PREFACE.

According to the Regulations of the Protestant Committee, candidates for teachers' diplomas are required to pass an examination in the school law and regulations of the Province. As the school law contains details that are of no special interest to teachers, this Manual has been prepared, giving all the important features of the school law, and omitting all unnecessary details.

Although the Manual has been drawn up with special reference to the requirements of candidates for teachers' diplomas, it will be found interesting to anyone who desires information concerning the general principles of the school law.

The Manual consists of three parts: An epitome of the educational history of the Province—A Resumé of the Law of Public Instruction—and The Regulations of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction.

Candidates for teachers' diplomas under the Regulations of the Protestant Committee are required (1), to have a general knowledge of the provisions of the school law and regulations, and (2), to understand clearly the duties of school commissioners, teachers and pupils as laid down in Section III., Articles 60-70, and Sections V., VI. and VII. of the Regulations of the Protestant Committee.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

The school law of the Province of Quebec is the result of many years' growth. In order to study it to advantage it is necessary to know something of its past history, something of the various changes and stages by which the present position has been reached. A complete history of our school law would involve a history of education in the Province. Nothing of this kind can be undertaken in this outline. A mere outline of the more important facts connected with the rise and progress of our educational system is all that can be attempted. It is believed, however, that such a sketch will be a valuable preparation for the intelligent study of the school law.

Division into Periods.

Our educational history breaks itself up into the same great periods into which the general history of the Province is usually divided. We shall therefore, divide our educational outline into four parts, as follows: I. The French Régime; II. From the Conquest to the Union; III. From the Union to Confederation; IV. From Confederation to the present time.

I.

EDUCATION UNDER THE FRENCH REGIME, 1615-1760.

This is a very interesting period of the educational history of the Province, but it gives us very little that bears directly upon the present educational system. During this period there was no public system of schools, and no regular grants were made by the government for the purposes of education. And yet very important educational work was done during this period, and work of a most interesting character. This work was carried on chiefly by members of religious orders, who had come out to New France to carry on missionary work among the native tribes of Indians. The five principal orders which established themselves in this country, and carried on the work of education under the French régime, were the Recollets, the Jesuits, the Ursuline Nuns, the Ladies of the Congregation, and the Sulpicians. The first of these, the Recollets, came out in the year 1615, and the last in 1657. The first three orders made Quebec their headquarters, and the last two selected Montreal. Each order gradually established branch houses as the settlements extended, and their means and numbers permitted. The Ursuline Nuns and the Ladies of the Congregation devoted themselves to the education of girls, and the other orders provided education for boys. Thus was established the system of separate education of the sexes, which forms so prominent a feature of the Roman Catholic schools of the Province at present. In aid of their work these orders received, from time to time, grants of land from the French kings, and also benefactions from private individuals who were interested in the work of religious education which these orders were carrying on in New France. The Recollets, who were the first teaching order to come out to New France, established themselves on the banks of a little river that flows into the St. Lawrence at Quebec, and which they named St. Charles, after their benefactor. They soon formed branch houses at Three Rivers and Tadousac, and devoted themselves to the education of such Indian children as they were able to persuade to accept their instruction. Finding that they were not strong enough to carry on all the educational work in New France, they induced some members of the Jesuit order to join them, and for a time the one establishment at Quebec served for both orders. In consequence of the capture of Quebec in 1629 by the English, both orders were obliged to withdraw from the country. The Recollets did not return until 1670, but the Jesuits returned in 1632, immediately after the restoration of the country to the French, and established a school in Quebec, which, under the name of the Jesuit College, continued to be the leading institution of superior education in the Province during the French régime. In connection with this institution may be mentioned the Petit Séminaire de Québec, founded in 1668 by Bishop Laval, for the higher education of boys. This institution served for many years as a preparatory school for the Jesuit College, and at the time of the conquest over one hundred boarders were in attendance. This Petit Séminaire, or Classical College, along with the Grand Séminaire, or Divinity College, now form Laval University. In 1639 the Ursuline Nuns and Madame de la Peltrie established the Ursuline Convent at Québec, with Marie de l'Incarnation as first Superior. This was the first girls' school in Canada, and from its foundation down to the present time it has taken a most important part in the higher education of the women of the Province. A branch was established at Three Rivers, which has played an important part in the history of that city. In 1836, when the first effort was made to provide Normal Schools for the Province, the Ursuline institutions at Québec and Three Rivers were requested to arrange for classes for the training of teachers in connection with their institutions, and in 1857, when the three existing Normal Schools were first established, the girls' department of the Laval Normal School was placed under the direction of the ladies of the Ursuline Convent at Québec, and this arrangement is still in force.

In 1653 the Congregation of Notre Dame was founded in Montreal, for the education of girls, by Marguerite Bourgeoise, who came out from France for the purpose. These ladies, like the Ursulines of Québec, began their work chiefly with Indian girls. Their work extended so rapidly that they were unable to meet it, and they were obliged in 1688 to organize a class in the art of teaching, in order to prepare teachers to go out and carry on the work of teaching. This may be called the first Normal School work done in the Province. Their work extended so rapidly that at the date of the conquest they had ten branch establishments in the more important centres of the province, all devoted to the education of girls. At the present time hundreds of young women are being educated in their numerous educational establishments, some of which, such as Villa-Maria, Montreal, and Bellevue, Quebec, take a high position among institutions for the higher education of women.

In 1657 the Sulpicians came out to Canada, and established an institution in Montreal for the education of boys. The Seminary of St. Sulpice was founded, and afterwards became the rallying point for educational work in and around Montreal. The Seminary of St. Sulpice received, soon after its foundation, the island of Montreal as an endowment, the revenues from which make the Seminary of St. Sulpice one of the wealthiest corporations on this continent.

In 1670 the Recollets returned to the country, and resumed their educational work at Quebec and Three Rivers.

In addition to the educational work carried on directly by the members of these several orders of missionary teachers, the establishment of schools under lay teachers was encouraged. These schools were assisted both by private benefactions from those interested in this work, and also by the religious orders themselves. Several instances might be cited in which noble laymen consecrated both time and large fortunes to the support of these early educational efforts. By these various means the educational work of the country was carried on during the French régime. Although this educational work had many defects, and although there was no regular educational system in the Province, the religious orders and lay teachers worked faithfully during this period to make the educational record of the struggling colony of New France a creditable one.

II.

FROM THE CONQUEST TO THE UNION, 1760-1841.

The educational history of this period presents many interesting features. We shall trace, first, the history of the educational work that was being carried on by the religious teaching orders at the time of the conquest; secondly, the special and independent schools that were established; and thirdly, the efforts that were made to obtain a system of education for the Province that would be acceptable to the Roman Catholic population and also to the Protestant ruling minority of the Province.

For the first few years after the conquest all the religious teaching orders of the Province naturally experienced some difficulty in continuing their educational work under the new régime. But the work of the Recollets and of the Jesuits was seriously impaired by the change. Their estates, upon the revenues of which they depended for carrying on their educational work, were confiscated to the Crown, and no new members were allowed to join their orders. Under these difficulties, and with their diminished forces, the religious orders were compelled to confine their operations within narrower limits.

In 1768 the classical course of the Jesuit College of Quebec was discontinued, and the students were transferred to the Quebec Seminary. The elementary course was carried on in the college until 1776, when it was occupied by the British troops. The last of the Jesuits in Canada, R. P. Jean Joseph Cazot, died the 16th March, 1800, and the Crown then took possession of the estates.

The Recollets continued their work with diminishing success until 1796, when their establishment at Quebec was destroyed by fire. Individual members of the order carried on the work of teaching in isolated schools until 1840.

The College of Quebec continued to provide classical training for an ever-increasing number of French students. In Montreal the Seminary of St. Sulpice continued its noble work, maintaining not only the Montreal College for superior education, but also excellent elementary schools in and about the city of Montreal. The Ursuline Nuns at Quebec, and the Ladies of the Congregation in Montreal, continued to carry on and extend their educational facilities for the education of girls.

