PLAN HORSE RACES Steps Taken in Fredericton For Formation of Circuit

Fredericton, July 5 - The directors of the Fredericton Race Association last night took the first step toward forming a provincial harness racing circuit for August. Hugh O'Neill, W. B. Lint and T. V. Monahan were appointed to take up the matter.

It is expected that St. John, Moncton, and Chatham will come in to form a circuit which will fill in August and early part of September, making it possible for harness racing in New Brunswick to go direct to Halifax for the Nova Scotia provincial exhibition races.

Local horsemen are commenting on the fact that Yana, a mare trained here by Pat Doherty of Sydney, took a mark of 2:15 1/4 in the 2:30 mixed race at Houlton yesterday with McMillan driving. This is a pretty high mark for the first race of the season.

A. G. Turney, provincial horticulturist, who returned from Montreal early in the week after spending some days there investigating conditions relative to marketing strawberries, is now in Boston on a like errand. It is probable that the Boston market will take the bulk of the strawberry crop of New Brunswick, which promises to be a record one.

If the horse gets balky and refuses to move, key No. 1 is pressed. The two wires which lead from this key run to opposite points on the horse's flank. He gets an electric shock which will certainly start him. If he should refuse to move when desired, one of two keys are closed to give him a shock on the proper side of his head. A BETTER WAY OUT

County Officials Break Away From Precedent in Matter of Delinquent Tax Payers

By disregarding the entanglements of red tape and meeting tax-payers on a man to man basis, the county officials have discovered that considerable friction can be avoided and results secured which prove more satisfactory than those achieved by the process laid down by precedent.

It is the custom to offer for sale all properties on which the taxes are in arrears for two years, and each year a fairly long list accumulates. The county has not paid because of some misunderstanding or some grievance. In order to dispose of such cases instead of proceeding with the sale of the properties, a meeting was held in St. Martin yesterday and the assessors and councilors for the parish and the county secretary, J. King Kelley, K.C., were present to meet the tax-payers. As a result of the meeting, practically all the matters in dispute were cleared up.

The collection of poll and income taxes was discussed also at this meeting. There are considerable arrears of taxes of this nature and it was decided that vigorous steps should be taken to collect them. Special attention will be paid to the young men, who form the largest body of delinquents. It was felt that young and apparently eligible men who are not paying should at least be required to pay their share for the upkeep of the county.

WON LEGION OF HONOR

Word has just been received that George Crowe, who was born in Fredericton and lived there until eight years ago, when he removed to Cranbrook, B. C., has won a second decoration in the present war. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crowe, who are now living in Fox Street, B. C.

At the outbreak of the war Mr. Crowe was employed as a contractor with the Crow Nest Lumber Company at Cranbrook, and he resigned his position to do the khaki with the 103rd Battalion. He went to France and early in the fall of 1916 he was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal for conspicuous bravery under heavy shell fire.

In the Battle of Vimy Ridge he again distinguished himself by conspicuous bravery under heavy shell fire and was awarded the Legion of Honor by France.

The recipient of these honors has a sister, Mrs. William Gilbert, living at St. Mary's.

Cutworms Destroy Crops in Maine

Injury Done is Extensive; Cut Off Plants as Fast as They are Set; Remedies Will Destroy Slugs Also; Use and Care of Poison Baits

By cutworms is meant the larvae of caterpillars of certain millers or owlet moths, says Dr. C. D. Woods, director of the Maine agricultural experiment station. The term is applied to a number of species which are very destructive to garden and field crops and sometimes also to foliage of fruit trees. Though there are some differences in the life histories of the several species, they are sufficiently alike in some of their habits so that they may be fought by similar methods.

The larva is a fat, dirty gray or brownish creature, an inch or more in length when full grown and practically hairless. The W-marked cutworm and the spotted cutworm, both common in Maine, are each marked by a double row of black spots, which in the first mentioned species are of equal size, but in the second the spots gradually decrease in size toward the head. The caterpillars usually lie curled up during the day, in a sheltered spot or in the earth. After nightfall they come to the surface to feed upon whatever vegetation may be convenient. They are very general feeders, eating leaves, buds, fruit stalks or roots, and show a decided preference for plants that are young and succulent. In the spring when the liberating larvae first begin to forage they are particularly injurious. Not infrequently a farmer will be obliged to re-plant several times before a stand is obtained because the pests cut them off as fast as they are set. The injury continues until about May 1 when the larvae are full grown. The larvae then burrow into the ground to a depth of four to six inches to form a cell in which they pupate. Later in the summer the moths emerge. These differ somewhat in coloring in the various species but for the most part have grayish or brownish obscurely marked fore wings and grayish or yellowish, white hind wings.

Destroy With Bran Mash
The most effective remedy is the poisoned bran mash which has come into wide use.

Formula:
Bran ..... 20 lbs.
Paris green ..... 1 lb.
Syrup (common glucose syrup) ..... 2 qts.
Oranges or lemons ..... 3 fruits
Water ..... 4 gallons
(Caution: Do not add water until the day the mash is to be used.)

Preparation and distribution:
Mix the bran and Paris green thoroughly in a wash tub while dry. Squeeze the juice of the oranges or lemons into the water and chop the remaining pulp and the peel to fine bits and add them to the water. Dissolve the syrup in the water and wet the bran and poison with the mixture, stirring at the same time so as to dampen the mash thoroughly.

The bait when flavored with oranges or lemons was found to be more attractive when used for grasshoppers and is reported to be a better bait also for cutworms.

When required for garden use, all that is necessary is to sprinkle a little of the poisoned mixture by hand around such plants as are liable to attack. When crops are planted in drills or in rows, a convenient way is to make the mixture rather dry and then distribute it by means of a wheel seeder. In field practice, among such close growing crops as standing grain, which are sometimes injured by cutworms, the poisoned bait remedy is also serviceable. The mixture can be distributed by means of a paddle or shingle and can be thrown easily to a distance of 20 feet. When distributed in this way, there is much less danger of chickens and birds picking it up than if it is placed in lumps.

Danger From Poison

The question of danger from the use of this poisoned bait is one which must be considered. As a rule, there is little danger from this cause. The quantity used is so small that it is not noticed by poultry; and then, in gardens, poultry do so much harm to plants that they should never be admitted at this time of year when cutworms occur injuriously and only at special times of the year when there are no crops to injure. However, there will be many occasions when plants in gardens may be protected by putting out the poisoned bran in small heaps and then covering these up with a piece of shingle or some other covering, so that the material cannot be got at by stray chickens and other poultry. Birds should be kept especially in mind in this connection and where practicable the lawn should be covered to secure absolute protection to these active insect hunters.

For the last two springs slugs have done much of the damage credited to cutworms. As covered poison bran bait is said to be effective also against slugs, two garden pests may be killed by one remedy.

FEARS POWER OF BRITISH

German Critic Says Fighting There is of Serious Aspect

Amsterdam, July 5.—Lieut. Gen. Baron Arlene, discussing in the Tagblatt of Berlin the operations on the western fighting front, after examining into various situations, said: "Of a far more serious aspect has been the fighting on the British front. No lack of human material can be seen here. Moreover, more than ever before the British army commanders are resorting to mass tactics."

"At any rate, the great British offensive is not yet at an end; it has only reached its turning point. That General Haig and Plumer will not attain their final aims is assured not only by the moral strength of our troops on the front fighting lines, but especially by the fact that behind them are strong German army reserves."

BERLINERS DRIVEN TO SOUP KITCHENS BY FOOD SHORTAGE

Copenhagen, July 5.—The food difficulties, particularly the disappearance of potatoes, have driven Berliners in masses to the municipal soup kitchens, where they hope to get better rations than at home. The management of the kitchens reports 21,000 new registrations. The kitchens, however, are poorly supplied and the fare is scanty and monotonous.

RIOTING IN DUESSELDORF.
Enemy Allies Accused of Taking Part in Disorders.

