

MEDICAL TESTIMONY GIVEN IN FAVOR OF CONNELLY

Two Doctors Testify That Blows in the Face Did Not Dislocate Power's Neck. Might Have Been Caused by Fall on Solid Earth—No Sign of External Violence.

Special to The Standard. Moncton, July 7.—The preliminary examination of Thomas Connolly, charged with the murder of James Powers at a bear dance at McDonald farm, Coverdale, Albert Co., on the morning of June 30, commenced before Magistrate Peck, Hopewell Cape, this afternoon. C. L. Hanington and A. W. Gray, clerk of the peace at Albert, appeared for the Crown. The prisoner was defended by E. A. Reilly, Moncton. The prisoner appeared to feel his position keenly. The principal testimony given today was by Mrs. Harris and Price, who assisted at the autopsy. After Constable Smith, Chief of Police Rideout and Coroner Kirby had been examined as to the arrest and inquest, Dr. Harris, of Moncton, testified that he had been called to the McDonald farm between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning of June 30, and later assisted at the autopsy. "We found the spinal column dislocated and the spinal cord injured," he said, "in my opinion that would be caused by some force or blow. I mean a blow."

"Might it be the result of a fall?" "Yes." "Might it be the result of a fall from another man?" "Yes." "Might it be the result of fall and blow combined?" "Yes." "Did you find any evidence of any other injury to body?" "No. We found nothing else of importance in the result of autopsy."

Evidence of Alcoholism. Mr. Fowler—The witness said the superficial area of the brain was markedly congested and the lining of the stomach somewhat inflamed. The cause of this congestion of the brain and stomach was from alcoholism. From the way in which the spinal column was dislocated it could not have been caused from a blow in the face or side of the neck. Dislocation in this case was from back to front and not from front to back. Mr. Hanington asked: "Might a blow in side of neck or side of head cause dislocation in question?" "No, I think not," was the answer. "In addition to a blow from the back on what quarter if any of the face or neck or head might a blow be struck which might cause dislocation in question?" was asked. Mr. Fowler objected to this question on the ground that the crown could not cross-examine the witness. Mr. Hanington contended that the point which he wished to examine the witness was brought out by Mr. Fowler and he therefore had a right to go into the matter further. Magistrate Peck allowed Mr. Hanington's question and witness answered, "Yes, I think so."

QUIET TIME FOR LAURIER ON DEPARTURE. Small Gathering At Ottawa Station To See Premier Off On Western Tour—Rain Spoiled Festivities.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, July 7.—The departure of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on his two months' political tour of the Canadian west, this afternoon, was a quiet affair, no attempt being made at a demonstration, that is reserved for the return to the capital early in September. The train passed out in a down-pour of rain, but Sir Wilfrid declined to take this as an augury of a dismal trip. He declared that he was glad to see the rain because it was needed and would do good and besides it would make traveling more comfortable. The party at the station was not a large one. It included Lady Laurier who accompanied Sir Wilfrid to the station in their auto, the ministers of the Crown still in the city, a number of close personal friends of the premier, and a group of press correspondents. There was no formal farewell. Those present just said "Au revoir," and "bon voyage."

Very Affable. Sir Wilfrid's habit of remembering everybody was quite in evidence. As he shook hands with the newspaper men present, he expressed to each a word of regret that they were unable to accompany him, and just before boarding the car he remembered that he had said goodbye to everybody but his chauffeur, so back he came off the steps of the car and sang up to the lad with the peaked cap he said, "Goodbye, Charlie. Be a good boy until I come back."

ELIJAH ELUDES LAWFY OFFICERS. Rev. F. W. Sanford On Board Bark Kingdom Does Not Venture Inside 3-Mile Limit At Portland, Me.

Portland, Me., July 7.—A boat taking about 20 men, women and children from the Holy Ghost and Us Society, at Shiloh, was rowed about the bay for 12 or 13 hours today in an endeavor to reach the bark Kingdom which stood far out to sea. A high sea was running and many of the passengers on the boat were sick and must have suffered much discomfort. For two or three hours the fog shut the Kingdom off from view, but the boat drifted about until it lifted. The bark was finally reached late in the afternoon. Sheriff Trefeton with a writ of habeas corpus for the Syrian girl Sarah Josephs who is on board the bark, put in this afternoon in an endeavor to reach the ship, but she kept outside the three mile limit. A big quantity of baggage belonging to the party from Shiloh is waiting at South Freeport to be taken on board. It is believed that Rev. F. W. Sanford is on the Kingdom and as soon as his disciples are on board he intends to sail to some foreign port. The bark has been hovering outside the bay for five days.

SPRINGHILL MINERS FIGHT WITH POLICE. Company's Houses Stoned And Loyal Workmen Attacked—Necessary To Call On Troops From Halifax.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, July 7.—Five hundred U. M. W. miners, who have been out on strike for over a year at the Springhill mines, got into a dispute tonight with loyal workmen and the company's police, and the strikers who have been forbidden by the courts to picket, formed a mob tonight and stoned the company's houses and attempted to drive the loyal workmen and their families out. The town and their forces were ordered out and after a desperate fight subdued the rioters. The mayor of the town says he is unable to keep order and the R. C. R. will likely be ordered out from Halifax.

