Newsy Middleton Notes

Many Bridge Parties and "At Homes" During the Week.

MIDDLETON, March 3.—The past week here has been very enjoyable, socially. On Wednesday evening last Mrs. Owen Wheelock was the hostess at an exceedingly pleasant bridge party. The prizes for the largest scores were carried off by Mrs. Randall and Mr. H. E. Reed.

On Thursday evening F. L. Schaffer of the American House and Mrs. Schaffer also entertained a large number of their friends at bridge, it being the anniversary of their marriage. A handsome bouquet of 39 carnations from the resident guests of the hotel, was very much admired. The prize winners for the evening were, Mrs. C. W. Montgomery and W. G. Parsons, while Mrs. W. F. Reed and H. E. Reed were the recipients of the "consolations." Daily refreshments closed a most enjoyable evening, the guests departing with renewed good wishes to the bride and groom of 39 years ago.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Gordon W. Crown was "At Home" to about 90 of her lady friends between the hours of four and six. The hostess dressed daily in cream cloth, was assisted in receiving by her sister-in-law, Miss Crown who was charmingly gowned in salmon colored crepe-de-chene. The reception was in charge of the Misses Heckin, Moses and Chesley, each looking their best in buffy summer gowns.

The Mullhalla have sold out their grocery business to Norman Baker and L. S. Schaffner.

Rev. L. Amor, lately rector of Middleton, is now assistant priest at Pagan and Warwick, Bermuda.

T. P. Calkin of Kentville was in town last week on a business trip. It is understood that some more important changes are going to take place in business circles, but, as yet, it is apparently rumor only.

1200 Children Saved by Fire Drill

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 5.—Grand Rapids today was threatened with a repetition of Cleveland's tragedy of yesterday as an even larger number of children were in the laboratory of the Central High School, while 1200 pupils were in the midst of the morning work. The signal for the fire drill was given and the children marched out in perfect order. The building emptied in two and one half minutes. The Central High School is overcrowded and the stairways inadequate and fears of a possible panic have long been felt, but the fire drill today proved effective. All the men and women employed in the buildings also made their escape without injury. The loss will not exceed $20,000.

INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS ORDERED

Kansas City, Mo., March 5.—Every school building in Kansas City is to be inspected, beginning tomorrow. The board of education issued an order tonight to that effect.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 5.—W. E. Blakeley, chief of the Indiana department of inspection, announced today that he would begin at once a thorough inspection of school buildings of the state.

A Skilful Architect Meeting Recognition

The success of Maritime Province have frequently been mentioned in this paper, Leslie R. Fair of Ayerford, Kings Co., the well known architect, is gaining a reputation in our sister province. Recent notices in the press of New Brunswick announced that Mr. Fair has been engaged in planning some important buildings there. Among those mentioned are the new stone Presbyterian Church, the new Church Avenue Baptist Church and the splendid new High School buildings of Sussex town. Especial mention is made of the latter, the Kings Co. Record published from the Mayor's report as follows:

A matter of great moment in the history of Sussex will be the opening in the near future of its new $50,000 school building. The architects of the school district have called for the best school equipment that money could procure, and are getting it. There is no school house in the Maritime provinces today that will compare with this in the completeness of its detail.

In this equipment of ventilation, heating, fire protection, and every modern convenience it is to be recognized school architects it is almost perfect. Domestic science, manual training and school agriculture will be included in the curriculum. A good education, the basis of success of every boy and girl will be available at moderate cost, and this will doubtless prove a great factor in building up a bright future for the town.

Another newspaper article speaks of the completeness of the equipment of this building also of the excellence of the plans and design.

Mr. Fair was chosen by Prof. Jas. W. Robertson of Ottawa and the Supt. of Education of Nova Scotia a few years ago to plan and supervise the construction of the Macdonald Consolidated Schools in N. S. and P. E. I. which buildings are admitted to be models in every respect.

Every precaution against fire has been taken, each corridor has automatic fire hose reels, these reach to each apartment. Boiler room is enclosed with heavy brick walls and iron doors wide stairs from each end of corridors, three exits and entrances all without locks and opening outwards. The building is also equipped with a wide iron fire escape opening off each class room on rear.

The above constitutes a high tribute to Mr. Fair and establishes his ability in his chosen profession. He is well known in this Province, having designed many modern buildings here.

Communion Wine Prohibited by Local Option Bill

THEY DISCOVER HIDDEN MEANING OF CLAUSE IN LOCAL OPTION MEASURE AND NOW WORK FOR AN AMENDMENT.

TRENTON, N. J., March 2.—Although clergy in all parts of the state have been urging the passage of the local option bill now pending in the legislature, several prominent clergymen have discovered a provision which if the bill were passed, would interfere with a custom in half of the churches in the state.

This provision makes it a misdemeanor to serve communion wine in any district that may be voted "dry" under the provisions of the bill. A clergyman guilty of serving communion wine in the anti-alcohol district would be liable for a fine not more than $250, and if a second offence were committed the cleric would be liable to be placed in a lunatic asylum for a term not exceeding 100 days.

The measure expressly provides that no agent, shall either sell, furnish or give away any intoxicating liquor. The sole exceptions made to this provision are in the cases of brewers and druggists, who may have their licenses altered in "dry" districts. Brewers may sell their wares at wholesale to persons living in "wet" districts and druggists may sell by prescription.

