The Christian Endeavor Society met in the basement of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday night, the president. J. H. Moore in the chair. The topic for the week was "The Promised Land and how to reach it," Rev. 21, 1-7, 22 27. The leader for the evening was Mr. George Gray, who read a very well was followed by many of the active members of the society reading scripture texts bearing on the subject, some making more extended remarks on the same. The following is a condensed report of proceedings in regard to the topic of the evening. Our knowledge is that ? I'm coming back, time is of the promised land is necessarily imperfect, but God has graciously in his word come to our capacity of understanding, and under the similitude of earthly things which men do most value and strive after. He has represented to us the glories of the promised land, and given us the gracious assurance lar are spending their holidays with that though now we can only know in part, yet we shall know hereafter as we are known. Now we see through a glass darkly, but then face to face. In the lesson the Promised Land is represented as a new heaven and a new earth the holy city, new Jerusalem coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband, a city in which God himself shall dwell both took their families along. Marcus with men. He shall be their God and they his people. God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there any more pain ; for the former things are passed away. There shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and the Lamb shall be in it ; and his servants shall serve him : and they shall see his face ; and they shall be like him, for they shall see him as he is. In that promised land the servants of God enter urday, between the tannery team and a into the joy of their lord. In his presence is fulness of joy and at his right hand there are pleasures forevermore. They offer up the sacrifice of praise to God continually. The Lamb which dwell amidst the throne shall lead them unto the fountain of living water and shall give them to eat of the hidden manna. They shall eat of the fruit of the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God. The second and all important part of the topic, "How can we reach the Promised Land," is clearly pointed out in Gods word. We must prepare for it here in this world. By beheving the record that God has given of his Son in his word God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but

CHAPTER VI. -(CONTINUED.) CHAPTER VI. --(CONTINUED.) "I would tell thee, dear, that love is a slave Who dreads thought of freedom, as life dreads the grave; And if doubt or terror of change there should be, Such fear would but drive him still closer to thee!"

"He gives, and gives all," murmured the poor girl. " Surely since those words were written no one has resigned more for love's sake than I have. In giving up Roger I have indeed given my all."

The increasing coldness of the air-now that the pale Winter sun had set behind the woods of Marham-warned Hilds that her final parting from her beloved nome was fast approaching, and slowly and sorrowfully she retraced her steps through the deserted park to her own desolate apartments.

He was a stranger to Hilda, so she asked him to get her a cup of tes, and turning into the waiting-room sat down before the splendid fire which blazed in the grate. The porter brought her the tes and a bath bun, and while she sipped the refreshing beverage the man offered to get her ticket, the booking office being open. At last with a rush and a roar the express train steamed on to the platiom, open. '' Mr. Montacute called while you were out, ma'am.'' said the maid, as she proceeded to obey Hilds's orders and replace the dinner dress in the wardrohe. '' He seemed greatly vexed not to find you at home, and he went into your room and wrote a note; I put it on your writing table, ma'am.''
Hilda made no reply, but hastily left the room to possess herself of the lasf letter which, in all human probability, she would ever receive from Roger Montacute. It was a brief pencil scrawl, and ran as follows:

"Where on earth is it?" cried Hilda nervously, as she looked about the room, but nowhere could she discover her missing treasures. "Oh, Heavens! what shall I do?" she exclaimed in despair.
"You have been robbed, poor child," said the woman. "Did I not tell you this was a cursed house?" And then, as Hilda stood white and trembling before her, she added, passionately : "It is my aut who has taken your jewels and money, but do not stay to search for it ; it would be useless."

"Look here, sir," replied the maid, pointing to a shelf in the wardrobe, upon which were piled moroocc cases of very shape and color. "My poor mistress has been ard left all her beautiful wedding presents! Oh, Lord o' mercy, whatever, should she have done that for, unless she was going to put an end to her poor self?" And Perkins, moved to a fresh burst of grief at the dismal picture she had conjur-ed up, broke into fresh sobs. "Do be quiet, Perkins," replied the young man, better able than the lady's maid to appreciate the delicacy of mind which made it impossible for Hilda to re-tain the costly gifts that had been offered by himself and their many friends on the ooccasion of the marriage of Mark Delo-raine's heiress.

spired Word in Circulation-Its value Emphasized by its Critics.

