

TIME LIMIT MAKES EXCLUSION IMPOSSIBLE SAYS LANSDOWNE

Conservative Leader in House of Lords Defines Position on Which He Enters the Proposed Conference With the Government and the Nationalists.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LONDON, May 2.—Lord Lansdowne, speaking at a Primrose League gathering at Albert Hall yesterday afternoon, made it clear that he enters the conference with the government and the Nationalists with a firm determination that any time limit to the exclusion of Ulster is an impossibility. He had observed, after three years working of the Parliament Act, that the nation was beginning to realize what life under the act meant. The act was so constructed as to render amendments after the first session impossible, and, consequently the Commons committee stage was omitted. Finally it is now suggested that the United Kingdom be split into an unspecified number of fragments under a federal scheme. It was intolerable that, when the Constitution of the country was practically under suspension, the government would not raise its finger to fulfill the solemn pledge, given three years ago when it deprived the country of the Second Chamber, that it would couple the Parliament Act with reconsideration of the powers and the composition of the House of Lords. The result would be civil war if the Home Rule Bill was passed, and grave trouble if it was not passed.

The Government, said Lord Lansdowne, is being capitulation to the Nationalists, and the other is vacillating treatment of Ulster. To allow the creation of an efficient force in Ulster, and then order naval and military movements was calculated to provoke a collision. When the plot failed, the government charged the Ulsterists with having corrupted the army, but the only corrupting done was when the government interrogated the officers with regard to their behaviour if they were ordered to fight against Ulster. He described the time limit to the exclusion of Ulster as a grotesque proposal, but the difficulty was that the members of the government were not sufficiently their own masters to make an acceptable proposal. The only exclusion which Ulster would discuss was one not terminable without Ulster's consent. The committee had given no mandate for a federal solution and there was considerable danger of arranging terms of which the country would disapprove.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LONDON, May 2.—Pessimism, which was the keynote in the Irish press of both parties yesterday, characterized the newspapers of Great Britain to-day. The Daily Telegraph endorses Sir Horace Plunkett's remark on the futility of Parliamentarians making an agreement which nobody in Ireland will accede to. The Morning Post says there is very little justification for the optimism. The Times complains of Churchill having gone beyond his party in the direction of strife, now goes beyond in the direction of peace. The Daily Mail thinks that two days having passed without Asquith seeking to renew conversations with the Premier, shows a counterproductive resistance from Redmond. The Express alleges that the chief difficulty is with the rank and file of the Liberals who are usually peace at any price men, but who now hearken to the Premier because he refrains from steps which would drench Ulster with blood. Lord Montagu, speaking for the House of Lords, said that the Upper Chamber was an example of solid work done without courting publicity.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] ECLES, West Virginia, May 2.—Eighteen bodies had been recovered from the wrecked galleries of mine No. 5 of the New River Colliery Company when fresh rescue crews descended the shaft at dawn. Seventeen others had been located, and indications were they would be brought to the surface before nightfall. Director Holmes of the Bureau of Mines has his forces so well organized that as soon as one crew of Helma men reaches the surface another is ready to take its place. Much of the mine has been explored, but there still remains some entries and rooms to which the entrance has not been forced. Until these have been reached the Government men refuse to believe that all the miners were killed. Air is now being forced into the mine, the pumps are kept working day and night, and the next day or two should see the work of recovering bodies almost ended.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 2.—Firm in the belief that all of the 172 men entombed in mine No. 5 at Eccles are dead, as the result of Tuesday's explosion, Governor Hatfield returned from the stricken town late last night. The Governor, who, as a physician in the mining district of the state, has seen many explosions, said the explosion in No. 5 mine was the worst he had ever known. He believes that most of the miners were caught unaware and blown to pieces. "The force of the explosion," said the Governor, "was so great that the surface coal was literally burned to cinder. You could scrape it off with your hands. In my opinion, the men were killed by the force of the explosion."

A notable triumph in wireless telegraphy was won on the Lackawanna Railroad.

UNDISMAYED BY CARRANZA'S REFUSAL TO DECLARE TRUCE

Envoys Are Very Hopeful of Establishing a Definite Basis for Peace—General Funston Has Situation Well in Hand at Vera Cruz—Latest Developments.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] WASHINGTON, May 2.—Undismayed by the refusal of Carranza, rebel chief, formally to agree to the establishment of a neutral zone in the rich oil fields about Tampico, the South American envoys to-day resumed negotiations aiming at a settlement of the Mexican crisis. While Carranza's refusal was variously interpreted, the administration official here held it could not be considered as having any bearings upon the mediators proposal that hostilities cease between Huerta and the Constitutionals. Reports of anti-American outbursts brought by refugees from Mexico to Atlantic and Pacific ports, were tempered with the explanation that in many instances the police and soldiers had exercised all their resources to prevent fatal rioting. News that there were 1500 citizens of the United States in Mexico City where they had gathered from outlying states caused scarcely any apprehension. It was believed they would soon be taken to Vera Cruz.

Unofficial news from Vera Cruz that the food situation might soon become acute unless there was relief, were partly offset to-day by a report from General Funston that nine hundred tons of staple food supplies held in warehouses for speculative purposes would be commandeered and distributed to citizens if necessary. An order issued by the Mexican Governor prior to the American occupation threatening death to any native bringing food into the city seriously decreased supplies. However, General Funston reported that conditions had improved so much outside the city that the way now was opened for trade in vegetables and cattle. While no ill effects of the vitiating climate of Vera Cruz has been reported among the American soldiers and seamen, Surgeon-General Gorgas of the army to-day set on foot a movement to ward off the attack of disease threatened by the beginning of the rainy season. The main fight will be against the menace of the mosquito. News of the resignation of Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, Mexican minister of foreign affairs and his under secretary, was regarded in some quarters here to-day as partially confirming late reports of dissonance among Huerta's supporters. No official statement of the cause of the resignations was announced, but it was said the ministers quit after the cabinet voted down the proposal of Portillo that an official commission be sent to Washington to act in the attempt to settle differences between Huerta and the American Government.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] WASHINGTON, May 2.—The monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid was held in the public library on Friday morning with a good attendance. Several letters were read, including one from Mr. Bunnell, conveying the appreciation of the hospital governors and staff for chairs, etc., and accepting the offer of the W. H. A. to furnish a woman's ward in the new hospital. Householders, merchants, and citizens generally are requested to lay aside during the month of May any newspapers, magazines or books for which they have no further use than the W.H.A. will be able to use them as a money maker. Further particulars will be given later.

TAKING TAMPICO IS NOT EASY JOB FOR THE REBEL ARMY

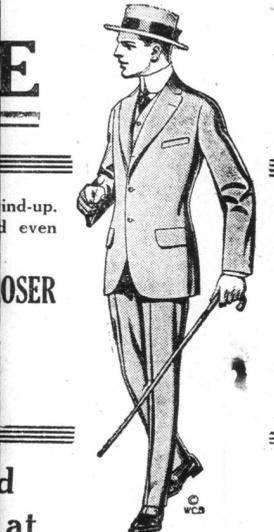

Federals Are Strongly Entrenched, and May Succeed in Cutting Off the Food Supply of Vera Cruz, Now Held by the Americans—A Harrowing Tale.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] VERA CRUZ, May 2.—The situation at Tampico and the effort of the Mexican Governor of the state to cut off the food supply of Vera Cruz divided attention to-day. The reported massing of the Constitutional forces against Tampico is regarded as important because it is felt to be certain that the fall of the city will have some bearing on the immediate policy of the United States.

Many persons who are well informed of the Federal preparedness in Tampico are skeptical of the predictions of an early rebel success. They point out that three Federal gunboats have thus far easily repelled all attacks. The situation of the town is such that a force cannot approach without exposing itself to the fire of 4-inch quick firing guns except from one direction. That point is defended by a triple line of trenches and many machine guns and field artillery. Gunboats and soldiers are plentifully supplied with ammunition. The rebels heretofore have been without artillery. Unless guns have reached them from the northern rebels, it is believed impossible for them to drive out the Federals. The fall of Tampico into rebel hands might help solve the food situation in Vera Cruz. In that event it is presumed the trade between Vera Cruz and Tampico would be resumed and that the territory about Tampico would supply the market here to some extent. Just now the only supplies reaching Vera Cruz are coming from the small ranches near enough to the city for owners to feel assured of American protection. Scores of natives carrying eggs and milk arrive daily, but this supply is absorbed almost without effort on the demand. The hotels are unable to obtain fruit and butter.

The money situation is also peculiar. The banks have been virtually at a standstill for all except small exchange business because of the lack of stamps required by the Mexican laws now in force. Nearly 400,000 pesos of captured stamps were placed in circulation to-day to relieve the situation. It is getting almost impossible to find Mexican change and every five dollar bill presented to pay for a small purchase causes a disturbance for there is virtually no Mexican silver and the supply of small bills is exhausted. Some merchants are doing business on a double standard. Goods bought in the United States on abroad are sold for Mexican money. R. W. McClelland, a pineapple grower, was twice strung up by the neck by ten of his own workmen, robbed and left for dead on a plantation at El Burro near Santa Lucracia. He arrived here with other refugees yesterday in a penniless condition and was taken in charge by the Red Cross. McClelland had secured Consul Canada's warning to leave, but delayed his departure. He was seized in the yard of the plantation, bound and beaten and ordered to produce money. He declared he had none, whereupon he was hung up to a limb of a tree. After a few minutes he was let down and again ordered to give money. Still protesting that he had none he was again hoisted. When he recovered

ROYAL ESCORT FOR THE DUKE

Sixty Brant Dragoons, All Mounted, Will Turn Out at Reception.

Brantford, it is reported, unofficially, will put on quite a military aspect next Saturday on the occasion of the visit of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught. Besides the guard of honor, which will be formed by the Dufferin Rifles, a royal escort of Dragoons, consisting of 50 or 60 mounted men will be formed. They will accompany His Royal Highness around the city. Mayor Spence has received word from Ottawa that the program outlined for the Duke's reception by the civic authorities is satisfactory, and has been approved. This includes a visit to the Hamilton and Brantford baseball game.

SEVENTY THREE ARE ON THE LIST

Local Hotelkeepers Take Measures to Keep Out Undesirables.

The Brantford Indian list has been swelled appreciably by the action of the hotel keepers yesterday in establishing a list of their own, which is necessarily outside of the law. The names of 73 habitual drunkards have been reported to the Hotelkeepers' Association and in future these men will not be served in any shop or hotel in the city. Both proprietors and bar-tenders took a hand in framing up the list. The experiment will be watched with interest and it is being tried in an endeavor to keep hotels cleaner and to keep out the element known as the hangers-on. Of course these men will be able to secure liquor if they have friends who are not billed and who are willing to go and get it for them. There can be no fines imposed on such friends as in the case of the statutory billed list.

Dropped Dead

Theo. Harris, a Popular Onondaga Farmer, Passes Away.

Many friends will learn with great regret of the sudden death this morning of Mr. Theodore Harris, one of the best known farmers of Onondaga Township, who resided and operated a big farm near Middleport. Mr. Harris was the brother of Albert E. Harris, also of the late Dr. Harris of this city. He got up this morning, presumably in the best of health, when he was stricken suddenly with heart failure and dropped dead. His death is a distinct loss to the community.

WAS MISTAKE IN WIRELESS ABOUT SIBERIA

Merely a Code Signal and Not Distress Call Was Received.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—How a wireless operator heard the Scramship Persia sign her code signal "M. B. S.," after giving her latitude and longitude, and misread into "S.O.S." the signal for assistance, was explained to-day by those familiar with the international code used for wireless work. The mistake probably caused the report yesterday that the Pacific Mail liner Siberia was in distress off the coast of Formosa.

A steamer in giving her longitude and latitude, sends her own code name thereafter twice. It is considered probable that on the first sending the operator failed to receive the "M. and B" and caught only the "S." Naturally alert at the first letter of the distress signal, he caught the two dashes of the "M" as the Persia started sending her code name the second time, and overlooked the slight pause between these two dashes and the first dash of "B" running the three together, thus he had "S.O.S." And the final three dots of the "B" made the third "S." The operator having the location of the vessel and what he thought was "S.O.S." replayed the call. The Persia having given her location and name, proceeded. This explained why nothing more was heard from her.

Relief is Felt. TOKIO, Japan, May 2.—Great relief is felt here at the news from Manila that the Pacific Mail Steamer Siberia, reported yesterday by wireless to have been in great peril off the coast of Formosa, is safe at Manila. No satisfactory explanation is available in Tokio as to how the alarming reports of yesterday came to be disseminated. The Japanese authorities have decided to investigate the matter. Japan has recalled the warships she despatched yesterday to the aid of the liner supposed to be in distress.

DUFFERIN BOYS PROUD WINNERS IN COMPETITION

Official Result of Shooting Among the City School Teams.

The official result of the shooting competition, under the Strathcona grant, was announced to-day, and the Dufferin School team, under the instructions of Principal Rowe are the proud winners of the silver medals, while the King Edward school team will get bronze medals. There were six teams entered, one from each school, and the competition was keen. The following boys from Dufferin school participated: John Ash, Walter Brewster, Jack Duncan, Fred Little, Hector Pollock, Quasie Sweet Archie Turnbull, Saxon Chapman.
 The King Edward team was as follows: Brown, Dawson, Geddes, Gilmore, Kirkpatrick, Smith, Stevenson, Snider.
 The teams finished in the following order: Dufferin 258 out of 400. King Edward, 238; Victoria, 231; Central, 224; Alexandra 223; Ryerson 200.
 Presentations will be made Tuesday and Wednesday at Dufferin and King Edward schools. Lieut. Bingle, who acted as adjutant, and Mr. E. F. C. Kilmer, who is cadet colonel, are being warmly congratulated. It is proposed to continue the competition in the future.
 It might be mentioned that Lloyd Colouhoun got high score for the whole city with 41 out of 50.

Old Home Week

The fraternal committee of Old Home Week held a very enthusiastic meeting last night in the City Hall. There was a good attendance, and the various committees reported splendid progress. The program committee submitted a program for the day's proceedings, which was adopted.
 The music committee also assured the general committee of lots of music for their day.
 The general decoration committee will hold a meeting at headquarters in the Temple Building next Tuesday night, and will meet representatives from the J. J. Turner Co. of Peterboro and Prof. Hand Co. of Hamilton.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the teachers and officers of Sydenham Street Sunday School was held last evening at the home of Mr. A. Scruton, Dundas St. There was a large attendance of Sunday School workers and their friends. Rev. A. I. Snyder was in the chair. Exceptionally encouraging reports of the year's work were submitted by the various departments. Over $75 was contributed to missions. The average attendance for the year was 280, but the attendance during the last six weeks has been very gratifying. Over 240 were present last Sunday, and there was no contest or special attraction. Individual effort and the growth of the Terrace Hill section being the cause. Mr. I. Hewison, who is at present on a trip to the Old Land, was unanimously re-elected superintendent, and the secretary instructed to send a message to him conveying the information. Mr. W. Kinzie is assistant superintendent; Mr. Geo. Alderson, secretary and Mr. A. J. Dungey, treasurer. With two exceptions all the other teachers and officers were re-elected. Plans for the year were discussed and prospects are very bright for the future. At the conclusion of business a social hour was spent, Mrs. Scruton serving dainty refreshments.

