OXFORD CREW WON BY THREE LENGTHS

Wearers of the Dark Blue Captured Historic Boat Race on Famous Thames Course Today—Crowds Lined the Banks While Oarsmen Struggled

OXFORD WON

Putney, April 3.—The sixty-sixth annual variety race between the crews representing Oxford and Cambridge was rowed on the Thames between Putney and Mortlake today, and won by Oxford by three lengths.

Putney, Eng., April 3.—Tens of thousands hurried to the banks of the Thames to witness the famous boat race today for the sixty-sixth annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge, an event which shares with the Derby the undying enthusiasm of the British sporting public.

When there occurs that rare boon, a pleasant day here in early April, then the spectacle along the Thames is one of the rarest sights of the world and it chanced that this morning dawned clear and sunny although somewhat cold. With an absence of wind, however, conditions were favorable for rowing as well as for the comfort of the spectators. It was an almost perfect scene as the throng hurried from city and country coming by train, tram, motor cars and carts. Hundreds of brightly decorated small craft showed one another as they made their way towards the course from miles up and down the river.

Cambridge Crew Was the Favorite

The contest between the two universities is as historic as a pageant as a test of seamanship. While veterans rowers like Guy Nickalls proclaim the crew of 1909 as inferior to those of the 80's when they were in the boat, the enthusiasts today were worked up to a high pitch of excitement over the result. The Cambridge crew undoubtedly was the favorite but the dark blues who are the heaviest crew that ever raced have shown such remarkable improvement in the last ten days that they most decidedly became dark horses. The popular hero of the day was the Cambridge stroke, D. C. R. Stuart, who has stroked three victories for Oxford and who defeated the Harvard eight in 1906. He is a small, pale man, with glasses, and looks more like a scholar than an athlete, but the experts considered that his generalship would be one of the most important factors in the race and that, win or lose, he still would be remembered among the greatest oarsmen the English universities ever have produced.

The Suffragists Took Advantage of Occasion

Before ten o'clock in the morning the banks of the river from Putney bridge to the finishing post were thickly crowded. Excursion craft of all kinds lined both sides of the stream and the house tops and other points of vantage and the grand stands were filled rapidly. The early editions of the afternoon papers, which are circulating everywhere, are printed on blue paper. The female suffragists are talking advantage of the occasion for advertising purposes. They are ending up balloons emblazoned with the words, "Votes for women." The two crews aroused great enthusiasm about Putney when they emerged from the bushes at ten o'clock and made short practice pulls. Both were pronounced to be in perfect condition.

How the Great Race Was Won

The race was won by Oxford by three and one-half lengths after the tussle which for three quarters of the course was one of the most stirring contests seen on the Thames for many years.

GREAT MARATHON DERBY MAY BE RUN IN THE RAIN

Showers Predicted for New York This Afternoon—Great Interest in Race in which Longboat, Dorando, Hayes, Schrubb, Maloney and St. Yves will Compete

New York, April 3.—Showers are predicted for New York and vicinity today but undaunted thousands began early preparations to journey northward to the National League ball park or polo grounds where there will be held this afternoon the greatest professional marathon in history.

The first Marathon is recorded occurred more than 2,000 years ago but surely no more sturdy runners ever competed in days gone by than the six who will struggle over the five lap track for 26 miles and 385 yards today.

There were intermittent showers last night but the track has not been affected to any great extent and even in the event of a terrific downpour the race would perhaps still be on hand notwithstanding. Ten thousand dollars is the prize for which the runners will contend.

To the winner will go half or $5,000; to the second man $2,500; to the third, $1,000 and to the fourth $1,000. The contestants will start at 10 o'clock from the New York dry goods clerk at the Olympic gymnasium in London and the subsequent ar-

NEWS FROM ANTIGONISH HAS SOME INTERESTING MURDER MYSTERY

Young Man Named Delorey, Hailing From Antigonish, and a Greek Named James J. Manter, Arrested at North Cambridge, Mass., for Crime Which Has Long Baffled the Police—Delorey Says the Greek Is the Guilty Party

Boston, Mass., April 3.—(Special)—A young man named Delorey, not yet eighteen who is from Antigonish in the province of Nova Scotia, was arrested at North Cambridge together with James J. Manter, aged 29, a Greek, jointly charged with the murder of Annie Mullins, the Newfoundland domestic who was slain a year ago. The crime was one of the most mysterious ever committed in this country and the authorities had about given up hope of apprehending the murderers when the news of the arrest came yesterday.

The young men were given a preliminary examination shortly after being taken by the police and the Greek is said to have confessed that he killed the girl. The Nova Scotia lad, who, at the present time, is held equally responsible, declared that he is innocent and that his companion is the guilty one.

Both men are greatly agitated and spent a fearful night in their cells. They were placed under guard who feared that they might try to do away with themselves, so great was their grief. Delorey is said to have told the police that he and Manter were employed as farm hands together in Billerica at the time of the tragedy. They went to Cambridge together after supper and picked up an acquaintance with the girl whom they met in Porter's Square.

The three strolled together to Arlington Centre and the way back they persuaded Miss Mullins to walk through Square's Field.

The Greek engaged the girl in conversation and Delorey says that they walked a short distance from where he was standing.

