KING JAZZ RULES IN ARCTIC CIRCLE

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—(By Canadian Press)—King Jazz has perhaps shimmied his way within the Arctic circle. The authority for this statement is a report by Staff Sergeant H. G. Clay of the R.C.M.P., which has recently been received by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, at headquarters here.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 2

Lower Prices and Flush Times Looked for in the United States.

When times are good in the United States they cannot be bad in Canada. When times are good in the United States capital comes to this country and if we have any surplus labor here it finds employment across the border. By the same token hard times in the United States are bound to be felt in Canada. The panic of '72 lasted for about five years, and those five years, 1873-78, were pretty tough years for this country. The panic of '93, which lasted for about four years (1893-97), was paralleled by financial depression in Canada. We are therefore much interested in learning what the outlook for the coming winter may be, and a reassuring forecast is furnished by Hon. Franklin K. Lane, a Prince Edward Island boy who became U. S. secretary of the interior, based upon a far-flung survey of financial and industrial conditions in the United States made by the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Baltimore.

We have not unbounded faith in these "surveys" consisting mainly of questionnaires mailed broadcast throughout the country, but the reports received by the Fidelity & Deposit Company are fairly unanimous, and they are supported in the main by reports received by the Federal Reserve Board from the various zones into which the country is divided. Briefly summarized Mr. Lane's conclusions from the data before him are:

1. The United States is on a sound economic basis, having an abundance of raw material, plenty of labor and unlimited capital.
2. Wages have increased from ten to fifty per cent. during the past year, but the productivity per man shown no increase whatever. There has been a shifting of labor from industry to industry, but as yet there is little or no unemployment.
3. Banks are pretty well loaned up and money is tight, but lower interest rates are expected as a result of the liquidation bound to accompany a fall in prices.
4. The consumer is waiting until prices come down definitely before he buys, but he has the money in the savings bank to buy generously. The cut in prices will come and make business plentiful, even the some concerns are caught short with high-priced goods on their shelves. The factories, in order to manufacture at lower prices, will have to run at full blast.
5. The crops are of unparalleled magnitude, and the drop in prices has caused no panic among the farmers who are more prosperous than they have ever been in the history of the country.
6. On the other hand the factories have many orders canceled, everybody is buying as little as possible, and the banks are restricting credits and calling in loans. An attempt to keep up prices to the present level would result in stagnation and possibly panic, but the expectation is that a general cut in prices will create an enormous demand for goods.

Two troubles, in the opinion of Mr. Lane, afflict our neighbors. One is the coal scarcity and the other is the scarcity of houses. The coal scarcity has made for high-priced steel. The price of steel is coming down. If so, the decline would react in favor of the entire automobile industry. The demand is there and the money to buy, but it is for the moment a waiting market in nearly every industry.

The Judges and Prohibition.

The independence of federal judges in the United States appears to be menaced by the National Anti-Saloon League, which has issued a public warning of coming impeachment to all federal judges who fail to enforce prohibition. No charge of corruption is made, but it is claimed that certain judges have let offenders off with minimum fines and have shown no great zeal for their work. So powerful are the prohibitionists at present in congress that something of the kind may be attempted, and we will at least see a determined campaign in the near future for the appointment of bone dry judges. Indeed, the presidential campaign is largely turning in many states upon the argument that the United States supreme court must be kept dry. It is said that Governor Cox, the Democratic candidate, is molst, and that as president he would appoint enough moist judges to reverse the five to four ruling of the supreme court that congress has exclusive jurisdiction in the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

Some of the states claim that the power to enforce the amendment was conferred to congress and the state legislatures jointly, and some legislatures defined "intoxicating liquor" more broadly than the Volstead act, and would have legalized light beer. The supreme court ruling already referred to declared in effect that the definition of congress was binding upon the entire nation, and could not be modified by state legislation.

One unexpected result of this ruling was to abolish state and municipal authorities from the enforcement of the law. At least these authorities have taken that position, and bootleggers and other offenders have to be taken for trial before a federal judge who may live hundreds of miles away. The federal judges do not relish being set to work trying something like police court cases. Their number is limited and they are the only officials in the United States appointed for life, and up to this time have occupied an aristocratic position. Until a year ago there was scarcely a lawyer in the United States who would not sacrifice a big practice for the honor of becoming a federal judge.

It is a strange chance that has suddenly put these judges more or less at the mercy of the politicians, and it would not be surprising to next hear a demand that they should be elected by the people for short terms instead of being appointed for life by the president. On the other hand, the prohibitionists may next turn their attention to the state judges and prosecutors and compel them to resign. They will still be confronted by the inertia of the municipal police in all the large centres who do not concern themselves at all with enforcing the prohibition amendment to the national constitution.

The Liberal Leader in the West.

