KING AND QUEEN OF BELGIUM VISIT NIAGARA FALLS REDS AND SOX READY FOR FIFTH BASEBALL BATTLE TODAY

RUNAWAY FREIGHT CAR RACES THROUGH STATION AT 30 MILES AN HOUR, BUT DOES NO DAMAGE

Hand Brakes Failed To Work in Spite of Brakeman's Best Efforts—Yard Engine Unable To Catch Up With the Speeder.

A runaway freight car, speeding through the city at 30 miles an hour, with a yard engine and a passenger train in pursuit, provided all the thrills of a motion picture serial for Grand Trunk employees Friday night.

The car was being shunted in the Rectory street yard, and was intended to stop a short distance down the tracks. The hand brakes failed to work, and with the brakeman exerting every effort to stop it, it continued westward down the track gathering speed as it went.

Immediately the situation was realized, a yard engine started off in pursuit, but the runaway car was too fast for it, and was gaining speed with every revolution of track. By the time it reached the centre of the city it was traveling 30 miles an hour.

On the main line, the yard engine was due at almost the same time the runaway car would reach the downtown station. The brakeman called out to a crossing man, who was quick to realize the situation. Not a moment was lost in sending the information to the Richmond street station where arrangements were immediately made for the Windsor train to come in on another track.

Meanwhile the heavy freight car roared on its way, the brakeman still endeavoring to apply the brakes and the yard engine sticking bravely to the chase, but with yet no prospects of stopping it. At the speed of the runaway car, the yard engine was unable to get within 100 feet of the runaway car, and the two men were in vain. The race continued and the lights of the downtown yard were now in view. A moment later the station buildings loomed up, and the car was quickly left behind as the yard engine passed. The runaway car continued on its way, but the yard engine was unable to catch up with it, and it was drawn back to its starting point.

NEITHER SIDE CAN CLAIM A VICTORY IN BRITISH STRIKE

British Newspapers Take This View Regarding End of Trouble.

"CLEAN SETTLEMENT"

Both Parties Come In For a Certain Amount of Criticism.

ALL TRAINS RUNNING.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Great Britain's railway system was again in operation today as the result of the settlement yesterday of the great railway strike, averting what threatened to be a serious spread of anation labor troubles. Virtually every man engaged in railway work, including the men who had been on strike since this morning, returned to his duty at 6 o'clock this morning. The various railroads were in operation, and the services were resumed, but several of the men who had been on strike since this morning, however, because of the displacement of the railway's material that had resulted from the suspension of work. In the country districts also the resumption was general, except in some instances where telegrams announcing the settlement and ordering the men back to work could not be delivered last night.

The railway companies promised that they would be in operation on their lines tomorrow.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—General relief and satisfaction is expressed by the newspapers over the settlement of the railway strike. A majority of the journals maintain that neither side is entitled to claim a victory, but that the settlement is a "clean settlement," and that the workers are "unable to intimidate the nation."

The Telegraph is satisfied with the "clean settlement," and hopes the strike has "proved finally that an attempt by railwaymen to stun the nation will always fail."

The Mail declines to discuss the terms and says: "If they satisfy the railwaymen they will satisfy everybody." It adds: "Although it has been a costly lesson, it has been demonstrated that a strike, when resolutely faced, must fail."

The Chronicle contends the strike ended "without a full realization of the catastrophe, due mainly to the personal conduct of Premier Lloyd George and those labor leaders who realized in time that the country was disgusted."

Declares Strike a Failure.

The News maintains the controversy was ended with credit to all concerned, and says:

"The defeat of either could not have been satisfactory. Both can claim peace with honor, the men's gains being far greater than is evident in the concrete terms of the settlement."

Assessing that the terms differ immaterially from those offered on the eve of the strike by the Government, the Post says: "The strike was a disastrous and ignominious failure, and destroyed."

"LEFTY" WILLIAMS OR "BIG BILL" JAMES TO PITCH FOR CHICAGO

Cincinnati's Manager To Put Eller or Reuther in Box.

SOX ARE STILL CONFIDENT

Backers of Gleason's Team Asking Odds From Cincinnati's Fans.

GOOD WEATHER PROMISED.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The weather this morning was clear and cool, indicating that the fifth game of the world series would be played this afternoon. The forecast for the day is "Fair, with moderate temperature."

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Victorious in three of the first four world series games, the Cincinnati Reds were out today to bag the fifth contest of the series, postponed yesterday, when a downpour of rain, setting in late Saturday night, soaked Comiskey Field to such an extent that playing was impossible.

Pitching selections for the game this afternoon were uncertain, but so far as the Reds were concerned, the choice was to be Claude ("Lefty") Williams, who was beaten in the second game of the series at Cincinnati. Williams, it was figured, had had enough rest since he went to the mound and was in the best. But it is possible that Gleason may make a last minute switch in the plans and send "Big Bill" James into the fray in an effort to stop the Reds.

Manager's Morning choice seemed to be between "Red" Eller, who has been in reserve, and Walter Reuther, who has the Sox in the pocket at Cincinnati. Reuther is the general choice of the experts because of the sensational game he twirled when the series opened, there was a possibility, however, that Manager

It is thought that the attempt was made by a stick of dynamite placed on the sill of one of the rear windows.

CONTEST CLOSES NOV. 1

Element of Time Cuts No Figure in the Big Contest.

The Advertiser's Big Puzzle Contest closes Saturday night, November 1. Over $2,750 in cash prizes will be given to the readers for counting the circles. The element of time cuts no figure in this contest. The very latest answer received will have the very same standing as if it were the first. Likewise, the first answer will stand just where it would if it were last. The puzzle is as simple as a child's game, and will remain unchanged until the end. As there does not seem to be any one method so far presented, the puzzle manager knows of no prohibited method, and he is open to all solutions. The puzzle itself is entirely fair, and all that is required of those who solve it is to be fair in their own minds. Use your ingenuity all you can, and if you can conceive of a better plan than anybody else, that is your matter solely.

WHERE IS BECK IN POLITICS? IS HE ONE OF US? TORIES INQUIRE

Some Disconcerting Questions Asked At Meeting On Friday.

CONSERVATIVES ANNOYED

Dislike Member's Reticence and Declare He Has Lost Many Votes.

All was not so harmonious at the meeting of the Conservative Association executive, ward chairmen and subdivision chairman on Friday, when the candidature of Sir Adam Beck was discussed, as was intimated in reports handed out for publication. Indeed, harmony was not one of the meeting's features.

Sir Adam Beck gave his little speech and then left the room immediately. Scarcely had he got out of the door when Ald. W. A. Wilson arose and in angry tones, demanded to know: "Where is this man Beck? Where does he stand? Is he a Conservative, a Liberal or an Independent? I want to know these things before I support him."

Close on Ald. Wilson's heels came others. Dr. E. W. Shaw among them, it is said, who supported this demand for information. None, however, was forthcoming from the supporters of Sir Adam, who endeavored to soothe the ruffled feelings of the want-to-know members.

Eventually these annoyed ones decided to let the indorsement pass without interference, but some of them are predicting that the candidate will lose at least 500 votes because of Friday's fiasco. They say they are not going to support him, and there are plenty of others of like mind.

BEELIUM'S KING AND QUEEN IN VISIT TO CANADA, PERSONALLY CONVEY GRATITUDE OF NATION

Government Representatives Welcome Heroic Soldier King At Niagara Falls—King Albert Extends Thanks to Canadian People For Assistance to His Subjects—Was At Falls in His Youth.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 6.—To convey personally to the people of Canada the gratitude of the Belgian nation for the gallant defence made by Canada's soldiers at Ypres, and the brilliant victory of the second Battle of Ypres, the soldier-hero-king of Belgium, with his equally heroic queen, Elizabeth, and their fighting son and heir-apparent, Prince Leopold, crossed the upper bridge from the United States, and spent about an hour on Canadian soil today. It was really an informal visit. The Canadian Government was notified on Sunday of the intention of his royal highness to cross to the Canadian side. There were no formal speeches.

The Government party which waited to greet the royal Belgians, in the middle of the upper bridge, consisted of Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council of Canada and Mrs. Rowell; Sir Joseph Pope, Major General Elmsley, Brig.-Gen. F. W. Hill, Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell and Major E. W. Wright of Ottawa.

VISITED FALLS IN YOUTH.

Mayor H. P. Stephens, Mrs. Stephens and Miss Stephens were present unofficially to represent the city of Niagara Falls. The royal party was met by the visiting royals were expected at 11:15, but were late owing to it was stated, to an unexpected development on the American side, where they spent the early part of the morning. It seems that King Albert visited the American Falls in his youth, a fact which the American committee did not take into account when making the arrangements for the tour of the United States side, and places not in the itinerary were visited.

The royal party eventually reached the Canadian reception group in the centre of the bridge about 12:15. Greetings were exchanged between the king and Mr. Rowell, in the course of which his majesty expressed his pleasure on visiting the native land of so many brave fellows who fought in defence of Belgium and the liberties of the world.

King Albert and party then entered the Canadian motors and the party drove off to the embarkment overlooking the magnificent Canadian Horseshoe Falls. His majesty was in the first motor with Hon. Mr. Rowell, and Dr. Grant, of the Victoria Park commission, the queen in the second with Mrs. Rowell, and Mrs. Grand Whitlock, wife of the American ambassador to Belgium. Prince Leopold drove with Brig.-Gen. Hill.