There is an article in the current issue of The London Quarterly Review giving facts and figures to show that never before has there been so great a demand for the Bible as there is to day. In England alone about 3,000,000 copies are issued every year. In nearly every other civilized country the circulation of the Bible is simply enormous, and at the present moment there are more than 200,000,000 copies of the book in circulation in 330 different languages, while the demand for it is INCREASING ALL THE TIME.

The story told by these statistics is impressive enough, but perhaps the remarkable interest now manifested in all questions relating to the Bible is even more suggestive, says the New York Tribune So many books about the Bible are consuggestive, says the New York Informe So many books about the Bible are con-stantly appearing that it is impossible to keep track of them. And the demand for good books on the subject is still un-abated. Doubtless this interest is due in abated. Doubtless this interest is due in part to the investigations of the new school of so-called higher critics, and it is therefore critical rather than spiritual. But, however that may be, that fact still remains that there is no other book in the world that is able to compate with the Bible in the in-terest, if not the affection, of men. Timid Christians, it is true, are alarmed at the growth of the critical school of Biblical scholars, but unless the Bible held in the thought of the world, no critics would think it worth while to get at its meaning, or if they did the great mass of intelligent readers wouldn't care a button what they said. Col. Ingersoll or John L. Sullivan can easily fill a big hall, largely, we suspect, with the same class of people; that is a fact the importance of which we would by no means under estimate. But while two or three thousand people are yelling with delight over the "mistakes of Moses," or the ease with which the "big fellow" can Moses, can the ease with which the "big fellow" can still go through the dumb show of fighting multitudes of earnest and intelligent men and women in every walk of life are pond-ering over the message of ne's heiress. The present day critical investi-gation of the Bible may in some respects modify or change the popular conception of it. WITH A SHEEP'S LEG.

The Boy's Shin Was Mortifying, but the Grafting May Make it all Right.

An extraordinary bone-grafting operation was performed at the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia on Wednesday, expert surgeons substituting a portion of a sheep's leg for a diseased bone in the leg of fifteen. year-old Boyd Folwell. The physicians say that their patient is doing well, although it is too early to determine although it is too early to determine whether the operation will prove a success. Some time ago young Folwell received an in jury which resulted in necrosis or rotting of the right shinbone. A few days ago it was decided that amputation of the limb would be necessary to save the boy's life and, after the parents had been so notified and prepared for the worst, Dr. Carl V. Vischer, one of the surgeons of the hospital staff, decided that bone grafting might save the limb. Accordingly a big, fine-looking sheep was procured at the stock yards and taken to Dr. Vischer's laboratory. The animal was shorn and shaved and kept in a first-class condition until Wednesday, when taken to Dr. vierners indoratory. The animal was shorn and shaved and kept in a first-class condition until Wednesday, when it was taken to the hospital. The boy was placed under the influence of ether and the part of the bone of the right leg for seven inches above the ankle joint was carefully cut away. The sheep in the meantime had been chloroformed and the surgeons cut away a portion of its foreleg to the exact measurement of the part the place of which it was to take. As soon as the bone was taken from the sheep it was fitted in the gap and the joints of the boy's bone were covered with periosteum from the sheep's bone, in order to afford the proper nourish-ment to the bone. HORSESHOES AND COFFINS ARE NOW MADE FROM WOOD PULP.

> od Imitation of Silk is Manufac tured-Rails for Steam Roads, Wash Tubs, Hats, Car Wheels and Many Other Useful Things Made of Paper.

We have had the golden age and the iron age and various other ages, but the present will probably be known as the wooden or paper age. Paper dress material masquerading as silk is the latest invention in the paper line, and threatens to drive the silk-worm out of business. Spruce saw dust, cotton or jute waste and alcohol are put into the machine and come out at the other end shining, delicately colored, rustling silks, suitable for the most fastidious lady's gown. Of course, this paper silk doesn't wear so well as the real fabric, but think how much cheaper it will be !

Enthusiastic paper manufacturers say the new woman and the new man will dine off paper dishes. It is not improbable that the hat of the future will be an indestructible paper affair, impervious to fire or water. Over in Paris any enterprising milliner will be able to show you made entirely of paper, frame, trimming, ornamente, and all. Parasols of paper do not seem to have been thought of yet, but satchels and trunks of paper are common enough. The paper trunk, despite its frail sound, is the despair of the baggage smasher. It refuses to smash. So do paper car wheels. They have been in use for years on some of the most income

So do paper car wheels. They have been in use for years on some of the most import-ant raitreads in this country. It must not be supposed that the wheels are made entirely of paper. This material only forms the interior shell. Having been sub-jected to terrific pressure, it is moulded and firmly bolted to the outer rim, which is of steel. Greater durability and lightness are steel. Greater durability and lightness are claimed for these wheels, but don't let the idea of lightness lead you to get under one. If you do you may possibly have use for one of the paper coffins which are being turned out at wholesale by a firm at Westfield, Mass. The railroad train of the future is likely not only to have paper wheels, but to run on paper rails. These are made entirely of paper and are formed in moulds under great pressure. They have been used to some extent in Russia and Germany, and are said to be free from many of the defects of the ordinary steel rail.

