Bread.

The bread was all unadulterated and of good quality.

Bread.

Butter.

Butter.

I examined 52 samples of butter. As in previous years no sample has been submitted to me which I have reason to suppose was adulterated with foreign fat.

*Canned Provisions.*Canned Provisions.

Several chemists, Mr. A. E. Monke, and more recently Mr. O. Hehner, have recently pointed out the almost universal occurrence of tin in canned goods. I have specially examined all the samples submitted to me for tin and my results are in perfect accordance with theirs. In all the canned fruits tin was present in considerable quantity, and it was also present, though not to so large an extent, in the samples of fish. The canned meats contained not quite so much but still quite a noticeable quantity, the only exception being a sample of corned beef (No. 4719, see table) which only contained the merest traces.

As to the influence which the small quantities of tin in question are likely to exert upon the health of the consumer, we are scarcely at present in a condition to speak with certainty, although there is not the slightest doubt of its injurious effects when taken in somewhat larger quantities.

It is quite clear, however, that manufacturers should seek to obviate the evil. Mr. Wigner has suggested that the use of solder containing bismuth is fraught with mischief in this respect by setting up galvanic action, and such a source of danger should certainly be avoided.

Cocoa and Chocolate.

Of these I have analysed 14 samples of each, with results given in the following tables:—

From an inspection of this table it will be seen that in 7 samples of cocoa and in two samples of chocolate the percentage of fat falls below 20, which is the limit assigned by the English Society of Public Analysts.

In both the samples of chocolate, however, part of the fat has been removed, avowedly for the purpose of rendering the preparation more palatable. The seven samples of cocoa I have reported as doubtful. Hereafter I am of opinion that a cocoa or chocolate which appears from analysis to contain less than 40 per cent. of cocoa should be reported as adulterated.

Coffee.

Coffee. Of 16 samples of coffee examined only two were pure; of the 14 samples six were mixed with chicory alone, five were adulterated with both chicory and farinaceous matter, and three with farinaceous matter only.

From some analyses which I have made of chicory, it appears that this substance as sold is often adulterated with farinaceous matter (ground crusts, &c.,) and it is in this way doubtless that these adulterants frequently find their way into the coffee.

Milk.

Milk. I have analysed during the past year 52 samples of milk, of which I have reported 21 watered, 26 genuine and five doubtful. It appears, therefore, that half the samples examined were of, at least, doubtful purity—a result which is far from satisfactory.

The samples of milk were taken three each week during October, November and December, 1880, and two a week during April, May, and June, 1881.

The proportion of samples found to be watered decreased rapidly as the work of inspection went on thus, of four samples analysed during April three were unquestionably watered and one was reported doubtful.

Of 10 samples examined in May four were watered and six genuine, while of eight samples taken during June only two were watered—a clear proof of the beneficial results of inspection in this department.

I may mention that one sample, which, by-the-by, was purchased by the Inspector at a shop, turned out not to be milk at all but cream.

Pepper.

Pepper. Out of 11 samples of pepper eight were adulterated with farinaceous matter of some kind, the ash of another was much higher than it ought to be (8.9 per cent.), and only two were genuine.

Spices.

Spices. Of 20 samples of spices only five were pure. Cassia, as usual, is sold under the name of cinnamon, and, in addition, adulterated with farinaceous matter. Cloves are mixed with powdered clove stems as well as with pea and wheat meal.

Sugar.

I have not reported any sugar as adulterated, because I have no reason to believe that any of the samples contain anything else than the products of the sugar-cane. Sugar.

The quantity of glucose (inverted sugar) in many of them is, however, very high, averaging in the 16 samples nearly 7 per cent., the maximum being 14.9 (a very high figure) and the minimum 2.6.

Sweets.

The sweets examined were composed chiefly of glucose and starch of some kind. They contained no injurious pigments. The use of aniline colors seems to be on the increase for this class of goods. I have carefully examined samples so colored for arsenic, the possible presence of which constitutes the danger in such cases, but on no occasion have I detected a trace of this poison. Sweets.

Syrup.

I have not reported these flavoring syrups as adulterated, for I do not suppose they make any pretence to be other than artificial imitations. They most certainly are not, in any case which I have examined, the genuine extract of the fruit the flavor of which they are intended to imitate, but one made up of various compound ethers and coloring matters. Syrup.

As to the wholesomeness of these substances, their consumers probably owe their immunity to the small quantity in which the syrups are used.

Tea.

All the samples of tea examined were fairly good with the exception of one, which was evidently nothing but tea dust, the sweepings of the warehouse or of the chests. Tea.

REMARKS.

The general average of adulteration exceeds that of last year, probably owing to a lower stratum of dealers having been reached in the collection of samples, also partly due to the abstinence of the Department from the prosecution of offenders against the Act. The extension of the operation of the Act to the country towns of the Division would, I have reason to believe, show a larger percentage of adulteration than has been found in this city.

Bread.

I have found the bread wholesome and free from alum. Self-raising flour containing mineral phosphates is occasionally sold, but the proportions in which the mineral is added is such as to be quite wholesome and in some cases beneficial.

Butter.

Butter. Out of 52 samples examined I have met with two cases only of oleomargarine sold as butter. The factories which formerly supplied a large quantity are, I understand, closed since their exposure, and its sale is quite occasional.