GEOLOGICAL STAFF SMALL. Summary Of Annual Report Shows Many Important Discoveries By Members Of Survey—Coal Discoveries.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, July 7.—The geological survey report for the year has just been issued. In it Mr. R. W. Brock, the director, says that the staff is too small even to begin to cope with the pressing work in a country so large as Canada and so rapidly opening up. Outside assistance had to be engaged. The geological division is scarcely larger than the staff assigned by the United States geological survey of Alaska alone. The topographical staff also is much too weak numerically. Discoveries of the year by members of the staff are: D. D. Cairns, a new occurrence of coal in the White Horse district of British Columbia. D. B. Dowling, a new and apparently important coal basin in Alberta reaching north from the Saskatchewan to the source of the McLeod river. Mr. R. W. Brock reports on British Columbia and the Klondike including a description of the Portland canal district which is causing such a stir at present.

O'LEARY CASE. New Turn Taken in Seaside Park Tragedy. INQUEST LAST NIGHT. Coroner Kenney Opened The Investigation Into The Death Of Arthur D. O'Leary—Ruptured Blood Vessel.

Roy Belyea, of the West End, was arrested about 11:30 last evening in connection with the death of Arthur D. O'Leary, whose body was found on the roadside near the entrance to Seaside Park, on Tuesday afternoon. The arrest was made by Sergeant Ross, and Officer William Lee acting under instructions received by the coroner from the inquest in the Carleton city Hall last evening and was afterwards arrested near the corner of Rodney and Ludlow streets. There is no charge against him but he will be held pending the result of the inquest. It will be remembered that it was said that Belyea struck or shoved O'Leary and the latter fell. It was also said that the two young men were fooling at the time.

Ruptured Blood Vessel Cause. Dr. Ellis, who made the post mortem, swore that there was a clot of blood on the brain of the dead man. He also said that the clot was the result of a ruptured blood vessel and such a rupture would cause death. The rupture could be caused by a fall such as O'Leary had. There was no evidence of a fractured neck and the man's arteries and veins were not diseased. Other witnesses were Miss Tufts, who found the body, Policeman William Amos, and Joseph Pike, who had been with O'Leary in Seaside Park earlier in the afternoon. At the conclusion of Compton's evidence Coroner Kenney adjourned the inquest until this evening at 7:30. Several more witnesses are to be examined and it is not certain that the hearing will be concluded tonight.

In his fourth jump Goss reached 18 feet 10 inches while Howe in his fifth got out to 19 feet 8 1/2 inches. Howe and Brooks also ran 100 yards in fast time, Brooks winning by a narrow margin.

PLANS FOR THE CAP SUSSEX SHAM BATTLE. Attacking Force On Their Way To St. John Will Be Intercepted By Defenders—Precautions Taken.

Special to The Standard. Sussex, July 7.—Friday is to be the day of the big sham fight at camp Sussex and today was spent in hard drill by the soldiers. There were no complaints, however, on the part of the men as all are keen and ready for the fray. There is much speculation as to who will be the victors in the conflict, but all are determined that the side they are on will be victorious. The attacking forces are supposed to have a footing in the province at Moncton and are advancing on St. John with determination to seize the winter port. The defending troops have for the most part already arrived in St. John and a rear party about twelve hundred men have been stationed at Sussex to check the advance. The struggle tomorrow will probably be one of the most determined that Sussex has ever seen more than usual care. The troops are in better condition than ever and both parties are under competent and experienced leadership. The blues who are to be the attacking party are under the command of Col. Vince and the whites who are to protect the winter port of Canada will be led by Col. Dibble.

WILL TRY THE N.W. PASSAGE. Capt. Bernier Has Important Duty To Perform In The Arctic—Two Years' Supplies Are On Board.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, July 7.—There is a great significance to the trip of the Arctic which sails for the north. She is sailing under sealed orders from the government, but enough is known to say that among other things attention will be given to the navigating of the north west passage to find out if this channel from the Atlantic to the Pacific is possible for ships of any size. Half a dozen years ago the passage was navigated by Capt. Edmondson in the Golden Rule for the Norwegian government. Capt. Bernier will try it again before he leaves the north land for Canada again. He carried two years supplies.

Special to The Standard. Campbellton, July 7.—I. C. R. Police Inspector Duncan Noble of this town has severed his connection with the railway and left on the limited this morning for Sydney where he has accepted a position with the Dominion Steel and Coal Co. His many friends here will regret his departure, although they will be glad to know of his success. He entered the employ of the I. C. He was appointed police inspector for the northern division and since that time has won an enviable reputation, his record being one of exceptional ability and success in placing the responsibility for misdemeanors and crimes where it rightly belonged. Some time ago he received a tempting offer from the big Sydney firm through Manager Butler, who had watched Mr. Noble's successful work during the time he was deputy minister of railways. The offer was held in abeyance for some time and was recently renewed and finally accepted by Mr. Noble. His career in his new position will be watched with interest by a host of well-wishers in Campbellton.