A few minutes later Delorey said he heard a shriek, followed by other cries, and then Manter rushed up to him and excitedly explained that he had tried to overcome her but that she had fought so hard he had to cut her throat. Delorey added that the Greek made him swear not to divulge the secret under penalty of a trolley car.

At Arlington Centre they changed cars and continued to Billerica. Delorey says that the Greek kept his hands in his pockets all the way. He said the farce where they walked and he said, washed his hands and reaching the trolley car.

KILLED HIMSELF WHEN WIFE CUT HIM OFF

Disinherited Husband, Unable to Share in Money He Helped to Save, Takes His Own Life

North Adams, Mass., April 3.—(Special)—Temporarily insane because his wife had disinherited him, John B. Stylesworth, formerly of Greenhurst, Ont., committed suicide yesterday at the home of Mrs. Mary Webster, in West Main street. Mrs. Webster died recently. The couple had saved all they could from the husband's earnings. Their savings were in a bank in Canada in the name of Mrs. Stylesworth. After her wife's death, he wrote to the bank about the money, and in reply received a letter telling him the money would be paid over to Mrs. Stylesworth's executor, and asking if she had made a will. About the same time Stylesworth received a letter from Mrs. Stylesworth's executor, asking if she had received a letter from Mrs. Stylesworth's people in England, producing evidence that the woman had made a will to give all of her property was to go to her own relatives. This preyed on Stylesworth's mind so much that he had gone some nights without sleep.

WILL PUT MANY UNDER THE BAN H. L. Spangler Calls Attention to a Section of the New Medical Act which, He Says, Will Prohibit Masseurs and Chiropractors

H. L. Spangler today pointed out to the Times that in the quotations from the proposed medical act in this morning's dispatches from Fredericton, the most important and the most stringent section was not given. It follows:

"If any person not registered or licensed by this act for the purpose of gain or hope of reward practice or profess to practice medicine or treat or attempt to cure or alleviate any ailment, or administer any drug or mental in any manner whatsoever, unless under the advice or by the direction of a duly qualified practitioner, he shall be liable to a penalty of $50 for each and every offence."

Dr. Spangler further pointed out that by this section 40, masseurs, chiropractors, or in fact any who attempted to alleviate pain is prohibited.

Levity and pathos were blended in the police court this morning. The humorous element was furnished by George Hector, a young Ethiopian, who was complained of by the manager of the Opera House, with Ernest Bushland and George Dixon, also colored youths, and Willis Tuffe, a little white boy, for loitering in the front lobby of the theatre on March 24. In a ludicrous manner Hector displayed his contempt for his accusers. To Judge Ritchie he remarked, "Ah don't tink ah'm no loafer, fer ah was only in de lobby once, a talkin' to a fellow who was a loafer. He done sat me whead de starboard, and even den ah didn't stop dere in de lobby. Ah'm heah two year, ah'm ah lives in Union Alley. Mr. Anderson interjected that he visited the Opera House while delivering the parcels. The query was too perplexing to answer but Mr. Anderson vouchsafed that he failed to note that

MR. DAWSON FAVORS SIR WILFRID'S PLAN

Editor of Standard of Empire Endorses Idea of Canada Forming Navy for Coast Defence But Thinks We Should Have Voice in Councils of Empire

That Canada should form a navy for coast defence and to be available in the defence of the empire and that the dominion with other overseas states should have a voice in the councils of the empire is the opinion expressed by A. J. Dawson, editor of the Standard of Empire, London, who arrived in the city today.

Mr. Dawson addressed the Canadian Club this afternoon at a luncheon. In reply to a query as to what he thought of the proposal made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to form a navy for Canada for coast defence and to be available in the defence of the empire, he said the decision to create a navy was of much greater importance than the giving of a Dreadnought, but in doing this Canada as well as the other states should insist on having a voice in the council of the empire. For instance, Canada now had its representatives in the army council and also should have representation in a navy council, or a joint council of the army and navy might be formed. If Canada was to contribute she should have a say in the affairs of the navy.

Referring to the mission of the "Standard of Empire," he said it aimed to weld the different states of the empire more closely together and to present the views of the overseas states in such a manner that the motherland and the outlying portions of the empire might have a better understanding of one another.

While in Halifax, he said, he had been asked what the people in England thought of the "colonies" should do in the way of naval assistance, if they thought Canada should offer a "Dreadnought." He had replied that the English people thought that

Minister of Public Works, in the House This Morning, Made a Slashing Reply to the Scurrilous Attacks of Mr. Foster—Dr. Daniel's Question Sharply Answered

Ottawa, Ont., April 3.—(Special)—Dr. Pugsley at two o'clock this morning continued the debate and excused the speech at that time because of the attack made by Mr. Sharp, of North Ontario, upon the ex-Grand Master of St. John. He said: "I find in the remarks which the member for North Ontario made, that he referred in terms of condemnation to the government because he had retired from the service and given him a superannuation allowance."

"In justice to that gentleman, I desire to say that there is not a shadow of foundation for the statement made. I cannot but express my surprise that when the honorable member for North Ontario (Mr. Foster) was addressing the house, knowing the grave injustice which had been done to that gentleman, a gentleman who is well known to his constituents whose father before him was well known to him, because both he and his son were under him when he was minister of marine and fisheries, and having knowledge of the general character of that gentleman and the faithful manner in which he had performed the duties devolving upon the representative of the government in the city of St. John, should have failed to incriminate upon himself to do a small measure of justice to Mr. Harding by calling attention to the evidence and pointing out that the honorable member for North Ontario was entirely mistaken in the reference which he made to Mr. Harding."

