Overcoat Policy

Why in the world some men continue going to a tailor and insist upon paying twenty to twenty-five dollars for coats not a whit better than we are selling at $10, $12.50 and $15, is beyond us.

Some people do get in a rut, don't they? These are the men we are after. If we can once get our fine Coats on their backs, they will have no other.

We are waiting for you, Rip Van Winkle, but it is only fair to tell you that smart men are sharing advantages you do not.

A RICH FIND

New Carlisle.

REFUSED $800 FOR IT.

Supposed to be Some Part of a Large Prehistoric Animal.

Some time ago while some men were engaged in making an excavation on what is known as "the common" at New Carlisle, they came across a large bone just a few feet below the surface. Mr. A. M. Caldwell obtained possession of it and sent it to McGill museum. It seems to be difficult to determine to what animal the bone belongs and it is thought that it is a rich find.

The bone is almost flat, measuring about 8x6 feet and about three feet thick. On one edge the bone is jagged as if broken, while on another there is the appearance of a joint. The McGill authorities have placed the bone in their museum and in a letter to Mr. Caldwell stated that they would pay all expenses of transportation etc, which we understand has been done. They also request-d that they be given the option of purchase as too many of these specimens found their way across the border when they ought really to remain in Canada.

It is supposed that the bone is that of some pre-historic animal but on this point the experts have not as yet reached a conclusion. We understand that Mr. Caldwell has refused an offer of $800.00 for the specimen.

RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY.

TO BROTHER JOHN ALMONY.
It is the wish of the members of L. O. "Thy will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven". Remember your loss is her gain and may we all remember in time we shall meet to join an unbroken circle in the world beyond Jordan.

ROOSEVELT A DIPLOMAT AMONG KINGS

Hon. Mr Lemieux's Tribute to President of the United States

London, Dec. 4.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, proposing the toast of the President of the United States at the Thanksgiving Day banquet said that as a French Canadian and a British subject, he felt it a pleasure to share with their American friends the pride they took in their President. Every true American must feel it to be an honor to be governed by the great man who presides over the destinies of the United States, a man of strenuous life and of eminent virtues, both in public and private, whose fame belonged to humanity. With King Edward he shared the gratitude of the whole civilized world for the treaty of Portsmouth. Coming generations would revere it as the crowning triumph in the career of one who though an uncrowned King on a powerful democracy had earned by his wide pursuit of duty 'the right to the noble title of a diplomat amongst Kings and of a king amongst diplomats."

SCHOOL BOARD

Regular Meeting of Trustees
Held on Monday Evening

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held on Monday evening in the Secretary's Office, notwithstanding the Tribune's statement to the contrary. A goodly amount of business was transacted, among which was the reception of the report of the committee appointed to look into the matter of the West End residents' petition. The report of this committee was not favorable to the granting of the prayer of the petition and was adopted unanimously.

The resignation of Miss McGorman from the teaching staff at the end of the present term, was accepted, and the Secretary was instructed to advertise to fill the vacancy.

The contract for firewood for the school was awarded to T. Ellsworth.

Arrangements were made for the disposition of Lieut Governor's medal. The medal will be presented to the lucky scholar by Mr. McLatchy at the public exams immediately before the Christmas holidays.

MUTINEERS SHOT
 Troops fight Bloody Battle on Streets of Keff

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Keff via Podmoloczysk, December 3, at noon says that one company of a Pontoon battalion mutined to-day and fully armed marched through the streets trying to persuade the other troops to join in. Only an engineer corps did so. The mutineers then 2,000 strong continued their march. Two hundred Cossacks were sent to prevent them advancing, but Gen. Drake had an order to prevent bloodshed and subsequently withdrew the Cossacks and permitted the mutineers to pass. General Drake made repeated and kindly efforts to persuade the mutineers to abandon their foolhardy course. A part of them had complied when Governor Gen. Suchonoff telephoned an order that energetic measures be taken against the mutineers and that the latter be fired upon at the first opportunity. The mutineers halted before the barracks of an Anoff regiment which was called upon to join the marchers. During the demonstration at the barracks several mutineers were fired. Wounding an officer and two or three soldiers. The troops then fired upon the mutineers. Who returned the fire, and fled after several more volleys from the troops. The casualties on both sides were about 70 dead and three hundred wounded. Two hundred mutineers surrendered.

TERRIBLE HARDSHIP
 Of a shipwrecked Crew Near Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 2.—Captain McIntyre and the remainder of the crew of the Monkshaven, which was wrecked on Pitt Island were brought here last evening and they tell of hardship such as few sailors ever experienced. For ninety-six hours the men were without food and it is a great wonder they did not perish, as it was freezing hard and they were scantily attired and had little covering. When they landed on the island it was found that the seas had completely covered the land and ice many feet in thickness had formed, covering all the trees. Fortunately in an unexpected part they came across a part of an old house and this they set up and it afforded sufficient shelter to keep them from freezing to death.

The men chopped out ice and secured enough small wood to build a fire. There was so little heat from it, however, that several of the men, in their endeavor to get warm, burned their clothing by crowding on the blaze. When Captain McIntyre managed to climb on board the steamer and secure some food, some of the men became ravenous and ate it before it was thawed out. This made them sick, some of them almost being driven insane. Captain McIntyre states that it was one of the worst storms he ever experienced. The log had become frozen up and in the dense snow blizzard they got out of their course and before they knew it were on the shoals. They got in the trough of the sea and were driven on the rocks. The Monkshaven has a big hole in her bottom.

HOPE YOUNG'S NEW TRIAL
 Prisoner Confident of Acquittal Expresses Gratitude to Counsel

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 4.—The full bench of the Supreme Court gave a decision in the Hope Young case, reserved Saturday, granting a new trial. Only one judge was against a new trial.