In 1837 the Christian Brothers came out to Canada, and began a work as teachers of elementary schools, which has since developed into one of the most important features of Roman Catholic elementary education in the Province.

In addition to the educational work carried on by religious orders, a large number of other schools was established, to meet the requirements of the increasing population of the Province, in the absence of any public system of education. Of these we may mention : (1) Schools established in connection with the different congregations and churches of the Province ; (2) Schools maintained by educational societies formed for the purpose ; (3) Superior schools established in the country districts, under a Committee, or Board of Management, elected by residents interested in the school ; (4) Special superior schools ; and (5) Private schools.

1. Of the schools established in connection with congregations and churches those of the Roman Catholic parishes were naturally the most numerous. As early as 1789 the Roman Catholic Bishop of Quebec reported that schools, under the direction of the Curé, were regularly kept in the larger villages, and these schools continued to increase in number, until formal provision was made for their support in 1824. Schools were also established in connection with the Protestant churches of Quebec and Montreal.

2. Of the societies formed for the promotion of education, the Quebec Education Society, under the able presidency of Joseph F. Perrault, carried on an important work for many years in and around the city of Quebec. A British and Canadian School Society, formed upon the plan of the English Society, maintained important schools for many years in Montreal, and a similar society supported a school in Quebec. These schools, which are now under the control of the School Commissioners, are still in operation. In Quebec and Montreal important schools were also maintained by the National and Free School Society.

3. Of the Superior Schools established in rural sections under Boards of Management appointed by residents interested in providing a good education for their children, the Academies, chiefly Protestant, established in the rural sections of the Province, were the most important. During the closing years of last century settlers from the New England States established themselves in the present Eastern Townships. They brought with them from their New England homes strong convictions of the importance of education. During the first years of their life in Canada the children of near neighbors were gathered in one of the dwelling houses, and taught by one of the older and better instructed of their sons or daughters. And during the first decade of this century log school houses were erected in many of the townships by the voluntary efforts of the early settlers, in which their children were regularly taught. The cost of erecting these school houses, and maintaining these schools, had to be defrayed by the settlers themselves. Not satisfied with providing elementary schools for their children, the residents of the more thickly settled centres of the townships endeavored, at an early date, to provide more advanced instruction, by establishing "Academies," or Superior Schools.

The persons interested contributed to the erection of a suitable building, and elected a board of trustees, to which was entrusted the management of the school. In the earlier years the teacher had to depend mainly upon the tuition fees for his salary. This was sometimes supplemented by subscriptions, and other special provisions, and when grants were given by the Legislature and by the Royal Institution, these institutions were recognized. Some of these institutions, such as Hatley and Stanstead Academies, have continued their important work down to the present time.

4. It was natural that the want of institutions for superior education should be felt first by the English, who settled in Quebec and Montreal immediately after the conquest. At first some of the English boys attended the Seminary at Quebec, and others were sent to the New England Colleges for their education. The attention of the Government was early drawn to this unsatisfactory state of things, and in 1799 Bishop Mountain, of Quebec, strongly urged upon the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir R. S. Milnes, the importance of establishing institutions of superior education, in which the young men of the Province could be educated. As the result of these representations, it was decided in 1803 to establish two such institutions, one in Quebec and one in Montreal. Owing to difficulties in the Province and in Europe, these institutions were not put into operation until 1816. In that year three Royal grammar schools were established, one in each of the cities of Quebec, Montreal, and Kingston. The Rev. R. Burrage was appointed Master of the Quebec School, and Dr. Skakel Master of the Montreal School, each at a salary of £200 sterling, with an extra allowance for rent, &c.

These Royal Grammar Schools continued their important work until 1846, when they were united to the High Schools of Quebec and Montreal (which had been established a few years before). The two High Schools are among the most important Protestant institutions of superior education of the Province at the present time.

In the early part of this century the Roman Catholics endeavored to provide, for the more important sections of the Province, the advantages of a superior education which up to that time could only be obtained at Quebec and Montreal.

From 1803 to 1832 six classical colleges were founded, namely, at Nicolet, St. Hyacinthe, St. Thérèse, Chambly, St. Anne, and l'Assomption. These, with the two similar institutions in Quebec and Montreal, made ample provision for superior education in the French sections of the Province.

5. As the schools in these early times were maintained almost entirely by tuition fees, private schools, conducted by popular teachers, were very numerous in the cities and towns. Among the very early teachers of French schools I may mention Louis Genereux Labadie. He taught the only French Academy of the Province at Berthier, from 1780 to 1794. He afterwards continued his work at Verchères, where he died in 1824. During his time he was the recipient of many favors from the Governors of the Province, and from other prominent men of the time. Of the English teachers at the beginning of the century Mr. Tanswell, the Rev. Mr. Jackson, the Rev. Mr. Sprat, Mr. Farnham, the Rev. Daniel Wilkie, and the Rev. Mr. Burrage, occupied prominent positions in the City of Quebec, and Mr. Hutchings and Dr. Skakel in the City of Montreal.

We now come to the consideration of the efforts that were made by the Government and the people to establish a system of public schools suitable to the peculiar circumstances of the Province.

efforts that were to establish a

During the troublous times that preceded the Rebellion of 1837, the questions of language and religion occupied a most important position in the discussions that took place. As these two questions had to be satisfactorily settled in preparing a system of public education that would be generally acceptable, it was found exceedingly difficult to arrange a system of elementary schools that would command the support of the people generally.

If the schools were left in the hands of the people they would be conducted in the interests, and according to the views, of the French Roman Catholic majority. If they were controlled by the Government they would naturally be conducted in the language and according to the views of the English ruling minority. The first quarter of this century saw many earnest efforts made to provide a satisfactory system of elementary schools for the Province, but without success.

In 1787 an Educational Committee was appointed by the Government to enquire into the state of education. Upon the report of this Committee, an Act was passed in 1801, providing for the appointment of a permanent committee on education, under the name of The Royal Institution. This Committee was empowered to establish and manage one free school in each parish or township. The masters were appointed and paid by the Governor. As the members of the Royal Institution were largely English and Protestant, Mgr. Hubert, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Quebec, at the time, declined to act as a member of the Board, and instructed his clergy not to encourage the establishment of schools of the Royal Institution in their parishes. In consequence of this opposition, the Royal Institution made little progress in establishing schools in the French parishes. In the English sections of the Province these schools were more successful, but they passed under the control of the common school system as soon as it was established, and now the work of the Royal Institution is confined to the management of McGill University.

The next important step in educational matters was taken in 1824. But during the previous ten years the Legislative Assembly had made an attempt, almost every year, to provide a system of schools that would meet the wants of the French Roman Catholic sections of the Province. But these educational bills were rejected by the Legislative Council, or failed to receive the royal sanction. Some of these earlier educational bills were refused sanction, because they appeared to interfere with the rights of the Royal Institution, and the royal sanction was withheld from others until the Legislative Assembly should pass satisfactory measures concerning the civil list.

A committee on education was appointed by the Legislature in 1815, and another in 1824. These committees took evidence, and reported that the schools of the Royal Institution had failed in the French parishes, and that provision should be made for the establishment of schools in these parishes, under the control of the curé and the chief residents. In 1824 the Fabrique Act was passed, authorizing each Roman Catholic parish to devote one-fourth of its annual church revenues to the support of a school for the parish. Under the provisions of this Act all the wealthier parishes were able to provide schools under local control and acceptable to the people.

In the year 1829 the first public Elementary School Act for the Province was passed. This Act provided that five trustees, elected in each parish or township, should have the management of schools in the parish or township. A grant, not exceeding £50, was made to them if they erected a school house. They also reported to the Legislature. An annual grant of £20 was made to each teacher, and also a grant of ten shillings for each pupil up to fifty. Masters of independent schools, and religious communities educating children of the poor, might avail themselves of the provisions of the Act. It should be noted, in reference to this first form of our public school system—(1) that the schools were voluntary, free, and without taxation, except for the erection of school houses; (2) that although the schools established under this Act took their coloring, as to language and religious teaching, from the communities which maintained them, they were common schools, recognizing no religious distinctions in the community ; and (3) that this Act was limited in its operations to the country districts, special grants being provided for schools in the cities and towns.

