the population of the United States would be double that of Great Britain.

CABLE NOTES.

Sarah Bernhardt has been very ill.

The French Chambers have been convoked for the 27th inst.

The statement that Andrieux has resigned, as Prefect of the Paris police, is untrue.

It is reported that a further reduction in the Austrian army in occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina will be made.

It is rumored that Prince Thomas of Savoy, brother of the Queen of Italy, will marry the daughter of the Crown Prince of Germany.

A Berlin dispatch says that Bismarck's physician reports that the prince's condition does not allay the alarming rumors lately current.

The Pandalia, an Italian newspaper, announces that all the Ottoman ambassadors have been instructed to deny the report of the understanding between Turkey and Russia.

The Prince of Roumania has conferred upon Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, the order of the "Star of Roumania" for his participation in the Russo-Turkish campaign.

A Paris dispatch says that the sale of the St. Petersburg Gazette is forbidden in the streets of towns in Germany on account of articles entitled "German Women," which are full of insults to the German nation.

A Paris correspondent says that Prince Jerome Napoleon seems to be decidedly taking the airs of a competitor for the Presidency of the Empire. He has surrounded himself with a complete diplomatic household.

The Jamaica floods have subsided, and rains ceased, but immense damage was done to the roads of the country, which it will take months to repair. Nearly one hundred lives have been lost. The coffee crop suffered heavily.

The Evangelical Provincial Church of Bohemia and the German Evangelical community here protest against the accusations by foreign missionaries and English journals that intolerance is displayed towards Protestants in Bohemia.

A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Made

IS THE REMARK OF CUSTOMERS leaving our store daily, when they compare our prices with those of others in the trade who do not a limited business, and hold to the long prices system. Our motto is and has been for the past seven years, "Quick sales and small profits," which, together with strict attention to the wants of our customers, has proved for us the largest and most satisfactory trade in our line in the city. We have to apologize to a limited room in our store, but we hope to have our customers in a few months in the largest and finest store in the Dominion.

Horner and Somerville CITY GROCERY.

LATEST FROM MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Thanksgiving Day was generally observed as a close holiday in the city. The public offices, banks and wholesale houses were closed. All the principal retail stores were also shut. Services were held in the Protestant churches in the morning.

The matinees at the theatres in the afternoon were crowded.

A large party of excursionists arrived in town last night from Vermont.

A number of bad characters arrived here by rain last night from Toronto. A posse of detectives were on hand to receive them.

The apple shipping trade to England is still very active here.

Sugar advanced half a cent per pound yesterday, and an advance in iron is expected to-morrow, in sympathy with cable advices from England to-day.

A report that Dr. Beers, a well known dentist here, had disappeared, caused by derangement, is without foundation.

The Earl of Dunraven left town this morning for Quebec, en route for England.

LATEST FROM OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Thanksgiving day was pretty well observed by the Protestant portion of the community. Their places of business were closed, and special services were held in the Anglican, Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Baptist churches.

An American named Robbins, from Cleveland, is negotiating with Philip Thompson, proprietor of the Baldwin Iron Mines, for the purchase of a large quantity of iron ore. Should they come to terms the mine will be reopened.

There was no session of the Supreme Court to-day.

Mr. Rosamond, of the firm of Rosamond Bros., woollen manufacturers, Almonte, was in the city to day, and he says there is no foundation for the report that the mills have been shut down on.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Thanksgiving day was observed by a total cessation of business, excepting in the saloons and newspapers, which were in full swing. Special services were held in most of the city churches in the morning, and special matinees were given in the theatres in the afternoon. The play houses were crowded, but the churches were mostly thinly attended.

Last evening, when a farmer named Alexander Marron was driving along the York and Vaughan plank road, the horse shied at some obstacle on the road side, and the conveyance and its occupant were thrown down an embankment. The animal was instantly killed, and the farmer was so badly injured that he died shortly afterwards. He leaves a wife and family. The buggy was badly wrecked. The cause of the accident is about five miles from the city.

The moulders employed at the foundries in the city are agitating for a ten per cent. increase in wages, and are likely to get it, business being very brisk.

A meeting of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association was held last evening to wind up the business for the present year. The Secretary and Treasurer were instructed to make reports of the proceedings of the present year for circulation and for presentation to the corporation. Plans for an extension of the main building were laid before the meeting, but no definite action was taken. Capt. McMaster stated that he intended to get out a large shipment of Scotch and English tweed for exhibition next year, not to compete for a premium, but to encourage the manufacture of similar goods in Canada. The Captain also stated that he knew a number of merchants who did not exhibit this year, who would do so next. Instruction was given to the Association solicitor to proceed against several tradesmen who have had prize cards printed for the purpose of imposing on the public. It was finally decided that next year's exhibition should be held the second and third week in September.

It Haulan is successful in his new race with Courtney he will make a trip still over to England or Australia. He has received a letter from Col. Shaw, urging him to come visit England, and now for the Sportsman Cup. He thinks himself a journey to the Antipodes would win him the most honor and the most money, but he hates to relinquish the possession of the Cup without a contest for it.

Sarah Mahwood, aged ten, daughter of a farmer living in York township, was crossing a fence to-day when an infuriated cow ran at her, and before she could escape gored her in the posterior part of her body, inflicting a terrible wound. She was brought to the general hospital, placed under chloroform, and the injured part sewn up. She now lies in a very critical condition from loss of blood and the shock to her system.

Daniel and John Howson, two farm laborers from Clarksville, county of Grey, were arrested to-day on their way to Manitoba on a telegram from Brigade Major Denison, charging them with stealing two suits of military clothing.

MEXICO.

A New Revolutionary Movement on Foot—Policy of the Agitators.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—By parties who profess to be on the inside it is asserted that a very large proportion of the population of Mexico is dissatisfied with the Government of Diaz, and the dissatisfaction has taken the shape of an organized revolutionary government, which includes many of the most distinguished Mexican soldiers. The outbreak, which will involve several of the most important Mexican States, is imminent. The agent of the Government for the restoration of the Republic of Mexico, of which Gen. Desbornes is President, is here endeavoring to negotiate for material and for the further overthrow of Diaz. It is reported that some of the heaviest capitalists on the Pacific coast are now considering a scheme to supply the revolutionary government with supplies, in return for which they are to be granted first authority to authorize National Bank of Mexico notes, to be legal tender for all debts, and to be receivable in payment for public lands, at $1 per acre, all public lands to be set apart for this purpose. Second—Franchise for railways and telegraphs throughout Mexico, and subsidies in lands and National Bank notes, sufficient for construction. Third—The abolition of all duties on importations from the United States into Mexico by land. The rights of emigrants are guaranteed. Taxation and service in the Mexican army for a stated period is to be remitted, and religious toleration assured. There seems to be no doubt that ambitious men in Mexico are concerned in the movement. It is learned from Boston the same scheme has been submitted to the capitalists who own the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway. These gentlemen have already sent an agent to Mexico to endeavor to obtain from Diaz the same franchise. Failing in this, it is said they have promised to give the scheme their earnest attention.

SHIPPING.

London, Nov. 5.—Arrived out, Schermerhorn and D'Rhinemann.

New York, Nov. 5.—Arrived, Bristol City, from Bristol, and Falcia, from Newcastle.

London, Nov. 6.—Arrived out, steamships Australia, Devon, Oder, Sidonian and Canada.

Queenstown, Nov. 6.—Arrived, steamship Wyoming.

Midnight Weather Report.

Washington, Nov. 7, 1 a.m.—Indications:—Lower Lakes—Partly cloudy and in the northern portions light rain.

Yesterday, a dwelling house, owned by H. Mather, on the Richmond Road, was destroyed by fire together with the contents. The loss is placed at $2,500; insurance, $1,700. The fire originated from a defective flue.

The Free Press.

Friday, November 7, 1879.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Midnight Telegraphic Despatches, is issued every morning, supplying the earliest information published west of Toronto, architecture the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western towns—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 2 o'clock a. m., also finds a place in its columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, contributing other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is issued at 4 o'clock p.m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at TWO CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city, and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month ..... $ 50
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid 6 00

Send post office order when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention, subscribers wishing their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts made at following rates, per inch, in Daily:—

1 Day	$1 90	5 Days	$2 70	1 Month	$6 00
2 "	1 80	6 "	3 00	3 "	9 00
3 "	2 00	2 Weeks	4 80	6 "	12 00
4 "	2 40	3 "	6 00	12 "	20 00
One Year					$30 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must be ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page—First day 15c. per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Births 25c., Marriages 25c., Death 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, leaded, 15 cents a line; advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1 00 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on lo g time advertisements.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News correspondence of interesting character is invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE LONDON FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly sealed and full postage paid to insure their delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless so requested and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON, ONTARIO.

GOVERNOR ROBITAILLE'S REFUSAL.

This journal showed a few days ago how the Grit organ in Toronto had blocked the way to its denunciation of His Honor, M. Robitaille, on account of his having refused a dissolution to M. Joly as his last resource in his struggle for office. But for this unfortunate blindness to the future on the part of the organ, the honorable gentleman would scarcely be able to recognize himself in the picture that would have been painted of him in the Reform journals of this Province. But deprived of the pleasure of abusing the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec for not yielding to the demands of his Prime Minister, it endeavors to make amends by contrasting the action and opinions of the present with those of the preceding Lieutenant-Governor, and striking the balance in favor of his hero as respects constitutional practice, M. Letellier.

Now, in summing up the reasons which the Hon. M. Robitaille assigns for the refusal of M. Joly's demand, there is not one that can be classified in the same category with the act of M. Letellier. The present Lieutenant-Governor claims the right of dissolution as a part of the royal prerogative, and so it is. No one denied it in the case of the former Lieutenant-Governor, and no one will dispute it in the case of the present. But this was not the action between M. Letellier and the De Boucherville Government at all, and, therefore, no contrast, or parallel can be drawn between them.

Th Lieutenant-Governor feels himself bound to enquire, whether the exercise of his prerogative in such a case is demanded in the interest of the country. A Sovereign would scarcely refuse a demand for a dissolution when pressed upon him by his Cabinet, unless he saw some good prospect of his being able to call to his counsel, men who would be enabled to carry on the affairs of the country by the support they would obtain in the House of the people's representatives. Neither would he be justified in granting a dissolution to a Cabinet, whose prospect of appealing successfully to the country was not bright and encouraging. On the latter he was bound to refuse Mr. Joly's demand for a dissolution, and on the former view he was equally bound to give a fair trial to the leader of the Opposition, and the result has fully proved the wisdom of M. Robitaille's course.

The Lieutenant-Governor has acted in this case in strict conformity with the highest authorities who have written on this point:—

"A valuable security against the im"proper exercise of this prerogative
"is that, before a dissolution can take "place, it must be clearly approved of
"by the Sovereign, after all the circum"stances shall have been explained to him,
"and he shall have duly considered them.
"Upon such an occasion the Sovereign "ought by no means to be a passive instru"ment in the hands of his ministers; it is
"not merely his right, but his duty, to ex"ercise his judgment in the advice they "may tender him. And though by refusing "to act upon that advice, he incurs a seri"ous responsibility, if they should in the "end prove to be supported by public "opinion, there is perhaps no case in which
"this responsibility may be more safely
"and more usefully incurred than when
"the ministers ask to be allowed to appeal
"to the people from a decision pronounced
"against them by the House of Commons.
"For they might prefer this request when
"there was no probability of the vote of "the House being reversed by the nation,
"and when the measure would be injuri-
"ous to the public interests. In such cases
"the Sovereign ought clearly to refuse to "allow a dissolution."

There is no doubt that these are the very reasons that were before the mind of the Lieutenant-Governor when he refused the demand of the late Government, and that they moved him to take the course he did, but we fall still to see any analogy between this case and that of the former occupant of the same office. The outrageous conduct of M. Letellier cannot be in the slightest degree mitigated by the action of his successor in refusing a dissolution to M. Joly and his friends.

New York Bulletin:—"The Montreal journals continue to protest against the high ocean freights that prevail at that port, as tending to drive trade to New York. There is no lack of facts, as the lawyers say, to sustain the demurrer. For instance, four cargoes of grain left Canadian lake ports for Oswego and Buffalo on Friday, not because there was no space for them at Montreal, but on account of exorbitant freights being demanded. Consequently they were sent by the cheapest transportation route, and New York got them."

SILK GOWNS OR STUFF.

When the Ontario Government under Mr. Mowat exercised the privilege of creating certain members of the legal profession Queen's Counsellors, Sir John Macdonald expressed the opinion that it might be found that it had exceeded its jurisdiction. This opinion was at once attributed to political reasons, because a number of "reform" lawyers had been helped up from stuff gowns to silk ones. It was argued, too, from this point of view, that those eminent jurists, Mr. Mowat and Mr. Blake, would not have given their sanction to such a proceeding if it had been beyond their jurisdiction. So the new Q. C.'s tucked their comfortable robes around their legs, and smiled with the self-consciousness of their elevated position. The same line of action having been taken in Nova Scotia, and objected to, the case came up on appeal at Ottawa on Tuesday, before the Supreme Court, when it was decided that Lieut.-Governors are not endowed with the power to create Queen's counsel, which rests with Her Majesty herself or through her representative in Canada, the Governor General. Considering the Grits have claimed the Supreme Court as an institution of their own creation, the special outcome of the genius of Mr. Blake, the occurrence is a repetition of the experience of the engineer hoist with his own potard. So destructive of the "Reform" policy in this matter has this decision been that Mr. Bethune, himself an adherent of that cause, has thrown up his silk gown in disgust, and gone back to bombazine. He feels that he has been unworthily paraded in lustrous material at the instance of a not very illustrious authority, and sinks with a groan into a back seat among juniors of the profession. No doubt the example he has set will be speedily followed by those who have been wearing the togs which Mr. Mowat supplied, but which is found to be altogether unlawful for them to use. But it does not place them in so ridiculous a light as it does Mr. Mowat, who presumed himself to be the foundation of legal honor in Ontario. The Supreme Court has administered a smb to him of a startling kind, being no less than to say that he had presumed to distribute honors which he had no power to confer. That he will bear this rebuff with the meekness of a Christian politician there is little doubt of, and be prepared to turn the other cheek for some subsequent slap. The incident will do good, as tending to curb the disposition evident in quarters to set provincial legislation, provincial authority higher that of the Dominion.

OTEWAYOISM IN QUEBEC.

One of the most excellent results of the Letellier embroglio will be to teach Lieut.-Governors to keep their places. The position taken by the ex-Lieut.-Governor of Quebec was that as he had got his appointment he was supreme, and that he could indulge in any mad antics that took possession of him without being called to account by the source from which he obtained his license. That the position was an absurd one was evident to all who chose to reflect upon it. It was to lay down the proposition that the created was greater than the creator, that the stream was higher than its source. Yet this absurdity has been gravely maintained by "reformers," because in presuming upon it Mr. Letellier had on the legs under the impression that they were opposed, though it was constitutionally supported, and rolled it over in the dust. The capers that were cut up upon that occasion were in character, if not in kind, similar to those of some potentate like Otewayo, who would decapitate half a score of counsellors before breakfast for his own good pleasure, and pay his respects to their grinning skulls upon the gate posts of his kraal as he went into early coffee. It is true that Mr. Letellier was not so blood-thirsty, and that De Boucherville's head still rests upon his shoulders. Yet the spirit exhibited was the same as that which a Otewayo might indulge. He felt himself to be a high and mighty Lieut.-Governor, endowed with a handsome uniform and cocked-hat. He could refuse his royal will with a that. The tenor of events has been to set such assumptions in the back ground, and to let the public know that in a constitutional sense the minor administrators are supreme no line of policy that may not be taken into consideration by the Dominion Government. If alone for a definite settlement of that landmark recent history in Quebec will not be without its value. A precedent has been made which will live, and Lieutenant-Governors may plan that they must not assume the purple, and effect to raise up and set down as the whim may seize them.

INQUESTS ON THE CHEAP.

While some of our coroners in the West complain of the smallness of the remuneration allowed for the holding of inquests, people in the East complain of the enormous sums exacted for such service by coroners and those employed by them in the holding of post-mortem examinations. An Ottawa dispatch says:—"Five medical men to conduct a post-mortem examination, and a medical man as coroner! This is how such matters are conducted here. Little wonder that the people are making long faces over the expense of coroners' inquests." Some sort of reform seems called for in this matter. It is certainly the duty of a coroner to elicit the truth at any reasonable cost of money or time and by whatever process may be necessary. Here is the West it is given out that as a rule no cross-examination is permissable at inquests on account of the absorption thereby of the "Crowner's" valuable time. But it is often seen in the law courts that cross examination is a very essential mode of extracting the truth from a dense or unwilling witness. Down east they go to the other extreme, and although the antipathy to lawyers may be equally strong and stringent in its operation, the doctors are afforded a "show" at inquests which sometimes, as in the case quoted, looks somewhat at variance with the real necessities of the case. The public, however, would not be disposed to grumble unduly at the time taken up or expense incurred in an investigation that has been deemed necessary in the interests of justice. An inquest that is hurried over simply on the ground of economy is apt to degenerate into a solemn farce. The public mind demands not only that such an investigation shall be thorough and exhaustive in itself, but that it shall receive the fullest publicity at the earliest moment. To "scamp" it over on the cheap, and at the same time place obstacles in the way of publication would be to foster a suspicion in the public mind that all was not right and above board. In this view of the case, our Ottawa friends seem to find needless fault.

Mr. Gladstone is expected to publish in the University Magazine a series of papers conveying his impressions and experiences in Italy. It is asserted by one to whom the ex-Premier has sketched his idea that the series will embrace the religious, political and social aspects of united Italy. There is brisk competition among publishers. One rather anguishing periodical offered him 100 guineas an article, the price he receives from the monthly reviews, but though "The People's William" is keen about his money, he closed with humbler terms from the magazine of his selection.

PRESS RIVALRY.

A newspaper war is being developed at Toronto between the Mail and the Globe. For some time past the former journal has been treading close upon the heels of its long-established rival, and has recently made the announcement that, in addition to other sources of information, arrangements have been made for the inclusion of the New York Herald's special European dispatches among its news. The Globe retorts by pooh-poohing the so-called enterprise, declaring that the Herald's news is made up of padding and big letters, sensation headings, and so forth, and that every item of moment appears in their own columns. While this scrimmage is amusing enough, it is well-known that the western public relies upon the London FREE PRESS for its early news. Not only has this journal access to all the news of the day, telegraphic and otherwise, but the geographical position of this city gives the publishers of the FREE PRESS peculiar advantages. Thus this journal reaches places as far east as Brantford two hours ahead of the Toronto dailies. It reaches Stratford from three to four hours ahead. It reaches Ricardine and the north from four to five hours in advance; while going direct westward it anticipates them from seven to eight hours. Good as the Toronto journals undoubtedly are, they cannot overcome this longitudinal difficulty. Long before their sheets reach the West, the public has been informed through our columns what has been going on in all parts of the world—"from China to Peru"—together with such information arising in Canada of general interest. Moreover, we do not place before our readers columns of ill-digested matter, leaving them to wade through long strings of paragraphs of mere words, words, in order to convey one short fact. Time in the West is far too precious for that, there is presented a carefully prepared epitome of the news, details being only gone into when they are of paramount importance. Whatever the Toronto press may please to do it will be found that the FREE PRESS will hold it own in the west—which is saying a good deal.

New York Times:—It was long since discovered in London, as well as in New York, that it is almost impossible to expel man from a club for an ordinary offense against honesty or honor which does not subject him to legal prosecution. Theoretically, no member of any reputable club can remain such if he be guilty of any behavior "unworthy of a gentleman;" but this phrase has the vaguest, most elastic significance. It is one thing to make the rule, and quite another to carry it out. There is hardly a club here, or in London either, that has not certain members whom the respectable element would very gladly get rid of, but they cannot, according to the rules of the organization. Repeated efforts have been made by all clubs to expel rogues from able members; but the efforts very rarely succeed unless such members have public or disgraceful antecedents. When it is remembered that, ostensibly, a primary condition of eligibility to a club is gentleman ship, one is puzzled to determine how many persons evidently varying from that exalted condition continue to get elected to clubs, even more than elsewhere, the word gentleman has so indefinite a meaning as to be virtually meaningless.

A Model Jury.

At an inquest at Hereford on the body of a married woman, the jury, after they were sworn, retired to consider their verdict. After a short time asked to be allowed to retire. They were then taken in charge by the sergeant-at-mace and locked up. After half an-hour's deliberation, a juryman came out with a verdict, which the coroner would not accept. The juryman: "Do I understand that we are to stop here all night without meat, drink, or fire?" The coroner:—"Yes." The juryman:—"Then, I think we are agreed." Another half hour passed, and then a juryman said there were other theories—such as of Miss Edwards having entered a convent, having eloped, having gone on board a ship and had been carried off, &c.—are given in—not if he stopped there a month. The coroner then called the jury in and pointed out the following: "Is it not a case of one dogs and one bone." At 10.15 p.m., the jury, after a excitement, but the coroner having into the one, and passing a verdict that deceased came to her death by spinal apoplexy, brought on by excitement; but the eleven added a rider to the verdict that the cause of death was the husband.—London Solicitors' Journal.

A Strict Diamond Test.

It is the rule of the Lord Chamberlain's office at London to send to the Queen's jewellers for valuation all the ornaments which are worn in palace after a court ball or concert. The day after a state ball a gentleman came to the office and enquired for a diamond necklace which he believe had lost the night before. The chief clerk assured him that no diamond necklace had been found, whereupon the loser hand proceeded to expatiate on the enormous sum which he had given for the necklace, with description of its various beauties. The clerk listened in silence with much apparent sympathy, and, just as the loser was taking his leave, quietly remarked:—"It is a very odd coincidence, but your necklace was of the same pattern as a paste ornament which has been found, but which has been pronounced of so little value that it was not worth advertising." The paste necklace was produced, and it ended by the gentleman signing a receipt for it, which involved swallowing a large mouthful of humble pie, after his circumstantial description of the cost of it.

Effects of Carolina Water Spouts.

Mr. W. T. Reid, of Walhalla, S. C., informs us that two water spouts fell—one near the head of the Tennessee River, not far from Mr. Scruggs's, and another lower down, near the house of Mr. John McDowell, jr. He speaks of them as taking very large rocks and trees down the mountain sides as they went, and in some places making paths in the earth four feet deep and fifty feet wide. We are glad to learn that no lives were lost by the water-spouts, and no property destroyed save the crops that were gathered. The water-spouts account for the rapid rise in the river last Friday night. Old citizens here say they never knew the river to rise or fall so fast. Sunday even the "ailest man could walk where, less than seventy-four hours before, the water would have been over his head.—Franklin (N. C.) Reporter.

A Queer Case for Georgia Courts.

A singular case is to be tried in Gilmer superior court next week. About a year ago a showman was exhibiting a monkey in that county. Among other tricks the monkey had been taught to fire a pistol. A showman handed him a pistol and told him to "shoot the ugliest man in the crowd." Some mischievous boys had put shot in the pistol, and when the monkey picked out his man and fired, the shot took effect and slightly wounded the ugly man, who took his knife, cut the monkey's throat, and whipped the showman. The monkey died the next day. The ugly man is indicted, but we know not whether it is for the murder of the monkey, malicious mischief, riot, or assault and battery.—Forest (Ga.) News.

...A new invention has been tried with success in London in the utilization of the power generated in stopping street cars for the purpose of restarting them and thus saving the extra exertion of the horses. The contrivance is a coiled spring, which is wound up by the stopping of the car, and which, when released, acts on the wheels so as to impart motion. It acts, too, as an assistance to horses up a steep grade, the power having been acquired in a preceding down grade and kept stored in the spring until the energy is required.

THE LIVERPOOL LADY'S FREAK.

Finding of Miss Edwards After Several Weeks' Mysterious Disappearance.

From the Liverpool Mercury, Oct. 23.

The intimation we gave yesterday that a certain clue to the whereabouts of Miss Edwards, who so mysteriously disappeared from her home at Fairfield on the 3rd of September, had been obtained, was yesterday fully confirmed by a telegram to the effect that she was then staying at the residence of one of her uncles in the metropolis, where she had been met by her parents.

The circumstances which led to the discovery of Miss Edwards are as follows:—Last week a communication was received from a person named Lloyd, who was formerly in the Liverpool police force, and who lives in one of the large lodging-houses common in that quarter of London between Oxford street and Trafalgar square. His attention was first called to Miss Edwards by seeing her passing through Finsbury circus, and, struck by her remarkable resemblance to the published description, he watched her movements, and became strengthened in his impression that he was on the right track. He subsequently saw her in the same neighborhood, and endeavored, by a casual remark, to engage her in conversation, but only with partial success. Her reserve only tended to confirm his suspicions, and he kept a sharp look-out for her, meanwhile communicating with the friends of Miss Edwards in Liverpool. Mr. Samuel Campbell, of Elm Park, who has taken the deepest interest in the case, and spent freely both time and money in following up many of the supposed clues, at once proceeded to London to ascertain how far Lloyd's surmisions were correct. Unfortunately, the clue had been lost for the moment, and a weary search to recover it followed. For two or three days and nights the localities in which the young lady had been seen were paced by Mr. Campbell and his aid, but without success. Lloyd, however, was confident that he would sooner or later again get on the track, unless she had left London, and he mentioned incidents as to the movements and bearing of the lady which satisfied Mr. Campbell that it was necessary to have the clue closely followed up. Mr. Campbell returned to Liverpool on Monday, and on Monday night a telegram was received that the track had been resumed. Next morning Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left for London. There they found that their missing daughter had really been discovered, and that she was now staying at the residence of one of her uncles. It seems that when Mr. Campbell was leaving for Liverpool he made a suggestion to Lloyd which, in the event of the supposed Miss Edwards being again seen, might be found useful. The suggestion was to address her by her Christian name, and to hint that, as further concealment was out of the question, an adjournment to the residence of her uncle was advisable. The case appears to have been attended with the result already mentioned.

The motive which prompted Miss Edwards to indulge in a freak which has created such a sensation, and lead to so much anxiety and trouble for the present unexplained.

Now that the whole story has been revealed, the numerous and wildly-differing theories formed in connection with the case become instructive. The general impression—and it was shared by the most experienced heads of the Liverpool Police force—was that the solution would be found where it almost invariably found in such cases, namely, in voluntary action on the part of the person disappearing. We need hardly say that this was not the opinion of the young lady's family, nor was it shared by many of their friends, who saw no valid reason for coming to such a conclusion. Their belief was that her disappearance resulted from causes entirely beyond her own control, and that she was detained somewhere against her will. It was this suggestion which gave the case a painful interest, for if free it would hardly be brought to every fireside the presence of a peril so horrible in its bearings that the whole community would have refused itself to make the repetition of such a danger an impossibility. The police from the outset adopted the idea that Miss Edwards was detained in any resort of infamous character, having good reason to know, first, that any such outrage would be grossly improbable in the full light of day, and, second, that, if committed, discovery could not be averted. Some reflections have been cast upon the detective department for clinging to this opinion. The best proof how far these reflections were justified will be found in the sequel to the story. The other theories—such as of Miss Edwards having entered a convent, having eloped, having gone on board a ship and had been carried off, &c.—are given in—not if he stopped there a month. The coroner then called the jury in and pointed out the following: "Is it not a case of one dogs and one bone." At 10.15 p.m., the jury, after a excitement, but the coroner having into the one, and passing a verdict that deceased came to her death by spinal apoplexy, brought on by excitement; but the eleven added a rider to the verdict that the cause of death was the husband.—London Solicitors' Journal.

ROBBED BY MASKED BURGLARS.

Binding a Farmer's Family and Plundering the House at Their Leisure.

The usually quiet village of Unionville, Orange County, N. Y., was on Monday startled by the report that the residence of a farmer named Hough, near the village, but in Sussex County, N. J., had been visited the previous night by a gang of masked burglars. There were four in the party, all young men apparently, all dressed in dark clothes, and all wearing masks of white cloth, which entirely concealed their features. One of the latter, after a hard-fought and exciting struggle, succeeded in binding Mr. Hough and his family, and then, at their leisure, ransacked the house, plundering two horses and his wonderful horsemanship, tells a story of how he was knocked down and nearly killed by an elephant where the town of Durban now stands. For 30 years he held the position of Secretary for Native Affairs for Natal. Governors came and went, but he, being unknown at home, remained without promotion in comparative obscurity. But all these years he was quietly and unobtrusively carrying on a mighty work. Circumstances beyond his control had brought hundreds of thousands of Zulu Kafirs into the colony. He was their appellate judge; he settled their quarrels, regulated their taxation, and infused English might, united in the person of England's Queen, the great "Inkosi Kaas" over the water. No white man's name has ever been so loved and respected among the native races of South Africa, from the Cape to the Zambesi, as that of "Somptseu." It is in itself a power that can gather or disperse thousands, and it is and English might, united in the person of one great chief. How well his policy has succeeded is testified to by the fact that it has stood the strain of the Zulu war and exception of the Langalibalele disturbance in 1874, which partook somewhat of the nature of a panic on the part of the colonists, no single outbreak of any sort has occurred during the history of the colony; nor, indeed, when things looked so black after the Sandhlwana (Isandula) disaster did the native chiefs, as was expected of them, signs of throwing off their allegiance. In 1861 Sir Theophilus proceeded, as a mission, to Zeuland, sent, at the request of Panda, Cetywayo's father, to settle the succession to his crown. It was on this occasion that he was declared by the Zulus to be holder or representative of the spirit of Chaka, the great founder of their race. He tells a story of the occasion that is worth recording. Something had occurred to irritate the Zulus, some 15,000 of whom were standing in regiments round the debating place, and waxing more and more angry. At last the situation grew so critical that it became clear to him that both his own and Panda's life were in imminent danger. Whereupon, facing the matter with that cool courage of which he is so noted, he called out to the mass that immediately surged nearer and nearer, "I know what you mean; you can kill me, that is an easy thing; but I tell you, Zulus, my blood will never dry upon your soil. You think Natal holds the English power; it is nothing to them but a cattle station. They will come in thousands to avenge me from over the mountains there from the north!" So intense was the excitement, that as he pointed northward the whole host turned, as though expecting to see his words verified. "I dare say," adds Sir Theophilus, in telling the story, "that this was the other day the Zulus saw the regiments marching on the kraal, after the battle of Umudi, from the north, to which Mrs. Hough, alarmed for her husband's life, besought the hired man not to fire, but he dropped his weapon. He was immediately seized from behind by the other two robbers, who hurried him back to his room, where they bound him and also the servant girl, with halters procured from the barn. In the meantime the two men in Mr. and Mrs. Hough's room had securely bound them, and the door of Aunt Sarah's room being fastened, the entire household was completely at the mercy of the robbers. They then leisurely ransacked the house, devoting two hours to their work. They succeeded in finding $270 in money, but evidently expected to find more, and in their anger at being disappointed they destroyed a large quantity of clothing, which they did not consider valuable enough to carry away. They also found a quantity of jewelry and some silverware, which they added to their plunder. They then visited the kitchen, where they made a hearty lunch, after which they drove off, leaving the victims bound.

About an hour after their departure the hired man succeeded in freeing himself from his bonds, and he at once relieved the girl and Mr. and Mrs. Hough and Aunt Sarah. Mr. Hough and his man at once proceeded to the stable with the intention of driving to Unionville to give information to the authorities, but, to their dismay, they found that the burglars had destroyed every piece of harness there was in the place. When they finally got a harness patched up from the pieces, the robbers had a good two hours' start. It is supposed that the robbers came from Port Jervis, to which place information was sent, and also to Sergt. Jacob Wilson, of the Jersey City Police, who is a son-in-law of Mr. Hough, with a request that a lookout be kept in that direction for the thieves.

SIR THEOPHILUS SHEPSTONE.

The Man who Annexed the Transvaal and Crowned Cetewayo.

From the London

It is nearly 40 years since Sir Theophilus (then Mr.) Shepstone first came to Natal. Shortly after his birth in England his parents emigrated to the Cape. On arriving at manhood he took service under the Cape Government, and served on the staff of Sir Benjamin Durban through the Kaffir war of 1835. Ten years later he came to Natal as Diplomatic Agent to the tribes inhabiting that colony. Natal was then nothing but a wilderness covered with large game; and Sir Theophilus, who in his youth was noted for his hunting prowess and his wonderful horsemanship, tells a story of how he was knocked down and nearly killed by an elephant where the town of Durban now stands. For 30 years he held the position of Secretary for Native Affairs for Natal. Governors came and went, but he, being unknown at home, remained without promotion in comparative obscurity. But all these years he was quietly and unobtrusively carrying on a mighty work. Circumstances beyond his control had brought hundreds of thousands of Zulu Kafirs into the colony. He was their appellate judge; he settled their quarrels, regulated their taxation, and infused English might, united in the person of England's Queen, the great "Inkosi Kaas" over the water. No white man's name has ever been so loved and respected among the native races of South Africa, from the Cape to the Zambesi, as that of "Somptseu." It is in itself a power that can gather or disperse thousands, and it is and English might, united in the person of one great chief. How well his policy has succeeded is testified to by the fact that it has stood the strain of the Zulu war and exception of the Langalibalele disturbance in 1874, which partook somewhat of the nature of a panic on the part of the colonists, no single outbreak of any sort has occurred during the history of the colony; nor, indeed, when things looked so black after the Sandhlwana (Isandula) disaster did the native chiefs, as was expected of them, signs of throwing off their allegiance. In 1861 Sir Theophilus proceeded, as a mission, to Zeuland, sent, at the request of Panda, Cetywayo's father, to settle the succession to his crown. It was on this occasion that he was declared by the Zulus to be holder or representative of the spirit of Chaka, the great founder of their race. He tells a story of the occasion that is worth recording. Something had occurred to irritate the Zulus, some 15,000 of whom were standing in regiments round the debating place, and waxing more and more angry. At last the situation grew so critical that it became clear to him that both his own and Panda's life were in imminent danger. Whereupon, facing the matter with that cool courage of which he is so noted, he called out to the mass that immediately surged nearer and nearer, "I know what you mean; you can kill me, that is an easy thing; but I tell you, Zulus, my blood will never dry upon your soil. You think Natal holds the English power; it is nothing to them but a cattle station. They will come in thousands to avenge me from over the mountains there from the north!" So intense was the excitement, that as he pointed northward the whole host turned, as though expecting to see his words verified. "I dare say," adds Sir Theophilus, in telling the story, "that this was the other day the Zulus saw the regiments marching on the kraal, after the battle of Umudi, from the north, to which Mrs. Hough, alarmed for her husband's life, besought the hired man not to fire, but he dropped his weapon. He was immediately seized from behind by the other two robbers, who hurried him back to his room, where they bound him and also the servant girl, with halters procured from the barn. In the meantime the two men in Mr. and Mrs. Hough's room had securely bound them, and the door of Aunt Sarah's room being fastened, the entire household was completely at the mercy of the robbers. They then leisurely ransacked the house, devoting two hours to their work. They succeeded in finding $270 in money, but evidently expected to find more, and in their anger at being disappointed they destroyed a large quantity of clothing, which they did not consider valuable enough to carry away. They also found a quantity of jewelry and some silverware, which they added to their plunder. They then visited the kitchen, where they made a hearty lunch, after which they drove off, leaving the victims bound.

About an hour after their departure the hired man succeeded in freeing himself from his bonds, and he at once relieved the girl and Mr. and Mrs. Hough and Aunt Sarah. Mr. Hough and his man at once proceeded to the stable with the intention of driving to Unionville to give information to the authorities, but, to their dismay, they found that the burglars had destroyed every piece of harness there was in the place. When they finally got a harness patched up from the pieces, the robbers had a good two hours' start. It is supposed that the robbers came from Port Jervis, to which place information was sent, and also to Sergt. Jacob Wilson, of the Jersey City Police, who is a son-in-law of Mr. Hough, with a request that a lookout be kept in that direction for the thieves.

A Talking Machine.

From Galignani's Messenger, Oct. 18.

During more than a century inventors have turned their ingenuity to constructing machines capable of imitating the human voice, and another for pronouncing the consonants. The former are due to the passage of air through openings of different shapes, made in diaphragms placed successively in the current of air by the action of levers moved by the fingers; in addition, a special cavity, destined to produce nasal sounds, can be put in communication with the former at pleasure by means of a particular lever. The consonants are produced by pieces, the action of which is analogous to that of the lips, the teeth, and the tongue, and the rolling of the R is caused by a wheel. All these imitation organs are put in motion by 14 keys very ingeniously disposed in a way to produce the necessary intensity of action and variation in sequence of the parts destined to pronounce a syllable. The number of 14 keys is sufficient, for by certain variations in the touch the intended sound can be regulated as strong or weak at pleasure. As might be expected, the language of the machine is very monotonous, and is by no means perfect, as some sounds produce a much better effect than others; however, in general, the words pronounced are easily understood. They cannot be compared to the changes in the human voice, and whatever improvements the machine may receive, the question still remains. What use is it?

...Christian missionaries at Kin chau, China, have hit upon the novel plan of buying native girls in order to convert them; but it is found hard to obtain them at a reasonable price. The plan is to get the money back from the husbands when the girls marry. The mission publication, China's Millions, gives the stipulations between the missionaries and the parents as follows:—"That the parents be allowed to receive their money now and half at the girl's marriage; that the feet be unbound; that the betrothal of the girl be entirely in the hands of the School Superintendent; that she may not return home before her marriage; that, if the parents recall her after the three months' probation, they repay the school for the girl's board at the rate of $2 per month."

THE AUSTRO-GERMAN ALLIANCE.

Character of the Document Signed at Vienna.

Vienna Correspondence of the London Standard.

Oct. 5 is the date of the signature of the document which is spoken of as the Austro-German Alliance. It contains in 21 paragraphs the provisions upon the political, commercial, and military affairs of the two Empires which have been agreed upon by their Chancellors; and, as I have previously informed you, the principal points are a united resistance to all attacks from abroad, the harmonious working of the tariffs of the two countries, and the maintenance of the status quo in Eastern affairs. At the same time so much instrument as is usually understood by a "treaty" exists, because it would have been superfluous, seeing that the present rapprochement of Austria and Germany is based not merely upon diplomatic arrangements, but upon the universal public opinion at both peoples. Prince Bismarck and Count Andrassy treated, therefore, not only upon the promptings of their own feelings, but as the executors of the wishes and feelings of their respective nations.

I am assured on the best authority that the protocol, or treaty—it is hard to know by what term to describe it accurately—contains references to an Austro-German defensive alliance merely in general terms, and that the specific details will be supplied, only in case of need, and will be of a character to meet the necessities, whatever they may prove to be, of the individual Governments. As this "protocol" is intended to be applicable to all contingencies, its form is rather a broad outline than a detailed statement of mutual obligations, and the particulars will be supplied as the occasion arises. Another event which would make it operative would be war between Germany and France. The most cautious and best-informed diplomatists consider a war between Russia and Germany only a question of time, postponed at present until Russia can find a suitable ally. Now alliance is impossible to Russia except with France, and therefore the indocuments referred to by the Governments of the Czar to France to join the northern power will never be intermitted.

As peace is now maintained not for its own sake but because of the impossibility of breaking it under present conditions, every event which might lead to war must needs be closely scrutinized. Not only Russian but also French affairs excite great uneasiness, the latter principally because it has been ascertained beyond doubt that, in order to strengthen the general belief in the maintenance of peace, the state of things in respect to France has recently been spoken of in terms more favorable than circumstances warranted; some incidents, only just made known, prove this to be the case. I have warrant for saying that every preparation had been made for a Russo-French alliance, when the rashness of some diplomatists in both countries, who were unable to keep the secret until the right moment for making it known, spoiled the entire project. It was the publication of the fact that these negotiations were going on that hastened the conclusion of the Austro German alliance. While, therefore, as I have said, events in Russia and in France are closely watched, it is felt that in the latter country matters may be left until they have further developed, whereas the intrigues of Russia, coupled with ons as they are, must be constantly denounced to the public of Europe.

CAUGHT IN THE CYCLONE.

Perilous Voyage of the Steamer France from London—The First Officer's Story of the Storm.

New York Herald, 5th.

The cyclone which developed itself off our coast on the morning of the 29th of October, as predicted in the Herald of the 26th, is fast nearing the other side of the ocean, and the steamships that arrived yesterday had accounts of its terrific violence. Vessels coming up the coast from southern latitudes experienced the force of the storm with greater or less force. The lower edge of the storm passed in the neighborhood of Cape Hatteras. The officers of the France say they experienced heavy gales other than those of the Albany or Bristol, whose courses were nearer Sable Island, where the two branches of the cyclone met. Notwithstanding this, an old seaman, the chief officer of the France, says he never saw such a storm.

The National Line steamer France came up abreast of her pier yesterday, landing her passengers off in a steamboat to the docks and anchored in the stream near the Jersey shore. To obtain further particulars of her stormy voyage a reporter went on board yesterday afternoon. The chief officer said the vessel left London on the afternoon of October 16 and anchored off the Nore. On the morning of the 17th the voyagers had fair weather, with strong breezes and cloudy, lowering weather. On the next four days there were fresh gales and head winds. This is unlike the experience of other steamships in this storm, and is believed to show that the disturbance is fast traveling toward Europe.

MEETING THE STORM.

On the 22nd the logbook of the France shows that there was a fresh breeze and an overcast sky, which on the 23rd and 24th there was a moderate gale, with a head sea. The high wind then died away, and on the 24th and 26th there were brisk breezes. On the 27th and 27th the full force of the storm was felt, there being strong gales and heavy seas. During the whole of the 29th the wind ranged from a strong gale to a violent storm. The chief officer says that he believes that they struck the tail of a hurricane. The vessel had been sailing under a heavy press of canvas, but as the breeze freshened the topsails, jib and foresail were lowered. By 8 o'clock in the morning they had heavy gales, hard squalls and high cross seas, and by 10 o'clock the wind was strong. Toward noon the ship began to experience the force of the gale, and the sea broke over the decks fore and aft. The gale increased in force, and the sea became cross and highly dangerous. The ship labored and pitched heavily, and heavy masses of water were thrown over her fore and aft. As the afternoon wore on the gale became fiercer, and was accompanied by squalls of rain. The ship was labouring and straining itself very much in the cross sea. Late in the evening the heavy sea broke on board and carried away the boat chocks and railing on the saloon deck. Captain Robinson and the chief officer decided that the heavy seas carried off her deck houses. The storm was violent, those gentlemen say, but the France is a good sea boat, and showed her best points.

THE STEERAGE DELUGED.

The water breaking over the decks got into the steerage, to the great inconvenience of the passengers. On the 30th the gale continued, making its greatest force during the morning of that day. Huge sea broke over the ship and stove in the starboard side of the saloon. At about four o'clock in the morning the gale moderated and the sea became less troubled, and four hours later the wind had decreased to a fresh gale. On the afternoon of the 31st the storm had passed the France. The officers do not believe that they reached the heart of the cyclone. They surmise that the storm from the Gulf region met them, as they had passed the Banks the day before, and were some distance to the south of Sable Island. They are rather of the belief that the Gulf region branch of the storm struck the France and passed on to the vessels whose experiences were detailed in yesterday's Herald. The France during the hurricane was in north latitude 42 deg. 5 min., and longitude 48 deg. 50 min., and her course stood west off the Banks. The chief officer, though he maintains that he was only in the southern portion, says he never saw anything like it in his life. The sea rolled mountains high, unlike its condition off the coast at Sable Island, where the water lay in confused masses.

The City of Alexandra, of the Alexandra Line, from Vera Cruz, while standing off the coast of Georgia and North and South Carolina, on Saturday, also experienced heavy weather. They report strong northe

LITERATURE ON THE WALLS.

The Uses to which Placards are put in China.

From the Celestial Empire.

In China, as we have more than once pointed out, the literature of the walls cover pretty much the same ground as an ordinary English newspaper, from the "agony column" downward. For, mixed up with notices of lost property, consisting sometimes of human beings, and advertisements of all kinds of articles of trade, such as one would naturally look for in the handbill literature of any city, there are to be found announcements of new and startling remedies for various diseases or of infallible pills for the cure of depraved opium-smokers, long lists of the names of subscribers to some coming festival, or to the pious restoration of a local temple, sermons without end directed against the abuse of written paper, and now and then against female infanticide, or Cumming like warnings of an approaching millenium, at which the wicked will receive the reward of their crimes according to the horrible arrangements of the Buddhist-Taoist purgatory. Occasionally an objectionable person will be advised through an anonymous placard to desist from the course which is pointed out as offensive; and similarly, but more rarely, the action of an officer will be sometimes severely criticised or condemned. But among the most curious of all such documents that have ever come to our notice must be reckoned one which has recently been scattered broadcast over several of the 18 provinces. It is a large yellow placard, about two feet in length by a foot and a half in depth, and is divided into seven parts by thick black lines. One of these divisions is occupied with letterpress, and the remaining six contain fairly well-executed wood cuts bearing upon the subject described in the first. This placard is headed, in large characters, "Illustrations of the Imperial command to fly and scatter the ashes;" and it would appear from the letterpress above mentioned that in the fourth year of the reign of the late Emperor (1856) there lived in the Province of Hupeh a certain man named Tsang, who had married a wife from the Hwang family. With them resided Tsang's aged mother, but instead of affectionate kindness at the hands of her son, and slavish obsequiousness from a devoted daughter-in-law, the poor old lady seems to have received nothing but harsh treatment from both. This went on for some time, until public opinion felt itself to be altogether too violently outraged; the behavior of Tsang and his wife was brought to the notice of the authorities, and the consequence, as set forth in the placard under consideration, are almost too awful to contemplate. The case was reported to the Emperor, and sentence was duly passed and ordering, the condign punishment of all parties concerned in the said shameful outrage on public morals. Accordingly, in the first picture we see Tsang and his wife being quietly flayed in the presence of a numberless of rank, while the old mother stands weeping by, leaning on a staff and gazing through her tears at the dreadful retribution which has overtaken her son. In plate No. 2 we have a whole crowd of the seniors of the family who have been executed—"to die by strangulation," the child-ren

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The London "Free Press"

JOB OFFICE

executes all kinds of commercial and other printing in the best style, on excellent paper, and at lowest rates.

Owing to the large staff consinntly on hand, work can be expeditiously turned out.

Colored and fancy printing a speciality. Ball and programme work in excellent taste.

The Free Press.

Friday, November 7, 1879.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES were held in several of the city churches yesterday forenoon, and on the whole they were all fairly attended. The Rev. Dr. Proudfoot preached a sermon on the Eastern Question, which is spoken of by those who heard it as an exceedingly able effort.

"SONS WHA HAE."—As announced in another column, the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Society will be held to-night, at the Y. C. L. Club Rooms, for the election of officers and other important business. Seeing that an effort is being made by many prominent Scotchmen to place the Society on a proper footing—something it has not been for several years—it behooves every member who claims Auld Scotia as his native land to attend and assist in reorganizing their national Society.

A HARD CASE.—A youth named John McNally, alias McKay, appeared on remand yesterday morning before the Police Magistrate on the charge of being one of the parties who broke into Mr. J. Goldner's store some weeks since, and stole therefrom a quantity of clothing. When arrested by Detective Murphy he had some of the stolen goods in his possession. He is a cheeky youth, and when asked as to what trade his father followed, he coolly replied—"He's a butcher in a foundry." He was convicted and sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Central Prison.

RESCUING CATTLE FROM THE POUND.—For some time past the pound-keeper of the northern division of the city, Mr. P. J. Clare, has been annoyed by the owners of cows, whose cattle have been found straying about the streets and placed in the pound, according to the city by-law. They do not appear to understand that the offence of rescuing cattle from the duly-appointed officer is one of a serious character and punishable by a heavy fine. John Boddy and Barbara Webb are the latest aggressors in this particular, and they have been summoned to answer the charge at the Police Court this morning.

HANLAN COMING, SURE.—There has been no much uncertainty of late in regard to Hanlan's movements, from an aquatic standpoint, that it is not to be wondered at if some people are disposed to be incredulous as to the chances of appearance at A. D. Holman's benefit at the Opera House here, this evening. We have seen the correspondence between Mr. Holman and Mr. Hanlan, and in a note received from the champion yesterday, he positively assures that he will be present and bring the Sportsman challenge cup with him. This may be relied upon. The entertainment promises to be very largely attended, and those who desire good seats should secure them at Murray's this morning.

UNION SERVICE AT VICTORIA HALL.—Yesterday forenoon a union Thanksgiving service was held in Victoria Hall by ministers of several denominations in the city. There was a large congregation in attendance, and the service was of a highly interesting and instructive character throughout. The Rev. J. A. Murray, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, presided, and on the platform were Rev. Messrs. Philp, Hodgson, Ross, Dimmick, Dickson and others. Brief addresses of ten minutes' duration were delivered, which were thoroughly appreciated. The singing of the choir, under Mr. Proudfoot, was deservedly admired. A liberal collection in aid of the Women's Christian Association was taken up, and the service closed with the Benediction.

LOCAL LEGAL NOTES.—In the Superior Courts, at Toronto, on Wednesday, the following local cases came up for hearing: Ontario L. & D. Co. v. Walker.—Mr. Aylesworth applied in an ejectment case, while the 16 days for appearance were still running, for an order making good a service not personal upon the defendant, so that plaintiff might sign judgment when the time for appearance had expired. The practice is to wait until the time for appearance had expired, and then to apply for an order to sign judgment. Mr. Dalton held that although he would make the order asked in cases where special circumstances were shown, he would not grant the order in the present instance, no sufficient grounds existing for departing from the usual practice.—Ontario S. & I. Co. v. Fitch.—Mr. Moss for plaintiff. Decree made for a specific performance of a contract for sale against a purchaser, with a declaration that defendant has accepted the title.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT ST. PAUL'S.—A good congregation assembled yesterday afternoon at the above church for the observance of the day of thanksgiving appointed by Government. All the clergy of the Church of England were present, several of whom took part in this interesting, impressive, and appropriate service. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Stocking, of Detroit, as well and favorably known in our midst. The reverend gentleman took his text from Proverbs 14, v. 34:—"Righteousness exalteth a nation." In his remarks he made a comparison between those nations the government of which have been based on truth and righteousness and those that have not recognized the great principles inculcated in God's book of truth. He impressed upon the audience the necessity of recognizing their individual responsibility as fathers of families or masters in trade, that those under their influence may be governed by those principles that will elevate them individually and socially. The discourse was a most powerful and eloquent one, and well adapted to the occasion.

POLICE COURT NOTES.—The usual Thanksgiving levee was held yesterday forenoon; the attendance was larger than usual on such occasions, but the class of people present were not the kind who cared about Thanksgiving or anything else, excepting good old rye. John Patterson had scooped in too much boiled corn during the evening of the "glorious glons and immortal" Fifth, and at midnight reclined against a lamp-post. P. C. Weir played the part of a snow-plow for the time being, and John was safely quartered at the Central Station. Fined $1. Eliza Cloxey, an old habitue, was assessed $1 or three days in jail. Her tongue was so thick that she could with difficulty articulate her thanks to the P. M., whereat a cynic sitting in the hall of justice exclaimed, "Would that the majority of her sex were similarly troubled—for a few minutes every day." Richard Clark, for assaulting Wm. Beller, has been remanded to the 7th. James Knott, for being drunk and dangerous, to the 12th, and Maggie McDonald, for vagrancy, to the 10th, for examination. A young man named Wm. J. Thorp, was charged by Geo. E. Plummer with the larceny of a dollar bill from his store. After a lengthy investigation judgment was reserved until Monday.

LOCAL NOTICES.

NOVEL AMUSEMENT.—Yesterday being set apart as a day of thanksgiving, a great many believing that "cleanliness was next to godliness," spent a part of the day at the Turkish Baths, and are now convinced more than ever of the truth of the assertion. As to morrow brings a great many from the neighboring towns, Londoners will do well to be on hand for their baths as early as convenient.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

WHICH?

"Shall I make of my girl a woman,
Holy and wise,
Or, leave in the midst of morning
Her blind, bright eyes"

Pinafore is still ahead; at all events it covers the most legs.

"None but the brave deserve the hair" is the way the Indians put it.

"After 1880, what?" asks an exchange newspaper. 1881, perhaps.

In France naval officers play chess; doctors and cures play whist.

That not unfamiliar remark about "snow flakes" and "the soil" is now in order.

Even criminals like paragraphs, that is to say, they prefer a short sentence.

Clipped horses are appearing in the streets. Sure sign of approaching winter.

"Blessed are the peacemakers," said the small boy who dropped a costly porcelain ornament.

Few men hanker to exchange places with the street-car drivers during such weather as this.

"I am a broken man," said a poet. "So should think," was the answer, "for I have seen your pieces."

A man in walking a mile lifts a weight equal to thirteen to fifteen tons. This is what makes some men so tired.

The late Senator Zach. Chandler made much money in the dry goods business, hence his sobriquet "Old Yardstick."

Oh, who can forget the first rides, after learning
When wheeling gave life a new edge with its steel!
And the soul, like those cakes made delicious by turning,
Gave out all its sweets on the bicycle wheel!

Mr. Enoch Arden, mariner, must have been afflicted with catarrh, when he moaned on the desert isle, "Nose all from day to day."

The proper form for a will now-a-days will read:—"To the respective attorneys of my children I give my entire estate."

A Japanese author can copyright his work for forty-five years, and violations of his right may be punished with imprisonment.

London Lancet says that injections of morphia under the skin, if not made by a physician, are only another form of opium eating.

A Huron woman gave her husband morphine to cure him of chewing tobacco. It cured him, but she is doing her own fall ploughing.

People are advised not to stick postage stamps to the inside of a letter, which often causes destruction—but to pin them to the sheet.

One of "Nature's poets" sends us three foolscap pages of jingle, beginning: "The forests are fretted with golden fire." All right, let 'em fret.

There was a wise colored man who, in speaking of the happiness of married people, said:—"Dat ar' ponds altogedder how I enjoy domestickness."

What is the difference between a church fair and an infant's overlooking?" Answer:—The difference between ladies begging and a baby's logging.

Sir Garnet Wolseley is to be created, on his return, Lord Wolseley of Ulundi. So far the General is following pretty well the path of Sir Arthur Wellesley.

Some females have just been arrested in Wallington for the manufacture of illicit whiskey. This is the first recorded instance of a woman keeping still.

This cold snap should not frighten any body, as another period of warm weather is predicted. It cannot be reckoned on with certainty, however, until next July.

Lord Bute has now put the finishing touches to what has been, so far, the great work of his life, the translation of "The Roman Breviary" from Latin into English.

THE CAT.

"Tis midnight—on the garden wall,
"See that dark object" what is that
But when there rose a fiendish yawl,
They knew at once it was the cat.

When disappears the yellow cream
From off the milk within the vat,
Or best an angry woman's scream,
"It was the cat! it was the cat."

When Romeo, in his bare head
Gave Juliet "taffy" and all that,
He thought he heard the old man's tread,
But Juliet said it was the cat.

It is not a sure sign that a girl is engaged because she wears a ring on her forefinger. She simply does it to keep pace with the times, and young men must not get disheartened at such trifles.

An article is going the rounds treating on the best method of putting away potatoes. "A family of about eight, including three boys and three girls, can put away potatoes about as successfully as is necessary.

Mr. Morgan Brown, an Englishman, has invented a machine that will tire 900 shots a minute, and they will pierce an ironplated vessel at a distance of 1,000 yards. The French Government has ordered 500 of the machines.

London Truth wishes that the average young gentleman of the stage were less like an insinuating salesman in a millinery shop, and the average young lady of the stage less the pattern of a maid behind the counter of a refreshment bar.

"There is nothing like settling down," said a retired merchant confidentially to his neighbor. "What I gave up business I settled down, and found I had quite a comfortable fortune. If I had settled up I shouldn't have had a cent."

The great actress Rachel had a small scar upon her cheek. In the extreme poverty of her childhood she one day in the street contested with a dog the right to a bone with some scraps of meat on it. A bite from the dog caused the scar.

Several Scotch papers are complaining because the grave of Rob Roy lain a lonely spot at Ralphhiller. It really does seem as if a man who had rendered such great services to his country might have a lot in the front row of a metropolitan cemetery.

"Do, do keep away from that window," said he. "But I'm not afraid of the lightning," replied she. "Ah, dear," continued the youth, fractionally, "little do you realize how attractive you are." And having made this appeal he was able to conduct w away.

A passer-by puts his head in at the window of the shop where an honest cobbler is working, never thinking of evil, and says, cheerily, "Well, my friend, how many thieves are there in this street without counting you?" "What!" yells the cobbler, "without counting me?" "Well, then," says his imperturbable questioner, "how many are there, counting you?"

I. O. F.

Official Recognition of the High Court of Ontario.

Dr. Oronhyatekha, of this city, has received the following official letter:—

"Office of the Executive Council
New York, Nov. 3, 1879.

To the Provincial High Court of Ontario—

"Dr. Oronhyatekha, H. C. R., Dear Sir and Bro.—The High Court of which you are the executive head is the only organization which the Executive Council recognizes as loyal and constituting a legal High Court in the Province of Ontario. By order of the Ex. Council—I. E. C.—Signed, A. B. CALDWELL, Supreme Secretary."

DRUNK.—Quite a number of this class of offenders were dragged into the Central last night by the police. John Brown and his wife Eliza, who said they hailed from Kingston, were found by Detective Murphy hugging a pint bottle of old rye in a secluded corner, and from their appearance they had "drained it dry" before the detective got a sight of them. The couple insisted that it was milk, but Murphy knew better, and asked them to accept the hospitality of the city for the remainder of the night—and they didn't object. Bridget Baldercon, alias Barrett, was found about 10 o'clock by P. C. Rider reclining against the Fish Market in an intoxicated condition. She also was provided with lodgings. Nicholson Wilson, of London Township, celebrated Thanksgiving Day by getting top-heavy, and was lugged in at an early hour in the evening for his eccentricity. John Morkin was arrested on a warrant by P. C. Adams for drunkenness and vagrancy. John used to be a good tradesman, but old rye has unnerved him, and he will go to jail in order to sober up.

MILITARY.—It is reported that an application has been forwarded to the Department of Militia for leave to organize an additional Company to the 7th Battalion, to be known as No. 8. The officers are to be Capt. John Taylor and Lieut. Thomas Beattie. It is intended that the Company shall be composed of law students and merchant clerks.

THE CANADIAN MONTHLY for November (Rose Belford publisher) is just out. Its contents are unusually interesting.

THE DOWNWARD ROAD

A Tangled Web of Wrongdoing, as Woven by Dempster, the Defaulter.

An Interview With the Ingersoll Inflationist.

The Facts Concerning the Forged Check on Vaughn & Fairbanks.

How the "Wind" was ed by an Unscrupulous Spendthrift — A Fast Life and a Fearful Fall for Rows that Come not Singly to a Suffering Wife.

The interest in the Dempster defalcation is unabated, and the developments of the legal investigation are looked forward to with considerable anxiety. As previously announced the feeling aroused by the first news has changed somewhat, and it is unnecessary to disguise the fact, that where sympathy was once expressed for the defaulter, reverse sentiments now exist. This has been caused by the light let in by the FREE PRESS upon the character of the offence committed, and the purposes for which the money was appropriated. As mentioned in these columns, Dempster left Montreal in charge of a policeman early on Tuesday morning. He arrived in Toronto at midnight, made a close connection with No. 1 Express G. W. R., and arrived in Woodstock at 4:45 on Wednesday morning, thus escaping the crowd, which would in all probability have thronged the platform had he arrived during the daytime. He was at once taken to the County jail and lodged in the debtors' cell on the upper flat, the same apartment occupied by George McCabe and Dr. Bowers during their confinement there last summer. It is much more comfortable than the other cells, and has special conveniences that in some degree obviate the general gloominess of the prison.

In an interview early yesterday morning, Mr. Dempster was asked whether there was any foundation for the rumor that he had forged the cheque for $9,000 on Vaughn & Fairbanks, of Petrolia, of which so much has been said to his disadvantage.

"Not the slightest," he replied, "the remarks in the London Advertiser are without the least foundation, whatever. I did not know the cheque was a forgery, and that I never received one cent of the money. It is an injustice that I do not deserve, and has caused me a great deal of pain. I will tell you exactly how the thing occurred, as I remember the occasion distinctly. At the time of the failure of the firm had a big balance to their credit in Molsons Bank, and the payment of large cheques, given by them, was a matter of common occurrence. You see the Western of Canada Oil and Lands Company was creating considerable agitation about that time, and money was floating about quite plentifully. Why, almost every day cheques for $10,000 or $15,000 were handed in and paid. One afternoon, about five minutes to three o'clock this person, who has been spoken of so often, came into the bank and presented a cheque on Vaughn & Fairbanks for $9,000. Not knowing the signature I handed it over to Mr. Charles Shaw, the ledgerkeeper at that time, and he marked it good, and I, being the teller and accountant, paid it. I said to the man at the time, 'You have a good deal of confidence in yourself.' He replied, 'How is that?' I said, 'If an action had occurred on the railway, between here (London) and Petrolia, and you had been injured, any person might have taken this cheque and got it cashed—because it was payable to bearer. People seem to lay great stress on the fact that this particular cheque was made payable to bearer, while it was a fact that Mr. A. T. H. Johnson provided, and introduced the following ladies and gentlemen as the contributors of the programme:—Misses Wilson, H. Hover, L. Pitcher, F. and A. Hourd; Rev. R. W. Wallace and Messrs. Bundy, and J. Barr. During the earlier portion of the evening refreshments were distributed by the ladies, and altogether the promoters of the entertainment have every reason to feel elated by the success which attended their efforts.

PETERVILLE METHODIST CHURCH.

The annual Thanksgiving supper and social was held in the Peterville M. E. Church yesterday afternoon and evening. After the good things provided by the ladies of the church had been disposed of in the old Town Hall, the assembly adjourned to the church, where, at the commencement of the evening's entertainment, standing room was at a premium. The church was magnificently decorated for the occasion; every pillar in the edifice bearing evidence of the ladies' handiwork in the arrangement of the products of a bountiful harvest, more especially the elegant motto over the pulpit, "The Joy in Harvest," nicely worked in evergreen. Precisely at 8 o'clock the assembly was called to order, and Mr. Edward Johnson chosen chairman. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society was then read, giving the following to be the standing of that organization for the past two years:—Receipts, 1878, $284.34; 1879, $196 68. Expenditure, 1878, $256.56; 1879, $174 27. Cost still remains an indebtedness of $148, which, with a few more such gather, ings as that of last evening, the Society fully confident of liquidating ere next Thanksgiving Day. After the report had been read and accepted, the choir sang "Crown Him Lord of All" in very effective style, which was followed by a recitation by Miss Wright. Rev. Mr. Lancaster, late pastor of the church, then delivered a very happy address, and the choir sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes." Miss McGarry gave a reading, "The Sienna for Abroad," from the "Dodge Club," with much dramatic force as to necessitate her to respond to an encore. Short addresses were made by Dr. Darnell, Rev. S. Hodson and others, and Dr. Flock gave a couple of readings in first class style. The choir sang "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne," and after a cordial vote of thanks to the speakers, visitors and chairman, the proceedings were brought to a close by singing the Doxology and pronouncing the benediction.

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE ASYLUM.

One of the pleasantest entertainments ever attended the officers, attendants and patients at the Asylum for the Insane was given by a few of our leading vocalists last evening. To say that their efforts were appreciated would convey but a slight indication of the pleasure afforded the audience. Mr. Furness, who was the originator of the entertainment, opened the programme by singing in his well known style "The Friar of Orders Grey." Mr. Alf. Webster followed with a reading entitled "Shamus O'Brien," which afforded him excellent scope for delineating the Irish character. Mr John Marshall favored the audience with "The White Squall," which he sang with his accustomed voice, vigor and feeling. Mrs. Furness succeeded Mr. Marshall, and gave "Pale, Pale Moon," in excellent voice, the effort being highly appreciated by all. Messrs. Marshall and Furness in the duet, "Larboard Watch," excelled themselves, and were enthusiastically cheered. Mr. Cole gave "The Rose of Tralee," in his oldtime style, and Mrs. Furness in the song "Tinety O'Flynn," pleased her audience so much that they insisted on a repetition, and for encore she responded with "Clang of the Wooden Shoon." Mr. Webster then read Mark Twain's "European Guides," which occasioned much merriment. Mr. Marshall's "Gone under my Plaidie" was so highly appreciated that an encore was demanded, and he then gave "The Laird o' Cockpen" in his inimitable style. Mr. Coles came next with "A Father's Love," and was followed by Mrs. Furness and Mr. Marshall in the duet, "The Sailor Sighs," which was rendered in an excellent voice. Mr. Furness then sang "The Gay Hussar," and the entertainment was closed by Mr. Webster reading "Jimmy Butler and the Owl," an exceedingly humorous piece, which produced the greatest hilarity. Mr. St. John Hyttonmarch accompanied the vocalists on the piano, and after the National Anthem had been given, the party were agreeably entertained at supper. The officers of the institution expressed themselves in terms of commendation for the excellent entertainment provided, and hoped they would again have the pleasure of hearing them at no distant date.

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE.

The Holmans last night presented the opera of the "Bohemian Girl" to a good audience, that not infrequently mai Pleted its appreciation of their efforts. The from that before she was confined. And to make matters doubly worse, a partial paralysis of one side has supervened and the consequences may result very seriously.

In reply to a question, Mr. Dempster said that he was perfectly willing to suffer the penalty of his misdeeds, providing that his friends saw fit to withhold their assistance in his day of trouble.

LAST NIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENTS.

How Londoners Spent Thanksgiving Evening.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, the various entertainments provided for our citizens last evening were largely attended, and passed off with more than ordinary success. This is not to be wondered at when the varied character of the programmes presented is taken into account. Below will be found a list of the different entertainments and those who took part:—

MEMORIAL CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.

The school-room of the Memorial Church was crowded last night on the occasion of the stereopticon entertainment given by Mr. Geo. F. Jewell, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Association in connection with the church. As a matter of course, the large majority present were children, and the hearty reception which Mr. Jewell met on entering testified to the attraction which this description of entertainment has for the young. Rev. Mr. Richardson, the pastor of the church, briefly introduced Mr. Jewell, and requested the children to control their expressions of admiration within bounds, but this was no easy task. A large canvas was hung in a frame, and placed across the angle of the southeast corner of the room, in such a position that all might view the scenes to advantage. The "views" were of a varied character, and elicited frequent and hearty applause. As each new scene was presented the children could scarcely be prevented from expressing their admiration in words, as the frequent half-suppressed "Oh h-h-h's" testified. Mr. Jewell briefly explained each scene as it was shown on the canvass, which tended to enhance the pleasure of the entertainment.

THE SACRED CONCERT,

given last night in the Clarence Street Presbyterian Church, was of a high musical character, and well attended, despite the many counter attractions elsewhere. Rev. Dr. Proudfoot, the pastor of the church, presided, and opened the proceedings with prayer, after which he made a brief address. The entertainment was listened to throughout with pleasure, and at the close a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Jas. Fraser, was tendered to those who took part. A collection was taken up, which will augment considerably the revenue of the church. The following was the programme, Mr. Wm. Ellis presiding at the organ:—

1ST PART.

1. Organ Duett, "Hallelujah Chorus,".....Handel
2. Chorus "This is the Day,".....S. Chas. Cook
3. Air and Quartett, "Daly".....V. Novello
Misses Gilmour and Cooper, Messrs. Sutcliffe and Gray.
4. Solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought,"
Mr. F. Peters. H. S. Ambrose
5. Organ, "Andante in F,".....J. Rimmen
6. Solo, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair,"...Handel
Mrs. Ellis.
7. Solo and Chorus, "I Will Sing of Thy Power"....
A. Sullivan

2ND PART.

8. Organ, "Grande Offertoire,".....M. E. Thayer
9. Solo and Chorus, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land,"
Mr. Bayly and Choir.....H. Hamilton
10. Solo, "Honor and Arms,".....Handel
Mr. H. Gray.
11. Quintette, "Lo My Shepherd's Hand Divine"...
Mrs Ellis, Misses Raymond and Cooper, Messrs. Hayes and Jones.....Haydn
12. Organ, "Wedding March,".....Mendelssohn Doxology.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

A large and appreciative audience assembled in the basement of the Congregational Church last night, on the occasion of the musical and literary entertainment, under the auspices of the church choir. The programme comprised a variety of selections, which were of excellent character. Mr. A. T. H. Johnson presided, and introduced the following ladies and gentlemen as the contributors of the programme:—Misses Wilson, H. Hover, L. Pitcher, F. and A. Hourd; Rev. R. W. Wallace and Messrs. Bundy, and J. Barr. During the earlier portion of the evening refreshments were distributed by the ladies, and altogether the promoters of the entertainment have every reason to feel elated by the success which attended their efforts.

PETERVILLE METHODIST CHURCH.

The annual Thanksgiving supper and social was held in the Peterville M. E. Church yesterday afternoon and evening. After the good things provided by the ladies of the church had been disposed of in the old Town Hall, the assembly adjourned to the church, where, at the commencement of the evening's entertainment, standing room was at a premium. The church was magnificently decorated for the occasion; every pillar in the edifice bearing evidence of the ladies' handiwork in the arrangement of the products of a bountiful harvest, more especially the elegant motto over the pulpit, "The Joy in Harvest," nicely worked in evergreen. Precisely at 8 o'clock the assembly was called to order, and Mr. Edward Johnson chosen chairman. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society was then read, giving the following to be the standing of that organization for the past two years:—Receipts, 1878, $284.34; 1879, $196 68. Expenditure, 1878, $256.56; 1879, $174 27. Cost still remains an indebtedness of $148, which, with a few more such gather, ings as that of last evening, the Society fully confident of liquidating ere next Thanksgiving Day. After the report had been read and accepted, the choir sang "Crown Him Lord of All" in very effective style, which was followed by a recitation by Miss Wright. Rev. Mr. Lancaster, late pastor of the church, then delivered a very happy address, and the choir sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes." Miss McGarry gave a reading, "The Sienna for Abroad," from the "Dodge Club," with much dramatic force as to necessitate her to respond to an encore. Short addresses were made by Dr. Darnell, Rev. S. Hodson and others, and Dr. Flock gave a couple of readings in first class style. The choir sang "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne," and after a cordial vote of thanks to the speakers, visitors and chairman, the proceedings were brought to a close by singing the Doxology and pronouncing the benediction.

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE ASYLUM.

One of the pleasantest entertainments ever attended the officers, attendants and patients at the Asylum for the Insane was given by a few of our leading vocalists last evening. To say that their efforts were appreciated would convey but a slight indication of the pleasure afforded the audience. Mr. Furness, who was the originator of the entertainment, opened the programme by singing in his well known style "The Friar of Orders Grey." Mr. Alf. Webster followed with a reading entitled "Shamus O'Brien," which afforded him excellent scope for delineating the Irish character. Mr John Marshall favored the audience with "The White Squall," which he sang with his accustomed voice, vigor and feeling. Mrs. Furness succeeded Mr. Marshall, and gave "Pale, Pale Moon," in excellent voice, the effort being highly appreciated by all. Messrs. Marshall and Furness in the duet, "Larboard Watch," excelled themselves, and were enthusiastically cheered. Mr. Cole gave "The Rose of Tralee," in his oldtime style, and Mrs. Furness in the song "Tinety O'Flynn," pleased her audience so much that they insisted on a repetition, and for encore she responded with "Clang of the Wooden Shoon." Mr. Webster then read Mark Twain's "European Guides," which occasioned much merriment. Mr. Marshall's "Gone under my Plaidie" was so highly appreciated that an encore was demanded, and he then gave "The Laird o' Cockpen" in his inimitable style. Mr. Coles came next with "A Father's Love," and was followed by Mrs. Furness and Mr. Marshall in the duet, "The Sailor Sighs," which was rendered in an excellent voice. Mr. Furness then sang "The Gay Hussar," and the entertainment was closed by Mr. Webster reading "Jimmy Butler and the Owl," an exceedingly humorous piece, which produced the greatest hilarity. Mr. St. John Hyttonmarch accompanied the vocalists on the piano, and after the National Anthem had been given, the party were agreeably entertained at supper. The officers of the institution expressed themselves in terms of commendation for the excellent entertainment provided, and hoped they would again have the pleasure of hearing them at no distant date.

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE.

The Holmans last night presented the opera of the "Bohemian Girl" to a good audience, that not infrequently mai Pleted its appreciation of their efforts. The Gipsy Chorus was excellent, as was several of the solos. As an interlude Mr. Adams gave a Dutch song and dance, which was loudly encored. Miss Addie Flint recited "The Curfew Must not Toll To-Night" in splendid style, and replying to an encore, gave "The Smack in School." In the "Old Folks Concert" several ancient and remarkably unique costumes were introduced, together with a number of amusing eccentricities.

C. of E. Y. M. A. Reorganization

The Church of England Y. M. A. has been reorganized upon a vigorous basis for the season. A meeting was held on Thursday evening in Bishop Cronyn Hall, attended by a large number of those interested in the work. Dean Boomer occupied the chair. The clergymen present were Rev. Canon Innes, J. B. Richardson, of Memorial Church; Rev. A. Brown, Rev. W. DaLom and Rev. W.J. Smith, of Christ Church, all of whom expressed great interest in the affairs of the Association. In consequence of the unexpected removal of Mr. McCosh, the late President, the Association had been without an acting President for some months; otherwise the season's programme would have been ere this before the public. Now, however, it is determined to go on with vigor, and make up for lost time. Resolutions were passed to carry out the work of the Association with all possible efficiency and strength. A Bible Class will be held weekly in the committee-room by the young men, and public entertainments will be given fortnightly. The season will be opened shortly with a lecture from the Bishop of Huron, patron of the institution, who continues to take a deep interest in its welfare. Mr. George Laing, who acted as President for two years successively, and with general approval, was unanimously re-chosen as President this year, with Mr. Geo. Wilson as Vice-President, Mr. Walter Hamilton as Secretary, and Mr. Stephen Kent as Treasurer. Several additions were made to the Executive Committee. The Secretary is therefore now in a fair way of gaining renewed success in its field of usefulness.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. T. C. Rykert, M. P., of Lincoln, was a guest at the Townsend House last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford, of this city, arrived home from Michigan yesterday afternoon.

Mr. H. B. Kennedy, the well known vocalist of Brantford, was on a visit to friends in London yesterday.

Mr. G. W. A. Geddes, recently of the Merchants Bank, Ingersoll, has been promoted to a higher position in the London branch.

Strong's Hotel transients:—Jacob Rothchild, Buffalo, N. Y.; Adam Small, Toronto; M. M. McCoy, Bay City, Mich., and Harry Thompson, Chatham.

Dr. D. W. Telford, formerly on the Standard, of this city, but now on the Montreal Gazette staff, was in the city yesterday, looking as hearty as possible.

Revere House casuals:—David Meyers, Detroit; Mrs. M. Cameron, Ingersoll; John B. Lisle, Toronto; Rev. G. Fleming, St. Thomas, and R. Coleman, Toronto.

City Hotel guests:—Leslie Davidson and Harry Bennett, Bay City, Mich.; D. J. Jhason, Strathroy; H. E. McCallum, Hamilton; John Rudolph, Brantford; G. A. Mahson, Hamilton.

Mr. D. Ghas, Q. C., who has been attending the Board of Arbitration at Chatham during the week, has returned home. The Board has concluded nothing evidence, but it is not likely will agree upon their award for some days yet.

Among those registered at the Grigg House last night were:—H. Abel and wife, Toronto; G. W. A. Geddes, Hamilton; James Goodall, St. Thomas; W. B. Dack, Toronto; Chas. A. Williamson, do; D. Mc-Lean, Strathroy; Dr. Coventry, Windsor.

Tecumseh House guests last night:—Joseph Alles, Toronto; David Rome, New York; C. F. Paine and wife, Cleveland; Geo. Spence, Toronto; S. Hird, Montreal; Wm. Smeaton, do; W. H. Orchard, do; John J. Davidson, do; Allen Davies, Bowmanville; Louis N. Kish, London, Eng.; Wm. N. Morley, Guelph; John B. Richards, St. Thomas; J. F. Donaldson, Montreal; C. D. Edwards, Toronto; Mrs. C. W. Lindsay, Winnipeg.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

London, Nov. 6.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon:

Sh.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
250	Agricultural		111	113½
50	Canadian		119	121
100	English		102	104
100	English Loan		102	104½
50	Financial & Cy. Cot		100	100
50	Gore Bank		100	100
50	Hamilton Prov		121	123
50	London Loan		100	100
50	Ontario		147½	150
50	Standard		121	123
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
50	Free Trade Pr'n Co		101
	London Gas		120
	London Life		99	100
	Montreal Ass'c'n		100
	Street Railway

European Finances.

London, Nov. 6, 11 30 a. m.

Console ..... 97 13-16 | Erie 10
Erie ..... 96½ | Illinois Cen. 67
Illinois Cen. ..... 96½ | ....

The Bank of England's rate is now 3 per cent.

London, Oct. 6.—Console 97 15-16. The Bank of England has raised the rate of discount to 3 per cent.

New York Stocks.

New York, November 6.—Railroads quiet, stocks strong and this afternoon closed at a decline and unsettled.

Cotton.

Liverpool, Nov. 6, 11:30 a. m.—Cotton firm, Uplands ..... 5 11-16d | Orleans 5 15-16d

Michigan Salt.

East Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 4.—The salt product of Michigan during the month of October was 242,800 barrels; for the year, to date, 1,868,104 barrels.

A Million Tons of Water.

In the trial of the Sanderson-Pennsylvania Coal Company case it was shown that the Gypsy Grove Colliery mined about 100,000 tons of coal per annum. At the same time they pumped out over 1,000,000 tons of water. Mr. Foot made the statement that there were nine tons of water pumped out of the Diamond mine than tons of coal taken out of the whole Lackawanna Valley.

London Markets.

Reported daily for the Free Press.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1879.

GRAIN.

	Per 100 lbs.		Per 100 lbs.
Delhi	2 00 to 2 06	Barley	90 to 1 40
Treadwell	2 00 to 2 06	Generally ...	to —
Dawson...	2 00 to 2 06	Peas — ...	80 to 1 00
Wuite.....	1 85 to 1 90	Oats	1 00 to 1 05
Red.....	1 90 to 1 95	Rye	75 to 85
Spring.....	1 85 to 1 85	Corn	80 to 1 05

PRODUCE.

Eggs, retail 18 to	20	Pallow, rnd	4 to 5
Potatoes, bar 60 to	60	" rough	3 to 3
Roll Butter 20 to	20	Lard, pr lb	0 to 10
Crock Butter 12 to	12	Wool	30 to 00
Keg butter 11 to	12	Cheese, lb	1 to 10
Corn, doz....	5 to	6 Tomatoes, bu	30 to 40
Turnips.....	20 to	30 Clover hay	6 00 to 8 00
Carrots.....	30 to	30 Timothy d'd
Onions, bag	To to	00 wholesale	7 75 to 00
Green wool	2 00 to	2 25 " retail	9 00 to 00
Dry	2 75 to	3 25 Straw, per
Honey.....	20 to	00 load	9 00 to 3 00
Hay	8 00 to	10 00

POULTRY

Chickens, pair	35 to	40	Ducks, pair	40 to 60
Geese.....	45 to	60	Turkeys.....	75 to 1 25

LIVE STOCK

Milch cows	35 00 to	40 00	Live Hogs..	3 (3 to 4 00

HOPS.

Hops, 9?1 to 9?1 per 100 lbs.

MEATS.

Beef, hind qr	3 00 to	5 50	Dr. dHogs,	5 50 to 5 75
" hind qr	2 00 to	3 00	Mutton, lb	to 7
Lamb	6 to	6	Veal	4 to 6

HIDES.

Lambskins	80 to	1	Sheepskins	80 to 75
Hides, No 1	5 to	6	Calf Skins, green	10 to 1
No. 2	4 to	5	" Cry	12 to 18
No 3	4 to	0

New York.

New York, Nov. 6.—COTTON firm; 11 7-16c. FLOUR dull; receipts, 24,700 bbls; sales, 9,000 bbls; $4 00 to $5 50 for super state and western; $5 10 to $6 25 for extra do; $4 90 to $5 50 for superfine; $27,000 bushels, sales, 164,000 bushels; No. 2 red spot $1 35. RYE quiet at 60c to 60c. CORN dull; receipts, 9,000 bushels; sales, 79,000 bushels, at 56c to 56c for white do. PORK quiet at $9 75 to $9 87½. LARD in better favor at $6 75. BUTTER 16c to 30c. CHEESE 7c to 12c.

New York, Nov. 5.—RYE—Receipts to-day, 34,850 bush's. The demand moderate; the supply light. Sales of 4,000 bu. No. 1 Western, 56c in car lots, and No 1 do 56½c in do. PEAS—Receipts to-day 6,300 bu. Canada Peas wholly nominal; all arrivals going through Michigan millers on their way to the East. BARLEY—Receipts to-day, 191,000 bush. There was no business doing, so far as reported, sellers asking old rates and unable to get them, and, while lower to sell, there is no change to this nominal quotation. BARLEY MALT—Receipts to-day, 4,000 bush. The demand is fair, and the market is steady. Sales of 4,000 bush city at $1 15 to $1 22, cash and time.

Boston.

Boston, November 5.—FLOUR — Market quiet' Western superfine at $3 to $5 20; common extras at $3 75 to $6 25; Wisconsin extras at $6 to $7; Minnesota extras at $6 25 to $7 50; winter wheats, Ohio and Michigan, at $6 75 to $7 50; Illinois and Indiana at $7 to $7 50; St. Louis at $7 to $8; Wisconsin and

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Orders from the trade respectfully solicited.

Married.

On the 6th instant, at the residence of the bride's father, Richmond street, by the Rev J Hunter Murray, Mr James P Morris to Sarah, youngest daughter of Mr A McMillan, all of this city.

On November 6th, by Rev Dr Sanderson, at his residence of the bride's sister, 263 Bathurst street, London, Ont, Dr D W Telford, of Montreal, to Miss Mary A Bowyer, second daughter of Mr William Bowyer, of Inverkip, Ont.

On St Peter's Cathedral on the 5th instant, by the Rev Father Tiernan, Mr James Clifford, of Stroma, to Maggie, eldest daughter of Mr Stephen Nedigan, of London, Ont.

On the 5th instant, at the residence of the father of the bride, East Nissouri, by the Rev I Cameron, Thamesford, John Foster, Esq, to Matilda, youngest daughter of the late Wm Kone, Esq, both of East Nissouri.

Died.

November 1st, at No. 8 Madison Avenue, Dublin, Arthur W. Maxwell, late of Sarnia. The remains were taken to Grand Rapids for interment.

On Saturday, Oct. 18th, at Romney, Hampshire, after ailing a few days, Mrs. Brookman, mother of the Rev. W. Brookman, of this city, in the 85th year of her age.

DR. ORONHYATEKHA.

Office, 200 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall. Special attention given to Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. Office hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7 to 8 p.m. Residence, 313 Dundas street, opposite Wellington's Grove. tf

AMUSEMENTS.

PARKING SCHOOL WILL BE Opened on Monday evening, the 10th inst., Hunt's Block, Richmond St. Above will be published to parties wishing to have a se-ce. Kit

THE POPULAR DIME, MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Every Monday and Friday evenings. tf

MEETINGS.

BAPTIST CHURCH, CORNER of York and Talbot streets. A. Grant, pastor. Morning services, 11 o'clock; evening service, 7 o'clock. Sunday School 2.45 p.m. Everybody welcomed at pastor's residence, 76 York street. 1387

KING STREET P. M. CHURCH Anniversary Sermons to-morrow—at 11 a.m. Rev G. R. Maitland; at 3 P. m., Rev. J. M. Gibson, B.A., and at 7 by the pastor, Rev. W. Hodgins. tf

QUEEN'S AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH TO-MORROW.—Services at 10. and 6.30 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.—Sabbath evening service. Special service to young men by the Rev Canon Innes, M.A., on "The folly and dangers of trifling with God." tf

VICTORIA HALL.—PRAISE and prayer meeting Sabbath evening, at 8. Short exhortations by young men. tf

SITUATIONS VACANT.

TWO FIRST - CLASS DRESSMAKERS wanted at Mrs. Garne's Dressing Emporium and Fancy Store. All kinds of trimmings, fine cutting and stylish done in most improved styles. Corner of Kent and Bond streets, London. tf

SERVANT'S WANTED.

TO THE LADIES OF THE CITY of London and vicinity.—You can get best with good servants, at short notice, by applying to Jones' Canadian Intelligence Office, Dundas street, London. ly CAME ASTRAY.

STRAYED INTO MY PREMISES about the 25th October, a bay pony. The owner is requested to prove property, pay charges and remove. Apply to Jno. Anderson, 1st concession 2, London township. 16-6th-wtf

REAL ESTATE.

PRICE RESIDENCE, CLOSE to North Branch Mills, Petersville, for sale—Six rooms, with new brick cellar, frost proof, good garden and orchard, which this year bore over 100 bushels of apples—2 acres in all, fenced and with bank on the river; terms reasonable, and easy as to time. Apply to Petersville Building, to J. SHANLY. Petersville Building, to J. SHANLY.

London, 14th October, 1879. tus-tf

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 119 feet frontage by 240 feet deep; a good well, with choicest fruit and other trees, on Albert street. Apply to F. B. Smith. 1366

COTTAGE FOR SALE.—ONE OF the most desirable cottages in New Brighton, with all the requirements of a first-class house, fine frontage, good barn and out-buildings, stocked with all kinds of fruit trees, vines, &c., all carried all over the premises. To those who are desirous of purchasing a home, a rare opportunity. For further particulars address G. W. E. ADVERTISING COMPANY, London, Ont. 1316tf

FOR SALE, THAT DESIRABLE property, the homestead of the late Wm. Sparling, one mile north of Clark's Bridge, on gravel road. Two acres, brick cottage, barn and all other out-buildings, first class orchard. Land all fenced and in good condition. Terms 10 per cent. Possession 1st May next. Apply to Sparling, 161 Piccadilly street, London, Ont. 1316tf

FOR SALE, CHEAP.—Woodview Estate, Westminster.—FARES moderate. tf

TO LET

DESIRABLE COTTAGE ON John street to let; has hay, community of water. Apply to G. W. KENT. 836tf

COMMODIOUS TWO STORY Brick House to rent, in Salley's Block, William avenue, south side, between Maitland and Adelaide streets. Possession given immediately. Apply to CROWDER & GREENLEES, Solicitors, &c.

TWO-STORY BRICK HOUSE, on Alma street, formerly occupied by Mr. Moorhead; a frame cottage on James street; also a frame cottage on Adelaide street, to rent.—Apply to ANDREW C. F. SMITH. tus-tf

HOUSE TO LET.—A TWO-story frame house, with verandah, on the side of Mill street, near Richmond, eight rooms, good cellar, hard and soft water. Immediate possession. Apply at 327 Queen's avenue, or Hilsch's office. 316octtf

LARGE FRONT ROOM TO LET, with board, over Salter's Drug Store—suitable for a doctor's office or a society. Apply on the premises. 836tf

TWO STORES TO RENT ON Richmond street—in the Grigg House block. For particulars apply to SAMUEL GRIGG.

TO LET.—STORE NO. 245 DUNDAS street. Rent very low at first to suitable tenant, likely to do good business. Apply to BARCLAY, 239 Dundas st. 836

FOR SALE.

PARTIES FURNISHING.—Contents of a well-furnished house for sale, which might be sold separately. Address "E P," Times Office. 836tf

PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A Cooper & Richard Flow Paper Cutter, in good order, 44 inches. Apply at Farm Fixtures. tf

WANZER SEWING MACHINE Chest, with latest improvements, for sale cheap. Apply at Office of Farm Fixtures. tf

CORDWOOD.

EXHIBITION COAL AND WOOD YARD.—A good stock of coal, well screened. Cordwood cut and split to suit customers. Fine kindling always on hand. Full weight and measure guaranteed. Cheapest in the city. Orders left at T. J. McDonough's, grocery store, corner Richmond and Dundas streets, or at the office, opposite No. 3 fire station, Richmond street.—T. M. DONOHOE, proprietor. O'Keedy

CONFECTIONERS.

LONDON EAST OYSTER AND CONFECTIONERY Saloon, nearly opposite Post Office. During the season Oysters will be served in every style equal to anything the market can supply. Just call and satisfy yourself. RICHARD NORMAN. tf OYSTERS AND CONFECTIONERY AT W. J. BOOTH'S, MILLER'S BLOCK, LONDON EAST.

FINE ARTS.

BARNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture mouldings, cornices, brackets, and frames supplied. Cheapest house in the trade. Gallery of Art, 243 Dundas st. Fishy

THE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—T. J. Evans, 243 Dundas street, near Albion House. tf

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

GEORGE KERR,
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS generally. 246 Richmond street, London.

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6947

TRY
D. DODD & BRO.,
—FOR—
Choice Family Groceries,
WINES, ETC.
393 DUNDAS STREET, 4 doors east of Colborne Hall.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mrs. M. Hunt, the American artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be equaled in Canada. Factory—No. 315 Richmond street, London. J14tf

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL.—S. McKENZIE has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment and Part Emporium to 193 Dundas street (in A. J. Wheatley's old stand). P.S.—This is the only Sewing Machine Repair Part and Attachment Emporium of the city. Better facilities for repairing, and cheaper rates than ever. Raymond's Celebrated Machines on sale. 25c A life-time warranty given with every Raymond sold. J1Soellin

S. THREAPLETON, RAG CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 191 south Bathurst street, between Richmond and Talbot streets. All orders promptly attended to. 16vn

MEDICAL.

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., London, England, Physician, Surgeon &c., successor to Dr. DeLong, Dundas street opposite Town Hall, London East. 876odlm

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. 1256y

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Edge Block, Richmond street. 693y

H. McLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office removed over the fancy confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall, 196 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office, 194 Dundas street. Alby

L. M'DONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST, has removed from Richmond street over Davis's grocery store to Alby

R. A. REEVE, B.A., M.D., Residence and Office: No. 32 SHUTER STREET, TORONTO. At Dorchester, Monday, on the FIRST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH. Hfeodhn

HOTELS.

CLIFFORD.—M'DONALD HOUSE, a new and elegant brick building, heated throughout with hot air. European and appointments first-class. Has been refitted and refurnished to supply a long-felt desideratum. Travellers can now obtain seventy-five well furnished rooms at the larger towns. Luggage attended to as at trains. Excellent sample rooms. Liberality of Philipport's liabilities to the Banque Franco-Hollandaise, became President of the Credit Mobilier, and attached himself to many other companies. He came to grief, and was declared bankrupt both at Paris and Brussels. Liabilities, amounting to twenty-eight million francs. Four years elapsed. That catastrophe was sinking into oblivion, when Philipport reappears. It was noised that he satisfied his creditors by showing them that he had acted with sincerity; had not enriched himself; had worked conscientiously, but had succumbed to a great coalition against him of the great railway companies, who sought to prevent him grouping all the small lines into a seventh great company. His creditors believed him and absolved him, and he reappeared in the financial world. He created a new bank, the Banque Europeenne, was empowered to raise the capital to 100,000,000 francs, and issued shares at a considerable premium. He made no promises, simply reminding the public it was he who invited it to subscribe. His first issue was 40,000 shares of 500 francs, nominal at 700 francs. They were subscribed four times over. A general meeting was held at Brussels to authorize him to continue his issue, and seventeen million francs entered the coffers of the Banque Europeenne. Then he commenced a kind of race against Bourse speculations.

Philipport bought an enormous number of shares in the Credit Mobilier, chairmanship of which he had failed to recover. His name was mixed up with a variety of schemes, and he shone more brilliantly than ever. At a meeting held on the 15th, it was whispered some difficulties impeded his operations, and that he had to pay very dearly for many of his settlement passed over. Four days ago he announced to the Board of the Banque Europeenne that the coming liquidation would be difficult, that he found it hard to raise money, and that he was going to Liege, in Belgium, to procure some. He started. Two days passed without tidings. On Tuesday evening the Banque's Board met. A telegram from Philipport was sent him, but there was no reply. The Banque's legal advisers were sent for, and the state of things examined into. Philipport's liabilities to the Banque amounted to three or four million francs, but the Banque held an enormous quantity of Credit Mobilier shares, and it reckoned its shares in the purchase of the Grand Hotel and Hotel Scribe as asset of three or four million francs. The position of the Banque was, therefore, good, on the condition of the bonds it held not being thrown on the market. The statutes provide that no operation of Philipport should bind the concern unless endorsed by two directors. The Board decided that it could not accept the responsibility of Philipport's Bourse operations. The effect of the Board's decision and of Philipport's disappearance on the Bourse is like a thunder clap. Philipport was executed, the balance due by him reaching 5,900,000 francs. On Thursday evening it was affirmed that a compromise was about to be effected between the Banque and Philipport and the brokers, to make the best of the affair.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The difficulties which menace the Banque Europeenne are not yet surmounted. The Directors of the Banque Europeenne have reconsidered their position regarding Philipport's peculations, and still intervene in the settlement of the difficulties resulting from them. The Banque seems to have been advised that it stands by law responsible for its chairman's operations. It is stated that Philipport has resigned the chairmanship of the Banque, and that an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders still be held.

AFGHANISTAN.

Yakoob Khan Imprisoned by his Troops.

London, Nov. 7.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Yakoob Khan, the Governor of Herat, is said to be practically imprisoned in the citadel by his troops.

MUTINY OF THE AMEER'S TROOPS.

The Ameer's troops in Turkestan mutinied, and have reached Barrian Pass, but it is believed they intend surrendering their arms.

RUSSIA.

THE CENTRAL ASIAN EXPEDITION.

Cabul, Nov. 7.—It is reported here that a Russian force has left Charjooie, 65 miles southwest of Bokhara, and is marching against the Tekke Turcomans.

GERMANY.

BISMARCK'S HEALTH.

London, Nov. 7.—A Berlin despatch says Bismarck is suffering from excessive long hard work, and is not likely to experience much relief until he observes the advice of his physicians, enjoining perfect rest for a considerable time.

IMPROVEMENT IN TRADE.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—In the Lower House of the Prussian Diet to-day the Minister of Finance said the information from various provinces confirmed the reports of an improvement in trade. He said that before assuming office he had a most comprehensive understanding with Bismarck upon all questions relating to customs duty and taxation.

FRANCE.

JOURNALISTIC DUELISTS.

Paris, November 7.—A duel was fought on Wednesday near Bordeaux, between a writer on a Republican newspaper and a clerical journalist. The former received a sword thrust in his arm.

PERSONAL.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The Bonapartists have nominated Marshal Canrobert for Senator from the Department of the Lower Charente. The election takes place on the 9th inst.

JEROME NAPOLEON.

Paris, November 7.—The Rappelle denies reports that Prince Jerome Napoleon has surrounded himself with a complete diplomatic household, and is taking on airs of the compagnon for the Presidency or the Empire, and says the Prince is more retired than ever.

TURKEY.

THE PROMISED REFORMS.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—It is expected the Sultan will shortly order the immediate commencement of internal reforms.

FINANCIAL DISTRESS.

Vienna, Nov. 7.—Private letters from Constantinople confirm the reports of the extremity of distress in financial matters in Turkey. Even the pilgrimage to Mecca, hitherto provisioned at the expense of the government, is unable to get any assistance—an event which never before occurred.

GREAT BRITAIN.

PARLIAMENT.

London, Nov. 7.—The Evening Standard says the rumor that Parliament will be immediately dissolved is absurd. It was set afloat for stock jobbing purposes.

The Globe says:—Stocks depressed this afternoon in consequence of the rumor of the approaching dissolution of Parliament.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

Sir S. L. Tilley leaves Ottawa on Monday or Tuesday next for the west.

The abolition of tolls is the exciting question which Kingston and surrounding country is still discussing.

It is expected that judgment will be given in the Supreme Court in the North Ontario election case this morning.

On Sunday evening last the residence of the Rev. Father Bertrand, at Plantagenet, was entered by burglars, and $300 in cash stolen.

The return of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway for the week ending Nov. 1st shows an increase in the receipts of $1,410 11.

The schooner Prussia arrived yesterday at Kingston with 35,507 bushels of wheat from Toledo—the largest load ever delivered by a canal vessel.

A paisley feeling prevails in St. John, N. B., because of the fact that a leading dry goods and grocery firm, with large shipping and railway interests, are in financial difficulties.

An only daughter of a Mr. Healand, living on the Hamilton Branch Railway, between Hamilton and Dehre, N. B., was burned to death on Wednesday. The little one was playing with or near a fire by the side of the road, when her clothes caught fire and she was burned so badly that she died soon after. She was 9 years old.

Blake believes the Courtney-Hanlan match will be rowed at Washington early in December. He will not be referee unless the $6,000 is placed unconditionally in his hands to be given to the winner. Hanlan has intimated his willingness to row in December, and now Courtney has to be heard from. It is reasonable that Hanlan should ask for a little time to get into shape again.

The trial of the petition against the return of F. M. Carpenter, M. P. P. for South Wentworth, commenced at Hamilton yesterday before Chief Justice Moss and Judge Galt. The Court sat from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. at which time a large number of cases were inquired into. The result so far leaves matters as they were, nearly every charge being abandoned, and decision reserved on only one point. The trial will be resumed at 10 to-morrow.

The ballasting of the western division of the C. V. R. from Galt to Ingersoll is now completed, and the road is ready for traffic. The track from the east will be laid to Galt about the 20th instant, and when the iron bridge across the Grand River is finished, which is expected about the end of November, the road will be completed and ready for traffic from Ingersoll to Toronto. That the rails on the C. V. R. track are laid up to about one hundred yards of the Alton station ground. The iron gang have been placed on the Fergus branch, where the rails are laid as the others began plundering the store. Hall and party appeared and demanded their surrender. The robbers fired, wounding the citizens. Hall's men returned the fire, killing one robber, mortally wounding another, and slightly wounding a third. The others escaped.

MINOR AMERICAN TELEGRAMS.

Fred. Sharpley, once a popular negro minstrel, died at Newark last night in poverty.

A Lynn, Mass., man recently purchased a number of empty liquor casks in Boston, intending to fill them with cider. One cask, into which the oldest lot of rum was found to contain fur capes, valued at upwards of $2,000.

An extensive cement in the Manufacturers and Merchants' Bank of New York, was disclosed to day. Jno. Hann, book keeper, left the bank suddenly, on Oct. 27th, and sent a letter to the bank, confessing that he had embezzled $36,000. After leaving the bank he fled to Belgium, but returned to Canada, where he now is.

At Lancaster, Pa., during a heavy fog yesterday morning, a freight train ran into another freight. Two oil trucks were wrecked, and the escaping oil caught fire. Shortly after one of the tanks exploded with terrific force, severely shocking all the buildings in the vicinity. The fire brigade was of little service. For hours the road was blocked for miles east and west with trains waiting for the fire to burn out. Only one person was injured. The tracks are now all clear.

At Kennett Square, Pa., the masked burglars who robbed the Baileys on Wednesday night only took a $1,000 bond, a gold watch and $1,000 in cash. The thieves strewed $147,000 non-negotiable securities on the floor. The safe was in the room occupied by Geo. Bailey and 65. The thieves entered by forcing open a shutter. They pointed a revolver at Bailey's head and demanded the keys. Failing to get them, they opened the safe with false keys. Two previous attempts at robbery had been made.

CABLE NOTES.

The Suez Canal has been re opened.

The French revenue for the ten months of the present year ending Oct. exceeds the estimates by 128,000,000 francs.

The race for the Liverpool Autumn Cup was won by Master Kildare; Rylestone second, and Sunburn third. Eleven horses ran.

The Berlin Post understands that the rumors long current, representing the Czarewitch as violently ailing and mentally infirm, is absolutely unfounded.

A Berlin despatch says Germany and Austria will proceed conjointly in whatever measures are taken for the protection of the interests of Egyptian bondholders.

Owing to the arrangements for Parnell's American tour it will be impossible for him to carry out his programme of visiting the Irish in the large constituencies in Great Britain.

UNITED STATES POLITICS

The Result of the New York State Election Still in Doubt—Southern Effect of the Republican Gain in New York.

New York, Nov. 7.—The Herald says it is still doubtful which party carried the State. It looks at present as if Potter and Seymour had been elected by small majorities. The vote on the State ticket, from the Lieutenant-Governor down, has been very close.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The Evening Journal has additional returns on the State ticket, and figures Potter's majority at 342. It says the returns generally indicate that Carr, Wadsworth, Wendell and Ward are considerably ahead, and probably elected 2,000 to 5,000 majority.

The New York Post's Washington special states the Administration is disappointed at the incompleteness of the Republican triumph in New York, chiefly because of its effect at the South. Had it been shown that New York, on a sectional issue, is certainly Republican the movement at the South in favor of new and non-sectional issues would have been greatly strengthened.

Labor Troubles in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Trouble between the pork packers and their hands, numbering 9,000, has broken out again, and is likely to prove serious. The Workingmen's Union recently demanded an advance of 25 cents a day for labor in the packing houses. The proprietors yesterday gave in temporarily. To day, however, 21 packers and curers, embracing the principal houses, signed an agreement to hire and discharge men regardless of any union. Many packers threaten to shut down entirely if they cannot get men at the old prices. Some firms threaten to remove their business from Chicago. Hogs were a drag in the market to-day. Four prospects for future wages. The workmen are now earning from $1.50 to $4 a day.

Midnight Weather Report.

Washington, Nov. 8, 1 a. m.—Middle States, clear or partly cloudy. Lower Lakes, partly cloudy and local rains.

A FIGHT BY MOONLIGHT.

Major Morrow's Command Engage a Large Body of Apaches.

Tucson, Arizona, Nov. 7.—A Fort Grant special says.—Dispatches from Fort Bayard, N. M., announce the return there of Arizona troops and scouts. They had a fight by moonlight, with Victoria's Apaches, in Mexico, sixty miles below the line. One hundred and eighty warriors engaged in the fight, and were defeated and driven from the field. Private Cochieris, of Company A, 6th Cavalry, was killed, Indian scouts, of Lieut. Gatewood's company, of Fort Apache, killed, and another wounded. Major Morrow commanded the troops in the fight. Gen. Wilcox sent a dispatch to the Mexican consul at Tucson, stating that any efforts of the Mexican Government to arrest the hostiles would be regarded as a friendly act. The consul replied that Wilcox's dispatch would be immediately forwarded to the Mexican authorities, that they may proceed against the hostiles as required by the good friendship existing between our two republics

STRANGE RAILWAY ACCIDENT

One Part of the Train Runs Into the Other—Fatal Results.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 7.—A freight train broke in two this morning while coming down the mountain, eight miles west of Altoona. The detached portion gained great speed at Kittaning Point. It ran into the first part. Twenty four cars were wrecked. Freight was scattered in all directions. James McDowell, brakeman, was killed. He was terribly mutilated. J. Cook, another brakeman, is not expected to recover.

Murdered by His Wife.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 7.—S. D. Phillips was brutally murdered by his wife near Buffalo City, Baxter County, last Saturday night. She waited until the old man was asleep, and then with an axe mangled his head and body in a horrible manner. After the murder she dragged the body into the yard, and then, after trying to wash out some of the bloody evidences, went to the same bed where her husband was killed and went to sleep. There she was arrested. Pieces of skull and bloody clothing were found on the bed. The woman states that Phillips treated her badly and she killed him for revenge.

A Fatal Ambush.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 7.—At Campbell's store, Atascosa, Capt. Hall, with a squad of rangers and several citizens, anticipating an attempt to pillage the store, concealed themselves to capture robbers. During the night five men rode up and entered the store, two entered the clerk while the others began plundering the store. Hall and party appeared and demanded their surrender. The robbers fired, wounding the citizens. Hall's men returned the fire, killing one robber, mortally wounding another, and slightly wounding a third. The others escaped.

NOVA SCOTIAN NOTES.

Per Dominion Line

Halifax, N S., Nov. 7.—Intelligence has been received here of the arrival at Key West of the Halifax brig George S. Berry, Capt. Howard, with lumber from Pensacola, and the crew in a state of mutiny. The captain was badly cut by the mutineers. His life was saved and the mutiny quelled by his daughter.

The sad story of the death of an old man in the wood is reported from Salmon River. On Friday last Wm. Murray, aged 70 years, started with a horse and cart to work in the woods. Not returning in reasonable time, one of his daughters started to search for him, and found his lifeless body some distance from the house.

A young man living at Smithfield, Chesterey county, who insulted a lady some time ago, was dragged out of a house, where he was attending a party, taken to a barn and tarred and feathered by a number of men in disguise.

BRANTFORD BRIEFS.

Brantford, Nov. 7.—Rev. W. W. Willis, of Springford, has accepted a call from the Third Baptist Church.

Fifty one dollars and seventy-three cents were collected yesterday for the Widows' Home at Union. Services were held in the Wellington street Methodist church and the First Baptist church.

The thanksgiving supper in the Congregational church last evening was very largely attended.

The annual dinner of No. 4 Company, Dufferin Rifles, was held last evening. The attendance was large.

The Lake Marine.

Sarnia, Ont., Nov. 7.—The steam barge Morley, which ran aground on the bar on the night of the 5th inst., was towed off by the tug Winslow about 12 o'clock to-day.

Mill Point, Ont., Nov. 7.—The schooner Anna M. Foster, in tow of the tug Sherman, was aground in Napanee River to-day, and the steamer Deseronto pulled her off.

The schooners W. W. Grant and Ben Folger collided down the bay near Stone Mills last night. The Grant was very much damaged. She was repaired here to-day.

Fort Colborne, Ont., November 7.—A steam pump arrived to day by rail from Windsor, and left here on a wrecking tug this p. m. for the schooner Mineral State, ashore at Point Abino. It is doubtful if they will be able to land the pump at the schooner, as it is blowing fresh from the south.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., November 7.—The tug Brignat brought in the schooner St. Andrews, which was ashore below Niagara. The tug Harvey Neelon left this afternoon with a scow to lighten and pull off the schooner Jane McLeod, ashore near Wilson, Newark Port Stanley, Nov. 7.—The schooner Waconsta arrived in for shelter. Wind fresh, southeast.

Target Practice at Ingersoll.

Per Dominion Line.

Ingersoll, Nov. 7.—The annual target practice of No. 4 company of the 22nd Battalion, Oxford Rifles, took place at the Butts, near here, yesterday. The following are the names and scores of the successful competitors for prizes:—First prize, medal, won by F. Christopher, 34; second prize, won by D. McKenzie, silver cup, score, 32; third prize, won by A. J. Reid, large silver spoon, score, 31.

A Horrible Death.

Quebec, Nov. 7.—Intelligence has been received here of the frightful death of a farmer in the county of Port Neuf, at St. Casimir. Two hunters, while going their rounds a few days ago in the wild country at the head of Lake of Seven Islands, in St. Casimir, came upon a portion of the remains of the unfortunate man in a bear trap, which held him by the arms, while a good portion of his body had been eaten by bears.

SHIPPING.

London, Nov. 7.—Arrived, Rhesbina.

New York, Nov. 7.—Arrived, Star of India and Mikado, from Glasgow, and Adriatic, from Liverpool.

London, Nov. 7.—Arrived, Suevia.

London, Nov. 7.—There is a steamer aground in the Suez Canal, causing a suspension of traffic.

New York, Nov. 7.—Arrived, Neckar, from Bremen, and Victoria from London.

New York, Nov. 7.—Arrived, Denmark, from London.

Queenstown, Nov. 7.—Arrived, steamer Scythia.

Martin River, Que., Nov. 7.—Steamship Brooklyn, inward; steamship Erl King, inward.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., Importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.
WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.
Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).
Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.
WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.
London, Nov. 3, 1879. Jl8odkwtf

X CENTS
ASK for a ten cent sample bottle of KARKENESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP. It will convince you that it is the best preparation in the markets for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 726y

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jly9 International House Dundas street.

SMOKE
—THE—
Old Man's Favorite.
ONLY
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELIABLE TOBACCOS.
W. C. McDONALD
MANUFACTURER OF FINE
TOBACCOS
MONTREAL.
TRADE MARK.

—THE—
NORTH END STORE
IS THE PLACE FOR
CHOICE FAMILY GROCERIES
All Kinds of Poultry Below Market
Oysters received daily, at 25 cents per can.
GEO. DAVISON,
Nos. 720 and 721 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

Essential Oils!
RECEIVED.
(4) Four Coppers Oil Lemon.
(2) Two do. " Bergamot.
(4) Four Tins " Myrbane.
B. A. MITCHELL.

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains.
THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 70 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains. 1Sdtf STEVENSON & BURNES & CO.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
To Printers, Book Publishers, Stereotypers, Etc.
ALFRED CRAIGIE
Has REMOVED his manufactory from St. George to Galt, where he has increased facilities for manufacturing and shipping first-class Cabinets, Cases, Laboratory Furniture, Wood Brass Reglets, Quoins, Stereotype Bottoms, etc.
Send for price list, and be convinced that he sells cheaper than any other firm.
ALFRED CRAIGIE, Galt, Ont. Jly17

NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON. - - - - ONTARIO.

GEORGE F. JEWELL,
ACCOUNTANT,
INSURANCE AND COMMISSION AGENT.
OFFICE—No. 9 Middleton's Block, Dundas St. (second floor) London East.

TURKISH BATHS!
Corner King and Waterloo streets,
LONDON - - - - - - ONTARIO.
For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs and all Chronic Diseases. An experienced Matron has charge of the Ladies' Department. Medical and Surgical Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.
oodtf DRS STREET & McLAREN.

RECEIVED THIS WEEK,
A LARGE STOCK OF TOILET GOODS
—AT—
CENTRAL DRUG STORE.
J. H. NASMITH & CO.
London, Sept. 20, 1878. tmy

SPENCERIAN STEEL PENS.
SPENCERIAN OFFICIAL. Superior English make. A sample card of one each of the TWENTY numbers for trial, by mail, on receipt of 20 cents.
ALEX. BUNTIN & CO., Montreal, Illustrated Sole Agents for Canada.

North End Coal and Wood Yard.
The subscriber begs to thank his many friends for past favors, and having purchased his partner's stock, will endeavour, as heretofore, to give satisfaction and good measure. All accounts due the late firm must be paid at once.
oodtf GEO. McNEIL.

KINGSMILL'S,
—THE—
Great Dry Goods House
OF THE WEST,
OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES
in various departments this morning.

Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool
FANCY FLANNELS.

Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American
CANTON FLANNELS

EMBOSSED
DRESS MATERIALS,
with Velvets to match.

BLACK
GROS GRAIN SILKS.

Ladies' Black and Drab
CLOTH JACKETS,
Berlin and Paris make.

All Wool, Twilled
CANADIAN
BLANKETS.

TABLE LINENS.

CASHMERE
AND OTHER
DRESS GOODS.

Received to-day, new shapes in
LADIES' DRAB
MOSCOW HATS.

To Get the Best Value for Your Money
GO TO
KINGSMILL'S.

For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,
GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Made
IS THE REMARK OF CUSTOMERS leaving our store daily, when they compare our prices with those of others in the trade who do not a limited business, and hold on to the long price system. Our motto is and has been for the past seven years, "Quick sales and light profits," which, together with strict attention to the wants of our customers, has secured for us the large and most satisfactory trade in our line in the city. We have to apologize for the limited room in our store, but we promise to show our customers in a few months one of the largest and finest stores in the Dominion.
Horner and Somerville
CITY GROCERY.

THE MISSING PROPELLER ARGYLE.

She is Thought to Have Been Delayed by Storms—List of the Officers.

St. Catharines, Nov. 6.—Captain A. G. Graham, owner of the propeller Argyle is in Windsor. I interviewed his book keeper and got the following information:—The Argyle was to leave Sault Ste Marie on the 23th October for Fort William. From there she was to go to Ashland to take on a load of deals for Kingston. There were no passengers on board, so far as is known here. The following is a list of the officers:—Captain, H. McLachlan, of Glenora; first mate, Wm. Daoust, of Melochville; second mate, Henry Tytle, of Prescott; purser, John C. Graham, jr., son of the owner; and first engineer, Wm. Fletcher, of St Catharines. The name of the second engineer is not known. It is thought here that the boat has been delayed by bad weather, and little uneasiness is felt as to her safety.

LATER.—A telegram has just been received here, saying that the steamer Ontario passed the Argyle shore Whitefish Point on the 29th. It was then blowing hard. She had not arrived at the Landing on Monday last.

THE STEAMER'S SAFETY REPORTED.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 7.—The propeller Argyle, which was announced in the telegrams in the morning papers of Thursday as having been lost on Lake Superior, is safe, a telegram having been received this morning by Capt. Graham, the owner. The propellor was compelled to put into harbor about forty miles from Fort William. The boat and passengers are all safe, and the vessel will no doubt arrive in due season at her destination. The report of her supposed loss created great excitement in this city, where the captain and most of the crew reside.

A TERRIBLE TUMBLE.

Three Toronto Carpenters Narrowly Escape Death.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Wm. Elliott, Wm. Kerby and Samuel Longhead, carpenters, employed on the new Methodist Church, Spadina avenue, were precipitated 25 feet to the ground this afternoon by the falling of a scaffold, in the erection of which rotten leger poles had been used. Two of them caught a plank and held on, but the third, Wm. Kerby, went whirling through the air and fell amongst the debris. While the two men were suspended in mid-air, the plank they clung to gave way, and they fell with a crash to the floor. Longhead struck with his feet on a plank, and the rebound actually threw him a distance of 20 feet against a wall, but, strange enough, he could find no injury except a slight pain in the right shoulder. Elliott struck sideways on a diagonally placed leger pole, and in this way escaped serious injury. But Kerby was not so fortunate in falling. He saved himself from death by coming in contact with a joist, which, breaking his fall, slipped to one side and protected him from the falling beams. Within six inches of his body a large joist struck the floor, penetrating the iron board as readily as if composed of paper. His fellow workmen assisted him out of his uncomfortable position and placed him on a bed of shavings, where Dr Mitchell visited him and found that he had sustained a severe cut on the side of the nose and a dislocation of the left collar-bone. The escape of all three from instant death was a remarkable one.

BURGLARY AT WOODSTOCK.

Clever Capture of the Criminal with the Stolen Goods in His Possession.

Woodstock, Ont., November 7.—The cigar and tobacco shop of C. E. McGee was burglarized last night to the extent of $300. Chief Constable McKee took the matter in hand, and so cleverly did his work that after a few hours he succeeded in arresting the guilty party at Thamesford, with most of the goods in his possession. The prisoner will be brought before the Police Magistrate in the morning for preliminary examination.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. J. P. Robertson, of Ottawa, has left there for Winnipeg to take a position on the staff of the Times.

Revere House transients:—Messrs Springer, M.P.P., Waterloo, and Alex. Spears, St Mary's.

Mr. Edward Hanlan, the champion oarsman of the world, was a guest of the Grigg House last night.

Mr. H. C. R. Boeker and family purpose leaving shortly for the Southern States to spend the winter months.

Mr. J. W. Hyman, of London, Ont., was registered at the Canada Pacific Hotel, at Winnipeg, on the 31st ult.

Mr. John S. Robinson, proprietor of the St. Nicholas Restaurant, is recovering slowly from his recent serious illness.

Mr. N. Webb, of the Chinn Hall, St. Thomas, and formerly of this city, has purchased a half interest in the Opera House Block there, for $7,000.

Strong's Hotel casualties:—Thos. Babb, Mitchell; J. H. Quarry, Hamilton; H. Goodman, Toronto; John Keys and D. Hunter, Guelph; F. W. Byron, Toronto.

Mr. W. R. Mackenzie, son of Mr. Hugh Mackenzie, of Woodstock, has been appointed to take charge of the Canada Southern Railway offices in St. Thomas.

Mr. Charles H. Sorley, who for fifteen years was Manager of the Merchants' Bank in Ingersoll, is an applicant for the position of cashier of Molsons Bank in that town.

The Free Press

THE BOOM HUNTER.

The Reform journals in all parts of the Dominion have placed themselves in a rather awkward position, in assuming that the press of the party honestly and truly represents the opinions of the people on the new tariff. But this it does not do as respects a large and influential section of the party. In Original Reformers, representing to a large extent every important industry in the country, make no secret of their approval of the policy which Sir Leonard Tilley has introduced into the fiscal laws of the country. The last general elec- ...ment fact, and ...

EXPORTATION OF FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL TREES.

During the past few days Messrs. Pontey & Taylor, of St. James' Park Nursery, have been large exporters of fruit and other trees to the United States. No less than three car loads of these highly appreciated trees were sent to Vermont and York State, where they are in much favor on account of their hardy quality. It is a singular fact that since the National Policy came into operation this trade has been developed. Before that time trees were imported to this country, and the nursery business was lame and halting, subject, like many others, to be flooded out by importations ...er a nominal duty. But now that the ...alized a very different ...ed. Pontey ...

AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Manufacturers are crowded with work, and the American Machinist states that the demand for first class machinists was never greater than now.

The total amount of iron rolled in Allegheny county, Penn., last year, including nails, was 282,357 tons against 268,400 tons in 1877, 247,934 in 1876, 239,069 in 1875, and 274,695 in 1874.

The American demand for pig iron has thrown the English market into a state of unprecedented activity. Immense quantities of metal are being shipped from Middlesborough direct to American ports.

The Brooks Locomotive Works in Dunkirk, which once during the dull times cut down their force to five mechanics, are now employing 400 men, and have orders which will keep them busy until next spring.

At the Sing Sing, N. Y., State Prison the 950 convicts in the stove shops are insufficient to fill the orders, and about 200 citizens have been hired by the contractors to come into the prison and help them out of their difficulty.

The present importation of iron consists only of that quality which the home industry at present is unable to supply, owing to the immense increase in the demand. ...s shall soon have the facilities for ...thus the foreign will cease.

...g is one mail re- ...hich contained ... as good ...

...

...

The Free Press.

Saturday, November 8, 1879.

DEFAULTERS AND DEFALCATIONS.

There is no doubt that the Dumpster defalcation has administered another severe shock to the moral sense of the community. It is not the first instance of deliberate stealing perpetrated during a long series of years by persons in possession of positions of high trust. Indeed, that species of crime is becoming much more common than it used to be. So long as the individual, whoever he may be, has enjoyed some social status, those who have partaken of his hospitalities or shared in his luck will be quite ready to sympathise with him in his downfall. He will be spoken of as "poor fellow," and all that kind of thing, and even after conviction and sentence sympathetic individuals, and ladies among them, will be found interceding for clemency. The question arises whether this species of sentiment is not altogether averse to the interests of society, whether it does not tend to minimize glaring wrong-doing in the eyes of the public, and thus betray the weak and injudicious into dangerous courses? If a poor man, or a poor woman, steals a pair of shoes, urged thereto, probably, by sheer want, or the necessities of human nature as represented in their children, there is very little sympathy shown to them. The gruff, rough policeman makes short work of them. Down to the noisome cells they go, soon finding their way to the rigours of the Central Prison, and in some cases to the Penitentiary itself. There is no one to plead for them, for they have not been known in society. Though they may have had some faithful one as a companion they cannot be said to have kept dogs. They have never driven a drag, or sat behind steppers from whose highly polished coats the bright light is reflected in variegated hues. None of these things for any of them. They have not fared sumptuously every day, or any day, but have been among those to whom want is ever present and comfort never known. No one hesitates to call them "thief," or to express the opinion that such should be taught to keep their fingers off of other people's property. But let a man have charge of a bank or office till, or be in a position to cook accounts and fob the change, then everyone at once wants to go softly. To speak in fluid phrases of acts of robbery carried on during years of misplaced confidence, kindly preference having been repaid by gross ingratitude intensified by crime. It may seem to be harsh, it does grate somewhat upon the ear, to find such conduct called by its right name. But there is no help for it. If the whole financial system, and those connected with it, is not to be brought into disrepute, some steps must be taken to let those inclined to bank robbery see that it will no longer be rolled with satin and perfumed with lavender. If a desperate, black, strong and ugly, breaks in and steals, he is at once called a robber of the most dangerous type. But if another man gets access to a bank's funds through his connections and, sleek, smooth and clost-shaven, gains confidence with the directors and the public, he may go on robbing as long as he can, grinning and smiling all the while, until the inevitable day comes when he is found out. Then up rise those associations which seek to make a difference in time to the consequences of the status of the individual. The truth is that he who has been the most trusted, who has had the best opportunities and has wickedly abused them, should be visited with the severest reprobation, the most direct punishment. Cases have occurred where by reason of sudden temptation, by what is known as ostanic influence, occurring under circumstances of great personal or other pressure, men who up to that time have been faithful have fallen into crime, and in a moment made shipwreck of a reputation fortified by a long career of truthfulness and probity. In such cases, abnormal as they are, some extenuation may be found, even though excuse may be absent. But there have occurred in this city and neighborhood no less than three cases, at least, during a short time in which robbery has been found to have been a daily transaction extending over years. The perfidy exhibited by such a course cannot be too emphatically pointed out and dwelt upon, and no excuse can be offered for it. It presents no palliation, and should be marked in such a manner as to have a deterrent effect upon others who may contemplate similar courses. So long as it is otherwise, and a gloss is thrown over so-called defalcations, which are in their character nothing else than cruel robberies, so long may it be expected that they will occur and re-occur. The whole financial system requires to be braced up by the stern application of a well directed morality, whether it falls upon directors who falsify statements and rig the markets, whether it is the manager whose chief management consists in effecting continual robbery necessitating an ever present watchfulness to cover up his fracks, or some minor clerk, who, falling into the hands of a greedy harlot, steals from employers and customers alike in order to satisfy her demands. In all cases such wrongs should find a compunting punishment, so that at least men may have fair warning that such misdeeds will not be smiled upon by fair women or injudicious men, because they were committed as the result of misplaced confidence rather than by that other kind of violence which has its accessories in false keys or safe-blowing, accompanied by the terrors of the revolver and the bludgeon, made more certain by the sense-destroying garotte.

The Grit organs are somewhat at variance on the subject of the renewed prosperity of the farmers. The Tiser tries to depreciate the country by the random statement that "mortgage sales of farms is the rule now-a-days, not the exception." Everyone knows, of course, that the assertion is baseless in fact, and only put forth for the purpose of damaging political opponents, though it may be at the expense of the country's good name. But here comes a Grit organ with a direct contradiction. The Clinton New Era says:—"We are glad to learn that a great many mortgages are being discharged this fall."

The squatters of the Bow River District, in the North-west Territory, have sent a petition to the Minister of the Interior, calling attention to the fact that they have lost 400 cattle killed by starving Indians, owing to the dearth of buffalo, and requesting indemnity. They do not blame the Indians for their action, and seem to recognise that their being only squatters, and not regular settlers, may act as a bar to their obtaining relief. Their hard case, however, appears to be very deserving of some consideration.

may now make up our minds, says Mail Gazette, to face the fact that is between England and Russia from Europe to Central Asia.

Reform Convension for been changed from the tant (to-day)

Parliament will be spatch of business

THE BOOM HUNTER.

The Reform journals in all parts of the Dominion have placed themselves in a rather awkward position, in assuming that the press of the party honestly and truly represents the opinions of the people on the new tariff. But this it does not do as respects a large and influential section of the party. Intelligent Reformers, representing to a large extent every important industry in the country make no secret of their approval of the changes which Sir Leonard Tilley has introduced into the fiscal laws of the Dominion. The last general election proves this to be a great fact, and were the present moderate protection to Canadian industries endangered by a probable change in government, which threatened to place "the flies on the wheel" in control of the machine, the very same rally on the part of Reformers in support of the present system would again be witnessed in all the Provinces of Canada. In this respect, and on this question, the Liberal press does not speak the sentiments of the party it assumes to represent, and the opinions of farmers, merchants and manufacturers are not, on this question, running in a groove purely political, and it would be a subject of deep regret if they were found to do so.

The trade question ought not to be judged from the standpoint of political partyism, and the Liberal press which has endeavored to make it so has made a grand mistake. The general welfare of the country is far above the consideration of mere party, and national prosperity is infinitely more to the Canadian people than the success of a party or the rule of a political leader, be that leader who he may. Public men differ—differ widely and differ conscientiously on the nature of the commercial laws that should prevail in a country, but the grounds of difference must surely be common to the observant, thinking men of both parties, and these principles of difference must find their advocates and defenders in both parties in pretty nearly equal numbers. Our experience in Canada within the last year and a half has shown this to be true, and the good sense of the people has generally led them so follow their convictions of right, and of what would conduce to the interests and prosperity of the country, irrespective of party looking and party interest. There cannot be the slightest doubt that the people's sense of duty to the country, to themselves, and others, and their desire to see, above all other considerations of a public kind, the progress and prosperity of Canada, would be found as powerful a motive to-day, did the necessity arise, as it ever was, and would lead them to take the same course again under similar circumstances.

That portion of the press that claims to be the exponent of the views held by the Liberals of the Dominion, has now come to speak for only a part of their constituents, and these writers must longsince have felt this. They have also had enough of evidence before them to prove, that every month is adding to the number of influential and intelligent Reformers who are casting loose from the doctrine of "free trade," already weighed in, this country and in many others, and found lamentably wanting. The same writers cannot deny that they have used the weapons of fair and legitimate argument until these have, one after another been wrested from them or broken in their hands, and that nothing remains for them now but awkward and ungainly attempts at ridicule. They surely must know that this is the usual refuge of defeated controversialists, and that no one flies to such a refuge until fairly driven from the field. The effort to strengthen their cause by casting a little ridicule upon Sir Leonard Tilley, will be found as great a failure as that which they have encountered in the domain of argument. He will, we doubt not, take pride in being represented as "the boom hunter," and the beauty of it is, that his success as a disciple and follower of Nimrod, is quite as distinguished, and quite as satisfactory, as has been his experience as a legislator on the tariff laws of the country. It is now frankly admitted on all hands, that the boom is both loud and general throughout the land. Few are so deaf that they do not hear it, though there are some whose deafness is a determination not to hear. Sir Leonard Tilley has taken an amount of trouble to make himself acquainted with the working of his own law, to see its happy results upon Canadian industries, and note such defects as are within the competence of legislation so remedy, such as ought to gain for him the gratitude and confidence of the people. It must be a matter of great pleasure to him to find, that the success has been all that, in his most sanguine moments, he could have anticipated. In every part of the Province and wherever he has gone, he has found evidence of the beneficial working of the new tariff laws. He returns from each tour of inspection encouraged by the renewed activity he has witnessed, and confirmed in the wisdom and foresight of his legislation, by the ever increasing confidence of the people in the benefits of protection and in the future of their country under it.

According to a correspondent who writes from Alexandria, some speculative persons there have formed a partnership with the object of recovering the remains of the French vessels of war sunk at the battle of the Nile. These, including the Orient, which blew up in the engagement, consist, it is said, of five ships of different sizes. Aboukir Bay (about twelve miles from Alexandria), where the battle took place, is not unfavorably situated for diving operations, the water being of no great depth, and the bottom consisting of loose sand, and capable of being easily dredged away. The bay is partly sheltered by what is known as "Nelson Island," under the lee of which vessels may anchor in safety. Of the wrecks, portions of two have been visible beneath the water until comparatively lately; the rest have been for years completely buried in sand. Portions of them have from time to time come to land, and old flint-lock pistols and other relics largely encrusted with barnacles are shown to visitors as having been fished up in the bay. The would-be salvors estimate that at least eighty tons of copper will be obtainable from each of the ships; and this alone will, it is reckoned, make the enterprise remunerative. In order to avoid any question as to the ownership of the wrecks, the promoters of the undertaking have applied to the President of the French Republic, who disclaimed on behalf of France any right to the vessels.

Charles Francis Adams, jr., has just issued "Notes on Railroad Accidents," in which he insists on the abolition of the whistle and the system of stopping trains full at draw bridges as the law requires. The machinery by which both draw and grade crossings can be protected is known to railroad men, and is in full use in England. This machinery which is the electric "block system," provides against rear collisions, tracks broken at draw bridges or switches, high-way grade crossings, and for the notifications of agents and passengers at stations.

Maximilian's widow, so long known to the sympathetic world as "Poor Carlotta," gives promise of a speedy recovery from the mental disorder from which she has suffered so acutely since the tragic death of her unfortunate husband. Her memory has returned, and she converses freely and lucidly of her painful experience in Mexico. It is her intention to write a history of the attempt to found an American empire, and it is expected that the work will be graphic and of the deepest interest.

EXPORTATION OF FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL TREES.

During the past few days Messrs. Pontey & Taylor, of St. James' Park Nursery, have been large exporters of fruit and other trees to the United States. No less than three car loads of these highly appreciated trees were sent to Vermont and York State, where they are in much favor on account of their hardy quality. It is a singular fact that since the National Policy came into operation this trade has been developed. Before that time trees were imported to this country, and the nursery business was lame and halting, subject, like many others, to be flooded out by importations under a nominal duty. But now that the duties have been equalized a very different state of things has been produced. Pontey & Taylor, as well as other nurserymen, have gone into the business with a will, backed by capital, knowledge and enterprise. Local dealers that used to visit Rochester and other places and buy for the Canadian trade are now dealing with the home growers, and thus is springing into life an industry which has lain dormant hitherto. As a matter of fact, there is no necessity for the lovers of flowering shrubs, plants or ornamental and fruit trees to resort to the States for them. The local nurserymen can furnish the best sorts, which, if not called by fancy names or recommended by highly-colored illustrations, are none the less valuable and trustworthy. We have been induced to refer specially to this matter, as it illustrates how heedless it is for Canadians to go elsewhere for decorative plants and shrubs. New sorts are being constantly procured and propogated from England, France, and other portions of Europe, as well as such varieties as may come to light elsewhere. By careful treatment they become acclimated among ourselves, so that it is really astonishing how many different sorts of flowers, plants, ornamental shrubs, fruit trees, etc., are now to be had among us, warranted to withstand the rigor and vicissitudes of the Canadian climate.

The London Times, (Oct 24) discussing the emigration question, remarks:—The Dominion of Canada has always invited immigrants, but, till recently, that splendid country had nothing to offer which could rival the prairie States of the Far West. All this is changed, however, and the emigrant can now find in Canada as great inducements to settle there as Minnesota, or any other state in the Union, can offer. The Canadians, if more scrupulous, are less energetic in advertising their prosperity than the citizens of the North American Republic. Conterminous with Minnesota is the Province of Manitoba. All Mr. Andrews has said in praise of that former may be truthfully repeated with regard to the latter. The area of Manitoba is but small in comparison with that of some Western States; yet it is twice as large as Massachusetts, and it can support many millions of people and furnish a large surplus of grain for exportation. Yet Manitoba is but a single province in a territory which is open and ready for settlement—a territory covering 380,000 square miles, exceeding a united France and Germany combined, and equal in fertility to any corresponding tract on the globe. In the Canadian North-West there is a Homestead Act under which the settler is treated still more generously than in the United States. There is not a new sketch (160) acres which are granted to him on condition that he resides there three years, and he can obtain another piece of equal area on paying $1 an acre. At the period of obtaining the land absolutely, he must be a British subject by birth or naturalization. Our fellow countrymen who are discontented with their lot, who have a practical knowledge of farming, who possess a little capital, and who are resolved to emigrate, will do well to inquire whether the prairie lands of Canada are not superior in some respects to those of the United States.

It is reported on all sides that the relations between Japan and China are daily becoming more strained, owing to the dispute between the two countries regarding the sovereignty of Loochoo and to the virtual annexation of the islands by Japan last year. It is said that there has been a sharp interchange of diplomatic notes on this matter, but it is not anticipated for a moment that the two countries will come to blows over it. The Japanese newspapers of late period in regarding the attitude of China towards Japan as hostile because Japan has adopted the civilization of Europe, and in raising general questions of policy which are quite uncalled for, and, as explanatory of the dissatisfaction with which China looks at the annexation of Loochoo, entirely unintelligible. The Hoost Shimbun, one of the most influential of Japanese newspapers, thus explains the difficulty between the two countries:—

"We believe that it is entirely owing to the policy of China being so completely different to that of Japan. Unless China enters the field of progress as we have already done it will be utterly hopeless to established friendly relations on a sound, solid, and satisfactory basis. Japan has established the postal and telegraph service, and has in every possible practicable manner strengthened or endeavored to assimilate with the European system; and thus, although formerly the country greatly resembled China, now the contrary is the case, and we have become like sister nations of Europe and America."

The idea of connecting the Caspian Sea with the Sea of Azof by a navigable canal, which has been frequently mooted since the days of Peter the Great, has been of late revived, and a project for the construction of the canal drawn up by an engineer named Dastlof has, it is stated, been approved of by the Russian Government. Exact details of the proposed canal have not yet been published, but it appears that it will follow for a part of its course the bed of the Manytch, and that this latter will be connected with the Don by a canal 210 miles long and with the Volga by a canal 231 miles in length; the main canal being supplied with water from the Terek river by a smaller canal 300 miles long, which will also be useful for irrigating the steppes through which it will pass. The estimates of the total cost of constructing the canal amount, it may be mentioned, to 30,000,000 roubles, or about £4,500,000, so that it is probable that some little time may elapse before the work is completed.

An American artisan has been working for seventeen years on "a wonderful clock," which is to be ready for exhibition next New Year's. It parades sixty-five automatic figures—a beer garden, with men drawing beer and passing it out, a linseed oil mill in running order, with half a dozen workmen engaged in different parts of the business; a blacksmith shop with men hammering iron and others shoeing horses; women bringing refreshments; a summer-house, fountains and games in progress; a quarry with men hewing stone; a saw-mill turning out miniature boards; a shoe factory with men and women working at different parts of shoes; a grist mill, with a man carrying grain to a hopper, and others carrying the bags away, while buckets go up and down and mill stones brush rest dances, where visitors call and servants see about their work, etc., etc., etc. The mills are driven by water which falls from the top and is drawn up again. The whole complicated contrivance is run by a weight of ninety pounds.

A report of some interest in relation to poor-law administration has just been made by a Commission in the Isle of Man. In that island there is no poor law, and paupers are maintained by the voluntary effort of their neighbors, the relief being generally issued by the vicar and wardens of the respective parishes, aided in the towns by associations for the distribution of charitable relief. Last year a Commission was appointed by the Governor of the Island to consider the question of the medical relief of the poor and the desirability of instituting a poor-law. The Commission have now made their report, to the effect that the present system of voluntary relief is fully adequate for all purposes, and is the best in theory.

AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Manufacturers are crowded with work, and the American Machinist states that the demand for first-class machinists was never greater than now.

The total amount of iron rolled in Allegheny county, Penn., last year, including nails, was 282 333 tons against 208 486 tons in 1877, 247 994 in 1876, 239,069 in 1875, and 274,625 in 1874.

The American demand for pig iron has thrown the English market into a state of unprecedented activity. Immense quantities of metal are being shipped from Middlesbrough direct to American ports.

The Brooks Locomotive Works in Dunkirk, which ones during the dull times cut down their force to five mechanics, are now employing 400 men, and have orders which will keep them busy until next spring.

At the Sing Sing, N. Y., State Prison the 950 convicts in the stove shops are inefficient to fill the orders, and about 200 citizens have been hired by the contractors to come into the prison and help them out of their difficulty.

The present importation of iron consists only of that quality which the home industry at present is unable to supply, owing to the immense increase in the demand, which we shall soon have the facilities for meeting, and then the foreign will cease.

One firm in Pittsburg in one mail received 80 letters, 32 of which contained immediate orders for steel work at good cash prices. Yet, so numerously had these been preceded, work on the last orders could not be entered upon till after January 1st.

The total product of the rolling mills and steel works of Pittsburg last year was 417,157 net tons, and that of the blast furnaces 217 299 net tons, which shows that the furnaces make only about 50 per cent. of the pig iron consumed by the first two classes of manufactories.

A tark on Thursday arrived at Baltimore from Liverpool with 350 tons of "purple ore," from which copper has been extracted, and the residue is rich in iron. The article is as fine as dust, and is used by the iron rollers. About 20,000 tons of it are to be imported into the United States.

More pig iron was made in Allegheny county last year than in any other district in the country except ours. In the Lehigh Valley, where there were 51 blast furnaces, 416,907 tons were made, and in Allegheny county, where there were twelve completed furnaces, 217,599 tons were produced.

Two two steam hammers which Park, Bro. & Co., Pittsburg, steel manufacturers, intend to erect in their steel works will weigh 5 and 15 tons respectively, and the anvils, together with the anvils, etc., will be between 60,000 and 70,000. The larger hammer will be capable of forging a steel ingot of 30 tons' weight.

About six months ago Mr. Vanderbilt bought 10,000 tons of steel rails in England. He has since sent over an order for 100,000 tons more. He says he gets ten years' guarantee with the English rails and only five with the American; that it costs him $9 more per ton, duty included, to buy the English rails, but the longer guarantee makes up this.

The Crops in Europe.

H Kains Jackson, in an article written for Dornbusch's grain circular, published at London on October 20, says:—

"The harvest of Europe, picked to pieces by statisticians and scattered by the threshing machines, proves to be a skeleton of crops, and tenuous stalks about the country. Across the sea, on an area of wheat land larger than that of France, England, Belgium, Holland, Portugal and Italy—larger than that of all these importing countries—the sacks of corn have been filled and counted up, and the land laughs with fruitness. The ear, from top of fern to head to mouth, 13½ inches; from shoulder to shoulder, 54 inches; from elbow to elbow, 8½ inches; girth, 22 inches, and 54 inches the circumference of the neck; the total height is 15 feet. The hair hangs in long ringlets down upon the shoulders, and the beard is long indicating a man of venerable age. The right arm is stretched out, while the left can be seen crossed over the breast to the right shoulder, where the hand is hidden by the drapery of a cloak covering the shoulder. I presume the palm is nude, though this fact is not stated. There is no inscription either on the figure or on the pedestal, and the latter is in good condition. On one piece with the god. It was found in a recumbent position, buried in the sand upon the top of a hill near the sea, evidently removed from its original site, which is unknown. Its estimated weight is 13,000 pounds. The Turks of Jerusalem has ordered a guard to watch this interesting relic of ancient art and prevent injury by the fanatics of Gaza. I shall endeavor to procure a photograph of this probable god of the Philistines and mail it to you later, and I much regret the foregoing description is so meager in details, but it is translated from a brief account by an Arab who possesses no archæological knowledge. Judging merely from the 'long hair and beard,' and the position of the left hand, I should be disposed to assume that it is an Assyrian monument commemorative of their invasion of Palestine. But it is premature to conjecture until further and more precise particulars can be had from Gaza.

Bismarck's Neuralgia.

London Telegraph, Oct 21.

Certain paragraphs that have lately appeared in the Berlin semi-official papers would lead to the supposition that Prince Bismarck, during his late brief sojourn in the German capital, was suffering severely from neuralgia. Every movement he made, more especially those involving in the indispensable exercise of going up and down stairs, caused him pain, and that pain and distress. He is reported to have remarked to a friend of his family who visited him on the very morning of his departure for Varzin that he experienced anguish, unremitting and of a highly acute character in every limb, and that his only hope of relief from his torments was that he might be left in peace, for as long a period as possible, in his country residence. He could not, however, look forward to obtaining a furlough for any definite term, nor could he fix any prospective date for his return to the transaction of state business in the Capital. He seemed to apprehend that his sojourn in Pomerania would be frequently interrupted by summonses to Berlin, whither it appears also probable that family affairs will call him ere long, as the Countess Bantzau is in a fair way to bestow upon him the honors of grand-paternity. It is also rumored that his second son, Count Bill, who was appointed the other day to a post in the Government of Elsass-Lothringen, is about to contract an alliance with a fair young Prussian maiden attached to the Imperial Court. As Count Bill is a godson of the Emperor, the wedding will, of course, take place in Berlin, so that an imperial ceremony may be honored by the presence of his illustrious sponsor; and the Chancellor will be compelled to forego the repose which renders his stay at Varzin so beneficial to his health, in order to receive the venerable Emperor as a wedding guest in the ex Radziwill Palace on the Wilhelms Platz.

..Mr. W. M. Linney, of Harrodsburg, has recently shipped to Frankfort a section of a tree known to our people as yellow wood. It can only be found on the banks of the Dix and Kentucky Rivers, in the space between Baker's Mill, on Dix River, and Oregon, on the Kentucky River. It is a very hard wood, and is susceptible of the highest polish. The remarkable fact connected with this wood is that it is supposed to be the identical shittim wood of which the Ark of the Covenant and the altars and tables of the Tabernacle were constructed.—Harrodsburg (Ky) Observer.

...Last week a tenant entered the office of a Tipperary land agent, and, throwing a roll of notes on the table, exclaimed:—"There's ivry penny I have in the world. It's a half year's rint, and ye may take it or leave it—av ye take it I'll go to the workhouse—av ye leave it I'll go to America on it." The agent opened the roll of notes and counted the money. "Why, my good man, there is more than a half year's rent here. There is over four years' rent in the bundle." "The divil there is!" cried the tenant, putting his hand in his pocket—"begor, I knew you the wrong bundle o' notes, after all."—Mayfair.

..King Alphonso has appointed his wedding for the 28th of November, so that it should come on his birthday, but the 28th happens to be Friday this year, and the Archduchess Christian is for ruled with the current Austrian superstition that Friday is an unlucky day, so, at her express desire, that date has been abandoned, and the event is to take place on either 27th or the 29th. The bride will leave Vienna on the 17th, and, after a short rest in Paris, will go directly to the royal castle of Pardo, near Madrid.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ITEMS.

From the Colonist, Oct. 23.

We are informed that the dry dock proposed to be built at Esquimalt, will be too small to take on a first-class iron-clad. The specifications call for the construction of a dock 400 feet long. It is said that the dock should be at least 500 feet to be available for naval purposes. This should be looked to, and if there be anything in the statement, the specifications should be enlarged.

An important rumor is afloat. It is to the effect that Esquimalt will henceforth be the chief British naval station on the Pacific. That all the vessels of the fleet will rendezvous there in the spring, or as soon as the miserable war between the Zulus and Cetewayo has been ended. That a residence will be erected for Rear Admiral Sterling at or near Esquimalt, and that important additions will be made to the present dockyard. This will be very gratifying, if true.

Much of the intelligence received yesterday from Cassiar by the steamer Western Slope was anticipated by previous arrivals. On Thibert Creek the Gold Hill claim and Driscoll & Bradley's claim have paid well during the entire season. At date of latest advices, Oct 1st, Muldoon's claim on the same creek was also paying well, and Flannery's claim was yielding average wages. John White's claim was being worked to advantage, and considerable gold had been taken out of the Centennial Co.'s ground. Nearly all the rest of the claims were owned by Chinese companies, but owing to their characteristic reticence it was impossible to ascertain the result of their operations. All these claims were being worked on the 1st inst. A majority of the white miners have left Hefot Creek, and it is not probable that more than one-tenth of them will return next season. Those who do so will direct their attentions to the working of hill digging. Clear and frosty weather has set in, and as a rule operations in the hill claims had been suspended for the season. Very few miners—probably not more than 40—were left at Fort Wrangel at the date of the Western Slope's departure for this port. About 75 have gone to Sitka to seek employment there. Not much confidence is to be imported into the Cassiar placers, reported to have been made by Dan. Bowen.

SAD ACCIDENT AT QUESNELLE.

Three of Wright's party were drowned by the swamping of a boat. Their names were John Morton, Michael Redmond and Joseph Flattol. They were working on the scow, and one of the lines giving way they crowded into the skiff, causing her to sink immediately. None of the bodies were recovered.

NEW WESTMINSTER ITEMS.

The Herald says:—"Despite hard times and bad weather a more cheerful tone is observable in business circles since the route question was settled. People generally seem to have very reasonable views on the situation—not expecting to be made rich by magic, but feeling that restored confidence in the future of the country will stimulate every industry and put money in circulation."

The Messrs. McCleary's and Hennessy's wharf is approaching completion. It will be a substantial job, and an important addition to the line of docks.

The weather continues changeable and stormy, and a great deal of rain has fallen of late.

AN ANCIENT IDOL.

Discovery of a Colossal God of the Philistines at Gaza.

Jaffa, Oct. 9, 1879.—At Gaza, on the 6th ult., an Arab was quarrying stone at a place about four and a half miles distant from the town, and unearthed a marble figure of a man. The finding was like the dimensions given by an Arab eye-witness, namely:—Three feet from top of head to end of beard; 27 inches from ear to ear; from top of forehead to mouth, 13½ inches; from shoulder to shoulder, 54 inches; from elbow to elbow, 8½ inches; girth, 22 inches, and 54 inches the circumference of the neck; the total height is 15 feet. The hair hangs in long ringlets down upon the shoulders, and the beard is long indicating a man of venerable age. The right arm is stretched out, while the left can be seen crossed over the breast to the right shoulder, where the hand is hidden by the drapery of a cloak covering the shoulder. I presume the palm is nude, though this fact is not stated. There is no inscription either on the figure or on the pedestal, and the latter is in good condition. On one piece with the god. It was found in a recumbent position, buried in the sand upon the top of a hill near the sea, evidently removed from its original site, which is unknown. Its estimated weight is 13,000 pounds. The Turks of Jerusalem has ordered a guard to watch this interesting relic of ancient art and prevent injury by the fanatics of Gaza. I shall endeavor to procure a photograph of this probable god of the Philistines and mail it to you later, and I much regret the foregoing description is so meager in details, but it is translated from a brief account by an Arab who possesses no archæological knowledge. Judging merely from the 'long hair and beard,' and the position of the left hand, I should be disposed to assume that it is an Assyrian monument commemorative of their invasion of Palestine. But it is premature to conjecture until further and more precise particulars can be had from Gaza.

Bismarck's Neuralgia.

London Telegraph, Oct 21.

Certain paragraphs that have lately appeared in the Berlin semi-official papers would lead to the supposition that Prince Bismarck, during his late brief sojourn in the German capital, was suffering severely from neuralgia. Every movement he made, more especially those involving in the indispensable exercise of going up and down stairs, caused him pain, and that pain and distress. He is reported to have remarked to a friend of his family who visited him on the very morning of his departure for Varzin that he experienced anguish, unremitting and of a highly acute character in every limb, and that his only hope of relief from his torments was that he might be left in peace, for as long a period as possible, in his country residence. He could not, however, look forward to obtaining a furlough for any definite term, nor could he fix any prospective date for his return to the transaction of state business in the Capital. He seemed to apprehend that his sojourn in Pomerania would be frequently interrupted by summonses to Berlin, whither it appears also probable that family affairs will call him ere long, as the Countess Bantzau is in a fair way to bestow upon him the honors of grand-paternity. It is also rumored that his second son, Count Bill, who was appointed the other day to a post in the Government of Elsass-Lothringen, is about to contract an alliance with a fair young Prussian maiden attached to the Imperial Court. As Count Bill is a godson of the Emperor, the wedding will, of course, take place in Berlin, so that an imperial ceremony may be honored by the presence of his illustrious sponsor; and the Chancellor will be compelled to forego the repose which renders his stay at Varzin so beneficial to his health, in order to receive the venerable Emperor as a wedding guest in the ex Radziwill Palace on the Wilhelms Platz.

..Mr. W. M. Linney, of Harrodsburg, has recently shipped to Frankfort a section of a tree known to our people as yellow wood. It can only be found on the banks of the Dix and Kentucky Rivers, in the space between Baker's Mill, on Dix River, and Oregon, on the Kentucky River. It is a very hard wood, and is susceptible of the highest polish. The remarkable fact connected with this wood is that it is supposed to be the identical shittim wood of which the Ark of the Covenant and the altars and tables of the Tabernacle were constructed.—Harrodsburg (Ky) Observer.

...Last week a tenant entered the office of a Tipperary land agent, and, throwing a roll of notes on the table, exclaimed:—"There's ivry penny I have in the world. It's a half year's rint, and ye may take it or leave it—av ye take it I'll go to the workhouse—av ye leave it I'll go to America on it." The agent opened the roll of notes and counted the money. "Why, my good man, there is more than a half year's rent here. There is over four years' rent in the bundle." "The divil there is!" cried the tenant, putting his hand in his pocket—"begor, I knew you the wrong bundle o' notes, after all."—Mayfair.

..King Alphonso has appointed his wedding for the 28th of November, so that it should come on his birthday, but the 28th happens to be Friday this year, and the Archduchess Christian is for ruled with the current Austrian superstition that Friday is an unlucky day, so, at her express desire, that date has been abandoned, and the event is to take place on either 27th or the 29th. The bride will leave Vienna on the 17th, and, after a short rest in Paris, will go directly to the royal castle of Pardo, near Madrid.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Sales by Auction.

LAST NIGHT.

CONTINUED AUCTION SALE.

British Plate Mirrors, Oil Paintings, Engravings, Chromos, Illustrated Books, Lambrequins, &c.

MANVILLE & BROWN WILL sell at their rooms, Mechanics' Institute, This (Saturday) Evg., Nov. 8th, The largest stock of Articles of a decorative character ever offered in our city. The Oil Paintings represented by choice specimens from the studios of Julien, Chapman, McEvoy and Lemaire. Elegantly framed Water Colors by Johnson and Chapman. English Water Chromos after Richardson, Turner, Rowebottom, Hunt and others. Steel Engravings of a class superior to any heretofore offered at public competition here. Oil Chromos, Colored Engravings etc. The Illustrated Books comprise Dore's Bible, Henri Martin's France, Guizot's France, Abbine, European and American celebrities, Picturesque Europe, &c., Lambrequins of fashionable material and latest fashion. New York manufacture.

BRITISH PLATE MIRRORS.

25 Mantel and Toilet, ranging from 60cts to $2[illegible] in a variety of shapes, all in gold leaf frames.

Sale at 7.30 p.m. Time given on Oils. Positively no reserve. Now on view.

MANVILLE & BROWN,
Kidd Auctioneers, &c.

THIS DAY.

VALUABLE FARM
BY AUCTION.

MANVILLE & BROWN WILL sell at their rooms, Mechanics' Institute, On Saturday, Nov. 8th, 1879,

Lot 11, Gore of Westminster, adjoining town line of Delaware, two miles southwest of Lambeth village, containing 100 acres, 80 cleared; two acres orchard in full bearing—balance in good timber, frame house, two barns, well fenced and watered; known as the Dignum farm. The land is of superior quality, and approached by good gravel roads, being about eight miles from London. Terms exceedingly liberal, and title known on day of sale. Sale at 2 p.m.

MANVILLE & BROWN,
4[illegible] Real Estate Auctioneers, London, Ont.

CREDIT SALE
—OF—
PEDIGREED AYRSHIRE CATTLE

FOURTHOROUGHBREDBULLS will be sold, without reserve, on the Market Stand, London, Ontario, on Saturday, the 8th Day of November, 1879,

MR. BROWN, AUCTIONEER.

Bobbie Burns	calved 1874
Mars 2nd	calved 1875
Tam o' Shanter	calved 1876
Pride of Essex	calved 1878

Certificates furnished at or before time of sale.

ROBERT BURNET,
J[illegible] wl 140 John st., Hamilton.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875
AND AMENDING ACTS.

In the Matter of George J Amant, of Brussels, Insolvent.

BY INSTRUCTIONS, I WILL offer for sale by Public Auction, at my office, in the village of Brussels,

On Thursday, Nov. the 13th,

At 1 o'clock, the Goods and Shop Furniture of the above Insolvent, at a rate on the dollar, and including, as per Inventory, to wit:—$7,457.28.

Glassware, Crockery, Earthen and stoneware	$297 43
Groceries	546 91
Shop Furniture	349 34
Horse, Waggon, Buggy, Sleigh, &c	263 40

The above stock is nearly new, well assorted and in good condition. The re is a good opening for a grocery man in Brussels. Sale is to will situated on the premises. Sale can be seen any day up to the time of sale by applying to the undersigned.

Terms—Ni[illegible] cash, balance in three months, secured to the satisfaction of the assignee and inspectors.

C R COOPER, Assignee.
Brussels, Nov 5th, 1879. 504&11

7TH BATTALION, L.L.I.

BATTALION ORDER.

7th November, 1879.

THE BATTALION WILL ASSEMBLE at the Drill Shed, for church parade, at 9 a.m. on Sunday, 9th inst.

There will be Battalion Drill on Monday evening, the 10th instant, at 8 p.m.

By order, dr

Great Western Railway

CHANGE OF TIME.

On Monday, the 10th Inst.

There will be a change in the time of trains, for particulars of which see Time Tables.

F BROUGHTON.
General Offices, Hamilton, 7th Nov, 1879. dr

For Manitoba!

The undersigned will start a

Special Fast Freight Train for Winnipeg.
—ON—
Monday, the 24th of November,
And will personally conduct

A PASSENGER PARTY
To same destination
On Tuesday, the 25th of November,
Leaving Paris at 7 p.m. Parties intending to go or having Freight had better write to me at once.

S PATTERSON,
Town Agent G W R, Paris.
Paris, Nov 7, 1879. K8tr atns wf

MECHANICS' HALL
POSITIVELY BUT ONE NIGHT.

Tuesday Evening, Nov. 11th.

Chas. M. Dewes.....Manager.

Extraordinary Announcement. Twenty-eight years one continued triumph. Announcing the first appearance in this city in four years.

Dupuy & Benedict's Famous Minstrels
And Royal Brass Band.

IN NUMBER	20
ACCOMPLISHED VOICED VOCALISTS	6
IN BAND PARADE	16
IN FIRST PART	16
GREAT SONG AND DANCE ARTISTS	12
CELEBRATED MUSICIANS	12
BURLESQUE PRIMA DONNA	1
COMICAL END MEN	4
RENOWNED VOCAL QUINTETTE	5
POPULAR FAMOUS COMEDIANS	3
ECCENTRIC PEASANG BANJOIST	1
BRILLIANT CLOG STARS	2
VARIED FEATURES OF MERIT	50

Prefestial scale of family prices adopted. Tickets only 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seats sold at A Murray's. Kw

The Canadian Tariff

POCKET EDITION.

Classified and Alphabetically Arranged, with Interpretation Clauses, the whole carefully Corrected to Date.

PRICE, TEN CENTS.

W. L. Carrie,
STATIONER,
417 Richmond Street.
London, November 7, 1879. dly

RHEUMATISM
CURED IN 12 HOURS.

Brunton's Rheumatic Absorbent
IS WARRANTED TO GIVE
IMMEDIATE RELIEF!
and effect a permanent cure in 12 hours. Sold by all druggists.
PRICE.....50 CENTS

Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats,

FINE ULSTERS,
FINE ULSTERS,
FINE ULSTERS,

Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes,

In all the newest and most fashionable goods, made and trimmed equal to custom work. Don't pay merchant tailors high prices for Overcoats made to order. You can save from $5 to $15 by buying from us, get as well made and trimmed a garment, and in many instances a better fit. Our stock is immense and our assortment unequalled. We are showing very nobby Ulsters and Ulsterettes at $10, $12 and $15. Special attention is called to our elegant Reversible Overcoats, two coats in one, the nobbiest garment of the season. Come and look at them.

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 & 130; and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT, - - - - - MICHIGAN

The Rev. T. W. Handford,
Of Toronto, will deliver his popular lecture on
"George Fox and the Quakers,"
IN VICTORIA HALL, ON TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 11th

A LARGE CHOIR,
Will include some of the best singers of the city, under the leadership of Mr. H. E. Lazier, will give a choice selection of music from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Tickets

CROFTS & Co

Cheapest House in Town

—FOR—

DRY GOODS

CHATHAM, ONTARIO.

Chatham, Nov. 7, 1879. Fibln

The Free Press

Saturday, November 8, 1879

Success and Failure.

SUGGESTED BY T. FLEMING.

"no tiny crystal rain drops
Came twinkling down to earth, filled with a high endeavor
To toil well betimes their birth.

the end of their ambition
Was worthy of their real—o lend their help to nurture
And old mill's mossy wheel.

hey danced a long time together
And when the day was done,
eflecting in the sunshine
Hung bright as Youth's a glad dream.

so came the mighty struggle,
And, in its downward sweep,
ew pitched the other forward,
But missed itself the keener.

aught in a whirling eddy,
Down in his stream he drew,
he one who is laid lamented
In tones of bitter woe.

dine efforts all are wasted,
And no less her—I lie,
ourished, unremembered
Born but to fail and die.

tet them, we need from prison,
And floating down the tide,
meet its toil-worn fellow,
Again flowed side by side.

heard your doleful murmurs,"
The victor whispered low, ish deem your sorrow needless,
and hope to prove it so.

ioulded I had fellen,
Will laugh—for you I won,
nd in the eye of Justice
Your part was nobly done."

o, my brother, though you seem to fail,
If earnestly you strive for Truth and Right,
or all I say help some other to prevail,
ha I God shall crown you equal to His right.

W. T. R. H—AN.

RUPERT GODWIN.

With Anastasia it was quite different. That young lady was resolved to display her accomplishments to the utmost, and had perfect confidence in her own wares.

The eventful evening arrived. Violet was dressed very simply, in deep mourning, but her dark and golden hair were set off by her sombre dress, and she looked very lovely. Anastasia Trevor was by no means second to the noble Violet. The former attracted as she made her way lightly and shyly through the crowd in the hall way to reach her hostess, whereas the latter was of the order of fast young ladies, and she had regarded Violet with a kind of human pity, as a creature without "dash" or "style."

To be dashing was the chief desire of Miss Trevor's heart. She studied the Court Circular and the Parisian fashion-plates; she formed herself and dressed herself after the model of the latest celebrity of the haut monde, and did not even blush to borrow grace or a piquant eccentricity of some brilliant leader of the demi-monde.

To night she had taken more than usual pains with her costume, complaining loudly as she did so, of the extravagance and selfishness of her mother, who ordered her own dress from a Parisian milliner in ignore street, while expecting her daughters to be satisfied with the achievements of a clever young person in Somerville.

"I hate white tarlatane!" exclaimed Miss Trevor as she stood before her mother's oval glass, putting the finishing touches to her dress. "It is all very well for mamma to lay down the law about girlish reserve and simplicity when she gives twenty guineas for a moire, and wears it a month hundreds, in order to set herself to the best advantage."

The young lady looked very discontented as she ran her puffings of her dress, which she dotted all over with dew-sprangled silver-beads, and which was very becoming to her dark haired beauty, but by no means a costume she would have chosen had it been permitted to consult Madame Verbore, of Wigmore street. Nor was her temper at all improved when she saw the looks of admiring surprise which greeted her mother Westford as she made her way through the crowded room.

Mrs. Montague Trevor's drawing-room was, and with the light of a hundred wax candles. The elegant widow would not think anything so vulgar and common-place as gas into her apartments, so they were lighted entirely by wax candles, in sconces of crystal and ormulu.

The rooms were crowded to suffocation when Violet arrived. When Mrs. Trevor liked of giving a small evening party, her friends always knew very well that her rooms and staircase would be made inaccessible by the crowd assembled at the wicket, so that the elegant supper would be a sad of lottery in which many speculators would draw blanks.

Such a moment as this was the pride and delight of Mrs. Trevor's life.

Radiant in a train of pink moire, the sating folds of which were almost covered with flounces of point lace, the handsome widow stood upon her grand staircase.

Among them she knew that there were several eligible men in a matrimonial point of view, and several others single sings she had marked as her intended victims.

One of these was Rupert Godwin, the banker, whom Mrs. Trevor hoped to win as a husband for herself.

She had been a garden-party at Pilmingham Hall, and had been agreeably impressed by the splendor of that old mansion and the surroundings, as well as by the extravagance of the arrangements.

The other was Sir Harold Trevor, the wealthy descendant of a family of iron-founders; a young man who was the possessor of a million of money, and whom the widow decided she might secure for her favorite daughter.

Anastasia was handsome and accomplished; Sir Harold was young and independent. Why should not a match be brought about between them?

This was what Mrs. Trevor thought; and she looked with peculiar favor on the wealthy scion of the Birmingham iron-master.

The manoeuvring mother and the husband-hunting widow had a difficult part to play this evening, but the lady proved herself quite equal to the occasion. While engaged in a sentimental flirtation with the eligible banker, Mrs. Trevor contrived to keep a watchful eye upon Anastasia and the young baronet.

Nothing could exceed her mortification when she saw that Sir Harold paid very little attention to Anastasia, and that he seemed peculiarly attracted by the beautiful but passive looking governess, whose mourning dress and lovely pale face were very conspicuous amid that gaily-attired crowd.

Mrs. Trevor bit her lower lip with suppressed rage and mortification, even while she appeared to be smiling her sweetest smiles at Rupert Godwin.

"It is too provoking," she thought, as she kept a furtive watch upon the admiring glances which Sir Harold Ivry bestowed upon the governess. "I quite forgot that the creature is really remarkably pretty; and that mourning dress happens to suit her insipid complexion, and is, of course, worn on purpose to attract attention. What a fool I was to allow the artful minx to make her appearance amongst us to-night! But then I only thought of the use she would be to Anastasia, who always sings out of time when she accompanies herself."

While Mrs. Montague Trevor was enduring all these secret tortures, poor Violet Westford was quite unconscious of the baronet's admiring glances. She had seated herself in the quietest corner of the back drawing-room, in a sheltered little nook between the grand piano and a stand of hot-house flowers, and she was waiting patiently until her services should be required.

Sir Harold had approached her, and had made an attempt to enter into conversation with her, of course trying to break through with some of the feeble truisms which the weather; but her brief and [illegible] answers gave him little encouragement. Westford could not be at her ease in this crowded assemblage, where she felt instinctively that she was looked down upon as a poor imprudent—a well-bred and accomplished drudge, whose very presence was forgotten, except at the moment when her services were required. She could not help thinking a little sadly of the last party at which she had been a guest—a carpet-dance at the house of some old friends in Hampshire, people considerably above Mrs. Trevor in position. She remembered the attention, the kindness, the praises, that had been lavished upon her; and now the sad alone amongst a crowd, in which there was not one familiar face, except those of her employer and her two pupils.

At last the eventful moment of the evening arrived for the manoeuvring mother and her favorite daughter. Violet took her place at the piano, and Anastasia prepared to commence an Italian bravura.

To be continued.

ELIXIR VITÆ

Life to be Prolonged by Progressive Absorption of Lemons.

From the London Telegraph, October 21.

According to Dr. Wilhelm Schroecele, whose voluminous treatise, entitled "Makrobiotic and Eubasik, two scientific methods for the prolongation and embellishment of human life," has recently been subjected to somewhat severe criticism in the German press, one of the four great natural secrets that have baffled investigation for at least a score of centuries has at length been discovered. This precious rigmor, gifted with the inestimable faculty of protracting existence for an indefinite term—the panacea for the greatest of those ills that flesh is heir to, death—is no cunning distillation of weird and costly drugs, no essence of the dreadful broth brewed by wireless from such grisly "stock" as juice of toad and oil of adder. It is a fluid with which all are familiar, chiefly in conviviality and association with hot water, sugar and a more or less copious modicum of alcohol. Blended with these materials humanity has hitherto gratefully acknowledged its genial and exhilarating qualities, little dreaming that infinitesimal doses of immortality were floating perdus among the aromatic contents of the punch-bowl. It was reserved for Dr. Schmoele to gladden the world with the disclosure that lemon juice is the elixir vitæ. To rival the patriarchs in number of years, to blunt the edge of Death's sickle in such sort that it shall not avail to sever the slenderest of life threads, all that the aspirant to indefinite longevity has to do is to absorb a sufficient quantity of lemon juice daily; or, better still, to eat a fresh lemon daily, having relation to his or her age or sex. every morning and evening. Dr. Schmoele's work contains the most elaborate and exhaustive rules for the practice of the lemon treatment, which may be commenced with equal certainty of ulterior success at any time of life. The professor also adduces several instances of the efficacy with which the consumption of lemons stimulates aged persons to evade the assaults of the phantom on the pale horse. He is as yet unable to mention any case in which the inhibition of lemon juice has enabled any human being to live forever; but he confidently hope, in future ages far remote, to supply posterity with an illustration of his own person, of the theory that "He who will only eat lemons enough need never die."

Failing a living example of indisputable immortality, such as would carry conviction to the soul of the most hardened skeptic, Dr. Schmoele directs our attention to the celebrated painter, Count Waldeck, who died in Paris a short time ago, at the somewhat advanced age of 109 years. The professor seems to fancy that this tough artist proves the correctness of the above-quoted theory, because Count Waldeck was in the habit, every springtide, of devouring huge quantities of horseradish pickled in lemon-juice. "It was not the horseradish," says Dr. Schmoele, "but the lemon juice, that prolonged his life for so many years." But we have only the professor's word for the truth of this postulate. It may be that the vehement pungency of the horseradish kept Count Waldeck's vital spark aglow for such an inordinate length of time, and that the secret of immortality lurks within that fiery root. Besides, the count died after all, so that the lemon juice, or horseradish, or both combined, only enabled him to stave off the evil day for a period of time which, considered in relation to eternity, can not but be accounted as brief and unimportant.

"Makrobiotik and Eubasik" teaches us that we are to do to the best way of swallowing lemon-juice in order to attain an age to which that of Methuselah was, so to speak, a mere immature adolescence. To ladies over 40 and under 50, commencing the citrician system, he prescribes two lemons per diem, while gentlemen between those ages must "assimilate" at least three lemons daily. Between 50 and 60 the dose of lemons is set down at three, for gentlemen at four lemons a day. One lemon more per diem is ordained to each sex for every additional decade, so that centenarians must consume, if women, their eight lemons daily, if men, no fewer than nine.

The Indian Exploration of the Especulement of the Earth.

From the New York Times.

The origin of the name of the Territory of Arizona, or the more euphonious Arizonia, as it was originally called, has long been a matter of dispute, and recently some of the Zuñis Indians who inhabit that region have given an account of their traditional origin, which throws light upon the matter. In the beginning, a race of men sprang out of the earth like plants, rapidly growing to maturity and strength. They increased so fast that they soon covered the face of the globe, but after a time, however, no children were born, and finally became entirely extinct. This planet then remained untenanted for a great while, until the sun, taking pity on it, sent a divine maiden to populate the waste. Her name was Arizona, meaning in the Zuñi dialect, "sunbeam Queen. She wandered over the world for centuries without finding a lover or a husband—she could not find one of sufficient height. Then she was human, and feminine also—and consequently, as may be inferred, failed of her mission. She was very lovely, and one day while bathing in the sun-beams, a drop of dew fell from the sky, and in due or due time gave birth to Tonatia—the sun god—father. These became the progenitors of the Zuñias, who were the founders of the early descent known family. The Zuñis were the sole, pure, original stock—children of the sun, all other races being illegitimate off-shoots from a parent stem. In the language of the Mojavo tribe, dwelling along the great Colorado river, area means level or beloved, and una the sun, so that arizuela, or aranzuia, would signify the sun's beloved, and it is curious that this language is nearly identical with that of the Zuñias. Sun is feminine with them and moon masculine, the reverse of the genders we poetically ascribe to those words. Thus, unica means a maiden, and ahyeuna, her husband; hulia means the moon, likewise a man. More consistent and rational than we, they ascribe their origin to maternal divinity, and in this are in harmony with modern science, which has discovered in cryptogamia, parthenogenesis and certain undeveloped organs observed throughout the entire sub-kingdom of mammalia, that paternal origin is not essential, merely auxiliary. Have our aborigials in their apparently fantastical and ancient myths anticipated nineteenth century science? What we understand as poetry and what we name truth, as based on nature, are perhaps more nearly allied than we imagine.

What to do with the Saw Dust.

Red Wing Republican.

Invent a stove to burn it, pack it as they do bran, and send it to the prairies for fuel, or burn it at home.

Cook it and eat it. At a dinner party in St. Paul, Dave Stewart, then a manufacturer of saw dust, said innocently that he believed saw-dust in pudding would be pretty fine board. The companion laughed, and Dave blushed. A few days after he asked Dr. Stewart, who was of the party, what made the guests laugh so. The doctor had to repeat the conversation and then he added—"And then you said that properly cooked saw dust would be pretty fine board."

"Yes, I know I said that," said Dave, "but what made 'em laugh?"

Three must be found some use for the saw dust other than to fill up rivers.

W. Gerson, 197 Clarence street, London Ont., writes under date, 30th August, 1879: —"We have used Kaxa for several weeks in our family. We find it a very agreable beverage when properly made, and like it very much. I have been afflicted with asthma for some time, indulging freely in tea I became very nervous; since I have used Kaxa I am much less so. I know another family who find it useful in a case of dyspepsia."

HOLIDAY ISLAND,
Lake Stillwater.

I want to tell you about a new game we play at home during the long evenings. We first choose—

Stop a minute, though. Before I describe how the game is played, I must tell you how we came to think of it. It was in this way:—

Last night the snow fell so fast and thick that we were prisoners to the house, and glad enough to have such a comfortable, warm shelter while the storm was beating against the walls and shutters as if it meant to beat them in. So we formed ourselves into a committee to discover which room in the house had the best fire, and as it was apparent to everybody that the kitchen carried off the palm by many degrees (Fahrenheit), in we all marched and declared our intention of taking tea there. Of course, if that kitchen had possessed only the usual black looking cook stove we should not be in the habit of spending so many winter evenings there. The crowning glory of the place is a good open fireplace (there are three of them altogether in the house—Uncle is particularly partial to them), in which Mr. Mapes loves to heap the logs and set them blazing till Martha's cheeks are "ruddier than the cherry," and every plate and metal dish-cover and sauce-pan and kettle shine and glisten, and set up such a radiant, cheery illumination on their own account that you never did and never can, you know. O, dear! I'm almost out of breath with talking so fast, and I don't clearly remember where I left off; so if the next sentence doesn't fit accurately to the last, please excuse.

Down we sat in front of that fire, while Martha got the most glorious tea ready, which she always does when we ask to have it served in the kitchen, because it pleases her to hear us praise the place as we depend then after tea we helped her clear away, and Jacob "saw to the fire," in a way that would have made the Insurance Company refuse any further risk on the house, if they had seen it. Then we all gather in a cosy group round the fire, which set, Esther in the middle (not of the hearth, but the crescent) and Martha (with her endless knitting) at one end, and Jack at the other.

Then, said Jack:—

"What shall we be after?"

"Digesting," said Mr. Hynes. "Digestion is what I'd advise you to be studying for the next couple of hours, if you valley that constitution of yours in the proper degree. The tea he you've took warn't a common one, even for you, Jack. The way you pitched into them hot buns and raspberry jam as you absorbed simultaneous, must have tasked even your cast-iron—constitution."

"Ah!" said Jack, "it's always me! Of course, Mabyn didn't eat a crumb more than a robin would, and of course, we all know that Nell lives on air!"

"Don't be sarcastic, Jack," said Mabyn, "but tell us what you'll do to pass the time till bed time, that's a good boy."

Now, if there is anything Jack hates it is being called a good boy, and so, no less he answered in a moment, spitefully:—

"What do you say to passing the time in acting Dick Swiveller and the Marchioness? It has grown any thicker since Sunday!"

We turned almost as red as Mrs. Mapes herself, and Fred said he did not think we would have liked to order him into instant confinement, and then glanced at Miss Primell.

Said Mr. Mapes, to change the conversation, "let's play forfeits." And then it was he told me the game in which one chooses a subject and makes a nonsensical verse about it, without ever handing it to his or her neighbor. Then after answering it he or she makes a verse on another subject, and passes on in the same way. A judge is chosen, and whoever fails to answer correctly the verse given to him, pays a forfeit.

We made Mr. Mapes the judge, as we wanted Miss Primell to be among us. Mrs. Mapes was appointed scribe, rather as she said "she never could get that sort of nonsense into her head, but she liked to see it done somehow."

We all paid forfeit before the game was over—even Miss Primell. Here are some of the verses to show you what sort of poetry we made:—

1. Recall the story, if you can,
About a mischievous man;
A gentle savage he restrains
Better and nine, who'll name their names'

2. A man who climbed the mountain steep,
With fairies tippling, fell asleep,
And dozed over his wicked fears,
About the space of twenty years.

3. That blue and his queen, who sent
A message to a gentleman
Tinderbranes and his new wife who ran Away from what called the man.

4. Who laid his cloak before a queen,
Was king of fairy princes' land?
A courtier and a man of mind,
Tell now his name and kind.

5. In Alsace lived out the modern "Hub,"
A surly man dwelt in a hole
With numbers 10 to 1 multiply by day
One knows: soul his name please say.

Let us have your answers to these if you like, and send us some of the same kind.

NELLIE.

Someone has taken notice of me at last, and sends the following:—Why am I like; 54 and an English Cathedral. Good!

JACK.

OUR BUDGET—NO. 9.

(Selected.)

A NEW STYLE OF PUZZLE—DOUBLE RETRIMO.

In each of the following verses find a suitable word to put at the beginning of the first line; prefix a letter to this word to make the first word for the second line, and, to the word so made, prefix another letter to make the first word for the third line. Proceed in like manner in order to make the words that are to be put at the ends of the lines. Then, in each verse, the beginning words will rhyme by the letters, and the ending words by themselves. Thus:—If the first word of the first line were "rain," the second line might begin with "drain," and the third with "strain," and, if the last word of the first line were "say," the second line might end with "nay," and the third with "gray."

——by wealth, to matrons, is brought which ——their
——the soldier hero, to hold the deadly ——

——are not caught at sea, out where the billows ——are used for front, for blue-fish you must ——are by anglers used, when by a stream they

——one of Irving's stories, the hero's name is ——counsel his pals use time, and gave him
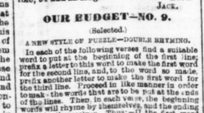
——one story.
——is a Chinese word—the ending word is ——
——from the ground sold and paid for by the
——
——fresh and good he sold, and coffee, tea and
——
——gave he to his boy; the neighbors heard him ——

EASY SQUARE.



1. A plant that flowers rarely.
2. A narrow country road.
3. Empty.
4. Four vowels.

EASY CENTRAL ACROSTIC.

The centrals, reading down word, name a species of cartoon. The words are of one length.

1. A girl's nature. 2. A title of respect. 3. A small animal. 4. Another girl's name. 5. A measure of length. 6. A pet; motion. 7. To put together.

FRAME PUZZLE.

Make the frame of four words of ten letters each, so that the letter O shall come at each of the four corners where the words intersect. The words mean:—Malevolent. An adjoint wrangle. One of an old school of poets. A stone used by [illegible] etc.

SYNCOPATIONS.

1. Syncopate a tenement, and leave an exploit 2. Syncopate a grinder, and leave a draftsman. 3. Syncopate a genus of plants, and leave a spar. 4. Syncopate a part of the body, and leave a legal instrument. 5. Syncopate the stony frame of a certain sea animal, and leave a commendable fossil. 6. Syncopate part of an animal, and leave a trigonometrical line. 7. Syncopate a carnivorous animal, and leave transfer of property. 8. Syncopate a domestic animal, and leave a prophet.

EASY DIAMOND PUZZLE.

1. A consonant. 2. A large serpent. 3. A horned animal. 4. A tree. 5. A vowel.

TRANSPOSITIONS.

In each of the following sentences fill the first blank, or set of blanks with a word, or words, which, when suitably transposed, will fill the remaining blank, or set of blanks, and make sense. Then, in the first sentence, the first blank may be filled with the word "Solomon," and this may be transposed so as to make two words "four souls," which will fill the remaining blanks and make sense:—

1. The —— of that college lad —— —— in view, and one of them was, to make both ends meet.
2. The French peasant girl —— volubly of her new ——.
3. The crafty Gipsy —— —— of our party home with good ——.
4. "Do you not find that the thought of such —— troubles you —— —— —— in fooling reconciled to my opponent."
5. —— —— ten pounds of —— silver.
6. The haughty —— of York and Leeds
7. Danced gaily o'er the flowery ——
7. In that remote —— I think —— —— to the support of education in proportion to their means.
8. He did not —— —— wrestle of oak leaves for his brow, although among them bedded some little ——.
9. Washington —— the people to pay great attention to the progress of the young ——.
10. Said a confirmed opium-eater: "—— ——— can also —— and chill strange sensations."
11. I once heard a London boy say: "—— —— ——— as I come in the night of my house on the ——.

SOLUTIONS OF NO. 5.

HIDDEN CITIES AND RIVERS.—1. Bresiau, Oder. 2. Troy, Hudson. 3. Rome, Tiber. 4. Quaco, Missouri. 5. Paris, Seine. 6. Lockport, Ganges. 7. Cairo, Nile.

ARTICLES OF ATTIRE.—1. Hop skirt. 2. Jacket. 3. Scarf. 4. Pantie. 5. Seal-skin sack. 6. Sun-bonnet. 7. Waterproof. 8. Frock. 9. Pea jacket. 10. Frill. 11. Bracelet. 12. Petticoat. 13. Headkerchief. 14. Hose. 15. Gaiters. 16 wrapper. 17 Tippet. 18. Cape. 19. Slippers. 20. Garter.

TWO EASY SQUARE WORDS.

I.	II.
EPOCH	WASTE
PASHA	ALLOW
ONION	SLOPE
CHEAT	TOPER
HARTS	WEEDS

EASY ENIGNA—T.NOS.

DIAMOND.

S
S L Y
G R A V E
E L A S T I C
L A T H
L I P

SOLUTIONS OF NO. 6.

CHARADE.—A pot-be-car-y.

TRANSPOSITION.—Mate, date, mote, tame, mate.

CROSS WORD.—Camelia.

ENIGMA.—Cancer, an omen, ocse, tee.

NUMERICAL ENIGMA.—Yategon.

PUZZLE.—Cater, carol, crate, react, trace.

LETTERS RECEIVED.

Mary and Kate, Chatham.
Fred and Lena, Stratford.
Nate, London.
Lizzie, Woodstock.
Vic and Bessie, London.
Horace, Sarnia.
Ina, London.
Jennie, Blanchard.
Margaret, St. Mary's.
Attalie, Paris.
Carleton, London.
H. S., Strathroy
Betty, Dorset.

Original puzzles by Flo and Rhea, Culloden, Lizzie and Gussie, will be inserted next week.

Also all letters "Boys and Girls' Department," Free Press London, Ont.

A MOMENT OF PERIL.

Thrilling Adventure in a Scranton Coal Mine.

If it were possible to turn gray of terror, the hair of Miss Floyd Jones, of New York, would be as white as snow, in consequence of an awful adventure which she passed through at the Bridge colliery of the Lackawanna Coal and Iron Company, in this city. She is visiting the family of W. W. Scranton, general manager of the iron company, and expressed a desire to visit the mine for the purpose of witnessing the interesting and perilous process of mining and preparing anthracite for use. Accordingly, Mr. Scranton, acting as her escort, took along the Superintendent, Mr. Jones Brooks as an extra precaution against venturing into danger. After inspecting the mine for about an hour, the party, being guided by their flickering lamps, returned along the subterranean halls to the foot of the slope, at the bottom of which the cars were to be taken up to the surface. Before entering the cages, which are used for the transportation of the miners, Miss Jones and Mr. Brooks stepped into a side gallery, in order to allow the cages to pass. Miss Jones, who was ignorant of the danger, stepped back a few feet from the entrance to the gallery, when suddenly a huge piece of rock, weighing fully a ton, fell from the roof directly in front of her, and completely blocked up the passage. Had she been standing in the entrance to the gallery, she would have been instantly killed. Mr. Brooks, who was standing near her, was also uninjured. The rock fell with a terrific crash, and the air was filled with dust and flying pieces of coal. The party were thus cut off from the cages, and were obliged to find their way to the surface by another route. This they succeeded in doing after a long and tedious journey, and reached the surface in safety. Miss Jones, who is a young lady of nerve, says that she will never forget the awful moment when she thought that she was about to be crushed to death.