Other members of the royal visiting party were Gen. Baron Jacques, commander of the Belgian army; Major-Gen. Wright, of the United States army, and items of the Canadian States navy; Baron de Cartier, Belgian ambassador to the United States; Count Guy de Broqueville, and others.

Viewed Wonders of Falls.

There were many expressions of wonderment from the delighted guests as they viewed the magnificent Horseshoe Falls. They spoke in French, as well as English, and gave vent to their admiration freely.

There was a pause while the party was subjected to the battering of the photographs. The photographers, but cheerfully acquiesced in the camera being lined up in front of the party. The king, queen and prince were photographed in the motor with Mr. Rowell. There were one or two near tragedies when private snaphooters tried to get in too close to the royal party. The queen graciously submitted to the photographers, and the king, who was in the motor with Mr. Rowell, gave the operators, as they expressed it, a full-face photograph. The queen's face was seen through the veil, to give the operators, as they expressed it, a full-face photograph. The queen's face was seen through the veil, to give the operators, as they expressed it, a full-face photograph.

Weather Conditions Ideal.

Weather conditions were ideal. Warm sunshine, with a very light wind, made for ideal autumnal conditions. There was a very good crowd of officials to welcome the party, notwithstanding the fact that their intended visit to this side had been postponed.

King Albert wore the familiar uniform of a lieutenant-colonel in the Belgian army. He was wearing a uniform of the 2nd regiment, in which he fought, though only a stripling, to defend his country against the German hordes. His majesty was in a becoming motor costume. He was attended by the Countess Chislaine de Luxembourg, who was in the motor with Mr. Rowell. The king extended to King Albert a formal invitation to visit Canada after the tour of the United States.

The royal visitor recessed to the United States about 1 o'clock.

The placing of the palatial vessel in the St. Lawrence service again was welcomed by the people of Quebec, and throughout the day yesterday thousands of citizens visited the docks to look on at the new arrival.

The Empress of France had a full complement of passengers on board, and was expected to arrive on the 2nd inst., but was delayed owing to strong headwinds.

AUSTRALIAN ELECTIONS EARLY IN DECEMBER

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 4.—Premier Hughes has indicated Treasurer Watson and Minister of Repatriation Millican to retain their posts in the Federal Government. He said there was no country in which German influence had been so completely destroyed as in Australia.

MAGISTRATE HEARD NEARLY 3,000 CASES DURING 12 MONTHS

Over 2,000 Convictions Were Recorded.

FINES REACH $34,073

During Year 295 Juveniles Were Convicted of Various Offences.

The government year, as far as the police court is concerned, ended September 30, and Police Court Clerk John Moule and his assistant have been busy putting statistics in shape for the government.

Nearly 3,000 cases have come before the Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in the past year, 2,891 to be exact, and 2,052 citizens were convicted, leaving 839 who managed to escape having anything of a criminal nature attached to their escutcheons.

Mr. Moule collected fines amounting to $34,073.

Why the two cents, Mr. Moule thought nothing less than a dollar went in your court? queried the reporters.

"Well, I could find out all about it for you, but this is a very busy morning. I will let you know some other time," replied the clerk.

Mr. Moule stated that the sum total of crime showed a slight increase over last year, but was not prepared to give exact figures. He stated that 252 juveniles had been convicted, while the criminal sheet showed a total of 135, 700 during the year, being partly due to speeders, M. S. A. offenders, and belligerent artists under the O. T. A. There were also quite a few convictions under the Lord's Day act.

Mr. Moule explained that he has the power to take minor fines for speeding, the penalty being fixed at $5. He has not the right, though, to make it any less, as some erring auto speeders thought.

Would Summon Principals To Court Over Truants

Dr. George S. Weir, trustee officer for the city of London, is of the opinion that the wheels of justice regarding youngsters who play hooky from school could be skidded into motion more quickly if public school principals were the youths attend were summoned to court.

"As it is," said Dr. Weir, "these cases drag on from week to week before anything definite is done. I think it would be a wise move to summon the principals."

Public School Inspector C. B. Edwards, when interviewed, stated that he would leave their classes in order to spend what might possibly be half a day at the police court. However, he thought that under the new act, which would be in force, conditions would be remedied as far as putting the cases through police court were concerned.

Public School Inspector C. B. Edwards, when interviewed, stated that he would leave their classes in order to spend what might possibly be half a day at the police court. However, he thought that under the new act, which would be in force, conditions would be remedied as far as putting the cases through police court were concerned.

ASSESSOR THINKS PRICES PAID FOR BUILDINGS IN CITY ARE NOT GOOD GUIDE FOR THEIR ASSESSMENT

Are any of the prices being paid for business property at the present time a fair guide to proper assessment? This was the question propounded by Stephen Grant, city assessor, today.

He stated that he was not surprised that many businessmen were prepared to pay a large price for property in a new location, but he doubted whether the price paid in such an instance was a fair guide to the assessment, or the actual value of the property.

"The city is ready for an increase in assessment, but just what it is to be based on is a problem," he said. "There is no objection to the manner in which land is being assessed, but the objection is in connection with the buildings. While material and labor are at the present prices it is somewhat difficult to arrive at the actual value of a building."

Two instances. Mr. Grant points out the reported price of $35,000 which Smallman & Ingram paid for a store 24 feet wide on Richmond street, three stories high. If this price was paid what should be the assessment on a building 75 feet by 35 feet on Dundas street and the market square, five stories high, and in first-class condition? The present assessment is only in the neighborhood of $165,000.

"Forty thousand dollars is the price reported paid for the Alps Cafe at 168 Dundas street. On this basis what is the value of the Bank of Commerce, which adjoins it?"

Volunteer who fired on steamer Epiro properly punished

Rome, Oct. 5.—According to reports received by the ministry of the navy, there had been during the night of the steamer Epiro when she was entering the winding channel leading to Cattaro last week. It is expected, however, that the man who fired the shot was a Serbian volunteer from the rock of Rondoni, situated on an island in the bay, and has secured the punishment of the guilty sailor and the substitution of a Serbian guard on the channel.

ROTARIANS RELATE WHAT IS ON MINDS IN SIXTY SECONDS

Free-and-Easy But Enjoyable Luncheon.

Go-as-you-please-so-long - as - you-enjoy-yourself was the order of the day at the Rotary Club luncheon today.

There was no formal program, but President Ray Lawson called on a number of Rotarians to give a one-minute address on the subject uppermost in their mind. The suddenness with which this feature was sprung on the gathering took most of the victims so much by surprise that they had no thoughts of protest in any other position.

Rotarian Harry Greenberg, manager of Woolworth's, reported the sale of a ton and a half of salted peanuts during the past week and declared that enough peanuts had been sold to pave Dundas street from the Market lane to Wellington street.

In Select company.

Rotarian F. C. Jewell read a few of his latest poetical compositions, following which he reported the sale of the club decided to place him in competition with the advertiser's famous "Poet Bill."

Rotarian T. W. McFarland of the business conditions reported, reported the local business it could handle, but trade impossible to go after export goods. He said that there were more hands and urged the co-operation of labor and capital.

Report.

Rotarian Charles May, the secretary, presented a brief report on a meeting of the Ninth District Clubs at Bay district conference in April and at the international convention in June at Atlantic City were discussed.

A solo was sung by Rotarian Parnell Morris with Rotarian Charles Wheeler as accompanist.

BLACK BOTTLES AND BLACK EYES GREET MAGISTRATE'S VIEW

Police Court Clerk Gathers In O. T. A. Money.

Two black bottles and a black eye of the same hue greeted Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon when he ascended the police court throne this morning.

The bottles belonged to a visitor in town and the contents of the glass container so exasperated the owner that he gave a resident of Ingersoll street a black eye, which necessitated a ride in the black Maria to the police station.

SIR H. DRAYTON WILL NOT HAVE A CLEAR ROAD

Ex-Mayor Hughes Will Fight For Nomination in Kingston.

UNIONISTS DIVIDED

One Section Wants Drayton For Candidate, Another Wants Hughes.

[Special to The Advertiser.] KINGSTON, Oct. 5.—Ex-Mayor J. M. Hughes does not intend to be elected out of the nomination as a Union candidate, and refuses to go to Sir Henry Drayton in the coming by-election for House of Commons. He stated today that he had no intention of retiring. A number of prominent citizens are backing Sir Henry, but the mayor also has quite a number of prominent citizens backing him in his fight for the nomination, and an interesting time is looked for. Hon. Mr. Reid and Hon. N. W. Rowell, who were here a few days ago in great interest of Sir Henry Drayton, were notified today by ex-Mayor Hughes that he intended to stay in the running.

TWO PETITIONS.

[Special to The Advertiser.] KINGSTON, Oct. 4.—A feature of things political here today is a split in the ranks of the Union party. One section is out with a petition asking Sir Henry Drayton to stand as candidate, while another section is out with a petition asking that ex-Mayor J. M. Hughes be the standard-bearer for the Union party in the by-election for the House of Commons. The political pot, which has been simmering for several days, has now commenced to boil. For some time it was known that ex-Mayor Hughes was shaping up for political honors when the opportunity came, and it was no surprise when he announced that he was in the field.