NORDICA'S CONDITION

Famous Singer Has but a Slight Chance of Recovery It Is Reported.
 BATAVIA, Java, May 2—The condition of Mme Lillian Nordica, the opera singer, was still serious to-day, her heart being very weak as a result of her long illness. The doctors in attendance upon Mme. Nordica say, however, that if she can stand the strain for four or five days longer there will be more hope for her recovery.

Obituary

Late John McIntyre.
 John McIntyre, a middle aged and well known resident of Brantford, died this morning in the hospital, after a severe attack of pneumonia. The deceased was, in his day, one of the foremost of local sprinters and had won many prizes for his feats, being well respected in all circles of sport. Left to mourn the untimely end of a good father there is a large family of sons and daughters, besides a sorrowing wife.
 The funeral will take place to Mt. Hope cemetery on Monday when the Rev. D. T. McClelland will officiate.
Late Kasper Ovooonian.
 An Armenian, Kasper Ovooonian, aged 36, died at the Brant Sanatorium yesterday. He came to this city two years ago and his demise will be greatly regretted by the Armenian population. The funeral took place this afternoon to St. Joseph's cemetery after service had been held in St. Basil's, from the parlours of H. S. Pierce.
Late William Walton.
 An aged resident of the city died this morning in the presence of Mr. William Walton of 38 Dundas street. The deceased was born in Lancashire, England, 81 years ago, and came to the Dominion in the fifties. He leaves no family, and the funeral, which will be attended by many friends, takes place on Monday to Mount Hope cemetery.

GUELPH LIBERALS.

Up in Guelph the Mercury (Liberal) has come out flat-footed for Mayor Carter as a candidate for the Ontario House, whether he is favorably backed by the party or otherwise. In this respect it says:

"Furthermore, the Mercury is disposed to regard with favor the candidature of Mayor Carter as a supporter of N. W. Rowell in the Local House and will support him to the best of its ability, whether he comes out as the nominee of the Liberal party or as an independent candidate. Ontario needs men of his stamp, and needs them right now, when the province is passing through a critical and telling stage in its career. The Mercury has no apologies whatever to make for announcing that it is prepared to support the candidature of Mayor Carter for the South Wellington seat in the Ontario House."

The seat was won last election by Mr. H. C. Schofield (Conservative) who had 450 of a majority over Mr. J. McIntosh, who by the bye is owner of the Mercury.

IN THE HOUSE ONCE MORE.

Sir James Whitney was able to occupy his seat once more in the Ontario House yesterday when the Provincial Legislature was prorogued. As a matter of course, his appearance called forth a notable demonstration, in which members of both sides participated. It is not too much to say that the whole of Canada has watched with admiration the plucky fight of this man against a physical collapse, which to all human appearances, seemed for many days likely to have a fatal outcome. To him there has come the unique experience, while still in the flesh, of hearty and unfeigned tributes from foes as well as friends, for no previous Premier has more firmly entrenched himself in public esteem and confidence. He does not possess the calm serenity which characterized the late Premier Mowat, or the engaging affability of the late Premier Hardy, but by sheer force and directness he has, nevertheless, won his way into the admiration of everyone. Sir James was well advanced in years before he even entered the House, but his presence there was speedily felt, and as head of the Administration for some years his vigor and honesty of purpose have been outstanding features. He will, no doubt, be able to remain at the head of affairs and share in another victory, which undoubtedly awaits Conservatives in what seems quite likely to be a this year's contest.

AN IMPROVED MARKET.

The people of Calgary on Friday voted down seven out of ten by-laws, but they knew enough to carry one calling for an expenditure of $20,000 for the further improvement of their public market. There is a pointed lesson in this for Brantford. Market conditions in this city are not in any sense what they should be. Meats and general produce are exposed in the open to all the contaminatory elements in every wind that blows, while it is positively inhuman in cold and wet weather to have men and women standing on the square without an atom of shelter. Moreover in the desire for good Saturday locations quantities of stuff are placed there on Friday nights.

In Woodstock where they have a covered market, sections are rented at so much per annum, according to space and on enquiry the city clerk there states that receipts more than balance interest and sinking fund on original cost and upkeep. The "Baby" City does not begin to have such throngs of buyers and sellers as Brantford, and if they can make good in this matter so can we, only to a more emphatic extent.

This paper would like to see the subject taken up in earnest by the present council. Mayor Spence and his associates have demonstrated in the Street Railway and Gas matters that they have the business ability and the tenaciousness to put things through and without doubt they could tackle this important and desirable innovation with equal success. Where people sell they usually buy and apart from this phase of things the ordinary laws of health demand that marketing should be done under proper and sanitary conditions.

WHAT ABOUT THE MONROE DOCTRINE?

The Detroit Free Press, one of the cleanest and best-run papers on this continent, has this to say during the course of an editorial:

"The states of the A B C alliance propose to mediate this quarrel which threatens to result so disastrously. They go even further, they are trying to promote internal peace in Mexico by bringing about a reconciliation of the factions led by Huerta, Villa and Zapata, which was one of the things Washington failed to accomplish. The South Americans may, of course, fare no better, but that is scarcely the point."

"The nub of the situation is that the Government of the United States has accepted the offer of Argentina, Brazil and Chile to interfere. It has gone even further. Through Secretary Bryan it has asked Great Britain, Germany and France to use their good offices with Huerta. It is a matter of virtual overlordship. It no longer stands as lone champion of the Monroe doctrine, asking and desiring neither assistance nor counsel. A short time ago Europe, at the special request of Washington, may at one time have agreed to keep out of Mexico. Now Washington is asking Europe to come in and lend a helping hand."

"So for the time the United States sinks to the role of a party to a quarrel between nations. It is a Government in a difficulty, and it needs considerable help in getting out of that difficulty."

"This is not a pleasant picture, but it is a true one."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It is on the cards that the Ontario Provincial contest may take place on Monday, June 29th.

The Monroe Doctrine is now laid aside for repairs, just the same as Sir Wilfrid Laurier's sunny smile.

Theodore Roosevelt announces that he has discovered a new race in Brazil. It is to be hoped they don't feed on Bull Moose.

Juno was the goddess who presided over marriage. June Oh in this Province is likely to still further emphasize the divorce which exists between the Liberal party and popular approval.

The amusing local Grit organ prints a list of things which it alleges Rowell forced the Whitney Government to do. Our sapient cotem. is evidently a firm believer in the idea that a tail can wag a canine.

Over in the Old Land Winston Churchill's olive branch in connection with the Home Rule trouble has turned out to be something like Aaron's rod, which "brought forth buds," but in his case the crop seems to be thorns.

The Ottawa license commissioners have ordered that there must be no more tango dancing in the hotel cafes there. If they would still further declare that there should be no quick-time music during the eating of a hot potato, all would be well in the Capital City.

Brantford, Windsor and other cities are boasting of how many hours the Duke of Connaught will spend in their respective centres. Hours, bosh! When the Duke came to Guelph his car pulled in before dawn. He took his morning walk around the city unattended before most citizens were awake.—Guelph Mercury.

Probably spent his whole time in a vain effort to find one of them there in that condition.

Press Comment

Best School for Crime
(From the Guelph Mercury)

It is worth remembering that the four New York gunmen executed on Monday were all brought up on the streets. Their graduation in crime was an easy result.

National Solidarity.

Le Canada, Montreal: A real solidarity should unite all Canadian centres as regards projects of national interest. The East should approve of the construction of the railway to Hudson's Bay; Ontario should view with favor the Transcontinental passing through Quebec; and the West should rejoice at the deepening of the St. Lawrence River channel. And from the same sentiment the city of Quebec should applaud the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal.

A Surprise in Chicago.

Hamilton Herald: "Bathhouse John," the notorious ward boss, alderman and grafter of Chicago, had far more female votes in the civic elections yesterday than the number polled by his chief opponent, who was a woman and a moral reformer. The mistake which women suffrage advocates often make is in assuming that the majority of female voters can always be depended upon to vote for the right.

Make It An Outlaw.

Canadian Courier: Oh, the awfully handy revolver has a pretty record of its own! We should all be better off if not another of these deadly reptiles were hatched. Make the revolver a criminal outlaw which no man would think of exposing for sale any more than he would advertise cholera germs by the ounce, and a number of people will be alive ten years hence who would otherwise form the subjects of neat epitaphs.

To The Editor

AS TO CHILE

The Editor Brantford Courier, City.
Dear Sir,—In your issue of April 28th you have an editorial in which you refer to Chile. Your remarks with reference to that country does it a great injustice.

In this editorial you state, "In Chile there has been so much internecine warfare that the male population has been decimated to such an extent that women run the street cars and are engaged very largely in many branches of labor." It has not had any "internecine warfare" for many years. Chile has probably the most stable government of any of the South American Republics; it is also very progressive.

Birthdays of Note

SATURDAY, MAY SECOND

Dr. W. Bell Dawson, superintendent of the Dominion Survey of Tide and Currents and a man whose work has been of immense practical importance, reaches his sixtieth birthday to-day. Dr. Dawson, who is the second son of the late Sir J. W. Dawson, was born in Picton, N.S., and studied at McGill University, whence he graduated with high honors. He was later admitted to the highest school of engineering in France and led his class there at graduation. From then until he received his present appointment in 1893, he engaged in a long series of engineering undertakings in Canada, principally in connection with railway construction. Under his supervision there are now issued annually those tide tables for the principal harbors of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, which are so invaluable to mariners. For this work Dr. Dawson received the Watt Gold Medal from the Institution of Civil Engineers of London.

FAKES

There are so many fakes a mortal's bosom aches, and he to grief gives tongue, so often is he stung! He buys a box of pills to cure his grievous ills, the which they fail to do, and he is sad and blue, when comes the good old doc, and says they're made of chalk. He takes his roll and goes to buy a suit of clothes; the merchant weighs the strictly right! Of value they are full, and every thread is wool! And then poor galoot takes home the all wool suit, and when it's worn a week 't has become a shriek. The trouser legs are shrunk, the coat and vest are punk, and all the cotton shows throughout the all wool clothes. Most everything he buys, from pickles down to pies, from juniper to jam, from hominy to ham, from caramel to cake, is but a dizzy fake. The ketchup's made of squash, the clothing will not wash, the hair dye's on the blink, and makes his whiskers pink, the horse he bought to drive imagines it's alive, but it's been dead three years—and so he sheds his tears, and sounds his bitter wail, which is of no avail. And when at last he dies he finds, to his surprise, his box, which should be oak, is pine—another fake.

WALT MASON.

DROWNED IN FALLS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 2—Basil Sabourin, 14 year old son of Basil Sabourin of 76 St. Henri St., Hull, was drowned in the Chaudiere Falls about 8 o'clock this morning. His body has not been recovered. The boy was employed in the J. R. Booth saw mills, located along the side of the falls. With another boy he was running along a narrow ledge of rock that flanks the mills right above the surging water when he slipped and toppled over, the body being instantly whirled away.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to bring back color, gloss, thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready to use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

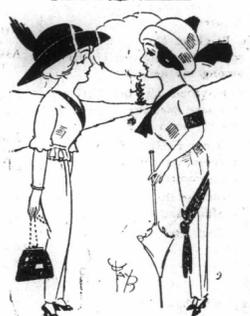

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge and soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. Agent George Rowles.

another one "Victoria," and another one "Ontario," all named by men who have gone from Canada to Chile in the interests of Brantford manufacturers. These men have succeeded so well there that they have remained and made Chile their permanent home.

Will you kindly make correction. I am, yours truly,
C. H. WATEROUS, Consul.

(The editorial as written, gave the population at 3,400,000, but the first letter was dropped in the casting of a line, a class of mishap which unavoidably takes place in connection with the setting of matter by machinery. Chile has had a very stormy history, including great losses in the war with Peru, 1879-1882—and other contests and also in the Revolutionary war of 1891. The uprising was against President Balmaceda, and when he saw that his cause was lost he committed suicide. A leading historian refers to that event as "the most severe and bloodiest struggle that country has ever witnessed." It was then that women had of necessity to take hold of men's jobs. This paper quite agrees with Mr. Waterous that Chile is probably the best of the South American Republics, in fact the intent of the original article was to show that in area, population, and other directions they constitute a far more important group of countries than most people seem to imagine.—Ed. Courier.)

CALGARY BY-LAWS.
CALGARY, Alta., May 1—Calgary ratepayers voted down seven of ten by-laws submitted yesterday. The by-laws carried were $20,000 for public waterworks extensions, $250,000 for waterworks extensions and $100,000 for sewer extensions.

Brantford Laundry Service
You Do Not Pay For---

In these days gone by the sole functions of a laundry consisted in washing the clothes sent them, starching the pieces necessary, ironing or mangling them, bundling them up and returning them to you.

And although to-day some laundries still adhere to these ancient theories of laundry service, the modern laundries with modern equipment and modern service are fast replacing them.

While washing, starching and ironing clothes, forever remain the fundamental principles of laundering and constitute that which you pay for, yet it is the additional service—the hundred and one little details—that you do not pay for, which make the modern laundry indispensable to you.

Let us consider a few of these details that are included in Brantford Laundry Service, which you do not pay for.

Every drop of water used in the BRANTFORD LAUNDRY is filtered and softened. We have one of the largest water-softening plants on the American Continent. This cost us a considerable amount to install and quite a figure to maintain. We could wash your clothes in ordinary water, but they wouldn't wash as white nor would they last YOU as long.

This is very important to you, but YOU DO NOT PAY FOR IT.

You pay 2c each for the laundering of your collars. You believe that for this amount your collars will be thoroughly washed, properly starched and ironed. And you probably expect no more.

Therefore will it surprise you to know that at the Brantford Laundry your collars go through fourteen processes ere they are returned to you? Will it surprise you to know that we have hundreds of dollars invested in special machinery to properly take care of your collars ALONE?

And all for the purpose that your collars may not only be laundered thoroughly, but that they may be laundered with the least possible wear on the linen and your patience.

You pay 10c to 12c for laundering shirts. The old process would mean washing, starching the cuffs, bosom, neckband, etc., and ironing.

The Brantford Laundry means the introduction of the very latest improved press machinery for laundering shirts. On your next parcel note the beautiful, domestic finish and the satisfactory fit of the shirt.

Then there are those little knacks which we know so well and which add so much satisfaction to you. For instance, the little detail of keeping the back buttonhole in your shirts from sticking together. What a mine of exasperation and patience that alone saves.

