Another Sensation Regarding Zinovieff Letter Promised 20 MILLION GOLD POLLS IN U. S.

LABOR MINISTRY IS EXPECTED TO QUIT THIS AFTERNOON

Investigation of Russian Letter May Develop Startling Turn.

REPORTED GENUINE

Rumored Copy of Document Handed to Conservative ex-Minister, Oct. 22.

BY LLOYD ALLEN
(British United Press.)

London, Nov. 4.—Ramsay MacDonald will go to Buckingham Palace immediately after a cabinet meeting this afternoon, and will present the resignation of his ministry to King George, it was reliably stated today.

The cabinet's investigation of the authenticity of the Zinovieff letter for a time delayed MacDonald's visit to the palace.

The Daily Chronicle's political correspondent predicts a sensational announcement will be made regarding the Zinovieff letter. He declares its authenticity is virtually certain.

By Special Bureaux

A special messenger, the correspondent said, brought the letter from Moscow to London, while three or four "similar letters were sent simultaneously."

One of the latter, he says, "was handed to a very prominent Conservative ex-minister," who gave it to the press. The foreign office, learning the newspapers possessed a copy, immediately released them.

Question of Authenticity.
(By HERBERT BAILEY.)
London, Nov. 4.—(British United Press).—Sensational developments of the way in which the contents of the Zinovieff letter leaked out to the press are expected to come out of the post mortem now being conducted by the Government, which is being undertaken ostensibly to establish the authenticity of the document. One freely circulated report says that a copy of the letter was given to an unnamed former minister of the Conservative party at the wedding of Kipling's daughter on Oct. 22nd. The list of guests at that function reveals the names of Stanley Baldwin, Lord Curzon, Lord Milner. This same rumor says that from there the letter found its way into the hands of the press.

Meanwhile the Daily Herald is responsible for the statement that the cabinet committee now sitting under the chairmanship of Lord Haldane has as yet found no proof of its authenticity to which the Conservative papers reply that the committee has also found no proof of its forgery, and this appears to be the lines upon which the final report will be issued.

Stanley Baldwin has received hundreds of cables of congratulation from all parts of the Empire and especially from Canada.

He informed Tory headquarters this morning of these messages although he has not yet had time to read them all as he is still in the country, but his Secretary is responsible for the statement that the number breaks all previous records.

N. B. BY-ELECTION IS SET FOR DEC. 1

Nomination Day in Moncton Contest Will Be on Nov. 24.

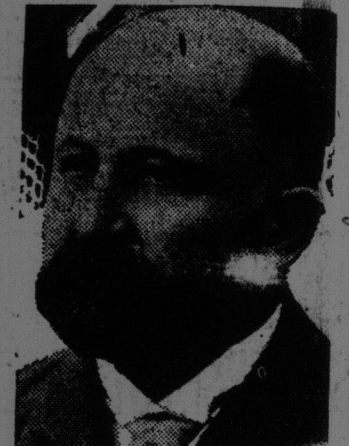

Fredericton, Nov. 4.—December 1 was fixed at this morning's meeting of the Provincial Government as the date of the by-election in Moncton following the appointment of Ivan C. Rand as Attorney-General. Nomination day was set for November 24 and W. H. Price was named as returning officer.

Mrs. Harding Is Again Stricken

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 4.—(United Press).—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of President Harding, "had a good night and is resting easy this morning," it was said at White Oak Farm early today.

Mrs. Harding is suffering from a recurrence of kidney trouble, with which she was stricken in 1922 at the White House.

May Retire From Political Field

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, will retire from the political field, according to a rumor at Ottawa. He is suffering from a severe affection of the heart. He is the only supporter of the Government from Saskatchewan.

MILL POND WORK WILL GO AHEAD

Common Council Decides on Operation to Cost $51,000.

BOND ISSUES

Notice of Motion Given for Debentures Up to $287,000.

The City Council this morning decided to proceed with the building of a trunk sewer through the Carleton Place pond at an estimated cost of $51,000, plus timber to be used in the construction. Notice was given of the issue of bonds to the extent of $287,114.65 for civic works. Of this amount $172,114.65 is for hydro construction. The bonds will run from five to 40 years and will pay 5 per cent interest.

The Commissioner of Finance and Public Affairs recommended the payment of the following departmental accounts for the month of October last: Treasury Department, $404.96; Public Safety Department, $2,483.70; Public Works Department, $2,546.55; Water and Sewerage Department, $7,419.50; Harbors, Ferries and Public Lands Department, $2,802.43; and reported payments for the last month amounting to $170,775.05. Adopted.

The Committee of the Whole recommended that the offer of Harry B. Tippetts of $400 for lot No. 6 in the Town Planning area of city lands, in Lancaster, be accepted, subject to the town-planning rules and regulations, upon the condition that the purchase money be paid.

Contract For Cloth.
The tender of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., for 475 yards of blue cloth for uniforms, at $4.85 per yard, was accepted. Carried.

A communication from Fred N. Tucker, brother of Miss Charlotte Tucker of Epsom, England, who had given the city a sum of money for the development of Tucker Park, asking what action had been taken to improve the property, was read. It was referred to Commissioner Frink for a reply.

The commissioner said he made one or two surveys of the property and would probably make another one this afternoon to decide on the location of a road.

A communication from the chairman of the Board of Assessors pointing out that parts of Stanley Ward were liable for full valuation and asking that the council make the necessary order was read.

Mayor Potts said this was very timely as about $70,000 would be cut off this year by exemptions in income made under the legislation adopted last year.

On motion of Commissioner Frink the communication was referred to the committee of the whole, the chairman (Continued on page 2, third column.)

Paris, Nov. 4.—(United Press).—Gabriel Pauré, famous composer, died here today.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—Thomas E. Cornish, first president of the Bell Telephone Company, is dead at a local hotel. He was 86 years old.

Berlin, Nov. 4.—(United Press).—Four persons, including a woman, were killed today when a passenger plane crashed near Danzig. One of the dead was said to be Herr Weyer, editor of a Danzig newspaper.

PETER SMITH GETS ANOTHER 3 YEARS FOR CONSPIRACY

Sentence Will Run Concurrently, However, With Previous Term.

HOME BANK CASE

Former Ontario Treasurer Pleads Guilty—No Evidence Is Taken.

(By Canadian Press.)

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Three years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Mowat this morning on Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario, who pleaded guilty of conspiracy in connection with certain transactions with the defunct Home Bank. The proceedings were brief, and no evidence was taken.

Smith is already under sentence of three years on charges of conspiracy to defraud the province on bond sale transactions. Both sentences will run concurrently.

T. H. Lennox, K. C., appeared for Smith, when the indictment was read. Mr. Lennox stated that since the previous trial and conviction of Smith he had given the matter close consideration, and having in mind the great expense involved in a further trial on the new count, he had taken the responsibility of advising his client to plead guilty.

The indictment laid forth that Smith conspired with the late Sir-General J. Cooper Mason, former general manager of the Home Bank, to "show certain amounts" to Mason in return for amounts paid to him out of the proceeds of the sale of provincial bonds. The amounts said to have been paid to Smith in this connection in 1920 and 1921 totalled $72,000.

The indictment was not discussed by counsel in the very brief proceedings, and no explicit explanation of the charges against Smith was made in court this morning.

TWO CASES HEARD IN DIVORCE COURT

Decree is Ordered in Suit of Murray vs. Murray—Another Starts.

(Special to The Times-Star.)

Fredericton, Nov. 4.—The divorce court opened here this morning. Twenty cases were filed, five of them being defended. Twelve causes came over from the July sitting. The defended cases are Elinor C. Barberie vs. Frank A. Barberie; Harry A. Doherty vs. Ida Hazen Doherty; Ada Garland vs. Alfred Absalom Garland; Sara Harquall vs. John Harquall; Myrtle V. Scott vs. Walter Frederick Scott.