Amendments, defining and elaborating the provisions of this Act, were introduced by the Legislature each year during the next five years. School fees were imposed upon children attending school. The number of school districts was fixed. School inspection was provided for in the appointment of nineteen school visitors, to act with the clergy and the members of each county. Certain conditions are prescribed, upon which the grants were paid. The teacher was required to obtain a certificate of capacity from the clergymen, justice of the peace, and resident member of the Legislature. Ten shillings as prize money was granted to each school, to be paid through the member of the county. Teachers who were able to teach both languages were granted £4 extra.

The gradual tendency of all these amending Acts was to give the absolute control of these schools to the county members of the Legislature, by making all grants for school purposes payable through them, or upon their report. Teachers, trustees, and parents came to feel that they could not run counter to the wishes of the member of the county in any respect, without forfeiting their school grants. This objectionable feature was so prominent in a Bill which passed the Legislative Assembly in 1836, that it was rejected by the Legislative Council, and in their report the Council state that the Bill was rejected because of the dangerous powers which it proposed to accord to the members of the Legislative Assembly. A portion of this Bill, providing for the establishment of Normal Schools, was reintroduced as a separate measure, and became law, but owing to the troubles of the next few years it failed to produce any satisfactory results. By the rejection of this Bill of 1836 the country was again left without any school system, except the Fabrique Schools and the Royal Institution, and in consequence of the troubles of the next few years no regular system was established, until after the union in 1841.

Although this school law of 1829-32 and the amending Acts left much to be desired, over 1,500 elementary schools were established under its provisions in the rural sections of the Province. And while the extraordinary powers which the Act conferred upon the members of the Legislature were not always used to the advantage of education, it enabled those members who were interested in the encouragement of education, such as Dr. Meilleur and Mr. Joseph F. Perrault, to exercise a powerful influence for good upon the educational work of their counties. The important points connected with this formative period of our school law may be summarised as follows :—

1. The system was a voluntary and temporary one. There was no tax imposed upon the property of the inhabitants for school purposes. If they wished for a school they were required to provide a suitable building, and to pay certain fees for the children in attendance.

2. The teachers were paid directly by the Government.

3. There was no efficient supervision of the schools. There was no Superintendent of Education, and no paid inspectors. The clergy and the member for the county exercised the chief control.

4. All grants were paid upon a certificate, of the local trustees and of the county member, that the necessary conditions had been fulfilled.

III.

FROM THE UNION TO CONFEDERATION, 1841-1867.

Between the rejection of the Bill of 1836 and the Union of the two Provinces in 1841, two important events occurred in connection with the history of education in the Province.

In 1838 an elaborate report on the state of education in the Province was drawn up under the direction of Lord Durham, giving a detailed account of the history of education from the beginning of the century, and making some important recommendations.

In 1841 an important series of letters, by Charles Mondelet, concerning a public school system for the Province, was published. These two discussions of the educational condition of the Province prepared the way for the Act of 1841.

According to the provisions of this Act—

- (1.) A Common School Fund was established ;
- (2.) A Superintendent was provided for, whose duty it was to distribute grants, and to visit the schools ;
- (3.) The district or Municipal Council was authorized to levy school taxes for the building of school houses and the maintenance of schools ;
- (4.) Five School Commissioners, elected by the people, managed the schools, examined the teachers, and determined the course of study and the text-books ;
- (5.) The religious minority might dissent and establish schools of their own ;
- (6.) In the cities a Board of Examiners was provided, divided into two sections, Roman Catholic and Protestant, who examined teachers, regulated the course of study, text-books, etc., and visited the city schools.

This law of 1841 introduced the principle of compulsory taxation for the maintenance of schools ; but as the power of taxation was left in the hands of the district council, whose members were appointed by the Government, the measure was stoutly resisted by the people, on the ground that they were left without control as to the amount of tax that should be imposed. Owing to this opposition, the strong efforts put forward by Dr. Meilleur, the first Superintendent, to put the Act into operation, met with little success, and it was not until 1846, when the Act was modified so as to place the power of taxation in the hands of the Commissioners elected by the people, that it could be generally enforced. And even then the prejudices aroused by the Act of 1841 were so strong, that opposition to the Act of 1846 was continued in many parts of the Province.

The school law adopted in 1846, and amended in 1849, is substantially the same as the present school law of the Province. It has been modified in many of its details, and some important additions have been made, but the general principles of the Act of 1846 still continue in our present law. This Act was based upon the then existing school law of the State of New York, which had received favorable mention in the letters of Charles Mondelet, already referred to.

This Act of 1846 contains provisions concerning a school in each township or parish; the election of School Commissioners; the duties of School Commissioners; the levy and collection of school taxes; the support of a model school in each Municipality; the establishment of dissentient schools; special regulations for the cities of Quebec and Montreal; a Board of Examiners for candidates for teachers' diplomas in Quebec and Montreal; and a Superintendent to take charge of the working of the school law.

Although Dr. Meilleur, the Superintendent, met with a good deal of opposition in his efforts to put the provisions of this law into operation throughout the Province, it gradually worked its way into favor, and in a short time nearly every section of the Province had organized schools under its provisions. As the law of 1846 which we have been considering is identical in its general principles with our present educational system, a reference to the more important amendments since introduced is all that is now required to complete this outline.

In 1852, in accordance with provision made the previous year, twenty-four School Inspectors were appointed to examine and report upon the schools of the Province. This number has since been increased to thirty-six. In 1855 Dr. Meilleur, the first Superintendent of Schools in this Province, resigned after a service of thirteen years, and was succeeded by the Hon. P. J. O. Chauveau, who held the position of Superintendent until 1867, and then continued his work as Minister of Education until 1873.

Shortly after the Hon. Mr. Chauveau came into office, he succeeded in carrying out many of the suggestions that had been frequently urged by Dr. Meilleur.

In 1856 provision was made for the establishment of Normal Schools, a Journal of Education in French and English, and a Council of Public Instruction.

The three existing Normal Schools were opened in 1857. A Journal of Education in French and English was published the same year, and a Council of Public Instruction, composed of fifteen members, held its first meeting in January, 1860. Up to this date the Superintendent had been alone in the management of the educational matters of the Province. By the appointment of the Council, fourteen men were associated with the Superintendent in the consideration of some of the more important educational business of the Department of Public Instruction.

During this period a large number of independent institutions of superior education were established, and among them the three universities of the Province. We have already referred to the founding of the Grand Seminary of Quebec by Bishop Laval. In 1854 this institution was accorded university powers by Royal charter, under the name of Laval University.

In 1811 provision was made by the bequest of the Hon. James McGill, for the establishment of McGill College, which was erected into a University by Royal charter in 1821, and re-organized by an amended charter 1852. It was from this last date that the important work of the University began, under the direction of the present Principal, Sir William Dawson, who has gradually raised the University to the proud position which it now occupies among the educational institutions of this continent.

In 1843 an institution of superior education at Lennoxville, in connection with the Church of England, was incorporated by the Legislature under the name of Bishop's College. In 1852 Bishop's College was erected into a University by Royal charter, and has since provided courses of instruction in Arts, Divinity, Law, and Medicine, and granted degrees in the same. In connection with Bishop's College there is a large boarding school, conducted upon the plan of the English public schools, and residence is also provided in the College buildings for the students in Arts and Divinity.

In 1855 St. Francis College, Richmond, was incorporated, and in 1860 Morrin College, Quebec, was founded.

In addition to the foregoing Protestant institutions, the list of Roman Catholic classical colleges was increased by the establishment of twelve additional institutions in different sections of the Province. One of these, St. Mary's College, Montreal, was established by the Jesuit Fathers, who had returned to Canada in 1842. The college, which was opened in 1848, was incorporated by the Provincial Legislature in 1852.

Such were the more important features of our educational system at the time of confederation.

