DECLARES BRITAIN MUST MAINTAIN

RUMANIA'S REPLY TO ENTENTE NOTE IS POLITE DEFIANCE OF SUPREME COUNCIL'S

Answer of Rumanian Government Is Regarded As Wholly Unsatisfactory - Rumanians Indicate a Willingness To Retire To River Theiss, But Decline To Respect Original Armistice Lines.

Paris, Nov. 12 .- Rumania's reply to the Allied note recently presented. in which it was again demanded that Hungary be evacuated, is regarded in peace conference circles as wholly unsatisfactory. The note, which was taken up for consideration by the supreme council this morning. was characterized as extremely evasive. The Rumanians indicate a willingness to retire to the River Theiss, but they decline to respect the original armistice lines and also decline to comply with the Allied request that they name a member of the inter-allied commission to compile the value of the goods seized in Hungary by the Rumanians so that this amount could be deducted from the total of the reparations due to Rumania. While the Rumanian note is worded in terms of extreme politeness, it is held to indicate continued defiance of the supreme

CANADA'S MINISTER OF LABOR FIGHTING INSURANCE CLAUSE

The Unemployment Insurance Scheme Could Not Be Extended To All.

TOO MANY FOREIGNERS

Adoption of Plan Outlined At Labor Conference Would Be Financial Drain

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 .- Canada

is putting up a keen fight against obligatory provisions in the draft convenligatory provisions in the draft convention on unemployment now before the International Labor Conference. The clause to which exception is taken by the Canadian delegation refers to re-ciprocity in unemployment insurance, it provides that "states signatory of this convention which have established system of unemployment insurance shall make arrangements whereby were belonging to one such state." workers belonging to one such state and employed by another shall be ad-mitted to the benefits of such insurance upon terms to be agreed upon between the states concerned." Canada takes the position that there should be no obligation to extend the benefits of unemployment insurance to the workers of any other country, that the workers of any other country, that clause should be optional. When the draft convention (which was prepared by the organizing com-mittee of the conference) came before a sub-committee on employment, Senator Robertson, ministor of labor, declared that the Dominion Government could not assent to any such obligatory provisions as were proposed. There were at the present time, he said, over 300,000 foreigners in Canada over the age of 18 years. To have to extend the benefits of any unemployment insurance scheme to these would mean a serious drain on the Dominion's finances.

London, Nov. 12 .- The Armerican Chamber of Commerce in London, in its report for October, notes a gradual revival of trade in British foreign markets, particularly as strikes continue to cripple America's export trade.

According to a leading London bank, the chamber's report says Great Britain's "invisible exports." consisting of returns from foreign investment, etc., are estimated at almost $3,000,000,000 for 1919, as compared with less than $2,000,000,000 in 1913. The adverse balance of imports over exports, the report adds, will, however, result in an estimated net adverse balance for the cripple America's export trade estimated net adverse balance for the years of about $600,000,000, as against a favorable pre-war balance of $1,100,-

Advertising Surely Pays; Fish Dealers Learn This Lesson

Disappointing Results Follow Poorly Announced National Fish Day.

Does it pay to advertise? Yesterday, this question was decided for all times in the minds of the fishmen of the city. Last year the Government decided to set one day aside each year as National Fish Day, to aid in popularizing fish as a staple article of food. Last year the day was introduced by extensive advertising by the Government, and the fish dealers of the country. As the result of their efforts in this city much fish was consumed on that day. The city fish market sold over a ton, or four times the normal daily

This year little publicity attended the day. Little advertising was done by either the Government or dealers and as a result few people knew that yesterda was the National Fish Day. Even the personnel of the city fish market we agnorant of the fact until he was in formed by a reporter. The sale of fis yesterday on the city fish market was lonly five hundred pounds, not one pound over normal, in spite of the fact that the cost of fish this year is less than it was last year at this time.

A report on the city's negotiations with the street railway will be presented to No. 1 committee of the city council this afternoon.

If this report is made public it will be the first official statement of the dealings between the street railway and the city. A special meeting of No. 1 committee last week was closed to the press, as well as a joint meeting between a special committee and street railway representatives Monday.

It is understood that this special committee will make a report today.

Troubles never come singly, at least not for after having a case of non-support against her husband dismissed in police court this morning, she now must face a charge of assault. Her trial on this charge will take place on Friday.