The court proceeded to try the case of Daisy Murray vs. Allen Murray. The plaintiff is a native of Scotland, the wife returned to Scotland and spent four years with her own people and underwent an operation in hospital. Letters from a sister-in-law, the complainant alleges, informed her that her husband was living at Bathurst with Mrs. Leah Trier. The wife returned to Bathurst last autumn and claims she found that the statement was correct.

The plaintiff, M. B. Dixon, acting deputy provincial secretary, Rev. James Rice and Mrs. Mary Sargent gave evidence. R. B. Hanson, K. C., who appeared for N. A. Landry, proctor, applied for a decree which the court declared would be ordered to issue.

In the case of Ethel Helena MacMurdo vs. Leslie Becher MacMurdo, the parties reside in Moncton, the court declared that the statement (Continued on page 2, third column.)

Cross Word Puzzle To Start Tomorrow

In The Times-Star tomorrow, on the magazine page, readers will find a Cross Word Puzzle, the new thing about which there is so much talk among old and young, and in which so many thousands are keenly interested.

This will be a daily feature, the puzzle appearing one day and the solution on the day following. You will find it fascinating. Begin in tomorrow's Times-Star.

First Returns Favor Coolidge

New Ashford, Mass., Nov. 4.—The vote of this town, the first to report its return in the presidential election, Coolidge 20, Davis 4, LaFollette 2. The 1920 vote was Harding 28, Cox 6.

Somerset, Vermont, Nov. 4.—The vote of this town for president in today's election gave Coolidge 8, Davis 4, LaFollette 2. The vote four years ago was Harding 20, Cox 5. Four men and their wives, the first voting population, cast their votes for Mr. Coolidge. This second voting, however, by any means, in the county was made possible by agreement of all the voters to cast their ballots the first thing this morning and for Vermont's native son, President Coolidge.

NO FURTHER CUT IN HARBOR CHARGES

Common Council Decides Against Request to Confer Again.

TEST THIS WINTER

Communications of Steamship Men are Taken Up at City Hall.

(Special to The Times-Star.)

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 4.—Another evidence of the determination of the Federal Government to explore every possible avenue of better trade for Canada is furnished in information that negotiations have been resumed between this Dominion and Spain. W. McFarlane, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Italy and stationed at Milan has been instructed by Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, to proceed to Madrid to take preliminary steps toward a trade arrangement with that country.

It is expected that the pact with Spain, if and when effected will closely resemble that with other European countries, namely the exchange of most favored nation treatment. Two years ago it was indicated by Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding that Spain had been "sounded" but was not then in a position to do business. The difficulty has been that Spain while obtaining from Canada the favored national treatment had little to offer in return and consequently whatever arrangement would have been made would be one-sided. It is understood that certain difficulties are to be removed so that the treaty can be made mutually advantageous.

A trade pact with Spain will make the fifth negotiated by the present government since it came into power in 1921. The other countries with which lucrative arrangements have been effected are France, signed on December 18, 1922, and negotiated by Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Italy signed on January 4, 1923, Belgium signed in Ottawa a few days ago, the Netherlands signed this year and Australia the arrangement still awaiting exchange of ratifications.

In all the above with the exception of Australia an exchange of favored nation treatment is provided.

Australian Pact.
An impression which is abroad that the Australian trade treaty with Canada, in whole or in part, may become operative by order-in-council has nothing to justify it.

Premier Bruce has asked specifically that the treaty be ratified by the Canadian Parliament as has been done already by Australia and it is made clear by Hon. J. A. Robt. that no other course will be followed. The arrangement being mutual, the wishes of the Australian government have to be met even though the Dominion government was prepared to proceed more expeditiously.

Australia's desire to defer the arrangement until it is sanctioned by the Canadian Parliament is understood to be due to the fact that the last rain crop has all been sold and the new crop will synchronize with the time that the treaty will be operative. In paper and some other commodities affected by the treaty Australia evidently wishes to get rid of the stocks on hand or contracted for before the arrangement is effective.

Arrangement In Danger.
Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 3.—(Canadian Press via Reuters).—The trade agreement which was completed recently by the governments of Australia and Canada providing for a mutual preference between the two overseas dominions is in danger of disruption because of strong opposition which has developed in the commonwealth against the pact. Already efforts are being made to have Australia secure release from her engagement.

The Melbourne Age today voices its strong opposition to the agreement. It declares that Canadian industries which are largely capitalized by Americans are getting the preference in certain classes of commodities at the expense of Great Britain. The Journal accordingly is urging the government to take the first opportunity of obtaining release from the agreement with Canada.

Mother and 2 Little Ones Perish In Fire

New York, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Mary Nebro, wife of the janitor of a building in a lower Manhattan, and her two children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the building yesterday. The three bodies were found huddled in a hallway by firemen tearing down the ruins. It took the fire fighters more than an hour to bring the flames under control. Two men, attempting to rescue the trapped family, were overcome and had to be carried out of the building.

AUSTRALIAN PACT

Strong Opposition in Antipodes May Wreck New Agreement.

CREW OF ERICSSON IS BELIEVED LOST

U. S. Cruiser Starts on Search For Sloop Last Heard From in August.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 4.—Belief that the sloop Lelf Ericsson with her crew of three has met disaster in the heavy Arctic ice along the Greenland coast is expressed at Battle Harbor, Labrador. The little sailing craft, which set out along the Old Vikings' course from Bergen, Norway, bound for Battle Harbor, was last heard from at the latter port on August 14. Two and one half months have passed and the little vessel has not arrived.

A telegram received here today from Battle Harbor said "No information whatever of Ericsson. Fear worst has happened to sloop and crew as Judge Wells of New York in motor yacht Shanghai who arrived here via Norway and Greenland on August 14, and left next day for New York, informed me that Ericsson was somewhere behind him and intended calling at Battle Harbor. Unlike the Shanghai, the Ericsson depended on sail only during her perilous voyage. The Shanghai encountered heavy Arctic ice near the Greenland coast barely escaping disaster. My opinion is that the Ericsson met her fate while contending with similar conditions near that coast."

Recover Wealth From Sea

Far beneath the dredge boat shown here lies the British ship Lutina, sunk in 1799 off Holland with $15,000,000 in gold and silver. Dutch salvage engineers now hope to see that treasure come pouring up with the sand through their suction pipes.

Says Maritime Fish Sells For Five Times Cost In Ottawa Markets

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—That fish from Maritime Provinces was sold at Ottawa at five times the price that the fishermen got for it at the ports was a statement made by T. H. Blair, local agent of the C. N. R. Express Company, in the course of a trade talk at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Blair said that when he asked the local storekeeper the reason for the large difference in price secured by the fishermen and that at which the fish was retailed in Ottawa he was told the express charges were so heavy. The speaker pointed out that the express rates on such fish were only 1 1/4 cents a pound.

GAME-KEEPER HELD On Bail In France

Ontario Jury Brings in True Bills For Murder and Lesser Charge.
Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 4.—William John Crossen, game-keeper on the estate of William James Crossen, Baltimore, was yesterday indicted before Justice Wright on charge of wilful murder of B. A. McCordian, Toronto, and the shooting of Edward Rowe of Hamilton township, with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The grand jury returned true bills late in the afternoon and a few witnesses were heard before adjournment.

McCordian was visiting Rowe over the week-end and was engaged in fishing when the tragedy occurred, in which, it is said, the accused fired two shots at point blank range from a 12-gauge shotgun.

DEATHS REACH 25

Six Patients of Pneumonic Plague Still Under Treatment in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Nov. 4.—Four additional deaths here from what state and city medical men have diagnosed as pneumonic plague, brought the total mortality list attributable to the disease since October 19 to 25, according to an announcement by Dr. W. H. Kellogg, director of the California state hygienic laboratory.

Dr. Kellogg's list of remaining patients isolated at the Los Angeles General Hospital showed six still afflicted with the malady there.