Amsterdam, July 5.—The Dusseldorf General Anzeiger says that riots occurred in Dusseldorf on last Thursday, wherein workmen of enemy nationality participated. Shops were damaged and plundered, alcoholic liquors especially being stolen. Citizens allowed these enemy aliens to share in the booty without hindrance. The police, who were reinforced by troops, made many arrests. The military command issued orders forbidding street gatherings.

It was decreed that all saloons and amusement places should be closed at nine o'clock at night, except the Municipal Theatre and Opera House. The public was warned not to loiter in the streets as an order was given to act ruthlessly to anybody offering resistance to the police.

N. H. S. Field Day.
A field day was held by the Natural History Society yesterday afternoon at the summer home of the president, James A. Estey, Westfield. About fifty members of the society and their families were present. Dr. J. Roy Campbell, whose grounds are adjoining those of Mr. Estey, also acted as host. The party returned to the city about nine o'clock.

Several local gentlemen, headed by L. P. D. Tilley and E. A. Schofield, are organizing a local fund to be forwarded to the Great War Veterans Association of Canada.

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1917

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 5, 1917.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE WAR SITUATION

The Canadians are gradually tightening their grip on Lens. They seek to gain possession of the mining city with as little loss of man power as is possible, and superiority in artillery gives them that advantage, though more time is required to accomplish the task. In last night's cable the Canadian correspondent again confirms his former statement that there has been a rapid deterioration in the morale of the German armies, and that the feeling spreads among all ranks that they are doomed to defeat.

The toll of the submarine last week was only 20 vessels, compared with 28 the week before, and 29 the week before that. There is a report that Germany is building submarines of a new and larger type, fitted to operate over a wider area, but Premier Lloyd George has expressed confidence in the ability of the Allies to overcome the menace in due time, and before the danger of war is seriously felt in England or France. Last week's record is at least hopeful in that regard.

Fuller reports of the air raid over Harwich show that two of the German raiders were destroyed and a third damaged before they reached the Belgian coast. The British airman sustained no loss. Their superiority in air-fighting is evident.

The news from Russia continues to be of a cheering nature. The victory gained in Galicia has restored confidence in the army and intensified the desire to go on to victory over the German autocracy.

AT OTTAWA

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe anticipates some sort of government reconstruction after the description bill has been adopted, and says there is still talk of coalition. He says: "Those in positions of responsibility are fully cognizant of the grave situation which seems to confront administration efforts to give effect to the provisions of the bill, and the need for earnest, conciliatory and firm leadership. It is recognized, generally and frankly, that although the measure is a government one, prepared and submitted without consultation with representatives of the opposition, the sincere and effective support—the speeches which rang with consecrated leadership and won the most hearty following—came from Liberals. The position and appeals of Hon. G. F. Graham, Mr. F. Borden, Mr. Frank B. Colwell, Mr. W. A. Buchanan, Mr. Hugh Guthrie and others who have spoken their convictions from Liberal benches, have had an effect upon the house and the country which has saved the situation, so far as effective progress with Canadian war financing is concerned. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other leading Liberals who support the referendum have likewise contributed to the prestige of parliament in their consideration of the momentous issue from thorough conviction and equal desire for the most effective and united Canadian participation in civilization's struggle. The debate has emphasized the statesmanship and strength of the opposition in a manner freely conceded by government supporters. Conservative insistence upon thorough reorganization of Sir Robert Borden's existing cabinet is growing more and more pronounced. There is now no longer any inclination to challenge the fact that Canada's war-time administration heretofore has been feeble, lethargic and inadequate. Conservative members themselves are privately demanding improvement and effective leadership."

The Toronto Globe, however, has no patience with delay. In an article headed "Action" it said on Saturday: "While the walls of parliament are echoing the sounds of oratory, Canadian troops are engaged in desperate fighting for Lens and the coal fields in its immediate vicinity. Within the twenty-four hours of Thursday they made two successful attacks against positions held by the best troops the Hun have in the fighting line, the Prussian Guards. The second attack was made at sundown, at an hour when the parliamentarians were taking their dinners in peace, security and comfort, and carried the men from the Dominion half-way through the village of Avion. All the talk in the world could not have carried them that far, and the most brilliant and sustained oratorical efforts would not avail to propel them one inch over the half-way line. For the final push that wins on any of the fighting fronts, men and shells are needed. The dullest mind could glimpse a measure of the enthusiasm with which the fighting men would greet official assurances that man-power and material resources were being mobilized in Canada with the sole object of giving the impetus to the push that wins the day. No one could conceive of any Canadian soldier in battle against the Hun pausing for a single moment to cheer the arrival of copies of Hansard containing the latest speeches made by members of the Commons for or against a speedy armistist to Lieut.-Gen. Sir Arthur Currie's message: 'It is an imperative and urgent necessity that steps be immediately taken to ensure that sufficient drafts of officers and men are sent from Canada to keep the corps at its full strength.'

The need of the hour is leadership. Canada needs a leadership which will deal wisely with Quebec and with the labor interests, and bring about an all-round concentration of energy to win the war. That first, and everything else aside until that is accomplished. The issue is as squarely up to the leaders at Ottawa as was the question of union in the days prior to Confederation to the leaders of that day.

The province of Quebec cannot afford to get out of step with the rest of Canada in regard to national and imperial concerns. It would be bad for Canada but worse for Quebec. Those who should be men of light and leading in that province should get together and throw parochialism into the St. Lawrence. Not that Quebec is the only province where narrow views obtain; but just now that province is being especially put to the test.

Mr. L. J. Gauthier, one of the French members, told a meeting of his electors that it was the wish of the politicians of the Conservative party to have rebellion in the province of Quebec so that the English provinces would return the Borden government to power. "What Mr. Gauthier says is perfectly true of some Conservative politicians, but not, let us hope, of the majority."

The South Perth, Ont., Reform Association has elected a woman as its second vice-president. One of the speakers at the convention, a woman, declared that women who are given the franchise have no right to remain neutral on the questions of the day, but should inform themselves on these questions, and vote irrespective of their husband's views.

The Argentine government has sent a strong note to Germany, protesting against the sinking of two Argentine ships, and demanding indemnity and the assurance of no more such attacks. Brazil is already with the Allies, and her navy aiding in patrol duty. Argentina may be the next to sever relations with Germany.

The fuel controller is on trial. If he cannot get cheaper coal for Canadians when the price has been reduced at the mines, he will be of no particular service to this country. It will probably be found, however, that he can bring about a more satisfactory condition of affairs than at present prevails.

What steps are being taken to guard against overloading certain markets with produce when others have not enough? The problem of distribution now takes the place of the problem of increased production, and is hardly less important.

A feature of the Dominion Day celebration in Toronto was a visit from a squadron of twelve airplanes from Camp Borden, flying very high and returning to camp without alighting. The automobile will presently be a back number.

Farnell Hall, Boston, which has heard some of the most violent denunciations of British and British rule in years past, gave an enthusiastic welcome yesterday to Canadian men in khaki. How times and men have changed.

It is interesting to note that the deposed president of China has found refuge in the Japanese legation. China is in the throes of civil war, and the hopes of the imperialists are not likely to be realized.

Lieut.-Gov. Ganong assumes office with the hearty good wishes of the people of New Brunswick. He describes himself as a man of the people. He is the better for that.

From what particular cucumber will the German chancellor extract his sunbeams for the Reichstag this afternoon?

The Canadian soldiers before Lens are fighting. The Canadian politicians at Ottawa are still talking.

A "Household" for Princess Mary One of the steps that will follow the conclusion of peace will be the provision of a small household for Princess Mary, who is now in the twenties. Up to now Her Royal Highness has seldom been present at any function except in the company of the queen, so that it has not been necessary for her to have any ladies in attendance. The queen will herself choose her daughter's entourage, which will be on a very modest scale—as is that of the Prince of Wales, though the heir apparent's household will doubtless be slightly enlarged after the war.

