THAW JEALOUS NOT INSANE

Jerome Believes The Case Against Thaw Is Strong

EXPERTS DRAG ALONG

New York, March 20.—Unless all signs fail, to-day will see the completion of the evidence of the long-drawn-out Thaw trial, and on Friday the case will go to the jury, after nine full weeks before the court.

Thaw's attorneys stated last night that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw would not be recalled to the witness stand. The only thing she could do would be to again deny that she told Hummel that she had been beaten by Thaw, and deny again that she knew what was in the famous affidavit when she signed it. It is not believed that this would be of any value to the defence, as she has already told all her side of the story. The attorneys for the defence state that they do not consider that the introduction of the affidavit has done their case the slightest harm, while District Attorney Jerome is quoted as saying that he considers it one of the strongest features of his case.

A Day Each For Summing Up.

Under the agreement, each side will stake one day for the summing up. It is probable that Justice Fitzgerald will charge the jury Friday morning, and the case should go to the jury Friday night.

Mr. Delmas, in his address to the jury, will urge the acquittal of Thaw, on the theory that he was temporarily insane at the time he killed White. He will argue that the defence has shown beyond doubt that Thaw's mind was unbalanced by the story which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told him before they were married, and that it was

- Millinery Openings -

To-day marks the advent of the Easter hat, and the local stores after weeks of preparation, are vying with each other in the splendor of their millinery showing. It is unnecessary to add that all of the stores have displays which will interest and fascinate the ladies who behold them. The Planet made its usual visits to the various showrooms yesterday afternoon, and through the kindness and courtesy of the milliners was given descriptions of several of the leading hats of the season.

C. AUSTIN & CO.

Among the first places visited was the millinery showroom at the Austin store. Well-lighted and spacious, C. Austin & Co. have an ideal millinery department. The show-room has been decorated with palms and ferns, and the hats have been so placed that they can all be seen to the best advantage. A window has also been prepared to show off some of the fine millinery.

The reporter was informed by the head milliner that one great feature of this season's millinery offerings worth mentioning, is the uniform excellence of designs. There is no fanciful striving after unusual effects; hence everything is becoming and wearable.

One very beautiful model shown was a draped proline hood on an inverted bandeau. Two feathers sweep the hair on the left side, with pearl daggers at the base.

Another elegant hat is a French chip mushroom, in pale blue tulle, forming a coronet, while a trailing rose vine of dark green falls from the centre of the crown to the hair. Dresden ribbon is used to trim the bandeau.

A very handsome black picture hat is the proline flat. It is adjusted on a high bandeau, and the crown is covered with point de esprit, over which daisies are scattered. Ribbon ties finish this unique design.

The Austin Company are also making a special showing in the dress-goods department during the millinery openings. In fact during the event, a sale will be on in almost every department of this big, busy store.

THE FOREMAN STORE.

The Foreman Store contains many beautiful surprises for those who have a leaning towards fashionable and exclusive millinery. The head milliner here very graciously left off her work for a short time to describe a number of the hats for the reporter.

The first hat shown was a beige shade—a chip, so-called prettily, and mushroom shaped, with a large Empire feather. Dresden ribbon is used on this hat, and gold ornaments. Maline trimmings are used on the bandeau. The coloring is most pleasing to the eye.

A white mohair braid hat in an all white effect was shown. White lace medallions are used on the brim, and quilling of French Valenciennes on the under braid. Two large plumes are placed on the right side. The trimmings are of white ribbon with hand painted pearl ornaments.

The third hat shown was a pale blue mushroom shaped creation, with a mohair braid rim, maline folded crown in sky blue shade, blue ornaments, and a white plume falling gracefully to the right side.

Last but not least, came a pretty black hat in a mushroom shape, made of black mohair braid, with pink roses around the crown, and a large black plume falling from the centre of the crown. Large, long loops of black velvet fall to the hair of the wearer at the back.

"Roses are used extensively this year," added the milliner, "and plumes will also be seen in plenty, while chape, Milan braids and mohair braids in black shades are very much in evidence. Black velvet ribbons, malines and a great deal of lace hold a prominent place in hat-building this season."

The Foreman Store is also making special showing of dress fabrics. One whole counter is given up to the display of the largest showing of nobby suitings in black and white and grey effects, in stripes and checks that this firm has ever made.

THE NORTHWAY COMPANY.

The Northway Company have made extensive preparations for the spring millinery event, and they have a showing which is indeed beautiful to look upon.

The reporter was told by the milliner here that there is a great sameness of style in the showings this season. The Easter hat is quite small, but as the summer advances it is likely that larger styles will be worn. Small mushroom shapes predominate in shades of tan, brown and Copenhagen.

A tan mushroom of satin straw was first shown. It is trimmed with a shou of brown and tan velvet.

This is a New York model. The Princess Ohio is a very small hat which is predicted will prove very popular. It is built of Neapolitan braid with tan and brown roses. It has a collar of ribbons of the same hues, and is finished with a cameo pin and maline on braid.

A very pretty thing is shown in a misses' hat. It has a Copenhagen shade throughout with trimmings of ribbons and lilies-of-the-valley. Another pretty misses' hat is of an olive green shade, mushroom shaped, and trimmed with a drapery of olive green ribbons and trailing grass.

The next was a lace hat in a mushroom shape, trimmed with American beauty roses. It has a short front and is filled in with brown maline at the back.

Another design which is deserving of mention, is a burnt leghorn hat, also in a mushroom shape. It is trimmed with Dresden ribbon in tan and pink shades.

H. W. BALL & CO.

A short time ago a man, named H. W. Ball, came to this city and established a dry goods business in Thibodeau's stand. He had push, energy and business ability, almost to spare, and the result is that he has established an enormous trade in a very short time. Every new idea in the business seems to be known by Mr. Ball, and he carries lines which he is able to conscientiously boost, and which give the greatest satisfaction and delight to the many patrons of his establishment.

The store at present presents a particularly bright and attractive appearance, it being the annual Spring Millinery season. Every inch of the space is made the most of in the way of decorations and displays.

The greatest attraction at present is in the Millinery department, and great preparations have been made for the taste-loving ladies of Chatham who will visit this store. The decorations are very unique, and something new to Chathamites.