During the case, W. R. Meredith, who was acting for the defence, placed Miss vera Maluke, who at one time boarded with Mrs. Pickerell, in the witness box. After court was adjourned Miss Maluke, Mr. Pickerell and several others interested in the case were proceeding along Carling street near Richmond street. It is claimed that Mrs. Pickerell came from behind, and that, after passing them, turned around and slapped Miss Maluke's face. Not until the husband parted them would the wife discontinue her attack, it was said.

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret

"The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead cuticle," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. "It is well known that the surface skin is con-stantly dying, falling off in imperceptible particles, except in some diseased conditions, when the same appear like dan droff. But the particles do not all drop off immediately they die, being held for a while by the live skin. "To have the dermatological surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time peer off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive operation. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary mercolized wax, as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on over night, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. The process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process. It gradually absorbs the dend and half-dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful-looking skin underneath."—Advt.

AND CIVIC PLAYGROUNDS.

"I want some place to play," was the pathetic request of a small goldenhaired boy last summer. "It's so hot here on the street and the yard's all dirty. I want to swing and have a teeter-totter like the boys I read about. I think I'll just go down and paddle in the river. Mother wouldn't mind if she knew how lonely I am."

And the little boy went down to the acceleracy riverbank and he dipped his. And the little boy went down to the cool cozy riverbank, and he dipped his hot little legs in the water and soon he forgot all about his loneliness, and he laughed gaily and paddled on until—Ah, that is the sad part of it. His sturdy little legs got entangled in some long weeds—he fell down and then he couldn't get up because the water was deeper there and running swiftly.

In fact, they are sturdy little hothouse plants, with every possibility of becomplants, with every deposition to this profession to the profession to the profession to the profession to the profession which their course of study is leading. This applies to men as well as to women, but more particularly to women, because their close association with the home during girlhood deprives them of that broader outlook which their borders get when they have occasional glimpses into the world of their fathers, and during periodical "jobs" after school and on Saturdays.

The chief difficulty with regard to most of the men is not that they haven't had some experience out in the world, but that this experience has been of the professions which they have graduated from college and enter wards to follow. But to return to the women. There are scores of professions now open to get them, but how few women ever have any idea of the actual inside working of these professions until after they have graduated from college and entered upon the practical work. But, you say, people go to college for mental development, not to learn facts. Well and good, but should not that mental development, if possible, be along lines which will be practically useful after college? And could not that mental development be assisted greatly if the actual panorama of the field which the student was to occupy a afterwards were open before her as she pursued her studies?

It may be radical to the minds of the from the beginning after numerous for instance, satisfy the demands of modesty by covering the face; Chinese women by covering the feet. British, American and continental women of Europe, frequently women a decollete costume for formal functions that would have been immodest in the extreme during the tenth century. So it may be readily seen that morality or modesty has in no wise influenced woman's dress.

Expressed Personality.

After all, it must be conceded that ornament and dress signify the desire which has always been present in woman, to express her personality and attain distinction among her sex. For the same reason the average woman would rather appear among her friends and

The Refinement of Purity

AREFUL cooks know the value of purity. In the making of cakes or pastry they use those ingredients which they believe to be pure and wholesome.

To apply this "insistence on purity" to sugar is no easy matter—for nearly all sugars look alike to those not expert in detecting variation. The safe course is to use a sugar that comes from refineries in which purity is a boast,

In the Dominion Sugar refineries the boast is backed by a standing invitation to the public to visit and inspect the plants in which we make

DOMINION CRYSTAL SUGAR

Those who have found it convenient to avail themselves of this invitation have been loud in their praise of the manner in which Purity is safeguarded here. The knowledge of Dominion Crystal Sugar purity has become widespread—and furnishes the basis for an ever-growing realization that in Dominion Crystal Sugar the housewives of Canada have one sugar that can be depended upon for that Purity which is so essential to successful culinary effort. This is the only sugar that may be rightly termed "Canadian from the ground up." We do import the finest raw cane sugar and refine it-but our pride is in the product we make from Canadian sugar beets.

"I know that you gentlemen of the American press are very highly trained critics of public writing and public speech and I am not at all your equal in that respect, but, happily for me, what I want to say to you is easily said. It is to tell the American people through you with what pleasure I recall my visit to the gallant forces in Europe last winter and how glad I am now to be making acquaintance with the great people from whom those forces came. I was able to visit several of your divisions in France and Germany, and also the very smart sixth baitle squadron which you sent to join the grand fleet in the North Sea. The spirit of your soldiers and sailors, officers and men, appealed to me very strongly and made me wish to know their country and their kin. CASE NOT ENDED YET

Although Strike Called Off, Miners Will Appeal Court Finding.