LIGHTER VEIN

Lucky to Get Dime
Bishop Wilberforce of Omaha said recently in a Y.M.C.A. address: "Too many of the stories about the boyhood of our multimillionaires are just stories of selfishness and meanness, taking advantage of others' generosity—the sandwich when he went to the station with the rest of the company he took a train bound south instead of a train bound north. What a customer. Green, purple, and pink velvet, maulin, and cloth had he tempted her with, but so far in vain."

"A Hungry traveler put his head out of a car window as his train pulled up at a small station, and said to a boy: 'Here, boy, take this dime and get me a sandwich, will you? And, by the way, here's another dime. Get a sandwich for yourself, too.'"

"Thanks, boss—and the boy darted away. He returned, munching a big sandwich, just as the train was starting off. He ran to the traveler, handed him a dime, and said: 'Here's yer dime back, boss. They only had one sandwich left.'—Washington Star.

President Wilson's Story

Here is a yarn the American President is fond of spinning:
"A friend of mine was in Canada with a fishing party, and one member of the party was imprudent enough to sample some whisky that was called 'squirrel' whisky, because it made those who drank it inclined to climb a tree. This gentleman imbibed too much of the dangerous liquid, and the consequence was that when he went to the station with the rest of the company he took a train bound south instead of a train bound north. What a customer. Green, purple, and pink velvet, maulin, and cloth had he tempted her with, but so far in vain."

"Then he brought another roll of material, in which he seemed to have confidence."

"Now, madam," he said confidently, "this is a lovely line. Color fast and unshrinkable, guaranteed to wash like a rag, and make up splendidly. Makes this piece of cloth speaks for itself."

"Then," interrupted the fed-up customer, "suppose you keep quiet for a moment and give it a chance!"

"Now, madam," he said confidently, "this is a lovely line. Color fast and unshrinkable, guaranteed to wash like a rag, and make up splendidly. Makes this piece of cloth speaks for itself."

Samuel H. Wortman.

Salisbury, N. B., July 4.—Mrs. Thomas R. Campbell, of this village, has received the sad news of the sudden death of her son, Samuel H. Wortman, on June 25, of her father, Samuel H. Wortman. The late Mr. Wortman spent more than fifty years of his life at Salisbury and Boundary Creek, where he was held in high esteem about twenty-five years ago he removed with his family to the United States and later with his sons embarked in homesteading in the Canadian west. He was twice married, his first wife being a daughter of the late Samuel S. Wilnot, of Salisbury. The survivors of this family are one son and one daughter, Walter Wortman, of Melrose (Mass.), and Mrs. Thomas R. Campbell, of Salisbury. Several years after the death of his first wife, Mr. Wortman married Miss Kate Steeves, daughter of the late Peter Steeves, of Salisbury. She died only a few years ago. The survivors of the last family are two sons and two daughters. The sons are Samuel, Jr., with the army in France, and Stanley, at home. The daughters are Hattie and Kate. #### IF BRITISH SHIPS ATTACK

Under the caption, "The Summer Offensive at Sea," Captain I. Persius, a well-known German naval writer, as translated by The London Times, in the Berlin "Weltblatt" of June 8:

"The plan to starve the Central Powers has collapsed. On the other hand, the difficulty of continuing the economic life of our enemies is increasing from month to month on account of the submarine danger, the combating of which has hitherto been the eyes of all the Allies are turned on the British fleet. It is expected to bring salvation. Will it be able to do so?"

"Will the men with the broad gold stripes on their sleeves now prove themselves to be equipped with the irresistible strength and aggressive spirit which are necessary? Will the British fleet see the need of abandoning the strategy of reserve which has hitherto been pursued? Do the rumors of an impending offensive at sea rest upon facts? Beyond doubt the recognition has lately gained ground among our enemies that the silent work of the fleet is not capable of disposing of the submarine peril. It is true that individual opinions have been heard expressing the hope that the submarines can be prevented from attacking by the multiplication and improvement of means of defense, and protesting against the view that success could be achieved with the battleship fleets. But people generally expect little from the combating of the submarine bases in order to grip the trouble at the root."

"An attack upon the German bases in the North Sea would have to be preceded by a battle with our high sea fleet. Are they willing to expose themselves afresh to the terrible danger—to use the language of the English Admiral Morsby 'The guns on Heligoland which all probability would take part in the battle, will prove themselves by no means less effective than the guns on the coast of Flanders.' They would be aided by destroyers, submarines, mines, etc. In short, an offensive by the Etonic fleets with the object of destroying our war harbors would represent an enormous risk. Will it be undertaken? Who would like to answer the question today? Those who have played the part in this war have often regretted it. But it may be remarked that all former announcements of plans of attack by our enemies have proved erroneous. We need only remember the repeated rumors of an Anglo-Russian offensive in the Baltic."

Have Taught Indians in Alaskan Interior for Score of Years

Great Changes in West—Thriving Communities Where None Existed When They Went Out—Going Back to Work Next Month

(Montreal Gazette) Sisters Magdalen and Mary, of the Sacred Heart, returned to Mount St. Ann, the mother house at Lachine, yesterday morning after an absence of twenty years in a mission in the heart of Alaska. All this time had been devoted by the Sisters to teaching the little Indians of the interior, and for the most part their efforts had been expended in teaching at the Holy Cross Mission and at Nulato on the Yukon River.

Vicious Insects

The Sisters, who will see their relatives before going on their way to resume the teaching to which they have dedicated their lives, have been long out of the current of the world's affairs. At certain times of the year mails are three months behind time, and the arrival of the mails is the greatest event in the life of the communities where they live.

Most of the Indians have accepted Christianity, and only those of the older generation seem to hold back. The children are intelligent, and prove exceedingly quick at drawing, painting or modelling. They have excellent, though short, memories.

In the treasurer's report it is shown that during the first half of the current year contributions totalling $8,885.60 were received; expenditures amounted to $6,972.26, including amounts forwarded to the Dominion headquarters, contributed for the war prisoners fund and supplies for local military hospitals. A message of appreciation from the national headquarters was read.

POWERFUL TRIANGLE DRAMA AT IMPERIAL

"The Snarl" an Unusual Story, Featuring Bessie Barriscale

Rather unusual is the story entitled "The Snarl," which is occupying the Imperial role in "Fau" while the crippled one sings the words behind the scenes. The man whose auto figured in the accident is captivated by the supposed star and meets her. Love at first sight. Thus the cripple is robbed of his artistic triumph and her lover. A honeymoon aboard the groom's yacht is arranged and the crippled sister is invited to join in merry party.

WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR SHOULD BE ORDERED

National Scandal, Says Mr. Motherwell, it Was Not Done Months Ago

Saskatoon, Sask., July 5.—Advocating the prohibition by the federal government of the manufacture of white flour and of the use of grains for the manufacture of liquor, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, provincial minister of agriculture, in an interview here said: "It was something short of a national scandal that something along the lines indicated had not been done months ago, when we remember that the civilized world is confronted with the possibility of a bread famine before another twelve months roll round."

The minister said that only ideal conditions would ensure even an average crop in Saskatchewan, and that the Ottawa authorities should help out the situation by ordering the sole use of whole wheat flour, which would increase the quantity and the food value of the wheat crop by twenty per cent. In addition the use of grains for the manufacture of liquor should be prohibited, except for munitions and other non-beverage purposes.

MEDICAL OFFICER KILLED IN GERMAN PRISON CAMP

Dr. Haight Reported to Have Been Bayoneted for Displeasing Captors. Winnipeg, July 7.—Dr. Haight, graduate of the University of Toronto in 1911, has been killed by the Germans, after being taken prisoner, according to word received here. He did something displeasing to his captors and was bayoneted. He went to the front from Vancouver. A brother lives at Alliance, Alberta.

Capt. Haight was reported several months ago to be a prisoner of war at Bischofswerda, Saxony. He was taken prisoner at the battle of Zillebeke last June, when he remained in a captured trench to minister to the needs of the wounded Canadian soldiers. At that time it was reported that he had been bayoneted to death, but a letter received from the doctor himself stated that his treatment by the Germans was not unkind. He went overseas as medical officer of the 1st C.M.H.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes.) Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you use.

