Carpenter Floors Big Partners and Trainers Say His Knockout Blow is Perfect—More Home Runs—Late Sport News.

Atlantic City, June 8.—The noon hour dinner bell no longer rings for Jack Dempsey. Today he was placed on a restricted diet and his eating was reduced to breakfast and dinner. How long this will last depends upon the speed and manner in which he takes off weight.

Manassas, N. Y., June 8.—Georges Carpentier is well aware of the fact that he will enter the ring several pounds heavier than Dempsey, but does not worry. He has demonstrated to his own satisfaction, in sparring with Joe Jeane and Paul Journe, that he can drop a heavy man with ease. Jeane, who weighs 240, went down on Monday afternoon under the challenger's overhanded right, and Journe, at 200 pounds, topples easily when Georges right connects.

The Home Run Leaders. New York, June 8.—Eml Mendel of Philadelphia, against the National League in home runs. The Quaker outfielder brought his season total to ten yesterday and is now one ahead of George Kelly, New York. Babe Ruth of the New York Americans who has sixteen to his credit, failed to hit safely in his one time at bat and in the times. Kenzie Williams, of the St. Louis Americans, made his ninth homer.

Two Days at Fredericton. Fredericton, N. B., June 8.—Suggestion have been made that the "cup" meeting of the Maine and New Brunswick circuit at the Fredericton Park should provide two days racing instead of one. Horsemen say especially if the races are limited to three heats, it will be far from a hardship to race here on June 30 and July 1 and the next week at Houlton.

GERMAN U-BOAT IS SENT DOWN IN LAKE MICHIGAN. Chicago, June 8.—The German submarine U-97 was sunk yesterday in Lake Michigan, some thirty miles off Chicago, by the four inch guns of the U. S. S. Wilmette. The U-boat, with a known record of seven Allied ships sunk, was destroyed in accordance with provisions of the treaty of Versailles.

GOOD ROADS FOR PRODUCERS TO NEAREST MARKET. Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—"A good road for every producer to his nearest market" was the slogan adopted at the first meeting of the new executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association held here yesterday. S. T. Squire of Toronto was re-elected chairman of the executive.

HANNA AND THE ONTARIO FRUIT MEN. Toronto, June 8.—Co-operation in the effort to improve storage and shipping facilities for Ontario fruits were proposed by President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National Railways to the special fruit committee of the Ontario legislature, which waited on him with reference to the matter. He agreed with the committee that shipping facilities for Ontario's fruit crop could be greatly improved. He acquiesced in the view that there should be cold storage facilities on the Canadian mercantile marine.

PASSPORTS ARE NOT NEEDED. Ottawa, June 8.—(Canadian Press)—The department of immigration and colonization says that touring do not require passports as a condition of entry from Canada to the U. S. or for the return journey.

MEXICO ADDS TO THE TAX ON OIL EXPORT. Mexico City, June 8.—Petroleum companies operating in Mexico must pay an average increase of 25 per cent. export taxes on their products, beginning July 1, under the terms of a decree issued by President Obregon last night.

MEXICO ADDS TO THE TAX ON OIL EXPORT. It is estimated this will net the government capital increase of ninety million pesos a year, and the money will be used solely in making payments on Mexico's foreign debt.

MEXICO ADDS TO THE TAX ON OIL EXPORT. Berlin, June 8.—Announcement of the Berlin bank makes a large increase in its capital stock.

S., June 8.—The Herald this morning carries an interview with a Halifax salvage expert, whose name is not given, in which it is said that the salvaging of the Gloucester fishing schooner Esperanto, which foundered south of St. John's, Nfld., is quite feasible. The Esperanto lies in six fathoms of water.

MEXICO ADDS TO THE TAX ON OIL EXPORT. Many Divorce Suits. Paris, June 8.—The French law now forbids the publication of news concerning the trial of divorce suits. Le Vie Parisienne declares that there are 40,000 suits pending in the department of the Seine, which, including Paris, has a population of some four million.

If we rid ourselves of the slave-driving boss, we may have that holiday. —Knott in Dallas News.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter, "the Hiram Hornbeam, 'the weather is most inconsiderate. I was caught in a shower last night and drenched to the skin.' 'Always get something to eat,' said Hiram. 'But if you had a putter dryin' up an' a crop of corn' fer feed, an' the woods burnin' up all round you—you wouldn't be in such a hurry to get a little vittin'. Me an' Hanner set out on the verandah last evening an' thanked the Lord fer that rain. You could see the things in the garden 'st drinkin' it in as you'd drink a glass of butter after heatin' it in the hot sun fer half a day. Mister, a good shower of rain is worth just now more than a tariff or a bonus. An' after it goes by an' you smell the leaves an' the blossoms feel off their increase it makes you give 'em thanks the Lord fer rememberin' the harvest.' 'Yes, sir,' said the reporter, 'I stand rebuked.' 'You orto,' said Hiram. 'What's a weather like that a good crop? It aint nothin'—By Hen!'"

COMMON COUNCIL

The establishment of oil tanks here for the furnishing of fuel to steamers was further discussed, and it was given a public works department to purchase grain equipment, several communications were read and various reports received at the regular weekly meeting of a common council held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Schofield presided and all commissioners were present.

The commissioner of finance and public affairs recommended the payment of the usual departmental accounts for the month amounting to $205,461.19. The committee submitted a by-law entitled "A Law respecting restaurants in the city of St. John" and it was recommended that it be given its first reading today.