Accept For Friday.

Mr. Lewis, on behalf of the mine workers, accepted the invitation of Secretary Wilson to meet the bituminous operators of the country in Wash-

Anderson, which was 6 o'clock this evening.

Although the strike has geen called off, court action in the strike case has not been completed by any means. The miners' atorneys are preparing their writ of error, with a view of appealing the case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and expect to file their petition for this step within the next two or three days. The attorneys stated that they expected to carry the case to the highest tribunal of the country if the Government were upheld in all the lower courts in its contenin all the lower courts in its conten-

There was much speculation tonight as to how the notice of withdrawal of the strike order would be received by the miners in the fields. In some quarters it was believed that the men would return almost as a whole on orders from their union heads. However, there were indications that in some districts a feeling against obeying the order to resume work existed. Delegates to the conference who were questioned on this subject would make no predictions.

Patriotic devotion to the Government and American ideals and institutions caused the United Mine Workers of America to comply with the order of the United States court to withdraw the strike order, according to a statement.

Deaths in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11.—Dr. J. Gordon Bell, provincial bacteriologist, announced today that two deaths had occurred in the city from lethargic ecephalitis, or, as it has been called, "sleeping sickness." Four other persons are under treatment, suspected of suffering from the strange disease. The doctor asserts there is no cause for alarm, that the disease has no trace of epidemic symptoms, and that every possible precaution has been taken to cope with the situation. It is not considered the true form of "sleeping sickness" prevalent in South Africa.

withstood the sweeping reactions of the previous session, opened at a moderate advance and standard rails reflected substantial support.

As the session progressed it become substantial support.

As the session progressed it became evident that further enforced selling was under way.

General Motors, which made a net decline of 31% points yesterday, recorded a further loss of 20 points in the first hour.

Was the more violent and sweeping, because it followed an opening advance of two to six points, based on the calling off of the coal strike. In point-of fact that development, favorable as it appeared, exerted only temporary influence, prices falling back within the first hour. Even before call loans opened at 14.6 per cent, the year's decline of 31% points yesterday, recorded a further loss of 20 points in the first hour.

Other stocks which showed extreme weakness during that period included Mexican Petroleum, Pierce - Arrow, Baldwin and American Locomotive, Republic Steel, American Tobacco and American Woolen, in which losses extended from 3 to 7 points.

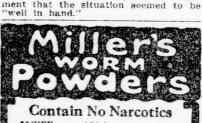

Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—An undercurrent of nervousness pervaded the stock market at the opening of today's session. Further selling based on the credit situation caused initial losses of 1 to 4 points in steels, equipments, oils and motors. This was partly balanced by gains of 1 to almost 6 points in shippings, Pressed Steel Car and several other issues, which stood their ground during yesterday's drastic liquidation. Signs of support were shown by representative shares notably high grade rails and United States Steel. Some early losses were fully recovered within the first half hour.

1:30 p.m.—Call money rose to 20 per cent at midday, precipitating broader selling. Rails became heavy under the increased weight of offerings. General Motors continued to weaken, dropping an additional 16 points, with quite a decline in related issues, also steels and equipments.

AUTO "that Richard would be perfectly capable of trying some such fool stunt if he had no one to restrain him. But kindly remember that I had charge of Richard Second, and when he is with his granny-muzzer him is perfectly safe, yes him is, darling lamby-bird." This sudden transition in manner and vocabulary was due to the fact that Junior suddenly stretched out his baby arms to his grandmother, an appeal she can never resist, and the last part of her sentence was mumbled against his rose-leaf cheek.

"We are always sure of that, mother," I said softly, all irritation at her provoking manner being swept away by this reminder of the adoration she felt for our little son.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

The Way Dicky and Madge Got Started.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

My mother-in-law came back from softly, then turned to me, grinning her drive in high good humor. I might broadly. her drive in high good humor. I might have known that she would do so, for she is like a child in her enjoyment of any outing, like one also in her pouting disappointment if she has to stay at home for any length of time. Of course, she had not forgotten nor quite forgiven the fancied offence she had against us, but she managed to convey her willingness to overlook old scores while still sitting in judgment upon us in rather clever fashion.

