A War Correspondent

Grateful to Zam-Buk

Tells how a Scratch led to Blood-Poisoning and what followed that!

WHEN our Canadian troops were fighting the Boers in South Africa, we read reports of their various engagements from the pen of the famous war correspondent, Mr. Frank Scudamore. Mr. Scudamore is well known for his exposures of the Armenian Atrocities, and his vivid word-pictures during the wars of Turkey and the Sudan Campaigns, prior to his writings during the Boer War. He has passed unscathed through twenty-nine battles, but came near meeting death at home through a mere scratch! Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, saved him; and in gratitude, and the hope that his experience may lead others to a means of relief in time of suffering, he tells how Zam-Buk released him from the terrible agonies of blood-poisoning.

Mr. Scudamore writes:—"I have experienced the extraordinary benefits which come from the use of Zam-Buk, and desire not to keep the knowledge thereof to myself, but to make it known to any others who may be suffering as I suffered.

"Some time ago, after escaping the dangers to which one is exposed in the hazardous trade of war, I fell a victim to an evil—the evil of blood-poisoning—just as deadly in peace at home. The blood-poisoning started owing to the poisonous dye in some underclothing penetrating a small scratch or sore. I was treated by doctors in the usual way, and told to hope for the best, but the inflammation, pain, and swelling did not appear to be relieved by their treatment. Ulcers broke out on my foot and limbs and for some time it was quite impossible for me to put my foot to the ground, or get about.

"On my left leg, below the knee, I had seventeen deep holes, into any one of which I could have put my thumb, while I had no fewer than fourteen similar ulcers on the right leg.

"Worn out with pain and lack of sleep, I yielded in despair at last to the advice of a friend that I should try Zam-Buk, of which my friend gave the highest accounts. I applied this herbal balm to the sores and ulcers changing the dressings frequently. For a week I persevered with the Zam-Buk treatment, leaving off all else. At the end of that time the pain and inflammation had gone, and the skin, which had before so obstinately refused to heal, was now growing beautifully. I persevered with the treatment, and the benefit increased, until in the end the blood-poisoning was cured, the ulcers cleansed and healed, and new healthy skin covered the previously diseased places.

"What impressed me most about Zam-Buk was the immediate relief it gave from the burning pain. It seemed to bring ease immediately it was put on, and then the cleansing and healing process went on painlessly."

Frank Scudamore

LESSONS FOR NEWFOUNDLAND HOMES
ALL MOTHERS SHOULD REMEMBER

That every scratch, every cut, every sore, every open wound, every skin-disease is liable to turn to blood-poisoning. The air is full of poison germs, which, falling on to sores and wounds, may set up festering and blood-poisoning. How important, then, that Zam-Buk (which is science's latest and best protector against blood-poisoning, as well as the finest healer) should be kept handy in every home!

Zam-Buk operates in an absolutely unique manner. When first applied to a sore or wound its antiseptic power comes into operation. Painlessly, yet effectively, it attacks all disease germs and bacilli that are in the wound. Then its healing essence penetrates the injured cells and stimulates the lung tissue to build up new cells. At the same moment, therefore, there is a defensive (against disease germs) and a constructive process going on all over the region to which Zam-Buk has been applied. This is the way Zam-Buk heals and cures all skin diseases and injuries.

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES.

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for piles, bad leg, ulcers, abscesses, cold sores, open wounds, sore hands, line chafes, inflamed patches, chaps, frost bite, blood-poisoning, scalp sores, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. Well rubbed in it also cures rheumatism, sciatica, etc.

Tale of Mystery

"Not in the least," said the Count, quietly. "We have simply been keeping each other company till you came home. And now," he smiled, as if most indulgently, "I am sorry to say that Miss Merriam had a little disappointment of a kind which you and I can sympathize with, Dora. Mr. Cheriton was to have been here this afternoon." He smiled again, and looked into Mrs. Markham's face lovingly as he carried her hand to his lips, and then turning, opened the door for Dessie to go away. Better news to-morrow, Miss Merriam," he said, as she went out; and the expression of his voice, the emphasis of the name, and the phrase he chooses, were all understood by the miserable girl as she ran upstairs, her grief half-choking her.

Mrs. Markham stared after her in astonishment, and then turned to her lover to put her feelings into words.

"Are you sure you haven't been saying anything to upset her, Godefroi?" she asked. "I've never known her take such a fit into her head before. 'She's generally so cool and self-reserved about Mr. Cheriton. I've often wondered, indeed, whether she really loves him very deeply."

"Do you mean that if we were apart, you expected me to come to you—as I would at your slightest nod—and I was to telegraph, 'I cannot come,' that you would just toss that pretty head and point these ruby lips—kissing them—and say, 'Let him come, or let him stay away, it is all one to me?' Is that what you would do?"

arm's length, still looking lovingly in to her face. "And to think, sweetheart, that we have been so long in the world and have been able to live without the exquisite delight of this mutual love of ours. Ah! what a life we will have together in the future. What revenge we will take upon the past! How happy we will be. I wish we were married, Dora. I hate this study of the conventions—this waiting."

His tender tone and passionate kisses thrilled her.

"It shall be when you will," she answered submissively.