We could go right on and mention countless other features of a similar nature. But those cited are sufficient to point out the careful, painstaking, conscientious methods employed by the Brantford Laundry Limited.

Brantford Laundry service which YOU DO NOT PAY FOR is far more important to you than the ancient laundering methods which cost you dearly.

Hadn't we better call for your laundry next week?

Just phone 274 NOW.

HAVE AGREED ON APPOINTMENT

But Committee Wait
What Hydro Chief
spectator Will D

It is understood that the light committee of the City have agreed upon the appointment of a local man for the job of inspector, but as yet it is not known when the Hydro Commission has the right to sanction an appointment. If the election through Inspector Strickland will be left as it is, that Council will make no appointment and the underwriters will have to protect themselves. It is the same in Hamilton in this respect. Hydro will assume a dictatorial attitude municipally. Needless to resent.

The civic water supply is chlorinated and the process continues until the chlorine is all at the Brantford Waterworks. This was the announcement of Health Officer Pearson today, who explained that it was a matter of keeping the water last four or five weeks more.

HAVE AGREED ON APPOINTMENT

But Committee Waits to See What Hydro Chief Inspector Will Do.

It is understood that the fire and light committee of the City Council have agreed upon the appointment of a local man for the job of electrical inspector, but as yet it is not known when the Hydro Commission which has the right to sanction or veto the appointment, if the commission through Inspector Strickland, vetoes the appointment, electrical inspection will be left as it is. That is the City Council will make no appointment, and the underwriters will have to continue to protect themselves. The situation is the same in Hamilton, and right in Toronto there is a feeling that in this respect Hydro officials assume a dictatorial attitude to the municipality. Needless to say, it is resented.

Chlorination

Civic Water Supply is Still Being Purified—The Reason

The civic water supply is still being chlorinated and this process will continue until the changes are all affected at the Brantford Waterworks plant. This was the announcement of Medical Health Officer Pearson this morning, who explained that it was simply a matter of keeping on the safe side. It is expected that chlorination will last four or five weeks more.

Henry Palmer of Bayham pleaded guilty to burning the building of his neighbor, A. D. Stoner, on March 17, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

PAINTERS SATISFIED

They Say They Have Effectuated a Good Organization in City.

The painters of the city are well satisfied over the success of their organization and say they have, during the two days of strike initiated six new members and more are thinking of going over to the side of those who are at present out. This they claim, shows clearly the state of the trade in this city, the men being very unsatisfied with their present wage. They are still standing firm for their demands and hope soon that the masters will come to an amicable agreement. They contend that they are only asking for what is just and quote the wages paid in other cities. They hold that the bosses will in time view things as they do. Their organization which is strong, asks, they say, for nothing more than they are entitled to.

City News Items

In the City.
Mr. John Fallahee of the Bithuletic Paving Company is in the city.

Will Start Sewer.
A new sewer will be started Monday on Morrell street from West Mill street.

Assessors Made Start.
The assessors started their annual round of field work yesterday. They expect to be about three months making their first round.

Started in 1888.
It was the year 1888 in which Sergeants Wallace and Donnelly joined the Brantford police department and not 1880 as reported.

Arbour Day.
Arbour Day was celebrated by the schools of the city and district yesterday when many new trees were planted and school agriculture in general underwent a clean-up and examination.

They Must Close Here.
Mr. C. Fleming, secretary of the Petrolia Poolroomkeepers' Association, in a letter to the city clerk, wants to know if there is a by-law in this city which compels pool and billiard rooms to close at a certain time.

New Members.
At a meeting of the directors of the Golf club held last evening seven new members were elected. Prospects for a very successful golf season are excellent. The course will be put in first class shape.

First Motor Party.
Messrs. Haymaker, Waddle and Hawes of Port Dover, motored through the city last night and were the first motor party to register at a Brantford hotel. They stopped at the Elmhurst.

Ruthenian Bishop.
Bishop Budka, of the Ruthenian branch of the Roman Catholic Church will visit the city to-morrow and be the guest of Very Rev. Dean Grady of St. Basil's. It will be the first time that a Ruthenian bishop has visited his people in this city.

Found Fishing Good.
Messrs. E. J. Slattery, J. Hanley and J. Stewart returned last night from a successful fishing expedition to Delhi. They report the fishing excellent. In one night they caught 22 trout between them. Mr. Hanley had the misfortune to slip off a narrow bridge and get a bad dacking.

Spring Work.
Although the spring has been very backward the present fine weather is ideal for work on the farm and farmers are exceptionally busy. The prospects for excellent crops throughout Brant county are reported above the average, although it will be hard to beat last year's bumper yield.

Becoming Worried.
Manager Rube Deneau of the Red Sox is becoming worried over the non-appearance of Pitcher Worfel of Syracuse and this morning wired him to find out what is the matter. He wired about two weeks ago of sickness and was given a rest in order to recover but nothing has been heard from him since.

Indian in Trouble.
Robert Curley, an Indian doctor, will appear in the Hamilton police court on a charge of bigamy. Curley was arrested by Constable Chamberlain of the Central Police station. It is alleged by the police that Curley has an Indian wife living on the reserve near Hagersville, and that he recently married a Hamilton girl, the parents of whom, having heard that he had another wife living, had him arrested.

Enjoyable Lecture.
Mr. Henry Yeigh gave an enjoyable lecture last evening under the auspices of the P. S. A. of the Congregational Church. The lecture was on Yellowstone Park and was illustrated by views loaned by the Union Pacific. Mr. George Crooker acted as chairman and the evening proved a very profitable one to the good crowd present. A vote of thanks on behalf of the P. S. A. Brotherhood was moved by Messrs. Hedger and Moore and carried unanimously.

Allowed to Go.
Only one case was on the list at the police court to-day and that was one of disorderly. Fred Jobe had assaulted his father at their home in West Brantford and tried to break the windows of the house. He had been having a good time and tried to continue it when he got home. The police were called and prevented the son doing any more damage. This morning before Magistrate Livingston defendant said he could remember nothing about it and was allowed to go.

School Football League.
A meeting of the committee appointed to look into the formation of a school league, took place last night at the armories, and a very optimistic tone prevailed with regard to the future outlook of the proposed league. Superintendents of Sunday schools, managers of athletic clubs and Sunday school scholars are invited to send information with regard to prospective teams to the office of Charles Puttalo, at the post office. It is desirable to have all particulars in by Saturday next, so that the league can be formed as early as possible. Several men at the meeting last night had knowledge of one or two intending clubs, and they see no reason why a good healthy young league should not be launched in Brantford.

W. H. A. Meeti Held on Friday

Miss Jones reported that with Mrs. S. F. Passmore she had visited the hospital during April taking jelly, fruit, flowers and other things. Easter cards and flowers were distributed to all patients, public and private and were very much appreciated.

The illness of several members was reported and it was resolved that letters of sympathy be sent them. It was reported that the violet bazaar given by the East ward children had been a great success. Mrs. Hawley of Eagle Place, sent in 30 cents in fees and a large number of papers for the children in the hospital. Miss Preston reported for the J. H. A. a quiet time during the last month, but activities were being resumed. The young ladies had presented the children in hospital at Easter with chickens and flowers or candy to all the patients.

The motion by Mrs. Nelles, of which notice was given at the April meeting to transfer the balance left in the Nurses' Home fund to the general fund was confirmed and declared carried.

The congratulations of the W. H. A. were extended to the I.O.D.E. in their recent notable success in "Dreamland," the same to be sent by letter to their secretary. The president reported that Mr. N. Poullos, manager of the Brantford

Cafe, 135 Colborne street, having read in the papers that the hospital is in need of more funds, has generously and without solicitation, offered to donate the whole proceeds of some one Saturday from 6 a.m. until 12 midnight to the W. H. A. for hospital purposes.

Moved by Mrs. Livingston, seconded by Mrs. Foster, that the auxiliary graciously accept the generous donation of a Saturday's proceeds as offered by Mr. Poullos at his cafe on Colborne street. The date agreed upon for this donation will be Saturday, May 16.

The secretary reported that the screens for the nurses' home will be in place early next week. Those members who visited Woodstock on Monday to be present at the opening of their new nurses' home were most enthusiastic over their kind reception and the beauty of the new building, which is of tapestry brick, very home-like and commodious, and accommodates twenty nurses at a cost of $9,000, and the furnishings cost $4,000.

A notable feature is that each and every room has been furnished by donation of some society or private individual in Woodstock. On Monday it was resolved that a letter acknowledging the kindness shown to the Brantford ladies, be sent to Mrs. (Dr.) Sinclair, president of the Woodstock Ladies' Auxiliary.

Eleven persons were killed by a G. T. R. passenger train near the station, while evidently on his way to visit his son.

united. Inzerillo's cafe was a popular place with the Lupo-Morello crowd, and just around the corner from No. 8 Prince street, the address to which the letter had been returned and at which the two leaders conducted a cafe and restaurant.

It was, of course, merely a guess on my part that the letter had been written by Inzerillo, but I set about to make sure of it. The whole affair had been conducted in that neighborhood and there was no doubt in my mind that one of the men we were watching had written the letter. I managed to obtain a specimen of Inzerillo's handwriting, and my theory that he had penned the Pollara letter was exploded. The penmanship was entirely different.

There were at that time several of the Black Hand members in the Tombs prison. Many of their friends visited them, and at my request Marshal Henkel required all these visitors to sign the passes which he issued to the permitting them to see the prisoners. In this way I obtained numerous signatures of the counterfeiters, but none matched the writing in the Pollara letter. Hints which reached me finally led me to believe that Lupo himself had written the letter, but I seemed unable to procure a specimen of his handwriting. He did not visit any of the men in the Tombs.

Now, I was aware that Lupo at that time was engaged in the importation of olive oil, which, of course, had to pass through the Customs House. John Hughes, brother of former Police Inspector Hughes, was in the customs service.

Through him I had a consignment of olive oil to Lupo held up by the customs authorities. Before they were released it was necessary for Lupo to write out a list of goods, their value and sign the papers. This statement was taken to a handwriting expert, who after careful study declared that it was the work of the same person who wrote the Pollara letter.

At last I had evidence which would hold in court to establish the fact that Lupo himself was active in the distribution of the bogus money. But the trap was not yet to be sprung. There was much else I wanted cleared up. Before I spoiled everything I desired to be in a position to arrest and convict every man, if possible, who was in any way concerned in the counterfeiting.

Investigation showed me that Andrea Pollara was a laborer in a railroad camp at Portage la Prairie and I soon learned that he was the agent for the counterfeiters and had been sent there to investigate the camp as a field in which to get rid of some of the spurious money. When the letter to Pollara reached Portage la Prairie the camp had moved to another place and so the letter was returned to the address on the back. The fact that it was refused caused it to fall into my hands.

Further investigation showed me that the agent in Canada had only assumed the name Pollara and that he was really Salvatore Maccari, who lived with his wife in New York city.

Secret service men immediately went on the trail of Maccari. Meantime the barrel number occurred and among others Lupo was arrested. While he was in custody his house was searched and there was found a letter postmarked Portage la Prairie, addressed to Pietro Inzerillo, No. 226 Elizabeth street. It was dated September 4, 1902. In the letter the writer asked to be remembered to Ignazio (referring to Lupo), and requested him to send five dollars. This was evidently the letter in response to which the Pollara letter was written and the specimen bill sent. Although the letter was signed Salvatore Mattisi, another alias of Maccari, it asked that the money be addressed to Andrea Pollara.

On Lupo's person was found a note book in which was an entry, "S. Mattisi, sent to Canada $5.00, to his wife, $5.00, ditto $4.00."

This book was taken to the handwriting expert who examined the Pollara letter and the customs statement of Lupo and it was declared by him that the entries were written by the same hand—Lupo's. We were on the warm trail of the wolf.

Agents of the secret service followed Maccari from Canada to New York without him so much as guessing that he knew of his existence. When all was ready he was arrested in his home, No. 70 1/2 James street, and in his apartment were found many letters written from Portage la Prairie and addressed to Andrea Pollara. These letters were rich in what we call "riveting evidence."

Maccari denied that he knew Lupo or Morello. He said that never had he seen any counterfeit money, to his knowledge, either in America or in Italy or Canada.

With a great show of emotion he made the sign of the cross and swore that he could not read or write and that all his statements were true. Fear of the Black Hand was strong within him. The man in the barrel was fresh in his memory. It was not until Maccari felt that the grip of the law was more terrible than the mailed fist of the Black Hand that he told the truth.

Then he confessed that he knew Lupo. He said that his father and Lupo's father had been the closest of friends, but he steadfastly denied that Lupo that written the letter which was addressed to him as Pollara in Portage la Prairie and which had been returned to No. 8 Prince street. However, I had the expert opinion of a handwriting specialist as to that, and, moreover, I discovered that the paper on which the letter was written bore the same watermark as did the billheads which Lupo used. The envelope which contained the letter and was returned to Prince street was of the same make as envelopes found in the cafe of Pietro Inzerillo.

The net was drawing close about Morello and Lupo. The arrest of Maccari brought us closer to the chief than we had been before. Still we were obliged to wait.

Dufferin Rifles

"D" Company Spends Delightful Social Evening—What's Doing in the Local Regiment.

D Coy's social was strong—strong numerically, strong in talent, and strong in soldier sentiment. At the other's table were seated Captain Hicks, Lieut. Bingle, Lieut. Duncan, Lieut. Cockshutt, Capt. Emmons, Capt. Dunlop, Staff Sergt. Hollister, and Col. Ashton.

The color-sergeant's benediction, the "Thank God" of the service pronounced, the menu was led to destruction. Selections on the Victrola livened up the action of the knife and fork enthusiasts. Pte. Murphy's arrival however, outclassed that mechanical instrument—the "Murphy man" gets a hearing, and he sheds his brogue liberally to maintain it.

The opening remarks were made by Capt. Hicks, who proposed the toast "The King," honored in song, and carried with the "God bless him" of the Duffs. Lt.-Col. Ashton, rising to speak, said he was always glad to attend any of the banquets of the old Regiment. Twenty years of life, when one is young and enthusiastic, patriotic and filled with a desire to serve one's country, made him so. When one thinks of Brantford, with its large population, only raising one battalion, it causes those of us who think, to be filled with dismay. While no militarist, he wanted to do his part to place Canada in a place of self respect as a nation prepared to stand for its rights.

