Grand Nephew of Florence Nightingale to Wed Lady Bruce—Baronet Who Lost Fortune and Honors and Went to Prison — The Elgins

(Copyright, 1911, by the Westwood Company)

Florence Nightingale's grand-nephew, Sir Harry Verney, fourth baronet of his line, is about to wed Lady Rachel Bruce, daughter of the Earl of Elgin, formerly Viceroy of India, and with whose name more are struck at the marriage ceremony, in accordance with family custom and tradition, an ancient ring with a miniature of Charles I. set in diamonds.

It is an historic gem. It belonged to Sir Edmund Verney, who was killed at the battle of Edgehill. He fell in that battle. Strangely enough his body was never recovered, despite the search that was made for it. All that was found was a severed hand, still grasping a piece of the flagstaff of standards, which was identified by the ring on the third finger, which had been presented to Sir Edmund by King Charles.

The hand was reportedly interred at Clayton House, the ancestral home of the Verneys, in Buckinghamshire, and there, according to family tradition, the ghost of the old cavalier frequently appears, notably on the night of October 23, which is the anniversary of the battle of Edgehill, searching for his lost hand.

Clayton House, to which Sir Harry Verney will bring his bride on the termination of his honeymoon, has been the home of the Verneys since the beginning of the thirteenth century. One of its most notable owners in olden times was Sir Ralph Verney, who was Lord Mayor of London in 1460, and member of parliament for the metropolis for several years afterwards.

Sir Harry Verney is strictly speaking a member of the Calvert family, which played so important a part on this side of the Atlantic in old colonial days, and is admitted for the name and arms of the Verneys to the terms of the will by which the Verneys bequeathed their estates to the Calverts. In fact, Sir Harry cannot claim descent, even in the female line, from King Charles' standard bearer at the battle of Edgehill.

The son of this standard bearer was created a baronet by Charles II, immediately after the restoration. His son in turn, Sir John Verney, was raised to the peerage as Viscount Fermanagh, and his son was advanced to the Earldom of Verney. The second Earl of Verney died without issue, his honors becoming extinct, while Clayton House and the other estates of the Verneys passed to his nephew, Sir Harry Calvert, a distinguished general, who had received a baronetcy for his military services, and who was married to the daughter of Thomas Hammersley of Pall Mall, London, of the same family as the Hammersleys of New York. General Sir Harry Calvert, on succeeding to the Verney estates, assumed by the terms of the will by which he inherited the property, the name and arms of the Verneys, and died in 1894, and who in his ninety-second year still rode to hounds and acted as master of the hunt, and was married to the daughter of the late Lord Elgin, the late Lord Elgin, who was a member of the House of Commons, was dismissed from the royal army, which he held the rank of captain, forfeited all the medals which he had won in the Crimean war, in the Sudan, and underwent a sentence of two years imprisonment with hard labor for conviction of a crime in which a young girl under age was concerned.

Sir Edmund had up to that time, been designated as the heir of the very large fortune of his uncle, Frederick Calvert, 4th baronet, and member of parliament for Aylesbury. When, however, Sir Edmund was convicted, Frederick Calvert altered his will, and left his property instead to Edmund's younger brother, Harry Lloyd Verney, and his wife, Lady Verney, who was the daughter-in-law of the late William Bayly and Cutting of New York, who like him, had married a daughter of the Earl of Desart. Harry Lloyd Verney is at the present time heir presumptive to the Verney baronetcy.

The actual owner of the Verney estates, Sir Harry Calvert Verney, is a man of thirty, is member of parliament for North Buckinghamshire, and was private secretary to Lord Elgin when the latter was Viceroy of India, and was private secretary of state for the colonies. It was through his uncle's acquaintance with his chief's youngest daughter, Lady Rachel Bruce, just twenty years of age, who is now to become his wife.

Born in Ottawa

Lord Elgin, who three years ago refused the offer of advancement to the rank of Marquis, is chief of that great Scottish house of Bruce which furnished Robert Bruce to the throne of Scotland as its most famous king. He was born on this side of the Atlantic, having first seen the light of day in Ottawa, during his father's term of office as governor general of Canada. Lord Elgin, at Broomhall, his ancestral seat in Scotland, preserves many historic relics, including the sword and helmet of King Robert Bruce. His great-grandfather was the man who presented to the British nation those masterpieces of ancient Greek sculpture known as the "Elgin Marbles," and which now figure in the British Museum; while his father was the Earl of Elgin who was special ambassador to the United States some sixty years ago and who concluded a commercial treaty with the United States which is still in force to the day. It is the only treaty with the United States which the Englishmen regard him as having saved.