"Do you know why I wish it? Come, and sit down; I'll tell you. Of course, it's only a stupid lover's fears, but the feeling has been haunting me all day, and I said to myself, 'I will tell my sweetheart.' Do you know, Dora, I have the thought that love is never love until each can tell the other the littleness and weakness that make up half of one's life. This is a weakness."

"I can never think of weakness in connection with you, Godefroi. You always seem to me so strong, so selfreliant, so resolute—but I shall love to hear of a weakness," she laughed in sheer childish happiness.

"It was only a dream of mine. Something last night must have made me very thoughtful. I walked to my hotel, and went straight to my room and to bed and I dreamt! as vividly as only one with my imagination can dream. First, the sun was shining in a land that seemed all gold, and you and I were walking hand in hand on the shore of a sea, silver calm; and the air seemed soft with the sweetness of peace and love. Then came a change. It was still day, but the sun was setting, and we were on a road hard and stony, leading over a barren plain to the gates of a city that frowned on us from ahead. And we toiled over the rough way, each full of love for the other, each helping, cheering, hoping—till as we came close to the gates of the city, the red sun sank suddenly, the air turned dark, and when we passed the gates, they closed with a heavy clang behind us, and the night fell chill and clinging. Then turning I saw on the gates the words in letters of dull, menacing lead—'Who enter, part,' and I seemed to grasp in a moment the meaning of all—we were to part."

He paused, and drew her closer to him as he continued:—

"I took you in my arms then, and hid your face on my breast, that you might not see what was written, and I turning, I went back to the gate and struck it, and strove with all my force to open it. But what came of my efforts was a waste of strength and a mocking laugh. I turned again, and holding you that you might not hear the sound, I fled with you along the road into the middle of the city. Then suddenly there was a gapping, giving, jering crowd at our heels and on all sides of us; out running me because I carried you. And they turned to point and laugh, and utter sneers at us because we loved each other and were to part. And then—ah, Dora, I can feel them now—long, bony fingers, and strong skeleton arms seized and held me, and though I struggled till I thought my heart would burst in my frenzy, they tore you away, and I saw you borne away till you were lost in the distance, and a sense of the awfulness of solitude, of a life to be passed without the warmth of your touch, your smile, kisses, your love, came upon me and overwhelmed me with misery. I knew then, my darling, what it would be to me to lose you; and when I woke it was with the terrible dread on me that the dream was one of those strange warnings that the mortals have, omens of coming calamity. But it shall not be, shall it? Tell me, sweetheart, nothing shall ever part us."

"Nothing, Godefroi; nothing on earth if I can help it. If you wish it I will marry you to-morrow." She clung to him and kissed him, and made him kiss her over and over again, as if some protection against the fear of parting lay in the multitude of kisses.

And in 't is way it came to be tacitly understood between them that the marriage should take place very soon; and when the servants brought in some tea to them, Dora Markham was all laughter and merriment in an excess of pleasure at the anticipation, with no thought straying from her own ecstasy to the wretched girl upstairs who, in the attempt to save her friend from the shipwreck of this marriage had already risked her own life, and now saw her every hope of happiness in jeopardy.

Over and over again her question and his reply kept recurring to her. How did you get them? 'You had better not ask. The story will not make pleasant hearing for anyone—for you especially.' What did he mean? She had not dared to ask him. But a means of finding out the truth by herself occurred to her—and it was the thought that in this way she would have something to fill up her time until her lover came, which gave her some relief.

The two or three hours' sleep that she had in the early morning after coming to this decision calmed her a good deal and steadied her nerves, and when she went downstairs it was with a full perception of the necessity for facing the crisis resolutely, and not permitting herself to give way to such outward weakness as that in which her interview with the Count had ended on the day before. A letter from Tom Cheriton cheered her. It was full of concern for her and regard that his uncle's illness had made it impossible to get away, while he promised that the next day should see him by her side in town. He promised this, and told her to depend upon him. This was the part of the letter which cheered her.

Sluggish Liver Action

Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headache—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure.

"Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. I. P. Smith, Paris, Ont. "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicines from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."

"Dr. Chase's medicines were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

ALL DRUGGISTS

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 25 years. Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's Medicines were used.

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Morpeth, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of kidneys, liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CHAPTER XI. The Story of Red Dellah.

Dessie Merriam rose the next morning ill alike in mind and body.

The evening before had been inexpressibly trying to her. At dinner she had forced herself to play a part and hide her condition from her friend's eyes; and she succeeded only because the little love scene with the Count had left Mrs. Markham with do room in her thoughts for anything save the hope that he would urge her on to a speedy marriage. After dinner they had all gone to the theatre, and while the two were love-making, Dessie had simulated an interest in the play, while in reality she had been engrossed by the tragedy of her own troubles.

As soon as they reached home the girl hid pleaded a headache and gone off to bed to lie awake, weighed down with sorrow and hopeless misery, till the dim light of the dawn seemed to bring relief by inspiring a suggestion of something she could do.

Throughout there were two great fears. One was that Tom Cheriton would fail to see her past in the light in which she had always thought he would. The other concerned the sister, to whom de Montal had referred with such grim significance.

Trial by Jury.

