CHANGES ON SCHOOL STAFF

The Board Regrets to Lose the Splendid Services of Misses McKellar and Samson Who Resigned.

Their Successors Chosen—Improvements to the Schools—Other Matters Discussed.

A very important meeting of the Public School Board was held last evening, when several changes were made in the teaching staffs of the Central and McKellar schools. Miss A. McKellar, of the Central, and Miss Minnie Samson, of the McKellar, tendered their resignations, and Miss Gertrude Macpherson, of the Central, asked for a leave of absence for the fall term. The first two resignations were accepted and Miss Macpherson's request was granted. This left three vacancies in the staff. Miss Hattie Hall was appointed in Miss McKellar's place; Miss May Abram in Miss Samson's, and Miss Ethel Park was appointed as substitute for Miss Macpherson.

In moving the acceptance of Miss McKellar's resignation Dr. Bray said, "I regret very much to lose Miss McKellar as she is one of our best and most faithful teachers. This has been proven by results and the love of the children for her. It will be a difficult matter to fill her place. We are always sorry to lose our teachers, and Miss McKellar has been a most efficient teacher."

Mr. Robertson—I am also sorry to see Miss McKellar go. I also feel that we are losing one of our most efficient teachers.

Dr. Bray then moved that Miss Mounier be given the primary room, Miss King be moved to the Junior Third Class, and Miss Hall be appointed to take the vacancy at a salary of $300 per year. The motion carried.

In moving the acceptance of Miss Minnie Samson's resignation Mr. Clements paid her a very high tribute both as a teacher and a lady. Dr. McKellar—in seconding the motion I feel at a loss for words. For 15 years she has been a Maple City teacher and during that time no word of disapprobation has come from anyone. She is a sterling, masterful character and an excellent teacher, and her place will be hard to fill.

Dr. McKellar then moved that the vacancy be filled by Miss Abram. The matter of allotting her room was left to the Principal and Inspector. Dr. Bray moved the granting of Miss Macpherson's leave of absence. Miss Park's salary will be $300 a year.

The young ladies appointed are all Chatham girls and worthy of the positions.

The members present when the meeting was called were Chairman McCorvie and Trustees Dr. R. V. Bray, Robertson, Paxton, Heyward, Clements, and Dr. McKellar. Messrs. Corbett and Morley arrived later.

The Finance committee reported and recommended the payment of the following accounts:

McKEOUGH SCHOOL.

KINDERGARTEN NO. 1.

Teachers salaries, $165.49. Selby & Co., supplies, $10.24. Steam Laundry, 40c. J. W. Bressey, $6.09. G. W. Sulman, supplies, $5.12.

KINDERGARTEN NO. 2.

Teachers salaries, $130.66. The Ark, supplies, $2.15. The Ark, supplies, $2.40. G. W. Sulman, supplies, $13.73. KING STREET PROPERTY. W. A. Needham, $1.00.

GENERAL ACCOUNT.

Robert Park, $100.00. Thomas C. Macnabb, $62.50. James Birch, $34.82. Grand total, $2,386.56.

EXTRA ACCOUNT.

J. W. Dyer, supplies McKellar school, $8.10—paid. Estimates for the year 1904. For the School Board:

EXPENDITURE.

Amount exceeding estimate, $1,700. Teachers salaries, $13,500. Inspector's salary, $400. Secretary's salary, $250. Insurance, 60c. Solicitor's fees, 50c. Repairs to school buildings, $640. Contingencies, $700. Fuel account, $1,531. Model school expenses, $300. James Birch's allowance, $140. Total, $20,531.

RECEIPTS.

Government grant, $920. Inspection 25 classes, $125. Government grant for Model school, $150. County, $150. Non-resident fees, $88. Total, $1,451.

Amount required, $19,100. Applied to the City Council for the above estimates.

In moving the estimates Dr. McKellar explained that more money should have been asked for last year, and for that reason the money has to be asked for this year. The report and estimates passed. Messrs Longwell and Young wrote thanking the Board for increases in salaries.

Applications for positions on the teaching staff were received from Misses Christina Bates and M. McCorvie.

Dr. Bray moved that as a new teacher is not necessary for the Model school term the usual fee of $5 be charged, $2 of which to be placed at the disposal of the committee.—Carried.

It was reported that the King street property has been sold for $1,400. Dr. Bray reported favorably on the summer school. It is well under way with 42 of attendance with more coming.

Mr. Robertson said he could not report on the hearing question at present. Mr. Paxton is at the Eau and not very often in the city and he is one of the most active members of the committee.

Mr. Benson thought that the council should be asked for the money before the matter was gone on with. The new hearing will cost money and he moved that the present hearing committee wait on the council to see if they can get the money to do the work.

Mr. McCorvie — That is a step in the right direction.

Mr. Morley seconded the motion. Dr. McKellar moved that Mr. Clements, who has taken a great interest in the hearing, be added to the committee.

Mr. Clements seconded it. Mr. Morley wanted his name struck off and Mr. Clements' put in his place but the motion carried.

A special meeting will be held in two weeks to receive the report of this committee.

Mr. Clements—I have no special desire to be placed on that committee but I will do my duty. It was the committee's duty to look into this matter of money some time ago and think they have been very lax. Mr. Robertson said he did not want to go on without consulting the rest of the board. He did not think at first that the cost would be so extensive.

It was decided to repair the foundation of the Central School and to repair a blackboard.

Mr. Bray wanted a new room fitted up in the Central School for the Model students, the cost of which would be about $900.

Different members of the board said that soon a new school would be necessary in South Chatham and the present expenditure of $900 in the Central might be unnecessary and it

KURKOI'S CHASE OF THREE MILES

Russian Battalions Put To Flight and Retreat in Wild Disorder—Japs After Them.

Tsin Shau Quan Abandoned—Final Attack on Port Arthur Prepared For—War News.

Tokio, July 4, 3 p.m.—(Delayed in transmission.)—General Kurko's reports that two battalions of Russians attacked the Japanese outposts at Mao Tien Pass at dawn on July 3, under cover of a dense fog. The Russians were repulsed, but they returned and charged three times before they were finally driven off. The Japanese pursued them for three miles to the westward of Mao Tien Pass. The Russians left thirty dead and fifty wounded on the field. The Japanese lost fifteen killed and thirty wounded.

July 5—(Noon).—Gen. Kuroki has occupied Mao Tien Pass without resistance. The Russians have abandoned Tsin Shau Quan, burning the supplies.

A detachment of General Kurko's army has occupied North Fen Shin Pass without meeting with resistance. The main army advanced westward, and occupied a line extending from Mao Tien Pass to the Shao Mao Tien and Sinkai Passes.

RUSSIANS ADMIT REVERSE.

St. Petersburg, July 5, 5:10 p.m.—Thirteen companies of Siberian troops sent out by Lieut.-General Kollar in a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the strength of the Japanese column's advance force moving on Liao Yang, came into collision with Japanese between Mo Tien and Fen Shau Passes yesterday. Sharp fighting ensued, and the Russians retired before overwhelming numbers, after ascertaining the exact strength of the Japanese force. The Russian losses are officially stated to be two hundred. In case the information obtained by General Kollar leads General Kuropatkin to consider that Liao Yang is seriously threatened, it is possible that some troops will return north from the front. Then the Japanese are likely to repeat their attempt to recapture New Chwang.

Cheng Foo, July 5, 3:30 p.m.—Chinese just arrived here who left Port Arthur on July 2nd say that only nine of the larger Russian warships were there then. On June 23, when the fleet engaged the Japanese squadron outside Port Arthur harbor it consisted of eleven of the larger ships.