IV.

FROM CONFEDERATION TO THE PRESENT TIME, 1867-1890.

Since confederation a number of important amendments have been made to our educational law, chiefly in the direction of dividing our educational work into two sections, Roman Catholic and Protestant, and of giving the Protestant section of the Council of Public Instruction complete control over Protestant schools.

In 1869 a law concerning education was passed by the new Legislature of Quebec, which contained several important provisions. These were adopted after numerous consultations between leading representatives of the Protestant minority and the Government of the day. Among other things it provided that the Council of Public Instruction should be composed of fourteen Roman Catholics and seven Protestants, and that these two sections should be committees of the Council for the consideration of matters pertaining to schools of their own faith. These committees could not take any formal action, however, except through the Council. It also provided that grants for superior education should be divided between Roman Catholic and Protestant institutions, according to the Roman Catholic and Protestant population of the Province.

The law of 1869 also extended the privileges of dissentients in several respects, and established the present system of the division of school taxes upon incorporated companies between the minority and the majority in a municipality in proportion to the number of children attending their respective schools.

Very important changes were also made by this law of 1869 in the educational system of the cities of Quebec and Montreal.

Up to this time no regular school tax had been levied in these cities. The Act of 1846 provided that the City Treasurer was to pay over to the School Commissioners annually an amount equal to the Government grant; but as the cities were better provided with educational facilities than the country districts, Montreal was to receive from the Government grant one-fourth, and Quebec two-thirds, of the amount to which they were entitled by population. Under the law of 1869 a regular school tax was imposed, and the revenues of the school boards of the two cities were so increased that they have been able to build up their present excellent system of city schools.

In 1876 another important educational measure was passed by the Legislature. This Act provided (1) that the Roman Catholic Bishops of the Province should be ex-officio members of the Council of Public Instruction; (2) that one-third of the Council should be Protestant; and (3) that each of the two committees of the Council should have the power of separate and independent action in reference to all matters which concern the educational work under their respective control.

This was a most important provision. Under it each committee appoints its own chairman and secretary, and conducts its business as an independent council. Upon the recommendation of the Roman Catholic or Protestant Committee, as the case may be, Professors of Normal Schools, School Inspectors, members of the Boards of Examiners, and the Secretaries of the Department of Public Instruction, are appointed by the Government. By placing the choice of these officers for Protestant institutions in the hands of the Protestant Committee, an important guarantee has been given that these appointments will be made in a manner acceptable to the Protestant minority. And although it is not stated in the law that one of the two Secretaries of the Department of Public Instruction shall be a Protestant, this is practically secured by the method of appointment.

In 1888 a number of amendments were made to the school law, chiefly referring to details, and in the same year the school laws were codified. Among the most important amendments were, first, the provision for establishing a Central Board of Examiners to replace the local boards, and second, the provision for the election of a member of the Protestant Committee by the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. In the same year the regulations that had been adopted from time to time by the Committees of the Council of Public Instruction were collected and revised. New regulations were introduced where necessary, so as to form a complete system of school regulations. These regulations are now published in pamphlet form, and form part of the School Code of the Province.

This completes the historical sketch of our school law. We have been compelled to omit many important and interesting details, but the events outlined will give the student an intelligent grasp of the successive stages by which the present educational status has been reached.

OF THE ### LAW OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

1882-3—The Department of Public Instruction consists of a superintendent, who is appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, two secretaries, who have, under the superintendent, the general control of matters connected with the department, and such other officers as are required for the administration of the laws of public instruction.

1886—The superintendent, in the exercise of his functions, is bound to comply with the directions of the Council of Public Instruction, or with those of the Roman Catholic or Protestant committee, as the case may be.

1889-92—It is the duty of the superintendent :—

1. To hold enquiries into difficulties concerning schools and school-houses ;
2. To compile and publish statistics ;
3. To submit to the government an annual statement of sums required for public instruction ;
4. To distribute grants to school boards ;
5. To prepare and distribute necessary blank forms, and advice on the management of schools ;

6. To examine and control accounts of all persons receiving government grants for schools.

7.—To make an annual report to the Legislature.

8.—To investigate disputes arising between school commissioners and trustees and teachers, and to give a final decision.

THE COUNCIL OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

1893—The Council of Public Instruction is composed (1) of the Roman Catholic bishops of the Province, ex-officio (now ten in number); (2) of an equal number of Roman Catholic laymen; and (3) of an equal number of Protestants. The last two classes are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

1895-9—The superintendent is chairman of the council, and the two secretaries of the department are joint secretaries of the council. The superintendent provides a place of meeting for the council, calls special meetings of the same, and provides for its expenses.

1910—It is the duty of the Council of Public Instruction to consider such educational matters as affect the interests of both Roman Catholics and Protestants.

1894—The Council of Public Instruction is divided into two committees, the one consisting of the Roman Catholic and the other of the Protestant members thereof.

1901—Each committee has its meetings separate, and it may fix the period and number thereof.

It establishes its quorum, settles the mode of procedure at its meetings, appoints a chairman and secretary, and revokes such appointments at pleasure.

1903—The members of the Protestant committee may associate with themselves five persons to assist them in their labors, and the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers may appoint a sixth associate member.

Such persons do not form part of the Council of Public Instruction, but they have in the Protestant committee the same powers as the ordinary members of such committee.

1911—Everything within the scope of the functions of the Council of Public Instruction, which specially concerns the schools and public instruction generally of Roman Catholics, is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Roman Catholic committee of such Council. In the same manner, everything within the scope of such functions, which specially concerns the schools and public instruction generally of Protestants, is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Protestant committee.

1912-41—It is the duty of each committee:—

1. To make regulations for school inspectors, normal schools, public schools, and boards of examiners;
2. To cancel diplomas of teachers guilty of bad conduct, immorality, or intemperance;
3. To recommend the dismissal of school inspectors found guilty of bad conduct, immorality, intemperance, or neglect of duty;
4. To select, and arrange for the publication of, a suitable series of school text-books;
5. To hear appeals from the decisions of the superintendent;
6. To receive legacies for educational purposes;
7. To select and recommend for appointment school inspectors, professors of normal schools, the secretaries, and the members of boards of examiners;
8. To consider all matters and documents submitted by the secretary of the committee from the Department of Public Instruction.

SCHOOL INSPECTORS.

1942—School inspectors are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council on the recommendation of the committees. Their duties are:—

1. To examine the school teachers, schools and school-houses under their control;

2. To inspect the accounts of the secretary-treasurers and the registers of the school commissioners or trustees;

3. To ascertain whether the provisions of the school laws and regulations are carried out.

1944—No person can be appointed school inspector unless:—

1. He has attained the age of twenty-five years;

2. He has obtained a diploma;

3. He has taught school during at least five years;

4. He has discontinued teaching not more than five years;

5. He has been examined by one of the two committees.

1945—In the performance of his duties each inspector complies with the instructions given to him by the superintendent, in accordance with the regulations of the committees.

1946—The secretary-treasurer of each municipality and every teacher of a public school therein shall, under a penalty of eight dollars, exhibit to him all the documents in their charge belonging to or in any way relating to their respective offices.

SCHOOL VISITORS.

1950—School visitors may visit the public schools as often as they think desirable; but visitors are entitled to visit only the schools of their own religious faith.

1954—Each visitor is entitled:—

To be present at examinations made by any board of examiners, and to question the candidates who offer themselves for examinations, and to give his opinion.

To have communication of the regulations and other documents relative to each school and of all other information concerning it.

1951—The following persons are school visitors for the whole Province:—

1st.—Members of the two committees of the Council of Public Instruction;

2ndly. Judges of the Supreme Court, of the Court of Queen's Bench, and of the Superior Court, residing in the Province;

3rdly.—Members of the Federal Parliament resident in the Province;

4thly. Members of the Legislature of Quebec;

5thly. The Secretaries of the Department of Public Instruction;

6thly. The principals and professors of normal schools.