The Protestant Home.

ANNUAL MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

The Secretary's and Treasurer's Reports.

What Has been Done for the Orphans and Aged.

THE OFFICERS FOR 1879 80.

The annual meeting of the Trustees and Advisory Board of the Protestant Orphans' Home was held at the institution yesterday afternoon. There were present the following members of the Board of Trustees:—Mesdames Gregeten, Hyman, Jeffery, McCallum, A. Brown, Webster, Belton, Church, Thomson, Ingram, B. Glass, Edge, W. R. Meredith, H. Cronyo, Richardson, Carfrae and Miss Marsh. Of the Advisory Board there were present:—Rev. F. B. De Lom, Messrs. J. Grout, J. H. Flock, Sheriff Glass and A. Thomson. Visitors—Mrs. M. Anderson, Col. J. Walker and Mr. T. McCormick.

Miss L. Moore, the efficient Secretary, presented the following report:—

In bringing before you to-day the work which our Home has been doing during the past year, it is my purpose to be as brief as possible.

Although financially the Home is not in as good position as we could wish, we can not but be thankful that so large an amount of suffering has been alleviated.

Under the able supervision of Mrs. Bright, the Matron, our Home presents a most cleanly and neat appearance in every department.

During the past year 116 children have been admitted to the Home. Of these many have been placed in good homes, where the Trustees are certain of their receiving kind treatment and some education, while others have been returned to their friends. At present there are remaining in the Home 19 girls and 43 boys. Among the children no death has occurred, and no case of serious illness.

Fifty-three old people have found shelter and comfort in the Home during the year. Last winter, being a very severe one, several of the more broken down inmates suffered a good deal from the cold, in spite of all that could be done for them, and three women—Elizabeth Kempster, aged 68; Anne Lovelace, aged 70, and Susan Campbell, aged 100—died. Granny Campbell, in spite of her age and infirmities, was a bright example of peace and contentment to all who knew her.

I am sorry to be obliged to add that two old men, Henry Read and Edward Brown, had to be discharged for unseemly conduct.

In the early part of the year the gentlemen of the Board advised the sale of a lot owned by the Home, and situated in Lyndon East, for the purpose of assisting in the purchase of a lot on Wellington street, adjoining the present Home grounds. Acting on this advice, the London East lot was sold and the proceeds appropriated towards the purchase of the Wellington street lot. The lot has been fenced in by the inmates during the past summer, and a quantity of vegetables have been raised on it for the use of the Home, and a good pasture easy of access secured for the two cows, with Mr. Hortin, believe ought in some way to be made absolutely certain, and which may yet be effected in some other way, namely, a provision that this Essex Centre Bank shall become the main outlet of the Southern road, no man would be foolish enough to question the expediency of voting the bonus.

CANADIAN ITEMS.

—A co-operative store, after the English plan, has been formed at Listowel by a number of mechanics and others.

—Mr. Perry, assistant classical master at the Galt Collegiate Institute, has tendered his resignation, which will take effect at the Christmas holidays.

—The organ for the new Baptist Church at St. Thomas is now in position. The new instrument is a pipe organ of ten stops, and was purchased at a cost of $1,000.

—An entertainment in aid of the Presbyterian manse will be held in Heidelberg's Hotel, Galt, on Tuesday evening next, to make arrangements for a Christmas fair.

—The Official Board of St. Paul's M. E. Church, Chatham, were presented with a beautiful silver communion set, worth $25, by A. M. Lafferty, M. A., and wife.

—The carriage team which Mr. P. E. W. Meyer, of Berlin, sold a few weeks ago to a New York horse dealer, have been sold by the latter for the handsome sum of $700.

—Mr. Wilson, representing the firm of Goldie & McCulloch, of Galt, was in St. Mary's on Tuesday. He sends some reassuremente, and estimated the cost of waterworks at $10,580.

—On Saturday last Mr. Jonathan Bewman, one of the oldest and most respected residents of West Flamboro' Township, died at his residence, where he had lived for 42 years, in the 80th year of his age.

—The following have been elected officers of the Onieda Life Insurance Society:—M. Somers, President; Thos. Hunter, Vice-President; Thos. Williams, Treasurer; E. Sickles, Secretary; A. Schuyler, E. Nuham, and J. Nuham, Standing Committee.

—The following officers were elected for the ensuing year at the annual meeting of the St. Thomas Carling and Skating Rink Company last Monday evening:—J. Pottenger, President; Dr. Gustin, First Vice-President, J. Mickleborough, Second Vice-President; J. Madan, J. H. Still, G. R. Morton, J. M. Green, J. S. Perry, A. Murray, A. Cochrane and H. B. Pollock, Directors; G. K. Morton, Treasurer; D. E. Mackenzie, Secretary; D. Ferguson and W. F. Ellis, Auditors.

—Some practical joker in Essex has been playing pranks at the expense of the rural school teachers and Mr. Patterson, S. S. No. 2, Windsor, by sending wholesale invitations to the former to meet the latter at his office on a certain day. The result was a great gathering of teachers at the place of rendezvous, mutual explanations as to the cause, a general feeling of being sold, and a determination to punish the perpetrator of the hoax.

—Last Saturday night, while John McNamara, a Barton farmer, was enjoying himself in the arms of Morpheus, his house was entered. The burglar went upstairs and decamped with a small trunk where John had his bank and his lady kid kept her fruit preserves for the benefit of John's failing appetite. Sad to say, the trunk contained bills of John's hard earnings and four large jars of preserves, and the whole has disappeared—trunk and its contents.

—About three miles east of the village of Calnsville the son of Mr. Joseph Lar had put a clean up in the stable for the purpose of hanging his lamp on. One day last week he was riding a horse into the stable, and he had to throw his head forward to get under the chain. Not getting low enough the hook caught him in the coat collar and pulled him off the horse, and when his father came he was hanging there nearly dead. He thinks one minute more would have finished him.

—The appeal of Chatham township against the assessment for Government drain on side-lines 18 and 19, Sombra, as extended into Chatham to find an outlet in Otter Creek, has been decided. The Council of Chatham denied that the extension was any benefit to their township, and claimed it was a positive injury by bringing down a large body of water, which they thought would flood their low lands. The case was fully gone into at Wallaceburg a short time ago before a board of arbitration, A. McDonell, P. L. S., being appointed by Chatham; R. Flock by Sombra, and Wm. Douglas, barrister, of Chatham, as third arbitrator. The award is in favor of Sombra, for $600 and two thirds of the costs.

LOST IN THE WOODS.

TWO MEN MISSING IN SHERBOURNE DISTRICT.

Minden, Nov. 6.—Two young men in the employ of Messrs. Green & Ellis, a firm lumbering in Sherbourne Township, are supposed to have been lost in the woods, as no trace of them has been found since the time they were first missed on Friday last. They were instructed by the foreman to clean up an old shanty, and stop until called to dinner. When the foreman returned they had gone. Immediately search was made, which was, however, fruitless. On Saturday, Sunday and Monday a general turnout was made, but with the same result. Further search has been given up as useless. Each of the lads carried an axe and shovel. They are of French descent, and are from Quebec city. Their inexperience in wood-craft accounts for their getting lost. The only hope held out is that they may have reached the Black River shanties, which are about ten miles direct from where they started.

The Estimates.

DISBURSEMENTS.

Hon. S. Leonard	$ 740 00
J. C. Dodd	16 85
S. Bruce & Son	2 70 00
Taxes Dundas street lot	4 00
John Wright, for $2,000 permanent stock
Agricultural Savings and Loan Co., and premiums paid	2 000 00
Maintenance account, 6 months interest on Agricultural Loan Co. stock	97 00
Interest on Savings Bank	51 37
H. C. Green	172 30
Labor, taining, plowing, &c.	172 25
	$3,357 50
By deposit to credit of the House Building Fund account in the Savings Branch of the Agricultural Savings and Loan Co	2,716 37
Total	$6 073 37

The maintenance account was also submitted, which showed that $3,595 80 had been received, among which were the following ward collections:—No. 1, $275 94; No. 2, $290 40; No. 3, $78.68; No. 4, $178 30; No. 5, $15.35; No. 6, $138; No. 7, $19 92. The expenditures had aggregated $3,468.21, leaving a balance of $37.59.

On motion, both reports were adopted, after Mr. Glass had made thorough explanations of the financial condition of the Home.

The following elections were then made: Trustees—Mesdames Bonner, Belton, A. Brown, Carfrae, Cleghorn, Church, B. Cronyn, Dickson, Digeam, W. Duffield, J. Duffield, Edge, Dr. Edwards, C. Goodhue, W. Glass, B. Glass, J. Green, W. Gordon, Gregeten, Hellmuth, C. Holmes, Hyman, Hutchisson Ingram, Innes, Jeffery, T. Kent, Labatt, Sen., R. Lewis, McCallum, G. Mchenzie, Mc Kinnon, W. R. Meredith; Misses Emma and Eliza Manigault, Marsh and Moore; Mesdames Murphy, A. R. Newcomb, W. Rook, J. B. Richardson, W. Saunders, H. Moore, A. Thomson, J. Walker and Waterman.

Advisory Board—His Worship Mayor Lowis, Mr. W. Bowman, Hon. John Carling, Mr. R. Cronyo, Judge Davis, Mr. J. H. Flock, Sheriff Glass, Messrs. J. Green, S. Glass, C. Huckinson, A. Johnston, J. Jeffery, J. Laing, T. McCormick, T. Muir, O. McClary, S. Peters, G. Robinson, J. B. Sutherland, A. Thomson, Col. Walker, C. Smith, H. Waterman, I. Waterman, John Wright, and the clergymen representing the various Protestant denominations of the city and Hyde Park.

Attending Physicians—Drs. Mitchell, Moorehouse, Nivan, Payne, Street, Waugh and Lindsay.

Matron—Mrs. Bright.

Col. Walker moved, seconded by Mr. J. H. Flock that the thanks of the meeting be tendered to Mrs. Glass, the retiring Treasurer, for the energetic manner in which she had discharged her duties. The mover and seconder passed warm eulogies on her untiring efforts, and the motion was carried by a standing vote.

It was also resolved in future to hold the annual meetings in Victoria Hall.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and resulted as follows:—

Lady Patronesses—Mesdames Goodhue, Jeffery and Dickson.

President—Mrs. Gregeten.

Vice-Presidents — Mesdames Hyman, Labatt, W. R. Meredith and C. D. Holmes.

Secretary—Miss Moore.

Assistant Secretary—Miss E. Manigault.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. Green.

After routine business the meeting adjourned until the annual public meeting, to be held in Victoria Hall next week.

London East Council.

Regular Meeting Last Night.

Reports of Committees—A Batch of Communications and Accounts—Opening of Lyle Street—Re Cemetery Question—Miscellaneous Matters of Municipal Interest.

The Council met in the Town Hall last night, Reeve Watterworth in the chair. Present—Deputy-Reeves Bartlett and Adams, and Councillor Legg. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS WERE RECEIVED

From George Elliott asking for 25 per cent. reduction of taxes, in accordance with the statute. Referred to Finance and Assessment Committee.

From Thomas Muir, drawing the attention of the Council to the destitute condition of William Henderson, who is both blind and helpless. Referred to the Relief and Finance Committee, with power.

OPENING LYLE STREET.

A communication was read from Charles Lilley, Chairman of the Committee, intimating that $350 had been subscribed for the opening of Lyle street, and asking that the Council raise their subscription to $300.

Mr. C. Lilley explained that $700 was the total amount required, and the corporation and ratepayers generally would reap a benefit from their donation through the taxes that would be collected from the lots thus opened.

The Reeve and Deputy-Reeve saw a good deal of benefit that would result, but felt that the owners of land were now demanding more than the original figure.

Mr. Short endorsed the remarks of Mr. Lilley.

The Reeve felt that there was one consolation, the village could afford to make the grant, being in an excellent financial condition.

On motion, the communication was referred to the Finance Committee, with power.

AUDIT SHEET.

The audit sheet of the Collector's roll was submitted by Mr. McNeff, and referred to the Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS WERE RECEIVED from the Clerk and two Assessors, for preparing voters' list, $18; George Talbot, brick culvert, $10; London Street Railway, rent of Town Hall for last quarter, $75; George Talbot, gravel, snow-ploughs and sundries, $15 20; W. Diamond, nails, 64 cents; W. Hinton, burying Zella Donald-son, a pauper, $3 00; D. Kerr, hardware, &c., $7.36; E Beitz, cap for policeman, $2.50; H. Aldridge, one month's salary as constable, $40; Isaac Clark and Janiter for one month, $95; R. O'Mara's repairing culvert on 21st street, $4; street improvement, W. Belton, on account, $500; for hauling gravel, $50; pay list for street work, $47.06, all of which were ordered to be paid.

FINANCE.

Deputy-Reeve Adams, chairman, submitted the following report:—

Your Finance Committee beg to recommend that this Council have gas lamps erected as follows:—One on the south corner of King and Adelaide streets, and one on the north corner of the latter street, and one on the south corner of the side of Dundas street, opposite Egerton street, all in the village of London East.

That Mr. Greaves's account for hoisting side-walk on the north side of Queen's Avenue, at 75 cents per load, be paid; also account for lumber for culverts, amounting to $16.26.

That we pay the account of the Free Press Printing Company, for $60.25, less discount.

That Mr. Taylor's account, for work, $60.75, be paid, less $14, to be kept back until the culvert on Egerton street is satisfactorily finished.

On motion, the report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

First-Deputy-Reeve Bartlett, Chairman of the Board of Works, submitted the following report:—

Received the following tenders for sidewalks:—G. Cantlon, 20 cents per foot; Mr. Hall, 21 cents. Mr. Cantlon being the lowest, his tender was accepted

J.M LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The London "Free Press"

JOB OFFICE

executes all kinds of commercial and other printing in the best style, on excellent paper, and at lowest rates.

Owing to the large staff constantly on hand, work can be expeditiously turned out.

Colored and fancy printing a speciality. Ball and programme work in excellent taste.

The Free Press.

Saturday, November 8, 1879.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Business men are getting ready for the holiday trade.

Vernor has not been heard from for some time, and it is presumed that he has been tired by a bear.

The Canada Southern Railway Company make several changes in their time-table on Monday morning next.

It is dangerous to talk to a drug clerk while he is making up a prescription, as he may make a fatal mistake.

The 7th Battalion are commanded to assemble for church parade at the Drill Shed to-morrow morning, at ten o'clock.

William O'Brien was gathered in by a kind hearted policeman, who found him suffering from the effects of the present thaw.

Patrick Quinn and William Burley were arrested last night at the instance of George Davidson, who charges them with disorderly conduct.

It is said that Mr. Brodie, School Trustee of Petersville, intends running for Councillor in that village at the approaching municipal election.

An exchange says that this kind of weather just makes a young lady sentimental enough to desire you to write something in her autograph album.

The female portion of this community is making many mysterious demands for money these days, in anticipation of approaching Christmas, no doubt.

The Police Commissioners meet this afternoon to appoint a new member of the force. There are quite a large number of applicants for the vacant position.

The Sportsman's champion challenge cup, won by Mr. Ed. Hanlan at the Centennial, at Newcastle, England, will be on exhibition at the Grigg House this forenoon.

Mr. Henry Sharpe, of this city, has been appointed Manager of the Huron and Middlesex Fire Insurance Company, of London, in place of Mr. J. Grandy, resigned.

John and Eliza Brown, who were discharged yesterday morning as vagrants, were registered at the Police Station last night with "drunk and vagrants" after their strange cognomens.

Chief of Police Fewings took a young woman named Maggie Macdonald to St. Thomas yesterday forenoon, where she is wanted as a witness against Todd, who is charged with incendiarism.

The Tiser is very querulous! It endeavors to fasten upon the FREE PRESS an inaccuracy in saying that the Rev. Mr. Hodgson took part at the union service at Victoria Hall on Thanksgiving Day. The FREE PRESS said nothing of the sort, and hence there was no inaccuracy.

A. D. HOLMAN'S BENEFIT.—The Opera House was well filled last evening on the occasion of the complimentary benefit to Mr. A. D. Holman. This sterling young actor is well deserving of such a recognition, and the public turned out in large numbers to show their good will toward him. The opera of "Pinafore" was performed in a very spirited manner, and was heartily appreciated. Mr. Holman took the rôle of "Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B.," in which he has no superior. It is a part which he sustains with capital effect. Miss Sallie Holman, as "Josephine," was in her best form and most animated mood, and met with loud and repeated applause. Mrs. A. D. Holman appeared as Little Buttercup, part she performed always with very much credit. Mr. J. D. Dalton was disabled by a sprained ankle, but managed to struggle through the part of "Capt. Corcoran" very nicely. Mr. Brandisi played "Rackstraw," Mr. Wolff, "Dudley," and Mr. Adams, "Bill Bobstay," very creditably, and the rest of the characters were well taken. Several specialties were introduced in the second act. Between the acts Mr. Edward Hanlan appeared before the audience, the Sportsman's Challenge Cup, which he won on the Tyne, being displayed on a table. It is a very elaborate and costly article. Mr. Hanlan was appropriately introduced by Mr. A. D. Holman, and met with a rousing reception, the applause being long sustained. He addressed the audience for a few moments, thanking them for the heartiness of their welcome. He expressed the pride he felt in being man enough to uphold the honor of Canada both in America and Europe, and said in regard to Courtney that he was ready to meet him on any pond, lake, river or creek, in which two boats could pass each other, at any time, to contest for the championship of America. He expected to rest him this fall, and to defeat him in a fair race. He meant always to row an honest race. There was not enough money in this country to buy him. (Applause.) He intended to go to England and row another match for the championship of the world there upon the table. He would have to win three trials in order to be able to challenge Trickett for the championship of the world, and after that he would retire from rowing. At intervals during his remarks Mr. Hanlan was interrupted by loud applause, which continued after he ceased speaking, for some time. Then, as an interlude, Miss Addie Flint recited the "Wooing Scene in Henry V." very brightly, and "The Glove and the Lions" for encore. The opera was then resumed, and played to the close with pleasing success.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Secure your seats for Mrs. Scott-Siddons. The last visit to our city.

FOR MANITOBA.—Mr. Robert Paterson, agent of the G. W. R., at Paris, is organizing another party for Manitoba, to leave during the present month. On the 24th inst., a special baggage and freight train will leave Paris, and on the following day, a special passenger train will leave the same place at 7 p. m., under the charge of Mr. Patterson, who will accompany passengers through to Winnipeg. Those who intend going should communicate at once with Mr. Patterson.

THE LAST CHANCE.—To night will be the last opportunity afforded by Messrs. Manville & Brown for the purchase of the pictures and mirrors previously referred to in these columns. There are still a number of excellent pictures and mirrors to be sold, and the firm will not hold any reserve on them. This rare chance will no doubt be taken advantage of by enterprising and observing citizens.

AUCTION SALE TO-DAY.—Manville & Brown will sell at their rooms, at 2 p. m., a valuable farm in the Township of Westminster. See advertisement.

LECTURE ON GEORGE FOX AND THE QUAKERS.—From our advertising columns it will be seen that the Rev. T. W. Handford, of Toronto, will give his popular lecture on the above attractive subject in Victoria Hall on Tuesday next. As a public lecturer this gentleman has now acquired a reputation second to no man in Canada, and will probably soon eclipse Beecher, Talmage, etc., of the United States. A large choir of about fifty voices will give a concert of music for half an hour before the lecture commences. This unusually attractive and cheap entertainment should secure a crowded house.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

Seeded nut is the popular material for white lace scarfs.

A good way to economize coal is to not put all you've got on the fire at once.

Time was, in the petroleum regions, when one could say: "Alack! a-well-a-day!"

A perceptible difference is slipped off both ends of the day, and whist hands are dealt accordingly.

The unpaved streets throughout the city should be thoroughly cleaned before winter sets in in earnest.

It is rather early in the season, but then it does seem as if a little advice about cleaning off sidewalks would be in order.

An experimenter has discovered that a cook stove may be converted into a base burner by sitting on it while it's hot.

"A——nd he said." This is the average remark overheard by the passer-by of a group of lovelinesses under 20.

The terse answer we have seen to Malloch's book, "Is Life Worth Living?" is by a physician: "It depends upon the liver."

Tissue paper napkins, with a colored or ornamented border, are used in dining saloons. They cost about two dollars per thousand.

A new variety of tea rose has been produced—the "May Capricorn," so named from its resemblance to cayenne pepper in hue.

The young gentleman who sports a cane but no overcoat probably remembers his youth, when a cane on occasions proved remarkably warming.

Christmas cards, upon which birds with feathers are placed against a background painted in water colors, are among the latest novelties in the market.

They say tobacco ruins the teeth, but we know an old gentleman who has chewed it for years, yet hasn't an unsound tooth in his head, nor one of any other kind.

The week beginning November 9th is to be generally observed in all Christian churches throughout the world as a week of prayer for young men in colleges.

"St. Julian," the horse that trotted a mile in 2 11¾, the fastest time on record, in San Francisco, was raised by J. S. Dunning, at Minisink, Orange County, N.Y. He sold him for $600.

ONE IS SOMETIMES WORTH TWO.

His optic was red as the sky in the west
When the rubescent sun sinks slowly to rest,
And softly he murmured, while heaving a sigh,
"A sty on the farm is worth two in the eye."

His friend again raised his right hand up on high,
Receiving to cuff that arch fiend on blasty,
But he suddenly dodged, and bewitchingly said,
"A man shun on earth is worth two overhead."

Cold weather means more stoves in the house; more stoves in the house means additional stovepipe, and additional stovepipe means an alarm of fire from the nearest box, unless you take extraordinary precautions.

A clergyman asks the London Times why women "do not take up the employment of dentists to their own sex. The profits are large. Lately I had to call on my dentist and had to wait many hours. There were a dozen ladies staying for their turn."

The seed sown by "Pinafore" is already bringing forth many fold. The first fruits are three new military and naval comic operas now performing on the other side—"Her Boo Cadet," at the Thalia Theatre, New York; "U. S. Buttons," at the Academy of Music, Jersey City; and the "First Life Guards at Brighton," at the North Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

Mr. Courtney being ready, says the Buffalo Express, it will now be necessary to wait for Mr. Hanlan. When Mr. Hanlan signifies his acceptance it will be necessary to wait for Mr. Courtney. Then, having heard from Mr. Courtney again, a delay for farther particulars from Mr. Hanlan will follow. After that we shall hear from Mr. Courtney, then from Mr. Hanlan, then from both of them, then from the referee, then from Mr. Courtney, then from Mr. Hanlan, then from—but our space is limited. We shall resume this subject directly.

Osteewayo now wears a tweed suit and a high hat, or, as it is called in English slang, a "tipper." This fact, duly vouched for by correspondents on the spot, has inspired an amusing poet to indite the following ode:—

Flash the news from pole to pole,
Strange among all strange events changes;
Tell how in a savage soil,
Culture now puts arrogance,
Gems the naked heathen king.
In his place a dandy prosper,
Lord 1st all creating sing
"Osteewayo wears a topper!"

Gilbert, the English dramatist, says that bad plays are usually the result either of amateur authorship or of careless writing. He tells how he does his work: "First, I write out the story in magazine fashion; second, I make a 'scenario' from that, marking the places where situations must can be secured; third, I write the whole piece rapidly in ordinary language; fourth, I struggle through the piece again to polish the dialogue; fifth, I do the same by the acts in continuity; and, lastly, I revise the whole play, taking care to remove all superfluities."

"Onida's" name is Rosa de la Rama, and she is the daughter of a Frenchman. She lives in a lovely villa about five miles from Florence, where she is surrounded by books, pictures and, what she prizes more than these, dogs. She has a burying ground on her place for her dogs, where they are laid away with a tenderness that is not always bestowed on the human race. Once, was an unknown writer, glad to earn £1 a page for her magazine stories, when her novel of "Granville de Vigne" made her reputation, and now every novel she writes finds a ready market at $7,000.

NOVEMBER.

Blow storm, north wind, and set the world a-rocking,
The world, it is a cradle where Dame Nature lies asleep,
Quoth I, Lion, Col. Lawin, Mayor of Amherst,
Is expected to rest him this fall,
And to defeat him in a fair race. He meant always to row an honest race. There was not money enough in this country to buy him. (Applause.) He intended to go to England and row another match for the beautiful cup which they have upon the table. He would have to win three trials in order to be able to challenge Trickett for the championship of the world, and after that he would retire from rowing. At intervals during his remarks Mr. Hanlan was interrupted by loud applause, which continued
after he ceased speaking, for some time.
Then, as an interlude, Miss Addie Flint recited the "Wooing Scene in Henry V." very brightly, and "The Glove and the Lions" for encore. The opera was then resumed, and played to the close with pleasing success.

Blow strong, north wind, and set the world a-rocking,
Rock on baby's cradle a rocking to and fro;
So cold may the sleep there, lilli-spring shall come a-knocking,
Muffled from the winter in a coverlet of snow.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.—Brick street, Westminster, has lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Mr. Eli Griffiths. He settled some forty years ago in the neighborhood where he died, having come from Vermont as a U. E. Loyalist, in company with Messrs. S. P. Jarvis and Hon. J. Goodhue. His two brothers came with him—one Nathan—now aged 87 years, is drawing a pension from the British Government for Crimean services, and Ezra, who is deceased. Eight children of the subject of this obituary are still living. He was one of the first of the many brick-makers who have given the road on which he lived its name. His death was caused by a rupture, which he received some years ago.

ALLEGED INCENDIARIES.—Two men, named James Todd and Edward Chalmers, have been up on remand before the St. Thomas Police Magistrate lately, charged with having maliciously set fire to the foundry of Messrs. Haggert & Cochrane on the 14th August last. The evidence against Chalmers was very slim, and he was permitted to go on his own recognizance to appear when called upon. Todd has been further remanded. It is alleged he is also concerned in the firing of Moore's tannery.

MIDDLESEX LAW ASSOCIATION.—On Wednesday evening a meeting of the Middlesex Law Association was held in Mr. J. Macbeth's office, Court House, when the following officers were elected: President, W. R. Meredith, Q.C.; Vice-President, E. J. Parke; Treas., W. P. R. Street; Secy., A. O. Jeffery; Librarian, John Symmonds. A seal was adopted, and a committee appointed to prepare a list of books suitable for the library of the Association.

INTERIM SESSIONS.—At this Court yesterday, Charles Hornsby, the young man who pleaded guilty at the Police Court a few days ago, to robbing B. B. Brown, of Aylmer, of a gold watch, was arraigned, and pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of highway robbery. He admits the larceny of the watch, but denies knocking Brown down, &c. He also denies having served a term in the Reformatory, and has been remanded until the 12th inst., to procure the necessary evidence.

St. Andrew's Society.

Annual Meeting—Election of Officers.

Address by the President-elect.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society was held in the auditorium of the Young Canadian Liberal Club last night, the President, Mr. J. W. Jones, in the chair. Mr. D. J. Cowan, Secretary, and the following members in attendance:—Colonel Walker, R. Reid, Archibald Sharpe, W. Howie, T. H. Purdom, Thomas Brock, Frank Love, James Dunbar, M. McKellar, D. Fraser, John Mills, James Gillean, Jas. Cowan, J. McConnell, D. McPhail, D. Currie, W. Cairncross and others.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been approved.

Messrs. D. Dodd, James F. Howie and R. W. Purvis were elected members of the Society.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Mr. M. McKellar, Chairman of the Relief Committee, reported that during the half-year twelve applications for relief had been received, but some of the applicants were, in the opinion of the Committee, not worthy, and seven were refused. The total amount of relief expended was $7.68. Adopted.

Mr. D. J. Cowan, Secretary, presented his report, which recounted the different meetings held during the year, and also the success which had attended the two concerts and annual picnic of the Society. In conclusion Mr. Cowan hoped that the Society would attain to a position second to none in the city.

Mr. John Mills, Treasurer, submitted his annual report, of which the following is an abstract:—

RECEIPTS.

Balance from 1878	$ 84 56
Receipts from various sources	226 55
	$310 11

EXPENDITURES.

Paid for relief and incidental expenses	$119 58
Balance in hand	87 53

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Nominations were then called for the office of President, Messrs. D. Currie and T. H. Purdom being named Scrutineers.

Mr. J. Dunbar moved, seconded by Mr. R. Reid, that Col. Walker be President for 1880.

The mover and seconder eulogized the good qualities of their nominee, and believed that with Col. Walker at its head the St. Andrew's Society would prosper during the year to come as it had not for many years past. It was the universal desire of the Scotchmen of the city that Col. Walker should be placed at the head of the Society, and they felt that he would be the right man in the right place.

Mr. D. Fraser, the First Vice-President, explained that his business would not permit him to accept a nomination at this time. He cordially supported Col. Walker.

There being no other nomination, Col. Walker was elected by an unanimous vote, amidst applause.

Mr. Frank Love nominated Ald. John Campbell as First Vice President. Seconded by Mr. Archibald Sharpe.

Mr. Love stated that but for a prior ministerial engagement Mr. Campbell would have been present at the meeting. He augured for the society in the future a successful year, as every genuine Scotchman in the city did not anticipate.

Messrs. D. Fraser and James Gillean were also nominated, but declined.

Mr. Campbell was declared elected.

Mr. James Dunbar moved, seconded by Mr. D. Currie, that Mr. Wm. Howie be the Second Vice-President.

There being no opposition, Mr. Howie was declared duly elected.

Mr. D. Currie moved that Mr. J. S. Dewar be elected Secretary. Seconded by Mr. J. G. Cowan.

Mr. D. J. Cowan was also nominated, but declined, and there being no opposition, Mr. Dewar was declared duly elected.

Mr. John Mills was unanimously re-elected Treasurer.

The following members were elected as the Relief Committee:—Messrs. Brock, McConnell, Purdom, Love and William Reid.

Chaplains—Revs. Dr. Proudfoot, J. A. Murray, D. Cameron and J. Gallaher.

Physicians—Drs. Fraser, McKenzie, Harper, Waugh.

Piper—Mr. Robert Murray, of Westminster.

Auditors—Messrs. D. J. Cowan and A. Sharpe.

The question of how St. Andrew's Day should be celebrated was next considered, it being resolved to hold the anniversary on the 1st of December, as the 30th of November falls on Sunday this year.

Mr. D. J. Cowan moved, seconded by Mr. Love, that the anniversary dinner of the St. Andrew's Day take the form of a public dinner. Carried unanimously.

It was then moved that the President-elect take the chair, and that Mr. Jones vacate the same, which having been carried, the same gentleman moved a vote of thanks to the retiring officers for their services. Seconded by Mr. Dunbar.

The resolution was carried by acclamation.

Messrs. Jones, Fraser and Cowan, on behalf of the new officers, all of whom wished the Society the greatest possible success.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The President-elect, Col. Walker, at this stage returned his hearty thanks to the members for electing him to the honorable position of President. He was glad to hear that none of the mysteries which surrounded the initiation of several Societies was in vogue in St. Andrew's. If there had been, he might not have been so easily persuaded to accept the office. He appreciated the honor, but was sorry so as it was an unusual thing to take a private from the ranks and put him at its head. He was glad, however, that it proved to be a faithful state of affairs, and hereby had thrown greater responsibility upon him. In taking his responsible stand, he was urged by his friends that it would lead to the prosperity of the Society. On no other account would he have accepted the office, but to seek it, as he had a sufficiency of business to attend to for a private nature. It had been shown by the past that if energy be infused into the Society, more interest would be taken in its prosperity. That could only be accomplished by each member putting his shoulder to the wheel. The same enthusiasm which was so visible at our annual meetings and gatherings should not be allowed to flag during the year. He urged all present to do everything in their power to increase the membership, and put the Society on an equal footing with the sister societies. We have seen the success which has attended them; their means of doing good has quadrupled during the past few years; there is no reason why the St. Andrew's Society should not be equal in every respect to them. He was glad to say that he had accepted office when a "boom" was taking place, when good times were near at hand, and he intended taking advantage of the "boom" and doing all in his power to advance the interests of the Society. He hoped at the close of his term of office to show a creditable record.

NEW RULES AND BY LAWS.

Mr. Dewar moved, seconded by Mr. Jones, that the President and Vice-Presidents and Messrs. Currie, Reid, Love, Purdom, Fraser and J. Cowan be a Committee to revise the by laws and constitution, and report at next monthly meeting. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

LONDON EAST NOTES.

Before Squire Belton last night, Harvey Moore, J. Naven, N. Blackwell, H. Irkwood, J. Raven, D. Fitzgerald, J. Riley and M. Ryan were fined on a charge of having acted in a very disorderly manner on Sunday, Oct. 12th. It seems that the boys got together on the Sunday in question, and after purchasing a quantity of whiskey, proceeded to Spencer's refinery, and played cards the day through. They also annoyed persons living in that vicinity by their boisterous and unseemly conduct. After hearing the evidence, the boys were each fined $1, with 81 costs.

CHRIST CHURCH.—The first of a series of fortnightly entertainments was held in the school-room last evening, and was well attended. Those taking part in the programme were the Misses Brown, McDonald, Chadsott and Gosson; Messrs. Marchant, Sutcliffe, Thomas and the Rector. Mr. Thomas' recitations were highly appreciated, and called forth hearty encores. On the whole, a very enjoyable evening was spent. It is proposed to hold these entertainments fortnightly.

POLICE COURT—FRIDAY.

L. LAWSON, Esq., P. M., Presiding.

DRUNK.

Ere the echoes of the policeman's stentorian "hats off!" had died away in the Hall of Justice, Bridget Balderson rose up and asked the court to be "as lenient as possible," in consideration of the fact that she had recently returned from a lengthy sojourn in the County Jail. The P.M. waved his hand significantly, and Bridget will occupy her old quarters for another three days. Thus Justice strikes powerfully at the roots of crime.

N. Wilson, of London Township, took advantage of the privilege held out by the Court, and went out "to see a man" who could do something in the way of relieving that "thumpin' headache."

VAGRANCY.

John and Eliza Brown, man and wife, were discharged from the charge of vagrancy which hung heavy over their heads. "Not guilty, but don't do it again."

Tom Alexander, who has grown grizzly and unshapely in the service of Old King Alcohol, was once more allowed to go and make preparations for a contemplated trip to Winnipeg.

John Morkin was remanded until the 14th inst.

THREATENING LIFE.

James Beck was charged by his wife Mary L. Beck, with threatening to take her life. The case was evidently a temporary outburst of domestic infelicity, and the P. M. instructed Beck to find the necessary sureties for his good behavior in the future.

LARCENY.

Edward L. Sinclair, brought from Ingersoll a few days ago on a charge of stealing a sum of money from the trunk of Wasly L. Elliot, was discharged.

ASSAULT.

William Buller charged Richard Clark with assault, but failed to prove his case, and was called upon to pay the costs of the Court.

A Clothes-line Thief Captured.

Other Property Found, Supposed to have been Stolen.

Yesterday morning a communication from Detective Cagrom, of Ingersoll, came to Chief of Police Williams, stating that Henry Jackson, a young but well-known jail-bird, had been arrested for stealing several shirts from a clothes line in the township of Nissouri, between Thamesford and St. Mary's, about two months ago. It appeared that a buggy with a closed back, square box, and leather dashboard and a black red-lined rug were found in a swamp about four miles from Ingersoll, where it had been left, and the shaft broken, to lead any possible discoverer to think that an accident had occurred. Jackson having made Dave Young's place his resort, attempted to trade off his property for a watch. The possessor of the time-piece, acting probably under instructions from Detective Cagrom, made the trade and thus got to see the articles in question, together with a set of old harness. Detective Phair went down to Ingersoll and found that a glazed rubber coat had also been traded off, but had been taken possession of by the authorities. From information received in Ingersoll Detective Phair arrested one Alexander McGinnis for being an accomplice in the clothes line theft and brought both prisoners to this city last night. They will appear at the Police Court this morning, and both will be convicted, as plenty of evidence is ready to appear against them. The buggy is probably the one stolen from Mr. Chittick, of Dorchester, some time ago. Jackson was sent down to the Central Prison last winter for stealing wood, and his brother and father are now both in the Penitentiary, the former for burglary and the latter for passing counterfeit money.

The Non Resident Question.

How the Matter Has Been Settled in Hamilton.

Some difference of opinion having arisen as to who are residents and who are non-residents of the city as regards the Public Schools, it may interest our readers to know the view that the Hamilton Board of Education took of the question, which will be found appended:—

Residents—1. Children whose parents live in the city, whether assessed or not. 2. Children actually adopted, whether with or without regular guardianship papers being taken out. 3. Children whose parents or legal guardians live outside the city, but are freeholders in the city. 4. Children whose parents or legal guardians live outside the city, but who rent offices (assessed in their own name or not) within the city.

Non-residents—1. Children whose parents neither reside nor own taxable property in the city. 2. Children who have been adopted into the city, but rent property belonging to the city, and hence not taxed, such as market stalls, butcher stalls, etc. 3. Children whose parents, as well as themselves, board in the city, but do not pay taxes in the city. 4. Children boarded with relations or others in the city, but whose parents do not pay taxes in the city. 5. Children living with friends or relatives and intending to remain an indefinite period—non-residents during the first year.

All children living outside the city, attending the schools and claiming the right to attend as residents, shall produce at the opening of each term a certificate from the City Clerk, stating that their parents or legal guardians are taxpayers in the city.

Western Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

The Directorate of the New Company—The Officers.

A meeting of the subscribers of the new Mutual Fire Insurance Company, to be instituted in this city, was held on Wednesday last, when the following Directors were chosen:—Col. Lawlin, Mayor of Aylmer; G. W. Ross, M. P., Strathroy; James Gilmour, Esq., Warden County Middlesex, Dorchester; Wm. Merrill, Esq., Cobourg; Norwich; M. D. Dawson, Esq., London; Arch. Bishop, M. M. P., Hay; S. Adams, Esq., Brantford; Hon. Donald Macdonald, Esq., Barrister, ex M. P., St. Thomas; James Milne, Esq., Manager Superior Savings and Loan Co., London; Eli S. Jarvis, Esq., J. P., Nilestown; C. A. Conover, Esq., Manufacturer, London, and D. McCraney, M. P. P., Bothwell.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board, Col. Lawlin was chosen President, and Mr. Odlin Macdougall, Vice-President.

IMPRISONMENT AT THE NEW YORK STORE.—Mr. Noble Sharpe, of Ingersoll, the owner of the building occupied by the proprietors of the New York Store, has just completed extensive improvements, which not only enhance the internal appearance of the establishment, but enables the firm to carry on their business with increased facility. In the place of a narrow one-story connection, which formerly existed, a broad brick portion has been built three stories high, and in keeping with the rest of the building. The floors now extend from Dundas street to the Market Square, a distance of 150 feet, which makes it a most desirable place of business. Excavations have also been made, which affords a cellarage the full size of the several floors. In addition to this other improvements have been effected, calculated to add both to the value and the appearance of the building. The changes were felt to be necessary by the occupants, whose business demanded increased room, in the upper stories, as well as in the cellar. Mr. T. H. Tracy was the architect. The owner although living in Ingersoll, was a resident of London 30 years ago, when his present building would have been in the suburbs. He hasn't been displeased by the change either.

A SALARY CLAIM DISALLOWED.—At the County Court held in Berlin recently, Judge La Course presiding, a case came before him for hearing, arising out of the insolvency of Christian Ernst, of that town. Robert Mills, of Ailsa Craig, filed a claim against the estate of $3,850, for three years' salary at $1,000 a year, as clerk and manager in the business of insolvent at Ailsa Craig, where Mr. Ernst had a flax mill and carried on the flax business, and $800 for money lent and put into the business there. The assignee, Mr. W. R. Flinn, by direction of the creditors, contested this claim, on the grounds that Mills was a partner in that business, and was not, therefore, entitled to be paid a salary, and that none was promised. Mills contended that he was not a partner, and that a salary of $1,000 was agreed to be paid him by Ernst. The court disallowed the claim.

Complementary Dinner Last Night.

A large number of the friends of the Thames Navigation Company gave a complimentary dinner to Captain D. Rankin last night at Halley's restaurant. A splendid table was set in Mr. Halley's best style, and those present did ample justice to the edibles. After the cloth had been removed the chair was taken by Captain De Ray Williams, and Mr. Thomas Westie officiated as vice-chairman. After the usual loyal toasts had been drank and honored, the chairman proposed "The Guest of the Evening, Capt. D. Rankin." In doing so he read a letter from a party of young men who had camped down the river during the summer, in which they expressed their regret that they were unable to be present, and asking the chairman to present Mr. Rankin with a photograph of the camp.

Mr. Rankin replied in suitable terms.

"The Manufacturing Interests of the City of London," coupled with the names of J. Plummer and the Riddle Brothers, elicited timely responses from these gentlemen. "The Employes of the Thames Navigation Company," was replied to by the several employes of the Company present, and Mr. Farnworth, of the Enterprise. The "London Rowing Club" was acknowledged by Mr. N. Wilson, the Captain of the Club, in a neat speech. The "Mercantile Interests," coupled with the names of Messrs. Thompson and Sharman, drew forth replies from them. The Directors of the Thames Navigation Company," were next toasted, and Mr. Thomas Westie replied. "The Ladies" found a champion in Mr. N. Wilson, after which "The Press," "The 7th Battalion," "Our Host and Hostess" and other toasts were given. Songs were sung during the evening by Messrs. Rudd, Farnworth and others, and a pleasant evening was spent by all present. The company separated at an early hour this morning.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

LADIES', GENTS' AND BOYS' Fall Underclothing in English, Scotch and Canadian wool, every size, now offering at low prices, at J. J. Gibbons' Crystal Hall Building.

RECEIVED this day at J. J. GIBBONS', a large assortment of ladies' Kid Gloves, in Black White, Dark, Mottled and evening shade. Only 50 cents a pair. The very best value in the city.

Finnan Haddies and Fresh Oysters at R Mountjoy's.

Fresh Haddies and Oysters.—A. Mountjoy City Hall.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. eod

PRESCRIPTION FREE—For the speedy Cure of Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or exposure. Any druggist has the ingredients. Address, DAVIDSON & CO., 16 Nassau St., New York. eod

A NEW DISPENSATION.—The SOLUTION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL with glycerine, manufactured by Scott & Bowne, is one of the greatest medical triumphs of the age. It has made what was the most detestable medicine the most agreeable either to all. Children take it as nectar; ladies as they accept a spoonful of cream, and literally cry for more. To any one who knows and who does not—that Castor Oil is the most efficacious cathartic and cure of intestinal inflammation, the inestimable nature of this new dispensation will be approved. SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL should be in every household. Price, 50c. sold

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

London, Nov. 7.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon.

Qu.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
$30	Agricultural		111	113½
50	Canada Co		113	114
50	Dominion		199	200
100	English Loan		103½	104
50	Financial A. of Ont.		105	106
50	do do pref.		100	101
50	Huron and Erie		121	123
50	London Loan		107	108
50	Ontario		124½	126
50	Royal Standard		103	104
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
50	FREE PASSES Pr'ty Co	—	101	—
	London Gas	—	150	—
	London Life	—	80	87
	Montreal Telegraph	—	100	—
	Street Railway	—	100	—

Montreal Stocks—Nov. 7.

1:30 P.M.

	Asked.	Offered
Bank of Montreal	143½	144½
Merchants' Bank	104	105
Bank of Commerce	117½	117
Ontario Bank	103	104
Bank of Toronto	131	131
Molsons Bank	75	80
Consolidated Bank	7	7
Montreal Telegraph	97½	97½
People's Bank	63	64
Bank Jacques Cartier	60	60
Merchants' Bank, rd	96½	96½
Union Bank	50	50
Bank of Montreal, ex-div	141	142
Hochelaga & Ont. Nav. Co	97½	98
City Pass. Railway Co	69	75
City Gas Company	153	154

SALES—Bank of Montreal 7 at 144; Merchants' Bank, 5 at 89; Bank Jacques Cartier, 17. Ontario Bank, 50 at 74. Bank of Toronto, 10 at 131; Peoples' Bank, 19 at 63. Bank of Montreal, 15, 25 at 143.

European Finances.

London, Nov. 7, 2:00 p. m.

Consols	97¼	97⅝
Fives	102¼	102⅝
Ill. Centrals	97	97½

New York Stocks.

New York, November 7.—midnight—Railroads strong and higher. Stocks closed strong with an upward tendency.

Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 7, 9:30 a. m.—WHEAT opens at $1.14½ Dec.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—midnight—FLOUR quiet and weak. WHEAT active, firm, higher and unsettled; No. 2 red winter, at $1.14½ to $1.15; No. 3 spring at $1.11½ to $1.13½ cash; $1.14½ to $1.14¾ Dec. CORN unsettled, active and higher, at 32½ to 33c cash, 30½c Dec. OATS in good demand; a shade higher; 25½c cash; 26c Dec. RYE dull and lower at 71½c. BARLEY dull and lower, at 81c. PORK lower; cash and Nov., at $10 cash; $9.90 to $9.95 Dec. LARD strong and higher, $6 40 cash; $6.50 to $6.55 Dec. Dressed Hogs, $3.60 to $3.65. BULK MEATS in good demand and a shade higher; shoulders at $3.70; clear rib at $5.25; clear sides at $5.50. WHISKEY quiet and firm at $1.08. Flour, 5,000 barrels; wheat, 30,000 bushels; corn, 180,000 bushels; oats, 62,000 bush; rye, 7,000 bush; barley, 5,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 10,000 barrels; wheat, 91,000 bushels; corn, 18,000 bush; oats, 48,000 bush; rye ,000 bush; barley, 25,000 bush.

New York.

New York, Nov. 7.—COTTON unchanged. FLOUR quiet; receipts, 28,000 bbls; sales, 15,000 bbls. RYE FLOUR dull, at $3 75 to $4 90. WHEAT irregular and unsettled; spring 1c to 1½c lower; winter 2c to 3c lower; receipts, 30,000 bushels; sales, 126,000 bushels; No. 2 red, Nov., at $1.30¾ to $1.30⅞. RYE quiet, at 66c to 66c. CORN dull; receipts, 11,000 bushels; sales, 60,000 bushels, at 37c to 37½c. BARLEY dull; six-rowed state at 63c to 65c. OATS firm; receipts, 34,000 bushels; sales, 14,000 bushels; 31c to 40c for mixed western and state; 42c to 45c for white do. PORK quiet, at $10 65. LARD steadier; $6 67½ to $6 70. BUTTER at 18c to 40c.

Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—FLOUR — Receipts, 3,175 bbls; sales, reported, 300 bbls. The demand is very limited and quotations nearly nominal, as follows:—Superior at $5 15 to $5 40, extra, at $5 10, spring extra $5 05 to $5 10, superfine $5 45 to $5 60, strong bakers' $5 60 to $5 70, fine $4 90 to $5, middlings $4 40 to $4 50, Pollards $3 40 to $3 45, Ontario bags $2 85 to $2 90, city bags $3 05 to $3 10. Sales of 200 bbls of spring extra at $5 05. GRAIN—Wheat nominal; spring $1 30 to $1 33, red winter $1 33 to $1 37½, white $1 30 to $1 40 per 60 lbs. Corn, per 67 lbs, at 55c to 56c in bond. Peas, per 66 lbs, 85c to 86c. Barley, per 48 lbs, inferior at 50c to 55c; malting at 60c to 65c. Rye, per 56 lbs, 72c to 75c. Oatmeal, per 200 lbs, $4 25 to $4 60. Cornmeal, per 196 lbs $3 95. PROVISIONS — Butter—Western at 14½c to 16c, Brockville and Morrisburg at 17c to 18c, Eastern Townships at 20c to 22c. Cheese at 12c. Pork at $14 50 to $15 50. Lard— at 10c to 11c. POTASH—$4 65.

Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Wheat—Fall, No 1 at 0 00 to $1 00, No 2 $1 25 to $1 26, No 3 at $1 18 to $1 20, Spring, No 1 at $1 30 to $1 34, No 2 $1 27 to $1 30, No 3 $1 17 to $1 18. Barley No 1 0c to 71c, No 2 0c to 68c, No 3 X 55c to 56c, No 3 0c to 0c. Peas—No 1 70c to 71c, No 2 0c to 0c. Oats, No 1 34c to 35c, No 2 32c to 33c. Corn 57c to 0c. Flour—superior $5 15 to $5 40, extra $5 10 to $5 30, fancy $4 40 to $4 45, strong bakers' $5 55 to $5 60, spring extra $5 45 to $5 50, superfine $3 35 to $3 40, fine $4 to $4 05, middlings $3 50 to $3 60, Clover Seed $4 25 to $4 35, timothy $2 to $2 25. Hogs $4 65 to $5 00. Butter 0c to 0c. Eggs 0c to 0c. Wool 25c to 26c. Wheat and flour dull, heavy and neglected, no demand. Whatever. Barley quiet and easier. Peas steadier and firm.

London Markets.

Reported daily for the Free Press.

London, Friday, Nov. 7, 1879.

A rapid thaw is now going on, and sleighing is at an end for the present. The roads and streets are in a fearful state of mud and mire. Saturday of the week, which is generally rather quiet, the receipts in grain was quite liberal. Wheat—in good demand and steady, at unchanged prices. Barley scarce, large. Setching 80c to 81c per 100 lbs; great variety in quality. Wheat, if any difference, easier at the close. Hay—quite a number of loads at unchanged figures. In other articles of produce there was no great supply, and no change in terms.

Special Notice for Gentlemen, who will please observe that A. B. Powell and Co. commence this season's trade confident

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Orders from the trade respectfully solicited.

Birth.

At Suspension Bridge, New York, on the 7th instant, the wife of J W Lewis, conductor, G W R, of a daughter.

Married.

At the residence of the bride's father, Harris street, West, Oxford, on the 5th instant, by the Rev Wm H Gunn, of Charing Cross, brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev D E Brownell, of the Surrey street Methodist Church, Ingersoll, Mr George Lewis McKay, of Ingersoll, to Miss Sarah A M, only daughter of W H Gunn, Esq.

At the residence of the bride's brother, Mr Andrew Patullo, on the 6th instant, by the Rev W T McMullen, Mary Patullo to John C Short, all of Woodstock.

In Paris, in the R C Church, on the 8th inst, by the Rev Father Dowling, Mr Patrick Rooney to Miss Rosa Mahony, both of Paris.

On Wednesday, Oct 29, by the Rev J B Saltsby, David R Sussex to Mary M Sussex, of Rodwell.

On Nov 5, by the Rev Dr Davidson, pastor of the William street Baptist Church, at his residence, 317 Park street east, Chatham, Herbert A Hoffman, of Thamesville, to Miss Mary Elizabeth Gray, of the Township of Dover.

On Wednesday the 22nd ult, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev W Pinnock, M A, incumbent of Tintmouth, and Rural Dean of Oxford, John Taylor, Esq, to Miss Elizabeth Douglass, both of West Dereham, Ont.

Died.

In Princeton, on Tuesday, the 28th ult, Emma, beloved wife of J W Montgomery, aged 18 years.

DR. ORONHYATEKHA.

Office, 120 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall. Special attention given to Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. Office hours: from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Residence, 213 Dundas street, opposite to Waterman's Grove. tf

MEETINGS.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, NO. 33, G R C—The regular communication of this Lodge will be held this (Tuesday) evening, at 7.30 o'clock, in the Masonic Hall, Richmond street. Visiting brethren cordially welcome.—LEVI HALE, W M.

AMUSEMENTS.

FREE ENTERTAINMENT BY the Dundas street Centre Band of Hope this (Tuesday) evening in the Lecture Room. A good programme. To commence at 7.30. Collection. tf

THE POPULAR LIME, MECHANIC INSTITUTE.—Every Monday and Friday evenings. tf

SERVANTS WANTED.

A GOOD DINING ROOM GIRL wanted, also a good Laundress, for the season at Port Stanley. Call at the Revere House on Tuesday, at 1 p.m.—M. B. WOODRUFF. K101

TO THE LADIES OF THE CITY of London and vicinity.—You can get supplied with good servants, at short notice, by applying to JOHN OSBORNE, Intelligence Office, 174 Dundas street. tf

SITUATIONS VACANT.

A STRONG BOY WANTED, TO take care of horses and make himself generally useful.—O'HARA BROS, Dundas st. dt

TEACHER WANTED, SECOND-Class, male, for School Section No. 13, Lobo tp. State salary. Application to be sent to the undersigned on or before the 20th Nov., 1879.—JAMES J. EVANS, Sec.-Treas., McGillivray P.O. K103

SITUATIONS WANTED.

A MIDDLE-AGED MAN WANTS a situation as Clerk in a Dry Goods Store; he has 18 years' experience. Good references given. Address H O D, Evelyn, Ont. K111

LOST OR FOUND.

PINK VICTORINE LOST ON Saturday, on Dundas or Richmond streets. The finder will be rewarded by returning the same to this Office. dt

REAL ESTATE.

A NICE RESIDENCE, CLOSE to North French Mills, Petersville, for sale. Six rooms, with new brick cellar, green-house, good garden and orchard, which this year produced over 200 bushels of apples—20 acres in well fenced, and with fruit on this river. Terms reasonable, and easy as to time. Apply Conroy Building, to J. BRANDY.

London, 14th October, 1879. tus-tf

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 32 feet frontage by 80 feet deep (orchard planted with the choicest fruit and ornamental trees, on Talbot street. Apply to F. B. DOANE & Co. Gelid

COTTAGE FOR SALE.—ONE OF the most desirable cottages in New Brighton, having all the requirements of a first-class house, viz, fine height, good lane and out-buildings, well stocked with all kinds of fruit trees, vines, &c. Water carried all over the premises. To those who are desirous of purchasing a home, this is a rare opportunity. For further particulars address G. W. R. ADVERTISING COMPANY, London, Ont. 104tf

A GILT EDGE THAT DESIRABLE property, the homestead of the late William Reid, one mile south of Clark's Bridge, on the Second Concession, first class orchard. Land in first-class condition. Terms Reasonable. Apply on the premises, or to JOHN REID, Lot 20, 2nd Concession, London, Ont. 104tf

COTTAGE FOR SALE, CHEAP.—At Woodview Retreat, Westminster.—Plans at Office. tf

TO LET.

AN ELIGIBLE COTTAGE ON John street to let; has thy, commanding situation. Apply to C. W. KENT. K107

COMMODIOUS TWO STORY Brick House to rent, in Surley's Block, east end Fort Emportion, to 20 Dundas street, William streets. Possession given immediately. Apply to CROOTS & GARDINER, 86 Dundas st. tf

TWO-STORY BRICK HOUSE, on Alma street, formerly occupied by Gen. Montrenil; a frame cottage, corner of Alma and James street; also a frame cottage on Hughson street, to rent.—Apply to SMITH & Co or C. F. SMITH. tus-tf

ENGLISH LOAN COMPANY'S Building—Offices to let over the English Loan Company. Apply to the undersigned. A. MALLOCH, Secretary. tf

FOR RENT.—A FIRST-CLASS opportunity for a good shoemaker in the shop of Fort Stanley. Stock will be sold cheap. A bakery and flour store in connection, doing a good business. Plant cheap. Terms liberal. Apply to J. A. WEST, Ft. Stanley. K103

HOUSE TO LET.—A TWO-story frame house, with verandah, on the south side of Mill street, near Richmond, eight rms, good cellar, hard and soft water. Immediate possession. Apply at 57 Queen's avenue or City Clerk's office. 31Scodtf

TWO STORES ON RICHMOND street, in the Grigg House Block, to rent. For particulars apply to SAMUEL GRIGG. K106

LARGE FRONT ROOM TO LET. A large feet, over Sallay's Drug Store—suitable for office or a society. Apply on the premises. K94

TWO STORES TO RENT ON Richmond street—in the Grigg House Block. For particulars apply to SAMUEL GRIGG. K96

BOOKSELLER.

TO PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A Miller & Richard Flow Paper Cutter, in good order. Will cut 33 inches. Apply at FREE PRESS Office. tf

VANEER SEWING MACHINE (Wheeler & Wilson), with latest improvements, for sale cheap, as owner is about leaving London. Apply at Office of FREE PRESS. tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

BRING ALONG ALL YOUR OLD newspapers at once for wrapping paper, only 6 cents a pound for them, from JOHN SOM, shoemaker, Market Square, London, Ont. K97

CARPET WEAVING.—AS CLOSE as the closest, on warp as strong as the strongest, at prices as cheap as the cheapest, by workman as good as the best.—J. S FLEMING 186 Queen's. J30tf&w

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mrs. M. BIRD, the young artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be excelled in Canada. Factory—No. 315 Richmond st, London. J16tf

THREAPLETON, RAG CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 121 south carling street, between Richmond and Talbot sts. All orders promptly attended to. 31tf

COMPOUND.

EXHIBITION COAL AND WOOD YARD.—A good stock of coal, well screened and cut and split to suit the stove. Fine Kindling always on hand. Full bushel measure guaranteed. Cheapest in the city. Orders left at T. J. Malcomson's, corner Dundas street, or at the office, opposite No. 3 Police Station, Richmond street, will receive prompt attention. M. DONOHOE. J7

LEATHER AND TRIMMS.

GORDON KEER, IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, HAT AND SHOE FINDINGS, 194 Richmond street, London.

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6949

TRY
D. DOBO & BRO.,
Choice Family Groceries,
WINES, ETC.
SIGN DUNDAS STREET, 3 doors east of Colborne Hall.

MUSICAL.

DAYTON'S DANCING ACADEMY, 179 Dundas street, G DAYTON, Teacher. All fashionable dances thoroughly taught. Terms:—Private lessons, 4 Class every Tuesday and Friday, at 8 p.m. Hall to rent for Assemblies. Music furnished by Dayton's Popular Quadrille Band. ly

MEDICAL.

DR. J. H. GARDNER, L.R.C.P., London, England, physician, Surgeon &c., successor to Dr. Dupuis, Dundas street opposite Town Hall, Londonast. Essonlin

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHY. SICIAN, Surgeon, &c., graduate McGill College, Montreal, member Colleges Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. J26y

H. H. REEVES, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Edge block, Richmond street. G30y

H. MCLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office removed over Brock's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall. 198 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, Alley Offices, Dundas street.

L. MCDONALD, D.E., DENTIST. Office—Dime street, four doors south of Richmond st. over Davis's grocery store. Alley

R. A. BEEVES, B.A., M.D. Residence and Office: No. 32 SHUTER STREET, TORONTO. At Tecumseh House, London, FIRST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH.

HOTEL.

CLIFFORD.—M'DOALD HOUSE —New and elegant furnishing, lately completed with hot air furnace and approved ventilating apparatus. This establishment is designed for the accommodation of gentlemen. Travellers can now obtain accommodation equal to any afforded by the larger towns, at the same attention to all at tables. Excellent sample rooms. H109

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. R. F. HINCHE, Proprietor. 109tf

MCELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for 4 or 5 years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is first-class in every respect. Travellers' comforts carefully studied to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—J. DUNLOP. J92tf

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE, 70 AND 72 KING street, opposite Dundas street, Market Square, London, Ont. JOHN TROTTER, Proprietor. 1631y

THE ROYAL HOTEL, WOOD STOCK, F. RAUBER, Proprietor. Central commercial house. Free omnibus to and from all trains. Woodstock, Jan. 8, 1876.

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ONT. First-class in every commercial respect. Free omnibus to and from all trains. P. J. HENRY & Co., Proprietors. 109tf

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE Hotel and Bar-room, Dundas street, Arva. Ont. JAMES MARSHALL, Proprietor. 1641y

LEGAL

A. CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, &c., Edge Block, Richmond street, London, Ont. F31y

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office:—Corner Clarence and Richmond streets, London, Ont. EDWARD HARRIS, GEO. M. MAGEE, A. J. CLARKE

BUSINESS CARDS.

A. W. DAWSON, BSUEB OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent. Dundas street, opposite Baker's grove, London East. J30y

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Mortgage, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. K103y

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING DEPOT.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million and in town. Highest cash prices paid for second-hand clothing. W. YOUNG, 213 Dundas street, 5th door west of Wellington and Clarence streets. J8y

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for Cash by ROSSBURY, King street, two doors west of Market Square, Agent for and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets. Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. N.B.—Parties wishing to sell waited on, and letters to call attended to. 69dy

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. Removal.—J. MCKENZIE has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment and Part Emportium to 20 Dundas street, in A. J. Watson's old stand, P.S.—This is the only Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment Emporium of the city. Better facilities for repairing, and cheaper rates than ever. New Domett's Celebrated Machine on sale. ☞ A liberal discount to the trade. Wholesale and retail. 31Scodtf

SUPERIOR MATTRESS FACTORY.—Mattresses of all kinds kept on hand or made to order. Old Mattresses refilled and Feather Beds renovated by latest steam process.—JAMES HOWE, English Packing House, Talbot street. J7y

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has resumed business at the old stand, 89 Dundas street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. J7tf

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders—Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 343 Dundas st. F31y

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. SMITH, 350 Dundas street, near Albion Block.

JEWELERS.

T. C. THORNHILL, PRACTICAL Watch and Clockmaker, General Jobbing Shop, 393 Talbot street, late W. Mabell. Uncurling, Pianoforte and Jewellery repaired with promptness and despatch. Save fits! Gumming a specialty. K81y

GROCERS.

R. A. GALBRAITH, 697 RICHMOND STREET, Has on hand a good stock of Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Spices, etc., which he will sell cheaper cash. Remember the place. J31scodly

FOR GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS, and everything found in a first class Grocery, go to C. CLARK, corner of Dufferin avenue and Maitland street. Choice butter at 18c. Aftcdtf

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR Store on Egerton street, East side of G.W.R. Car Works. Carling's and Labatt's ale and porter on draught and in bottles. A call respectfully solicited. Carling's fresh ales.—JOHN MULLEN, Proprietor. 1641y

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, Importers and Wholesale Dealers in BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE, 382 AND 382 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON. Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. J31y

H. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS and Dealers in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils, Dundas Street, London, Ont. 1y

CONFECTIONERS.

LONDON EAST OYSTER AND Confectionery Saloon, nearly opposite the Post Office. During the season Oysters will be served in every style, regular from the city can supply. Call and satisfy your selves.—JOHN NIXON. 1641y OYSTERS AND CONFECTIONERY AT W. J. BOOTH'S, 19 LILLEY'S BLOCK, LONDON EAST.

TRY
D. DOBO & BRO.,
Choice Family Groceries,
WINES, ETC.
SIGN DUNDAS STREET, 3 doors east of Colborne Hall.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS A ten cent sample bottle of HARKNESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO. corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. Jlxty

The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.
WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.
Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).
Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.
WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.
London, Nov. 2, 1879. J31scodtf

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jly International House Dundas street.

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to REAL TOBACCOS.

TRADE MARK.

NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON, - - - - ONTARIO.

SMOKE
THE Old Man's Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
sodly
GEORGE F. JEWELL,
ACCOUNTANT,
INSURANCE AND COMMISSION AGENT.
OFFICE—No. 3 Oddfellow's Block, Dundas St. London, Ont. 2lscodtf

TURKISH BATHS!
Corner King and Waterloo streets,
LONDON - - - - - ONTARIO,
For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Kidneys, Liver, and for all Chronic Diseases. An experienced Matron has charge of the Ladies' Department. Medical and Surgical Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.
DRS. STREET & MCLAREN
FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS
T. H. FERGUSON & CO.,
Manufacturers of PURE WHITE WINE CIDER and MALT VINEGARS. Dundas street west, opposite Court House, London, Ontario.
T H FERGUSON, H ROBSON, J A SCHNEIDER J1261

NORTH END STORE
IS THE PLACE FOR
CHOICE FAMILY GROCERIES
AT MODERATE PRICES.
All Kinds of Poultry Below Market Prices.
Oysters received daily, at 35 cents per can.
GEO. SAVIDGE,
Nos. 739 and 741 Richmond st., London, Ont.

Essential Oils!
RECEIVED.
(4) Four Coppers Oil Lemon.
(2) Two do. " Bergamot.
(4) Four Tins " Myrbane.
B. A. MITCHELL.

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains
THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 76 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains. Vases and Flower Stands. TURNER & RUDDY.
RECEIVED THIS WEEK,
A LARGE STOCK OF TOILET GOODS
—AT—
CENTRAL DRUG STORE.
J. H. NASMITH & CO.
London, Sept. 20, 1879. tusly

AUCTION ROOMS.
ALEX. TYTLER
Has received Consignments of
New Goods.
AUCTION SALE THURSDAY AND SATURDAY, 11.30 a.m., 7.30 p.m.
ALEX. TYTLER, Auctioneer.

North End Coal and Wood Yard.
The subscriber begs to thank his many friends for past favors, and having purchased my late partner's share, I will endeavor, as heretofore, to give satisfaction and good measure. All accounts due the late firm must be paid at once.
GEO. MCNEIL.

FINANCIAL.
PREFERENCE STOCK IN THE Financial Association of Ontario can still be obtained at par from this Company by applying at the Office, Oddfellows' Building, London.—EDWARD LE RUEY, Managing Director.

KINGSMILL'S,
—THE—
Great Dry Goods House
OF THE WEST,
OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES
in various departments this morning.

Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool
FANCY FLANNELS.
Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American
CANTON FLANNELS
EMBOSSED
DRESS MATERIALS,
with Velvets to match.
BLACK
GROS GRAIN SILKS.
Ladies' Black and Drab
CLOTH JACKETS,
Berlin and Paris make.
All Wool, Twilled
CANADIAN
BLANKETS.
TABLE LINENS.
CASHMERE
AND OTHER
DRESS GOODS.
Received to-day, new shapes in
LADIES' DRAB
MOSCOW HATS.
To Get the Best Value for Your Money
GO TO
KINGSMILL'S.

For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,
GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

The Lord Mayor's Banquet.

Beaconsfield on the Situation.

He Proclaims "Power and Liberty" to be the Motto of His Government —Probabilities of Peace in Europe - Improvement in Trade.

London, Nov. 10.—At the Lord Mayor's banquet at Guild Hall to-night nearly 900 guests were present. Among them Her Majesty's Ministers, the German Ambassador, United States Charge d'Affaire, and Lord Chelmsford. The Ministers and Lord Chelmsford were greeted with cheers.

The German Ambassador, in replying to a toast, declared that none were more desirous than Germany and the German Emperor to see the peace of the world maintained.

Beaconsfield, rising to reply to the toast of the evening, the health of Her Majesty's Ministers, was received with three times three cheers. He said the aspect of affairs was much more satisfactory than when he last spoke on a similar occasion. Business was now being done which three months ago would have been deemed impossible. The only question now was whether the revival was temporary or permanent. The opinion of Her Majesty's Government was that the revival was of a permanent character. He thought the official returns demonstrated that fact, because they showed the revival was not local but universal. For instance, the great iron industry had doubtless in a great measure revived, owing to the demands from the United States, but the returns prove that the purchases of iron were not limited to the United States or the various European countries, but were occasioned by the miscellaneous demands of our native industries. Every article of tropical produce had risen in value. The chemical trade, which was a great index of prosperity, has been unable to execute its orders. The rise in the value of silver would in all probability relieve the Indian statesmen of one of their greatest perplexities. During the period of unprecedented depression there had not been a single meeting to express discontent with the national institutions. He wished that our brilliant brethren in Ireland would be a little more cautious of this example. Can they expect to suppress agitation and Irish people had brought themselves to believe that the best remedy for economical distress was political agitation and social confusion. (Loud laughter and cheers.) Doubtless there were portions of Ireland where there could be considerable suffering if a remedy was not offered. The Irish people should remember they were appealed to English sympathy in vain. It would be the duty of Her Majesty's Ministers to watch the condition of Ireland with the same anxiety as the condition of England. The Irish people should condescend to remember that their harvest, though bad, was not nearly as bad as the harvest of last year, and though they were much more depraved upon it than are the English people on theirs, still it was much better than the harvest of England.

Addressing the Lord Mayor, Beaconsfield said:—When I addressed your predecessor I informed him that the Government was contemplating large military operations in Central Asia, the object being to strengthen and render secure the north-western boundary of the Indian Empire. These operations have been signally successful, and British influence is fully established in Central Asia. (Loud cheers.) Here Beaconsfield warmly eulogized Lord Lytton and the avenging army in Afghanistan. Referring to South Africa, he said the recent war there taught the colonists something of the art of self-defence, on which they must in future chiefly rely. We are about to effect some changes there which will contribute to the increased happiness of the population amongst which the colonists live. As to external relations generally, I would say, notwithstanding Europe may be covered with millions of armed men, we have not merely the hope, but the belief, that peace will be maintained. In assuming peace will be maintained, I assume that our peaceful power would shrink from its responsibilities.

If the most extensive and wealthiest empire in the world, with a pervasive interpretation of its insular character, turns an indifferent ear to the feelings and fortunes of its colonists, I believe the country is endangered, and it is to such indifference that I attribute many fatal wars. But the feelings of the Princes of England are felt and heard in the councils of Europe. I have a conviction that peace will be maintained for a long time. (Loud cheers.) If England deserts her natural post in the councils of Europe, war will be inevitable. A celebrated Roman being asked, What was his policy? replied, "Imperium et Libertas." That is a short explanation, but it would not disgrace a British Minister, and it is one on which the existing Ministry will always act. In proposing your Lordship's health I shall this time next year, in all probability, have the pleasure of congratulating you on the success of the administration. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Sir Stafford Northcote also addressed the company. In the course of his speech he declared that the financial position of the country need create no alarm.

GREAT BRITAIN.

PAUPERISM IN IRELAND.

London, Nov. 9.—The Irish Local Government Board reports the potato crop everywhere deficient. This, combined with the absence of peat for fuel, owing to the rain, is regarded as the leading cause of distress, which is expected to culminate during the winter and spring. Pauperism is greatly increasing. The departure for America of Parnell, fixed for the 15th, has been postponed in consequence of the aspect of political affairs.

RUMORED CABINET DIFFERENCE.

It is rumored there are differences in the Cabinet, especially regarding the affairs of Afghanistan.

AN AMBITIOUS ATHLETE.

Robt. Carlisle Cornish, the pedestrian who has undertaken to walk from Land's End, England, to John O'Groat's house, Scotland, and back, trundling a wheelbarrow, arrived at Edinburgh on the return journey Friday. He stated that he will attempt to cross the Atlantic in a small pinnace.

SCHOUVALOFF'S RETIREMENT.

London, Nov. 10.—The Times says Schouvaloff will start for St. Petersburg in a few days. His retirement has long been anticipated, and will create no surprise.

A MUTINOUS CREW.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The crew of the British ship Cerings, (Capt. Gibson) from New York, Sept. 29, were arrested at Antwerp. The captain and mates tried several times to repress the insubordination, and the captain finally ordered the arrest of the ringleader, Kearney, of Liverpool. The crew resisted. The Captain seized a revolver, and the mutineers also armed themselves. The mate struck a man fatally with a hatchet—this restored order. The mate and five sailors are under detention.

THE LORD MAYOR'S PROCESSION.

The inaugural procession of the incoming Lord Mayor left Guildhall at noon on the way to Westminster. At the American Exchange a large number of Americans assembled to assist at the ceremony of the permanent unfurling of the American flag in London. Miss Emma Thursby sang "Star-spangled Banner;" others sang "My Country," "Yankee Doodle" and "God Save the Queen." Fourteen military and volunteer bands formed part of the show. The weather was fairly agreeable, and the Lord Mayor's procession was absent as usual; no special feature except that the crowd along the entire route vigorously hissed ex Mayor Whatman. The rooms of the American Exchange were filled with visitors. The exercises concluded with "Home, Sweet Home" by Miss Thursby, who sails to-morrow for New York.

FRANCE.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The wholesale of Philippart, the great defaulter, is still unknown.

A Desperate Siege!

The Chilians Lose 500 Killed and Wounded While Beleaguering Pisagua.

Paris, Nov. 10.—A telegram states that the Chilians in taking Pisagua experienced determined resistance from the Peruvians, and lost 500, killed and wounded.

AFGHANISTAN.

Yakoob Khan's Conduct — Close Watch on His Movements.

Calcutta, Nov. 9.—The Cabul and Jellalabad columns effected a junction on Thursday. The English troops are housed in the Shirpur cantonments. Winter is settling in very early. It has been discovered that on the night before the battle of Charasaib Yakoob Khan was visited by Naiab Mahommed, who commanded the enemy next day. All stated that the plan for his escape from our camp has been found out. Yakoob Khan is now, practically, a prisoner. All his attendants except four have been dismissed. A sentry is constantly on duty inside his quarters, and there is a strong guard outside. The mystery as to what has been done with the bodies of Major Cavagnari and his companions is still unsolved. Our relations with the tribes are assuming a more satisfactory aspect.

A leader of the Dacoits has been convicted of a conspiracy to wage war against the Queen, and sentenced to transportation for life. Ten of his accomplices were sentenced to ten years' transportation.

TURKEY.

Appointment of an Objectionable Grand Vizier.

Constantinople, Nov. 10.—The British Ambassador has protested against the appointment, just announced, of Kiamil Pacha as Counsellor and Under-Secretary of the Grand Vizier.

Kiamil was recently dismissed from the Governorship of Aleppo at the joint request of the English and French Ambassadors, because of his oppression of the Armenians at Zeitchun.

It is reported that Hafesh Pasha, Minister of Police, is the same whose punishment, jointly with that of Chevket Pasha, was demanded in Derby's celebrated dispatch, after the Bulgarian atrocities.

ANTI-BRITISH NEWSPAPERS.

Constantinople, Nov. 9.—It is stated that the Turkish newspapers have been ordered to desist from attacking England, under penalty of suppression.

DIPLOMATIC.

Constantinople, Nov. 10.—Prince Lobanoff informed the Minister of Foreign Affairs that he bears no proposals from Russia.

Server Pasha declared to Layard that the attacks of the Turkish press on England, are wholly unmerited.

The Austrian Ambassador at an audience with the Sultan, on the 15th inst., will present letters of recall.

CHICAGO AND GRAND TRUNK RY.

Half a Million Sterling Bonds Offered.

London, Nov. 8.—Subscriptions are invited by the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company for £500,000 sterling six per cent. debenture bonds at a fixed price of £94. The debentures are to be exchanged for first mortgage bonds on the entire line from Fort Huron and Chicago when consolidation of the several sections is completed. The bonds mature in January, 1900.

The Board of the new company consists of the Directors of the Grand Trunk Company. The prospectus issued by it gives full particulars of the line.

MOROCCO.

A Desperate Conflict—280 Persons Killed.

Madrid, Nov. 8.—A telegram states that two tribes in Morocco have had a desperate conflict. One hundred and ninety were killed on one side and ninety on the other.

London Money Market.

London, Nov. 8.—The Economist of this week says:—The rate of discount for bank bills, sixty-days, is 2½ per cent., and three months 2½ to 2⅝ per cent. and for trade bills, three months, 2½ to 2⅝ per cent. On the Stock Exchange there has been more business this week than last. Home railways advanced continuously until Friday afternoon, when a sharp relapse occurred in consequence of disquieting rumors. There has been a further rise in bank, mining, tea, steamship, and many other miscellaneous descriptions of shares. In foreigns, after the fears concerning the Paris settlement were removed, there was a fair amount of animation. Egyptians especially improved on the rumors of some sort of agreement with Austria. The action of England respecting Turkey did not affect the market. United States bonds were more in request, the promised redemption being regarded favorably. There have been many fluctuations in American railways, for the most part resulting favorably. The most striking feature in Colonial railways has been a rise in Grand Trunk stocks on the official notification of the purchase of a connection to Chicago. An issue of half a million six per cent. bonds is now offered at 94, redeemable in 1900, as part of the first mortgage of £1,340,000 on the three hundred and thirty miles of road, which are to be consolidated, under American laws, into a temporary company under the control of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, and to be known as the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company (limited).

FRANCE.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Government has sanctioned a lottery of $400,000 to be organized by a committee of journalists for the benefit of the sufferers by the floods in Spain.

Two sons of Phillipart have resigned as Directors of the Basque Europenne.

Marshal Canrobert, the Bonapartist candidate, was yesterday elected Senator, obtaining 316 votes out of 499; Bellamey, the Republican, obtaining only 126. Canrobert was elected as champion of the party of order and as a practical protest against Communist elections.

SOUTH AFRICA.

CHIEF SECOCOENI.

London, Nov. 9.—A Cape Town despatch, October 28th, says hostilities will be resumed against Chief Secocoeni if he refuses to submit to the British. Wolseley is on the road to Secocoeni's country.

Michigan Horrors.

Detroit, Nov. 10.—Albert Habrick, a German shoemaker, about 45 years of age, who has been employed for several years at H. Daudel's shop, No. 181 Woodbridge street, between First and Second streets, committed suicide at 20 minutes past 4 o'clock this afternoon by cutting his throat with a shoe knife.

Midland, Mich., Nov. 10.—Louis Molrao, living five miles from this city, on Sunday quarrelled with his wife, who called in Moses Marsh, a neighbor, for protection. Molrao chased Marsh to the latter's house, where he fatally stabbed Mrs. Legrew. Marsh went to her assistance and was also fatally stabbed by Molrao. Marsh then seized an axe and struck Molrao on the head, killing him. Molrao was insane.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A Hudson River Train Goes Over an Embankment—Mrs. Bland, a Canadian Lady, Injured.

New Hamburg, N.Y., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Collector Holcomb, of Morris, who was in the coach on the H. R. Railroad that went over the embankment on Friday night, and was severely injured about the head and shoulders, thus describes the situation:—"When the car finally stopped, after being dragged, I was thrown down upon my face. I endeavored to extricate myself, but could not walk up the steep incline, as the car was partly on one side. I heard a voice amid the shrieks and yells say: 'Get out of this all who can; a train will soon be on us, and you'll be killed.' I was partly blinded by the blood which flowed fast from the wounds in my head, and tried a third time to get to the door, but would have failed had not two gentlemen assisted me. I was then taken to the high ground overlooking the tracks, where I was joined by other passengers. We could hear the screams and groans below us and cries from the river, and I knew a car must have fallen into the water, as another was lying off the track next to the one we left, and the last one was not to be seen. I was afterwards taken to the palace car further up the road. I heard groans, and saw Mrs. Bland, of Canada, who said she had been taken from a coach which went into the river, her head badly hurt, and her clothing drenched in the river. "She was greatly frightened, and she said she had lost valuable articles. Her husband was with her. He was wet and cold, and in his bare feet, having unable to put his boots on since they were filled with water. There were twenty or thirty passengers in the car when it went over the embankment into the river, and she believed some of them must have perished. Two physicians on the train attended to the wounded. After all had been gotten out of the wrecked car we resumed our trip to New York. The accident was caused by a broken wheel."

A FEARFUL FALL.

A Stock Train Goes Through a Missouri River Bridge—Three Men Killed.

St Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—The west span of the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern RR bridge, crossing the Missouri River at St. Charles, fell last night with a stock train of seventeen cars, which, with seven men, was precipitated into the river. One car, with the conductor, engineer and fireman, was saved by the breaking of the connection between the cars. Three are dead and three badly injured. The men were recovered from the river.

The cause of the accident is not known, although there are several theories. The killed were: Josiah Wearen, a wealthy stock raiser, and President of the First National Bank, Malvern, Iowa; Mr. Hyde, a resident of Montana, and George Bamhart, brakeman, and Jno. Summer, drover, had a leg broken. Fred. Davis was slightly injured. J. M. Straten, a stock-raiser, sprang out on the floor of the bridge only a few feet from the chasm, and saw the caboose plunge down the awful abyss 80 feet. Charles Irwin, a brakeman on top of the caboose, went down with it, and was so terribly mangled that he died to-day. Before the coroner's jury to-day the conductor testified that he had taken many heavier trains across the bridge, and that the bridge was recently inspected and pronounced sound. The total loss will amount to $100,000.

The New York Election.

Albany, N. Y., November 10.—The Evening Journal claims the election of the whole Republican ticket, except Soule. The Evening Times claims the election of Pepper by 1,976 majority.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

A St. John, N. B., party of three drank gin and nearly died. There was strychnine in the fluid, but who put it there has not transpired.

In St. Catharines, a man named Cain was knocked down and robbed of $40. The perpetrators of the outrage have not been discovered.

On Saturday evening last Mrs. J. Sesmith, living about two miles from Berlin, fell shrieking down stairs, severely injured herself, from the effects of which she died in 24 hours. Deceased was an old and much respected resident.

During Sunday night the boot and shoe store of Stewart & Murray, Bobcaygeon, was entered by burglars, who stole a quantity of boots and shoes. Twenty seven auger holes were bored in the door before an entrance was effected. A quantity of silver lying in the cash drawer was untouched.

The proprietors of the Forsyth Iron Mines, in the vicinity of Hull, have obtained a lease for five years, at a fair price per ton of ore, to the firm of Church, Gee & Co., of Niles. Mich., who will work the mines extensively.

The firm sets to work immediately, and intends doing as much work as possible, and will employ 100 men.

A warrant was issued on Saturday night last by the St. Catharines police magistrate, against George Langley and Alfred Page, whiskey informers, who are now operating in Hamilton. The charge against them is perjury, the warrant being issued at the instance of Mr. F. Maloney, upon the advice of the Licensed Victuallers Association of Hamilton, who take charge of the case.

Some days ago a wealthy English farmer named Allan arrived by one of the incoming list of steamships at Quebec, en route to settle in the North-west. He had a number of cattle and about 100 very fine sheep with him, but on account of the embargo put on cattle by the American Government he was unable to take his live stock on to their destination, and they are now delayed at Levis. The owner left for Washington yesterday to endeavor to get a permit to take them through via Chicago.

A colored man named Henderson started a barber shop in Merritton lately. Two days after he had opened for business he received a letter warning him to clear out, as "we, the young men of Merritton, will not allow any nigger to live in Merritton." Nothing transpired until yesterday morning, when Henderson visited his shop and found it completely stripped of its contents of razors, towels, chair, &c. The chair was subsequently found floating in the canal. Where the goods are is not known.

Edward McAuliffe, a commercial traveller for R. Miller, bookseller and stationer, Montreal, has been detected in robbing his employer of goods to a large extent. McAuliffe obtained a credit for $400 worth of goods to start his brother in business in Guelph, and being allowed to fill the order himself, he forwarded more than twice the amount of goods charged to Guelph. The matter was discovered by another employe, who informed Mr. Miller in time to stop the goods in transit. McAuliffe has been in his present situation for years, and the utmost confidence was placed in his integr

The Free Press.

Tuesday, November 13, 1879.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LABOR MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Midnight Telegraphic Dispatches, is issued every morning, supplying the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western towns—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 2 o'clock a. m., also finds a place in the columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is ISSUED at 4 o'clock p.m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at TWO CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city, and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month	$ 50
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid	6 00

Send post offices or her when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention all subscribers wishing their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts made at following rates, per inch, in Daily:—

1 Day	$1 50	5 Days	$2 70	1 Month	$8 00
2 "	2 00	6 "	3 00	2 "	9 00
3 "	2 00	9 Weeks	4 20	3 "	12 00
4 "	2 40	13 "	6 00	6 "	20 00
		One Year			30 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted, METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page—First day 15c per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Births 25c, Marriages 50c, Deaths 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, headed, 25 cents a line; Advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1.20 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long time advertisements.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News, correspondence of interesting character is invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE LONDON FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly sealed and full postage paid to insure prompt delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless so requested, and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' names are invariably required; not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON, ONTARIO.

THE QUEBEC MINISTERS.

The Chapleau Cabinet are now fairly before their constituents, and the proud boasts of the Rouge party will be brought to an immediate test. If M. Joly has such a hold on the affections of the people, and if they have such unlimited confidence in his statesmanship and honesty, they may now show all three, and embarrass the new Government to such a degree as to render their retention of office difficult, if not impossible. One would think, on reading the Grit journals in Ontario that the friends of the defunct Government were so numerous and influential, that not a single member of the new Government could or would escape defeat. With a flourish of trumpets we are informed, that an active and well-organized opposition has been prepared in every one of the six constituencies. These will fight the battle on the line of the Council's action in the stoppage of the supplies, and on the score of M. Chapleau's Cabinet being of the nature of a coalition. Great things, too, are expected from the diversion which is to be caused in favor of M. Joly and his purchased majority by the defection of Mr. Tarte and the Canadien which he controls. Its feels that he has been overlooked in the formation of the Cabinet, and this soreness has driven him to the verge of opposition. He has selected for his special object of attack, M. Paquet, one of those who formerly supported the Joly Government, but who became convinced of the necessity of a change and of a stronger Government.

In the meantime, M. Chapleau shows himself worthy of the position he has gained. His activity, energy and sound judgment, of which he is displaying sufficient to encourage his friends and discourage his foes, seem destined to carry the Province along with him. In fact, there is not the slightest hope entertained by the Reds themselves, except it may be in the case of M. Paquet, whose change of party and whose falling off from the side of M. Joly may give the enemy a weapon against him, which will no doubt be used with some effect. It will be difficult to make the duty of a representative who takes such a course plain to the masses of the people, who are apt to look upon a defection of this kind as a political crime. However, this feeling will not be very widespread, as the interests of the Province clearly pointed to the necessity of a change of Government, and this necessity had become so plain to the mind of M. Paquet, that he saw his duty in the course he took.

In no portion of the Dominion has the possession of power and the prestige of office more influence among the people than in the Province of Quebec. This was made apparent in the election held under the patronage of Messrs. Letellier and Joly. Even the legitimate us of the position the present Government now occupy, and the patronage in their hands, will be a powerful factor in the coming elections. We feel convinced that M. Chapleau and his colleagues will make no improper, no corrupt use of those advantages, but their very possession will, in all doubtful cases, go far towards turning the tide in their favor. A Minister of the Crown has the advantage over an ordinary opponent in almost any case, but succeeding such men and such a Ministry as those lately forced to retire, the advantage is of a still more marked kind. Then the programme of the present Government has all the marks of sincerity and honesty, and cannot fail to recommend itself to the electors of those constituencies to whish the various Ministers now appeal. If the Dominion Government require the North Shore Railroad, and are willing to buy it, the transfer will relieve the Province of Quebec from heavy responsibilities, and enable them to effect the main point in the policy of M. Chapleau—bringing the expenditure and income to an equality. From the altered tone of the Grit press it is becoming doubtful whether any opposition at all will be offered to the return of the Ministers.

BANK OFFICIAL SALARIES.

A correspondent calls attention to the miserable salaries paid to bank officials, some of whom are asked "to keep up appearances" upon wages that can be easily distanced by a wood-sawyer. He sees in this unwise parsimony a cause, though not an excuse, for many of the defalcations and embezzlements that take place, and makes a palpable hit when he alludes to the plum pudding which general managers eat as compared to the skim milk served out to the subordinates. Any light upon the questions that have lately forced themselves upon the attention of the public in relation to bank defalcations is sure to prove acceptable.

THE COUNTRY BAD, THE PEOPLE WORSE.

Who is Mr. Carroll Ryan, that writes so sweetly in praise of Canada, in the Canadien Monthly for October? The world, we fear, has not gone well with him; the fair have not smiled upon him; his speculations have not been successful; and his liver would need looking after. Such a man deserves pity, but they who have to live in an atmosphere made gloomy, dismal and oppressive by his presence, are entitled to still greater sympathy. Many a pen has attempted to paint the present, and portray, by inspiration, the future of Canada, since the time when Confederation launched her on her course as the germ of a mighty nation; but it remained for the jaundiced vision of Mr. Ryan to see nothing in the material resources of Canada but bleak, barren, sterility; nothing in her laws and constitution but mischievousness and absolutism, and nothing in the moral element but selfishness, intrigue, rogery and corruption. According to the opinion of this remarkable gentleman, there is not one redeeming feature in the country, neither in the soil nor in those who tread it.

The desire of change and the restlessness that characterize the settlers in all new countries, where the means of carving out new homes are so plentiful and entail so little difficulty, are made to furnish a cause of complaint against the institutions of Canada, its social organization, and even its geographical position. Of the first it would be impossible to have anything worse; or, for an unfortunate people to be forced to live under a government and laws worse adapted to promote the happiness and prosperity, the enlightenment and morality of the people. We are foolish enough to pride ourselves on our having obtained and transferred to Canada the British Constitution in all its essential features, and this only so modified as to adapt it in its working to a new country. We have been accustomed to regard this system of government as less or more the pattern and model of every constitution in Europe and America, under which civil and religious liberty has been enabled to raise its head, and where the rights of man are properly or partially observed. Now let us see what this system of government really is, of which we possess a transcript and of which we have felt so proud.

"The British Constitution is an unfailing theme for the admiration of certain people who imagine that political wisdom could devise no better scheme of government; yet it is essentially one of faction and conspiracy, and in the form in which it has been transmitted to us, contains the worst elements of absolutism and oligarchy."

Our Canadians will not be surprised at say thing that may be said by this writer, depreciatory of the country or its people, after reading this. In describing the Canadian Constitution in action, Mr. Ryan may be said to divide the community into two distinct categories—the sharp politician or his agent, and the stupid electorate; or, in other words—the hawks and pigeons. The Canadian people are held up to scorn as the most sodden, Boeotian brood on the face of the earth, who suffer themselves to be cheated out of the right to exercise their franchise on their own convictions, and who are periodically led up to the ballot-box like so many sheep and puppies. Then there is the charge laid against Lord Dufferin, because he inculcated the doctrine, that the representative of the Sovereign ought to be guided by the advice of his ministers, and it is also made a charge against our system of Government in Canada, that in consequence of this doctrine, the Cabinet has become a coterie of thirteen oligarchs, untrammelled in will and uncontrolled in the exercise of power. We suppose this gentleman would prefer the rule of an autocrat, responsible to no power under heaven, to that of thirteen ministers responsible for their every act to the people of Canada through their representatives.

The system of government, it will be seen, is bad enough, but the legislation is still worse. "Our statute book," we are informed, "is encumbered with unjust, unequal laws, our system of taxation is an open violation of equity, our judicature 'it split up into almost innumerable jurisdictions which enable the rich to defraud the poor.' And again:—" The volumes of statutes, enacted since Confederation, occupy a large space in the library at "Ottawa, and it may be truly affirmed of "them, that they contain more useless, objectionably bad legislation, than ever was allowed to encumber the records of a civilized nation." Here is a compliment to the wisdom of the Dominion, but it may pass as the ravings of some straitlious person, who only knows how to condemn, not how to improve.

But passing to the material aspect of our country we find it still more hopeless and discouraging. Most of us have been under the fond delusion, that, let man be what he may in Canada, nature at least had smiled on our country. This originates in no over-wrought spirit of amor patrie on our part, since we have the testimony of hundreds of both friends and foes concurring in the statement, that the Dominion possesses almost everything necessary to make a great, flourishing and wealthy nation. But Mr. Ryan has discovered that Canada is only a miserable refuge for a miserable race. "A glance at the map of North America," he tells us, "shows that the Dominion extends across "the broadest part of the Continent, a zigzag shelf of mountains and prairie, devoid of natural boundaries from Thunder Bay to a few miles below the mouth "of Lake Ontario. It is barricaded on "the north by eternal winter and interminable ice, while the conterminous territory on the south is occupied by an unconquerable power determinedly hostile "to everything British and Canadian. To "those disadvantages must be added a climate which closes our ports against "commerce for six months in every year."

We fancy such a picture of Canada and the Canadians will be as new and amusing to the readers of the FREE PRESS, as good sense and justice are to the writer. He either knows little of Canada or he fails in being guided by the knowledge he possesses. We would recommend him to the unconquerable nation to the south of us, as his peculiar talents will be valued there.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial maintains that there is a fortune awaiting the man or woman who can devise a neat, cheap, tasteful package which will enable the tidy housewife and the careful dairyman to place before the public their gilt edged butter, all redolent with new-mown hay, and suggestive of cool springs, shady groves, rich pastures, and peace and plenty among clover blossoms and fragrant shrubs. A package is wanted that will protect the handiwork and pride of the dairymaid from the ruthless, greasy touch of the huckster and grocer's boy. The butter makers want to place their choicest butter, in its freshness, sweetness, and fragrance, in dainty pails and attractive form, on the table of their customers, unsullied by the defiling touch of the middleman. He may and must be their carrier, but the wants of the business will never be met until a neat, cheap, and tasteful butter package protects the butter in the transit from the milk house to the table of the consumer.

There never was such a drought as the present one in Texas since it became a State. Yet, that is the sort of place Mr. Mackenzie recommends Canadians to emigrate to.

THE COMING WAR IN EUROPE.

A well informed correspondent writing from Berlin on the subject of the hatred existing in Russia against the Germans, discusses the probable result of the agitation of the German-hating element now going on. He thinks it is ultimately bound to shape the policy of the Government. It is a well known fact that the Russian Grown Prince heartily detests the Germans, and that this has led to certain unpleasantness in the imperial family. All Russians whom this writer has ever met, hope and pray for the death of the Czar; their faces brighten as they speak of his age, disease and feebleness. Everything is hoped from the accession of his son; constitutional liberties, development of the immense resources of the Empire, the establishment of schools and universities, as well as all sorts of free institutions, which alone are needed to place Russia in the van of civilization. But the first step the new Emperor is to take in his great reform work will be to purge the land of Germans. As a Russian forcibly expressed it, "He will pitch them out." With this feeling on the part of Russians, a growth of years, the question of war with Germany is only one of time. Even now speculation is rife in regard to the way the different powers will range themselves in what it is supposed will be a general European war. The personal friendship existing between William I. of Germany and his nephew may possibly keep the nations at peace until the death of these two aged monarchs. Then, at the farthest, the two people will come together with a crash which will shake Europe to its foundations.

THE STEERAGE AGAIN.

The New York Commissioners of Emigration have been taking evidence in regard to the steerage accommodation of the National Line. One witness said:—"Fresh meat was served only three times during the 18 days the voyage lasted, although the contract called for it twice a week. The salt meat was of the worst kind I could eat it. It was not tainted, but was hard and gristly. The witness threw a piece to a dog, which refused to touch it. The bread and potatoes were good, and so were the tea and coffee, but the latter was not sufficiently sweetened. The salt fish furnished on Friday was not soaked before cooking. The witness' wife, being ill, could not eat the food set before her, and he was compelled to pay money to the steward and baker for better food. The hours set for meals were not observed, and the dinner was late many times in consequence, and was obliged to get it up with the refuse of the table. He complained to the steward, but to without effect. The fourth officer, Turner, was insulting and abusive to the steerage passengers. He descended with a mallet into the steerage in an intoxicated condition, and cursed and swore in a shocking manner, threatening to scuttle the ship and murder the passengers, and asserting that the Captain thought no more of those in the steerage than he did of a cargo of pigs. He also conducted himself in a scandalous manner with one of the women on board during the voyage. For getting drunk the Captain suspended him from duty for one day. The decks leaked so that the bedding was always wet. The leakage was occasioned by stress of weather. It seemed to be dirty water from the pantry. There was only one really rough night during the voyage. Then the water came down through the deck like a shower of rain. The hatches were not properly battened down on that occasion, and there were eight inches of water in the steerage. There were 48 adults in the steerage. The sexes were properly divided, and there was no friend room. Witness had no complaint to make on that score. The steerage, however, was very dirty. It was never scrubbed during the voyage."

Telegram:—People are wondering how it is that the Globe had not a word to say in regard to the National Thanksgiving. It had not a single word of thanks to give. Of course, it could not return thanks unless it was compelled to return thanks for. But its own columns have been filled with the great revival of trade and the return of commercial prosperity, after a protracted period of commercial depression. The trouble probably was that it could not make an acknowledgement of this without admitting that the present Government had something to do in bringing it about. And so, rather than say a word in favor of the Government, it was mean enough to cheat Providence out of what Providence was clearly entitled to.

Belgium proposes to settle all the difficulties arising from railroad freight and travel, by making a reduction of all the railways running through that country. In 1871 there were only about 1,900 miles of railway in all Belgium, and they were owned and managed by the Government. Since then private companies have built nearly 2,000 miles more, and it is this that it is proposed to concentrate in the hands of the State.

A Phase of our Lumber Export Trade.

THE TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA—THE BUSINESS THIS YEAR AS COMPARED WITH PREVIOUS YEARS.

Montreal Witness.

The Hochelaga lumber wharves present an unusually active appearance just now, owing to the approach of the end of the season and the desire of shippers to get their stocks away before the setting in of hard frost. As is perhaps generally known, the lumber shipped from Hochelaga is sent direct to South America, the chief trade being done at points along the Rio de la Plata River. The principal shippers are the Export Lumber Company (limited) of New York, who are among the largest exporters of lumber in the country, and who have an extensive depot at Hochelaga, wharves in New York, whence they send large cargoes to different parts of the world. Their business will, consequently, be a fair index of our exporting trade in lumber. The quantity shipped from Hochelaga by this firm to South America in 1878 amounted to 10,000,000 feet; this year, up to the 1st inst., the quantity had reached 12,000,000 feet, or 2,000,000 in excess, with a part of the season still to lapse. However, by comparing these figures with those of years gone by, it will be seen that our trade has

VERY MUCH FALLEN OFF

of late years. The quantity shipped from the Exporting Co.'s wharf in 1872 was 38,000,000 feet; in 1873 the quantity amounted to 36,000,000 feet, while in 1874, the commencement of the general trade depression, it fell to 16,000,000 feet. Besides this, a large proportion of the export of lumber by this firm goes via New York. During six months of 1878, for instance, the Company shipped not less than 5,000,000 feet from the Ottawa district through to their New York depot, and thence to the Rio de la Plata. There is evidently room for

A FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF DIRECT TRADE.

Why cannot all this lumber be sent by the St. Lawrence route is naturally asked. The reason is attributed by this exporting company to the heavy towage dues to be paid to reach this port, and the wharfage dues afterwards. So great are these charges that our reporter was informed that the Company have seriously contemplated the withdrawal of their trade by way of Hochelaga altogether. The wharf used by the Company at Hochelaga contains a frontage of 500 feet, while their New York wharf is four or five times longer, yet the charges are absolutely less at the latter place than at the former. However, the towage and wharfage charges at this port have been under the

CONSIDERATION OF THE BOARD OF TRADE,

and it is trusted that our Harbor Board, with the aid of the Government or otherwise, will be able to effect a reduction in harbor dues. So far as relates to towage, the mileage rates here are not higher than in New York, Baltimore and some other large shipping entrepots, but the heavy cost in the aggregates imply arises from the greater distance to be towed. To assure the future prosperity of this port it is necessary that the Government assume the expense of deepening the St. Lawrence channel between this port and Quebec, and relieve our Harbor Board of the necessity of levying heavy dues. The matter is now believed to be under the consideration of the Dominion Government.

..The editor of Once a Week feelingly advises ladies desirous of adding to their incomes to try anything but literature.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

Latest Notes by Telegraph and Mail.

ADVANCE IN COAL.

New York, Nov. 7.—Another rise in the price of nut and stove coal is reported today. The Delaware and Lackawanna Company advanced prices fifty cents per ton on all future sales, and has instructed its agents to make all further contracts on this basis.

GENUINE REVIVAL OF THE QUEBEC DEAL BUSINESS.

Quebec, Nov. 9.—The last 150 or three days have witnessed quite a brisk stir in the deal trade here, and the offices of those engaged in the business in this city show signs of returning activity. Merchants are in splendid spirits, and anticipate good business ahead. The demand now existing is believed to be genuine, and not due to any speculative spirit either in England or the United States. It comes from the South and from Great Britain, and it is said that nearly all the deals now in the Province are probably sold, and at a fair advance on last season's prices. Unless other production should be persisted in this winter another advance in price, with a fair demand, may be looked for next spring. England is taking principally three-inch and other inferior deals. Most of the Quebec mills have all the logs on hand which they require.—Globe

THE FRENCH VINTAGE.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Moniteur Vinicole estimates that the result of the vintage in nine departments of the southeast compares favorably with those of last year; in nine departments of the southwest the deficiency varies from a third to a tenth; in ten departments of the south and central region, over half; in nine departments of the western region, about two-thirds; in ten departments of the north and central regions, nearly two thirds; in ten departments of the northeastern and northwestern regions the deficiency is even worse. The loss in the champagne district by the failures of vintage is estimated at thirty million francs.

CANADIAN IRON.

Mr. Phillip Thomson, of Ottawa, has said a large quantity of iron ore to Mr. Jos. Robbins, of Cleveland. Mr. Thomson is proprietor of the Baldwin Iron Mine, in the county of Ottawa, and the opening of the mine will give employment to a large number of men.

LARD.

It is understood that a fair portion of the lard delivered on November contracts is being forwarded, and that some of it will probably fall into the hands of eastern refiners, who have made liberal contracts with merchants in the German markets at the recent advance. The stock has been reduced about 20,000 tierces, and the supply on hand may be estimated at 85,000 to 90,000 tierces.—Chicago Times.

CANADIAN CATTLE TRADE.

There is still a fair demand for good shipping cattle at from 3½c. to 4c. per lb., live weight, 2c. to 3½c. being paid by butchers. Alderman McShane, M.P.P., will load the Allan steamships Manitoban and Nestorian with cattle and sheep for the Big Isle markets. Thompson & Flanagan, of Toronto, will ship by the SS. Texas 120 head of good cattle for Liverpool, which will be taken on board at Quebec to-day. The SS. Dominion will also take on 250 cattle and about 700 sheep for Liverpool. Advices from England are favorable for the export of both cattle and sheep from here. At the New York live stock markets on Wednesday last, 627 Canada sheep, weighing from 73 to 128 lbs. each, were sold at from 4c. to 5c. per lb., and 1,029 Canada lambs, weighing 72 to 81 lbs. each, at 5½c. to 6½c.—Montreal Gazette.

CANADA SALMON IN ENGLAND.

Liverpool Post:—An experimental shipment of fresh salmon from Canada has just been made with every assurance of success in opening a new trade in food supplies. The salmon was caught in the Canadian rivers, packed in ice, transported across the Atlantic in the refrigerators of the Allan steamers, and landed in Liverpool in perfect condition. The fish are of large size, splendid symmetry, and equal in weight and soundness to the best produce of the Norwegian rivers. That they can be placed on the English market in excellent condition has now been proved by the receipt of several consignments, the principal of which reached Liverpool this week. No doubt the trade thus opened will become an important one. Large quantities of "canned" or preserved salmon have been discharged, the packing having been in fact hitherto there has been no attempt to import fresh fish. The present experiments have shown that there is no practical difficulty in doing so, and we hear of immense quantities being already prepared for the English and continental markets. The fame of the Canadian rivers for salmon is known to anglers, and the supply is practically unlimited in quantity as it is excellent in quality. The extent of the yield may be inferred from the fact that one packing house sixty or seventy feet. Should one of these ice steeples topple over the fate of the ship and passengers would be sealed. Captain Jones immediately rushed to the bridge. His first words were:—"My God, men, where are your eyes?" He was perfectly cool, and at once gave orders to back the engines. As the ship backed she listed to the starboard and dipped visibly at the bows, while the fields floated off like a great phalanx. The feeling that the ship was sinking caused several gentlemen to request Mr. Pierrepont, British Vice Consul, to urge the captain to have the boats prepared. This he promised to do, and one boat was lowered, after considerable delay, during which the first officer descended to make an examination. When he returned it was announced that the steamship was able to during the night. The examination showed the Arizona to be water-tight. The passengers assembled in the saloon, when the Rev. J. M. Ross suggested that prayers be offered. Hardly had the suggestion been uttered when the passengers knelt and joined in appropriate prayer. Then "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow," was sung with impressive earnestness. Heartfelt sobs, mingled with the chant, and tears stood in strong men's eyes. The night, though overcast, was clear. A passenger stated that the sailors on the outlook had admitted that they were not at their posts in the prow of the ship when the collision occurred. The excuse offered for this dereliction was that the forepart of the ship had been painted during the day. There is every reason to believe that had a proper outlook been maintained the Arizona's bows would have been swerved. A difficulty was experienced in launching the single boat which was lowered. Though the sea was calm, it was the universal conviction that had the Arizona sunk within an hour after the collision, not a soul would have escaped. The bow of the steamer was all smashed off, and the watertight bulk head proved the salvation of the ship.

Striking an Iceberg.

Fuller Particulars of the Narrow Escape of the Arizona.

The Steamer Saved by Its Water-tight Compartments.

St John's, N. F., Nov. 10.—When the steamship Arizona struck the iceberg on Friday night many gentlemen were in the smoking room selling pools on the number of miles the vessel would run the next day. Suddenly a crash came and sprawled half the occupants of the room upon the floor. In the saloon at the same time a lady was playing accompaniments to the glee, "See our Oars with Feathered Spray," which was being sung by the ladies and gentlemen. In the midst of the song the shock threw the occupants of the saloon violently from their seats. Miss Kiddie, of Kincardine, Scotland, was thrown violently across the cabin, sustaining severe internal injuries. On deck the scene was full of terror. Groups of passengers were gathered together, expecting every moment to be engulfed. Towering above the vessel's prow was the huge, shadowy mass of the monstrous iceberg, stretching five hundred feet across the bows. Three tall pinnacles rose sixty or seventy feet. Should one of these ice steeples topple over the fate of the ship and passengers would be sealed. Captain Jones immediately rushed to the bridge. His first words were:—"My God, men, where are your eyes?" He was perfectly cool, and at once gave orders to back the engines. As the ship backed she listed to the starboard and dipped visibly at the bows, while the fields floated off like a great phalanx. The feeling that the ship was sinking caused several gentlemen to request Mr. Pierrepont, British Vice Consul, to urge the captain to have the boats prepared. This he promised to do, and one boat was lowered, after considerable delay, during which the first officer descended to make an examination. When he returned it was announced that the steamship was able to during the night. The examination showed the Arizona to be water-tight. The passengers assembled in the saloon, when the Rev. J. M. Ross suggested that prayers be offered. Hardly had the suggestion been uttered when the passengers knelt and joined in appropriate prayer. Then "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow," was sung with impressive earnestness. Heartfelt sobs, mingled with the chant, and tears stood in strong men's eyes. The night, though overcast, was clear. A passenger stated that the sailors on the outlook had admitted that they were not at their posts in the prow of the ship when the collision occurred. The excuse offered for this dereliction was that the forepart of the ship had been painted during the day. There is every reason to believe that had a proper outlook been maintained the Arizona's bows would have been swerved. A difficulty was experienced in launching the single boat which was lowered. Though the sea was calm, it was the universal conviction that had the Arizona sunk within an hour after the collision, not a soul would have escaped. The bow of the steamer was all smashed off, and the watertight bulk head proved the salvation of the ship.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

CANADIAN CURRENCY.

There were 48 deaths from small-pox in Ottawa during the past three months.

Id the case of Valin vs. Langlois, in the Montmorenci election case, the appeal was dismissed. This prevents Valin from entering a counter petition.

Application has been made for the incorporation of the Canada Pacific Express Company, to carry freight, etc., over the Canada Pacific Railway; capital, $50,000.

The investigation into the charges of irregularity and drunkenness against Hide Inspector Armstrong in Toronto, opened yesterday morning at the Deputy-Receiver-General's office.

It is understood Sir John Macdonald will, in consequence of the recent decision in the Nova Scotia Great Seal case, confirm the appointment of Q. C.'s by Provincial Governments.

It is said that the decision of the Supreme Court in the matter of jurisdiction for the trial of contested elections by Provincial Superior Court Judges will be carried to the Privy Council by a Quebec gentleman.

In the Supreme Court yesterday the appeal in the North Ontario election case was dismissed, the hearing having occupied three days given, in which the appellant should notify the respondent that the case was selected, was statutory, and should not be over-ridden.

An inquest was held at the Toronto Hospital yesterday morning on the body of an old man of seventy, picked up on Jarvis street in an unconscious condition a few days ago and brought to the institution. A verdict was returned of "death from apoplexy."

The Indians at Williams' Lake, British Columbia, are reported starving. Their chief publishes a pathetic appeal to Her Majesty, stating that they have been deprived of the means of livelihood by the whites, and asks relief, saying that the young men will not starve in peace.

A French Canadian named Corner, a moulder, fell dead in Mr. James Armstrong's store, Yonge street, at 8.30 this morning. Coroner Riddell examined the body, but did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest, as death was evidently caused by heart disease superinduced by rheumatism.

The Wimbledon team is now completed by the addition of two names from British Columbia. The two British Columbian marksmen are Sergt. Kennedy, who at the Provincial match scored 115 and takes the third place on the team, and Private F. Sargeson, who scored 107 and takes the sixteenth place on the team.

A mysterious case, which looks very much like an attempt to conceal the death of a child, is reported in the east end of Toronto. A young child of a German peddler is said to have died very suddenly last Tuesday night, and to have been mysteriously carried off in a cab the next morning—no one knows where. The mother was heard to say to the father while talking about the matter:—"You know what you did." She was frantic about the child's death, and told as acquaintance she could never forgive herself.

..Mars will be in opposition on the 12th inst. Professor Asaph Hall tells that the outer satellite of Mars is almost exactly in the place computed from the elements of the observations of 1877. "You may say that it is so near the place that we cannot tell until the observations are reduced what the correction will probably be. The inner satellite comes to its elongations forty-four minutes before the computed times. But as it has made about 2,450 revolutions around Mars since 1877, the correction of its periodic time is about minus one second. So that is also very near the computed place." I think it is possible that these satellites may be seen in the opposition of Mars in December, 1881, with some of the largest telescopes. But they will be very faint then. Mars will be a good way from the earth." "Just now considerable attention is being given to Jupiter. An immense pinkish colored spot has appeared on his face. We don't know what it is, but it is expected that it will furnish the means for determining accurately the time occupied by the planet in his revolution. Professor Pritchard, of Missouri, has been devoting himself to this work for some time. Saturn is now also becoming an object of great interest. His rings are opening up, and for a long time he will be the most beautiful object in the heavens. On the whole, it is rather an active period for astronomical research generally."

..In a country parish in Scotland, not many years ago, a town clergyman, who was officiating for his clerical brother, wished to be assured by his own eyes that his gown and ide were in perfect order before he ascended the pulpit. With this view he asked the beadle if he had not a glass to give him. "Weel, no," replied John, "but I'll soon get one for ye, sir. Imagine the surprise and horror of the gentleman when John returned with a pewter measure in his hand, and placing it before the worthy divine, informed him that he had been quite unable to procure a single "yaise," but that he had brought him a half mutchkin instead, "which," he naively added, "wad maybe dae as weel."

..Prince Leopold, Queen Victoria's youngest son, has been opening a collegiate establishment at Sheffield bearing his name. On the banners preceding him he was styled the "Scholar Prince." While wearing the insignia of the other Princes, I scarcely devotes his intellect to words of peace.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Desirable Building Lots for Sale

WILL STREET,

second west from William, 33c, 66 or 45 feet frontage (to suit purchaser) by 120 feet deep. Is well fenced, and planted with shade trees; good well on it. Apply 12 St. Clair Crescent, Dundas street, London—East, opposite factory street, for further particulars. Will be offered for sale till 18th inst. only. Kilwood

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

BOYS' OWN PAPER, SUNDAY-AT-HOME, AND LEISURE HOUR.

$1.50 per year, in advance, or 15 cents per number for 1880. Postpaid on receipt of price.

W. ALLASTER,

sodly London East.

NOTICE.

ALL PARTIES HAVING CLAIMS against the Estate of the late J W KELLY are requested to present them to the undersigned on or before the 1st day of December.

W. KELLY,
ED PALMER, } Executors.

London, Nov 10th, 1879. Kl1dh

TEACHERS WANTED.

NEWBURY SCHOOL.

APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED by me

Up to the 25th of November,

For first or second-class MALE TEACHER for Senior Division, and second or third-class FEMALE TEACHER for Junior Division, stating salary and enclosing testimonials.

JOSEPH B. KELLY, Sec.

Newbury, Nov. 10th, 1879. Kl1e-tofnf

Chest Protectors,

FOR THE PREVENTION OF

THROAT & LUNG DISEASES

ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO those who are liable to Coughs, Colds, Consumption.

All those who have weak chests should wear them.

CHAMOIS SKINS—a full supply.

B. A. MITCHELL & SON,
114 Dundas street West, north side,
LONDON, ONT. dly

Dr. M. Forster,

CHEMIST & DRUGGIST,

Hicks' Block, London East.

DRUGS,

ALL FRESH, AND OF BEST QUALITY

Combs, Hair Brushes, Toilet Soaps and Perfumes.

☞Dr. Forster will superintend the business in person. Kllsedvn

For Manitoba!

The undersigned will start a

Special Fast Freight Train for Winnipeg,

on

Monday, the 24th of November,

And will personally conduct

A PASSENGER PARTY

To same destination

On Tuesday, the 25th of November,

Leaving Paris at four p.m. Parties intending to go or having freight had better write to me at once.

R. PATTERSON,
Town Agent, G W R. Paris.

Paris, Nov 7, 1879 Kl2v-dmw-at

MECHANICS' HALL

POSITIVELY BUT ONE NIGHT.

Tuesday Evening, Nov. 11th.

Chas. H. Duprez.....Manager.

Extraordinary Announcement. Twenty-eight years of continual triumph. Announcing the first appearance in this city in four years.

Dupuz & Benedict's Famous Minstrels

And Royal Arena Band.

21	IN NUMBER
3	ACCOMPLISHED VOCALISTS
16	IN BAND PARADE
12	IN FIRST PART
2	GREAT SONG AND DANCE ARTISTS
14	CELEBRATED MUSICIANS
4	BURLESQUE PRIMA DONNA
1	COMICAL END MEN
5	REMARKABLE EQUESTRIENNE
3	POPULAR FAMOUS COMEDIANS
2	ECCENTRIC CLEARING DANCERS
2	BRILLIANT CLOG STARS
10	VARIED FEATURES OF MERIT

Prefactial scale of family prices adopted. Tickets only 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seats on sale at A S Murray's. Kbv

The Canadian Tariff

POCKET EDITION.

Classified and Alphabetically Arranged, with Interpretation Clauses, the whole carefully Corrected to Date.

PRICE, TEN CENTS.

W. L. Carrie,

STATIONER,

417 Richmond Street.

London, November 7, 1879. dly

RHEUMATISM

CURED IN 12 HOURS.

Brunton's Rheumatic Absorbent

IS WARRANTED TO GIVE

IMMEDIATE RELIEF;

and effect a permanent cure in 12 hours. Sold by all druggists.

PRICE.....50 CENTS

—MORE—

NEW GOODS.

6 cases French China Cups and Saucers.
2 cases French Playing Cards.
1 case French Foreign Note.
3 cases Figured Window Shades.
3 cases Odd Sizes of Envelopes.
1 case Toy Castors.
3 cases New Toys.
3 cases Walnut Writing Desks.
1 case Photograph Albums, cheap grades.

&c., &c., &c.

At Bryce's Depots

168 and 215

DUNDAS STREET, LONDON, ONT

SKATES

ACME.

BARNEY & BERRY.
UNION HARDWARE CO

Full stock, all sizes and cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips

Will not crack or harden in coldest weather keeps out cold perfectly and saves fuel.

T. HERBERT MARSH,
HARDWARE MERCHANT,
151 Dundas St, London.

Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats, Fine Overcoats,

FINE ULSTERS,
FINE ULSTERS,
FINE ULSTERS,

Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes, Fine Ulsterettes,

In all the newest and most fashionable goods, made and trimmed equal to custom work. Don't pay merchant tailors high prices for Overcoats made to order. You can save from $5 to $15 by buying from us, get as well made and trimmed a garment, and in many instances a better fit. Our stock is immense and our assortment unequalled. We are showing very nobby Ulsters and Ulsterettes at $10, $12 and $15. Special attention is called to our elegant Reversible Overcoats, two coats in one, the nobbest garment of the season. Come and look at them.

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 & 130; and Gents' Furnishing Dept. 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT, - - - - - MICHIGAN

Sales by Auction.

CREDIT AUCTION SALE!

TUESDAY, NOV. 18th, 1879.

Household Furniture!

MELODEON, STOCK, &c.

MANVILLE & BROWN will sell, opposite St. Luke's Church, Hamilton Road, the following contents:—Parlor suite in hair, table, curtains, tapestry and other carpets, walnut bedroom sets, extension table, chairs, lounge, melodeon (piano case), sewing machine, base burner, cooking stoves, &c.; one handsome chestnut mare by Grey Norman.

Sale at 10 a.m. All sums under $15 cash; above that sum, credit for 12 months, on approved joint notes. No reserve. The articles are of a superior quality, and carefully preserved. Kllw-awan

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875

AND AMENDING ACTS.

In the Matter of George J. Amest, of Brussels, an Insolvent.

BY INSTRUCTIONS, I WILL offer for sale by Public Auction, at my office, in the village of Brussels,

On Thursday, Nov. the 13th, At 4 o'clock, the Stock and Shop Furniture of the above insolvent, as a whole or in the dollar, amounting, as per inventory, to $1,450 98.

Glassware, Crockery, Earthen and Stoneware	$297 41
Groceries	566 91
Shop Furniture	343 33
Boots, Wagon, Sleigh, &c.	292 43

The above stock is nearly new, well assorted and in good condition. There is a good opening for a grocery man in Brussels. Brussels is well situated, G W R. The stock can be taken any day up to the time of sale by applying to the undersigned.

Terms—Half cash; balance in three months, secured to the satisfaction of the assignee

CROFTS & Co

Cheapest House in Town

—FOR—

DRY GOODS

CHATHAM, ONTARIO.

Chatham, Nov. 7, 1879. 918in

The Free Press.

Tuesday, November 11, 1879.

RUPERT GODWIN.

Mrs. Trevor's brow darkened; but she could not oppose the wishes of the baronet, who was a privileged person in that house.

"Will you persuade her, Mrs. Trevor?" he said. "I feel that my entreaties will be useless. Pray ask Miss Westford to sing."

The widow complied, and resumed all her sweetness of manner as she requested Violet to grant the baronet's request.

Poor Violet was much too single-hearted to understand the sudden anger raging in Mrs. Trevor's breast. She was entirely without artifice, and she consented to sing directly she was asked.

She sang one of Thomas Moore's sweetest and most pensive ballads. "Oft in the stilly night" and again the eyes of almost every listener were wet with tears.

Her own eyes were filled as she remembered how often she had sung that ballad in her happy home, in the pleasant summer twilight, after dinner, or in the winter dusk, when her lost father was near to listen and admire. Sir Harold Ivry saw those dark blue eyes fill with tears, and he saw that it was only with a struggle that Violet could control her emotion.

He bent over her chair to thank her at the conclusion of the song.

"But I fear the ballad has melancholy associations," he added, in a lower voice.

"It has, indeed; for it recalls the dear father I have lost, and the memory of a home that is deserted."

"It is for your father, then, that you wear that mourning dress! Oh, forgive me if I appear inquisitive. I am so deeply interested in all that concerns you."

Violet looked up at the baronet with a glance of innocent surprise. She was entirely without vanity, and she could not imagine why Sir Harold should be interested about her.

"Yes," she answered, sadly; "I am in mourning for my father—the best father who ever made his children's life happy."

No more was said; for Anastasia was about to sing again, and Violet was required at the piano.

Half an hour afterwards the crowd began to grow thin, and Violet obtained permission to retire. It was already past two o'clock; little fancy or coquetry had not begun until eleven, and the poor girl was anxious to return to the cheerless lodging, where her mother was doubtless waiting up to receive her.

Violet noticed a peculiar stateliness in Mrs. Trevor's manner as that lady wished her good-night; but she was too tired even to wonder about that circumstance. She left the room very quietly, and went down to the hall, where she had left her cloak and bonnet in the care of one of the servants. She had refused to incur even the expense of a cab to bring her to Mrs. Trevor's house, for the luxury of a cabman vehicle would have cost half a week's salary. She had preferred to hide her stupid evening finery under her old black cloak, and to make her way to the villa on foot.

She had just put on her bonnet and cloak, when a light footstep sounded on the stairs, and in the next moment Sir Harold Ivry stood before her.

"I hope you will allow me to see you safely home, Miss Westford," he said, with profound respect in his tone and manner. "I know you are alone here, and it will give unbounded pleasure to confide you safely to your home."

Violet blushed for in the happy days that were gone, she had been accustomed to be handed to her carriage after a party or a ball.

She could not help feeling some touch of shame—false shame, if you will; but after a momentary conflict of emotions, she answered boldly: "You are very kind, Sir Harold; but I am going to walk home, and I believe my brother will be waiting for me, so pray do not trouble yourself on account of me."

"Your brother!" exclaimed the baronet, who was unable to conceal his disappointment. "Then in that case I must surrender you to one who is the best possible right to protect you. But at least you will allow me to conduct you to your brother."

He offered Violet his arm as he spoke, and she felt that she could not refuse to take it.

Sir Harold did not escort her very far, for Lionel was waiting at the end of the terrace, and to his care the baronet was compelled to resign his precious charge.

We often lose much real delight even at first sight, and certainly Sir Harold Ivry seemed to have fallen a victim to that sudden fever.

Violet could not do less than introduce him to her brother; and for some little way they all three walked on together, while Sir Harold doing his best to make himself agreeable to Lionel.

It was a bright summer night, and a full moon was shining high in the cloudless heaven. Even London, so dingy in the usual aspect, looked romantic and even by that soft, silvery light.

But as Violet looked at her brother, a pang shot through her heart, as she compared his worn and shabby attire, with the opulence of the richly-dressed baronet.

Lionel Westford still retained his gentlemanly bearing, but the awful stamp of poverty was upon him. He knew that there was wrong, as she remembered the gay, dashing, young Oxonian, to whom life had been one long round of pleasure, and now by no border toil than the study of an obscure passage in Euripides, or a week's training for the University boat-race.

It seemed as if that moonlight walk through the streets of London was a most delightful thing to Sir Harold, for he went on and on, until they were drawing near to Walton Bridge, when he suddenly said, "I say good night, feeling that his companions might not wish him to know the humble quarter of the town in which they lived.

He had seen enough to understand that Violet and her brother had sunk from prosperity to poverty—poverty of the sharpest and bitterest kind, the poverty that must conceal itself under the mask of gentility.

He lingered as he wished Violet good-night. It seemed as if he could scarcely tear himself away from her.

"I shall never forget your song," he said; "it is ringing in my ears still—I shall never forget it, but I hope to hear you sing again."

And then he was compelled to say good-night, for Lionel Westford's manner repelled any approach to intimacy. Poverty had made the young man proud. He, to whom pride had once been an unknown sentiment, was now almost haughty in his manner to strangers.

To be continued.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng."

mtwdw

...A story is told of an old coachman who appeared before his employers one day to request that his next livery great coat should be made with a single breast and fewer buttons. The request excited some astonishment. "Bless my heart," exclaimed the gentleman, "what can that be for, George?" "Well, sir," was the reply, "when we times at D——" (a neighboring squire's), "we be always forced to drink a horn of beer for every button we has, and there I should do it well enough now, and get to, but three, I be growing old now, sir, you know, and my poor old head won't stand it no longer."

NEW YORK SHOPPING NOTES.

A Rembrandt velvet hat is a study of shading, with strings of peppery changeable silk, wreath embroidered in beads in the same tints, and plumes changing from olive to bronze.

A bonnet recently shown is of Rembrandt velvet with wine-colored satin bandeau, and two narrow satin strings on each side of old gold and wine-red satin and velvet.

Imported owls' heads for hats are selling as low as three dollars each. The latest fancy is to arrange three or four humming birds' heads and wings in a rosette on the side of a round hat.

A noticeable round hat of black velvet with shirred satin brim is a turban at the back, with a grandoi panache of feathers, while the narrow front slopes over the brow, with a four-looped satin bow for trimming.

A few very large scoop bonnets, trimmed with pinch gauging, are seen, and suggest the possible return to the enormous puffs and fur-trimmed poliness which used to accompany them, and are really needed to match such head gear.

The fashion of gaolots and pendant fringes of jet on the edge of bonnets is revived in winter millinery. This softening ornament is so generally becoming that it will lead the way for the fall of black lace around the face, once a peculiar and expensive style.

Peacock jet is the newest millinery ornament seen on bonnets. Its beads and spangles reflecting the changing hues given and bronze of the peacock's neck and breast; long dark plumes are tipped with it, with excellent effect, and bonnet crowns and brims are embroidered with it.

A broad pearl-edged ribbon of old style comes with large distinct palm-leaves brocaded in Etna red and gold on white or black grounds, or black and gold on red grounds. The latest brocade ribbons show a bold lozenge and oval pattern in silver or gold, running across the Sue Fersian figuring. Heavy wide ribbons are double-faced with plush and satin de lyon.

The Rembrandt brown, a shadowy amber, and black olive velvet are to favor for handsome bonnets, these colors going well with fashionable shades of dress, while they are not trying to the complexion, like bronze and myrtle greens. Etna and marigold yellow are worn as face-trimming with the Rembrandt velvet, and pearl-gray shades or brown and purplish cashmere trimmings with the olive, which is almost black.

A handsome bonnet has fine rice jet embroidery on not over black satin, in diagonal stripes, with tiny Marguerites between, a small flat wreath of ostrich curls and mount clips in front. In contrast to this a cream white felt has the brim embroidered in large cashmere beads with gold thread veining, a puff of ostrich plumes for side trimming, with wide strings of white royale and satin-faced ribbon, and shirred facing of geranium plush, closely drawn.

MUSICAL GOSSIP.

Verdi is rearing horses on his farm. He names the foals after the heroes and heroines of his operas.

A tenor who wishes to say his bark is on the rocks sometimes finds it on a river instead, the D in fact.—London Figaro.

A new operetta, text by Gilbert and music by Clay, thus sings writes to "follow" Pinafore" at the New York Standard.

The young Brazilian violinist, Dangremont, has created a great sensation in London. He is only a little over twelve years of age.

An advertisement recently appeared in a New York paper for a first-class soprano for an Episcopal church, offering the princely salary of $150 per annum.

The London World states positively that Miss. Gerster will not visit America this season. This leaves but for the Mapleson opera season, which has not been time far any too successful.

The Chicago Times has discovered that Max Strakosch employs an experienced dismond thief, who travels with his company, and regularly robs the prima donna in each city visited.

Pasdeloup, the Paris orchestra conductor, is going to make a concession to the religious prejudices of the English and Americans who are conscientiously opposed to Sunday amusements, by admitting them to the rehearsals of his popular concerts on Saturday morning.

From an interview with Charlotte Patti in the Albany Morning Express she is Adelina now!" Giving a most expressive shrug of her shoulders which, together with the answer, our reporter must construe to suit themselves, Mme. Patti said:—"How should I know? May be in London."

Pauline Lucca is an obstinate anti-Wagnerian. Some years ago, piqued by the instructions of the critics that she was incompetent to interpret the operas of Wagner, she did learn the part of Elsa and sang it superbly. But, having come proof of her capability in this direction, she has ever since refused to sing in any Wagnerian opera.

The Adventures of "Handsome Billy."

We really cannot vouch for this story of "Handsome Billy," but other people do, and it is strange enough to attract much head unless.

"Handsome Billy," otherwise known as William Freeman, rented a farm, in red trails, and which, unfortunately is not imperfectly known. Leaving Battleford, six hundred miles west of Red River, the six hundred miles west of Red River, the first part of July, Prof. Macoun proceeded southwest, and after a laborious but otherwise pleasant trip, reached the sand hills on the 19th of August. The country south of Battleford for about forty-five miles was found well suited for agricultural purposes, the remainder of the distance the land was very much broken. Water was abundant, but no wood was seen for ten miles south of Battleford until the Red River, Thence to Blackfoot Crossing of the Bow the land found not a hilly character, but considerably drier. At the Blackfoot Crossing he found that wheat, barley and roots, and all kinds of vegetables, had been successfully grown this year by Mr. Gaudet. From Blackfoot Crossing to Calgary the land generally was first class, much better on the south side than on the north side. Calgary is beautifully situated in the midst of an exceedingly fertile region, as shown by the crops there under cultivation. The good land continuously twenty miles westward from Fort Calgary, when it becomes broken, with the land in many places gravelly. Up to Morleyville and vicinity there is much rich land here, yet it is not considered an agricultural region. For stock raising, however, it is unsurpassed by any place in the Northwest, and this not on account of the superiority of its grasses, but of its climate. The grasses in the vicinity of Morleyville are precisely the same as those found all on the prairie as far east as Fort Elliott and north as Battleford. The Chinook wind that blows over this region, being both dry and warm, melts and evaporates snow at the same time, so grass does not rot during the winter, but remains fresh and nutritious; hence cattle keep in good condition all winter. North of the Neutral hills, and west of Battle River, much of the land is sandy, and comparatively meters. To sum up, at least 80 per cent of the land passed over is suited for grain raising. The great drawback to the country south of Battleford is the absence of timber. No wood was seen from a point ten miles south of Battleford, except in the valleys of the Red Deer and Cow Rivers, until the foot of the Rocky Mountains was reached; and the best of the country north from Morleyville to Hay Lakes is alleged without wood. This, however, is compensated for by the undoubted presence of unlimited quantities of excellent coal in the greater part of this treeless region. This coal was thoroughly tested in many campfires of the party, and found to burn with clear flame, and to leave no residuum but ash. Bone River and the country on its banks are the most charming in the whole northwest. The river itself winds through a beautiful valley. Its waters are very clear, and not subject to great floods, and swarm with very fine fish, three species of trout, especially. The professor states that though he met many bands of starving Indians, and was often in camps where food was a phenomenon, the smallest article, either of food or otherwise, was never stolen, although the camp was left unguarded while he was away on exploration; and when he entered the Blackfoot reserve, at the ration station, though not an ounce of food was within the limits, there was no special importunity for food. Indeed, it was only on the forenoon of the second day of his stay that he learned from Crowfoot, head chief of the Blackfoot nation, their extreme destitution. The chief pointed out a gaunt Sioux squaw at the door of a tent, and said he had two children dying of hunger, and numerous others in the same state. Actual examination proved the truthfulness of the story. A little flour was given in each case to alleviate the sufferings of the starving ones, and a promise given to Crowfoot that all supplies except enough to take the party to Fort Calgary would be given them in the evening. Word reached camp that buffalo were coming, when in a few minutes fifty men were in the saddle and fording the stream. In the evening six carcasses were brought into camp, and a feast followed such as had not been enjoyed in many a day. The Professor states emphatically that the starvation of disaffection of the Blackfeet, Sarcees and Mountain Stoneys are untrue. The two former tribes have been in a state of semi-starvation for nearly a year, yet all the time he was in the south he never heard of any overt act of violence or robbery being committed.

Capt. Denny, in charge of Fort Calgary, states positively that the Blackfeet and Sarcees have been swarming around him all summer, but never overstepped the bounds of quiet submission, and although constantly applying for food they never attempted to slaughter any cattle grazing around them.

SCOTTISH NEWS.

The Clyde Shipping Company have just accepted the tender of Messrs. William Simons & Co., Renfrew, for a steamer of about 1,000 tons. The new vessel is for the Irish fleet. We are informed that a shipbuilding firm in the east end of Fort Glasgow have secured another contract for the construction of a steel screw steamer of about 1,600 tons.

Mr. J. B. Balfour, who is to contest North Ayrshire in the Liberal interest at the forthcoming general election, held meetings of his supporters on Tuesday at Kilmarnock, Newmilns and Darvel. The district is one of the chief strongholds of Liberalism in the northern division of the county, and so far Mr. Balfour's candidature has been favorably entertained. At Newmilns the Committee has for its chairman Mr. Joseph Hood, manufacturer, and its membership is also otherwise influential.

A Workingmen's Protestant and Conservative Association has been formed here, and already a considerable number of members have been enrolled. The object of the association is to unite the Protestant and Conservative interests in the district, and to promote the Conservative cause at the forthcoming general election. The first public meeting of the association is to be held here shortly. It is expected that the leading gentlemen in the district will take the chair, and several able speakers from a distance are expected to take part in the proceedings.

A healthy spirit of inquiry continues to prevail in the Clyde ship-building trade, and new work on hand is being steadily increased. Specifications are out for several contracts, and something definite will be known about them in a day or two. Amongst the new vessels that will shortly be ordered is a steel steamer of about 1,000 tons for service on the South African coast. The order will, it is anticipated, be secured by a well known firm in the lower reaches of the river. We understand that Messrs. Blackwood & Gordon, Port Glasgow, have contracted for a large screw steamer to be built of steel. The following are her dimensions:—Length, 245 feet; breadth of beam, 32.6; depth of hold, 18 feet; tonnage, 1,700 tons. This steamer is intended for the Adriatic trade, and is to be built for the Austrian Lloyd Company. Her builders will furnish her with powerful compound engines.

If sanitary or Star Steamers, &c.—Under the powers granted the Greenock authorities by their Police Bill of 1877, the Streets Committee, under the convenorship of Bailie Wilson, have been most energetic in laying out new streets and constructing public sewers in the burgh of Gourock and Blackfaet. Though the College buildings are not yet completed, teaching will be commenced this year, as many public and students in attendance. The course of training will be in English, theology, and the grammar and construction of the student's own language, with exercises in translation and critical composition in both. A strong effort is to be made to elevate the Indian population by furnishing them with a knowledge of the English and various dialects. A secondary object of the College will be the training of white students for the ministry, and also for Collegiate School, open to all denominations, for a limited number of pupils in the higher branches of study, and a preparatory class. Bishop intends revisiting England for the purpose of completing the endowment of the college and also to secure endowments for chairs in each of the native languages, for which £4,000 is required by the end of Edinburgh. The twofold work of the missionary diocese; the conversion of the Indian population, and the spiritual needs of wants of a large and rapidly increasing white population, is most important and it is not therefore surprising that the bishop's appeals have been so warmly responded to on the other side of the Atlantic."

MANITOBA'S MEADOWS.

Results of a Three Months' Exploration of the Country West of Battleford—Starving but Honest Indians.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 8.—Prof. Macoun has returned from a three months' trip on the plains in Government service, and over a region not hitherto reported, and extending over upward of two thousand miles. His information is especially valuable, as it relates almost entirely to the country lying between travelled trails, and which consequently is but imperfectly known. Leaving Battleford, six hundred miles west of Red River, the first part of July, Prof. Macoun proceeded southwest, and after a laborious but otherwise pleasant trip, reached the sand hills on the 19th of August. The country south of Battleford for about forty-five miles was found well suited for agricultural purposes, the remainder of the distance the land was very much broken. Water was abundant, but no wood was seen for ten miles south of Battleford until the Red River, Thence to Blackfoot Crossing of the Bow the land found not a hilly character, but considerably drier. At the Blackfoot Crossing he found that wheat, barley and roots, and all kinds of vegetables, had been successfully grown this year by Mr. Gaudet. From Blackfoot Crossing to Calgary the land generally was first class, much better on the south side than on the north side. Calgary is beautifully situated in the midst of an exceedingly fertile region, as shown by the crops there under cultivation. The good land continuously twenty miles westward from Fort Calgary, when it becomes broken, with the land in many places gravelly. Up to Morleyville and vicinity there is much rich land here, yet it is not considered an agricultural region. For stock raising, however, it is unsurpassed by any place in the Northwest, and this not on account of the superiority of its grasses, but of its climate. The grasses in the vicinity of Morleyville are precisely the same as those found all on the prairie as far east as Fort Elliott and north as Battleford. The Chinook wind that blows over this region, being both dry and warm, melts and evaporates snow at the same time, so grass does not rot during the winter, but remains fresh and nutritious; hence cattle keep in good condition all winter. North of the Neutral hills, and west of Battle River, much of the land is sandy, and comparatively meters. To sum up, at least 80 per cent of the land passed over is suited for grain raising. The great drawback to the country south of Battleford is the absence of timber. No wood was seen from a point ten miles south of Battleford, except in the valleys of the Red Deer and Cow Rivers, until the foot of the Rocky Mountains was reached; and the best of the country north from Morleyville to Hay Lakes is alleged without wood. This, however, is compensated for by the undoubted presence of unlimited quantities of excellent coal in the greater part of this treeless region. This coal was thoroughly tested in many campfires of the party, and found to burn with clear flame, and to leave no residuum but ash. Bone River and the country on its banks are the most charming in the whole northwest. The river itself winds through a beautiful valley. Its waters are very clear, and not subject to great floods, and swarm with very fine fish, three species of trout, especially. The professor states that though he met many bands of starving Indians, and was often in camps where food was a phenomenon, the smallest article, either of food or otherwise, was never stolen, although the camp was left unguarded while he was away on exploration; and when he entered the Blackfoot reserve, at the ration station, though not an ounce of food was within the limits, there was no special importunity for food. Indeed, it was only on the forenoon of the second day of his stay that he learned from Crowfoot, head chief of the Blackfoot nation, their extreme destitution. The chief pointed out a gaunt Sioux squaw at the door of a tent, and said he had two

A Fatal Shirt-Button.

From the London Times, Oct. 27.

The death is announced at Heidelberg of Dr. Adolf Sarager, who was formerly in large practice as a physician in Elberfeld and its neighborhood. One morning in 1871, while dressing, he contrived in some way to get a shirt-button between his teeth. Incautiously swallowing the button slipped into the back of his mouth, and thence into the larynx. All the exertions of his surgical friends to remove it were vain. It was ascertained that it sank into the right lung, which soon became the necrotic focus for decomposition, and was himself looking forward to his death as not very remote. He removed to a village near Prof. Chief de Mai. In the first public meeting of the association is to be held here shortly. It is expected that the leading gentlemen in the district will take the chair, and several able speakers from a distance are expected to take part in the proceedings.

A healthy spirit of inquiry continues to prevail in the Clyde ship-building trade, and new work on hand is being steadily increased. Specifications are out for several contracts, and something definite will be known about them in a day or two. Amongst the new vessels that will shortly be ordered is a steel steamer of about 1,000 tons for service on the South African coast. The order will, it is anticipated, be secured by a well known firm in the lower reaches of the river. We understand that Messrs. Blackwood & Gordon, Port Glasgow, have contracted for a large screw steamer to be built of steel. The following are her dimensions:—Length, 245 feet; breadth of beam, 32.6; depth of hold, 18 feet; tonnage, 1,700 tons. This steamer is intended for the Adriatic trade, and is to be built for the Austrian Lloyd Company. Her builders will furnish her with powerful compound engines.

If sanitary or Star Steamers, &c.—Under the powers granted the Greenock authorities by their Police Bill of 1877, the Streets Committee, under the convenorship of Bailie Wilson, have been most energetic in laying out new streets and constructing public sewers in the burgh of Gourock and Blackfaet. Though the College buildings are not yet completed, teaching will be commenced this year, as many public and students in attendance. The course of training will be in English, theology, and the grammar and construction of the student's own language, with exercises in translation and critical composition in both. A strong effort is to be made to elevate the Indian population by furnishing them with a knowledge of the English and various dialects. A secondary object of the College will be the training of white students for the ministry, and also for Collegiate School, open to all denominations, for a limited number of pupils in the higher branches of study, and a preparatory class. Bishop intends revisiting England for the purpose of completing the endowment of the college and also to secure endowments for chairs in each of the native languages, for which £4,000 is required by the end of Edinburgh. The twofold work of the missionary diocese; the conversion of the Indian population, and the spiritual needs of wants of a large and rapidly increasing white population, is most important and it is not therefore surprising that the bishop's appeals have been so warmly responded to on the other side of the Atlantic."

The News the Father of the Fact.

From the London World, Oct. 29.

I remember that a certain gentleman connected with the Dublin press used to boast that he induced the Prince and Princess of Wales to visit Ireland on one occasion. This was how he did it. He was at his wits' end for news for the English papers, to which he telegraphed Irish items, and the happy thought struck him to report that great disappointment was felt at the announcement in Dublin that the Prince and Princess of Wales were not going to visit Ireland. No one had previously spoken or heard of any such visit but the Times published a leader deploring the neglect of Ireland by royalty. The Irish papers did ditto, and the Prince of Wales determined to go to Ireland. By a similar system of news manufacture the papers is said flying now that Sir Arthur Guinness is to be made a peer, and that Mr. Power, the distiller, is to be the Conservative candidate for Dublin. Some one who wants to see Mr. Power in Parliament evidently also wants to see Sir Arthur Guinness in the House of Lords. I happen to be aware that at present, at all events, neither event is at all probable. There may be a change in the representation of Dublin, but not on the Conservative side.

Free Press Correspondence.

Bank Defalcations and Bank Salaries.

To the Editor of the London Free Press.

SIR,—A good deal of speculation is just now being indulged in with regard to the increase of crimes such as that for which Dempster is now awaiting his punishment, and people earnestly ask—"Why is this? Where is the source of all this decadence of integrity and morality? Is there no remedy for this state of things?" &c., &c. The answer is perfectly easy and plain—"Starvation salaries!" There you have it in two words. The market is glutted with aspirants to these so-called respectable positions, and bank directors and others take advantage of the fact—forgetting the old and vulgar truism "cheap and nasty."

"Oh, but that is all nonsense," some will say; "you can't buy honesty." "No amount of pay will make a dishonest man honest." Perhaps not, but it will often keep an honest man from becoming dishonest. In proof of this, show me the bank or other institution that suffers most from this sort of thing, and I will show you the one that is meanest in this matter of salaries. Dempster did not take the $20,000 in a lump. I have no doubt he had a severe struggle with himself before he took the first two or three hundred dollars—before he made the first false entry. I have no doubt that he took it with the firm resolve to put it back at an early date. This is the almost invariable way in which such defalcations begin, and though they are not for a moment to be excused on such grounds, I believe that hereafter the Judge who will take all such circumstances into account, and some of our just (?) men will come out of the ordeal very poorly.

Dempster's salary, you say, was $1,900 a year. (I have heard that it was only $1,400, but assuming that it was $1,900), the bank directors know he had a wife and family to support. They know, or ought to know, what it costs to do so, and they know that the manager of a bank is expected, and, as a matter of fact, is compelled, to maintain a respectable social position. They expect it of him themselves. Now, it is a very simple question. Could he do so on the salary named? Whether he had or had not a private income, is immaterial, it was no business of theirs. If he could not, what right had they to expect it.

Do you know, Mr. Editor, there are bank tellers in this Canada o' ours, officials, capable, promising, well-educated young men, receiving salaries of $400 and $500 a year, banking, and held responsible for hundreds of thousands of dollars of their employers' money—a dollar and a quarter to a dollar and a half a day. Think of that, ye grumbling mechanics and laborers. Do you know, Mr. Editor, that there are Bank Managers in this Canada of ours married men, with families to support—looked to to take a leading part in benevolent and public enterprises; looked to to maintain a respectable and enviable position in society, receiving salaries of $1,000 a year, and even less than that. Do you know, Mr. Editor, that, as a rule, the General Manager's salary absorbs from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. of the total salaries of a bank, and when you consider that many of these banks employ managers, clerks, &c., (officers they call them) to the number of ten, with more salaries than one, what this means. Knowing all this, can the public be surprised that here and there one, with more clerical abilities than his fellows, takes the law into his own hands and pays himself—liberally—I suppose with the idea that the "many sat would be hanged for stealing a sheep as a lamb."

So long as young men are so foolish as to banker after such positions as bank of store clerkships in preference to good, square trades, so long will the managers and merchants take advantage of their folly, and so long as there are twenty applicants for every one they employ the public need not look for universal integrity, and banks need not look for Justice.

Mr. Murray and the Police Force.

A Strong Indictment Against the Commissioners, the Chief and the Sergeant-Major.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—I see by the report of the Police Commissioners' meeting last Saturday, that two letters were received from me, complaining of the conduct of the Chief. I sent several complaints to the Commissioners during the year, of which no notice was taken until last Saturday. I received a note from His Worship the Mayor, that the Commissioners would meet that afternoon, and for me to attend to sustain my charges against the Chief. I immediately wrote a note in reply, that it being Saturday, and having several engagements at that time, I could not possibly attend, and also would require several witnesses who were unable to attend on that day. Saturday being the busiest day of the week at this time of the year, and wishing the hearing of the case postponed, which the Commissioners did not choose to do. I was also stated by the Chief at that meeting that I entered a complaint against him when I was in the mill, which was a downright falsehood, as I never made any complaints against my neighbors. What I did say was this, pointing out to the man on duty, that last fall I was convicted and fined on the evidence of Sergeant-Major Walker, who stated on oath that while on his beat on Richmond street he saw the tail of a buffalo robe four inches on the sidewalk opposite my place, and at that very time the meter was on Dundas street, with very few exceptions, had their goods out from one to two feet on the sidewalk. And what did Mr. Chief do? He summoned Mr. Kingsmill, alleging that I made a complaint against him, which I deny, and it is characteristic of the Chief wishing me to do the work he is well paid for himself. Being continually annoyed for the last year, my partner, Mr. McGeoy, went to the Chief's office, but no sooner had he (the Chief) learned of his errand, than he ordered him to leave, or he would kick him out. If any other corporation in Canada had any of their ratepayers insulted in that manner by their servants they would not have been kept in their service one day. The Commissioners are composed of three gentlemen, viz., Judge Elliot, who is disposed to do what is right and just, but unfortunately he takes no interest in municipal matters; Mr. Lawrason is a gentleman who is advanced in years, and I have learned from my youth to respect old age. Neither of the above gentlemen are responsible to the people, who pay them for their management of the police force; but Mayor Lewis is in quite a different position. He was elected Chief Magistrate of the city to look after the interests of the people. Instead of that he panders to the vanity, pride and tyranny of a well-paid official, and encourages him in scouging the people who supply him with the bread he eats and the clothing he wears, whilst thieves and burglars are plying their trade in all parts of the city. Like all the rest of my fellow-citizens, I have borne with patience insults and tyranny, knowing the time is at hand when the people will elect a Mayor who will look to the interests of the city, and immediately discharge this high-toned gentleman. Knowing that his usefulness is at an end. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Your humble servant.

R. S. MURRAY.

London, Nov. 10, 1879.

...The clerk of the court bade the witness give his name, age and so forth, and hold up his hand to be sworn. He took the oath with much dignified composure and deliberation that every one felt that there stood before them a calm, self-poised, truthful man, whose evidence would go far to settle the minds of the jurors in this sensational case. There was a murmur as every one settled himself to drink in his testimony. "Now, sir," said the judge, "be good enough to tell the jury what you know about this important case." "I don't know anything about it," said the witness, blandly. "Don't know anything about it? Then why did you have yourself summoned as a witness?" "So as to get a good seat where I could hear and see everything. Tickets were n't to be had for love or money."

...A foreign lecturer on cremation asserts that the ancient Greek, Gallic, Roman, Teutonic, Swedish and Japanese reverence for fire indicates that the practice of burning human bodies originated in religious motives. There is nothing in the Bible against cremation, he says, and when the practice died out in Greece, science and the arts died out, and the Dark Ages came, and with them burial.

...Many English and Americans are already at Monaco, near Nice, betting in the gambling hell of Monte Carlo, now the only establishment of the kind in Europe. A large Russo-German colony will be near by at San Remo, and the gambling season promises to be the heartiest and gayest for many years.

WORDS NEVER TO BE FORGOTTEN

Lorne's Parting Advice to the Citizens of London:

Buy Your Hats at Heal's.

CALL AND SEE OUR NEW STOCK.

All the Latest Styles, at Lowest Possible Prices

A FEW DOZEN OF OUR BIG BANKRUPT STOCK STILL ON HAND WILL BE CLEARED OUT AT A SACRIFICE.

Heal's, 179 Dundas Street,

OPPOSITE STRONG'S HOTEL.

6od

ENCOUNTER AT FISTICUFFS

Disgraceful Scene at Osgoode Hall—Two Lawyers rummell Each Other in the Taxing Master's Office, and Black Eyes and Damaged Noses Result.

From a Correspondent.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—It very rarely happens that lawyers so far forget themselves while transacting business for other people as to lose their temper, except for effect; but occasionally, when they come together before the taxing master, at Osgoode Hall to have their bills taxed, and not unfrequently considerably cut down, the old Adam stands out in bold relief, and sometimes, forgetting discretion, the better part of valor, throw themselves in menacing attitudes toward each other. To the client who had suffered by excessive over-charges on the part of some legal cormorant the spectacle witnessed yesterday was refreshing, and is stood by fairly rejoicing over the effects of two able-bodied lawyers, occupying the first rank in the profession, to extinguish every trace of their respective identity. It seems that the belligerents met in the office for the purpose of having bills taxed, and one of them aroused the anger of the other, because he seemed to be too exacting, and showed too much zeal in having his co-laborer's bill reduced. After growling for some time the pair swore vehemently, and threatened dire vengeance upon each other. Then followed in rapid succession epithets sufficiently strong to raise the ire of even a Quaker. This legal thunder and lightning was quickly followed by one of the gentlemen squaring off and striking the other between the eyes. Then the fun commenced. Both were into each other like two infuriated wild cats, and blow after blow was given with lead thuds, the vibration of which caused the teeth to rattle in the taxing master's head. The whole building was soon in a dreadful state of excitement, and as the battle raged with great fury, the office was soon crowded with spectators, who seemed paralyzed with fear. Some of the timid ones suggested that an effort should be made to lasso the belligerents, who were by this time covered with gore, and threatening appearance of having been forced through a sausage machine. Finally, one of the warriors was adroitly "settled," by a peacemaking one pointing out on the banks of Irvine Creek just above where it empties into the Grand River.

...The New Westminster, B.C., Guardian, Chilliwhack correspondent says:—The gold fever is quite prevalent here; people are fishing to the head waters of the Chilliwhack River, where gold has been lately discovered; the route from here is by the Old Boundary Trail. A party of three men from Victoria explored the locality a short time ago; they returned to Westminster for supplies and tools, and started back to the mines about a fortnight ago; their secret leaked out in some way, and several have followed in their wake. Messrs. Darby and Sword arrived here on Wednesday last by steamer, and returned to Sumass overland; they visited the upper portion of the settlement. I understand the Sumass dyke is to be proceeded with immediately. The weather is very wet, fall sowing still unfinished.

—In response to printed circulars sent out by Messrs. Scott and Ferguson, of Listowel, a meeting was convened at Harriston to discuss the question, "Is it advisable to ask the Government to deal with the question of county formations at the coming session of Parliament?" Representatives were present from Listowel, Harriston, Palmerston, Wallace, Minto, Howick, Arthur village, Mount Forest, Durham, Collingwood and Vaughan township. It was resolved to ask the Ontario Government to deal with the question of new county formations at the first session of Parliament, as far, at least, as the interests of Huron, Perth, Bruce, Grey, Simcoe, Wellington and York are concerned, and to invite the municipalities within the counties specified in the resolution to send delegates to wait upon the Ontario Government on the first day of December, with the view of pressing a scheme for the readjustment of these counties.

CITY

Coal and Wood Yard,

TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF thanking our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we are better prepared this fall than ever we were before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 quality.

The Coal is a new branch in our business, but we will endeavor to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.

Wholesale prices on application.

FAIRGRIEVE & CO.

London, Oct. 9, 1879. 1mdly

Coal and Wood.

THOS. MYLES

Wholesale and Retail Dealer and Shipper.

My Stock is Now Complete, and I can confidently recommend consumers to call before purchasing.

Trade Orders will be Promptly Filled Direct from the Mines.

JOHN W. CLARK, MANAGER.

London, Sept. 27, 1879. codtf

MACHINE AND SET SCREWS.

MACHINE AND HAND TAPS.

Chucks, Twist Drills, Emery Wheels.

RICE LEWIS & SON,

the TORONTO

Hewitt Eyeh,

CUTLERS,

DUNDAS STREET, NEAR Clarence street, is prepared to put the best of Cutlery, Razors, Scissors, &c., on the shortest notice. Orders by mail and by express will receive attention.

Give a trial and be convinced that we can suit you. 1y52

Economy Combined with Elegance.

W. Elliott,

(From London, England).

UNDERTAKER, Etc

The only house in the city having a Hearse of the latest design.

First-class Hearses for Hire. Private Residences, 224 King street.

J. FERGUSON

UNDERTAKER.

King-st., London, Ontario

London, Oct. 16, 1879. tuth y

Sparkling Saumur

CHAMPAGNE

Carte D'Or

Carte Bleue,

Carte Noir,

IMPORTED DIRECT !

which we can sell at

LOWER PRICES

than have ever been offered.

Fitzgerald, Scandrett & Co'y

169 DUNDAS STREET,

4th door east Richmond St.

London, Sept. 27, 1879. codly

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

To Printers, Book Publishers, Stereotypers, Etc.

ALFRED CRAIGIE

Has REMOVED his manufactory from St. George to Galt, where he has increased facilities for manufacturing and shipping first class Cabinets, Cases, Labor-saving Furniture, Wood Inlaid Reglets, Quoins, Shooting Sticks, etc.

Send for price list, and be convinced that he sells cheaper than any other house.

79317 ALFRED CRAIGIE, Galt, Ont.

REMOVAL.

DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 304 Dundas street, five doors east of Waterloo street. 6ot&wly

...Miss Emma Abbott does not agree with those who believe that getting married spoils good singers. "I hold," she says, "that the greatest women in song—those who have conquered the world by their musical talents—were not staid spinsters, but women capable of loving something besides themselves, and whose own hearts have been thrilled with the divine passion. I will mention Jenny Lind, Malibran, Grisi, Viardot-Garcia, Catalani, and Alboni as examples. These women have all been queens of the domestic circle as well as of the lyric stage."

...On the 10th ult. there was a general strike among the kid glove makers at Naples. They demanded an increase of wages, which the proprietors refused. At last the Royal Carabineers were called in, a few of the ringleaders were imprisoned, others fined, and then work was resumed at the old wages.

The News of the World.

NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN

—FOR—

1880 - 1881

Extraordinary Inducements

TO SUBSCRIBE FOR THE WEEKLY

Free Press

The success attending the publication of the WEEKLY FREE PRESS during the year about to close has been of the most encouraging kind. The promises made at the commencement of the year have been more than fulfilled, and the public confidence and support has been fortified in a proportionate degree. In the

YEAR 1880-1

the leading features that have made the WEEKLY FREE PRESS so popular with the Western public will be maintained in further efficiency.

The Political Department is admitted on all hands to be one of sterling merit. As is well known, it is a journal of pronounced Liberal Conservative opinions; but does not follow the lead of party politicians in play to all! Its leading columns are not devoted to political issues alone. From week to

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The London "Free Press"

JOB OFFICE

executes all kinds of commercial and other printing in the best style, on excellent paper, and at lowest rates.

Owing to the staff constantly on hand, work can be expeditiously turned out.

Colored and fancy printing a specialty. Ball and programme work in excellent taste.

The Free Press.

Tuesday, November 11, 1879.

LITERARY SESSIONS.—Before His Honor Judge Elliot yesterday, James McWilliams was arraigned on a charge of stealing a horse from Mr. James Durand, of Dorchester, the circumstances of which have previously been referred to in these columns. He pleaded "not guilty," and will come up for trial on Thursday.

NARROW ESCAPE.—While a young man named Elliott was assisting several workmen to unload a large block of stone at the new Ontario Bank building, in the Market Lane, yesterday, a scantling gave way, and allowed the stone to fall through the planks to the cellar below. Elliott was carried with it, but miraculously escaped with a few scratches and bruises.

SHEAR THIEF ARRESTED.—A ball thief was arrested at Stratford on Saturday last. It was reported that a robbery of that nature had taken place in the town, near the G.T.R. station, and Detective Heenan, being informed of the fact, took a look about the town and arrested a man named Judson Vrooman, and found the stolen goods on him. He pleaded guilty before the Police Magistrate, yesterday, and was remanded for sentence.

A MAN'S NECK BROKEN BY A WILSON WHEEL.—On Saturday afternoon, while Mr. Cowie, a young man about 26 years of age, was helping thrash as a neighbor's on the 10th con., Mersea—his work being to draw water, as it was a steam thresher—and when hitching his horses to the waggon they took fright, knocked him down and ran the wheel of the waggon over his neck, causing instant death. No relatives of the deceased lived in that section of the country. He had bought a farm in the neighborhood where he met with his death, and had it paid for.

THE "COLONIZATORS."—The Canadian Aid and Colonization Society met in the Victoria Hall building last night to appoint a deputation to visit Muskoka in search of lands suitable for settlement. The attendance was small, but the majority were in favor of the delegates going at once to the Free Grant Land District, while the minority advocated, and not without reason, that the deputation should wait until spring, last their trip prove fruitless on account of the snow which will no doubt unlikely cover the land and impede the inspection of those whose mission it will be to decide for others as well as themselves. Three members were elected, the Society requesting, however, that their names be not published. They will leave on Monday, and perhaps remain all winter if they cannot satisfy themselves before. A part of the financial scheme was then discussed item by item, after which the few remaining departed to dream of a land that is cheaper than this.

FOLLOW COURT PENCILINGS.—The week opened with a light calendar, and the usual Saturday night crop of drunks was off on a holiday. Robert Barnfather was arraigned on a charge of assaulting Mr. L. Meredith in July last, under circumstances that have already been mentioned. Owing to some mistake in the arrangement between the prisoner and the prosecutor, it is having been understood that Barnfather would plead guilty, the case was enlarged until Friday. James Keett was charged by Mrs. Keett with being drunk and dangerous. The charge was not pressed, and, after being reprimanded, the accused was discharged. Henryl Dunby was charged by P. C. Calderwood with exposure of his person on Richmond street on Friday afternoon last. The complainant's story represented the offence as being most heinous, but the defence pointed rather strongly to the contrary, and at the conclusion of the case defendant was discharged. Mr. J. R. Dixon appeared for Dunby.

LOCAL NOTICES.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—Our citizens are reminded that the Rev. T. W. Handford, the celebrated lecturer from Toronto, will deliver his lecture on "George Fox and the Quakers" at Victoria Hall this (Tuesday) evening, in aid of the Tract Fund of the Primitive Methodist Church. A large choir of competent vocalists will be in attendance. The Rev. J. Al. Murray, of St. Andrew's Church, will preside. Those who desire to be pleased as well as instructed should attend at Victoria Hall tonight.

For crockery, glass-ware and silverware, at slaughter prices, try McKay & McIntosh, the purchasers of the Rowland stock, at 61 cents. The goods to be sold will be sold. Call and inspect. No. 196 Dundas street. J11fn.

FOR MANITOBA.—Mr. Robert Patterson, agent of the G. W. R., at Paris, is organizing another party for Manitoba, to leave during the present month. On the 24th instant, a special fast freight train will leave Paris, and on the following day, a special passenger train will leave the same place at 4 p. m., under the charge of Mr. Hamilton, who will accompany passengers through to Winnipeg. Those who intend going should communicate at once with Mr. Patterson.

HAVE you bought your tickets for the Oddfellows' concert on Thursday evening next? The following ladies and gentlemen take part:—Mrs. Caldwell, Hamilton; Miss May, St. Catharines; Messrs. Marshall, Furness and Joselin. Of Mrs. Caldwell's singing, the Avon (New York) Herald says:—She fairly captivated the audience. Her unaffected manner and good nature placed her at once in sympathy with her listeners, and prepared them in advance to fall in love with her singing, and it was really fine. She sang with the utmost ease, at least she seemed too, and there was no contortion, hard breathing, no straining or heaving of the chest, no getting up on her toes to reach a sharp note. Her voice is exceedingly sweet, flexible, clear and flute-like. The sounds seem to come from organs made by nature instead of by the music teacher, and she sings with as little apparent effort as a bird.

MECHANICS' HALL.—Dupree & Benedict's Minstrels at Mechanics' Hall this evening. This troupe is too well known to require eulogy from us. Lovers of minstrelsy should not fail to attend.

A WRONG IMPRESSION.—As an impression has gone abroad that Mr. A. E. Hourd, of the London Child's Carriage Factory, is moving from his old stand, No. 559 Richmond street, we have his authority for stating that such is not the case. Mr. Hourd, on the contrary, has made a large addition to his old premises in order to meet the increased demand for his manufactures.

JACOB'S LITHOGRAM.—Within the past few days the inventor of the wonderful labor and time-saving apparatus has made wonderful improvements, whereby 100 to 150 can be taken from one writing. The pad is now made double the thickness of the old one, and a guarantee is offered with each one sold if directions are complied with. We would strongly advise those that have not already procured one to do so at once. See advertisement.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

If you drink lake water at Port Stanley you will get the Erie sip-ality.

The man who meets trouble half way has already purchased his snow shovel.

Isn't it time to Stowe "Uncle Tom's Cabin" away? Or will it fun for Eva?

Books of great men all remind us
We can make our sales sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints that are seven by nine.

They now have an invention by which eight different messages can be sent over a single wire at once.

"The family man," says Mrs. Quilp, resembles an oyster on the half shell. The shell is known at home—the soft side abroad."

Thirty persons in a small town in Michigan were recently poisoned by eating sausages. The brass collars on the dogs, probably.

Little Gertie (after waiting some time for dessert)—"Uncle, don't you have anything after dinner?" Uncle—"Yes, dear, the dyspepsia."

"Single man, sir!" asked the lawyer as the witness took his place. "Yes, sir," was the reply. Lawyer—"Wife living?" Confusion and rapid explanations.

That girl is clutching time right by the bangs, who, when her "gentleman friend" drops in to spend an evening, gives him a gentle hint as to what she would like to have about Christmas.

"Ma," said a little boy, looking up from an illustrated paper, "I wish I was a little South Africa boy." "Why, Georgie?" asked his ma. "Why, 'cause their mothers don't wear slippers," he feelingly replied.

"The race is not always to the swift," said the preacher. "Unless," he added, as if on second thought the matter had occurred to him in a new light, all the drivers in it are playing the best horse for winner."

The young sons of the Prince of Wales take an equal share of the duties on board the Bacchante with the other officers, and the aristocratic mien with which the future rulers of England handle a slush-bucket is said to be marvelous.

Fraud and False Pretences.

Two South Dorchester Farmers Arrested on the Charge.

A JOURNEY TO MICHIGAN UNAVOIDABLY POSTPONED.

In the month of October, 1878, two farmers, named Robert and Edward Wilson, of the 8th con., of the Township of South Dorchester, in the County of Elgin, visited London for the purpose of purchasing some agricultural implements. After various enquiries they finally negotiated with the Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company, for two steam engines, separators, and other articles, the total amount of the purchase being about $2,500. Mr. Robert Dillon, the general western agent of the company, having learned that the men were in a fair condition financially, and obtained a good reputation in their neighborhood, accepted notes in payment of the fall amount. When the customary papers were made for the transfer of the property, the Wilsons affirmed that they possessed considerable real estate, and the notes were shipped to their order. They stated that one of the farms owned by them was encumbered with a $500 mortgage. Mr. Dillon, thinking that the transaction was made honestly and in good faith, paid no further attention to the matter, not even taking the trouble to examine the records of the Registry Office in St. Thomas, to ascertain if the land was owned or encumbered, as stated. About three weeks ago, however, events transpired which led Dillon to conclude that the brothers intended playing a sharp game on him, and he proceeded at once to the Registry Office at St. Thomas, with the view of examining the records to ascertain if their statement in regard to the $500 mortgage was correct. He discovered that the mortgage was of a much larger sum than had been mentioned by the Wilsons. Mr. Dillon at once laid the matter before Messrs. Fraser & Fraser, of this city, who communicated with the Wilsons, and requested them to come at once to London and arrange the affair satisfactorily with the Company. This summons being disregarded, a telegram was sent stating that unless immediate attention was paid, resort to legal proceedings would be had. The Dorchester men paid no attention to these requests, and not until Mr. Dillon saw the men at the Great Western Railway station yesterday afternoon was further action taken. Edward Wilson it appears, in the meantime, had sold his farm for $1,900, and was about leaving to take up land near Saginaw, in Michigan, and his brother Robert accompanied him as far as this city. Edward, who is the elder of the two, says that he had arranged with his brother Robert to settle the amount due ($2,100) to Mr. Dillon, but the latter had not been consulted in the matter at all. The consequence was that Mr. Dillon had both men arrested for obtaining goods under false pretences, and they were brought before Squire Peters in the afternoon. Mr. Fraser appeared for the Company and stated on their behalf that he was willing to settle the matter, but he would require a good first mortgage or bankable note for the full amount of the indebtedness. Wilson stated that his brother Frank would be willing to give a mortgage upon his farm on the same consenting for the amount if he could only get him here, but as it was twenty-two miles from the city he did not see how he could in less than a day. County Constable Hodge, however, went in search of the brother, and Edward and Robert were remanded to the care of County Constable Moore until this forenoon. Edward professes that he had no intention of cheating the company out of a cent, and fancied that when his brother Robert said he would assume the debt—and he had a farm of 90 acres—there would be no necessity for him giving Mr. Dillon notice.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The McClary Manufacturing Company are adding a japanning shop to their already extensive premises.

A fashionable wedding is on the tapis. It is said that the ceremony will be performed at St. Paul's Church to morrow morning.

The London Gas Light Company are erecting a new lamp at the southeast corner of Dundas and Richmond streets—something that has been much needed for years.

The marriage of workmen under the superintendence of Mr. Wm. Smith, of Petersville, are laying down wooden pipes on Richmond street for the Stand Heating Company.

Two colored men, named Moorhead and Fountain, assaulted a barber named John Wells, in the south eastern portion of the city, on Sunday night, for insulting Mr. Moorhead's sister a few nights previous.

Two men named Thomas Lewis and John Prince, of London Township, have been summoned to appear before Squire Peters, on Wednesday, to answer the charge of shooting a turkey, valued at $2.50, belonging to Mr. Robt. Springett, of the same township.

James Carruthers, of Delaware, was up before Squire Peters yesterday, at the instance of Francis Jarvis, who charged him with selling a horse worth $80, and embezzling the proceeds. The defendant promised to settle with Jarvis, and he was given until Saturday to do so.

London Rifle Club.

CLOSE OF THE CONTEST FOR THE PRESIDENT'S GOLD MEDAL.

The final competition for the gold medal presented by Col. Lewis, the President of the London Rifle Club, to the member making the highest score at three ranges, took place on the Club's Ranges yesterday afternoon. Quite a number of marksmen attended, and considerable interest was manifested in the result. The medal was won by Mr. S. Dillon, who despite a very variable wind and bad light, made the brilliant score of 98, out of a possible 105. The six highest scores are as follows:—

	200 yds.	500 yds.	600 yds.	T.
S. Dillon	35[5]34	4[5]5[5]3	3[5]4[5]5	98
G. W. Pitt	5[4]3[5]3	4[5]4[5]3	3[4]3[5]5	95
Dr. Worden	5[4]4[5]3	5[4]3[5]3	3[4]3[5]4	94
W. Elliott	4[4]4[5]3	4[4]4[5]4	3[5]3[5]4	93
Gen. Hayes	4[5]3[5]	3[4]4[5]4	4[5]3[5]4	92
Wm. Smyth	4[5]4[5]	3[4]4[5]3	3[4]4[5]4	92

PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION IN LONDON EAST.—At a meeting held at the Commercial Hotel in London East last night, to organize a division of the Provident Association of America for the County of Middlesex, including London East, the following gentlemen were elected officers. Mr. S. A. Adams, President; J. H. Gardiner, Medical Director; W. D. Imlach, Financial Secretary. Executive Committee. W. J. Smith, James Busby, J. G. Shaw, Thomas Milton and T. A. Harley.

Board of Aldermen.

A LENGTHY SESSION LAST NIGHT.

The Board of Works and Its Chairman.

How Birds in Their Little Nests Agreed—to Disagree!

Frontage Tax, Sewage, and Public Baths.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES AND OTHER MATTERS.

The Board of Aldermen met in the Council Chamber last night, His Worship Mayor Lewis presiding. Present, Ald. Pritchard, Campbell, Thompson, Powell, Stringer, Taylor, Greer, Edleston, Glass, Grey, Boyd, Williams, Scarrow, Raynor, Peel, Egan, Hiscox, and Skinner.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS WERE RECEIVED

From W. J. Smallwell, on behalf of the Carriage Makers' Assembly Committee, asking for the use of the City Hall on the night of Dec. 3rd. Granted.

From Thos. Morkin, asking permission to move his frame building on Richmond street twelve feet further north. Granted.

A writ from the Court of Common Pleas in re Mr. Alex. Harvey's claim for street watering. Finance Committee and City Solicitor.

From His Worship Mayor Lewis, Chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners, as follows:—"In reply to your communication, with regard to the resolution of the City Council, dated 0th 3rd, I have the honor to give the copy of a resolution passed by the Police Commissioners relative thereto:—'That there being no one in regular attendance at the Police Court to act as clerk, the returns to the Minister of Agriculture have been authenticated by the signature of the Police Magistrate, and have been sent to the proper quarter some weeks since, and therefore the Commissioners see no necessity of interfering further.'" Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

An account was presented by Richard Wignore for expenses in serving Court of Revision notices, $8. Finance Committee.

FINANCE.

Ald. Campbell submitted the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of accounts to the amount of $2,748.76, that the prayer of Alex. McArthur for remission of fine, be granted; that with regard to the petition of Mrs. A. L. Nowoomb, asking for assistance for the Refuge, $200 be granted; that no action be taken on the petition of W. Bowman, Green and others; that the Committee had met the Warden and Finance Committee of the County Council with reference to the payment of juries, and taking the returns of the last three years as their guide, recommend the Board to contract to pay forty per cent. of the total expenses from 1880 to 1884.

On motion the report was committed, the Mayor in the chair.

Ald. Glass moved that the clause recommending the grant of $200 to the Refuge be struck out. He believed that the Council should not take cognizance of any such cases, seeing that the institution was largely to the institution, and the ladies in connection therewith took in poor from London East, London South, Petersville and even outside places.

Ald. Raynor, in seconding the resolution, did so purely on account of the financial condition of the city.

Ald. Pritchard objected to the grant, because the people who were taken in did not by a large majority come from this city.

Ald. Scarrow felt that by refusing the grant the Council would be displaying a spirit of false economy. The Women's Christian Association were very judicious in the distribution of their charity, and took a great load off the shoulders of the Relief Officer.

Ald. Stringer supported the grant.

Ald. Williams also favored the grant.

Ald. Campbell felt that the Association were doing a grand work among the poor and those who were fallen. Its members never asked where he or she came from, but, in the case of any one in destitute circumstances, the hand of assistance was cheerfully held out. It was a non-denominational request, and a resolution considering the good accomplished. The Association had paid out $800 during the past year in aid of certain who would otherwise have asking relief from the city, and in other instances the Council would necessarily have been called upon for pecuniary assistance.

Ald. Powell, as chairman of the Relief Committee, knew intimately the condition of our city poor, and heartily endorsed the recommendation of the Finance Committee. In an eloquent speech he pointed out the good done day after day by the Association in question and the Mount Hope Orphan Asylum.

The Mayor also added his testimony, and thought the grant a necessary one. Before he had not long to remain in the chair, but took this opportunity of thanking the ladies for the assistance rendered during his term of office.

Ald. Egan had moved the grant in the Committee purely because he believed it a deserving object. He briefly eulogized the Home.

On submitting the resolution, Ald. Glass, Raynor and Pritchard voted for the resolution refusing the grant, and the balance of the Council voted in favor.

Ald. Scarrow moved, seconded by Ald. Hodge, Lowrey, went in search of the brother, and Edward and Robert were remanded to the care of County Constable Moore until this forenoon. Edward professes that he had no intention of cheating the company out of a cent, and fancied that when his brother Robert said he would assume the debt—and he had a farm of 90 acres—there would be no necessity for him giving Mr. Dillon notice.

Ald. Egan, chairman, submitted the report of the Fire, Water & Gas Committee, intimating that tenders for coal had been let to Thomas Myles, as follows:—Chestnut, $5.50; Egg, $5.60; Stove, $5.80; Briar Hill, $6.

The watering carts had been painted and insured.

On motion the report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Peel, Chairman, submitted the following statement of the City Engineer, as certified to up to date:—

	Appropriation.	Expenditure
No 1 Ward	$2,000 00	$2,070 92
No 2 "	2,000 00	3,399 67
No 3 "	2,472 29	3,552 07
No 4 "	2,000 00	1,782 68
No 5 "	3,850 10	3,978 00
No 6 "	2,815 00	2,709 30
No 7 "	2,000 00	2,026 69

Ald. Williams, at this stage, intimated that he had a report from the majority of the Board of Works, but his Worship refused to hear it until something had been done with the statement before the Board.

Ald. Peel explained that at a meeting of the Board of Works at the beginning of the year it was resolved that all over drafts of last year should be deducted from the respective ward appropriations. At present the grant of $20,000 by the Council was largely overdrawn, and he saw no way of stopping the expenditure.

Ald. Thompson requested Ald. Peel to produce the minutes of the Board of Works certifying to such a decision.

Ald. Pritchard denied that such a matter had ever come before the Board.

Ald. Glass felt that one man's word was as good as another's, and he was the man who had brought the matter before the Board of Works.

Ald. Pritchard charged that Aldermen Peel and Glass saw at the early portion of the year that by manipulating the figures they could gain an advantage, and instead of bringing the matter before the board they had doctored up the figures in the manner now apparent. He felt that the reflection which Ald. Peel endeavored to cast on other members with regard to the $5,000 held back, fell rather heavily on himself. The Board of Works had tried to do their best, but with such a Chairman had found it impossible.

Ald. Peel considered that work was still going on in the Wards, to which the City Engineer would not certify until more money was granted by the Council.

Ald. Pritchard asked where any work was going on?

Ald. Peel explained that the expenditure had been made when the members of the several Wards went around their districts in company with the City Engineer.

Ald. Taylor contended that no amounts were unpaid in his Ward, and that he had only exceeded his grant by $52.

The statements was then received.

Ald. Williams was, on motion, granted permission to read the report of a majority of the Board of Works. It pointed out that the Chairman had refused to carry out the wishes of his Committee, and accordingly the majority in question had resolved to request the Council to reorganize the Board. The following had been the expenditures up to date:—

No. 1	$2,070 92
No. 2	3,399 67
No. 3	3,552 07
No. 4	1,782 68
No. 5	3,978 00
No. 6	2,709 30
No. 7	2,026 69

They also recommended that several streets be graded, and that Kensington Bridge be repaired; that the crossings be kept clean under the direction of the Street Commissioner; that the snow plows turn out not later than four o'clock a. m. after each snow storm, so that mechanics could go to their work.

Ald. Glass desired only that the books of the Board be brought before the Council, so that the Chairman could be vindicated. Why should fault be found with Ald. Peel, when he brought in only the figures of the Engineer, and not his own, as was charged?

Ald. Muirhead felt that there was something radically wrong in the Board of Works.

The report was then committed, Ald. Stringer in the chair.

In response to a question by Ald. Glass, Ald. Williams stated that the only resolutions which Ald. Peel had refused to report, was with regard to a vote of non-confidence in himself and the expenditures on the City Hall.

Ald. Campbell had never known an instance of this character during an experience of many years around the Board. He would express no opinion as to who was to blame.

Ald. Peel read the letters previously referred to in these columns, in support of his allegations. He had reported faithfully to this Council every action of the Board of Works.

Ald. Thompson denied this statement.

Ald. Taylor, in a very excited manner, said he was not surprised at the hero of the sandstone frauds endeavoring to clear himself by such false statements. Who was the gobbler? Why, Ald. Peel was such a scribbler that when the Viscount party was here, he came to the Council Chamber and actually carried off the bouquets.

Ald. Glass—"I arise to a point of order."

Ald. Taylor—"I don't care for your point of order." He then proceeded to enter into the details of a previous discussion, and was called to order by the Chairman. He concluded an inflammatory address by again referring to Ald. Peel's meanness and treachery.

Ald. Pritchard was not in favor of such personal addresses, and would refer to nothing but what affected the interests of the Council. The Chairman, in the first place, could not agree with his Board, and he believed that the power which created him chairman could remove him. He referred to the validity of the improvements, other than those contracted for by Mr. Ferguson, and pointed out that the majority of the Board were not "obstructionists," as they had been dubbed by Ald. Glass. He challenged Ald. Peel and Ald. Glass to show that they had ever originated any good measure in the Board. The report of the majority spoke for itself.

After further discussion, the tenor of which has appeared in these columns in connection with reports of recent Council meetings,

His Worship informed the Board that according to Parliamentary rules a Chairman could not be displaced by his Committee. He could not see any reason for such quarreling between business men as composed the Board of Works. Hard words, insulting words, had been used without the slightest necessity. There was not a particle of doubt, however, but that the Board had been extravagant, not to the detriment of their instructions.

Ald. Pittgrald recommended that the first clause be laid over.

Ald. Campbell moved that the clause be filed.

Ald. Powell seconded the motion. He regretted very much that the Board of Works could not work harmoniously.

Ald. Egan saw no chance of reconciliation between the Chairman of reconciliation and the Board, and felt at the same time that the trouble had been brought about by the stubbornness of Ald. Peel, a fact which was calculated to seriously affect the interests of the city. Words had been done to the Board of Works had brought more discredit upon the Council than anything else, and he hoped that the difficulty would be settled at once.

On being submitted, Ald. Campbell's amendment prevailed.

For the grading yet required All. Campbell moved, seconded by Ald. Boyd, that $300 be granted.

Ald. Peel pointed out that all this grading would be done in No. 3 Ward, the members of which had already overdrawn their account. Why not divide the amount equally?

Ald. Fitzgerald moved, seconded by Ald. Peel, that the clause recommending the grant be laid over; and that the amount of the amount yet required be laid before the Board.

Ald. Pritchard recommended that the work required be done under the supervision of the City Engineer, irrespective of the Board of Works.

Ald. Campbell withdrew his resolution, in favor of Ald. Fitzgerald's amendment.

On motion, it was finally resolved to amend the clause so as to give the Mayor and City Engineer power to order the necessary improvements.

The report was then adopted as amended.

HOSPITAL AND BELIEF.

Ald. Powell, Chairman of the Hospital and Relief Committee, submitted a report recommending the payment of accounts to the amount of $592.74; intimating that $67 in the form of wood had been distributed as relief during the month of September; recommending the payment of Hospital accounts, amounting to $461.89, intimating that the Board that $50 and 17 cords of wood had been distributed during October.

The report of the House Surgeon to the Hospital, for the quarter ending September 30th, showed that 39 patients were in the hospital on July 1st. Since then 67 had been admitted and 69 discharged; births, 7; deaths, 4; prescriptions, 343; out-patients, 99; expenses, $85.44. Visiting physicians—Dr. Edwards, July 19 visits, August 23, September 21; Dr. Mitchell, July 11, August 4, September 3.

The Steward's account showed that the expenses for the quarter had amounted to $1,210.72, and that $268.00 had been collected from paying patients.

On motion the reports were adopted without discussion.

FRONTAGE TAX, SEWAGE AND PUBLIC BATHS.

Ald. Campbell, Chairman of the Special Committee appointed to report on the above matters, submitted a lengthy report, recommending that the following system be adopted, beginning on Jan. 1, 1880:—25 per cent. of the cost of all the improvements done shall be done by a frontage tax on the property opposite where the improvements are effected, the balance to be paid by the Corporation. During 1881, fifty per cent., and during the year 1882 seventy-five per cent. shall be paid in a similar manner. From the 1st of January, 1883, the whole of the cost of the improvement shall be paid by a frontage tax on the property opposite where the improvements are made. The Committee were of the opinion that the improvements should have the assent of at least two thirds of the parties interested before the work is commenced, and that ratepayers should have the privilege of doing the work or having it done as they saw fit; but it must at all times have the concurrence and be under the supervision of the City Engineer and Board of Works.