It is understood that W. F. Nickle, the retiring member, is out very strongly in favor of Kingston's ex-mayor.

Ex-Mayor Hughes was at the Unionist caucus this week, and an effort was made to have him retire from the contest, but he declined, stating that he would be in the fight till the finish.

Three in the Field. And so the fight goes merrily on. With Ald. William Patterson, the Labor candidate, definitely in the field, this makes three candidates. Some of the old Liberal warriors would like to trot out a candidate, but they become badly disorganized during the war, and cannot secure a candidate. Ex-Mayor Hughes, although a Conservative, has quite a number of supporters among the Liberal ranks, and is generally regarded as one of the best men the city ever had as mayor. He served two terms, and is very popular. Talk to the average man on the street and he will say, "We don't want Drayton; we don't want an outsider. Give us a man from our own city."

Both the White and the Standard in their issues today have editorials in which they give strong support to the candidature of Sir Henry Drayton. It is claimed that Kingston owes great deal to Union Government, as the past few years in Kingston have witnessed such prosperity as the city has never before experienced. Union Government, they argue, was formed to carry on the war more effectively, and to deal with problems of reconstruction. This work has not been completed, and Drayton should be elected for the unexpired term of Parliament, is the contention.

SOUTH WELLINGTON LIBERALS NOMINATE SAM CARTER, M.P.P.

Will Vote "No" On All Four Referendum Questions.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—A feature of the nominations of candidates for the Provincial Legislature on Saturday was that of Sam Carter, M. P. P., at Guelph. Mr. Carter received the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of South Wellington.

Ald. Frank Howard, in seconding a resolution expressing confidence in Mr. Carter, said:

"I am glad to see that Mr. Carter is a supporter of Mr. Dewar."

"I didn't say so," said Mr. Carter. "Then I hope you will before this meeting is over."

"I will tell you," came back Mr. Carter. However, Mr. Carter did not tell what the meeting was on, but he declared himself "a real out and out prohibitionist," and stated that he would vote "no" on all four questions in the referendum.

J. W. Oakes, a former license inspector for South Wellington, who came out as a strong supporter of Mr. Dewar in a speech early in the convention, was regarded by many persons present as desiring to be nominated as a straight Liberal candidate, but he was not mentioned in this connection.

East York Conservatives renominated Hon. George S. Henry, minister of agriculture, on Saturday afternoon. Hon. Mr. Henry announced that the House Government wished the Ontario temperance act to be continued.

"The cabinet, I believe, is unit for its continuation," he said. He himself expressed the belief that the Ontario temperance act should be kept in force.

Writ Being Prepared in Connection With "Forgery" Allegation.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—A telegram was sent tonight to Hon. J. A. Calder, chairman on the committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment, as follows: "The United Veterans' League and returned soldiers in Toronto protest against an entry being on the records of the special committee of which you petition to Col. Cooper, member of Parliament, against his injustice to J. Harry Flynn, who was a forger. That petition was sent by the returned soldiers while Mr. Flynn was in Ottawa. A writ is being prepared against Col. R. C. Cooper, member of Parliament, for slander, inasmuch as he accused Mr. Flynn publicly of having forged two thousand names."

ESTIMATE LOSS THROUGH STRIKE AT £50,000,000

Cost To British Government $5,000,000 Each Day of Stoppage.

UNEMPLOYMENT PAY

335,000 Made Idle by the Walk-Out Received This Money.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Businessmen are inclined to estimate the total loss to the nation through the strike as approximately £50,000,000, according to the Daily Mail, but it will be a long time before the cost is fully determined. The bills to be paid by the Government probably will amount to £1,000,000 for each day of the strike, covering a variety of services necessitated, in addition to the unemployment pay of those made idle by the stoppage, number more than 325,000.

The loss to industry is far greater. Perishable goods in many cases were destroyed, many works stopped, operations, almost all export trade ceased, and orders were lost through the uncertainty of conditions.

STEAMER CARRYING HARD COAL REPORTED DESTROYED BY FIRE

[Special to The Advertiser.] CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 5.—According to a dispatch received by the Grain Chartering Commission today, the steamer Frank V. O'Connor has been destroyed by fire at Bailey Harbor, Wis. The O'Connor was bound from Buffalo to Milwaukee with a cargo of hard coal. It is supposed she put in at Bailey Harbor for shelter.

S. WATERLOO TORIES PICK HESPLER MAN

GAULT, Oct. 4.—South Waterloo Conservatives in convention here Saturday, unanimously chose Z. A. Hall, of Hespler, their standard bearer in the coming election. His name was the only one to go before the meeting, presided over by Homer Watson, of Doon.

Hon. Dr. Coys, minister of education, made an eloquent address. He dealt with the Government's work in developing the clay belt, advances made for moral and economic welfare of the people, the work of provincial laboratories, and finally, of his own department in improving the educational program in rural districts, and in establishing technical and industrial schools to help manufacturers produce goods to enter the world-wide competition.

BAND TOGETHER TO KEEP IVENS OUT OF SARNIA

Border Residents Form "Citizens Safety Committee"—to Take Law Into Their Own Hands.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, Oct. 5.—The alleged statement of Rev. William Ivens of Windsor strike prominence, that he will brave the storm of Sarnia citizens by coming here this week, has caused prominent residents here to form themselves into a committee known as the "Citizens' Safety Committee." They state that their duty is to prepare for his arrival.

At a meeting held Sunday it was announced that Ivens would not be allowed to speak in Sarnia if there was any possible way to keep him from doing so. Members of the citizens' committee state that they will take matters into their own hands.

Today a message was sent to the Windsor Great War Veterans' Association, asking co-operation.

PARLIAMENT NEARLY SURE TO PROROGUE FRIDAY OR SATURDAY

Re-Establishment Committee Ready To Report in a Few Days.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Apart from unexpected developments, Parliament is almost certain to prorogue on Friday or Saturday next. Business before the House of Commons can be disposed of without much trouble, but matters affecting soldiers' civil re-establishment are still before a special committee and another special committee will on Monday commence consideration of the bill providing for the reclassification of the civil service.

It is stated that the expectation of Hon. A. K. MacLean, who introduced this bill in the House, and the civil service commission, is that it will be dealt with this session. As it is considered impossible for the committee to deal with the detailed schedules of reclassification, the presumption is that it will pass the general clauses of the bill, approve the principle of classification, and leave the working out of any further modifications to the board, which, under the direction of Clarence Jamieson, one of the civil service commissioners, has been working on the revision of the classification as it was tabled in the Commons towards the end of the regular session.

The soldiers' committee is expected to complete the taking of evidence within two or three days and make a report to the House before prorogation.

SUDDENNESS OF STRIKE ENDING WAS DRAMATIC

The Terms of the Settlement Are in the Nature of a Compromise.

THOMAS LAUDS PREMIER

Secretary of Railway Union Refers to Statesmanlike Attitude.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—With dramatic suddenness in the quiet of the London Sunday afternoon, it was announced to a knot of people waiting in Downing street that the great railway strike, which appeared to have brought the country almost to the brink of revolution, was settled, and that the strikers would resume work as quickly as possible.

The terms of the settlement are in the nature of a compromise. The National Union of Railwaymen agrees to the call off the strike, and the Government consents to a renewal of the negotiations, the continuance of the existing wage scale for another year, instead of six months, as previously offered, and the establishment of a minimum wage of £1 a shilling above the cost of living is 110 per cent above the pre-war level.

The settlement was the result of a long conference today between a trades union delegation, including representatives of the railwaymen's union, and Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law in the famous conference room in Downing street. Prior to this there was a cabinet meeting.

Where Credit Belongs. It is conceded on all sides that the settlement is the outcome of the moderate but determined efforts of the executive of the transport workers' federation and men like Arthur Henderson and John Robert Clynes, who throughout have seen their faces steadily against the idea of a sympathetic strike until every possible avenue of mediation had been explored.

James Henry Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, had a tremendous ovation tonight when he appeared to address some five thousand men at Albert Hall. It was an impressive moment, when, after the hurricane of cheering subsided, the audience rose and sang "Abide With Me."

Secretary Thomas, in the course of his speech, paid a warm tribute to the "great and worthy part" the premier had played in assisting them to reach what Mr. Thomas would not proclaim as victory, but an honorable settlement. It was the premier who had invited the delegation to see him today and there had been no question whatever of asking the men to surrender.

Example to World. Secretary Thomas claimed that this had been the greatest feat of organized workers in history and that it had been conducted solidly, loyally, peaceably and orderly and in this, he believed, the railwaymen had given an example to the world.

Rumors were current tonight that Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, had resigned, but according to an authorized statement the rumors were unfounded. The conference of trade unions called for Tuesday and other arrangements contingent upon the continuance of the strike have been abandoned, but it is stated that the organization for the formation of citizen guards will not be interfered with.

The conference in Downing street was a friendly affair. All seemed to anticipate a settlement and after Premier Lloyd George had explained the new terms he left the delegates to discuss them. When the luncheon hour arrived, the premier suggested that all stay instead of separating. A raid was made on the Downing street commissariat, and, finding it equal to the needs of the large party, a jovial meal followed, the premier's secretaries carrying the joint and assisting in carrying it, while jokes flew around the table.