2nd. The following persons are visitors only for the municipality in which they reside:—

1st. Roman Catholic and Protestant clergymen;

2ndly. Members of the Council of Arts and Manufactures;

3rdly. The Mayor and the Justices of the Peace;

4thly. The colonels, lieutenant-colonels, majors and senior captains of the militia.

BOARDS OF EXAMINERS.

1955—Boards of examiners for the examination of candidates for teachers' diplomas are established by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

1957—The members (from five to fourteen in number) are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor upon the recommendation of one of the committees of the Council of Public Instruction.

1958—These boards of examiners may be organized in two divisions, Roman Catholic and Protestant, in which case each division has the same powers as the whole board.

1962—It is the duty of these boards of examiners to examine candidates for teachers' diplomas, and to deliver diplomas to those deemed worthy, in accordance with the regulations of the committees of the Council of Public Instruction.

1966—The Lieutenant-Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the Protestant committee, has constituted a central board of examiners for the examination of candidates for teachers' diplomas. The central board alone has the right of issuing diplomas valid for the schools under the control of the Protestant committee.

1967—The central board of examiners is composed of five members and a secretary, appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the Protestant committee.

1968—It is the duty of the central board:—

1. To prepare the examination questions in the different subjects prescribed;
2. To submit the examination questions to the candidates at central localities;
3. To examine the answers given by the candidates, and, after due deliberation, to grant diplomas to the candidates deemed worthy.

1969—The examinations under the central board are conducted in accordance with the regulations of the Protestant committee.

this law shall, unless provided with a diploma from one of the normal schools of the Province, undergo an examination before one of the said boards of examiners and obtain a diploma.

School commissioners and trustees, and all persons entrusted with the management of schools, shall employ as teachers such persons only as are provided with diplomas as above mentioned, on pain of losing their share of the grants made for the encouragement of education.

1960—Nevertheless, every priest, minister and ecclesiastic, and every person forming part of a religious order instituted for educational purposes, or being a member of a religious community of women, shall be exempt from undergoing an examination before any of the said boards.

1965—The Roman Catholic or Protestant committee may require any teacher holding a diploma granted by a board of examiners to submit to examination de novo, by such board, and in default of any such teacher doing so, or in case of failure of such teacher thereupon for any cause to obtain a new diploma, the diploma previously granted shall become null and void.

SCHOOL MUNICIPALITIES.

1860—The term "school municipality" means any territory erected into a municipality for the support of schools under the control of school commissioners or trustees.

1973—The Lieutenant-Governor in Council may erect new school municipalities and subdivide or change the limits of old ones. School municipalities are under the control of five school commissioners (or three trustees) elected by the ratepayers.

1891—School commissioners may, if necessary, divide a school municipality into districts, and maintain one or two schools in each district.

1984—In order to be erected into a school district, a section of territory must contain at least twenty children over five and under sixteen years of age.

The commissioners or trustees may, however, allow one school district to contain a smaller number of children.

1981—No school district shall exceed five miles in length or breadth.

DISSENTIENT SCHOOLS.

1985—If, in any municipality, the regulations and arrangements made by the school commissioners for the management of any school are not agreeable to any number whatever of the proprietors, occupants, tenants or ratepayers professing a religious faith different from that of the majority of the inhabitants of such municipality, such proprietors, occupants, tenants and ratepayers may signify such dissent, in writing, to the chairman of the commissioners.

2. Such notice of dissent, which may be in the form appended, is made and signed in triplicate: one copy is served upon the chairman of the school commissioners, one copy is kept in the archives of the trustees, and one copy is sent to the superintendent of public instruction.

Notice of Dissent.

To the chairman of the school commissioners of the municipality of _____, county of _____.

SIR,

We, the undersigned proprietors, occupants, tenants and ratepayers of the municipality of _____, county of _____, professing the _____ religion, have the honor, under Article 1985 of the Revised Statutes of the Province of Quebec, to notify you of our intention of withdrawing from the control of the school corporation of which you are the chairman.

Given at _____ this _____ day of _____, 18 ____.

(Signatures of the dissentients.)

1986—During the month following the service of the notice of dissent, the said persons elect three school trustees, in the manner prescribed by Article 1997 and following.

During the eight days following their election or nomination, the trustees must give notice thereof to the chairman of the school commissioners.

1987—If, in any municipality, the minority which declared itself to be dissentient increases and becomes the majority, the dissentients, in consequence thereof, have a right to organize themselves, that is to say, to elect five commissioners in the month of July, in the manner prescribed by Article 1997 and following.

On the other hand, the former majority, having become the minority, may declare itself to be dissentient, and may elect three trustees for the management of its school affairs.

1988—Dissentients are not liable for any taxes or school rates which may be imposed by the school commissioners, except for the taxes for the then current year, or for taxes for the building of any school-house previously contracted for, or for the payment of debts previously incurred; provided always, that such taxes are imposed within six months from the date of the receipt of the declaration of dissent.

But in the case of newly-organized municipalities, if the declaration of dissent be served upon the chairman of the school commissioners, within one month after the organization of the school corporation, the dissentients are not liable for any taxes imposed by the school commissioners.

1989—The dissentients of a municipality may unite with an adjoining municipality of their own religious faith in supporting schools.

1990—The minority in a whole township (or parish) may unite in supporting a dissentient school, situated at any point in the township.

1991—If dissentients remain one year without schools, they may be replaced under the control of the school commissioners.

1993—If there is no dissentient school in a municipality, anyone, belonging to the religious minority, having children of school age, may dissent and support a school in an adjoining municipality not more than three miles distant.

1996—Any person belonging to the religious minority may at any time become a dissentient, and any dissentient may, in like manner, declare his intention of ceasing to be a dissentient, subject, however, in either case to the restrictions of Article 1988.

The receipt by the chairman of the commissioners and the trustees of the declaration made, in either of the above-mentioned cases, is sufficient to place the persons so making the said declaration under the control of the commissioners or trustees, as the case may be.

2080—Trustees have the same powers and duties as school commissioners for the management of the schools under their control.

2081—The trustees are a corporation for the purposes of their own dissentient schools, and are entitled to receive from the superintendent shares of the general school fund, bearing the same proportion to the whole sums allotted from time to time to such municipality as the number of children attending such dissentient schools bears to the entire number of children attending school in such municipality at the same time.

2082—Trustees alone have the right of imposing and collecting the taxes upon the dissentient inhabitants.

2083—Whenever the school trustees in two adjoining municipalities are unable to support a school in each municipality, it is lawful for them to unite, and to establish and maintain, under their joint management, a school situated as near the limits of both municipalities as possible, so as to be accessible to both.

In such case, the trustees jointly report their proceedings to the superintendent, who remits the share of the common school grant to the secretary-treasurer, whose name first appears on the report.

2084—The trustees are entitled to a copy of the collection roll in force, of the list of children capable of attending school, and of all other documents in the hands of the school commissioners, or of the secretary-treasurer, connected with the management of dissentient schools.

ELECTION OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.

1997—On the first juridicial Monday, or upon one of the following Mondays, in July in each year, a general meeting of all the proprietors of real estate paying taxes or monthly fees in each school municipality, called by the secretary-treasurer, and presided over by the chairman of the school board, is held for the election of school commissioners or trustees.

2005—No person can vote at such election unless he has paid all school contributions due by him.

2004—At such meeting the proprietors of real estate paying taxes or monthly fees, qualified to vote, elect five school commissioners or three trustees, as the case may be, or the number of commissioners or trustees required to fill the vacancies caused by the retiring of such of the commissioners or trustees as go out of office.

All persons so elected, except Roman Catholic and Protestant clergymen, are bound to accept the office to which they have been elected.

2003—The election commences at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and closes at five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day.

2002—§ 2. No one can be proposed for election unless, at the time, his name and surname, as well as the names and surnames of the voters who propose him, are given.

3. If, during the first hour after the opening of the meeting, as many candidates as there are school commissioners or trustees to be elected, or fewer candidates than the required number, have been proposed for election as school commissioners or trustees, the election is declared closed, and the presiding officer proclaims the candidates proposed for election duly elected.