The by-law was given its first reading. Mayor Schofield pointed out that, for the first four months of 1920, the city had paid bank interest to the amount of $67,466 while for the corresponding period in 1921 this item was only $762. He expected that there would be an increase from now on owing to the Douglas avenue work.

Mr. Frink presented a resolution from several residents in Lansdowne avenue asking that the city construct three-foot sidewalks on their property. Mr. Frink explained that the sidewalks would be on the property of the applicants and that they would pay the city for the work. Mr. Thornton thought it was not fair for the city to enter into competition with private contractors. Mr. Frink's motion that the work be done was carried.

Big Potato Shipments.

A communication was received from the Furness-Withy Company asking for the use of the city sheds between No. 14 Bertha, Sand Point. These sheds had been vacant and could be used for the shipment of potatoes. The business had been going through Boston but the shippers wished to use a Canadian port. The company would repair the sheds and asked for a lease for ten years at $1 per year. The city would receive the top wharfage and other charges. The company would have twenty steamers here during a season and the city would derive about $228 a steamer in revenue. Mr. Bullock said that the sheds had not been in use for some time but the city had to pay insurance and other overhead charges on them. It was estimated that the company would ship 10,000 barrels of potatoes every ten days or 200,000 barrels during the season. The matter was referred to Mr. Bullock to report.

New Equipment Authorized.

Mr. Frink moved that his department be authorized to purchase a concrete mixer for $3,400, an asphalt-spreading truck for $1,375.93 and a two-ton motor truck with hydraulic hoist and sub-base fitted body for $5,900. These amounts had been included in the bond issue which had previously been approved by the council. Mr. Bullock said that these purchases should be made by tender as the city then would probably get better prices. The motion that the purchases be made was carried. Authority also was given to Mr. Frink to purchase an asphalt pump at a cost of $300, as specified in his appropriations for the year.

TREAT FOR BOYS AT INDUSTRIAL HOME

The W. C. T. U. gave a much appreciated treat to the boys at the Industrial Home in East St. John yesterday afternoon. About nineteen of the members of the W. C. T. U. went out to the home and took with them all the ingredients of a beautiful picnic supper and a treat of oranges, peanuts and candy. The party met with a hearty welcome. As the weather was uncertain the picnic was held indoors in the dining room but it lost nothing of its delight. The weekly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the afternoon, with Mrs. David Hipwell presiding. It was a short meeting and little business was transacted, beyond making arrangements to assist in the Salvation Army tag day this week by serving refreshments to the workers. Immediately after the business meeting the members left for the Boys' Industrial Home.

Then the department aided by the civil service commission does the rest.

NEW B. C. GAME REGULATIONS.

Victoria, B. C. June 8.—Increased bounties on ferocious animals and destructive birds and protective measures with a view to conserving the bear, which is becoming very scarce in many parts of British Columbia, feature new game regulations which have just been announced. Trapping of bear is prohibited for the first time in the history of the province. Only three black bears may now be shot by a hunter in a season. No limit has heretofore been placed on the bag. The limit of grizzlies has been cut from three to two. Bounty for panther (or cougar) has been raised from $25 to $40. Evidently there has been a great increase in these animals, many of them prowling on the outskirts of cities and towns. At times they invade even the thickly populated communities in search of food. Bounty for timber wolves has been increased from $15 to $25. The allowance for crows has been doubled — and is now twenty cents. Magpies, call for twenty cents; and big horn and snow owls and eagles are $1 each.

SWEDISH FUR SALES.

Copenhagen, May 19.—The annual fur sale of the Royal Greenland trade has just taken place here. The pelts of 2,109 foxes, 1,661 white foxes, and 298 polar bears were sold at auction. The pelts of the blue foxes averaged about thirty per cent higher prices than last year, while the white foxes were twenty per cent lower and the bears' skins were fifty per cent lower.

PLAN TO RELIEVE THE WINNIPEG HOUSE SHORTAGE

Winnipeg, June 8.—For the purpose of reducing to a minimum the housing shortage of this city the local health department has suggested to the civic authorities the construction, by means of a huge municipal building scheme, of a "wage earners' residential district on property 50 or 100 acres in extent. The district, according to the scheme suggested, would be laid out in an attractive manner with good streets, boulevards, trees, parks, school site, library, picture theatre and stores, all designed and built as part of a general harmonious plan. The proposal conforms with a former plan to construct dwellings, wholesale with materials purchased in large quantities and so the same group of workmen and the same materials could be employed at one place rather than distributed in different portions of the city as is necessary when individual building operations are under way. The report submitted by the department adds that "if, when the right time comes, a municipal building scheme is inaugurated on the right lines there is no reason it should not be successful."

SASKATCHEWAN GOVERNMENT WILL REWARD THE WINNERS

The Saskatchewan government, as a further encouragement to exhibitors who are now preparing exhibits for this show, will pay this added bonus as well as paying the cost of transporting the exhibits to and from Chicago.

DANGER SIGNALS Headache, colds, nausea, blues, mental depression—these are not only painful and annoying, but they are danger signals. A great majority of these passing illnesses are due to self-poisoning resulting from constipation. Unless you keep your system free from decaying food waste, you start continuous poisoning inside. Ultimately Bright's disease, rheumatism, gout, diabetes, pernicious anemia, and the like, may result. Fill, castor oil, laxative waters and salts only force and irritate the bowels, and make constipation a habit. Nujol works on an entirely new principle. Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many dry muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system. Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it!

AS MEIGHEN SEES US.