PAPER HORSESHOES

PAPER HORSESHOES are another European invention. Among the advantages claimed for them is that they maintain a rough surface, enabling the horse to get a good grip on the smooth pavements. German paper-makers have put on the market a substance called "papier sculptor," which is used instead of clay for modelling. It is simply paper pulp kept soit enough to be worked. Papier mache ceilings and wall decora-tions are very fashionable. They may look like, leather or brocade or a thousand and one handsome embossed effects but they are wood pulp just the same.

one handsome embossed effects but they are wood pulp just the same. The housefurnishing departments in the big shops furnish interesting evidence of the extent to which paper enters into or-dinary life. Paper pails and tubs are appreciated by the suburban dweller who hasn't "set" tubs. They are much lighter and easier to keep clean as well as cheaper than the old style. Water coolers are made of paper. So is the much-abused cuspidor.

RUSSIANS SHOW DIPLOMACY.

Emperor and Empress Cure a Man of Writing Scurrilous Verse.

A young poet had written a most scurrilous poem, in which he had described and libeled not only the empress, but also the grand dukes and duchesses. The censor of the press went and told the emperor.

"The man had better be sent off to Siberia at once," he said ; "it is not a case for delay."

"Oh, no," said the ompress, "wait little, but tell the man I desire to see him at 6 o'clock to-morrow evening."

at 6 o'clock to-morrow evening." When the poor man was told this he felt as if the last hour had come and that the emperor (Alexander II.) must intend him-self to pronounce eternal exile. He went to the palace and was shown through all the grand staterooms, one after another, without seeing anyone, till at last he arrived at a small, commonplace room at the end of them all, where was a single table with a lamp upon it, and here he saw the empress, the emperor, and all the grand dukes and duchesses whom he had mention-ed in the poem.

dukes and duchesses whom he had mention-ed in the poem. "How do you do, sir ?" said the emperor. "I hear that you have written a most beautiful poem, and I have sent for you that you may read it aloud to us yourself, and I have invited all the grand dukes and duchesses to come that they may have the pleasure of hearing you."

pleasure of hearing you." Then the poor man prostrated himself at the empero's feet. "Send me to Siberia, sir," he said; "force me to become a soldier, only do not compel me to read that poem." "O, sir, you are cruel to refuse me the pleasure, but you will not be so ungallant as to refuse the empress the pleasure of hearing your verses, and she will ask you herself."

herself." And the empress asked him. When he had finished she said: "I do not think he will write any more verses about us again. He need not go to Siberia just yet." A nobleman entered into a conspiracy against the emperor and was sentenced to Siberia. His eyes were bandaged, and to Siberia. His eyes were bandaged, and the was put in a dark carriage, and for seven days and nights they traveled on and on, only stopping to take food. At last he felt they must have reached Siberia, and in the utmost anguish he perceived that the car-riage had stopped, and the bandage was taken from his eyes, and—he was in his own home ! He had been driven round and round St. Petersburg the whole time, but the St. Petersburg the whole time; but the fright cured him.

Advertising Does It.

Enormous fortunes have been made in the manufacture of patent medicines-says a correspondent. There is a proud family in Brooklyn, N. Y., whose wealth is away up in the millions. The father who made all of it, was, not many years ago, a porter in a drug house. He invented a patent look

He says if any man will put up $200,000 for advertising purposes he will at the end of two years return not only the $200,000, but clear a profit of as much more. One man is supposed to have an income of over $200,000 from his pills, and there is a tooth wash in the market that has realized a vast fortune for its owners. Such profits are realized only that has realized a vast fortune for its owners. Such profits are realized only through judicious advertising. I am informed by one of the richest manufact-urers that he notices within a few weeks a falling off in profits when he undertakes to economize in advertising. His advertising costs him over $1,000,000 a year. Next year it will cost him $100,000 more.