On July 3rd the Russian and Japanese armies outside of Port Arthur, according to reports, were only separated one from the other by a mile, the Japanese advancing steadily from hill to hill on all of which they are placing big guns. It is said they landed 150 of these guns at Dalny. 6:30 p.m.—A Russian, who left Port Arthur on July 2, and who has just arrived here, says that the only damage done to the Russian fleet during the battle has been the destruction of two houses. There has been no loss of life. Refugees are not allowed to leave Pigeon Bay. They must come direct from Port Arthur. This leads to the belief that the Japanese are in the vicinity of Pigeon Bay. All business is now stopped in the town.

FINE OUTING

The Christ Church Sunday School excursion which went down the river to the lighthouse on the City of Chatham yesterday afternoon was a grand success in every way. There were between six and seven hundred people on board and two hours was spent at the lighthouse with a sail on the lake.

All of the stands on the boat were cleared out and a good sum will be realized from the excursion. Those who had charge of the affair and who deserve great praise for the manner in which they managed the excursion were Messdames Fraser, Wemp, McCosh, Pritchard and Shackleton, and Miss Knight, who had charge of the refreshment table; Misses Edith Rispin and Flossie McCosh, who had charge of the ice cream counter; H. W. Smith, Samson Russell and Geo. McKenzie, of the refreshment counter, and the officers of the Sunday school, Mr. Weir, Mr. Shackleton and Rev. Robt. McCosh. Mr. McCosh especially deserves great credit for the encouragement and help he has given.

GOOD RECORD OF THE TOURISTS

Captain Sissons Chats of the Football Trip to Eastern Strongholds.

Galt is Still Invincible—Thinks Peninsular Leaguers Can Cope With the Rest of Them.

C. B. Sissons, of the Chatham Football Club, who so capably captained the Peninsular League team in their recent eastern tour, has returned home much pleased with the trip. The touring team was composed of seven Darrell players, three Chathamites, two Sandwich men and one from Windsor.

"The team made a most creditable showing," said Captain Sissons to The Planet this morning, "even against the crack eastern teams, and I believe that had the team selected originally by President McDonald all been able to go, we would have demonstrated clearly that Peninsular League football is as good as any in the country."

"After a few hours' wait in London," he continued, "we embarked and arrived in Berlin at six o'clock and were playing before seven. We got three goals in 15 minutes, one by Abram and two by Fyler. Then they scored two and we got two more by Langford and myself. This was the largest score ever played up against Brown, the star Berlin goal-keeper. Berlin has a young team, tremendously fast but lacking in accuracy."

"We went on to Galt that night and playing early proceeded to Dundas in the morning playing at 10:30 in the rain. Dundas is an entirely different team from Berlin. They are all old players, from 25 years of age up, and with the exception of two, all Scotchmen. They were bolstered up for the occasion and have the best intermediate team in the county. They are not so fast as Berlin but deadly in the accuracy. They beat us two to one. B-n-n-i-e scoring. The first goal was the only fumble French made in the whole trip. He played a magnificent game in goal.

"The hotel accommodation in Dundas was such that we hurried on to Galt the same afternoon. In the evening the veteran Jack Gourlay and others of the Galt boys dropped in for a stroll or chat. In the morning the Mayor and aldermen and president of the club appeared with three gaily decorated carriages and drove us around for about an hour and a half. Flat country people could appreciate the splendid view from the hills. As we expected the champion Galtis simply outclassed us. Their team is not so strong as the one that toured last year, but they are still invincible. Only the splendid work of the Darrell defense kept their score down to two in the first half. The second half was more even and several times the good combination of the tourist forwards brought Galt's flags in danger. Our only goal was scored from a set-back.

"I cannot speak too highly of the courtesy of the president of the Galt club, Secretary Duff and the Galt boys generally. They all recalled their visit to Chatham and had many good words to say for the Maple City Club."

"I can only add," said Mr. Sissons, "that I never had a better class of fellows to travel with than the men McDonald chose."

A WILD NIGHT

A little local newspaper man is happy to-day. Reason for happiness—he can ride his bicycle. He was unhappy and excited last night. Reason for unhappiness—he couldn't ride his bicycle. Reason, why—he didn't have it.

Well, to make a short story shorter, give attention!

Scotch whiskey is known to a few—very few—as one of the Garner House specialties. The newspaper man was "in on the ground floor" on this fact, and—according to reports—was seen to enter this well known hostelry with the intention—well, to see a man a—about some—oh, chickens will do.

As is usual, on entering such places, the bicycle was left outside. The wheel was not dry, the road had been well sprinkled.

While the little business transaction was on, the wheel disappeared, miraculously indeed, but 'twas gone. The rider, now nothing more than a bundle of flurried excitement, after considerable skirting around, landed at police court, where he notified the Chief of the theft of his little auto. The Chief said he auto have done it at once.

This morning, however, with no clue, the miniature mite was hustling down the main thoroughfare, very early, with that look in his eyes betokening a sleepless night, when, suddenly, what should he see? Oh, joy indeed! There was his steed! Joy! Joy! Joy!!!

A little boy being asked if he was the oldest in the family, replied: No, mum—my granny is.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6.

A PATRIOTIC OUTBURST.

In a Dominion Day editorial La Patrie, of Montreal, edited by Hon. J. Israel Tarte, the following patriotic sentiments appear:—

"Let us have no prejudices, the one against the other; let us remember that we are the members of one great family, and that we have been called to live under the same laws, the same flag, and under the same institutions. Let us not be carried away by mean jealousies; let us seek rather to rival one another in the rapid march towards material and moral development. Let us French-Canadians never permit ourselves to be distinguished by those who surround us, for it was the practice of those solid virtues that constituted the force of our ancestors. Let us remain attached to that faith which was the force and consolation of our fathers in the days of battle for our national existence."

"In our opinion the present state of things is the best we can desire. We enjoy all the liberties to which any nation can aspire—liberty of worship, liberty of teaching, and parliamentary and municipal liberty. We form part of a powerful empire. The flag that floats over this Canadian land enjoys throughout the world an undisputed prestige. Let us, therefore, be proud of our Canadian and British citizenship."

THE SANGUINARY FOURTH.

Accustomed as we have become to war's slaughter in the Far East, a specially solemn feeling must be excited by the imminence of the 4th of July when annually there are slaughtered in the fun of celebration in the United States more people than have yet perished in any battle of the Japanese-Russian war either on sea or on land, and not including the torpedoing of the Petropavlovsk and the sacrifice on her of Admiral Makarov and 700 or 800 men. The record of the sanguinary 4th last year in the land of the free and the home of the toy pistol and the joyful torpedo is a study. The following table of results of the 4th in 1903 has been published by the Philadelphia Record:—

Died of lockjaw caused by injuries.....	406
Died of other injuries.....	60
Totally blinded.....	10
Number who lost one eye.....	75
Arms and legs lost.....	54
Number who lost fingers.....	174
Total number of casualties in the United States.....	4349
Number injured who recovered.....	3983

Thackeray has apostrophized in verse "the noble art of murdering," but the fancy would have taken a higher flight if he could have observed the alacrity of sacrificial holiday observance in the United States. Here in Canada we are probably wise if we rip and tear less on our national holiday.

QUESTIONS OF VERACITY.

Says Mr. J. S. Willson in the Toronto News:—

Two Ministers of the Crown occupy an unsatisfactory position before the public.

Mr. Sydney Fisher made two speeches in the first debate on the Dundonald incident. At the outset he read a prepared statement, in which he directly asserted that "the only ground on which I made any suggestions in regard to the establishment of this corps was the immense importance of the appointment of leading officers with military qualifications, who knew the country and the people of the Eastern townships."