GERMAN PLOT AGAINST U. S. SHIPS UNCOVERED

Washington Agents, Together With Canadian Officials, Working to Bring Conspirators to Justice.

Secret investigation by United States government agents has disclosed the existence of a great conspiracy to destroy or hinder shipping on the Great Lakes and thereby delay organization of American war armies and check the flow of food and munitions materials from western states to the Atlantic coast.

No conspirators have been captured and the identity of none has been made public, but it is learned that the state, navy and justice departments are co-operating in bringing the offenders to punishment and that the Canadian government probably will be called upon to help.

The plot, engineered by Germans assisted by sympathizing American citizens is believed to have been responsible for the succession of "accidents" to lake shipping, especially in the neighborhood of the Sault Ste Marie canal, which began about a month ago.

All of these vessels concerned in these mishaps had been or were about to be taken over by the department of justice and the navy department have tended to the conclusion that what were believed to have been accidents were the acts of conspirators seeking to hamper the government in the prosecution of the war.

Just how much the government agents have learned is not revealed, but officials have concluded that the public should know of the situation in a general way, believing that publicity may make the operations of the Germans more difficult or impossible.

Co-operation of the Canadian authorities is needed to run down the criminals and it is probable that by agreement between the American and Canadian governments law officers on either side will be authorized to follow their quarry across the international line.

The plotters are believed to be responsible for the sinking of the steamers Saxonis, Pentacost, Mitchell and Venetian Maid; the burning of the Kaga; the attempted dynamiting of the machinery of the Jay Dee III and the Niagara.

Seeing a tramp hurrying away from a large house a fellow professional asked him what luck he had met with. "It ain't worth asidin' there," was the reply. "I just 'ad a peep through the window. It's a poverty-stricken 'ouse, mate. There was actually two ladies playin' on one planner!"

GERMAN LOGIC. "SHOCKING! SHOCKING! England is to blame. She causes us the freedom of the seas." "NOW, SAILOR--But your German U-boat sank us." "COULD YOU EXPECT--" "No, sail. Don't matter, if you will go the way that is your fault." "Passing Ship (London)"

THRILLING PICTURE IS FEATURE AT GEM

Famous Clara Kimball Young in "The Badge of Shame"--Also Rib-ticking Comedy Playlet

"The Badge of Shame" a five-reel photoplay featuring Clara Kimball Young at the Gem.

This picture has been filmed from the stage play bearing the title of "The Yellow Passport" and it gives Miss Young one of the most scintillating roles of her career. She portrays the character of a beautiful young Russian girl who is forced to secure the yellow passport that is given to women of the streets in Russia to enable them to travel anywhere they wish in that country.

Miss Clara Kimball Young takes the part of the young girl and she plays it to perfection. Aiding her is a particularly capable cast including very well known film players. The scenes shown in this production are notable for their beauty. Miss Young wears very beautiful gowns. The play is filled to the brim with exciting and tense situations and the interest is sustained and constant from the first flash of the first reel to the last flash of the last reel.

It is a glowing, thrilling romance that will charm and delight everyone who sees it. The comedy element is all-sufficiently supplied by the Gem's Own Comedy Co. in "Hotel Poppy Parvey." See Dick Baird as the landlord and if you don't laugh then go see a doctor. You need professional advice. The scene is the lobby of the general Richard's hotel. Mr. McHenry is the porter, the rest of the company are patrons of the house. It is a wonderful institution, this hostelry, particularly noted for its exhilarating water. The things the proprietor does would shame the host of the Waldorf. It certainly is a very funny playlet, with Mr. Baird and Mr. McHenry chief fun-makers. Miss Randolph's best solo yet was "The End of a Perfect Day." She sang it to her own accompaniment and it was a dainty bit. Miss Lynton and Hugh Conley again proved winners in duet and dance. Mr. McHenry contributed a jolly song and Miss Davis assisted in the general good time. Two well-sung choruses pleased well.

The program will continue this programme until including Friday afternoon, with entire change on Saturday afternoon.

USE THE WANT AD WAY

Far away from home we were cleaning up. In fact business was great with the salesmen on the road.

But at home where it was easy for us to handle a big volume, our business amounted to next to nothing. And there was no reason why our product shouldn't be as saleable right in our own town as in any other.

I found out the reason. We weren't going after it. We expected it to come in unsolicited. So I concluded that what we needed were some live wire city salesmen. But where were we to get them? Ah! A clever-hunch! A want ad. in the Times-Star will find them. So we put in an ad. which cost only a trifling amount. It worked fine. I had many applicants.

Blind Soldiers as Typists The following is a passage from the report of St. Dunstan's Hostel for Blind Soldiers and Sailors: "Whatever occupation the men train for, practically all of them learn, as well, to master Braille and the use of the typewriter, and to do netting work of various kinds. Typewriting is not taught as an occupation, except to those learning shorthand-writing, but to keep the men in touch with their friends by correspondence. The hand-writing of a blind man almost inevitably deteriorates, and sometimes this deterioration is very rapid. It is therefore necessary that he should quickly learn to feel at home with a typewriter. Men who have never seen, and never will see, a typewriter have learned to try the keys with dependable accuracy and at a fair speed in a very few weeks. Every man is given a typewriter as his own personal possession when he has passed the writing test imposed."

Conscription Plan a Screen For Government Incompetency No Need for Compulsion if Government Had Done Its Duty, Says E. M. MacDonald in Scathing Attack - A Pre-Election Measure

Ottawa, July 4.—That the resort to conscription was the government's method of covering up its own sins of omission and commission and was not necessary because of any real failure on the part of the people of Canada to measure up to the full requirements of war needs, was the gravamen of a strong indictment against the Borden administration presented to parliament today by E. M. MacDonald, of Pictou.

Mr. MacDonald's contribution to the conscription debate, as probably the most plain spoken and smashing general attack on governmental "weakness, inefficiency and incompetency" yet delivered by any of the opponents of the conscription bill. He reviewed the whole record of lethargic war administration, pointed to the things which had been done badly, charged graft, political favoritism, lack of proper organization and mobilization of the national resources to meet war conditions, declared that the conditions of the national conscription bill itself exempted the rich and bore heavily on the poor, and drew the conclusion that the remedy for the falling off in recruiting lay rather in a change of administrative methods and the restoration of public confidence in government leadership than in an practicable resort to forced enlistment.

Mr. MacDonald's was the main speech of the day forecasting the general outline of criticism which the government will have to meet when it appeals to W. S. LOGGIE CRITICAL BUT FAVORS BILL.

Adoption of a different attitude with regard to conscription, although at the same time not differing in his criticism of the government's mistakes in handling recruiting and war organization generally, W. S. Loggie, a New Brunswick Liberal, with two sons and a daughter at the front, advanced one appealing plea for the bill. He quoted a sentence from a letter written by his soldier son to his sister, a nurse in France:

"What is the news regarding conscription and coalition? I am strong for conscription myself. What does father think of it?"

"That settled the issue for me," commented Mr. Loggie.

Two of the French-speaking members who spoke today came frankly on the Canada-has-done-enough platform. Roch Lanctot, speaking from the Liberal side, protested against "driving Canada into bankruptcy for the sake of England." He made one unique suggestion, namely that the wealth of all millionaires who favored conscription should be conscripted, leaving them a mere pittance of $100,000 to get along on. Millionaires who did not favor conscription, said Mr. Lanctot, might be exempted. That would test the loyalty of the rich who were shouting for conscription.

Joseph A. Descares, speaking from the Conservative side in support of the Barrette amendment to kill the bill, put up the new argument that it was ultra vires for the dominion parliament to pass the conscription measure since the British North America Act gave no authority to the Canadian government to conscript subjects of Canada for service in Europe.

What of Daylight Saving?