The staple adulteration is salt and water, especially the latter which is not only a direct fraud upon the consumer, but also contributes much to the tendency of the butter to become rancid. I have found five samples unfit for food owing to rancidity, most of these also contained excess of water.

Milk.

Milk. The adulteration of milk remains about the same, viz., nearly one-third of the samples tested. I think this evil will not be checked except by the infliction of severe penalties.

During the past winter a considerable quantity of frozen milk was brought in by farmers from the country and sold in the markets at 2cts. per lb., or less by the cake.

This was chiefly purchased by milk dealers to manipulate and mix with milk partially skimmed. Such milk curdles very rapidly and is innutritious, and unfit for family use.

Teas and Coffees.

Teas and Coffees.

The taste of a large class of consumers of tea in this country is, and has been, growing towards the fresh green teas of Japan, which are supplied at a moderate price, and are more refreshing and less astringent than the China teas.

It has been an art, in the manipulation of teas, to convert China teas into Japan, or Japan teas into China, according to the comparative demand and the fluctuations of the market, and thus old stock has passed palatably into consumption without serious loss of quality, and in only a few cases have I found teas really worthless, and these have been sold at very low prices. On the contrary, coffees are seldom pure when ground. Out of sixteen samples examined, fifteen were grossly adulterated with worthless cereals and husks; the one exception was mixed with chicory, and only finds a place in the genuine column because this mixture was declared upon the label.

Sweets.

Sweets.

I report one case of sweetmeats dangerously colored with chromate of lead (chrome yellow), and in another case (not reported) I have met with the use of bichromate of potassium as a coloring for candy, which caused severe gastric irritation and vomiting. As a general rule, however, the sweets are colored with harmless vegetable colors, and the manufacturers are generally on their guard against the use of mineral pigments.

Syrups.

Syrups.

Those examined were all found grossly adulterated and colored with injurious aniline dyes, some of them dangerously flavored with "Bitter Almond Essence," containing "Prussic Acid"—called “Peach” and “Noyeau.” As these syrups are largely used as temperance beverages, it is of the utmost importance that they should be genuine, and absolutely free from such dangerous poisons.

As a rule, these syrups are much too highly colored, quality being sacrificed to a brilliant appearance.

Sugars.

The refined sugars produced in the Lower Provinces appear to be of excellent quality, and are superior to many of the late American imports. The introduction of beet root sugar will probably aid the Canadian refiner in producing a cleaner and brighter crystal in the higher grades of yellows and whites, without any deterioration of quality. The peculiar flavor of the soil which is apparent in beet root yellows disappears when crystallized with sugar from the cane. Chemically, the two sugars are identical, and their mixture is a gain of pure sucrose.

Spices, &c.

Spices and peppers are still largely adulterated with cereal starches, and millers' refuse husks—called “millings”—and no improvement is yet apparent.

(Translation.)

QUEBEC, 5th February, 1881

To the Commissioner
of Inland Revenue.

SIR,—On the subject of the analysis made by me by your order, in the course of the autumn of 1880, I have the honor to make the following remarks:—

Chocolate.

I have still the same observation to make on this subject, that is, that the two terms, chocolate and cocoa, are confounded as being synonymous, which is by no means the case. A singular circumstance is that the most celebrated product of this description, which is known as the Chocolat Meunier in France, consists of pure cocoa. I explain this anomaly as follows: the French, who are great consumers of chocolate, have not appreciated the distinction which should be made in describing the two products. They are so accustomed to the word chocolate that they have not been impressed with the value of the word cocoa or cacao.

Coffee.

Coffee. The five samples of coffee examined by me were found to be exceptionally pure. There was no mixture of roasted peas or beans, and there was no chicory. A comparison between this result and those obtained when my first analyses were made, will shew evidence of a very considerable difference in the quality of this substance within my division; this I attribute to the circumstance that grocers have learned through the public prints, which publish extracts of my reports, that they are under the strict superintendence of your Department.

Pepper.

Pepper. The four samples of pepper which I examined were found to be perfectly pure. A comparison of this result with those of analyses made in the earlier years is necessary to show the improvement which has been effected in the value of this substance. Cause of the improvement: the same as in the case of coffee.

Candies and Spices.

Candies and Spices. I took special pains to procure spices and candies put upon the market by establishments which were not recognized as being of the first class. The five samples of candies which I was instructed to examine were found to be perfectly pure, with the exception of one which was soiled by fly-dirt. Of the eight samples of spices I found but one, No. 3974, which was adulterated with flour. (Compare this result with those obtained in my division during the first years of inspection of alimentary substances.)

Sugar.

Sugar. All the samples of sugar which I examined, both raw and refined, were found to be pure.

Bread.

Bread. In two samples of bread sold in this city at a comparatively low price, I expected to find maize flour or Indian meal. The bread had been made of deteriorated wheaten flour; it was heavy and pasty, and had risen badly. In these times of pecuniary distress I do not look upon the making of bread with damaged flour, or that of inferior quality, as adulteration. It is better that the poor should be able to obtain a loaf of any kind at a low price than that they should do without altogether.

Milk.

Milk. With the exception of one, which had been skimmed, all the samples of milk which I examined were, in respect of purity, everything that could be desired. I have this year to repeat the remarks made in former years on the subject of the manifest influence of the sudden change of temperature in the late autumn on the quantity of the several component parts of milk.

