SECOND EDITION
ROWLEY WINS IN THE BREACH OF PROMISE.

Judge McLeod, After Reviewing the Evidence at Some Length This Afternoon, Rendered a Verdict in Favor of the Defendant.

Quite a number of interested spectators assembled in circuit court this afternoon to hear the judgment in the Gibbons vs. Rowley breach of promise case, which was postponed from last Saturday. At 3 o'clock His Honor Judge McLeod took his seat, and after a brief review of the case, stated that he was compelled, after looking carefully into the evidence to give judgment in favor of the defendant. The evidence had shown that plaintiff had attached to her agreement of marriage a condition that the defendant's money be made over to her before marriage. There was no evidence to show that this clause had been agreed to by the defendant. Hence the contract had no force.

CONTRACT FOR THE DRY DOCK WILL BE GIVEN TO A MONTREAL FIRM.

George Robertson Says the Agreement Will be Signed in a Few Days and Work Will Start in August—The City Asked to Settle About the Twenty Year Subsidy.

The St. John dry dock seems to be coming nearer. At this afternoon's meeting of the common council a communication from the Imperial Dry Dock Company will be read, asking that the council give effect to the resolution passed some time ago, changing the conditions of the dock subsidy from forty to twenty years. It is understood that this is desired at once, in order that a contract may be immediately entered into, for the construction of the dock and that the articles of agreement are now being drawn up. It will be remembered that George Robertson, in arranging the finances of the dock company, at first received guarantees of several subsidies on forty year terms, but that later he saw that a shorter term would be more advisable in making his contracts. Accordingly he requested the different governments to change the conditions and this has been done. By a resolution the common council agreed to do as Mr. Robertson asked.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning a Tuesday drunk and a man arrested on the holiday were given the option of paying $4 or going to jail for ten days. They paid.

BLAMING THE JEWS FOR THE REVOLUTION.

Additional Particulars of How the Police Urged the Mobs to Massacre Jews in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 4.—A point strongly brought out in the parliamentary report on the massacre of Jews at Bialystok is that there was no religious hatred of the Jews among the Russian population. The fighting was confined to the police troops and Black Hundreds on one side and the Jews and revolutionaries on the other. The parliamentary commission found overwhelming evidence that the massacre was deliberately perpetrated. After the assassination of Chief of Police Derkachoff, proclamations were sent left a deposit of $20,000.

FORESTERS IN SESSION AT ST. ANDREWS TODAY

Reports of Officers Received—Membership Increase Has Not Been Great.

The 23rd annual session of the high court of New Brunswick Independent Order of Foresters, was commenced this morning at St. Andrews for the first time. In reviewing the work for the year, High Chief Ranger Duncan G. Lindsay in his report said he made 42 visits during the year, installed officers at twelve courts and spoke at six public meetings. A new hall was dedicated at Burt's Corner, Keswick. He suggested that an advertising booth be placed in the St. John exhibition. He invited an investigation of the Foresters' affairs in view of the recent upheaval in the insurance world. The total gain in membership is 7,840, and the surplus, with a gain of $1,690, is now over $10,000,000.

CANADA LOSES TO TRINITY HALL IN HENLEY REGATTA.

But the Argonauts Put Up One of the Best Races Ever Seen There—Belgium Crew Will Row in Finals.

TRINITY, Eng., July 4.—In the semi-final for the grand challenge cup today Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat the Argonauts (Canada) by half a length. Time 7 minutes, 3 seconds. The club Nautique de Gand, (Belgium) beat Trinity Hall, Cambridge, by two lengths. Time 7 minutes, 33 seconds. The Belgians and Trinity Hall will thus contest in the final for the grand challenge cup tomorrow. The Argonauts-Trinity Hall race was a magnificent one. For the first quarter of a mile the boats' noses were level. Trinity Hall then slowly forced to the front. Half the distance was reached in 2 minutes 25 seconds. The Canadians then were hardly a quarter of a length in the rear and making desperate efforts to overhaul their opponents. But the repeated spurts of the visitors proved unavailing. The Trinity Hall crew always responded with a slight quickening of their stroke and held the lead to the end after one of the best races ever witnessed at Henley.

A NICE OARSMAN.

The prizes for the winning oarsmen in the four-oared race at Fredericton last evening were handsome gold watches. "Bud" Nice who won the single shell race in such a surprising manner also took a gold watch. Nice certainly opened the eyes of aquatic followers in his race yesterday. He is a young man not yet twenty-one, of good build and has a clean, strong sweep of his oars that is admirable. When it is taken into consideration that he has not yet rowed a dozen times in a single shell, his victory over Coates and Ross is all the more wonderful. Great things are expected from this West End.

CIRCUIT COURT.

In the Circuit Court this morning, Robert Wilkins vs. Mrs. Wallace, of Moncton, an action for $150 for money advanced in wages came up. In reference to the advancement of money for liquors, defendant pleaded that Moncton is a Booty Act town. The plaintiff was on the stand this morning and the case was adjourned till 2:30 this afternoon. H. Hazen & Raymond for plaintiff, M. G. Teed for defendant.

INDIANA GAMBLING HOUSES RAIDED

An Effort Being Made to Put Them Out of Business.

It is Charged That Children Are Among the Most Frequent Visitors—The Earnings Have Been Large.

PAOLI, Ind., July 3—Sheriff Maris, Deputy Sheriff Jones, Constable Baggins, and City Marshal John Salovey raided the Casino at the French Lick and West Baden Springs Hotels today at the same hour that Attorney General Miller filed proceedings in the Orange County Circuit Court. A number of arrests were made and considerable gaming paraphernalia was captured.

In the closing charging gambling at both hotels the complaint says that the defendant has exceeded and abused its charter rights and privileges and has usurped and arrogated to itself authority which was never granted and which it has never rightfully had and cannot have, and the open, notorious, wanton and willful violation of the laws of the state have monopolized the morals and welfare of society and the good name of the state, that the defendant "has forfeited all its corporate rights, privileges and franchises and its rights to exist."

A dissolution of the defendant corporation and forfeiture of its corporate rights and franchises is asked for. An injunction restraining and compelling the defendant company, its officers, directors and employees from performing and exercising any corporate power and from disposing of, or in any way interfering with its property and assets is prayed for in the complaint.

The Casino at French Lick is described as length in the complaint and the charge is made that children are allowed to frequent the gaming tables. Claim is made that the company derives an income of $50,000 annually from the gambling features.