"This is the most remarkable child," she announced as she entered my room, turning as she spoke to Dicky, who was following her with Junior perched rapturously upon his shoulder.

Dicky managed to wink at me without his mother seeing him. It conveyed more than mischief at her elived a conveyed in the properties of the properties of the drive you said. "But go ahead, Madge, start some-things aloofness. Now you are 'the girl,' and there is actually a friendly note in her voice. Come on, let's beat it, while the beating's good. Gee, but you're the nifty-looking chauffeuse! But where's, your motor coat and veil?"

"Those are for the tonneau, Dicky," I should climb Mrs. Durkee's steps with the machine if I ever tried it here. You drive till we get to some lonely road, and I'll watch everything you do any you can explain things while we go along. I've got to get some things child, except your feet." Dicky commented teasingly. "Those are likely to meed a hot-water bag before you get here they have been also in her pout-ing dispensation."

"If only you don't suffer from that a drive in a city street." You extent to mere with give and the paper," she actually a friendly note in her voice. Come on, let's beat it, while the drive you are the girl. I slipped out of the drively.

He had driven away the great beetle and was honored for doing his duty.

"Is everything ready?" cried Red Ant as he came forth.

"How shall we kill this villain?" asked the chief guard.

ouch! Ouch!" cried he, and when he landed again with his feet on the ground, he found one of Red Ant's faithful workers clinging to his heels.

"Who are you," asked the ant, "to come so boldly into our country?"

"I am Tinker Bob, king of the great forest," came the reply. The Ant heel and crawled away to hide his shame.

Tinker Bob's cries had been heard by Red Ant and he now came hurrying to the scene. "What's the trouble, O King?" he cried as he drew near.

"One of your guards grabbed me by the heel as I entered your territory," said Tinker, showing Red Ant the wound in his heel.

"I will find him," said the Red Ant angly, "and he shall be punished."

As Red Ant said this the gullty guard came from under a leaf and showed himself.

"So you are gullty of injuring the great king of the forest?"

THURSDAY, NOV. 13. The planetary portents for this da The planetary portents for this day emphasize the danger of fraud, treachery or duplicity, as the Neptune influence is operating strongly under a Lunar conjunction. It is a subtle position difficult to interpret, but best exemplified by subtle enmitties and furtive attacks. The situation is helpful somewhat by a friendly Saturn which brings to the fore stable conditions and responsible friends, as well as substantial opportunities. Seek the advice and favors of old friends and elderly persons. Guard well the tongue and temper, lest these help or precipitate in the threatened undoing or betrayal. In affairs of the heart or the home, the influence is most auspicious, as the graclous Venus is in benignant aspect with tair Cynthia.

NAZIMOVA IN "THE RED LANTERN"

Nazimova has what is in effect a triple personality to interpret in "The riple personality to interpret in the Red Lantern." which is showing at the Grand all this week. She appears as Mahlee, a Eurasian girl, (that is half white and half Chinese), in which the racial traits of the Oriental and the Ango-Saxon conflict in moments of elemental passion; and also as Blanche Sackville an English girl, the natural Sackville, an English girl, the natural daughter of the father of Mahlee. As daughter of the father of Mahlee. As Blanche, Nazimova for the first time on the screen appears as a blonde.

The famous Russian artist put seven solid weeks working for the camera, toiling concientiously and without stint. At the conclusion of "The Red Lantern," she was glad to take a rest for a month before undertaking her next feature production.

$1,500 IN FREE PRIZES FOR VICTORY BOND BUYERS

Small Investors---

Here is the opportunity of a lifetime.

Every London purchaser of 1919 Victory Bonds worth NOT MORE than $1,000 has a chance to win as high as $500 when the campaign closes next Saturday night.

London alone, in all Canada, is able to make such a proposition.

Prominent citizens, prompted by patriotism, have purchased bonds to the value of $1,500. They have paid for them and handed them back to headquarters to provide the prizes herewith listed.

Your chance is as good as the next man's.

You Can Qualify by Buying a $50 Bond--

You don't have to pay cash for it. You don't have to know a banker or have a bank account. You can pay for your bond in installments spread over a long period.

Every dollar you pay in is money saved for you. You are simply lending it to the Government. You can't lose, and you are paid

When you lend the money to Canada you strike a telling blow for busy factories, good wages and national prosperity.