Conference Resumed. The conference was then resumed, and at its conclusion, Secretary Thomas rose, and, addressing the premier, said he could not allow the momentous meeting to close without expressing the appreciation of the delegates at the statesmanlike way the premier and Mr. Bonar Law had conducted the negotiations and their patient consideration.

The prime minister acknowledged the compliment in a genial speech, admitting that the delegates had met all arguments in an open minded and conciliatory manner. He expressed the hope that all labor organizations would approach questions concerning their welfare in the same spirit; they would then enter upon a new era of industrial peace and prosperity.

HEARST HANDING TAFFY TO BECK, DERIDES U. F. O.

SARNIA, Oct. 5.—Premier Sir William Hearst Saturday night in the Sarnia city hall addressed the West Lambton Conservative on behalf of Peter Gardiner, the candidate for this riding.

Sir William said that "the United Farmers hold up their hands in holy horror, stating that we have plunged the country into debt, but," said Sir William, "these debts can be turned into revenue any time."

In reference to the hydro commission, he stated that the able chairman, Sir Adam Beck, the commission and Sir Adam were such that the debt of the province should be more cause for worry.

CALDER CHOICE OF LIBERALS IN NORTH OXFORD

[Special to The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, Oct. 6.—John R. Calder of East Niasouri was unanimously chosen as Liberal standard-bearer to contest North Oxford in the coming provincial elections at the mass meeting held by the Liberals Saturday. Mr. Calder was the only name brought before the meeting. The city hall was comfortably filled with delegates from all parts of the riding, and not a few ladies were present.

The convention was attended by many farmers, not a few of whom are prominent in U. F. O. circles, and the consensus of opinion was that Mr. Calder would be backed up strongly by the farmers of the riding. Referring to the attitude of the executive of the North Oxford Farmers' Clubs in promoting their support to John Scott, the Labor candidate, Mr. Calder said that he knew of no good reason why he should be side-tracked now. When the seat was made vacant on the occasion of the resignation of Hon. N. W. Rowell he had been endorsed by the U. F. O., and a year ago he had again met with them at a meeting in Hickson and had given them his word that he would support any measures coming before the House for the good of agriculture. J. C. Elliott of East Niasouri also addressed the meeting.

BOOZE'S GANDER-SONG.

Two weeks from today the electors of Ontario are going to bury the liquor faction out of sight, let us hope for good. It may be a pity perhaps, in a way, that some of the spice and humor of life may go out with the booze, and some of the art of life with rare old wines and their bouquet. But moral advance and the economic needs of the whole world are ringing the knell of alcoholic drink; you can hear the death-bells tolling everywhere, except where they have gone tolling and the corpse is already laid away.

It will not be a lugubrious funeral on the whole. There will be cries of a distracted minority, wailing ichabod for their liberty lost, liberty encased in a quart bottle. They will never be free any more, unfortunately. The great majority will rather make merry over the remains and the mourners. It will be quite a jolly wake, in which the victor participants will have brains enough to see the fun of the situation without the stimulant craved by liberty leaguers.

The slogan of "personal liberty" is not an argument, but the death song of a gander. It can hardly be that this cry was intended to convince or persuade any one but a hopeless thrall of alcohol; it simply is to rally in a beautiful last chorus all the faithful on the old sinking ship. Is it not a comic irony that the thralls go down singing so gamely a song of liberty? And yet their occasional "reasonings" are not consistent with this song. They object sometimes to the O. T. A. that it raises up illicit stills and all sorts of unauthorized traffic. So, then, they draw back in a moral flurry from the shocking presence or possibility of unlicensed freedom. "Me this unchartered freedom tires," or frightens, they would say with the poet; they want to be curbed by a state regulation after all, what they want is not liberty, but a permit! They reprobate, most puritanly, the sin of uncontrolled rum and its wild liberty. Some sort of tame liberty, shut up in a cage, is all they ask. What could be more modest and yet more inconsistent with the gander's death-song of "personal liberty?"

And again, they are apprehensive of a general resort to drugs and dopes, when liquor is withheld. Robbed of their drink they won't be able to restrain themselves from other vices, these freemen. But why don't they protest against the restrictions on opium and cocaine? Perhaps their crowning inconsistency is the whimpering appeal made by a large number of them for just beer and wine. "We won't ask for whiskey, but for old sakes' sake let us have our beer or wine, have a heart," they wheedle. "Whiskey is all wrong and must be suppressed, but we must have our liberty for beer and wine at least." The concession respecting whiskey wrecks their whole plea for "personal liberty" at all in the matter of intoxicating drink. Many of the personal liberty clan would themselves prohibit whiskey, brandy, vermouth, rak, rum, etc., and then haggle over beer and wine!

The grand outstanding fact in this controversy is that the world has enough to do at present to feed and clothe everybody, without besotting itself with foolish drink, wasting substance, money, time, happiness and everything on drink. There is no question of "holy willies," as some impatient person called the prohibitionists. The liberty-whiners are a laughing-stock and an anachronism. Canada cannot afford to be fool-ridden.

FROM CHATHAM TO HARPER'S FERRY.
The Canadian end of the famous John Brown raid on Harper's Ferry, Va., in October, 1859, is related in an article from the pen of City Librarian Fred Landon, appearing in the current number of the Canadian Magazine. The Harper's Ferry incident was, in many respects, the most dramatic incident in the slavery struggle prior to the Civil War, and it will be new to most readers to learn that this event had its beginnings in the Canadian city of Chatham, which at that time was the centre of the negro refugee settlements in Western Ontario. Brown called a meeting of his followers at Chatham in May, 1858, and there laid out a plan of action. Until a few years ago the building in which they met was still standing, and it is quite possible that there may yet remain in Chatham someone who participated in that famous gathering.

It was Brown's idea that the only way to fight slavery was by "direct action." His idea was to take a small body of trusty followers into the mountains of Virginia, and from some rocky fastness to run off slaves until he had made the business of owning or dealing in slaves so unprofitable that it would have to cease. He had hoped to strike the first blow within two weeks after the Chatham meeting, but unexpected difficulties presented themselves and it was more than a year before he could carry out his plans. On the night of October 16, the little band raided the town of Harper's Ferry, seized the arsenal, barricaded themselves in an old fire-engine house and prepared to fight. The outcome of such a venture was never in doubt. Within a day they were besieged by U. S. regulars under command of Col. R. E. Lee (afterwards the Confederate leader in the Civil War), and after a short struggle Brown was wounded and captured.

two of his sons killed and the rest of the party dead, wounded or in flight.

Opinion will always be divided over Brown's course. In the slavery area he was denounced as a murderer, but Emerson and Thoreau in America and Victor Hugo in France vied in tributes. Perhaps the best thing that has been said is the statement of Governor John A. Andrew that "John Brown himself was right." Virginia gave him a fair trial and condemned him to die. The few weeks spent in prison glorify Brown more than all the rest of his life, for even his enemies admitted his moral grandeur. Less than two years after he had mounted the scaffold the men of the north went out to battle singing.

John Brown's body lies a' mouldering in the grave.

But his soul goes marching on.

A TARRY-AT-HOME TRAVEL.

Anyone who walks about much even within the bounds of London must often be surprised at the beauties that appear in the most unexpected places, and where man's art has not been exercised. Those who enjoy the privileges that possession of an automobile confer do not need to be told that within ten miles of London may be found scenery as beautiful, particularly at this time of the year, as can be found in Ontario. But even within the city there come such unexpected glimpses of trees, water and sky in combination as would make an artist enthuse.

There are times when with the right combination of sky and sunlight the view down Horton street from west of Talbot is most striking. The hydro station and the gas house stand between, but over the river the high banks that fall away from Wortley road are a mass of green, soon to be turned to autumn gold. We wonder if the parks commission has ever really appreciated the possibilities of the flats as a playground for London. The high banks that rise to west and south furnish a natural setting that money could not provide.

Some years ago, when the present King visited London as Prince of Wales, a skilled decorator was employed to beautify the royal guests' route. The committee in charge went with him from street to street, arranging what should be done. At the entrance to Victoria Park one of the committee asked: "What shall we do here?" The prompt answer was: "We'll do nothing here. Nature has done all that is necessary." After all, the real beauty spots of London are those that are least adorned by man. Such vistas as come in the view over the north branch from St. James or Grosvenor streets, or the view of the Coves from the end of Erie avenue, or of the old clay banks beloved of "swimmin' days," or the view from Mount Pleasant hill, these are but typical of the beauty that may be found without going beyond one's daily route. Perhaps we need nothing more than to learn to observe what is all about us to see such wonderful beauty as we sometimes go far to find.

ENGLAND'S TITLED STRIKE-BREAKERS.

If there is one thing more than another that is calculated to stir up an evil class spirit in the railwaymen's strike in Great Britain it is the spectacle of earls and lords and the idle dandies of London society acting as strike-breakers. Those who originate the cable dispatches prepared for consumption in this country must have a strangely distorted idea of public opinion in either Canada or the United States if they imagine for one minute that they are aiding the Government or combatting the strike by describing how Lord This and Lord That are to be found at Paddington station as railway employees. No one is likely to be deceived by camouflage of that sort. The titled porters are there because they see in the possible success of the strike one more step in the direction of ending conditions which in the past have been so advantageous for their class.