"It would have been but a simple act of justice on the part of the honorable gentleman, and coming from him, as it has been under him when he was minister of marine and fisheries, and having knowledge of the general character of that gentleman and the faithful manner in which he had performed the duties devolving upon the representative of the government in the city of St. John, should have failed to incriminate upon himself to do a small measure of justice to Mr. Harding by calling attention to the evidence and pointing out that the honorable member for North Ontario was entirely mistaken in the reference which he made to Mr. Harding."

THE PROVINCIAL BUDGET

The budget speech of Hon. Mr. Fleming had been awaited with some interest, because when he was the financial critic for the opposition the burden of his cry was government extravagance and expenditure. The budget shows that Mr. Fleming has outdone his predecessors, and instead of less there is more expenditure. With more money to spend, Mr. Fleming has spent more. This kind of economy could be practised by any government. That he had more money to spend is due to the efforts of the old government. His statement that his surplus is a real one, will bear looking into at a later period, when more is known of the financial transactions of the government during the past year. His assertion that former governments professed to have surpluses which did not really exist, may be applicable to himself when the record is complete. By making large additions to the funded debt the interest charge is increased. The debt has now reached a point which suggests more rigid economy than this government seems capable of practicing. Mr. Fleming has not justified the expectations of his friends. His speech would have been more impressive if he had contented himself with a simple statement of what the government has done and proposes to do, without assuming the former government or indulging in any self-glorification. This government has shown itself a spendthrift, and the statement of Mr. Fleming, stripped of unnecessary verbiage, is all the evidence that is necessary. Increasing debt and increasing expenditure speak too loudly for themselves.

MR. FOSTER REBUKED

The vitriolic tongue of Mr. Foster got him into trouble in the house at Ottawa yesterday. His gross insinuation that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, an absolutely clean man, had declined to prosecute men who had robbed the public treasury because he had shared in the proceeds for party purposes, was replied to by the indignant premier in a manner that will not soon be forgotten. "He could not," said Sir Wilfrid, "close his remarks without showing us his nature in all its naked deformity." Then, in words that burned, the premier lashed the member for North Toronto until the latter must have wished his unruly tongue had been kept under control, and that he himself had been elsewhere than under the gaze of the man he had thus provoked. If there is one man in Canadian public life who, by common consent, occupies an unassailable position as an honorable man, whose integrity is unquestioned, and whose political record gives no hint of improper methods to influence public opinion, that man is Sir Wilfrid Laurier. However, bitter party strife may be, and however much political reputations may suffer as the years pass, the prime minister has won and held the respect and esteem of men of all parties. Not so Mr. Foster. Time was when he, too, was highly esteemed, even by those who felt the sting of his bitter words. Today, however, he is not only without the old-time respect of his opponents, but in his own party are many who would rejoice to see him out of politics. Age and disappointment have embittered him and warped his judgment. He has less regard for the amenities of debate. He is always ready to place the curb on another man's tongue, while giving his own full rein. His attack upon the prime minister leaves him with a more damaged reputation and fewer defenders. Mr. Borden is unfortunate in his first lieutenant. The Montreal Star and other journalists' friends have blurted to him so many times. They will tell him so again. It would be much better for the opposition if the leader would take Mr. Foster into a corner and invite him to control his tongue or head a party of his own. The Conservative party carries a heavy load when it assumes responsibility for the ex-minister and his savage attacks upon men whom the people, regardless of party, hold in honor for their eminent services to the country. Mr. Foster has fewer friends in both parties in Canada today than he had yesterday, while Sir Wilfrid Laurier is more securely entrenched in the affections of the people.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY

Mr. Harry J. Crowe, who is largely interested in the lumber industry in Newfoundland, has been telling the New York Herald some things about the pulp and paper industry that will read with special interest in Canada. We quote: "Canada will be given the whip hand over the paper manufacturers of the United States if the Payne bill provisions concerning wood pulp and pulp wood are enacted," said Harry J. Crowe, one of the largest lumber operators of Newfoundland last night in the Hotel Manhattan. "Canada does not want its wood exported for manufacture into pulp in the United States, and such exportation is prohibited by Newfoundland and Ontario. In Quebec the license tax on cutting wood nets a duty of twenty-five cents a cord on wood exported for such purposes. Quebec, we are assured, will soon prohibit such exportation of wood altogether. "The Payne bill offers free entry of paper, wood pulp and pulp wood from such countries as do not impose restrictions on the export of those commodities. This means nothing to Canada as the laws there stand at present. It merely means that the Payne bill proposes a bait for the Great Lakes provinces, setting them against one another by inducements of free entry for paper making raw material to the United States. "None of the Canadian provinces are going to be caught by that bait. If the Payne bill retains its present provisions it will result in a considerable tariff on exports of paper, wood pulp and pulp wood from Canada. The Payne bill denies free entry of wood pulp or paper from any country which puts restrictions upon the export of the wood. This is offered as an effort to preserve the forest of the United States by putting a premium upon free export from Canada of forest products. "Forests of the United States will not be preserved by the Payne bill. On the contrary the eight or ten years' supply of pulp wood which your own government statisticians report is the outside limit of what remains in the paper-making states will be exhausted all the sooner if you limit the importation of wood pulp by the Payne tariff. The Payne bill means a crisis in the paper-making industry in the United States immediately after it becomes a law, if it ever does in its present shape. A sharp rise in the price of all kinds of paper is also assured. "Canada and Newfoundland practically control the pulp wood of North America, and possess the water powers and shipping facilities for manufacturing and delivering pulp and paper to all parts of the world at a minimum cost. With these advantages and the increasing demand from Great Britain for pulp and paper, due to the rapid depletion of the Scandinavian forests, why should Canada be influenced to allow the impoverishment of her forests and water powers simply to meet the conditions of this rider in the Payne tariff bill? This proposed revision of the United States tariff in connection with pulp and paper is absolutely and solely for self-preservation, and Canada knows it. "The United States will be soon compelled to let in wood pulp free of duty: its own lack of adequate raw material for paper making dictates that policy peremptorily. Canada knows this, and Canada is not going to pull any chestnuts out of the fire for the United States while waiting for the inevitable.

