LEOPOLD AND LOEB REPEAT PLEA OF "GUILTY"

Revival of Highland Games Urged For Western Fair

STATE OPENS ITS FIGHT TO SEND YOUTHS TO GALLOWS

Leopold and Loeb Repeat Plea of Guilty to Murder Charge.

PRISONERS CALM

Letter to the Victim's Father Showed Kidnapping Was "Commercial Proposition."

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, June 23.—The kidnapping of 14-year-old Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jun., and Richard Loeb was a strictly "commercial proposition," the abductors wrote in their first letter to the father of the victim.

The letter was read today in the opening of the hearing before Chief Justice Caverly to determine the penalty the two college youths shall pay for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed today their lawyer's plea of guilty.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in an opening statement, recited the story of the boys' planning of the "little fellow's murder" from what he said was the inception of the plot in the minds of the two brilliant sons of prominent families here last fall.

Every details of the planning, preparation, foreseen by the young kidnappers, was reviewed by the prosecutor.

He told of the perfection of the details for their plot on May 21, and of a careful deliberation afterward on the question of who should be their victim.

The sons of numerous wealthy families were considered before young Franks was agreed upon.

The defendants were styled "cold, calculating murderers."

Listening to the state recital of the details of the boy's death with apparent equanimity of spirit, the two defendants sat calmly in their chairs behind their counsel.

Frequently one would whisper to the other.

How Youths Confessed.

Coming to a recital of the first show of weakness by Loeb during his first questioning by State's Attorney Crowe, the prosecutor raised his voice and paced nervously before the bench. He told of Loeb's excited cry for a glass of water after he was told that his companion had revealed their secret.

"My God!" the youth cried. He then offered to tell the whole story!

The same strategy applied later to Leopold, Mr. Crowe said, produced a like reaction.

Each accused the other of being the actual murderer and sought to save his own neck," the prosecutor shouted.

A safe containing exhibits which the state will offer "for the information of the court" was wheeled into the room. A top it were a number of boards, the bloodstained flooring of the automobile in which young Franks was killed. What remained of the boy's clothing, a belt, and a few other bits of equally gruesome evidence were in the metal container.

Repeat Guilty Plea.

As soo nas court was called, the defendants were summoned at once.

Judge Caverly announced that proper legal formality had not been complied with Monday when the boys changed their pleas to "guilty." He summoned the mto the bar ,and in long, legal phraseology, asked them again separately if they realized the consequence of their action.

"I do, your honor," said Leopold, and Loeb replied in like manner.

The boys listened to the judge's reading intently and answered in a clear, firm voice.

Leopold looked about occasionally, but most of the time fastened his eyes on the judge. Loeb stood statue-like, his eyes straight ahead, and bore an expression of concentrated attention.

After the judge's statement, the defendants returned to their seats and conferred, smilingly, with their attorneys.

"The state is ready to proceed with the murder hearing, but asks a continuance of the kidnapping case," said Mr. Crowe.

"Object," said Mr. Bachrach. "This is not a real trial, and there should be no separation of the two cases."

"If this is not a trial, what is it?" commented Crowe.

Retrograded to Criminals.

A wrangle finally brought an agreement to proceed with the murder indictment while keeping the other charge "on call from day to day."

Mr. Crowe then started his opening statement. He dealt upon the identity and upbringing of the defendants.

"They behaved in accord with standards of their social sets, except that they developed a mania for gambling for high stakes," said Mr. Crowe.

"The evidence will show that from this they retrograded to the point where they could commit a cold-blooded murder."

Leopold frequently sat virtually

HERE'S A CROWD OLD SOL CAN'T DISMAY.

Here they are, big and little, lean and stout, a few of the many patrons of Becher's bathing beach, the northend civic supervised swimming camp snapped by an Advertiser photographer. Here is a part of the crowd from the east bank of the River Thames. In the foreground is Bob Ferguson, one of the life guards, along with some of the boys and girls. The new pontoon bridge, erected to accommodate people from West London who want to come across to the beach, is seen in the background, with youngsters lined up all along it. The life saving boat, used to assist the supervisors in case of accident, is seen in the lower right hand corner.

MERCURY VICTIM OF CLIMBING HABIT

Today Is Second Hottest in Year—No Sign of Drop.

Heat, toward which many affected a jocular attitude, assumed yesterday and today more serious persistence. The temperature this morning commenced with an excellent lead of 70, just 18 degrees behind the high figure of 88 degrees yesterday. At noon, it was still climbing, and at 2 o'clock had reached 88.5 degrees.

Many people within the last two days have felt for the first time this season, the full benefits of their verandahs, and persons without them are quite strongly feeling their need. For the first time also, for most, discomfort in sleeping hours has been experienced, blankets and quilts have been most decidedly "de trop."

A brilliant July sun was counterbalanced this morning by a series of cool breezes, which, wherever they could reach, made the weather fresh and summery to the point of being ideal. But where the breezes couldn't reach, many persons were in a doubtful state of mind as to which season they preferred.

Today, with a high temperature of 88.5 degrees, was the second hottest day of the year, the record standing at 92.

Associated Press Despatch.

Jerusalem, July 23.—King Hussein of the Hedjaz has received new support for his claim to the calinhate at a conference of Arab notables held in Mecca.

The conference issued a proclamation to the Moslem world declaring that King Hussein as the ruler of the Hedjaz was the most fit candidate for the calinhate, because of the fact that the Hedjaz is the only Moslem country which enjoys full independence, and which properly observes all the laws of Allah and his prophet.

TRAINMAN IS KILLED AT SCENE OF WRECK

Canadian Press Despatch.

Guelph, July 23.—Robert Gray, of West Toronto, was instantly killed, and Thomas Ashdown, also of West Toronto, received serious injuries to his head, his skull probably being fractured, in an accident to C. P. R. auxiliary crew near McNaught, Ont., 49 miles west of Guelph on the Guelph and Goderich line, at 7:50 this morning. Ashdown was rushed to the Guelph General Hospital. His recovery is still a matter of doubt.

There had been a wreck on the road Sunday and the auxiliary crew were clearing up the debris this morning. Ashdown, who was foreman of the crew, had been standing on the platform of a car, with Gray beside him, directing the operations, when the derrick boom, swinging a great load of iron, struck them with considerable force on their heads, Gray being killed instantly. The body of Mr. Gray is being forwarded to Toronto today.

PASSENGER STEAMER GROUNDS DURING FOG

Associated Press Despatch.

Rockland, Maine, July 23.—The passenger steamer James T. Morse, of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., which left here early today for Bar Harbor, struck on Crotch Island, near the entrance to Stonington Harbor, shortly after 8 o'clock, in a thick fog. Some of the passengers were landed in boats. None was in danger.

YOUTH INSTANTLY KILLED.

Three Rivers, Que., July 23.—Maurice Brousseau, 16, of Grandmere, was instantly killed on Saturday at Flamand, on the St. Maurice River, when his rifle discharged as he was stepping out of a small boat, the bullet striking him in the head, according to word reaching here today.

BRITISH FLIERS RESUME FLIGHT

Stuart MacLaren and Party On Way Through Kuriles.

Associated Press Despatch.

Tokio, July 23.—The MacLaren party of British round-the-world aviators was winging its way northward through the Kuriles today.

Forced down a week ago on Uruppu Island, near the southern end of the Kuriles, by a fog, and for a time feared to have perished, the fliers early today left Tokotan Bay on Uruppu for Murakami Bay, on Para Mashiru, the most northerly of the larger Kuriles, and their last stop in the Japanese Empire.

Despatches telling of the fliers take-off today brought the first news of an unsuspected reason for their delay in starting on again from Uruppu, the illness of Flying Officer W. N. Plenderleith. Previously the delay in resumption of the flight had been attributed to alternate high winds and heavy fogs, both common occurrences in the Kuriles, but today it developed that these had been only contributory causes.

INCREASE NOT LIKELY IN PRICE OF BREAD

Toronto Bakers Do Not Expect Immediate Jump in Product.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—The increase of $1.80 per barrel of bread flour will not have an immediate effect on the price of loaves, according to an official of one of Toronto's largest bakeries today. A barrel of flour produces on an average of 180 loaves, so that the increase means a cent per loaf, he said, but he did not think the increase would tend to raise the price of bread yet. He added that the fact that there were better reports from the west regarding the new crops could not be considered, as "many things might happen between now and the time the crops come in."

Pastry bakers hold different views regarding the $1.10 increase in the price of pastry flour, some saying that they will not be affected, while others declare it will have "a very decided effect."

Associated Press Despatch.

Brough, Eng., July 23.—No word has yet been received from Washington as to the exact date the United States world fliers are to hop off for the Orkneys, the first stage of their trans-Atlantic flight. The airmen today were still working on their machines and tomorrow they will make brief test flights.

Chicago Paper Says Justice Injured By Undue Publicity

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 23.—"Criminal justice in the United States is now on a Roman holiday and the courts are the Coliseum," the Chicago Tribune says today editorially, pointing out the superiority of British law in regard to the conducting of trials.

"The Franks case has been a three months moral pestilence imposed upon our people before the trial," says the editorial. "It is an aggravated instance of what has happened with increasing frequency for two decades since the Thaw trial and before. . . . .

"The injury to justice is in publicity before the trial. Newspaper trials before the case is called have become an abomination. The dangerous iniditative that newspapers have taken in judging and convicting out of court is journalistic lynch law.

"Prosecuting attorneys now hasten to the papers with their theories and confessions. Defence attorneys do the same. Neither dare do otherwise. Half-wit juries or prejudiced juries are the inevitable result."

The Tribune admits it has its share of blame in this and declares no newspaper can escape it. They have met the demand and, in meeting it, stimulated public appetite for more.

"There is one remedy," the paper adds, "drastic restriction of publicity before the trial must be imposed by law. England by custom and by law imposes such restrictions. English papers print only the briefest and coolest statement of the facts before the trial."

Montreal Bandit Exonerates Pal

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 23. — La Patrie, French language paper of this city, states that a document covering twenty pages and exonerating Leo Davies one of the six bandits condemned to death for complicity in the Hochelaga Bank collection car hold-up here last April, in which Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the car, was killed, has been drawn up and handed to Governor Seguin, of the Bordeaux jail, by Louis Morel, one of the bandits. Governor Seguin, however, the paper states, denies any knowledge of this document. The defence has appealed to Premier Taschereau to obtain possession of the affidavit, according to La Patrie, and it is stated that the provincial cabinet will give a decision on the matter after a plenary meeting today.

Blanchard of Freeman, near Burlington, is in the General Hospital here suffering from shock and bruises as a result of the buggy in which she was riding this morning being struck by a C. N. Premier King on Vacation Chops Down Trees and Tries To Catch Up On Lost Sleep

Head of Canada's Government Seeks Change at Gatineau Estate.

WIELDS AXE WELL

Has Been Gradually Clearing Up Forest Retreat For Fifteen Years.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, July 23.—This is the holiday season of the year, when all from high to low, from prime ministers to postmen, are thinking of some place where cool breezes blow on the shores of Canada's innumerable lakes and rivers.

Premier Mackenzie King was asked by The Advertiser where and how he was going to spend his vacation. It was on the morning after the last all-night session of parliament. He had been up all night for two nights in succession. He replied: "I am going to sleep till I catch up."

But he is taking this much-needed "soft nature's bath" as Shakespeare calls it not in the old Laurier mansion on Laurier avenue, but up the Gatineau River, where he has a summer home.

It is not by the blue Sicilian Sea, but amid the blue Laurentian Hills that he finds respite from the cares of office. All winter long from the windows of his office on Parliament Hill he can see that blue haze of wonderland temptingly near, but exasperatingly far, a consolation, but also an irritation to a head of state who for five months has been offered up a national victim on an altar of parliamentary insomnia.

Knows How to Chop.

The Emperor Diocletian when he took his vacation used to grow cabbages. Clemenceau went to the shores of Brittany and ate cabbage soup. Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald are alike in this, that they rest their nerves by the most nerve-racking of games, which is golf.

Mackenzie King, being a Canadian, has something in him of the instinct of the coureurs de bois, and our trail-blazing, tree-felling forebears. After he has had his sleep he is going to cut down trees.

Anyone who goes along the road that passes through Kingsmere, a little hamlet up in the Quebec hills, can catch through a hedge of maple trees, a glimpse of the premier of Canada in negligent woodman's attire laying the axe to the root of some of the lesser monarchs of the forest, which the lumbermen have forgotten to raft down the Gatineau.

Arthur Meighen goes to Quebec like a professor of languages, to study the language. Mackenzie King goes like a Samuel Chandelaine, to clear the soil and "make land." The leader of the Opposition blisters his tongue. The premier blisters his knuckles.

Mackenzie King is not a large scale lumberman like the big British Columbia operators, but he is by no means an amateur wood-chopper. It is fifteen years since he first built for himself a shack beside the lake at Kingsmere. Ever since then he has little by little each year cleared away the forest, although his trip to the Imperial Conference last summer rather spoiled his logging operations.

Anyway, in addition to carving his name on the history of Canada he has for years been cutting his initials in the Gatineau Valley. His is a self-made estate. He can look prime minister of Canada, who is spending his vacation at his Gatineau summer home, chopping down trees and endeavoring to catch up a sleep lost during the long parliamentary session. Those who have seen the premier in action at his forest retreat claim he is somewhat of an expert at wielding the axe.

Please See Page 2, Column 6.

HON. W. L. MacKENZIE KING,

UNDERTAKER SUES M.O.H. OF TORONTO

Reginald Moore Contracted Smallpox, But Courts Must Decide Where.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 23.—Where and how did Reginald Roy Moore contract smallpox?

This is the question which the courts will have to decide when Mr. Moore's action against the local board of health for unstated damages for alleged neglizence comes up for trial.

Mr. Moore is the undertaker who buried a woman from a Dundas street east address, whose case had been diagnosed as measles, but who he alleges was a victim of smallpox.

He took ill with smallpox two weeks later, and as a result he claims his face is marked, and his services as an undertaker's assistant curtailed.

The woman died on Feb. 27, and on the certificate filed with the city clerk, her death is ascribed to cardiac failure and bronchial-pneumonia as the contributing, and to measles as the immediate cause.

Dr. Charles Hastings, M.O.H., who is sued as the officer representing the city, and responsible for the department, would not vouchsafe any information on the subject. The physician in charge declares the woman died of measles. Of all the people at the funeral Mr. Moore was the only one to get smallpox. His assistant caught it two weeks later.

Mailler lifted his machine back on the road and chased the automobile through Newburgh. He arrested a man who said he was Henry Porter of Milton, on a charge of reckless driving. Mailler was himself arrested because he drove his motorcycle in excess of the speed limit. Porter was fined $50.

SCOTS PLAN TO REVIVE HIGHLAND CONTESTS

Would Be Made Feature of One Day at Western Fair.

PICNIC TODAY

Hundreds Join in Games Being Held at Port Stanley.

London is given an opportunity of having an annual Caledonian meet at the Western Fair. There is a decided movement on foot to revive again the Scottish games, the highland dancing and the music of Old Scotia.

Only the meets have to be revived for the fire of enthusiasm lies deep in the hearts of the clansmen, who are going to bring back the good old Caledonian games so popular throughout Western Ontario before the war.

For a year past Caledonian Society has been working out plans that will bring back the quoiting, caber tossing, throwing the hammer. The revival is due, in fact overdue, and it is here.

The Caledonian Society of Middlesex and Elgin is a going concern. Its members are drawn from all over Western Ontario, believe that the Western Fair at London is the logical location for Caledonian games.

To the skeptical they point out the tremendous enthusiasm for today's picnic. The many visitors and entries from all over Ontario is sufficient proof that the popularity of the Scottish games has never waned. They firmly believe that it would be one of the biggest drawing cards that the Western Fair could have. They will put it up to the board at an early date.

The program, ever varied, could be enlarged upon. With sufficient prizes, there would be a competition for six bands and any number of individual pipers.

Best Ever Known.

The highland dancing of last year was said by judges to be the best ever known in this district. It could be improved upon and the entries enlarged.

The caber tossing, hammer throwing has shown concrete signs of revival. The tug-o-war has Middlesex and Elgin wildly enthusiastic. It goes right back to the old Zorra days, when a tug-o-war was a measure of a man.

The spirit of old Scotia is in the country. The Caledonian Society means to bring it out. The indomitable spirit of the Scot needs only rejuvenating.

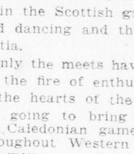

It is expected that there would be an international meet with trophies from London, England and the North meeting at Inverness. The Advertiser and Free Press trophies, the Watt and M. MacDonald trophies, and the provincial medals would be a means of stimulation.

Western Fair is the logical institution to carry on the work. Western Ontario is the center of the hope.