FOR DISEASES OF THE SKIN

Not only all diseases of the skin such as eczema, tetter, salt rheum and barba, but also all diseases of the scalp, such as dandruff and itching, which of ten makes life a burden and disturbs the mind, can be cured by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It kills the itching and smarting and eventually I used Eucalypti, and every dose brought permanent relief.

All throat, lung and stomach troubles quickly cured by Eucalypti. It is the prescription of a great specialist. At all druggists, 50c and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Slocom, Limited, Toronto.

CLARENCE

Mr. Gifford Oakes of Kingston has been spending a week with friends here.

Miss Minard of Bridgetown was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Banks over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Woodbury of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crocker of Middleton were at G. H. Jackson's over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allister MacPherson of Paradise spent Sunday at H. B. Ellis's. Miss Lizzie Stoum of Mt. Hanley has been spending a few days at Mrs. Egan's.

Clarence Division had an interesting debate on Saturday evening. Subject: "Resolved, that Railways, Telegraph and Telephone lines should be owned by the Government."

The Institute meeting at the Hall on Wednesday evening was fairly well attended. Mr. Woodworth made in his usual interesting way. Mr. Robertson gave a splendid address on fertilizers.

The Lawrenceston Literary Club meets at Mrs. E. J. Elliott's on Wednesday evening.

LAME SHOULDER
Whether resulting from a sprain, or from rheumatic pains, there is nothing so good for a lame shoulder as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Apply it freely and rub the parts vigorously at each application and a quick cure is sure to be yours.

VICTORIA BEACH RAILWAY

Would Reduce Freight Rates

Hon. Mr. Chisholm, in answer to questions asked by the hon. member for Pictou, Mr. Tanner, on a previous day said the length of the Middleton and Victoria Beach Railway was forty miles. The amount of Provincial assistance granted by subsidy or loan was $400,000 secured by first mortgage. Passenger and freight trains were running twice a week both ways at the present time over the line. Owing to the exceptionally heavy fall of snow and the consequent destruction of rolling stock, traffic for a short time had been very much interrupted. Time tables had been submitted by the Company over the whole system of the Halifax and South Western Railway, including the Middleton and Victoria Beach section, at various times and discussed fully with the Provincial Engineer and the Railway officials and changes had been made to suit varying conditions of traffic, but they had not been formally approved by the Government. Tariff rates for the whole system had been submitted to the Provincial Engineer to endeavor to adjust some matters in dispute between some of the shippers and the Railway Company. As soon as these matters have been satisfactorily adjusted the tariff rates would be approved by the Government. The Company operating a railroad was bound by contract with the Government to maintain a daily train service both ways over the line.

One of the most favorite forms of gambling with the state is laying the future apple crop. Some of the farmers acquire the orchards of the neighborhood, and the state in the spring is traversed by brokers and speculators who look over the orchards and offer lump sums for the output or agree to take the fruit at so much a barrel.

It is the custom to go long and short on the apple market, just as it is on stocks, and the game is played with as much energy as though the speculators were on the curb.

Placing money on a 10 to 1 shot at the race track is a mild amusement compared with the chances which are taken on the Baldwin and the Greenings in the bud all through rural New York state.

Owing to the enormous advance in the price of tea at the gardens during the past eighteen months, "The Salisbury Tea Co." have had to raise the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c, and "Green Label" from 30c to 35c, per pound. No other changes in prices have been made. The chief reason for the advance in the price of Ceylon Tea is due to two causes. First the enormously increased demand coming from Russia, which country is purchasing China Tea in favor of the finer teas of Ceylon. The other cause is due to the planting out of rubber, which is more profitable to the growers than tea.

Carriage Gives Woman $25,000

WHEN SHE FACED POVERTY DURING RECALLED FAVOR HER FATHER DID HIM

New York, March 4.—Out of gratitude for an obligation rendered to him many years ago, Andrew Carnegie has given $25,000 to Mrs. Henry Sanger Snow, whose husband, formerly treasurer of the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company, is a fugitive from justice.

Snow is charged with embezzlement of $20,000, when he disappeared with his wife and three children were left without other resources than an appeal to relatives for aid.

Much publicity followed Snow's delinquency, and it was then that Mr. Carnegie remembered the favor of long ago. It had been rendered him by Mrs. Snow's father David Pappas, a wealthy manufacturer and banker of Baltimore, who died about twenty years ago. Carnegie was a poor boy in Western Pennsylvania, struggling to make his way, when Mr. Brooks came to his aid. What the services were of what the amount no one could say would reveal.

Would Reduce Freight Rates

In support of the agitation of the Middleton Board of Trade to have the J. A. R. taken over by the I. C. R., Mayor Lockett of Bridgetown writes to the Outlook as follows:

I have been reading with interest the opinions of your different correspondents to the Government control of the I. C. R. and have not noticed but any of them touched on the matter of freight rates. I will endeavor to give a few figures to show the matter of freight rates to the Eastern part of the province on fruit, which by the way is the most important product shipped from this part of the province. I think that your readers will readily agree with me that the markets of Halifax and St. John are too small or the consumption of all the early fruit, therefore, with one line from St. John to Sydney the farmers would save a great deal on their fruit. Take for instance the freight from Bridgetown station to Sydney on say ten barrels of apples under the present way of shipment via two lines, that is the I. C. R. to Truro thence I. C. R. to Sydney would be seventy and one half cents per barrel. This same lot of fruit shipped to Sydney over the route (under government control) would only cost forty-eight cents per barrel or a saving to the farmer of twenty-two and a half cents per barrel. These rates are for less than a percentage is the same, and it matters not whether it is to Sydney, Amherst or New Glasgow the increase of cost is the same and must certainly come out of the farmers either directly or indirectly. I heartily agree with your correspondents and unhesitatingly say that I believe it to be in the interests of the farmers and the public of the Valley and Western Nova Scotia if this road were under government control.

