REV. T. DE WITT TALLMAGE.

Religion is Sanative, Curative, Hygienic.

It may not give Anticellulic Longevity to Human Race, But it will Greatly Lengthen Our Lives.

Brooklyn, June 10.—At the Tabernacle movement, after expounding some passages of Scripture in regard to the death of Daniel and his brethren in the fiery furnace, the Rev. T. De Witt Tallmage, D.
D., gave out the hymn beginning:

Glorious God of Heaven and earth, Announce to the subject of his sermon, "Does Religion Prolong Life?" and predicted from the text, found in Pacific, 16: "With long life will I satisfy Following is the discourse in full:

Through the mistakes of his friends religion has been chiefly associated with sick beds and graveyards. The whole subject to many people is always with chlorine and carbolic acid. There are people who cannot pronounce the word religion without hearing in it the dying chill of the tombstone cutter. It is high time that this thing were changed and that religion, instead of being represented as a burden to carry out the dead, should be represented as an ever-living life in the living as to triumph.

Religion, so far from subtracting from one's vitality, is a glorious addition. It is sanative, curative, hygienic. It is good for the eyes, good for the digestion, good for the nerves, good for the muscles.
When David, in another part of the Psalms, prays that religion may be dominant he does not speak of it as a mili-tarian, or an emetic, or an attack of moral and spiritual cramp; he speaks of it as a tonic, as a stimulant, as a "long life," while God, in the text, promises longevity to the pious, saying: "With long life will I satisfy him."

The fact is that men and women die too soon. It is high time that religion should be the hand of medical science in attempting to improve human longevity.
There are men and women who live years. Methuselah lived nine hundred and sixty-nine years. As late in the history of the world as Ypresian, there were at one time in his empire forty-five century one hundred and one years old.
Peter Zaratan died at one hundred and eighty-five years of age. I do not say that religion will ever take the race back to antediluvian longevity, but it will lengthen human life will be greatly improved.

It is said in Isaiah: "The child shall die a hundred years old." Now, if according to Scripture the child is to be a hundred years old, may not the man and woman reach to three hundred and four hundred and five hundred? The fact is that we are mere dwarfs and skeletons compared with some of the generations that are to come. Take the African race.
They have been under bondage for centuries. Give them a chance and they will show a Frederick Douglass or a Constant L. Overton. And if the white race shall be freed from the shackles of sin, what will be the result? The fact is that the soul of religion has only just touched our world. Give it full power for a few centuries and you can tell the strength of the human life and the beauty of woman, and the longevity of all.

My design is to show that practical religion is the friend of long life. I prove it, first, from the fact that makes the body of our health a positive Christian duty. Whether we shall keep early or late hours, whether we shall take food digestible or indigestible, whether there shall be thorough or incomplete management of the system, whether we shall be as questions very much dependent to the realm of physical health. But the Christian man who is called to the divine life, he has given me a wonderful body for noble purposes.

That man with thirty-two curious bones wielded by forty-six curious muscles, and all under the control of a brain of three hundred and thirty million cells, that man who is called to the divine life, he has given me a wonderful body for noble purposes.

Almighty. His dominion—"the government shall be upon his shoulder." A body so divinely honored and so divinely constructed, let us be careful not to abuse it.

When it becomes a Christian duty to take care of our health, it is not the whole tendency toward longevity? If I see my watch about me, and drop it on the pavement, and find it up my time of day or night I happen to think of it, and often let it run down, while you are careful and do not let it run down.

Again, I remark that practical religion is a friend of longevity, in the fact that it is a potent against dissipation which injure and destroy the health. Bad manners, his untimely passions, the horse that dashed with him into the chance of death. Poe died at Baltimore at thirty-eight years of age. The black raven that alighted on the bust above his chair, was death.

Only this and nothing more.

Napoleon Bonaparte lived only just behind his life, then died at St. Helena, and one of his doctors said that his disease was induced by excessive suffering.
The hero of Waterloo, the man who by one step of his foot in the center of Europe shook the earth, killed by a snuff-box.

Oh, how many people we have known who have not lived out half their lives because of their dissipation and indulgence! Now practical religion is a protest against any kind of dissipation.

"But," you say, "professors of religion have fallen, professors of religion have drunk, professors of religion have misappropriated trust funds, professors of religion have abandoned." Yes, but they were away from religion before they did their morality. If a man on a

FLAX AS A POLITICAL FACTOR.

