THEY ARE GOOD.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well-known ex-almshouse of Kempsville, Ont., says: "For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn-out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used."

Items of Interest to Catholic Readers.

(Sacred Heart Review.)

THE PRICE OF TRUTH.

There is no getting away from the fact that many converts to Catholicism are called upon to make temporal sacrifices. Especially is this so in the case of a man who has been in the Protestant ministry, and who, when the first doubt as to the stability of his position as a Christian has come to him, feels impelled to follow his researches to their logical conclusion and, finally, to embrace the Catholic faith.

In the current number of the London Month Mr. Rene F. R. Conder contributes an interesting paper on "The Price of Truth" in which he endeavors to show some of the hardships an Anglican clergyman is forced to endure when the conviction of his false position forces his conscience to rebel against occupying it longer. Of course, we all of us know that, underlying the suffering and the hardship, there is the ineffable joy of having found mental and spiritual peace and solace. But for all this the picture of a Protestant clergyman giving up position and prospects to embrace the true faith is peculiarly pathetic and noble.

"These men," says Mr. Conder, "have been pressed to ask themselves 'Can I afford the truth?' They have changed uncertainty of opinion for the certitude of faith; but they have in the process lost the certainty of daily bread in possible view of the workhouse. In some respects a minister enjoys an ideal position; he has probably wife and children; he is surrounded by his people, among whom he is an authority, a consolation, a helper and a friend. And suddenly, in the midst of this harmony, there strikes a discordant note; it comes in the first presentation to his mind of a 'doubt.' It knocks at the door of his intellect and his heart, and it forces an entrance as an unexpected and unwelcome visitor. He, the preacher, is he sure of his message? he, the teacher, are his credentials without flaw? Finally comes the inevitable and irrevocable plunge, the victory of truth, the wrench that breaks the old strands. The spiritual load is cast off, that the back may feel the pressure of the new temporal burden." Then comes the realization of the stern necessity of "doing something." The weary wanderings in search of employment to support the little family, the discouragements and disappointments almost without number, are graphically portrayed by Mr. Conder, who suggests this remedy: "Would it not be possible," he says, "to institute some kind of employment bureau for converts, some method of bringing supply and demand together, so as to provide some work, that there may be a prospect of earning a livelihood?" We hardly think such a plan would be advisable in this country, but we should think it might be worked out in England, where so many of the Anglican clergy are leaving the Established church every year and making their submissions to Rome.

THE MODERN PASSION OF PITY.

There have been times in the history of the world when mankind seemed to be seized by a general passion for war, for degenerate sensualism, or for religious enthusiasm. But in these latter days, according to Jesse Albert Locke, in the current issue of the St. Vincent de Paul Quarterly, there seems to have been developed what he calls "The Modern Passion of Pity." Societies of every conceivable description are formed nowadays for the alleviation of suffering, want and misery. Legislatures are called upon to corporate societies to protect dumb animals and even to provide them asylums and hospitals, societies that project all sorts of good for humanity, some to provide work or material comforts for the poor, some to give them recreation in winter or country outings in the summer, societies to secure them legal rights or to provide them with free treatment and healing for all manner of diseases; in short societies to supply an answer to almost every human desire or need. Never before were men so easily moved by tales of distant distress; never was it so easy to raise funds for the sufferers by fire or flood or pestilence. Mr. Locke, in this admirable article, successfully combats the altruistic idea of charity, by which he means the giving of alms in a manner which tends inevitably to the deterioration of character and the stirring of popular discontent. With Catholics, on the other hand, deeds of charity are rooted deeply in the supernatural. "That which makes Christian charity a higher, nobler thing," says Mr. Locke, "is that which differentiates it from that passion of pity for human ills which moves the humanitarian and the altruist is simply this: True Chris-

German Chemists Claim to have Discovered a Process for Making Dough Direct from Wheat.