Take a Vacation

The mother who is most loved and respected is the one who is happily serene, healthy and normal. The ideal mother, who is always ready with sympathy and advice. Sure of herself, she is a rock of strength in her household.

No nervous, unhealthily, miserable woman can be this. The time is bound to come when she is both too nervous to talk or to listen, and she has to shut herself away from her children with their misdeeds, hopes and ambitions and most likely at the time when the mother-help is most needed.

All this could have been avoided she had brought her children up from the first with common sense methods, and also given herself as the head of the family, some consideration and relaxation.

But she has devoted herself with such continuity to her household, and has been so absorbed in it that she would not take any change, and nobody has thought it worth while to insist that she should.

But home is a very good place to get away from sometimes, particularly for mothers. The time is bound to come when she is both too nervous to talk or to listen, and she has to shut herself away from her children with their misdeeds, hopes and ambitions and most likely at the time when the mother-help is most needed.

All this could have been avoided she had brought her children up from the first with common sense methods, and also given herself as the head of the family, some consideration and relaxation.

But she has devoted herself with such continuity to her household, and has been so absorbed in it that she would not take any change, and nobody has thought it worth while to insist that she should.

Not to go away simply to take up household duties elsewhere with perhaps a great many inconveniences in addition, but a complete and absolute change of environment.

Life on a farm, where she can sit the whole day long with her hands folded, studying the true meaning of the quiet life.

If this does not appeal to her, she should find a place which does, and see to it that she gets this change and gets it every year whether she will or no.

You will see the little mother regaining her youth and beauty. She will soon tell you that she has no nerves to speak of, but is able to banish the porch or in the hammock, too heavy and has even to read but revelling in the fresh, pure air, the sun and those sweet perfumes which prodigious nature dispenses with such a lavish hand to those who love and try to understand her.

And what a homecoming. Home seems dearer than ever, and its duties more enjoyable. After her change the mother is energy and contentment combined. Able to listen and laugh with all, to advise and sympathize without one wrinkle left in her brow.

It is a wise husband who watches her carefully, and who grades children who help him in his task, and when again the house mother begins to show the inevitable signs of wear and tear, when she begins to look pale and tired and talk of her nerves, then let him whisk her away to the country or mountaintop, where she does not keep house; for change is as necessary to the tired woman as food and drink.

Remember this, if your mother seems cross and irritable, persuade her to take a change right now. Don't postpone till next year—next year may be too late.—Sydney-Creston, in Philadelphia Press.

Woman Found Frozen To Death

HILLSBORO, N. B., March 7.—Mrs. Nancy Bennett, an aged lady, of Lower Hillsboro, was discovered dead in her house last evening, where she lived alone. Her neighbors, not noticing any sign of life around the house, for several days, supposed she had gone to the country or to Montreal, where she does not keep house; for change is as necessary to the tired woman as food and drink.

Remember this, if your mother seems cross and irritable, persuade her to take a change right now. Don't postpone till next year—next year may be too late.—Sydney-Creston, in Philadelphia Press.

DON'T TAKE MILK at NIGHT!

Milk in any form taken at night is apt to cause digestive disturbance. Your night's rest is not refreshing. To appease hunger, or merely for company's sake, "BOVRIL" in the form of a bouillon, sandwiched between thin bread and butter, is excellent.

After this light supper you will sleep well and awake refreshed.

NORTH WILLIAMSTON

Rev. W. Craft of Middleton delivered an interesting discourse here last Sabbath afternoon which was much appreciated by those present.

Members of Ever Hopeful Division, No. 865 visited the Nictaux Division last Saturday evening and report a very pleasant time. After listening to an excellent programme, refreshments were served, which were very much enjoyed.

W. E. Crawford was a delegate at the Temperance Alliance, which was held in Halifax quite recently.

Mrs. Oliver Delaney returned home the 8th, having spent a very pleasant week with friends in Bridgetown.

Mr. Crossman of Morden is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Moore.

We are pleased to note Mr. Cameron Greene able to be out after his severe illness.

PHINNEY COVE

Burpee Hudson visited his old home and friends here a few days ago.

Mr. Ben Best, who was sick when he last wrote, is better and is expected home shortly.

On the 29th of February, Mr. Alexander Turple had a birthday. This is a somewhat rare occurrence, as Mr. Turple only has a birthday once in four years, and a few years ago, from 1890 to 1901, eight years passed between one birthday and the next.

Mrs. Reginald Refuse of Parker's Cove was the guest of Mrs. Enos Munroe a few days recently. Also Mr. Daniel Covert spent a few days with Mr. Watson Dent and other friends, and Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Bridgetown spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Edward White, having with them their graphophone which afforded abundant entertainment for friends and neighbors and was highly appreciated.

We take pleasure in recording that a new baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hamilton a few days ago.

Monday, Feb. 21st, Mrs. (Rev.) William Parker, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. William Morse, attained her ninetieth birthday. She was "At Home" to her friends both afternoon and evening, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, only a few called in the afternoon, but a large number came in the evening. After the friends had gathered, Rev. C. H. Haverslock, in a very genial manner presented Mrs. Parker with a Morris chair, having a foot-rest attached, a gift from her many friends. After Mr. Haverslock's address, speeches were made by Rev. E. O. Reed, F. E. Chipman, Alfred Gates, C. F. Armstrong, Alvin Nelly, Deacon Beckwith, Prof. J. H. Morse and Deacon Morse.