This is the Digby murder case, the details of which have been fully reported. The young woman was sentenced to be hanged in the latter part of December if the Supreme Court did not interfere.

DIGBY, Dec. 4.—R. G. Monroe called on the prisoner at her cell Saturday night and said "I have some news for you."

Hope Young replied "a new trial granted?"

Monroe replied "Yes."

The prisoner said she had every confidence in her solicitor and knew a new trial would be granted. She expressed her gratification and said that if Mr. Monroe had not undertaken to intercede for her for a mere nothing, she would, no doubt, have been hanged on December 20th, as she had no means of her own.

The amount contributed has been far short of what was expected. The heaviest donation received was from a gentleman in Gardiner, Maine, the prisoner dwelt as some length on the uphill fight Monroe had experienced and the great advantage the prosecutor had over her from the start.

Monroe said that the worst feature in the whole affair have been the clergymen and others who have rushed into print with no knowledge of the case except from hearsay. When a wealthy lady in Boston attempted to bear the

There is no remedy that will cure a cold so easily, or allay fever and inflammation so surely, as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It stops that raw feeling in the throat; clears your head; checks your cough.

JOHNSON'S Anodyne LINIMENT

is the great emergency doctor—internal ailments and external ills, from whatever cause, are soonest cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. Used as a household remedy since 1810. Cures asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, sore throat, croup, la grippe, headache, neuralgia, cholera-morbus, colic, cramps, diarrhoea, sore and bruised muscles, cuts, burns, scalds, chafing, chaps, chilblain and frost bite. Something to keep in the house—something to depend on—good when you can't get the doctor—invaluable always.

full expenses of a new trial the Woman's Christian Temperance Union or some Society of that sort, began passing resolutions to assist at a new trial, as soon as the Boston lady heard she dropped out in their favor, but what have the Nova Scotia women done to help bear the expense?

The people around town and vicinity are very much interested in the new trial, and enquires are coming in rapidly to-day over the phone and otherwise. Monroe believes his client innocent of murder, and has taken hold of the case with a determination to win, if possible. Hope Young gets letters regularly from Elmer Young of Boston.

It is not known as yet when the new trial will take place, or whether special court will be held, or whether she will be obliged to wait until the regular session of the Supreme Court in June next.

Apples as "Nightcaps."

The apple is such a common fruit that very few persons are familiar with its remarkably efficacious medicinal properties. Every one ought to know that the very best thing he can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night.

A Wise Precaution.

Care of Birds.

In an English treatise on the "Hygiene of Bird Keeping," by George Creswell, attention is called to the thoughtless practice, of hanging birds in cages just above the level of the sashes of windows and to the mistake of kindness of hanging a cage in a corner of a sitting room or a kitchen near the ceiling. In the one case the bird is subjected to drafts and will in all probability develop catarrh and bronchitis, and in the other it lives in a vitiated atmosphere.

Warning to Mothers.

The "only child in the family" in 80 per cent shows disadvantageous traits. It is usually of poor health, lacking much of normality, both mental and physical. The "youngest child," the "only boy" and the "only girl" display many striking resemblances to the "only child."

PSYCHINE

Taken promptly and faithfully according to directions will not only invariably prevent Consumption but will never fail to cure any of these lesser diseases which are always the forerunners of Consumption.

CONSECON, May 30th, 1904.

It affords me pleasure to speak of the merits of Psychine, which I found to be a marvelous tonic and tissue builder. I was taken down with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs. In fact, I believe I was never free from colds for months previous, and tried many of the common cure-alls and cheap nostrums you see advertised, but obtained no relief. I had then learned that such remedies are merely palliative and not curative preparations. Friends advised Psychine, and after taking several bottles I became sound and strong again. Scores of my friends have been saved much suffering with Psychine, and I voluntarily give permission for the publication of this statement.

USED MEN AT THE OFFICE WOMEN IN THE HOME CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out. The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart. Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and striking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Keldon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills 50 cts. per box or 3 for $1.25, all dealers, or The C. Milburn, Limited, Toronto, Ont."

BLACKWOOD ACQUITTED

Moncton Manslaughter Case Ended Friday--Prisoner on the Stand

DORCHESTER, N. B., Dec. 1. The manslaughter case occupied the entire time of the county court today, resulting in the acquittal of Blackwood of the charge of killing young Howarth. Promptly at 10 o'clock when court opened the trial was resumed. D. I. Welch made a motion that the prisoner be at once discharged on the grounds that the crown had failed to make out a case against the prisoner. Judge Wells ruled that the case should go to the jury.

Mr. Welch in opening the case extended to Solicitor-General Jones a cordial welcome from the barristers, this being his first official visit to this part of the province. The prosecution called John Sutton, A. J. Tingley, chief of police, was also on the stand.

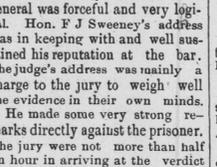

John P. Palea was sworn and stated that the gun which figured in the case was destroyed in the furnace of the cotton mill.

Blackwood took the stand in his own defence and in substance he claimed that he was on his way home when he met the Howarths on that fateful day. A few moments after coming up to the party they were making inquiries as to game when a man said, "Your gun is cocked." He repeated my gun was cocked and took it from my arm to examine it, when just at that moment it discharged. "I turned round and saw an awful sight. The boy was trying to get up. I put a silk handkerchief in the wound and besought them to go for a doctor quick. We placed the boy on coats. Howarth said to me, 'Let's load the guns and have it out.' I went to the Howarth house. I bore the expense of the funeral. I asked Howarth to have an inquest. He replied he did not want one. I gave myself up to the custody of Chief Tingley. I don't know where Howarth is. I would prefer having him here."

