RESULT OF THE PIANO CONTEST

The Observer's hard-fought Piano Contest is ended. It closed a week ago yesterday, and the counting and recounting of the votes has been awaited with much interest, and there is no possible doubt of the verdict. The final careful audit shows that—

Miss McLean received 1,466,730

Miss Vera Page received 716,757

By this result Miss McLean wins the piano easily, and yesterday it was shipped to her home at East Florenceville.

The coupons issued by the merchants figured an important part in the campaign. They meant a financial return to The Observer, and without them the enterprise would not have been the success it was. Yet the success is not in the direct financial return but lies in the fact that The Observer is now able to proclaim that it has a larger circulation in Carleton and Victoria counties than any other of its competitors—which is surely a valuable asset, and certainly a matter for a small village like Hartland to be proud of.

The exact number of names added to the list is no secret. It is too good to keep. Exactly 658 names have been added to the subscription list, and this puts the total circulation away over the 2000 mark.

The manager has to thank the two young ladies who were the only real contestants. They worked with a faithful diligence that was commendable for pluck and endurance. While the winner secured only 42 more subscribers than her competitor—enough, however, to establish a decisive victory—the number of merchant's coupons issued in her favor made an overwhelming majority. And no favoritism was shown by the management in any way.

The Observer has to say with deepest regret that the loser in the contest did not take second place with very good grace. As was natural, her disappointment was keen, and while the manager was attacked for alleged favoritism and even for shady transactions, an independent audit failed to establish any ground for this allegation. No mention of this would be made here were it not for the threat that The Observer would be made suffer for its alleged unfairness. That any unfairness existed is too preposterous an idea for fair-minded people to entertain. There was absolutely no reason to attempt to show a spirit of favoritism; there was no way open by which such a spirit could be exhibited; and no one realizes more than the manager how disastrous and shameful such a course would have been. Subscribers have never had any difficulty in adjusting a grievance with The Observer, while business relations with others, business that amounts to a very much greater volume than the subscriptions receipts, have at all times been conducted with the utmost cordiality, so that the manager feels he has the entire confidence of the business men of the two counties irrespective of creeds or politics. This he values more than any other possession so that he again asseverates that no inducement—and none was held out by either contestant—would have inclined him to trickery or connivance in this campaign.

New subscribers are asked to bear with patience any misplacing of names there may be in the entire revision of lists made necessary by the great increase in circulation. Such misplacement—

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETS.

The special meeting of the local Agricultural Society called to meet last Saturday night was fairly well attended, some twelve or fifteen being present. One of the subjects discussed was the fertilizer situation and the question of home mixing.

From information available it is apparent that the home-mixed article, where tried, gave excellent results. It was decided that the president be asked to communicate with the proper parties and get information as to the outlook for procuring the raw material under present existing market conditions. The result of this enquiry will be available for the next regular meeting of this Society, which will be on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21.

The chief subject of the evening, however, was the ways and the means to create an interest and get sufficient support to keep the society on a proper working basis. To qualify for a grant from the local government certain conditions must be met, and during the intervening weeks those present Saturday night are pledged, and those who were not present but who are interested are requested to canvass the matter with their friends.

Come along to the October meeting and bring at least one new man with you. After Oct. 1 it will be possible to secure purebred stock through the Society and get the benefit of the government bonus; then there is always a certain benefit in fertilizer and seed prices if one can be persuaded to look around a little. Come along to the meeting, anyway, and see what you think about the question of standing in and trying to assist and be assisted. —Nico Linné.

WEST SIDE NOTES

(By Nicodemus)

All hands are requisitioned these days to assist in the rush to wind up the harvest of grain and potatoes while the beautiful weather continues. West Side crops have been good and content and prosperity is universal throughout this section.

A large number enjoyed the picnic supper given by the women's Aid of the U. B. Church, at Mrs. Joseph York's last Wednesday.

C. M. Shaw, accompanied by Mrs. S. H. Shaw, was in Monticello from Friday to Monday, attending the Primitive Baptist quarterly meetings in session at the West Road Church.

Shaw Bros. finding that their present accommodations were far too inadequate for their fast increasing wine business, are at present making additions and otherwise improving their hogery. When completed they will have convenient and roomy quarters in which to house and care for their large number of breeding stock. The Berkshires bred at Highland Farm are getting with great favor among breeders and the only trouble seems to be to produce enough Highland Berks to fill the orders.

Thos Tilley has a grade Jersey cow six years old that he is justly proud of. For the month of September this cow averaged twenty-six pounds of milk daily with 5.3% butter fat. This cow freshened in May last and is sure a good performer.

PATRIOTS AT FLORENCEVILLE

A meeting for the purpose of organizing to conduct a campaign in behalf of the Canadian Patriotic Fund was held on the evening of Sept. 29 Smith's hall at East Florenceville. The different sections were well represented. Father Bradley occupied the chair and in a few well chosen remarks pointed out the necessity of such a movement and our duty to help our Motherland in her battle for liberty.