Trial by jury is itself on trial. Few of its admirers would say that it was a first-rate truth-finding instrument. The fascination which it once had for foreign countries is gone; they will, speaking generally, have nothing to do with it in civil matters, and distrust it in criminal. But it is probable that some of the obstacles to its success are due to our preserving antiquated machinery, some parts of which might well be scrapped and others slightly renovated.—From the London Times.

Bran water made by adding four table-spoonfuls of bran to a quart of water is said to be the best thing in which to wash fine silk hose. Soap is apt to rot them.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Remember that when you are right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are wrong you can't afford to lose it.

Although she had more than the ordinary woman's provocation to scold, be it said to her eternal honour that she never raised her voice.

I know a woman who ought to have that for an epitaph.

This woman has four vigorous, healthy mischievous children, two dogs and a very nervous and quick-tempered husband, in her household, and yet, according to the testimony of all who have visited her, never in the course of her dealings with any of them has she been known to raise her voice to disagreeable heights.

Nor does this mean that this woman is the weak, ineffectual sort of person who simply lies down and lets everybody trample upon her.

On the contrary, her children almost always mind the first time she speaks, the two dogs, one of whom is a setter pup—and if anybody knows anything on earth more thoroughly obedient and habitually impervious to control than that, let him inquire.

form me; I don't obey her as they obey me, and the nervous husband is more quickly calmed and rationalized by her voice than by any other influence.

The point is simply this: When the average person gets angry or excited or disturbed, or wants to emphasize something or to demand immediate obedience he usually raises his voice and in so doing lets off steam just the way the steam engine does when it blows its whistle.

Now this woman, instead of letting off the steam by shouting, keeps all that suppressed energy right back of her even, level tones. The result is that one gets a sense of force from her low spoken words far beyond the impression that any shouting could give.

A man who can make a dog mind without raising his voice—

A mother who can make a child obey without raising her voice—

These are two people who almost always command respect from the immersion of reserve force that they give.

I'm not so sure but that this would be a good test, for a woman to apply to find out if she has a man or only a dress suit for a lover.

Does he ineffectually shout at the dog whom he would control or win instant obedience by a low spoken word?

Is he a steam whistle or a steam engine?

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle.

While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain.
It establishes regularity, subsides inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and absolutely confidential. Write without fear and without cost to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce or pay cost of mailing only and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers.
In handsome cloth-binding, 30 stamps.

Household Notes.

In order to loosen windows that are hard to raise, pour a teaspoonful of melted lard between frame and casings and rub some on the rope. This will remedy the trouble.

Stow in the harbor of the trunk all the loose tissue paper that comes to the house. This does away with a mad search for tissue paper when packing is to be done.

The water in flower vases is often spilled because they are top-heavy.
To prevent accidents put a few pebbles or some sand at the bottom of vases when putting flowers into them.

If the water is very hard, a tiny bit of soda, no larger than a pea, will make the vegetables cooked in it tender and of better color. Ordinary water does not require such addition.

Nurses' aprons usually fasten with studs instead of buttons two buttonholes, of course, being necessary in the hand instead of one. The idea is well worth being adopted by the housewife.

To remove black ink stains on children's colored frocks, etc., cover them immediately with red ink, and then wash. In this way the damage may be made good, not a trace of either ink remaining.

To destroy moths put the moth-infested articles into a baker's oven which has just been used for baking.
Let them remain there overnight, and shake and beat them in the open air.

Use only the centre of the lettuce head. Break apart and serve at the table from a large bowl as for salad.
Dress the vegetable with powdered sugar and plenty of chilled cream.
This is a very dainty way of serving lettuce.

Just a word to women—few though they be—who knit socks and stockings. Do the heel with a reel of ordinary machine twist, using it and the wool together. The stockings will wear twice as long as if they were of the wool alone.

Clean iron-holders are the exception rather than the rule. They need not be for little washable cases, open at one end like a pillow slip, and easily made, and can be renewed as often as desirable with little trouble.

A bare floor kitchen is liked by some because it can be scrubbed hard with soap and water. If a tablespoonful of kerosene is added to the pail of water the scrubbing will be more quickly done. Where the water is hard it should be softened with borax or ammonia.

When wishing to drive a nail through hardwood, first push it through a cake of hard soap; it will not split the wood. When using a hammer, grasp the handle near the end, and not in the centre, as is the way of most women.

There are several tests for fresh eggs. One of the simplest is that recommended by the Government. A 10 per cent solution of ordinary table salt and water is the medium. Into this an egg is put. A strictly fresh egg will sink at once to the bottom of the glass containing the liquid.

Braiding in soutache, rat-tail and a new platted design are all employed, laid flat or shaped into borders and sometimes combined with embroidery.
Buttons, balls and pendant ornaments are also fashioned of these braids.

WHAT FAMOUS BOXERS EARN.

Price Fights That Bring in $1,500 a Minute—Some Good Gate Receipts.

There never was a greater boom in boxing than there is at the present moment, and it is interesting to form an idea as to what the first-class boxers earn.

The pioneer of the big purses of the present day was undoubtedly Tommy Burns. He initiated the win, lose or draw system of being paid for a fight, and the sporting world received quite a shock when he demanded $30,000 as his share for his fight with Jack Johnson, win, lose or draw. He lost.

It shows a marvelous business action on the part of the redoubtable

Tommy to get the lion's share of the proceedings, although not receiving the referee's verdict. Johnson got $5-000 for his part in the proceedings.