YOUTHFUL GROOM IS CHARGED WITH DESERTING HIS FAMILY

BAIL IS GRANTED

Remanded Until 29th, When He Appears in Women's Court.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—John O'Neil was arrested today charged with deserting the toy-pistol bride, formerly Marion Miller.

The youthful groom, whose wedding in a house out on the Kingston road was a sensation that lasted some time, was apprehended on Queen street by Detective Harry Clarke, who has been on the lookout for him since July 8, when a warrant was issued. Lower Western Fair Admission Price Now Seems Certain

BOARD TO DISCUSS ADMISSION PRICE

Western Fair Members Will Deal With Question Tomorrow.

APPEARS CERTAIN

The Western Fair Board is awaiting the final and formal decision of the city council at its special session tomorrow noon, anent the recommendation of No. 1 committee last night that the board's request for a $5,000 guarantee ,making possible a 25-cent admission fee throughout the entire week of the Fair, before further action is taken by it in the matter.

Should the council extend its support to the board to the extent of the $5,000 guarantee asked for, it will be necessary for the board at a special meeting within the next few days to rescind a motion standing on the books since last fall that the fee for the Fair this year be placed at 50 cents for Wednesday and Thursday and 25 cents for the remaining days of the Fair. This motion, which will have to be struck out by the board, was placed on its books at the time the council deleted the $5,000 guarantee item from its estimates for the year.

The fact that the recommendation goes to the council as a unanimous one from the finance committee, together with the fact that the Fair Board asked the council for the grant, with the express view of permitting it to charge a straight 25-cent admission, makes it almost certain that the 25-cent admission fee will maintain at the Fair again this year as was the case last year for the first time.

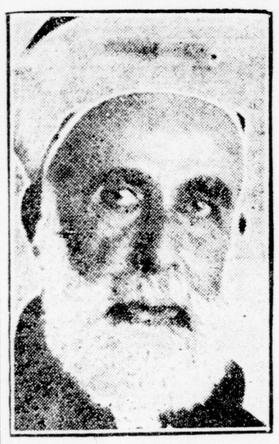

The matter will very likely be disposed of not later than Aug. 5, on charge arose over the death of Alice advertising matter, as well as tickets, both of which require the admission fee to be placed thereon.

PRICE OF MARKERS FOR 1925 LOWER

Hamilton Company and Biggs Says Cut Due to Plate Quality.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—Differences in the quality of the plate to be supplied are said by Frank Biggs, former minister of highways for Ontario, and by the Canadian Color Type Company, of Hamilton, to account for the fact that that company has just been awarded a contract to produce 275,000 automobile markers at a cost of ten cents a pair, for 1925, while it charged the U. F. O. government 23 cents a pair. The price paid for markers last year was 12¾ cents per pair.

"The plate on which we tendered this year was entirely different from the ones we made for the U. F. O.," explained the manager of the Color Type Company today. "We made a turned plate in 1922 and 1923, and it cost us a great deal more to put that out than the beveled plate that has been ordered this time costs."

"I was unaware that a new contract had been awarded," said Mr. Biggs. "I suppose that any reduction in the tender may be accounted for by changes in the quality of the metal that is to be used, or in the grade and number of coats of enamel to be employed."

FORGES CHECKS WITH GIRL'S NAME

Youth Is Remanded For Week For Sentence by Magistrate.

Alvin Rose, 22, pleaded guilty to two charges of forgery when arraigned before Magistrate Gladman in police court today and was remanded a week for sentence.

Rose admitted signing the name of a girl, Miss Stella E. Day to two checks, one for $15 and the other for $22, which was given Rowland Hill on July 11 on the London Loan and Savings Co.

Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd told the court that Rose had been going with Miss Day for some time. Early in June the prisoner needed some money and Miss Day said he could get some from her. Rose drew up the check and signed the girl's name to it, went to the London Loan Co. with it and cashed the check.

Miss Day told Rose he must not do it again, but the prisoner did so, thinking it would be O.K. because he was engaged to her.

Another check was given to the Campbell Electric Co. for $15 the crown attorney asserted on the same day, July 11. Other checks were forged for small amounts, but the total was considerable, the crown attorney asserted.

Rose declared he could not remember Miss Day telling him not to sign her name to checks. He tried to get her on the 'phone to tell her what he was doing, but could not locate her.

"I didn't mean to forge them or any of that kind of stuff," stated the young man when asked if he had anything to say.

Heritage of Eve Continues To Pile Up New Troubles For Toiling Male of Today

Her Whims Cause Up and Downward Trend in Trade.

RAZORS IN DEMAND

Hustling Businessman Is Constantly on Guard For Latest Popular Fad.

It is generally conceded that Eve left a pretty fair heritage of trouble for her daughters to hand out to old Adam's descendants.

Since bobbed hair came in vogue it has been more or less noticeable that those same daughters have opened up a new package, and started on a new and liberal dispensation of their inheritance.

Not satisfied with playing havoc among hearts, they have started in on the markets, and trades are jumping up and down like grasshoppers on an autumn day.

A discerning economist in the U. S. A. discovered that though the corset industry had become very wobbly, the silk stocking industry was becoming more and more firm on the market. The law of averages is making itself felt in the same way in Canada. The trade in hair nets has receded a long way in the business scale, but the business in hair clippers has climbed away up until hardware merchants now are selling as many as ten times the number of clippers sold before bobbed hair became the vogue. Formerly they were sold only to barbers and an occasional thrifty mother, who made a practice of cutting her own children's hair. Now the girls with bobbed hair find them a direct necessity.

From Toronto comes the information that girls there are now using razors and shaving lotions.

Buy Everything.

Everything from those dainty Nile green lotions to heavy creams and the ever-present tonsorial accessory, bay rum, is now being sold in the smarter drug stores and barber shops to representatives from all classes of the fair sex. Indeed, it goes further. One is no longer struck dumb with amazement to be present when a cov young debutante saunters into a hardware shop or drug store and languidly tosses a half dollar for some razor blades. They have invaded the former masculine domain of fine cutlery, shaving creams and dermatological what-nots, with a spirit of gayety and adventure that bide fair to cheer the hearts of those individuals dependent upon this business for their bread and butter.

Reading thus far, one commences to suspect that the awful prediction of a European medical specialist that consequent upon the bobbing of feminine tresses, women are about to sprout beards is coming true.

Still Hold Laurels.

Such, however, is not the case as yet, and the members of the House of David are still in possession of their laurels. Nevertheless shaving equipments are being purchased on a large scale—for the sweet young things' necks. Bobbed haired girls lose all their immaculacy if those bristly wisps at the nape have the slightest inclination to become frowzy.

A few local doctors have been besieged with anxious inquiries from feminine "straight across" addicts as to whether it is safe enough for them to shave or not. The answer to this is yes, "but after you have made your neck as tough as a movie villain, don't shave so much." The field now seems to be opening up for an ambitious young chemist to concoct a neck softener.

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF SECURING COVES

Believes Spot Would Prove an Ideal Location For City Park.

No announcement has been made the city regarding the sale of the Cove Ranges, now used by the department of militia and defence. There is no indication that this property is to be given up by the government, other than a vague hint and the co-incident announcement that long distance targets are to be fired at Guelph and at Erie Beach this year.

Mayor Wenige, however, believes that the city has a good opportunity to get in a bid for the property and have first call on the site if it is available. He is strongly in favor of making the cove a municipal park.

"It's the logical place for a new park," declared his worship. "We've got a hint that the property isn't going to be used by the government, and we might as well get a bid in and possibly get it for a song. There's no reason why the city should take second place in getting a bid in.

"It's a dandy place for a park. The city is going to expand out that way and we'll need another park before long."

The mayor pointed out that the Cove was once an ideal place for boating and swimming, but since the London Street Railway Company filled in its "viaduct" across the Cove the water was stagnant most of the year. This was a matter which could be adjusted, he thought, and in years to come the park would become a great "breathing spot" in the well built up South London district.

The mayor brought up the matter just before the close of last night's session of the finance committee and asked that the possibilities of purchasing the Cove be investigated. The matter was given the sanction of the committee.

Entertainment is being planned for the delegates, including a dance in the Crystal ballroom of the King Edward Hotel, a night at Sunnyside, fireworks, games and other attractions. W. A. Edwards of Mimico is chairman of the entertainment committee.

There are around 500 engineers in London unions members of the brotherhood, it is understood.

CITY RESTAURANTS IN GOOD CONDITION

Sanitary Inspector Reports All Kitchens Are Kept Clean.

FEW COMPLAINTS

"People of London need have no worry that conditions in restaurants are insanitary," declared Sanitary Inspector R. H. Sanders today. "The eating places are inspected regularly. We know every chef in the city, and where conditions have been found that aren't up to the mark we ask the proprietors to adjust these conditions or threaten to close them up."

"I don't know how we can help that altogether," said Mr. Sanders, in speaking of an incident Sunday where a tourist suffered ptomaine poisoning through eating a hot beef sandwich in a local restaurant. "We look in the ice boxes and kitchens of every restaurant as often as possible. If there is bad meat we throw it out and warn the proprietors, and usually we get their co-operation. If meat is unfit for use we pour coal oil on it, and throw it in the garbage can."

The sanitary inspector gave assurance that so far as sanitary conditions in kitchens were concerned the public had no concern for great worry. In some cases recommendation had been made to have ice boxes enlarged, kitchen conditions improved, and temporary cooks reproved. Conditions were improving, he said.

A provincial department inspector who visited London recently noted that the city was far better off as regards restaurant conditions than a great many other cities in the country.

PREMIER CHOPS DOWN TREES ON HIS VACATION

around his clearing on the mountainside and proudly say, "I made it."

Takes Two Weeks Rest.

While working with a view to the immediate benefit of his health, he has at the same time had an eye on posterity. Little by little he widens his rural domain by buying up patches of forces from his habitant neighbors. He looks forward to the time when Ottawa will be a greater Washington of the north, and will need bigger breathing space than the Rockcliffe Driveway and Britannia Park. When his Kingsmere estate is all rounded out and deforested he is going to give it to the nation.

But the premier's brief breathing space is a vacation more in name than in fact. The government of Canada is an example of perpetual motion. It never stops functioning, and even on his holiday the premier has to drop his axe or his paddle and take up his pen. Wherever he goes he is tethered by the chain of office to the pivotal point of Ottawa. The chief advantage of Kingsmere, outside of the fact that it has trees to be cut down, is that it is less than an hour from Ottawa by motor. The sound which haunts his sylvan solitude is not the woodman's horn, but the motor horn, and after the ringing of his telephone bell interrupts the ringing of his axe.

After a fortnight of sleep under the pine boughs, the premier will again be back in political harness to suffer for another twelve months from insomnia and nostalgia for the woods.

But at the same time the woods are always with him. No political party in these days of now political groups is even out of the woods.

GALT MAN BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

Rocco Fondecaro and George Falsetto Acquitted On Arson Charge.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, July 22.—After several remands, Rocco Fondecaro and Mr. and Mrs. George Falsetto were placed on trial today, the two men charged with arson and Fondecaro and Mrs. Falsetto with perjury.

The charges arose from a fire in the shoe-shine parlor of the two men on May 26 and disclosures in an investigation conducted by a fire marshal. The proceedings took all day.

This morning Fondecaro was sent up for trial on the perjury charge and Mrs. Falsetto was acquitted.

The arson charges were heard this afternoon, and the magistrate acquitted both men, holding there was not enough evidence to send them up for trial.

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

Hamilton, Ontario—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular, unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—Mrs. Emily Beecroft, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ont.

Pine Grove, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and bad feelings in the lower parts on each side, in the groins. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors."—Mrs. Edgar Simmons, R.R. No. 2, Pine Grove, Ontario.

It is expected that the posting work will be completed within the coming four or five weeks.

U. S. Presidential Candidates Make Definite Plans For Election Campaign

PARTY CHIEFS ARE READY FOR FIGHT

PLANS DIFFER

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 23.—Campaign plans of the three aspirants for the office of president are the chief topic of discussion and speculation in political circles today.

Reports from Washington today stated it had been made clear at the White House that, while President Coolidge does not expect to make any extensive speaking tour, the Republicans are not going to lose the election by default. They prefer a quiet, industrious campaign, but will meet any challenge their opponents may offer. Mr. Coolidge has but two speaking engagements to date.

The Republicans, it is said, hope to keep the campaign on a high plane. Old fundamental policies, pressed with dignity, is their present program. If that plan is abandoned, they declare, it will be because the other candidates "start something."

Definite campaign plans have not yet been formulated by the Lafollette forces, but one thing seems certain: There will be no lack of speech-making. Lafollette himself, it is reported, wants to make a two-speech-a-day stumping tour, but his friends favor leaving the brunt of the active campaigning to Senator Wheeler of Montana, the vice-presidential candidate. Senator Wheeler goes to a Cape Cod resort tomorrow to spend three weeks resting up his vocal organs in preparation for the coming fray.

John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, is training at Dark Harbor, Maine. He is getting himself into first-class physical shape with golf and tennis, and is devoting the remainder of his time to consultations with various party leaders and to the preparation of his speech of acceptance, which he plans to complete before returning to New York. Mr. Davis will likely make an extensive tour and will deliver numerous speeches. He plans to make them short, so that the radio fans will hear him to the end, instead of getting tired and tuning out.

MANY HONOR PASSING OF PROMINENT CITIZEN

Remains of Thomas James Tanton Laid to Rest in Woodland Cemetery.

The funeral of Thomas James Tanton, former businessman of London, who died suddenly on Sunday afternoon, was held this afternoon from his residence, 479 Maitland street, to Woodland Cemetery. Mr. Tanton had been retired from business for seventeen years, and in that time his health had been failing. He was stricken suddenly with a heart attack and passed away at 4 o'clock.

He was born in this city 66 years ago, and received his education in the private schools of London and Toronto. He founded the shoe firm of Tanton & Ashplant, with the late John Studley Ashplant. They conducted their business in the store which the Nut-Crust Bakery now occupies.

The deceased was a member of several fraternal organizations and a lifelong member of the Dundas Center Methodist Church.

Many floral tributes were received from his friends and associations, of which he was a member. Floral wreaths were sent by the Canadian Order of Foresters, Dundas Center choir, Dundas Center Young People's League, and the Canadian Press, Ltd., of which his son, Harold, is a member. Also tributes were sent by friends and relatives in Hamilton, Toronto, and St. John, N.B.

The services were conducted by the Rev. William Collicutt of Rochester, Mich., a lifelong friends of Mr. Tanton's.

The pallbearers were E. R. Dennis, Henry Dennis, William Tanton, John Tanton, all cousins of the deceased; James Bell and Ernest Thorne.

CONSERVATIVES MODEST IN BOOSTING PARTY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 22.—In the ranks of the Conservative party in the province of Quebec were men of ability representative of all walks of life and fitted to go into the highways and byways and preach the party gospel, but unfortunately many were too modest to do so, Arthur Sauve, Quebec opposition leader, declared in an address before the Cartier Club here today.

FIREMEN PAINTING.

The occupants of No. 2 hall of the fire department are busy these days painting. Their attempts of art are carried out on the ladders which will grace the new truck that is being purchased for the department.

If the people ever get so that they do not need a fire department the firemen in this city will make good as interior decorators, as they are taught to paint no matter at what hall they are stationed.

Murder Trial of Eskimos On MacKenzie Postponed As Storms Sweep North Severe Weather Condition Prevents Judge Dubuc From Reaching Scene.

MUCH SNOW FALLS

Action Last Year Was Impossible Because of Ice Barriers.

Special to The Advertiser.

Edmonton, Alta., July 22.—The Eskimo murder trial held at Aklavik on the delta of the Mackenzie River has been postponed indefinitely, according to word from the north, because of weather conditions in the Arctic, and when Judge Dubuc and the judicial party will return to the "outside" is a matter of conjecture—perhaps next week, perhaps next month.

Navigation is not yet onen in the Arctic Ocean, and as a consequence the mounted police patrol boat cannot get around the coast from Coronation Gulf to Aklavik with witnesses necessary to the trial, and so the judge and his court with the Eskimo prisoner must wait at Aklavik until better weather permits water travel.

Last year because of the presence of ice in the Arctic for the entire summer navigation was difficult and dangerous, and for this reason the prisoner at Aklavik reached Herschel Island too late for last year's trials (when two of the natives were sentenced to death and hanged) and had to be held by the northern detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police a year.

Two years ago no vessels were able to get beyond Herschel Island, because of the ice; all the traders in the eastern Arctic were unable to communicate with the island, and the entire trade of the far north was tied up. There is a possibility that the same thing may occur this year, and for these reasons the trial and the return of the judicial party is uncertain.

The spring in the Arctic and other far north territories is reported as extremely late. The most severe storm of the year occurred on the Mackenzie Delta in the middle of June and lasted three days. The wind attained a great velocity and two feet of snow fell.

