He was rejected as physically unfit, so he turned his attention to the munition factories, where he had been steadily employed ever since. His remains were brought to Mildmay on Monday to the home of his uncle, Mr. John M. Fischer, and interred in the Formosa R. C. cemetery on Tuesday morning.

Honor Departing Members.

The Mildmay Presbyterian congregation assembled in the church on Thursday evening of last week and presented Mrs. J. A. Wilson with an address and a life membership in the Women's Home Mission Society. Dr. Wilson and Miss F. M. Robb were also presented with complimentary addresses by the congregation. This family has occupied a very prominent place in the church, and their removal will be felt very seriously. Dr. Wilson made a very appropriate and touching reply, in which he regretted the breaking up of his church associations at Mildmay.

Obituary.

The death of Mrs. Alexander Schumacher which took place on Tuesday morning of this week, is one of the saddest events that has taken place here for many years. Mrs. Schumacher took sick with pneumonia about ten days ago and at first she seemed to be doing very well. On Monday, however, her condition became worse until the end came early on Tuesday morning. Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hoelze of Carrick, and was about 45 up in this township. She was about 45 years of age. She was a woman possessed of many excellent qualities, and will be greatly missed in the home and in the neighborhood. Her husband and two sons and two daughters survive her. The funeral takes place this morning to the Mildmay R. C. cemetery.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY AID VICTORY LOAN

As an instance of how science and industry have co-operated in helping to win the war, it is interesting to note that Sir Thomas White, K.C.M.G., Minister of Finance, has made a special "His Master's Voice" record for the purpose of actually informing the Canadian Public in his own voice concerning the need of the second Victory Loan. Science has thus made it possible for the voice of the Finance Minister to be heard in thousands of places in every part of the Country at the same time. The illustration shows Sir Thomas "caught in the act" as he made his special recording at the laboratories of the Berliner Gramo-phon Company, Limited, Montreal.

The Double-Walled Secret

By Edwin Beard

CHAPTER II.

"Ah, father!" he heard the girl say, and a deep voice answered. Then the door closed and he could hear them talking just outside in lower tones. It seemed to Keley that an age had passed—an age of suspense, pain, uncertainty and bewilderment—before the door opened to admit a tall, broad, white-haired man of indeterminate age. His ruddy skin and unclouded eye denoted a life lived largely out-of-doors, yet the lines in his face were plainly put there by suffering or hard toil, or both. As he came briskly into the room he removed his coat and then, sitting beside the leather couch, he rolled up his shirt-sleeves and fell to work on Keley's broken arm without speaking a word. His daughter stood behind him holding splints and bandages. His sinewy fingers moved with precision and skill, and presently Keley's arm was set as ready as a young surgeon could have done it. The man signaled to his daughter to leave, and when she had gone he spoke to Keley for the first time. "What pen did you break from?" "Joliet," came the prompt answer. "When?" "Last night. I had friends outside. They got these clothes for me." "And the splint?" "They got that, too. I was an aviator before I was sent up." Keley winced inwardly at the untruths, and felt thoroughly ashamed of himself. Was life worth purchasing at such a price? The white-haired man frowned and said: "I believe you're lying. You don't look or talk like a jolly bird. However, I'll soon know." He rose. "In any case," he flung over his shoulder as he started from the room, "you don't leave this house. Understand that. If you're telling the truth you won't want to leave." Keley lay staring at the frescoed ceiling, his mind busy with the things that had happened since that 2,000 foot drop. All of his thoughts converged at one point and that point puzzled him; his imagination, though fertile, could fashion no reason for the strange behavior of these people, into who a home ill luck had brought him. He tried to rise, but a rush of blood to his head checked the impulse. In moving his feet to the floor he saw that his shoes had been removed, and they lay in his weird incarceration. He smiled mindlessly at the thought. He was sitting on the edge of the couch, his throbbing temples pressed between right thumb and fingers, elbow resting on his knee, when the girl came in to him. "You didn't convince father," she said. "He's gone ten miles to the nearest telephone to disprove your preparations." Keley said listlessly: "Let him. What do I care?" She stood with her back to a heavy oak table, her hands resting lightly on the edge, her compelling eyes on him curiously, speculatively. He noticed that she had changed to a house dress of Nile green silk and foamy lace, and a little earlier it came over him that she was one of the most striking girls he had ever seen—and quite as new unusual. "Did you follow my instructions?" she asked. "Not all of them. I hadn't time." He looked up, met her eyes. "I'm tired of guessing at puzzles," he said. "Won't you clear things up for me, please?" Again he saw that troubled expression on her pliant face. She hesitated momentarily, then walked over and sat down near him. "Did you ever, she asked, looking at him, 'hear of Redmond Stryker?' And when he shook his head: "He's my father—the man who was here a little while ago. When I was three months old he was arrested for murder. He was innocent, but the evidence against him was strong and he was sent to prison for fifteen years. It killed mother. He left the penitentiary after serving ten years. And he was a different man." She paused and sat staring broodingly at the rug, her chin cupped in her palm. After a pause he asked: "Didn't they ever find the right man?" She answered with an almost imperceptible shake of her head. Sitting beside her, regarding her bowed head and girlish figure, outlined slenderly in the gathering dusk, young Keley mused upon what she had told him; the tragedy of a lifetime compressed in a few brief sentences. But the thought of his own predicament soon drove all others from mind. "I'm still in the dark," he protested. "Why should your father feel savage toward me?" She glanced up swiftly, her blue eyes kindling. "Why shouldn't he?" she flared. "You are a member of the society, civilization—call it what you will—which made those barbarous laws that sent him to prison. Why shouldn't he hate you? Why shouldn't he?" She leaned toward him, fists clenched, eyes blazing. In that instant he thought her superb. "And you?" he countered, striving to speak lightly. "Are you also a member of that society?" "No." And she struck her little fist into the leather seat. "I am on father's side, now and always! I am opposed to the law and all it stands for. It is rotten to the core, unjust, heinous! And you—" She checked her runaway tongue and drew slightly away. She was breathing rather more rapidly than normal, for she had spoken fiercely, and her mounting emotion had sent an excess of blood to her cheeks, richly flushing the five-grained skin. "Well?" bantered he, trying to fancy her in his mother's living-room. "What's to be done with me? Am I to be decapitated?" She did not respond to his smile. Instead, she stared at him silently; and he noticed that her bosom was rising and falling less tempestuously now. "I think I told you," she said presently, "that your arrival marked a precedent." "Then my punishment is problematical." She nodded unsmiling acquiescence. "I can only throw myself on your mercy," he said, leaning back in his corner of the couch and staring at her. He was beginning to enjoy his adventure in a mill sort of way. Some-how, he could not take the thing seriously. "If my arm and mono-plane weren't disabled I should bid you adieu and fly away. As it is 'He lifted his right shoulder and sighed. Her big, solemn eyes were on his face again. "I am sorry you view your position with levity. It will anger father." He pretended to become sober. "And if I should—what do you suppose he would do to me?" "I don't know. You can not leave here without his consent—that I do know. The place is well guarded by men with rifles." "And he would hold me against my will, against all law?" She interrupted sharply: "We're cognize no law except our own." "But where's the sense in it?" he demanded. "What am I to him? What can he gain by making a prisoner of me? If it's money—" But a flash from her eyes stopped him. She got up abruptly, took a turn about the room, touching a statuette here, a book there, her brows knitted, eyes troubled. Suddenly she faced him. "When you fell—did you—see anything unusual?" The words came jerkily, but her gaze was as steady as blue steel. "Nothing more unusual," said he, "than a huge double-walled thing without windows nor any decent roof. If there's a door I didn't see it. And I'll bet it's damp inside." "You didn't see what was inside?" Her voice, though low, was keyed to its highest tension. "No," he shook his head, puzzled by the way she looked at him. "I couldn't see through the grating. I was falling too fast, and the light wasn't right." She said nothing for a minute or two, but he could see that she was relieved. She stood beside the table, looking at him. "Perhaps," she said finally, "I may be able to save you. Let me warn you to be guarded in what you say to father. It is too late now to assume an archaic pose. He will know who you are when he returns. Above all, show no curiosity in what you have seen or may surmise. Say as little as possible. If I succeed in prevailing upon him to let you go he will probably enjoin you to silence. You must swear to say nothing of your stay here." She replaced the book on the table and, glancing at him briefly, started from the room. A new phase of the situation struck Keley. "I suppose you think I'm a cad," he began, "for showing such a pronounced dislike for you—shall I say hospitality?—but the unusual circumstances—" he halted lamely. She had stopped at the door, her hand on the knob, and her attitude seemed to say: "If you are trying to be funny you are a ridiculous failure. If not, you display ill-breeding." Then, without speaking, she went out and closed the door quietly behind her. Laboriously, Keley stretched his length on the divan again. He was frowning. His bandaged arm, held rigidly in the splints, was aching with a steady, dull throb. He tried to see the humor in his predicament, but it escaped him somehow. The girl's demeanor was amusing, very. He had either fallen into a madhouse, or that much was certain! The ache in his arm increased its tempo, rising and falling, rising and