A nominating committee was appointed and the following names were submitted to the meeting and on motion were adopted:

J. R. Tompkins, honorary pres.
B. F. Smith, pres.
W. A. Taylor, vice pres.
A. D. Jonah, sec.
H. T. Begg, treas.

A ways and means committee was also appointed and H. D. Thompson, Kate McGaffigan, Roy Hunter, Mrs. Lorne Simonson, Ada Hunter, E. J. Lindsay, and the clergymen of the various churches were added to the committee as ex-officio members.

After a few remarks by several present the meeting adjourned by the singing of the National Anthem. The committee met later in the week to formulate plans for work.

Ralston-Kilcollins.

The marriage of Mrs. Martha Kilcollins of Summerfield to William M. Ralston of Woodstock was an event of general interest in the upper part of the county on Wednesday. The ceremony took place in the Methodist church at Summerfield which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. A large audience was in attendance at the celebration, the Rev. George A. Ross officiating. Unattended, the bride and groom entered the church to the strain of the wedding march played by Miss Birdie Lawrence. The wedding service was concluded by rendering of Monsell's beautiful marriage hymn by the choir under the leadership of Miss Alice Lunn. Following the benediction Mr. and Mrs. Ralston stood in the altar aisle and received the congratulations of the large number of well wishers who had gathered to express themselves on the occasion. Adjournment was made later to the residence of Glazier Kilcollins where a number of invited guests joined the newly married couple at the bounteous repast which had been provided. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston left for Woodstock during the afternoon by auto. They will reside in Grafton where the groom has a substantial home. The bride has the respect of a large circle of friends in this section and their cordial good wishes for her future happiness follow her to her new home.

Popular Pastor to Wed.

The marriage of Miss Helen B. Peterson of Tracys Mills and Rev. C. S. Young of Plaster Rock will take place Wed. Oct. 14, at River Bank at the home of Mr. Young's sisters, Mrs. R. Long and Mrs. C. M. Dow. Miss Peterson has made a special study of music. Last summer while in Fredericton she studied under Prof. Cadwallader. She has been organist for some time at the Baptist Church at Tracys Mills.

Mr. Young is pastor of the Baptist church at Plaster Rock where he has had success and made many friends. He has just recently entered upon the fourth year of his ministry as pastor of the United Baptist churches on the Plaster Rock circuit.

Thanks Her Friends

I wish to thank the many friends who so kindly and willingly assisted me in winning the beautiful piano. Phoebe McLean

FITZPATRICK-HARPER

The home of Mrs. J. F. Harper, Jacksonville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday when her eldest daughter, Miss Helen Elizabeth, was united in marriage to the Rev. Percy A. Fitzpatrick, of the Moncton Wesley Memorial church. The house had been beautifully decorated with asters and ferns and presented a very pretty appearance. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. J. B. Gough, took place beneath a very beautiful floral arch. As the bridal party entered the parlor, Miss Grace Harper, cousin of the bride, very effectively rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk and overdress of shadow lace and carried a bouquet of roses and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth, who wore a dainty gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of asters and ferns. The groom was supported by his brother, Fred Fitzpatrick. Little Miss Winnifred, sister of the bride, in a pretty white frock, acted as flower girl. At the conclusion of the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served.

The gifts to the bride were numerous and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The happy young couple left on the evening express for a tour through Nova Scotia. They will return to Moncton, where they will reside.

A BIG BLAZE IN CENTREVILLE

The Mars Hill View thus reports the Centreville fire:

Last night, Wednesday, fire broke out in a building occupied by railroad men in Centreville and before an hour had swept through the hardware store and Burt's hotel and stable, and down the street as far as White's big block, laying everything low. Buildings burned were owned by Geo. Beckwith, DeLong & Clark, Burt and others. There were eight buildings in all. The store house back of the White block was torn down and the firemen played the hose on the adjoining building next to the bank building which was the last to burn. It is understood that all were fairly well insured.

Within a short time after the fire broke out C. M. Sherwood had his big gasoline engine started and several hundred feet of hose coupled on, taking water from a big cistern in the basement of his store. But for this protection Centreville would all be in ashes today. The people owe it all to Sherwood's enterprise in putting in a fighting system, and the town could do nothing more fair than to vote him $500. to help defray expense of keeping the hose, etc. in good order for another fire.

A laughable incident not on the program occurred when H. T. Scholey grabbed one end of an ax from the hands of the View editor, who was endeavoring to save the plate glass windows in the bank building and started across the street, falling in the middle of the street on his back, and with hands still clutching the bit of the ax and the editor on the other end so that he would not cut himself Mr. Scholey kicked and kicked to release the handle from our grasp. Mr. Scholey was evidently crazed by the fire and did not realize what he was doing. In the meantime the plate windows went down to doom in the hot fire.