TEAM PLAN DROPPED.

There will be no G. W. V. A. softball team this year, due to the large number of pensions the society has been asked to obtain. The men are kept on the go all the time and have no time to devote to ball playing. Jack McNamara, who was appointed as manager of the team, is disappointed at not being able to place a team in the field as he feels sure they would have made some of the teams step.

A grass fire yesterday afternoon on the empty lot adjoining the Middlesex Mills, Limited, Dundas street east, kept up the record of the fire department of having to answer a fire on vacant property every day this week.

MANY FARMERS SEEK MORE HARVEST HELP

Wheat in District Is Nearly Ready and Haying Not Completed.

Demand for experienced help still continues for far mwork in London district. The hay crop is not all in as yet, and it is expected that the wheat will be ready to harvest immediately upon the conclusion of the hay crop, in which case work will be continuous throughout August and part of September. The average wage paid is $35 per month, though first-class men in some localities are being paid as high as $40 per month. DEMAND FOR LUXURIES CAUSE OF DEPRESSION

People Insist On Owning Motor Cars, Declares M. Lapointe.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 22.—The increasing demand for luxuries is partly responsible for the present depression in business, according to M. Lapointe, secretary of the Quebec division of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, who has recently been investigating this question for members of the association.

"The great difficulty is that people without means insist on maintaining and operating motor cars," declared Mr. Lapointe. "Members of our association whose customers have not been purchasing as much as usual have on making inquiry found that automobiles, betting on race horses, high living, or some form of extravagance have been taking the customer's money, with the result that the merchants suffer.

"We have learned that expenditures on automobiles alone amount to millions a week in this province, and this is money that formerly went to the small merchants and into the banks."

ECHO OF POW-WOW IS ASSAULT CHARGE

Samuel and Jackson Dodde Arrested For Attack On Indian.

LIQUOR BLAMED

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 22.—"All Indians are bad friends of the Doddes," declared Samuel Dodde in county police court this morning, when the authorities sought an explanation of a fight which occurred last night at Richardson crossing. High Constable Peters arrested Samuel Dodde and his uncle, Jackson Dodde, on charges of being drunk, following complaints that they had assaulted an Indian named Bob Logan. Both declared that they had been "treated" by a white man whom they did not know. Fines of twenty dollars and costs were imposed in each case. Both were present at the Caldwell pow-wow here Monday.

Six-Month Term.

LACK OF KNOWLEDGE BLAMED FOR LOSSES

Failures of Co-operative Concerns Explained At Guelph O. A. C. Opening.

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, July 22.—Lack of business knowledge was the reason given by Prof. R. Colquette of the department of marketing economics, O. A. C., for co-operative concerns so often proving failures, in addressing 85 delegates attending the summer conference on rural community work, which opened today.

Rev. H. Cotton of Cainsville, president of the conference, gave an informal welcome to the delegates present in the absence of President Reynolds. In referring to organization for co-operative marketing of farm produce, Professor Colquette foretold the day when agriculture would be organized from the producers' point of view.

Classes are being conducted in practical work in the poultry department by Professor F. N. Marcellus, and in the animal and dairy husbandry department by Professors Wade Toole and H. H. Dean. Both these classes are completely filled, and more may have to be arranged for, as delegates are arriving hourly.

BRAZILIAN FEDERALS REPORT SUCCESSES

Government Aviators Bomb Stronghold Positions of Rebels.

Associated Press Despatch.

Buenos Aires, July 23.—A despatch to La Nacion from Santos early this morning states that fighting continues around Sao Paulo. An official communique from the Rio Janeiro government states: "The federals are continuing to progress, occupying new advantageous positions. The activities of our aviators have been very useful in all respects. The necessary measures to counteract probable intentions of the rebels have been adopted."

How thousands fled from Sao Paulo in panic during the bombardment of the city by the Brazilian federal forces on July 11 is described in a copy of Oestadeo de Sao Paulo of July 12, just received here. The paper says that from early dawn July 11 shells fired by the federals began falling into some of the most populous districts in the city, doing much damage. Streets immediately filled with terrified people, carrying indispensable belongings in bags and parcels, frantically seeking to escape. Some quarters of the city were completely deserted within a short time after the bombardment began.

Hundreds of families, according to the newspaper, fled from the city in automobiles. Four hundred machines are said to have left by one road leading to the northwest. Many persons fled on foot, lugging their belongings. The newspaper also gives a partial list of the killed and wounded."

Alberta Needs Ten Thousand As Harvesters

Canadian Press Despatch.

Edmonton, Alta., July 22.—Ten thousand men needed in Alberta for the harvesting of the crop now growing, is the present estimate of the provincial employment service.

That estimate makes allowance for the poor crop conditions in certain districts. Officials point out, however, that it is necessarily subject to change as the season progresses for better or worse. It is stated that there are 4,000 men already in the province available for harvest work, leaving the number to be brought in from outside at 6,000. These will be recruited largely in British Columbia, with some also from Eastern Canada.

HERTZOG CONDEMNED FOR MARITZ RELEASE

Storm of Protest Sweeps Through South Africa Over Government Action.

Associated Press Despatch.

Cape Town, South Africa, July 23.—A storm of protest has swept through the Union of South Africa because of the release by the Hertzog government of Manie Maritz, the former Boer general, who was convicted of high treason for having taken an active part in the rebellion of 1914 and was sentenced to prison for three years. Maritz had served only twelve weeks of his three-year term when he was set free.

It is expected that the matter of the release of Maritz will be threshed out at the first meeting of the new parliament on Friday.

The Cape Times comments on the government's action in releasing Maritz as follows:

"It is no misguided partizanship which sees in this release of Maritz a grave slur on the judiciary system of South Africa. Ugly comment is being made on the premier's conception of fair dealing between all sections of opinion and the revelation of his tendency to yield to pressure from irreconcilables. Thousands of South Africans who are watching for signs of Premier Hertzog's fitness for the premiership see in the release of Maritz a portent which makes them shudder with apprehension."

BOY IS DROWNED IN RIVER ATTEMPTED RESCUE FAILS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 22.—Swamped by the waves, Thomas Hynes, jr., aged 13 years, son of T. A. Hynes, East street, was drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming about thrity feet from the St. Mauris River Boat Club, after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue him had been made by his little sister Edith, who almost lost her own life in the attempt.

KNOLLWOOD RESIDENTS ARE READY FOR PICNIC

Splendid List of Prizes Secured For Great Day's Outing.

The committee of nine under the energetic chairmanship of P. J. Lavender in charge of the arrangements for the first annual picnic of the Knollwood Park and District Improvement Association to be held next Saturday at Brookside, the farm of Philip Brooks on the 4th concession of London Township, is leaving no stone unturned to make the outing a great success.

The plans of the picnic committee were heartily indorsed by the association at its regular meeting last night to the extent of a further grant of $10 from the funds of the association toward the expenses of the day's doings.

The committee reported that the program as drafted out provided for 41 events for each, and all of which worthwhile prizes had been secured from merchants and friends about town. Included among the prizes offered for competition are the following: Sides of bacon, bags of sugar and flour, picnic hams, chests of tea, electric grill, gold fountain pen and roasts of beef. There will also be a guessing contest for a quarter of a ton of coal. Other events and prizes on the splendid program are too numerous to mention.

The association wishes it understood that the picnic is intended for all residents of the park district, that is north of the C. P. R. tracks and east of Adelaide street, whether members of the association or not.

The opinion was expressed at the meeting last night that Saturday's picnic would accomplish more for the community spirit and aims and objects of the association than meetings for ten years. The picnic committee and other officials are confidently looking forward to a real time Saturday afternoon next.

Small Fortune Lies Unclaimed

Seven Thousand Dollars Found On Road Still Ownerless.

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. Catharines, July 22.—As the wallet containing $7,000 in cheques and money found yesterday on the provincial highway just west of St. Catharines has not yet been claimed, the theory is held here by many that it may have been dropped by a bootlegger returning from delivering a "cargo" across the line. The $1,000 is in American bank notes, and the cheques seem to indicate this. The cheques are made out in favor of a foreign name.

DWELLING-HOUSE WRECKED WHEN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hepworth, Ont., July 22.—A dwelling-house on the farm of Andrew Haller in Albemarle township was struck by lightning and almost completely wrecked during an electrical storm today. One side of the building was completely torn away, the heating radiators destroyed and most of the furniture wrecked. One girl sustained a severe shock, but the other members of the family who were in the house at the time escaped uninjured.

THANKS VETERANS.

The Askin Street Methodist Church Ladies' Aid has sent a letter of appreciation to the G. W. V. A. for the part they played in the unveiling of the tablet last month to the members of the church who died in the service of their country in the late war. The G. W. V. A. band and all the executives were present and took an important part in the service.

HARBOR PROJECT GIVEN ASSISTANCE

Appropriation Is Made For Harbor Deepening and Retaining Walls.

ELEVATOR PLANNED

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, July 22.—Virtual assurance of the building of a grain elevator at Point Edward, with capacity of ten million bushels of grain, was given here today by Senator F. F. Pardee along with announcement that the Federal Government had made provision for total of $93,000 to be expended in harbor improvements here. This includes a sum of $30,000 passed in the estimates some weeks ago. According to Senator Pardee, who is closely in touch with Toronto and London grain men who are backing the project, the elevator will be constructed in time to handle its share of the 1925 crop. According to plans the elevator will be last word in construction, similar to the mammoth storage houses at the head of the lakes.

Point Edward had a small elevator once, but this was destroyed by fire in 1914 and the new one will be built on a site nearby, leased from the C. N. R.

Deepen Harbor.

Senator Pardee said $30,000 will be expended by the government in deepening the harbor this year, $30,000 next year, while $33,000 will be used to build retaining walls, as they are required. In Sarnia and Point Edward it is believed that this will be an important harbor and the present elevator project as being a most important step towards that development.

Precautions Taken.

A suspected case of smallpox in a Brock street home caused Dr. W. Logie, local health officer, to take precautions against any spread, in the event of the suspicion being verified. One physician declares the patient is suffering from smallpox and another gives the opinion that it is chickenpox.

Lengthy Illness.

The death occurred last night, following a lengthy illness, of Catharine, wife of Bernard Rooney, 136 Durand street. She was aged 64 years and a lifelong resident of the city. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. J. Summers of Sarnia, and five sons, Rev. J. Rooney of Windsor, Joseph W. of Sarnia, George F. of Toronto, Bernard of Oklahoma, and Harold of Windsor.

Radio Licenses.

Owners of radio sets in Sarnia to the number of 345 have obtained the necessary license from the government. It is estimated the number of receiving sets in the city is well over 700 mark.

WEIRD STORY RELATED OF DRINK AND ROBBERY

Italian Taken From Train At St. Thomas Appeared Almost Demented.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 22.—Huclella Hrseini, an Italian, from near Duluth, Minn., was taken from a Wabash train here tonight after a struggle by the local police, because train officials feared he was demented.

An interpreter was secured at police headquarters, and the man related a most weird story of having met with two men on the train near Chicago, of having taken a drink of some kind of liquor and being robbed of $400. He said that he leaped from the train because the men threatened to "cut me up." His face is badly cut, which he says, is a result of the jump from the moving train.

He declares that as the train neared St. Thomas two other men offered him a drink, which he did not take, but recollection of his former experience set him nearly crazy and resulted in his apprehension by the local police. He has a ticket to Jersey City, New Jersey, and says he is on his way to visit a sister. He had about $300 in his pocket when taken in charge here, and it is expected that he will be sent to his destination as soon as he recovers from his nervous condition. He is a big, husky fellow, who worked in the iron ore mines near Duluth. He is about 25 years of age, and came to the United States about two years ago.

WESTERN FAIR BUILDINGS NOW BEING PREPARED

With the Western Fair only a few weeks off the buildings are being made ready for the exhibitors to bring their goods. The Crystal Palace was getting a good scrubbing yesterday and soon will be all shiny and nice for the fair. Although it has been replaced by the manufacturers' building as the leading building, it still draws large crowds because of its location and because the exhibits in it have an attraction for people. Most of the space will again be taken up by music firms, and as these furnish some entertainment for the people the building still holds its place as a main attraction, even if it isn't the largest.

LONDON EAST RESIDENTS URGE MORE BENCHES

The residents of London East wish to thank the city council for placing the 20 benches in Queen's Park, but now they have the 20 they want 25 more. The number of people who storm over to the park on Sunday night is tremendous and there are not nearly enough benches for them all.

The benches are of the latest type, concrete legs and wooden seats, and will stand all kinds of wear and weather.

SCHOOLS AT PARK ARE OVERCROWDED

Knollwood Association To Petition Board of Education For Accommodation.

The regular monthly meeting of the Knollwood Park and District Improvement Association held in the Knollwood Park School last night with the president, J. H. Waud, in the chair, was a most enthusiastic one and considerable business of importance was transacted.

On motion of J. Robins and Robert Pring the association decided to write the board of education asking for an appointment to discuss the question of providing additional accommodation for the public school pupils of Knollwood Park district. At present 135 children attend the park school at which only the first three grades are taught. Higher than that the pupils have to go to Boyle Memorial School and to do so must cross the C.P.R. tracks four times a day. Over 105 boys and girls are said to be doing this at the present time.

The feeling expressed by different speakers at the meeting was that since the park paid its full share of school taxes, the district was entitled to its fair share of school accommodation. The committee appointed to interview the board of education consists of J. H. Taylor, A. A. Williams, J. Robins, Walter Benford and George Beadle.

Take No Chances.

While the news conveyed in the press that the Quebec street storm sewer is to be started within a week's time greatly cheered the members of the association the organization as such is taking no chances, and appointed a committee, including J. H. Waud, A. A. Williams, P. J. Lavender and Arthur Mould to attend the special meeting of the council called by Mayor Wenige for tomorrow noon to formally pass the order for the work in accordance with the communication his worship received from Attorney-General W. F. Nickle.

Mayor Wenige is to be written a personal letter by the secretary expressing to him the association's deep appreciation of his efforts on behalf of Knollwood Park in securing the sewer.

The motion that the association sponsor a petition to secure garbage collection for the Park district was moved by J. Robins and R. Pring. The association was informed that the collection would be made by the council at a cost of 1.1 mills.

Crossing Question.

The city clerk is to be written to by the secretary of the association, requesting information as to what has been done with regard to the C. P. R. crossing at Quebec street. The question of gate protection at this much-traversed crossing has been the subject of grave concern to the citizens of the Park district, many of whose children, as mentioned before, have to cross it four times daily in attending Boyle School.

Other matters to be brought to the attention of the council again are the Oxford street sewer, new sidewalks on Linwood street, petitioned for last fall, and a sidewalk-crossing opposite Travers street.

The report of the auditors on the finances of the association, showing cash on hand June 30 as $50, was adopted as presented.

DRIVER FACES CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Detroit Motorist Held When Two Die in Automobile Accident.

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, July 22.—Cecil Skrimscher of Detroit is in Essex county jail, and faces a charge of manslaughter as the result of the death of Mrs. May Willsie and Miss Emma Bessmer, following the overturning of an automobile driven by Skrimscher near Comber on Saturday night. Mrs. Willsie died very quickly after the accident, and Miss Bessmer died on Monday night in Hotel Dieu. Mrs. Skrimscher, who was badly hurt, is still in the hospital, and her condition tonight is reported as somewhat improved. For a time her death was feared.

Skrimscher is held in jail pending further hearing or the furnishing of $10,000 bail set by Magistrate Gundy this afternoon when the preliminary hearing was held.

TUGBOAT, BARGE AND LAUNCH SEIZED WITH BEER CARGOES

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, July 22.—Eight men were arrested, and an entire flotilla of beer laden craft, including a 30-ton steel tugboat, was seized today by Michigan State troopers near the foot of Grosse Point Park on the American side.

In addition to the tugboat, the troops seized a 35-foot steel barge, a 30-foot launch and three rowboats. On the tugboat were discovered 100 half barrels of beer, while 50 half barrels were found on the barge and 30 in the launch. The launch cargo also included 15 cases of beer. The men in custody are all Detroiters.

A ninth man escaped by leaping into the water from the barge and swimming ashore. Another smuggler also attempted to escape by jumping into the water, but sank immediately. He was rescued from drowning by one of the troopers.

The eight men in custody were turned over to federal authorities for prosecution under provisions of the federal customs law that forbids smuggling.

Southwestern Alberta Is Practically Sure of Fair Wheat Crop.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Lethbridge, Alta., July 22.—Half an inch fell along the Coutts, Cardston, MacLeod, Aldersyde and Crow's Nest branches in Southern Alberta on Monday afternoon and night in a general rain which lasted two to ten hours.

The rain was fairly general east to Taber, but from that point east only showers fell. Foremost got a quarter of an inch.