In the matter of public baths, the Committee recommended that the City Engineer be directed to prepare a scheme, together with the probable cost, and that the City Solicitor be instructed to give legal effect to the same.

The Committee also believed that the time had arrived when, in the interests of the city and its inhabitants, a proper system of sewage was necessary, and would recommend that the necessary steps be taken for the boring of debentures to the amount of $45,0 0, that being the approximate estimate required to complete the work.

On motion, the consideration of the report was deferred until Monday night next.

WATER RATES.

On motion, the City Solicitor was instructed to prepare a by-law for the collection of water rates.

MARKET.

Ald. Thompson, Chairman of the Market Committee, submitted a report intimating that tenders had been asked for painting, whitewashing, plumbing, and a drinking fountain for Covent Garden Market, and awarded as follows.—Painting and whitewashing, Henry Colerick, $126; plumbing and drinking fountain, E. Rogers & Co., $105.

On motion, the report was adopted.

OPENING STREETS.

Ald. Hiscox gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the Board he would move that the streets through the Exhibition grounds be opened, and that a portable fence be erected therein if necessary.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

His Lordship the Bishop of Huron and Mrs. Hellmuth left here for Toronto yesterday afternoon.

Mr. C. R. Domville, Locomotive Superintendent of the Great Western Railway, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. L. Thorne, of Blyth, formerly of London and Exeter, is said to have fallen heir to a legacy of $3,000.

Hon. David Mills, of the village of Palmyra, Kent Co., passed through London on his way east yesterday afternoon.

Mr. C. S. Hincmer, a teacher of vocal and instrumental music, from this city, has settled in Leamington, and the Post opens wide its arms to receive him.

Mr. G. Rowatt, traveller for Messrs. Laing, Sutherland & Co., sailed from New York on Saturday for Great Britain, on a purchasing tour for the firm.

American Hotel guests:—David Marchie, Toronto; David McGlynn, Teeswater; J. M. Crooks, St. Catharines; H. Morrison, Toronto; Thos. Barker, Toronto.

Mr. Andrew Hair, of Detroit, formerly cashier at the G. W. R. Freight Office in this city, celebrated the second anniversary of his wedding one day last week.

Mr. D. Sinclair, father of Mr. John Sinclair, of the Grand Central Hotel, Winnipeg, has arrived here, after spending six weeks in the North west. He enjoyed the visit very much.

Rev. E. Stimson, who sailed in the spring with a cargo of Canadian manufactures and produce for Australia, has returned, and was on a visit to friends in London yesterday.

Strong's Hotel guests last night:—Chas. Walker, Guelph; W. H. Widdicombe, do.; John B. Freeman, Simcoe, Ont.; Mr. Hood and wife, Detroit; John O'Donohoe, Toronto; W. Milner, Strathroy.

Mr. J. P. Whitehead, of Delaware, has been chosen Secretary of the Ontario Veterinary College Medical Society, and read an interesting paper on wounds and wound before the Society at it's last meeting.

Cousins House arrivals:—Lyman Meade, Cortland, N. Y.; A. Chatterson, Buffalo; I. L. Hakk, Wm. Davidson, James Powell, A. D. McIntire, Wingham; D. Vrooman, Strathroy; J. E. Reynolds, Watford; J. E. Evans, Oathcart.

Mr. Robt. S. Mansel, of London, England, one of the Directors of the Great Western Railway, accompanied by Mrs. Broughton, wife of the General Manager, paid a visit to London yesterday afternoon and left in the evening for Hamilton.

The Hon. J. W. Sifton, formerly of this city, has transferred the Canadian Press telegraph line east from Selkirk to Rat Portage, to the original contractors, Oliver, Davidson & Co. Mr. Sifton still retains the line between Winnipeg and Selkirk.

Revere House registrations:—John Cavendish, Windsor; G. H. and D. Hill, Stratford, W. r. Smith, Th. Baldwin and Bert Howie, Kincardine; Dr. R. W. Gray, Bostock; J. E. Vanderlip, Hamilton; Miss M. Stewart, Charing Cross; J. H. Collins, Akron, Ohio.

—Mr. Sydney Markley, of Kildonan, near Winnipeg, was drowned on Wednesday last while skating on the Red River with two other young gentlemen. A desperate effort was made to save him by his companions, named Lloyd and Randall, who were also precipitated into the water.

Miss Ella Leonard, daughter of Senator Leonard, of this city, acted as bridesmaid at Miss Laura Dale's marriage to Mr. E. G. Jackson, teller in the Federal Bank, at Toronto, one day last week. Miss Leonard wore a dress of fawn silk and brocade, with natural flowers in her hair.

Grieg House guests:—C. Coughlin, Centralia; C. C. Simpson, Chesley; L. W. Shneids, Berlin; Asst. Baron, Chicago; H. James Hadley, Combe; C. Drake, Montreal; John Sheppard, R. Sheppard, Lapser, Mich.; C. F. Warren, Niagara; Rev. W. Davis, Wingham; Robert Davis, Wyoming; R. MacKenzie, Tiverton.

Tecumseh House guests:—M. Lamont, Toronto; E. Hower, Montreal; J. F. Egan, Toronto; R. McCall, Toronto; Edtha R. Smith, Albany, N. Y.; R. W. Simpson, New York; H. Rosenthal, Detroit; Thomas B. Deeming, Hamilton, Ont.; W. A. Wilson, Toronto; J. Hooper, Kingston; Thos. Atkinson, New York; Alex. Finlayson, Toronto; Rev. Jas. Bryant, Glen Allen; M. Dancy, Bowmanville; E. E. Usher, G. W. R.; Hamilton; J. Newman, Toronto; T. B. Halliday, Toronto; L. B. McFarlane, Toronto; A. J. McIntosh, Toronto; George B. Ames, New York.

—DIED'S WANT TO DIE JUST YET.—The Detroit News of last night contained the following paragraph:—"Alfred W. Glass, living at 485 Sixteenth street, coolly proceeded to shuffle off this mortal coil about dusk on Saturday. He informed his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Walmsley, that he had taken ten grains of morphine, with the intention of committing suicide, and that after his mortal remains had been lowered into the dark and silent tomb, or words to that effect, he wished his watch to be given to Mrs. Glass. About half an hour, however, the opiate began to take effect, and Glass speedily concluded that he didn't want to die just yet, and begged that medical aid be summoned. Messengers were despatched for Drs. Law and Eccles, who promptly responded, and, after working over the would-be suicide for several hours, pronounced him out of danger. Glass had for some time been on a spree, from the effects of which he was suffering at the time he took the morphine."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

One Thousand Barrels Winter Apples wanted immediately at T. E. O'CALLAGHAN'S, 108 Dundas street, next to the City Hotel. J11y

LADIES', GENTS' AND BOYS' Fall Underclothing in English, Scotch and Canadian wool, every size, now offering at low prices, at J. J. Gibbons' Crystal Hall Building.

A MARVEL OF THE PERIOD.—If any one had said, even a short time ago, that Castor Oil could be made nice to take, he would probably have been regarded as a fit subject for a lunatic asylum; yet that is the fact to-day. Scott & Bowne have manufactured a tasteless combination of Castor Oil with glycerine, which is more like cream than the aboutinable dose that was the horror of our childhood and the dread of older years. SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL—25 cents a bottle—is a treat instead of a reprimance to the palate. eod RECEIVED this day at J. J. GIBBONS', a large assortment of ladies' Kid Gloves, in Black White, Dark, Medium and evening shade. Only 50 cents a pair. The very best value in the city.

Finnan Haddies and Fresh Oysters at S Mountjoy's.

Fresh Haddies and Oysters.—A. Mountjoy City Hall.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. eod

PARESCRIPTION FREE—For the speedy Cure of Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or exposure. Any druggist has the ingredients. Address, DAVIDSON & CO., 78 NASSAU ST., New York. eod

Special Notice for Gentlemen, who will please observe that A. B. Powell and Co. commence this season's trade confident that they were never in such a good position as now to execute orders in Ordered Clothing. Having fully proved the abilities of their present cutter, they now unhesitatingly affirm that they have the best cutter of gentlemen's clothing in the city. They keep no second-rate man—they pay a salary that will guarantee the best skill in the market. Their motto in this department is "Progress." Their business is so conducted that they are not controlled by warm or cold weather. They always do a lively Ordered Clothing business This is brought about by doing good work, giving elegantly fitting garments, and charging a much less price than those houses who depend wholly on the clothing trade. Gentlemen, try the new cutter; he will please you.—A.B.POWELL & Co., Clothiers and Dry Goods Merchants.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

London, Nov. 10.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon.

Sh.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
250	Agricultural		111	1121
50	Canadian		119	1114
100	Dominion		119	121
100	Hamilton		100	1004
50	Financial & Of Con.		105	107
90	do do pref.		100	101
50	Huron and Erie		100	102
50	London Loan		106	108
50	Ontario		104	105
50	Royal Standard		101	102
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
50	Free Press Pr'ts Co		101
	London Gas		102
	London Life		100	90
	Sun Mutual Assc'n		100
	Street Railway		100

Montreal Stocks—Nov. 10.

1.30 P.M.

	Asked.	Offered
Bank of Montreal	164	165
Merchants' Bank	90	90
Bank of Commerce	117	118
Montreal Bank	74	75
Bank of Toronto	132	133
Molsons Bank	80	744
Montreal Telegraph	94	95
People's Bank	62	66
Merchants' Jacques Cartier	62	904
Exchange Bank	89	30
Union Bank	62	63
Bank of Montreal, ex-div	141	142
Mercantile Bank, ex-div	141	142
Richelieu & Ont. Nav. Co	41	394
Merchants' Union Co	87	88
City Gas Company	129	1274

SALES—Merchants' Bank, 20 at 90; Bank of Commerce, 126 at 117; Ontario Bank 300 at 734, 50 at 74; Bank of Toronto, 2 at 132; Bank of Montreal 83, 141; to 141, 25 at 141, 25 at 141, Merchants' Bank, ex div, 141, 141, 141, 25 at 141, 25 at 141. Merchants' Bank, ex div. 25 at 971.

Montreal Finances.

Montreal, Nov. 10, 11.30 a. m.

Consols	97 15-16	1 p.m.	97 15-16
Five-twenties	102	1 p.m.	102
10 Consols	97 15-16		97

New York Stocks.

New York, November 10.—midnight.—Railroads active and higher. Stocks active and buoyant.

Cotton.

Liverpool, Nov. 10, 1.30 a. m.—Cotton firmer; Uplands, 6d; Orleans, 6d.

Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Wheat—Fall, No 1, 71 2c to $1 05, No 2 $1 2c to $1 03, No 3 $1 17 to $1 18, Spring, No 1 $1 7c to $1 08, No 2 $1 0c to $1

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Orders from the trade respectfully solicited.

Married.

On the 18th inst., by the Rev. H. E. Hill, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Benjamin Tarbox, to Miss Catharine Jane, eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Rogers, all of the township of Metcalfe.

Died.

In London, on the 18th inst., Charles Arthur, only son of the late Charles Gilbert, of Kingston, and grandson of Hiram Hardy, Esq., of this city, in his tenth year.

At his grandmother's residence, York st., Charlie J. W., the beloved and only child of George and Flavia Gorman; aged 5 months and 20 days.

The funeral will leave the grandmother's residence, 84½ York street, on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

DR. ORONHYATEKHA,

Office, 230 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall. Special attention given to Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. Office hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Peterboro Residence, 213 Dundas street, opposite to Wadsworth's Grove.

ELECTROPATHIC REMEDIAL INSTITUTE,

244 Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

ELECTRICITY is acknowledged by all medical men to be the most certain and permanent cure of Nervous Diseases, Paralysis, Deformities of the Body and Private Complaints. The Modern Practice as celebrated in France and Germany in the treatment of Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Cutaneous Diseases, Internal Congestions, Catarrh and Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver. This is their first introduction into Canada. Testimonials, consultations and opinions of the most eminent medical men in Europe and this country free.

J. G. WILSON
Electropathic and Hygienic Physician, assisted by competent male and female attendants.
oct

AMUSEMENTS.

THE POPULAR DIME, MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Every Monday and Friday evenings.

Y. M. C. A.—VICTORIA HALL.—Prof. A. R. Wilde, of Chicago, will deliver his amusing and instructive Lecture on Physiognomy or Character, as shown in the features, head expression, configuration, in video, walk and laugh, on Wednesday evening, Nov 19th. The lecture will be illustrated by a large number of pictures. Subject will also be treated from the audience, to illustrate character reading by the face and hair. The audience is now and will be all others delivered on similar subjects. Admission 25 cents; gallery 15 cents. Commences 8 o'clock. 819

SITUATIONS VACANT.

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED in a small family where nurse is kept. Good references required. Apply between 9 and 10 o'clock at 393 Talbot street. 819

SERVANTS WANTED.

TO HOUSEKEEPERS OF THE CITY of London and vicinity.—You can get supplied with good servants, at short notice, by applying to Mrs. Gregory, intelligence Office, Dundas street, London. 819

LOST OR FOUND.

GOLD CHAIN LOST, ON LAST Thursday evening, at the Old-fellows concert, between the Hall and Wellington street, a Locket attached. Any person finding the same and handing it at Hills's Hat Store will be handsomely rewarded. 819

REAL ESTATE.

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 12 feet frontage by 240 feet deep; pleasantly situated; first class central location, Albert street. Apply to F. B. Leacock. Gdof

FOR SALE, CHEAP.—Woodyatt Estate, Westminster.—Farm for particulars. 819

TO LET.

AN ELIGIBLE COTTAGE ON John street to let; healthy, convenient; early. Apply to C. W. Kent. 819

FOR SALE.

BLYTH MILLS FOR SALE.—The well-known Flour Mill and Saw and Shingle Mill, in the Village of Blyth, near the Great Western Station, together with several acres of good, tile drained, land. Farm Lands, convenient to the Railway Station, will be sold on reasonable terms. These Mills have been and are now doing a large and profitable business. The Flour Mill has four run of stones, with bolting and grinding machinery, large storage. The Saw Mill was built in 1878, and can cut on an average 10,000 feet of lumber per day. The machinery in both mills is nearly new, with the best improvements. The owner's reasons for selling is he having acquired Timber Limits in another locality. For particulars apply to P. KELLY, Blyth. 819

CARRIAGE, WAGON AND Blacksmith's Shop, with Dwelling House, for sale in the Village of Melbourne; doing a good business, and plenty of ordered work, which I will give can commence on.—J. E. ROBINSON, Melbourne Ontario. K185

TO PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A Miller & Richard Flow Paper Cutter, in good order. Will cut 30 inches. Apply at PARE PRESS Office. tf

WANZER SEWING MACHINE (beg), with latest improvements, for sale very low at Office of PARE PRESS. tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mme. M. Bond, the American artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be called in Canada Factory—No. 113 Richmond west, London. 2147

THE APPLETON, BAG AND CARPET and Flannel Weaver, No. 123 south Thurstreet, between Kingsmill and Talbot sts. All orders promptly attended to. Hlyn

COKEWOOD.

COKEWOOD, COKEWOOD. — A LARGE supply of first-class wood, cut or cut split at reasonable rates. Measure guaranteed. Orders left at J. Mullin's, opposite Carling's, or J. D. McDonald's, Maitland street, will be attended to.—Agnes Place, 4th York street. Gdoctly

CENTRAL COAL AND WOOD YARD, corner York and Wellington sts.

Only beech and maple wood, cut and mixed to suit purchasers, and all kinds, well screened, delivered in any part of the city free of charge. Good weight and measure guaranteed. Call before purchasing elsewhere.

A. STANTON,
Proprietor.
Gdoctly

JEWELERS.

C. THORNHILL, PRACTICAL Watch and Clockmaker, General Jobbing and Engraving. Shop—Next door to Talbot Theatre, Talbot street, late W. Riddell. Gun, Pistol and Jewellery repaired with neatness and despatch. Rates fixed. Gunmaking in its branches. KBY

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVers and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture frames, window cornices, brackets, Old frames recibbed. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 382 Dundas st. Fbly FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest and best house. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. Reece, 382 Dundas street, near Albert Block.

CONFECTIONERS.

OYSTERS AND CONFECTIONERY AT W. J. BOOTH'S, 3 LILLEY'S BLOCK, LONDON EAST.

LEGAL.

CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block, Talbot street, London, Ont. Fbly

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office — Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont.
EDWARD HARRIS, Q.C. JAMES MAGEE.
W. M. COX. W. J. CLARKE

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,

Importers and Wholesale Dealers in

BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.

240 AND 242 RICHMOND STREET,
LONDON.

Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. Fbly

J. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS of and Dealers in Hardware, Iron, Steel, Paints and Window Glass, London, Ont. fby

MUSICAL.

DAYTON'S DANCING ACADEMY, corner of Talbot street, G. Dayton, Teacher of fashionable dances thoroughly taught. Class for Beginners, Tuesday and Friday, at 8 p.m. Hall to rent for Balls, Concerts, etc. Music furnished by Dayton's Popular Quadrille Band.

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6956

TRY
D. DODD & BRO.,
—FOR—
Choice Family Groceries,
WINES, ETC.
—AT 393 DUNDAS STREET, 3 doors east of Cobble Inn Hall. Bliy

EDISON'S
ELECTRIC BELTS!
FOR Liver, Stomach & Back,
—AT—
SHUFF'S DRUG STORE
Dundas Street East.
London East, Nov. 17, 1879. nwf

—THE—
NORTH END STORE
IS THE PLACE FOR
CHOICE FAMILY GROCERIES
AT MODERATE PRICES.
All kinds of Poultry Below Market Prices.
Oysters received daily, at 35 cents per can.
GEO. DAVISON,
Nos. 729 and 731 Richmond st., London, Ont.

You Should Try
—OUR—
Extra Choice English Breakfast
TEA
AT SIXTY FIVE CENTS PER POUND.
A splendid Congou Tea, 50 cents per lb.
TORONTO TEA COMPANY
Branch No. 4, Market Lane,
LONDON, ONT.

The Forest City Grocery
Corner Dundas and Clarence streets, opp. Oddfellows' Hall, is noted for its tea and choicest
Groceries, Wines and Liquors.
Highest market price for farm produce. Visitors to the city, drop in and call at the Forest City Grocery and inspect our stock and prices.
Wines and Liquors of the best brands, done up in flasks, cheap.
S. VINCENT,
Fbody Grocer, Wine and Spirit Merchant.

Arkell's Brewery
AMBER ALE
—AND—
XXX Porter.
Hook always on hand. Orders left at the Re vere Hotel, or via Post Office will receive prompt attention. Alfbody

TRY J. W. HARDY,
—FOR—
Choice Groceries & Provisions,
Hams and Bacon, Fruits and Vegetables in season. Willow and Indian Baskets a speciality. A large stock of Tubs and Pails always on hand.
J. W. HARDY, corner King and Hildrel streets, opposite McFarlane's Hotel. mwf

ROBINSON'S MILLS
NEWBURY, ONT.
White Wood, Hickory, Chestnut, Cherry, Butternut, and other Hard Wood always on hand.
ALSO, LARGE STOCK OF FLOUR BARREL STAVES
Lumber Cut to Order.
R1Dec2 THOS. ROBINSON.

REMOVAL.
DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 356 Dundas street, five doors east of Wortley road. 819dwmf

MEDICAL.
DR ANDERSON, EYE AND EAR Surgeon, of Hamilton, can be consulted on all diseases of the eye, ear and throat, at the Tecumseh House, London, on Thursday next, 20th, from 10 a.m to 4 p.m. tf

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Talbot street, corner of Piccadilly. Ely

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST.
Office—Edge Block, Richmond street. Gbly

H. McLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST.
Office removed over Bradford's confectionery store, opposite City Hall.
181 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON.
Teeth extracted without pain. Ely

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST.
Office, 394 Dundas street. A197

L. O'DONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST, Office — Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street. Gbly

HOTELS.
BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. H. F. SIMPSON, Proprietor. K197

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travellers' comforts carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. DONALD. J185m

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE, TO JIM. BOYCE, adjoining Union Railway Station (Great Western), Windsor. Ely Jim—ly
THOMAS, Proprietor.

THE ROYAL HOTEL, WOODSTOCK, T. VASSARD, Proprietor. Central commercial hotel. Bus meets every train. Woodstock, Jan. 2, 1878. ly

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ONT. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. Bus meets all passenger trains.—F. J. HARRY & Co., Proprietors. Ont.

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE HOTEL, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES MATTHEWS, Proprietor. 1y

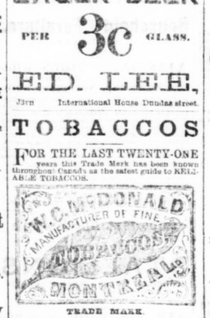
BUSINESS CARDS.
A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Notaries Agent. Dundas street, opposite Salter's house, London East. Jly

GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS cleaned and renovated by the new steam renovator. Old mattresses and church cushions made over equal to new.—JAMES F. HUNT, Mattress Factory, English Packing House, Talbot street, London. ly

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, tradesmen and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. K1dwy

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Closing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash price paid for second-hand clothing. Wm. JENKINS, 325 Dundas street, 3 doors west of Wellington and Citizens' st. Jly

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST CLASS MEATS. Begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has resumed business at the old stand, 93 Dundas street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. Jly



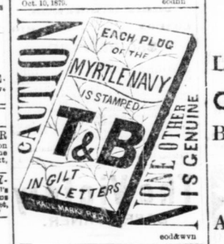
FINANCIAL.
PREFERENCE STOCK IN THE Financial Association of Ontario is still obtained at par from the Company by applying at the Office, Old Masonic Building, Toronto. J. EWART LE MOUNT, Managing Director.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS
A ten cent sample bottle of SARKINSON'S PHOSPHATIC SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. July

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jly International House Dundas street.

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to KEEP A GOOD TOBACCONIST.



TRADE MARK.

Notice to Cattle Dealers and Farmers.
SHEEP, CATTLE AND PRODUCE
THOS. SPENCE, SON & CO'Y,
Commission Salesmen,
EDINBURGH and GLASGOW, SCOTLAND.
Established - 1840.
REFERENCE—Union Bank of Scotland, Irongate, Glasgow.
MARKET REPORT, 7TH AUG.—Feed, 14 to 17 cts.; Oats, 40 cts.; Barley, 50 cts.; by the carload, wholesale. Trade improved since last report.

A free pass is granted there and back to every 10 cattle or 20 sheep. Shippers can draw two thirds of the value of cattle on consignment policy for at least amount of draft and bill of lading, which will be handed to purchaser, and freight will also be paid by consignee on arrival. Prompt returns and full cash balance every day at destination, as directed by the consignor. Early shipments to Liverpool and September is necessary.

For further particulars apply J. GORDON, also main Leslie's Nurseries, P.O. Box 1040 Toronto. Hdwmtf

GRAND TRUNK
Coal and Wood Yard,
ADELAIDE ST., ADJOINING THE VICTORIA RINK.
THE SUBSCRIBER DESIRES to thank his many friends and the public generally for past favors, and to inform them that he has in stock the best qualities of WOOD and COAL, which he offers at the lowest rates, cover from the weather, therefore in better condition for consumers.
Prices as Low as at Any Other Yard.
Orders respectfully solicited, which if mailed or left at the Yard Office will have prompt attention for any part of the city.
GEORGE RENDELL.
Oct. 10, 1879. eodlm

coldsvtn

SPENCERIAN STEEL PENS.
SPENCERIAN OFFICIAL
Superior Exercise make. A sample card of one each of the Twelve Numbers for trial, by mail, on receipt of 25 cents.
ALEX. BUNTIN & CO., Montreal, Illustrated
Sole Agents for Canada.

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE
TRADE MARK. The Great English Remedy. Gray's Specific Medicine. Sold by all Druggists everywhere. B. A. MITCHELL, London, Wholesale Agent.

The Great English Remedy. Gray's Specific Medicine. Sold by all Druggists everywhere. Wasting Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. ☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
Toronto, Ont., Canada.
Sold by all Druggists everywhere.
B. A. MITCHELL, London, Wholesale Agent.
Lmly-wly

Essential Oils!
RECEIVED.
(4) Four Coppers Oil Lemon.
(2) Two do. " Bergamot.
(4) Four Tins " Myrbane.
B. A. MITCHELL.

AUCTION ROOMS.
ALEX. TYTLER
Has received Consignments of
New Goods.
AUCTION SALE TO-TUESDAY AND SATURDAY, 11.30 a.m., 2.30 p.m.
oct ALEX. TYTLER, Auctioneer.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS
T. H. FERGUSON & CO.,
Manufacturers of PURE WHITE WINE VINEGAR and MALT VINEGARS. Dundas Street West, opposite Court House, London, Ontario.
T. H. FERGUSON, H. BROWN, J. A. SCHNEIDER
J1057

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains.
THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their works, 70 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains.
oct1 TURNER & BROWN.

KINGSMILL'S,
—THE—
Great Dry Goods House
OF THE WEST,
OFFER SPECIAL DRIVES
in various departments this morning.
Note the Following:

Superior English All Wool
FANCY FLANNELS.
Bleached and Unbleached, extra good quality, American
CANTON FLANNELS
EMBOSSED
DRESS MATERIALS,
with Velvets to match.
BLACK
GROS GRAIN SILKS.
Ladies' Black and Drab
CLOTH JACKETS,
Berlin and Paris make.
All Wool, Twilled
CANADIAN
BLANKETS.
TABLE LINENS.
CASHMERE
AND OTHER
DRESS GOODS.
Received to-day, new shapes in
LADIES' DRAB
MOSCOW HATS.
To Get the Best Value for Your Money
GO TO
KINGSMILL'S.
For the Largest Variety, The Latest Novelties, The Lowest Prices in Millinery,
GO TO KINGSMILL'S.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

Review of the Situation by a Prominent Liberal Politician.

London, Nov. 18.—A Berlin dispatch says:—In an interview with a leading German Liberal, he commends freely on Governmental affairs. The conversation began by a reference to the situation in Parliament, the clerical influence, and the alleged combination of Bismarck with Junkers against the Jews, and for the purpose of intimidating the Liberals. "Personally," said the gentleman, "Bismarck dislikes me, because I predicted his going to Canossa, and he is now there."

"Is it true," I asked, "that there is any real sentiment against the Jews developing in this country?"

"Yes," he replied, "the feeling against the Hebrews as a class is increasing in Germany; but it will never amount to a party subdivision, and can result in no permanent advantage or disadvantage to anybody. Bismarck knows whence comes the money, and we know who hold the purse-strings of Europe. He wants money, above all else, to maintain a colossal standing army, while almost universal stagnation prevails in commercial circles in Germany, and when Bismarck wants money, Jew and Gentile, Democrat and Junker, are all one to him. He conceded the point of nominating Friedberg, a Jew, to the office of Minister of Justice, and he will concede more to others—perhaps to Lasker. The want of money levels politics and religion with Bismarck."

"Do you believe Prince Bismarck seriously entertains the idea of resigning his office?"

"No, he will never resign. He is too fond of power; and, besides, he is a man of boundless ambition."

"In case he should resign, who would be his probable successor?"

"Munster would be a fair man in the Prince's place,—honest enough, and disposed to be reasonably just, but of rather narrow views and circumscribed in his opinions. The masses of the Germans, if permitted to make known their real opinion, prefer democracy, while the Prussians are in favor of bureaucracy; the Prussians believe in a strong, central, official power, while the Germans believe in a fair expression of the popular will."

"Is there any likelihood of a serious misunderstanding with France?"

"No. Germany desires peace, and France is neither prepared nor justified in seeking a quarrel with us. Bismarck is opposed to Imperialism, as the French are to ignorant Republicanism, and both are the victims of conditions of existence, which would be increased a thousand-fold by the approach of hostilities with another France. Thus neither Government, if ever so much disposed, is in condition to push any supposed grievance to a hostile issue."

"What are your views of the policy and the statesmanship of England?"

"England is more democratic even than France, but she has too many demagogs, and so-called diplomats, and too few statesmen. Beaconsfield is a far-seeing diplomatist, but his is too narrow for a statesman. The preliminary diplomatic skirmishing is now in progress, ostensibly to secure the peace of Europe, but its results so far are farcical. In the end they will be tragical. Turkey, you will observe, has changed partners since the late war, and if Russia has not already a secret treaty with the Porte, she is at least on excellent terms with the Sultan, and in the event of a rupture, there is little doubt that they would be fast friends and allies. The programme is not very changeful, and how Turkey entertains the bitterest hostility toward England."

"Will Gortschakoff retire from his place near the head of the Russian Government?"

"Yes; Gortschakoff may retire, and will doubtless be succeeded by Schouvaloff; but the Russian policy will remain unchanged. The war party is in the ascendant, the Czar is powerless, and is, in fact, the greatest slave in the Empire. Kaufmann is a daring and dangerous enemy of England, and the whole Jewish opinion are helping on the quarrel. What a deplorable picture! Military despotism dragooning the people, driving them headlong into unsought and unnecessary war, whose terrible cost of blood and treasure must be paid by unwilling subjects, while their Imperial masters snuff the battle from a safe distance and reap the resulting glory and reward."

The official regards the recent exchange of compliments between Germany and Russia as amounting to nothing. He believes the Germans will yet rise and assert their manhood, and proclaim the doctrine of Liberalism throughout the length and breadth of the land. Bismarck or no Bismarck to the contrary.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE GRAND TRUNK LOAN.

London, Nov. 18.—The Telegraph says it is stated that the loan invited by the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada has been subscribed several times over.

A BATCH OF OFFICIAL DENIALS.

London, Nov. 18.—The Post, on official authority, denies that England's ultimatum was sent to the Porte, or that the Channel fleet was ordered in readiness to proceed from Malta to Turkish waters in four days, or that England demanded from Turkey the cession of a port in the Ægean Sea, and that a league of the Balkan Provinces has been formed.

LOSS OF THE SHENANDOAH.

The American Confederate cruiser, Shenandoah, has sunk off the Island Scootra, in the Indian Ocean. Date unknown. Most of the crew drowned. She belonged to the Sultan of Zanzibar.

A SIGN OF PROSPERITY.

London, Nov. 18.—The spinning mills of Kirk-Caldy have begun work on full time, having been operating on short time for two years.

A STEAMSHIP STRIKES A PIER.

The steamer Canada, for New York, in passing down the Thames, came in collision with the Woolwich steamboat pier, completely destroying it. The steamer was not damaged.

THE GREAT O'GORMAN.

Dublin, Nov. 18.—The practical results of the anti-rent agitation are already very considerable. Every day announcements are made that this and that landlord has voluntarily reduced his tenants' rents. To-day it is stated that Major O'Gorman, member of Parliament for Waterford, and a large landowner in that district, has reduced the rents of his tenants from 40 to 75 per cent. Major O'Gorman was always extremely popular in Waterford, and this concession to the popular feeling, and the necessity for meeting the demands of the tenant farmers, has been received throughout Ireland, not with surprise, but with cordial approbation.

FRANCE.

WATCHING THE PRIESTS.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Minister of the Interior has issued a circular to the Prefects calling their attention to the mission of the priests to pray for the safety of the Republic. He wishes to be informed whether the mission is prompted by the Bishops. He also desires to be informed whenever a Bishop leaves his dioceses without authority, and more particularly if he visits Rome.

MONTENEGRO.

FAMINE—WAR.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The distress in Montenegro is very great. One-sixth of the population is almost starving, and the present supplies of food will only last until January.

There is severe fighting on the frontier near Braservotza.

SWITZERLAND.

A DOOMED VILLAGE.

London, Nov. 18.—The village of Vitznau, at the foot of Rigi Mountain, Switzerland, is threatened with destruction, the wall of the rock behind the village showing signs of falling.

RUSSIA.

ADVICE TO TURKEY.

London, Nov. 18.—A St. Petersburg despatch says Russia has advised Turkey to ask all signatories to the Treaty of '56 to despatch ships from the Dardanelles if the English fleet enters the Straits. The St. Petersburg press is virulent on the question.

POPULAR SUBSCRIPTIONS.

London, Nov. 18.—A St. Petersburg despatch says:—The Moscow Committee on Volunteer Cruisers called a meeting to discuss the means for raising a fresh subscription for constructing cruisers, in view of Russia's relations with England.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—The agitation at the capital over the contemplated purchase of cruisers for the Russian navy is revived. It is felt that an increase of war vessels is imperatively called for as a precautionary measure in the present disturbed condition of affairs throughout Europe. The story is that agents will be at once sent out to make arrangements for the purchase of suitable ships in different markets where they can be obtained, and also to order the construction of iron war vessels with all possible speed in case suitable ships are not found immediately available. What the Russian Government is preparing for a struggle which is felt to be near at hand, so as if necessary to take initiative in it, is regarded as strengthened almost to demonstration by this action.

RELATIONS WITH GERMANY.

London, Nov. 18.—A Berlin correspondent announces that Baron D'Oubril, Russian Ambassador to Germany, has been summoned to St. Petersburg to explain the relations between Russia and Germany.

READY FOR A DUTY.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18 All the Russian officers on leave of absence have been ordered to join their regiments immediately.

WAR PROPHESIED.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—The Novoe Vremya, in discussing the prospects of war, says that neither the Russian people nor the Russian Government wish for war, because the bad financial state of the Empire explains peace; but every day and every hour conviction deepens that a great struggle is soon to break out.

GERMANY.

THE CZAREVITCH AND CZARINA AT BERLIN.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—In accordance with their own request, the reception of the Czarevitch and Czarina yesterday was entirely informal and unceremonious. Indeed, their train having been delayed by a heavy snow storm, their arrival was not known in the streets until the city. The Czarevitch was plainly dressed in citizen's costume, but his imposing figure was recognized by a few Russians. The party were driven in a plain carriage to the Russian embassy on the "Unter den Linden," where grenadiers stood on guard. In the afternoon they went to the Greek Church and exchanged visits with the Emperor and Empress, and the Princess Charles of the Court, the Emperor presiding. In the evening they attended the opera, and a brilliant assemblage listened to the reunion of "Rienzi." To-day they are preparing for their departure for St. Peters burg. The Czarevitch refuses his veil is of a purely social nature and is devoid of all political significance.

EGYPT.

RECOGNITION OF THE ANGLO-FRENCH COMPTROLLERS.

Alexandria, Nov. 18.—The Moniteur Egyptien publishes decrees recognizing the functions of the Anglo-French Comptrollers, and declaring the double

The Free Press.

Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1879.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts to Midnight. Telegraphic Dispatches, is issued every morning, verifying the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western news—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 2 o'clock p. m., also finds a place in its columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals to the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is issued at 4 o'clock p. m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at 7.30 O'CLOCK, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city; and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month ..... $ 50
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid 6 00

Send post office order when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention, all writers wishing their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts made at following rates, per inch, in Daily :—

1 Day	$1 20	6 Days	$2 70	1 Month	$6 00
2 "	1 80	6 "	3 00	3 "	9 00
3 "	2 00	2 Weeks	4 80	6 "	12 00
4 "	2 40	3 "	6 00	12 "	20 00
One Year					$36 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must BE ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page, 15c. First day 15c per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Births and Marriages, 50c; Deaths 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, leaded, 15 cents a line; advertisements 10 cents a line, or $1.25 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long or time advertisements.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News correspondence of interesting character is invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE LONDON FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly sealed and full postage paid to insure their delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless so requested and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON, ONTARIO.

TUNNEL, OR NO TUNNEL?

The U. S. Commission appointed to enquire into the merits of the various plans for surmounting the difficulties which the Detroit river presents to rail way communication have already spent several days in making the necessary examinations, and listening to the evidence put forward by conflicting interests. This Commission consists of five engineer officers, and was named by Congress in order to definitely settle the question as between the construction of a tunnel or a bridge. Having adjourned for some time, an appointment was made for reassembling at Detroit to-day, and it is likely that they will now soon bring their labors to a close, so that whatever plan may be determined upon may be submitted for the approval of the Canadian Parliament and U. S. Congress this winter, effective operations commencing in the spring of 1880. A strong combination of remonstrance has been made against the proposition to erect a bridge, while the tunnel plan has presented so many difficulties as to have led to the abandonment of it on two several occasions. The shipping interests affirm that the piers necessary so a bridge must be many in number, as the river at Windsor is nearly one mile in width, is five fathoms deep, and has a current of three miles an hour. These piers, it is held, would seriously interfere with navigation, and especially with the operations of tugs, which often come down with five or six vessels in tow, following each other at intervals of 300 feet, forming a continuous line of nearly half a mile in length. In certain conditions of the wind, it is said, the tow line will sag, the consequence being that the hindermost vessels, playing freely, will strike against the abutments and be knocked to pieces. It is pointed out, also, that where bridges had been built over the streams in the Mississippi valley, where the stream is comparatively sluggish, they are already proving a great and growing nuisance, and that it would be altogether too bad if the marine gateway of the northwest should be similarly incommoded. No doubt there is much force of argument against the building of a bridge at the point in question—between Windsor and Detroit. The construction of a tunnel may be said to be but a question of money. But, then, it is a great deal of money that would be wanted, and the enquiry naturally arises, "Who is to furnish it?" Will the U. S. Congress make an appropriation for the purpose, and will the Canadian Government contribute its quota? In either case there would be strong remonstrance on the part of the Grand Trunk Railway. Still, the work presents so many points of international importance, the proposed work lies so completely in the highroad between the east and the west, that it would not be surprising if some effort of a general public character were to be made in order to carry through a railway tunnel under the Detroit river. If matters are left to drift as they have been drifting those fifteen years past, a long time must elapse before construction can commence, whereas if the respective Governments were to come to a friendly understanding in the matter a great public good to the American and Canadian people would be secured.

The Globe says:—

"To get at the real opinion of the manufacturers some such steps as that taken by the London Advertiser must be made. Our Western contemporary has been hunting for the boom itself in advance of Sir Leonard's visit. The opinions elicited by its reporters no doubt express the exact opinions of the manufacturers on the matter of the tariff."

Do they, indeed? On this point it is only necessary to refer to the case of Mr. Thomas McCormick, confectioner. On the occasion of Sir Leonard's visit to the extensive factory of that gentleman, now running night and day, Mr. McCormick observed that the only complaint he had to make was of the manner in which his statements to the reporter had been garbled and misrepresented in the Advertiser. This will be found a fair sample of the several so-called interviews which the Globe speaks of as "no doubt the exact opinions of the manufacturers."

...From time to time some sad stories of the reverses caused by the failure of the Glasgow Bank. A few weeks since a young man committed suicide, after having endured for a whole year the loss of £80,000 by the failure; and by the last papers a young girl was charged with theft by her employer, at Islington, whose family lost their all by the failure, and who committed the theft to get food for her starving mother and two little children. Her father had been a physician in good practice, and died of grief. The Charity Organization Society will provide for the family.

EDUCATION OF WOMEN.

The friends of female education will be rejoiced to learn that yet another step is about to be taken in this country with a view to widen the sphere of woman's influence, and open up a comparatively new field for the exercise of her talents and energy. With a gentleman of the liberal views of Mr. Grant, his cultivated tastes and love of learning, at the head of Queen's University, Kingston, it is nothing more than the country had a right to expect, when he is found throwing the whole weight of his name, influence and position on the side of right and justice to that sex, which has been so long deprived of both. Professor Grant delivered the inaugural lecture of the Montreal Ladies' Educational Association, and in this eloquent discourse he points out clearly and convincingly all that society has lost by withholding from the youth of the female sex, an education and training adapted to their nature and capacity, and what the world may gain in the future by changing the established course in this respect, and admitting them to quaff freely of the same Castalian founts that have hitherto been reserved for their more favored brothers. In this lecture Dr. Grant made known the fact, that the medical faculty in connection with Queen's University have determined to throw open their doors to lady students, who will have the same matriculation examination and the same course of study as that provided for men. This is all that can be required by the ladies or their friends. Give them as equal chance, equal facilities for preparation in primary, secondary and higher education, and let their own talent and industry do the rest.

The old argument against educating women in much the same manner and to the same extent as man, whose only point is that it has been considered indelicate, unsuitable and so on, will scarcely outlive the scathing ridicule of Dr. Grant when he asks—"Is it more unwomanly to walk to college than to ride to hounds? More indelicate to sit in the same room with young men listening to lectures on philosophy or science, for two or three hours in the day time, than to dance fast dances with them all night? More unmaidenly to practise the healing art than to cultivate the art of husband-hunting? Is it less unworthy of the sex to study anatomy, than to know nothing, or do something than to do nothing, to cultivate faculties than to dwarf them?"

While ably and candidly supporting the claims of women to a better education, and showing that there is nothing in delicate nor immoral in occupying seats in the same hall or lecture room on nearly all subjects, where proper provision has been made, he is evidently no friend to what he calls the "extreme left," whose loud cries of women's rights have led them to forget that there is such a thing as "woman's duties." In fact, these noisy agitators are now doing more ill to the cause of female education than they are doing good, and the best thing they could do would be to let it alone. It is not solely, nor even principally, to enable women to provide better for themselves, since so many of them have to fight the battle of life single-handed, that the best men advocate the admission of female students to the academic halls of this and other countries; but because of the high and holy mission appointed for woman, as she whose plastic hand is by far the most potent, and whose influence is first and most enduringly felt in moulding the moral character of nations and individuals, and in giving a tone to society. We all know how poorly most of the fashionable boarding schools of this and other countries have discharged the duties devolved upon them, in training the youthful minds so as to enable them to perform wisely their part in life, and meet with firmness and judgment the trials which none can altogether escape. It would be difficult to have a worse preparation for the performance of these onerous duties, than that which has been so generally provided for those who need most the best that can be given them. But a brighter day is now dawning upon woman, and through her, upon the world; since our public educational institutions, from the primary schools to the University, are on the eve of being all open to male and female students indiscriminately, and the influence of a better cultivated female mind will soon be felt on the taste, the morals, and the intellect of the people. The Professor's quotation from Rousseau was most happy and pertinent on this point—"Man will be always what woman pleases; if you wish men to be great and good, teach women what greatness and goodness really are."

We are glad to find that the able and learned Principal of Queen's College takes the true view of what ought to be the leading aim of the educationists. This aim should be method, not matter; training the mind to correct habits of thinking and investigation, not converting it into a store house of learnen and very often disjointed facts; to enable it by a rigorous analysis to discriminate between the right and the wrong, the true and the false, and set the mind free from bias and partiality in the pursuit of truth. The lecture of Professor Grant will go a long way in settling the question of woman's right to a complete education of all her faculties, and the development of her powers to their utmost capacity, at least in Canada, as he has said enough to show, that whether we confine our views to the interest of women as such, or extend them to the benefit of the people at large, it is the duty of a nation to educate the female part of the population as carefully and liberally as it does the males of the same country.

SIR L. TILLEY AND THE WORKING-MEN.

A Grit contemporary remarks that in the visits of Sir Leonard Tilley to the shops and factories of the country nothing is said of the case of the workmen, but all for the manufacturers. The observation is both stupid and uncalled for. The object of the visitations is to give all parties having any kind of grievance the opportunity of stating it. And those Grit journals who have professed all along to see nothing but failure in the N. P., and endeavored to ridicule the "hum" on every occasion, must be confounded and silenced by the expressions of satisfaction which have greeted the Finance Minister on all sides in the factories carried on by Grits and Tories alike. Any complaint on the part of manufacturers has been of minor consideration, while, on the whole, everybody is jubilant over the return of good times. And this spirit is shared in by the employed in every department of industry. Does anyone hear of any demonstrations, by public meeting or petition, on the part of the working interest? Not at all. The Grits could not organize a workingman's procession as a mark of protestation. No such outcries and open demonstrations as marked the reign of Mackenzie are now heard of. On the contrary, the working people cannot help contrasting the conduct of the present Finance Minister in personally calling from shop to shop, soliciting the suggestions of employers, and inquiring into the condition of the working population, with that of the Mackenzies and the Cartwrights, who sat in their offices at Ottawa, puffed up with their own importance, and impatiently snubbing every appeal from the manufacturers and slamming the door in the faces of workingmen's deputations. They realize the fact of a wiser and more genial and beneficent rule, which seeks to adapt itself to the solid needs of the country, and remember with scorn and shame the conduct of the men who shut their doors in the face of the Ottawa laborers on a frosty February day, and instead of giving them a share of the work which ought to have been in readiness, told them "to go up to Manitoba." Our contem. at Hamilton never put its foot in it so cleverly as when it called attention to these matters.

ONE KIND OF PARTYISM.

Party politics, as defined by Mr. Blake, consist of "the extreme of bitterness," of "blind, unreasoning adhesion to party propositions," "opposing everything proposed by the Government, no matter what its advantages to the country may be," "the zeal that leads to harsh recriminations." All these things, says Mr. Blake, are "too plain to be ignored." Alas! too true! Have we not always lamented these things? Often must Mr. Blake have revolted in spirit from the galling yoke imposed upon him as an enforced participant in such miserable faction. But it has been a mystery to many why he permitted himself to be used for so long as the instrument of a party clique who were willing to resort to unscrupulous distraction of opponents, and manifest on all occasions "the extreme of bitterness." Mr. Blake's friends, in season and out of season, opposed everything emanating from the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald, and indulged in every species of recrimination, the result of "blind, unreasoning adhesion to party." Yet whoever heard of Mr. Blake rising to rebuke such scandalous proceedings? There is a faint suspicion that he has himself been no small or infrequent offender in these respects. But it is said that he has lacked the moral courage to break loose from the fetters of party, so far as to assert the fair and manly principles which he must privately have entertained, when he saw his friends striking below the belt, and using unfair and unmanly weapons. The lack of moral courage referred to has been marked on other occasions, notably when Mr. Blake was a member of Parliament to evade the division on the Letellier question, and made his exit in the same dexterous and hurried manner on other occasions, when he could not vote with his party, and dare not vote against it.

THE CASES DIFFERENT.

The local Grit organ complains that the land regulations of the North-west Territories are being too extensively advertised, and says it will cost a nice penny. Our neighbor was not quite so captious over the celebrated item in the Public Accounts of Ontario, some time ago, showing that no less than $600 had been spent in advertising for tenders for the coals required at the Government House. The sum laid out in advertising that paltry matter was indeed a "nice penny," amounting to more than three times the cost of the fuel. As to advertising the land laws which could not be accurately calculated upon such a basis, when the variation of the fraction of a second in the measurement of the angle must eventuate in a variation of tens of thousands of miles in the result? The problem remained in this unsatisfactory condition until Prof. Newcombe, of the Washington Observatory, took it up and corrected the general result at which previous astronomers had arrived. Prof. Newcomb has probably done more to solve the problem and to reduce the sun's distance to practicable accuracy than any man living. His calculation fixed the figures at ninety-two and one-third millions of miles, with a possible variation of 200,000 or 300,000. And here he must be permitted to call attention to an event which would happen in 1882 from which he would take leave to predict important results. He referred, of course, to the transit of Venus across the sun's disk, which would take place on December 6 of that year, and would furnish a most brilliant opportunity to observers. The reason that this transit had a special value was one very easily explained. Regarding the sun's disk as a sort of index plate, the whole body of the planet might be considered as an index. The astronomer would next ascertain the track of the planet across the disk of the central luminary. The next procedure would be to time Venus as she traveled across the fiery field, first, by noting the instant of her intrusion upon the sun's periphery, secondly, by taking her time at different points during the journey, and, finally, by registering the instant of her departure. It was a very simple matter after this to divide the annual revolution of the planet by the time of her passage across the sun, and thus to ascertain the distance traversed. It might be better to adopt two stations, with lines drawn to Venus and lines drawn to the sun, and to time the passage of the planet between these lines and than, again, provided there were no source of error, the calculation would be of great value in the matter of determining the exact time of the planet's entrance upon the disk could not be ascertained, for the reason that the planet had an atmosphere, and, instead of breaking into the periphery of the central orb with an arc of light, the refractive property of her atmosphere became a source of uncertainty. From the same cause the exact second of her departure was not ascertainable.

After this discussing the uncertainty of calculations based upon the solar parallax, with observations from the transits of Venus, the oppositions of Mars, and lunar irregularities, Mr. Proctor passed to the consideration of experimental measurements, based upon the velocity of light, combined with observations of the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites, promising that photography, under the exact methods developed by Janssen, might possibly result in giving a new value to the observations of the transit of 1882. He did not know what success the Americans had obtained from the data furnished by the transit of Mercury, but if they were anything like as inaccurate as the English, then the sun, to employ the terms of an American critic, had been demonstrated to be "an infinite distance beyond nowhere." The velocity of light was an important factor in the calculations of Professor Newcomb and his adjutants. It was required, under this method, first to ascertain the exact rapidity with which light traveled, and, secondly, the time occupied in passing from the solar orb to the earth. In a general way, the velocity had been stated at about 200,000 miles a second, but the beautiful experiments of Foucault and others had been successful in bringing the value of this factor in the problem to a more accurate determination than that expressed in such round numbers as the preceding. Mr. Proctor here described the experiments with the wheel and mirror (which are familiar to most readers), and stated the average result of many observations by different experimenters at 182,000 miles per second. These experiments had been verified by Newcomb, with a result not variation of only a few hundred yards, and those figures might, therefore, be considered not only as proximately accurate, but as nearly absolutely correct. But here, again, it unfortunately happened that the time of the passage of light from the solar orb had not been so precisely determined as to exclude error, although Prof. Newcombe was probably correct in believing that it had been reduced to a limit of 200,000 or 300,000 miles. The experiments and calculations of Fowalky in Germany, Stone in England, and Leverrier in France, were passed in review of this section of the lecture, and the speaker entered upon the second and illustrated portion of his discourse.

The first views exhibited were three photographs of the pyramids of Egypt, which he regarded as, without doubt, astronomical observatories, erected by a people who understood the art of observing star movements, and were accurate enough to set their observatories four degrees with an accuracy that was not rivaled at the time of Brahe, and had only been excelled by extremely modern builders. By reference to a vertical section from north to south, facing west, of the great pyramid at Gizeh, Mr. Proctor showed the adaptation of the mysterious interiors of these structures to astronomical purposes, observing that if, with unlimited command of money, and without the possibility of obtaining a telescope, he were to set about the construction of an observatory, such a plan of the interior would be exactly the one he should adopt. The riddle of the passages, and of the central and other large spaces was, he believed, to be explained upon no other theory than that of their erection with primary reference to astronomical study. The middle section of the lecture was devoted to the explanation of a series of views illustrating the relative sizes of the planets, as compared with each other and with the sun, which served no excellent purpose in correcting the erroneous notions of dimensions and distance obtained from educational books and instruments. This series was concluded with an old-fashioned view of the solar system, but one which may be found in many educational text books, and which Mr. Proctor considered a shade worse than no illustration at all in the study of astronomy. In connection with a series of views of comets and meteorites, the lecturer entered upon the final section of his discourse—the volumes and distances of comets, their phenomena, and their relation to meteoric showers. He did not assume, he said, that the subject he was about to discuss had any very definite relation to the topic he had announced for the evening; but as it was the date of the great November shower, (Nov. 15,) his hearers would pardon the digression. While meteors did not appear to diverge from a particular point in the heavens when viewed as luminous bodies whirling with incredible velocity through the earth's atmosphere, it was, nevertheless, true that they always radiated from a centre. Their tracks were parallel in solar space, though not so as respects our vision, and the point from whence they moved might always be calculated. Those of the night of Nov. 27 radiates from near the star Gamma at the feet of Andromeda. There was a tremendous fall of these bodies in November, 1866, and again in 1867, and so on until the great meteoric shower of 1871. Since 1871 no very great November falls had been registered. It had occurred to astronomers to verify the suspicion of Schiaparelli that these phenomena were connected with the orbits of comets, and since by one their periods had been identified as related to those of these eccentric wanderers of the stellar universe. Prof. Proctor took occasion to advise such of his hearers as were astronomers not to neglect the opportunity for observation this year, as it might be predicted with some degree of reliance that meteoric showers of magnitude would occur.

But all this had no relation to the immensity of space, unless his hearers were willing to regard him as passing from the solar system to interstellar regions upon one of those eccentric bodies he had just described. This he would take the liberty of doing, in order to effect a return to the subject with which he set out. The distance of one star (Alpha), which he pointed out upon a view of the southern heavens, had been determined with precision by Henderson. It might be stated, by way of giving an idea of the magnitude of these spaces, as about 20,000 billions of miles. Another single star in the northern hemisphere had also been measured with some accuracy, but the figures were too vague to be valuable. Both these stars appeared next to our own stellar system. How illimitable, then, must be the magnitude of the distances to be regarded, as one spoke of the star-streams of the Milky Way. With an illustration of his own theory of the spiral form of the Milky Way projected upon the screen, Mr. Proctor proceeded to enquire the distances of the resplendent star and star-clusters of our own stellar system with those of many and meandering rivers of luminaries regressed as encircling it. All of these bodies were doubtless unas many times larger than our own, some of them giving three times its light, and being the centres, no doubt, of systems of worlds higher in their organization and finer in their adaptation to the enjoyment of life than our own. Mr. Proctor concluded with the recitation of Shelley's magnificent, but familiar, apostrophe to the stars.

The Immensity of Space.

Mr. Proctor's Second Lecture.

Methods of Determining the Sun's Distance—Probable Accuracy of Newcomb's Results—A Shower of Meteors Probable this Month.

The second lecture of Mr. R. A. Proctor's course on astronomy, delivered on Thursday night at Chickering Hall, attracted an audience not less brilliant, and even more numerous than that which greeted its predecessor on Monday evening. Mr. Proctor appeared on the platform at 8 o'clock, and was greeted with a ripple of enthusiasm. He commenced by expressing a fear that, in part of his treatment of the evening's topic, he should have to deal with details too dry to be entertaining to a popular assemblage; for although the immensity of space involved a grandeur of conception that was almost fatiguing to human imagination, the figures in which it had to be expressed were by no means calculated to impress the fancy. It had been found, indeed, impossible to form a conception of the spaces of the solar system from the exhibition of mere numerical data, and if such was the case with our little system—an indistinguishable speck compared with the vastness of the universe—by what mode of illustration should the astronomer hope to give an adequate conception of interstellar distances? He should begin by familiarizing the minds of his hearers with a scale such as was employed on large geographical and topographical maps, and by reasoning from this scale as a starting point, and manifest on all occasions "the extreme of bitterness." Mr. Blake's friends, in season and out of season, opposed everything emanating from the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald, and indulged in every species of recrimination, the result of "blind, unreasoning adhesion to party." Yet whoever heard of Mr. Blake rising to rebuke such scandalous proceedings? There is a faint suspicion that he has himself been no small or infrequent offender in these respects. But it is said that he has lacked the moral courage to break loose from the fetters of party, so far as to assert the fair and manly principles which he must privately have entertained, when he saw his friends striking below the belt, and using unfair and unmanly weapons. The lack of moral courage referred to has been marked on other occasions, notably when Mr. Blake was a member of Parliament to evade the division on the Letellier question, and made his exit in the same dexterous and hurried manner on other occasions, when he could not vote with his party, and dare not vote against it.

THE CASES DIFFERENT.

The local Grit organ complains that the land regulations of the North-west Territories are being too extensively advertised, and says it will cost a nice penny. Our neighbor was not quite so captious over the celebrated item in the Public Accounts of Ontario, some time ago, showing that no less than $600 had been spent in advertising for tenders for the coals required at the Government House. The sum laid out in advertising that paltry matter was indeed a "nice penny," amounting to more than three times the cost of the fuel. As to advertising the land laws which could not be accurately calculated upon such a basis, when the variation of the fraction of a second in the measurement of the angle must eventuate in a variation of tens of thousands of miles in the result? The problem remained in this unsatisfactory condition until Prof. Newcombe, of the Washington Observatory, took it up and corrected the general result at which previous astronomers had arrived. Prof. Newcomb has probably done more to solve the problem and to reduce the sun's distance to practicable accuracy than any man living. His calculation fixed the figures at ninety-two and one-third millions of miles, with a possible variation of 200,000 or 300,000. And here he must be permitted to call attention to an event which would happen in 1882 from which he would take leave to predict important results. He referred, of course, to the transit of Venus across the sun's disk, which would take place on December 6 of that year, and would furnish a most brilliant opportunity to observers. The reason that this transit had a special value was one very easily explained. Regarding the sun's disk as a sort of index plate, the whole body of the planet might be considered as an index. The astronomer would next ascertain the track of the planet across the disk of the central luminary. The next procedure would be to time Venus as she traveled across the fiery field, first, by noting the instant of her intrusion upon the sun's periphery, secondly, by taking her time at different points during the journey, and, finally, by registering the instant of her departure. It was a very simple matter after this to divide the annual revolution of the planet by the time of her passage across the sun, and thus to ascertain the distance traversed. It might be better to adopt two stations, with lines drawn to Venus and lines drawn to the sun, and to time the passage of the planet between these lines and than, again, provided there were no source of error, the calculation would be of great value in the matter of determining the exact time of the planet's entrance upon the disk could not be ascertained, for the reason that the planet had an atmosphere, and, instead of breaking into the periphery of the central orb with an arc of light, the refractive property of her atmosphere became a source of uncertainty. From the same cause the exact second of her departure was not ascertainable.

After this discussing the uncertainty of calculations based upon the solar parallax, with observations from the transits of Venus, the oppositions of Mars, and lunar irregularities, Mr. Proctor passed to the consideration of experimental measurements, based upon the velocity of light, combined with observations of the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites, promising that photography, under the exact methods developed by Janssen, might possibly result in giving a new value to the observations of the transit of 1882. He did not know what success the Americans had obtained from the data furnished by the transit of Mercury, but if they were anything like as inaccurate as the English, then the sun, to employ the terms of an American critic, had been demonstrated to be "an infinite distance beyond nowhere." The velocity of light was an important factor in the calculations of Professor Newcomb and his adjutants. It was required, under this method, first to ascertain the exact rapidity with which light traveled, and, secondly, the time occupied in passing from the solar orb to the earth. In a general way, the velocity had been stated at about 200,000 miles a second, but the beautiful experiments of Foucault and others had been successful in bringing the value of this factor in the problem to a more accurate determination than that expressed in such round numbers as the preceding. Mr. Proctor here described the experiments with the wheel and mirror (which are familiar to most readers), and stated the average result of many observations by different experimenters at 182,000 miles per second. These experiments had been verified by Newcomb, with a result not variation of only a few hundred yards, and those figures might, therefore, be considered not only as proximately accurate, but as nearly absolutely correct. But here, again, it unfortunately happened that the time of the passage of light from the solar orb had not been so precisely determined as to exclude error, although Prof. Newcombe was probably correct in believing that it had been reduced to a limit of 200,000 or 300,000 miles. The experiments and calculations of Fowalky in Germany, Stone in England, and Leverrier in France, were passed in review of this section of the lecture, and the speaker entered upon the second and illustrated portion of his discourse.

The first views exhibited were three photographs of the pyramids of Egypt, which he regarded as, without doubt, astronomical observatories, erected by a people who understood the art of observing star movements, and were accurate enough to set their observatories four degrees with an accuracy that was not rivaled at the time of Brahe, and had only been excelled by extremely modern builders. By reference to a vertical section from north to south, facing west, of the great pyramid at Gizeh, Mr. Proctor showed the adaptation of the mysterious interiors of these structures to astronomical purposes, observing that if, with unlimited command of money, and without the possibility of obtaining a telescope, he were to set about the construction of an observatory, such a plan of the interior would be exactly the one he should adopt. The riddle of the passages, and of the central and other large spaces was, he believed, to be explained upon no other theory than that of their erection with primary reference to astronomical study. The middle section of the lecture was devoted to the explanation of a series of views illustrating the relative sizes of the planets, as compared with each other and with the sun, which served no excellent purpose in correcting the erroneous notions of dimensions and distance obtained from educational books and instruments. This series was concluded with an old-fashioned view of the solar system, but one which may be found in many educational text books, and which Mr. Proctor considered a shade worse than no illustration at all in the study of astronomy. In connection with a series of views of comets and meteorites, the lecturer entered upon the final section of his discourse—the volumes and distances of comets, their phenomena, and their relation to meteoric showers. He did not assume, he said, that the subject he was about to discuss had any very definite relation to the topic he had announced for the evening; but as it was the date of the great November shower, (Nov. 15,) his hearers would pardon the digression. While meteors did not appear to diverge from a particular point in the heavens when viewed as luminous bodies whirling with incredible velocity through the earth's atmosphere, it was, nevertheless, true that they always radiated from a centre. Their tracks were parallel in solar space, though not so as respects our vision, and the point from whence they moved might always be calculated. Those of the night of Nov. 27 radiates from near the star Gamma at the feet of Andromeda. There was a tremendous fall of these bodies in November, 1866, and again in 1867, and so on until the great meteoric shower of 1871. Since 1871 no very great November falls had been registered. It had occurred to astronomers to verify the suspicion of Schiaparelli that these phenomena were connected with the orbits of comets, and since by one their periods had been identified as related to those of these eccentric wanderers of the stellar universe. Prof. Proctor took occasion to advise such of his hearers as were astronomers not to neglect the opportunity for observation this year, as it might be predicted with some degree of reliance that meteoric showers of magnitude would occur.

But all this had no relation to the immensity of space, unless his hearers were willing to regard him as passing from the solar system to interstellar regions upon one of those eccentric bodies he had just described. This he would take the liberty of doing, in order to effect a return to the subject with which he set out. The distance of one star (Alpha), which he pointed out upon a view of the southern heavens, had been determined with precision by Henderson. It might be stated, by way of giving an idea of the magnitude of these spaces, as about 20,000 billions of miles. Another single star in the northern hemisphere had also been measured with some accuracy, but the figures were too vague to be valuable. Both these stars appeared next to our own stellar system. How illimitable, then, must be the magnitude of the distances to be regarded, as one spoke of the star-streams of the Milky Way. With an illustration of his own theory of the spiral form of the Milky Way projected upon the screen, Mr. Proctor proceeded to enquire the distances of the resplendent star and star-clusters of our own stellar system with those of many and meandering rivers of luminaries regressed as encircling it. All of these bodies were doubtless unas many times larger than our own, some of them giving three times its light, and being the centres, no doubt, of systems of worlds higher in their organization and finer in their adaptation to the enjoyment of life than our own. Mr. Proctor concluded with the recitation of Shelley's magnificent, but familiar, apostrophe to the stars.

THE GRAND TRUNK

WHAT THE COMPANY HAS BEEN DOING LATELY.

Correspondence of the Globe.

Montreal, Nov. 15. This morning your correspondent called to learn from Mr. Hickson what had been done recently in reference to the Grand Trunk Railway, and was referred to an article in the Herald of to-day, which gives a fair, and it must be said official, statement of the case. After referring to the successful issue of debenture sales, and the improvement of the railway to Montreal, and to the Province generally, it says:—

The same was made by Messrs. Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., for £500,000 sterling, at 6 per cent., and the whole amount has been taken at 94. These debentures will be exchanged at par for 6 per cent. bonds, to be secured by first mortgage on the entire line between Port Huron and Chicago, when the consolidation of the various sections is completed. This amount, with the £310,000 sterling paid to the Company for the Riviere du Loup line by the Government, will meet all that is immediately required to make the through route, a distance of 330 miles, the sections being:—

	Miles
The North-Western Grand Trunk Railway, Port Huron to Flint	66
Chicago & North-Eastern Railway, Flint to Ludington	49
Peninsular R.R. Michigan, Ludington to Milton	198
Peninsular R.R. Indiana, Milton to Valparaiso	76
The North-Western Grand Trunk Railway, Valparaiso to Chicago	42
Total	430

Those corporations will be consolidated under the general law of the States, and the carrying out of this plan has, we understand, been assured by the acquiescence of all parties interested in the scheme. The first of these lines was secured by the Grand Trunk Company in 1877, the last of them on the first of this month. The mere statement of the few facts which we have mentioned will convey some idea of the immense labor and anxiety which has had to be gone through in order to bring matters to their present position. Every one of these Corporations had separate Boards of Directors and separate officers. They have all now, with one exception, been foreclosed under decrees of Court. The consolidated line will be mortgaged to the extent of $6,000,000, at six per cent. Of these six millions the Grand Trunk Company purchase, with the money obtained for the Riviere du Loup section, in round figures, $1,650,000, and there has just been sold, in round figures, $2,400,000. It is intended, we believe, to reserve for exchange for bonds already in existence $1,300,000, and for future use in extensions and improvements of the line $750,000. It will, therefore, by these figures, be seen that the amount required to pay the annual interest on the first mortgage is only $360,000. An income bond, partaking of the character of preference stock, will be issued for $4,000,000, only getting interest when earned, about three millions of which are given in exchange for existing securities upon the lines. The remainder of the latter amount, one million, will also be held in reserve for future improvements and extensions of the road. Upon all the bonds and preference securities which have been and will be issued for the present, the interest will not exceed $570,000 on a line 380 miles long, while the net earnings of the Midland Railway of this line, about 285 miles long, were, in 1875, $1,700,000, for three times what is required to pay the interest on the bonds issued for the extension of the Grand Trunk Railway. About five-sixths of the stock of the new line will belong to the Grand Trunk Company, which, when consolidated, will be called the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway Company. Many of our readers will remember that, about sixteen years ago, the Grand Trunk had a through line to Chicago surveyed, and were then contemplating arrangements which would secure them an independent route. We can readily realize now the gratification it must afford Mr. Hickson that, during a period of the most severe commercial depression ever experienced in this country, he has been able to carry this important project to completion.

...The Count von Beust, Austrian Ambassador at Paris, and Prince Bismarck are the two most in Europe who hate each other most. Most diplomatists are proud of the elegance of their hands, but Von Beust's weakness is for his feet. They are small and well shaped, but he believes them to be perfect, and the valuest woman never takes so many opportunities of showing off a pretty ankle as this old ambassador. The Nuncio Pagnanlli Antonelli said one day:—"The Count is like Achilles, and can only be taken by the foot." In fact, it has been found that those who managed delicately to compliment him on his feet, and to look admiringly on them when poised as usual on a raised footstool, could get almost any favors they wanted. He has, however, another object of worship far preferable to his feet, and that is music. He plays the piano with great skill, and might be a composer of no mean order, only he puts his musical ideas together too rapidly.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

REMEMBER THE
ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH ANNIVERSARY
Tea Meeting!
to be held in the Church, King street,
THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 20th.
COME EVERY EVENING, &c.

Those wishing an evening's amusement should attend, as it is conceded by all that the choirs of this congregation give the most popular Tea Meetings of the season. Rev. P. Gallagher will occupy the chair. Tickets 25 cents, which can be procured at the door. Tea served at 7 o'clock. 19

CRUDE OIL!

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED till
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22,
FOR ABOUT
Thirty Thousand (30,000) Bbls.
Crude Oil in lots of 1,000 barrels and upwards, in ground tanks at the railway, Petrolia. Storage paid to December 1st.
JAMES McGARVEY,
St. Thomas, Ont.
K187

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE
Two Nights only.
Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22.
THE C. L. GRAVES'
Queen's Evidence
COMBINATION
The third successful season! 150 nights in London. Unequalled hit at New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.
The Wonderful Character Actor, G. C. BONNAGE, as ISAACS, together with MR. J. E. ROWE, and a Powerful Company in the Cast of Characters.
During the action of the play will be presented new and beautiful scenery, and all the mechanical appliances used for the CANAL LOCK SCENE.
Reserved seats, 75 cents, now on sale at A. F. Murray's. K186

Winter, Winter.
ORDER YOUR WINTER SUPPLY
—OF—INK,
INK,
INK,
Before Cold Weather Comes.
FULL SUPPLY NOW ON HAND AT BRYCE'S
168
Dundas Street, London.

Dissolution of Co-partnership
The Partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned under the name and style of Laing, Sutherland & Co
As Wholesale Dry Goods Merchants, has this day been Dissolved by Mutual Consent.
The business will be continued by the under signed, John B. Laing, under the style and firm of JOHN B. LAING AND COMPANY, who will collect all debts due to the late firm and discharge all their liabilities.
Dated this 11th day of November, A.D. 1879.
JOHN B. LAING,
JAMES BURT SUTHERLAND.
Witness—JAMES H. GORDON. K177

RECEIVED AT
W. L. CARRIE'S
317 Richmond Street.
"On the Rocks by Aberdeen," by Gutly, words by Ingelow.
"A Laddie so Shy. Roecke.
"Forever Faithful. Dolby.
"London Bridge," Molloy.

NEW MUSIC RECEIVED REGULARLY
☞ Special attention given to the ordering of sheet music to check.
Just received, a supply of Lebert & Stark's Piano Method—a very fine edition of it!
W. L. Carrie,
Silly! RICHMOND ST.

The BRITISH American Business College TORONTO
Offers superior facilities. Send for circular J15-cowdwyr.

SKATES
ACME.
BARNEY & BERRY,
UNION HARDWARE CO
Full stock, all sizes and cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips
Will not crack or harden in coldest weather keeps out cold perfectly and saves fuel.
T. HERBERT MARSH.
HARDWARE MERCHANT,
181 Dundas St., London.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.—J. GURD & SON, 186 Dundas street, London, Ontario. P.O. Box 477. We have now opened out the largest and best assorted stock of Breech and Muzzle-loading Shot Guns, Rifles, Revolvers, Fowling Shot, Caps, Cartridges and general Sporting Goods, to be found in the West. Special prices to cash buyers and gun clubs buying in quantities. Illustrated price list free by mail. Send for one.
Gun repairing done in first-class style and

WONDERFUL INVENTION!
JACOBS' PATENT LITHOGRAM,
Patented July 16th, 1879.
Time, Money and Labor Saved. Ten impressions per minute. Over fifty impressions from one working. No press, roller, lead or battery required. So simple a child can work it. Invaluable to Official Assignees, Lawyers, Architects, Surveyors, Bankers, Merchants and others. Postal Card,

CROFTS & Co
Cheapest House in Town
—FOR—
DRY GOODS
CHATHAM, ONTA IO.
Chatham, Nov. 7, 1879.

The Free Press
Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1879.

RUPERT GODWIN.

Violet promised to be punctual. There was to be one to Mr. De Laney; but when that gentleman found the poor girl was penniless, he very good naturedly volunteered to wait until she had received her first week's salary.

Violet hurried homewards after this interview, rejoiced beyond measure at having the chance of help held out to her. She told her mother and Lionel of what had happened, and implored them to lay aside all prejudice at a time when poverty in its worst bitterness had entered their household.

At first, both Mrs. Westford and Lionel were strongly averse to her proposition; but little by little the girl won their consent.

Lionel's concurrence was given unwillingly, even at the last; it stung him to the very quick to think that his sister should be obliged to earn money by exhibiting her lovely face to a careless, perhaps insolent crowd. But when he looked at his mother's careworn countenance, the beautiful lines of which were already sharpened by the cruel hand of want, his courage gave way, and he burst into a passion of tears—those tears which seem so terrible when they flow from the eyes of a brave man.

"Do as you will, Violet!" he exclaimed, dashing those bitter drops away with a hasty, passionate gesture. "How can we refuse the help of your feeble hands? I am a man; I have received an education whichmust my father a small fortune; and yet, we all may, I cannot earn enough to keep my mother and sister from penury."

Think was that Violet presented herself at the stage door of the Chromeux at the appointed hour on the following morning.

CHAPTER XVI.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

To Violet Westford scarcely anything could have been more trying than the ordeal which she now had to undergo. What use could be more strange to this delicate-minded, home-bred, carefully-nurtured girl than now she found herself behind the scenes in a great London theatre?

The stage keeper of the Chromeux received them, and then presented to him, and, she uttering some half sulky, half insolent remark, gave her into the charge of a dirty boy, who was to take her up-stairs to the star, where she would find Mr. Maltraers, the stage manager.

Poor Violet was almost bewildered by the many dark passages along which her conductor led her. There seemed scarcely a gleam of the summer sunlight in all the great building, and the underground passage smelt like vaults or charnel-houses—the charnel-houses in which there was a reek of gas, mingled with the odor of ordinary and shoe-leather which in working classes are apt to leave behind them, and which a very witty lady once spoke of as their esprit de corps.

At last the dirty boy led the way up a little iron staircase, opened a slamming wooden door, and ushered Violet into a corner, where crowds of shabbily-dressed men and women were lounging amongst heaps of piled-up scenery.

The men and women were the inferiors and subordinates of the company—the banner-bearers and supernumeraries who represent grand processions, and the ill-paid girls who fill up the stage in crowded scenes.

Many of these girls were dressed neatly and plainly; others were distinguished by a tawdry shabbiness—a cheap finery of costume that threw every quiet grace of form and feature into stronger relief. Violet saw nothing but her own loneliness

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The London "Free Press"

JOB OFFICE

executes all kinds of commercial and other printing in the best style, on excellent paper, and at lowest rates.

Owing to the large staff constantly on hand, work can be expeditiously turned out.

Colored and fancy printing a specialty. Ball and programme work in excellent taste.

The Free Press.

Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1879.

FINED.—Before Squire Peters, yesterday, a man named Jeffries, of Petersville, was fined $1 for being drunk and disorderly on Saturday night last. He was given ten days in which to pay the amount, in default, 30 days in jail.

PRESENTATION.—A few days ago Mr. S. A. Lottridge, who is leaving the employ of the company, was presented by the workmen of the "Victor Yard" (oil works) with an address and silver headed cane, as a mark of esteem for him as foreman of the works.

CALLED TO THE BAR.—The following gentlemen, who have been called to the Bar, were introduced by Mr. McLennan, Q. C., and sworn in as barristers-at-law yesterday:—Wm. McKay Reade, Wm. Joseph Delaney, James Cullen Lillie. The following gentlemen were sworn in and enrolled as attorneys:—William Patterson, Alexander Jackson.

CHANGES IN THE 7TH.—Several changes in one or two of the companies of the 7th Battalion have taken place recently. Captain Albert Smith, formerly of No. 4 Company, is promoted to the Captaincy of No. 1, vice O'Brien, and his subaltern are First Lieutenant W. Gartshore and Second Lieutenant George Blackett. Lieutenant T. T. Macbeth takes command of No. 4 Company in place of Captain Smith, and Mr. Petrie has been named as First Lieutenant.—The Mess Committee have decided upon holding their first mess dinner at the Toomsech, on Thursday night, the 27th inst.

MAJ. HOLMAN'S BENEFIT.—A large and fashionable audience assembled at this place of amusement last night on the occasion of a complimentary benefit by the citizens to Mr. Harriet Holman. As an early hour the reserved seats were filled, and it was found necessary to place chairs in the aisles. The performance opened with Bellini's three-act opera of "La Sonnambula," which was prosuited by the Holman Opera Company in a manner that met with the warmest appreciation. Miss Addie Pitt gave a tragic recitation in a similar style, and, in response to an encore, recited "The Smack in School." She has become a great favorite during her short experience with London audiences. Miss M. McMillan sang a Scotch melody with charming vivacity, and was heartily recalled. Mr. A. Adams, in his Dutch songs and dances, was as successful as usual. In concluding the evening's entertainment, the laughable dramatic cantata, "Trial by Jury," was played, and kept the audience in the happiest of humors.

A BOOT AND SHOE CONFIDENCE GAME.—Between eight and nine o'clock yesterday morning a well-dressed and good looking gentleman entered the boot and shoe store of Mr. George Winlow, on Dundas street. The proprietor was absent at the time, and the clerk enquired as to the wants of his customer. The latter did not appear to be in a very great hurry to state the nature of his desires, but walked up and down the store with an easy, familiar style, apparently taking in stock. Finally he said, "I will take those two pairs of boots I ordered yesterday." Being an entire stranger to the clerk, the latter was disinclined to hand over the articles, but his scruples were finally overcome by the stranger remarking, "Oh, it's all right, my name is C. C. Hamilton. I am ticket agent at the G. W. R., and board at the Grigg House." I was in the store yesterday and made a bargain with Mr. Winlow, and told him I would call in this morning and get the boots. It's all right." The clerk then, according to direction, wrapped up a pair of boots and a pair of overshoes—in all, valued at $7—These he handed to Mr. Hamilton, who, after saying good-morning, left the store. When Mr. Winlow returned the above facts were communicated to him, but he knew nothing of the same, and so informed again. Enquiry developed the fact that the G. W. R. authorities and Sam Grigg were just as ignorant of the transaction as himself. He concluded, therefore, to put down the missing leather to profit and loss.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT.—The largest audience of the season attended the weekly musical and literary entertainment under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the Victoria Hall last night, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. David Gilars, Q. C., occupied the chair, and opened the proceedings by a few neat sentences. Mrs. G. G. Moore then played "March de Concert" with that finish and execution which characterizes all her efforts. Solos were subsequently given by Mrs. Dr. Edwards, Mr. W. M. Gartshore, and Mr. H. P. Stuart, recently from Hamilton, each of whom acquitted themselves very creditably. Mr. Fred. Going's recitation was not the least pleasing feature of the entertainment. Mr. A. Screaton and Miss Kordes gave "Gently Sighs the Evening Breeze," in good voice and time. Mr. T. R. Parker's reading showed that much care had been taken by the accomplished lady rendering the piece best suited to his voice. Mrs. G. G. Moore furnished a waltz, in the absence of the quartette of man's voices, on the programme, and Mr. Patterson arrived too late to give his promised flute solo. The trio "Good Night," by Misses Froeland and Crawford, and Master Charlie Maynard, was remarkably well rendered, without the usual accompaniment, and was heartily applauded. A vote of thanks to those who took part was moved by Mr. Geo. Laing, and seconded by Mr. Marsh, of New Brunswick, and unanimously carried. The entertainment was one of the pleasantest of the series.

LOCAL NOTICES.

XMAS CARDS.—Anderson & Co., 175 Dundas St., have a choice selection of this season's cards. Make your selection early.

"THERE'S millions in it," by purchasing crockery, glassware and plated ware from McKay & McIntosh—Rowland's bankrupt stock. No trouble to show goods. The goods must and will be sold. Klitz

THE SECRET KEY TO HEALTH.—The Science of Life, or Self-Preservation, 300 pages. Price, only $1. Contains fifty valuable prescriptions, either one of which is worth more than ten times the price of the book. Illustrated sample sent on receipt of 6 cents for postage. Address, Dr. W. H. Parker, 4 Pulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. 118-dwdwvm PHYSIOGNOMY.—Prof. A. E. Willis, of Chicago, formerly of this city, will deliver his amusing and instructive lecture on "Physiognomy or, Character as Shown in the Features, Facial Expression, Complexion, Hair, Voice, Walk and Laugh," at Victoria Hall, this evening. The lecture will be illustrated with a large number of pictures. It is new, and unlike all others delivered on similar subjects.

THE GIANTS OF MINSTRELSY COMING.—The devotees of burnt-cork minstrelsy will be glad to hear that Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's Minstrels, between thirty and forty strong, will give an entertainment at Mechanics' Hall on Monday evening next. Mr. Primrose, one of the proprietors, is a native of this city, and apart from the well-known talent of the Company, ought to be accorded a hearty reception.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

Many a man who has good eyesight can't see his way clear to do his duty.

The rustle of many a woman's silk has caused a rustle among her husband's creditors.

During his recent perilous swim down the Connecticut River, Paul Boyton lost fifteen pounds in weight.

Londoners spend $50,000 every day of the year in cab fares. George Augustus Sala says he uses 1,000 cabs a year.

Now the mighty Nimrod cleans his gun.
And goes to the field to have some fun.
He blows in the muzzle to see if it's loaded,
And ascertains after the thing has exploded.

"Yes, I want my daughter to study rhetoric," said the mother, "for she can fry pancakes now without smoking the house all up."

There is a rage for parrots and young parrots for headgear in Paris. "I have seen," says the Millinery Trade Review, as many as three on a bonnet."

The Princess of Wales is said to have presented her sister-in-law, the Duchess of Edinburgh, with four magnificent dresses, worth more than $5,000 each.

A member of the Danish Lower House, Mr. F. Bajer, has published a pamphlet advocating the desirability of making Denmark, Norway and Sweden into one Republic.

"This," said the mother, as she plied the slipper to the boy across her knee, "represents the rise and fall of leather." And then she added to her howling offspring—"Now, market."

A Strathroy girl was asked by a tiresome politician which party she preferred. "I like a wedding party best," was the smart reply, which completely extinguished the stupid questioner.

What is more maddening than to look all over the house for a pair of lost spectacles, and then find that they have been on your nose all the while and that you have used them to look for them with?

A well-known clerk in town advises his acquaintances not to dye their hair with red ink. He used to put his red-ink pen behind his ear and the fluid touched his scalp, with the effect of taking out the hair in a patch.

It is strange how the sudden opening of a parlor door will send two persons to the ends of a sofa, and set them to counting the figures in the carpet. There must be something powerful in the draft of air to blow those human beings around in that way.

Mrs. Langtry is reported to be extraordinarily skilful as a milliner, and time saves her husband's money. A charming hat, worn at the famous French fete was grandmamma's old ingborn rehabilitated in conformity with her own happy inspiration.

Boys usually love school vacation far better than they do school studies. An inspector asked a little fellow to name a mild winter, when the smart boy, with the instinct of his class, replied, "The winter of 1875. Our teacher was sick then for six weeks."

An old bachelor was courting a widow, and both had sought the aid of art to give to their fading hair a darker shade. "That's going to be an affectionate couple," said a wag. "How so?" asked a friend. Why, don't you see that they are dyeing for each other already."

Pedestrianism pays better than poaching, but it does not end any more peacefully. Now that the great walk is over the tramps propose to divide the spoils with the lawyers. So that after the walking match is over they will be required to do a match. Glory enough for one generation.

A tobacco-loving citizen of New Haven, Conn., from the last of January to the 31st of December of every even year smokes away cigars every day; but on the close of the year cigars are thrown aside for a twelve-month, and no more are smoked until January 1 of the next even year. He has kept up the habit for fifteen years.

It is questionable whether an actor who is called before the curtain during a performance should for the moment be himself in actor's clothes. The little night that one gets of the real Booth or Jefferson in this way is to many people a pleasure. To others it is a disillusion which spoils the remainder of the play.

Dreadful times are at hand. In 542-100,000,000 people perished because three planets were in perihelion; according to Gideon, and in 1665 a similar perihelion produced the London Plague and the death of millions in Europe, Asia and Africa. In 1881 five planets will be in perihelion. What will become of us?

Some ingenious creole at New Orleans has invented a lover's alarm clock which strikes loudly at the reasonable hour of 10. As it sounds two little doors open and a man with a dressing gown and cap glides out, holding a card inscribed "Good night." As he bows and smilingly retires the motor takes the hint, says "Good night," and then departs.

An old Scotch lady, who had no relish for modern church music, was expressing her dislike for the singing of an anthem in her own church one day, when a neighbor said, "Why, that is a very old anthem. David sang that anthem to Saul." To this the old lady replied, "Weel weel, it's for the first time ever I heard why Saul threw his javelin at David when he had sang for him."

London World.—It is becoming the fashion at distinguished weddings in Paris for page boys to be substituted for bridesmaids. They are all dressed alike, mostly in red or blue velvet or satin, with silk stockings and gold trimmings, and, for their business, have to attend on the bride, carry her prayer book and bouquet, support her train and veil and generally be at her bidding all the day. Young brothers or relatives under twelve years of age are usually selected for the office.

They were meandering arm in arm up the street, and a short distance ahead of them walked a young lady very handsomely attired. The sun was about setting, and its light was throwing a beautiful crimson glow all over the earth. He said, in a rather subdued tone of voice—"How beautiful! perfectly grand!" etc. "Well, I don't know," was the response from the fair one by his side, "I don't admire her style, and the dress is a mighty poor fit. His weakness, and the sunset interested him no more.

The great "Derby," at Epsom, has been run just one hundred times, but in four races the betting is not recorded. In the remaining ninety-six the odds against the winner have been almost exactly 11 1-6 to 1, or, to put it more broadly, 100 to 9. Horses ran from a field of thirty with 66 to 1 against him. Four times the odds against the winner have been 100 to 8. Four times, also, odds at 40 to 1 have been landed. Besides those, on more than a dozen occasions the odds against the winner have been more than 30 to 1.

Throwing stones at persons, or damaging public or private property, is malicious mischief. The time has passed when a boy can throw a stone at a passer by, and then gaze, under the cover of an innocent shade, with the pretense that he knows nothing whatever about it. Boys are altogether too familiar with the art of stone throwing, and almost every day cases occur where they have actually thrown a stone at people and managed to escape the police. Boys, if you are caught, and appear before the bar of the court, with the stern hand of the law surrounding you, prepare to meet the consequences.

Excited and anxious patient—"Doctor, I do wish you'd tell me what's the matter with me. I'm clear out of sorts this morning, and I'm afraid I'm going to be down sick. What is the matter with me?" Doctor (gravely)—"Let me see your tongue." Patient thrusts it out. "What have you been eating?" Patient (reflectively)—"Well, I was out late last night, had a bit of supper at midnight, oysters, raw and stewed, lobster salad, cold tongue, pressed chicken, curds and cream, coffee, some fruit cake, a little cheese and a handful of hickory nuts." Doctor (doubtfully)—"Let me see your tongue again." Looks at it thoughtfully, then in authoritative tones, "Ah, yes, I see, you've been eating something that doesn't agree with you." Grateful patient gives him a dollar.

Mme. Adelina Patti—she does not call herself Marchioness de Caux in Paris—stayed while there at the same hotel as Mr. Gladstone, in the Rue de l'Arcade. The great songstress, who completed her thirty-sixth year last April, looks very young for her age, and is as charming in manner and appearance as ever. She fulfils for the winter months engagements in Berlin, Munich and Vienna, but purposes returning to Paris early in February to commence her engagements with Mr. Mesolli at the Gaite Theatre, where a series of Italian operas will be given—that is, if the law interposed by her husband, the Marquis, permits. Figaro says that base whispers are about that the Marquis de Caux will permit her to parade her voice and her foyer within a mile of his club for a consideration.

Burglars at Work.

Mr. Alfred Westman's Hardware Store Visited.

Between $600 and $700 Worth of Goods Abstracted.

On Monday night the hardware store of Mr. Alfred Westman, on Dundas street, near the corner of Talbot, was entered by one or more burglars, who helped themselves very freely to the fine shelf goods usually found in a well-appointed hardware stock. An examination of the premises revealed the fact that the thief or thieves had gained admission from the rear, but the precise mode of ingress it is difficult to determine. When the store was opened yesterday morning the clerk's attention was attracted to the presence of about one hundred packages scattered about the counter. On closer inspection he discovered that the cases were empty, and that every pocket knife in stock had been removed. Some idea of the number may be gathered when it is stated that between 50 and 60 dozen have been taken, and the majority of the knives were of the finest kind and consequently expensive. The latter qualities were kept in the show case on the counter, and not a single knife was left. In addition to the knives several dozen silver-plated spoons were taken, and also four high-priced revolvers, with cartridges to match; a number of dark lanterns; a couple of setts of plasterer's small tools; numerous expensive razors; over $100 worth of boxwood rules; several pairs of the best skates in the stock; two silver-plated drinking flasks, and a number of articles of a minor character. Indeed, the shelves seem to have been subjected to a careful scrutiny for the best class of goods, and their denuded appearance attests that considerable discrimination was used by the thieves in pilfering. Naturally enough, citizens will ask, "Where were the police?" and the answer will come, "there was a man on that beat." The fact, however, that shutters on the door and windows prevented the patrolman from glancing inside, and that no gas was kept burning therein, is a sufficient answer to that chronic enquiry. The supposition is that the burglar or burglars, by means of a jimmy or strong knife, pried open one or more of the iron shutters on the back windows, and pushed the swing fastening to one side. Others who have visited the premises are inclined to the belief that entrance was effected from the roof by a window, which, once reached, formed an easy matter to the operations of the burglars. Be that as it may, that the thieves made good use of their time cannot be denied, as from the marks left on the counter and show case it is evident a paraffine candle was used to enable them to select the best articles from the stock. The presence of two nails in the counter near the place where the goods were taken leads to the conclusion that a bag was used to carry off the plunder and that the nails the bag was hung. Mr. Westman estimates the value of the goods taken at between $600 and $700. The thief or thieves left a souvenir of their visit in the shape of an old copy of "Frank Leslie's Boy's Own," which no doubt was left as a "blind" with the view of having the robbery attributed to some youthful person or persons. It is to be hoped the detectives will be able to bring the theft home to the perpetrator.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A man named Charles Dolain, who said he belonged to Goderich, was robbed of $50 in cash in a Dotsett saloon the other night.

William Dugan in the past few days has become of a disreputable character have been spared in London. The Chief of Police will please make a note of this.

Apropos of the "hum" bug published by the Free concerning the effect of the N. P., the Guelph Herald remarks:—"Religious papers are seldom notorious for over truthfulness."

They who complain at the condition of the sidewalks and crossings now should wait better wait until genuine winter sets in, and then assist the newspaper man in publishing clean if not walks." Thismay have a good tendency.

John Hopcroft, who was sentenced last week to one year in the Penitentiary, is being detained in jail to appear as a witness against one Foster, who is charged with having received a lot of stolen goods. There is still another charge against Hopcroft which remains unsettled.

It is reported that the fair sex is suffering from an attack of hypnotic—a sort of wide spreading contagion, which can only be cured by the adoption of such wearing apparel as meets the approval of the ladies' dressers. If these remedies can only effect the desired cure, let the dose be doubled.

The Tribune says the Tory Press endeavors to make it appear that it misrepresented Mr. Thos. McCormick in regard to the N. P. and its business. The Tory Press did nothing of the kind. One of the members of the McCormick Manufacturing Company said Mr. McCormick had been misrepresented, and if he had not been the gentleman would not have said so, and there would have been no necessity for the Tory to enter into further explanations, as it did last night.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Col. Taylor, of this city, inspected the Elora Rifle Company a few days since.

Mr. S. H. Galbraith, editor of the Times, Wingham, was registered at the Grigg House yesterday.

Revere House registrations:—H. M. and D. W. Hunter, Buffalo; Rev. John Wells, Nairn, and Mrs. Bird, Ayr.

Mr. G. F. Hagyard, editor and proprietor of the Arthur Enterprise, died after a short illness of typhoid fever the other day.

Mr. W. H. Rooke has no intention of running for Alderman at the ensuing municipal election. His ambition is a Councillorship.

Councillor Simpson, of Petersville, was presented with a requisition to allow himself to be nominated for Reeve of the village, and he has consented to run.

American House guests:—H. Moore, Clarkson; Geo. Ellis, do.; Geo. Rowson, Clandeboye; Jones & Jordan, Ingersoll; Morrison; W. Long, Woodstock; W. Lake, do.; J. Morningstar, Forest; Isaac Eyres, Watford.

Cousins House casuals:—Edward Forest, Newmarket; E. Joslin, Bay City; James McGonigle, Barrie, Mich.; M. Norman, Lindsay; A. P. Thompson, Woodstock; W. Webb, St. Thomas; Thomas Jones, Toronto; Fred. Fenner, London; Mrs. Hall, Columbus, Ohio; T. Smith and wife, Toronto; A. H. Kippin, Dorchester.

City Hotel guests:—J. D. Struthers, Rochester, N. Y.; W. J. Simpson, Hamilton; Robt. Goodman, St. Thomas; S. Anderson, Watford; Rev. J. B. Duncan, Forest; Henry Watson, Clearville; James Ball and Thos. Robison, Carlisle; C. S. Duncan, Brigden; F. McKenzie, Birk Hall; W. A. Worth, St. Mary's; Robt. Raw, Hamilton; Charles Ellwood, St. Thomas; John Scanlan, Brigden; Thos. Elliott, West Williams.

Grigg House guests last night—James F. Lyon, Toronto; Jas. Stewart, Thomas Stewart, and George W. Bayley, St. Thomas; B. Coughlin, Centralia; J. Colridge, Ingersoll; A. H. Fennell, Toronto; Alexander Cameron, Glencoe; D. M. Kennedy and wife, Petrolia; H. J. Johnson, Sarnia, Alexander Steele and wife, Aylmer; C. Coughlin, Centralia; Miss Findley, Ingersoll; Rev. J. A. McDonald, James Campbell, Wallacetown; Hugh Lynn, Fingal; F. W. Andrews, Providence, R. I.; N. F. McLaren, Watford; D. Regan, St. Thomas; A. Cuthbertson, Hamilton; Geo. Grossman, Lancaster, Pa.; W. B. Brock and wife, Wyoming; James Marshall, Wyoming; Hugh Cameron, Glencoe; Duncan Campbell, Napier; William Harris, Bedford, England; S. P. St. John, Detroit; William Sheppard, Bothwell; R. A. Fratchet, Toronto; J. Rennie, Alma Craig; J. R. Adams, Edgmonville; Thomas Robinson, Peter Gorrie, S. Daley, Windsor.

Tecumseh House transients last night—Jno. Munro, St. Thomas; G. N. Jones, Hamilton; R. A. Townsend, Petrolia; Miss Buckley, do; C. Livingston, Dresden; W. G. Thom, do.; J. M. Courtwright, St. Thomas; J. English, Strathroy; Wm. Smeaton, Montreal; W. Winton, Stratford; F. Hooper, Kingston; O. R. Peck, Toronto; Geo. W. Whitehead, Port Hope; J. Baddean, Montreal; J. B. Williamson, Montreal; James Sutton, M. D., Glenallopye; Robt. J. Thomas, Toronto; E. B. Maxwell, Toronto; J. C. Clement, Detroit; J. L. Englehart, Petrolia; A. B. Taylor, Syracuse, N. Y.; E. S. Gilfillan, Troy, N. Y.; J. Lawrence Smith, Toronto; W. F. Niles, Bellsville; Geo. F. Worts, Toledo, O.; W. Brenner, Hamilton; W. W. Halsey, Buffalo, N. Y.; H. Moody, Hamilton; A. E. Webster, Buffalo; Frank Smith, Petrolia; Wm. C. Lawson, Toronto; H. Morrison, Montreal; Sabil Pierson, Detroit; L. H. Lyford, Boston; John Hosmen, Detroit.

PRESBYTERY OF LONDON.

Regular Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

THE DIFFICULTIES OF AN AYLMER PASTOR.

Calls, Reports and General Business.

The London Presbytery met in the Clarence street Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Duncan, of Forest, acting as Moderator. The following ministers were present:—Revs. G. Cuthbertson, (Secretary), A. Henderson, M. Fraser, F. Ballantyne, J. B. Gallovay, F. C. Goldie, F. McRae, J. Thompson, J. A. Murray, J. A. McDonald, D. B. Whimster, H. Currie, J. H. Paraiis, W. R. Sutherland, R. W. Scobie, J. Rennie, G. Sutherland, J. M. Goodwillie, A. H. Rippin, J. Mills, A. Beamer, N. McKinnon, R. Scobie, A. Fraser, and Elders J. Bell, D. Brown, S. Anderson, T. Gordon, A. McKenzie, D. Ferguson, Dr. Mills, R. Weir, S. Milligan.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, and the docket of business agreed upon.

A communication was read from Rev. J. M. Roble, Petrolia, intimating that he had moderated in a call at a meeting of the congregations of Brigden and Bear Creek, when Rev. J. A. McDonald, of Wallacetown, was unanimously requested to become their pastor.

One voter, who last year loudly clamored against the deadly effects of the cemetery, and insisted on its immediate removal, now has a very severe case of typhoid in his house—not the fruits of the beautiful St. Paul's, but of one of those human as well as brute-killing establishments.

What are the Councillors doing? Why don't they attend to their duty and banish those pests the liquor traffic? After a while they will be around soliciting votes, with a load of stench on their heads, of death on their hearts, and of sickness in each hand, asking favors of those whom, by their negligence, they have robbed of their friends and money. Yours truly, LONDON EAST.

Bank Officials and "Society."

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—I see, in reading your issue of the 14th, that you invite comment or criticism on bank officials. To me it appears society is partly to blame for dishonest clerks. For instance, Mr. Brown is a bank manager, at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum. He wishes to mix in society—say with Mr. Jones. Now, Mr. Jones will not acknowledge Mr. Brown, because he (Jones) has an income of three thousand per annum. He does not slight Mr. Brown, personally; it is Brown's circumstances, when compared with his own, that he slights. Brown, feels quite keenly on the subject, and is tempted to do wrong to put himself on an equality with Jones. Let society treat every honest, upright man with due courtesy and respect. There will then be one great temptation removed; not but that there are men that will always live beyond their means, but I trust they are few in number.

SOCIETY PARTLY TO BLAME.

Mount Brydges, Nov. 17.

POLICE COURT—TUESDAY.

L. LAWRENCE, Esq., P. M., Presiding.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Edward Monaghan was charged with being disorderly on the premises now occupied by Mr. Cameron, and pleaded guilty. He was fined $1 and costs, or 30 days in jail.

Joseph Coombs, charged by Sergt. Crawford with being drunk and disorderly on Dundas street, was fined $1 and costs, or 30 days in jail.

Thomas Fenton, upon whom an allegation of drunkenness rested, was remanded until the 19th.

William Campbell, a fellow inebriate, was discharged.

LARCENY.

William Neil, whose arrest under suspicious circumstances was referred to in a previous issue, elected to be tried by a jury on the charge of larceny against him. J. Curran is the prosecutor.

ASSAULTING A CONSTABLE.

William Joy was charged by Sergeant Crawford with assault. It seems that he was being taken to the Central by the Sergeant on Saturday night, and on the way he became obstreperous and assaulted the officer. For this he will have to answer on the 19th.

LARCENY.

The two young men, Fullarnes and Wadsworth, whose arrest has been previously referred to, were tried this morning before Mr. Lawrence, Q. C., on the charge of stealing chickens. The evidence of several persons was taken, and the case then adjourned until 2 p. m. to-day.

Free Press Correspondence.

A Voice from London East.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—I would call the attention of those whom it ought to concern to the sanitary condition of this village. It is in a most filthy state, and is covered with those greatest of all plague producers—slaughter houses. Let those who vainly advance prodigious water-works schemes, and loudly boast their infallibility in dispensing justice, take a look at, and then act upon this momentous affair; for would be still a pure spring or an iron law do to the villagers if they are to be swept away by hundreds? At present typhoid fever is giving our worthy Dr. Gardiner a good practice, and each case is directly traceable to a slaughter house.

One voter, who last year loudly clamored against the deadly effects of the cemetery, and insisted on its immediate removal, now has a very severe case of typhoid in his house—not the fruits of the beautiful St. Paul's, but of one of those human as well as brute-killing establishments.

What are the Councillors doing? Why don't they attend to their duty and banish those pests the liquor traffic? After a while they will be around soliciting votes, with a load of stench on their heads, of death on their hearts, and of sickness in each hand, asking favors of those whom, by their negligence, they have robbed of their friends and money. Yours truly, LONDON EAST.

Financial and Commercial

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

New York Stocks

New York, November 18.—midnight—Railroads regular. Stocks quiet. Money and lower, but closed firm.

London Stocks.

London, Nov. 18.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon.

Sh.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
85	Agricultural		111	113
50	Canadian		119	121
20	Colonial		119	121
10	English Loan		100	101
20	Imperial L. & Of		100	101
40	do 20 pref.		100	101
50	Huron and Erie		103	105
50	London Loan		106	108
50	London & Ont.		106	108
50	Royal Standard		101	103
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
50	FREE PASS Pf'd Os		101
	London Gas		100
	London Life		60	80
	Sea & Estate Assoc'n		100
	Street Railway		100

Montreal Stocks — Nov. 18.

2:30 P. M.

	Asked.	Offered.
Bank of Montreal, ex-div	146
Merchants' Bank, xd	86
Bank of Commerce	117
Ontario Bank, xd	79
Bank of Toronto, xd	118	114
Molsons Bank	103
Montreal Tel	93
People's Bank	21
Bank Jacques Cartier, xd	104
Rhinolen & Ont. Nav. Co	40
City Pass. Railway Co	120
City Gas Company

SALES—Merchants' Bank, xd, 25 at 86, 50 at 86½.
Bank of Commerce, 1 at 117. Montreal Tel, 25 at 93½.

European Finances.

London, Nov. 18, 11:30 a. m.

Consols ..... 96 1-16 | 4 p.c. 104
Fives ..... 104 | Fours 99
Ill. Cs ..... 104 | Pref. 79

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Nov. 18, 2 p. m.

	s	d		s	d
Flour, pe	19	0	25	0	0
Wheat, spg	10	0	10	8	0
R. Winter	10	10	10	11	0
White	10	6	11	1	0
Club	11	0	11	5	0
Corn, old	5	8½	5	9	0
new	5	0	5	0	0
Oatmeal	18	6	19	0	0

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Nov. 18, 2 p. m.

	s	d		s	d
Barley, ctl	5	3	to	6	0
Peas, ctl	7	0	to	7	0
Pork	54	0	to	56	0
Lard	37	6	to	38	0
Bacon	34	6	to	35	6
Beef	84	0	to	90	0
Tallow	41	0	to	42	0
Cheese	52	0	to	56	0
Tea	1	0	to	2	0

The following are the highest quotations for the past week:—

Nov 12			13			15			17			18
	s	d		s	d		s	d		s	d		s	d
Flour, pe	19	0	25	0	0	19	0	25	0	0	19	0	25	0
Wheat, spg	10	10	10	8	0	10	9	10	10	0	10	10	10	9
R. Winter	11	0	11	1	0	11	2	11	3	0	11	2	11	2
White	11	0	11	6	0	11	6	11	6	0	11	6	11	6
Club	11	10	11	10	0	11	10	11	10	0	11	11	11	11
Corn	5	8	5	7	0	5	8½	5	8½	0	5	8½	5	9
Oats	6	8	6	8	0	6	8	6	8	0	6	8	6	8
Barley	5	3	5	3	0	5	3	5	3	0	5	3	5	3
Peas	7	0	7	0	0	7	0	7	0	0	7	0	7	0
Pork	56	0	56	0	0	56	0	56	0	0	56	0	56	0
Lard	38	0	38	0	0	38	0	38	0	0	37	6	37	6
Bacon	34	6	34	6	0	34	6	34	6	0	34	6	34	6
Beef	84	0	84	0	0	84	0	84	0	0	84	0	84	0
Tallow	41	0	41	0	0	41	0	41	0	0	41	0	41	0
Cheese	54	0	54	0	0	54	0	54	0	0	54	0	54	0

Cotton.

Liverpool, Nov. 18, 11:35 a. m.—Cotton dull. Uplands ..... 5 15-16d | 0 bales 17,168

Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—WHEAT — Receipts, 24,000 bush. Shipments, 1,000 bushels. Wheat scarce and higher; white at 91½; cash and Nov. at 91½; Dec. at 93½; Jan. no sale; at 91 3-8; August at 91 2-8.

The market for refined was quiet, but firm. We quote:—Crude, in bulk, 4½c; do, in bbls, 5c; naphtha, 6½; refined, carg. lots, 8c; do, in cases, 10c to 14c; refined, in Philadelphia, 7½c; in Baltimore, 8c.—Nov. 17.

Raw Fur Market.

As reported by R. SAVAGE AND, LONDON.

Fox, silver-grey	$5 00 to $25 00
Fox, cross	50 to 3 00
Fox, red	25 to 1 75
Otter	1 00 to 7 00
Fisher	1 00 to 7 00
Bear, black	1 00 to 8 00
Wolf	50 to 2 50
Lynx	20 to 1 50
Beaver, per lb	50 to 1 50
Marten	10 to 50
Raccoon	5 to 20
Skunk	5 to 1 00
Mink	10 to 50
Cat, wild	10 to 50
Cat, tame	10 to 25
Musk rat, winter	2 to 5
do fall	1 to 2
do kits	1 to 2
Rabbits	1 to 2

Sweeping Reductions

at the representative Retail Dry Goods House of the city, who this morning has the door and will endeavor to descant intelligently and truthfully (rare topics both) on the people's most interesting topics, viz., Fancy and Staple Dry Goods, Carpets, Millinery, Mantles, Clothing and Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear.

A.B.POWELL & Co

looked forward with much interest in the early part of autumn, owing to the bright prospects that seemed to appear on the surface, to the speedy circulation of large amounts of cash amongst the trading community; but an unusually warm autumn having been served on us, trade was consequently slow and no buoyancy in it. We therefore find ourselves in an advanced stage of the year with comparatively few goods sold. As we cannot afford to hold goods over from one season to another, and as each season demands a fresh supply, we must, owing to reasons above stated, and through a want of cash to meet maturing bills, commence a Great Sale of New and Fashionable Dry Goods, Millinery and Mantles, and all staple goods, on Saturday Morning, the 15th inst.

Each department will be gone carefully through, and goods marked down in many cases to cost, and in no case will goods be sold at anything like the regular prices.

Come and inspect. Everything will be found desperately cheap.

A. B. Powell & Co

The Representative Dry Goods House.

Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 18, 9:30 a. m.—WHEAT quoted at 1 16½ Dec., 81 17½ Jan. CORN 34c for May. Oats, No 2 cash, 23½c bid and weak. Rye 57½c. Barley unchanged. PORK—Cash and Dec. $9 00. Jan. $9 17½. LARD—Cash and Dec. $5 37½. Jan. $5 45. Short Ribs—Cash and Dec. $5 00. Jan. $5 12½. Whisky, $1 07. Receipts—Flour, 10,000 brls; wheat, 31,000 bush; corn, 76,000 bush; oats, 41,000 bush; rye, 2,000 bush; barley, 21,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 12,000 brls; wheat, 4,000 bush; corn, 79,000 bush; oats, 19,000 bush; rye, 4,000 bush; barley, 9,000 bush.

New York.

New York, Nov. 18.—COTTON nominal, at 12 15-16. FLOUR in moderate demand; receipts, 27,000 brls; sales, 13,000 brls; at $5 15 to $5 70 for superfine State and Western; $5 70 to $5 75 for common to choice extra State and do western. WHEAT—Spring and unsettled; receipts, 19,000 bush; sales, 5,000 bush; No. 2 spring, $1 07 to $1 07½ for No. 2 Milwaukee; $1 07½ for No. 2 Chicago; $1 08 for No. 1 Milwaukee; $1 08½ for No. 1 Chicago; $1 09 for No. 1 Amber; $1 10 for No. 1 White; $1 11 for No. 2 Red; $1 12 for No. 1 Red; $1 13 for No. 1 Red; $1 14 for No. 1 Red; $1 15 for No. 1 Red; $1 16 for No. 1 Red; $1 17 for No. 1 Red; $1 18 for No. 1 Red; $1 19 for No. 1 Red; $1 20 for No. 1 Red; $1 21 for No. 1 Red; $1 22 for No. 1 Red; $1 23 for No. 1 Red; $1 24 for No. 1 Red; $1 25 for No. 1 Red; $1 26 for No. 1 Red; $1 27 for No. 1 Red; $1 28 for No. 1 Red; $1 29 for No. 1 Red; $1 30 for No. 1 Red; $1 31 for No. 1 Red; $1 32 for No. 1 Red; $1 33 for No. 1 Red; $1 34 for No. 1 Red; $1 35 for No. 1 Red; $1 36 for No. 1 Red; $1 37 for No. 1 Red; $1 38 for

CARLINGS'
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Sera from the trade respectfully solicited.

Married.

Poplar Hill, on Thursday 18th inst., by the Rev. R. Wilson, Mr. Ralph O'Neil, of Arva, to e, daughter of the late R. Webster.
the residence of the bride's father, on the inst., by Rev. W. Howton, father of the groom, John Newton, to Elizabeth Ann, daughter of Charles Rumsil, all of Stratford.
the residence of the bride's brother, J. H. Esq., Strathroy, on the 16th, Mr. D. McI. of Jewell County, Kansas, to Miss Mary l of Patrick, Out.

CTROPATHIC REMEDIAL
INSTITUTE,
Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

MOLIERE BATHS.

M C H REYNOLDS, D.D.S., ST'ATZ.
According to my personal experience, Vitæ Electric Air Bath treats agreeable manner in the treatment of Rheumatic Neuralgic Complaints. It appears to me to ential advantages over any bath with I am acquainted. To secure invigoration, while breathing pure air, with the ations are exceeding nice; a luxury to ld commend on your part a triumph of in a skill.—C H REYNOLDS.
and
- ORONHYATEKHA.

h Mechanical street, opposite the City General attending given to Disease of the and Throat, and to Nervous Diseases hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from on Residence, 613 Dundas street, opposite rman's Store. tf

MEETINGS.

S RELIEF COMMITTEE OF
e Irish Benevolent Society will ch this Christmas Cheer at the Covent Market this (Wednesday) afternoon, at ock. 1597

AMUSEMENTS.

NE SKATING RINK WILL
pen to-day, on Sulphur Bath Grounds, Dundas street. Skates to rent on Rink. PROPRIETOR. tf

CHANICS' HALL.—CHRISTMAS afternoon and evening. THE AN DITMAS. Grand Matinee, two o'clock, ay afternoon, 70 children in beautiful and the Fairy Grotto, 100 beautiful and one grand prize, terra was sold at $10, the special gift of Mr W Hyne. ing Performance the beautiful Cantata, in Pandemonium, entitled "Dora," together real pantomime. 1591

SERVANTS WANTED.

ANTED, 2 HOUSE-KEEPERS, 8 cooks, 10 general servants, 2 maids, 4 nurse girls (experienced), 3 for St. 2 for Aylmer, 2 for Stratford, also a ANDLAW, Dr. Dickson's Intelligence Dundas street, London. tf

SITUATIONS VACANT.

FIRST-CLASS DRY GOODS
sman wanted.—Apply to Lairo & Mo- Lond

NTER.—WANTED, AN EXPERIENCED Printer for two weeks at the Free Press Office, immediately. Must be hand.

NTED, A FIRST - CLASS
an, capable of taking charge of a Pant department; also 4 Parlor Frame Makers ed Machine Hands. Apply either in per- by letter to M. G. Strong & Hotel, Lon- tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

KEY SHOOTING.—THERE
ll be a Shooting match for turkeys at bridge on Christmas Day. Commence at ne o'clock sharp. Sure thanks for Skating —H. Hammond, Prop. 1591

UTIFUL MORE BEAUTIFUL
ST MORE BEAUTIFUL than ever. utiful winter cards, for 25 cents. One ore beautiful gilt-edged cards, for 50 ne dozen of the most beautiful ever cards, emulated by the very highest he pen art, $3 00; or one card for 25 cts. ll more beautiful! must be satisfied in ds, mammoth and address) handsomely. Name elegantly written in tended for Christmas or New Year's address call on W S Wood, Post Office lege, or at No 256 Piccadilly st., city. 1591

ES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL
rfumes made by Mme. M. Dunn, the n artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be in Canada. Factory—No. 313 Richmond ndon. 1592

REAL ESTATE.

OK DWELLING AND LOT
r sale; 118 feet frontage by 240 feet deep hed with the modern conveniences, coach ouse, on Albert street. Apply to F. B. 1 tf

S FOR SALE, CHEAP.—
odview Estate, Westminster.—PARKER tf

TO LET

IRST-CLASS TWO-STORY
ick Stores to let, corner Bond and streets. Possession given immeApply to Wm Hunt, 123 Piccadilly tf

PAGE TO RENT ON COLLINS Street, No. 502, containing 7 ooms—For particulars apply to H. D. 1592

RENT—TWO STORY BRICK
se, No. 468 Queen's Avenue, double cooking stove, &c., barn, hard and soft g premises; all in excellent repair. Apply on the premises. 1591

MEDICAL.

J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., ndon, England, Physician, Surgeon, ecessor to Dr. DeLeon, Dundas street Town Hall, London East. 52Godly

ANDERSON, OF 84 JAMES eet, Hamilton, Surgeon of the Eye, Ear roat, can be consulted at Terrauah Hotel, London, on the first and third Thursdays month. Cross-eyes straightened. Laddwly

V. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's Montreal, member College Physicians geons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, Phone City. 8Nvm

H. NELLES, D.D.S.,
SURGEON DENTIST.
Rooms Block, Richmond street. Godly

McLAREN, L.D.S.,
SURGEON DENTIST.
moved over Bradford's confectionery ite Crystal Hall,
DUNDAS STREET, LONDON.
ntended without pain.

TRUNKS AND TRUNKS.

BABIN .O.B., FACTORY,
Office, 124 Dundas street.

TDONALD, L.D.S., DEN- ery. Office — Dundas street, four st of Richmond three over Davis's ore. 4Nvm

MUSICAL.

TON'S DANCING ACADE- , 122 Dundas street. Gents' class esday and Thursday, at 8 p.m. Ladies' on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, at 2 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday, at 3 p.m. ; also Saturdays, at 2 p.m. commencing Dec 6th.

LEGAL.

RD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARTER, Notary Public, etc., Nave Block Street, London, Ont. 7

RIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors & Office — Corner Carling and Richmond, London, Ont. JAMES MAGEE, M. C. CLARE

FINE ARTS.

NETT & CHESTER, CARDS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture mouldings, window cornices, brackets, frames regilded. Cheapest house in Gallery of Art, 393 Dundas st. Fitly

ART REPOSITORY.—GET or pictures framed at the cheapest town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J Dundas street, near Albert Block

CORDWOOD.

RAL COAL AND WOOD
RD, corner York and Wellington

soft and maple wood, cut and uncut prices.
all kinds, well screened, delivered in of charge. Good weight and measure ed. Call before purchasing.
A. BROWN,
Proprietor.

OD, WOOD. — A LARGE ntity of first-class wood, cut or cut at reasonable rates. Minotaur evacuator but at J. Mullin's, opposite Car J. D. McDonald's, Maitland street, will ad to.—Agent, Dundas, 370 York street. Cdwdly

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6976

Xmas Presents.

TOILET SETS
VASES
PERFUMES
&c., &c.. &c.,
—AT—
SHUFF'S DRUG STORE
LONDON EAST.
London East, Dec. 23, 1879. nwf
For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
—AND—
HOLIDAY GOODS,
—TRY—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
208 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows' Hall.

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the Depot. Every advantage paid to customers of guests. S. F. FLANAGAN, Proprietor. 1567y

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, D. Winkler.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.00 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock.—Corbett & Harris, proprietors. 1557y

MCKELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. EDMONDS. 1567y

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travelers will find it to their advantage to give it a trial. Buss and baggage wagon to and from the cars. JOSEPH BLACK, Jr., Prop.

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, Ont.—W. B. Depot. First-class in every respect. Good livery accommodation for commercial travelers. Guaranteed waste promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. POTTER. 8Nvm

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, Ont.—First-class rooms for commercial travellers. Free bus to and from depot. Terms moderate. T. J. RANKIN & CO., Proprietors. 1Dy1

VICTORIA HOUSE, TEMPERANCE HOTEL, Bay street, Toronto, Ont.—WILLIAM HOLLY, Proprietor. 1Dy1

GROCERS.

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR Dundas Street Station, Rectory street, East end of C.W.R. Car Works. Canadian and London Ale and Porter always on draught, and bottled. A call respectfully solicited. Also Cigars for sale. ALEX. CAMPBELL, Proprietor. 1Dec6dy

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in
BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.
246 AND 248 RICHMOND STREET,
LONDON.
Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. 1Gdy

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS and Dealers in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils, Dundas Street, London, Ont. 1y

—AT—
REID'S HARDWARE,
No. 116
North Side Dundas St., next door to Mitchell's Retail Dry Store.
—FOR—
The Largest and Finest Selection of Handsome Goods for CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
CALL AT
A. S. MURRAY & CO'S
Jewellery Store,
RICHMOND ST.
Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 78 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns. STEPHENS & BINNER.

P. J. EDMUNDS
SOLICITOR OF CANADIAN & FOREIGN
PATENTS
FIRST PRIZE
ENGRAVER ON WOOD.
366 RICHMOND ST. cor. KING.
LONDON, ONT.

—GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS renovated by the new patent steam renovator. Old mattresses and church cushions made over equal to new.—Feathers for Hire, Mattress Factory, English Cooking House, Talbot street, London. 1y

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, Canadian and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected on reasonable rates. 1567y

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town and cheapest. Also a fresh stock of Gents' Furnishings. WM. JENKINS, 96 Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. 1567y

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for Cash by SAINSBURY, King street, two doors east of Market Square. Auctioneer, and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats and Clothing, Boating, Carpets. Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. N. B.—Parties wishing to sell wished on, and letters to call attended to. 1567y

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has resumed business at the old stand, 202 Dundas street.—W. Dodson, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. 1Nvm

FOR SALE.

CARRIAGE, WAGON AND Blacksmith shop, with Dwelling House, for sale in the village of Melbourne, doing a good business, and plenty of orders on hand. Will sell to buyer can commence on.—T. E. NORTHCOTT, Melbourne Ontario. 8Dec

TO PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A Miller & Richard Flow Paper Cutter, in good order. Will suit Stereotypers. Apply at FREE PRESS Office. tf

WANZER SEWING MACHINE Co., with engine-room. Four or five boys wanted to learn the machine business. Apply at Office of FREE PRESS. tf

SMOKE
THE Old Man's Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
godly
NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON, - - - - ONTARIO.

Grocers' Notice.

AT A MEETING OF THE Grocers of the City of London, it was unanimously resolved to observe the custom of giving Christmas and New Year's Presents. dnwdtw 1648

SKATES
ACME.
BARNEY & BERRY,
UNION HARDWARE CO
Full stock, all sizes and cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips
Will not crack or harden in coldest, wealth keeps out cold perfectly and saves coal.

T. HERBERT MARSH,
HARDWARE MERCHANT,
161 Dundas St., London

SLIPPERS.

Christmas and New Year's Slippers, and all kinds of Ladies' and Gents' Handmade Sewed Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing neatly done. Patronage solicited.
SAWYERS & LASHBROOK,
Lilly No. 4 Fire Arcade.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
156 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
O. DAVISON,
789 and 791 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

X CENTS
Get a ten cent sample bottle of KARKENEW BRONCHIAL SYRUP. We will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Wheezing Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HASKENS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 1557y

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jlyn International House, Dundas street.

Arkell's Brewery
AMBER ALE
—AND—
XXX Porter.
Stock always on hand. Orders left at the Bar of the House or via Post Office will receive prompt attention. Ajlydly

The BRITISH American BUSINESS College TORONTO
Cor. KING & BAY Sts.
Offers superior facilities. Send for circular. Jly-cow2wvm

SKATES!
"ACME"
BARNEY & BERRY'S,
PLAIN AND NICKEL,
ALL PRICES, SIZES AND STYLES. ALSO,
HAND SLEIGHS,
WEATHER STRIPS,
FIRE IRONS, &c.,
—AT—
REID'S HARDWARE,
No. 116
North Side Dundas St., next door to Mitchell's Retail Dry Store.

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent. Dundas street, opposite Reiner's tavern, London East. 1567y

For Christmas and New Year's CANDIES
—GO TO—
W. J. Booth's,
corner 13 Lilley's Block, London East.
Great Inducements in Fine & Dressing Combs
AT W. J. SMITH'S,

124 ADELAIDE ST. LONDON EAST.

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.

THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!

KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.

Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

GIVEN UP FOR LOST.

Wreck of the Ocean Steamer Borussia.

One Hundred and Eighty Passengers and 45 of the Crew Drowned.

Terrible Scenes on the Sinking Ship—Wild Disorder Adds to the Horrors of the Disaster.

All the Small Boats but one Swamped by the Terrific Waves of the Storm-Lashed Sea.

Nine Survivors, Landed at Queenstown, Tell a Terrible Tale of the Storm and Shipwreck.

London, Dec. 23.—Part of the crew of the British steamer Borussia, from Liverpool November 20, for New Orleans, was landed at Queenstown by the British ship Mallowdale. The Borussia was abandoned sinking on the 22nd inst.

London, Dec. 23.—Part of the crew of the steamer Borussia were landed at Queenstown to day by the ship Mallowdale, consisting of the chief engineer, doctor, boatswain and six seamen, who were picked up on the 5th inst., in an open boat. The Borussia had 180 passengers, of which 106 embarked at Liverpool and 75 at Corunna. The crew numbered 54. After leaving Corunna on the 24th of November, the Borussia experienced terrific weather, and sprung a leak on the 1st of December. The severity of the weather increasing, she was abandoned on the 2nd about 350 miles south west of Fayal. The captain and the second officer remained on the sinking steamer. The crew and passengers embarked in seven boats. The nine survivors have no hope for the other boats having seen one boat capsized, drowning all the occupants.

QUEENSTOWN, Dec. 23.—Survivors of the lost steamer Borussia started immediately for Liverpool. It appears that a panic occurred among the passengers and crew. The survivors state that no order to launch the boats and prepare for the abandonment of the vessel was given by the officer. The crew themselves lowered the boats without waiting for orders. About a dozen passengers got into the boats with part of the crew, the remainder of the passengers went down in the vessel with the captain, second mate, three engineers, eleven firemen, three stewards, the carpenter and two boys. One boat swamped alongside of the steamer, and its occupants, five men, were drowned. The survivors state that at 9 o'clock on the night of the abandonment of the vessel they saw a rocket ascend from the steamer, and soon after her masthead lights were seen to suddenly disappear.

One of the survivors stated that 76 passengers embarked at Liverpool. The vessel reached Corunna on November 23, all well. After having shipped some cargo and embarked about 80 Spanish emigrants, the Borussia proceeded for Havana on the 26th, the wind being light, from south-east, with calm sea. On November 30th the wind freshened and increased to a gale. On the following day it suddenly chopped to north-north-west, blowing strong, with a heavy cross sea, in which the ship labored heavily. At noon she sprang sleak amidships, and all efforts at the pumps proved powerless to keep the ship free of water. The water filled the engine-room and stoke hold, putting out the fires, and stopping the engines. The crew still continued to work at the pumps until the next day (2nd inst.), when it was determined to abandon the vessel. Her boats were launched and provisioned, and part of the crew, with about a dozen passengers, got into them. Those of the crew who remained by the vessel were the captain, second mate, three engineers, eleven firemen, three stewards, carpenter and two boys. Shortly after leaving the vessel one of the boats was swamped, and the occupants, five in number, drowned. Survivors state that the steamers steering board, when they shoved off, was not more than two inches above water. It is supposed she must have gone down here with her living freight. The fate of the other boat is doubtful, as nothing has been heard of their occupants since.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

London, Dec. 23.—A Liverpool despatch says that survivors from the Borussia report that the captain and a majority of the crew remained on board the vessel. Only sixty persons left in boats.

A Cork despatch reports that 184 persons were aboard the Borussia. The captain, on seeing the danger, and knowing that all efforts to save the vessel would be useless, ordered the boats to be got ready, some rafts prepared and cocoas nuts provided. The vessel was abandoned at night, there being then ten or eleven feet of water in the engine-room. Four or five boats were lowered about the same time, but owing to darkness and the heavy sea they soon lost sight of each other.

London, Dec. 23.—A Cork dispatch says ten men, survivors from the Borussia, were landed by the Mallowdale. Their names are Wm. Stuart Day, doctor; Doolittle, 3rd officer; Wylie, 4th Engineer; Henry Brown, boatswain; Wm. Banne, able seaman; James Dixon, quarter-master; Alex. Johnson and Henry Stevenson, stewards, and Patrick Cain and Patrick Quinn, coal trimmers.

FRANCE.

TROUBLE IN FORMING A CABINET.

Paris, Dec. 23.—President Grevy did not approve of the policy of De Freycinet or the persons whom he proposed as members of the Cabinet, and De Freycinet consequently declined the task of forming a Ministry. Grevy then urgently requested Waddington to provide for the vacancies caused by resignations of Le Royer and Grestley. Waddington replied that he preferred that Leon Say be entrusted with the task, as Say has not yet accepted the Presidency of the Council. Waddington is now fixing upon the elements of the new Ministerial combination. He has called upon Challemel Lacour, to whom he wishes to confide the Ministry of the Interior. Lacour will arrive in Paris on the 24th inst. to confer with Waddington. Further action in the matter will be suspended until after this interview.

London, Dec. 23.—A Paris correspondent reports that the journals unanimously assert that no Ministry not possessing the support of the Republican Left and the Republican Union can live.

A CABINET FORMED AT LAST.

Paris, Dec. 23.—A correspondent has learned from an authoritative source that President Grevy has again summoned De Freycinet, and the following arrangement definitely arrived at:—DeFreycinet, Premier and Minister of Works; Waddington, Foreign Minister; Challemel, Lacour, Minister of the Interior and Public Worship; Herald, Minister of Justice; Leon Say, Minister of Finance; Jules Ferry, Minister of Public Instruction; Tierard, Minister of Commerce; General Farre, Minister of War; Admiral Jauregiberry, Minister of Marine; Cochery, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs.

RUSSIA.

MORE POLITICAL OFFENDERS PUNISHED.

Odessa, Dec. 23.—The court martial having sentenced three political offenders to be hanged, they were executed on the 19th inst. Four others were condemned to imprisonment for terms ranging from 10 to 15 years in the mines.

NIHILISTS CAPTURED.

A Vienna dispatch says the police at Kieff recently surprised a secret Nihilist meeting, and captured 93 men.

A St. Petersburg correspondent is positively informed that no severe measures of general repression are likely to be sanctioned.

THE AFGHAN WAR.

Good News from General Roberts and His Troops.

The Killed and Wounded of Thursday's and Friday's Fights.

Death of the Gallant Major Cook—Great Loss Inflicted Upon the Enemy.

Several Unimportant Afghan sts Killed—Health of the Troops Gen. Roberts Preparing for Offensive Operations — An Attacking Party Dispersed

London, Dec. 23.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Gen. Bright reports a continued advance of reinforcements. A despatch from Roberts, dated the 19th, says slight skirmishes took place on the 18th, in which one of the principal Afghan leaders were killed. Our loss was one killed and two wounded.

London, Dec. 23.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that despatches from Roberts, of 16th, 17th and 18th—have just been received. The defences of Sherpur Cantonment have been completed. The enemy occupies the heights over the city, but does not descend into the plains, which are patrolled by our own cavalry. Roberts was waiting the arrival of Gough to make an attack, as he would then be strong enough to hold all the important positions, but he will attack the enemy before the arrival of Gough, if a favorable opportunity offers. Our loss on the 14th was 28 killed and 99 wounded, of whom eight have since died. The enemy's loss was very heavy. Osman Khan and other Afghan leaders were killed. On the 17th inst. the enemy appeared on the Siahung, but were quickly dislodged with our loss on our side, the enemy's numbers diminishing. Mohammed Jan Mardak, the real Afghan leader, had proclaimed ex-Ameer Yakoob Khan's eldest son Ameer. Roberts was preparing for the most decisive operations against

The Free Press.

Wednesday, Dec. 24, 1879.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Midnight Telegraphic Dispatches, is issued every morning, supplying the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western towns —a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transacting in the city and district up to 2 o'clock a. m., also finds a place in the columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is issued at 4 o'clock p. m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at 2 CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city; and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE. — Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month.....$ 50
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid.....6 00

Send Post office or Express Money Orders, if possible. Remittances may be made either by Draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention, all letters relating their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—FREE LONDON FREE PRESS CO.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts (auction, chancery, mortgage or assignment advertisements not considered part of same) made at following rates, per inch, in Daily:

1 DAY	$1 00	5 Days	$3 75	1 Month	$6 00
2 "	1 50	6 "	3 00	3 "	9 00
3 "	2 00	1 Week	4 00	6 "	12 00
4 "	2 50	2 "	6 00	12 "	20 00

One Year.....$30 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must BE ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page—First day 15c. per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Editorial 30c., Brevities 50c., Leaders 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.00 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, leaded, 15 cents a line; advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long time advertisements.

TRIED BY HIS OWN STANDARD.

When Hon. Mr. Mowat spoke before his constituents at Woodstock in December last, and again at Toronto in January last, he did not make any mention of the necessity of spending a million, or any other sum, in erecting new Parliament buildings at Toronto. In the course of those speeches, which were deemed to be sufficiently important to be published in pamphlet form, and to be circulated by the many thousands throughout the Province, he was ominously silent on that item of proposed expenditure. He spoke of every other outlay but that. He told his audiences that there was in the Treasurer's hands "a surplus of nearly five millions," but never hinted that any portion of it should be sold out of bonds and debentures, or withdrawn from the sinking fund. The Dominion Government, which pays five per cent. interest on $2,000,000, and is turned into very profitless bricks and mortar. When dealing with the subject of legislation, and recounting what had been done, he did not complain that the procedure had been in any way impaired by the "unsightliness" of the parliament buildings, or that its own health, that of any of its colleagues, or of any of his "rural supporters" had been prejudicially affected by the want of ventilation in its chamber. Speaking of finance he said down the principle that a large permanent surplus is an anomaly, and advocated the spending of it usefully, as being preferable to hoarding it up. "I say to expend it usefully, for it would be a bad thing to expend uselessly any part of what we have." He had based his expenditures upon the quality of usefulness, and deprecated any outlay which necessity did not enforce. That the people approved of that position on account of its soundness there is little doubt of, seeing that Mr. Mowat carried the subsequent elections with more than usual eclat. It is but natural, then, that much surprise should have been elicited when it became known through the "reform" organs that Mr. Mowat's policy is to expend an immense sum of money upon new Parliamentary Buildings, three which are at present in use being amply sufficient for the purpose. If Mr. Mowat is tried by his own principle he will be found to be altogether astray in the line of policy which his organs have chalked out for him, and which his recent communication to the Toronto City Council justifies. If Mr. Mowat deputizes from the principle he laid down he will but show, what many other Grit Ministers have previously shown, that principle with him is but a convenient garment, to be put on or put off as interest and opportunity suggest. As a Torontonian whose claims were specially advocated by the Globe on account of his being a large property holder in the city, one can readily understand the anxiety which he has evinced to see a sum of money expended in beautifying it. But in the disposition of provincial funds the Ontario Premier should not feel the pressure of such interests. He should be above and beyond such considerations, and delay rather than encourage schemes of expenditure which have not become imperative. He should act for the Province as a whole, not specially for the city in which he lives. That the Globe should make a "big push" to secure the expenditure of a large amount of money in Toronto is a species of local patriotism which may be all very well in its way. But Mr. Mowat's position in relation to the Province is a different one altogether.

Col. Abner Doubleday, in a communication to the New York Times, discusses the damage a hostile fleet might inflict upon the coast towns and cities. The present guns, he says, in New York, and in the cities of the South and on the Pacific coast, are not sufficient to hinder any ironclad from shelling those cities or taking up and exploding with torpedo-bags the torpedoes lying in wait for the fleet. The fortifications and guns at Key West and the Tortugas are not sufficient to protect the commerce of the Gulf, which would materially affect the South and South-west. A fleet of iron-clads could make a demand on the city of New York for $100,000,000 ransom, on penalty of burning it. Every instant a shell would sail through the air and fall into a house, scattering in every direction fire which cannot be extinguished by water, for the composition will burn under water. The fire department could not keep down the fires that would break out everywhere, and the terror and alarm of men, women and children would compel the authorities to collect the money by force and hand it over to the enemy.

Attention is being directed to the enormous consumption of water in Ottawa prior to the 1st inst. The largest amount of water pumped during twenty-four hours was 2,800,000 gallons during the month of July, 1878, for the present month the average will be an average of 3,000,000 gallons per twenty four hours. On Saturday 2,989,500 gallons were pumped, and yesterday 3,000,000 gallons. This represents an average of 140 gallons per head on the basis of a population of 21,000. Supposing a family to consist of eight persons, this would mean 1,120 gallons per twenty four hours for one family alone. The entire pumpage of the two pumps for twenty-four hours is 4,000,000 gallons, so that the city is fast approaching the extreme limit.

NEPOTISM IN HIGH PLACES.

The readers of the FREE PRESS will be sorry to learn that this loathsome disease has broken out with great violence in the ranks of the Liberal-Conservative party. It may be safely assumed, that nepotism is intensely infectious, as in the course of a short time it spread from one common centre, and from one family at that, so rapidly, that soon the whole of the leading men of the Grit persuasion were taken with it. Had it been confined to the Liberals it would not have mattered much, as it would only have forced a kind of counter irritation to some of their other idiosyncrasies, and therefore the sum total of corruption would have been but little increased. Thus under the last Government, if the steel rails contracts had not been laid under contribution, some other Department of the public service would, and, therefore, the final result would have been the same. But when the virus has touched the Conservative party and the label communicated from its loathsome sores to a new field, where nothing of the kind has heretofore prevailed, it must be held that the country has sustained a dead loss by the transmission. Under the Mackenzie regime the detachtions of this past were fearfully prevalent and destructive. The examples set before the country in this respect were most demoralizing, and that the germs should have found a favorable habitat in home precedent Conservative system was only what might have been held as unavoidable. Nevertheless, the country has the right to feel and regret the fact very much, as the disease is known to be of a most virulent type. It left brother Charles undetermined, as respects his moral health, for the rest of his days, though something of the malignity of the attack may be attributed to the fact that his moral system was favorably disposed to receive it. Affinity by blood appears unnecessary for the transmission of the malady, as political nepotism was quite as prevalent as that through family connections. The nepotism in one family cost this country about two and a half millions of dollars; in the case of friend Moore & Co. it cost only $30,000; by affinity with Foster the cost came to some $100,000, while in the case of brother Oliver on the Kaministiquia and the Neebing Metel the loss was about $80,000. These are all clear cases of nepotism, either through blood or political brotherhood, and the cases in which this leprosy was communicated might be extended to any length. No wonder we should feel alarmed at the accounts that reach us of the disease having broken out among the followers of Sir Joh. A. Macdonald, knowing as we do the ravages it made when last the epidemic paid a visit to Ottawa. It might be advisable to isolate these cases which have already shown themselves, as it is much better that a few should suffer unjustly though in secret in their own comfort, than that the whole party should become affected by the virus, as was the case when it broke out last in the office of the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa, and spread from that office over the length and breadth of the Dominion. So malignant was Mission Government, which pays five per cent. interest on $2,000,000, and is turned into very profitless bricks and mortar. When dealing with the subject of legislation, and recounting what had been done, he did not complain that the procedure had been in any way impaired by the "unsightliness" of the parliament buildings, or that its own health, that of any of his colleagues, or of any of his "rural supporters" had been prejudicially affected by the want of ventilation in its chamber. Speaking of finance he laid down the principle that a large permanent surplus is an anomaly, and advocated the spending of it usefully, as being preferable to hoarding it up. "I say to expend it usefully, for it would be a bad thing to expend uselessly any part of what we have." He had based his expenditures upon the quality of usefulness, and deprecated any outlay which necessity did not enforce. That the people approved of that position on account of its soundness there is little doubt of, seeing that Mr. Mowat carried the subsequent elections with more than usual eclat. It is but natural, then, that much surprise should have been elicited when it became known through the "reform" organs that Mr. Mowat's policy is to expend an immense sum of money upon new Parliamentary Buildings, three which are at present in use being amply sufficient for the purpose. If Mr. Mowat is tried by his own principle he will be found to be altogether astray in the line of policy which his organs have chalked out for him, and which his recent communication to the Toronto City Council justifies. If Mr. Mowat deputizes from the principle he laid down he will but show, what many other Grit Ministers have previously shown, that principle with him is but a convenient garment, to be put on or put off as interest and opportunity suggest. As a Torontonian whose claims were specially advocated by the Globe on account of his being a large property holder in the city, one can readily understand the anxiety which he has evinced to see a sum of money expended in beautifying it. But in the disposition of provincial funds the Ontario Premier should not feel the pressure of such interests. He should be above and beyond such considerations, and delay rather than encourage schemes of expenditure which have not become imperative. He should act for the Province as a whole, not specially for the city in which he lives. That the Globe should make a "big push" to secure the expenditure of a large amount of money in Toronto is a species of local patriotism which may be all very well in its way. But Mr. Mowat's position in relation to the Province is a different one altogether.

TRADE WITH BRAZIL.

We lately alluded to what the Government had done towards opening up a lucrative trade with the West Indies, and pointed out the extent to which such trade might be developed. In fact one can not easily set any bounds to the range of trade that may, in the course of a few years, be carried on between Canada and the West India Islands, and the further this trade is encouraged and fostered by the Government the better for the country. A portion of the revenue could not be more judiciously expended than in assisting to develop the trade referred to, and under the present Cabinet there is little doubt that this will be done. But from the remarks which have fallen lately from the honorable the Finance Minister, the Government hope to establish an extensive and profitable trade with the great empire of Brazil, on the west coast of South America. This is another step in the right direction, and it will be for the advantage of Canada that intimate commercial relations should be established between the Dominion and the empire of Brazil.

Few countries in the world can boast of a greater variety of products, animal, vegetable and mineral, than this vast country. In extent of territory it stands in the front rank, and in point of extent and compactness combined, it is without an equal. It occupies nearly one half of the continent of South America, and extends about thirty-eight degrees in each direction, thus showing how admirably it is situated—forming nearly a square block of 3,200,000 square miles. The population is not large when compared with the vast area of the country and the exceeding richness of the soil, as it stands now perhaps at something like 11,000,000. At the census of 1871 it was 10,009,000, and it has certainly increased largely since that time. Emigration to Brazil has been much encouraged of late years, but the climate does not suit the northern nations of Europe, and many sink before they become acclimatized, and some abandon it when they possess the means of doing so. Eight Brazilian cities vary in population from 20,000 inhabitants to that of the capital, which can boast of half a million of souls.

Brazil will yet be a country of great wealth and of various resources. Its mineral's might be taken to represent everything valuable that has ever been brought forth from the bowels of the earth. These productions embrace coal, iron, copper, tin, lead, silver and gold, while gems of every kind are also found in abundance, such as diamonds, rubies, sapphires, emeralds, and others of this class. But the mineral treasures are surpassed by the productions of the soil. The most valuable products for exports are cotton, coffee, sugar and hides. These are just what Canada wants at present, and that of which her wants will increase year by year, and this rapidly. In some years Brazil has exported upwards of two millions and a half of sacks of coffee, thirteen thousand boxes of sugar, one hundred thousand bales of cotton and other commodities in large quantities. One may form some idea of the extent of the trade that may be carried on with Brazil, from this meagre outline of its exports of these three commodities, of all of which Canada might have a large share, with advantage to both countries.

Hitherto the United States have enjoyed the greater part of this trade. In some years she has received the greater part of all the coffee exported from Brazil, sugar in some years to the amount of 33,500,000 lbs., and wool to the extent of 3,935,000 pounds. The whole volume of this Brazilian trade, imports and exports combined, has reached the figure of $184,000,000 in some years, and one may will admit that participation in this trade is well worth looking after. Of this large exportation of coffee the United States took more than half, the exports of all kinds to Great Britain of late years amount to a large figure—reaching some $30,000, while the imports from the same country foot up something less. This is the trade in which the Canadian Government desire to have a share, and are adopting such a course as will certainly result in the realization of their expectations. Even though the encouragement of this trade may, in its earlier stages, cost the country something, yet in the end it will pay and pay well. Canada can furnish much of what the Brazilians require, and we in return can balance the account by taking their surplus coffee, sugar, and other commodities.

WHEAT-GROWING METHODS.

While the wheat-growers of Europe are viewing with some alarm the increasing competition from America, the small farmers of the Far West have also their grievance, which, according to a writer in the current number of the Atlantic Monthly, threatens to become a serious one. It has hitherto been the boast of the West that the men who tilled the soil were the owners of it, and the most independent class of the population. This is still true of the older settled parts, but it can no longer be said of the new territories. We are told that the "bonanza" farms which have come into village within the past four or five years are killing off and freezing out the small proprietors, and introducing an agricultural system which would believe it to accord with the system hitherto practised, than would be the English plan of tenant farming and a dependent peasantry on the fruits of whose toil absentee proprietors live in luxury and ease. A large part of the wheat lands which have been brought under cultivation in the region traversed by the Northern Pacific Railroad is taken up in enormous farms or estates, ranging from those of the Grandin Bros., of Tidioute, Pa., who own 40,000 acres in one compact body, down to very numerous farms of 7,000, 5,000, 3,000 or 1,000 acres each. The owners of these great estates do not live upon them, but are bankers or other capitalists of eastern cities. Neither are any families settled upon them. On the great Grandin farm, of 5,300 cultivated acres, there is not one family finding a permanent home, whereas, in the East there would be at least one family to every fifty acres, or 106 families. This would give 106 houses in place of the three at present, and 106 barns in place of three, with other buildings in the proportion, and a population of at least 500, where there is not now one fixed inhabitant. These extensive farms are worked by managers as purely business enterprises. During the busy seasons of seeding and harvesting they employ such extra men as they need, of course, at as low wages as possible, and when the rush is over the men are at once dismissed and drift away again. There seems to be such a surplus of labor in that section that as many men as are needed can be had when needed without the necessity of keeping them under pay during the dull season. Thus the laborers have no foothold in the soil, but are mere waifs—not only peasantry, but a nomadic peasantry, likely in a few years to become more like gypsies or brigands than like a sober and useful farming population. Having most of their men under pay for but a few weeks in the year, using the best machinery, and being able to obtain special rates from the railways, the proprietors can raise wheat on an enormous profit even when it commands as low as forty cents a bushel. Some of the best managed farms have raised and can raise wheat for but a fraction over twenty cents a bushel, including all expenses except interest on the landed investment. And it is often sold for seventy cents a bushel on the farm. The small farmer is thus at a serious disadvantage in presence of such gigantic forces in competition. The consequence of all this is, according to the Atlantic writer, that the small farmers of Minnesota, Dakota, and Kansas, are in a wretched condition. They live in poor shanties or poorer dugouts, a hand to mouth existence, steeped in debt and poverty. There is a lesson in all this which must be obvious to our own people, which is to keep away from the regions where such a system has taken root. Stick to the diversified farming of Ontario, which, while maintaining a numerous population permanently on the soil, yields a class of products which find consumers in every market of the world, and which no amount of the competition described can interfere with.

The "blizzard" has not as euphonious a name as the simoom, but it is as pitiless. A German in Dakota was moving his family into a new house last week, and unfortunately left his stove for the last trip. Within a hundred steps of the house his wife was taken ill. Leaving the two youngest children, aged 18 months and 3½ years, in a dry goods box on the head sleigh, he helped her and two older children into the house, where, in order to prevent their freezing, they were all put to bed. He then returned for the two children, and was frozen to death before he reached them. The mother gave birth to a child that night, which died the next night (Sunday). She lay in bed until Monday noon without fire and food, when she contrived to crawl to a neighbor's, a mile and a half distant. The father lay dead near the corpses of his two children in the box, but although the children in bed with their mother were nearly frozen, it is believed they will recover.

The people of Maine are holding indignation meetings against the course of the Governor and Council. Meetings of this character were held Saturday night at Bangor, addressed by Senator Hamlin at Hallowell and Skowhegan. At the latter it was resolved :—"There must be no submission for one hour or one instant to the infamous count of the Governor and Council." It is ascertained that the Republicans elected to the Legislature from Lisbon and Webster, in Androscoggin county, were counted out on the alleged ground that the returns of the election were signed by one selectman acting for the three required by law. The selectmen have now made an affidavit that each separately subscribed his name to the Legislative returns. One of the selectmen is a well known Democrat.

A Niagara Falls correspondent of the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser writes :—"A prominent photographer of this place claims that there has not been the least change in the general appearance of the Falls for at least fifteen years, which he can prove by his old negatives. The National Park still agitates the minds of the people here, and the latest phase of the matter is the extraordinary rise in the value of property supposed to be wanted for the Park. Land, &c., worth $20,000 a few months ago is now worth $100,000, and it looks as if there would not be enough money in the State to buy a National Park."

Dan Rice is to become chief Assistant to Mr. Moody in revival work. It perhaps should be said that the famous circus man has recently been converted.

Edison's Electric Light.

The Great Inventor Makes a New and Remarkable Discovery.

The World to be Revolutionized by a Charred Cotton Thread—No Further Use Whatever for a Mine of Platinum—Electric Lights Cheaper than Oil—How the Electric Current is Subdivided and Regulated.

From the New York Herald.

Edison's electric light is produced from a little piece of paper—a tiny strip that a breath would blow away. Through this little strip of paper is passed an electric current, and the result is a bright, beautiful light, like the mellow sunset of an Italian autumn. Edison makes the little piece of paper more infusible than platinum, more durable than granite. And this involves no complicated process. The paper is merely baked in an oven until all its elements have passed away except its carbon framework. The latter is then placed in a glass globe connected with the wires leading to the electricity producing machine, and the air exhausted from the globe. Then the apparatus is ready to give out a light that produces no deleterious gases, no smoke, no offensive odors—a light without flame, without danger, requiring no matches to ignite, giving out but little heat, vitiating no air, and free from all flickering; a light that is a little globe of sunshine, a veritable Aladdin's lamp. And this light, the inventor claims, can be produced cheaper than that from the cheapest oil.

Sitting one night in his laboratory reflecting on some of the unfinished details, Edison began abstractedly rolling between his fingers a piece of compressed lamp black mixed with tar for use in the telephone. For several minutes his thoughts continued far away, his fingers in the meantime mechanically rolling out the little piece of sacred lampblack until it had become a slender filament. Happening to glance at it the idea occurred to him that it might give good result as a burner if made incandescent. A few minutes later the experiment was tried, and to the inventor's gratification, satisfactory, although not surprising, results were obtained. Further experiments were made, with altered forms and composition of the substance, each experiment demonstrating that at last the inventor was upon the right track.

COTTON THREAD.

A spool of cotton thread lay on the table in the laboratory. The inventor cut off a small piece, put it in a groove between two pieces of iron, and placed the latter in the furnace. The satisfactory light obtained from the tarred lampblack had convinced him that filaments of carbon of a texture not previously used in electric lighting were the hidden agents to make a thoroughly successful incandescent lighting, and it was with this view that he sought to test the carbon tentative of a cotton thread. At the expiration of an hour he removed the iron mould containing the thread from the furnace and took out the delicate carbon framework of the thread—all that was left of it after its fiery ordeal. This slender filament he placed in a globe and connected it with the wires leading to the machine generating the electric current. Then he extracted the air from the globe and turned on the electricity.

Presto! a beautiful light greeted his eyes. He turned on more current, expecting the fragile filament instantly to fuse; but no, the only change is a more brilliant light. He turns on the current, and still more, but the delicate thread remains entire. Then with characteristic impetuosity and wondering, and marvelling at the strength of the little filament, he turns on the full force of the machine, and eagerly watches the consequences. For a minute or more the tender thread seems to struggle with the intense heat passing through it—fear that would melt the diamond itself—then all last it succumbs, and all is darkness. The powerful current had broken it in twain, but not before it had emitted a light of several gas jets. Exactly the inventor hastened to examine under the microscope the curious filament, apparently so delicate, but in reality much more infusible than platinum, so long considered one of the most infusible of metals. The microscope showed the surface of the filament to be highly polished, and its parts intervwoven with each other.

THE PAPER LIGHT.

It was also noticed that the filament had obtained a remarkable degree of hardness compared with its fragile character before it was subjected to the action of the current. Night and day, with scarcely time enough to eat a hearty meal or catch a brief repose, the inventor kept up his experiments, and from carbonizing pieces of thread he went to splinters of wood, straw, paper and many other substances never before used for that purpose. The results of his experiments showed that the substance adapted for incandescent light was the giving out of incandescent light was paper, preferably thick like cardboard but giving good results even when very thin. The beautiful character of the illumination, and the steadiness, reliability and non-fusibility of the carbon filament were not the only elements incident to the new discovery that brought joy to the heart of Edison. There was a further element—not the less necessary because of its being hidden—the element of a proper and uniform resistance to the passage of the electric current.

The inventor's efforts to obtain this element had been by far the most laborious of any in the history of his work from the time he undertook the task, and without it absolute success to electric incandescent illumination could not be predicated, even though all the other necessary properties were present in the fullest degree.

Passing over the scores of experiments made since the discovery that the carbon framework of a little piece of paper or thread was the best substance possible for incandescent lighting, we come to consider the way in which the same is prepared at the present time in the laboratory.

MAKING THE PAPER CARBON.

With a suitable punch there is cut from a piece of "Bristol" cardboard a strip of the same in the form of a miniature horseshoe, about two inches in length and one inch in width. A number of pieces of these strips are laid flat-wise in a wrought iron mould about the size of the hand, and the pieces are also grasped by the same pair. The mould is then covered and placed in an oven, where it is gradually raised to a temperature of about six hundred degrees Fahrenheit. This allows the volatile portions of the paper to pass away

The Free Press

Wednesday, Dec. 24, 1879.

That Evil Play.

...and a good mess porter's ar...
Whom what's the latest scrapeth and sore,
...read—what is this matter now?
He went and answered "Fiasco!"

...went last summer night," he said,
"To hear that play about unlucky play.
...now I know this awful creed:
With failure to buy dying day."

...laughed. He said "I had no thoughts
What unpleasant I did commit
...till the foreword Master Fate
...discovered me the sinfulness of it.

...nightly dreams of Buttercup
...and my father; she seemed to be ...ended in making of me up—
...change like a Dr. Big D—.

...ask Iron here, with a head as stony,
...as plutocrats coerce, with brains and tact,
...with wanting revenge my sin
...in that bad place where enemies fail.

...d "Ruler of the Queen's Navee"
...orders me off to dungeon deep,
...here from singing seem to be
...roaring me in my sleep.

...be and naughty Josephus,
...with Corcoran and all the crew
...thwarted their wicked pasts—the issues
...a light on my wish fiances of hire.

...dreadful fence I toss and groan,
...ching to drive the fiends away;
...ll be rewarded soon—
...sir. They hardly ever say.

...what makes all my days so sad—
...e the awful mighty dreams of fire
..."Pinafore" did not seem bad
...ll Fe Pinafore like this is?

...forve long months I've walked in guile,
...aughing at wicked "Pinafore"
...ean I rewrite a to smile
...r seeing not my fan like it, re?

...t that really stricken one,
...wonder if a fall from grace
...ows of sorrow when members fin
...across the nineties of the face. —Grip.

UPERT GODWIN.

...se; it must have been dark when he
... My nieces and me were sitting
...r one of the great cedars on the lawn,
...he dining room windows being open
...he lamps lighted, we could see every-
...that was going on in the room. We
...he stranger walk in through one of
...indows, while master and his clerk
...sitting quietly over their wine; and
...strange gentleman seemed excited
... something, as we could guess from
...anner. But Mr. Godwin, he was as
...as a stone statue, and presently, after
... Danielson had gone away in a dry
...o catch the train from Hertford, the
...or and master left the dining room
...or, and went to his library; for me
...y nieces could see the lights through
...rear painted window, though we ...'t see anything of what was going on.

... But presently, through the open
...of the hall—for, being such a hot,
...uisite night, all the doors were left
...pen—we saw Mr. Godwin and the
...or going towards the corridor leading ...northern wing, Mr. Godwin carrying
...p."

...housekeeper paused to draw breath
...this long speech. Lionel Westford
...erribly ex-ited, and it was with
...ly that he concealed the extent of
...itation.

...d after this?" he said, interrogative-

...ter this me and my niece walked
...a bit, first here, then there, keeping
...the cool till supper time, and they
...walking about nigh upon an hour,
...ere strolling along one of the path-
...lose to the north garden, when who ... come upon us sudden-like but
...Danielson, which we had thought to
...tered by the front. Hertford-
...uldn't help been a little startled by
...ning upon us so sudden, and there
...nothing in his manner that seemed
...old been excited, or almost frightened
...and this was something out of the
...nion, for generally speaking, he's
...like a machine made out of cast-iron
...human being. "Where's the gentle-
...says he, to me and my niece-
...s the strange gentleman? Have
...en him go away?" "No," I replied,
...ish-like, "we have not." "Oh!" says he,
...ught you might have seen him; it's
...nsequence; good evening; and with
...e walks off very quick, and, though
...wasn't nigh in what he said, there
...nothing in his manner that seemed
...ke me and my niece turn out
...d silvery like, in spite of the sultry

...d did you see the stranger after

...he left as quietly as he came. I
...ar Mr. Godwin showed him the ...ut across the park, for none of us
...servants' hall saw him go away."

...lood! And this was the night upon
...your Cousin Caleb was taken with

...ms, sir?"

...ly! I can't help feeling a sort of
...ity about this haunted northern

...I'm not exactly a believer in ghosts;
...often wondered whether friends do
...not be some little truth in the
...rous stories so firmly believed by ...sensible people. I should very ...like to explore those old rooms. Is ...any way of getting into that part of ...building?"

...housekeeper shook her head.

..., sir. Mr. Godwin keeps the keys
...up in his own library, and wouldn't
...em out of his hands on any account."
...t he allows the servants to clean the
...sometimes I suppose?"

...t his, sir. He says he'd rather have
...t a foot deep than he'd have his
...s pried into or meddled with. But
...is a way of getting into those rooms
...that, Mr. Wilton, if any one had the
...e to go that way."

...deed!"

...se. This place is very old, you know,
...stretch of years old; and they do say
...here was all sorts of queer hiding...s made in the days of the Lollards.
...ver that may be, the cellars under
...orthern wing are almost big enough
...regiment to hide in, and there's an
...ground passage leading from the
...to a grotto at one end of the laurel-

...know the grotto," answered Lionel,
...ly. "I noticed it some days ago."
...'s a regular ruinous place; but if you
...your way through the archway at
...ack, you'll find a flight of stone steps
...ng down underground, and at the
...of those steps there's a passage,
...as I've heard say long ago, when I
...girl, to the cellars. But, mind you,
...hton, I never knew any one to go
...that underground passage, and
...ems know what state it may be in.
...suppose"—Godwin to such as
...'s of its exis—. So if you go, Mr.
...on, you k—the risk you've got to

...met Westford laughed at the old
...'s warning. Fortunately, the house-
...s ear was not across enough to
...ver the artificial sound of that
...ster.

...n needn't be afraid of my running
...sk, my dear Mrs. Beckson," he said;
...ould very much like to see a ghost, if
...d meet the gentleman or lady after ...putting myself to any very great
...ble. But I certainly have no inclina-
...to tempt the perils of an underground
...ey, even though I might be rewarded
...an introduction to all the phantoms
...adowland. No, no; I'm no coward;
...have no wish to be entombed alive,
...some of the old brisk work of your
...ge might happen to give way,
...ps, and bury me under its ruins."
...is is what Lionel Westford said.
...t he intended to do was something
...different.

...must watch my opportunity," he
...ght, "and pay a secret visit to the
...hern wing when every member of this
...ehold is sleeping."

CHAPTER XXII.

...SCRIPT, DELIVERED FROM HER DAUGHTER."

...olet awoke, feverish and unrefreshed,
...n the heavy slumber into which she ...fallen from sheer exhaustion. She
...ked to see the broad summer sunlight
...aming through the old-fashioned
...lows of her room.

...first she looked about her, dazed and
...ildered by the strangeness of the place
...which she found herself, and scarcely
...ering whether she were dreaming or
...ing.

...hen, with a terrible suddenness, the
...ole of the previous night flashed back
...on her memory. She sprang hastily
...of her bed, and ran to one of her win-
...s; she wanted at least to know whether
...had been brought.

To be continued.

...he united forces of climate and civil-
...on are pressing us back from one
...ntanel to another, until like babes we ... go safe retreat save in Kaska and
...h and water.—North American Review.

THE DAKOTA BLIZZARD.

A Father Lost in an Effort to Save His Children—Two Children Perish on Their Way Home.

Fargo Argus.

Carl Bolan, a German, with his family were living in a shanty belonging to another man on section 10, township 14 range 50, something less than a mile from the place they were preparing for a home. The man had completed a stable, and his house was ready to move into. They commenced to move on Saturday, and were drawing their goods on a hand sleigh, leaving their stove behind to be taken over the next trip. When within about one hundred steps of the house the woman was taken ill, and the two youngest boys, aged 10 months and 3½ years, were left wrapped in a blanket, and put in a dry goods box while the man helped his wife and the two older children to the house. They got the woman in bed when the girl and boy were beginning to freeze, and they were put in bed with their mother. By this time it began to get dark, and when the man started out for the children left behind, his wife begged him not to go, as the children were lost, and he would freeze. He could not think of leaving them without making an effort, so he started, and had reached the box when he was overcome, and died on the spot. The woman gave birth to a child that night, and on Sunday night it died. She laid in bed without any fire, or food to eat, until Monday noon, when she got up and managed by some means to reach the house of Mr. Gage, about one and one half miles distant. Search was then made, and the man was found lying on his back, near the box which contained the bodies of his two boys. It is reported that Mr. Bolan had loaned about $15 to some one, and was unable to get it, or he would have had everything made comfortable before the cold weather came on. Sheriff Haggart, with his usual true generosity and kindness, sent some flour and provisions to the woman, who still remains at the home of Mr. Gage. Deputy Sheriff Hammes returned last night with the boy and girl, who were badly frozen, but will probably recover.

Among reports of accidents during the late blizzard, the Argus is pained to learn of the sad death of George Owens, aged 19, and Evans Owens, aged 11, children of Wm. Owens, Sheriff of our neighboring county of Richland. Last Saturday they were visiting a neighbor, in company with their grandfather, and when they were ready to go home the old gentleman told them to remain where they were over night. They insisted upon starting, however, and were allowed to do so. They were found next day, half way home, frozen to death.

NOTES FROM SCOTLAND.

The liquidators of the City of Glasgow Bank affairs have announced the sale of no fewer than eighty-seven life policies.

The estate of Torrance, which belonged to Mr. Inglis, one of the directors of the City of Glasgow Bank, has been sold for £24,000.

The farms on the Aberdeen estate have been re-let at nearly the average of the old rent; while all building and draining are to be charged 5 per cent. to the tenant, instead of 5 per cent.

The number of students who have already matriculated this session in the University of Edinburgh is 2,510—being 198 more than on the corresponding day of the session last year.

The new system of warning the traffic at the Waverley Station, Edinburgh, by means of an enormous bell of seven tons, has been brought into operation for the first time, and has worked satisfactorily.

On the 24th of December snow lay on the ground at Kelso to the depth of a foot. The frost was so intense that the Tweed was frozen over above and below Kelso bridge, and skaters were enjoying themselves.

An eagle was captured alive on the 27th of November, on the island of Roussay, the estate of Colonel Barrougha, C.B., by Mr. Munro, contractor. From tip to tip of the wings it measured seven and a half feet, and weighed eleven pounds.

A Ross shire correspondent writes:—The season now our has been one of the most remarkable experienced for many years by sportsmen, and the fact that grouse, ptarmigan and hares have been unusually numerous, almost to a fault, is worthy of note. Deer on the other hand, were very late in coming into condition, and in some places stags were not only not so plentiful as in former seasons, but it was a rare matter to meet with a good head, even where the animal was of heavy weight.

Mr. James Allan, Kilbirnie, imported various potatoes, part of which were sold to Mr. John Martin. The latter gentleman came upon one of the potatoes, which in 1876 there were 400 imported, in 1878 there were 68,903. The importation of sheep in 1877 numbered 73,120; in 1878, 47,567. The importation of fresh beef is steadily increasing. In 1874, 1,095 cwts.; in 1878, 483 012 cwts. In naphtha there is a marked decrease of importation. Generally, British trade with the United States shows an important increase and revival.

WHERE THE COTTON GOES.

American Paper.—The development of the export trade in cotton goods is attracting much attention just now. Cotton goods are constantly being shipped to such points as Bremen, Danish West Indies, Cuba, Havre, Capitaine Republic, Liverpool, British Africa, Dutch West Indies, Africa, British North American Colonies, Mexico, Brazil, British West Indies, United States of Colombia, Argentine Republic, Venezuela, Hayti, China, and Australia. The exports from this country for 1879 have reached a total of 145 599 packages, against 133,562 packages for the same time last year, 96,215 packages in the corresponding period of 1876, and 118 278 packages for the same period in 1880.

GRAIN IN SIGHT.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada, comprising the stocks in granary at the principal points of accumulation at lake and seaboard ports, and in transit by lake and rail on December 13th, 1879, and on the same date last year, was as follows:—

	Dec. 13, 1879.	Dec. 14, 1878.
Wheat, bush	49,077,939	19,339,256
Corn, bush	16,029,365	8,855,304
Oats, bush	5,032,000	1,500,000
Barley, bush	4,71,815	3,701,566
Rye, bush	1,261,979	1,6 2 2 5
Total	80,373,271	38,962,094

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT READY FOR CONTRACTS.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 22.—R. J. Edgar and John A. Russell, representing Edison, have been in the city several days to arrange for the introduction of the new electric light. To-day they made a contract with John Shillito and associates, to give them the preference in bidding for the management of the business of the medical district, Covington and Newport, so soon as experiments show the invention to be practicable.

General Notes.

Jarvis is running over with life and business since sleighing commenced.

The annual report of trade in the Sheffield district shows a remarkable decrease in the file trade. In 1878 the value of files sent to the United States was £660,741; in 1875, $197 906; in 1878, $71,049; in 1879, 54,871.

A mining company composed exclusively of women is being organized in New York. It will have $25,000 capital, and send out a prospecting party of women in the spring. Their success would excite promiscuous speculation wonderfully.

The six gas companies of Brooklyn have entered into a combination against the reduction in the price of illuminating gas, which the people of that city desire. Senator-elect Shroeder promises to give his best efforts at Albany to break the combination.

A statement issued by the U. S. Bureau of Statistics shows that the total value of the exports of domestic provisions and tallow from the United States for the month of November, 1879, was $8 900,709, and during the same period in 1878, $9,690 482.

During the past week the arrivals of gold at New York from Europe were $1 011 000, of which $924,700 were deposited in the Assay Office. The arrivals of gold from August 12 to December 13 1879, aggregate $72 684 600, of which $56,104,450 were deposited in the Assay Office.

E. Palmer, of Norwich, Ont., bought for the English market last week 1 600 turkeys, which he killed by tapping near the head, and after the blood had been drained, the birds were frozen, then packed in barrels like apples, sufficiently tight to prevent them moving in transportation.

Trade, Traffic, and Finance.

Latest Notes by Telegraph and Mail.

THE DRAGON'S MARINE RECORD.

A compilation carefully made from the files of the Detroit Free Press shows that during the season of navigation the present year, there were upwards of forty vessels lost on the great lakes, either from going ashore, from fire or from sinking outright. Of this number it is a striking fact that but a western rated high enough in the Underwriters' register to be valued at all or to be mentioned, except as "not insurable." The tonnage of twenty-four of the vessels lost has been ascertained, and it aggregates 6,669 tons. An examination of the record shows further one notable feature in particular, which is, that of the seventeen registered vessels lost, the average rating was B2 while five rated B1, showing that, severe as were the November gales, which did the most damage—fourteen sailing craft of all kinds, being caused by them alone—the vessels of a high rating in almost every case escaped total destruction, though a few suffered considerable injury.

Of the twenty or more unregistered vessels which were lost, it is safe to say that their value would swell the grand total to $200 000, and it is believed that this sum very nearly represents the aggregate loss sustained from shipwreck on the great lakes during 1879. In close connection with these losses comes that of the insurance companies on cargoes, the value of a single one of which often amounted, as in the cases of the Breed and the Phelps, to three or four times the value of the vessel itself.

The year 1879, however, and especially the month of November, will not so much be remembered by reason of the pecuniary loss sustained, as for the number of lives lost. Beginning with the 14th of that month, the record shows that in the ten days which followed nearly sixty lives were lost, because the lake vessels striking raging ashore to be broken up by the force of the gale that drove them there. Lake Erie, Michigan, Huron and Ontario and Georgian Bay, each had its disaster, the terrible record closing with the loss of the Canadian steamer Wanbuno and thirty lives, Nov. 23.

MINING FEVER IN MAINE.

The mining fever really rages down east Maine is the scene of most of the excitement and most of the work, and silver is the chief product. About two thousand men are now employed in mining there, and it is estimated New York and Boston together have put about $8,000,000 into the development there. Each place also has invested half a million. Some of the mines apparently are productive. One or two are at an actual paying revenue as far as in the market, and the local correspondents naturally intimate that this is only the beginning. Perhaps Maine is going to develop the new bonanza, but New England mining has heretofore had only moderate success. It is said that many years ago that we got daily despatches from New York telling how well a Massachusetts silver mining company was doing. Its "regular dividends" were announced with a flourish and its stock "placed." Nothing has been telegraphed about it, however, for a year or two, and perhaps the Maine fever may also burn out.

THE TEA TRADE.

A statement in regard to teas, furnished by the New York Shipping List, shows a total of crop estimates of 64,490,000 pounds for Japan, against 58,000,000 in 1878; for United States, and 3,500 000 for Canada, making a total of 67,990,000 pounds, of which 33,000 000 pounds represent Japans, 15,500,000 pounds greens, 3 600,000 pounds Congous, and 15,800,000 pounds Oolongs; amount received in New York, 51,000 000 pounds; quantity shipped to the United States from China and Japan at last mail advices, 49 000,000 pounds, of which 40 098 000 pounds is for New York; received in New York, up to Dec. 1, 1879, 29 575 900 pounds; balance to arrive this season at New York, 28,224,100 pounds; stock in New York, Dec. 1, 1879, 4,198 400 pounds; total supply Dec. 1, 1879, to arrive of crop, 32,422,500 pounds; deliveries in New York for seven months after Dec 1, 1878, 31,873,800 pounds; do. for eleven months since Jac. 1, 1779, 57,787,300 pounds.

BRITISH IMPORTS.

The United States Consul at Liverpool, in his annual commercial report to the Department of State, says: "And healthy, important to be noted is the increase of the United States to Great Britain for the the last year exceed those of the previous year by over $85 000,000. The most remarkable increase is in provisions. In 1879 Great Britain paid the United States for such articles $106,000,000. In 1878 the sum was $37,000,000; in 1878, $66,000,000. In breadstuffs the increase of the last over the previous year was $32,000,000; over 1874 the increase was $85,000,000. The importation of horned cattle is yet in its infancy. In 1876 there were 400 imported, in 1878 there were 68,903. The importation of sheep in 1877 numbered 73,120; in 1878, 47,567. The importation of fresh beef is steadily increasing. In 1874, 1,095 cwts.; in 1878, 483 012 cwts. In naphtha there is a marked decrease of importation. Generally, British trade with the United States shows an important increase and revival.

WHERE THE COTTON GOES.

American Paper.—The development of the export trade in cotton goods is attracting much attention just now. Cotton goods are constantly being shipped to such points as Bremen, Danish West Indies, Cuba, Havre, Capitaine Republic, Liverpool, British Africa, Dutch West Indies, Africa, British North American Colonies, Mexico, Brazil, British West Indies, United States of Colombia, Argentine Republic, Venezuela, Hayti, China, and Australia. The exports from this country for 1879 have reached a total of 145 599 packages, against 133,562 packages for the same time last year, 96,215 packages in the corresponding period of 1876, and 118 278 packages for the same period in 1880.

GRAIN IN SIGHT.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada, comprising the stocks in granary at the principal points of accumulation at lake and seaboard ports, and in transit by lake and rail on December 13th, 1879, and on the same date last year, was as follows:—

	Dec. 12, 1879.	Dec. 14, 1878.
Wheat, bush	49,077,939	19,339,256
Corn, bush	16,029,365	8,855,304
Oats, bush	5,032,000	1,500,000
Barley, bush	4,71,815	3,701,566
Rye, bush	1,261,979	1,6 2 2 5
Total	80,373,271	38,962,094

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT READY FOR CONTRACTS.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 22.—R. J. Edgar and John A. Russell, representing Edison, have been in the city several days to arrange for the introduction of the new electric light. To-day they made a contract with John Shillito and associates, to give them the preference in bidding for the management of the business of the medical district, Covington and Newport, so soon as experiments show the invention to be practicable.

General Notes.

Jarvis is running over with life and business since sleighing commenced.

The annual report of trade in the Sheffield district shows a remarkable decrease in the file trade. In 1878 the value of files sent to the United States was £660,741; in 1875, $197 906; in 1878, $71,049; in 1879, 54,871.

A mining company composed exclusively of women is being organized in New York. It will have $25,000 capital, and send out a prospecting party of women in the spring. Their success would excite promiscuous speculation wonderfully.

The six gas companies of Brooklyn have entered into a combination against the reduction in the price of illuminating gas, which the people of that city desire. Senator-elect Shroeder promises to give his best efforts at Albany to break the combination.

A statement issued by the U. S. Bureau of Statistics shows that the total value of the exports of domestic provisions and tallow from the United States for the month of November, 1879, was $8 900,709, and during the same period in 1878, $9,690 482.

During the past week the arrivals of gold at New York from Europe were $1 011 000, of which $924,700 were deposited in the Assay Office. The arrivals of gold from August 12 to December 13 1879, aggregate $72 684 600, of which $56,104,450 were deposited in the Assay Office.

E. Palmer, of Norwich, Ont., bought for the English market last week 1 600 turkeys, which he killed by tapping near the head, and after the blood had been drained, the birds were frozen, then packed in barrels like apples, sufficiently tight to prevent them moving in transportation.

No less than 115,710,057 bushels of grain were received in Chicago during the year ending October 13, 1879 according to the State Inspector's returns. Of the shipments about seventy five per cent. went by the lakes, showing the important part taken by the water routes in the commerce of that city.

Two million feet of lumber of various kinds were sold last week in Jefferson county, Pennsylvania, at assignee's sale, at an average of a little over $10 per 1,000. The effect of this has been to advance the price of lumber at the Pittsburg yards, as the stock is low, and some qualities altogether out of reach.

A bank dividend of 3 per cent. declared in Quebec for American markets, and famous in that vicinity are realizing profits of price ranging from $65 to $70 each for all stock.

Several new American buyers were expected in Quebec on Saturday, and the outlook for an increase of business is encouraging.

Carpets are advancing. A manufacturer of tapestry carpets in New York, who is considered the largest in the country, had at the beginning of the season from 30,000 to 40 000 rolls of carpet stored in his build ing. He now has but a few and only distributed those by sales, but has orders ahead for twice the capacity of his mill until next July.

The largest amount of grain ever received at Chicago during any year, at the public warehouses, has been received during the year 1879, namely, 80,654,178 bushels. The number of cars unloaded in the warehouses was 168,211, and the statistics show that nearly 30 per cent. of the cars coming in do not discharge their loads in the ware houses. Important improvements have been made to the warehouses and transportation arrangements at Chicago to facilitate the transfer of grain.

Christmas trees are a regular article of trade in the large cities. Ten thousand were in sizes from three and a half to eight feet, and wholesaled at from sixty cents to a dollar a dozen, are daily brought into the New York markets. Many come from the Hudson River region, but the greater number are from Pennsylvania. Immense piles of wreaths, crosses and streamers, wrought in smilax, holly, cedar, spruce and pine sprays, and interwoven with winbergreen berries, are also to be seen in the markets.

Free Press Correspondence.

Conversation or Deception Once More?

To the Editor of the Free Press.

"Ex uno disce omnes."—VIRGIL.

"By their fruits ye shall know them."—JESUS.

Were it not a feeling of deep sympathy and compassion for the poor deluded ones, who, after having been fearfully frightened by the effect of the battery with the profusion of sounding words, the wild and rapid gesticulation, and the vivid picture of eternal and horrid torments"—as G. A. H. describes it in a well written article in your issue of the 19th—consider themselves converted, which induces me to speak once more on the painful subject of revivals, the bombastic language of your correspondent who tries to defend Mr. Hammond certainly could not have engaged me to do so. He, Mr. "Revivals," evidently shows how little he understands the Sacred Volume. He cites "The thief on the cross," the "Conversion of Saul," etc., against my statement, that one does not become a true child of God in so limited a time as, we are told, happens day after day in the Drill Shed at London Poor soul! He only repeats, parrot like, what was told him in the manufactory. He sees a parallel between "The thief, the cross, and the Crucified One" (who appeared on Golgotha to the superficial one, to whom nearly all the spectators could be reduced, as a convicted criminal), and the "Drill Shed, comfortable sittings, and an excited preacher!!

As for the conversion of St. Paul—only he who is absolutely ignorant of the history of Saul of Tarsus, he who knows nothing of human character, who is altogether unable to discriminate between real with and natural without knowledge, and who is void of common sense and of the first principles of metaphysics and logic—for example, one like Mr. "Revivals" himself—could quote this great Apostle in favor of Drill Shed conversions!

But, Mr. "Revivalist" is to be blamed to a certain extent before His Honor Judge Robinson, at Sarnia, who disturbed both.

Mr. Peter McKellar, one of your old supporters and friends in charge of Post Office at Belmont, in 1858 9, has been appointed to the vacancy in the Forest Post Office in room of Dr. Scott, resigned.

SHERT.

Windsor, December 23.—The customs officials collected thirty-two dollars at both docks on Saturday, all on small domestic articles. The amount is an unusually large one.

Miss Phillis Marantette, a young lady with a large circle of friends and acquaintances, died on Sunday of consumption.

A well known customs official has been suspended until a decision has been rendered on a report of his case, which was sent to Ottawa on Saturday. The officer in question has long been recognized as the most active and efficient "landing waiter" at the port of Windsor. He has many warm friends who will anxiously await the Government's decision.

Wm. Cook was arraigned at the Police Court yesterday on a charge of blackmailing, preferred by Donald Coutts, of Pattillo. The latter exhibited a letter in which Cook stated that unless Coutts disgorged $15 he would make complaint against him for selling liquor without a license. Magistrate Bartlet expressed his doubts as to the criminality of the threat, and dismissed the defendant with a caustic reprimand.

The case against Capt. Low Horn, of Detroit, who is charged with maliciously running into and damaging the steamer Erie Belle with his boat Excelsior, was brought up at the Police Courts this morning. Lafcambose, of the Erie Belle, was the complainant. J. C. Patterson, M. P., appeared for the defendant, and Hol White, M.P.P., for the plaintiff. John Mills, one of the engineers of the Belle, testified that just before the collision occurred he went forward on to the pilot. "Give her the jingle," and a moment later the Excelsior moved forward, and struck the Belle. He also testified that just after the collision Horn called out, "I don't care if I kill everybody on board!" Messrs. Gibson and Bartlet, of the Customs Department, testified as to the facts of the collision. After hearing the testimony Magistrate Bartlet decided to hold the defendant for trial at the next term of the Quarterly Sessions. On the application of counsel to Judge Leggatt Capt. Horn was admitted to bail in the sum of $800, and the trial fixed for January 7. His bail bonds were signed by James McKee and James A. Stewart, hotel proprietor, both of Sandwich, in the sum of $200 each, and Capt. Horn was obliged to give his own bond for $400. An effort is to be made to have the plaintiff withdraw his complaint.

North-western Intelligence.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE COLD SNAP

broke out on Friday evening and continued to snap at intervals till Sunday evening after church, when matters softened a trifle. Our cat, forgotten in the store over Saturday night, became a stiff, congealed, frozen body. A gentleman essayed to walk from Parkhill to Adair Craig, a distance of eight miles and accomplished the feat with only one ear frozen.

The excitement among the celebrated fish-sleigh cars, Geo. Mitchell versus Wm. Rayborn still rages. Judge Davis having reserved decision.

The Parkhill people presented their Church of England pastor, Mr. Johnson, with a splendid horse. We know of a few more clergymen who could survive a similar gift. "Go then," &c.

Grip, the classic crow of the hub, is back again, and we heartily wish the Gazette's "floral Dean" had him. The box with the lost crow inside was picked up by a lad and brought to Adair Craig. No sooner was he released than he hopped up stairs and commenced his old tricks by tearing up our papers and throwing our mail matter in all directions.

THE HUB.

Our Ambassador is gone to England and Ireland, to be absent perhaps for ten months.

A temperance meeting, W. K. Atkinson in the chair, is to come off at Melrose New Year's eve. Some lay and clerical gents are to be heard from.

SARNIA.

There are a number of vessels of all skapes and dimensions now being laid up—and still they come—in the Sarnia Bay, where they are to take rest until the opening of navigation.

Spurious bank bills and counterfeit coin are doing their work in the towns and villages along the Grand Trunk Line, ending badly at Sarnia. The sharpers from beyond the lines are among us.

We did not feel the shock nor hear the noise made by the explosion on Fox Islands at the hub, but they did nearer to the lake, even at the distance of eighty miles. That dynamite in the woods near Point Edward may make a noise yet.

The gun which bursted in J. Kennedy's hand, near Fort Gratiot light house, ended in amputation of the hand.

EXETER.

On Saturday last, while Mr. Thomas Sluyter of Usborne, was riding on horseback, the animal stopped into a hole, and, falling heavily on its rider, the leg of the latter was broken.

The firm of O'Byron & Co., hardware merchants, Exeter, have had to succumb to the late long leaden state of trade. It is to be hoped the cessation from business will be only temporary.

MARKETS.

Hicks & Co., of London, England, report the cattle market with a decided upward tendency. The sheep market ever stocked, and lower tendency. Cattle—Both markets, 4,441; sheep—Both markets, 17,861.

Spence & Co., Glasgow, report cattle over stocked, and lower; sheep, small supply, and a shade better prices.

Mac's Hill demonstration Monday evening, 29th. Revs. Jackson, Ridley, Chair, W. H. Atkinson.

Sabbath School reunion, Presbyterian, 30th Dec. Revs. Mr. Kennie, Ridley, Higgins.

Christmas tree and soiree, Methodist Church, Dec. 31st. Revs. Wm. Ridley, Kennie, Higgins.

Rev. George Jackson preaches in Methodist Church, 29th, at 6.30.

Rev. Mr. Wells preaches to the Free Masons in Presbyterian Church at 7.30, Sabbath, 28th Dec.

WESTERN CORRESPONDENCE.

The Latest News by Our Own Special Correspondents.

FOREST.

Dec. 22.—The prisoners Rowles and Milburne, arrested here on the 19th inst., were tried before His Honor Judge Robinson, at Sarnia, on their business, both.

Mr. Peter McKellar, one of your old supporters and friends in charge of Post Office at Belmont, in 1858 9, has been appointed to the vacancy in the Forest Post Office in room of Dr. Scott, resigned.

SHERT.

Windsor, December 23.—The customs officials collected thirty-two dollars at both docks on Saturday, all on small domestic articles. The amount is an unusually large one.

Miss Phillis Marantette, a young lady with a large circle of friends and acquaintances, died on Sunday of consumption.

A well known customs official has been suspended until a decision has been rendered on a report of his case, which was sent to Ottawa on Saturday. The officer in question has long been recognized as the most active and efficient "landing waiter" at the port of Windsor. He has many warm friends who will anxiously await the Government's decision.

Wm. Cook was arraigned at the Police Court yesterday on a charge of blackmailing, preferred by Donald Coutts, of Pattillo. The latter exhibited a letter in which Cook stated that unless Coutts disgorged $15 he would make complaint against him for selling liquor without a license. Magistrate Bartlet expressed his doubts as to the criminality of the threat, and dismissed the defendant with a caustic reprimand.

The case against Capt. Low Horn, of Detroit, who is charged with maliciously running into and damaging the steamer Erie Belle with his boat Excelsior, was brought up at the Police Courts this morning. Lafcambose, of the Erie Belle, was the complainant. J. C. Patterson, M. P., appeared for the defendant, and Hol White, M.P.P., for the plaintiff. John Mills, one of the engineers of the Belle, testified that just before the collision occurred he went forward on to the pilot. "Give her the jingle," and a moment later the Excelsior moved forward, and struck the Belle. He also testified that just after the collision Horn called out, "I don't care if I kill everybody on board!" Messrs. Gibson and Bartlet, of the Customs Department, testified as to the facts of the collision. After hearing the testimony Magistrate Bartlet decided to hold the defendant for trial at the next term of the Quarterly Sessions. On the application of counsel to Judge Leggatt Capt. Horn was admitted to bail in the sum of $800, and the trial fixed for January 7. His bail bonds were signed by James McKee and James A. Stewart, hotel proprietor, both of Sandwich, in the sum of $200 each, and Capt. Horn was obliged to give his own bond for $400. An effort is to be made to have the plaintiff withdraw his complaint.