MEN AT THE FRONT IN SOUTH AFRICA

Marked Change of Spirit That Has Taken Place in the Transvaal.

London, July 6.—More important than the change in the form of administration which has just taken place in South Africa is the change in spirit of which the Union is the outward visible sign.

A group of able men will watch over the destinies of the new nation, but there are only two who are the real leaders of new South Africa. These two are Gen. Botha and Dr. Jameson.

Gen. Botha holds a unique position in South Africa. He is absolutely trusted by the British in all four colonies. It is said that Gen. Smuts is the "brains" of the Transvaal Ministry.

Gen. Botha is popular because he is a moderate and non-racial politician. Of his absolute loyalty to British Throne there is not the faintest doubt.

chief political opponent in the union, holds his place by reason of a similar personality. Dr. Jameson is not a great parliamentary debater. His influence, like Gen. Botha's, is a personal one.

Mr. Merriman. After these two men ranks Mr. Merriman, whose power in the Cape is great. But his influence is not South African. He is not popular in the Transvaal, where his views on the Dutch are detested.

BIRTHDAY PEERAGES IN OLD ENGLAND

Premier Asquith Pays Political Debts by Creation of New Peere.

London, June 30.—The peerage is a convenient clearing house for political debts. The practical politicians on the Radical side, when confronted with the list of birthday honors, frankly admit that it would be difficult for a Prime Minister to lead his party without this useful resource for rewarding partisans for timely services and for the generous contributions to the campaign fund.

Political obligations are incurred when a seat is provided for a defeated member of the government, when veterans are treated at a general election, when subscriptions are renewed year after year for expenses at headquarters or when platforms are ornamented in provincial towns by captains of industry and business men of high reputation.

The large number of Radical aspirants for social distinction implies that the agitation against the House of Lords is more artificial than the advanced men are prepared to concede. It has been easy to find seven thoroughgoing Liberals who are willing to immoderate themselves on the altar of privilege, and it cannot be doubted that seventy times seven would readily be induced to accept peerages if guarantees were obtained for wiping out the Conservative majority in the upper house.

Advanced Radicals may have worked themselves up into a white heat over the usurpations of irresponsible peers, but they have not declared war upon titles. If they succeed in muzzling or paralyzing the hereditary legislators by veto bill or otherwise they will be satisfied. The abolition of the gilded chamber, with its social prestige and glorified traditions is not advocated by any revolutionaryists, outside of the Labor group. The BANK OF ENGLAND MAINTAINS RATE. London, July 7.—American and Continental inquiries for gold have effectively barred all prospect of an immediate reduction in the bank rate. The directors of the Bank of England this morning decided to maintain the 3 per cent rate, although that basis at the present rate of exchange represents a loss. The engagement of $2,000,000 of Cape gold for Germany reported this morning is generally accepted as correct and the recent placing of bonds here should enable New York to take considerable gold. There will soon be in the neighborhood of $3,750,000 available in the open market and a loan of $1,000,000 is expected to be purchased for New York.

INQUEST ON DEATH OF W. A. SKERRY. Charlottetown, P.E.I., July 7.—The inquest on the body of W. Skerry is now being held at Alberton. The deceased had been missing since Tuesday night. Yesterday afternoon his remains were brought up the surface by grappling irons from the bottom of the channel a mile from town. The finding of a dory with an ear and lobster on board showed that he had been engaged overhauling his traps late at night when he fell in. Today the evidence is being taken of a companion named Cunningham who was last seen in his company. It is thought both had been drinking.

D. A. VAIL OF SUSSEX SUCCEUMBS TO INJURIES. Sussex, Kings Co., July 7.—Mr. D. A. Vail, a prominent resident of Sussex, was so badly injured by an explosion at eight o'clock last night that he died ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Vail, who is a brother of the proprietor of the Globe Steam Laundry in this city, owned a restaurant, grocery and confectionery store near the depot in Sussex and last evening was engaged in charging a gas cylinder for a soda water fountain when the cylinder exploded with a terrific force. The man received a fractured skull and serious abdominal injuries.

