WILSON AND HUERTA ACCEPT OFFERS OF MEDIATION BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS CALLED UPON TO PUNISH ULSTER "GUN-RUNNERS"

WILSON AGREES TO MEDIATION BY SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS BUT FEARS EFFORTS MAY FAIL

Act of Aggression on Huerta's Part May Force United States to Further Reprisal, President Stated in Reply to Joint Note of Brazil, Argentina and Chili, But He Hopes for Speedy Restoration of Peace—Willing to Negotiate With Mexican Government in Most Conciliatory Spirit.

Canadian Press Despatch.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Wilson tonight announced he had accepted an offer from Brazil, Argentina and Chili to use their good offices in an attempt to bring about a peaceful and friendly settlement of the difficulty between the United States and Mexico.

The offer was formally submitted by the three South American envoys to Secretary Bryan, and laid before the president.

The reply of the president, made thru the secretary of state to the diplomatic representatives, was as follows:

GRATEFUL FOR OFFER.

"The Government of the United States is deeply confident of the friendliness, the good feeling and generous concern for the peace and welfare of America, manifested in the joint note just received from your excellency, tendering the good offices of your government to effect, if possible, a settlement of the present difficulties between the government of the United States and those who now claim to represent our sister republic of Mexico. Conscious of the purpose with which the proffer is made, this government does not feel at liberty to decline it. Its own chief interest is in the peace of America, the cordial intercourse of her republics, and our people, and the happiness and prosperity which can spring only out of frank, mutual understanding and the friendship which is created by common purpose. The generous offer of your governments is therefore accepted.

HOPES FOR PERMANENT PEACE.

"This government hopes most earnestly that you may find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of satisfactory, and therefore, permanent settlement. If you should find them willing, this government will be glad to take up with you for discussion in the frankest and most conciliatory spirit, any proposals that may be authoritatively formulated, and will hope that they may prove feasible and prophetic of a new day of mutual co-operation and confidence in America.

WAR MAY BE FORCED.

"This government feels bound in candor, to say, that its diplomatic relations with Mexico being for the present severed, it is not possible for it to make sure of an uninterrupted opportunity to carry out the plan of intermediation which you propose. It is, of course, possible that some act of aggression on the part of those who control the military forces of Mexico might oblige the United States to act to the upsetting of the hopes your generous suggestion. We shall hope for the best results within a brief time, enough to relieve our anxiety, lest most ill-considered hostile demonstrations should interrupt negotiations and disappoint our hopes of peace."

FORMAL OFFER TO INTERVIEW.

The text of the offer made by the three countries was: "Mr. Secretary of State: With the purpose of subserving the interests of peace and civilization in our continent, and with the cordial desire to prevent any further bloodshed to the prejudice of the governments and people of America, we, the plenipotentiaries of Brazil, Argentina and Chili, duly authorized hereto, have the honor to tender to your excellency our good offices for the peaceful and friendly settlement of the conflict between the United States and Mexico.

"This offer puts in due form the suggestions which we have had occasion to offer heretofore on this subject to the secretary, to whom we renew the assurances of our highest and most distinguished consideration." (Signed) D. De Gama, R. S. Naon, Eduardo Suarez Mujica.

HUERTA'S ACCEPTANCE REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Spanish Ambassador Riano announced late tonight that he received private advices from Mexico City, stating that Gen. Huerta had accepted the offer of Argentina, Brazil and Chili to use their good offices to bring about an amicable settlement of the difficulty between the United States and Mexico.

URGING MURDER OF AMERICANS

Inflammatory Circulars Distributed in Vera Cruz—Newspapers Accuse Invaders of Killing Women.

VERA CRUZ, April 25.—Circulars enumerating American business houses are being distributed in the streets of Mexico City. The handbills call on the populace to destroy the concerns listed.

Some of the American stores whose names appeared in the circulars already have been looted.

Another list being distributed is that of Mexicans managing some of the American stores. It is declared these men must be killed because of their identification with foreign interests.

The newspapers of the capital are publishing stories to the effect that the American forces at Vera Cruz are slaughtering women and children and the papers call on Mexicans to retaliate in a similar manner.

Other stories printed by the newspapers say that Great Britain, France, Germany and Spain have declared war against the United States and that American battleships have sunk several Mexican ships flying the flags of these nations. Mexicans also are told that the Mexican army has invaded the United States and that the negroes in the southern states have risen and are assisting the Mexicans.

TROOPS TO BE SENT TO ULSTER; MARTIAL LAW MAY FOLLOW; GUN-RUNNERS THREATENED

Liberal Press Clamorous in Demanding Punishment of Volunteers Who Set Government at Defiance "Crimes" Cannot be Disregarded, Says Government Organ in Brilliant Editorial.

Canadian Press Despatch.—Confirmation has been received that the authorities are preparing to move troops into Ulster, and it is rumored that martial law will be proclaimed there.

The Liberal newspapers demand that the government adopt strong measures to bring to punishment all persons concerned in the importation of 40,000 rifles and a half million rounds of ammunition which was landed at isolated points on the coast of Ulster Friday and distributed by means of automobiles to the various headquarters of the Ulster volunteers.

TERRORIZED BY ARMED REBELS.

LONDON, Monday, April 27.—The gun-running revelations and comments thereon naturally make the most momentous reading about Ulster. This morning the Daily News, one of the chief spokesmen of the government, heads its columns "Insolent Ulster." Editorially it says, "On Friday night for many hours, and over a large stretch of country, forty armed rebels swept away the authority of the crown, terrorized the king's loyal subjects, seized the king's property, imprisoned the king's servants and caused the death of one of the king's servants. Crimes such as these could be disregarded only at the price of surrendering all authority in Ulster and admitting that the parliament and crown are phantoms of which every lawless rogue may make mock.

"Of course, everybody recognizes the insolent vanity, after such events, of talk about plot against the law, aiding men of Ulster with which the opposition are to wait two days of parliament's time. What every man who has any sense of the sanctity of law and the crown will be punished who took part in Friday's rebellion.

"The Standard (Unionist) remarks that there will no doubt be a demand for the radical benches that severe steps be taken, but the responsibility, especially in view of the warning of a month ago, is so appalling that it can scarcely be believed that the prime minister will sanction measures in the least degree likely to be effective. The police are obviously sure to deal with a population of trained determined men, who will assuredly not submit to disarmament without a struggle. To attempt to use without the military for the purpose is to precipitate calamities from which the country was providentially saved a month ago. Asquith has no

Sending of Troops to Ulster Designed to Stop Gun-Running

Canadian Associated Press Cable.—LONDON, April 26.—The successful running in of rifles and ammunition in Ulster on Friday night has surprised England and Scotland and started the Liberal party. It is likely that one result will be a statement in parliament that what has happened is the very possible action of the officers of the army if detailed to prevent such government stores already located in Ulster.