German chemists claim to have discovered a process for making dough direct from wheat, that promises to do away with the grist mill forever. The Toronto World publishes some interesting facts in regard to the invention, translated from a German newspaper, which says that the trade done by a factory running under the new system is so great that additions to the plant have become necessary. We quote: "The machinery not only transforms whole grains directly into dough, but also at the same time kneads it, no grinding or milling process being employed at all. After the wheat is first thoroughly cleaned in the dry state, it is placed in running water until the later is no longer turbid, and is then allowed to soak for a few hours in a temperature of 50 degrees to 52 degrees centigrade. In the slimy condition in which it is then found it is placed through the patented process, whereby the mass is vigorously squeezed and at the same time passed through a sieve. The doughy mass is then forced through a sieve with finer meshes, finding its way into wooden boxes and thence into souring vats. The quantity of dirt which the process removes from the grain is said to be frightening, both in cleansing the dry grain and during the doughing process, when the surface of the water is covered with a disgusting layer of stuff made up of dust, weeds and the ejections of mice and birds, all of which the machine is said to thoroughly remove. The writer of the article claims that the bread made by this process is not only healthier and more palatable than that of ordinary manufacture, but also more nutritious. All the nutritive portions are preserved, especially those nearest the outer surface, which it is claimed are lost by milling operations. That none of the nitrogenous substances are removed is proved by the fact that the albuminoid ratio of the bread is 1.5, and even the most fibrous or woody portions are in such a condition that they can be dealt with by persons of weak digestion. Finally, the new process is said to be most economical.—St. John Sun.

Helpless for Six Months.

Rheumatism Held him in Chains—Suffered Untold Torture—The Great South American Rheumatic Cure Waged War and Won a Complete Victory—Rallied in a Few Hours.

"I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism. I was completely helpless for over six months. I tried all kinds of remedies, but got no relief. Having noticed strong testimonials published of Rheumatic Cure I obtained a bottle of it, and received relief from pain from the first dose, and in an incredibly short time I was entirely freed from my sufferings." James K. Cole, Almonte, Ont. Sold by GEO. E. HUGHES.

Whilst it is difficult for the rich to enter Heaven on account of the spiritual blindness which generally accompanies great wealth, it is also true that riches can be made a stepping stone to Heaven by making proper use of them. When the rich man looks upon himself as the almoner of God—free, it is true, to be bounteous to himself, but at the same time never forgetting the needs of his fellow creatures, his riches will prove a blessing to him and his. When, going still further, the wealthy not only give freely of their abundance, but limit their own expenses and lend their personal services to the advantage of the poor, it would seem that they had indeed ## exclusively charitably character of their activity.

"That is something they are hardly likely to do, however, with the state so much opposed to the Church and with so many dangerous socialist societies existing in the land. Another indication still that this writer is not over-friendly to the Church is his intimation that these clerical benevolent institutes were originated at the suggestion of the Pope, who has become convinced by late happenings in Austria and Germany that the working men have determined to become a greater power in Italy, and who hopes to influence that power through these benevolent establishments. His admission, however, that the Church in Italy is accomplishing far more than any other agency for the masses is all the more significant because of his apparent lack of sympathy with its work.

The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is literally written in blood. It is traced in the vital fluid of millions of the human race. Its positive medicinal merit and curative power is written upon the hearts and graves upon the minds of thousands of people whom it has cured. And given good health. When there seemed nothing before them but darkness and despair. It cures all diseases arising from or promoted by impure blood by its intrinsic merit as the one true blood purifier.

THE GREATEST NATION ON EARTH.

"The value of timber yearly out in the United States is double that of the output of all our mines." "One-third of the population of this country are church members." "It costs $668.32 every minute during the year to run our Government." "Uncle Sam's farms constitute one-fifth of the National wealth." "Nearly one-half of the 3,000,000,000 letters making up the world's annual mail, belong to the United States." These are but instances of the thousands of wonderful facts about every phase of the life and progress of our country, from an illustrated article on "The Greatest Nation on Earth," by William George Jordan, to appear in the July number of the Ladies' Home Journal. The article pictures in a novel way, America's vast area, her matchless resources, boundless wealth, her marvelous development, and shows how the United States leads the world.

The Prince of Wales at Short Range.

George W. Smalley will contribute an article on "The Personal Side of the Prince of Wales" to the July Ladies' Home Journal. It is said that Mr. Smalley gives a uniquely interesting, close view of the Prince, touching in detail upon his great personal popularity in England, and the reasons therefor, his love of sports, his pastimes, his local duties and diversions, and showing him as an affectionate son, a devoted husband, a loving father and brother.

Honor, then, to Mrs. Rosa Hawthorne Lathrop who has done, and is doing so much for the poor who suffer from cancer and whose noble example promises to give this country a large contingent of the "Daughters of the Cross," from the ranks of the wealthy. This society, established specially for the care of cancer patients, has existed for a long time in France and has already a branch in this country to which not a few "society ladies" belong and which has been working quietly but effectively for some time past. The special talent for the work which Mrs. Lathrop has evinced will give new impetus to the zeal and efforts of these Daughters of the Cross and soon we hope to hear of their Calvary (the name given their houses for the reception of patients) being established throughout the land. Honor to all who join or help them!

