

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAR. 6, 1891.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We appear this week a few hours late in order to give our readers the result of the election.

The evening train last night got off the track at Windsor and a special engine was sent down to assist. The train got through to Wolfville at about 11.35.

The ladies of the Seminary are to give the last recital of the season on Monday evening next. A good programme has been prepared and a good evening's entertainment may be expected.

The amount of money paid by Great Britain for meat from foreign countries has been increased of late years. In 1889 it was larger than it has been in any other corresponding period. But in 1890 the amount of the preceding year was far exceeded. Up to December the amount paid in excess of that of the first eleven months of 1889 was nearly $15,000,000.

Since our last issue quite an amount has been subscribed toward the Spring-hill relief fund by our citizens. The village of Grand Pre has also contributed over fifty dollars. We are informed that the list is still open and subscriptions will be gladly received. We are glad to know that Wolfville was one of the very first towns to move in the matter and send relief to the sorrowing people of our sister town.

In another column we publish a letter advocating the naming of the streets of the town. The matter is one that we have often thought of and have intended drawing the attention of the people to the advisability of some such action being taken. The benefit to be gained by a plain understanding in this direction can readily be seen and we hope that the course recommended by our correspondent may be adopted, and that at once. Let us have a public meeting of the citizens and the matter taken hold of in an energetic and unanimous manner.

While we are on the subject of streets we would like to impress again upon the minds of the people the value of some organization to keep the street in order and improve them. The season of true planting is again drawing near, and we hope to see a number of conscientious trees placed along our streets. This would not cost much, and would be of great value to the appearance of the town. There was never a time when our streets needed so much attention as now, and there is certainly no doubt as to the efficacy of a society for this work. We trust that the people of Wolfville will take the matter in hand, and we feel sure if they do give it a careful consideration that good results will follow.

This election has been remarkable for "fops." Since the beginning of the campaign the papers on one side have been filled with accounts of prominent Liberals going over to the Conservatives, and the papers of the other side of Conservatives deserting their party and going over to the Liberal line. In a great number of these cases, of course, there was no truth in the statement; but in some the rumors have been backed up by facts. While it is all ways possible that a man may be "converted" of the error of his ways, yet we doubt if a man who changes his mind out of a personal spite or a fancied grievance against the leaders of his party, is any great acquisition to the party which he joins.

The cause of the Springhill explosion will, we suppose, never be certainly known. Different theories by way of explanation have been advanced. The most reasonable and generally accepted is, we believe, that a vein of explosive gas was struck at about the time the miners knocked off work for dinner, and, during the noon hour, a part of the mine became charged with gas. When the miners returned, some one, or more, carried a naked light and the gas was exploded. The Springhill explosion, it is said, have been, generally comparatively free from gas, and this may have induced carelessness in the use of naked lights. We presume that in Springhill, as in other coal mines, the miners are required to use the safety lamp, but we have understood that, as the light thus afforded is dim and insufficient, many miners will use the naked light, a practice always attended with danger and sometimes with the most disastrous consequences. The incandescent electric light is now being introduced in some mines and, we understand, with good results. The system has for two years been on trial in the Shawano mines of Hooking Valley, Pa. If a safe and effective means of affording light in coal mines is at hand from this source, it will certainly be eagerly welcomed as a blessed deliverance from at least many of the horrors that are incidental to the lot of the miner.—Ez.

Handbook Items.

Well, it's getting on towards election day. This week will decide the political position of Canada during the next five years. It will decide the financial position of one or two, too, I have an idea. One man told me the other day that if the Conservative candidate was elected the people of this county would have a big Bill on their hands, they'd see, but then, he said he didn't suppose it would be as big a Burden to them as if the Liberal man was elected. I suppose I was rash--I sometimes do forget myself in the heat of the moment, but a man that perpetrates a pun like that on me must do so at his own risk--gray headed though he be.

On the whole the people of Handcock have kept themselves wonderfully controlled during this election contest. Few manifestations of strong excitement have occurred. But yesterday in the heat of a political discussion one man so far forgot himself as to inflict painful injuries upon another, I am told. That's it, Politics is a dangerous topic of conversation. But ere another issue of the ACADIAN reaches the Handbook post office the excitement will have largely passed away. The Conservative lands will again be lying down alongside the Liberal lion, or vice versa.

This election has brought out several men to the front who previously had occupied comparatively obscure positions in life. In a political meeting out here, not long ago one man surprised his party and dumbfounded his opponents by his debating powers and his oratory. His remarks were not lengthy, but they were to the point. Considering the short period of only twenty minutes that was allotted him he could not be said to have done himself justice, but he pointed out very clearly that the Tories were not to be trusted. If we don't hear more from this debater in the future in politics it's because generally he can't stand any chance in this country.