It is likely that further debate on the army officers incident and this running in of war material will occur in parliament at the first possible day, and the whole newspaper press and the public correspondingly aroused.

ON THE LAND AGAIN.

A rather backward spring; cold, dark, the sun promising at times to be along, but only making good for two days. And yet not a bad season for the farmer: the frost went out of the ground imperceptibly and left the plowed land mellow to the harrow and cultivator. Many a dry field is already seeded. Early in the week a couple of showers of rain fell on the wheat and rye fields of the valley. The pasture shows most of all that has been burnt over; these fields are well sown Saturday and Sunday, and many a crop, including wheat, ought to show verdant in a couple of days. In the woods there are the little blue flowers in countless blossoms; red lilies ready to break out in their color; blood-root rolled in leafyshawl into the company; and the forest green of all, the wild rose, in abundance in its milky haws; pepper root, if you know where to dig for it. A fair amount of birds and nest life; kill-deer snipe calling in the air on the soft-plowed places; and the wrangling crows. But the cheerful sound of all is the running water in the creek or the brook at the bottom of a gully full of leaves and wooded on either side; or the still smaller trickles that purr under the fallen vegetation. The farmer's women-folk have calves and chickens to feed and the farmer, hams and young pigs to look after. The elder men are piling stovewood or getting ladder, knife and saw ready for the old man's job in the country where anthracite has not supplanted the bush lot. And on Saturday all over Ontario the hired man and his patient team of horses, three and four in the team, dragged the heavy implements across the soil; field in more or less order, with or without a water-pool to keep out the rain and mist. They all came home in the evening, tired, but cheerful, having done a full day's work and more than their share in the labor that makes for property later on. The local blacksmith shop is again the centre of things. The rural postman the distributor of letters, the knowledge, letters and the catalogue of the big stores. The peaceful hum is on again.

Delightful Music and Dancing.—The musical-comedy "The Marriage Market," with Donald Erian as the star, supported by a big company of clever principals and a gorgeously-gowned chorus, opens a week's engagement at the Princess Theatre tonight. Delightful music and dancing are strong features.

SHOULD RUNNYMEDE BE INCORPORATED

Many Would Rather Be Annexed to the City—Others in Doubt.

BETTER THAN NOTHING

One Suggests That Council Be an Annexation Committee.

The residents of Runnymede are not one on the question of incorporation. While there are a few who know nothing of, and have no interest in, the situation, and who therefore prefer to remain silent, there are others who advocate incorporation as simply a lesser evil than remaining under the jurisdiction of the township council and suffering from what is called the neglect on the part of the township council.

A Standing Committee.
Mr. J. E. Kerr, who lives outside the proposed boundary, but has been building houses in Runnymede for years, is one of the latter. He is in favor of incorporation because he cannot be assured of immediate annexation to the city on reasonable terms, and he believes that a reeve and four councillors would form a representative standing committee to negotiate with the city for annexation in addition to carrying on the affairs of the village.

Mr. J. E. Egly of St. John's road, is not concerned for himself, he having interurban light and plank sidewalks in front of his store, but he desires that something be done for the residents not so fortunate as he. Mr. Warren, coal dealer, Dundas street, has lived on Runnymede road for eighteen years, and is of the opinion that during that time not a copper has been there. "I can't see," he says, "where we lose anything, and if incorporation will be a good thing in lots of ways." Mr. Warren is dissatisfied with the township, has promised him a sidewalk this spring, but nothing has as yet been done.

Strong Opposition.
On the other hand there is a strong sentiment in the community opposed to the idea of incorporation, and it is stated by E. Daniels that he has already obtained about seventy signatures to an anticipation which he has been taking round, and that among all those he has approached, he has not received one refusal. He has not seen all round yet, but he anticipates that the great majority of the residents will be against incorporation. Mr. Daniels finds that people who were in favor of annexation to the city are now signing the petition against incorporation. "If they want to do anything," he says, "let them sign the petition, but they are satisfied with the township council. It has done something for the place during the past year, if even in the way of laying sidewalks, and Mr. Daniels is persuaded that it would have done more but for the reeve and his council. He has better water now than the city, and as regards fire protection, Mr. Daniels believes that they will get a water supply just as soon by waiting on the city as by incorporation.

Area Too Small.
James H. Dempster, at the corner of Dundas and Drurie streets, is also strongly against incorporation. He claims that the members of the township council are not big enough to form but a small territory, and that after the payment of officials and the upkeep of schools, there would be nothing left for anything. He has suggested, says Mr. Dempster, that in the idea of incorporation the assessment should be raised from the present standard so that a greater amount of money might be raised. He does not believe that this is a fair thing to do, but this, he points out, would be placing a greater burden upon a working population than they could bear. Many have come into the district who find it all they can do to pay off their small lots and build their homes, under present conditions, and to make the burden heavier, Mr. Dempster considers, would be unfair.

Area Too Small.
Mr. George Davies, of Drurie street, bears this out, and thinks that annexation would be cheaper than incorporation. He thinks it would be better to have patience for a couple of years or so, and wait for what he is assured will come, annexation to the city.

Majority Opposed.
Mr. A. W. Tyndall, also of Drurie street, holds incorporation in disfavor, and he believes that the members of the Ratepayers' Association represent only a small minority of the residents of this association, and that outside of the township council, there are many people who are opposed. Mr. Tyndall holds that the political matters of the township are mixed up in this affair, and were to go the right way about the attainment of their object, it would be an endeavor to tabulate the population of the township, and the population of the township, and the probable question, of annexation to the city, and they believe that had the township council not arisen, and that with work which, pending annexation, has been delayed.

AURORA

Aurora's assessment roll, which has just been handed to the town clerk, by marked development in property values and population during the last two years. The total assessment this year is $1,000,290, an increase over last year of $63,607 and $38,628 over 1912. According to the roll the population is 2323, an increase over last year of 141 and 493 over 1912.

MAJORITY IN N. TORONTO FAVOR RECONSTRUCTION OF SEWERAGE

Debate Resumed on Saturday Night After Committee Had Visited City Hall — T. Aird Murray Reported to Have Admitted That the Old System Should Be "Scrapped."

There was quite a lively time at the meeting of North Toronto Ratepayers' Association in the old town hall, on Saturday night, when the proposed sewerage system for the north end was discussed. One of the members made the remark that T. Aird Murray, who designed the present system, had said before the city officials that the old system should be scrapped. W. G. Ellis doubted very much such a thing, and thought that should communicate with him to find out the truth of the statement. President E. W. Donnelly asked Mr. Murray if Mr. Murray would be willing to withdraw his opposition to the scheme. Mr. Ellis said he would not.