Serum Sent by Plane.
Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(United Press).—An airplane loaded with serum to combat the deadly pneumonic plague in the Mexican quarter of Los Angeles is racing across the continent today. The plane is expected to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow night.

CAMPAIGN ENDED, LARGE ELECTORATE FLOCKS TO POLLS

Fair Weather Generally is Expected to Bring Out Record Vote.

CANDIDATES FINISH

Last Minute Speeches are Delivered by Coolidge and Davis.

(By Canadian Press.)

Washington, Nov. 4.—The largest electorate that ever cast a vote undertook today the task of unravelling the most puzzling tangle in the modern political history of the U. S.

With three major candidates in the field for President; with a full membership of the House to be chosen; with 34 senators and 34 governors to be elected, and with thousands of lesser offices to be filled, the twenty odd million qualified voters of the nation began their march to the polls at dawn. Throughout the length and breadth of the land, under generally fair weather conditions, they continued all day to record their will.

Four months of fervid oratory, charges, recriminations, accusations, claims, predictions and warnings were stored in the thoughts of the voters as they marked their decisions on their ballots.

Campaign Closed

The Republican and Democratic standard-bearers, Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis, established a precedent, a political campaigning by addressing an eleventh hour radio appeal last night to an audience that reached from coast to coast. Senator LaFollette, Independent candidate, closed his case with a statement to the voters.

President Coolidge's plea was one to urge every qualified citizen to vote today.

President Coolidge passed the day in the White House silently awaiting the returns; confident, and even planning for his new tenure of office. He and Mrs. Coolidge had mailed their ballots to their Northampton, Mass., home.

Mr. Davis, declaring the Democratic ticket would be returned because it deserved to win, voted at Locust Valley, Long Island, and prepared to receive the returns at his home.

Senator LaFollette, after an intensive drive, voted in Madison, Wis., his own town and he too expressed his belief that his cause had won the favor of the voters.

What Vote Means

There are 435 seats in the house, of which the Republicans now hold 220, counting the LaFollette group, and the Democrats 206, and in the voting today in various parts of the country there are alignments, endorsements and unusual alliances between political groups because of which even the most sophisticated politicians hesitate to forecast the complexion of the next house, although both Democrat and Republican managers have formally placed their bets on victory.

The entry in the situation of the Railroad Brotherhood and the American Federation of Labor in support of Senator LaFollette, and their action at the same time in working for the election of various members of Congress favorable to Labor organizations, is another factor which it has been hard for the political prophet to fathom. Both the Republican and Democratic managers have scouted the idea that Labor would desert the older parties.

Duke of Devonshire Boomed For Cabinet

London, Nov. 4.—(British United Press, by H. Bailey).—Strong representations are being made to Stanley Baldwin by influential men of Imperial outlook both in England and from the dominions that the Duke of Devonshire should join the cabinet as Secretary of State for the Colonies.

It is urged that his appointment would be popular in Canada in particular. It is understood the duke would be willing to accept the position.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 4, 1924.

WHAT WILL YOU GIVE?

St. John has a generous citizenship which supports a great many good causes by donating money, or goods, or work to their furtherance. Particularly since the beginning of the war it has been well established that when the people of St. John who are able to give—and the very great majority of them can give something—learn through the press or in some other way that a work of charity or of benevolence greatly needs doing, that suffering, hardship and even death may result because funds are lacking, they do not hesitate to respond according to their means. Because the record in this respect is good, and also because the approach of winter renders this subject most timely, The Times-Star has a word to say to-day concerning the work done by the Board of Associated Charities and the Board's pressing need for funds to carry on, particularly from now until spring, a work the value of which and the necessity for which must be understood by all once a few simple facts are presented.

First of all, the Board of Associated Charities, even for the emergency work which is of a character where post-ponement must cause sharp suffering. Indeed, if the usual work carried out by the Board is delayed, or worse yet, not done—and it cannot be done without funds—a situation would be created immediately which would shame our citizenship and mar its fine record in these matters.

As is generally known, the Board receives support and co-operation from many churches and organizations, and from a too limited list of individual subscribers. It also receives from the City the rather astonishing annual grant of $205. In this work of benevolence people of all denominations unite most effectively and harmoniously, and those who know best what the Associated Charities do have no doubt that this cause stands high on the list of worthy and indispensable enterprises. The devoted and efficient secretary, Miss Grace Robertson, carries on quietly and constantly a line of endeavor without which there would continually exist shocking and prolonged conditions of distress and suffering. The Board, through Miss Robertson, investigates all sorts of cases for individual citizens and for organizations, and reports upon their worthiness. In this way, to a very great degree, impostors are guarded against and the vicious and shiftless are prevented from taking undue advantages of charitable feelings. Thus, too, duplication of effort and of giving is avoided. The emergency work is that in which the Board chiefly spends the too limited amounts usually at its disposal, and, as has been said, at present funds for this purpose, or for any, are practically exhausted.

Now, this emergency work is a challenge to our good citizenship. To understand its character is to understand the need for giving, promptly, and as generously as means permit. If a mother with small children has been deserted by her father, or if he has died suddenly and made no provision against abject poverty, the Associated Charities provide immediate temporary relief while arrangements are being made to have the family cared for by a church or some other organization upon which the unfortunate have the best claim. Sometimes aged people are discovered in dire distress because the man has become too old to be a breadwinner any longer, and, through neglect of his own, he and his aged wife are suffering from hunger and cold. There are many other cases, varied in character, where emergency relief must be given, and where delay would produce the saddest consequences.

This organization needs about $2,000, needs it badly, and should have it within ten days. That money will be applied to the winter's emergency work, and those who can give will do so with the knowledge that every cent of the funds will be used carefully, actually and wisely, only in absolutely necessary cases, to prevent suffering of one kind or another. None should hesitate to give who is able, even if he or she can donate only on a very small scale. Larger gifts would of course be most welcome, and from some citizens considerable sums may reasonably be expected, but it is a good thing to have the giving widely distributed, or giving helps the giver as well as the suffering, and a wide list of contributions would mean a general glow of satisfaction in having ministered to the unfortunate, directly, in the dark hour of their distress.

The President of the Associated Charities is Mr. W. Shives Fisher, the secretary is Miss Grace Robertson, and the Treasurer is Mr. Percy J. Steele. Mr. Steele or Miss Robertson will gladly receive and acknowledge contributions. Now is the time to end them in. Truly, he gives twice who gives quickly.

Australia is hanging fire curiously in connection with the trade pact with Canada.

A GOOD MEETING.

There were many encouraging features at last night's meeting at the Board of Trade, where Mr. Hance J. Logan and others spoke with unusual force and effectiveness regarding increased trade with the West Indies and South America. It is noteworthy that the attendance was well appreciated in business circles, and a gratifying feature was that many of the younger business men were in attendance. Business circles in St. John, it is seen as a result of the meeting, are eager to give the strongest possible support to the movement for the betterment of our trading relations with the West Indies and other markets in that part of the world, and as a result of Mr. Logan's speech and the speeches of Mr. W. S. Fisher, Mr. L. W. Simms and others, a clear and definite line of suggestion was reached in regard to the main essentials. Among the more important improvements which all agree are absolutely necessary are these—

More and better qualified trade agents in all the territory where it is known that we can sell or buy to advantage.

An up-to-date steamship service, with refrigeration accommodation, modern, and designed to serve the present trade well and to promote the expansion which is clearly in sight if the right methods are adopted.

The Canadian Government Merchant Marine should open new fields for trade, rather than merely compete with lines which the people of Canada finance heavily through Government subsidies. At present, as was pointed out, the Government subsidizes its competitors, and the public pays these subsidies and the loss on the C. G. M. M., in addition, which looks like, and is, bad business.

Mr. Logan favors free trade with the West Indies, since there can be no competition between their products and ours, and our relations with other trading nations need not be in any way affected by the policy we might profitably adopt with respect to the West Indies and contiguous trading centres. All the fruit we import should come direct through Canadian ports, or else be subjected to a heavy duty.