THE HEAVENLY GUEST

From the Russian of Tolstol. (Translated by Celia Thaxter and originally published in the St. Nicholas Magazine.) The wintry night shut swiftly down. Within his little humble room Martin, the good old shoemaker, sits musing. His tiny lamp from the hook he takes and lights it brightly. Reaches for his beloved book and reads it by the flickering beam.

Long pores he o'er the sacred page. At last he lifts his shaggy head. "It's into me the Master came, how should I welcome him?" he said. "Should I be like the Pharisee, with selfish thoughts filled to the brim. Or like the sorrowing sinner who weeps his miserable sin?"

He laid his head upon his arms, and while he thought, upon him crept slumber, so gentle and so soft he did not realize he slept. "Martin!" he heard a low voice call. He started, looked toward the door. No one was there. He dozed again. "Martin!" he heard it call once more. "Martin, tomorrow I will come. Look out upon the street for me. He rose and slowly rubbed his eyes, and gazed about him drowsily. "O' God, what he said and went to rest. Waking belated with morning light, He wondered, "What was it that I dreamed? It seemed to be a heavenly guest."

"May Christ reward you!" Stephen said, rejoicing in the deed he had done. "I was so tired!" "St. Martin begged. But even while his grateful guest refreshed his chilled and tattered frame. Did Martin's eyes still strive to scan each passing form that went and came. "Are you expecting someone?" old Stephen asked and Martin told. "Truly, I am not quite so bold. As to expect, I never had. 'Tis, yet, somehow, still I look!"

With a sudden gleam he took his worn and precious Holy Book. "Yesterday I was reading here, how among the saints he did his best. Of old, and taught them, do you know about With joy to Stephen, Jesus said, 'The kind, the generous, the poor, the blessed are the humble souls, to be exalted evermore.'"

With tears of gladness in his eyes poor Stephen called to him and said, "To make the tiny baby smile, that she might have a little rest. 'Now may Christ bless you, sir!' she cried, when warm and comforted she would have gone: He took the child from the wall. 'Twill keep the cold out. Put it on.'"

She wept. "Christ led you to look out and pity every soul that passes by. Martin replied, 'Indeed he did!' and told how the Holy Spirit came. "All things are possible," she said, and then she, also, went her way. Once more he sat him down to work, and on the night, and then again he lit his lamp and read the book. Another happy hour was spent when all at a rustling sound behind his chair, he listened without thought of fear. He peered about him, and said, "More 'in your corner dim and dark? Was that a child that spoke his name? 'Did you not know me, Martin?' 'Who speaks?' cried Martin. 'It is I,' replied the voice, and Stephen stepped forth from the dark and smiled at him, and Martin's heart within him leapt.

Then like a cloud was Stephen gone, and he again did his best. That heavenly voice, "And this is I," sounded in his heart. From out the darkness softly came the woman, Gazing at him with gentle eyes, and, as she vanished sweetly smiled. Then Martin thrilled with solemn joy. Upon the sacred page read he. "Hungry was I, ye gave me meat; thirsty, and ye gave drink to me. A stranger I, ye took me in, and as unto Of these, my brethren, even the least, ye did me minister to."

YOUNG WOMAN INTERRUPTS TORONTO CHURCH SERVICE

Toronto, Ont., April 2.—(Special)—A remarkable occurrence took place in St. James' church yesterday when Canon Welch was about to deliver the Monday Lenten sermon. A well-dressed young woman entered the church, passed swiftly up the centre aisle to the communion table, and started to speak in loud, shrill tones to the congregation. Mr. Milten, verger of the church, was hot on her trail, and gently persuaded the young woman to walk into the vestry, from whence she quietly went out. Canon Welch showed no sign of disturbance.

To Be Dyspeptic Is To Be Miserable.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-tiring the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc. Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, flatulence, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretions of the salivary and gastric juices to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases. Mr. Amos Sawler, Gold River, N.S., writes:—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

Disease germs assail us on every hand and at all times,—when we are awake and when we are asleep. We cannot get away from them; but if our blood is pure they cannot harm us.

