DENNIS RESIGNS AS TORY LEADER Peterboro Doctor and Wife Die In Summer Cottage Fire

W. ONTARIO CHAIRMAN HANDS IN RESIGNATION TO CONSERVATIVE PARTY

E. R. Dennis Quits as Tory Leader, Giving Business Concerns as Reason—Letter to Provincial Organizer Is Bombshell in Party Ranks.

HOLDS ORGANIZATION KEY TO MANY RIDINGS

The unexpected resignation of E. R. Dennis, Western Ontario leader of the Conservative party, was today's political sensation. Conservative candidates in the Western Ontario ridings, and members of the executive of the Western Ontario Conservative Association, of which Mr. Dennis is president, while in session at headquarters today for campaign organization purposes, heard with concern that their leader and chief worker had resigned. The news reacted like a bombshell in the party ranks, and a bombshell it was admitted, will be far-reaching.

Will Not Change Mind.
The resignation of Mr. Dennis from the Western Ontario Conservative association, which is the party machine for provincial and federal campaigns, is understood to be irrevocable. By way of explanation to the party Mr. Dennis stated that his resignation was not a resignation from the party, but a resignation from the position of leader and chief worker. He stated that his resignation was not a resignation from the party, but a resignation from the position of leader and chief worker. He stated that his resignation was not a resignation from the party, but a resignation from the position of leader and chief worker.

Asked by The Advertiser this afternoon for a statement, Mr. Dennis firmly declined to talk. W. J. Clydesdale, provincial organizer, present for the Western Ontario meeting today, was equally uncommunicative, but in answer to a question he said:

"No, the resignation will not be dealt with today. This is just a meeting of the whole party, not a meeting of the whole party. I wouldn't like to say anything about it," he added, when pressed for more information.

Heavy Loss to Party.
Loss of the Western Ontario president is disastrous to the Conservative party. In the last provincial election he held to be responsible for many Tory successes, and in some of the ridings he was the key to efficient organization for the forthcoming federal campaign. Mr. Dennis is well-known in the province by reason of his public activities. He is a member of the board of directors of the board of education and the housing commission, and has been mentioned on many occasions as a potential candidate for the Conservative nomination in London and in East Middlesex.

Delete 'Obey,' Says Bishop

Chicago Churchman Claims Word Means Just What It Says.

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25.—Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, today made clear his stand on the removal of the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony, which recently attracted widespread notice. "Obey" means obey, and nothing else, in the opinion of the Chicago bishop. He labelled as humbug the contention of some of the church leaders that the word means honor, and should not be taken literally. Bishop Anderson declared he will vote to remove the word from the marriage service.

MANY PROPOSED FOR MAYORALTY

McKay, Smith, Douglass and Neely Possible Contenders With Wenige.

London's outstanding classic of municipal office, the race for mayoralty, offers to provide some interesting competition this year. Beclouded somewhat by the present federal campaign and the proximity of a provincial election, the mayoralty contest nevertheless is already in the preliminary stages of unusual development.

That George Wenige, three years an occupant of the chief magistrate's chair, will again be a candidate for that office there is little doubt. No matter what the developments are in regard to the Conservative nomination, Mr. Wenige is expected to again contest the honor which he has won in three out of four starts.

There are, however, several other potential candidates who have a certain following in the city which cannot be denied. Though they have not been consistent opponents of the present mayor, there is the chance that one or more may seek a change in municipal administration on the grounds of "time for a change," as well as the several important transportation issues.

Four Mentioned.
Ald. Frank McKay, Ald. Edwin Smith, Ald. H. H. Douglass, M.D., Ald. Homer Neely and ex-Mayor Dr. H. A. Stevenson figure in the present list of potential mayoralty candidates. Each and every one of these has enjoyed a fairly liberal following at times.

Today talk in municipal circles varies. Some of the present aldermen suggest an acclamation for Mr. Wenige and sweeping changes in the personnel of the aldermanic body. In this statement they are supported by the statements of leading aldermen during the past few months that they will not be mayoralty candidates this year.

Last year the mayoralty race looked like a cinch for Mr. Wenige, without a candidate until the last minute, but into the ring he received more than 6,000 votes, unprecedented support for a man running second in the race.

Many to Run Again.
Aldermanic contests will bring out an unusual number of contestants. Continued on Page 2, Column 5.

TWO PERISH AS COTTAGE IS BURNED

Dr. J. B. Mann and Wife of Peterboro Victims of Early Morning Fire.

INQUEST IS ORDERED

Attempts at Rescue Were Futile as Flames Spread Rapidly.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Brookville, Sept. 25.—Dr. J. B. Mann, aged about 40, and his wife, of Peterboro, were burned to death in a fire which broke out early this morning in a wooden cottage at Fernbank, three miles west of here on the St. Lawrence, which they were occupying in company with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brightman, also of Peterboro, as guests of Dr. George Imrie, of Rochester, N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. Brightman escaped by jumping from an upper window. Dr. Imrie being absent at his home.

Dr. and Mrs. Mann came here on Tuesday, intending to spend three weeks on the river. They occupied a front room in the two-story cottage, while Mr. and Mrs. Brightman were in a room at the rear. The latter awoke to find the place filled with smoke and apparently jumped from the window, where they were found a few minutes later by William Brightman, of Rochester, sleeping in an adjoining cottage, who was awakened by the flames.

After having dragged them to safety, Brightman attempted to rescue the other occupants. He procured a ladder and broke the window in their apartment, from which black smoke rushed. Before the flames could be extinguished, the flames and smoke evidently cut off the escape by means of a staircase. The cottage was totally destroyed, simply a heap of ashes, being left upon the rock where it stood. Amid the charred bodies of Dr. and Mrs. Mann were found side by side. How the fire originated is unknown. The occupants retired leaving a fire burning in a fireplace, but a fire burning in a fireplace, but a fire burning in a fireplace.

Dr. W. E. Harding, coroner, has ordered an inquest.

Dr. W. E. Harding, coroner, and Chief of Police Burke were notified of the fatality and visited the scene of the fatality this morning. They viewed the remains in the position in which they were found and ordered the removal of the bodies to a local undertaking establishment where an inquest was opened this morning.

A fine automobile owned by Thos. Brightman was destroyed in the fire, but another car, owned by Dr. Mann, which was housed in a tent a short distance away, was not harmed.

Dr. George Imrie, son-in-law of Dr. H. Brightman, and owner of the cottage, was notified at Rochester, N.Y., by telephone of the fatality and left immediately by motor expecting to reach Fernbank today. Dr. Mann's brother and the deceased's partner, Dr. Palmer, Peterboro, were expected to arrive here this afternoon.

Possibilities for Tory Nomination

J. FRANK WHITE, M.P.

Here are three possibilities for the Conservative nomination at the convention on Oct. 2, Frank White, M.P., is generally conceded the nomination if he will accept. Col. Coles and S. F. Lawrason are likely contenders if Mr. White drops out.

Coles Is Tory Contender If Frank White Steps Out; City Riding Outlook Hazy

Situation in All Party Camps Nebulous as Conventions Draw Near.

LABOR UNCERTAIN

Liberal Executive Meeting Is Called, With Convention Later.

With the announcement yesterday that a Conservative nominating convention would be held in this city on the evening of Oct. 2, and the definite decision last night of the London Labor party to place a candidate in the field for the coming federal election, the political situation in London has reached an interesting stage. The outlook is still decidedly nebulous, in that no party has as yet definitely selected a candidate to contest the riding. There is, in fact, considerable speculation life in the parties as to who will finally be selected as likely candidates.

There is little doubt that the Conservative nomination meeting on Oct. 2, but the mere fact that there is some doubt as to whether or not he will run has aroused ambitions in other sections of the party, with the result that at least two other names have been prominently mentioned as likely candidates.

One of those mentioned is S. F. Lawrason, prominent in the board news circles and chairman of the board of education this year. He has taken a very active part in the affairs of the Conservative party here for a great many years, and has experience and ability which commend him as an excellent choice.

Another Londoner who has rendered good service to the Conservative cause, and who also has a great deal of experience both in business and in public life, is Col. W. G. Coles, who besides giving good service as a member of the board of control, has an enviable record of overseas service, and it is believed that his candidature would attract considerable support from the returned men in the Conservative ranks. On the other hand, he would not be acceptable to the Orange order, members of which are numerous in the Conservative group here.

Despite this fact, Col. Coles is assured a large following if his name goes before the convention. He has attracted considerable favorable attention of late by his advocacy of the policy first enunciated by the Western Ontario united boards of trade of attracting settlers for the vacant farms of Western Ontario.

May Be An Independent.
In the way of independent candidates, the name of George A. Wenige must be considered as a possibility. In the Labor party almost anything may happen as a result of last night's meeting, which took the somewhat unusual course of nominating five candidates and then deferring a selection to an open convention to be held a week from tonight.

Of the five candidates proposed, Dr. H. A. Stevenson is the most likely to accept the nomination.

Ald. Frank McKay was among those nominated. He was not at the meeting, but Ald. Clift, who was present, announced that there was a question to be asked.

Abd-el-Krim's Little Army Carries On Despite Heavy Odds.

AT BATTLEFRONT
Special Correspondent Tells of Subterfuge Adopted To Get Into Lines.

By VINCENT SHEEHAN.
Special Correspondent of The London Advertiser and North American Newspaper Alliance with Riff Army.

Riff general headquarters, Tangier, Sept. 24.—By courier to Tangier, Sept. 24.—Bombarded on all sides by sea, land and air, and cut off from all supply centers of food, arms and ammunition, Abd-el-Krim's little rebel state is still carrying on. It is not only carrying on, but is actually displaying greater spirit and greater unity in the face of these new dangers than it showed when Spain alone was the enemy.

In my four days' journey across the Djibala country from Tangier, and in one day here at headquarters I have seen no evidence of panic in the face of the might of France.

During the past six months the Riff telephone system, consisting of French field telephones bought in Algeria before the beginning of hostilities with France, has been extended throughout the Djibala country and now reaches from a point near Tangier to outposts all along the Thomat front between Taza and Fez.