Premier Meighen told the Manufacturers' Association that "it was not possible to regulate freight rates so that one part of the country would benefit and the remainder of the country pay for it. In other words, there is to be no restoration of the difference in the government of the different provinces in the maritime province industries seeking a market may be constrained to remove their plants to Quebec or Montreal in order to be able to compete. Meanwhile maritime province people will be denied the privilege of buying in the cheaper market to the south, and will be compelled to assist in enriching the manufacturers of the more populous provinces. It is safe to predict that high tariff advocates will not get a very sympathetic hearing in the provinces east of Quebec. It is to be noted that neither Premier Meighen nor the press of Montreal or Quebec pays any attention to the claims of the lower provinces in regard to confederation pledges. They say it is not set down in the bond. Hence the need of a vigorous campaign of education.

Mr. Meighen also appears to have modified his views on transportation since he last spoke in St. John. On that occasion he said Canada could never be independent of her neighbor to the south until she could convey her own traffic through Canadian channels. In his speech to the manufacturers, yesterday, he is reported to have said that owing to the country's geographical position complete independence was not possible. This is equivalent to saying that there is no national spirit in Canada, and that its business interests will not use Canadian railroads and ports when it seems more to their financial benefit to build up those of the United States. If the prime minister takes this view, what hope can maritime province ports have of development?

It would appear, therefore, that we must be content to lose our industries, pay tribute to Ontario and Quebec, and accept as a special favor any expenditure made to develop our ports. A government which appeals to our people with that policy will get the surprise of its short life.

CHURCH UNION.

By a vote of 414 to 107 the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada declared in favor of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches. This was not a snap vote. A similar declaration was made in 1916, and also in 1911. The question has been debated for more than ten years, and the presbyteries all over the country have had ample time to give it full discussion. Nor, it may be assumed, will hasty action follow a decision of the three bodies in favor of union. The adoption of the principle would pave the way for joint action taken after full deliberation, and with a desire to overcome every prejudice and ensure complete harmony. The first results would be apparent in localities that are over-churches, and where a reduction of overhead expenses and the elimination of rivalry would give most valuable results. There are bigger problems before the churches today than the differences which have kept them apart in the past. There is also a larger union in prospect, for, though at the moment an organic union with the Anglican church is not possible, there has been so kindly an approach, with sincere desire to compose differences, that it is not too much to anticipate the accomplishment of the larger union in the not remote future. Those in the Presbyterian body who opposed union were sincere in their belief that there should be a sympathetic co-operation rather than organic union, and the influence of tradition is very strong; but time will vindicate the views of those who take the broader outlook.

A FATAL APATHY.

To the extent that democracy fails it does so because of the indifference of the people to the kind of government they get. Lord Bryce says: "The extension of the functions of government, and the increasing magnitude and complexity of the subjects falling within these functions, have not elicited a corresponding will to serve the community on the part of those best fitted to serve it." If the foundations of democracy are ever threatened in any country it will be for this very reason. If the people are content to submit to misgovernment, they will get nothing else. This is true of the municipality, the province and the nation at large. The individual citizen must take a personal and intelligent interest in public affairs or fall in his or her duty, and to contribute to a state of affairs which may become dangerous to the community. The agitator finds in an apathetic citizenship a fine field of operations, and there are always those who for purely selfish purposes would overthrow the established order. The Russian Bolsheviks today are seeking to create unrest in other countries, and their agents are as clever as they are unscrupulous. They can make no headway where people are alert, and well-informed. It must be remembered that democracy can only flourish where the people are both alert and well-informed.

THE CLOTHING STRIKE.

The long strike of clothing workers in New York has ended in a compromise, but the settlement makes it clear that the owner owns his shop. The union appeared to think otherwise, but the court did not agree. The New York Times tells the story thus: "Last November an employer, Max Welinsky, having suffered from a fire in his workshop, decided to continue as a manufacturer, which he could only do at a severe loss. His workmen undertook, by picketing his retail store, to force him to rebuild his workshop and continue employing them. In the best manner of Moscow, they claimed that they were the real owners of the industry and that he must obey them. Justice Giergerich put an end to their picketing, and now the new agreement makes it clear that an employer can close up his shop if he wants to. So, for the present at least, the Bolshevik purpose declared in the constitution of the clothing workers is abandoned. It was high time."

These workmen had an extraordinary conception of fair play. They would compel an employer to give them work and wages, even when it meant financial loss to him. The union, however, was able to save the union shop, and a forty-four hour week. It had to accept the fifteen per cent. cut in wages which it rejected last fall, but the employers agreed that future adjustments would be made by a joint committee of the union and the employers' association. One result of the settlement will be cheaper clothing for the people, and another will be that an employer may close his shop when he desires to do so.

Roger Babson said the other day: "The need of the hour is not more factories or materials, not more railroads or steamships, not more armies or navies—but rather more Christian education. This is not the time to reduce investments in schools and colleges at home, or in Y. M. C. A. and similar work. This is the time of all times to increase such subscriptions."

It is announced that Japan is buying large quantities of British Columbia lumber. It is estimated that Japan has purchased from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 feet of this lumber in each of the past four months. The rebuilding of Tokyo after the recent fire, and railroad and bridge repairs, are said to be responsible for this steady demand.

The west has taken another forward step in practical education. A full four-year course in commerce leading to the degree of bachelor of commerce, will be added to the curriculum at the University of Alberta next fall. This was decided upon at the spring meeting of the university senate.

Premier Meighen predicts a reduction in railway freight rates, but offers no comfort to Maritime Province manufacturers seeking a market. Their trouble is distance from the market and freight rates that will be practically prohibitive as long as there are no difficulties.