Aviators Fall. Copenhagen, July 7.—Baron Cederstrom, the Swedish aviator, and Swendson, the Dane, attempted a flight last night across the Sound from Copenhagen to Malmo, in Sweden. The distance across is about fourteen miles. Neither succeed in reaching his destination. A strong wind prevailed and Baron Cederstrom's engine broke down while the latter was attempting to make headway against the gale over the island of Saltholm, lying midway in the sound. He had a narrow escape from death, but finally made a landing on the island. Swendson's flight was almost equally perilous and after proceeding a few miles he turned back and landed on the coast.

reconstruction of the Upper House on a popular basis is the Radical goal. This implies the maintenance of a titled class, with consoling prizes for sound Liberals, who have worked their way up from the bottom of whose wives covet pride of station. The new peers, baronets and knights are mainly self-made men. Some of them have amassed fortunes as contractors in energetic working on manipulators of colonial stocks; others have discovered diamond fields or established great commercial or industrial enterprises; others have commanded success as the poets, artists, publishers, practical politicians and professional men. When they enter the peerage or halt at the halfway house of baronetage and knight-hood they bring fresh blood into the privileged class and help to keep it in touch with the masses of working people. When their titles to social distinction are examined—and a few of them have not emerged from the obscurity of mediocrity long enough to have their records compiled in "Who's Who" or any other encyclopedia of current biography—there is practical evidence of the levelling process which is transforming the peerage. A large proportion of the titled legislators stands for recent creations; only a small fraction represents noble families of ancient lineage. That is the bitter lament of the old-fashioned aristocracy; that plutocracy and democracy between them have vulgarized the peerage and reduced it to so pitiable a plight that it does not really matter whether the claws of the birds are not replaced by elective senators or glorified county councilors.

Fine Arts Recognized. Mr. Asquith has followed Lord Rosebery's example in signing representatives of art and literature for the honors of knighthood. This is a timely concession to good letters and the fine arts when similar favors are bestowed upon the chairman and managing directors of the mining company, in whose fields the huge Cullinan diamond presented to King Edward was found. Sir Alfred East has well deserved the compliment paid to him by the British Academy. He has been a landscape painter of noble aims, indefatigable industry and refinement of methods, but he has also invigorated with life the moribund Society of British Artists, engaged in important international labors on the Continent and in America and commanded recognition from foreign art societies. Mr. Quiller-Couch is a title to distinction as a representative novelist is not so clear as the painter's, but he is so sincere a literary worker, so worthy and amiable a man, that no associate in fiction will complain of either begrudge him the knighthood or explain it away as a reward for sturdy Cornish Radicalism. Neither George Meredith, while he lived, nor Thomas Hardy in the wide Westsex, nor Maurine Hewlett in his masterpiece of pure romance, received equal honor; but the Prime Minister has not made a mistake in conferring knighthood upon a pliant personality among British writers.

Accompanied by Premier Briand and Other Members of Ministry He Watches Bird Men Battle With Elements. The visit of President Fallieres to Betheny Plains yesterday, witness the contests in the international aviation meeting, was marred by bad weather. The president was accompanied by Premier Briand, Minister of Justice Barthou, Minister of Commerce Depuy, and General Bismarck, minister of war. The high winds interfered with the regular flight, but shortly before dusk, Latham, in a monoplane, and Weisman and Basder in biplanes, the latter with a passenger, made ascensions, undeterred by the gale. They gave a splendid exhibition of their skill in battling against the squalls.

Wealthy Society Girl is Clever Performer at Equestrian Art

MISS EMILY RANDOLPH JUST AFTER CLEARING A FENCE

Fort Worth, Tex., July 7.—The west has its cow-girls who ride horseback so desperately that they often outdo the men. But the east has its feminine dare-devil riders, too.

Several Texas girls who witnessed the Philadelphia show this season were astonished by the riding of Emily Randolph, a wealthy New York society girl who is only seventeen years old. Her horses were so high strung as to appear almost unmanageable; her hurdle jumping was an eye-opener to the western girls, who rode with as much quickness as a western girl.

ELOPING IS POPULAR NOW

Remarkable Frequency in Run-away Matches—Some of the Oddest Cases in Which Young People Secure Happiness.

Some twenty years hence a great number of people are going to be engaged in that fearsome game of locking the family skeleton in the closet and keeping it there; for somebody facetiously says that eloping has become the thing of outdoor sports in America. Where, once upon a time, it was played only at infrequent intervals, today, if we are to believe the accounts that fill the daily newspapers, it is being taken up by rich and poor alike all over the country. Sometimes it is taken up by rich and poor together, as in the case of the Philadelphia heiress who ran away a short time ago with a waiter from one of the leading hotels of that city. An elopement isn't a safe corner stone for a home—and that somebody's happy home is built upon one is no criterion—but what can more distress a parent than that son or daughter has eloped, merely copied the example set by father and mother? Now, when a poor young man runs away with a poor young woman, that is an elopement. When a rich young man runs away with a poor young woman that is not development. When a poor young man runs away with a rich young woman, that is an embezzlement. But inasmuch as a ruse by any other name would smell as sweet, I refrain from intimate characterization and simply note here a few of the oddest elopements that have been lintyped in the last year for the delectation of the public.