How We Cook in War-Time.

The girls of today hear their grandmothers and great-grandmothers tell how they made their own books of tried recipes, handing them from family to family, and down from generation to generation; directions for richly-compounded cakes, savory meats, jams, pickles, sauces, and all the more or less heavy, delicious "eats" of the long ago. Yesterday's girls could cook but today's girls have a work to do that combines responsibilities in food-chemistry, food-production, food-cost, food storage, food-economy, food-preparation—almost startling responsibilities. But the girls can do it—they are doing it.

Here are some tested recipes:

Apple Catsup.—1 quart apple sauce, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 pint vinegar, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon onion extract, 2 teaspoons salt. Simmer slowly until thick, bottle and seal. A similar catsup can be made from plums or grapes, and spiced to taste. Molasses may be added if a sweet sauce is liked.

Cucumber Catsup.—1 dozen large cucumbers, 1 quart vinegar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cayenne. Gather cucumbers before sun strikes them and keep in a cool place until used. Peel and grate the cucumbers and drain off the water. Heat vinegar and spices to boiling point; pour at once over the grated cucumber, bottle and seal. Cucumbers bottled in this way retain their freshness and make a particularly good sauce for steak.

All the year around there is a place on the home table for cold meats. Don't depend on tin cans for these meats. You can prepare delightful dishes without drawing on the national reserve of canned meats. It is a good plan, too, to pile up your own reserve of home-canned meats.

Pickled Tongue.—Boil a fresh tongue by placing it in hot water, let come to boil and boil gently for three hours or until tender. When cooked remove from water, skin, put back into water and let get cold. Slice in thin slices, put one layer of sliced tongue in bottom of an earthenware crock, then one layer of sliced onions, a few thin slices of lemon, salt, pepper a little sugar and mixed spices. Repeat until all material is used up, having the onion and lemon on top. Cover all with vinegar. If vinegar is too strong, use two-thirds vinegar and one part water.

Pressed Beef Tongue.—1 beef tongue, 1 veal shank, cayenne, salt, pepper, 2 tablespoons catsup. Boil tongue and veal shank together for three hours, putting it on to boil in cold water. This will draw out all the gristle of the deal bone. When tender, skin the tongue, cut in slices, or put through a coarse meat grinder. Add salt, pepper, cayenne and catsup, put into a mold and cover mixture with the liquid in which it has been boiled. When cold, turn out on a platter, slice and serve.

Calf's Head Cheese.—1 calf's head, 1 tablespoon chopped herbs, pepper, salt. Put calf's head in enough water to cover, let come to a boil and boil gently until meat leaves the bone. Take up with a skimmer, put into an earthen bowl, season with salt, pepper and chopped herbs. Lay a cloth in colander, put minced meat into it, fold a cloth over the top, weight down with a plate. When cold, slice and serve with mustard.

Potted Liver.—Wash and cut up two pounds of beef liver. Cover with cold water, let come to a boil, and simmer until tender. Press through a potato ricer; add one-half cupful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and a dash of pepper. Beat the above mixture to a smooth paste. Mince a good sized onion and a few sprigs of parsley and stir into the mashed liver. Put in jars in a cold place and it will keep for some time.

Pork Loaf.—1 lb. chopped ham, 1 lb. chopped fresh pork, 3 table-spoons falling. He closed his eyes tiredly. His face, in the paling light of the dying day, looked drawn, waxen. Listlessly, indifferently, he became aware that several persons had entered the room; and then he heard the slay of a button—and raised himself slightly, blinking his eyes against the dazzling light that filled the room. Stryker stood near the door, his finger still on the electric button. Behind him, filling the doorway, were the three Africans and a fifth man, whose dead-white skin, bullet-shaped head and hangdog look proclaimed the habitual criminal. The button clicked again and the room was thrown back into darkness. He heard Stryker say something in a quiet voice, heard a tramping of feet, and the coach on which he lay was lifted from the floor and borne toward the hall. He muttered something—he knew not what—and attempted to rise, with some wild idea of leaping to the floor and dashing to the windows. But a hand closed upon his throat and crushed him back. He struck out smartly with his right fist and dislodged the strangling grip. He felt a roose tighten about his ankles. He drew his feet toward him and lashed back with all his strength, loosening the rope, which was immediately drawn taut again. (To be continued.)

chopped onion, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon pepper, 1 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1 tablespoon sage, 1 egg, 1-3 cup cream. Chop meat—and onion and mix together. Add egg and cream. Shape into loaf and tie in cheesecloth. Simmer 2 1/2 hours in 3 quarts of boiling water, to which 1 teaspoonful of salt and 4 table-spoons of vinegar have been added. Drain, press and cool.

If the children of the family are enrolled with the wheatless, reward them with a treat now and then. Little cakes mean so much to little people.

Hermits.—1/4 cup fat, 3 table-spoons corn syrup, 2 table-spoons molasses, 1 egg, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup chopped raisins, 1-3 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, barley flour to roll. Combine the ingredients as for cake. Roll thin. Shape with small cookie cutter and bake on tin sheet. For drop cakes use less flour.

Brownies.—Substitutes two squares of melted chocolate for the raisins in above recipe and flavor with vanilla instead of cinnamon or cloves.

Do you know all the dainty ways of using corn meal? You can cook it three times 365 ways and then have enough recipes left to fill a book. Here is a group of Corn Royal desserts—warming desserts—made with cornmeal that are a little bit different.

Cornmeal Puffs.—1 quart milk, 1/2 cup cornmeal, 4 table-spoons syrup, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 6 eggs. Bring milk to boil, stir in meal, sugar and nutmeg and boil five minutes—stirring constantly. Allow mixture to cool, when stir in the eggs beaten very light. Place in custard cups and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with lemon sauce or fresh fruit sauce.

Delicate Indian Pudding.—1 pint milk, 4 table-spoons syrup, 1 table-spoon butter, 1/4 cup cornmeal, 3 eggs, salt, 1/2 cup milk and sift meal in slowly; add butter, sugar and salt. Set aside to cool, then add beaten eggs. Bake in baking pan 45 minutes.