I had an opportunity of examining a sample of milk, such as had not hitherto come under my observation. It was of a lemon yellow, and after the expiration of a few hours only, it showed, by the meter, five volumes of perfectly yellow cream. Upon analysis repeated twice I did not find a trace of fatted matter or of sugar. Upon enquiry I learned that this milk was the yield of a single cow, and I ascertained that it was what is known in medical parlance as colostrum. I had frequently seen women's milk which presented that appearance, but never cow's milk. The colostrum is the milk taken from cows which have recently calved, and according to the statements of dairymen whom I consulted, continues of the same character for from seven to nine days after calving. Respectable dairymen do not mix this colostrum with the milk which they retail. The Irish seek after this milk with eagerness as they use it in making pancakes of a yellow color, which present the appearance of pancakes made with butter.

Butter.

Still the same remark to be made; too much water, too much Butter. kitchen or coarse salt, too great a proportion of caseine.

Conditions necessary for the Making of Good Butter.

1st. The cream must be fresh.

2nd. To ensure the freshness of the cream in summer, the milk should be placed in an ice-house, or over cold well water, or dishes filled with cold water. In our farmers' dairies, as now constructed, it is impossible to preserve cream in the fresh state. Fermentation rapidly sets in, and, owing to the presence of caseine, mould is formed.

Conditions necessary for the making of good Butter.

3rd. The dairy must be well ventilated.

4th. The milk should be placed in tin dishes, or in tureens, having the edges turned out; the tin of these vessels should be of the best quality. The vessels should be washed each time that fresh milk is put into them.

5th. In summer time the cream rises to the surface of the milk within thirty-six hours, when the foregoing precautions have been taken.

6th. Three varieties of butter are offered for sale on the markets of my division—spring butter, summer butter and autumn butter.

Spring butter is the white butter produced before the cows have been put out to grass, while they are still fed upon hay. This butter is to be found in my division until the 1st of June. In June and July the butter assumes a yellow color, which is owing to the chlorophyll contained in the herbage of the pasture. Autumn butter (August, September, October) is also of a yellow color. Winter and spring butter should not be salted down for use during the same year, still less for use during the ensuing year.

The manufacture of butter being so important a matter in my division, I consider it proper to give certain details in respect to the manner of making it. These details are taken from reliable sources, and have been furnished to me by eminently practical persons.

In my division butter is made in two different ways—by churn and by hand.

Butter made by hand is always bad ; that made by churn is alone to be recommended. The churn should be entirely of wood, either pine or fir ; the latter wood is to be preferred. The tub should be made without ears, and fitted with a tightly-closing cover. If the tubs have ears, the butter contained in them passes for Canadian butter on the English market, a reputation of which the Americans are careful to avail themselves. Before the butter is put into new fir tubs, care should be taken to scald out the latter with an infusion of raspberry bush twigs. The same tubs should never be used twice ; those that have already been used are utilised as vessels for the making of soap, or for keeping it for use. One of the principal precautions to be observed in the making of good butter is to entirely remove the butter-milk full of caseine, and this can only be done effectively by powerful compression.

Compression may be effected in two different manners. It is done by hand, with the assistance of a rolling-pin, on a marble or birch table. Compression may also be applied by aid of a machine, and this method is infinitely superior. Machines are now sold at Montreal for the purpose, which cost only $12.

REMARKS AND GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

The general observations on my last report will be very short : I refer you to the first analyses and to the first report I made in 1876, also to my report for this last year.

Out of 73 analyses which I made in 1876, 30 samples were adulterated and 6 doubtful. From the return for 1881, it will be seen that not a single sample has been found adulterated. The manufacture of butter is alone to be complained of.

HALIFAX, N.S., 1st July, 1881.

To the Commissioner
of Inland Revenue,

SIR,—I have the honour of submitting my Report on Adulteration of Food, for the year ending 30th June, 1881.

One hundred and seventy two samples of food have been handed to me by the Collector of Inland Revenue for analysis, of these thirty one were adulterated. I append a tabulated statement (see Table A.)

Bread.

All the samples were of excellent quality, with no traces of alum Bread or other adulteration.

Butter.

Butter. None were adulterated with foreign fats. Two samples contained salt and water in excess, and were therefore reported adulterated. (See Table B.)

Chocolate.

Chocolate. Out of nine samples, three contained an undue proportion of farinaceous material.

Cocoa.

Cocoa. All the samples contained sugar and starch.

Coffee.

Coffee. All the samples were adulterated with chicory and roasted grain.

Canned Fruit.

Canned Fruit. The three samples submitted to me were remarkably good, and had been carefully put up.

Flavoring Syrups.

Flavouring Syrups. No adulteration or injurious coloring matter.

Milk.

Milk. As I remarked in my report for the half-year ending December 31st, 1880, we found a marked improvement in the quality of milk. The average solids not fat, of the thirty five samples, was 9.7. (See Table C.)

Pepper.

Pepper. Three out of seven samples were adulterated.

Potted Meats and Fish.

Potted Meats and Fish. All were unadulterated. The meats appeared somewhat over-cooked.

Spices.

Spices. Out of fourteen samples four were adulterated.

Sugars.

Sugars. Were all unadulterated.

Sweets.

Contained, besides sugar, starch and gum; but were neither Sweets. colored nor flavored with injurious material.

Teas.