Hon. Mackenzie King has been speaking in British Columbia, and he held a number of meetings in the prairie provinces now that the harvest is fairly reaped. It is said that Premier Stewart of Alberta will be on his platform at Edmonton, that Premier Martin will put in a similar appearance at Regina, and that Premier Norris may appear in Winnipeg. However that may be, none of the three premiers can afford to antagonize the Farmers' party, and it is in the highest degree unlikely that Mr. King will secure a single seat in either Saskatchewan or Alberta. The government may not do much better in these two provinces, but that will not greatly benefit Mr. King. He and his followers are being whiplashed by the Farmers' party in a most alarming way. At the various by-elections, east and west, they have to choose between supporting the candidate of the Farmers' party or throwing their influence in favor of the government.

Since Mr. King's accession to leadership, the Liberals have carried not a single contested by-election. Last year the Farmers made a clean sweep at the by-elections, and so far this year the honors have gone to the government. The Liberals in many constituencies are frankly puzzled as to whether they had better make more powerful the Farmers' party, that threatens them with absorption, or the government party that threatens them with extinction. Outside the province of Quebec, it is difficult to see how the Liberals can carry twenty constituencies at the next election, and it is even more difficult to see how Mr. King is to secure a seat in the house. The prospect in North York is certainly not alluring.

The prime minister is apparently coming every day more clearly to understand that his serious opponent at the next election is the Farmers' party, and that the Liberal party, outside of Quebec, will run third in the race. We are not overlooking the fact that Quebec may return to Ottawa an almost solid delegation against the government. But it is to be imagined that this Quebec group of 50 or 55 members will subordinate itself to the fifteen or twenty Liberals who may be elected from the English-speaking provinces as followers of Mr. King. If the Quebec group has the balance of power in the next house, it will probably do its own bargaining, and that bargaining may be with the government, or it may be with the Farmers' party.

Nor is there anything to show that Mr. King is making any impression upon the country at large. He is trying to straddle the tariff issue; he is timid and uncertain in his attitude towards the Farmers, and he repeats with raven-like monotony that Mr. Meighen is a usurper, and that parliament does not represent the people. He hazards no guess as to how a general election can advance his fortunes, and there is much force in The Montreal Gazette's summing up of the situation, which says:

If the general parliamentary election which Mr. King desires should go as have gone the by-elections held since Mr. King was made head of his party, political Liberalism, as he represents it, would be brought near to its destruction. And really nothing that he has said suggests any reason why the result should be otherwise.

Remarked in Passing.

The person in the street commissioner's office who is responsible for the tearing up of the north side of the Queen street roadway immediately opposite the spot where the south side of the roadway is blocked by the work of rounding the Bay street corner should have been asked to stand there a little while last night as blockade after blockade occurred. He would soon have had a pretty clear idea of what motorists, street car men and passengers at large pass on whether or thought of his foreigner.

Strange that it has not yet occurred to the Telegram to suggest the name of Mayor Church for the office of Canadian representative at Washington.

Watch the enemies to public ownership smile with glee when they mention Chairman Ellis and his suggested expenditure of $100,000,000 on Toronto's transportation.

When Chairman Ellis talks about expending fifty million dollars on street railway system improvements, R. J. Fleming wonders if that includes straps for everybody.

The American Legion has demanded that the Japanese be barred out of the United States. If that's the lot that went across to France, it must be that they didn't get enough of war over there and want to round out their experiences on home soil.

New Yorkers spent yesterday in the grand struggle that has come to be known as moving day. But several hundred families moved from their flats to find the ones to which they were occupied by former tenants, who refused to move—sort of a big "Puss-in-the-corner" game.

Premier Drury predicts Toronto will some day be an ocean port. The premier may have come from the country, but he has glimpsed the vision. Hydro and deeper St. Lawrence canal can bring his prediction to pass and he can do much to help them.

The special committee appointed recently to investigate the question of a municipal milk delivery made two attempts to meet recently, but each time failed to get a quorum. This was seemingly a burning question up to the point where action was called for instead of more viewing with alarm.

OTHER PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

The World will gladly print under this heading any opinion expressed by its readers, dealing with current topics. As space is limited they must not be longer than one column, and must be written on one side of the paper only.

ON HIGH RENTS.
 Editor World: You have lent space in your valuable paper to help reduce the price of food in the restaurants in Toronto. And as you are ready at all times to champion the cause of the under dog, please help the unfortunate people of our fair city who are at the mercy of the unscrupulous, grasping landlords. Turn the light of publicity on the methods by which they are fattening their pocketbooks on a class of people who are hard enough pressed at the present time. I know of one case in Toronto of a woman who has had her rent raised from $35 per month to $70. This is only one case of many, and I believe you could do a great deal to relieve the actual suffering caused by the Shylock tactics of most of the Toronto landlords. Go after them and expose a few to their fellow-citizens. There is no reason in the world why the city should not have a fair rent court to decide the maximum amount of rent which could be collected by landlords for their houses or apartments. Subscriber.

