The farmer's Corner. The Time for Transplanting.

People do not consider, as a general thing, that plants and trees differ in habits and constitution, almost as much as the various members of the animal kingdom. They have their likes and dislikes, as it were, and these must receive due consideration to insure success. In a few words, our experience with the best may be removed, either in Autumn or Spring, provided the operation has been performed according to established rules. Early winter is by no means Autumn planting .-Autumn planting is as sure as pos sible after the fall of the leaf. Here is where too many planters fail they wait entirely too long, and the cold hard winds kill their trees before they become fully established in their new footing. In most cases all stone-fruits succeed better when removed in spring; and evergreens also, unless the change is made late in Summer, say during August, choosing a dull cloudy time. Apples and pears are not so particular; they only ask to be treated with due respect. Still if there is any preference, it lies on the side of early Autumn planting, in which case the young rootlets will start out and cling to the new soil. -Raspberries perhaps do best when planted in Autumn, but they must be thoroughly mulched to prevent the frost from

It is convenient to have two hens hatching at the same time, since, if accidents happen, the two broods may be united. Again, on the hatching day united. Again, on the hatching day it frequently occurs that, to prevent the newly-born chicks being crushed by eggs that are behind time, it is desirable to give all that are hatched to one hen, while the other takes charge of the eggs alone. Not only does this give security to the chicks, who run some hazard of being crushed, if they are kept for any prolong-and latterly as the "ARGYLE HOUSE," will remove into the same on the unhatched eggs also stand a far better chance. Having prepared the soil well, and charged it with good stable manure, the next thing is procure good seeds and put them in seasonably, and be careful not seasonably, and be careful not seasonably, and be careful not seasonably in the seasonable in three requisites are air, moisture and warmth, the first of which is lost if the seed be buried too deep; for it so they will not germinate. From three to four times the diameter of ordinary garden seeds is deep enough to cover the seeds with well pulverized soil. Test your seeds if you have any doubt, by planting, say half a dozen of a kind, in a flower pot by the window, and observe how many vegetate. A good garden, well prepared and properly cared for, though it be a small one, will produce all the vegetables a family needs from early summer to late autumn.

When I bought my farm six years ago, it contained a small patch of Canada thistle, which the former owner had been trying to exterminate for a number of years, but without success. They were on a spot on which grain had one year been stacked and threshed in the field; the following year the thistles appeared and they had spread in spite of all W efforts to kill them, until at the time they came into my possession, they were scattered over about half an acre of my pasture. For two years I tried keeping them cut close to the ground, but that did not kill. The next summer I took a sharp knife and cut off each thistle stalk about two inches below the surface of the ground and applied a small handful of salt. It required nearly two barrels of salt and several days, labor to go over the ground, but it was effectual. I have seen nothing of Dalhonsie, - - Restigouche, N. B

For production of these quartz granules there are special manufactories, which accomplished their task so well that even a practised eye would have difficulty in detecting the fraud. Old seeds also are colored, sulphurized, oiled, and treated with various substances which produce a fresher and better appearance, and are often even mixed to a considerable extent with old seed no longer capable of germination.

IMPORTANT nnouncement

—то тне— STOVE TRABE.

TAKE pleasure in placing before the Public my patent "Fire King" Cooking Stove, with patent Telescopic Oven Lining. The only perfect elevated Oven Cook Stove ever made to burn coal. It has two round Cylinders for the fires, therefore, fires may be made in one or both as occasion may require. During the past year I have made a number of important improvements in this Stove.

NOW WARRANT IT TO GIVE ENTIRE SATISFACTION, ng less coal, giving more heat, lasting for it will Last as Long as FOUR LININGS in the Ovens made by other Manufacturers. When a new Lining is required it can be pu in as in the manner of cleaning; saving the trouble of removing the Oven and Pipes from the Stove every time that it gets clogged with soot, or taking it to the repair

The above Cut represents the FIRE KING with the Oven Lining partially drawn out as in the act of cleaning or replacing a new Lining.

I have this season greatly improved my WATERLOO STAR and NIAGARA Cooking Stoves.by attaching the FIRE KING Oven to each of them, also fitted them with a basket grate of a new pattern for burning coal, so arranged that they will shake or dump. They will burn any kind of Coal or Wood, which could never be done in the old style, there being no convenient way provided for cleaning the Oven. I now manufacture