Corn Short-Cake.—Make an egg cornbread, fill two buttered layer cake pans one-quarter full and bake. Turn out, butter and pile up with berries that have been cut in half and allowed to stand covered with sugar. Shredded pineapple, or stewed fruit may be used. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Most housekeepers know that in some recipes eggs replace baking powder and that the lightness of sponge cake depends on well beaten eggs; but not every housekeeper is familiar with cornbreads that are made without baking powder or soda. This is the way that plain cornbread and delicate egg breads are often made in the cornbread belt. Only coarse white meal is used in these breads; the same results cannot be obtained with bolted white meal or yellow cornmeal.

Don't expect cornbread to look like wheat bread. Spoon breads are soft but not runy; corn ponies are hard but not too heavy. Eat cornbread for what it is—it has served millions of people for many years.

Sponge Cornbread.—1 quart milk, 2 cups cornmeal, 1 table-spoon butter, 1 table-spoon salt, 2 eggs. Bring the milk to boiling point and pour it on the meal; add butter and salt and set mixture away over night. In the morning beat up and add two well-beaten eggs. Pour in well-greased earthen plates and bake 25 minutes.

Butter Bread.—1 quart milk, 2 cups cornmeal, 1 table-spoon butter, 1 table-spoon salt, 3 eggs. Batter-bread or spoon bread, the name tells the story. It should be soft like a pudding, and like a pudding served with a spoon. Bring the milk to the boiling point and pour over the cornmeal, mix and allow to cool a little; add salt, beaten eggs and butter (butter may be omitted); fold in well beaten whites, bake in pudding dish 45 minutes or in shallow dish 25 minutes.

NEW BRUNSWICK TIMBER

To Be Disposed of on Stumpage Basis Instead of Under Lease.
New Brunswick has made a radical change in its method of disposing of timber of Crown lands. Heretofore long leases were given resulting in any increase of value going to the lumber operator. Now, timber cutting privileges will be offered at auction on a straight stumpage basis of so much per thousand feet. The Provincial Government will scale all the lumber cut. It is likely that the change will result in a substantial increase in forest revenue.

Another progressive move on the part of New Brunswick has been the recent organization of a technically-trained forest service.

She Pinched 'Em.

Queen Mary sent a beautiful bouquet that had been presented to her to a soldiers' hospital. To show their appreciation the inmates commissioned one of their number to stand at the hospital gate the following morning, holding the gift, when the queen passed. He did so—with hither unexpected results. Queen Mary, standing in her car, saw the soldier bearing that bouquet in hand, and assuming that he wished to present it to her, she reached out and took it. After she had thanked him her car passed on.

The soldier stood quite dumfounded—then, recovering his speech, he said: "Well, she pinched 'em."

Cold—Very!

The car was boarded by a husky soldier in the picturesque Highland uniform. On the car was a young slacker with his best girl. The girl cast admiring glances at the attractively uniformed "kiltie," much to the displeasure of the slacker escort. So he endeavored to make fun of the uniform by remarking: "That fellow's knees look as if they were frozen."

The kiltie, overhearing the comment, glanced contemptuously at the dude's civilian clothes, then scornfully replied: "Aweel, I'm thinking my knees aren't as cold as your feet."

The slacker got off at the next stop.

Mail Order System.

Issued by Canada Food Board.
Through its provincial committees the Food Board is calling the attention of fish dealers to the necessity for supplying people in rural localities with fifty or one hundred pound boxes of frozen fish by the mail order system for the winter months. This is an innovation which should appeal to the farmer, as all he has to do is to send in his order and his box of frozen fish will be delivered by express. It is a matter which should be given immediate attention by the enterprising fish dealer.

KING ALBERT ENTERS OSTEND AT HEAD OF CONQUERING BELGIANS

Vice-Admiral Keyes Had Previously Landed and Found Port Cleared of the Enemy—Bruges Entered by Advance Guards.

A despatch from London says: King Albert of Belgium and Queen Elizabeth on Thursday afternoon entered Ostend, one of the principal German submarine bases on the Belgian coast. Earlier in the day a large squadron of the Royal Air Force, followed by Admiral Keyes, of the British navy, landed in the port.

The British Admiralty statement reads: "Members of the Royal Air Force landed at Ostend Thursday morning, and reported it clear of the enemy. Vice-Admiral Keyes, commanding Dover patrol, landed at Ostend on Thursday afternoon at 12:55 o'clock."

A force of Belgians, assisted by French cavalry and infantry, is driving northward to strike the bridges on the coast and also cut the Ghent Canal. While possibilities exist in this movement.

It is reported that patriots have already entered Bruges, the second submarine base, but there are large German forces still defending the city. The enemy was driven back rapidly everywhere on Thursday and the entire front from the sea southward is in motion. The British have entered Lille. The Germans fled precipitately from Ostend and that section of the Belgian coast. Shortly before that Belgian aviators landed in the centre of the city amid the cheers of the inhabitants.

Meanwhile the Belgian infantry and French cavalry sweeping up toward the coast at last reports were rapidly nearing the city and probably will be in it before daylight. Ostend is reported entirely free now of Germans, those left in the city as rear-guards having been accounted for.

The Germans seem to be in full flight everywhere, especially from Belgium, for the gap through which they must escape between the advancing allied troops and the frontier of Holland is constantly being narrowed, and unless the enemy moves rapidly large numbers may be caught.

A despatch from the Allied Armies in Belgium says:—Belgian patrols have entered Bruges and cavalry is operating on both sides. Belgian guns are now firing from south of the city.

CITY OF LILLE HAS SURRENDERED TO THE FIFTH BRITISH ARMY

Douai Also Occupied by Haig's Troops—Wonderful Scenes Witnessed in the Liberated Towns.

A despatch from London says:—Lille is in possession of the allies. The 5th British Army encircled and captured the great French manufacturing town on Thursday.

Describing the surrender of the city the correspondent of the Associated Press at British headquarters wires: "At 4 o'clock on Thursday morning the German command at Lille ordered all the inhabitants to assemble as promptly as possible. As they hurried through the gloom of the streets they observed the garrison marching out. They were told to go out to the British lines and meet their friends. Then came the rhythmic tramp of infantry, which gradually died away. The Germans had departed from Lille.

At dawn a British airman flying over the city beheld a most amazing sight. The streets were thronged with civilians who were frantically waving handkerchiefs and shawls. Not a soldier could be seen. The aviator quickly turned and carried the news back to the British lines. Patrols advanced immediately and entered the city.

British drums were beating through the streets of Lille on Thursday morning, while the British patrols advanced east of the city in contact with the retreating Germans. The evacuation of Lille and the British entry into the city was one of the most dramatic events of the war.

British troops entered the town of Douai on Thursday, after overcoming the enemy's resistance on the line of the Haute Deule Canal, according to the official statement from the War Office on Thursday night.

LONDON PAPERS PRAISE CANADIANS

Celebrate the Fourth Anniversary of Landing of First Canadian Contingent.

A despatch from Ottawa, Ont., says:—London newspapers, despite the volume of news matter arising out of the German peace proposals, devote considerable space to the celebration of the fourth anniversary of the landing of the first Canadians in England.

The Morning Post gives the magnificent record of the work done by the whole arduous experiences of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, which, it says, "forms one of the proudest chapters in the doomsday book of the great war."

The second "battle of Ypres," says the Post, "was as formidable an experience as any new troops have ever known, but the Germans were pinned down by Canadian bayonets."