4. One hour after the opening of the meeting, if more candidates have been put in nomination than there are school commissioners to be elected, the presiding officer, upon a requisition by five electors present, proceeds without delay to hold a poll, and to register the votes of the electors present.

Nevertheless, if, among the candidates put in nomination, there are any to whom there is no opposition, the presiding officer proclaims such candidates elected, and the poll is held for the other candidates only.

5. In the absence of a demand from five electors present to the effect that a poll be held, the presiding officer proclaims school commissioners or trustees those candidates who have the majority of the electors present in their favor, after having established such majority by counting the electors who are in favor of each candidate.

2006—The clergymen of all religious denominations ministering in the school municipality, and all voters resident in the school municipality, are eligible as commissioners or trustees. Non-residents, other than such clergymen, are not eligible.

2. Individuals of the dissentient minority cannot be elected or serve as school commissioners, or vote at the election of school commissioners; and, in like manner, the individuals of the majority cannot be elected or serve as school trustees, or vote at their election.

2007—No school commissioner or trustee can be a teacher of any school in his municipality, nor can he be a contractor for any work for any school corporation of which he is a member.

2008—No school commissioner or trustee can be re-elected, except with his own consent, during the four years next after his going out of office.

2009—The chairman of any general meeting for the election of school commissioners or trustees must, within eight days thereafter, report the proceedings thereof to the superintendent, and transmit to him a list of the persons elected thereat, under a penalty of five dollars. He must also, within the same delay, notify in writing the persons elected of their election. The commissioners (or trustees) meet, the Monday after receiving their notice, to elect a chairman.

2010—In case of death, change of domicile, or in case of incapacity, during three consecutive months, by reason of temporary absence, sickness, infirmity, or otherwise, school commissioners or trustees are replaced by election, held within one month after such vacancy occurs.

2016—For the municipalities in which no election of school commissioners or trustees has taken place within the time prescribed, the Lieutenant-Governor may, upon the recommendation of the superintendent, appoint commissioners or trustees.

2017—The school commissioners and trustees, elected at a general meeting, or appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, remain in office for three years; except that after the first election or nomination of a board of commissioners or trustees, two in the case of commissioners, and one in the case of trustees, determined by lot, retire from office at the end of the first year, two of the remaining commissioners, or one of the remaining trustees, determined in the same manner, at the end of the second year, and the remaining commissioner or trustee, at the end of the third year.

The chairman is also liable to go out of office if it be so determined by lot.

MEETINGS OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.

2024—The meetings of the commissioners or trustees are not public; but the commissioners or trustees may admit such persons as may desire to be present on business.

2022—The secretary-treasurer calls such meetings by order of the chairman.

2023—When requested by two commissioners (or one trustee), the chairman is bound to call a meeting. These meetings are held in the municipality, or, with the permission of the superintendent, in an adjoining municipality.

MANAGEMENT OF SCHOOLS.

2026—1. It is the duty of school commissioners and trustees to appoint and engage, by resolution and by written contract, teachers duly qualified to teach in the schools under their control.

2027—The engagement of a teacher must be for the term of a school year, except in special cases approved by the superintendent.

1860—In the school law the term "school year" means the twelve months from the first of July of one year to, and including, the thirtieth of June of the following year, and the term month means a calendar month.

2028—The school commissioners or trustees must, if they do not wish to continue the engagement of any teacher under their control during the year following, notify such teacher of their intention, in writing, two months before the expiration of his or her engagement, in default of which, such teacher shall be deemed to be re-engaged for the same school, and upon the same terms.

This provision shall not prevent the commissioners or trustees from cancelling the engagement of any teacher, for the causes set forth in paragraph two of Article 2026.

2029—All notices given collectively or simultaneously to teachers by commissioners or trustees, with the view of evading the provisions of the preceding article, and all agreements made with them for such purpose, are null and of no effect.

2030—Every teacher who does not intend to continue his or her engagement for the following year must give notice to the school commissioners or trustees similar to that required by Article 2028.

2026—2. It is the duty of school commissioners and trustees to cancel, after mature deliberation, at a meeting called for the purpose, the engagements of teachers on account of incapacity, neglecting faithfully to perform their duties, insubordination, misconduct, or immorality;

3. To provide that the course of study authorized by one of the committees is followed in each school;

4. To require that no other books be used in the schools under their control than those authorized by the committees;

5. To establish general rules for the management of their schools, and to communicate them in writing to the teachers under their control ;

6. To fix the time of the annual public examination, and to attend the same ;

7. To name two or more from among themselves to visit each school under their control at least once in six months, and to report the state of the school, whether their regulations are strictly observed, the progress of the scholars, the character and capacity of the teachers, and every other matter relating to the management of the schools ;

13. To hear and decide disputes arising between the parents or children and the teachers.

14. To dismiss from school any pupil whose conduct is immoral in word or deed.

2078—School commissioners and trustees shall cause their secretary-treasurers to take, between the first day of September and the first day of October of every year, a census of the children in the school municipality, distinguishing those who are from five to seven, those from fourteen to sixteen, those from seven to fourteen years, and those actually attending school.

They shall transmit such census to the superintendent in their semi-annual report of the month of January each year.

2076—The school commissioners or trustees may establish in the municipality a girls' school distinct from that for boys, and such girls' school shall be considered as a school district.

2077—If any religious community has already established an elementary school for girls, in any municipality, such community may place its school, from year to year, or as may be agreed upon, under the management of the commissioners or trustees, and it shall then be entitled to all the advantages granted by this law to public schools.

SCHOOL TAXES.

2036—It is the duty of school commissioners and trustees to cause to be levied by taxation, in their respective municipalities, the taxes deemed necessary for the support of the schools under their control.

2038—School taxes are imposed uniformly, according to valuation, upon all taxable real property in the municipality, and are payable by the owner, occupant, or possessor of such property, and are, if not paid, a special charge thereon, bearing hypothec, and not requiring registration.

2039—The superintendent may allow school commissioners or trustees to levy upon real estate, situate outside the limits of a town or village, but forming part of the same school municipality as such town or village, a tax of not less than one-half of that levied upon real estate comprised within the limits of such town or village.

2136—School taxes are imposed between the first day of July and the first day of September in each year, and must be paid at any time on demand, provided public notice be given at least thirty days before enforcing payment of the same.

2040—The secretary-treasurer of the school commissioners or trustees must collect from the ratepayers in the municipality a sum sufficient to pay the salaries of the teachers, at the expiration of each half year of their engagement. His half-yearly report to the Department of Public Instruction must show that this has been done.

2041—The Government grant is not paid except on the condition mentioned in the preceding Article.

2042—School commissioners or trustees, and the secretary-treasurers, for any infraction of the provisions contained in the preceding Article 2040, incur for each offence a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

2174—The school commissioners and trustees may direct the payment, out of the general or local school fund in their hands, of such contingent expenses as are not specially provided for by this law.

2143—The school commissioners of any school municipality alone have the power of levying taxes on the lands and real estate of corporations and incorporated companies; but they annually pay over to the trustees a portion of all the taxes levied by them on such corporations or companies, in the same proportion as the Government grant for the same year is divided between them and the said trustees.

2. The portion of taxes levied for the building of school-houses and for the payment of debts thus paid over to the trustees aforesaid, are set apart by them for the building or the repairing of their own school-houses.

2145—Any non-resident proprietor may declare in writing to the school commissioners and trustees his intention of dividing his taxes between the schools of the majority and those of the minority.

In that case, the school commissioners continue to levy and receive such taxes, and pay over to the trustees such part and proportion thereof as the said proprietor may direct.

MONTHLY FEES.

2068—Over and above the taxes levied, the school commissioners and trustees fix the monthly fees to be paid to the secretary-treasurer for eight school months by the father or mother, tutor, curator or guardian for each child of age to attend school.

Such fees are for the use of the school district in which they are collected.

2069—Such fees cannot exceed in any case forty cents per month, and may be diminished, in the discretion of the commissioners or trustees, according to the means of the parents, age of the children, and course of instruction, but shall not be less than five cents per month.