Throughout the southwestern crop district, the rain will be very beneficial, and with normal moisture from now on a fair average crop will be cut. In the southeastern crop district, however, there will be little more than seed and feed.

"The trend of murder is upward," the report stated. "No country, with the exception of Italy, comes near the United States in the murderous tendency of its people. This country has twice as many murders as Italy, and Chicago has nearly three times as many per capita.

"Many murderers escape arrest; only a small portion of those found guilty suffered the proper punishment. Out of the nine sentenced to be hanged last year, only one was executed."

COOLIDGE TO LIMIT HIS ELECTION TOUR

U. S. President Will Deliver Only Dozen Speeches During Campaign.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, July 22.—Participation by President Coolidge in the national campaign is expected to be limited to less than a dozen speeches and to involve no extended campaign tour.

This announcement was made today at the White House, and supplemented a previous statement by William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, that there had been no change in the original plan for Mr. Coolidge to stay on the job in Washington.

Definite plans, such as dates and places for the addresses to be made by Mr. Coolidge, have not been formulated.

FORMER LONDON MAN DIES AT STRATFORD

Francis S. Smith Served With Grand Trunk For Nearly Thirty Years.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, July 22.—Stratford lost a respected resident and prominent Mason, and the Canadian National Railways a valued employee today in the death of Francis Swanson Smith, aged 59, who died at the General Hospital, following an illness of two months. The late Mr. Smith was for eighteen years chief clerk of the motive power department of the Grand Trunk and Canadian National Railways in this city.

A leading 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, he was a past master of Tecumseh Lodge, No. 144, A., F. and A. M., and had acted as secretary of the lodge since 1912. He was past first principal of Tecumseh Chapter No. 24, Royal Arch Masons, and in addition was a member of the Lodge of Perfection, London; Rose Croix Chapter, London, and Moore Consistory, Hamilton.

The late Mr. Smith had been associated with the railroad for nearly 30 years. He was born in Lieury, McGillivray Township, and lived there until he was about 18 years of age. He then went to the city of London, where he was a trusted employee of the Hobbs Hardware Company for 12 years. He moved to Toronto, where he took a position with the Grand Trunk Railway as a clerk, and three years later he was moved to Montreal, where he served for eight years. He was made a chief clerk there and in 1906 he was transferred to Stratford.

The late Mr. Smith was unmarried. He is survived by three brothers, Alexander and William of Lieury and James S. of Ailsa Craig; and a sister, Miss Charlotte Smith, Lieury. The remains will be taken to Ailsa Craig for burial on Thursday.

WHITE FANG by Jack London

THE PAST CHAPTERS:

White Fang, son of the she-wolf, leader of the northland pack, learns his first lesson in the wild as he takes the meat trail around his mother's lair; attack only the weaker. Captured by Indians while on one of his daily foragings, he surrenders when his mother, coming to his rescue, gives up as the man-animals recognize her as an escaped sled dog and call her name, Kiche. White Fang, taken to the camp, meets his first dogs; he finds them all anxious to fight. Lip-lip, an Indian dog, chooses White Fang for his special tormentand the cub begins to add to his store of knowledge some of the finer points of the fighting game. Kiche, at last freed as domesticated, is then able to come to his aid in emergencies.

INSTALLMENT 15.

THE BONDAGE.

Later on that day, Kiche and White Fang strayed into the edge of the woods next to the camp. He had led his mother there, step by step, and now, when she stopped, he tried to inveigle her farther. The stream, the fair, and the quiet woods were calling to him, and he wanted her to come. He ran on a few steps, stopped, and looked back. She had not moved. He whined pleadingly, and scurried playfully in and out of the underbrush. He ran back to her, licked her face, and ran on again. And still she did not move. He stopped and regarded her, all of an intentness and eagerness, physically expressed, that slowly faded out of him as she turned her head and gazed back at the camp.

There was something calling to him out there in the open. His mother heard it too. But she heard also that other and louder call, the call of the fire and of man—the call which it has been given alone of all animals to the wolf to answer, to the wolf and the wild dog, who are brothers.

Kiche turned and trotted back toward camp. Stronger than the physical restraint of the stick was the clutch of the camp upon her. Unseen and occultly, the gods still gripped with their power and would not let her go. White Fang sat down in the shadow of a birch and whimpered softly. There was a strong smell of pine, and subtle fragrances filled the air, reminding him of his old life of freedom before the days of his bondage. But he was still only a part-grown puppy, and stronger than the call either of man or of the Wild was the call of his mother. All the hours of his short life he had depended upon her. The time was yet to come for independence. So he arose and trotted forlornly back to camp, pausing once, and twice, to sit down and whimper and to listen to the call that still sounded in the depths of the forest.

In the Wild the time of a mother with her young is short; but under the dominion of man it is sometimes even shorter. Thus it was with White Fang. Gray Beaver was in debt of Three Eagles. Three Eagles was going away on a trip up the Mackenzie to the Great Slave Lake. A strip of scarlet cloth, a bearskin, twenty cartridges, and Kiche, went to pay the debt. White Fang saw his mother taken aboard Three Eagles' canoe, and tried to follow her. A blow from Three Eagles knocked him backward to the land. The canoe shoved off. He sprang into the water and swam after it, deaf to the sharp cries of Gray Beaver to return. Even a man-animal, a god, White Fang ignored, such was the terror he was in of losing his mother.

But gods are accustomed to being obeyed, and Gray Beaver wrathfully launched a canoe in pursuit. When he overtook White Fang, he reached down and by the nape of the neck lifted him clear of the water. He did not deposit him at once in the bottom of the canoe. Holding him suspended with one hand, with the other hand he proceeded to give him a beating. And it was a beating. His hand was heavy. Every blow was shrewd to hurt; and he delivered a multitude of blows.

Impelled by the blows that rained upon him, now from this side, now from that, White Fang swung back and forth like an erratic and jerky pendulum. Varying were the emotions that surged through him. At first, he had known surprise. Then came a momentary fear, when he yelped several times to the impact of the hand. But this was quickly followed by anger. His free nature asserted itself, and he showed his teeth and snarled fearlessly in the face of the wrathful god. The blows came faster, heavier, more shrewd to hurt.

Gray Beaver continued to beat. White Fang continued to snarl. But this could not last forever. One or the other must give over, and that one was White Fang. Fear surged through him again. For the first time he was being really manhandled. The occasional blows of sticks and stones he had previously experienced were as caresses compared with this. He broke down and began to cry and yelp. For a time each blow brought a yelp from him; but fear passed into terror, until finally his yelps were voiced in unbroken succession, unconnected with the rhythm of the punishment.

At last Gray Beaver withheld his hand. White Fang, hanging limply, continued to cry. This seemed to satisfy his master, who flung him down roughly in the bottom of the canoe. In the meantime the canoe had drifted down the stream. Gray Beaver picked up the paddle. White Fang was in his way. He spurned him savagely with his foot. In that moment White Fang's free nature flashed forth again, and he sank his teeth into the moccasined foot.

The beating that had gone before was as nothing compared with the beating he now received. Gray Beaver's wrath was terrible; likewise was White Fang's fright. Not only the hand, but the hard wooden paddle was used upon him; and he was bruised and sore in all his small body when he was again flung down in the canoe. Again and this time with purpose, did Gray Beaver kick him. White Fang did not repeat his attack on the foot. He had learned another lesson of his bondage. Never, no matter what the circumstance, must he dare to bite the god who was lord and master over him; the body of the lord and master was sacred, not to be defiled by the teeth of such as he. That was evidently the crime of crimes, the one offence there was no condoning nor overlooking.

When the canoe touched the shore, White Fang lay whimpering and motionless, waiting the will of Gray Beaver. It was Gray Beaver's will that he should go ashore, for ashore he was flung, striking heavily on his side and hurting his bruises afresh. He crawled tremblingly to his feet and stood whimpering. Lip-lip, who had watched the whole proceeding from the bank, now rushed upon him, knocking him over and sinking his teeth into him. White Fang was too helpless to defend himself, and it would have gone hard with him had not Gray Beaver's foot shot out, lifting Lip-lip into the air with its violence so that he smashed down to earth a dozen feet away. This was the man-animal's justice; and even then, in his own pitiable plight, White Fang experienced a grateful thrill. At Gray Beaver's heels he limped obediently through the village to the tepee. And so it came that White Fang learned that the right to punish was something the gods reserved for themselves and denied to the lesser creatures under them.

That night, when all was still, White Fang remembered his mother and sorrowed for her. He sorrowed too loudly and woke up Gray Beaver, who beat him. After that he mourned gently when the gods were around. But sometimes, straying off to the edge of the woods by himself, he gave vent to his grief, and cried it out with loud whimperings and wailings.

It was during this period that he might have harkened to the memories of the lair and the stream and run back to the Wild. But the memory of his mother held him. As the hunting man-animals went out and came back, so she would come back to the village sometime. So he remained in his bondage waiting for her.

But it was not altogether an unhappy bondage. There was much to interest him. Something was always happening. There was no end to the strange things these gods did, and he was learning how to get along with Gray Beaver. Obedience, rigid, undeviating obedience, was what was exacted of him; and in return he escaped beatings and his existence was tolerated.

Nay, Gray Beaver himself sometimes tossed him a piece of meat, and defended him against the other dogs in the eating of it. And such a piece of meat was of value. It was worth more, in some strange way, than a dozen pieces of meat from the hand of a squaw. Gray Beaver never petted nor caressed. Perhaps it was the weight of his hand, perhaps his justice, perhaps the sheer power of him, and perhaps it was all these things that influenced White Fang; for a certain tie of attachment was forming between him and his surly lord.

Insidiously, and by remote ways, as well as by the power of stick and stone and clout of hand, were the shackles of White Fang's bondage being riveted upon him. The qualities in his kind that in the beginning made it possible for them to come in to the fires of men, were qualities capable of development. They were developing in him, and the camp life, replete with misery as it was, was secretly endearing itself to him all the time. But White Fang was unaware of it. He knew only grief for the loss of Kiche, hope for her return, and a hungry yearning for the free life that had been his.

Chatterer, the Red Squirrel, Is Jealous of Happy Jack's Luck

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

There was no doubt about it; Happy Jack Squirrel and Mrs. Happy Jack had come over to the big maple tree by Farmer Brown's house to live. They were making their new home in a big, dead, hollow branch half way up the tree. Farmer Brown's Boy was delighted.

Of course, that new home didn't remain a secret very long. Some of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows managed to keep their homes secret, but others do not, and do not even try. It wasn't long before sharp eyes discovered that Happy Jack and Mrs. Happy Jack were spending all their time in or near that big maple tree. Most of the feathered people knew about that hollow branch, and right away some of them guessed that Happy Jack and Mrs. Happy Jack had taken it for their home. It took only a little spying to make sure of this. Then it was only a little while before everybody knew about it.

Perhaps I shouldn't have said that everybody knew about it. Shadow the Weasel didn't know about it. No one ever tells Shadow news of this kind. No one is mean enough for that. He has to find out such things for himself. But everybody else knew about it, and it caused a lot of talk. You see, before this Happy Jack had always lived in the Green Forest.

"The trouble with you, Chatterer, is that you are envious."

Chatterer the Red Squirrel turned up his nose. You know, Chatterer and Happy Jack do not get along together at all. "It's the most foolish thing I ever heard of," declared Chatterer. "I've always said that Happy Jack has very little common sense. He was born in the Green Forest and has always lived in the Green Forest. That is where he belongs. You mark my words, no good will come of making his home outside the Green Forest."

Sammy Jay chuckled. "The trouble with you, Chatterer, is that you are envious. Right this minute you are wishing that you had thought of that hollow branch in the big maple tree for your own home."

Chatterer flew into a rage right away. He declared that it was no such thing, and said a lot of unpleasant things, too, to Sammy Jay. But Sammy only chuckled the more. He knew by Chatterer's bad temper that he had touched very close to the truth. And so he had. Chatterer really and truly was wishing that he had thought of that hollow branch.

Happy Jack and Mrs. Happy Jack paid no attention to the remarks which they couldn't help but hear. They were more than satisfied with their new home. Mrs. Happy Jack soon had a snug, comfortable bed, and declared that it was the nicest home she had ever known. She spent a great deal of time in it. As the days went by she spent more and more time in it. She came out only long enough to eat her meals and to get a little exercise. You see, though that home was no secret, there was a secret in it.

Baby Is Named Hell-and-Maria

Twins Are Named After Leaders of Republicans.

Associated Press Despatch.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 22.—Clarksburg, home town of Charles W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, was advised today of the birth in Kanawha County of Coolidge Ransome and Hell-and-Maria Ransome, twin sons of Constable F. W. Ransome.

A week ago, the constable, a staunch Republican, read of the birth here of a boy named after the Democratic nominee. "I'll go one better," said the constable, when the twins arrived, so he named them Coolidge and Hell-and-Maria. A neighbor suggested that Hell-and-Maria was a bit strong, but Ransome said the lad had a robust Republican constitution and could struggle through life with it.

A. Laing, Windsor, and C. K. Bluett Thistles Meet In Finals of W.O.B.A. First Event

Two Hamilton Quartets Put Out In Semi-Final Play

Finals of All Rink Events Will Be Played Today.

GALLERIES GROW

C. K. Bluett and A. Laing, veteran Windsor bowler, will meet in the W. O. B. A. first event finals this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the L. R. C. greens. Laing defeated W. T. Griffin of Hamilton Ontario Hospital handily, and Bluett put out another Hamilton rink, H. J. Allen's Victorias.

Laing's entry into the finals struck the popular fancy, as did Bluett's, and today's battle will be sure to draw a record gallery.

The full rinks in the finals are:

Windsor.	London.
Dr. Lansbury	J. T. Doherty,
D. Annett	A. M. Trick,
L. Vallans	C. B. Laur
A. Laing, sk.	C. K. Bluett, sk.

There were several defaults last night, Batcheller of Stratford departing, as did Sam Collett. Frank Brown's four profited by the former default, and J. McLaren by the second.

Several rinks were ordered to play two games last night, when the schedule was put off the track by lack of punctuality in the afternoon, and some demurred.

The morning games ended play at the Thistle greens. The L. R. C. greens with a cooling breeze blowing straight up the creek, left the bowlers in ignorance of the fact that the city was sweltering in the heat spell. A large gallery watched both afternoon and evening play.

Play starts again this morning at 8:30 in the fifth round of the Tecumseh Trophy and in the third lap of the Turnbull Trophy, and the finals of the latter are due at 7:30 tonight, if the time schedule doesn't get side-tracked with several left-over games.

ACES BEAT FLINT.
Special to The Advertiser.

Flint, July 22.—Saginaw easily defeated Flint here today, 8 to 1. The Aces hit Tatum hard and freely, while the Vehics could do nothing with the underhand offerings of Messenger, who held them to six scattered hits. The Vehics scored their lone run in the ninth on singles by Jahn and Dodson.

Cozington's hitting was the feature of the game. The big left fielder drove out a homer, a double and a single in four trips to the plate. He scored two runs and walked once.

Hammond and Gerald also connected for home runs, each driving the ball over the left field wall.

MONTREAL ELEVEN GOES WEST AFTER CONNAUGHT

Canadian Press Despatch.

Fort William, July 22.—Going into the game with one goal in their favor, the Montreal Explosives tonight defeated the C. P. R. Fort William soccer team, 1 to 0, and won the right to go west for the Connaught Cup finals. They won the round 2 to 0.

W. O. B. A. BOWLERS AT THE L. R. C. GREENS.

The bowlers who were drawn to play at the riverside greens yesterday and today found the coolest spot in town. A cooling breeze swept down the river and across the lawns at the London Rowing Club yesterday, while people elsewhere sweltered.

Dr. Robinson of London Ontario Hospital was put out by his other Ontario Hospital confrere, in the first game in the Turnbull yesterday morning. It was revenge for Dr. English, as the local Ontario Hospital cricketers had soundly beaten Dr. English's eleven last week.

R. G. Seldon, brand new president of the W. O. B. A., had a rough day yesterday at the hands of the hands of the clan of Laing. First he was put out by Laing senior in the first event, and in the fourth round of the Tecumseh last night, the Exeter four again ran foul of the Laing family, A. L. Laing, son of the Windsor vet., putting them out.

* * *

Frank Brown's Thistle four lost in thrilling finish in the third round of the Tecumseh. They were three down but laying four on the last end against Silcox's Windsor four, when the border skip trailed the kitty and lay in one.

* * *

Charlie Snell's Exeter four met Jas. Mills of Detroit twice. They were put out in the first game by the Detroiters, and last night had their chance at revenge. They were four down on the second last end, and then forced an extra end, in which the borderers lay shot after Snell barely missed killing the end.

Dr. Jeff Wood's rink of veterans are still in the Turnbull event, winning one of the close games of the night from R. H. Turnbull's Paris quartet.