Were without adulteration.

Teas.

I have the honour, to be, Sir,
 Your obedient Servant,

The dealers in food materials in this district have now, for the first time, ascertained from the city newspapers that groceries and milk are being systematically inspected by order of the Department of Inland Revenue.

It remains to be seen whether any improvement will be noticed in the quality of food materials supplied.

More than fifty per cent. of the milk and butter selected for analysis proved to be of inferior quality, and if there is not an improvement in these articles, the only remedy will be to publish the names of dealers.

It may be worthy of note that, up to the present time, no foreign fats have been found in butter sold here, and the substance "Butterine" or "Oleomargarine" is unknown in this market.

A very inferior article of tea is sold by many grocers, and it would be interesting to know whether the "foreign leaves," &c., have been added before or after the tea reaches the retail grocers.

Spices of all kinds are not what they should be, and it might be well to direct that some samples be selected from spices, &c. "In Bond," as they are imported.

There is much difficulty in deciding how much "farina" shall be considered an adulteration in cocoa, chocolate, &c., and until a standard of comparison is decided upon it will be impossible to make any definite statement on this point.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

WILLIAM F. BEST,
Analytical Chemist Public Analyst.

To the Commissioner of Inland Revenue, Ottawa.

The only remarks that appear necessary are :

1st. That there appears to be an improvement in the quality of butter sold in this city since reports of analyses have been published and commented on by the press.

2nd. The quality of coffee sold by city grocers, and ground on the premises, appears to be unexceptionable.

3rd. Canned fruits and potted meats and fish are almost invariably found to be contaminated by soluble lead salts.

4th. Tea, especially low and medium priced, contains a large quantity of foreign leaves and other adulterations.

5th. Sugar of all grades is remarkably free from adulteration.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

OTTAWA:

PRINTED BY MACLEAN, ROGER & CO., WELLINGTON STREET.

1882.

To the Hon. J. C. AIKINS,
Minister of Inland Revenue.

SIR,—I have honor to submit herewith the Report of the Analyst, who, on the suggestion of Dr. Bergin, M.P., was directed to analyze certain samples of water taken at Cornwall under that gentleman's direction.

The Reports of the Toronto Analyst on the Toronto water, as well as other documents on the same subject, which may be of use in dealing with the question, are added.

As these papers may be found useful during the present session, they have been printed as an addenda to the Annual Report on the Adulteration of Food, already submitted to Parliament.

I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

A. BRUNEL,

Commissioner.

INLAND REVENUE DEPARTMENT,

14th February, 1882.

TORONTO, 7th November, 1881.

SIR,—In accordance with instructions received from Mr. Stratton, the Collector of Inland Revenue for Toronto, I have made a series of analyses of the water supplied to the City of Toronto.

The samples were taken from Hanlan's Point, from both inside and outside the crib, which is the present source of supply, from the well on the engine-house wharf from the pumping well and from the tap in the School of Science.

In order to furnish standards for comparison samples were also taken for analysis from the Lake and from the Bay at the foot of Yonge street.

As the result of a number of analyses extending over the month of October, I submit the following table as the average composition of the water in question:—

All constituents are expressed in grains per gallon of 70,000 grains.

| Description of Sample. | Free Ammonia. | Albumenoid Ammonia. | Chlorine in Chlorides. | Solids. | Hardness. |
|------------------------|---------------|---------------------|------------------------|---------|-----------|
| Lake.....              | ·001          | ·008                | ·20                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Hanlan's Point.....    | ·002          | ·01                 | ·21                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Inlet Crib.....        | ·003          | ·01                 | ·21                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Wharf Well.....        | ·004          | ·01                 | ·21                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Pumping Well.....      | ·004          | ·01                 | ·21                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Tap.....               | ·003          | ·01                 | ·21                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |
| Bay.....               | ·020          | ·015                | ·34                    | 9·5     | 6·5       |

It appears from the above table that the water as supplied to the city has practically the same composition as that of the Inlet Crib, and except for a trifling increase in the free ammonia is identical with that at Hanlan's Point. There is a still further increase in the free ammonia in the water of the Pumping Well. The cause of this increase, I am not prepared to explain. Further observations are required to show whether it is a temporary and more or less accidental phenomenon or not.

The full analysis of the water as supplied to the consumers is as follows:—

|  |                        |
|--|------------------------|
| Colour.....                                  | Pale yellow.           |
| Smell at 100° F.....                         | Somewhat peaty.        |
| Chlorine in Chlorides.....                   | ·21 grains per gallon. |
| Nitrogen in Nitrates.....                    | ·015 do                |
| Ammonia.....                                 | ·003 do                |
| Albumenoid Ammonia.....                      | ·010 do                |
| Oxygen absorbed in 15 minutes.....           | ·0075 do               |
| do 4 hours.....                              | ·014 do                |
| Hardness before boiling (Clark's scale)..... | 6·5°                   |
| do after do.....                             | 2·0°                   |
| Total solid matter dried at 220° F.....      | 9·5 do                 |

This may be taken as the average composition of the Toronto water supply during the month of October last, and except that the albumenoid ammonia is very high it is taken by itself satisfactory.

In certain conditions of the wind, however, the water is not so good. Thus on the 17th, with a strong east wind blowing the water was quite turbid.