Sidi Mohammed, younger brother of Abd-el-Krim, sits here at Tangier, his general headquarters, and directs the campaign on three fronts. He keeps in constant and direct communication with his brother, Abd-el-Krim, who is at Adjdjd, on the Riff coast.

Foch himself could not go about the job of supervising more coolly or with more authoritative efficiency than this Riff general who still in his early thirties has carried out military victories in his brief career.

He has built up an orderly government throughout the country.

Riffs Are Confident.
The general staff at Riff headquarters certainly show a confidence which is impressive, a complete confidence in the ability of one Riff warrior to withstand French attacks, men or Spaniards, a confidence in the military efficiency of Moroccan weather, a confidence in the effectiveness of European aviation and finally a supreme confidence in the semi-legendary genius of their two leaders, the Abd-el-Krim brothers.

My meeting was an adventure which will interest many. On Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock I sat on the terrace of the Hotel Eden at Tangier, where groups of English tourists were idly watching the gunboats of three nations as they rode at anchor in the sunny harbor. As I had been previously arranged, a certain Riff tribesman happened to stroll along the pavement beneath the hotel terrace. He looked up vacantly at the French and began to walk away towards the beach, where Tangier's many sightseers visitors disport themselves, under the African sun.

On Native Ground.
I strolled along after him to the end of the beach, where he turned sharply in the sand dunes, and began to stride along at a brisk pace. Fifteen minutes later I caught up with him between two big hollow dunes. Here a silent and swift operation took place. The tribesman opened a bundle which he was carrying under his arm, and in three minutes I had donned a huge, shapeless gown, the djellaba of the Moorish peasant.

With my hood pulled well down over my face I returned to the promenade again, following my silent guide until he led me into a small house in the Arab quarter of the town, towards the outskirts of Tangier.

Here an aged Arab woman, one of Abd-el-Krim's regular agents, put me through a severe examination and gave me a few last instructions about how to pass the French guards.

FRENCH GRAPE HARVEST DAMAGED BY STORMS

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, Sept. 25.—Damage by storms is reported from many districts in France and the grape crop has been seriously affected. It is estimated that this year's yield of grapes will not be more than half that of last year, although until quite recently the grape growers had hoped for a bumper harvest.

Throughout France there have been severe electric storms and some cattle and sheep have been killed by lightning.

READY TO SCRAP NORTHERN SPUR

S. F. LAWRASON.

Street Railway Will Not Consider Paving Broughdale Trackage.

The London Street Railway, rather than have the track allowance from Huron street to Brough's bridge, the northern terminus of the Richmond line, is prepared to scrap the line from the city limits to the bridge, company representatives have intimated to London township authorities who are anxious to have the balance of the allowance paved.

Two meetings between the interested parties have been devoid of developments, but the township council is confident that paving will be completed next spring.

At the present time the west half of the road has been paved, the regulation government highway 10-foot width and an additional 5 feet and curb paid for out of local improvement money.

The street railway tracks are on the east side of the road and the company through refusal to pay for track allowance paving, has held up the government paving program.

Residents of the vicinity are favorable towards paving another 5 feet for local improvement, it is said.

The street railway company intimates that it would cost $40,000 to pave their county track allowance and they cannot spare the money at this time.

FENG TIEN SOLDIERS FIRE UPON NEUTRALS

Associated Press Despatch.
Shanghai, Sept. 25.—Feng Tien soldiers guarding the Japan-China cotton mill located at Pootung, across the river from Shanghai, fired on disaffected workers last evening, wounding five persons, of whom three were women. The firing occurred when the managers of the mill requested the soldiers to disperse workmen who had refused to work.

FIRE LOSSES LOWER.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Sept. 25.—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended Sept. 23 are estimated by the Monetary Times at $157,700, compared with $175,000 the previous week and with $785,700 the corresponding week of last year.

Return Tide of Canadians Exceeds "Leak" To U.S.A.

Recent immigration figures from Ottawa and emigration statistics from Windsor show that the much talked of Canadians who cross the border are doing it in a merry-go-round fashion. While a large number are hurrying into the United States, their brothers are rushing back.

A despatch from Ottawa yesterday places the return number at 12,170 for the last four months. A statement from the American consulate at Windsor puts the "leakage" there at 3,500 a year.

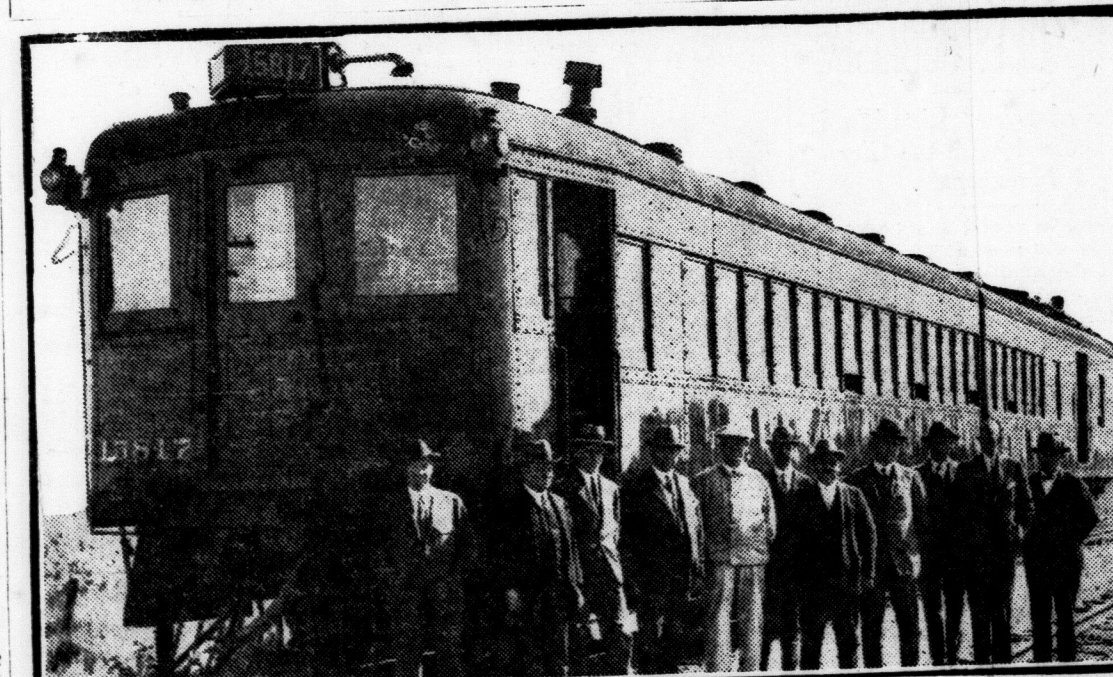

Assuming that three other smaller ports of entry to the republic handled nearly as many migrations as Windsor, the figures would show a much greater number of Canadians returning to Canada.

Figures from the office of G. R. Tuggart, American consul here, show that 1,120 Canadian-born people and 65 of foreign birth left this district in the last four months.

For the best 23 days of this month the number was 275 Canadians and 10 of foreign birth. The district taken in by the local offices are the counties of Elgin, Middlesex, Huron, Bruce, Perth, about three-quarters of Oxford and half of Norfolk.

WOMAN IS SAVED BY QUICK ACTION

Bucket of Water Quenches the Flames Which Enveloped Mrs. W. T. Oldridge.

Quick action of Clifford Oldridge, who threw a bucketful of water over his mother when he saw her hair ablaze, probably prevented fatal injuries to Mrs. W. T. Oldridge, 338 Thames street, yesterday.

Mrs. Oldridge did not suffer serious injuries, but will be confined to her bed for a day or two suffering from shock.

Mrs. Oldridge had lit the jets in the gas oven and a few minutes later opened the door. A flame burst forth, enveloping the head of the woman and setting her hair afire. She also suffered painful burns to the face and neck.

After examining the stove the gas company blamed the explosion on water in the main pipes, which the company is now having dug up.

Asked to comment upon the incident, Mr. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission, stated this morning that it could only be water in the gas pipe itself.

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that the gas company has water traps in its pipes to catch the water, which is then frequently drawn off from these traps, and that further Thames street is one of the lowest streets in town.

FAIR CROWD 2,000 AT DORCHESTER

School Fair Establishes Record For Attendance and Good Exhibits.

Dorchester school fair, held yesterday, established a record attendance at school exhibitions in Middlesex county with an attendance of over 2,000. Pupils of fourteen schools exhibited produce from school and home gardens, while the poultry and dairy classes were extremely heavy. R. A. Finn of the Middlesex branch of the department of agriculture stated.

Six schools took part in the parade, with Dorchester village school being adjudged the winner. The boys and girls depicted the days of 1825 and dressed in quaint old costumes, carried spinning wheels, Dutch oxen, cradles, etc. S. S. No. 16 Dorchester was second and S. S. No. 19 third.

There were fifteen entries in the public speaking contest, won by Hazel Shackleton of S. S. No. 16, who was presented with a bronze medal. Cyril Peggins of Aton was second.

ACCOUNTING OF MONEYS SOUGHT IN COURT WRIT

Walter Webb, Thorndale, administrator of the estate of the late Jane Logan, has issued a supreme court writ, through Buchner & Ramsay, against Rossie M. Unruh of West Nisour, asking for an accounting of moneys, the property of Jane Logan, and for payment of the same to the plaintiff, with other goods and assets in possession of the defendant.

LONDON LADIES IN B'ANT. WINDSOR-ST. KITTS HERE

St. Catharines will play Windsor in the finals of the Western Ontario tennis league on the London tennis club courts, commencing to play at 1 p.m. tomorrow. The public invited. The London tennis club ladies play Brantford ladies at Woodstock at 2 o'clock Saturday in semi-finals of the league.

TWO LONDON WOMEN NAMED AMONG 44 COMMISSIONERS

First Women of Conference to Become Delegates to Higher Church Courts.