Apart from the Pall Mall Gazette, which devoted two and a half columns of Hail Cain's splendid appreciation of Canada's services to the Empire, the Westminster Gazette gave a column to the record of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, headed, "Salute to Canada." The rest of the evening papers all devote much space and favorable comment.

The Observer contained a column special. The Daily News also makes a fine acknowledgment of the Canadian record in the war, and although Canada has seldom received such widespread and glowing praise as has just been given her by the London Papers.

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Some Interesting Facts About Its History, Prevention and Treatment.

Influenza, which is now sweeping over Canada from one end to the other, is a very old disease. It was known in ancient times, and as early as 1510 it over-ran the whole civilized world. For centuries it has periodically swept over various parts of the world. The last great world epidemic was in 1889-1890 when it was generally known by the French name of la grippe. The disease has always travelled from east to west.

The symptoms are similar to those of a heavy cold: more or less severe headache, cold in the head and throat, fits of sneezing, flushed face, chills, aches and pains in the back and limbs, pains in the eye-balls and behind the eyes, general physical depression and temperature rising to between 101 and 104 degrees.

oil of eucalyptus, thymol, oil of mountain pine and the like are also valuable as preventives.

When a person is struck by influenza, only one course lies open. That is to take to bed with the least possible delay, and call a doctor. Rest, warmth and quiet are three sovereign remedies of the primary disease, and the best preventive of its more deadly complications, of which pneumonia is the most frequent. While there is no specific for influenza, yet there are many drugs which play a useful part in relieving it, such as quinine, aspirin and various tonics, anti-neuralgic, antiseptic and heart medicines, to be prescribed by the physician in charge.

The dietetic rules which apply to any fever apply equally to influenza. Liquid foods at first, solids a little later on in a gradually ascending scale from lightly boiled fresh eggs to chicken, roast joints, etc. Water, cold or hot, may be sipped or "egg water" may be given. This excellent dish is prepared by blending with a pint of cold water, the whipped whites of from 2 to 4 eggs, flavored with salt or cinnamon. Then the animal broths may be given. There are many cases in which even the lightest foods are spurned with loathing, and common sense must be used in adapting diet to the particular case in hand.

As it is such an old disease, doctors have naturally learned a great deal about its prevention and treatment. The first principle of prevention is to keep away from those infected, and the second, to build up the germ-resisting parts of the body by eating nourishing foods, dressing comfortably, getting lots of sleep, and by living in the open air and in bright, well-ventilated rooms as much as possible. The mucous membrane of the nose should be systematically and frequently disinfected by antiseptic inhalations, sprays and washes. Such preparations as chloroform and listerine are well adapted for this purpose.

In fighting previous epidemics, doctors found quinine a useful preventive. One grain of sulphate of quinine mixed with (but not dissolved in) a wineglassful of cold water makes an excellent antiseptic gargle. The anti-microbial properties of quinine are well known and its use as described above at once relieves the symptoms of some throat, which result from the strain of the fight between the white blood corpuscles and the invading germs in the tonsils—the body's first line of defence. Quinine is also given internally with success as a preventive. In one of the more recent outbreaks in Europe, an experiment was tried in which the men of one squadron of a regiment of cavalry were each given 7½ grains of quinine in ½ ounce of whiskey daily for 22 days, whilst those of the other squadrons had from 22 to 44 cases each of influenza, whilst the squadron treated with quinine developed only 4 cases. Inhalations of Precautions Against Influenza.

(1.) The sick should be separated from the healthy. This is especially important in the case of first attacks in the household.

(2.) Discharges from the nose and mouth should not be allowed to get dry on a pocket handkerchief or inside the house, office or factory. They should at once be collected in paper or clean rags and burned. If this cannot be done, they should be dropped into a vessel containing water.

(3.) Infected articles and rooms should be cleansed and disinfected. Use disinfectants everywhere. Wash the hands frequently.

(4.) Those attacked should not, on any account, mingle with other people for at least a period of ten days from the commencement of the attack. In severe cases, they should remain away from work for a longer period.

(5.) Special attention should be given to cleanliness and ventilation. Warm clothing should be worn, the feet should be kept dry and all unnecessary exposure avoided.

BRITISH, FRENCH AND AMERICANS ADVANCE SOUTH OF LE CATEAU

Many Villages Captured and 3,000 Prisoners Taken by Anglo-Americans—French Take Village of Talma.

A despatch from London says: This was a black day for the German arms. While from Lille to the sea a wonderful crop of brilliant successes was being garnered, the British 4th army, with an American division, attacked on a front of nine miles north-east of Bohain and south-east of Cambrai, where heavy fighting has taken place all day. The British carried the line of the Selle River on the whole front south of Le Cateau, establishing themselves on the railway beyond the town. Seven German divisions were hurled back after determined counter-attacks and 3,000 prisoners captured.

The new thrust was made at a point where the enemy was trying to effect his main retreat.

A despatch from the French Forces in France says: Progress continued to be made by the allied forces on Thursday on the eastern wing of the battlefield in the face of stout opposition. The German resistance was especially determined west of Grand Pre, in the Argonne, where the Germans still hold Talma Farm in a small salient.

Gen. Gouraud's men have taken Hill 222 and the village of Talma, 1,000 yards to the north, and Little Talma, about the same distance south of the hill from where the line bends around the American positions north of Grand Pre. The 5th French army, under Gen. Guillaumat, former Military Governor of Paris, met with serious opposition on Wednesday, but gained a footing at one point in the enemy's positions.

Along the Oise River the Germans continue to resist stubbornly, counter-attacking fiercely at the village of Choigny.

BELGIAN REFUGEES FLEE BEFORE HUN

Hundreds of Thousands of Inhabitants Pour Into Eastern Sections.

A despatch from Washington says: Refugees from northern France and Belgium, who are fleeing before the retreating German armies with the hope of making their way into Holland, may be taken care of in eastern sections of Belgium.

"Several hundreds of thousands of French and Belgians have arrived in the Belgian territory administered by the German General Government," said the message. "Other bands of refugees are reported to be on the way, and the National Commission for assistance and revictualing is taking measures to feed the refugees during their journey and also to distribute them throughout the country. The newspapers report that they are traveling towards the Dutch frontier, but they have not yet reached Holland. It is not certain that they will be obliged to leave Belgium, where preparations have been made to care for them.

"In case their exodus from Belgium is necessary, the Holland Government gives assurance that they will be received on its territory. In this case their feeding will be assured by the Commission for Belgian Relief."

"Have you dug your potatoes yet?" is a live question asked on the streets these days. Reports vary among the more extensive potato growers, who have already "taken up" their spuds. Some report a very good yield of average sized potatoes, while some others say they are very small. There is also some talk of symptoms of rot.

The other night, an Ontario street resident who has a war garden, dug up five hills of potatoes and got three bags of the finest tubers imaginable. His beans yielded a basket to the vine and five tomato vines gave him 17 baskets of the finest tomatoes. But just as he was going to start on his celery, his alarm clock woke him up.—Havelock Standard

Governor McKechnie, of the Walkerton Jail, received notice last week that a military medal for valorous conduct in the field had been awarded to his son, Capt. Dr. Malcolm McKechnie who was killed on the Western front by the explosion of a mine which blew up his mine while he was going out to attend the wounded on the morning of August 8th. The medal which is being forwarded to his parents here, will be forever treasured by the family for the heroic sacrifice it represented in the great war.