Mr. MacDonald blamed the premier for delays in these matters. As a result today we were not giving full service and the recruiting response was not as enthusiastic as it otherwise would have been. Instead there had been a succession of hysteria. There was the machine gun hysteria. Then there was an hysteria over elections, three times there was evidence of elections. The ballot boxes were sent to England and arrangements made for voting.

The premier had looked at things from a political standpoint. Now he says, "forget politics."

There was a national service hysteria, which carried on a campaign not to fill the cartridge at the front but to find men to work on the farms. He reflected to the dispute between Sir Robert Borden and Sir Sam Hughes. The letters which had been published furnished in the cabinet which showed that the members were not worrying over the wastage at the front.

Rap for Liberals.

Mr. MacDonald said that the premier's hysteria seemed to "have affected some gentlemen on this side of the house."

He said that when Liberals last year made the just and proper criticism of the military administration, the member for Red Deer, Dr. Clark, gave evidence of being affected by hysteria and death.

Mr. MacDonald said only a year ago Dr. Clark said he was proud of the position taken by Sir John Simon in retiring from the cabinet on account of his opposition to conscription.

The plain people of the country were not affected with hysteria, said Mr. MacDonald. This was shown by the fact that the provinces had recently all voted Liberal. He claimed this was accounted for by the government's conduct of the war. This was true in Saskatchewan, where the Conservative slogan was "Vote Wiloughby and Borden." The people of that province gave their answer.

Government's Weakness.

Reviewing some of the things which the government had left undone and the administrative failures, Mr. MacDonald pointed out the general feeling of distrust and dissatisfaction. Mr. MacDonald noted that accumulated failures had left practically untouched while the poor were called upon to sacrifice in every direction.

He said that the government had been forced to raise the cost of living by while the cost of living kept on soaring. All he had done was to pass an ineffective order to the effect that there had been no prosecutions and the situation instead of being relieved had become aggravated.

Eight More Years To Be Spent in Penitentiary

Hampton, N. B., July 4.—The July 4th of the Kings county court opened this morning with His Honor, Judge Jonah presiding and the usual court officials in attendance. G. Hasen dair, the newly appointed clerk of the court, was present for the first time in his capacity since his appointment. Following is a list of the grand jury ena of all whom were present: J. D. McKenna, George W. McLeod, Howard Keith, J. Frank Roach, M. Wright, J. Swelling, George F. Bates, Albert, John Frost, Hazen Folkins, Thom-Gilliland, Edwin J. McCready and John Jamison.

There was only one civil case; Daniel et al vs. A. F. Healy & Son. M. H. arice appeared for the plaintiff and H. Adair for the defendants. This case was by consent of counsel, admitted for hearing on Friday, July 13. Two cases were on the criminal docket as follows: The King on information and complaint of Mrs. Amelia Parize, wife of Alfred Parize, vs. James Votour charged with assaulting the said Mrs. arice in the parish of Havrelock, on the twenty-third day of June last. The King on the information and complaint of Wilmot G. Ashbell against said Basdin who is charged with molesting at the said Wilmot G. Ashbell intent to do grievous bodily harm; the parish of Cardwell on the ninth day of May last. Both of these cases were presented to a grand jury and in both cases trials were reported to the court by the grand jury, through their foreman, J. McKenna.

Howed to Enlist. When the case of the King vs. James otour came to hearing, G. Hasen Adair appeared for the crown, A. E. Pearson for the informant, and W. D. Turner for the accused. The following jury were empanelled on sworn: Walter S. Saunders, Chief Perry, H. H. Sherwood, Norman uth, Frank A. Keith, Robert Hawker, erbert Baird, Geo. H. Barnes, Roy W. cKenna, Wm. Parks, R. W. Menzies, nd Joseph Gulliver. The evidence shows that the parties to not only very near neighbors but are so related but there appears to have been blood between them for some me and on the day in question the men id been quarrelling and fighting previ- us to the alleged assault. The jury failed to agree and his nor accepted the recognition of the cused to appear for trial at the Octo- r term of the court if called upon to o, warning him, however, against duct likely to get him into very seri- s difficulty. He also advised him in view of the ill- eling existing between him and his ighbors and further because he had e making a decent living for his mily to leave the place, get his family ghly placed and to enlist if he can e forestry, in which case he would not be called to appear for ial in the fall.

he Basdin Case. Interest centered in the case of the nt vs. Daniel Basdin, not only on ac- of the serious nature of the offence arged but also because the accused is w serving a sentence of two years at e penitentiary at Dorchester for rther offence. This sentence was im- sed some months ago by Judge Jonah d was suspended on condition that the sioner would enlist for overseas ser- ce. This he (Basdin) consented to and actually did enlist but almost immediately deserted and the complain- at Asbell, who is chief of police for e town of Sussex and also a provincial nstable, was sent to arrest him for nsertion when the shooting took place. e was then sent to the penitentiary e serve the sentence previously impos- ed was brought from there today for ial on the shooting charge. He ap- eared in court wearing his penitentiary ab.

J. H. McFadden appeared for the own and G. Hasen Adair for the sioner. Dole, George H. anders, R. W. Menzies, Walter S. anders, William Parks and Herbert eld. The complainant, W. G. Asbell was e first witness called and gave a very eful statement of the affair stating d to one side an instant before the rifle off, and that the bullet struck e round eleven feet back of where he ad ere standing so that the bullet would ave killed him had he remained stand- ng where he had been when aim was ken. Cross examination failed to hake his evidence in any respect. William Divine, who was with Asbell t the time was called and sworn and corroborated his testimony. These were e only witnesses for the crown.

risoner on Stand. The accused was called in his own e name. He admitted firing the shot ut wore that he did not aim at Asbell or ntend to shoot him but fired past him o score him. He stated on direct evidence that he is a very accurate rifle ot, easily bringing down birds on the vine, and, as he said, never missing any hing he fired at and that he meant o shoot Asbell he could not have missed im. He did not however show up very ell on cross examination.

Mr. Adair for the accused asked for n adjournment in order to have the risoner's mother as a witness but this as refused as no reason was shown why he might not have been on hand now if wanted.

Town Planning

Mr. Adams' Visit to St. John—Suggestions in an Interesting Interview

Thomas Adams, town planning expert of the commission, was in St. John during the afternoon with W. F. Barritt and E. H. Estabrook, of the local town planning commission, regarding the local project. On account of other work assigned to him by the government, Mr. Adams had been obliged to leave town planning rest for a time, but now he is in a position to resume the undertaking. He will remain in the city until Friday, when he expects to meet the members of the commission. He will then return in a quest to remain two weeks.

ARTICLE BY PREMIER FOSTER ON PROVINCE UNDER CONFEDERATION

The July number of the Canadian Magazine is almost wholly devoted to Confederation, and contains several interesting articles on this subject. One of these articles, written by Hon. W. E. Foster, premier of New Brunswick, and dealing with this province, is as follows: 'New Brunswick entered confederation on the wave of a popular demand for the Intercolonial railway. In the fifty years since union was consummated the province has made great strides, particularly in railway building. It has more miles of railways per capita than any other unit of government in the Dominion. The Canadian Pacific railway, skirting the entire eastern and northern shores of the province, and now it reaches across the province as well, comprising three great arms—the St. John-Moncton section of the main line; the Canada Eastern branch, from Chatham to Fredericton, and the recently-acquired International, from Campbellton to St. Leonard's. The Canadian Pacific railway practically parallels the western boundary from St. Stephen to Edmundston, in addition the St. John-Vancouver section of the main line and several branches. The National Transcontinental railway bisects the province diagonally, and there are numerous other branches in the provincial gridiron, to say nothing of the St. John-Ansover to Westfield, and which was originally destined to run from Grand Falls to St. John, a distance of 225 miles.'