The commissioners or trustees may, nevertheless, ask higher monthly fees in model schools and academies, and for the whole time the same are in active operation.

2070—The monthly school fees are exacted for each child from seven to fourteen years of age capable of attending school; but children from five to seven years and from fourteen to sixteen years of age residing in any school district, upon payment of the said monthly fees, have a right to attend the school thereof.

2071—The monthly school fees, fixed by the commissioners or trustees, are collected in the same manner and at the same time as school taxes.

2072—School commissioners or trustees cannot exact monthly school fees:

1. From indigent persons;
2. For insane, deaf or dumb children;
3. For children who are unable to attend school owing to serious and prolonged illness;
4. For children who are absent from the school municipality for the purpose of receiving their education, or for children in a college or other incorporated educational institution, or one receiving a special grant from the public funds, other than schools under the control of commissioners or trustees.

2073—The monthly fees payable for children attending a model school, a separate girls' school, or a school kept by some religious community forming a school district, do not form part of the school fund; but such monthly fees, to the amount established for the other children in the municipality, are payable directly to the teacher, and are for his or her use, unless a different agreement has been made between the school corporation and the teacher.

2074—School commissioners and trustees, in the semi-annual reports which they are bound to transmit to the superintendent, are required to state the amount of monthly fees fixed for each district, and the amount of such fees actually collected, either directly by them or by the teacher.

2075—If the school commissioners or trustees fail to fix the amount of monthly fees to be paid for the children in each district, or to cause the same to be collected, the superintendent, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, may refuse the school grant for the year to the school municipality, represented by such commissioners or trustees in default.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

2032—3. It is the duty of school commissioners (or trustees) to do whatever may be expedient with regard to building, repairing, keeping in order or renewing all school-houses, lands, fences and moveable property held by them, or to hire temporarily or accept the gratuitous use of houses and other buildings for the purpose of keeping school therein :

4. To associate with themselves, permanently, or for a time only, managers to aid them in matters connected with the administration of the school-houses, the erection and repair, warming and cleaning thereof, and with keeping in good order the property, moveable and immoveable, belonging to the school.

2049—If it be necessary to purchase, build, rebuild, enlarge, repair or maintain one or more school-houses, in any district whatever, the school commissioners or trustees may, at all times, for this purpose, tax either the particular district or the whole municipality, according as one or the other plan has already been adopted in the municipality.

If a house for a model school be in question, the district in which the said school is situated is first taxed for an amount equal to that which it would have cost the district to erect an elementary school-house. The additional sum required for the model school-house is levied on the whole municipality, the district also paying its share.

2050—The superintendent may authorize the school commissioners or trustees of any school municipality, not being an incorporated town or village municipality, to build and maintain two or more school-houses in any school district.

2053—No tax exceeding the sum of three thousand dollars can be levied for the construction of a house for an academy or model school, nor exceeding the sum of sixteen hundred dollars for the construction of an elementary school-house, unless the school commissioners or trustees are specially authorized by the superintendent to expend a larger sum.

2. School-houses are built in accordance with and upon plans approved, or furnished, by the superintendent.

2054—Upon the recommendation of the superintendent, and with the approval of the Roman Catholic or Protestant committee of the Council of Public Instruction, as the case may be, school commissioners and trustees may devote to the maintenance of academies or model schools under their control, a sum which shall not exceed in any one year, one thousand dollars. The amount thus appropriated is included in the general tax raised by them.

2064—When a school district is divided by the creation of a new district or new municipality, the part on which the school-house is situated retains the property thereof, and refunds to the other an amount established pro rata by the valuation of the real property which was taxed for its erection.

2. The same rules are followed when the religious minority shall declare themselves dissentient, unless an understanding to the contrary be come to with the minority, the majority keep the said school-house on payment of an amount determined as above.

3. In either of the two cases the school commissioners or trustees of the municipality in which the said school-house is situated shall entrust three competent persons to make a valuation of the said school-house, and of the land upon which it is built, and such valuation approved by them shall be final.

4. If, after such valuation, the persons interested still do not agree, there is an appeal to the superintendent, and the latter, after the said valuation and an authentic copy of the valuation roll of the property of all the parties interested have been placed in his hands, pronounces a final decision.

5. In such cases the school commissioners or trustees shall, without delay, apportion between the proper persons the amount to be paid, collect the money as soon as possible by legal process as in the case of collection of taxes, and render accounts to the persons interested.

2065—It is lawful for two or more school municipalities to unite, by mutual agreement, in maintaining a model school or an academy, and in erecting a building therefor.

2035—No school corporation shall, without the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, upon the recommendation of the superintendent of public instruction,

SECRETARY-TREASURERS.

2087—Every school corporation has an officer called the secretary-treasurer, appointed by the school commissioners or trustees, and he remains in office during the pleasure of the said commissioners or trustees.

2088—Every secretary-treasurer is required before entering upon his duties as such, to give security to the school commissioners or trustees.

2095—The secretary-treasurer is the keeper of all the books, registers, plans, maps, archives and other documents and papers which are either the property of the school corporation, or are produced, filed and preserved in the office thereof.

He cannot divest himself of the custody of such archives, except with the permission of the school corporation, or under the authority of a competent court.

2096—The secretary-treasurer attends at all meetings of the school corporation and draws up minutes of all the acts and proceedings thereof, in a book kept for that purpose, and called "minutes of proceedings."

2100—The secretary-treasurer collects and has charge of all moneys due or payable to the school corporation.

2101—He pays out of the funds of the school corporation, all sums of money due by it, whenever authorized to do so by such corporation.

If the sum to be paid does not exceed ten dollars, the authorization of the chairman is sufficient.

2102—Even in the absence of authorization from the school corporation, or from its chairman, it is his duty to pay, out of the funds of the corporation, any draft or order drawn upon him, or any sum demanded by any one empowered so to do by the provisions of the school law or regulations.

2103—No draft or order can, however, be legally paid, unless the same shows sufficiently the nature of the use to be made of the sum therein mentioned.

2104—No secretary-treasurer can, under a penalty of twenty dollars for each infraction :

1. Grant discharges to rate-payers, or other persons indebted to the school corporation for school taxes or other debts, without having actually received in cash or in lawful value the amount mentioned in such discharges;

2. Lend directly or indirectly, by himself or by others, to rate-payers or other persons whomsoever, moneys received in payment of school taxes or belonging to the school corporation.

2105—The secretary-treasurer is bound to keep, in the form prescribed, books of account, in which he enters, according to date, each item of receipt and expenditure, mentioning therein the names of all persons who have paid money into his hands, or to whom he has made any payment.

2106—He must keep, amongst the archives of the school corporation, all vouchers for his expenditure.

2107—The secretary-treasurer is bound to keep a "repertory," in which he mentions in a summary manner and in the order of their dates, all reports of acts of apportionment, valuation rolls, collection rolls, judgments, maps, plans, statements, notices, letters, papers and documents whatsoever, which are in his possession during the exercise of his office.

inspection and examination by every interested party, or their attorneys, on the office days as established by the school corporation, between the hours of nine in the morning and four in the afternoon.

Such persons, either themselves or by their attorneys, may take all notes, extracts or copies which they require.

2110—The school commissioners or trustees may at any time remove the secretary-treasurer, and appoint another in his place.

2111—No teacher can be appointed secretary-treasurer.

2112—The remuneration of the secretary-treasurer cannot exceed seven per cent. upon the moneys received by him as such for all the services consistent with the duties of his office, which the school commissioners or trustees may require of him, except in cases specially provided for by the school law and by regulations upon the matter made by the superintendent.

Nevertheless the school commissioners or trustees may, by resolution, with the authorization of the superintendent, grant a supplementary sum to the secretary-treasurer for the use of his office as well as for any other consideration thereby specified.

2115—School commissioners and trustees appoint one or two auditors to examine and audit the accounts kept by their secretary-treasurer, in office or out of office.