Desert The Stage.
 Some months ago, a barnstorming theatrical company, then playing the various water-tanks and clearings along the Kansas railroads, contained in its roster a young actor who was deeper than the water with the ingenue. The latter returned the hero's affection, although her mother, who was also a member of the organization, had expressed her disapproval of the whole affair in numerous concrete outbursts. Who the young man, accordingly, dared to ask the mother for the daughter's hand, he got not the hand, but the cold shoulder. The lovers were in despair, but not for long. The next night while going through their love scene in the second act of the comedy that was being presented, the young man whispered to his sweetheart the mystic words, "Let's elope!" The girl smiled acquiescence, and while the audience was still applauding on their exit, the lovers were hurrying unnoticed from the stage door in their costumes to the town livery stable. And while they sped in a buggy to the next hamlet six miles away, the third act was allowed to proceed as best it could, with the villain doubling as the young hero and the mother forced by grim fate to take the role just deserted by her daughter. Not less careless than these elopers was a young man who, while playing in a game of baseball last year on a Richmond, Virginia, nine, disappeared during the first half of the fifth inning, while his side was at bat, and it was learned subsequently, eloped with his lady love. The young couple had agreed to deceive their parents in this manner. The man, by entering the game, threw the girl's suspicious father off the trail, the latter having been on the lookout for some time for any elopement his daughter and her lover might have schemed.

 If the father had known then what the young fellow meant, the speed racer would never have taken place. However, getting ready, the two machines finally chugged into position and were off like a flash on their way past Seabright, Monmouth Beach, Long Moor and Galilee. Just before striking the bend in the road near North Long Branch, the young man put on all the speed he could and managed to get a good lead over his sweetheart's father.

At that instant two men jumped into the road with red lanterns, and waving them in a circle in front of them, commanded the father to stop. The father did stop, admitted that he was breaking all sorts of speed laws, and accepted his discomfiture in good grace. "Just wait a minute," he told his captors, "and that other car will be back and then we shall get the whole matter straightened out." He did not see the two men smile.

The other car did not come back—not for two days. When it did, it brought with it two young smiling persons who, more than anything else, wanted a "bless you, my children." They got it. Then the father was told that the two "constables" who had held him up for speeding were college chums of the bridegroom.

The elopement of a professional balloonist with his sweetheart, incidental to a county fair exhibition in Illinois last autumn, was published so widely at the time in the newspapers from one end of the land to the other, that further comment here regarding it is unnecessary.

TO LIMIT GROWTH OF MONASTIC ORDERS

Madrid, July 7.—Commercial bodies have joined in a petition to the government in favor of limiting the growth of monastic orders. GOES BEYOND THE STARS

Schiparelli, the Astronomer, Who Discovered the Canals of Mars, Passed Away at Milan—A Great Student.

Milan, July 6.—Prof. Schiaparelli, the former chief astronomer and director of the Milan observatory, who discovered the canal-like markings on the planet Mars in 1877, is dead.

Giovanni Virginio Schiaparelli leaped into the notice of the general public in 1877, when he announced his discovery of the so-called canals of Mars, a venture in astronomical speculation which has caused more discussion probably than any other theory of the heavens since it was finally settled that the earth moves around the earth. Among astronomers Schiaparelli had already become famous.

He was born in 1835, according to one authority on March 5, according to another on March 14. Savigliano, a town in Piedmont, was his birthplace. He was the son of a teacher. After such schooling as his native town afforded he went to the University of Berlin, where he studied under Encke of cometary fame, and finally to Pulkowa, where W. Struve was his teacher. In 1859 he returned to Italy and was at once appointed an assistant in the observatory of Brera at Milan. In 1862 he became the director of the observatory, and that place he held until his retirement in 1900.

A Long Career.

It was in 1861 that he performed his first exploit as an explorer of the heavens. This was the discovery of the planetoid Hesperia No. 69. Then he established his reputation by pointing out the coincidence of the orbits of certain comets with the paths of the shooting star showers. This discovery was first communicated in a series of letters to Father Secchi at Rome, printed in volume 5 of the meteorological bulletins of the Roman college. His observations were confirmed in a monograph on the falling stars printed in Florence in 1867 and in another work in 1871. His next work was a series of observations on the double stars, involving elaborate calculations as to their distances apart. This work was described as being "of path finding importance to astronomical science." Then came his observations upon Mars, involving his theory of the habitability of the planet by sentient beings akin to mankind. When he published his maps and descriptions of the markings he had observed about half the astronomers in the world came out in flatfooted opposition. Some of them had been looking at Mars all their lives and had seen no such markings; others had seen mere geological phenomena or due to cloud formations or mere tricks of light—optical illusions. Others, however, enthusiastically took up the Italian's ideas, and down to this day the conception that Mars is inhabited remains a cardinal proposition of imaginative astronomy.

Led to Close Study.

At any rate the discussion led to a worldwide study of the red planet which assuredly has established the existence of the markings so described by Schiaparelli, also the presence of an atmosphere and of water upon the planet, with a fair probability of vegetation. While it cannot be said that anything conclusive as to the presence of animal life, not to say human intelligence, has been produced, on the whole the observations made during the recent proximity of Mars to the earth have tended to enhance Schiaparelli's fame.