The day of the millennium is not yet here; and the U. S. A., that always talks of peace, has been forced to take a part in the grim game of force. How few realize it is a duty to learn to shoot and a little drill—if they are going to make Canada a nation, she must be able to help in holding together the unity of the Empire. Too many of the Brit's Canadians say it is time to be a nation—only one way to do that; and if to-day Britain said to her colonies, stand alone, how many of them could. The nations of Europe are working for room for their surplus citizens, and having a colonies they would without question, take what they desired. The militia is a national training school, and you must obtain it can give, so that when you pass out you could come back if the call ever went forth to stand by the colors. The success of D must depend on the men, but in Capt. Hicks you have some one worth the adding; a thorough good officer and his subalterns the best type of men, and Col. Serat. Hart has played up well and the officers know how much is due to him. Col. Ashton closed in a recitation at once powerful, moving and steep with patriotic sentiment. The story of the Swiss Patriot dying on one of the battlefields of liberty on which that land gained her freedom.

"The Visitors" was replied to by Capt. Dunlop, who endorsed the views of Col. Ashton, and said a neat compliment to Capt. Hicks, who deserved all the success that was coming to him in progress. Staff Sergt. Hollister and Sergt. Mills briefly replied and were pleased to have the invitation.

A song list was given, the opening solo "Marching to War," by Mr. McLeod, being chorused and acceptable by reason of its appropriate sentiments. "Paddy's Soldiering," Pte. Murphy, composer, adept entertainer, and Irishman, showed his versatile personality in his hero's experiences with laughable emphasis. Pte. Ellison caught another sentiment in his song "You made me what I am to-day" and got lost in the men's hearty choruses. The McLeod Bros., duettists, went agreeably together in "Watchman, what of the night?" Many other singers contributed and were distinct successes, D company being rich in talented members.

The toasts, the "Company Officers" was replied to first by Capt. Hicks, who spoke briefly and thanked the men for their heartiness on drinking the toast. The feeling on all sides was of the best and their support has been encouraging. The muster is forty-five and an effort, he was sure the world make, would make it 70 or 80. The ranges would be open on Sunday, and special aid would be given, an able staff of instructors were to be on duty. Shooting is the mainstay of a soldier, and D company one time the banner company, must get back to that place. History must be made to repeat itself in this.

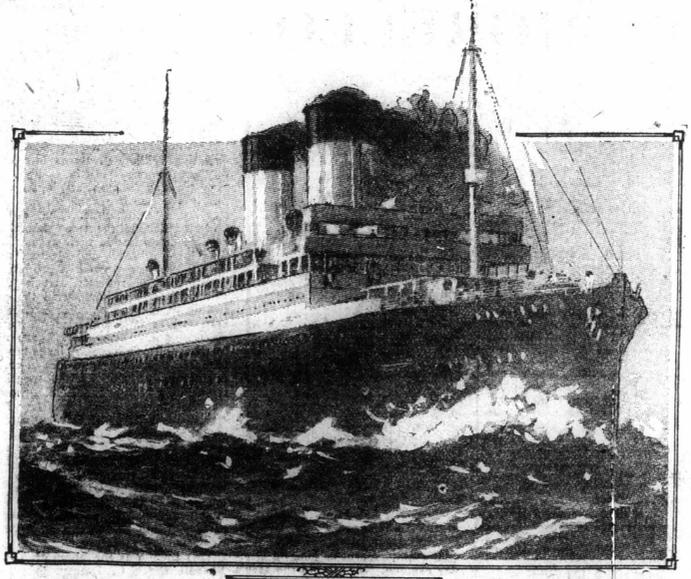

Lieut. Duncan and Bingle spoke briefly, and in cordial agreement with Capt. Hicks, and were pleased to see the company advancing.

Lieut. Cockshutt was a delightful raconteur, and made his debut in that role.

To the toast of the "Commanding Officer and Staff," Col. Howard replied. The camp would be the best ever had. D Company had quality, let it get the men and the Fall inspection would see it at its best, as it used to be.

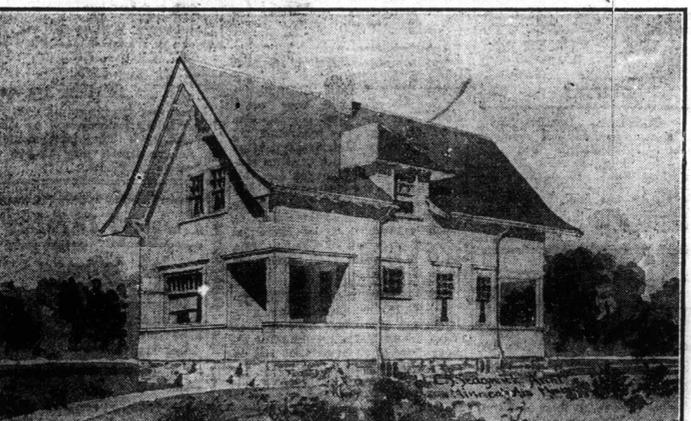

Lieut. Emmons replied for the staff and was in earnest as to the need of good shots.

The evening was closed in the manner of soldiers of the King, cheers and the National Anthem being sung.

NEW ATLANTIC LINERS.
This season will see the Atlantic service of the Canadian Pacific augmented by the addition of two new steamers. These two vessels will be of the one class cabin type, which are becoming so popular. Barclay-Curle & Company, of Glasgow, secured the contract for the building of the ships some months ago, and the construction is well under way. They are being specially constructed for the Atlantic service and will contain every possible convenience for the comfort of passengers. They will be of the "one class" type, with passenger accommodation for 520 second, and 1,200 third class. These new vessels have been named the "Missinibi" and the "Metagama." Their length will be 420 feet, greatest breadth 64 feet, while the breadth of the passenger decks will be 41 feet. Each vessel will have a dead weight capacity of 7,000 tons, with an approximate cargo capacity for 6,000 tons. The famous cruiser stern, which is the feature of the new Empress recently placed on the Pacific coast, is being introduced and the new ships will also have six complete steel decks. In order to ensure safety the hulls are to be subdivided by water-tight doors and bulkheads, so as to be capable of floating when three compartments are open. These water-tight bulkheads and doors will be automatically controlled from the bridge. The speed of each vessel will be 15 knots, with a draught of 27 1/2. As for the interior of the vessels, each second-class state room will be fitted with a wardrobe and chest of drawers, folding lavatory with mirror, and other conveniences. The public rooms will be dining saloon, smoking room, lounge and drawing room. The refrigerator plant will be capable of making 300 lbs. of ice per eight hours. The vessels will be heated and ventilated on the thermo-bank system changing the air eight times each hour. There will also be a printing plant on board each vessel.

A DAINTY COTTAGE, COSTING $2,000

HERE is a "Dainty Cottage" just suited to a small family, with all of the comforts of a larger house, neat in appearance, economical to build and adapted to a small or narrow lot. The size on the ground is 21 feet in width and 33 feet in depth. The entrance porch is at the side and opens into a pleasant living room with a wide sliding door. The dining room is octagonal in form and opens directly back, and at the rear of same is a very convenient sewing room that would be appreciated by the young wife, with two small closets to accommodate sewing materials. The kitchen is at the right of dining room and has a commodious pantry with room for refrigerator and opening at the rear onto a small porch. There is a good, full basement.

The stairs are of the combination order, reached from the kitchen. The second story has two good sized chambers with large closets, bath-room, etc. At the rear of second story is a fine large sleeping porch, open on three sides and screened in, making a very attractive feature. The second story is finished in pine and stained, birch flooring. The first story is finished in Washington fir and stained Mission, floor of oak. The exterior is finished with narrow siding, virge boards in the gables, a dormer window on each side and the roof shingled and stained red, the walls painted in a light cream color, with white wash.

It is estimated that this house can be built for $2,000, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

Y. M. C. A. Circus A Great Success

The second performance of the great circus at the Y. M. C. A. was every bit as successful as the first. Points had been garnered from the experience of the first night and many corners were polished off and the whole show made to run smoothly. The chorus introduced some new jokes and kept up a running fire of mirth to the great amusement of a good audience. Last night a novel idea was incorporated when one of the boys masquerading as a lady spectator fainted, and was taken to be revived by the chorus. The drills went with a swing and the special illuminated Indian club swinging was again accorded hearty plaudits. The kazoo band was again to the fore with their music and were no little aid to the success of the night. Things are expected to hum to-night which is the greatest and last performance of the animal circus.

Mr. Fisher, M.P. To Sir William

Time Will Tell.—Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., is a friend of all the world and a good story teller to boot. While Sir William Mackenzie was in Ottawa recently discussing Canadian Northern matters with the Dominion Government, Mr. Fisher undertook to encourage him with a story.

"Do you know, Sir William, your present relations with the government remind me of a story which is told of a namesake of my own down South? Rastus Fisher was in the whitewashing business, and had recently married a woman who had been a servant at the Squire's house. Shortly after this auspicious event, the Squire met them, and they held a little conversation which ran something like this:

"Well, Rastus," said the Squire, "how are you?"

"Fine, Squire, fine."

"Lots of whitewashing to be done, Rastus?"

"Yes, Squire, I've gettin' all the work I can do. Yes, Squire, lots of work."

"And how is Miranda, Rastus?"

"Well, now say, Squire, that woman done worry me. Do you know, Squire, she's always asking me for money. Every time I go home she asks me for money. Sometimes it's fifty cents, and sometimes a quarter, and sometimes ten cents. But she's always asking for money."

"That's strange Rastus. Always asking you for money, eh! Well, what does she do with all the money you give her?"

"Well, I don't know, Squire. You see, I hadn't given her none yet."

Sir William is said to have enjoyed the story immensely.—Canadian Courier.

The first Persian Bahai wedding ever celebrated on the American continent was solemnized at Montreal, a Syrian girl, Zeenat Khanum, from Haifa, Palestine, being married to Dr. Zia Bagdadi of Chicago.

WM. J. BURNS WAS MOBBED

Famous Detective in Trouble in Village of Marietta, Georgia.

MONTREAL, May 2.—A despatch to The Gazette from Marietta, Georgia, says:

A crowd of men and boys mobbed detective William J. Burns late yesterday afternoon when he and W. M. McWorth, an assistant employed with him in the Leo Frank, drove into the city in an automobile. The crowd swarmed around the two detectives as they stood beside their automobile in a local garage and jeered and boomed. Robert Howell, a prominent young man of the city, struck Mr. Burns in the face and dared the detective to touch him. For a time it appeared as if the two men might suffer serious harm. Mr. Burns ran to the Whitlock Hotel. A large crowd gathered there and dared him to come out. Finally, after hurried speeches from Philip Morris and T. M. Bromby, the rioters agreed to let Mr. Burns come forth if Mr. Bromby would promise to take the detectives out of the county. Mr. Bromby agreed, and amid jeers and hoots Mr. Burns was hurried out of Marietta on his way to Atlanta. In the meantime the sheriff had taken charge of McWorth and had conducted him out a back way and into a cab along the Kosswell road to safety.

This town was the home of Mary Phagan, the slain factory girl, and many of her relatives live here. The detectives declaration that Frank was not guilty, and that James Connolly, a negro, factory sweeper, convicted as an accessory after the murder, alone was responsible for the crime, aroused intense feeling here.

LANDSOWNE FOR PREMIER. MONTREAL, May 2.—Probably the most politically significant event of the day, says a London cable to the Daily Mail, was the indication by Lord Curzon in a speech before a demonstration of the Primrose League that the Marquis of Lansdowne would be the premier of the next Unionist administration.

Several Players To Walk Plank Tonight

Deneau Says Releases Will be Made, But is Silent as to Where Axe Will Fall.

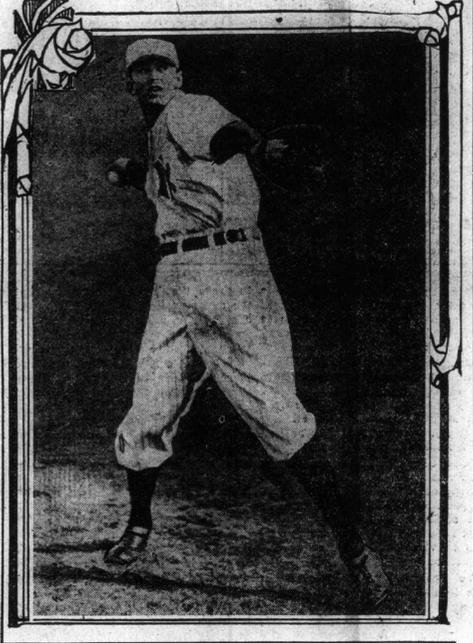

No releases will be handed out until this evening by Chief Deneau. It is a difficult matter to guess what Deneau intends to do, although the guesses during the week in this column may be taken as having been not far astray. As far as can be ascertained, the Chief is pretty well satisfied with the infield the way he has it doped out; he will be satisfied if no more pitchers report, the catching department suits him, and the outfield is not giving him any worry.

The above are the results of the spring training which has been in progress for the last ten days. Whether they are satisfactory results or not can only be judged by the team's showing in the future.

If Pitcher Worfel does not report last night to find out what he intended to do, Pitcher Gehring, it will be remembered, has already been put on the blacklist. If neither of these players report, the Red Sox pitching staff will consist of Connell, Gero, Chase and Taylor, with the Chief himself ready to put on war paint and feathers should emergency arise. If Gehring and Worfel arrive, it will give Deneau some trouble in making his final selections.

Clubby Coose, Wagner or Beltz, Molyneux, Carroll, all form the surplus brigade. As far as the fate of these players is concerned, only Deneau himself knows. He has to walk out the matter in accordance with the salary limit, and to-night will partially tell the tale.

YANKEE TWIRLER PITCHING STAR BALL.

Ray Caldwell, the Yankee twirler, is pitching the best ball of his career just now. He has been informed by Manager Chance that if he keeps up his great pitching he will be in the same boat with Johnson, Mathewson, Alexander, Wood and other star boxmen.

Sport Comment

Well, we knew it would come to this, at least we suspected that it would, when the "official nick-name" was changed from the Red Sox to the Brants. Tim Peters from the Reserve was given a tryout yesterday in the box. Deneau said he was acting under instructions from Roy Brown, F. Westbrook, President Nelson and Peanuckle, all assembled in the wigwam when the pitching prowess of the Indian was brought forward as the real live baseball topic of the day. It might be pointed out that the said Tim has in times past burned up the Oshweken league, and is known among the natives for his smoke. He is several cubits over six feet, and is a brother of the famous wrestler of the same name, Mr Brown, the genial treasurer of the club, who keenly admires the nickname of the Brants, says that the Chief-misunderstood the instructions. It was his suggestion that Deneau and Peters should sign up for a wrestling bout, that sport having been popular here recently. Instead, however, Deneau signed up Peters as a pitcher, and he will work out today behind the dyke. By all means, in conformance with the policy of the club, one Indian to carry the name of the Brants should be chosen, and nobody will have any objection if the selection falls on Peters, although we have our doubts about the Indian's fitness for the Canadian League. But he will be there with a bigger asset to the club, namely the war paint and the feathers, also the whoop.