We should consider in these matters not the West Indies alone, but Venezuela, Colombia and other South American territory, where, as Mr. Fisher effectively pointed out, the prospect for new business, and a great deal of it, is excellent. These suggestions are not academic, but result from a study of the whole situation by men who have personally inspected the field, and who know what they are talking about. It was suggested during the meeting that when Hon. Mr. Low—who unfortunately was unable to be present last evening—goes to the West Indies a few weeks hence, accompanied by Mr. Logan, he would do well to take along with him a group of representative Canadian business men interested in this particular trade and so in a position to judge of the practical character of any improvements which the Minister may deem desirable as a result of the tour. The Government, all were convinced who attended last night's meeting, must give due weight to the facts recently brought out in Parliament and before various Boards of Trade, with relation to this situation. There is a great trade development easily within Canada's grasp, if it will apply modern methods and live up to its opportunities. The character of the trade agents previously selected should come under careful review. It is evident that some of the number—which is altogether too small—are not fitted for the positions they occupy, although they are educated and presentable gentlemen who should do very well in some other walk of life. It is manifestly absurd, considering the trade available and the character of the competition from the United States, that Canada should be represented by an untrained man in a field containing some millions of population, and that he should have obscure office accommodation and small liberty of action, and be wholly unable, even if he were a trained expert, to cover effectively more than a very few of the important trade centres.

Last night's meeting marked a very important step in the drive for increased trade with the West Indies and South America, and, unless all signs fail, the forthcoming visit of Hon. Mr. Low and Mr. Logan to the West Indies should result in effective action by the Government. Certainly the House of Commons at the coming session will have before it a wealth of information on this subject, and there will be members in the Commons who will be in a position to insist upon progressive and effective action. Hon. Dr. Baxter last night expressed the view that when Hon. Mr. Low and Mr. Logan bring in their recommendations there will be very little partisanship in the manner of their reception, and Mr. Logan was able to quote Hon. Arthur Meighen as in hearty sympathy with expansion of trade with the West Indies. These are good omens and will encourage those who hope for a large benefit to the Maritime Provinces from this source.

GETTING BUSINESS.

The way to get business is to go after it. Yesterday, The Times-Star had a call from Mr. T. C. Wallace, travelling freight and passenger agent of the Union Pacific system. Mr. Wallace's office is in Boston, and the great railroad lines he represents run from Omaha and other points to the Pacific coast, reaching San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle in addition to serving inland territory.

Now, what is Mr. Wallace doing up here in New Brunswick, and what has the Union Pacific to gain by sending him here? The Times-Star asked Mr. Wallace to account for himself, and he was willing to do so. This newspaper believes there is a lesson for St. John in what Mr. Wallace had to say. Any incidental advertising of benefit to the Union Pacific and Mr. Wallace which may result from this publicity is cheerfully contributed. Mr. Wallace replied that he was visiting transportation agents here with the idea of picking up some passenger and freight traffic for the Union Pacific lines, but chiefly passenger traffic, and he pointed out that year after year an increasing number of people from the Maritime Provinces go to California, and to other Pacific points, and that even if their ultimate destination may be Victoria or Vancouver they may wish to go by an American route and return by a Canadian one, or vice versa.

Mr. Wallace was unable to put this traffic into figures, but it is not only considerable, but is constantly expanding, for, no matter how much talk there may be about hard times, a yearly increasing number of our people do contrive to get away to the shore of the Pacific during the more severe portion of our winter. The fact that Mr. Wallace comes here is proof enough that the Union Pacific, a hard fisted business organization, and a very great one, has found his activities profitable. It meets its competitors more than half way.

It should follow from this illustration that St. John, needing new business for the port, ought to get into direct touch with those who control the routing of traffic. If we take wheat, for example, the Western farmer usually sells it to an elevator company or to some agent near him, and after the price is fixed and paid he has probably little further interest in what becomes of his product. But somebody routes that freight, and there is stiff competition between the transportation companies. When the Government took over the Grand Trunk Pacific and other lines they were still bound by a provision made by Parliament when the money was provided for the construction of the Transcontinental and of much new railroad mileage to the West, to the effect that as the bonds for G. T. P. construction were guaranteed by Parliament all traffic not otherwise specifically routed by the shipper must go through Canadian ports. Traffic specifically routed by the shipper should be easily measured. The extent to which the C. N. R. and the Government are living up to the provision which Parliament insisted upon should be a matter of easy discovery. With that analysis of the situation, the course of St. John in aggressively seeking the additional traffic it should have would be made clear.

We do not know exactly how important Maritime Province Pacific travel is to the Union Pacific, but that great organization finds it worth going after, and Mr. Wallace says it is of more moment year by year. St. John should take a leaf out of the Union Pacific's book. It should set for itself in seeking traffic, meantime never forgetting to press upon the Government and the C. N. R. the necessity for living up to the conditions laid down when this country financed the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, and built the Transcontinental.

To-day's decision at the Council meeting against any further conference on port charges leaves several important questions in the air. How much business does the port stand to lose if the Council stands pat? A few hours, or a few days, should suffice to determine how many sailings are to be cancelled. This is a matter in which it is necessary to get quickly "down to cases." If the traffic loss is to be considerable the refusal to have another conference is not wise. The citizens should soon know just what the facts are, for the question is one of vital import, and the winter port season is at hand.

It looks—in the early despatches—like a landslide for Mr. Coolidge; but whether or not his party is going to have control in Congress is not yet clear. And that is of the first importance.

But fair gold chalice, rubbed, flung High in one blinding flash and sun-shattered as you lunged.

Age hath its place,
Mellowed with harvest, wisdom hoarded;
Yet you, winged runner in the race, Have awe outsped and swiftly soared To God's high place.

And good die young—

The first regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club for this season was held last night at the residence of the president, Col. E. C. Weyman, and the paper per of the evening was read by Rev. H. A. Cody, the subject being "The Wood Carver of St. John." In his paper Mr. Cody dealt with the life and work of John Rogerson, of Carleton street, who is 87 years of age and in the early days of shipbuilding in the city carved the figure heads for many of the vessels launched in St. John and elsewhere. The paper was very greatly appreciated and many tributes were paid Mr. Rogerson as well as Mr. Cody.

WEDDINGS

Brooks-Connor.

Frank Douglas Brooks, of Westfield, and Miss Margaret Althea Connor, daughter of John Connor, of West St. John, were united in marriage in St. Jude's church, last night at 8.30 o'clock, in the presence of immediate relatives. Rev. J. H. A. Holmes performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Mabel Connor and J. H. Hawker.

DEATHS

Rev. Canon H. A. Brooke.

Mrs. W. R. Hibbard, of Rothesay, received word yesterday of the death of her brother, Rev. Canon H. A. Brooke, rector of St. Matthew's church, Toronto, which had occurred in Toronto after a short illness of pneumonia. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved. Canon Brooke had been rector at St. Matthew's for two years and previously had been rector at the cathedral in Saint Ste. Marie and at Christ church, Deer Park, Toronto. He held a high place among the Anglican clergy in Canada and will be greatly mourned. He is survived by two sons and one daughter, one brother, Arthur, in Calgary, and two sisters, Miss E. J. Brooke, in Montreal, and Mrs. Hibbard. The funeral will take place in Toronto on Wednesday.

H. Eugene Bowser.

The death of H. Eugene Bowser of Sackville, which occurred on Saturday evening, will be learned with regret by many friends. He was taken ill Saturday afternoon and died about 9 o'clock that evening. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Mary, at home, three sisters and two brothers.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY CHURCH GUILD

St. John's (Stone) church Guild at its annual meeting last night voted money to fill all the pledges, in spite of the fact that the year for the society had been only six months in duration. Gratifying reports were received and the members greatly enjoyed an account of the recent triennial meeting of the National W. A., which was given by Mrs. George F. Smith, diocesan president. The Guild will make an outfit for an Indian boy, support a boy in a mission school in China and look after two families in the parish at Christmas time. Miss Edith Skinner, president, was in the chair and was re-elected to office. Other officers elected were as follows: Vice-presidents, first, Mrs. A. E. Fleming; second, Mrs. J. P. Fraser; secretary, Miss May Ward; treasurer, Miss Margaret Bolton; Dorcas secretary, Miss Annie Fowler, and convener of flower mission, Miss Grace Estey.