Lord Portarlington is one of the latest recruits to the strike-breakers. This gentleman happens to be the owner of 20,000 acres of land in England. The Duke of Wellington is another; he also owns 20,000 acres, two city houses and a large country place. Nothing wrong in that, of course, save the question as to whether he is quite in a position to appreciate what are the grievances that men complain of, who say that they are unable to live on the wages that are paid them. Landowners in Great Britain still possess great economic privileges, for, despite Lloyd George's budgets they still pay less on their estates than is their just due. Prior to the budget of 1909, the unoccupied parts of these estates—game preserves, parks, lawns, gardens—entirely escaped taxation. In a speech defending his budget of 1909 Lloyd George instanced the case of a tailor in Cardiff, Wales, who owned 800 square yards of land, and was assessed £947, while his neighbor, the Marquis of Bute, who owned half a million square yards, was assessed only £921. It is not without reason that Britain used to be called the "land-lord's paradise."

Social unrest in Britain is more easily understood when it is remembered that according to the most authoritative writers, three per cent of the population is classified as rich, nine per cent as comfortable and eighty-eight per cent as poor. In London as much as thirty per cent of the inhabitants are close to starvation all the time and this poverty descends from generation to generation. In 1909 Lloyd George asked these questions: "Who ordained that a few should have the land of Great Britain as a perquisite? Who made ten thousand people owners of the soil and the rest of us trespassers in the land of our birth?" Perhaps it is not out of place to recall that the budget of 1909, which aimed to abolish privileges, was thrown out in the Lords by the same gentlemen who are now strike-breakers. At that time one-tenth of all the land in Great Britain was the property of twenty-seven dukes. This same issue has come to the front in connection with the coal inquiry. The coal resources of Great Britain are largely in the hands of a few dukes and lords, whose title to the property is, to say the least, questionable. Whether public resources should serve only to profit a few men when their ancestors, hundreds of years ago, secured control by dishonesty or by force, is a very proper question to consider, as the coal commission thought.

Booze boo-hoo's.

From Here and There

EVIDENCE.

[Edinburgh Scotsman.]

"Ella's new photo must be a jolly good likeness." "Why?" "She's had it two days, and hasn't shown it to anyone."

ROOSTING BUCKS.

[Kansas City Star.]

As almost everybody in politics knows, bucks that have been passed come home to roost.

AUTUMN.

[Rosier Johnson.]

What sudden horror leads the falling year? Like an old man, whose honors come too late. Yet walks with regal step and brow sedate The purple pathway to his gilded bier. Sharp-tongued is fate to utter words austere With her keen glance upon the dial plate— Where neither bribe of love nor force of hate Can stop the shadow in its swift career— Catches the hour the mortal must not pass. So long as sorrow and distress endure, How calmly she denies our prayers, alas! Patience should be where all things are secure— But grimly she delights to turn the glass Just when the sands run brightest and most pure.

GREY OF FALLODEN.

Viscount Grey will always be Sir Edward Grey to the most of us. He comes to us, indeed he must be always to us, a special ambassador of Great Britain to the United States. What other man could have his special titles to our admiration and esteem? Technically he is to be described as a great English aristocratic radical, in the best sense a democratic politician of the type, with a difference, that Mr. Roosevelt illustrated in America. That is, he combines with an ancient cultivation, and a knowledge of the best that has been said and thought in the world, a full appreciation of the needs of the people, of the modification of old institutions, of the adaptation, with no absolute break of the continuous tradition of the generations of men who represent the secular thought and action of a community, of new conditions, varieties, and needs of the living organism which each generation is.

For eleven years of the most perilous and fruitful life of the world, Sir Edward was British secretary of state for foreign affairs. How hard he worked for peace and a practical arrangement of international brutalities; what concessions he vainly made to a Germany which was bent on domination and despised concessions and substantial action; how too small for her implacable desires; with what zeal, firmness and idealism he strove for peace against a Germany furious for war; what mistakes, if mistakes they were, he was willing to take on his own head in the Balkans and Asia Minor, the world knows. He labored hopelessly in a generous spirit. He could not compass, it is to his honor that he never could understand—as who of us could understand—the calculated economic and military ferocity of Germany.

There is not a concession of his that doesn't honor him. There is not a weakness of his, if he was ever weak diplomatically, that doesn't endear him to the American people. He loved peace. He was willing to give, he gave much, to peace. He was a gentleman, a man of honor, dealing with ruffians. Some things about Viscount Grey are perhaps not incapable of kindly and sympathetic mention among the people to whom he comes with every honorable recommendation and every title to sympathy. Of his great private grief, Sir Henry John Newbolt has written words worthy of the Greek Anthology, of Ben Jonson's lines on the Countess of Bedford. Of "the partial failure of my sight," of which he speaks with so much brave constraint, the famous words of Milton, familiar to him as all great literatures are, speak the necessary and discreet sympathy which all men feel. Of friendship between the two nations he speaks with the moderation, the "not too much," that was to be expected.

GERMAN PRISONERS.

[English Paper.]

The Petit Journal points out that the Allies have made this concession to Great Britain, even more than to Germany. "British public opinion," it says, "has indeed been keenly worked upon by Germany and certain neutrals, in the direction of setting the prisoner question as soon as possible. Furthermore, it should be remarked that the maintenance of the Germans captured by the British is costing the British Government a lot, and that at a time when the biggest London papers are carrying on a blazing campaign in favor of every practicable form of economy. It is in France, let us not forget it, that the prisoners made by the British are working. In fine, reasons of expediency must be added to those of humanity, and this decision has been arrived at principally owing to British indignation. In any case, the decision will cut short the Pan-German campaign."

When the armistice was signed there were in the hands of the Allies some 750,000 prisoners of war, of whom the majority were in France. Between then and May 1 there were repatriated from this country 7,225, and Mr. Churchill stated in the Commons that of the 96,000 German and Austrian military prisoners of war then detained in Great Britain 46,500 were engaged in agriculture, forestry, cement production and quarrying. By May 22, 23,072 civil prisoners had been repatriated, and by the beginning of July the number of prisoners of war employed in this country was reduced to 31,335. At the end of that month the total number still here was 31,818, including 2,308 sailors and 4,306 civilians.

ELIMINATE THE RAT.

[H. Addington Bruce.]

If your home or your place of business is infested with rats, make it a point to get rid of them. Don't look upon them as inevitable nuisances which must be endured.

They are more than nuisances—they are pests, and extremely costly and dangerous pests. Moreover, they are unnecessary, not inevitable.

You can eliminate them if only you will act about it in earnest. It is a rat to be exterminated, you owe it to society. Read and reflect upon this startling statement of fact, issued by the United States public health service:

"By means of trapping percentages covering a period of a year, it has been determined that the rodent population in several American cities is slightly in excess of the human population."

In the rural districts of the United States the number of rats on any farm or plantation will usually average three or four times the number of people on the estate, and in the grain or cane-producing areas the proportion will be multiplied. "It has been determined that the rat will consume fifty pounds of grain in a year, and will damage considerably more. An Iowa farmer, writing to an agricultural journal, reported that rats had destroyed in one winter about 500 hundred bushels of corn stored in cribs, or one-fourth of his entire crop."

"Another farmer reported that rats had robbed him of an entire summer's hatching of three or four hundred chicks. And still another estimated his loss in grain and poultry for one season, due to rats, as sufficient to pay his taxes for three years."

A Washington merchant has reported to the effect that rats gnawed a hole in a tub containing one hundred dozen eggs, and within a period of two weeks carried away seventy-one dozen, without leaving either shell or stain.

"Computing the upkeep of the rat as one-half cent per day, and estimating one rat to each person, the sum of $180,000,000 per year is lost to the country by the depredations of this pest."

Here, assuredly, is a factor that counts in the cost of living. In our crusade for lower prices, collective warfare on the rat ought to be declared without a day's delay.

Health considerations also urge warfare on the rat.

Disease germs, sometimes of the deadliest sort, are known to be carried from place to place by rats, who are famous travelers. The official publication from which I have quoted informs us:

"Rats are not infrequently found in freight cars, and practically nearly every ship that enters a port brings a large number of rats, unless artificial means have been carried out for destroying these undesirable stowaways. The number of rats taken from ships by fumigation and trapping has in frequent occasions amounted to several hundred."

Thus every rat slain means a saving in health and in money. Nor do rats, so far as can be seen, serve any useful purpose whatever.

Give battle to them relentlessly. Especially endeavor to deprive them of means of sustenance. Rat-proof all pantries and storerooms. Indeed, so far as it is possible, rat-proof your entire home, store, office or factory.

If so troubled by rats as to be in doubt how best to proceed against them, write to the office of the surgeon-general of the United States public health service at Washington. State your specific problem and ask for advice in solving it.

MOUNT BRYDGES FAIR SMASHES ALL RECORDS.

MOUNT BRYDGES, Oct. 3.—All records for attendance were broken at the Mount Brydges fair here today, when upwards of 4,000 people were on the grounds. A large school fair, held in connection, was a big success.

A baby show was a feature. Bessie May Brodie was first, Norman Stuart

Curtis second, and Norman Gilbert Vail third. In the ladies' driving contest, Mrs. Harry Auld of Delaware took first prize, and Miss Maud Rolson of Komoka second.