HIGH ON BALLOT

Only two women, Mrs. W. R. McIntosh and Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, both of London, will be numbered among the 44 commissioners to the next general council from the London United church conference, which held its inaugural organization meeting in Metropolitan church here this week.

Such representation granted to the women is even greater, however, in proportion than that in the London conference itself, since only three of the eight presbyteries named women delegates, and there were only eight women among 72 ministerial and lay delegates to the conference.

Women had been chosen as delegates in the former London Methodist conference for eight years or more, but when asked, prominent former Presbyterian ministers stated that no women had ever been members of the old Hamilton and London Presbyterian synod, or commissioners therefrom to the general assembly of the church. Mrs. John Henderson, among its 101 delegates to the London conference, Essex presbytery had three women, Mrs. Albert Barnes, Miss M. Rawlins and Mrs. William Selkirk, among its 60 delegates; while Middlesex presbytery had four women, Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, Mrs. E. A. McCann, Mrs. D. L. McCrae and Mrs. A. Harvey, among its 193 delegates.

The selection of Mrs. McIntosh, wife of Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., King street, church, and Mrs. McEvoy, wife of J. M. McEvoy, K.C., famed as a criminal lawyer, is all the more noteworthy in view of the fact that they stood third and fourth respectively on the general ballot for the election of lay representatives from the conference at large.

Thus the United church has already recognized the rights of women to be recognized as delegates to conference and as commissioners to the general council, but, peculiarly enough, two women, members of the former Presbyterian church, which lagged behind in the matter, have been honored in being named commissioners to the next general council.

NO FAULT TO FIND WITH GAMES OF CHANCE

Head of Western Fair Says They Were Run to Suit the Police.

Commenting on the charges made by Rev. W. E. Millson at the United church conference, J. H. Saunders, president of the Western Fair, made the following statement: "They have these games of chance at church, breaking any laws, and in my opinion we have nothing to be ashamed of. The games are under the supervision of the chief of police, and as far as the fair board is concerned we have nothing to be ashamed of. They are under the supervision of the chief of police, and as far as the fair board is concerned we have nothing to be ashamed of. They are under the supervision of the chief of police, and as far as the fair board is concerned we have nothing to be ashamed of."

APPOINTED TO TORONTO.

Captain Chapman of the children's home has been appointed to a post in the Salvation army headquarters at Toronto. Captain MacLaren from the Toronto rescue home, will succeed Captain Chapman.

WOMAN COMMISSIONER.

Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, president of the London presbytery of the former Presbyterian church, one of two women chosen as delegates to the London conference by the United church of Canada by the London conference. Mrs. McEvoy stood fourth in the list of 44. Mrs. W. R. McIntosh is the other woman commissioner from London conference.

COUNTY BILLED FOR $32,322.64

Share of Secondary School Costs Is Assessed Upon Middlesex.

A little bill for $32,322.64 from the London board of education was received by County Clerk John Stuart this morning. The letter contained a statement stating that the maintenance of 412 county pupils at the London Technical school for the past year. The amount is some $8,000 more than was paid by the county a year ago, Mr. Stuart stated. There were 157 county pupils attending Central college and 412 at the East London high school. Technical school registration from Middlesex in 1924-25 was 134.

AGED ROMEO JAILED FOR TREATING LADY

Thamesford Man Gave Liquor to Young Indian Girl.

John A. Haycock, Thamesford veteran of 65 summers, fell prey to the charms of a dusky Indian damsel on the Muncie reserve yesterday. The young lady was thirsty and John, just every bit as gallant as he was 40 years ago, supplied her with a beverage that is frowned on by Ben Spence and former Attorney-General.

Constable Nelson of the R. C. M. P. happened along as the young lady was holding hands with the constable. He removed the bottle and, instead of one, as was required. A few years later his neighbor fell into the same trap and in rebuilding the house the constable was left with his wall a foot or so higher. Proceedings were entered and the second offender got the same judgment as the first.

PENSION IS SOUGHT BY LONDON VETERAN

Private Patrick Murphy Has Case Taken Up At Ottawa.

A pathetic case of the returned soldier has just been brought to the attention of the pensions board at Ottawa. It concerns Private Patrick Murphy, who joined the pioneer battalion in September, 1915. The soldier was returned to London in the fall of 1917 unfit for further army service.

This morning Mr. Murphy said that when he returned from overseas he was unfit for duty, but tried to hold out a little longer by doing simple guard duty without drill at Carling Heights.

In December he was taken off duty as unfit for anything and removed to the hospital. Since that time he has been in and out of hospitals, and is now without a pension. Catastrophes have developed on his eyes and his weakness and inability to work leaves him without hope of support. His case is being taken up at Ottawa.

WEEK'S ADJOURNMENT IN LANGRIDGE CASE

London Township Man in Hawkshaw's Court Pleads Guilty to Serious Offense.

Charles J. Langridge, London township farmer, pleaded not guilty when he appeared before Magistrate Hawkshaw this morning charged with a serious offense. Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd asked for a week's adjournment, as the star witness for the crown would be unable to appear for a week at least, being at present in Belcham hospital.

Langridge has been in jail for three weeks, having been brought here from Regina by Provincial Constable Mennie, who carried the warrant for his arrest. The prisoner was represented by B. A. Ramsay of Buchner & Ramsay.

NEW SUBSTATION CARRIES ONLY 1,000 HORSEPOWER

The new Carling street substation is gradually becoming alive, since at the present time the station is carrying a load of 100 horsepower, compared with its full capacity of 5,000 horsepower.

The station, which is No. 4 in the series of nine substations in the city, has cost about $125,000 and will serve a four-block radius of the downtown district. The station is located on the Carling street station, which in the past has carried as high as 8,000 horsepower.

The city is taking about 20,000 horsepower at the present time, but this will run up to 25,000 horsepower before the close of the year.

FOUR SPEEDERS PAY UP IN CITY POLICE COURT

Four speeders, caught in different parts of the city, decided the wisest thing to do was to admit their guilt, and Police Court Clerk John Moulton collected $10 and costs from each to day before court opened.

A cyclist caught riding without a light, paid $2 and costs, as did one who preferred the sidewalk to the road for riding.

UTILITIES MEN DISCUSS RATES

Conference of Hydro Engineers at Toronto Presided Over by Gaby.

E. V. Buchanan, manager of the public utilities commission, was in Toronto yesterday as a member of the rate committee of the Ontario Municipal Electric association. Though domestic consumers' rates were discussed, particularly as to electric stoves, and also stove lighting commercial rates, Mr. Buchanan stated this morning that there will be no changes made during the next three months.

Smaller cities have felt the addition of electric stoves in cities like Stratford, Galt and Brantford in so far as the use of these electrical appliances adds to their peak load, while the general feeling seems to be that commercial rates for stove lighting might be lowered.

All domestic consumers are required to pay three cents floor space and two cents for the first number of kilowatt hours and so much for each hour thereafter. The question, which is highly technical, covers the wide variety in the first number of kilowatt hours covered by the two-cent charge in the different centres served by the commission in the province.

Mr. Buchanan, however, business and professional men, do not suffer with regard to electric stoves, and the peak load nearly to the same degree as do smaller cities. More important, however, is the fact that the commission has made a special effort to get business in the off-peak hours and thus catch up on the amount of power that has to be paid for on the peak basis.

The conference at Toronto yesterday was for engineers and was presided over by H. E. Gaby, chief engineer of the H. E. P. C. The whole question of consumers' rates will be taken up further before any change is made in the existing rates.

PERMANENT COURT HERE FOR FENCE DISPUTES

Board of Referees Ready For Any Argument That May Arise.

London has a more or less permanent board of fence referees, who are ready to hold court on any fence disputes that may arise. W. P. New, city engineer, Donald Graham, sheriff, and R. H. Sanders, relief inspector, form the personnel of the court.

Last year a windstorm wrought havoc with numbers of line fences, and the board of referees were torn apart and hurried about. On the heels of the storm, fence quarrels arose and when it came to relaying the city engineer, his hands were tied trying to make peace.

It is not so long since the courts ruled against a Dundas street property owner and made him shave a whole foot off the side of his building. The entire wall had to be rebuilt to conform with the line specified by the courts.

In New York city the case was paralleled, though the prosecuted man went further. In cutting off the side of the building he removed two feet instead of one, as was required.

A few years later his neighbor fell into the same trap and in rebuilding the house the constable was left with his wall a foot or so higher. Proceedings were entered and the second offender got the same judgment as the first.

The new system inaugurated by the provincial department of education a year or so ago, splitting up the examinations so that students can write a variety of number of subjects each year, has rendered publication of the secondary school recitation of anything like concise form almost impossible.

The special committee appointed by the board to enquire into the matter last year, and decided to interview the press after which they will make some recommendation to the board.

TENDERS FOR SEIZED NETS TO CLOSE NEXT FRIDAY

There is other fishing equipment to be disposed of at the same time, Col. Emmerton stated.

MILLER ADDRESSES TECHNICIANS CLUB

Collegiate Head Says London Pupils Are of High Type.

Principal E. A. Miller of the central collegiate institute gave an inspiring talk before the members of the Tecumseh avenue mothers' club last night on the subject, "Some of Our Problems."

Emphasizing the seriousness of the problem which was confronting all those interested in the welfare of young people today, the speaker at the same time stressed the fact that London was more fortunate than other cities.

He was constantly getting from new members of the collegiate staff, the reassurance that the pupils attending the London schools were of a very high type, so far as general attitude and conduct was concerned. They felt this in the light of what they had seen elsewhere.

Mr. Miller spoke of the seriousness of choosing a vocation. With such strong competition, only those who had ability were the best prepared, and had the habit of work established, were going to be able to secure and hold the best jobs. Strong competition would be found in such professions as law, medicine, teaching, business, secretarial work, and so on.

A big problem was the problem of home study. Mr. Miller saw real need of home work, and in addition, he believed that real benefit accrued to the students through the regular courses of study. In the home in the interests of the health of the students.

The speaker emphasized the results of irregular attendance at school. He expressed the desirability of more home life as a solution of many problems. Home work, production of the national life, and was the crux of the situation so far as success was concerned.