Lady Golfers Ready For Princess Pat

The Ladies' Executive of the Golf Club met yesterday afternoon at the Golf Club. Final arrangements were made for the tea to be given Saturday afternoon next to Their Royal Highnesses the Duke of Connaught and Princess Patricia. The club house will be prettily decorated, and Darwen's Orchestra will discourse music. The visit is being eagerly anticipated by golfers and their friends. The Duke and Princess Patricia both take a great interest in golf, and during their memorable tour through the West a year or so ago were guests at all the principal golf clubs. At the conclusion of the meeting yesterday the president, Mrs. Herbert R. Yates, entertained the Executive to tea.

Watching The Score Board

Detroit has a faculty of letting Chicago make a rally in the ninth and then putting the air brakes on. Twice the Tigers stopped the White Sox just in the nick of time. The score yesterday was 3 to 2.

St. Louis nosed out the Luckless Naps, 3-2.

Again Walter Johnson loses. He succeeded in leading in the eighth and Philadelphia got to him for three runs winning 7-6.

Jack Barry was carried off the field with a foot badly spiked.

Mowry batted in three out of the four runs for the Pirates who beat Cincinnati 4-2.

Catcher Fisher of Brooklyn held the ball to tag a man at the plate when the bases were full and that gave the Phillies their best opening to win, 8-6.

St. Louis humbled Chicago Cubs 2-0. Robinson let 'em down with two hits.

The Giants slug, Marquard wins. Score: New York 11, Boston 2.

The Leafs more than plastered Newark, 11-1. Rogge, their new pitcher, proved effective.

Baltimore made it three straight over Montreal 5-4 in eleven innings.

Caldwell is pitching great ball for New York. He held the Red Sox to three hits yesterday and won 6-0.

IN GOOD SHAPE FOR ALL COMERS

Red Sox Players Are in Condition - Worked Out Yesterday.

Manager Rube Deneau had his part hopes out to practice again yesterday afternoon. The Red Sox showed all sorts of pep in the warm sun and the practice was the best yet held.

They had to get one. When they changed the name they just had to get an Indian to uphold their end of the name. And yesterday Rube had one. That one was Tim Peters, brother of the Hagersville idol, Hank Peters. But he will have to go back to the farm. All he had was a close and a big windup. He takes so long to wind up that even Gabby Ivers could go all the way from first to third without stopping, and that is going some. A new feature of the work out was the hit and run practice which Deneau put the men through. Taylor and Carroll did the leaving, the latter using curves as well as some speed. This had showed more in yesterday's practice than ever before and looks good. Gabby Ivers started to chase the Rube from first to third and the manager had to stretch his legs to keep away from him. If that march race ever comes off, Gabby will wear a new hat next day and Gabby is confident of doing it.

After batting practice Rube sent his men to the field and a stiff fielding practice was indulged in. All the men are in fine condition and with a few more warm days will be in the pink of condition when the season opens next Thursday. The probable line-up for this afternoon's game is as follows: Burns, left field; Rickart, third base; Deneau, first base; Ivers, right field; Sandusky, centre; Honeck, short stop; Wagner or Beltz, second base; Lamond or LeCroix, catcher and Connell, Carroll, Chase, Gero and Molyneux for pitchers. The first two and Molyneux are the most probable, as they have not yet worked in any game.

Wild Ravings

We note a special column of sport in the Spectator headed "Crab Salad." It's a cinch Bobby Robinson handles it.

It's a sure bet that there are a lot of people in the United States who believe the Federal baseball war is more disastrous than the Mexican affair. If baseball stock was quoted on the market there would be a panic.

We feel sorry for the delegation which Mayor Allan will head here from Hamilton next week.

Manager Deneau proposes to make one grand effort to capture home games. He says nothing helps a team as much and pleases the fans as well.

The brass band welcome to the Red Sox next Thursday won't be in it with what they'll get if they win the pennant.

Ottawa papers all persist in putting Brantford out of the running. That's just what we want.

Rube Deneau is a lake diver by trade, and hitherto has always been able to reach the top after hitting the bottom.

Harry Donovan's chances of sticking with Ottawa are reported to be slim. Donovan's great fault while in Brantford was a peevishness to get home.

It is officially denied that the Red Sox will attend Mohawk Church on Sunday, although it is rumored that several, since they got new nicknames, have shed tears copiously over the tomb of Thayendengea.

Jack Bennett, known as the best runner on the reserve, has not yet reported at Deneau's wigwam.

Fans are duly cautioned to remember that Brantford got off to a wonderful victory last year, and then what happened?

Biddy Burns denies the allegation that meal tickets are the height of a ball player's ambition in the spring. He says he came here to play ball and is not a tramp.

"When Deneau and His Papoose Hit the Trail," the title of the latest book by the official nicknamer of the Brantford team.

They say the peach crop is all ruined, but Harry Gero is authority for the statement that there are many peachers in right in Brantford.

Report from Hamilton has it that the fans are longing for-gore on May 7 in Dykeville. Well, since they off-

"HER BATHROOM FAIRLY SPARKLED-- She is a Wonderful Housekeeper" Says the Departing Guest

No other room in the house so truly measures the standards of the family. Other rooms may be overlooked, but each fault or untidiness of the bathroom is glaringly distinct and rarely forgotten.

The modern bathroom symbolizes the clean, healthful things of life. It is the daily restorer of vitality. It speeds the business man towards his day's work bodily fit and mentally fresh. It receives him in the evening weary in mind and body and sends him out freshly rejuvenated, nerves soothed, muscles elastic, and with a glowing sense of well-being.

Take a few moments to-night and examine your bathroom. Does it please you as well as the beautiful rooms you have noticed in other homes? Is it convenient? Is there a place for everything? Can you obtain lots of hot water at any time of the day or night without the tiresome waiting?

We extend to you an invitation to see our model Bathrooms. Bring your wife and daughter. We assure you of every courtesy.

Canadian League News Notes

Always Overlooks Us. Ottawa Journal: Manager Shaughnessy now thinks it's a four-team race in the Canadian League, with Erie, London, Peterboro and Ottawa the contenders. He figures that Peterboro is the most dangerous club of the three. However, the champs look to have the best ball club they have possessed since the Canadian League entered Ottawa. Arrangements All Made. St. Thomas Times: Arrangements were completed on Wednesday night for the opening of the Canadian League season here on Wednesday afternoon next, instead of Thursday. Manager Shaughnessy, of the Ottawa team has given his consent to the change in date. In order that the fans will be able to get a good glimpse of the Duke of Connaught and the Princess Patricia and also participate in the festivities at the Court House, which start at 3.30, before going to the Park, the game will not be called until 4.15 o'clock. It looks as if Wilkinson and Nevitt will be the St. Thomas battery for the opener, and Shaughnessy will likely use Hall, formerly of the Cleveland Naps, in the box, and Lage behind the bat. As the mayor has proclaimed the afternoon a half-holiday, a large crowd is expected. Many London fans and visitors from the surrounding country will also attend.

for its opening day that has ever been in its park with one exception, that being when the new park was dedicated in 1912. Fans to the number of 20,142 paid to see the Tigers and Browns pry off the lid. Capt. Ira Thomas of the Athletics will do no more catching in championship games. He has taken over the active running of the team. A word from Connie Mack and Ira rushes out on the diamond and works the changes his boss makes out. Outfielder Rubet Oldring of the Athletics thought he had appendicitis and hurried home to Philadelphia to see physicians. Their examination disclosed that a cold had settled in the abdominal muscles and advised that he take a complete rest until his illness disappeared.

York State League. He is a youngster Oscar Stange discovered on the Pacific coast and there is a belief that he will go back in fast company with more experience. Manager McGraw of the Giants has further come to the rescue of Toronto by sending Joe Kelley, Pitcher Monty Priest, a recruit from the Ohio state league. In spite of all his howling Joe Kelley seems to be getting his share of major league surplus. Junior Charley Ebbets has sprung a new one at his Newark park. He has lady ushers to show the reserved seat patrons where they belong. Wait until some rough-neck without a check falls into a choice seat and refuses to vacate on a winsome girl's suggestion.

The Boston Braves have further gone to the rescue of Rochester by turning over pitchers Meigs and Ducey. The former came from Seattle the last fall and the latter was secured by draft from Pittsfield. The Braves are also dealing with the Buffalo team, as indicated by the purchase of Outfielder Jimmy Murray, who was up in the big ring before as a member of the St. Louis Browns. A half dozen players who trained in Columbus, Ga., with the Newark Indians have been disposed of. Ed. Donnelly was released and is now a free agent. Freddy Dion goes to Lynn, Mass., club; Bob Thompson has been turned over to Portsmouth, Va.; Charley Paynter will pasture in Columbus, Ga.; and Beanie Hall and Ross Hewes are to perform with Jack Kelly's Scranton team. International League fans believe Frank Thuesdale will fit in nicely with the Yankees. He is not a great hitter but has a faculty of getting on bases and is a great run getter. It was his failure to hit that caused the St. Louis Browns to let him go three years ago, but they afterwards tried to get him back. Gilhooly, who goes to Buffalo from the Yankees in exchange was also a St. Louis discard, but from the Cardinals, not the Browns. He was sent to the minors by Bresnahan, while the Duke was boss of the Cards. Bresnahan's judgment after all seems to have been vindicated.

Chief Bender of the Athletics, who runs a sporting goods store in Philadelphia as a side line, has offered a trophy for the pennant winner in the Tri-County League, a Pennsylvania independent organization that plays fast ball and has graduated many men to the professional ranks. Cleveland fans showed their gameness in the face of defeat. The team went home after losing seven straight to open the season in Napland and 15,000 fans turned out to greet the players and cheer them as though they had won. The Naps faltered again and lost their eighth straight, but the next day broke into the win column thanks to Mitchell's good pitching. The Detroit club has planned to send Pitcher Pug Cavet to Chattanooga in the Southern League but could not secure any waivers on him. Not only did two National League clubs refuse to let him get away, but it is said two or three Class AA clubs would have put in bids as soon as the chance offered. Cavet, being a purchased player, would have had to be offered all Class AA clubs before he could be sent to Class A. Dode Birmingham says he has secured Allan Collamore's wildness. While warming up Collamore, Birmingham noted that in his windup the pitcher removed his gaze from the plate for an instant, and decided this was his fault. By careful coaching Birmy has taught Collamore to keep his optics glued to the plate no matter how much he dislocates himself in his windup, and the result is that Collamore is locating the plate without trouble. Just to identify the Johnson who pitched for the Boston Red Sox on April 23 and spoiled the opening at Washington by beating his great namesake from Coffeyville, it may be stated that he is A. Rankin Johnson, Jr., and that he hails from Marble Falls, Texas. Though labelled a recruit, A. Rankin has had a good deal of experience in the game, and this was not his first experience in the big show, for he once pitched ball for the St. Louis Cardinals. There was more than one reason for Manager Chance's release of the veteran Tom Daly. He did not seem to grasp the duties of a coach, but the real reason was that Chance overheard his conversation with several young pitchers and the trend of it was not exactly loyalty to organized ball. It was decided right then and there that Daly's influence on youngsters was not going to be of the right kind and he was told to hunt employment elsewhere. The foolishness of a won and lost column for pitchers was indicated in the first game of the season at Detroit. There Dubuc after pitching 12 innings of shutout ball was relieved by Dausse and the Tigers won in the 13th, Dausse thus getting credit for the victory, though he pitched—but two-thirds of an inning, and had already been replaced in the line-up by a pinch hitter, when the winning run was made. Under the won and lost system Dubuc would not figure as having been in the game at all, though he pitched more than 12 innings. That the Washington Climbers are the best attraction in the American League is again being demonstrated this season. Last year the books of the Ban Johnson circuit showed that the Washington aggregation had drawn just $16,000 more on the road than any of its rivals, and though the present season is but one week old, the team has already broken two attendance records. The crowd which witnessed the opening game in Boston was about the largest that ever attended an opening in that city. It is admitted that this was largely due to the fact that Walter Johnson was slated to pitch. Another record was made in New York April 18, when the Yankees drew more than 20,000 to the Polo grounds, the greatest crowd the American league team has ever drawn in the big city. If Joe Birmingham wished to be peacemonger he could protest the opening defeat at the hands of the White Sox, says a Cleveland writer, for umpire, Ollie Chill certainly booted one when he allowed Daly to bat for Schreiber in the seventh inning without making the announcement to the stands. And it isn't at all certain that Chill himself was notified of the change. It was Daly's double which drove in the run which put the Sox out in front. Schreiber and Daly are much alike in their build, and as both are right hand hitters, it wasn't at all certain for a few moments which man was at bat, and the electric score board did not indicate that a change had been made. When one of the Chi-ago newspaper men who had traveled with the Sox on their spring training trip announced that the batter who had just cracked out a double was not Schreiber, there was a bustle and flurry in the press box to learn who had batted. Finally a couple of the Chicago writers recognized Daly on second and the wires clicked once more. Some Job. Mrs. Crabshaw—Haven't I taught you to put things in their right places? Willie—Yes mamma; but you never taught me how I could find them afterward.—From Judge. ROBBERY AT CHATHAM CHATHAM, Ont., May 1.—While Mr and Mrs A. H. VonGutten were attending an entertainment last evening, their home was entered and a thousand dollars worth of jewelry stolen. The burglars evidently knew the ground. The most of the jewelry was taken from Mrs VonGutten's room and consisted of diamond rings and necklaces. Some very valuable old fashioned spoons were also taken. Hard Cold—People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as are others. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood pure; and this great medicine covers the system after a cold as no other medicine does. Take Hood's.