Blackwood at different times broke down and wept bitterly while giving his evidence. The address by the solicitor-general was forceful and very logical. Hon. F. J. Sweeney's address was in keeping with and well sustained his reputation at the bar. The judge's address was mainly a charge to the jury to weigh well the evidence in their own minds. He made some very strong remarks directly against the prisoner. The jury were not more than half an hour in arriving at the verdict of not guilty and the prisoner was at once discharged.

A FELINE DITTY

—ON— DIAMOND DYES.

My kittens three, were white and gray, 'Twas hard to keep them clean; No matter how I worked each day, The kits looked very mean. They'd go out in the morning clad So tidy and so trim; At night, they'd come home looking sad, With clothes so soiled and grim. I could not keep them tidy, neat, One hour of the day, When they were in the field or street, With other cats to play. I then procured the DIAMOND DYES And made a dye bath hot, And to my kittens great surprise, I dipped them in the pot. To-day, my kittens are all dressed In bright and rich and deep; I mourn no more, and now am blessed When'er I roam or sleep. The moral of my song is plain, To women bright and wise; If you would pleasure, profit gain, Just use the DIAMOND DYES.

THE BAVARIAN HAS BEEN ABANDONED

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—The Bavarian has at last been abandoned by the Allan as a final attempt to float the big liner at high tide last night proved an absolute failure. The Bavarian is now to be left in the hands of the underwriters and will undoubtedly stay all winter on Wye rocks unless the sea and storms of the winter knock her to pieces before spring. She is dismantled and everything possible removed although it is feared that winter is now setting in in dead earnest and little in the nature of wreckage operations can now be accomplished.—Transcript.

Deafness cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. E. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

RAILWAY SHOPS BURNED

Charlottetown shops a total Loss

CHARLOTTETOWN, Dec. 1.—It was 8.30 yesterday morning before the fire bell rang. "All out." During all the time from the alarm at 1.25 till daylight Superintendent Sheriff and the heads of the different departments aided by the employees worked in the midst of the pouring rain to subdue the flames. It is probable that Chief Ronahan and the Fire Brigade have never had a more dangerous fire to fight. Covering an area 300 ft x 40 ft, it required all the energy they possessed to meet the devouring element at every turn. There was more danger than some people supposed. In several of the buildings oil was stored and two at least of these ignited.

Broken sleep-Tired next morning

Sleep not only rests, but builds up the body. Cut down the hours of sleep and you cut down health in the same proportion. Rebuilding then ceases, nerves go to smash, you grow tired, weak and wretched. To restore sleep you must get more bodily strength, more nutritious blood healthier nerves. Ferrozone solves the whole problem, makes you sleep soundly, gives endurance vim ambition. No more morning weakness—instead the fire of youth will run in your veins, supplying abundance of energy and vigor, witchery expresses the instant effect of Ferrozone; try it.

OBITUARY

CHARLES MURRAY, ESQ.

On Monday morning about one o'clock occurred the death of Charles Murray, Esq., after an illness of only six days. On Sunday morning, the 26th ult., Mr Murray attended church as usual and in the afternoon complained of being unwell. The next day he was not able to attend to his business duties and medical aid was summoned.

Towards the end of the week he rallied somewhat and it was hoped that he was on the road to recovery, but Saturday morning his condition was pronounced serious, and he grew gradually weaker until he passed peacefully away on Monday morning, aged 85 years.

The deceased was one of Campbellton's most respected citizens, taking a prominent place in benevolent and public matters of various kinds. He was president of the Rural Cemetery Co. at the time of his death, which position he has held for a number of years past.

Mr Murray also was American vice-Consul and a justice of the Peace for the parish of Addington. The deceased was a life-long member of the Episcopal church in which he held the office of Church Warden at the time of his demise.

Mr Murray also belonged to the order of Free Masons and was probably the oldest Master Mason in the Dominion, having joined the order sixty-one years ago at Halifax.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at two, the remains being taken from the residence of Mr W W Doherty his son-in-law, to Christ Church, where an impressive funeral service was held, the rector, Rev. R. J. Coleman officiating. Mr Coleman in the course of his remarks referred to the exemplary Christian character of the deceased, being foremost in all benevolent enterprises and a liberal supporter of the church of which he was a member.

In fact it was largely due to his energy and indomitable courage that the church building was erected here some twenty seven years ago. The funeral was one of the largest seen in Campbellton for a number of years. Internment took place in the Rural Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs W. A. Mott, J. H. Taylor, Thos. Wain, Wm. Parker, John McAlister, J. S. Benedict, J. Bradshaw McKenzie and Oswald Smith.

The deceased leaves one son Charles Murray of St. John, and one daughter, Mrs. W. W. Doherty of Campbellton.

MR. C. TUPPER MORTON

The death occurred on Sunday morning of C Tupper Morton a promising and highly respected young man. The deceased was a member of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff and was compelled by ill health to leave that institution. He went to Richibucto where he spent the summer and returned much improved in health.

His death came as a surprise to his many friends. A sorrowing father and sister remain to mourn the loss of a devoted son and brother.

The floral tributes were numerous the principal being wreaths from the Bank of Nova Scotia staff, I. O. O. F. M. U. and the Hockey Club.

The funeral which took place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock was largely attended. The following were the pall-bearers Messrs R. R. Roop, W. Marquis, W. Wilkinson, St. Clair Jellett, J. T. Mowat and F. E. Lockhart.