The crop outlook in Ontario is reported to be favorable. The like is true of the western provinces, and indeed of all Canada. A good general harvest will be of enormous benefit in a year when trade depression is making itself felt.

With British troops in Silesia, the prospect of a satisfactory settlement is improved. The people must be made to understand that the Treaty of Versailles is not a scrap of paper.

There is now an Irish parliament. It was established without untoward incident, and while one section of the people holds aloof the situation is by no means hopeless.

NECESSARY PRELIMINARY.

(San Francisco Argonaut.) A recent experience of a Virginia clergyman throws light on the old English law requiring that marriages should be celebrated before noon. A colored couple appeared before him, asking to be married, the man in a considerably muddled state. The minister said to the woman, "I won't perform this ceremony."

"Why is that, boss?" she queried. "Ain't de heavens all right? An' we is de age of 'em." "Yes, but the man is drunk. Take him away and come back again."

Several days later the couple again presented themselves, the man once more obviously intoxicated. "See here, I told you I wouldn't marry you when this man was drunk," the minister said testily. "Don't you come back here till he's sober."

RAPID DENTISTRY SHOW

A young woman sat in a dentist's chair before the 800 delegates to the annual convention of the New Jersey Dental Society, in Atlantic City last week, while Dr. Edward D. Frost of Elizabeth demonstrated the possibility of speedy extraction, drawing twenty of her teeth in nine minutes. Temporary plates were fitted and she left the chair in thirty minutes.

MAY.

Floats in the air;
The smell of wet wild earth
Is everywhere.

Red small leaves of the maple
Are clenched like hands
Like girls at their first communion.

Oh, I must pass nothing by Without loving it much,
The rain drop try with my lips,
The grass with my touch.

For how can I be sure
I shall see again
The world on the first of May Shining after rain?

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

The darling little baby had just reached that age when he could condescend to an accomplishment in which he indulged most of the time. And probably his mother was telling the tale of his accomplishment. "He is the most welcome visitor I ever had," she said, giving him a smacking kiss. "He just lies and talks to me by the hour. Don't you, baby? Don't you tell mother everything?"

The baby cooed obligingly, and mother's friend replied: "Isn't that nice! So unlike other visitors—they just talk and lie to you by the hour!"

"What's the matter?" cried Mrs. Jones when Bobby came running into the house in tears, dragging his little tin sword behind him and rubbing the seat of his trousers. "I thought you were having such a good time playing soldier."

"We were," sobbed Bobby, "and I was Sherman, and papa heard me."

PRESBYTERIANS

VOTE FOR UNION

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Toronto, June 7.—Organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches was approved by the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada today by a vote of 414 to 107. The official figures are: For the motion 229 ministers and 183 elders, total 414; for the amendment of ministers and elders total 107.

The result was a little different from the vote on union, taken at the Winnipeg General Assembly in 1915, when the returns were 406 to 80 in favor of union. The vote on the question of union, taken at the Edmonton General Assembly in 1911, was also in favor of union, but was not so decisive as the later votes. The issue came before the forty-seventh assembly last week in the form of a resolution which had been sent on by a special committee on union overtures, one moved by Dr. W. J. Clark of Montreal. "That the General Assembly take such steps as may be deemed best to consummate organic union, as expeditiously as possible," and an amendment, moved by Dr. D. Fraser of Montreal, "That the General Assembly at no time seek the consummation of organic union without a clear and unmistakable mandate from the people."

In the debate preceding the vote, Col. Murray MacLaren, of St. John (N. B.), said that in view of the fact that 73,000 members had voted against union a vote of the assembly in favor of union would be breaking faith with them.

A city fashioned on a "rock"
'Way down on Fuddy's shore.
With harbor for big ships to dock
And take the wheat in store.

The Isle of Partridge near the bay,
With shining beacon light,
And "money back" again,
A guiding star at night.
With fog-horn booming through the mist
To "lure the seaman's eye."
The sailor for its sound would list—
The "lubber" wants to die.

A river for the amorous swain,
Four hundred miles and more,
That starts its course "somewhere in Maine"

And drifts Fuddy's shore.
With charming scenes on either side
(That challenge even the Rhine),
From Maine to the reversing life,
Where home and love is mine.

With beach and river, lake and park,
What more could nature give?
When other climes would bid you hark,
Stay East, and love and live.
When lonesome prairies of the West
Take on the "money back" again,
Think well of things you love the best
And you'll know what to do.

We do not know our old "St. Jack"
Until we go away,
For many, many boys come back
Contented, quite, to stay.
Let me hear up, and say her down,
And tax the proper thing,
Let's make a city of this town,
'Till far her fame shall ring.

Let's try to give a little more,
And think not all of gain,
And we will have little gloire
And "money back" again.
Let's sell the street cars for old junk,
And sell the savings bank;
These see-saw cars are surely punk,
And shummy something rank.

Let's have the kind of vestible
To let them come and go,
Who wants to stand out in the "doo!"
A half an hour or so?
Then give more tickets for the bill
And keep pace with the time,
And have a dollar in the till,
Where now you have a dime.

Let's make the most of what we've got,
As though we seemed to care.
If others come to share our lot
Midst nature's beauty rare,
Let's have most all that God can give,
In land and lake and river,
Let's make St. Jack a place to live
Our share to God the giver.

A NEW ARCHITECTURAL FEATURE

(New York Evening Post.)