Merit

It is what gives Hood's Sarsaparilla its great popularity, its constantly increasing sale, and enables it to accomplish the wonderful and unequalled cures. The combination, proportion and process used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla are unknown to other medicines, and make Hood's Sarsaparilla Peculiar to Itself.

It cures a wide range of diseases because of its power as a blood purifier. It acts directly and positively upon the blood, and the blood reaches every nook and corner of the human system. Thus all the nerves, muscles, bones and tissues come under the beneficent influence of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE HERALD

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1897. PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY. SUBSCRIPTION—$1.00 A YEAR. JAMES MCISAAC. Editor & Proprietor.

The Canadian recipients of the Jubilee honours from the Queen are:—Sir Donald Smith, a Peerage, with the title of Lord Glenoch; Hon. Wilfred Laurier, a Privy Councillorship and a G. C. M. G.; Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. Sir Richard Cartwright, G. C. M. G.; Hon. L. H. Davies, Sanford Fleming, and Lieut. Gov. Fitzpatrick of Ontario, K. C. M. G.; Chief Justice Tait, Quebec; Taylor, Manitoba; and ex-Chief Justice Haggarty, Ontario, knight-hood; J. M. Courtney, Deputy Finance Minister; J. L. McDougall, Auditor-General; Lt. Col. William White, Deputy Postmaster General and Louis Frechette, poet, C. M. G. When the Grits were in opposition they sneered at those among their servatives who accepted titles and told us Liberals would never be glad accepting such empty bubbles. The above list shows they were just as hypocritical in this respect as in every other.

The Senate has certainly earned the thanks of the tax-payers of Canada by defeating the Government bill embodying the "deal" with the Grand Trunk and Drummond County railways, for the purpose of bringing the Intercolonial into Montreal. Perhaps the arrangement is more properly named when it is called a "deal". When the question came up for discussion in the Senate the three months hoist was moved by a member of the Opposition and carried by a good majority. The Government evidently anticipated the defeat of the bill, for the very same day as soon as its fate was known, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, tabled in the House of Commons, further supplementary estimates embracing an amount of $157,500, for rent of the Drummond County and Grand Trunk railways, for nine months. This, he said, would test the feasibility of the scheme, and at the end of that time the Government and the Senate would be in a position to judge which was right. This amount has been placed in the supply bill, and as the Senate cannot amend the supply bill, but must accept or reject it as a whole, the Government would be in a position to get their money for the purposes of their scheme. Of course the rejection of the supply bill by the Senate would mean the stopping of all appropriations for the public service during the next year, and would precipitate somewhat of a crisis. Should the Government succeed in getting this $157,500 they shall probably have obtained their principal object, for there are strong indications that the money was wanted to repay advances made for political purposes. His contention is borne out by the remarks of the Montreal Star to the effect that according to current rumor, the order in council authorizing the Drummond County deal was passed before the government was in power a month, and that on the strength of it notes were discounted, the proceeds of which were applied partly to paying the Liberal expenses in the Quebec provincial elections, and partly the Liberal expenses in the Dominion bye-elections, partly to pay the deposits in the contestation of Conservative seats, and partly to subsidize heavily certain Liberal newspapers. It is quite plain that it is no manner to call the arrangement a "deal" equally as shady as the Baie de Chaleur railway matter. It is to be hoped the Senate will institute an enquiry into this affair. This is only one of the means adopted by the Grit Government for elevating the standard of political purity.