Live Stock Markets.

Toronto, July 26 .- While we had the conparatively light run this morning of 38 loads, 20 came in yesterday, but none of them sold, and this made the offerings close on 60 loads. The receipts included 1480 lambs, and sheep, nearly 700 hogs, 60 calves, and a few milkers. The market was little changed, except for hogs, which were firmer The trade at Montreal was very bad yesterday, in fact, really in worse shape than is the trade here. To-day there was a good deal of buying, but prices were low, and intending buyers held off to lower prices still further. Late in the day a more active business was done and little stuff of any consequence remained unsold.

Export cattle-Trade was slow, and prices were around 4c for ordinary good shipping cattle. Several times 41c was paid, and for some choice stuff purchased by Mr. James Eakins 41c was realized. The range however, can be put at from 84 to 44c for good shippers and then had to be med to fitch the latter farm property. they had to be good to fetch the latter figure. Among the sales were six loads averaging from 1,270 to 1,360 lbs, which sold at from 4 to 41c; 3 loads averaging close on 1400 lbs, sold at 4c and $5 over a load averaging 1,275 lbs, sold at 3%c a load of 23 sold at 31c, averaging 1,250 to 1,300 lbs, sold at 37 c. Very little of the cattle could be called strictly first class

Butchers' cattle-It would be incorrect to say that the top price was 4c, though that figure was occasionally paid for picked lots of choice. For really good stuff 31 to 33 c was the range; very fair cattle sold readily at 3c per lb, and some of it much lower ; secondary stuff brought 21 to 23c, and inferior sold very slowly at around 2c per lb. Among the sales were found one lot of 10 very choice cattle averaging 1,095 lb4, sold at $3.75 per cwt; a load, averaging 1,100 lbs, sold at 81c; 28 averaging 1,075 lbs, sold at 34c; 23 averaging 1.075 lbs, sold at $31 each ; 10 averaging 1,000 lbs, sold at $35 each; 25 aver-970 lbs, sold at 21/2 per lb; 14 averaging 1.100 lbs, sold at $34.50 each. These were well fed cattle. Twenty-three, averaging 1,050 lbs, sold at 3c; and several lots from 900 to 975 lbs, sold at from 21 to 21 c per lb.

A few stockers were purchased at 21c per lb, but there is no special demand as yet, but about the middle of next month Mr. Halligan will require about 300 for export.

Milkers - There was no quotable change, but a rather better feeling existed, and we had a slight demand.

Sheep and lambs-Export sheep were selling at 31c as the top figure, but the tendency is towards lower prices. Lambs were much off, and sold from $1.75 to $2.50 each. There were too many in.

TWO YEARS' HARD LABOR.

DESCRIPTION OF LIFE IN AN ENG-LISH PRISON

LISH PRISON By One Who Has "Been There"—The Hardships of the Punishment—What is Been Yoe Without Same and the Same and the Same and Same a

as yet, except for a night in a police cell, I had no experience of durance. I went had no experience of durance. I went frost into old Newgate with no great feeling of dread; nor did I quite realize my posi-tion when deposited half an hour lat-er in "Black Maria" for my drive to Pentonville. It was only when the GREAT GATES CLANGED behind me, and I tound myself in the re-ception ward that my courage began to ebb very peremptorily to empty my pockets and gave up my watch and purse and thought the warders were harder on a man cigaretic case with reluctance. I did not of education and better class than them pike being told to strip; it was a blow to have to stand before the reception warder in my shirt, and submit to a minute exam-ination of my "distinctive marks and peculiarities." I parted with my ownclothes with regret, and after a bath-clean, hot an retreshing, I must admit-I viewed for me with positive disgust. They were for me with positive disgust. They were not new clotnes : some one-many probably -had worn them before. There was no pretence at fit, hardly as to size ; the shirt was like sandpaper, the shoes broken, irayed—such disreputable shoes were a great shock to a man who was rather proud of his feet.

ordeal, the medical-inspection, for on the flat of the prison doctor my future life and much of my comfort depended. Should I be found fit for first-class or second-class iabor ? it was a deeply momentous question. First-class hard labor at Pentonville means the tread-wheel, that useless, brutal, and degrading punishment, as it seems, but there were occasional footsteps outside, I was as much alone as if buried in a crypt or hung at the top of a mountain-all this combined to drive me to something like