The school was beautifully decorated for the fall, the new president, Mrs. J. W. Calver, in the chair. Mrs. E. P. Lewis, president of the mothers' club, presided over the program. A large number of new members were enrolled.

COLES IN THE RUNNING IF WHITE STEPS OUT

Little likelihood of his accepting, Arthur Mould, who was the candidate in the last federal election, made a good showing, but is unlikely to accept the honor a second time. Ex-Ald. John Colbert's attitude is not clear, but Dr. Stevenson declared himself, but both were present at last night's meeting, and made no move to withdraw their names.

The nomination of J. P. Menzies, president of the local branch of the Communist party of Canada, and the fact that the meeting was held on a very significant angle on the situation. There seems little doubt that the Communist members of the party will like to see their candidate in the field, and if they can muster sufficient members at the open nomination meeting there is a good prospect of their hope being realized. There will then be no alternative before the local labor party but to support a Communist candidate or retire from the contest. The executive meeting of the party called for tomorrow night will have much food for reflection.

BOARD WANTS EXAM. RESULTS PUBLISHED

Matter of School Lists To Be Discussed With the City Newspapers.

Representatives of the board of education will meet with representatives of the local newspapers to discuss the question of publishing public school and secondary school results.

The board members will discuss the question from the angle that the results should be published, while the newspapers will explain their side of the question in an endeavor to arrive at some amicable solution of the problem.

The new system inaugurated by the provincial department of education a year or so ago, splitting up the examinations so that students can write a variety of number of subjects each year, has rendered publication of the secondary school recitation of anything like concise form almost impossible.

The special committee appointed by the board to enquire into the matter last year, and decided to interview the press after which they will make some recommendation to the board.

Odd Socks, Reversed Vests, Silence With Fair Co-eds Is Diet For "U" Freshmen

Collars Banned—Hats To Be Provided by Generous Sophs.

TIES MUST BE BRIGHT

Towels To Conceal Locks of Freshettes—Two Pairs of Hose.

University freshmen learned the worst this morning when their dress requirements for next week were announced on the college of arts bulletin board.

For one whole week, beginning Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the freshmen will pay the penalty placed upon them by the sophomores. Freshmen will appear at the university with their vests back to front. Their socks will be on the outside of their pants and they will not be mated.

Brilliant ties of any hue that may be deemed brilliant by the sophomores must be worn by the new students. Further, the men will not be permitted to speak to any of the women in the college halls for a period of one week.

Collars are banned. But hats may be worn. In fact they will be provided by the generous sophs. No sample has yet been issued, but they will likely be colorful and probably of unusual sizes.

All freshmen will have to be at the university buildings at 9 o'clock each morning, whether they have lectures or not, says the bulletin.

Considerable interest was manifested in the announcement this morning. It is understood that a meeting of the sophomores has been called to decide on the punishment for those who violate the sacred laws.

Black Stockings.

None the less interesting are the regulations of the first year will wear long black stockings of the pre-roll era. This harking back to the old and uncomfortable past is not without its compensation, for over the black silk hose another pair of white out its compensation, for over the stockings are to be worn and rolled. It is fondly expected that the girls will receive an ovation on Monday morning.

The headress calls for a Turkish bath harem effect. Each freshette will coil a towel about her bobbed locks to completely conceal them from the idle gaze of a student public.

To create a bizarre effect the freshettes will wear last year's middie back to front. This represents the lengths to which co-operative movements go, for the men are wearing their vests vice versa.

Salt Around Necks.

So much for the official announcement. Enough they it is hinted that freshettes will be asked to wear little bags of salt about their necks. Rumor has it that a sophomore sewed cream, Mrs. William Mitchell; fish pond, Mrs. Thompson.

FOREST CITY CHAPTER HOLDS PIONEER NIGHT

First Officers of Organization Are Present From Calgary.

Last night was pioneer night for the Forest City chapter, O. E. S., and a number of distinguished guests as well as the chapter members gathered in the Alma block for the event. Among the honored guests were Mrs. Shorthill and Mrs. Now, Brindor and Alex Goldstein, alleged pals of Ed. Harlow in Middlesex county chicken thefts, was postponed for another week.

Ball of $4,000 was renewed for each man by their bondsmen, who were present in court. Crown Attorney Judd stated that the trial might possibly proceed before the week was up.

Other outstanding guests were the district deputy worthy grand matron, Mrs. Fred Tullett, Mrs. Ben Now, son and E. T. Essery, both grand officers. Representatives from the other city chapters were also present.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the event, the guests being received by the worthy matron and patron of the Forest City chapter, who presented the chapter members, who date back to their time of office, with pretty certificates.

Supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Dawkins and her able assistants, followed by an hour spent in dancing, with Mrs. E. Young at the piano. The energies of the chapter are now devoted toward the bazaar, to be held in November.

BRINDER AND GOLDSTEIN RENEW BAIL FOR WEEK

Owing to the fact that their counsel, J. M. McEvoy, K.C., was unable to be present, the trial of Lewis Brinder and Alex Goldstein, alleged pals of Ed. Harlow in Middlesex county chicken thefts, was postponed for another week.

Ball of $4,000 was renewed for each man by their bondsmen, who were present in court. Crown Attorney Judd stated that the trial might possibly proceed before the week was up.

KIWANIAN BACK HOTEL CAMPAIGN

Members Will Raise Individual Subscriptions, and Teams Renew Effort.

Hearing Major Gordon Ingram and Major W. H. Wood speak on the hotel stock campaign today, the Kiwanis club again affirmed its support for the project and urged its members to purchase the preferred stock to the full ability of their purses and beyond.

Representing the hotel campaign committee, both speakers outlined the progress already made, but pointed out that more enthusiastic work will have to be carried on to attain the local objective which was assured the coming of the hotel. Team captains among the Kiwanis club will go out with renewed vigor to raise their totals, whilst the members will raise their individual stock subscriptions.

A. R. Ford, elected lieutenant-governor for the Ontario-Quebec Kiwanis district, was given three cheers by the club, which also won the trophy donated by the Montreal club for an attendance of 74.5 per cent during the past year.

The Ottawa convention held this week. J. R. Hay, past president, who presided on the boost for the prizes of which went to Frank McLaughlin and Ernie Moore.

The speech of the day was given by George Sulman, Chatham, who painted a word picture of the island of Java, belonging to the Dutch East India group. Mr. Sulman spoke of the dense population of 40,000,000 people on an island 900 by 75 miles in extent, the 600 miles of pavement, the perfect hotels, the different points of the country, and the customs of the people.

The speaker, who stated that he has visited almost every country in the world, declared that, with the exception of Ceylon, Java is the most beautiful island in the whole world.

TOWN-PLANNING LAW PROVEN EFFECTIVE

Strides Taken by Kitchener and Waterloo Indicated by Judge's Decision.

The wide scope of town planning laws is stressed by Ald. Edwin Smith in discussing the action of Mr. Justice Lennox of the supreme court of Ontario in continuing an injunction against a Kitchener man, in building a house in a restricted area.

Kitchener and Waterloo have made some considerable strides in the matter of town planning. In order to improve their districts they have adopted zoning ordinances. Mrs. Adeline Bittner attempted to erect an apartment house on Benton street, a restricted area. The action of the supreme court resulted. An appeal is expected.

NET REVENUE OF C.N.R.
IS HIGHEST IN HISTORY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Que., Sept. 24.—Official figures issued today show that the Canadian National Railways have made a notable advance in net revenues during the eight months period ending August 31, the net for that period being higher than for any similar period in the history of the company. This improvement has been made in the face of decreased gross receipts.

For the first eight months of the year the gross receipts were 4.25 per cent, or $6,511,189 below the corresponding figures for 1924. But operating expenses were reduced by $10,968,487 or 7.35 per cent. Accordingly the net position stands at $8,385,692, which is an increase of $1,457,328 or 113.47 per cent, as compared with the first eight months of 1924, and an increase of 65.06 per cent. over the figures for the same period of 1923.

IS LIBERAL CHOICE

H. P. Stephens Is Selected To Run in Place of German.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Welland, Sept. 24.—H. P. Stephens, mayor of Niagara Falls, was this afternoon chosen Liberal candidate for Welland county in succession to W. M. German, K.C., member in the last parliament, who would not stand for nomination.

John Crowe, Welland, was the only other nominee. When offered the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of Welland county, in convention here this afternoon, W. M. German, K.C., who represented the constituency in the last parliament, declined, declaring that he would not be in the field at the next election. The choice of the convention then lay between Mayor H. P. Stephens of Niagara Falls and John H. Crowe, and the former found most favor with the delegates.

"In times gone past I have been elected by the aid of Liberals and some good Conservatives," said Mr. German. "Eight months ago I wrote to Premier Mackenzie King and told him that I would not be a candidate, and I gave him the reasons. Nothing has occurred since then to change my opinion. In fact, everything that has taken place since then has strengthened my position in that regard."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1925.

For Political Gain.

The public utterance of Hugh C. McKillop, Conservative nominee for the reconstructed riding of West Elgin, was typical of many others of the same party in the reference made to the Canadian National Railways, and especially to its manager, Sir Henry Thornton. Mr. McKillop said:

"We have men in this country who have served their time and have the experience, and I have no doubt many of them could be found who could manage the situation fully as well and I am satisfied, cheaper than Sir Henry Thornton."

And there Mr. McKillop stopped short. He tried to create the impression that there was something seriously wrong, that the business of operating the largest railway in the world was a comparatively simple affair, one that could be done "cheaper" by any of a number of men whom he could name but did not. It is too great a question to be passed over so lightly, and it is surprising that Mr. McKillop should evince such shallow concern on so important a question.

To judge the matter fairly, and get a correct idea of the size of the C. N. R. problem, and also the reason for securing the best railroad executive that could be employed, it is necessary to see where this national problem originated. The Canadian Northern is part of it, built by Mackenzie and Mann, aided by millions of public money, poorly financed and unable to operate at a profit. The Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific could not meet their obligations, neither could the Intercolonial. The crisis came during the war, when immigration fell off, when money was diverted to war channels. Interest on the bonds was due and there was nothing with which to pay it.