On comparing the composition of the public water supply, with that of the Lake on the one hand and that of the Bay on the other, it appears that the city water while approaching much more closely to the former than to the latter occupies, nevertheless, an intermediate position between them.

These considerations render it evident that the necessity of abandoning the present source of supply at the earliest possible moment cannot be too strongly insisted on.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. ELLIS,

Public Analyst.

The Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

REPORT ON THE CORNWALL WATERS.

4th February, 1882.

SIR,—I have the honor to report that on the 17th December last, I received from the Collector at Cornwall, four additional samples of water, making the total number of samples 22. The results of my analysis I have already handed in upon the usual certificates, the method of analysis employed and the valuation of results being in accordance with the British method recently adopted by English Public Analysts, and published in The Analyst.

As a summary of these results may be useful, I beg to explain that, in the standard adopted, Pure Distilled Water is taken as the standard of absolute purity and ranks 0; any water which on the 12 special counts for impurity does not exceed 15 points on the scale laid down, is reckoned as "water of exceptional purity."

Water ranking above 15 and under 40, 1st class.
 do 40 do 65, 2nd class.
 do 65 do 90, 3rd class.
 do 100 condemned as unfit for use.

On this basis of valuation I find waters of exceptional purity..... 2 (Nos. 11 & 21.)
 Water of 1st class..... 1 (No. 5.)
 do 2nd class..... 4 (Nos. 4, 13, 17 & 22.)
 do 3rd class..... 2 (Nos. 16 & 19.)
 Waters condemned as unfit for use..... 13

Total..... 22

Nos. 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 14, 15, 18 & 20.

The latter waters are all contaminated with sewage as well as soil drainage.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., F.C.S.

To the Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

RESUMÉ ON WATER ANALYSIS: NEW METHODS AND RECENT RESULTS.

By J. BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., F.C.S., Public Analyst, Montreal.

Considering the many discrepancies of water analysis, the Society of Public Analysts of Great Britain have done good service to social science by co-operating with Mr. G. W. Wigner, one of its Secretaries, and one of the editors of its organ, "The Analyst," in discussing during the present year :

1. The Methods of Water Analysis.
2. Mode of Statement of Results.
3. Their Comparative Valuation.

Moreover, by the publication of monthly analyses of the "Public Water Supplies of Great Britain," they have conferred a benefit on the public. Mr. Wigner has long been a laborious "Water Analyst," and from his great experience on "Sea Side Waters," his opinion is entitled to considerable weight. As a result of his labours a Committee has been appointed by the Society of Public Analysts, which has drawn up and published a code of "Instructions for Water Analysis," in order to enable analysts generally to co-operate, by adopting an uniform method of analysis, and of the mode in which results shall be stated. It has still under consideration the mode of valuation of the relative impurities in potable waters submitted to the Society by Mr. Wigner in June last, which has subsequently been very generally approved. Comparative results having been thus rendered possible, a large number of English chemists have accepted the task of monthly water analysis in various districts, and these have been grouped together by Mr. Wigner in the recent September and October numbers of "The Analyst," showing the average values of the impurities from January to June of the present year, and the valuations for July, August, and September, severally, of 65 different water supplies in Great Britain, representing an enormous amount of exact and laborious work, which is much enhanced in value by this mode of bringing into comparative review differences which, without uniformity of method, statement, and of valuation, would have no scientific interest whatever. Although the methods of research are numerous and critical, the Analysts of the Continent will, I feel sure, welcome anything like agreement on so vexed a question as water analysis, and will welcome those tabulated results, even if subsequent experience should lead to slight modifications of either the methods or the valuations.

Having lately had occasion to analyse for the Department of Public Works several samples of Ottawa water, I have carefully followed these methods and valuations, and I find much satisfaction in being thus enabled to classify them with British results so recently published, and from my own experience recommend to brother analysts in Canada and the United States the adoption of this general method, so that future tabulations of comparative values may include the whole of the waters of this Continent.

The following statement of results in the case of the Ottawa water supply will indicate the general method of analysis and mode of statement. For details the reader is referred to the elaborate "Code of Instructions" published in the June, July and August numbers of "The Analyst," and also subsequently published in pamphlet form by the Society of Public Analysts.

Result of analysis of Ottawa water supply, taken Sept. 7th, 1881, by Messrs. Keefer, Lesage and Arnoldi.

1. Color in 2 feet column..... light yellow.
2. Odor at 100 F. ° ..... slightly peaty.
- * 3. Chlorine as Chlorides..... '4

---

* Quantities expressed in grains for Imperial gallon of 70,000 grs.

- 4. Phosphoric acid..... none.
- 5. Nitrates and nitrites..... none.
- 6. Ammonia free..... ·0050
- 7. Albumenoid Ammonia..... ·0010
- 8. Oxygen absorbed at 80 F. in 15 minutes... ·0040
- 9. Hardness by Clarke's test..... 3·5 °
- † 10. Solids in solution .... 4·8
- ‡ 11. Solids in suspension..... 4·2
- § 12. Microcosms.. ..... chiefly vegetable.