The flax element has assiduously for years past, with the assistance of the Irish vote, striven to detach a portion of the Irish vote from the Democratic party; but the Democrats have rather stolen a march on the Republicans during the past few days. The Mills tariff reduction bill proposes to place the flax, straw, etc., on the free list, and the Republicans opposed the proposal. The Democrats then turned around, and after arguing that flax growing was not a profitable industry in the United States, said they were glad that without injuring their own country they could, by placing flax upon the free list, benefit Ireland, where flax growing could be conducted with profit. The imports of flax from Ireland under the free list would be enormously increased. The Republicans now see that their indiscriminate opposition to tariff reduction is, after all, not so creative of political capital as they imagined. Incidentally it may be mentioned that considerable flax is grown in Canada, and that placing the article upon the free list may advantage some sections of this country as well as Ireland.

HE PITIED THE PRISONERS.

It is only when a man becomes a candidate for political honors that the world discovers how wicked he has been in the past. Judge Thurman was no sooner nominated for the presidency of the United States than Governor Foss, of Ohio, frantically waved the bloody-shirt. The Governor in his zeal to injure Mr. Thurman's prospects, had directed an argument against him which may prove a boomerang. The dreadful offence for which Judge Thurman merits political extinction at the polls according to the republican free-press is because it is alleged the Judge and all his family carried delicacies to the Confederate soldiers when they were locked up at Camp Chase, near Columbus, Ohio, during the war. Unless the American people are differently misled from what they are reputed to be, this charge should make even the most doubtful Southern state sure for the Democratic ticket, and win for it the sympathy of all humane people. It is not a crime surely in the republic, for Judge Thurman and his family, to have taken pity on the friends and destitute condition of the Confederate soldiers in prison, and carried them a few articles of food to lighten the burden of their lot; and the incident is more creditable than discreditable to "the old Roman" as Thurman is called.

LASTED THE WHOLE VACATION.

The Supreme Court Judges will be gratified to learn that the public conscience is so sensitive that the memory of evil deeds lives long. This being so, it will not surprise their honors to learn that the public hostility to the imprisonment of Mr. Hawke is still so keen, that newspapers like the Toronto Globe, Montreal Herald, Ottawa Free Press and other Ontario and Quebec publications have, within the past few days, devoted editorial columns and even one column long to condemning the course pursued by the Supreme Court of this Province, and to demanding Mr. Hawke's release and the remission of the fine on the ground of their injustice. These facts are mentioned because the Judges might be misled by an untruthful Ottawa despatch, in the St. John Sun, in believing that public interest in the persecution to which Mr. Hawke has been subjected has died out. It is not so.

AN IMPORTANT ENDORSEMENT.

The principle of unrestricted reciprocity with Canada has been affirmed in principle by the American house of representatives. During the debate on the Miller bill, Mr. Dingley, of Maine, moved a protective amendment which would defeat the measure's object. Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, met this by moving that in return for such trade privileges, including the right to buy and sell provisions, Canadian fish be put on the free list, and further that when Canada should remove the duties upon articles, the product of the United States, the American duties upon similar articles should be removed. This latter rider was affirmed by the entire democratic representation in the House with the single exception of Mr. Randall. This is a most important declaration, and while it is not likely to become the law of the United States at the present, yet the circumstances that congress, through the house of representatives has affirmed the principle of unrestricted reciprocity is in itself a most important victory. Hitherto, the main Tory objection to unrestricted reciprocity has been that the agitation is useless because it is alleged the Americans would never concede it; but this contention must be abandoned since the dominant political party in the republic has affirmed the principle. It will be a happy day for this continent when the ministerial parties in both countries affirm the principle that international barriers to the expansion of trade between Canada and the United States must be taken down.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

In issue of Saturday last, the Toronto Globe, under the caption, "Apparent to include to Burke," says editorially, as follows:—

Notwithstanding that one Canadian editor has been in good for speaking his mind concerning a judge, we say that Judge Robertson's conduct on the Bench yesterday, in the Golden Junction case, was unworthy of a judge. He showed throughout the usual confidence and prejudice against the city. It may be news to

NEWSPAPER NOTORIETY.

What the Press Says of Women Who Write is Acquainted with. Patti continues her great success in Buenos Ayres. Mrs. Macdonald spent $125,000 for the fittings of one room. Queen Victoria has sent to the Glasgow exhibition two table machines manufactured from yarn spun by her own hands. Princess Isabella of Brazil summarily dismissed one ministry that was not in sympathy with her views on emancipation. The express of Japan is taking lessons on the piano. The midwife's fifteen physicians are giving him every attention. One of the highest prices ever paid for a manuscript was that of $15,000, which Mrs. Augusta Evans Wilson received from her publishers for her "Infelix" before the book went to press. The total amount received for the manuscript of the present time was $10,000, and 20,000 sets of the work have been completed. Miss Linda Gilbert, who has done so much toward prison reform, says that she is not at all deterred by the fact that she is a woman. She is a philanthropist and has found employment for 6,000 discharged prisoners. The express of Japan is taking lessons on the piano. The midwife's fifteen physicians are giving him every attention. ## MR. LALOUCHET CALLED TO THE NEW YORK WORLD.