The warders were very brusque, ordination, the smallest neglect or breach of the innumerable rules and regulations, of the innumerable rules and regulations, many of them useless and vexatious, which go to constitute prison discipline. I always thought the warders were harder on a man honest. Some are bribed to traffic, that most in the kitchen as one of the cooks. It was a curious situation for me to take, perhaps, but I would have gone anywhere, done anything to "get a job" out of my cell. No

night of his life. By this time the iron had entered into my soul. The miserable cell, THE TERRIBLE BED, thenauseous food, the loneliness, for although there were occasional footsteps outside, I was as much alone as if buried in a crypt or hung at the top of a mountain—all this combined to drive, me to something like South and a brief enquiry if I was "all right;" the chaplain paid me periodical visits, but we were not very good friends, for he took me too seriously to task for my sins, and thought more of my crime than I did—it had been at worst a breach of confidence, to which I had been ad by misapprehension. to which I had been led by misapprenension. So, when my long and exemplary conduct entitled me to some "privilege," and this, aided a little, I believe, by the medical report that my health was failing and that I should benefit by more freedom, led to my being offered a place in the kitchen, I gladly accepted the boon. I never regret-ted it, although the work was hard—often republic

I ted it, although the work was hard—often repulsive. After peeling potatoes, chopping suct and carrots, and mixing dough, I had to take my turn in the scullery and scour the dirty tins, but I got my bellyful of food, for, in spite of the warden's watchful eye, we constantly helped ourselves to dainty morsels, while the mere smell of the food morsels, while the mere smell of the food was satisfying, so much so that most of us soon put on the fat, greasy look of the professional cook. I had company, too, such as it was; there were about a dozen men in the kitchen, and although we are not supposed to talk, we did continually, and I made some strange not to say inconvenient acquaintances. This is the one great draw-back to "association" in prison. Irksome as is the separate cell, you at least escape the society of your fellow felons, which is apt to be degrading, corrupting and following by unpleasant consequences. The claims on my regard, the appeals to my purse, amounting to positive black-mail, from comrades who hunted me up The claims on my regard, the appears to my purse, amounting to positive black-mail, from comrades who hunted me up when we were once more "outside," are not the least objectionable of my reminders that I have done two years' imprisonment.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

Care and Wear.

It is not half as hard to care for one's clothes as it is to get them in the first instance. Yet, strangely enough, those who have the fewest garments take the least pains to preserve there freshness. Rich women having French maids have their gowns and bonnets looked after with a jealous skill that women who need such service scarcely dream of.

It is not wear that makes a drabbed mass of your best gown in a couple of months. It is lack of care when it is off your back. If you fold it up or hang it, ten to one you do it badly. Hang all your dress waists and skirts, but suppend them on "coat hangers," not on hooks or nails. The way shopkeepers care for ready-made garments is an excellent object lesson.

A large supply of coat hangers can be bought for a dollar or if you are out of reach of the ready-made articles, manufac ture them. Half a barrel hoop, with a loop of string in the middle, makes a satisfactory substitute. Hanging only serves for heavy fabrics, not when they are of thin goods. In that case garments are apt to become stringy. Light materials must be folded, sleeves and bows stuffed out with tissue paper, and all given plenty of room. Skirt bags are a luxury, even a necessity for handsome garments. They are great square sacks of white cotton, longer than the skirts, and into which the skirt can be elipped without crushing. A sachet sus-pended in the centre imparts to the skirt a 'ragrance which makes it as sweet and as fresh as a flower. Skirts should not only be brushed when Skirks should not only be brushed when taken off, but the lining ought to be well wiped with a dry cloth. This should be done at once, and the skirts then put away properly. It is turnbling about on chairs, waiting to be disposed of, that ruins quan-

wrong side out from the wrist up, not by tugging at the fingers. In the shops they always turn them, as the other method runs the shape, and is likely to tear the kid

The best way to preserve the crispness of veils is by rolling them up in long, narrow sachets made for the purpose; the tulle is straightened out, folded, laid on the sachet and rolled up with it, and the whole tied with a ribbon fastened to the outside of the veil case. All closets and clothes presses need fre-An close is and rious present red re-quent sumings and airings. Clothing, too, should be exposed now and again, just as you sun your bedding. That is one of the most sweetening measures in the world. Dress waist linings can be kept wonderfully in ddition and be been wonderfully nice if in addition you occasionally wipe them off with a cloth dampened with very weak ammonia water. Of course, the shields should be frequently changed.