SIDETON.

Mr. John Lane threshed on the farm of Mr. Chas. Wilson, Base Line, Bianshard, 50 bushels of clover, the yield of seven acres, one day last week. This is the best yield we have heard of in these parts. Who will come next?

The people of St. Paul's Church here are making preparations for a grand entertainment on Tuesday night next. The entertainment is to consist of tableaux, music, etc.

As sleighing is becoming good now, look out for the wedding bells.

NEWBURY.

Business this season has been lively. Messrs. Miller, McMillan & Dobie have purchased large quantities of grain here. The prices paid compared favorably with other points and general satisfaction given. Live stock shipments have been very extensive, Messrs. Armstrong, Laird and Belford being the principal buyers.

Improvements are going on with usual activity. Dr. Graham having purchased the Royal and Maine hotels and refitted them new is first class style.

Amongst some of the arrivals at the Beattie House yesterday was Mr. Courtwright, of Inwood, and Mr. Alexander McDougall, of Fairfield, the latter, we believe, with the intention of purchasing some town property with a view of becoming a resident.

London Spectator.—"Hardly anything that had a 'purpose' in it which Dickens ever did was done well. His astonishing genius, his unfathomable stores of humor, his quaint and wild power of caricature, were all apt to go terribly astray directly they once put on harness by Him—in his case—most destructive agency, a moral purpose."

SLEIGHS. SLEIGHS.

DOLLS' SLEIGHS,
BOYS' SLEIGHS,
BABY SLEIGHS.

COASTING SLEIGHS
—AT—BRYCE'S
168 and 215
Dundas street, - - - London

RECEIVED
(20) Twenty Bbls Irish Moss
Quotations on application.
B. A. MITCHELL.

TTTTTTTTT
TTTTTTTTT
TT TTT TT
TTT
TTT
TTT
TTTTT

Toronto Tea Co. Branch No. 4. Market Lane, London. Head Office, Toronto. ed

Economy Combined with Respectability
W. Hinton
From London, England.
UNDERTAKER, Etc
First-class Hearses for Hire
Private Residence, 324 King street.

Largest Furnishing House in the West.

R. S. MURRAY & CO.

In order to meet the demand of their immense trade, they have just finished the extension of their Carpet Room from Dundas to Carling street, and have just received

100 pcs Brussels Carpet, 90c to $1.50
100 pcs Tapestry Carpet, 45c to 1.00
50 pcs Wool Carpet, 75 cts to 1.25
50 pcs 3 ply Carpet, $1.25 to 1.50
50 pcs Union Carpet, 45 cts to 80
50 pcs Dutch Carpet, 65 cts to 75
50 pcs Felt Carpet, 35 cts to 75
100 pcs Hemp Carpet, 10 cts to 30
100 pcs Cocoa Matting, 30 cts to 80
25 pcs Wool Repp, 60 cts to 3.00
200 pcs English Oilcloth, 80c to 1.50
200 pcs Linoleum, 1.50
200 pcs American Oilcloth, 30c to 60
200 pcs Canadian Oilcloth, 30c to 80

Parties furnishing houses, hotels and public buildings, should examine before purchasing.

R. S. MURRAY & CO.
124 DUNDAS STREET,
125 CARLING STREET,
LONDON, ed ONTARIO

Special Attractions
—FOR—CHRISTMAS
AT THE

WOOL CLOUDS,
WOOL SQUARES,
WOOL SHAWLS,
WOOL CUFFS,
WOOL MITTS,
WOOL HOSIERY.

GENTS' DEPARTMENT
LINED KID GLOVES,
BRACES, SHIRTS,
SILK HANDKERCHIEFS,
WOOL SHIRTS & DRAWERS.

DRESS GOODS,
MILLINERY & MANTLES

READY - MADE CLOTHING.

CASH ONLY

R. Walker & Sons
South Side Dundas St.,
ed LONDON, ONT.

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE
years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELIABLE TOBACCOS.

TRADE MARK.

JOSEPHINE
KID GLOVES,
Forty Cents Per Pair.
—AT—
Brunton's,
Corner Market Lane and Dundas St.

BOYD, WATSON & CO
102 DUNDAS STREET,
101 CARLING STREET, LONDON.

WHOLESALE
New Goods.

750 DOZEN TOWELS, EXTRA VALUE.
10 CASES ADAMANTINE PINS.
200 DOZ AMERICAN BRACES, CHOICE PATTERNS.
20 GROSS WALL POCKETS, A NOVELTY.
10 GROSS CHROMO MOTTOES.
SCRAP PICTURES, CHRISTMAS CARDS, ETC

Letter Orders Have Prompt Attention.

BOYD, WATSON & Co

SMALLMAN & INGRAM.
New Dress Goods, Bought at Great Reduction
NEW COLORS.
NEW GOODS.
Cloth Suitings at 15 Cents; Worth 25 Cents
CITY

Coal and Wood Yard,
TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF thanking our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we are further prepared this Fall than ever before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 Coal.

The Coal is a new branch, in our business, but we are prepared to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.

Wholesale prices on application.

FAIRCHILD & CO.
London Oct. 9 1879. oodly

COAL
—AND—
WOOD

Cannel, Briar Hill, Massillon, Grate, Egg, Stove and Chestnut Coal, delivered in bags without extra charge.

HUNT BROS.

Orders left at Golden Sheaf, 305 Richmond st., or at yard, on Saltoun street, will be attended to. Ellicoldf

Coal and Wood
BOWMAN & CO.

LARGE STOCKS ON HAND OF Scranton, Grate, Egg, Stove & Chestnut COAL.

Also Rider Hill, Cannel and Massillon Coal for grates. Steam Coals, Lehigh Lump and Blossburg.

Wood, Long, Cut and Split,
By the cord or carload.

Great care taken to give satisfaction. LOWEST CASH PRICES.

Office and Yard—BATHURST STREET, between

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,

Grocers,

WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS,

145

DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.

Wednesday, Dec. 24, 1879.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—E. D.; further correspondence on that subject is declined, for the present.

ORDINATION.—The Lord Bishop of Huron will hold an ordination at the Chapter House on Friday next, commencing at 11 o'clock a.m.

J. P. QUALIFICATION.—Mr. Wm. Casey, of Biddulph, gave proof before Mr. Hutchinson, yesterday, of qualification to become a Justice of the Peace, and was duly sworn in.

RETURNED.—Mr. William McAuley, of the firm of Messrs. Pavey & McAuley, of this city, returned home, from Great Britain on Monday. He made extensive purchases for the spring trade while abroad.

IRISH CHRISTMAS CHEER.—The Relief Committee of the Irish Benevolent Society purposes distributing their Christmas cheer at Covent Garden Market this afternoon, commencing at 1 o'clock. Be on hand.

LARCENY.—John Jennings has been committed from Parkhill to the County Jail to stand his trial for the larceny of a coat from Alex. Stewart. John has worn a short jacket in the Reformatory, and eaten "skilly" at Kingston.

BROKE HIS ARM.—We regret to learn that Mrs. Williams, wife of Aldermun Williams, while walking on Hope street, Monday, fell on a slippery sidewalk, and by the fall broke one of her arms. She is a lady very highly esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances, who will hear of this unfortunate accident with deep regret.

PRESENTATION TO A TEACHER.—Mr. A. McQueen, Head Teacher of the London South Public School, was presented with his picture in an enlarged form by his pupils Monday afternoon. The address was read by Miss Annie Cowley, and the presentation was made by Masters Edward Hicks and Lambert Cannon. Mr. McQueen made a feeling reply.

FRAUD.—Detective Phair arrested a man named Nelson Davis, alias Galloway, yesterday afternoon at the instance of Mr. A. E. Ashton, of the P. O. Department, who charged him with fraudulently receiving and signing a money order which he was not authorized to receive, and appropriating the same to his use. Davis hails from York County, but has been living in this vicinity recently.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—The services at St. Peter's Cathedral on to-morrow promise to be most interesting. The decorations of the church for the festival of Christmas even surpass those of former years. We understand that the choir is to be assisted by some of the first musical talent of the city. Mozart's Twelfth Mass has been selected and will be rendered with full orchestral accompaniment. Pontifical High Mass will commence at 6 o'clock. Solemn High Mass at 10 30.

COURT EXCELSIOR, No. 5,895, I. O. F., PETERSVILLE.—At the regular half-yearly meeting, held on Monday, the 22nd inst., the following Brothers were duly elected to office for the ensuing term :—Chief Ranger, Bro. J. Bingham; Sub-Chief Ranger, Bro. W. Daniels; Secretary, Bro. A. J. Mansfield (re-elected); Treasurer, Bro. J. Hall; the chief (re-elected) Woodward, Bro. E. Gatland; Junior Woodward, Bro. G. Stratford; Senior Beadle, Bro. B. A. Bache; Junior Beadle (to the comin' season). Bro. Sam Hall; Auditors, Bros. W. H. Bartram, Thomas Bartram, and Jas. Daniels.

POLICE COURT PENCILLINGS.—At the Police Court yesterday, the case of Th's. Langford, for assaulting P. C. Maguire on board, when Mr. G. C. Gibbons and a large number of friends appeared on behalf of the accused. He admitted the charge, and on promising to reform his habits, was mulct in the sum of $15 and $6.10 costs. On the charge of being drunk and disorderly he was discharged. John B. Parker, for drunkenness, was discharged, and Alf. Hancock, for a similar offence, was fined $1. Catharine Goodenham and Catharine Hurley, Police Court habitues for years, were allowed to go on their own recognizance.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE.—At the Annual meeting of Ontario Veterinary Medical Association, held at the Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, on Friday, the following officers were elected for 1880, viz.:—J. H. Wilson, London, President; J. S. Cæsar, Port Hope, First Vice President; E. Elliott, St. Catharines, Second Vice-President; Wm. Cowan, Galt, Treasurer; R. H. Sweatapple, Brooklyn, Registrar; Board of Directors — J. D. O'Neil, London; E. A. A. Grange, Guelph; J. Newton, Belleville; E. H. Sutherford, Woodstock; W. Anderson, Hlow; A. O. F. Coleman, Ottawa; J. T. Duncan, Goderich; J. Standish, Georgetown. After the election of officers an essay was read on Castration, the different methods of performing the operation, by E. H. Sweatapple, after which the following gentlemen, Messrs. Cæsar, Elliott, O'Neil, Rutherford, Grange, Wilson and Prof. Smith gave their views respecting the operation. Mr. Rutherford addressed the meeting respecting tetanus (or lock jaw), the manner in which he treated it and recovery took place. Messrs. Grange and O'Neil made a few interesting remarks respecting the treatment of fractures in dogs.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Magnificent silk handkerchiefs, silk and satin scarfs, silk and cashmere socks, silk braces, and cuffs at Garlick's. K26tfn

A Xmas cheer will be given at the St. Nicholas Restaurant, in the shape of a free lunch, consisting of soups, boned turkeys, &c., &c., between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock, Christmas Day.

FINE SILK and Cashmere Mufflers, Fur Lined Gloves and Mitts for ladies and men. GARLICK'S.

Ladies' furs of all kinds at Mabley's.

Christmas and New Year's PRINTING.

The "Free Press" Job Room is now turning out some very tasty Christmas and New Year's work. Programmes of all kinds. Ball Tickets. Festival Cards, and a great quantity of Printing incident to the season is now being pushed forward.

Orders from the country meet with prompt despatch, if accompanied by a remittance.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

Courtship is a draw game—marriage is a tie.

How to drown a cat? In the water pitcher.

Who was Scipio's wife? Mississippi-o, of course.

Isn't a tree like sleep when it becomes slumber?

A wife's pies are never as good as a mother's.

As the Christmas tree is best so is the youthful heart made glad.

A woman examines all the pictures on the parlor wall when her train is pretty.

What is allspice? A woman's tongue when her husband says he has no money.

When two women with new hats on pass each other on the street there is a pair of back stares made immediately.

A correspondent has discovered that old salts do not marry as quick as landsmen. This proves that the man who is accustomed to sail deeds getting into a pickle.

LINES TO HIS AGED WIFE.

Mid a the thoughts that trouble me.
The raddest thought of my,
Is who may close the other's e'e—
May it be me or Nannie?
The one that's left will sairly feel
Amid a world unmanie,
I'd rather face said age myself
Than lanely leave my Nannie.
—Wm. Henderson in the London Advertiser.

Young lady to gent whom she refuses to recognize:—

We may meet, but I shan't see you.
There will be one vacant stare.
Land steward to tenant farmer:—"Well, Giles, what are you going to sow in here?" Giles:—"Ain't exactly made my mind, sir; but if we could put in a few stewards and land agents—they seem to thrive best on the land now-a-days!"—London Fun.

BABY'S SHOES.

Oh, those little shoes, those little blue shoes!
Those shoes that no little feet use.
Oh, the pries were high
That those shoes would buy.
Those little blue unused shoes!

For they hold not small heaps of feet
That no pries their guiltless grace can meet,
That, by God's good will
Years since, grew still,
And ceased from their sweetness.

An elderly gentleman, whose face is frequently seen at the club, but seldom at church, was gravely taken to task the other day for not attending more regularly to the parish ministrations of his clergyman. "You ought really to be more regular at the church," was the gentle persuasion used upon this gentleman, who is short and stout. "Thank you," was the quiet response. "You see I am not much in the pillar way. I am a buttress of the church —always outside."

THE SEVENTH WARD.—One of the rooms of the North Waterloo Street School House was about half filled last night by electors and here, who had been called together by a notice in one of the local papers, which indicated that municipal questions would be discussed. After trying for over half an hour for a chairman, Mr. Hall Pinhey was induced to act, and called upon ex-Ald. Partridge, sr., to speak. That gentleman said his time and the calling of the meeting was an insult to the ward, and had been advertised by some one who wanted to see a row. He spoke of many things during the same strain as at the previous meeting, his words being frequently interrupted by very important remarks and hearty laughter from the boys. Ald. Rayner then skipped merrily up to the platform and asked that Fishermans Christie should speak; in order that he (Ald. Rayner) could reply to him. Mr. J. D. Sharman was called upon by Mr. T. Muir, Rev. Wallace and Murray, Mr. W. Bowman and others. The pleasant evening's entertainment was then brought to a conclusion by the singing of a hymn and prayer by Rev. J. A. Murray.

JUDGE STRONG.—Thomas Attwood was arraigned before Judge Elliot yesterday morning on the charge of stealing an overcoat belonging to J. McIntosh, from Marshall's livery stable. The facts of the case are as follows—Attwood, some months ago, broke a buggy belonging to Mr. Marshall, and, in order to pay the damages, agreed to work for the gentleman at $10 a month and board. On the 3rd inst. Attwood asked for a settlement, but was told to continue his work till the end of the month, at which time he would be paid. Attwood seemed dissatisfied to do this, and lounged around until ordered to go to work on clean the premises. Shortly afterwards Attwood left, after having donned Mr. McIntosh's top coat, which was hanging in the office. After a time Mr. Marshall came into the room, and discovered that it had been taken from the peg. He communicated the fact to Detective Phair, and also the suspicions he entertained regarding Attwood. A search was made for the latter, but nothing of him was learned till the next day, when the officer discovered that Attwood had left the Strathroy Hotel and left a coat in charge of the proprietor. The coat in the meantime having been returned to its owner by Mr. Marshall, Minnie E. Attwood was arrested. The following day Attwood was arrested for stealing the $5. He was examin d before the Police Magistrate on the charge, but no evidence being forthcoming, the prisoner was discharged. Subsequently Attwood commenced proceedings for the arrest to Mr. W. H. Bartram and an action was instituted against the 2nd of January, at that day prospects for a very large accession of new students at that time are extremely flattering. The college well deserves all the extensive patronage it is receiving; for, in the general opinion, there is not a more practical business training school to be found anywhere. Its course is adapted to the wants of all classes, and the institution is becoming more and more appreciated every year. Those desiring further particulars should address the Principal, J. W. Jones, London, Ont.

ENTERTAINMENT AND PRESENTATION.—A very successful entertainment was held in S. S. No. 19, London Township, on Wednesday evening last. The weather and roads being favorable, the house was crowded to excess. The chair was occupied by Fenton Fitzgerald, Esq., trustee. The first part of the programme consisted of dialogues, recitations and singing by the pupils, and the way in which they acquitted themselves reflects great credit on their teacher, Miss Aggie Hale. After a short recess, the audience was entertained by readings from Dr. Flock, of London, recitations from Misses Jackson and Howard, and music by Mrs. Mitchell, the Misses Keapton and Jackson, and Messrs. Tupper, Downing, Rudd and Fletcher, of London. A very interesting feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation to the teacher of some handsome articles of silver ware, accompanied by a kindly-worded address, which was read by one of the pupils, and to which Miss Hale gave a suitable reply.

JABAL TENT, K. O. T. M.—At the last regular meeting, the following officers were elected in Jabal Tent, No. 18, K. O. T. M., of Petersville.—E. Pedley, Past Ex-Sir Kt. G. C.; S. Cameron, Ex-Sir Kt. G. C.; G. A. L. Grant, Sir Kt. C.; J. Thornbrn, Sir Kt. L. C.; N. Cooper, Sir Kt. Prelate; T. W. Morrison, Sir Kt. R. K.; J. Nixon, Sir Kt. F. K.; C. A. Paul, Sir Kt. Sergt.; W. Podney, 1st M. of G.; W. Devein, 2nd M. of G.; R. Woodward, M. at A.; Wm. Flotcher, Sentinel; R. W. Edmonds, Picket.

A GENEROUS GIVER.—Quite a "hum" was noticeable in the vicinity of D. Dodd & Brothers' grocery store, on Dundas street, yesterday morning, and it was occasioned by the delivery of 235 turkeys and 25 geese, which Mr. D. Dodd had purchased before breakfast for Mr. Thomas Muir, the Manager of the Ontario Car Works. The "fowls" were intended for distribution amongst the employes of the works under Mr. Muir's superintendency. Actions like this speak louder than words.

HONORING A WORTHY CITIZEN.

The Y. M. C. A.'s Tribute to Mr. J. E. Sutherland.

Victoria Hall was well filled last night on the occasion of a farewell entertainment given by the Young Men's Christian Association in honor of Mr. J. B. Sutherland, who is about to leave this city to engage in business in Montreal. Mr. Wm. Bowman presided, and on the platform were seated Revs. Canon Innes, J. A. Murray, R. W. Wallace, and Messrs. Sheriff Glass, H. C. Green, J. M. Denton, J. Bowman, Thos. Muir, S. Peters, Andrew Dale and D. Cameron.

After a few brief remarks by the Chairman in reference to the object of the gathering, Rev. Canon Innes engaged in prayer.

The following literary and musical programme was then introduced by the Chairman:—

Instrumental ..... Miss Carrie Cutten
Glee—"The Village Choristers" ..... Choir
Recitation—"Jane Courtney" ..... M. H. Keyl
Solo—"The Rose Bud" ..... Miss C. Cutten
Recitation—"Sheridan's Ride" ..... Mr. W. White
Solo—"Too Late" ..... Mr. J. Jones
Glee—"The Moravian Nun's Hymn" ..... Choir

The different participants in this programme acquitted themselves with marked ability, and were heartily applauded for their efforts.

The Chairman then announced that he had a pleasant duty to perform, but one for which he felt unfitted—the presentation of a portrait album to Mr. J. B. Sutherland. After expressing the deep sorrow of the Association at Mr. Sutherland's removal from among them, and assuring that gentleman that the good wishes of the Association would ever follow him, the Chairman read the following address, which was very tastefully mounted:—

DEAR SIR,—As representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, we would take advantage of your contemplated removal from our community (as other friends and institutions in this city have also done), to record and express our sincere regret that new business interests and engagements should occasion your withdrawal from active membership in our Association, and present association with our immediate work.

Throughout all our trials and vicissitudes, you have been well to the front as an active worker, as a liberal supporter of the Y. M. C. A., and it is largely owing to your sympathy, tact and leading that our Association is to-day in possession of so excellent a library, such comfortable, attractive rooms, and even the erection of the building itself, "Victoria Hall," also in every department of intellectual, social and religious work you have ever taken a personal part, and exerted a direct influence, so that your departure will be no ordinary loss to the Association and the objects which through it, in an unsectarian and liberal manner, we seek to promote and maintain.

"I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the Heaven that shines above me,
And waits my coming too;
For the sake that needs assistance,
For the wrongs that lask restistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do."

Has evidently been your mainim through life while actively and promiscently occupied with commercial pursuits, and we doubt not this same philanthropic, public and Christ-like course will be continued by you, and humbly pursued by your "reserve fund" in the high providence, may call or settle you.

The members and members of the Association ask your acceptance of the accompanying portrait album, and trust that it may long serve to keep alive in your memory the many friend ships and pleasant meetings formed and enjoyed by you in connection with our work and within our rooms.

Our best wishes go with you, and we unite in invoking the blessings upon you His richest temporal and spiritual blessings, to uphold, direct and comfort you through life, and to give unto you with an abundant entrance into His heavenly kingdom.

Signed on behalf of the Membership and Trustees.

WM. BOWMAN, President.
ANDREW DALE, Recording Secy.
WM. F. FREELAND, General Secy.

London, Ont., December, 1879.

Accompanying the above address was a large and handsome portrait album, containing the photographs of the officers and members of the Association.

After the loud and prolonged applause had subsided, Mr. Sutherland in reply, returned his grateful thanks for the handsomely addressed and beautiful album. He referred at length to the great pleasure he felt in the contents of the members of the Association; paid a passing tribute to the qualities of the Secretary (Mr. Freeland); urged members associated with the different churches to lend their cooperation and aid to the Association which he thought the calling of the hour was an insult to the ward, and had been advertised by some one who wanted to see a row. He spoke of many things during the same strain as at the previous meeting, his words being frequently interrupted by very important remarks and hearty laughter from the boys. Ald. Rayner then skipped merrily up to the platform and asked that Fishermans Christie should speak; in order that he (Ald. Rayner) could reply to him. Mr. J. D. Sharman was called upon by Mr. T. Muir, Rev. Wallace and Murray, Mr. W. Bowman and others. The pleasant evening's entertainment was then brought to a conclusion by the singing of a hymn and prayer by Rev. J. A. Murray.

JUDGE STRONG.—Thomas Attwood was arraigned before Judge Elliot yesterday morning on the charge of stealing an overcoat belonging to J. McIntosh, from Marshall's livery stable. The facts of the case are as follows—Attwood, some months ago, broke a buggy belonging to Mr. Marshall, and, in order to pay the damages, agreed to work for the gentleman at $10 a month and board. On the 3rd inst. Attwood asked for a settlement, but was told to continue his work till the end of the month, at which time he would be paid. Attwood seemed dissatisfied to do this, and lounged around until ordered to go to work on clean the premises. Shortly afterwards Attwood left, after having donned Mr. McIntosh's top coat, which was hanging in the office. After a time Mr. Marshall came into the room, and discovered that it had been taken from the peg. He communicated the fact to Detective Phair, and also the suspicions he entertained regarding Attwood. A search was made for the latter, but nothing of him was learned till the next day, when the officer discovered that Attwood had left the Strathroy Hotel and left a coat in charge of the proprietor. The coat in the meantime having been returned to its owner by Mr. Marshall, Minnie E. Attwood was arrested. The following day Attwood was arrested for stealing the $5. He was examin d before the Police Magistrate on the charge, but no evidence being forthcoming, the prisoner was discharged. Subsequently Attwood commenced proceedings for the arrest to Mr. W. H. Bartram and an action was instituted against the 2nd of January, at that day prospects for a very large accession of new students at that time are extremely flattering. The college well deserves all the extensive patronage it is receiving; for, in the general opinion, there is not a more practical business training school to be found anywhere. Its course is adapted to the wants of all classes, and the institution is becoming more and more appreciated every year. Those desiring further particulars should address the Principal, J. W. Jones, London, Ont.

ENTERTAINMENT AND PRESENTATION.—A very successful entertainment was held in S. S. No. 19, London Township, on Wednesday evening last. The weather and roads being favorable, the house was crowded to excess. The chair was occupied by Fenton Fitzgerald, Esq., trustee. The first part of the programme consisted of dialogues, recitations and singing by the pupils, and the way in which they acquitted themselves reflects great credit on their teacher, Miss Aggie Hale. After a short recess, the audience was entertained by readings from Dr. Flock, of London, recitations from Misses Jackson and Howard, and music by Mrs. Mitchell, the Misses Keapton and Jackson, and Messrs. Tupper, Downing, Rudd and Fletcher, of London. A very interesting feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation to the teacher of some handsome articles of silver ware, accompanied by a kindly-worded address, which was read by one of the pupils, and to which Miss Hale gave a suitable reply.

THE WEATHER OF THE FUTURE.—Mr. H. G. Vennor, the Canadian Weather Prophet, has issued the following bulletin:—The next marked severe term is likely to occur between the 9th and the 15th days of January, or very close upon these dates. This will be severe, and probably equal if not exceed the December cold term. The third "dip," which I think will be the severest of the three, is likely to come upon us in the proximity of the 8th of February, and continue for three or more days. Two other "dips" of minor importance will probably be located towards the end of February and close to the 17th of March, respectively. Between these very cold periods there are likely to occur two or more general thaws, probably with rain.

SUDDEN DEATH AT WINGHAM.—A young lady named Miss Elizabeth Mills, of Iona, near St. Thomas, died suddenly in Wingham Monday evening. Since Friday last she has been staying with her brother-in-law, Mr. E. Barnes. During the afternoon she, along with her sister, visited the workshop of Mr. Barnes, where they remained until about six o'clock, when she was suddenly taken ill. Dr. Dowsley was called, but before he arrived she had expired. At the inquest yesterday, the jury returned a verdict that the immediate cause of death was condition of the pulmonary artery and vein, but that the main cause of death was an attempt to procure an abortion by some person or persons unknown.

London East Schools.

The Rewards for Deserving Pupils.

Prizes by Mrs. Waterman, Reeve Waterman, Messrs. Anderson, Ross, Adams and Giles—A Fine Entertainment and an Appreciative Audience—What the Donors Said, &c.

The Town Hall was crowded in every available portion last night on the occasion of the presentation of prizes to deserving pupils of the public schools. Pupils to the number of about 250 were arranged on an admirably suited platform at the end of the hall, and were in charge of their teachers. They presented a most intelligent appearance, and in their recitations many of them displayed a dramatic ability that would have done credit to many of older years. Their clear, measured tones and proper emphasis showed, beyond a doubt, the care that is taken by their teachers in this particular. In their singing, under Miss Moon, the choir and soloists were highly appreciated. The programme comprised recitations, duets, solos and dialogues. Those who took part were—Misses Jessie McClure, Mamie Bergin, Bertie Firth, Lizzie Coplestcn, Rose Markham, Maud Leathorne, Lester, Dark, Pitcher, Ainsbary, Morrison, Evans, Cameron, Sloan, Bailey, E. Warren, C. O'Neil, Aggie McLeod, G. Shaw, M. Nattrass and L. Kershaw; Masters W. J. Monie, J. J. Alaster, F. Firth, A. Black, F. Dark, C. Firth, E. Cunningham, Geary, Lester, W. Eckert, H. Reason and W. Cunningham.

Reeve Waterman was then called upon by the chairman, Mr. James McLeod. He was pleased to be present to witness one of the finest entertainments ever given in London East. For years the village had been in the habit of meeting together for this purpose, but it would be granted by common consent that this was the finest entertainment of any year. He eulogized the pupils for their fine appearance, and the teachers for the evidence of their industry as displayed by the pupils in their exercises. He regarded the expenditure of money in the interest of education as wisely outlayed, and expressed the opinion that London East schools compared favorably with those of any other municipality in the Dominion. (Hear, hear.) Several years ago he had taken the liberty of offering prizes to the pupils, and having found it to work a wholesome good, he took the opportunity of repeating his donations this year. He spoke a few kindly words of good advice to the children and encourage them to continue in the efforts to excell. He was proud, as Reeve of the village, to notice the proficiency of the children.

Mr. S. P. Grost, in a humorous address, congratulated the village on the success of its schools. It was not so much of the quantity they learned as the effect it had upon their after lives and its refining influences.

Inspector Dearness explained that during the past two or three years the friends of education in London East had distributed over $600 in prizes, and it had been his endeavor to see that the books selected from the Educational Department were of the finest quality. A change had been made in the place of purchase this year, and he anticipated that the pupils would find the present books the best ever offered as prizes. The papers which had come under his notice showed a gratifying degree of proficiency on the part of the pupils. He congratulated the village on its excellent staff of teachers, and the economy with which the schools were conducted.

Mr. Waterman then presented his prizes, thirty-six in number, and in doing so kept the children in good humor by his remarks prior to each pupil. The books were really excellent.

Mr. M. Anderson had looked forward to this meeting with a good deal of pleasure, but was intensely disappointed by the non-arrival of the Gold Medal, which he had hoped to have the pleasure of presenting to Miss Emily Dagg. He added his congratulations and eulogies to the other speakers with regard to the proficiency of the schools. Canadians should feel proud of their school system. He concluded by calling on Mr. Morgan, formerly of London, is Manager, and his many friends will be glad to hear of his success.

The city grocers again desire to call the attention of their numerous customers through the medium of the Free Press to the fact that they have decided upon discontinuing the practice which has hitherto prevailed of giving presents during the holidays. The custom is one which entailed considerable loss and no end of disputes, and it has been deemed advisal le to stop it. The customers will therefore take notice, and act accordingly.

The large dolls in the show windows catch the admiring eyes of the young people, and there is more "wishing" and "choosing" than could be well expressed. "Oh, my!" exclaimed one poor little waif last night, as she stood with her nose flattened against the window pane, at Bryce's store.—"What if I should get it!" The chances are against her, but her faith in the goodness of Santa Claus is infinite.

LONDON EAST NOTES.

Tuesday Afternoon.

The friends and supporters of Mr. S. A. Adams held a meeting in the Rectory street school house to-morrow night for the discussion of municipal matters. Several prominent villagers are announced to speak.

The London Oil Refining Company have almost completed their new cooperage at their refinery. The new machinery is on the way from Cleveland, and the shafting is in a position to receive the pulleys, etc.

The small boy is now punctual at the Sabbath School, and the number of scholars are perceptibly increase. Christmas comes but once a year.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

JUST RECEIVED—1 hamper English pheasants 1 hamper English hare, 1 bbl. cch nuts, 50 bbls Malaga grapes, 20 cases St. Michael oranges, 100 cases Valencia oranges.—A. MCINTOSH.

Those suffering from pasoners or running sores are recommended to communicate with Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Alma Craig, who has a salve entrusted to his care, said to invariably affect a cure. Life

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 45cts. to $1 per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets union carpets, stair carpets and stair rods bordered and rugs to match carpets, cocoa and sessile matting, Kaglish oil cloth, 24 feck wide 2nets, to $1.371 per yard; mattrasses, feather beds and pillows; carpets matched and tacked free of charge; damask, plain and lace curtains andevery other article suitable for furnishing houses. A large stock of general dry goods always on hand. Call before purchasing.

191 Dundas Street. R. S. MURRAY & Co'
125 Carling Street. 519 f

PETERSVILLE SCHOOLS.

Entertainment in the School House Last Night—Presentation of Prizes, &c.

During the afternoon of Tuesday the pupils of the lowest divisions were examined by Rev. Mr. B. B. Keefer and Mr. J. H. McKay, as to proficiency, upon the result of which examination prizes were given during the course of the afternoon.

The prizes given to the Senior and Second Divisions were awarded for marks which have been given throughout the year.

In the evening the School House was filled to excess some time previous to the commencement of the entertainment, notice of which had previously been given. The chairman of the evening, Mr. Peter Grant, opened the proceedings in a neat speech, and closed by calling on the children to sing "Over the Ice." Numerous comic and sentimental dialogues, recitations, solos and choruses followed the performance, which reflected great credit on those who took part. The pupils acquitted themselves very creditably indeed, considering the short preparation and the inconvenience under which they labored.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment the medals and prizes were distributed to those in the 1st, 2nd and 3rd who had proved victorious.

Squire Peters, upon being called forward, presented his Gold Medal, for general proficiency in the school, to Miss Emily F. Pistle.

The silver medal, presented by Mr. Brodie for general proficiency in the 3rd Division was awarded to Master Oliver Leslie.

Following this was a special prize, "The Life of Gen. R. E. Lee," donated by D. C. Macdonald, Esq., for the best free-hand drawing done in school. Miss Georgia D. Westby being the successful candidate.

The four special prizes given by the Head Master, Mr. M. J. Glass, were awarded as follows:—

Prize for best composition by a girl, to Miss R. F. Pistle; for best composition by a boy, to Master Jno. S. Moore; for best writer, girl, to Miss G. D. Westby; for best writer, boy, to Master Wm. Butler.

The prizes given by the Trustees, amounting to $40, were then presented by Rev. B. B. Keefer, who also delivered a short and interesting address.

The meeting was then brought to a close by singing, "God Save the Queen."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Vennor says that we will now commence to have winter in earnest.

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like a good warm fireplace.

The Grand Trunk will have its track completed into Chicago about the 20th of January.

The Euphemia Baptist Church has called Rev. F. W. Keene, of Mount Brydges, to the pastorate.

The Rev. E. Ellinson, the pioneer of the Canadian-Australian trade, was in London for a short time yesterday.

Mr. R. H. Smith, of St. Thomas, has been appointed Gov Accountant, C. S. R. vice W. R. McKenzie, resigned.

Mr. James Cowan yesterday shipped a bell, weighing 880 pounds, to Oshawa, for the use of the Methodist Church there.

The Candee Pinafore Company is playing in Rochester. They are giving the Rochester people "tarfy," so to speak.

The sidewalk coasters may expect arrest if they indulge in that forbidden sport. The police are keeping a sharp look-out.

If you haven't purchased all of your Christmas presents yet, just observe what our advertisers have to say on the subject.

Margaret Hopkins and Wm. Mason were "scooped in" by the police yesterday afternoon for being to hilarious from the effects of rum.

The latest among the gamins is when they meet a lady wearing an ulster and a gentleman's style of hat, to ask her to "Go me a match?"

The social season promises to be unusually gay during the holidays, and "events" will be frequent from this time until after the advent of 1880.

Mr. J. M. Rae, of this city, and Mr. Isaac Webster, of Tilsonburg, completed 87 miles each in the six days' walking match at New York on Monday.

Exchanges are constantly speaking of people being "relieved of their pocket-books by pickpockets." As if there was any relief to be experienced in being robbed!

Mr. A. McVean, of the 13th concession of North Yarmouth, had a yield of six bushels to the acre of clover seed. The threshing was done by Mr. E. Fraser's new clover mill.

Mr. H. S. Crotty, formerly of Ingersoll, and now of Winnipeg, has left the honored post of High Chief Ranger of Manitoba conferred upon him by the Supreme High Court of the World.

A party of delightful Londoners—the b'hoys, you know—contemplate a serenading tour to our principal citizens this evening, and it is also hinted that they will extend their visit to Westminster.

One of our exchanges (the name has escaped us) says "the Parr Paxes furnishes all the news, gives correct market reports, and is not excelled in enterprise by any paper in Ontario." And so they all say.

The Christian Helper, a new organ of the Baptists of Ontario, published at Toronto, has issued a holiday number of 16 pages this week, and has a page illustration of the Canadian Baptist Institute at Woodstock.

Mr. George Moorhead, formerly of London, now managing a large furniture manufactory in Cincinnati, was called to this city yesterday by a telegram, informing him of the serious illness of his son and daughter. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Moorhead.

The Detroit Free Press says "the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railway was never more popular than it is under the present management. The roads is doing an uncommonly good business, and great improvements are in contemplation for the coming season." Mr. Wm. A. Morgan, formerly of London, is Manager, and his many friends will be glad to hear of his success.

The city grocers again desire to call the attention of their numerous customers through the medium of the Free Press to the fact that they have decided upon discontinuing the practice which has hitherto prevailed of giving presents during the holidays. The custom is one which entailed considerable loss and no end of disputes, and it has been deemed advisal le to stop it. The customers will therefore take notice, and act accordingly.

The large dolls in the show windows catch the admiring eyes of the young people, and there is more "wishing" and "choosing" than could be well expressed. "Oh, my!" exclaimed one poor little waif last night, as she stood with her nose flattened against the window pane, at Bryce's store.—"What if I should get it!" The chances are against her, but her faith in the goodness of Santa Claus is infinite.

LONDON EAST NOTES.

Tuesday Afternoon.

The friends and supporters of Mr. S. A. Adams held a meeting in the Rectory street school house to-morrow night for the discussion of municipal matters. Several prominent villagers are announced to speak.

The London Oil Refining Company have almost completed their new cooperage at their refinery. The new machinery is on the way from Cleveland, and the shafting is in a position to receive the pulleys, etc.

The small boy is now punctual at the Sabbath School, and the number of scholars are perceptibly increase. Christmas comes but once a year.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

JUST RECEIVED—1 hamper English pheasants 1 hamper English hare, 1 bbl. cch nuts, 50 bbls Malaga grapes, 20 cases St. Michael oranges, 100 cases Valencia oranges.—A. MCINTOSH.

Those suffering from pasoners or running sores are recommended to communicate with Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Alma Craig, who has a salve entrusted to his care, said to invariably affect a cure. Life

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 45cts. to $1 per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets union carpets, stair carpets and stair rods bordered and rugs to match carpets, cocoa and sessile matting, Kaglish oil cloth, 24 feck wide 2nets, to $1.371 per yard; mattrasses, feather beds and pillows; carpets matched and tacked free of charge; damask, plain and lace curtains andevery other article suitable for furnishing houses. A large stock of general dry goods always on hand. Call before purchasing.

191 Dundas Street. R. S. MURRAY & Co'
125 Carling Street. 519 f

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

London, Dec. 23.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon.

No.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
50	Agricultural		114½	115½
50	Canadian		97½	100
50	Dominion		195	197
200	English, Loan		100	101
50	Financial Co. of Can		103	104
50	do do pref.		100	101
50	Huron and Erie		134	135½
50	London Loan		106	108
50	Ontario		102	103
50	Royal Canadian		100	102
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
	Free Press Pr'ty Co		103	—
	London Gas		107	—
	London Life		100	95
	Real Estate Ass'n		100	—
	Street Railway		105	—

Montreal Stocks—Dec. 23.

2.30 P. M.

	Asked.	Offered.
Bank of Montreal	139	141
Merchants Bank	94	97
Bank of Commerce	114	115
Ontario Bank	71	72
Bank of Toronto	121	125
Molsons Bank	79	—
Exchange	—	—
Montreal Tel	95	96
People's Bank	62	64
Bank Jacques Cartier	66	67½
Richelieu & Ont. Nav. Co.	41	60
City Pass. Railway Co	95	—
City Gas Company	110	108½

Buropean Finances.

London, Dec. 23, 5.00 p. m.

Console money—97 15-16 | 16 | 166
do account—97 3-4 | Erie | 27½
Pives | 104 | " pref | 74
U. C | 101 |

New York Stocks.

7 New York, December 23—midnight.—Half-trade strong. Stocks opened strong and declined: closed firm.

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Dec. 23, 5.00 p. m.

	s.	d.		s.	d.		s.	d.
Flour, pr. bl	10	0	to	13	0	Barley, str	5	7
Wheat, spg	10	6	to	11	0	Peas, str	7	9
R. Winter	11	4	to	11	7	Pork	57	6
White	10	6	to	11	7	Lard	37	6
Chicago	11	0	to	11	10	Bacon	38	0
Corn, str	5	4	to	5	5	Beef	58	0
" new	5	0	to	0	0	Tallow	37	6
Oats, str	3	2	to	3	3	Cheese	65	0

The following are the highest quotations for the past week:—

	Dec. 17	18	19	20	22	23
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
Flour, pr.	13 0	13 0	13 0	13 0	13 0	13 0
Wheat, spg	11 1	11 1	11 1	11 1	11 1	11 1
Red Winter	11 2	11 2	11 2	11 2	11 2	11 2
White	11 3	11 3	11 3	11 3	11 3	11 3
Cal. Club	11 11	11 11	11 11	11 10	11 10	11 10
Corn	5 3½	5 3½	5 3½	5 3½	5 3½	5 3½
Oats	3 3	3 3	3 3	3 3	3 3	3 3
Barley	5 8	5 8	5 8	5 8	5 8	5 8
Peas	7 9	7 9	7 9	7 9	7 9	7 9
Pork	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0
Lard	38 0	38 0	38 0	38 0	38 0	38 0
Bacon	40 6	40 0	38 0	39 0	39 0	39 0
Beef	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0
Tallow	36 6	36 0	36 0	36 0	37 0	37 6
Cheese	64 0	64 0	64 0	64 0	64 0	64 0

Beerbohm's Telegram.

London, Dec. 23.—Floating cargoes of wheat firm and steady. Cargoes on passage—Wheat neglected; no business doing. Liverpool—Wheat in spot at the opening firmly held, corn still. Mixed corn, per cental of 100 lbs., 6s 9d. Cargoes pass, per cental of

CARLINGS'
CELEBRATED LONDON
mber Ale,
Lager Beer
-AND-
XXX Porter
rs from the trade respectfully solicited.
- ORONIYATEKHA.
...800 Richmond street, opposite the City ...special attention given to Diseases of the ...and Lungs and to Nervous Diseases ...Residence, 243 Dundas street, opposite ...man's Grove. 17
Birth.
...Watson street, city, the wife of Chas B ...a son.
Married.
...by the Rev Dr Crew, on the 23rd inst, ...residence of Mathilda's father, Chas White ...third daughter of Thos Maxwell, both ...township of London.
...village of Lobo, on Tuesday evening, ...by the Rev W Magary, John S Hodgins, ...to Townsend, to Miss Almina Goast, ...daughter of Mr Robt Goast, of London.
MEETINGS.
HAMMOND'S MEETINGS.
...Union Meetings in Queen's avenue ...Church, at 10 a m. Farewell sermon ...7 30. Final farewell services on Friday ...at 3 o'clock, for the children; for ...7 30 in the evening. Come and wel ...df
...CE.—MEMBERS OF THE ...don Curling Club will please meet at ...at Rink this (Christmas) morning at 9 ...for play.—Thos Wastie, Sec. df
SERVANTS WANTED.
...ITED, 2 HOUSE-KEEP...RS, 6 cooks, 15 general servants, 3 ...ds, 6 servants for Ingersoll, 3 for St ...for Aylmer, 2 for Strat'd, also a ...anied, at 205 Osborne's Intelligence ...dundas street, London. 17
...UATIONS VACANT.
...RST-CLASS DRY GOODS ...sman wanted.—Apply to Laing & Mc... Lim
...GOODS SALESWOMAN ...ted, at the Palace Dry Goods House ...& Co. df
...-CLASS DRY GOODS ...man wanted at the Palace Dry Goods ...Laing & Co. df DANCING.
...ON'S DANCING ACADE... ...Dundas street. Gents' class ...day, at 8 p m. Second term opens ...14th. Twelve lessons, $4. Fashionable ...dances a specialty.—G Dayton. 17
MISCELLANEOUS.
...TIFUL! MORE BEAUTI...! MORE BEAUTIFUL!!!—One ...full written cards, for 20 cents. One ...beautiful gilt-edge cards, for 40 ...Seven of the most beautiful ones ...e, executed in the very highest ...ner, 8 gilt, 40 cts; or one card for 5 cts. ...more beautiful!! most beautiful!! ...monials and addresses hand-...ssed. Same elegantly written in ...old for Christmas or New Year's ...address or call on W N Yerex, Printer, 64 Piccadilly st., city. 15
...S, THOSE BEAUTIFUL ...ns made by Miss M. Ramp, the ...rtist, for 50c. per dozen, cannot be ...hands. Factory—No. 323 Richmond ...25 16tf
REAL ESTATE.
...DWELLING AND LOT ...e; 132 feet frontage by 80 feet deep ...ed with the choicest fruit and orna... on Albert street. Apply to F. B. ...Cecil
...FOR SALE, CHEAP.— ...rner Ratas, Westminster.—Pass ...ff
...BLE PROPERTY FOR ...opposite G W R Car Shops. Store ..., with furniture, will be sold on ...Apply to John Mullin, on premises ...dtf
TO LET
...ST-CLASS TWO-STORY ...House to let, corner Bond and ...treets. Possession given immediately to Wm Howie, 515 Piccadilly ...tf
...GE TO RENT ON COL... ...ll Street, No. 93, containing 7 rooms ...—For particulars apply to H. D. ...LONDON. 17
...T—TWO-STORY BRICK ...No. 405 Queen's Avenue; double ...ing doors, &c.; barn; hard and soft ...remises; all in excellent repair. ...A. Gunn, next door. 126tf
MEDICAL.
...NDERSON, OF 84 JAMES ...Hamilton, Surgeon of the Eye, Ear ...can be consulted at Tuesnuth ...n, on the first and third Thursdays ...th. Croggyes strr'ckened. Ladawly
...LOYD, M.D., C.M., PHY... ...AN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's ...ersal, member College Physicians ..., Ont. Office—Richmond street, ...omhill. KINGS
...NELLES, D. D. S., ...URGEON DENTIST. ...on Block, Richmond street. Gddy
...LAREN, L.D.S., ...SURGEON DENTIST. ...pied over Bradley's confectionery ...le Crystal Hall. ...URDAS STREET, LONDON. ...noted without pain.
...IAL CO-PARTNERSHIP. ...dersigned, have entered into partnership the practice of the Medical Profession: ...ENZIES, M.D., JOHN WESLEY, M.R.C.S. ...dinburgh; F.R.C.S. Edinburgh ...England. M.R.C.S., England. ...rs—9 10 a.m., and 3 to 4 p.m. Office ...0, 99½ Dundas street, cor. Wellington ...London.
...D REEVE, B.A., M.D. ...Residence and Office: ...g Sarnia Street, TORONTO. ...Tecumseth House, London, ...SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH. ...Ridout
...THER AND TRUNKS.
...ABINE, L.D.S., ...DENTIST. ...Office, 193½ Dundas street.
...DONALD, L.D.S., DEN... ...ST, Office — Dundas street, four ...of Richmond three over Davis's ...ner. KITTY
...L.
...AD. JOHN MARTIN, BAR... ...TER, Notary Public, etc., Bide Block ...street, London, Ont. Bddy
...RIS, MAGEE & CO., BAR... ...STERS and Attorneys, Solicitors ... Office — Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont. ...Money to Loan. JAMES MAGEE. ...d Ont. W. J. CLEAVER
FINE ARTS.
...NET & CHESTER, CAB... ...RS and Gilders.—Mirror, picture ...ordering window cornices, brackets, ...frames to order. ... home in ...Gallery of Art and Decor'n. Pict... ...ART REPOSITORY.—G ...RT pictures framed at the cheapest ...town. Repository of ... W. J. ...9 Dundas street, near A...
HOTELS.
...TISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, ...ar the depot. Every attention paid to ...rt of guests. H. F. HEMMONS, Proprietor. Bddy
...ERNATIONAL HOTEL, ...ndon.—First-class in every particular. ...1.25 per day. Centrally located. Two ...s walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry ...Dennis & Keith, proprietors. Kitty
...KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, ...has been leased for a term of years by the ...ber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class hotel ...ur comfort carefully attended to. Good ...and a careful cellar.—D. J. Rourke. Bddy
...RFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, ...ber.—This is one of the best houses in On... Travellers will find it to their advantage ...n a trial. Tabs and baggage wagon in ...n. Livery in connection. JOSEPH BLACK, ...ager. KITTY
...YAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, ...near G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every ...ct. Good accommodation for commercial ...rs. Grass' waits promptly attended to. ...ishing.—W. H. Purvess. Kitty
...NKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ...ONT. First-class access for commercial ...ers. Tea meals all luxurious fruits.—...GRAY & CO., Proprietors. 2Dly
...OBINSON HOUSE, TUPPER... ...LACE, 25 to 35, 37 and 39 Fourth street, Chicago. JAMES ...prietor. 126 2y

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1879. WHOLE NO. 6977

For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
-AND-
HOLIDAY GOODS,
-TRY-
D. Dodd & Bro.,
226 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows Hall.

HARDWARE.
HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in
BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.
80 AND 82 RICHMOND STREET,
LONDON.
Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. 7dly

T. J. THOMPSON, IMPORTER and Dealer in English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils, Dundas Street, London, Ont. ly

BUSINESS CARDS.
CARPET WEAVING—AS CLOSE as the closest, as warp as strong as the strongest, at prices as cheap as the cheapest, by a workman as good as the best.—J S FLEMING Market Square. 22tf

GEORGE KERR,
DEALER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS Sole Agent for the Celebrated Wellington Calf Boot. 904 Richmond street, London

GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS cleansed and renovated by the new patent steam renovator. Old mattresses made over equal to new.—James F. Hunt, Mattress Factory, English Packing House, Talbot street, London. ly

JOHN O'REILL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, manufacturers and others who wish to have their books adjusted, will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Kitty

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing by the million—largest in town. Highest cash prices paid for second-hand clothing. Wm. Jenkins, 343 Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. 2dly

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. Removal.—J. McKENZIE has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and attachment and Part Repertoir to 102 Dundas street in A. J. Wer'ield stand. P.S.—This is the Sewing Machine and Part and Attachment Emporium of the city. Better facilities for repairing, and orders will be promptly attended to. Another lot of machines taken. Kitty

W. DODD, DEALER IN SECOND-HAND MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has removed to the stand, 160 Dundas street.—W. Dodd, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. 2ivn

FOR SALE.
CARRIAGE, WAGON AND Blacksmith Shop, with Dwelling House, for sale, in the village of Melbourne, doing a good business; plenty of ordered work, which the buyer can commence on.—J. E. NORTHCOTT, Melbourne Ontario. K16tf

TWO PRINTERS.—FOR SALE, A Gordon Printing Press Cutter, in good order. Will cut 38 inches. Apply at Free Press office. tf

WANZER SEWING MACHINE (Beall, with recent improvements, for sale cheap. Apply at the office of Free Press. tf

CODWOOD.
EXHIBITION COAL AND WOOD YARD.—A good stock of coal, well screened. Cord wood cut and split to suit customers. Firm wood always on hand. Full weight and measure guaranteed.—McDONAGH'S grocery, Dundas street, cor the office, opposite No. 2 Police Station. Richmond street.—M. DOHERTY, Proprietor 2iSeodly

GROCERS.
R. A. GALBRAITH,
GROCER AND PROVISION DEALER. Has on hand a good stock of Teas, Coffees, Sugar, Spices, etc., which he will sell cheap for cash. Remember the place. 2Dly

FOR GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS, and everything found in a first-class Grocery, go to G. Rath's, corner of Dufferin avenue and Richmond streets. Choice butter at 15c. Aiteodan

SLIPPERS
Christmas and New Year's Slippers and all kinds of Ladies and Gents' Hand-made Sewed Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing done. Patronage solicited.
SAUNDERS & LASHBROOK,
No. 4 New Arcade. Lilly

NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON. - - - - ONTARIO

Grocers' Notice.
AT A MEETING OF THE Grocers of the City of London, it was unanimously resolved to abolish the custom of giving Christmas and New Year's Presents. 2ondwdcdt

London East Advertisements.
A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent. Dundas street, opposite Hallen's Grove, London East. 2dly

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE BOYS' OWN PAPER, SUNDAY-AT-HOME, AND LEISURE HOUR.
$1 50 per year, in advance; or 15 cents per number for 1880. Postpaid on receipt of price.
W. ALLASTER, London East.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist.
Late ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

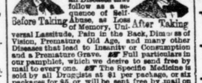
C. P. GIBSON
Grocer, Legg's Block, London East.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Flour, Feed, and General Stock of Green Groceries. Oysters below city Prices. Farm Produce taken in exchange.

Dr. M. Forster,
CHEMIST & DRUGGIST,
Hicks' Block, London East.
DRUGS,
ALL FRESH AND OF BEST QUALITY
Combs, Hair Brushes, Toilet Soaps and Perfumes. Dr. Forster will superintend the business himself. Kitty

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.
WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.
Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).
Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.
Municipal and School Section Debentures purchased.
WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.
London, Nov. 3, 1879. 2Gcodawtf

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
G. DAVISON,
739 and 721 Richmond-st., London, Ont.



X CENTS
A ten cent sample bottle of HAGKENSEN'S BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Asthma and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 50 cents; sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. JSC 7.

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jly International House, Dundas street.

SKATES!
"ACME"
BARNEY & BERRY'S,
PLAIN AND NICKEL,
ALL PRICES, SIZES AND STYLES. ALSO,
HAND SLEIGHS,
WEATHER STRIPS,
FIRE IRONS, &c.,
—AT—
REID'S HARDWARE,
No. 116
North Side Dundas St. next door to Mitchell's Retail Drug Store.

—FOR—
The Largest and Finest Selection of Handsome Goods for CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
CALL AT
A. S. MURRAY & CO'S
Jewellery Store,
RICHMOND ST.

EATON
Commences his Annual Clearing Sale one week earlier than usual, so that the general public will have their eyes open.
Eaton's prices tell every time.
Remember the new premises—the Palace House.

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE
TRADE MARK. The GRAY TRADE MARK.

Before Taking. Abuse, as Lost Manhood, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse. After Taking.
English Rose Remedy, an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. ☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Toronto, Ont., Canada.
Sold by all Druggists everywhere.
B. A. MITCHELL, London, Wholesale. Lddly-wly

REMOVAL.
DR. MOORE, SENIOR, HAS REMOVED to No. 354 Dundas street. Five doors east of Waterloo street. G74dwtf

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains
THE SUBSCRIBERS BEG TO call the attention of the public to their new and beautiful designs of Lawn Sprinklers which can be seen in operation at their Works, 78 King Street West, and illustrations of the latest and most approved patterns of Fountains.
Dly STEVENS, TURNER & BURNS

CITY
Coal and Wood Yard,
TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.
WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF thanking our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we are better prepared this fall than ever we were before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 quality.
The Coal is a new branch in our business, but we will endeavor to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.
Wholesale prices on application.
FAIRGRIEVE & CO.
London Ont. 1 2Dly eodly

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.
NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.
THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!
KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
In Every Department Extra Value.
WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.
Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department;
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

THE BORUSSIA'S FATE.

Five More Passengers Landed.

The Agents Still Hope the Steamer May be Afloat.

Further Particulars of the Distressing Scene at the Time of the Wreck.

A Six Days' Voyage in an Open and Broken Boat.

London, Dec. 24.—The lost steamer Borussia took one cabin and 64 steerage passengers from Liverpool for New Orleans, and 80 steerage passengers from Gorenna for Havana.

Liverpool, Dec. 24.—A steam tug has just arrived, and reports that she spoke an inward-bound bark with five more survivors of the steamer Borussia disaster on board.

London, Dec. 24.—The owners of the steamer Borussia allege that they believe the vessel is still afloat, as she is built with water-tight compartments, and that she is still in the track of American vessels. They also allege they are hopeful concerning the crew and passengers. The third officer's boat was the last to leave the ship. Among other boats was a large boat containing twenty Spaniards and the mate's boat containing 13 persons. These, when last seen, presumably by the third officers' bond, were doing well. The third officer made an unsuccessful attempt to tow the other boat, containing two men. The crew of the steamer, when the boats left, were building rafts. The wind was then blowing a gale.

Later reliable advices from Liverpool represent nothing really new concerning the disaster can be obtained. It is asserted at the office of the agents that the captain did his duty manfully. The name of the bark previously mentioned as having additional survivors of the disaster on board was not obtained. By a ting a bark was spoken off Salties Island; and she may be two or three days getting in, unless she is towed.

The British steamer Langshaw, from Baltimore, arrived at Gibraltar on the 16th inst., having encountered heavy gales, during which one of her crew was lost, and four others injured.

In his statement the 3rd officer of the Borussia says that after the large boat containing twenty Spaniards, and the mate's boat, containing thirteen persons, left the Borussia, a life-boat could be hung two of the stewards of the steamer got adrift and he was sent after this boat by the Captain. He took charge of it, taking his own boat in which five men were left in tow, but the boat was swamped, and all on board drowned. The 3rd officer again endeavored to reach the Borussia, which was fast sinking, but he was unable to make headway against the wind, and he was ultimately compelled to abandon the attempt. At the time this occurred there were still three boats with the Borussia.

London, Dec. 24.—The bark Fulda has arrived at Liverpool with five Spaniards saved from the Borussia. Owing to their inability to speak English it is difficult to get from them a connected narrative of the terrible hardships they have undergone. Their boat, before it left the Borussia, contained besides the Spaniards the mate and three women, but no sooner was the boat lowered than it was partly stove by knocking against the steamer. The mate and the women were washed out of it, and their rope breaking they were cast off from the steamer. They had some provisions, but none of them knew anything of the steamship. For five days and six nights they were tossed about, suffering terribly, when they were observed by the German bark Fulda. They know nothing of the Borussia.

Liverpool, Dec. 24.—The captain of the Fulda reports that on the 7th inst. he picked up a boat in which were five Spaniards. The rescued men slept uninterruptedly for sixty-eight hours. Upon being questioned they stated they had joined the Borussia at Corunna. They also stated that the captain of the Borussia gave orders to lower the boats. They report they stopped the hole in their boat with a pair of oil skin trousers.

SHIPPING DISASTERS.

A Steamer Collides With a Ship, and 400 Passengers Indulge in a Wild Stampede.

New York, Dec. 24.—The steamer City of New York, of the Norwich Line, this morning collided with a schooner, which crashed into her port side, tearing away the greater part of the joiner work. Four hundred passengers were on board the steamer. The excitement for a moment was intense, but upon the assurance of the captain, order was restored, and the passengers safely landed.

The British ship Sophia was abandoned at sea on Dec. 15th, the crew of which arrived here yesterday. She had a cargo of 90,000 bushels of grain, valued at $100,000.

AFGHANISTAN.

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS OF HEAVY FIRING.

Calcutta, Dec. 24.—Col. Norman telegraphs from Jagdiuk to-day as follows:—Heavy firing has been heard in the direction of Cabul for the past forty-eight hours. General Gough is close to Lataband, and it is expected that he will reach Cabul.

PLUNDERING CABUL.

Cabul, Dec. 22.—Insurgents have plundered the principal bazaar in the city. It is stated that large numbers are leaving with booty.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE IRISH DISTRESS.

London, Dec. 24.—There is much dissatisfaction among the Irish people because the Government have not applied the surplus of the Irish Church Fund for the relief of the popular distress, which they are empowered to do by the terms of the Disestablishment Act. Directors and members of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul publish a declaration that eleemosynary systems are a mockery and a delusion if intended to adequately meet the deep and dreadful famine now approaching. On the other hand, Archbishop McCabe, of Dublin, issued a circular to the clergy of his diocese asking them to appoint a day for collection in churches, and to urge their parishioners to contribute.

CLOSED FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Liverpool, Dec. 24.—The Cotton Exchange closes to night until Monday, and will also be closed on the 1st of January.

ROYAL MUNIFICENCE.

London, Dec. 24.—Queen Victoria contributed £500 to the Duchess of Marlborough's Irish Relief Fund.

INQUIRY.

The Board of Trade has ordered an inquiry into the loss of the Borussia.

RUSSIA

CONTRADICTION.

Berlin, Dec. 24.—A letter from St. Petersburg contradicts the recent reports of difficulties between the Czar and Czarewitch. It says the latter goes to the winter palace daily and attends the conferences between the Czar and his ministers.

RUMORED CHANGES IN THE EXECUTIVE.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 24.—The Vedemosti announces that Prince Dolgorouki, Governor-General of Moscow, intends to resign on account of ill-health. General Ignatieff and Count Schouvaloff are mentioned as possible candidates for the post.

A Berlin despatch says that in well-informed circles in St. Petersburg it is rumored that if the Czar visits Berlin and Cannes the Czarewitch will be appointed Regent.

British and Foreign Grain Trade.

Mark Lane Express Weekly Review.

London, Dec. 23.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade for the past week, says:—"The frost—which however seems to be breaking up to-day (Monday)—has necessitated an indefinite postponement of the completion of wheat sowing. The distress is increasing in the agricultural districts, and cattle are suffering severely. Threshing has been proceeding steadily, and deliveries at the principal markets have been larger and the condition somewhat improved. The provincial trade has, however, been inactive owing to the disinclination to increase stocks previous to the holidays. Nearly five-sixths of the imports of foreign wheat into London last week were from American Atlantic ports. Supplies thence are far in excess of immediate requirements. Still, confidence in the future is a prominent feature of the trade. The present speculative state of trade, which maintains high prices in America cannot last long, as prices have already sufficiently high to attract supplies from all the wheat producing countries of the world, and these are not likely to withhold shipments until America has succeeded in establishing a fertile value in the European markets. Business in Mark Lane has been small, owing to the fog and the approaching holidays. Prices, however, were maintained for all articles except maize, which was difficult to sell except at a slight reduction. For English wheat an advance of one shilling per quarter was occasionally obtained at the commencement of the week, trade having entered upon an interesting phase, and the market closing firm but quiet. Remains to be seen how far the hold of America will be followed by Europe. Arrivals at Cadiback have been large. Buyers at the commencement of the week reduced their bids one shilling to one shilling and sixpence per quarter, but holders were firm and business consequently for a few days was at a standstill. At the close of the week, however, some cargoes were sold at a decline of only about six pence per quarter. There was a moderate enquiry for maize at three pence to six pence per quarter decline. The high prices in America still check business in red winter wheat and springs for forward shipments, but there has been some request for Ghika wheat at 6d. to 2s. per quarter advance. Sales of English wheat last week were 41,797 quarters at 46s. 6d. per quarter, against 51,109 quarters, at 40s. 8d. per quarter for the corresponding week last year. Imports into the United Kingdom during the week ending December 13th, 1,287,447 cwt. of wheat, and 199,232 cwt. of flour.

Silver to-day was 52¾ pence per ounce.

AFGHANISTAN.

Hardships of Roberts' Troops—Desultory Attacks on the British.

The mail bags from Cabul have arrived at Jugdiulnk, the bearers being harmlessly fired at en route.

London, Dec. 24.—A Lahore despatch says Gen. Roberts reports his troops suffering from overwork, cold and exposure.

SOUTH AFRICA

SURRENDER OF SECOCENI.

COMPLETION OF CABLE COMMUNICATION.

London, Dec. 24.—It is expected that telegraphic communication between Aden, Zanzibar, and the Cape of Good Hope will be completed to-morrow.

London, Dec. 24.—The cable of the new telegraph line between Aden, in Arabia, and South Africa touches Zanzibar, Mozambique, Delago Bay and Durban, and connects with the land line in South Africa. The rate will be $2.15 per word from London.

SIKES' SUICIDE.

An Old Man Jumps from the New Suspension Bridge into Niagara River.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 24.—The Erie Railway train, arriving at Niagara Falls this morning, brought a respectable looking man, about 60 years of age, with long gray beard, dressed in dark clothes, overcoat, soft hat, scarf and low shoes. He wandered about town all the morning, and about noon called at the post office, got paper and envelopes from the assistant, and wrote a letter, registering it to Kendallville, Chatauqua county, giving his name as D. A. Sikes as the sender. He then proceeded to the New Suspension Bridge and enquired the rates for crossing. Being told that 25 cents was the rate, he asked if that amount would allow him to return. He talked rationally, paid for and took the ticket, and went on the bridge. He proceeded till he got near the centre of the bridge, when he stopped, looked around, as if surveying the distance from shore to shore. Then he deliberately climbed upon the railing, held on to one of the suspender guys, took a look into the abyss below, then threw up his hands and made his fearful leap. His body on striking the river sank instantly, and, face upwards, floated lifeless down the river. The current was very swift, and before the boats could be manned the body had floated into the rapids below the old Suspension Bridge, and was lost.

A BRUTE AND A BULLY.

Horrible Fight Between a Pugilist and a Bloodhound, Resulting in Favor of the Former.

St. Louis, Mo., December 24.—A terrible fight took place near here, in an old stable, on Monday evening, between a Siberian bloodhound and Patsy Brennan, pugilist, for $250 a side. The man was victorious after a disgusting fight of fifty-five minutes, in which his shoulders and arms were terribly lacerated by the dog's teeth. The bloodhound had his heavy lips torn off, and was so badly maimed that he died within an hour. The police are busy hunting up all concerned in the brutal exhibition.

A Crazy Man Who Fortified Himself on a Furnace.

Youngstown, December 22.—David Hughes, while crazed with drink, got into the top of the Struthers Furnace last night, and by spraging the blasting wheel effectually stopped all work. Armed with iron bars, iron ore and chunks of coal, he succeeded in holding the top for several hours against the whole furnace crew. Messengers were sent to this city for Marshal Evans, who went to Struthers, and by getting Hughdman's attention attracted to the side opposite the stairway opening, succeeded in reaching the platform, and on this dizzy height grappled him until others came, and he was securely handcuffed. The like of this mad freak was never before heard of in this valley.

Floods on the Ohio.

Cincinnati, Dec. 24.—In the Ohio and its tributaries there are almost unprecedented floods. The Big Sandy and other rivers to-day rose twelve feet in ten hours and is rising at the rate of a foot an hour. Great damage is being done.

Midnight Weather Report.

Washington, Dec. 25.—For the Middle States, partly cloudy, occasional light rain or snow. Lake Region, cloudy, with snow, possibly followed by clearer weather.

THE ELECTION TROUBLE IN MAINE

Both Sides of the Question—Great Excitement Among the Disputants.

"Fixing Fight" but Preparing Frauds—Democrats Showing Republicans that in the Game of "Dog Bite Dog," the Wrong Canine Sometimes Gets Bitten.

New York, Dec. 24.—The Herald's Augusta, Maine, despatch says the Fusionists have 79 certified representatives elect out of 151. If anything can be done to prevent the President of the Senate would be counted out. All this is being done possible, and the Fusion leaders are watching their men closely. The Democrats are getting anxious about the no quorum idea. Although the President of the Senate would be Governor, it might be impossible to fill other State offices and choose a Council. Notwithstanding the savage Dexter resolution last night, and in spite of the bitter speeches elsewhere, it looks as if the attempt to prevent the organization of the House, as hinted, would be the extent to which opposition will be carried.

A Fearful Freeze.

Fifty-Eight Degrees Below Zero in Minnesota—A Family Frozen to Death in Dakota.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 24.—The severest weather reported for years prevails to-day throughout this State. St. Vincent, near the British line, reports the spirit thermometer standing at 58° below zero. At Crookston it was 56° below zero, at Grand Forks 54°, and at Brockenridge 39°. These places are in the Red River Valley, and the cold wave seems to have come from the British possessions in to the eastern and southern parts of the State. The weather is milder in St. Paul. The thermometer did not fall below 15° below zero. The unusual amount of snow has delayed trains on all the roads, some trains on the Northern Minnesota and Northern Pacific being abandoned last night. All trains from the West were late to-night.

Bismarck, D. T., Dec. 24.—A very severe storm raged throughout the whole Northwest Territory for the past two weeks. Mercury at Fargo has been 40 below zero, and at this point 24 below. Trains on the Northern Pacific have been almost constantly delayed by drifts. The contractors for the 1,000-mile extension have 500 men at work 150 miles out on the barren prairie. There is great suffering among them, as they are without sufficient rations or clothing, and are inaccessible to the supply train. One man, his wife and two children were frozen to death, and many others have been badly frost-bitten.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—During the past two days the weather throughout the Pacific slope has been almost unprecedented cold. The harbor of Victoria, Vancouver Island, is frozen over. There is a great deal of floating ice in Puget Sound.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 24.—Advices from St. Louis report that the city is ice-bound. The Mississippi River, from there to Cairo, is unnavigable on account of the ice.

MUTINOUS SEAMEN.

A Plan to Seize the Ship Results in the Killing of Three Men and the Wounding of Four Others—A Mutineer Killed and Thrown Overboard.

New York, Dec. 24.—The captain of the Italian bark Francisco Donvaro, which arrived from Savanah this morning, reports that two Italian seamen mutinied on Dec. 5th while changing watch, intending to kill all hands and take possession of the vessel. Three were killed, and the cook and boatswain were wounded, together with the mate and one man. The crew quelled the mutiny and killed one mutineer and threw his body overboard.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Six thousands pounds of beef, 1 000 loaves of bread, three hogsheads of sugar, and 250 pounds of tea were distributed among 600 applicants by St. George's Society.

Hanlan, having deposited $600 in Mr. Blaikie's hands, is awaiting developments. He feels inclined to row Courtney in April if the proper deposit is made. The champion says he is sick of the whole matter, and feels like letting Courtney, Beale & Co. to go to the mischief.

SHIPPING.

New York, Dec. 24.—Arrived, Germania, from Liverpool.

London, Dec. 24.—Arrived will, Bavaria, Othello and Rhætina.

FISH! FISH!
RECEIVED TO-DAY PER EXPRESS.
10 Cases Haddies,
10 Cases Bloaters,
10 Cases Mackerel,
20 Kegs Malaga Grapes.
We can ship to Dealers, at LOWEST PRICE the above goods daily per ex, rss. Send for cash on receipt.
Horner and Somerville

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

CANADIAN CURRENCY.

The Ottawa Free Press comes out in opposition to the Trent Valley canal scheme, believing it to be premature.

The estate of the Dominion of Canada, Pinchago Compa'y will be sold en bloc on the 29th of January. Over $360,000 has been sunk in the enterprise, and the value of the property and plant can scarcely be estimated.

A few days ago Dr. Drader, of Baltimore, Md., left home for Toronto. He has not since been heard of and his disappearance causes much uneasiness to his friends. He was a healthy, temperate man, about fifty years of age.

Hon. Mr. Pardee has opened communication with mine owners in England, and is arranging to supply the English market with props and other mining timber. It is hoped that a large industry will be opened up to this country which previously was peculiar to Norway and Sweden.

The Fisheries Department has received a large consignment of speckled trout from its local Fishery Inspector at Montreal, who captured them from parties back of Argenteuil, where they had been taken out of season in the lakes in that section. The fish were distributed to the city charities.

DOMINION WIDGETS.

A tender has been accepted for the erection of a county building in Orangeville.

A by-law granting a bonus of $4,000 to Mr. Silcox, for a cotton mill in Brantford, was carried by 297 majority.

A lamp exploded in the residence of Dr. Evans, Kingston, on Tuesday night, and set fire to the building. The flames were extinguished before any material damage was done.

In Wingham, yesterday morning, a young lad named Charles Williams, while attempting to jump on a sleigh, was kicked on the forehead by the horse. It is doubtful whether he will recover.

At the Stratford pigeon shooting tournament on Tuesday the Exeter Gun Club came out ahead:—First prize, Fleming Cup, 10 birds, $50—Exeter, 10 straight, $50 Ballard, 10 straight (1 dropped out, 9 birds), $25; Ford, Warwick, 9 (1 dropped out of bounds), $15.

A sensation has been created in Montreal by the elopement of a prominent merchant's wife with a navvy called Fallon. The lady has been married several years, and although her early antecedents are none of the best, yet she conducted herself with such propriety since her marriage that she was received into the best society of that city.

The various national and charitable societies of Montreal dispensed assistance yesterday to the poor in a very liberal manner. The St. George's Society relieved the wants of 800 families, and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society 100 families. The inmates of the House of Refuge and the prisoners in the jail will be regaled to-day with a good Christmas dinner.

CANAL PROJECTS.

The Construction of the Murray and Trent Water Connections Urged—The Works to be Taken Into Consideration.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A deputation headed by Ald. Robinson, of Bellerville, was introduced by Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Bowell to the Minister of Railways and Canals. The object of the deputation was to urge the construction of a canal from the Bay of Quinte on the west with those of Lake Ontario. The canal would be three-quarters of a mile in length, and would cost about $250,000. It would assist in developing the iron resources of North Hastings by lessening the distance from Bellerville to Cleveland by 150 miles, and enable shipping to avoid the most stormy portion of Lake Ontario.

Sir Charles Tupper, in reply expressed his surprise that a work so small in magnitude, and for which lands had actually been appropriated and proceedings had for sale of which was in the hands of the Government, had not been undertaken before this. He did not think there would be any difficulty on the score of a work partaking somewhat of a local character, as in reality it would be a harbor of refuge on a large scale, and such works were usually constructed by the Government.

It is understood that Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir Chas. Tupper and Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Bowell will, at an early day next week, visit a portion of the district through which the Trent Valley canal will pass, the site of the Murray canal in the mining districts of North Hastings, and manufacturing industries of Bellevi...

A curious story is being told about the Duke of Richmond, Governor of his Scotch tenants. It appears that some years ago a man who had a lease of his Grace's farms asked permission to assign his lease to his wife in case of his death, as he had expended large sum in improvements, and had no child to inherit the lease. The permission was granted, but on condition that the lady should not marry again without the Duke's consent. Well, in course of time the husband died, and it is said that his widow is desirous of re-entering the wedded state. She cannot, however, do so, unless she is willing to sacrifice the lease, without her landlord's consent, and it is very possible that though somebody's farmer would be anxious to court the lady, he would hesitate about undertaking to court the Duke as well, more especially as he might be subjected to the mortification of a refusal if his political views were not considered sound. The widow, however, must no doubt have consented thus to become the ward of the Duke and she cannot reasonably complain if he were to refuse to let her keep the farm and marry a rebel Radical as well.

...One of the greatest boons to the rural population of England of late years has been the establishment of cottage hospitals. The first institution of the kind was at Sevenoake, in Wilts. In 1867 a poor farm laborer was badly injured by machinery, and had to be carried miles to a doctor, and then forwarded ten miles farther to a hospital. The case so impressed the Vicar of Savernake that the idea occurred to him to try and establish a cottage hospital. He found warm and generous coadjutors in Lord and Lady Aylesbury, the chief landowners of the parish. Lord Ailesbury gave a large sum, and several acres, in a lovely situation, and in due time the thing was done. During the past year 211 cases have been treated with

The Free Press.

Thursday, Dec. 25, 1879.

LUCRETIA.

A Christmas Eve Adventure in Quebec.

First Impressions of Canadian Society.

I will acknowledge that I was certainly a very young man in the year '67: indeed, I was only just turned of twenty, and was inordinately proud of a slight downy fringe on my upper lip, which I was pleased to speak of as my moustache. Still, I was a sturdy young fellow enough, in spite of my consumptive tendencies, and not given to groundless fears in a general way; but I must allow that I was decidedly frightened by my adventure in the Richmond Hotel on Christmas Eve of that aforesaid year of grace. It may be a foolish reminiscence, yet I dare say you won't mind listening to it.

When I say the Richmond Hotel, you must not understand me to speak of the Star and Garter in the town of that ilk, situated in the county of Surrey, England. The Richmond where I passed my uncomfortable Christmas Eve stands on the banks of the pretty St. Francis River in Lower Canada. I had gone out to the colony in the autumn of that year to look after a small property of my mother's near Kamouraska; and I originally intended to spend the winter in Quebec. But as November and December wore away, and the snow grew deeper and deeper upon the plains of Abraham, I became gradually aware that a Canadian winter was not the best adapted tonic in the world for a young man with a slight hereditary predisposition to consumption. I had seen enough of Arctic life in Quebec during those two initial months to give me a good idea of the pleasures and drawbacks. I had steered my toboggan down the ice cone at the Falls of Montmorenci; I had driven a sleigh, tete-a-tete with a French Canadian belle, to a surprise picnic in a house at Sainte Anne; I had skated, snow-shoed, and carried to my heart's content; and I had caught my death of cold on that frozen St. Lawrence, not to mention such minor misfortunes as getting my nose, ears and feet frost-bitten during a driving party up the Chaudiere. So a few days before Christmas I determined to strike south. I would go for a tour through Virginia and the Carolinas, to escape the cold weather, waiting for the return of the summer sun to cater a glimpse of Niagara and the great lakes.

For this purpose I must first go to Montreal; and, bear boing the case, what could be more convenient than to spend Christmas Day itself with the rector at Richmond, to whom I had letters of introduction, his wife being in fact a first cousin of my mother's? Richmond lies half-way on the Grand Trunk line between Quebec and Montreal, and it would be more pleasant, by breaking my journey there, to eat my turkey and plum pudding in a friend's family than in that somewhat assorted hotel the Dominion Hall. So off I started from the Point Levy station at four o'clock on the 24th of December, hoping to arrive at my journey's end about one o'clock on Christmas morning.

Now, those were the days, just after the great American civil war, when gold was almost unknown either in the States or Canada, and everybody used greasy dollar notes of uncertain and parsly local value. Hence I was compelled to take the money for expenses on my projected tour in the only form of specie which was available, that of solid silver. A hundred and fifty pounds in silver dollars amounts to a large bulk and a heavier weight than you would suppose; and I thought it safer to carry the sum in my own hands, loosely bundled into a large leather reticule. Hinc illæ lachrimæ: that was the real cause of my night's adventure and of the present story.

When I got into the long open American railway-carriage, with its comfortable stove and warm foot bricks, I found only one seat vacant, and that was a red velvet sofa, opposite to another occupied by a girl of singular beauty. I can remember to this day exactly how she was dressed. I dare say my lady-readers will think it horribly old-fashioned at the present time, but I was the very latest and the most enchanting style in the year '67. On her head was a coquettish little cheese-plate bonnet of velvet, round with one of those warm, soft, fleecy, woollen veils or head-wraps which do not quite know as Nubias. Her dress was a short winter walking costume of the period, fringed with rich fur, and displaying at the bottom so as to show a glimpse of the quilted down petticoat underneath. Her little polished boots, chosen by her with short costume, were buttoned above the ankle, and bound with fur to match the dress; while a tiny tassel at each side added just a suspicion of Parisian coquetry. Her cloak was lined with sable, or what seemed so to my indiscriminating eyes; and her rug was a splendid piece of wolf-varine skins. As to her face, her lips, her figure, I had ratner not attempt them. I can manage clothes but not goddesses. Altogether quite a dream of Canadian beauty, not devoid of that indefinable grace which goes only with the French blood.

I was still bold in '67, and I would have preferred to take any other seat rather than face this divine apparition; but there was no help for it, the other benches were filled; so I sat down a little sheepishly, I dare say. Almost before we were well out of the station we had got into conversation, and it was she who began it.

"You are an Englishman, I think?" she said, looking at me with a frank and pleasant smile.

"Yes," I answered, coloring, though why I should have been ashamed of my nationality for that solitary moment of my life I cannot imagine, unless, perhaps, because she was a Canadian; "but how on earth did you discover it?"

"You would have been more warmly wrapped up if you had lived long in Canada," she replied. "In spite of our stoves and hot bricks, you'll find yourself very cold before you get to your journey's end."

"Yes," I said; "I suppose it's rather chilly late at night in these big cars."

"Dreadfully; oh, quite terribly. You ought to have a rug, you really ought. Won't you let me lend you one? I have another under the seat here."

"But you brought that for yourself," I interposed. "You will want it by-and-by, when it gets a little colder."

"Oh, no, I shan't. This is warm enough for me, it's wolverine. You have a mother?"

What an extraordinary question, I thought, and what an unusually friendly girl. Was she quite so simple-minded as she seemed, or could she be the "designing woman" of the novels? Yes, I admitted in her cautiously that I possessed a maternal parent, who was at that moment safely drinking her tea in a terrace in South Kensington.

"I have none," she said, with an emphasis on the personal pronoun, and a sort of upspeaking look in her big eyes. "But you should take care of yourself for her sake. You really must take my rug. Hundreds, oh, thousands of young Englishmen come out here and kill themselves, their first winter, by imprudence."

Thus adjured, I accepted the rug with many thanks and apologies, and wrapped myself warmly up in the corner, with a splendid view of my vis-a-vis.

Exactly at that moment, the ticket collector came round upon his official tour. Now, on Canadian railways, you do not always take you ticket beforehand, but pay your fare to the collector, who walks up and down through the cars from end to end between every station. I lifted up my bag of silver, which lay on the seat beside me, and imprudently opened it to take out a few dollars full in sight of my enchanting neighbor. I saw her look with unaffected curiosity at the heap of coin within, and I was proud at being able to give such an unequivocal proof of my high respectability—for what better guaranty of all the noblest moral qualities can any man produce all the world over than a bag of dollars?

"What a lot of money!" she said, as the collector passed on. "What can you want with it all in coin?"

"I'm going on a tour in the Southern States," I confided in reply, "and I thought it better to take specie." (I was very proud ten or twelve years ago of that word specie.)

"And I suppose those are your initials on the reticule? What a pretty monogram! Your mother gave you that for a birthday present."

"You must be a conjurer or a clairvoyant," I said, smiling. "So she did;" and I added that the initials represented my humble patronymic and baptismal designations.

"My name's Lucretia," said my neighbor artlessly, as a child might have said it, without a word as to surname or qualifying circumstances; and from that moment I became to me simply Lucretia. I think of her as Lucretia to the present day. As she spoke, she pointed to the word engraved in tiny letters on her pretty silver locket.

I suppose she thought my confidence required a little more confidence to return, for after a slight pause she repeated once more, "My name's Lucretia, and I live at Richmond."

"Richmond!" I said. "Why, that's just where I'm going. Do you know the rector?"

"Mr. Pritchard? Oh, yes, intimately. He's our greatest friend. Are you going to stop with him?"

"For a day or two at least, on my way to Montreal. Mrs. Pritchard is my mother's cousin."

"How delightful! Then we may consider ourselves acquaintances. But you don't mean to knock them up to-night? They'll all be in bed long before one o'clock."

"No, I haven't even written to tell them I was coming," I answered. "They gave me a general invitation, and said I might drop in whenever I pleased."

"Then you must stop at the hotel to-night. I'm going there myself. My people keep the hotel."

Was it possible? I was thunderstruck. I had pictured Lucretia to myself as at least a countess of the ancien regime, a few of whom still linger on in Montreal and elsewhere. Her looket, her rags, her eyes, her ohiselled features, all of them seemed to me redolent of the old French noblesse. And here it turned out that this living angel was only the daughter of an innkeeper! But in that primitive and rural Canadian society such things, I thought, can easily be. No doubt she is the petted child of the house, the one heiress of the old man's savings; and after spending a winter holiday among the galeties of Quebec, she is now returning to pass the Christmas season with her family. I will not conceal the fact that I had already fallen over head and ears in love with Lucretia at first sight, and that frank avowal made me love her all the more. Besides, those Canadian hotel-keepers are often very rich: and was not her manner perfect, and was she not an intimate friend of the rector and his wife? All those things showed at least that she was accustomed to refined society. I caught myself actually speculating as to what my mother will think of such a match.

In five minutes it was all arranged about the hotel, and I had got in the midst of a charming conversation with Lucretia. She told me about herself and her past; how she had been educated in a convent in Montreal, and loved the nuns, oh, so dearly, though she was a Protestant herself, as only French on her mother's side. (This, I thought, was well, as a safeguard against parental prejudice.) She told me all the gossip of Richmond, and what I should meet at the rector's, and what a dull little town it was. But Quebec was delightful, and Montreal—oh, if she could only live in Montreal, it would be perfect bliss. And so I thought myself, if only Lucretia would live there with me; but prudently refrained from saying so, as I thought it rather premature. Or perhaps I blushed and stammered too much to get the words out. "Had she ever been in Europe?" No, never, but she would so like it. "A: it would be delightful to spend a month or two in Paris." I suggested, with stern pictures of a honeymoon floating through my brain. "Yes, that would be most enjoyable," she answered. Altogether, Lucretia and I kept chatting uninterruptedly the whole way to Richmond, and the other passengers must have voted us most unconscionable bores; for they evidently could not sleep by reason of our incessant talking. We did not sleep, nor wish to sleep. And I am bound to say that a more frankly confessing or seemingly guileless girl than Lucretia I have never met from that day to this.

At last we reached Richmond Depot (as the Canadians call the station), very cold and tired externally, but lively enough as regards the internal fires. We got out, and looked after our luggage. A sleepy porter promised to bring it over next morning to the hotel. There were no sleighs in waiting—Richmond is too much of a country station for that—so I took my reticule in my hand, threw Lucretia's rug across her shoulders, and proceeded to walk with her to the hotel.

Now, the "Depot" is in a suburb known as Melbourne, while Richmond itself lies on the other side of the river St. Francis, which we had to cross by a long covered bridge, a sort of rough wooden counterpart of the famous one at Lucerne. As we passed out the dollars were still safe under my hand, and the frost was very bitter. Lucretia took my arm without a word of prelude, as naturally as if she were my sister, and guided me through the snow-covered path to the bridge. When we got under the shelter of the wooden covering, we had to pass through the long dark gallery, as black as night, heading only for the dim square of moonlight at the other end. But Lucretia walked and chatted on as unconcernedly as if she had always been in the habit of traversing that lonely tunnel-like bridge with a total stranger every evening of her life. I confess I was surprised. I fancied a prim English girl in a similar situation, and I began to wonder whether all this artlessness was really as genuine as it looked.

At the opposite end of the bridge we plunged upon a street of wooden frame houses. In one of them only there was a light. "That's the hotel!" said Lucretia, nodding toward it, and again I suffered a thrill of disquietude. I had pictured to myself a great solid building like the St. Lawrence Hall at Montreal, forgetting that Richmond was a mere country village; and here I found a bit of frame cottage as the whole domain of Lucretia's supposed father. It was too awful!

We reached the door and entered. Fresh surprises were in store for me. The passage led into a bar, where half-a-dozen French Canadians were sitting with bottles and glasses, playing some game of cards. One rather rough-looking young man jumped up in astonishment as we entered and exclaimed, "Why, Lucretia, we didn't expect you for another hour. I meant to take the sleigh for you." I could have knocked him down for calling her by her Christian name, but the conviction flashed upon me that this was Lucretia's brother. He glanced up at the big Yankee clock on the mantelpiece, which pointed to a quarter past twelve, then pulled out his watch and whistled. "Stopped three quarters of an hour ago, by Jingo," was his comment. "Why, I forgot to wind it up. Upon my word, Lucretia, I'm awfully sorry. But who is the gentleman?"

A friend of the Pritchards, Tom dear, who wants a bed here to night. I couldn't imagine why the sleigh didn't come for me. It's so unlike you not to remember it." and she gave him a look to melt adamant.

Tom was profuse in his apologies, and made it quite clear that his intentions at least had been most excellent; beside, he kissed Lucretia with so much brotherly tenderness that I relented of my desire to knock him down. Then brother and sister retired for a while, apparently to see after my bedroom, and I was left alone in the bar.

I cannot say I liked the look of it. The men were drinking whiskey and playing ecarte—two bad things, I thought in my twenty-year-old propriety. My dear mother hated gambling, which hatred she had instilled into my youthful mind, and this was evidently a backwoods gambling-house. Moreover, I carried a bag of silver coin, quite large enough to make it well worth while to rob me. The appearances were clearly against Lucretia's home, but surely Lucretia herself was a guarantee for anything.

Presently Tom returned, and told me my room was ready. I followed him up the stairs with a beating heart and a heavy reticule. At the top of the landing Lucretia stood smiling, my candle in her hand, and showed me into the room. Tom and she looked around to see that all was comfortable, and then they both shook hands with me, which certainly seemed a curious thing for an innkeeper and his sister. Soon as they were gone, I began to look about me and examine the situation. The room had two doors, but the key was gone from both. I moved one toward the passage, but found it bolted outside, the other, which probably communicated with a neighboring bedroom, was locked from the opposite side. Moreover, there had evidently been a common bolt on this second door, but it had been removed. I looked close at the screw holes, and was sure they were quite fresh. Could the bolt have been taken off while I was waiting in the bar? All at once it flashed across my mind that I had been imprudently confiding in my disclosure to Lucretia. I had told her that I carried £150 in coin, an easy thing to rob, and a difficult thing to identify. She had heard that nobody was aware of my presence in Richmond, except herself and her brother. I had not written to tell the Pritchards I was coming, and she knew that I had not told any one of my whereabouts, because I did not decide where I should go until I talked with her about the matter. No one in Canada would miss me. If those people chose to murder me for my money (and the keepers often murder their guests, I thought), nobody would think of inquiring of Lucretia where to inquire for me. Weeks would elapse before my mother awoke from England to ask my whereabouts, and by that time all traces might well be lost. I left Quebec, only telling the people at my hotel that I was going to Montreal. Then I thought of Lucretia's eagerness to get into conversation, her obvious anxiety to know about my money, her suggestion that I should come to the Richmond Hotel. And how could she, a small inn keeper's daughter, afford to get all those fine firs and lockets by fair means? Did she really know the Pritchards, or was it likely concerning her position? All these things came across me in a moment. What a fool I had been ever to think of trusting such a girl!

I got up and walked about the room. It was evidently Lucretia's own bedroom: part of the decoy. "said I to myself sapiently. But could so beautiful a girl really have designs? A piece of music was lying on the dressing table. I took it up and looked at it carefully. Gracious heavens! it was a song "Lucretia Borgia!" Her very name betrayed her! She too was a Lucretia. I walked over to the mantlepiece. A little ivory miniature hung above the centre. I gave it a glance and started. Incredible! It was Beatrice Cenci! Talk of beautiful women! Why, they poison one, they stab one, they burn one alive, with a smile on their lips. Lucretia must have a taste for murderesses. Evidently she is a connoisseur.

At least, thought I, I shall sell my life dearly. I could not go to bed; but I pulled the bedstead over against one of the doors—the locked one—and I laid the mattress down in front of the other. Then I lay down on the mattress, my money bag under my head, and put the poker conveniently by my side. If they came to rob and murder me, they should at least have a broken head to account for next day. But I soon got tired of this defensive attitude, and reflected that, if I must lie awake all night, I might as well have something to read. So I went over to the little book case and took down the first book that came to hand. It bore on the outside the title "Œuvres de Victor Hugo. Tome I Theatre." "This, at any rate," said I to myself, "will be light and interesting." I returned to my mattress, opened the volume, and began to read Le Roi s'amuse.

I had never before dipped into that terrible drama, and I devoured it with a horrid avidity. I read how Triboulet bribed the gipsy to murder the king; how the gipsy's sister beguiled him into the hut; how the plot was mastured; how the sack containing the corpse was handed over to Triboulet. It was an awful play to read on such a night and in such a place, with the wind howling round the corners and the snow gathering deeply upon the window-panes. I was in a considerable state of fright when I began it; I was in agony of terror when I had got half-way through. Now and then I heard footsteps on the stairs; again I could distinguish voices, once a woman's whispering outside the door; a little later, the door itself was very slightly opened and then pushed back again stealthily by a man's hand. Still, I read on. At last, just as I reached point where Triboulet is about to throw the corpse into the river, my candle, a mere end, began to sputter in the socket, and after a few ineffectual flickers suddenly went out, leaving me in the dark till morning.

I lay down some more, trembling but exhausted. A few minutes later the voices came again. The further door was opened a second time, and I saw dimly a pair of eyes (no, I felt sure, Lucretia's) looking through the chink. Then they evidently taught her what "art at home," meant. The table was laid, and the white table cloth, with its bright silver and sprays of evergreen in the vase, looked delightfully appetizing. I began to think I might manage a breakfast after all.

"How pretty all your things are!" I said to Lucretia.

"Do you think so?" she answered. "I chose them, and I laid the table."

I looked surprised: but a moment more I was fairly overwhelmed when Lucretia left the room for a minute, and then returned carrying a tray covered with dishes. These she rapidly and dexterously placed upon the table, and then asked me to take my seat.

"But," said I hesitating, "am I to understand . . . You don't mean to say . . . Are you . . . going . . . to . . . wait upon me?"

Lucretia's face was one smile of innocent amusement from her white little forehead to her chiselled little chin. "Why, yes," she answered, laughing, "of course I am. I always wait upon our guests when I'm at home. And I cooked these salmon cutlets, which I'm sure you'll find nice if you only try them while they're hot." With which recommendation she uncovered all the dishes, and displayed a breakfast that might have tempted St. Anthony. Not being St. Anthony, I can do Lucretia's breakfast the justice to say that I ate with undisguised heartiness.

So my princess was, after all, the domestic manager and assistant cook of a small country inn! Not a countess, not even a murderess (which is at least romantic), but only a prosaic housekeeper! Yet she had a princess for all that. Did she not read Victor Hugo, and play "Lucrezia Borgia," and spread her own refinement over the village tavern? In no other country could you find such a strange mixture of culture and simplicity, but it was new, it was interesting, and it was piquant. Lucretia in her nursing dress officiously insisting upon offering me the buckwheat pancakes with her own white hands was Lucretia still, and I fell deeper in love than ever.

After breakfast came a serious difficulty. I must go to the Pritchards, but before I went I must pay. Yet, how was I to ask for my bill? I couldn't demand it of Lucretia. So I sat a while ruminating, and at last I said, "I wonder how people do when they want to leave this house."

"Why," said Lucretia, promptly, "they order the sleigh."

"Yes," I answered sheepishly, "no doubt. But how do they manage about paying?"

Lucretia smiled. She was absolutely transparent, and so accustomed to her simple way of doing business that I suppose she did not comprehend my difficulty. "They ask me, of course, and I tell them what they owe. You owe me half-a-dollar."

Half a dollar—two shillings sterling—for a night of romance and terror, a bed and bedroom, a regal breakfast, and—Lucretia to wait upon one! It was too ridiculous. And there were the good, simple Canadian villagers whom I had suspected of wishing to rob and murder me! I never felt so ashamed of my own stupidity in the whole course of my life.

I must pay it somehow, I supposed, but I could not bear to hand over two shilling pieces into Lucretia's outstretched palm. It was desecration. It was sheer sacrilege. But Lucretia took the half-dollar with the utmost calmness, and went out to order the sleigh.

I drove to the rector's, after saying good-bye to Lucretia, with a clear determination that before I left Richmond she should have consented to become my wife. Of course there were social differences, but those would be forgotten in South Kensington, and nobody need ever know what Lucretia had been in Canada. Beside, she was fit to shine in the society of duchesses—a society into which I cannot honestly pretend that I habitually penetrate.

The rector and his wife gave me a hearty welcome, and I found Mrs. Pritchard a good, motherly sort of body—just the right person for helping on a romantic love match. So, in the course of the morning, as we walked back from the church, I managed to mention to her casually that I was very nice young woman had come down in the train with me from Quebec.

"You don't mean Lucretia?" cried good Mrs. Pritchard.

"Lucretia," I answered in a cold sort of way, "I think that was her name. In fact, I remember she told me so."

"Oh, yes, everybody calls her Lucretia—indeed, she's hardly got any other name. She's the dearest creature in the world, as simple as a child, with the most engaging and kind-hearted girl you ever met. She was brought up by some nuns at Montreal, and has a very decent pianet as a great deal of taste, she was their favorite pupil, and has turned out a most cultivated person."

"Does she paint?" I asked, thinking of the Beatrice.

"Oh, beautifully. Her ivory miniatures always take prizes at the Provincial Exhibitions and Western Fair. And she plays and sings charmingly."

"Are they well off?"

"Very, for Canadians. Lucretia has money of her own, and they have a good farm beside the hotel."

"She said she knew you very well," I ventured to suggest.

"Oh, yes; in fact she's coming here this evening. We have an early dinner (you know our simple Canadian habits and a few friends will drop in to high tea after Lucretia arrives. She and Tom will be singing them—you met Tom, of course?"

I had the pleasure of making Tom's acquaintance at one o'clock this morning, I answered. "But, excuse my asking it, isn't it a little odd for you to mix with people in their position?"

Mrs. Pritchard smiled and put in his word. "This is a democratic country," he said, "a mere farmer community, after all. We have little society in Richmond, and are very glad to know such pleasant, intelligent people as Tom and Lucretia."

"But then, the consequence," I urged, secretly desiring to have my own position strengthened. "When I got to the hotel last night, or rather this morning, there was a lot of rough-looking hulking fellows drinking whiskey and playing cards."

"Ah, I dare say, old Picard and young Le Patourel from Melbourne, and the post-office people sitting over a quiet game of ecarte while they waited for the last train. The English mail was in last night. As for the whiskey, that's the custom of the country. We Canadians do nothing without whiskey. A single glass of Morton's proof does nobody any harm."

And there were my rubbers and umbrella! A party of peaceable farmers and post-office clerks sitting up with a sober glass of toddy and beguiling the time with ecarte for love, in expectation of Her Majesty's mails. I shall never again go to bed with a poker by my side as long as I live.

About seven o'clock our friends came in. Lucretia was once more charming; this time in a long evening dress, a peach-colored silk with square-cut bodice, and a little lace cap on her black hair. I dare say I saw almost the full extent of her foot at Richmond, on October 19th, by Mr. Alex Taylor, of Ottawa, to his father, Mr. J. M. Taylor. He says:—

This morning I was awakened by my dog barking. I got up and ran to the door and found a man and a horse there. I brought him into the house and asked him what he came from. He left Fort Benton, U. S. A., in August to come to Battleford with cattle for the Government for Indians. Well, the party got on all right until nine days ago, when they went one day at dinner time to shoot some wild fowl. He jumped on a horse without a saddle and started. When he went to come back a fog had arisen, and he could not see the bank and the men. Well, for eight days he wandered around without a mouthful to eat, and no cartridges for his rifle, until he very fortunately struck my ranche this morning early. He showed me on his horse where he had opened her veins in the neck twice to drink her blood, and also showed me where he partly cut a steak off her hind quarter to eat raw rather than starve. But the mare was too strong for him in his weak state, and he could not do it.

In another part of the letter, speaking of settlers, he stated that "at Fort Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan, Mounted Police, 18 miles down the river, they are taking up land fast. Off the soil I have been 30 to 35 bushels of wheat, 40 to 45 bushels of barley, 400 bushels of potatoes, 50 bushels of oats, and 600 bushels of turnips. The fair was held on the 15th of October, the first ever held in this country. In the garden at the office here, I saw potatoes grown, 31 potatoes to the bushel, two pounds each. Turnips are of an enormous size."

...Austrian newspapers report organized robberies of a most reckless and flagrant character throughout the Bosnian district of Novi Bazar. These depredations have been of yearly occurrences heretofore, but only now that the troops of a civilized nation are on the ground to witness and report the wild scenes, has the attention of other people been called to them. The population of Bosnia is largely occupied during the summer season in making lard and cheese for use and sale during the winter. At the beginning of October they slaughter cattle, and salt, pickle, and smoke the meat, which, as thus prepared, forms their chief food during the cold months. Unfortunately for the welfare of the country, it has become the regular practice with those who do not happen to be possessed of cattle that they can thus use, to form bands of foragers, who roam about from village to village, and take what they want from the farmers by force, not hesitating to kill any that have the courage to offer resistance. These forays usually begin in September, and last until snow falls. This year they were delayed by fear of the Austrian army, but no sooner was it known that these troops did not consider it part of their business to take notice of private domestic broils than they were inaugurated with added energy. The peaceable part of the population is panic-stricken.

One of the churches in Norwich, Conn., fills the position of janitor or sexton by an auction, at which the person naming the smallest sum secures the situation. Forty dollars was the annual sum recently bid.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

L. C. LEONARD, ESQ.,

HAS ANNOUNCED TO HIS friends that, owing to ill health, he has been compelled to retire from the contest for the Mayoralty for 1880.

A PUBLIC MEETING

Will therefore be convened on FRIDAY EVENING, at the CITY HALL, at 7.30, of the Electors of the city opposed to the candidature of Mr Mulvihill, for the purpose of substituting a candidate to represent them. 1,267

CHRISTMAS DAY.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF NOT being able to attend to the wants of over one-third of my customers last evening,

BOTH MY STORES

WILL BE OPEN

From 9 a.m. to 12 Noon.

TO-DAY — CHRISTMAS!

Wm. BRYCE

105 and 213 Dundas street.

NOTICE.

AS ALL FOOT-POWER MACHINERY have been held at so high a price that few could get them,

J. WAUD

has been to considerable expense to make them within the reach of all, and as good an article for work and durability. The Lathe, two speeds with belt, will turn 12 inches diameter, from two to three feet long, for the small sum of Sixteen Dollars. Turning Tools, Boring Bit, Chuck and Vice attachment, Four Dollars extra; Jig Saw Attachment, Eight Dollars, making a complete tool and a useful one. The ordinary prices would be Seventy-five Dollars for all. Call and examine them at 319 Dundas st., London. 1,253

Cordwood Wanted.

200 CORDS OF GREEN AND 100 cords of Dry Wood (must be of the best quality) for the

LONDON CITY HOSPITAL,

in not less than 25 cord lots, same to be delivered Hospital yard.

Tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, on or before Tuesday, 30th inst.

A. B. POWELL,
Chairman Hospital and Relief Committee.
London, Dec. 16, 1879. dt-wi

Post Office Notice!

TO-DAY BEING

Christmas Day,

The Post Office will be open until 10 a.m. only

The early morning mails will close as usual—at 7 o'clock.

Street Letter Boxes will be cleared before 6 a.m. again before 10 a.m.

Delivery by Carriers.

The Branch Office on the Letter Box, G. W. R. Station, for Ry. T. offices, East and West, will go up to the time of 2 p.m. to-day.

There will be only two morning deliveries by Letter Carriers. 1,267

JAMES BOWMAN,
London P. O., Ont., 25th Dec., 1879. Postmaster.

BOOKS.

A Trip to Mexico, with 30 Photograph Illustrations, by W. H. Bishop, Esq. ..... $ 3 00
The Knight's Reformation, by C. Gutzkow 2 50
Select Notes on International Law, by Lawrence, 1880. ..... 1 25
Stanford's Graphical Atlas of the Year 1880 ..... 1 25
Farrar's Life and Work of St. Paul, 2 vols 6 00
Tales of Fact and Fancy, by Miss Mulock, Illustrated 1 25
Dear Dorry, a Tale of the Cornish Miners, by R. M. Ballantyne 1 50
Tales of the Sea, by R. M. Ballantyne 1 50
Post Haste, a Tale of H. M. Mails, by R. M. Ballantyne 1 50
The Norseman in the West, by R. M. Ballantyne 1 50
Dickens' Novels, 15 vols 15 00
Macaulay's History of England, 5 vols 5 00

E. A. Taylor & Co.

Limited

New Year's Gifts

CLEARING

BOOK SALE

FOR ONE WEEK,

—AT—

Very Low Rates!

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY NEW YEAR GIFTS

—AT—

BRYCE'S

168

Dundas Street, London.

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE

GRAND HOLIDAY ATTRACTION.

Thursday Evening, Dec. 25th.

First appearance in London of the world famous Musical Organization, and their great Company.

THE BERGERS

Twelve Fine Artists—Vocalists, Humorists, Instrumental Soloists, Lady Orchestra, Ladies in American Miss Rita Morgan, Sax-phonist, Miss Marie Holler, Violinist; Mr. Louis F. Rose, Cornet Soloist, Mr. Sidney Dyer, the celebrated Humorist and Character Singer, and the entire company will appear in a programme replete with novelty, and embracing all the latest musical attractions of the day.

Tickets, 50c., 75c., and $1. Seats secured at Murray & Co.'s jewelry store. 1,266

FAREWELL TOUR OF

HAMILTON CORBETT,

the greatest versatile vocalist on the American continent, in his many Musical Entertainments on the Songs of England, Ireland and Scotland,

AT VICTORIA HALL,

Thursday and Friday, 25th and 26th December, 1879.

Mr. Corbett will appear on Friday evening in full Highland costume, assisted by J. H. Scott (composer and conductor).

Tickets 50 and 75 cents. Doors open at 7.30; overture at 8 o'clock precisely. 1,267

Wholesale or Retail.

MUST BE SOLD—A LOT OF Crockery, Cut-gl. China, Glassware and Fancy Goods for Xmas presents; Oil cheap and good—TEA ONE WEEK.

Lloyd's. N. F. YEO 186 Dundas St.

Western Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association.

The Annual Dinner to celebrate the third anniversary of the Association will be held at the Drug House, London, on Monday evening, 29th December, 1879, at 7.30 o'clock. Tickets $2.00 each, to be had from the undersigned and the members of the Association, also at the offices of Messrs. Adams & Gibbons, Leigh Watson & Co., and Verde Lonsdale & Co. JAMES WATSON, President. J. ATKINS R. Sec. Treas. 1,266

TO CONSUMERS.

GO TO THE

California Store

—FOR—

FIRST-CLASS

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS

at prices to suit the times.

Goods delivered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed.

WM. MOORE & CO.,

CORNER KING AND RICHMOND STREETS,
London, August 27, 1879. tuthly

Thousands of Overcoat

ULSTERS AND ULSTERETTES

For Men, Youths, Boys and Children, in all sty[les], colors and qualities, at prices cannot fail to be satisfactory to purchasers.

Our enormous sales for the past 90 days have compelled us to be continu[ally] adding to our stock, and many of our Overcoats and Ulsters have been received during the last month.

Every garment is of late style, and many of them are decided novelties.

We call the attention of all wanting Overcoats to the fact that our stock is largest in the West, and is superior in quality, style and excellence of manufactu[re]

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 & and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT. MICHIGA

Sales by Auction.

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE, AND Village Lots at the Village of Alvinston, BY PUBLIC AUCTION.

In the Matter of A. Tytler and J. A. Ross, Insolvents.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL OF-FER for sale by Public Auction, at his office, Albion Buildings, Richmond street, London, on MONDAY, the 5th JANUARY, 1880, at the hour of noon, all the right, title and interest of the above named Insolvents in the undermentioned property, viz:—

1st. The excellent store and premises on Richmond street west, near the Chapter House, occupied by Mr. G. Davison as grocery and fancy goods store.

2nd. Village lots Nos. 10, 11 and 12, south side of Mill street, in the village of Alvinston, county of Lambton.

Terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale.

THOS. CHURCHER, Official Assignee
London, Ont., Dec. 22nd, 1879. Liftoch

XMAS PRESENTS!

Smokers' Sets, Tobacco Jars, Cigar and Cigarette Cases, Cigar and Cigarette Holders, Cigars, Tobacco and Pipes.

ALL TO BE HAD AT

ED. PALMER'S,

165 Dundas street, cor. of Richmond. 1,259

ALEXANDRA COLLEGE,

FOR LADIES,

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO.

Reduction of Rates After Jan. 1, 1880.

TOTAL EXPENSE FOR BOARD, &c., per term of 21 weeks, from Jan. 1 to June 30, only $30, including tuition, use of furniture, tuition, music and professor's. Eleven Professors and Lecturers. Theatre. University examinations. Unsurpassed advantages in music, drawing, painting, and the languages. Calisthenics, physical exercises, prizes, gliding hall, carpets supplied, &c. Degrees conferred in arts and science, with privilege of matriculating in Albert University. For information apply to the President,

REV. J. P. JAQUES, D.D., Ph.D.,
Lfeb Belleville, Ont.

—FOR—

NEW FRUITS

—AND—

CHOICE GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS, AND

Everything Suitable for the Holiday Season

—GO TO—

A. HARDY,

359 Richmond street. Jtuthly

THE ONLY—

GOOD DOLLS

In the City are at

Brunton's Auction Rooms,

Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.

Five and Ten Cent Toys on the Tables, AS USUAL.

Extra Inducements

IN THE WAY OF LOW PRICES AND GOOD WORKMANSHIP.

THOS. PEEL,

Merchant Tailor,

No. 181 DUNDAS ST., 2nd Floor,

HAS OUT THE

BEST ORDERED CLOTH NO DEPARTMENT

IN THE CITY.

I can sell First-Class Clothing to Order Cheaper than any other parties in the trade. Dress Coat a specialty. Remember the place, 181 Dundas street, 2nd floor, opposite Strong's Hotel. Lmonth T. PEEL.

Jewelry, Jewelry,

H. C. FLACH

begs to announce to the citizens of London that she has opened out in the above line at

379 CLARENCE ST.,

and will keep in stock a fine assortment of Watches, Fancy Goods, Toys, &c., at low prices. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Repairing a specialty.

Remember the place, 379 Clarence street.

Jewelry made to order in first-class style.

London, Dec. 18, 1879. eodfn

SKATES

ACME.

BARNEY & BERRY,

UNION HARDWARE CO

Full stock, all sizes and closest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips

Will not crack or harden in coldest weather. Keeps out cold effectly and saves fuel.

T. HERBERT MARSH,

HARDWARE MERCHANT,

181 Dundas St., London.

Great Western Railway

Christmas & New Year's Holidays

RETURN TICKETS will be issued between all Stations on this line for

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS,

On 24th and 25th December, good for return until 31st inst., 1879, and for the

NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAYS,

On 31st inst., 1879, and 1st Jan., 1880, good for return until 7th January, 1880, at

ONE FARE AND A-THIRD.

P. BROUGHTON,
dr stow Gen. Manager.

Grand Trunk Railway.

Christmas and New Year.

Tickets will be issued at

A FARE AND A-THIRD

On the 24th and 25th December, good to return till the 31st December.

Also, on the 31st December and 1st January at the same rate, good to return until the 7th January inclusive.

JOSEPH HICKSON,
Montreal, Dec 11, 1879. General Manager. Lfeb1

NOTICE!

MR. JAMES GLE

long and well known as a Fashionable Merchant Tail[or] city, has transferred his services to the establishme

JOHN M. DENTO

where he will begin to see his old friends and custon[ers] and 372 RICHMOND

HEADQUARTE

—FOR—

Sealed Tenders

Scotch Tweeds and Ordered Clo

GEO. D. SUTHERLAND &

158 Dundas Street,

tuts LONDON, ONT

Special in the Millinery

In our Millinery Department we have made great and are pleased to inform our customers and the pu[blic] generally that we are better prepared than ever with Fashionable Millinery. The latest styles in Hats, and materials used.

In Mantles, Ulsters and Dolmans, no house can We defy competition.

J. H. CHAPMAN &

EATON'S OLD STAND.

Fall & Winter Dry Goods & Clot

LAING & McPHERSON

always noted for desirable goods at low prices, are be[ing] pared this season than ever to show extraordinary bar[gains] Dress Goods, Winceys, Flannels and all Household Stuf[fs]

A large lot of Clouds and Woollens very chea[p]

A fine stock of Tweeds, Cloths and made Cl[othing]

LAING & McPHERSO

South-west Corner Dundas and Richmond streets

New Crockery Store!

—THE—

Mammoth Teapot

Is open to the inspection of the public, and there will be found on hand a complete stock of

Crockery, China, GLASSWARE,

Lamps and Lamp Fixtures

AND FANCY GOODS,

Which the proprietor is bound to slaughter at

Prices Never Before Heard Of

IN LONDON.

A SPECIAL SALE

Will be opened

DURING THE HOLIDAYS

—FOR—

Christmas & New Year's Gifts.

Call at the MAMMOTH TEAPOT & call.

DUNDAS ST.,

Opposite Strong's Hotel.

Lfeb

TURKISH BATHS

Corner King and Waterloo streets,

LONDON - - - - - ONTARIO.

For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, and all Chronic Diseases. An expert and Medical Bath attendant in the Ladies' Department. Medicated and Sulphur Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.

sold DIX, STREET & McLAREN.

MACHINE AND SET

SORE

MACHINE NE

TAPS.

Chucks, Twist Drills, Wheels.

RICE LEWIS & S

tfbs TORO

NOTICE.

J. O. ODD & SON, Builders, beg to their customers and the public that they have removed to a much larger shop, on the corner of Wellington and Bathurst streets, and carry on Building as formerly. Have a first-class staff, and a good supply of well-seasoned

The Free Press.

Thursday, Dec. 25, 1879.

UPERT GODWIN.

...ot the prospect to be seen from the ...dow told her little. She looked out ...n a flat, swampy expanse, across which ...stched a long avenue of poplars—the ...ad, chastely looking trees which she had ...n in the chill morning light as she was ...ken up the house.

...this far distance she saw the river ...wing into the sea. Violet had spent ...hild's life entirely in one neighborhood ...who had little knowledge of the class ...ated England. She had no idea that ...t dead river was the Thames, and that ...tunnty in which she found herself was ...ptral England. She had no idea that ...e

J. M. LONGAN & CO.,
Grocers,
WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS, 145
DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.

Thursday, Dec. 25, 1879.

AT HALIFAX.—Mr. J. W. Little, of the firm of Robinson, Little & Co., of this city, was a passenger by the Allan Line steamer Sarmatian, which arrived at Halifax from Liverpool Tuesday.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. Alfred Ray, Messenger of the Merchants' Bank, was on Tuesday made the recipient of a handsome Christmas present by the officers of the Merchants' Bank.

OBEY THE LAWS.—The Government Inspector for Ontario has instructed the City Clerk to prosecute, without fail, all parties who neglect to report births, deaths and marriages, as required by law.

ENGLISH GEESE.—Messrs. Horner Somerville, of this city, purchased on the market yesterday fifteen large English white geese, which averaged about 18 lbs. each. The fowls attracted a good deal of attention while they were offered.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—The public school examination of School Section No. 5, East Williams, took place on the 19th inst. The trustees and a number of the parents of the children were present. Mr. W. L. Dickson, the teacher, conducted the examination, assisted by the Rev. John Wells, Miss Lovis and Messrs. McTaggart and McDonald. The last named three are ex-teachers. The pupils in the various branches acquitted themselves very creditably. Pithy speeches from the Rev. J. Wells, Messrs. Brown and McTaggart.

FARMERS' MUTUAL PROTECTION.—Last Friday a public meeting was held at Westminster Centre for the purpose of forming a society under the name of the Westminster Protective Union. The association is organized for the mutual protection of the members against thieves, etc., a small annual payment being made by each member. A constitution and by-laws were drawn up and adopted, and the following officers were elected:—Directors, Leonard Odell, John Nixon, John Jones, James Wright, James A. Glen, Richard Whetter, Geo. Riddle, Ry. Anderson, John Nicholson. Mr. Anderson was also elected Secretary-Treasurer until the first annual meeting.

ISSUE BREVIOLORY SOCIETY'S CARDS.—Yesterday afternoon a Committee, composed of Messrs. H. D. Long, President; Dr. Coverdale, Dr. Bigg, Vice-Presidents; Dr. Cooper and A. O'Mara, John Smith, J. M. Keogh and J. D. Sharman, distributed the Christmas cheer of this Society at Covent Garden Market. About 260 persons were relieved, and while those who relish the fare. I am nicely this corn pops," said a young man who was sitting with his sweetheart before the fire. "Yes," she responded demurely, "it's got over being green."

Somebody says plainly enough that a distinction and a difference are by no means alike. "A little destruction" makes a man very happy, "a little difference," especially with one's wife, is apt to make things go very contentiously.

The clergyman in a certain town having, as the custom is, published the banns of matrimony between two persons, he was followed by the clerk's reading the kyrns beginning with these words :—"Deluded souls that dream of heaven!"

In three days of art culture, there are plenty of men who can draw direct from the living model; but the young artist who can draw direct from the pack and fill the receipt-roll of a solitary sou, has a large field and a smiling future before him.

A school teacher, who has just been telling the story of David, winds up with :—"And now, children, remember what I've told you; you are old.

Everyone should commence to rejuvenate his stock of good will for all, in honor of the festival season.

The days begin to lengthen, and according to all the precedents the cold should begin to strengthen.

It is better to wear a poor vest with a royal heart behind it than to wear a royal vest with a beggar's heart inside.

The difference between a barber and a sculptor is very slight. The one curls up and dyes, the other makes faces and busts.

It doesn't hurt a good man to have his character investigated; neither does it hurt a gold coin to try its ring on the counter.

A hot temper will make greater havoc in a household and turn things more completely upside down than a kerosene explosion.

Hamilton proposes to adopt the Holly system of steam heating. The people there are to be congratulated on their good sense.

A lie will die of neglect sooner than in any other way. The only reason why some lies grow so large and stout is that everybody pets and feeds them.

It does not require a telephone to make a sensible person understand that it is wise to take unusual precautions with the stoves during cold weather.

Mrs. James, the widow of G. P. R. James, the novelist, is living at East Claire, Wis. She is now a woman of eighty years, and is cared for by her sons, who are lumbermen.

If a man is dissipated, it is true that he will not live out half his days, but then Hamilton, where he had obtained a situation, when he died from exposure.

The Detroit Free Press says the feat of supplying 50 seats for Haverley's Pinafore Company, which was accomplished in this city the other afternoon, "was never—at least, hardly ever—equalled before." The Americans should understand that Canadians can be depended on every time in cases of emergency.

Mr. H. A. Bascom, of this city, had a narrow escape from instant death about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was going to Hyde Park Barracks with a large piece of ice fell from the roof, and struck the horse's head, being pretty good.—"How B. thinks if he hadn't been insured he would have been struck down.

Twenty-one will lunches, all of them beauties, were displayed at Hawthorn's Retail and Restaurant, Dundas street, yesterday afternoon. They were shot near the line of the Canada Southern Railway, to the west of St. Thomas. Several were sold during the day. Their plumage was gorgeous and sportsmen who inspected them voted the birds the finest they had ever seen.

Mr. J. I. Powers returned to the city, yesterday evening, from New York, where he has been in attendance during the past two weeks on a sick brother—Mr. William H. Powers—who died on Thursday last. The deceased gentleman was well known in this city of our citizens, having spent the greater portion of the summer of 1877 in London as the guest of his brother, while that gentleman was connected with the Tecumseh Base Ball Club.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

CHRISTMAS ANTHEM.

Mothers, mothers that wear the tiring your wreaths to deck the shrine Of the Mother-Maid divine
With her child upon her knee!
Shout your silvery songs of praise
Big and birth of better days.

Children, come! I see overflow
In your glances deep and mild
The adoration of the Child.
Come, your children at the breast,
Lift your pearly-toned songs of praise
For the birth of better days.

Children, come with confidence.
Seek the benediction mild
Of this gentle little Child,
Who was love and innocence!
Loop your guileless songs of praise
For the birth of better days.

Yesterday was something of a dampener upon the skating prospects.

The latest slang has a touch of respectability:—"That's what painted the Quaker."

Don't play with the devil when you are young lest you have to work for him when you are old.

Everyone should commence to rejuvenate his stock of good will for all, in honor of the festival season.

The days begin to lengthen, and according to all the precedents the cold should begin to strengthen.

It is better to wear a poor vest with a royal heart behind it than to wear a royal vest with a beggar's heart inside.

The difference between a barber and a sculptor is very slight. The one curls up and dyes, the other makes faces and busts.

It doesn't hurt a good man to have his character investigated; neither does it hurt a gold coin to try its ring on the counter.

A hot temper will make greater havoc in a household and turn things more completely upside down than a kerosene explosion.

Hamilton proposes to adopt the Holly system of steam heating. The people there are to be congratulated on their good sense.

A lie will die of neglect sooner than in any other way. The only reason why some lies grow so large and stout is that everybody pets and feeds them.

It does not require a telephone to make a sensible person understand that it is wise to take unusual precautions with the stoves during cold weather.

Mrs. James, the widow of G. P. R. James, the novelist, is living at East Claire, Wis. She is now a woman of eighty years, and is cared for by her sons, who are lumbermen.

If a man is dissipated, it is true that he will not live out half his days, but then Hamilton, where he had obtained a situation, when he died from exposure.

The Detroit Free Press says the feat of supplying 50 seats for Haverley's Pinafore Company, which was accomplished in this city the other afternoon, "was never—at least, hardly ever—equalled before." The Americans should understand that Canadians can be depended on every time in cases of emergency.

Mr. H. A. Bascom, of this city, had a narrow escape from instant death about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was going to Hyde Park Barracks with a large piece of ice fell from the roof, and struck the horse's head, being pretty good.—"How B. thinks if he hadn't been insured he would have been struck down.

Twenty-one will lunches, all of them beauties, were displayed at Hawthorn's Retail and Restaurant, Dundas street, yesterday afternoon. They were shot near the line of the Canada Southern Railway, to the west of St. Thomas. Several were sold during the day. Their plumage was gorgeous and sportsmen who inspected them voted the birds the finest they had ever seen.

Mr. J. I. Powers returned to the city, yesterday evening, from New York, where he has been in attendance during the past two weeks on a sick brother—Mr. William H. Powers—who died on Thursday last. The deceased gentleman was well known in this city of our citizens, having spent the greater portion of the summer of 1877 in London as the guest of his brother, while that gentleman was connected with the Tecumseh Base Ball Club.

THE SECRET SOCIETIES.

Names of the Recently Elected Officers.

MASONIC.

The annual convocation of the Companions of St. John's Chapter, No. 8, R. A. M., G. R. C., was held in the Masonic Hall last night. The election of officers resulted as follows :—

Ex.-Comp. William Hawthorn, E.
" " Wm. Ross, H.
" " Thos. G. Lowe, J.
" " John Siddons Smith, S.
" " Wm. McCauley, P. S.
" " J. Smyth, R. A. C.
" " W. Wilks, Treasurer.
" " Wm. Elliott, Scribe.
" " F. J. Stone, Janitor.

After the election, First Principal Hawthorn entertained his Companions at his house, where hearty congratulations were extended to him on his re-election to the highest office in the Chapter.

The annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 81, A. F. and A. M., of Mount Brydges, was held there on Tuesday night last, quite a number of brethren from the city being in attendance. The following brethren were chosen officers for the ensuing year:—

W. Bro. James Gamble, W.M.
" A. Campbell, S. W.
" Robt. Cade, J. W.
" C. Gerrie, Sec.
" N. Thompson, Treas.
" Rev. John Wells, Chap.
" John Elliott, D.
" F. Bartlett, Tyler.

The following officers have been elected for King Hiram Lodge, No. 37, A. F. and A. M., Ingersoll:—

Bro. Robert Yeiton, W. M.
R. W. Bro. C. H. Rawson, I.P.M.
Bro. Newcastle Warren, S. W.
Bro. James Haworth, J. W.
Rev. Bro. T. M. Reid, Chaplain.
R. W. Bro. P. J. Brewe, Treasurer.
Bro. Louis Gregory, Secretary.

ORANGE YOUNG BRITONS.

At the last regular meeting of O. Y. B. Lodge, No. 29, of this city, the following new York court, who testified that a widower, with whom he made a long and vain search for his wife's will, finally proposed that the lawyer should make one. The lawyer said he declined in this instance, but refused to say whether he had ever done it in any other case. It would be hard to imagine a more ingenious way of making business. When there is no will to contest, make one and then break it.

GIVEN AWAY.

Says Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.,
"If you must smoke, dear,
But then I know you cannot see
This soon in your bath tub."

"Oh! thank you, dear!" says Mrs. B.,
"You're very kind to speak;
How could it get there, Let me see—
Oh, yes! the cats last week."

The table tapping craze, though rough,
Don't give yourself away
By saying more than just enough,
And table on every day.

There is in Heidelberg a very curious old church. It was once a Catholic Church, but now it is both Catholic and Protestant. It is divided into two parts, neighbours, and on Sundays the one-half is occupied by Romanists, while in the other a Presbyterian service is held. Under one roof are Catholic, Presbyterians, Lutherans and Old Catholics. What must worry wishes that the church were large enough for all denominations everywhere to worship in, and that each worshipper might forget his "isms" or his "oxy," and remember the one only important fact, that he is a Christian.

WHISTLE THE OLD-TIME TUNES.

Whistle us something old, you know
Pucker your mouth with the old-time twist,
And whistle the jigs of the long ago.
Or the old love ballads we used to whist—
Whistle us that old tune that we oft averred
Was a little the oldest thing we'd heard
Since the "bob-tailed nag was a frisky colt,"
In the babbling days of old "Ben Bolt."

Whistle to us something old and gray—
Some toothless tune of the bygone years—
Some bald old song that limps to day,
With a walking-stick this vale of tears.
Whistle a stave of the good old days
Ere the fur stood up in a thousand ways
On the listener's pelt as he ripped and tore,
And dashe-dee-dash shaked "Pinafore."

A Quaker shopkeeper once met a Quaker customer of his going home with her bundles. He had been absent from his place, and had a notion in his wise head that she had been trading with a rival for whom he had not much love. "How much did thee give a yard for this, Mary? One dollar! Why, I am surprised at thee! I could let thee have it for 75 cents. And how much for this? Two dollars! Why, that was unreasonable; I could have let thee have it for $1.50. Why will thee go away trading with strangers and world's people, Mary?" "I don't know what thee is talking about, friend John," she said, "but I did buy these things at thy store, and if thee says the truth, thee must owe me considerable money."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Holmans present "H. M. S. Pinafore" to the good people of Stratford this evening.

A turkey shooting match is announced to take place at Brimmend's Hotel, Clark's bridge, this forenoon.

Mr. Hamilton Corbett opens at Victoria Hall this evening in one of his "merry musical entertainments."

Frank Hall, of Westminster, has been remanded until Friday by Squire Peters for stealing five turkeys from John Burns, of Nissouri, six weeks since.

Mr. W. K. Muir, of Detroit, a gentleman well-known to many Londoners, has been confirmed as Park Commissioner for two years by the Mayor and Council of Detroit.

Mr. William O'Connor, one mathematical teacher at the Collegiate Institute, has sent in his resignation, giving as a reason that he has accepted, or is about to accept, the Head Mastership of another scholastic institution.

"Christmas Cheer," in the shape of free lunch, is to be dispensed by the proprietors of the "St. Nicholas," "The Office," "The Albion," "Hawthorn's," and the "West End" Restaurants to their patrons this forenoon.

The Berger Family, assisted by Mr. Sidney Burt, give one of their unique entertainments at the Opera House this evening. They give one of the finest of performances, and should be greeted by a large audience.

Messrs. Manville & Brown sold the insolvent stock of Mr. James Glen at auction yesterday afternoon for 50¼ cents on the dollar. Mr. R. Broderick, of this city, was the purchaser. The goods were valued at $2,000.

Mr. James Rowntree, the present proprietor of Charley Brown's Saloon, on the market, dealt out a Christmas feed to the grain buyers and others at his dining rooms yesterday morning. The spread was first-class and heartily enjoyed.

In accordance with the suggestion thrown out in these columns, the Post Office authorities have ordered the erection of an office, at the north end of the building, for the accommodation of Mr. B. Dawson, who has been commissioned as postal stamps there.

Mr. Bryce's toy store, near the Federal Bank, was so crowded with customers last evening that he was forced to look his doors three different times in order to serve them. In consequence, he purposes keeping both his places open from 9 a. m. to 13 noon to-day.

Andrew Hunter, who was found in an outhouse on the premises of Richard Tracey, of West Oxford, recently, and died a few hours afterwards, was formerly a resident of London and was on his way to Dakota, where he had obtained a situation, when he died from exposure.

The Detroit Free Press says the feat of supplying 50 seats for Haverley's Pinafore Company, which was accomplished in this city the other afternoon, "was never—at least, hardly ever—equalled before." The Americans should understand that Canadians can be depended on every time in cases of emergency.

Mr. H. A. Bascom, of this city, had a narrow escape from instant death about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was going to Hyde Park Barracks with a large piece of ice fell from the roof, and struck the horse's head, being pretty good.—"How B. thinks if he hadn't been insured he would have been struck down.

Twenty-one will lunches, all of them beauties, were displayed at Hawthorn's Retail and Restaurant, Dundas street, yesterday afternoon. They were shot near the line of the Canada Southern Railway, to the west of St. Thomas. Several were sold during the day. Their plumage was gorgeous and sportsmen who inspected them voted the birds the finest they had ever seen.

Mr. J. I. Powers returned to the city, yesterday evening, from New York, where he has been in attendance during the past two weeks on a sick brother—Mr. William H. Powers—who died on Thursday last. The deceased gentleman was well known in this city of our citizens, having spent the greater portion of the summer of 1877 in London as the guest of his brother, while that gentleman was connected with the Tecumseh Base Ball Club.

THE SECRET SOCIETIES.

Names of the Recently Elected Officers.

MASONIC.

The annual convocation of the Companions of St. John's Chapter, No. 8, R. A. M., G. R. C., was held in the Masonic Hall last night. The election of officers resulted as follows :—

Ex.-Comp. William Hawthorn, E.
" " Wm. Ross, H.
" " Thos. G. Lowe, J.
" " John Siddons Smith, S.
" " Wm. McCauley, P. S.
" " J. Smyth, R. A. C.
" " W. Wilks, Treasurer.
" " Wm. Elliott, Scribe.
" " F. J. Stone, Janitor.

After the election, First Principal Hawthorn entertained his Companions at his house, where hearty congratulations were extended to him on his re-election to the highest office in the Chapter.

The annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 81, A. F. and A. M., of Mount Brydges, was held there on Tuesday night last, quite a number of brethren from the city being in attendance. The following brethren were chosen officers for the ensuing year:—

W. Bro. James Gamble, W.M.
" A. Campbell, S. W.
" Robt. Cade, J. W.
" C. Gerrie, Sec.
" N. Thompson, Treas.
" Rev. John Wells, Chap.
" John Elliott, D.
" F. Bartlett, Tyler.

The following officers have been elected for King Hiram Lodge, No. 37, A. F. and A. M., Ingersoll:—

Bro. Robert Yeiton, W. M.
R. W. Bro. C. H. Rawson, I.P.M.
Bro. Newcastle Warren, S. W.
Bro. James Haworth, J. W.
Rev. Bro. T. M. Reid, Chaplain.
R. W. Bro. P. J. Brewe, Treasurer.
Bro. Louis Gregory, Secretary.

ORANGE YOUNG BRITONS.

At the last regular meeting of O. Y. B. Lodge, No. 29, of this city, the following new York court, who testified that a widower, with whom he made a long and vain search for his wife's will, finally proposed that the lawyer should make one. The lawyer said he declined in this instance, but refused to say whether he had ever done it in any other case. It would be hard to imagine a more ingenious way of making business. When there is no will to contest, make one and then break it.

GIVEN AWAY.

Says Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.,
"If you must smoke, dear:
But then I know you cannot see
This soon in your bath tub."

"Oh! thank you, dear!" says Mrs. B.,
"You're very kind to speak;
How could it get there, Let me see—
Oh, yes! the cats last week."

The table tapping craze, though rough,
Don't give yourself away
By saying more than just enough,
And table on every day.

There is in Heidelberg a very curious old church. It was once a Catholic Church, but now it is both Catholic and Protestant. It is divided into two parts, neighbours, and on Sundays the one-half is occupied by Romanists, while in the other a Presbyterian service is held. Under one roof are Catholic, Presbyterians, Lutherans and Old Catholics. What must worry wishes that the church were large enough for all denominations everywhere to worship in, and that each worshipper might forget his "isms" or his "oxy," and remember the one only important fact, that he is a Christian.

WHISTLE THE OLD-TIME TUNES.

Whistle us something old, you know
Pucker your mouth with the old-time twist,
And whistle the jigs of the long ago.
Or the old love ballads we used to whist—
Whistle us that old tune that we oft averred
Was a little the oldest thing we'd heard
Since the "bob-tailed nag was a frisky colt,"
In the babbling days of old "Ben Bolt."

Whistle to us something old and gray—
Some toothless tune of the bygone years—
Some bald old song that limps to day,
With a walking-stick this vale of tears.
Whistle a stave of the good old days
Ere the fur stood up in a thousand ways
On the listener's pelt as he ripped and tore,
And dashe-dee-dash shaked "Pinafore."

A Quaker shopkeeper once met a Quaker customer of his going home with her bundles. He had been absent from his place, and had a notion in his wise head that she had been trading with a rival for whom he had not much love. "How much did thee give a yard for this, Mary? One dollar! Why, I am surprised at thee! I could let thee have it for 75 cents. And how much for this? Two dollars! Why, that was unreasonable; I could have let thee have it for $1.50. Why will thee go away trading with strangers and world's people, Mary?" "I don't know what thee is talking about, friend John," she said, "but I did buy these things at thy store, and if thee says the truth, thee must owe me considerable money."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Holmans present "H. M. S. Pinafore" to the good people of Stratford this evening.

A turkey shooting match is announced to take place at Brimmend's Hotel, Clark's bridge, this forenoon.

Mr. Hamilton Corbett opens at Victoria Hall this evening in one of his "merry musical entertainments."

Frank Hall, of Westminster, has been remanded until Friday by Squire Peters for stealing five turkeys from John Burns, of Nissouri, six weeks since.

Mr. W. K. Muir, of Detroit, a gentleman well-known to many Londoners, has been confirmed as Park Commissioner for two years by the Mayor and Council of Detroit.

Mr. William O'Connor, one mathematical teacher at the Collegiate Institute, has sent in his resignation, giving as a reason that he has accepted, or is about to accept, the Head Mastership of another scholastic institution.

"Christmas Cheer," in the shape of free lunch, is to be dispensed by the proprietors of the "St. Nicholas," "The Office," "The Albion," "Hawthorn's," and the "West End" Restaurants to their patrons this forenoon.

The Berger Family, assisted by Mr. Sidney Burt, give one of their unique entertainments at the Opera House this evening. They give one of the finest of performances, and should be greeted by a large audience.

Messrs. Manville & Brown sold the insolvent stock of Mr. James Glen at auction yesterday afternoon for 50¼ cents on the dollar. Mr. R. Broderick, of this city, was the purchaser. The goods were valued at $2,000.

Mr. James Rowntree, the present proprietor of Charley Brown's Saloon, on the market, dealt out a Christmas feed to the grain buyers and others at his dining rooms yesterday morning. The spread was first-class and heartily enjoyed.

In accordance with the suggestion thrown out in these columns, the Post Office authorities have ordered the erection of an office, at the north end of the building, for the accommodation of Mr. B. Dawson, who has been commissioned as postal stamps there.

Mr. Bryce's toy store, near the Federal Bank, was so crowded with customers last evening that he was forced to look his doors three different times in order to serve them. In consequence, he purposes keeping both his places open from 9 a. m. to 13 noon to-day.

Andrew Hunter, who was found in an outhouse on the premises of Richard Tracey, of West Oxford, recently, and died a few hours afterwards, was formerly a resident of London and was on his way to Dakota, where he had obtained a situation, when he died from exposure.

The Detroit Free Press says the feat of supplying 50 seats for Haverley's Pinafore Company, which was accomplished in this city the other afternoon, "was never—at least, hardly ever—equalled before." The Americans should understand that Canadians can be depended on every time in cases of emergency.

Mr. H. A. Bascom, of this city, had a narrow escape from instant death about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was going to Hyde Park Barracks with a large piece of ice fell from the roof, and struck the horse's head, being pretty good.—"How B. thinks if he hadn't been insured he would have been struck down.

Twenty-one will lunches, all of them beauties, were displayed at Hawthorn's Retail and Restaurant, Dundas street, yesterday afternoon. They were shot near the line of the Canada Southern Railway, to the west of St. Thomas. Several were sold during the day. Their plumage was gorgeous and sportsmen who inspected them voted the birds the finest they had ever seen.

Mr. J. I. Powers returned to the city, yesterday evening, from New York, where he has been in attendance during the past two weeks on a sick brother—Mr. William H. Powers—who died on Thursday last. The deceased gentleman was well known in this city of our citizens, having spent the greater portion of the summer of 1877 in London as the guest of his brother, while that gentleman was connected with the Tecumseh Base Ball Club.

THE SECRET SOCIETIES.

Names of the Recently Elected Officers.

MASONIC.

The annual convocation of the Companions of St. John's Chapter, No. 8, R. A. M., G. R. C., was held in the Masonic Hall last night. The election of officers resulted as follows :—

Ex.-Comp. William Hawthorn, E.
" " Wm. Ross, H.
" " Thos. G. Lowe, J.
" " John Siddons Smith, S.
" " Wm. McCauley, P. S.
" " J. Smyth, R. A. C.
" " W. Wilks, Treasurer.
" " Wm. Elliott, Scribe.
" " F. J. Stone, Janitor.

After the election, First Principal Hawthorn entertained his Companions at his house, where hearty congratulations were extended to him on his re-election to the highest office in the Chapter.

The annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 81, A. F. and A. M., of Mount Brydges, was held there on Tuesday night last, quite a number of brethren from the city being in attendance. The following brethren were chosen officers for the ensuing year:—

W. Bro. James Gamble, W.M.
" A. Campbell, S. W.
" Robt. Cade, J. W.
" C. Gerrie, Sec.
" N. Thompson, Treas.
" Rev. John Wells, Chap.
" John Elliott, D.
" F. Bartlett, Tyler.

The following officers have been elected for King Hiram Lodge, No. 37, A. F. and A. M., Ingersoll:—

Bro. Robert Yeiton, W. M.
R. W. Bro. C. H. Rawson, I.P.M.
Bro. Newcastle Warren, S. W.
Bro. James Haworth, J. W.
Rev. Bro. T. M. Reid, Chaplain.
R. W. Bro. P. J. Brewe, Treasurer.
Bro. Louis Gregory, Secretary.

ORANGE YOUNG BRITONS.

At the last regular meeting of O. Y. B. Lodge, No. 29, of this city, the following new York court, who testified that a widower, with whom he made a long and vain search for his wife's will, finally proposed that the lawyer should make one. The lawyer said he declined in this instance, but refused to say whether he had ever done it in any other case. It would be hard to imagine a more ingenious way of making business. When there is no will to contest, make one and then break it.

GIVEN AWAY.

Says Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.,
"If you must smoke, dear:
But then I know you cannot see
This soon in your bath tub."

"Oh! thank you, dear!" says Mrs. B.,
"You're very kind to speak;
How could it get there, Let me see—
Oh, yes! the cats last week."

The table tapping craze, though rough,
Don't give yourself away
By saying more than just enough,
And table on every day.

There is in Heidelberg a very curious old church. It was once a Catholic Church, but now it is both Catholic and Protestant. It is divided into two parts, neighbours, and on Sundays the one-half is occupied by Romanists, while in the other a Presbyterian service is held. Under one roof are Catholic, Presbyterians, Lutherans and Old Catholics. What must worry wishes that the church were large enough for all denominations everywhere to worship in, and that each worshipper might forget his "isms" or his "oxy," and remember the one only important fact, that he is a Christian.

WHISTLE THE OLD-TIME TUNES.

Whistle us something old, you know
Pucker your mouth with the old-time twist,
And whistle the jigs of the long ago.
Or the old love ballads we used to whist—
Whistle us that old tune that we oft averred
Was a little the oldest thing we'd heard
Since the "bob-tailed nag was a frisky colt,"
In the babbling days of old "Ben Bolt."

Whistle to us something old and gray—
Some toothless tune of the bygone years—
Some bald old song that limps to day,
With a walking-stick this vale of tears.
Whistle a stave of the good old days
Ere the fur stood up in a thousand ways
On the listener's pelt as he ripped and tore,
And dashe-dee-dash shaked "Pinafore."

A Quaker shopkeeper once met a Quaker customer of his going home with her bundles. He had been absent from his place, and had a notion in his wise head that she had been trading with a rival for whom he had not much love. "How much did thee give a yard for this, Mary? One dollar! Why, I am surprised at thee! I could let thee have it for 75 cents. And how much for this? Two dollars! Why, that was unreasonable; I could have let thee have it for $1.50. Why will thee go away trading with strangers and world's people, Mary?" "I don't know what thee is talking about, friend John," she said, "but I did buy these things at thy store, and if thee says the truth, thee must owe me considerable money."

London East Municipal Matters.

Meeting in Mr. Adams' Interest Last Night.

A largely-attended meeting of the electors of London East was held in the Rectory street School House last night. Mr. J. Ardill was chosen chairman and opened the meeting with a brief address, concluding by calling upon

Mr. A. M. Ross to address those present. The gentleman was heartily received. After eulogizing the personal character of Mr. S. A. Adams, one of the candidates for the Township, Mr. Ross referred to the financial position of the village, and to the fact that the finances were derived from the manufacturer and the working man, and in the latter instance the money was hard-earned, and should be spent judiciously. (Applause.) We had in the hands of our Treasurer over $900, while, at the same time, we were paying interest to the Federal Bank for loans. Mr. Waterman denied this, but the auditors' report confirmed the speaker's statement. Mr. Waterman stated that there was no necessity for incorporating the village, and that it would be suicidal to dissolve partnership with the county. The latter was not necessary, but the village would not be injured if such a course was taken. Strathroy survived the shock, and had progressed afterwards. Allusion was then made to the personalities indulged in at the recent meeting in the Town Hall, and to the insulting language uttered by the Reeve against a respectable citizen; for stating the truth, as he understood it, after which Mr. Ross asked if the auditors' statement should not be taken as correct, in preference to any verbal statement. He considered the action of the Reeve in regard to waterworks as high-handed and the procedure in connecting Chewwith as contrary to his duties as Reeve. It was by the vote of the people and not by the votes of three members that an important question like water - works should be disposed of. (Laughter.) He believed a change in the Township was necessary, and consequently favored Mr. Adams' candidature. If that gentleman did not suit them, at the end of next year they could very easily displace him. He resumed his seat amid applause.

Mr. E. A. Adams was the next speaker. He thanked those present for the hearty reception tendered him, and felt that it betokened the kindly interest they were going to undertake in his behalf. (Applause.) Mr. Muir had stated that he had never given a manly vote, and had never spoken his own sentiments at the Council, etc. This he (Mr. Adams) denounced as false. He had attended every meeting of the Council, and had never shirked a vote while there. He did not think Mr. Waterman's action in relation to the water-works was satisfactory in the manner in which the chairman of the Board of Works had done his duty, and the unequal distribution of the public money. As for himself, he would do in the future as he had in the past—try his best to have the southern portion of the village get its portion of improvements. (Cheers.) He advocated the construction of additional sidewalks, etc., in that section of the village, as some parts stood sadly in need of them. After referring to the issues which had cropped out during the campaign, and thanking the electors of the south for the noble way in which they had stood by him on a former occasion, he resumed his seat amidst applause.

Mr. Chas. Lilley, one of the aspirants for the First Deputy-Reeveship, was next called upon. He explained that Mr. Bartlett and him had agreed not to oppose each other some time ago, but when he found that Mr. Bartlett had gone around with a petition asking Mr. Belton to come out in opposition to him (Mr. Lilley) as Second Deputy-Reeve, he considered he had a perfect right to do as he had done, and was now a candidate for the First Deputy-Reeveship. The appointment of the Reeve at the late meeting in regard to the finances of the village was also taken by Reeve and was unfavorably received by Mr. McNeil, one of the auditors. He did not accuse the Reeve of appropriating any of the funds to his own use, but he did accuse him of making false returns. He characterized Mr. Waterman's conduct at the late meeting as unbecoming a gentleman, and thought such action would not be upheld by the electors of London East. He would rather not be elected than have to sit with the present Reeve after such unseemly conduct.

Mr. Toll said he was a candidate for the Council, and would do his best, if elected, for the village. He eulogized Mr. Adams as a gentleman well qualified for the position of Reeve.

Mr. Elliott, a member of the Council, also spoke in favor of Mr. Adams, and was followed by Messrs. Laidlaw, Moloney and Giles to a similar effect, after which the meeting broke up.

LONDON EAST NOTES.

Wednesday afternoon.

There is no truth whatever in the rumor published in a city contemporary, that Reeve Waterman has presented the married employes of the Car Works with a turkey each. Such an act under the circumstances would be an insult to the workingmen in question.

At the regular meeting of Court Forest City, 5744, A. O. F., last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—W. Whitehall, C. R.; L. Berry, S. C. R.; R. Quick, Treas.; P. Toll (re-elected), Rec.; E. Hobbs, S. W.; T. C. Wright, J. W.; H. Fugleigh, G. B.; W. Lamberton, J. B.; Dr. Shrosh (re-elected), Phy.; W. G. Smith, Sub-Sec.

The Mayoralty.

Mr. L. C. Leonard has retired from the mayoralty contest, owing mainly to ill health and inability to properly pursue the canvass. When this became generally known yesterday, a caucus of interested citizens received to solicit Messrs. A. McCormick, Ald. Campbell and J. B. Smyth to throw themselves into the breach, but the result of their interview is yet under a cloud of doubt. This much is certain, the opponents of Mr. Mitchinson will not, if possible, permit his election by acclamation, and a contest is therefore very probable. Mr. Leonard's resolution was a matter of regret to his friends and a source of great surprise to his opponents.

In an interview with Mr. McCormick, that gentleman said he was undecided as to the action he should take. He would willingly accept the position, but felt that it meant next thing to ruination to his business. Under these circumstances he would not make a definite statement.

Ald. J. Campbell said he most emphatically declined the candidature offered by his friends.

Ex-Ald. J. B. Smith, would say neither "yes" nor "no," as his decision altogether depended upon the conduct of his friends and the chances of success.

...Six boys at Hennepin, Iowa, organized as bandits, on a plan suggested by a thrilling novel which they had read. They could not find a natural cave, and therefore dug one in the side of a hill. Their first exploit was to rob all the clothes lines of the neighborhood on a wash-day night. Great excitement ensued, and several innocent tramps were arrested, but the mystery was explained when, on the following night, the young sunkerz thieves stole a horse and wagon, and were caught taking a load of the clothes to the nearest city.

OYSTERS.—Until further notice I will retail fresh raw Oysters at 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c and 40c per can, and wholesale to the trade at 13c, 15c, 18c and 20c per can. All warranted fresh and good, or money refunded. All fruit in season. At R. MOUNTJOY'S, Opposite City Hall.

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 40cts. to 60cts. per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets union carpets, stair carpets and stair rods borders and rugs to match carpets; ocoa and sesside matting, English oil cloth, 24 feet wide 75cts. to $1.25 per yard; mattresses, feather beds and pillows; carpets matched and tacked free of charge; damask, plush and lace curtains and every other article suitable for furnishing houses. A large stock of general dry goods always on hand. Call before purchasing.

H. DUNDAS STREET. S. B. MURRAY & CO. 128 Carling Street. Lilly

CHRISTMAS TIDE.

The Recollections it Revives

Of the Simple Cheer and Rustic Joys of Canada's Early Days.

There is something in human nature which drives to reflect, to cast a mental glance back into the past, and just now, when families are gathering together, and memories are being revived around the proverbial fireside, this faculty is exercised to a greater extent than perhaps at any other time. It will, therefore, be seasonable to briefly remind our readers of what the sturdy pioneers of primitive London were doing towards the beginning of the present century. And how they spent the Christmas holidays. "Holidays" is not exactly the right word, as it would seem to have but little significance to those whose surroundings were the grand old maple and the oak, instead of the bustle of commerce and the busy street; but we use it. To-day we look out upon a city resplendent with snowy-tipped spires, and marked by the monster hand-prints of advancement. Sixty years ago their type fell only upon an almost unbroken forest, and the smoke of the settler's cabin as it leisurely curled from the rude old chimney in the distance. We contrast the pictures, and feel grateful that over half a century separates us from the privations of those grand old men who laid the foundation of our proud and prosperous city. Yet who shall say they were not happy, or that Christmas to them did not mean as much as it does to us?

From one of the oldest inhabitants in the city, whose memory of what was told him supplies what he did not see, a FREE PRESS reporter ascertained something of the Christmas customs prevailing during the early portion of the 19th Century. To many they are known. It is hardly necessary to say that long distances and unbroken forest roads necessarily limited the farmer's associations to perhaps one or two neighbors the long winter through. But with an ample stock of provisions for his family and provender for the oxen, and a huge pile of wood at the door, the snowy months were whirled past, and the spring was ushered in with all the novelty and excitement of "logging bee" and work in accident to breaking up new land. With the recollection of their days in the Mother Land, they were instinctively prompted to make Christmas a special day out of the three hundred and sixty-five; and the ingenuity developed in the endeavor to create some new source of amusement around the old log fire-place, would never be fit these days, where the difficulty lies in making a selection from the bewildering array of Christmas gifts, scenes and otherwise. When the weather and roads permitted a number would gathered together, and around the steaming roast venison or turkey, talked over the happy days of the past, and the prospects of the future. In some cases, though rarely in the earliest days, a small parker was sacrificed to the desire to do something unusual, and occupied a life-like position on the rude but massive sideboard. On one occasion of prime fat animals. Butter, eggs and all the other sins, which go to make a first-class Christmas market equal to demand.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

Quotations are the correct quotations for London Stocks at noon.

London, Dec. 24.

No.	NAME.	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
$20	Agricultural		111½	113½
50	Canadian		120	130
50	Dominion		160	175
100	English Loan		105	105
40	Financial Ass. of Can.		102	105
50	do do pref.		101	103
50	Hamilton and Ont.		100	104
50	London Loan		100	108
50	Ontario		120	125
50	Royal Standard		102	103
50	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
	Free Press Pty'g Co		101
	London Gas		150
	London Life		99	90
	Real Estate Assoc'n		100
	Street Railway		105

Montreal Stocks — Dec. 24.
10 O'CLOCK a.m.

	Asked.	Offered.
Bank of Montreal	180	178
Merchants' Bank	94	93½
Bank of Commerce	117½	117½
Ontario Bank	93	90½
Bank of Toronto	160	158
Molsons Bank	93	90
Union Bank	100	98
People's Bank	75	74
Canada Landed Credit	90

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Orders from the trade respectfully solicited.

The Free

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., SATURDAY, DECEMBER [illegible], 1879. WHOLE NO. 6979

Birth.

On the 20th inst., at 145 Kent street, the wife of A. L. McMullen, of a son.

In Ingersoll, 20th inst., the wife of Mr William Sutherland, bookkeeper at N. Y. Mills & Bro.'s, of a son.

In Dorchester, 20th inst., the wife of J. N. Smith, of a son.

In Strathroy, on the morning of 22nd December, 1879, the wife of J. Clevardon, Esq., of a son.

Married.

In Tuppole, on the 24th December, by Rev D. J. Macdonell, of St Andrew's, John M. Wilson, painter, of Toronto, son of Wm Wilson, M.D., C.M., of Carleton Place, to Miss Lizzie Falvey, of Hamilton.

At the residence of the bride's father, Kingston, on the 24th inst., by the Rev Canon Innes, Robert Flock, of Detroit, to Louisa, only daughter of Peter Tinsley, Esq.

At Exeter, on Thursday, 25th Dec, by Rev G. A. Mitchell, B.A., Mr H. Powell to Miss M. E. Louis, all of Exeter, Ont.

On the 24th inst., at 155 Wellington street, St Thomas, by the Rev Rhinier Hurle, B.A., cousin of the bride, Mr Robt. Parrett, builder, to Miss Sarah Jane, eldest daughter of Mr Thomas Hall, all of St Thomas.

On the 24th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Kingston, by the Rev Manly Benson, to the First Methodist Church on Wednesday, 24th instant, Cupid Hunter H. Greer, C.S.I., to Miss M. A. Smithbold, all of St Thomas.

By the Rev Manly Benson, in the Victoria Methodist Church, on the 23rd inst., Mr S. W. Macmillan, Church, to Miss Ella Ryan, both of Kingsmill.

At Stratford, on the 23rd inst., by the Rev J. Patterson, M.A., R.D., Mr Christopher McLellan, of the Grand Trunk Railway, Stratford, and Annie, daughter of Thomas Hall, Esq., of Waterloo, Manchester, England.

At Grove of Southwold, on the 25th ult., by Rev Ben Sutherland, Duncan McKinlay, Esq., of Caledonia McLaughlin, daughter of the late Mr Archibald McLaughlin.

At the M. E. Church, Strathroy, on Wednesday, the 17th, 1879, by the Rev J. Valentine, Mr Cyrus Stake, to Miss Emma Baughart, both of Strathroy.

At the residence of Mr J. H. O'Neil, Strathroy, on the 10th Dec, 1879, by the Rev A. C. Hill, P.M., Mr D. McKellar, of Dorset county, Kansas, to Miss Mary O'Neil, of Petrolia, Ont.

At the Manse, Aroulton, by the Rev John K. Hinton, Mr Henry B. Rennoir, of Mechlinvary, to Miss Elizabeth M. Pinkard, of Fullarton.

At the Methodist parsonage, Sarnia, on the 23rd instant, by the Rev W. C. Henderson, M.A., Mr David S. Young to Miss Alice Sheppard, both of the township of Sombra.

Died.

On Argyle street, East Williams, on the 18th inst., Mrs McLean.

On Tuesday, 16th inst., John Morrison, of the 15th con West Williams, aged 67.

On the 15th inst., at her residence, Morris street, West Oxford, of cancer of the bowels, Elizabeth, beloved wife of Mr W. H. Gane, in the 51st year of her age.

In Ingersoll, 23rd inst., William Dow, son of Mr Isaac Sutherland, bookkeeper at N. Y. Mills & Bro., aged 2 years, 6 months and 10 days.

In North Oxford, 17th inst., Sarah, daughter of Thomas C. May, aged 9 years and 8 months.

In St Thomas, on the 23rd inst., Mr Hugh Donally, aged 57 years.

At St Mary's Amherst, Windsor, on December 20, Rose A., youngest daughter of Charlotte and the late John Montreuil, aged 20 years, 1 month and 27 days.

In Anderdon, on December 21st, diphtheria, Maggie daughter of Mr Paul Marazzi, aged 6 years.

In Amherstburg, on December 22nd, Josephine, wife of Mr John Macalvie, jr., aged 25 years.

In the township of Bentinck, on the residence of her son-in-law, Mr Neill, Mrs Jane Thom, aged 78 years, 9 months and 7 days, a native of Haddington, Scotland, and formerly a resident of the township of Dalhousie, County of Lanark.

In Clearville, on the 15th inst, Miss Jane Morrank, daughter of Mr Daniel McCrank, aged 26 years.

In St Thomas, on the 22nd inst, Mr Thomas Donally, aged 57 years.

DR. ORONHYATEKHA.
Office, 260 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall. Special attention given to Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. Office hours: from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. Residence, 633 Dundas street, opposite to Waterman's Grove.

AMUSEMENTS.

POPULAR DIME—MECHANICS' HALL, Saturday Evening. "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Fancy presents, and six special presents. Prices as usual. 1261

MEETINGS.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE Women's C.T. Union will be held in Victoria Hall on Tuesday, 30th Dec., at 3 p.m. Business:—Arrangements for Mission School Entertainment, to be held in City Hall, Friday, Jan. 2nd. Donations of Cake will be gratefully received on Friday forenoon, at the residence of T. Morrish, Queen's avenue. tf

"BY THE GRAVES OF 1879"—A discourse on William Lloyd Garrison, Elihu Burritt, Lord Lawrence, Jacob Abbott, the colonizers at Issandlua, &c., who have fallen during the year. Congregational Church, Dec. 30th, 8.15 p.m.

BAPTIST CHURCH, CORNER of York and Talbot streets. A. Grant, Pastor. Morning services, 11 o'clock; evening services, 7 o'clock. Sunday School 2.45 p.m. Enquirers welcomed at pastor's residence, 75 York street. 1259

ODDFELLOWS, ATTENTION!—Every member of Forest City Lodge should attend next Monday evening, the 29th, at 7.30, to witness the wonderful living curiosity to be then and there seen free of charge. Don't fail to come, as it may be the last exhibition of the name and for years. 261

MASONIC SERMON.—A SERMON will be preached to the Masons of Stratford on Sunday evening, Dec. 28th, by Rev. Bro. Hughes, in the Congregational Church. All are cordially invited to be present.—T. E. Sarson, D.G.M. G.R.O. tf

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS, 1879. Notice is hereby given that a public meeting of the electors of the Village of London East will be held in the Town Hall, on Monday, Dec. 29th, 1879, at noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of Reeve, First and Second Deputy-Reeves and two Councillors for the year 1880. A. Isaac, Clerk.
London East, Dec. 19th, 1879. 1263ls

ST. JOHN'S DAY, 1879.—The installation of the officers of the various Masonic Lodges will take place on Saturday, 27th instant, in Masonic Hall, Richmond street, at 2 p.m. the D.D.G.M. officiating. Full attendance requested. On the following Sunday, 28th, the brethren will assemble at Masonic Hall, at 2 p.m., for church parade. Forming into procession, will march to St James' Church, where Rev. Bro. Whitaker will be gratified by the presence of the brethren, are requested to meet Rev. Bro. At close of sermon a collection will be taken up in aid of the Masonic Benevolent Fund.—Per Mandate, Per Sig. 56, Sec. Joint Committees of Arrangements.
London, Dec 16, 1879. 261

SERMON TO THE YOUNG.—The Rev. Dr. Proudfoot will preach a special sermon to the young, in Clarence Street Presbyterian Church, on Sunday afternoon (to-morrow) at 3 o'clock. Special collection for Sunday School. tf

SPECIAL SERVICES, ST. ANDREW'S Church, Sunday, 28th inst., Rev. J. A. Murray, Pastor.—After morning service, at 11 o'clock, the induction of the recently-elected Elders will take place. In the afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a special sermon to the young will be preached, instead of the usual quarterly review of the Sabbath School. At 7 o'clock p.m., the closing sermon of the year, with service suitable to the occasion. The public cordially invited to all the services. tf

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE Rideau St. P. C. Church Sabbath School to-morrow.—Rev. J. C. Ross will preach in the morning. Parlor in the evening. Open meeting of S.S. in afternoon. Collection on behalf of the School at each service. Special programme by the children on Monday evening at [illegible]. Come and enjoy. tf

UNION MEETINGS.—THE REVIVAL Committee who have been acting in connect with Mr Hammond have decided to continue these meetings. All the members and Christian workers are hereby invited to co-operate, the first meeting to be held on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock in Victoria Hall. Evening meeting in the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church at 7.30. Come. f

Y. M. C. A.—YOUNG MEN'S praise and prayer meeting, Victoria Hall at 8 o'clock. Sabbath morning at 9 o'clock, for all who come. Temperance mass meeting on Sabbath at 3 p.m. No evening meeting. f

SERVANTS WANTED.

WANTED, 2 HOUSE-KEEPERS, 6 cooks, 12 general servants, 9 housemaids, 6 servants for Ingersoll, 3 for St Thomas, 2 for Aylmer, 2 for Stratford, also a gardener wanted, at Jno Cousens's Intelligence Office, 96 Dundas street, London. tf

SITUATIONS VACANT.

A FIRST-CLASS DRY GOODS Salesman wanted.—Apply to Lang & Masson. 1262

BAKER WANTED—A SINGLE man, capable of taking charge of a bake shop.—Lock Box 9 G, London, Ont. 1260

DANCING.

DAYTON'S DANCING ACADEMY, 199 Dundas street. Gents' class every Saturday, at 2 p.m. Second term opens Tuesday, Jan 6th. Twelve lessons, $4. Fashionable round dances a specialty.—G. Dayton, Professor. y

For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
—AND—
HOLIDAY GOODS,
—TRY—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
326 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows' Hall.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANYONE SENDING CORRECT ANSWERS to the Protestant Illustrated Christmas Tree, would greatly oblige by sending them on Saturday or Monday, either to Mr Masten, 439 Colborne street, or to the Home Journal office, as we expect in the House 16 men, 14 women, 41 boys and 18 girls. 1258

HORNE SKATING RINK EULPHUR Bath Green's, 508 Dundas street, is now open. Ice in fine condition. Skates to rent (in the Rink—A. Keary, proprietor. 1259

BEAUTIFUL! MORE BEAUTIFUL!! MOST BEAUTIFUL!!!—One dozen beautiful written cards, for Xmas. One dozen more beautiful gilt-edge cards, for 40 cents. One dozen of the most beautiful coloured cards, executed in the very highest style of the pen art, 40 cts, or one each of the above beautiful! more beautiful!! most beautiful!!! Resolutions, memorials and addresses handsomely engrossed. Name elegantly written in books intended for Christmas or New Year's presents. Address or call on W. H. Day, Different College, or at 306 Piccadilly street, London. 1257

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mme. M'Kay, the American artiste, for $26, per ounce, can be supplied in Canada. Factory—No. 33 Richmond street, London. 1257

FOR SALE.

GROCERY STORE AND LIQUOR License for sale.—For particulars apply to J. Fallans, corner Waterloo and Hill streets, or Market Saloon. 1261

CARRIAGE, WAGGON AND Blacksmith's Shop, with Dwelling House, for sale in the village of Kelhcorne, doing good business, and plenty of ordered work on hand. A lawyer can commence on.—J. E. Dingwall, Kelhcorne Ontario. 1257

TO PRINTERS.—FOR SALE, A Miller & Richard Flow Paper Cutter, good order. Will cut 28 inches. Apply to Free Press Office. 1260

WANZER SEWING MACHINE Oil, with latest improvements, sale cheap. Apply at Office of Death Notices. 1260

REAL ESTATE.

A NICE RESIDENCE, CORNER A. in North Branch Mills, Proof, for sale. Six rooms, with new brick cellar, stone house, good garden and orchard, which is at present over 100 bushels of apples. Store is well fenced and with back on Street. Terms reasonable, and easy as to time. Apply to County Buildings, St. Thomas. 1257

London, 16th October, 1879. tf

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale (40 feet frontage by 80 deep), under painted with the strongest fruit trees, on Albert street. Apply to E. Lucena. tf

LOTS FOR SALE, CHEAP.—In Brockview Estate, Westminster township. Apply to J. Frank. 1260

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR sale, opposite G.W.R. Car Shops, and dwelling, with furniture, will be sold on easy terms.—Apply to John Mullin, Adelaide street. 261

TO LET

A FIRST-CLASS TWO-STORY Brick House to let, corner Bond and Rutland streets. Possession first of January.—Apply to Wm Howes, 515 Finally Dead.

TO RENT—TWO-STORY BRICK house, No. 468 Queen's Avenue, side rooms, folding doors, hot and cold water on premises; all in excellent repair. Apply to Alex. Gunn, next door. 261

GROCERS.

R. A. GALBRAITH, 407 RICHMOND STREET, has just landed a good stock of Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Rice, which he will sell cheap for cash. Remember the place. 1260

FOR GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS, and everything found in a first-class Grocery, go to C. C. Reid's, corner Dundas street, Market Square and Maitland streets, Store open at 8a. Afterwards. 1260

BUSINESS CARDS.

CARPET WEAVING—AS CHEAP as the cheapest, as cheap as the cheap, and as cheap as the best.—T. S. Flynn, Market Square. 1261ly

GEORGE KERR, IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS, 264 Richmond street, London. 1261ly

GET YOUR FEATHER BED Cleaned and renovated by the new Patent Steam Renovator. Old mattresses and cushions made over equal to new.—Jamieson, Manufacturer, Bedding and Packing Box, Talbot street, London.

JOHN O'NEILL, ACCOUNTANT, &c., Office at Board of Trade rooms, Accounts, mortgages and others who want books kept correctly will find it to their advantage to have their accounts collected at reasonable rates. 1261

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days in! This is the place. Cheap bargains and clothing for the million—forged in solid cash prices paid for second-hand clothing, furniture, tailoring and carpets, south side Queen's Wellington and Clarence streets.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. Removal.—J. McKENNIR has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Alarm and Part Emporium to 702 Dundas st., next to A. J. Wooster's old stand. P.S.—This is the only Machine Repair, Part and Attachment Emporium of the city. Better facilities for getting and cheaper rates than ever. Improved Celebrated Machines on sale. All Machines warranty given with every Repair done. 2150od

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS. Respectfully solicits his friends and the public through to call at his old stand, 249 Dundas street.—W. Dodson, corner Wellington and Horton streets. 1261

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, Importers and Wholesale BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE, 260 AND 262 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON.

Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. 1261y

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS of and Dealers in English and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints, Oils, Tinplate, Sheet Iron, &c. 1261ly

MEDICAL.

DR. ANDERSON, OF 81 JAMES Street, Hamilton, Surgeon of the throat, can be consulted at the Revere House, London, on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Crowsfoot straight. 1259ly

W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate of McGill College, Montreal, member College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. 1261

H. B. NELLES, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Mayo Block, Richmond street. 1261

H. McLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST, OFFICE REMOVED over Bradford's store, opposite Crystal Hall, 180 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain. 1261

MEDICAL CO-PARTNERSHIP. We, the undersigned, have entered into partnership for the practice of the Medical Profession.

F. Richard Kogers, M.D., John Gerrard, M.D., F.R.C.S. Edinburgh. F.R.C.S. Edinburgh, M.R.C.S. England. M.R.C.S. England.

Office hours—9 10 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. Office and residence, 89 King street, St. Washington London. 1261ly

R. A. BEEVE, L.R.C.P., L.R.C.S., M.D. Physician and Surgeon, No. 79 SOUTH STREET, GOD. At Tecumseh House, London, FIRST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH. 1261

COMBWOOD.

EXHIBITION COAL AND WOOD Yard.—A good stock of coal, well screened. Cordwood cut and split and delivered. Fine kindling always on hand. Prices low and measure guaranteed. Leave orders left at T. J. McCormick's, 201 Dundas street, or at the office, corner Rectory and Richmond street, will be promptly attended to. M. Daly, Proprietor. 1261

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
(Corner of Richmond street, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., Importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
O. DAVISON,
729 and 731 Richmond st., London, Ont.

X CENTS A ten cent sample bottle of DARKNESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 1257

The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.
WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.

Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).
Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.
Municipal and School Section Debentures purchased.
WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.
London, Nov. 3, 1879. 21tod1wtf

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Java International House, Dundas street.

RECEIVED THIS WEEK,
A LARGE STOCK OF
TOILET GOODS
AT
CENTRAL DRUG STORE.
J. H. NASMITH & CO.
London, Sept. 20, 1879 1261y

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent. Dundas street, opposite mallet's Drug Store, London East. 1259y

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
1261 ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE
BOYS' OWN PAPER, SUNDAY-AT-HOME, AND LEISURE HOUR.
$1.50 per year, in advance, or 15 cents per number for 1880. Postpaid on receipt of price.
W. ALLASTER,
sod1y London East.

C.P. GIBSON
Grocer, Legg's Block, London East.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Flour, Feed, and General Stock of Green Groceries to select from. Prices low. Prompt attendance taken in exchange. 1260dly

Dr. M. Forster,
CHEMIST & DRUGGIST,
Hicks' Block, London East.
DRUGS,
ALL FRESH, AND OF BEST QUALITY
Combs, Hair Brushes, Toilet Soaps and Perfumery. Dr. Forster will superintend the business in person

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, next the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. 1261y
J. P. GIMMING, Prop.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Windsor.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.25 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock.—COMER & SMITH, proprietors. 1261y

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. Bowman. 1261y

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travellers will find it to their advantage to give it a trial. 'Bus and baggage wagon to all trains. Livery in connection. Joseph Black, Jr., Prop. 1257y

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, next G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every respect. Good accommodation for commercial travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. Pointer. 1259y

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ONT. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. 'Bus meets all passenger trains.—P. J. Rankin & Co., Proprietors. 1261y

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. James Kennedy, Proprietor. 1261y

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block Richmond street, London, Ont. 1261y

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery. Office—Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont.
EDWARD HARE W. J. CLARKE
JAMES MAGEE.

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 340 Dundas st. 1261y

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. Sharp, 393 Dundas street, near Albert Block. 261

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office, 110½ Dundas street. 1261y

L. MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST, Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street, over Lewis's grocery store. 1261y

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.

THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!

KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
In Every Department Extra Value.

WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.

Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

THE AFGHAN WAR.

Native Fanatics Rush Through the British Camp.

Four of them Killed—General Tytler Wounded.

Yakoob Khan's Conduct in a Still Worse Light—Gen. Gough not Certainly Heard From.

NEW PROOFS OF YACOB KHAN'S PERFIDY.

London, Dec. 25.—A private letter from a British soldier in Cabul states that one of Yakoob Khan's generals told Sir Frederick Roberts that Yakoob Khan himself signed the death warrant of the Embassy, and ordered the bodies of the murdered men to be dragged through the streets of Cabul. These letter confirms the statement that £60,000 worth of Russian gold was found in Cabul.

REINFORCEMENTS.

London, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Lahore to the Standard says that five infantry and three cavalry regiments are moving from India to Peshawur to form a new division there.

Lahore, Dec. 26.—Since Gough passed Lataland no news has been received. The rumors of his arrival at Cabul are premature. The wire to-night is interrupted between Peshawr and Jellalabad.

Candahar, Dec. 26.—To-day being a Mahommetan festival, the fanatical portion of the population are much excited. Some mounted Ghilzais ran amuck through the British camp. Gen. Tytler was wounded. Four fanatics were killed.

TURKEY.

Trouble Caused by a Turk Translating the Bible—Great Britain's Intervention.

Constantinople, Dec. 26.—The following are the particulars regarding the priest sentenced to imprisonment for translating the Bible into the Turkish tongue:—In September the police arrested a missionary for distributing religious tracts. He was soon discharged, the police retaining a book in the Turkish language, printed in London, containing passages contrary to Islamism, and two manuscript pamphlets of the same character. The day after the release of this missionary, a priest was arrested in charge of being the author of the above pamphlets. Minister Layard for three months pressed the demand for the priest's release. Prompt measures would be adopted. Governor Garcelon to put down insurrection. Send the State Governor, the home of the State officers, the streets of Bangor, and has given orders to the Governor in approving the State for the discharge of officers. Hamlin, while in Portland, Me., December 26.—The Press despatch mentions that Governor Garcelon has accepted the suggestion of the Democrats appealed to the Governor to allow the Courts to settle the troubles. It is intimated that the Governor will not likely heed the request.

Bangor, Me., December 26.—The Whig and Courier says that the name of the Grand Army Light Infantry of Oldtown, one of the State militia companies, were taken possession of by the Democrats last night between 11 and 12 o'clock, and removed from the company's armory to the residence of Lieutenant G. F. Mills, Commander of the Company.

Damariscotta, Me., Dec. 26.—An indignation meeting was held here this afternoon. There was a large audience, every town in the county being represented. It was resolved that we pledge our lawfully elected Senators and Representatives throughout the State our earnest support in whatever course they may decide to follow, trusting legal measures may accomplish what is just and right, and that force, the last great right of the people, will not become necessary.

Augusta, Me., Dec. 26.—The excitement here to-day over the Bangor affair is intense, and the wildest rumors prevailed on Christmas night. A train was waiting at the station here to receive the contents of the arsenal in order to convey them to the State House. The Governor to night said that for judicious reasons he ordered French, verbally, to remove the arms and ammunition. He thought the whole matter of great discredit to Bangor. The city government this afternoon voted to increase the police to 200 to meet any emergency.

FATAL RAILROAD DISASTER.

Two Men Killed and 35 Wounded—A Wild Scene in a Burning Car.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—Very meagre reports were received here that a passenger train on the Chicago & Alton Railroad, which left here last night for Kansas City, ran off the track between Kansas and Borden stations, some time last night; that two passengers were killed and several badly injured. The coaches were burned, and the train generally wrecked. The accident was caused by a broken rail.

J. A. McMillan, General Manager of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, says, in his information respecting the accident at Berdan—seventy miles north of St. Louis—that the train was running at about thirty miles an hour, and that after the engine and all the cars, except one sleeper—which was the last car on the train—had passed over safely, a steel rail, rendered brittle by cold, snapped, and threw the sleeper from the track; this detached all the other cars, the engine alone remaining on the track. Porter George Faine, of Chicago, and Col. Bond, of Auburn, Ill., were killed; the brakesman of the sleeping car, the conductor, and a number of passengers, were hurt, but none seriously; two coaches were burned, and the whole train badly wrecked. The fact that all the cars except the last passed over safely, shows that the rail was in perfect condition, and was only snapped by the combined influence of extreme cold and severe jarring.

Berdan, Ill., Dec. 26.—Besides those killed, 35 persons were injured, most of them slightly, by the railroad accident near here last night. There was but one passenger in the sleeper. The chair car was well filled, and here it was where the injury was done. As soon as the car ran off the stove upset, and that end of the car was almost instantly in a blaze. The passengers, many of whom were injured, rushed to the end of the car to escape, but finding the door locked, a panic seized them, and for a few moments the scene was terrible. Finally, the door was broken down, and all got out excepting Col. Bond, who was burned with the car. Two or three other accidents recently occurred near here.

A Fiery Santa Claus.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 25.—A special from Fatzskala, Licking county, says that at the Methodist Sunday school festival there to-day the cotton batting representing snow in the costume of Santa Claus took fire, and in a few moments the whole snowy robe was in flames, and the children, who were lately pressing forward for presents, were seized with a panic and rushed pell-mell out of the church, but without meeting with any serious mishap. The fire was quickly extinguished, but not before much damage was done.

The New York Walking Match.

New York, Dec. 26.—To-day three more pedestrians withdrew. Howard with a score of 996, Hanssler 988, and Brodie 980. The race is now between Hart, Krohne and Fabre. Each led at different times. The leading score at 11.30 to-night is: Hart, 464; Krohne, 458; Fabre, 456; Hughes, 440; O'Brien, 427; Fitzgerald, 426; Pygram, 442; Campana, 416; Gilbert, 416; Williams, 416.

Down Grade—A Serious Accident.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 26.—As a train of 25 coal cars was ascending the eastern approach of the bridge, to-night, 17 cars broke loose and dashed down the grade opposite the relay depot. They encountered a freight train, and a number of cars were smashed. The engineer, fireman and conductor of the freight train, a switchman and another man were badly injured.

Dan. Rice's Conversion Contradicted.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 26.—Moody, the revivalist, contradicts the report of Dan. Rice's conversion.

SHIPPING.

Hamburg, Dec. 25.—The Sueva has arrived.

New York, Dec. 26.—Arrived, Algeria, from Liverpool, and Potaro, from Newport.

Queenstown, Dec. 26.—Arrived, Bothnia and Nevada.

Gravesend, Dec. 26.—An almost continuous fog has prevailed on the Thames River during eighteen days past, the consequence being that a fleet of inward bound ships are detained. On Wednesday night the fog cleared for a few hours, and several vessels got away, but 18 remain, among which is the British steamer Hooper, for Boston Nov. 27, which has been [illegible] since her arrival on the [illegible] Work, December [illegible]

THE CHILI-PERU WAR.

EXPECTED CHILIAN ATTACK UPON CALLAO.

London, Dec. 26.—Advices from Valparaiso to the 3rd inst. are as follows:—The port of Iquique, Peru, has been opened to commerce, the only restriction being in respect of arms and ammunition. The President of Peru is marching with a force upon Lima, expecting the Chilians to attack Callao and the capital. It is reported that the Bolivians sacked the town of Tacna, Peru, and threatened Arica in the same republic.

ITALY.

A REBELLIOUS CROWD.

Rome, Dec. 26.—On Tuesday Humbert was going hunting, [illegible] who preceded him encountered a crowd who refused to disperse on the gendarmes. The latter charged. The search for the [illegible] greasing.

SOUTH

REPRESSIVE

London, Dec. 2[illegible] Capetown by way of [illegible] says a proclamation [illegible] prohibiting seditious [illegible] vasal.

THE MAINE EXCITEMENT.

Preparations Being Made to Guard the State House.

New York, Dec. 26.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says that great excitement was occasioned there last night by [illegible] from Bangor. Mayor Nash, of Bangor, has been notified of the event, and has given orders to the police to make every preparation to guard the State House and property from any acts of violence. Prompt measures will be adopted. Governor Garcelon to put down insurrection. Send the State Governor, the home of the State officers, the streets of Bangor, and has given orders to the Governor in approving the State for the discharge of officers. Hamlin, while in Portland, Me., December 26.—The Press despatch mentions that Governor Garcelon has accepted the suggestion of the Democrats appealed to the Governor to allow the Courts to settle the troubles. It is intimated that the Governor will not likely heed the request.

Bangor, Me., December 26.—The Whig and Courier says that the name of the Grand Army Light Infantry of Oldtown, one of the State militia companies, were taken possession of by the Democrats last night between 11 and 12 o'clock, and removed from the company's armory to the residence of Lieutenant G. F. Mills, Commander of the Company.

Damariscotta, Me., Dec. 26.—An indignation meeting was held here this afternoon. There was a large audience, every town in the county being represented. It was resolved that we pledge our lawfully elected Senators and Representatives throughout the State our earnest support in whatever course they may decide to follow, trusting legal measures may accomplish what is just and right, and that force, the last great right of the people, will not become necessary.

Augusta, Me., Dec. 26.—The excitement here to-day over the Bangor affair is intense, and the wildest rumors prevailed on Christmas night. A train was waiting at the station here to receive the contents of the arsenal in order to convey them to the State House. The Governor to night said that for judicious reasons he ordered French, verbally, to remove the arms and ammunition. He thought the whole matter of great discredit to Bangor. The city government this afternoon voted to increase the police to 200 to meet any emergency.

THE OTE INDIAN TROUBLE.

More Compromising with the Reds—Station Surrounded by Snow from 5 to 15 Feet Deep.

Ogden, December 26.—Ouray [illegible] reloaded to go to Washington [illegible] Agency yesterday, bringing the prisoners. Only part of [illegible] Chief Ridoh refused [illegible] by the Commissioners demanded Ouray asked for further concessions. [illegible] more were granted to-day. In five days Ranche, [illegible] home in Pine's Alamois, at which place Gen. Hatch is to wait their coming. Ouray is [illegible] in a Chinese game or is unable to accomplish what he attempted. [illegible] is five to fifteen feet deep on the range, and the General is compelled to build sleighs in order to make the trip. The snows of the Commission is somewhat doubtful, and the army may yet be called upon to settle the question.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Man Kicked, Beaten, and Left for Dead.

[illegible] Ont., Dec. 26.—An assault, [illegible] to prove fatal, occurred near [illegible] this afternoon. The victim's [illegible] supposed to be Wilson, and the [illegible] is Wm. Dawley, [illegible] day, being [illegible] G. B. & W. RR. Yesterday, [illegible] work, and [illegible] the men were off [illegible] assisted at Kinloss by some of them were assisted [illegible] whom were the [illegible] in Verney, among [illegible] induced Wilson to [illegible] led to. Dawley [illegible] him. Wilson was [illegible] liquor at the time, but [illegible] influence of [illegible] fectly sober. When [illegible] was per[illegible] from the hotel, Dawley [illegible] a mile [illegible] Wilson, threw him down, [illegible] hammered him terribly, and [illegible] his victim for dead. Wilson [illegible] up and brought to the hotel in [illegible] while condition. His head and [illegible] presents a horrible appearance. One [illegible] completely destroyed, his jaw is broken, and it is feared there are also internal injuries. A warrant is out for the arrest of Dawley, but he has so far eluded pursuit.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Banker Tries to Get out of His Trouble by Shooting Himself.

(Per Dominion Line.

Three Rivers, Que., Dec. 26.—Mr. S. M. Black, teller of the Quebec Bank in this city, shot himself about 7 o'clock this evening. It appears that while at tea he received a note from the manager of the bank, the contents of which seemed to greatly excite him. After reading the note he exclaimed, "I won't let this thing trouble my longer," and immediately pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the head. He is dangerously wounded, and is not expected to recover. The wildest rumors are afloat as to the cause of the rash act, but in the absence of reliable information fuller particulars cannot be given to night.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Peterboro', Dec. 24.—A brick cottage of Mr. Geo. Leonard, on Gilchrist street, was burned to-day. The fire originated in the kitchen, and the wind swept the flames through the house with such rapidity that it was impossible to save anything. The cause of the fire is as yet unknown. There is an insurance on the dwelling and furniture, amounting to $1,300, in the London, Liverpool & Globe Insurance Co.

St. Catharine's, Dec. 26.—About nine o'clock Thursday morning a fire broke out in the rear of a store on St. Paul street, occupied by a man named G. Barich. The stock was saved, but a large shed behind was destroyed. DaSour's jewellery store and Orr's cabinet shop adjoining were damaged. There is an insurance on the building, and Orr is also insured to some extent.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Abraham James Baxter, the young man who shot Albert Van Every at Duck's Hotel, near the Humber, yesterday, was to-day committed for trial, bail being refused. Van Every's findings on the right hand was blown completely off and the bullet also wounded him seriously in the arm.