In the centre of the show room is a large apple tree which spreads its branches over the entire room, creating a very pretty effect. The tree is in blossom, and the visitor cannot but imagine upon entering the room that he is transferred from a bright but chilly early spring morning to a warm, happy May day, and it does not require much more imagination to inhale the sweet perfume of the flowers and blossoms.

The milliners were too busily engaged this morning to spend much time in explanations, but a short conversation with Miss Watt, the head milliner, gave the visitor from the Planet some small insight into the different styles which will be worn this year. The mushroom shape is the favorite and is found in many shapes and colors. Turbans are also quite popular. All shades of colors are used and the effects this year are particularly pleasing. Black is shown a great deal. Flowers are also much used. It would be impossible to adequately describe the many hats here displayed, and it would pay every woman in the city to call at this store before making her purchases.

The cloak department is also a popular spot this spring. The firm has received all the lines of their spring stock and these are now displayed. Etons and suit coats are made up in especially pretty and becoming styles this year, and the very latest patterns are to be found in this store in the department just adjoining the millinery.

THE LABOR DISPUTES BILL

It Was Passed In The House
Of Commons
Yesterday

GOVERNMENT ACCUSED

Ottawa, March 20.—On the motion for the third reading of Mr. Aylesworth's bill, to regulate the export of electric power, Dr. Sproule asked that this stage be postponed until to-day, when W. F. Maclean (South York) would move the amendment, of which he had given notice.

Mr. Aylesworth was not aware that any notice had been given.

The House, therefore, proceeded with the bill, and R. L. Borden offered an amendment, vesting the licensing power in the Railway Board, instead of the Governor-in-Council. He favored enlarging the Board.

Mr. Aylesworth thought the Railroad Board already had too much to do. The amendment was lost on division.

Dr. Sproule presented the amendment of which notice had been given by W. F. Maclean, requiring the power companies to provide the same facilities in the way of transmission lines for the people of Canada as they furnish to the people of the United States.

Interferes With Export.

Mr. Aylesworth objected to the amendment as unreasonably interfering with the export of Niagara power. He opined that one company could supply all the needs of Canada. Then why interfere with the other companies exporting their entire output to the United States? It seemed a wasteful policy.

Dr. Sproule was unable to see how there could be any Canadian customers if no transmission lines were built in Canada. The Maclean amendment was lost on division.

Mr. Lancaster (Lincoln) proposed an amendment forbidding any export of power over above the amount retained in Canada, and also requiring a surplus of 25,000 horse-power to be kept in Canada.

Mr. Aylesworth would not accept the amendment.

Mr. Cockshutt believed that 200,000 horse-power could soon be consumed in Ontario. He anticipated the electrification of the present steam railways. Power could be produced at Niagara Falls for $5 per horse-power. Upon division the amendment was voted down—yeas, 38; nays, 102.

The bill was then read a third time and passed.

Labor Disputes Bill.

Upon the motion for the third reading of Mr. Lemieux's labor disputes bill, R. L. Borden pointed out that the railway labor disputes bill was sufficient, in his opinion, for preventing and settling strikes upon railways. The railway employees in the main were opposed to having saddled upon them this new legislation. At any rate, they demanded, and they had a right, to be heard.

Mr. Lemieux moved that the bill be not read a third time, but that it be referred to a special committee with instructions to grant a hearing to all classes affected thereby.

Mr. Lemieux opposed this. It was the duty of the state not to permit a strike upon any great railway system until after here had been a most thorough public investigation. He understood that another coal strike in the West was imminent, and it was therefore important to pass the bill as soon as possible.

Mr. Bourassa thought that this legislation was largely experimental. It would soon have to be amended. He would therefore vote against the Borden amendment.

He also protested against the pressure being brought on members of Parliament by the railway brotherhoods. He thought that the bill had been largely emasculated by the Minister for political reasons.

More Trouble Coming.

After some further discussion by Messrs. Devlin, Pacquet, Verville and Ralph Smith, the latter not only supported the Government's policy, but

Broken at Last

"The pitcher that goes too often to the well is broken at last" is an old saying and a true one.

In the olden times it was almost a calamity to break a jug owing to the scarcity of this much-used article and the value placed on it for its usefulness.

To-day finds us in a far different position as regards the many uses of this indispensable article.

The variety to-day is unequalled in the history of the potter's art.

We have jugs ranging in price from 5c up to 50c for the useful kind.

Of course the Royal Doulton's come higher, but they are works of art. We have them also.

SCALY ERUPTIONS COVERED HIS BODY

Itched Constantly—Scratched Until Blood Flowed—Suffered 10 Years—Doctors and Medicines Were Fruitless—Tries Cuticura and Is Completely Cured

BY THREE BOXES OF CUTICURA OINTMENT

"When I was about nine years old small sores appeared on each of my lower limbs. I scratched them with a brass pin and shortly thereafter both of those limbs became so sore that I could scarcely walk. When I had been suffering for about a month the sores began to heal, but small scaly eruptions appeared where the sores had been. From that time onward I was troubled by such severe itching that, until I became accustomed to it, I would scratch the sores until the blood began to flow. This would stop the itching for a few days; but the scaly places would appear again and the itching would accompany them. After I suffered about ten years I made a renewed effort to effect a cure. The eruptions by this time had appeared on every part of my body except my face and hands. The best doctor in my native county advised me to use arsenic in small doses and a salve. I then used to bathe the sores in a mixture which gave almost intolerable pain. In addition I used other remedies, such as iodine, sulphur, zinc salve, and the Salve, but it did no good. A few months after, having used almost everything else, I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment, having previously used Cuticura Soap and being pleased with it. After using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and my hair was restored, after fourteen years of suffering and an expenditure of at least $50 to $60 in vainly endeavoring to find a cure, I shall be glad to write to any one who may be interested in my cure. B. Hiram Mattingly, Vermilion, S. Dak., Aug. 18, 1906."

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's Two Leading Medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alternative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels, bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or worst cases of these diseases it is often successful in effecting a cure.