Many from here went over by autos to assist. Postmaster Ramsay at the wheel of his Ford, with three others in the car made the run from Blaine to Centreville ten miles, in twenty-five minutes. E. B. Morton, C. A. Small, Fred Cliff and others also made lightning trips.

ment of names is bound to occur, and the manager is equally bound to finally reach a proper adjustment. This may not be accomplished under two or three weeks, and subscribers whose papers are misdirected, or who have any other grievance, will be good enough to point out the error to us rather than to any one else.

A second prize had been advertised of a suit or coat worth $20 to the next highest contestant. In view of the valiant efforts put forth by Miss Page she was given the sum of $30 in cash. This with the cost of the piano and other expense connected with the campaign, just about takes the whole of the direct proceeds. But we shall profit by the increased circulation, and not a little by the fact that the whole transaction was conducted with absolute fairness to all concerned.

CHILDREN'S TEETH.

When They Should Appear and the Order In Which They Come.
The milk teeth (first teeth) are twenty in number. The time at which they appear is subject to considerable variations, even under normal conditions. The following table gives the order and average time of appearance of the different teeth:
Two lower central incisors, six to nine months.
Four upper incisors, eight to twelve months.
Two lower lateral incisors and four anterior molars, twelve to fifteen months.
Four canines, eighteen to twenty-four months.
Four posterior molars, twenty-four to thirty months.
At one year of age a child should have six teeth.
At one and one-half years it should have twelve teeth.
At two years it should have sixteen teeth.
At two and one-half years it should have twenty teeth.
It is not easy to explain where there are so often variations from the average. The order in which the teeth appear is more regular than the time of their appearance. Marked irregularities in order of the appearance of the teeth are the rule in idiotic children or those suffering from slighter mental effects.
Delayed dentition is generally caused by rickets. Many healthy children, however, frequently have no teeth appear until the tenth month of age. Philadelphia Record.

BATHING IN JAPAN.

Natives Wash Themselves Clean Before Getting Into the Tub.
Partial accounts of the luxury of a Japanese bath lead us to believe that what is regarded by many in this country as a necessity, and by more as a supererogation—in Japan the bath is not only a necessity, but a delightful recreation.
The Japanese have a way of their own of taking a bath. They have a system that in some respects resembles that enforced at swimming pools in this country. You must first wash the body thoroughly, and then you enter the tub, the water of which is heated by an individual system. There, if you are in a public bathhouse, you may smoke and doze and chat with your friends in a dissipation that is said to be exceedingly refreshing. The water is kept hot, perhaps increases in heat, and when you leave the tub it is still regarded as fit for the next customer. In a private house the master and mistress may have their baths first, and the same water serves for the invigoration and diversion of the servants.
The ignorant foreigner, who goes into the Japanese tub for the purpose of cleansing his body and with soap, spoils the water for further use, is not only guilty of a social error, but entails a hardship on the household, including the servants. Rochester Democrat.

Recognized.
A Pennsylvania lawyer known throughout the state for his sharpness once met his match in a very unexpected quarter.
An old woman was being cross examined by him as to how the testator had looked when he made a remark to her about some relatives.
"I don't remember. He's been dead three years," she answered testily.
"Do you mean to tell me that your memory is so bad that you cannot go back three years?" demanded the attorney.
The witness was silent.
"Did he look anything like me?" the lawyer finally ventured.
"Seems to me he did have the same sort of vacant look," responded the old lady.
An Unconventional Duke.
Kew Parish church had among former worshippers the first Duke of Cambridge, a strong but unconventional churchman, who made audible comments while the service was in progress. To the exhortation, "Let us pray," he would reply, "By all means," and during a dry summer he added to the "Amen" after the prayer for rain, "But we shan't get it till the wind changes." On hearing the words, "For we brought nothing into the world, neither may we carry anything out," he would ejaculate, "True, true; too many calls upon us for that."—London Globe.

The Smile of God's Love.
As the ice upon the mountain, when the warm breath of summer's sun breathes upon it, melts and divides into drops, each of which reflects an image of the sun, so life, in the smile of God's love, divides itself into separate forms, each bearing in it and reflecting an image of God's love.—Longfellow.

The Noblest Arms.
We may talk what we please of lilies, and lions rampant, and spread eagles, in fields d'or or d'argent, but if heraldry were guided by reason a plow in a field of arable would be the most noble and ancient arms.—Abraham Cowley.

A Matter of Support.
Her Father—You expect me to support Margaret indefinitely? Her Husband—Well, I hope you may stand from under very gradually, sir.—Boston Transcript.

Nothing is denied to well directed labor; nothing is ever to be attained without it.—Sir Joshua Reynolds.

WOES OF THE POOR RICH.