"Stands Strenuous Wear"

WHEN finer wool can be secured; when better spinning and knitting processes are devised, it may be possible to excel the quality in these wonderful children's stockings.

But it is not possible to-day.

"Little Darling" for infants, and "Little Daisy" for children up to 12 years, are the best that can be made—a bold claim, but one that thousands of women will grant. Your own judgment will affirm it.

Only fine Australian lamb's wool is ever used to make these soft stockings. If mothers have ever found it hard to procure "Little Darling" or "Little Daisy" hosiery, there was a good reason. Whenever there was a shortage of the proper wool, we had to make fewer of these wonderful stockings. No substitute has ever replaced that wonderful wool.

LITTLE DARLING HOSIERY—for babies and tiny tots up to seven—has silken toe and heel.

LITTLE DAISY HOSIERY—for children up to twelve—has extra strength in heel and toe.

Many dainty shades and black.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J.—"For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pains, backache or dizzy spells. Every one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish, for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills."—Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 524 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

Do You Look As Young As You Feel?

MAYBE because you feel fine you fail to notice as others do the little lines stealthily forming in your face. Take care of your skin now. Just try this simple formula—

"A little CREME ELCAYA rubbed gently into the skin then if you need color, a very little Elcaya spread carefully over the cheeks before the cream is quite dry and after that the film of face powder over all."

A REAL PLAYHOUSE BUILT BY LONDON KIDDIES.

Not very far from the business section of the city there lives a very busy mother with a thousand daily duties to claim her thoughts and patience, but in her backyard there has recently been built a complete little playhouse by three tremendously interested kiddies. There is a window with real curtains, a cleverly built porch entrance, and a very evenly shingled roof and what fun it is being played in! At present it is being played in on a few evenings ago. She is a patient, busy little girl who is kept running errands and doing chores when she isn't at school or taking care of a fretting, spoiled little brother. The playhouse kiddies called "Come on over and see our playhouse." "Duty before pleasure" seems to be the enforced motto in the little house, because she replied, "I got to do my homework!" The woman looking on from a nearby upstairs window called "It wouldn't take long, dear. Ask your mother." This encouraged the little girl with the prematurely old and anxious face secured the mother's permission and hand in hand with the playhouse, perfect rapture on the two little faces. They walked into the little house with such an air of "This is indeed a rare privilege, it saves the woman at the window a bit of heart-ache. Don't forget, busy mothers, what it used to feel like to be able to play, to build something of your very own, to find sympathy from older people when you wanted to do things that were a bother. Childhood is so brief, so beautiful and so wonderful.

EXPLAINING LOWER PRICES AT TORONTO MARKET.

"Why are London market prices so high, as compared with Toronto market prices?" asked an exasperated shopper on Saturday morning. "I always understood that London was the centre of a great agricultural district, and that quantities of fruit and vegetables should be cast upon our market. What then is the reason of the exorbitant prices here, when Toronto can sell for much less?"

"The man 'who is supposed to know' was standing near and undertook to answer the question. "Madam," he said, "it is true that for a very great many products the price is being held up here scandalously. But I want to answer that Toronto-London question for you. Do you forget that although Toronto may not be situated in as fine an agricultural district as your own city, the fact remains that there are boats constantly arriving from London."

ing there filled with produce from the great Niagara district and other districts round about? And that the market is so large that prices go down in consequence? Buyers from your own London districts are on hand even down there, and by the time they have paid freight expenses from Toronto to London, the cost of the article to be sold here, will have gone up considerably, and yet even at that, these out-of-the-market goods, as a check on the prices of the local market.

"Take consolation from this fact, however, there is one thing cheaper here, and that is potatoes."

What the London market really needs is many more producers, settled close about the city, doing intensive farming, so that the market will more than meet the demand, without immediately added freight charges. Then the prices will come down, and not until then.

SUMMER DRESSES AIRED AGAIN.

The last few days were just as if summer had come back again, and one season's suits and hats back into their boxes, while summer gowns appeared on the city's streets.

Purs? The very thought of them was overpowering, and any unfortunate who chanced to venture out, wrapped about her neck, went home, carrying the unwelcome idea upon her arm.

The chief resort was the ice cream parlor, where hot chocolate and tea gave way before an increased demand for water ice and orangeade. Women who had been planning a winter in the south, shuddered at the thought and almost changed their minds.

And all this in the month of October. It's almost unbelievable. Certainly in a few weeks when everyone is wrapped up to the chin in fur, and somebody comes home with a frozen nose, such weather could ever have happened will seem an impossibility.

INFLAMED GUMS—THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And, spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth-base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All Druggists.

"Hillcrest," Erin, Ont., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Jessie T. Kirkwood, to Mr. Frank E. Walker, manager Union Bank of Canada, Hagersville, Ont. The marriage will take place the latter part of October.

An enjoyable party was given last Thursday evening by the Misses Nettie Burman and Ethel Packer at the residence of Miss Towell, Mattland street. The event was in honor of Mr. B. Clarke and Mr. B. Harding, two London boys who have recently returned from overseas. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

OGDEN—CURRIE.

A marriage of interest to many in this district, place last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Currie of East Wawanosh, when their eldest daughter Laura, Mabel became the bride of Mr. William Ogden, of Whalen. The Rev. E. F. Armstrong of Wingham officiated.

The bride entered the parlor, leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Annie Currie, sister of the bride. During the ceremony of the register Miss Edna McNeil sang "To-day." After a short wedding trip, the young couple will reside in Whalen.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

It's Everybody's Business.

Dear Miss Grey,—Was very much pleased with the letter written by Temperance, and I only wished there were more women like her in this world. I trust and hope her boys will grow up and be a blessing to the world, and I'm sure they will if they receive their mother's views as regards the liquor traffic.

Would just like to say that the cursed liquor ruined my childhood home, taking as its victim my father, who before he became a drunkard was one of the best of fathers and providers. My mother died of a broken heart while she was still in her prime, and my brothers and sisters, myself included, were left to shift for themselves, and I'm sure we children had just as much right to a happy home as any children.

Now is the chance for the slackers to see that there are no drunkards wrecked the same as ours was. No doubt some will say it is none of their business that such things happen, but I want to tell you right here that it is their business. Those who vote for this liquor to be sold in this country are just as much responsible for the drunkards it makes as the drunkards themselves.

Another thing, the United States is dry, and do we want this fair Canada of ours to be behind the times, and be a dumping hole for all the drunks and ruffians from the other side? This will certainly be the case if the Canadians do not vote "No" four times on their ballot when the time comes to vote. Let us all wake up and see how many slackers we can get interested before it is too late.

A ST. THOMAS MOTHER.

Ans.—I am glad to hear the views expressed above by this mother who has indeed suffered much. Perhaps her point as to Canada becoming a dumping ground for undesirable, should liquor resume away from this safe thought of. But it is surely one of the things to take into serious consideration. We hear and read a great deal about making our country a safe for democracy," but to the average woman a country "safe for home—and for boys and girls"—is a slogan with much deeper meaning. Perhaps your vote and mine on referendum day will materially help in tipping the scale the right way.

Related to Puss.

Dear Miss Grey,—Noticed in your column that "Summer School Girl" would like to hear from some one about her own age, so I therefore apply as correspondent.

I was very much interested in your letter, S. S. S., and quite agree with you in regard to country life, as I too, am from the same sphere of life.

Sad to relate, I have never attended a summer school. Seem to have been too busy engaged in other duties, but hope to have the pleasure some time. Will leave my address with Miss Grey, and hope you will write soon to me.

BOOTS

Ans.—Any relation to "Puss in Boots," I wonder? Anyhow we'll gladly forward any letter that Summer School Girl may send in for you.

Please Let Us Know.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw that one of the pagettes would like to have the lemon pie recipe that was "a peach." As I saved the clipping, I will send it: Three-quarters cup white sugar, yolks of 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon of butter, 1 heaping tablespoon of cornstarch, 1 good big lemon (the sure and grate all the yellow rind, but not any white, as it is bitter), 3 cups boiling water, pinch of salt. Use whites of eggs for top. Just before they are stiff (when half done say), add 2 teaspoons of cold water; you'll seem to have almost twice as much. Add about 1 teaspoon white sugar, put in oven and brown.

Do any of the readers know what will brighten up linoleum after it is washed? I varnish it every little while, but it is dark linoleum, and after it is washed a few times it gets to look so dingy; thought perhaps there was some kind of oil.

LASSIE.

Ans.—I hope someone who is clever at keeping her linoleum bright will tell Lassie how it should be treated. Much obliged for the recipe, Lassie.

Ring Blanks Sox in Third Red Victory

Cioetto Again Goes Down To Defeat in Second Try—Reds Takes Advantage of Errors, While Ring Holds Sox Away From Getting to Third.

COMISKY PARK, Chicago, Oct. 4.—No alibi can be advanced nor would one be accepted for the defeat, the third on four games, inflicted on the White Sox by the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon.

Measured by results tonight, the American League has no claim to prestige and the older organization is entitled to all the glory of its sterling victory, won on merit, staunch supporters of the White Sox did not believe existed. And while the baseball world sings the praises of the Redlegs let it not forget Jimmy Ring, hero of a performance as great as that of Little Dick Kerr on Friday.