MRS. ROBERTS

After a long illness at New Richmond, N. B. Mrs. Roberts died Nov. 25 age 23 years. Mrs. Roberts was taken ill Sept. 28th and since then has suffered more than could be realized having a complication of diseases, and she passed away Saturday noon. Mrs. Roberts was the daughter of John Willet New Richmond and was moved there two weeks before her death it being her wish to die at home. She was married last May to A. T. Roberts of Selwood, N. B. where she has since lived.

Her sister Ida Willet who is a trained nurse was with her during her illness. Mrs. Roberts shall long be missed as she was a general favorite with all those who knew her. She leaves besides young husband, a father mother five sisters and eleven brothers to mourn her great loss. The funeral took place Monday and was largely attended. The body was followed to its last resting place by her sisters, nieces and many of her girl friends. Much sympathy is felt for her family.

BLACK CAPE

The so called "Rag Tag, and Bobtail Orchestra" of Black Cape though not afflicted with the same unfortunate malady as some of its critics, nevertheless enjoyed the fun immensely and would be delighted if only a few more of the old music and widowers in the vicinity would profit by the good example of their predecessors and give them a chance to improve their defective musical capacity.

Practice makes perfect and all are anxiously awaiting opportunities for improvement.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch Mann on Monday evening. The occasion being a Surprise Birthday Party given in honor of Mrs. Mann. About fifty of her friends and relatives were present. Dancing and games formed the chief amusement. Lunch was served at 12 p. m.

On Monday evening next a meeting of all interested in the work of the Lord's Day Alliance will be held in the W. C. T. U. hall. The object of the meeting is reorganization of the local branch and to make arrangements for the circulating of the petition in connection with the proposed bill to be introduced in the Dominion Parliament. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at the meeting.

We understand that Thomas Murphy proprietor of the hotel at Dalhousie which was burned on Tuesday of last week, is going to rebuild at once. He is having plans prepared for a modern structure with all the up-to-date improvements, and expects when it is completed to have one of the finest hotels on the Nova Shore. It will be constructed that one wing will face the Restigouche River and the Baie Chaleur. Mr. Murphy expects to have the new hotel ready for the travelling public early in the spring.

Late Saturday afternoon snow began to fall softly but the weather moderated rapidly and during the night rain fell heavily. The down pour continued till Sunday afternoon when snow again began to fall and continued steadily until last evening. Nine or ten inches fell and in some places it drifted into banks three feet high. The sleighing about town is perfect and the merry sound of sleigh bells is heard in every street. The mild spell weakened the ice to such an extent that small ones in the middle of the river could not be reached yesterday and some of the fishermen stand to lose heavily unless severe frost sets in today. Below Middle Island the river is clear of ice.—Chatham Commercial.

The operation of stripping the fish was witnessed by a large number and Mr. Smith gave a very interesting lecture during the operation.

On Sunday last Rev. G. S. Shearer of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance addressed the different congregations in this town. In the morning he preached in St. Andrew's and in the evening in the Methodist and Baptist churches. His sermons were powerful pleas for the better observance of the Sabbath and deeply interesting throughout. At the close of the evening service he met the executive of the local alliance and others interested and told them of the contemplated Lord's Day Act that was to be presented to parliament at the next session.

Last Thursday was St. Andrew's Day and the Caledonian Society held their annual dinner at the Waverly Hotel where mine host Flanagan had excelled himself in providing a sumptuous repast.

Before sitting down to the good things provided the officers for the ensuing year were installed. Harry McLennan was present with his pipes and rendered several selections.

An interesting programme was carried out and the gathering was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne" followed by the National Anthem.

Although difficult to believe, it is nevertheless true that the death of two half sisters, the daughters of the same father, occurred 170 years apart. The grandfather of the British Minister, Charles James Fox, Sir Stephen Fox, married in 1734 and had a daughter born to him in 1735 who died in the course of the same year. He had several other children who grew up and married, but all of them died before the father and without issue. Sir Stephen not wishing his large fortune to fall into the hands of distant relatives, married again at a very advanced age, and the youngest daughter was born in 1727. She reached the age of ninety-eight years and died in 1825—that is, 170 years after the death of her oldest sister.

THE RETURN OF SHERLOCK HOLMES...
BY A. CONAN DOYLE

"I fancy not. These agents work independently, and their relations with the embassies are often strained."

The prime minister nodded his acquiescence.

"I believe you are right, Mr. Holmes. He would take so valuable a prize to headquarters with his own hands. I think that your course of action is an excellent one. Meanwhile, Hope, we cannot neglect all our other duties on account of this one misfortune. Should there be any fresh developments during the day we shall communicate with you, and you will no doubt let us know the results of your own inquiries."

The two gentlemen bowed and walked gravely from the room.

When our illustrious visitors had departed Holmes lit his pipe in silence and sat for some time lost in the deepest thought. It was raining the morning paper when my friend gave an exclamation, sprang to his feet and laid his pipe down upon the mantelpiece.

"Yes," said he, "there is no better way of approaching it. The situation is desperate, but not hopeless. Even now, if we could be sure which of them has taken it, it is just possible that it has not yet passed out of his hands. After all, it is a question of money with these fellows, and I have the British treasury behind me. It is conceivable that the fellow might hold it back to see what his luck on this side before he tries his luck on the other. There are only those three capable of playing so bold a game—there are Oberstein, La Hotellerie and Eduardo Lucas. I will see each of them."

I glanced at my morning paper.

"Is that Eduardo Lucas of Godolphin street?"

"Yes."

"You will not see him?"

"Why not?"

"He was murdered in his house last night."