How the Wife of One Wealthy Man Got Her Spending Money.
In the American Magazine, in a story by Rebecca Hooper Eastman, is a satire on the poor rich, in which the wife of a wealthy man tells as follows how she gets hold of her spending money:
"Kitty, dear, I can't bear that you should misjudge me, and so I am going to tell you what not a soul in this world knows. I have absolutely no money and no way of getting any. My husband doesn't think it is necessary for me to have money when I can charge things. I owe you a dollar. You think I have forgotten, but I have not. And I am going to pay you—when I can."
"I want to tell you that I have just discovered a way to make money. You see, I have borrowed so many small sums for tips and car fares that I am quite in debt."
"We have one of the finest cooks in New York, as you know, and I order him to make cakes. He thinks they are for a bazaar. In reality I sell these cakes at a certain woman's exchange for $1 a loaf, cash, Kitty. I leave my car at a nearby hotel, walk through the hotel to the exchange on the next street, wear a plain suit and a thick veil, which I put on in the hotel dressing room. Nobody knows."

WHAT CAUSES CRYSTALS?

An Obscure Process That Plays a Large Part in Nature.
In answer to the question, "Will a sudden jar ever cause crystals to appear in a supersaturated solution, or can this be produced only by the introduction of one of the crystals?" Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:
"Supersaturation and crystal formation are obscure phenomena. Let water dissolve salts until it is supersaturated when perfectly still; then let the containing vessel be suddenly moved, tapped or disturbed; then crystals of the dissolved substances will instantly form. Pure water, distilled, may be put into a closed container and a thermometer placed below the surface.
"Keep the whole very still and the water may be cooled a number of degrees below the freezing-point, crystallizing-point without crystallizing. Suddenly strike the vessel and the liquid will crystallize. Many solutions of supersaturation will thus behave."
"This little understood process underlying the fascinating mathematical science of crystal forming plays a highly important part in nature in the building of solids, of crystalline rocks and general structure of our house—the earth."

End Came Quickly.
The experiences of local jewelers with prospective bridegrooms have been many and varied. Some wish to buy on the installment plan, some wish to take a half dozen sizes to be sure of a fit and some bring "beautiful verses" to see whether they can be engraved in the ring.
One jeweler in recounting his experiences said a young man came into his store and when asked whether he wished anything engraved inside the ring became confused, fumbled a bit in his pockets and finally produced a paper on which was scrawled, "The love that never endeth," which the jeweler said was just the proper sentiment.
A month later the young man returned and told the whole history of his marital life in five words, "Can't you cut that out?" pointing to the engraved sentence.

Glacier National Park.
Glacier National park is in northern Montana and is bounded on the north by the Canadian line, on the east by the Blackfoot Indian reservation and on the south and west by Flathead river. It has an area of about 915,000 acres and derives its name from many glaciers, which are scattered throughout its area. There are about eighty glaciers, between five square miles and a few acres in area. The park is a rugged mountainous region and contains over 250 lakes, which are surrounded by steep and beautifully wooded mountains or precipitous rock walls. The methods of transportation in the park are by automobile, horse stage, launches on the lakes and saddle and pack horses.

Inductive and Deductive.
Deductive reasoning is from theory to facts, while inductive reasoning is from facts to theory. Deduction is sometimes mere dreaming, while induction is the same reaching out from particular facts to general laws.—New York American.

Polity, Not Politeness.
Gibbs—I noticed you rise in the car this morning and give your seat to a stout lady. Dibbs—Yes; it was no question whether she or I was going to stand on my feet.

Train Momentum.
The momentum of a modern twelve car railroad train running a mile a minute is equal to that of a ton weight falling from a height of twenty-one miles.

Fixed Both Ways.
Please give me two bills for my hat, one for $10, to show my husband, and one for $20, to show my lady friends.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

It is too late to throw water on the children when the house is burned down.—Danish Proverb.

Indigestion and Headaches

Arising From Constipation, Cured and Regular Habits Established by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

In the western Provinces, where so many thousands live far from doctors and drug stores, very many rely on Dr. Chase's medicines to cure disease and maintain health and strength. This letter gives some idea of what perfect control Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills exert over the most common ills of life.

Mrs. H. K. Hower, farmer's wife, Eastburg, Alta., writes:—"For about ten years I suffered from constipation, indigestion, headache and languid feelings. Treatment from two or three doctors afforded only temporary relief, so I turned to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and with most satisfactory results. Headaches have disappeared, regular habits established and general health very much better. Both my husband and I can speak highly of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as we have both been greatly benefited by them." One pill a dose, 25¢ a box, 5 for $1.00, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

DRINK HABIT!

A New Man in Three to Five Days

Wives, mothers, fathers, friends, employers—give up the hope that the drinker will stop liquor some day of his own will! He has no will to help him stop—it was destroyed long ago by alcoholic poison. Coax, urge, plead with him if necessary, to take the Gatlin treatment—when he is again a normal man after three to five days at the Gatlin Institute he will thank you. It is his only salvation—the only way for you to save him from mental and physical ill health and from bankruptcy or worse. You must do the thinking—these men cannot think for themselves.

THE GATLIN

"The Treatment that Leaves No Bad After Effects"

The Gatlin Treatment is convenient to take. It only requires three to five days. The saving of from three to five weeks time means something to a busy man. There are no hypodermic injections, no substitute stimulants, no poisonous drugs—just a simple, harmless treatment which will in three to five days free the system of accumulated alcoholic poison, thereby doing away with the cause of physical and nerve-craving for liquor and all inclination to drink it.