Mrs. Edward Marshall read a choice selection entitled "Heaven." Prof. Morse and Mrs. Haverslock sang a duet, "Don't Forget the Old Folks." Through the evening all joined in singing some of the Old Hymns. Mr. E. O. Reed offered prayer. With the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds" closed an evening long to be remembered by all who were present. Mr. Parker is particularly well and active and her mind is as bright as ever it was. In saying "good night" all wished her many happy returns of the day and many eyes winked she might reach the century mark.

BILL TO PROTECT SHEEP FROM DOGS—GOVERNMENT TO INSPECT PLACES OF AMUSEMENT FOR FIRE PROTECTION.

(Chronicle, Mel. 6th.)

Protection of sheep against dogs and the chance of a repetition of the Cleveland disaster in Nova Scotia were the chief matters of discussion in the House of Assembly yesterday afternoon. A part from these questions, very little was done.

Hon. Mr. Pearson moved the second reading of the Bill to prevent the destruction of sheep by dogs. He said inquiry had been made, and sentiment in the Province was strongly in favor of the Bill.

Mr. Tanner asked for some information as he understood it did, placing a tax on all dogs in the Province to create a fund for indemnifying the owners of sheep killed by dogs he would oppose it, as he was not in favor of making all the dog owners in the Province suffer for the acts of a few. He did not think this would not give enough protection to farmers anyway, and he favored amending the law so that a farmer might shoot any dog straying on his lands.

In reply Hon. Mr. Pearson said that this was a revenue Bill. Dogs have long been regarded as a legitimate source of revenue and in Nova Scotia he thought it only right that dog owners should be taxed, as dogs served no useful purpose here. If a person wanted to keep a dog for his own pleasure let him pay for it. He then explained the Bill at some length. It provides that the tax shall be collected by the municipalities, and the owner of any sheep killed in his fields may be reimbursed for the Farmers' Association, owners of sheep killed on the roads are not entitled to recompense. Protection of this nature had been asked for by the Farmers' Association, and of 124 persons written to in regard to this Bill, 87 approved of it.

E. H. Armstrong thought there would be difficulty in knowing just when dogs were going to attack sheep and that in consequence, permission to shoot the dogs wouldn't be much recompense to the farmer who had lost a number of sheep. He thought some system of registering dogs for identification should be adopted, and didn't think the shot gun or rifle would appeal to farmers, as many of them could not use them.

Then Mr. Baillie, from Pictou, gave his views on the question. He favored Mr. Tanner's plan, and despite his opposition to military training in the While traveling in New Ontario conducting special meetings I contracted a very bad cold, which gradually developed into Bronchitis of the worst form. I was advised to try Psychina, which I did, and after using but a few bottles I was completely restored to health. I recommend this wonderful remedy to sufferers from Bronchitis and other troubles."

Later: "I wish to add that my voice, since using Psychina, is stronger and has much more carrying power than it had before I had bronchitis, and the vocal chords do not tire with speaking."

Preserving Unfermented Fruit Juices

Canned apple fruits and preserves are common in almost every farm home, and they fill a splendid place in the menu. Unfermented apple juice, however is not so familiar, though it is equally good and can be made with as little labor.

HOW APPLE JUICE IS HANDLED.

Only sound, well ripened apples should be selected, because the green fruit juice is dark colored and will not clear up. Pour the juice into an enamel or glass vessel and put this receptacle into a larger vessel to protect it from the flame upon its being heated. Gradually bring to a temperature of about 185 degrees and keep it there for about 15 minutes. Remove all steam that forms during this operation. Cover the vessel and set it aside for 24 hours.

All bottles or jars to contain the juice should be sterilized. Next morning, the juice is poured into the bottles and again heated, this time to about 175 degrees for 30 or 40 minutes. For this second heating a wash-bottle with a board in the bottom for the bottles to rest on is employed, the bottles being placed on this and the water poured over them to within one inch of their tops. The water is heated gradually.

The rubbers and caps are put on the bottles immediately after taking them out of the boiler. Paraffin or sealing wax should be used to make them airtight. The bottles are kept best if stored in a cool cellar.

TREATING GRAPE JUICE.

Almost any desired flavor may be obtained by carefully selected certain varieties of grapes, provided they are clean and well ripened. A common elder press or the hand is used to crush the grapes. If a light colored juice is sought, place the crushed grapes in a stout bag and press through it the juice, or let it drip through. Then treat it exactly as noted above for apple juice. If a red juice is desired heat the crushed fruit and juice to 175 degrees and strain out the juice and heat again for a few minutes to 180 degrees. Allow to stand for 24 hours and treat as for apple juice.

NEW WAY TO BE WELL

Healthfulness of Oranges.

The one lesson which most people never seem to learn is, how to guard their health.

We have been eating oranges since time immemorial yet how many of us know that orange juice contains a medicinal principle which has a marked action on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. Some physicians go so far as to say that they can cure the average case of Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness and Dry Skin with orange juice and proper diet.

This can be easily proved to the satisfaction of any sufferer. Take the juice of one or two oranges every morning before breakfast, take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night and best-time exercise a reasonable care in diet, and the proof will be found in health.

The cure will be greatly assisted and hastened by taking "Fruit-a-tives" in conjunction with the orange juice. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal principle of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are many times increased by the special process which they are subjected to. Then tonics are added and the whole made into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box—$ for $2.50. "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

SCARING THEMSELVES INTO SICKNESS

Dr. Robert Hutchinson is a London physician who has seen much hospital and private practice and who now comes out with a declaration that there is much more sickness than there should be and that this is largely because people scare themselves into it.