Twenty years ago stadiums were unknown to America. Now they rise everywhere. Columbia's announcement that she will build a $2,500,000 stadium at Broadway and 218th street, recalls that we shall soon have the Rice Memorial Stadium on Pelham Bay and the "Yankees" Stadium on the site already purchased near the Harlem at 157th street. Eastern universities led in constructing these edifices. Yale, Bowdoin, with permanent seats for over 60,000; Harvard's Stadium with possible accommodations for over 30,000; Michigan's of equal size; the Palmer Stadium at Princeton, permanently accommodating 41,000; Pennsylvania's, seating 27,000; Syracuse's, seating 10,000—all these are familiar. But western universities are falling into line. Ohio State opened an enormous stadium last fall. Chicago expects to extend her concrete grandstands to one. And at Illinois the students alone the other day pledged $7,000 for a memorial stadium. We have non-academic stadiums, like Tacoma's and San Diego's.

The stadiums are the largest-sized evidence of the growing love of outdoor sports, games, and pageantry in Americans. Macaulay's New Zealander, standing on the broken arch of High Bridge, can point to the Columbia Stadium as evidence of the zest with which our country pursued outdoor pastimes.

THE SOMBRERO.

(New York Herald.)
The pride of the Mexican is his hat, or his sombrero, as he calls it. No matter how poor the rest of his attire may be he spares no expense for his head covering, and will tell day and night until he has saved money enough to purchase an appalling sugar-loaf, wide brim heavily corded hat. A shabbily dressed Mexican wearing a hat that cost not less than $20, is not an uncommon sight.

The main reason why Mexicans devote so much attention and money to their hats is because it has become the symbol of one's standing in the community. The grandees of Spain had the privilege of standing in the presence of their sovereign with their hats on, and naturally they vied with each other in the size and gorgeousness of their hats. The populace followed this example as best it could, and so the hat became as distinctive on the heads of the men as the mantilla over the heads of the women.

At one time the Mexican placed his hat and his horse above all other worldly possessions, spending $500 for a hat, gold trimmed and embroidered, and more for his silver-trimmed saddle and bridle. Mexicans of the higher class have abandoned the conical-shaped hat for city wear, as they have accepted our styles of clothing, but every Mexican gentleman still has his native costume of spangles and glitter, with hat to leave when he wears as he may think occasion demands.

A DENTIST TEST.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

To illustrate Oriental habits of thought, a distinguished Briton tells this story of Ismail Pasha, Khedive of Egypt. It once happened that Ismail was suffering from toothache. He sent for a European dentist, who told him that he ought to have the tooth out. Ismail said that he was afraid it would be very painful. He was informed in reply that if he would allow the dentist to administer laughing-gas to him he would feel nothing. He still doubted, but told the dentist to bring his apparatus to the palace and he would then discuss the situation.

The dentist complied, and explained the process to the Khedive, and Ismail then summoned an attendant, who was instructed to tell the sentry at the door to come.

When the man arrived the Khedive ordered him to sit down in the chair and requested the dentist to take out a tooth on either side of his jaw. He said that the sentry was a young, strong man and that he would like to see the experiment tried on some one of weaker physique.

Accordingly, he summoned a slave girl from the harem, and had the dentist extract two of her teeth. "Finding that she accomplishes makes it an economy and not an expense. Think of the fresh food, think of the invigorating, thirst-killing drinks, think of the freedom from dangerous tainted meats, and the splendid savings by avoiding waste food. It requires no stretching of facts to show that the BARNET Refrigerator does not cost money, but rather that it saves money. The milk alone spoiled by no refrigeration, will, in time, pay for a BARNET. Think of what it means to know that you can keep foods the year round just as inviting and appetizing as when they come from the grocer or butcher shop.

did not show evidence of extreme suffering, he then consented to have his own tooth out. It is related, although possibly that part of the story is apocryphal, that the dentist then received an order on the Egyptian treasury for $1,000.

Reported South Africa Negotiating With Wall Street—Rate Higher Than London, But Exchange May Affect Issue.

New York, June 8.—(By Canadian Press)—Recent reports of negotiations by the Union of South Africa for a loan in this country have attracted attention to the possibility of other British dominions appearing here as borrowers, says the Wall Street Journal. "Canada and Newfoundland are already familiar names on the bond market but Australia and New Zealand no less than South Africa remain complete strangers. They all need funds and London is hard put to provide them. But nevertheless prospect of their entry into the New York money market is not considered by bankers who have studied the situation as promising, at least for the time being."

"Before the war all the dominions relied on London for their public financing, and for political and economic reasons they still do so. But during the war a precedent was set by Canada when in 1915 she raised a loan of $100,000,000 here, her example being followed by Newfoundland and being repeated several times since. Such appeals have invariably had a good reception here, where Canadian conditions are well known. "Knowledge of financial and economic conditions in the other dominions is confined to a few specialists in this country, and their distance has contributed to prevent resort here for funds. In the case of both South Africa and New Wales, which is the only state in Australia retaining its right to borrow independently of the commonwealth, inquiries to formal negotiations is a long step."

"At the present moment it is declared in Wall street that South Africa or Australia would not expect to get funds at less than 8 per cent. London, on the other hand, offers them 6-1/2 per cent, even if London has to borrow the money here to pass on the them. In January last the commonwealth borrowed in England 5,000,000 pounds sterling at nearly 6-1/2 per cent, but only forty-five per cent of the total was taken up by subscriptions. Indirect inquiries in New York appear to have been made before that, eliciting the statement that probably 8 per cent. would be demanded. "A similar state of things prevails regarding the proposed South African loan, London competing against New York. However, in this case the prospect seems more favorable for New York because South Africa exchange is at par while Australian, owing to heavy war expenditure, is at a discount as regards London.