Of course the largest purse on record was the one for which Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson recently battled at Reno, Nevada. Two well-known boxing promoters, offered $100,000 for the contest. A few hours before the fight they presented each of the fighters with a bonus of $10,000, making altogether a sum of $120,000. Of this sum Johnson received $10,000—not a bad haul for a woman, considering the fact that it worked out at $1,555 per minute for the actual boxing.

The promoters were well paid for their enterprise, as the gate receipts reached about $250,000.

Concerning this contest one or two interesting facts were discovered after the bout was all over. Mr. Mc-Intosh, the great Australian boxing promoter, now in London, was perfectly willing to give a $200,000 purse, and there were several more bids of over $100,000, which easily overtopped Rickard and Gleason's offer.

Big purses are not altogether an innovation of to-day, as the older generation of "mill-pushers" used to make quite a good thing out of the game. When Fitzsimmons and Corbett met at Carson City on that cold and winter morning in 1897, it was for purse and stakes of considerably over $25,000. Bob won in fourteen rounds. The old war-horse was until very recently still in the game, and for his fight with Bill Lang at Sydney on Boxing Day, 1909, he received about $2,000 as a loser.

Although the premier attraction, heavyweights do not earn all the money, as some of the purses offered for lightweight contests prove.
Not so very long ago we had the curious sight of seeing a couple of featherweights in the shape of Jim Driscoll and Owen Moran refusing to box twenty rounds for a purse of $15,000. Jim was willing, but Moran set too great a value on his services, and the contest fell through.

Battling Nelson, when defeated by Adolph Wiegand for the lightweight championship of the world, received $12,500 for his end, while his conqueror had to be content with less than a third of that sum. It is interesting to note that Adolph now wants the same sum as Nelson received to meet Owen Moran for the title. These American boxers know the value of money. When Nelson fought Joe Gans for the lightweight championship he received twice as much as the negro, although at the time the clever Gans was champion.
Nelson is now a "has-been," but he recently received over $5,000 for being knocked out by Moran. The clever little Bruin took about $2,000.

Now take a peep at the other end of the profession, and see what the matinee boxer gets. A London writer recalls a boxer putting up a grand six-round contest at a music hall south of the Thames, and receiving for his trouble, plus a good hiding, the magnificent sum of $1.50. The scribe did not stay to investigate as to how much the loser was donated.
Some really good lads have to be content with $5 for fighting ten infinitely harder rounds than many champions get through, and in one instance over in Dublin two men fought a full 20-round bout, to find the sum of $7.50 waiting to reward them for their services in entertaining a packed house.

The Combine Against Nfld.

Editor Evening Telegram:
Dear Sir—In a recent issue of your interesting paper there appeared in the public despatch reference to a ruling by the U. S. Treasury Department, on certain fish landed ex-schooner Sarah G. Wharf, defying the American Fishery and "holding that fish caught in Treaty water by any other than American owned, and mastered outfits must pay duty on imports."

In view of the manner in which the "herring" are secured by the Americans at Bay of Islands, etc., generally, and especially in reference to the manner in which a great bulk of the frozen herring were secured the past spring by the "Glooucester combine"— being purchased from the fishermen at the Bay, loaded in cars which were then sent out to Port aux Basques where they were transferred to the different schooners—it is interesting to me to know just how Uncle Sam's Treasury Department has allowed these herring to be entered as fish caught by American owned and mastered outfits, and also what our Government thinks of the new mode of securing herring by the Americans, a mode which has, without doubt,
"come to stay," as by purchasing at Bay of Islands "at the cars" and shipping by rail to Port aux Basques and loading their schooners there, the Americans are not only under considerable less expense, but they are enabled to prolong the season, as long as there are herring in the Bay. The Bay of Islands fishermen, no doubt, welcome this means of disposing of their catch, though in view of the fact that by this means they are deprived of such perquisites as meals aboard, free tobacco, cheap rubber boots and oil clothes and an occasional "smile," etc. they should get a much better price than that paid this spring, and further more since the Glooucester combine are permitted to enter these herring free of duty in the United States thus preventing our local business men from engaging in the fishery with any chance of making a fair profit, the price should be raised and fixed by law at a figure which is nearer the value of the herring to our friends? If Gloucester who not only must have them to meet the increasing demand for food fishes but also for bait, for which purpose thousands of barrels are used in the spring months each year.

I have spent practically the whole of March month in one of the great American Fish Markets in endeavoring to dispose of a cargo of frozen herring secured by the new method of shipping by rail to Port aux Basques from Bay of Islands, and while there saw much of the influence of the "Combine" of Gloucester, and the more I saw of it the more I felt disgusted that our own people should be compelled to remain "hewers of wood and drawers of water" for a handful of Gloucester business men.

It seems to me that the Government should encourage our own people to send cargoes of herring to the American markets, and to offset the duty of 3c. per pound, a bonus equal to the duty should be granted to parties enterprising enough to take up the venture. It is a great pity that an export duty cannot be placed on herring taken out in American vessels, and it is just possible that if the herring fishery was thoroughly understood by the Government much could be done for Newfoundland.

Clean Up the City.