My friend has so often astonished me in the course of our adventures that it was with a sense of excitement that I realized how completely I had astonished him. He stared in amazement and then snatched the paper from my hands. This was the paragraph which I had been engaged in reading when he rose from his chair:

MURDER IN WESTMINSTER.
A crime of mysterious character was committed last night at 18 Godolphin street, one of the old-fashioned and secluded rows of eighteenth century houses which lie between the river and the abbey, almost in the shadow of the great tower of the house of parliament. The small but select mansion has been inhabited for some years by Mr. Eduardo Lucas, well known in society circles both on account of his charming personality and because he has the well deserved reputation of being one of the best amateur tenors in the country. Mr. Lucas is an unmarried man, thirty-four years of age, and his establishment consists of Mrs. Prince, an elderly housekeeper, and his valet. The former retires early and sleeps at the top of the house. The valet was out for the evening, visiting a friend at Hammersmith. From 10 o'clock onward Mr. Lucas had the house to himself. What occurred during that time has not yet transpired, but at a quarter to 12 Police Constable Farrest, passing along Godolphin street, observed that the door of No. 18 was ajar. He knocked, but received no answer. Perceiving a light in the front room, he advanced into the passage and again knocked, but without reply. He then pushed open the door and entered. The room was in a state of wild disorder, the furniture being all swept to one side and one chair lying on its back in the center. Beside this chair and still grasping one of its legs lay the unfortunate tenant of the house. He had been stabbed to the heart and must therefore have died instantly. The knife with which the crime had been committed was a curved Indian dagger, plucked down from a trophy of oriental arms which adorned one of the walls. Robbery does not appear to have been the motive of the crime, for there had been no attempt to remove any valuable contents of the room. Mr. Eduardo Lucas was so well known and popular that his violent and mysterious fate will arouse painful interest and intense sympathy in a widespread circle of friends.

"Well, Watson, what do you make of this?" asked Holmes after a long pause.

"It is an amazing coincidence."

"A coincidence! Here is one of the three men whom you had named as possible actors in this drama, and he meets a violent death during the very hours when we know that drama was being enacted. The odds are enormous against its being coincidence. No figures could express them. No, my dear Watson, the two events were connected—must be connected. It is for us to try and find the connection."

"But now the official police must know all."

"Not at all. They know all they see at Godolphin street. They know—and shall know—nothing of Whitechapel race. Only we know both events and can trace the relation between them. There is one obvious point which would in any case have turned my suspicions toward Lucas. Godolphin street, Westminster, is only a few minutes' walk from Whitehall terrace. The other secret agents whom I have named live in the extreme west end. It was easier, therefore, for Lucas than for the others to establish a connection or receive a message from the European secretary's household—a small thing, and yet it may prove essential. Hello! What have we here?"

Mrs. Hudson had appeared with a lady's card upon her salver. Holmes glanced at it, raised his eyebrows and handed it over to me.

"Ask Lady Hilda Trelawney Hope if she will be kind enough to step up."

A moment later our modest apartment, already so distinguished that morning, was further honored by the entrance of the most lovely woman in London. I had often heard of the beauty of the youngest daughter of the Duke of Belmister, but no description of it had prepared me for the subtle, delicate charm and the beautiful coloring of that exquisite head. And yet as we saw it that autumn morning it was not its beauty which would be remembered. I had often heard of the check was lovely, but it was paled with emotion; the eyes were bright, but the brightness of fever; the sensitive mouth was tight and drawn in an effort after self command. "You are not beautiful—was what sprang first to the eye."

"Has my husband been here, Mr. Holmes?"

"Yes, madam, he has been here."

"Mr. Holmes, I implore you not to tell him that I came here." Holmes bowed and motioned her to a chair.

"Your ladyship places me in a very delicate position. I beg that you will sit down and tell me what you desire, but I fear that I cannot make any unconditional promise."

She swept across the room and seated herself with her back to the window. It was a queenly presence—tall, graceful and intensely womanly.

"Mr. Holmes," she said, and her white-gloved hands clasped, and unclasped as she spoke. "I will speak frankly to you in the hopes that it may induce you to speak frankly in return. Now, I am aware that there was a most deplorable occurrence in our house last night. I know that a paper has disappeared. But because the matter is political my husband refuses to take me into his complete confidence. Now it is essential—essential, I say—that I should thoroughly understand it. You are the only other person, save one of these politicians, who knows the true facts. I beg you then, Mr. Holmes, to tell exactly what has happened and what it will lead to. Tell me all, Mr. Holmes, let me regard you as your client's interests keep you silent, for I assure you that his interests, if he would only see it, would be best served by taking me into his complete confidence. What was this paper which was stolen?"

"Madam, what you ask me is really impossible."

"She groined and sank her face in her hands."

"You must see that this is so, madam. If your husband thinks fit to keep you in the dark over this matter, is it for me, who have only learned the true facts under the pledge of professional secrecy, to tell what he has withheld? It is not fair to ask it. It is in him whom you must ask."

"I have asked him. I come to you as a last resource. But without your telling me anything definite, Mr. Holmes, you may do a great service if you would enlighten me on one point."

"What is it, madam?"

"Is my husband's political career likely to suffer through this incident?"

"Well, madam, unless it is set right it may certainly have a very unfortunate effect."

"Ah!" She drew in her breath sharply, as one whose doubts are resolved.

"One more question, Mr. Holmes. From an expression which my husband dropped in the first shock of this disaster I understood that terrible public consequences might arise from the loss of this document."

"If he said so I certainly cannot deny it."

"Of what nature are they?"

"Nay, madam; there again you ask me more than I can possibly answer."

Suffered Terrible Agony FROM PAIN ACROSS HIS KIDNEYS.
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIM.