Classify Rural Land

In his report to the commission on conservation on rural development, Mr. Adams adopts the principle that all rural land should be classified, just as urban lands in the province of New Brunswick, for example, there should be a record of all land in classified form, that is for agricultural purposes, for market gardening, sheep raising, cattle feeding, etc. By the employment of this system men going on the land could be suitably placed, according to their tastes. The rural districts should be organized. Facilities should be instituted to encourage co-operation among the farmers for the purpose of making the industry more profitable to the farmer and more congenial to him, as well. It was poor business to place a man upon a piece of land where he could not make a living. The government should see that the land he selects is suited to his purpose and in this way farming would have a greater stimulus for the urban dweller.

On the question of greater production, Mr. Adams contended that the lack of proper organization was still to blame. He pointed out that in a country the size of Canada, where there is such a vast amount of agricultural land available, there should be no scarcity of food, such as vegetables, potatoes, etc. At the present time prices are as high as in countries where the agricultural area is very limited in comparison with the urban population.

When it was suggested to him that speculation might contribute to the condition, he stated that this again brought up the point of lack of organization. If the farmers had good roads and could co-operate they would not be in the hands of speculators or middlemen. The consumer would pay cheaper and the farmer would get more. In St. John, Mr. Adams said, conditions are peculiar. There is but a small area about the city for market gardening. He noticed that there were many vacant lots planted with potatoes and so forth with the intention of relieving the food shortage. 'Any one who knows anything about land,' he remarked, 'will know, however, that land to produce successfully must be planted year after year. This scheme only palliates, but does not relieve the situation.'

Land Speculation.

Another difficulty was the holding of land for speculative purposes. He referred to large pieces of land in the parish of Simonds suitable for market gardening, but left vacant by the land boom of a few years ago. The owners are now asking too much for the property to make it profitable for gardening. Mr. Adams suggested that the town planning project which he hopes to bring to maturity, would relieve this difficulty. Land, he said, should be taxed according to the purpose to which it is put. If it is used for agricultural purposes, the assessment should be accordingly. But if it is held for speculative purposes it should be taxed heavily. The assessors of the province are not to drive land out of agricultural use but to encourage it. He here made reference to the land boom which undoubtedly is now ending and the hearty and unselfish co-operation of the people of the city and of the county.

'Progress in all lines of development has kept pace with railway building. In population, New Brunswick has added one-third to the total of 1867 with a satisfactory growth of 100,000, contributing to the same time energy to the upbuilding of the western provinces. This province has given two prime ministers to British Columbia, a governor to Alberta, and men very high up in every walk of life of every province of the west.'

'In manufacturing, lumbering, the fisheries, and agriculture, New Brunswick has made great advances in the lumber industry, while our canners and packers are making great strides in the markets of the world. The threatened food shortage and the call for increased production has led to the very revealing and awakened a progressive spirit on the part of our farmers, who have been in touch with the new ideas of the time.'

'New Brunswick's contribution to the war can be taken as a proof that the province has caught the real spirit of a self-governing confederation. We are now on our second army division, having enlisted, it is safely estimated, more than 20,000 up to May 1, 1917, for the common cause of Canada and her empire. Owing to the unfortunate necessity of infantry units having been broken up in drafts in England, New Brunswick has been represented on the firing line during the first three years of the war by but one infantry battalion, though our men have gone to reinforce many other units. The original New Brunswick battalion has all but disappeared, but the same line is being invaded by men and officers from our own province and as organization is still at strength and going forward to fresh triumphs. 'To carry on' must be our watchword at home. New Brunswick has had no cause to regret undertaking the larger responsibilities which came from concurrence in confederation fifty years ago, and we can look forward with confidence and with courage to entering the new period which will come to Canada and to the whole world with the downfall of autocracy and the universal triumph of Liberalism.'

Another very interesting article is entitled 'Our Government Since Confederation, and is a short history of the vicissitudes during their stay in Canada. On the front cover of the magazine are the facsimiles of the signatures of the present premiers, who are to protect the growth and prosperity of Canada in the coming years.

The St. John veterans who are at present in Boston, under the command of Lieutenant McKinney, were well entertained on the holiday. Councillor Walter M. ### How To Fight The Bean Rust

Maine Experimental Station Describes Disease and Methods for Checking It

Stimulated by the high prices that beans are commanding and by the patriotic desire to help meet the need increased food supplies, bean acreage has been markedly increased in Maine the present season. A high yield per acre is even more important than a large acreage. This necessitates careful cultivation and protection from disease. Of all the different parts of the world the most common and most destructive disease reported year after year to the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, says the Bangor Commercial, is anthracnose, or as it is most generally called by Maine farmers "rust." This is not a real rust for true bean rust rarely occurs in this state.

Bean anthracnose is caused by a fungus parasite which lives over winter in the seed and is spread and propagated in this way. Its virulence is markedly influenced by weather and soil conditions. Rainy, cloudy weather and naturally wet land is favorable to its development. Conversely it causes relatively much less damage in dry seasons and on naturally dry soils. The common notion that working among the plants when they are wet with rain or dew spreads the rust, is well founded. If the surfaces of the plant parts are wet the spores of the fungus stick to them, germinate in the film of moisture thereon, and infection readily takes place. Working in the plants at all times tends to distribute the spores from the healthy to the diseased parts, but if the latter are dry the spores do not stick to them in great numbers or they dry up and die before being able to enter the leaf.

Much of the most important injury from bean anthracnose occurs early in the season and is often overlooked. The first evidence of the disease in the spring and early summer is on the cotyledons or "seed leaves" of the young plants, which grow from infected seed. Soon it begins to appear on the young stems, and on petioles and under sides of the veins of the first foliage leaves formed, appearing as spots of more or less elongated, brownish streaks. From there it spreads to petioles and veins of the leaves produced later finally to the pods after they have begun to elongate.

It is more noticed by farmers and gardeners from midsummer on, on account of the conspicuous, rusty or discolored spots on the pods, particularly on those varieties which produce light colored pods. The spots appear as small, brownish or discolored areas with purplish edges which enlarge and form pits or ulcers as the result of the drying out of the tissues.

Anthracnose is not easy to control and like similar troubles prevention rather than cure is the way to handle it. It is spread from year to year by means of the seed. With seed free from all traces of anthracnose the disease will not appear. Also some varieties are much more resistant than others. The important thing now is to keep beans that are planted protected from the attacks of this disease just as far as it is possible to do.

In the first place the crop should not be cultivated nor work of any kind carried on among the plants when they are wet with rain or dew. If they have been planted closely in drills it may be advisable to thin out the weaker plants, particularly those which appear to be diseased, in order to allow greater access of air and sunlight.

Although there are different opinions as to the effectiveness of spraying as a preventive measure the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station recommends the use of Bordeaux mixture of the same strength as used for potatoes. The first application should be made as soon as the first foliage leaves have attained fair size, and repeated three times or more at intervals of a week or ten days. It is important that the first application be made when the plants are quite small. Any good potato spraying outfit will do. For the first application use a single nozzle, run close to the row so as to do thorough work and not waste the mixture. When the beans get larger two nozzles per row are necessary as they should be adjusted that they will thoroughly cover the whole row with the spray.

VALUABLE HORSES ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

114 Thoroughbreds Brought on Steamer From France; Famous Stallions in Number

What is said to be the largest and most valuable consignment of thoroughbreds ever landed in the United States has reached New York from France. In all the steamer brought 114 head, the majority being the products of the studs maintained in France by American breeders and consigned to the Fasig-Tipton Company of New York to be sold during the August race meetings at Saratoga.

The largest single consignment in point of numbers is that of Delbert Reiff, a brother of the famous jockey of that name, Johnny and Lester. Reiff has brought over forty-five head in all. Twenty-four of the number consist of the entire crop of foals of 1916 bred at Haras Champagne St. Hilaire, the stud maintained by Baron Maurice de Rothschild. The majority of these youngsters are the get of Sardaple, son of the unbeaten Prestige.

The balance of the Reiff consignment consists of yearlings by the leading sires of France out of mares that have won and produced, and one three-year-old that Reiff believes is the best in this country. It will be recalled that Sun Briar, the winner of the Great American Stakes at Aqueduct last Saturday, in which race he defeated the crack two-year-old Lucette and Trackassiss was brought over by Reiff last season and sold at Saratoga to his present owner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, for $60,000.