Later in the day, when the appearance of Lord Dundonald's memorandum had altered the face of affairs, Mr. Fisher admitted that his interference, in part at least, had been dictated by political motives. He related an interview with Colonel Whitley and Colonel Smart, in which his attention had been drawn by the fact that the majority of the officers of the Sweetbush squadron were Conservatives. "I told these gentlemen that, putting aside any question of military qualifications, which I afterwards went into, such a list of officers for that squadron in that neighborhood would be held to be an instance of political preferment, and that it would be impossible to remove from the minds of the people of the district of Bedford the impression that the Colonel who made such recommendations, and was responsible for the success of this regiment, had deliberately undertaken to turn that squadron, if not the whole regiment, into a political Tory organization."

There are the two statements. They were made in one day. The first was carefully prepared, the second was forced out of the Minister of Agriculture by an unexpected turn of the debate. Apart from the question as to whether Mr. Fisher did rightly in concerning himself with the organization of the regiment, there is the fact that he first denied and then admitted that political motives had inspired his action.

On March 30, 1903, Col. Hughes asked a question with regard to Lord Dundonald's suppressed report. Sir Frederick Borden replied that "The General's annual report has been published in full." He went on to say that there had been "a further special report by that officer to myself." And finally he said "The unpublished report is of a confidential nature, just as was the report of the Defence Committee of 1898."

On May 29, 1903, Colonel Tisdale reverted to the subject. The Minister said, in part:—"I consider this report of the Major-General commanding to be of a confidential character, precisely similar to the report made by the Defence Committee in 1898, for which the House voted $5,000." Later, he reiterated this statement in more positive terms. After Colonel Tisdale's rejoinder, the Minister made the assertion once more. On October 8, 1903, the Minister again asserted the close similarity between Lord Dundonald's report of 1898. Both, he said, were schemes of defence. In this debate Sir Frederick Borden partially admitted that the General had intended the report to be published. He reiterated, however, his declaration that Part I. of the General's report was the "entire document and that Part II. was a special report."

Lord Dundonald expressly asserts that the suppressed document was an integral part of his annual report. Had the Minister stated that the report was not considered by him to be suitable for publication and that he took the responsibility of holding it back, against the General's desire, his position would have been candid, though open to argument. In the first two discussions he omitted to give any intimation that the General wished it to be published. Later on a partial admission of this point was forced from him. More than that, he again and again declared that it was a document of the type known technically as a military secret. It was similar, he said five or six times, to the secret report of the Committee on Canadian Defence. Once he used the phrase "precisely similar." Lord Dundonald emphatically declares that there was no analogy between the two documents. His report, he says, was simply an outline of a plan of reorganization. It was a State paper of the sort which constantly is made public in the United States and Great Britain.

Sir Frederick Borden definitely committed himself to the assertion that the suppressed report was similar to that of the Defence Committee. Lord Dundonald positively states that the Minister's statement is untrue. Sir Frederick's reply, so far, has been confined to the argument that he had a right to act as he did. He has not yet dealt with the charge that the suppressed report was not a military secret.

Mr. Fisher made two directly opposite statements in one day. Sir Frederick Borden repeatedly made statements in the House which Lord Dundonald declares to be false.

JUST ONE MORE REMARKABLE CURE

Diabetes is Again Vanquished by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Donat Lafamme, of St. Marguerite, Que., the Man Cured—Further Proof of the Far Reaching Power of the Great Kidney Remedy.

St. Marguerite, Dorchester Co., Que., July 4.—(Special).—That all varieties and stages of Kidney Disease yield readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills has been proved almost daily for years, but when another victory over the deadly Diabetes is scored it is always worthy of mention. Such a case has happened here.

Donat Lafamme is the man cured, and the cure was quick as well as complete. Speaking of his cure Dr. Lafamme says:

"For two years I suffered from Diabetes. I was attended by the doctor but all his remedies did me no good. Then I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and two boxes cured me completely."

What will cure Diabetes will cure any Kidney Disease is an old saying. And no doubt remains that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Diabetes.

FOOLS USE WASHES AND SNUFF.

Thinking perhaps they will cure Catarrh, but no one ever heard of a genuine cure following such senseless treatments. There is just one prompt and thorough cure for Catarrh, and it is fragrant, healing Catarrh, which goes right to the root of the trouble. It destroys the germs, heals the inflamed membrane and cures any case no matter how obstinate or long standing. I experimented for years with Catarrh remedies, but found Catarrh the most reliable and satisfactory," writes W. J. McEachern, of Waterville. "It cured me for all time." For a sure cure use only Catarrh. Complete outfit, $1.00; trial size 25c.

REACHED GOLDEN JUBILEE

St. John, N. B., June 23.—Hon. A. E. McClellan, ex-Governor of New Brunswick, is being warmly congratulated to-day on reaching his golden jubilee in public life.

Fifty years ago Stephen Keifer, of Harwich, drove ten miles for a vote for Hon. A. E. McClellan in his first election, when he was twenty-four years of age. The election resulted in a tie and the sheriff gave the casting vote in his favor. Hon. A. E. McClellan is a cousin of Mrs. Stephen Keifer.

OUTSIDE MARKETS

Henry Clews, of the New York Stock Exchange, in his weekly letter to The Planet, says:

Among financial leaders a confident undertone prevails. The first sign of real improvement is a good demand for securities from investors. This is still in evidence in regard to bonds, and as soon as doubts regarding the elections, the crops, and the war are cleared up the Stock Market is likely to exhibit increasing activity and strength. Generally speaking, the summer is a period of quiet owing to the absence of many operators on vacations, etc.; but the cable and the telegraph bring all in any communication when conditions warrant. If circumstances favor July and August may witness a widening Stock Market, though New York is hardly likely to finance a vigorous bull campaign unless warranted by good crops.

AN EDITOR'S EXPERIENCE

In the Treatment of Humours with More Than Magical Effect with

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

A Remarkable Testimonial from a Most Intelligent and Trustworthy Lady.

"A tumor came on my neck and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange. I was very much alarmed for fear it was malignant. My friends tried to persuade me to consult my physician; but dreading that he would insist on using the knife, I would not consent to go. Instead, I got Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Ointment. I took the former according to directions, and spread a thick layer of the Ointment on the swelling. On renewing it I would bathe my neck in very warm water and Cuticura Soap. In a few days the Cuticura Ointment had drawn the swelling to a head, when it broke. Every morning it was opened with a large sterilized needle, squeezed and bathed, and fresh Ointment put on. Pus and blood, and a yellow, cheesy, tumorous matter came out. In about three or four weeks' time this treatment completely eliminated the tumor. The soreness that had extended down into my chest was all gone, and my neck now seems to be perfectly well."

"About five or six years ago my sister had a similar experience, used the Cuticura Remedies with magical effect. I am willing you should use my testimonial, with the further privilege of revealing my name and address to such persons as may wish to substantiate the above statements by personal letter to me." Chicago, Nov. 12, 1902.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Cuticura Tablets, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. LOOKING BACKWARD

The following stanzas were written by Rev. Dr. Jamieson, on the occasion of the recent Old Boys' Reunion at No. 1, Harwich:—

A VALENTINE PARTY AND ITS SEQUEL.

(Asks His Favorite.)

Dear girl, with eyes so blue and heart so true,
Be mine, just only mine;
For this one single night, my soul's delight,
Be my sweet Valentine.

(Accepted.)

You have power to bless with that word "Yes";
And I've felt your power;
And now it's mine to live—with what you give—
A life in one brief hour.

(Entertains His Valentine.)

It is pleasant to be thus light and free,
Among those we love so well;
But sight of one bright face, its joy and grace,
Is bliss I ne'er can tell.

(Party Over.)

The gayest hour is past, and we're at last
Under the star-lit sky;
Though fraught with mirth and glee,
I'd rather be alone—just you and I.

(On The Way.)

Neath those heavens so bright with silver light,
Thou'rt fairest of the fair;
Thou art queen of the night, brighter than light—
No gem above so rare.