Read the words of praise, Mr. M. A. McInnis, Marion Bridge, N.S., has for Doan's Kidney Pills. (He writes us): "For the past three years I have suffered terrible agony from pain across my kidneys. I was so bad I could not sleep or stand. I consulted and had several doctors treat me, but could get no relief. On the advice of a friend, I procured a box of your valuable, life-giving remedy (Doan's Kidney Pills), and to my surprise and delight, I immediately got better. In my opinion Doan's Kidney Pills have no equal for any form of kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25. Can be procured at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

"Then I will take up no more of your time. I cannot blame you, Mr. Holmes, for having refused to speak more freely, and you on your side will not, I am sure, think the worse of me because I desire, even against his will, to share my husband's anxieties. Once more I beg that you will say nothing of my visit."

She looked back at us from the door, and I had a last impression of that beautiful, haunted face, the startled eyes and the drawn mouth. Then she was gone.

"Now, Watson, the fair sex is your department," said Holmes, with a smile, when the dwindling frontrow of skirts had ended in the slam of the front door. "What was the fair lady's game? What did she really want?"

"Surely her own statement is clear and her anxiety very natural."

"Hum! Think of her appearance, Watson—her manner, her suppressed excitement, her restlessness, her tenacity in asking questions. Remember that she comes of a caste who do not lightly show emotion."

"She was certainly much moved."

"Remember also the curious earnestness with which she assured us that it was best for her husband that she should know all. What did she mean by that? And you must have observed, Watson, how she maneuvered to have the light at her back. She did not wish us to read her expression."

"Yes, she chose the one chair in the room."

"And yet the motives of women are so inscrutable. You remember the woman at Margate whom I suspected for the same reason. No powder on her nose—that proved to be the correct solution. How can you build on such a quicksand? Their motives may mean volumes, or they, most extraordinary conduct may depend upon a hairpin or a curling tongs. Good morning, Watson."

"You are off?"

"Yes, I will write away the morning at Godolphin street with our friends of the regular establishment. With Eduardo Lucas lies the solution of our problem, though I must admit that have not an inkling as to what form it may take. It is a capital mistake to theorize in advance of the facts. Do you stay on guard, my good Watson, and receive any fresh visitors. I'll join you at lunch if I am able."

That day and the next and next were uneventful. In a mood which his friends would call taciturn and others morose. He ran out and ran in, smoked incessantly, played snatches on his violin, and I beg that you will sit down and tell me what you desire, but I fear that I cannot make any unconditional promise."

She swept across the room and seated herself with her back to the window. It was a queenly presence—tall, graceful and intensely womanly.

"Mr. Holmes," she said, and her white-gloved hands clasped, and unclasped as she spoke. "I will speak frankly to you in the hopes that it may induce you to speak frankly in return. me that Inspector Lestrade had taken him into his confidence in the case I knew that he was in close touch with every development. Upon the fourth day there appeared a long telegram from Paris which seemed to solve the whole question.

"A discovery has just been made by the Parisian police," said the Daily Telegraph, "which raises the veil which hung round the tragic fate of Mr. Eduardo Lucas, who met his death by violence last Monday night in Godolphin street, Westminster. Our readers will remember that the deceased gentleman was found stabbed in his room and that some suspicion attached to his valet, but that the case broke down on an alibi. Yesterday a lady, who has been known as Mme. Henri Fournay, occupying a small villa in the Rue Anseritz, was reported to the authorities by her servants as being insane. An examination showed she had indeed developed mania of a dangerous and permanent form. On inquiry the police have discovered that Mme. Henri Fournay only returned from a journey to London on Tuesday last, and there is evidence to connect her with the crime at Westminster. A comparison of photographs has proved conclusively that M. Henri Fournay and Eduardo Lucas were really one and the same person and that the deceased had for some reason lived a double life in London and Paris. Mme. Fournay, who is of creole origin, is of an extremely excitable nature and has suffered in the past from attacks of jealousy which have amounted to frenzy. It is conjectured that it was in one of these that she committed the terrible crime which has caused such a sensation in London. Her movements upon the Monday night have not yet been traced, but it is undoubted that a woman answering to her description attracted much attention at Charing Cross station on Tuesday morning by the wildness of her appearance and the violence of her gestures. It is probable, therefore, that the crime was either committed when insane or that its immediate effect was to drive the unhappy woman out of her mind. At present she is unable to give any coherent account of the past, and the doctors hold out no hopes of the re-establishment of her reason. There is evidence that a woman, who might have been Mme. Fournay, was seen for some hours upon Monday night watching the house in Godolphin street."

"What do you think of that, Holmes?"

I had read the account aloud to him while he finished his breakfast.

"My dear Watson," said he as he rose from the table and paced up and down the room, "you are most long suffering, but if I have told you nothing in the last three days it is because there is nothing to tell. Even now this report from Paris does not help us much."

"Surely it is final as regards the man's death."

Is your Coal Wasted or Used?

It is comparatively easy to build a range that will make a lot of heat, but it requires the exact science of Pandora range building to produce a range that will use all the heat in the coal without waste.

A common range may burn twice the coal that a Pandora will, and yet do only half the work.

If you use a Pandora range you can be certain that your coal money is not wasted, but used.

For Thin Babies

Fat is of great account to a baby; that is why babies are fat. If your baby is scrawny, Scott's Emulsion is what he wants. The healthy baby stores as fat what it does not need immediately for bone and muscle. Fat babies are happy; they do not cry; they are rich; their fat is laid up for time of need. They are happy because they are comfortable. The fat surrounds their little nerves and cushions them. When they are scrawny those nerves are hurt at every ungentle touch. They delight in Scott's Emulsion. It is as sweet as wholesome to them.

GAME HUNTING.

Fur, Fish and Feathered Fauna a great Asset

WANT PROTECTION

Meeting at Quebec will Consider the Matter—Advertising won by the I. C. R.