It was the Conservative government that made the decision to take the roads over and create the Canadian National Railways, 22,000 miles of it, unprofitable, a burden on the treasury. Mr. McKillop, had he cared to dig into history, would have found included in the purchase price $10,000,000 for the stock of the Canadian Northern, which, according to the ex-minister of finance, Sir Henry Drayton, was not worth a five-cent piece and for which not a dollar was ever paid.

That was the situation which Mr. King and his government faced when they came into office. They did not create the National Railways, but inherited them from the previous government. The government could have done one of two things: (1) placed the system under the head of a department where it would have been subject to political influence, or (2) secured the best railway expert who could be found, and hand it over to him and a board of directors of the distinct understanding that it was absolutely free from political interference and absolutely free from commercial undertaking. The government chose the latter course, and it was the better one.

It was here that Sir Henry Thornton came in, and we have yet to hear an authority who is competent to speak on the subject challenge his fitness for the most difficult task that has yet been handed to any railway executive in any country.

One of the results of this plan has been a sharp falling off in the amount of money that the government has been called upon to advance to the railways. Take the commitments of two three-year periods prior to the King administration and since. They show these sums as follows:

1920-21	$106,000,000
1921-22	144,000,000
1922-23	105,000,000
Total	$355,000,000
The advances made since the King government appointed Sir Henry Thornton:
1922-23	$50,000,000
1923-24	85,000,000
1924-25	76,000,000

Total $211,000,000
Difference $144,000,000
In the year ending December 31, 1921, there was a net deficit from Canadian National Railways operations of $11,543,577. For 1924 the surplus on operating revenue over expenses was $17,244,251, a betterment in position between 1921 and 1924 of $28,787,828.

Sir Henry Thornton has coordinated the scattered sections, simplified executive methods, given a far superior service, and has built up a loyal, enthusiastic staff to operate a utility that is the property of the people. Mr. McKillop, like his leader, Mr. Meighen, can be in only one of two positions, for or against a fair trial of public ownership. He can assist by helpful suggestions or constructive criticism, or he can retard and hinder by seeking to belittle the manager, minimizing the size of the task he has in hand and his ability to grapple with it.

Bus Service in London.

The announcement of the company seeking to operate bus service in London that they can start at once and keep on adding to their fleet as business warrants is a striking illustration of just how flexible bus transportation is. If a certain district needs service it can get it at once; if other lines show that the traffic does not come up to expectations the service can be based accordingly. When a change is made there are no tracks to be torn up and no overhead wiring to be removed.

In dealing with the question of bus transportation in London the person to be considered is the citizen who wants to get some place. His interests come first. If the bus company finds there is room for business here that means that the field is not adequately covered by the street railway company; if it were, there would not be enough trade for the bus company to cater to.

The operation of this new method of transportation will give citizens a chance to judge of its merits: if it is not satisfactory, or if it is not possible to regulate it, then the city can act accordingly. If the citizens find it a good method of travel they will patronize it—if not, they won't. It looks like a fair experiment.

Perhaps It's Too Easy.

Some collegiate pupils in Toronto objected to being transferred from one school to another. When the change was made, instead of going to the school allotted to them they stayed home, and apparently their parents made no objection.

There's something wrong when a pupil of collegiate age is ready to grab at an excuse for staying away from school. They have failed to grasp the idea that going to school is adding to their own mental wealth.

If they could look back and see the sacrifices that some of the greatest men this country has produced have made in order to get something that looked like a decent education they might be quick to revise their present outlook.

The late Robert Patterson, of Stratford, for years master mechanic of the Grand Trunk shops there, and those who were apprentices when he was, rented a hall, cleaned the lamps and filled them, provided wood for a box-stove, and out of their own earnings, which were small, paid an instructor to come at nights to teach them drafting and arithmetic. The boy of today can have all he wants of these or any other subjects, and there is no sacrifice called for. The fact that they are so readily available may be the reason why they are not so highly prized as they should be.

Get On the List Now.

It is important that those who want to vote on October 29 should have their names on the list. Existing lists are used as the basis for this year's voting, and additions to it must be made by personal application to the registrars, or in case of illness, by a relative. There are fourteen of these registration booths now open in London, and the same work is being carried on all over the Dominion.

Regardless of political opinion, it is important that people give personal attention to this matter. As far as London is concerned the location of all these registration places has been published in The Advertiser.

It is important that there be a large vote cast. It is the first opportunity people have had to pronounce on federal issues since December of 1921—it is the only way in which electors can rebuke or sanction the government in power.

Do not take a chance on being left off. It is no use arguing about it on election day when the returning officer refuses you a ballot because your name is not on the voters' list. Do it now.

They Kept On Coming.

The magistrate in Windsor dismissed a case where a woman was charged with operating an establishment contrary to the O. T. A. The explanation of how a dozen men happened to be at the house at one time was given like this:

Two insurance agents called to make collections, and while the details were being discussed two real estate men arrived to close a deal for the property. These four were standing in the corridor when two grocery clerks arrived to take orders for the day. Here the men quit travelling two at a time, for the next arrival wanted to "borrow a brush because his hat had fallen in the mud."

When the seven were there a plumber came on the scene to repair a broken pipe in the cellar. There were so many then that they just naturally moved into the house to avoid crowding, and right at this point two other men arrived who had been hired to clean up the yard.

Apparently it's a very easy matter to call a meeting in Windsor and secure a good turnout.

Notes and Comment.

In olden days a murderer used to go to the gallows, but now he goes crazy.

Tax conference in London next week would be largely attended if it had power to prune the bills.

Thirty witnesses have been called for a case in Chatham where $200 is involved. And that's that.

The meanest remark yet uttered about bobbed hair was this: "I don't see why she had to cut off her hair to spite her face."

Guelph reports an increase of 11 during the year. That means that some fine family from Puslinch or Paisley Block moved into town.

The British government has decided to deport 50 Russian and French communist propagandists. John Bull has put up with their nonsense long enough.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who has already announced the complete annihilation of the Liberal party for October 29, will now have to get busy at home to see that the rails on his own fence are tight.

The provincial treasurer of Ontario let a printing contract to a Toronto firm for $23,163, being the lowest figure; the highest was $43,398. The wages in all the offices are practically the same, and they buy their stock in the same market. If the firm that got the business can make a profit, then the high man must have been out to make a killing.

Catching Krim

The French and Spaniards met one day and swore to catch this wicked coon, they'd pepper rock salt in his leg and bring him back next week at noon.

French and Spanish forces are closing in on Add-E-Krim and the Riffs.—News item.

As near as I can make it out the French and Spaniards pooled their men, so that they'd trim the Riffs at once and not be worried much again. They met one day and closed the door and figured for ten hours or so, decidin' what the French would do and where the Spaniards ought to go.

"We'll run him to his knees," they quoth, "we'll spread molasses on his tracks, we'll stop his pink sedan at noon by spreadin' pointed carpet tacks."

So they set to next day at dawn, and drained the buckshot from a keg, the Spaniards swore they'd see him first and blast him straightway in the leg. Then they would get a hempen rope and bind him by the hoof and thigh, proclaimin' to the folks at home how they lassoed this wicked guy.

The cannons banged, the muskets too, they smote upon each sheltered rock, and reckoned they would capture Krim and be back home by six o'clock.

But when this firin' started up, at least how it appears to me, why Krim he saddled up his nag to hide behind some other tree. He didn't have much goods to take when he decided on a change, he left his cupboard and the cat, likewise a chair and kitchen range.

It must be tough this catchin' Krim, for when they reckon how he's caught, they have to send back word again how they regret as how he's not.—ARK.

25 Years Ago Today

(From The Advertiser, Sept. 25, 1900)

Mr. J. H. Hall of Brantford, formerly of London, ran in on his wheel and is visiting friends here.

The Sifton murder trial will be postponed till the next assizes, the defence not being ready to proceed. Dr. Hugh A. McCallum, who had been present at the preliminary examination in Sifton's interests, is now in England and will not be back before 1901.

Winnipeg Free Press: Mr. T. W. Taylor has returned from a visit to the east, during which he attended the London and Toronto fairs as a representative of the Winnipeg exhibition board. Mr. Taylor's opinion is that the London fair is superior to that held in Toronto this year. It was more of an agricultural show and while the platform attractions are inferior to those seen at the Ontario capital, the people who were present at the two exhibitions came away better pleased with the merits of the show in the Forest City.

The postoffice flag is flying at half-mast in respect for the memory of the late ex-Postmaster Dawson.

The first year students of the medical school elected the following officers for the year: President, Alex. Wright; vice-president, G. Elson; secretary, James Taylor; treasurer, Gordon Campbell.

The depredations which have lately been depicting various fish ponds in the surrounding district will do well to take warning by the recent experience of three young men caught robbing the pond of W. T. Strong near Komoka. They all paid fines of from $30 to $50 to save themselves from going to jail. Warrants are also out for two young men implicated and if they return from the United States they will be arrested.

Editorial Opinion

MR. MASSEY'S APPOINTMENT.

(By T. A. Russell, vice-president and general manager of the Willys-Overland Co.)

IN MY own mind I lift Mr. Massey's appointment to the cabinet entirely out of the sphere of mere politics. It is not a question of which side he is on, his influence will be for good. With a man of his capability and standing it could not be otherwise.

I have not even considered what its political effect may be. I am simply glad to see one with his education and equipment entering the sphere of national affairs. Such a capacity and ability as his are bound to be of benefit in public life no matter which side of politics they may be allied with.

INDIANS FIGHTING-IN COURT.

(From The Manchester Guardian)
A curious lawsuit fought to maintain the landed rights of the "Six Nations." It would be easy to dwell on the quaintness of this business and on the contrast between the old Red Indians, with their buckskins and beadwork and scalps and tomahawks, and their descendants who engage in complicated litigation.