THE CHURCH STREET LIBRARY.
 Editor World: You have lent space in the public library are by no means to be congratulated on their decision to discontinue the Church street branch. And I think a very large number of the citizens will think with me. According to the published reports, the decision is arrived at because there is some falling off in the circulation. This is not a good reference for abolishing this time-honored establishment, besides the circulation must, and always do, occur in a reading room. But there are other things to be considered besides the circulation. The citizens of the district need a reading room where they may see the reviews and literature of a higher class than the average fiction which is so plentifully supplied. They also need a good reference library, and this is certainly not supplied downtown. I none the less stand there a little while last night as

DR. A. B. MACALLUM GOES TO M'GILL

Resigns Research Council Post—Allege Friction in Ottawa Work.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—(By Canadian Press).—Dr. A. B. Macallum, administrative chairman of the honorary advisory council on industrial and scientific research, whose appointment as professor of the new chair of biochemistry at McGill University was announced last evening, will carry on the duties of his office here until a successor is appointed.

Friction is Alleged. It is said the resignation of Dr. A. B. Macallum from the position of head of the Canadian Research Council, also stated "officially" to be because of his preference for university work, was really due to a great amount of overlapping and conflict in federal research efforts in the capital. The instances in the matter of experiments on briquetting substitute coal and peat. The conflict was between the mines and the geological survey departments.

Dr. Macallum has had a distinguished career as a professor of chemistry in Canada, and his work in the research council during the past four years has been highly praised in many quarters.

THE HOUSE 'ROUND THE CORNER

By GORDON HOLMES

"There's nothing to grin at," came the querulous protest. "Once upon a time I labored under the impression that England was a civilized country, but now I find it's habitable only in parts, and this isn't one of the parts, not by a jolly long way. I say, Meg, you booked to Leyburn, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"But you never walked over this moor?"

"I did."

"Well, I wish I'd known as much about Yorkshire before I started as I do now—that's all."

Again he twisted his neck and freed it from the chafing contact of a tight collar. After a curious peep at Armathwaite, he bent a pair of gray-green eyes on the turf at his feet once more.

"Percy, don't be stupid, but tell me why you've come," cried Marguerite. "There's no bad news from home, is there?"

"No—that's all right. Edie sent me."

"Why?"

"You said you'd wire or write. When no telegram came yesterday, and no letter this morning, and I've carried me about by the next train, 'Go and see what has become of her.' Was the order, and here I am. Where am I, please?"

"Near Elmdale!" he broke in. "Is it what the natives hereabouts call 'a canny bit' away?"

"No—only a little over a mile. Poor Percy!"

He had a mattress and a quilt brought here. The young man rose. He was not affecting a weariness he did not feel. Being a weedy youth, not built for feats of athleticism, the long walk in a hot sun over difficult country had taxed his physique unduly.

"How d'ye do?" he said, raising lack-lustre eyes to Armathwaite's. "I'm fit as a fiddle," said Armathwaite cheerfully, grabbing the portmanteau. "So will you be tomorrow. In fact, you'll be surprised how quick by your muscles will lose their stiffness when you sight the journey's end."

"I've been doing that every five minutes during the past two hours," was the doleful answer.

Armathwaite nodded sympathetically. Percy Whitaker struck him as a flabby creature, whose conversational style was intentionally funny. Like Falstaff, if not humorous in himself, he was "the cause of humor in others."

"Truth to tell, Armathwaite gave him slight heed. He was mainly interested in Marguerite Ogilvie's attitude, and her friends' laudatorial pose or because he had appeared at all. The girl softened, however, when she saw Percy limped. She linked an arm in his, and the trio moved off.

"How often have I told you to wear strong boots with good, stout soles!" she said. "I'm a good walker myself, but I don't tackle these moor roads in house slippers. Isn't that so, Mr. Armathwaite? One ought to be properly shod for trudging about the country."

"You don't seem to understand that I hate trudging anywhere; the last thing I dreamed of when I left Chester this morning was that I should tramp half across Yorkshire," protested Whitaker.

"Even now, I don't see why you came."

"Couldn't help myself—Edie's orders."

"Well, why?"

"If you mean that she knew I had gone away intending to wear a boy's clothes you needn't spare my feelings. Mr. Armathwaite knows all about that."

"Does he? In that case, I'm spared any explanation. You see, Edie was naturally anxious. As for me, I hardly slept a wink last night thru worrying about you. And then, a letter came for you this morning from your father. I recognized his handwriting, and it's marked 'Immediate.' Since there was no news from you, we were at a loss to decide on the best course to adopt. Now, I appeal to you, Mr. Armathwaite. Suppose—"

"I agree with you entirely," broke in Armathwaite. "I think Miss Ogilvie ought to be profoundly grateful for your self-sacrifice."

"There, Miss, do you hear that? Self-sacrifice! I think I'm literally sick in your service, and you only pitch into me. Now, I've done most of the talking, it's your turn. When are you coming home?"