Rough-neck Antics

The rough-house treatment accorded an old married couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McDermid in the village of Kinloss, and which appears to have been pulled off on them with whilom frequency under the guise of a "chivaree" and which consisted of smashing in the windows of their home with rocks, bombarding the house with stones, and even potting the old gentleman on the head with eggs, some of which were exceedingly ripe, and left anything but a pleasing sniff in the air, shows how the gaiety of nations is affecting our neighboring burg. The aged groom, who was a widower, had, it seems, lit up the altar of hymen three times, while his venerable bride, who was a widow, had also taken the vow once or twice before. Being well fixed financially, and respectable to a marked degree, the perpetrators of the hoodlum tactics that followed this third celebration of matrimony would have to go far afield to find any plausible excuse for pulling off any such mighty raids and wild west savagery as have been alleged. According to the aged groom they even crawled like Indians up onto his roof, and otherwise acted like the red man in his primitive state. Commencing in August it is said to have been repeated at intervals in September, with the final act terminating on Oct. 7th. Even the women are said to have congregated around and encouraged the men on by their presence, and when on one occasion Mr. Groom came out and bawled out the outfit, a drafter in khaki is said to have stepped forward and grabbed the aged speaker by the throat and shook him right soundly for addressing a mixed audience in that way. Some he stant alright, and for which no doubt a new medal will be struck. But what gets our Angora is that any such serenades could be repeatedly pulled off without the local authorities getting next. Time, no doubt, for a change somewhere. Patience ceasing to be a virtue, and there being no assurances that the old man would ever have rest until he struck the tomb, he wisely brought his troubles to Walkerton and asked Chief Ferguson to look them over. The result was that the Chief was soon speeding out to Kinloss with a bunch of summonses in his mit, and on Saturday afternoon the trial opened in Walkerton with ten persons, including two women, being present from that section to answer to a charge, which, in its amended state, accused them of having been riotously and tumultuously assembled together to the disturbance of the public peace, etc. Mr. David Robertson, K.C., appeared for the defendants at the trial and Lawyer Klein for the plaintiff. After hearing one witness for the prosecution, the magistrate adjourned the trial until Friday next to allow the parties to get together and settle, and which they did on Tuesday by the accused paying $25 damages and costs, amounting in all to $48. Any further trouble from that quarter will, it is said, be dealt with rigorously.—Herald & Times.

Women Teachers' Association

At the East Bruce Teachers' Convention last week, the women teachers organized an Association to be known as "The Women Teachers' Association of East Bruce," and affiliated with the "Ontario Federation of Women Teachers' Associations." Officers for this year are: President, Miss J. Stead, Walkerton; Sec'y-Treas., Miss Kate Schwalm, Mildmay. Miss Stead was appointed delegate to the Executive Committee of the Federation, which meets in Toronto at the O.E.A. next Easter week. The organization will have about 10,000 members, and one of its aims is to ask the government for legislation to fix an adequate minimum salary with proper recognition of experience in fixing the salary schedule.

"Summer Coon" in Jail.

William Caradyce, familiarly known as the "Summer Coon," paid his annual visit to Walkerton on Tuesday, and in spite of the dryness of the land that is supposed to have followed the inauguration of prohibition, the visitor is said to have had a most demonstrative jig on. Followed by a bunch of urchins who seemed to be taking joy out of his wobbly condition, Bill halted in front of the Methodist parsonage and is said to have made the welkin ring with swearing and cursing. The variety of language being in marked contrast to the sacredness of the precincts, Bill soon found himself in the toils, Chief Ferguson making a record run on being apprised over the phone where William was doing the rapid firing with his megaphone. After being placed in the lock-up to sober off, he was remanded to jail by Magistrate Tolton until 8 o'clock Wednesday night, when he was tried and committed to the cells for ten days for his offence. He claims to have become drunk on booze furnished from doctors' prescriptions.

Canada must not relax in her task of furnishing supplies. It is important that the greatest possible wheat acreage be plowed this Fall. The United States crop this year was fortunately a big success. Next year it will be Canada's turn. The Allies depend upon us.

When will it end?

Thousands upon thousands, endless thousands, hold their lives cheap as the price of Victorious Peace.

And we—as we watch from afar their heroic efforts—may we be able to say, that the little we at home could do, we have done;

—that in so far as we could support them, lighten their burdens, bring them comforts, we have done it;

—that we have striven unceasingly to shorten their stay in the Hun made Hell;

—that freely, fervently, unitedly, we have laid our humble offerings alongside their noble sacrifices on the altar of Victory—and Peace.

Another opportunity to fend your individual weight to the blow that will shorten the war comes with the offering of Victory Bonds about to be made. Let not the privilege to do your share find you unprepared.

What Cash You Need When Travelling —and more particularly, when large sums are required—is best carried in the form of a Letter of Credit, issued by The Merchants Bank.

This old established form of international banking, is preferred by many experienced travellers because of its absolute security.

Letters of Credit are cashed only by banks or banking corporations, and after the identity of the holders is established to the satisfaction of the bank officials. This insures safety, and guards against loss and theft.

Churches to Save Fuel.

The churches of the province are to be asked to co-operate in conserving the available coal supplies. The new Fuel Controller, R. Home Smith, has already laid before representative clergymen of all denominations a suggestion that church services be curtailed or combined in a way that will effect a saving of fifty to sixty per cent in the consumption of coal. The controller believes that two or three churches can arrange to hold their services in the one building and that where union services are not favored the congregation can meet at different times in one building.

The Village Gossip.

It fairly makes us smile with glee when we hear folks say what's going to be; there are some ginks on this old ball who seem to think they know it all; sometimes a chap will buy a farm and they will stare in wild alarm and say that chap will go to smash, because they know right well he has no cash; but if he stays right on the job and pays the farm yes every bob whythen they will turn round and say they knew that chap was sure to stay. Now Jimmy Smith one evening fine took his girl for a drive just down the line, and they had it in for him, there would be a wedding right away, in fact they said they had named the day; but as time passed on and no wedding came they said some other guy had spoiled the game; so that's the way where're you go you will meet these chaps who think they know; when it is going to rain or snow what way the wind is going to blow, and if it will be cold or hot; oh dear we hate to hear such rot. Some say this globe called mother earth is a very queer old world you see, but we think the world is just about O. K., its the people on it seems more queer to me.

Several hundred or more catalogues of a mail order house passed through the local post office recently. The cost of these besides the postage or express on them cost more than any merchant in this town pays for a year's advertising. Why do they do this? Because they want the business of the people of this vicinity, and they cannot reach them through the Gazette because the Gazette has refused advertising from the mail order houses. The live merchant will take this little talk to heart. It pays to place your business before the people.

Familiar Old Names.

If we would follow General Allenby's successes in Palestine, we will have to brush up our knowledge of Biblical geography. The names of many of the places mentioned in the despatches are familiar enough but just what are the relative positions of those places may be a little vague. The big Family Bible with the detailed map—not the hand book that is read every day—will have to be brought into the living room from its honorable solitude in the parlor, and the geography and the descriptive introductory articles studied anew. That will help to make General Allenby's operations more intelligible, and at the same time add to our knowledge of the greatest library of literature to be found between the covers of any one book, ancient or modern. For several months the Jordan has protected the right flank of the British army, and beyond Jordan the Arabs have been mopping up their old persecutors, the Turks. The despatches tell us that the cross-embazoned flag of Britain is at Nazareth, once the home of the Carpenter; British cavalry—Europeans and East Indians—were in the vicinity of Lake Tiberius; and that the main line to Damascus is in their control. This is a railway but not far from the highway along which Saul journeyed when he saw "a light from heaven." How the old names came back, and how real became the places for which they stand, now that our soldiers are in them, carrying on an important part of the world's great conflict for righteousness and peace.