FOR twenty-five years the Carnation label has guided housewives to a pure and most convenient milk supply. Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization.

Use Carnation in place of cream in coffee, or on cereals and fruit, etc. Use it diluted in tea, (one part Carnation, three parts water.) For milk of natural consistency for general cooking add a little more than an equal part of water. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer. Send for copy of our book of 100 tested recipes.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE: ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup Carnation Milk, ½ cup butter or substitute, 4 eggs, ½ cup water, 1½ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons boiling water, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate.
Dissolve chocolate in the boiling water. Cool. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming constantly. Add the chocolate. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add them to the creamed sugar and butter; then add the liquid and the sifted dry ingredients, alternately. Add vanilla. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and cut carefully and lightly into the mixture. Turn into 2 greased layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes.

FORGED PARNELL LETTER AND PIGOTT EVIDENCE RECALLED BY THE ZINOVIEFF DOCUMENT

Tense Scenes in Commons and in Court as Irish Leader
Defended Himself and was Exonerated Thirty-Three Years Ago.

(New York Times)

At a time when politics are passing on both sides of the Atlantic there has been injected into the affairs of Great Britain a document which has raised a storm of protest and comment. The charge of forgery often follows the publication of a document of such a character as the alleged Zinovieff "propaganda letter," and, in fact, has been made before in the past on somewhat similar occasions. At times Government officials and the press have been forced to admit themselves the victims of a malicious hoax. The charges and counter-charges of the game of politics as it is played on the continent now and again prove somewhat astonishing and devious to the trans-Atlantic mind. The Zinovieff letter, at all events, produced an amazing furore in the midst of a hot election campaign—in fact, it exhibited all the explosiveness of a bombshell.

While it may or may not prove to be in itself a cause celebre it has given a good deal of food for thought and reminiscence. The "forged letter" has a unique place of its own in the chronicles of Great Britain's political history. It has cropped up before and, as a weapon in the hands of the unscrupulous, it will doubtless crop up again. While the Zinovieff letter came at a time when the elections were at a critical stage it did not strike with nearly the compelling force as the most famous "forged letter" of them all—the Parnell facsimile, printed by England's most trustworthy newspaper and which, although later proved to be an out-and-out forgery, had the entire empire by the ears before the truth became known in court.

There was a far more stirring background to this letter than to any other forgery before or since. Charles Stewart Parnell had battled with the leadership of the Irish party in the House of Commons and on the floor deserts. You are at liberty to show him this and others whom you can trust also, but let not my address be known. He can write to the House of Commons.

Yours very truly,
CHARLES S. PARNELL.

There readily can be imagined the storm of excitement which followed the publication of this letter. If accepted at its face value it proved that Parnell excused the taking of home life in connection with the battle for Irish rights. It would lead to a criminal prosecution of him and his associates. The Liberal Party, at the time joined with the Irish Party in its struggle, was virtually stunned. The death-knell of Home Rule, would be sounded unless the facsimile letter could be refuted. Practically the entire nation was waiting to hear what Parnell had to say. And what he did say, calmly and without heat, when first the newspaper was shown to him startled every one within hearing.

"I have not made an 'S' like that since 1878." That was all—no wrath, no threats. That same evening he rose to his feet in the House of Commons and at once as ever dealt with the amazing situation which had been

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness.

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and also bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and there to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

the facsimile letter to the bottom—and he got it. The conflict was on.

Tracing the Forger.

"There is only one thing we must do," said Parnell. "That is to find the man who wrote that letter and make him tell the truth on the stand. When the letter is traced a forgery the entire case will fall through."

It was easy enough to say that the Parnell side must discover the originator of the letter, but how to ferret him out was a totally different proposition. The political and personal enemies of the famous Irishman were listed literally in hundreds. Any one of them, driven by hatred beyond the bounds of decency, might have done it. At this time "Pat" Egan, Parnell's ally, came to the rescue. The Times had published another false letter purporting to be signed by Egan in which the word "hesitancy" had been spelled "hesitency." And Egan had letters of a certain Richard Piggett, a shady Irish journalist, in which the same word was spelled the same way.

"Piggett is the forger," he told Parnell bluntly. But Piggett was in Paris. He came home and a subpoena was served on him. Egan, as the first move of Parnell. The second move came when Piggett was lured to the London house of a friend of Parnell's and there confronted by the Irish champion. Piggett defied him and was turned over to George Lewis, Parnell's solicitor, who finally wore down his defiance and got him to admit, at least, that he had written the letter. The way seemed clear for a complete examination of Parnell that night, but the next day Piggett was a new man. Bravely he defied them, recanted his confession, and swore he would take the stand for The Times. If he held up under cross-examination, it was certain that Parnell and his cause would go down under a load of obloquy.

The cross-examination of Piggett by Sir Charles Russell, later to become Lord Chief Justice of England, is regarded as a classic. Never did a witness find himself subjected to so rapid, merciless and thorough a fire of questions. Piggett became defiant and his pose was stripped from him. He writhed and sweated and was planned to be torn into a broken wreck within the space of an hour.

"I can recall his appearance even now as the net was drawn closer and closer about him," wrote a London barrister some years later. "The beads of perspiration standing out on his forehead and rolling down his face; the swollen veins, the short, rapid breathing, the expression of misery and ruin which overshadowed his countenance as all hope died away and the iron grip of a merciless advocate tightened around his throat."

Piggett Told All.

He was near collapse when finally he left the stand. "Watch him," said Parnell briefly. "He won't appear in this court again. That man will flee the country."

He never did see Piggett alive again, nor did he see the man who had been in the courtroom that eventful day of Feb. 20, 1889. When the next session of the commission opened there was no Piggett, but there was a document in handwriting which The Times lawyer presented to the court. It was a full confession of the forgery of the Parnell facsimile letter made before Henry Labouchere, a friend of Parnell's, and duly signed and witnessed.

"I grieve to confess," ran one paragraph, "that I simply fabricated the letters, using genuine letters of Messrs. Parnell and Egan in copying certain words, phrases and general character of the handwriting. I traced some words and phrases by putting the genuine letters against the window and placing the sheets on which I wrote over them. The genuine letters were the letters from Mr. Parnell, copies of which have been read in court. I destroyed the letters after using them. Some of the signatures I traced in this manner and some I wrote."

That was the end of the forged Parnell facsimile for The Times and once Parnell had been cleared, the story of what had gone before in the case of Piggett was a tale of double-dealing and intrigue not often figured in the shades of circles. A social outcast for his treacheries and unscrupulousness, Piggett had been trying to sell his services to both sides in the Irish controversy. The secretary of the Irish Royal and Patriotic Union of Dublin—James C. Houston—an inveterate foe of Parnell—was seeking documentary evidence that would connect Parnell with the crime raging in Ireland. Money was no object. Piggett scoured England, France, Switzerland and America in vain for the proof. He saw his hopes of a fat purse glimmering. So he wrote to Houston to meet him in Paris—that he had found "two men" with documents which would damn Parnell utterly.

In a shabby Paris hotel room he met Houston and a companion. He had the "men" downstairs, he said. Here were the letters—they wanted their pay at once. Houston handed over £200 without a question, £200 for the letters and £100 for Piggett's services. The letters were taken to The Times. The newspaper took Houston on trust exactly as he had taken Piggett on trust. Both were to find that they had been thoroughly mistaken.

Took His Own Life.