Charge Resented.
Mr. Donnelly then alleged that Mr. Ellis had taken Mr. Murray to the city hall to back up his opposition to the proposal, whereupon Mr. Ellis jumped to his feet and shouted, "You take that right back; there may be 'duplex twins' here who are under the noses of the board of works, but I will allow no man to say that I had any motive in asking Mr. Murray to accompany me." "You took him to the city hall and because you were not satisfied with the result, you come back here and kick," returned the president. "I did not," came back Mr. Ellis. "I only asked him on the phone if he would go, and he said he would, and besides, I challenge any one here to use his words when he said the present system should be scrapped." Mr. Donnelly appealed to Mr. Ellis not to have any feeling in the matter, as it appeared to him that Mr. Ellis was biased in regard to the proposal when he went to the city hall to interview the engineers.

Residential Sewerage.
Mr. Ellis gave an account of what took place between the deputation from the ratepayers and the city officials, and outlined the extent of the system proposed. Referring to the present system, he said that Mr. Murray's plan covered the whole drainage area, and the pipes provided were supposed to be strong enough for the sewerage of the district. North Toronto had always been spoken of as a residential district, and Mr. Murray had devised the scheme for that.

The proposition was simple because of the natural drainage system. T. Aird Murray had explained it to the people in the town hall, and was questioned regarding it in every way, but he stood the test. In spending the people's money the city should be careful. He did not think that the present system deserved to be scrapped. In the matter of the city providing for the future of the district, he said that the population would not increase more than ten to the acre, and the houses were mostly detached.

Thought is Speculative.
It was very hard to know when this proposed system would be completed, as it would take about two years to construct, and that was too speculative, and the streets would have to be dug up and the people would not be anxious.

MT. DENNIS WANTS A WATER SUPPLY

Suggestion Made That Township Council Apply to Weston.

The Ratepayers' Association held a public meeting Saturday in the school house on Dennis avenue. The president, N. O. Ramdeen, occupied the chair, and he announced that the township council had set two teams to work Saturday at garbage collection and that this work would be continued regularly. He recommended any men who entertained personal grievances to lay them to rest on the township council on its annual tour of the district tomorrow.

Mr. Jordan reported the meeting of the township council on the water question. They lost against the interests of the city by one vote only. He thought that the district contiguous to the city had not received fair treatment, and in this he was strongly supported by the chairman, who put it that they had asked but for a drink of water and it had been denied them.

Water From Weston.
Mr. Pawley moved and Mr. Jordan seconded that the executive committee of the township council to negotiate with Weston with a view to obtaining a supply of water from that village. The secretary, E. Lunnon, pointed out the imperative need of fire protection, if only for the children in the two schools, and the motion was carried unanimously. The idea of incorporation as a village was scouted, as it seemed to be the nearest impression that they had of annexation at no distant date, but while long as it could wait had to be provided.

The names of streets which are duplicated in the city were changed as follows: Wright avenue to Leyton avenue, Oriole road to Cressville avenue, Guest avenue to Guestville avenue, Barton avenue to Bartonville avenue, Saunders avenue to Crowdown avenue, Frejama avenue to Fairmead avenue, Macpherson avenue to Southport avenue.

The numbering of houses would have been completed but that the officials had run out of the figure one. Road Commissioner Slidinger is getting busy about crossings so that the postman can get around.

to have the same trouble as they had with the present system. Then they would have to wait a long time before any improvements would be made. The new system could not be put down the ravines without destroying the present ones. The three points of taxation, future improvements and having the streets torn up were sufficient for them to consider it seriously. Residents would not like to be taxed 32 cents per foot for ten years and then, perhaps, an increase in a few years. Taxation would certainly not be less if he could judge by the general estimate.

Mr. Donnelly said he was opposed to the old sewer from the first, as it looked a joke, a great joke, to him to be putting down a pipe that they would run from a cesspool. Yet he would admit that it had given satisfaction.

Must Consider It.
When the four million sewer was first proposed he kicked against it, for he thought that there were other improvements needed, but now that it was an actual possibility they had got to give it their consideration. It was all very well to say that the present sewers with alterations would be sufficient for the district, but with certain requirements of the residents it would be placed on the junk heap. The statement of Mr. Ellis that the district would not have a population of 15 years was absolutely absurd, for if the proposed system was a reality North Toronto would grow and the disposal plant was a nuisance, and he thought if the board of health thought it would be competent to close it and make them accept the system that was offered.

Mr. Harris had told him that if the provincial inspector visited the plant he would make them close within 24 hours. If it was true that Mr. Murray had said that the old system should be scrapped, what would be the state of it in the next ten years?

System Inadequate.
D. D. Reid said Mr. Ellis had been answered by the city officials in a satisfactory manner, and it looked as if the district would be able to pick holes in the scheme. Mr. Murray was clearly in favor of scrapping the present system. He contended that the present system was only a half scheme, and would have to be enlarged very considerably to be of any satisfaction. The city engineers thought it would be a waste of money when they had studied the matter for two years they should know what the disposal plant was for, and he thought the board of health had recommended the present system. They should try and come to some agreement on the matter as the city had enough to present without them trying to make more.

W. G. Ellis moved a motion that after discussing the proposition that they consider the question of taxation and the digging up of their streets to be unfair.

The motion was lost with the casting vote of the president.

MIMICO

The formation of a Town Improvement Association at Mimico, to look after sidewalks, and improvements generally in the village, has been postponed to an indefinite date. The inactivity of the association is due to the attendance of a sufficient number of residents at the meeting called for the 24th evening, at the home of Mr. J. T. Swift on the Lake Shore Road, to make the gathering representative.

IT is doubtful if in the whole history of advertising, anything approaching the intrinsic worth and educational value of these reading notices has ever been placed before the public. Some of our readers have clipped the entire series from our columns day by day, and formed them into a neat scrap-book, to be placed by the side of "Heart Songs" on the piano, and thus lend an additional value to that great book. The stories of the songs and the biographies of the composers and singers were obtained only by the expenditure of much time by experts—employed for that special purpose, and who had the advantage of the great metropolitan libraries in their research.

WE are proud of the book, proud of the manner in which it has been presented to our readers, and proudest of all of the wonderful response from the public. It proves again that class and character count for much more than mere numbers. We have proven to our entire satisfaction that the people among whom this paper circulates are the equals, if not superiors, of any clientele possessed by any newspaper in this country.

JUST one word more! Our remaining copies of this invaluable song treasury are dwindling away so rapidly that we fear some will be disappointed when they present their coupons. We hope we shall have a sufficient quantity—but the distribution has so greatly exceeded our original estimates that we feel it necessary to give this timely caution.