Satisfactory, or It Costs Nothing

Each patient is treated under contract at the Gatlin Institute. The treatment must be satisfactory in every particular, or the fee paid will be refunded. Everything private and confidential. Home treatment for those who cannot come to the Institute for three to five days. Call or telephone or telegraph for books of particulars, copies of contracts and other information.

HIS GAME OF PATIENCE

It Took a Long Time to Win, but He Succeeded.

By GERTRUDE DELANCEY.

Old Captain Blanding had two absorbing passions in life—his love for whist and his love for his daughter Thais.

It was wonderful how many young men were willing to pass their evenings at the captain's house playing with him. He was a wary old opponent and all but invincible.

The young men came by twos and threes in their best tailor-made suits, with posies in their buttonholes. Often they brought offerings to the captain's daughter.

Thais accepted the gifts and the too evident good will indifferently. Sometimes when a fourth hand was needed at whist she lent her aid. Otherwise she betook herself to the parlor and practiced as diligently as if there was not a man in the house.

Aunt Letty, Captain Blanding's widowed sister, kept house for him and mothered his otherwise motherless daughter. She was a gentle soul, large hearted and small minded, who made the best doughnuts in town. By the aid of her smiles and her cakes she encouraged eligible men to frequent the captain's house, hoping that some one of them would prove acceptable to Thais.

Thais' name had been given her because of an early fondness of her father for Greek literature. Thais, despite her name, did not lean toward scholarly achievement. She was a butterfly, very beautiful to look at and very difficult to catch.

She had read a little poetry and very many romances where the heroines were all beautiful like herself and the heroes proved their devotion by astounding deeds of valor. These men, who sat evening after evening with bits of red and black pasteboard between them, evidently lacked every heroic quality.

When one by one these timid adorers laid his heart at her feet she promptly trampled upon it and sent him away smarting.

When after a few evenings he did not again appear the old captain would wonder mildly what kept him away. Sometimes he asked the victim and received a stammered excuse.

By the time the young man's place at the card table was filled the captain had ceased to remember him.

It was Sheldon King who brought Billy Smith to the house for the first time. Billy was a newcomer in Kensington and wholly unacquainted. He was a little fellow with hair of no particular shade of brown, a square, plain face and blue eyes behind glasses. He had no stories to tell, no jokes to raise a laugh, and he had never handled cards before in his life.

It took him the entire evening to learn to play a little, but he applied his mind to it with a will, and when he went away the captain slapped him on the shoulder and told him he would make a player if he kept at it. The captain always said that to the defeated, who sometimes chewed their lips over it bitterly.

The captain conceived a great liking for Billy, and they spent many evenings together. By spring Billy had learned all the games the captain knew and could even beat him at some of them.

He came obviously for the captain's sake alone, for he brought no offerings to Thais. He had his own way to make and an invalid sister to maintain at an expensive sanitarium. This much he told the captain and was forever after silent about his affairs.

Sheldon King presently, having had his wings badly singed at the candle of Thais' indifference, ceased to be seen at the captain's card table. But Billy came unfailingly. The captain was delighted with him.

Here at last was a man who did not play to one's humor, who beat one unmercifully if he could or was beaten without showing the white feather.

The second winter Billy's sister died. He stayed away two months, and the captain openly fretted for him. Then one evening Billy appeared with a box of the captain's favorite cigars. The captain fairly wept for joy at sight of him and shook his hand twenty times.

His called Thais to see who had come. Thais came, started by the clamor and a little disgusted when she found only Billy. She gave him a cool little hand and a cool little smile and a cool little phrase of welcome, then returned to the piano and Chaminade. She did not understand Billy, who brought cigars to her father instead of bouquets to her.

Two years went by. The circle about the captain's card table had changed many times and had dwindled to an occasional widower, silly Tom Pike and Billy. One by one the other young men had mended their hearts and offered them good as new elsewhere.

The votive offerings that now came to Thais' shrine were far less frequent. Billy thought her nothing at all, but it was wonderful how many little things he found to present the captain with. He even gave Aunt Letty a beautiful crochet hook with a chased gold handle.

Years passed and passed very slowly for Thais. Chaminade had ceased to charm her, and she missed the excitement of past adoration. Mr. Sweet had gone away, and Tom Pike, in despair of winning Thais, had married a woman easier to woo. There were no new lovers forthcoming, for Thais was now generally labeled dangerous. Moreover, she had ceased to be the beauty of the time.

She had reached a very trying period of her life, being too old to go in the young set, too young to go in the old set and prohibited by reason of her maidenhood from entering the married set.

Her dreams did not, as in the past, satisfy her. Her hero, the ideal of her imaginings, had not come. She believed now he never would come. She began to sigh when she looked in the glass. Sometimes she saw herself quite old, sitting at table pouring tea for Aunt Letty or playing cards with her father and having no interest in life beyond these two daily duties.