Thomas Cleghorn, fruiterer and fish dealer on Yonge street, has been indicted on a charge of having speckled trout in his possession in the close season. A question has arisen whether the case should be disposed of by the Police Magistrate or Fisheries Inspector, and the matter has been postponed till Tuesday. Two boxes of the fish were seized by the Chief of Police.

Pressure is being exercised on Mr. John O'Donohoe would make a strong candidate, as personally he is very popular, and he would likely poll a large Irish and most of the Reform vote.

"Doctor" Shephard, a colored man, whose case has been before the Police Magistrate a number of times, to the intense amusement of the frequenters of the courts, has at last been sent down for 30 days for stealing iron.

Forty drunks filed an appearance this morning before the Police Magistrate.

The cases of Dr. Stewart, Dr. Macdonald and Dr. Sterling, arising out of the [illegible] election, were [illegible] Court of Common Pleas, [illegible] applied for and [illegible] in person being [illegible] Stewart intends [illegible] Supreme Court.

An old man [illegible] Union Station [illegible] and [illegible] where he has [illegible] as to his [illegible]

A Christmas [illegible] for [illegible] A man [illegible] was [illegible] Chamberlain. Mayor [illegible] proposed [illegible] equally from [illegible] There was a [illegible] the amount asked [illegible] committee was appointed [illegible] meeting of the City Council [illegible] present the petition favorably [illegible] urge its adoption. A committee [illegible] nominated to appoint [illegible] the collection of [

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FREE PRES

Sales by Auction

INSOLVENT SALE

BRICK-YARD,

BRICKS & CHATTELS.

Thousands of Overcoat

ULSTERS AND ULSTERETTES

For Men, Youths Boys and Children, in all styles, colors and qualities, at prices cannot fail to be satisfactory to purchasers.

Our enormous sales for the past 30 days have compelled us to be contin adding to our stock, and many of our Overcoats and Ulsters have been received

ing the last month.

Remember, the assortment is of late style, and many of them are decided novelties.

We call the attention of all wanting Overcoats to the fact that our stock is largest in the West, and is superior in quality, style and excellence of manufactu

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 &

and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT.

MICHIGA

New Crockery Store!

—THE—

Mammoth Teapot

NEW DRY GOODS HOU

—WILL OPEN AT—

George Hero

No. 122 Dundas Street,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1

With a New and Cheap Stock of

Staple and Fancy Dry Goo

GEO. HER

Crockery, China,

GLASSWARE,

Lamps and Lamp Fixtures

AND FANCY GOODS.

Gold Gold

W. D. McGLOGHLON'S

Christmas Presents!

Don't Fail to See the New

LORNE CUTT

Reversible Handle,

BEFORE BUYING. KEEP IN THE

A. & J. G. McINTOSH & (

118 Dundas St.

We have just received limited assortments of

Black Cashmeres,

Brussels Carpets,

Tapestry Carpets,

Oilcloths,

CLEARING SALE

of Summer Goods at greatly Reduced Prices. Please call early and

A. & J. G. McINTOSH & C

HENRY BEECH

SOLICITOR OF

PATENTS

Patents, Caveats,

HENRY BEECH

Solicitor of Patents and Expert, on Wood, 22 Dundas Street, betwe

Bell and Talbot Streets, London, Ont.

BOOKS.

Great Clearing Sale

THE PEOPLE'S

CLOTHING HOUSE.

$5,000 Worth of Goods Must be Sold Before Spring.

OVERCOATS OR FANCY SUITS

NOTICE.

J. WAUD

CHAMPAGNE

Carte D'Or

Carte Blanc,

Carte Noir,

IMPORTED DIRECT!

which we can sell at

LOWER PRICES

than have ever been offered.

E. A. Taylor

Sparkling Sumac

Fitzgerald,

Scandrett

& Co

SKATES

Fall & Winter Dry Goods & Clothi

LAING & McPHERSON,

LAING & McPHERSON

—FOR—

HEADQUARTER

Scotch Tweeds and Ordered Clothi

GEO. D. SUTHERLAND & C

158 Dundas Street,

LONDON, ONTARIO.

BOOK PRINTING.

the Free Press Printing C

THE AUSTRALIAN EXPORT Co

THE SHIP CLIFTON.

L. C. Leonard's

CROCKERY WARE

GLASSWARE

CHANDELIERS

LAMPS, ETC

Dundas Street,

20 Per Cent. Discount

FANCY GOODS,

Until January 1st, 1880.

JAS. I. ANDERSON & CO'S,

173 Dundas Street.

Jewelry, Jewelry,

H. C. FLACH

379 CLARENCE ST.,

SLIPPERS

SKATES!

BARNEY & BATHEY,

PLAIN AND NICKEL.

REIDS HARDWARE,

T. HERBERT MARSH,

ARGYLE

Mutual Fire Insurance Co

ALEXANDRA COLLEGE,

MUTUAL EXPENSE FOR TWO

ED. PALMER'S,

165 Dundas street, cor. of Richmond

Grand Trunk Railway.

Christmas and New Year.

A FARE AND A-THIRD

AGRICULTURAL

Savings and Loan Comp

ROBINSON'S MIL

SINGE

SEWING MACHIN

The Free Press

Saturday, Dec. 27, 1879.

RUPERT GODWIN.

What position could be more terrible to this girl, who, amidst all her sorrow, had never before known danger! "O, my heavenly Father!" she cried, leaning in a half-fainting state against the oaken wainscot, "Thou, who art a father to the fatherless, hear my prayers, have pity upon my helplessness, and raise up some friend in this bitter hour of need!"

She had scarcely spoken the words when the oaken panelling behind her was pushed suddenly on one side, and she felt herself supported by a slender arm—an arm that felt like that of a woman.

It seemed as if Heaven had heard her prayers. It seemed almost as if a miracle had been performed in her behalf. A cry of joyful surprise half escaped her lips; but in the next moment it was stifled by a hand, soft, feminine hand, pressed against her mouth.

"Hush!" murmured a low voice; "not a cry—not a whisper!"

Then the mysterious friend half drew, half lifted, Violet through the opening in the wall.

The helpless girl, so suddenly, so unexpectedly rescued, fainted in the arms of her preserver. But she was not long unconscious. Presently she felt cool perfumed water sprinkled upon her fire-head, a pungent aromatic odor revived her senses, and the evening breeze blew in upon her from an open window, by which her unknown friend had placed her.

She raised her heavy eyelids and looked up, obliging to her preserver.

She looked up, and saw a gentle, care-worn face bending over her—a beautiful face, with regularly chiseled features, and a tenderly gracious smile—a face that was framed in bands of silver hair, and upon which the traces of suffering were only too evident.

The owner of this face was tall and slender. She looked, perhaps, somewhat taller than she really was on account of her dress, which was of black silk, very rich and costly, but made with an extreme simplicity. A small cap of the most exquisite Honiton lace shrouded her silvery hair.

"Oh, madam!" exclaimed Violet, "you will not leave me? You will not send me away from you?"

"No, child; not till I can place you in the care of your own friends," answered the lady. "Poor girl, you are still trembling."

"I have suffered so much," murmured Violet, in a low, tremulous voice; "and it has all seemed like some dreadful dream. Ah, madam, it seems to me as if Heaven raised you up to befriend me in answer to my prayers. Where did you come from? How did you know that I wanted your help?"

"My presence in this house is indeed providential," replied the lady. "I only arrived at ten o'clock last night, but a few hours before you yourself were brought there. Thank Heaven, I arrived in time to save you, and to hinder my wretched son from the commission of any deeper wrong than that of which he has already been guilty!"

"Your son, madam?"

"Yes, my poor child. I am Lord Rex-leydale's most unhappy mother. A letter from an old friend informed me of my son's latest follies, and urged upon me the necessity of making one more attempt to withdraw him from the net in which he has involved himself. I have made many efforts on his behalf, and have begun almost to despair of his reformation. But my friend told me that Albert was looking ill, and—well, I suppose I suppose I am still weak enough to love him better than he deserves. I left Yorkshire and came here, intending to spend the autumn in this house, which is within easy reach of town, and from which I could visit my son as often as I pleased. I little thought that my coming would happen so fortunately!"

"But the marquis—he will follow me here!"

"No! He does not yet know of my presence in this house. He is quite ignorant of the secret of that sliding panel, which I have used to remember having heard of when I was first married, and spent a summer in this house. Nancy Dobson, the old housekeeper, told me on your arrival, and it is in consequence of the information afforded me by her that I have been enabled to hasten over you. You are as safe here, and in the rooms adjoining, as if you were a hundred miles away from Lord Rexleydale and his myrmidons."

The marchioness led the way to an adjacent apartment—a handsome room, with pendrecone, old-fashioned furniture. The shutters were closed, the heavy curtains drawn, and a pair of tall wax candles lighted a comfortably-arranged tea-table.

"Come, my poor girl," exclaimed Lady Rexleydale, "a cup of tea will refresh you more than anything else. Sit down by me, and tell me how it was you were brought here last night. Be candid, and confide in me."

"Willingly, dear madam. Believe me, the events of last night are as great a mystery to me as they can be to you."

Violet felt a sense of unspeakable gratitude towards the gentle lady who had rescued her. She told the whole story of her adventures, with simple candor, which made a most favorable impression on Lady Rexleydale, whose strict education and somewhat old-fashioned prejudices had by no means inclined her to look very indulgently upon a figurante from the Circenses. The girl would fain have left the house that night, in her anxiety to return to her mother; but the dowager told her the journey to town would be impossible until the next morning, and that she herself would undertake to convey her safely back to that anxious mother on the next day.

So that night Violet slept in peace, safe under the protection of her new friend, comparatively happy in the thought that the morning's post would convey her letter to Clara Westford.

The poor girl little dreamt how false that hope was. Lord Rexleydale had met Rupert Godwin in the hall as he was about to dispatch Violet's letter to the post, and the banker, seeing the superscription in a hand, had easily gained from him the history of its contents.

It is scarcely necessary to say that Rupert Godwin interfered to stop the posting of the letter. He had a packet for the post himself, he said, taking the missive from Lord Rexleydale's hand, and he would see that Violet's letter was posted with his own. A carriage was waiting to convey him back to the railway station. He had scheduled his progress carefully in the past; he was to play, and, having done this, was eager to get back to town. He was aware of the penalties attending the absence he had planned and had no wish to at his own hand should appear in any part of the work.

He took Violet's letter, bade the marquis a hasty good-night, and got into the hired fly that had been ordered to fetch him.

To be continued.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION AND CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT.—A very interesting and successful examination was held in the Nilestown Village School on the 18th inst. A large number of the parents of the pupils, and others interested in the progress of the school were in attendance. The examination was conducted by the teacher, Mr. James Learn, assisted by Mr. George Emery, of St. Thomas. The result proved highly satisfactory to all—the pupils, by their ready and accurate answering to the questions given, showed a rapid and healthy progress in all branches, and thus reflecting great credit on their excellent teacher. On the chair being taken by E. S. Jarvis, Esq., short addresses were delivered by Messrs. Geo. Wilson, R. Reynolds, John Lee, Wm. Craig, Geo. Emery and W. S. Niles, all expressing themselves well pleased with the marked advancement shown in the school. Handsome prizes were then presented to the pupils, and after a few remarks on educational topics by the chairman, pupils and audience dispersed. The regular Christmas entertainment, in connection with the school, was held in the Town Hall, and was, as usual, a decided success, both as regarding attendance and interest. The chair was occupied by W. H. Niles, Esq., in his usually happy style, and the excellent musical and literary programme which was provided was carried out in a very entertaining manner. A very interesting feature of the affair was a well-laden Christmas tree, which occasioned abundance of amusement and, no doubt, many pleasant surprises. All were delighted with the entertainment, which was brought to a close in the usual manner, and the village has every reason to be proud of its prosperous school and efficient teacher.—Com.

Mackey never finds fault with his dressing. He always thanks God for the bird.

HOLIDAY ISLAND,
Lake Shiltwater.

Our awards of the prizes, five in number, for the series just completed, are as follows:—For correct solutions we find that "Athalie," Paris, and "Flo and Elsie," London, are so nearly equal in merit that we cannot make any distinction, and so awarded them prizes of equal value. Second on the list we find "Fred and Lena," Stratford, (who will please send address); and third, "Horace," Sarnia. For best contributions the prize goes to "Flo and Elsie," and we have no doubt all our readers will concur in this.

A Merry Christmas and a right Happy New Year to all.

FRED, NELLIE AND JACK.

THE LITTLE FIR TREE.

PART SECOND.

If Tom, instead of being in such a hurry to fall into the river, had hovered a little longer by the hedge that ended Mr. Hardy's garden, he would have been rewarded by seeing Miss Kate herself driving down the avenue from the house, out through the gate, and away along the white road townwards.

The snow had ceased falling, but plenty more of it hung about in the sluggish colored clouds overhead; and although the road was thickly encrusted, the pair of strong ponies made nothing of drawing the light carriage in which sat only Kate Hardy. Not that she could, by any stretch of fancy, be called fairy-like; she was far too pleasantly real for such a word to be applied to her by anyone in his senses. Tom always thought of her as "a beauty," and boys are not given to worshipping the unembodied; so I'll take Tom's opinion as being correct, and steer you to fill in the details of Kate's face according to your own fancy.

Here she is, then, driving quickly along the road towards the old town of Warrington, on her usual afternoon errand of fetching her father from his counting house at the Mills; and yonder is Tom, carried along by the swift flowing Mersey as if to meet her. Now under the surface of that cold dark river, now rising for an instant to the top. It was in one of these brief intervals that Miss Hardy's sight or ear, sensing the river as she drove beside it, caught sight of a white face floating past, very hastily for Tom; for I am inclined to think Kate very fond indeed more would have eventually closed his short history. But as soon as Kate saw that face she threw the reins on the ponies' backs, jumped from the carriage, and ran down the bank, so safe be opposing the drowning boy, and she reached the brink of the river.

Kate never knew exactly whether she jumped into the river or waded; but whether she went head first like a diver but there she was the next minute, battling with the current and making direct away by it, good swimmer as she was. And Tom swept past she clutched at his hair, pulled him towards her, and then, more out, half wading, for the bank, to which she carried him, an unconscious and exceedingly wet bundle. There were men in the village, and in it she dispatched her charge, and then sitting down beside it, and keeping one wet hand on Tom's heart, set to her own home. Then for the first time she looked at the boy's face, and remembered to have seen it many times before.

"Why, it's Garret's little boy," she said. "O, how glad I am to have saved him! Such a good, old-fashioned little fellow as he is. Have I saved him, though? He looks dreadfully white and still!"

That was a question which no one could answer with any certainty for nearly an hour after they had carried him into one of the rooms in the Hardy home. At the end of about that time Tom revived sufficiently to be pronounced out of danger, and the doctor who had been called in told them that only one of the boy's nine lives had been sacrificed.

Tom was taken good care of for the remainder of the day, and slept in one of the young Hardy's rooms that night. Polly had been sent for in the meantime. And next morning Miss Kate carried them both home in state behind the ponies, and Polly, talking all the way, had told her before they reached their own little cottage all about the fir tree and what they had planned concerning it, and how Tom had set his heart upon it, and a good many other things all about Tom, who sat quite silent all the time.

All the rest of the day Tom and Polly wondered and debated what Miss Hardy could mean when she smiled and nodded to them at parting, and told them to wait till to-morrow.

"Wait till to-morrow!" said Tom, for the twentieth time. "To-morrow! that'll be Christmas Eve! Well, we're going to have a good beef and plum pudding—ain't we, Polly?—if we can't have our tree."

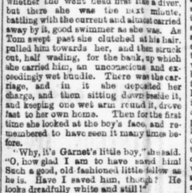
To-morrow was born at last and the eleventh, to day—Christmas Eve. The cold sun gleamed over fields of purest snow; the rough winds of yesterday and the day before had all passed away, leaving looked peaceful and bright, and happy. "Ready for Christmas," they said, and he and Polly were as busy as bees all day, making the little four-roomed cottage neat and tidy, and then glorifying it with scarlet berries and evergreens.

About five o'clock—that is to say after dark—Polly heard wheels at the gate, and, running to open the door, saw a cart standing there, and a great basket which the driver proceeded in silence to lift down and carry into the parlor.

"It's not for us, sir," said Polly, when the man had placed it on the floor.

"Ain't that your name wot's on that ticket as is nailed onto it?" said the man.

Tom read it and said "yes."



"Very well then, that's all about it," said the man, rather crossly, and walked off. But he opened the door a moment after, and said in a less surly tone:—

"It's for you, sure enough a Merry Christmas to you!" Then he shut the door again and drove off.

Tom and Polly as soon as they had recovered from their amazement sufficiently proceeded to open the great box. Justice, most carefully packed, was the most beautiful Christmas tree that ever mortal eyes beheld! Tom and Polly always said so afterwards, loaded with all sorts of things, useful and ornamental, or just delicious and tempting both. Nothing could equal the beauty of the tree, except the fruit it bore.

Tied to one of the lower branches was a slip of paper, which Tom opened, and read:—

"From Miss Hardy!" he shouted; "she says if we like to plant this tree in our garden it will keep on growing all the year round, and only be quite got drowned. Polly, it's the very same tree I've looked at so often in Mr. Hardy's garden!"

Dr. Smith, in a lecture recently delivered before the Society of Arts, maintained that tea was a good remedy for helping our digestion of fat or farinaceous food, if the tissues are wasted by excessive perspiration, but it is not suited to those who do not suit a spare habit, or live in a low temperature or exercise. Physicians of all schools are now advising their patients and friends to drink Kacka instead of tea.

An orator exposes his ability when he has before him a sea of upturned faces.

Our English Letter.

The Gladstone "Boom" in Midlothian—A Five Days' Talk as you please Match—The Irish Agitation, etc., etc.

From our own Correspondent.
Dec. 8th, 1879.

For the past week it would have been very easy to imagine oneself in Canada. Certainly the surroundings are not quite the same. It is impossible not to miss the merry jingle of sleigh bells and the hundred and one "canny" adaptations for fighting the cold which are characteristic of the Canadian people, but for all that, the cold has been excessive, and the misery consequent on such an early setting in of winter will be incalculable. Looking on the bright side of the picture, it would have been hardly possible to have given the new Canadian resident Minister a more appropriate welcome than dressing our country in the snowy garb of Canada. But such a cheerful view of the case is quite out of sympathy with the times. For more than a week the air has been heavy with prophetically ominous orations of Mr. Gladstone and other "lesser luminaries" of the Liberal party. There can be little doubt but that the Conservative Government are responsible for the excessive cold. Surely the "spirited" foreign policy of Lord Beaconsfield's Government must have resulted in a rupture with the authorities of the Gulf Stream. Perhaps if Mr. Lyon Playfair, who is such an authority, would communicate with Mr. Gladstone we should be enlightened the next time the hon. gentleman descants on the affairs of the nation, and the crimes of Lord Beaconsfield's Government in particular; or perhaps Mr. Forster will assure his audiences in future, that it is a "worry" expressly prepared for the nation by this Tory administration. For would it be surprising should Mr. Gladstone argue that this return to old-fashioned winters is but inaugurative of a return to protection at an early date.

Talking about these distinguished gentlemen, they have been good enough to give the British public a great deal of entertainment at a particularly dull time of year, and they richly deserve the thanks of the nation.

Mr. Gladstone, with a sagacity which is his own, had no doubt remarked the growing interest taken by the public in all feats of endurance. Long distance walking matches, and seven days "go-as-you-please" matches, have been all the rage on both sides of the Atlantic, under the patronage of Sir J. Astley Hart. The idea seems to have occurred to Mr. Gladstone that a five days' talk as you-please" entertainment would win the popular favor. The venture may be said to have been more or less of a success. Mr. Gladstone has undoubtedly proved himself to be the greatest talker of this or any other age. The Times, viewing the matter somewhat in this light, remarks, "There is one respect in which no one can refuse a tribute to Mr. Gladstone's performances in Scotland, having regard to his age, to the weather, to the nature of his audiences, and to the length of his speeches, his present rhetorical campaign must certainly be regarded as one of the most extraordinary physical feats on record, perhaps the most extraordinary." As far as the speeches themselves are concerned, that is a serious consideration, what will be the effect on the elections and non electors of Great Britain and Ireland remains to have to plod through life with the assurance that the ship of State is being driven on the rocks, and all owing to that, not more, that the Government do not intend to give them an extra vote to alter her course, but, alas! that all hands will go down with her. It is at all events a blessing that we know the worst, and that the lieutenant in twenty columns or more of the Canadian constitution is contained in the knowledge, that we shall not be long in close time. Still, had Mr. Leonard remained in the field, he would have detained it his duty to support him in preference to Mr. Minhinnick. He had nothing against the latter gentleman, and had never had a hard word with him in his life; still he did not like the way he had been brought out, and objected to the manner in which the voter-works had been run from first to last. He thought the citizens should have a voice in the selection of a candidate for the Mayoralty, and for that reason had favored a public meeting. He suggested that a platform, again open to the people, should be prepared. Ex-Mayor Campbell would receive his undivided support if he consented to stand, and he believed him to be well qualified to fill the office. He considered by thanking them for the kind expression manifested, and resigned his seat.

Ald. Campbell was pleased to see such an interest displayed in municipal matters, but at the same time he regretted Mr. Leonard's retirement from the contest. Mr. Leonard had taken great pains in studying municipal affairs, and was, therefore, well qualified for the position. He felt that even at this late hour a candidate should be brought out against Mr. Minhinnick, and on account of the pressure brought to bear upon him, he had decided to accept the nomination. (Cheers.) He did not intend to discuss municipal matters, but there were several vital questions which would come up at the Council during the coming year. There was a good deal of dissatisfaction concerning the manner in which the improvements had been made, and the Board of Works shared a good deal of the blame. The frontage tax scheme was under consideration. He was in favor of it. The citizens would be required to give their votes on the matter, and if they decided in favor of it the Council would require to carry it out. The Exhibition Grounds committee would also come up. It was an important question. With regard to the water-works, he was not going to abuse those men who had given their time and services gratuitously, although, perhaps, in looking over their work, they might be able to see where an improvement could have been made. He did not favor the issuance of $75,000 in debentures for the extension of the water works. He did not believe in the exclusion of the press from the meetings of the Water Commissioners. He did not know that any good would result therefrom, but the public would be better satisfied. If selected as the standard bearer of the meeting, he would do his best to carry the election. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. B. Smyth regretted the necessity of calling the meeting at this late hour. He had sat at the Council Board, and was not ashamed of his record. He objected to the manner in which Mr. Minhinnick had been brought out, as it had evidently been done by the Water Commissioners. After expressing his opinion on the subject of water-works, he said he had no desire to force himself upon the electors at this time. He hoped that the meeting would be unanimous in their selection, and passed a eulogy on Ald. Campbell. He wished to know why the present park could not be sold, and the Exhibition Grounds made to serve as a park? He was prepared to support the choice of the meeting.

Mr. W. R. Vining did not wish to find fault with any one, but merely to assist in bringing out a candidate to oppose Mr. Minhinnick. London was financially sound and the thing required was careful husbanding and judicious management. The London & Port Stanley Railway question was of the greatest importance and should be carefully looked after. With regard to his candidature, he was in the hands of the electors, and not having any personal interests to serve, would quietly await their decision.

Ald. Hiscox thanked the gentlemen who had nominated him for the position, but declined the kind offer.

Mr. T. D. Hodgens, like the rest of the gentlemen, was in the hands of the meeting.

Ex-Ald. Murray thanked the meeting for the nomination, but was not a candidate for Mayoralty honors. He felt every confidence in Ald. Campbell, but would resign in favor of the candidate of the meeting.

The Mayoralty Contest.

Ald. Campbell Turns Up as the "Dark Horse."

Opposition for the Sake of Opposition.

A meeting of citizens, which was attended by between 300 and 400 persons, was held at the City Hall last night for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the Mayoralty with Mr. John R. Minhinnick, who has been for some time in the field. Mr. W. R Vining was chosen Chairman and Mr. E. Meredith Secretary.

The Chairman opened the proceedings by saying that they had met to select a candidate in opposition to Mr. Minhinnick, and in his mind, he thought it was perfectly proper to have a little sport when election time comes round for the Mayoralty as well as for the Aldermen. He called for nominations, and the following were made:—

Mr. Edmund Meredith by Mr. Robert Boyd and Mr. H. Judd.

Mr. A. Murdoch by Mr. Sam. Koast and Mr. S. Turner.

Mr. E. T. Essery by Mr. R. S. Murray.

Mr. John Campbell by Mr. John H. Saunders and Mr. J. Judd.

Mr. J. B. Smyth by Mr. Andrew Cook and Mr. Wm. Winston.

Mr. W. R. Vining by Mr. W. Trebilcock and Mr. Pritchard.

Mr. G. T. Hiscox by Mr. Frederick St. George Thompson and Mr. W. J. Thompson.

Mr. Thos. D. Hodgens, by Mr. A. K. Thompson and Mr. Judd.

Mr. A. K. Thompson, by Mr. P. Barrett.

Mr. T. H. Murray, by Mr. George T. Hiscox and Mr. W. Winston.

The persons nominated were invited to take a seat on the platform, after which Mr. Essery delivered a long address, touching on the water-works, the Exhibition grounds, the newspapers, the Police Magistrate, the Mayor, the Chief of Police, and his own intellectual ability.

Mr. Meredith declined the nomination.

Mr. Andrew McCormick was pleased to see so many electors present. The object of the meeting was to choose a candidate in the room of Mr. Leonard, who had retired from the Mayoralty contest owing to pressing business. He had been asked by many citizens while in the market to oppose Mr. Essery, but he had been so long out of public life, nearly five years, and as his business was of a private character, he had decided not to offer at this time. Still, had Mr. Leonard remained in the field, he would have detained it his duty to support him in preference to Mr. Minhinnick. He had nothing against the latter gentleman, and had never had a hard word with him in his life; still he did not like the way he had been brought out, and objected to the manner in which the voter-works had been run from first to last. He thought the citizens should have a voice in the selection of a candidate for the Mayoralty, and for that reason had favored a public meeting. He suggested that a platform, again open to the people, should be prepared. Ex-Mayor Campbell would receive his undivided support if he consented to stand, and he believed him to be well qualified to fill the office. He considered by thanking them for the kind expression manifested, he had resigned his seat.

Ald. Campbell was pleased to see such an interest displayed in municipal matters, but at the same time he regretted Mr. Leonard's retirement from the contest. Mr. Leonard had taken great pains in studying municipal affairs, and was, therefore, well qualified for the position. He felt that even at this late hour a candidate should be brought out against Mr. Minhinnick, and on account of the pressure brought to bear upon him, he had decided to accept the nomination. (Cheers.) He did not intend to discuss municipal matters, but there were several vital questions which would come up at the Council during the coming year. There was a good deal of dissatisfaction concerning the manner in which the improvements had been made, and the Board of Works shared a good deal of the blame. The frontage tax scheme was under consideration. He was in favor of it. The citizens would be required to give their votes on the matter, and if they decided in favor of it the Council would require to carry it out. The Exhibition Grounds committee would also come up. It was an important question. With regard to the water-works, he was not going to abuse those men who had given their time and services gratuitously, although, perhaps, in looking over their work, they might be able to see where an improvement could have been made. He did not favor the issuance of $75,000 in debentures for the extension of the water works. He did not believe in the exclusion of the press from the meetings of the Water Commissioners. He did not know that any good would result therefrom, but the public would be better satisfied. If selected as the standard bearer of the meeting, he would do his best to carry the election. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. B. Smyth regretted the necessity of calling the meeting at this late hour. He had sat at the Council Board, and was not ashamed of his record. He objected to the manner in which Mr. Minhinnick had been brought out, as it had evidently been done by the Water Commissioners. After expressing his opinion on the subject of water-works, he said he had no desire to force himself upon the electors at this time. He hoped that the meeting would be unanimous in their selection, and passed a eulogy on Ald. Campbell. He wished to know why the present park could not be sold, and the Exhibition Grounds made to serve as a park? He was prepared to support the choice of the meeting.

Mr. W. R. Vining did not wish to find fault with any one, but merely to assist in bringing out a candidate to oppose Mr. Minhinnick. London was financially sound and the thing required was careful husbanding and judicious management. The London & Port Stanley Railway question was of the greatest importance and should be carefully looked after. With regard to his candidature, he was in the hands of the electors, and not having any personal interests to serve, would quietly await their decision.

Ald. Hiscox thanked the gentlemen who had nominated him for the position, but declined the kind offer.

Mr. T. D. Hodgens, like the rest of the gentlemen, was in the hands of the meeting.

Ald. Thompson, in a short address, declined the nomination.

Ex-Ald. Murray thanked the meeting for the nomination, but was not a candidate for Mayoralty honors. He felt every confidence in Ald. Campbell, but would resign in favor of the candidate of the meeting.

THE SECRET SOCIETIES.

Names of the Recently Elected Officers

MASONIC.

At the regular meeting of Doric Lodge, No. 289, G. R. C., Lobo village, on Thursday night, the following officers were chosen:—W. M., Bro. McArthur; S. W., Bro. Irwin; J. W., Bro. Guger; Sec., W. Bro. Powell; Treas., Bro. McVicker; Chaplain, Bro. Storwood. The scrutineers were W. Bro. L. G. Jarvis, and Bros. W. Morris and F. J. Hood.

Great Western Lodge, No. 47, A., F. and A. M., Windsor, have elected the following as their officers for the ensuing year:—W. M., W. Bro. W. F. Miller; S. Warden, Bro. S. Lested; J. Wardar, Bro. S. Blanding; Chaplain, W. Bro. Rev. Dr. Caulfield; Treasurer, Bro. J. D. Sullivan; Secretary, Bro. G. W. Bacon, Tyler, Bro. Charles Jones.

The following are the officers elect of Lynx Lodge, No. 312, A., F. and A. M., Wallaceburg, for the ensuing year:—W. Master, H. Morris; S. W., Wm. Whitbread; J. W., Lester Judson; Chaplain, Thomas Crainc; Secretary, John L. Judson; Treasurer, John Fisher; Tyler, Chas. Chubb.

At the regular communication of Euclid Lodge, No. 32, A., F. and A. M., held in the Masonic Hall, Strathroy, on Thursday evening, 25th December, 1879, the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:—Bro. R. A. Stevenson, M.D., W.M.; Wor. Bro. James Noble, I.P.M.; Bro. James Fullerton, S.W.; Bro. John Paine, J.W.; Bro. D. M. Telford, Sec.; Bro. R. Dupree, Treas.; Bro. J. Carroll, Chap.; Bro. Hiram Dell, Tyler. On Sunday next the Rev. Bro. A. Andrews will preach the annual sermon in the North Street Wesleyan Methodist Church at 7.30 p.m.

At the communication of Lebanon Forest Lodge, A., F. and A. M., Exeter, held on Monday evening last, the following officers-bearers were elected for the ensuing year:—W. M., Bro. W. D. Bright; S. W., Bro. F. G. Simpson; J. W., Bro. C. Senior; S. D., Bro. B. S. O'Neil; J. D., Bro. J. Oke; Chap., Bro. E. J. Robinson; Treasurer, Bro. G. Samwell; Secretary, W. Bro. M. Eacrett; I. G., Bro. R. Howard; Tyler, Bro. A. Lewis. The installation of the above officers will take place in the Masonic Hall this Saturday evening at eight o'clock.

At a regular communication of Tudor Lodge, Mitchell, the following officers were elected for the current year:—Wor. Bro. F. Butcher, W. M.; Wor. Bro. T. Babb, I.P. M.; Bro. A. Ross, S. W.; Bro. S. Babb, J. W.; Bro. James Begg, Treasurer; Bro. James Aiken, Secretary; Bro. Christopher-son, Chaplain; Bro. J. Hall, Tyler.

At the last regular meeting of Thistle Lodge, No. 34, A., F. and A. M., Amherstburg, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—W. M., Bro. George Middleditch; S. W., Bro. Robt. Sample; J. W., Bro. Andrew Gibb; Sec., Bro. John A. Auld; Treas. Bro. Ellis Brown; Chap., Bro. Rev. F. Smith; Tyler, Bro. James McVety.

OTHER SOCIETIES.

At the last regular meeting of Strathroy Council, No. 240, Royal Arcanum, held in the new hall, Frank street, the following new officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Regent, R. Sutherland; Vice Regent, D. L. Leitch; Orator, D. M. Telford; Secretary, J. H. McIntosh; Collector, J. Foot; Treasurer, J. Boud; Chaplain, G. Ashwell; Guide, Jas. Barnes; Warden, George Kivey; Sentry, D. W. Munro; Pr. Regent, Wm. Chalmers; Trustees, J. Chalmers, R. Sutherland and G. Ashwell.

At the last meeting of Windsor Lodge of United Workmen, the following officers were elected for the ensuing half year:—Master, Wm. Ferguson; Foreman, H. A. Walker; Overseer, Wm. G. Nutson; Recorder, C. Wright; Receiver, G. E. Copeland; Financier, Alex. Black; Guide, James Webster; Watchman, James McAlister; Outside Watchman, Wm. Fiden.

CANADIAN ITEMS.

—Mr. John Owlton, one of the oldest settlers in Puslinch, died at the advanced age of 89 years, a few days ago.

—Last week Messrs. Pickard & Wills shipped from the Exeter station 21,250 bushels of barley for the United States.

—A number of Oshawa ratepayers are going to test the legality of the two per cent. penalty for non-payment of taxes.

—Mr. F. Fowler, of Hullett, last week shipped a carload of dressed beef, and one of dressed lambs and sheep, to Winnipeg.

—Mr. Yeo, the veteran hunter, of Turnberry, has killed three deer, several red and grey foxes, and a number of coons this season.

—Messrs. P. McEwan and W. Campbell, of McKillop, spent three weeks hunting in Muskoka, during which time they shot fifteen deer.

—There are about 4,800 acres of fall wheat under crop in Goderich Township at present, a considerable increase over former years.

—James Taylor, collector of taxes, pointed a pistol at Mrs. McNutt, of Dummer, and Norwood magistrates fined him $30 and $5 50 costs. Taylor appealed.

—An orphan lad, about nine years of age, who lived with H. Lawrence, 2nd concession of Minto, fell into a well and was drowned on the 4th inst. He was sent for a pail of water, and slipped in, the ground being covered with ice—one reason for keeping wells properly secured.

—Rigston has the meanest modern scoundrel if report be true. His name is G. Thompson, and it is said he sold his wife's corpse to the medical students for $4. He got drunk on the money and was yesterday morning brought before the Police Magistrate and sentenced to six months in the Central Prison.

—E. Palmer, of Norwich, has bought 1,600 turkeys for shipment to England. He first extracts the blood from the body by tapping near the head, then freezes the carcass without further mutilation, and packs them in barrels like apples, only sufficiently tight to prevent them moving in transportation.

—Says the St. Thomas Journal:—Dr. Casaden, M. P. P., has dropped the adultery count in his libel suit against Mr. John Campbell. When he saw the pleadings filed by the defendant previous to the last Assizes, and read the several cases of adultery specified, the truth of which Mr. Campbell undertook to prove, he caused an application to be made to the Court in Toronto for permission to withdraw from public investigation the charges of adultery, and to amend the complaint in other respects. The court granted the permission sought, on condition that Dr. Casaden should pay not only his own costs but those of the defendant as well. The costs have since been paid, and the bill of complaint and the pleadings in answer have been amended accordingly.

WANTED,
$1,000 American Money
AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY,
197 Dundas St., for Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND VALISES
now and save money.
American Bills taken for same.
C. F. AYARS, 197 Dundas St.

COME ALONG JOHN
To C. F. AYARS and buy Trunks and Valises Cheap. American Bills taken.
ed 227 Dundas street.

CITY
Coal and Wood Yard,
TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF
returning our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we have, as before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 Coal.
The Coal is a new branch in our business, but we will endeavour to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.
Wholesale prices on application.
FAIRGRIEVE & CO.
London Oct. 9 1879. oodly

J. FERGUSON
UNDERTAKER,
King-st., London, Ontario
London, Oct. 18 1879. tue-fy

NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON. - - - - ONTARIO
—FOR—
The Largest and Finest Selection of Handsome Goods for CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
CALL AT
A. S. MURRAY & CO'S
Jewellery Store
RICHMOND

Lawn Sprinklers
THE SUB
call the a new and beau
which can be
78 King St
and up
1349y

A Woman Who Married Three Wives.

From London Truth Dec. 11.

Australia is greatly exercised respecting a woman who has for many years passed herself off as a man, and who has married several wives. In 1857 a girl bearing the name of Ellen Tremayne came to Melbourne in the Ocean Monarch. On her arrival she married a fellow passenger of the name of Mary Delahanay, and assumed herself the name of Edward De Lacy Evans. Mary having died, "she" married Sarah "she" married Julia Maynard. Julia is still alive, but Miss Edward De Lacy Evans, having come into some land, has been in the Kew Lunatic Asylum, where his or her sex was discovered owing to each inmate being forced to take a bath. The curious circumstance connected with this case is that not one of the wives revealed the imposition that had been practiced upon her; nor did the miners with whom Miss Edwards worked for above twenty years ever suspect that she was a woman.

WANTED,
$1,000 American Money
AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY,
197 Dundas St., for Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND VALISES
now and save money.
American Bills taken for same.
C. F. AYARS, 197 Dundas St.

COME ALONG JOHN
To C. F. AYARS and buy Trunks and Valises Cheap. American Bills taken.
ed 227 Dundas street.

CITY
Coal and Wood Yard,
TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF
returning our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we have, as before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 Coal.
The Coal is a new branch in our business, but we will endeavour to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.
Wholesale prices on application.
FAIRGRIEVE & CO.
London Oct. 9 1879. oodly

J. FERGUSON
UNDERTAKER,
King-st., London, Ontario
London, Oct. 18 1879. tue-fy

NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON. - - - - ONTARIO
—FOR—
The Largest and Finest Selection of Handsome Goods for CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
CALL AT
A. S. MURRAY & CO'S
Jewellery Store
RICHMOND

Lawn Sprinklers
THE SUB
call the a
new and beau
which can be
78 King St
and up
1349y

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with a large number of requisitions I have received from many of the ratepayers of this Ward, I offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1880, and solicit your votes and influence.
Your obedient servant,
oodtd NICHOLAS WILSON.

W. L. CARRIE,
STATIONER,
has in stock a large and beautiful set of goods for the holidays, consisting of Pocket Family and Teachers' Bibles, Church Services, Prayer Books, Hymn Books, the Poets in all styles of binding, Writing Desks, Purses, Inkstands, Card Cases, Pencil Cases, Photograph, Autograph and Scrap Albums, Stereoscopes and Diaries, &c., &c. A full selection of Books and Annuals for young and old people, Crandall's Games, &c.
417 Richmond St.

JOSEPHINE
KID GLOVES,
Forty Cents Per Pair,
AT
Brunton's,
Corner Market Lane and Dundas St.

THE
London Stammering Institute,
121 MAPLE STREET.

TESTIMONIAL.
I have been an inveterate stammerer for 40 years. I tried all sorts of cures, but without success, until two days ago. I placed myself under Prof. Rutherland's treatment, and now I am an accomplished speaker, and I know that I will remain so again. My address is Dalhousie P. O.
ANDREW COLVIN.
London, Dec. 4th, 1879.

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELIABLE TOBACCOS.

Hew
D

To the Electors of No. 6 Ward.

London, Dec. 16, 1879. 1376d

HAVING BEEN REQUESTED by a large number of the electors to offer as a candidate for the position of Alderman, I have consented to comply with their request, and solicit your votes and influence to secure my election. Your obedient servant,
London. R. HOWARD.

TO THE RATEPAYERS
—OF—
No. 5 Ward.

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with a large and influential requisition from many of the ratepayers of this Ward, I offer myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor for the year 1880, and solicit your votes and influence.
Your obedient servant,
oodtd NICHOLAS WILSON.

W. L. CARRIE,
STATIONER,
has in stock a large and beautiful set of goods for the holidays, consisting of Pocket Family and Teachers' Bibles, Church Services, Prayer Books, Hymn Books, the Poets in all styles of binding, Writing Desks, Purses, Inkstands, Card Cases, Pencil Cases, Photograph, Autograph and Scrap Albums, Stereoscopes and Diaries, &c., &c. A full selection of Books and Annuals for young and old people, Crandall's Games, &c.
417 Richmond St.

JOSEPHINE
KID GLOVES,
Forty Cents Per Pair,
AT
Brunton's,
Corner Market Lane and Dundas St.

THE
London Stammering Institute,
121 MAPLE STREET.

TESTIMONIAL.
I have been an inveterate stammerer for 40 years. I tried all sorts of cures, but without success, until two days ago. I placed myself under Prof. Rutherland's treatment, and now I am an accomplished speaker, and I know that I will remain so again. My address is Dalhousie P. O.
ANDREW COLVIN.
London, Dec. 4th, 1879.

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELIABLE TOBACCOS.

Hew
D

To the Electors of No. 6 Ward.

London, Dec. 16, 1879. 1376d

HAVING BEEN REQUESTED by a large number of the electors to offer as a candidate for the position of Alderman, I have consented to comply with their request, and solicit your votes and influence to secure my election. Your obedient servant,
London. R. HOWARD.

TO THE RATEPAYERS
—OF—
No. 5 Ward.

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with a large and influential requisition from many of the ratepayers of this

XMAS PRESENTS.

A. B.
POWELL
& CO.,

HAVING AN INTEREST IN the happiness and welfare of the citizens, and being desirous that all should be enabled to dispense the most acceptable gift purchasable, at a price within the reach of all, they will, for

The Next Two Weeks,

offer their full range of

KID GLOVES!

consisting of colors for evening and street wear, at the following

Great Reduction:

—VIZ:—

Special job Josephine make, reduced to 40c, worth 50c.
Our Rowsial 2-button, price 65c and 75c, for 50c.
Our Sensation 2-button, price 65c and 75c, for 48c.
Our Favorite 2-button, price $1, for 85c.
Our Favorite 4-button, price $1 75, for $1 25.
Our Favorite 6-button, price $1 75, for $1 50.
Our Favorite 12-button, price $2 50, for $2.
Our Favorite 20-button, price $4 75, for $2 50.
Rouillon Josephine, in 2 and 4-button, reduced proportionately. Also the celebrated Roussard & Morrison Gloves included.
Gentlemen's Kids, 1-button price $1 12 reduced to 95c.
Gentlemen's Kids, 2-button, price $1 25 reduced to $1 10.
Our citizens will observe that they have a selection of in ty 5,000 pairs. All well know the celebrated makes of gloves that we keep. The prices given above should be sufficiently suggestive.

A. B. POWELL & CO
The Kid Glove House.

CHRISTMAS
—AND—
NEW-YEAR'S
New Arrivals
—AT—
CRYSTAL HALL.

New French Flowers
New Bronzes
New Dresden Vases
New Electro Plated Ware
New China Tea Sets
New China Dessert ets
New China Toilet Sis
New China Dinner Sets
New Iridescent Glassware
Moustache Cups and Saucers
Motto Cups and Saucers
Ground Imid Cups and Saucers
Motto Mugs

A Grand Clearing Sale
of the above goods is going on
At SACRIFICING PRICES
preparatory to take stock, at
W. J. Reil & Co'S
DUNDAS STREET

Xmas Pesents!
GO TO POCCK BROS'
—OR—Christms Slippers
GO TO POCCK BROS'
—FOR—
Ladies' and tts' Skating Boots

XMAS!
—FOR A—Handsome Christmas Prese
—AT A—LOW PRICE,
—GO TO—
T. Beattie & C
FOR THE HOLIDAY
One case of New Scotch Suitings—something very choice of excellent value.
New and very cheap line in French Coatings.
We are making Full Dress Suits at very low prices.
For style, fit and excellence of finish our work cannot b celled.
ROBT. WALLAC
146 Dundas street, nearly Opp. Market Lane.

JUST IMPORTED
EXTRA FINE
FOR Silk Handkerchie
Christmas
CHOICE SILK SCARF
Fine Silk and Cashmere Sc
R. A. GARLICK
174 Dundas st.

BURNS
Will offer 10-DAY 500 R
ULSTERS, from Three Dollars
wards.
Also, 200 GIRLS' PALETOTS, v
cheap. Buy one as a Christ
Gift for your Boys and Girls.
GEORGE BURN
Dundas street, London.

H. B. ALLE
WILL OFFER SPECIAL
Fashionable Millinery
—AT—
GREATLY REDUCED PRIC
DURING THE NEXT 30 DAYS.
adies, Call and See the Splendid Corset at 50 C H. B. B. ALLEY, Dundastdaly

FOR CHRISTMA
LARGE STOCK OF
Silk Handkerchiefs & Scar
GRAHAM'S,
419 RICHMOND ST. OPP. "ADVERTISER" OFF
London, Dec. 19, 1879.

The Big Dry Goods Arcad
In our Dress Goods Department we commence a big c g sale. One thousand pieces to choose from. Great reduc immense sacrifice. Tweed suitings at 15c., 20c., 25c ool, heavy, at 25c. We boast of having one of the best oods Department in the city. Good light, new shades, cl oods. Dolmans, Circulars, Mantles and Millinery, all at c g sale prices. A new lot of Corsets at 40c. and upw lankets, Ulster cloths, away down in price. Remember g clearing sale. 196 Dundas street.
J. H. CHAPMAN & C
EATON'S OLD STAND.

NOTICE!
MR. JAMES GLEN
ing and well known as a Fashionable Merchant Tailor in city, has transferred his services to the establishment o
JOHN M. DENTON
here he will be glad to see his old friends and customers.
372 RICHMOND STRE

ARCHITECTS
T. H. TRACY, ARCHITECT,
SURVEYOR AND CIVIL ENGINEER,
City Hall, London, Ontario.

THE LONDON FREE PRESS, pr and published every lawful morn evening by the LONDON FREE
PRINTING COMPANY, at their office, corner Richmond Street, London.
JOSIAH BLACKBURN,
Managing Dire

...Pleasants
...nts, 50 Bibs
...el oranges, 10
...TION.

...A Christmas and New
...Dundas street east. Rest
...ED. KNIGHT. 1-1951

...only first-class restaurant for
...lemen in the city. Oysters,
...e, pigeon, chicken, duck, steaks,
...c., cooked to order on the shortest
...tice, at Hawthorn's Hotel and Rec
...European plan). L17tf

...Received to-day a large assortment of Fancy Goods for the holidays—kid gloves, silk handkerchiefs, ties, hair combs, jewellery, children's French hosiery, &c., at J. J. GIBBONS', Crystal Hall Building.

T. O'CALLEGHAN & Co.—Baltimore oysters direct from the bed and cheaper than the cheapest. Five different brands at 101 Dundas street next to the City Hotel.

Those suffering from cancers or running sores are recommended to communicate with Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Alias Craig, who has a salve entrusted to his care, said to invariably effect a cure. Liffo

OYSTERS.—Until further notice I will retail fresh can Oysters at 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c and 40c per can, and wholesale to the trade at 15c, 15c, 20c and 25c per can. All warranted fresh and good, or money refunded. All fruit in season. At P. MOUNTJOY'S, Opposite City Hall.

A PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.—The heart must be hard indeed that does not commiserate the abject wretchedness of the child when told that it must take a dose of Castor Oil. The aversion to the taste and smell of this most efficient and inestimable of laxative and cathartic medicines, seems to be universal, not only with children, but with grown up people. The chemist who could overcome these nauseous properties will ever be looked upon as a public benefactor This has been fully accomplished by SCOTT & BOWNE in their PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. It is pleasant to the taste, and within the reach of all. Price, only 25 cents a bottle. eod

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. eod

PRESCRIPTION FREE.—For the speedy Cure of Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or excess! Any druggist has the ingredients. Address, DAVIDSON & Co., 78 NASSAU St., New York. eod

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 40cts. to $1 per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets union carpets, stair carpets and stair rods bordering and rugs to match carpets; oocoa and seaside matting; English oil cloth, 24 feet wide 75cts. to $1.75 per yard; mattresses, feather beds and pillows; carpets matched and tacked free of charge; damask, plush and lace curtains and every other article suitable for furnishing houses. A large stock of general dry goods always on hand. Call before purchasing.
191 Dundas Street. R. S. MURRAY & Co'
139 Carling Street. KIRY

The Scientific American has published a useful hand book containing instructions how to apply for a patent, together with a large amount of information touching patents, trade marks, distinctive labels, ornament designs, &c. The Scientific and its supplements supply very useful matter for family reading as well as to those whose minds are not satisfied with passing trivialities.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT

New York Stocks.

New York, December 26—midnight.—Bullrards dull.

London Stocks.

London, Dec. 26.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon:

No.	NAME.	Ct	Buyers.	Sellers
	MONETARY.
126	Agricultural		121½	123½
30	Canadian		99	100
100	Dominion		120	122
164	Imperial Bank		100	101
80	Financial Co. of Can.		100	102
25	do do pref.		100	101
70	Bank of Toronto		120½	121
30	London Loan		100	103
50	Ontario		100	102
30	Royal Standard		100	103
10	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
60	Free Press Print'g Co		101
	London Gas		100	90
	Canada Landed		100
	Can. Estate Assoc'n		100
	Royal Railway		100

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Dec. 26 5:00 p. m.
Holiday in England to-day; no market.

Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 26, 9:35 a. m.—WHEAT opens at $1 34 Feb. CORN opens at 46½c May.
Chicago, Dec. 26, 12 noon.—FLOUR dull and nominal. WHEAT sold e. firm and higher; spring $1 30½ cash; $1 32 Jan. No. 2 spring at $1 34½ cash, $1 32½ January. CORN a shade lower; sold 43c to 43c cash, 47c bid January. OATS in good demand and a shade higher; at 29½c January. RYE steady. PORK in good demand and a shade higher, at $12 30 cash, and $13 00 bid January. LARD active, firm and higher; at $7 20 to $7 22½ cash, $7 47½ to $7 60 January. BULK MEATS steady shoulders $4 75 cash, short rib $6 75, short clear $6 75, quoted at $5 80, dressed hogs stronger, at $4 90 to $5 30. WHISKEY steady. RECEIPTS—Flour, 14,000 brls; wheat, 100,000 bushels; corn, 197,000 bushels; oats, 94,000 bushels; rye, 4,000 bushels; barley, 11,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 14,000 brls; wheat, 30,000 bushels; corn, 91,000 bush; oats, 34,000 bush; rye, 4,000 bush; barley, 6,000 bush.

New York.

New York, Dec. 26.—COTTON not quoted. FLOUR quiet, but about steady; receipts, 30,336 brls; sales, 3,000 brls; $6 50 to $6 65 for superfine state and western, $6 75 to $6 75 for common to fair extra state, $6 10 to $6 25 do western. RYE FLOUR dull at $5 50 to $ 50 for superfine. WHEAT quiet, but nominally un hanged; no sales to-day; receipts, 4,000 bush; exports, 81,694. RYE quiet, but steady; No 2 cash, quoted at 81 89½. BYE quiet, but steady; 70c for Canada and state. CORN about steady, but quiet; receipts, 143,000 bushels; sales, 15,000 bushels; 56c to 54c for western, spot. BARLEY quiet, but steady. State quoted at 75c to 78c, 6-rowed do at 76c to 80c. No. 1 Canada at 85c to 87c, do bright at 91 50. OATS dull; receipts, 43,000 bushels; sales, 16,000 bushels; 40c to 50c for mixed western and state. 50c to 54c for white do. PORK steady; $12 00 to $12 75. LARD quiet; $7 50. BUTTER quoted at 16c to 30c. CHEESE at 7c to 12c.

Oswego.

Oswego, Dec. 26.—WHEAT unchanged; white and red state at $1 45. CORN steady; mixed western at 56c to 60c. BARLEY quiet, but unchanged; No. 1 bright Canada held at $1. No. 1 Canada at 86c. No. 2 Canada at 82c. Sales of Albany of 9,000 bush by sample at 80c to $1, 5,700 bush by sample at $1 10 at New York, and 17,000 bush bright Canada at $1 05. RYE scarce and quiet.

Toledo.

Toledo, Dec. 26.—RECEIPTS.—Wheat, 19,000 bush; corn, 44,000 bush; oats, 30,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Wheat, 2,000 bush; corn, 30,000 bush; oats, 9,000 bush.
Toledo, Dec. 26.—WHEAT—No. 2 red at 81 45. CORN—No. 2 at 44 cash, 45c asked May OATS—No. 2 at 40c asked cash.

Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, December 26, 1:07 p. m.—WHEAT—$1 31½ for hard; No. 1 at $1 31½, No. 2 at $1 32 cash and Dec, $1 31½ Jan, $1 37½ Feb. No. 3 at $1 19½.

Detroit.

Detroit, Dec. 26.—WHEAT—Receipts, 32,000 bush. Shipments, 30,000 bush. Wheat stronger; white at $1 37½ cash and Dec, $1 38½ Jan, $1 42 Feb, inlling at $1 34.

Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Wheat—Fall, No 1 $1 33 to $1 35 No 2 $1 15 to $1 23, No 3 $1 28 to $1 29. Spring, No 1 $1 31 to $1 32, No 2 $1 28 to $1 29, No 3 $1 27 to $1 28. Barley: No 1 77c to 78c, No 2 67c to 68c, No 3 X 56c to 56½, No 3 48c to 50c. Peas, No 1 66c to 70c, No 2 64c to 66c. Oats: No 1 36c to 36c, No 2 34c to 35c. Corn: 52c to 56c. Flour: superior $5 85 to $5 90, strong bakers' $6 00 to $6 05, fancy $5 55 to $5 60, strong bakers' $6 00 to $6 05, spring extra $5 65 to $5 70, superfine $5 20 to $5 25. Bran: $9 50 to $10. Shorts: $11 00 to $11 50. Middlings: $12 00 to $13 00. Clover Seed: $4 00 to $4 75. Timothy $2 to $2 25. Hogs: $5 65 to $6 15. Butter: 12c to 20c. Barley: 52c to 53c. Rye: 45c to 50c. Oats: 30c to 32c. Wood: 32c to 34c. Spring wheat $1 21 to $1 30, fall $1 26 to $1 31. Wheat quiet, but steady and unchanged. Flour dull and held higher for some grades. Barley dull. Peas and oats nominally unchanged.

Brantford.

Brantford, Dec. 26.—Flour, No 1 super, $6 00 to $6 05. Fall wheat, $1 23 to $1 30; spring wheat, $1 15 to $1 21. Barley, 45c to 46c. Peas, 64c to 65c. Oats 34c to 36c. Cattle, 1 w, $3 00 to $6 00. Hogs, 6 to 6½c. Mutton, $5 to $6. Dressed hogs Beef, 6½c to 6½c. Sheepskins, $1 12 to $1 25. Wool, $5 75. Hides, 5c. Sheepskins, $1 12 to $1 25. Wool, 25c to 26c. Butter 15c to 18c. Cheese, 12c to 13c. Hay, $7 to $8. Potatoes, 50c to 55c. Corn, 52c to 54c.

Montreal Cattle Market.

Montreal, December 26.—Only a few head of cattle were on sale to-day at Viger market, and those of a poor quality. Prices for best ranged from 5c to 6½, Half a dozen of milch cows found buyers at $50 to $60 each.

Buffalo Live Stock Market.

East Buffalo, Dec. 26.—HOGS—Receipts, 41 cars; shipments, 17 cars; 9 cars to New York. Yorkers quoted at $4 90 to $5, Pigs at $4 90, one load of medium at $4 95.

Sleep

While sleep is the "season for all natures," it is injurious to curtail the hours of rest. For farmers and those who live in localities where people can retire at 8 or 9 o'clock in the evening, the old notion about early rising is still appropriate. But he who is kept up till 10 or 11 or 12 o'clock, then rises at 5 or 6, because of the teaching of some old dilty about "early to rise," is committing a sin against his own soul. There is not one man in ten thousand who can afford to do without seven or eight hours' sleep. All the stuff written about great men who sleep only three or four hours a night is spoonyphal. They have been put upon such small allowances occasionally and prospered; but no man ever yet kept healthy in body and mind for a number of years with less than seven hours' sleep. If you can get to bed early, then rise early, if you cannot get to bed till late, then rise late. It may be as proper for one man to rise at 8 as it is for another to rise at 5. Let the bell be rung at least thirty minutes before your public appearance. Physicians say that a sudden jump out of bed gives irregular motion to the pulse. It takes hours to get over a too sudden rising.

..The following is part of a conversation between an intoxicated man and a crockery dealer, as reported by the Lewiston (Me.) Gazette:—"Shay, partner (hic), do you keep oldinds (hic) crockery?" "Yes, sir; what would you like?" "Genuine 'stexicatin' cup." "You had better go on, sir; you are drunk." "Bog 'er pard'n (hic); lemme she fl'win' bowl (hic), ole man." "Do you see that door, sir?" "Genuine (hic) cup 'n' shaser but don't 'sabuse." "I shall call the police if you don't leave at once." "Losh look (hic) at your flesh pots of (hic) Egip, an' go way." A policeman given interfered.

..Ruskin says that not one man in 15,000 ever looks at anything. Mr. Ruskin evidently forgot the base-ball scores in American papers.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

Parnell, the Irish agitator, pronounces his name with the accent on the first syllable. He wants to keep at Par, and not sound his own nell.

This is a good time for charitable feelings and we hereby forgive all our enemies. We hope they will stay forgiven; but we warn them that they will have to behave themselves mighty sharp.

They were inspecting a group of statuary, and she asked him who that female figure was. He said he wasn't certain about it, but he thought it must be a bust of Sahara—at least it was a barren waist.

An English authority says that "ladies ought to answer notes as soon as they are received." If that rule is to be observed, it will be an easy matter to present a man's note which is overdue to his wife.

The question is frequently asked:—"Where can I do the best with my money in the purchase of holiday goods?" A careful examination of the advertising columns of the FREE PRESS will furnish the answer.

An evening or two since some frogs were being killed preparatory to being served up to some bon vivants at a San Francisco restaurant. The little animals were made to go up the ghost by being pierced through the spine with the small blade of a knife. At the prick of the knife lodgin' the majority of the frogs gave but a gasp, a quiver or two and all was over. One little fellow, however, behaved differently. On receiving the fatal thrust he sat upright, calmly folded his hands across his breast, and with eyes upturned to heaven stiffened in death. Seeing this, a Chinaman who was looking on was much affected. "Poo' fe'ow, poo' boy!" cried he; "yes, him talkee to God!" The Chinaman was one who had been attending Sunday school in this city, and the attitude and expression of the dying frog reminded him of what he was in the habit of seeing when at church.

How Christmas was Spent.

At Melrose, on Christmas Eve, the M. E. Sabbath School had an entertainment for the children. The Rev. Mr. Laycock, the pastor, officiated and opened the proceedings in a neat speech, in which he referred to the progress of the school during the year. The great attraction of the evening, however, was the singing of the Moravian Indian scholars, under the leadership of Chief Wabuno. He appeared as "big Injun" in native costume, and were several handsome silver medals. There is a wild richness about the female voices which is inimitable. The music all around was well rendered, and the singers were frequently encored. Chief Wabuno and the choir led the singing in service the following day in the Rev. Mr. Laycock's Church.

A shooting match was held in the same village on Christmas day at Wesley's Hotel. A large crowd from the surrounding neighborhood attended, and some rare sport was had. "Miss Hen" Smith, of the Western Hotel, city, took a lion's share of turkeys with his big rifle. Smith is the crack shootist in this part of Ontario for turkey shooting at a big distance. The birds are generally put up at three hundred yards, and a turkey does not appear a large spot at that distance, and is harder to hit than appears at first sight. A raffle took place in the evening at Wesley's, when a large number of geese, turkeys and ducks changed hands.

Elsewhere.

An assembly was held at the Misses Routledge's hotel, on Christmas Eve, and was attended by a large number of the jolly boys and girls from the surrounding country. The "light fantastic" was kept up until a late hour in the morning, when the compliments of the season were passed, all around, and the company separated.

Hyde Park

had a shooting match on Christmas Day, but owing to the want of game in the immediate village the sport was much shooting was done. Rattling was the order of the day.

Yesterday Squire Fisher, of this place, held court in the case of Thos. Robinson, of Lobo, who two weeks ago drove into Wm. Norton's team, of Caradoc, upsetting his wagon, smashing it all to pieces, and injuring Mr. and Mrs. Norton. The plaintiff, Robinson, acted in person, and Norton is paying damages and costs. The magistrate cautioned the accused against furious driving in the future, and warned him that if ever he again appeared on such a charge. Reckless and careless driving is coming far too common, and there needs a check put to it by imposing a heavy fine. It is not an unfrequent thing to see half-a-dozen teams flying along the road without any driver whatever—one following another—and the owners all together, riding on the first vehicle. On Wednesday last, near Hyde Park, such a train of wood teams were coming along without any drivers to them, and the hind teams ran into a cutter driven by a couple of ladies, smashing it to pieces. Indeed, it is fortunate the drive along the road unless you are extremely careful. As quick as a smash comes the perpetrator generally drives off as fast as he can to avoid paying damages, and, often, those who are injured are left to care for themselves. Besides, the county road are so narrow, and graded so sloping, that it is almost impossible, in places, to turn out with a cutter without upsetting.

There were a number of people frozen yesterday, driving on the roads. Frozen ears, noses and faces were quite common to be seen in the different wayside inns.

A young man named Prince, of Hyde Park, met, as he thought, a couple of ladies after dark, on his way to the station, and commenced to make free with them, and used insulting language. One of the ladies, however, happened to be a good stout man, Mr. Southam, Station Master at Hyde Park, and the other his lady. Mr. Southam, it is needless to say, administered a good sound thrashing to the young man for his impertinence, and let him go free of the law.

Byron

had a shooting match at Springbank Hotel on Christmas day. A lively time was had, and some good turkeys shot. The village otherwise was quiet.

Mr. Keany, miller, of this place, claims $5,000 from the London Water-works Commissioners for damage done to his mill by the water-works dam. It appears there was a special Act passed a number of years ago granting great privileges to those who constructed dams for flour mills. The Act gave them control over a great length of water stretch, and hence the plaintiff's claim. The water-works dam infringes on the dam according to the old Act, never been repealed.

...ll be a lively time at the rural ...s on Wednesday next, in ...nship Board of Trustees, ...as to come before the ... The majority will be ...ided fully two-thirds. ...about the matter, ...ur to give a ... the meetings ...ood at such, ...ew system is ...er out of the ...ting away ...emmant. ...ed for the ...ood pres- ...hose ex- ...respects ...tent are a ...ear to be ...fication got ...and parents ...n all to the ...as the pupils ...s to answer by ...by a foxy old ...ng sadiimoe, who ...stmas examination. ...parents believe all ...odgies of learning. ...vom ...ining our

...ll gets a wairm'n Monday times are expected, and Missouri.
...26, 1879.

POLICE COURT—FRIDAY.

I. LAWRASON, Esq., P. M., Presiding.

DRUNKS, &c.

...Sheppard and William Floyd had ...ir quarrel. Christmas cheer" ...Benevolent Society, but wouldn't ...With that understanding they

...a vagrant, was allowed

...charged by John ...ult. It seems ...as Mr. Brown's ...house on ...told that ...mates.

...upper had not been able to be ...ently as he wished, but ...pathy with the earnest ...Hammond had

...Bishop of ...ase yesterday ...Dr. Darnell preached

...for some time in ...Department in the ...has been promo ...d ...ge of a distillery at ...ia, Nova Scotia.

...Mr. C. Richardson, accountant, formerly of this city, has been left a legacy of £900 by the death of his aunt, Miss Lively, and is at present in England ...ing himself.

...It is stated that the Seventh Battalion will shortly be ...ssisted as the Seventh Fusiliers, and that before spring they will be supplied with the berskin headdress worn by the members of such corps.

Some statement made five or six fat turkeys from the house of Rev. Mr. Fraser, Presbyterian minister, of Melbourne, the other night. A thief who would steal from such a gentleman at this season is a "base hound."

Mr. and Mrs. McLarty, Southwold, the father and mother of Drs. D. and C. McLarty, of St. Thomas, celebrated their golden wedding on Monday. The members of the family and a few friends were present.

At the Police Court yesterday, Joseph Coombs and Wm. Joy were fined $3 and $3 50 costs each, or 21 days in jail at hard labor, for being disorderly on Dundas street on the evening of Saturday, 15th November. They went down.

Mr. John Plummer, the proprietor of the Talbot street waggon factory, gave his employes a supper on Christmas Eve, as has been his usual custom. "A good time" expresses the views of those who participated on the occasion.

Benevolently-inclined citizens are cordially invited towards making the Protestant Orphans' Home Christmas tree a success. About one hundred poor people are supported by this institution, and the present is a peculiarly suitable time and the object a deserving one.

The Rev. E. Williamson of the M. E. Church, Hamilton, formerly of this city, was presented by the ladies of his church with his own picture painted in India ink and beautifully mounted. It is worth about $20. Mrs. Williamson was also made the recipient of a house quilt worked by the ladies.

The Hamilton Times says the Fire Brigade of that city turned out to a fire the other day it eight seconds, everything being done in the orderly way. The Times thought just as well have made it one second as eight, from the fact that every person who knows a thing or two is aware that it can't be done in any such time. Tell another.

A very voluble young man by the name of Keasey, in speaking at the City Hall meeting last night, opposed the sale of the Exhibition Grounds, giving as one of his reasons that the money received therefrom would be thrown away just as all the rest of it was, and no one could tell where it had gone." The Doubt intended as complimentary to the Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Progress of Scarthboy.—The Dispatch this week presents its readers with a brief description of the building operations and other improvements in the town during 79. It is a subject of general remark by ...who have had opportunities to make ...comparison, that Strathroy surpasses ...towns of similar size in the num... ...ence and commodious brick ... the character of those ...ed this year it is likely ...e same ratio ...buildings that have ...of a superior ...of nomy ...prosperity of ...of the im...

...com...brick ...

...Bishop of ...

...Dundas street school ...rs. G. Glass, J. ...Lewis Adams and ...t Bond street school ...dies—Messrs. Boyd, Soar... ...and and Buckie. ...7 Ward—At St. George's school ...ence. Candidates—Messrs. J. R. Peel, J. D. Sharman, W. Wyatt, T. Partridge, ...son, and T. Howard.

The candidates for the Mayoralty are Messrs. John R. Minhinnick and John Campbell.

The names of the candidates for Water Commissionerships are Messrs. R. Lewis, John Christie and John Rayner.

...ted as reflecting upon the religious convictions of any one; and if some fail afront... ...ed, he deeply regretted it. He then announced that each of the clergymen would deliver short addresses, and to illustrate the good will which prevailed, he introduced each rev. gentleman to speak on behalf of other denominations than their own, and also profixing titles to their names.

Rev. "Bishop" Sanderson, as a Church of England minister, did not approve of all that had been done at this meeting. Every man had his own peculiar traits of character—Christ alone was perfect. He admired the rev. gentleman, who was soon about to leave the city, and for his fidelity to the cause of his Master. He concluded as an earnest defence of the course pursued by Mr. Hammond in not "toning down" the truth—in placing it plainly before his hearers—by expressing the hope that God would grant a guide him, wherever he might be, until his life's work was accomplished.

Rev. "Dr." Dinnison spoke for the Baptist Church, heartily endorsing all that had been previously said by Rev. Dr. Sanderson.

Rev. "Dr." Rose was proud to be introduced as a "Bible Christian." These meetings were held with a view that all might be converted, and become Bible Christians. He concluded by urging young converts to stand by the truth.

"Bishop" Camelon, of the Catholic Church, followed, and was pleased that he had been asked to attend the revival as an answer to his own prayers, although it had not taken the form which he anticipated. He made a great distinction between conversion and regeneration, and had no doubt whatever of the reality and genuineness of the work which had been accomplished.

Rev. Mr. Colling, for the Primitive Methodist Church, owed a debt of gratitude to Mr. Hammond, for introducing him to this revival work. He spoke of visiting the saloons and holding meetings in them, and concluded, asking all the previous speakers to invoking God's richest blessings to rest upon Mr. Hammond.

Rev. Mr. Philp then announced the collection, stating in connection therewith that Mr. Hammond had not, from first to last, mentioned "finance" to the committee. He urged a liberal collection, as it was to be given to Mr. H., as a testimony of good-will and gratitude. He also announced that the services would be continued by the ministers who had taken part in the present revival.

Rev. "Dr." Murray was proud to represent the Congregational Church. He trusted that the fire which had now been kindled in London would not be permitted to be extinguished, and was pleased to know that it had been decided to continue the services.

Rev. "Dr." Dimmick briefly spoke on behalf of the Canada Methodist Church. He had been highly pleased, refreshed and blessed at these meeting. Referring to Mr. Hammond holding similar services in St. Catharine's and Montreal, he trusted they would be able to send the news to him there of still further success in the conversion of souls.

Rev. "Dr." Wallace was pleased to represent that old bulwark—the Presbyterian Church. He told of his connection with and interest in the enquiry meeting, and of the good which he had himself derived.

Rev. Mr. Hadwin, the "Missionary from Greenland," had shed more tears during the last five weeks than for many years previously, and looked with favor upon "weeping blessings." He concluded with an interesting reminiscence of his own conversion.

Rev. Mr. Chapman, representing the Quakers," who spoke when the Spirit moved them, added his testimony to the results which had attended the pres- ...tual.

...The following is part of a conversation between an intoxicated man and a crockery dealer, as reported by the Lewiston (Me.) Gazette:—"Shay, partner (hic), do you keep oldinds (hic) crockery?" "Yes, sir; what would you like?" "Genuine 'stexicatin' cup." "You had better go on, sir; you are drunk." "Bog 'er pard'n (hic); lemme she fl'win' bowl (hic), ole man." "Do you see that door, sir?" "Genuine (hic) cup 'n' shaser but don't 'sabuse." "I shall call the police if you don't leave at once." "Losh look (hic) at your flesh pots of (hic) Egip, an' go way." A policeman given interfered.

..Ruskin says that not one man in 15,000 ever looks at anything. Mr. Ruskin evidently forgot the base-ball scores in American papers.

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., MONDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1879. WEEKLY NO. 6980

RLINGS'
REWED LONDON
r Ale,
er Beer
—AND—XX Porter
n the trade respect-
ly solicited.

Married.

s of John Porter, Esq., Hyde Park, Douglas, 1879, by the Rev. Mr. William George Buttery, ian Lottie Buttery, of Chicago.

last, parsonage, Sarnia, on the Rev W C Henderson, M A, Mr rt to Miss Emma Maunder, both of McGillivray.

last, parsonage, Sarnia, on the ev W C Henderson, M A, Mr Mary Ann Piper, both of the ne.

e of the bride's father, Pro- of Moss, on the 17th inst, by Jenkins, of Aldborough, the bride Miss Jane Toventon, of James Thornton, Esq., to Sarah.

Thursday, 18th inst, Frederick Chatham, on the 18th N. Grant, assisted by the Rev the Rev J D Flattery, the Rev Thomas Road, to Anne, eldest Agnes, Esq, of Chatham, late at the residence of the bride's Colchester, W J Travis, Wyman, to Jennie Young, A T Anderson, of Plympton.

Died.

ay, 23rd, aged 1 year. ughter of George Tuesday, from his resi- Burwell streets.

the 18th instant, Frederick son of Sir James Wilson, Esq., ath and 5 days.

HYATEKRA.

ond street, opposite the City Hall, offers to Diseases of the , and to Nervous Diseases. 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and from 6 to 8 p. m. 64 Dundas street, opposite

ATHIC REMEDIAL
INSTITUTE,
TORONTO, London, Ontario.

ERE BATHS.

REYNOLDS, D.D.S., STANDS- to my personal experience, Air Bath is made agreeable the treatment of Rheumatic Affections. It appears to me to undergo over any bath with ing power, with the breathing process, with the exceeding 90°, is a luxury to the young heart a triumph of in REYNOLDS. 001

NTS WANTED.

S WANTED, FOR A dware clerk, 2 book-keepers, 9 farm laborers, 10 boys. Also, good seamstresser. Washing at Jno Cunningham's Intelligence rest, London. If SONS VACANT.

ANTED—A SINGLE e of baking charge of a bake G, London, Ont. 1378

ANCING.

DANCING ACADE- Dundas street, Gents' class 8 p m. Second term opens Tuesday evening, 14th inst. ss a specialty.—G DAVIES, 19

ELLANEOUS.

ATING RINK, BUL- Grounds, foot of Dundas ent. Ice in good condition. to the Rink.—A Lamb. 1378

LL I MORE BEAUTI- OT BEAUTIFUL!!!—One thing more, and perfect. One full gilt-edge cards, for 40 of the most beautiful out of ected in the very highest A 1 fit or money refunded for 9 cts. beautiful!! most beautiful!!! rials and addressed hand- Name elegantly written in r Christmas or New Year's or call on W N YERKE, Dufferin and Piccadilly sts., city. 1378

THOSE BEAUTIFUL ds by Mrs. M. Rubb, the for 50c. per dozen, cannot be a. Factory—No. 33 Richmond 1367

OR SALE.

F BLACK PONIES, 4 erfectly sound and quiet, for ch seat at the Western Hotel. 1366

AGE, WAGON AND e Shop, with Dwelling House, age of Mechanicsville, doing a good ection of enclosed work, which for cause of sickness. Apply to —J. E. NORCUTT, Kilsyth

ORSES.—FOR SALE, A and Five Year Old Colts, in good ng Mares. Apply at Free Press

SEWING MACHINE
Sewing Machine Improvements, for sale Office of this paper. W

REAL ESTATE.

DWELLING AND LOT 24 feet frontage by 80 feet deep, with the choicest fruit and grape Albert street. Apply on the Gore. 1378

OR SALE, CHEAP.— Estate, Westminster.—PARKS W

ALE PROPERTY FOR- perties G W R Car Shops. Store with furniture, will be sold on pay to JOHN MCILLIN, on premi- dtf

TO LET

CLASS TWO-STORY ouse to let, corner Bond and ets. Possession given immed- to Wm Rowan, 315 Piccadilly 1366

TWO-STORY BRICK 468 Queen's Avenue; double doors, &c.; barn; hard and soft water; all in excellent repair. Gone, next door. 1366tf

ORDWOOD.

L COAL AND WOOD corner York and Wellington and maple wood, cut and uncut ade, well screened, delivered in any weight and measure ing or purchasing A. STARON, Proprietor.

WOOD — A LARGE of first-class wood, cut or cut reasonable rates. Measure guaran left at J. Mullin's, opposite Car McDonald's, Maitland street, will —Anon. Free, 436 Yorkstreet. Chiswick

MEDICAL.

DERSON, OF 84 JAMES nufacturing Surgeon of the Eye, Ear ow to be consulted at Tecumseh , on the first and third Thursdays h. Circe-eyes straightened. 1424dy

LOYD, M.D., C.M., PHY- AN, Surgeon, etc., graduate Bowdi's read, member College Physicians Ont. Office—Richmond street, Lon- 1424dy.

ELLES, D. D. S., URON DENTIST. Block, Richmond street. Grey

ABEN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. ved over Bradley's confectionery a Crystal Hall. NDAS STREET, LONDON. ctice solicited. 1424

HARDWARE.

S, OSBORN & HOBBS, ers and Wholesale Dealers in E AMERICAN HARDWARE ND 242 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON. letter solicited and promptly at- July

. THOMPSON, IMPORT- of and Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, Oil Skins, Felts and Hats, Richmond street, London, Ont. ly

TRUNKS AND TRUNKS.

BIN, L.D.S., DENTIST. Dundas street, Block, 110½ Dundas street.

ONALD, L.D.S., DEN- Office — Dundas street, four Richmond street over Lewis's Addy

For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
—AND—
HOLIDAY GOODS,
—THEY—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
220 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows' Hall.

Xmas Presents.
TOILET SETS
VASES
PERFUMES
&c., &c.. &c.,
—AT—
SHUFF'S DRUG STORE
LONDON EAST.
London East, Dec. 23, 1879. mwf

BUSINESS CARDS.

GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS cleansed and renovated by the only steam renovator. Old mattresses and chaff cushions made over equal to new.—JAMES F. HOWE, Mattress Factory, English Packing House, Bidout street. Kilsyth

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Mechanics, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Kilsyth

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the time to buy. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash price paid for second-hand clothing. Mr. Jenkins, 89 Dundas street, sixth shop, between Wellington and Clarence street. July

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for Cash by SAINSBURY, King street, two doors west of Market Square. Also, tinsmith, and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets, Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. Country orders attended to. Parties wishing to sell, and others to call at- tended to. July

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to acquaint his friends and the public that he has removed business to the old stand, 365 Dundas street—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. July

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. D. F. DEMMOSE, Proprietor. Kilsyth

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Windsor.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.50 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock.—GIBBS & BARRY, proprietors. Kilsyth

MCKELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted it in a style to suit the requirements of the travelling public. Every comfort and convenience attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. ROSS. July

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travellers will find it to their advantage to make a trial. Sad and baggage for the sample rooms. Livery in connection. JOSEPH BLACK, Jr., Prop. Kilsyth

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, near G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every respect. Good accommodation for commercial travellers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. POTTER. Kilsyth

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ONT. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. Every attention to guests. Good P. J. HARRY & CO., Proprietors. Dec

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE HOTEL, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES GATHWAY, Proprietor. 1901y

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block Richmond street, London, Ont. 1901y

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office — Corner Carling & Richmond streets, London, Ont. EDWARD HARRIS, JAMES MAGEE, GEO. M. COX.

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders'—Mirrors, pictures framed, Brackets, Cornices, Mouldings, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 80 Dundas st. Fisby FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of fine Goods, 374 Dundas street, near Albert Block.

—FOR—
NEW FRUITS
—AND—
CHOICE GROCERIES,
ALL KINDS, AND Everything Suitable for the Holiday Season
—GO TO—
A. HARDY,
358 Richmond street, Red Front. 1dcodly

SMOKE
—THE—
Old Man's Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
sep77

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent, Dundas street, opposite Salter's Grove, London East. Jly

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., London, England, Physician, Surgeon &c., residence to Dr. DeLong, Dundas street opposite Town Hall, London East Fdoodhn

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR Store on Weston street, East end of G.W.R. Crossing. Carling's and Labatt's ale and porter Cases brought to bottles. A call respectfully solicited. Also Carling's fresh spring. JOHN MULLEN, Proprietor. Fdecfly

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
1310 ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

GRAND TRUNK
Coal and Wood Yard,
ADELAIDE ST., ADJOINING THE VICTORIA CAR WORKS.

THE SUBSCRIBER DESIRES to thank his many friends and the public generally for past favors, and to inform them that he has in stock the best qualities of WOOD and COAL, the latter well screened and under cover from the weather, therefore in better condition for consumers.
Prices as Low as at Any Other Yard.
Orders respectfully solicited, which, if mailed or left at the Yard Office, will have prompt attention for any part of the city.
GEORGE RENDELL.
Oct. 16, 1879. 1078m

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West:

NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.

THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!

KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
In Every Department Extra Value.
WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.

Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

THE MAINE RUMPUS.

Both Parties on the Offensive

Portland, Dec. 27.—The principal Protestant clergymen of Portland have united in a petition to the Governor to ask the advice of the Supreme Court. The Episcopal Bishop Neely is among the signers. There is no disorder throughout the State.

Augusta, Me., Dec. 27.—Gov. Garcelon arrived here last night, but without troops. The excitement in Bangor is lessening, but a rumor was afloat last night that the Republicans intended to seize the State arsenal. All the guns are missing from the armory of the Hersey Light Infantry at Oldtown, and it is supposed the members have taken them to their homes. This company, it is said, can be counted on to support the Fusionists. It is believed the Governor can procure transportation through Bangor of the arms he desires by requisition.

Bangor, Dec. 27.—Considerable excitement still pervades the people of this section, and the paperts from other sections have not lessened the anxiety for the future. Col. White has sent a circular to the commanding officers of the thirteen military companies of the State, making inquiries in relation to arms, ammunition, equipments, &c. He says if the militia is called upon they will respond. Governor Garcelon has not yet sent in a requisition for the arms and ammunition from the State arsenal. The opinion prevails, however, that such an order will soon be given.

A member of the Republican Town Committee at Biddeford has offered to be one of a party to tar and feather E. C. Moody, of the Governor's Council.

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 26.—The Democrats had a large meeting at the City Hall tonight to ratify the action of the Governor and Council. Three thousand people were present and a very enthusiastic meeting was held. Gov. Garcelon spoke at length, upholding the counting-out action.

New York, December 28.—The Herald's Augusta special states that the members of the Council say the Adjutant-General has been ordered to have the arms in the Bangor arsenal brought to Augusta by Monday night, and if the mob again interfere with the removal there will be bloodshed. The Fusionists are gaining ground by the temperate tone of their speeches and appeals to the people for the maintainence of law and order. Governor Garcelon makes friends every day by his dignified bearing and refusal to recede from the position he assumed.

The Rockland Opinion has hoisted his name at the head of its columns for the Presidency, urging as its strongest claim that he cannot be bulldozed.

The Herald's Washington special says that the organ of the National Greenback Party here denounces the action taken by Gov. Garcelon and Council, and intimates that it will injure the National party. It is understood in Washington that a sufficient number of the Greenback legislators will return as elected, but will for the credit of their party fail to attend the organization of the Legislature. Thus a quorum will be prevented, and no Governor elected. It is also intimated that the Republican members claiming to be elected will organize and choose Davis Governor. Davis will then telegraph to President Hayes, who will flash back, and who did all in their power, Congress is powerless under this Act, the Supreme Court having decided that in rebellious cases the Court must be governed by the act of the President. In such cases it would be, it is argued, contempt of court on the part of Congress to question the signature of Davis to the electoral vote of Maine for 1881.

A STEAMER BLOWN UP.

Three Persons Killed and Others Seriously Injured.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 27.—The steamer Prairie City, plying on the Wabash between New Harmony and Wabash stations, blew up this afternoon above Hodge's Landing. The fireman, cabin boy and female cook are missing. The body of Mrs. Capt. McIntyre was found on shore with both arms off. Capt. Cox, who was at the wheel, was blown up with it and fell in the creek. His arm was broken, ankle sprained, and otherwise bruised. The engineer received only slight injuries. The survivors escaped on a barge in tow, and were taken to New Harmony.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
O. DAVISON,
729 and 731 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

X CENTS
A ten cent sample bottle of EARESNEW BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. For sale by all Druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. Jly.

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jly International House, Dundas street.

P. J. EDMUNDS
SOLICITOR CANADIAN & FOREIGN
PATENTS
FIRST PRIZE
ENGRAVER ON WOOD.
366 RICHMOND ST. cor. KING.
LONDON, ONT.
eod

—GET YOUR—
Finnan Haddies, Fresh Oysters
CANNED FRUITS AND FISHES,
—AT—
J. W. HARDY'S,
Cor. King and Richmond streets, opposite McFarlane's Hotel. mwfly

Arkell's Brewery
AMBER ALE
—AND—
XXX Porter.
Stock always on hand. Orders left at the Royal House or the Post Office will receive prompt attention. Addy

THE AFGHAN WAR.

A Great Victory Won by General Roberts.

The Enemy Dispersed and Cabul and Bala Hissar Again in British Hands.

How Baker Treated Cabul and Caused the Uprising.

Only Five British Officers and Men Killed in the Last Battle

The Ground Strewn With Afghan Slain — Gen. Gough's Advance — Communications With India Being Re-opened.

London, Dec. 28.—Roberts telegraphs on the 23rd inst:—Dumitory attacks were kept up all day. Yesterday information was received that a general attack was to be made at daybreak to-day. A large number of the enemy were seen occupying distant villages and approaching nearer at dark. This morning a fire was lighted on Asmi Heights. We were appraised that this would be the enemy's signal for attack. Immediately the attack was commenced on three sides. We were prepared on the south and west, and the enemy did not come within the fortification. On the northeast corner of Behmaroo Heights some thousands collected and evidently attempted a assault. As soon as the enemy's intention was fully developed I determined on a combined attack with the cavalry and artillery. These issued by the gorge between Behmaroo Heights, opened fire on the enemy's flank, and speedily dislodged them. The cavalry pursued and sabred large numbers of the enemy, who retired from all points, and hastily retreated to the city. We have now occupied some advanced villages, particularly those on the Bathak Road. Gough's camp is visible six miles to the east.

Roberts telegraphs on the 24th:—Our movements yesterday was complete. The enemy's loss is severe. Our losses are five killed, including Captain Dundas and Lieutenant Nugent, by premature explosion when blowing up towers in neighboring village. Thirty-three were wounded, the majority of whom are doing well. Those of the enemy living at Cabul went to their homes after the defeat. Kohistanis and Logaris remained at Cabul a few hours, but all fled during the night. Two of the enemy's leaders, Mushki Alim Priest and Mahomed Jan fled early in the day. Another prominent leader is reported fled with Yakoob Khan's eldest son towards Wardak. The cavalry are in pursuit. Bala Hissar and the city will be taken possession of this afternoon. The former will be occupied if it appears certain that there is no danger from hidden mines. Yakoob Khan's wife and children and the daughter of the late Akbar Khan, who, it is reported, contemplate flight, and who did all in their power to incite the Afghans, will be brought to Shirpur to-day. I telegraphed Bright to push forward detachments from Jugdulluk to Lohbaba and Letabund. I will send a force to occupy Butkak to-morrow. Communication with India will thus be rapidly restored. Gough's brigade arrived this morning. Slight snow last night and all week. Akbar Khan was the principal opponent of the British in 1841, and his daughter, it is reported, distributed £30,000 to excite the Afghans to the present rising.

ROBERTS' DANGER.

London, December 28.—A Cabul despatch on the 14th, hitherto withheld by the Viceroy, discloses, for the first time, Roberts' danger. At that date Baker's troops sacked Cabul and suburb. This barbarity exasperated the Afghans. 30,000 of whom retook Baker's position, and drove the English out, in a disorderly retreat. The English steadily evacuated their positions outside of Shirpur, but the enemy's fire was tremendous and their bravery acknowledged.

Lahore, Dec. 28.—The Afghans who attacked Roberts at Shirpur on the 23rd numbered 6,000. The ground around Shirpur is thick with the corpses slain.

London, Dec. 28.—Roberts re-occupied Bala Hissar, Cau-dahar. The Cabulese troops plundered Herat for three days. Yacob Khan, who is a puppet in their hands, sent his father-in-law here to treat for peace.

GREAT BRITAIN.

RELIEVING THE IRISH DISTRESS.

Dublin, Dec. 27.—Davitt, one of the political agitators recently arrested, has been despatched to the west of Ireland by the Irish Land League as Relief Commissioner. The committee for the distribution of the Duchess of Marlborough Relief Fund have found already $32,000 available for distribution.

DEATH OF HEPWORTH DIXON.

London, Dec. 27.—The Rev. William Hepworth Dixon, of the Inner Temple, historian and critic, died to-day.

FALL IN GAS STOCKS.

London, Dec. 27.—This week's Economist says:—In home securities gas shares are the sole exception to the improved feeling These have declined heavily. Indeed, it seems as if another scare had set in, in consequence of the telegrams reporting Edison's completion of his electric light. All the gas companies have suffered more or less, the heaviest decline being £8 per share and the smallest £1.

THE IRISH FAMINE.

London, December 28.—The Bishop of Achonry, Sligo, states that he fed 300 starving people on Christmas Eve out of his own funds. He reserves the money sent by charitable persons for a darker and more dismal day. He gives an appalling picture of the approaching misery, and censures the callous conduct of the Government, who, while they cannot spare money to avert the Irish famine, can waste millions in wars of equivocal morality.

THE IRON TRADE.

The iron trade continues to improve, and higher prices are looked for.

THE IRISH DISTRESS.

Ireland is comparatively quiet since Parnell's departure. It is understood the remaining leaders await the result of Parnell's mission. The Marlborough relief movement makes slow progress. The Government officials say they will defer their plans for relief, hoping that private charity will be sufficient. Charitable authorities say that never was distress more general.

FRANCE.

THE CABINET STILL UNFORMED.

London, Dec. 27.—A Paris despatch says that Gambetta himself would not succeed at this moment, and with this Chamber, in forming a durable majority, resolved on supporting his Cabinet.

EX-MARSHAL BAZAINE.

Ex-Marshal Bazaine, convicted of treason in the surrender of Metz, and who escaped from prison with the assistance of his wife and her cousin, has been refused permission to do some family affairs in France.

PERSONNEL OF ANOTHER REMODELLED MINISTRY.

Paris, Dec. 28.—It is asserted that Ferry has had a long and cordial conference with Gevry to-day. The following Ministry has been constituted:—President, President of the Council and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Lepere; Minister of Worship; Cesact, Keeper of Seals; Finance; Farre, War; Jauriberry, Marine; Ferry, Public instruction; Works; Tirard, Commerce; Posts and Telegraphs. Waddington will receive the Ambassadorship to APPALLING HORROR.

From 150 to 200 People Drowned.

The Dundee Train Precipitated Through a Bridge.

The Storm Lashes Frith of Tay up no Trace of the Dead.

A Scene of Terrible Excitement—Thousands Waiting for Intelligence.

London, Dec. 28.—A portion of the bridge across the Frith of Tay [illegible] while the train from Edinburgh [illegible] strong the steamboat was [illegible] the scene of the disaster, [illegible] bags have been washed [illegible] from the bridge. There is no [illegible] the train is in the water, and [illegible] sons, who are certainly all drowned, are estimated at from 150 to 200.

LATER.

The gale moderated somewhat [illegible] the Provost of Dundee and a number of leading citizens started in a steamer to the scene, but have not yet returned. The excitement at the Tay bridge station is appalling. Many thousand people are congregated awaiting definite intelligence.

London, Dec. 28.—The missing Dundee train was crossing the bridge, [illegible] and fell in, [illegible] of fire became visible. The railway officials, in spite of the [illegible] waited along the bridge from Dundee until they found there was a large gap caused by the fall of two or three of the largest spans.

ANOTHER STEAMER MISSING.

The Aragon Founders, with all on Board.

London, Dec. 28.—It is reported at Bristol that the steamer Aragon, from New York, Nov. 26, for Bristol, foundered in the Atlantic, and all on board lost. Her owners know nothing of any disaster to the vessel.

GERMANY.

A SOCIALIST PRESS DISCOVERED.

Berlin, Dec 28.—The police discovered a socialist printing press, and the printer and his two assistants were arrested.

A COMMERCIAL CONFERENCE.

It is said that proposals are to be made to the Government to bring forward a bill to replace the firm of Hamburg merchants, who recently suspended, by buying their factories and plantations in Samoa and other South Sea Islands. To avert the loss this occasioned in German commerce, the proposals stipulate that a new company be formed by the Government, giving subsidy by securing to shareholders five per cent.

BISMARCK DENIES.

Berlin, December 28.—Bismarck denies writing to Senator Jacini at Rome, favoring a partial disarment by the Powers.

POLITICAL OFFENDERS.

Berlin, Dec. 28.—The police for the last few days have been thoroughly searching the lodgings of Russian and Polish students. Several arrests besides those of a Socialist printer and two assistants have been made.

RUSSIA.

MEN AND HEMP IN DANGER.

Berlin, Dec. 27.—The Russian Government does not conceal its intention of attacking Merv, and possibly Herat, in the spring. General Kaufmann will command the expedition, starting from the Amu Darya river, and General Terghieff another, starting from the Caspian Sea.

ITALY.

A POPULAR EXCITEMENT.

Rome, Dec. 28.—At the funeral of General Avezzana, the police, amid a tumultuous scene, seized the "Italia Irredenta" flag, but their attempt to seize the Republican flag was evaded. It is stated that the attack on Tuesday on the grenadiers who were with the King hunting was probably made by four poachers, who fired and fled. One has been arrested.

PEDESTRIAN.

End of the New York Walk—Frank Hart Takes the Lead with 540 Miles—Rae's Record.

New York, December 27.—The extraordinary scores made by the pedestrians attracted a large crowd this afternoon and evening at Madison Square Garden, and 6,000 people witnessed the close of the contest. The close of the contest witnessed a bitter struggle for fourth place between Hughes and Fitzgerald. At 10.18 Campana finished his 500th mile and left the track. Ten minutes later Williams retired, after completing 502 miles. At 10.31 Rae, with a score of 451 miles, also retired. Hughes gave up at 10 33 with a score of 520 miles. A minute later Hart completed his 540th mile, and put on the belt and ran once around the track carrying the American flag. Faber, who had left the track some minutes before, completed 531½ miles and Krohne 534½ miles. At 10.45 Fitzgerald, having secured fifth place by making 520 miles and four laps, retired, and the contest ended. Frank Hart, O'Leary's protege, now called "Black Dan," was greatly cheered before he left the Garden, for by his unassuming manner and graceful style of walking he made himself hosts of friends.

New York, Dec. 28.—The proceeds of the late walking match are $24,000. The manager gets half; Hart, $8,000; Krohne, $1,200; Faber, $600. O'Leary has attached Hart's share for an alleged debt of $600

OVERFLOWING ITS B[illegible]

The Ohio River Threatens

Cincinnati, Dec. 27 [illegible] up to the house de[illegible] the city, and rising [illegible] morning the "Re[illegible] monts on the riv[illegible] The parties are [illegible] wise preparing [illegible] to boats a spe[illegible] rant. Drift[illegible] sions, are [illegible] ferce.

Fata[illegible]

FISH! FISH!
RECEIVED TO-DAY PER EXPRESS.
10 Cases Haddies,
10 Cases Bloaters,
10 Cases Mackerel,
20 Kegs Malaga Grapes.
We can ship to Dealers, at LOWEST [illegible] the above goods daily per express on receipt
Horner and [illegible]

NEWS [illegible] GRAPHS

CANADA.

The Daniel[illegible] called together [illegible] Sess on the 13th [illegible]

[illegible] from assumption [illegible] Saturday [illegible] tragedy [illegible] a corpse [illegible] year, [illegible] there is [illegible] tion exist[illegible] to the prop[illegible] Relief Fund is [illegible] that it will be op[illegible]

The commit[illegible] money orders [illegible] Canada, [illegible] was best [illegible] January [illegible] exceeding [illegible] extended [illegible] to the [illegible] order [illegible] 27 10s., 60 [illegible] bounding [illegible]

[illegible] bodies [illegible] all are [illegible] [illegible] gentlemen [illegible] shipped there from [illegible] western Ontario.

In the [illegible] Court, [illegible] dent in Langstaff, the [illegible] money election case, [illegible] counsel fees, the [illegible] to allow counsel fees [illegible] sent argued the case [illegible] remembered that Mr. [illegible] cant in the election case [illegible] Supreme Court on the [illegible] diction, holding that [illegible] could not try Dimble [illegible] appeal was dismissed [illegible] respondent, made up [illegible] fees, but the Registrar [illegible] and refused to do so. It is quite an interesting [illegible] pleadings was being h[illegible]

Wm. Hampton was [illegible] months' imprisonment [illegible] Toronto Police Mag[illegible] a fatality of [illegible] and some on [illegible] Ronald. The [illegible] excitement, as the [illegible] very good society [illegible] thought a man of [illegible] pendent means. A large [illegible] friends of the prisoner were in court [illegible] them being some of the best fashionables [illegible] young men in the city. A sensation was created when, before delivering sentence, the Magistrate asked the Crown Attorney if there were any previous convictions against the prisoner, and that gentleman stated that Hampton started out in life by being sent to the Reformatory Prison at New York in company with Clutch DuncLoe, the notorious burglar, from whence he managed to escape in a basket. Then he was sent to the Tombs and afterwards to Sing Sing, from which place he escaped in a skiff by the aid of an hotel-keeper. Three years ago he went to Toronto, and during that time has lived on his means.

DOMINION WIRELESS.

The wild wave is general from Windsor to Father Point.

The export of meat to the old country from the Maritime Provinces is largely on the increase.

At Three Rivers, Que., a verdict of temporary insanity was rendered Saturday evening in the Black suicide case.

At Oxford, Cumberland County, N. B., Friday night, the thermometer fell to 98°, and at daylight on Saturday to 86° below zero, lower than ever known before in that region.

The St. John, N. B., customs officers seized and sold "George Barker," a Boston trotting horse with a 2.30 record, that has been "doing" the provinces as a green 2.50. The owner failed to pay duty and the animal was sold for $150.

In Brantford, on Saturday, Mr. Scott and his hired man were driving up Dalhousie street when some boys jumped on the woodrack of the sleigh, overbalancing it. Mr. Scott and his man were caught in the rack and could not extricate themselves. The horses became unmanageable and but for the prompt action of some gentlemen passing, who stopped the horses, it might have been a serious affair.

LATEST FROM THE NOR'-WEST.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—Exceptionally cold weather still prevails here. The thermometer registered fifty degrees below zero.

The City Council has decided to appoint E. W. Jarvis as engineer to superintend the construction of the Winnipeg railway and traffic bridge, and will petition the Dominion Government to allow the iron superstructure from the United States to come in free of duty.

Over 3,500 homestead entries were made during the year ending on the 31st October last, being considerable over double the number entered during the previous year. The number of sales made during the period was 900, which is only [illegible] excess of the number made in [illegible]

Telegraphic communication [illegible] interrupted all the week [illegible] weather.

Various rumors have [illegible] of persons being frozen [illegible] authenticated, except [illegible] men on Centre [illegible] way.

The [illegible]

Gree[illegible]

A PERILOUS POSIT[illegible]

The Los Pinos Peace Commission [illegible] the Mercy of the Ute Cut-throats.

Denver, Co[illegible] Dec. 28.—A special of the 26th [illegible] very serious. Hale[illegible] from Los [illegible] to-night [illegible] he star[illegible] which [illegible] has [illegible]

The Free Press.

Monday, Dec. 29, 1879.

THE MAYORALTY ELECTION.

The question as touching the Mayoralty has narrowed itself down as between Mr. J. H. Minhinnick and Alderman Cunningham. The retirement of Mr. Ie. G. Leonard from the field, which so many regret, has brought forward a new issue, and one that will be altogether favorable to [illegible] gentleman [illegible] Council [illegible] of the [illegible]

THE AFGHAN DIFFICULTY.

The people of Great Britain and all their fellow-citizens over the whole world will breathe more freely after learning the good news from Afghanistan. If it be true that Gough has joined his forces with those of Roberts it relieves the mind from the most serious part of our apprehensions, since his position was judged by far the most dangerous, whether as regards defective supplies or the strength of the foes said to surround him on all sides. So far as one could form an opinion of his position and the dangers th[illegible] seemed [illegible] to say so, [illegible] that death [illegible] fearful odds, [illegible] blood was all [illegible] of that splendid [illegible] or the still [illegible] was not quite [illegible] so ill, was [illegible] both of these brave [illegible] the bottom of his [illegible] arrival in the camp of Roberts." Whether the latter [illegible] considered safe [illegible] but semi-bar [illegible] have been [illegible] and [illegible] the murder [illegible] But [illegible] soften [illegible] would [illegible]

[illegible] tribes. [illegible] severe [illegible] to be [illegible] these [illegible] not at home and the country abroad would, the murderers of British [illegible] gold medals struck in [illegible] tribesmen points in this [illegible] British Government will [illegible] induced to take the [illegible] that the Afghans [illegible] to do so to that the [illegible] any or the United [illegible] by acted in a similar rude and [illegible] knew well that [illegible] defiance laws that [illegible] and therefore [illegible] they re- [illegible] retain a con- [illegible] skeleton, then this [illegible] to the complete [illegible] and then on [illegible] the English power [illegible] the Afghans them- [illegible] the greatest gainers by such a change. Law and order, peace and progress, intelligence and comfort would follow in her path, as these have always followed the establishment of her rule in other countries and in all quarters of the world. It is what some the Imperial authorities and the British Parliament may pursue in this matter is not known to the public, perhaps not even to the Cabinet Council themselves. But one thing we hope to see, and that is the power and prestige of Great Britain fully established in Afghanistan, whether they retain possession of it or not.

"We are sorry to learn, since writing the above, that the report of Gough's arrival in the camp of General Roberts was premature. He has not gun hit much. But we hope he may be able to force his way."

The London fog is thus described in the latest letter from that city:—It is noon, and we have been in an intense darkness for four hours. I am writing in a suburban room overlooking Regent's Park. The gas is lighted. The postman has called with the mails, which he has delivered by the light of a lantern. Cabs, carriages, omnibuses, and carts are passing my window. Most of them carry lamps, which come and go with a wild refulgence. In the city of London proper this same fog will be almost opaque, and so thick that the citizens will literally taste it. The district in which I live being high, the fog contains less smoke than the town, and is, therefore, whiter and mistier, but even here it has that awful yellow tinge indicating the presence of the smoke of the entire locality, which the stagnation of the air allows to congregate in one ugly mass above us. By and by, when sufficient breeze springs up to move the fog, we shall see outlines of the trees in the park. They will look like a delicate water-color sketch on a gray back ground. There is even a picturesque side to a London fog.

THE GRAND JURY at Barrie, in rejecting an address from Judge Gowan, says:—We believe, with your honor, that the day is passed when the use which this tribunal was designed to serve—that of standing between the people and arbitrary power—was apparent. There no longer exists in this country the need of this safeguard in its [illegible] shape; and we believe that the [illegible] of justice would be quite as fully [illegible] and the public safety quite as fully [illegible] were there substituted for this re- [illegible] age—this fifth wheel to the [illegible] become such symbols as your [illegible] out as being in vogue in [illegible]

[illegible] rom Falling [illegible]

DOCTOR.

HOWAT'S FOLLY!

The Country Solid Against the Proposed Raid.

The Proposal to Spend $1,000,000 Denounced on all Hands.

"A MONUMENT OF FOLLY."

From the Victoria Warder.

On no grounds whatever can the outlay, of such a vast sum as $1,000,000 at the present time, be defended. It cannot be defended on the ground of expediency, for, as we previously pointed out, the present buildings with some alterations and repairs could be made to do duty for [illegible] year to come. Nor can the [illegible] founded on the ground of [illegible] present buildings are [illegible] native and departmental [illegible] Ontario Government [illegible] a scheme [illegible] provide [illegible] buildings with some alterations and repairs could be made to do duty for

The Free Press

Monday, Dec. 29, 1879.

RUPERT GODWIN.

Lord Roxleydale was only too glad to return to the apartment where he had left his beautiful prisoner, and where he naturally expected to find her.

His mortification was extreme when he found the bird had flown from the trap so carefully set, so heartlessly baited; and it rose with profound humiliation that he heard, by and by, of his mother's presence in the old house.

Had Rupert Godwin been near to sustain him, or to shame him into a display of manhood, Lord Roxleydale might have tried to carry matters with a high hand; as it was, he left the Moat, and went quietly back to town, very much ashamed of the transaction he had been engaged in, and fully resolved, that whatever follies or escapades might vary the monotony of his future life, he would never again try his hand at an abduction.

"It may be all very well in a novel or a play," he said to himself, as he sat smoking the solitary cospe, which a judiciously invested half crown had secured for him, "to put it down to real life; and I dare say it makes a man feel uncommonly small when he's trying it on."

CHAPTER XXX.

UNDERGROUND.

Lionel Westford had resolved to lose no time in putting into execution the plan which had been suggested to him by his interview with the housekeeper.

He determined to explore the secret passages and cellars and deserted chambers of the northern wing, in the dead of the night, while the household at Denbigdon Hall was wrapped in slumber.

It was a bold determination; for it needs a stout heart to brave the unknown and mysterious. The perils of a cavalry charge in Zulu to many a young Englishman, are insignificant compared to the mystic terrors of a haunted mansion.

But, once convinced that duty called for prompt action, Lionel Westford was the very last to flinch from any trial that lay before him. He had much of his father's spirit—the spirit of the true-hearted sailor, who is the first to face death and danger, and the last to succumb to failure or defeat.

It wanted half Mrs. Beckon's apartment at half o'clock, after gratifying the old housekeeper by his friendly interest in her rheumatism.

Eight o'clock; and he knew the habits of the household well enough to be aware that at eleven every member of the family would have retired to rest.

He returned to his own apartment. A pair of wax candles, newly lighted, were burning on the table. One of these he extinguished. He would have need of it during his examination of the northern wing, and he did not know what length of time that examination might occupy.

He seated himself by the table, drew the lighted candle towards him, and took a book; but he found it quite impossible to concentrate his attention upon the page before him. His mind was haunted, his whole being possessed, by the thought he work he had to do.

The task was, indeed, a terrible one. It was the dead of the night, he was to traverse a long range of deserted chambers, in search of some evidence of a foul and barbarous deed which he believed to have been committed in the northern wing of Denbigdon Hall.

He longer he deliberated upon all he had heard, the more conclusive appeared the evidence which pointed to the banker's stranger had come to the Hall on that fatal to receive summer evening, more than a fortnight ago, and had never been seen to leave the house or grounds.

His death was clearly to be inferred from the housekeeper's account of the matter. It was just possible that this stranger might have left the house unseen; but in so large a household the chances were very much against his departure being observed.

Then there had been something in the manner of the clerk, Jacob Danielson, singularly calculated to excite suspicion. Had he been the witness of a crime, or accomplice of a criminal? His conduct had been, at any rate, a part of the mystery which was dimly revealed in Caleb Allfred's wandering talk.

Lionel Westford sat musing thus, with the book in his hand, through the long, long hours between eight o'clock and midnight.

And over and anon, when his reverie was broken; when the shadow of an assassin, a revengeful countenance and arm upraised to strike, loomed before his mental eye, a second image—the image of a beautiful woman—would arise, as if to dispel the dark horror of his thoughts.

He was in love, honestly and truly in love, with Julia Godwin; and a dull page gained at his heart as he reflected that the work he was now engaged in might bring misery and shame upon her.

And yet how forlorn that he should endure his task. Come what might, he must go on to the last, even though the performance of that work of duty should rail upon him a lifetime of misery.

At last the great clock struck three. One by one the solemn-sounding echoes tolled out upon the stillness of the night. Lionel Westford opened a window and looked out.

There was no vestige of light from any room window in the huge range of rooms, a household had evidently retired for the night.

He will wait half an hour longer before I mature to leave this room," he young man thought.

He feared to run the smallest risk of interruption. He had carefully thought out his plan, and his only dread was the hazard of his leaving overheard by any early sleeper as he made his way through the inhabited portion of the house.

Once in the grounds, he feared nothing. Of all the terrors of the northern wing could stir his breast with one coward thrill, or that his courage was found wanting, he dauntless spirit of the sailor's son was roused; and Lionel Westford was worthy of the true-hearted father whose memory he had cherished itself in his children.

At half past twelve the watcher flung open his book from which scarcely a line had been read, and took his own course—took the enlighted candle, put on his hat, and went out of the room.

With slow and cautious footsteps he made his way along the corridor, descended the stairs, crossed the hall, and entered the dining room.

He knew that the small door was locked every night by the butler, who made it a state concern of the business, and who always carried the keys to his own apartment.

To be continued.

Learning the Ballet.

From London Truth, Dec. 11.

To learn how to dance on the stage requires considerable time. A girl is first taught to turn her feet out by standing with the toe of each foot to the heel of the other. The next thing is to give her "ankle." This is done by seating her on a form with one leg dropped, and making it at the knee joint, while a person presses the toes down so as to touch the instep. She then is told to hold on to a bar and to throw each leg successively as high as possible without bending the knee. This loosens the joints and renders them supple. After daily work of this kind during some months, and sometimes years, the girl is taught steps and learns to walk upon her toes. This, which, when well done, always elicits applause, is by no means so difficult as it appears. In reality, the dancer walks on her big toes, and the others do not touch the ground. The big toe is bent slightly toward the others, so that the pressure is as much on the side as on the end. But it is far more difficult to use the arms gracefully than the legs on the stage. In order to find this out, a person has only to take a stick and to endeavor to wave it after the manner of a stage fairy. There must be no angles, and the curves and movements must be made very slowly in order to be effective. Miss Kate Vaughan is the most graceful dancer on the English stage. This is because she knows how to hinder her body from following the movements of her arms or her legs. Whatever steps she may be taking with her feet, or whatever curves she may make with her arms, her body is in repose, as though her limbs were unconnected with it. To realize the effect of graceful movement, let any one observe the movements of a bad dancer on the stage. Instead of only dancing from her waist, her body is twisted this way and that with every step that she takes, and thus she produces the impression of a young heifer indulging in gambols.

THE TICHBORNE CASE

Points of Dr. Kenealy's Plea for a Writ of Error and a New Trial.

The writ of error in the Tichborne case, which has lately been granted by Sir John Holker, embodies many points which have not yet been published.

The chief point on which Dr. Kenealy relies, and which he will argue very strongly before the Honse of Lords, is that the judges who tried the case in the Court of Queen's Bench actually had no jurisdiction to try the case, and for the following reasons:—The indictment for perjury was divided into two parts, the first count being for perjury committed in the city of London, and the second being for the like offence committed in the county of Middlesex. Dr. Kenealy contends that the Court of Queen's Bench had no power to try a prisoner for perjury committed in the city of London by a jury of the county of Middlesex, and in this view he is supported by several eminent members of the English Bar. It will be remembered that this trial was removed by certiorari from the Central Criminal Court to the Queen's Bench, and on that account the venue was laid wrongly and the jury was obtained from a wrong county. It is a fundamental rule in English common law that where there is a trial at bar for any offence, or where there is any ordinary trial for any offence not committed in the county of Middlesex, the jury must be summoned from the county where the crime was committed. Thus, if committed in Yorkshire and there is a trial in London, the jury must be brought from Yorkshire.

Another point which Dr. Kenealy will urge as to the first count of the indictment is that the Court of Common Pleas, in which the claimant brought his action for ejectment, was the only court in which such a trial could take place; but as it was removed from that tribunal for the purpose of convenience to the Westminster Sessions House, the Doctor contends that the court had no jurisdiction to administer the oath, and that therefore the claimant could not have committed perjury from a legal point of view. The Court of Common Pleas had jurisdiction to try the cause in Westminster Hall, but nowhere else.

It will be in the recollection of your readers that the Tichborne claimant was sentenced for two terms of imprisonment of seven years each, one to commence at the termination of the other, seven years for perjury and seven years for forgery. Now the claimant has served his first term and is now serving the second period of his sentences. Dr. Kenealy contends that the two sentences should be concurrent, and that the judges had no power to sentence him to two consecutive periods of imprisonment. And upon this ground he argues that the claimant has already served the whole period of his punishment, and is therefore by law entitled to be released.

Another point upon which Dr. Kenealy relies strongly is the misdirection of the Judge to the jury. He accuses Sir Alexander Cockburn of being partial and one-sided in his summing up. He alleges that the Lord Chief Justice of England, instead of acting in a calm, dignified and judicial manner, gave way to his prejudice against the claimant and used the whole of his great talents to cajole and coerce the jury into the verdict which they gave.

He asserts also that the judges gave evidence, not from the bench; that they jumped all the witnesses for the claimant, and generally misconducted themselves. In 1874, shortly after the conviction of the claimant, Dr. Kenealy applied to Sir Richard Baggalay, the then Attorney General, demanding a writ of error as the above grounds; but Sir Richard refused to grant it. Dr. Kenealy subsequently pressed the matter, demanding a writ of error not as a matter of favor, but as a matter of right, which by the constitution and ancient law of England the claimant was entitled to. The great English judge, Chief Justice Holt, and nine others, decided in the year 1704 that a writ of error is not a writ of grace, but of right, and ought not to be denied to the subject when duly applied for, the denial thereof being an obstruction of justice, contrary to Magna Charta."

The subject did not come again prominently forward until the year 1770, when Wilkes, who was convicted of publishing a seditious and scandalous libel (the North Briton, No. 45), and also an obscene and impious libel ("An Essay on Women"), was brought up in custody before Lord Mansfield, and applied for and obtained from the Attorney General his fiat for a writ of error, which was also granted as a matter of right to which he was by law entitled. Dr. Kenealy produced an immense array of precedents, and quoted thereunto of some of England's greatest lawyers on the subject, but failed to convince Sir Richard Baggaley. This latter gentleman is now on the bench, and Sir John Holker has succeeded him. Dr. Kenealy has been grappling away at him for months, and he has at last persuaded him to issue his fiat. The case cannot be gone into in the House of Lords, the legal points being the only ones admissable. It will be argued probably in March, and it is looked forward to with eager interest by the members of the English Bar, some of the points are of a very intricate and subtle character.

Science in Parting the Hair.

From the New York Times.

The scientific aspects of parting the hair in the middle might answer for the topic of a clever paper in the Fortnightly Review for the North American, and it is with some vague expectation that the learned anthropologists connected with those publications may judge the subject that the following cursorily collected data are submitted:—

At a recent meeting of college alumni, attended by 825 persons, of ages varying from 25 to 70, a curious observer was at some pains to take the statistics on this point. Of the whole number, 43 confessed actually to part their hair in the middle, and forming a judgment based upon purely statistical facts (late of appearance), 29 of the 43 were less than 35 years old, while the other four were between 35 and 50. In addition to this class, there was a still larger one, numbering 61 in all, who parted their locks a little to the left—half way, on the average, between this median line and the line usually adopted, which, by the way, is the line prescribed by the laws of symmetry as naturally advances. Of these, the majority were men of middle age, who had evidently shifted their division gradually to the left to maintain a fair and escebral symmetry that had ceased to be attainable in the vicinity of the middle line.

"Only a left-handed man," says a curious observer of vital phenomena, "ever parts his hair on the right side," and, in strictness, this of this observation, which is correct but purely empirical one, it is found that almost active right-handed persons actually part on the left side. The same rule, which in one collection of college alumni had led nearly all the older members to part the line insensibly toward the left as maturity advanced, is seen to be operative in general society. The competent anatomical observer will not seek long in vain for the solution of this apparently inexplicable phenomenon. With males who are born right-handed, the development of the left hemisphere of the brain, after 20 years of age, in contact with actual affairs, takes place with considerable more rapidity than that of the right, and its convolutions are correspondingly more distinctly marked, and there slowly defined to the eye of the anatomist. At 25 years old the difference in weight and volume, and in the definition of the convolutions, is generally not to any material; as a natural consequence, the two sides of the head are symmetrical, and the hair can be parted in the middle with good artistic results. At 45, on the contrary, the volume of the left hemisphere, and of the left side of the cranium, has been increased by constant exercise with the whole ensemble is asymmetrical with the hair divided along the median line, and, with the progress of this asymmetry, the owner insensibly shifts the line, baring the left side of its natural weight of hair, and urging it toward the right, to compensate for the comparative lack of convexity on that side. Exclusive of occasional cases of baldness, where there is an extrinsic reason for combing the hair over, observation indicates very clearly that few men who commence with parting in the middle ever shift the line by sudden impulse. On the contrary, the result obtained at 50 is generally a gradual one, brought about by the increasing development of the left hemisphere and the progressive necessity for restoring the symmetry of the head and face as age advances. With women, whose activities are less of the motor and muscular, and more of the sentimental type than those of men, the median line generally continues during life to be the line of symmetry.

Charles McKenzie, of Elma, has had four valuable sheep killed by a wild cat. The sheep were left out all night in the shelter of a piece of wood, when the wild cat improved the occasion.

MATTHEW ARNOLD.

His Beliefs and Unbeliefs and His Devotion to Education.

From London Truth, Dec 11.

He is all mind; to understand him you must read his books, or, better still, talk with him, provided he records you that high honor, which he will not lightly, having always held his own intellectual powers in just veneration. Aristotle's ideal of the perfect man embraced a certain amount of self appreciation; and Mr. Arnold has studied Aristotle. There is an Oxford story which shows how fully the man at an early age understood his own dignity, and felt, perhaps, a corresponding contempt for that of others. A certain Wilkins, of Merton, if I remember rightly, had asked Arnold, then an undergraduate, to dine with him at 7 o'clock. About 8 Master Matthew strolled leisurely into Merton, and asked if a "Mr. Jenkins" lived in that college. The porter happened to know him, and said:—"No, Sir, but there's a Mr. Wilkins who's been expecting you to dinner ever so long. "Ah, dear me, yes, Wilkins—so it was." I won't vouch for the names, but the reality of the story is unquestionable.

Mr. Arnold has long outgrown such affectations, and now stands before the world as, perhaps, the most perfect specimen of modern English culture—at all events, the most perfect specimen of the destructive school, as Cardinal Newman is of the conservative. He believes in little, and in that little feebly. On the other hand, he disbelieves in much, and notably in dogmatic Christianity. Radicalism, immediate perfectibility of the negro, the moralising effect of railways and free trade, the beauty of repealing the Contagious Diseases Act, and many other things which we hold fast from others. In short, he discredits nearly every modern nostrum for our ills, and many an ancient one he utterly rejects.

Has he any panacea of his own? Not precisely. Veritable religion, which may possibly be defined as what we can be sure of, he has boiled down to this fact:—"There is something, not ourselves, which makes for righteousness." For even Mr. Arnold has to abandon elegance of style in dealing with these awful problems which will not admit of being solved in cut-and-dried phrase. And in estimating Mr. Arnold one should never forget that he is profoundly religious. His creed has, indeed, been called a negative creed; but may it not be a very positive one after all? "A man's religion," says Carlyle, "consists, not of the many things he is in doubt of and tries to believe, but of the few he is assured of, and has no need of effort for believing." Matthew Arnold believes very sincerely in that "Something," though he declines, like humble folk, to call it God. He believes, too, almost passionately, in the good effects of education, on which his theories are so enlightened that we may haply see them realized in excellent time, say in 2879. However, though his ideal is a lofty one, he perfectly understands the merit of being practical, and has made one of the best Inspectors of Schools of whom the Privy Council ever took cognizance. By the way, he has served under certain chiefs whom he must have considerably puzzled; but, on the other hand, what an amusing affair life seems when one thinks of Lord Ripon or the Duke of Richmond being fellow Arnold's superiors and commanders. Had Mr. Arnold been a Frenchman he would long since have been Minister of Education, if not something higher; being a Briton, he has not even attained to the distinction of a C.B.-ship. Lord Sandfield is two sinners a patron of talent that the fact may be commended to his notice; let him at least have Mr. Arnold the chance of declining a ribbon.

THE MAN AT THE WHEEL.

A Person Who Holds the Light of the City in His Hands.

The New York Express, in a description of one of those great establishments which furnish light to the city, gives this description of a peculiar position in which the person who holds it has the whole city at his mercy in the matter of light, and upon whose fidelity a great deal depends:—"At last the value-room, a snug, cosy place, where order and neatness are almost painful! Bright polished steel rods rise from the floor, five in number, on each of which is a wheel like that of a steamer. In connection with each is a pressure-dial, for these brakes are the stopcocks between the boilers and the steam mains. And on these brakes sat a man who made such a movement at the entrance of his visitors, as he had done a quarter of an hour ago, and the advance in hog product has been very large.—Chicago Paper.

Havana mail dates are to the 19th inst. The markets were all dull. In sugar, the Weekly Report says, operations were unimportant, partly owing to want of stock and partly to discouraging advices from the American markets. The new cane hogs that are rapidly spreading over the estates around Matanzas were causing some apprehension.

The fumes from the smelting of lead ore are now passed through a very long line of pipes and woollen bags, and condensed, the lead again as steam is converted into water. The lead thus obtained is a powder, of exceeding fineness, which makes an excellent blue paint. An intense heat melts this powder, and by a similar process of catching the fumes, a white powder is obtained, which makes a superior white paint.

The following shows the sugar supplies, as compared with last year and 1877:—

	1879. Tons.	1878. Tons.	1877. Tons
France	67,000	63,000	64,000
Gr. at Britain	170,000	140,000	147,000
Holland	13,000	15,000	8,000
Germany	8,000	9,000	6,000
United States	80,000	70,000	97,000
Havana & Matanzas	47,000	59,000	66,000
Manila	60,000	51,000	36,000
Total	397,000	347,000	423,000

The bull clique retain their grip on wheat, and prices have been carried to unprecedentedly high figures, the range being fully 50c higher than the quotations current at this time last year. Prices at the present moment are ruled by conservatives not to be forced, although it is unquestionably true that Europe needs far more of our surplus wheat than in most past years. The stocks of wheat in Chicago are over six and seven millions of bushels.

The returns for September to the Board of Trade are the most satisfactory that have been received for many months, the total exports for the month amounting to £17,408,264, an increase of £840,000, or about 5 per cent. over exports of September last, and 12 per cent. over the same month in 1877. The imports exhibit an increase of £500,000, but this is not so satisfactory a feature on the returns, inasmuch as the increase is greatly due to the importation of wheat from America.

A London letter says:—The steady improvement in trade is favorable to the Government, and the figures are rather remarkable; an increase of £3,900,000 over the imports of November in last year, and £2,900,000 in the exports. There is a general revival in most lines of business, and yet the distress in all parts of the country is very great. Pauperism is on the increase, and in Ireland the Poor Law Boards are in despair. Government must help them, and there is a talk of the introduction of great national works for the purpose of a large employment of labor.

Blasting gelatine, the new explosive, is thought to be superior to dynamite. It is formed by dissolving collodion of cotton in nitro-glycerine, in the proportion of ten per cent. of the former to ninety per cent. of the latter, the result of the solution being a gelatinous, elastic, transparent, pale yellow substance, having a density of one-sixth, and a consistency of stiff jelly. This new explosive is said to be much less easily affected by blows than ordinary dynamite, but it may be rendered far more insensible to mechanical impulse by an admixture of a small proportion of camphor—from four to ten per cent.

The stock of champagne in the cellars in and around Rheims is estimated to be seventy-two million bottles, while the annual exportation out of France of genuine champagne is not greater than twenty million bottles. It is stated that the large producers will not increase the regular price of the wines on account of this year's failure, fearing that such a course would cut down the number of their consumers; but as a speculative mania has set in among foreign dealers, they may be compelled to make an advance in order to keep on hand a sufficient amount to supply their legitimate customers. A forced advance in the price of champagne would be unfortunate, for experience in the past shows that when a point of this kind has once been attained, the producers whose wines have a world-wide reputation are never willing to recede from it.

Game Laws of Spain.

Here is a summary of the game laws of Spain:—

1. Landowners may shoot over their own property all the year round.

2. Shooting over public grounds must not shoot the close season.

3. The season is, from April 1 to September 15 in northern, and from March 1 to September 1 in southern, Spain.

4. Nets may be fired in snowy or misty weather.

5. Angling is allowed all this year round; but net fishing is forbidden to all from March 1 to May 30.

6. Decoy birds and nets for birds are only allowed for flights of quails and stock doves.—Temple Bar.

A hot blast will make greater havoc in a household and turn things more completely upside down than a kerosene explosion.

Trade,

Latest

Bri

Reported fo

London, M
Cattle at mar
11,030 Best rior and secon mation, 9½ t condary, 7½ round was sl much change is quiet with

Liverpool,
Best beef, 6½
secondary, 5½ c 9½ per lb. Of was about an av
of inferior stock was slow. Prim disposed of.

Glasgow, Thursda,
Cattle at market, 1,650;
5,564. Best beef, 8½ per l secondary, 6½ to 7½ per lb; b.
7½ to 8½ per lb; inferior and se
5½ to 6½ per lb. There was an o number of cattle at market this day, m ly of middling and inferior quality. De mand good for top sorts, which, however, were scarce. No alteration can be quoted from last week's. Fair supply of sheep, generally of middling and inferior quality.
Demand dullish, and prices like last week's.

General Notes.

Jobbers at Ludington, Mich., are paying $20 to $25 for men to go into the woods to cut logs.

A mine in Nevada that made assessments to the amount of $600,000, has now paid $42,120,000 in dividends.

Blair County, Pa., has seven blast furnaces and eight foundries in full operation; and four rolling mills running night and day.

Keogh redwood lumber has advanced $4 per thousand in a few days on the Pacific coast, and a corresponding appreciation in finished lumber.

Pittsburg is holding twice as much petroleum as New York and Philadelphia together. Dr. Hostetter, of Pittsburg, holds about 400,000 barrels, of which 300,000 have been in his possession for nearly two years. The remainder he has purchased at the low prices last summer, but his oil represents an average cost to him of probably $2.50 per barrel. In addition to this there are nearly a million barrels held in Pittsburg in smaller lots. The largest individual holder of certificates is Foster W. Mitchell, of Franklin, Pa., whose block is said to be a million barrels or over, and whose oil has cost him less than 80 cents a barrel. Mr. Mitchell is a banker of large wealth, one of the original oil men, and the most uniformly successful man in the region. For two years—operating largely in certificates all the time—he has never been "on the wrong side of the market." His gains from the present advance are already $500,000, but he has not sold a barrel, and will probably hold on until he can sell 2,000,000. In spite of all the talk about "outside capital" rushing to the oil region, it is certain that none of the Wall street men are investing largely in oil, except Russell Sage. He bought a large block at low prices, paid for the certificates, and is holding them in his own name. It is a remarkable fact that very little Philadelphia money has yet sought investment in the oil. During the past week one firm of dealers in that city has purchased about one hundred thousand barrels, but this is the largest block held in Philadelphia. These facts are gathered from the Pittsburg Gazette.

Railroad Notes.

There are 16,000 locomotives in the United States.

Fifteen car manufacturing establishments of the United States have turned out 37,360 cars the past eleven months.

The New York, Lake Erie and Western company have closed contracts for 2,000 freight cars. Pennsylvania manufacturers were the successful bidders.

The project of tunnelling Niagara River at Buffalo is revived, and when $100 000 of the capital stock has been subscribed the preliminary work will commence.

Vanderbilt has notified ex Governor Bagley, of Detroit, that he will shortly make an appointment with a committee from the Board of Directors of the proposed Windsor & Essex Center railroad and make arrangements for operating the road when completed.

It is rumored that there will be no dividends paid on Canada Southern stock out of the last year's earnings, but the company has certainly earned sufficient to pay something on the stock. The funds have been used for additional equipment, permanent improvements, and for the building of a new large ferry-boat, which will largely facilitate and increase the business of the company.

Railroad men say that the past year's business has impressed upon them strongly the profitable character of cheap fares, excursions, etc. In the west, particularly, it's an expensive feature has been carried to extraordinary length, and in some cases has made handsome returns to the companies. The truth is that 99 per cent. of the people who travel on excursion rates would never leave the town or city in which they were raised and pay the regular passenger tariff.

Yours respectfully,
F. W. B.
London, Dec. 27, 1879.

A Powerful Drain.

To the Editor of the London Free Press.

Dear Sir,—I read in the Free Press of this city a letter of mine, being of candidates for municipal honors, but one name is absent at which I am surprised. I mean the old gentleman in Talbot street whose influence with the present Mayor and corporation—with the Health Officer, with the Street Commissioner, and with the Chief of Police, is sufficient to enable him to drain his own pool into the street. Surely it is only his modesty which prevents his appealing to the people for election. There is nothing else, for his drain is quite strong enough to carry him in. Yours,

SHELLFUNGUS.

London, Dec. 27, 1879.

Santa Claus at Glencoe.

On Christmas Eve an excellent entertainment was given in the Town Hall Glencoe, to the children attending the St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School. The Hall was crowded. Systematically arranged on either side of the platform were the children. There were two Christmas trees well laden with many choice and useful presents for children of all sizes, whilst in the centre, reaching from tree to tree, was a well filled table, which presented quite an imposing appearance with its variety of vases, china, silver-plate, jewellery, &c., to which many eyes were turned with expectancy. George Wilson, Esq., occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen remarks introduced those who took part in the programme of the evening. Excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Sutherland and Wood Mr. Stalker, of Aldborough, made a few congratulatory remarks. Very amusing and appropriate readings were given by Rev. Mr. Glassford, Dr. Lumley, Mr. D. Ferguson and Mr. John Blair. Master Peter McArthur gave a good recitation. Several hymns were sung by the children, also a selection from the choir. Rev. Mr. Cameron (pastor of the church) spoke a few words relative to the pleasure he had in seeing so many of his flock and other friends present on this joyful occasion; after which the blowing of the horn and jingling of the sleigh bells announced the approach of Santa Claus, the most important personage in the evening's proceedings. Suddenly he emerged from behind, clad in his snow faked dress, and bringing with him a partner to assist, as the presents he had to distribute were too many for him single handed. Joy and laughter now filled the Hall, as one by one the various articles were taken from the trees, flavored by the many welcome and comical remarks, for which the Santa Claus who visits Glencoe has been so distinguished. When table, trees and the pockets of Santa Claus were completely stripped of their load, the usual votes of thanks were given. Then the benediction was pronounced and all went home highly delighted, wishing each other "A merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year."

A woman at Ulysses, Neb., wrapped her baby in a sheet and left it in the warm ashes by the fireplace while she went to visit a neighbor, and when she returned the sheet was burned to scrisp.

Free Press Correspondence.

"Honor to whom Honor is Due."

To the Editor of the Free Press.

Dear Sir,—On the last page of the programme used at St. Paul's Church on Christmas Day were printed the words of an anthem "composed for the occasion by G. B. Sipp." As this quotation immediately preceded the words of the "anthem," it has led some to believe that they were written by Mr. Sipp. For the information of those who have thus understood it, I would like to say through your columns that they are both and verbatim in "Christ was cast" written and composed by Mr. F. J. Sawyer, B. Mus., Oxon., F. C. D., organist of St. Patrick's Church, Brighton, England. It must surely have been through an oversight that the author's name was omitted.

Yours respectfully,
F. W. B.
London, Dec. 27, 1879.

A Powerful Drain.

To the Editor of the London Free Press.

Dear Sir,—I read in the Free Press of this city a letter of mine, being of candidates for municipal honors, but one name is absent at which I am surprised. I mean the old gentleman in Talbot street whose influence with the present Mayor and corporation—with the Health Officer, with the Street Commissioner, and with the Chief of Police, is sufficient to enable him to drain his own pool into the street. Surely it is only his modesty which prevents his appealing to the people for election. There is nothing else, for his drain is quite strong enough to carry him in. Yours,

SHELLFUNGUS.

London, Dec. 27, 1879.

Santa Claus at Glencoe.

On Christmas Eve an excellent entertainment was given in the Town Hall Glencoe, to the children attending the St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School. The Hall was crowded. Systematically arranged on either side of the platform were the children. There were two Christmas trees well laden with many choice and useful presents for children of all sizes, whilst in the centre, reaching from tree to tree, was a well filled table, which presented quite an imposing appearance with its variety of vases, china, silver-plate, jewellery, &c., to which many eyes were turned with expectancy. George Wilson, Esq., occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen remarks introduced those who took part in the programme of the evening. Excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Sutherland and Wood Mr. Stalker, of Aldborough, made a few congratulatory remarks. Very amusing and appropriate readings were given by Rev. Mr. Glassford, Dr. Lumley, Mr. D. Ferguson and Mr. John Blair. Master Peter McArthur gave a good recitation. Several hymns were sung by the children, also a selection from the choir. Rev. Mr. Cameron (pastor of the church) spoke a few words relative to the pleasure he had in seeing so many of his flock and other friends present on this joyful occasion; after which the blowing of the horn and jingling of the sleigh bells announced the approach of Santa Claus, the most important personage in the evening's proceedings. Suddenly he emerged from behind, clad in his snow faked dress, and bringing with him a partner to assist, as the presents he had to distribute were too many for him single handed. Joy and laughter now filled the Hall, as one by one the various articles were taken from the trees, flavored by the many welcome and comical remarks, for which the Santa Claus who visits Glencoe has been so distinguished. When table, trees and the pockets of Santa Claus were completely stripped of their load, the usual votes of thanks were given. Then the benediction was pronounced and all went home highly delighted, wishing each other "A merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year."

A woman at Ulysses, Neb., wrapped her baby in a sheet and left it in the warm ashes by the fireplace while she went to visit a neighbor, and when she returned the sheet was burned to scrisp.

Births, Deaths, Marriages;
Treasure; H. Mat[illegible] Hotchkiss, Ind; Gilbert Verner, Simmonds Brook; Cradle, 4th; Judge Donnelly, Richard McGeemen; Sample Verner, Chas. Commi[illegible]

An [illegible] supper will be held at [illegible]'s Store's Hotel on New Year's Eve. A good [illegible] in attendance.

HARMONY.

A farmer who does not live more than a hundred miles from here journeyed to Zavistock not long ago. While there he got "a wee dropple too much." Seeing one of the Germans who had been cutting ice on the Harmony Pond last winter, "John" accosted him with, "What ye ga me if I bring ye the saw ye lost in the Armony Pond last winter?" "I'll give you $1.50," says the German, never for a moment thinking he was getting "taken in." John is up to all those dodges. "Give me 50c now." "Very well; now when will you bring me the saw?" "I'll dive for it next summer," and away goes John to wet his whistle with more "corn juice." There is a talk of having him arrested for obtaining money under false pretences.

North-western Intelligence.

From Our Allan Craig Ambassador.

THE COMING STRONGMAN.

Lobo, owing to its geographical, its historic, its political and agricultural position and proclivities, has generally at this season of the year drawn to it the eyes of not only Europe but several of the adjoining municipalities and townships. The war between Shipley and Simcoe, which has been waging fast and furious during the whole winter, has come to a sudden lull, and the eyes of both parties are turned on their arms and gazing on each other with wistful eyes. An overland messenger arrived post haste last night from Shipley on the 27th inst., announcing the fact that Lio. E. Shipley had, with credit to himself, retired from the contest, and his place was filled by Mr. Robert Boston, the present Deputy. This imparts a totally different color to the struggle, which, as before, will be now between acting on the defensive under Shipley, will, with this vast accession of strength, assume a general movement forward along the whole line. Boston is a man (mentally as well as physically) of colossal proportions, and has never been conquered yet. We have little doubt as to the issue. Mr. Telfer runs as Councilman, and also as Scavenger for Residue in Shipley's Ward.

Detective Cullen passed through here yesterday, en route from Chicago to Montreal. He found track of Escott, the absconding Montreal book-keeper and treasurer, in Detroit. Escott is supposed to be in Canada.

Dr. Lee Henderson, of Winnipeg, is on a two weeks' visit to East Williams and Alisa Craig.

Grand Trunk brakesmen complain of the slippery state of the tops of the cars.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM,
New Dress Goods, Bought at Great Re
NEW GOODS.
Cloth Suitings at 15 Cents; Worth

W. L. CARRIE,
STATIONER,
417 Richmond St.

THE
London Stammering Institute,
131 MAPLE STREET.

TESTIMONIAL.

I have been an inveterate stammerer for 40 years. I never saw a worse stammerer than I was 6 months ago, when I left without success, until two days ago I placed myself under Prof. Sutherland's treatment, and now I am entirely cured; and I know that I will never stammer again. My address is Delaware, P. O. Ont. ANDREW COLVIN.

London, Dec. 6th, 1879. 1f

TOBACCOS
FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE
years this Trade Mark has been known throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELIABLE TOBACCOS.
W. C. McDONALD,
MANUFACTURER OF FINE
TOBACCOS
MONTREAL
TRADE MARK.

Hewitt Fysh,
CONFECTIONER,
DUNDAS STREET, NEAR
Glenvoe street, is prepared to supply citizens or parties at a distance with the best of Cakes, Biscuits, &c., on the shortest notice. If you cannot call and leave your orders, send them by mail and they will receive prompt attention.
Wedding Cake a specialty. 139

FURS, FURS!
H. BEATON'S STOCK OF
MINK AND SOUTH SEA
SEAL FURS
Cannot be equalled west of Toronto.
FURS OF ALL KINDS
AT LOWEST PRICES.
Call and inspect them before purchasing elsewhere.
H. BEATON, RICHMOND ST.,
Middle LONDON.

TURKISH BATHS
Corner King and Waterloo streets,
LONDON - - - - - - - ONTARIO.
For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs and all Chronic Diseases. An experienced Matron has charge of the Ladies' Department. Medical and Surgical Electricity a specialty. Send for circular.
sod1f DRS. STREET & McLAREN.

...nces his Annual
Clearing Sale one week earlier than usual, so that the general public will have their eyes open.
Eaton's prices tell every time.
Remember the new premises—the Palace House.

JOSEPHINE
KID GLOVES,
Forty Cents Per Pair.
—AT—
Brunton's,
Corner Market Lane and Dundas St.
—THE ONLY—
GOOD DOLLS
In the City are at
Brunton's Auction Rooms,
Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.
Five and Ten Cent Toys on the Tables,
AS USUAL.

417 Richmond St.

DR. HILL'S
English Extract of BUCHU,
One of the Best
KIDNEY
INVESTIGATORS IN USE.
It is a specific in the cure of all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Prostatic Portion of the Urethra, Urinary Organs, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Burning Urine, Gleet, Gonorrhœa in all its stages, Mucous Discharges, Congestion of the Kidneys, Brick Dust Deposit, Diabetes, Inflammation of the Kidneys and Bladder, Dropsy of Kidneys, Acid Urine, Bloody Urine, Pain in the Region of the Bladder, PAIN IN THE BACK, Urinary Calculus, Renal Calculus, Renal Colic, Retention of Urine, Frequent Urination, Gravel in all its forms, fitting to retain the Water, particularly in persons advanced in life. IT IS A KIDNEY INVESTIGATOR that restores the Urine to its natural color, removes the acid and burning, and the effect of the excessive use of intoxicating drink.
PRICE, $1; or, Six Bottles for $5.
For sale by Druggists. Sold by all Druggists.
W. JOHNSTON & CO.,
161 Jefferson Ave., Detroit, Mich.
Agents for the U. S. and Canada.

For sale in London by Mitchell & Co., W. T. Strong, J. W. Ashbury, and W. J. Smith, London East, druggists. eod4nowly W. JOHNSTON & CO.

Arnicated Glycerine.
A WINTER FLUID FOR
Chapped Hands, Sore Lips, and Roughness of the Skin.
Specially recommended for allaying irritation after shaving, leaving the skin softer and smooth. Prepared by
B. A. MITCHELL & SON,
114 Dundas street West, north side,
Middle LONDON, ONT.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS
JNO. A. SCHNEIDER & CO.,
Successors to T. H. Ferguson & Co., manufacturers of Pure White Wine, Cider and Malt Vinegar.
FACTORY—Dundas street, opp Court House.
OFFICE—92 Dundas street west, London.

—AND—
WOOD
Cannel, Briar Hill, Massilon, Grate, Egg, Stove and Chestnut Coal, delivered in bags without extra charge.
HUNT BROS.
Orders left at Golden Ahead, 366 Richmond street, or at yard, on Bathurst street, promptly attended to.
Middle DUNDAS ST.

TTTTTTTTT
TTTTTTTTT
TT TTT TT
TTT
TTT
TTT
TTTTT
Toronto Tea Co., Branch No 4, Market Lane, London. Head Office, Toronto. sod

J. BARNET & BERRY'S ICE KING.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.—J. GURD & SON, 186 Dundas street, London Ontario. P. O. Box C, 37.—We have now opened out the largest and best-assorted stock of Skates in the West, comprising the choicest patterns in Acme, Beaver and solid-plated; the Barney & Berry, all stamp of Skates; ladies' skates with improved, also cheap wooden skates, for children; skate straps, gimlets, screws, etc.
N.B.—Skates repaired and grounds to any style. sod

WHITE STAR LINE
ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS
—BETWEEN—
Queenstown, Liverpool and New York
EVERY WEEK.
GERMANIC.....Saturday, November 29, noon
BALTIC.....Thursday, November 27, 4:30 p m
ADRIATIC.....Saturday, December 13, noon
Unsurpassed for Safety Comfort and Speed, and the best for carrying Cattle, Sheep, or Pigs. The superiority of these steamers is acknowledged by passengers, combined with the regularity of their sailings, and the certainty of quick passages, even in winter, which for those reasons alone, also cheap as other first-class steamers, gives them the preference over all other steamers. Apply to
J. MATTHE

INTERIM SESSIONS.—Before His Honor Judge Davis on Saturday, John Jennings was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison for stealing a coat from Alex. Stewart, of Parkhill. The man Reid, previously referred to, was found to be of unsound mind but not dangerous to be at large.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—The writer of the letter signed "Citizen" should address his complaint to the General Manager of the Great Western Railway, who is ever ready to enquire into and remedy abuses, and who never permits the Company's employes to act in a manner injurious or annoying to the public.

"BY THE GRAVES OF '79."—There was an unusually large congregation at the Congregational Church last night, on the occasion of Rev. R. W. Wallace's sermon "By the Graves of 1879." With accustomed ability the rev. gentleman gave short biographical sketches of noted men in church and state who had passed away during the year just closing, and drew practical and impressive lessons from their lives and deaths. The concluding sentences, apropos of the dying year, were most impressive.

POLICE COURT PER-ILLINGS.—Before the Police Magistrate Saturday morning. Henry Austin contributed $1 towards the general fund of the city. P. McAdams upon a charge of drunkenness was fined $2, but on suspicion of stealing a shirt he was dismissed. John Law was charged by James Roche with keeping a vicious dog. The evidence was taken at considerable length, after which Mr. Roche withdrew the charge on payment of the costs incurred, and with the understanding that the dog be destroyed.

LOCAL INSOLVENCY CASE.—Macfie & Lind, plaintiffs vs. McDonald, defendant, which came up before His Honor Judge Davis at his chambers in the Court House on Friday upon petition of McDonald to set aside the writ of attachment issued by Macfie, Lind & Co. on the 15th inst. The evidence showed, contrary to the affidavit of plaintiffs filed, that they were creditors of defendant for $80 only; the time the writ was issued, and not sufficient to set aside with costs to be paid by the plaintiffs. G. G. O'Phons for plaintiffs; John Martin for the petitioner.

LOCAL LEGAL NOTE.—In the Common Pleas at Toronto, on Friday, the following judgment was delivered in the case of Summers vs. the Commercial Union Insurance Company. This was an action to recover the amount of a policy of insurance upon a certain mill property. It appeared that the plaintiff had bought the mill on the condition that he should pull it down and remove the materials within a month. He had insured the property for a year, and it was after some months burnt down. Plaintiff recovered a verdict at the trial. The rule now nisi was absolute to enter a non-suit.

PETERSVILLE EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS.—At a special meeting of Petersville Public School Board on Friday night, Messrs. Goldie and Barton were appointed auditors of school accounts. Miss Fitcher, of this city, was appointed teacher of the Fourth Division of the Public School, at $180 per annum, in the stead of Miss Grosney, resigned, and Miss Brammer at $225 per annum for the Second Division, in place of the late Mrs. Hare. A vote of condolence to Mr. Hare was passed, conveying the sympathy of the Board in the sad bereavement and loss he has recently sustained by the death of Mrs. L. M. Hare, who for a considerable period was engaged at the school, and who was much respected as a teacher by the Board. An unanimous feeling of sympathy was expressed by the Board at their inability to retain Miss Goursey as teacher of the Fourth Division.

CONCERT AT FORD MILL, WESTMINSTER.—A concert was given by the pupils of the Pond Mill school on the evening of Monday, Dec. 15, on the occasion of the departure of their teacher, Miss Bella McColl. The programme, which was varied by simultaneous recitation and calisthenic exercises, was of a very high order. The chorus, "Village Bells," was sung with such clearness and sweetness of tone and varying expression as to represent the chiming of bells, while the "Song of Emigration" manifested considerable musical culture for children so young. In no selection, however, was greater musical talent displayed or sonic effect produced than in the "Fairies." The solos in this piece were especially well rendered, and the charming clear of the dozen little fairies elicited much admiration. Those who took part in the Trial scene of the "Merchant of Venice" showed in their parts ease and grace of gesture and diction rarely displayed by far more pretentious performers. At the close prizes were given to the children, and Miss McColl was presented with an address and a silver card receiver and other presents. Inspector Dearness, who occupied the chair, complimented the section on the high degree of efficiency which the school had attained. The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the "Good-night" hymn by the children."—Com.

COUNTY MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Squire Peters Presiding.

FALSE PRETENCES.

William Chapman and F. Tapping appeared to answer to a charge of obtaining money under false pretences from J. W. Minchen, of Westminster. Owing to the absence of several witnesses the case was enlarged until the 3rd prox.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT.

Levi Skelton was charged by James Dixon with having assaulted him in a brutal manner on Christmas Day. It seems that the complainant was in Skelton's tavern, about two miles from the city on the St. Thomas road, on the day in question, and it is alleged was lying asleep on a bench. Skelton accused him in a gruff manner, and it is alleged, without any provocation whatever, proceeded to beat him most unmercifully. As Dixon is under medical treatment, his jaw having been fractured, Skelton was bailed to appear on the 3rd of January.

LOCAL NOTICES.

New Year's gifts by auction for three nights only. Rocking horses, sleighs, books, shells, toys and fancy goods. Best variety yet offered. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, at 7.30.

W. BIRCH, 215 Dundas street.

Lᴇᴅʏ MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers.

Nobby stock suits, for young men, in great variety, at Mabley's.

who was a revolu... diplomat.

The Emperor of ... Christmas a boar's ... Queen Victoria, and ... was than a genuine ... not be conceived.

In one of the towns ... sign over a shop, "English ... spoken," and over another ... "Dentistry, dancing, fencing ... hairdressing taught in one lesson."

The politician who claims the right to utter false, wild and absurd statements that are likely to mislead people is usually the person who declaims against what he calls the reckless journalism of the period.

Turning for a moment from the affairs of state to sporting matters, we note that a Cincinnati gentleman broke 999 glass balls out of a possible 1,000 with the butt end of an army musket.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A London society journal says:—"The Princess Louise has finally determined to sail for Canada again on the 22nd of ... ary, and this fact may at once put an end to all speculations as to any domestic event preventing her early return."

"Why, Dick," said a lady teacher the other day, "you are getting to be an awfully good boy lately; ever so much better than you were last year. How is it?" "Oh! pshaw! Miss Hetty," said the youngster. "I don't have so much tummick-ache now."

Most babies fail to see the utility of the red and yellow paint on a Christmas jumping-jack, unless it be to accidentally suck as a baby on the great cause of medicine by presenting the physicians new phases of calls to investigate. This is not exactly the way the babies reason it out, but it comes to much the same thing.

John B. Gough, the lecturer, has a family which consists of a wife and four nieces. He makes about $20,000 a year, but has saved only about $100,000, and has a nice little home in Worcester, Mass. He has a large collection of Cruikshank's caricatures and loves to play tenpins. After a lecture he is relished down like a prize fighter.

"I do say that my love is basted
That treble nights exists
His heart is fervently pre-bled grace Affection stir true."

"Then trio try to answer yes."
He whispered her side.
"O dust, dearest, and confess
The love thy blushes show."

The dimp...l hand fell by her side:
His quarrel in his own;
He pressed it to his lips and cried,
"I've major minor tone."

"Free Masonry: Its Objects and Principles."

Synopsis of Rev. Bro. B. Davis' Sermon at St. James' Church, yesterday.

The Free Masons of this city, London East, and Petersville, to the number of about 250, assembled at their hall on Richmond street, yesterday afternoon, and, headed by the band of the 7th Battalion, marched to St. James' Church, London South, where the annual sermon was preached by Rev. Bro. Evans Davis. The Masons occupied the centre pews, and the reason both sides were well filled. After the preliminary services the rev gentleman took for his text part of the 23rd verse of the 19th chapter of St. Matthew—For the tree is known by its fruits." He heartily welcomed the brethren to St. James' Church, where they had chosen to celebrate St. John's Day by bowing their knees to the God of their fathers in spirit and in truth. He need hardly tell his brethren that every Free Mason was bound by duty to advance the interests of the Order, and simply his best energies in growing that its laws of government were founded on the revelation of God's Holy Word. He had therefore cheerfully complied with the request of a number of the city lodges, to preach a special sermon on the occasion. For himself, a Free Mason at heart, he believed that he who was a true member of the Order, would be an honorable and upright man, a good citizen and a loyal subject, and while he knew that no work could be done in the lodge until God's Word had been read, he felt it more and more his duty to guard its laws, elevate its principles and further its influences. As the tree was known by its fruit, so should the noble Order of Masonry be known by the good accomplished, though those outside should never cease to hurl their unfounded anathemas against it. If its fruits were pernicious to humanity then like the barren tree, let it be removed—"but if on the other hand," he said, "it teaches its members that the All-seeing Eye of God beholds them, and in life warns them to prepare for death, let it be honored by kings, as it is to-day." It was the handmaid and conservator of religion, and the finest moral system extant. It did not interfere with a man's religious sentiments, nor did it meddle with politics, but recognized the frailties of man and the rewards of duty. As the Prince of Wales had said, "Its watchwords are loyalty and charity." Its laws were equitable and its objects to promote the best interests of the human race; its intention was peace on earth, and its disposition good will towards all men. It taught loyalty towards the nation as well as towards God, and benevolence towards mankind. Its fundamental principles were belief in God and the brotherhood of man. The rev. gentleman pointed out in a lucid manner the principles inculcated by the gavel, 24-inch rule, square, compasses and other symbols of the Order. He believed it to be the grandest of human institutions, and if carried on properly would do an inestimable amount of good. He stood as a clergyman of the Church of England, and declared that it enabled a man to exercise a wonderful influence for good, and yet he was bound to tell his hearers that it could not save their souls. It was but a system of morality. He showed that its secrecy was but a power for good and nothing more, and those persons who opposed it on those grounds had words which did not perhaps accomplish so good an end. In a clear manner he pointed out the evils which had crept into the Order, and, in a word, administered to his brethren a lecture, replete with warning and good advice. He referred to the immense amount of money the Order had expended during the past year for benevolent purposes, and concluded by charging the Masons in the pews to guard well their principles, and in the end be able to hear those brightest of sentences, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." A collection was then taken up in aid of the Benevolent Fund of the Order.

The procession then reformed, and marched back to their hall in the city. The streets were lined with spectators, who spoke in the warmest terms of the intelligent, orderly and gentlemanly appearance the Masons presented.

...said suggested we ... bought by the ... money in railway, ... ook the benefit ... insurance benefits ... travelling ... His would set aside ... all at ... purpose this year. ... $1,000 for ... 's amendment was carried.

VOTE OF THANKS.

... Robinson moved, seconded by Mr. ... Lund, that the best thanks of the Association are due and hereby tendered to Mr. Wm. Lind, the retiring First Vice-President, for his past services in behalf of the Association. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Lind said it was quite an unusual thing to receive a vote of thanks from the Association after having been crowded out of office by the members. Still he could truthfully say he had done his best on all occasions for the Association, but even then he could not have hoped to please all, and that he had not was plainly evident. He trusted the Association would continue to progress in the future quite as much as it had in the past, and while he would not be called upon to give an "official" opinion in the year to come, he nevertheless would take the deepest interest in the proceedings. He thanked the members for their kind expression, and resumed his seat.

A vote of thanks to the scrutineers closed the business, and the meeting adjourned.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Make sure of a new almanac.

The girls are getting the New Year sore sheets ready.

A change in the weather is agreeable, right thaw it be.

The house that has not a stock of smashed toys in the corner is a phenomenon.

The FREE PRESS will be happy to receive New Year's calls—from those who don't ... Tyler, Bro. J. Montgomery. After the election W. Bro. Gamble, of St. John's 81, Mount Brydges, on behalf of the members, presented P. M. Bro. Dr. McLaren and W. M. Bro. Fitzallen with beautiful gold P. M's jewels, as tokens of esteem and recognition of past services.

O. F. ELECTION.—Two Courts of this order decided Addelaides Friday night. For Court Victoria, No. 10, the officers appointed were:—C. R., W. T. T. Williams; V. C. R., Dr. Morden; R. Sec., J. R. Woodhouse; Asst. Sec., Dr. Oronhyatekha; Treas., D. McPherson; S. W., John Ashworth; J. W., J. A. Bowe; S. B., W. H. Hawthorne; J. B., C. R. Colville; Physician, Dr. Morden. For Court Maple, No. 4, the election resulted as follows:—C. R., R. S. Oates; V. C. R., R. M. McElheran; R. Sec., M. Scarrow; F. Sec., James Hodgson; Treas., J. H. Chapman; S. W., J. D. Johnston; J. W., C. E. Smyth; S. B., J. N. Beattie; J. B., J. W. Hady; Physician, Dr. W. H. Moorhouse.

R. O. T. M. ELECTION.—At the regular meeting of Lansdowne Tent, No. 7, K. O. T. M., on Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the current quarter:—Ex-Sir Kt. General Commander, T. Harford; Sir Kt. Commander, R. Gerris; Sir Kt. Lieut-Commander, T. Gunn; Sir Kt. Prelate, John R. Law; Sir Kt. Record Keeper, T. C. Kemlejaite; Sir Kt. Finance Keeper, George Hardy; Sergeant, T. Brock; M. at A., G. W. Smith; 1st M. G., J. W. Grove; 2nd M. G., C. W. Smith; Sentinel, J. Maple. The tent is now in a flourishing condition, and starts the new year with a membership of 70 strong.

GRAND OFFICERS ELECTED.—The following were elected as officers for True Blue Grange, No. 130, Township of West Williams, for the ensuing year:—Master, Angus McLeish; Overseer, Angus McLachlan; Lecturer, Murdock McDonald; Steward, A. H. McIntosh; Assistant Steward, Arch. McIntosh; Chaplain, Angus Galbraith; Treasurer, Donald McKenzie; Secretary, John Love, jun.; Gatekeeper, James Wann; Ceres, Mrs. James McLachlan; Pomona, Miss Jane Guy; Flora, Miss Catherine McLachlan.

I. O. L. No. 626.—At the regular meeting of the above Lodge, held in their hall, Wantsted, on Friday evening, Dec. 26th, the following officers were unanimously elected and installed for the ensuing year:—Bros. W. H. McMahon, W. M., re-elected; W. Geller, D. M., re-elected; Thomas Hall, secretary, re-elected; John Edwards, Chap.; Jos. Alexander, Treas., re-elected; M. Smith, D. of C.; Bro. Hartley, Lecturer; Bro. Hartly, Francis Babcock, Committee; Jno. Lusk, I. T.; Austin Armstrong, O. T.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

JUST RECEIVED—1 hamper English pheasants, 1 hamper English hare, 1 bbl. cod, 50 bbls Malaga grapes, 20 cases St. Michael oranges, 10 cases Valencia oranges.—A. MCINTOSH.

For choicest and freshest Christmas and New Year's candies go to 304 Dundas street east. Best mixed only 25c per lb. EDWARD KNIGHT. 1,1848

Hawthorn's, the only first-class restaurant for ladies and gentlemen in the city. Oysters, quail, partridge, pigeon, chicken, duck, steaks, chops, etc., etc., cooked to order on the shortest possible notice, at Hawthorn's Hotel and Restaurant (European plan). 1,1747

Received to-day a large assortment of Fancy Goods for the holidays—kid gloves, silk handkerchiefs, ties, hair combs, jewellery, children's French hosiery, &c., at J. J. Gleeson's, Crystal Hall Building.

T. O'CALLAGHAN & CO.—Baltimore oysters direct from the bed and cheaper than the cheapest. Five different brands at 128 Dundas street east. Fine oysters.

Those suffering from cancers or running sores are recommended to communicate with Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Allen Craig, who has a salve entrusted to his care, said to invariably effect a cure. 1,1748

OYSTERS.—Until further notice I will retail fresh can Oysters at 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c and 40c per can, and wholesale to the trade at 12c, 15c, 20c per can, and 35c per can. All warranted fresh and good, or money refunded. All fruit in season. At P. MOUNTJOY'S, Opposite City Hall.

WHEN THE DOCTORS DON'T DISAGREE.—The doctors usually let a novelty in medicine or any other remedies work its way to change is existing remedies work its way to change is existing remedies work its way to recognition through a long period of neglect or antagonism, but with unprecedented unanimity they have accepted and prescribe SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, and universally declare it to be in consumption, wasting diseases of children, and all scrofulous affections orders of unrivalled efficacy. It is also perfectly agreeable to the taste. 1,1750

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 50cts. to $1.25 per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets and rugs to match carpets; cocoa and linoleum mat and rugs to match carpets; cocoa and linoleum mat and rugs to match carpets; cocoa and linoleum mat

RLINGS
LEBRATED LONDON
per Ale,
ger Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
om the trade respectfully solicited.

Died.

Y, on 29th inst., Rosie, adopted W. Sprague, aged 7 years. eral will leave the residence, 343 st. east of Clarence, today p.m. Friends will please attend. on Dec. 26th, Lizzie, wife of Mr. aged 27 years. eral will leave the family residence, on Wednesday, at 9.30 a.m. f December, at Torrington, North nd, Elizabeth, widow of the late , of London, Ontario, aged 76.

ONHYATEKHA.

ichmond street, opposite the City attention given to Diseases of the throat, and to Nervous Diseases. from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and from delaide, 343 Dundas street, opposite Grove. tf

EETINGS.

TING OF THE ELECT- 6 Ward will be held in the Bond House, Tuesday evening, 30th inst., to discuss municipal affairs of

GENERAL MEETING. nnual General Meeting of the The English Loan Company will Company's buildings, in the City the 16th day of January, 1880, at ive o'clock noon, at which time, the ordinary business, an amendarter will be considered.—HOW. A. r, President; J. A. ELLIOTT, Sec. L2004dwf

SERVICE.—THE UNrival Services will be held every ek in Queen's Ave. Methodist (Saturday excepted). Morning ckoning, Tuesday, Dundas Street East rch, at 3 p.m.; on Wednesday in e, at the same hour. All are in- 1301

USEMENTS.

ER GRAND SHOOTING New Year's Day, at Clark's Bridge, ecoys and fowls. Commence at BRIMWALD. 1301

ANTS WANTED.

ONS WANTED, FOR A hardware stock, 1 book-keeper, 2 15 farm laborers, 10 boys. Also, by good manufacturers. Washing c., at Jno OSBORN'S Intelligence an street, London. tf

ATIONS VACANT.

WANTED—A SINGLE pable of taking charge of a bake x 6 O, London, Ont. L1th

DANCING.

'S DANCING ACADE- Dundas street. Gents' class 4.45 p.m. Second class opens th. Twelve lessons, $4. Fashionables a specialty.—G. DAYTON. y

SCELLANEOUS.

SKATING RINK, SUL- ath Grounds, foot of Dundas open; ice in good condition. on the Rink.—A MASSEY, pro- L21th

FUL! MORE BEAUTI- MOST BEAUTIFUL!!!—One written cards, for 25 cents. One eautiful gilt-edge cards, for 40 ne of the most beautiful ornaexecuted in the very highest , at $1 00, or one card for $1 etter beautiful!! most beautiful!!! and address on each card. Send. None elegantly written in d for Gridiner or New Year's Street or call on W N YERKS, Dufferin P.O. 1067 Dundas st., city. L1dy

, THOSE BEAUTIFUL e made by Mrs. M. BINN, the art, for 25c. per ounce, sample by nada. Factory—No. 613 Richmond J146f

FOR SALE.

OF BLACK PONIES, 5 , perfectly sound and quiet, for an be seen at the Western Hotel L25v

AGE, WAGON AND ith's Shop, with Dwelling House, Village of Melbourne, being a good enty of ordered work, which it e ensure on.—J. E. NORTHCOTT, tario. K166f

TERS.—FOR SALE, A Richard Flour Cutter, in good 28 inches. Apply at PARK PALINGS tf

B SEWING MACHINE ch latest improvements, for sale at Office of PARK PALINGS. tf

EAL ESTATE.

RESIDENCE, CLOSE Branch Mills, Petersville, for ale, with new brick cellar, green den and orchard, which this year 00 bushels of apples—2 acres in l and with back on the river. tion, and easy as to time. Apply ing, to J. SHANLY. October, 1879. tus-tf

DWELLING AND LOT 113 feet frontage by 260 feet deep with the shattered brick and orchard on Albert street. Apply to F. B. Gault

OR SALE, CHEAP.— e Estate, Westminster.—PARKS

LE PROPERTY FOR osits G W R Car Shops. Store with furniture, will be sold on pply to JOHN MULLIN on prem- dtf

TO LET

-CLASS TWO-STORY ouse to let, corner Bond and ne. Possession given immeto Wm HOWIE, 316 Piccadilly

—TWO-STORY BRICK o. 608 Queen's Avenue, double doors, 8in. hard and soft sizes; all in excellent repair. Grove, next door. L18tf

ORDWOOD.

TION COAL AND WOOD a good stock of coal, well wood cut and split to suit customers, always on hand. Full sures guaranteed. Cheapest in on left at T. J. McDonough's, grocer, or at the office, opposite No. 3 Richmond street.—H. M. DOUPE Ctfmoddy

MEDICAL.

DE OF 84 JAMES ion of the Eye, Ear ation, resided at Tecumseh ... first and third Thursdays Grove, as straightened. L4dwly

LOYD, M.D., C.M., PHY- Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's ol, member Ontario Physicians Ont. Office—Richmond street, ation. K8vtu

MILLER, D.D.S., TOMSON DENTIST. Block, Richmond street. Gray

PEN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. ed over Bank of Montreal, Crystal H... DAS EXTRACTION. ted without pain.

AL CO PARTNERSHIP. signed, have entered into co-partnership of the practice of the Medical ... ctice, M.D., JOHN WISHART, M.B., F.R.C.S. Edinburgh Edinburgh. M.R.C.S., England. -2 10 a.m., and 2 to 4 p.m. Office 20n Elliot street, cor. Wellington Adelaide

REEVE, B.A., M.D. Residence and Office: ARTER STREET, TORONTO. ecumseh House, London, on the TURDAY OF EACH MONTH. Ridsdale

ER AND TRUNKS.

SINE, L.D.S., DENTIST, Office, 113½ Dundas street.

ONALD, L.D.S., DEN- Office — Dundas street, four Richmond door over Dorey's store

GROCERS.

ALBRAITH, RICHMOND STREET, good stock of Teas, Coffees, Sugar, which he will sell cheap for cash. the place. J16ouly

ROCERIES AND PRO- ls, and everything found in a first go to C. C. Burns, corner of Dundas and Maitland streets. Choice Alveidwf

The

VOL. XXII. LONDON,

For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
—AND—
HOLIDAY GOODS,
—TRY—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
328 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows' Hall.

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
C. DAVISON,
720 and 721 Richmond-st., London Ont.

RECEIVED THIS WEEK,
A LARGE STOCK OF TOILET GOODS
—AT—
CENTRAL DRUG STORE.
J. H. NASMITH & CO.
London, Sept. 30, 1879 1049

BUSINESS CARDS.

CARPET WEAVING—AS CLOSE as the closest, on warp as strong as the strongest, 3 prices as cheap as the cheapest, a workman as good as the best.—Z S FLEMING Market Square. J30tfdw

GEORGE KERR, IMPORTER AND DEALER IN LEATHER, OIL AND SHOE FINDINGS 164 Richmond street London. Richby

GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS cleaned and renovated by the new patent steam renovator. Old mattresses and cushions made over equal to new.—JAMES P. HOEY, Mattress Factory, English Packing House, Talbot street, London. ly

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Elby

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE—Clearing sale for thirty days, come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash price paid for second-hand clothing. WM. JENKINS, 343 Dundas street, 2 doors west of Wellington and Clarence streets. Nov9

SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. Removal.—J. MCKENZIE has removed his Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment and Part Emporium to 199 Dundas street (3 doors W. of Clarence), his old stand. P.S.—This is the only Machine Repair, Part and Attachment Emporium of the city. Foster facilities for repairing, and cheaper rates than ever. Raymond's Celebrated Machines on sale. Full-life-time warranty given with every Raymond sold. J16odlm

W. DODSON, DEALER IN FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to announce to his friends and the public that he has removed his business to the old stand, 399 Dundas street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. Jly9

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. J. P. HUNKINS, Proprietor. M'y7

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Windsor.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.25 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. T. R. Depot and Ferry Dock.—COOKE & BRYCE, proprietors. Ju7

M'KELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. BOWES. Jly26

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travellers will find it to their advantage to give it a trial. Sample and large wagon room at all trains. Livery in connection. JOSEPH BLACK, Jr., Prop. Ly

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, near G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every respect. Good accommodation for commercial travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. POTTER. 836vtu

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, Ont. First-class house for commercial travellers. Only stands all passenger trains.—P. J. RANKIN & CO., Proprietors. D66f

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES ROBINSON, Proprietor. 1249

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block, Richmond street, London, Ont. Fly

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery. Office—Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont. JAMES MAGEE, HARRIS MAGEE, W. J. CLARKE. Geo. M. COX.

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CABINETS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, etc. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 343 Dundas-st. Fly

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J Gregg, 428 Dundas street, near Albert Block

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, Importers and Wholesale Dealers in BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE, 246 AND 248 RICHMOND STREET, LONDON.

Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. Jly

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS and Dealers, 4th English, German and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and Oils. Dundas Street, London, Ont. y

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent, Dundas street, opposite Talbot's Grove, London East. Jly

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
1151 ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE
BOYS' OWN PAPER, SUNDAY-AT-HOME, AND LEISURE HOUR.
$1.50 per year, in advance, or 15 cents per number for 1880. Postpaid on receipt of price.
W. ALLASTER,
ocdly London East.

C. P. GIBSON
Grocer, Legg's Block, London East.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Flour, Feed, and General Stock of Green Groceries. Oysters below city prices. Farm Produce taken in exchange. 136.tfb

Dr. M. Forster,
CHEMIST & DRUGGIST,
Hicks' Block, London East.

DRUGS,
ALL FRESH, AND OF BEST QUALITY
Combs, Hair Brushes, Toilet Soaps and Perfumes.
Dr. Forster will superintend the business himself. D

Don't Part With Your M
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West:
NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.
THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!
KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
In Every Department Extra Value.
WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.
Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

Later
Pass
Rep. spection
the Frith.

London, Dec. 29.—The Manager o North British Railway, telegraphing fr Lenchars at four this morning, says several large girders along with the last train from Edinburgh were precipitated into the river last night. There were nearly 300 passengers besides the company's servants, all of whom, it is believed, perished. A dispatch from Edinburgh this morning says that a portion of the bridge which fell crushed several large superstructure girders at the central and navigable portion of the river, which averages from 70 to 75 feet in depth. The train would fall about 60 feet before reaching the water. Some time elapsed before the nature of the disaster was ascertained. The damage to the wires on the bridge and badness of the weather interfered with the transmission of news. Whether the girders were blown down before the train entered the bridge or were carried away with it, will probably never be ascertained, as there were no survivors. The bridge was only opened for traffic in May, 1878, it being considered a triumph of engineering skill. It was about two miles long, had 85 spans, with a width of 245 feet. At the highest point it was 180 feet above high water. The train left Edinburgh at 4 15 in the afternoon, and consisted of four third-class cars, one first-class, one second and a brakesman's van. At the last station before entering the bridge the tickets were taken, and the train was then over led. Vast quantities of the wreckage, doors and roofs of the carriages, together with pieces of the long central spans are gone. The wind was a bright moonlight, but the wind was blowing a hurricane.

The Provost of Dundee, and the citizens who accompanied him in a steamer to the scene of the Tay Bridge disaster, have returned. The search about the bridge in small boats revealed no trace of any survivors. The gap in the bridge is about half a mile long, comprising eleven of the long-est spans, each 245 feet in length and one 145 feet.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

London, Dec. 29.—A dispatch from Dundee asserts that the number of lives lost by the Tay Bridge disaster does not exceed 90. This is probably an under-estimate. Six bodies have been recovered.

London, Dec. 29.—The Standard says of the bridge disaster, that when the first feeling of horror which hangs over the country shall have subsided, a strict and severe investigation into the causes of the accident will be demanded by the people, and nothing short of a complete answer will be accepted. The gale to which the bridge succumbed was not exceptionally violent, and the train of cars having, apparently, nothing to do with the accident, which had occurred before the cars reached the broken portion. The national reputation is at stake, and the investigation must be searching indeed.

London, Dec. 29.—The railway authorities now estimate the total lives lost at 75. A telegram from Dundee states that only 56 passenger tickets were taken at the train stopping place, but these do not account for the number of young children requiring no tickets, nor for the number of passengers for Edenburgh Ferry whose travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. POTTER. 836vtu

THE TAY.

The Frith of Tay is one of the principal estuaries of Scotland. The river by which it is supplied is formed by the junction of two streams, one flowing from Loch Tay and the other from near the borders of Argyle. From the meeting of these two streams the river Tay pursues a tortuous course east and south past Aberfeldy, Dunkeld and Perth, draining the county of Perth and part of Forfarshire. At Perth the river becomes a frith, or estuary, widening to the extent of three miles before it joins the Frith of Forth, on the North Sea. It is supposed to discharge more water than any other river in Scotland, and its basin has been estimated to comprise from 2,400 to 2,750 square miles. It winds through a country of picturesque beauty. Dundee and Errald are on the north side, and Newburgh is on the south side of the estuary. It is navigable from the sea to Newburgh, 15 miles, for vessels of 500 tons burden, and sometimes to Perth for vessels drawing nine feet of water.

London, Dec. 29.—The Government sent two inspectors to ascertain the particulars of the Tay bridge disaster, and also directed a formal inquiry into the occurrence. The divers thus far have been unable to discover the wrecked train. They will make another effort to-day. The place where the train sank is full of quicksands, and if the bodies drowned are not recovered within a few days they will become imbedded with the cars beyond recovery. The Queen telegraphed to the Provost of Dundee tendering condolence with the bereaved. Only one body so far has been recovered, and that is badly mutilated.

London, Dec. 29.—The various accounts agree in placing the total loss of life by the Tay disaster at ninety.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS
A ten cent sample bottle of DARKNESS' BRONCHIAL STEP-UP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. J9oy.

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
J3vn International House Dundas street.

The Ontario
LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY,
WORKING CAPITAL - - $2,500,000.
Money to Loan at 8 per cent. on First-class Mortgages on Real Estate (half the cash value only).
Time and money will be saved by personal application at the office.
Municipal and School Section Debentures purchased.
WILLIAM F. BULLEN,
Manager.
London, Nov. 3, 1879. Jlsoddwtf

Arnold.
Dennis, James [illegible]
L A Morrison, Esq
Smith, John W Gillett, and F C Wright.

PRESTON.

William C Schlueter, Reeve; Councillors—Gyrus Erb, Guggisberg, George Pattinson, Alberg, Charles Weseman, John [illegible] thony Bernhardt, George Hallman Gilles and John P Gerolit.

OTTAWA.

For Mayor—C H McIntosh and John Clancy were nominated. There will be contests in every Ward in the city Aldermanships.

TORONTO.

Robert Beaty, the present Mayor, and Angus Morrison were nominated for the Mayoralty. It is generally believed that Beaty will be re-elected. A contest will take place in every Ward in the city for Aldermen.

BATHAM.

The Bayham Councillmen were all elected by acclamation:—Wm Beckhouse, Reeve; George W Best, 1st Deputy-Reeve; George Laing, 2nd Deputy-Reeve; W S Wagoner and H T Godwin, Councillors.

WINDHAM.

Charles Robertson, Reeve; Robt Watson, Deputy-Reeve; Jas Clements, 2nd Deputy-Reeve; William Ball and Oliver Jarvis, Councillors. All elected by acclamation.

PETROLIA.

Mayor, James Kerr and Henry Bishop; Reeve, Hamilton Cameron, Esq.; Ward—Dr Means, James Heasey, R McWhorter, R C Marwick, John Fraser, [illegible] Rogers, Robert Hall, D Vanscamp. No. 2—Vaughn, Draper, Jenkins, Archer, Lawson, Duncan, Sinclair, Rosenburgh, Bradley, Kennedy, Cox, Gibson. No. 3—Chamberlain, James Perkins and Henry Gannett were elected by acclamation. No 4—James Buchanan, John McCarty, O Simmons, W E Reynolds, W H McGarvey.

PORT STANLEY.

For Reeve, M Payne, elected by acclamation. For Councillors, Samuel Edgcombe, John Ellison, jun, Jos Mitchell, James Bake, Wm Stacey and R. R. Goulding.

SLETH.

Reeve, Wm Flegg, elected by acclamation. Councillors, Archibald Taylor, W Watson, H McQuarrie, G Moody, John Cook, Wm Way and Wm Simms.

RIDGETOWN.

Reeve, Jacob Smith, M D, and John Whyte, Councillors, C E Soane, John Moody, sen, Henry Watson, Hugh McDonald, Geo Rookey, C P Simpson, Hugh D Cunningham, Thos Schleinker, Jas Rushton, Wm B H Morgan, Charles H. Baker.

TOWNSHIP OF HOWARD.

Reeve, John Ferguson, re-elected by acclamation. First Deputy, Benj Wilson and John Semon. Second Deputy, Archd D McDiarmid, Alex Clarke. Councillors, J Gardiner and John Crawford, S H Spencer and Jas Thompson.

ALDBOROUGH.

Reeve, T W Kirkpatrick, Arch McLean, Councillors — Ward No. 1—Daniel McLaren, elected by acclamation. Ward No. 2—J G Stalker, D H McCowan. Ward No. 3—Wm Rose, Dan Laing, J L Schlichauh, Duncan McGregor. Ward No. 4—Philip Schleihaeg, Wm G Grant.

STRATHROY.

Mayor, Wm Rapley; Reeve, F J Craig; Deputy-Reeve, D H Cameron. All were re-elected by acclamation, the latter for the fourth time consecutively without opposition. The following nominations for councillors were accepted, and the parties go to the polls:—No. 1 Ward—Jas Smith, Jas Bowley, W H Beal, G G Scott. No. 2 Ward—M S Springer, A Goodwin, R Dunbrill, Samuel Eakins, P J Allison, H E Kelsham, Jas Mason. No. 3 Ward—Jas H English, John B Watson, W Daniels, John Baskerville, W C Moore.

ILSLEY.

Hardy, Reeve, by acclamation. Councillors nominated—Jas Pickard, E Drew, Geo Willis, Jas Willis, Wm Treble, Wm Bissell, W Fenwick, A G Dyer, John McLaughlin, J Ranton, D Wanless, George Samwell.

TOWNSHIP OF ENNISKILLEN.

For Reeve, McNaughton and Dupee; for Deputy-Reeve, Anderson and Gooden; for Councillors, Ingram, Miller, Brown, Drader, Tobin, Stonehouse and Akin.

TOWNSHIP OF MORRIS.

The old Council was re-elected by acclamation.

TILBURY EAST.

Reeve, A Wilson and Harry Forbes, Deputy-Reeve, W Hickey and J Stewart, Councillors, Messrs Sales, McGregor, Mann, Martin and Ingram.

OXFORD.

Reeve, John Mason and James C McDonald; Deputy, A J McDonald and John McKillop; Councillors, Jas Reycroft, H C Gilmour, John A Richardson, John N Kenney, John Gemer, Jas Byfield and Daniel Cameron.

ST. THOMAS.

Mr J E Smith was re-elected Mayor without opposition. Councillors, St George's Ward—F Hurst, D McIntosh, Dr Van Buskirk, F Ellison, J F Martyn, J M Green, J Farley, H Lindop, R Conn. St Andrew's Ward—D Drake, G Metcalfe, J Midgley, C O Ermatinger, W Coyne. St Patrick's Ward—J H Still, H Brown, A Fraser, J S Upper, C Roe, C Whitwam. St. David's Ward E Moore, W E Idsardi, A Barnes, T B Wright, I Morse, T Baldwin, W Mann, Rob Cole.

NEWBURY.

Reeve, Thos Robinson and Dr A Councillors, W J Guppy, H S Archer, Jno Armstrong, H Coo J Smith.

BATTERSEA.

For Reeve—Esson and Councillors—Barker, Stanbur Logan and Bailey.

WALLACETOWN.

John Lyons and A Mc nated for the Township. Judson Milligan, A J Ind L W McIntyre and Dan nominated for Councillors named were elected by ac

SUNBURY.

For Reeve—[illegible] Councillors, Clanahan, S J Wa Keller, Jas Harris, Michael

WESTMINSTER.

Reeve—H M Hunt, re-elected Councillors—W Re Ewart, A J Dyer, [illegible] Chinic, E W Smith, Robt Geo Brock, Jas Smith, Duncan.

TOWNSHIP OF DOR

Reeve—R Wilson, elected by tion. Councillors — Messrs Cald McLarty, Jas C Brown, Peter Rob Cook, Col McDonald, Joseph P Wm Jordan.

BURFORD.

Reeve—Joseph Roberts, W Deputies—Jas McKenzie, Josep

Reeve—T Pherson, A Mc... D McBean, John ilton, H Wilson and A

SEAFORTH.

Reeve—J Lockie and B Gerry. Councillors—J R Smith, F Moore, F Fletcher, G H Cooper, W H Mcracken, T Town and F Vanzoske.

AILSA CRAIG.

Reeve—Messrs Jo Romer and T G Nevills. Councillors—R W Tweedale, Wm K Ronght, D H Cris, J W Cameron, D A Stewart, O E Price, Lorrenzo and T Brown.

UTTER.

Mayor—J Middaugh, by acclamation. Reeve—G McKechnie, by acclamation.

SOMERT TOWNSHIP.

Reeve, Thos M Sa. Geo Robinson, Councillors, P Dawes, Thos Hodgson, G Coatsworth, John Deacon, John Smith, Hy Healey, Thos Wigle, sen.

ANCASTER.

Mayor, M Twomey; Lambert, Reeve; Wm H Balfour, Sol McGee, Deputy Reeve; J Crenmmin W 2 Wilkinson, Councillors.

BARTON.

Jas McKee, elected Reeve by acclamation. Thos McWhinn, Mayor, by acclamation. For Councils, A C Ellis, J B Gardhier, L Jolicoeur, B G Luns, C St Louis, G McCurdy, Jbalmers.

MUSKOKA DISTRICT.

Reeve, G A Morse and M Fox; Deputy-Reeve, Robt Lamshed Mallet; Councillors, W Cowen, B Bison, L Hinkson, Wm Watson, A Hazlet, Thos Read, A Whittle.

BRANTFORD.

John Beattie, Mayor; Dowilson, Reeve; J Carter, Deputy-Reeve. Councillors, South Ward—O C Gunn, W Hill, A Strong. East Ward—J McNaughton, L Murphy, William Goss; all by acclamation. The contest in the North Ward is between Messrs Child Beattie, J Hall and G Williamson.

INGERSOLL.

Mayor, Thomas Rowe and C E Chadwick: Reeve, E Caswell, elected by acclamation; 1st Deputy-Reeve, A Oliver and A Daly; 2nd Deputy-Reeve, W Sellworth and D Williams. Councillors, No.1 Ward—John Gayfer, W T Cosg, Wm Ballantine, John Buchanan, J Hayes James Sinclair, Arman Gleb, Ephraim Briggs. No. 2—James Waterhouse, Francis Stewart, F G Fiewelling, Fred Richardson, M H Grey, James Calder, We Partlow. No. 3—Robt Vance, Louis Thegeon, A S Christopher, Robt Fressel, Barry Goble.

STRATFORD.

Mayor, Alex Grant, Wm Roberts, P R Jarvis; Reeve, A W Robb, J Abraham. Geo Foreman; 1st Deputy, D Setnguor. D B Burrett; 2nd Deputy, John C Monteith, by acclamation; 3rd Deputy, J Brown, by acclamation; Councillors—Romes Ward—H T Butler, W G Owan, John Counter, Jas Weir; Shakespeare Ward—E R Lang, H Gibson, W Treblaway, Jno O'Douglas, Falstaff Ward—A G McKay, J M Fraser, Jas Longfoot, Wm Rasson; Hamlet Ward—Thos Yeadle, D R Macpherson, Dr Hamilton; Avon Ward—G Horne, John Vanstone, Wm Gaston.

GODERICH.