JULIUS T. GARDEN, OF WOODSTOCK, DEAD

One of Carleton County's Best Known Merchants Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

He is survived by a wife and two children, Harold and Miss Jean, both at home. There are also several brothers, among them his partner Arthur; James of Vancouver; Charles, a civil engineer in the G. T. P. staff; and Henry, Mrs. R. W. Bullock, of Centerville. He is a sister, Desha, who was about 41 years old, deceased. He sat for a term in the town council and left a splendid record for business sagacity. He was also prominent in the board of trade. In religion he was a member of the Anglican church and had been a vestryman for many years, as well as occupying many positions of honor and trust. He was a strong Conservative and always worked hard for his party's welfare.

GIRL COURTS DEATH ON FUNERAL PYRE

Saturates Wood Shavings With Paraffin Oil and Perishes in Fierce Flames.

LONDON, July 3—An extraordinary story of suicide by fire comes from Codsall, a pretty rural village near Wolverhampton. Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Walker, of Woodfield Garden, in Codsall, were awakened at an early hour yesterday morning by a smell of smoke. They saw fierce flames in the yard, which Mr. Walker extinguished with a garden hose. The fire appeared to be in a heap of wood and shavings that had been saturated with paraffin.

The village policeman was called and Mr. Walker's household investigated, when it was discovered that the cook, Eliza Davies, was missing. An examination of the remnants of the fire disclosed charred human remains, which were identified as those of the missing cook.

It appeared that the young woman found paraffin in the kitchen, and made her exit by a window to the yard, where she built and kindled her funeral pyre. The reason for her act is a mystery. She had been in Mrs. Walker's service two years, and was well conducted.

WILL ASK FOR A SUPPLEMENTARY MAIL

Montreal Wants it to Come Via Dominion Line Steamers—Building Operations Brisk

MONTREAL, July 3—Not satisfied with Thursday mail from England, the members of the wholesale produce association, Montreal, will petition the Governor General for a supplementary mail via the Dominion Line steamships which leave Montreal Saturday morning of each week.

According to the monthly report of the building inspector, the month of June was a record-breaker, showing nearly two millions of dollars more business over the same month last year.

The semi-annual meeting of Pelee Lodge, G. O. F., of North End, was held last evening. The reports submitted showed the lodge to be in a flourishing condition. Its membership is now in the vicinity of 150, and it is at present considered the banner lodge of the maritime provinces. The attendance last evening was large. One new member was initiated, but the installation of officers did not take place.

ARE YOU TIRED OF PAYING BLUNDER TAXES?

Many a business man pays as much money for the luxury of blundering as a steam yacht or private touring car would cost.

"Blunder Taxes" cannot be levaded—whatever else waits, these must be paid. If a business man gets into the habit of making the same blunders more than once, the taxes will soon amount to confiscation.

"Blunder Taxes" are levied with amazing frequency upon store advertisers. Among the blunders which are assessed at "full value" in advertising are these:

- Selection of poor mediums; Using too little space in good mediums; Devoting less attention to preparing the daily store-advertisement than to the stirring of some empty boxes in the basement; Stopping the ad. altogether for one or more days now and then; Figuring the advertising appropriation on the basis of what you can "afford" after all other expenses are provided for; Use of "programmes," schemes, circulars, posters, fence-signs, placards and jim-cracks, under the impression that you are securing real publicity, and that somehow, somewhere, sometime someone will be influenced by some of these things to come to your store and buy something.

YOUR "BLUNDER-TAX" BILL GROWS SMALLER AND SMALLER AS YOUR USE OF "ST. JOHN STAR" PUBLICITY GROWS BIGGER AND BIGGER.

JOGGINS MINERS WILL BE PAID THEIR BACK WAGES.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 3.—The Grand Council of the P. W. A. held a meeting in Mascon yesterday resulting in the final settlement of the Joggins back-pay. Grand Secretary Moffat has the money in his possession which is to be paid to the men either today or tomorrow. This will be a very welcome event for many, for some men will draw from $100 to $150.

The two years agreement is signed and assures the men of a continuance of all rights, rates, etc., which they have received heretofore.

Your Cold

How will your cold be tonight? Worse, probably. How about tomorrow? The trouble is, colds always tend downward. Stop this downward tendency with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Your doctor will tell you why it can do this. Ask him all about it. Ask him if he has anything better for coughs and colds. Then follow his advice, whatever it is.

CITY LABORERS' PAY.

The men who work for the city with pick and shovel have asked the common council to increase their pay from a maximum of $1.40 per day and a minimum of $1.10, to $1.50 and $1.25. They give as the chief reason for their request the increased cost of living and the great irregularity of the work. And the reasons afford good foundation for the claim. It cannot be denied that almost all the necessities of life cost more today than they did a few years ago or even a year ago. It is also patent to every householder that $1.40 a day or even $1.50 presents a frail barrier to the ever present wolf at the door, even if the money comes regularly. And city work is far from regular. The laborer is fortunate who gets three months' work without intermissions, more or less prolonged, during which he has to hustle around for other employment. Then there is the fact to be considered that, compared with other cities, the standard in St. John is low. In Toronto, for instance, the men get $2 a day and living there is as cheap or cheaper than here. Altogether it is difficult to see how the aldermen, who recently gave the boss of these men a raise amounting to more than the total yearly wage of the average laborer, can fairly refuse favorable consideration of this request.

A NOTABLE SESSION.

It was a notable session of the American congress that adjourned last Saturday. It was also expensive to an extent astounding to those in this country who go into hysterics over an eighty million dollar expenditure in a growing and prosperous time. The appropriations made during the session just closed will aggregate $900,000,000 as compared with $781,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1905 and with the expenditures that will be authorized in the short session next winter over $1,500,000,000 will be chucked up against the 59th congress.

In addition to spending all this money the two houses enacted four thousand laws. Three hundred of these were of a public nature, many of them highly important, especially those relating to the extension of federal authority and the regulation of corporations. The major legislative accomplishments of congress may be briefly summarized as follows:

It enacted a law regulating railroad rates; an act was passed providing for a rigid inspection of meat and meat products; new laws were passed relating to naturalization; the consular service was reorganized; a pure food law was passed; a bill authorizing the establishment of national quarantine was put upon the statutes; Indian Territory and Oklahoma were admitted into the Union, and Arizona and New Mexico are to have an opportunity at the polls to elect whether they shall join the sisterhood of States; the internal revenue tax on denatured alcohol was removed; the President was authorized to construct a local canal across the Isthmus of Panama.