Second in point of number is a consignment from Haras du Gazou, Normandy, France, the breeding establishment founded by the late H. B. Duray, and still maintained by Mrs. Duray. From this stud Mr. Duray sent out many winners of classic stakes in England and France, including Durbar, who carried the Duray colors in the winner of the greatest of all classic events, the English Derby, while in France he won such rich stakes as the Prix Noailles and Prix Delatre. Another stallion that was some of the leading classic stakes of England and France for Mr. Duray was Sweeper, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas and Richmond Stakes.

Of the twenty-four yearlings in this consignment the majority are by these two great stallions, but the famous and popular American racehorse, the Irish Lad, whose victories in the Brooklyn Handicap, Metropolitan Handicap and many other classics of the American turf are still fresh in the minds of the racing public, is represented by half a dozen of the youngsters are out of mares that won in this country before being exported, and have thrown many winners here and abroad.

THE REDEMPTION OF GREECE

(Toronto Globe)

The Greek government's ureach with the Central Powers is the logical and inevitable sequel of the return of Venizelos to authority at Athens. The great Creta is the twice savior of modern Greece. He rescued it from a weller of faction alternating with military oligarchism, and so unified and energized the country as to prepare the way for its triumphs in the Balkan war. Its area and population were nearly doubled as the fruits of victory. Internal reforms went hand-in-hand with the expansion. Every department of national life felt the invigorating touch of real statesman ship. The crown, which had so long presided in the late King George threatened to abdicate, recovered its popularity, thanks to Venizelos' masterly management of affairs and his strict respect for constitutional usage.

The outbreak of the present war found him still at the helm. As a fervent democrat he sided instinctively with the Allies. He labored to reconstruct the Balkan League by concessions to Bulgaria, in the hope that Greece, Roumania, Bulgaria and Serbia would unite for the final destruction of Turkish power. As a patriot he had a vision of a Greece rising to the exigencies of the hour. He remained true to his own historical and national aspirations, he was betrayed by the king, whose throne he had saved, his plans for throwing a Greek force into the Gallipoli to co-operate with the Allies, and for aiding in the defence of Serbia, were wrecked by the pro-German court and its military dependants. The one service he could render the Allied nations while the head of the government was the permission to disembark troops at Salonki, and this cost him his throne. He remained at Athens trying to counteract Teutonic intrigues at the palace and keep the soul of the country alive. He finally succeeded in the king and court he raised the banner of revolt at Salonki under the leadership of the Franco-British expedition. His provisional government was recognized by the Allies, and patriotic Hellenes flocked to his standards. Happily Greece has been spared internecine war by the enforced abdication of Constantine, whose flight brought Venizelos im-

EDITH CAVELL'S LAST LETTER

Thoughts of life were stronger than those of death in Edith Cavell's last hours on earth. Her anxieties were directed toward the future welfare of a young girl friend afflicted with an appetite for drugs. A letter written to this girl on the evening of the 11th of October, 1915, the night before the execution, is here reproduced:

"My Dear Girl:

"How shall I write you this last day? Standing where I stand now, the world looks already far away. I worried about you a great deal at first, but I know God will do for you abundantly above all that I can ask or think, and He loves you so much better than I. I do earnestly beseech you to try and live as I would have had you live. Nothing matters when one comes to this last hour but a clear conscience before God, and life looks so wasted and full of wrongdoing and things left undone.

"You have helped me often, my dear, and in ways you little dreamed of, and

I have remembered our happy holidays with mother and many small pleasures. I want you to go to England at once now and ask . . . to put you where you can be cured. Don't mind how hard it is, do it for my sake, and then try to find something useful to do, something to make you forget yourself while making others happy.

"If God permits I shall still watch over you and love you and wait for you on the other side. Be sure to get ready for them. I want you to know I was never afraid nor unhappy, but quite ready to give my life for England.

"I am sending you my wrist-watch by Mr. Gahan because it is always with me and I know you will like to wear it. I shall pray God for you at the last that He will keep you in His tender care. Forgive me that I have been severe sometimes; it has been a great grief to me to remember it. I think I was too anxious about you this last year and that was why. I am sure you will forget it now and only remember that I loved you and love you still.

"EDITH CAVELL."

PLANS FOR INSURANCE OF AMERICA'S FIGHTING MEN

of its soldiers and sailors. The plan approved by the insurance men. It is expected that the proposed legislation will be fashioned somewhat after the federal workmen's compensation act.

FRUIT CAKE WINS NATIONAL HANDICAP

Made All Her Own Pace and Beat Bondage Head in Hamilton Feature

Hamilton, July 3.—E. T. Zulloffer's three-year-old filly, Fruit Cake, made amends for her defeat in the Hamilton Derby by coming back yesterday afternoon and winning the National Handicap, one of the big feature races of the Hamilton meeting. She carried top weight, was ridden by Crump and beat Bondage out a head after making all of her own pace. Considering the track conditions the mile and a furlong in 1:51.5 marked a splendid performance.

The American stable was more fortunate in the Wentworth Handicap, which was won by Water Lady. The latter came from behind and in the run through the stretch disposed of the speedy Back Bay.

An immense gathering turned out the attendance being a record one for the Hamilton track. The haltermen were again in evidence, several horses changing hands during the afternoon. Four claims were put in for Gainer by J. W. Williams, F. Teahan, J. F. Porretto and H. C. Bedwell and in the drawing the latter secured the horse for $900. W. C. Went took $1,500 and J. W. Williams secured the winner, Obolus, for the same amount.

Owens Pons, who recently took over the two-year-olds Judge Wright II, and Fleetfoot, will ship them to the Pons farm at Madison, Tenn., where they will be gelded and turned out until next fall.

The conditions of the first race called for two-year-olds bred in Canada and there was some question as to whether Planetette had been foaled in Canada or Virginia and the filly was withdrawn. Planetette is out of Plan-

St. Peter's League. The Shamrocks defeated the Maples in St. Peter's League fixture last evening by a score of 6 to 3. The game went five innings despite a thick fog which hung over the field. The batteries were: Kauson and McIntyre for the Shamrocks, and Lobb and J. Harrington for the Maples. Violate Sunday Law. New York, July 5.-President Charles H. Ebbetts, of the Dodgers, and Manager Robinson, were to appear in court today to answer charges of violating the Sunday baseball law. The law and order department of a local civic league holds that because admission was charged on Sunday in a game between the Phillies and Dodgers the law was broken. The receipts, Ebbetts says, will be turned over to war organizations. Famous Manager Dead. Syracuse, N. Y., July 5.-"Al" Buckenburger, prominent in professional baseball circles a decade ago, died here last night. He had been manager of the Syracuse, Rochester clubs in the old Eastern League and also was at the head of the Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh National League clubs. Buckenburger also managed the Toronto club years ago when they played over the Don. Boat Called Off. Halifax Recorder-Advice have been received here that the Zulu Kid will not be able to come here for a month at least, so that his bout with McDonald will not take place. Last Thursday's Brooklyn Eagle said that he had decided to make a change of managers, and "is the authority for the statement that Joe Sharno no longer will look after his interests. Young Zulu also says that he is going away to the mountains for a good long rest and that he will be back in town next fall looking for bouts. Wallace Wins Over Jackson. Boston, July 4.-Eddie Wallace, of New York, was given the decision over Willie Jackson, of New York, in their 12-round bout last night at the Armory A. A. It was a surprise in view of the way Jackson fought here previously. Wallace stepped about in lively fashion and that caused Jackson a lot of bother. The decision pleased the majority of the fans, but many figured that the worst that Jackson should have got was a draw. PIRATES CAUGHT IN GULF Had Been Preying on Small Vessels Off the Mexican Coast. Mexico City, July 5.-The power schooner Mariscal, which has been preying on small vessels in the Gulf of Mexico, has been captured in the Tonala river, according to dispatches received here. The pirate was pursued by the dispatch boat Ligera and surrendered only after an hour's fight. The Mariscal was taken to Vera Cruz. ENJOYED PICNIC The Bethesda Presbyterian Sunday school held their picnic on June 23rd at Reed's Point. Leaving at one o'clock in two large vans, a happy crowd of kiddies enjoyed the drive and trip over the river. The usual picnic games were participated in by everybody and everybody won a prize. The success of the outing was due to the energy of Mrs. Chas. Waters and Miss Kierstead, assisted by teachers and friends. Griffith Shades Champion. Akron, Ohio, July 4.-Johnny Griffith, of Akron, was given the newspaper decision over Ted "Kid" Lewis, in their 15-round no-decision contest here today.