Mayor, B L Doyle, elected by acclamation; Reeve, J T Garrow, by acclamation; Deputy-Reeve, F W Johnston, by acclamation.

HARWICH TOWNSHIP.

Reeve, J A Langford, D Campell, D Sampson. First Deputy, David Wilson, J McMullin, Robt Wilkie. Second Deputy, Wm Cameron, Joseph Kelly, G Welby. Councillors, Jno Vesler, C Campell, D McMahon, Reuben Mattice, Chas Mabory.

RENFREW VILLAGE.

Reeve, Sherman Malcolm. John McMeehan, Geo Morgan, S Arnold, T Blackson, Geo Thompson. Councillors, Philip F C Rinard, T R Hughson, John M Burk, J K Morris, M Murphy, L Patterson, Thos Hicks, G Hallock, Jno G Mountford, W B Fallows.

GUELPH.

Mayor, Geo Sleeman and Geo Howard. Water Commissioners, Richard Mitchell, Geo Howard and Jno Harris.

WOODSTOCK.

Mayor, James Sutherland. Mr. Sutherland was elected by acclamation, all Robt Revel, Reeve; Wm Totter Deputy; H Parker, Second De... St. Patrick's Ward—H ... G G Eden, A Teeple —T D Watson, J Grey. St J... Falconer. David... W ...

The President, Mr. Watson, proposed the usual loyal and patriotic toasts, which were received with becoming loyalty and cheers, the band playing suitable selections.

Mr. Dromgole sang "Bonnie Mary of Argyle in fine style, and in response to a hearty encore gave the ever popular song "Annie Laurie." Army, Navy and [illegible] proposed by Capt. Spence, responded to by Lieut. Hyatt of Ont. and was warmly applauded.

"The Dominion and Local Legislature" came next in order.

Hon. John Carling felt obliged to the company for the hearty manner in which the toast had been received. The Dominion had acted that commercial men took no active part in politics, and he felt that after all this was for the best. It was the duty of every good citizen who had commerce at heart to drop politics as soon as every election was over. (Hear, hear) as every election was over. (Hear, hear) Canada was a great country, and it behooved those who were anxious for its prosperity to act as one man for the furtherance of its interests. The population of Canada was at present as great as that of the United States at the time of the declaration of its independence, and, thanks to our excellent educational system, its citizens were equal in intelligence to those of any nation on the face of the globe. (Cheers.) The young men of Canada were able, on going abroad, to secure the very highest positions of trust, but he hoped that but few of them would see fit to leave. He spoke of the excellent facilities afforded men of commerce, and the fine fields which were being opened up by the new railways. He was happy to know that an association of this character was in existence, by which the best interests of its members could be guarded, and after referring to the future of Canada and the loyalty of its people, he concluded by giving a cursory history of our city, its commercial interests and prosperity. (Cheers.)

Mr. W. J. Reid sang an Irish song, which set the company off in roars of laughter.

Mr. W. Little now assumed the chair, and proposed the next toast, "The Mayor and Corporation of the city of London." Just now for municipal offices we [illegible] travellers, and for [illegible] promised his vote [illegible] didates. (Laughter.) He [illegible] why gentlemen were [illegible] he read to th... was found sidewalk [illegible]

LONDON, Dec. [illegible] says the element [illegible] Cabinet are [illegible] have been [illegible] homogeneous, [illegible] the Moderate Le Paris, Dec. 29. [illegible] the St. Louis qu... persons.

CABLE

Only 400 metres of [illegible] nel now remain to be [illegible] A St Petersburg co... that no arrangement [illegible] tween England and Ru... Asian question.

A Paris correspon... nation of the [illegible] lately noti... [illegible] why

...ms,

...ALL

...ABLISHED 1846.

...HAVE RECEIVED A FULL assortment of
HAIR BRUSHES
CLOTHES BRUSHES
FLESH BRUSHES
TOOTH BRUSHES
NAIL BRUSHES
METALLIC HAIR BRUSHES
From the best manufacturers.

B. A. MITCHELL & SON,
114 Dundas street West, north side,
LONDON, ONT.
L35y

New Year's Cards
IN ENDLESS VARIETY
AT ALL PRICES!
ALSO, FINE ASSORTMENT OF
NEW YEAR CALLING CARDS
—AT—
W. BRYCE'S
168
Dundas Street, London.
CALL EARLY.
Only 10,000 Left Out of 50,000 Imported

Grand Trunk Railway.

Christmas and New Year.

Tickets will be issued at
A FARE AND A-THIRD
On the 24th and 25th December, good to return till the 31st December.

Also, on the 31st December and 1st January at the same rate, good to return until the 7th January inclusive. JOSEPH HICKSON,
General Manager.
Montreal, Dec 11, 1879. L 6b4

Great Western Railway

NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAYS

RETURN TICKETS WILL BE issued on 31st Dec., 1879, and 1st January 1880, good until 7th January, 1880, at
One Fare and a Third.

F. BROUGHTON,
General Manager.
Hamilton, Dec. 26th, 1879. L27ys to,w

FOR CHRISTMAS
AND NEW YEAR'S CANDIES
—GO TO—
W. J. Booth's
—13—
LILLEY'S BLOCK, LONDON EAST.

THE AUSTRALIAN EXPORT Co.

THE SHIP CLIFTON,
Just arrived from Adelaide, South Australia, is fast loading for a return passage at her wharf, foot of Sixth street, New York.
For freight and information apply to ARTHUR HARVEY, Esq., Manager,
Office over Consolidated Bank, Toronto.
Dec 30th, 1879. L2f3

L. C. Leonard's
Cheapest Place in London for CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
CHANDELIERS,
LAMPS, ETC
Dundas Street,
(4 doors) opposite Kingsmill's and A. B. Powell's.

SLIPPERS

Christmas and New Year's Slippers in all kinds of Ladies and Gents' Handmades and Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing done. Patronage solicited.
SAUNDERS & LASHBROOK,
L31y No. 4 New Arcade.

SKATES!
"ACME"
BARNEY & BERRY'S,
PLAIN AND NICKEL,
ALL PRICES, SIZES AND STYLES. ALSO,
HAND SLEIGHS,
WEATHER STRIPS,
FIRE IRONS, &c.,
—AT—
REID'S HARDWARE,
No. 116
North Side Dundas St., next door to Mitchell's Retail Drug Store.

RECEIVED
BY B. A. M.
(20) Twenty Bbls Irish Moss
Quotations on application.
B. A. MITCHELL.

GEORGE F. JEWELL,
ACCOUNTANT,
INSURANCE AND COMMISSION AGENT
OFFICE—No. Oddfellow's Block, Dundas st, London, Ont.
L3ooly

...VERTISEMENTS.

...by Auction.
...IS DAY.
...Year's Gifts
...AUCTION
...EE NIGHTS ONLY.
...torses!
...oks.
...Shells.
...Toys and
Fancy Goods.
...ously yet offered. Monday, Tuesday ...esday nights, at 7.30 o'clock.
WM. BRYCE,
215 Dundas st.
...ILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers. L35v

AUCTION SALE
Household Furniture.
MANVILLE & BROWN WILL sell at their rooms, Mechanics' Institute,
On Tuesday, 30th December,
A large collection of Household Furniture:—Centre tables, sofas, lounges in leather and cloth, reading and easy chairs, bureaus (walnut and open), washstands, bedsteads, walnut bedroom suites, cane and wood chairs, feather beds and pillows, blankets and quilts, spring and other mattresses, extension tables, sideboards, tapestry, Kidderminster and felt carpets, chromos and engravings, plated ware, chamberware, counter scales, extra beer pumps, four splendid cookstoves (coal and wood), base burner and parlor stoves, cupboards, curtains, lamps—the contents of private residences removed to the rooms for convenience of sale. No reserve. Terms cash.
MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers.
L35t

AUCTION SALE
—OF—
Silver-plated Ware.
W. Y. BRUNTON & SON will sell at their rooms, Dundas street, nearly opposite Strong's Hotel, on TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY nights, Dec. 30 and 31, a large consignment of the best make of silver ware, embracing salvers, tea sets, cruets, cake baskets, urns, butter dishes, epergnes, entree pieces, fruit stands, knives, forks, spoons, &c., by the best makers, and guaranteed triple plate. Sale at 7.30.
W. Y. BRUNTON & SON, Auctioneers.
L35v

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE, AND
Village Lots at the Village of Alvinston, BY PUBLIC AUCTION.
In the Matter of A. Tyler and J. A. Rose, Insolvents.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL OFFER for sale by Public Auction, at his office, Alvinston Buildings, Rickmond street, London, on MONDAY, the 5th JANUARY, 1880, at the hour of noon, all the right, title and interest of the above-named insolvents in the undermentioned property, viz:—
1st. The excellent store and premises on Richmond street, near the Chapter House, occupied by Mr. G. Davison as grocery and fancy goods store.
2nd. Village lots Nos. 10, 11 and 12, north side of Mill street, in the village of Alvinston, county of Lambton.
Terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale.
THOS. CHURCHER, Official Assignee
London, Ont., Dec. 22nd, 1879. L35ec3t

New Crockery Store!
—THE—
Mammoth Teapot
Is open to the inspection of the public, and there will be found on hand a complete stock of Crockery, China,
GLASSWARE,
Lamps and Lamp Fixtures
AND FANCY GOODS,
Which the proprietor is bound to slaughter at
Prices Never Before Heard Of
IN LONDON.
A SPECIAL SALE
Will be opened
DURING THE HOLIDAYS
—FOR—
Christmas & New Year's Gifts.
Give the MAMMOTH TEAPOT a call.
DUNDAS ST.,
Opposite Strong's Hotel.
L35tn

NOTICE.
AS ALL FOOT-POWER MACHINERY have been sold at so high a price that few could get them,
J. WAUD
has been to considerable expense to make them within the reach of all, and as good an article for work and durability. The Lathe, two speeds with belt, will turn 12 inches diameter, from two to three feet long, for the small sum of Sixteen Dollars. Turning Tools, Boring Bit, Chuck and Vice attached. Four Dollars extra. Jig Saw Attachment, Eight Dollars, making a complete tool and a useful one. The ordinary price would be Seventy five Dollars for all. Call and examine them at 319 Dundas st., London. L27t

Cordwood Wanted.
200 CORDS OF GREEN AND 150 cords of Dry Wood (must be of the best quality) for the
LONDON CITY HOSPITAL,
in not less than 25 cord lots, same to be delivered Hospital yard.
Tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, on or before Tuesday, 30th inst.
A. B. POWELL,
Chairman Hospital and Relief Committee.
London, Dec. 26, 1879. 2t-ec7

SKATES
ACME.
BARNEY & BERRY,
UNION HARDWARE CO
Full stock, all sizes and cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips
Will not crack or harden in coldest weather; keeps out cold perfectly and saves fuel.
T. HERBERT MARSH,
HARDWARE MERCHANT,
161 Dundas St., London

ALEXANDRA COLLEGE,
FOR LADIES
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO.
Reduction of Fees After Jan. 1, 1880.
TOTAL EXPENSE FOR TWO terms of 22 weeks, from Jan. 13 to June 16, only $90, including board, room rent, furniture, tuition, music and incidentals. Eleven Professors and Lady Teachers (6 University graduates). Unsurpassed advantages in music, drawing, painting, modern languages, penmanship, literary societies, prizes, dining hall, careful supervision, &c. Degrees conferred in arts and music, with privilege of matriculating in Albert University.
For information address the President,
REV. J. R. JAQUES, D. D., Ph. D.,
L3st Belleville, Ont.

TO CONSUMERS.
GO TO THE California Store
—FOR—
FIRST-CLASS
GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS
at prices to suit the time
Goods delivered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed.
WM. MOORE & CO.,
CORNER KING AND RICHMOND STREETS
London, August 25, 1879. 1y6ly

Thousands of Overcoa
ULSTERS AND ULSTERETTES
For Men, Youths, Boys and Children, in all styles, colors and qualities, at pr cannot fail to be satisfactory to purchasers.
Our enormous sales for the past 90 days have compelled us to be co adding to our stock, and many of our Overcoats and Ulsters have been rece
ing the last month.
Every garment is of late style, and many of them are decided novelties.
We call the attention of all wanting Overcoats to the fact that our sto largest in the West and is superior in quality, style and excellence of manuf
C. R. MABLEY,
Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 12
and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,
DETROIT. - - - - - MICHI

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS
To the Electors
—OF THE—
CITY OF LONDON.
GENTLEMEN,—Having been presented with a largely signed requisition to allow myself to be nominated for Mayor for 1880, I now desire to state that I will accept the nomination, and, if elected, will, to the best of my ability, serve the city so as to prove myself worthy of the responsible position.
I will attend the different Ward Meetings and give you my views concerning matters affecting the interests of the city.
The time being short before the election, it will be impossible for me to make a personal canvass of the whole city; I will, however, endeavor to call on as many of the electors as possible.
To the requisitionists who so kindly signed the document just put into my hand, I beg to return my sincere gratitude.
GENTLEMEN, I now most respectfully solicit your votes and influence for Mayor during the coming year, and remain your obedient servant,
J. H. MINHINNICK.
London, Dec. 16, 1879 L37d

To the Electors of No. 6 Ward.
HAVING BEEN REQUESTED by a large number of the electors to offer as a candidate for the position of Alderman, I have consented to comply with their request, and solicit your votes and influence to secure my election. Your obedient servant,
Lldecl5 E. HOWARD.

TO THE RATEPAYERS
—OF—
No. 5 Ward.
GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with a large requisition received by me from many of the ratepayers of this Ward, I offer myself as a candidate for Alderman for the year 1880, and solicit your votes and influence.
Your obedient servant,
NICHOLAS WILSON.
ec15d

Electors of London East.
HAVING ACCEPTED THE REQUISITION for the position of
FIRST DEPUTY-REEVE,
I now solicit your votes for the same. If elected I shall do my duty as your representative. By looking after your interests it will be mine so.
Yours truly,
CHARLES LILLEY.
London East, Dec 27, 1879. do

MEETINGS!
A MEETING OF THE FRIENDS and supporters of
MR. WATERMAN will be held in Rectory Street School-house
—ON—
Tuesday Evening, Dec. 30,
AND IN THE ANDERSON SCHOOL-HOUSE
—ON—
Friday, January 2nd, 1880.
MR. WATERMAN and a number of Reformers will address the meetings. All Municipal Affairs will be The roughly discussed.
GOD SAVE THE QUEEN. L2tfd

BOOKS.

A Trip to Mexico, with 30 Photograph Illustrations, by W. C. Reeber, Esq.	$ 2 00
The People's Reformation; by C. Gaffre	2 50
Select Notes on International S. S. Lessons, 1880	1 25
Fleshan's Grand Annual for the Young	2 50
Farrar's Life and Work of St. Paul, 2 vols	7 00
Our Village, by Miss Mitford; beautifully illustrated	1 00
Deep Down, a Tale of the Cornish Mines, by R. M. Ballantyne	1 50
Tales of Adventure on the Sea, by R. M. Ballantyne	1 50
Post Paste, a Tale of R. M. Mails, by R. M. Ballantyne	1 50
My Desire, by Author of Queechy	1 25
Manners of Polite Society	1 00
The Norseman in the West, by R. M. Ballantyne	1 50
Dickens' Novels, 13 vols	15 00
Macaulay's History of England, 5 vols	5 00

E. A. Taylor & Co.
Lldecdly
Gold Gold
JUST RECEIVED AT
W. D. McGLOGHLON'S
136 Dundas street, a fine lot of Gold and Silver Watches,
RICH JEWELRY.
Diamonds & Precious Stones.
Silver and Plated Ware, Fancy Goods and Clocks.
W. D. McGLOGHLON'S, 136 Dundas street, is the ONLY first-class house in this line in the city. Don't fail to call before purchasing. Better goods and lower prices than can be had elsewhere. Watches, Clocks and Jewelry carefully repaired and warranted.
Remember the Place—136 Dundas street, opp. the Market Lane.
W. D. McGLOGHLON,
Watchmaker, Jeweler, Optician and Engraver.
Ldecdvtu

Great Clearing Sale
—AT—
THE PEOPLE'S
CLOTHING HOUSE.
$5,000 Worth of Goods Must be Sold Before Spring.
Now, as the cold weather has set in, this is a good chance for parties wanting
OVERCOATS OR FANCY SUITS.
These garments will be got up at cost.
Any parties wishing to purchase these goods by the yard can have them cut free of charge.
A call respectfully solicited.
People's Clothing House, 404 Talbot Street
Lldecdln JAMES LEKOX.

H. B. B. ALLE
WILL OFFER SPECIAL
Fashionable Millinery
—AT—
GREATLY REDUCED PR
DURING THE NEXT 30 DAYS.
Ladies, Call and See the Splendid Corset at
H. B. B. ALLEY, Dunda
ldtely

NEW DRY GOODS HO
George Her
—WILL OPEN AT—
No. 122 Dundas Stre
—ON—
SATURDAY, DECEMBER
With a New and Cheap Stock of
Staple and Fancy Dry G
CALL AND SEE THEM.
Lldecdly GEO. H

Fall & Winter Dry Goods & Clo
LAING & McPHERSO
always noted for desirable goods at low prices are l
pared this season than ever to show extraordinary b
Dress Goods, Winceys, Flannels and all Household S
A large lot of Clouds and Woollen Goods very ch
A fine stock of Tweeds, Cloths and Ready-made
LAING & McPHER
South-west Corner Dundas and Richmond stree

NOTICE!
MR. JAMES GLI
long and well known as a Fashionable Merchant Ta city, has transferred his services to the establishm
JOHN M. DENT
where he will be glad to see his old friends and custo ood 372 RICHMOND

FOR CHRISTM
LARGE STOCK OF Silk Handkerchiefs & So
GRAHAM'S,
419 RICHMOND ST., OPP. "ADVERTISER"
London, Dec. 19, 1879.

SAVORY & MOORES PANCREATIC EMULSION MEDICINAL FOOD IN CONSUMPTION AND WASTING DISEASES
IMPROVES THE APPETITE. INCREASES Strength and Weight.
Bottles 50c., $1 and $2 each.
SAVORY & MOORES BEST FOOD FOR INFANTS SUPPLIED TO THE ROYAL NURSERIES.
THE MOST DIGESTIBLE; CONTAINS
The HIGHEST AMOUNT of NOURISHMENT in the MOST CONVENIENT FORM.
By Test Tin, 1s. 6d. and 2s. 6d.
SAVORY & MOORES DA
Asthma & Diffic
promptly relieved
Datura Tatula
Testimonials sen
box of Cigarett
Pastilles. Thes form of tobacco, a for burning, fro
143, NEW BOND ST., LONDON, and of Chemists, &c., ev

A. & J. G. McINTOSH &
118 Dundas St.
We have just received beautiful assortments of
Black Cashmeres,
Brussels Carpets,
Tapestry Carpets,
Oilcloths
To make room for more assortments of Carpets and other go will soon be to hand, we have commenced a CLEARING SAL
of Summer Goods at Greatly Reduced Prices. Please call early a bargains.
oct A. & J. G. McINTOSH

HEADQUARTE
—FOR—
Scotch Tweeds and Ordered Clot
GEO. D. SUTHERLAND &
158 Dundas Street,
tate LONDON, ONTA

The Free Pres

Tuesday, Dec. 30, 1879.

:UPERT GODWI

Lionel's only mode of exit from nse was by one of the diningindows. These were secured by make utters and heavy iron bars; but the l ght be removed by strong and skil nds.

o remove them silently was a diffi
k; but Lionel succeeded in accomplish and stepped out upon the broad gra k before the windows.

he cool night air blowing upon his fevere
w gave him fresh vigor. He cross lawn with rapid footsteps, and enter of those long laurel avenues so familia so dear to him, for it was in those da gloomy alleys he had been wont t d Julia Godwin.

he moon was young as yet, and there only a faint glimmer of wan, silvery t; very different from the mellow amour which sometimes glorifies the night landscape.

the laurel walk there reigned impene do darkness. Lionel groped his way he end of the arcade, and entered the o.

found the archway described by the schoolboy, and feeling with the point of oot, discovered the topmost step of the ow stairs leading to the cellars. Be-he commenced his descent, he took a box from his waistcoat-pocket, and ed the candle he had brought with was not far from the house; but he at the back of the northern wing, and new that no restless watcher was to see the glimmer of that light.

ely and cautiously he descended the ry stone steps, stooping all the while, e arched roof was too low to admit of making upright.

every side he saw the evidence that idden staircase had been disused for spiders' webs brushed against his and scared reptiles started under his nd crawled away from before him as vanced. With every step he took for el to disturb some living creature had lain in its mock unmolested
rpo. A pale mitologist might here discovered extinct races—forgotten of newts and adder, spider and toad vers curious specimens of the genus hored and rotten leaves of many by-summers strewed the broken and ling steps; the moss grew green upon of sad walls; and it was with diffi-hat Lionel preserved his footing upon ippery stones beneath his feet.

horsekeeper had not misled him.
nd the second passage and groped y along it until he came to an arched ay. The door was studded with iron-headed nails, and was deeply the solid masonry. This door knew must be the entrance to the the cellars.

here he felt that his task would likely come to an abrupt termination.
was more probable than that the door would be severely locked him?

ulled a rusty iron handle, and to his e the door yielded. He forced it th an effort that required all his h, so stiffly did the hinges move long disuse, and entered the first nder the northern wing.

ew that he now stood beneath the om at the western angle of the d wing. The seventh window from estern angle was the one to which and pointed when he talked of the d that he had witnessed within.
d had ascertained that there were ndows in every room on this lower d only two. The seventh window erefore belong to the fourth room, ur always from the western angle of lding.

ing, with the candle raised above
ad, to look round the first cellar.
Westford saw nothing but a black pty vault, festooned with cobwebs, ered with fragments of wood that e been stored there.

door between this cellar and the od open. The second cellar was as as the first; but the walls were lined me bins which had once held wine.
e floor was thickly covered with noldy smelling sawdust.

third door was shut, but not locked.
pushed it open, and entered the llar.

as now drawing very near to the ith the seventh window.

hird cellar was different from the
rs. There was a massive iron safe angle of the wall; and a narrow staircase in an opposite angle wound

ellar was to all appearance empty.
Westford ascended the winding e, and found himself upon a small, cupboard like landing, with a door. He felt tolerably certain is door must lead into the fourth the room with the seventh window.
ere, where he was most eager to further, his investigation was to a sudden stop; for when he tried he found it firmly locked against e panelled lattice and bewildered small cunning of his labors.

d taken infinite trouble to procure mission, and, in the dead of the ad braved the ghostly terrors of the wing. And what had he found?
ree empty cellars, and a door plained like
k heaven that I have found no
he thought. "My best hope is that gardener's horrible fancies may on no more real than a feverish as standing on the topmost of the teps as he mused thus, and was turn away from it—looked down e eye was caught by a fragment of ich hung from a jagged nail in the he panel.

tricated the fragment from the I examined it by the light of his candle. It was a piece of linen rn from a man's coat—a narrow ne six inches long. But the linen partly obscured by a dark stain, ark liquid had dyed that torn t of cloth, which felt stiff between fingers.

ll of horror ran through his veins.
ng whispered to him that the black in the cloth was the stain of human
He put the torn fragment in his cket, and then began carefully and y to examine the stone steps on e was standing.

not the scrap of blue cloth alone been disfigured by that hideous Dark splotches appeared on every e stone [illegible] black and terrible which [illegible] themselves plainly even on the lamp stained stone.
bottom of the steps a great pool of ad soaked into the worn stone hich formed the flooring of the

To be continued.

LEGAL.—McIntyre vs. National e Co.—This suit was brought upon of fire insurance. The question ether the defendant's company, ad their office in Montreal, is sub-e statutory conditions. This was d in the affirmative. Rule made to enter verdict for plaintiff in n eighth place. [illegible], Q. C.,
J. K. Kerr, Q. C., for defdt. Bridge
London Life Assurance Co.—An recover the amount of a policy of e upon the life of [illegible]. Wife's
The case turned large[illegible] on of the word "brothers" occurring application, whether it included the half blood. The plaintiff rea verdict at the trial, and a rule r trial was taken out by the dets. The Court was of opinion that d "brothers" properly included half-blood, but in the absence of s in this case, the objection raised efendants was not sufficient. Rule ed; verdict for plaintiff to stand.
ig. vs. Pariah.—Suit brought for caused by the defendant's mis-ting as to the amount of land con-in a farm sold by him to the plain-he township of Elfrid. A verdict n for the plaintiff for $450, which s confirmed, Cameron, J., dissent-le discharged.

L.—OFFICERS ELECTED.—At the meeting of L. O. L., No. 252, held on on Dec. 26th, the following offi-e elected for the ensuing year:—
James Felton, re-elected; D. M., il. Ferguson, re-elected; Chaplain son, re-elected; Secretary, James in, re-elected; Treasurer, H. Han-elected; D. of C., John Barry; 1st
, Driskel; 2nd, Johnson Rindford; 3rd, ford; 4th, W. Baines; 5th, R.
.

---

he sun rise on 365 a month.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

LINES FOR THE CLOSING YEAR.

From "Glimpses of the Unseen."

Say farewell to the closing year,
Welcome ere to the one to bear.
Grief and care must be strangers here
Where the dance in the crowded hall.
Watch the lights on the gilded wall,
As the mirthful clang of the music floats
To the chilling sight wind's moaning sound
As it drifts the snow o'er the frozen ground.
It sighs farewell to the closing year.
Mournful welcome to that we near.
For there is a voice in the wintry blast
On its unseen pinions sweeping past,
If the ear of man would hear

"On, on to the goal thou're so going,
Life's gay path to the grave is showing
Mortals upon the present hand
Eternal home or
Eternal home or to another world,
Oh! give a thought to another world,
Ye are rushing away from this

Young Ernest stood amid the mirthful band,
And a thoughtful glance was his, I ween;
He watched the clock as its slender hand
Crept to the point which lay between
The year to be left that which had been,
And through the mute the chime could hear
Which peal'd the birth of a blithe New Year.
A year is dead
He himself he said
With its griefs and joys forever fled!
Another opens its brief career,
Close he speeds on the track of the past.
'Twere strange to know to how many here
The year commencing will be the last.
That sparkling eyes will be dim in death,
What lying lips must rest on their breath
He can't that tinkling chime I hear
Tell the birth of a blithe New Year
As he raised his eyes and gazed around,
He felt by a spell of iron bound—
The cold drops rise to his marble brow—
The scene of pleasure is altered now.
The lights that sparkle above him seem
Like tapers which round a death-bed gleam,
But the merry music's enliven tone
Hath a voice of warning to him alone:

"On, on to the goal they're speeding
Life's bright path to the grave leading Mortals! upon the present hand
Eternal home or
Eternal home or to another world,
Oh! give a thought to another world,
Ye are passing away from this"

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

New Year's Day is, with us almost a repetition of Christmas. It is a day of rest from business, of exchange of gifts and good wishes, of a religious service in the morning and of festivities of various kinds in the evening. It is as gran an occasion to meet a friend without waiting him
"A Happy New Year" as it would be to for get to say "Merry Christmas" on that happy morn. Yet the difference in the words we apply to them suggests a difference in the days themselves. Christmas is to be merry, no shadow of care, remark of serious thought is to cloud our best, we are to forget past sorrow and future anxiety in the joy of the present; but New Year's is not to be all merry, it is to be happy, the better word of the two, perhaps, yet which is quite compatible with seriousness, even with sadness to a certain degree. The first month of the year is named in honor of the old Roman god, Janus, whom they always represented as having two faces, the one looking back over the year that has passed, the other peering forward into the future. The spell of the old god is so powerful that as he comes on the scene he imbues us all with the same spirit, so that we instinctively review our lives for the old year, and find ourselves wondering what they shall be in the new. And the prospect either way is calculated to make us thoughtful rather than merry. If the old year has brought us trouble and sorrow, the very mem-brance of it has a tendency to sadden us;
if pleasure and joy, they are past, and we can know them no more in their first freenses. Then, however hopefully we look forward, the dark veil of the future which clouds our right fampens also our feelings, and no matter how bright the vision which fancy paints, the thought will obtrude that, after all, it is only a vision, one destined perhaps never to be realized. Yet these reflections need not make us unhappy. We can rest in the thought that He who sent us sorrow in the past lent us also his aid to bear it, and should the future look bleak and stormy He, too, can temper the wind to the shorn lamb." But if happiness lies hitherto beyond our ken, why should we think that His store is exhausted, that His hand must needs now grow slack? To His wisdom let us leave those things, and to His love. But that does not mean that we are to go on unheedingly from day to day, for we have something more to do. It is to Him we leave the outward events, it is we ourselves who must apply them so as to contribute to our highest advancement, and so should we enter the new year, determined that if we live to its close we shall not only be a year older but a year better.
And should we not fill up the page which we are now turning, let us see that the characters which we trace thereon are fair and truthful, unsullied by blots and unsoiled by vain attempts at erasure.

NEW YEAR'S CALLS.

This new world of ours is so much given up to the stern realities of life, to the providing of necessaries or the amassing of wealth, that as much time is not devoted to social observances as, perhaps, their importance demands. This renders it all the more suitable that one day in the year should be set apart for the reception of gentlemen visitors, when the ladies should feel it incumbent upon themselves to remain at home for this purpose, and the gentlemen vie with each other in paying their respects to their lady friends. And it was a very pretty idea that fixed upon
New Year's Day as the one to be thus observed, that we may show that though we have buried old enmities with the dead year, old friendships are but having a new birth and new ones are springing into being. We have heard it said that the custom is dying out, but we trust not, nor do we think it is. Many of those who years ago adhered to it with fidelity have doubtless grown older, and like to spend the day quietly at home, but as they retire the ranks are filled by recruits, who soon make even better soldiers than their predecessors. But we do think that the abuses in connection with it have well-nigh ceased. Formerly ladies not only proffered wine, but pressed it upon their callers, and ere the close of the day the effects of it were too often sadly apparent. Now, though wine may grace the sideboard, tea, coffee and other light beverages are resorted to much more frequently and with much greater satisfaction to both visitors and visited, and we sincerely hope that this year no lady will think that the rules of hospitality demand that she should come before any young man in the guise of a tempter. But we would like to make one protest in the name of the ladies. It is that the gentlemen are too apt to think that by grazing our cast stands with their New Year's cards they have thereby performed all the social duties that devolve upon them, and are privileged to absent themselves the rest of the year. If this be so, we would rather the custom would die out. If the friendship
then born or reborn lives but for the day,
it might be as well that it never saw the
light, and if their opinion of our hospitality is so poor that they think it is confined to
New Year's, it might be as wise for them
to leave it untried even to that extent.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Rose Lee (in whom we think we recognize an old friend) says:—Recently a neighbor of ours who had been counted wealthy, failed, and his daughter, a very proud young girl, is in a most unenviable position, waiting for "something to turn up." In conversation with her, the other day, I could not help thinking that the "something" she referred to was marriage.
I was shocked to think so, but on telling my mother afterwards, she said my friend was not to be blamed; it was the only thing girls in her position could look forward to. Now, it seems to me, if this is the only way, it is a very degrading way; but, on thinking the matter over, it struck me that if I were placed in similar circumstances I could do nothing else. The thought worried me so, that I asked my mother to let me learn telegraph operating, as I could easily do so in my uncle's store, but she looked very angry and forbade me to mention the matter again. Then I thought I would learn dressmaking, though I hate sewing, but my brother would not consent to that, so what am I to do? I would like to teach, as I am passionately fond of children, but I fear my education is not up to the mark;
for though I have gone to school nearly all my life I have never really studied half as hard as I am particularly backward in mathematics. Do you think that by studying quietly at home I could fit myself to obtain a certificate? or do you think I am foolish to worry at all about such things?

The case of our correspondent's friend is by no means an uncommon one. There are many young girls, not only those in reduced circumstances but others who have always known wealth, dragging out a weary existence "waiting for something to turn up." There is, perhaps, a large family of sisters, dependent on the scanty earnings of a father or brother, and though they do all they can by economy in the household, by mending and re-making, to keep up a respectable appearance, still it is a continual worry, a worry that must render life a burden. To make ends meet. How much better it would be if they would by their own exertions to add something to the family treasury, or at least to purchase for themselves what Burns calls "the glorious privilege of being independent." But they are too proud to do this, or their parents are too proud for them, so there they sit idly yet anxiously waiting. If, by-and-bye, what they are waiting for comes, an offer of marriage, who can blame them if they joyfully seize it, whether their heart goes with their hand or not? Who can blame them even if they are not content to wait, but sometimes pass the bounds of maidenly modesty to seek it? The sacrifice of themselves is demanded, not merely by their own necessities, but by the love of their father and mother, their brothers and sisters. And if the home they thus purchase proves to be an unhappy one, who can blame them? They are but victims of a wrong and foolish system. Every girl, be her position high or low, should receive such a training in some useful calling as would enable her to support herself if the necessity should arise; and even were she never to need it, she should have something to think of, something to do, which would prevent her looking to marriage as the end and aim of her existence. We are of the opinion that there is no life so happy or so useful for a woman as that of a wife and mother, but to be truly happy it should be entered into from no motive save that of pure affection. It is not right that girls should marry for the sake of a comfortable home. The parent who leaves them no alternative between poverty and marriage commits a grave error and defeats her own ends, for a good man will be far more likely to be attracted by a young lady who he knows has resources within herself to keep her from marrying from necessity than he will to one whom everybody knows is on the look out for a husband. But to leave generalities and return to our correspondent personally:—
We are glad she regards the matter in the light she does, and we trust she will never be induced to adopt the view which she rightly regards as degrading.
She must endeavor resolutely to overcome her relatives' opposition to her rendering herself independent, and, in the meantime, we cordially approve of her suggestion of studying quietly at home. Though we would not like to hold out false hopes of her being able to obtain a certificate, the course of study could not fail to improve her, and it would give her something to do, which would prevent her feeling her idle life irksome, as she says it is. It is, however, more difficult for a person to teach himself mathematics than any other branch of study, but a very great knowledge of it is not required for a third-class teacher. If she goes to work in earnest she could at least fit herself for entrance into one of our High Schools, and a short attendance there, by their masters, would be sufficient to pass the entrance examination from any head master, and if we can give her any further advice we shall be happy to do so if she will write again. As to her question whether she is foolish to worry over these things? we say "No," it is wrong to worry about anything. Let us do what we can to remedy it, and leave the rest to a higher Power." But she is quite right to think, and think earnestly too, about those things. We wish more young girls would follow her example.

The Canadian Academy of Arts.

Since the first stormy meeting in Toronto for the organization of Canadian art, we have watched with interest the development of the then crude idea into the comprehensive, liberal and complete form it has finally taken in the present constitution of the Canadian Academy of Arts. We had already made great and gratifying progress in Canada, and art influence, radiating from several centres, of which Toronto was not the least, was beginning to make itself felt in the higher development of taste in the country at large. As might be expected from its position, wealth and population, Toronto took the lead in the movement at the same time as the ancient fortunes of Montreal began to wane, and from the time when the Artists' Union brought its elements into closer relationship, and tried to crystallize into a school, not by any means a great school, nor embodying all the elements of a great school, but a school admitting at least a distinct individuality by which a Toronto picture would be recognized at once by a practised eye. Of the earlier men who composed the society the influence of L. O'Brien is most distinctly traceable in forming what may be called the Toronto style. He had adopted from Corot a delicate, tender, yet full and light, cheerful tone, and a manner striking a just medium between the rough dash of the Barbizon school and the finical over-finish of realism. Always simple in subject and effect, and not over-difficult of imitation, his pictures extremely popular with the younger and the weaker painters, with the result that a large proportion of their exhibition pictures indicate a more or less successful following of his color and manner.
No one will question the wisdom of the choice of Lorne in selecting O'Brien as the representative painter, and in making the Toronto school the nucleus of his Academy, and we think the scheme has widened into what promises to be a really national institution, will anyone question the doctrine of Governor-General to appoint all the first members of the Academy, thereby avoiding the danger arising from local and individual jealousies—a danger which at one time seemed an insuperable obstacle to the carrying out of his design.

The Academy has for its objects the improvement of our manufactures by the establishment of schools of design and industrial art, the encouragement and assistance of painters, sculptors, architects and engravers, and the general diffusion of taste and art knowledge, thus creating an impulse without which the further progress of art would be useless and impossible.

Its support is derived from Government grants, legacies, subscriptions of honorary members and membership fees. It provides for the training of students, for charitable donations, pensions to aged members, etc., etc.

The scheme in its outline is admirable and will receive the commendation of every one. It carried out in the spirit in which it is conceived there will be no room for criticism. Yet, our local artists cannot too apt to think that by grazing our cast
stands with their New Year's cards they have thereby performed all the social duties that devolve upon them, and are privileged to absent themselves the rest of the year. If this be so, we would rather the custom would die out. If the friendship
then born or reborn lives but for the day,
it might be as well that it never saw the
light, and if their opinion of our hospitality
is so poor that they think it is confined to
New Year's, it might be as wise for them
to leave it untried even to that extent.

EPPS'S COCOA. GRATEFUL AND COMFORT-ING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng."
mirwdw

Ald

Short Session of Awarding th

Basement

The Aldermen w are Willing to

The Highest Tend

A Board of Works h

The Board of Aldermen
Council Chamber last night, the Mayor presiding, and the f members in attendance: Aldermen bell, Pritchard, Thompson, Taylor, E ner, Hiscox, Greer, Edlestone, Glass, A dill, Scarrow, Peel, Rayner, Egan, Fitzger
ald.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS WERE RECEIVED:

From J. D. Edgar, of the Ontario &
Pacific Junction Railway Company, enclosing map showing line of connections, and also suggesting that the Council adopt a petition to the Dominion Parliament to grant a subsidy to the Company. Railway Committee.

From Messrs. Cronyn, Kew & Botte, enclosing an account for $79, from Mr. Wm.
Bryce, for goods furnished the Reception Committee of the Vicegregal reception, and asking that it be paid at once; otherwise the matter will be placed into Court for collection. Reception Committee.

From Mrs. J. Osborne, applying for the free use of the City Hall on Friday evening, 2nd January, for an entertainment in aid of the Ragged School. Granted.

From Rev. J. M. Hodson, asking remission of taxes on house occupied by him on Colborne street, on the ground that he is a regularly ordained minister of the Method-dish Church. Finance and Assessment.

An account from M. D. Dawson for printing and advertising, amounting to $22 28, was referred to the Printing Committee.

A BY-LAW

ratifying the appointment of Mr. William Magee as Market Clerk for 1880 was submitted, read the requisite number of times, and passed.

MARKET.

Ald. Thompson, Chairman of this Committee, recommended that the tender of Mr. William Trebilcock, for the stalls in the basement of the Market House, at $666, be accepted.

The Chairman said that the tender of Mr. Trebilcock was not the lowest, but the majority of the committee had chosen to accept it, and he brought in the report accordingly.

The report was committed.

Ald. Ardill said, seeing that a tender
$11 higher had been presented to the Committee with two responsible names as sureties, he would move that the highest tender be accepted.

Ald. Hiscox said there was no such man as Mr. Wainwright.

Ald. Thompson said the citizens did not care who the tenderer was so long as he was responsible and had two responsible sureties—at his back.

Ald. Scarrow would support the recommendation of the Committee, seeing that the name of the person who tendered at last meeting had been withdrawn, which showed that there was some underhand work about the affair.

Ald. Langford, one of the clerks, gave a brief account of his stewardship, and referred to several bridge contracts, with which he had been connected, and exposed some malicious persons in his ward who had wilfully misrepresented him in connection with letting some jobs, and stated he had let them at as low a price as possible, and showed no favoritism.

He thanked those present for their confidence, and sat down amid cheers.

Mr. Jos. Marshall, Deputy-Reeve, St.
George's Ward, in a neat speech, alluded to the ward appropriations, and showed that he had paid out a large amount in the ward for gravel, &c., and read the separate items of expenditure for 1879. He had endeavored to serve them to the best of his ability during the year, and he was glad his services were so much appreciated that he had been again chosen to represent them for another year.

Mr. Ed. Robinson, of St. Lawrence
Ward, in a few words referred to his connection with the Council, and thanked the electors present for their cordial support. He had examined a bridge on the township of Nissouri, which had been referred to by previous speakers, and found, according to his judgment, a poor bridge at a high price. The price claimed was $250, and $175 was plenty.

Mr. John Robson, a ratepayer, wished to know something about those bridges.
On the townline of Lobo and London, near Melrose, there was a bridge broken down entirely, and had for a long time.
This bridge had been promised to be put up in October, and nothing yet had been done.
One steam thresher had gone through, and a Mr. George Deckley, with a load of lumber, had nearly drowned his horses, and himself, too, in attempting to cross, and his lumber remained there yet. Besides, the traffic along the townline in wood had been completely stopped, and they were anxiously waiting to get their wood to market.

Mr. Routledge, the Reeve, explained that they had not time to construct the bridge this fall, owing to the contractor not being in a position to start work.

Mr. Robson thought he could, with a couple of men, put up the whole thing in three days.

Mr. Wm. Patrick criticised the audit sheet, and referred to the Clergy Reserve and Sergius Fund, and thought the municipality was swallowing up those funds somehow or other, and the taxes were growing no less. He referred to the grant of $666, made for the decoration of the city during the Governor-General's visit, and thought such appropriation, with cab hire, etc.—total, $900—was money ill spent. He also found the members of the County Council had granted a room to the lawyers of the city in the County Buildings, and also recommended a grant of $60 for the purpose of furnishing it. He would like to know where this thing was going to end.
When the magistrates asked for a similar privilege of occupying a room in the Court House for administering justice, they were denied it by the Council, as it was argued the farmers would spoil the carpets with their muddy feet. The speaker said these lawyers had no vote in the county and no interest, and yet they were allowed a privilege denied to county magistrates. These lawyers had spoiled and defaced the furniture in the old Court House by whittling it to pieces with their jack-knives, and the new Court House would soon be used the same way if they allowed them to hold meetings and buy them firewood and light. Mr Patrick said it was a shame for such—

Mr. Metcalfe—"Land sharks."

Mr. P.—"That's so." Mr. Patrick then drew a harrowing picture of the abuses the farmers had to put up with by city people, in having to pay market fees, and urged the Council to take immediate action to petition the Legislature that such powers be taken away from municipalities.

Joshua Jackson coincided with this, and intimated the Orangers had appointed a committee to confer with the County Council in reference to this matter.

Mr. Patrick's picture of how farmers were treated was not overdrawn. Any market day they could hear, "Go an wid yees; go an wid yees," bawled out to farmers as if they were so many cattle.
He hoped the subject would be further agitated.

Mr. Metcalfe coincided, and thought the abolition of tolls should go with the market fees, and showed all the surrounding countries had abolished them, and that it was only a relic of barbarism for Middlesex to still retain them. It cost him 33 cents every time he went to London in tolls alone. The general feeling of the meeting was for abolishing both.

CHRISTMAS OUTCASTS.

Christ died for all, and on the hearts of all
Who gladly decorate their cheerful homes
At Christmas tide, this blessed truth should fall
That they may mix some honey with the gall
Of those to whom a Christmas never comes.

The poor are everywhere in nature's course.
Yet they may still control some sweetened crumbs.
No matter what they lack to bear or purse;
Both these are those whose bitter fate is worse,
To whom no day of Christmas ever comes.

The man who wildly throws away his chance.
An outcast from all cheerful hearths and homes,
Who may not mingle where the happy dance,
Nor gain from loving eyes one kindly glance,
Is to by whom no Christmas ever comes.

The man condemned in hidden ways to grope,
At night of whom each kindly voice is dumb,
Or he whose life is shortened by his rope,
Who waits for nothing but the hangman's rope,
Is he to whom a Christmas cannot come.

Free Press Correspondence.

Great Cry and Little Wool.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—In your issue of Thursday last I noticed a report of a meeting held in the Rectory Street School House, London
East, in behalf of Mr. S. A. Adams, a candidate for the Reeveship of the village.

Mr. Ross' address at that meeting contains statements calculated to mislead those who are not acquainted with the facts of the case. He said we had in the hands of our Treasurer over $900, while at the same time we were paying interest to the Federal Bank for loans.

Now, Mr. Ross must have known when he made that statement that the loan was contracted to pay for the enlargement of the Anderson School House, and for which the School Board had made no provision, and that money was borrowed in the month of July when no funds were in the Treasurer's hands, and that it was borrowed in order to avoid raising it by debentures, which would be far more expensive. His statements also would leave the impression that the money is now in the hands of the Treasurer, and that the village is yet paying interest thereon, whereas the fact is the transaction took place a year ago last July, and is now all paid up.

Mr. Adams was more modest in his statements, for instead of $900, as stated by Mr. Ross, he said there were over $600 of what he called "discrepancies." He then complained that the southern part of the village had not been fairly dealt with in regard to the distribution of the public money, and that he would "do in the future as he had done in the past, and try his best to have the southern portion of the village get its portion of improvements. He forgot to state that he was elected for the express purpose of looking after the interests of the south, and that he neglected to do so, but says that he will "do in the future as he had done in the past"—that is, he will do nothing.

Mr. Charles Lilley, a candidate for First Deputy Reeve, then followed in the wake of the other speakers by alluding to the finances in the same deceitful manner, as though it had reference to the present year. Now, Mr. Lilley was chairman of the Finance Committee at the time of the so called discovery of what he calls
"Mr. Waterman's false returns." That was the proper time for him to call public attention to the matter if there was any truth in it, and not now after a lapse of more than a year.

The people of London East know very well that Mr. Waterman is better qualified for Reeve than Mr. Adams, and, therefore, they will elect him by a handsome majority.

Yours respectfully,
VERITAS.

London East, Dec. 27th, 1879.

PETERSVILLE NOTES.

A meeting was held in Collins' Hotel, last night, to hear the nominees for municipal honors. John Peters, Esq., J. P., presided, and called on Mr. Simpson to commence the speaking. That gentleman thanked his mover and seconder, and then expressed himself in favor of economy and against spending any village money on the building of the Oxford Street Bridge.
He was in favor of gas-lamps on the bridge entrances, and hoped he would be elected. Mr. Bartram was in favor of urging in every possible way, in the County Council, for a grant to build the Oxford street bridge. He thought the county should do more for the village than it had done, and was of opinion that ince sant agitation would result in a gr
The villagers need not be afraid to rush into making a grant for that pu if elected, as such a grant would be well as against what he thought best. He was in favor of clam
D. C. and A. J. B. Ma
clined the nomination as on the Oxford bridge
for the present bridge.
ed the nomination
promised to do his Rowe accepted the
the ghost of the Oxf had haunted every ever had, expressed and economy, and
Brodie, Bonser,
Gibson, Leslie, J.
declined. Mr. Eve
he had been so urge by his friends. He ing less money on surface draining the more exper[illegible]

Sparkling Saumur

CHAMPAGNE

Carte D'Or
Carte Bleue,
Carte Noir,

IMPORTED DIRECT!

which we can sell at

LOWER PRICES

than have ever been offered.

Fitzgerald,
Scandrett
& Co'y

169 DUNDAS STREET,

4th door east Richmond St.

London, Sept. 27, 1879. eodly

ROBINSON'S MILLS
NEWBURY, ONT.

White Wood, Hickory, Chestnut, Cherry,
Butternut, and other Hard Wood
Same bar none.

ALSO, LARGE STOCK OF FLOUR BARREL STAVES
Lumber Cut to Order.
Timothy. THOS. ROBINSON.

TOBACCOS

FOR THE LAST TWENTY-ONE years this Trade Mark has per[illegible] throughout Canada as the safest guide to RELI-ABLE TOBACCOS.

W. C. McDONALD
MANUFACTURER OF FINE
TOBACCO

JOSEPHINE
KID GLOVES,
Forty Cents Per Pair.
—AT—
Brunton's
Corner Market Lane and Dundas St.

ARGYLE
Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
HEAD OFFICE: Federal Bank Buildings,
London, Ont.

DIRECTORS:
DAVID GLASS, Esq., Q.C., Director English Loan
Co., Pres't local.
TIMOTHY COUGHLIN, Esq., M.P., Crediton, Vice-Pres't local.
JOHN CAMERON, Esq., Publisher Advertiser,
London.
HON. SENATOR VIDAL, Sarnia, Pres't and English
Loan Co.
CHAS. MURRAY, Esq., Manager Federal Bank
London.
COL. MACBETH, Barrister, Clerk of the Crown,
London.
DR. CASCADEN, M.P.P., Iona.
HIRAM WALKER, Esq., J.P., Areola.
HON. SENATOR LEONARD, Director Huron & Erie
Loan Co.
MURRAY ANDERSON, Esq., J.P., ex-Mayor.
W. M. NAIRN, Esq., M.P.P., Aylmer.
HON. DAVID MILLS, M.P., Oxford.
J. WATSWORTH, Esq., M.P.P., Waterville.
H. R. SHELLS, Managing Director. L. B. YOUNG, Secretary.

N. B.—First-class agents wanted in unrepresented localities. 1Mwadw

WANTED,
$1,000 American Money
AT AYARS' TRUNK FACTORY,
217 Dundas St., for Trunks, &c.

BUY TRUNKS AND V
now and save m
American Bills taken for
C. F.

COME A
To C. F. AYAR
Cheap. Amer

Commercial.

...IGHT REPORT.

...Stocks.

...quidnight.—Railroads ...highest.

...tocks.

London, Dec. 30 ...t quotations for Lon...

	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
...		131½	131¾
...		158	157½
...		196	197
...		170	171
... A. of Can.		106	106
... do pref.		101	101
...on and Erie		104½	104½
...ion Loan		108	108
...tario		120	120
...Royal Standard		105	109
...Superior
MISCELLANEOUS.
60	PASS PASSE PTY'S Co	103
	London Gas	120
	London Life	90	95
	Bus. Estate Assoc'n	100
	Street Railway	160

Montreal Stocks—Dec. 29.

230 P. M.

	Asked.	Offered.
Bank of Montreal	130½	130
Merchants' Bank	89	90½
Bank of Commerce	114	114½
Ontario Bank	77	80
Bank of Toronto	120	121½
Molsons Bank	66	70
Consolidated Bank	90
Montreal Tel.	93	93½
People's Bank	60	65
Bank Jacques Cartier	60	70
Exchange	65
Nicholls & Ont. Nav. Co.	41½	40½
City Pass. Railway Co.	89
City Gas Company	117	119½

SALES—City Gas Co, 25 at 119½, 50 at 119½.

European Finance.

London, Dec. 30, 5:00 p. m.

Consols, money	99 3-16	99½
do account	99⅛	99⅜
Erie	10½	11
Ill. C.	82½

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Dec. 30, 5:00 p. m.

	s	d	s	d
Flour, p.c.	10	6 to 13	0
Wheat, Spg.	9	to 11	7
do. Winter	11	2 to 13	11
White	10	8 to 11
Club	11	6 to 11	10
Corn, old	5	8 to 5	9
do new	5	0 to 5	3
Oats, new	2	6 to 2	8

The following are the highest quotations for the past week:—

Dec.	20	23	24	27	29
	s d	s d	s d	s d	s d
Flour, pr.	13 0	13 0	13 0	13 0	13 0
Wheat, Spg.	11 0	11 0	11 0	11 0	11 0
Red Winter	11 7	11 7	11 7	11 7	11 7
White	11 7	11 7	11 7	11 7	11 7
Cal. Club	11 10	11 10	11 10	11 10	11 10
Corn	5 10	5 10	5 9	5 9	5 9
Oats	2 8	2 8	2 8	2 8	2 8
Barley	4 6	4 6	4 6	4 6	4 6
Peas	5 7	5 7	5 7	5 7	5 7
Pork	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0	60 0
Lard	37 6	37 6	37 6	37 6	37 6
Bacon	35 0	35 0	35 0	35 0	35 0
Tallow	37 6	37 6	37 6	37 6	37 6
Beef	62 6	62 6	62 6	62 6	62 6
Cheese	65 0	65 0	65 0	65 0	65 0

Cotton.

Liverpool, Dec. 29, 11:30 a. m.—Cotton: moderate inquiry and finely supplied.

Uplands.....6 13-16d | Orleans.....7 3-16d

Beerbohm's Telegram.

London, Dec. 29.—Floating cargoes of wheat steady, with a fair demand; corn quiet, but steady. Cargoes on passage and for shipment—Wheat at the opening improving; corn quiet. Mark Lane—Wheat at the opening strong; corn quiet. Good cargoes of red winter wheat, 6?s the coast, per 480 lbs, sea damage, for shipment, less usual 2½ per cent. com., 30s to 30s 6d. Mixed American corn, off the coast, per 480 lbs, sea damage, for shipment, less usual 2½ per cent. com., 28s 6d. English country markets firm; French do. Farmers' deliveries of wheat during the week, 42,000 qrs; Russian, 29,000 qrs. Liverpool—Wheat on the spot at opening firm; corn quiet.

Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 29, 9 30 a. m.—WHEAT opened at $1 25 Feb. CORN not quoted. Wires inter rupted.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—MARKETS.—FLOUR quiet, but firm. WHEAT steady; No. 2 red winter $1 30; No. 3 Chicago spring $1 21; No. 2 do $1 30; No. 2 do cash, $1 30; January, CORN weak; 43½ cash, cash, 41 30; January. CORN weak; 43½ cash, 43½ cash; 41 30; January. OATS quiet and higher; 30½ cash, 30½ cash; 30½ bid Jan. RYE in good demand and higher; 87½ to 88c. BARLEY easier; 90c. DRESSED HOGS firmer; quoted at $5 30 to $5 45. PORK unsettled and generally higher; $13 65 cash, $13 90 bid January; $13 65 bid February. LARD quiet and weak; $7 50 cash, $7 50 to $7 57½ January. BULK MEATS in good demand and firm; shoulders quoted at $4 40, short ribs at $6 10, short clear at $6 40. WHISKY steady, at $1 15. RECEIPTS—Flour, 14,000 bbls; wheat, 126,000 bushels; corn, 211,000 bushels; oats, 66,000 bushels; rye, 4,000 bushels; barley, 10,000 bushels. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 14,000 bbls; wheat, 6,000 bushels; corn, 32,000 bushels; oats, 18,000 bushels; rye, 2,000 bushels; barley, 6,000 bushels.

New York.

New York, Dec. 29.—COTTON quiet; 12 9-16c. FLOUR without decided change; receipts, 25,000 bbls; sales, 13,000 bbls at $4 70 to $5 60 for superfine and western; $5 15 to $6 25 for common to choice extra state; $5 75 to $6 25 for do western. RYE FLOUR steady and unchanged. WHEAT fair; receipts, 119,000 bush; sales, none. No. 2 red Dec at $1 29½ bid. RYE firm and unchanged. CORN dull; receipts, 128,000 bushels; sales, 36,000 bushels; 61c to 64c. BARLEY steady. Prowed state 75c to 76c. OATS steady; receipts, 43,000 bushels; sales, 30,000 bushels; 29c to 32c for white. PORK steady and unchanged. LARD firm at 7 90.

Toledo.

Toledo, Dec. 29.—RECEIPTS.—Wheat, 30,000 bush; corn, 58,000 bush; oats, 5,000 bush. SHIPMENTS.—Wheat, 6,000 bush; corn, 500 bush; oats, 6,000 bush.

Toledo, Dec. 29.—WHEAT. No. 2 red at $1 43 asked, $1 34 bid Jan—$1 46½ asked, $1 46½ bid Feb. CORN—No 2 at 43c asked, 42c bid cash; sales at 42c Jan, 42c May. OATS nominal.

Oswego.

Oswego, Dec. 29.—WHEAT steady; white and red state at $1 45. CORN unchanged; mixed western at 50c. BARLEY quiet, but steady; No. 1 bright Canada held at 87. No. 1 Canada at 90c. No. 2 Canada at 82c. Sales in New York of 10,000 bushels bright Canada at $1 00. RYE scarce and quiet. MILL FEED—Risetta quoted at $17 to $18, shipping stuffs at $18 to $19, middlings at $20 per ton.

Detroit.

Detroit, Dec. 29.—WHEAT—Receipts, 30,000 bush. Shipments, 6,000 bush. Wheat extra at $1 30; $1 30 cash and Dec, $1 30 Jan, $1 43 Feb, milling at $1 30.

Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, December 29, 1:05 p. m.—WHEAT —$1 32 for Dec; No. 2 at $1 30 cash; $1 31 cash, $1 31½ Dec. and Jan, $1 34 Feb. No. 3 at $1 15.

Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—FLOUR—Receipts, 900 bbls; sales reported, 50 bbls. Superfine small parcel. Market quiet, but firm, as generally unchanged rates. Quotations—Pollards, $4 20 to $4 30; spring extra $4 30 to $4 35, extra $4 15 to $4 25, fancy $4 10, nominal; spring extra $3 95 to $4 00, superfine $3 65 to $3 70, strong bakers' $4 10 to $4 20, middlings $4 40 to $4 60, Pollards $3 80 to $3 85, Ontario bags $2 30 to $2 45, city bags, delivered, $3 25 to $3 30. Rye flour—Nominal; only sales reported are broken lots of superfine at $4 50 to $4 60. Meal—Oatmeal steady at $4 90, about 500 bbls changing hands; extra reported at $5 00. GRAIN—Wheat—Receipts, 2,000; spring nominal at $1 40 to $1 42½. Peas—Nominal No. duty paid. Pease to go, per 66 lbs, Oats at 32c to 33c, per 34 lbs. Barley duty paid, at 50c to 52c, per 48 lbs. Corn—Nominal at 45c. Oatmeal, $4 65 to $4 75. Cornmeal at $2 90. PROVISIONS—Butter, the market is weak. Western quoted at 16c to 20c, Brockville and Morrisburg at 17c to 21c, Eastern Townships at 20c to 22c, creameries at 24c to 27c. Cheese—Firm at 11c to 12c, as to quality. Pork—Mess, $17 to $17 50. Lard 10c to 11c, for tubs and pails. Dressed Hogs firmer, at $6 00 to $6 50, light to arrive. Bacon 9½c to 10c. Hams 12c to 13c. ASHES—Pots quoted firm at $4 65 to $4 75. Pearls nominal.

Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—Wheat—Fall, No 1 at 94 to $1 20, No 2 at $1 12 to $1 15, No 3 at $1 09 to $1 10. Spring, No 1 at $1 14 to $1 16, No 2 at $1 09 to $1 10, No 3 at $1 07. Barley, No 1 77c to 78c, No 2 65c to 66c, No 3 55c to 56c, No 3 extra 56c to 57c. Peas, No 1 68c to 70c, No 2 62c to 64c. Oats, No 1 for 35c, No 2 34c to 35c. Corn, 58c to 60c. Flour—Superior at $4 80 to $4 90, extra $4 60 to $4 70, fancy $4 35 to $4 40, strong bakers' $4 30 to $4 40, spring extra $4 25 to $4 30. Oatmeal—Rolled at $4 25 to $4 30, superfine and extra pulled at 420 to 430, standard at 410 to 420.

New York, December 27.—Wool: demand fair and market firm; domestic fleece at 40c to 45c, pulled at 30c to 36c, unwashed at 19c to 40c, Texas at 21c to 36c.

Dry Goods.

New York, December 27.—Business remains quiet with package houses, and the jobbing trade is dull. Cotton goods firmly held, and stocks continue light. Prints in limited demand and steady. Woolen goods sluggish, but firm. Foreign goods dull. The Bulletin says.—Print cloths are very active at Fall River, and large sales of spot and futures to July reported.

Chicago Hog Market.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—HOGS—Receipts 11,673 head. Market quiet but firm, and in some cases 5 cents higher for light to heavy packing; heavy shipping firm at Saturday's prices; light $4 60 to $4 70, heavy packing $4 50 to $4 75, heavy shipping $4 60 to $4 75; export $4 80 to $4 90. Sales up to 11th Oct, 9,000.

Montreal Cattle Market.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—There was very little doing on the public markets to-day, as the supply was unusually small. At the Central Market, H. Craig, of Beauceton, sold two carload (41 head) of cattle to Wm. Head, at 4½ cents per lb, or about 4 cents per lb. Wm. Head re-sold 12 of them to F. D. Morgan at 4½ cents per lb, and several head to city butchers at the same rate. About 50 head of common and inferior cattle were offered at Viger Market, but the prices asked were high. E. D. Morgan sold 10 live hogs at 5½c per lb. Dressed hogs are very high at present, and $6 50 per 100 lbs is offered for large lots. But these high prices are said to be caused by some persons who are corralling the market. The arrivals of live stock by rail at Point St. Charles for sale on that market were the largest of the season last week, were only nine carloads of cattle, four carloads of sheep and about seventy-five hogs.

Petroleum

Antwerp, Dec. 27.—Petroleum, ntt.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

JUST RECEIVED—1 hamper English pheasants 1 hamper English hare, 1 bbl. cob nuts, 50 bbl Malaga grapes, 20 cases St. Michael oranges, 10 cases Valencia oranges.—A. McKINTOSH.

FOR choicest and freshest Christmas and New Year's candies go to 191 Dundas street east. Best mixed only 25c per lb. ED KNIGHT. 1-2tdd

Hawthorn's, the only first-class restaurant for ladies and gentlemen in the city. Oysters, quail, partridges, pigeon, chicken, duck, steaks, chops, etc., etc., cooked to order on the shortest possible notice, at Hawthorn's Hotel and Restaurant (European plan).

Received to-day a large assortment of Fancy Goods for the holidays—kid gloves, silk handkerchiefs, ties, hair combs, jewellery, children's French hosiery, &c., at J. J. GIBSON', Crystal Hall Building.

T. O'CALLAGHAN & Co.—Baltimore oysters direct from the bed and cheaper than the cheapest. Five different brands at 101 Dundas street east to the City Hotel.

Those suffering from cancers or running sores are recommended to communicate with Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Allen Craig, who has a sure antidote to the cure, and to invariably effect a cure. 13tn

OYSTERS.—Until further notice I will retail fresh can Oysters at 15c, 20c, 25c and 30c per can, and wholesale to the trade at 13c, 15c, 20c and 25c per can. All warranted fresh and good, or money refunded. All fruit in season. At Mc MORRISON'S, Opposite City Hall.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. eod

PRESCRIPTION FREE.—For the speedy Cure of Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or excess. Any druggist has the ingredients. Address, DAVIDSON & Co., 78 Nassau St., New York. eod1

THE SOLE OBJECTION REMOVED.—The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body, in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile sources of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed in that SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE is Gelatine, and has a most agreeable... Price, 50 cents a bottle. eod

FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—... bers are prepared to fit up public ... hotels and private residences with ... ets, tapestry carpets, from cloths, to ... hall wool carpets, Dutch carpets ... stair carpets and ... rods ... rings to match carpets; cos and ... English oil cloth, 24 feet wide ... per yard; mattrasses, feather ... ers; carpets measured and tacked ... ; damask, linen and lace curtains ... other article suitable for furnishing ... erstone of general dry goods always ... lowest prices. ... R. S. MURRAY & Co' ... Street. 81tf

A Charge Denied.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—I notice a paragraph in Saturday evening and this morning's editions of your paper, headed "A Serious Charge," in which the girl Fagan's statement, which is seriously damaging to my character, is given as true, although not under oath.

Now, Mr. Editor, I have always understood that it is a fundamental principle of British Justice that a man is presumed to be innocent until the verdict of guilty is pronounced by a jury of his country; and, therefore, I think that the publicity of any one-sided statement extremely unfair and not in the interest of public justice, particularly as I wholly deny the charge.

Yours, etc.,
F. E. BENNETT.

London, Dec. 29, 1879.

POLICE COURT—MONDAY.

L. Lawrason, Esq., P. M., Presiding.

George Tucker charged with being drunk and "dangerous," was remanded for one week.

Ellen Dunn, drunk and disorderly, paid a fine of $1.

VAGRANTS.

John Johnston and John Collins, two seedy-looking tramps, were remanded for one week on a charge of vagrancy.

ASSAULT AND LARCENY.

Martin Donohue, charged with an aggravated assault, was bailed to appear on the 30th inst.

Jane Butler, a colored woman, was charged with assaulting Rosetta Henderson, and also with stealing a sum of money from the latter. She was sent to jail for one month on each charge.

FALSE PRETENCES.

Alex. Cudney, for obtaining a horse under false pretences from Mr. George Watson, of King street, was remanded until January 5th, 1880.

NON-PAYMENT OF WAGES.

E. H. Gustin, proprietor of the Cousins House, appeared to answer a charge of non-payment of wages preferred by an employe, and was ordered to pay $24 and $3.70 costs.

MISDEMEANOR.

Frederick Bennett, an account of whose arrest appeared previously in these columns, was bailed to appear on the 2nd prox.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—The half-yearly written examination of the pupils of S. S. No. 16, London, was held on the 15th and 16th inst. The aggregate marks in each of the classes were:—Senior fourth, 599; junior fourth, 535; third, 505; second, 360. The standing of those pupils who obtained one-half the total number of marks was:—Senior fourth—Maggie Braithwaite 489, Victoria Braithwaite 484, Jennie Bulyea 429, Warner Langford 392, and Wesley White 340. Junior fourth.—Richard Eedy 382, Jennie Bisbee 377, Franklin Lindsay 360, and James Mayne 373. Third class—Maggie Copeland 298, Deborah White 286, Gilbert Garrett 253, Fred. Langford 241, Warner Braithwaite 232, Jennie Hobbs 229, and Lucinda McRoberts 193. Second class—Martha Copeland 200, Albert Mayne 197, Miriam Bulyea 157, Dora McRoberts 152, Bertha Langford 150, Edward Howard 148, Charles Fitzgerald 148, and Wilbur McRoberts 119. The names of those pupils who stood highest in the different subjects are:—Senior fourth class—Arithmetic, M. Braithwaite; grammar, V. Braithwaite; geography, V. Braithwaite; history, V. Braithwaite; composition, M. and V. Braithwaite, equal; dictation, W. Langford, J. Bulyea and M. Braithwaite, equal. Junior fourth—Arithmetic, J. Bisbee; grammar, R. Eedy, Geo. R. Eedy; history, F. Lindsay; composition, J. Mayne; dictation, J. Bisbee. Third class—Arithmetic, M. Copeland and D. White, equal; grammar, M. Copeland; geography, D. White; dictation, M. Copeland.

The Prince of Wales is very desirous that his sons should receive a substantial education, "and be taught to do something with their hands," as he puts it.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. George Burn, Inspector of the Ex. change Bank, Montreal, has been appointed cashier of the Ottawa Bank.

Mr. A. E. Plummer, late of the Federal Bank, London, has now taken charge of the Hamilton Branch of the same institution.

Rev. Father O'Reilly, curate of St. John's (R. C.) Church, Arthur, contemplates leaving that village for Paris.

George B. Wood, an old man of seventy, was taken into custody last night by Sergt. Crawford as a vagrant, without home and friends, and subsequently sent to jail for three months for safe keeping.

Mr. John R. Gair has returned from his trip to Cape Breton, whither he goes twice a year as the representative of a Montreal Clothing House. He intends making London his headquarters in future.

The only and irrepressible Matilda Grafton got on another of her periodical sprees yesterday afternoon, and was lugged into the Central station by F. C. Weir for being drunk and disorderly. She kept the boarders awake most of the night with her plaintive warbling.

...mains of Col. F. Northey, of the ... who was killed at Gingihlovo, ... on the 10th inst., at Epsom ...side of the remains of his ...rthey, who fought in ... at Waterloo. Colonel ...own in London, and ...nada.

...akes the damaging ... Charles Walker, ...tradford, was in ...med Burns who ...ozen a short time ...given by the paper, ...m will now be in ...e of the whiskey ...nconcern for his ...seem very repre...

...ION. — Detective ...m Denby, of this ... sur...

XMAS PRESENTS.

A. B. POWELL & CO.,

HAVING AN INTEREST IN ... the happiness and welfare of the citizens, and being desirous that all should be enabled to dispense the most acceptable gift purchasable, at a price within the reach of all, they will, for

The Next Two Weeks,

offer their full range of

KID GLOVES!

consisting of colors for evening and street wear, at the following

Great Reduction:

—VIZ.:—

Special job Josephine make, reduced to 65c, worth 90c.

Our Special 2-button, price 85c and 75c, for 50c.

Our Sensation 2-button, price 65c and 75c, for 45c.

Our Favorite 3-Button, price $1, for 65c.

Our Favorite 4-button, price $1 37½, for $1 05.

Our Favorite 6-button, price $1 75, for $1 60.

Our Favorite 12-button, price $2 50, for $2.

Our Favorite 20 button, price $4 75, for $3 50.

Rouillon Josephine, in 2 and 4 button, reduced proportionately. Also the celebrated Roussel & Morrison Gloves included.

Gentlemen's Kids, 1-button price $1 12 reduced to 95c.

Gentlemen's Kids, 2-button, price $1 25, reduced to $1 10.

Our citizens will observe that they have a selection of 75 by 3,000 pairs. All well know the celebrated makes of gloves that we keep. The prices given above should be sufficiently suggestive.

A. B. POWELL & CO

The Kid Glove House.

CHRISTMAS —AND— NEW-YEAR'S

New Arrivals —AT— CRYSTAL HALL.

New French Flowers
New Bronzes
New Dresden Vases
New Electro Plated Ware
New China Tea Sets
New China Dessert Sets
New China Toilet Sets
New China Dinner Sets
New Iridescent Glassware.
Moustache Cups and Saucers
Matte Cups and Saucers
Ground Iaid Cups and Saucers
Motto Mugs

A Grand Clearing Sale

of the above goods now going on

At SACRIFICING PRICES

preparatory to taking stock, at

W. J. Reid & Co'S

DUNDAS STREET

Xmas Presents!

GO TO POCOCK BROS'

—FOR—

Christmas Slippers

GO TO POCOCK BROS'

—FOR—

Ladies' and Gents' Skating Boots

Their stock is superior to any in the city. They have opened no pains in getting up some of the most elegant Christmas slippers ever offered.

London, Dec. 11, 1879. 1ytf

London Markets.

Reported daily for the Free Press.

London, Monday, Dec. 30, 1879

The market arrivals to-day were on a very limited scale; in fact there was nothing of any importance calling for remark. Saturday's figures repeated.

GRAIN.
	Per 100 lbs		Per 100 lbs
Delhi	$ 00 to $ 00	Barley	90 to 1 30
Tranquill	1 00 to 1 10	Peas	80 to 1 00
Elginfield	1 00 to 1 10	Oats	1 00 to 1 14
Clinton	1 00 to 1 10	Rye	1 00 to 1 10
Wellington	1 00 to 1 10	Corn	1 00 to 1 10
Seaforth	1 00 to 1 10

MEATS.
Beef, by qr	3 00 to 6 00	Tea	0 25 to 0 60
Lamb	7 to 8	Maple do	0 to 0
		Veal	4 to 6
	PROVISIONS.
Chickens, pair	50 to 60	Potatoes, per bag	30 to 40
Geese	60 to 70	Onions	0 to 0
	PROVISIONS.
Eggs, retail	30 to	Cabbage, per doz	4 to 5
Potatoes, bag	30 to	Beets	0 to 1
Roll Butter	20 to	Carrots	0 to 1
Crock Butter	18 to	Turnips	0 to 1
Keg Butter	16 to	Parsnips	0 to 1
Inferior qual	8 to	Onions, lb	2 to 3
Tomatoes	25 to	Turnips, bag	0 to 0
Carrots	to	Timothy qr	0 to 0
Onions, bush	75 to 1 00	Wheat, per bush	1 10 to 0
Green wood	3 00 to 4 00	" retail	3 00 to 0
Dry "	2 75 to 3 50	Straw, per load	6 00 to 8
Honey	90 to 00	Hay	00 to 9 00

FRUIT.
Apples, per bag	30 to 40
" per bbl
Hops, $12 to $30 per 100 lbs

LIVE STOCK.
Milch cows	$ 00 to 00	Live Hogs	$ 00 to 4 00
Lambskins	50 to 75	Sheepskins	50 to 75
Hides, No 1	6½ to 7	Calf Skins, green	0 to 11
No. 2	7½ to 8	" dry	15 to 18
No 3	6 to 7

FLOUR AND MILL FEED.	Retail.	Wholesale
Fall Wheat Flour	$3 75	$3 90
Mixed "	3 50	3 65
Spring "	3 50	3 65
Bran, per bush	12 00	13 00
Shorts	14	12
Fine Shorts	16	16
Corn, chop	1 10	1 00
Cornmeal	1 70	1 60
Fine Oatmeal	4 75	4 50
Coarse "	4 75	4 75

Brantford.

Brantford, Dec. 29.—Flour, No. 1 supr, $4 0? to $4 50. Fall wh. at, $1 25 to $1 27; spring wheat, $1 20 to $1 25. Barley, 50c to 60c. Peas, 60c to 65c. Oats, 32c to 34c. Cattle, 1 to 4½ to 5. Beef, 4½ to $5 50. Mutton, 6½ to 8. Dressed hogs, $5 00 to $6 00. Hides, 7c to 8c. Sheepskins, $1 25. Wool, 22c. Butter, 18c to 19c. Cheese, 10c to 12c. Eggs, 25c to 30c. Hay, $7 to $8. Potatoes, 25 to 30c. Corn, 55c to 60.

A pretty American girl in Rome went frequently into the streets unattended, contrary to the custom there. The young Romans followed and annoyed her, until she invented a novel method of relieving them. She provided herself with a bottle of cantenical, each the value of a fifth of a cent, and whenever a man spoke to her, pistoning quietly to imitate his words, she gracefully extended her hand and dropped this fifth of a cent in his hand, saying, in fair broken Italian, "Hungry, are you, poor man? Well, take fifth and buy some bread."

XMS!

Handsome Chmas Presen

LOW PRICE,

—TO—

T. Beattie & C

FOR THE HOLIDAY

One case of New Scotch Suings—something very choice of excellent value.
A new and very cheap line in French Coatings.
We are making Full Dress Suits at very low prices.
For style, fit and excellence of finish our work cannot be ceiled.

ROBT. WALLACE

146 Dundas street, nearly Opp. Market Lane.

JUST IMPORTED

FOR Christmas

EXTRA FINE

Silk Handkerchief

CHOICE SILK SCARFS

Fine Silk and Cashmere Soc

R. A. GARLICK'

174 Dundas st.

BURNS

Will offer TO-DAY 500 Bo

ULSTERS, from Three Dollars U

wards.

Also, 200 GIRLS' PALETOTS, v

cheap. Buy one as a Christn

Gift for your Boys and Girls.

GEORGE BURN

Dundas street, London.

The Big Dry Goods Arcad

In our Dress Goods Department we commence a big ... sale. One thousand pieces to choose from. Great reduction ... immense sacrifice. Tweed Suitings at 15c., 20c., 25c ... wool, heavy, at 25c. We boast of having one of the best ... goods Departments in the city. Good light, new shades, ... goods. Dolmans, Circulars, Mantles and Millinery, all at ... ing sale prices. A new lot of Corsets at 40c. and upw... Blankets, Ulster Suits, away down in price. Remember ... big clearing sale, 196 Dundas street.

J. H. CHAPMAN & ...

EATON'S OLD STAND.

HENRY BEECH

92 DUNDAS ST. LONDON

ENGRAVER ON WOOD AND

SOLICITOR OF

PATENTS.

ESTABLISHED TEN YEARS.

Patents, Caveats, &...

SECURED IN CANADA, UNITED STATES AND EUROPE

TERMS MODERATE.

WOOD ENGRAVINGS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION, AT LOWEST RATES, COMPATIBLE WITH GOOD WORK.

HENRY BEECH

Solicitor of Patents and Engraver on Wood, 92 Dundas Street, between Richmond and Ridout Streets, London, Ont.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster.

The only improvement ever made on the common Porous Plaster.
Over 3,000 Druggists have signed a paper stating that BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS are superior to all other plasters.
PRICE 35 CENTS. Lincoln SEABURY & JOHNSON, Pharmaceutical Chemists.

Posters, Circulars, Cards and Cheques

PRINTED IN THE LATEST STYLE

AT THE FREE PRESS PRINTING COY.

ARCHITECTS

T. H. TRACY, ARCHITECT, SURVEYOR AND CIVIL ENGINEER, City Hall, London, Ontario. dly

THE LONDON FREE PRESS, ... was published every lawful morning ... evening by the London Free ... Printing Company, at their office, ... Wood Street, London.
JONAH BLACKBURN, ... Managing Director.

SAFETY

LINGS'
LEBRATED LONDON
ber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
lers from the trade respectfully solicited.

Married.

...the residence of the bride's father, on the ...inst, by the Rev R W Wallace, M A, R D, ...Sheppard to Jennie, eldest daughter of C... ...son, Esq.

...the Memorial Church, on the 30th, by the ...s Richardson, M A, Mr Thomas Stanley ...erson, to Miss Lizzie E Barton, adopted ...ter of Mr H C Barton, of London East, late ...mont.

Died.

...his city, on the 30th inst, George Th...nson, ...83rd year of his age. ...The funeral will leave his late residence, ...ford street, on Thursday, January 1st, ...0 p m. Friends and acquaintances are ...ctfully invited to attend.

DR. CRONHYATEKHA.

...e, 200 Richmond street, opposite the City ...Special attention given to Diseases of the ...d and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. ...hours: from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and from ...p.m. Residence, 615 Dundas street, opposite ...ermun's Grove.

CHIROPATHIC REMEDIAL INSTITUTE,

...Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

MOLIERE BATHS.

M C H REYNOLDS, D.D.S, STRATH...—According to my personal experience, ...here Electric Air Bath is safe, agreeable ...flectual in the treatment of Rheumatic ...euralgic Complaints. It appears to me to ...ossess advantages over any bath with ...I am acquainted. To secure perfec...ration, while breathing pure air, with the ...erature not exceeding 70°, is a luxury to ...atients, and on your part a triumph of in... ...s skill.—C H REYNOLDS. ...ed

MEETINGS.

...5 WARD.—THE ADJOURN...ED meeting takes place this evening at ...l School, at 7 o'clock. A large attendance ...ested to hear Glass and Brown. ...f

...E MONTHLY MEETING OF ...he Women's Christian Association will be ...ed until Thursday, January 8th, at 3 ...Ladies will please remember date and ...

...ION SERVICE.—THE UN...ION Revival Services will be held every ...his week in Queen's Ave. Methodist ..., at 7.30 (Salvation attended). Monday ...g in Victoria Hall at 9.30. Children's ...Hall Wednesday, in Queen's Avenue ...ion Church, at 3 p.m. Welsh night next ...night. All are invited. ...Lon

WESTMINSTER TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.—A Meeting of the Electors of Ward No. 4, Westminster, will be held in Richmond Centre, Lambton South, on Thursday evening, Jan. 1st, at 7 30 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing Yearly Report of the Council for said ward; also the views of new candidates. ...GORDON, I. G JARVIS. ...Lon

AMUSEMENTS.

...OTHER GRAND SHOOTING ...ch on New Year's Day, at Clark's Bridge, ...ers geese and fowls. Commence at ...THOMAS BRINSMAID. ...Lon

...OD SKATING EVERY EVEN...NG at the Covered Skating Rink until ...nesday. ...tf

SERVANTS WANTED.

...UATIONS WANTED, FOR A ...erage handyman clerk, 3 book-keepers, 9 ...clerks, 18 farm laborers, 10 boys. Also, ...examine any good seamstresses. Washing ...ing, &c., at 180 OSBORN'S Intelligence ...3 Dundas street, London. ...d

SITUATIONS VACANT.

...IER WANTED.—A SINGLE ...an, capable of taking charge of a bake... ...ock Box 9 0, London, Ont. ...Lon

LOST OR FOUND.

...URSE OF MONEY FOUND ...ear Hyde Park yesterday. Call at Van...'s Hotel, Hyde Park, for it. ...1

...ISE LOST, ON 29TH INST. ...north side of Dundas street, between ...ton and Waterloo streets, containing ...gold rings and one set with a ruby ...one. The finder will receive a reward by ...aving it at the FREE PRESS Office. ...tf

...L.—LOST, DEC. 24, 1879, ...one to Catholic Cemetery, a black velvet ...the finder will be rewarded on leaving it ...Murton's store, King st. ...tf

...BEWARD.—LOST, ON 23RD ...inst, a Fox Terrier Bitch, white, with ...ll tan head; leather collar on neck. The ...ll receive the above reward by leaving ...D. Dodson's Butcher Shop, corner Pall ...Wellington streets.

DANCING.

...YTON'S DANCING ACADE...MY, 199 Dundas street. Gents' class ...Tuesday, at 8 p.m. Second term opens ...y, Jan 6th. Twelve lessons, $4. Fashion... ...and dances a specialty.—G DAVIES, ...y

MISCELLANEOUS.

...TICE—ALL ROMAN CATHO...IC ratepayers who wish to be considered ...school supporters in the Village of Lon... ...st, are hereby requested to notify the ...Clerk before the second Wednesday in ..., 1880.—By writing. ...J H LAIDLAW, Sec. L.S.S.S.

...RRIAGE LICENSES CAN BE ...obtained on application at residence of ...EDWARD HARRIS. ...Lmdonwy

...NE SKATING RINK, SUL...IVAN Bath Grounds, foot of Dundas ...is now open. Ice in good condition. ...to rent on the Rink.—A Matinee, two ...

...AUTIFUL! MORE BEAUTI...FUL!! MOST BEAUTIFUL!!!—One ...autiful written cards, for 25 cents. One ...more beautiful gilt-edge cards, for 25 ...One dozen of the most beautiful crys... ...cards, executed in the very highest ...the pen art, 4 kinds, for one card for 25 cts. ...ull more beautiful and elaborate hand... ...ion, memorials and addresses hand... ...engrossed. Name elegantly written in ...intended for Christmas or New Year's ...Address or call on W N YEMAN, Dun... ...Depot, or at 356 Piccadilly st., city. ...Lon

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL ...bathches made by Mrs. M. Bird, the ...an artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be ...d in Canada. Factory—No. 313 Richmond ...London. ...Jlst

FOR SALE.

SOLVENT SALE BY AUCTION ...Mare, 3 years old and well bred; Cutter, ...t condition and Harness, on Saturday, ...y 3rd, 1880, at 12 o'clock noon, on Market ...London, belonging to the estate of A. ...ald, hotel-keeper, London Township. Par... ...ulars on application to H. E. NELLES, ...Assignee. ...on, Dec. 30 ...Lmy

...AIR OF BLACK PONIES, 5 ...years old, real city sound and quiet, for ...sale. Can be seen at the Western Hotel, ...r days. ...Lmy

...RIAGE, WAGON AND ...Blacksmith's Shop, with Dwelling House, ...in the village of Melbourne; doing a good ...ss, and plenty of ordered work, which the ...can commence on.—J. E. NORTHCOTT, ...erne Ontario. ...Lmtf

PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A ...ller & Richard Plow Paper Cutter, in good ...Will cut 32 inches. Apply at FREE PRESS ...tf

SINGER SEWING MACHIN...E (best) with latest ...ts, for sale ...Apply at Office of the FREE PRESS. ...tf

REAL ESTATE.

...RICK DWELLING AND LOT ...for sale; 113 feet frontage by ... deep ...planted with the choicest fruit and orna... ...d trees, on Albert street. Apply to F. E. ...SMITH. ...Lmtf

...OTS FOR SALE, CHEAP.— ...Woodview Estate, Westminster.—PARKS ...BROS. ...tf

...ALUABLE PROPERTY FOR ...sale, opposite G W R Car Shops. Store ...welling, with furniture, will be sold on ...terms.—Apply to JOHN MULLIN, on prem... ...tf

TO LET

...FIRST-CLASS TWO-STORY ...Brick House to let, corner Bond and ...ond streets. Possession given imme... ...y.—Apply to Wm Rowin, 343 Piccadilly ...

...O REST—TWO-STORY BRICK ...House, No. 408 Queen's Avenue, double ...se, bathing douse, stabling, hard and soft ...on premises; all in excellent repair ...to suit. Gives, back door. ...Lmtf

CORDWOOD.

...ENTRAL COAL AND WOOD ...YARD, corner York and Wellington ...ts. ...

...ly beech and maple wood, cut and mixed ...ood prices. ...al of all kinds, well screened, delivered in ...ities of charge. Good weight and measure ...anteed. Call before purchasing. ...A. STANTON. ...Proprietor. ...Mondly

The Fr...

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., WEDNESDAY ...

For Your Christmas Fruits, Choice Groceries
—AND—
HOLIDAY GOODS,
—AT—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
228 Dundas Street, three doors east of the Oddfellows' Hall.

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO,
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
—TRY THE—
NORTH END STORE
G. DAWSON,
720 and 722 Richmond st., London Ont.

BUSINESS CARDS.

GET YOUR FEATHER BEDS ...Renewed and renovated by the new patent ...steam renovator. Old mattresses and church ...cushions made over equal to new.—JAMES F. ...HOWE, Mattress Factory, English Parking House, ...Richard street, London. ...ly

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Entry

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash prices paid for second-hand clothing. WM. JENKINS, 249 Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. ...Jly

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING ...bought for Cash by RAINSBURY, King ...street, two doors west of Market Square, Auctioneer, and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats ...Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets. Money advanced ...on goods for sale by auction. N.B.—Parties ...wishing to sell wanted on, and orders to call attended to. ...ly

W. DODSON, DEALER IN ...FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to ...acquaint his friends and the public that he has ...removed business at the old stand, 99 Dundas ...street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dundas streets. ...Jly

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, ...near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. R. F. SHORROCK, Proprietor. ...Entry INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, ...WINGHAM.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.25 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock.—GAMBLE & SMITH, proprietors. ...Kmty

MCELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, ...has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. BOISSEAU. ...Kmty

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, ...Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travelers will find it to their advantage to give it a trial. Buses and baggage waggon to all trains. Livery in connection. JOSEPH ELLIOT, Prop. ...Kmty

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, ...near G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every respect. Good accommodation for commercial travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. PAYNTER. ...Kmty

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ...ONT. First-class rooms for commercial travellers. The hosts all passenger trains. P. J. DERBY & CO., Proprietors. ...Kmty

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERANCE Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES ROBINSON, Proprietor. ...Kmty

MEDICAL.

DR. ANDERSON, OF 84 JAMES ...street, Hamilton, Surgeon of the Throat and Throat, can be consulted at Tecumseh House, London, on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Cross-eyes straightened. ...Laldry

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Piccadilly. ...Kdrs

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., ...SURGEON DENTIST. ...Office—Edge Block, Richmond street. ...Ldry

H. MCLAREN, L.D.S., ...SURGEON DENTIST. ...Office removed over Swaffield's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall. ...184 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. ...Teeth extracted without pain.

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Edge Block, Richmond street, London, Ont. ...Ldry

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BARRISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in Chancery, Office — Corner Carling and Richmond streets, London, Ont. ...EDWARD HARRIS. JAMES MAGEE. ...Hon. M. Cox. W. J. CLARKE

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARVERS and Gilders.—Mirrors, picture ...frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, ...&c. Old frames replished. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 382 Dundas st. ...Ly

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Arts.—J. ...Stagg, 399 Dundas street, near Albert Street

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, ...Importers and Wholesale Dealers in ...BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE, ...345 AND 349 RICHMOND STREET, ...LONDON. ...Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. ...Jly

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS of Hardware, Iron, Steel, Paints and Oils, 208 Dundas Street London, Ont.

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., ...DENTIST. ...Office, 193 Dundas street. ...Ldry

MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST, Office — Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street, over Dowie's grocery store.

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent, Dundas street, opposite Talbot's Corner, London East. ...Jly

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P. ...London, England, Physician, Surgeon, &c., successor to Dr. Dekle, Dundas street, opposite Town Hall, London East. ...Mondly

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR ...Store on Egerton street, East end of G.W.R. Car Works. Carling's and Labatt's ale and porter ...draught and in bottles. A well assorted stock ...supplied. Alex Carling's fresh ales and porter ...always on hand. ...MULLEN, Proprietor. ...Mondly

GREAT INDUCEMENTS ...—IN— ...FINE AND DRESSING ...COMBS, ...—AT— ...W. J. SMITH'S, ...Dispensing Chemist, ...151 ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

GRAND TRUNK ...Coal and Wood Yard, ...ADELAIDE ST., OPPOSITE THE YARDS ...LONDON.

THE SUBSCRIBER DESIRES ...to thank his many friends and the public generally for past favors, and to inform them that he has in stock the best qualities of WOOD and COAL, the latter well screened and under cover from the weather, therefore in better condition for consumers. ...Prices as Low as at Any Other Yard. ...Orders respectfully solicited, which if called at the Yard Office, will have prompt attention for any part of the city. ...GEORGE RENDELL. ...Oct 10, 1879 ...ondly

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing

WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.

THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!

KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.

In Every Department Extra Value.

WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.

Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House of the West.

Xmas Presents.
TOILET SETS
VASES
PERFUMES
&c., &c.. &c.,
—AT—
SHUFF'S DRUG STORE
LONDON EAST.
London East, Dec. 23, 1879. ...mwf

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., Importers and Dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X CENTS — A ten cent sample bottle of HARKNESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. ...Jly

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Jlyc International House Dundas street.

—GET YOUR—
Finnan Haddies, Fresh Oysters
CANNED FRUITS AND FISHES.
—AT—
J. W. HARDY'S,
Cor. King and Rideout streets, opposite McFarlane's Hotel. ...mwfly

Arkell's Brewery
AMBER ALE
—AND—
XXX Porter.
Stock always on hand. Orders left at the Revere House, or via Post Office will receive prompt attention. ...Mondly

SMOKE
—THE—
Old Man's Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP

A RIOT IN RUSSI...

Count Schouvaloff's Estate ...

London, Dec. 30.—A Vienna di... says that the Russian Nihilists are ...laing among the peasants the story ...the Czar has issued a decree ordering ... ...of proprietors to divide their esta... ...among the peasants. The peasa... ...on the estate of Count Schouvaloff, ...in the Sargerowski District, seeing ...that he Count was not taking any steps ...for a division of the property gathered at ...the castle, seized it, expelled all the ser... ...vants, and sacked it. Two companies of ...soldiers ordered to disperse the rioters, ...were received with showers of missiles. ...The affair assumed a threatening aspect. ...The peasants of several neighboring com... ...munities joined the rioters, all of whom ...were excellently armed. ...Berlin, Dec. 30.—Count Schouvaloff has ...been designated Governor General of Mos... ...cow to succeed Dolgorouki.

SHAKEN AND BURNED.

Japan Visited by a Violent Earth ...quake—A Town Tumbled Down ... and Burned.

Yokohama, Dec. 13.—The earthquake at Tokio and vicinity, on Nov. 20th, was unsurpassed in violence in the last eight years. The town of Hakodate, in Yezo, was partly destroyed by fire on Dec. 7th. Twenty-three hundred houses were burned.

GREAT BRITAIN.

HEAVY GALE.

London, Dec. 30.—A heavy gale of rain and snow, accompanied by thunder and lightning, burst over London to-day. Fierce gales are reported from all parts of Great Britain, causing much damage to property.

BELGIUM.

ON STRIKE.

London, Dec. 30.—The... are on strike in the M... gium.

THE BIBLE TRO...

London, Dec. 30... patch reports the... British Ambassad... ing the sentence... being the author... religion of the... factorily arrange...

Parnell... New York... Parnell and D... States will pr... or six weeks... London at th... case the questi... impeachment... seditious lang... official warning... guage he may u... it may be brou... Two Governmen... follow him and t... hear him utter... because by Et[illegible]... cutions the evidenc...

Midnight ... Washington ...

The Air Filler ... —The Engineer ... Found Two ...

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3... a boiler explosion in th... Mills filled the neighborhoo... around, with splinters, br... ments of iron. A lady in t... slightly injured by falling ... buildings in the vicinity we... ably damaged. Damage, ... Dome of the Boiler Feed on the... Western Union Telegraph Office... down to the third floor. No o... until injured attempt the engin... missing. His hat was found o... a building two blocks off. ...

Detroit and the Rail...

Drive Measures Against R... Freight Tariffs.

Detr... Trade ... Commit... the estat... barge line... is said this ... orable discri... against this city. ...

Telephones ...

Cincinnati, D... parliament wi... was ma... Indi... Be...

Cabul, Dec. 27 — ... Kohistan with 1,700 ... of cavalry and four gu... surgents there. ... Mohammed Jan has ... with him to Wardak. ... coming quiet. ...

London, Dec. 30.—T... telegraphs that Col. ... attacked at Gwalamu... with 2,000 followers. ... driven off. The Britis... and one man killed. T... at once and re-occupy ...

Vienna, Dec 30.—T... port that the Kuzu of ... embassy to the Bri... Afghanistan, with orde... wards to the Viceroy of ...

Cabul, Dec. 30.—G... reinstated as militar... shops in the city are de... Business is entirely s... brigade will occupy Ba...

SPA...

Another Attempt on ... Life.

Madrid, Dec. 30.—... of the Cortes closes w... abolition of slavery in ... A new semi-e begins ... Great floods occur ... Islands on the 31st ... houses and crops de...

THE KING ...

As the King r... through the ... evening, a... man fir... at the r... inmately ... The ball ... an o... one o... driving ... was imi... his name ... a native o... Ayala ... Deputies ... Madrid. It is be... complices. Three ... rested on suspicion ... living in Madrid for ... attended the opera at 9... A LOYAL PUP ...

Madrid, Dec. 30.—The ... on entering the opera. ... an exhibition of demonstrati... and gratitude at their escape. ... close of the performance an enthusi... crowd, bearing torches, accompanied th... royal carriage to the palace.

SOUTH AFRICA.

THE BOERS AND TRANSVAAL.

Cape Town, Dec. 30.—The meeting of Boers on the 16th inst. dispersed ... after adopting a resolution to make the demand for the independence of the Transvaal and to select a Volksraad. Paul Kruger was chosen to the leadership, and was instructed to summon the Volksraad. Another meeting takes place on the 8th of April. Sir Garnet Wolseley, at a Pretoria dinner, said that henceforward the Transvaal would be regarded as a Crown colony.

WEST AFRICA.

ANOTHER DISPUTE SETTLED BY THE BRITISH.

London, Dec. 29.—The troubles in New Calabar, West Africa, between King Amachree, of New Calabar, and his followers, and a powerful chief called Will Braid and his adherents, has been settled by the mediation of a British naval officer and the British Consul.

PRES

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Sales by Auction

THIS DAY.

AUCTION SALE

OF

Silver-plated Ware.

W. Y. BRUNTON & SON will sell at their rooms, Dundas street, nearly opposite Strong's Hotel, on TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY nights, Dec. 30 and 31, a large consignment of the best make of silver waiters, engraving silver, tea sets, cruets, cake baskets, urns, butter dishes, epergnes, &c., by the best makers, and guaranteed triple plate. Sale at 7.30.

W. Y. BRUNTON & SON, Auctioneers.

L59r

New Year's Gifts

BY AUCTION

FOR THREE NIGHTS ONLY.

Rocking Horses,
Sleighs,
Books,
Shells,
Toys and
Fancy Goods,

Best variety yet offered. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, at 7.30 o'clock.

WM. BRYCE,
325 Dundas st.

MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers. L59r

INSOLVENT ACT of 1875

AND AMENDING ACTS.

In the Matter of Stanley Day, of Seaforth, Ont., an Insolvent.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that, under and by virtue of the power vested in me as assignee of the above named insolvent by the said Act and amending Acts, and in pursuance of the directions of the creditors and orditors of the said estate, I will offer for sale by Public Auction, on the premises, in the Town of Seaforth, in the County of Huron,

On Tuesday, the 6th day of January, A.D. 1880,

At the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at a sale en bloc, the valuable stock of New and Fancy Dry Goods of the late insolvent, to value which reference is hereby directed to be had. Terms: One-fourth cash on day of sale, balance, two and four months, secured.

Stock can be inspected by intending purchasers three days prior to day of sale. Stock book can be seen at the store in Seaforth, or at the office of the assignee, Stratford.

ALFRED BURNHAM, Assignee.

Stratford, Ont., 27th Dec., 1879. L55tv

New Crockery Store!

THE

Mammoth Teapot

Is open for the inspection of the public, and there will be found on hand a complete stock of

Crockery, China,
GLASSWARE,
Lamps and Lamp Fixtures
AND FANCY GOODS,

Which the proprietor is bound to slaughter at

Prices Never Before Heard Of

IN LONDON.

A SPECIAL SALE

Will be opened

DURING THE HOLIDAYS

—FOR—

Christmas & New Year's Gifts.

Call into the MAMMOTH TEAPOT & call.

DUNDAS ST.,

Opposite Strong's Hotel.

L59tv

NOTICE.

AS ALL FOOT-POWER MACHINERY have been held at so high a price that few will get them, has been to considerable expense to make them at the reach of all, and as good an article for work as the best, will turn 12 inches diameter, from two inches bar long for the small sum of Sixteen Dollars. Turning Tools, Boring Bit, Chuck and Vice attachment, Four Dollars extra. Jig Saw Attachment, Eight Dollars, making a complete Lathe and a Sawing one. The ordinary price would be Seventy-five Dollars for all. Call and examine them at 319 Dundas st., London. L25l

J. WAUD

AGRICULTURAL

Savings and Loan Company

Dividend No. 15.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Dividend of Four and One-half (4½) Per Cent. upon the Paid-up Capital Stock of this Company has been declared for the half-year ending the 31st December instant, and the same will be payable at the office of the Company, Dundas street, London, Ont., on and after Friday, 2nd day of Jan., 1880.

The Transfer Books will be closed from the 20th to 31st instant, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board. JOHN A. ROE, Manager.

L59r

The Ontario

LOAN & DEBENTURE COMPANY.

DIVIDEND NO. 33.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Dividend of FIVE PER CENT., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, upon the paid-up capital stock of this Company has been declared for the current half-year, and that the same will be payable at the Office of the Company, London, Ontario, on and after FRIDAY, THE 2nd DAY OF JANUARY NEXT.

The Transfer Books will be closed from the 20th to the 31st day of December, inclusive.

By order of the Board.

WILLIAM F. BULLEN, Manager.

London, December 16th, 1879. L17v17,24,29

SKATES

ACME.

BARNEY & BERRY,
UNION HARDWARE CO

Full stock, all sizes at cheapest in the city.

Pure Rubber Weather Strips

Will not crack or harden in coldest weather; fasten cut easily and never fail.

T. HERBERT MARSH,

HARDWARE MERCHANT,

161 Dundas St., London

Manitoba--1880.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL personally conduct a Passenger Party to Emerson and Winnipeg, leaving PARIS on TUESDAY, the 6TH JANUARY, 1880, at 1 p.m. A PALACE LIVERY CAR will be run from Paris to Winnipeg without change for first-class passengers. Those equal to farmers' expenditure.

A SPECIAL FREIGHT TRAIN for passengers' effects will leave Paris the evening previous Monday, the 5th, which is expected to reach Winnipeg Saturday. Those having freight must send it to Paris by the 1st January, or it will not be taken. Parties intending to go, having freight either in usual lots or by the carload, should communicate with the undersigned at once, and get circular giving all particulars.

R. PATTERSON,

TOWN AGENT, G. W. R., PARIS.

dec25tm w

Wholesale or Retail.

MUST BE SOLD—A LOT OF Crockery, such as China, Glass Ware and Fancy Goods for Xmas presents. Oil lamps and goods—for ONE WEEK.

M. F. TEO 197 Dundas St

L59tn

Thousands of Overcoats

ULSTERS AND ULSTERETTES

For Men, Youths, Boys and Children, in all styles, colors and qualities, at prices th cannot fail to be satisfactory to purchasers.

Our enormous sales for the past 90 days have compelled us to be continual adding to our stock, and many of our Overcoats and Ulsters have been received du ing the last month.

Every garment is of late style, and many of them are decided novelties.

We call the attention of all wanting Overcoats to the fact that our stock is t largest in the West and is superior in quality, style and excellence of manufacture.

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 & 13 and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT. - - - - - MICHIGA

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

To the Electors

—OF THE—

CITY OF LONDON.

GENTLEMEN,—Having been presented with a largely signed requisition to allow myself to be nominated for Mayor for 1880, I now desire to state that I will accept the nomination, and, if elected, will, to the best of my ability, serve the city so as to prove myself worthy of the responsible position.

I will attend the different Ward Meetings and give you my views concerning matters affecting the interests of the city.

The time being short before the election, it will be impossible for me to make a personal canvass of the whole city; I will, however, endeavor to call on as many of the electors as possible.

To the requisitionists who so kindly signed the document just put into my hand, I beg to return my sincere gratitude.

GENTLEMEN, I now most respectfully solicit your votes and influence for Mayor during the coming year, and remain your obedient servant,

J. H. MINHINNICK.

London, Dec. 16, 1879 L17td

Electors of London East.

HAVING ACCEPTED THE REQUISITION for the position of

FIRST DEPUTY-REEVE,

I now solicit your votes for the same. If elected I shall do my duty as your representative. By looking after your interest, it will be mine also.

Yours truly,

CHARLES LILLEY.

London East, Dec 27, 1879. do

SMALLMAN & INGRAM.

New Dress Goods, Bought at Great Reduction

NEW GOODS. --- NEW COLORS.

Cloth Suitings at 15 Cents; Worth 25 Cents

Special Attractions

—FOR—

CHRISTMAS

AT THE

WOOL CLOUDS,
WOOL SQUARES,
WOOL SHAWLS,
WOOL CUFFS,
WOOL MITTS,
WOOL HOSIERY.

GENTS' DEPARTMENT

LINED KID GLOVES,
BRACES, SHAWLS,
SILK HANDKERCHIEFS,
WOOL SHIRTS & DRAWERS.

DRESS GOODS,
MILLINERY & MANTLES

READY-MADE CLOTHING.

CASH ONLY

R. Walker & Sons

South Side Dundas St.,

LONDON, ONT.

RECEIVED

BY P. A. M.,

(20) Twenty Bbls Irish Moss

Quotations on application.

H. A. MITCHELL.

FOR ONE MONTH ONLY.

—GENUINE—

CLEARING SALE

LAING & McPHERSON,

Previous to stock-taking, offer their whole stock of

DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING, AT COST AND UND

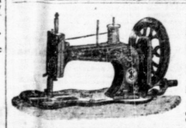
DRESS GOODS	DUNDAS COTTONS		TWEEDS
WINCEYS	4c	TICKINGS	FRENCH COATINGS
SHAWLS	4c	SHIRTINGS	BROADCLOTHS
BLANKETS	4c	DUCKS	DOESKINS
FLANNELS	4c	DENIMS	UNDERCLOTHING

HOSIERY, GLOVES AND CORSETS.

☞ A fine stock of READY-MADE CLOTHING, at prices to insure a ready sale, for cash. Great Bargains.

LAING & McPHERSON.

NOTICE!



MR. JAMES GLEN

long and well known as a Fashionable Merchant Tailor in this City, has transferred his services to the establishment of

JOHN M. DENTON

where he will be glad to see his old friends and customers.

sod 372 RICHMOND STRE

THE GENUINE

SINGE

SEWING MACHIN

Has the Company's Trade M on Side of Arm.

and the words, "THE SINGER MANUFACT COMPANY" on top of arm.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—Oddfellows' Building, 222 E das street, London, Ont.

1aw-ws J. R. HICKOK, Manager

EVERY STYLE OF FUR CAP

AND ALL THE LEADING STYLES IN

Hard and Soft Felt Hat

—AT—

McDONALD'S

sod EDGE BLOCK, RICHMOND ST.

Hiscox

SLIPPERS!

SOMETHING HANDSOME FOR CHRISTMAS PRESEN

J. P. THOMPSON

sod 198 DUNDAS STREET

OUR ASSORTMENT

—OF—

FINE WOOLLEN

For Gentlemen's Wear

Is very large and fashionable. Parties requiring Overcoats or Suits will do well to see our goods. Our workmanship is unequalled.

NICHOLAS WILSON & CO'

sod DUNDAS STREET

Largest Furnishing House in the West.

R. S. MURRAY & CO.

In order to meet the demand of their immense trade, they have just finished the extension of their Carpet room, and have Dundas to Carling street, and have just received

100 pcs	Brussels Carpet, 90c to	$1.50
100 pcs	Tapestry Carpet, 45c to	1.00
50 pcs	Wool Carpet, 75 cts to	1.25
53 pcs	3 ply Carpet, $1 25 to	1.50
50 pcs	Union Carpet, 45 cts to	60
50 pcs	Dutch Carpet, 65 cts to	75
50 pcs	Felt Carpet, 35 cts to	75
100 pcs	Hemp Carpet, 10 cts to	30
100 pcs	Cocoa Matting, 30 cts to	60
25 pcs	Wool Repp, 93 cts to	3.00
200 pcs	English Oilcloth, 80c to	1.50
200 pcs	Linoleum,	1.50
200 pcs	American Oilcloth, 39c t	60
200 pcs	Canadian Oilcloth, 30c to	80

Those furnishing houses, hotels and public buildings should examine before purchasing.

134 DUNDAS STREET,
126 CARLING STREET,
LONDON, sod ONTARIO

SKATES!

"ACME"
BARNEY & BERRY'S,
PLAIN AND NICKEL.

ALL SIZES AND STYLES. ALSO,

HAMBLETONS,
HEATHER STRIPS,
FIRE IRONS, &c.

—AT—

REID'S HARDWARE,
No. 116

Next door to Mitchell's Music Store.

Coal and Woo

BOWMAN & CO.

LARGE STOCKS ON HAND of the celebrated

Scranton, Grate, Egg, Stove & Ches COAL,

Also Briar Hill, Cannel and Massillon Coa grates. Stoves Coke, Lehigh Lump and N Lump.

Wood, Long, Cut and Spl

By the cord or carload.

Great care taken to give satisfaction. LO ERT CASH PRICES.

Office and Yard—RATHURST STREET, Corner Clarence and Wellington streets. Tele

COAL

—AND—

WOOD

Cannel, Briar Hill, Massillo Grate, Egg, Stove and Chestnut Coal, delivered in best without extra charge.

HUNT BROS

Th. Cook is left at Gobien Shoe, 205 Richmon sts. Lot at yard, on Bathurst street, promptly attended to.

E Rochf

GOTHIC HALL

ESTABLISHED 1866.

WE HAVE RECEIVED A FULL assortment of

HAIR BRUSHES
CLOTHES BRUSHES
FLESH BRUSHES
TOOTH BRUSHES
NAIL BRUSHES
MENTAL & HAIR BRUSHES

From the best manufacturers.

J. A. MITCHELL & SON,

114 Dundas street West, north side,

Lm3y LONDON, ONT.

New Year's Cards

IN ENDLESS VARIETY

AT ALL PRICES!

ALSO, FINE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW YEAR CALLING CARDS

—AT—

W. BRYCE'S

168

Dundas Street, London.

CALL EARLY.

Only 10,000 Left Out of 50,000 Imported

Grand Trunk Railway.

Christmas and New Year.

Tickets will be issued at

A FARE AND A-THIRD

On the 24th and 25th December, good to return till the 26th December.

Also, on the 31st December and 1st January at the same rate, good to return until the 2nd January inclusive.

JOSEPH HICKSON, General Manager.

Montreal, Dec 11, 1879. L 49t

Great Western Railway

NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAYS

RETURN TICKETS WILL BE issued on 31st Dec., 1879, and 1st January 1880, good until 5th January, 1880, at

One Fare and a Third.

F. BROUGHTON, General Manager.

Hamilton, Dec. 20th, 1879. L27tn w

FOR CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S

CANDIES

—GO TO—

W. J. Booth's

—13—

LILLEY'S BLOCK, LONDON EAST.

GET THE BEST

Waterman's Headlight OIL

Is the Safest and Best Burning Oil to Buy. It is sold by

McBride & Boyd,

226

L47tndtu DUNDAS ST.

Brunton's Auction Rooms,

Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.

40 J

...ne one,
...every street
...ing he would
...one was made to
...which he believed had
...more economically than
...ntly. He favored selling
...grounds, and believed the
...money by keeping this
...property locked up. He again adverted to
...the water-works, and thought the Commissioners did not display as much "push"
...as a private company would have done.

Mr. Trebilcock—Is it a fact that the salary of the Relief Officer exceeds the amount distributed for relief?

Ald. Williams—I believe not. The amount expended for relief this year was about $1,400, and the salary of the Relief Officer is just $500.

A voice—"The old women around the market get all the relief."

Ald. Williams concluded by wishing all a Happy New Year, and was unanimously tendered the thanks of the meeting for his services.

Ald. Boyd was the next speaker. There had been so much said in reference to municipal matters during the past ...ays that he thought little more light was ...ely to be thrown on the subject. He did not believe much reduction ...ould be made in the taxes for the next ...ar, unless the vacant land owned ...y the city was disposed of. He favored the ...ection of Exhibition Grounds and pur...hase of more northern property. He believed would be ...ound in No. 7 and ...ity, which ...ld be ...ld up ...ere to Lor... ...ing of ...ing ...ing ...ing

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porte
Orders from the trade respe fully solicited.

Births.

...oderich, on the 22nd December, the wife ...as Sauvright, of a son.

...oderich township, on the 25th Decembe... ...ife of Mr Jas Robertson, of a son.

Married.

...ne 31st ultimo, at the residence of the ... father, No 14 Palace street, by the ... ...arcus Marsh, M A, G Frear Thomas, ... Gilbert Thomson, Esq, of Burnhamth ... ...d, to Fannie B, second daughter of the ... ..., Esq, of this city.

...e 30th Dec 1879, at the residence of ... ...ertier, Thomas Hesketh, Esq, of W... ...by the Rev D E Hemmeall, of Ingers... ...Helen Nivison, of Athens, to Elizabeth ... ...th, of West Oxford.

...New Year's Day, at the residence of at... ...s brother-in-law, James Harding, No... ...nton street, London, by the Rev W Dann... ...rnthwaite of Thamesford, and Rose Dan... ...ford, John J Armstrong, Esq, to Adelin Mc... ...Thorndale, to Miss Charlotte Holland, o... ...ilvie.

...residence of the bride's brother-in-law ... ...ord, on the 19th inst, by the Rev R Wal... ...ote, Mr James Harvey Inose, merchant, ...ry, to Miss Linna Graham, of Stamford.

...Janvey Square, Toronto, on the 29th ... ...e Rev J M Kirk, M A, the Rev W A ... ...A, of St John's, to Margaret Eva... ...est daughter of the Rev Dr Cavan.

...19th ult, at the residence of the bride's ... ...y the Rev Mr English, Robert Berry, ...Township of Hamstead, to Fanny, young... ...of Mr Robt Cherry, of the Township of ...

...the 24th December, by the Rev J Philp, ...as W Orr, teacher, Dunnethon, to Miss ... a Dempsey, of Goderich Township.

...ristmas Day, on the 25th ult, by the Rev G ... J Broughton Dewan, Jr, Esq, of Owen Lake ...rick, Winnipeg, Man, to Mary, fourth ... of the late Robert Conroy.

...ristmas Day, at the residence of the ... ...ministrator, Dalhi, by the Pastor of the ... Church, Rev F A Ready, assisted by the ...rrance, M A, C L Institute, Woodstock, ... Beck, of Windham, to Miss Clara M... ...of Dereham, County of Oxford.

...ristmas Day, by the Rev Mr Rathbun, ...sidence of the bride's father, Simcoe, ... Scott, to Lizzie, only daughter of ... Evans.

...ristmas Day, by the Rev Mr Channell, at ...sidence of the bride's uncle, Mr Geo M ...ohnson, Mr Robert Powell, to Miss ...ie, both of Simcoe.

...ristmas Day, by the Rev Mr Brethour, ...sidence of the bride's father, Mr John ... to Lavinia Forth daughter of Abram ... both of Simcoe.

Died.

...ember 29th, at the residence of his ... Mrs Grant, in the township of Flamb... ...ugh, late of the township of Dereham, ...unty.

...ilton, on the 25th Dec, Arthur James, ...o. James Rae, G T R, aged one year ... months.

...owell, on the 31st ult, Edna Ann, be... ...ter of Mr Frederick Stanyer, aged nine... ...4 months and 6 days. The remains ... to be London for interment.

...ilford, on the 22nd ult, Francis Elizabeth, ...ughter of Mr John H Jackson, aged 13 ... months and 10 days.

...n the 19th ult, after an illness of ... ...eeks, Mr Lachlin Macalinch, aged ... 10 months.

...ans, on Christmas Day, Alice Jane, ... wife of Rev J Edgar Casly—much ... ...ral remains were taken to Caledon... ...erment.

...ly 27th December, 1879, Mr Jean ... ...n Moulson, aged seven months and ... ...ys.

...on on December 18th, Susanna ... ...ed 79 years and 11 months.

...the residence of Hiram Bowlby, Esquire, ...house Gore, on the 19th instant, Minnie ... of the late Col. Joseph Culver, in her 5 ...

...ncoe, on the 23rd ult, James Taylor, ...lumberman, in the 63rd year of his age.

OZONHYATERIA.

...ond, 265 Richmond street, opposite the City ...tel. A short stay will establish the efficacy of this ... and Lungs, and Nervous Diseases. ... hours from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 ... p.m. Residence, 513 Dundas street, opposite ...orman's Grove.

ELECTROPATHIC REMEDIAL INSTITUTE,

244 Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

HOLIERE BATHS.

FROM C H REYNOLDS, DDS, STRATH... ...ROY (according to Act of Parliament), ... the Modern Electric Air Bath is safe, agreeable ... effectual in the treatment of Rheumatic ... and Neuralgic Complaints. It appears to me to ... have several advantages over any bath with ... I am acquainted. To secure profuse ... perspiration, while breathing pure air, with the ... temperature not exceeding 90°, is a luxury to ... your patrons, and on your part a triumph of in... ventive skill.—C H REYNOLDS, M D. ...ood

AMUSEMENTS.

ROLLER SKATING RINK, SUL... ...PHUR Bath Grounds, foot of Dundas ... street, is now open. Ice in good condition. ... Skates to rent in the Rink.—A MASSEY, pro... ...prietor. 1579

THEATRICALS.

MR. MINHINNICK'S WARD ... Committee, and all friends willing to ... assist, are requested to meet at Tuesday's ... Britannia Hotel, Wellington street, this evening ... at 7.30 o'clock.

PROF. HARRISON'S ELOCU... ...TION Class meets to-night (Friday), in Vic... ...toria Hall.

ROYAL ARCANUM, LONDON ... Council. No 823, will meet this (Friday) ... evening.—ALEX W Peaker, Sec. ...df

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.—THE ... monthly meeting of this Society will be ... held to-night (Friday), in T. of I. Club Rooms ... Business of importance.—J P DUNCAN, Sec. df

UNION REVIVAL MEETINGS. ... The closing morning meeting for ... prayer and praise in Victoria Hall, at 9 30 this ... morning. Evening meeting in Queen's avenue ... Methodist Church, at 7 o'clock. The week of prayer, ... as appointed by the Evangelical Alliance, will ... be observed. Arrangements are to be made to ... hold meetings in several of the Churches—topic ... and place hereafter announced. df

W. C. T. U.—REMEMBER THE ... Entertainment to be given to the ... children of the "Haven of Rest," and their ... parents, at the City Hall, Jan 2nd, at 8 p.m. A ... good pro...amme may be expected, in which the ... school children will take part. A silver collection ... will be taken up to defray expenses. df

SERVANTS WANTED.

SITUATIONS WANTED FOR A ... large dry hardware clerk, 2 dry goods clerks, 3 ... grocery clerks, 10 farm laborers, 10 boys. Also ... several wanted by good employers. Apply to ... Immigration Agency, 48 Jarvis street, Toronto. ... Intelligence office, 6 Dundas street, London. tf

SITUATIONS VACANT.

WANTED.—A SINGLE ... man, capable of taking charge or a bake... ...Loan Bakery, London Out. 1579

LOST OR FOUND.

WOLF SLEIGH ROBE, WITH ... blue lining, lost on New Year's Day. The ... finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving it at ... this office. 1580

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARRIAGE LICENSES CAN BE ... obtained on application at the ... office of EDWARD HARRIS. ...ly

BEAUTIFUL! MORE BEAUTI... ...FUL! MOST BEAUTIFUL!!!—One ... dozen beautiful written cards for 10 cents, one ... dozen more beautiful gilt-edge ... Name on one of the most b... ...s, executed in the ... ...30 art, 8 (10) gilt-edged for 20 cts ... more beautiful, almost beautiful! ... memorials and addresses beau... ...y engrossed. Name elegantly written ... intended for Christmas or New Year ... Address or call on W N YERKS, Do... College, or at 356 Piccadilly st., city. 1580

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL ... Switches made by Mrs. M. Bird, th... ...ican artist, for $5, per copy, cannot ... ...ed in Canada. Factory—No 318 Richmond ... ...Finley

FOR SALE

MAGNIFICENT SALE BY AUCTION ... ...of cows, 3 years old and weighing; Cattle ... ...good condition, and Harness, on Saturday, ... January 3rd, 1880, at 11 o'clock precisely, on Market ... Square, London, belonging to the estate of ... ...ternal, hotel-keeper, London Township. Par... ...rticulars on application to H. E. Nelles, ...cial Assignee. ... London, Dec. 20th, 1879. 1581

CARRIAGE, WAGON AND ... Blacksmith's Shop, with Dwelling House, ...ate in the village of Newbridge, a good ... ...ation, and plenty of orders now, which will ... ...your cash, or satisfactory security. ... ...ALEX. ROBERTSON. 1580

TO PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A ... ...Miller & Richard Plow Paper Cutter in good ... ...der. Will suit all trades. Apply at Free Press ... ...Office. 1580

...ERSE SEWING MACHINE ... ...Needle heart harp ornamental ... ...Office of Free Press. 1580

Christmas Fruits,
...re Groceries
—AND—
...AY GOODS,
...dell & Bro.,
...d, three doors east of the Odd-...ellows' Hall.
Presents.
...ILET SETS
...SES
...RFUMES
&c., &c.,
—AT—
...'S DRUG STORE
LONDON EAST.
London East, Dec. 22, 1879. mwf

FOR YOUR
Christmas Fruits & Holiday Goods
ALSO
Choice Groceries, Fresh Oysters, &c.,
AT THE
NORTH END STORE
G. DAVISON,
720 and 721 Richmond-st., London, Ont.

REAL ESTATE.

BRICK HOTEL FOR SALE, IN ... Parkhill, known as the Tudor House.— ... Large yard, good stabling. First-class business ... stand. With or without furniture. Terms easy. ... —S TUDOR, Parkhill. 436

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT ... for sale; 126 feet frontage by 262 feet deep ... Garden planted with the choicest fruit and orna... ...mental trees, on Albert street. Apply to F. B. ... DUDGEON Gold

LOTS FOR SALE, CHEAP.— ... Woodbridge Estate, Westminster.—TAMES ... FERNON H

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR ... sale, opposite G. & T. Car Shops. Store ... and dwelling, with furniture, will be sold on ... easy terms.—Apply to JOHN MULLEN, on prem... ...ises. 328

BUSINESS CARDS.

LET YOUR FEATHER BED ... be cleaned and renovated by the new process ... in vogue, 1,000 pillows and sheets ... can be made over equal to new.—JAMES F. ... MARSHALL, Practical Upholsterer, Dundas ... street, London. ...

HONORABLE ACCOUNTANT, ... &c.—Office at Dundas street, opposite ... Masonic Hall. Private and business ... matters adjusted with promptness and ... economy. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Entry ...

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING ... HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. ... Cash! This is the place. Cheap Second-... clothing for the million.—Inspection invited. ... Best cash price paid for second-hand clothing. ... JENKINS, 185 Dundas street, sixth side, be... ...tween Wellington and Clarence streets. July

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING ... bought for Cash by SAINSBURY, King ... street, two doors west of Market Square. Also ... Summer and Dealer in Dry Goods, Boots, Hats ... and Bedding, Carpets, Money advanced ... on goods for sale by auction. N.B.—Parties ... wishing to sell wished on, and letters to call as... ...sisted to. ...

W. DODSON, DEALER IN ... FIRST-CLASS MEATS, begs to ... acquaint his friends and the public that he has ... leased that stall at the end of the Old Dundas ... street.—W. DODSON, corner Wellington and Dun... ...das streets. Jly

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM. ... Special attention paid to ... the comfort of guests.—E. C. SIMMONS, proprie... ...tor. 1580y

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, ... Windsor.—First-class in every particular. ... Rates $1.25 per day. Special rates by the ... gentlemen' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry ... Dock.—OWEN & SMITH, proprietors. 1580

MCELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, ... has been leased for a term of years by the ... subscriber, who has refitted and greatly im... ...proved the premises. It is a first-class house, ... travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good ... stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. ROBSON. 1580y

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, ... Ont.—This is one of the best houses in On... ...tario. Travellers will find it to their advantage ... to give us a trial. Farmers' and boarders' rates to ... all trains. Livery in connection. JOSEPH BEACH, ... Jr., Prop. 1579y

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, ... near G. W. R. Depot. First-class in every ... respect. Good accommodation for commercial ... travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. ... Good stabling.—W. H. TURNER. 1580y

RANKIN HOUSE, CHATHAM, ... Ont., first-class house for commercial ... travellers. Free 'bus meets all passenger trains. ... P. J. RANKIN, late of Rankin House, Windsor. 1580y

ROBINSON HOUSE, THORN... ...DALE Hotel, Dorchester, Toronto. JAMES ... ROBINSON, Proprietor. 1580y

LEGAL.

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BAR ... RISTER, Notary Public, etc., Ridge Block ... (Richmond street), London, Ont. 1580

HARRIS, MAGEE & CO., BAR ... RISTERS and Attorneys, Solicitors in ... Chancery, Office—Dundas street, London, Ont. ... Second floor, Ridge Block. ... EDWARD HARRIS, JAMES MAGEE, ... Hon. M. Cell. W. J. CLARKE

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS, ... Importers and Wholesale Dealers in ... BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE, ... 242 and 243 RICHMOND STREET, ... LONDON. ... Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. 1580y

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORT... ...ERS of and Deals in English, German ... and American Hardware, Iron, Glass, Paints and ... Oils, Dundas Street, London, Ont. ...y

LEATHER AND TRUNKS.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., ... DENTIST, ... Office, 110½ Dundas street. ...1577

L. MCDONALD, L.D.S., DEN... ...TIST, Office — Dundas street, op... ...doors east of Richmond street over Dundas ... ...treet. 1580y

MEDICAL.

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., ... London, England, Physician, Surgeon, ... &c., successor to Dr. Dolson, Dundas street, ... opposite Town Hall, London East. 1580y

DR. ANDERSON, OF 34 JAMES ... Street, Hamilton, Surgeon of the 13th ... Battalion, can be consulted at the Revere ... House, London, on the first and third Tuesday ... of each month. Consultation strictly private. ...

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., late Medical ... Officer to the Montreal Field Battery, Medical ... Colleges, Montreal, member of the Royal College ... of Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office and ... residence, corner of Piccadilly. 1580

H. H. NELLES, D.D.S., ... SURGEON DENTIST, ... Office—Ridge Block. 1580

H. MCLAREN, L.D.S., ... SURGEON DENTIST, ... Office removed over Mr. Mitchell's confectionery ... store, opposite Ontario Bank, RICHMOND STREET, LONDON. ... Dundas street, over Mr. Mitchell's confectionery ... Teeth extracted without pain 1580

DANCING.

DAYTON'S DANCING ACADE... ...MY, 189 Dundas street, Gents' class ... every Tuesday. Assembly Wednesday. Ladies' ... Tuesday Juvenile class every Saturday. Private ... lessons given at any hour to suit pupils. Terms ... reasonable. Hall to let for Balls, Parties, &c. ... Address, DAYTON'S ACADEMY, London. ... Ont. Especially—To ladies, who desire to be ... taught Ballet Dancing. 1580

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, PAR... ...LORS OF FINE ARTS, 243 Dundas street, ... London, Ont. Gallery of Art, 243 ... Dundas street, London, Ont. 1580

FINE ART REPOS... ...ITORY, ... Fine pictures for sale ... Office of Free Press. 1580

Merchants Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
356 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont. Importers and Dealers in Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X
CENTS
...of a ten cent sample bottle of ... DARKNESS BRONCHIAL SYR... ...UP I will send you that it is the ... best preparation for the cure of ... Coughs, Colds, Sore ... Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping ... Cough. Large bottles 25 cents. Sold ... by all druggists. Wholesale and ... retail by HARKNESS & CO., sole ... proprietors, 324 and 326 Dundas and ... 325 and 327 Wellington sts., ... London, Ont. 1577

LAGER BEER
PER 5 CENTS GLASS.
ED. LEE,
Late International House Dundas street.

GRAY'S SPECIFIC MEDICINE
TRADE MARK. The GRAY TRADE MARK
English Monk—
ney, an unfail... ...ing cure for Semi... ...nal Weakness, ... Spermatorrhœa, ... Impotency, and all Diseases that ... arise from Self-Abuse; as Loss of ... Memory, Universal Lassitude, ... Pain in the Back, Dimness of ... Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other ... Diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption ... and a Premature Grave. 47 Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire Druggists to send ... to every one. 47 The Specific Medicine is ... sold by all Druggists at $1 per box, or six ... packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on ... receipt of the money by addressing Before Taking. After Taking.
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO.,
Toronto, Ont., Canada.
Sold by all Druggists everywhere.
B. A. MITCHELL, London, Wholesale. ...Lly-wly

—GET YOUR—
Pinnan Haddies, Fresh Oysters
CANNED FRUITS AND FISHES,
AT
J. H. HARDY'S,
Dundas and Richmond streets, opposite ... Clarence's Hotel. ...

Ale's Brewery
ABERDEEN ALE
XXX Porter.
...and. Orders left at the Ale ... Office will receive prompt ... attention. ...Monthly YORK

Old Man's
Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT ... ...nedly

SLIPPERS
Christmas and New Year's Slippers, and all ... kinds of Ladies' and Gents' Fancy Goods Boots ... and Shoes always in stock to order. Repairing neatly ... done. Please call and see.
SAUNDERS & LASHBROOK,
No. 4 New Arcade.

The Forest City Grocery
Corner Talbot and Clarence streets, ... opp. Middlesex Hall, lately occupied by Mr. Wm. Wood.
Groceries, Wines and Liquors.
Highest market price for farm produce. ... Call and satisfy, don't fail to call at the ... Forest City Grocery and see the selection of foreign ... Wines and Liquors of the best brands, done up ... to family, etc.
S. VINCENT.
Directly Corner Wine and Spirit Merchant.

COKEWOOD.

CENTRAL COAL AND WOOD ... YARD, corner York and Wellington ... streets. ...

Both hard and staple wood, cut and sawed ... to your order. ...

Coal of all kinds, well screened, delivered to ... any part of the city. Scott weight. Orders ... promptly attended. Call before purchasing ... elsewhere. ...

A. WATSON, ... Proprietor.

WOOD, WOOD — A LARGE ... quantity for sale, dry and ... cut to any length. Measure guaranteed. ... Orders left at the Gas Works, or at J. D. McDonald's, Maitland street, will be attended to.—Also, COKE, 60 York street. ...Dly

GROCERIES.

NEW GROCERY AND LIQUOR ... Factory Station street, East end of G.W.R. ... Car Works. Carling's and Labatt's ale and porter ... on draught. Also Quetton St. Marin's celebrated ... clarets. Also Quetton's fresh grapes.—JOHN ... McCLARY, Proprietor. 1577

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF ... Marriage Licenses and Insurance ... Agent, Dundas street, opposite Gallen's Grove, ... London East. July

FOR CHRISTMAS
AND NEW YEAR'S CANDIES
—GO TO—
T. J. Booth's
—13—
...LEY'S BLOCK LONDON EAST.
GREAT INDUCEMENTS
IN FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
AT
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
...ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

GRAND TRUNK
Coal and Wood Yard,
...ALEXANDER, ADJOINING THE VICTOR... ...ENS WORKS.
NEW STREET BEE DESIGNS
...Friends and the public ... generally, and to intimate that ... the quality of W. ...

Don't Part With Your Money
UNTIL YOU SEE
WHAT VALUE
YOU CAN GET
—AT—
The Great Dry Goods House
of the West.
NEITHER EXAGGERATION
NOR MISREPRESENTATION,
—BUT—
Straightforward, Honest Dealing
WE ENDEAVOR TO CARRY OUT IN EVERY TRANSACTION.
THE ENORMOUS TRADE!
which we have built up in less than ten years, stands forth as evidence that
THE PEOPLE APPRECIATE OUR EFFORTS!
KINGSMILL'S
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS.
In Every Department Extra Value.
WE CLOSE OUT THE OLD YEAR WITH SPECIAL EFFORTS TO PLEASE OUR PATRONS.
Visit Our Dress Department
Visit Our Millinery Department
Visit Our Mantle Department
Visit Our Silk Department
Visit Our Fancy Department
Visit Our Cloth Department
Visit Our Carpet Department
Visit Our Blanket Department
Visit Our Flannel Department
AND FINALLY, WE ASK YOU TO
Visit Our Table Linen, Napkin and D'Oylies Department
—AT—
KINGSMILL'S,
The Great Dry Goods House
of the West.

...880. WHOLE NO 884

THE CONFLICT AT CABUL.

Stipulations of the Peace Basis of the Rebels.

Baker's Unopposed March Through the Territory.

Submission of Several Native Chiefs.

3 000 Killed and Wounded in a Fortnight.

Cabul, Dec. 22.—Among the stipulations presented by Mohammed Jan as a basis for peace were the return to Indis of the British force at Cabul, and that a promise be given to send back the Ameer, together with two British officers, who were to remain at Cabul as hostages for the fulfilment of the promises.

London, Jan. 1.—The Viceroy telegraphs as follows:—Roberts reports, Dec. 30th, that the force under command of Baker, which left Cabul on the 27th of December, is returning from Kohistan, having destroyed unopposed the fort of the rebel chief, Mirbatcha, which was found abandoned. Several Kohistan and Logar chiefs tendered submission. The enemy's losses in killed and wounded the last fortnight is estimated at 3,000. On the 30th of December Bright made a descent upon some villages whose inhabitants had been prominent in harassing the British outposts, and took them by surprise.

TURKEY.

A BREACH OF FAITH.

Constantinople, Jan. 1.—The Porte has got itself into serious difficulty about the Ottoman lighthouses. When, in 1860, a concession for twenty years was made to a French company, the Porte entered into formal engagement with the British Government that periodical statements of receipts and expenditures of the company should be published, and that the concession should not be renewed without preliminary consultation with representatives of the powers. No statements have been published, and during the Visierate of Kabaieddin Pasha the concession was secretly renewed for an additional twenty years. As this dues are very heavy, and as there is good reason to believe that the company has made enormous profits, the British ambassador has considered it his duty to protest, in the interest of British shipping, against this flagrant violation of the engagement contracted in 1860, by the Sublime Porte.

In consequence of remonstrances made by representatives of the powers, the minister of finance has abandoned his design of taking possession of the gross receipts of the telegraph department. Had the design been carried out, the telegraph officials thought, as in the case of other departments, have received little or no salary, and telegraphic communications with the provinces would in that event very soon be seriously endangered.

GERMANY.

ANTI-GERMAN CANDIDATES AHEAD.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—The returns of the elections in Metz come in very slowly, and the result is yet in doubt, though it is generally conceded that the anti-German candidates are elected.

THE NIHILIST PRINTER ARRESTED.

The alleged capture of a Nihilist's printing establishment in this city has been greatly exaggerated in foreign press despatches. Only one man was found, who was printing a small hand-bill in favor of socialism, and the arrest is considered here as of no consequence.

PERSONALS.

At the request of the Emperor the French ambassador, St. Vallier, is reconsidering his resignation, and it is probable he will remain.

Bismarck expresses no apprehension as to the course the new French Cabinet may pursue.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—There are disquieting rumors here regarding the conduct of the French Ambassador at St. Petersburg, who is charged with violent Russophilism and intriguing against Germany.

RUSSIA

THE CZAR'S FIRST NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The Czar held the usual New Year's reception at the winter palace last night. There was a large attendance of foreign diplomats and dignitaries, though there was a marked absence of the old-time hilarity of such festive occasions. In his conversations with distinguished personages present, the Czar made no mention of politics or the disturbed condition of his Empire. His Majesty is evidently breaking under the terrible cares of State, the threats of assassination and domestic troubles. There is little doubt that the Empress is on her death bed, though her condition is reported somewhat improved. She is subject to intermittent relapses, any one of which may prove fatal.

NIHILISTS TO BE SEVERELY PUNISHED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—It is announced that it is proposed to enact special punishments for persons convicted of propagating Nihilist doctrines among the troops.

THE CZAR AND CZAREWITCH.

At a review of some regiments of the Guards yesterday, the Emperor made a speech to the troops, expressing the conviction that they will serve the Czarewitch as faithfully as they had served him. The Emperor then saluted the Czarewitch.

At a dinner given on the anniversary of the crossing of the Balkans, the honor was entered the ball leading the Czarevina and accompanied by the Czarewitch.

The foregoing is interesting in connection with the recent sensational reports of violent disagreements between the Emperor and Czarewitch.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE DISTRESS IN ENGLAND AND IRELAND.

London, Jan. 1.—The reports from the agricultural districts show that there is considerable distress among the poor class of English farmers, and relief works may yet be necessary for our own poor people. The latest news from the stricken district of Ireland shows that the distress is very general and increasing, and that frightful suffering is anticipated during the winter. It is even reported that very active work will be necessary to guard against famine.

London, Jan. 1.—A Cabinet Council will be held on Saturday. A telegram from Omiah, Persia, reports the famine in all that region increasing daily. Unless strenuous efforts are made to send help from England and America a great number of the population must perish. There is only a two months' supply of food to sustain the people for the next seven months.

The Society St. Vincent de Paul, in France, has received to have a special collin each of its conferences to relieve the distress in Ireland.

SPAIN.

THE WOULD-BE KING KILLED.

Madrid, Jan. 1.—The examination of Gonzales, the would-be regicide, elicited nothing as showing that the attempt was due to political animosity.

A TWO DAYS' STAY.

A fire has been raging for ... Granada, in the neighborhood of the ... brated Alhambra. A number of ... have been burned.

ABYSSINIA.

A CRISIS EXPECTED IN RUSSIA.

The Vatican Decides to Stand Aloof in the Event of Trouble.

Mons. Conroy on Open Unofficial Correspondence with Germany.

Rome, Jan. 1.—Dispatches which have reached the Vatican from Holland declare it is there considered certain that a crisis must come very shortly in Russia, and they beg the Pope not to come to any accord with the Russian Government, but to await events. Recently the Polish clergy were urgent with the Pontiff to negotiate with the Russian Government, which the Holy See has been doing.

Encouraged, apparently, by his success at Paris, Mons. Cimoli, in a strictly reserved communication, proposed that ulterior negotiations with Germany and Russia shall be carried on from Paris, assuring the Pope that he can rely on valuable support from diplomatic resident there. Cardinal Nina does not, for the present, think it will do to commence new negotiations, but the Nuncio will be instructed to labor indirectly in the sense indicated, without, however, pledging himself.

THE TAY DISASTER.

Boisterous Weather Preventing the Search for Bodies.

London, Jan. 1.—Diving in the Tay at the scene of the bridge disaster has been suspended owing to boisterous weather. The railway authorities say there is little doubt that the bodies have been washed seaward. A boat expedition is being organized to search for them.

CENTRAL AFRICA.

A NEW GOVERNOR APPOINTED FOR SOUDAN.

Alexandria, Jan. 1.—Ismail Eyoub Pasha has been appointed Governor of Soudan, vice Gordon Pasha, resigned.

Horse Smuggling from Canada.

A New Industry Discovered by the Chicago Customs Officials.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—The Ostoff House officers took possession, yesterday afternoon, of a valuable horse and phaeton, found in the possession of John B. Gay, 1ord, North Wells street, who is charged with having smuggled the property into the United States from Chippewa, Canada. It would appear from the statements of the Customs officials, that a well-organized gang are actively engaged in this line of smuggling, and have been living fat(?) at convenient points along the border, the better to facilitate their work. A short time ago the attention of the authorities at Washington was directed to this new feature of defrauding Uncle Sam, and a corps of detectives were immediately detailed to work up the particulars and reach the principals if possible. On Tuesday last Mr. George Whitehead, one of the operators stationed at Fort Huron, arrived in Chicago in search of Gaylord, who is said to work, in connection with others, under the firm name of E. S. Joy & Co. It was known that a consignment of horses had been shipped to him in the name of Joy & Co. on Nov. 19 last, coming by way of Buffalo and Suspension Bridge, and arriving here over the Michigan Southern. But a few days ago Gaylord, who is a resident of Detroit, Mich., left for every one of those counted out, whom they saw fit to admit, and thus preserve their majority.

The first number of Fillsbury's new Democratic daily paper, the Standard, appeared to-day. It says:—The coming session of the Legislature will be one of the most important, interesting and exciting ever held in the State for the first time in 24 years. The supporters of the Republican party will be in a majority in both branches and in control of the State Government.

A Magnificent New Steel Steamship.

New York, Jan. 1.—Specifications for an immense steamship of steel have been received here. The new vessel is to be called the City of Rome, and it is intended that she shall be the finest, fastest and largest ship afloat, excepting the Great Eastern. She will be 8,300 tons measurement and will be constructed on the double-bottom system. Her dimensions will be 590 feet in length over all, 52 feet beam, 39 feet depth, and she will have four iron masts, and a power of 9,000 horses. Accommodations for 300 saloon and over 1,000 steerage passengers. She is to be built by the Barrow Shipbuilding Company.

A Horrible Death.

Iona, Mich., Jan. 1.—Mr. Clune, a carpenter at Slaght's mill, near Stanton, was caught in the drive belt while working at the elevator yesterday, and was instantly killed. His horribly mangled remains will be sent to his former home in Pennsylvania.

A Flaw in the Indictment.

Boston, Jan. 1.—A flaw has been discovered in the information of the Grand Jury drawn to indict Charles Freeman, the Pocasset religious fanatic who killed his child, of murder in the first degree. The case was to come up in December, but it is now doubtful if it is tried before the last of the month, and may be it will be considerably later.

Hotel Property Sold.

Buffalo, Jan. 1.—Rush & Bolton, the assignees of the late Jacob T. Pollton, have sold the International Hotel property at Niagara Falls and the furniture of the hotel to Alvah Cinch, P. R. Dyland and H. S. Ware for $130,000. The amount named simply pays the mortgages on the property. An indebtedness of about $10,000 remained against the estate, and the creditors are anxious to know where they come in. There are some indications that the legality of the sale will be contested.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Catharine Weaver, aged 45, living on Osgoode Lane, was so badly burned to-night by her clothes catching fire from an overturned lamp that her recovery is impossible. She was horribly burned on the breast, back and shoulders, and was taken insensible to the hospital, where she now lies dying.

A laborer named Callaghan was struck over the head with a shovel by one Saunders in a low dive early this morning. Callaghan has an ugly scalp wound, which will probably result seriously.

LATEST FROM OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Jan. 1.—A circular has been issued by the Marine and Fishery Department to the effect that in future all matters connected with the laws for the protection and preserving game, other than voluntary ... action of private individuals ... vincial authorities ... Mr. C. H. Carroll evening presented from the Ottawa ... plate by a number of ... with a lot of ... Conservative Temper ... and Sir Leonard ...

Sir Charles Tupper left the city last night. Tilley ...

Wrestling Match at Brantford.

Brantford, Jan. 1.—The wrestling contest between Prof. Duncan Ross, of Scotland, and Labrosse, of Detroit, came off in Palmer's Hall this evening before a large audience. Both men were in good condition, and it was strongly contested from both men. After 2 hours and 5 minutes Ross was declared the winner, having fairly thrown his opponent with a scissors hold. Ross was catch-as-catch-can style, and Labrosse Greco-Roman style, and the latter ... elbow.

The Muddle in Maine.

Gardiner's Recent Action Severely Commented Upon.

A Democratic View of the Situation.

The State House in Charge of the Military.

Legal Notes from Augusta.

Bangor, Me., Jan. 1.—Chief Justice Appleton announced all Associate Justices of the Supreme Court to assemble here to-morrow to consider the question propounded by Gardiner.

Boston, Jan. 1.—An Augusta special says that not a single member of the Executive Council agreed with the Governor in his determination to ask the opinion of the Court on the questions submitted. Pillsbury, too, strongly opposed the plan, but the Governor, backed by Gould, made the concession to public sentiment. But it is safe to say the Governor agrees with the Council that the action of the Court will have no effect on the result. The count is completed and the certificates issued. The questions are so framed it is expected the answers favorable to the Fusionists will be given, and if by any chance a contrary result should take place, nothing can be done about it. Probably Morrill will occur in this opinion. One Fusion Senator-elect, Hobson, of Lincoln county, a Greenbacker, of Republican antecedents, grieved his Fusion friends by declaring that the sole business of the Legislature after organizing ought to be the adjustment of disputed votes, and nothing else should be done until that is finished. Hobson was counted in by himself. The Fusion managers insist that the election of Governor and State officers must be proceeded with, and the elections cases defrayed as usual so as to settle these contested seats and complete the fraud. The bribery investigation on template would be to leave every thing at loose ends and the State without a Governor for weeks, if not months.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 1.—The armed guard remained in the State House only at night, and then not to keep away any one who has business at the Capitol. The authorities explain that such a force is deemed prudent on account of the threats made in public meetings and otherwise of forcible evidence to the regularly constituted authority. It is very quiet here. The Fusionists and Republicans will be here in large numbers by Saturday. It is expected the decision of the Court on the question at issue will be rendered by Saturday.

Boston, Jan. 1.—An Augusta despatch says the Republicans are well pleased that the Governor and Council have submitted many points to the Court, and have a degree of confidence, notwithstanding the ingenuity exercised in framing the interrogatories so as to put the Court in the position of a witness, who is permitted to give only direct answers to such questions as the lawyer conducting the examination chooses to ask. The Court will find a way to indicate its opinion concerning what may legitimately be done under the constitutional laws to secure a just declaration of the results of the election. The same despatch says it is the general belief that the Democrats have arranged for contesting the seats of a number of Republicans, and in case they should determine to settle the election cases before doing anything else, they would turn out another Republican for every one of those counted out, whom they saw fit to admit, and thus preserve their majority.

The first number of Fillsbury's new Democratic daily paper, the Standard, appeared to-day. It says:—The coming session of the Legislature will be one of the most important, interesting and exciting ever held in the State for the first time in 24 years. The supporters of the Republican party will be in a majority in both branches and in control of the State Government.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

The Grangers of Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, are shipping 9,000 bushels of potatoes to England.

An immense number of persons visited Stadacona Hall, the residence of Sir John A. Macdonald, during yesterday.

The G. T. R. receipts for the week ending Dec. 27th were $109,331, an increase of $46,129 over the corresponding week of 1878. For the past half year the increase in the receipts has been $416,000 in excess of the same period of last year.

His Excellency the Governor-General received visitors in the Council Chamber, Eastern Block, from half-past 11 o'clock till 1 o'clock yesterday. A constant stream of visitors seized the opportunity to pay their respects to His Excellency. With the Governor-General were the Right Hon. John A. Macdonald, Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. J. H. Pope, Hon. John O'Connor, Major De Winton, Capt. Rochford and Hon. Mr. Bagot.

MINOR AMERICAN TELEGRAMS.

The ring-ring prison profits for December were $4,059.

Gen. Grant and his crowd are "booming" or "humming" in Augusta, Ga.

Five hundred hatters struck work at Reading, Pa., yesterday by order of the Union.

At Baltimore, Md., yesterday morning, on the British ... Jno. Patterson, Michael McCarty killed Jno. Allen with an iron picker.

The decline of gas stock in England, on account of the electric light, has caused depression in New York. Gas stock fell 15 per cent. there last month.

Three boys belonging to Alliance, Ohio, aged from 13 to 15, were drowned while skating on the reservoir yesterday. Five others were broke through were rescued.

J. Harriman, assistant cashier in Chandler & Co.'s dry goods store, Boston, has been arrested for pilfering. He confesses to have stolen $8

The Free Press.

Friday, January 2, 1880.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Midnight Telegraphic Dispatches, is issued every morning, supplying the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the metropolitan press from three to eight hours in all western towns—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public.

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 5 o'clock a. m., also finds a place in its columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

is issued at 4 o'clock p.m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at TWO CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city; and at St. Mary's, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the Evening Edition free of extra charge.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month.....$ 50
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid.....6 00

Send post office order when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention, all scribers Wishing their address changed must give their old as well as their new address.

Write plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether Daily or Weekly.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts (auction, chancery, mortgage or assignment advertisements not considered part of same) made at the following rates, per inch, in Daily:—

1 Day	$1 00	5 Days	$3 70	1 Month	$6 00
2 "	1 80	6 "	3 90	2 "	11 00
3 "	2 60	1 Week	4 50	3 "	15 00
4 "	3 40	2 "	6 00	6 "	30 00
One Year					$90 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must BE ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page—First day 15c. per line; each subsequent day, 10c. First column, First Page—Births 50c., Marriages 50c., Deaths 50c.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS:—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, headed, 15 cents a line; advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1 25 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long time advertisements.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News correspondence of interesting character is invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE LONDON FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly sealed and full postage paid to insure their delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless which is inclosed and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON ONTARIO.

THE MUNICIPAL CONTEST.

The electors of London have now the power in their own hands. With them it rests whether our next Board of Aldermen shall be an intelligent or stupid body; whether they shall act like gentlemen met to deliberate over the affairs of the city and manage the matters intrusted to them with judgment and sobriety, or like an assemblage of fish-wives, competing for the ... in the use of Billingsgate; and whether ... ment and a prudent economy shall ... ercise over ... ers or waste and ex... rule the roast. If the electors ... e honor and the interest of ... another Board of Aldermen ... similar to the last should be installed, then they have the materials in rich abundance at hand, and their wishes may be easily realized. But it would pay and pay well for those whose property is to be handled, to consider whether intelligence, self respect and business capacity, might not be found useful elements in the character of men who desire to have a hand in the administration of our municipal affairs. It may be a mistake, perhaps it is, but many hold the opinion that to manage the affairs of a corporation like that of London with skill and economy, would require tact, judgment and ability, and yet, judging from experience, it would seem as if a majority of the electors considered such qualifications altogether superfluous.

There is another circumstance which, in our opinion, deserves the serious consideration of the electors at this time, and to which, if they give not due weight, they may have reason to regret it when too late. When men of tried ability and social worth have devoted their time and talents to the service of the city, and this gratuitously, when those services have been discharged with the same ability, painstaking and economy with which they have achieved success in their own private affairs, and when they have shown that their highest ambition was to promote the interest of the municipality and the prosperity and happiness of their fellow-citizens, without distinction of classes or individuals—Then do such men not deserve some other return than personal abuse for all their labors, their anxieties, and their personal sacrifices on behalf of the people? Does Colonel Lewis ... something from this municipality for the time and attention he has devoted to the interest of his fellow-citizens? We allude not to any pecuniary reward for his faithful services, as he has shown by the disposal he has made of the twelve hundred dollars of sal... to which he was entitled as Mayor, that ... terial remuneration he would not accept; but a high-minded man, possessed of a ... but a high-minded man, possessed of a ... position, would feel fully rewarded for ... advantage he has labored, entertained ... grateful appreciation of these services.

But has he had any reason to believe that this grateful feeling is entertained by the electors? On the contrary, is he not justified in believing that the abuse heaped upon him and his colleagues as Water Commissioners by the man who covets the office, is enjoyed and encouraged by the electors, or at least by some of them, and that this is to be all the reward that a man, able, honest and disinterested, has any right to look forward to as the recognition of public services? Do the electors really believe, that this is a right way to bring out a class of men to manage our local affairs—too wealthy to value pickings, too intelligent to be deceived by professional wire-pullers, too honest to wink at petty malversations, too considerate of their own self-respect to descend to rowdyism, and too independent to pocket abuse where they have won gratitude. Never was the office of Mayor of the city filled by a gentleman more anxious to do his best for the benefit of the corporation, and to perform the duties of his honorable office with a more single eye to the good of his constituents than Col. Lewis, and one month from date this will be cordially admitted, but in the meantime, if the electors do not look to it, they will have driven from public life forever, a gentleman whose disinterested ... able services this city can ill afford to ... wards the Water Commissioners, ... ly say—that a body of men ... found in the Dominion of Can... managed a great public ... on behalf of a municipality ... more ... ability, ... and economy ... have these ... and now ... are hounded ... and ... ed, by ... now, only wished to ob... a view to fill ... own ... of the Corporation. ... in ... of ... ...

positions, one at least was candid enough to acknowledge, that where so much money was handled there was always a chance of making something, while another sought it simply for the salary which would undoubtedly have been attached to the office, had gentlemen of this class succeeded in obtaining the position. We have no personal feelings in this matter, we have no personal ends to obtain, but in common with out fellow-citizens we acknowledge a deep interest in seeing the management of our municipal affairs, fall into the hands of men at once honest and competent.

Sir Arthur Guinness, the great Dublin porter brewer, has made large reductions in his rents, and told his tenants he would have done so before but for the agitation. He is determined to do nothing under intimidation. Sir Arthur holds large property in Mayo, bought by his father. They have been most generous landlords; in fact, it would not be possible to name a more munificent and public-spirited family than that of Guinness. At this moment, Stephen's Green, Dublin, a vast area, formerly closed to the public, is being laid out beautifully at the sole cost of Sir Arthur, who would only undertake it on condition of its being absolutely free to all. Sir Arthur's income is not less than $350,000. His father's personality was sworn under $6,000,000. The stout is a perennial fount of gold. Sir Arthur is married to a daughter of the Earl of Bantry, but has no issue. His heir is his brother.

The cost in London of an eight-inch granite pavement is 14s. to 18s. per square yard. Asphalt costs 16s., including concrete foundation. Wood—cypress or pine—costs 15s. Of the horses that fall, 45 per cent. fall on asphalt, 46 on granite, and 11 per cent. on wood. The character of the injuries is lightest in the case of wood. A horse can go with the same expenditure of effort 152 miles on granite, 191 miles on asphalt, and 415 miles on wood. The saving in wheel tires and horse shoes is as 5 to 2 in favor of wood against asphalt; that is, it costs only half as much for horse-shoeing where there are wooden pavements as where asphalt is used. Finally, the advantage of greater durability is on the side of wood as against asphalt.

Buffalo Express:—"Sir Francis Hincks informed a New York Herald reporter in Montreal on Sunday that the feeling in Canada in favor of separation from England is very limited. Sir Francis certainly knows more about it than any of the sensational writers who are trying to manufacture a contrary belief out of nothing, and as his opinion is exactly that of every one of the numerous intelligent Canadians with whom we have conversed on the subject, we cannot give any credence to the flying reports to the contrary.

From the Toronto Telegram:—"If the useless appendages of the legislative machine were abolished, and a course of retrenchment and economy in the public service entered upon, there would probably be less talk of annexation than there is."

Pretty good, from a journal that wants a million spent in Parliamentary Buildings. However, that is what the people want—retrenchment and economy.

The New Testament Committee of the American Bible Revision Committee held their last meetings in New York on Friday and Saturday. It is expected the revised New Testament will be published by the English University presses next year, which is the fifth semi-centennial of the publication of the Wicklif Bible, the first complete translation into the English language.

Free Press Correspondence.

The Civil Service Question.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

DEAR SIR,—I wish to call your attention to some apparent misapprehensions on your part in regard to my late letter on Civil Service Reform.

The whole tone of the editorial in to-day's FREE PRESS would convey the idea that I had undertaken to criticise the details of the proposed Government measure on this subject while the latter is still in nubibus. The fact is, that I have carefully avoided any such discussion of details, and have limited myself strictly to criticism of the general principle of the bill as foreshadowed. You speak of the proposal to constitute heads of colleges an Examining Board as if I had objected to it. You say in reference to proposed stringent enactments to secure the neutrality of officials, "And yet he affects to sneer at such safeguards," &c. Now, the fact is that I do not make the slightest allusion to the constitution of the Examining Board as to the "safeguards" in question.

Again, you say, "The one great fault which Mr. Casey has to find with this measure . . . is that Senators and Members of Parliament, from all political parties alike, may nominate candidates for the competitive examination." You will see by reference to my letter that I do not object to the extension of the patronage to both political parties, but to the retention of patronage at all as a means of giving entrance to the examinations. I urge that these should be open to all persons of properly attested character and prescribed age, as they are in England.

You ask me to inform you what better plan remains behind when all who desire to compete have obtained nominations. None, of course. My objection to the plan I condemned is exactly that it would not admit all who desire to compete, but only such as have influence or favor with politicians. There will therefore be a limitation of political favoritism—to the number of those who obtain nominations, and I am very certain that this limit will not include all, or most of, those who are fitted for the service. You ridicule the idea that there is any danger of American-ising tendencies from your side of the House. And yet it was Conservatives—the mover of the address amongst them—who, last session openly, on the floor of the House, demanded the application of the doctrine, that "to the victors belong the spoils." Whether the numerous dismissals of Reformers, and their replacement by Conservatives, may be taken as a practical carrying out of this theory, is for the country to judge. I need not in this connection dilate upon the late organization of a club in Montreal, composed chiefly of Conservatives of "Americanizing" tendencies. It is sufficient to say that the principle of open competition is now distinctively British, and the introduction met with much opposition from the Tory party of the day. It will be time is not far distant when it parties here generally accepted by both Whether this is in England.

Ottawa Free Press notation received by the not tell. I only ... correct or not I can... Sir S. L. Tilley will be ... not, and that ed entirely on the Engli... ce a bill found... with this hope, as stated ... notice. It is the Globe, that I have ... ritten a letter to ... as announced. If he does, I ... scheme pleasure in giving a hearty ... ll have least one government measure.

In conclusion, allow me to say that would perhaps have given your readers fairer idea of the points at issue had you reproduced the letter you condemn. I think they would have found little to complain of in the tone or matter of the discussion, whether they agree with my conclusions or not.

I remain, sir, yours, very truly,
GEORGE E. CASEY.

London, Dec. ... 1879.

Mr. Minkinnick and the Wrongmen.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—I find the friends of Ald. Campbell still circulating the report to my constituents that during the time I represented No. 1 Ward in the Council I advocated the payment of 75 c. per day to corporation laborers. This I deny in toto. The question was never brought up during the two years I held a seat on the Board, viz., 1876 and 1877, but subsequently, on the 11th March, 1878, when it was recommended by the Board of Works that 75c. be paid to day laborers. Ald. Christie moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Bagley, that the pay of the men be $1 per day. Ald. Campbell supported that the men be paid from 75c to $1 per day. Ald. Christie's amendment was lost, and Ald. Campbell was one of the gentlemen who voted against it. Had I been in the Council at the time I should certainly have supported the amendment of Ald. Christie, as I consider that $1 per day should be the minimum paid to any workingmen.

JNO. B. MINKINNICK.

London, Jan. 1, 1880.

AN IMPORTANT LEGAL ...

The International Bridge Tolls in Dispute.

What the Canada Southern Desires to Pay the Grand Trunk.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 1.—An important case in equity jurisprudence is pending before Judge Wallace, in the U. S. District Court here, which appears to have no precedent in the law books. The contention grew out of a controversy between the Canada Southern Railway Company and the Grand Trunk Railway Company over the International Bridge across the Niagara River at Buffalo. The Canada Southern applies for a reduction of tolls, which the petitioners aver are exorbitant and unfair. The case involves a large amount, and has engaged the attention of distinguished counsel on both sides. The dispute between the two parties is of several years' duration. The difference between the amount claimed and the amount which the Canada Southern Railway considers it reasonable to pay is between $50,000 and $80 000. Every year the Company pays the Bridge Company between $120,000 and $140,000 and the business is rapidly growing. The International Bridge was constructed a number of years ago under the authority granted to two separate corporations, one Canadian, the other American, the charters being given by the Dominion Parliament and the Legislature of the State of New York, respectively. In 1869 the two corporations were merged into one, and assumed control of the bridge. Neither the Canadian Parliament nor the New York Legislature took the precaution to stipulate the rates of tolls to be collected for the use of the bridge, although it was explicitly set forth that all railroads desiring to run its carsover it should have equal rights with each other. The New York Legislature further empowered the Directors of the American corporation to fix the amount of tolls. It is now claimed, on the part of the Canada Southern Railway, that every dollar, except $200 of the stock of the International, its franchises, and rights, have been absorbed by the Grand Trunk Railway, the right to take this purchase having been granted by the Canadian Government without the concurrence or consent of the New York Legislature. The consideration was £30,000. The officers of the Bridge Company are the officers of the Grand Trunk Railway, and the two shares, of $100 each, are owned by the Railroad Company, are held in trust for it. The rate of tolls being collected is as follows: For loaded freight-cars, $1; for empty freight cars, 50 cents; for passengers, 10 cents. This, the Canada Southern Railway claims, is an exorbitant rate, yielding the Grand Trunk at the present estimate, a revenue of $50,000 more than the annual rental of the bridge. The Canada Southern Railway, in one of those letters, petitions the court for a remedy. The prayer is for a lower and more equitable rate of tolls. An Act of Congress provides that, in case of a controversy between the Bridge Company and the railway companies using the bridge, the settlement be effected in the United States District Court. The counsel opposing the petition maintain that the act referred to is unconstitutional, and that the District Court, or any other court, is without authority in the premises. A case involving many of the same points was recently argued in the Canadian Court of Chancery, and now awaits decision. The case before Judge Wallace has been argued at considerable length by the Hon. A. P. Laning, of Buffalo; Adam Crooks, Q.C., of Toronto, and Nicol Kingsmill, also of Toronto, for the Canada Southern Railway; and the Hon. E. C. Sprague and Mr. Milburn, of Buffalo, for the Bridge Company. The controversy is virtually a railroad war between the New York Central and Grand Trunk Railways. Judge Wallace will decide whether he has jurisdiction in the case before there are further proceedings. The counsel will submit their briefs next Tuesday. The question is a very serious one to the railroads interested in the controversy.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

One of Edison's Lamps Burning for 308 Hours.

From the N. Y. Times.

Some 200 gentlemen and ladies visited the laboratory and work-shop of Mr. Edison, at Menlo Park, yesterday afternoon, and were shown the different processes and experiments, by means of which it is hoped that a perfect electric light may ultimately be obtained. It had been announced that Mr. Edison would illuminate the park last evening with his new carbon lamps, and it was with a view to seeing this illumination that the majority of visitors went to the laboratory. The announcement, however, proved to be unfounded. It will be several days yet before Menlo Park will be thoroughly lighted by electricity, but the preparations for this event are rapidly being pushed forward. Lamp-posts are being erected at every available point, and the copper wires, which are to convey the electricity, are being stretched along the sidewalks and connected with the houses. The lamp-posts are of hollow iron, painted white, and surmounted by an oval of glass, in which the carbon lamp is inclosed. A wire runs down the hollow post, and connect with the lamp. Only three of these street lamps are yet burning, two in front of Mr. Edison's office, and one in front of his house. These are kept incandescent night and day, with a view to testing the feasibility of the carbons for horse-shoe. One of the lamps in the laboratory has been burning 14 hours a day for 22 days, and the carbon has apparently lost none of its weight or power of resistance to the electric current. "Suppose," said Mr. Edison, "that on an average each lamp in a house is burned for five hours every day. That lamp has now burned 308 hours, which would be equivalent to over 60 days in an ordinary house. How long the carbon will last I can't say. That is what we are experimenting on now. I am waiting for one of my carbon horseshoes to consume."

There will be no regular illumination of Menlo Park for the present. Each generator of electricity will furnish only 40 lamps, and Mr. Edison has only one generator connected with his 80 horse power engine now. He requires 19 more before he can light the 800 lamps which he estimates that his engine will supply. As each generator is completed, he will add to the number of his lamps, and thus, in time, Menlo Park will be thoroughly illuminated. When this will be the inventor himself is unable to say. In the meantime, all visitors are made heartily welcome at the laboratory, and every facility is offered for the investigation of the new electric light.

..."Well, all things must come to an end," says George Augustus Sala, describing in the London Telegraph his voyage to New York, "and my third Atlantic voyage is over. We have sighted Sandy Hook; we are in the beauteous bay of New York. The good ship, which in bygone days would have landed her passengers at Jersey City, now swings her enormous bulk into a comfortable berth at a pier on the North River in New York itself and within an easy distance of the chief hotels of the Empire City. Ours has been rather an fearful voyage; but my log of it would have been much longer had I been able to ... or write a legible sentence during ... ing seven-eighths of that voyage's continuance. We have had a storm or two—mind—storm, so it appears to my darkened ... day after crossed Queenston. On the Monday ... fternoon ... the shores of Erin I de... was swabbing ... ancient mariner who ... what he thought ... Cynthia's quarterdeck. The reply of the ... weather outlook, ... oracular in its ambiguity ... mariner was much to the point:—'There will it was dinner, 'quoth he, 'had better ... like a good ... I dined as heartily as I could ... till to-day.' ... bed on the ... narrow ... chaos. Monday, ... pitched! How welcomed! How ... we wallowed in ... trough of the ... how some of us were ... from top ... day tumbling about our ... ... and rolling under our berths! ... it has been ... to an end, and every ... Scythia is shaking handily on ... gratuitous ... and exhilarating ... have ... upon the 'good time' which we ... healths ... Champagne is flowing, ... smoking room drunk, and from the ... be's jolly ... the refrain of 'For ... es;' and ... Yellow. And so say all ... Haynes, our ... jovial pledges Captain ... master. One and ... ... that of the New York ... looms ahead—wonder whether I ... Custom House. I ... them as I did at Hoch... my ... But of my fiscal ... ... to tell you in my next ... I ...

Walker's RED LETTER SALE.

Saturday, Jan. 3, 1880.

ASK FOR OUR

Ten Cent Counter,

And See the Following Goods.

4 Gobl Ball Hair Pins	for 10c
1 pair Wool Cuffs	for 10c
1 pair Wool Armlets	for 10c
1 pair Wool Hose	for 10c
1 pair Child's Wool Stockings	for 10c
1 pair Child's Cloth Gloves	for 10c
3 Black Cotton Spools	for 10c
1 Pocket Book	for 10c
1 set tube shable Corset Steels	for 10c
1 fancy Wool Square	for 10c
2 yards Frilling	for 10c
1 linen Handkerchief	for 10c
1 Hemstitched Handkerchief	for 10c
1 yard fancy all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 yard plain all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 skein L. Wool (Baldwin's)	for 10c
2 yards Embroidery	for 10c
1 box Boys' Paper Collars	for 10c
1 box Men's Paper Collars	for 10c
1 Ladies' Linen Collar	for 10c
1 Black Bow Tie	for 10c
2 Towels	for 10c
1 pair Stocking Supporters	for 10c
1 Fan	for 10c
1 Wool Hood	for 10c
1 pair Braces	for 10c
1 pair Earrings	for 10c

Orders by mail promptly attended to.

R. Walker & Sons

South Side Dundas St.,

Golden Lion,
LONDON AND TORONTO.

HOP BITTERS

(ONE GROSS)

RECEIVED THIS DAY.

B. A. MITCHELL

Feathers, Flowers, Mitts,

TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS,

FELT AND VELVET.

A Large Variety of Hat and Hair Ornaments,

FEATHER TRIMMING,

OSTRICH TIPS, BUTTONS AND LOTS OF BARGAINS

At Brunton's Auction Rooms,

Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.

GOTHIC HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1846.

WE HAVE RECEIVED A FULL assortment of

HAIR BRUSHES
CLOTHES BRUSHES
FLESH BRUSHES
TOOTH BRUSHES
NAIL BRUSHES
METALLIC HAIR BRUSHES

From the best manufacturers.

B. A. MITCHELL & SON

114 Dundas street West, north side,
LOCby LONDON, ONT.

New Year's Cards

IN ENDLESS VARIETY

AT ALL PRICES!

ALSO, FINE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW YEAR CALLING CARDS

AT

W. BRYCE'S

168

Dundas Street, London.

☞ CALL EARLY. ☜

Only 10,000 Left Out of 50,000 Imported

MALE TEACHERS WANTED ...

APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED by the undersigned up to

Tuesday, the 6th January Next,

to fill two vacancies in the

LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

1st.—An Assistant Master, who must be a graduate qualified to teach Senior Mathematics, Chemistry and Junior Classics. Salary $1,000 per annum.

2nd.—An Assistant Master, qualified to teach English and Junior French. Salary $700 per annum.

By order,
ALEX B ABBOTT,
Sec'y Board of Education.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS

JNO. A. SCHNEIDER & CO.,

Successors to T H Ferguson & Co., manufacturers of Pure White Wine, Cider and Malt Vinegar.

FACTORY—Pinning street, opp Court House.
OFFICE—88 Dundas street west, London

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

...RIBERS BEG TO ... the public to their ... of Lawn Sprinklers ... ranged at their Works. ... Illustrations of the latest ... Patterns of Fountains, ... CURRIE & SUTHERLAND

...IRELAND AND THE ... REV. JOHN B. JOHNS lectures on ... TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY, in Mechanics' Hall, on the above subject. The following is taken from a review of a lecture by the News Record:—"It was worth hearing, and showed that he author is by no means wanting in that eloquence and power of graphic description for which his countrymen have been distinguished in all generations. It exhibited marks of careful study and patient research, and manifested an acquaintance with the subjects it rehearsed that could only be acquired by much labor. The many quotations it contained from the traditional ballads and traditions gave it a life and distinctiveness well calculated to increase its popularity."—News Record. Admission 25 cents; reserved seats 50 cents. Tickets at Murray's jewelry establishment, Richmond street. A28

Walker's RED LETTER SALE.

Saturday, Jan. 3, 1880.

ASK FOR OUR

Ten Cent Counter,

And See the Following Goods.

4 Gobl Ball Hair Pins	for 10c
1 pair Wool Cuffs	for 10c
1 pair Wool Armlets	for 10c
1 pair Wool Hose	for 10c
1 pair Child's Wool Stockings	for 10c
1 pair Child's Cloth Gloves	for 10c
3 Black Cotton Spools	for 10c
1 Pocket Book	for 10c
1 set tube shable Corset Steels	for 10c
1 fancy Wool Square	for 10c
2 yards Frilling	for 10c
1 linen Handkerchief	for 10c
1 Hemstitched Handkerchief	for 10c
1 yard fancy all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 yard plain all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 skein L. Wool (Baldwin's)	for 10c
2 yards Embroidery	for 10c
1 box Boys' Paper Collars	for 10c
1 box Men's Paper Collars	for 10c
1 Ladies' Linen Collar	for 10c
1 Black Bow Tie	for 10c
2 Towels	for 10c
1 pair Stocking Supporters	for 10c
1 Fan	for 10c
1 Wool Hood	for 10c
1 pair Braces	for 10c
1 pair Earrings	for 10c

Orders by mail promptly attended to.

R. Walker & Sons

South Side Dundas St.,

Golden Lion,
LONDON AND TORONTO.

HOP BITTERS

(ONE GROSS)

RECEIVED THIS DAY.

B. A. MITCHELL

Feathers, Flowers, Mitts,

TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS,

FELT AND VELVET.

A Large Variety of Hat and Hair Ornaments,

FEATHER TRIMMING,

OSTRICH TIPS, BUTTONS AND LOTS OF BARGAINS

At Brunton's Auction Rooms,

Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.

GOTHIC HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1846.

WE HAVE RECEIVED A FULL assortment of

HAIR BRUSHES
CLOTHES BRUSHES
FLESH BRUSHES
TOOTH BRUSHES
NAIL BRUSHES
METALLIC HAIR BRUSHES

From the best manufacturers.

B. A. MITCHELL & SON

114 Dundas street West, north side,
LOCby LONDON, ONT.

New Year's Cards

IN ENDLESS VARIETY

AT ALL PRICES!

ALSO, FINE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW YEAR CALLING CARDS

AT

W. BRYCE'S

168

Dundas Street, London.

☞ CALL EARLY. ☜

Only 10,000 Left Out of 50,000 Imported

MALE TEACHERS WANTED ...

APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED by the undersigned up to

Tuesday, the 6th January Next,

to fill two vacancies in the

LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

1st.—An Assistant Master, who must be a graduate qualified to teach Senior Mathematics, Chemistry and Junior Classics. Salary $1,000 per annum.

2nd.—An Assistant Master, qualified to teach English and Junior French. Salary $700 per annum.

By order,
ALEX B ABBOTT,
Sec'y Board of Education.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS

JNO. A. SCHNEIDER & CO.,

Successors to T H Ferguson & Co., manufacturers of Pure White Wine, Cider and Malt Vinegar.

FACTORY—Pinning street, opp Court House.
OFFICE—88 Dundas street west, London

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

...RIBERS BEG TO ... the public to their ... of Lawn Sprinklers ... ranged at their Works. ... Illustrations of the latest ... Patterns of Fountains, ... CURRIE & SUTHERLAND

Portrait of Christ.

From the London News, Dec. 10.

At a bazaar which was opened yesterday at the Hawkstone Hall, Westminster Bridge road, in aid of the British Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Jews, a somewhat remarkable picture, purporting to be the oldest and finest portrait of Christ extant, was exhibited. The painting was lent for the purposes of exhibition by Dr. Philip, of Rome, who has affixed to it the following description:—"It is very old and wonderful. It was painted from an engraving on a medallion accompanied by a manuscript on parchment, partly in Latin and partly in Greek, giving a description of the marks, person and physiognomy of Christ. It is supposed to be from the time of the early Emperors of Rome, and was kept till lately in the private museum of the various Popes." The portrait, which has been recently restored, represents the head and shoulders of the subject, the head being turned slightly to the left, and the eyes, which bear an expression of great tenderness and dignity, looking upward. It will doubtless form an interesting study for connoisseurs in old paintings.

The Mandalay "Gazette."

There is in Mandalay a newspaper called the Gazette, of which the correspondent of the London News says:—"It is a wonderful paper, this Mandalay Gazette, filling up its pages with announcements of extraordinary dreams and portends, and queer superstitions. Every paragraph begins with a statement of the styles and titles of the Lord of the White Elephant, occupying a quarter of a column, and every event recorded is asserted to have occurred by reason of his sublime power and glory. Thus, if one of the palace sows drops a litter of 21, it is due to the magnificence of Theebaw. If, as happened lately, a plasma at Mesobin begins to develop a head, it is because of the majesty of the Rulers of Land and Sea, and proves his power not only over Upper Burmah, but over the Empires of Pegu and the 'dismal realms of Re-ease,' as the Burmans style ... known ... ...dgers are things unkept when dishonest by a minister."

...If your name is Jennings you will per... haps ... fell ... F...

...ireland and the ... REV. JOHN B. JOHNS lectures on ... TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY, in Mechanics' Hall, on the above subject. The following is taken from a review of a lecture by the News Record:—"It was worth hearing, and showed that he author is by no means wanting in that eloquence and power of graphic description for which his countrymen have been distinguished in all generations. It exhibited marks of careful study and patient research, and manifested an acquaintance with the subjects it rehearsed that could only be acquired by much labor. The many quotations it contained from the traditional ballads and traditions gave it a life and distinctiveness well calculated to increase its popularity."—News Record. Admission 25 cents; reserved seats 50 cents. Tickets at Murray's jewelry establishment, Richmond street. A28

Walker's RED LETTER SALE.

Saturday, Jan. 3, 1880.

ASK FOR OUR

Ten Cent Counter,

And See the Following Goods.

4 Gobl Ball Hair Pins	for 10c
1 pair Wool Cuffs	for 10c
1 pair Wool Armlets	for 10c
1 pair Wool Hose	for 10c
1 pair Child's Wool Stockings	for 10c
1 pair Child's Cloth Gloves	for 10c
3 Black Cotton Spools	for 10c
1 Pocket Book	for 10c
1 set tube shable Corset Steels	for 10c
1 fancy Wool Square	for 10c
2 yards Frilling	for 10c
1 linen Handkerchief	for 10c
1 Hemstitched Handkerchief	for 10c
1 yard fancy all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 yard plain all-silk Ribbon	for 10c
1 skein L. Wool (Baldwin's)	for 10c
2 yards Embroidery	for 10c
1 box Boys' Paper Collars	for 10c
1 box Men's Paper Collars	for 10c
1 Ladies' Linen Collar	for 10c
1 Black Bow Tie	for 10c
2 Towels	for 10c
1 pair Stocking Supporters	for 10c
1 Fan	for 10c
1 Wool Hood	for 10c
1 pair Braces	for 10c
1 pair Earrings	for 10c

Orders by mail promptly attended to.

R. Walker & Sons

South Side Dundas St.,

Golden Lion,
LONDON AND TORONTO.

HOP BITTERS

(ONE GROSS)

RECEIVED THIS DAY.

B. A. MITCHELL

Feathers, Flowers, Mitts,

TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS,

FELT AND VELVET.

A Large Variety of Hat and Hair Ornaments,

FEATHER TRIMMING,

OSTRICH TIPS, BUTTONS AND LOTS OF BARGAINS

At Brunton's Auction Rooms,

Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel.

GOTHIC HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1846.

WE HAVE RECEIVED A FULL assortment of

HAIR BRUSHES
CLOTHES BRUSHES
FLESH BRUSHES
TOOTH BRUSHES
NAIL BRUSHES
METALLIC HAIR BRUSHES

From the best manufacturers.

B. A. MITCHELL & SON

114 Dundas street West, north side,
LOCby LONDON, ONT.

New Year's Cards

IN ENDLESS VARIETY

AT ALL PRICES!

ALSO, FINE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW YEAR CALLING CARDS

AT

W. BRYCE'S

168

Dundas Street, London.

☞ CALL EARLY. ☜

Only 10,000 Left Out of 50,000 Imported

MALE TEACHERS WANTED ...

APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED by the undersigned up to

Tuesday, the 6th January Next,

to fill two vacancies in the

LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

1st.—An Assistant Master, who must be a graduate qualified to teach Senior Mathematics, Chemistry and Junior Classics. Salary $1,000 per annum.

2nd.—An Assistant Master, qualified to teach English and Junior French. Salary $700 per annum.

By order,
ALEX B ABBOTT,
Sec'y Board of Education.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS

JNO. A. SCHNEIDER & CO.,

Successors to T H Ferguson & Co., manufacturers of Pure White Wine, Cider and Malt Vinegar.

FACTORY—Pinning street, opp Court House.
OFFICE—88 Dundas street west, London

Lawn Sprinklers and Fountains

...RIBERS BEG TO ... the public to their ... of Lawn Sprinklers ... ranged at their Works. ... Illustrations of the latest ... Patterns of Fountains, ... CURRIE & SUTHERLAND

Portrait of Christ.

From the London News, Dec. 10.

At a bazaar which was opened yesterday at the Hawkstone Hall, Westminster Bridge road, in aid of the British Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Jews, a somewhat remarkable picture, purporting to be the oldest and finest portrait of Christ extant, was exhibited. The painting was lent for the purposes of exhibition by Dr. Philip, of Rome, who has affixed to it the following description:—"It is very old and wonderful. It was painted from an engraving on a medallion accompanied by a manuscript on parchment, partly in Latin and partly in Greek, giving a description of the marks, person and physiognomy of Christ. It is supposed to be from the time of the early Emperors of Rome, and was kept till lately in the private museum of the various Popes." The portrait, which has been recently restored, represents the head and shoulders of the subject, the head being turned slightly to the left, and the eyes, which bear an expression of great tenderness and dignity, looking upward. It will doubtless form an interesting study for connoisseurs in old paintings.

The Mandalay "Gazette."

There is in Mandalay a newspaper called the Gazette, of which the correspondent of the London News says:—"It is a wonderful paper, this Mandalay Gazette, filling up its pages with announcements of extraordinary dreams and portends, and queer superstitions. Every paragraph begins with a statement of the styles and titles of the Lord of the White Elephant, occupying a quarter of a column, and every event recorded is asserted to have occurred by reason of his sublime power and glory. Thus, if one of the palace sows drops a litter of 21, it is due to the magnificence of Theebaw. If, as happened lately, a plasma at Mesobin begins to develop a head, it is because of the majesty of the Rulers of Land and Sea, and proves his power not only over Upper Burmah, but over the Empires of Pegu and the 'dismal realms of Re-ease,' as the Burmans style ... known ... ...dgers are things unkept when dishonest by a minister."

...If your name is Jennings you will per... haps ... fell ... F...

New Crockery Store!

—THE—

Mammoth Teapot

Is open to the inspection of the public, and invites them to call and examine a complete stock of

Crockery, China,

GLASSWARE,

Lamps and Lamp Fixtures

AND FANCY GOODS,

Which the proprietor is bound to slaughter at

Prices Never Before Heard Of

IN LONDON.

A SPECIAL SALE

Will be opened

DURING THE HOLIDAYS

—FOR—

Christmas & New Year's Gifts.

☞ Give the MAMMOTH TEAPOT a call.

DUNDAS ST.,

Opposite Strong's Hotel.
LOOby

NOTICE.

AS ALL FOOT-POWER MACHINERY have been laid to so high a price that few could get them, has been to considerable expense to make them within the reach of all, and a good no article for work and durability. The Ladies, too, will be pleased with, will turn 12 inches diameter, from two to three feet long, for the small sum of Sixteen Dollars. Turning Bit, Chuck and Wood Screw, Twenty Dollars extra. Fig Saw Attachment, Eight Dollars, is also a complete and useful article. The ordinary price would be Seventy-five Dollars for all. Call and examine them at 310 Dundas street, London. L251

J. WAUD

Manitoba--1880.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL personally conduct a Passenger Party from Emerson and Winnipeg leaving PARIS on THURSDAY, the 6th JANUARY, at 1 p.m. A PALACE SLEEPING CAR will be run from Paris to Winnipeg without change for first class passengers. Time equal to fastest express trains.

A SPECIAL FREIGHT TRAIN for passengers' effects will leave Paris the evening previous to the start, viz., Wednesday, 5th January.

Winnipeg Saturday. Those having freight must send it to Paris by the 31st January, or it will not be taken. Parties intending to go, having freight either in small lots or by the carload should commun

The Free Press.

Friday, January 2, 1880.

Neighbor Jones.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

Thinking wife of neighbor Jones, the head with the stalwart arm—
Lives in peace and plenty on a forty-acre farm;
Hens are all around us with hearts and eggs a-corn,
Only two hundred acres, and still are we not more.

A pretty little farm, a pretty little house,
With a loving wife within, as quiet as a mouse;
Children play around the door, their father's heart to charm,
Neat as neat and tidy as the tiny little farm.

All are in the cornfield, no one idle in the crowd,
Save one stout good-for-nothing by their dim and narrow stable,
Where the noble manners form a gentle thing small.

In the field on Saturday, he leaves no gathered on the morrow, for labor of coming rain;
Rise in joy and gladness, and happy are his family,
Hope the Sabbath holy, his children learn his ways.

Never had a lawsuit to take him to the town,
Nice very simple reason there are no fences down;
Same barroom in the village for him has not a charm,
I can always find my neighbor on his forty-acre farm.

His acres are so few that he plows them very deep;
The hen own hands that turn the sod, its his own hands that reap;
He has a place for everything, and everything in its place;
His stubbing smiles upon his fields, contentment on his face.

Say we not learn a lesson, wife, from prudent neighbor Jones,
And not sigh for what we haven't got—give vent to sighs and groans?
The rich aren't always happy, nor free from life's alarms,
The blest are those who live content, though small may be their farms.

RUPERT GODWIN.