Not so much from natural fear of any particular infection as from a feeling that people of their standing must expect certain forms of sickness and that they rather enjoy calling the doctor and becoming as they suppose, interesting objects of attention. Dr. Hutchinson does not approve of this at all, yet he is no stickler for particular robust health.

It is he who says, "There are other things far more valuable than physical health, which he conceives to be far too much regarded, just as he believes on the other hand that multitudes of others are by regarding occasional illness as a mark of delicate feeling or some other thing that has no direct relation with the problem of physical life. All the craze for athletics by means of an extreme, occasional illness of the body, which seems to value little more than did some of the early Christians.

There is a serious basis for most of this even if it seems to be a good deal of far. Many of us know people who make themselves ill by anticipating illness, even if they do not want it and are really afraid of it. Some of us also know another class of whom Dr. Hutchinson speaks, those who devote themselves to exercise, but do not well. These are usually more gymnasts who neglect the ordinary laws of sound living and attempt to make up for it by regular exercise, which is only useful to any degree when taken under proper conditions, that is in addition to a generally active healthy life.

There is even a hint of a warning in Dr. Hutchinson's extreme statement that he would rather have a community physically diseased and pursuing useful and noble objects than a nation of debilitated persons. For a community to give time that view may be debatable but hardly as a continuing thing generation after generation. An exceptional mind in a frail or imperfect body may do wonders, but if all talents were frail or imperfect we could hardly anticipate a long continuance of the intellectual distinction predicated.

There is no practical rule much better than the old one of an outdoor life with plenty of exercise, moderation in eating and drinking, and general indifference to apprehensions of evil. The mind and the body are so nearly enough related to justify the belief that one cannot suffer greatly without the other being changed for the worse in time, and it is probably true that indifference to the peril of illness does produce some effect in saving from it just as indifference to any other peril does increase the chance of escaping it.—Hartford Times.

HEALTH HINTS FOR BUSINESS GIRLS.

I am at business in the city, and I sit on an office stool for nine hours every day. I get up at 7 a. m. and drink a glass of cold water while dressing. I throw my bedroom window open and practice deep breathing for five minutes or longer if I have time. I inhale as much air through the nose till the lungs are quite full, then I exhale it through the mouth very slowly. I practise with dumb bells for other five minutes. My breakfast consists of a little pease porridge and a poached egg on toast or bacon, etc. by way of a change. Pease porridge is very light and nutritious, and not nearly so heating as oatmeal. I think every girl who follows a sedentary occupation should walk to and from business (if at all possible). I keep a pair of boots at the office which I don on wet days.

I do not believe in the cold sponge for women; but twice a week I put two tablespoonfuls of sea salt into a pail of tepid water and sponge my body all over. I keep my salt in the bathroom, and I do this just before getting into bed. It does not take long and the lovely fresh feeling it

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

With a Wedding Cake That Weighed 20 lbs.—One of the Most Artistic Ever Seen in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. P. McKenna of Dartmouth, N. S., celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday March 3rd. Their son, Mr. James McKenna of Sussex, was home for the occasion, as were also their three daughters, one from Boston, one from Philadelphia, and one from the West of the Province.

There was a large reception in the afternoon, and a social gathering of friends in the evening.

The son and daughters presented their parents with a beautiful jewel case in which was $100 in gold. Other presents in gold were received.

Miss Jean Hamilton, of our Truro Household Science School presented the wedding cake which weighed over twenty pounds. It was in two stories and decorated in the latest and most approved style. Each cake had on top an almond paste one inch thick, after which the cakes were covered with three layers of plain frosting. Then the small cake was placed on top of the large one, and both covered with plain ornamental frosting in pale green. On this were figurines, ribbons, rosettes, in white and made by the use of fancy tubes. On one side of the small cake was "1858" in violet, and on the opposite side, "1908" in gold. Finally thrown promiscuously over the cake were hatterens, and violets, open, half open, and in bud. The hatterens represented the golden years, and the violets the happiness of youth. The flowers were of course made before hand. They were made of a kind of frosting, and each petal moulded separately with the fingers. They were in their natural colors, and looked as if they had been picked right out of the field and thrown on the cake.

This wedding cake received a great deal of admiration from those few privileged to see it in Truro, and from the large number who saw it in Dartmouth. Miss Hamilton had the cake photographed on Saturday before taking it to Dartmouth.—Truro News.

ROYAL PHARMACY
NO LADYLIKE ATHLETICS FOR PRESIDENT SCHURMAN
He Differs from President Eliot, of Harvard, and Advocates Manly Games.
MILWAUKEE, Mar. 5—President Jacob Gould Schurman, of Cornell University, was the guest of honor to-night at the annual dinner of the Milwaukee Cornell Alumni. In response to a toast he said: "The great danger of inter-collegiate athletics is that the spirit of athletics may take possession of the universities to the subversion of education. Americans have not learned the spirit of moderation that controlled the ancient Greeks in their athletics."
"But I am a friend of inter-collegiate athletics and I believe they can be conducted without injury to the educational purposes of the universities. Athletics are an element in liberal education that seems to have been re-jected by our colleges. I favor inter-collegiate football; I do not believe that our colleges need necessarily carry on their athletics in the nice, ladylike way favored by President Eliot, of Harvard. I believe in athletics conducted after the manner of men."