The Provincial Elections. The Legislature of the Province has been dissolved and a general election is announced to take place on Wednesday, the 21st of July, just three weeks from this date. Nomination day will be on Wednesday, July 14. Certainly the notice is very short; but after all it is not wonderful, in consideration of their past record, and of the reception they may reasonably expect at the hands of the electorate, that the Government should permit as little time as possible for the public discussion of their actions for the past four years. It is no doubt with the hope of obscuring the real issues before the electorate that the election has been sprung, in the hope of obtaining a snap verdict. The record of the present Government is enough broken promises; of grinding taxation; of continuous annual deficits; of enormous piling up of the public debt, and of unconscious increase in interest. The debt of the Province at the present time, must be close unto a half million of dollars, and the annual interest is about $15,000. During the years these have been accumulating, under the present administration, enormous sums have been taken from the people in taxes of different kinds; the public works, the roads and bridges have not been kept in a very efficient state of repair. The question then will naturally arise, Where has the money gone? It has gone to a very great extent, to political favorites, in extravagant and scandalous jobs, it has been spent to purchase political support, and for purposes of boodle. The question for the people now to decide, and to decide without further loss of time, is, are they satisfied to have a continuation of such extravagance, recklessness, and political dishonesty? If not let them rise in their might and contest every inch of ground, with the Government supporters, from now to election day. If all who disapprove of the conduct of the present administration go into the fight with a determination to win, victory will perch on their banner on election day, and our Province will be saved from extravagance, recklessness and inevitable bankruptcy. The Leader of the opposition has issued his manifesto. It follows below, and is deserving of the most careful perusal. It advocates economy in the public service, husbanding of the resources of the Province, and the equalization of revenue and expenditure. In these particulars it is in striking contrast with the carnival of recklessness and extravagance that have characterized the administration of our public affairs for the last four years. Let the people read, compare and reflect then, go to the polls and cast their votes for honest and economical Government.

To the Electors of Prince Edward Island. GENTLEMEN.—The present Parliament has been dissolved. You are now called upon to choose fitting and discreet men to represent you in the Provincial Legislature. The decision you make, I need scarcely remind, will be binding upon you for a term of four years. It is of the utmost importance, then, that your attention should be called, in time, not only to the conduct of the Government, but to the principles that will guide the present Opposition should it, as the result of the coming contest, be entrusted with the reins of power.

The people had lots of reason to expect great things from the present Government. The men composing it came into power with loud professions of the good and beneficent rule the Province would receive at their hands. Six years have elapsed, and it may safely be asserted that it will be difficult to find a parallel in the history of any British colony for the broken promises, the gigantic mischief, and the incalculable injury which this Government has imposed upon us in such a short time.

They promised to greatly reduce the public expenditure. They have largely increased it. In the strongest language they condemned a provincial debt. In five years they have added over a quarter of a million of dollars to our debt.

They solemnly professed that they could manage our affairs without taxation. In three years they have taken from the people over one hundred and thirty-eight thousand dollars in taxes.

They protested against the practice of borrowing money at the banks. There has scarcely been a year since they attained power that the Province has not owed very large amounts to one or more of the banks.

They pledged themselves not to impose taxation without consulting the people. No sooner was this promise made than it was faithlessly broken by the introduction and passage into law of four separate tax acts.

They seriously engaged, in 1891, to devote about 15,000 dollars of the money to be raised by debentures to the repair of the Provincial building. This has not been done. The building has received no repairs.

They loudly proclaimed, in opposition, that there was no necessity for a Commissioner of Public Lands. Their official still exists, although they have been in power for over six years.

They denounced, with one voice, Provincial deficits. There has not been a single year of their administration that there has not been a large deficit—their deficits aggregate over $325,000, and if the taxes they collected be added, the astounding results of over $389,000 will be reached.

The short comings of this address will not permit of further enlarging upon their shortcomings. It may safely be asserted, without fear of successful contradiction, that they have, as a government, gone back and renounced every pledge they ever gave. Extravagance, waste, and corruption have marked their career, from the very beginning, with the result that our finances are in a most appalling condition, threatening our province with financial difficulty and our people with impoverishment.

The time has arrived for serious action, and it becomes the bounden duty of every man who values the institutions of his country to actively interest himself in the coming election. Unless I greatly mistake the trend of public opinion it seems clear that the people have made up their minds that there must be a change in the management of public affairs.

What then has the Opposition to offer? Let the people send to the next Legislative Assembly a majority of able and discreet men of the Opposition, and the Province may rest assured that a new era will be inaugurated in the management of their affairs.

The Provincial Executive will be reduced from nine to seven. No public money will be expended in excess of legislative appropriations, unless in case of unavoidable necessity, such as caused by flood or sudden disaster.

The present ferry system will be reformed with a view to greater economy of expenditure without diminishing efficiency of accommodation.

A reform in the administration of the Surrogate and Probate Court will be effected. The office of Commissioner of Public Lands will be abolished and the duties assigned to the Attorney General.

Provision will be made for a quarterly publication of revenue and expenditure. A radical change will be made in the administration of the Public Works department, so that the money now wasted can be saved to the Province.

The present system of taxation will be so changed that it will operate with enhanced justice, and not bear oppressively and unfairly on any class of taxpayers. Economy will be practiced in every department, and taxation will be kept down to the lowest possible limit.