We do not see how the citizens of St. John's can dare to neglect the grave warning which Dr. Keegan solemnly gave at the A. P. C. meeting last night. He remarked the abnormal prevalence of infectious diseases during the past winter, the filth and accumulations which are now drying up in the streets and which even now occasionally serve to impregnate clouds of dust with myriads of dirt microbes. From this time forward, as the weather becomes warmer, more and more will the dust clouds prevail, and deadlier and steeper will become their ravages as they settle in shops, in hotels, in offices, in clothes, in hair, on whiskers, in the mouth and the nose, and on the food and drink offered for sale, or spread in the houses near the streets. Dr. Keegan expressed clearly his opinion that of a medical man of long house and hospital experience, that an epidemic must come upon the city if greater precautions are not taken. It is time for the citizens to be up and stirring and to see that something is done and done immediately. The only suggestion of a practical nature is Councillor Coaker's. He advocates a "Clean-up Week." Tonight the City Council will hold its weekly meeting. What will Councillors do?

In the Police Court.

To-day's docket included 3 drunks who were discharged. A drunk in charge of a horse was fined $1 or 3 days. A lad aged 17, a resident of Stephen Street, pleaded guilty to the larceny of a quantity of tobacco and other goods from Mr. Whiteway's store on March 28th. He was with other boys who were tried and convicted of the same offence. The prisoner went north and remained with friends, only arriving back here a few days ago. He was remanded till to-morrow so that others implicated in the larceny of a coat with this boy can be secured. In the Central District Court P. J. Neville sued P. Joy for $85 for a horse and cart which he bought from defendant. The horse, he contends, was worthless, as it perished a few days after the sale was effected. Mr. Gibbs for plaintiff, Mr. Higgins for defendant.

Kite Brings the Key.

After the quick run of 52 hours from Chanaan to St. John's, Capt. Carroll arrived here at 11 o'clock to-day from the Gulf and brought with her the key of the seal fishery. She hails for about 1,700 young harks and 2,300 old seals, the weight of about 7,000 young. The ship had the first sign of harks on the 11th of March, the day after she left Chanaan, but did not strike any considerable patch until the 27th March when most of the young seals were taken. More would have been secured but that the shaft of the ship became twisted on the 14th March and the ship was greatly impeded in getting through the floe. The ship struck the old fat on the 7th April and they were present in thousands. The ship could be loaded five times over so plentiful were they but the ice remained loose the whole spring, the seals were very "rary" and would vanish at the slightest sound. All the old seals were shot by the gunners—not one being baited. The greatest number killed in one day was 300. The old seals were taken 28 miles N. by E. of Cape Anguille. The spring was a very severe one being stormy and cold, and owing to the damage to the ship she could not go astern except by using warps. The ship in coming down made record time and used steam and sail with a howling gale behind her. The Kite bore up for home on April 29, and reaching Codroy landed a few men there. The ship has done very good work all things considered.

Fire at Garrison Hill.

Shortly after 1 p.m. a fire broke out at the residence of Mr. Thomas Parker, Garrison Hill, and an alarm turned in from box 21 brought the Central and Eastern firemen to the scene. A spark falling on the shingles of the roof caused them to blaze up. The fire quickly ate its way through and much damage was done in the rooms on the attic. Two streams of water were directed on the blaze and the firemen were at work for fully half an hour.

Train Notes.

The 8.45 train took out Rev. Mr. Hackett, J. P. Hearn, Burton, Forsyth, Power, Bishop, Hennebury, March, Noseworthy, Slaney, Woodford, Moore, Kennedy and 50 others. The local arrived from Carbonar at 12.40 bringing 50 passengers including Mr. M. Drover, Mrs. Drover, Sir Robert Bond, Rev. Fr. St. John, Rev. Fr. Coody, J. Tessier, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Rabbits. The west bound express left Benton at 8.15 a.m. The incoming express left Port aux Basques at 9.20 a.m. The express from Port aux Basques arrived here at 1.30 this morning bringing about 40 passengers. Mr. J. McNamara and Mr. C. O'Keefe came in.

The Argyle left Burin at 6.30 p.m. yesterday going east. The Dundee left Port Blandford at 6 a.m. today. The Ethie left Clarendville at 6 a.m. today. The Glencoe arrived at Port aux Basques at 8.30 a.m. today. The Home left Port aux Basques at 7.45 p.m. yesterday for Bay of Islands. The Invermore arrived at North Sydney at 1 a.m. yesterday.

MARINE NOTES.

The Mayflower, Capt. Halfyard, arrived this morning from Cadiz, 30 days out, with sail and was only nearly the whole trip and it was only by good management that the canvas was saved and the decks kept from being swept. The round trip from St. John's occupied two months and 8 days. The Nina L. left Oporto yesterday for Cadiz. Capt. Kennedy will load sail for Crosbie & Co.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Rev. Canon Smith is in town. Rev. Fr. Ashley of Argentina is in town. After a sojourn of about 12 months abroad, Mr. W. B. Greave arrived here by the Corinthian and is enjoying excellent health.

HIS HAND CRUSHED.—A workman at Wabana mines engaged with the D. I. S. Co. met with a serious accident this morning by having his hand crushed by a piece of ore. Mr. Herbert Knight, who had a message in reference to the accident, made arrangements to have the man brought to the Hospital.