Be Fair. Buy a sack or barrel before judging PURITY FLOUR

SOME people have attempted to judge PURITY FLOUR before knowing the facts about it—before using it. So we ask you to be fair and to buy a sack or barrel of PURITY FLOUR and give it a thorough try-out before attempting to arrive at a judgment.

Look at the beauty and loveliness of the golden-crusted, snowy-crumbed loaves, fit for a king. Count them and see how many more of them PURITY yields to the barrel than ordinary flour does.

Taste the creamy, flaky pie crust, and the deliciously light cakes PURITY FLOUR rewards you with. My! How they make your mouth water!

Such high-class results can only be obtained when using a flour consisting exclusively of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat berries.

And remember that on account of its extra strength and extra quality, PURITY FLOUR requires more water than making bread and more shortening when making pastry, than you are accustomed to use with ordinary flour.

PURITY FLOUR

"More bread and better bread"

Buy a bag or barrel of PURITY FLOUR. Test it for a week. Then pass judgment. Add PURITY FLOUR to the grocery list right now.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THREE working girls belonging to what we are pleased to call the "middle class" of society, were discussing what they did with their money.

"Of course, I pay board at home," said the private secretary.

"I pay four dollars a week on that's where eighteen dollars a month goes."

One of the teachers stated that she contributed three dollars towards the family budget, while another gave three and a half.

These girls are all earning good salaries. They all belong to families which made sacrifices to educate them, and which have now too easy a time to get along now.

And yet they mention their small contributions with an evident sense of righteousness.

Not that so strange after all, for they know many among their circle of friends, who in similar situations do not give their fathers a cent for board, but spend all their money upon themselves, with the exception of spasmodic gifts which they are occasionally moved to present and for which they expect extravagant gratitude.

That is one picture. Now let me paint another.

Our washerwoman has a daughter who has been five months in business college. She earns eight dollars a week as a stenographer. Her mother is very proud of her. She was telling me about a pretty waist she wanted to buy. "I'm going to ask mother if she can't manage to let me have the money for it," she said.

"What don't you buy your own clothes?" I asked, completely misunderstanding.

"What do you mean?" she counter-queried.

"Why don't you buy the waist with your own money, instead of asking your mother for it?"

She laughed good naturedly. "Because I haven't any money," she said; "I give it all to mother and she gives me back what I need for clothes and carfare."

One more instance. Mary is a maid. She gets five dollars a week. Last year her sister died. Mary is still paying the funeral expenses, which were about $100. Think what that means—the pay for twenty-five weeks' hard work.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours.

NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poison in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups merely "make trouble worse by needling the system. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce (half with children, one ounce compound essence) and three ounces syrup which will compound. Mix in a bottle. Take one or two or four or six drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friends who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicine prepared in a skillful and careful manner, and which has been tested in an endless chain of cases, and is recommended by those who have been cured, to those who are in need of it.

In an interview on the subject a prominent local druggist said: "Take for example Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows immediate results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

The success of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

A free trial bottle will be sent by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention the paper. Regular size bottle sold at all druggists in Canada. 75c and $1.25.

Aylmer Official Sees no Need to Close Schools; "If You Are to Catch it You Will Catch It"

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 2.—That smallpox is not infectious was the rather startling statement made by Mayor Chartier of Aylmer yesterday, when interviewed as to why the proper precautions are not being taken in that town against the spread of the disease.

GEORGE RAY DIES SUDDENLY

Death overtook George Robert Day suddenly this morning. He had been a partial invalid from paralysis for twelve years. INVEST IN ORCHARDS

The members of the Board of Trade and the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association could not perform a more useful and valuable service than to teach people with some money to invest the merits of home investment.

Why should not an orchard in New Brunswick be as attractive to the investor as a rubber plantation, a mining venture or a railroad in Mexico, an orange plantation in Florida or California, or an alleged gold mine in Colorado?

The report of this Royal Commission, having Dr. Robertson as its chairman, should be of immense benefit to Canada.

MAKING A TEST

Man Got From Under Just Before Crash and Now it is Contended What He Drew Should be Returned For Creditors as Whole

Montreal, Nov. 1.—A case of interest to all who either lost or won as a result of the operations of Charles D. Sheldon, quondam wizard of finance, will occupy the attention of the superior court during the November term, which is about to open.