Care of Floors.

With regard to washing floors, the wors thing for them is too much water. Whether the boards be bare or you have a linoleum or oil cloth, at the best some of the water must find its way underneath, where, having no air to dry, it gradually but inevitably damages boards, coverings and health This fact is coming to be recognized, and s dryer made of cleaning is being adopted.

This is a good way : Rub the linoleum, or whatever the covering is, with a cloth wrung out of warm water, and, when dry, polish it with thin beeswax and turpentine, as they do stained floors. The effect is most satisfactory, to say nothing of the fact that the length of the wear is almost pressing and squeezing it through the water until clean. Do not think of wring-ing dry, but press out all the moisture possible and dry in a warm place the exposure to sunlight. When it damp, lay the right side on a fland, and press on the wrong side. Use only the best crewels if you expect them to wash well. well.

Some Hints.

A tablespoonful of kerosene added to the starch when boiling prevents it from sticking to the iron and leaves no odor. Silken fabrics should never be folded in white paper. The chloride of lime which is used to bleach the paper causes a chemical change in the silk, and injures the color.

Do not attempt to extinguish the flames of blazing oil with water ; it will only make them worse. Pour corn meal or flour quickly over them, or throw over a rug or anything handy that will exclude the air.

A simple way to remove grease spots from wall paper, caused by the head resting against the wall, is to hold a piece of clean blotting paper over the spot and press a moderately warm flat iron over it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

seemingly well-tounded reports are n ling, war is a possibility of the immediate future, involving on the on side China, Russia and France, and on the other Japan and Great Britain. It is evident that Russia will extend her sovereignty south to the Yellow Sea sooner or later, and at any cost ; and it is natural that she should seek to do so by first get ting a lien on China in a loan of $80,000,000 to settle up with Japan, and, secondly, by forming a Chinese compact, defensive and aggressive, to make another step forward in her march to the Pacific.

Alliance between Russia and China in logical. In the thirteenth century a Tartar from Mongolia invaded China and formed a dynasty which ruled over the whole eastern part of Asia except Japan from the end of the thirteenth past the middle of the fourteenth century. The present dynasty in China is also of Mongolian extraction. It has long been prophesied that Russia, with the Mongol Tartars, would cleave a way to the Yellow Sea. The prophecy has been, in part, fulfilled. When by the treaty of Pekin foreign ambassadors were permitted to take up residence at the imperial capital Russia sent as her plenipotentiary a man who more than any other of modern times after Napoleon combined the diplomatic and military genius. Ignatieff blandly wor his way into the confidence of the allies, and as soon as the treaty had been conclud ed he obtained for Russia eastern Siberia with Vladivostock. This was in 1858. The foundation, therefore, of Russia's expecta tions in that quarter is Chinese : but she did not hesitate to resort to Japan for its first addition. The Island of Saghalien Russia obtained the following year, in exchange for the Kurile Island, which was then apparently of greater importance to Japan. In fact, Russia wanted it because it formed a huge break water at the mouth of the Amoor. It also commands the northern entrance to the Sea of Japan and is rich in coal.

It appears to be the intention of Russia in avowed defiance of Japan to go southward to Port Lazareff as the natural outlet for her trans-Siberian railway. While the government of Japan felt compelled to abandon a claim for territory on the main land from China rather than to face a way with Russia, popular feeling throughout the island has proved more powerful than the discretion of the mikado. Flushed with victory, their treasury to be replen. ished by cash indemnification, the Japanese are liable to drive their rulers into another conflict, compared with which that with China was boys' play.

Rumor of a compact between Great Britain and Japan in regard to a possible conflict with Russia receives collateral corroboration in the sudden summons of Lord Dufferin from Paris to Downing street. The course to be pursued by Great Britain in the east is necessarily to be affected materially by that to be adopted by France. Decoration of the president of the French republic by the Czar was undoubtedly intended to confirm. immediately following it, announcement by the French government that a treaty was in existence between Russia and the republic, and England has a vital interest on the Nile which may be more nearly involved in the secret understanding than any concern of Germany. It is a curious coincidence of a rapid series of international vents that, while the French people were in frenzy participation by their ships in the festivities at Kiel, a new Egyptian committee should be formed at Paris for the purpose of "persuading" England to withdraw her troops from Egypt.

A STORY FOR MOTHERS

Which May Save the Lives of Their Daughters.