The first mode of calculating the valuation of results is by fixing values to each of these impurities. Pure distilled water is taken as the standard of absolute purity—not taken for granted but ascertained by experiment. Variations from purity are assessed according to the following plan :

- 1. Appearance, blue clear 0 ; pale brown 1 ; pale yellow and green 2 ; dark yellow and dark green 4.
- 2. Suspended matters, traces 1 ; heavy traces 2 ; turbidity 4.
- 3. For odor, vegetable 1—2 ; animal 4.
- 4. Chlorine ·5 gr. per gallon 1.
- 5. Phosphoric acid, traces 2 ; heavy traces 4 to 8.
- 6. Nitrogen as Nitrates, &c..... ·100 gr. per gal. = 1
- 7. Ammonia..... ·005 “ = 1
- 8. Albumenoid..... ·001 “ = 1
- 9. Oxygen absorbed in 15 minutes.. ·002 “ = 1
- 10. “ “ in 4 hours..... ·010 “ = 1
- 11. Hardness before and after boiling..... 5 ° = 1
- 12. Total solid matter 5 grs. per gal. 1
- 13. Heavy metals, traces ..... = 6
- “ heavy traces..... = 12
- 14. Vegetable debris..... = 4 to 8
- 15. Diatoms and Bacteria..... = 6 to 12
- 16. Hairs and animal debris..... = 10 to 20

This scale of valuation allows a considerable latitude for the exercise of judgment on the part of the analyst and of allowance for exceptional cases. On this scale 10 is assumed to be the maximum for any one of these impurities, and if any single impurity exceeds 10 the excess is doubled and included in the addition. The classification of waters as more or less pure, after such valuation, is more difficult to agree upon, and will not be accepted without considerable discussion and probably some difference of opinion. Still the valuation of the results already obtained are of the utmost value, and will be increased by the continued publication of monthly returns to the year's end.

At present Mr. Wigner recommended the following grouping of waters :

- Waters showing 15 or under are of exceptional purity.
- “ above 15 and under 40.....1st class.
- “ “ 40 “ 65.....2nd class.
- “ “ 65 “ 90.....3rd class.
- “ “ 100.....condemned as unfit for use.

† Containing Alkaline Silicates.
 ‡ Chiefly Siliceous fragments.
 § Chiefly Diatoms and Sponge spicules and Algae.

Taking now the results obtained from the analysis of the Ottawa water, I value as follows:—

|                               |      |
|-------------------------------|------|
| 1. Color.....                 | 1·0  |
| 2. Odor.....                  | ·5   |
| 3. Chlorine.....              | 1·0  |
| 4. Phosphates.....            | none |
| 5. Nitrates.....              | none |
| 6. Ammonia.....               | ·5   |
| 7. Albumenoid.....            | 1·0  |
| 8. Oxygen absorbed.....       | 2·0  |
| 9. Hardness.....              | 1·0  |
| 10. Solids in solution.....   | 1·0  |
| 11. Solids in suspension..... | 1·0  |
| 12. Microcosms.....           | 1·0  |
|                               | 10·0 |

This water, therefore, stands very high on the British scale of purity. Some other examples of Ottawa water ranged as high as 12 for impurity, but 11 may be taken as the mean value.

Now by the publication of these monthly returns based upon the same methods, I am enabled to give a comparative view of a series of English water supplies examined in the same month of September last. Thus—all exceptionally pure:

|                                |      |

Ottawa supply 10 to 12.

It would thus appear that Ottawa water ranks very high in purity as compared with the average water supplies of Great Britain even after filtration, and that, while this mode of additional precaution is open to the private consumer, and of the most serious importance in the prevention of disease, it is an open question as to how this can be best conducted in this country so as to be of general advantage, and it appears to me that (considering the exigencies in case of fire, the variability of climate, the severity of winter, and other considerations incidental to this country), for the water impurities, present filtration is the only remedy, and household filtration the only actual remedy. I have, therefore, to recommend a plan of general household filtration which should be generally adopted and made compulsory on all water companies, in which water should be filtered from the main supply into houses or tenements or streets, and that taxes should be imposed for the use of filters as for the use of gas meters, added to the consumer's account on a pro rata basis. This project, I think, would prove effectual, and I hope may be found practical, and thus remove one of the many public grievances from the municipal shoulders of the corporate bodies of Canada.

On referring to the water analyses which I reported on the Montreal supply in 1879, and applying to these results the table of valuation, I find that notwithstanding the including of matters in suspension, Montreal water stands high by comparison. Thus :

|                                       |      |
|---------------------------------------|------|
| March 1st, standard of impurity ..... | 11.5 |
| April 21st " " .....                  | 16.5 |
| July 30th " " .....                   | 15.5 |

Montreal water would, therefore, be exceptionally pure under such a system of filtration as I have suggested. That this is not utopian is, I think, proved by the fact that several modes of filtration have been patented which have considerable merit, and one or other of which might be adapted to larger or small rates of filtration with satisfactory results.

That a simple flannel bag or felt filter is capable of removing a large quantity of the most objectionable kind of floating animal and vegetable matter is shown by the quantity removed in the flannel bag now exhibited, which has been in use for two days only over the supply pipe of the Parliament buildings at Ottawa, and which has removed upwards of four oz. of debris, river mud and vegetable matter, more than a score of snails, besides water beetles, worms and other not very minute animals. This is, of course, a very partial filtration, but it is simple and within the reach of all. The models of filters on a large scale capable of effectually filtering very large supplies, are as follows :—

No. 1. Howell's Patent—filters by capillary attraction through hempen cloths; it is built in sections, so that it can be easily taken asunder and cleansed. As a water-filter animal charcoal is placed between the sections, and such a filter would only require cleansing once a year or so.