The Special Commission, composed of Mr. Justice Hannen, Mr. Justice Day and Mr. Justice Smith, instantly decided in favor of Parnell and a warrant went out for the arrest of Piggett. The police came upon him in a hotel in Madrid. He had only one thing to say. "Let me go to my room for a moment to pack my bag." He closed the door and the sound of a pistol shot rang out. He had put a bullet through his brain.

In the meantime back in London the tide had swung toward Parnell with tremendous strength. Crowds waited in thousands for him to return to the House of Commons after his exoneration—the Irish party leaped to their feet with wild cheers as he entered. The Liberals, his allies, rose also. Gladstone, snubbed upon him. As one of his contemporaries declared at the time, Parnell was that night the uncrowned King of Ireland. Parliament waited in throbbing expectancy to hear his first words. They would, of course, be a scathing denunciation of the political conspiracy that had brought him almost to ruin. But that was not Parnell's way. He spoke, but it was on the question before the House. Not a word did he have to say of the letter or the trial. In the instant of his victory he rose above his enemies, a superb and vital figure.

And then the blow fell that was to doom his career. Captain O'Shea brought suit for divorce, naming Parnell as the co-respondent. The great romance of his life brought him crashing down. His day as a political leader was done. Fighting bravely to win back his once undisputed power as the champion of Ireland's liberties, he broke beneath the strain and died on Oct. 7, 1891, a scant two years after his great vindication.

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Saltburn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

PLAN FOR FESTIVAL

Plans for the Armistice Festival to be held on Nov. 18 in the Central Baptist church for all of the teenage girls of the Sunday schools and their teachers, were completed at the annual meeting of the local Girls' Work Board held last evening in the office of the M. R. E. C., with the retiring president, Miss Florence Cummings, in the chair. The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: President, Miss Ethel Brindley; vice-president, Mrs. C. R. Watson; secretary, Mrs. J. D. McLean; treasurer, Miss Jennie Robinson, and representatives of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Edna Hunt. The sponsors appointed for the Girls' Council were Miss Estelle Earle and Miss Mildred Bustin.

$80,000 ARE RAISED FOR Y. M. C. A. FUND

(Special to The Telegraph-Journal)

Moncton, Nov. 3.—The campaign which has been carried on locally for several days to raise $80,000 for the remodelling of the Y. M. C. A. building here terminated this evening when a supper was held in the social hall of Central Methodist church. Final subscriptions received this evening raised the total to over $80,000. There was much enthusiasm as the objective was exceeded and speeches were given by Mayor J. F. Edgett, chairman of the executive committee; A. M. Grainger, H. G. Pope, local secretary, and Capt. J. E. Masters, B. F. Myles, G. A. McWilliam, R. H. Bannan, C. H. Blake, J. N. Norton, J. C. Farthing, Robert E. J. Wood, A. R. Fraser, W. P. Hutchinson, D. Cochrane, J. C. Keating, W. F. Wheeler, Dr. J. Opponents to Will of Neil McNeil Withdraw Objections—Estate of $800,000

(Canadian Press Despatch) Boston, Nov. 3.—The will of Neil McNeil, disposing of an estate estimated at between $800,000 and $1,000,000, the income from which is to be paid to 17 nieces and nephews during their lifetimes, and then go to St. Francis Xavier College, of Antigonish, N. S., was allowed today, objections being withdrawn. Some of the heirs had announced their intention to contest the will on the ground of undue influence by the governors of the college. McNeil, a builder, died in 1921.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NIGHT.

A fine programme was given last night under the auspices of the Sunday school of the Ludlow street Baptist church for the young people of the congregation as part of the Old Home Week events. R. Hunter Parsons, superintendent, was in the chair and Mr. Parsons and Rev. W. A. Robbins spoke briefly. The address of the evening was given by Rev. William Lawson who spoke entertainingly on character building. Lantern slides stories were a feature of the evening and those who gave the narratives for these stories were R. J. Rupert, Holly Hoyt and John W. McGiffin. The lantern was operated by Delbert Black. Those who took part in the musical portion of the programme were Miss Margaret McGiffin, Miss Beatrice Ramsay, Miss Thelma Cameron, Miss Mildred Campbell, Ernest Ramsay, Delbert Black, Walter Kierstead, R. J. Rupert, Edwin B. Rupert, Miss Carrie Durkee, Miss Lulu Mundee was Miss Durkee's accompanist and Miss M. E. Mullin aided in the success of the evening by playing for all of the other vocal numbers. A humorous dialogue was given by Misses Dorothy and Kathleen Graves.

SPEAKS OF WESLEY.

The Founders of Methodism was the title of the second lecture of the series on the "Meaning of Methodism" which was given by Rev. E. E. Styles before the Exmouth street Epworth League last night. Fred Myles was in the chair and about 30 members were present. Mr. Styles gave an account of the life of John Wesley, referring to his mother's influence in training him, and the influences which had surrounded him at Charter House school in London, and at the college at Oxford and telling of Wesley's mission to the Indians in Georgia from which he had returned to England greatly discouraged. One great monument to the memory of John Wesley, Mr. Styles said, was the band of about 40,000,000 souls scattered throughout the world who were Methodists.

CHANGE IN P. E. I. SERVICE. Canadian National Railways announce that, effective Nov. 4, there will be changes of service on the Prince Edward Island Railway.

S. S. Prince Edward Island will leave Borden as usual about 9 a. m. after the arrival of morning trains from Charlottetown and Summerside, connecting at Tormentine with trains for Sackville and Moncton, thus making the Montreal connections via Ocean Limited, and the Boston connection via St. John.

Service to the Island will be by mixed train leaving Sackville at 7.15 a. m. for Charlottetown and Summerside, and by passenger train leaving Sackville at 1.10 p. m.

The direct connection from St. John will therefore be by morning train, leaving at 7.05 a. m., running through to Cape Tormentine. The afternoon train, No. 14, will not make the steamer connection.

Floors and woodwork!—this new soap flake cleans them all—beautifully

Here is a soap flake that does all the jobs that you've been asked to buy two or three different kinds of soap preparations to do—Princess Soap Flakes.

They are absolutely guaranteed by The Palmolive Company not to run color or injure the finest fabric, the most delicate colors... any fabric clear water alone will not injure.

Guaranteed without superior among soaps, powders, flakes for washing machine work.

They make fine glassware sparkle and china glisten—yet clean kitchen utensils, floors, woodwork, etc., equally as effectively.

Princess Soap Flakes are economical. Because they are pure soap—unadulterated—less is required to do the work.

Let us give you a packet free to try. Simply use the coupon. Old-time soaps and flakes were each made for special purposes. One was for fine laundry, another for regular washing; others for general kitchen and household cleaning.

Thus this new creation banishes the need of buying more than one soap preparation to do all your work.

Will you try it, please Don't buy it—try it first.

Use the coupon. It brings a generous packet free.

Test it and compare it. Then you will do as thousands are doing—be satisfied with no other.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Nov. 3.—Jack MacDonald, fish packer, and Dorothy Gosnell were drowned last night near the Grand Trunk Pacific wharf when the small boat in which they were returning from an outing capsized. The bodies have not been recovered. A witness stated that MacDonald appeared to be handling the boat in a risky way.

400 SERVED AT HARVEST SUPPER

Cathedral Annual Event is Well Opened at the Y. M. C. I.

The Harvest supper, held last evening in the Y. M. C. I. under the auspices of the Cathedral, was attended by about 400 people. Rev. Raymond McCarthy was director and was congratulated by Bishop LeBlanc on the splendid manner in which he carried out his duties.

The door prize, an electric iron, was won by Mrs. H. A. O'Connor; the prize at the Children of Mary booth, a cushion, was won by Richard Coughlan; the St. Vincent's Altar Society prize, a basket of home-made candy, was won by Mrs. E. J. McLaughlin.