Not long ago the League of Nations was actually appealed to by some of the tribes and invited to take action under that clause of the covenant which deals with threats of war—in this case the war would have been between the Indian tribes and Canada. The aggrieved chiefs argued that their Magna Charta, granted after the American war of independence by George III to his faithful allies, the Red Indians, was being infringed and that they were being absorbed into the ordinary Canadian system.

Earlier this summer several chiefs were in England on the same errand. But, of course, they can hope for nothing from this side. They must settle their differences directly with the Canadian government. One may hope, however, that their distinctiveness is being preserved. There are altogether about 100,000 Indians left in Canada (as against about 350,000 in the United States). They are mostly farmers, and they hold their own perfectly well in the strange conditions that the white man has brought.

Must a Man Tell His Wife About His Business?—The Problem of the Boy Who Won't Study.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young married woman, love my husband very much, and would do anything in the world for him, but he never tells me anything about his business, or about his social life. In fact, when I inquire, he tells me it is none of my business. Yet he wants to know everything that I do, and I must be willing to do just what he says at a minute's notice. He does not try to make a home. Is that fair?

AN INTERESTED READER.

Answer: It isn't fair. It is just as much a man's place to help make a happy home as it is a woman's. It is just as much the duty of a man to wear the smile that won't come off as it is the wife's. It is just as much up to a man to handle his wife with tact and diplomacy, and side-step the topics that rile her and get on her nerves, as it is a wife's place to rub her husband's fur the right way.

There is no more reason why a woman should read up on politics and baseball in order to enable her to hand out a witty line of conversation to her husband, than it is why her husband should not peruse the fashion journals and be able to talk intelligently to her about ensembles and the new neckline.

But, my dear lady, matrimony is one of the institutions that snags its fingers in the face of justice. It isn't run that way. It is a thing of special privileges and concessions, and husbands never play fair with their wives. Sometimes they give them a lot more than is due them. Mostly they give less, but wives never get anything just because they are entitled to it.

So you will have to accept the inevitable, which is that if there is any adjusting to be done in your family, you will be the one who will have to do it. You will have to adapt yourself to your husband. He will never fall in with your ways. If you are to have a happy home, you will have to make it. And, considering that a man contributes the money to support the home, perhaps it is not so unfair, after all, for the woman to throw in the good will.

Anyway, whether you think you are doing more than your share or not, it will pay you to do it. In making a happy home, as well as in everything else, those who achieve success are the ones who are willing to work overtime, and do more than they were paid for.

As for your husband not telling you about everything he does, and resenting your curiosity about him, that is a human weakness that many of us have, both male and female. We hate to be asked questions. We hate to fill in a questionnaire and be forced to give an account of what we have done every minute of the day.

So I would earnestly advise you to cut out putting him through the third degree every time he comes home. Bite your tongue off rather than ask him a single question, and the chances are that he will tell you himself far more than you can ever find out when you try to pump him.

Whether a man should tell his wife all about his business or not depends upon how he feels about it. There are men who like to talk shop. There are other men who like to put their business out of their minds when they close their office doors behind them, and who find that only by forgetting their work for a few hours are they able to bring a clear mind to the solving of their problems.

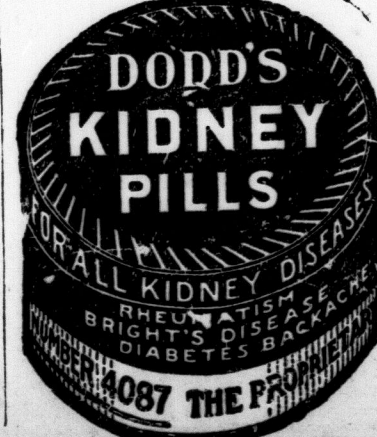

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a son, an only child, who plays and idles away his time in school. He will not put his mind on his studies, and tells me untruths about his school work. He has failed twice in his examinations, although he is as bright as a dollar, and is on the alert about everything but his studies. I spend hours every day trying to help him with his lessons, but he can do nothing with him. His father has whipped him about it without avail, and because he deceives us about his work. He is perfectly healthy and normal in every way. Can you help?

A DESPERATE MOTHER.

Answer: You can't lead a boy to the Perian Spring, but you can't make him drink unless he thirsts for the waters of knowledge. It is tragic that so many boys who yearn for an education are not able to get one, while boys whose parents are trying to thrust an education on them refuse to take it.

Of course, the question with

Perhaps you are using good tea. We think "Red Rose" extra good. Won't you try it?

learned the day before. But it is a hard job to make a child who doesn't like to go to school realize that studying is anything but useless drudgery to him, consigned by misguided parents. DOROTHY DIX.

OILMEN RENAME STEELE PRESIDENT

Port Colborne Man Enters Eighth Term As Head of Association.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Sept. 24.—Chas. E. Steele of Port Colborne, president of the Natural Gas and Petroleum Association of Canada since its organization seven years ago, was this afternoon unanimously re-elected to that office for another year.

Other officers are: First vice-president, S. B. Severson, Buffalo; second vice-president, J. B. McNary, Hamilton; secretary-treasurer, S. A. Morse, Chatham; directors, P. S. Coate, Chatham; H. R. Davis and J. A. Ritchie, Buffalo; C. J. Yorath, Edmonton; E. P. Rowe, Toronto; Gordon D. Wickert, Windsor.

In his president's address, Mr. Steele expressed appreciation of the confidence shown in him by the association. There had, he pointed out, been many changes in natural gas legislation in these seven years, causing a feeling of uncertainty in the industry. If the industry was to continue to serve the public and to undertake the risky and expensive work of developing new gas fields, it must be stabilized; the natural gas operators, the government and the consuming public must understand on what basis they were operating.

An optimistic prediction that extensive new fields of oil and gas would still be found in Western Ontario was voiced by Eugene Coote, dean of the natural gas industry, who developed the first commercial gas well in Ontario in 1888.

The convention closed this evening with a banquet at the King Edward Hotel. The next convention will be held at Niagara Falls.

DEATH OF ROBERT RYAN.

The death of Robert Ryan, a resident of London for the past four years, occurred yesterday at the home of Patrick McLachlin, 710 York street, in his 73rd year. Mr. Ryan was born in Stephen township, Ontario, where he lived for about 60 years. For many years he conducted a farm at Mount Carmel. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning from the home of Mr. McLachlin, to Lady of Mount Carmel church, where requiem high mass will be sung at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Mount Carmel cemetery.

RAILMEN WARN POLITICIANS TO KEEP HANDS OFF C.N.R.

Employees in Convention Express Opposition To Any Political Interference.

AGAINST PATRONAGE

Discuss Meighen's Wingham Threat To Make Expenditure Cut.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Sept. 24.—Employees of the Canadian National Railways unanimously expressed themselves as being opposed to political interference in any way with the management of the railways, at the convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees here this morning.

A resolution was passed without a dissenting vote "that this brotherhood exercise its influence to have nominated and elected to the federal parliament such candidates only as will pledge their support to a continuance of public ownership and operation of the Canadian National railways free from political patronage."

President A. R. Mosher led the discussion, and read correspondence in which he requested from the Prime Minister and the leader of the opposition definite expressions as to the policies of themselves and parties on this question.

Mr. Meighen has stated in his Wingham speech that he would enforce drastic cuts in current expenditures on the national railways. In reply to the brotherhood's letter, Mr. Meighen said that any economies which he proposed would be consistent with the efficient operation of the railways.

Delegates were of the opinion that the interests of the employees generally were overlooked in discussions of the national railways problem. David Mills of London declared that the railways would never succeed unless provision was made first for a wage to every worker that permitted a decent standard of living.

A request for closer co-operation was received by the convention from the president of the Canadian Labor party, J. McDonogh of Toronto. It was decided to have Mr. McDonogh address the convention as to the constitution, aims and objects of the Canadian Labor party before reaching a final decision.

Largest Pike Finally Caught

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, Sept. 24.—Two of the largest pike to be taken from the Thames river this season were caught yesterday by E. M. Grey, King street east. Placed together the fish measured exactly five feet, the one being 32 inches in length and the other one 28 inches. The combined weight of the fish after they were cleaned was eleven and three-quarter pounds.

The mammoth pike were caught at the upper dam, east of the town. Mr. Grey stated that his equipment consisted of a cheap pole, a ten-cent line without reel, which is invariably used for landing large fish.

The convention favored sending a delegate to the conference of the International Transport Workers' Federation at Amsterdam, Holland, of which the brotherhood is the affiliated organization for Canada.

MRS. JOHANNA HEYWOOD DIES AT OAK STREET HOME

Three daughters, Mrs. John Lot, Flint, Mich.; Mrs. William Neno, Brynston and Mrs. John McMurphy of this city, and three sons, John of Toronto, James of Minnesota and Thomas of Alberta survive her.

The funeral will be held from the N. J. Griffith funeral parlors this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to Killworth cemetery. Rev. John Garbutt will conduct the funeral services, which will be of a private nature.

THREE NARROWLY ESCAPE INJURIES AT BELLE RIVER

Chatham, Sept. 24.—Three Chatham people had a narrow escape from serious injury, when, in driving a motor car to Windsor, the machine was struck at an intersection east of Belle River by a motor truck. Occupants of the car were Mr. and Mrs. G. Sayer and Mrs. A. Cook of Chatham. The two ladies were painfully bruised, but suffered no broken bones.

TORY CONVENTION TO MEET OCT. 2ND

Frank White Hesitates About Accepting Conservative Nomination.

London Conservatives will hold a nomination meeting in the Central collegiate auditorium here on the evening of Friday, October 2, according to an announcement made yesterday. Efforts are being made to secure a special speaker for the occasion, possibly one of the former ministers of the Meighen cabinet.

In the event of his being willing to accept the nomination, it is likely that J. Frank White, the present member for London, will be unopposed as the Conservative choice.

Increased business responsibilities are said to have made Mr. White hesitate to accept the nomination again, but strong pressure is being brought to bear from within the party to have him stand for election in the coming campaign, and the probability is that he will accept.