Thais' ideas of life were changing. She discovered that Billy Smith had a good forehead and mouth and that his hair looked better with gleams of gray in it.

Billy still came to the house as unfailingly as ever. He was almost the only single man who did come. Unconsciously almost she began to look forward to his visits, and he often found her shuffling cards against his arrival.

Billy had brightened wonderfully in these later years. He told stories and jokes and the amusing gossip of the town. He was earning a large salary and was much sought by mothers with marriageable daughters. But for some reason he continued to be free and to play cards at the captain's.

One evening he found Thais alone. She begged him rather shyly to stay, and he stayed. They sat down at the card table, and Billy dealt the pack for Pedro. They played as for dear life, scarcely speaking. Then by means of a lucky ace Billy won.

He looked across at Thais, but her eyes were down. Something in her face, however, lent him courage, and he caught her hands, which were absently engaged with the cards.

"Thais!" He commanded. She looked at him.

"I win!" he said triumphantly.

"Yes," she faltered.

"It has taken a long time," he said presently. "Thais, I have never given you a present. But I have one for you which I have carried with me constantly for several years. May I give it to you now?"

"Yes," Thais said meekly.

When he had put the ring upon her finger he leaned forward and kissed her.

"It has been a long game," he said, "and one that required lots of patience and determination. You see, dearest, I fell in love with you the first time I saw you, and I made up my mind to have you, God willing. The only way I could make myself welcome here was to play cards. So I played. You'll never ask me to play cards with you after we are married, will you, dear?"

"Why not?" asked Thais wonderingly.

"Because I loathe them and have loathed them since the first game I ever learned."

"Oh, Billy!" Thais said.

And then there she realized that the man of her heart was indeed, after all, a hero.

Light Without Heat.

Considerable progress toward realizing one of the dreams of the physicists and chemists—cold light—has been made by Professor W. D. Bancroft, of the University of Pennsylvania. The dream has been his example. He has worked out the idea by burning mercury electrolytically under water in a solution of bromide potassium. The result is a brilliant orange light, with scarcely any heat. The experiment has been demonstrated before the chemical society and received wide indorsement.

Desolate St. Pierre.

St. Pierre, with its 30,000 inhabitants, destroyed by the eruption of Mount Pelée, has never been rebuilt. This city is as barren as an abandoned granite quarry, and reminds the visitor of Pompeii. Even yet the ruins are being searched for valuables, although the place is still under police control. Two or three streets have been excavated and some half dozen temporary buildings erected; but otherwise little has been done.

Practical Health Hint.

Morning Cold Baths.

The early morning cold bath is beneficial only to those persons who possess sufficient vital energy and nervous force to insure a good reaction with no subsequent languor or lassitude.

If one feels greatly refreshed after one's morning bath, but two or three hours afterwards feels tired or languid, there is sufficient evidence that the practice is injurious, and should be discontinued.

Those who have an ample supply of blood and flesh, who possess a lymphatic or sluggish temperament and whose nervous force is not depleted may indulge in their morning bath to advantage.

Those inclined to be thin, whose hands and feet upon slight provocation become cold and clammy, who digest their food rather slowly and assimilate it with difficulty, who are nervous and are burdened mentally, all such individuals should avoid bathing during the early morning hours.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp, of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

Their Coast Line Is Longer Than That of the United States.

"It is not generally known perhaps that the coast line of the Philippine Islands is longer than that of the United States," said a man who has spent more than fifteen years in that country. "The Philippines are numerous islands," he continued. "It would take one many months to tour all of the islands. Of course the climate varies, but in most parts it is delightful. The average temperature is lower than in many parts of the United States, and the humidity is not nearly so great. Records of temperature in the Philippines have been kept since 1895, and in that time the maximum recorded was 105 degrees. The mean temperature is from 70 to 80 degrees.

"If the humidity were great there are times when it would be almost unbearable, but ordinarily I would rather live in the Philippines than in most sections of the country. It is fortunate that in the month of greatest humidity, September, the temperature falls lower than at any other time of the year, which makes it possible to endure the conditions.

"I have frequently been asked if there is much drinking among the Filipinos. There is comparatively very little. The Filipinos have discovered, even if some of our own countrymen have not, that alcoholic drinks and the tropics do not mix. It is seldom you see a Filipino intoxicated. There are native brewed drinks in different islands, but the people do not overindulge."

Hello! Is that Nixon's Store?

Have you got your new goods in yet, and will the War make any difference in the prices? I want to stock up on footwear for the winter. And say! Have a few pounds of Nixon's Special Tea ready for me when I come in.

Will you take some of my butter and eggs? The butter is very choice.

And the Answer Was:

Is that you, Mr. Farmer?

Yes, this is Nixon's in Hartland. So glad you called me up. Yes, a large part of my new goods are here, and more arriving every day. No, the War will not have any effect on MY prices, because I bought before the trouble started; but in order to take advantage of my foresight you will have to "get a move on," for the best bargains are being snapped up almost as fast as they are opened up. We have a good stock of Nixon's Special Tea on hand, and will have yours ready for you. Glad you like it—haven't heard of anyone who doesn't.