"The Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of all cases of female weakness, nervousness, derangements and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve-strengthening agent, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the breakdown, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the system, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into "Doctor Pierce's medicines" by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

THE MODUS VIVENDI.

Government Treatment of Newfoundland and Severely Criticized.

London, March 19.—(C. A. P.)—In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Lyttelton said, respecting the Newfoundland fishery controversy, that while admitting it was impossible to ignore the United States case, there was a grave issue which was likely to lead to friction and solution unless it was settled. No prejudice ought to arise in future through making the modus vivendi.

He complained of the pathetic and negligent manner in which the Government treated the matter. He declared the Government ought at once to have consulted the colony, and both together ought to have framed such a policy as would, if possible, have been acceptable to the United States.

If not, the policy ought at any rate to have been acceptable to Newfoundland, Britain, he complained most seriously, was the country of the Government which had allowed themselves to be placed in a position of conflict with the colony.

Mr. Winston Churchill, defending the Government, said the provincial arrangement was without prejudice, and was absolutely necessary if the fisheries were to be settled in a peaceful manner. He denied that the Government had prejudiced the permanent interests of the colony.

The Solicitor-General said Newfoundland was fully consulted. The United States displayed the greatest possible anxiety to reach a reasonable arrangement, and had met the Government fairly.

Previous to the discussion Earl Grey declared he regarded the settlement as temporary.

The Chronicle says the Newfoundland discussion only indicates the need of an improved imperial organization.

The Leader asks: Does Mr. Lyttelton seriously maintain that our relations with the United States ought to have been imperilled rather than to violate the sanctity of the Newfoundland Legislature's statute-book when the statutes were aimed deliberately at the States?

SAVE NATIONAL CREDIT.

Government to Reduce Expenditure and Strengthen Sinking Fund.

London, March 19.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Government was questioned by Unionists and other members on the low prices of consols in the attempt to draw the inference that the decline in British credit was coincident with the attempts of the Government in 1885 to grant home rule to Ireland.

The Ministers ignored the insinuation, but, in reply to a question by Sir Howard Vincent, Conservative, as to whether steps were contemplated to restore the national credit, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Asquith, said that, while the Government fully recognized the serious character of the decline in consols, it could not accept the statement that the credit of Great Britain was lower than in memory of the living.

Many of the causes leading to the decline in British Government stocks, and of most other high class securities during the last ten years, were international in their operation and independent of Government control.

On the other hand, the enormous increase in the national debt, the neglect to make adequate provision for the redemption of the national debt and the freedom with which new obligations were created undoubtedly affected the national credit.

The steps the Government proposed were to reduce the expenditure, strengthen the sinking fund and, as far as possible, borrowing for current expenditures.

MORE COSTLY WRECKS.

Two Mail Steamers on the Rocks—But All Lives Saved.

London, March 19.—Details received yesterday of the disaster to the White Star Liner Suevic, homeward bound from Sydney, N. S. W., by way of Cape Town, with nearly 600 passengers and crew on board, show that she struck the Brandies Rocks close under the Lizard Lighthouse at about 10.30 Sunday night, and will probably be a total wreck. Lifeboats and tugs from the Lizard and Falmouth soon reached the scene, and together with the Suevic's own boats, commenced landing the passengers. The women and children were first sent ashore. There were no fewer than 100 children on board, many of them being babies in arms, whom the local fishermen and the crew lifted out of the boats and carried through the surf to near-by cottages.

Rescued With Breaches Buoy.

London, March 19.—Almost within sight of the wrecked White Star Line steamer Suevic, the Elder Dempster Line steamer Jebba, from Calabar, Lagos and other ports in Africa, and for Plymouth and Liverpool, ran on the rocks under the cliffs near Prawle Point early yesterday morning.

Her seventy passengers, many of whom were soldiers invalided home from the west coast of Africa, and her crew were safely taken ashore by the breeches buoy. Heavy seas were breaking over the steamer, rendering the lifeboats, which are standing by the vessel, useless. The Jebba will prove a total loss.

Level Crossing Accident.

Preston, March 19.—A team of horses attached to a wagon containing two men was struck by the 11 o'clock Grand Trunk train yesterday morning at Groh's crossing, between Preston and Hespeler.

A man by the name of R. Johnson, said to be from Berlin, was badly hurt and taken to Galt Hospital. The other man, name unknown, escaped. The horses were killed and the wagon smashed.

New St. Lawrence Service.

Portland, Maine, March 19.—By the leasing of wharf property in this city for a long term of years, arrangements have been completed for a new line of steamers to run between this port and the St. Lawrence River.

The line will be used to bring down large quantities of pulpwood from the Canadian provinces.

PASTOR AND PEOPLE FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE

OFFICER'S DESPERATE STRUGGLE WITH A LEOPARD IN INDIA.

Was Returning From a Day's Hunt, When the Infuriated Beast Attacked His Wife—Could Not Shoot For Fear of Killing Her—Grapples With the Animal and Finally Overcomes It Without Aid.

The story of an officer's desperate encounter with an infuriated beast comes from Lucknow. Lieut. Col. Hutchinson, of the Second Gurkhas, had a thrilling fight with a leopard, which attacked his wife while on a shooting trip near Dehra Dun.

They were returning after a day's shooting, and the beaters had gone on some distance ahead. Mrs. Hutchinson was walking about ten yards in front of her husband. She deviated slightly from the path, and surprised a young leopard, which immediately attacked her.

Col. Hutchinson instantly raised his rifle to shoot the beast, but dared not fire for fear of wounding his wife. Then, seeing that the only way to save her life was to drag the leopard off, he dropped his rifle and attacked the beast with his hands.

A Desperate Fight.

The leopard first attempted to seize his arm, but missed, and Col. Hutchinson was able to keep it at bay while his wife rose and ran to call the beaters. Meanwhile, the animal sprang again on Col. Hutchinson, and a desperate fight between the man and the beast followed.

Col. Hutchinson eluded its spring with marvelous agility. He made several attempts to regain his rifle, but the leopard was on him before he could pick it up. Then he thought of his revolver, and was placing his hand on his hip to draw it, when the leopard sprang on him again and seized his right arm. Desperate as the position was, Col. Hutchinson did not give in, and, although he was suffering terrible agonies, he grappled with the beast. They rolled over several times, the leopard still clinging to its hold on his arm.