Congress at this session dealt almost exclusively with questions of domestic concern. The extension of Federal authority has been debated principally upon the specific questions of regulating railroad rates and the inspection of meats, although other important legislative measures have been made by the enactment of laws enlarging the powers of the national quarantine service; amending the naturalization laws and imposing liabilities upon railroads for injuries to employees.

Measures of international concern were neglected. The Algeiras, as well as the Santo Domingo treaty, failed of action, but the Senate is to vote on the first named on December 12. It refused to set a date for voting on the Dominican agreement.

A BAD TRAIN SERVICE.

People of the Maritime Provinces are long-suffering and slow to anger, but on these days they will make such a kick about the abominable train service between St. John and Boston that the Maine Central and Boston and Maine Railroads will think an earthquake has arrived. The accommodation on the train is about as bad as it could possibly be. Absolutely no attention is paid to the comfort of first and second class passengers who provide by far the greater part of the business, and conditions are now such that only the sleeping and parlor cars are fit for occupation. The upholstering is so filled with dirt that a person cannot sit down without having a cloud of dust rise from the seats. The cars are not vestibuled excepting in rare instances, the smoke from the locomotive and much of the dust from the road blows in by the doors and Senator Clay, of Georgia, was once showing a constituent the sights of the national capital when the Washington Monument was reached. "What do you think of it?" carelessly asked the Senator, as the constituent stood gazing in awe at the state-ly shaft. A Son Born This Morning to the Crown Princess.

Great Rejoicing in the Different Cities of the Empire—Streets are Lavishly Decorated.

BERLIN, July 4.—Crown Princess Frederick William was safely accouched of a son at 9:15 this morning. The boy is well formed and strong.

The guns of a battery of artillery began to fire slowly in the square opposite the palace at about noon and tens of thousands with beating of the drums and playing of the following proclamation were given away: "Her imperial and royal highness, the Crown Princess of the German empire and Prussia was happily delivered of a prince at 9:15 a. m. in the marble palace at Potsdam, to the joy of his majesty and emperor, her majesty, the empress, and the entire royal house. This pleasant event will be made known to the inhabitants of Berlin through the usual cannon shots. The Crown Princess and the prince are in the best condition."

(Signed) Von Wedel. "All the public and many private buildings are decorated with flags. The news of the birth of his grandson was communicated to Emperor William by means of a wireless despatch from Kiel to the steamer Hamburg, on which his majesty is proceeding to Trondhjem, Norway. She was last reported in the Great Belt."

There was great rejoicing at Potsdam when it became known that the Crown Princess had given birth to a son. A salute was fired and the town was decorated.

(By Wilfred Campbell) "Though science reads the cabinet mind. The wheeling stars and sun. This mystic, veiled flame behind its barriers dread shows her more than winds of night that run; And search the hollow hill of sleep. And beat with phantom hands; But know not of the dreams that creep. Or of the haunting ghosts that sweep Athwart the haggard lands. It is the master of all thought. All impulse and all dream. And builds or ruins, base or not. The fabric of the common lot. The blackness or the gleam. It gives through some weird inward need The centuries' impulse birth; And weaves in subtle dream of deed. Of those who burn or those who bleed. All tragedies of earth. Behind the mighty mind of Greece, The Titan force of Rome, It hurls earth's batteries rage or cease. And rears those splendid dreams of peace, In column, piloth and dome. Behind the artist when he wrought Earth's beauty, rarest dream, Or nature's poet when he caught. The melodies of morning, fraught With summer's azure gleam. It kindled Homer's golden song. Of elemental man. And lurks behind the fateful throne. That stairway of dread earth's weird wrong. NO BANK FAILURES IN CHINA.

"It is 900 years since the failure of a bank in China," said a bank examiner. "Over 900 years ago, in the reign of Hsi Hung, a bank failed. Hsi Hung had the failure investigated, and to his indignation found it had been due to reckless and shady conduct on the part of the director and the president. Hsi Hung at once issued an edict that the next time a bank failed the heads of its president and directors were to be cut off. This edict, which has never been revoked, has made China's banking institutions the safest in the world."—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Workmen Met Death in Church Fire

Largest Church in Hamburg Totally Destroyed by the Flames Which Broke Out in the Steeple

HAMBURG, July 3.—St. Michael's church, one of the most interesting buildings in Hamburg, was totally destroyed by fire this afternoon. The fire broke out in the steeple, where workmen were repairing the clock, and is supposed to have been due to carelessness. The fire spread rapidly and the steeple, which was 425 feet high, fell in less than forty minutes from the time the fire started. The flames communicated with adjoining buildings, several of which were burned so completely that the fire seemed to get out of control. The firemen fought desperately to check the flames and remove the inmates of the burning houses. A strong wind was blowing. A department store, occupying three buildings, was rapidly gutted by the flames. The roof of the church soon fell in with a thundering noise. After the church was in flames Dr. Brinkmann, director of the museum of art and industry, with several officials entered the edifice to save the gold and silver treasures, but only the smaller part of these were saved. When the steeple fell the thousands of people who had gathered in the streets gave vent to groans that were audible above the roar of the flames. The flames later attacked houses in Englishplanke, Boehnken, Venusberg and Muehlen streets. The Schaasmarkt, which was a wooden building, burned rapidly. A small Baptist church also was destroyed. In all twelve houses were entirely destroyed, while more than twenty roofs or upper stories were burned.

Twenty persons are missing. The fire watchman who lived in the steeple sounded the electric alarm, but his retreat was cut off. Three workmen who were repairing the clock also perished, and thirty firemen were wounded, two of them dangerously.

At a late hour tonight the flames were still burning out, but the fire was under control, and its further spread is improbable. Only the walls of the church are standing.

The people of Hamburg deeply regret the loss of the church, which was one of the most prominent objects in the general view of the city. The roof, which was of copper, which long ago had turned green through oxidation, was the largest in Hamburg without supporting pillars. All state religious functions were held in St. Michael's.

Kenneth Townsend, of the Bank of Montreal, left today for Amherst where he will spend his vacation.