Hints to Householders.

PROFESSOR HENRY ADAMS in his Presidential Address to the Institute of Sanitary Engineers early in 1908, said:—"Gas fires for heating are already widely adopted for offices, consulting rooms where a fire may be required at short notice. I have had nothing else in my office for the last thirty years and do not find any of the ill effects that have been ascribed to them."
Gas fires are universally used by Medical men in London, and they recommend them for use in the homes of their patients.
The Coal Smoke Abatement Society, among whose members are many men of high scientific and artistic attainment, are strong advocates of the use of gas for heating. The Society carried out a most elaborate series of tests with gas fires, etc., in May and June, 1906.

The Insurance Against Sickness and Unemployment

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-Day.
The long promised scheme of State Insurance against unemployment, sickness, and permanent invalidity, was introduced in the House of Commons by Mr. Lloyd George yesterday, and has been received with an extraordinary chorus of approbation by all parties. While Government supporters greet the Insurance measure as the most comprehensive plan of constructive legislation ever introduced into Parliament, and far exceeding in grasp and completeness anything anticipated, and better than the German system. Unionists offer ungrudging testimony to the capacity and mastery of the intricate details displayed. In introducing the bill, the Chancellor divided the proposition into two parts: one dealing with sickness and the other with unemployment. By provisions of the measure, every worker whose annual earnings fall below the income tax level of £160, or approximately $300 a year, will be compulsorily insured against illness, so as to assure him the receipt of five shillings per week during incapacity. Towards this, the worker will contribute one half the premium, while the balance will be paid jointly by his employer and the State. The general opinion is that the Chancellor is too optimistic with regard to the cost of the scheme to the State and employers, and a strong note of criticism is already emanating from the great manufacturers, who are certain to be heavily burdened. Mr. Lloyd-George estimates the expenditure to be incurred in 1912-13 as $35,000,000, rising to $100,000,000 in 1915-16. Dealing with Unemployed Insurance, the Chancellor said it would first apply only to the engineering, the shipbuilding, and the house building trades, involving 2,500,000 workers. Both workers and employers would pay five cents weekly each, the State contributes $3,750,000 a year or about one-fourth of the total cost. Contributors when unemployed would receive a maximum of 15 shillings and a minimum of 7 shillings a week. No payments would be made in the case of strikes and lock-outs.

The announcement that a gigantic display of physical culture and gymnastics would be given at the Crystal Palace in connection with the Festival of Empire caused a giant with a grievance to walk into the office of the Entertainments Department:—"Why cannot you give a display of the tallest men of the Empire?" he asked, and was told that the department would be pleased to arrange the function if a big brigade of Britons could be got together. The caller, who stands 6 feet 4½ inches in height, went off in high glee, and worked with such a will that he quickly got together a band of seventy men all over 6 feet tall. The loftiest to date stands 6 feet 9½ inches, and the most ponderous has a chest measurement of 54 inches. One man, standing exactly seven feet, yesterday called at the Festival's offices.

Festival of Empire.

NEW FEATURES OF THE GREAT IMPERIAL EXHIBITION.

Colossal Statue of the King.
One of our most promising young sculptors, Mr. Arthur Rogers, A. R. C. A., is now engaged upon the creation of a colossal bronze statue of King George V. This, mounted upon a lofty pedestal, will stand at the summit of the main steps leading to the grounds of the Crystal Palace; thus His Majesty will seem to be always overlooking the Festival of Empire. The King will be represented wearing his Coronation robes and holding his sceptre in his hand.

50 British Giants.

The announcement that a gigantic display of physical culture and gymnastics would be given at the Crystal Palace in connection with the Festival of Empire caused a giant with a grievance to walk into the office of the Entertainments Department:—"Why cannot you give a display of the tallest men of the Empire?" he asked, and was told that the department would be pleased to arrange the function if a big brigade of Britons could be got together. The caller, who stands 6 feet 4½ inches in height, went off in high glee, and worked with such a will that he quickly got together a band of seventy men all over 6 feet tall. The loftiest to date stands 6 feet 9½ inches, and the most ponderous has a chest measurement of 54 inches. One man, standing exactly seven feet, yesterday called at the Festival's offices.

Armoured Knights in the Streets.

The Council of the Festival of Empire has secured 300 horses which will figure in the Pageant of London and Empire at the Crystal Palace. Others will be obtained, but this first big batch is required for rehearsals which are now being conducted. The animals are mostly of a fairly heavy type for the use of Knights in armour. Sixty grooms have been engaged to attend to the steeds in specially erected stables in the grounds. A well known gentleman has offered to ride the streets of London in a full suit of gleaming armour and accompanied by squires and others in medieval costumes. Further, on certain days other mounted Pageant-teams will form picturesque groups at the principal London railway stations.

pire has just decided to have two searchlights, each of 20,000 candle power, on the north and south transepts of the Crystal Palace. Tests are now being made to ascertain whether or not a hill interferes with the north lighting seen in the lower lying parts of London. If any obstruction is discovered the northern searchlight will be thrown from the top of the centre transept. To operate these searchlights at a height of 200 feet, special motor generators are being installed, and the beams will be seen for 25 miles around. Twelve other searchlights, of rather less power, have been fitted in order to make the Pageant ground as bright by night as it is by day. Over 40,000 electric lamps will be employed in order to outline the six Colonial buildings, while the principal kiosks will be treated in the same way. Novel Dish for Festival Luncheon. Among the activities of the Hospitality Committee of the Festival of Empire is included the entertainment of the Overseas forces, Colonial soldiers sent to this country to attend the Coronation of the King. Probably on June the 12th a thousand men will go by special train to the Crystal Palace. Sir Abe Bailey, K.C.M.G., has generously consented to bear the cost of the luncheon, in order to provide what may be described as an Empire dish of venison, which has sailed to South America for sixty-five spring-bok to be sent over.