What Causes a Town to Die.

More towns die for want of confidence on the part of business men and lack of public spirit than for the rivalry of neighboring towns of adverse surroundings, says a writer in a Western paper. This is true. When a man in search of a home or a business location goes to a town and finds it brim full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place and earnestly at work to build up the town, he soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, and as a result he takes and goes to work with the same spirit. When, however, he goes to a town, and everyone expresses a doubt and apprehension of the prosperity of the place, moving about and indulging in mournful complaints about imaginary evils which are likely to befall the town, he feels that it is no place for him and shakes the dust from his feet, while he departs from the town. Try to make a live, enterprising, progressive town out of the one in which you live. When you are working for or saying a good thing for your town you are accomplishing a good thing for yourself.

Our $300,000,000 Victory Loan.

Canada is about to raise another big loan, with a minimum set at $300,000,000 and a willingness to take $500,000,000. The bonds will bear 5 1/2% interest, and subscription lists will be opened on Oct. 28th and closed on Nov. 10th. The bonds will be five-year and fifteen-year. The money is to be used solely for war purposes, and will be spent wholly in Canada. Payment may be made in five instalments as follows: 10% on application, 20% on December 6, 1918, 20% on January 6, 1919, 20% on February 6, 1919 and 31.18% on March 6, 1919. The bonds will not be subject to any income tax levied by the Government of Canada. Sir Thomas White, in launching the campaign in a speech at Winnipeg, put the case as follows:—"The Victory Loan is a vital factor in the creation and continuance of our prosperity. The great bulk of our chief exports are bought by Great Britain for the use of her civilian population at home and her armies in the field. She buys the salmon catch of the Pacific, she buys the exportable surplus of the wheat of the Western prairies and of the flour manufactured from it. She buys the cheese of the Eastern dairy farmer. She buys the output of the hundreds of munition plants of Canada which in turn take the product of our great steel plants. This means the employment of tens of thousands of operatives. Our great ship building yards are filled with orders for tonnage. How does Great Britain pay for all these products? For the great part the Dominion Government furnishes her with the money. Where do we get the money with which to supply her? From the Victory Loans." The new loan is expected to be a popular one. Of the last loan over $200,000,000 was taken by 800,000 subscribers of $5,000 and under. The patriot who has money to invest, or who can by strictest economy save money to invest, will not need to be urged to invest in the new Victory Loan. Our gallant army has served us well, but it could not have carried on if it had not had proper backing at home. It is up to us to do our share to win the war, and investing in the Victory Loan will help.

It is estimated that nearly five million people have died of starvation or malnutrition during the war. This total is more than half the population of Canada.

HELPING THE WOUNDED

Our Canadian nurses are needed "over there" now as never before. This is the time to learn how to take care of the wounded, the sick—or any emergency. You can learn a great deal by obtaining the "Medical Adviser" from your nearest druggist, a book of 1,000 pages, bound in cloth, containing chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, Marriage, Mother and Babe; or send 50c to Dr. Pierce, Courtwright St., Bridgeburg, Ont.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Fainting spells, chills or great pain at regular or irregular intervals should be corrected, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's. Send ten cents for trial package to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch, Bridgeburg, Ont., or write for free confidential medical advice.

Toronto, Ont.—"As a tonic and builder, I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to tired and run-down women. I am the mother of eight children and have frequently had need of such a tonic but did not know what to take until my sister gave me some of the Favorite Prescription which she herself had found to be good. It was exactly the tonic my system required and I feel better than I have been."—Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, 224 Ontario St.

Whiskey Confiscated.

A keg of whiskey which a few weeks ago came to the Lucknow Express office addressed to a fictitious person has been lost forever to the purchaser. Inspector White got word of the shipment and came over and seized the goods. It was taken to Walkerton and the matter of its disposition laid before Magistrates, Richardson and Tolton. As there was no claimant the court decided upon confiscation. An effort is being made to have it donated to the Bruce County Hospital where whiskey is used to some extent for medical purposes.

Avoiding Calf Alliments.

Nine-tenths of the common ailments among dairy calves should be prevented by a sensible course of management from the time they are removed from the cows until they are old enough to eat dry grain and hay. Some are so anxious to glean every cent of profit, that they cheat themselves and starve their calves by saving the cream and then compelling the little calves to subsist on skim-milk when they are only a few days old. Some calves do not seem to be injured by such a diet, providing it is fed fresh and warm from the separator, but the calves a few days old have not sufficient strength of digestion to digest it properly, and it passes through the alimentary canal in an undigested condition, and the so-called white scours result. The calf, unable to digest the skim-milk, is simply starving until it is a hopeless proposition. Such a condition could have been avoided by feeding the calf whole milk a few days longer, instead of robbing it of nature's nourishment. Other feeders find it too much trouble to warm the milk for calves and as a result their stomach become chilled so that their digestion is greatly impaired, if not ruined. Then the owner dopes the calf until digestion is completely ruined. Others have failed to feed regularly and as a result the calves get extremely hungry and when they are fed eat so greedily and eat so much that it tends to upset their digestion until they bloat and perhaps die from the effects. Even though they survive they grow up weaklings and easy prey to other serious ailments. Some think that any old wooden pail is good enough to feed the calves from. Such pails become breeding places for millions of germ life and poisons and the calves are literally poisoned and become victims of gastric fever or dysentery. Some think that sour milk is all the calf needs and by the time the calf is one month old any old kind of milk they may have or get from the creamery vats is fed in any quantity. Then when digestion becomes impaired they crowd rinds of cheese, egg shells and charcoal down the calf's throat. Such kind of treatment may be in line with

Darwin's theory of the survival of the fittest, but it seldom results in developing a good dairy cow.

Never compel the calf to nurse some gargety cow that gives feverish and diseased milk unfit for human use. Feed milk from its mother or some other fresh cow until it is, at least, two weeks old, then mix it with one-third skim-milk and gradually reduce the quantity of whole milk until the calf is a month or six weeks of age. Never try to feed a calf cold milk until it is two months old. Always warm the milk to about ninety-eight degrees Fahrenheit and never scald it. If the milk is sterilized to destroy disease germs it should be doctored by the use of flaxseed jelly or linsed oil meal. It is better to feed dry grain than to mix the middlings and ground oats with the skim-milk. Some good feeders pour a little oil meal and middlings on top of the milk and the calf drinks it along with the milk more slowly than when the grain is mixed with the milk and settles in the bottom of the pail.

As early as possible calves should be encouraged to eat dry grains and clover hay. At first light rations should be fed and gradually the amount may be increased until at two or three months of age two or three pounds per day may be safely fed. Equal parts of cornmeal, wheat bran and ground oats and half a part of oil meal make an efficient grain ration for the growing calf. When the calves are turned out to pasture, continue the grain ration until they are able to eat and digest sufficient grass to make good growth and maintain good flesh condition. Unless the pastures are unusually good keep up the grain ration until the end of the season. It is the height of folly to attempt to grow and develop good heifers on scant rations of inferior feed stuffs. There is little danger of getting calves too fat so long as proper feed stuffs are used. In fact a little fat is not at all objectionable. More harm comes from feeding an excess of concentrates and not enough milk, grass and bulky feeds which promote digestion and furnish bone and muscle-building nutrients in the right proportions to maintain the health of the animal.