ELEVEN MEN KILLED BY RUNAWAY CAR

Were Passing From One Mining Town To Another Late Last Night

ALTOONA, Pa., July 4.—Eleven men who were returning from Portage to Puritan, both mining towns, were killed shortly before midnight on the Martins branch, a spur running from Portage to Puritan, a distance of four miles, by a runaway car, which had been started down the steep mountain grade by some unknown person. The car was finally stopped near Portage. It was seen that the wheels were covered with blood and shreds of clothing, and an investigation disclosed the bodies of the men lying along the track. Some of the bodies were half a mile apart. Not more than two bodies were found in any one spot. The railroad track is generally traversed by people going from Portage to Puritan. Cars never run over the line after midnight.

A QUESTION OF FINANCE.

Here is a story about a member of parliament well known for his knowledge of his own knowledge about all questions of finance. This wise statesman was approached by a reputable-looking man, who said, with a deferential but not servile manner, "Excuse me, sir, are you not Mr. Blank?" "I am," said the M. P., with affable dignity.

"I believe you are well informed upon all financial questions?" "My friends and the press are kind enough to say so."

"You have given much attention to the subject, I think?" "More than to anything else."

"And no doubt you could give a satisfactory answer to almost any question I might ask?"

The member saw that he was being "interviewed," and wished to say something that would look well in print.

"Perhaps I could, if it were in the power of any man," he answered.

MONTREAL, Q., July 3.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Co.'s return of traffic earnings for the last ten days of June shows that the gross earnings amounted to $1,696,000, against $1,390,000 for the corresponding period of last year, an increase of $306,000. With this return the company completes its fiscal year, which begins on July 1 and ends on June 30, and with the complete figures it is possible to give some idea of the company's gross earnings for the year, although results are not yet to hand, and the official figures will not be given out for some time. The year has been the most notable one in the company's history. The earnings having broken all records.

The gross earnings for the year are approximately $61,577,400, as against gross earnings for last year of $59,481,882, or an increase for the present year in gross earnings of $2,095,518.

BOSTON, July 3.—The present agreement among the spruce lumber manufacturers is reported to have fallen through, but some of the larger manufacturers are determined to maintain prices at present figures, as the increased cost of manufacture requires such action in order for the business to show a fair profit. The spruce market here shows no material change other than the offering of consigned cargoes from the provinces, made up largely of undesirable sizes and lengths and selling at consequently low prices. The wholesale demand from buyers is still rather light, with quotations more or less nominal. Receivers quotations are as follows: Ten to 12 in. dimensions, $25 to 26; 9 in. and under, $23 to 24; 10 to 12 in., 10 ft. and upward, $34.50 to 35.50; 2x2, 2x4, 2x6, 2x8, 2x10 ft. and upward, $21 to 22.50; other sizes, 10 ft. and upward, $22.50 to 23.50; spruce boards, planed on one side, $20; furring, $21; matched boards, $23 to 24.

Hemlock boards are easier—very firmly held at $22.

Hard pine is in fair demand in this market and prices are firmly held, especially for larger sizes. It is reported that the contract for the Boston Wharf Company's building is to be refigured.

NEW B. & A. SHED.

The only other large contract now in the market is that for the new Boston & Albany wharf, the Boston wharf, which will require about 750,000 feet of hard pine, and probably fully as much spruce. The quotations on hard pine in this market are about as follows: Large building orders to arrive, $28 and $29 for immediate delivery; buyers are still rather light, with quotations more or less nominal. Receivers quotations are as follows: Ten to 12 in. dimensions, $25 to 26; 9 in. and under, $23 to 24; 10 to 12 in., 10 ft. and upward, $34.50 to 35.50; 2x2, 2x4, 2x6, 2x8, 2x10 ft. and upward, $21 to 22.50; other sizes, 10 ft. and upward, $22.50 to 23.50; spruce boards, planed on one side, $20; furring, $21; matched boards, $23 to 24.

Ceremony Was Abbreviated or Train Would Have Gone Without Mr. Cronk and His Bride

A pretty wedding which took place in St. David's church yesterday morning was marked by an unusual incident.

CITY LABORERS
WANT TO INCREASE

Will Present Petition to Council Today

If Their Request is Not Granted a Strike Will Be Called—Immediate Decision Requested

At the meeting of the city council which will be held today the aldermen will be confronted with the question of an increase of wages for the city laborers, who at their meeting last evening decided by a unanimous vote to present a petition to the council asking that the wages of the men employed at the quays or in excavation be increased to $1.50 per day, and the wages of the men working on the streets to $1.25 per day.

Although somewhat hurried, the ceremony was a pretty one. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Clark, assisted by Rev. Mr. Fotheringham.

Wants to Do Everything in Her Power to Aid Her Husband, She Says—Can Prove They Were Married Abroad— Counsel Afraid of Thaw's Health.

Mrs. Harry Kendall Thaw. THAW'S FAVORITE PHOTOGRAPH OF HIS WIFE

The above portrait of Mrs. Thaw is the favorite of her husband, Harry Kendall Thaw, in whose interests, following the murder of Stanford White, the former show girl declares she will do all possible.

NEW YORK, July 2.—"When the time comes I shall be only too glad to talk and tell all. I shall not flinch at the ordeal, nor will I break down. My one thought now is to be of service to my husband."

This statement was made by Mrs. Harry Kendall Thaw just before she was admitted to see her husband at the Tombs today, and is the first time she had consented to talk of her probable attitude in the coming trial of Thaw for the murder of Stanford White.

Although Thaw and his bride returned to this city after their marriage and requested the places where they had gone while single and where they were almost certain to see White from time to time, no witness has yet been discovered to any meeting between them. No success has attended the efforts to show that White made disrespectful remarks about Mrs. Thaw or that any unpleasant comments were ever repeated to Thaw. The lawyers for the defense are still hoping to obtain evidence along these lines, but they place very little reliance on the person who is thus far their sole source of information.

William M. K. Olcott, one of Thaw's counsel, declared later in the day that he would ask for an immediate trial as he believes that Thaw's health will be permanently impaired if he is kept in the Tombs all summer. Up to yesterday Mr. Olcott had said nothing about wishing a speedy trial, having contented himself with declaring that he could make ready with little delay. The ground on which Olcott would necessarily require more time than the prosecution could need to prove affirmatively that Thaw committed the crime and was in a mental condition that enabled him to determine between right and wrong.

A Story of France in the days of Louis XV., and how the work of a traitor was foiled by the energy of Madame Pompadour.