HOPE BAPTIST CHURCH HONORS DR. BOWLEY GREEN

At last night's meeting of the Hope Baptist church, which was in charge of Mr. C. North, Dr. Bowley Green gave a very interesting and helpful talk. At the close of the regular service, which was largely attended, Dr. Green was presented with a gold Eversharp pencil as a small token of the love and esteem in which he was held by the newly formed church, although he is in no wise officially connected with it.

The presentation was made by the Deacon C. Tiffin, and Dr. Green, in his own way, thanked the members and assured them that "Hope" would have a place in his memory.

PRESBYTERIAN W. M. S.

The district meeting of the London Presbyterian W. M. S. was held in Knox church, St. Thomas, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. H. R. Horne, of Toronto, the first vice-president of the general council of the W. M. S. of the Presbyterian church in Canada, was the speaker. Encouraging word of the auxiliary, which has already been formed, was given. The foreign mission work has been given open doors to the world over. The speaker told of the home missionary work among the Indians, Chinese and new Canadians in the western cities and prairies. The redemption work will still be carried on and welcome and welfare secretaries will meet immigrants at ports of entry and follow up the work through the auxiliary of the W. M. S. welcome and welfare secretaries.

The financial report was most satisfactory and a large number attended the meeting.

ENSEMBLE IDEA INVADES HOMES

Harmonizing Details Are Given Much Attention by Good Housekeepers.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, Sept. 24.—The ensemble idea not only has run the gamut in dress, but is injecting itself into household furnishings. Remarkable attention to harmonizing details are now being given by good housekeepers to table linen and accessories. Some of the linen manufacturers have just developed textiles for exquisite tablecloths which harmonize with accompanying napkins, china and candle shades.

Striking and distinctive nooks in living-rooms are being arranged with the aid of similar harmonizing of furniture upholstery, cushions and lamp shades, and boudoirs have been made things of beauty by comparatively inexpensive bed coverings and hangings.

A necklace no longer implies an endless circle, for the newest decorations of this character are not fastened at the ends. They consist of long strings of precious or semi-precious stones finished at either end with a silk tassel and simply wound around the throat like a scarf.

Viewing the jumpers at the horse shows this week cannot compare as an amusement to seeing the tumpers in the smart shops, according to many smart women. For the jumper turned home after spending a few days with relatives in Listowel.

JUST pure satisfaction now—days from your jam and jelly-making. When you add Certo every batch is bound to jelly; it's sure to be delicious. Certo cannot fail you because it is the very element in fruit that makes a jelly—taken from the fruits themselves in which it is abundant. Some fruits never have this jellying property; it grows less in all fruits as they ripen. But Certo makes any fruit jelly perfectly every time.

And you only need to boil your fruit one minute.

That means that you make half again as much jam or jelly from your fruit and it is clearer-colored, finer-flavored than ever. Certo's short boil saves time, saves fruit juice, flavor and color. Order Certo today from your grocer. Douglas Packing Company Ltd., Cobourg, Ont.

Another Sensational Game Seen In Preston Tomorrow

Londoners Confident of Turning Back Falls Senior Team.

TO RUN SPECIAL

Indications were last night that a special train would be run over the C. N. R. lines to Galt Saturday for the play-off game between London Braves and Niagara Falls at Preston on Saturday.

Officials of the senior club said last night that they had opened up negotiations for a special train, when inquiries kept coming in all day yesterday from anxious fans who wanted to make the trip to the Health Town to see the game.

The special will leave here shortly after noon, and the fans will be landed in Preston well before game time.

The Londoners admit that Niagara Falls is stiffer opposition than they seem to be on form. They won Wednesday's game at a skullduggery last night, but in a case where the pitching can't be hit effectively there is not much basis for post-mortems.

However, the Londoners feel that how Bova can be sent back at them without weakening, whereas Down will be fresh and strong for Saturday's encounter.

Few O. B. A. play-offs have brought forth more sensational games than the one the Londoners lost in the C. N. R. game Wednesday, and either team should give the winner of Oslers-Kingston a great battle for the ultimate honors.

The Londoners will not be changed. Silverstein, who had fallen out in hitting, came back Wednesday, and got two blows. If he keeps going, and some of the regular clouters have better luck than they had Saturday, the team's offensive will be much stronger than it was in the first game against the Falls here.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Sept. 24.—W. A. Smith, member of the O. B. A. executive, and president of the Intercounty league, who is in charge of the important game between the London Braves and Niagara Falls at Preston Saturday, reported today that everything is ready. Billy Heise of Preston made the park arrangements, and the 1925 crowd is expected, since the 1925 crowd has been an exceptionally short one for this district and the fans are keen to see another game. Numbers will be there in large numbers, and there is no finer park in the country to see a game. Just who the officials will be was not known tonight, but they will be Toronto men.

RACE AT STRATFORD WON BY IRISH PAT

Monkey Todd Cracks After Taking First Two Heats.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, Sept. 24.—Only one trotting race was staged here this afternoon under the auspices of the Stratford Agricultural Society, a 2:24 trot of one mile. Five heats were necessary to declare the winner, Irish Pat, who after finishing last in the first two heats, finished strongly and won the last three. Monkey Todd showed a great turn of speed in the first heat, winning handily in 2:15. This horse also won the second heat. Then, after leading for three-quarters of a mile, he fell back and permitted Irish Pat to nose him out at the wire 2:22 1/2.

Cold weather affected the attendance considerably, the crowd being nearly as large as that of opening day. W. A. McCullough, secretary of the Canadian national trotting and pacing association, who was a visitor, expressed satisfaction at the manner in which the races were being conducted.

TWO WALLACEBURG TEAMS DRILLING HARD

Intermediates Confident of Retaining Lead at Hamilton Saturday.

Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Sept. 24.—Regular practices are the order of the day in local lacrosse circles, and both the intermediate and juvenile squads are making vigorous preparations for their forthcoming semi-final battles. Except for the misfortune which befell McLean in last Saturday's game, when he had three teeth knocked out, the intermediates escaped with but a few minor bruises and all are in fine condition. McLean's injury is healing up fast, and will have little or no effect on his going at Hamilton next Saturday. The orange and blacks will leave Wallaceburg Friday evening and arrive in Hamilton early Saturday. The local gutted stick-handlers will not hear of defeat and are confident that they can increase their four-goal lead and thereby jump into the finals for the championship against Bradford. Although nothing has been definitely heard regarding who the officials will be Saturday, it is possible that one of last week's referees, Jimmy Collins, will be in action, but according to word from President Rasmussen of the O. A. L. A., another official will be sent to the Tiger town to replace Toots Harrison.

Preparations are also being made to send the juveniles to St. Marys next Wednesday, when they will meet in Weston in a sudden-death game in their semi-final round, and in anticipation of this a large number of citizens have donated liberally towards defraying the expenses incurred in this long trip. The lads are very optimistic and are already looking forward to meeting Orangeville in the finals.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Sept. 24.—Arrangements have been completed for the final game for the championship of the Thames Valley Baseball league between Beachville and the Woodstock Businessmen to be played here Saturday. The Beachville boys have one victory to their credit, and the game Saturday will decide the championship and winner of the John White trophy. The local club will be strengthened by the return to the city of their star twirler, "Buns" MacGregor, and with the visitors pinning their faith on McIntyre, a real battle should ensue.

NEW HIGH IS ATTAINED BY STEEL OF CANADA

Interest Shifts From Traction
To Industrial and Carrier
Groups.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Sept. 24.—Interest on the local market today shifted from the traction to the industrial and carrier groups. Steel of Canada and Canada Steamships preferred displaced Brazilian Traction in regard to active leadership of the market. The first-named has sales totalling 1,000 shares, and after selling at the new high of 23, closed at 24 1/2 for a net gain of 1 point. Steel shares prefer with a turnover of 1,140 shares, sold at the new peak of 55, but towards the close eased to 54 1/2, up 1/2. Brazilian was traded in to extent of 1,025 shares, and eased 1/2 to 72 1/2. Prices in the balance of the list continued to move in a generally forward direction, but there was a falling off in the volume of business, and the range of stocks was narrow. Total sales amounted to 10,311 shares, as compared with 13,120 shares on Wednesday and 12,191 shares on the corresponding day of last year.

Of the 55 stocks that appeared on the board, 29 gained ground and 2 suffered losses, with the largest recession one of 7 points; 12 issues remained unchanged from their previous closing prices, while 13 came out in broken lots only.
The most striking price change of the day was in McKay common, which rose 7 points as a result of denial by the trustees of reports of some capital changes to be effected through the call. The board of the preferred stock. Total sales of bonds, $62,200.

LABOR CONSIDERS FIVE TO CONTEST LOCAL SEAT

Local Party Defers Choice of Standard-Bearer Until Next Friday.

OPEN CONVENTION

Endorse Recommendation To Send Delegates To Progressive Nominations.

Following a two-hour session, replete with interesting situations, the London Labor party, at a meeting in the Labor Temple last night, definitely decided to enter a candidate in the coming federal election, nominated five prospective candidates, and then deferred the choice of a standard-bearer until Friday evening, Oct. 2, when an open convention will be held, at which all members of all organizations that are, or can be, affiliated with the Labor party will have a vote in the selection of the candidate.

The five names placed before the meeting were: Ald. Frank McKay, ex-Ald. John Colbert, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Arthur Mould and L. R. Menzies.

The meeting also endorsed the recommendation of the executive to send labor delegates from the annexed area to the Progressive nomination meeting here on Saturday afternoon. As there are some 15 subdivisions in East London which are included in East Middlesex and each subdivision is entitled to seven delegates, the Labor party will be in a position to wield considerable influence in the Progressive convention. The executive committee of the Labor party will meet next Saturday evening to draw up a platform and to organize for the campaign.

Spirited Meeting.

Such in brief were the features of one of the most spirited Labor meetings held in this city in some time. It resembled at times the preliminary skirmishes of a big naval engagement, but President Arthur Mould, who occupied the chair, handled the situation admirably, and steered the convention past a number of rocks and shoals, which at times threatened to throw the battle formations into confusion.

Whether or not the proposed open convention will land the party in a hot water is a matter for some debate. The decision to hold such a convention was reached by a narrow majority, after several speakers had voiced their misgivings and pointed out the dangers.