Clara had known them only during the summer of her existence. Their friendship had been very pleasant to her; but she had found no opportunity of testing its quality or measuring its force. She had dined with her friends, and her friends had dined with her. They had killed the fatted calf to do her honor; but while doing they had been perfectly aware that she had fatted calves of her own in the homestead. It was not to such untried friendship as this that Mrs. Westford could appeal in a desperate crisis.

"It is to my direst enemy I must appeal," she thought. "Rupert Godwin has triumphed, and he alone on earth can help me to recover my lost child."

Early the next morning Mrs. Westford started on a quiet street near St. James's Square. On his visit to her lodging the banker had left his card on the table, inscribed with the address of his London abode.

To even this desperate step resulted in disappointment. At the banker's lodgings Mrs. Westford only found James Spence, his valet, who informed her that his master was out of town, and was not likely to return until the following day.

"If Mr. Godwin is at his country-house, I must go down there to see him," Clara said to the valet.

"My business is most important indeed, it is a matter of life and death."

"Unfortunately, madam, Mr. Godwin is at Wilmington Hall," the man answered politely; "and I am sorry to say I do not know to whom I can give information, except that he was going into the country, and would return to-morrow evening."

"To-morrow, then, I will call here again," said Clara, with a sigh of real disappointment.

She turned away, sick at heart, to cross her steps to the dreary lodging, so utterly desolate.

She walked slowly, for her feeble limbs had scarcely drag themselves along. She looked anxiously in her purse; but the sight of hailing any vehicle. The dull fog of her brain seemed to render her thoughts unconnected and wandering. Difficult streets, day with busy people driving hither and thither, lively with the bustling activity which looks like business, swam before her weary eyes, and filled with long stretches that she could on, wending her steps mechanically.

Reached her joyless home. She was in the darkness part of the Strand, when she suddenly heard her name spoken, in a voice which sounded strangely familiar—a that was associated with the happy

She started like a creature newly aroused from some hideous dream, and at flush passed over her wan face.

Hand was laid gently upon her arm. Young man, with a frank, manly countenance, bronzed to an almost Indian hue by exposure to sun and wind, was looking kindly in her face.

"Mrs. Westford!" he exclaimed, "dear Mrs. Westford! Is it really you? I am so delighted to meet you thus—in London, alone."

Clara Westford looked at the speaker with a dreamy, bewildered gaze. The raised face seemed at first strange to her; but the well-remembered voice brought back the past.

She looked at the stranger for some moments in silence; then her lips parted, and she gasped the familiar name:

"Gilbert Thornleigh!"

"Yes; this bronzed stranger was no other than Gilbert Thornleigh, the first mate of the 'Lily Queen.'"

"Gilbert," said Clara Westford; "can it indeed be you?"

"Yes, dear Mrs. Westford; myself, and no other. I have survived the perils of the wreck—the danger and privations of a desert journey in the wildest part of the west of Africa—and have set foot once more on British ground. I can't tell you how pleased I am to see the old streets, the familiar faces, and to hear my mother tongue spoken on every side of me. Need I tell you the delight I feel in seeing you? Why, dear Mrs. Westford," exclaimed the young man, changing his tone suddenly, and looking keenly at Clara's face, "I confess that I am sorry to see you looking so pale and careworn—so sadly altered since I saw you in Hampshire. And your dress—you are in deep mourning, dear heavens! Violet! she is not dead!" The sailor's bronzed cheek changed to an almost livid hue as he asked that terrible question.

"Not dead! No, no; not dead!" Mrs. Westford answered in a strange, half-bewildered way.

"But I am sure some calamity has happened to you," exclaimed Gilbert Thornleigh. "There are traces of sorrow in your face. You are ill. I am sure you are ill."

"I am ill," answered Clara; "the street in which we stand spins round me. I cannot understand what has happened. I meet you here—you whom I thought dead. You were saved, then? You were rescued from the wreck of the 'Lily Queen?'"

"Yes; and three of the crew contrived to swim ashore. We had a hard fight for it, I can tell you, for it was no common squall that sent the 'Lily Queen' against the rock that shattered her. I have old timbers as you'd think, to stand it; even if you were to dash it against the cast-iron border. We had nothing but our life-belts and our strong arms to rely upon, and we had to swim against a fearful [illegible] somehow or other we did reach land. The poor fellows who trusted to the boats went down to the bottom, every one of them, and the ship herself was ground to powder."

"And my husband—Harley. He was no dog; the last to abandon the sinking vessel. I know his brave, true heart. You were saved, but Harley perished."

Gilbert Thornleigh stared at his companion in utter bewilderment.

"Dear Mrs. Westford," he exclaimed, "you are surely trying to mystify me. Your husband was not on board when the ship was lost. Captain Westford did not sail with us in the 'Lily Queen.'"

"He did not sail in the 'Lily Queen!'"

Clara Westford repeated the sailor's words almost mechanically, looking at him with wild, dilated eyes.

"He did not sail! he was not with you when you were wrecked!" she exclaimed.

"No, most decidedly not. He intrusted the ship's papers to me, and I sailed as his deputy. I was at this very moment on my way to the Waterloo Terminus, where I meant to have taken the train to Winchester, fully expecting to find yourself and Captain Westford at the Grange."

"Gilbert Thornleigh," exclaimed Clara, "I must be mad—surely I must be mad. You say that my husband did not sail in the 'Lily Queen!' yet this black dress has been worn for him, and for him alone, since we received the fatal news of the loss of the ship in which he left the Grange on the 27th of last June. Even my husband's face, nor the faintest token of his

To be continued.

A MONSTROSITY.

Official Peformities
Man Who Has Never Had His Hair Tuttle, with Pictures.
Like a Fish.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, of the 27th, writing from Battle Creek, Michigan, tells a remarkable story of the discovery of a monstrosity in the poorhouse of that State, known as "the turtle man." The correspondent says he visited the poorhouse to satisfy himself, as to the truth of the numerous stories he had heard regarding this creature. The keeper of the institution introduced him to the monstrosity, calling the four feet high dwarf, who stood before him, by the name of Samuel Kane. Mr. says:—Kane, at the command of the keeper, managed, by a singular, side movement of the body and crushing his stomach, to get his head by his queer shaped claws, to make a courtesy. As he stood before us, barebacked, he presented the most wonderful specimen of man amalgamated with the animal kingdom that can be imagined. On speaking with him he apparently understood every word, but lacked sufficient intelligence to frame a reasonable answer, just as a dumb brute can comprehend but cannot give an intelligent reply. Its stature is the singular being is short, thick set, and flat rather than round. His legs and arms are short, the hands turning outward, the same as a turtle's, and instead of fingers the widened palm ends in webbed claws. The feet are fashioned in the same manner and when he walks it is with a sidelong, rambling gait, moving the entire side of the body in the manner peculiar to a tortoise. In his actions and talk he has a slow, measured, jerking style. The inside of his dirty claw or fin, which he held out to shake hands with, was of a yellow color, as sure also his foot and stomach, the skin having the same ribbed appearance and color of the under part of a turtle. It was reported that he had a shell upon his back but upon examination it was found to consist of tough layers of cuticle, which, however, are growing harder each year, and may soon become ossified. The peculiar color of different portions of his body some being dark and others white, had to the conclusion that his flesh is multicolored or of different construction in tissue. Although so small he is thirty-two years of age. The most singular and startling feature of the monstrosity is the head which seems but to be a continuation of the neck, with a flat face and head coming to a point on the top, the same as that of a snake. He is almost constantly moving his head or eyes from side to side. The back portion of his cranium is directly perpendicular to the neck, and covered with short, bristly, black hair, but no hair grows on any other portion of the body; no whiskers or mustache, only a few bristles at each corner of his mouth. The nose is flat, like an Ethiopian's. The mouth extends from jaw to jaw, very wide, and furnished with a full set of teeth. He constantly keeps his mouth open, with his large tongue lolling out, and it is this, more than anything else, that causes his unintelligible talk. But the eyes are the most striking feature. They are small, black, and are excessively large and rolling, the pupils small and black, look directly ahead, and possess a wild, startling and fascinating character of the animal at every stage of the story, the likeness being struck so instantaneously that, although the horse was going at a 2 20 gait, the fine line of the white eye was not even blurred. The same principle has recently been applied to the coursing of greyhounds, Mr. Muybridge having been experimenting at ex-Gov. Stanford's mansion, Mayfield Grange, Menlo Park, on the action of the celebrated dog Bulldozer belonging to Nat Brooks, of this city. The cramped and improbable positions of the dog, as shown in the negatives, would scarcely be believed by any one who had not seen the fact recorded by the unerring finger of light." It is usual to delineate a greyhound extended, but these negatives, among other positions, give the animal with his limbs gathered under him, using his strength for the spring. The dog goes at speed by holding him on one side, while an attendant takes a rabbit across the drawn in front of the camera, the ground being covered with a sheet of India rubber, to prevent any dust or pebbles flying up to impair the clear definition of the picture, the moment the dog passes the instant the camera's fine wire is broken, the electric circuit is complete, and the instantly collodion has put the fleeting vision on permanent record. The Occident photographs took all horsemen by surprise, they had no conception of the changed attitude of the animal in certain stages of his flight, and the ungraceful aspect shown when in gathering his strength for the bound, and those dog pictures will create a likewise in the minds of those who have only associated the ideal greyhound with undulating and serpentine grace.

A Dog's Movements Photographed.

From the San Francisco Call, Dec. 29.

It will be remembered that some two or three years ago Mr. Muybridge, the photographer, took a series of pictures of ex-Gov. Stanford's celebrated horse Occident, wherein was delineated the position of the centre of the animal at every stage of the step, the likeness being struck so instantaneously that, although the horse was going at a 2 20 gait, the fine line of the white eye was not even blurred. The same principle has recently been applied to the coursing of greyhounds, Mr. Muybridge having been experimenting at ex-Gov. Stanford's mansion, Mayfield Grange, Menlo Park, on the action of the celebrated dog Bulldozer, belonging to Nat Brooks, of this city. The cramped and improbable positions of the dog, as shown in the negatives, would scarcely be believed by any one who had not seen the fact recorded by the unerring finger of light." It is usual to delineate a greyhound extended, but these negatives, among other positions, give the animal with his limbs gathered under him, using his strength for the spring. The dog goes at speed by holding him on one side, while an attendant takes a rabbit across the drawn in front of the camera, the ground being covered with a sheet of India rubber, to prevent any dust or pebbles flying up to impair the clear definition of the picture, the moment the dog passes the instant the camera's fine wire is broken, the electric circuit is complete, and the instantly collodion has put the fleeting vision on permanent record. The Occident photographs took all horsemen by surprise, they had no conception of the changed attitude of the animal in certain stages of his flight, and the ungraceful aspect shown when in gathering his strength for the bound, and those dog pictures will create a likewise in the minds of those who have only associated the ideal greyhound with undulating and serpentine grace.

COUNTRY NOTES.

LETTER OF THE PAST YEAR.

Another year has rolled its round and it behooves farmers to take a retrospective view of the past year. In comparing their situations with the fluctuations of some other countries they have to say that they be cast in pleasant places. Canada has been free from everything but falls to the common lot of mankind. We have had no wars or pestilence, famines or disasters, political convulsions or regal upheavals, that have taken place in other parts of the world—and, indeed, some of them under the sway of the British Crown. The English farmer has had to suffer through three successive seasons of bad crops—and 1879 has been the straw that has broke the camel's back. The farmers of Ireland are yet in a worse condition; with the failure of crops they live taken advantage of the land leagues and similar constitutional evils to have a general social upheaval, and in addition to bad crops and starvation, have an agrarian war in their midst, which has helped to make matters worse. The unreasonable demands of the agitators, it is needless to say, can never be enforced, unless by a total disruption of the British Empire; so the Irish farmer has no alternative than to accept the situation and make the best of it. Indeed, the greater part of the agricultural population are in actual want, and deserve the sympathy and charity of the more favored farmers in this part of the British possessions. The cities have taken the initiative, and are contributing handsomely; and let not our agricultural populatio be behind, who have been favored with bountiful harvest.

In another part of the Empire, South Africa, a disastrous war has been conducted, and no doubts great amount of misery and desolation have ensued. Russia, one of the largest agricultural empires in the world, is in the throes of a social volcano; her agriculture is suffered through the disturbed state of her political elements by the ferment of Nihilism.

Afghanistan again has been, and is now, in the midst of civil turmoil and war, and whichever way it ends, the resources of the country will be diminished, as agriculture will be crippled, and the general concomitants of war ensure scarcity of provisions and a famine. On the American continent two of the South American republics have been carrying on a naval warfare, the expense of which will come out of the productions of the country, the labor of the tillers of the soil.

Whilst the production of the first necessaries of life in 1879 in these countries has fallen under the average yield of previous years, and famine stares them in the face, our country has enough and to spare. Not only have farmers been blessed with an abundant harvest, but the increased value of the same will be added to their own wealth, but also to the aggregate wealth of the Dominion by increasing its annual production.

Farm property, generally speaking, has been low, but at present it is an upward tendency.

Improvements have been steadily progressing in the way of better buildings, draining, &c., notwithstanding the cry of hard times. Although there has been an average number of failures in other business, Canadian farmers have been prosperous. Indeed, the farmer is in the most secure position of any class in the community, and if he prudently wies his crops and products they can never all fail together, except in the case of a plague of grasshoppers or some other general calamity, and then he must suffer with the rest of the community. But during the last year we have been free from any such calamity, and consequently the Canadian farmers as a class, at the close of 1880 stand in the most secure position of any class in the country.

In closing the year he should take stock of all he has and see where by failures he has been made, and see how he can do for commencing a new year. If the balance sheet does not show in its favor, he should enquire where the leakages are, and on leave to stop them for the future, and above all things start the new year with a clean sheet, all store billspaid and debts collected.

But in all the calculations for he future don't forget your family and displaying in the means of cultivating them and acquiring knowledge. Thinking a harder wer than chopping cord wood, but it pays a farmer a good deal better.

There are ample means of acquiring knowledge, but none so cheap and available as the newspaper. The farmer cannot expect to be successful unless he takes a good family paper; and, dear reader, can you find a better dollar and-a-half investment than taking the WEEKLY FREE PRESS. Did you ever consider how much it numbers of such a paper was worth to you and your family? Not only socially, morally and intellectually, but financially? If you haven't, don't fail to do so at the beginning of the new year and a year's subscription, and see to it your neighbors as you do.

A gentleman in England has discovered that water-cress will grow in dry soil. Some seeds were dropped by birds into his house, which produced plants that grew very finely. The stalks and leaves were smaller than those of plants growing in a spring brook, but were highly flavored.

A Dainty Handkerchief Talks with a Japanese Fan.

A dainty handkerchief and a Japanese fan, the handkerchief carelessly thrust through the fan's sticks, were lying on a chair.

"Well," said the handkerchief, "How do you like this? We have had enough sea air to-day, I should think, and that is the preparation and supply of some one also, semi-hearty dish for its—wonderfish, as it is very rightly called, some dish which may be either hot or cold, but must be either salt or—spicy, and which will give tone to the bread and butter and cake which stereotypical staples of the tea table. Sufaces come as near satisfying all tastes as it is possible to do, and are by no means an unwholesome as is generally supposed. Sweet oil, which is the only ingredient which can be called rich, is rather wholesome than otherwise, and a properly made salad should not disagree with any one. Cream is a very good substitute for oil in the preparation of salad dressing, and fresh, sweet butter is even better—neither of which disagree with dyspeptics, and both of which are easily procured in country places, where good cream is no scarce and dear. There is always something left in the cupboard which will do for a salad, if it is only a dish of cold potatoes. If there is a slice or two of cold meat, or a bit of cold fish, or a plate of cold stew, bones, cold beans, a few leaves of lettuce, a dish of cold greens; in short, the list is so long of things which make a good salad, that it is difficult to go amiss among the usual household supplies.

We will suppose that you have only cold potatoes. In that case chop them finely and heap them in the centre of a platter. Take an even teaspoonful of ground mustard and a saltspoon of salt, and mix them to a paste with vinegar. It is best to use a fork for this, and to mix in a soup plate. Now add the yolk of one egg, being careful not to allow the white of the egg to follow; that you can reserve for your coffee the next time you brown it. Stir the yolk thoroughly through the mustard, and begin to add sweet oil in small portions, not more that a teaspoonful at once, but add constantly as you mix. If the dressing becomes too hard or looks stringy, add a spoonful of vinegar from time to time, but not often. It should become a light, creamy mass, and it will if it is properly stirred; and you go on adding oil and vinegar until you have the necessary quantity, when you taste to see if it is sufficiently salt or sour, and if not, add either salt or vinegar as you wish. Pour this mixture over the potatoes, smoothing it with a knife blade.

Now, if you wish to impress your family with the idea that this is something very fine, you had better make a border of crisp lettuce leaves around the salad, by pushing the stems of the leaves underground, and if you can find a stray radish in the garden, cut it in thin slices and lay them in figures over the surface. The half of the egg minced very fine and mixed with the potatoes, is, to the masculine palate, a great addition to the above dish. A herring split into fibres and added will also meet with general favor. And, in short, there are numberless, little plain potato salad is the canvas, the groundwork for embroidery, the field upon which you may exercise your fancy and your genius. If you have a slice of cold corned beef, or ham, or cold lamb, or mutton, chop them and add to the potatoes. If you have a cucumber, slice that and put it in the dish. If you have cold beans, or peas, or boiled beets, or onions; and, in short, make your salad of what you please, but make it well.

Furs for Winter Use.

A great novelty has made its appearance in Paris, and already two specimens have found their way to London; these are sa*mis* skins that whole costumes of fur! As they are to be worn by ladies well known as leaders of fashion, there is hardly any doubt but what the two I describe will lead to the introduction of others. One is a carriage dress of rich brown sealskin, the short skirt cut en fourreau; it is open in the centre of the front and at each side, over an underskirt, covered to the height of the openings with satin the color of the fur, in flat plaits. Tunics are left loose about nine inches from the edge. The coatee opening is not so high as the side ones, and all three are strapped across with fur. Mr. Gutzard, for all the world! How did she get to him?"

"Why," said the fan, slyly, "she talked to a gold braid scraps; the Rabbi Isaque is open at the back, with a fan of satin in the space. The really fitting sleeves are of plaited satin, with deep seal cuffs. A deep cape of sealskin, toque of the same, with bow of gold braid and two humming birds, complete this charming dress. The other fur costume is of grey Astrachan, and is an indoor dress. It is open to the waist in front, over a couliee skirt of satin the same color. At the back it opens to the bend of the figure, with a fan-shaped train of plaited satin, filling the opening. The bodice is of Astrachan, open over a couliee satin waistcoat, and the sleeves are of puffed satin, three bouillonnes separated by silver braids. This innovation really looks as if we meant to be comfortable this winter as well as elegant, and though to many purses the expenses of a fur toilleite would be impossible, very warm and good effects may be produced by employing plush, or the new sealskin cloth. While on the subject of fare, I can confidently say they will be worn in greater quantities than ever. The cachemire or silk cloaks lined with fur are simple necessities as wraps; the deep pelerines are also sine qua non, and enable many cloaks to be worn that would otherwise not be warm enough. Sealskin never has been a dress fur for cloaks, but a paletot of the long cloak, with sealskin sleeves of this, makes a very useful garment for walking dresses and shopping costumes. Paletines and muffs are by no means confined to fur, velvet and plush are much employed for them; most of these are lined throughout with fur, and not lined, thickly quilted satin is used instead. Bonnets, muffs and pelerines are often made to correspond, and are most fashionably worn; they can be arranged so as to wear with either dress. Several dinner dresses have been worn velvet muff lined with sealskin, and a pelerine to match; the latter should not be large, but rather more than half-way to the upright collar.—Warehousemen and Drapers' Trade Journal.

What Is a Cold?

It is startling to discover how little we know about the commoner forms of disease. For example, a "cold;" what is it? How it it produced, and in what does it consist? It is easy to say a cold is a chill. A chill of what part of the organism? We know by daily experience that the body as a whole, or any of its parts, may be reduced to a considerably lower temperature than will suffice to give a man a cold if the so-called chill be inflicted upon the whole body suddenly. Is it, then, the suddenness of a reduction of temperature that causes the cold? It would be strange if it were so, because few of the most susceptible of mortals would take cold from simply handling a piece of cold metal or accidental contact with ice. The truth would seem to be that what we call cold taking is the result of a sufficient impression of cold to reduce the vital energy of nerve centres presiding over the functions in special organs. If this be the fact, it is easy to see why nature has provided the stimulus of a strong fit of sneezing to rouse the dormant centres and enable them at once to resume work and avoid evil consequences. This explains why the worst effects of cold do not, as a rule, follow upon a "chill" which excites much sneezing. Shivering is a less effective convulsion to restore the paralyzed nervous energy, but in a lower degree it may answer the same purpose: The shivering that results from the effect of a poison on the nervous centres is a totally different matter. We speak only of the quick, muscular agitation and teeth-chattering which occur whenever the body is exposed to cold, and evil results do not ensue. It follows from what we have said that the natural indication to ward off the effects of a chill is to restore the vital energy of the nerve centres, and there is no more potent influence by which to attain this object than a strong and sustained effort of the will. The man who resolves not to take cold seldom does.—The Lancet.

..The harvesting of the carrot crops can be facilitated by running a plow on one side of the rows, when the roots are easily removed by hand. The tops are then cut off, and surface moisture from the roots dried by exposure to the sun a day or two, when they may be stored in a cellar, out of doors, or in pits, like turnips and potatoes. Carrots having a greater tendency to decay than many roots, should never be stored in great bulk, but placed in small heaps only, and kept at as low a temperature as possible above the freezing point. On the approach of warm weather they incline to sprout, if left in bulk; hence, when it is desired to preserve them longer, the crown ought to be cut off and the roots spread in a cool, dry place. Horses thrive well on roots given judiciously with other food, and are also excellent for work.

GETTING UP A RELISH.

ONE BRANCH OF COOKERY WHICH IS FREQUENTLY OVERLOOKED.

Aunt Prudence in the American Grocer says there is one branch of cookery which is rather apt to be overlooked, and that is the preparation and supply of some one nice, semi-hearty dish for tea—something relish, as it is very rightly called, some dish which may be either hot or cold, but must be either salt or—spicy, and which will give tone to the bread and butter and cake which stereotypical staples of the tea table. Sufaces come as near satisfying all tastes as it is possible to do, and are by no means an unwholesome as is generally supposed. Sweet oil, which is the only ingredient which can be called rich, is rather wholesome than otherwise, and a properly made salad should not disagree with any one. Cream is a very good substitute for oil in the preparation of salad dressing, and fresh, sweet butter is even better—neither of which disagree with dyspeptics, and both of which are easily procured in country places, where good cream is no scarce and dear. There is always something left in the cupboard which will do for a salad, if it is only a dish of cold potatoes. If there is a slice or two of cold meat, or a bit of cold fish, or a plate of cold stew, bones, cold beans, a few leaves of lettuce, a dish of cold greens; in short, the list is so long of things which make a good salad, that it is difficult to go amiss among the usual household supplies.

We will suppose that you have only cold potatoes. In that case chop them finely and heap them in the centre of a platter. Take an even teaspoonful of ground mustard and a saltspoon of salt, and mix them to a paste with vinegar. It is best to use a fork for this, and to mix in a soup plate. Now add the yolk of one egg, being careful not to allow the white of the egg to follow; that you can reserve for your coffee the next time you brown it. Stir the yolk thoroughly through the mustard, and begin to add sweet oil in small portions, not more that a teaspoonful at once, but add constantly as you mix. If the dressing becomes too hard or looks stringy, add a spoonful of vinegar from time to time, but not often. It should become a light, creamy mass, and it will if it is properly stirred; and you go on adding oil and vinegar until you have the necessary quantity, when you taste to see if it is sufficiently salt or sour, and if not, add either salt or vinegar as you wish. Pour this mixture over the potatoes, smoothing it with a knife blade.

Now, if you wish to impress your family with the idea that this is something very fine, you had better make a border of crisp lettuce leaves around the salad, by pushing the stems of the leaves underground, and if you can find a stray radish in the garden, cut it in thin slices and lay them in figures over the surface. The half of the egg minced very fine and mixed with the potatoes, is, to the masculine palate, a great addition to the above dish. A herring split into fibres and added will also meet with general favor. And, in short, there are numberless, little plain potato salad is the canvas, the groundwork for embroidery, the field upon which you may exercises your fancy and your genius. If you have a slice of cold corned beef, or ham, or cold lamb, or mutton, chop them and add to the potatoes. If you have a cucumber, slice that and put it in the dish. If you have cold beans, or peas, or boiled beets, or onions; and, in short, make your salad of what you please, but make it well.

Furs for Winter Use.

A great novelty has made its appearance in Paris, and already two specimens have found their way to London; these are *sa*mis skins that whole costumes of fur! As they are to be worn by ladies well known as leaders of fashion, there is hardly any doubt but what the two I describe will lead to the introduction of others. One is a carriage dress of rich brown sealskin, the short skirt cut en fourreau; it is open in the centre of the front and at each side, over an underskirt, covered to the height of the openings with satin the color of the fur, in flat plaits. Tunics are left loose about nine inches from the edge. The coatee opening is not so high as the side ones, and all three are strapped across with fur. Mr. Gutzard, for all the world! How did she get to him?"

"Why," said the fan, slyly, "she talked to a gold braid scraps; the Rabbi Isaque is open at the back, with a fan of satin in the space. The really fitting sleeves are of plaited satin, with deep seal cuffs. A deep cape of sealskin, toque of the same, with bow of gold braid and two humming birds, complete this charming dress. The other fur costume is of grey Astrachan, and is an indoor dress. It is open to the waist in front, over a couliee skirt of satin the same color. At the back it opens to the bend of the figure, with a fan-shaped train of plaited satin, filling the opening. The bodice is of Astrachan, open over a couliee satin waistcoat, and the sleeves are of puffed satin, three bouillonnes separated by silver braids. This innovation really looks as if we meant to be comfortable this winter as well as elegant, and though to many purses the expenses of a fur toilleite would be impossible, very warm and good effects may be produced by employing plush, or the new sealskin cloth. While on the subject of fare, I can confidently say they will be worn in greater quantities than ever. The cachemire or silk cloaks lined with fur are simple necessities as wraps; the deep pelerines are also sine qua non, and enable many cloaks to be worn that would otherwise not be warm enough. Sealskin never has been a dress fur for cloaks, but a paletot of the long cloak, with sealskin sleeves of this, makes a very useful garment for walking dresses and shopping costumes. Paletines and muffs are by no means confined to fur, velvet and plush are much employed for them; most of these are lined throughout with fur, and not lined, thickly quilted satin is used instead. Bonnets, muffs and pelerines are often made to correspond, and are most fashionably worn; they can be arranged so as to wear with either dress. Several dinner dresses have been worn velvet muff lined with sealskin, and a pelerine to match; the latter should not be large, but rather more than half-way to the upright collar.—Warehousemen and Drapers' Trade Journal.

What Is a Cold?

It is startling to discover how little we know about the commoner forms of disease. For example, a "cold;" what is it? How it it produced, and in what does it consist? It is easy to say a cold is a chill. A chill of what part of the organism? We know by daily experience that the body as a whole, or any of its parts, may be reduced to a considerably lower temperature than will suffice to give a man a cold if the so-called chill be inflicted upon the whole body suddenly. Is it, then, the suddenness of a reduction of temperature that causes the cold? It would be strange if it were so, because few of the most susceptible of mortals would take cold from simply handling a piece of cold metal or accidental contact with ice. The truth would seem to be that what we call cold taking is the result of a sufficient impression of cold to reduce the vital energy of nerve centres presiding over the functions in special organs. If this be the fact, it is easy to see why nature has provided the stimulus of a strong fit of sneezing to rouse the dormant centres and enable them at once to resume work and avoid evil consequences. This explains why the worst effects of cold do not, as a rule, follow upon a "chill" which excites much sneezing. Shivering is a less effective convulsion to restore the paralyzed nervous energy, but in a lower degree it may answer the same purpose: The shivering that results from the effect of a poison on the nervous centres is a totally different matter. We speak only of the quick, muscular agitation and teeth-chattering which occur whenever the body is exposed to cold, and evil results do not ensue. It follows from what we have said that the natural indication to ward off the effects of a chill is to restore the vital energy of the nerve centres, and there is no more potent influence by which to attain this object than a strong and sustained effort of the will. The man who resolves not to take cold seldom does.—The Lancet.

..The harvesting of the carrot crops can be facilitated by running a plow on one side of the rows, when the roots are easily removed by hand. The tops are then cut off, and surface moisture from the roots dried by exposure to the sun a day or two, when they may be stored in a cellar, out of doors, or in pits, like turnips and potatoes. Carrots having a greater tendency to decay than many roots, should never be stored in great bulk, but placed in small heaps only, and kept at as low a temperature as possible above the freezing point. On the approach of warm weather they incline to sprout, if left in bulk; hence, when it is desired to preserve them longer, the crown ought to be cut off and the roots spread in a cool, dry place. Horses thrive well on roots given judiciously with other food, and are also excellent for work.

Trade, Traffic, and Finance.

Latest Notes by Telegraph and Mail.

AN ELECTRIC LIGHT SOLD.

From the Cleveland Herald, Dec. 30th.

Mr. Charles F. Brush, the inventor of the Brush Electric Light, completed negotiations yesterday for the sale of his wonderful patent to a company of wealthy capitalists in London, England. Mr. Brush receives for his patent the sum of £80,000, or $150,000. The transfer only gives the purchasers the privilege of manufacturing the light in England and the British colonies. Negotiations for the sale have been in progress for some weeks past, but it was only yesterday that a letter was received from some of the London parties, announcing their willingness to accept the offer of sale made them by Mr. Brush.

The capitalists who have secured the patent have been examining and experimenting with several different lights during the past couple of years, but finally decided to purchase the patent of the Cleveland genius. The London parties have ordered the Telegraph Supply Company of this city to manufacture for them the machinery necessary to properly introduce the light and put it into operation in England.

Mr. Brush, it is understood, is carrying on further negotiations with the same English company, by which they are to dispose of his remaining foreign patents, seven in number. The selecting of Mr. Brush's light in preference to that of the great inventor Edison is a compliment for which not only the inventor but every citizen of Cleveland may well feel proud.

CONTRACT CARGOES AND FOUNDERING STEAMSHIPS.

In consequence of the great loss of Atlantic cargo steamers within the past three months, through cargoes of wheat in bulk shifting and causing them to capsize and founder, there is not only an extensive movement in the north of England on the part of the shipmasters, but also among iron steamship owner themselves, who are their own underwriters, to put an end to the mischief. Mr. W. Dickinson, of the Quayside, Newcastle, an extensive iron shipowner, has drawn up a petition prepared by that gentleman will be submitted that it may be passed to compel all grain shipments to be made in bags to prevent vessels shifting their cargoes at sea. The cost of bags would be trifling. They could be resold at nearly cost price in England, or they might be reserved for future voyages. The weight of these bags would be very little, not much more than that of the modern shifting boards now in use, and which have proved quite insufficient to keep cargoes steady.—London Times.

A BREAK IN OCEAN STEAMER RATES.

New York, December 31.—Rates of ocean freights by steamer have dropped to a point lower than ever reached before, namely, three pence sterling per bushel on grain to Liverpool. This is in consequence of a break in the combination of steamship companies, who, until now, have refused to accept a lower rate than the minimum of four pence per bushel agreed upon three months or more ago. The conference rate, as it is called, continued in force all through the variations in the freight rates until the movement of grain for export became so much reduced that European steamers had the alternative of leaving New York in ballast or making a concession equal to 25 per cent. Even now there is but little perceptible movement in grain exports, holders remaining firm.

CANADIAN EXPORTS

A Liverpool paper of the 6th inst. says:—"For some weeks past Canadian potatoes, in large numbers, have been arriving in Liverpool, finding a ready market, and realizing fair prices. Now, however, the short skirt cut en fourreau; it is open in the centre of the front and at each side, over an underskirt, covered to the height of the openings with satin the color of the fur, in flat plaits. Tunics are left loose about nine inches from the edge. The coatee opening is not so high as the side ones, and all three are strapped across with fur. Mr. Gutzard, for all the world! How did she get to him?"

"Why," said the fan, slyly, "she talked to a gold braid scraps; the Rabbi Isaque is open at the back, with a fan of satin in the space. The really fitting sleeves are of plaited satin, with deep seal cuffs. A deep cape of sealskin, toque of the same, with bow of gold braid and two humming birds, complete this charming dress. The other fur costume is of grey Astrachan, and is an indoor dress. It is open to the waist in front, over a couliee skirt of satin the same color. At the back it opens to the bend of the figure, with a fan-shaped train of plaited satin, filling the opening. The bodice is of Astrachan, open over a couliee satin waistcoat, and the sleeves are of puffed satin, three bouillonnes separated by silver braids. This innovation really looks as if we meant to be comfortable this winter as well as elegant, and though to many purses the expenses of a fur toilleite would be impossible, very warm and good effects may be produced by employing plush, or the new sealskin cloth. While on the subject of fare, I can confidently say they will be worn in greater quantities than ever. The cachemire or silk cloaks lined with fur are simple necessities as wraps; the deep pelerines are also sine qua non, and enable many cloaks to be worn that would otherwise not be warm enough. Sealskin never has been a dress fur for cloaks, but a paletot of the long cloak, with sealskin sleeves of this, makes a very useful garment for walking dresses and shopping costumes. Paletines and muffs are by no means confined to fur, velvet and plush are much employed for them; most of these are lined throughout with fur, and not lined, thickly quilted satin is used instead. Bonnets, muffs and pelerines are often made to correspond, and are most fashionably worn; they can be arranged so as to wear with either dress. Several dinner dresses have been worn velvet muff lined with sealskin, and a pelerine to match; the latter should not be large, but rather more than half-way to the upright collar.—Warehousemen and Drapers' Trade Journal.

What Is a Cold?

It is startling to discover how little we know about the commoner forms of disease. For example, a "cold;" what is it? How it it produced, and in what does it consist? It is easy to say a cold is a chill. A chill of what part of the organism? We know by daily experience that the body as a whole, or any of its parts, may be reduced to a considerably lower temperature than will suffice to give a man a cold if the so-called chill be inflicted upon the whole body suddenly. Is it, then, the suddenness of a reduction of temperature that causes the cold? It would be strange if it were so, because few of the most susceptible of mortals would take cold from simply handling a piece of cold metal or accidental contact with ice. The truth would seem to be that what we call cold taking is the result of a sufficient impression of cold to reduce the vital energy of nerve centres presiding over the functions in special organs. If this be the fact, it is easy to see why nature has provided the stimulus of a strong fit of sneezing to rouse the dormant centres and enable them at once to resume work and avoid evil consequences. This explains why the worst effects of cold do not, as a rule, follow upon a "chill" which excites much sneezing. Shivering is a less effective convulsion to restore the paralyzed nervous energy, but in a lower degree it may answer the same purpose: The shivering that results from the effect of a poison on the nervous centres is a totally different matter. We speak only of the quick, muscular agitation and teeth-chattering which occur whenever the body is exposed to cold, and evil results do not ensue. It follows from what we have said that the natural indication to ward off the effects of a chill is to restore the vital energy of the nerve centres, and there is no more potent influence by which to attain this object than a strong and sustained effort of the will. The man who resolves not to take cold seldom does.—The Lancet.

..The harvesting of the carrot crops can be facilitated by running a plow on one side of the rows, when the roots are easily removed by hand. The tops are then cut off, and surface moisture from the roots dried by exposure to the sun a day or two, when they may be stored in a cellar, out of doors, or in pits, like turnips and potatoes. Carrots having a greater tendency to decay than many roots, should never be stored in great bulk, but placed in small heaps only, and kept at as low a temperature as possible above the freezing point. On the approach of warm weather they incline to sprout, if left in bulk; hence, when it is desired to preserve them longer, the crown ought to be cut off and the roots spread in a cool, dry place. Horses thrive well on roots given judiciously with other food, and are also excellent for work.

Markets & Commercial Matters

The subject of especial care. This department is not confined to a bare enumeration of prevailing rates, but is furnished with exact information concerning the course of trade, manufactures and markets in Europe, the United States, Canada and the Australian colonies. The latest quotations (by telegraph) from the New York, Chicago and other leading Canadian markets are given, thus informing the farmer and general reader daily of what is going on at the moment, but enabling them to anticipate correctly the rise and fall in prices.

British & Foreign Intelligence finds a liberal attention, all the leading news items being given; the whole comprising during the year more than 3,000 Columns of letter press matter, being the largest amount of reading furnished by any weekly journal in the world, at an insignificant cost.

Week by week our columns are furnished with a happy selection of

Country Notes.

Under this department are included items of much interest to the farmer. Each succeeding week finds the most appreciative matter, and a great deal more is given to it, so that useful hints and current knowledge are combined.

Boys' and Girls' Department.

This column is illustrated, and contains matter not only calculated to amuse but to sharpen the wits of the young folks, and for those

J. M LONGAN & CO.,
Grocers,
WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS, 145
DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.
Friday, January 2, 1880.

HOLIDAY PRINTING.

The FREE PRESS Job Office has recently added to its facilities for the execution of Job Printing some excellent new machinery, while a succession of the newest styles of plain and artistic type is provided for. Holiday Printing takes precedence just now.

TRUSTEE ELECTION AT HYDE PARK.—The school meeting at Hyde Park on Wednesday resulted in the election of Mr. James Fisher as Trustee. No action was taken on the proposed Township Board of Trustees, and no opinions expressed pro or con.

DOMINION ALLIANCE.—The fourth quarterly meeting of the General Executive of the Alliance will be held in the Victoria Hall, London, on Thursday, the 8th of January, at 3 o'clock. It is understood that important questions relating to the Canada Temperance Act will be brought before the meeting.

INQUEST.—Coroner Moore held an inquest at the County Jail yesterday forenoon on the body of an aged colored man named Miner, who died in that institution on Tuesday night. Mr. James Castle was chosen foreman of the jury. After hearing the statements of Dr. Hobbs and Mr. Kelly, the turnkey, the jury returned a verdict that deceased had died from natural causes.

POLICE COURT NOTES.—The New Year at this institution opened auspiciously, if the expression may be allowed in such a connection. There were two drunks, a man and a woman, and the usual ceremony was allowed them to "turn over the new leaf" at the beginning of the year. Thomas Neal, an account of whose escape and recapture was given in yesterday's issue, was remanded for examination until the 8th, and George K. Hunt till the 3rd inst.

GRAND ELECTION.—At the last regular meeting of Union Grange, No. 309, Glanstone, the following members were elected officers:—Bro. S. T. Pettit, Master; Bro. Neil Campbell, Overseer; Bro. A. H. Secord, Lecturer; Bro. John Pettit, Steward; Bro. Geo. Smith, Chaplain Bro. W. S. Mosley, Treasurer; Bro. Geo. W. Francis, Secretary; Bro. Geo. Pettit, Gatekeeper; Sister W. S. Tooley, Ceres; Sis. S. T. Pettit, Pomona; Sis. Geo. Smith, Flora; Sis. G. W. Francis, Lady Assistant Steward. Bro. G. W. Francis was elected delegate to Division Grange.

A LEGISLATOR'S RIDE.—The Renfrew (Man.) International of the 25th ult. says:—"Mr. Thos. Greenway, M.P.P., for Pembina Mountain, has arrived in town from Crystal City. On Tuesday he rode twenty-four miles without stopping to warm, and it was thirty degrees below zero. He thinks his Ontario friends will scarcely credit such a thing as possible. Mr. Greenway will return in a few days to Ontario, to remain until the Manitoba Legislature is convened. He predicts an immense immigration to the Rock Lake and Turtle Mountain region next summer."

STEALING CLOTHES.—A man named Jas. Watson, who had been in the employ of a Mr. Young, of Colborne, was arrested at Londesboro' a few days since, on a charge of carrying away a suit of clothes belonging to his employer. It seems that the suit had been lent him for some purpose, when he carried it away. He put up at Swarts' Hotel, Clinton, to which he was tracked, and then took the line of the G. W. R. and started north. Mr. Swarts followed on horseback, by the road, arriving at Londesboro' just as the fellow was about to step on a train. He was arrested, brought back, and examined before Messrs. Searle and McGarva, who committed him for trial.

A CANINE MAIL CARRIER.—The Detroit Free Press says:—The conveyance that carries Her Majesty's mail in the Dominion generally has the words "Royal Mail" inscribed on it, even if it is but the humble hand-cart which is used in some of the smaller towns. The words are scarlet and the golden crown thus surmounts them; form a sort of sign-painter's splendor that never fails to elicit rural admiration. There is, however, one vehicle that transports Her Majesty's mail that revels not in the grandeur of paint and varnish. This conveyance can be seen by any of the passengers on any mail train on the Great Western Railroad. It is a large black Newfoundland dog, and it appears as regularly as the train at Glencoe Station. The dog seems to be conscious that he is a servant of her august Majesty Queen Victoria, and a link in the great postal chain that surrounds the world, and he will permit no undue familiarity on the part of unofficial citizens. He stands there with great dignity until the mail bag is thrown on the platform, when he picks it up and carries it to the post office, three or four blocks away.

PRESBYTERIAN REUNION AT HYDE PARK.—On New Year's Eve a Sabbath School reunion was held at the Presbyterian Church, Hyde Park. The church was tastefully decorated with cedar wreaths around the sides; and two large pine trees in front of the pulpit were loaded with costly presents for the pupils and teachers, showing an interchange of good feeling. The committee of ladies, consisting of Misses Mary McKenzie, Bessie McKenzie, Lizzie Forbes, Maggie Ramsay, Mary Thorburn, Kate Barclay, and Mesdames McMillan and Thorburn, made ample preparations for the juvenile taste, with nice stockings full of candies, pop corn, ginger snaps, &c. The Rev. Alex. Henderson, pastor of the congregation, presided, and delivered the various presents to those in attendance, and made some happy and cheery remarks to each recipient. The church was well filled with different shades of religion, and all took a hearty interest in the proceedings. The recitations and singing by the children were well rendered, and called forth frequent applause. An enjoyable time was spent by all.

PLEASANT FAMILY REUNION.—A family gathering occurred at the residence of Mr. George Parkins, Hyde Park, a few evenings since. The family have been scattered, and have not met together for many years until the evening alluded to. The family consists of Mr. George Parkins aged 73 years, and Esther Parkins, aged 72. They came from Yorkshire, England, in 1836, and have resided in London and vicinity ever since. Mr. Parkins served under Capt. Sinclair in the rebellion of 1837. The family consists of Jane, the eldest, wife of Samuel Stevens, Saginaw, Michigan; Ellen, wife of Robert Foster, Granton, Ontario; Mary M., wife of Samuel Sinnam, London East; Esther Ann, wife of T. Smithson, London East; Frank, in the employ of the D. & M. RR., Pontiac, Mich.; William, carpenter, London; Benjamin was not present; George, commission merchant, Chicago, Ill.; Luke, grocer, London East; Joseph, carpenter, Hyde Park; and John, the youngest, at Hyde Park. The eldest of the family is 51 years, and the youngest 38. All at present are in fair health, and no deaths for 48 years. There are 26 grandchildren and 9 great grand-children.

LOCAL NOTICES.

MR. MCKENZIE'S WARD COMMITTEES, and all friends willing to assist, are requested to meet at Thornton's Britannia Hotel, Wellington street, this evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

The jewellery stores are a favorite resort now a days, for people in search of suitable articles for holiday gifts. The firm of Montgarrey & Co., Richmond street, in addition to their usual stock of jewellery and watches, have just received a large assortment of fancy goods, rendering their stock one of the most complete in the city. They are also the sole agents for the celebrated Waterbury watches, which are selling rapidly. Their stock of silverware is also very large and complete.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

SWEARING OFF.

Here at the threshold of the year, when swearing off begins
Let all swear off, as rest they may, from their besetting sins
Let every public man whose course the people's trust betrays
Swear off from greed and guile, and then swear on to better ways.

Let all who rule and lead swear off from wrong, foul traps and tricks,
And swear to indulge honesty with party politics
For never since the altar fires of freedom learned to blaze
Was there a greater need or lack of honest words and ways.

Ground work—Plowing.

Asthma hues—cutting firewood.

Where there's a will, there's a way to break it.

After the break of day the hours are told by time pieces.

Edison says people who say his inventions are humbugs do not stop to think.

Next to the European frontier, says the London Examiner, the Chinese in the most notorious for smuggling, and afterward comes the Caspian.

The man who will toss a three-cent piece into a contribution plate, and endeavor to make it jingle like a dime, is the man to watch in a horse trade.

A modern archæologist, employed as a newspaper paragrapher, has discovered that old Noah, in his tenderer moments, used to call his wife an ark angel.

An English journal says that in St. Petersburg not even a child can be removed from one dwelling to another without the cognizance of the authorities.

A few years ago, when an unprecedentedly cold night left a little skim of ice on the pools in Jerusalem, the Arabs declared that it was a miracle by which water had been turned to glass.

The leaves of the silver firs (abies) have a power of motion by which they are raised or depressed, they having pulvinated cells, which are absent in the comparatively motionless spruce firs (picea).

"You have got a treasure in that woman, if she is my daughter," said a fond parent to a son-in-law on his wedding day. "You just wait till the Sheriff calls, and see what kind of a reception she will give him."

"Umilia," a Tuscan sketch by "Ouida," is publishing serially in England. One of its sentences is:—"The little valleys look like birds' nests dropped underneath green leaves." These peculiar little valleys are in Italy.

A Young Centenarian—Lady (with an eye for the picturesque):—"How old are you, little boy?" Little darkey:—"Well, if you goes by wot mudder says, I's six; but if you goes by du fun I's had, I's most a hundred."

"Hi, cabby, have you a hot brick in your hack?" "Yes, boss." (Enter Jake.) "I say, cabby, this hack is as cold as Greenland—I thought you said you had some hot bricks." "So I have—they're under my feet out here. G'lang!"

"I can't trust you," said a rumseller to his unscrupulous customer. "You should let liquor alone; if you hadn't drank so much of it you might now be riding in your carriage." "And if you hadn't sold it," retorted the victim, "you'd have been my driver."

"Does he know anything?" anxiously inquired a friend, bending over the body of one man who had just fallen from the roof of a house. "Don't know, I'm sure," the physician replied. "He never did know anything, but you can't tell what effect the fall may have had upon him until he regains consciousness."

Mark Twain says that a poor laborer was once at work blasting in a ledge, when a blast exploded, and he was blown out of sight in the air. He was blown so far skyward that he was gone fifteen minutes, at the end of which time he came back and went to work. The company, however, took fifteen minutes' pay out of his wages.

Mrs. Butler, formerly Miss Elizabeth Thompson, is painting for the next London Academy exhibition the "Charge of the Scots Greys at Waterloo" and "Rorke's Drift." The second work is an order from Queen Victoria, and represents the gallant defence made by two English officers, Chard and Reynolds, behind some mealie bags.

A Chinaman in comfortable circumstances takes, in addition to his breakfast, dinner and supper, various light refreshments between meals—the kao bee loading up to the morning, the kao tsong to the midday and the tien chen to the evening meal, while the chosen ya and the kie yin are partaken of during the night by those who cannot get to sleep.

The London Examiner is opposed to sending persons guilty of minor offences to prison. It says the man who finds he can hear a fortnight's imprisonment is not likely to hesitate so long as a crime in future as he to whom the terrors of a jail are as yet unknown, and if we would suppress crime it is better that we should not accustom people to its punishment.

It is significant of the miserable remuneration of commercial clerks on the Continent of Europe that the chief cashier of Messrs. Koenigswarter, eminent bankers, who has just been sentenced to six years' imprisonment for embezzling $2,500, was remunerated with $1,000 a year only, after twenty-six years' service, and notwithstanding such confidence was reposed in him that he signed for the firm.

Highlanders have the habit when talking to or English, such as it is, of introducing the personal pronoun "he" where not required, such as "the King he has come." Often in consequence a sentence is rendered extremely ludicrous. A gentleman says he lately listened to the Rev. Mr. ——, who began his discourse thus:—"My friends, you will find my text in the first epistle general of Peter, fifth chapter, and eighth verse. 'The devil he goeth about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour.' Now, my brothren, for your instruction, I have divided my text into four heads. Firstly, we shall endeavor to ascertain who the devil he was. Secondly, we shall inquire into his geographical position, namely, 'Where the devil he was, and where the devil he was going?' Thirdly, who the devil he was seeking. And fourthly and lastly, we shall endeavor to solve a question which has never yet been solved—what the devil he was 'roaring' about."

Jones' feet flew from under him, and down came Jones on the icy walk. A stranger very courteously picked him up, and while brushing his coat, asked if he had hurt himself. Without answering this question, said Jones, "Layout name Campbell, sir?" Evidently mystified at this abrupt demand, the stranger replied, "No." "Nor Rayner?" continued Jones. "No." "Nor Minhinnick, nor Lewis, nor Christie, nor Lilley, nor one of those chaps up in Leeds' East Nor—." Getting tired of nodding his head—an operation which had already caused him to resemble the nimble-headed Chinese effigy in the neighboring grocery store—the gentleman stopped Jones' catechism by saying that his patronymic was none other than George Snodgrass. "Snodgrass!" said Jones meditatively; "Snodgrass! Never heard of him. I say, Mr. Snodgrass, who's working your election?" "Evidently there is some misunderstanding between us," interrupted Mr. Snodgrass, "I am not concerned about elections." "Why, ain't you some sort of a candidate for municipal honors?" asked Jones. "No!" Then why in thunder do you want to be going round doing the agreeable, if you ain't a candidate?"

LONDON EAST NOTES.

Friday afternoon.

Mr. S. A. Adams has called a mass meeting of ratepayers in the Town Hall for tomorrow night, when Mr Waterman and his friends have been invited to be present. The villagers in future will have no cause to complain of the amount of municipal information volunteered them by their representatives.

Ten thanks of the Women's Christian Association are tendered for the following donations, received during the month of December, 1879, for the benefit of the Women's Refuge and Infants' Home:—From Miss Webb's friends, box, $8; Mrs. Chisholm, 1 turkey, 9 jars of fruit, and sausage; Mrs. St. John Hyttenrauch, 1 goose, nursing bottle, and toys; Mr. McCormick, 1 box of biscuit; Protestant Home, 6 infants' caps and 5 jackets.

INTEMPERANCE SESSIONS.—Before His Honor Judge Davis this morning, Alexander Ondney was arraigned on a charge of obtaining a horse from Mr. Geo. Watson, of this city, under false pretences. The particulars of the case have already been given. Mr. Meredith applied for an adjournment until Monday next and the application was granted.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

St. Andrew's Society meets to-night.

The candidate's heart now beats high for—votes.

New Year's Day was the finest of the season thus far.

Mr. Frank W. Rampton, of Dysart, Iowa, is spending the holidays with friends in the city.

This is leap year, and it is so called because the girls jump at every chance of getting married.

The Holman Opera Troupe gave the Port Hope people a dose of Pinafore on New Year's Eve.

Dundas and Richmond streets and the Avenues were filled with fashion and beauty yesterday afternoon.

Dr. J. T. Park, of Amherstburg, has been appointed Assistant Physician in the Toronto General Hospital.

Another municipal meeting in the Anderson School, London East, to-night. The Reeve and others will speak.

Miss Anna Golden, of Hellmuth Ladies' College, is spending her holidays at her home in Anderdon, Essex County.

Mrs. Everleigh, teacher at Pall Mall Sabbath-School, was the recipient of a handsome sugar bowl from her class the other day.

The members of the Fire Department were indebted to Mr. William Hawthorn, of Hawthorn's Hotel, for a generous supply of cigars on New Year's Day.

How many people will "sit down and take up the pen and write you these few lines to let you know we are all well," and date their letters, 1879, to-day?

The Mission School entertainment, under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, is announced to take place at the City Hall this evening.

The first-class restaurants of the city "said" enticing New Year luncheons for their customers yesterday, and the proprietors had the satisfaction of witnessing the provender disappear very rapidly.

Rinks, representing the President's and Vice-President's sides, (Messrs. John Christie and D. Dodd) played a game of curling at the Queen's Rink yesterday forenoon. Mr. Dodd's side were victorious by four stone.

Mr. J. D. Sharman, of No. 7 Ward, is the only candidate this year who wants to be elected for the purpose of elevating the tone of the Council, and if the electors were aware of the great opportunity for improvement in this respect, they would cheerfully give Mr. Sharman a "plumper."

Mr. Benjamin Martin, while driving in the country on New Year's Day, came across a horse and cutter near the Fairfield crossing of the G. T. R., and brought the rig to London, where it was given in charge of Detective Murphy. In all probability the animal had broken away from the driver.

A large audience attended the ever-popular Dime Entertainment at the Mechanics' Hall last night. The play was on a par with previous performances, and the presents given away were more valuable than usual. The crowd were thoroughly satisfied that they had received the worth of their money.

Mr. Guy Magee, Assistant City Editor of the Chicago Tribune, was in town yesterday, hunting the New York Herald's annexation "boom." It will do no harm to forestall him by informing the readers of the Free Press that his powerful microscope failed to discover the slightest sentiment in that direction hereabouts.

The editor of the Stratford Herald sagely remarks that "the man who used to write our annual article upon the 'light of time' has sworn off from such foolishness. What happened last year everybody knows. What will happen next year is what our constituents are after. Our motto is—columns for news (and advertisements), not room for the many recognitions."

Mr. James Cleary, of the Stratford Herald, an Irishman from his big toe upwards, has changed his mind now regarding a Scotchman having the presence of humor. One of the Macs startled him the other day by sending a barrel of oatmeal to his residence as a Christmas present. Mr. Fisher then broke out in the following strain:—"Shades of St. Patrick, is it a joke, or is it an insult? Is it intended to rub us of our politics and make us Grits?"

THE SECRET SOCIETIES.

List of Newly-elected Officers.

MASONIC.

The following parties were installed in connection with Clinton Lodge, No. 37, A. F. & A. M., on St. John's Day.—George Glasgow, I. P. M.; G. W. Railton, W. M.; W. Jones, S. W.; H. Scott, J. W.; Rd. A. Worthington, Sec.; W. Sheppard, Treas.; W. Bowey, S. D.; W. Foster, J. D.; J. Carle Moore, Jesse Mocerip, Frances E. Noble, Euphemia Poole, Mary M. Reid, Lucy O. Seager, Jennie Short, Hattie Shirley, Isabella Smith, Julia Somerville, Jessie Stewart, Jessie M. Thomson, Maria Tomlinson, Mary Turnbull, F. Twohy, H. Twohy, Clara Trusler, Elina Yates.

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT.—Pall Mall street Methodist Church was crowded last night on the occasion of the annual Christmas tree for the pupils of the Sabbath School. The proceedings were opened with singing by the children under Mr. Screaton, and prayer by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hodson, after which the children were introduced to grisly old Santa. The tree was gorgeous in appearance, even to the parents and friends, in fact to what it seemed to the eyes of the juveniles, is inestimable. They were delighted at least, and received their presents with evident gratitude. The fruits of the tree were provided by the ladies in connection with the church who, by united effort, had taken this means of pleasing the pupils.

POLICE COURT PERCULLINGS.—Before the Police Magistrate this morning, R. M. Fryan and Wm. Wilson were charged by P. C. Hall with fighting and acting in a disorderly manner on the street. As it was evidently the result of "good wish" intoxication, Fryan was assessed $2 and $4 60 costs, while Wilson contributed the snug sum of $4. John Fielding had been called upon pretty frequently yesterday, and "smiled" with his callers every time. One dollar without costs. Esery Dritt, Esq., a herdsman from the hills of Devonshire, paid in $3 for the privileges he enjoyed yesterday in being allowed to call so often—on the saloon-keepers.

SOCIAL GATHERING AT ST. JOHN'S.—A social gathering was held in the Methodist Church, at St. John's, New Year's Eve. Tea was served at half-past seven. The Rev. Mr. Crews, pastor, officiated. The programme of the evening consisted of music and speeches. The church was well filled, and a good time was had. An assembly the same night was held at Elliott's Hotel, where about 50 couples were present, and danced the new year in with a happy New Year to all.

COUNTY MAGISTRATES COURT.—Before Squire Peters, this afternoon, Austin Mills, Ebenezer Adams, Alfred Mills, George Bissell, Fred Beecroft, Ed. Williams and J. Adams were charged by William Beecroft, of Caradoc, with malicious damage. The complainant had an uncoupled horse, and alleged that these young men and others wilfully smashed the windows with stones and wrecked the building generally. The case is still in progress.

LOCAL LEGAL.—Re Webb—Mr. Samuel Webb, of London, was convicted by the P. M. of Woodstock, for selling tea contrary to By-law 211 of the county of Oxford. Mr. Murdock, for W. W. Fitzgerald, moved absolute a summons for a writ of certiorari removing the conviction to the Court of Queen's Bench. D. B. Read, Q. C., contra. Order made.

FORTHCOMING LECTURE.—Vice-Chancellor Blake has consented to deliver an address on "Women's Work" at Victoria Hall on the evening of the 14th inst., in aid of the Protestant Orphans' Home. The public may expect a great treat from the learned Vice Chancellor, and should [illegible] themselves engaged for that evening.

ALLEGED LARCENY.—Timothy O'Connor was arrested by P. C. Wallace this morning on a charge of larceny. M[illegible] of Dundas street, is the prosecutor, who alleges that O'Connor stole [illegible], or pairs of stockings from him, and he will appear in the [illegible].

FAILED TO APPEAR.—The [illegible] Smith, who was arrested [illegible] on the serious charge of attempted murder, failed to appear at the [illegible] court this morning, and the [illegible] from this conduct by the detective [illegible] that he has "skipped."

Rifle Match Yesterday.

A rifle match for the O. R. A. badge and a gold medal, presented by R. Dillon, Esq., for members of the London R. Co., took place at the range, north of the city, yesterday. There were quite a number of members present, the weather being fine, with a brisk but steady wind. In the competition for the Dillon medal, this year's new members were allowed 7 points, and the medal was won by a new member, Mr. T. Pethick. Mr. Wm. Elliott tied for the above, but lost it by having the smallest score at the last range. Dr. Mordon, who made the highest score of the day, took the O. R. A. badge. The six highest scores are as under:—

	200 yds.	400 yds.	500 yds.	Total
T. Pethick	3838[illegible]	4453444	5534543	83
Dr. Mordon	4555555	5545554	5555555	85
Wm. Elliott	4545[illegible]	4544333	5435544	83
G. W. Pitts	4555554	5544453	5545545	85
R. Dillon	4555434	5455545	4544555	83
H. Gray	5553555	5555452	2222552	73

CHARITABLE.—Relief Officer Hughes received a letter this morning signed "J. D. M.," enclosing $5 for the poor of the c[illegible]

New Street Car Heater.

Ald. Herrick, of Detroit, in the Role of a Public Benefactor.

Unqualified Success of His Latest Invention.

The new heating arrangement for street cars, patented by Ald. Herrick, was formally tested in Detroit yesterday (Thursday) morning, on the Fort street & Elmwood railway, and resulted in a triumphant success. The apparatus consists of a cast iron cylinder fire pot, 13 inches in height, 6½ inches in diameter at the bottom, and 7½ inches at the top, with a cast iron cover. This cylinder contains the ignited fuel—chestnut coal—and is surrounded by a sheet iron jacket, which allows a clear space of two inches around the fire pot. This is placed in the centre of the car, under the floor, and is covered with an ordinary perforated cover of cast iron. The cold air from the outside ascends between the fire pot and the jacket, and is heated during its passage into the car. The smoke is carried away through a flue at the top of the fire pot, and ascends a three-inch stove pipe which comes up through the seat on the side of the car, and goes through the roof.

Leaving the City Hall a few minutes past 10 a. m., the car was found to be quite comfortably heated. A thermometer which stood at the freezing point (32 degrees) outside, was brought into the car and suspended equi distant between the apparatus and the rear door. In a few minutes the glass recorded 62 degrees, and this temperature was maintained till the car reached the barns, a distance of about three miles. Here the fire was carefully raked out and some charcoal and chestnut coal added. When the car started on the return trip, the thermometer, which had been again exposed to the outer air, showed a temperature of two degrees below the freezing point. It was hung up as before, and in four minutes recorded 64 degrees. Before the car reached the City Hall the temperature was 74 degrees, notwithstanding the door had been frequently opened to take in passengers.

The apparatus was tested in an old worn-out two-horse double-ender car, which allowed the cold air to come in through numerous crannies, so that the device was successful in spite of quite unfavorable conditions. Ald. Herrick claims that the consumption of coal will not exceed 25 pounds per day, even during high winds in winter, while a minimum consumption of 20 pounds will be much nearer its average. With coal at $5 per ton this would indicate a total daily cost per car (for 25 pounds) of 6¼ cents. The apparatus will cost about $20 per car.

Street cars are heated during wintry weather in St. Louis, Chicago, Albany, Troy and other large cities, but the only device used is a small stove, which takes up the space of one seat. In Saginaw, a heater, placed in a sort of bay-window in the centre of the car, is said with fair success, but any projection on the side of the street cars in a crowded city would result in inconvenience and possibly loss of life.

Although Ald. Herrick's invention is quite successful, it is still incomplete. Numerous improvements in finish and convenience will be added. The stove pipe will be made of an oval form, placed close to the side of the car, and covered with felt as high as an adult's head, and will then take away not an inch of seating capacity.

Normal School Examinations.

The Winners of Second-Class Certificates at Toronto.

The following is a list of the candidates who passed the professional examinations, December, 1879, at the Toronto Normal School, for second class certificates:—

Males—Peter Anderson, John Barr, Wm. L. Biggs, C. H. Britton, Edwin Bowes, S. W. Browne, John Buchanan, R. D. Cameron, Henry Clay, William P. Cale, L. David son, J. McD. Duncan, Duncan A. Dobie, John H. Haan, W. H. Hariton, Jas. Gibson Hume, Henry Johnston, Alex. Johnston, Andrew Jackson, P. McEachren, J. D. McKay, James M. McKay, C. C. McPhee, Hamish McLennan, C. Mason, John L. Peters, Robert Park, Stanley Phelan, R. G. Potter, C. Sheldon, John Sinclair, Ed. Stevenson, Byron Smith, R. Stinson, J. C. Stongeman, J. H. Thomson, Edward West, D. M. Williams, Henry A. Yerkey.

Females—Amelia A. Bean, Elizabeth Carhill, Anna H. Cameron, Carrie Calhoun, Mary Cameron, Nellie Delmage, Bessie Dent, Minnie Emery, Evelina Farthor, Sarah Franklin, Emily Garden, Jessie Gray, Christina Howes, Alice Inglis, Augusta Lambier, Minnie E. La Marche, Elizabeth P. McCausland, Sarah M. McKerrall, Lonie McDonald, Isabella Magee, Margaret A. Mills, Margaret M. Mitchell, Jessie Moore, Jessie Mocerip, Frances E. Noble, Euphemia Poole, Mary M. Reid, Lucy O. Seager, Jennie Short, Hattie Shirley, Isabella Smith, Julia Somerville, Jessie Stewart, Jessie M. Thomson, Maria Tomlinson, Mary Turnbull, F. Twohy, H. Twohy, Clara Trusler, Elina Yates.

PARNELL AND DILLON.

Arrival in America of the Irish Agitators.

The Former Tells of the Woes of His Native Land.

New York, Jan. 2.—The SS. Scythia arrived in port this morning, having on board Parnell and Dillon, both of whom were received by a large delegation of prominent citizens of New York and other cities, and heartily welcomed to America. The delegation at an early hour this morning steamed down the bay in a revenue cutter and boarded the Scythia on her way up. An address of welcome by the citizens of New York, and another by the citizens of Chicago, were presented.

Mr. Parnell replied as follows:—I regret my power of language is not sufficient to convey my appreciation of the kindness and honor done me. It has always been great pleasure to me to come to the United States. I would have wished that the circumstances attending our native land were of a more happy and prosperous character, but we must hope and believe that the time is approaching when we may be able to speak of Ireland as other men speak of their own country, as really and truly among the nations of the earth. Our task is of a double character. We have to war against the system which causes discontent and suffering in our country, and we have indeavored to break down the system, and, with God's help, we are determined to break it down. We have also to see that the victims of the system are not suffered to perish in the meanwhile. The physical suffering, misery and starvation of large portions of the population of Ireland has not been exaggerated. We have been calling upon the government for eight months to relieve the distress, but only within the last few days the English Government has agreed to admit that there is any distress, only now that it is too well spread for almost any effectual remedy to do. Those rulers in England appear to understand their responsibility. We who have been working at this great land question have not made any appeal to the Government for the relief of destitution. We cannot longer shut our eyes to the terrible peril approaching, and we think we ought to put the case before our own countrymen. He profoundly respected it. He only wished to remove it from too close contact with political affairs, so as to rescue it from confusion, which might paralize its efforts and create embarrassments and cause tragedie both at home and here in America. We know our countrymen in America will do their duty, as they have in every clime to their suffering brethren at home. I confidently anticipate the result. Our mission will be of such a nature as to give pleasure to us, and also give help to our people at home.

Dillon was called upon, and also spoke, referring in complimentary terms to the generosity of America to the suffering brethren at home.

BURGLARS' BOOTY.

$24,000 Worth of Property Stolen from a Safe in Omemee.

Omemee, Ont., Jan. 2.—The store of Thos. Stephenson, of this place, was broken into last night, the safe blown up, and notes, mortgages, &c., taken therefrom, valued at $25,000.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LOADING GRAIN IN BULK.

London, Jan. 2.—Samuel Plimsoll, M.P., author of the Merchants' Shipping Act, has declared his intention to make an earnest effort at the coming session of Parliament to secure legislation prohibiting the loading of grain in bulk.

THE DISTRESS.

London, Jan. 2.—MacLear, of St. Rollox Chemical Works, writes to the Times, affirming that he has produced carbon in diamond modification, and asking suspension of judgment on the letter of Maskelyne, of the mineral Department of the British Museum, pending an interview appointed for the 6th, in which MacLear hopes to convince Maskelyne that his conclusions are premature.

BANK MUNIFICENCE.

London, Jan. 2.—The Bank of England voted £3,000 towards the fund instituted by the Lord Mayor of London for the relief of distress in Ireland.

THE IRISH AGITATION.

At the meetings yesterday at Rathdrum, Wicklow, Tully Sortie and Sligo several thousand attended.

AFGHANISTAN.

PEACE AND QUIET BEING RESTORED.

London, Jan. 2.—Gen. Roberts reports, under date of Dec. 31, the country quiet. His communications have been restored, numbers of people are returning to Cabul, and supplies are coming in.

RUSSIA.

A FAMINE-STRICKEN COUNTRY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The country between the Volga and Don is famine stricken, and many persons have already perished. The Prefect of Tzaritzin has arrived at St. Petersburg to urge contributions for the relief of the people of that place, where famine and typhus fever have appeared.

TURKEY.

THE TROUBLE OVER THE PRIEST.

Vienna, Jan. 2.—The long conference between Count Andrassy, Austrian Ambassador, and the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs is concluded, and the differences concerning the affair of the Christian missionary and the condemned priest has been nearly settled.

London, Jan. 2.—A correspondent at Constantinople says that Layard, British Ambassador, had a long interview with the Sultan on Wednesday. It is understood that Ahmed Tawfik, the Mohammedan priest, will be liberated, and Keller, the German missionary, will have his papers returned. A written but not a formal apology will be made for the Porte's illegal acts. Layard will waive the demand for the dismissal of the Minister of Police on receiving the assurance that he was to be responsible for the arrests.

SHIPPING.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Arrived out, Caspian.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 2.—The steamer Hibernian, from Liverpool with the mails, arrived at half past 8 this a. m.

Liverpool, January 2.—Arrived, Gallia.

New York, Jan. 2.—Arrived, Helvetia, from Liverpool.

Declared Exports to the United States.

We are indebted to Mr. W. H. Mc Cutcheon, the United States Consular Agent at London, for the following statement showing the value of declared exports from the United States Consular Agency at London, Ontario, to the United States, for the quarter ending December 31st, 1879:—

ARTICLES.	Value in Gold.
Animals of all kinds	$ 58,604 00
Apples	3,795 00
Barley	12,650 40
Beef	16,641 70
Fowls	260 00
Flax and tow	334 00
H. H. goods	3,204 00
Hides and skins	3,310 94
Hops	186 10
Iron, scrap and old	6,988 47
Lumber	436 70
Malt	4,861 04
Nursery stock	780 67
Tobacco	760 90
Telegraph poles	422 85
Wool	4,291 84
Miscellaneous	161 00
Total for the quarter	$163,345 19
Total value of declared exports for the corresponding Dec. 31st, 1878	$150,493 46
Increase	$ 12,851 63

The London Economist says:—"The Czar's life is, it is quite certain, menaced by a band of persons who count women in their ranks, who know how to employ the resources of modern science, who are very patient, and utterly unscrupulous. Like most of his predecessors, Alexander II. has become, in the loneliness of his position, something of a mystic, and a good deal of a fatalist, and meets his danger with a certain melancholy resignation which, if not the highest courage, is a substitute for it. At all events, he can console himself with the reflection that no monarch in recent times has died by the assassin's hand, however often assailed."

To-night's Advertisements.

MASS MEETING.

A MASS MEETING OF THE friends and supporters of
MR. ADAMS
Will be held in the Town Hall, London East,
—ON—
SATURDAY, JAN. 3D, 1880,
Commencing at 7 30 o'clock p.m.

MR ADAMS and others will address the meeting.
MR. WATERMAN cordially invited to attend. A number of disputed points will be set at rest and some interesting developments may be expected.
All GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

TO THE RATEPAYERS
—OF—
No. 4 WARD

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE respectfully solicited for
E. B. REED
School Trustee for No 4 Ward.
Date of Election, Jan. 5th.

XMAS PRESENTS.
A. B.
POWELL
& CO.,
HAVING AN INTEREST IN the happiness and welfare of the citizens, and being desirous that all should be enabled to purchase at reasonable acceptable gift purchases at a price within the reach of all, they will, for
The Next Two Weeks,
offer their full range of
KID GLOVES!
consisting of colors for evening and street wear, at the following Great Reduction:
VIZ:—
Special Job Josephine make, reduced to 60c. worth 90c.
Our Specials 4-button, price 75c and 75c.
Our Sensation 8-button, price 65c and 75c.
Our Favorite 2-button, price 81, for 50.
Our Favorite 4-button, price $1.25, for 75.
Our Favorite 6-button, price $1.50, for 90.
Our Favorite 7-button, price $2.00, for 1.
Our Favorite 20-button, price $4.75, for 3.
Rouillon Josephine 2 and 4 button reduced to 90c.
Also the celebrated Suzard & Morrison Gloves reduced.
Gentleman's Kids, 2-button, price $1 reduced to 80c.
Gentleman's Kids, 4-button, price $1 reduced to 81 10.
Our citizens will observe that they are a selected lot of 5,000 pairs. All warrant the celebrated makes of glovestan we are. The other great above should not be neglected.
A. B. POWELL & CO
The Kid Glove Hse.

CHRISTMAS
—AND—
NEW-YEAR'S
New Arrivals
—AT—
CRYSTAL HALL.
New French Flowers
New Bronzes
New Dresden Ware
New Electro Plated Ware
New China Tea Sets
New China Dessert Sets
New China Toilet Sets
New China Dinner Sets
New Iridescent Glassware
Tennyson Cups and Saucers
Motto Cups and Saucers
Ground laid Cups and Saucers
Motto Mugs
A Grand Clearing Sale
of the above goods now going on
At SACRIFICING PRICES
preparatory to taking stock, at
W. J. Reid & Co's
DUNDAS STREET

FINANCIAL ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO
Read Rec. London.
THE ATTENTION OF INVESTORS is directed to the important advantages offered by the plan of this Company, where in divided into two series—Preference and Ordinary—in shares of $50 each, payable in monthly instalments of $1 per share, or in full. At option of holder the Preference offers a high rate of interest, is entitled to a minimum dividend of eight per cent. per annum, and is especially suited for those requiring a safe investment yielding a regular income, whereas the Ordinary, from its priority entailed the Premium in respect of both capital and dividends, has advantages well worthy the consideration of another class of investors. The business the Company contemplates is advancing money upon the security of real estate, the stocks, bonds and debentures of other investment companies and municipal corporations
Full particulars may be had by applying at the Company's Office, ODDFELLOWS' BUILDING, or by mail.
EDWARD LE RUEY,
Lloyd MANAGING DIRECTOR.

TURKISH BATHS
Corner King and Waterloo streets,
LONDON - - - ONTARIO.
For the treatment of Colds, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Skin, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs and all Chronic Ailments. An experienced Matron has charge of the Ladies' Department. Medical and Surgical electricity a specialty. Send for circular.
ROSS STREET & MCLAREN
sod17

EDUCATIONAL.
EDUCATIONAL.—MRS. WESTCOTT will reopen on Wednesday, Jan 7th, her Class of instruction embracing thorough English, French and Music; also Drawing, German, if required. Terms on application, London, Robert street, 6th. 1 2s

TO LET.
A FIRST-CLASS TWO-STORY Brick House to let, corner Bond and Maitland streets. Possession 1st January next. Apply on the premises, or to WM. HOUSE, 325 Piccadilly street.

TO LET—TWO-STORY BRICK House, No. 458 Queen's Avenue; double parlors, folding doors, gas and hard and soft water on premises; all in excellent repair. Apply to ALEX. GRANT, next door. 1dw

X MAS!
—A—Handsome Christmas Present
—AT—
LOW PRICE,
—GO TO—
T. Beattie & Co.
FOR THE HOLIDAYS
One case of New Scotch Suitings—something very choice and of excellent value.
A new and very cheap line in French Coatings.
We are making Full Dress Suits at very low prices.
For style, fit and excellence of finish our work cannot be excelled.
ROBT. WALLACE,
146 Dundas street, nearly Opp. Market Lane.

JUST IMPORTED!
FOR Christmas
EXTRA FINE
Silk Handkerchiefs.
CHOICE SILK SCARFS.
Fine Silk and Cashmere Socks.
R. A. GARLICK'S
174 Dundas st.

BURNS
Will offer TO-DAY 500 Boys' ULSTERS, from Three Dollars Upwards.
Also, 200 GI

CARLING'S
CELEBRATED LONDON
Amber Ale,
Lager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
Orders from the trade respectfully solicited.

Birth.

In this city, on the 1st instant, the wife of B. Jennings, of a son.

Died.

In Acton West, on Tuesday, 3rd instant, George H. Leavens, aged 54 years.

Died in Hollowell, on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., Ida, wife of Wm. Lavis, merchant, aged fifty-three years.

☞ Funeral on Thursday.

DR. GROSHAYTEKHA.

Office, 305 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall. Special attention given to Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, and to Nervous Diseases. Office hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and from 6 to 8 p.m. Residence, 353 Dundas street, opposite Waterman's Caves. 1y

ELECTROPATHIC REMEDIAL INSTITUTE,
344 Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

Medical Electricity for the Treatment of Nervous and Chronic Diseases.

MOLIERE TURKISH BATHS, for the treatment of Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Internal Congestions, and Diseases of the Liver, Skin and Kidneys.

A pamphlet on the Treatment of Consumption, by the Natural Remedial Agents. For sale by all booksellers. Price 10 cents.

According to t. e last census, two-thirds of the deaths are of Chronic Diseases, fall victims to Consumption.

J. J. S WILSON, Electropathic and Hygienic Physician. 6wd

AMUSEMENTS.

Y. M. C. A.—GRAND PARLOR entertainment. Prof. Meek in Victoria Hall on Tuesday next, Feb. 10th. Programme interspersed with good music. Everybody should hear Prof. Meek as an imperso nator. Admission reserved seats ... cents, gallery 10 cents. Doors open at 7:30. ...

CHURCH UNION.

CANADIAN COLONIZATION & Church Union—Regular monthly meeting will be postponed until Monday evening next, Feb. 9th, at 7½ o'clock, at Dundas street, when important information will be laid before the Society. By order of the Board of Management. 1

CHURCH OF ENGLAND PAROchial Missionary Meetings—During the present Week meetings will be held in the several churches each night. The Lord Bishop of Huron will occupy the chair at every meeting. St. Paul's, Monday, 9th, Christ Church.
Wednesday, 11th, St. Peter's.
Thursday, 5th, Memorial Church.
Friday, 6th, St. James' Westminster.
The choirs of the several churches will be interested evening. Collections in aid of home and foreign missions. 12b

K. O. T. M.—A SPECIAL MEETing of Jubilee Tent, No. 19, to receive report of Constitution Committee and other important business, this evening, Feb. 5th, at Foresters' Hall. Sir Knights of other tents cordially invited.—A. H. FRENCH, Rec. Sir K.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY meeting of the Women's Christian Association will be held in their rooms, to-morrow (Thursday), at 3 p.m. A full attendance desired. 1

WANTED TO PURCHASE.

THE TWO VOLS. "SABINE'S" LOYALISTS, ed. Boston, 1865 or 1869, wanted to purchase, at a fair price.—Apply to J. W. CLARKE, bookseller, Market Square, London, 2nd February, 1880. 2in

LOST OR FOUND.

A POCKETBOOK, CONTAINING a few receipts and five photographs, on the city on Friday. The finder will be rewarded by leaving with Jas. Hodgins, 121 Richmond street. 2

A PURSE, CONTAINING A small sum of money found. The owner is requested to prove property and pay charges. Apply on Dufferin avenue.—J. LUDWAY. 2f

MISCELLANEOUS.

LONDON LOAN STOCK—WANTED, 100 shares of paid-up stock in the London Loan Company of Canada.—JAMES OWENS, London. A100

CASH PAID FOR WOOLLEN and cotton rags, old ropes, bagging, waste paper, old books, hedging wrapping paper, copper bottoms, old brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron, &c. Bottles, jars, &c., bought and sold.—J. ATTA, Bruner, 205 Wellington s ree t. Stock, called for in the city. A 67

NOTICE OF REMOVAL.—JAMES F. HUNT, Feather and Mattress Factory, removed to 893 Richmond street. 1y

LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL silver pendants made by Mrs. M. Dino, the American artist, for 25c. per ounce, cannot be equalled in Canada. Factory—No. 33 Richmond street, London. 2in12

SERVANTS WANTED.

SERVANTS.—TO THE PEOPLE of the City of London and vicinity—You can get superior help with neat and female servants, at short notice, by applying to JOHN CARDNER'S Intelligence Office, 69 Dundas St., London. tf

REAL ESTATE.

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 113 feet frontage by 132 deep; cottage and stable attached; with fine fruit and ornamental trees, on Albert street. Apply to H. B. TYRWHITT. G61f

FOR SALE—THE BRICK RESIdence and lot (fifth) feet, known as "The Dennett Property," on corner York and Talbot street. Also, adjoining lot, to about 50 feet, King street, 66x165 feet. Apply to CHARLES B. RYMAL, Carling street. A595

HOUSE.—FOR SALE, IN THE choicest locality in the city, a two story frame house, in good repair, containing ten rooms, with large garden attached. Apply on the premises, 93 Queen's ave., or to JOHN PARKINSON, 404 Pall Mall st. A57vn

FOR SALE, A LARGE LOT, ON which is a new two-story brick residence, well finished, 9 rooms, servants' apartments, good kitchen, pantry, scullery and cellar; hard and soft water. Worthy road, Westminster. Apply to HENRY FARO, on the premises. A55in

LOTS FOR SALE, CHEAP.—In Woodview Estate, Westminster.—FARES & FRASER. tf

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR sale, opposite G. W. R. Car Shops. Store and dwelling, with furniture, will be sold on easy terms.—Apply to JOHN MULLIN, on premises. 66tf

FINE ARTS.

BENNETT & CHESTER, CARvers and gilders — Mirrors, picture frames, mouldings, window cornices, brackets, &c. Old frames repaired. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 185 Dundas st. F59y

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—Bring your pictures framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. HORN, 49 Dundas street, next Albert Block.

COAL AND WOOD.

CENTRAL COAL AND WOOD YARD, corner York and Wellington streets.

Body beech and maple wood, cut and split at lowest prices.

Coal of all kinds, well screened, delivered in bags free of charge. Good weight and measure guaranteed. Call before purchasing.
A. STANTON,
D56oly Proprietor.

WOOD, WOOD — A LARGE supply of first-class wood, cut or cut and split at reasonable rates. Measure guaranteed. Orders left at J. Mullin's, opposite Car Works, or J. D. McDonald's, Maitland street, will be attended to.—JAMES PRINCE, 459 York street. O56oly

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. S. P. SIMMONS, Proprietor. K67y

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Windsor.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.0 per day. Centrally located. Two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock.—COLWIN & SMITH, proprietors. K107y

MCKELLAR HOUSE, GLENCOE, has been leased for a term of years by the subscriber, who has refitted and greatly improved the premises. It is a first-class house. Travelers' comfort carefully attended to. Good stabling and a careful ostler.—D. J. SOMMAR. 53ly

NORFOLK HOUSE, SIMCOE, Ont.—This is one of the best houses in Ontario. Travelers will find it to their advantage to give it a trial. Buss and baggage wagon to all trains. Livery in connection. JOSEPH BLOCK, Jr., Prop. K67y

ROBINSON HOUSE, TEMPERance Hotel, Bay street, Toronto. JAMES MATHEWS, Proprietor. 1ly

ROYAL HOTEL, BOTHWELL, Ont.—Mrs. W. B. Dopp. First-class in every respect. Good accommodation for commercial travelers. Guests' wants promptly attended to. Good stabling.—W. H. POTTER. K87y

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1880. WHOLE NO. 7012

A FRESH ARRIVAL
—OF—
OLD GOVERNMENT
JAVA COFFEE
—AT—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
GROCERS, 226 DUNDAS STREET

HOP BITTERS
RECEIVED AT
J. G. SHUFF'S,
London East Drug Store
DUNDAS STREET.
London East, Jan. 9, 1880. mwf

JUST RECEIVED.
40 BARRELS OF CHOICE Apples; 200 bushels of fall and Potatoes, at 60 cents per bag; first-class Table Butter, 25 cents per pound. Try our 35 cents Tea—it is choice.
NORTH END STORE - G. DAVISON
79 and 81 Richmond st., London, Ont.

FOREST CITY VINEGAR WORKS
JNO. A. SCHNEIDER & CO.,
Successors to T. H Ferguson & Co., manufacturers of Pure White Wine, Cider and Malt Vinegar.
FACTORY—Dundas street, top Court House.
OFFICE—64 Dundas street west, London.

A few pairs extra good Blanketts
Men's and Women's Rubbers
Men's and Women's Gloves
Ladies' Skirts and Jackets trimmed and untrimmed
Hats and Bonnets
Feathers, Flowers & Trimming
AT AUCTION PRICES.

Brunton's Auction Rooms,
Nearly opposite Strong's Hotel
—FOR—
NEW FRUITS
—AND—
CHOICE GROCERIES,
OF ALL KINDS, AND
Everything Suitable for the Holiday Season
—GO TO—
A. HARDY,
358 Richmond street, Red Front.
1dwdy

RE-OPENED.
THE LONDON
Turkish and Electric Baths have opened in HUNT'S BLOCK, Richmond st. for the Treatment of all Acute and Chronic Diseases. Turkish Bath, $1; Electric Bath, $1 Moliere Bath, 50c; Hot and Cold Baths, 25c.
A165tf DRS. STREET & McLEES.

TO LET
TWO ROOMS, SINGLY OR TOgether, in Edge Rock, Richmond street, now occupied by the Western Ontario Bible Society, to let, suitable for general business or law offices. Inquire on the premises. tf

BUSINESS CARDS.

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office at Board of Trade rooms. Auctioneers, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. K167y

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Second-hand Clothing for the million—largest in town. Highest cash prices paid for second-hand clothing. W. JENKINS, 389 Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. J69

MARRIAGE LICENSES CAN BE obtained on application at residence or office of EDWARD BARKER. L565dwly

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for Cash by SAUNDBY, King street, two doors west of Richmond. Also—Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets, &c. Highest cash prices paid for second-hand clothing. N.B.—Parties wishing to sell waited on and orders to call at residence attended to. 60dly

MEDICAL.

M. FORSTER, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON, &c.
Office and residence at Forster's Drug Store Hick's Block, second door east of English street. London East.
London, Feb. 4, 1870. VS

DR. ANDERSON, OF 84 JAMES Street, Hamilton, Surgeon of the Eye, Ear and Throat, can be consulted at Tecumseh House, London, on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Cross-eyes straightened. L565dwly

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, opposite Revere House. K67vn

H. H. NELLES, D. D. S.,
SURGEON DENTIST.
Office—Hime Block, Richmond street. G69y

H. MCLAREN, L.D.S.,
SURGEON DENTIST,
Office removed over Bradford's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Hall.
1st DURATION, LONDON.
Teeth extracted without pain.

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S.,
DENTIST.
Office, 156 Dundas street. A56y

L. MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street over Davis's jewelry store. A57y

HARDWARE.

HOBBS, OSBORN & HOBBS,
Importers and Wholesale Dealers in
BRITISH & AMERICAN HARDWARE.
96 AND 98 RICHMOND STREET,
LONDON.
Orders by letter solicited and promptly attended to. July

T. & J. THOMPSON, IMPORTERS and Dealers in English German and American Hardware Iron Glass, Paints and Oils. Dundas street London, Ont. 1y

LEGAL

A CARD.—JOHN MARTIN, BARRISTER, Notary Public, etc., Kobe Block, Richmond street, London, Ont. 826y

FOR SALE.

TO PRINTERS. — FOR SALE, A Miller & Richard Plow Paper Cutter, in good order. Will cut 26 inches. Apply at FREE PRESS Office. tf

WANZER SEWING MACHINE wheel, with latest improvements, for sale cheap. Apply at Office of FREE PRESS. tf

ARCHITECTS

TRACY & DURAND,
ARCHITECTS, SURVEYORS AND CIVIL ENGINEERS,
CITY HALL, - - - - LONDON
T. B. TRACY. GEO. F. DURAND.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
155 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., Importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

X 25 CENTS ☞ A ten cent sample bottle of SAMKNEES' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 25 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by HAWKINS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. 726y

LAGER BEER
PER 3c GLASS.
ED. LEE,
81 International House, Dundas Street.

DOMINION
Savings & Investment Society
LONDON, ONT.
SAVINGS BANK BRANCH.
DEPOSITS OF ONE DOLLAR and upwards received, subject to withdrawal, and interest allowed thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, compounded half-yearly.
The assets of the income from the repayment on Loans, together with the Capital Stock of the Society, are pledged for the repayment of deposits, and for the proper repayment of deposits.
The funds of the Society are entirely invested in Mortgages on Real Estate only—thus rendering the security of depositors doubly complete and permanent.
Office—Opposite City Hall, Richmond St.
FRANK B. LEYS, Manager. 1dwtf

Largest Furnishing House in the West.
R. S. MURRAY & CO.
In order to meet the demand of their immense trade, they have found it necessary to extend their Carpet Room from Dundas to Carling street, and have just received

100 pcs Brussels Carpet, 90c to	$1.50
100 pcs Tapestry Carpet, 45c to	1.00
50 pcs Wool Carpet, 75 cts to	1.25
50 pcs 3 ply Carpet, $1.25 to	1.50
50 pcs Union Carpet, 45 cts to	60
50 pcs Dutch Carpet, 65 cts to	75
50 pcs Felt Carpet, 35 cts to	75
100 pcs Hemp Carpet, 10 cts to	30
100 pcs Cocoa Matting, 30 cts to	80
25 pcs Wool Repp, 60 cts to	3.00
200 pcs English Oilcloth, 80c to	1.50
200 pcs Linoleum,	1.50
200 pcs American Oilcloth, 30c to	60
200 pcs Canadian Oilcloth, 30c to	80

Parties furnishing houses, hotels and public buildings, should examine before purchasing.
126 DUNDAS STREET,
124 CARLING STREET,
LONDON, ONT.
SMOKE
—THE—
Old Man's Favorite.
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT STAMP
sold by
NEW YORK STORE
A. M. SMITH,
LATE
W. S. SMITH,
Importer and Dealer in
Groceries, Wines and Liquors,
Dundas St. and Market Square,
LONDON, - - - ONTARIO.
— GET YOUR —
Finnan Haddies, Fresh Oysters
CANNED FRUITS AND FISHES,
—AT—
J. W. HARDY'S,
Cor. King and Ridout streets, opposite Revere House. mwfly

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
To Printers, Book Publishers, Stereotypers, Etc.
ALFRED CRAIGIE
Has REMOVED his manufactory from St. George to Galt, where he has increased facilities for manufacturing and shipping first-class Cabinets, Cases, Labor-saving Furniture, Wood Rule Reglets, Quoins, Stereotype Bottoms, etc.
Send for price list, and be convinced that he sells cheaper than any other firm.
ALFRED CRAIGIE Galt, Ont
1y

The Toronto Life Assurance Co.
wishes to take advantage of returning prosperity, and to establish agencies throughout the Dominion, as the CHEAPEST AND SAFEST COMPANY IN CANADA. Good commissions to active and reliable men. Apply, stating references, to ARTHUR HARVEY, Secretary
Toronto.

London East Advertisements.
A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent. Dundas street, opposite Salter's Grove, London East. July

DR. J. H. GARDINER, L.R.C.P., London, England, Physician, Surgeon, &c., successor to H. DeLoi, Dundas street, opposite Town Hall, London East. Residence,

O. P. GIBSON
Grocer, Lot's Block, London East.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS,
Flour, Feed, and General Stock of Green Groceries. Oysters below city prices. Farm Produce taken in exchange. 1dw dly

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
LIU ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

OPENED OUT,

400 Pieces New Spring

DRESS GOODS

Purchased in Bradford previous to the late advance, and buyers will find them excellent value.

At Kingsmill's.

We have much pleasure in announcing the arrival, ex Steamers Peruvian, Sarmatian and Circassian, of our

SPRING STOCK of CARPETS

purchased from the leading English manufacturers previous to the advance, and will be found the most complete in Canada, consisting of over 500 pieces.

BRUSSELS, WITH BORDERS TO MATCH
TAPESTRY, do do do do
AXMINSTER, do do do do all of which will be sold at the old prices. We claim to have

The Largest Carpet Room
The Best Lighted Carpet Room
The Largest Variety of Carpets
The Best Value in Carpets

of any house in the Dominion.

KINGSMILL'S,

—THE—
Great Dry Goods House of the West,
LONDON, - - ONTARIO.

THE LEADING BRANDS OF American Bleached Cottons purchased in January, 1878, and received under the old tariff, including

DWIGHT ANCHORS
WAMSUTTA
NEW YORK MILLS
FRUIT OF THE LOOM
G. B. LANGDON
DAVOL
FAMILY SHEETING
COMET

now offering at prices much lower than we could possibly buy them. Such value can only be had

At Kingsmill's.

TERRIBLE HURRICANE

A Spanish Gunboat and all Her Crew Lost.

Other Shipping Disasters Off the Philippine Islands.

Madrid, Feb. 3.—A terrible hurricane recently at the Philippine Islands caused great damage both on the islands and to the shipping. Several merchant ships and a Spanish gunboat were wrecked. The latter is reported to have been a total loss, with all her crew.

IRELAND.

FALSE REPORTS.

London, Feb. 3.—The Duchess of Bedford's Irish Relief Fund Committee yesterday found that the reported cases of starvation in the neighborhood of Portumna were untrue.

PARNELL'S MENTAL CONDITION.

New York, Feb. 3.—The Herald's Dublin special says Parnell's unwarranted attack on the Mansion House Committee are regarded as utterly inexplicable, and cause consternation among his friends. It is believed the excitement of his American tour has proved too great a mental strain and that he is becoming insane.

TRIAL OF THE AGITATORS.

Dublin, Feb. 3.—The Irish Court of Queen's Bench have granted to Daniel Daly, Kilkee and ironmaster an extension of time to Wednesday next, to furnish the accused with copies indictments. It is believed their trials will be held in March.

THE MANSION HOUSE FUNDS.

The Mansion House Relief Committee met to-day. It was announced that $95,000 have been received to date and $77,000 distributed. Replies to inquiries from the Mayor have been received from many bishops, including three Catholic archbishops and one Protestant archbishop, repudiating Parnell's charges of discrimination against rent defaulters, and expressing entire confidence in the Committee.

PARNELL DISGUSTING HOME ADMIRERS.

London, Feb. 3.—Reports of certain utterances of Parnell in the United States have caused dissatisfaction, even among his warmest admirers. They regard his course as semi-stultification, and fear it will have a damaging effect upon the cause of land reform. Many now that Parnell could more efficiently aid the cause by remaining at home. The Mansion House Committee is doing a good and an impartial work, and Parnell's attacks upon it tend with little favor from the people who are daily partaking of its charities, and all of whom recognize the superior efficiency of ecclesiastical almoners in works of benevolence.

THE DISTRESS TO BE CONSIDERED BY PARLIAMENT.

London, Feb. 3.—The Standard states that among the measures promised by the Government to be presented at the opening of Parliament is a Bill regarding the distress in Ireland.

A GENEROUS TURKOMAN.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Mr. Alexander Manning has given $1,000 to the Irish Relief Fund. Subscriptions come in slowly, but those coming in are mostly of a fairly substantial character.

SHAW'S POSITION.

Dublin, Feb. 3.—At the annual meeting of the Home Rule League to-day Wm. Shaw disclaimed any intention to be considered leader of the Irish people.

DAVITT'S MISSION.

At a meeting of the Irish National Land League it was resolved that Michael Davitt should be deputed to wait upon the editors of the French and other continental newspapers to enlist their support in efforts for relief of the distress in Ireland.

PEORIA'S GIFT.

Peoria, Ill. Feb. 3.—Peoria's Irish relief is fair—$5,000, which will be sent to Ireland through other channels than Parnell and Dillon.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LOADING GRAIN IN SACKS FOR SHIPPING.

London, Feb. 3.—Plimsoll, member of the Commons, in addressing his constituents yesterday, referred to the loss caused by shifting cargoes. The remedy which he intended bringing before Parliament was the loading of grain in sacks.

THE PREMIER.

The health of Lord Beaconsfield is re-established.

AN EXPLOSION EXPLAINED.

London, Feb. 3.—An experimental test to-day with a 38-ton gun, similar to that which exploded on the Thunderer, proved that the explosion was caused by firing a double charge. The effect of a double charge to day was to blow the gun to pieces.

OBITUARIES.

London, Feb. 3.—Sir George Hamilton Seymour, a retired diplomatist, and Rev. Henry Moule, a prominent philanthropist and clergyman, and a still more prominent sanitarian, and discoverer of the dry earth system, are dead.

GERMANY.

THE PETROLEUM WELLS

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Steps are being taken to form a company to work the newly discovered oil wells in the Hanover Pitzbaum region, the present bores yielding an average interest of 22 per cent. upon the capital, against 19 in America.

FRANCE.

PROSECUTION OF LEGITIMIST SOCIETIES.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The Government appears to have received to proceed against the Legitimist Benevolent Societies, which distribute certificates for relief bearing the Bourbon arms, surmounted by the royal crown.

FORTIFICATIONS OF PARIS.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The formidable and extensive system of fortifications, which is intended to make Paris impregnable, may now be said to be completed.

TREATY OF COMMERCE WITH AMERICA.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, in reply to a deputation of the St. Etienne Chamber of Commerce, said he appreciated the importance of a treaty of commerce with America, and would take the subject into consideration as soon as the Minister of Commerce placed it before him.

BULGARIA.

PRINCE ALEXANDER'S TROUBLES.

Sofia, Feb. 3.—Most of the Liberal members of the Bulgarian Assembly have been re-elected. Prince Alexander may again dissolve the Assembly.

ROME.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

London, Feb. 3.—A Rome correspondent asserts that the condition of the Pope's health is unsatisfactory, owing to the worry and anxiety to which he has recently been subjected.

CATHOLIC HIERARCHICAL APPOINTMENTS.

Rome, Feb. 3.—The official announcement of the ordination of Bishop Elder, of the Diocese of Natchez, to the coadjutorship of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, will be forwarded in a few days. Nominations to the sees of Columbus and Chicago and the coadjutorship of Milwaukee will be acted upon by the propaganda in a few days.

THE PREMIER.

The health of Lord Beaconsfield is re-established.

AN EXPLOSION EXPLAINED.

London, Feb. 3.—An experimental test to-day with a 38-ton gun, similar to that which exploded on the Thunderer, proved that the explosion was caused by firing a double charge. The effect of a double charge to day was to blow the gun to pieces.

OBITUARIES.

London, Feb. 3.—Sir George Hamilton Seymour, a retired diplomatist, and Rev. Henry Moule, a prominent philanthropist and clergyman, and a still more prominent sanitarian, and discoverer of the dry earth system, are dead.

GERMANY.

THE PETROLEUM WELLS

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Steps are being taken to form a company to work the newly discovered oil wells in the Hanover Pitzbaum region, the present bores yielding an average interest of 22 per cent. upon the capital, against 19 in America.

FRANCE.

PROSECUTION OF LEGITIMIST SOCIETIES.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The Government appears to have received to proceed against the Legitimist Benevolent Societies, which distribute certificates for relief bearing the Bourbon arms, surmounted by the royal crown.

FORTIFICATIONS OF PARIS.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The formidable and extensive system of fortifications, which is intended to make Paris impregnable, may now be said to be completed.

TREATY OF COMMERCE WITH AMERICA.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, in reply to a deputation of the St. Etienne Chamber of Commerce, said he appreciated the importance of a treaty of commerce with America, and would take the subject into consideration as soon as the Minister of Commerce placed it before him.

BULGARIA.

PRINCE ALEXANDER'S TROUBLES.

Sofia, Feb. 3.—Most of the Liberal members of the Bulgarian Assembly have been re-elected. Prince Alexander may again dissolve the Assembly.

ROME.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

London, Feb. 3.—A Rome correspondent asserts that the condition of the Pope's health is unsatisfactory, owing to the worry and anxiety to which he has recently been subjected.

CATHOLIC HIERARCHICAL APPOINTMENTS.

Rome, Feb. 3.—The official announcement of the ordination of Bishop Elder, of the Diocese of Natchez, to the coadjutorship of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, will be forwarded in a few days. Nominations to the sees of Columbus and Chicago and the coadjutorship of Milwaukee will be acted upon by the propaganda in a few days.

AUSTRIA.

BOSNIAN AFFAIRS.

Vienna, Feb. 3.—The Lower House of the Reichsrath have adopted, without amendment, the Government Bill, formally placing Bosnia under the control of the common ministry and delegations.

RUSSIA

Strange Mental Condition of the Czar.

Possibility of his Deposition by the Czarovitch.

Important Officers Joining the Revolutionists.

The Nihilists' Conspiracy—Their Grievances.

Vienna, Feb. 3.—The substance of certain official reports which have been made to the authorities here by their agents at St. Petersburg has leaked out, and is in progress of circulation in society. The reports give in great detail facts respecting the mental condition of the Czar, and lead to the conclusion that he is at times quite insane. He is represented as out, at to prolonged fits of depression, finishing for hours and even days in a state of almost unconscious lethargy. These fits are succeeded by wild, exhilaration, during which the Czar is most affable, genial and kind, and it is at those moments that his courtiers ask and receive from him the most extravagant favors. Description. It is said that in one of these moods the Czar announced that he was resolved to grant Russia a practically democratic form of government, and to call upon his people to elect a legislature which would frame a constitutional form of government. The report adds that the despotism of the Czar by his son is not at all impossible.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—The students' conspiracy is attracting great attention. The assumed grievance is the system of severity classical education, which, they declare, debars them from acquiring sound and utilitarian information. It is believed that the students are tools in the hands of older and more crafty conspirators. The new organization is under close surveillance of the police authorities, and its leaders and importance are probably exaggerated.

London, Feb. 3.—A Vienna correspondent says that intelligence accurately represent that the internal condition of Russia is becoming daily more critical. A number of officers high in command have become dissatisfied, while those who were not previously of the latter were with Turkey have, with few exceptions, joined the revolutionists.

FEELING CONCERNING PERSIA AND ENGLAND.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—The Herald, referring to the supposed intention of Persia, under British inspiration, to seize Herat, says:—"This step would be little to Russian interests. Russia certainly will not retire before so small an Asiatic State, incited by a foreign power." The Herald points out that England is not in a position to defend Persia against Russia.

AFGHANISTAN.

MAHOMED JAN'S CUTPOSTS.

London, Feb. 3.—Mahomed Jan has established a chain of armed posts on the Turkestan and Ghuznee roads, where his officers search the people passing to and from Cabul.

ROBBERY ON A STEAMER.

A Man from London, Ont., Arrested and Held in Custody.

New York, Feb. 2.—George H. Randell, West 22nd street, dealer in mats, had occasion to go out to London on Monday of some bonds on his father's property. On his return he had to travel over night on the Vermont Central Railroad, and was considerably fatigued from the loss of sleep. When he got on board the steamer City of New York, of the Norwich Line, at New London, he slept soundly in his state room until awakened between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning by Jas. Murphy, steward, who told him that he saw a man coming out of his cabin, and that he had been robbed. Mr. Randell ascertained that his gold watch and chain were safe, but $97 and one dollar in silver currency and a certificate of shares in the Valley Gold Mining Company, of Idaho, of the value of $500, had been stolen from his clothing. Two passengers, who afterwards gave their names as Geo. Willard, 25 years, of Detroit, Mich., and Sydney Dyer, aged 36 years, of London, Ont., Canada, had been observed moving about the cabin in early hour, just at daylight. Entrance to Mr. Randell's room had been effected by means of skeleton keys. Although it was quite dark, Murphy, the steward, was able to recognize Willard, and Randell suggested that a search jointly occupied by him and Dyer should be searched. When the steward pulled up a piece of carpet on the floor he found three skeleton keys, pinchers, gimlet, a screw, and other articles, with a passenger ticket on the Lake Shore and Michigan Railroad. When the City of New York touched pier 40, North River, this morning, the men were placed in custody. Seventy-three dollars in notes were found in their possession, including a note of the Merrick National Bank of Boston, and a $5 note of the First National Bank of Inda, Miss., on Dyer, which was identified by Randell as part of the money stolen from him. The accused men were committed each in default of $1,500 bail.

A City to be Lighted by Electricity.

Wabash, Ind., February 3.—A contract for the electric light, 10,000 candles power, to be placed in the dome of the County Court house, intended to light the city, has been let to the British Electric Light Co., Cleveland.

Determined Suicide.

Augusta, Me., Feb. 3.—Israel Boothley, cashier of the First National Bank, jumped into a cistern with weights to his feet, and then shot himself dead. His accounts are reported all right.

A Washington Scandal.

Washington, Feb. 3.—An afternoon paper implicates a Southern Senator in the rule of one of the young women clerks in the Treasury Department. It is reported briefly that a woman employed in the department has been discovered enticing certain associates to houses of ill-fame to be introduced to Congressmen.

New Gold Fever.

Denver, Col., Feb. 3.—Great excitement prevails over the new discovery of gold near the mouth of the canyon of Platte, only twenty miles from Denver. A specimen of the ore assayed $20,000 per ton. People are flocking to the scene.

Burned to Death in a Hospital.

Milwaukee, Feb. 3.—The Milwaukee County Hospital, in the town of Wauwtosa, was burned this morning. Two inmates perished. The bodies were recovered. Loss, $25,000.

A Lady's Nose Eaten by a Rat.

Quebec, February 3.—A night or two ago Mrs. Dixon, of Little Champlain street, while lying asleep in her bed, having by her side her little child of two years old, woke up with the painful sensation of something gnawing at her face. Putting up her hand she caught hold of a huge rat which had its teeth fastened upon her nose. She tried to pull it off, but without avail, until she had sat upright in bed, when it fell off. Having given an alarm the people from another room came in and discovered the rat biding under a pillow of the bed, evidently awaiting its chance of renewing the attack. The rat was killed, and Dr. Hensby called in to dress the partly eaten nose. It is fortunate that the rat did not attack the throat of the child instead of the mother's nose, as they have been known to eat children while asleep.

THE LATE STORM.

Great Loss of Life and Property.

The Gale Fiercest Along the Atlantic Coast.

New York, Feb. 3.—The grain elevator of Kropp & Medford capsized into the North River to-day by the high wind. There were 16 men on board. Seven on top of the elevator sank.

During the snow storm this morning, Wm. Murphy, brakeman on a Hudson River Railroad train, was blown from a car and killed, at Chatham.

The large barn-shed of Wm Brown, 66th street, was set on fire to-day by the tide, which swept over the line. Loss, $14,000.

Englishville, N. J., Feb. 3.—Edward Neil, a brakeman, while passing through the train this morning, was blown from the platform and killed.

Atlanticville, N.J., Feb. 3.—The brig Augustina came ashore this morning. Capt. Andre and seven men were brought to land by the life saving crew. The cap tain was found in the cabin dying, having shot himself when he saw the vessel was lost. The vessel is a total loss.

Brooklyn, N. Y., February 3.—There was a high tide and a tremendous gale at Coney Island to-day. Repository or wooden pier was washed away; also the buildings on the new iron pier and bathing houses were destroyed. Concessions threatened and the hotel grounds over flowed. There is great alarm among the residents. The water is higher than for many years. At last accounts the water was still rising, and more damage is apprehended.

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 3. The storm all day has been the severest of the winter, the snow drifting badly, causing trains to be late. Breaking telegraph lines and almost stopping local travel. Many fishing vessels in this port were caught out, and there is considerable anxiety regarding them.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 3.—There was a heavy snow storm along the Hudson last night and to day east of here. Near the village of Pawling there was a hurricane, and the snow drifted ten feet deep.

Long Branch, N. J., Feb. 3.—The oldest inhabitants pronounce the storm which raged to-day one of the most severe and destructive that ever visited this coast. The wind blew with tremendous fury, carrying away the summer houses, pavilions, bath houses and portions of the piazzas and board walk of the hotels on the shore. Several marine disasters are reported.

Lewes, Del. Feb. 3.—A dismasted brig came ashore last night on the Broad Kills bar. No one on board. The crew is supposed to have been lost.

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 3.—During the fierce gale this morning the lighthouse at Rockville was driven almost on the breakers at Bald Head Bar, and now lies in a precarious condition, with all her anchors down and seas breaking over her.

Supreme Court Decisions

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The Supreme Court met at noon to day for the delivery of judgment in the case of McLeod vs. the New Brunswick Railway. The appeal was dismissed without costs, the Court being equally divided.

In the case of Reynolds vs. Brandt's Banking Co., the appeal was allowed with costs, Justices Strong and Gwynne dissenting.

In the case of Mallery vs. Kerr et al the appeal was dismissed with costs, Chief Justice Henry dissenting.

In the case of Fisher vs. Anderson the appeal was allowed. The question of costs and form of order in appeal was reserved.

The Court adjourned until Wednesday next, when judgment will be given in a number of other cases.

LATEST FROM MONTREAL

Montreal, Feb. 3.—An application was made in the Insolvent Court to-day on behalf of J. T. O'Brien, a large real estate owner, who is involved in financial difficulties, for leave to manage his estate. He claims to have a surplus of $400,000 over his liabilities, but proceedings have been taken against him, and his property being handed over to an assignee, he is now without even food for his family, or the means to provide it, whilst the Assignee is fighting him in court with the proceeds of his own estate.

Mr. Joseph Duhamel has declined to become a candidate for the Mayoralty, on the grounds that an English-speaking citizen is entitled, by custom, to have the office.

Writs of attachment have been issued against E. Vanier, for $400, and Dulls & Mario Haler, for $235. A demand of assignment was made on Angus P. McDonald, for $246.

The proprietors of the Daily Witness entertained their employes, to the number of 100, last night to supper. The venerable founder of the paper, Mr. John Dougall, now of New York, was present.

The trial of the Oka Indians, for arson, was concluded to day at Aylmer, and given to the jury.

A connection was made to day between the eastern and western sections of the Grand Trunk Company Western Road, and an engine was run on the new track. The Company's system now extends from Chicago to the Atlantic, and it is intimated that they will be ready to do freight business over their new line in course of a few days.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The Custom House authorities have received $4.50, the duty on a small package of goods from England, which was smuggled in by the person sending the money, who signs himself "Conscience."

The examination of candidates for registration under the Pharmacy Act, is being held at the Western Association building on Scott street. There are 68 candidates up for examination, the largest number, except on one occasion, since the incorporation of the College, in 1871. In that year, at the first meeting in August, five candidates offered themselves, and of these, two were plucked. The examiners for this session, are Mr. H. J. Rose, Toronto, in reading prescriptions; Mr. W. Boyd on, Toronto, practical dispensing; Mr. E. B. Shuttleworth, Toronto, Chemistry and Pharmacy, Mr. L. W. Yeomans, Belleville, Materia Medica and Botany. The Board of examiners will make their report at the general meeting on Thursday.

The Toronto Curling Club played at the Points yesterday for the Macpherson Cup, being the seventh annual competition. Mr. Fysh won with a score of than once, expelled, have send the violent oscillations so evident in French political life during the last ninety years, managed to get back and obtain a footing again within the national territory. One might suppose that the struggle was a very unequal one between the unlawful Orders and the State. Yet it is by no means the case, for the clergy of all sections back up the Jesuit pretensions. It is true that there are no less than 1,650,000 children (of whom 1,150,000 are little girls) under authorized clerical instruction. Both parties are satisfied that it should be so. The clerical wish is, however, to go beyond; to re-establish the members of those Orders among the accepted instructors of the young whose presence in France is not only unauthorized, but even contrary to law. The issue that will declare itself thus goes beyond the mere question of teaching, for if the ecclesiastics come out successful they will have, in effect, established the right not only to remain in France, but to carry on functions which they have no present legal right to perform. The contest will be watched with much interest in Canada, a country in which education by the State has been so thoroughly discussed, and which by a happy stroke of Conservative policy gives liberty to all.

Piazzi Smyth, the Scotchman, well known for his "astronomer's experiment" —which consisted in carrying a powerful telescope up the Peak of Teneriffe to test the optical advantages of the mountain air —and for his celebrated theory about the Great Pyramid, predicts that the coming summer will be hot one. He says that the cycle of hot years and nearly the middle of October, and as these waves of temperature have something like a fixed length, we may expect the beginning of the warm period in April. Prof. Smyth, however, calls attention to the fact that his predictions are made liable to error by the lack of accurate observations of the maxima and minima of sun spots, or the periods of greatest and least apparent disturbance in the solar disc, upon which the predictions are based. Accordingly his observations, the heat waves follow the periods of fewest, or no spots. The last spot minimus occurred in 1878. A cold wave accompanied it, culminating in the winter of 1879. Prof. Smyth says these cold waves are less regular, and less directly of solar origin than the heat waves. The latter manifest themselves when the forces of a new spot-cycle begin their activity. That these tremendous forces are now at work in the sun, anybody who has a telescope of considerable power can readily satisfy himself. Their effects are shown by the fantastically shaped spots that, singly and in groups, are beginning to show themselves with increasing frequency on the solar disk. A fascinating and useful field for observation and inquiry is here opened to any one who can command the use of a telescope of three inches aperture. That there is a close and measurable relation between the solar disturbances, manifested by the phenomena of sun spots, and climatic conditions on the earth, is the conviction of many of the leading minds in science, and the uncertainty that exists on the subject is largely due to the want of sufficiently numerous and accurate observations.

The London Builder publishes the following observations on the Tay Bridge disaster: —"That the bridge went with the train is now indubitable. That the first fracture took place at the fifth pier, almost at the moment that the engine went upon it, is as much shown by the mode in which the pillars on that pier are described as having fallen east to west. On the sixth pier the iron work was cut off as with a knife. The cause was taken to be that, breaking at the fifth pier, and weighted with a part at least of the train, the girder had an impetus of movement which at once swept away the connection at the west front. Cleanness of fracture indicates great superiority of breaking to resisting force. There can be no doubt that the force was greater at the moment of its action on the clean cut piece than at that of its action on the more splintered and ragged piece—that is, supposing the strength of the piers to be the same. We come thus very close to what a witness must have seen had there been one on the spot. The practical lesson, then, is so far already clear that scientific inquiry must assume this form. For how great a pressure on the upper part of the bridge, when transferred by the leverage of the piers to the top of the impost, was provision made? Had an iron plate been built in at the bottom of the concrete of the piers, and bolts of adequate strength made fast to this been carried up to the superstructure, the girders could not have been blown over. From the tenacity possessed by this part of the structure it may be possible to calculate the force of the disturbing power."

The experiment of taking meat from both Australia and South America to England and France and preserving it by the refrigerating process is now in progress on a large scale. We are not yet told how well in either case the attempt has succeeded. With care and uniformity, however, in the application of the best scientific methods, there seems no reason to doubt that meat may be brought and delivered in Europe in an edible condition from the most remote parts of the world. What we do doubt is that the undertaking, in a commercial sense, will pay. To compete with the unequalled grazing facilities and products of this country, brought, as they are, within a little more than a week of Europe, must require for success conditions that are not yet within the reach of the chief, which is the cost of carriage. It is that the undertaking, in a commercial sense, will pay. To compete with the unequalled grazing facilities and products of this country, brought, as they are, within a little more than a week of Europe, must require for success conditions that are not yet within the reach of the chief, which is the cost of carriage. It is likely to be. It is not from those quarters that Canadian producers need fear competition, and a few voyages like that of the steamship Paraguay, which, a few days ago, arrived at Havre with 600 thousand South American sheep, will probably sufficiently demonstrate the fact.

Some of the Irish papers are pointing to the cost of the Viceregal household, and asking that in a time of famine the pomp should be diminished, the salaries curtailed and the balance of the estimate given to the starving people. The Lord Lieutenant receives £20,000 a year, his private Secretary £800, and Mr. Burke, as Ulster King of Arms, £700. The remaining salaries are not despicable. Lord Wallscourt gets £500 as gentleman usher; Mr. Lawless, £185, as gentleman in waiting; Mr. Lambart, the chamberlain, £200, and the two Gentlemen at Large (a title which recalls memories of Sir Pertinax and the King's Bench) receive £129 each. The insignificance of these salaries gives a peculiar emphasis to Thackeray's immense scorn of the "sham court and its sham splendor." The whole cost of the Viceroy and his household is £37,000 a year, leaving £7,000 to be divided among two noblemen, a knight, two honorables, two colonels, a captain, two aides de camp and a small mob of people officially called "other salaries and charges."

The meeting of Springer's heirs at St. Louis does not seem to have settled the question concerning the alleged "estate of $80,000,000." One interested party is satisfied that the vast property is either a very little one or entirely a myth. Another, a young attorney of Fort Wayne, named Jamison, thinks that "the value of the estate is not less than $900,000,000 instead of $80,000,000, as heretofore claimed, and that the prospects of getting possession of it are very flattering." The executive committee of the Springers declare that their agents in Stockholm writes that "vast sums of money are on deposit there, which will be promptly paid over whenever the heirs can establish their right to it. The Springer lands in America are said never to have been sold, but to be occupied on long leases.

The Saratoff Journal relates that in a village of the government two Tartars were lately seized in the act of stealing a sack of flour from a barn and shut up all night. Early next morning the whole population of the village assembled and condemned the two culprits in a manner, says the above named journal, which would have done credit to the most ingenious torture-inventor. The unhappy men were first bound to piles and beaten with sticks till their legs and arms were broken. Then the bleeding victims were tied to the tails of horses and thus dragged over the frozen field until dead, their bodies being afterward flung over a precipice. The newspaper does not say whether the murderers were called to account.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

First Session, Fourth Assembly.

MORE "GLOBE" INACCURACIES.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Mr. Murray said he wished to correct a report of his speech in the Globe newspaper upon the Free Grants and Homestead Act, in which he was alleged to have supported the proposed law as conducive to the good of the public service. On the contrary, he had expressed his opinion to be in favor of the existing law, which would, he thought, by making it easier to clear the pine on his lot at the end of five years, tend to the preservation of the timber of the country, as the settler would have an interest in acting as a sort of police. He censured the Globe had made an unintentional mistake, as he was sure it would not intentionally misrepresent either individuals or their objects. (Much laughter.)

NEW BILLS.

After routine, Hon. Mr. Hardy introduced a bill to extend the jurisdiction of Division Courts and officers thereof.

The Attorney-General introduced a bill to abolish the priority of execution of creditors; also a bill to settle the collection of taxes in Algoma, Muskoka and Parry Sound; also a bill to amend certain particulars of the law of real property.

Mr. Graham introduced a Bill relating to public officers of Ontario.

SUPPLY.

The House then went into Committee of Supply.

Mr. Wood said he proposed to reserve a sizable item until the public accounts for 1879 were down.

On "$950 for contingencies for Lieutenant-governor's office" some discussion took place.

The Attorney-General said that in view of the old practice, a cheque was now given to the Lieut.-Governor for the item, leaving him to expend it as he thought fit.

The item being carried, that of "$14,420, Executive Council and Attorney General's Departments," was also carried.

On item "$20,800, for Department of Education," the Minister of Education made certain explanations. Upon the item as to the expenditure of officials, the salary had been entirely changed since Jan. 1, 1880.

The item passed.

On "Crown Lands, $44,750," Mr. Pardee said there was a reduction over last year, which required $50,780. This was caused by a system of superannuation, which would be provided for during the session. A series of reductions in other salaries would be made in order to keep the fund up.

The item passed.

The item, "$10,172, public works," also passed.

On the item, "$17,450, Treasury Department,"

TRAGIC CASES.

Mr. Creighton said that there was a charge of $200 for a statement of receipts and expenditure. This was an altogether incorrect statement.

Mr. Meredith said this publication had been used as a campaign sheet. It was bad enough to charge the country with the ordinary sheet of the party in power, but it was certainly not right to publish garbled statements. He objected to the classification in the sheet in question.

Messrs. Wood and Fraser defended the publication.

Mr. Mowat said the statement was quite correct, and was perfectly right in its classification.

Mr. Merrick said the Government had systematically garbled the accounts, notably in the case of placing exorbitant receipts as from the Municipal Loan Fund of ordinary receipts and in other instances. The campaign sheets of the Government, which various widely distributed, were also full of the worst errors.

Mr. Creighton said the sheet in question was not in the ordinary papers, and it was printed in a form which indicated that the Government did not want it preserved after its use as a campaign sheet was at an end.

The item was passed, and also items "$ 400, Department of Agriculture," "Public Institutions, $7,403," "Secretary's and Registrar's Department, $25,545," and "$1 480, Immigration Department."

The Committee then rose.

Mr. Fraser laid on the table several returns.

After recess, the House went into committee on item "$106 800, for Legislation."

Mr. Creighton called attention to the item of "messengers," and said that he noticed that Mr. Johnson had disappeared from the House.

Mr. Wood said that his position was not filled up.

The item "$287,600 for Administration of Justice" was then passed.

The item "$498,027, for Public Institutions" was then considered.

On sub-items "London Insane Asylum, $103,991," and "Toronto Asylum, $85,288," Mr. Woods said there was a reduction, mainly in consequence of the Government asking no vote for beer, wine, or spirits for either of these Asylums. It seemed to be the general consensus of medical opinion that the use of ardent spirits was not only an excellent thing in its way, but it is just possible to carry it so far, that the sensation will become a costly kind of economy. Let us hope then that the Commissioners will reconsider this act of dismissal, and reinstate both Mr. Hannah and Mr. Greene, as the services of both are required.

A child examined in Cleveland is becoming literally petrified. The flesh is cold and hard, almost as marble, and while the child, which is now three years old, continues to live, it can only freely move its lips and eyes, and swallow the liquid food presented to it. Its condition is very hopeless. Until six months ago it was in perfect health, and I kept the remains in fine condition for five days with a couple of ice. I was attending on a poor little girl in Thompson street, during the hot days, so poor that I did not charge her anything. When the little sufferer passed away I told the mother that an undertaker would come and order the remains to be put on ice, but I would show her how to keep the body until the time for burial. It would keep without trouble, for there was no flesh to decay. I left the mother to go to my office for a certificate of death. When I returned the body was on ice as usual, and the mother told me that the undertaker had come and told her that she must have the remains put into an iron box without delay. She thought it must be some kind of an official utterance, so she borrowed $10 and paid it to the undertaker before I could return. In cases of poverty like this the undertaker's charge is $10. Any person can get a whole funeral now a days, with two carriages, for $25, and without the carriages the charge is only $15. I write this to let the citizens of the poor know that an expensive funeral is not necessary. Any person can have a respectable funeral for $15 or $20. Undertakers have no right to charge more than $10 for the use of a hearse, and $5 for a carriage

The Free Press.

Wednesday, February 4, 1880.

RUPERT GODWIN.

"I understand," he thought, as he followed the servant up stairs. "I have only to keep quiet, and I may make this business very profitable. One thing is perfectly clear, Mr. Godwin wants to get rid of his young friend."

Dr. Snaffby entered the room, while his fellow practitioner waited in an adjoining apartment.

Lionel Westford was lying in an uneasy slumber; but he was awakened by the entrance of the doctor, and opened his eyes in a wild, wondering stare.

The proprietor of the Retreat seated himself in an easy chair by the bed, and laid his hand softly on the wrist of the invalid.

Lionel looked at him, and then turned away, muttering some low, incoherent words. The doctor bent over him, listening intently; but the young man's mind had gone back to the scenes of his early youth. He fancied himself a student once more, amidst light hearted companions—now at a boat-race, now at a wine-party. His feeble voice had a strangely melancholy sound as it strove to shape itself into a jovial student-cry of triumph.

"Brazenose wins!" he cried; "ten to one upon Brazenose! Bravo, Brazenose!"

The doctor knew that his patient was acting over again the scenes of a university career.

"His, ha!" thought he; "this nameless, friendless, penniless young man has been educated at one of the universities. That looks rather strange, Mr. Godwin. We shall find out something more by and by."

He kept his place by the bedside, listening intently to Lionel's half broken words.

Presently the young man started up from his pillow, erect as a dart.

"Murdered!" he cried. "My poor father—my brave, noble-hearted father, murdered by the hand of a villain in the cellars below the northern wing!"

Dr. Wilderson Snaffby's flabby face was always pale, but it grew livid as he listened to these words.

"The cellars below the northern wing," he muttered; "why, the man is talking of this house! I know that there was a mystery. Murder! That's a big word. Sh, Mr. Godwin, you seem to want my services very badly. People do not send their friends to the Retreat for nothing. A private mad house is rather expensive—an expensive luxury, too, when people want to get rid of a troublesome acquaintance, they don't mind coming down handsomely."

Again the doctor bent over the patient, and listened breathlessly. The young man had fallen back upon his pillow, and lay prostrate and exhausted. For sometime the silence was only broken by incoherent murmurs; and then Lionel spoke once more of the northern wing, the cellar stairs, the foul deed that had been done in that accursed spot—all in broken sentences; but the doctor had been accustomed to listen to the raving of a maniac, and he knew how to put those broken phrases together.

"My father's blood!" exclaimed Lionel, in a hoarse whisper. "Yes, father, I saw the traces of that blood spilt by a murderer's hand, but the stain shall not go unpunished. Yes; your son shall track that guilty wretch to the gallows. Rupert Godwin—Rupert—he! fall—!"

It was such broken sentences as these which Dr. Wilderson Snaffby so hoped to listen over the prostrate form of the invalid. He saw that Lionel Westford was suffering from brain fever, and that his mind was distracted by the memory of some deed, the discovery of which had been the chief cause of his illness.

The proprietor of the Retreat was able to discover what the simple Mortford surgeon had been utterly unable to understand; for to him the idea of any guilty deed done by Rupert Godwin seemed so utterly preposterous that he attributed Lionel's persistent accusations to the ravings of insanity.

Dr. Wilderson Snaffby had made a fortune by the crimes of other men; and he was only familiar with the darkest and most hideous side of human nature. He was ready to believe anything. Cunning, false, designing, he never knew how to turn the guilty secrets to his own advantage without betraying his knowledge of them.

He went down stairs presently, leaving his fellow-practitioner to enter the sick chamber alone and form his unbiased opinion as to the condition of the patient.

Dr. Snaffby found Rupert Godwin in his study. By no look or gesture did the banker betray impatience or uneasiness; and yet the doctor knew very well that he was both impatient and uneasy.

"Well, doctor," he said, "is there any hope for this poor young man?"

The doctor shrugged his shoulders and pursed his lips.

"It is a very difficult case," he said; "a most critical case. I never met one at all resembling it. I can only see one chance of cure, and that is very heavenly."

"What is the natural cure you character?"

"I will tell you. This young man appears to be possessed with a monomania—a single delusion. Once dispel that, and you may restore the brain to its balance. Our patient has formed some idea about the cellars of the northern wing of this house. Your servants have told him some ghastly story, I suppose, and he has dwelt so long upon its details, that his imagination has become completely distempered by the process. Now, what I think is this:—Why not attempt to cure him by proving to him the absurdity of his delusion? He fancies that a murder has been committed in one of the rooms, or in one of the cellars, belonging to the northern wing. Have a public investigation of those rooms and cellars. Call in the assistance of the police, and let them search for traces of this imaginary murder. If there has been any foul deed done there, the secret of it will be brought to light, and that would, of course, be a satisfaction to you, as owner of this house. If not—if this horrible story is built on the invention of a disturbed brain, there is every chance that, when the young man has witnessed a practical investigation, the fallacies of his foolish his fancies have been, and the balance of the mind will be restored."

Throughout this speech Wilderson Snaffby had kept his eyes fixed upon the banker's face. When he had finished speaking, Rupert Godwin shrugged his shoulders disdainfully.

to be continued.

Curious Happenings in the U. S.

They freeze fish in artificial cakes of ice in New Orleans for shipping.

They have just completed a sleighing carnival of thirty-eight days in Greenfield, Mass.

There is no ice in sight on Lake Erie, and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers are entirely free.

Orange, fig, peach, and plum trees are bursting their buds and strawberries are in blossom in New Orleans.

A paper called the Herald is the only one published in Kemper County, Miss., and the town has neither school house nor church.

A genuine leap year ball is to be held at Wyckoff, N. J., on the 16th. The ladies will call for and escort the gentlemen, and will pay all the bills and see them safe at home.

It is rare to see rats running in winter, and rarer still to see them with fire on them; yet several of them were seen on Thursday night going down the Delaware river near Port Jervis

In many parts of New Jersey trailing arbutus and dandelions were in bloom last week, ferns were sprouting in the woods, myrtle buds bursting, and early fruit trees were as advanced as in April.

Thirteen times widowed is the experience of a Little Rock, Ark., woman. She is now living with her fourteenth husband. She has preserved the last hat worn by each, and from thirteen pegs driven in the wall they are suspended. An empty peg waits the last.

Epps's Cocoa.—Gratefol and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled "James Epps & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." mtwdw

A Cosmopolitan Cause

Union of Hearts and Hands for Ireland.

Mass Meeting of Citizens Last Night.

$1,000 to be Asked from the Council for the Irish Sufferers.

Strong Committees Formed to Swell that Amount.

Stirring Addresses by Catholics and Protestants.

A mass meeting of the citizens favorable to the inauguration of an Irish Relief Fund was held in the City Hall last night. The body of the spacious hall was comfortably filled by a highly respectable audience, and considerable interest manifested. On the platform were seated His Lordship the Bishop of London, Venerable Dean Boomer, Mayor Campbell, Rev. J. A. Murray, pastor of St. Andrew's Church; Rev. G. N. A. P. T. Dickson, pastor of Dundas Street Centre Methodist Church; Rev. D. Camelon, pastor of St. James' Church; Rev. J. Gemley, Secretary to the Bishop of Huron; Rev. Father Tierney, Messrs. J. Shanly, Colonel Walker, D. Regan, E. Cronyn, H. Macmahon, M. D. Fraser, J. Magee, J. Pritchard, Dr. Sippi, and others.

Mr. H. D. Long, President of the Irish Benevolent Society, presided, and in opening the proceedings referred to the charitable object of the meeting. It would not be necessary for him to refer to the great distress now prevailing in Ireland since his hearers were well acquainted with it. In 1847 he had witnessed blood chilling scenes in that land, and trusted that through the assistance of those who were in a position to be charitable they would not be allowed to be repeated.

His Lordship Bishop Walsh then moved the following resolution:—

"That we, the citizens of London, Ontario, in public meeting assembled, desire to express the fearful sorrow with which we have learned of the great distress throughout Ireland, and to set on foot measures for relieving our fellow subjects there to our sincere sympathy in their need."

His Lordship, in referring to the resolution, said he felt confident it was but the expression of the heartfelt feelings of all present for our fellow-creatures who are suffering from the pangs of hunger in that afflicted land. That dire and widespread destitution prevails in Ireland is no longer a matter of doubt. It is, alas! a sad and appalling reality; it is a stern and indisputable fact, that can no more be ignored than that of our own existence. He found that two extracts from the letters of two distinguished gentlemen in the West of Ireland, one from Mr. Mitchell Henry, a large landed proprietor and a Protestant gentleman, and the other from a bishop of the Church of Ireland, received from the Catholic Bishop of Sligo last week. An extract from the latter is given:—"At the present moment the people have neither money nor credit, nor the constant food to support life. The very wet, unwholesome potatoes, saved from the blighted crop of last year, are now consumed. For weeks past very many of the poor have sold or pawned their last article of clothing, even to the bedding, in order to buy a little Indian meal which they could not get on credit. In fact, famine is rapidly overspreading the province; and the debility brought on by unwholesome and insufficient food during the past months will render its work of death rapid and free from obstacle." The Dublin Mansion House Repeal Committee, which is composed of representative men of the highest character, and of all creeds and politics, in its appeal to the public, also sets forth the necessity for relief to mitigate the great calamity. Now, what is the meaning of all this? It means that starvation stares hundreds and thousands in the face, in large districts of Ireland, in all Connaught, in parts of the North, and in portions of the counties of Cork and Kerry; it means that famine, with all its train of dreadful and hideous realities, is at the door of thousands of our fellow subjects; it means that the strong man is writhing in agony caused by the intolerable pangs of hunger, that the wife is falling into a shadow under its consuming power, and that the children, innocent of all responsibility as to its cause, are starving before the eyes of their destitute and broken-hearted parents; that our brothers and sisters, our fellow subjects, decent, honest, and virtuous people, who ask only to be kept alive, are on the brink of perishing. It means that the dreadful scenes of the last famine are in danger of being repeated with all their horrors in that unfortunate land. Those scenes have been most falsely described by the Irish poet, Aubrey De Vere, in the line, the side of famine which His Lordship recited to the audience. Could it be possible said the starving multitudes in Ireland send a wail of distress and a cry for help across the ocean to us who dwell in this favored land. Methinks I see the father of a perishing family, with hollow eyes, sunken cheeks, stretch out his hands to us for pity and help; methinks I see the broken-hearted mother of starving children, half-naked and skeleton-like, looking wildly around her. Backed by her dear children, whom she has the agony of seeing die to death before her by starvation, she appeals to us for help. Her cry for help ascends to have pity on her; methinks I see the half-naked, cold and starving children, stretch out their emaciated hands to us for bread. Who can be deaf to this cry of distress? who can shut the feelings of pity in his heart for all this suffering? who can shut his eyes to this dread spectacle of woe? They are our fellow-subjects, and for many of us our fellow-countrymen, who appeal to us for aid, who cry out to us from a scene of misery, and in accents that smite the heart, like the cry of a woman, call upon us to save them and them from the horrors of an awful shipwreck, from perishing in a sea of misery and utter destitution; it is the cry of strong men in the vigor of their years. It is the shriek of starving wives and mothers; it is the sad, the piteous, the heart-rending wail of famished children for bread, that comes to us across the ocean and appeals to our piety, to our charity, to all the best feelings of our humanity. And surely this cry shall not be unheeded; for I am upon willing and attentive ears, it appeals to sympathetic and generous hearts. It appeals to the kingly feelings and charitable impulses of the citizens of London, of whom it can be truly said that no goal and deserving cause ever appealed to them in vain. I am confident, therefore, that this meeting will adopt such measures of relieving Irish distress as will meet with the approval of all the citizens of this city, of every creed and class, and that the citizens will respond in a manner that will do honor to themselves, and that will bring hope and comfort to many destitute homes, menaced by famine and pestilence. Our duty is plain, and it is also imperative. As fellow subjects of the Irish people, it is our duty to aid them in their present great distress. It is the living impulse only, when any of its members are in pain, the others not only share that pain, but instinctively and instantly try to assuage it; so also it should be in the body politic; when some of its members are in pain and suffering the others should feel for their suffering and do their utmost to aid and bring them ease and comfort. And this is not only a duty for us as a fellow-subjects, as members of the great body politic of the British Empire, but it may also be our highest interest. By relieving our duty in this respect we may be helping to bring sorrow and misery to our friends. Remember whatever affects 'Ould Ireland,' may, thousands, of poor Irish people, amongst them their native land, by cruel famine, landed on our shores, but a dreadful wasting plague accompanied them, and menaced Canadian homes with pestilence and death. Famine and plague are twin sisters, they are awful specters inseparable in companionship, the one destroying what the other hath spared. Let us by generous and timely contributions do our utmost to prevent the spread of famine in Ireland, and we shall thus be helping to avert plague and its accompanying horrors from our own cities and homesteads. But a number, a grander, a fuller motive should inspire us with the firm resolve to contribute, according to our means, to the relief of Irish distress. That motive is Christian Charity. This virtue is the sum and substance of the Christian religion. Men may differ and dispute about particular doctrines, but there can be no dispute among Christians as to the duty, the necessity and the Christ-like character of charity. It is the sun of the Christian system; all other virtues, if not warmed into life by the light and heat of charity, would be but faded, scentless flowers in the garden of the soul. Meaning speak with the tongues of angels and of men, they might work wonders in the Church and in society, they might die in witness of the truth, at the martyr's stake, but all these works would avail nothing before God if not informed and vivified by the Christ spirit of charity. And surely if ever there was an opportunity of exercising the beautiful and heavenly virtue of charity, it is now; if there is ever a time when it becomes an imperative duty to practice it, it is when a whole people are suffering, it is when a nation is scourged by famine and crowned with the thorns of an awful suffering; it is when the dread specter of famine appears in the land and threatens to invade thousands of homes and to fill them with death and lamentation. It is strictly at such a time that the angel of Charity should go abroad into the Gothic recesses of an afflicted people to take away the chalice of suffering from their lips, to lift them up from their agony and to minister to them. Let us then be alive to the terrible crisis that has come upon a warm hearted, a gifted and a virtuous people; let us do our utmost to bring them aid and comfort in their dire distress, and when that hour comes upon us, in which we shall sorely need the great mercy of God for our poor souls, we shall experience the happiness and the merit of having been merciful in our life time to the poor, the wretched and the afflicted; for it is written, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy."

Very Rev. Adam Boomer, in seconding the resolution, said he came because he deemed it his duty as an Irishman to show his sympathy with the movement. He heartily seconded the resolution so ably moved by His Lordship Bishop Walsh. He thought it would be a very poor compliment to the heads and hearts of the people before him to draw a harrowing picture of a sufferin, starving nation. The newspapers had fully posted them on this subject, and the stories being true, contributions would be more in order than speeches. He would suggest to the Committee that action should be taken at once, as every hour and day was precious.

Rev. J. A. Murray did not come to make a speech over so sad a theme, as only moved for he was only a simple Canadian. It would be easy to make a speech on a subject that sunk so deeply in the heart of all, but he would not attempt it. He had visited when the great famine of 1847 took place, but the dreadful scenes haunted him ever since like a horrible dream; and when the news was flashed across the cable that famine had again broken out in that grand old country his sympathy was strongly aroused. He paid a high compliment to the generosity of Protestants, and the great readiness with which they had come forward at all times to assist Roman Catholics. He would endorse Dean Boomer in recommending that whatever was about to be done should be done at once. According to all human sagacity, appalling reality, it is a stern and indisputable fact, that can no more be ignored than that of our own existence. He found that two extracts from the letters of two distinguished gentlemen in the West of Ireland, one from Mr. Mitchell Henry, a large landed proprietor and a Protestant gentleman, and the other from a bishop of the Church of Ireland received from the Catholic Bishop of Sligo last week. An extract from the latter is given:—"At the present moment the people have neither money nor credit, nor the constant food to support life. The very wet, unwholesome potatoes, saved from the blighted crop of last year, are now consumed. For weeks past very many of the poor have sold or pawned their last article of clothing, even to the bedding, in order to buy a little Indian meal which they could not get on credit. In fact, famine is rapidly overspreading the province; and the debility brought on by unwholesome and insufficient food during the past months will render its work of death rapid and free from obstacle." The Dublin Mansion House Repeal Committee, which is composed of representative men of the highest character, and of all creeds and politics, in its appeal to the public, also sets forth the necessity for relief to mitigate the great calamity. Now, what is the meaning of all this? It means that starvation stares hundreds and thousands in the face, in large districts of Ireland, in all Connaught, in parts of the North, and in portions of the counties of Cork and Kerry; it means that famine, with all its train of dreadful and hideous realities, is at the door of thousands of our fellow subjects; it means that the strong man is writhing in agony caused by the intolerable pangs of hunger, that the wife is falling into a shadow under its consuming power, and that the children, innocent of all responsibility as to its cause, are starving before the eyes of their destitute and broken-hearted parents; that our brothers and sisters, our fellow subjects, decent, honest, and virtuous people, who ask only to be kept alive, are on the brink of perishing. It means that the dreadful scenes of the last famine are in danger of being repeated with all their horrors in that unfortunate land. Those scenes have been most falsely described by the Irish poet, Aubrey De Vere, in the line, the side of famine which His Lordship recited to the audience. Could it be possible said the starving multitudes in Ireland send a wail of distress and a cry for help across the ocean to us who dwell in this favored land. Methinks I see the father of a perishing family, with hollow eyes, sunken cheeks, stretch out his hands to us for pity and help; methinks I see the broken-hearted mother of starving children, half-naked and skeleton-like, looking wildly around her. Backed by her dear children, whom she has the agony of seeing die to death before her by starvation, she appeals to us for help. Her cry for help ascends to have pity on her; methinks I see the half-naked, cold and starving children, stretch out their emaciated hands to us for bread. Who can be deaf to this cry of distress? who can shut the feelings of pity in his heart for all this suffering? who can shut his eyes to this dread spectacle of woe? They are our fellow-subjects, and for many of us our fellow countrymen, who appeal to us for aid, who cry out to us from a scene of misery, and in accents that smite the heart, like the cry of a woman, call upon us to save them and them from the horrors of an awful shipwreck, from perishing in a sea of misery and utter destitution; it is the cry of strong men in the vigor of their years. It is the shriek of starving wives and mothers; it is the sad, the piteous, the heart-rending wail of famished children for bread, that comes to us across the ocean and appeals to our piety, to our charity, to all the best feelings of our humanity. And surely this cry shall not be unheeded; for I am upon willing and attentive ears, it appeals to sympathetic and generous hearts. It appeals to the kingly feelings and charitable impulses of the citizens of London, of whom it can be truly said that no goal and deserving cause ever appealed to them in vain. I am confident, therefore, that this meeting will adopt such measures of relieving Irish distress as will meet with the approval of all the citizens of this city, of every creed and class, and that the citizens will respond in a manner that will do honor to themselves, and that will bring hope and comfort to many destitute homes, menaced by famine and pestilence. Our duty is plain, and it is also imperative. As fellow subjects of the Irish people, it is our duty to aid them in their present great distress. It is the living impulse only, when any of its members are in pain, the others not only share that pain, but instinctively and instantly try to assuage it; so also it should be in the body politic; when some of its members are in pain and suffering the others should feel for their suffering and do their utmost to aid and bring them ease and comfort. And this is not only a duty for us as a fellow-subjects, as members of the great body politic of the British Empire, but it may also be our highest interest. By relieving our duty in this respect we may be helping to bring sorrow and misery to our friends. Remember whatever affects 'Ould Ireland,' may, thousands, of poor Irish people, amongst them their native land, by cruel famine, landed on our shores, but a dreadful wasting plague accompanied them, and menaced Canadian homes with pestilence and death. Famine and plague are twin sisters, they are awful specters inseparable in companionship, the one destroying what the other hath spared. Let us by generous and timely contributions do our utmost to prevent the spread of famine in Ireland, and we shall thus be helping to avert plague and its accompanying horrors from our own cities and homesteads. But a number, a grander, a fuller motive should inspire us with the firm resolve to contribute, according to our means, to the relief of Irish distress. That motive is Christian Charity. This virtue is the sum and substance of the Christian religion. Men may differ and dispute about particular doctrines, but there can be no dispute among Christians as to the duty, the necessity and the Christ-like character of charity. It is the sun of the Christian system; all other virtues, if not warmed into life by the light and heat of charity, would be but faded, scentless flowers in the garden of the soul.

Mr. B. Cronyn, in the absence of ex Mayor Lewis, moved the following resolution:—

"That the City Council be requested to grant the sum of $1,000 out of the city funds to carry the proposed relief, and that a deputation from on the County Council and request a similar grant from the funds of the county."

In the past the city had come nobly forward to aid the distressed in Chicago and St. John, and he hoped they would see fit to lend the assistance asked for Ireland.

Mr. M. D. Fraser seconded the resolution, and urged its adoption in a few well-worded sentences.

This resolution was also adopted.

In closing the meeting, the Chairman intimated that the Scottish vocalist, Mr. Hamilton Corbett, had offered to give a concert in aid of the fund, and his offer had been accepted.

The meeting closed with the usual vote of thanks.

EDUCATIONAL.

First Business Meeting of the New Board.

Re-election of Colonel Moffat as Chairman.

Appointment of Three New Teachers.

Mr. Hotson to the Collegiate Institute, Mr. Colton the Central, and Mr. Woodburn to the Rand Street School.

The Standing and Visiting Committees.

Miscellaneous Business of Interest.

The first regular meeting of the new Board of Education was held in the City Clerk's office last night. Present, Messrs. Moffat, Cousins, Johnston, McPhail, Jones, J. J. Reid, Boyle, Williams, Bayly, Powell, Christie, Thornton, Lee, Denton, Obeckley, Wilson, Smith, Hudson, E. B. Reed, and Fraser.

The first order of business taken up was the election of a Chairman for the present year.

Mr. Jones took great pleasure in nominating Col. Moffat for re-election. He had discharged the duties of Chairman during the past year with credit to himself, to the Board and to the citizens, and no better selection could be made.

Mr. Bayly seconded the resolution. After alluding to the efficiency of Mr. Moffat as chairman, he spoke of the great interest which he took in educational matters, especially his frequent visits to the different schools.

There being no other nominations, the clerk declared Mr. Moffat unanimously elected.

Mr. Moffat said he could not take his seat without returning his thanks. He was sincerely obliged to the mover and seconder for the kind remarks they had made, and also to the Board for the renewed expression of their confidence. He would ask their kind indulgence during the year, and, in conclusion, would assure them that it would be his endeavor not only to give satisfaction to the members of the Board, but to the citizens. (Applause)

Mr. Moffat then took the chair, and called for nominations for the position of Clerk.

On motion of Mr. Cousins, seconded by Mr. Johnston, Mr. A. S. Abbott was re-elected.

The minutes of previous meetings were then read and confirmed.

FILLING A VACANCY.

To fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Hotson to the Collegiate Institute, applications were received from Messrs. J. J. Colton (Fifth Ward school), Wm. S. Hodgins (of Lucan), D. McKay (of the Waterloo street school), and Thomas Woodburn, each of the applications having a number of testimonials attached.

ACCOUNTS.

From Mr. H. C. Green, two cords wood, $8; J. Taylor, pump, $3.50; extra teaching, $6; Mr. Mortimer, Lothian & Fryer plumbing, $2.18. With the exception of the latter, which was referred to the Improvements Committee, the accounts were ordered to be paid.

HEAD MASTER'S REPORT.

Rev. Mr. Checkley presented the annual report of the Collegiate Institute, which showed that the attendance of pupils for the first half year was 283, for the second half, 266; total 549. With an average of 320 virtues also attended. The Model and Grammar School pupils now resident fees amounted to $279. Sixteen pupils passed the Intermediate Examination; five passed examinations for third class certificates; five matriculated at the University, gaining among them three first-class and seven second-class honors. One passed successfully the examination for entrance to the Royal Military College at Kingston; one passed the matriculation examination preparatory to the Law Society, and one passed the examinations of Civil Engineers. The attendance has increased—one being on the roll.

The monthly report of the Principal was also presented, showing the attendance of pupils for the month of January to be as follows:—Boys, 143; girls, 123; total attendance, 288; average attendance, 215.

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT.

Mr. R. Bayly, Chairman of the School Management Committee, presented the following report:—

The Committee recommend that Mr. Alexander Hotson be appointed assistant master in the Collegiate Institute, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Wilkie.

That Mr. O'Connor, at a salary of $850 per annum.

That an advertisement be inserted in the daily Globe and Mail and in the two city papers, for one week, calling for applications from persons holding first-class Provincial certificates, for the position to be vacated by Mr. Hotson, at a salary of $750 per annum.

The report was committed.

The first clause passed.

On the second clause being read, Mr. Hudson moved that it be struck out, seconded by Mr. T. J. Reid.

An amendment, referring the clause back to the committee, was moved by Mr. E. B. Reed, seconded by Mr. Cousins.

Considerable discussion ensued, during the general opinion that no good object would be served by advertising, while the Board had so many applications already before them for the position.

The original motion, striking out the last clause, was carried on a division.

It was then resolved, on motion, that the vacancy caused by the removal of Mr. Hotson to the Collegiate Institute be filled from the applications before the Board.

The chairman, after the testimonials of the different applicants had been read, briefly addressed the Board, urging the necessity of the person having the best qualifications, and not to allow personal feelings to prejudice the application of any one. No one knew better than the Inspector the qualifications required, and it would be well if the Board instructed him Mr. Boyle on the subject before arriving at any determination.

Inspector Boyle then, on invitation, addressed the Board, after which

Mr. Smith nominated Mr. J. T. Colton, seconded by Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wright contended that the nomination was improper, as there was a standing rule of the Board requiring a teacher for this position to hold a first class certificate.

Messrs. Jones, Wilson, Hudson and others held that the rule had been previously devisted from.

Mr. Johnston said it had not in the appointment of male teachers.

Mr. T. J. Reid asked the Board to take into consideration the fact that Mr. Colton's second class certificate was obtained under the new system, where the questions to be answered were more difficult.

At the request of Mr. Johnston, the Clerk read the rule referred to.

Mr. E. B. Reed could not conscientiously vote to fill the position with a teacher holding a certificate of a lower grade than Mr Hotson held. His motion, seconded by Mr. Johnston, "That Mr. W. S. Hodgins, having the highest grade of certificate (viz., 1 class B.) of the four applicants now seeking the position just vacated by Mr. Hotson, be appointed by this Board, it being in the interests of the Public Schools generally that the highest possible degree of efficiency be required from the teachers, and it being especially in the interests of the Central School at this juncture that Mr. Hotson's successor be equally qualified with him both in standing and attainments to fill the position."

This resolution was supported by Messrs. Bayly, Fraser, and Powell, the discussion being continued for upwards of an hour.

Messrs. Colton and Hodgins were the only nominees, and on a division the vote stood:—

For Mr. Colton—Messrs. Cousins, McPhail, Jones, Wilson, T. J. Reid, Hudson, Lee, Thornton, Williams, Smith and Christie—11.

For Mr. Hodgins—Messrs. Denton, Johnston, Wright, E. B. Reed, Bayly, Fraser and Powell—7.

The Chairman accordingly declared Mr. Colton elected to the position.

On motion of Mr. Hudson, seconded by Mr. Lee, Mr. Thos Woodburn was appointed to fill the position now held by Mr. Colton in Rond street school.

THE STANDING COMMITTEES.

On motion of Mr. Bayly, the senior members of the Wards, together with Messrs. Christie and Johnston, were appointed a Committee to strike Standing Committees, and a few minutes afterwards returned with the following report:—

Finance—Messrs. Reed, Powell, Jones, Johnston and Williams.

School Management — Messrs. Bayly, Smith, Fraser, Cousins, Reed, Wilson, Hudson, Thornton and Wright.

Improvement—Messrs. Christie, McPhail, Smith, Powell, Lee, Reid, Denton, Wilson and Deville.

Library and Printing—Messrs. Cousins, Jones, McPhail, Lee and Denton.

VISITING COMMITTEES.

King Street School—McPhail, Smith and Fraser.

Talbot Street School—Bayly, Wright and Powell.

Huron Street School—McPhail, Cousins and Jones.

Waterloo Street (South)—Wilson, Dunbar and Williams.

Bond Street—Johnston, Hudson and Reid.

Waterloo Street (North)—Christie, Thornton and Lee.

Central and Intermediate Schools—Reid, McPhail, Reed, Bayly, Wright, Denton, Jones, Moffat, Johnston, Wilson, and Bayly.

High School—Moffat, Johnston, Jones, Christie, Denton, Hudson, Fraser, Wright, Reed, Bayly.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, seconded by Mr. Hudson, the regular meeting of the several committees then selected chairmen, as follow:—Finance, Mr. E. B Reed; School Management, Mr. R. Bayly; Improvement, Mr. J. Wilson; Library and Printing, Mr. John Cousins.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Mr. T. J. Reid gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the Board he would move that the services of Mr. St. John Hyttenrauch, as music teacher, be dispensed with.

VENTILATION.

Mr. Wright drew attention to the dirty condition of some of the schools, Rand street school in particular, and also to the improper ventilation. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

The Board then adjourned.

PERSECUTION IN RUSSIA.

Orsolics Perpetrated upon Heretics by Orthodox Peasants

St. Petersburg Correspondence of the Daily Telegraph and Gazette.

The Central Committee at Elisabetgrad was occupied on the 8th of November with the trial of a group of 18, peasants, ringleaders in a melancholy series of conflicts which have disgraced the town of Voznessensk, in the Government of Kherson. In this Government there are considerable agglomerations of a sect called "Stundists," who deny the efficacy of the ceremonies of the Greek Church, and base their religious faith solely on the teachings of the Bible. They hold meetings for the study of the Scriptures and prayer, but have no officiating clergy. They are said to be the descendants of Russian soldiers who for some rather remote period were quartered for a time at Potsdam, and who was converted from the Greek faith by the efforts of German missionaries. Returning to Russia, they were banished to one of the military colonies in the then almost unpeopled south, and their descendants are now numerous in that district. Under the Government of Alexander II. efforts have recently been made to bring these people back to the Greek faith, but their semi Biblical doctrines have been proof against all the seductions of the Greek priests. It appears that the indifference of the clergy excited the fanatical zeal of the orthodox peasants, and a meeting was held under the presidency of the chief man of Voznessensk, before which some leading members of the Stundaist sect were arraigned. They were invited by them to sign a declaration of recantation, publicly to conform to the ordinances of the Greek Church, and to express their readiness to receive 500 blows if they should relapse into Stundaism. Under intimidation the declaration was signed by some, but many stoutly held out. It was then determined that those who refused should be publicly flogged, the next day being fixed for the execution. All the country people in the neighborhood flocked in to witness the performance, and about a thousand spectators were gratified by a spectacle of which Messrs. Jones and Prascovia Shimenko, man and wife, were particularly distinguished by their firmness under persecution. Assisted apparently by the severity of the torments inflicted on them, Vladimir Fedorieff and others, following the example of his baker, gave him 50 blows with rods. Then Efeem Shimenko commenced beating the unfortunate creature. Fatigued at last, he called upon the half fainting woman to ask forgiveness of the crowd, to kiss the cross, and to repeat a prayer. With death apparent before her, this frail creature's courage and confidence desert her not. She refused to ask forgiveness, she rejected the crucifix, saying that it was not lawful to make a representation of God, and for a prayer she said aloud, "God, forgive them; for they know not what they do." Such desperate constancy was not to go unrebuked. Since rods were of no avail, a knout was prepared, and soon her agonies were renewed under a shower of blows administered by a young peasant, Efeem Koshaleff. The flogging continued even when she was too far gone to exhibit any sense of pain. Although medical evidence testified to her having escaped from death, Prascovia has recovered, and when called as a witness before the court, she said, "I am an Evangelist, I am sure my theologists know no other source of religion than the Gospel. We cannot recognize the sanctity of images, but we do not refuse intercourse with the orthodox in affairs which are not contrary to the principles of honor and faith." The example of imbolerance shown by the Government in its treatment of the Molokani and other sectarians is not unnaturally followed by a half barbarous and fanatical people.

..The coming February will be an odd month in several respects. It will have in the first place an odd number of days, owing to its leap-year distinction. It will have an odd number of Sundays—five—which is very odd for the shortest month of the year, and one of the Sundays will be Washington's birthday. It will begin on Sunday and end on Sunday, which is also odd. The five Sundays correspond in date with the five Sundays in the following August, which is odd again. It is said that no one now living will ever see another February so odd; nor will their children or their children's children—sufficient in itself to make the month interesting. Many old superstitions are associated with the month, which originally had 29 days among the Romans in an ordinary year When the Roman Senate, however, decreed that the eighth month should be named after the Emperor Augustus, one day was taken from February and bestowed on August, giving it 31 days, in order that it might not be inferior to July, called after Julius Cæsar. February was the month of purification, from februum, during which the Lupercalia, or Februalia, were celebrated, the festival beginning the 15th and celebrated annually. Lupercalus, or Februus, was the god of fertility, whose appropriate sacrifices were dogs and goats. After the offering, two youths, patricians, were conducted to the altar, when one of the priests touched their foreheads with a sword dipped in the blood of the victims, and another priest washed off the stain with wool soaked in milk. Then the priests sat down to a feast, at which white was plentifully furnished. After rising from the board, they cut the skins of the sacrificed goats in pieces, and covered with some of these, parts of their bodies, in imitation of the deity, represented as half-clad in goat-skins. With the other pieces, converted into thongs, they ran through the streets, striking everybody they met, particularly women, who courted the blow, from the belief that it averted sterility and the pains of travail. The ceremonies of the festival were supposed to symbolize the purification of the people. If it had any such power, the revival of the Lupercalia would be advisable here, where political sins are grievous and innumerable.

Trade, Traffic, and Finance.

Latest Notes by Telegraph and Mail.

CANADIAN FINANCES.

Bradstreet says:—The Bank returns for the Dominion on the 31st of December were published last Saturday, and seem to indicate that the banks are in a strong enough position, but find it difficult to obtain employment for their capital. Circulation has certainly continued to stagnate, having increased $425,000 during the month, which is rather unusual at this season. Deposits of all sorts show a decrease of $2,488,000, which seems to indicate that some people have been making money, and also that they were not disinclined to invest it. The amounts due to the United Kingdom and in foreign countries have increased $334,000, but their sum total is insignificant, amounting only to $962,000. On the other hand, the funds immediately available in the shape of specie, Dominion notes, Government stocks, and moneys due by other banks at home or abroad have increased $3,267,000 during the month, and amounted to $11,942,000, against $10,675,000 at the end of November. It is significant, however, that while of this increase $2,069,000 consists of sums due by foreign banks and $145,000 of increased investments in stocks, the amount of notes discounted has decreased no less than $3,930,000 during the month, and stands alone at $20,000,000 below its amount in December, 1878.

REPORTS OF MERCHANDISE.

The value of exports of merchandise by months for 1878 and 1879 were as follows:

	1878.	1879.
January	$ 69 239 089	$ 59,469,194
February	66,244,619	64,926,737
March	71,726,578	61,154,745
April	69,185,783	54,341,862
May	54,706,594	52,325,380
June	46,734,893	45,095,081
July	47,734,189	50,931,836
August	49,242,619	58,640,903
September	58,184,967	62,444,032
October	65,567,989	87,760,239
November	70,103,425	75,304,506
December	67,481,382	80,834,457
Total	$737,092,673	$765,130,499

This statement represents the value and not the quantity of exported merchandise, and values were generally lower in 1879 than in 1878. The quantity of merchandise exported was at least 7 per cent greater in 1879, as shown by the above comparison of values. The increase in exportation was mainly in breadstuffs, cotton, provision and live stock.

GRAIN CROPS OF AUSTRALIA.

New York, Jan. 30, 1880.

To the Editor of the Commercial Bulletin:—

I notice in your paper of this day a report of the crops in River Plate, and the exports from Buenos Ayres to Europe. It is very important to know what the wheat is grown, so as to ascertain the cause of the decline at Mark Lane and the Continent. The markets will be much lower after the arrivals from Australia. The Australian harvest has been very large, and is now shipping by way of Suez to England. My last advice makes the crop of wheat:—

Dec. 1—South Australia.....Tons. 375,000
Dec. 6—Victoria.....150,000
Dec. 6—New Zealand.....150,000

Total.....675,000
or 25,000,000 bushels.

The quality is superior, weighing 63 pounds per bushel. With the stock in this country and in Europe, such arrivals will cause a further decline.—CHAS FOOT.

REPORTS TO THE UNITED STATES.

The following are the values of exports from the port of Hamilton to the United States alone for the month of January, 1880:—

ARTICLES.	VALUES.
Animals (horses)	$ 3,553 00
Barley	688 50
Lumber	2,334 87
Malt	11,706 Greek faith, but their
Pig iron	29,955 00
Rye	109 95
Sewing Machines	4,010 75
Skins of animals	7,002 17
Wrought iron	1,097 59
Wool	42,292 13
Miscellaneous articles	4,248 52
Total	$107,881 28

Value of exports for Jan., 1879, 41,150 66

Increase.....$ 66,730 62

OBSTACLES TO PROFITABLE OYSTER CULTURE

N. Y. Sun:—Oysters planted in the waters on the south side of Long Island have not done well during the past season. Last year they grew finely, and during the past ten days they have greatly improved, and

J.M. LONGAN & CO.,
Grocers,
WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS, 145
DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.

Wednesday, February 4, 1880.

ASTRONOMICAL.

London, Wednesday, Feb. 4, 1880.

Sun rises at.....7.14 a.m. | Moon rises ..... 1.26 a.m.
Sun sets at.....5.15 p.m. | Moon sets..... 11.38 a.m.
Days to end of year—331
Lent begins on Wednesday, 11th

MIDNIGHT WEATHER REPORT.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Indications for the Lower Lake region, threatening and light snow, with a slight fall in the temperature.

ONCE MORE.—John McAlpine Stevenson, the younger, was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny, at the instance of Kelly & Sons, but as they did not lay an information against him, John was detained for being too drunk to navigate.

ARRESTED FOR FALSE PRETENCES.—Mr. John Scanlan, of this city, was arrested by Chief of Police Capron, of Ingersoll, in London Monday evening and taken to that town, on the charge of receiving $30 worth of goods from a firm there under false pretences. Mr. Scanlan was subsequently bailed in the sum of $600 to appear on Monday next for examination.

LOCAL LEGAL.—In the Superior Courts at Toronto on Monday, the following cases were disposed of:—Mr. Mowat's lunatic, Hoopes obtained an order declaring Robert McLarty a lunatic, and referring it to the Master at Whitby to appoint a committee to his estate. Regina vs. Hark.—Judgment.—This was a criminal prosecution at the instance of a private party, in which the defendant had been successful, and thus obtained a rule nisi to compel the prosecutor to pay the costs. The rule was discharged without costs.

RELEASED.—The man named John Burgess, who was arrested by a city detective on Monday on suspicion of having stolen a gloveskin his possession, by offering them at 75 per dozen, and who was remanded until the person from whom he said he procured them could be heard from, was released from custody afternoon by Mr. Roe, of Stratford, the owner of a "dime store," stated that he had given the gloves to Burgess to peddle, thinking that by so doing he could obtain a better price for them by that means than by offering them as portion of a bankrupt stock. The accused was therefore honorably acquitted of any blame in the matter.

POLICE COURT PECULIARITIES.—At the Police Court, yesterday, Roderick and Ann McLeod were charged with keeping a disorderly house on the corner of Richmond and Hobart streets, and Alice Leadbeater was charged with being an inmate of the same. Mrs. McLeod denied the charge rather indignantly, but afterwards, when the Sergeant Major said he knew the institution to be a low character, changed her tone and accused him of "making signs" to get in. Alice Leadbeater took a falsetto E flat and lay upon the seat in the cage unable to raise her head, and subsequently managed to shower down curses, libel and examples of dissipation. They were remanded for a day. Henry Smith failed to appear to answer to a charge of drunk his complainant was present to give the prosecuting evidence on a charge of abusive language. Henry is the complainant's nephew, and on Saturday night, according to the evidence, he came in his uncle's door and made use of insulting and profane language. He was fined $2 and $4 costs, and was given four days in which to pay the amount.

THE CARNIVAL.—The attendance of skaters at the Crystal Skating Rink last night was good. The costumes were not especially elegant, grotesque or original; still they were not lacking in taste or design. The following are the only ones who left their cards at the Rink office:—"Major," Master C. Grigg; "Water," J. Gowan; "Pack of Cards," Freddie Tiffany; "Snowflake," E. R. Mighinish; "A Broken Down Count," H. S. Mighinish; "Sailor Boy," Master Vesey Wigmore; "Darkness," Miss Lizzie Wigmore; "Day Light," Miss Hattie Allen; "Old Woman," Kelly Anderson; "Dutchman," O. Danks; Morning Star, Miss E. A. Jennings; "Evening Star," Miss E. Jennings. Until nine o'clock the ice, which was in excellent condition, was occupied by between 100 and 150 costumed subjects of the King of Carnival, and after that hour about fifty others joined in the lively sport. A portion of the band of the 7th Fusiliers furnished excellent music, and, taken altogether, carnival was a success.

G. W. R MODEL SWITCHES, TRACES AND CARS.—A complete model of a three-throw railway switch and track, also two freight cars, all on improved principles, as used by the Great Western Railway at present, was sent to Toronto Monday to be on exhibition before the Railway Committee of the Local Legislature. The models are all made quarter size, and seeing the arrangements for the protection of life in the walk on the top of the freight cars for brakesmen which extends over the end of each car, nearly meeting, consequently there will be a space of from nine to twelve inches to run over. The ladders for getting up and down from the top of the cars are all on the side, instead of between as many are now used. The semaphore at the three-throw switch has a board which points the track to the right or left, upon which the train will be run as it proceeds. For the main line the board does not show, as it points along the line. At night for the switch a small white light is associated with the red light, showing the route right, left, as may be, when the switch is turned. The usual green light is used for the main track.

A HEARTLESS WRETCH.—A sad case of heartless deception in connection with one of these resorts came under the notice of the St. Thomas police authorities last week. It appears that about a fortnight ago a young girl named Matilda Lavin arrived in that town, intending to work out as a domestic. Being a stranger, she accosted the first person she encountered, and asked him to show her to a private boarding house. Instead of complying with her request, the scoundrel conducted her to the establishment of one Josie Bain, a damsel of questionable character, on Stanley street there. The girl soon became aware of the character of the den to which she had been taken, and looking herself in one of the rooms of the house, she says she cried all through the long night and in the morning made her escape from the infamous premises before the other inmates were awake. The darkness on which the girl made led to the arrest of Bain on a charge of keeping a house of ill-repute, and she was summoned before the St. Thomas Police Magistrate and fined $30 and costs for the offence. The money was paid.

A CROOKED EGG-DEALER.—Some days ago there appeared in these columns an account of the swindling operations of Mr. John Gordon, a wealthy Dunwich farmer. The item in question further stated that Gordon took with him about $9,000 in cash, and the motive of his departure was to be found in the fact that he had been a heavy endorser for his wife's son, an egg-dealer in Dutton. George Pilgrim was the egg-dealer in question, and his affairs became so involved that he left Iona about two months ago, but on returning lately was taken into custody at his father-in-law's house and taken to St. Thomas. Pilgrim was straightened on a charge of appropriating to his own use twenty thousand dozen of limed eggs the property of the Molsons Bank, of which he was the bailee. The case was enlarged until the 5th inst. to allow of a settlement being effected. The amount of Pilgrim's indebtedness to the bank is about $4 000, more than half being secured. The actual unsecured sum in which he is said to be a defaulter is $1,800, and there is a probability that an arrangement will be brought about.

LOCAL NOTICES.

THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT in Victoria Hall promises to be one of its. Choice musical entertainments held in this city. Mr. Caldwell and Mr. H. Chas. of Hamilton; Dr. Sippi and the Mozart Choral Union, of this city, will take part.

Oshkosh collars and cuffs at Gwilck's, 174 Dundas street.

You can get shirts for 85c., linen front and cuff, at Garlick's shirtmaker. 4-23 tu

ODDS AND ENDS.

Compiled, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

An Englishman speaks of the nasty in coherence of Walt Whitman.

A hen is a model for dancers. She never leaves her set except to eat and drink.

The influence of Knut among English readers of philosophical works is growing.

When two men put their heads together it is for mutual advantage, but it ain't so with goats

Since cashiers began to alter accounts double entry book-keeping has been somewhat changed.

A Western man says he attended a leap year party and that the ladies acted like perfect gentlemen.

Never blow down a lamp chimney to extinguish the flame, for it is quite liable to return the compliment and blow you up.

A man is always wanting somebody to tell him how handsome he looks. A woman will just stand before a glass and do it for herself.

The habits of fruit are discreditable: you can see a raisin box, a fig drum, and an apple stand all day on the corner of the street near the Post Office.

Burglar—"An' then, my lord, this 'ere counsel he brings it in me that when I sold this 'ere silver I didn't give my right name and address. Why, my lord, I never did!"

An old man in Virginia jumped into the well to spite his wife for running him in debt. She let him stand in three feet of cold water until he agreed to deed her the whole farm.

Years ago the American Bible Society sent copies of the Uio Indians with red morocco-covered Testamenta, but the covers are all that are left now. The leaves were used on wedding.

As much as twenty centuries lie between some people in knowledge and development; yet those who are so far behind invariably consider themselves the monopolists of common sense.

Miss Harriet Hosmer is said to be still resolved to disocver perpetual motion, and has taken workshops near Westminster to pursue her efforts. She expects to be successful by midsummer.

Old Prosy:—"What I say is this, doctor: I approve entirely of fox-hunting as a manly, health giving and invigorating amusement, but not as a pursuit, sir." Irish Doctor:—"Faith, you'll find many t' agree with ye there. Especially foxes."

Mr Joseph Mass, the tenor, who was so popular at concerts here a few years ago, and of whom a parvenu New Jersey audience once complained because he was too emphatic in manner when he sang in quartet, with his thumbs in his waistcoat pockets, is winning laurels in London opera.

"John, what color is that?" "Gloves, love." "But that other?" "Allspice, my beloved." "But last's chosen another?" "Lemon, apples, beloveder." "Just one more?" "Raisins, my most beloveder."

"Well, John, if you would only drink a little brandy, now, I think you would make a good minute pie."

Nine tenths of those who admire so fervidly and write so rantrously of Mr. Bayne Jones' pictures are, says an English critic, "like those who buy the hasty bags of Morris and read the poetry of Keats, simply casting in their lot with the followers of a new school of emotion, well satirized by Du Maurier under the title of the 'Intense.'"

A Welshman suggests that "either a Welsh patriot or many patriots combined, or, that failing, the town of Carnarvon, Wales, should contribute a sum of money for the erection of a stone tablet 'upon which shall be engraved in large and characteristic letters the names of all the Welshmen Princes of Wales in succession,' and then left in the tablet 'a hole bored deep in the walls of Carnarvon Castle, as a proof of the loyalty of the Welsh nation over which it occupied the first Prince of Wales.'"

The preacher was talking to the Sunday-school about the power of religion, and the duration of the sermon to the cause that the attendance upon the services. Finally he asked if there was anything to which people would go twice every Sunday and through the week as they did to church, to which a small boy replied, "Please sir, the front seat spoke out!"—"Yeth, thir, a timeus world it ith 'em every pop it they don't get a high five, like they do to church."—The preacher thought it was time to stop.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The lady with the very large bonnet will be in the concert this evening, sure.

Vernor hit it this time, and brought the snow on the day he said he would. Thanks.

William Miller was run in last night on the familiar "drunk and a vagrant." He has been at the Central before.

There were registered with Mr. T. S. Mc Cord, the Clerk of Petersville, during January, seven births and one death.

The London East Councillors meet tonight for business. Let a movement be made in the direction of a water supply.

Messrs. Lamb and Bogue, of this District, are exhibiting their poultry at the Ontario Poultry Show, now being held at Guelph.

Charles H. Kelly laid in more fermented corn juice than was judicious yesterday, and wound up at night in the Central Police Station.

Squire Peters has permitted the assault case, Friendship vs. Brooks, which came off at St. John's recently, to be withdrawn, on defendant paying costs.

The many friends of Dr. M. Forster, of London East, will be glad to hear that he has fully recovered from his recent indisposition and has resumed practice.

Henry Patterson, formerly of London, who attempted suicide in Guelph on Saturday night, is not in a dangerous condition, but is pronounced insane.

P. M. Fro. Travers, of Elgin Lodge of Masonry, St. Thomas, was the recipient of a Past Master's jewel from his brethren on the eve of his departure from St. Thomas.

A young man named William Pring, while attending a saw of Mr. A. Pring's wood yard yesterday afternoon, had one of his hands severely cut by the palm coming in contact with the saw.

Mr. John Turner, of S. Turner & Co., carriage makers, while cutting a piece of bar iron, on Monday afternoon, had one of his knee caps injured by one of the pieces suddenly flying off the anvil.

Twenty-four laborers were at work on the Exhibition Grounds yesterday afternoon, and the Uio Indians with red morocco-covered Testamenta, but the covers are all that are left now. The leaves were used on wedding.

Constables Sissons and McCollum passed through here yesterday afternoon with Franklin Carnes, the Dayton burglar, en route to Kingston, where he will serve five years for robbing Richard Hobbs, of that township.

Mr. Chas. Lilley, of London East, while alighting from a sleigh at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, yesterday afternoon, had the misfortune to injure his leg, slightly, by a sudden twist. He will be about again in a day or two as usual.

As Mr. R. Dolbear, of Springfield, was driving from London to that village the other night, he lit a pipe and then fell into the arms of Morpheus. He was startled from his slumber by finding himself on fire. Loss, a new overcoat and part of the buggy-top.

The Olde Folkes Concert was repeated at the Asylum for the Insane last night for the benefit of the officers, attendants and patients. The entertainment proved a great source of amusement to those for whom it was specially given, and the promoters of it deserve the heartiest of thanks for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE.—A special meeting of the shareholders of the Masonic Temple Company was held in the Masonic Hall last night, for the purpose of confirming the appointment of the Directors and other special business. There were quite a number of shareholders present, and considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings. Col. Lowrie, the President, occupied the chair, and Mr. R. B. Hungerford officiated as Secretary. The Directors elected at the annual meeting were, owing to some informality in regard to payment of stock, debarred from acting as such. That matter has since been arranged, and the Board were confirmed in their positions. A general discussion ensued on the advisability of commencing building operations as soon as possible. The object of the meeting was in favor of having the land paid for previous to breaking ground, and a strong appeal was made to the shareholders to pay up the stock subscribed for at once. The probability now is that the Temple will assume more definite shape than it has for months past. It was strongly urged that the subscribers should be made to carry out the agreements they had entered into.

The Needham Burglary Case.

Examination of the Prisoners

THE EVIDENCE AGAINST THEM.

Acquittal of the Accused by the Magistrates.

The preliminary examination of the prisoner, James McRoberts, charged with burglarizing the house of William Needham, on the 13th concession of London township, to which reference has been frequently made in the Free Press, took place in the Division Court room in the Court House, at 12.30 o'clock yesterday. The interest manifested at Bryanston was unabated, and several hundred persons, among whom were a number of women, crowded the room. Squires Peters, Grant and Johnston officiated as Magistrates.

Mr. E. Meredith appeared for the prisoner, and before proceeding with the evidence, asked for the discharge of Uriah McRoberts, who had been remanded to London from Bryanston.

The Magistrates withheld judgment on the request for the present.

Mr. C. Hutchinson, Crown Attorney, read the charge against James McRoberts, which sets forth that "two persons, masked or disguised, and whose names are unknown, did on or about the seventh day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy nine, in the night time of said day, at the said township of London, feloniously break and enter into the dwelling of the said complainant, and then and there feloniously steal and carry away $500," &c.

William Needham was first sworn, he said,—I am the complainant in this case, and recollect the night between the sixth and seventh. I went to bed at night, and was awakened by the noise of stamping feet in the room down stairs; my brother Richard and myself then got up and proceeded from his room; I got up and went down into my brother's room, but knew as he couldn't say anything; I met with some man in the room, and he endeavored to choke me, but said nothing; I pulled his hand off, got his thumb in my mouth, and gave it a sharp bite. I suppose I was then either tripped or knocked down, and the man struck me on the head with a heavy weight, which I took to be a pistol; I got hold of it with my hand and found it to be a pistol; he then demanded my money, and I told him my pocket book was down stairs and I would get it; he said he would shoot me, having previously heard me tell my brother to go after getting the money we both came down stairs; when I got down everything was quiet, and I could hear two men with me talking; I made for the door; I understood he was calling to another man by that name; when I saw two men pass the window, though which there came a dim light; I could not see them, but took them to be two armed men; the man who came down stairs made immediately for the door; I cannot say positively who the man in the prisoner James McRoberts, but knew he had a brother and an uncle named Uriah; I heard the man's voice who demanded the money, and having heard the prisoner's voice since then I take it to be the same voice; after the two men left I went back to bed feeling pretty badly used up; I knew my brother would carry a shotgun with him; I got up and went down stairs; I found the window open, and the shutters of the house to which we moved; we left a lantern covering the description of the lantern produced, although I could not swear positively to it; we left an umbrella behind like unto one produced, but I think the handle was of another colour; we sent for the lantern on the Monday after the robbery, but my son had retrieved without it.

To Mr. Meredith—McRoberts was not present on the day we moved, but was there on the day following, and went to live in it inside of a week; I think McRoberts was given the key on the day we moved; there are two doors and four windows from the outside, but they were not nailed down; the old clothing was missing; I saw the hat on the day we moved, as my attention was drawn to it, and recollect the night between the sixth and seventh; I went to bed at night, and was awakened by the noise of stamping feet in the room down stairs; my brother Richard slept with me, and the noise proceeded from his room; I got up and went down into my brother's room, but knew as he couldn't say anything; I met with some man in the room, and he endeavored to choke me, but said nothing; I pulled his hand off, got his thumb in my mouth, and gave it a sharp bite. I suppose I was then either tripped or knocked down, and the man struck me on the head with a heavy weight, which I took to be a pistol; I got hold of it with my hand and found it to be a pistol; he then demanded my money, and I told him my pocket book was down stairs and I would get it; he said he would shoot me, having previously heard me tell my brother to go after getting the money we both came down stairs; when I got down everything was quiet, and I could hear two men with me talking; I made for the door; I understood he was calling to another man by that name; when I saw two men pass the window, through which there came a dim light; I could not see them, but took them to be two armed men; the man who came down stairs made immediately for the door; I cannot say positively who the man in the prisoner James McRoberts, but knew he had a brother and an uncle named Uriah; I heard the man's voice who demanded the money, and having heard the prisoner's voice since then

FEB. 4, 1880
TO
FEB. 13, 1880
IS IN MUTILATED CONDITION

JARLINGS' CELEBRATED LONDON
mber Ale,
ager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
ers from the trade respectfully solicited.

Died.

Strathroy, on the 27th inst., Mrs. George B. aged 71 years.
The funeral will take place today (Saturday) from the late residence, Strathroy, at four o'clock. Friends and acquaintances will attend without further notice.
Westminster, on the 26th inst. Cyrus W. ter, aged 77 years.
The funeral will leave his late residence, con. 1, Westminster, tomorrow (Sunday) at 2 p. m. Friends and acquaintances will accept this invitation.
London Township, on the 26th instant, with belovèd wife of Mr. George Roboce, the third consumption, aged 29 years.
The funeral will leave the late residence on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, for St. George's church. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully requested to attend without further notice.
London city, on the 25th instant, Mrs. Bridget Finn, aged 60 years.
The funeral on Saturday, 28th instant, at 2.30 p.m. from her late residence, in rear of 206 Dundas street.
London Township, on the 26th instant, Kate Keeler, youngest daughter of James and Harriet Robb, aged 2 years and 8 months.
The funeral at 2 o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon from her parents' residence, lot 9, con. 2.

AMUSEMENTS.

LECTURE—REV. W. H. MILBURN.—The Blind Man Eloquent," and world-renowned preacher, will lecture in Victoria Tabernacle by Monday March 3rd. Subject—Rich-mond-ology Simplified, the Orator and Wit. Secure reserved seats, 35 cents; gallery, 25 cents. Plan of the hall at Nordheimer's. 1026
MRS. CHARLES G. MOORE'S Concert in aid of the Protestant Orphans' Home, W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A., Tuesday, March 9th, at 8. Tickets 50 cents, at Nordheimer's and Mr. Saxton's, 402 Richmond street. Plan of hall open next Monday, March 1st, at Nordheimer's. df
MRS. CALDWELL AND MR. Clark, of Hamilton, Victoria Hall, March 4th. df
M. C. A.—GRAND PARLOR entertainment on Tuesday evening. First-class programme. Admission 25c. 1026

MEETINGS.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, 198th inst. Morning, "The secret of the Lord is ours;" evening, Prof. Swing's sermon, "Heaven and Hell." R. W. Wallace, df
BAPTIST CHURCH, CORNER of York and Talbot streets. A. Grant Morning services, 11 o'clock; evening, 7 o'clock. Sunday School 2.45 p.m. Ex. is welcomed at pastor's residence, 70 York 1159 y
LONDON FIELD BATTERY.—The members will parade at 2.30, today (Saturday) morning, at the Gun Shed. df
MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARY. Dundas street Centre M. Church, Sab. Feb. 29th, 1880. Sermons will be preached by Rev. Leonard Gantz, at 11 a.m.; Rev. W. W. Carson, at 6.30 p.m. Monday evening, 1st March, Plenary meeting at 7.30 p.m., to be addressed by Rev. L. Gantz, W. W. Carson and others. df
WELLINGTON ST. CHURCH.—Missionary sermons will be preached next Sab. by Rev. W. W. Carson, a.m., and by Leonard Gantz, 6.30 p.m. Anniversary tea Tuesday evening following. 1027
M. C. A.—SPECIAL NOTICE to season ticket-holders—The "Tannahill" engagement has been cancelled and will be filled by a concert by Mr. Caldwell and Miss Clark, of Hamilton, on the 15th of March. 1026 tf
M. C. A.—SABBATH SERVICES.—Gospel Temperance at 4 p.m. and praise service in the evening at 8.30. Address by Jas. H. Gardiner, student of the Toronto Baptist College. Free to all. df

BOARD AND LODGING.

COMFORTABLY FURNISHED room, with board, wanted by a married couple, where no other boarders are kept; preferred. Address "Rooms," Post Office. df
BOARD, WITH OR WITHOUT lodging, at 109 Maple street. 1026

WANTED TO RENT.

HOTEL OR SALOON WANTED to rent. All answers kept private. Mentions. Answer EDWARD BRIAN, London P. O.
LOST OR FOUND.
BLACK AND TAN PUP LOST. Ears not cut. Answers to name of Jack. Anyone returning him to 640 Talbot street will be rewarded. df

SITUATIONS WANTED.

NUMBER OF GOOD SERVANTS, male and female, vast situations, sure to be furnished and unfurnished. Also, farms to rent or worked on shares, near this city. Apply J. Cranney, 56 Dundas st., London. 1026
NEWSPAPER MEN—FIRST-CLASS Advertising Agent, Canvasser and Collector open for engagement. Satisfactory references. Address W. E. L., Box 260, Strathroy. 1026tf

SERVANTS WANTED.