The Chevalier was about eight paces off. He now came slowly forward, eagerly watching for the right moment to engage. A swift movement as of a strong spring unbound—a flash—and a steel clatter on steel. Yes, the young man could fence. The true swordsman's wrist could be felt in his blade, the swordman's eye in his point, and his passes came with the ease of that mastery of style, swiftness, and precision that the fencer can feel but not describe. For a couple of minutes both played with the greatest caution, for they were both in the deadliest earnest. Thus, this was idle flummery at present; each still had to know the ground, to learn the secrets of those truly baffling lights, to get the measure of the other's powers. A false step, a mistimed lunge, a rust of wind, a foolish contempt might mean death. And for one, at least, the issue was deadly.

So Andre, who had always relied on his fire and quickness to disconcert, flurry, and tempt, kept himself sternly in hand, offering no openings and disregarding all. The moment would come presently, the divine moment, and then!

They were both shifting ground slowly, and in their caution they gradually edged and wheeled until the Chevalier almost stood where Andre had started.

"Fah!" the young man cried, "this is tedious," and he suddenly changed his tactics. He was now attacking with a fiery swiftness which made Andre's blood warm, and stirred his admiration, but he noted with joy how reckless his opponent was growing. Twice the lad only saved himself by the most hazardous reversing of his lunges.

"Fool!" Andre muttered to himself, "that is not the game to play with me. In three minutes he will be mine," and he began to press his attack. Ah!—ah!—only by the swiftest convolutions of that supple body had the Chevalier saved himself. Andre began to nerve himself for the final assault. Should he give him the point in his sword arm—his shoulder, his lungs? And then the torch light flared into his face.

In a second he saw what it all meant. By those superb reversed lunges he had been lured on till he had been manoeuvred into a place where both swords fell in his eyes and that young devil had the lights behind him. He—Andre de Nevers, had been outplayed by this beardless youth! And now he was in a corner of this damned courtyard with the cold steel flicker from the walls making lightning on the crossed blades. "Diable!" he growled, "he is splendid!" and he flung himself on his opponent in the madness of despair and wrath. It was now almost a noise, a scuffle, but the Chevalier would not give way. He had panned Andre to the place he desired and he meant to keep him there.

"Hoi! Je touche!" he cried.

"How had it happened? One of the torches had gone out in a puff of air, Andre's sword was on the stones and the Chevalier had his foot on it. By an infernal Italian trick he had dropped on one knee, the lunge that should have gone through his heart had passed over his head and by some supernatural secret he had twisted the weapon from his opponent's grasp. Yes, Andre had lost Denise and death was upon him.

With a quick gesture the Chevalier pitched the sword over the wall and stood sword in hand facing the defenceless Andre. The breeze stirred his dainty locks.

"Monsieur le Vicomte," he said cheerfully, "will perhaps permit me now to return to the chateau. I have had my lesson. Andre clenched his fists angrily, dropping the young man's name, "Tourette," the young man bringing another torch, and assist Monsieur le Vicomte with his coat. You are a good wench, Tourette, and a discreet, is it not so?"

"Discreet your Italian! Andre growled, "pursue you and your Italian trick!" Yes, it was a trick, learned in Italy from a great master in the art. But not wish to be killed and in love, I did all in my power to save your life. You are good at swordsmanship for any one to beat in half an hour, and that is all I had to come, Vicomte, we have had our little encounter. Can we not be friends?"

Andre stared stupidly, yet feeling somewhat ashamed.

"I am not going to the chateau," the Chevalier added quietly, "I, too, am going to the war with my master and yours, the King. If it will satisfy you, I will promise not to speak to Mademoiselle la Marquise de Beau Sejour until we both return.

"You can do as you please with regard to Mademoiselle la Marquise," Andre said sharply.

"And will you do me a favor, the young man pleaded, "I beg you that for the future you will not speak of our meeting here to any one."

"Why?"

"Simply because I regret now that I prevented myself from being killed by a low trick. Life to the young is very sweet—it is my sole excuse to a better swordsman than myself."

"Very well," Andre answered, touched by the quick by the faultless delicacy with which the compliment was paid.

"Thank you. Perhaps now you will give me your hand?"

"With the greatest pleasure."

The Chevalier hid for the moment, storming his heart with the same superb grace that he had robbed him of his sword.

And then in the forest dungeon Andre strode out in search of his sword. To his surprise the wall of the court where they had fought backed on to the churchyard, and in a few minutes groping revealed his sword by the strangest accident lying in the damp, matted grass that sprang over the topstone of the little Marquise Mar-

le. Yet, at the bitter moment he could have shed tears of shame as he recalled the defeat and the humiliation inflicted on him by that beardless boy, on him, a Capitaine-Lieutenant of the Chevaliers de la Garde, on him who had never been vanquished yet. And he had sworn to win Denise! Why was he not lying under the sod forgotten and dead to the pain of the world, like little Marie?

A figure was creeping past him in the dark—a woman!

"Who is that?" he cried sharply, plucking at her hood.

"Monsieur, it is me—me, Monsieur."

"Because!" He let the hood go as if he had been stabbed.

"But yes, Monsieur, Yvonne of the Spotted Cow." She kissed his hand, humbly.

"Yvonne," he gasped. "What do you here?"

"I was born in this village," she answered, "my mother, she lives here. She is old, Monsieur."

"You—born here?"

"Surely, Monsieur. It is the truth."

Andre arched. Half an hour ago how near his mother, who was old, too, had been to praying for the soul of her only son. And she had been spared that pain by the courtesy of a beardless Chevalier.

"And what do you now in the churchyard?" he asked.

"I come to say my prayers for the little Marquise here. She is in the bosom of the good God, in my little Marquise, but I say a prayer for her soul when I am happy."

"And why do you pray for the Marquise Marie?" he asked.

"Because surely she is our Marquise. That other—she waved a hand at the twinkling lights of the noble chateau of Chateauroux she had only three weeks ago—she was a brand-new sign-board, and it was all the poor thing had. Don't go to her, my dear Andre; she'll see you in her crystal globe, face upwards in a heap of dead with an English sword in your gait."

"No, indeed, I put my knee against the door and said that as I couldn't pay Madame I must pay her. Not the first time the husky has been kissed, and it won't be the last. You, too, will discover the jade hasn't the dislike to men that her mistress has."

"What will you wager she will not see me—the mistress?"