Rifle Does the Work.

At last Col. Hutchinson freed his arm and succeeded in getting his revolver. Then he shot the leopard in the chest. The animal let go its hold, but the shot had only blinded it. Before it could spring on him again Col. Hutchinson had gained possession of his rifle, and succeeded in killing the beast just as the first of the beaters came back.

Col. Hutchinson was by this time so exhausted from loss of blood and the struggle that he was in a state of collapse. He was carried back to his bungalow, and his arm, which was terribly lacerated from the shoulder to the wrist, was attended to.

He is now progressing favorably.

BARBARIC RELICS FOUND.

Massive Bracelets and Armlets of Solid Gold That Once Adorned Warriors Bold, In Good Preservation.

Workmen engaged in a sandpit at Crayford, Kent, England, have unearthed a number of massive bracelets or armlets of solid gold, supposed to be portions of the barbaric ornaments of ancient British chiefs.

The supposition that the sandpit was the burying place of the chiefs is supported by the discovery of bones at the same spot and of weapons of stone and flint close by.

The armlets were found at a depth of three or four feet from the surface. Their value as gold alone is estimated to be from $1,250 to $1,500, but their antiquity and historical associations make them priceless.

They are in a perfect state of preservation, and bear inscriptions on some of the jewels, which have not yet been deciphered. Experts are of opinion that they date from a period long before the Christian era.

They have been deposited at Scotland Yard as treasure trove, and are now the property of the Crown.

In May last eight similar bracelets were found near the same spot, and the finders received as their share of the treasure trove a sum equal to about $110. Those bracelets are now in the British Museum.

Ventilating London.

Skyscrapers were advocated by Mr. A. Hudson, at a lecture at the Surveyors' Institution, for the purpose of ventilating London.

The best natural ventilator of London, said Mr. Hudson, was the Thames. The London parks were also most important ventilators.

The action of motors in stirring up germ-laden dust was a very serious item. In future, windows in many streets might have to be used purely for the admission of light. In that case the ventilation would chiefly have to be derived from shafts running down the middle of the house.

Mr. Hudson thought that tall blocks of buildings here and there throughout London would constitute healthy resorts for those who lived in the upper stories, whilst those who lived in the lower buildings would have the ventilation of their houses vastly improved by the eddies round these lofty buildings.

Fear In Children.

An examination of 1,500 children recently made in the west shows that thunderstorms are by far the worst terror of childhood. Afterward, in the order set down, come snakes, strangers, darkness, fire, death, disease, wild animals, policemen, water, insects and ghosts. In the fear of rats and mice girls exceed boys in the ratio of seventy-five to sixteen. In boys fear begins to diminish after the fifteenth year, in girls after the eighteenth.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

As was exclusively mentioned in The Planet yesterday, A. R. McCoig, M. P. P., was taken suddenly ill in the Legislature yesterday, and had to leave for his hotel. Last night, he returned from Toronto, and he is at present at Mayor Stone's residence on Cross street. He was reported to be still unimproved today.

MILLINERY OPENINGS

THE GORDON STORE.

Hats, hats, pretty hats for pretty faces, beautifying the beautiful, transforming the plain into attractive prettiness. Such are Gordon's gorgeous, gregarious gatherings of the leading and most advanced Parisian and American models, which are sure to completely capture the approval of the most fastidious millinery connoisseurs of our city. There are just a very few descriptions:

A pretty hat is of black mohair; the crown is trimmed with black velvet and an ostrich feather pom-pom, having an aigret springing from the centre; the left side of the hat is trimmed with ruche of black tulle and knots of black velvet ribbon.

Then this rich golden brown rustic straw shape, decorated with dark and light brown ostrich feathers and back of brown velvet, ornamented with a gilt buckle.

Another is a bewitching inverted shape of white marshmallow straw; the brim faced with violet velvet. A band of velvet trims the front of the hat. The very becoming mushroom shaped hats will no doubt become great favorites as the weather warms up. Remember, the leading colors are Nankin, Copenhagen Blue, Leather, Apple Green, Blue and Rose. Waving plumes are much admired and will be generally worn on many styles of head-wear.

Did time and space allow, much more could be said, but if what you have read puts it into your head to visit Gordon's for your spring millinery, they can assure pleasure and satisfaction in your every purchase.

THOMAS STONE & SON.

The spacious millinery department situated on the first floor at Thomas Stone & Son's was the scene of great activity this morning. The showing in this department this year, is one of the finest the firm have ever made, and the display reflects great credit on Mrs. McGregor, who is again in charge, and her assistant, Miss Auld.

Among the leading shapes shown is the "Envelope," which has a narrow front, with long drooping effect at the back. The mushroom hat is also conspicuous among those shown. It has a flat crown with a drooping brim, the same width all around.

The magnificent plumes on a picture hat in black chip, immediately catch the eye of the visitor. They sweep across the front of the hat, from the right side, and encircle the entire brim, training from the back of the shape, and terminate in a graceful full head. A wired bow of velvet ribbon is placed at the mounting of the plume, thus completing one of the season's most satisfactory picture-hats.

The most popular shape this season is the envelope with a narrow front and long drooping effect at the back. One model of this style was shown in a grey chip, trimmed with grey feathers and shaded old rose roses. The bandeau is trimmed with grey tulle.

The helmet shape is quite an attractive design. It is made of pink roses, and the facing is draped with deep folds of tulle. On the left side is a spray of field grass and a cluster of bluebells. The bandeau is trimmed with shaded green roses and blue braid.

A smart little turban, trimmed with ox-eyed daisies, is much admired, the shape having a slightly drooping brim, and a round, Derby-like crown, made of Copenhagen blue braid.

Mention must also be made of a legion hat with a crushed crown of roses and ribbon. The front is ornamented with two daggers, which hold the front close to the bandeau, which is trimmed with a large bow, falling gracefully on the hair.

This store is showing the mushroom sailor in tan shades. This hat, which is considered to be the latest novelty, is in a "drooping effect," trimmed with a collar band, and banked underneath with roses.