This afternoon, before the largest gathering that has collected for the series to date, Smiling Jimmy held the powerful White Sox machine in the hollow of his hand and turned in a 2 to 0 victory for Cincinnati, giving Chicago its first shut-out of the series.

No veteran ever performed better than did Ring, who, never faltered for a moment, fought every thrust of his formidable foe to gain a verdict and who has been written in the pages of baseball history to remain until they are yellow with age.

Just three hits, one of them which entered the record when a ball took a freakish hop out of Kopp's reach at shortstop, was the limit of liberties taken with Ring's delivery. Under the conditions that existed all Jimmy required to turn his performance into victory was a single run. But his mates scored two, and for the second time clinched over Cioetto's conceded pitching ace, Eddie Cicotte.

Again was the Frenchman from Delray unfortunate, in that this time he was fated to oppose a rival who could not be scored upon. When Eddie appeared in the opening game he was slaughtered almost beyond recognition and compelled to flee in the face of a terrific fire. There was no such vengeance expressed in the Reds' attack today. Even so, Eddie failed just the same because his own work, qualified to win nine games in a row, could not compare with that of his brilliant, confident rival on the rubber.

Reds Fought Hard. Cincinnati was far from depressed by the turn events took on Friday. Collectively, the Reds fought as they did in each of the three preceding contests and conveyed the impression that they were what should be done to justify the faith they have in themselves and that which has been shown by the loyal fans from across the Rhine.

Some might argue that, had Cicotte handled Duncan's effort in the fifth cleanly, the Reds would have won the night without reaching a decision, but the Reds cannot be blamed for misplays of the enemy. When Kopp, who threw the Red right fielder's roller against the stand in his haste to retire Pat, opened the way for the first run, and later the pitcher stumbled against bad luck on his attempt to intercept Joe Jackson's throw from left on Kopp's single.

Kopp's blow scored Duncan from second base, whether Pat had ambled when Cicotte made his wild throw. There was an excellent chance for Jackson to nail Duncan going to the plate, but Cicotte elected to block the heave. There Eddie's judgment proved bad. Had he let the ball go by, Duncan would have been a dead bird at home, but Cicotte threw up his hand just enough to make the agile carom off and roll away.

Neale Clinched It. Duncan scored standing up, and Kopp didn't stop running until he reached second. Before Cicotte could collect himself or shake off the staggers that seemed to grip him, Earle Neale thumped a double to left, scoring Kopp, and the game was clinched for the Reds.

All the action was centered in that one inning. Prior to that period and for the remainder of the game the Reds were almost as helpless before Cicotte as the Sox were in the attack against Ring. Only one of the National leaguers reached first base in the last four runs, with Kopp on a single to center in the eighth.

GLOVER AGAIN HIGH GUN AT SPRINGWOOD SHOOT

Noses Fred Kerr Out by One—Leads Also in Competition, Which Closes With Two More Shoots.

The Springwood Gun Club weekly shoot was well attended on Saturday. The weather conditions were favorable and good scores were the rule. The regular program consisted of four events, two or fifteen birds and two at ten.

The competition for the cut glass prize was continued, and the members were very much interested therein. A special event will finish this event, and on the event, including Saturday's scores, Glover is high gun with 190 out of 200. Barnard, who is shooting remarkably well, is second with 188.

Next Saturday a very special program is promised the members, provided the expected arrangements are completed, and a full attendance is desired. There is no finer shooting ground in Canada than the Springwood Club, nor any better outdoor sport obtainable, and to those who know how to use a gun no finer way of spending an afternoon than trap-shooting. New members are made welcome at the club, and are urged to participate. No expense shells and birds, which is not very much.

"Dusted Targets." F. Kerr drove in from Crediton for the shoot. Fred always likes to shoot here, and is hard to beat. He thinks the Springwood grounds are about perfect.

Cookburn of Toronto was a welcome visitor. Anderson is improving. He is going to make a good trap-shoot. Parker got into the match, and after a three-year lay-off, but did remarkably well—23 out of 25.

Burke seems to have lost his eye. The scores are not what they used to be—too much experimenting. McCauley is back from "the wild and woolly," and his voice is strong as usual.

Rolls brought another gun; must be going to start a store. Brunner was out, but did not shoot. Just "waiting for a call."

RAIN YESTERDAY GAVE BRUISED SOX HURLERS MUCH-NEEDED REST

Williams Will Make Comeback Attempt Today, Opposing "Hod" Eller, Moran's Choice.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Rain fell heavily today and soaked Comiskey Park to such an extent that it was impossible to play the fifth game of the world's series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox.

The sun came out in the afternoon, and the game will be played here tomorrow, unless there is a further deluge.

The postponement was of no advantage to the visitors, as Manager Moran planned to pitch "Hod" Eller, who has not yet had his inning in the box, but to the bruised Sox, who have lost three and won one of the games played so far, it was a boon, because it gave Claude Williams, who was beaten at Cincinnati last Thursday, another day of rest, and Manager Gleason intended to send him into the box today.

The attendance for the four games was 123,690, and the total receipts, $334,290. Of the receipts the players got $207,516.60; the clubs, $133,244.36, and the national commission $3,429.04.

The diamond was covered with rain, and the field was in excellent condition tomorrow if there was no more rain.

GALT LOSES FIRST RUGBY GAME TO GUELPH 11-6

GALT, Oct. 4.—The opening game of the Intercollegiate Rugby League was played Saturday afternoon before a large crowd, the Guelph Collegiate defeated the local team by 11 to 6. The game was fast and Guelph won it with the speed of the half line. Pequegnat, a Smith being the stars. The umpire's decision on the hand pass was disputed. The locals weakened in the second quarter and the visitors scored 11 of their points and entered the last period with the score 11 to 1. In the last two minutes of play Galt broke through for a try.

London Rowing Club sent two links over to the Elmwoods grounds Saturday afternoon for the Minter Cup, and after close games, were one up, and took the trophy back by a score of 11 to 6. The Elmwoods were very successful in their efforts to win the trophy for weeks past, and it looked as if they would keep it in their own hands for the winter. The score follows:

INGERSOLL, Oct. 5.—An interesting game of basketball was played on Saturday afternoon between the girls of the Ingersoll Collegiate Institute and Tillsonburg High School. Locals Win Opening Clash With Sarnia Outfit, 11-4

First Session Shows Locals Have Material For Winner — Both Teams Showed Early Season Lack of Training and Sureness.

London won its first O. R. F. U. fixture from the Sarnia Imperials on Saturday afternoon with a score of 11 to 4 over in Tecumseh Park in weather that made a really large turnout of gridiron enthusiasts wish that cool days were being served up as well as rugby. Because Mel Brock and "Tiny" Sage had to act as officials instead of Peat and Leckie of Petrolia, who were officially named, but failed to report, some of the Sarnia outfit voiced verbal notices of protest, but whether official action by the border club will be taken remains to be seen.

Both teams showed lack of practice and sureness during the pastime, but, despite this fact, both delivered a good brand of the sport, and the London fans that were needed to show the London fans that they have a team worth backing right from now. Sarnia's attack was the team that just what might have been expected of them, and the new men showed up better than they were looked for.

The line holding wasn't good. The backs and the two or three veterans who were always able to find holes and Henderson, who was doing the kicking for the locals, suffered particularly from this drawback towards the last of the session. Clinger and Fisher, alone a lot of the time, and Veld, the big outside wing, got away with some good tackling.

The Sarnia forgot their alibi of a pick-up team when they got on the field, and warned it. Some of their kicking was on the fumble, and circles looked as good to them as straight during some of the game, but for all that, they have a team that will be right on the lot before the district honors are decided.

First Quarter. Sarnia's management had a blocked back in London's 25-yard line, where the line held, and long kicks, took the game away from the visitors. Copeland almost away on a run. Copeland's down on Sarnia's first point the next play. Rowland kicked for the first time, and the Sarnia's first point was a drop kick right at the start of the first quarter, but kicked out. Play was all London on two backs that were held until Clinger intercepted Copeland's line and went around for the first touch. London failed to convert. In quick succession Sarnia scored three points in the first quarter. Sarnia's Cole down on Henderson and Cameron's safety touch. Jeff Garvey was away for a try, but was tackled and a few minutes later tackled Rowland as he was started on what would be a long kick up the field. Rowland was out with a badly wrenched knee and was replaced by Arlington just as the half-time whistle blew.

Last Half. Arlington started the second period with one of the nicest ever seen on the local grid, and before things got cleared away, Ferguson was over for London's second try. It wasn't converted—not by miles. The play was down behind London's 25-yard line, when Duffield took his way out over the mix-up for yards of more territory. Just here, Johnston went out of the game, and long kicks up the field made up the rest of the third quarter.

The London ran the ball out after Henderson had fumbled a bad one at the goal-line. Smith, the Sarnia captain, was trying to talk and play at the same time just here, and Brock had two or three arguments on his hands, while Cole tried with a 30-yard run. Arlington followed up a long kick to Sarnia's 25-yard line with a couple ofumbles, one of which he kicked out. With a few minutes to play, Henderson had half of it to decide whether he would kick or hold the way out, and was tackled on his own 10-yard line.