Besides Mars, Schiaparelli devoted considerable attention to the planet Mercury. He announced in 1883 that he had been able to fix the period of its revolution on its axis at 88 days, a period exactly corresponding with its rotation around the sun, so that like the moon as regards the earth, the planet always presents the same portion of its surface to its primary.

WOMEN OPERATORS PREPARING TO STRIKE

Strike Order Expected to Go into Effect This Afternoon in New York—Recognition of Union Bugbear.

New York, July 7.—Several thousand young women employees of women's garment making establishments all over the city are preparing to strike today in obedience to orders issued by the International Women's Garment Workers Organization, which has presented demands upon the employers for increased wages and better working conditions. The strike order was expected to go into effect this afternoon, it being announced that the employers or a large percentage of them were determined not to agree to the conditions imposed by the representatives of the dissatisfied employees. Several large establishments, however, were said to be inclined to make terms with their workers and sign the proposed agreements. This may reduce the number which it has been predicted would go on strike, the number running from 25,000 to as high as 75,000. Recognition of the union seemed to be a stumbling block in the negotiations which were still in progress in advance of the strike orders effectiveness.

HIS DEATH DUE TO RUPTURE OF BLOOD-VESSEL

Continued from page 1. From his examination he would say death was due to a rupture of a blood vessel. The blood vessels of the brain did not appear diseased. He would not expect to find any diseased condition of the blood vessels in a man of O'Leary's age. The rupture of the blood vessel in the brain might be caused by alcohol. It would be caused by a blow on the head. The man falling and striking his head on a rock would cause such a rupture. He could not find the ruptured blood vessel owing to the blood clot. The man might have lived five minutes or thirty minutes after the rupture of the blood vessel. Rupturing a blood vessel would cause staggering or stupor. He would consider that O'Leary's falling and striking the rock could produce a rupture. He could not recall any case where a man of O'Leary's age had a rupture in his head without an injury. He would not say that the man showed any signs of alcoholism. Such a hemorrhage of the brain would produce paralysis almost immediately and a person who had walked any distance after the hemorrhage.

Was With O'Leary. Joseph Pike of the West End said he was with O'Leary on Tuesday last. In the morning they went to the city and were drinking. They went to Seaside Park shortly after 12 o'clock. He did not remember when O'Leary left him. Witness supplied the liquor and as far as he knew O'Leary had none. O'Leary carried two square faces of gin but witness bought them. They were not drunk when they reached Seaside Park and were unable to walk straight. He went to sleep in the park but had no words and were joined by no one. O'Leary was lying beside him at one time. Witness did not wake until 9.30 at night when he found himself alone where he had lain down. He had always been friendly with O'Leary. On Tuesday he did not hear O'Leary complain of illness. The last time he saw O'Leary he was lying beside him in the park.

Policeman Amos Sworn. William Amos, policeman, said he returned from duty about 4.30 p. m. on Tuesday. He did not see O'Leary alive but being attracted to where the body was lying, found him dead. He did not know O'Leary. The witness described the location and position of the body. There were no marks on the body. In a pocket was a square face of gin with seal intact. No men were near the body when found. Witness had a pair of shoes, and a suit of clothes. He last saw him live on the Saturday night before the shooting. Witness was with Diego when he purchased a pair of shoes, and a suit of clothes. He paid $15 for the suit. Witness saw a $20 and $10 bill in Diego's hand.

Charles Compton Tells His Story. Charles Compton of Fairville was next sworn. He went to Seaside Park last Tuesday afternoon. He left after four o'clock he started for home from the head of the stairs. Harry Long, Addison Wayne and a young man named Warnock were with him. They left the park and talked up the car track. At the intersection of the road near the park they joined another party of about four persons. There were Journey, Roy Belyea, Black and Pike. He thought these were the names and he also thought they mentioned the name of Neves. O'Leary was also there.

WEDDINGS. Patterson-MacRae. St. Stephen's Church was the scene of an interesting event yesterday at 4 o'clock, when Miss Violet Douglas, daughter of the late Rev. Donald MacRae, D. D., became the wife of William Alfred Patterson, A. M., professor of science in the Western Canadian College, Calgary. Owing to recent bereavements in the bride's family no invitations were issued, but the church was crowded with friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride wore a handsome tailored costume of lavender chiffon broadcloth with a white chip hat matched with black, and plumes to fave gown. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bride was given away by her brother, K. J. MacRae, and was attended by her little niece, Miss Mary Campbell as maid of honor, who was daintily attired in a white embroidered tulle gown and carried a basket of pink carnations. The groom was unattended. The church presented a festive scene, with its decorations of marguerites and potted plants supplied by friends of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gordon Dickie. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome pearl necklace and to the maid of honor a gold brooch with pearly settings. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reicker, where the bride has been visiting, and partook of a dainty luncheon. The church was attractively decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson left on the C. P. R. for an extended trip in the Upper Provinces, leaving Calgary about September 1st, where they will reside.