Young Lady at Merrickville Saved When Near Death's Door-Her Illness Brought About by Ailments Peculiar to Her Sex-Only One Way in Which They Can Be Successfully Besist rom the Ottawa Citizen.

Perhaps there is no healthier people on the continent of America to-day than the residents of the picturesque village of Merrick ville, situated on the Rideau river, restance of the picturesque village of Merrickville, situated on the Rideau river, and the reason is not so much in its salub-rious elimate as in the wise precautions isease by a timely use of proper medicine. The greatest favorite is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and many are the testimonials regard to their virtues. Your correspon-ent on Monday last called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. Esston, and interviewed heir daughter, Miss Hattie Easton, a andsome young lady of 20 years, who is stored to health by the use of Pink Pills, Yea," she said, "I suffered a great deal, wit I am so thankful that I am once more estored to health. You have no idea estored to health. You have no idea that it is to be so near the portels and feel hat everything in life's future is about to lip from your grasp and an early grave our doom. I was taken ill four years ago with troubles peculiar to my sex, and with troubles peculiar to my sex, and which have hurried many a young woman o her doom-an early grave. I have aken in all about twenty boxes of Pink ills, and I am only too glad to let the orld know what these wonderfal little ellets have done for me, hoping that some ond above what these wonderin intrie elles have done for me, hoping that some her unfortunate young woman may be encars of age 1 began to grow pale, and eask and many thought I was going to decline. I became subject to faint-ag spells and at times would become noonscious. My strength gradually de-eased and I became so emacisted that I as simply a living skeleton. My blood semed to turn to water and my face was ne color of a corpse. I had tried different inds of medicines, but shey did me no ood. I was at last a friend strongly arged the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pils und after using a few boxes I began to grow elightly stronger. I continued their use and after using a few boxes I began to grow elightly stronger. I continued their use until I had used about twelve boxes, when I found myself restored to health. I now quit using the pills and for six months I never felt better in my life. Then I began to feel that I was not as regular as I should be and to feel the old tired feeling once more coming on. Once more I resorted to Pink Pills and by tha time I had need six more coming on. Once more I resorted to Pink Pills, and by the time I had used six boxes I found my health fully restored. I keep a box by me and occasionally when I teel any symptoms of a return of the old trouble, I take a few and I am all right again. I cannot find words of sufficient wight to express my apprecipition of the sgain. I cannot find words of sufficient weight to express my appreciation of the wonderfulcurative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and sincerely hope that all who are afflicted as I was will give them a trial and I am certain they will find renewed health." health The facts above related are important to parents as there are many young girls just budding into womanhood whose condition is, to say the least, more critical than their parents imagine. Their complexion is pale and waxy in appearance, troubled with heart palpitation, headaches, shortness of breath, on the slightest exercise, faintness and other distressing symptoms which in variably lead to a premature grave unless prompt steps are taken to bring about a natural condition of health. In this emergency no remedy yet discovered can supply the place of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which build anew the blood, strengthen the nerves and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow checks. They are cer-tain cure for all troubles peculiar to the female system, young or old.

of South American Kidney Cure. The suffering from kidney trouble endured by men and women who are getting a little up in years is often exceedingly distressing. The annoyance and inconvenience caused by a de-rangement of the kidneys is only too plain to all who have been troubled in this way. How keen the distress is at times from what is known as prostatic troubles in the old, such as enlargement, inflammation and ulceration of the prostate gland. Without any present or after unpleasant effects South American Kidney Cure gives immediate and lasting relief in all such cases. It is a wonderful medicine for kidney trouble of whatover kind. It is essentially a kidney cure, and boaste of nothing more. But it is king here every time. $15. 00 PER WEEK and steady employ-tion of the steady employ-you live. has been made with Japan to resist Russian aggression on the Pacific, popular feeling in the United Kingdom will probably ap prove of its almost certain consequence. It was the Tory party, moreover, that made Great Britain a power in the east. Salisbury is the lineal heir of the ideas of Derby, Palmerston and Disraeli. The English manufacturers would not be averse to a conflict that would put a little further off absorption of much of their eastern market by Japan. It would be, indeed, the beginning of a startling chapter in the history of the world should Great Britain once or the work should Great Britain once-more become a fighting power in the east, standing with Japan to resist the descent of the Cossacks into the western world. If Russia can keep back England and Japan with the help of China, the sequel, the long predicted rattle of the Cossack hoof in the halls of Constantinople, would seem to be within realization. to be within realization.