"Tomorrow, perhaps."

"But, I say, Meg! There'll be a howling row with your people when they find out."

"Where is dad's letter? You've brought it, of course."

Weaver, McMullin and Risberg Say They Will Fight Case in Court.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The Cook County grand jury investigating the baseball scandal today received further information concerning the throwing of games in last year's world series, but devoted its chief attention to the investigation of alleged crooked work in the Chicago National League.

The Chicago authorities seem to have been in hand the case of the crooks who were willing to do anything for money.

ARGOS V. MONTREAL IN FIRST CONTEST

Rugby Season Officially Opened Today—Where the Teams Play.

The rugby games today are as follows: Montreal at Argos—Varsity Stadium, 2.30 p.m. Hamilton at Ottawa, Ontario Union, Intermediate—Arlingtons at Argos—Varsity Stadium, 1 p.m. Dons at Excalibors, City League, Ossington at St. Michaels, Junior—College at Ossington, Sherburne at Beulah, Juvenile—Parkdale at Belmonts, St. Georges at Kenwood, and Tom Falcons at St. Michaels.

The rugby lid will be pried off today with Argonauts playing Montreal in a Big Four fixture at Varsity Stadium.

Yesterday's rain put a damper on the High School league opening. Only one game was staged, when Parkdale defeated North Toronto, 27 to 6.

A Hamilton despatch says: Word was received Friday from the A.A.U. of C. that Hunter Finlayson had been reinstated, and he will make the trip to Ottawa with the Tigers.

The Montreal team against Argos today will be: Left half, Barwick; right half, Thompson; centre half, Seath; flying wings, Herscovitch, Murray; quarter back, Sharpe and Corbett; outside wings, Finlayson and Pettigrew; middle wings, Klein and Taylor; inside forwards, Brown, Hinchey; Roberts, scrumhalf, Sparr, Gardner, Abbot, Glickman, Parsons, Carter, C. O'Brien, Foster, Lovell, Jacques, Hugh Jacques will not play in Saturday afternoon's game, but it is expected that he will begin steady practice on Monday in preparation for the return game against Argos at Montreal, a week from today.

The Toronto Welsh rugby team to play the Irish at 4 at Trinity will be picked from the following: Williams, Scott, Phillips, Davis, Turner, James, Avison, Tucker, Thomas, P. David, A. David, Outdale, Dunbar, Bright, L. Davis, Ross, Clarke.

Shamrocks play Sunlight on Saturday at Riverdale High School, kick-off 3 p.m. Players meet Gerrard and Pape, at 2.30 p.m.

Belwoods will play a practice game at Trinity College at 2.30 p.m.

Montreal sends the following: The M. A. A. football squad had their final game on Saturday night in preparation for the opening game of the Big Four against Argonauts at Toronto.

Hugh Jacques, star centre-half on last year's championship team, put on a uniform and got in some practice with the boys. The appearance of Jacques has raised the hopes of the executive that he will play again this year, as his presence on the team would be a welcome one.

Frank McGill is another of last year's players who may come around to the assistance of Bill Hughes next week. There is no question but that his sterling performance at quarter-back position during the entire season was largely responsible for the successful showing of the team last year, and, with the keynote position still an uncertain one, it is probable that he will help to keep the Big Four Trophy in the Red street clubhouse for another year.

City playgrounds start their rugby football on Saturday afternoon with East Toronto and Elisabeth playing in the 15 lbs. league at 2 p.m. on Riverdale No. 5, and Moss Park and Norway playing at 2.30 p.m. on the same field in the Junior League. Referee, E. R. Buscombe; umpire, E. C. Nurse.

Lanky Rowell is back at U.T.S. and will be available for rugby and hockey.

With the opening of the Montreal rugby season scheduled for Saturday afternoon, the Old Boys will play their annual match with the regulars who will represent McGill University in the race for the intercollegiate rugby championship. The Old Boys will comprise players who played on the championship teams of McGill, Dalhousie, and the University of Toronto.

HONEST PLAYERS TO GET JUST REWARD

White Sox Loyalists Will Get Good Money This Season.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Players who remained loyal to Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox, last year, may receive their reward this year, according to statistics compiled tonight. Attention was called to the comparative small number of eligible players remaining on the White Sox Club.

The problem, a mathematical one, has several possibilities. If the White Sox win the pennant, even the defeated in the world series, the losers' share divided among the loyal White Sox players would be almost as great as that of their opponents.

The rule giving second and third place clubs in the league a share in the season pool, makes it possible for the Chicago Club, if it finishes in second place and divides the money, for each player to receive almost as much as the individuals on the losing club in the baseball classic.

Another possible division would arise in the event that the White Sox tie the New York Yankees for second place by losing all three games to St. Louis, thereby gaining one-half of the total second and third place money.