(Home.)

We are soon at the gate; you say it's late—
That we must bid adieu;
Pleasant dreams while you sleep your slumbers deep,
And God watch over you.

(To Himself on His Way Back.)

That girl's the girl for me—why don't you see?
How beautiful, how true?
Never a girl on earth so full of mirth—
Her eyes are melting blue.

(Calls on His Valentine.)

A week has passed and gone, and now, alone,
I see you once again;
Those hot lips so quickly spent, seem'd only lent,
A short, a sweet refrain.

Shall we not often meet? I love to greet
A bright and smiling face;
And you are always bright, as on that night,
And always full of grace.

(Pops the Question.)

A year ago to-day, when all was gay,
I asked you to be mine;
And now, be mine for life, be my dear wife—
My own sweet Valentine.

(Wedding Day.)

The world without, they say, is bright and gay,
The bells are ringing clear;
But heav'n may shine, or suns decline,
Thy love-light is my cheer.

(Later.)

The years have come and gone, and, one by one,
These cares of life have grown;
To us they're bright and fair, beyond compare—
They're all our very own.

These merry girls and boys—our hopes and joys—
For them it's our life to live;
God in heaven, them bless with nothing less Than thou to us didst give.

(Gone for Themselves.)

They are far, far away from us to-day,
And we're alone again;
The fields are just as fair, and sweet the air,
But things are not the same.

Our lives have larger grown, as years have flown,
For theirs are parts of ours;
And far away they roam from this old home,
To plant their distant bow'rs.

(Old Age.)

The sunny days have sped since we were wed—
Sometimes cloudy weather—
But all these happy days, on all our ways,
We've travelled on together.

Your life is not so bright, nor step so light,
As in the long ago.
Time has stolen away all that was gay,
And from your cheeks the glow.

But you are dear to me, more than could be
That night in days of yore;
For through all these long years, mid joys and tears,
I've learned to love you more.

(June 23, 1904.)

Cheer up, my dear, sweet girl; the mirth and whirl
Of life are here once more;
They've all come back in groups, from far-off nooks,
And towns of classic lore.

The girls are old girls now; the boys, somehow,
They say, are old boys, too;
They have come back in hives, with kids and wives,
And some we long since knew.

But all are here to-day, as bright and gay
As rays of morning sun;
As rays of morning sun;

THE BUGLER'S CHEST

Is well expanded. He uses his lungs to their fullest capacity. People in ordinary do not use much over half their lung power. The unused lung surface becomes inert, and offers a prepared ground for the attack of the germs of consumption. There is no need to warn people of the danger of consumption, but warning is constantly needed not to neglect the first symptoms of diseased lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs, and other conditions which, if neglected or unsilently treated, find a fatal termination in consumption. It is entirely free from opiates and narcotics.

"About three years ago I was taken with a bad cough, vomiting and spitting blood," writes Mr. D. J. Robinson, of Springfield, N. Y. "I tried many remedies; nothing seemed to help me.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach. The "Medical Advertiser" in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DAGUERRETYPE.

Odd Notions Concerning the Process When It Was New.

Many amusing remarks were made at the doors of daguerreotype galleries when they were first opened in this country. A small frame containing a dozen specimens would draw a crowd.

One man would undertake to describe how they were made. "You look in the machine, and the picture comes—if you look long enough." Another would say: "It is not so much the looking that does it. The sun burns it in if you keep still." Another made it all very plain by stating, "The plate is a looking glass, and when you sit in front of it your shadow sticks on the plate."

How it came about was never known, but the impression became general that the sitters must not wink. No operator of intelligence ever told the sitters not to wink, for the effort to refrain would have given the eye an unnatural expression. We found it a duty to tell the sitters to wink as usual; that natural winking did not affect the picture. Even then it was not always understood. One old lady jumped out of the chair before a sitting was half over, raising both hands and exclaiming: "Stop it! stop it! I winked!"

Another remarkable fact was that sitters seldom acknowledged their own likenesses. "All good but mine," was the common decision. An aged couple after examining their pictures came to this conclusion, "Maria, yours is perfect, but this does not look like me."

But the old lady answered, "Jeems, yours is as natural as life, but mine is a failure." After a longer consultation the old gentleman said, "We must know each other better than we know ourselves." At one time when Daniel Webster sat for a daguerreotype the finished picture was held before him. Turning away, he said: "I am not to judge of my own looks. It is for you to judge, and you must decide whether the work is worthy of your reputation."—A. Bogardus in Century.

You can never really learn where you do not love.

PRE-EMPTED BY BIRDS.

The Noddies That Own Bird Key, in the Gulf of Mexico.

Out in the gulf of Mexico sixty-five miles from Key West toward the setting sun rise half a dozen barren sand bars from the exquisite turquoise blue waters. One of these, Garden key, is a government fort and coaling station; another is the Loggerhead key, our last outpost toward Cuba and Central America. Other islets are untenanted save when the great sea turtles crawl. One alone, Bird key, is pre-empted by the birds. It would be hard to find a more desolate or isolated region. Though the climate is warm throughout the year, it is not until May that the feathered hosts arrive from the far south at this sandy rendezvous. In the van come the noddies, a few about the 1st of May and the rest within a few days. A week later the sooty terns pour in, and it is said that within a week of their arrival both kinds begin to lay. At the time of our coming nearly all the birds had eggs and were devoting themselves to their family cares.

To reach the buildings from the little landing place we had to pass through a tract of bushes, and here it was that I saw the first nests of the noddies. Upon the tops or in the forks of the bushes each pair had built a rather rude yet fairly substantial platform of sticks, only slightly hollowed, and upon each one sat a dark gray bird. There was something about these graceful little creatures that instantly took me by storm, a case of love at first sight. The noddy is very much like a dove—except for its webbed feet—in size, in form, in the softness of its plumage, the expression of its large dark eyes and its gentle, confiding ways. There is no wild fright as the stranger approaches. Just a shadow of fear is evident, but the birds sit quietly on their nests, hoping and trusting, and do not fly unless approached almost within arm's reach. Then they flit gently away, alighting upon a neighboring bush until the intruder has withdrawn, when they return directly to their charge. It seemed remarkable to find birds so perfectly tame.

PITH AND POINT.

When a friend tells you of his wrongs he wants sympathy and not an argument.

Before a man's first baby is a week old he knows more than he had ever dreamed about.

Speaking of "secret sorrows," it is a good plan to keep them so, as telling only multiplies them.

When a man wants to give you advice, you can't lose anything by listening, but you will make an enemy by refusing.

A man occasionally breaks even. When it comes to wall paper the wife does the picking and the husband does the kicking.

Every one should have saved up enough money to take things a little easier by the time the age comes for taking a nap in a chair.

Trained Tortoises.

Japanese and Korean showmen in addition to their skill as jugglers and acrobats display a truly marvelous skill in teaching animals tricks. They not only exhibit educated bears, spaniels, monkeys and goats, but also trained birds and, what is the more astonishing of all, trick fish.

One of the most curious examples of patient training is an exhibit by an old Korean boatman of a dozen drilled tortoises. Directed by his songs and a small metal drum, they march in time, execute various evolutions and conclude by climbing upon a low table, the larger ones forming of their own accord a bridge for the smaller, to which the feat would otherwise be impossible. When they have all mounted, they dispose themselves in three or four piles like so many plates.

The Study of Nature.

I confess I have not much sympathy with the laboratory study of nature except for economical purposes. Nature under the dissecting knife and the microscope yields important secrets to the students of biology, but the unprofessional students want but little of all this. I know a young woman who took a postgraduate course in biology at a noted summer school, and the one thing she learned was that certain bacilli were found only in the aqueous humor of the eyes of white mice. The world is full of curious facts like that, that have no human interest or educational value whatever.—John Burroughs in Country Life in America.