No. 2. Foley's Patent, is manufactured by Robert Mitchell & Co. of this city. It contains sand and animal charcoal and is exceedingly effective. Under the ordinary pressure it filters the whole water supply of a house or public building, and is easily cleansed by reversing the currents of water, without disturbing the packing.

No. 3. Crocket's Patent, is designed for large quantities, such as district supplies, or "Station Filters." It is also cleansed by reversing the supply, and is an effective filter, applicable to public purposes and large volumes of water.

These designs show that there exist no insuperable difficulties in the filtration of water on the large scale in Canada; and such filtration would remove one-half of the solid matter, and therefore would render the water supply twice as pure as it is at present.

The statements contained in the preceding Table show that the continued prosperity of the Dominion has had its natural effect in giving increased activity to correspondence, and to the operations generally of this Department during the past year.

The following statement will afford a comparative view of the growth of the Postal Service in some of its main features during the last three years.

The rapid progress of settlement and railway extension in Manitoba and the North-West since last year's Report has called for corresponding additions to the Postal Service.

The number of Post Offices already in operation or authorized up to the present date is 182.

Six hundred miles of new Post Route have been established, and the rate of yearly mail travel over the routes in operation has been increased by 160,000 miles.

The correspondence has augmented fully 50 per cent. upon last year's returns, and the postage Revenue shows a proportionate increase.

Winnipeg is the central and chief distributing point for the correspondence of this region, and for the better accommodation of the business thus thrown upon the Winnipeg office it has been necessary to add considerably to the number of persons employed therein.

Measures have also been taken for the introduction at Winnipeg of the system of delivery by letter carrier, and for placing at suitable points street boxes for the reception of letters, also for fitting the city Post Office with lock boxes to facilitate the delivery of letters to the public, and for other material improvements in the accommodation.

It will probably be necessary during next summer to construct an addition to the Post Office building in order to provide increased space for the office work as well as for the public resorting to it.

A superintending officer, of considerable experience in post-office management, has been permanently stationed at Winnipeg, and placed in charge of the postal business throughout Manitoba, Keewatin and the North-West.

The expansion of the Postal Service in this section of the Dominion in recent years will be seen from the following comparative statement:—

It is anticipated that the increase of the postal business in Manitoba and the North-West, in the current year, will be quite equal to that of 1881.

Under the engagement entered into for the establishment of direct steam communication between Canada, the West Indies and Brazil, the first steamer of this line, the "Comte d'Eu," arrived from Rio de Janeiro at Halifax on the 31st December last, bringing mails from Rio de Janeiro, Bahia, Pernambuco, Para, and St. Thomas, West Indies; and the first direct mails by this line for Brazil left Halifax on the 11th January, 1882.

Advantage has been taken of a convenient opportunity to amalgamate the Money Order and Savings Bank branches of this Department, and place them under the management of a superintendent having the immediate direction and supervision of both the Money Order and Savings Bank business.

It is believed that this consolidation of the general management will be attended with beneficial results, by securing a degree of harmonious action and economy of clerical labour in the working of the two systems and in their relations with each other, which could not be had under a divided superintendency.

The co-operation of the Post Office of the United Kingdom has been asked for the reduction of the charges on Money Orders passing between Canada and the United Kingdom to a scale not exceeding that which applies to Money Orders issued in Canada upon the United States.

Measures are being taken, in the interests of emigration and commerce, for arranging an exchange of Money Orders with France, Belgium, Germany and Italy.

On the 2nd of January, 1882, travelling postal car service, in charge of railway mail clerks, commenced on the Canada Pacific Railway between Winnipeg and Brandon—132 miles—and this has greatly improved the postal service generally throughout the section of country influenced by it, for the condition of the common roads or tracks has been such as to make regularity of travel there impracticable at certain seasons of the year.

REVENUE.

Adding to the $1,767,162.70 which appears as Postal Revenue in this year's accounts the $33,547.99 which, as stated in last year's Report, was accidentally misplaced in the revenue of that year, the total Revenue properly belonging to the year ended 30th June, 1881, was $1,800,710.69, as compared with $1,648,017.98, the true amount of the Postal revenue for the year ended 30th June, 1880.

The increase, therefore, of the year 1880-81 upon the collections of the previous year was $152,692.71, equivalent to rather more than 9 per cent., and from present indications this rate of increase will be maintained upon the operations of the current year. It is satisfactory to note that an increase in correspondence, and in the Postal Revenue yielded by it, has been general throughout the Provinces of the Dominion.

EXPENDITURE.

The total expenditure of the year was $2,332,398.80. This was an increase of about 2 per cent. on the expenditure of the previous year, and somewhat more than half this increase in charge arose upon the cost of mail service.

REGISTRATION.

The records connected with this branch of Postal business show very satisfactory results for the past year, for whilst there has been a marked increase in the number of letters registered, the miscarriages amongst this important class of letters and other casualties affecting their transmission and safe delivery have been considerably less numerous than in the year 1880.

The estimated number of letters registered for the year 1881 was 2,253,000.

There were 29 cases in which registered letters failed to reach their destination, as compared with 70 cases of failure in the year 1880.