"I'll bet, too, Madame is not at home at all, for she comes and goes like a will-o'-the-wisp. But if you go to see her she'll tell you something curiously disagreeable. She frightened the poor Des Forges, your Comtesse and mine, into hysterics, and his voice dropped, 'she warned the Duchesse de Chateauroux she had only three weeks ago—she was a brand-new sign-board, and it was all the poor thing had. Don't go to her, my dear Andre; she'll see you in her crystal globe, face upwards in a heap of dead with an English sword in your gait.'

"Needless to say, perhaps, that afternoon saw Andre at the tavern called 'The Cock with the Spurs of Gold.' In the woods between Paris and Versailles it was exactly suited for a rendezvous to which all might repair without the world being any the wiser. Andre had carefully disguised himself, and as he rapped on the door his appearance suggested to the noble Capitaine-Lieutenant des Chevaliers de la Garde, the noble and comfortable man who sat and drank with greater ease than he had dreamed.

The saucy gristie, whose demeanor was no more than the shifty falseness of her roving eyes, took to her mistress the name he gave, the 'Sieur de Nevers,' and then, to his joy, she quickly ushered him with no little ogling into an empty low-beamed parlor, which was really the apartment of a woman who could indulge her love of luxury. Off that gorgeous trade there were no traces, and he entered for such an enormous black cat with the most ferocious whiskers, who crept his back on Andre's skirt and glared at him with diabolical yellow eyes—a cat to make the flesh creep and bristle as did his whiskers.

"Welcome, Vicomte, welcome!"

Andre found himself staring at the dim light with intense surprise, not at a wizened hag, but at a young woman scarcely more than five-and-twenty, dressed in flowing coal-black draperies which made her wealth of fair hair, blue eyes, and sparkling smile all the more startling. Her dress was wide open at the throat and on her breast flashed an exquisite diamond cross, and what a figure! Those flowing draperies, that step forward revealed a woman perfectly capable of climbing and tumbling to her shame that above her upper lip there was the suggestion of a dark mousetail, though it added in the most extraordinary way to the weird effect of her appearance.

"Welcome, Vicomte, if I were not able to divine who my visitors were I should not have a trinket like this—the pattern is no common cross, the steeple and lifted the huge cat and stroked it gently with her chin.

"And what can I do for you?" she demanded, coming closer.

"My faith, but I do not know," he answered. The faint perfume of her person was puzzling him sorely. But in truth he was familiar with the perfume of so many women that it was hopeless to expect an answer to the question.

seif a Chevalier-leger de la Garde, and like himself notorious for his skill with the sword and for his countless galantries. Was it not St. Benoit who had taken his place in the course of the jealousy of the Comte des Forges and who had also been obliged to give the hot-headed husband the quietus of a flesh-wound?

Heard of course knew all the talk of the woman. He saw not the talk of the fool's mouth?

"She won't see you," he said. "She only prophesies to women, and very few of them. But if you go to see her, but her girl, a devilish saucy gristie with a roving eye and a scintillating point, shut the door in my face, by Madame's orders, if you please."

"And you went away?"

"No, indeed, I put my knee against the door and said that as I couldn't pay Madame I must pay her. Not the first time the husky has been kissed, and it won't be the last. You, too, will discover the jade hasn't the dislike to men that her mistress has."

4748—The school girl needs to develop her muscles quite as much as her brother and nowadays mothers use bloomers instead of petticoats underneath the little one's dress. This permits her to climb and tumble to her heart's content and is by far a most sensible way in which to dress a child. These bloomers are usually made at home and an excellent pattern is given here. There are in one piece, circular in shaping and fit smoothly about the waist with increased fullness to the knee. The bloomers open in back and require very little sewing to construct them. They are planned to answer every need of such garment. Serge, flannel, alpaca and percale are suitable material. For the medium size the pattern requires 1 1/2 yards of 38-inch material, 4748 sizes 3 to 9 years.

Arthur Lape Arrested After His Actions Cause Divorce of Wealthy Rochester Man's Wife

NEW YORK, July 3.—So attractive was the appearance of Mrs. Eva Chase Williamson of Rochester, as she was seated with her husband, William H. Williamson, a wealthy merchant of that city, and her particular friend, Florence F. Teal, of the same place, at the dining table of the Hotel Victoria in January, 1903, that Arthur Lape of No. 38 West Twenty-sixth street, at the suggestion of the proprietor of the hotel, for an introduction, it was not given until after Mr. Williamson had left for his home in Rochester.

The result of that introduction has been a divorce in favor of Mr. Williamson, who has now sued Lape to recover $50,000 damages for the alienation of Mrs. Williamson's affections. An order for the arrest of Lape was issued by Judge Fote of the supreme court of Monroe county, who fixed the bail at $5,000. Lape was taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff Ferry yesterday and at a late hour had not furnished bail.

Mrs. Williamson was formerly Miss Eva Chase. When she married the merchant on May 10, 1888, they went to reside at No. 57 West avenue, Rochester. There was nothing to disturb their domestic happiness until after the introduction of Mrs. Williamson to Lape, and from that time on Mr. Williamson noticed a change in the conduct of his wife, who frequently made visits to this city, Atlantic City, Buffalo and elsewhere, and on each occasion was found in the company of Lape. The evidence of detectives and Pullman car porters, telling of Mrs. Williamson travelling with Lape to Buffalo, justified Mr. Williamson in bringing suit for a divorce from his wife, a decree in his favor being signed by Judge Teal.

Miss Teal, who has been a very intimate friend of Mrs. Williamson for fifteen years, makes an affidavit, telling of the affectionate regard that Lape entertained for Mrs. Williamson and his desire to marry her.

Miss Teal was with Mrs. Williamson on many occasions when Lape clandestinely met Mrs. Williamson, who did not hesitate to say that Lape told her that he was in love with her and seemed anxious to know whether Mr. Williamson would not permit a divorce to be obtained.

Mrs. Williamson states when he first visited the Hotel Victoria, in January, 1903, he noticed a man at another table staring at his wife, who observed who was going on and, when she returned home afterward she told him the man was Lape, who had obtained an introduction and was very attentive to her. After another visit to this city Mr. Williamson declared his wife did not appear to have the same regard for him.

He did not see his wife after she paid a visit to her brother, Charles A. Chase, at Buffalo, on November 16 last. He has since then been visited by Mrs. Williamson at Rochester, and she received letters from him through the kindness of her friend, Miss Teal.