THREE THOUSAND AT ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Dr. Young and Prof. Law Preached at Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Young addressed the congregation at the 34th anniversary of the Metropolitan Methodist Church yesterday morning, on the "Miracle of the Loaves and Fishes." He said that the miracle is being performed every day in nature, and that people have multiplied in the same manner. Rev. Prof. Law spoke at the evening service. About 3000 attended during the day.

The property for the present-day church was purchased in 1876, and in 1872 the church was opened by Dr. Tiffany of Newark, N. J., who became the minister. The first cost of the church was $100,000, but since then another $275,000 has been spent. In the afternoon G. Tower Ferguson addressed the brotherhood meeting on "What is Real Life."

FOR several weeks this paper has been printing carefully-prepared articles on the songs, singers and composers of the past century; all apropos of the unique song collection entitled "Heart Songs," that we have offered practically as a gift to our readers.

The distribution of "Heart Songs," which we began several weeks ago, is now drawing to a close, owing to the limited number of "Heart Songs" we were able to contract for—which remarkable volume is now being distributed in the United States and Canada. We have but a few copies left, and admonish our friends that unless they take time by the forelock they cannot obtain from us a volume that will increase in value as the years go by, until it becomes almost priceless. We have only asked the coupons clipped from our paper—the real value to us, as showing that our friends were the recipients of the advantage we offered—to which we added actual cost of distribution to ourselves.

THE response to our offer has been without parallel or precedent. Thousands have availed themselves of the chance—and we are accordingly congratulating ourselves on the high order of intelligence that prevails among our clientele. We have, therefore, decided to publish a brief resume of the educational work we have conducted, in order that those who have followed our campaign may have accurate information as to the scope and plan of the original undertaking.

WE print herewith the list of educational readers that have appeared in our paper from day to day, as indicating the character of information that has gone hand in hand with that treasury of song, "Heart Songs":

GERMAN NAVAL OFFICERS SAVE REFUGEES FROM TAMPICO MOB

Capt. Von Koehler Threatened to Land Marines if Rioters Did Not Desist From Attack on Hotel Where Americans Sought Protection From Violence.

GALVESTON, Tex., April 26.—The Tampico situation has continued so serious, according to a wireless message reaching here today, that two torpedo boats were sent up the Panuco River from Tampico by the Americans. Refugees arriving at Tampico today said they were saved from rioting Mexicans early on Wednesday morning by German sailors. The story of the riot was told by Americans on the soldier, Cyprian, who arrived here this afternoon.

The trouble started on Tuesday night after the American warships at Tampico had left their positions near the Southern Hotel, where there were twenty or thirty American women and three hundred American men. William Hanson, a former United States deputy marshal in South Texas, organized the men, who had a few rifles and pistols, for resistance.

The Americans, however, had so little ammunition that they did not dare open fire, fearing the Mexicans would kill them after their ammunition was spent.

The mob began pounding on the doors with clubs. One Mexican fired through a window, but no one was shot, and steamed some miles to sea in the afternoon. After dark bands of Mexicans began to parade the streets, shouting insults at Americans, who had withdrawn to the shelter of the principal hotels in Tampico.

Stones at Hotel. About midnight a mob estimated at six hundred, began throwing stones at

ALL MEXICO IS READY TO FIGHT

Slumping C.P.R. Spreads Gloom

Consideration Shown by Americans at Vera Cruz Interpreted as Sign of Weakness.

Montreal People Who Lost Money Think They Know Where Blame Lies.

Special to the Toronto World. MONTREAL, April 26.—There is widespread gloom in Montreal over the slump in Canadian Pacific. The Star, which has been leading everybody into this stock after each on the reduction in freight rates by the railway commission. But the men who lost their money know that there is another reason—that the German shares handled in New York last Thursday and Friday, were disastrous.

Of the situation today, it said: "All Mexico is being inflamed against the Americans and is preparing for war, while the United States authorities, far from considering further aggressive measures against this country, are negotiating to restore the Mexican officials who left their posts. Hardly anyone believes that this is a backward step and means the end of the possibility of Americans living or doing business in this country for years to come. The step was thought of as an act of consideration, but of weakness, and it will encourage enmity and aggression towards the Americans."

AMERICAN GIVE NOTICE TO WORLD

Nations of Hemisphere Will Settle Own Questions Without Interference.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The protest by Brazil, Argentina, and Chile of their good offices and their prompt acceptance by the United States is regarded in official and diplomatic circles as notice to the world that nations of this hemisphere stand for the settlement of American questions by American methods.

Latin-American diplomatists look upon the mediation proceedings as a far-reaching importance. They believe that the South American republics acted in Brazil, Argentina, and Chile, and that they were prompted to make their protest wholly disinterestedly in an effort to maintain the cordiality and union which always have surrounded the relations of the governments and peoples of America.

The joint action of the governments of Brazil, Argentina, and Chile, it is learned today, had its inception upon the occupation by the United States of Vera Cruz. Which of the nations initiated the proceedings is not disclosed.

The paramount fact, it is pointed out, is that their action was entirely voluntary, and that the acceptance of good offices is in no way binding on either party to any conditions, but it opens a way for discussion of proposals of mediation.

AMERICANS CAN LEAVE MEXICO

Arrangements Made for Safe Departure From Mexico City; Announcement of Bryan.

LONDON, April 26.—Tension over the one phase of the situation which may at any moment upset peace plans—the safety of Americans in Mexico City and other interior points—was partially relieved by the announcement of Secretary Bryan that thru the British embassy there American officials and Admiral Fletcher had arranged for the safe departure of Americans from the Mexican capital and the free exodus of Mexicans from Vera Cruz.

AVIATOR MARTY KILLED. LONDON, April 26.—Philippe Marty, a well-known aviator, fell during a flight today at the Hendon Aerodrome, and died later as a result of the injuries sustained.

NEARLY DROWNED IN CELLAR. LONDON, Ont., April 26.—Four-year-old Jack Woodfine nearly lost his life as a result of the severe rainstorm which broke over this city yesterday, when he fell into the flooded cellar at his home. When rescued he was unconscious and apparently lifeless, but with the aid of a pulmonologist, which was rushed from the city hydro-electric station, animation was restored. The water in the cellar was four feet deep.

NATIONS OF EUROPE MUST BE NEUTRAL

Mexican Situation Demands Especial Restraint, Says German Newspapers.

STABLE GOVERNMENT

Germany's Interests Make Desirable Speedy Restoration of Order.

Canadian Press Despatch. BERLIN, April 26.—The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung's Weekly Review says:

The long threatened conflict between the United States and President Huerta of Mexico has begun, because of a matter in itself of trifling importance. The United States Government maintains that the affair concerns only Huerta and his followers, and that the United States is not at all concerned in the matter.