None Better.

Mrs. Wise—I wouldn't have bought cigars for my husband if I were you. A man doesn't like his wife to do that. Mrs. McBride—I know it's risky unless you're very careful to get the best, but I was careful. Mrs. Wise—Were you? Mrs. McBride—Yes. I picked out a box called "Finest made." There couldn't possibly be anything better than that, you know.

Pride of Ancestry.

"We can't afford to recognize them. Their ancestors were in trade." "Weren't ours?" "Of course, but our trade ancestors are two generations further back than theirs."

Woe.

Miss Mugley—I always try to retire before midnight. I don't like to miss my beauty sleep. Miss Pepprey—You really should try harder. You certainly don't get enough of it.

I've never any pity for conceited people, because I think they carry their comfort about with them.—George Elliot

MOUNTAIN RANGES.

When White Given Way to Green They Are on the Decline.

There is something almost lifelike in the growth of mountains. They do not attain their maximum stature all at a leap. The first great uplift of the Sierras, Professor Lawson thinks, elevated the range about 2,500 feet. Even that was not done at a bound. It took time while the gigantic pressures were at work. vast periods also elapsed while the growing mountains swelled upward to their culmination of 14,000 or 15,000 feet. Perhaps they are still growing.

Age has its common marks everywhere. An old man stoops, shrinks in stature and becomes round shouldered; an aged tree sheds its branches, breaks off at the top and finally tumbles into ruin; a time worn mountain loses its aspiring peaks, smooths down its jagged outlines, rounds off its steep slopes, sinking lower and lower under the constant wear of the elements until only a line of green carpeted hills remains to mark the place where tremendous summits rose into the region of perpetual snow and flashed back the sunshine from a crown of glaciers.

It is relatively an easy task to calculate the age of a mountain range which, like the Sierra Nevada range, had a new birth at the beginning of geologic time, the latest period in the geological history of our planet. It would be far more difficult to offer the measuring tape of the centuries to the great Appalachian range, which lies just behind the Atlantic seaboard. The Appalachians date back to the remote carboniferous age, which ended so long ago that nobody probably would be willing to risk a guess at the number of millions of years which must since have elapsed. The Appalachians may have been magnificent giants in their day, but time has conquered them, as it will also conquer the rugged Sierras, and now their verdured flanks and tops delight the unalarmed eyes of railway tourists winding on swift trains of parlor cars through the rich valleys that have fattened on the substance of the disintegrated peaks.

The glory of a sun is gone when it passes from light to darkness, from solar incandescence to planetary opacity, and likewise the splendor of life for a mountain departs when it sinks from white to green and from the abode of snow to the levels of grass.—Garrett P. Serviss in Success.

LITTLE THOUGHTS.

Time that is lost is never found.

A soft answer may be a hard argument. Difficulties are meant to rouse, not discourage.

It is more profitable to read one man than ten books.

One always has time enough if one will apply it well.

He who takes good care of the days need give himself no worry over the year.

Character consists in a man steadily pursuing the things of which he feels himself capable.

A fault which humbles a man is of more use to him than a good action which puffs him up with pride.

It is better to right your wrongs while they are young and tender than to nurse them until they are old and tough.

Readjusted.

Europeans who are inclined to deny the South African native a sense of humor should read a story of Voltman, the chief of the Pingoos, which Dr. Percival Laurence has told in his book, "On Circuit in Kaffirland." On one occasion four advocates, one of whom was Dr. Laurence, were hard up for transportation and were glad to charter one of Voltman's wagons, with a span of six mules, to convey them to the next circuit town. The charge, they were told, would be £4 pounds per mule, which they suggested was a stiff price. Voltman took time to consider their representation, but ultimately sent a message that his price would not be £4 per mule, but £4 per advocate!

Keeping Out the Tide.

They were on the way to India, and, as they were crossing the restless bay of Biscay, one innocent young lady, speaking to another, asked, "Why do the stewards come in and open or shut the portholes at odd times during the day and night?"

The second and better informed lady replied, "My dear, they shut or open them when the tide rises or falls."—Sporting Times.

Different Smiles.

"I assure you, my dear," he protested, "that I do not care about the smiles of other women."

"But I do," sobbed the wife, "and that's why I think it hateful of you to make me wear this shabby bonnet."

Clean Streets.

Keep the streets clean. Dirty streets injure the town in the eyes of strangers and also make home folks careless. The city must lead in the matter of cleanliness and beauty if it expects citizens to evince a like spirit.

What Constitutes Corruption.

"Is he corrupt?" "Oh, no; I wouldn't call him that." "What do you consider corrupt?" "Why, a man who sells out to two opposing interests in the same deal, of course. Anybody ought to know that."

A flower plucked in the morning conveys fresh twice as long as one plucked later in the day, when the sun is upon it.

Constipation

ABBEY'S SALT is the family laxative—for children as well as grown folk. It never strains or "gripes"—makes the bowels move regularly and naturally—and never fails to completely cure constipation. Containing no alcohol, even children may use it every morning without fear of ill-effects.

LEAVING CHATHAM

Frank Babcock, who for the past year and a half has been the representative for this district west of Toronto for the Mason & Rich Piano Company, with headquarters at Chatham, will, in a couple of months time, assume charge of the district east of Toronto.

During the time Mr. Babcock has been in Chatham he has made many friends both in a social and business way. They are all sorry that he is going to leave Chatham. He is a business man of more than ordinary ability, and during the time he has been in this district he has done excellent work for his company.

His position will be hard to fill. Frank has also been popular with the young men of the city, and as manager of the Tecumseh lacrosse team he has done much towards furthering sport here. One of the chief reasons why he is leaving Chatham is that the climate here is not favorable for himself and Mrs. Babcock.

He assumes charge of his new duties on the first day of September. In the meantime he will enjoy a couple of months holidays.

The fellow who wastes his time does not seem to realize that he will need it all before he dies.

LAOROSSE

The Tecumsehs will hold a full practice to-morrow night at the exhibition grounds, when they will play a practice game with the Bugle Band team, starting at half-past six, sharp. The Bugle Band players will be picked from the following men:—Chrystie, Coupland, Hutchison, Morley, Oldershaw, Ingram, Bennett, Fraser, Tackaberry, Lawson, C. Brundage, E. Brundage, Ross, Pool and Wrigley. All who wish to go to St. Thomas on the 13th, and get a rate of $1.40 by signing the list at the Garner House.

DRUGGED AND ADRIFT

Windsor, Ont., July 5.—A Walkerville policeman this morning discovered a baptha launch drifting down the river directly in the path of the large steamers. In the bottom of the boat lay the body of a man. The craft was towed ashore and Dr. C. W. Hoare, after two hours hard work, succeeded in resuscitating the man, who proved to be John Devereux, of Detroit.

Devereux has only a confused idea of how he came to be in the boat by himself, but it is believed he was placed in the boat and cast adrift after being drugged in an up-river resort. Had his rescue been delayed an hour or two longer he would undoubtedly have succumbed.

GOT THE CLOTHES

Geo. Meynell, the up-to-date clothier, desires to congratulate the children who won his prizes of suits of clothes in the Separate, McKenough and Central Schools, and their parents. Mr. Meynell offered a suit of clothes to the child in each school who got the highest per cent. During the last term of school and they were won by Max Charteris, Ross Duncan and a lad named Pansoneault. If these boys call at the store they may get the clothes.

Mr. Meynell intends to make this a semi-annual affair and he deserves great credit in thus encouraging education among the boys.

MISTAKES IN LIFE.

Brooding Over Them Is Useless and Unprofitable Work.