Big game hunting in the province of New Brunswick has developed into quite an important business. There has always been abundance of game in the province and what is singularly to its advantage, moose, caribou, deer and bear are to be found within a comparatively small radius, in sections quite near the line of the Intercolonial Railway. The astute people of the counties of York, Northumberland, Gloucester, Kent, Westmorland and Restigouche appreciate the benefits that are derived from the visits of wealthy American hunters. Guides make good money, receiving $3. to $5. per day, besides being in many cases liberally tipped. Storekeepers in the towns and villages near the best hunting districts find the business of supplying hunting parties quite profitable. The Intercolonial Railway, alive to the importance of the ever-increasing hunting travel, has done a great deal to exploit the territory, issuing some well-written and handsomely-illustrated pamphlets, which are mailed free to applicants, and which have been distributed very widely in the United States. The railway has through the medium of its travelling exhibits, done much to promote the travelling of sportsmen. It is not long since one of the young men engaged in this work, in an interview published in the Halifax Recorder, showed that what had been done for New Brunswick could also be done for Nova Scotia. New Brunswick received over $20,000 the past season for game licenses, wealthy sportsmen cheerfully paying a fee of $50. for the privilege of shooting one bull moose. The young man was of the opinion that the Nova Scotia game laws needed revision, and that the guides should be licensed and made responsible to a chief game commissioner or to properly appointed deputies. Then the various of big game territory should be exploited, and every effort made to induce sportsmen to visit the province in the hunting season.

There is no danger of the moose becoming extinct, he argued, if the hunting is looked upon as a valuable asset, and the people become interested enough to see that game laws are rigidly enforced. In spite of the great influx of hunters into New Brunswick every fall, moose are more plentiful than they were years ago, and seem to be increasing each year.

It would seem that the Province of New Brunswick and, in fact, all the Maritime provinces, might carefully investigate the question of the wealth of the fish and feather fauna as well as that of the big game. Seemingly the Province of Quebec is moving in this direction. The Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries has just issued a circular letter in which he says:

The more extensive knowledge of the value of our wild game and inland fisheries which have come to me during my brief charge as minister of the Department of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, has confirmed the impression which I had previously formed in regard to the necessity for certain reforms to better assure the efficient protection of our fur, fish and feather fauna. My earnest desire is to improve existing conditions in this respect that sportsmen may always find here the success which is dependent upon an abundant supply of fish and game.

I am more than ever convinced, too, that there is room for quite a large increase in the revenue to be derived by the province from those who come here to enjoy the sport afforded by the pursuit of the inhabitants of its woods and waters.

Before enacting the reforms which I believe to be desirable, I am anxious to meet and confer with a number of those who are most interested and most experienced in the angling and the hunting of the Province of Quebec and with this end in view has resolved to invite them to join me in a Fish and Game Congress to be held at Windsor Hotel, Montreal, on the 13th and 14th of December. Special rates will be arranged for this convention and the minister will gladly welcome the attendance of those interested in the subject.—Globe.

Sell Your cold for $1?

You surely won't stop at a dollar bill cure that horrid, sniffing cold? Go to any druggist and get "Catarrhzone" and your cold will be a thing of the past. There is almost witchery in the swift way Catarrhzone kills colds. But when you consider the penetrating healing and antiseptic qualities of Catarrhzone perhaps it is not so wonderful. Certainly there is no remedy half so prompt for colds and catarrh as Catarrhzone. Refuse a substitute and insist on having only "Catarrhzone."

NOT GUILTY

Jury in Famous Boston Dress Suit Case Acquitted Dr. McLeod

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—A verdict of not guilty was reported in the superior court to-day in the case of Dr. Percy D. McLeod, charged with being an accessory after the fact to the illegal operation which resulted in the death of Susan Geary, the victim in the suit case tragedy, and with concealing the crime. The prisoner was discharged.

The case was given to the jury at 4:45 p. m. yesterday, and a conclusion was reached at 10:15.

In accordance with the instructions of Judge Stevens the verdict was sealed, and was reported when court opened to-day.

William E. Hunt and Lewis W. Crawford, who pleaded guilty several days ago to the charge of being accessories after the fact to the illegal operation, were then brought into court, and each was sentenced to not less than six years nor more than seven years in state prison.

Judge Stevens expressed regret that the public statutes prevented him from making the penalty heavier.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

There is no other medicine manufactured that has received so much praise and so many expressions of gratitude as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective, and prompt relief follows its use. Grateful parents everywhere do not hesitate to testify to its merits for the benefit of others. It is a certain and will prevent the attack if given at the first appearance of the disease. It is especially adapted to children as it is pleasant to take and contains nothing injurious.

Mr. E. A. Humphreys, a well known resident and clerk in the store of Mr. E. Leck, of Alice, Cape Colony, South Africa, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to ward off croup and colds in my family. I found it to be very satisfactory and it gives me pleasure to recommend it." For sale by all druggists.

SACRED HEART COLLEGE

The students of The Sacred Heart College Carquet will give a dramatic and musical entertainment in the assembly hall of the college on Thursday evening Dec. 21st. The concert hereafter prepared for the public by the students of the college have been most interesting and amusing and at the same time highly refined. The coming entertainment is expected to equal those of the past and the patrons will again have a delightful evening.

For the convenience of those desirous of attending, a special train will leave Bathurst on the afternoon of the 21st and the same will leave Carquet the following morning at an hour sufficiently early to make connections with the regular trains at Bathurst. On this occasion return tickets at first-class one way fare $1.35 will be sold by the Carquet Railway to the general public.

King of all Cough Medicines

Mr. E. G. Case, a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. Service for about sixteen years says: "We have tried me a couple of medicines for croup but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kind of all and one to be relied upon every time. We also find it the best remedy for coughs and colds, giving certain results and leaving no bad after effects." For sale by all druggists.