The primary result of this contention is not without difficulties from the aspect of international law. The existing uncertainty imposes an especial restraint upon neutral nations, as well as on public opinion. The next development will depend chiefly on whether a union is effected between the supporters of Huerta and the constitutionalists.

The paper declares that Germany wishes a stable government in Mexico, for simply because of its important economic interests and the welfare of Germans there.

BRITAIN DOUBTS PEACE IN SIGHT

Determination of U.S. to Eliminate Huerta is Regarded as Insuperable Obstacle.

LONDON, April 27.—The London morning newspapers in their editorial comment on the Mexican situation are not sanguine that the offer of mediation by the presidents of Brazil, Argentina and Chile will result in a peaceful solution of the trouble declaring that the United States is bent on the elimination of President Huerta, and that it will be impossible for Huerta to accept such terms.

The Graphic foresees the possibility that mediation may aggravate American difficulties, saying that should the mediating republics suggest terms which would be unacceptable to the United States, the trouble would probably be increased, and with the sympathy of the whole of Latin America overtly on the side of Mexico.

NORDHEIMER CO. DECIDE TO BUILD

Seven Storey Structure to Be Erected on Yonge and Albert Streets.

After doing business for nearly 70 years at 15 King street, the Nordheimer Piano and Music Company has decided to remove to a new building to be erected on the northwest corner of Yonge and Albert streets. MOB ATTACKS AMBULANCES. The Offer of Mediation; President's Acceptance

Special to The Toronto World

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The text of the offer for mediation in Mexico made by Brazil, Argentina and Chile was as follows: Mr. Secretary of State: With the purpose of subserving the interests of peace and civilization in our continent, and with the earnest desire to prevent any further bloodshed to the prejudice of the cordiality and union which have always surrounded the relations of the governments and the peoples of America, we the plenipotentiaries of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, duly authorized hereto, have the honor to tender to your excellency's government our good offices for the peaceful and friendly settlement of the conflict between the United States and Mexico.

This offer puts in due form the suggestions which we have had occasion to offer heretofore on this subject to the secretary, to whom we renew the assurances of our highest and most distinguished consideration.

D. DA GAMÁ R.-S. NAON EDUARDO SUAREZ MUJICA The reply of the president accepting the offer made thru the secretary of state to each diplomat was as follows: The Government of the United States is deeply confident of the friendliness, the good feeling, and the generous concern for the peace and welfare of America manifested in the joint note of your government to effect if possible a settlement of the present difficulty between the Government of the United States and those who now claim to represent our sister republic of Mexico.

Conscious of the purpose with which the proffer is made, this government does not feel at liberty to decline it. Its chief interest is in the peace of America, the cordial intercourse of her republics and our people, and the happiness and prosperity which can spring only out of frank, mutual understanding and the friendship which is created by common purpose. The generous offer of your governments is therefore accepted. This government hopes most earnestly that you may find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of satisfactory, and therefore permanent, settlement. If you should find them willing, this government will be glad to take up with you for discussion in the frankest and most conciliatory spirit any proposals that may be authoritatively formulated, and will hope that they may prove feasible and prophetic of a new day of mutual co-operation and confidence in America. This government feels bound, in candor, to say that its diplomatic relations with Mexico being for the present severed, it is not possible for it to make sure of an uninterrupted opportunity to carry out the plan of intermediation which you propose. It is, of course, possible that some act of aggression on the part of those who control the military forces of Mexico might oblige the United States to act to the upsetting of the hopes of immediate peace, but this does not justify us in hesitating to accept your generous suggestion. We shall hope for the best results within a time brief enough to relieve our anxiety lest ill-considered hostile demonstrations should interrupt negotiations and disappoint our hopes of peace.

Be Careful Just Now of the Perennials.

Before continuing with our straightening up of the perennials, let me remind you that later we shall, as last year, deal with certain important plants in detail.

If, as advised, you went over your perennials last fall, dividing and resetting them after late blooming, these should not need to be retouched this spring.

Do not disturb your fall-planted lilies. These bulbs are preparing bloom within themselves, and must be left alone. I won't deny that some experienced gardeners have transplanted or moved about the tenderest of plants, and do all sorts of unheard of and quite unorthodox things with their roots and not hinder bloom.

Be careful not to run against your grapevines or break any of the branches or "bleeding" will take place. Myself, when such an accident has taken place, have never yet learned how to stop that unfortunate loss of clear sap that drips and drips and drips for so many days.

Don't forget to keep your fern roots fairly well covered with leaves. I don't know the least sign of ordinary manure mulching must ever go near them.

Don't commence to prune your vines until you see what is going on. And watch the wisterias for the most wonderful long clumps before there is a sign of leaves. If the leaves appear first don't expect bloom this year.

Don't attempt to transplant your sweet peas. These do not transplant well. Have you ever noticed the root? Reason for not transplanting. The hundreds of fresh young leaves that are coming up from your campanula pyramidalis plants be transplanted before bloom takes place along in July or August.

If you are a new-comer and there seems to be a new-comer in your garden, treasure you do not know about—just leave things alone for a week and see what happens.

And remember, it is still early. Don't be too hasty. One thing you can do in safety now, that is, clear away every single "sucker" from around the roots of your lilacs. No pruning mind you. Never prune shrubs in spring.

THE NURSERY CONDUCTED BY Elvira Murray

Typoid Fever.

Typoid fever is rare in infants and not common among young children. In older children the disease follows the same course and is marked by the same symptoms as the adult type.

The poison may be in the system several weeks before there is any sign of the regular symptoms. It is often quite difficult to recognize the disease.

It may begin with general weariness, headache, and gradual rise in temperature; or it may come suddenly with vomiting, fever and prostration. There is generally diarrhea, but in other cases there is constipation. The abdomen is often distended, and a few spots generally make their appearance about the tenth day of illness.

The eruption is peculiar to this fever. It consists of small, rose-colored spots which come in crops and disappear in about three days, to be followed by a new crop. There is a relapse of the fever the spots return to.

In the adult type, the temperature goes higher every day for a week, remains fairly steady during the second and third days, and then gradually lowers during the third and fourth days. The temperature may jump suddenly to 103 or 104 degrees and in severe cases higher than that. There is delirium, headache or stupor, but the dreaded hemorrhages and perforations are quite rare in children. No matter how quiet the patient, keep the child absolutely quiet in bed and give no solid food of any description.

The fever is one in which inflammation of the bowels is always present, and any irritation to them in the way of solid food or fruit may cause serious trouble—even death. The diet consists of milk every three hours and plenty of water. The fever should be controlled by sponge baths and ice on the head. Bed clothing and the patient's clothing should be disinfected and then boiled for two hours separate from the clothing of the rest of the family.