One of the most unprofitable ways of spending time is the practice, to which many persons are addicted, of brooding over the mistakes one has made in life and thinking what he might have been or achieved if he had not done at certain times just what he did do. Almost every unsuccessful man in looking over his past career is inclined to think that it would have been wholly different but for certain slips and blunders—certain hasty, ill-considered acts into which he was betrayed almost unconsciously and without a suspicion of their consequences.

As he thinks of all the good things of this world—honor, position, power and influence—of which he has been deprived in some mysterious, inexplicable way, he has no patience with himself, and as it is painful and humiliating to dwell long upon one's own follies it is fortunate if he does not implicate others—friends and relatives—in his disappointments. Perhaps, as education has never been free from mistakes—mistakes indeed of every kind—he imputes the blame to his early training, in which habits of thoroughness and accuracy or, again, of self-reliance and independence of thought may not have been implanted. Perhaps a calling was chosen for him by his parents without regard to his peculiar talents or tastes and preferences, or if he was allowed to choose for himself it was when his judgment was immature and unfit for the responsibility. The result was that the square man got into the round hole or the triangular man got into the square hole or the round man squeezed himself into the triangular hole.—Success.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy.

14 POLAR BEARS

Before contemplating challenging the management of the Great Forepaugh and Sells Brothers United Shows to a game of freeze-out here, on Saturday, July 9th, it may be well to remember that they have just added to their double zoological collection a whole Arctic menagerie, in the form of fourteen full-grown Polar Bears. Heretofore a single specimen—big or little—of this solitary and untamable species has been carded as among the rarest of features. The cost and trouble involved in collecting fourteen of these only North Pole discoveries—a greater number than even any Arctic explorer ever saw together at one time—would make an Ice Trust magnate gasp and even gaspare. They are a feature, and the biggest kind of a one. No doubt about that.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Cloudy weather and a few sprinkles of rain did not prevent a good attendance at the Summer School today. The corridors of the Central School were full all day with busy teachers and students. Miss Aylesworth delivered an excellent lecture on card-board modeling at the opening of the morning session.

In the Nature Study department, which is being conducted by the principal, Mr. Flewies, the mounting of insects, pressing of leaves and study of germination were begun. The mounts for the insects and the presses for the leaves are being made by the students themselves, in the sloyd room. This is fitted with carpenter's benches and tools. Miss Gilchrist, of Olinda, is making a special study of the wood-work, with the expectation of introducing it into her school in the fall.

THE ART OF IT

Someone asked "Points," Chatham's famous funny colored comedian, on King street last night, how to steal a chicken. "Dat's easy," said Points. "First yo' have some gin for yo' nerves, then yo' sneak 'round to de hen coops an' peek in. Grab de nearest bird by de neck and squeeze like sixty to keep it from hollerin'. Den when de moon aint lookin' yo' sneak away to a vacant house wid de chicken and pull down all de blinds. While yo' wife an' cookin' de bird, nail a smallpox card on de front door and de odder cullerd people will keep away. Den yo' gets busy wid de chicken and aint it great—oh my!"

CHOICE LOTS FOR SALE
The lots still left in the Athletic Ground Survey are undoubtedly the best value offered in the city at the present time. Why is it that you can buy certain properties in the city to day for about one-half of the original cost? Simply because some people have been foolish enough to buy a lot in an undesirable locality because it was cheap, and then build a good house on it. Such properties must be sold at a low price. The best market in order to affect a sale. Be Wise, Get a Good Location. The best residence property is always the cheapest. When you want to buy a lot you will have scores of purchasers.
The man who would build a good house on this property worth from $1,500 to $3,500 could readily
dispose of it before it would be ready for occupancy at an advance of $500 to $800, and still give the purchaser good value, as the actual value
of these lots is certainly double what is asked for them. Call at the Business College to see the plans and get prices.—D. McLACHLAN.

A WONDERFUL ANIMAL.

The Turtle is a Peculiar Creature
in Many Respects.

Almost alone among God's creatures,
the turtle has but a single enemy—
man. It does not seem to matter to the turtle whether he stays beneath the surface for an hour or a week, nor does it trouble him to spend an equal time on land if the need arises. He is neither fish, flesh nor fowl, yet his flesh partakes of the characteristics of all three. Eating seems a mere superfluous with him, since for weeks at a time he may be headed up in a barrel (with the bung out) and emerge after his long fast apparently none the worse for his enforced abstinence from food, from light and almost from air, and finally, it may be truly said
that of all the higher, warm blooded
organisms there is none so tenacious
of life as the turtle. I can truly say that I have seen the flesh decayed out of a turtle shell and hung up on a tree,
where for hours the quivering, convulsive movements of the muscles
went on. Not only so, but on one occasion only the head and tail were left attached to the shell. Some time had elapsed since the meat had been cut out of the carapace, and no one could have imagined that any life remained in the extremities. But a young Dane, noticing that the down hanging head
and its mouth wide open, very foolishly inserted two fingers between those horrid mandibles. They closed, and our shipmate was two fingers short.
The edges of the turtle's jaw had taken
them off clean, with only the muscular power remaining in the head. Signor Redi once cut a turtle's head off and noted that it lived for twenty-three days without a head, and another whose brain he removed lived for six months, apparently unconscious that it had suffered any loss.—Leslie's Monthly.

BALLOON SPIDERS.

They Voyage at Great Heights Over
Sea as Well as Land.

Given a steady breeze and a free
course, there is practically no limit to the distance which a ballooning spider
may traverse. The writer has taken orb weavers from their snuggeries under divers sheltering projections at the highest attainable point on the dome of St. Peter's in Rome, whither they had doubtless been carried by the wind
when younglings. One may see flocks of gossamer aloft at far greater heights! Seafaring folk often note spider balloons speeding by them at sea or entangled upon various parts of the vessel. Darwin, in his famous voyage of the Beagle, when sixty miles from land saw great numbers of small spiders with their webs. When they first came in contact with the rigging they were seated upon the threads,
and while hanging to these in the slightest breath of air would bear them out of sight. Thus, though so far from land, the wee voyagers were still moving on over the main.

A steamship captain told the writer
of a like observation made by him.
While sailing along the eastern coast
of South America during the month
of March his ship was covered with innumerable spider webs. He was then more than 200 miles from land, about 400 miles south of the equator. The wind was blowing from the continent.
"The spiders seemed like elongated balls," said the captain, "with a sort of umbrella canopy above them. They settled upon the sails and rigging and finally disappeared as they came. You know," he added, "that it is not unusual for birds to be blown out to sea.
How much easier for a spider, provided he has the means to keep himself
suspended in the air!"—H. C. McCook,
LL. D., in Harper's Magazine.

Bees Used in War.

There are at least two recorded instances in which bees have been used as weapons of defense in war. When the Roman general Lucullus was warring against Mithridates, he sent a force against the city of Themiscyra.
As they besieged the walls the inhabitants threw down on them myriads of swarms of bees. These at once began an attack, which resulted in the raising of the siege. These doughy little insects were also once used with equal success in England. Chester was besieged by the Danes and Norwegians,
but its Saxon defenders threw down on them the beehives of the town, and the siege was soon raised.

Times Have Changed.

Once upon a time a superstition existed that a lady ought to blame herself if a man whom she did not intend to accept proposed to her, but that,
should such an unpleasant incident occur, it was at least not to be made a subject of gossip among her acquaintances. Parents thought it incumbent upon them to let a man understand
in time if they did not wish him as a son-in-law. It is needless to remark that such honorable reticence and
kindly prudence are quite out of fashion.—London Standard.

Why He Remained Home.

Model Husband (boastfully)—Yes,
gentlemen, I've been married ten years
and never spent a night away from home yet.

Doubting Thomas—Large and interesting family, eh?
"Only three of us."
"Have one child, eh?"
"No; the other is my wife's mother."

Optimistic.