"The latest loan issued in London—4,000,000 pounds sterling, for Norway—yielded a little over 6-3/4 per cent, and was an immediate success. The latest colonial issue 1,000,000 pounds sterling for the city of Sydney, N. S. W. bears 6-1/2 per cent. interest and has just been oversubscribed.

"If everyone would use LIQUID GRANITE when varnishing floors, we'd hear no more complaints about the finish. Nothing equals it for its beautiful lustre and amazing durability. Liquid Granite preserves wood, linoleum and oilcloth, and is easily cleaned with a damp cloth without destroying the gloss. Be sure to specify Liquid Granite."

THE TRAGEDY OF RUSSIAN LIFE

"If the train bearing Lenin and eighteen other Bolsheviks across Germany to Russia had fallen through a bridge on its way and all had perished, events in Russia would have taken much the same course." It is on this basis that Prof. Edward Alsworth Rosa has written "The Russian Bolshevik Revolution" (Century). He shows in the first place why the revolution was greeted as a cure-all for the countless wrongs the Russian people had been suffering for centuries and why the ecstatic fraternal mood could not last. During what Prof. Rosa calls the "revolutionary honeymoon" there were gratifying symptoms of unselfishness, good will, and hope for a new Russia. But hardly had the immediate wrong-doers been punished and the people began to settle down to the business of decent civic life than there arose the feeling that it was merely going to be an exchange of dictators and the cry went forth: "Save our revolution!"

In Darkest Russia. The feeling is rather general that when the toiling masses of Russia, standing amid their freshly broken chains, did not conduct themselves as more "enlightened" peoples would have done when faced with the problem of their illiteracy and the primitiveness of the Russian folk-mind. Prof. Rosa, though admitting that, such a consideration cannot be entirely overlooked, makes the sensible observation that we can understand Russian behavior only in the light of Russian experience. He then shows, not by the heaping up of 22,000 people, a third of the children were buried before they reached their first birthday, while of those who survived eighty-two per cent. had some all-ment. Of that big, physical robustness which we have pictured to ourselves after seeing a few casual immigrants there was but little evidence. Men worked twelve hours a day for thirty-five cents. Of the sixteen million men who made up the czar's army in 1914, none was alive—and normal—in 1917.

Largest Statue Yet Made by a Woman Is Work of One Who Never Had a Lesson

Immense Monument to Bolivar in New York the Achievement of Sally James Farnham, a Born Sculptor—Did Not Start on Professional Career Until She was Twice a Mother.

The statue of Bolivar, the great South American liberator, in Central Park, New York, dedicated as a gift from the people of Venezuela to the city of New York, is the largest work of sculpture a woman which history anywhere records. It is the work of Sally James Farnham—an unschooled, self-taught artist who never had a lesson in her life and, what is more, it is the work of one who was a grown woman, the mother of two children, before she did her first modeling; indeed before the idea of being a sculptor at all ever entered her much-preoccupied head, says Alexander Woolcott in the Delineator. Mrs. Farnham's is one of the few instances on record where an art taken up in adult years has been carried forward to the goals of financial and critical award.

The curious thing is not merely that, when she decided to become a professional sculptor, she was well past the age and circumstances popularly assigned to a novice, but that a year prior to this decision she had never even thought of such a thing, never dreamed that her own unmistakable gift was in her. Looking back now on the earlier years, there were only two clues to what One was a trick that she had as a child—was coming—very faint clues at that, of carving with scissors, of cutting out of blank paper all manner of figures of men and women and elephants and giraffes and such appealing subjects. To this day Mrs. Farnham can pick up a piece of paper and, with her fingers, tear out a perfectly recognizable portrait of the person sitting opposite her—a disconcerting trick, by the way. The other foreshadowing of the Bolivar was her very special passion for sculpture—not as something to do but as something to look at and adore. The discovery of her talent was not only late but comically casual. It happened when she was bedridden for some weeks in a New York hospital and craved something to occupy her mind. She had quite exhausted the amusement afforded by her medicated surroundings when a friend chanced to place some modeling clay in her hands. She soon found herself greatly diverted and somewhat surprised by the figures into which one, or this one at least, could shape the stuff—using for the purpose an orange stick, the only sculptor's tool available. When she was permitted to go home her mind was full of this new accomplishment, and she found it amusing to go on with it. In her first professional year she cleared more than twenty thousand dollars. She kept on. Her first order was for a fountain. She had made a sketch for it which so delighted Colonel Emerson of Baltimore, that he bought a garden just to justify its purchase. His check was the first money she ever earned.

It Hits the Farmer. (Toronto Globe.) The reduction in prices of farm products had, as anticipated, the effect of retarding the purchase of manufactured goods in rural parts. Travellers during the past week have experienced a growing tendency on the part of the country retail merchants to refrain from purchasing. One traveller declared that he had booked one fairly large order during the week and that the merchant after turning the matter over in his mind and hearing expressions of pessimism from his customers, decided to cancel it.

When the board of elections was recently organized in Tiffin, O., attorney Heath K. Cole won the clerkship on the toss of a coin, as that position was deadlocked on the ballot. This is Cole's 11th consecutive year in that office and six of the 11 times he has been selected by lot after the election failed to decide.

PREDICTS DEATH OF BOLSHEVISM Grandson of Tolstoi, Russian Writer, Fights With Kolchak-Bride of Three Days Missing.