The causes of failure for 1881 are classified as follows :

|   |    |
|---|----|
| Registered letters in mail packages which miscarried.....   | 4  |
| Registered letters lost, embezzled, or misdelivered, the value contained having been made good by the persons responsible, or recovered ..... | 11 |
| Registered letters loss not recoverable.....  | 4  |
| Registered letters stolen from the Post Office, or from mails under conveyance, and the value of the contents recovered                       | 4  |
| Registered letters stolen from the Post Office, or from mails under conveyance, and the value of contents not recoverable                     | 6  |
|   | 29 |

There were in these 29 cases but two in which the letters miscarried, and in which the value lost was not made good by the persons responsible for the miscarriage, under circumstances in which the Registration system should have afforded a guarantee against loss, and one of those letters contained only 97 cents.

In 63 cases wherein Registered letters reached the persons addressed, there were discrepancies as to the amount supposed to have been contained and received. In 21 of these cases it was proven that there had been a loss, and that the responsibility for it attached to persons in the Post Office Service, and the amounts deficient were recovered from them for the benefit of those interested, but in the other 42 cases the evidence was insufficient to establish or account for the alleged discrepancy.

As remarked in the Reports of previous years, it is surprising that so many thousand letters containing remittances should not furnish a greater number of cases of disputes as to the amounts actually sent or received as enclosures therein.

Such results as are shown by the above statements are highly creditable to the general integrity of the persons employed in the Post Office Service of the Dominion, for though the system of Registration followed in Canada may have its share in giving the notable degree of security enjoyed by valuable letters committed to its protection, very much must depend under any Registration system upon the care and probity with which it is worked.

DEAD LETTERS.

The number of ordinary letters, circulars, postcards, &c., sent to the Dead Letter Office during the year, was.... 534,575

And there were received—

SPECIAL DEAD LETTERS.

The number of letters, circulars, postcards, &c., sent to the Dead Letter Office for special reasons, such as want of proper address, non-payment of postage, &c., was... 83,137

Total..... 617,712

10,216 registered letters were included in the above number of dead letters, and were disposed of as follows:—

|   |               |
|---|---------------|
| Delivered from Dead Letter Office to persons addressed.....                           | 755           |
| Returned to writers or to Post Office Administration ofcountry of origin.....     | 8,825         |
| Failed of delivery to either address or writer and found tocontain no value ..... | 541           |
| Remaining in Dead Letter Office .....   | 95            |
|   | 10,216 |

The total number of dead letters passing through the Dead Letter Office in the previous year, was 592,385. This year's returns show, therefore, an increase of about 4 per cent.; but this excess arises wholly upon letters originally sent from Canada to the United States and returned undelivered from various causes by the United States Post Office.

In the number of dead letters arising upon domestic correspondence there was but little variation, which is very satisfactory, considering the marked increase which has taken place in correspondence within the Dominion.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK.

The number of Post Offices transacting Savings Bank business was—on the 31st December 1881—307.

The business of the year ended 30th June, 1881, as compared with that of the previous year, was as follows:—

On the 31st December, 1881, to which date the tabular statement on the preceding page is brought down, the number of open accounts had increased from 39,605 to 46,177, an increase in six months of 6,572, a growth which is at the rate of 33 per cent. per annum, as compared with 26 per cent. which was the rate of increase of the fiscal year 1881 over 1880.

The total deposits due depositors on 31st December, 1881, $7,842,274, indicates a continuance during the current fiscal year to 30th June, 1882, of the present rate of progress.

The deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank have increased three-fold in three years, and the number of daily transactions has more than doubled during the same time.

So close is the relation of the expenses of management to the number of transactions (irrespective of amount), and so closely measured is the distribution of duty among the staff of the Head Office, that it is difficult to effect any marked economy in the cost per transaction, which, it will be observed, was 25 cents in 1878 and 23½ cents in 1881. Owing to the large increase in the gross deposits (the current business alone creating the expenses) the annual cost to the Government of maintaining the Post Office Savings Bank has, however, in the past three years been reduced to the extent of from one-half of one per cent. per annum to about one-third of one per cent. on the aggregate Savings Bank balance.

During the year ended 30th June, 1881, Savings Bank business was extended to eight additional points, and withdrawn from one where no deposits had ever offered.

On the 1st of July, 1881, three additional Savings Banks were opened, the number in operation on the 31st December, 1881, being 307. Those established on the 1st July last were in the outskirts of the city of Toronto, and the result of bringing Savings Bank conveniences nearer to the homes of the industrial classes in a large city, and of keeping the branch offices open for several hours later daily, than the principal city office, was awaited with interest. The three branch offices attracted in all, during six months, 132 new depositors, who made 511 deposits amounting to $11,107, or an average of $21.75 each deposit. The small number of depositors and the large average deposit show that the experiment has not yet reached the classes whose benefit was mainly sought.

Last year's Report stated that notice had been given to the 431 depositors among whom was held the sum of $155,600, at 5 per cent., that their deposits would bear 4 per cent. only after 1st March, 1881; 72 of the number claimed repayment of their deposits. The remaining 359 accepted the reduced rate. All deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank have accordingly been at an uniform rate of 4 per cent. since the 1st March, 1881.

No losses by fraud or otherwise occurred during the year ended 30th June, 1881, and irregularities on the part of Postmasters were exceptionally rare.

The claims to the moneys of deceased depositors, investigated and paid during the year ended 30th June, 1881, numbered 214.