LONDON, May 4.
Discussing the Workmen's Insurance scheme in the Commons today, Chancellor Lloyd George estimated that his plans would affect 14,700,000 men and women. Provision will be made whereby women will receive thirty shillings in maternity cases, on condition that they do not work for a month following childbirth, and for free medical attendance for every contributor. The State would also help in the erection of sanitariums, also $5,000,000 towards maintenance. Although cases of permanent disability would have a sick allowance of five shillings a week, ten shillings will be allowed for the first three months in the case of men, and seven shillings and sixpence in the case of women. Those who can be shown to have invited their incapability through excesses or otherwise would receive no insurance, though necessary medical treatment will be provided. The Chancellor concluded that the total amount to be raised for a dual plan of insurance and tuberculosis campaign will be $122,500,000, of which amount the State would contribute $12,500,000 the first year. By the fourth year the State contribution would be almost $27,500,000, but a measure for the relief of invalid and nursery homes would have been taken.

MEXICO CITY, May 4.
With peremptory demands from Berlin and Madrid for the immediate protection of German and Spanish citizens, threatened by rebels and bandits; with four columns of insurgents, aggregating 5,000 well equipped troops, reported to be marching on the capital, and with the central Government tottering with weakness, the belief here in all circles is that President Diaz must make an early choice between asking Taft to restore order in Mexico by means of the United States troops, and turning the Government over to the rebels. Detachments practically a rebel army of 3,000, were almost at the city's gates to-day, being encamped at Tres Marias, 20 miles from the capital, added to the strain of the situation is the fact that an army of Guatemalan soldiers is massed upon the Southern boundary, ostensibly to preserve the neutrality laws. Conflicts are feared, however, due to ill feeling between the two nationalities at some sections of the Southern boundary. So acute has the situation become that foreigners here are planning the formation of a legion for defence.

Earl Grey was further criticized in the House of Commons to-day regarding the presence of American warships on the Great Lakes, but beyond stating that the British Government had acted throughout in close cooperation with the Canadian Government in what the latter considered to be their best interests, the Foreign Secretary refused to make any statement.

PESIDRO, Texas, May 4.
Fifty Federal soldiers were killed yesterday in the battle of El Gate between the rebel forces besieging the city of Ojinaga and a column of Government troops under Colonel Gordillo marching to the city's relief. The insurgents were defeated after a six hours battle; the leader, General Sanchez, being wounded. Gordillo entered the city last night with five hundred soldiers and two field guns. For nearly eight weeks the Federal force has been besieged by Sanchez at Ojinaga.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

"Oh what a tangled web we weave, When first we practice to deceive." —Selected.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In Tuesday's issue of the Daily News there appeared an item which says that the Archibald Brothers are about to export boots and shoes to America, owing to the beautiful samples exhibited at the recent Industrial Exhibition at St. John's. Now, sir, while not wishing to hurt the feelings of these gentlemen, I deem it my duty to say that there was no boots or shoes from the Archibald Bros. Factory exhibited at the recent Industrial Exhibition held at St. John's on November last.

The boots and shoes exhibited there were made in the Factory of the Harbor Grace Boot and Shoe Co., Ltd. W. J. James, Esq., manager, and not the Archibald Boot and Shoe Co.

I think it is mean and contemptible for any business concern to boost up their business by claiming, or trying to, another's exhibits, and it is up to the manager of the Harbor Grace Boot and Shoe Factory to defend his help and put the honor where it belongs.

The boots and shoes made at the Harbor Grace Boot and Shoe Factory are without a doubt second to none in the Island, but I have not heard if it is the intention of the Company to export any to America. In fact I don't believe it possible owing to the press of orders locally.

This explanation, Mr. Editor, is merely to give honor to whom honor is due, and not to cast the slightest reflection on any industry in our midst.

Thanking you in anticipation of space in your esteemed paper,

I remain, yours truly,
HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE,

Bad Temper a Disease

Unhealthy nervous irritability is responsible for many of the domestic quarrels which end so frequently in the law courts, said Dr. Edwin Ash, of the Italian Hospital, recently, in a lecture on "The Case of the Nervous" at the conference of nursing and midwifery.

"Bad temper" is really a disease in many instances, as also are such conditions as sulkiness, sudden rudeness, abruptness of manner, and so forth. If this were more generally understood, people would be more inclined to settle their differences amicably than they often are.

The rats in Chicago are great and the supply is far too small. Prices threaten to go up rapidly. Deputy United States Marshal Marsales made efforts to-day to obtain twenty live rats to fill an order from Frank Ebey, who is connected to a telephone company at Rockford.