SCHOOL HOUSE BURNED

The Public school at Charing Cross was completely destroyed by fire last night. Fire broke out at seven o'clock in the evening from the stove. Sparks are thought to have been thrown out and alighting on some kindlings started the blaze. The school was a brick building and has been standing for twenty-five years. It was fully equipped with library, globe, etc., and also contained a number of school supplies belonging to students and teacher. The value of the building was $3,500 and the loss is covered by an insurance of about $2,000.

PRISONER SCORED

Convicted of Heinous Offence He Is Sentenced to Twenty Years.

Brandon, March 20.—A severe sentence was pronounced on Jesse Periman, an English farm laborer, convicted on a charge of outraging an 11-year-old girl.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Richards said: "Considering the horrible circumstances, I may say I seriously thought of ordering you to be hanged, and though I am not doing so, I may tell you that murder is not more deserving than that heinous crime with which you are charged. Unfortunately I can't emphasize your sentence by flogging. Why the Legislature has not made such a provision under this count I can't say, but I greatly regret I cannot order you to be flogged three times during your term of imprisonment. I order you to be imprisoned in Manitoba Penitentiary for 20 years."

FIGHT AGAINST HOME RULE.

Unionist Campaign Was Formally Opened Yesterday.

London, March 20.—The Unionist campaign against the legislation, which the Government proposes to introduce after Easter, giving partial Home Rule to Ireland, was formally opened yesterday. A strong depiction of residents of Ulster, including about fifty leading anti-home rulers, headed by the Duke of Abercorn and Lord Lansdowne, had a conference with A. J. Balfour, the Opposition leader, and urged the necessity for an active propaganda to combat the Government's Irish policy. Mr. Balfour declared himself authorized to pledge every member of the Unionist party to fight everything in the nature of Home Rule. He added, that he believed the sentiment of the country had not varied on the subject since the defeat of the late Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule measure.

FRENCH TROOPS IN ACTION.

Paris, March 20.—The Echo de Paris publishes a despatch from Kona-ke, capital of French Guinea, West Africa, saying that a French column suffered a serious reverse in Upper Guinea while attacking the Thomans tribesmen, who were strongly fortified in a village. Seven French officers were badly wounded and eight sharpshooters were killed and 25 were wounded. The column entrenched itself and is now awaiting the arrival of artillery.

Mr. Zimmerman has been pressing upon the Department of Justice this matter for a considerable time past. The order for release went to the Governor-General yesterday.

Peasants in Revolt.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 20.—The Agrarian movement in North Moldavia, where the peasants are in revolt against the exactions and tyranny of the large landowners, was recently voted by the Roumanian Parliament, is rapidly spreading, and is causing much anxiety to the Government. The Town of Botosani was raided Monday by two thousand peasants, who plundered the Jewish quarter and maltreated the Jewish storekeepers. Troops have been sent there and to other points where disturbances have occurred. The Government is preparing to take energetic measures to suppress the agitation.

Mr. Armstrong (East Lambton) then offered an amendment excluding the railway employees from the operation of the act.

HAVE YOU A WEAK BACK?

DOES RHEUMATISM OR NEURALGIA TORTURE YOU?

ZAM-BUK WILL GIVE SPEEDY RELIEF.

Has the trying March weather brought on your Rheumatism or Neuralgia, or put an ache into that weak back of yours? If it has, remember the aching relief will give you speedy relief. Zam-Buk contains valuable herbal essences so refined and concentrated, so searching and so powerful, that a little rubbing enables them to penetrate diseased or inflamed muscles, nerves and tendons. That ache in limb or back means that the muscles and nerves are needing help. They have "caught cold"—the nerves are "starved"—irritated, inflamed. Your body is a wonderful machine and it sometimes needs a little lubrication. What proper lubrication does for an over-heated machine bearing, Zam-Buk will do for a joint or nerve which is inflamed, or heated, or sore, or aching, because of cold, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc.

Mrs. John Sidstone, of Swan Valley, Man., says: "I have proved Zam-Buk to be a sure cure for rheumatism. It gave me such relief that I would not be without it in the house."

For cold in the chest, catarrh in the head, etc., Zam-Buk rubbed well in to chest and forehead gives quick relief. Besides its uses as an embrocation, Zam-Buk heals chapped hands and cold sores, eczema, poisoned wounds, scalp sores, itch, barber's rash, blood poison, pimples, boils, Spring eruptions, etc. It also stops bleeding and cures piles, fistula, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price; six boxes sent for $2.50. Send 1c stamp for postage of free trial box.

THE THAW TRIAL

while in a condition of mental irresponsibility that he took White's life. He will attempt to discredit Abraham Hummel, who has testified that Evelyn Thaw told him everything that was in the affidavit, by showing Hummel's record.

Jealous Man's Revenge.
District Attorney Jerome will urge the conviction of Thaw for murder in the first degree. He will claim that there is nothing in the case to show that Thaw suffered from anything more than jealousy, and that his hatred for White, who had been his wife's lover before he married her, with full knowledge of this fact, led him to revenge himself by taking White's life.

The case has been fought to the last ditch by both sides, and what the jury will do no one can tell. In case of a conviction there will, of course, be an immediate motion for a new trial. Mr. Delmas has saved all his exceptions, and his constant objecting may have served to inject reversible error into the case.

The Trial Drags.
District Attorney Jerome yesterday morning continued his cross-examination of Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, one of the alienists for the defence.

"In your answer to the hypothetical question, doctor," began Mr. Jerome, "did you interpret the question in the light of facts which are outside the question?"

"Why, in a way, certainly," answered Dr. Jelliffe. "My knowledge of the alphabet allowed me to read the question, but there is nothing about that in the question."

The cross-examination dragged along at great length, and was something of a surprise in view of Mr. Jerome's expeditious handling of the experts Monday.

Thaw is holding up remarkably well, but said yesterday that he, too, was beginning to feel completely tired out. He asked permission yesterday to retire for five minutes, and when he reached the corridors leading to the prisoners' pen, lighted a cigarette and walked briskly up and down.

During the cross-examination of one of the experts at the afternoon session, Thaw's prison guard created much amusement by falling asleep in his chair.