Brock and Sage handled the game excellently well. Brock hit it going at top speed throughout.

The line-ups were:

BRANTS BEAT WOODSTOCK C. I. RUGBY SQUAD 9-0

Woodstock, Oct. 4.—The Brantford Collegiate rugby team defeated the Woodstock C. I. Rugby Squad by a score of 9 to 0. The teams were very evenly matched, and for the first three quarters the contest it was nip and tuck with both divisions doing good work. However, in the last spasm the locals cracked, and the Telephone City lads scored a drop kick and a touch-down, which was not converted. A brace in the third period, the eight points in the fourth made up their total. Dunlop was the best man on the local lineup. The visitors had it over the locals in team work and condition. Bill Maraden of Toronto, day after day, was the judge of the play. The local lineup was as follows: Halves—Dunlop, Sifton and Bremner; Flying wing—Holdsworth; Wings—Martin, Adams, Appleyard, Clark, Watson and Ross; Scrimmage—Sutherland, Mountford, quarter-back, Miller.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 6.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Further encouraging news from Washington and the settlement of the British railway strike were the factors which contributed mainly to the very strong opening of today's stock market. Crucible Steel featured in the early movement, adding 1 point to Saturday's 10-point rally, but leader-ship was soon assumed by General Motors, which rose 12 points on very few transactions. Other popular stocks, equipments, motors and oils were 2 to 4 points over last week's final quotations. Shipments also made material improvement, and rails gave promise of a continuance of the recent broad demand.

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where Meat Is Dried and Carried Even in Game Countries.

Most of us who have any idea of the jungles of Africa think of them as abounding in game. One of the reasons is that it isn't interesting to read of vast stretches of rolling country, covered by grasses or low trees, in which nothing happens more momentous than the rising and setting of the blazing sun, and the writers about Africa can jangle till only of their hunts.

Another reason is because what we see naturally are the interesting views of game, not far stretches of uninteresting lands.

In some sections of Africa, however, there is little game. In even the best "game country" there may be no game at all during certain seasons, or what game there is may be scarce. For this reason when travelers are preparing for long marches they give orders many days before, and the hunters bring in all the game they can provide.

Then it is that the camp cooks light their fires and prepare to eat. Against the long march, fatal expeditions have taught nearly all African hunters and every native that it would be suicidal to start on a long march without enough food to "see them through." They may be going through the best game country in the world, but they will not venture forth unless provided with food sufficient to last them to the place for which they're making.

It is quite true that caravan leaders and hunters don't burden their porters with an excess of food, but they all carry provisions sufficient to support the lives of their party until they reach their point of certain food supply. Some hunters go forth "short provisioned," and all depend upon what they can shoot on the march to give them the luxury of "full meals."

In preparing the food supply for a march the camp cooks rely upon drying the meat the hunters bring in over the fire. Our illustration shows natives curing antelope meat. Dried and smoked it lasted this expedition through what they firmly believed would be a country of plentiful game, but in which without the food some of the numerous caravans undoubtedly would have perished on the way.

"Tinker Bob"

Stories

by Carlyle H. Holcomb

KING OF THE FOREST.

Tinker Bob held tight the large Great gun that the Little Old Man had given him in the Funny House. This was the Stone of Knowledge, and it was the power to rule the world. Tinker was glad.

As he journeyed, the highway led him into the Great Forest. At the head in the road he saw a strange figure. It was Old Man Fox.

"What's all this about?" asked Tinker as he came close upon them.

"Quack! Quack!" cried Lady Duck. "Old Man Fox is going to kill me. I am so afraid he will drown me in the river."

IN CONNECTION WITH 'JACK CANUCK IN BERLIN'

This is a five-reel fun film made by Mack Sennett, the master comedy producer of motion picture. There's not a thrill or a problem in it, but a laugh every second.

Mrs. Downs Could Hardly Get
About the House—Enjoys
Work Now.

"Before taking Tanlac I was so weak that I could hardly get about the house, but I thoroughly enjoy my work now," said Mrs. Mary Downs of 1 Currie street, Toronto, Ont.

"Some time ago," she continued, "I had to undergo an operation, and it looked like I would never get over the shock. I lost my appetite and actually would go for days without eating a thing. I was so weak the least exertion would soon exhaust me, I could hardly get any sleep at night and would often be subject to fearful nightmares that would shake my nerves, so I would tremble like a leaf on waking up."

"I was just in this awful fix when I started on Tanlac, and it wasn't long before I felt it was bringing me up and making me eat. Now my appetite has returned and I relish every bite, my nerves are much stronger, and I rest well at night and never have those terrible nightmares any more. I am able to do all my household work without half tiring, and never feel tired and worn out like I did before."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

EVERYONE BUT TEDDY IS IN IT. Every member of Mack Sennett's big company, except Teddy, the Great Dane, has a part in his new film sensation, "Jack Canuck in Berlin," which is coming to the Majestic October 14, 15, 16. There will be Ben Turpin, of the famous eyes; Bothwell Brown, the mysterious female impersonator; Marie Prevost, the wonder beauty; Ford Sterling in the part of the much-harried Kaiser; Cal St. Clair, as the Crown Prince; Bert Roach, as boisterous Von Hindenberg; Eva Chatterer, as the Kaiser's mistress; and all the famous beauties. "Jack Canuck in Berlin" is the funniest scream the screen has ever seen. Mack Sennett's "Bathing Beauties," accompany the picture in person, and appear on the stage during each performance. They are all dressed up in their charming bathing costumes.

KAISER AND CROWN PRINCE SEEN IN MOVING PICTURES.

The ex-Kaiser and the Crown Prince, with the full imperial staff, including Von Hindenberg, are all to be presented to Londoners on the screen in a short time.

"Jack Canuck in Berlin," the 1919 comedy sensation in five parts by Mack Sennett, which is to be shown at the Majestic for four days, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, is the story of a buccannier of a daring Canadian aviator, who disguised as a woman, enters the imperial palace, and charms the entire German staff from the all lowest up, in an endeavor to secure certain secret documents.

It is an open secret in diplomatic circles that Mr. Hohenzollern, when German Kaiser, had a mania for looking at the pictures of himself, especially those printed in the American papers.

The Crown Prince also liked to collect funny pictures of himself. He didn't mind the "knocks," he thought they were funny.

The Kaiser on the other hand, always got furious at every cartoon. There was one officer on the general staff in Berlin who was very fond of collecting and showing to the Kaiser all the cartoons of himself; and he did not have a happy day.

Now that he is in Holland, into which American motion pictures are imported regularly, it is regarded as exceedingly probable that the Kaiser will hear of this picture and arrange to have it shown where he can glower at it.

There is nothing in it that he is likely to enjoy much. He will see himself unconsciously but cleverly satirized by Ford Sterling in a make-up over which the Sennett producing forces spent many months of investigation and application.

The Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties will appear in person with this picture. The Allen Theatrical Enterprises have brought this famous beauty company to five of their larger theatres in Canada.

"CHOOSING A WIFE," FIRST NATIONAL PRODUCTION SHOWN AT MAJESTIC TODAY, TOMORROW AND WEDNESDAY.

The great fight which was made in the heart of a man when he discovered that he had led a woman approaching middle age to love him, while intending that his love should be given to a young girl is depicted in "Choosing a Wife," the first National attraction which will be shown at the Majestic today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

Andrew Quick, the leading character, is an explorer. A reception is being given him on the eve of his departure for the South Seas. He does not know that a handkerchief, marked "Dolly," carried by Miss Barbara Blossom, really belongs to her aunt, Dorothy Blossom.

The aunt has loaned the niece the handkerchief because it represents to her (the aunt) the greatest period of her life, an early love affair which turned out unfortunately.

During the evening, Quick confesses to Dorothy Blossom that he is deeply in love with a woman much younger than himself and fears to speak to her of it. Dorothy Blossom, asked for her advice, urged Quick to tell the woman. She believes he refers to herself. Later as Quick talks to Barbara, the niece, the latter loses the handkerchief marked "Dolly." The explorer picks it up.

Quick, only having heard the younger woman called "Babs," thinks Dolly is her name, and later, as he is about to sail, sends a letter proposing marriage, addressed to "Dolly Blossom." This mistake causes the real Dorothy Blossom three years of happy and expectant waiting.

A most powerful situation is presented when Quick returns ready to embrace the lovely niece, only to find that he has been considered by the family as engaged to the elder woman.

Among the extra attractions will be one of Harold Lloyd's newest comedies, the famous Chester Outing Pictures, and news reels of real news.

Headlining the vaudeville bill the first half of the week will be the De Wolf girls, Capitola and Gergette. These two extremely clever and charming young ladies will offer their fashion display entitled "Clothes, Clothes, Clothes."

MEAFORD, Ont., Oct. 4.—Hon. I. B. Lucas, attorney-general, at a Conservative meeting here on Saturday referred to Lieut.-Col. Carmichael's candidature in centre Grey under the auspices of the United Farmers of Ontario, and after having read an editorial from the Farmers' Sun, said: "I brand the article as a disgrace to Canadian journalism, and a gross insult to our brave Canadian boys who fought so nobly for us in the great war."

The editorial in question ascribed Great Britain's participation in the war to moneyed interests and a desire to exploit the military spirit.