Ed. Weld's four went out last night in the first round.

* * *

The dew was heavy toward the latter stages last night. Greenkeeper Giles threw a bit of Union Jack among the rags for wiping bowls dry. One of the Detroiters wiping his bowl with the red, white and blue, remarked he hoped he wouldn't be shot for disrespect to the flag.

His Scotch burr would probably have saved him from the mob anyway.

YACHT SARI WINS MICHIGAN'S RACE

Former Lipton Cup Racer Is Seventeenth Over Line.

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 22.—The Sari, smallest yacht in the Mackinac Island race, has unofficially been declared the winner of the event, according to word received here early today.

The former Lipton cup racer, owned by Ben Carpenter, was seventeenth over the line, swept across by a gale, which broke shortly before midnight, but with her big time allowance had the best corrected time. The tiny craft snatched almost certain victory from the Dorello, J. C. Vandyke's Milwaukee sloop, which was the first to cross the finish line.

The wind forced the finishers to come under bare poles and two of the racers, Seebeemook and Vanddis, went aground, but were hauled off without much damage. All but four crafts had beached the island early today.

He, Combs and Hack Wilson of the Giants are three unusual youngsters who came up this year."

What do you think of the various "trick" putters on the market?

Answered by DAVID BROWN.

I guess some of the fancy putters are all right for some people, but for me—I think that the three necessary things for putting are, a ball, a hole, and a straight-faced iron. I've tried out many of the freak putters, but I have always come back to the old-fashioned putting cleek. I feel that using fancy putters is somewhat like a carpenter using a very fancy hammer. The chances are that the carpenter will get so interested in the beautiful mechanics of the nammer that he will hit his thumb the first time he drives a nail. Just get a good plain putter with a fairly long handle, practice—and hope that everything will come out all right.

Three Children Burn To Death In Blazing Tent

Special to The Advertiser.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 22.—Fire, which destroyed the tent home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sheldon of South Bend, Indiana, in two minutes, wiped out the lives of their three children on the shore of Lake Cora early today.

The father with his family came to Lake Cora several weeks ago to work with a highway construction force, and put up a tent on the shore of the lake.

This morning an oil stove just outside the tent was lighted, and while the parents went to a well a few hundred feet away the wind blew a corner of the tent on the stove where it took fire. Before the parents could get back the flames swept up the little tent, and their three children were burned to death in their beds.

STEEL PRICE PLAN ORDERED DROPPED

U. S. Federal Trade Commission Tells Corporation To Abandon Plus System.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, July 22.—The United States federal commission today ordered the United States Steel Corporation to abandon the Pittsburg plus system of determining the price of steel.

The commission held it to be an unfair method of competition, the system by which the corporation and its subsidiaries put prices on rolled steel products, manufactured by and shipped from their plants outside Pittsburg, at a Pittsburg base price, plus an amount equal to what the freight charge would be from that city. The practice thus was found to be a violation of the federal trade commission act, and further to constitute a means of price discrimination.

The commission held specifically that the system is contrary to the public interest, not based on the law of supply and demand, is a price fixing system succeeding the old steel "pools," "Gary dinners," and other methods, and that it is made possible by the alleged domination of the steel industry by the United States Steel Corporation. It also held that the Pittsburg plus system lessens and eliminates competition, retards business in all steel centre, except Pittsburg, and adds greatly to the cost of steel products. It adds $30,000,000 a year to the cost of steel to farmers in eleven western states, the commission declared.

CANADIAN OPPORTUNITY IN THE ORIENT BETTER

C. P. R. Oriental Manager Advises Canada To Develop Trade in East.

Canadian Press Despatch

Montreal, July 22.—"Never has the opportunity for Canadian business in the Orient been so good as it is today. It is true that the general volume of business moving in China and Japan is somewhat below normal as the result of both local and world conditions, but it is also true that if Canadian manufacturers and producers on that account now fail to make an effort to secure the large share of Oriental trade that would naturally come to them, the opportunity will pass away, and when conditions over there have got back to normal, they will find that somebody else has got the business."

This, according to Allan Cameron, Oriental manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who is here on a visit from Hong Kong, is the crux of the situation as regards the outlook for development of Canadian trade in the far east.

Albert Barnes Meets Death While Swimming At Cedar Beach.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kingsville, July 2.—Albert Barnes, aged 45, a mail clerk from Windsor, was drowned this afternoon in Lake Erie at Cedar Beach, in front of his summer cottage, while his wife and children stood helpless to aid him. His four children were in bathing with him at the time of the accident.

Barnes was known as a strong swimmer, and the beach where he was bathing is considered as safe. It is believed that cramps caused the accident. The body was carried some distance in the undertow. The body was quickly recovered, but resuscitation measures were useless. Dr. McKenzie declared death accidental.

The remains were taken tonight to Essex, and the family returned to their home in Windsor. A sad feature of the death is the fact that last year a sister, Mrs. Clarke, died suddenly of heart trouble in the cottage owned and occupied by the Barnes family.

MEDICAL SOCIETY UNION SENTIMENTAL ONLY

No Reciprocal Arrangement Stands Between British and Canadian Associations.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 22.—Dr. T. C. Routley, secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said today that the affiliation of that body with the British Medical Association, as announced in London cables, was in the nature of a sentimental union only.

The connection was a bond of fellowship within the empire, but had nothing whatever to do with the question of licenses, and British medical men could not come to Canada to practice unless they complied with the usual regulations. In other words, there was no reciprocal arrangement between the associations in regard to the practice of medicine in Canada and Great Britain.

Bowling

St. Davids' Club will hold an open draw tourney tonight, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. Good prizes are offered.

On Saturday, July 26, the cup donated by J. C. Fones, club secretary, will be played for the first time by two-man rinks. Play commences at 2 o'clock.

Conditions call for the winners to accept challenges throughout the bowling season, the winner at the close having the privilege of holding the cup until play resumes in the spring. Entry fees Saturday will be 25 cents.

Next spring there will be added to the list of city bowling clubs that of Westminster Hospital. A space has already been allotted for the greens and work commenced on their construction. While the greens are primarily for the use of the patients, the staff has already formed a club, of which Dr. McGhie, medical superintendent, is honorary president, and Mr. Dunsheath, a well-known city bowler, president.

The space staked out for the greens measures 120 by 120 feet, which will give as much accommodation as any of the other clubs in the city, excluding, of course, the three larger clubs.

C., leave Toronto next Friday, accompanied by about 50 Toronto smallboat sailors.

Mr. Gene Tunney and Mr. Georges Carpentier have poured tea for the last time prior to their fifteen-round bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night. According to members of the cauliflowered four hundred, who were entertained at Great Neck and in Jersey, both young men are charming hosts. Although Mr. Tunney was little more than a debutante socially, his last tea gathered quite as brilliant an assembly as that collected by M. Carpentier.

There is no doubt that there still is considerable interest in Georges Carpentier, and Mr. Johnston did the obviously correct thing when he matched Tunney with Carpentier instead of with his conqueror at Michigan City, the prosaic Mr. Thomas Gibbons. As a matter of fact, if the bout Thursday night had for principals Tunney and Gibbons, instead of Tunney and Carpentier, the customers would decide upon remaining at home and playing pinochle as the lesser of the two evils.

Firpo has chosen Atlantic City as a training camp for his fight with Wills. When he was getting ready for his memorable match with Dempsey, Firpo occupied a small but comfortable cottage not far from the spot that Dempsey used in training for his battle with Georges Carpentier. His public boxing was done in an open-air arena that was used at night for whippet racing. Shortly before he left his camp, Firpo suffered a rheumatic attack in the elbow of his left arm, and, although the joint was baked and treated by the best specialists available, it showed no improvement. The impression at the time was that Firpo attributed the almost helpless condition of his left arm to the general dampness of the salt air.

That the South American heavyweight has decided to return to Atlantic City came as a big surprise to those who are interested in his welfare. It had been generally understood that he would take a camp somewhere in the northern part of New York state. He had been offered a site at Red Bank, N.J., near the camp in which Gene Tunney is preparing for his scrap next Thursday night with Georges Carpentier. But this proposition was turned down by Firpo's local managers in favor of Atlantic City, where the South American is very popular.

TECS LOSE FOURTH STRAIGHT TO KAZOO

Indians' Rally in the Ninth Brought Score Up To Five.

SEE-SAW GAME

Special to The Advertiser.

Kalamazoo, July 22. — A ninth-inning clipper rally netted one run and threatened to score more, but the Kazoos tightened and won their fourth straight game from the Ontario visitors.

The game was a see-saw affair, the final result in doubt all the way. London took a 2 to 1 lead in the second inning, when Sandquist and Gehringer scored on a walk, a sacrifice, a single, a balk and Kernan's double. They held the one run advantage, as Kalamazoo pushed a counter across by scoring again in the third, the result of a pass to Tice. Gehringer's triple was stretched into a run, when Grimm let loose with a wild pitch and the score was knotted at four all.

Hal Elliott relieved Grimm and checked the Londoners until the heart-breaking ninth. Kalamazoo gained a duet of runs in the seventh on hard hitting, and as the ninth opened were leading by two runs. Sandquist singled and scored when Baker and Gehringer repeated his performance. With two runs waiting on the sacks and only one out things looked about ripe for a clipper victory, but Kernan lifted a foul to Pierce, and pinch-hitter Coogan rolled out an easy infield out and the big London chance was lost.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1924.

Britain and the Allied Conference.

The world hopes for the complete success of the inter-allied conference in London.

France comes to the conference without the full and substantial backing of the Chamber of Deputies or the Senate. M. Herriot, premier of France, is not the master of the situation, and the Poincare forces would gladly upset the London conference if by so doing they could be reasonably sure of upsetting M. Herriot.

France approaches the problem in an attitude that can be called distrust. She fears that in the working out of the plans whereby the Dawes report will cease to be an instrument on paper alone, and take its place as the machine for the unravelling of the German problem, she may lose some of the power secured over Germany in the writing of the Treaty of Versailles.

The British method of dealing with Germany, as compared to that of the French, finds a concrete example in the handling of German railways, which under the Dawes report would be operated by the Germans themselves. In the Cologne area, occupied by the British, the operation of the railways has been in the hands of the Germans, and the arrangement has been successful. In the areas occupied by the Belgians and French this has not been done, and even under the Dawes plan these two nations announce their intention of insisting on the retention of a considerable number of Belgian and French employees, so that the lines may readily be taken over in the case of emergency.

The British plan was to let the Germans go ahead and run their roads; they believed by so doing they could eliminate friction, and by placing responsibility on the Germans for the operation of the roads make them feel that they were regaining a position they had lost during and following the war. The best proof that the British idea was right is that the roads in that territory are successful, while those on which the Belgians and French insist on keeping a "considerable number" of their own men are not successful.

That is only one instance, but it serves to show the difference in the British and French mind in the handling of a similar problem. John Bull has looked around the world for quite a number of years; in fact his activities and observations run on into centuries, and he has learned that one of the greatest agencies in the creation of good will is the steadying influence of responsibility, fairly placed and fairly met.

It is the bringing together of these two divergent views that is the real problem of the conference at London—not simply as they apply to railroads, but to everything in connection with the working out of the future of Germany. Britain would stand back from the elbow of Germany, content to look over the monthly statement; France wants her men stationed here, there and all over, waiting for a report at the end of each day.

An indication of the sincerity of purpose of the British people finds expression in the attitude of Ramsay MacDonald, premier of Britain, who, prior to the conference, subjected himself to a strain that left him in a state of physical and mental exhaustion. Though a sick man, he was determined to go personally to Paris to clear up in advance the misunderstanding that had been created for political purposes about the intent of the London conference.

He rose from a sick bed and entered the train at Victoria in hot July weather, at one o'clock in the morning. Arriving in Paris, and with no rest, he entered a conference with the French premier that lasted until eight o'clock in the evening, a conference where he knew each and every word he spoke had to be carefully weighed and considered. There was a break of an hour and a half, when the discussion was taken up again, lasting until three in the morning. It was resumed again the next morning and lasted until after the noon hour, when MacDonald had to face the parliamentary gladiators of the Chamber and Senate at a luncheon, including the formidable and semi-hostile Poincare. This over, MacDonald, ashen in color, sick and weakened to the point of having to rest on a couch as he greeted the newspapermen, pleaded with them to rightly interpret the spirit in which he and M. Herriot had met to discuss the situation, concluding, "We are not magicians, but we are practical men determined to establish friendship between England and France. We need time, patience and a sense of generosity."

It was a physical wreck who returned to London at the end of a 36-hour period of the most exacting service. The desire of the premier to spend himself, and all the mental and physical energy he possessed, in order that the London conference might succeed indicates the importance the British people attach to it. It is one of the most momentous gatherings since the conclusion of the world war.

If Dugald Were Only Home.

White Indians, discovered on the Isthmus of Panama, have thrown the historians into a wild scramble. They have been running around peering into strange old books; others have been crawling up and down old family trees, paying particular heed to where grafting operations had been carried on, and prying into the termination of the topmost branches.

All this school of historians have felt that their reputation was at stake. They must tell the people who these white Indians were; as Pharaoh looked to Joseph to unravel his dream, so the populace was looking to these men to tell all about these strange people.

Now comes the word that they are of Scottish origin. Well, that is much in their favor. Some one has unearthed the fact that away back in 1698 some 1,200 Scots, by the authority of parliament, settled in Darien. Later they were driven off by the Spaniards to the jungles, where they remained, and no doubt made a very good living.

The thing is interesting. What form of business did they carry on, for as shrewd business heads the Scots can hold their own. And how was it that they never went back and chased out the Spaniards, for it is a fact, well propped up by historical records, that the Scots have been able to send Spaniards or any other people scooting when they set themselves seriously to the work.

Has the experiment been tried of greeting them with the words "Hello, Mac"? For it is a fact that one can stop in a crowd in any corner of the world and get an answer to that greeting.

Unfortunately Dugald Graham, our source of knowledge and inspiration on all things Scottish, is away out on the Pacific coast, probably recounting the glories of a Lobo picnic or the traditions of the Graham clan.

Thus the world will have to wait until Dugald Graham returns. He'll be able to tell in a jiffy if those white Indians are Scots.

Should Warn Cleveland Police.

L. C. Mason, who left Toronto about the same time as the much-wanted Charles Matthews, is reported as living in Cleveland.

What would happen if Mr. Matthews were in the same city? Would the officers there be able to catch him, or would it be found that the office buildings in Cleveland are built on the very dangerous plan of having two doors?

The provincial police in Toronto should warn their Cleveland brethren about this possibility. It proved to be their undoing in Toronto, when these officers were shadowing Mr. Matthews. He went in one door, and did not come out the same way he went in, therefore they concluded he must have gone out another door. Cleveland officers should certainly be made aware of this mean trick in architecture.

It is quite interesting to know that Mr. Mason is in Cleveland, but it falls a long way short of answering the question: "Where is Charles Matthews?"

The Work of An Expert.

A London girl, Jean M. Arkell, ran a typewriter for 15 minutes, doing 60 words a minute, without an error.

In 60 words of average length there are 280 letters. This means that, without including the space between words, her fingers would touch 4 2-3 letters each second, beside the time taken to turn the machine back for a new line.

In the 15 minutes the typist's fingers would touch the keys 4,200 times; add to this the 900 spaces between the words and it gives 5,100 motions of the fingers, or 5 2-3 per second, and each one correct.

The man who thumps away with one finger on each hand should paste this record in his hat.

No Cause For Alarm.

Attorney-General Nickle of Ontario has served notice that he will protest Premier King's move to alter the powers of the Senate. His statement is: "The government of this province is of the opinion that the Dominion Parliament should not act in the matter of obtaining constitutional changes without the sanction of the provinces to its proposals to the imperial parliament."

Mr. Nickle is generally regarded by the people of Ontario as being a reasonable person, whose judgment is sound, and fortified with a reasonable amount of independence.

His anxiety to have something to say about the matter of Senate reform leaves the impression that he spoke too soon, and without any knowledge whatever of the plans that Premier King has in view.

A perusal of the prime minister's statement at Ottawa leaves the impression that he proposed to employ the recess of parliament to a careful survey of the field. He will proceed along constitutional lines; of that there can be no doubt, for any changes must be of such a nature that they will be fully recognized by the proper authorities. Otherwise the new condition would be worse than the present.

There is really no need for Attorney-General Nickle to warn Premier King in this matter. He must realize the need of Senate reform as much as any other person. He can rest assured that there will be no great holes gouged in the constitution.

WHAT IS A BOY?

What is a boy?

He is the person who is going to carry on what you have started.

He is to sit right where you are sitting and attend to those things you think are so important when you are gone.

You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried on depends on him.

Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them.

He is going to sit at your desk in the senate and occupy your place on the supreme bench.

He is going to move in and take over your prisons, churches, universities, counting houses and corporations.