Nor is it pure if you are pale, weak, nervous, or are troubled with loss of appetite or general debility. You can purify it, you can enrich it, you can make it of the right quality and quantity, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, or there is something peculiar or extraordinary in your case.

MORE SECTIONS OF LIQUOR LICENSE BILL AGREED TO

Fredericton, April 2.—The amendments to the liquor license act were considered in the house today, and those down to the section referring to the sale of beer were agreed to.

The section relative to the elections in the city of St. John on April 20, 1909, but a change was made in reference to Harcourt, Kent county, authorizing the county secretary to call on an election, as the council does not meet for a year.

It was decided to change the form of ballot to read, "For license," "Against license."

There will be some changes made concerning interdicts, and the beer clauses, which are not quite clear as to their meaning, will be corrected.

During the discussion of the license law Mr. Tweeddale suggested that in many cases a vote for local option would be delayed by the machinery of the present act, and suggested that the temperance cause would be better served if the law permitted the holding of election thirty days after a petition was filed with the county secretary of a county instead of waiting until it could be submitted to the council as a body. Such a change was more in line with public sentiment, he thought, than the present law.

There were several answers to inquiries. Hon. Mr. Morrissey, replying to Mr. Copp, said it would be impossible to say how much money was expended on the roads of Westmorland since the road superintendents, who had been appointed by the government.

Regarding the cost of certain repairs to the Morris Mill bridge in Sackville parish during the fall of 1908, Mr. Morrissey said the work was done between Aug. 7 and 21, under the supervision of the structural superintendent, and had cost $102.25. There had been no tenders.

Both Mr. Copp and Mr. Robinson said there must be some mistake in the dates, as they had been at the site of the bridge in November and work was then in progress.

Subsequently Mr. Morrissey added to his reply that two pay-rolls had been found in the office showing that work had been resumed on Oct. 29 and completed later in the year.

In reply to an inquiry by Mr. Upland regarding the work on the temporary bridge at Chatham, Queens county, Mr. Morrissey said the work was being done by the structural superintendent by day work. He was also supplying the piling, but the price paid was not given, as asked for by Mr. Upland. Tenders were not asked for the work.

Hon. Mr. Fleming replied to Mr. Byrne's inquiries as follows: Question—"Is it the intention of the government to introduce at the present session legislation providing for a superannuation allowance to school teachers who have taught for a period of thirty years or more?"

Answer—"The government has not decided whether legislation will be introduced at the present session providing for a superannuation allowance to school teachers. The matter has been considered by the government and will receive further consideration as early as possible."

Q—"Has the government since its advent into power received any request for legislation to bring about such superannuation allowance?"

A—"Yes, a delegation of gentlemen representing the teachers' association of the province appeared before the government some time ago urging the favorable consideration of this important question."

Revenues of Province Have Increased, but Not in Any Proportion to the Expenditures or the Debt—Provincial Secretary Admits That it is Much Easier to Preach Economy When in Opposition Than to Practice It When in Power—Hon. H. A. McKeown Makes an Able Reply

Fredericton, N. B., April 2.—Hon. Mr. Fleming commenced his budget speech after the formalities of supply had been complied with at the evening session.

He commended the increased efficiency of his own management of the financial affairs of the province. He spoke in the most glowing terms of the status of the province, which he claimed to be real, but said nothing about the whereabouts of the cash, neither did he tell the house that it had not been for the increased revenue beyond the estimates there would have been a deficit.

He commended the expenditures of the old government with those of the present administration without giving any information concerning the increased indebtedness incurred by the old government.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Fleming also forgot to mention the rainy had started with a clean sheet, charging up to capital account such expenditures as he thought fit, adding in this way $215,000 to the funded debt and this without making the slightest provision for a sinking fund.

If one part of Mr. Fleming's speech was more boastful than another it was that part referring to the discounting of treasury notes. It was an idle boast, it is true, as every one knows the rate of interest has been constantly dropping each month, but it pleased Mr. Fleming very much. The price he had paid for his temporary loans shows to any one in close touch with the money market that the terms on account, but considerable balance remained unpaid.

Another item due from the dominion government was the claim of the province for rentals on Quatavick River. Some years ago the dominion government had taken this river, which then under lease and yielding a revenue to the province and applied it to their own use for breeding purposes.

The claim of the province for rentals was not just and until this sum, which was yearly growing larger, was paid it would appear in the estimates.

In regard to the item of school books no estimates had been made, but the sum above mentioned was received.

With the largely increased revenue at his disposal it is remarkable that such a loan should be necessary two months after the receipt of the federal subsidy. He closed his speech on the financial position of the province by stating there was not an over-expended account at the close of the fiscal year. This was rather surprising as he had stated a short time before that the estimated surplus for the Provincial Hospital was $90,000, and the expenditure $81,208.

Agriculture and immigration came in for a laudatory notice from the provincial secretary who must have overlooked some of the older members of his own side when he made the government proposed to take a risk and subsidize a railway in some way to aid in the development of the great interior.

In concluding his remarks he promised to keep the ordinary expenditures within the ordinary revenue.

Following the provincial secretary, Mr. McKeown pointed out that the provincial secretary had made an error in the history of the province, and that through no effort of their own they were in the enjoyment of the largest revenue.

He alluded to the increase in the debt, which the government had denominated in this speech as being in opposition, and said that this should have caused them to call a halt in these expenditures as the government. Had the provincial secretary been compelled to prevent government he would have been a deficit of more than $30,000 of a supposed surplus.