Great Western Pictures at Nickel. If ever the Nickel had a good western programme of pictures it has one for today and Saturday. One of the stories by the Edison Co. of players in from the pen of no less a celebrity than Rex Beach, the prominent magazine man and is entitled "The Mule Driver and the Garrulous" and is something of the pioneering days in the Klondyke. The other feature is "The Cowpuncher's Ward," full of life, action and the spirit of the prairie. In direct contrast to these tales of the "open" will be "A Victim of Bridge," something sumptuous and refined--rather drawing room-like in effect and having a strong moral.

JURY IN SIRACUSO CASE RETURNED MURDER VERDICT AGAINST GIOVANNI ROSSI

Prisoner Betrayed No Feeling When Jury Announced Its Finding After an Hour's Deliberation--Four Witnesses Examined Last Night--Bullet Was Found in Siracuso's Head.

"We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Diego Siracuso, whose body was viewed by us at the general public hospital in the city and county of St. John, and that he came to his death by a bullet entering his brain, fired from a revolver held in the hand of one Giovanni Rossi, who robbed and murderously assaulted him in his house, situated at 37 North street in the City of St. John, on Saturday or Sunday, the 25th or 26th of June, Signed--Geo. H. Barnes, foreman; W. C. Smith, Fred Selby, W. H. Carter, Sydney Gibbs, Dennis Burke, Thos. Gibbons, and J. L. Williams, Jurors." This was the unanimous verdict brought in by the coroner's jury after one hour's deliberation after hearing the evidence in the case touching the death of Diego Siracuso, which was concluded in the courthouse last evening.

Rossi Took It Calmly. Without the slightest change of countenance and apparently unconcerned concern the prisoner listened to the fatal words. Four witnesses were examined. The chief witness was Dr. W. Warwick, who conducted a post mortem on the body of Siracuso. Dr. W. W. White was also sworn, as well as Police Officer Gosline who corroborated the evidence of Detective Killen regarding the finding of Rossi's revolver. Tony Vendetta also gave evidence. At the conclusion of the evidence Coroner Berryman charged the jury to some length going thoroughly into the evidence.

Upon the inquiry being resumed at 7 o'clock Police Officer James Gosline was the first witness called and told of going out the Marsh Road in company with Detective Killen and the prisoner, and of finding Rossi's revolver under a culvert there. Tony Vendetta the scissor's grinder, was the next witness. He had known Diego Siracuso since March last. He last saw him live on the Saturday night before the shooting. Witness was with Diego when he purchased a pair of shoes, and a suit of clothes. He paid $15 for the suit. Witness saw a $20 and $10 bill in Diego's hand.

Could Not Get in House. Witness called at Diego's house at 9 o'clock on the following morning, but found the doors closed and the blinds down. The Jones woman told witness that Siracuso "had a row" on Saturday night. He knew Andy Rossi. He never saw him in the possession of a revolver. Dr. W. White was the next witness. He told of the condition of Siracuso when admitted to the hospital. He had a wound in his head of about a quarter of an inch in diameter. Witness found the wound had not only gone through the scalp, but through the skull as well. Witness ordered the injured man to be taken to the operating room. On examining the skull he found that the bone was slightly larger than the scalp wound and several fragments of bone had been scattered about.

TRANSFER OF WEST SIDE PROPERTY CONSIDERED AT MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

Mr. McNicol Puts Question of Development of 40 Acres Up to the Government--Dr. Pugsley Promises to Do His Share--City Representatives Say Little Was Done.

The question of the transfer of the 40 acre lot in exchange for the 1600 foot strip was a definite announcement of what was done, but it is admitted that Mr. McNicol agreed to accept some modifications of the recent proposition of the C. P. R., and more in line with the conditions which the city has sought to impose. It is believed that Mr. McNicol's latest proposal includes an agreement to construct the sewers, or a portion of them, provided the city agrees to look after their maintenance. Mr. McNicol when seen after the conference said: "I am well satisfied with the results of the conference. I think we have cleared up the fog that has hung over the question of the transfer, and that an agreement will be reached before long. Our proposition seemed to favorably impress the committee, and when it goes before the council I think it will be considered satisfactory."

Has the C. P. R. modified its position in any way? "Yes, some slight modifications of our recent proposal were made to bring it more in line with what the city council wants."

LOCAL POLICE ASKED TO FIND CATTLE THIEF

A telephone message was received from Grand Bay at Central Police Station last evening to the effect that a peculiar and somewhat mysterious theft of a cow from the barn of Sam Linton had been committed yesterday afternoon in broad day light, and asking the police to look out for any person who might arrive in the city in the possession of any such animal. The police here were unable to act in the case, owing to the theft being committed outside the city and Police Officer Lawson of Fairville was appealed to. It is doubtful, however, if the Fairville police have any jurisdiction in the case, as Grand Bay is just outside St. John county.