IN THE BIG LEAGUES

The Cincinnati Club during the week announced the release of Outfielder Ed Kippert, who goes to Montreal, and Outfielder Irving Porter, who returns to Lynn. A record was made in the Brooklyn Boston game of April 23rd. of 16 Dodgers being left on bases. Three times Brooklyn had the bases full but could not put a run over. Pitcher Bob Harmon's first out for Pittsburg against his old team mates of the Cardinals was disastrous. They slammed him for six hits and five runs in the second inning and drove him from the game. The Brooklyn Club had it all fixed to send Clarence Kraft to Nashville, when Manager Stallings of the Boston Braves refused to waive and grabbed the player. Kraft is a natural hitter but not a speed merchant. If the Cubs slump sufficiently to drop into the second division Charles P. Taft may regret his refusal to accept $800,000 for the Chicago club. It is possible that Taft has never figured on a loser. Perhaps he will be glad to sell for half the price offered when the season is over. Cartoonist Al Demaree succeeded in getting the first victory for the Giants. The chap with the "Ralph Ross delivery" as Jack Miller once put it, is a pitching marvel simply because no one can figure out how he does it. Doing it and getting away with it may be two different propositions but they amount to the same. Erving Kantlehner, Pirate pitcher, who started his big league life by whitewashing the Cardinals, comes from the Northwestern League, is a southpaw, a giant, and was known on the Coast as 'Peanuts'. If, as facetiously said, all southpaws are nuts, the foregoing nickname shows enterprise in being specific. Governor Tener of Pennsylvania has named Hans Wagner a member of the Pennsylvania State Fish Commission. If there is anything that Wagner really knows—outside of hitting the ball—it is fish and he expects to be more than a figure head on his new job, though, of course he can't give it his full attention until after next October. Several members of the Chicago Cubs are reported to have shown their regard for signed contracts by threatening to jump to the Federals last week, their real intention being to extort more money out of Owner Taft's pocket. They got boosts in salaries, but now that the court decision in the Johnson jumping case seems to indicate that the jumping days are over, the clever scheme of using the Feds for a club on organized ball magnates will fall flat for players who had a notion to try it. Manager Jennings has sent Infielder Paddy Bauman to Providence. Marty Kavanaugh's great showing has convinced Jennings that Bauman was excess baggage on the Detroit team. Providence has turned Pitcher Shepard over to Syracuse of the New York State League. He is a youngster Oscar Stange discovered on the Pacific coast and there is a belief that he will go back in fast company with more experience. Manager McGraw of the Giants has further come to the rescue of Toronto by sending Joe Kelley, Pitcher Monty Priest, a recruit from the Ohio state league. In spite of all his howling Joe Kelley seems to be getting his share of major league surplus. Junior Charley Ebbets has sprung a new one at his Newark park. Give Them A Place To Play

Plenty of room for dives and dens (glitter of glare and sin);
 Plenty of room for prison pens (gather the criminals in);
 Plenty of room for jails and courts (willing enough to pay);
 But never a place for the lads to race —no, never a place to play!

Plenty of room for shops and stores (Mammon must have the best);
 Plenty of room for the running sores that rot in the city's breast!
 Plenty of room for lures that lead the hearts of our youths astray;
 But never a cent on playground spent —no, never a place to play!

Plenty of room for schools and halls, plenty of room for art;
 Plenty of room for teas and balls, platform, stage and mart.
 Proud is the city—she finds a place for many a fad to-day;
 But she's more than blind if she fails to find a place for the boys to play!

Give them a chance for innocent sport; give them a chance for fun—
 Better a playground plot than a court and a jail where the harm is done
 Give them a chance—if you stint them now-to-morrow you'll have to pay
 A larger bill for darker ill. So give them a place to play!

Carpenters' Wage Rate In Forest City

Both the carpenters and painters in London and Brantford are looking for a higher wage rate during the coming season than they have been receiving in the past. As far as the painters are concerned the masters know this to be an absolutely true statement, and they also know that a house can be constructed in both these places at a far lower cost than its building would entail in Toronto, Hamilton, or any other city of fifty thousand population in any part of Canada.

The bosses have already acknowledged that they recognize that the carpenters and painters who reside in Brantford is not receiving the rate of wages he is competent to earn, and would probably give as their reason for the low rate prevailing (about the lowest of any city in the Dominion) that the people who intend to build will not pay for a decent standard of wages to be maintained. Therefore they say, according to newspaper reports, that they will have to let the men strike and then later on probably pay them the scale they ask and thus have an excuse to charge more for the buildings they put up.

This would be certainly a most remarkable statement to make. There is no necessity for any strike, lock-out or trouble of any kind between the painters and their employes in the city of Brantford, and the bosses should be big enough to recognize that fact. The same thing can be said in respect to carpenters and various other trades.

The mechanics in the building trades in this city are just as much entitled to a fair day's pay for a fair day's work, as are the mechanics in Hamilton, London, Toronto or any other industrial centre, for they have to meet just about a large a bakers', grocers' and butchers' bill as the workers in those cities. They are up against the high coal bill and the increased cost of living, and if the cost of building is so much lower in Brantford than in these other places, it is ample evidence that somebody is paying for the difference, and presumably under the conditions that exist, it is the men who are employed to erect them that are getting the short end handed out to them.

It is a notorious, though a well known fact, that the average wage rate paid in Brantford to both carpenters and painters is ridiculously low and in no way commensurate with the service rendered. Perhaps the reason why so many dwelling in Brantford are below grade is because of the fact that they are too cheaply constructed and too much low-priced labor is employed upon them. Take London for instance, it is said that the late A. O. Graydon, while acting as city engineer, once reported that houses were being built there that the city should not allow to be erected—they were mere shells, and the people who paid for them were simply being imposed upon. Let's hope that such a state of things do not exist in this city.

Ontario's Army Of Industrial Workers

An Army of Nearly 240,000 Engaged in the 8,000 Industrial Establishments of the Province of Ontario—They Produce Annually over $570,000,000 Worth of Manufactured Goods, and Receive in Wages Over $117,000,000.

The thousands of readers of the Courier will no doubt read with considerable interest some few facts relative to the industrial progress the Province of Ontario has made since 1900. As at least 80 per cent. of our readers are employed in the various industrial establishments of Ontario, it will no doubt be of considerable interest to them to know that in the year 1911, when the last Canadian census was taken, they helped to produce manufactured products valued at $570,810,225, while in the year 1900 the total value of the manufactured products of Ontario amounted to only $241,533,486.

In 1900 there were 6,543 industrial concerns in Ontario, while in 1911 there were 8,001; and in 1900 the men engaged in these 6,543 concerns numbered 161,757, while in 1911 in the 8,001 factories there were 238,817 employes. The total wages and salaries combined of employees in 1900 amounted to $56,482,381, while in 1911 the 238,817 employes received in wages $117,645,784.

It will thus be noticed from the above figures that the average wage of the employees of the Ontario industrial concerns for the year 1911 in round figures was about $490 per year for each employe, while in 1900 the average yearly wage was about $370. These figures include the salaries of the different officials of many of the larger concerns, and were it possible to deduct the amounts paid these officials, and the number there are of them, it would have a tendency to reduce the average yearly wage of this great army of industrial workers, but the census enumerated them all as employes. However, the figures are near enough to show that the annual earnings of each of the 238,817 employes is less than $500 per year—not a very large amount to face the present cost of living with.

In 1900 there was invested in the 6,543, industries of the Province of Ontario the sum of $214,972,275; while in 1911, in the 8,001 industries of the province there was an interested capital of $505,304,608. By a close study of these figures you will note that the value of the annual product for the combined industries of the province in 1911 was only about $200,000,000 less than in combined invested capital, this is ample evidence that the industries of Ontario have been enjoying a period of comparative prosperity.

As a large proportion of the manufacturing of the province is centered in the cities and as the large portion of our readers are laboring people, the following table will show the value of the manufactured products of different Ontario cities for the years 1900 and 1910. This will give our readers an idea of the industrial growth of the different industrial centres of the province:

Yearly Value of Products	1900	1910
Toronto	$58,415,498	$154,396,948
Hamilton	17,122,346	55,125,949
London	8,122,185	16,273,999
Ottawa	7,638,688	20,924,331
Brantford	5,564,695	15,866,229
Peterboro	3,789,164	10,633,119
Berlin	3,307,513	9,266,183
Guelph	3,689,183	7,392,336
St. Catharines	2,070,543	6,024,217
Galt	2,225,343	5,252,600
Chatham	2,714,977	5,023,560
Kingston	2,045,173	3,860,142

The above figures clearly demonstrate that each of the industrial centres of the province has been producing goods of more value during the

Narrowness

If we look around us in the world with a view to discover what is the cause of the sad deficiency of energy often put forth in the best of causes, we shall find that it arises generally from some sort of narrowness. A man will not help you in this or that noble undertaking simply because he has no sympathy with it. Not a few persons are a sort of human lobsters; they live in a hard shell formed out of some professional ecclesiastical, political, or classical crust, and cautiously creep their way within certain beaten bounds, beyond which they have no desire.

The octo-gonarian, poet-philosopher, Goethe, when sinking into the darkness of death called out with his last breath "More light!" What every young man should call out daily, if he wishes to "save himself" from the narrowing crust of a "fessional" and other limitations, is, "More love!" John Stuart Blackie.

Chas. P. Doughty

Vice-President Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions and Executive Board Member of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario.

Charlie Doughty, of Guelph, as he is invariably called, is one of the best known trades unionists in the Royal City. He joined Guelph Typographical Union No. 201, in February, 1905, and has ever taken an interest in its welfare. He was its recording secretary for six years, and has been an active member of the local Trades and Labor Council for the past six years, being a past president of that body, and three secretary of the Labor Day Committee that looked after the celebrating of the delegates to the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which met in Guelph in 1912. He is vice-president of the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions, and at the convention of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario in Ottawa he was elected one of the vice-presidents of that organization. He has done good service in connection with the publicity campaign put up by the association in connection with the workmen's compensation. Charley is well liked by his fellows in the Labor movement, and is recognized as a man of sound judgment, who can be relied upon at all times.

Thomas A. Stevenson

Thomas A. Stevenson is probably one of the best-known Labor men in the city of Toronto. He has been a member of Typographical Union No. 61 for some fifteen years, and served for seven years upon its executive board, was a delegate to the I. T. U. Convention in Minneapolis in 1910; delegate from the District Council to the Montreal convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in 1913, and represented the same body at the convention of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario in Ottawa on May 24th of the same year. He acted as secretary of the reception committee that entertained the delegates to the A. F. of L. convention when it met in Toronto in 1910. Was elected president of the Ontario conference of Typographical Union upon its organization in Hamilton in 1912, and was re-elected at the Ottawa convention last year. Tom, as he is always called by his compatriots, is a straight-cut international unionist and always on the job. When he takes hold of a thing he is always bound to see it through.

Under ordinary circumstances when an employe is injured while going to or from work, he is not entitled to receive compensation from his employer. In a few instances, however, the nature of the employment is such that compensation should be paid to him. The latter was held to be the case in a controversy just decided by the Industrial Accident Commission, the award being rendered in favor of J. Ferguson against the Royal Indemnity Company.

Ferguson, who was a messenger in the employ of the Southern California Gas Company, was required to read meters, deliver orders, shut off gas when patrons moved, collect accounts etc., and if while on his way home he found any of the customers moving out, it was his duty to stop, read the meter collect the gas bill then due, and in general protect the interests of the company. Typos Have Gained Victory

If the nine-hour day system had been in vogue during the present business depression many hundreds of printers now working would have been unemployed.

Instead the International Union has made great headway and ten large cities gained substantial wage increases during the month of March. The best justification that the International Typographical Union could ask for in defence of the strenuous and successful battle it put up years ago to enforce the eight-hour work day is to be found in the fact that, whereas during the present business depression the craft has been more fully employed than most of the skilled crafts, had it not been for the shorter workday thousands of union printers who have been steadily employed would now be walking the streets.

In other words the reduction of the hours of labor from nine to eight meant added employment for an army of men, spelled good times in the trade for both employers and employes, and enabled the printing industry to come through the hard times with flying colors. The contentions of the employing printers prior to the eight-hour fight, that the adoption of the shorter work day would disastrously affect their business has been proven to be entirely opposite in its effect, for the printing industry has never been as prosperous as since the eight-hour day was conceded.

The splendid progress of the I. T. U. is also attested by the securing of substantial increases in wages in 10 cities in the United States, during the month of March, 1914, the same being reported in the April issue of the Typographical Journal, the official organ of the International union.

Cost of Living Still Going Up

The good old cost of living just goes on merrily mounting skywards as the months fly by, and where the wage earner who is called upon to bear the burden is likely to ultimately figure out. The monthly report issued from Ottawa by the Department of Labor for March 1914, does not make reassuring reading, proving as it does most conclusively that the purchasing power of the good old dollar continues to steadily decline.

This report shows that as far as eatables 500 eggs alone have decreased in price, while other foods have steadily advanced. However, the report speaks for itself as follows. The Department of Labor's Index Number of Wholesale Prices rose slightly in March, standing at 136.7 as compared with 136.1 in February and 136.0 in March, 1913. The more important increases occurred in grains and fodder, animals and meats (especially in poultry), canned salmon, apples, beans, potatoes, flour, oatmeal, beef hides and muskrat skins. Import decreases occurred in eggs, jute, brass and lead, and in some grades pine. In remain prices, beef, veal, bacon, flour, beans, prunes and potatoes were upward, while there was a general decline in eggs, and butter showed a downward tendency.

The World's Crying Need

This world needs leaders more than it needs any other breed of men. Every line of activity calls for leaders—every home, every business, every town—every nation. As long as there are people there will be plenty to follow. The demand is for those who can lead.

The greatest asset in leadership is courage. Cowards never lead. Leadership requires great patience. No one will follow an irritable or impatient leader. Leadership requires tact, fairness and confidence. One man can't lead another who distrusts his leadership. Many other things are important—but these things are imperative.

A leader must inspire and wake up the sleeping powers in his followers, to be able to do this he must have a clean consistent record. A man can't command without authority—a man can't stir other people without first having stirred himself and become his own master.

It is just as important to be a leader in your own home or town as to be a leader in your country. It isn't the special station in which a man leads that makes his work important, but it is how he leads. This thing is true—that if you lead well in little affairs of life you can't keep from becoming a leader in the big affairs.

Signs I had to make
For every little notion,
Limbs all going like
A telegraph in motion.
For wine I reeled about
And made a pair of horns
To ask for "beef and bully."

"Moo!" I cried for milk,
I got my sweet things snigger
When I kissed Jeanette,
'Twas understood for sugar.
If I wanted bread
My jaws I set a-going,
And asked for new-laid eggs
By clapping hands and crowing!

If I wished a ride
I'll tell you how I got it—

Duncan and Mrs. Modyn Cutcliffe, will represent the local orders. The programme will be a very interesting one. The wide range of usefulness in the past, and detailed plans for the future discussed.

Miss Morgan is a woman of the simplest tastes, both in her dressing and eating, and if one should happen to the "Spug" restaurant at luncheon time one might not realize for the moment that the gray-haired woman with the strong face and ordinary black gown and hat was the daughter of the late czar of finance, rather she might be taken for a self-respecting business woman of moderate income.

They will also be entertained at Government House by Lady Gibson. Friday the party will be given in Hamilton of the chapters of the I. O. D. E. in that hospitable city.

It was a great treat for those who were so fortunate as to hear Mme. Clara Butt sing in Hamilton Thursday evening—a prima donna whose fame has been built upon one of the most extraordinary voices of this generation and who might be supposed to be content with vocal achievements alone. The curious part of progress in singing, is stricter attention to the intellectual, and Mme. Butt says, "Singers are not so cultured as their predecessors; the modern singer developing his brain at the neglect of his throat."