In order to make a profit from pigs it is necessary to give them the proper care and feed. They should be provided with clean, comfortable quarters, exercise, and plenty of sunshine. The sow should be given special care at farrowing time. She should be fed lightly for a few days after farrowing, and the amount of feed gradually increased as the young pigs develop. The ration for the sow at this time should be one which will produce a heavy flow of milk. A good ration for this purpose is one composed of corn, shorts, bran, a small amount of tankage, and a good quality of alfalfa fed from a rack. Bran may make up 10 per cent of the ration, as it has a beneficial effect on the digestive system and tends to increase the milk production. The amount of feed given a sow may be governed largely by her appetite. Tankage should not be fed to exceed more than five per cent. Corn may make up half the ration, as it tends to prevent the sow from becoming thin. The little pigs should be watched closely for sore mouths, especially in large litters. It is sometimes advisable to clip the tusks from the pigs, thus preventing them from scratching each other. In case of sore mouth, wash the part frequently with a disinfectant.

Poultry

Stock allowed to roost outdoors during the summer must now be taught to go under shelter at night. Happily this practise of outdoor roosting is not so common now as it was years ago. Instead, well-ventilated houses are provided, and the fowls have better protection and at the same time all the outdoor comforts. This is a good month to do outdoor repair work. There are days in October when it is a pleasure to do this repairing; leaky roofs, drafty walls, filthy runs, etc., should be attended to. Painters say that October is the best month in the year for outdoor painting. Take their advice and give the buildings a good coat of paint, which will not only preserve them but add to their attractiveness. Whitewashing the interior of the hen coops is an old idea, but it is a good one. It gives a cheerfulness to the building that nothing else seems to do. Disinfecting the premises is also in order, and it is work that pays. If there were any low places in the houses last winter, which caused more or less dampness, remedy the trouble now so that the houses will be perfectly dry this year. Dampness is the starting point of chicken-pox, distemper and roup, and a little labor wisely spent now will save much during the cold months. The pullets should be placed in their winter quarters before they begin laying. To move them after they have begun will give them a setback. Do not overcrowd. Not more than twenty-five pullets of our Canadian breeds should be in one flock, and a smaller number is better. But in the case of Leghorns or any of the Mediterranean class, twice that number will do equally as well.

"Every show a better one" is the slogan of the Toronto Fat Stock Show, and the 1918 Show promises to be no exception. The sale which follows the show is attended by buyers from all over the continent and each year the prices paid are better than previous prices. There is always a demand for choice meat at Christmas time, and farmers are realizing the big advantage of marketing their stock this way.

October is a jolly fellow, And in his yellow sack He brings a host of merrie days And sunshine, on his back; Grapes and pumpkins, apples, nuts, And lightly doth he tread Upon the gold-leaved carpet That old Mother Earth has spread! And how shall we use his merrie days? And all the joy that's in them? Outdoors, outdoors, right after school! Heigh ho, now let's begin them!

Welding haste sometimes leads to household waste.

Fasting.

J. R.—"How is it possible for fasting people to go so long without food? If I miss only one meal, I get a severe headache and if I go without food I am affected in the same way as when I eat too much. Sometimes it is inconvenient for me to get something to eat, and if I wait too long, I am usually laid up the whole following day. Why is this?"

Answer—Eating and digestion, as well as other functions of the body, are more or less governed by habit. People usually eat three meals a day; and three times a day the stimulus of food excites the glands of the stomach, pancreas and intestines to pour out their digestive juice. If the stimulus of food were lacking, the juices would still be poured out for a while, but in smaller quantity, and by and by the secretion would cease, or nearly so. As the time for eating recurs, there is first a kind of disappointment if food is not on hand to satisfy the expectation; but, little by little, as I am told, the disappointment becomes less keen and the appetite, that is, the desire for food, less urgent. This is particularly the case when the person who is fasting is not working, and he may get along without a great deal of discomfort if he has plenty of water which is more essential than food. When food is withheld, the machinery must still be kept going and consequently there is gradual integration of the tissues, first the fat and then the muscles. Of course the person who is fasting is constantly losing strength—for, without fuel, the fires are constantly getting lower and after a while they go out entirely. One who is fasting, like the writer of the above letter, feels keenly the want of food for a day or two, and the reaction expresses itself in headache and a disinclination to work. If a person goes without food for a week, the suffering is relatively less. I am told this is the way the English prisoners in Germany feel as the result of the way they have been served. They have not exactly been starved, but the quantity of nutriment they have received, is so small and the quality so poor, that they habitually lose weight and would be physically unable to do hard work of any kind.

Questions and Answers.

Mrs. A. S.—My husband is very anxious to gain in weight. How can he do this? He does not care for milk.

Answer—I do not know of any better way to gain in weight than to take an abundance of easily assimilated fats—such as olive oil or cod liver oil, or to drink plenty of rich milk daily; however, if your husband does not like milk, he might drink butter-milk—which contains the fat in milk.

Miss I. O. B.—Am sixteen and have long been troubled with kidney disease. Can you help me?

Answer—I am afraid I cannot. Your question is altogether too indefinite. For kidney disease covers a great multitude of conditions. Furthermore, you probably do not understand that this department is not to furnish individual attention to the sick; they must go to their physicians for that assistance.

A. E. F.—There is a gland on the side of my face as large as a bean. It does not bother me, nor does it seem to be enlarging. Is there any danger from it?

Answer—There is always a danger that such glands will enlarge and ulcerate, and become running sores. Probably it would be a simple matter to take it out; and I think that would be the best plan.

horse. A few minutes spent daily in currying and brushing a horse is time well spent. Aside from giving the animal a clean, glossy appearance, this daily brushing stimulates circulation. The skin is an important excretory organ, and must be kept clean and free to do its work. It is especially important to give the legs daily care. If it is necessary to wash them in cold weather, they should be thoroughly dried before being exposed to the open air. Mud should not be allowed to collect on the fetlocks, as it causes scratches and sores on the heel and about the feet. Sores, scratches, and unsightly spots are often caused by mud and manure setting in the hair. When the mud dries it causes the skin to crack open.

In spring the horses should be kept especially clean, as the long hours of work, dust, sweat, and heat all combine to make proper care of the skin a necessity. Sore shoulders and other afflictions, due to lack of care on the part of the owner, have often caused great loss of time and money.

Sheep Notes

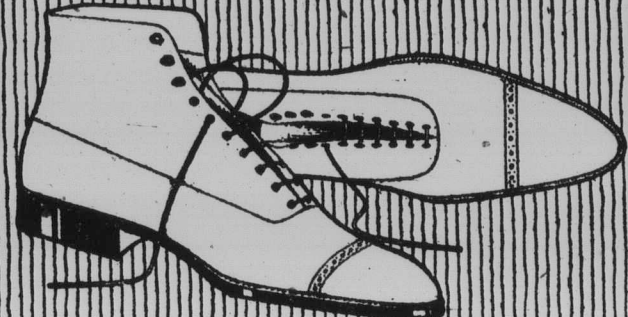

A ram is half the flock. A good ram will impress his desirable qualities on his offspring. The ram must be strong in the points in which the ewes are deficient. It is a well-known fact that like begets like, and if both the ram and the ewe are weak in the same points these weaknesses will be intensified in the offspring. If the flock is small, a ram lamb will be all right. If there are more than 30 ewes the ram should be two years old. The ram selected will depend upon the type of ewes in the flock. If the ewes are small and light-boned, a heavy-weight and heavy-boned ram will be needed. A ram with more refinement should be used if the ewes are coarse-boned and rangy.

In selecting the ram, special attention should be paid to type, mutton qualities, and denseness of fleece. Quality of mutton is the prime factor in the farm flock, and should receive the most attention. The fleece should not be forgotten, for not only will the fleece be a source of income, but a good fleece will give a higher market value to the sheep. The ram should be strong, active, and show strong masculine character. These points are important, for on them will depend to a large extent the number of lambs produced, also their health and vigor. The ram should stand up well on his feet, and his pasterns should be strong. The back should be strong and the ribs well sprung to give plenty of room for the heart and lungs.