Bring along your eggs and butter, and if they are as good as you claim I want them—the best is none too good for my customers. Thanks. See you when you come in.

On the Advice of His Doctor

He Used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Protruding Piles With Splendid Results.

Too often a doctor can only think of an operation when asked for a treatment for piles. Some are sufficiently broad-minded to use the most effective treatment available, which is undoubtedly Dr. Chase's Ointment, as was proven in the case referred to in this letter.

Mr. Simon E. Jones, Railway Street, Inverness, N.S., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment the best treatment obtainable for protruding piles. For three years I suffered from piles, and was advised by a local physician to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. I had tried many treatments in vain, and therefore know which is the best. I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and you are at liberty to use this statement."

The record of cures of every form of piles which stands behind Dr. Chase's Ointment is the strongest guarantee you can have that it will promptly relieve and cure this ailment, even in the most aggravated form. 60c a box, all dealers.

The young hostess, dressed as a gypsy told the past, present and future of the guests with wonderful divination. Refreshment were served after which the merry company parted, perhaps at an earlier hour than otherwise in view of the fact that the chaperones were almost as numerous as the guests.

Mrs. Alexander Ogilvie.

The death took place at Woodstock at eleven o'clock, Monday morning, of Mrs. Alexander Ogilvie, after a lingering illness of paralysis. Deceased who was a native of Scotland, was an estimable lady, highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She is survived by a husband, four sons, Alexander, David, Henry, and John, and six daughters, Isabella, Flora, and Mrs. Fred Risteon of Woodstock, Mrs. Matthew Tennant of Fredericton, and two married daughters, one in St. John and the other in the state of Maine. The funeral took place at two o'clock Tuesday, the Rev. Richard Opie officiating.

A very creditable number of this order have volunteered for active service and are on their way to the front.

The large majority of the lodges will insure their members and all will be kept in good standing while in the service of their King and country, during the crisis through which we are passing.

ON BOARD H. M. S. "DREADNOUGHT"

(From the "Montreal Weekly Witness.")

When the sea grows gray and silent, and the moon sinks out o' sight,
And the stars turn sick an' tremble after seven hours of fight,
God keep us dirty sailor men, from the Pole Star to the Cross,
For we need Almighty keepin', an' some high, Almighty Boss.

For when the whole deck's throbbin'
There ain't no time for prayer;
But it's "Point your Long Tom dainty
Over twenty miles of air!"

When them wounded German fellows came a-shakin' up our side
I was funny round my stomach, an' my bloomin' British pride
Trembled like a silly pennant, they was all so human like,
They had eyes an' hands an' faces just like any other tike.

But when the horizon's spittin'
And we're coughin' back at it,
Say it's "Sweep the sea o' Germans!"
An' "I guess—that—hit!"

I was walkin' past a cabin where we kept our prisoners tight,
The sentry-go says, "Look here," an' I see a funny sight;
There was two of them a-lookin' at a picture in their hand,
Just as if there's German mothers in the German Fatherland.

But when we're in the fight line,
It's "Forget your thoughts and fire!"
While the look-out says beside you,
"Steady! Nose her up a little higher!"

When I stopped an' looked to seaward in a tiny breathin' spell
I see a Dreadnought stagger with her nose deep in the swell;
She was struck below the belly, an' she sunk an' gurgled down
Very casual like, an' careless; made me sweat to see her drown.

But when we're stripped for action,
Say, it's "Glory! glory!" then,
An' it's "Sweep the sea o' Germans!"
As we pick the range again.

We were lyin' close in harbor, coalin' up at Halifax.
I was messin' with the range guns, streakin' polish down their backs,
There was somethin' in the air—fell like a happy English rain;
An' my mate, he says "Your rebawlin'" an' he says, "I guess that plain!"

But when we're sweatin' dirty,
An' the sea's unholy red,
Say, it's "Mates, we'll fight for England
Till the sun himself is dead!"

ARTHUR L. PHELPS.

The above poem, written for the Montreal "Weekly Witness," is one of the many strong things appearing in that splendid journal, and coming so close upon the wrecks of our own ship grips us hard. The editorials of the "Witness" on the War Situation have the right ring to them, and are the product of a mind more than usually well informed, and foresighted. Those not now getting the "Witness" may have it on trial to the end of the year by sending fifteen cents in stamps to its old time publishers, John Dougall & Son, "Witness" Block, Montreal. It costs little to try it, and people who are getting the "Witness" do not realize what they are missing. Some do not agree with it in everything. Neither do we. But it is one of the few great worthwhile papers all the same—and fifteen cents gets it to the end of the year.