The urine and faeces should be disinfected in a solution of bichloride of mercury (1-1000) before being thrown down the drain.

The nurse should disinfect her hands frequently.

True Solomon's Seal

Polygonatum Biflorum. Concealed from friends who might disturb it quiet, with no ill intent.

While the season is yet the least bit early for a beginner to be successful in his search for the Solomon's Seal, yet, to the one who knows its hidden haunts, an early search is most desirable. No one can go grubbing among the early wild flowers, without discovering plenty of fascinating and mysterious things.

And the search is sure to reveal more than this peculiar plant. Students of botany are ever being delighted with the strange things that mother earth hides in her secret places. And, indeed, it needs but a few brief intimations of its nature to find one of the most wonderfully ornamented of the wild things of the world.

We continue our daily study we cannot but notice how every plant is marked in some peculiar manner, so that its recognition is easy. As we have already seen, there may be more than one characteristic point.

The true, or hairy, or twin-flowered Solomon's Seal, with all children the temperature may jump suddenly to 103 or 104 degrees and in severe cases higher than that.

These "seals" are simply scars remaining on the old root, after each year's curving stem has flowered, fruited and withered, so that one may estimate the plant's age by counting the number of seals on the root. Next year's stem comes from a new part of the root, and small plants are set out from the end of the old root.

Now, one may recognize the stem, six or more inches high, by the pointed oval leaves, alternate, seated on the curving stem, very pale underneath, and softly haired along the veins.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL

Cementing the Home

THE newest house is the cement house, devised and perfected by our very best friend, Mr. Thomas Edison. These "poured" houses are wonderful in their simplicity and durability; their cheapness assures their popularity for all time to come.

The ideal kitchen of today has a cement floor. In the centre is a drain pipe and when cleaning time comes it does not mean blistering one's knees while wielding a scrub brush. There is no scrubbing to be done here; a hose is attached to the water faucet and the floor thoroughly flushed with gallons and gallons of water that immediately drains down the pipe.

Cement walks are another thing that should be provided for household cleanliness. Unless you have lived in a suburb where houses are built on first and second streets and walks laid out afterward, you have never been sufficiently thankful for the nice, clean, paved path that passes your house and sends a neat little branch around to your kitchen door.

The quantity of sand and street dirt that adheres to shoes and boots, and is carried on them into the house, is amazing. No wonder country and interurban housekeepers insist on closing the front entrance and using back or side doors. A cement walk leading to the porch is most important, for it jars the dust from the shoes that otherwise would carry it direct into the house.

A cemented cellar is so cool in summer, so warm in winter, and so easily kept in spotless order that one never doubts its usefulness. A cemented porch is just as necessary. Always cool in the hottest weather, they are, when screened, the most comfortable resting place about the house. A porch of this sort is quickly cleaned and kept clean without trouble and it does not need repairing frequently, as wooden ones do.

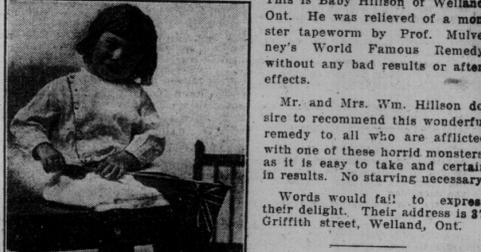

You may have your porch built, but even so, it is not too late to improve it by having a cement floor laid in it and steps of the same lasting material put down.

The expense of this is not great, for any handy man can mix and use cement satisfactorily at the first trial.

"Love Curls," Season's Fad, Losing Favor

By MAGGIE TEYTE

The Noted Prima Donna

MY DEAR, do you like the side-whiskers?"

I heard with some amusement one of the young women ask the question of another as they prom- enaded the famous Peacock Alley of the Waldorf-As- toria in New York city.

"I'm not so awfully keen about them," replied the other in the most matter of fact tone. "Still, they suit some faces. They are not good on me. And where they are not good they are frightful. Besides every one will wear them and that will be the end of them."

It didn't take long to find the little "love curls" of the spring mode of hair-dressing were the "side-whiskers" alluded to.

It didn't take much longer to find the truth of the other two assertions. Some- times they are becoming. More often they are not. Any way they are deplor- able overdone. A tiny curl may allure. A plastered quiff that covers the major portion of the cheek from ear almost to mouth disfigures.

Many Hair Innovations

The style of hair dressing has changed distinctly. There have been many hair innovations besides the colored wigs. Some are charming, but there is no one way in which all women can wear their hair and have it universally becoming. The wise woman experiments well be- fore she decides and when she has found the right way to "do" her hair, she re- mains faithful to its main features, for the most ideal beauty be-crowned with the hideous confiture and her beauty would "vanish like the road."

To begin with, the side curl was never worth half the trouble it is to arrange. It must be cut just the right length, and the smallest fraction of an inch will make a conspicuous difference with its charm.

Then it must be curled at the most exact angle, one which is at once coy and coquettish, interesting and im- pertinent, and securely transfixed with bandoline or some other sunny prepara- tion.

Modes Require Study

The wise woman who has decided to follow fashion's mandate and disclose her ears and elevate her collar, will lie herself to the best of hairdressers and learn the art of making the most becoming twist.

She will have all she can do to beautify properly her ears for exhibition, for the ear is a prominent as well as use- ful feature.

It must be the right size, the right shape, the right material, the right color to be the lovely, attractive adjuvant.

As for the new hair modes, they re- quire study. The arrangement of the hair should, first of all, conform to one's individual style. The arrangement of the hair should be studied from all angles. The arrangement which is be- coming in front may be quite unbecom- ing from the side and impossible from the back view.

There is a revival of the French twist—but it is not the old twist we used to know. It is more suggestive than pos- sible, it rolls easily in soft ripples and tucks the tresses away with no distinct manner of disappearance.

IF THEY SHOULD MEET

JUST suppose they should—just suppose that Miss 1914, very sure of her- self, very confident of the final beauty of HER clothes, should come face to face with Miss 1860 and Miss 1870, for instance. Wouldn't it be awkward? All awfully nice girls, you understand, and not wishing to hurt any one's feelings. Yet each would know that the others were so FUNNY! It would be a big strain on their self-control—not to giggle, or to say a word about wondering how they ever STOOD it. And all three would have another consuming wonder as to each of the others—how they ever contrived comfortably to SIT DOWN!

Yet each (and this is the perennial miracle) knows that the supreme comfort is in being FASHIONABLE. Each knows that somehow, though in so many different ways, she is always charming as she IS.

What Is "Funny" About a Broken Heart?

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

The little white coffin was covered with the carriage with the child's mother in it drove away the little dead boy's faithful dog looked through the bars of the garden gate and whined and cried almost like a human being.