Rome, May 19.-Associated Press by mail)-Count Elias Tolstoi, a grandson of the famous Russian writer, has just arrived here after a journey through China and Japan, having escaped from the Bolsheviki. In 1918, after three days of married life, he had to flee from Moscow because he was condemned to death and now he is in ignorance as to whether his bride is dead or alive. He joined Admiral Kolchak's forces and fought against the Bolsheviki, was stricken with typhus on three occasions and was nursed in the American hospital at Omak. He said that his aunt, Catherine, is in prison at Moscow and another aunt, Tatiana, is a servant of a Bolsheviki family. Tolstoi predicts the sure and inevitable

Jap Exploring North
Edmonton, Alta., June 8. - Jujuro Wada, intrepid Japanese explorer, who holds the distinction of having made the fastest return trip from Edmonton to the Fort Norman oil fields by dog-team, is again on his way north on an expedition to the Arctic, which may prove even more eventful than that made in the dead of winter this year. He expects to return here by fall.

The little Jap, who has been continuously exploring Canadian Arctic regions since the year 1893, is convinced that there are minerals, including gold, on the far northern slope, and plans to ascend the next four or five months exploring the region of the Canoe river from the Arctic Ocean inland.

Further Information of Injury to Navigation by C. P. R. New Bridge at the Falls—What G. H. Duggan Said.

To the Editor of The Times:—
Sir:—In an effort to establish the clearance and fairway afforded by the highway bridge over the falls and thus to prove that the new C. P. R. bridge would give equal clearance and fairway, Mr. Fairburn quoted a few words from an article by Mr. George Herrick Duggan which was read before the Institute of Civil Engineers in London. This article was also referred to by Colonel Monsarrat in his report to the department of public works. A selection of a few words is not always equitable. I, therefore, trust that you will print the whole article bearing on the navigation of the river, which I here-

Excerpt of Paper Number 4267.
"The Superstructure of St. John Arch By George Herrick Duggan, M. Inst. C. E. Section 2, Page 225, Vol. CCVII. Minutes of Proceedings of the Institution of Civil Engineers, J. H. Tudeberry, D. Sc., M. Inst. C. E., Secretary, London, England.

"The St. John arch ranks high among the long span bridges of Canada, being only second in span to the Quebec bridge, but its interest lies chiefly in its surroundings, in the low rise of about one-ninth of the span and, consequently, in the comparatively heavy stresses met in the cantilever erection of each half of the arch.

"The arch spans the St. John river, which flows into the Bay of Fundy at the city of St. John after a course of approximately 450 miles and forms, with its tributaries, towards its mouth, a wide lake-like expanse, from which the only outlet to the sea is through a very restricted gorge, with precipitous rocky banks (Figs. 1 and 2). The width of the river here is narrowed down to about 350 feet for a length of about 270 feet in a direction normal to the bridges. (Normal here means at right angles to the bridges and not on a slanting course from west to east as shown on the blue-print furnished by the resident engineer of St. John.) Besides narrowing to such an extent, the river makes a very sharp bend at the southern end of the gorge, caused by the extreme point of a long and high rock tongue, which is the western end of the city. A similar point of rock juts out at the northwest end of the gorge and becomes the deflecting influence for the current as it leaves the wider reach above to enter the canon. These two points are composed of hard limestone, the upper surface of which is somewhat weathered, but of which the general bedrock is exceedingly good, and is very suitable for foundations.

"The spring tides in the harbor of St. John have a range of about twenty-seven feet. The normal surface of the river basin above the gorge is about seventeen feet above ordinary low tide, and the basis thus becomes tidal as well as a long stretch of river. The area of the gorge is so restricted, compared to the area of the extensive basin above, that the change in level causes very strong currents and an actual fall upstream of about ten feet during H. W. O. S. T., whilst at low tides there is an outward flow of about seventeen feet. It is from this fact that the name Reversing Falls, which has long been associated with the locality, has arisen.

"The river between the gorge and its mouth forms the present harbor of St. John, and is occupied on the east side by slips, wharves and the commercial activities of a restricted water front, while on the west side the Canadian Pacific has established deep-water terminals for all-the-year-round service.

"The gorge is the only practical location for bridging the river for a long distance from its mouth. The deep water and strong currents in the gorge, as well as the navigation interests, demanded that the crossing should be in one span. The first crossing was effected in 1832, when a suspension bridge was erected. Some years later a bridge of the cantilever type was built to connect the railways on either side of the gorge, which has since been acquired by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"As the city and suburbs of St. John extended, the traffic outgrew the capacity of the suspension bridge, both in volume and in the character of the loads, and the government of the Province of New Brunswick determined to replace the suspension bridge with one of ample capacity for the growing traffic. Mr. A. R. Wetmore, provincial engineer, prepared general plans and specifications, in collaboration with the late Mr. C. C. Schneider, who made the design for the steel construction. Tenders were asked for the work in February, 1918, and the Dominion Bridge Company secured the contract for the steel superstructure, including the floor construction and the ornamental iron work.

"Conditions at the site required ample clearance over the river for all navigation purposes, an elevation of roadway corresponding with the elevation of the existing roads on either side and that the structure would be capable of erection without any support from below. The shallow spandrel-braced arch chosen by Mr. Schneider not only meets the requirements in all the particulars mentioned, but also has a very pleasing appearance.

navigation, it was necessary to raise the grade of the new bridge, so that the elevation of the crown of the roadway at the centre of the span comes to 103½. This arrangement provides 240 feet width of fairway at a clearance elevation of eighty. Page 208.