When you get done, all your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him.

Your reputation and your fortune are in his hands.

He will read the books you write or sell them to the second-hand man.

He will assume control of your cities.

Right now the future president is playing marbles, and the most famous actor of his day is complaining because he does not want to go to bed.

Not your contemporaries and fell-citizens, but the boys out there in the school yard, are going to say whether after all you were a grand and noble hero or a blatherskite.

It is the boy who will amend your rules, alter your creeds, laugh at your mistakes.

He may think kindly of you, and say you did the best you could, or he may not. Watch your step!

All your work is for him, and the fate of the nation and of humanity is in his hands.

So it might be as well to pay him some attention.

Ode To the Ice Man

We've got a ticket at our house, it reads in letters two by twice, it beckons to the husky man to leave us 50 pounds of ice.

When weather's coolish in the nights, and wind is sifting 'round our cot, it doesn't seem to make much odds if ice is carted in or not. Why on such days we're curt and cold, the driver gets no smile at all, we ain't concerned so very much, nor looking for his daily call.

But yesterday he didn't come, the horse had shed a shoe, I think, or else the engine in his gig had stuttered and gone on the blink.

The butter used to be a gem, a thing most good to gaze upon, but it became a limpin' thing, its form and fashion all had gone; it looked as though it had been out a-choppin' at a crop of hay, and comin' home had found a crock a-bustin' up the O. T. A.

The milk it stood around all day, the cream was sittin' down there too, they both got soured before the night, not knowin' just what else to do. I poured the stuff into my tea, being thirsty at the supper hour, and it came curdlin' to the top, announcin' how it had turned sour.

So when the weather's hot like this I change my tactics for a spell, and when the ice man comes around I greet him on the porch and yell; I ast him how's his folks today, and how he finds the time go by, and tell him that his chunk of ice is sweeter than a punkin pie.

For after he's come round again the butter takes new lease of life, no more we scoop it in a spoon, we cleave it with a carvin' knife.

Unto the ice man let us sing, we'll pen a verse in blue and red, we'll hold a chunk within our fist and nail another on our head.—ARK.

The Old Camp Meeting

(From the Rochester Times.)

Fifty years ago camp meetings of Methodists were common all over the north. Always they were in a grove or a bit of virgin woods, to which the faithful went for two weeks or a month for religious revival at services morning, noon and night. They were at once an outing and a change from the cares of business and other vocations in "God's first temples," the woods, which appeal in the hot season.

There are still large camp meetings at widely separated points, but for the most part they have been abandoned. Control of crowds who went to them for entertainment and amusement rather than for a renewal of religious fervor became too much of a problem for the smaller church populations to solve.

In the earlier days whole families went a day's journey on horseback to reach a camp meeting. Now it is hard to get them around a town or city block to Sunday services, to say nothing of a week or two of daily services.

Mr. Sousa Passes By.

Sitting in his room at the famous Willow Grove (Pennsylvania), resting after a concert, John Philip Sousa grew reminiscent and told us a story about his little daughter Priscilla.

Mrs. Sousa had brought the children up with a strict observance of the Sabbath. One Sunday afternoon little Priscilla ran breathlessly to her father and said, "Father, isn't it a sin to jump rope on Sunday?"

"It is generally classed as such," said Mr. Sousa.

"I know it is," said Priscilla. "Birdie Wilson says it isn't a sin, but I say it is," continued the daughter.

"Your mother thinks it is," said the famous bandmaster.

"I know it is," asserted Priscilla. "It's funny, isn't it, Birdie is eight and I am only five, and I know more about sin than she does."

No Finer Flavors in the Whole World

Southern sun goes a long way to make this land a better place to live in! It oversees the ripening of big luscious oranges; it helps to give the flavor to tart lemons and limes. These in turn, these juicy-ripe fruits, impart all their goodness to the CRUSHES—Orange-CRUSH, Lime-CRUSH, Lemon-CRUSH.

Drink your favorite CRUSH every time your appetite urges you to do so. Drink it slowly. Get all the flavor! Then you'll realize why the CRUSHES are the largest selling fruit flavored drinks in the world. They are absolutely inimitable! Ask for them everywhere you go—and get them in the Krinkly bottle at the ball game, at the club, at the recreation parks and all over town at confectioners, druggists, fruit stores, grocers. In fact, wherever drinks are sold you will find orange-CRUSH. And for your home, at meal time or for warm evenings—have a case on hand.

A Hint to the Hostess

You can serve delicious ice-cream sodas to your guests. Put the ice-cream in a glass. Pour in a bottle of their favorite CRUSH—Orange, Lime or Lemon and stir thoroughly to make it creamy. You'll pronounce it a perfect soda.

ST. MARYS WOMEN LOYAL LIBERALS

Account of Organization Given in Bulletin Sent Out by Miss Isabel Armstrong.

Miss Isabel C. Armstrong, formerly of this city, has been sending out an interesting series of bulletins from the women's division of the National Liberal Organization Committee, Ottawa. A recent issue describes the enthusiasm which prevails in the Liberal Women's Clubs of the province. And an interesting account of the St. Marys club is given as follows:

As many readers know, St. Marys is one of the most charming and substantial of Western Ontario towns, all "up and down hill," beautifully situation in the midst of a picturesque and fertile farming country. The fact that the Womens' Liberal Association, of which an interesting sketch is herewith given by the recording secretary, Miss A. Wilson, has survived for seven years would seem evidence that there is a place for such a women's political organization in the smaller as well as the larger towns and cities.

Organized in 1917.

Miss Wilson says:

"In May, 1917, about forty women of St. Marys met in the town hall to hear an address by Mrs. Hyslop, field secretary of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association. This resulted in the organization of the St. Marys Women's Liberal Association. Mrs. (Dr.) C. F. Smith was elected president and has remained in the office ever since, owing to the entreaties of the members who feel no one else could so ably fill the position.

"In the early days of the association, conveners were appointed to call upon the Liberal women in the different polling subdivisions to solicit their interest in the franchise.

"Regular meetings of the club are held each month and the season enlivened by the annual tea.

"We early decided that it was most important to acquaint ourselves with our form of government and to aid us in this arranged for the study of a chapter or two of 'Canadian Civics" at each meeting. The lives of prominent Liberals were sketched and their works discussed, amongst these Louis Joseph Papineau, William Lyon Mackenzie, Robert Baldwin and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"'Current events' have been discussed and a number of splendid addresses given from time to time by prominent local men. Amongst subjects presented have been the following: 'Problems in Government,' 'Proportional Representation,' 'Taxation,' 'Principles of Liberalism, 'Spirit of Liberty,' 'Protective Tariff,' 'Unrest in India.'

"Valuable assistance was also given by outside talent. Mrs. H. H. Carpenter, past president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, gave an insight into the workings of Liberalism, and Mr. Walter McRaye, a lecture, 'East Is West.' Dr. Rankin, of Stratford, gave a very helpful talk at one meeting on 'Why We Should Always Have the Party System.'"

CLUB NEWS

PILGRIMS' BAND.

Members of the Pilgrims' Mission Band of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church held their closing meeting of the season on the church lawns yesterday afternoon, welcoming back one of their leaders, Mrs. A. J. Chapman, who, through illness, has been prevented from attending meetings for several months past. The children enjoyed a splendid program, in which the following took part: Eunice Dye, Janet Mail, Helen Kelman and Minnie Leedham, all giving recitations; Jessie Duncan, Violet Howard, Eunice Dye, Janet Maul and Elva Kelman, songs; Mabel and Bessie Black, a duet, and Viola Phillips, May Duncan, Jessie Findlater, Bessie Black and Donna Dye, a chorus. Combined with the meeting was a shower of fruit for the Protestant Orphans' Home, and further plans were made for a shower of jam for the same institution at an early autumn meeting.

ASKIN STREET CIRCLE.

Members of the Senior Mission Circle of Askin Street Methodist Church met last night at the home of Miss Freida Dobbyn, Wortley road, holding their last session for the present season. Business included a letter of acknowledgement from Adjutant Holland of Bethesda Hospital regarding the nursery which has been furnished by the circle. Members have also been selling tickets for a raffle in connection with the Tubercular Veterans' Association, purchasing a number for the club. It was decided that if the winning number proved among these latter, the prize would be auctioned off and the proceeds devoted to the veterans.

What Is Feminine Beauty? — Dorothy Dix — Says Goodness Is Beauty, and Beauty Goodness.

A Woman Need Not Have a Classical Profile to be Beautiful—If Intelligence and Sympathy and Just Sheer Goodness Shine Out Behind Her Mere Features, Then She Has a Beautiful Face

A correspondent asks:

"In what does feminine beauty consist? What does it take to make a beautiful woman?"

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder, as has been truly said, and every eye sees it in a different way. What is pulchritude to one man is homeliness to another, and the peach crop of one people is the lemon output to another.

So it goes. Each to his liking, and no arguing over tastes.

The Japanese, for instance, consider nothing so hideous as a straight eye, except a straight eyebrow, and they see nothing to admire in our ox-eyed vamps. The Indians, accustomed to tiny veiled women, shudder at the sight of tall, bold-faced English and American memsahibs, with their free gait and independent ways. The Turks estimate beauty by the pound, and the more of it the better, while we favor living skeletons, who can slip in a tube dress without bulging it.

Speaking from our own standpoint, abstract feminine beauty is a matter of form and color and line. It consists of a symmetrical molding of the bony structure; of the subtle padding of soft flesh; of the delicate blending of colors. A beauty must have lustrous hair, classical features, a peaches-and-cream complexion, even white teeth; a slender, graceful figure.

But even these are not enough. They may give us a passing impression of beauty, but unless she has intelligence we grow as quickly tired of looking at her as we do at a picture that has no meaning. Nature lavishes its finest artistry in vain on the outside of a woman's head if it fails to put brains on the inside.

The beautiful but dumb are easy on the eyes for a minute, but that is all. We soon cease to see even the physical perfections of the dull and stupid who bore us.

There is still something more that a woman's face must have in it to make it beautiful. It must have a lovely soul behind it. No woman is beautiful, even if she has a face like the one that launched a thousand ships, combined with the wit of a Sappho, if she has a peevish, sullen, selfish expression. No eyes are beautiful if hardness and greed look out of them. No mouth is beautiful if there are fretful lines about it. Goodness and sweetness that make up the intangible of a noble nature have to set their seal upon a woman's countenance before she is really beautiful.

And this is why beauty belongs to no particular age, and why sometimes a homely woman is beautiful, and a beautiful woman ugly.

We think that youth has a monopoly of beauty and is the beauty time of life, but this is only true of women who have little intelligence. The morons and the near-morons are at their best from sixteen to twenty, because then they have the freshness and the prettiness of all young things. And they have the high animal spirits that pass for brightness. But when these go, as they do in time, all is gone, and the woman who was a beautiful girl is ugly in middle age and hideous in old age.

Not so the woman with brains. At twenty she may have been an ugly duckling, lacking all the charms of her dull, pink-and-white sister, yet as years go by, intelligence chisels her face into a beauty it never knew in her youth. Knowledge, wisdom, sympathy, understanding, shine through her face like an electric light through an alabaster vase and irradiate her whole personality.

It is only the stupid, inert, self-centered women who may fear to lose their looks as they grow older. The women who are vital, who are alive to their finger tips, who are interested and interesting, are nearly always more attractive at middle age than they were in their girlhood.

Often a great emotional experience will make a woman beautiful. We see this in the sudden flowering of a girl in love, when she takes on what often seems to be almost a physical transformation. There is a deeper look to her eyes, an added color to her cheeks, a softness and a glory about her that makes even a homely girl pretty, and that makes us say that happiness is the greatest beautifier.

And we have all seen the Madonna look on a mother's face turn even a rugged, hard-featured, ugly woman into almost saintly beauty. All of us think of our mothers as being beautiful, and the reason for it is because they have always had that look of ineffable, brooding love upon their faces for us.

Often just sheer goodness makes an ugly woman beautiful. There are women who have not one attribute of good looks; who are mountains of fat or are angular and ungainly in figure, who have little wisps of hair that they screw up into buttons on top of their heads; whose skins are harsh and leathery, and whose features are just features, badly assembled, yet who, for all of that, are beautiful because their souls are so beautiful.

When you look at them you do not see the faded eyes—you see the tears that have flowed in pity for all who mourned. You do not see the uncouth figure. You see the breast on which little orphan children have lain and been comforted and found a mother. You do not see the knotted hands. You only see the kind deeds they have wrought, and so these women wear a halo that sheds a glory about them that makes them more beautiful than the youngest and prettiest girl.

For in its last analysis beauty is goodness, and goodness is beauty.

Paris, July 23.—There is no doubt about it. Dresses are shorter each week, and designers promise that they will be knee length only, and that before autumn.

"SPOTTED" FOOTWEAR.

London, July 23.—Not content with shoes of various strange hides and colors, the manufacturers today are "spotting" footwear with a large number of brilliant splashes. The effect is distinctly batik, especially in bright blue on shoes of dark green.

COWBOY HAT FOR RIDING.

London, July 23.—Doubtless as a result of the American cowboy exhibitions here, the wide felt hat of the American plans has been adopted by some horseback devotees. It is worn by women as well as men, and hailed as a splendid protection against the sun.

FRENCH METAL ORNAMENTS.

New York, July 23.—French metal ornaments decorate many of the mid-season hats, especially those of semi-sports type. These ornaments derive their shape and coloring largely from the Orient, and are used to hold a swanky knot of ribbon in place or to simulate a buckle.

The Beltless Frock.

New York, July 21.—Though the beltless frock of today as translated into American styles is straight and slim as a wand, yet it has its mitigations. These come in clever pleatings at the sides, or in a swirl of ruffles.

Plain Dotted Swiss.

New York, July 21.—Plain dotted Swiss muslin of the old-fashioned kind is chic this season for anything from frocks to hats and underwear. To distinguish it from the Swiss of other years, this season's muslin is likely to be white with colors dotted.

Improved Demand For Steel Helps in Maintaining Good Prices.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 23.—With business reports becoming more favorable and money abundant the demand for stocks was unabated during the afternoon, although the rise proceeded in a more moderate fashion than heretofore. The market for public utility shares, which had to digest recent extensive profit-taking, was much better. American Waterworks and Electric being passed up 7 points and United Railways investment preferred 3½.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 23.—The continued flow of buying orders led to short coverings, which pushed prices up further as trading progressed. Improved demand for steel from selling centers reported by the weekly trade reviews outweighed the adverse "cost plus" decision of the federal trade commission as a market factor. An unexpected demand duplicated for the motor and sugar issues, and larger orders were executed in the gas, merchandise and chain store stocks. High-grade rails forged ahead. Gains of 3 to 4 points were recorded by South Porto Rico Sugar, Tidewater Oil and Union Tank Car. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

World's Silver

By MAX MORGENSTERN.

DESTINY OF SILVER.

One prominent factor in the effort to establish the principal silver market in the United States, aside from the fact that this country controls the major portion of production, lies in the stability of the value of the American dollar.

United States has in the person of Senator Key Pittman a most able champion of the protection of its silver cause, and it is believed that he is seriously interested in gathering evidence to show that the United States treasury is obligated further to recoin silver dollars in large amounts, on the theory that the use of silver in exchange stabilization was legal only under the Pittman act. Estimates of the amounts required for such a purpose vary from $13,000,000 to $56,000,000.

In summing up, the facts show a very healthy demand for silver, which presently is running ahead of production, while the prevailing tendencies indicate a very substantial increase in this demend over a long period of time, with the prospect that some nations may actually be forced into the market to buy huge quantities of silver. These really are the outstanding facts as I see them in the silver situation at the present time, and, in my opinion, this consequent indication of aggressive and competitive buying of silver without any material increase in supply will be the controlling influence on the market price of silver, and, in view of this, I look for a sustained advance in the price of the precious white metal.

STERLING SOARS HIGH AS RESULT OF PARLEY

British Money Reaches New Level As American Confidence Grows.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 22.—Growing confidence that the present inter-allied conference will pave the way for European accord on the Dawes' plan stimulated buying of sterling today, carrying the damand rate above $4.40, to the highest level of the year.

Today's quotation of $4.40⅝ eclipsed the previous 1924 high mark of $4.40, established on April 23, and represented an overnight advance of more than a cent and a half. Since the first of the month sterling has scored a gain of eight and one-half cents. French francs held steady, but failed to share in the brisk demand for British currency.

Canadian exchange was steady at three-quarters of one per cent discount.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Lespatch.

Winnipeg, July 22 — The wheat market displayed a heavier tendency today, and after opening about ½c lower, made further declines. July closed 2⅛c lower, October 2c lower, December 1⅞c lower and May 2⅞c lower. At the low point prices had declined almost 3c.