"Nothing going to-day," was the reply of the rat catchers. "We have many orders ahead of you. The supply does not meet the demand. As soon as we get you in rotation your order will be filled."

The rats are used in placing cables. A rat is loosed in the pipe through which the cable is to be traced. Then a string is tied to a ferret, which is allowed to pursue the rat. In that way a small string is put through the pipe and later the cable is pulled after it.

The Sea.

The sea! the sea! The open sea!
The blue, the fresh, the ever free!
Without mark, without a bound,
It runneth the earth's wide regions round.

It plays with the clouds, it mocks the skies,
Or like a cradled creature lies.

I'm on the sea! I'm on the sea!
I am where I would ever be—
With the blue above and the blue below,
And silence where'er I go.

If a storm should arise and wake the deep:
What matter! what matter! I can ride and sleep.

I love, oh! how I love to ride
On the fierce, foaming, bursting tide:
When every mad wave drowns the moon—
Or whistles aloft his tempest tune.

And tells how goth the world below,
And why the south-west blasts do blow.

"But, Where's the Money?"

Germany's Latest Pastime is Finding Heirs to Fortunes.

Germany is infected with a peculiar mania for discovering hidden millions which are only waiting to be handed over to rightful claimants.

Nearly every German seems to imagine himself to be one of eighty persons who have equal shares in the estate of some long-dead Austrian prince or Spanish grandee. Meetings of "heirs" are being held all over the empire, at which wonderful tales are told of fortunes of from £5,000,000 to £20,000,000 locked up in banks and held by trustees sworn to secrecy.

Eminent lawyers are engaged, and vast preparations made to fight the tremendous issue. But suddenly the great lawsuits subside and everyone forgets them.

The reason is that no one can find the money. Everyone can locate the heir. Recently 250 heirs of a certain Johann Christoph Klipp met near Frankfurt to arrange for getting possession of the late Herr Klipp's £7,890,000. They subscribed a large sum and elected a committee to represent them. The committee has retained Herr Hosbach, a distinguished jurist-consultant. Herr Hosbach announces that everything is in order to prove the 250 heirs' claims. The only question not cleared up is where the £7,890,000 is.

Bathing With a Hippopotamus.

A hippopotamus is not the most delightful bathing companion in the world, especially on a dark night in a small tank. The hippopotamus keeper at the London zoo knows all about it.

One night recently after the zoo was closed the keeper saw his charge locked up in his sleeping quarters, a compartment adjoining the swimming pool.

Some time later in the evening a zoo watchman heard the hippo making queer noises, as if he wanted to get up and take a bath, so the watchman let the animal out. It plumped itself down in its bath with a snort of relief.

Still later the hippo keeper returned to take a plunge in the hippo's tank. He stripped and dived in.

Then followed an exciting struggle, which took place mostly under water. Each was terribly frightened by the other. One dived; the other dived. The keeper yelled for help, and the hippo bellowed in fear. Just as several of the watchmen arrived the keeper managed to scramble out, more dead than alive.

Bp. Spencer Meeting.

Rev. G. H. Bolt occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Field-Spencer Association held last night, in Bishop Field College Hall. There was a large attendance. The Secretary reviewed the work of the past year the result of which is most satisfactory. The report of the Treasurer showed a balance of $1,700 to the credit of the Association. Mr. R. R. Wood delivered a suitable address and suggested that owing to the increasing number of pupils the benefits of the Association should be extended to both colleges. Certain improvements have now become an absolute necessity as teaching is difficult of accomplishment in rooms that were overcrowded. The Association could be a great help, in assisting the colleges in their work financially and otherwise. The fees are small and the Government grant is altogether inadequate to meet the expenses. The meeting and endorsed what the Principal had said especially emphasizing the necessity for school extension. It was decided to draw up a program of entertainments with a view to increasing the college funds. The officers elected for the current year are: President—Mr. G. W. B. Ayre; Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Clift; Asst. Vice-President—Mr. P. Knowling; Secretary—Mr. C. Clift; Treasurer—Mr. C. Pincus. The general council was re-elected with power to add to its numbers. Regret was expressed that Hon. M. G. Winter, President of the Association, was absent.

Typhoid on Corinthian

When the s.s. Corinthian had been out about a day from Liverpool one of the seamen became ill and the ship's surgeon diagnosed his disease as typhoid fever. The disease, however, is of a mild type and the man was isolated and placed in the ship's hospital, where he was given the attention his case required. When the ship arrived she was visited by Dr. Campbell and he ordered the patient to Hospital, where he was taken in the ambulance. The man it is thought will be recovered by the time the ship arrives here from Philadelphia, and if he is he will go home in her. The crew and passengers were all examined by Dr. Campbell, who found no infectious disease on the vessel and she was given a clean bill of health.

Births and Death on the Corinthian

A little child aged 11 months, owned by one of the emigrants on board the Corinthian, died on the 27th ult. and was buried at sea. The ship was stopped for the purpose and the ship's surgeon read the burial service before the little body went to its watery grave. The mother was disconsolate over her loss, but Thursday another little life was ushered into the world, the bereaved woman being the mother. Both child and mother are doing well. The day previous to the occurrence another birth took place on the ship, and in this case also the mother and child are doing well.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and head ache, I feel too tired to do anything I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden. Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like this when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at