Young Lawyer—Well, the judge has rendered a decision in our favor in that will case. Older Partner—Never mind.
The other side will appeal, and we will continue to get less out of it.—Puck.

Honesty is the best policy, but he who is governed by that maxim is not an honest man.—Whately.

THE SICILIAN.

His Life is Hedged About by a Series
of Absurd Superstitions.

People of Sicily are vastly superstitious. The Sicilian believes, to give a few examples, in the existence of a double tailed lizard which condescends
to take in its mouth the winning numbers of the lottery. He believes it is unlucky to marry or begin a journey
on a Tuesday or a Friday. He believes in the power of maledictions and of the evil eye and attempts to defend himself against them by wearing amulets,
such as the corno, a coral imitation of the horn of the goat; by spitting three times on the ground while pronouncing
a magic formula or (in certain districts) by invoking the name of Virgil,
who somehow acquired during the middle ages a bizarre reputation as a magician. He believes in sorcerers, of whom a goodly number practice professionally on his island, selling to him
among other wonder working charms
a grotesque colored image of St. Paul to be attached to barren fruit trees and barrels in which wine has soured. He believes that a person born on a Friday is a person born on June 29 (the fete
of St. Paul, who was martyred on that day) which enriched his hand) is able to do both these things and to charm
serpents besides.

Virtue itself offends when coupled with forbidding manners.

The mermaid can never complain
that she has on foot in the grave.

Contentment is the best cure for wrinkles.

method and the ability to do as he says. Dr.
Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method
entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have tried other methods that they have been unable to get cured,
prostate trouble, sexual weakness, varicose veins,
manhood, blood poison, hydrocele, enlargement
of the prostate, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but liberates all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder
or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.
The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make diagnoses and another thing to cure. He knows, to be made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is in the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write
the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him, and if he accepts your case for treatment it is equivalent to a cure, as he does not under any consideration accept a fee for his treatment, and, remember, if he does accept your case you may pay, while he is curing you, for sending the method, as well as his booklet on the subject, containing the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply:

THE CURE'S DINNER.

It Marked a New Era in the Life of an Appreciative Man.

How few there are like the charming
lady in one of Brillat-Savarin's anecdotes! How few there are who know what a good dinner is! But she did,
although she had been brought up in an artificial school. She had called on a simple cure to offer him for his poor, and she did not know that cures
dine in the middle of the day. Dinner
had just been announced, and the cure
asked her to dine with him. She consented. It was a new era in her life.
After that culinary complications became vulgar in her eyes, pate de foie
gras and cream laden sauces disgusted
her, and even Nesselrode pudding, unless made by an artist, made her unhappy. As for liqueurs, she learned to regard a liking for them as a symptom
of advancing age.

It was a fast day, and this made perfection all the more difficult to attain on the part of the cure's old servant, Juliette. The tablecloth glistened,
the porcelain was exquisitely white,
but not costly, were kept hot over boiling water. The soup was delicate of crabs, followed by a salmon trout with a sauce admirably proportioned, and then came an omelet of fish roe, so round, so odorless, so redolent of parsley and chives, that for a moment all conversation stopped. A salad, on the leaves of which light, dewlike drops quivered, preceded the dessert of three luscious pears, a cheese resembling Camembert and a pot of conserves.
The cure did not say grace until he
and his guest had sipped from fragile,
but not costly, cups the limpid and hot Mocha. "No liqueurs," the cure said.
"For my friends, yes. But no strong drinks for me. They are the resources of age!"

It is recorded that the lady was affected almost to tears by this combination of simplicity and elegance. It was a revelation, and to this appreciative marquise the introduction of the famous omelet au thon, the secret of which was almost lost in the revolution, into Parisian society is due.—Mat-
rice F. Egan in Smart Set.

USES FOR LEMONS.

Two or three slices of lemon in a cup
of strong tea will cure a nervous headache.

Lemon juice (outward application)
will allay the irritation caused by the bites of insects.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a small cup of black coffee will relieve bilious headache.

A dash of lemon in plain water is an excellent tooth wash. It not only removes tartar, but sweetens the breath.

Lemon juice is better than any drug or complexion powder for giving permanent clearness and beauty to the skin.

The juice of a lemon taken in hot water on awakening in the morning is an excellent liver corrective and for stout women is better than any anti-
fat medicine ever invented.

Dangerous Admissions.

It is dangerous to make a confession
unless one really means it, and we may add that it is sometimes dangerous to take a confession as honestly meant.
A husband and wife between whom a little unpleasant passage had occurred
had made the matter up, and the wife
said, as if to clear her conscience:
"Oh, well, I suppose that I have my faults."

"Yes, my dear," said the husband.

"What?"

"I simply said 'Yes.'"

"That I have my faults?" exclaimed
the wife indignantly. "What are they.
I should like to know?"

"Well, to begin with—"

"No; I don't want to hear."—London
Tit-Bits.

Indifference.

An old, old woman sat on the curb of Park row. Her clothing was rags.
Her bleared eyes were deep in a setting of wrinkles. Upon her scant gray hair there was something that once had been a hat. She trembled with weakness. Beside her was a basket filled with trumpery, evidently a stock in trade. Passing her were scores of well clad men and women. Few noticed the wretched wreck. Her feet,
shoeless, and wrapped in strips of carpeting, had been bruised on the stones
of the street, and she was adjusting
the covering.

"Terrible!" said a lady to her escort.

"Yes," he replied. "Where 'I go
for lunch?"

An Artist's Errors.

Occasionally Verocchaghia, in his efforts after realism made some strange mistakes. There is, for instance, a picture of his representing the execution of rebels during the Indian mutiny
which is very powerful. Unfortunately,
however, the artist had not apparently known of the change in British

tury after the mutiny.—London Globe.

Her Mamma's Error.

Mrs. Cutter—Charles, what are those large red, white and blue ivory loz-
enges I saw in your pocket last night?
Mr. Cutter—Oh, those—those are trading stamps, dear. Mrs. Cutter—There, that's just what I thought they were,
but mamma declared they had something to do with some kind of a game.

course. Don't you see from her manner
how superior she is to us?—Life.

NATURE STUDY.

Exhibits Way in Which Flowers and Leaves are Packed in the Bud—
Great Object Lesson.

Have you ever noticed the wonderful manner in which the embryo flowers are packed in the bud? If you should take up the study of the opening flowers and leaves this spring
you would find it a most fascinating
pursuit, with something beautiful and curious revealing itself every day to your newly-aroused perceptions. And the best of this line of nature study is that it is easy for even the busiest person to indulge in
it. Once make a beginning, and you will find the opportunities for this simple and delightful diversion coming constantly to you in your ordinary routine of life.

Embryo flowers are disposed in the buds in various ways. The wood sorrel is rolled into a spiral, rose petals
are placed one within the other,
the pink is folded in five divisions,
and others are plaited and fluted
into the smallest possible space. Perhaps all others the bud of the great Oriental poppy is the best example of exquisite packing. Early on a summer morning you may see its huge green hairy bud at the end of a

UNFOLDING LEAVES.

stem several feet in length, and while
you are looking the sepals or calyx
leaves suddenly divide and fall off,
the mass of vivid scarlet petals
crumbled into a thousand folds, begins to open out, and before long
the glorious flower, which is often as much as seven inches across, holds itself in majestic beauty.

Those who possess a tulip tree
will find its opening buds reward examination. The leaves are folded in half and bent double, a pair of stripes enclosing each of the true leaves. One may unpack the entire bud until we come to leaves almost too minute to be discerned.

Young sycamore trees often have
buds of large size and brilliant color.
The foldings of their leaves are very intricate and form an interesting contrast to those of the tulip tree. Hart's tongue fern, arum and pear leaves afford three very remarkable modes of folding in the bud.
The frond of the hart's tongue is rolled up from the tip, the arum
gracefully curled lengthwise. Pear
leaves are rolled from side to side toward the middle.