It was Ald. Clift who moved that the convention be made an open one, in the belief that a larger number of workers would thus be enthused, and in this he was supported by Wm. Crookford. W. P. Thompson pointed out in no uncertain terms the danger of such a move, stating that the London Labor party has a definite program and policy, and delegates to those conventions should be confined to those in sympathy with that program and policy. There was a great danger, he said, of certain elements within the party packing such a meeting and carrying off the nomination. Wm. Tite spoke along similar lines.

Communists Strong.

Although it was not stated openly at the meeting, the real crux of the situation seems to lie in the fact

MAY RECEIVE MEDALS.

For bravely fighting the waves of Lake Ontario for 27 hours while adrift in a canoe without food and dressed only in summer clothing, Mrs. W. Cork, shown below, and Kathleen Conroy (top), her 12-year-old companion, may be recommended to the Carnegie hero foundation as deserving of medals. Mrs. Cork paddled the canoe continually through a day and as night, while Kathleen held Mrs. Cork's 22-month-old baby.

That L. R. Menzies, president of the Lake Ontario branch of the Communist party of Canada, was among those nominated. The Communists were strongly represented at an open convention. The cleavage between the Communists and the more conservative elements in the party has been growing wider of late, but President Menzies has openly claimed that his following has been steadily on the increase. As an aldermanic candidate at the last municipal election, he polled something like 900 votes, and if he can muster even a portion of this following at an open convention he will be a formidable contender for the nomination. The open-convention idea is an experiment for the Labor party here, but has never been tried in any previous contest in which Labor has entered, and the outcome will be not the least interesting feature of the present campaign.

WHERE TO BUY AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

A Slave of Fashion.

Fashions come and go, except in the movies. There change needs to be sporadic. The great general theme, the zest for moralizing, goes marching on. The cinema, world knows no yearly models, no seasons, there is no rush for foreign creations. The popular octave is democracy, the victory of good over bad, of Main street over Broadway.

A slave of fashion, in which Norma Shearer stars, is shown at Loew's London theatre for the last half of this week. It is one of those films written and produced in a popular tenor, the type of film which year after year offers its great preachments to satiate the great public thirst for films about ordinary, everyday people seeking their own salvation.

There is much action, lavish scenes, unusual incident in this film, which revolves around in film which is dressed only in summer clothing. The key, and costumes are unrestrained in their wealth of beauty. Low Cody plays the chief supporting role.

The Melvito Phantom Revue is as unusual a sketch as has been produced on the vaudeville stage here in months. The act is a greater and more life-like thrill than the noted three dimension movies of Pathe Freres. It is cleverly executed, and offers a laudable song and dance act, with acrobatics that are gracefully executed. Barr and LaMarr are well worth hearing in their singing and talking sketch, their humor

CAPITOL THEATRE.

The Gold Rush.

Tremendous crowds continue to flock to the Capitol to witness Charlie Chaplin's latest and greatest comedy, "The Gold Rush." Standing room was at a premium last night, and Manager Tommy Logan advises Londoners to reach the Capitol as early as possible to ensure seats.

According to popular demand, the Capitol management has arranged for a special Saturday morning matinee for children at 10 o'clock, the admission price being 11 cents for juveniles.

The Capitol orchestra under the leadership of Arthur S. Gesenaway is providing a special musical program for the balance of the week, with E. T. Kalini as visiting conductor. Chaplin has been away from the screen for over two years. With the showing of "The Gold Rush," the Charlie the whole world has known is brought back, the Charlie with the big shoes, the funny little derby, the baggy pants and the trick cane; not to forget the famous mouse mustache—is back to prove that he still stands unchallenged; the king of all comedians. And as Manager Logan remarks: "How could anyone who sees 'The Gold Rush' ever forget Charlie Chaplin? The laughter and enjoyment he has brought to the world will be remembered forever."

REAFFIRM INTENTION TO BACK NEW HOTEL

Lions Club Renews Determination To Aid in Putting Project Over.

Every detail of the big hotel project was carefully gone into before the Lions club last night by Major Wood of the chamber of commerce and Richard Ivey, legal adviser to the local committee. They explained how local investors will be protected by the agreement with the construction company and the lessee. Their own enthusiasm for the project was transmitted to the Lions, and one thing is certain, the Lions will secure subscriptions for every share of their allotment if it is humanly possible.

Questions were asked, and possible objections on the part of subscribers were dealt with. Each Lion on the team told of the objections he had met, and the speakers dealt with how to refute them with facts. A. C. the close of the discussion the Lions reaffirmed their stand behind the project and their determination to help put it over.

Pudney Bros. orchestra provided music for the luncheon.

THE DOVER ROAD WORTHY OF PRAISE

Cameron Mathews Company Present Delightful Comedy at Grand.

It would be difficult to imagine a more stimulating yet withal a more restful comedy than The Dover Road, which opened at the Grand last night for a three-day run. It would be difficult indeed to imagine a company more suited to the vehicle than the Cameron Mathews English comedy company.

A. A. Milne's much-lauded play needs no introduction. It has enjoyed enthusiastic reviews from the sources of critics, of which there are a few still left. The Cameron Mathews players have come in for a considerable share of favorable comment since their arrival in Toronto. So it was to be expected that last night's performance would be a flavor, not only in theme, but in execution. And it is truly a relief to be soothed by the King's English in this era of nasal jazz.

The plot concerns sweethearts, married and otherwise, who have learned the weaknesses of those they love. They look for escape and would settle into the very pitfalls they seek to escape if it were not for a kindly disposed and genial host who lives by the Dover Road.

The situations just bubble over with wholesome fun. Behind them is a sure knowledge of the faults of humans; an understanding of the real and fancied tribulations that are enjoyed by men and women.

All these things come in for skillful handling by the Mathews players, who turn each clever line into a smile or a chuckle as the author intended.

Mr. Cameron Mathews himself takes the part of the generous host. He offered a first rate interpretation. The same may be said of Ruth Taylor, Lumber Larking, Maurice Colborne, Nella Jefferies, Barry Jones, Laura White, Elsie Arthur, Henry Cooper and Ralph Hamilton.

GASOLINE PRICES BEING PROBED

Samples of Gasoline Taken and Replies To Questionnaire Filed.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Sept. 24.—The committee under G. T. Clarkson inquiring into prices of gasoline in Ontario will soon commence holding public hearings. It is announced. Preliminary investigations by Mr. Clarkson have made it possible to hold public meetings in various United States points and many cities and towns of Ontario have been secured by the highways department and the commission has also tabulated replies received to a questionnaire forwarded to all Ontario dealers. This information will form the basis for further investigations.

Officials state they were given every facility by oil and gasoline distributing companies from which they sought information, and were given free access to the books of these companies.

DRAMATIC SESSION

League Members in Violent Demonstration Against Turkish Offensive.

Associated Press Despatch.
Geneva, Sept. 24.—The British delegation to the League of Nations assembly today made public a telegram from the British high commissioner at Baghdad declaring that many Christians fleeing from the disputed Mosul region and attempting to reach Van, have been killed, as they were unable to keep up with their main column. The telegram says it is reported that 1,500 of this Christian party reached Van alive. Van is about 150 miles north of Mosul in Turkish Armenia.

SENDS COMMISSION.
Geneva, Sept. 24.—The Mosul muddle thickened tonight during a dramatic session of the council of the League of Nations, which M. Loucheur, as president, hastily adjourned after an outburst of disapproval of those present against the attitude of Rushdi Bey, head of the Turkish delegation, on the question of the deportation of Christians.

The committee of the council had introduced a resolution which substantially was approved, authorizing despatch of a special league commission to the Mosul area to examine the British charges that Christian Chaldeans were being ill-treated and expelled by the Turks. The Turkish countercharges that British had occupied points held by the League of Nations, which M. Loucheur, as president, hastily adjourned after an outburst of disapproval of those present against the attitude of Rushdi Bey, head of the Turkish delegation, on the question of the deportation of Christians.

Col. Amery, British secretary for the dominions, insisted that the commissioner should not only have the right to pursue his investigation south of the Brussels line, which is occupied by the British, but also in the narrow Mosul strip north of that line occupied by the Turks.

Rushdi Bey evaded a clear answer; whereupon Col. Amery repeated his statement, saying: "I think Turkey should make perfectly clear its attitude on this important point."

Rushdi Bey replied that anything north of the Brussels line was Turkish, hence anything touching the treatment of the population there became a minority problem, which was not concerned with the main Mosul dispute.

Again Col. Amery put his question, demanding an unequivocal yes or no, but again the Turkish delegate refused to answer, saying he could only repeat his previous statements.

Murmurs of disapprobation arose from various parts of the hall, rapidly merging into a violent manifestation. M. Loucheur vigorously pounded the table and called for order. Immediately thereafter he announced that the debate was closed and the resolution adopted.

caustically remarked, then quickly adjourned the session.

After once more denying the deportation of Christians, Rushdi Bey brought fresh charges against Great Britain. One was that an Irak band, after committing atrocities, had attacked a Turkish post north of the Brussels line. A second was that fifty persons of all ages and sexes, escaping from the oppressive rule of the British forced occupation, had taken refuge in the Turkish zone. A third charge was that a band of 500 including Assyrians, commanded by British officers, was preparing to attack the Turkish posts.

Col. Amery informed the council that about 8,000 Chaldean Christians had been deported by the Turks.

Rushdi Bey retorted that the Nestorians, who had abandoned Turkey, were working treacherously against Turkey on the British side. He demanded appointment of a special commission to make an investigation of the military situation and of all incidents which had occurred since the signing of the treaty of Lausanne in 1923. But the council declined to take action on his proposal.

The operations began at dawn Tuesday, and instead of waiting for the invasion, the defenders made a surprise attack, advancing into Red territory. From that on, owing to the flooded condition of the entire area of 2,000 square miles in the zone of the operations, few details are known of the movements of the respective armies, and it is presumed that the manoeuvres were brought to a close a day ahead of time because of the physical difficulties encountered by the troops, many of whom were green men.