The efficiency of the Public Service will be maintained, and revenue and expenditure will be made to square as nearly as possible. No further increase of public debt will be permitted. There will be considerable reductions in the expenditure of the public money, and the resources of the Province will be safeguarded and husbanded by every legitimate means that can be devised. With these assurances, and holding these views, I confidently appeal to you, the electorate of the whole Province, for your support of those principles in the contest which is approaching, firmly convinced that, upon due consideration, a right conclusion will be arrived at.

I have the honor to be, Your obedient servant, DAVENPORT GORDON. Georgetown, June 22, 1897.

Address to the Queen. The Archbishop and Bishops of the Province of Quebec have presented the following address for presentation to Her Majesty:—

To Her Most Gracious and Sovereign Majesty Victoria, the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, etc., etc. May it please Your Majesty;—

God, who governs the universe, and who delegates to the kings of the earth a part of his power, sets sometimes on the throne sovereigns to whom he has vouchsafed to impart a ray of his wisdom and a reflection of his goodness.

He enlightens in their hearts the love of justice, and he there sows the germs of the most beautiful domestic virtues, as well as those high qualities so necessary to those who are called upon to command. He fills their souls with the purest devotion to the interests and wants of their subjects; and He thus makes them noble instruments of His paternal designs for the happiness of the people. Madame—In the design of the Supreme Master, sixty years ago, He was pleased to call to the throne of Great British Empire, your gracious and illustrious Majesty. From the distant country watered by the Ganges, where you have already been proclaimed the Princess Empress; from the great rivers and plains of America, to the British Isles, your first and most brilliant crown, comes to-day the unanimous and spontaneous cry from a hundred million breasts. Your faithful subjects, spread over five continents, and the laies of the ocean, chat with filial and patriotic pride, like a prayer addressed to Heaven, and a homage to the throne this solemn acclaim which sums up the dearest sentiments of their hearts, "God Save the Queen." May God preserve and protect the admirable woman who for sixty years, amongst other monarchs, has shown her goodness, her wisdom and her virtue. May God preserve and protect the model wife, the devoted mother, who in the midst of that pomp and grandeur inseparable from royalty has been able to give the rarest and purest examples of domestic virtues. May God preserve and protect her who for so many years has been affected on one of the most glorious thrones of the world, loved and venerated by all, as much for her virtues as for her wisdom, by people so different in language, race and religion. We come to participate in this grand and magnificent concert, who, homages of the representatives of the Catholic Church of the Province of Quebec, one of the jewels of your splendid crown. In the name of this Church we are happy to join to the voice of all your subjects the voice of the bishops, spiritual heads of a people, French-Canadian and Catholic, but at the same time loyal subjects of your Majesty. It is a pleasure for us to recognize that Providence, in prolonging in an exceptional degree the duration of your royal career, attests visibly its love for the illustrious British nation. It is a pleasure for us and for all the Catholic Churches of the Province of Quebec, that which we are the faithful echo, to bring to the foot of your throne the homage of our attachment and the assurance of our most ardent wishes that Almighty God may yet accord to your Majesty, for the happiness of all parts of your realm, long and peaceful years. Separated long since from our ancient mother country, the France of our Fathers, which we yet regard with all our affections, we have not lost the shadow of the British flag that protection which was due us as the first settlers of this country. The change of allegiance could not be accomplished without great difficulties; but God, who, to compensate for great sorrows, holds in reserve great consolations, placed upon the throne of England a queen with broad views and a noble and generous heart, who, in respecting national and religious rights, gave us on many occasions marks of her sympathy and affection. We might cite a great number of such cases; but let it suffice to mention the truly royal and salutary example of all parts of the University of Laval; the sanction given by your royal hand to the judgement of your honorable Irish Council, which recognized in the Catholic minority of this Province the right to educate their children in Catholic schools; also the sympathetic and delicate attention extended by your Majesty to the Catholic Prime Minister of the Dominion, who did on the very steps of the Sovereign's throne, in the presence of all eyes, as many others of a more general character, are deeply impressed on our memory, and if we love to call attention to them upon the occasion of this jubilee, which causes such sincere rejoicing in this French and Catholic Province, it is because it contributes, as it should do, to perpetuate in the hearts of our people this free and wholesome loyalty to the British Crown, which our venerable predecessors inculcated so strongly at the time of the cession to England, and which has never since weakened. The loyalty of our fathers is well known to your Majesty. Our history proclaims it on every page. In 1775 the illustrious Franklin came to Canada with a mission to enlist in the American rebellion the Canadian colonies. He, however, was powerless, thank to the firm attitude of the Canadian episcopacy, to estrange the French-Canadian people from their loyal attachment to England, their new Mother Country.