"The author wishes to make acknowledgment to Mr. A. R. Wetmore, provincial engineer, for information concerning the site and substructure, and to express his appreciation of the work of Mr. E. P. Shearwood, assistant chief engineer of the Dominion Bridge Company, and of his staff in carrying out the detail work of the office and erection."

The above is the article from which Mr. Fairburn, chief engineer of the C. P. R., quoted, and referred to by Colonel Monsarrat, government consulting engineer, in his report to the department of public works, to establish heights and fairway.

The new bridge will only give about forty-five feet fairway on the western side of the centre line of the highway bridge, with equal clearance to that of the existing cantilever bridge; with fifty-five feet fairway it will be one foot lower. At seventy-five feet, the fairway mentioned by Colonel Monsarrat, it will be five and one-half feet lower, and at the 120-foot fairway mentioned by Mr. Duggan it will be nineteen and one-half feet lower than the existing cantilever bridge, according to the report of R. H. Cushing, C. E.

It was on the strength of our statement that at the western end of Colonel Monsarrat's seventy-five foot fairway from centre line of the highway bridge the new bridge will be five and one-half feet below the existing railway bridge that the stop order of March 1918, was issued by the department of public works. Said order has since been rescinded without refuting the statement that the new bridge at that point will be five and one-half feet lower than the existing railway bridge.

METHODIST CHURCH FOR LONG SKIRTS
London, Ont., June 7.—That the Methodist church frowns upon short skirts, gambling, dancing in colleges, schools and summer resorts and the stigma attached to illegitimate children was evidenced by discussions which took place at the general session of the London Methodist conference today.
Rev. Sanderson of Seaford introduced the subject of "ladies attire" but was greeted by a chorus of "oh's" from fellow delegates. "I would recommend some young ladies to go to bed," he declared. "It is a disgraceful thing. Our women ought to be decently attired at least."
"What is the trouble?" asked a member of the conference. "The clothes are a little too far from the ground and quite near enough to Heaven," he replied.

Those stabled at Dorval will be carried to Blue Bonnets each day by special train for the events in which they are entered, while those stabled at Mt. Royal will be walked over to Blue Bonnets for the race as those stabled at Blue Bonnets were for the meeting at Mount Royal.

FAMOUS STORY
TELLER MAKES HIT

Frank Bush Entertains Opera House Patrons—High Class Musical Offering, Grand Clog Dancing, Hazardous and Sensational Aerial Feats.

There was one continuous titter of merriment, with frequent outbursts of hearty laughter and applause, while Frank Bush narrated amusing yarns and stories at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening. As soon as he appeared on the stage it was apparent that he was an entertainer of no mean ability and from that on he held undivided attention. His impersonation of numerous characters was a real treat, and his subject matter teemed with wit and humor. In addition, he played on a violin, whistled, and the melodies he produced were marvelous.

Jerome and France scored a hit in a musical offering, which was featured with Broadway song hits. The lady member sang in a clear, full soprano, and her partner in a high silvery tenor. Their duets were harmonious, and their accompaniments on the piano and obbligato on a cello well executed. They received rounds of applause.

Josephine and Harry appeared in a bright comedy singing and dancing offering. The stage setting was attractively arranged, and the clog dancing of the black-faced comedian a feature. His steps were novel, and while holding on with his hands or standing on his head he kept dancing without any apparent effort. His offering was greeted by enthusiastic applause and his act made a popular hit.

Marie Dorr gave a number of clever impersonations. Her mimicry of an old farmer was both amusing and cleverly done. She is a talented entertainer and her efforts evoked well-merited applause. Kafka and France astounded the audience with their hazardous acrobatic feats, which had a real thrill. One of the most sensational was performed by one of the members while swinging on a bar. He suddenly let go and while apparately falling into space caught the bar with his heels. Their entire performance was skillful and fascinating. In addition to the bright new acts there was another episode of the serial drama "Fighting Fate," featuring William Duncan. This programme will be repeated tonight and again on Thursday afternoon and evening.

REV. W. H. BARRACLOUGH GOES TO ONTARIO.
The annual meeting of the Central Methodist quarterly official board was held last evening in the church parlors, at which the reports of the various departments were received, showing the church to be in a flourishing condition. The total membership is now 560, a net increase of twenty-three. Thirty-five have been received by transfer and twenty-eight by profession of faith in the past year. Three hundred and fifty families are now attached to the church in a constituency of about 1,200. This report also showed that twenty-five had been baptized, twenty-three of whom were children.

This being the occasion of the Rev. W. H. Barraclough's last meeting with the board before leaving for his new church in upper Canada, each of the members of the board spoke most appreciatively of the pastor's services during his four years connection with Central, and all expressed their regret at his departure from Moncton. Mr. Barraclough, in replying, said he had enjoyed his pastorate here in every way and regretted his departure even more than any of his co-workers, even though he was returning to his native province. He said in closing that he had never been connected with a church where money had been donated so readily by the congregation.

Incidentally the Grand Trunk on its terminal facilities there. But probably St. John is not jealous. The Correct Types of Furniture for the Bedroom

That critical degree of care and thought which has always characterized the selections of Everett's, is especially pronounced in the present displays of bedroom furniture.

From the least expensive pieces which are within the price limitation of the very modest income, to the most exquisite suite, every article of bedroom furniture reflects that fineness of artistic conception which is so potential in the effective furnishing of the bedroom.

There are selections in mahogany and in walnut in the important and popular designs, and in the much favored enamels.

The display is so comprehensive that every personal inclination may find its response, and the prices are all based on present manufacturing costs.