Trade volume was not large, but the market was under more or less selling pressure throughout the session, which found a very ordinary buying power, except on the extreme breaks, which caused a little reaction from the dips. Strictly lower cables and more rain in Manitoba and Alberta were given credit for the day's tendency, although conditions in the Saskatchewan dry belt were unchanged.

Given freedom from rust and early frost, and Manitoba now is thought assured of a good average crop. Southern Saskatchewan seems assured of a fair crop, but in the center and north conditions are very serious. Alberta should yield an average crop.

There was a good spreading business, with July inclined to lag during the latter part of the session. Cash grain interests continue to buy October and December and sell May in a fairly large way.

The coarse grains were all easier, reflecting the general market tendency. Trade volume was small, and demand was poor, with scattered liquidation in evidence at times. The flax market was steady to a little lower, with light trading. Buying power was very ordinary.

All grades of cash wheat, except No. 2 northern, were in good demand. There was a fair trade transacted in No. 1 and No. 2, with spreads ¼c better than Monday. Cash oats were a little easier, although offerings were not heavy. Not much interest was shown in barley, but there was a little better feeling in rye. Trade in flax is at a standstill.

Cash prices:

Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.37½; No. 2 northern, $1.34; No. 3 northern, $1.29½; No. 4, $1.21⅛; No. 5, $1.12⅛; No. 6, $1.01⅝; feed, 90⅝c; track, $1.33⅝.

Oats—No. 2 C. W., 47½c; No. 3 C. W., 45¼c; extra No. 1 feed, 45¼c; No. 1 feed, 44c; No. 2 feed, 42c; rejected, 39c; track, 47½c.

Barley—No. 3 C. W., 81⅞c; No. 4 C. W., 76⅞c; rejected, 73c; feed, 72¼c; track, 81c.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $2.30½; No. 2 C. W., $2.26½; No. 3 C. W., $2.00¼; track, $2.25⅛.

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 23.—Wheat quickly advanced in price today after a wavering start. The upturn was due chiefly to active buying based on announcement that a complete survey of crop conditions in Alberta indicated only 40,000,000 bushels yield this season, as against 166,000,000 bushels last year. Other estimates suggested that the Canadian Northwest as a whole would produce less than half the 1923 total. Opening prices, which ranged from 1c decline to 1c advance, were followed by gains all around.

Corn advanced with wheat. Besides, country offerings were reported to have been sharply curtailed. After opening ⅛c to 1c down, the market rose to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats rallied, influenced by the action of other cereals. Starting at ½c off to ¼c advance, the market soon hardened.

Futures opened:
Wheat—July, $1.26; Sept., $1.23⅛.
Corn—July, $1.04⅛; Sept., $1.00⅝.
Oats—July, 52c; Sept., 44⅞c.

Water Power —a Key to Industry

Mining

Millions of dollars worth of Canadian gold, silver, nickel and other minerals would still be lying deep below the surface of the earth but for the availability of economical water power.

Many mines are so unfavorably located that the cost of rail-haul on coal or untreated ore would be prohibitive, but thanks to adjacent water power they are worked at a profit.

This is only one of the many Canadian industries whose growth is being stimulated through the development of our greatest national asset — water power.

We have prepared a new booklet on Canadian Water Powers. Write for a copy

BRITTAIN READY TO MAKE REPORT

Makes Offer to Board of Education at Cost of $1,000.

AWAITS ACTION

If indorsation can be secured, a Brittain survey of the executive offices of the board of education will be started here after August 10 and will continue for two months. This morning information was received from Dr. Horace L. Brittain, director of the Citizens' Research Institute, noting that he was ready to go ahead with a survey next month if terms were accepted.

Secretary W. A. Tanner, on receipt of Dr. Brittain's letter to Chairman Campbell, sent copies to the various members of the board, but announced that it would be impossible to have a quorum of the trustees present for a meeting before the middle of August. If a vote could be taken by mail, there was possibility of sanction being gained. Over half the trustees are on vacation and others are planning holidays within the next few weeks.

"Even then," Mr. Tanner said, "I will be away on my holidays when they plan to start the survey. It would have to be postponed for a few weeks."

Letter to Chairman.

"The institute is prepared to conduct a thorough administrative survey of the board of education at cost, with a maximum figure of $1,500. Of this amount the institute is prepared to donate the sum of $500 from the funds collected in London so that the maximum cost to the board of education would be $1,000."

In this connection it is pointed out that in the first place a cost price of about $2,700 for the survey was suggested and that London donations would amount to $1,000. No reason for the cut in either figure could be given today.

Dr. Brittain goes on to say in his communication specifications for the work of the survey:

Sketch of Subject.

"The following gives a sketch of subjects which will be covered by the survey:

"Organization of board, bylaws, rules, regulations, office organizations, functions of officials, staff members (number, duties, co-ordination, etc.)

"Accounting and business administration. Records and reports through study in order to see if present system gives board fullest information required in shortest possible period.

"Purchasing and stores. System, prices, etc., financial program.

"The institute would be in a possession to commence the survey after the 10th of August, and it would take about eight weeks."

Dr. Brittain pointed out, inclosing that the purpose of the survey was to make a co-operative study with the officials of the board and that it was not an investigation."

SNORING GENTLEMAN PAYS HIS DRUNK FINE

States He Did Not Know the Officer Would Arrest Him.

An old man who has not been in court for some time "had a few drinks" yesterday and was arrested last night at King and Adelaide streets at 8:30 by Constable Berryman.

This morning he snored gently through a long police court session and, after awakening with a long sigh, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge.

"I had several drinks," he explained. "I just walked up to the policeman. I didn't know he was going to put me in jail."

The constable stated the prisoner grew quite abusive on the way to the police station.

"Ten dollars and costs or ten days," said the magistrate, who told the prisoner that the police would send out and cash a check for him.

GERMAN PARTY CALLS FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

Associated Press Despatch.

Berlin, July 23.—The German national party of the Reichstag has adopted a resolution, which it has sent to the government demanding that Germany shall not participate in the London interallied conference, except on an equal footing with the allies.

The party also demands that prisoners held by the French and Belgians be immediately released and exiles allowed to return to the occupied territories. In addition the resolution insists on the evacuation of the Ruhr, the restoration of German railroads, and the recognition of the authority of the German state.

INSURANCE COMPANY OFFICIALS ARE SUED

Court Action Taken Against F. C. Biggs, S. C. Tweed and Others.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—Acting for A. C. Partt and E. Austin, suing on behalf of themselves and all othes shareholders of the Policyholders' Mutual Life Insurance Company of Canada, Newton M. Young has issued a writ at Osgoode Hall against F. C. Biggs, former minister of highways, A. M. Fetherston, S. C. Tweed, Ontario Equitable Life and Accident Insurance Company, and the Policyholders' Insurance Company of Canada to set aside the agreement under which the Ontario Equitable took over the business of the other company. It is alleged that the agreement to amalgamate was obtained by duress. Damages are asked for loss of trade, business and profits resulting from the amalgamation.

The plaintiffs further ask that the $5,000 a year payable to A. M. Featherston, who was formerly general manager of the Policyholders' Mutual, shall be declared held in trust for the shareholders of the Policyholders' Mutual.

An accounting of secret profits, if any, is asked of F. C. Biggs, A. M. Featherston and S. C. Tweed, and damages for alleged conspiracy resulting in loss of profits.

An injunction is asked to restrain the Ontario Equitable paying further moneys to A. M. Fetherston.

CANADA'S GRAIN CROP LIKELY TO BE LARGE

Well-Known Grain Exporter Holds Optimistic View of Situation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 23.—A more optimistic outlook for Canada's grain crop this year is being taken by local grain dealers. Indications are that while the crop will not be nearly so large as it was last year, it will not be a failure.

James Carruthers, well-known grain exporter, estimated this morning, on reports received from agents in the west, that the western crop this year would be in the neighborhood of 300,000,000 bushels. While this is considerably less than last year, when the yield ran to 475,000,000 bushels, it is much more than was predicted earlier in the month.

"Of course much depends on the weather between now and the harvest," stated Mr. Carruthers. "But the Canadian west has wonderful recuperative powers, and it is surprising what a little of the right kind of weather will do when the crop appears to be ruined."

In regard to the predictions from Chicago that the Canadian crop would be a failure, Mr. Carruthers declared that this was propaganda, put out by speculators, and was greatly exaggerated. He also stated that the present high level of wheat would not last, and was due principally to false reports of Canadian and American crops.

SPEARING IS CLEARED ON SEPARATE CHARGES

Gerald Spearing, Blanchard Township, who appeared at Parkhill yesterday before Magistrate McKay on two charges, one of disorderly conduct and the other of assaulting a police officer, had both cases against him dismissed owing to lack of evidence.

The magistrate, after hearing five crown witnesses in the disorderly charge, decided there was a lack of evidence.

Town Constable Campbell, who alleged he was assaulted by Spearing on Sunday, July 13, stated he was not on duty at the time, and Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd refused to press the matter further.

motionless for periods of ten or fifteen minutes during the recital.

Loeb, however, frequently adjusted his stylish bow tie, moistened his lips with his tongue, and picked at specks on his sleeve. Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, sat quietly beside his attorney—chewing gum with apparent determination, but wholly without outward show of feeling.

Nathan Leopold, Sen., father of one of the 19-year-old intellectuals whose fate is at stake, sat within a few feet of his son, and next to another son. His brow was creased and deep lines of grief bore evidence of a parent's bowed spirit and heavy heart.

At one point the state's attorney alluded to evidence he would ask to "present to the court in private."

"The nature of the evidence," he said, "as will be seen and doubtless appreciated by the court, is such that it would be improper to reveal it in open court."

Darrow Comes to Defence.

"In the name of the people of the State of Illinois and of the parenthood and childhood of the state, we demand the death penalty for both of these cold-blooded and vicious murderers," said Mr. Crowe, in concluding his statement.

Clarence Darrow, 67-year-old veteran of the Chicago bar, the defence counsel, immediately attacked the Crowe statement.

"To describe the crime as the most atrocious and the most everything else in history," said Darrow, "is to draw upon the imagination of the state's attorney."

Crowe objected to the tenor of Darrow's remarks, and demanding a ruling from the court on whether it was time "for statements or for concluding arguments."

Darrow responded that Crowe had sought to stir up feelings and passion in his talk.

"We object that all evidence which the state offers is incompetent, and meant only for an appeal to passions and prejudices," Mr. Darrow said.

Edwin M. Gresham, uncle of Robert Franks took the stand and told of identifying the body of his nephew. He was not cross-examined.

Jacob Franks Called.

Jacob Franks, father of the murdered boy, was then called. He controlled his emotion well as he described the last time he had seen his son leave home for school. He gulped a bit as he told of recognizing the body in an undertaker's, the corpse of his own son.

He identified a pair of brown canvas tennis slippers as worn by the boy, with tan stockings.

A blue necktie with white stripes was recognized as "my boy's," as was a school pin. He identified, too, the ransom letters "sent by Loeb and Leopold" and signed "George Johnson."

The letter was read into the record. It called for $10,000, of which $8,000 was to be fifty dollar bills and the rest in twenties, "all old bills."

The courtroom of Chief Justice Caverley was the center of interest in Chicago today. But long before the two youthful prisoners came into court the big building which houses the community's trial courts was the mecca for hundreds.

Only a fraction of these could gain a place in the courtroom and only those who had business with the courts could pass the outer doors of the building, but scores of curious jammed the sidewalks.

The "court fans" had no chance today. Police guards at the building's portals, at the elevators and again at the door of Judge Caverley's courtroom kept them back.

But still the morbidly curious held their places on the sidewalk, but they were disappointed in their hope to see the two youths who had startled the country with an atrocious crime and then added to the sensation by pleading guilty. The two former students were brought from the county jail through a corridor connecting the jail and court building, thence by an elevator to the "bull pen," where they were kept until the court was ready to open.

There were newspapermen of every degree in plenty in the courtroom Telegraph operators, writers and cameramen, male and female, hurried into their reserved places.

MOTOR CARS MAKE BUSINESS BETTER

Canadian Credit Men's Association Official Gives Opinion on Subject.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—"I don't think that is is justified by the facts," said A. S. Crighton, secretary of the Canadian Credit Men's Association, today when asked if he agreed with the statement made yesterday by the secretary of the Quebec Retail Merchants' Association, that automobils injured business by reason of the fact that people were spending money on them rather than on merchandise.

"It is a matter of conjecture," said Mr. Crighton. "I don't know that anybody can say definitely that such is the case or is not. My own opinion is that the use of automobiles has led to the greater circulation of money. They give employment, and taking it all in all, business is better on account of the use of automobiles than if there were no such luxuries.

"Some people buy cars who haven't any right to them, and naturally they cannot pay their debts, but bills are better paid than they were before there were any cars. People have more money."

SCOTS PLAN TO REVIVE HIGHLAND CONTESTS

the pride and the memory of thousands of Scots.

Back of this movement are John Stewart, Captain Thomas Robson, Peter Graham, P. J. Watt and Dougal Graham. There are many others sons of Scots whose fathers have gone. They wish to keep alive the love for the old land and are putting games in the fore again.

Others at the back of the movement are: J. T. Casselman, and W. A. M. McPherson of St. Thomas, Dr. Paton of Dutton, Judge Duncan Ross, J. C. Elliott, K.C., or London, president of the Caledonian Society. Dr. George Fraser, Dr. George A. Ramsay, Dr. Nelson George, Major Chester Butler and a host of others.

They hope that other societies such as St. Andrews and the Sons of Scotland will join them in the movement.

The idea generally is to establish more Caledonan associations throughout Ontario, in order to preserve the Scottish traditions to encourage games and music and the dances of old Scotia.

Skirlo' Pipes.

To the rousing skirl o' pipes, Scots from London, Chatham, Ingersoll, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Stratford and Sarnia left for Port Stanley at 1:20 this afternoon.

It is expected that their picnic today will be the most successful in many years. There is a growing movement to revive the interest in the Caledonian games that were necessarily brushed aside during the fevered days of war. The revival has come. The clans are gathering.

Port Stanley today was the scene of tug-o'-wars of Zorras fame. Once again the Highlanders entered into the spirit of their games, the shot put, the quoiting and caber tossing.

Individual pipers from the land o' cakes thrilled the assemblage with wild strains of heather-born music. Scots of the old school and their sons joined in, recalling the memory of the blessed love for the old land.

Band Competition.

Their was a band competition between London and Ingersoll. Judge Murray of Toronto, one of the outstanding judges of Highland music, was present to decide the winner. The Hamilton band and the Windsor bands were unable to be present, but are preparing to take an active part next year.

The one-time popular sport of quoits was revived today. A game was played by George Bolton, London fireman, Captain Thomas Robson, county treasurer, and W. Reid of Delaware. At one time quoiting was among London's premier sports. It is coming back. Toronto, Woodstock and other cities have their annual tourneys and London is to see more of it.

It is expected that the 6,000 attendance of last year will be beaten. Middlesex, Elgin and Oxford will be well represented. Many are coming from the Border Cities and Toronto.

There were entries for the Highland dancing from Buffalo, Cleveland, Hamilton and other points.

Chief Robert Birrell of London police force was the starter for the grand tug-o'-war. The referees were the wardens of Middlesex and Elgin counties, with a third to be chosen from Oxford.

The Advertiser trophy for the best individual piper was played for. In the competition is a cup that is played for annually and remains in the possession of the winner for one year. A second cup goes to the winner and is to remain in his possession permanently.

HUTTON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

Toronto Magistrate Finds the Truck Delivery Could Not Avoid Accident.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Brantford, July 23. — Magistrate Jones, holding that the action of the child was too sudden to give the driver any chance to stop to prevent an accident, dismissed the charge of manslaughter against Wm. Hutton this morning in police court. The charge arose ove rthe death of Alice Kerr, three years old, killed when she ran in front of a delivery truck driven by Hutton on Park avenue. Evidence showed that the mother called to the child not to try to cross the street, but the youngster darted cut suddenly right in front of the truck. The magistrate held that no jury would convict on such evidence as the crown possessed, as it was plainly a case of unavoidable accident. He did warn motorists, however, to exercise greater care in the case of children near the road.

REGINALD R. MOORE,

The smallpox, he claims, has disfigured his face to such an extent that his business has been seriously affected.

PROBE IS OPENED INTO COLLISION

All Passengers From Damaged Ship Boston Continue Journeys.

Associated Press Despatch.

Newport, R. I., July 23.—The steamer Boston was lying beached here today, showing a gaping wound where the bow of the tanker Swift Arrow smashed into her port side, crushing three passengers to death and fatally injuring another, off Point Judith, ten miles south of here, just before midnight Monday. Of the 700 passengers brought to New York and Fall River, a score suffering from minor injuries, all continued on their journeys.