The women in charge at the various supper tables were Red Cross: Mrs. John Stack, convener; Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. A. Peterson, Mrs. W. Devlin, Mrs. H. McDonald, Mrs. J. Jones and the Misses Madeline McFale, Dorothy McFale, Florence O'Leary, Marie Peterson and Margaret Lenihan. # SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

EDGAR WADE TO BE GIVEN TRYOUT BY MONTREAL CANADIENS OF THE N.H.L.

"Joe" Page Speaks of Bringing World Meet Here This Winter.

Edgar Wade, Marysville hockey star, has been signed up for the Canadiens of the National Hockey League and will be given a tryout with the Montreal team this winter, so "Joe" Page, well known C. P. R. sport booster, reports here this morning. The Boston club has been angling for Wade's services for some time but the French club finally landed him. Wade will report for workouts in about a month's time.

TRIES OUT NEW BOWLING PLAN

Mr. Page is highly enthusiastic over the inclusion of Boston in the league and predicts that in time New York and Pittsburgh will have franchises on the circuit. "Hockey is growing," says the C. P. R. man, "and has a brilliant future ahead. It is a fine, clean game and has a big hold already in Boston."

Mr. Page was asked about how he swung the deal that brought the world-famous Chicago White Sox and New York Giants into Canada and have them leave Quebec in preference to New York, but was rather reticent in giving details. As a stroke of business, it put "Joe" in a class with himself and it was worth a considerable amount of advertising to Canada. It was accomplished mainly, he said, through co-operation and the influence of some good friends of his. He said when he learned the teams had definitely decided on a world tour many months ago, he set to work to bring them to Canada. How well he succeeded is a matter of recent history.

During the last few months, "Joe" has been putting in some mighty valuable work for this province in the way of handling parties of prominent Americans for hunting in New Brunswick woods. He has a party in the woods now which will be productive of many thousands of dollars worth of advertising to Canada and this province in particular. The party consists of E. T. Wolfe, Philadelphia, managing editor of Sport Life, T. V. Zickler, well-known sports writer, H. Armstrong Roberts, photographer par excellence, and a Dr. Warner, one of the most popular radio lecturers in the United States. The good reports these men will carry back with them to the United States about big game hunting in the New Brunswick woods are bound to send a great many of their friends up here next year. "Big game hunting," he says, "is a tremendous asset to this province and if properly exploited will prove of great benefit."

Another big asset this province possesses, he points out, is a big skating meet held in St. John annually. "Nowhere in the world," he declares, "have they such an asset as this. Here in St. John you can get more people to attend a skating meet in one day than the number that turn out at all the other centres, Lake Placid, Saranac Lake and the rest, combined. I am strongly in favor of keeping the good work up and I would consider it little short of a calamity if St. John does not make a bid this year for the world's skating championship. The possibilities of such a meet are enormous. As I understand it, the International Skating Union is anxious to have several of the leading Olympic skaters, including Thurberg, the champion, come over and take part in this meet. If this finally was accomplished and these European skaters competed here against United States and Canadian boys, you can easily see it would place St. John in its proper position as the logical skating centre of the world. Wholly apart from the sport element involved, I feel this is a business proposition that invites the co-operation of every citizen who has the welfare of St. John at heart."

On the invitation of Frank White, the president, Mr. Page will attend the meeting this afternoon of the N. B. Amateur Skating Association. Mr. Page will attend the annual meeting of the I. U. S. in New York, Nov. 14 and it is probable he will be asked to represent the New Brunswick Association at this meeting when the question of allocating the 1925 world meet will come up. Mr. Page expects to return to Montreal either tonight or tomorrow afternoon.

MT. A. ARE AFTER HOCKEY COACHES

Have Asked Two Well Known Professionals for Their Terms.

The Mount Allison University hockey squad are after a coach for this season's team and have already wired for terms from two Sydney stars. Big Alexander McDonald, one of the best known professional hockey players in the Maritime Provinces, has been approached, as well as Johnnie Patterson, also well known in Cape Breton hockey circles. Both players have been requested to submit their terms to the management of the Garnet and Gold McDonald and Patterson should make ideal coaches for the Varsity boys. McDonald is one of the finest puck-chasers outside of the N. H. L. and for years has been a recognized star in Cape Breton. Patterson is a younger player than McDonald, but back in 1915 was a star with the 6th Battery team in Fredericton, when they won the military championship of the province. On his return from overseas he played with the Sydney Millionaires and was a very dependable player. The Mt. A. boys are looking after the hockey details early and should have a good team on the ice this year.

Judges' Decision Nearly Creates Riot

Montreal, Nov. 4.—Billy Deane, of St. Paul, outpointed Leo Kid Roy, Canadian heavyweight champion in a ten round bout here last night. When the announcement was made that the judges awarded the decision to Deane, there followed a riot, and resulted in the judges being escorted from the building by the police.

The Turfman's Pastor

Horse Owners Build $350,000 Church for Kentucky Minister Who Defended Their Cause

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 4.—Last winter when a fight on parimutuel betting was waged in the Kentucky Legislature, the Rev. T. L. Settle, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, defended the betting machine, saying "they served as a muzzle for crooks."

Recently ground was broken for a new $350,000 church, the gift to Dr. Settle and his congregation of grateful horsemen. He has already been presented with a $12,000 residence from funds raised by the horsemen.

A campaign for the fund has been waged at the various race tracks of the country during the spring and fall.

JOHN PARIS GETS YEAR'S SENTENCE

Halifax, Nov. 4.—John Paris, colored, who was tried five times for the murder of Sadie Macaulay, a little St. John girl, and finally discharged when the jury failed to agree, was sentenced this morning in the city police court to 12 months' imprisonment with hard labor for a violation of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act. Paris was not in court when the case was called and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

U. N. B. TO PLAY HERE ON MONDAY

Will Take Dalhousie's Place Against the Trojans.

The University of New Brunswick Rugby team will be the holiday attraction here next Monday afternoon against the Trojans, instead of Dalhousie, it was announced here this morning by manager W. R. Golding. In their other clash here this season, the college team and Trojans put up a thrilling scrap that was decided by a narrow margin of one point in favor of the Fredericton team. The U. N. B. plays Mount Allison at Sackville on Thursday and plays the Wanderers at Halifax on Saturday. On Saturday of this week, the Moncton team meets the Trojans here in a benefit game for Leslie Kerr.

A HARD SCHEDULE FOR U. N. B. TEAM

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 3.—The rugby team of the University of New Brunswick is slated to play three matches on the tour which will begin Wednesday. On Thursday the team will play Mount Allison at Sackville. In the last match of the Western Section Inter-Collegiate League, on Saturday, the Wanderers will be played at Halifax in an exhibition game. On Monday, Thanksgiving Day, the Trojans will be played at St. John in an exhibition game. Mount Allison and U. N. B. have agreed on Ritchie McCoy, the captain of the Halifax Wanderers, as referee at Sackville.

REV. C. W. NICHOLS THANKS PEOPLE

Writes Letter in Appreciation of Those of Bay Du Vin.

The Chatham World says—Rev. Craig Nichols, former Anglican pastor at Bay du Vin, writes to The World his appreciation of the fine spirit of his former parishioners, as follows:

"Dear Sir:—On the eve of my departure from my native province I would be obliged if you would kindly publish a statement of my thanks to the people of Hardwicke parish, for the many kindnesses shown to me and Mrs. Nichols during the one year of our ministry there. I do not expect ever again to have a people so responsive to our leadership as was shown in their sacrificial giving of last winter when they gave $5,000 to pay off the mortgage on the new church."

"In addition to that their giving has been largely increased throughout the year and this ought to inspire the much 'better off' people of other places on the 'North Shore' to follow their example, in voluntary giving and not resorting so much to tax, sales and entertainments for raising money for church purposes."

"I shall never forget their help and kindness in packing up and for the men turning out so splendidly to haul my furniture all the way up to Loggieville. It is with great regret I leave Bay du Vin, as I have gotten greatly attached to the people there, but I have found myself not strong enough physically to do the driving there through snow in winter and have been forced to seek a warmer or at least one free from winter driving."