I do hope my friend who wrote those headlines was there when that carriage drove away. He would have seen something exquisitely humorous about it, I'm sure—and treated us all to his point of view in the paper the next morning.

Think of it, a child dead, a jolly little fellow whom I saw playing in his mother's garden only two or three days ago—a cowboy he was with two pistols and a "lawyer"—that's the way he pronounced it. And the dog was a wolf part of the time, and sometimes he was a bear, and sometimes a lion, fierce and furious.

And the syringa bush was a lair. The little boy camped behind it some frown.

Humor in Broken Hearts!

The little boy's mother came to the window often to watch him play, and her sad little face lit up with wonderful radiance whenever she looked at him. She's a widow, they say, the mother of the little boy who died, and she loved her husband very dearly and was heart-broken when he died.

What a lot of fun the humorous headline writer could have about that widow had cut into the stone at the head of the low grave where the man she loved lies sleeping. And just think of the fun he could make of the way things looked to her in the little garden when she came home from the funeral.

I'll warrant she couldn't even look at the syringa bush without tears, what a howling farce.

And the little stubby shoes, and the faded little cowboy suit he was so proud of—just a few short days ago—the little, little boy—why, there's a whole column of wit in that.

I do love a man with a sense of humor—don't you? He brightens up the world so, for us all—even when he yanks the chair out from under you and cripples you for life or puts salt in the coffee, or Arrangements Spoiled.

"Young Steelton does not seem to be in such a hurry for a divorce as he was a week or so ago."
"No. His fiancée has flitted him."

Average Was Low.
"Has she been married long?"
"Well, one of them lasted nearly two years, but the average, I think, has been six months."

Her Only Chance.
"I understand that Miss Antique is engaged."
"Hypnotism?"

Not Practical.
"Is he such an impractical man?"
"The worst ever. He stood in front of a mirror to shoot himself, took careful aim at his reflection and shattered the mirror."

Playing Safety.
"I wonder why he never married."
"Oh, his system does not allow him to propose to any but married women."

Making Progress.
"He—Are you beginning to care for me a little?"
"She—believe I am, I do, really. I can almost listen to your proposals now without laughing."

Tiresome.
"Wiffl—Did you read that magazine article about modern slavery?"
"Fiffl—No. I am tired to death of the discussion of the divorce problem."

He Wanted to Win.
"He proposed to her the first time they met."
"Yes, he didn't want her to learn too much about him."

I SAW such a funny headline in pretends to be deaf and dumb, or does any of the rest of those charming "Afraid I'd carve her. Mrs. — But, somehow, when I had finished reading all those funny headlines about the divorces, I went to the paper which printed the funny man's subscription to somebody something declares her husband used to threaten to cut her to pieces with the butcher knife, if she didn't have dinner ready on time. She split, isn't it? I laughed so hard it made me almost dizzy.

There were several other head- lines of the same character in the same newspaper—every one of them humorous or supposed to be—and all of them about divorces.

The man who wrote the headlines seemed to think a divorce was the funniest thing in the world.

There was a funeral down the street this morning, the funeral of a little child.

No woman ever went into the divorce court in her life with anything but a bleeding heart, and I have seen men go there, too, with faces as set in agony as if they had been going to their own execution.

I sat beside a woman in court for the rights of her children and her own world if they would have to, and be happy in poverty and in illness and in discouragement—just because they were together.

One woman ever went into the divorce court in her life with anything but a bleeding heart, and I have seen men go there, too, with faces as set in agony as if they had been going to their own execution.

I sat beside a woman in court for the rights of her children and her own world if they would have to, and be happy in poverty and in illness and in discouragement—just because they were together.

Oh, yes, he gave them money, a pension such as one gives an old and worn out servant, and he branded the children as worse than fatherless and the woman as worse than widowed.

The woman did everything in her power to get the man to let her live in outward amity with him and the children. But the man had promised the girl he was in love with that he would get rid of his wife and family, and so the woman had to fight for her children and for her own self-respect.

I was at that woman's wedding and helped to dress her for the cere- mony. How happy she was, how gay, how light of heart!

How sorry she felt for all of us who had not yet found such a prince among men for ours, to have and to hold, as long as we both should live.

I remember the man, too—how handsome he was and how triumphant and how proud; he walked as one who treads on air.

"For better or for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health until death do us part."

How the old, old words rang through the room and thrilled us all.

And the other day I sat beside the bride—poor bride. Her wedding roses are faded in her cheek and no one in the world could say her eyes are like violets now. They have shed too many bitter, bitter tears.

And she and the man who promised to love and cherish each other until death did them part sat and looked into each other's eyes across the crowded room—enemies, bitter enemies, before the law.

The woman clutched my hand and held it close when her husband went on the stand to testify against her; and afterward she said to me, "I didn't cry or break down, did I?" And I answered her, "No, you dear, you were very brave." But, oh, her heart, how bitterly it must have wept.

I suppose my friend, the humorist of the headline, would have seen something deliciously amusing about the whole situation.

For my part, if I had a newspaper and any man wrote what he consid- ered funny headlines about a divorce, I would discharge him then and there. Men with that sort of sense of humor are dangerous. You never can tell what will seem funny to them.

Secrets of Health

Grief Costs You Dearly In Vitality

By Dr. L. K. Hirschberg,

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

SORROW, like lies or fire, grows by what it feeds on. There are many good souls alive today who feel that their filial love, the respect for their dear departed, the regrets over past errors, and the remem- brance of things gone by cannot be sincere without deep, dyed-in-the-wool, heart-tormenting sorrow.

Yet sorrow really is an obnoxious and unnecessary demon that preys upon its victim. Nothing more diverts it from its sad visions of the other world than to call it at moments back to this.

The busy, selfless, efficient man with high resolve and fine purpose has no time for tears. He bears both the torments and the sorrow that, to pay grief, must of poor patience borrow.

Disappointed joys are too many. It is the vile daily drop, drop, drop that wears the soul out like marble with petty cares.

Dismiss each unfulfilled wish, each un- conquered task, each disappointed pleas- ure at once and forever. Prof. Elliot and many other young-old men, attri- bute with justice their long and healthful life to the fact that they never moped when thwarted by other- wise obstacles.

When joys are poisoned, when hope is turned into despair, obstructions put in your way, and all sorts of unexpected obstacles block your ambition, your life's desire, your loves, your yearnings, calm- ly turn away into another path and re- lease a new plan and structure.

One fire burns out another's burning; one pain is lessened by another's anguish; one desperate grief cures with another's languish. Take then some new infusion to the eye, and the rank poison of the old will die.

There is no sense, reason, justification, glory, health or beneficence in sorrow. Affliction is the old woman who lived in a shoe and had so many people she didn't know what to do. Each painful throe, each sigh of sorrow bears other- three, uglier than their brothers.