Creighton play Todmorden Rangers in the second round of the Victory Cup at the Todmorden athletic field on Saturday. The Creighton team will be captained by the late Tom Watson to be one of the best right wingers in Junior or juvenile soccer, back in town from the States, and will try to persuade him to play. It is understood that one of Todmorden's prominent citizens will kick off at 3 p.m. The players will turn out and retrieve the defeat by the Rangers: Penstone, Jones, MacGregor, Coates, Cook, Addy, Brown, Jackson, Mitchell, Berry, Simpson, Roslitor, and trainers G. and R. Campbell.

UPSET IN THE FEATURE RACE CIRCUIT CLOSE AT COLUMBUS

FIRST DEFEAT FOR MARGARET DILLON

John Henry Winning Pacing Feature in Three Heats at Columbus.

Columbus, Oct. 1.—Margaret Dillon, winner of eleven straight races, and one of the very few unbeaten performers of the year, tasted her first defeat this afternoon in the 2:10 Archity pace, purse $3000, when, after a great first heat on a slick track, she succumbed to the on-rushes of John Henry, and lost the race.

Margaret paced the first half in 1:00 1/2, and came home in 2:04, chased out by the Murphy entries, Ethel Chimes and John Henry. They were after her in turn the other two miles, and beat her. Ethel took the chase to the half, and John did the work in the stretch drive.

The free-for-all pace found Single G. J. and Sanardo. The softer footing was just to the veteran pacer's liking, and he won one of the few races he has ever captured over the Columbus track.

Miss Perfection won the 2:11 trot, dropping the final heat to Mary Coburn, 12-year-old and up, two miles and a quarter. The 2:13 trot, Miriam Guy went in, close to the middle heat going to Alleen Dillon. The weather was exceedingly cold, and the crowd dwindled to 2000 on get-away day.

O.J.C. CUP, GREY STAKES AND HENDRIE MEMORIAL STEEPLECHASE ON TODAY'S CARD

BUGLE MARCH BEAT KELTIE, WOODBINE FOR DURHAM CUP, FEATURE OF SIXTH DAY

Three Favorites, Three Second Choices and Sea Sun, Long Shot in Steeplechase, Prove Winners at O. J. C.

There was real good sport in the rain at Woodbine Park yesterday when three favorites, three second choices and a long shot furnished the thrills over a stumpy track for a fine crowd that seemed only to shrink slightly in the club-house enclosure. Four flat races were over a distance of ground, the feature 1 1/2 miles, and there was also the two miles steeplechase that resulted in a splendid competition.

Iron Boy was much the best in the opener, the verdict was only by a head over Elmont, both coming from behind, and the winner going none too straight. Onico, the favorite and the pacemaker, finished third with no excuses.

John's Umma started in the field as favorite, and landed money for any who backed Dora W. Blarney Boy, Westerman and Annie's Sister, all three ways in the second race. The winner opened up an early lead that was just enough to score over Billy Lane and Undine, second and third, and in a bunch in the steeplechase, leaving the two miles, and just beat Keltie, who had been only second on the flat. Stucco, the favorite, third all alone. The favorite and the pacemaker, finished third with no excuses.

Sea Sun opened up a long gap in the steeplechase, leaving the two miles, and just beat Keltie, who had been only second on the flat. Stucco, the favorite, third all alone. The favorite and the pacemaker, finished third with no excuses.

RUBE WADDELL GOT FIRST BRIBE MONEY

Camblers Active Fifteen Years Ago in World Series Games.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Horace S. Fogel, former president of the Philadelphia National League Baseball Club, is quoted in a story published today by the Inquirer, as declaring that two attempts were made to "fix" players here in recent years, and that the evidence is in the archives of the major league officials and club owners.

The first attempt, according to Fogel's story, was made in 1905, when a trio of New York gamblers, headed by "Litz," "Tim Sullivan" and "Rube" Waddell, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, and offered him $75,000 if he would not pitch in the world series against the New York Giants, who won the series chiefly thru the mastery work of Christopher Mathewson.

Waddell, now dead, did not appear in any of the games the reason being that he had hurt his pitching arm by a fall from a horse.

The second attempt, according to Fogel's story, was made in 1906, when a trio of New York gamblers, headed by "Litz," "Tim Sullivan" and "Rube" Waddell, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, and offered him $75,000 if he would not pitch in the world series against the New York Giants, who won the series chiefly thru the mastery work of Christopher Mathewson.

BERMUDA CHEERS PRINCE OF WALES

Is Given an Enthusiastic Welcome at Capital of the Colony.

Hamilton Bermuda, Oct. 1.—The Prince of Wales, homeward bound from Australia on the British battle cruiser Renown, arrived here today from Antigua for a three days' visit. He was given an enthusiastic welcome during his stay, the prince will take part in the concluding ceremonies of Bermuda's tercentenary, which is linked with the Jamestown, Va., tercentenary and those of the sailing of the pilgrims to America.