ST. JOHN SENSATION

Doctor under Arrest Charged With Abortion.

YOUNG WOMAN DEAD

Case Came to Light Through Suspicion of Clergyman

St. John may have a sensation which to a lesser degree, may even rival the famous dress suit case mystery which has horrified Boston. Sensational reports are in circulation connecting local physicians with the death of several young ladies which occurred recently in this city.

It is alleged that these young women died as a result of criminal operations which were unsuccessful, and it is further alleged that these operations were performed by duly registered physicians who practice in St. John.

Edith Clarke, aged 24 years, daughter of Robert Clarke, 69 Adelaide street, died on Wednesday after being ill of congestion of the lungs and pneumonia. A physician had been attending her, but fearing that the young woman would not recover, her parents called two other physicians in consultation.

On Wednesday Miss Clarke died, and it was given out that the cause of her death was congestion of the lungs.

The Rev. R. P. McKim, who, in the course of his parochial duties, was called to bury her became suspicious. He had heard reports that the young woman's death was not due to the cause given out. He notified the police and refused to perform the burial service, over her body until an investigation was made by the proper authorities.

The police took the case in hands and Coroner Berryman this morning countermanded the order for burial. A postmortem examination will probably be held to determine the real cause of death.

This afternoon Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen arrested Dr. E. A. Preston in connection with the case.

A west end clergyman said this morning that he was suspicious that the recent death of a young woman in the west end was due to a similar cause. It is understood that this case is also being investigated.

Dr. Preston was arrested at his residence and taken to the central police station. He is charged with illegally attempting to procure an abortion. He refused to say anything when arrested. It was stated that Dr. Seammell and Dr. W. F. Roberts were called when Miss Clarke's condition appeared to be critical. Dr. Roberts when communicated with this morning refused absolutely to discuss the case.

Dr. J. H. Seammell when communicated with said he had been called in with Dr. Roberts when Miss Clark's condition was critical.

When he saw her the young woman was very ill, and he refused to say from what cause. He also declined positively to state who issued the death certificate or what was the cause of death. Saying:—"I can't say anything about that."

Howard D. Camp, a young man, was arrested at three o'clock this afternoon in connection with the case. He is a moulder, employed in Fleming's Foundry and resides at 78 Paradise Row.

He was arrested by Sergt. Kilpatrick at the Clarke home on Adelaide St. He having gone there to attend the young woman's funeral—St. John Times 1st.

SHOULD CO-OPERATE TO GET SETTLERS

W. T. R. Preston Says New Brunswick Should Have a Share

W. T. Preston, the Canadian immigration commissioner in Great Britain, attended a meeting of the council of the Board of trade yesterday afternoon and urged upon the members the necessity of offering inducements to the incoming settlers in order to secure for the province a share in the increasing numbers of immigrants who came to Canada every year. H. B. Schofield, the president of the board occupied the chair and eleven members were present to meet Mr. Preston.

The commissioner after referring to the vast immigration traffic passing through this port every year, spoke of the desirability of the foreign peasant as a laborer on a farm. He mentioned that 20,000 settled in Ontario last year and were proving satisfactory. If the farmers, he said, would hire the men as they arrived they would find they made excellent farm helpers.

Mr. Preston impressed upon the board the advantages of co-operation with the provincial government in offering inducements to secure settlers, and outlined the work done in this direction in Ontario.

ST. ADELAIDE NOTES.

It is with much regret that we have to record the death of James LeBlanc who died at his father's home Friday morning after an illness of several months. He was a son to Levis LeBlanc and Angile Levesque both formerly of Maria, Bonav. County.

Although being young in years he was a great favorite with everybody who knew him. He passed away peacefully although his last sufferings were awful being perfectly resigned to the will of God. He leaves to mourn his loss a father, mother six brothers and a great many friends.

The remains were interred in the Roman Catholic cemetery on the 4th inst. Rev. Father Bosse officiating. His funeral was largely attended by a large circle of friends and relatives who came to pay the last homage to the departed one. Mr. Narcisse Francoeur met with a serious accident. Being at his work with an ox, the ox ran away down a big hill, he was dragged under the sled and received very bad injuries breaking his shoulder bone, and receiving other severe injuries. He is under the rare of Dr. Samson.

A. & R. LOGGIE

This Enterprising Firm make many improvements

The firm of A & R Loggie Dalhousie has just completed its new store which is now one of the most up-to-date establishments of its kind in the province. The new building is erected on the old stand and is 150 x 54 feet with three and a half stories. A magnificent plate glass front, second to none in the province, displays goods to the best advantage. The interior of the building is beautiful and conveniently laid off. Silent salesmen greet the eye at every turn. The ceilings are of steel neatly painted to match surroundings, the walls are sheathed and finished in hard oil, and the floors are of hard wood throughout.

The office is in the rear of the ground floor and a good view of the interior of the general store is obtained through the plate glass front of the manager's sanctum. Around the office are placed a row of silent salesman which are set in so as to utilize the waste space under the desks in the office.

The second floor is the furniture department where a large display of furniture will be kept on hand unequalled before in the town. The third floor is used in unpacking goods and also as store room. The warehouse is 50x50 and contains three floors. Here is stored an immense stock of flour, feed and general provisions. Goods are brought in between the store and warehouse, unloaded, placed upon the elevator, hoisted to the upper floors and conveyed on overhead carriers to different parts of the building. Altogether the establishment is one of the best in the province and is a big addition to the town of Dalhousie.

Messrs Loggie are known the world over as canners of fish, berries, etc. and have factories and treezers scattered all over the Maritime provinces and Quebec, besides three in the State of Maine and one in Vermont.