Happy feelings make healthful nat- ures. Joy should displace healthful na- tures. It is the mainpring of all for- ward movement. Without it stagnation and retrogression in strength, vitality, working power and the capacity to live follow.

The soul, secure in her existence, should smile at the drawn dagger and defy its point. The stars may fade away, all lovers' friends and dear ones, the sun himself may dim with age, and nature sink in years, yet the human spirit should flourish happily as a green bay tree.

The wrecks of matter, the crush of ar- rids, the war of the elements should give a calm, helpful mood, not the anarchistic noise of sorrow.

COLLEGE LIFE IS AN APPRENTICESHIP

University Education Intended to Better Fit Students for Life's Battle.

SERMON AT VICTORIA

"What Can You Do?" is Demand of Practical World, Says Prof. Bowles.

"Every high-spirited young man or woman of serious thought must realize that they are merely in the preparatory, and, indeed, the probationary period of their career." President Bowles told Victoria College students in the course of the baccalaureate sermon which he preached yesterday morning in Convocation Hall. At the conclusion he tendered a farewell to the members of the class of '14 who graduate this year. The whole service was calculated to bring before the minds of the students a realization of the value of the college training which they had undergone, and to force upon their minds the conviction that after all it was only a preparation intended to better fit them for a more serious and strenuous business of life. The obligations under which they were placed by the advantages which they had received, and what their Alma Mater demanded of them, were voiced by President Bowles.

"The call is that of a marshal," said President Bowles, referring to the student to enter upon a university career. "The student must be fitted himself by means of knowledge, by self-discipline, and by practice. This preparation was perhaps more evident when apprenticeship was the avenue by which all trades were approached. This phase of apprenticeship is now most marked in the life of the student." College life did not put a damper upon the flame of enthusiasm, but it was perhaps better to be a little timorous than too self-confident. A college education was never finished, and the idea that after graduation it was a thing of the past, and there was more to be learned, was referred to as the height of folly. The college was an institution which had its roots in far-distant days, lands and civilizations. It demanded its students to dig up the philosophies and literatures of the past. As a factor in making men and women it was a permanent force. However, academic titles were not worth what they cost as a mechanical end. The demand made by the practical world was "What can you do?" This ability was to be found in personality, discrimination, intelligence and moral, was what was demanded, and steadfastness of purpose were the qualities which were to be obtained as a result of the training received in college halls. "Almost the best thing I can say about a man is that he put himself thru college," said the speaker. "It is no disgrace to fall thru handicaps, but it is a disgrace to squander time and this is one of the worst preparations for after life." The quality of perseverance and the ability to do the unpleasant, were other things which were learned other than academic lore, in college life.

ARGENTINE CORN INJURED BY RAIN

Prospect of Restriction in Shipments Gave Market Strong Tone.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Sudden restriction of supplies from Argentina brought about a sharp advance in the price of Argentine corn today in the market here. Prices closed buoyant at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 net advance. Wheat and other grains were 1/4 to 1/2 decline to a rise of 1/2.

Renewal of torrential rains adversely affecting the quality of 70 per cent. of the Argentine crop and pointing to heavy shipping off in Argentine shipments during the next three weeks, seemed to put an entirely different face on the corn market. Shorts were given a decided boost. They took fright especially at word from the seaboard that high premiums were being offered for the privilege of canceling contracts which required April shipments from Argentina.

Promises of a big decrease being shown to have taken place this week in the heretofore burdensome Chicago stock and also to make the price of corn higher. Besides liberal sales were made here today to industrial consumers, and there were reports of a good cash demand at Kansas City. Lively profit-taking which was indulged in by commission houses long had no effect in the way of leading to any important downturn in the market.

Other Grains Strong.
Wheat rose with corn and as a result of business at Liverpool, due largely to arrivals being scanty at Russian ports. Bidders were accordingly alert for signs of a demand for exports from this side of the Atlantic. The Mexican situation and the continued lightness of the May option checked the bears, despite the fact that domestic outlook for crops.

Oats sympathized with the rally in other grains. Buying of an investment character was noticeable in the deferred futures.

Most of the rise in provisions was laid to the influence of war contracts. It was evident, however, that the changed aspect of the corn market was not without some effect.

NEW YORK STOCKS WERE FAIRLY STEADY

While Trend Was Downward, Losses in General Were Small.

PRESSURE RELIEVED

Foreign Selling Slackened, Altho Outlook in Mexico Remained Clouded.

NEW YORK, April 25.—There was a further unsetting of the stock market today. The movement was irregular and at times confused. The general movement was extended, net losses were considerably smaller than on the preceding day.

The irregularity of the movement was accounted for by the play of conflicting forces on the market. The two main factors in the week's decline were the Mexican crisis and the reported assassination of the president of Mexico.

Some idea of what the week's decline has done to the market may be had by comparison of the prices today with the close of the week. Canadian Pacific and Canadian National were the only stocks that advanced.

PETERSON LAKE

Mining Editor, World: It takes a good deal to stir me up enough to write anything. The article on Peterson Lake under the headline "An eventful day" of the 23rd inst., sure did it today.

We will commence by accepting the statement of the expenditure of $10,000 per month in developments, etc., by this company.

The monthly expenditure commenced about last Aug. 1, and would therefore amount to $90,000. The statement says that of Seneca Superior ore $600,000. I am advised that this item is put down at $100,000.

Now opening up a vein of this kind for over 100 feet, and the value of the removal of at least 100 tons of ore, valued at $180 per ton, that would be $18,000. This item is put down at $100,000.

Being approximately 50 cents per share in sight. In view of the above figures, the value of 30 cents per share seems ridiculously low.

There are two syndicates that I know of after the controlling interest. One of them I know positively is willing to pay 65 cents per share, and the other I am credibly informed is willing to pay the same price.

The time for the company's annual statement is close at hand. We are now know the financial standing of the company.

The management of the P. L. Company gave out over three weeks ago that it had twenty-three tons of high-grade ore ready for shipment. Where is it?

WAR WITH MEXICO WOULD BE COSTLY

U. S. Would Find Task Much More Difficult Than Fighting Spain.

Henry Clegg, discussing the Mexican situation, says: "It may result, but there is still hope that it may be averted. The effect of such a calamity upon domestic business should not be particularly serious. Temporarily it will act as a stimulus to certain industries. Its effect in local financial circles has already been largely discounted. Ultimately, it means the opening of a vast and rich territory, and idleness will be apt to affect investments in Mexican railroads, mines, oil wells, and so on. It is probable that the United States will form any positive convictions regarding the immediate future value of these properties."

We cannot re-tell the story here, but the custodian will hand you a carefully prepared leaflet upon request. The picture carries an artistic message of its own.