POWER TO INSPECT MILK CONVERTED INTO POWDER.

ALL FOOD PRODUCTS. Result of Recent Meat Packing Scandals, Bill Passes Second Reading.

LONDON, July 2.—Mr. Erenberg, a Swedish doctor, has discovered a process by which he can convert fresh milk into a powder soluble in water. The invention will shortly be introduced into this country.

By the new process the ordinary milk is eliminated of all water, and is dried gradually. The lumpy substance which is left is then ground into fine powder. The milk powder contains all the elements of pure milk, and retains the natural flavor.

For all purposes the dried milk can replace fresh milk. It can be used in tea and coffee; it is suitable for infants, and in the manufacture of confectionery it is better than the ordinary fluid. Cheese and butter can also be made from the powder.

The cost of the process amounts to less than a halfpenny a gallon.

NEW YORK, July 3.—No news of any kind has yet been received of the Fabre line steamer, the America, which sailed from Marseilles June 3 for whom were passengers and forty comprising the crew. Real apprehension for the safety of the steamer was expressed in shipping circles today because the steamship have for aboard the belated inquiries at the office of the agents concerning the vessel would be given them. Hope has not been abandoned by the steamer's agents, who explain that she likely has become disabled by a breakdown of her machinery or the loss of her propeller.

It was June 11 that the steamer left the Azores, and she should have come into port here in nine days with good weather. Twenty-two days have passed, and no vessel arriving from Mediterranean ports has sighted the America. HOUSE DISCUSSED QUESTION OF CONGO INDEPENDENT STATE

LONDON, July 3.—In the House of Lords today the question of the Congo independent state was discussed. Lords Fitzmaurice, Lansdowne and others complained that the recent decrees give no security to the effective administration of justice and commented on the apparent apathy of the powers. Lord Lansdowne in the course of a striking speech, said the attitude of the Congo independent state had been unsatisfactory throughout and could never be more unsatisfactory than now. He could scarcely believe, he said, that the powers would acquiesce in the claim of the sovereignty of the Congo independent state in the shape it has been most recently presented. Nothing could be more humiliating to European nations. He believed the presence there of half a dozen Englishmen would be worth quite as much as a "whole row" of inspectors and officials belonging to the Congo State.

He could scarcely believe, he said, that the powers would acquiesce in the claim of the sovereignty of the Congo independent state in the shape it has been most recently presented. Nothing could be more humiliating to European nations. He believed the presence there of half a dozen Englishmen would be worth quite as much as a "whole row" of inspectors and officials belonging to the Congo State.

POWER TO INSPECT MILK CONVERTED INTO POWDER.

ALL FOOD PRODUCTS. Result of Recent Meat Packing Scandals, Bill Passes Second Reading.

LONDON, July 2.—Mr. Erenberg, a Swedish doctor, has discovered a process by which he can convert fresh milk into a powder soluble in water. The invention will shortly be introduced into this country.

By the new process the ordinary milk is eliminated of all water, and is dried gradually. The lumpy substance which is left is then ground into fine powder. The milk powder contains all the elements of pure milk, and retains the natural flavor.

For all purposes the dried milk can replace fresh milk. It can be used in tea and coffee; it is suitable for infants, and in the manufacture of confectionery it is better than the ordinary fluid. Cheese and butter can also be made from the powder.

The cost of the process amounts to less than a halfpenny a gallon.

FABRE LINE STEAMER AMERICA MISSING

No News of Any Kind Has Been Received of Her—Relatives of Passengers Anxious

NEW YORK, July 3.—No news of any kind has yet been received of the Fabre line steamer, the America, which sailed from Marseilles June 3 for whom were passengers and forty comprising the crew. Real apprehension for the safety of the steamer was expressed in shipping circles today because the steamship have for aboard the belated inquiries at the office of the agents concerning the vessel would be given them. Hope has not been abandoned by the steamer's agents, who explain that she likely has become disabled by a breakdown of her machinery or the loss of her propeller.

It was June 11 that the steamer left the Azores, and she should have come into port here in nine days with good weather. Twenty-two days have passed, and no vessel arriving from Mediterranean ports has sighted the America. The Germana, a steamer of the same line, coming from Marseilles and upon her arrival here last Friday that she had seen nothing of the America. Today the Maddons, also of the same line, came into port from the Mediterranean, but nothing of the America was seen on the trip.

HOUSE DISCUSSED QUESTION OF CONGO INDEPENDENT STATE

LONDON, July 3.—In the House of Lords today the question of the Congo independent state was discussed. Lords Fitzmaurice, Lansdowne and others complained that the recent decrees give no security to the effective administration of justice and commented on the apparent apathy of the powers. Lord Lansdowne in the course of a striking speech, said the attitude of the Congo independent state had been unsatisfactory throughout and could never be more unsatisfactory than now. He could scarcely believe, he said, that the powers would acquiesce in the claim of the sovereignty of the Congo independent state in the shape it has been most recently presented. Nothing could be more humiliating to European nations. He believed the presence there of half a dozen Englishmen would be worth quite as much as a "whole row" of inspectors and officials belonging to the Congo State.

A slight blaze in Short's grocery store this morning called out No. 5 company, which speedily extinguished the fire before any serious damage was done.

F. A. Dykeman & Co. are putting on a timely sale of cotton wash materials. As the goods are of a most serviceable and stylish kind, every lady reader of this paper ought to be interested in their advertisement.

Do you think of something you need when it is too late. See the special line of Rainproof Coats at the Union Clothing Co., 25-28 Charlotte street, old Y. M. C. A. building. A glance at their windows will mean money in your pocket.

Prof. W. H. Clawson, formerly of the faculty of the U. N. B., arrived home by the Eastern Liner Huron this forenoon after a successful post graduate term at Harvard University. Prof. Clawson maintained his high standing as a scholar by capturing a remunerative scholarship from a host of competitors.

The Mission church congregation who are holding their church picnic at Westfield today were somewhat undecided when they saw the condition of the weather this morning whether to go on the picnic or not. After some hesitation they decided to risk the rain and left by the suburban train for Westfield.

As advertised in this issue M. R. A. Ltd., will inaugurate a sale of summer shirtwaists tomorrow morning in the silk room. It will be a clearance of this season's samples and some fragmentary stock, the "odds" of the earlier part of the summer rush. Full particulars are given in the announcement. A very timely offering indeed, with prices most unusual.