Virtually every one of Bermuda's 20,000 inhabitants was astir early today for the festive day of the prince's visit. Early this morning the Renown, bearing the prince and his party, arrived off the northern end of the island, accompanied by the cruiser Calcutta.

Immediately the Renown was boarded by Bermuda's governor, Sir James Willocks, and Rear Admiral Allan F. Everett, commanding the North American and West Indies station, who formally welcomed the prince to the island. The party then boarded the Calcutta, which is of suitable draft to permit her navigating the shallow channels, and proceeded to Hamilton, the colony's capital, 15 miles away. On the trip in, the royal salute was fired from the Calcutta as she passed the ancient capital of St. George's, and the prince was likewise honored with a royal salute from the batteries ashore.

Great crowds lined Front street, which borders the waterfront of Hamilton, and troops of the Royal Sussex Regiment were lined up as a guard of honor. As the prince stepped ashore at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club landing, thousands of whites and negro natives sent up a roar of cheers. Here the mayor of Hamilton, W. B. Black, made an address of welcome, and Governor Willocks presented various officials to the prince.

The party drove thru the principal streets of the city under triumphal arches to the house of assembly, where a reception was held, and Governor Willocks delivered an address, to which the prince replied. After the members of the assembly had been presented to the prince, he went to the public buildings, where, attended by a guard of honor from the Bermuda Volunteers Rifle Corps and the Bermuda Militia Artillery, he laid the foundation stone of a war memorial to Bermuda's dead in the war. The prince then drove to Government House, the residence of the governor, where he lunched with Governor and Lady Willocks.

This afternoon the governor gave a garden party at Government House in honor of the prince, and tonight the colony entertained the prince at a ball. A fireworks display and illumination of the ships in the harbor featured the evening.

The prince will spend tomorrow seeing the islands and visiting the dockyards. Sunday he will drive to St. George's, at the northern end of the island, and after a brief visit to the colony's ancient capital, will board the Renown and sail during the evening for Bermuda.

GREENWOOD WARNS AGAINST REPRISALS

Counts Upon Irish Constabulary to Maintain Strict Discipline

Dublin, Oct. 1.—Warning against reprisals, no matter what the provocation, was given the Royal Irish Constabulary today by Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, in a speech on the occasion of a distribution of medals. The chief secretary dwelt upon the provocation, which had been given the police, with 103 of their number murdered. "Your duty and mine," he said, "is to arrest criminals and endeavor to prevent further crimes. I appeal to all Irish people, men and women, whatever their creeds and politics, to unite in this endeavor.

"You are a disciplined force, and I confidently count on you to maintain that discipline, no matter what the provocation. The accounts of reprisals in certain newspapers are often misleading and frequently misrepresent cases of justifiable self-defence as reprisals, but there are cases in which unjustifiable action has undoubtedly been taken. These cases are being investigated.

"In the meantime it is necessary to repeat with emphasis that reprisals will ruin discipline. They cannot be countenanced by those in authority. The great provocation which the men suffer in seeing their comrades and friends murdered is fully recognized, and by no one more than myself, but you are urged in spite of that provocation to maintain that self-control which has characterized your forces in the past.

"I assure you that you have behind you in your great, difficult and dangerous duty the support of the government. We believe that the right will win in the end and that we are on the right side." The Evening Telegraph states that a circular signed by General Tudor has been issued to the police from Dublin Castle warning them against participating in reprisals and declaring that on proof of such acts having been committed disciplinary measures would be followed by severe punishment, will be adopted. The Sinn Fein tonight published a detailed list of 269 armed soldiers and police who fell into the hands of the "Republican army" since May. It says the men were treated with courtesy as prisoners of war and were released, uninjured after they had been disarmed. The Sinn Fein document claimed this proves the organization "is not a huge mailer society."

Cecil Condemns Reprisals

London, Oct. 1.—Lord Robert Cecil, in a letter to The Times today, condemns the reprisals in Ireland, and charges the government with failure to suppress crime or punish criminals. "The Republican crime outrages are bad enough, but they are not improved by the sporadic acts of murder and arson committed by guardians of the law," he writes. "As to the suggestion that this is something in the nature of a warlike operation, such a suggestion is an aggravation of the original offence.

"Put the case as high as it can be put, let Ireland be considered a hostile country in the military occupation of British forces, it certainly is not under martial law, and even if it were, no civilized army would allow its troops to range over the country carrying out casual outrages in the name of military punishment. This most that would be sanctioned will be some form of collective punishment in the districts where crimes are committed. They would be carried out regularly and strictly in accordance with the rules laid down by the army command, and would be proportioned to the offence committed and the necessity of securing the safety of the army."

PATIENT IN HOSPITAL KILLED BY INMATE

Discover Cause of Death of Miss Nellie Fenton in St. John—Hospital Understaffed.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 1.—That the death of Miss Nellie Fenton on Tuesday morning last, a patient of the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Diseases, was caused by an inmate by Mrs. Addie Robinson, an inmate in the same institution, was the verdict returned by the jury at the inquest held before Coroner Kenney last evening. The jury exonerated the officials and attendants of the hospital from blame.