Yet they had denounced the man who had placed them in a position to show a surplus as no other public man in this province has ever done.

The road expenditures made since the close of the fiscal year show that more than one-half of the money for roads for the present year has been expended before the time for building or repairing roads had expired. This money had been expended, or rather misappropriated, by the government for the purpose of electing Conservative candidates.

The department of the province had been used, said Mr. McKeown, as an engine to pull the Conservative car to victory, but it had failed.

"Yes," said Mr. Robinson, "it got ditched."

Mr. McKeown was strong in his denunciation of these expenditures as the most scandalous in the history of the province, and a reproach to the government. No previous government had ever misappropriated provincial funds in such a way before.

After he had spoken nearly an hour, Mr. McKeown moved the adjournment of the debate, and a few minutes later the house adjourned without transacting further business.

There will be no session Saturday. The corporations committee had a further session this evening for the purpose of disposing of the Moncton tramway bill, but the different interests having failed to reach an agreement on points, and as there was insufficient time to consider all the details of the bill, the matter went over until next week.

Governor Tweedie went to Chatham this evening.

Duff Miller and Senator King, who were in town, left by this evening's train.

Hon. W. C. H. Gimmer was absent today attending the funeral of Henry F. Todd at St. Stephen.

Fredericton, N. B., April 2.—Hon. Mr. Fleming, on the house resuming, submitted return of consolidated revenues for the year ended on March 31 and presented to the speaker a message from his honor, the lieutenant-governor, transmitting and recommending the estimates for the current year.

The speaker read these to the house. Hon. Mr. Fleming moved, and it was carried, that the estimates be referred to the committee on supply and that that portion of his honor's speech referring to the accounts be also submitted to same committee.

Hon. Mr. Fleming, on rising to move the house into committee on supply, said that at last session in speaking to his motion he had been dealing with the year over which the present government had not the slightest control. The same condition applied to a portion of the administration not submitted for this administration had control of the finances of the province. For the present year the government was entirely responsible and he was glad to inform the house that thus far the province had enjoyed a fairly successful year. He would mention as clearly as possible the details of estimates for October last.

Hon. Mr. Fleming gave comparison between estimates and actual revenue for 1908, showing an excess in actual receipts over estimated receipts of $46,858.38, as follows:

He next referred to the item of $5,741.28 due from the dominion government on account of wharves. This was an asset carried over from the work done previously and until the end of the fiscal year none of it had been paid in. Since then, however, payment had been made on account, but considerable balance remained unpaid.

Another item due from the dominion government was the claim of the province for rentals on Quatavick River. Some years ago the dominion government had taken this river, which then under lease and yielding a revenue to the province and applied it to their own use for breeding purposes.

The claim of the province for rentals was not just and until this sum, which was yearly growing larger, was paid it would appear in the estimates.

In regard to the item of school books no estimates had been made, but the sum above mentioned was received.

RECORDS OF RUNNERS IN TODAY'S MARATHON

According to Dope Matt. Maloney is Coming Strong — Dorando is Consistent

In a race, past performances outside of the experience gained, are of no help to a runner, as it is always the actual condition that counts. But to the dopester the records are of some use, especially when men have competed against each other on previous occasions.

John J. Hayes, the Yankee Marathoner, has never won a long distance race in two amateur marathons, including the recent Olympic. On Nov. 28, 1907, Hayes running under the colors of the Barthelemy A. C., won the Mercury A. C. Marathon, held at Yonkers. Distance 26 miles. Time 2 hours 45 minutes. He has completed three times in the Boston Marathon and finished well up near the front each year. In 1906 he came fifth and the next year he ran third to Thomas Longest, when the latter made the record of 2:24.24 for the distance. Hayes was fifth behind Longest's time. In 1908, he finished second from a field of 103 starters, and covered the 26 miles in 2:46.04.

Last November Dorando won over the Olympic winner, defeating him by 69 yards in an indoor Marathon. Time 2:44.20-5. A couple of weeks ago, the same two had another go, and the Italian defeated him a second time.

Matthew Maloney, the Trinity Athletic Club runner, is 23 years of age, and never ran a Marathon race before last Thanksgiving. Since that time he has run several, winning two important events. On Christmas Day he finished in first place in the Junior Marathon from New York City, covering the 26 miles 583 yards in 2 hours 36 minutes 28.1 seconds. Crowley, the Irish-American, beat him in the Veterans Marathon last November, but Matt says he has learned a lot since then.

On January 8, 1909, at Madison Square Garden, Maloney defeated a field of 23 starters in a full Marathon. Time for this indoor event was 2:54.20, which was rather slow and somewhat of a disappointment when compared to his previous performance. He defeated J. F. Crowley twice after he succumbed to the Irish-American on Thanksgiving Day, showing that he has greatly improved in style and is therefore a dangerous factor.

White Sox. Freddie didn't hit well last season until near the end of the race. His knee was in bad shape and his fielding was slowed up such an extent that the form star of Boston was reduced to mediocrity. But now he is back in his old form of batting and fielding. He has covered the ground and doing more work of catching runners off second. Last year he didn't dare take chances on collisions with base runners for fear of being put out of commission.