HOW TO TEST FLOUR.
How to know when food stuffs are "good," is a puzzle that faces the inexperienced housewife at every turn. From market to butcher, from butcher to grocer, the same perplexity awaits her, but she can escape many mistakes by keeping a pad to jot down things she has proved, and has reason to know will be good.
Good flour should be creamy, not dead white, nor yet have that bluish cast that some flours have. It should not feel damp, sticky or clammy. It should not form into lumps when pressed in the hand; it should have some elasticity, some "life," as the millers express it. When made into dough it will be elastic, easy to knead and stay in round, puffy shape with a springiness that is quite noticeable. Ontario fall wheat flour, with its rich, mellow flavor, provides that beautiful brown crust in well made bread. Manitoba flour provides the gluten. The two combined and blended in just the right proportions, give the good qualities of both, with their faults eliminated.
This Blended Flour stands every test. It has already gained a deservedly popular place in the esteem of good housewives, and in fact they declare the Blended Flour is far ahead of any other that can be bought to-day.
The best way to assure yourself of the quality of flour is to buy a little and try it. You will save yourself some trouble, however, if you begin by using Blended Flour, then you won't want to use any other. Blended Flour is certainly best for bread, and best for pastry.

Telling the Truth

"I sent for you, Mrs. Binter," began the public school principal, "not so much because Jerry isn't behaving himself in school—though he isn't at all the kind of boy he ought to be, I must say—as because he seems to have a habit of telling such dreadful falsehoods. We can't believe a thing he says."
"Did you ever?" ejaculated Mrs. Binter. "An' if there's one thing that is always talked into him at home it is to tell the truth. When he come home last night and said you was wanting to see me, I just told him I wasn't going to take no excuses from him, an' I started in right then and licked him something fierce. He got a warming up he won't forget in a hurry."
"An' you can be sure I'm that sorry for his teacher I'll do anything for her. He'll get a licking, good an' proper, every time she says he needs it, an' don't you forget it."
"Come here, Jerry," said the principal to the dejected boy, who had sniveled ostentatiously in his cap during his mother's speech. "I think you may go up to your room while I talk to your mother. I'll send for you later. Just sit down, Mrs. Binter," she went on, as a streak of boy swiftness vanished out of the door. "I'm sorry you punished Jerry before she knew what was the matter. I would—"

"O, that's all right," Mrs. Binter broke in reassuringly. "I'd just as lie do it as not. It ain't the trouble that I mind, and I know he must both er his teacher something fierce. I'm always ready to lick him. You just send him home any time an' I'll see to him."
"I don't think you quite understand began the school principal again. "I wanted to see you to have a talk about the untruths that Jerry tells. Two days ago, for instance, he's teacher took away a ball which he was playing with in the cloak room. You know he might break a window with it if he plays with it in the building; Mrs. Brenner put it on her table, and when she came back after recess it was gone. She suspected that Jerry had taken it, but he denied it, and even cried, and said it was her fault, and she'd have to get him another ball. Some of the boys came and told Miss Brenner that Jerry had the ball in his pocket, and so she brought him to me, and I made him drop the ball."
"Something like that happens almost every day. Yesterday Miss Brenner had trouble with him because he tried to make her believe he was eight days in his spelling when she had marked his paper fifty. You see how commonly he tells these untruths. Does he do it at home, and do you talk to him seriously about the matter?"
"Well, I should say we do," asserted Mrs. Binter. "I'm always telling him to be honest. An' we do everything we can to make him learn his lessons. I just told him last Christ- mas if he didn't pass for fifth grade in June I'd send him to the reform school. Yes, I did! I told him that nearly every day an' I got him so good and frightened that he brought his books home evenings an' you know he passed!"

"Yes," said the principal, "he passed. But I'm sorry you see that Jerry has with the reform school, because you know you wouldn't have had the power to send him there just because he had failed to make his grade."
"Oh, of course, I might mean it," Mrs. Binter asserted here. "I wouldn't let my boy go away from me, but he didn't know that an' I scared him all right. If you people here'd just tell him you'd send him to the reform school you'd find out he'd tie the mark."
The principal sighed to herself and began a new line of attack.
"Does his father take any hand in your son's training?" she inquired. "I think when a boy gets to be Jerry's age his father ought to keep pretty close watch on his habits."
"His father works nights and sleeps daytimes mostly," replied Mrs. Binter. "An' he's that hard on the kids I never tell him what they do. Why, he'd pound Jerry to a jelly if he heard about him lying to his teacher this way. I don't dare tell him anything like that."
"Why, last week I kep' Jerry in from his play Saturday 'cause he'd stayed up so late the night before an' when his father see him he says, 'What you doing here, kid?' an' I spoke up quick, I was so afraid Jerry'd tell him why, an' say 'Jerry's got the toothache,' an' I told him to stay by the stove." His father wouldn't have him tell no lies for anything. Him an' me tells Jerry always to be honest an' never to say anything that ain't so."

"Well," said the principal, "I'm sorry I had to trouble you to come to see me. But I wanted to be sure that home influence with the boy was what it should be and I can always find that out more quickly by talking with a boy's mother than in any other way. Of course, if he lives with people who are themselves are always straightforward and honest on honesty in him he is sure to outgrow the bad habit. I believe a great deal in the force of example in training children. If a boy's mother and father are always strictly truthful with him he is far more apt to be honest himself, don't you think so?"
"Sure," assented Mrs. Binter. "An' we always do the right thing by him. You see, I licked him the minute he tells me yesterday you was wanting to see me. An' I'll do the same time he tells a lie. I says to him to-day 'Don't you never be caught in a lie again or I'll beat you black and blue.'"