It was brought out in the evidence that not only is the hospital overcrowded, but also that it is somewhat understaffed. At present there is only one nurse on night duty, looking after six wards, two short halls and two attics.

Draper, secretary of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, handled the $50,000 belonging to the United States organization, and given to him by former Grand President A. E. Barker. The expenditure of the $50,000 was made public in a suit against Mr. Barker for an accounting of the moneys spent by him. Mr. Draper explained the transaction at the time, altho his enemies publicly doubted his possession of an official letter from the maintenance of way employees.

RUSSIANS FLEEING ON NORTHERN FRONT

All Chance of Bolsheviks Launching Fall Offensive Is Eliminated.

Warsaw, Oct. 1.—The defeat of the Russians on the Polish northern front seems virtually complete. The soviet troops are reported fleeing eastward in disorder, in an effort to avoid being surrounded by the Poles, who are in close pursuit. The result of the Polish victory is deemed by the military experts as eliminating any chance of the Bolsheviks launching the fall offensive, which War Minister Trotsky was the Poles from the territory they occupied after the failure of the soviet attempt to capture Warsaw.

The soviet division surrendered to the Poles after having murdered all the commissaries with it who tried to compel the troops to offer resistance to the Polish advance. An official communiqué declares the Bolsheviks all along the northern front were whipped unmercifully, much to the discouragement of their commanders. The commander of the third Bolshevik army committed suicide, it is asserted, when he realized that his command had been completely smashed.

In giving details of the advance, the communiqué reports that Poles troops, sweeping eastward, took the railway junction of Szarpskóichi north of the Pinsk marshes, the key to the old German trench line, and with it a quantity of war material was taken.

South of the Pripet, the Russians have been pushed back across the River Dniestr.

Polish cavalry, operating in Volhynia, has made rapid progress in a southeasterly direction, and has occupied Novograd-Volynsk, about midway between Dniestr and Kiev.

Later reports show that the Poles are less than 50 miles from Vinnia, the Lithuanian capital, and their advance is continuing.

Much Material Captured.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The forces of General Wrangel have annihilated a group of Russian soviet troops in the region of Alexandrovsk, according to an official statement Thursday. The fighting in South Russia, received here today, several armored trains and large quantities of war material and rolling stock were captured by the Wrangel forces, the statement says.

"After six days of fighting, we surrounded the Bolsheviks in the regions of Verkiyotysk, Paluyof, Oriekhov and Alexandrovsk along a 150-mile front," the statement says, "capturing 10,000 prisoners, enormous materials, cannon and several hundred machine guns."

RUSSIAN REDS NOT PERIL TO GERMANY

Only Romancers Believe Otherwise, Says Socialist Member of Reichstag.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(By Mail)—Only romancers and dreamers believe that the Russian red army will eventually strike at Germany and seek to establish a soviet here with the aid of which it will make war on France, declares Wilhelm Dittman, the Independent Socialist member of the Reichstag.

Dittman, who was one of the German delegates to the Moscow communist congress, in an article in The Freiheit turns upon Bolshevism, which he declares, is an impossible system which can exist only in Russia because of the "crass ignorance of the Russian peasantry."

"German workmen," he goes on, "who are not two-legged beasts but upstanding human beings, would never submit to the dictatorship of a few." He says they have nothing in common with men who are neither Socialists nor communists and generally have only a vague understanding of politics, government and society.

"They are mostly unable to read and write," Dittman continues, "and their horizon hardly extends beyond their own thresholds, as might have been the case of the German peasantry of the middle ages. And these men constitute 75 per cent. of the entire population of the country.

"Blind passion and high ardor have idealized soviet Russia as a land where all the wrongs of the proletariat have an end. Hitherto, the exclusion of soviet Russia from western Europe has helped to crystallize and firmly establish these illusory conceptions," Dittman concludes.

ANOTHER SEVERE BREAK IN WHEAT

Continued Talk of Canadian Competition Has a Demoralizing Effect.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Heavy selling by houses with northwestern connections did much today, to bring about fresh declines in the wheat market here. Oats up 1/4c to 3/4c, and provisions at a setback of 1/2c to 3/4c. Selling pressure on the wheat market continued to be largely increased, and by further estimates of the world supply. The estimates were said to indicate that there could be no world wheat scarcity before May or June. At the extreme, December delivery was nine cents at the lowest prices for the season. The latter trading, but there was wheat sold at the lowest prices for the season. Means while active buying for shorts, means profit-taking for shorts. Big receipts forced the corn market to a new low level for the season, but the late dealing lifted prices again in reports from Argentina helped to strengthen the market. Commission house selling of the weakened provision market notwithstanding higher quotations on hogs.