The bold and peculiar manner in which the robbery of the cow, which is a valuable one, was accomplished, his stirred up the farmers of the district and the surrounding country is being thoroughly searched in an attempt to capture the thief. It is said that some small boys who happened to be playing nearby, saw a stranger lead the cow from the stable, but they were unable to state in what direction he had gone. The farmers are of the belief that the thief belonged to St. John and that he will attempt to bring the cow here.

Nothing Definite Done. Ald. McGoldrick, chairman of the committee, said that there was no information to give out to the public. "We had a pleasant chat, and arrived at a fair understanding on most of the points at issue. But nothing definite was done. The C. P. R. will submit a proposition in writing along the lines of that presented by Mr. McNicol today, and the committee will then hold another meeting and prepare a report to be sent to the council. Beyond that I have nothing to say, except that the conference was carried on in the most amicable spirit, and I think a solution of the question is in sight."

Mayor Frink's Opinion. The mayor when interviewed, said he had nothing to say, except that he thought a basis of settlement had been discovered and that when the plans of the Government and the C. P. R. were better understood, the public would be satisfied. The representatives of the city at the conference were: the mayor, Ald. McGoldrick, Baxter, Elkin, Likely, Christie and Jones with the common clerk, the recorder and the city engineer.

An Exhibition Rumor. It was rumored among the officers of the Exhibition Association yesterday that ex-President Roosevelt had written offering to make the entireprising newspaper man who reported that Teddy was expected to open the Dominion exhibition, an honorary member of the famous Ananias Club.

Difficult to Analyze Yesterday's Sales on Wall Street—Large Shipment of Gold Coming to New York.

New York, July 7.—Today's stock market proved quiet but baffling to attempts at interpretation or analysis.

The resistance shown when prices fell away suggested the operation of supporting forces and an effective absorptive demand which intimidated the bear element.

Confirmation was had of the reports current yesterday of the engagement of $1,750,000 in gold for shipment to New York.

The gold secured was believed to be part of that secured by Berlin on Monday upon its arrival from South Africa and resold to New York.

Private discount rates in Berlin and Paris declined today and the great foreign banks all showed the quick recuperation incident to the turn of a period of money settlements.

The decline in wheat in face of continued reports of damage to spring wheat was attributed to the excellent prospect for the winter wheat yield and this had considerable effect on stock market sentiment.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,660,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

FRENCH MONEY IS SPENT ABROAD. Washington, July 7.—A striking review of the manner in which the Bank of France has attained the dominating position which it occupies.

The narrative is very far from being a mere historical summary of the development of the Bank of France itself, but traces the manner in which the big credit companies grew up with the growth of the French capital and its distribution at home and abroad.

Summing up what has been accomplished by the big credit companies in developing the industries and financial resources of France, supported as they have been by the central bank, M. Liesse says:

MAY BE OPPOSITION IF THE JOHNSON-JEFFRIES FIGHT PICTURES SHOW IN ST. JOHN

Rev. J. C. B. Appel Says Evangelical Alliance Will Attempt to Prevent Any Such Action--Manager of Picture Theatre Says Pictures Have Not Yet Been Booked.

Rev. J. C. B. Appel, secretary of the manager of one of the leading moving picture theatres yesterday in reference to the possibility of the pictures of the big fight at Reno being exhibited here.

Mr. Appel was told that no arrangements had yet been made to exhibit the pictures here, and that none of the local houses were likely to handle them if there was any strong opposition.

To this Mr. Appel replied that he had no doubt that if a meeting of the Evangelical Alliance was called strong opposition would soon be developed. "No house," said the moving picture man, "would be likely to exhibit the pictures to women and children. But you must remember that there is no race question in St. John, and thousands of good citizens would like to see the pictures. The reports in the papers for months past have developed a regular contagion of interest."

Mr. Appel admitted that that seemed to be a fair view and remarked that the clergymen would have to get after the people.

No Action Taken Yet. The Moral Reform Association has not yet taken any action looking to barring the theatres from exhibiting pictures of the Johnson-Jeffries fight in St. John," said Rev. A. A. Graham last evening.

"So far as I know the association has not even considered the matter," he added. "What the members of the association may do remains to be seen. Personally I think the public authorities should be prepared to take action in the matter without being pressed to do so by the people. In Ontario, I understand, the attorney general has already taken steps to forbid the exhibition of the pictures in that province, and I think the attorney general of New Brunswick ought to take similar action."

ST. JOHN MEN OWE THEIR LIVES TO CAT

Walter Bradshaw and Three Others Had a Narrow Escape from Being Burned in Port Arthur.

Word received in the city yesterday conveyed the intelligence that thanks to a cat Walter Bradshaw and three other St. John men narrowly escaped being burned alive in a house in Port Arthur.

The four men were sleeping in two rooms in the upper story of a wooden building. Bradshaw was awakened through the night by noise made by a cat which was scratching at the latch of the door of the room. He then discovered that the place was enveloped in flames.

Quickly awakening his chums the four men escaped only through a miracle, the building collapsing some few minutes later. Although they escaped without injury there entire belongings were destroyed by the blaze.