The Sabbath school committee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, has awarded a diploma to Rebecca M. Long, of South Bay, who has successfully passed all the examinations in the teachers' training course. This course covers a period of two years, and includes studies in Scripture, in doctrine, and in the art of teaching. Miss Long won first class honors.

The band of the 62nd regiment, with a case full of Yankee music such as The Star Spangled Banner, Dixie, Yankee Doodle, etc., etc., was on hand at the Eastern S. S. Co. dock this morning when the big liner Huron arrived. The bandmen were to go to Eastport for the glorification of the latter, but on account of a late arrival, did not start right off again. Therefore it is very probable the shades of Uncle Sam will be gathered before the redcoats start in delighting the Uncle Sams of Sardinia.

To skate, or not to skate, that is the question. The announcement to skate on what? Why roller skates. When? In a few days. Where? At the St. Andrew's rink, etc., etc., was on hand at the Eastern S. S. Co. dock this morning. For exercise. You know that you don't have exercise enough. You also know that the weather is not responsible for many of your ailments. The money that you spend for medicine and doctor's bills, if put into roller skating will make a new man of you. Roller skating is the best kind of medicine for you don't have to swallow it. Watch this paper for the announcement of the grand opening.

THE HURON TOO HIGH FOR THE LANDING STAGE

And Passengers Had to Come Ashore From the Cargo Deck—Eastern Liner in Had 65 on Board.

The Eastern Steamship Company's boat, the Huron, arrived early this morning off Paradise Island, on her first trip to St. John. On account of the thick fog she was obliged to remain several hours outside the harbor and did not dock till about 9 o'clock. The Huron is a commodious and luxuriously equipped steamer and will be a valuable addition to the fleet running between St. John and Boston. She carried 85 passengers on this trip. The boat had considerable difficulty in getting in to her wharf this morning. She is very high out of water, and when she reached the wharf it was found that the passengers could not come ashore on the regular landing stage. Hence it was necessary to construct a temporary staging for the exit of the passengers who came ashore through one of the openings in the cargo deck.

The Huron left Boston at the same time as the Calvin Austin, which is on the direct route. The Austin, which arrived yesterday morning brought 254 passengers.

Mrs. L. P. Toole will be at home Thursday afternoon and evening, July 5th, 32 Clifton street, Lancaster Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Scott returned last night from a visit to Centreville and other provincial points.

BEGGING FAKIRS ARE GROWING DISCOURAGED

And Few of Them Now Apply for Assistance From the Associated Charities.

Mrs. Hall, Secretary of the Associated Charities, says there has never been a season since she has been engaged in the work when there was so little demand for assistance from the society as during the present summer. She does not accord this to the fact that there is more work in the city nor that the amount of sickness is less than usual, but chiefly to the fact that fakirs are finding the association look closely into their cases and allow none to obtain assistance under false pretences.

The Associated Charities have had no new cases of sickness to deal with since the summer set in, but have still on their hands a number of cases of prolonged illness.

There is a constant demand, Mrs. Hall says, for house surveys, but the association do not deal at all with the domestic system, all she can do is to refer the applicants to the employers in their windows, will mean money in their pockets.

A HUNDRED PROVINCIALISTS WILL GO WEST TODAY

Home-seekers Excursion Will Carry a Fairly Large Number From the Three Provinces.

The second of the home-seekers' excursions leaves for the west tonight with about one hundred Maritime Province people. The C. P. R. are running these excursions at a very cheap rate in order that any one who may desire to settle in the west may not feel the country at very little expense. The last of the excursions will leave on the 13th of this month.

It is expected that fully one hundred from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will leave on the train tonight. They will go as far as Montreal in second class cars, but at Montreal six tourist cars will be attached to the regular express for the benefit of those who may go from Upper Canada as well as from the lower provinces.

Last evening attached to the regular west train from Montreal there were sixteen cars all filled with home-seekers.

CHARLES A. PATERSON.

Charles A. Paterson, one of the most popular young men in St. John, died at 10 o'clock this forenoon at the summer home of O. H. Warwick, at Westfield. Mr. Paterson, who was twenty-one years of age, was the son of Alexander Y. Paterson, jeweller, of the north end. For the past six years he has been in the A. Chipman Smith drug store, Charlotte street. Some fourteen weeks ago he became ill, and in spite of careful attention grew rapidly worse, his trouble being of a tubercular nature. A few weeks ago Mr. Warwick invited Mr. Paterson and his mother to Westfield, in the hope that this change might be of benefit, but the young man grew steadily weaker until the end.

Mr. Paterson was a native member of Main street Baptist church, and was very well known, not only in the north end but in the city, and scores of friends will regret to learn of his death.

His connection with the drug store of A. Chipman Smith brought him in touch with a large number of people, and his gentlemanly and obliging disposition won him friends among all classes. Mr. Paterson was a clever clerk, and would, undoubtedly, have been very successful in business had he survived.

Among the young people of the Douglas Avenue district, and in a general way about town, deceased will be sincerely mourned, for in their friendly circles no one was brighter or more genial than "Charlie" Paterson.

THE WINDOW NOT HERE YET.

The ladies of St. John's (Stone) church are still waiting patiently for the arrival of their new memorial window which they expected here some days ago. The secretary of the society which had the matter in charge received notification some time ago that the glass was shipped from Munich on May 19th for St. John via Montreal, and had there been no delay it should have arrived here before this time. It is quite possible, however, the delay took place between Munich and the point from which it was shipped. No word has yet been received from Montreal of its arrival there, and as the name of the steamer is not known, the ladies are quite in the dark as to when to expect their memorial window.

A LONG DELAY.

Several hundred passengers from Maine points and Charlotte county were compelled to sit in the cars at McAdam for over an hour last night while customs officers very deliberately inspected a couple of cartloads of baggage. The Boston express was nearly an hour late on reaching McAdam and there it was joined by a large number of St. John people who had been spending the holiday in different parts of the province. They found great enjoyment in watching the entries of the cars or starting out into the darkness while the trunks were being opened and closed. The train finally reached St. John about a quarter to one this morning having made up time on the run from McAdam.

Miss Annie McLean and Miss Ethel Melick returned last evening from Fredericton where they spent the holiday.

Fred Godbee, of the American Laundry, arrived from the States by this morning's boat.