He slumbered for several minutes, with his chin on his breast, before one of the court attendants gave him a sharp nudge. The guard rubbed his eyes and looked sheepishly about. He stood up during the remainder of the session.

When Dr. Evans, the last of the experts stepped down, Delmas asked permission to introduce in evidence one of the letters sent from Pittsburgh by Mr. Lyon. Jerome objected, unless all the letters were admitted.

The point was still being argued when adjournment was taken fifteen minutes later than usual.

Thaw Sends Cheque.
Pittsburg, March 20.—Mayor G. W. Guthrie of this city received the following letter from Harry K. Thaw yesterday, in which a cheque for $100 was enclosed to aid persons suffering from the flood of last week.

"Owing to demands upon me," I can only send $100 toward the relief of the sufferers by the unprecedented flood. A cheque for that amount is enclosed."

The mayor replied that no fund had been raised in Pittsburg, but that one had been raised in Allegheny, and asked what disposition should be made of the money.

WOMEN NOT TRUTHFUL

This Statement Has Been Unjustly Made, Because Modest Women Evade Questions Asked by Male Physicians.

Mme. Alfred Arcand Zula Ecclison

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physician." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked, even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

Is it any wonder, then, that women continue to suffer and that doctors fail to cure female diseases when they cannot get the proper information to work on?

This is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To her they can and do give every symptom, so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients, through her correspondence with them than the physician who personally questions them.

If you suffer from any form of trouble peculiar to women, write at once to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will advise you free of charge.

The fact that this great boon, which is extended freely to women by Mrs. Pinkham, is appreciated, the thousands of letters received by her prove. Many such grateful letters as the following are constantly pouring in.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

MAKE YOUR WILL.

Judge Winchester Gives a Practical Talk On How to Make a Will and Why to Do It Now.

For over an hour on a recent Friday night His Honor Judge Winchester held the close attention of a large audience of men at the Toronto Y.M.C.A. whilst he spoke to them on the subject of "Wills and Descent."

He said that most men put off their will-making till the approach of death, from the time of Ezekiah, whom Isaiah exhorted to "put his house in order," because he was about to die, right down to today. He showed the difference between the English and Canadian laws, and said that under our laws a will can be written by anyone, it can be written in any language, either with pen or pencil; it can be printed or lithographed, so long as it clearly expressed the desire of the testator. Therefore it was important that the language should be clear and concise.

A will can only provide for the disposal of properties after death, and should therefore always provide for an executor or executors. Sometimes a noble excitement a person might forget this, and such an eminent lawyer as the late Charles Durand forgot to provide for an executor in drawing up his own will.

A will must also have two witnesses and the testator and the two witnesses must all be together when each signs. This is absolutely necessary, and any deviation destroys the will. It was vital that the testator should be in a position to see the witnesses sign, and even a blind man must be placed in such a position as would enable him to see if he has the sight, and there have the will read over to him. Thus a blind man could make a good will; a blind and mute man could make a good will; but a blind, deaf and mute man couldn't. If a man makes a will before his marriage, he had better make another after, for the marriage destroys it. A married woman can make a will and dispose of her own property.

A person under age can neither make a will nor act as an executor. An insane person cannot make a will, unless in a lucid interval between his insanity. The soldier on active service and sailors on the high seas were two privileged classes. They could make out a verbal will and the two witnesses who had heard the deceased's instructions could file affidavits, which would constitute a good will.

Sometimes a man forgot some of his property in making out his will, so that it was always wise to add, "and the rest and residue of my estate I bestow, etc."

It was not wise to leave a will in a drawer or about the house. The method was to deposit it with the surrogate registrar of the county.

Wills were often attacked, but rarely successfully, except in cases of fraud. The courts were always anxious to carry out the evident wish of the testator. Sometimes people, through their own weakness, were difficult to deal with and should be avoided if possible. His honor narrated a case which came before him of a man who was so charmed with his little niece that he sent for witnesses and drew up a will reading, "If I die to-night I want my little niece to inherit all my estate."

"That was clear enough," said the judge, "but the trouble arose because the man didn't die that night and fulfill the conditions of his will."

A woman had a dower interest in her husband's real estate holdings, and the husband had given her the option in his will of a certain sum in lieu. A husband could have, by electing within six months, a "tenancy by courtesy" of his late wife's real estate holdings on two conditions—first, that he had had a child by her; and second, that the child was alive. Otherwise he could claim no share in the estate. Without a will an illegitimate child cannot inherit anything, nor without a will could his children inherit from him, for the law does not recognize illegitimacy and the crown can sequester their property if they die intestate.

The law in Canada looks after the interests of girls better than the English law. In Canada if a man dies without leaving a will the girls and boys share alike. In England the eldest son frequently takes all.

His honor said, "If you are called upon to draw up a will, use common English in your own usual way, see that the person understands it, ascertain from the doctor that he is in sound mind, read it over to the testator, and in the presence of the two witnesses all three must sign the will."

"And for yourself, young man, see that you make a will without delay. It is a proper thing to do. No matter how little you have to leave, make a will. It will ensure that what you leave will go to those whom you wish it to go to without unnecessary trouble and expense."

"And don't forget the dear ones. Leave something to your mother and your sisters. Remember the tender ones," urged Judge Winchester, proving once again that he has a good heart as well as a good head and a well-balanced judgment.

Benson—I have a literary friend who is so absentminded that when he went to London recently he telegraphed himself ahead to wait for himself at a certain place. Smith—Did the telegram have the desired result? Benson—No; he got it all right, but he had forgotten to sign his name, and not knowing who it was from, he paid no attention to it.

"Madam, I have picked out a charming husband for you. Only I warn you he is a thorough sportsman; fond of automobiling, mountain climbing, bicycling and ballooning."

Applicant (thoughtfully)—Can't you give me something that lasts longer?

Influenza.

Influenza derives its name from an Italian word meaning influence. It was thus entitled by the Italians in the seventeenth century because they attributed the disease to the influence of the stars. A very common belief is that influenza is a comparatively modern disease, disassociated from a general class by latter day medical men, but this is far from being the case. For the illness has been mentioned by ancient writers as far back as the fourteenth century, there being records of its appearance in France in 1311 and 1403.