NURSE GIRL WANTED.—Reference required. Apply to Mrs. Cleo, 191 Richmond street. 1026tf

BUSINESS CHANCES.

PARTNER WANTED, WITH A small capital, or will sell or lease the business with the business. Apply to 260 Dundas street. 1015

REAL ESTATE.

A LARGE LOT FOR SALE, ON which is a new two-story brick residence, finished, 9 rooms, nervous apartments, kitchen, pantry, cellar, hard and soft water; stable and coach house. Worth $4,000. Westminster Township, on the Gore road, 2½ miles from the city market, 1½ miles from Byron, on the premises. Also BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 1½ storey brick and concrete, planted with fruit trees, on Alma street, off Dundas street. Apply to P. B. Gould Block. 1026
HOTEL FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE for Farm Property.—The Victoria Hotel, centrally located in the village of Strathroy, is under license and doing a good business. This is one of the best hotels in the West, and will be sold cheap. Terms easy. Apply to D. M. Campbell, Strathroy. 1026
HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.—Five acres good land, situated on the Governor's road, three miles from the city market, with a frame cottage, barn, stable and wagon shed (new); also a good well on premises. For terms, etc., apply to Jno. Rose, Francis street, corner Base line. 1026
HOUSE.—FOR SALE A GOOD, substantial brick house, six rooms, good cellar, hard and soft water; stable and coach house, and good garden. Terms moderate. Enquire for particulars of FRED ROBLIN, 210 King street. 1026
HOUSE.—FOR SALE, IN THE choicest locality in the city, a two-story brick house, in good repair, containing ten rooms, with large garden attached. Apply on the premises 283 Queen's ave., or to JOHN PASCOE, 424 Fall Mall st. A376
GOOD FOR SALE, CHEAP.—A Woodyear Reform Westminster. tf FURNITURE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CASH PAID FOR WOOLLEN and cotton rags, old rope, bagging, waste papers, old books, ledgers written full, newspapers, copper horseshoe, old brass, zinc, lead, iron, &c. Bottles, jars, &c., bought and sold. 461 A BYARD, 260 Wellington street. Stock cleared by the city. A'dly
FRESH BROOK TROUT JUST arrived—15c. per lb.—T. BROCK, Fish Market. tf
MARRIAGE LICENSES CAN BE obtained on application at residence or office of EDWARD HARRIS. 1.Middly
NOTICE OF REMOVAL.—JAMES F. BUNT, Feather and Mattress Factory, to 360 Richmond street. ly
LADIES, THOSE BEAUTIFUL Switches made by Mme. M. Bran, the celebrated artist, for 10c. per ounce, cannot be excelled in Canada. Factory—No. 213 Richmond street, London. 1026tf
SPECIAL NOTICE.—REMOVAL. Removal.—J. McKENZIE has removed to the Sewing Machine Repair Shop and Attachment Sewing Machine Repair and Dundas street, next door to Wm. Carter's old stand. N.B.—This is the only A. Wilson's old stand. Part and Attachment Sewing Machine Repair. Better facilities for repairing of the city. Also Needles, Oil, Shuttles, and cheapest Sewing Machine Emporium in the city. All of Celebrated Machines on sale. All of Celebrated Machines on sale. All 3 months' Guaranteed Machines on sale. All 3 months' Guaranteed Machines on sale. All 3 months' Guaranteed

The Free Press.

Saturday, February 28, 1880.

THE KNIGHTS OF THE SCREW.

Our Grit friends have felt and feel still more chagrined and humiliated over the exposures that have been made respecting that jolly junketting which the Ontario Government enjoyed in their month's holiday to Winnipeg than their opponents desire. What though the whole affair more resembled old Silenus and his companions out on a jolly good spree, than a Canadian Governor on a tour of observation, though the cigars and whiskey, the wines, brandies and Islay malt, were out of all proportion to the consumption of solids, and though the noble red man pronounced the procession "a big drunk," yet, though the party were of a thirsty race, there is no reason in the world why Mr. Mowat and his friends should lay it so much to heart. They will outlive the scandal if they have only the sense to cease stirring it. It is a dry and thirsty climate up about Thunder Bay, and the classic soil around the Keeling Hotel, the town plot, and the velvet banks of the sparkling Kaministiquia. No wonder the consumption should have been in the ratio of "a ha'porth of bread to two gallons of grog, the want of aqueous vapor in the atmosphere accounts for all.

Would not the grim apologists esteem it wiser to adopt a defence, based upon these suggestions, than attempt to extenuate the disgraceful scenes by looking for a parallel for a case that is without a parallel; unless we could find it in a Gypsy camp. It is nothing more or less than a simple act of insanity to try to break the force of this case by placing it in juxtaposition with anything of the same nature that ever occurred in Canada. Only think of it:—

1,800 cigars.
262 bottles of ale.
161 bottles of wine.
22 bottles of brandy.
182 bottles of soda, seltzer and Apollinaris water.
2 bottles of bitters.
138 bottles of old rye.

No use in going any further. This settles the affair, and sets all competition at defiance.

Now, when his Honor and a single minister were able to make away with between five and a thousand dollars on a little pleasure trip of their own, there cannot be much gained by inviting the public attention to any other transaction recorded in Canadian annals. The Sandfield Macdonald Government, with the whole Legislature, once took a trip to enter the new townships along our North and Northwest, but this had a well defined object in view. In all the cases that can be trumped up as an offset to this pretty little bill of five or six thousand dollars, run up by his Honor and Mr. Wood, we find a worthy object in view, some affecting the development of the country, some with the view of obtaining useful information on the part of the Legislature, and in others to give effect to some of the benevolent schemes of the Government. But it has not yet been made clear what object beyond a pleasure trip on temperance principles, His Honor and his single adviser had in view when this grand absorption of fluids took place. Why, had they taken the legislature of the Province along, and entertained them with the wines, the ales, the cigars, the whiskey and the brandy, to say nothing of the Apollinaris water, the good cheer, the relaxation and the pure air of the lakes and forests, might have cleared the sobweats from their brains, acted as a general tonic, and braced them up for a more vigorous performance of their legislative functions. But for His Honor and a single Minister to guzzle six thousand dollars' worth of drinks, smoke 1,800 cigars, eh, oh, that is another matter altogether. There is one thing in which Mr. Wood is decidedly behind a distinguished prototype of his, and that is, instead of producing these accounts in all their innocent ugliness, he might have had the whole charged to the account of "Contra"!

These verdant defenders of the great guzzle will do well to keep shady regarding the Sandfield Macdonald Government and their trips, since they were all designed in the interest of the country, all of which is evidently gained by what they saw and learned on these trips. But one of the children of the sun, the brightest luminary in Gritdom, has found an answer to all and sundry who venture to criticise this lordly jollification of the knights of the screw. Just listen to this and see what a true genius can effect in a difficult case. Mr. Blake's cab hire while Minister of Justice was less for equal portions of time than that of Sir John Macdonald, and therefore his honor and Mr. Wood didn't drink the whiskey. The man who cannot see the force of this logic must be a donkey.

A writer in the Voltaire, who signs himself "Un Russe," paints a deplorable picture of the terrors by which the Czar is haunted and of the precautions taken to secure his person from injury. At one time the Emperor of all the Russias was in the habit of wearing a coat of mail, very delicate and simple, but, unable to endure the weight, he has abandoned this sort of safety. His uniforms, however, are now specially prepared, and are said to be steeped in a particular wash which renders them bullet proof. The carriages and sledges used by the monarch are also plated with iron, and such is the mysterious secrecy with which he is surrounded that even the most trusted policemen are ignorant half an hour before-hand in what direction he is going. The cook is watched at his work by two special employes, and the kitchen door is guarded by two sentinels. The wines are tasted by experts, and only offered to the Czar when they are convinced that no poison is lurking in them. Food as he is of a good cigar, the Emperor is obliged, from similar motives of prudence, to forego the pleasures of smoking. Such a life must be the life of the greatest autocrat in the world, who must now and then envy the lot even of the meanest of his subjects.

Professor Swift, the Rochester astronomer, thinks that the despatch announcing that Dr. Gould has found a comet which is "passing the sun" has been distorted in transmission. He says:—

"A comet would not only not make a black spot on the sun, but it is highly improbable if such a transit could be seen with the closest scrutiny and with high magnifying powers. Not a well attested instance is on record of a comet transiting the sun. I have seen an eighth magnitude star undimmed through a comet over one hundred thousand miles in diameter, and the faint light of the star rendered the comet for the time being invisible. A true rendering, I think, would be as follows: 'A great comet is approaching the sun, moving north.'"

Traces of Prehistoric Man have been found within the last week or two at the Madoc mines, back of Belleville. These curious relics of a long extinct race consist of several strange coins, embedded in the ore taken from a mine worked by Messrs. Cox, Mitchell & Co. The Ontario, which gives an account of the discovery, remarks:—"The distance below the surface of the ground at which those relics of a former race were found, justifies the conclusion that they belonged to a period long anterior to the first settlement on this part of the continent, if not anterior to the (Spanish) discovery of America. The figures with which the coins are said to be embellished may possibly lead to a determination of their date and value."

CHRONIC WHININGS AT OTTAWA.

Another Workingmen's demonstration has taken place at Ottawa. One of the speakers said that "it was through Tory "pledges and promises the workingmen of "Canada were brought to their present "unfortunate position." It is curious that these demonstrations always take place at Ottawa. No such complaints arise elsewhere, and it is shrewdly suspected that these men have been improperly influenced to kick up a row at the doors of Parliament for political effect. Just as in Ireland, a certain class are striving to make capital out of the misfortunes of their countrymen, so in Canada there are those who are not slow in contributing any sickness in work to the "Tory Government." It is an unworthy business to be engaged in. As a matter of fact distress does not prevail. The season has been exceptionally fine and open. In this city, as in others, no necessity has been found to resort to such expedients for relief such as soup kitchens, while from $60 to $80 per month covers all the outlays on behalf of those, for whom aid is really required. The opening season is promising of employment to those willing and able to work. The monetary condition of affairs is better than for a long time past at this period of the year. Strength is the prevailing condition, one that augurs well for the future. If any wide-spread distress existed matters would not be thus. Meetings of the unemployed would have been held elsewhere than at Ottawa if complaints were rife. But at Ottawa a few discontented people are always to be found ready to rail against the "Tory "Government," especially when Parliament is in session. It is the fact that the policy of the existing Administration is one peculiarly favorable to the working-man. Large public works are being carried on, giving employment to thousands. The fierce fire of foreign competition has been held in check, giving to the Canadian a better chance than he ever had before. It is difficult to see what more the Government can do, except it undertaken to provide every man with a comfortable house and a "free breakfast table." It may come to that some day, when communistic ideas become more popular, that every one will be engaged in working for and feeding everybody else, with Government as a sort of supervisory body, to see that hot rolls are duly served in the morning, beefsteak and onions at dinner time, and a strong glass of punch at night. But at present Government is not charged with such duties. So far as their duties extend they are carried on to the benefit of all classes. That there will be the unfortunate and the suffering is true enough. They are ever present. In all countries and under every form of Government they make their appearance, and will continue to do so so long as a percentage among humanity are either incapable or unwilling to provide for themselves. It is gratifying to know that the chronic whining at Ottawa does not exist elsewhere, and that the prevailing sentiment is that the Government is doing all that it is possible for them to do to make Canada prosperous and its people happy.

THE USE OF SUBORDINATES.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie seeks to escape responsibility for the selection of the eastern terminus of the Pacific Railway by the plea that it was selected by the Engineer, Mr. Fleming, and accepted on his recommendation, thus throwing the onus on a subordinate. This is a very convenient way of getting over a difficulty, though hardly an honest one, nor one always acted upon. For example, a subordinate, Mr. C. J. Brydges, reported against the purchase of steel rails, on account of a promised fall in the market, but Mr. Mackenzie, as Minister of Public Works, appears to have felt no obligation to accept the advice. He quite disregarded it. He chose to go on and buy 50,000 tons of the rails in a lowering market, and at a loss of about $2,000,000 to the country, well knowing that they would not be needed for three or four years to come. What his peculiar objects were in so doing was afterwards revealed by the books of Cooper-Fairman & Co.

Famines like that which is now devastating Ireland have been lamentably frequent during the last few years. In 1859, absolute starvation prevailed for several months throughout Finland, and along the Baltic seaboard, aggravated by a frost of unexampled severity, which destroyed hundreds of those who made for the towns in quest of relief. In 1871, a yet more terrible famine desolated the population of northern China, many of the sufferers being driven to gnaw the bark from the trees, and even to devour the bodies of the dead. Similar horrors were enacted on a smaller scale in Southern India during the great drought of 1873. The failure of the Bengal rice crop at the close of that year swept away, during the twelve months of that year, at least a half-a million lives. The dearth in Bulgaria in 1873, and that in Cashmere a twelve month ago, are still fresh in public memory, while the present year has been ushered in by three distinct famines—in Fairons of Honduras, in Canada and in the Persian province of Seistan.

An interesting auction took place the other day at the Hotel Drouot, in Paris. Two thousand two hundred and fifty unclaimed prizes of the lottery instituted for the benefit of the sufferers by the inundations in Murcia were brought to the hammer without reserve and knocked down to the highest bidders. Some of the objects that were offered to public competition may fairly claim a conspicuous place among the "Curiosities of Auctioneering." Who ever heard of such lottery prizes as vouchers for a dinner at Vefour's, Bignon's, or the Cafe Riche! Again a whole batch of vouchers entitling their wearers to gratuitous consultations with eminent Parisian physicians, had found no claimants among the prize-winners of the Murcia Lottery, and were disposed of, let us hope, to invalids in reduced circumstances. Licensed midwives of renown had freely contributed "bons," franking their winners through episodes of thrilling domestic interests, and those valuable vouchers were eagerly competed for.

Mr. Hinton Rowan Helper, of St. Louis, is the author of a railway project which, for magnitude and possible results upon civilization, throws all former achievements and ideas of the kind quite into the shade. He proposes the construction of what he calls "a longitudinal, midland, double-track railway" from a point high north in North America, running more or less southwesterly through Mexico and Central America, to a point far south in South America, looking to its ultimate extension to Behring's Strait and Cape Horn. Mr. Helper has so much faith in this magnificent scheme that he has gone to work in earnest to attract public attention to it. His first step is to deposit $5,000 in the Bank of Commerce at St. Louis, to be distributed by a committee in the shape of rewards for essays and poems on the enterprise.

It has been determined by the School Board of St. Louis to add to the course of studies in the public schools of that city a series of oral lessons in etiquette. In accordance with the directions of the Board the Superintendent has drawn up a syllabus of topics for instruction in which the teachers are "directed to have a few of the best readers in each room read by turns five pages of the manual of etiquette, the teacher to lead a conversation with the pupils on the topics." The lessons laid down in the syllabus are as follows:—"General precepts; complaints; fractiousness and bearing; conversation; at the table; riding and driving; at school; and rules of behavior."

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Second Session — Fourth Parliament.

Special to the Free Press.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 p. m.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. Scriver—A Bill to incorporate the Montreal and Province Line Railway.

By Mr. Macarthy—To incorporate the Mail Printing Company; also, [illegible] to amend the Act to prevent [illegible] charged with corruption [illegible] shall be competent witnesses.

By Mr. Girouard—To regulate stock brokers and to suppress gambling in stocks.

By Mr. Casey—Bill to insure the better qualifications of public servants, and the greater efficiency and economy of the public services.

B. C. SUPREME COURT JUDGES.

Hon Mr. McDonald moved the reception of the report of the committee of the whole House, on resolutions respecting the Better Administration of Justice Act of 1878 of British Columbia, and to make provision for the appointment of two additional Judges of the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

Mr. Macdonald (Picton) said the Bill proposed no addition to existing expenditure—on the contrary, a saving would be effected by it. The judgments of the member for West Durham went to show that the people of British Columbia, being scattered, should be deprived of the means of obtaining the ordinary administration of justice. If the cost of the administration of justice in British Columbia was to be considered the Judiciary might as well be withdrawn from the country altogether. It was unfair to compare the cost of administering justice in British Columbia with the cost of the same service in the other Provinces. The Bill proposed that only two Judges should reside in Victoria, as it was found better to have local judges in each circuit. The Judiciary now cost $19,385. When the Bill passed that cost would be $2,000 less. It was also better to have a Judiciary of professional men than that composed, as at present, of men not learned in the law. The prospect of a large increase in the population of British Columbia should not be ignored. The building of the Pacific Railway could not but add largely to the population of that Province. He had no hesitation in stating that in addition to the Judiciary of Nova Scotia was required, as stated by the hon. member. The Bar Society might be objected to as asking for additional judges, but it would not be the intention of the Government to make any additional judicial appointments in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Thompson (Cariboo) could say from his own experience that the Judges in British Columbia were not paid sufficiently for the work they had to perform. The necessity for so many Courts was owing to the large Chinese population.

Mr. Bernard thought that Parliament should comply with the wishes of the Local Legislature, which was in a better position, as a body, to judge of the wants of the Province. He would, therefore, support the Bill.

Mr. DeCosmos thought the party that appointed the establishment of the expensive Supreme Court of Canada should not object to the cost of the administration of justice in British Columbia.

The Bill was read a first time.

Mr. Kirkpatrick asked what had become of the petition against the member from Lennox. This matter should not be left hanging there, and he would read a statement made by the hon. member [illegible] Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake objected.

After some discussion the matter was laid over till Monday.

THE BUDGET.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie thought the Estimates and Budget should be brought down, as the House could not get properly at work till then.

Sir L. Tilley thought more work was being done during the first fortnight of this session than he had ever known in the House. The Government were anxious to have the Budget prepared and brought down, as the practice of the Government would then be fully vindicated.

Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake and Cartwright thought certain returns should be prepared before Parliament met.

Sir L. Tilley said instructions had been given to have returns tabulated, but these had not been sufficient time to prepare them up to January 1st.

After some remarks from Sir R. Cartwright,

RETURNS PRESENTED.

Sir Charles Tupper presented a number of returns asked for in connection with the Department of Railways and Canals.

Sir L. Tilley presented returns as to banks.

Hon. Mr. Bowell presented a return, showing the rebates granted on merchandize.

INSOLVENCY BILL.

Mr. Colby moved the consideration of a Bill to repeal the Insolvent Law.

Hon. Mr. Blake moved an amendment to the effect that the Bill should not apply to insolvent banks or Insolvent Life Assurance Companies.

Mr. White said he thought that such cases were better left in the hands of the Directors, and should depend upon special legislation.

The House then went into Committee on the subject, and after remaining so for a short time, rose and reported the Bill as amended.

The Speaker then left the chair.

After recess.

PRIVATE BILLS.

The following Private Bills were advanced a stage:—

To amend the Act instituted "An Act to incorporate the Anchor Marine Insurance Company."

To incorporate the St. Clair and Lake Erie Navigation Company.

Respecting the Montreal Assurance Company.

To amend and consolidate the Act incorporating the Dominion Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry of Canada.

To incorporate the Farmers' and Real Property Bank of Canada.

Respecting the Niagara Grand Island Bridge Company.

To authorize the corporation of Emerson, in the Province of Manitoba, to construct a free traffic bridge across the Red River at Emerson.

RELATING TO RETURNS.

Sir R. Cartwright moved the resumption of the adjourned debate on the motion that there be a standing order that hereafter on the commencement of any session there be laid on the table of the House returns in details showing the receipts and expenditures of the Dominion from the commencement of the fiscal year to the first day of January in each year. He complained that the returns now given by the customs and other departments did not afford as much information as formerly, owing to the complicated system lately introduced.

Sir John A. Macdonald said he thought sufficient grounds had not been advanced to warrant the Government in altering their standing orders in the manner asked for by the resolution.

Sir L. Tilley said that to publish the half yearly returns in the manner would increase the size of that paper to double its present extent.

Sir John Macdonald said Sir R. Cartwright was evidently promoting irritation, and wished to relieve his conscience of his speech on the National Policy. He assured the Opposition that the business of the House would be pressed as far as possible, and no undue delay should ensue.

The motion was put and lost.

MARRIAGE WITH A DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER.

Mr. Girouard moved the second reading of a Bill to legalize marriage with the sister of a deceased wife. He spoke at length upon the necessity for such a law.

Mr. Cameron (Victoria) supported the Bill.

Mr. Thompson (Haldimand) could not endorse the views of the promoters of the Bill.

Mr. Abbott expressed his intention of voting for the Bill, subject to further consideration.

Hon. Mr. Blake objected to the Bill on legal grounds. He considered that the Provincial Legislatures were the proper authorities to deal with all such matters.

Hon. Mr. Anglin considered such marriages as the Bill proposed to legalize altogether objectionable. He thought, however, that Hon. Mr. Blake was wrong in saying that the subject belonged solely to the Local Legislatures. This Parliament alone had the power of declaring what persons were competent to marry one another. It belonged to the Provincial Legislatures to say how marriage should be celebrated.

Mr. Hooke moved the adjournment of the debate. Carried.

The House then adjourned at 10.40.

The Ontario Legislature.

First Session, Fourth Assembly.

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 27.—The Speaker took the chair at 3.15 p.m.

BILLS PASSED.

After routine, the following bills were read a third time and passed.

Respecting the debenture debt of the city of Guelph.—Mr. Laidlaw.

Respecting the removal of persons from county to Provincial institutions.—Mr. Wood.

Respecting the Ontario Reformatory for boys—Mr. Wood.

RETURNS, ETC.

Mr. Paxton moved for a return showing the number of suits in the County Courts during the years 1878 and 1879, amounts claimed, judgments, costs, distinguishing the number in each class of judgments from the number of judgments for debts—Carried.

Mr. Long moved for a return of the various tariffs of freight, charged by the Hamilton & North Western R. R. Company, since its opening, with the dates at which such tariffs took effect. Carried.

Mr. Monk moved for a return of all appointments made under the provisions of the School Act of 1879 of separate school representatives on County Boards of public school examiners, together with the reason, if any, for such appointments. Carried.

Mr. Ross moved for a return from each county and city of the number of days during which the county selectors were engaged in the selection of the jury lists for 1880.

BILLS PASSED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, and passed the following Bills:—

To protect the goods of lodgers and boarders against distresses for rent due to the superior landlord—Mr. Meek.

To amend the Assessment Act—Mr. Sinclair.

Respecting the ditching of water courses—Mr. Robinson (Kent)

Respecting the support of destitute and insane persons—Mr. Waters.

To prevent the spreading of Canada thistles—Mr. Hay.

Respecting tile, stone and timber drainage—Mr. Hay.

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Ross.

To remove doubts arising out of the Revised Statute respecting mortgages and sales of personal property—Mr. Meredith.

Mr. Morris moved the second reading of the Bill to amend the Mechanics' Lien Act.

Carried and referred to the Special Committee.

THE LIEUTENANT - GOVERNOR'S TRIP.

The debate was resumed on the motion to go into Committee of Supply.

After a few remarks by Mr. Dorcohe, a division was taken on the amendment by Mr. Whitehead to the motion that the expenses of the trip of the Lieutenant-Governor be reduced by $350.

The amendment was carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Appleby, Awrey, Badgerow, Ballantyne, Baxter, Bishop, Blezard, Bonfield, Caldwell, Cascaden, Chisholm, Crooks, Dorcohe, Dryden, Ferris, Field, Fraser, Freeman, Gibson (Huron), Gibson (Hamilton), Graham, Harcourt, Hardy, Hawley, Hay, Hunter, Laidlaw, Livingston, Lyon, McCraney, McGregor, McKim, McLaughlin, Macmahon, Meek, Miller, Mowat, Murray, Nairn, Neelon, Pardee, Patterson, Peck, Robinson (Caribou), Robinson (Kent), Robertson (Halton), Ross, Sinclair, Springer, Strther, Waters, Watterworth, Whitfield, Wood.—54.

NAYS—Messrs. Baker, Baskerville, Bell, Boulter, Broder, Calvin, Creighton, French, Harkin, Kerr, Lander, Lees, Long, Macdonald, Meredith, Merrick, Metcalfe, Monk, Morgan, Morris, Near, Parkhill, Richardson, Robertson (Hastings), Rosevear, Togley, Wigle.—25.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

The Speaker then left the chair, and the House went into Committee of the Whole on Supplementary Estimates, and the following items were passed:—

Civil Government, $800; Education Department, $2,988; the Mercer Reformatory, $11,582. On the item for Ontario School of Art, $3,400.

Mr. Meredith said that if a special grant were made to the Toronto institution he could see no extra grant.

The Attorney-General said that the extra grant was not made to Toronto as a local school, but as a Provincial one.

The item was carried.

Public Charities—Orphan Asylum, Fort William, $200; St. Vincent's Home, Hamilton, $400. Carried.

On the item of Miscellaneous, $47,874.

Mr. Merrick said he wished some explanation of this very large expenditure. He found some eleven names of persons who were given gratuities from the public funds to the amount of $27,874. He thought this a most dangerous precedent, that every one who leaves the employ of the Government should receive a gratuity at the rate of one month's salary for each year's work.

Mr. Meredith said that in view of the rapidly increasing expenses of the Province, the payment of $27,000 for gratuities was highly improper. He thought these payments were simply encouraging extravagance.

Hon. Mr. Wood said that the objections raised by Mr. Merrick were only against a smaller gratuities, but the Government was determined, as long as it was a rule to give those in receipt of large salaries these gratuities, that he would extend them to the humblest employe.

—The Herald says:—They have been having some fun out at the school house in Section 4, Guelph Township. The teacher recently took unto himself a wife, and some of the imaginative scholars thought it would be an excellent joke to have a valentine bearing on his matrimonial circumstance. The pedagogue opened his desk, and the valentine stared him in the face. It represented a decidedly corpulent lady, had cost fully as much as one cent, and represented a tall man awkwardly dangling a preposterous baby. The pedagogue was very angry, and determined, if possible, to punish the joker. He instituted a court of inquiry, which lasted all one day; but the guilty party could not be discovered. The court opened again next day, and was conducted with such a lack of order that it culminated in a riot, in which rulers, pokers and combustions figured conspicuously. Ever since these remarkable occurrences a suppressed titter runs through the school when the words "baby," "child," "marriage," or anything of that sort, comes up.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Lesson fogs are no joke. Half a dozen ingests on the bodies of persons who had met their deaths through the fog, either by street accidents or by sudden illness directly produced by the depressing weather, were held in one day lately.

A particularly lively ghost has been exhibiting its inhabilities in the houses in Hernese, Belgium. Finally, he wrote a letter exorsing his reprehensible conduct and promising to turn over a new leaf, in addition from his torments in the lower regions.

The Cultivateurs Courant, printed at the town whose name it bears, in the Western Province of the Cape of Good Hope, publishes an account of gold discoveries near Mossel Bay, and is firmly convinced that the Cape Colony is the genuine new El Dorado.

The hostility now shown toward the Jews in Germany has taken a practical form in associations established for excluding Jews from Parliament. A large number of Bremian electors have bound themselves not to support the candidature of a Jew under any circumstances.

An East London parson's wife writes to the Times that a true statement of the hardships and miseries of the poor clerical "flocks" of that quarter, who are "wearing their lives away amid poverty, smoke, and dirt," would make "the right reverend Bishops tremble in their episcopal shoes."

The ingenious counterfeiter has been so busy in Germany that all the notes of the German Imperial Bank are to be called in, and a new issue, on vegetable fibre paper, like that in use here, will be printed. The new designs will be selected after a competition, and prizes will be given for the best.

The Greek party and the science party are in active contention at Oxford University. The competitors offered by the Greek bids is a new degree, "B. S. S.," "Bachelor of Natural Science," which may be gained without a knowledge of Greek. Dr. Olling and his friends want to get the arts degree without Greek; Dr. Liddon, and with him all the old-fashioned party, say:—"No; you may come to the university without Greek and have a degree; but it must be a different degree from the arts degree." There is a deadlock just now, the new degree not having been accepted.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A GENERAL MANAGER FOR THE Argyle Mutual Fire Insurance Company WANTED.

Applications to be made in writing to H. E. NELLES, Managing Director; or to L. B. YOUNG, Secretary, London, Feb. 26, 1880. 827tf

Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED at the office of the undersigned up to six o'clock p.m. on the 12TH MARCH, for the erection of a Picket Fence around the northern addition to the grounds.

Specification may be seen and further information obtained on application at said office.

By order of the Board,
SAMUEL McBRIDE, Sec.
London, 27th Feb., 1880. 825codtd

REDUCTION OF RATES.

—THE— Montreal Telegraph Co announce a further reduction in rates. Tariff to NEW YORK AND BOSTON, 40 CENTS.

Rates to all points as low as by any other line. H. P. DWIGHT, Superintendent. lf

MANITOBA!

THE GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY FAST PASSENGER TRAIN! IN CHARGE OF R. PATTERSON, PARIS, WILL LEAVE LONDON On Tuesday, 2nd of March, At 7 o'clock p.m.

Wagner Car runs through without change. Mr. Robinson, representing R. Patterson, will be found at Freight Office Saturday and Monday to attend to loading freight. lf

For the Last 20 Years —THE— NEW YORK STORE HAS BEEN KNOWN AS THE BEST PLACE IN LONDON —FOR— TEA.

TENDERS WANTED.

SEALED TENDERS (IN BULK or separate) will be received Until the 17th of March for the several works necessary for the erection of the new brick Town Hall & Market Building.

Plans, specifications and all necessary information given by applying at the office of the Town Clerk. Plans, specifications, &c., will be on view at the office of the undersigned, after 2nd of March. Security will be required to the amount of two-thirds of the value of the work. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. JOHN CALLANDER, Clerk.
Clinton, Feb. 24th, 1880. 825tf w 3w

SELLING AT COST! REMOVAL. McBRIDE & BOYD have removed their Stove, Tin and Oil Business to the store lately occupied by A. Bowland, No. 196 Dundas Street where they will be pleased to see their old customers and as many new ones as may favor them with a call.
London, Feb. 26, 1880. eod1915

HOLMAN OPERA HOUSE
Monday Night, March 1st.
MR. AND MRS. DANIEL E. BANDMANN —IN— "MERCHANT OF VENICE!"
SHYLOCK.....DANIEL E. BANDMANN
PORTIA.....MRS. BANDMANN
Supported by a full Company of English actors, selected from the best Stock Companies of London, Liverpool and Manchester.
Owing to bad management on the part of Philip Beck, Mr. Bandmann's Dramatic agent, the printing intended for London did not arrive in time to be used.
Tickets on Admission — Opera chairs $1.00; dress circle 50c.; parquette 25c.
Reserved seats on sale at A. S. Murray & Co.'s. 1927cd

LONDON EAST TAXES.

SIR,—YOUR TAXES FOR 1879 are long past due, and unless paid immediately, I will be obliged to sell according to the law.
WM. DARK, Collector.
Adelaide st., near Queen's ave. 827tf

NOTICE.

ALL PERSONS INDEBTED TO the late firm of Bennett & Chester are hereby notified to make immediate payment to John E. Chester, the surviving partner, who is carrying on the business, and who will settle all claims against the late firm.
JOHN E. CHESTER.
Gallery of Art, London, Ontario, 26th February, 1880. 825tf

Caution. A WORD TO THOSE WHO USE POROUS PLASTERS.—IT IS A UNIVERSALLY ACKNOWLEDGED FACT THAT BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS ARE SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS. CAUTION.—See that the word "CAPCINE" on each plaster is correctly spelled. Sold by Druggists throughout the World. PRICE 25 CENTS. BRADDY & JOHNSON, Pharmaceutical Chemists, New York.

CHRISTY'S HATS —AT— BELTZ'S.

A large consignment of CHRISTY'S HATS, the latest styles, just received at BELTZ'S.

AUCTION SALE Handsome Household Furniture.

MANVILLE & BROWN are instructed by J. P. Thompson, Esq., to sell on the premises, No. 198 Dundas street, on TUESDAY, 2nd MARCH, the entire contents of his private residence, embracing in part—Elegant drawing room suite in silk terry, centre table, beautiful occasional chairs, rocker in cane, nursing chair, pair handsome curtains and cornices, lady's escritoire, mahogany carved sideboard, ormolu clock, walnut extension table, dining and easy chairs, walnut bedroom suite, bureaus and detached pieces, most elaborate tapestry and other carpets, parlor and cook stoves, kitchen requisites, &c.

Inspection of the above assortment of furnishings cannot fail to please, and the sale is positive. Sale at 11 a.m. Terms cash.
N.B.—Entrance through store.
Bible MANVILLE & BROWN, Auctioneers.

AUCTION SALE —OF— HAT AND CAP STOCK,

(Counter and Platform).

Belonging to the estate of the late P. McCann.

MESSRS. MANVILLE & BROWN have received instruction from Catharine McCann, administratrix of the late Patrick McCann, to sell without reserve, in the store, Masonic Arcade, formerly occupied by the deceased, the whole stock in trade and good will of the business, consisting in all of a large and well assorted stock, as much in the dollar.

The stock amounts to about $1,000, all reasonable goods, and in good condition. The great proportion of it has been recently bought, having gone into the Hat and Cap trade, as a very successful business has been carried on in those premises for a number of years.

London, Feb. 28th, 1880. 826tf

Sale of Bankrupt Stock, Real Estate, &c.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875 AMENDING ACTS

In the matter of Valentine Hanauld, an Insolvent.

There will be sold by Public Auction, at the store lately occupied by the Insolvent, in the Village of Tavistock,

On Friday, the 5th day of March, 1880, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the stock in trade, Real Estate and Debts belonging to the Estate, comprising as follows:—

1.—STOCK.—Dry goods, hats, caps and clothing.....$ 646 90
Boots and shoes.....1 016 10
Groceries, &c.....483 26
Crockery, Glassware, &c.....109 76
Hardware.....124 65
Stationery.....16 91
Miscellaneous.....260 00
$2,656 63

II.—BOOK DEBTS AND NOTES, about.....$1,819 23

III.—REAL ESTATE.—A I the Insolvent's right in Lot 18, east side of Woodstock street, village of Tavistock, part Lot 30 in 4th concession, Township of South Easthope, County of Perth, the whole there are a good brick store, frame storehouse, stable, bakeshop and outbuildings.

The stock will be sold at a rate on the dollar of the cash invoice prices. The stock, stock list and debts and the books may be seen at the store and stock list and list of debts at my office. Terms made known at time of sale.

JOHN HOSKIN, Official Assignee.
Stratford, 26th February, 1880. 825tdw

HARDWARE BUSINESS FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN, consisting of Hardware, Oils, Paints Leads, Varnishes, etc.

Terms, half cash; time given for balance.

Goods gone up 30 per cent. since bought.

BUILDING MATERIALS FOR ONE YEAR.

This is a rare chance, as I am positively going out of business.

Apply to CHARLES LILLEY, LONDON EAST P.O.
Direct 827

FOR WINNIPEG.

A WAGNES SLEEPING CAR for first-class passengers will be attached to the Great Western Railway Through Passenger Trains for Manitoba, from Paris, March 2nd and March 16th. Cars run through without change. For berths apply to R. PATTERSON, Town Agent, G.W.R., Paris.
WM. EDGAR, Gen. Pass. Agt. G.W.R.
1824d

REID'S HARDWARE FOR LADIES' FRIEND Carpet Sweepers.

SCALES (Counter and Platform).

Circular Saws, Hand Saws, Iron Planes, and full stock of all Carpenters' Tools and Building Hardware.

JAS. REID & Co., No. 116 N.S. Dundas St

CITY Coal and Wood Yard,

TALBOT ST., NORTH OF G.W.R.

WE TAKE THIS MEANS OF thanking our numerous customers for past favors, and we wish to notify them that we are better prepared this fall than ever we were before, as we have a stock of 4,000 cords of No. 1 quality.

The Coal is a new branch to our business, but we will endeavor to give satisfaction to all who may give us a call.

Wholesale prices on application.

FAIRGRIEVE & CO.
London Oct. 8 1878. 808y

The Bishop Strachan School

For the higher education of Young Ladies, Bytownia Hall, College ave., Toronto.

This incorporated school is now in its twelfth year, and possesses every advantage for the due care and culture of pupils committed to its care. Prospectus sent on application.

Next Term begins Tuesday, Feb. 17.
Lond Term begins Tuesday, Feb. 11.

Apply to MISS GRIER, Lady Principal.
Glowy

WORKINGMEN!

We cordially thank you for your very liberal patronage and desire to call your attention to the fact that in every department of our establishment we have an enormous Stock of goods adapted to your wants.

Medium and low-priced Overcoats at prices so low that it will pay you well to buy one for next season.

Durable, substantial Suits, of all qualities, in great variety. Many of these goods we are selling at just about what they would now cost us to manufacture.

We have an enormous stock of Pants of every grade at exceedingly low prices, and have just bought 2,400 pairs of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Kentucky Jeans Pants, all of which we are offering at old prices, though they are actually worth 10 to 25 per cent. more. We are selling tip-top Jean Pants, lined through, for $1.

In our Furnishing Department we are offering great bargains in Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, &c., &c.

In Hats and Caps we can do you good. We are selling more Hats than any other concern in Michigan, and better goods for the price than you can get anywhere else.

We want the trade of the workingmen of LONDON, and are always prepared to give you bargains.

C. R. MABLEY,

Hat and Cap Dept., 124; Clothing and Merchant Tailoring Dept., 126, 128 & 130; and Gents' Furnishing Dept., 132 and 134 Woodward ave.,

DETROIT, - - - - - MICHIGAN

Sales by Auction.

INSOLVENT ACT of 1875 AND AMENDING ACTS.

In the Matter of ROBERT KNOX, an Insolvent.

IMPORTANT SALE BY PUBLIC auction of Valuable Real Estate, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Fancy Goods, Notes, Book Debts, &c. I will offer for sale by public auction, on the premises, at Wingham,

On Monday, the First Day of March, 1880, at half-past four o'clock, afternoon, the whole of the stock in trade, notes and book debts, etc., at so much on the $, as follows:—

Stock and Fixtures.....$1,730 00
Book Debts.....157 00
Notes.....161 36
$2,048 36

Also, will be offered for sale at the same time, under a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage, made by the insolvent, bearing date the 22nd day of August, 1879, that valuable freehold property known as Lot No. 4, on the east side of Josephine street, in the said Village of Wingham.

Terms for stock, one half cash; balance at three months, secured to the satisfaction of the assignee.

Terms for real estate will be made known at the time of the sale.

JAMES B. ROUSTEAD,
Official Assignee.
Toronto, February, 18th 1880. 824tdw

A. & J. G. McINTOSH & CO. 113 Dundas St.

Cheap Sale of Dry Goods!

An opportunity will now be given to make large purchases of seasonable goods, before the great advance in prices takes effect. As an inducement, to greatly reduce stock, special bargains will be offered in—

SILKS, DRESS GOODS, UNDERCLOTHES, SCARFS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, BLANKETS, FLANNELS, SHEETINGS, SHIRTINGS, TABLE LINENS, COTTONS, PRINTS, WINCEYS, DENIMS, TICKINGS, FAMILY MOURNING GOODS &c.

—ALSO—

BRUSSELS CARPETS, UNION CARPETS, LINOLEUM FLOOR CLOTHS, TAPESTRY CARPETS, STAIR CARPETS, FLOOR OILCLOTHS, WOOL CARPETS HEARTH RUGS, MATTINGS, &c.

SUPERFINE BROAD AND NARROW CLOTHS, ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND CANADIAN TWEEDS, FANCY WORSTEDS, BEAVERS AND FANCY COATINGS, &c.

Ordered Clothing made up in the Best and Newest Styles by First-class Tailors.

A. & J. G. McINTOSH & CO.

HENRY BEECH 92 DUNDAS ST. LONDON ONT. ENGRAVER on WOOD AND SOLICITOR OF PATENTS ESTABLISHED TEN YEARS. Patents, Caveats, &c SECURED IN CANADA, UNITED STATES AND EUROPE. DRAWINGS MODERATE. WOOD ENGRAVINGS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AT LOWEST RATES, COMPATIBLE WITH GOOD WORK.

HENRY BEECH.

Solicitor of Patents and Engraver on Wood, 92 Dundas Street, between Talbot and Richmond Streets, London, Ont.

LADIES!

For $1.25 I can give you the neatest and best wearing Kid Slippers ever sold in this city at the price.

J. P. THOMPSON, 198 DUNDAS STREET.

LOCKS EASY — TRY IT. CLIPPER PUZZLE.

3	4	6	8
2	1	5	9

...day, February 28, 1880.

Roll Call.

...ypecial Green;" the Orderly cried;
...Here" was the answer, loud and clear,
...rom the lips of the soldier who stood near—
..."Here" was the word the cry replied.

...ven Dove"—then a silence fell—
...this time no answer followed the call;
...ight his rear rank had seen him fall,
...ead or wounded, he could not tell.

...ere they stood in the fading light,
...hree men of mettle with grave, dark looks,
...s close to be read as open books,
...ile slowly gathered the shades of night.

...s form on the hillsides was splashed with blood,
...ld covers in the corn where the poppies grew
...ere reddest stains than the poppies knew;
...e crimson dyed was the river's flood.

...e the foe had crossed from the other side
...that day, in the face of a murderous fire
...that swept them down in its terrible ire—
...d their life-blood went to color the tide.

...erbert Kline!" at the roll there came
...wo-the war: sadly its echo the line
...ering between them this Herbert Kline,
...anded and bleeding, no answer he made.

...ere Kerr!" and a voice answered "Here!"
...Hiram Kerr"—but no one replied.
...Their were brothers, three lives in one stroke
...other
...ht a shudder crept through the cornfield near.

...braham Dasne"—then a soldier spoke:
..."Dasne carried our regiment's colors," he said;
...where our ensign was blood-red left him dead,
...nd after the enemy wavered and broke.

...ne to the roadside his boy Hen;
...promised a man meet and leave him drink;
...He murmured to mother a name, I think,
...nd Death came with a hand closed bit by bit.

...was a victory; yes, but it cost us dear—
...For that company's roll, when called at night,
...Of a hundred men who went into the fight,
...umbered but twenty that answered "Here."

BARBARA.

CHAPTER I.

..."Having a house larger than they re...nire"—you must say that, mother," said ...lah sitting on the floor with chicked ...ands resting on her knees, and her knees ...n a level with the prettiest chin in Cam...gerwil. "It's the correct thing."

"Only sixty words allowed for five shil...lings," said Mrs. Trevornock, looking up ...tersectedly from an original composition ...which she was plaiting with the assistance ...f her two daughters.

"But you really ought to put it, mother," ...ried Flossie, on her knees beside the table, ...ilst the only thing that takes off the edge ...f one's humiliation. 'A lady and her ...aughters, having a house larger than they ...equire, are willing.'"

"Will be happy," suggested the mother.

"No, mother, that's a great deal too ...umble," said Flossie. "That's making ...ne's self much too cheap. Do make it, ...are willing."

"Very well, dear. It will be over sixty ...words, I'm sure. 'Are willing to re...ceive a gentleman as private boarder.'"

"Partial boarder!" echoed Bab, making a ...wry face but not able to make an ugly one. "Partial boarder! Isn't it a horrid expression!"

"Bedroom large and airy."

"Large and airy," repeated Flossie, musingly. "I wonder what really constitutes a large bedroom in the island of per...petual sun, and in Grosvenor-Square?"

"Pupils brought up in Grosvenor ...Square don't sink into partial boarders," said Bab. "Don't fribble away our time upon such idiotic remarks."

"Bed-room large and airy," repeated Mrs. Trevornock, dwelling upon the statement as if it were an original idea; "'use of sitting room; dinner on Sundays. Family musical.'"

"Won't you add that we have seen better days, mother, since you say that much on being biographical?" suggested Flossie.

Mrs. Trevornock laughed good humoredly at this part sally. She was always ready to laugh at her daughters' smallest jokes, and their inherent impertinence had been fostered by maternal indulgence. They were as poor as Job, this mother and her two daughters; but as far as indulgence went, Flossie and Bab had been brought up under glass.

Yes, they were poor, absolutely poor; not in the sense accepted by society, which means that people have fifteen hundred a year, and would like to spend three thousand, or have three thousand and find life intolerable because they have not six. Mrs. Trevornock and her two daughters managed to face life upon a reliable income of something under a hundred and fifty pounds a year. They had occasional windfalls, or the problem might have proved insoluble; but after reckoning these lucid intervals of money, the total of their income rarely reached two hundred pounds a year; but this was before the Crimean war, and twenty years ago, and the cost of living was less in those days than it is now. Yet their poverty never generated into ugliness. They had occasional detached house at Camberwell rent, twenty-five pounds per annum—but a dainty prettiness not always attainable by people of larger means. The mother and daughters were fond of music, passed the...so fond of their home, that the whole of life was sweetened by the overflowing fountain of love. Each one strove to try...to surprise each other with some improvement in house or garden, were it only a shilling rose bush, the birthday or Christmas bunch of violets in a vase on the mantelpiece. They were industrious, ingenious, temperate. They were very fond of each other, and but for the rarely much above mediocrity, they cared very much about the house in which they lived. Ugliness and dirt were loathsome to them. The semi detached cottage at Camberwell was as clean and pure a homestead far away in a pastoral land, remote from the smoke of cities. Mrs. Trevornock's ex...pressed warfare against "the blacks:" a...n oppressed negro race, but those wandering atoms of solidified smoke which came down the wind with the wind from the tall chimneys of Lambeth and Bermondsey.

South Lane, Camberwell, is one of those places which progress has doubtless eradicated from the face of the earth. Progress means the laying out of two thousand pounds an acre, houses in serried ranks, close as a square of infantry, more than agricultural value. The houses, villas, cottages, as you will, were various in architecture, and set in gardens that were extensive as compared with the garden of to-day. Each had its shrubbery and a gracious curve, which made a vista of greenery as seen from either end. Trees grew and flourished—hawthorn and elm, the sweet-bay and Portugal laurel. There were good beasts and bad, gardens neatly kept and garden neglected. The general effect was prettiness and rusticity.

The advertisements appeared in the Times, and about three days after its publication (days spent by Mrs. Trevornock and her daughters in a flutter of suspense) a partial boarder—one only—addressed himself to the advertiser, who had discreetly veiled her identity under initials, letters to be addressed to "F. T.," at Mr. Powler's, chemist, Tontine street, Camberwell.

"One letter only, one poor little letter!" cried Bab, running in from the hall, where the letters fell through a slit in the door at the "tradesmen's entrance." "But it looks aristocratic."

Mrs. Trevornock broke the seal with a nervous hand, while the two girls pressed round her as if their most vital interests were at stake.

The letter had a gentleman-like appearance, sealed with a neat crest, written on thick creamy paper, in a firm hand.

"Mother," cried Flossie, pointing excitedly, "look at the address! It must be from some one of consequence."

"United Service Club." Those were the rose mystic words which had excited Bab. To her simple mind a man who belonged to a club must needs be a superior order of being.

"Oh, mother!" she exclaimed, dolefully, while her bright blue eyes made a circuit of the little room, "we shall never be good enough for him. I'm afraid we made the advertisement too attractive. I dare say we'll expect to find us in a mansion."

"As if people in manifest straitened circumstances ever wanted partial boarders!" cried Bab, with a practical air. "Every one knows that a partial boarder is a genteel contrivance meant to help out a small income."

Mrs. Trevornock read the letter aloud deliberately. They had all three devoured it with their eyes the moment it was opened.

"Captain Leland" ("Oh, what a pretty name!" cried Flossie) "presents his compliments to F. T., and will be glad of an interview at F. T.'s earliest convenience.—United Service Club, Tuesday morning."

"He doesn't say that he'll come," said Flossie.

"Of course not," rejoined Bab. "He'll come and look at us——"

"Don't say us," remonstrated Flossie. "I shall not be in the room when he calls."

"Nor I, of course. I mean that he will come and survey mother, and the house, and the neighborhood, and our maid of all work, and the large airy bedroom; and if he doesn't think it all worth a guinea a week, with dinners on Sundays, he will not take up his residence with us. I wonder whether he'll ask you what kind of Sunday dinners you mean to give him, mother—whether you mean to give him roasted or send them to the bakehouse. I dare say a club man would object to the bakehouse."

"Not if he were very hungry, and met a shoulder of mutton coming home on the top of a batter pudding," said Flossie, with conviction.

"I suppose we shall have to dine late on Sundays, and become quite fashionable in our habits," said Bab. "Come, mother darling, take your nicest sheet of paper, and write a pretty note." Captain Leland, I dare say his name is the best part of him."

"Perhaps he is old and ugly," suggested Flossie, her enthusiasm suddenly evaporating.

"He must be poor," said Bab. "No one who wasn't poor would offer himself as a partial boarder; to eat his breakfast in one place, and his dinner in another—cutting himself in half, as it were."

"An excellent arrangement for a club man," replied Mrs. Trevornock, who was inclined to take a cheerful view of the question. "Of course, he will always dine at his club."

"On the days when he does dine," said Flossie. "Perhaps he will contrive to ship his dinner sometimes, and revenge himself upon our ices. That will be dreadful."

Mrs. Trevornock answered Captain Leland's note, giving her own address this time, and appointing the following afternoon at three o'clock for the interview—"if quite convenient to Captain Leland," she added, politely.

The two girls went out together to "post the letter, and to make various small purchases at household stores in the Camberwell Road. They performed this domestic duty daily, thereby saving time for the one servant, a healthy grand faced Devonshire girl, answering to the name of Amelia, who, with Mrs. Trevornock's supervision, and a good deal of actual help from the same lady, contrived to keep the house in immaculate order, a bright example to neighboring households.

The girls talked about Captain Leland all the way to the post-office. Their lives travelled in such a narrow circle that the...ir...ntest conversation was a subject for inexhaustible talk. They read a good deal, and were by no means unintelligent or ...ill-informed, but they could not always talk about books. There was an impetuous humanity in them which made this necessary to them now and then to be interested in people. Their acquaintanceship might be numbered on their fingers, and the people they knew were not brilliant. Indeed, they might fairly have come under Carlyle's ...ing category; they were "merely fools." A mother and two daughters living upon something less than two hundred a year were not in a position to cultivate a large circle of friends, or to find their society in eager request among the salt of the earth. If Mrs. Trevornock and her two girls were invited to a tea-party once in six weeks, or to a family dinner once a quarter, they considered themselves fairly favored by the attention of their friends. There were occasional droppings in, in the early forenoon, which enlivened the interval between such deliberate invitations; so that life was not altogether dreary.

"I feel sure he is old and ugly," said Flossie, for about the fourth time, as they crossed Addington Square.

"Don't be so dreary," remonstrated Bab. "Let us amuse ourselves by making the wildest images of him for the next four-and-twenty hours. To-morrow at three o'clock you know shall know the worst; of course we shall contrive to see him, though he won't be allowed to see us."

"Naturally."

"Let us imagine him like Rochester in Jane Eyre."

"Dark as Erebus, and with a heavy under jaw, making the rudest speeches for the first week or so, and then falling desperately in love with one of us," said Flossie, in a rush of eager words. "Of course, it would be you, Bab."

"Why should it be?"

"Because you are ever so much prettier than I am."

"Am I, Flossie? Then I think I ought to be very snoosted, for you're the prettiest girl I know."

"You know so few girls," said Flossie, depreciatingly, and blushing all over her face, even at a sister's compliment.

Flossie was not unworthy of praise, though she was right when she described her sister as the prettier. They might be called the positive and the comparative degrees of beauty. Flossie's eyes were blue and bright; Flossie's hair was a wealth of golden glossiness in it; Flossie's figure was graceful in outline. But there was that in Bab's face which belonged to a higher kind of beauty. Barbara's eyes were dark and gray, with long dark lashes. Barbara had a fine white rose complexion, pure, almost colorless, which is of all beauties the rarest. Bab was the only one of the girls in the street were apt to think Flossie the prettier. Her brilliant complexion and bright hair caught their eyes.

The letter was posted, the shopping was done, the four-and-twenty hours of doubt and expectation were at their worst, or best, how, and at three o'clock on the following afternoon Bab and Flossie were hiding themselves from view by setting on the up stairs window watching for "Rochester."

The clock of the church by the canal struck the hour, and the last stroke had hardly died away, when the girls saw the top of a hat above the Portugal laurels of the next door garden.

"He must be an old fogy, or he would never be so punctual," said Flossie, with a discontented air.

"If clockwork was never punctual in his life," said Bab, also disgusted.

The stranger was at the gate by this time—a tall, while fire-barred gate, which swung back easily as he pushed it.

"He is quite young!" cried Bab.

"Dark!"

"Tall!"

"Good-looking!"

"With a mustache!"

A mustache was a rare adornment in those days. It might be taken to mean one of three things—a navy cadet, a cavalry officer, a foreigner, or a swindler.

"I hope he's respectable," said Bab, doubtfully.

"He's very good-looking," said Flossie. "The stranger came along the gravel walk; it was a semi circular sweep, which Mrs. Trevornock talked of complacently as a carriage drive, in the thrive of a clever coachman might have succeeded in turning a one-horse chaise within that graveled area without the assistance of a bell-boy or the parlor window, but for prudential reasons vehicles were mostly pulled up outside the gates.

Little did the partial boarder wot of those four bright eyes the connecting bow-window peeping over upon the top of his hat as he knocked a resolute double knock at the door. He was a man accustomed to...plating the house and its surroundings, pleased with the rural quiet of the scene, the blossoming hawthorns, golden laburnum, and all the flowers of the sweet May-time. The exterior of the house suggested comfort, and even the door had an elegance.

"It would be better than living in a smoky London street," Captain Loland said to himself, "could he but be closer into the bargain. The walk from here to the clubs would not hurt my leg-legs."

The little maid of all-work opened the door, neat and trim in her afternoon gown and smart cap. Servants wore caps in the days before the Crimean war. Breathing hard, as in some terrible strait, the maiden ushered the stranger into the drawing-room, where Mrs. Trevornock, who had seated herself just three minutes before, flushed after a hasty toilet, rose to receive him.

What did Captain Loland see in the little drawing room, fifteen feet by twelve and a half, lighted by one wide French window looking out upon the semi-circular glass-plate girdled with shrubs? He saw a woman who was evidently a lady. He saw a room which assuredly belonged to ladies. The sweet face, a little faded, but still very sweet, which greeted him with an engaging smile, pleased him at once. The room pleased him as well as its mistress. The old-fashioned furniture was well worn, but not shabby. The open piano and book shelves, the spring flowers and modest array of old china, suggested tastefulness and love of home. Captain Loland had been at large in the wide world long enough to reverence even the abstract idea of home—how much more the reality!

The first few questions and answers were embarrassing. The gentleman stammered, and traced the pattern of the carpet with the ferrule of his cane; the lady replied breathlessly. This kind of barter was new to both of them. But when the genial question of terms had been settled, they gradually grew more at ease, and then came a burst of frankness from the captain.

"I am sure I shall like to live here," he said, pleasantly. "I am home on leave from India, and as all my people are in the depths of the country, I have been living in West End lodgings, and spending the most of my time at my club. I have been far from comfortable. West End lodgings are always dear, and sometimes dirty. Mine were decidedly dirty. A club is an im...mense convenience to a single man; but one may have too much of it."

"I am afraid you will find this rather dull after the West End," said Mrs. Trevornock.

"Not I. West End gayety for me only means the noise of perpetual carriage wheels, and footmen knocking double knocks. I know very few people in London, and don't care much about visiting those I do know."

Mrs. Trevornock looked at the captain wonderingly, as if this admission of his savored of eccentricity. A military man, young, good looking, ought to be in the very Maelstrom of society, she considered. He should be in request at the drums of dinnerses, admitted to the receptions of cabinet ministers. She began to fear there might be something wrong about Captain Leland.

"Oh, by the way, with regard to references," said the captain; almost as if he divined her doubts. "There was something in your advertisement about references, I remember. I can refer you to my banker. He will be happy to answer any questions. Not because he has a large balance in my favor, but because he is a very good-natured fellow," added Captain Leland, with that engaging frankness which had already won Mrs. Trevornock's regard.

To be continued.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Composed, Compiled and Corralled by "Free Press" Reporters.

"Before the war"—Courting.

The person who retires with the sun must have a warm bed-fellow.

Florence Nightingale has just lost her mother, who has died at the venerable age of 92.

The Chinese say that baldness may be cured by eating rat meat. The cure is worse than the disease.

We have taken considerable pains and several days' time to get a better looking glass in a frail business, with light profits.

It was a shame in these Nihilist fellows to go and blow up that royal dinner; they should rather have gone and blown up the cook.

Queen Victoria won't be looked at with opera glasses. Every one lifted at the opening of Parliament was confiscated by the ushers.

The will of Mrs. Catherine Dickens, the widow of the novelist, has been proved under a nominal sum by Henry Fielding Dickens, the son, the sole executor.

The Duke of Argyll is said to have a "downright antipathy to a good joke." Most people find they are very much like him when they attempt to make one.

How doth the busy high-school girl
Improve each cruddy day
By putting on her highest heel shoes
And hose of colors gay.

A gay young man came tripping light fantastic toes up to the occupant of a quiet nest, and said:—"Will you dance Biddy?" "Ex...cuse me," said the hen, "I'm engaged for this set."

While Princess Louise was at sea in the Sarmatian two sailors got their hands badly frostbitten, whereupon she sent each of them $5, with a note instructing them to buy mittens with the money.

The Boston newspapers tell of a stage-struck woman who got a divorce from her husband in order to become an actress, failed dismally behind the footlights, returned to her home, and begged to be made a wife again, which was done by a remarriage.

A madman in the Kansas City Times would like to know:

I.	II.	III.
Whoever feared	Whoever drank	Whoever heard
A brute sigh?	A single sin?	A small lie?
Whoever saw	Whoever heard	Whoever told
A horse cry?	A curse or cried?	A great one?

According to the Tallahassee (Fla.) Patriot there is a lady there who has not drunk water for thirty years. She says she has no desire for it whatever, though she sometimes sips a little of the spring water while visiting Saratoga, simply to see how it tastes.

Religious tracts sent to a man with twelve cents due on them are not apt to have any effect on religious thought, word, or action. We have in our mind young man who was just entering the balance of twelve cents decided him, and he became a howling heathen.

I am past sixty years old, and every now and then I meet a person who knew me forty years ago, and remembers some devilish mean thing I did when I was a boy. Why is it that the memory is of these things, and how weak it is for every thing good, and how may have accidentally done?—Josh Billings.

There is one Indian in the Black Hills who comes near being a realization of the ideal savage of Cooper's novels. Man-Afraid-His-Horse, the chief of the Ogallalas, is a tall, straight, and has a long face; he poses in a picturesque manner, and has an...disputed record of brave deeds. His...position seems to be secure.

Jack and Mabel had just put their dollies in their little crib, when Edith, with the expression of one who has had a great weight lifted away, cried out gladly, "There! I'm thankful we've got the children to bed! We don't have a little more to worry!" Where in the world did she get such a ridiculous notion?

Some new evening dresses recently made in Paris, and designed for ball use, have high waists, round in front and basque backs. The front is belted across from the...side seam to side seam, the left side with a large buckle or rosette. The neck is cut square or V shaped, and is filled in with breton lace over a pelisse or crape lace.

Lately was celebrated in Paris the 81st tieth anniversary with the first production of Hugo's "Hernani," one of the rare instances on record of an author being present at the first performance of a play he had written before. On this occasion Mlle. Sarah Bernhardt recited several lines written by Victor Hugo in celebration of the poet's dramatic golden wedding.

The new spring prints are beautiful in coloring and design, far better being for the most part Egyptian. Dressing and glass are dispensed with in the shrine of feminine ...sacrifice in comitted by the laundress in washing them. The patterns are Japanese fruits and flowers in the natural colors on light grounds. Combined with these materials is a self colored goods, of the same quality, but double the given width.

Little did the partial boarder wot of those four bright eyes the connecting bow-window peeping over upon the top of his hat as he knocked a resolute double knock at the door. He was a man accustomed to...plating the house and its surroundings, pleased with the rural quiet of the scene, the blossoming hawthorns, golden laburnum, and all the flowers of the sweet May-time. The exterior of the house suggested comfort, and even the door had an elegance.

"It would be better than living in a smoky London street," Captain Loland said to himself, "could he but be closer into the bargain. The walk from here to the clubs would not hurt my leg-legs."

The little maid of all-work opened the door, neat and trim in her afternoon gown and smart cap. Servants wore caps in the days before the Crimean war. Breathing hard, as in some terrible strait, the maiden ushered the stranger into the drawing-room, where Mrs. Trevornock, who had seated herself just three minutes before, flushed after a hasty toilet, rose to receive him.

What did Captain Loland see in the little drawing room, fifteen feet by twelve and a half, lighted by one wide French window looking out upon the semi-circular glass-plate girdled with shrubs? He saw a woman who was evidently a lady. He saw a room which assuredly belonged to ladies. The sweet face, a little faded, but still very sweet, which greeted him with an engaging smile, pleased him at once. The room pleased him as well as its mistress. The old-fashioned furniture was well worn, but not shabby. The open piano and book shelves, the spring flowers and modest array of old china, suggested tastefulness and love of home. Captain Loland had been at large in the wide world long enough to reverence even the abstract idea of home—how much more the reality!

The first few questions and answers were embarrassing. The gentleman stammered, and traced the pattern of the carpet with the ferrule of his cane; the lady replied breathlessly. This kind of barter was new to both of them. But when the genial question of terms had been settled, they

Lecture on Walt Whitman.

Dr. Bucke Last Night at Victoria Hall.

There was a large and highly respectable audience in Victoria Hall last night, on the occasion of the literary entertainment given under the auspices of the East Middlesex Teachers' Association. Mr. John Dearness, President, occupied the chair, and opened the proceedings with a short and pithy address. The "trial scene" from Shakespeare's play of the "Merchant of Venice" was given under the direction of Miss Belle McGill, which was well received by the audience.

Dr. R. M. Bucke was then introduced, and delivered his lecture on "Walt Whitman."

The Doctor began by saying that on 31st May, 1819, a child was born on a farm house on Long Island, in the State of New York, who is probably destined to exercise as great an influence upon the human race as any man that the world has ever yet produced; that child has grown into a man who is now known by the name of Walt Whitman. The poet's early life was briefly sketched and a passing reference made to his family history. His mother was a woman of remarkable mental endowments, and the law that mental qualities are more frequently inherited from the mother than the father holds good in this instance. The mother was not so remarkable for her intellect as for her moral qualities and her capacity for loving and exciting affection in others; her excellent moral qualities are chiefly interesting to us in their relation to the still more splendid moral nature of her son, which is likely to affect millions of our fellow creatures. At the age of 13 he learned type setting—taught school at 16, and at 16 moved to New York city, where he lived till he was 30 years old. Very little is known of his life in that city, except that he wrote and published some small poems and stories which are now lost. At 30 he began travelling, and lived for a time in New Orleans, St. Louis, and other cities he travelled mostly on foot, and was all this time preparing himself for his great work "Leaves of Grass," which he began in 1855. In 1855 he published a small volume of 95 pages, the type of which he set up himself. Ralph Waldo Emerson characterised this work as "the most extraordinary piece of wit and wisdom that America has yet produced," and said he found in it "incomparable things said incomparably well." Each edition following the first was larger and more complete, till the sixth and last edition, now in two volumes, appeared in 1876. From 1861 to 1861 Walt Whitman lived in Brooklyn. Shortly after the war began his brother was wounded, and Walt went to the hospital where he was, to look after him. From this time till the end of the war he remained on the hatchfields and in the army hospitals nursing, assisting and cheering the sick and wounded soldiers. He supported himself by writing for the newspapers, and spent all he had for the sick and dying soldiers. The four years spent on the battlefields and hospitals may be looked upon as the culminating point of his life. Personally Walt Whitman is a man about 6 feet high, and weighs about 200 pounds; he was a remarkably fine looking man and a perfectly proportioned body. His manner is usually silent, and though always cheerful, he seldom smiles or laughs; he is undemonstrative, never becomes excited, and it is said he never swore but once in his life. Walt Whitman belongs to and by preference associates with, the common people. Next to his friends, his chief delight has been music; he cannot be called a profound student of books, but chooses such as the Bible, Homer and Shakespeare for his favorites, and he knows them well. Whatever he does or suffers becomes altered by its contact with him, so that by that alchemy of genius in his nature, old age and death lose their terrors. As he says himself, "I take holy whatever I touch or am touched from." Probably no man has ever lived upon this earth who was ever loved so intensely or by so many people as Walt Whitman. The secret of this affection for him is his own extraordinary power of loving. He describes himself as a man "who was not proud of his songs, but of the...underlaken cause by live within him." The distinguishing feature belonging to this man, which as a key unlocks every apparent enigma about him, is its extraordinarily elevated moral nature, his exalted trust in God and his intense love for mankind. In a few years he will not be visible to our eyes, and if we wish to know him, whom to love, we must look to his other self, which may be found in "Leaves of Grass." The Doctor then gave some quotations from this book, as he said his hearers not to form their estimate of the poems from what they then heard, but to read them for themselves and study the beauties therein contained. He went on to say that so far as he knew, no one could understand "Leaves of Grass" at once, although read many times, it always revealed something new. He then gave his own interesting experience in reading it, and said that although at first he would throw down the book in disgust, he was irresistibly im-elled to take it up again, and felt the truth of the poet's line, "My words itch at your ears till you understand them." Although "Leaves of Grass" neither instructs nor amuses in the ordinary sense, it is done more than this, for whoever reads it is made happier, wiser and better. And this is not done by acting on the intellect, but by acting directly upon the moral nature. To comprehend "Leaves of Grass" means the putting of one's self in the moral relationship with it. As the moral altitude of "Leaves of Grass" is perhaps the highest morse position ever reached by the mind of man, the difficulty in comprehending it is found in the reader arriving at the same moral altitude, but whoever can do this will never cease to thank the man who helped him in getting there. Walt Whitman says:—

"I have arrived
To be wrestled with as I pass for the solid prizes
For sooth I afford whoever can persevere to win them."

In commenting upon this and similar passages, the Doctor said that the poet utters these words as he who will not put their minds in emotional relation with his, and this moral elevation means a greater amount of faith, a greater power of loving, and the consequent reduction of the liability to fear and capacity for hate. As love and faith are the elements of which happiness is composed, hate and fear are the elements which constitute unhappiness, if Walt Whitman can give us moral elevation, he can give us increase our happiness and diminish our unhappiness, and he will thus confer on us one of the most solid blessings known to the universe. Our world is so constructed as to justify love and faith, and not hate and fear, and the man who helps us to feel this truth also gives us life.

Unlike did the partial boarder wot of those four bright eyes the connecting bow-window peeping over upon the top of his hat as he knocked a resolute double knock at the door. He was a man accustomed to...plating the house and its surroundings, pleased with the rural quiet of the scene, the blossoming hawthorns, golden laburnum, and all the flowers of the sweet May-time. The exterior of the house suggested comfort, and even the door had an elegance.

"It would be better than living in a smoky London street," Captain Loland said to himself, "could he but be closer into the bargain. The walk from here to the clubs would not hurt my leg-legs."

The little maid of all-work opened the door, neat and trim in her afternoon gown and smart cap. Servants wore caps in the days before the Crimean war. Breathing hard, as in some terrible strait, the maiden ushered the stranger into the drawing-room, where Mrs. Trevornock, who had seated herself just three minutes before, flushed after a hasty toilet, rose to receive him.

What did Captain Loland see in the little drawing room, fifteen feet by twelve and a half, lighted by one wide French window looking out upon the semi-circular glass-plate girdled with shrubs? He saw a woman who was evidently a lady. He saw a room which assuredly belonged to ladies. The sweet face, a little faded, but still very sweet, which greeted him with an engaging smile, pleased him at once. The room pleased him as well as its mistress. The old-fashioned furniture was well worn, but not shabby. The open piano and book shelves, the spring flowers and modest array of old china, suggested tastefulness and love of home. Captain Loland had been at large in the wide world long enough to reverence even the abstract idea of home—how much more the reality!

The first few questions and answers were embarrassing. The gentleman stammered, and traced the pattern of the carpet with the ferrule of his cane; the lady replied breathlessly. This kind of barter was new to both of them. But when the genial question of terms had been settled, they

Saturday Review:—"We venture to predict that for a long time to come recourse will be had to the old-fashioned introspective way in the higher branches of psychology. The laws of our more complex intellectual and emotional life cannot yet be reached from the physiological side. Much may no doubt be done by an objective study of mind in its collective manifestations in national life, etc., but there will still remain many difficult problems of analysis, the solution of which requires, before anything else, a fine introspective insight.

I hear a voice you cannot hear,
Which says I must not stay
I see a hand you cannot see,
Which beckons me away.
—Longfellow's Bard.

I hear a voice you cannot hear,
It is my darling's dad;
He wears a rattlin' gilt shirt
And a patent liver pad.

He softly open the parlor door,
Whistlin in his grizzled beard,
And says:—"Maria, can't that chap
It's time to go to bed."

G. W. R. PROVIDENT SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Yearly Report and Financial Statement.

The Annual Meeting of the members of the Great Western Railway Provident Society was held at the G. W. R Dining Rooms in this city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Charles Bull, the Vice-President, occupied the chair, in the absence of Mr. Broughton, who is at present in Chicago. Between forty and fifty members were present, amongst whom were observable, Messrs. C. K. Domville, J. Flowers, N. J. Power, R. P. Leslie, (Secretary), H. Childs, J. E. Dawson, F. Armstrong, W. Brown, J. Stewart, Wm. Chambers, Patrick Murray, Peter Temple, John Law, J. R. Peckham, T. Butters, G. Bazzard and others.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been confirmed,

The following annual report of the Committee of Management was submitted:—

The balance sheet, signed by the Auditors, shows the receipts to have been as follows:—

Monthly contributions	$13,007 89
Death levies	10,936 10

The principal payments have been:—

For sick allowance	$8 988 05
For medical attendance	4,680 41
Members paid off (incurable)	500 00
Refunds under Rule 10	232 67

By an examination of the figures of the balance sheet it will be seen that, allowing for the difference in the contribution during the first three months of the year and the rate fixed at the last annual general meeting, the said rate of 40 and 45 cents has, with the assistance of the Great Western Railway contribution and the interest on investments, been just sufficient to cover the expenses; therefore each member has been charged with this rate as the share of the annual expense.

The amount due members at 31st December, 1878, $7,101.95, and surplus, $844.72, has been increased by the higher rate collected in the first three months, $829.60; less refunds, $237.07, making amount at end of year $43 51.

The amount of the indebtedness to the members of the Society is secured as follows:—

Invested in Dominion Government stock, paying 5 per cent.

Dividend	$8,000 00
Cash in bank	743 61
	9,759

The only insurance levy unpaid at the end of the year amounts to $118 50, which has since been paid.

MEMBERSHIP.

Membership at 31st December, 1879		2,428
Joined the Society in 1879		341
		2,769
Left the service	308
Died	37
		295
Membership at 31st December, 1879		2,524

Of whom 786 are in A class, 703 are in B class, 467 are in C class, 424 are in D class, and 149 are in no class; 67 members have left the service and the Society, and have claimed the refund of their contributions, as to which they were entitled. This has amounted to $222 07.

The names of the members who have died, and whose representatives have received the death levy are also given. Those in Class A have paid $7.10 or 20c per month; in Class B, $4 85 or 17c; in Class C, $3 45 or 12c, and in Class D, $1 55 or 5c. Of the 37 deaths, 5 have been the result of accident while in the performance of their duty; 9 deaths have occurred in Class A, 5 in B, 7 in C and 6 in D.

From the tabular analysis of the benefits received, it is shown that 694 members received relief to the amount of $6,983 40, or $12.95 per member sick; of these 153 have been injured and received $2,341.50, or $14.80 per member. Of the members 614 have paid 60 cents and 45 cents per month, and received $2,104.40, or $3.42 per member, 2,145 have paid 50 cents and 40 cents per month, and received $6,883.55, or $9 20 per member.

Those who received benefits were distributed in the departments thus:—Drivers, 82; firemen, 45; yardsmen, 22; conductors, 15; baggagemen, 9; Engineering Department, 238; fuel, 8; inside Locomotive Department, 57; cleaners, 76; station staff, 99; steamers, 10; total, 694.

Thus, those paying 60 cents and 45 cents have received 22 cents more than those paying 50 cents and 40 cents.

The Committee of Management have been on the funds over three months has been 21. The number of members on the funds during the entire year was 43, and of these 11 have been on the funds over three months.

The Society is greatly indebted to the Great Western Railway Company for its liberal assistance during the past year, and cordially desire to express their hearty thanks to the Board for their handsome contribution towards the expenses of the Society.

A table showing the names of members who have received sick allowance during the year was also given.

The financial statements are as follows:

RECEIPTS.

To balance on deposit in Bank of British North America	$ 3,679 90
Amount received on account of sick levies	13,007 89
Amount received death levies	10,936 10
" from G. W. R.	4,480 75
" interest	431 40
	$32,447 95

To balance on deposit in Bank of British North America	743 61
Balance in hands of the Treasurer	17 72

EXPENDITURE.

By balance due the Treasurer	$ 43
Amount paid for sick allowance	8,988 05
" death levies	12,209 95
" honorable members	500 00
" medical staff	4,794 92
" extra medical accounts	1,680 41
" stationery	223 95
" refund of contributions	237 07
"	229 07
Amount paid for salaries	1,644 75
" invested in 5 per cent. Dominion Government stock	9,000 00
Amount on deposit in B. N. A.
as date	$1,171 77
Receipts in Jan. on Dec. acct.	8,434 36
	$9,606 51
Payments "	2,262 62
	743 61
Balance in hands of the Treasurer	17 72
	$32,447 8

ASSETS.

Invested in 5 per cent. Dominion Government stock	$8,000 00
Interest accrued on the same and not yet payable	100 00
Balance in Bank British North America	743 61
Balance in hands of the Treasurer	17 72
	$8,861 33

LIABILITIES.

Proportion due investors under Rule 10	$8,442 31
Due to levy (No. 48) not paid	118 50
Medical staff account not paid	12 00
Surplus	84 36
	$8,861 33

The report and financial statements were adopted, after the usual explanations.

The election of officers, which was done by ballot, resulted as follows, after a slight hitch:—

Patron—Col. Grey, President of the G. W. R. Company.

Trustees—Messrs. C. K. Domville, Hamilton; S. Barker, Hamilton; Peter Temple, London.

Vice-President—Mr. Frederick Broughton, Hamilton.

Vice-President—Mr. Chas. Stiff, Hamilton.

Secretary—Mr. R. P. Leslie, Hamilton.

Treasurer—Mr. W. S. Champ, Hamilton.

Counsel—Mr. Samuel Barker, Hamilton.

Auditors—Messrs. N. J. Power and T. Butters, Clifton.

Chief Medical Officer—H. T. Ridley, M.D., Hamilton.

Committee of Management—Messrs. Domville, Holmes, Childs, Power, Temple, Murray, Champ, Law, Collis, W. Crawford, Armstrong, W. Brown, Stewart, Chambers, Nicol, Peckham, Butters, Marshal, Bazzard and Dr. Ridley.

Votes of thanks were accorded to Messrs. Broughton, Stiff, Barker, Champ and others for their services to the Society, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Committee of Management met subsequently and appointed Chairmen of sub-Committees.

OFFICERS SELECTED.—The Northwest Transportation Company, headquarters at Sarnia, have thus far made the following appointments:—Steamer Ontario, Captain Edward Robertson; purser, Wm. Askins; chief engineer, George Pettigrew. Steamer Quebec, Capt. Ed. Anderson; purser, John McEdwards; chief engineer, Thomas Pettigrew. Steamer Manitoba, Capt. John S. Moore; chief engineer, John Tonkings. No appointments have yet been made for the steamers Sovereign and Asia.

Free Press Correspondence.

The Grangers and Market Fees.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

DEAR SIRS,—Would you please give the following resolution as insertion in your valuable paper, passed at the last regular meeting of Mutual Grange, No. 32, and oblige a number of your readers. It was proposed and seconded, and carried unanimously, that we, as a Grange, pledge ourselves not to vote for any man to the Local Legislature, who will not pledge himself to vote for and advocate the abolishing of market fees in towns and cities.

There is a very strong agitation going on in these parts on the market fee question among farmers in general, outside the Grange as well as in, and if the men who are in the Local Legislature now will not take up this question and deal fairly with it, the determination is to send men there who will.

Westminster, Feb. 26th, 1880.

Curiana—Wingham vs. Brussels.

A friendly game of curling was played in the Covered Rink, Brussels, yesterday, between two rinks from the Wingham and Brussels Curling Clubs, resulting in favor of Wingham by a majority of 47 shots. Brussels play irons and Wingham stones. So one rich from Wingham played irons against irons and stones against stones.

WINGHAM RINK, NO. 1.		BRUSSELS RINK, NO. 1.
Jos. Nesbitt.		Thos Hall.
R. S. Strong.		Gordon.
A. Keech.		J. Parker.
W. T. Bray, skip		J. Campbell, skip
(stones)	24	(irons)	11
WINGHAM, NO. 2 RINK.		BRUSSELS RINK, NO. 2.
F. Fowler.		Good.
John Young.		Morris.
C. Wallace'aw.		Laidlaw.
George McKay, skip		Webster, skip (stones)
(stones)	31		7
	55		18

Wingham, Feb. 25th, 1880.

WATSON O. F. R.'s.—A lodge of Orange Young Britons—Watford True Blues, No. 295—was instituted there on Wednesday night by the Worthy Master of the Strathroy lodge, when the following officers were installed:—T. D. Hannan, W. M.; J. Blashford, D. W. D. M.; S. Benner, S. F. Stotts, T.; T. Sparaway, O. T.; R. Tompk

J. M LONGAN & CO.,
Grocers,
WINE & LIQUOR MERCHANTS, 145
DUNDAS ST.

The Free Press.

Saturday, February 28, 1880.

ASTRONOMICAL.

London, Saturday, Feb. 28, 1880.
Sun rises at.....6.59 a.m. | Moon rises at 9.18 p.m.
Sun sets at.....5.46 p.m. | Moon sets at 7.37 a.m.
Day of the year—59th.

The Armstrong Gun was invented in 1859.

Sunday, Feb. 29, 1880.
(Third Sunday in Lent.)
Sun rises at.....6.57 a.m. | Moon rises at 10.39 p.m.
Sun sets at.....5.47 p.m. | Moon sets at ...7.55 a.m.
Day of the year—60th.

MIDNIGHT WEATHER REPORT.

Washington, Feb. 28, 1 a. m.—Indications: for the Lower Lakes, increasing cloudiness, with rain or snow.

HO! FOR MANITOBA.—The attention of those who purpose visiting Manitoba on Tuesday next is called to the announcement in our advertising columns of Mr. R. Patterson, of Paris, who has arranged to leave Mr. Robinson, Hall and Co.'s London to-day and Monday to expedite the loading and shooting of merchandise and baggage of the passengers westward bound.

PRESENTATION OF A PURSE.—A few evenings since a presentation took place at the Asylum, the recipient being Mr. Alf. Grant, who for some time past has occupied the position of attendant there, and the donors being his fellow-attendants. The occasion was his leaving for England and the gift was in the shape of a handsome purse. Mr. Grant was highly thought of by his fellow-associates, who felt regret at his departure.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.—Archibald Munro and William Humphrey have been arrested by County Constables Pope and Hodges, on a charge of obtaining a cutter from Mr. George Carley, under false pretences. It is charged that the rig was obtained on condition that it should not be sold until paid for, and that the accused parties afterwards disposed of it. The case will be investigated before Squire Peters at an early date.

"THE KIND OF A MAN HE IS."—The Ottawa correspondent of the Mitchell Advocate has the following pertinent remarks concerning a young man named Preston, who was discharged from the employ of reported and writer during Mackenzie's reign:—"The press is well represented here this session, but one of the reporters, who looks after the interests of that detestable sheet, the London Advertiser, which is looked upon by both parties as a disgrace to journalism, has already got himself into bad order by his persistency in dodging private members at every turn, peeping through key-holes, and forcing himself into private grounds in the hope that something might be overheard that would be of interest to lovers of scandal.

BASE BALL MATTERS.—The National Base Ball League met yesterday at Rochester, N. Y., and appointed the following umpires for 1880:—B. F. Wade, Cleveland; John W. Schofield, Troy; J. W. Young, Syracuse; Otis Tildan, Brockton, Mass.; William McLean, Philadelphia; Henry Murphy, Lynn, Mass.; A. G. Pratt, Plymouth; E. F. Sullivan, Chicago; Charles E. Davis, New Bedford; Michael Lynch, Holyoke, Mass.; S. S. Libby, Gloucester, Mass.; W. E. Stearns, Washington; S. B. Finch, Ithaca; Fred. Waterman, Cincinnati; W. J. Riley, Cincinnati; J. L. White, Corning; S. W. Nickerson, Providence; C. E. Daniels, Hartford; M. Walsh, Louisville; A. Barker, Rockford, Ill.; Thomas E. Gilleau, London, Ont.; George H. Bradley, Rochester.

POLICE COURT.—At this Court yesterday, the F. M. presiding, a man named Wm. Sherris was charged with breach of the day by law. He did not put in an appearance, but the evidence of Mr. Murdock, the complainant, was taken, and showed that Sherris' dog had killed the complainant's chickens. The Magistrate convicted the defendant, and ordered him to pay a fine of $2 and $4.20 costs. Charles Foster got rather the cold-time speech to the Court, and was paroled accordingly. Jack Finnegan can't possibly behave himself more than a week at a time. He got into an altercation with Robert Sutherland, and for assaulting him was fined $10 and $4 10 costs; in default two months, and to find sureties to keep the peace for a year. Finnegan's well out of the way.

"THEM PICTURES."—The country press are giving the Globe severe thrusts for painting off upon its readers caricatures of the persons accused of complicity in the Biddulph tragedy. The Bornia News says the "Globe is still at it, publishing those villanous pictures of the Biddulph people. Every man of them will go to the gallows for this thing is the height of infamy." The St. Mary's Argus also remarks that "the Globe has been publishing what it calls 'portraits' of the leading characters in the Biddulph tragedy. If the men look like what they are represented in these 'portraits' we not much wonder they were arrested as murderers. The Globe ought to change its special artist." Then, again, the Northern Advance says:—"The Globe keeps on giving pictures of the parties concerned in the Biddulph murder. Even the little mistake of labelling a picture of the murdered girl 'Johnny Connors' does not seem to have stayed its enterprise in this direction."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO NEWSPAPER MEN.—The Sarnia Observer says:—"Messrs. MacVicar and McAdams, of the Sarnia Canadian, met with a serious accident last week, while on their way to attend a meeting and supper of the Brighton Conservative Association. The two gentlemen were travelling in a buggy, and when but a few miles from town the whiffletree became detached, causing the horse to become unmanageable, and resulting in the capsize of the buggy, the occupants being thrown heavily into the ditch. Mr. McAdams escaped with a few scratches and bruises, but Mr. MacVicar was rendered insensible by the severity of his fall, and when picked up was found to have sustained serious injury. He was removed to a neighboring farm house, where he remained in an unconscious state during the greater part of the night. Mr. MacVicar is still confined to the house, but we are glad to learn that he is progressing favorably and that no further danger is apprehended as the result of his injuries.

OBITUARY.—One of the oldest residents of this section of Ontario—we refer to Elizabeth, the beloved wife of Mr. George Robson, E. P., of London Township—died at her residence, lot 29, in the 13th concession of London Township, Thursday night. She was taken with an attack of paralysis about five days since, and encumbered to its effects on the above evening. Deceased had attained the age of 73 years, over fifty of which had been spent in her husband's company. She was one of the family of Summers, of Westminster, and came to this part of the country in 1831 from New Brunswick. Her name and that of her husband were synonyms of uprightness and honesty of purpose, and while Mr. Robson was more widely known by the public than his wife, those who had the good fortune of the latter's acquaintance, spoke of her in the highest respect as a true mother and devoted wife. She bore nine children, all of whom survive her, and are in comfortable circumstances. The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock, to the cemetery on the 13th concession.

LOCAL NOTICES.

MRS. MOORE'S CONCERT.—The following ladies and gentlemen have kindly consented to assist at Mrs. Moore's concert on Tuesday week, in aid of the Protestant Orphans' Home, under the auspices of the W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.:—Mrs. Paul, Miss Lemay, Dr. Sippi, Mr. J. W. McIntosh, Mr. G. B. Sippi, and a chorus of nearly forty voices.

STILL ANOTHER.—"I have given Keeks a thorough trial, and think it a success. A large number of my boarders will drink nothing else now, as they say it tastes quite as good, and agrees with them far better than either tea or coffee."—J. B. Parker, Montreal House, 76 Church street, Ottawa.

THE DONNELLY MURDERS.

Examination of the Prisoners Continued.

William Thompson Again on the Witness Stand.

Father Connolly's Name Brought into the Evidence.

James Feeley Testifies to Having Seen James Carroll and James Ryder on the Fatal Night.

Mr. Thompson Recalled—Patrick Keefe's Evidence.

The examination was continued at the City Hall yesterday. The prisoners were seated on one end of the platform, and the magistrates and counsel occupied the centre. The arrangements were inconvenient. The hall was crowded.

The prisoners who were bailed last night were called and responded to their names.

William Thompson's evidence was continued:—

To Mr. Macmahon—I have lived about twelve years as a farmer on the property I now occupy; I have not spoken to the Donnellys for six or seven years; I had no intercourse further than exchanging salutations, owing to the manner in which they treated me at the time of my marriage; I went to Mr. Stanley, a J. P. in Lucan, and was refused the search warrant, although me to go on and look for the cow, and if the search was refused to go and get a search warrant; I don't remember whether they refused to allow us to search; the members of the committee accompanied me; Donnelly gave us permission at first, but afterwards refused; a good number of us were summoned, but the case was abandoned; we followed Stanley's advice; the Society was for the purpose of discovering anything that was stolen, and for no other purpose that I knew of; the book that was open at the church everybody was to sign; I did not take notice who had signed or who signed not; I was there; the prisoner Wm. Carroll was working for me since last July; James Carroll was in the habit of coming to my house to see his brother; he had slept at my house a night every now and then in addition to the two weeks he was there; between Christmas and the time of the murder he slept at my place two or three nights or more; he slept upstairs in the same bed with his brother; there was no ceiling above the lower floor, nothing but the wide boards, which were tongued and grooved; some of them, however, were sprung up and loose; I can't say how long the house had been built, but should think five or six years before I went there; the boards would be pretty dry; a small piece was burnt where the stovepipe passed through the loft, and on the occasion of the fire some of the boards were loosened; the stovepipe hole is about a foot square; the north wall where [illegible] and anyone getting out of bed would require to pass around the stovepipe; I do not think from my knowledge of the house that anyone could have got down the stairway and out of the house without my knowing it; after I lit the fire I opened the kitchen door south and went out of the door; there were no tracks that I could see; I did not notice any snow about the door inside; somehow snow would drift in under the door, and I saw no tracks of anyone coming in; James Carroll's boots were in the kitchen that morning, but I did not see him put them on; he placed his boots between the kitchen stove and the wall along with my boots and others; the others were there, too, in the morning; I remember, also, whether I saw William Carroll or not in the morning; I remember folding up the curtain of the upstairs window when the Chief was there, and also that he asked me to get a light, owing to the darkness; I got a light, owing to the darkness; I got a half [illegible] of the house will only open half way; that door was shut on the night of the murder; my bed room door was open, and remained open all the time; the Chief, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Phair, Mr. Patrick Donnelly, and another gentleman whom they said was a reporter; they were distributed about the house; I can't well exactly remember how four were asking me questions at once, and I may have misunderstood the Chief's question, but I could [illegible] answer; I did not go to bed at half past eight, and did not get up at half-past seven; the first I could [illegible] was on [illegible] snowing when I got up; there is a door leading up the stairs, which I think James Carroll closed when he was going up; there are two steps leading up to that door; any one who went out the main kitchen door would have to come down stairs, go around a stable, pass my bedroom door, and open the door leading to the stairs; William Carroll came down as usual the morning of the murder.

To Mr. Hutchinson—I went out the kitchen door when I got up, and it was snowing at that time; whether any person had been out or not, I don't know that the snow would have covered the tracks; I had no occasion to look for tracks; I had been snowing a good deal during the night, and it was still snowing when I went out; the snow had not drifted into the kitchen that I know of during the night, and I did not look to see if there were any tracks in the kitchen; I never thought of doing so, and there might have been a wet spot in the kitchen without me noticing it; the fire was left in the stove when we went to bed, and the kitchen could be warm all night; I did not see Connolly's boots in the kitchen after he took them off at night; I paid no attention to that matter; a white cotton curtain and white cotton blinds were on the upstairs, having been hung there since before Christmas; they were also hung there when the Chief came, and I remember somebody asking me to roll back the curtain and give light; I [illegible] was not home that night; I saw his barns were burning; I was at a wedding at Bob Keefe's at the time, and saw the fire about daylight; I did not see it when it started; I never went near Ryder's to help put out the fire or save anything; I thought it was safer to keep away; I did not belong to this Vigilance Committee, and don't think I was ever asked to join; when I told Bob Keefe that they were going to scour the country, I do not remember his reply; he wondered where he had been; I told him that I had been at a joining farm, but did not go home immediately after leaving Ryder's; the most of the conversation was about young Ryder and where he had been; I do not remember Robert Keefe saying in the first place that it was a gun; we did not discuss it very long before Robert Keefe came to the conclusion that it was a gun, although he may not have said so; I can't remember whether I first told about seeing Ryder; it was on Wednesday that I spoke about it to my father, James Keefe; he said he had seen Ryder on the road, and thought he was carrying a sword; I did not want to have anything to do with the Vigilance Committee, because I thought it would come to a bad end; I don't know what it was formed for, and I never saw the book in which the signatures were made; I did not know the book was there; I did not go to church very often after the Committee was formed, but used to go pretty often before; I don't remember hearing Father Connolly mention the book when talking about the deprodations.

Robert Donnelly, sworn—I am a son of the late James Donnelly; I was not at home on the night of the murder, but was in St. Thomas; I first heard of the murder on Thursday, and came here about two o'clock on Friday morning; I went to Mr. O'Connor's in Lucan; I went to my father's place on Saturday, in company with Johnny O'Connor; Joseph Whalen came over while I was there; I went there just to see where they were murdered; I did not make a search about the place then; I found something there accidentally afterwards; it was the stick produced; it was about ten rods from the house; it was in a field to the north of the house, in the direction of the school house; that would be in the direction of my brother William's place; it was on the 12th or 13th of this month that I found the stick; I was driving some cattle from the old homestead to James Keefe's when I came upon the stick, I was taking a short cut across the field when I saw the stick and picked it up; I saw what I supposed to be blood on it, and laid it beside the woodpile while I went over to the stable and put the cow in; afterwards I took the stick to Lucan and gave it to my brother William to hand to the Chief of Police.

To Mr. Macmahon—The school house was on the north corner of the fifty acres of our homestead, a portion was laid out for a play ground; it was a couple of weeks before the murder that I was home last; there was a fence about the play ground, and it was half way between the house and the school house where I found the stick; it was about 70 feet from the fence; the stick is made of elm, and looks as though it had been cut for some time. I have played the old four-handed ball, and this is something like the club used; I never saw them playing base ball there; I took it away because I thought it was covered with blood; I was with Detective Phair at McGrath's house on Wednesday of this week; it was between four and five o'clock; we went through the stables, and found a pair of overshoes; James McGrath and I found them in a pile of manure, and Mr. Phair picked them up; I don't think McGraths knew anything about them being there; I merely went to McGrath's because Mr. Phair asked me to go.

William Hodgins, sworn—I am a constable, and am well acquainted with Jas. Carroll; I lent him a pair of handcuffs the day after Mr. Ryder's burning, because I knew he had some of his own; the day after the Donnellys' funeral Carroll's younger brother brought them back, but at the time of the murder they had not been returned.

To Mr. Macmahon—Carroll was in the habit of borrowing them from me, and had them on several occasions before; I had had them for four or five years in my breast pocket, and sometimes in my hip pocket; I used them a good deal; I think that I asked Carroll if he wanted the handcuffs.

To Mr. Hutchinson—These are the handcuffs, and I can see no difference in them now.

To Mr. Macmahon—If sand-paper had been used on them a mark would be apparent; I arrested some of the Donnellys, and have been at the old man's house for automatic purposes; once I had some difficulty when I was arresting Thomas; he came out of the house with a gun, said he would blow my brains out, and called me a vulgar name.

To Mr. Hutchinson—The old man was not violent, and when he spoke I think he was trying to make things better; Tom was only trying to frighten me; that was the only time I had ever had any difficulty; I was not arresting him on a charge of robbery.

William Donnelly was called for, but having failed to respond, Mr. Hutchinson said he would not be pressed.

The Court was accordingly adjourned until this morning, at ten o'clock; at the Court House, the bail bonds being renewed for the prisoners previously mentioned.

William Donnelly will be examined this morning, when a thrilling story is expected to be told.

East Middlesex Teachers.

Quarterly Meeting of the Association.

MORNING SESSION.

Friday, Feb. 27.

The East Middlesex Teacher's Association held their usual quarterly meeting in the County Buildings this forenoon at ten o'clock. Inspector Dearness presided. The prominent teachers of the County were present, amongst whom we notice Messrs. McQueen, Eckert, Glass, Rowe, Donaldson, McKay, Marshall, Stoneman, Hunt, Weekes, Lidstone, C. White, Davidson, Wilson, J. W. Hodgins, C. O. Hodgins, Campbell and Misses Fitcher, Talbot, Brammer, and a number of others.

After the Secretary had read the minutes, their adoption was moved By Mr. Glass and carried.

The various accounts of the Association were read and passed.

Mr Eckert was appointed Treasurer pro tem., in absence of Mr. Lynam.

In answer to a question about the new School Act, Mr. Eckert thought it would not be well to agitate about the proposed school holiday alteration, as it might stir up the Grange element against them, and any way it would be out of place for them to move in the matter.

Mr. Hodgins advised agitation, as it showed the opinions the teachers held in this matter.

Mr. McQueen remarked it would not be prudent for this meeting to agitate. Mr. Waters, of North Middlesex, had moved, and seconded by Mr. Donaldson, that a committee be appointed to wait on the Minister of Education, and to gain the Grange element—if possible—to get hold of their proceedings, and thought the teachers met together for the purpose of concocting schemes for imposing upon the farmers.

Mr. Rowe had felt the pulse of farmers, and he thought they were well satisfied with the vacations as they were at present.

Mr. C. C. Hodgins was sure he knew trustees who would be willing to grind down teachers to two weeks, or even no holidays.

Mr. Donaldson did not think the Grange Society was opposed to education. It was only in North Middlesex that this had been agitated.

Mr. Dearness had met a number of Trustees, and he had only met one who was in favor of shortening the holidays. He thought the movement was retrogressive. If the matter was left to the boards of trustees he did not think many would exact two weeks extra from teachers. If they wanted to move in the matter they should give their reasons, and show it would be detrimental to the schools, and not to beat the public out of two weeks. This was the best argument to pursue.

It was moved, after considerable discussion, that the matter of holidays be left to a committee, and Messrs. Hodgins, Donaldson and Hunt were appointed by the Inspector.

Mr. Eckert gave notice he intended to bring a motion before the Association for this body to petition the County Council to establish a High School in East Middlesex.

The meeting adjourned till afternoon.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION

Was opened by Inspector Dearness, who proceeded to deliver his annual address, on "Our Flag, or the Teachers of History from a Political Basis." In the course of an able address he pointed out the different kinds of activities that make up human life, with their relative importance, and applied Spencer's definition of an ideal education. He contended it was obligatory on the State to prepare its youth for citizenship, and to inculcate the public principles of loyalty. It is the public schools which should do a large part of this work. Lessons were drawn by the speaker from lives of ancient and modern loyalists, and the beautiful in Racine's La Sainte Alliance shown. The relative influences bearing on patriotism of the Prussian and Canadian school systems were expatiated upon, the comparison in this respect being strongly in favor of the former. Mr. Dearness read an extract from a paper given by a candidate in the highest class at the late Normal School examinations, showing the utter ignorance of the most important part of Canadian history and its politics. He knew of only one instance of true Canadian patriotism, and that was at the time of Confederation. He was of the opinion that Canadian politicians were more politicians for that sake, and not patriots. He thought politicians here or elsewhere in America were not creditable as true patriots. If schools would teach political economy, it would be more beneficial, and he thought this was a great defect in teaching. He thought but few knew from what source the taxes were raised, whether from the Dominion, Ontario or the county. He urged teachers to well consider these things, and recommend the teaching of these functions of the various bodies of townships, counties and Local Legislature, instead of antiquated history. He wanted Canadian scholars to know the Canadian flag, and to know what it was and its distinctive features. He favored the practical application of knowledge to children. He thought by taking the flag to illustrate would lead to a concrete use of history. He gave an illustration of the flag on the blackboard—the Union Jack dated from 1603, and was the St Andrew's and St. George's crosses combined. From this useful lesson could be deduced historical, biographical and political. An explanation of the Canadian coat of arms was shown and fully explained, with its devices. He concluded by charging them all to put a flag up in their school and teach the pupils important lessons.

Mr. Eckert, in complimenting the address, said he had found a lack of patriotism in Canada; there was a want of patriotic songs and also statesmen, and to diffuse this was in the school-room. He blamed it to a great extent on the school books.

Patriotism in public schools was largely entered into by Messrs. Eckert, Jarvis, McQueen, Fawcett and others. A number of the speakers strongly recommended independence. The general conclusion was that they needed a greater amount of patriotism in Canada.

Mr. McQueen gave several examples from Canadian history of patriotism in Canada, especially in the war of 1812.

The use of the lithogram was given by Mr. McQueen, which he recommended for examinations, especially in teaching bookkeeping and copying map drawings and school exercises in general.

Mr. Dearness, the Inspector, showed and explained the principles of an electric pen and samples of the work given.

The meeting adjourned to meet in Victoria Hall in the evening.

QUEEN'S AVE. METHODIST CHURCH.

Proposed Alterations and Improvements in that Edifice—Fire Exits, etc.

London is not behind other cities of a similar size on this continent in regard to the number or appearance of her churches. Indeed, in many respects the sacred edifices of the Forest City are models of architectural beauty, and display in a high degree that refined taste for which her draughtsmen and architects are well known and appreciated throughout the Western Peninsula. The latest scheme for improvement in this respect is that resolved upon by the Trustees of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church at their quarterly meeting the other evening, and which, if carried out, as it no doubt will be at an early date, will add greatly to the appearance of the structure externally, and to the comfort, convenience and security of those who worship within its walls. It is proposed to paint the brickwork of the edifice a light color in oil, and also to give the woodwork a thorough renovating. The last coat of paint put on did not have the staying qualities many thought it would, and for a year past the exterior has presented anything but a cleanly appearance. The manner of the large entrance in the centre of the church is to be made two feet wider than it is at present, and the doors on each side of the main entrance are to be removed to the east and west sides of the church, and used as fire exits if occasion requires. Windows will be inserted in their stead on the Queen's Avenue front. It is also intended to make extensive alterations in the interior of the building. The pulpit will be removed from its present position, and a platform will be erected in its stead. The galleries will be lowered about two feet, having open iron work in front, and to be supported by iron pillars throughout. Instead of the three aisles in the body of the church, as at present, it is proposed to have four, one at each side contiguous to the east and west walls, and two in the centre. All the square and double pews will be done away with, and single ones made the rule. By the additional doors and extra sittings mentioned, the Board believe that the building in its most crowded condition can be successfully emptied in five minutes. This information can be relied upon, and the improvements in this direction will be the means of quieting the fears of many members in this particular in the event of a panic arising from any unforeseen cause. The plans and specifications are in the hands of Messrs. R. Peters & Son, architects, and it is expected the work will be called for for tenders without delay. The improvements will cost several thousand dollars.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The free agent will soon be prowling around the concessions.

The St. Mary's Argus (Grit) says the "agree" of the Lieut.-Governor "is a crying shame."

Mr. G. B. Harris has taken his seat on the Board of Licensed Commissioners, vice Mr. T. Partridge, jr., deposed.

Mr. M. Knowlton, of this city, is making arrangements to deliver temperance lectures in Sarnia and vicinity shortly.

A fine horse was purchased by Ald. Jones yesterday for $160, to take the place of the animal recently sold from the Fire Department.

Mr. Thomas Gurd, of Bothwell, has been appointed G. W. R. ticket agent at Lonsdale Siding, and will commence the duties on Monday next.

Mr. C. P. Heal, of this city, purchased and took away Messrs. Babb & McIntyre's stock of hats and caps at Mitchell the other day for 54½ cents on the dollar, cash.

Mr. Brackenbury Baker, who has for twenty-six years been Secretary of the Great Western Railway Company in London, died at Torquay on Thursday.

Messrs. Manville & Brown sold at their auction rooms yesterday 83 feet by 110 feet on Wellington street, near Grey, in the city, to Marion Dudley for $1,010.

The St. Catharines News thinks the per centum influence of a fellow-member of a lecture has an awful significance in connection with the Biddulph tragedy. Explain, explain.

The June weather of yesterday had the effect of bringing out a large number of the fair sex, who "took in" the sights on the dollar side of Dundas street during the afternoon.

Mr. E. M. Proctor, of Sarnia, has received the appointment of Registrar of Lambton, caused by the death of Mr. John Sinclair. The Sarnia Observer says:—"Mr. Proctor is in that county, and his appointment will be well received generally.

"Mr. Bandmann's conception of 'Shylock' differs essentially from that usually presented upon the stage, and is in no sense a libel upon the Hebrew race," so says the Detroit Tribune. He appears at the Opera House here on Monday night.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

New Spring dry goods just received at J. J. Gibbons'. New cottons, new prints, new shirtings, new cashmeres, &c. All are offered at old prices, having been purchased before the recent advance.

FRESH Florida strawberries, tomatoes and oranges. A. MOUNTJOY, City Hall Buildings.

G. H. AIRD, 266 Dundas street, is offering to the public best quality of roast beef from 6c to 8c per pound, porter house and sirloin steak, lamb and pork chops at 9 c per pound; corn beef 4c to 6c per pound, and other meats in proportion. 426y

FRESH SHRIMPS, Calawba grapes, Florida tomatoes and real Florida oranges, just received at R. MOUNTJOY'S.

T. O'CALLAGHAN & Co.—Baltimore oysters direct from the beds, and cheaper than the cheapest. Five different brands at 193 Dundas street next to the City Hotel. sod

H B B ALLEY will offer the coming week 100 pieces of Japanese Silk-faced Lustres at 25 cents per yard. Every lady should secure a dress—they are the greatest goods ever shown in London.—H B B ALLEY

Hawthorn's, the only first-class Restaurant for ladies and gentlemen in the city. Oyster quail, partridge, pigeon, chicken, duck, steaks chops, etc., etc., cooked to order on the shortest possible notice, at Hawthorn's Hotel and Restaurant (European plan). 413tf

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. sod

H B B ALLEY.—I will offer twenty pieces of Black Silk Mantle Velvet to-day, of the best qua lity. These goods are slightly damaged on the wrong side, but perfect on the face. They are worth from 86 to 88 per yard, but I will offer them from $1 25 to $3 00 per yard.

OYSTERS.—Until further notice I will retail fresh can Oysters at 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c and 40c per can and wholesale to the trade at 13c, 15c, 16c and 20c per can. All warranted fresh and good, or money refunded. All fruit in season. At R. MOUNTJOY'S, Opposite City Hall.

LARGEST FURNISHING HOUSE IN THE WEST.—The subscribers are prepared to fit up public buildings, hotels and private residences with Brussels carpets, tapestry carpets, from 45cts. to $1 per yard, all wool carpets, Dutch carpets union carpets, stair carpets and stair rods, hearthrug and rugs to match carpets; coons and seamless matting; English oil cloth, 24 feet wide Tiles, to $1.75 per yard; mattresses, feather beds and pillows; carpets matched and tacked free of charge; damask, prints and lace at low and every other article suitable for furnishing houses. A large stock of general dry goods always on hand. Call and see us before purchasing.

134 Dundas street. 136 Dundas street.

R. S. MURRAY & CO.

Financial and Commercial.

LATEST PER MIDNIGHT REPORT.

London Stocks.

London, Feb. 27.

Subjoined are the current quotations for London Stocks at noon.

Sh.	STOCKS	D	Buyers.	Sellers.
	MONETARY.
950	Agricultural		108½	110
50	Canadian		109	110
50	Dominion		101	103
100	English Loan		100	102
90	Financial & of Ont.		106	108
50	do pref.		100	101
50	Huron and Erie		173	174½
50	London Loan		117½	120
50	Ontario		120	123½
50	Royal Standard		100	104
90	Superior
	MISCELLANEOUS.
	FIRE INSURANCE Co.
	London Mut		93
	London Life		50	80
	New Estate Assoc'n		100
	Street Railway		136

Montreal Stocks.

Montreal, Feb. 27, 2.75 p. m.

	Asked.	Offered.
Bank of Montreal	170½	170¾
Merchants' Bank	97½	97¾
Commerce	119	119¼
Ontario	77½	77¾
Toronto	127
Molsons		77
Consolidated
Mon. Tel	97¾	97¾
Dominion Telegraph	97¾	98
Peoples, xd	63	63½
Jacques Cartier
Union Bank
Exchange Bank	90
R. O. Ins. Co
Rich & Ont Nav Co	97½	97¾
Can. Cot. Co	97½	97¾
City Gas Co	124½	125
do Div	119½	120

European Finances.

London, Feb. 27, 5.00 p. m.

Console.....97 16-16 | Illinois Cent.....no sale
money..... | G.....
account..... | Erie.....
4s5.....117½ |

New York Stocks.

New York, February 27—midnight—Railroads less active. Stocks strong.

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Feb. 27, 5.00 p. m.

	s	d		s	d
Flour, p. c.	19	0	Barley, ctl	5	10
Wheat, spg	10	11	Peas, do	6	2
Wheat, r	10	11	Pork, do	57	6
White	10	8	Lard, do	46	6
Corn, new	5	6	Bacon, do	30	6
Corn, ctl	5	9	Beef, do	70	0
Oats, do	6	3	Cheese	73	0

The following are the closing quotations for the past week—

	Feb 20	21	24	25	26	27
	s d	s d	s d	s d	s d	s d
Flour, pr. c.	19 0	19 0	19 0	19 0	19 0	19 0
Wheat, spg	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11
Wheat, r	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11	10 11
White	10 8	10 8	10 8	10 8	10 8	10 8
Corn, new	5 6	5 6	5 6	5 6	5 6	5 6
Corn, ctl	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9
" afloat	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9	5 9
Oats	6 3	6 3	6 3	6 3	6 3	6 3
Barley	5 10	5 10	5 10	5 10	5 10	5 10
Peas	6 2	6 2	6 2	6 2	6 2	6 2
Pork	56 6	56 6	56 6	57 0	57 0	57 0
Lard	45 9	46 0	46 0	46 0	46 0	46 0
Bacon	30 6	30 6	30 6	30 6	30 6	30 6
Beef	70 6	70 6	70 6	70 6	70 6	70 6
Tallow	42 6	42 6	42 6	42 6	42 6	42 6
Cheese	73 0	73 0	73 0	73 0	73 0	73 0

Cotton.

New York, Feb. 27.—Cotton dull and unchanged. Liverpool, February 26.—Cotton dull; uplands quoted at 7 5-16d; Orleans at 7 7-16d.

Rosebushe's Telegram.

London, Feb. 27.—Floating cargoes of wheat inactive, nearly none offering. Cargoes on passage dull and nominal. Mark Lane—Wheat quiet; maize firm. Good cargoes California wheat off coast, was the 6d; now the 6½. London—Fair average No. 2 Chicago spring on passage shipped during the present and following months, was 39s 6d; now 40s to 40s 6d. Fair shipping Cal. wheat for January-February, for orders, not shipped, was 39s; now 39s 6d. Country dull, was 39s 6d; now 40s. Quotations of fair quality mixed Am. corn for prompt shipment per sailing vessel to Queens Channel orders, per qr Ibs, American terra was 29s 6d; now 29s to 30s 6d. English and French country markets firm. Liverpool—Wheat spot nearly. Californian red winter wheat and white Michigan spring 1d cheaper.

Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 27, 10 a. m.—WHEAT quoted at 81 @82 March, 81 2d April.

Chicago, Feb. 27—midnight.—FLOUR unchanged. WHEAT dull and lower. No. 2 Chicago spring quoted at 81 2d; bid cash, 81 2d bid March, 81 2d bid April. CORN quiet and weak; fresh at 32c to 37c cash; 32c March. OATS steady and unchanged. RYE and BARLEY steady and unchanged. PORK dull, weak and lower, quoted at $11 70 to $11 75 cash, $11 70 March. LARD steady; $7 19c to $7 20 cash, $7 20 March. BULK MEATS easier; shoulders at 4½c; short rib at 6½c; short clear at 6½c. WHISKY steady at $1 06. RECEIPTS—Flour, 5,000 bbls; wheat, 30,000 bushels; corn, 120,000 bushels; oats, 80,000 bushels; rye, 7,000 bushels; barley, 14,000 bush. SHIPMENTS—Flour, 12,000 bbls; wheat, 11,000 bushels; corn, 66,000 bush; oats, 11,000 bush; rye, 2,000 bush; barley, 14,000 bush.

New York.

New York, Feb. 27.—FLOUR dull; receipts, 9,400 bbls; sales, 9,000 bbls. RYE FLOUR dull and unchanged. WHEAT active, strong and nominal; winter steady at lower; receipts, 27,000 bush; sales, 290,000 bush; No. 2 Chicago at $1 50@. RYE quiet, 96c to 97c. CORN quiet; receipts, 46,000 bush; sales, 36,000 bushels; 1c to 2c. BARLEY dull and unchanged. OATS in buyers favor; receipts, 42,000 bushels; sales, 27,000 bushels, 35c to 49c for mixed western and 40c to 52c for white. PORK dull at $12 70. LARD firm, at 7½. CHEESE quoted at 11c to 14½.

Detroit.

Detroit, Feb. 27.—WHEAT—Receipts, 3,000 bushels. Shipments, 8,000 bush.

Detroit, Feb. 27—WHEAT, No. 1 white, quiet and steady at $1 02½ bid cash. No. 1 white at $1 02½ bid cash. No. 2 March, $1 01 asked. CORN—No. 2 mixed at 41c. OATS—No. 2 mixed.

Boston.

Boston, Feb. 27.—FLOUR more active. Winter superfine at $5 to $5 25; common extras at $5 50 to $6; Minnesota extras at $6 to $6 50; spring extras at $5 50 to $6; spring patents at $6 50 to $7; winter wheat extras at $5 50 to $6; choice brands held at $7. Indiana at $6 75 to $7. Ohio at $6 50 to $6 75. CORN—Mixed at 50c; yellow at 51c. OATS—Mixed at 37c. BARLEY—Ontario at 87c to 90c; Canada at 86c to 88c. RYE—Nominal.

Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, February 27, 1880, 2 p. m.—WHEAT at $1 04½ for March; No. 1 at $1 07½. No. 2 at $1 01, cash and February, $1 01½ March, $1 02½ April; No. 3 at $1 00.

Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—FLOUR—Receipts, 600 bbls; sales, none reported. The market is very quiet, with unchanged quotations, which are as follows:—Superfine $6 10 to $6 15, extras $6 00 to $6 05, fancy $5 90 to $6 00, spring extra $5 90 to $6 00, superfine $5 50 to $5 60, strong bakers' $6 40 to $6 70. FEED—Middlings $13 00 to $14 00, pollard $12 00 to $13 00, Ontario bags $2 85 to $2 90, city bags $3 10 to $3 15. MEALS—Oatmeal at $4 50 to $4 60. CORNmeal at $2 90 to $2 95. GRAIN—Wheat, Canada spring, at $1 10 to $1 15. Peas at 77c to 78c. Oats at 35c to 36c. Corn at 50c. PROVISIONS—Pork at $16 50 to $17. Bacon at 9c to 11c. Lard at 10c to 11c. Butter: Eastern Townships at 20c to 24c, Morrisburg at 22c to 24c, Western at 15c to 18c. ASHES—Pots at $4 95. Pearls nominal.

Brantford.

Brantford, Feb. 27.—Flour, No. 1 supar, $6 00 to $6 25. Fall wheat, $1 25 to $1 26; spring wheat $1 12 to $1 14. Barley, 55c to 56c. Peas, 68c to 70c. Oats, 32c to 34c. Corn, 45c to 46c. Potatoes, 40c to 45c. Bran, $9 to $10. Chopped feed, $12 to $13. Hay, $8 to $9 50. Straw, $5 to $6. Dressed hogs, $6 25 to $6 50. Hides, 7c. Sheepskins, $1 20 to $1 40. Wool, 22c to 24c. Butter, 20c to 24c. Eggs, 18c to 19c. Cheese, 12c to 13c. Hay, $7 to $8. Potatoes, 40c to 45c. Corn, 42c to 45c.

Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Wheat—Fall, No. 1 $1 31 to $1 32, No. 2 $1 21 to $1 22. No. 3 $1 07 to $1 08. Spring, No. 1 $1 30 to $1 31, No. 2 $1 26 to $1 26, No. 3 $1 12 to $1 13. Barley No. 1 56c to 58c, No. 2 55c to 56c, No. 3 48c to 49c. Peas, No. 1 67c to 68c,

The Free Press

VOL. XXII. LONDON, ONT., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1880 WHOLE NO. 7066

RLINGS'
CELEBRATED LONDON
ct Ale,
ager Beer
—AND—
XXX Porter
from the trade respectfully solicited.

Married.

Instant, at the residence of the father, by the Rev. J. Philp, M.A., youngest son of Benjamin Higgins, Esq., to Alice Gertrudine, eldest daughter Matthews, Post Office Department, London.

residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Feb. 26, by the Rev. James Little, Ar hur Ion, Esq., of the firm of Cam. dispensary & Co., Paris, to Mary Eliza daughter of the late Harry C. Hobson, ronto.

residence of the bride's mother, on the inst. by the Rev. W. T. McMullen, Mr. Reid, to Miss Christina Cunningham, Esq., all of London.

Wednesday, 11th inst., by Rev. W. A McKay, the residence of Christopher Karn, East father of the bride, Thomas Freeborn to Ellen Karn.

the residence of the bride's father, Wood. on Wednesday, Feb 25th, by the Rev. W. key, B.A., assisted by the Rev. G. Munro, M.A., Reid, to Annie, daughter of Donald Mc. Esq., all of London.

the M. E. Parsonage, Bothwell, by Rev. Geo Kribser, Mr. John Rowberts to Miss Mary Swarts, of the township of Moss.

the 19th inst., at Grace Church, Bothwell, the Rev. D. Deacon, George Lamport, Esq., of to Elizabeth Jessie, second daughter of Rideall, of Thamesville.

OSTEOPATHIC REMEDIAL INSTITUTE,

Queen's Avenue, London, Ontario.

Electricity for the Treatment of Nervous and Chronic Diseases.

TURKISH BATHS, for the treatment of Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, Internal Congestions, and Diseases of the Skin and Kidneys.

Pamphlet on the Treatment of Consumption, the Natural Remedial Agents. For sale by all booksellers. Price 10 cents.

Being to be a fact beyond all authority, two-thirds of the cases of Chronic Diseases, fall victims to consumption.

WILSON, Electropathic and Hygienic Physician. 60d

OROMHYATEKHA.

No. 166 Richmond street, opposite the City Hall, will remain, while extensive additions and alterations are being made to the premises. All the Rooms, and on Saturday Afternoon, Dr. Oronhyatekha will be at his residence, 151 Dundas street, opposite Talbot street. Private Consultation Rooms.

AMUSEMENTS.

TURE—REV. W. H. MILBURN, "The Blind Man Eloquent," and renowned orator, will lecture in Victoria Tabernacle, Wednesday, March 3. Subject—Richard Cœur de Lion, or the Crusaders. Doors open at 7; reserved seats, 25 cents; gallery, 15 cents. Sale of the hall as Nordheimer's. Block

CALDWELL AND MARK, of Hamilton, and Dr. Sippi, will give a Concert in Victoria Hall, Feb. 26th, in Nordheimer's. Hall w.s

IC LANTERN AND DISSOLVING VIEWS.—Mr. G. F. Jewell will give an exhibition of his most interesting views in the Town Hall, London East, on Monday, at 8 o'clock in aid of St. Paul's Church, London East. Views of interest, in different parts of the world, will be given. Admission 25 cents; children half price. Chr w.s

D. C. BELL IN VICTORIA Hall on 16th and 17th March. The best in this continent. Tickets, 25 cts., 50 cts., and Nordheimer's Closed

MEETINGS.

N EAST COUNCIL WILL at the Town Hall this (Wednesday) ing, at 7:30 o'clock, for the transaction of business. J. Isaac, Clerk. East, March 3rd, 1880. d

S, LONDON TOWNship Meeting, March 14, 1880. Rev. Samuel of Hamilton, will preach in Church, London Township, at 11 a.m. A collection will be made at each church to provide a bell for St. John's Church. Rev. [illegible]

REGULAR MONTHLY meeting of the Women's Christian Association will be held in their rooms to-morrow (Thursday) at 3 p.m. A large attendance expected. Mar

LOST OR FOUND.

'S NEW MINK SKIN lost on either Dundas or Richmond cars. The finder will confer a favor by leaving at the City Hotel, addressed Rev. Mr. Belmont. d

SITUATIONS VACANT.

PRINTERS.—WANTED, A first-class Job foreman, who also possesses a thorough knowledge of the News Department of a newspaper. None but those prepared to give first-class references as to ability and sobriety. Credentials must accompany application. Address Gazette, care Mail Office, London. Ont

SERVANTS WANTED.

NUMBER OF GOOD SERVANTS, male and female, want situations. Also, to let furnished and unfurnished. Also, to rent or worked on shares, near this city. Apply J. Cannons, 66 Dundas st., London. Mar

SITUATIONS WANTED.

NEWSPAPER MEN — FIRST-CLASS Advertising Agent, Canvasser and Collector for engagement. Satisfactory references. Address, W. E. L., Box 160, Straithroy. Mar2

BUSINESS CHANCES.

PARTNER WANTED, WITH A small capital, or will sell out or lease the premises with the business. Apply to 206 Dundas street. J 24tf

REAL ESTATE.

OFFERS WILL BE RECEIVED by the Directors, Oddfellows' Hall, up to noon on the 26th day of March, for the purchase of the vacant part of their property, about 60 feet, at a price per foot, on Clarence street. Tenders to be addressed, marked "Hall," to Jas. Hall, 179 Oxford street, city. No tender necessarily accepted. Bds w.s.s.f

LARGE LOT FOR SALE, ON which is a new two-story brick residence, finished, 9 rooms, servants' apartments, bathroom, pantry, scullery and cellar; hard and soft water; Wortley Road, Westminster Township. Apply to HENRY PETO, on the premises. Alldis

BRICK DWELLING AND LOT for sale; 131 feet frontage by 240 feet deep, planted with the choicest fruit and ornamental trees, on Albert street. Apply to F. B. Smith. Gen'l

HOUSE.—FOR SALE, A GOOD, substantial brick house, nine rooms, good hard and soft water; stable and coach house and good garden. Terms moderate. For further particulars of Fred Rowland, 216 King street. Rmf

HOUSE.—FOR SALE, IN THE choicest locality in the city, a two-story brick house, in good repair, containing ten rooms, with large garden attached. Apply on the premises 241 Queen's ave., or to John Pritchard, 254 Pall Mall st. Artvn

LOTS FOR SALE, CHEAP.—On Woodview Estate, Westminster.—Parties wishing to purchase should apply to JOHN MCILLIN, on the premises. Alldis

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR sale, opposite G.W.R. Car Shops. Store dwelling, with furniture, will be sold on reasonable terms.—Apply to JOHN MCILLIN, on premises. scdtf

TO LET

BRICK COTTAGE, OVER Clarke's Bridge, to let. Good garden and stable, hard and soft water. Immediate possession.—Inquire on the premises, or to L. Kraus, Rideau st. Rdeow

BRICK STORE AND DWELLING, 1869, opposite Queen's Park, Dundas street, to let. First-class opening for a flour, crockery and liquor store. Apply on the premises or to Mr. H. Bacon. Ch

TO BUTCHERS AND OTHERS—Brick house and store, with cellar under good stand for business. Apply to D. Gibson, corner of Richmond and Kent sts. Rdeodtf

MISCELLANEOUS.

I PAID FOR WOOLLEN cotton rags, oil cloth, bagging, waste of all kinds, ledger written 20 lbs. newspaper by the bundle, old brass, zinc, lead, iron, bottles, jars, &c., bought and sold. Junkins, 266 Wellington street. Stock for sale cheap. Alldy

STAGE LICENSES CAN BE had on application at residence or office on Hamilton road. Lfdaway

NOTICE OF REMOVAL—JAMES Heather and Mattress Factory, to Richmond street. 17

CHOSE BEAUTIFUL goods by Miss M. Burns, the low prices, except to the trade. Factory—No. 321 Richmond street. J16tf

A FRESH ARRIVAL
—OF—
OLD GOVERNMENT
JAVA COFFEE
—AT—
D. Dodd & Bro.,
GROCERS, 228 DUNDAS STREET

Numphrey's Medicines
(HOMŒOPATHIC).
A FULL ASSORTMENT OF EVERY KIND JUST RECEIVED.

Also a large number of HAND BOOKS, free to any one ordering, giving FULL DIRECTIONS AS TO DIET, TREATMENT, &c. Well worth reading.

—AT—
SHUFF'S DRUG STORE,
LONDON EAST. mwf

FINE ARTS.

J. E. CHESTER, CARVER AND GILDER—Mirrors, Picture Frames, Mouldings, Window Cornices, Brackets, &c. Old frames regilded. Cheapest house in the city. Gallery of Art, 342 Dundas street. 19

FINE ART REPOSITORY.—GET your picture framed at the cheapest house in town. Repository of Fine Art.—F. J. Hock, 376 Dundas street, near Albert Block

MEDICAL.

DR. ANDERSON, OF 84 JAMES Street, Hamilton, Surgeon of the Eye, Ear and Throat, can be consulted at Tecumseh House, London, on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Cross-eyes straightened.

H. W. LLOYD, M.D., C.M., PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc., graduate McGill's College, Montreal, member Ontario Physicians and Surgeons, Ont. Office—Richmond street, corner of Pall Mall. Rdwtn

H. H. SELLS, D.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office—Edge Block, Richmond street. Oddy

H. MCLAREN, L.D.S., SURGEON DENTIST. Office removed over Bradford's confectionery store, opposite Crystal Palace, 191 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON. Teeth extracted without pain. Rdwtn

J. B. SABINE, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office 194 Dundas street, between B. A. Mitchell's dry store and corner Talbot street. 19

M. FORSTER, M.D., PHYSICIAN, SURGEON, &c. Office and residence at Forster's Drug Store Hick's Block, second door east of English street, London East. London, Feb. 4. 89tf vn

L. MCDONALD, L.D.S., DENTIST. Office—Dundas street, four doors east of Richmond street over David's jewelry store. Alty

BUSINESS CARDS.

JOHN OVERELL, ACCOUNTANT, &c.—Office as Board of Trade rooms. Merchants, mechanics and others who wish to have their books adjusted will be promptly attended to. Accounts collected at reasonable rates. Rlmy

LIVERPOOL CLOTHING HOUSE.—Clearing sale for thirty days. Come in! This is the place. Cheap Secondhand Clothing for Men and Boys. Largest in town. Highest cash price paid for second-hand clothing. Wm. Jenkins, 589 Dundas street, south side, between Wellington and Clarence streets. Jly

SECOND - HAND CLOTHING bought for cash by SAINSBURY, King street, two doors west of Market Square. Also tinsmith and Dealer in Every Description of Goods, Boots, Hats, Umbrellas, Bedding, Carpets. Money advanced on goods for sale by auction. N.B.—Parties wishing to sell wished on, and letters to call attended to. wodly

HOTELS.

BRITISH HOTEL, WINGHAM, near the depot. Every attention paid to the comfort of guests. R. F. Simmons, Proprietor. Ly

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL, Windsor.—First-class in every particular. Rates $1.50 per day. Centrally situated, two minutes' walk from G. W. Depot and Ferry Dock. Comers & Smith, (late Hamilton) and all were willing to guard the integrity of their Fatherland, but the necessity for an increase of the army had not been originally placed before the House. Bebel (Socialist) declared that if the enemy should threaten Germany the Social Democrats would join in repelling the invader.

London, March 2.—A Berlin dispatch says the reference of the Army Bill to Committee is almost tantamount to its final acceptance.

PERSIA

THE NEW EXPEDITION.

Teheran, March 2.—The idea of the Persian expedition to Afghan, Seistan and eventually to Herat has been abandoned on account of political difficulties likely to result.

RUSSIAN TELEGRAPH.

The construction of the Russian telegraph line from Tiokichara to Chat has been commenced.

LATEST FROM TORONTO.

Toronto, March 2.—There appears to be an organized gang of incendiaries working throughout the city of late. Several places have been fired, but fortunately the fires were discovered and extinguished before gaining headway. Localities where frame buildings predominate are usually chosen by the incendiary.

St. Patrick's Day will not be celebrated as of yore, by parading through the streets of the city. In the evening there will be a number of concerts given in aid of Catholic charities.

The General Sessions of the Peace opened this afternoon, Judge Mackenzie presiding. The docket is a light one, composed chiefly of petty larceny and assault cases.

Toronto, March 2.—At a meeting of the York Pioneers, held to day, it was decided to erect a memorial window in the English Church, Queenston, to General Sir Isaac Brock. It was decided to take into consideration the erection of a suitable tablet over the grave of Colonel John Butler, who is buried at Niagara.

Despite the opposition of the churches the Church Choir Pinafore Company appeared at the Grand Opera House to-night in "Pinafore." There was a large and fashionable audience, and the performance was applauded to the echo.

At an ordinary meeting of the Toronto Presbytery to-day considerable discussion ensued on the Bill now before the Dominion Parliament, asking to legalize a marriage between a man and his deceased wife's sister, or his deceased brother's wife, and a committee was appointed to prepare petitions to the Governor-General, and both Houses of Parliament, deprecating their giving their assent to the Bill.

Hon. Mr. Mowat announced to the House to-night that an adjournment, if possible, would take place on Thursday.

SHIPPING

New York, March 2.—Arrived, Italy, from London.

Hamburg, March 2.—Arrived, Westphalia.

New York, March 2.—Arrived, Wisconsin, from Liverpool.

London, March 2.—Arrived ont, Wester, City of London and Nederland.

Halifax, N. S., March 2.—The steamer Hibernian arrived from Baltimore, and will leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

Aquatic—Elliott Coming to America.

Pittsburg, March 2.—A letter from Elliott, the English oarsman, states he will come to this country in April. If he cannot row to advantage he will work at his trade—coal-mining.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Ottawa, March 2.—Rumors are abroad to the effect that Mr. McDougall will be appointed to the Chief Justiceship of Manitoba in succession to Mr. Wood.

The appointments concerning the British Columbia Judiciary are not yet settled. The former statement may be accepted as semi-official as correct. The British Columbia appointments [illegible] for the provision of the resolution providing for the appointment of judges have not thus far been filled up. They will be, shortly after the session. It is believed Mr. McCreight will be appointed to one vacancy, and, in the event of Mr. Walkem declining, another seat will be given to Mr. Robinson, a local lawyer. There is no truth in the assertion that Mr. Mcmillan is to be one of the occupants of the vacant seats. This may be sealed as authentic, upon the highest authority.

There was a dinner at Rideau Hall this evening of the Rideau Club, given by Mr. Mason, and in the Senate by Mr. Aikins, and the House of Commons was very empty during the evening.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

CANADIAN CURRENCY.

Prince Alfred, the Owen Sound and Wiarton steamer, is running regularly. No ice.

A man, name unknown, was found dead on the main road in Sherrington township, Monday.

In Ottawa Lady Tilley entertained a large number of invited guests Monday night. A number of members of Parliament and their wives were present.

At Port Burwell the schooner Alcora arrived yesterday, light, from Port Bruce, being the first arrival of this season. The harbor is now free from ice, and vessels are now fitting out. The steamer Anna Craig, having undergone repairs, was launched on Saturday last.

In refusing bail to Father Faure, the alleged Gatineau "fire bug," Judge Burgess, who is a Roman Catholic, said, after reviewing the case—It is very hard for a judge of any religion—belief to admit that a priest could do those things, but a priest is no more and no less than anyone else in private when I am acting in my official capacity.

In Toronto the Sunday concert prosecution is creating much feeling. There is a determination to appeal from the decision of the Police Magistrate on both sides, so that the opinion of the Supreme Court judges may be taken. Mr. Murphy, counsel for the defence, will move on Friday next that George III., sec. 21, cap. 49, under which the prosecution is laid, does not extend to this country, it being a purely local Act.

Mary Fitzpatrick was furiously attacked by a cow in the back yard of John C. Heran's residence, Simcoe. The vicious brute knocked her down and gored her in a frightful manner, leaving a great gash in her thigh and stamping her face and breast. She was rescued by some passers-by in an insensible condition and conveyed to the office of Dr. Hayes, who reports her condition very critical, and expresses serious doubts as to her recovery.

No. 7 Mulberry street, Hamilton, has had the reputation of being a gambling house. Yesterday an attack was made, and seated round a table with a bottle of whiskey in front of them were discovered George Davis, colored, who held the cards and the money, John Wedge, Edward Kavanagh, Thomas Duffy, John Gillespie, Patrick Kelly, Thomas P. Reilly and Walter McGiverin. The party surrendered, and were escorted to two hacks which had been engaged and quickly lodged in the cells.

DOMINION WIRELETS.

Captains of lake vessels are determined to have higher wages this season than last.

John Dawe's residence, Belleville, was burned. Insurance, $700 in Royal; loss, $1,500.

Con Connors, en route from Ottawa to Manitoba, fell in with a sharper at Prescott, who relieved him of $70.

Catharine McDonald, of St. John, N. B., took an over dose of oil of cedar, hoping to procure an abortion, and died.

Robt. Ferguson, a tanner, aged thirty, committed suicide yesterday in Belleville by cutting his throat. He lived several hours in great agony.

The authorities are hunting up Doyle, of Gatineau fire-bug notoriety, but have not yet succeeded in finding him. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The family of Chas. Modderli, of Lake avenue, St. Catharines, consisting of five children, mother, father and grandmother, were nearly suffocated last night by the escape of coal gas. They were discovered in time, and by medical aid are now out of danger, though still ill.

The Kingston Coroner's Jury decided "That Mrs. McDavid came to her death through unnatural causes in child-birth, hastened through mistake by Dr. Evans, in his treatment of the case." The County Attorney gave it as his opinion that the verdict did not necessarily amount to a charge of manslaughter against the physician, and he was therefore acquitted.

The threatening letter mania has reached Simcoe. Considerable excitement has been caused by the receipt of three anonymous letters, addressed respectively to Councillors Cutting, Moore and Norris. Their purport is, that if the gentlemen addressed support the by-law to prohibit cows from running at large, then under discussion at the Council Chambers, they might expect their dwelling houses, factories or shops destroyed by fire at the earliest opportunity. The by-law was carried, supported by these gentlemen. A reward of $100 has been offered by the Council, and a like amount by Mr. Cutting, for information that will lead to the detection of the writer or writers.

LATEST FROM THE NOR-WEST.

Winnipeg, Man., March 2.—The railway between Cookstown and St. Vincent is again open, and a large quantity of delayed mail matter arrived here to-night. All through the snow blockade has been south of the boundary, and the traffic north has not been interrupted, the Government having forty men and twenty horses steadily employed in keeping the track clear.

The Customs officials at Emerson have been ordered to remove to the railway depot, where freight will hereafter be delivered, instead of at St. Vincent.

The result of the amicable arrangements which are being consummated between the St. Paul & Manitoba Railway and the Canadian Government, will be an interchange of traffic in summer as well as in winter. This will leave the steamboats free to engage in traffic on the River Assiniboine, which is sure to be large this season.

The Assizes opened here to-day. There are only two criminal cases. The Chief Justice, in the course of a lengthy charge to the Grand Jury, attributed the absence of crime to the certainty of detection, conviction and punishment.

Judge Lynch's Justice.

Charleston, S. C., March 2.—On Saturday a one-armed negro named Louis Kitder committed an outrageous assault upon a white woman named Byro, residing near George's Station, Colleton county. On Monday Kinder was sent to Walterboro' to jail, and on the way the guard was overpowered by an armed force, Kinder confronted with his victim and identified. At the last moment he confessed, and also acknowledged the outrage on the colored woman in Newberry six years ago, also the killing of a colored girl near King's Tree last April, four burglaries and innumerable thefts. He was hanged, and after firing a volley into the body the crowd dispersed. Kinder has been for over a year the terror of the neighborhood.

Another Ohio Man in Trouble.

The City Clerk of Urbana Steals $60,000,

And is Captured Near This City.

A few months since a well-dressed man, having the appearance of an American and a traveller, registered at one of the leading city hotels. He remained there for a short time, forming but few acquaintances, and being retired in his manner. Who he was, where he came from is not known, and by but few of those whom he became associated with was he seen in the city. On Monday night, at ten o'clock, Chief of Police Fewings, of St. Thomas, arrived in the city, armed with a warrant for his arrest, and acting on information received, proceeded, in company with a city detective, to a place on the Hamilton Road, known as "The One-horse Tavern," and took into custody the individual referred to. Why arrested? The man in question was no less a personage than the late City Clerk of Urbana, Ohio, until the time of his arrival in Canada respected and trusted as an efficient servant and an honest man. Some time since he suddenly disappeared from the city across the lake, and everybody stood aghast at the allegations which those in authority fearlessly made against him. The Board of Auditors were authorized to examine his accounts, and after a careful scrutiny of the innumerable items reported everything satisfactorily. The popular distrust, however, was not quieted, and a special Board of Auditors was appointed to complete the tedious task. After many days of hard work they were about to return a similar report to the authorized Board, when it was resolved to examine into the defaulter's account of the city. It was then discovered that through this medium the defaulting clerk had stolen $60,000 in hard cash previous to his departure for Canadian soil. It is alleged that he forged the debentures in the name of the city, and, having received the cash therefor at a reasonable discount, forsook his situation and came to London. In this respect he only followed in the footsteps of the notorious Fessler, of Canton, in the same State. The defaulter was quietly remanded to St. Thomas, where application has been made before Judge Hughes for the usual examination to secure extradition papers. Mr. E. Meredith, of this city, has been retained to defend him at the examination, which takes place on Tuesday next.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.

The Grit Political Wire Pullers of Western Ontario.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to make the following appointments, under the provisions of the License Act of 1876, in and for the undermentioned license districts:—

Bruce (North Riding)—James Rowland, John M. Kilbourn and Wm. Bull.

Bruce (South Riding)—John Bruce, Hamilton B. O'Connor and Daniel Cameron.

Brant (North Riding)—John Henderson, William Moyle, Joseph Steele.

Brant (South Riding)—William Watt, Archibald Harley and Wellington McAllister.

Elgin—John Farley, Walter E. Murray, Dugald Brown.

Essex—James Donald, Oliver Maisonville, William Wigle.

Huron (East Riding)—W. J. Shannon, Thos. Wilkes, John Miller.

Huron (South Riding)—James Laug, Wm. Bawden, Edward Cash.

Huron (West Riding)—William Wade, Peter Fisher, Wm. H. Hilliard.

Kent (East Riding)—Isaac Swarthout, Augustus Crane, William Ward.

Kent (West Riding)—Duncan McVicar, D. R. Van Allen, Edwin McCallum.

Lambton (East Riding)—Leander Harvey, M. D., John D. Eccles, Wm. P. Henderson.

Lambton (West Riding)—Edward Proctor, Archibald McLean, William Lindsay.

London—Samuel Peters, Geo. B. Harris, Daniel Regan.

Middlesex (North Riding)—John Dawson, David Jones, James S. Smith.

Middlesex (East Riding)—Jas. Fisher, John Kennedy, Eli S. Jarvis.

Middlesex (West Riding)—Thomas Gordon, Singleton Gibb, Thomas Nortcott.

Norfolk—Frank Gordon, John Beemer, Walter Turnbull.

Oxford (North Riding)—John Dunlop, Angus Munroe, John Douglas.

Oxford (South Riding)—Wm. Dunn, Peter J. Brown, David S. Butterfield.

Perth (North Riding)—Wm. Mowat, Jacob Collman, Wm. Smith Bolger.

Perth (South Riding)—Patrick Whalihan (Registrar of the County), Hugh Campbell, Wm. N. Ford.

Waterloo (North Riding)—John L. Widerman, John Hayes, Jas. Foster.

Waterloo (South Riding)—Isaac Clemens, Philip Erback, John Cavers.

CURLIANA.

London Defeated by the Chatham-Thamesville Club.

Yesterday afternoon three rinks from the London Club played two rinks from Chatham and one of the Thamesville Clubs. The Western men proved too much for the Londoners, and won the game by 13 shots, as the score shows:—

LONDON.	CHATHAM.
No. 1 Rink.	No. 1 Rink.
W. Humpidge	W. B. McIntosh,
C. W. Andrus,	J. M. Twigg.
J. D. Wilkinson,	W. T. Wrong.
S. Crawford, skip...17	A. M. Rolls, skip...24
No. 2 Rink.	No. 2 Rink.
John Marshall,	W. Northwood.
H. Beaton,	W. Allan,
J. Duffield,	J. M. Taylor.
John Christie, skip...17	Dr. Bray, skip...24
	THAMESVILLE.
No. 3 Rink.	No. 3 Rink.
G. B. Harris	D. McFarlane,
B. Henderson.	R. Lancaster,
T. Wastie,	S. Fergusson,
C. Murray, skip...22	J. Furgusson, skip...21
56	69

In the afternoon London and Chatham played two rinks a side, London winning by 10 shots.

Free Press Correspondence.

A Militia Squabble.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

SIR,—Please insert the following letter in your daily paper, as we wish to make amends as far as lies in our power for the reports that were circulated and the injustice done our commander:—

To Major Peters.

SIR,—We, the undersigned non-commissioned officers of L. F. B., do exonerate you from all blame, and hope your future stay in the Battery will be one of pleasure to yourself and to us unmarred by any such a trouble as has happened of late. Hoping that our future career may blot out that of the past, we remain, sir, your humble servants,

SERGT. CHAS. ALLEN,
" WM. LUCAS,
" ROBERT ROBERTSON.

Attempted Suicide in Lobo.

[An Insane Woman Cuts Her Throat with a Razor.

An elderly woman named Mrs. Adams, who lives at the Village of Amiens, on the Sarnia Gravel Road, in Lobo Township, and who has been partially deranged for about six weeks, arose from her bed on Tuesday morning, and procuring a razor from a different part of the house, returned to her bedroom, and drew the razor across her throat, making a deep gash therein. Her cries attracted the attention of the inmates, who found the unfortunate woman lying on the floor in a pool of blood. Medical aid was procured as soon as possible, but the woman at latest accounts was in a very critical condition.

First-class Goods at Moderate Prices!
ELLIOTT BROTHERS,
156 Dundas Street,
south side, a few doors west of Richmond street, London, Ont., importers and dealers in
Groceries, Wines, Spirits, &c.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A CALL SOLICITED.

THE READER
of this notice is invited to call on us when visiting
DETROIT!
We promise you a cordial welcome and an attractive display of rich and artistic wares.
M. S. SMITH & CO.,
Jewelers & Gem Importers,
CORNER OF WOODWARD AND JEFFERSON AVENUES,
DETROIT.
Cleodtn

DOMINION
Savings & Investment Society
LONDON, ONT.
SAVINGS BANK BRANCH.
DEPOSITS OF ONE DOLLAR and upwards received, subject to withdrawal, and interest allowed thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, compounded half-yearly.
The whole of the income from the investments on Loans, together with the Capital Stock of the Society, are pledged by Act of Parliament as security for the proper repayment of the deposits. The funds of the Society are entirely invested in Mortgages on Real Estate—thus presenting the security of depositors both complete and permanent.
Office—Opposite City Hall, Richmond St.
FRANK B. LEYS, Manager.
dwtf

X CENTS A ten cent sample bottle of KARKNESS' BRONCHIAL SYRUP will convince you that it is the best preparation in the market for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough. Large bottles 50 cts. Sold by all druggists. Wholesale and retail by KARKNESS & CO., corner Dundas and Wellington sts., London, Ont. JMY

DON'T SMOKE THE
OLD MAN'S FAVORITE IT IS "HUMMING."
eod-ly

—GET YOUR—
Finan Haddies, Fresh Oysters
CANNED FRUITS AND FISHES,
J. W. HARDY'S,
Cor. King and Talbot streets, opposite McFarlane's Hotel.
JUST RECEIVED.
40 BARRELS OF CHOICE Apples; 500 bushels of first-class Potatoes, at 65 cents per bag; first-class Table Butter, 20 cents per pound. Try our 50 cents Tea—it is choice.
NORTH END STORE—G. DAVISON
9 and 731 Richmond-st., London, Ont.
WE SELL
75c Tea for 55c
PER POUND.
TORONTO TEA COMPANY
J. G. LAUT, Manager,
BRANCH NO. 4,
Market Lane, London, Ont.,
eod OPPOSITE NEW BANK.
China Tea House.
MAGASAKI UNCOLORED JAPAN
JUST RECEIVED.
Also a Choice Stock of Groceries
ETC., AT REASONABLE PRICES.
Remember the Place—Sign of the Big Chinaman, 211 DUNDAS STREET SOUTH
eod W. COUSINS.

Economy Combined with Respectability.
W. Hinton
From London, Eng'and,
UNDERTAKER, Etc
The only house in the city having a Children's Mourning Carriage.
First-class Hearses for Hire.
Private Residence, 254 King street.

London East Advertisements.

A. W. DAWSON, ISSUER OF Marriage Licenses and Insurance Agent, Dundas street, opposite Talbot's Grove, London East. JMY

GREAT INDUCEMENTS
—IN—
FINE AND DRESSING
COMBS,
—AT—
W. J. SMITH'S,
Dispensing Chemist,
1137 ADELAIDE ST., LONDON EAST.

C. P. GIBSON
Grocer, Legg's Block, London East.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS,
Flour, Feed, and General Stock of Green Groceries. Orders below city prices. Farm Produce taken in exchange. Leodtn

PREPARATORY
—TO—STOCK TAKING UPON THE 1st OF MARCH,
KINGSMILL'S
ARE OFFERING REMNANTS
—IN—
EVERY DEPARTMENT
—AT—
VERY LOW PRICES.
WE WANT THEM ALL CLEARED OUT.

CITY GROCERY.

200 bushels Onions,
150 bushels Dry Apples,
50 barrels Apples,
SPYS AND GREENINGS,
10 barrels Dry Sugar Corn,
Horner and Somerville

THE ONTARIO EXODUS.

Patterson's G. W. R. Excursion to Manitoba.

250 Passengers En Route to the Nor'-West.

Personnel of the Party—Route—G. T. R. Excursion, etc.

The first special Manitoba excursion this season, under the charge of Mr. Robert Paterson, of Paris, left that station at a quarter to six o'clock last evening, amidst the hearty hurrahs and cheers of about 500 people, a large number of whom were intimate friends of the fortune seekers. The usual affecting scenes, including weeping, kissing good bye, hand-shaking, etc., etc., were not wanting on the occasion, and they served to recall to many of the spectators similar events in their history not many years since. The train was made up of two baggage cars, three coaches and a Wagner sleeper, all of which belonged to the Michigan Central Railway Company. The run to Woodstock was made on Express time, and after a few minutes' delay there, occasioned by the embarkation of about a dozen young men, the "special" was handed for Ingersoll, which place was reached in equally good time. A car, containing Walley's party of twenty, was attached to the Manitoba excursion train, and westward the iron horse sped. London was reached at 7 40 p.m., and at this station a large number of people had assembled to witness the departure of the party. Three additional coaches were added to the train here, owing to the presence of large parties from Kinsardine, Wingham and the Sarnia Branch, who had evidently come to take advantage of the cheap fares offered by the Great Western Railway Company through their agent, Mr. Patterson. After a delay of half-an-hour, during which the baggage and effects of the party were arranged to stand the wrath of the Customs officers at the lines, the train of ten cars left here at 9.15 amid the cheers of the crowd, under the charge of Conductor Wallace, Mr. B. A. Wingfield, of Detroit, having the supervision of the Wagner on the trip. The women and children were availed as comfortably together in the first-class coaches as if they had been located there for several days instead of a couple of hours, and their wants and conveniences in the way of water and fire were cheerfully attended to here by the G. W. R. employes at this station. The party will not require to leave these cars during the entire trip, and a knowledge of this fact no doubt induced them to improvise sleeping berths out of the seats, and bedding from the cushions. The only convenience wanting—and it is one which could be provided at a comparatively small outlay—was a stove, upon which water could be heated for tea or coffee, or milk or articles of diet cooked for the women and children. An ablution room might also be improvised in one or two of the coaches in future for the comfort of the passengers of both sexes. Accessions to the party were promised at Longwoods, Glencoe, Newbury, Chatham, Belle River and Windsor, and it is safe to say that but few seats will be empty on the special excursion train as it leaves Detroit this morning for the Far West! The most noticeable feature of the party was the large number of stalwart young men and children comprising it. The latter were for the most part accompanied by their mothers, who were going to join the head of the house in their new home. Many spoke hopefully of the prospects, and expressed the opinion, which was very generally shared, that a bright future was in store for them in the Northwest Territory. The major portion of the party were destined for the tract of country lying between Portage la Prairie and the Little Saskatchewan, while quite a number had land secured to the west and north-west of Emerson. The route will be via G. W. R. to Detroit; thence by Michigan Central to Chicago; via Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul to St. Vincent, and to St. Boniface by the Pacific & Manitoba Railway. The following is a list of the passengers, so far as could be ascertained:—

Clifford—Mr. E. Smallman, wife and three children; Mrs. McLaughlin and five children; F. S. Beamish; Wm. Beamish.

Hamilton—Miss Pritchard, Mr. Bell, wife and five children; John Grey, wife and two children; Wm. Francis, Mrs. A. McIlville and daughter, Joseph Bell, Mrs Campbell and eight children.

Palmerston and Drayton—William Craig and wife, Mrs. Moles and child; R. Hanby, J. Anderson (Moorefield); W. Landerkin, A. H. McGaffin, E. Campbell and P. Campbell.

Tiverton—John McIntyre, wife and four children; John McKinnon, Donald McKinnon, Donald Kennedy, Archy McKinnon, Archibald Cameron, Hector McKinnon, Kate McKinnen, Mrs. McKinnon, D. McKinnon, Annie McKinnon, Daniel McKinnon, Lachlan McKinnon, John McKinnon, sen., John McKinnon, jun., Hugh McKinnon, Anne McKinnon, Christy McKinnon, Hugh McKinnon, jun.

Exeter.—Stephen Jory, wife and two children; Alexander Tribble, wife and one child.

Wingham.—Edwin Griffin, Luke Rosh, James Fraser.

Kinsardine.—J. Peacock, David Bothby and Wm. Culbert.

Wawanosh and Usborne.—Thomas McFarlane, wife and eight children; John McDonald, wife and one child; Thomas Harrison, wife and four children; Mrs and Miss Morgan; Mrs. Chant and two children; Mrs. Knight.

Teeswater, Bervie and Gorrie.—George Martch, Wm. Miller, G. L. Allan, Andrew Scott.

Walkerton and Listowel.—George Vickery and three children, Andrew Fenwick, Chas. Fletcher, Alva Clark, Chas. Glendenning, Chas. Little, Walter Patterson and seven children.

Paris and Blenheim.—Mrs. M. Wilson and seven children; Wm. Wilsey, Mr. Farmer, wife and four children, Wm. Chambers, Wm. Fraser, J. B. Graham, Paris Star; Frank Inkestter, E. Crane, John Farrell, R. Crane, A. Getty, John Carney, James Wilson, John Dreyes.

Ingersoll—G. W. Wadley, (organizer of the party), Wm. Rodgers, wife and six children; Joseph Datten, John Wilkinson, W. H. Edwards, J. M. Calder, John G. McKay, J. Snetsinger, Edwin Carroll, Wm. Rowe, John Lane and Robt. Lane.

Woodstock—G. B. Davis, Chas. Crawford, Chas. Puckridge, John Campbell, James Birch, Lucy Bickle.

Miscellaneous—Chas. Woodmire, Aytoun; Frank Jell, Preston; Richard Kenrick, Toronto; J. South, W. South, L. South; Mrs. Teskey, of Fort Dover; John Chambers and Wm. Johnstone, Seaforth; Robt. Barclay and wife, Guelph; Kenneth McKenzie, Wm. Herrick and Joanis Grieve, Galt; Neil Thompson and James Thompson, Hespeler; Alfred Woods, Drumbo; Mrs. G. Wham, Galt; Miss H. Patterson, Portage La Prairie; Matthew Costello and wife, Dundas; Mrs. A. D. Campbell and Duncan Campbell, London; M. Campbell, —Dixie and six others, Watford; Lewis Arnott and J. Sanders, of Winnipeg.

An additional party of twelve from the vicinity of Wingham arrived here by the 10.10 p.m. train, on the L., H. & B. line last night. They left on the Steamboat Express at three o'clock, and will join the Patterson party at Detroit.

ANOTHER PARTY WESTWARD BOUND.

Prescott, Ont., March 2.—A special train of six passenger cars, containing 200 Canadian farmers, and ten cars of settlers' effects, for Manitoba, left Prescott, via the Grand Trunk Railway, at 1 p.m. to-day. A special agent from the G. T. R. accompanies the party to Winnipeg.

DISCHARGED.—The young man Edward Stanton, who was arrested some time since on suspicion of being one of the parties who burglarized Mrs. Easton's house, known as toll-gate No. 1, Proof Line Road, was up on remand before Squire Peters yesterday afternoon, but the evidence not being deemed sufficient, the accused was acquitted.

The Free Press.

Wednesday, March 3, 1880.

THE DAILY FREE PRESS.

A LARGE MORNING NEWSPAPER, containing the latest news from all parts by Midnight Telegraphic Dispatches, is issued every morning, except Monday, the earliest information published west of Toronto, anticipating the mails, hence to eight hours in all western towns—a matter of great importance to all commercial men as well as the general public

THE LOCAL INTELLIGENCE of importance, such as Reports of Public Meetings, City Council proceedings, and the news transpiring in the city and district up to 4 o'clock p. m., also finds a place in its columns. Its circulation and influence are constantly advancing. It is the recognized organ of opinion in the West, outstripping other journals in the extent, variety and priority of its news.

THE EVENING FREE PRESS

ISSUED at 4 o'clock p.m., and contains not only the matter found in the morning edition, but additional telegraphic dispatches and local intelligence up to the hour of going to press. This edition is published at TWO CENTS, and is for sale by the newsboys and at the various agencies throughout the city; also at Ingersoll, Stratford, St. Thomas and other western towns.

THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS

may be procured of all newsdealers in the Dominion of Canada. Price, 5 cents per copy, or $1.50 per annum.

RATES FOR ADVERTISING IN THE WEEKLY FREE PRESS.—Reading notices, set in nonpareil type, leaded, 15 cents a line; advertisements, 10 cents a line, or $1.50 per inch, each insertion. Liberal discounts on long time advertisements.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

Daily, by carrier, per month	$ 60
Daily, by mail, per year, postage paid	6 00
Semi-post office order when practicable.

Remittances may be made either by draft, express, post office order, or in registered letters, at our risk. In order to insure attention, all letters relating to subscriptions should state give their post office as well as their new address.

When plainly name and post office, also the edition, whether DAILY OR WEEKLY.

ADDRESS—THE LONDON FREE PRESS CO

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten cents per line for first insertion, and five cents for each subsequent insertion, nonpareil measurement. Commercial contracts (auction, chancery, mortgage or assignment advertisements not scheduled part of same) made on following rates, per inch, in Daily:

1 Day	$1 00	2 Days	$2 00	1 Month	$8 00
2 "	1 50	3 "	3 00	2 "	9 00
3 "	2 00	1 Week	3 50	3 "	12 00
4 "	2 40	2 "	6 00	6 "	20 00
One Year					$60 00

☞ Where cuts are inserted they must BE ALL METAL, not mounted on wood.

Local, on Fourth Page—First day 25c. per line; each subsequent day, 10c. Every column, First Page—Births 50c. Marriages 50c. Deaths 50c.

☞ SPECIAL NOTICE.—Advertisements appearing in the DAILY FREE PRESS are published in the evening edition free of extra charge.

CORRESPONDENCE.

News correspondence of interesting character invited. All business, news letters or telegraphic dispatches must be addressed to THE LONDON FREE PRESS.

Letters and packages should be properly sealed and full postage paid to insure their delivery.

Rejected communications will not be returned unless so requested, and postage stamps be furnished.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

LONDON ONTARIO.

THE CANADIAN GIANT.

A great ado is being made over the petty slip made by Mr. McCarthy the other day in the House of Commons. Now, really, it is a small affair at the best, but still one not forget, that—

"little things soon grow to little men."

And a brilliant Canadian journalist proves Blake's victory in this wonderful campaign to be the result of a giant's force, wielded by a giant's hand. Well, the force in this case happens to be simply the result of a gaseous memory, and neither less nor more. We doubt very much if any lawyer in the British Empire, not even excepting the giant Blake, can remember the pith of every set which a legislature, in the course of centuries, placed on the statute books of the Empire. Now, the Canadian king of Brobdingnagians happened in this case to remember what Mr. McCarthy had not. And here is the whole cause of this unearthly yelling over the victory of the Grit Goliath. Mr. McCarthy will just have to admit in this case that the memory of "the giant who uses his force as a giant" is the most reliable of the two; whether this is general or the present is only a fortunate circumstance is not worth the trouble to enquire. We have read of many cases of remarkable powers of memory possessed by both men and women, but we are not aware that any of them ever attained to any degree of celebrity for anything else. Now the Hon. Edward Blake, the gentleman who, a giant himself, uses the force of a giant, was enabled to call to mind the fact, that a few months after the passing of the North America Act, a Bill was introduced and passed giving to the Canadian Parliament the privileges and immunities enjoyed by the Imperial Parliament at the time of the passing of the Act or Confederation, provision for which was made in the eighteenth section of the same Act, and Mr. McCarthy had forgotten the same fact, and this is what has exalted the one to the form and stature, the force and power of a giant, and reduced the other to the dimensions of a pigmy. However, it might not be amiss to remember that if the Grits have got their giant in the person of the Hon. Edward, we have got our Jack the Giant-killer, and we are content to abide the issue. Still, it would be a pity to deprive the party of anything in the way of glory they may gain, as they, poor fellows, are not likely to set the Ottawa on fire. It is a question if ever there was a party in a Canadian Legislature so bankrupt in brains as the present Opposition. Why, the utmost they are able to effect is to find fault without showing a reason why. They have been assembled for several weeks, and they have not yet been able to decide in the leading for the shattered and demoralized party, while the sparring between Finn McCool, the Irish giant, and the cantankerous Hielandman, who sets his force at defiance, affords any amount of amusement to the members on both side of the House. Now, why does not this giant that uses his force as a giant employ a little of it to crush Mr. Mackenzie, who seems to take a profound delight in strutting like a bantam before his gantship, crowing crousely, and saying in the plainest words: —"Touch me if you dare!" What a specimen of giant is the bold Blake, whose praises are in every one's mouth, since he has pitched McCarthy into the middle of next week! This victory which the giant has gained over Mr. McCarthy ought to tell with great force on the vexed question of the leadership. Mr. Mackenzie will hardly venture to take the field in real earnest against a man who uses a giant's force like a giant, and quotes the titles of legal acts like other automata.

Elizabeth Thompson (Mrs. Butler) has been painting the gallant defense of Rorke's Drift. By permission of the Colonel of the regiment engaged therein, a number of the survivors were told off to serve for models, at Portsmouth, where, in the garden of a friend's house, sacks containing earth, to look as nearly as possible like mealie bags, were set up, making a miniature Rorke's Drift, where the gallant defenders were to fight their battle over again, and be sketched in as they stood. All the principal figures will be portraits. Mrs. Butler's brave volunteered to represent a Zulu at close quarters and be fired at with blank cartridge, but the soldier who fetched down that particular Zulu at the Drift rebuked him, and, in the excitement of mimicry, was loading with ball cartridge, when luckily the amateur Zulu thought to have it examined, and so just escaped being the victim of a tragedy.

Parliamentary elections in Victoria, Australia, have resulted in the defeat of the Government.

THE BIDDULPH TRAGEDY.

The Bystander says:—The community has been horror-stricken by a sanguinary case of lynching; for such evidently is the nature of the Biddulph tragedy, though there is mingled with it something of the Tipperary fend. "There's Tipperary, blindly Tipperary;" we remember hearing an Irishman exclaim with gusto, as he caught sight of the well known hills. After all we are not so very different from that Publican society, on both sides of the line, being industrial in structure, is liable to the same maladies. Lynching is bad and must be rooted out; but it is not necessarily indicative of general lawlessness. It is necessarily indicative only of a weak police, which again may bespeak, and, in the case of the older States of the Union, certainly does bespeak, not general lawlessness, but that general respect for law which, under ordinary circumstances, renders a strong police needless. Life and property can not be more secure than they are as a rule in the rural districts of New York. But not many years ago, a gang of brigands established itself in one of those districts, and harried the country around, till the people, having no legal force to protect them, took the law into their own hands and destroyed the gang. There have been other instances of such irruptions of banditti into neighborhoods similarly unprotected, followed by equally violent measures of self-redress on the part of the people. The Vigilance Committee of San Francisco was the same thing on a large scale. California had been flooded by a lobber horde, which it was impossible to bring to justice, and society could preserve itself only by meeting war with war. Our proper remedy, as we cannot afford always to keep up a costly police, seems to be a small body of central constabulary, always ready to be thrown upon any point where violence has set the upper hand of local authority. With the aid of such a force the outrages of the Donnellys would have been repressed, and the neighborhood would not have been goaded to the act of lawless and bloody vengeance which has brought disgrace on Canadian civilization.

The excruciating disease known as angina pectoris, sometimes termed heart-stroke, is said by physicians to be increasing notably at the great centres of population. It is generally thought to be a nervous affection. An argument, however, against this theory is that men are much more subject to it than women, who, the world over, are far more nervous than men. The disease is caused by some defect in the vascular or nervous supply of the heart; but its seat has not been ascertained, and is, indeed, believed by many practitioners to vary with the patient. It has baffled the best medical skill, is always alarming, even dangerous, and very likely, unless checked, to result fatally. Some physicians hold that a genuine case of angina is incurable; others declare that it will yield to prompt and early treatment, though very much depends on the patient. One trouble is that very often it is not recognized until it has become fixed in the system. It is mistaken frequently in the beginning for neuralgia or rheumatism or gout; but it is totally different.

The symptoms are somewhat similar, the most common being a sudden attack of severe pain in the lower part of the chest inclining to the left side and extending down the left arm. There is often palpitation of the heart, also, with a sense of faintness. Between the paroxysms there are no regular intervals, nor are there any distinct warnings of their return. They are induced by excessive eating, immoderate effort, or undue emotion. While these are in action very little, if anything, can be done for relief, and as they continue from a few minutes to half an hour or more, their anguish is extreme, often ending in death. Absolute rest of the body and ease of mind are decidedly mentioned as the best means of alleviation. Angina very seldom attacks young persons. Usually its victims are at least 50, and frequently 60 and upward. It may be considered one of the terrors of old age, particularly when men have used their brain a great deal, or have lived to freely Change of scene, light employment, and freedom from all kinds of excitement offer the sole prospects—and they are very slender—of permanent cure.

The Berlin Volks Zeitung announces the probable introduction of electricity as a motive power on the German capital. Only one difficulty is said to stand between the promoters and success—that of completely insulating the axles of the carriages, which must be entirely free from communication with any metallic body. The new machines will, it is said, be much cheaper than horse or steam power. The firm which has acquired the ownership of the invention is in treaty with the municipality of Berlin to take over the omnibus traffic of the city, and it is said that that body is almost convinced by the demonstration offered to it. It is further proposed to construct a network of mid-air railways, on the same system. In this case the rails would run along the footways, being supported on one side by the lamp posts, and on the other by iron pillars close to the walls of the houses. By a locomotive consisting of hooks projecting from the bottom of the wagons, and so disposed as to catch the rails should a lateral jolt occur, the danger of overstring is provided against. The working of the new machine is said to be almost noiseless. To the case of the mid-air railway it is proposed to run at a time only one carriage, which will be in itself engine and wagon, with separate compartments for ladies and gentlemen. If the "one difficulty" does not prove an insuperable obstacle, the Prussians will be able to say that for once their boasted intellectual superiority has called forth something more valuable than improvements in the art of slaughtering their fellow creatures.

A curious phase of the marriage question has just come to light in England. A Mr. John Edwards, of Chadder, losing his wife, thought that his sister-in-law would make him a good wife, and accordingly married her. Whereupon the Rev. Richard Bendon, vicar of Cheddar, refused Mrs. Edwards the holy communion. Then the puzzled Mr. Edwards went to the Archbishop of Canterbury and asked him kindly to give him a course for the lady. The Primate in replying, says: —"In similar circumstances my advice has been that persons so circumstanced desiring to communicate should go to some church where their history is not known." Whereupon Mr. Edwards writes an open letter to the Archbishop, in which he says: —"This advice is somewhat startling, as it recommends persons so situated to obtain the benefit of the church sacraments, if not by false pretences, at any rate by a concealment of the truth." There the matter rests, and the people of Cheddar are not a little exercised over the matter.

A remarkable recent discovery is that of photographing underneath the water at a depth of ten fathoms. Two of the negatives secured in recent experiments are remarkably distinct, but the others are rather dim, owing to defects in the apparatus. The camera is enclosed in a water-tight glass case, suspended by the centre and enclosed in a cover, which is drawn off after the camera—which is fixed on a loaded tripod—has reached its position. One of the views shows a sandy bottom, with a number of large boulders covered with seaweed, and an old anchor; and in the shadow three mooring cables belonging to small yachts close at hand. In still water, and with a stronger light and improved apparatus, still greater results are anticipated.

The meteorological phenomena of the past winter have been anomalous and remarkable. Without interruption to travel, with little ice in lakes and rivers, the changes in temperature have yet been frequent and excessive; the North has been comparatively warm, and the South has been comparatively cold; in America, ethereal mildness has prevailed, in Europe unusually severe cold has given ice and snow and frozen gas and water pipes in Paris, and even in Rome. The records of the signal service station at New York show that in January the temperature was six degrees above the mean average for January in other years.

Prince Leopold of England will visit Canada in April, and will take a hunting trip in the West.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Second Session — Fourth Parliament.

Ottawa, March 2.—After routine,

PRINTING CONTRACTS.

Mr. Ross (Middlesex) moved that all matters relating to printing contracts be referred to the Committee on Public Accounts.

REPORT PRESENTED.

Mr. Robinson (Toronto) presented the fourth report of the Committee on Standing Orders.

PRIVILEGE.

Mr. Sproule rose to a question of privilege. He said that the Hamilton Times had reported that he had changed his language, not general lawlessness, but that general respect for law which, under ordinary circumstances, renders a strong police needless. Life and property can not be more secure than they are as a rule in the rural districts of New York. But not many years ago, a gang of brigands established itself in one of those districts, and harried the country around, till the people, having no legal force to protect them, took the law into their own hands and destroyed the gang. There have been other instances of such irruptions of banditti into neighborhoods similarly unprotected, followed by equally violent measures of self-redress on the part of the people. The Vigilance Committee of San Francisco was the same thing on a large scale. California had been flooded by a lobber horde, which it was impossible to bring to justice, and society could preserve itself only by meeting war with war. Our proper remedy, as we cannot afford always to keep up a costly police, seems to be a small body of central constabulary, always ready to be thrown upon any point where violence has set the upper hand of local authority. With the aid of such a force the outrages of the Donnellys would have been repressed, and the neighborhood would not have been goaded to the act of lawless and bloody vengeance which has brought disgrace on Canadian civilization.

Hon. Mr. Blake moved the Bill back into Committee, to consider the Act of Incorporated Trading Companies. He said that it was not desirable that these companies should be dealt with by the Act, but the originators of the case demanded the change.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald said he recognized the importance of the change. It was necessary that banks, insurance and trading companies should have the power to wind up their affairs The hon. member for Richmond had given notice of bills on the subject, and he would be glad if the matter stood over so as not to cause confusion.

Hon. Mr. Blake said the Government could hardly be governed by the action of a private member in such a case. He was prepared to let the amendment stand.

Mr. McDonald moved that the Bill be referred to the committee for amendment, so as to make certain clauses retrospective, and to continue the provisions of the old Act to certain cases in which Official Assignees had charge of existing cases.

Hon. Mr. Blake said that he would not be amiss if the Bill proposed to imprison for five months the official assignee. (Laughter.)

Mr. McDonald said that if what he heard was true as to the character of the bondsmen of these assignees, the punishment would not be too much.

The committee rose and reported the Bill as amended.

The House then went into committee on the Bill to amend the Act respecting the security to be given by officers of Canada. It provided for the investiture of bonds before the Chief Justice of the Peace previous to their being recorded in the Department of the Secretary of State.

THE VICE-REGAL ACCIDENT.

The House proceeded to concur in the message from the Senate congratulating His Excellency and Lady Lorne on their recent escape.

Sir John Macdonald said it was not necessary for him to enlarge upon the earnestness with which the House would concur in the address. Those least 50, and frequently 60 and upward. It may be considered one of the terrors of old age, particularly when men have used their brain a great deal, or have lived to freely Change of scene, light employment, and freedom from all kinds of excitement offer the sole prospects—and they are very slender—of permanent cure.

The House resolved itself into committee on the resolution concerning tolls fixed by the Consolidated Statutes of Canada respecting joint stock companies and their power to construct facilities for the transmission of timber down rivers and streams, and having remained so for some time, reported the resolutions. A bill founded on it was then introduced and read a first time.

POST OFFICES.

Mr. Hesson moved for correspondence relating to the proposal of the Corporation of the Town of Stratford to donate a site for the purpose of erecting a post office. The honorable member said that a consideration of the grants to other towns and cities showed that Stratford should have received more consideration than it had. He feared the Town Council might be changed, and then the offer would be possibly withdrawn.

Mr. Arkell advocated the claims of St. Thomas for public works.

Mr. Farrow said there was an unfair distribution of the funds amongst post-masters. He compared several post offices, and showed that the expenditure on certain offices was not equal to the receipts. He said the exhibition of the expenditure was not equal for the Provinces. As a matter of registration of letters, he advocated a scale of fees according to the value of the letters registered. He also advocated the assumption of the express business of the country by the Post Office.

Mr. Fitzsimmons said the expenditure was not in many cases equal to the receipts in postal affairs and customs. He advocated the claims of his city in the event of public buildings being erected.

Mr. Bunster complained of the attacks made upon his Province, and said perhaps they were not surprising when it was seen that such jealousy existed between Canadian cities and towns.

Mr. Kranz claimed that the town of Berlin, county of Waterloo, was entitled to public buildings for Customs and Post Office purposes.

Mr. Wright called attention to the necessity for a post office building at Ottawa.

Mr. Allison thought the Government should erect post office buildings in all important towns in the Dominion.

Sir John Macdonald said it was important to have customs and post office buildings in important places, as thereby a large saving would be effected. The Government would go on by degrees, and erect buildings wherever possible.

Mr. McQuaig was opposed to the granting of any money for the building of post offices in the present state of our finances.

Mr. McInnes said the chief expenditure in connection with the mail service in British Columbia was the cost of carrying the mails between San Francisco and Victoria.

Mr. Stephenson said that Chatham was the fifth town in Ontario, and because there was a post office building there it was no reason why every other town in the country should have one.

Mr. Hesson thought the claims of Stratford superior to those of Chatham.

Hon. John O'Connor said the suggestions of many hon. members were valuable in assisting the Government in carrying out the service, more especially those which approved of the idea that the Government would not now proceed with the erection of many buildings.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie said that whenever the late Government found it cheaper to erect buildings than to pay rent, they had ordered the construction of customs and post offices during its tenure of office.

Mr. Royal urged the granting of additional facilities for the North-west.

The motion was then carried.

REPORTS.

Mr. Robertson (Shelburne) moved for copies of the tenders for the erection of a light-house at Surf Point, Shelburne Harbour.

Sir Charles Tupper said it was at first the intention of the Government to erect a light at Surf Point, but on further examination it was found that Sand Point was a preferable site.

Mr. Kaulbach moved for the reports of the surveys made at Petite Riviere, County of Lunenburg, with a view to constructing a break-water there. Carried.

Mr. Kirkpatrick moved for papers relating to the construction of a dry dock at Kingston. Carried.

Mr. Laurier moved for correspondence respecting the purchase by the Dominion Government of the Quebec, Montreal & Occidental Railway.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell said there was no such correspondence in existence.

On motion of Sir Charles Tupper, the House adjourned at 10.40.

The Ontario Legislature.

First Session, Fourth Assembly.

Toronto, March 2.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 10 p. m.

After routine,

BILLS PASSED.

The following Bills were read a third time and passed:—

To provide for the division of the township of Lutter—by Mr. McKim.

For the relief of the Permanent Building Societies—Attorney-General.

Respecting the stone and timber drainage—Mr. Hay.

U. C. COLLEGE.

Hon. Mr. Crooks gave notice that he will move to-morrow for a copy of the Order-in-Council, dated the first day of March, instant, directing certain payments to the permanent fund of the Upper Canada College and Royal Grammar School. He explained the object of the bill, which he said was to grant a loan of $30,000 to the Upper Canada College, to increase the accommodation for pupils in the boarding-house from 87 to 130.

Mr. DeKoven regretted that so important a measure was brought down so late in the session. Reasons which existed in the past for sustaining the College no longer existed, now that higher education could be obtained in every county throughout the Province.

Mr. McLaughlin thought Upper Canada College was kept up specially for the benefit of Toronto and Yorkshire. He opposed the grant given to the University, to make it thoroughly efficient.

Mr. Sinclair favored the idea of making the University more efficient, but he was not favorable to depriving the Upper Canada College of the grant.

Mr. Baxter said there was no agitation for the abolition of the Upper Canada College, and he thought there was a necessity for maintaining that institution.

Mr. Ross thought that high schools and collegiate institutes were doing the work of the Upper Canada College, and he was in favor of seeing that institution abolished.

Messrs. Harcourt, Gibson (Hamilton) Macmahon, Robinson (Cardwell), and Osgoden opposed the grant.

Mr. Miller said a few words in favor of the College.

After some further discussion,

Mr. Meredith suggested that this motion should be postponed till next session, when a Committee could be appointed to investigate the work done by the College. There was a strong feeling in the Province that the usefulness of this institution has gone.

Mr. Morris moved an adjournment of the debate. Carried.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

Hon. Mr. Crooks introduced a resolution for the ratification of a certain agreement between the University of Toronto and the Government to sell a stone building and certain land to the Government for $20,000, if required for the erection of new Parliament Buildings. Carried.

The Speaker then left the chair.

After recess.

THE DIVISION COURT BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to extend the jurisdiction of Division Courts, and to regulate the offices of said Courts. Some discussion ensued, when Hon. Mr. Mowat said the Government had done all they could to make this Bill a perfect one, and he hoped the House would accept it.

EXECUTION CREDITORS.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to abolish priority of and among execution creditors.

Hon. Mr. Mowat moved sundry amendments. The Bill as amended was passed.

The House went again into Committee on the Bill to amend the Municipal Act, which was passed.

The House went again into Committee on the Bill to make further provisions respecting the estates of persons confined in asylums. The Bill was reported without amendment.

The House went again into Committee on a Bill respecting municipal taxation and exemption, which was reported.

The Attorney-General, in reply to Mr. Young, said that he hoped the House would be prorogued on Thursday.

The House adjourned at 11.45.

RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

This morning, in the Railway Accidents Committee, a report was agreed to recommending that the top board of freight cars be widened to twenty-six or thirty inches; that a rail three feet high be placed along the top of the cars; that an improved coupling be adopted, and that the frogs be filled in as at present on the Northern Railway.

Every young man about to enter political life, says Mr. T. W. Higginson, should abandon the patronizing feeling—the feeling that he confers a favor on the community by participating in its affairs. Splendid careers are brought to an untimely close simply on account of a patronizing way assumed toward inferiors. No man can accomplish much through the press, or by direct contact with the world until he has got the nonsense in him thoroughly knocked out.

PREHISTORIC ENGLISH POTTERY

The Greenwell Collection in the British Museum—the Relics of a Distant Age.

From the London Times.

The British Museum had existed for nearly a century before the authorities bethought themselves of directing their attention to the early antiquities of their own country. Up to that time the energy of archæologists was chiefly devoted to acquiring the more attractive remains of classical times, though even here the habit was to collect objects without paying attention to their exact localities or to the circumstances of their discovery, facts to which the greatest importance is now justly attached. This phrase of archæology is past, as it is now understood that the value of antiquarian relics depends in a great measure on the light they throw on the manners and customs of ancient peoples. The British Museum has been fortunate in acquiring the barrow remains excavated by Mr. Martin Atkins, Dr. Thurnam, and the Rev. J. C. Atkinson. None of these, however, can be compared with the remarkable collection which during the last 20 years has been brought together by Canon Greenwell, of Durham, during his diggings in nearly 250 barrows in various parts of England and Scotland. This very remarkable collection, the result of much labor and no little expenditure of money, he has generously presented to the British Museum, and it may be considered without doubt the most valuable acquisition in that section that the national collection has hitherto received. There are more than 200 vessels of pottery, which may be divided into cinerary urns, food vessels, drinking-cups, and incense cups, all names which have been somewhat arbitrarily bestowed upon them by antiquaries, but which it is convenient to retain until we have some better ground for applying others. All this pottery is but slightly baked, generally ornamented with zigzags and other primitive decoration, made by impressing on the soft clay a twisted cord or by scoring it with a pointed instrument. The largest specimens are the cinerary urns, the ordinary kind found in the upper part, slightly overhanging the body of the vase. Among these may be noticed one found in Northumberland, with singular rows of projecting scallops, and two others with zigzags in high relief; otherwise the type is very uniform, but in shape quite unlike the cinerary urns of any other country. There are a few diminutive specimens which can hardly have been used for burned bones, and, in fact, have rarely been found containing them. The so-called food vessels are smaller in size than the urns, much more richly ornamented, and sometimes of considerable elegance both in form and decoration. Among them is one from Goodmanham, which exceeds in perfection any British vase we have seen; the truth of the outline, the fineness of the clay, and the delicacy of the ornamentation are most remarkable. The drinking cups may well have been used for the purpose to which they have been assigned. They are thinner in substance than the other vases, and taper off toward the edge, narrower in shape than the food vessels, and still more richly ornamented.

The most singular vessels, however, are the so-called incense cups. They are small, very fantastic and various in shape, and often have perforations, forming, in some instances, almost a kind of open work. It is not easy to conjecture to what use these curious vessels could have been applied. The best suggestion that has been made is that they were employed to carry a fire under which to kindle the funeral pyre. One remarkable example from Aldbourne, Wilts, has a cover almost as large as itself, which also is perforated in such a way as to support most of the theories that have been propounded as to the use of these cups, which seem, therefore, to be peculiar to the Islands. It is, however, a question whether the bulk of the vessels found in these tombs was really used or was only made to be interred with the dead. The ware seems so friable that it is difficult to understand how it could bear the rough usage of a semi-barbarous people; but in many of the barrows fragments of another kind of pottery have been discovered scattered among the earth, unornamented and better baked. Only one vessel of this type, from Heslerton, Yorkshire, was found sufficiently perfect to be restored. In other cases found with interments the collection is not so rich as that formed by Sir B. C. Hare. There is nothing of gold, and but little bronze, and that chiefly knives or daggers, and awls of the primitive type. Flint there are knives, arrow heads, saws, scrapers, &c., some of them exquisitely chipped. Among the most important of the stones there are a few axe-hammers, which may have been used as battle axes, even down to the bronze period. The personal ornaments consist chiefly of jet or lignite buttons and beads. One of these ancient people had bronze ear rings, another a pair of bone tweezers, supposed to have been used for holding up the dress. A few bone pins and some beads of clay and bone complete their personal decoration, as far as it has survived. Fire they seemed to have obtained by means of a flint and a nodule of iron pyrites, the specimens in this collection showing marks of long use; they were found together in the grave of a man at Heslerton, Yorkshire. No conjecture as to these graves do not speak much for the worldly wealth of their occupants, but they throw light on the condition of the ancient inhabitants of these islands, and belong to times far before documentary history. How many centuries have elapsed since these barrow-makers lived it is impossible to say, but there can be no doubt that they belong to a remote antiquity. The absence of coins, and of the swords and spear-heads of the advanced bronze age, all point in that direction. The barrows excavated appear to have been principally in Yorkshire, but they extend also to Cumberland, Westmoreland, Northumberland, Durham, Gloucestershire, and Wiltshire.

THE ORANGE CROP.

Something About the Profits of the Florida Groves.

Mr. Seth French, of Jacksonville, Florida, an old and experienced orange grower, gives the following as an estimate of the cost of an orange grove, according to locality:—Cost of 10 acres of land for a grove, $50 to $100; cost of clearing, $100 to $150; cost of fencing, $50 to $75; cost of breaking, $20 to $25; cost of setting out 500 trees, $200 to $300; cost of care and fertilizing, five years, $500 to $1,000; total cost, $920 to $1,540. In addition to this the young trees, considered ready for setting out, from 35 to 50 cents each. At the age of 9 or 10 years from the seed the tree begins to produce, the average being about 500 oranges to the tree. For the next two years the increase in production is rapid, being about 1,000 oranges per tree each year. There are quite a lot of trees in Florida that produce 10,000 oranges, but these are aged, having been planted before the war. Oranges, like apples, have their "off" years, but at 15 years from the seed it is safe to say that the trees will produce on an average 3,000 oranges each. There are 50 trees to one acre, according to Mr. French's figures given above, though it is usual to set out 60, which at 3,000 oranges per tree would give 1,500,000 oranges as the yield of the 10 acres. These at one and a half cents apiece as they hang on the tree, the average price this season, would give $22,500 off the 10 acres. This estimate, let it be borne in mind, is a low one, for some Floridians are this year realizing $25,000 from six acres. The Florida orange crop this year is much larger than ever before. From such counties as are easily accessible the figures point to a crop of about 440,000 boxes. In Putnam county alone the 1879 yield was nearly 5,500,000 oranges, and next year, with the large number of blooming trees that will come into bearing, the crop will amount to 25,000,000 oranges. It will require a train of 10 cars once a day for 90 days to transport the crop of this county.

The regulations for the South American fair at Buenos Ayres show that the exhibition will last three months, opening September 15 and closing December 15, and that articles will be admitted from June 15 to August 15, applications for space closing May 1. Foreign exhibitors are limited to the single article of machinery, admitted free of duty, if certified by the Argentine Consul at the port of shipment to be sent expressly for the exhibition; but if not reshipped at the close of the exhibition it must pay the usual duties. Foreigners are also charged about $5 a square yard for space. These restrictions may deter some foreign exhibitors.