"Thank you for coming, Mrs. Binter," said the principal, rising to conclude the interview. "I don't think we'll trouble you again. Now that I understand how matters stand at home with Jerry, we'll manage him with out further reference to you, I think. Come in and see us any time you can. We always like to have the mothers visit their children's rooms you know. Good morning."
"Good morning," said Mrs. Binter, cheerfully.

A Prized Cough Cure
"I have not been without a bottle of Coltsfoot's Expecto-rant in the house for over nine years. At that time I procured it for a bad cold I had. It worked such wonders then that it has been a household remedy ever since, and we will have no other for coughs and colds—it is as pleasant to take, and all of my children look for it as soon as they get a cold at all. Nearly all of them have been subject to cough, and that's when I find Coltsfoot's Expecto-rant useful. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you wish."

will be sent to any person sending their name and address and naming this advertisement. It has established a wonderful record as a successful cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis and all irritated conditions of the throat and chest. It is the prescription of a great specialist in medicine. At all good druggists, 25c. Dr. T. A. Slum, Limited, Toronto. Send for Free Sample To-day.

SIGN OF DETERIORATION OF CHARACTER
When you are satisfied with mediocrity
When commonness doesn't trouble you
When you do not feel troubled by a poor day's work, or when a slighted job does not haunt you as it once did.
When you are satisfied to do a thing just for now, expecting to do it better later.
When you can work untroubled in the midst of confused, systemless surroundings which you might resent to intolerable degree.
When you can listen without protest to indignant stories.
When your ambition begins to cool, and you no longer demand the same standard of excellence that you once did.
When you do not make a confidante of your mother as you once did, or are all at ease with her.
When you begin to think your father an old boy.
When you begin to associate with people whom you would not think of taking to your home, and would not want the members of your families to know that you know—Success.

PARDONABLE.
(Harper's Weekly.)
A prominent novelist spoke recently at a Boston Club about the wonders of modern invention. He said: "There was an old fisherman rowing in his boat one day, when an automobile came sprang a leak near him and immediately sank.
"To the indignation of the onlookers, the old man paid no heed to them, but rowed calmly on his way puffing an old clay pipe."
"However the wrecked caucetics managed to swim to him, and as they clambered into his boat one of them spluttered angrily:
"Confound you, why didn't you lend us a hand? Didn't you see we were sinking?"
"The old man took his pipe out of his mouth and stared at them in astonishment.
"Blessed if I didn't think you was one of them new-fangled submarines," he said."

See J. E. Logie's Adv. A convention of the Liberal Conservative party takes place here on Tuesday next.

Apple shipments for the week ending March 7, from all ports were 59,274 barrels, as compared with 59,063 barrels in the same week last year.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Bridgetown Foundry Co., Ltd., will be held in their warehouses at Bridgetown, Saturday, March 14th, 1908.

Claudia Hal has been purchased from her latest owner, S. M. Bond, of Annapolis, by W. G. Fenwick of Harbour, N. B., the figure paid being over four hundred.

A Recital will be held in the Baptist church, Friday evening, March 20th. Mrs. Ringwald of Wolfville Seminary, a noted German organist, will take part in the programme.

Queen Street wants cleaning up. There is a quantity of loose paper floating about which gives it an untidy appearance and must make a bad impression on strangers arriving in our town.

J. W. Beckwith is much pleased and encouraged by the liberal patronage, and expression of customers during his cash sale, all customers remarking that they will not send to Toronto, which they can do so much better with their money at his store.

In the house of commons at Ottawa on the 9th inst., Hon. Mr. Aylesworth introduced a bill to amend the Election Act by which corporations shall be forbidden to subscribe to campaign funds, and the holder and holder shall both be disqualified for eight years.

The commission investigating the Quebec Bridge disaster have given it as their decision that the collapse of the structure was due to defective design and that the errors of judgment of the two engineers should be considered the direct cause of the calamity.

Repairs have been completed on the B. A. E. steamer "Yarmouth" at New York and a crew went from Yarmouth on the steamer Prince Arthur to bring the Yarmouth to St. John. She will again be placed on the Bay route making daily trips between Digby and St. John.

County Court opened in Annapolis on Tuesday, Judge Pelton presiding. There were but three cases on the docket. The only business done was continuance asked for in the case of Therrell vs. Caldwell, which was granted, and the Court adjourned until the 19th inst.

A new departure is made by one of our grocers this week in selecting a special bargain day, as will be seen by consulting J. E. Lloyd's adv., elsewhere. Attractive prices may be looked for and satisfaction for customers, as Mr. Lloyd handles good goods only.

Mr. George Freeman, Superintendent of the Valley Branch of the N. S. Telephone service, accompanied by Mr. L. A. Doane, Engineer, of Halifax, spent a day or two in town last week. We understand they were making a survey preliminary to some improvement in the service.

A Halifax and South Western baggage car and an L. C. R. box car were destroyed by fire at Caledonia station Saturday morning. The cars were lying on the siding and caught fire, either from the stove or lamp. The engineer noticed the fire some time after it had started and by his quick presence of mind saved the passenger coaches by hauling them away. The uniforms belonging to the conductor and train hands were destroyed.

The regular semi-weekly service of the Middleton and Victoria Beach railway was reopened Monday, after a suspension of several weeks. The train carried a number of passengers and considerable freight, a large proportion being loaded and unloaded at this station. The rumor that a steamer will be put on the line this summer between Port Wade and some American port has been revived and appears to be gaining credence, though the officials are chary of information.