Death is but the dropping of the flower that the fruit may swell.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it stronger; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Water in Old London.

London's original water supply, says the Chicago Daily News, was the river Thames, and every apprentice was supplied with a water tankard for transporting liquid to the house. As early as 1479 there were "water thieves," for in this year a wex chandler in Fleet street had by craft perched a pipe of the conduit withy on the ground, and so conveyed the water into his cellar; wherefore he was judged to ride through the city with a conduit upon his hedde." The first official water supply for London was made in Germany. In 1582 Peter Maurice, a German, made an engine at London bridge by which water was conveyed in lead pipes to the citizens' houses, and he and his descendants became rich on the proceeds.

A WEAK HEART.

It Need Not by Any Means Point to a Short Life.

The heart is perhaps the organ of the body least known by members of the medical profession, and many a man who has been told he would die in a given time has outlived the doctor who pronounced his doom.

Heart disease is coming to inspire less and less terror in the average man, and nine men in ten who are allotted ten years to live double that time to die of an entirely foreign complaint.

"Some years back," says Dr. Warren Schoonover, Jr., in the Medical Record, "heart diseases were a cause of great worry and fright to the laity as well as to the profession, but now they are handled so successfully by the physician that the patients live on under proper therapeutics until the end of the term of their natural life without much difficulty from the diseased organ. In the practice of one physician was a case which was under the care of his grandfather from 1830 to 1856, his uncle from 1856 to 1882 and himself from 1882 to 1893, when the patient died at the age of ninety-three, having been under the care of the first physician for twenty-six years, the second for twenty-six years and the third for eleven years, a total period of sixty-three years."

LEGAL NOON.

A Time That Seems to Vary In the Different States.

The courts of several states have dealt with an odd question, none of them agreeing upon a similar answer. When is it legally noon? Fire insurance policies expire at noon, and the word is admitted to mean exactly 12 o'clock midday. But standard time has not been adopted in all communities. Many small towns cling to sun time, which may be from a few minutes to nearly an hour earlier than standard. In one state a fire occurred at two minutes past noon, sun time, and the insurance company held that the policy had expired before the fire. Sun time is used in that town, but the insured sued the company, holding that the local customs did not rule the policy and that he was entitled to his insurance. The state courts sustained him. In another state a similar contention was taken to the courts and just the opposite decision given. Several conflicting precedents have been established in state courts, and it is said the question can only be decided for good and all when a case has been carried into the United States courts and passed upon by the supreme court.

ST. PATRICK'S DRUM.

The Sunkin Rock and the Legend of the Banished Snakes.

There is an old legend to the effect that St. Patrick banished all reptiles from Ireland by beating a drum, but no one probably seriously believes the story. According to the myth, he took his drum out for the purpose mentioned and commenced pounding it so vigorously that he knocked a hole in the drumhead, thus seriously endangering the success of the miracle. While pondering what to do St. Patrick was astonished by the appearance of an angel, who immediately set to work to mend the broken musical instrument. After the hole had been mended the angel vanished, and St. Patrick continued the work of serpent banishing, being successful in ridding the island of every representative of the snake tribe except one old stayer who had lived so long that his tusks protruded from his mouth like horns. This monster refused to leave the "land of his fathers," and the good saint resolved to practice a little piece of strategy. He removed the patch, which the angel had put on the drumhead and then persuaded the serpent to creep into the drum for the night. When the reptile had done as requested, St. Patrick glued down the magic patch and then threw drum, serpent and all into the sea. A sunken boulder off the west coast of Ireland is called St. Patrick's drum.

A vote cast for principle is never lost even though it be the only one in the ballot-box.

M'ELROY WINS CARLETON.

Has Over 600 Majority Over Independent Conservative.

Ottawa, March 19.—R. H. McElroy of Carleton was elected to fill the vacancy in Carleton County for the Ontario Legislature caused by the death of G. N. Kidd. He was the official Conservative candidate against W. H. Hartin, Independent Conservative.

Five polls were to be heard from. There was a bigger vote polled yesterday than at the general election, when the late G. N. Kidd won by 1,179 over J. Smith, Liberal. The figures now stand: R. H. McElroy, 1,477; W. H. Hartin, 860. Majority, 617.

You get it in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which increase liver activity, restore the bowels to perfect action and positively cure constipation and its attendant evils. FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Skirt Models That Will Be Popular.

The Garter Sachet.

There are a number of new models in separate skirts for spring, which indicate the continued vogue of separate skirts and waists. The plaited skirt is most prominent, with numerous graceful variations. A smooth fit over the hips seems to be the most important point about all these skirts. Knife plaited models made of two tone striped gray wool in dark coloring are very smart. The plaits are stitched flat the depth of the hips, then well pressed to retain the shape and finished around the bottom with a wide, neatly turned hem.

Dainty women are putting delicately perfumed sachets in their corsets over the bust laces. Garter scent bags which fit comically each side of the garter top are a French freak.

Best Fertilizers for Fruit.

In very many cases potash fertilizers have decidedly improved the qualities of fruits. In nearly all cases whenever the percentage of this element has been raised the change has been accompanied by an increase of sugar and a decrease of acid. Other things being equal, the fruit with the largest percentage of sugar will bring the highest price. In addition, less desirable varieties may be brought up to a higher standard, thus giving value to some good quality, as hardness and prolific bearing.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One-third of the best part of a woman's life sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. Those years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon, then, to woman is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating drains, heals ulcerations, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Finda Husband Self-Slain.

Kaladar, March 18.—Returning to her home Saturday, Mrs. W. P. Berry found her husband's pipe, knife and tobacco, which he always carried, on the dining table, his watch and chain hanging on the wall, and his vest on the back of a chair. His oft-repeated threats to commit suicide recurred to her, and she got William Bongard to investigate.

He found Berry sitting in a room with a rifle in front of him, the muzzle placed at his throat. A bullet had torn through his head.