In 1812, when the illustrious De Salaberry and his brave warriors, led by Chambray to defend the British flag which had become our own, they carried with them on the field of victory the blessings and prayers of the Canadian clergy, whose hearts were beating with the purest sentiments of devotion to the British crown. In 1837, when some of our compatriots stirring under unjust oppression, for which the throne itself was in no way responsible, endeavored to sow the seeds of rebellion, our predecessors, having at their head the illustrious Meneigneur Lartigue, raised their voice, bravely and patriotically, in the path of duty. Madame, such were the sentiments, such were the acts of our predecessors and of the people confined to their solidities. We have conserved these sacred traditions and we wish to follow them to the end. We preach to the French-Canadian people this same loyalty towards established power. We do it from duty, and because it is the teaching of the Catholic Church, our Mother; but to the accomplishment of this duty it is added a profound sentiment of joy and happiness, when the legitimate power, the first source of which is God himself, incarnates itself in a sovereign whose private and public virtues equal her grace and majesty. Therefore, Madame, on the occasion of this memorable jubilee, raising to Heaven supplicant hands, we express the prayer that the God of all goodness, who has already filled your reign with so many gracious favors, may yet accord long years to a loved sovereign whose name is mentioned to-day with the most enthusiastic praise from one end to the other of this vast empire. Borrowing the words which the Catholic liturgy puts upon our lips, in our most solemn public services, we say with joy, united heart and soul with our people, as an evidence of our loyal and affectionate attachment to your august person, Domine salvam fac reginam—take unto you our care and lead in the ways of justice and salvation the exemplary woman, who for sixty years faithful to her duty as queen, as wife and as mother, constitutes the glory and happiness of a great people, at the same time presenting to the entire world an accomplished model of the qualities and virtues which made sovereigns beloved of God and of men.

FOLLOWING is the message sent by Her Majesty Queen Victoria, to all parts of the Empire, on her jubilee day: From my heart I thank my beloved people. May God bless them. To this the Governor in Council of Canada replied as follows: The Queen's most gracious and touching message, this moment received, shall be immediately made known to your Majesty's people throughout the Dominion, and will give fresh heart to all. On this, this memorable day, we offer the glad tribute of loyal devotion and affectionate homage. God save and bless the Queen.

The Home Comfort Range Co., have removed their headquarters from Summerside to Charlottetown where they will be located for the next three months. The manager, Mr. W. M. Erwin, is a gentleman of more than ordinary business ability and has earned the good will of all with whom he came in contact by his courtesy and promptness. It speaks well not only for the quality of the "Home Comfort" Range but for the ability of the salesman that they were able to dispose of 200 ranges in the six weeks they have been in Prince County. These they have sold to some of our foremost farmers, and judging from the testimonials which have from time to time appeared in the columns of the Farmer the purchasers are well satisfied with them. All the transactions of these men will appear to have been conducted honorably and above board. Personally we know nothing of the qualities of these ranges as we did not purchase one but judging from testimonials above referred to and the transactions we have had at this office with the manager, Mr. Erwin, we are of the opinion that the range is all it is represented to be. We wish the company success in Queen's County, Summerside Farmer. (The advertisements of this company and numerous testimonials appear in this issue of the HERALD.)

KIDNEY DECEIT.

How many are Unintentionally Deceived in Treating Kidney Disorders—Can You Afford to Tinker with Your Own Existence?—If you suspect there is any Kidney Trouble, Discharge Pills, Powders and Cure-Alls—South American Kidney Cure is a Time-Tried and Testified Kidney Specific.

A remedy which dissolves all obstructions, which heals and strengthens the affected parts, and which from its very nature eradicates all impurities from the system, is the only safe and sure remedy in cases of kidney disorder. Such a remedy is South American Kidney Cure. This is not hearsay. The formula has been put under the severest of tests, and it has been proclaimed by the greatest authorities in the world of medical science that liquids—and liquids only—will obtain the results sought for. A liquid remedy taken into the system goes directly into the circulation and attacks immediately the affected parts, while solids such as pills or powders cannot possibly attain those results. Kidney disorders cannot afford to be trifled with. The quickest way is to take that which combats these insidious ailments. This great remedy never fails. It is a liquid kidney specific. It is a solvent. Sold by GEO. E. HUGHES.