Mrs. P. L. Jennings of East St. John is in receipt of letters from each of her two boys who are overseas. Q.M.S. Frank X. Jennings writes from England where he is taking an officer's training course, which likely will last till September. He has been at the front in France for some time. Frank MacGibbon of Fredericton and H. N. Raymond of St. John, son of W. E. Raymond of the Royal Hotel, also are taking the artillery course in England.
Referring to the weather in England Q.M.S. Jennings says it is ideal and the crops are looking fine. Every back yard and lawn has been turned into a garden and everybody is growing potatoes.
Gunner Edward Jennings, with a local sloop battery in France, writes that he is well and kept very busy. He says that Ray Secord, formerly of Red Head, is in the same battery, has been wounded, hit in fourteen places. Both soldier brothers send best wishes and remembrances to all friends. A third brother is in khaki in Canada and a fourth at munition work.

STILL WAITING FOR NEWS
Three weeks ago today John R. Hamilton received word that his son, Winfield Scott Hamilton, had been dangerously wounded. Four days later, in reply to an enquiry, word came that the young man's condition was improved. On June 27 a letter came from Ottawa, but merely recited the previous information. Mr. Hamilton does not yet know whether his son is in an English or French hospital, or what his condition is. An enquiry on July 3 informed him that further information would be sought. He is still waiting for the news.

ALL TO GO TO COURT
A man arrested on Tuesday on a charge of drunkenness at the entrance to the Murray & Gregory mills, Marble Cove, was allowed to go this morning by Magistrate Ritchie on leaving a deposit of $8 for his appearance along with three other men whose names the prisoner submitted to the court, tomorrow afternoon. The man under arrest said that he and others, all workmen in the Murray & Gregory mills, had taken a drink out of a bottle. He informed the court that they had been drinking while about their work. The magistrates: "We are supposed to have a dry town; but we are getting to be pretty wet."
ANOTHER PLAYGROUND GONE
The march of progress has put another playground out of business. The Peters' playground, where the old East End League played, and where the Working Boys' League of the Playgrounds Association played last year and this season until this week, is now the site of the new shipyard, and a pile-driver is making all the heavy hits. The small boys' league is still playing behind the Aberdeen school grounds, and fully sixty boys were there last night till darkness ended the game. There is a game every evening. This is also one of the Boys' Club leagues.
The Working Boys' League will move over to the vacant lot beyond the Marsh Creek, where a little levelling will make a possible diamond for the rest of the season. Members of the league are asked to be there this evening with shovels to put it in shape.

SHOP IN BRUSSELS STREET BROKEN INTO
A. Vincent's Premises Visited During Night—Pair of Boots a Clue
A daring break was made into the premises of A. Vincent, 115 Brussels street, last night or some time this morning and various articles taken, including candy, cigarettes, cigars and gum. The lock on the front door was drawn and entrance thus effected. How the intruder got into the shop and out again without being detected is a mystery as this particular section of the street is well patrolled.
Whoever is responsible for the break was not very prudent as several clues were found in the shop this morning. A pair of boots, boys' size, and a pair of socks stuffed neatly into the shoes were found in the rear of the shop. It is supposed that the perpetrator got into the store, and fearing to draw attention from persons living upstairs, removed his boots and then got away in such a hurry that he did not take time to put the boots on again. A small piece of cloth was found on the edge of a box in one corner of the front shop. The amount of goods stolen would not be of any great value.

NEW AGREEMENT WITH COMPANY IS ADVOCATED
Commissioner Fisher Wants Understanding Before More Permanent Payments Are Laid in Street Rail Sections—Grain Conveyor Application—Band Concerts
Negotiations with the New Brunswick Power Company for an agreement with regard to certain matters relating to the street rail sections and grain conveyor applications were reported on by Commissioner Fisher at a meeting of the common council in committee this morning. A certain amount of the annual payments from the company is used to meet interest on sinking fund charges on permanent pavements laid in the rail sections and the commissioner wants an understanding with the company regarding such payments after the expiration of the present agreement, in 1923, before further permanent pavements are laid. The matter will be brought up again at a full meeting.
Mayor Hayes presided and Commissioners Fisher, Russell and Wigmore and the common clerk were present. Commissioner Fisher presented his programme for band concerts, to be in King Square, on Mondays and Tuesdays, June 28, July 5, 12, 19, 26, 23, 30 and 30 August 2, 9, 16, 23 and 30, and four on Tilley Square, West End, on July 9 and 19, and August 6 and 16. The programme, the cost of which will come within the appropriation of $700, was approved.
Commissioner Fisher said that he was ready to report on proposed amendments regarding regulation of and rental charges for street and sidewalk openings. It was decided to let the matter stand until all the commissioners were present.
Negotiations with the New Brunswick Power Company regarding their proportion of interest and sinking fund charges on permanent pavements laid in the rail sections, after the expiration of the present agreement, on May 1, 1923, were reported on by Commissioner Fisher. The company's contribution for the upkeep of the rail sections has been applied partly to this purpose and he felt that no more permanent pavements should be laid until some guarantee was received. He had corresponded with the company, but their answer was that "the future is too cloudy and uncertain" to permit them to make plans so long ahead. The company is now paying $14,400 a year to the city for the maintenance of track sections and snow removal at the city is using $4,000 of this amount per annum, towards interest and sinking fund charges on permanent pavements laid in the rail sections. The commissioner laid the matter before the other members for their consideration and no action was taken.
The mayor reported that the Canadian Government Railway's management is asking for permission for the erection of grain conveyors to serve the new elevator at Reid's Point. The matter was left to the mayor and city solicitor to discuss with the railway officials and report back to the council.

POPULAR TIMES MAN MARRIED LAST EVENING
Henry W. McEachern and Miss Ethel L. McEachern Married
The home of John D. McEachern, 549 Main street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening at 7 o'clock, when his daughter, Miss Ethel Lavina, became the bride of Henry W. McEachern, a popular employee of The Evening Times. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. P. Dennison in the presence of intimate friends and relatives. Miss McEachern, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a dress of georgette silk crepe with satin and pearl trimmings and carrying a bridal bouquet of cream roses and white carnations. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. James McEachern, as matron of honor, costumed in a pretty dress of ivory satin and carrying a bouquet of white carnations. The wedding took place under a floral arch, and the room was artistically decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The wedding march was played by Miss Edna Logan.
At the conclusion of the ceremony a bounteous wedding repast was served, after which a reception was tendered to the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. McEachern left on a honeymoon trip to Prince Edward Island. Returning they will reside at 115 Thorne avenue. The bride's going away dress was of peacock blue with picture hat of pink crepe de chene. They were the recipients of a large number of handsome as well as useful presents in furniture, silver and cut glass. Among them was a large Morris chair from the groom's associates in the composing room of the Evening Times. Presents were received from friends in Winnipeg, Presque Isle, Amherst and Moncton. Among the guests present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Stockford and daughter Bertha, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Coates of Hampton. Mr. and Mrs. McEachern carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends for future happiness and prosperity.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION BY BROOKVILLE NEIGHBORS
Farewell tributes were paid to Mr. and Mrs. William Tait of Brookville last evening on the eve of their departure for Weyford, where they will make their home.