Success With Sweet Peas.

For sweet peas dig a trench eight inches deep as soon as the ground
can be worked well, manure it well;
then sprinkle dirt over top and sow
the seed quite thickly; then cover
with about three inches of soil.
When the plants are about four inches high, fill in again. This gives good support to the roots. I have racks about five feet high supplied with twine string for the vines to run on.
Water freely; pick the blossoms every day; keep the pods picked off until time to save seed. Last year I picked flowers on Thanksgiving Day;
this year not quite so late. It is a mistake to crowd the space of plants unduly. Let each one stand
nearly or quite clear from all others, even if it be at the cost of throwing out some plants. Half a dozen fine, vigorous, uncrowded
plants are much more satisfactory
than three times as many crowded,
and as a consequence ill-shaped and unhealthy ones.—Mrs. W. Hoover.

Pens for Little Children.

Small children, turkeys and ducks require close board pens for the first weeks of their lives, as they are then so small that any fence of netting will not turn them. Such pens need to be moved about, and to do this by fastening the boards with

CORNERS OF BOARD PEN.

little stakes, inside the pen and out,
is no little work. Cut some wide boards in the fashion shown in the cut, and attach a hook and screw eye to each corner. The pens can then be taken apart, Fig. I, moved and put together firmly, Fig. II, in a moment. The boards can then be kept for use in succeeding years.

Body Lice.

To reach body lice on fowls it is necessary to handle each bird, applying a good insect powder through the feathers and close down to the skin. If this is done three times, about a week or ten days apart, the birds will thereafter keep themselves
substantially free of body lice if supplied with a good dust bath. This is the method adopted on the large poultry plants.

CROWS AND ROOKS.

There Are Many Points of Difference Between These Birds.

Scientifically corvus is the generic
title of the bird family which includes crows, rooks, ravens and jackdaws.

A main distinction between crows
and rooks is that black and gray crows,
which are found always in pairs, are migrants, retreating southward with the advance of winter, while rooks are gregarious and remain where they have been in the habit of nesting. Crows,
too, are carrion eaters, while rooks,
though fond of grubs and worms, will not touch dead things unless driven to do so by hunger.

The most obvious individual points
of difference between the two are the absence of feathers from the face of the adult rook, giving it a vulture-like look, to which its characteristics otherwise hardly entitle it, and the fact that its feathers are of a rich purple
black, almost iridescent, while the plumage of the black crow is in shading somewhat like a badly polished
bot and possesses but little luster.

MEN'S DISEASES

There is seldom a day that we are not consulted in regard to a condition that, if we were to have seen it in its early stages, the sufferer would have been relieved, cured and saved considerable expense. This we consider is due to lack of knowledge on the part of the doctor who has previously treated the case; therefore, we say to you, if you are suffering from any disease or condition peculiar to men, or if you have been a victim and have been disappointed in getting a permanent cure elsewhere, we would like to have some one to our office for personal examination or write us for a Question Blank for Home Treatment. We will explain to you OUR SYSTEM OF TREATMENT, which we have originated and developed after our whole life's experience in the treatment of special diseases of men. We will give you, FREE OF CHARGE, an honest and scientific opinion of your case. If we find you are incurable we will honestly tell you so. If we find your case curable we will give you a WRITTEN guarantee to cure you or refund you your money.

A Hard Critic.
A clergyman was rebuked by one of the ruling elders for sauntering on the Sunday along the hillside above the manse. The clergyman took the rebuke in good part, but tried to show the remonstrant that the action of which he complained was innocent and lawful, and he was about to cite the famous example of a Sabbath walk, with the plucking of the ears of corn, as set forth in the gospels, when he was interrupted with the remark, "O, aye, aye, I ken weel what you mean to say, but for my part I have never thought the better o' them for breakin' the Sabbath." — Geikie's "Scotch Reminiscences."

The Kangaroo Rat.
One of the queerest little animals of the antipodean wilds of the paradoxical continent of Australia is a little zoological oddity which the naturalists have called the kangaroo rat. It averages no larger than the common rodent of the Norway variety, but is a miniature kangaroo in every respect. Its mode of locomotion is precisely the same as that of Macropus giganteus. Besides this, the female carries its young in pouches which nature has provided for that purpose and in many other respects imitates the habits and characteristics of its gigantic relative.

No Room For Doubt.
"Oh, my, yes, he's away up in Shakespeare."
"Is he? I shouldn't have guessed that he had ever read a line of Shakespeare."
"That's strange. Haven't you noticed that every little while he says 'in Shakespeare'?"

ECHOES FROM THE

Mass Kate Garrett, of Chatham, today joined the jolly party at the Botby.

Already some of the enthusiastic yachtsmen are talking of a regatta for this season.

An eighteen pound maskilonge was a feature of yesterday's catch—the record of the season.

Judge Houston spent last evening at the Eon, the guest of W. H. Harper. His honor and family expect to move but on Friday.

Cottagers who desire their Planets delivered at the Eau should notify The Planet office at Chatham and the matter will receive prompt attention. James Boyd is The Planet's Brieau representative.

Cottagers are now settling at the popular summer resort every day and the prospects are for an exceedingly bright and busy season. Boat carpenters and painters are everywhere busy and every craft is being rapidly put into commission.

Cottagers warmly welcomed the popular Conductor McGarvey on the Eau train again this season. By his unfailing courtesy and businesslike methods throughout last season's schedule he won the gratitude and admiration of all the travelling excursionists.

CALLED IT A DRAW.

Although yesterday's game with Trinity College was practically won by the visitors, the locals succeeded in holding it a draw. Trinity declared their innings closed with five wickets down for 125 runs. Chatham went in and when time was called as the visitors could catch the 5.08 G. T. R. train, had scored 41 runs for nine wickets down, W. B. Wells and Frank Dennis being left at bat.

The visiting team was composed of some of the best batsmen seen here in years, and the way they went after the Chatham bowlers was a caution. They batted all bowlers alike.

W. S. Grening made 50 runs, not out, while G. H. Southam tallied 32.

W. B. Wells, Chatham's veteran, made the highest score for the local team, nine runs, not out.

KELVIN AND FIGURES.

Most of the stories about Lord Kelvin which obtain in Glasgow are founded upon the occasional inability of the great man who lapsed in logarithms to bring his mind to a childish sum.

The famous one tells how on his blackboard he once made two and two five and, hearing the chuckles of his delighted class, altered it hastily to three. It was, however, once heard to say, in his characteristic slow way, with his beautiful use of the soft Irish r: "Seven times nine, Mr. Macfarlane, are a hundred and what? Pause. But no; seven times nine cannot be a hundred and anything, Mr. Macfarlane, for the square root of a hundred is ten."

It is also told of him that, walking one day with a friend in Largs, he noticed that it had begun to rain. He questioned his friend closely as to where his coat and umbrella were, and having satisfied himself that his friend had not, began articles with him he said, "Well, in that case, doctor, we will walk back beneath this belt of trees, for the rain will not per-co-late the leaves, doctor, for twenty minutes."

The Name California.

The word California was first used in a work on Spanish chivalry published in 1510. This work was an alleged history of the adventures of "Amadis of Gaul and his son Esplandian." It was of great length and divided into a great number of short stories, one of which was the manner in which "Califa, the queen of the island of California, a country inhabited only by women, who lived as amazons and had gold without end," saved Constantine from an attack by the Persians. This story as well as others was widely read by the people of Spain and by many regarded as fact. Among the stanch believers were the members of the Cortes expedition, who upon landing upon the peninsula of Lower California imagined that they were on an island, which owing to its apparent riches they named after the fabled isle, and Cortes himself called the new country "California."