The proceedings in the case will be eagerly followed by a large number of ex-Sheldonites, as the action is in the nature of a test case, and upon the issue in the present instance will depend what steps will be taken in regard to others who, like the defendant in the present action, are alleged to have withdrawn monies from the Sheldon office, a short time prior to the disappearance of the financier.

The main contention of the defence, which will be represented by Henry J. Elliott, K. C., will be to the effect that all monies entrusted to the care of the ex-wizard, were taken and received by him to all intents and purposes, for investment, pure and simple.

SENSATIONAL RISES IN FURS NOT EXPECTED Some Kinds, However, Very Scarce On the London Market BRANDED SEALSKINS Trappers Thus Destroy Them—Prices in World's Metropolis This Season Looked For to Be About as Last Year

So far have the American trappers been known to carry their proprietary claims that seals have been found branded by them across the back, thus destroying the skins. The seals have also been recklessly captured and sea, and the hunt for them has

STARTED AS CLERK AT $1 A DAY
Thirty-Seven Years Ago That Was Income of Chas. M. Hays, Now Great Railway Man

CHARLES M. HAYS

Charles M. Hays who began his railroad career in St. Louis 37 years ago as a $1 a day clerk, says the St. Louis Times, and who now is said to receive $100,000 a year as president of the Grand Trunk railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific railway of Canada, declared St. Louis was his first love and if he ever should retire from active railroading he intended to give this city first consideration as a place to live.

President Hays is a self-made man, having gone into the world to seek his fortune because his father had not been ever successful in a little drug store at St. Joseph, Mo., where Hays attended high school and worked for his father for 50 cents a week. So Hays came to St. Louis, the biggest city in Missouri, for he declared it he was possessed of any merit St. Louis would give him an opportunity to show it.

Hays lived rather frugally during the time he was a $1-a-day clerk in the passenger department of the Atlantic and Pacific railway in St. Louis in the winter of 1873. Later he was in the auditor's office and general superintendent's office until 1877, when the Missouri Pacific gained control of the Atlantic and Pacific. Then Hays became secretary to the general manager from 1877 to 1884.

Explanation of Young James Moore's Late Hours in Street—Cuthro Boy Case Demands Attention

James Moore and James Cuthro, two young boys, were in the police court today. Moore was charged with wandering about in Charlotte street last night, being about one and two o'clock and not giving a satisfactory account of himself. He told the court that his mother and father were away from home and that he did not want to stay in the house alone. This proved to be untrue, as his mother appeared in court and said that the boy was somewhat of a trouble maker and had a habit of getting up in the night and going out of the house. She was told by the court to look after the boy better, and he was allowed to go home.

WOULD SELL MAGEE SLIP TO THE CITY

Offer From J. A. Sinclair to Be Discussed This Afternoon By Committee

MEETING THIS MORNING

Superintendent Reports Total Cost of the Governor Carleton to Date $40,798.28 — Gate Keeper's Lodge Must Not Be Made a Loading Place

An offer to sell the property known as the Magee slip, adjoining the eastern ferry floats, was received by the ferry committee this morning in a communication from J. A. Sinclair, on behalf of the owners. A sub-committee was appointed to discuss the offer this afternoon and report direct to the common council.

At a meeting of the ferry committee this morning, Ald. Smith presided and there were present: Aldermen Kierstead, Potts, McLeod and Elliott, the common clerk and the ferry superintendent.

The superintendent submitted his monthly report, covering cleaning of toll houses and floats, repairs to them and to the port light, new wharves and pipes have been fitted. The total cost of the Governor Carleton to date has been $40,798.28, and the cost of ferry maintenance from January 1 to date has been $37,479.83. Stores were purchased at a cost of about $225. The report was adopted.

Ald. McLeod moved that a small beater be placed in the gate keeper's shelter on the west side floats.

When asked for his opinion, the superintendent said that he did not believe it was necessary, and that when there was a heater in the place before, it became a regular loading place and gin mill. After some further discussion he agreed that he could keep the place clear of loaves, and the motion was carried.

Mr. Sinclair's communication was offering to sell to the city the property adjoining the southern side of the east side ferry floats known as the Magee slip. This includes part of the wharf next to the floats, the wharf behind the Magee building and the wharf adjoining the Mackay wharf.

The committee adjourned to the wharf to look over the property, and on their return heard Mr. Sinclair. A sub-committee, consisting of the chairman, Ald. Potts, McLeod and the superintendent, was appointed to discuss prices with the owners. They will meet at four o'clock this afternoon and will report directly to the council.