Such auditors are bound, in the month of July in each year, and when the school corporation requires, to make an examination of and to report respecting all accounts of the corporation and all accounts relating to any subject falling within their jurisdiction.

PAYMENT AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE COMMON SCHOOL FUND.

2173—The sums constituting the common school fund of the Province are paid to the superintendent in two semi-annual payments, and the superintendent pays their respective shares to the several boards of school commissioners and trustees, in two semi-annual payments.

2175—To entitle any school to its share of the general or local school fund, it is requisite and sufficient :

1. That it has been under the management of school commissioners or trustees in the manner directed by this law ;

2—That it has been in actual operation during at least eight months ;

3—That it has been attended by at least fifteen children (periods of epidemic or contagious diseases excepted) ;

4—That reports have been made to the school commissioners or trustees, by the teacher, and by at least two of the commissioners or trustees ;

5—That a public examination of the school has taken place ;

6—That a report, signed by the majority of the school commissioners or trustees, and by the secretary-treasurer, has been transmitted to the superintendent every six months, the first before the fifteenth day of January, and the second before the fifteenth day of July, in each year ;

7—That a sum equal to the grant made by the Legislature for the municipality, has been raised as herein provided ;

8. That teachers with diplomas have been employed therein ;

9—That the teachers have been paid every six months;

10—That only those books authorised by the committees of the Council of Public Instruction have been used:

11—That the regulations of the committees, and the instructions of the superintendent, have been observed.

2180—All sums arising from school grants, school taxes, and from any source other than monthly fees, form the school fund in each municipality, and are distributed and employed by them:

1. Either in proportion to the number of children from seven to fourteen years of age, in each school district, residing therein and capable of attending school, or

2. By making a common fund, out of which the school commissioners or trustees pay the expenses occasioned by the payment of teachers' salaries, the maintenance of school-houses, the purchase of books, school furniture, and other contingent expenses.

The school commissioners or trustees, after having adopted one of the two methods mentioned in the preceding article, cannot change it within two years unless by the authority of the superintendent.

In all cases, the school commissioners or trustees are required to deduct from such school fund a sum of eighty dollars for the support of a model school, if there is one in the municipality, in addition to the share which such model school is entitled to receive from such fund.

2181—The girls' school established under articles 2076 and 2077 is counted one school district, and the model school as another school district, without prejudice nevertheless to the grant of eighty dollars mentioned in the preceding article.

The share of the moneys to be allotted to the said girls' school and to the said model school, respectively, is determined by the number of children of school age residing in the school district in which such school is established.

2182—The superintendent may retain out of the school grant to which any municipality is entitled, the sum of eighty dollars, to support a model school in such municipality.

2179—The sum annually voted by the Legislature in aid of poor municipalities is distributed by the superintendent according to the division made by him, and which has been approved by the committees of the Council of Public Instruction.

SUPERIOR EDUCATION.

2204—The total aid to universities, classical colleges, industrial colleges, academies, and model schools, granted under the provisions of this law, is divided between the totality of the Roman Catholic and Protestant institutions respectively, in the relative proportion of the respective Roman Catholic and Protestant populations of the Province, according to the then last census.

2. Such grants are for the year only, and are not permanent.

2205—The sums paid over to the Provincial treasurer, arising from the celebration of marriages by Protestant ministers, are annually paid over to the superintendent to be apportioned, under the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and in accordance with the recommendation of the Protestant committee of the Council of Public Instruction, among the Protestant institutions of superior education, in addition to and in the same manner as the other grants to these institutions.

TEACHERS' PENSION FUND.

2240—There is allowed to every person fifty-six years of age, who has taught ten years or upwards, an annual pension, based upon the average salary received by him during the years he has been engaged in teaching, and for which he has paid the stoppages.

2241—Such pension shall not exceed, in any case, the following rates:

If the officer has served during ten years, and less than eleven years, ten-fiftieths of such average salary; if he has served during eleven and less than twelve years, eleven-fiftieths of such average salary;

And so on, adding one-fiftieth of such average salary for every additional year of service, for which he has paid the stoppages; but no grant shall be allowed for any service over thirty-five years.

2242—The average salary of officers of primary instruction shall not, for the purposes of this chapter, exceed the sum of fifteen hundred dollars.

2243—After ten years' service, every officer, whatever be his age, may receive a pension when a serious injury, or enfeebled health, renders it impossible for him to continue such service, provided such accident or ill-health has not arisen through any conduct forbidden by law or against good morals.

2260—In order to provide for the above-mentioned pensions:

1. A reduction or stoppage is made from the salary of each teacher at the rate of two per cent. per annum;

2. A stoppage of two per cent. is made yearly on the amount of the pension paid to each officer;

3. A stoppage of two per cent. is made annually out of the common school fund, as well as out of that portion of the superior education fund, appropriated to the support of institutions managed or directed by officers of primary instruction;

4. An annual grant of one thousand dollars is allowed by the Government of the Province.

2267—The superintendent retains half-yearly, out of the grant payable to each municipality or normal school, or out of the salaries paid directly by the department of public instruction, the sums necessary to pay the stoppages out of the salary of each officer of primary instruction; and the school authorities are authorized to deduct out of the salaries of such officers the amount retained by the superintendent.

2281—The pension fund for officers of primary instruction is administered by a commission composed of the superintendent of public instruction, as president, and of four delegates appointed as follows:—one by the convention of Roman Catholic teachers in Montreal, one by the convention of Roman Catholic teachers in Quebec, and two by the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

These delegates remain in office until they are replaced by those who appointed them.

2282—The administrative commission determines all questions connected with the pension fund and pensioners, and its decision is final.

The delegates are not paid for their services, but their travelling expenses are paid out of the pension fund.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Public Notices.

1869—The publication of a public notice for school purposes is made by posting up a copy of such notice at two different places in the municipality from time to time, indicated by resolution of the school corporation.

In default of localities indicated by the school corporation, the public notice must be posted upon, or near, the principal door of at least one place of public worship, if any there be, and at some other place of public resort in such municipality.

In either case, if there is a Roman Catholic church in the municipality, the notice must be posted upon or near the principal door of such church.

1870—The school corporation may also, by resolution, fix one or more localities in the municipality, or in a neighboring city, town, or village municipality, if such city, town, or village municipality forms part of the same parish or of the same township, in which any public notice must be read out aloud, in a distinct manner, on the Sunday next following the day on which the same was published, at the close of divine service, if such service has been held.

The omission to read such notice does not invalidate the publication of the notice, but the persons who were bound, or who undertook to read it, thereby incur a penalty of not less than two or more than ten dollars.

1873—Every public notice convening any public meeting, or for any object whatever, must be given and published seven clear days before the day appointed for such meeting or other proceeding, except in cases otherwise provided for.

Holidays in Schools.

1878—Saturday is a holiday in every school under the control of commissioners or trustees, unless a regulation to the contrary be adopted by the commissioners or trustees, and approved by the superintendent; but such regulation may at any time be repealed by the superintendent, or by the commissioners or trustees, after notice duly given by the latter to the superintendent.

The Roman Catholic and Protestant committee may, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, fix the other holidays in the schools under their respective control.

Fines and Penalties.

2193—Every person duly called upon to accept any office or perform any functions under this law, who refuses to accept or neglects to perform the same, or who, in any way, wilfully contravenes the provisions of this law, incurs thereby for each such offence, whether of commission or omission, a penalty of not less than five dollars, or more than ten dollars, according to the gravity of the offence, in the discretion of the court or authority having cognizance thereof.

2197—Every person who, voluntarily and intentionally, troubles, disturbs, or interrupts any school or educational institution, by indecent, improper, or injurious expressions or conduct, or by making any noise in or near such school or educational institution, so as to disturb the classes or the school, shall, upon summary conviction before at least two justices of the peace, be condemned to a fine not exceeding twenty dollars and costs, upon the deposition of one credible witness.

Such fine belongs to the school commissioners, or trustees of the municipality, as the case may be, and shall be employed for the benefit and advancement of education in their municipality.