That John J. McGraw, the great leader of the New York Giants, and unquestionably the highest priced manager in baseball today, should ever have played a position on the field is almost incredible. It is true, nevertheless, and we have the man in Buffalo who gave McGraw the splendidly good Giants for us. Of course, McGraw, in the employ of the Buffalo Abstract company stated: "Yes, it is true that I engaged John J. McGraw, now manager of the New York Giants to play ball for our club for a salary of $10 a week and board. It was in 1890, when I was living at Wellville, Allegheny county. I was treasurer of the Wellville Baseball club, of which Charles Brown, the president of the First National bank, was president. Brown was a semi-professional club player, ours was four games each week in Wellville and surrounding country, at the opportunity presented itself."

Jack Thoney will not play real league baseball for the Red Sox for two months yet. Thoney looks bad and a new fit subject for the hospital than a baseball field. Jack worries over his position, and this is doing him no good.

The managers of the Milton Hockey Club of Milton, Ont., presented the seven members of their team and two substitutes with heavy gold signet rings, handsewn chased, in recognition of the fine record made by the boys in the O. H. A. intermediate series.

One of the old Boston players has shown great improvement in the field this year, but his improvement is calculated to add great strength to the team he is with now. That is Parent, formerly of Boston, now of the

This Tells How to Cure Sick Headache, Biliousness

Biliousness is merely a term applied to a condition that exists when the body is overloaded with bile. The complexion turns yellow, eyes look dull, pimples, itching and eczema break out, headaches are ever present.

Biliousness has two great causes, constipation and defective liver action. When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken, they not only correct the bowels, but act directly on the liver, regulating its bile secretion. Unlike ordinary medicines which give a temporary relief, Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the condition which causes biliousness, thus permanent cures are effected.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure biliousness and liver ills under all circumstances. We prove this by Mr. Fenwick Ludington, of New Harbor (N. S.), who writes: "Three months ago I had no expectation of ever getting free from periodical bilious attacks. They were preceded by dizziness and dreadful headaches. If I stooped over my head would swim and a nauseous feeling crept into my stomach. Dr. Hamilton's Pills fixed up my liver, drove all the bile out of my blood and made me a well man in a few months. Today I enjoy good appetite, excellent digestion, and the best of health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

MR. FLEMMING'S BUDGET SPEECH

The public works expenditure was $4,000 greater than last year. The fire at the Provincial Hospital was responsible for $45,000 insurance. The insurance provided $27,000, and the other $18,000 would be taken out of current revenue, and the buildings would be replaced better than ever before, and not one dollar of the expenditure on this institution in consequence was the fire should be charged to capital expenditure. It would all be provided out of the revenue.

In conclusion he said he had tried to make his statement clear and brief. There were many matters he had not gone into. He had not referred to the highway extension, but he thought it would be brought before the house, and there would then be an opportunity for full discussion.

The government was doing its very best to try and husband the resources of the province. They came into power pledged to do this, and in the short time possible they had done so, and changed the whole system of accounting. No money was received in any department without passing into the hands of the receiver general. No account was paid by any department except it was certified by the deputy receiver general and then there was no more trusty official in this dominion. The account then passed to the auditing general who had full authority to investigate and hold it up.

McKenna said he desired to make a few remarks but not in critical or fault-finding spirit. He had been in the house but had just listened, coupled with the account of the auditing general, and he thought it would be better to study thoughtfully and carefully, not simply to read the pick holes in it, but to get the view of ascertaining whether the expenditure proposed was really necessary under circumstances which would deserve the money.

The position which the present government took up was that their predecessors were responsible for the financial condition of the province and when they came into power they found the province in a financial condition which was not what it should have been. They had to do this in a hurry and had no time to do this in a better way than had any idea of the situation. The government was not in a position to do this in a better way than had any idea of the situation.

Local Marathon fans are to be treated to another race soon. On the same afternoon, the Toronto ball team will play an exhibition game at Rosedale with a city league team.

Appleby will arrive here in Toronto after the big New York Derby which he purpose setting and will train in his locality. Simpson is in splendid condition and will start right in to prepare for the race.

"Simpson was in no shape to run any kind of a race when he met Shrubbs," said Tom Eyck, Simpson's trainer, "you know I tried to get that race postponed but Alfred wouldn't hear of it. Another thing, 12 miles is no distance for the distance there will be some talk hustling."

WOMEN BREAK UP A "WET" MEETING

Arise in a Body and Sing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" and It's All Off

Yassar, Mich., April 2.—Eighty white-ribboned women singing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" brought to a dramatic close an anti-liquor meeting in the opera house here and practically transformed it into a prohibition meeting before the programme of the "wet" had been completed.

Big bills had been posted and distributed announcing that Allen P. Cox and Emil Rosinger, of Detroit, would address the people of Yassar and the surrounding country on the prohibition issue. "Women are Especially Invited," formed one of the most conspicuous lines on the bills, and the women readily accepted. It was one of a series of "dry" and "wet" meetings held in the town the last several days.

The mixed audience listened attentively to the discourse of Mr. Rosinger, and to the local opinion movement. At its conclusion the "white ribboners" arose in a body and started singing temperance songs. When they had concluded they had the hall practically to themselves. Dr. Rosinger did not speak.

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Always Cure Rheumatism

What They Did for W. H. Craine, and Why They Always Cure Rheumatism—They Remove the Cause.