There is a class of men in this country and there are one or two of them in Handcock--that would confer a great favor upon their native land by drying favor upon both parties, but they belong to the side which will give them the most money. To them representative government means nothing. They care nothing for their individuality apparently than if they belonged to the brute kingdom. There is a man out here who has two grown up sons and they profess to belong to one party, but he says unless he gets fifteen dollars from that party--five dollars apiece for his wife and those of his sons--they will not vote at all. And probably the party will pay it. Perhaps some of your Handbook readers may guess whom I mean. A man that would stoop to such a thing should have his name given to the dogs. There should be a law enacted discriminating for life all those who give and take bribes, it would be only justice to those who do not take bribes. When the balance of power in a county can be bought, a man's franchise is worth nothing and representative government is a farce.

JACK HYDE

Consistency.

According to some of the Grit papers and Grit leaders it is a wrong and shameful thing for members of the Dominion Government to visit any of the constituencies of the country on the eve of an election, and especially if they deliver any addresses explaining the views of the administration and the policy by which they are governed. But these same imbeciles see nothing wrong or objectionable in leading men of their own party when an election is at hand, or indeed at any time, to visit their own or any other constituency, and by the delivery of addresses or any other means whatsoever, labor to create distrust and disaffection and hatred, it may be, against the government and a general condemnation of its policy and principles,--the object being to diminish and destroy if possible its majority in the House and thus pave the way for their own accession to power. This is their sole object--an object sufficient with them to reduce the country to a chronic state of discontent and to destroy every tie which binds us to the Empire. Further, these same consistent and honest men see nothing improper, or to be even noticed much less condemned, in political judges of their party on the occasion of an election, provincial or general, to post from county to county and province to province, to aid as far as possible, and by all measures however crooked and disreputable and debauching, their dear political friends, to whose manoeuvres and vile machinations they owe their present positions. Here is consistency, at least, "Like priest, like people." The judges and those to whom they owe their judgeships, are of the same rank in society, of like character and principles and by nature and training fitted for precisely the same services. And so no voice is now raised by Grit orators against the unseemly spectacle of political judges traversing the land in the behalf of their party; all are as silent as dumb dogs and the press utters no words of condemnation or reproof. You would think that the papers were not aware of the proceedings of these peripatetic political justices, altho' their office makes them sufficiently conspicuous to be seen and their presence must be known of. Such are our N. S. and Dominion Grit politicians and would be rulers of the country. Let them learn to be a little more consistent, at least, and honest before we hand over the country to their administration, to be pickfished into the innately maw of our greedy, unprincipled neighbors across the line.

Our New York Letter.

DEAR ACADIAN,--I understand you are expecting an occasional letter from me concerning affairs in this modern Babylon, and were I to write of everything one sees and hears in this metropolis of the Western World, I am afraid you would have little space left for local or provincial topics. The greatness of this city grows on one as we see the immense volume of trade that pours through its streets and over its quays, the crowds that hurry through its thoroughfares, jostling and crowding in their eagerness to make the most of every day. A provincialist gets tired of this continuous excitement and wishes sometimes for the Acadian tranquillity he has left behind him.

Your impending elections have attracted unusual attention here. All the leading dailies devote considerable space to the question at issue. As a rule they favor the opposition and seem extremely desirous that Sir John A. should take a long vacation. It doesn't follow, however, that what the New York papers want would be the best thing for Canada.

General Sherman's funeral procession was one of the most imposing seen in our streets for years. The remains on their way to St. Louis were carried on a caisson. This was followed by the family, then the President and Vice-President of the great U. S., then two Ex-presidents, the Cabinet, a long procession of veterans and a new feature, a number of Confederate soldiers. His war horse was led in the procession, bearing the General's boots, which reminded me of the Duke of Wellington's funeral. If you don't know the story I will give it to you.

The recent death of Meissonier, the celebrated French painter, has attracted unusual attention to his work in the Art Museum. One of these cost about $70,000. I have seen a great many noted paintings, though but a few more realistic than this famous battle scene.

Financial New York is rejoicing over the defeat of the Free Coinage bill. They have done much here to defeat this obvious measure, among other things, circulating very widely a pamphlet, "Three pinks to a bushel," showing the absurdity of trying to make 80 cents worth of silver equal to a dollar. Secretary Winlow's last words were a vigorous protest against this silver bill. It is said that Mr Charles Foster, of Ohio, is to become our new Sec'y of Treasury.

Dr. Talmage is nothing if not sensational. He preached lately a telling sermon on gambling. And he is to follow this by deliverances against other national sins. He appears to know whereof he affirms. His son has come out as an evangelist and Union Square on Sunday evening presented the unusual sight of two crosses attracted to the Academy of Music to hear Dr. Talmage and to the Union Square theatre to hear Frank De Witt Talmage. Both houses were filled. There is room for all the preaching talent available in this wicked city. Wishing you and the province every success, I am Yours etc., SCOTIA.

Special Notice.

PETITIONS FOR PROHIBITION AND THE DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT. Owing to the dissolution of the Dominion Parliament and the agitation consequent upon a new election, a word to all friends of temperance, and all parties engaged in the Prohibition movement, is necessary.