One of the most genuinely interesting literary women in England has just celebrated her 90th birthday, which found her in the best of health and spirits and brimful of energy. She is Mrs. Katherine S. Macquoid who began writing when she was 35 and since then has just published no less than 63 novels and other works, and who is now hard at work on her 64th. Perhaps the best known of Mrs. Macquoid's romances are, "His Last Card," and "Drifting Apart," and her name was a household word thirty years ago. Even to-day her stories, which are filled with good humor and a quiet optimism, enjoy a steady sale and Mrs. Macquoid continues to turn them out at the rate of about one in nine or ten months, exactly as she has done for upwards of fifty-five years. She is a widow, and was the artistic comrade of her husband, Mr. Thomas Macquoid, the famous water color and black and white artist. Mrs. Macquoid was born the last day of January, 1824. She was asked her recipe for being hale and hearty at four score years and ten. "Work keeps me young," she said. "I have just finished the first chapter of a new novel, she added sifting before a background of her books and the plot of it is quite complete in my mind. I work every morning from eleven o'clock until noon. I never think of staying in bed for breakfast," she went on. "I get up at half-past seven and go to bed just before eleven o'clock. I eat very little meat and believe in a great deal of sleep. But work is what I believe most in. For myself I do not know the meaning of the word 'dull.'"

VERNER, Ont., May 1st.—(Special) "I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well. Those are the words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous" she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation in my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, run-down, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

Newly arrived from the Highlands, Jack McTavish wandered about the big city until fairly tired out. Long had he hesitated about entering any of the brilliantly lighted restaurants, but at length he mustered up courage, and was ushered to a table. Just me a plate of 'whusky an' a wee spoon!'"

Mrs. A. J. Wilkes has kindly put her house at the disposal of the match committee of the Golf Club, for this afternoon (Saturday) from 4 to 6 o'clock. "The Dausante" will be a novelty in town; the new dances will be the order of the afternoon. Tea will be served by the members of the committee. The fee is 35c. to aid the helpful out-of-door game the coming season. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the Golf Club to be present.

The newest coiffure being worn in Paris has the hair evenly waved in a large loose wave and then drawn smoothly back from the temples with- out the least tendency to a pompadour. The hair is drawn straight back from the forehead also, sloping up to the back of the head, where it is coiled, quite high, in an invisible chignon, leaving the nape of the neck uncovered. Soft little ringlets fringe the temples and there is a flat curl in front of the ears, the lobes of which are exposed.

Very bewitching and quaint is this coiffure when three little curls, like one sees in old daguerotypes, are permitted to fall in front of the face. One may buy by the pair specially made and beautifully waved "Burnsides" to carry out this effect. Indeed the variety of forms in which hair is made up nowadays makes possible the conversion of the most unmanageable head into a charming coiffure. There are separate curls, of all lengths, from the saucy "beet catcher," pinned to fall upon the forehead, to the long Colonial curl worn so as to rest upon the shoulder; there are thick braids with both ends finished by curls, and there are coils and frames and fringes galore.

Somewhat novel is the coiffure which makes the natural parting of the hair into a charming coiffure. The hair is brought low over the brow and the back hair is drawn up to the crown into a Psyche knot.

The head-dresses that have been so popular during the winter season are assuming daintier characteristics. Tulles, flowers and aligrettes will be seen in many novel concoctions for wear with evening gowns. Tortoise combs, pins and bars are always in good taste for day time wear.

Arthur Usher Sustained a Fracture of the Skull on Market Street.

A rather simple accident with serious results happened to Arthur Usher, a man of 47 years of age who resides at 13 Searle avenue. He was proceeding along Dalhousie street and had turned the corner on to Market street when he slipped and his head struck the curb stone in the fall. He remained prone on the ground and a large scalp wound, coming two inches over his forehead has been inflicted. Usher was unconscious and was conveyed to a nearby drug store, where the wound was hurriedly dressed by Dr. Fissette who had been called. Later he was taken to the hospital where he regained consciousness about 7 o'clock last night. Further examination showed that the wound was not as serious as was at first supposed when the man's injuries looked fearful. Pasteurized Milk Will Be the Rule

Toronto Board of Health Orders to Make Process Compulsory After June First.

A Toronto exchange says: All milk and cream sold in Toronto after June 1st next, excepting milk "certified" under the statutes, must be scientifically pasteurized to the satisfaction of the Medical Health Officer of Health. A by ordinance passed yesterday at a meeting of the local Board of Health. The ordinance will also apply to milk and cream used in producing ice cream, butter or any other milk product.

Dr. Hastings presented a long report on the subject to the board, in which he set forth the benefits of pasteurization, as shown in other cities by a falling rate of tuberculosis where the treatment has been made compulsory. "I regret to say," the doctor wrote, "that there are yet a few fossils who oppose pasteurization, but thank Heaven, in the interests of public health and in the interests of humanity, they are dying fast, and we will soon see the last gasp."

The Health Officer's monthly report showed that the Toronto death rate in March was the lowest for that month in ten years, being 11.6 per thousand per annum, compared with 13.8 in March, 1913. In spite of the increase of population, there was a decrease of 70 in the actual number of deaths during the month compared with a year ago. The next lowest rate for March in the decade was 12.6, in 1906.

The Montreal Board of Control adopted the plan for the George Etienne Carter memorial, and voted $21,500 to complete it.

VERNER, Ont., May 1st.—(Special) "I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well. Those are the words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous" she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation in my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, run-down, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

New Ways TO DRESS THE HAIR

Although originality remains the secret of the successful coiffure new tendencies are noticeable that promise radical and delightful changes.

By degrees the hair is being brought higher and higher on the head, particularly for evening wear; ears are once more permitted to peep forth, after long banishment, and the contour of the head is preserved by the close, soft arrangement of the hair that predominates.

The newest coiffure being worn in Paris has the hair evenly waved in a large loose wave and then drawn smoothly back from the temples without the least tendency to a pompadour. The hair is drawn straight back from the forehead also, sloping up to the back of the head, where it is coiled, quite high, in an invisible chignon, leaving the nape of the neck uncovered. Soft little ringlets fringe the temples and there is a flat curl in front of the ears, the lobes of which are exposed.

Very bewitching and quaint is this coiffure when three little curls, like one sees in old daguerotypes, are permitted to fall in front of the face. One may buy by the pair specially made and beautifully waved "Burnsides" to carry out this effect. Indeed the variety of forms in which hair is made up nowadays makes possible the conversion of the most unmanageable head into a charming coiffure. There are separate curls, of all lengths, from the saucy "beet catcher," pinned to fall upon the forehead, to the long Colonial curl worn so as to rest upon the shoulder; there are thick braids with both ends finished by curls, and there are coils and frames and fringes galore.

Somewhat novel is the coiffure which makes the natural parting of the hair into a charming coiffure. The hair is brought low over the brow and the back hair is drawn up to the crown into a Psyche knot.

The head-dresses that have been so popular during the winter season are assuming daintier characteristics. Tulles, flowers and aligrettes will be seen in many novel concoctions for wear with evening gowns. Tortoise combs, pins and bars are always in good taste for day time wear.

A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

STORY OF THE BIBLE IN MOVING PICTURES. Pastor Russell's Drama in the South. PASTOR HIMSELF PRESENTS IT

Touching Film of Abraham's Sacrifice Furnished Text For Famous New Yorker's Discourse—Hearts Swelled and Eyes Moistened Under the Message From the Book of Genesis.

April 26, Pastor Russell presented his famous Photo-Drama of Creation in a highly appreciative audience in the Atlanta Theatre today.

What has been regarded by many as a cruel fanaticism was pointed out by the famous New Yorker as divinely arranged and as teaching a most beautiful and significant lesson respecting the sacrifice of the antitypical Isaac—namely, Christ and "the Church, which is His Body."

The Pastor then explained how some from both Jews and Gentiles have constituted this Spiritual Seed of Abraham. He showed that Jesus, according to the flesh, could not be Messiah, the promised Seed. Even in His perfection the Man Jesus could have no part in the world that to guide many into happier conditions.

For instance, the type showed that before there could be an atonement for sin, the bullock of the sin-offering must first be offered. Our Lord came to be the antitypical Sin-offering, to present His perfect sacrifice—all that He had to give Himself in God's service as a sacrifice. The speaker threw a new light on the Apostle's teaching in his famous statement, "He taketh away the second," declaring that the correct thought is, He removes the type, that He may establish the antitype.

Our Lord came to set aside the type. This He did when He presented Himself a living sacrifice at Jordan to do unreservedly the Father's will. This meant, primarily, our Lord's death, for mankind were under the death sentence pronounced upon their Father, Adam. Therefore, it was necessary that their Redeemer should taste death for mankind before He could have wherewith to satisfy the claims of Justice on Adam's behalf and ask for the release of Adam and his race.

Next the Pastor explained that when our Lord cried on the cross, "It is finished!" He merely meant that His own personal work of the sacrifice of Himself was ended. Then came His resurrection and His ascension to His Father's throne. He pointed out that during the forty days before our Lord's ascension, He showed Himself only a few minutes at a time, or perhaps an hour in all, and He appeared and disappeared in a way that no one but a spirit being could do. As St. Peter said, "He was put to death in flesh, but quickened in spirit"—made alive a spirit being.

Our Lord's ascension, the Pastor affirmed, was another step in the Divine Plan for the salvation of the world.

SUNDAY SCHOOL. Lesson V.—Second Quarter, For May 3, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES. Text of the Lesson, Luke xv, 11-24. Memory Verses, 17-19—Golden Text, Luke xv, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In this third part of the parable which is spoken of in verse three as "this parable," including the three stories of the lost sheep, the lost coin and the lost son, we have beautifully set forth the heart of God the Father, as one who is ever ready to seek for the Son but the Father, neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him (Matt. xi, 27). We are told in many places of the love of the Father, as in John iii, 16; I John iv, 8, 10; and 20; Eph. v, 25. The love of the Spirit is mentioned in Rom. xv, 30. The love of God and His unwillingness that any should perish are two of the great foundation truths of all Scripture, and are perhaps nowhere more simply told than in this threefold parable. Man's helplessness, his deadness and his selfishness and enmity to God are also here set forth.

It will be difficult to set quite clearly whom the elder brother represents, but we would not need to seek far or long to find some really saved people who act a good deal like the elder brother when sinners who have wandered very far away are welcomed home.

I have read a discourse upon this chapter by a great Bible student in which he thinks that both the elder brother and the ninety-nine just persons represent the angels who never sinned. There seem to me to be many difficulties in this interpretation. We are quite safe in dwelling upon the love of God in seeking and welcoming home the lost ones, and we shall understand many things better when the intelligence symbolized by the many eyes of the cherubim shall be ours.

How many seem to think that they have a right to demand of God a portion of this world's goods and to do as they please with it! Such self will is the essence of sin and shows the heart of man toward God, and yet God often permits it. Every sinner in the far country, far away from God, without God and without hope, living unto himself, his life all dark and void and nothing glorifying to God in it (Gen. i, 2; Dan. v, 23). The ungodly are compared to dogs and swine by our Lord Himself and also by the Spirit through Peter (Matt. vii, 6; II Pet. ii, 22). The comparison would not be at all flattering to some respectable sinners, but the Bible never says nice things about the enemies of God. There are many ways of wasting one's substance, and when we read that he had spent all we think of the sick woman who spent all that she had upon physicians and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse (Mark v, 25).

It was a good thing for this lost son that he became so desperately in want that he would fain have eaten swine's food, and it was a good thing for him that no man gave unto him. Possibly some "down and out" people might come to themselves sooner if no one helped them to be comparatively comfortable in their low down estate. It is a great thing when one is led to see himself in his true light before God, when his heart cry is, "God be merciful to me, a sinner." It is a good experience for a saved sinner when he is led to say as Job did, "I abhor myself" (Job xlii, 6). Whatever leads us to see more of God and His goodness is a helpful experience. It was good for this man when he began to think about his father and the abundance there which he might be enjoying. It was well when he determined to return to his father, confess his sin and ask to be given a servant's place, but it was better when he actually arose and came to his father.

See the father's heart in verse 20. "When he was yet a great way off his father saw him and had compassion and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him." No upbraiding, not a word of faultfinding, just a loving welcome home and a kiss of reconciliation. Do we know God as such a Father, and are we ready to tell lost ones of such a welcome awaiting them if they will turn with true penitence to Him? The son said part only of what he had intended to say, but was not allowed to finish it. Instead of the servant's place it is the best robe, a ring on his hand, shoes on his feet and a feast of welcome. Because the lost one had come home, it was really believed that there was such a reception awaiting penitent sinners, how could we help urging them to come home?

It is said that they began to be merry—salvation is only the beginning of joy that knows no end. Consider the elder brother as representing one who has from his youth known the way of life, a child of godly parents and truly saved, having at some time not definitely known to himself accepted the Lord Jesus. He never felt that he had any sin, but was always known as a good sample of a consistent Christian, though by no means a happy one. He did not know his father as he might have done and had no use for returning home. Did you never see such a one in the glass or elsewhere?

LIFE THREATENED BY KIDNEY DISEASE

His Health In A Terrible State Until He Took "Fruit-a-lives"

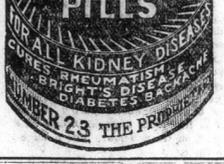

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys were not doing their work, and I was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect I found more than satisfactory. My kidneys were all right and the result all that could be expected. My kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever had."

LONDON'S ATMOSPHERE UNSURPASSED FOR HEALTH

At Least That Is What a Writer in the Times Says and He Produces Volumes of Statistics to Substantiate His Claims.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. LONDON as a Health Resort is the title of a long and interesting article in the Times. Visitors coming across may not agree with that publication about the health producing qualities of London's atmosphere or climatic conditions, but the article, nevertheless, is well worth reading.

"London has been described as the pick-me-up of the world," says the Times. Its size, its variety, its infinite freshness, superimposed upon a splendid tradition, its color and sound, its characteristic though infinitely various, make up a prescription for despondency and nerve weariness unsurpassed in any of the pharmacopoeias of the world. Horace Walpole wrote advisedly and from a great experience. "Were I a physician I could prescribe nothing better than 'Recipe coelox, drachm. Londini, per annum' (365 doses of London a year)."

"The joy of living, which is so characteristic a feature of the London atmosphere is not, however, the city's only claim as a health resort. London is in fact very healthy. The story of the Member of Parliament who never passed its borders and who acquired a summer tan in Hyde Park which made his friends from the country envious and curious as to its origin—is no fiction.

"In a lecture recently read before the Royal Society of Medicine and reported in the Medical Magazine, Dr. S. D. Clippingle gave some interesting information regarding the health value of London. The general mortality from all causes was stated to be 14.2 per 1,000 per annum, a ratio which compares favorably with that of other large towns, while the mortality of Hampstead was not only the lowest in the country, but also that of a native London family is not heard of after the third generation. Dr. Clippingle added, with a disapproval in his own person, he being a member of the twelfth generation of a family living in London since the days of Queen Elizabeth.