The horse show at Kentville is scheduled for Friday, March 20th. It will be held under the auspices of the King county farmers' association and Kentville board of trade. The following classes will be exhibited and prizes awarded:—Class 1, pair of carriage horses—1st $5.00, 2nd $3.00, 3rd $2.00. Class 2, matched pair of draft horses—1st $5.00, 2nd $3.00, 3rd $2.00. Class 3, single all-purpose horse, 1st $4.00, 2nd $3.00, 3rd $2.00. LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

The death occurred at the County Home yesterday, March 10th, of Asaph Daniels, aged eighty-four. The remains will be forwarded to Middleton tomorrow for interment.

At the annual session of the Revisors Court for the town rates, appeals for reduction of taxation were made on behalf of the following persons:—Capt. P. Nicholson, sewer account; Mrs. Sophia Munro, personal taxation; J. H. Longmire & Sons, personal taxation. In each case the appeal was granted.

Rev. A. S. Lewis was unable to fill his appointments at Centreville, Sunday afternoon and at Bridgetown in the evening, illness preventing him, although he drove to Centreville, attempting to conduct his usual services. He has recovered, we are pleased to state, after being confined to his house for a couple of days.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Judson Messenger is reported slightly improved.

Mr. W. A. Chesley is confined to his house with an attack of la-grippe.

Mrs. Jack of North Sydney is visiting her son, Mr. Reginald Jack at the Grand Central.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. H. Warren is gradually recovering from a long and tedious illness.

O. S. Miller, barrister, attended County Court at Annapolis yesterday. He is interested in two cases on the docket.

Mrs. (Judge) Chipman, who has been very ill for the past two months is much better, but Miss Nora does not make much progress towards recovery, says the Kentville Advertiser.

On Thursday and Friday afternoons Mrs. G. K. McKee, of Rupert street, Annapolis, says an exchange was "at home" to a large circle of her friends in honor of Mrs. Murlock, of Bridgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hicks entertained a large number of friends in their charming new home on Wednesday evening last. Refreshments and music contributed to the pleasure of the guests and additional pleasure to a very enjoyable affair.

At the home of A. B. Clark, on Saturday evening, the occasion being his birthday, a number of friends from Paradise, Clarence and Bridgetown assembled to give him a "surprise party." Congratulations were extended and a social time enjoyed.

Mrs. J. W. Brown, who has been spending the past year in Whitman, Mass., returned on Saturday accompanied by her son, Gordon, and will remain for an indefinite time. Mrs. Brown's many friends will extend a warm welcome and would be pleased if she were to decide to return and open her home here, which has been closed during the winter.

Tickling or dry Coughs will quickly loosen when using Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly laxative that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else, even for very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountain herb give the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Demand Dr. Shoop's ROYAL PHARMACY, BRIDGETOWN; BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

DIED.

PARKER.—At Granville Ferry, March 9th, 1908, Mr. Alfred Parker, aged 80 years.

Advice from all sections of the country indicates that the demand for good driving horses exceeds the supply and that prices for that class are high. Small breeders should keep that fact in mind when selecting their brood mares and stallions with which to match them. Extreme speed always commands the high dollar, but while aiming to secure that there are other qualities that should not be neglected.

ASKS ADMISSION TO POOR HOUSE. WORCESTER, Mass., Mar. 9.—Dr. John Wellley, well-known here as a cancer expert and a philanthropist, has applied for admission to the Poor House at the age of 83.

A year ago Dr. Wellley decided that he could not live more than six months, and therefore, gave away all his property, retaining only enough to keep him during the half year. The amount has been used, and as he has no relatives and nothing to live on, he asks the County authorities to care for him.

Like to Try Psychine

"Please send me a bottle of Psychine. I have a child afflicted with subnormality, and have been advised to try your medicine by my family doctor, as he says he cannot do anything more for my child."

MRS. H. STEPHENS, Arthur, Ont., July 14, 1907.

Psychine cures when doctors fail. Many who have tried it say they are cured. It is a powerful medicine. It is sold by all druggists. Price, 50c per bottle. Dr. F. A. Mowbray, Limited, Toronto.

For The Benefit Of The Public

The spectacle of banks overlooking their public duties, to compete for the honor of making the best showing has not heightened the regard which the business men from whom the bank derive their profits, feel towards them, but it is undoubtedly true that the series of impressive bank statements have favorably affected thousands of people in the United States and Great Britain, in addition to the revival of confidence it has produced in the country. This result having been attained, there can be no reason why the Banks cannot now use for the benefit of the public, a portion of the reserves which they have been quite properly accumulating for an emergency—Toronto Globe.

Sydney Hotel Burned

Sydney, March 8.—One of the most damaging fires in Sydney during the past year took place Saturday night at the Sydney Hotel. The kitchen and laundry were entirely destroyed and the north west corner of the building badly gutted. The extent of the damage is estimated at about $3,000, largely due to water. The loss is nearly covered by insurance and the appraisers will begin their work today. The hotel contained 100 rooms, forty of which are in the northwest wing and all are badly gutted. When the conflagration was about at an end a man was arrested on suspicion of being connected with it.

Black Leprosy In Cape Breton

SYDNEY, March 9.—A case of black leprosy has been discovered in the family of a man named Campbell, at Cape Road, Richmond County. The case was discovered about two weeks ago by Dr. Mackay, of West Bay. No precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.