- 1. Do not cease to canvass for signatures, but push the work all the more diligently.
2. If you have closed your petition lists, owing to the short time given in our first circular, and have not done the work as fully as you would have done had more time been given, open new lists and take such steps to increase the number of signatures as you may think best.
3. It is not enough to place the petitions in the lecture room or at the door of a church, and say to the people they can sign them if they so desire. Put the petition forms into the hands of earnest, intelligent canvassers, who will patiently and faithfully do the work. Institute a house to house canvass, and give every person an opportunity to attach his name to the petition.
4. Have the same names written upon both forms of petition--House of Commons and Senate--as we petition both Houses.
5. All persons who have sent complete petition lists to any ex-M. P. will please send them a stamp asking for the immediate return of said lists, as said papers are seriously liable to be mislaid or lost.
6. Withhold all petitions until the new parliament opens, and then send them on the second week of the session to the M. P. and Senator, Ottawa, representing the constituencies in which the petitioners reside.
7. We would respectfully ask the W. C. T. U. and all other temperance organizations, as well as all other parties having resolutions or petitions, or both, to observe the directions given above, so far as they may apply.
8. In case any person needs an additional supply of petition forms, apply to either of the persons whose names are given below and they will be promptly sent.
9. Do not forget the finances, which are imperatively needed to pay expenses. Friends of our holy cause keep at this work with tireless energy, and by the blessing of Almighty God upon our work we will have good success.

Naming The Streets.

EDITOR ACADIAN,--It is not time some action was taken to name the streets in this growing village? In making conveyances of property, one attorney will name the street through the village, Main street, another, main post road; the same in regard to another street bordering on the railroad ground. It is called Front street, Water street and North street. The road leading south by the Baptist Church is styled School street, Gasperen road, etc. A cross street is called Professor street, and again College street. There are several other streets with uncertain names. New streets are being opened which should be named with some authority. Then where does Wolfville end--east, west and south? Were a meeting held to discuss the matters referred to, in a friendly way, good would result from it. At the first meeting, a committee might be chosen to form a plan and bring in names, which could be voted upon at a subsequent meeting. I throw out these suggestions in hope some person or persons will follow them up. J. W. B.

WHITE BRONZE MONUMENT Co.

Manufacturers of Monuments, Head Markers, Statuary, Church Tablets, Vases, Grave Trimmings, &c., &c.

The above are guaranteed not to become moss-grown, discolored with age and not to crack with frost. All inscriptions being in raised letters, will remain legible. There is but one grade of metal used, and not containing iron in any form can not rust. Are endorsed by scientists.

Sales in Canada last season were over 50 per cent of previous years. In the United States there are six large establishments for the manufacture of the above, in which over 20 large soldiers' monuments were made in 1889, ranging in price from $1,000 to $6,000, besides a large number of family monuments and other cemetery work. Prices depend on size and style.

Arrayed in White. Little hands whose work is o'er; Tired hands, that toil no more; Tender little hands that rest.

Life Etchings. Some years ago a little girl, poor, homely, awkward, reticent and sensitive, attended a small country school in a neighboring state.

How She Impressed it on his Mind. Have our readers ever tried to remind themselves to attend to something of importance by tying a knot in their handkerchiefs and then when they came to take it out, raked their brains in vain to recollect what the knot was intended to recall to them?

Around the World on Foot. A journey around the world on foot was undertaken more than a century ago by an English corporal of marines named Ledial.

Strange Coincidences. Wilkie Collins once related some instances proving how impossible it was to introduce into a novel, descriptions of places and things wholly imaginary.

Polishing a Famous Poem. Very few poems are there that have thrilled so many hearts with sympathy as that one so graphically relating the story of a girl's love and heroism, and which has been recited in most every city, town and village through the length and breadth of the land.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Minard's Liniment is the Best. An Arab who has lost his teeth probably speaks only gum Arabic. It is not advisable for a bank cashier to read nautical tales; the practice might inspire him to become a "skipper."

The people of the south are rapidly effecting the color line from their civilization. Down in Florida a white man and a negro were recently hanged to the same tree.

Remember that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal as a specific for colds, coughs, and all affections of the throat and lungs. For nearly half a century it has been in greater demand than any other remedy for pulmonary complaints.

A specific remedy for indigestion or dyspepsia in any form is found in King's Dyspepsia Cure, the only preparation of the kind in the market. Cure guaranteed or money refunded.

Castoria is truly a marvelous thing for children. Doctors prescribe it, medical journals recommend it and more than a million mothers are using it in place of Purgative, Bateman's Drops, so-called soothing syrups and other narcotic and stupefying remedies.

Suppose that this is so. Suppose that a "witted man was far-seeing enough to know that to cleanse the blood was to cleanse the life. Suppose that by many experiments, and after many failures, he discovered this golden key to health and that his faith in it for you is so strong that you can go to your drug-guy, buy a bottle, and if it doesn't help you, you can get your money returned cheerfully.

Norton's Magic Liniment is superior to any other sold, as there is no dirty soap in the compound (as is the case with others), but is made of clean, penetrating oils. It has no equal for rheumatic pains. It is also to take for colds, pain in the stomach, in teaspoonful doses in a glass of hot water and sugar. It is the pain destroyer of the age.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism. A new industry has sprung up in Germany. The young leaves of the wild "strawberry are picked, carefully dried and used instead of Chinese tea, which they are said to approach very closely in flavor.