"The healthiness of London is to some extent due to its situation and soil. Its nearness to the east coast insures a constant supply of fresh air, drawn straight from the North Pole, where it has been purified by contact with the ice and drawn south by the vacuum created in the aquatic region. The soil is for the most part clay. Curiously enough, where gravel is found—near the watercourse of the Thames—a lower degree of general health prevails. This is quite contrary to popular belief, but can be proved by reference to the Registrar General's statistics. Hampstead, Highgate, Harrow and other places in the north, and Wimbledon, Streatham, Sydenham and other places in the south, which are situated, as it were, on the rim of the clay basin, are the most healthy residential parts of the city.

"London is situated in open spaces. The Council controls 108 of these spaces, of 4,000 acres. Paris has only 540 acres, and Berlin 1,222 in a corresponding area. In addition to these spaces London has about 1,000 acres of 'royal parks,' many private squares, and a number of vast open spaces like Epping and Hainault Forests and Hampstead Heath. Moreover, through the heart of London flows the Thames, acting, as was pointed out by a foreign doctor during the course of a trip from London Bridge to Richmond on Good Friday, 'like a huge lung to the city.'

"Since the disappearance of the 'London ague' there has been no endemic disease in the capital. This affection was of a malarial character and gained considerable notoriety owing to the illustrious persons who from time to time fell victims to it—among others, Oliver Cromwell, Charles II., William III., and Queen Anne. In a paper read some time ago before the West London Medical Society upon 'The Rivers of London' it was suggested that the disappearance of the 'London ague' might be due to the closing in of many little streams, such as the Fleet, that formerly intersected the city.

"London has for long enjoyed a reputation as a good resort for asthmatics. This was due to some extent to the prevalence of fogs, now happily less frequent. The late Dr. Blasius Williams found that if a fog occurred while country patients suffering from asthma were waiting in London to consult him, they were relieved and went home without seeing him. Patients affected with rheumatism do well in London as a rule (a medical man stated the other day that he knew of several cases where persons who had suffered severely from this affection in other places were cured on coming to London). Hay fever, bronchitis, and whooping cough are also said to be amenable to the city atmosphere.

"The affection, however, for which London may be regarded as a specific is neurasthenia, or nerve weariness. The curative agent here is the power of the city to call a patient out of himself and so free him from his morbid anxieties and broodings. Dr. Clippingle's prescription is as follows:—

"In addition to substituting your patient to the internal divisions of London, send him for a tour round the city. Let him stand upon the Tower Bridge and contemplate the mercantile and pleasure craft passing beneath him, and let him think of the scene three centuries ago, when Elizabeth's ships left that spot to meet the Armada. Let him pass into the East End and study the customs and costumes of Whitechapel. Let him go into the heart of the city and exercise his ingenuity in crossing the crowded thoroughfares. Let him pass westward to the haunts of Johnson and Goldsmith and Garlick and Lamb. Let him listen to the chiming of Bow Bells, and to the bells of St. Clement's and St. Martin's and be reminded of his

"THE BEAUTIFUL UNKNOWN"

A MYSTERY IN WAX: THE EXQUISITE WICAR, "TETE DE CIRE" OF WHICH THE ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

The discussion which arose over the famous "Leonardo da Vinci" wax bust bought by Dr. von Bode for the Imperial Museum, Berlin, brought to public notice the great treasure of the Wicar Museum at Lille, which has long been the admiration of all lovers of works of art. This head of a beautiful unknown, of which the reproduction here is from the Illustrated London News, was the subject of one of Mr. Paul Bourget's essays; while Alexandre Dumas fils was so enraptured with this head that it is said he had a perfect copy made and that it became for him his Egeria.

ODDS AND ENDS OF NEWS AND GOSSIP CABLED FROM EUROPEAN CAPITALS

THE KAISER'S BUST.

(Special Dispatch.) PARIS, May 2. A GOOD deal of excitement has been created by the announcement that the president of the Committee of the Salon des Artistes Français has declined the bust of the Kaiser Emperor sent in by a German sculptor named Besser, who claimed a prescriptive right to exhibit without the consent of the committee because he once obtained a medal of the third class.

WOMEN AS MOTORISTS.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. THE great and increasing interest which women take in motoring is illustrated by the fact that there now exists in London a school of motoring for women which is owned and managed entirely by a woman. The principal is Miss Aileen Preston, whose devotion to motoring led her to enter a motor works where she received a complete training in motor engineering. Subsequently she took a post as chauffeur to a woman, and finally, convinced that the number of would-be women motorists justified the action, she opened a school of motoring for women in Kensington a few months back. Her success has amply fulfilled her expectations.

A woman who is associated with Miss Preston in her enterprise said that the number of applications for tuition were numerous. "More and more women want to learn to drive their own cars," she said, "and they come more readily for instruction to a woman than to a man. The reason is that a woman understands their difficulties better than a man and that a more patient teacher. My own experience in a workshop, where I was the only woman pupil, was that men expect a woman to grasp and understand a thing thoroughly before she has received an adequate explanation of it. But once a woman knows how to drive she can manage her car as well as any one, and the larger a car the easier it is to drive in traffic—at least from my experience."

IS SHE A SUFFRAGETTE?

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. THE Liverpool Watch Committee has appointed Mrs. Hughes, matron of the main Bridewell, to be an inspector in the Criminal Investigation Department of the city. This is stated to be the first appointment of the kind in England. Her main duties will be the taking of evidence in charges concerning women and children. It is felt that women will more readily give statements to their own sex than to men. Mrs. Hughes will also be sent out to obtain evidence in cases concerning women, but as the appointment is an experimental one her duties have not yet been strictly defined.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS INCREASE

(Special Dispatch.) BERLIN, May 2. AS the result of the recent eight-days' campaign known as the "Red" week, the German socialist party is now able to count more than one million paying members. The German socialists have polled far more than a million votes at the Reichstag elections for nearly a quarter of a century, and in 1912 polled four millions and a half; but in every case the majority who voted for their candidates were not of their party. Representing a standing absolute opposition to the Prussian régime of today, the party is always favored by a mass of voters who are also opposed to it, but who yet cannot find a candidate otherwise responding to their views.

ART IN THE AQUITANIA

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. THOUGH the Aquitania (which sails from the Mersey on its first voyage to New York on May 20) is not to be the biggest liner in the world, the Cunard company have made it a floating treasure house of arts and crafts, and have thus begun a new era in the adornment of great passenger-carrying liners.

FRENCHMEN'S TRIBUTE TO THEIR MOTHERS

(Special Dispatch.) PARIS, May 2. THE great Paris that mothers have played in the lives of famous Frenchmen are shown in an interesting symposium made by "Femina." Many great men eulogize their mothers and declare they owe to them the greatest influence of their lives.

KNIVES AND FORKS NOW WORRY TURKISH SOLDIER

(Special Dispatch.) CONSTANTINOPLE, May 2. THE Turkish soldier is experiencing at present great difficulties, perhaps greater than the ones he had to go through during the Balkan war against a formidable enemy.

ENGLAND'S BREWERIES.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. A WHITE paper was issued recently which states that the number of brewers for the purposes of sale in the United Kingdom in the year ended September 30 last was 3,871. The number used was as follows:—Malt, 52,218,000 bushels; unmalted corn, 31,068,000 bushels; 1,611,200 cwt. of sugar, etc., 3,222,000 lbs. (including a small quantity of preparations of hops), 42,313,000 pounds; 294 hop substitutes, 15,885 pounds.

GERMAN COURTS DENY TANGO IS SUGGESTIVE

(Special Dispatch.) BERLIN, May 2. TO pay costs in an amusing case, the court at Cologne has ordered a man ever exposed for sale, a postcard representing a couple dancing the tango. The man was depicted in evening dress, the woman as wearing an extremely short-cut dance toilette.

HAMILTON GAGGE ATTEMPTED TO SWIM THE LIGHT AND FOUND WITH HIS HAND.

HAMILTON GAGGE, proprietor of the Gage Avenue Hotel, was swimming with a friend in the harbor while he was out for a walk. He was attached to a rope which was fastened to a light which was being lowered into the water. The rope was cut and he was thrown into the water. He was rescued by a friend and taken to the hospital.

FASHION EXPERT'S VIEWS OF THE GOWNS WORN AT GAY LONGCHAMPS

Amazing Creations of the Parisian Are Described and Shown That Freakish Styles Are Still the Rage—Turkish Trousers Are Worn by Some.

SKIRTS SO TIGHT WALKING ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE

(Special Dispatch.) PARIS, May 2. EVERY charming woman in the eighteenth century once said: "Bonne coup de petites choses qui ne sont rien lorsqu'on en rit, deviennent des afflictions si on les considère dans un esprit sérieux." I think we may apply this bit of delicate feminine philosophy to present fashions and not go wrong, for their eccentricities certainly run the risk of becoming quite painful. It is better to laugh at our mistaken endurance of tight skirts, high heels and complicated draperies than to turn them into imaginary tragedies or signs of mental degeneration.

Fashions, if we are honest enough to own it, always have been a medium in which women express the lighter side of their nature; one may even say they have often proved a safety valve for much foolishness; and if women ceased to be foolish the world would be wanting in charm. Life would become stale and unprofitable indeed; and it is an abiding comfort to know that any such disaster is not likely to happen yet at any rate. If proof were needed we have only to remember what we saw women wearing and suffering with in their self-satisfaction at the reopening of Longchamps.

There were skirts so tight that walking was out of the question, and their wearers just shuffled along amiably but not with any grace. Over the skirt flowed a tunic so full that a ballet dancer would not have despised it. There were also Turkish trousers worn with a short jacket bodice, buttoned closely, from throat to waist, which had girdled the hips, and thrown open with a certain swagger, was a voluminous cloth race coat with the skirt slightly stiffened round the edges to emphasize the évasé movement. There were narrow, straight, brightly striped skirts worn with short, shapely little boleros fastening on the left shoulder and crossways to the waist, with limp lingerie collars tickling the ears and almost meeting the close fitting little toque which was worn on the left ear and aspirated high above the right one with a sheaf of prickly leaves like those of the artichoke.

There was a charming person with over-bright eyes in red cloth with a huge moustache of black ribbon in the middle of her back, a small black straw hat shaped like the sea shell that is supposed to cling to one's head, and which was apparently fixed to the head by a row of enormous cherries across the brow. White stockings, black shoes, white gloves and black stitcheing carried on the black and white notes, and the cut of the coat and skirt was of the most fantastic kind; a skirt slit high at the back, a tunic which dipped in front and ran up behind, and a coat which had double basques behind and was cut away in front from a sort which puffed waistcoat fastened with black and red stone buttons.

Another amazing creation was in banana garbade with a tunic of closely knitted red and yellow tartan, a bolero trimmed with tartan, and a tartan toque trimmed with banana straw bands. A yard or two away from this apparition was an exaggeration of a Victorian maiden as Leach might have drawn her. A frilly petticoat, which looked like trousers, clipped the ankles, a flounced dress of bright green taffetas, flounced sleeves, a full bodice with a round, low neck, and, surmounting all, a tiny little hat tilted over the nose, trimmed with a weird mixture of fruit, flowers and leaves. I forget if the gloves had only one button, but it is probable.

Nevertheless, the Parisienne manages to achieve success this season where race cloaks are concerned, and it seems impossible to imagine a woman who has the intelligence to dress as well as this ever allowing herself to be led away into foppish fashions which are hopelessly unbecoming, and yet one has to confess that she is not to be relied on. She is so much a thing of moods and caprice that she seems to enjoy looking her worst now and then, maybe for the sheer pleasure of proving afterward that she can look lovelier than ever. We shall never understand her, so we must try to accept her as she is, and when we cannot admire her we must be satisfied to smile ironically if we will, and wait for the time when we can once more say that she is good to look upon.

The same striking contrasts are to be seen in evening dresses as we have already noticed in those worn by day. During folles, discreet smartness, dignity that is almost dull, and abandoned frivolity all meet together in the market place of dress. But what could be more charming than a pale buttercup chiffon dinner dress, draped with Greek simplicity and floating loose from the shoulders, a chiffon train soft and fugitive as a summer cloud? At the waist a big bunch of pale buttercup, and no other ornament. Then again, for a tall, slender woman, a straight, narrow-skirted under-dress of white satin, with three flounces of white Chantilly over very fine black net, and a waist belt of roses shading from palest to deepest pink.

A corsage of Chantilly over black and white net completed this very dainty and most correctly smart little gown. For a stately woman to wear on a ceremonious occasion there was a white satin dress with a long, pointed train which had a three-quarter tunic of jet and silver and a corsage of the same. In something the same style was a short white catin dress with a long jet tunic. In neither of these two dresses was there any hint of the waist line, yet the slowness and grace of the figure seemed to be the main suggestion of the designer. It is pleasant to see dresses which do not, for find, as the season advances, the women are choosing clean in preference to the bunched up, overtrimmed styles which were thrust under our notice and in the year as being the only things to wear.

"She is a marvel," said a member of the guardians, when asked about their discovery. "Several of the Board have heard her singing some popular ballads and have been charmed by her voice. She possesses also a remarkable range three octaves and a semi-tone."

She has a rich contralto voice, and a love of music seems ingrained in her heart. The guardians sent her to a professor at the Royal College of Music, who reported that he could say without any reserve that those critics who listened to her at the college were greatly impressed by her gifts.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that the girl shows very great promise; but warns her guardians that as there is plenty of time before her, she must not be allowed to practise her highest notes, as she has been doing. She ought, properly trained, to do very well indeed, as she has the making of a very unusual contralto voice."

A NOISELESS WORLD.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 2. RUBBER, which is being produced in increasing quantities to meet a growing demand, is being used for all purposes—notably for domestic service. Later it may be employed for street purposes in cases of illness.

FORTY-FOUR FIRST TRIP OVER L.E. WAS SUCCESSFUL

Party of Directors An Inspection Line Travelled on Flat C Enjoyed the Scene

The first passenger trip made over the Lake Erie line between Brantford and Toronto was successful.

It was not an easy journey, and the party of directors and porters to which a flat car was attached. Instead the construction engine and train lined with wooden seats, participants were directed to the flat car and men fourth estate. They include Mrs. W. J. Muir, and Mr. Allan Muir.

Mr. Fisher, M.P., and Mr. P. D. Reville, W. R. Pr. The road is not yet laid in spirit of that, the run much as a growth than a ed, although of course no was attempted.

The construction was set out to be of the very best essential no expense has been and the outcome when ever been completed will be a best lines in this province.

The course is being along Grand River, and there is whole route a continuous of that picturesque street, beautiful valley, beautiful ground and hills in the Trees also flourish on either not too thickly to obscure from the river front. At line passes along the height of that place, and its prettiness, presents a picture the heart of any admirer escapes, and who is not to call this the most beautiful and such a name, and it be most appropriate. In the suburbs work of the completion work of the C.P.R. is still in hand.

The start was made from Jubilee Terrace, and a trip to that point in an hour and ten minutes. Existing that under the auspices together the new line, and not alone through the industrial progress of which and Paris, many of the standpoint about the district of excellence were