RHODES SCHOLARS TO THE FRONT

The following is an extract from a letter written by Frank M. Smith, Mt. Allison Rhodes Scholar:

"It has been difficult at times to wait patiently, wondering whether we should be sent to the front, but we have at last been rewarded with the news that we have been ordered to leave for Belgium on October 14. As far as we can learn from the scanty information which filters through from headquarters, we shall be used to keep certain lines of communication open. The work will be dangerous and difficult, but, I trust that we shall prove ourselves worthy and, capable of performing the task which is placed before us. It may be of interest to you all to know that shortly each province will have its Rhodes scholar in the firing line. New Brunswick will be represented by men from Acadia, University and Mount Allison. The call of duty has not found them wanting and the same fighting spirit which used to accompany them in the football fields at home is with them to-day."

The other New Brunswick Rhodes Scholars are our own Harvey T. Reed, and A. N. Carter of Rothesay.

Mr. Norman Perry, superintendent, presided. Rev. James Colhoun of Glassville was also present and opened the meeting with devotional exercises. An instructive program was carried through by members of the Sabbath school. Various hymns were sung, and Mr. Frank Nixon contributed a sacred solo on his violin.

WILL HE TELL?

The Tories of Centreville and vicinity announced a non-political picnic for Friday last, to be addressed by Hon. Mr. Flemming, which was postponed, according to announcement in The Press, until the latter part of this week on account of the busy season with the farmers. Just when this non-political event will be pulled off has not yet been announced, but whenever it takes place, we assume Mr. Flemming will tell the people of that part of the County the real reasons for not building the Railway from Centreville to Andover the present summer. We assume he will tell that the bonds were sold in May 1912 for this portion of the road, and that the actual cash was supposed to have been in the hands of Mr. Flemming's particular friends, The Prudential Trust Co., of Montreal since that date. That over one hundred thousand dollars of the amount was used for elections of 1912. That the Prudential Trust Co. loaned out this money on "The Street" in Montreal and now cannot produce a dollar, etc., and a lot of other interesting information along these lines. We know this is the information which the public is seeking. Should Mr. Flemming fail to enlighten them we will endeavor to do so in our next issue.—Sentinel.

ST. JEAN DE MATHA, JAN. 27th, 1914. "After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-lives'. I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did not wish to try them for I had little confidence in them but, seeing my husband's anxiety, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds, but after taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I quickly regained what I had lost. Now I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives'."

RHEUMATIC MISERY

Can Only Be Cured Through the Blood—Liniments of No Use.

In no disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin but it is loaded with impurities—rheumatic poisons, without the proper treatment these poisons increase, the inflamed joints swell and the patient becomes a cripple. There are a number of methods of treating rheumatism, most of them aiming to keep down the rheumatic poisons until nature can build up the blood sufficiently to overcome them. But unfavorable conditions of cold or dampness may give the disease the advantage and a relapse or renew attack follows.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up the blood and enable it to cast out the rheumatic poisons with the natural secretions of the body. Thousands have tried this treatment. That sufferer who does not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is neglecting the most helpful means of recovery is shown by the following statement. Mrs. Emeline Smith, St. Jerome, Quebec, says: "I was attacked with what the doctor said was inflammatory rheumatism. The joints in my hands, feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I suffered the most excruciating pain. Notwithstanding medical treatment the trouble became so bad that I could not go about. My appetite began to fail me and I was growing physically weak. A neighbor who had been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advised me to try them and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I noted some improvement, and my appetite began to return. Then the swelling in my joints began to disappear, and it was not long until I was perfectly cured and I have had no return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Hubert Seeley was a guest of Mrs. S. M. Boyer last week.

Where is Mildred Sullivan?

Four arrests have been made in or near Boston in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Miss Mildred Sullivan, the 17-year-old Houlton girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sullivan of that place, who disappeared at Presque Isle September 4 after an alleged criminal operation.

Dr. Lionel Elwood Dudley, has for some years been a practicing physician in Presque Isle, and who is a son of Frank Dudley of Mapleton, and Misses Etta and Alice Pelletier of Presque Isle, were arrested in Boston September ber 28, for alleged connection with the case. A fourth arrest was made when Miss Kate Michaud, also of Aroostook, some of her people being at Eagle Lake, was taken into custody at Acton Center, Mass., charged with being accessory to Miss Sullivan's disappearance.

The general belief is that Miss Sullivan is long since dead, but where her body can be located is a mystery. Dr. Dudley claims that he was consulted by Miss Sullivan after a criminal operation had been performed, and that he refused to have anything to do with the case. Afterwards, however, he went to Boston to look up Miss Sullivan, and after arriving concluded to stay there and practise his profession.—Review.

How To Dispose of It.

The fifty-six thousand dollars collected from the lumbermen of New Brunswick as a bonus on sections of the public domain sold to them should be subject to the authority of the Legislature of New Brunswick. No individual and no political party should use it. The force of public opinion, if properly expressed, would compel those in charge of this fund to give it up, for it can never be employed to the corrupt purposes intended in its collection. What better use could it be put to than in succoring the families of those who are fighting in defence of this land?—Globe.