Railway And Municipal Board Reject Proposed
Amendments

UPHOLD CONNIE CLAUSE

Toronto, March 20.—In the course of the budget debate which occupied the attention of the Legislature at the afternoon and night sessions yesterday, Hon. Mr. Whitney, the Prime Minister, took occasion to emphasize the continued opposition with which the assistance to the university and schools of Ontario was being met by the Liberals in the House. He expressed surprise at it and thought it was time the people should be cognizant of the position which the Liberal party were taking. As for the Government, he was well satisfied that the aid given to education and agriculture was among Ontario's best expenditures.

The Prime Minister laid on the table a report of the Railway and Municipal Board in respect to several proposed amendments to the municipal law, introduced last session, particularly some introduced by Mr. McNaught with the intent of repealing the so-called "Connie clauses." The Board reported against the latter proposition on the ground that many municipalities, rather than instal public utilities, used their influence and held out inducements to companies to construct them at a time when they would not pay. The companies, having operated the works in the lean years, municipalities should not, when the work was beginning, be remunerative to be permitted to construct a competitive system without acquiring the existing plant on fair terms. The Connie Clause provides that municipalities can acquire such works by arbitration at their actual value, making due allowance for depreciation, wear and tear, but allowing nothing for franchise or prospective profits. It appears to the Board that it would be more in the interests of municipalities to acquire existing plants on fair terms than to duplicate them and to have competition that might render the operation of municipal plants unprofitable and use the funds at large in order to make up the loss in an unremunerative business. The clauses are not regarded as in any way being a barrier to municipal ownership.

The Board also reported against an amendment allowing the construction by municipalities of conduits and the erection of poles for the conveyance of telegraph, telephone, power transmission and other wires and the renting of the same to public utility companies. This was regarded by the Board as a hazardous and unprofitable undertaking.

The Board was likewise adverse to municipalities contracting for more electric power or gas than they required and selling the surplus to consumers, or otherwise acting as middlemen. This should be left to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. They also reported against power being given to municipalities to construct street railways on streets not covered by existing operating companies, on the ground that it would be a duplication of systems and a waste of capital.

Resumes Budget Debate.
Col. Atkinson (North Norfolk) resumed the budget debate. He took up at once the question of prison labor, advocating compelling the prisoners to do work on the roads or farm which would not come into competition with farm labor. The old Government's Montreal pulpwood concession was defended as in the best interests of the settlement of the Province. Col. Atkinson drew a picture of the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. Col. Matheson, as the fortunate inhabitant of a palace, "surrounded by orchards, vineyards and groves," which he had not built, and "receiving gold, silver and precious stones" which his predecessors had earned.

Referring to the Provincial loan the speaker pointed out that a temporary loan should have been negotiated until the close of the South African war when money would have been cheaper. He would have renewed every six months until this time, if necessary.

Believes In Cheap Power.
The colonel expressed his belief in cheap power, but he feared the progress promised was not being made. He questioned whether it could be made. If the people were living in a fool's paradise in the matter, he believed in tearing away the veil.

The colonel closed by touching briefly in criticism on the local option clauses, the Toronto investigation into license matters, the employment of Mr. Thorne, "a thorn in the flesh," and the amendments to the Public Schools Act. He severely deprecated the uncalculated innuendoes concerning the late leader, now Senator Ross, to whom he paid a eulogistic tribute as the developer of the school system and the builder of the Government-owned Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

Mr. Allan Studholme, the Labor member from East Hamilton, followed. First he took a few rounds out of the Government on its prison labor contract, then he turned round and eulogized Hon. Adam Beck and the Government's power policy. Then he lapsed into a personal explanation. When he was accused of speaking too much, the press and the members forgot that he represented "the great army of wage-earners in Ontario, the bone and sinew of the Province." Mr. Studholme was proud of being a workman and of representing his fellow workers. On the six o'clock adjournment the Hamilton man was still speaking.

Opposition Criticism Weak.

Mr. G. Pattinson (South Waterloo) followed Mr. Studholme in a splendid address at night. Mr. Pattinson said that praise of the Provincial Treasurer or the budget from him might seem prejudiced. He preferred rather to direct attention to the fact that the Opposition criticism had been the weakest on record, in fact there had been no criticism at all.

Mr. Pattinson, who is a member of the first Hydro-Electric Commission, went into an endorsement of the power policy, correcting the impressions that seemed to have mis-guided Col. Atkinson.

"Oh, no," put in Hon. Mr. Mackay. "I will convince the hon. member from North Grey that he is mistaken," said Mr. Pattinson.

"Impossible," declared the Prime Minister and Hon. Mr. Mackay in unison.

"Surely not," quoth Mr. Pattinson, "while the lamp holds out to burn, the greatest sinner may return." (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Pattinson, continuing, took up the question of agriculture, the greatest of all Ontario questions and advocated further development along agricultural lines.

ONTARIO INSURANCE.

Report of Provincial Inspector Presented to the Legislature.

Toronto, March 20.—The abstract report of the provincial inspector of insurance for the year 1906 was presented to the Legislature yesterday. It covers only those companies making returns to the Ontario Government. These include one life insurance company (the Equity Life), purely joint stock fire insurance companies (Merchants, Queen City and Traders); weather insurance companies

(the Huron Weather, Ontario Farmers' and Western Farmers); the cash mutual fire companies, 14 in number; and the purely mutual fire companies, of which there are 69. The fire insurance mutual companies of all classes show a gross amount at risk of $230,827,923. The surplus of general assets over liabilities is placed at $8,803,476. In 1906 the new business amounted to $55,832,656.

DYNAMITE IN CELLAR.

Dastardly Work of Upton Sinclair's Enemies.

New York, March 20.—Upton Sinclair, whose co-operative colony house, Helicon Hall, near Englewood, N.J., was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning, admitted Monday that there was enough dynamite found in the cellar of the building to have blown it to atoms.

This statement, with the finding Saturday afternoon of a stick of explosives near the wreck of the boilers, has spurred the authorities to more vigorous efforts upon the theory of incendiarism.

The police are working on the supposition that the place was set on fire, and will question several persons who are known to have had disagreements with Mr. Sinclair.

Whom can we accuse but ourselves for what we suffer.

We like it, and appreciate it all the more, because it is not idle flattery, but honest praise that sends people into our store to look, to admire, to buy.