The dead were identified last night as Robert P. Schlemm of Boston, and John P. Schlemm of New York, brothers, and Mrs. Oscar Green of Brooklyn, N.Y., a bride of five weeks. Charles O. Copeland of Brookline, Mass., died of injuries at a hospital here after being rushed to port aboard the coastguard cutter Acushnet. The steamship Priscilla took 480 to New York and the steamers Commonwealth and Plymouth carried other survivors to Fall River.

Federal steamboat inspectors began an inquiry today to determine the responsibility for the collision.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 23.—"No meetings or demonstrations against war or anything else will be held in Toronto by people who are admittedly 'Reds,'" declared Mayor Hiltz this morning, when asked if the Communist Party of Canada would be permitted by the police commission, of which the mayor is chairman, to hold an anti-war demonstrations in Queen's Park on Saturday.

"We will not permit the 'Reds' to spread their propaganda here in any form while I am in a position to prevent it," said the mayor.

TASMANIA DECLINES TO FINANCE GOVERNOR

Is Only Obstacle in Appointment of J. O'Grady, Leeds Labor Member.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 23.—It is believed that the only matter standing in the way of an official announcement of the appointment of J. O'Grady, Labor member for Southeast Leeds, to the governorship of Tasmania, is the question of emoluments in view of his not possessing the requisite private means to supplement the official salary of £2,750.

VACANT LAST YEAR.

Associated Press Despatch.

Hobart, Tasmania, July 23.—An official statement was made today that the government of Tasmania does not intend to provide additional moneys for the governor's establishment.

The governorship of Tasmania had been vacant since February, 1923, when the occupant of the post, Sir William Lamond Allardyce was transferred to Newfoundland. The salaries provided for the governors of some of the Australasian states have been held to be insufficient to maintain the prestige of the position. About a year ago Colonel Sir W. E. G. A. Weigall resigned the governorship of South Australia because, as he publicly announced, he could not maintain his position on a salary of £4,000 a year. The government, therefore, decided to pay his successor £5,000 a year.

LIQUOR SELLING CHARGE DROPPED

Magistrate Decides No Evidence Submitted to Show Money Received.

WHISKEY RETURNED

Harry Pritchett, charged with keeping liquor for sale without a permit at 151 William street, was discharged in police court this morning after a session that lasted for over two hours and a half, the court stating that the defense had discharged any onus of having liquor for sale. W. B. Henderson appeared for the defendant.

Inspector Lucas, accompanied by Sergeant Middaugh and Constables Leach and Williams raided the place last Sunday at 12:15 noon and left with 17 full bottles of ale, a part bottle of whiskey and 58 empty ale bottles.

Pritchett was the only one of the seven men present at the party who was arrested, and he secured bail later on.

Four friends, who were in the house at the time, admitted having drink sof ale, but were most emphatic in the declaration that they did not pay for them, nor did they see any money passed. They had simply gone there for a party on Pritchett's invitation and were going to have a game of cards and an auto ride later in the day.

A case of a similar nature was heard in police court yesterday morning, when officers raided a house on Horton street where beer and whiskey were found. The court decided, however, that the onus of selling had not been discharged and fined Benjamin White $200 and costs.

Magistrate Gladman was not quite sure what could be done with the 17 bottles of ale owned by Pritchett, which he stated had been purchased from a Jew in the country some months ago.

Asks For Whiskey.

Pritchett stated, however, that he did not ask for the return of the ale, but the part bottle of whiskey belonged to his friend Mr. Thomas Boyle who owned the house, and he asked that it be returned. His request was granted.

Inspector Lucas stated he found the doors of the house locked when he arrived at the house. Seven men were in the dining room. There were two partly filled ale bottles and some whiskey in a jug. There was still some froth in otherwise empty glasses.

Three other men came to get into the house while the police were there.

Sergeant Midaugh stated he saw the defendant trying to get rid of bottles by taking them into a bedroom.

Pritchett denied that anyone had paid for any drinks. He had invited some friends in to have a little card party and afew drinks. He didn't see anyone throw been on the floor, and was positive there were no bottles on the sideboard.

Questioned By Chief.

Questioned by Chief Birrell, witness said he didn't always entertain on Sundays. He bought four cartons of ale six or seven months ago from a Jew in the country. Seven cartons, mostly empties, had been seized by the police, but he didn't know where the others came from.

William Clark, 12 Clark street, who was present when the police arrived, said he went to the house with Fred Pritchett and had a glass of ale and one of whiskey. He didn't pay for any drinks.

Evidence of a similar nature was given by Fred Pritchett, Frank Fralick and Austin Wort.

Chief Birrell declared it was a clear case as the evidence showed the doors had been locked, there had been a large amount of liquor there which had not been secured in a legal manner, and an attempt had been made to destroy the evidence.

"There is no evidence of money having been paid," decided Mr. Gladman. Witnesses for the defence say they never paid any money for drinks and have therefore discharged the onus resting on the defence. The case is dismissed.

Guelph, July 22.—Pleading guilty to keeping liquor for sale, Thomas Veroni, the fifth member of a family to be fined for breaches of the O. T. A. during the last year, was assessed $200 and costs by Magistrate Watt this morning. The charge followed a raid by provincial officers, when 27 gallons of alcohol was found on Veroni's premises, cached in a cavity beneath the bathroom floor. The liquor was ordered confiscated.

Then the troubles began. She left him in Paris and returned to New York, only to set sail again for Paris a few days ago.

COL. MORDEN ASKS FOR EXPLANATION

Wants To Know Why Foreign Material Used at Wembley Exhibition.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 23.—Col. W. Grant Morden, Conservative member of the British House of Commons, former Canadian financier, has set down two pointed questions on the order paper for William Lunn, parliamentary secretary for overseas trade, to answer in the House. They are with reference to the alleged use of foreign material at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley Park instead of empire material.

Col. Grant Morden's questions are as follows:

"Whether the parliamentary secretary for overseas trade is aware that by a clause in the agreement governing all contracts in connection with the British Empire Exhibition, inserted by the high commissioners of the dominions, it is specifically laid down that empire materials shall always be used, exceptions to be made only by permission of the high commissioners, and whether in direct contravention of this agreement, 50,000 square feet of Baltic timber is being used for the gallery for the pageant of empire?

"Whether Canadian opinion is so strong over repeated breaches of faith with the dominions in regard to the use of empire products at Wembley that the high commissioner for Canada has received permission from the Canadian prime minister to close the Canadian pavilion as a protest if he thinks fit to do so?"

We cannot say, and we will not say
That she is dead; she's just away
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered to an unknown land,
And leaves us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be since she lingers there.

PROVINCE ASKED TO AID STREET IMPROVEMENT

Ingersoll Deputation Waits On Government Regarding Financial Help.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, July 22.—For the purpose of interviewing the highways department in reference to the improvement of Charles street east in linking it up with the provincial highway, Mayor English and members of the council left for Toronto today. Owing to the enormous traffic, chiefly of the tourist nature over this street, it has been felt for some time that a portion of the cost of improvements should be borne by the government. The street is badly in need of repair.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP CURBED IN STATES

Former U. S. Railway Official Says Private Interests Too Strong.

COMPARISON MADE

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, July 22.—T. N. Jarvis of New York, former vice-president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, who, though retired, still acts in an advisory capacity for the company, is spending a vacation at the home of his sister, Miss M. Jarvis, 30 Nile street.

Comparing conditions here with those in the United States, Mr. Jarvis said that Canadian youth has a better chance for advancement than in the United States. Canada, as seen by Mr. Jarvis, is a young country, ideally situated for young men. The foreign element, which is retarding progress in the United States, is not so apparent in Canada, and consequently the country is much further ahead.

"While Canada's National Railway system inspires admiration, it is doubtful if it will call for any emulation on the part of the American railways," said Mr. Jarvis. "Private capital in the United States is too strong to make this possible. Government-owned railways are possible under one condition, and it is rather a remote one—the election of the Lafollette or radical party to power."

The separate school board has written the board of education that it is willing to allow the use of two rooms in St. Joseph's School for the use of collegiate pupils. With two more rooms available in Hamlet School, it is thought this will relieve the congestion at the collegiate institute.

ASSAULT CHARGE, CONVICTION MADE

Port Burwell Man Ordered To Stay Away From Family of His Wife.

FAMILY QUARREL

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 22.—Sentence was suspended on John Roberts of Port Burwell, and he was ordered to leave the village and separate himself completely from his wife and wife's family as a result of a court case heard in the village Monday afternoon by Magistrate Maxwell. Roberts was convicted on a charge of assaulting his father-in-law, David E. Wilson.

Rush Pavements.

Alderman William Stokes, chairman of the board of works, is making every effort to hurry paving work so that everything will be in shape for the Old Boys' Reunion. Concrete work will be started tomorrow on Meda street, following which Gladstone and Metcalfe street, now badly torn up, will be looked after.

Clifford Montgomery, six years old, ran away from the Children's Shelter on Wellington street Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Nothing has been seen of him since. Local police are on the lookout for him, but up to late Tuesday evening had found no trace of him.

Bethany Shrine Picnic.

The annual picnic of Bethany Shrine, No. 8, was held at Pinafore Park on Tuesday afternoon, with over 100 present. Supper was served in the new pavilion under the direction of Mrs. Eldert. Neil Marple was general chairman. Besides the regular sports program a baseball game was held, the feature of which was the umpiring of eight-year-old Merton Barrett. Both sides lost count of the score.

Race results:

Boys and girls' race, 5 to 7 years—Marion Saxon, Donald Saxon, Donald McDonald.

Boys and girls, 7 to 10—Charles Eldert, Murray McBain, Katharyn Hitch.

Boys, 11 to 13—Kenneth McBain, Jack Turnbull, Grant Swackhammer.

ONLY CHOICEST LEAVES USED.
While a tea plant in an ordinary garden produces an average of 5 ounces of tea in a season, on the best estates, where RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA is grown, the yield is much less, because only the choicest leaves are plucked for this very fine tea. HOSPITAL INMATES ARE ENTERTAINED

Westminster Boys Get Royal Treatment in Hands of Kiwanians.

More than 200 inmates of the Westminster Hospital were given a joyous ride and were entertained royally by the local Kiwanis Club last night.

After calling for the boys at the hospital, the members of the club drove them about the city and out to Springbank Park and back, finally stopping at the home of Ernie Moore, 98 Elmwood, where they entertained their guests.

The bulk of the play was undertaken by the Kiwanis, Ken Murray rendering his inimitable "shimmy dance," and Sam Amero and John McHale putting the top on the bundle of fun with an interpretation of Gallagher and Shean. The Westminster boys, not to be outdone, staged a sing song under the leadership of Dr. Towers that made the house resound.

Then came the refreshments. Huge baskets of good stuffs disappeared as if by magic.

Later in the evening the guests were bundled into the cars again and driven back to the hospital, loudly declaring their appreciation of such an enjoyable outing, and expressing their hopes that another diversion of the same type might be thrust upon them in the near future.

CHEAP ADMISSION TO FAIR EXPECTED

Finance Committee of City Council Approves $5,000 Guarantee Request.

HUCKSTER PROBLEM

Financial backing for the Western Fair board, to the extent of $5,000, was recommended by the finance committee of the city council at its session last night. Representation was made by the Western Fair board that a straight 25 cent admission fee could not be offered unless a guarantee was made by the city.

President J. H. Saunders, George S. Jewell, W. D. Jackson and A. E. Silverwood represented the fair board. Mr. Saunders reviewed the history of finances at the fair. Mr. Silverwood believed that it would be a mistake to go back to the old 50 cent rate of admission if it could be avoided. It was pointed out that, in spite of bad weather last season, attendance had quickly jumped with a reduction in entrance fees. All that was asked was that the city guarantee the fair board against loss.

"It's an educational venture," exclaimed the mayor. "We can find money to finance our public schools, our collegiates and our colleges. Surely we can find money for an educational thing like this." Ald. Smith asked what had been done concerning the sale of tickets in advance. He was informed that this had been done last year, and not enough tickets had been sold to pay for the printing of them.

"Mr. Mayor, I suppose you know where the money is coming from?" asked Ald. McKay, provisional chairman, when the mayor recommended that a grant be made.

"Well, we found the money before for other things. We'll find it when the time comes," promised his worship.

The vote was entirely in favor of the grant and the matter will be taken to the council at tomorrow's special meeting.

Old Noah Webster, master mind of definitions, fell back a few laps in the estimation of the city fathers when the finance committee last night failed to find the worthy book of use to them in settling technicalities in the market bylaw. They wanted to know what a "huckster" was, and Webster's information that such a person was one who "higgled, hawked or peddled" didn't just quite fit, neither did the announcement that he was "one who retailed trinkets." So Webster was abandoned, and the judgment of the committeemen was relied upon.

Last night's session was devoted chiefly to discussion of bylaws, though there had been no indication in notices sent out that the meeting was solely for that purpose. There was nothing except a difference of opinion on the matter for keeping the meeting later than two hours and a half and going on with other matters. As it was, another meeting of the committee was called for next Monday evening.

Delegation Heard.

Ald. Frank McKay was named provisional chairman when the session convened at 7:30 o'clock, Chairman Douglass being detained for part of the evening. A delegation from the Western Fair board was heard. City Clerk Baker asked for authority to subscribe for eleven copies of the new city directory for use in various departments. This authority was given.

Clause 12 of the Market bylaw, which has stood for some time, suffered the blue pencil, and on the motion of Ald. Drake and Ald. Smith it was decided to prohibit auctioneers from appearing on the market. Previously clause 12 permitted auction sales on payment of fee and within restricted hours. The committee noted that bailiff's sales would not be stopped by the deletion of the old clause.

Hard to Regulate.

Then came a half-dozen clauses further on in the bylaw which had to do with hucksters, butchers, drummers, wholesalers and others. Difficulty in defining the term "huckster," and difficulty in handling retailers who were not producers, was seen. It was hard to regulate those who were not bona fide producers along with those who actually raised the goods they had for sale.

"Throw the market open to them all," suggested Ald. Drake, as the line of least resistance.

Committeemen agreed that nothing could be done to cope with the so-called "huckster" question, except that they should not be permitted to buy produce on the market for resale there within restricted hours.

Mayor Wenige proposed that a shed be built or other space be found on the market for retailers who were not producers.

Duties Outlined.

The fire bylaw was reviewed and the duties of the chief and assistant chief were outlined. Stress was laid on the clause setting forth penalties for members of the force making complaints in other than the orthodox manner, which is through their superior officers, with the finance committee as the final court of appeal. The pension scheme for firemen was also gone over and changes in the payment plan outlined.

On the motion of Ald. Anderson, Market Clerk Maker was given two months' vacation with pay, due to ill-health.

A motion was passed, on recommendation of Building Inspector Piper and Chief Aitken, to have repairs made to the basement floor at No. 3 station on Bruce street, where concrete flooring will cost around $70.

SMALL BOY INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Cyril Love Is Cut About Head in Accident Last Evening.

Cyril Love, small son of Rev. A. J. Love, was severely cut about the head in an automobile accident at the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets last evening about 5:30. His father was driving south on Waterloo street, when a car driven by S. C. Pinder of East Rochester, N.Y., coming west on Dundas street, crashed into him at the middle of the intersection. Mrs. Pinder and her daughter were thrown out of the car, but were not seriously hurt, although they were bruised a great deal.

Rev. Love had slowed down at the corner to allow a team to pass along Dundas street, and was slowly approaching the car track, when the other car, approaching unseen crashed into him. It struck the car squarely in the middle, the impact breaking the glass in the window of Rev. Love's car, and this scattered all over, hitting the son and cutting him.

Mr. Pinder's car was not damaged to any extent, but Mr. Love's car was smashed badly. The running-board was torn off, three tires were punctured, several panes of glass were broken and a number of panels bent.

MISSING KIDDIE FOUND WITH KITTEN AND CONE

St. Thomas Lad Wandered Away From Shelter—Located At Lawn Social.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 22.—With a kitten clutched under one arm and an ice cream cone clasped in a dirty hand, Clifford Montgomery, 6-year-old inmate of the Children's Shelter, missing since early this afternoon, was found at a garden party tonight smiling and happy as though there was absolutely nothing more to be desired in this life.

Representatives of the shelter and the police conducted a thorough search for the missing youngster for several hours, but no trace of him could be found, nor does he give any connected story as to where he spent the several hours he was away. He says he found the kitten on the street and it was lonesome so he picked it up. Close friendship was quickly established, and boy and kitten were enjoying alternate "licks" of the cone when the identity of the youngster was discovered.

GERMAN BANKRUPTCIES SHOW MARKED INCREASE

Associated Press Despatch.

Berlin, July 22.—The ministry of commerce reports a marked increase in the number of bankruptcies in Germany, especially of unlimited partnerships. During the month of June the number of such failures was three times that of the May figures.

A constant decline in the labor market here is reported by the Berling labor office.