Toronto, Ont., April 2.—(Special)—In these days of sudden changes of temperature known to so many suffering people as Rheumatism weather, the experience of W. H. Craine, of 103 Gladstone Ave., this city, is of widespread interest. Mr. Craine suffered from Rheumatism, and he knows the cause. It was Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Yes, I know Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Rheumatism," Mr. Craine states. "For after I started taking them I used no other medicine. I never cease recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to my friends."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by putting the kidneys in condition to strain the urea acid out of the blood. It is urea acid in the blood that causes Rheumatism. Cold or damp causes it to crystallize at the muscles and joints and then comes those tortures every rheumatic knows only too well. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by curing the kidneys. The cured kidneys remove the cause of Rheumatism.

LYNN CANADIAN CLUB GROWING

Over 200 Members Have Been Added Since the New Year - Club in New Quarters

"Forty more applications for membership were received last evening at the first weekly meeting of the Lynn Canadian club in their new quarters, 29 Munroe street. This makes a total membership of 215, an increase of 200 since the new year.

Previous to January 1, the club had but 14 members, but they all took a very active interest in the welfare of the organization, and each member constituted himself a membership committee of one, with the result that the club's growth has been phenomenal.

The first meetings were held in the rooms of the Spanish American War Veterans, at Centre square and before moving to their present quarters, the club met at Jacques Cartier hall, 46 Central square.

The membership is limited to men of Canadian birth, and the objects of the club are to encourage naturalization and for the social advantages of having an organization. The present officers are: president, J. A. McKenzie; vice-president, J. P. Heron; treasurer, J. J. MacDonald; corresponding secretary, H. B. Monroe and recording secretary, D. A. Macaulay.

The near of their new hall, which is 32 feet long by 40 wide, will be used for a meeting hall, and the front portion for a reception, recreation and reading room.

NEW CIVIC CANDIDATES

A Number of Business Men Have Entered the Field Against Members of the Present Council

The appearance of a number of new men in the field as candidates in the forth coming civic elections promises to make the fight for seats at the common council the keenest for many years. Several of the new candidates, who are prominent business men, have come forward in response to the demands of large numbers of taxpayers, made either personally or by requisition. It is probable that the list will be added to within the next few days.

Among the new men, who are said to be in the field against the present council, are the following: Kings ward - J. A. Likely. Victoria ward - R. T. Hayes. Brooks ward - F. J. Kenney. Guys ward - J. Fred Belyes. Dukes ward - C. B. Allan. Sydney ward - W. G. Sewell. Torne ward - J. S. Gregory. At large - J. V. Russell.

Douglas McArthur is said to be considering a request to run as alderman-at-large, and G. A. Knodell's name is spoken of as a probable opponent to Alderman Sprout in Prince.

A number of other candidates have already announced that they are in the field. Among them may be mentioned H. E. Codner in Dufferin ward, who will oppose Ald. Willet; F. L. Blais and E. Armstrong, as aldermen-at-large; and Francis Kerr, in Sydney ward. Among the members of the present council, those considered to have the best chance of re-election, are Ald. Frink, Elkin, Rowan, Scully, Christie and McGoldrick.

As the candidates are voted for by the electorate of the whole city a chance will be afforded to make a very extensive change in the civic government on April 20. One of the new government mentioned are large taxpayers, men who have been successful in their own callings, who have no axe to grind and who are entering the field in answer to a strong demand from many citizens who have the utmost confidence in their integrity and their ability to improve civic conditions.

FREE KINDERGARTENS

The Attendance During Month of March Was Unusually Large

The attendance at the free kindergartens was unusually large during the month of March. Some children were kept home by colds and some for the need of boots and rubbers.

The first of the month one of the kindergartens visited a blacksmith shop. The blacksmith was expecting the children and capped two horse shoes and made one while they were there. They saw him "show the bellows" heat the iron, etc. They were delighted to see the sparks and enjoyed the visit.

The thought for the month has been directed towards "The Coming of Spring."

The sunshines/wind and water are the helpers of Mother Nature in her great Spring cleaning. The wind, the unseen force in nature, has many interesting tales, the children telling of weathervanes, windmills, kites, etc. The effect of heat and cold on water leads up to a talk on water as a power of transportation, as a cheapening power, a home for fish, etc.

The calendars in each room are especially worthy of mention and are well worth a visit as they explain to the ordinary visitor many things.

Mother's meetings were held in two of the kindergartens in March and mothers offer to clean the room and launder the cushions they surely appreciate the kindergarten's efforts.

As each register has now more than the allotted number no more new pupils can be admitted this term. It seems heartless to turn the little tots away when we could fill two more kindergartens now that fine weather is here and there is not so much need of so much clothing; but our teachers have more than they ought to have now, i. e. if we are to give individual attention which is one of our aims.

Several destitute cases have been cared for this month, many wastes have been supplied and kind friends are asked to remember that little stockings are always needed.

"The power of the kindergarten does not consist primarily in the gifts, plays, occupations, or any mechanical things however important they may be. It does consist primarily in the love of the teacher to the child."

DR. KEIRSTEAD TO PREACH

Waterloo street Baptist church will celebrate its sixty-seventh anniversary tomorrow. Rev. W. C. Keirstead, Ph.