Good Value and How to Get it

YOUR interest, as a member of the consuming public, and yours as Canada's largest manufacturers of shoes, are really identical. They may be summed up in a single phrase: "Quality Shoes at Fair Prices."

A fair price today is a higher price than usual, because the cost of every item of material and labor which goes into a pair of shoes has increased greatly and is still increasing.

In order that you may continue to get quality at fair prices, we shall feature in advertisements certain specific shoes which we know will give you good value. From our knowledge and experience, we will suggest to you the best methods of buying, whether you select shoes of our manufacture or not.

We ask you to buy for service rather than merely for style; to go to a reliable dealer, and to look for the manufacturer's trade-mark on the shoes. By so doing you may be assured of good value for your money.

Are You Exhibiting This Year?

A MAN may well feel proud to have raised stock, grain, fruit or vegetables that will stand comparison with the best his neighbour can produce.

The exhibition gives you an opportunity to show your best work, and to see what others have been producing.

It is natural to want to win a prize or a ribbon. The desire puts you on your mettle, and even though you may not win the coveted prize, the effort you make will mean an improvement in your whole year's production.

It is this constant striving that keeps all live people up to the mark. We, as manufacturers, have a tremendous responsibility to spur us on. We know our success depends on the perfect satisfaction of the millions of Gillette Razor users who daily enjoy the real luxury of a faultless shave.

The every-day shaver has put the "blue ribbon" on the Gillette Razor. His hearty commendation makes his friends want to buy the famous safety razor. It would do you good to hear him.

At the Exhibition, you will see thousands of men who owe their clean, fresh appearance largely to the Gillette. Suppose you step into a jewelry, drug, or hardware store, and look over the assortment of Gillette sets.

Your year's work has entitled you to "treat" yourself to a Gillette, and you will say, as the years go by, that it was the best five dollars you ever invested.

GAME SANCTUARY IN YUKON
Would Protect Canada's Mountain Sheep, Caribou and Moose.

The Advisory Board on Wildlife Protection has been drawing public attention to the need for protecting the important game resources of Northern Canada, and is now looking into the need for a game sanctuary in Yukon territory to save from destruction the mountain sheep, caribou, moose and other large game that are found in considerable numbers in that region.

"From information obtained from prospectors, hunters, trappers and Indians it is estimated that there are probably between 4,000 and 5,000 mountain sheep in that district bounded by the White, Donjek and Nisling rivers," says Mr. A. L. Bell, of the R.N.W.M.P., Whitehorse sub-district, in reporting on the advisability of establishing such a sanctuary. "These animals have undoubtedly been driven to that district from the more accessible areas on account of persistent hunting on the part of both white men and Indians. Unfortunately, the Yukon game ordinance does not sufficiently cover the preservation of mountain sheep, as under Subsec. 1 of Sec. 9 explorers, surveyors, prospectors, miners and travellers who are engaged in any exploration, survey or mining operation of the territory, and are in actual need of the beasts, birds or eggs for food, may lawfully hunt, take or kill the beasts or birds, and eggs of the birds or other wild fowl so mentioned in this ordinance. Section 23 of this ordinance states, 'with the exception of Section 3 hereof, this ordinance shall not apply to Indians who are inhabitants of the Yukon Territory' (Sec. 7 applies to buffalo and bison)."

"I have no doubt that mountain sheep, as well as moose, caribou, etc., have been wantonly slaughtered by Indians—and by white men as well—not only for food, but also for dog-feed. The Indians secure the white men of this, and, on the other hand, the white men accuse the Indians of the same. Unfortunately, the Indians are aware that, under the ordinance, they may kill practically as much game as they wish, for food or otherwise."

"I consider the suggestion of creating this area into a sanctuary an exceedingly good one, and, if it is carried out, a detachment of one constable could be established, or a competent game warden employed, who, with dogs or pack-horse, could patrol the district at regular intervals and keep in close touch with both Indians and white men. This is, in my opinion, the only method by which the game can be preserved."

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN
Cincinnati man tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted off, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

Increased Acreage for Next Year.
Every effort should be made to help the farmers of Canada to put an increased area under the plow this fall. City men have helped with the harvest, and success seems to be assured. City men must help out in cases where farmers find labor scarce for fall plowing. Men, now in cities, who have worked on farms, and can handle horses, should render themselves available for this important work.

A benevolent old gentleman got into a motor-bus and sat down opposite a nice, little, round-eyed boy who stared at him uncompromisingly. The old gentleman grew a little uncomfortable under the child's fixed gaze, and seeking relief in action, he winked at the youngster.

"The small boy tried to return the salute, but both eyes persisted in shutting. The old gentleman found he had made things even more embarrassing for the child piped to the young woman at his side:
"Mamma," he said, "wink at that man!"

Sufficient Butter in Canada.
The Canada Food Board has commandeered all the creamery butter made during October and up to November 31, to be shipped to Great Britain and her allies. While Canadians are accustomed to two pounds of creamery butter, per person, per month, or 8 ounces per week, per person, the people of Great Britain at the present time are confined to 2 ounces per week, per person, and 2 ounces of butter over there includes a large proportion of oleomargarine.

Are You Eating Your Share of Fish?
Canada is one of the great fish producers of the world, but Canadians are not eating their share even yet. The catch in 1917 was 856,000,000 pounds, or an equivalent of 94 pounds per head of population, while our consumption has been only about 29 pounds per head of population of recent years. The Canada Food Board is providing greater facilities for the marketing of Atlantic and Pacific fish in Interior Canada, and Canadian consumption of fish is increasing.

Solving the Problem.
An ambitious young wife decided to take up gardening. When her husband was starting for business one morning he was handed a sheet of paper containing a lengthy list of seeds which he was to bring home. Glancing at the list, he asked:
"You want these flowers to bloom this summer, don't you?"
"Yes, of course."
"Well, those you have down here don't bloom till next summer."
"Oh, that's all right," she said.
"All right? How is it all right?"
"I am making up my list," she explained, "from last year's catalogue."

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS - TORONTO.

With something over 8000 head of cattle on the Union Stock Yards market yesterday trade was very dull for all classes excepting steers with weight, and all other classes declined sharply from 25c to 50c per cwt. Some commission houses and drovers placed the decline even more pronounced at from 60c to 75c per cwt.

Canners held about steady, but the quality of the stuff was generally inferior. There was a fair demand, as stated, for canners, choice butchers and heavy steers, but all other classes were very slow of sale. There was a limited demand for stockers and feeders, but the class most in demand were the breezy type of good quality. There was a fair enquiry for good milkers and springers.

There was a lot of the lightweight common class of eastern cattle, weighing from 600 to 700 lbs., that ought never to have been shipped from the country and that the farmers were no anxious to take out to feed. On the other hand, there were some extra good lots of young steers selling around $10 and $10.50 capable of great development and should never have been allowed to go to the abattoirs. Some of the heavier class, too, looked as they would pay well for care and feeding.

The lamb market was steady and practically unchanged at from $16.25 to $16.35 and as high as $16.50. The run of sheep and lambs was 2185. Sheep were steady and unchanged.

The calf market, with about 250 on sale was steady to firm.

The run of hogs was 1388, selling at $18.25 fed and watered, $18.50 weighed off cars and $17.25 f.o.b., and the outlook is for steady prices for the week.