A few days since, the following ideas, which our readers will recognize as closely akin to those advanced in these columns three weeks ago:—

The Pope has, unwittingly perhaps, done the greatest service to Home Rule, and that is that he has given the Catholic world the impression that the Pope would outweigh their allegiance to Empire, and that they would enjoy their Protestant fellow countrymen. The Pope's receipt and the action of the Catholics in regard to Home Rule have dispelled the former allegation, while together they have shown the world that England and the Orangemen in Ireland have welcomed the aid of the Pope to suppress the holiness of their dream of Catholic persecution.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT MAY BE DELIGHTED TO LEARN THAT ITS APPARENT ABANDONMENT OF ITS HITHERTO SUPPORTERS IN WESTMINSTER COUNTY, TO THE WINNING OF ONE WHO MAY ABANDON THE PRESENT PROVINCIAL ADMINISTRATION AS EASY TO SWAY AS HE HAS THE OPPORTUNITY, IF HE WOULD INTEREST HIMSELF IN THE AFFAIRS OF SUCH BOULE JOURNALS AS THE HALIFAX HERALD AND MAIL.

The death of Col. King Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, places at the disposal of the government a subordinate ministerial position which is by no means enviable. A bill granting Col. King Harman a salary was passed by the House of Commons on the 11th inst. after day until the august audience must have been the whole look when the measure was only sustained by a majority of eight votes; and since then the government has not pushed the proposal through the final stages. The under-secretary's death enables the government to retire gracefully from a perilous position.

THE GIRLS WHO "LOVE" STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM.

It is rather more than a season of the physicians to report just at this season of the year several cases of poisoning by strawberries. They declare that their cases have been their company so much, that if these reports are circulated, they will not incur any risk by purchasing the fruit. What are the girls to do when cases of poisoning through eating strawberries as well as ice cream are reported?

ALLOWING FOR THE INCREASE IN POPULATION.

Great Britain has in thirty years decreased her national debt, per capita, fifty per cent. During at least two-thirds of these thirty years, the Mother Land has been under Liberal rule. That accounts for the reduction.

YANKEE PIRATES.

Operating Along the Eastern Shore of Nova Scotia.

HALIFAX, June 10. Fishermen along the eastern shore of Nova Scotia are intensely excited over the outrageous depredations of Yankee ocean highwaymen. For the past week a fleet of five or six sailing vessels has been seen mauling in and out of Chedoke and St. Peter's Bay. Fish have been very plenty in shore, and to get them the Yankees have deliberately destroyed the nets, gear, etc., of about thirty Canadian fishermen and stole the fish in the nets. The damage to property is placed at twelve hundred dollars. It is estimated that the Yankee fleet captured one thousand barrels of mackerel. Among the fleet is the Portland steam steamer Novely, the schooner, etc., of Robert Wilson were destroyed by the Gloucester schooner Alice C. Gordon. The steam cruiser Andia sailed from Halifax this morning in charge of Capt. Lowry. Admiral Gordon was on board.

A MAN OF MYSTERY.

Deaths of a mysterious count in New Brunswick. The common name is John. He arrived there three years ago from St. Pierre, was a perfect gentleman, spoke several languages, and his name was Count De Courcy, that he had travelled all over the world. For the Franco-German war he refused to swear allegiance to Germany and his large estates in Alsace were confiscated. In St. John he was a thorough Bohemian. His last request was that he be buried in the city of his birth, and he died.

ACADEMIC COLLEGE.

WOLFEVILLE, June 9. The board of governors of Acadia College have decided to enlarge the college hall, which will give additional room in the university and some of the class rooms. The improvements will cost in the vicinity of $12,000, one half of which has already been raised. It is believed that there will be no more in obtaining the remainder.

A FINE FISH.

It may be, but it is said that an American fisherman has caught a fine fish, which he has named Corn Extinction. The fish was caught in the Gulf of Mexico, and was a specimen of the Corn Extinction. The fish was caught in the Gulf of Mexico, and was a specimen of the Corn Extinction.

KINGSTON.

Caught a Salmon in his Arm—At Kingston, June 8.—One day last week Mr. William Grant, who tends one of the Shear Booms below Crook's Point, caught a ten pound salmon without the aid of a hook or net. The salmon jumped out of the water and fell on the boom close to where he was standing, and Mr. Grant, being a school man, seized him by the gills and soon secured his much coveted prize. Can any of the anglers beat that?

The farmers have got about all their crops in the ground, excepting buckwheat and turnips. For the past two weeks the weather has been very fine for farm work, and the crops are doing well. The apple orchards are now in full bloom, and the fruit is beginning to show. The potato crop is also doing well, and the farmers are looking forward to a good harvest.