WELCOME TO WOMAN AUTHORITY ON HOMES

Mrs. Barnett, of England, Given Civic Reception — Has Done Much to Bring About Erection of Many Beautiful Homes—Warns Canada Against Making Mistakes of Old Country, Where So Many Charities Had Arisen — Divine Right of Children for Home.

Acting Mayor Maguire welcomed Mrs. Barnett in the council chamber yesterday, giving her the name of the mayor and the council and outlining some of the outstanding things she has done for the people of England in the matter of planning and bringing about the erection of many beautiful homes. The Hampstead Garden Suburb, known to some in Canada, which provide housing for some 3,000 people, prepared those who awaited Mrs. Barnett in the city hall, to put genuine pleasure into the welcome they accorded the visitor. Mrs. (Alderman) Hamilton assisted Controller Maguire in representing the city and Mrs. (Trustee) W. E. Groves, first vice-president of the Local Council of Women, represented the president, Lady Falconer. Controller Maguire expressed his pleasure at being able to welcome one who had given her life work to others, as Mrs. Barnett had done. Mrs. Barnett had gained recognition in England, when in 1876, she was made the first woman guardian of the poor. She had years ago agitated for children's court and for mothers' pensions, something that Toronto was just getting now. It was an honor, said Controller Maguire, to have Mrs. Barnett come here to address citizens on the vital question of housing, a subject on which Toronto had so many experts that it was difficult to decide upon any plan. In asking Mrs. Hamilton to second his welcome, Controller Maguire paid tribute to the first woman-aiderman as a support to the council, and as one who never rose to speak unless she had something really to say.

Thirty years ago, said Mrs. Hamilton, she had got inspiration from Mrs. Barnett, when she met her in Winnipeg. Housing for Toronto was a tremendous problem, for if even one family suffered it would eventually affect others. She felt that the splendid work of Mrs. Barnett in connection with the Hampstead Garden Suburb and the address which she would deliver in Foresters' Hall would be an impetus for the work of housing in Toronto.

Children's Divine Right. That it was the divine right of every child born in Canada to have a home and a place to play was the statement of Mrs. Groves. If these were not given then the child becomes what was called a delinquent. But it was not the child who was a delinquent, it was the people who were delinquent, said the speaker, in not providing these things for the child. On behalf of the local council, Mrs. Groves expressed pleasure at welcoming the visitor and presented her with a bouquet of roses with the love and esteem of the women of the council.

Mrs. Barnett said she was very much touched by what had been said and the reception given her, but denied the idea that she deserved all that the speakers implied. It was true that she and her husband—the late Canon Barnett—had lived for 33 years in Whitechapel, but during that time they were not always laboring, struggling and suffering and they were always sheltered by the love of the people about them. They were, she said, only the voice of the people with whom they lived, the people who could not talk for themselves, but who, when their needs were voiced, were assisted by people of all classes who came to help them. It would be impertinence, said the speaker, to think that she could teach the people of Canada anything. She would, however, warn them not to make the mistakes they had made in England, where so many charities had arisen. She wondered sometimes if communities were not a little too proud of their charities. The measure of a town's charities was the measure of its condition.

Mistake of Distinctions. Mrs. Barnett quoted her husband when he said that charity of the kind in question, "was only properly engaged when it was trying to kill itself." If conditions were what they ought to be, then charity need not do the work. She suggested a series of trophies to be given, to towns from which disease and other evils would be eradicated. She thought, too, if she were 30 years younger, she would like to throw in her fate with the young country Canada, where she hoped the mistake of distinctions that existed in English society would not be allowed to grow.

Mrs. Barnett was wearing the Order of the Commander of the Empire, which was bestowed by the King. At the close of the addresses she held an informal reception. Mrs. Hamilton playing the part of hostess. Representatives of various societies were introduced. A number of men were interested auditors of the address of the lady from overseas, whose talk on Monday evening is looked forward to as something which will prove of real value in solving the difficulties of Toronto housing conditions.

TRYING TO PICK THE WINNER

When ladies make wagers at the Woodbine they are not always guided by the fact that a horse has a pretty name or that they like the color scheme of the jockey's attire. The three ladies shown here seem well-equipped to make careful selections.

OPEN DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICE

University President Pays Tribute to Record of New Reform.

The department of social service of the University of Toronto was formally opened yesterday for the 1920-21 session. Sir Robert Falconer, in introducing the new head of this department, paid a glowing tribute to Prof. Dale's previous record. For the 12 years previous to coming to Toronto Prof. J. A. Dale occupied the chair of education at McGill University and for the six years before that he was an extension lecturer for the University of Oxford. Prof. Dale, in making his inaugural address, said: "The ideal of social service is the application to the problems of misfortune and maladjustment of the trained intelligence and initiative which has made such wonderful strides in other departments of human activity. The ideal of social science is the development and conservation of the sources of human welfare."