"Yours very sincerely,
"CRAIG W. NICHOLS,
"St. John, N. B."

ATTORNEY-GENERAL IS SWORN IN TODAY

Hon. I. C. Rand, of Moncton, Takes His Seat in Provincial Government.

(Special to The Times-Star)
Fredericton, Nov. 4.—The Provincial Government met here this morning, all the members present with the exception of Hon. W. F. Roberts, who will probably be here this evening. Hon. Ivan C. Rand, Attorney-General, took his seat as a member of the executive. This afternoon the Government will meet as the Board of Education.

Hon. Mr. Rand, Gov. Todd has consented to lay the corner stone of the new high school on Friday afternoon. There will be addresses by Dr. A. C. VanWart, chairman of the Board of School Trustees and by Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, principal of the Normal school.

Fred Haslam of St. John arrived here this morning to report Robert Moore and John Arviston, who have been detained here charged with unlawfully entering Canada from the United States.

New Member Sworn In.
Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 4.—Ivan C. Rand, of Moncton, was sworn in as Attorney-General of New Brunswick today. The oaths of office as a member of the Executive Council and Attorney-General as well as the oath of allegiance were administered by Lieut. Governor Todd, Premier Vanier, Hon. Fred Magoe, Hon. Dr. Hetherington, Hon. J. E. Michaud, Senator C. W. Robinson, Dr. E. A. Smith, J. A. Sinclair and a number of baristers of the New Brunswick bar were present.

Arthur J. Owen.
The death of Arthur J. Owen, managing director of Franklin Saunders Co. Ltd., London, England, was announced here yesterday. He was very well known in the United Kingdom and had a long trade of both Canada and England.

WEDDINGS

Dugay-Conway.
A very pretty wedding took place on Monday morning at 2:30 o'clock when Miss Catherine Isabel Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conway, Lancaster Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Dugay, Charlestown street. The ceremony was performed in St. Rose's church, Fairville, by Very Rev. Dean Collins. The bride wore a dress of baby blue georgette with cream lace trimmings and a wood shadde hat with pastel colors, and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Josephine Conway. The groom was attended by Albert Garnett. The bride's traveling suit was of navy blue Peltex twill, with hat to match and seal scarf. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were artistically decorated with autumn leaves and roan berries. Miss Hattie Mills, a friend of the bride, sang during the breakfast hour. Mr. and Mrs. Dugay left on the 1:20 train on a province and to the northern part of honeymoon trip to Prince Edward Island, and on their return they will reside at 180 Sydney street. A large number of handsome present gave testimony of the popularity of both the bride and groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls and to the bride a pair of French gold cuff links.

LeBlanc-Chaisson

CANNEFAX FAVORS MATCH WITH HOPPE

Three-Cushion Champion is Willing to Meet Balk-line Titleholder.

New York, Nov. 4.—Robert Cannefax, the world's three-cushion champion, has notified Charles S. Kline of the Strand Academy, holder of the franchise in the National Championship Three-Cushion League, that he was ready to meet Willie Hoppe, the world's balkline titleholder, in a special three-cushion match, provided that Hoppe was willing to accept the terms which he submitted. Cannefax, who is now playing league games in the Middle West, said that he would discuss the match with Kline upon his return here on Tuesday and at that time he would have some definite announcement to make.

"Hoppe has been getting away rather easily," Cannefax said in his message, "and it is not hard to pile up big runs and make splendid averages in exhibition matches. Let Hoppe be tied down to an important three-cushion match with more than a few dollars at stake, and see if it will lower his averages. I have looked over Hoppe's three-cushion game carefully. I had a chance to study it in the match he played with De Oro, and I want to say that his game isn't strong enough to cause me any worry. Hoppe will be accommodated when the time comes."

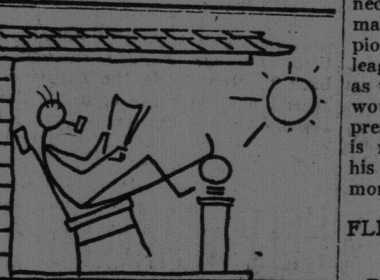

In order to play Hoppe it will be necessary for Cannefax to get permission from the league officials, and once this is gained there is nothing standing in the way of what looks like the biggest three-cushion match in a long time. Hoppe has been playing sensational three-cushion billiards, and he gained a high rating from the Western experts by his brilliant work against Augie Kleckner in Chicago and against Gus Copulos in Detroit. Both Kleckner and Copulos, members of the Three-Cushion League, received the necessary consent for the Hoppe matches. But as Cannefax is the champion and represents the best that the league has to offer, there still is doubt as to whether the three-cushion officials would care to jeopardize the league prestige in a match with Hoppe, who is rated dangerous at present, basing his rating on his form during the last month in real matches.

FLEISCHMANN'S 15 YEARLINGS FROM FRANCE TO RACE

Paris, Nov. 4.—Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati is shipping to the United States fifteen yearlings he bought at Dover last August to race at Latonia and other Southern tracks. They are the pick of the French turf out of Sardanapale, Maintenance and Senack, the two latter being W. K. Vandenberg's former stars. The yearlings will train in Kentucky for the American races. This is the first attempt to bring French blood into America on a large scale.

CLEAN HANDS AND FACES ADMIT BOYS TO ALL RUTGERS GAMES

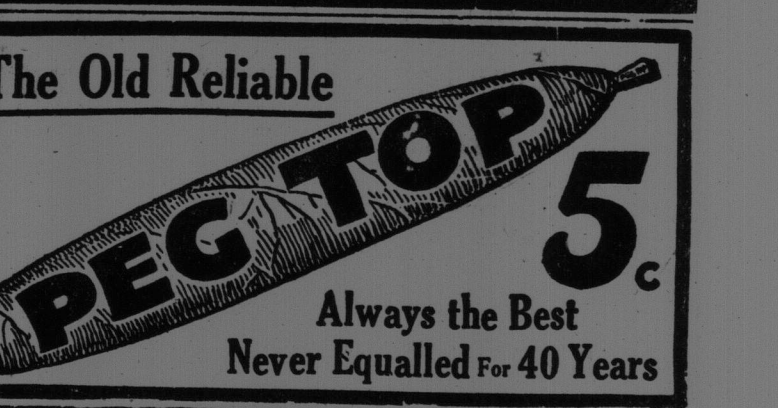

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 4.—Clean hands and clean faces constitute a free admission ticket to all home games played by the Rutgers University team—that is, if they are under 15 and wear short pants. The Rutgers Athletic Association has a special stand on Nelson Field for the boys of New Jersey during each game, and several leaders go over to lead the youngsters in the Rutgers cheers. Even for the important Lafayette game next Saturday, when the biggest crowd in history, estimated at between 15,000 and 20,000, will tax the field's capacity, a special stand is to be utilized for the boys of the city.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

THE ROSARY IS WELL PRESENTED

Touching Love Story is Given Fine Presentation at Opera House.

"THE ROSARY" a play in four acts by Edward E. Rose, produced in the Opera House by the F. James Carroll Players; staged and directed by Jack Matthews; assistant director, Philip A. Boland; scenic artist, Edward Graham; music by Opera House orchestra under the direction of J. Bayard Currie.

COST OF CHARACTERS.
Laura Watkins ..... Emma DeWaele
Sisters Martin ..... Nancy Duncan
Vera Wilton ..... Winifred Gilmore
Charles O'Connor ..... Winifred Gilmore
Charles Harrow ..... Richard Pelette
Bruce Wilton ..... Owen Col
Father Kelly ..... Owen Col
Alice Marsh (Vera's twin sister) ..... Nancy Duncan

A big, wholesome, human story with heart-grabbing interest, and just enough of rollicking humor to add a spice to it—that is the story of The Rosary, well staged and admirably presented by the Carroll Players for the first time here last evening. The play is one that carries one along easily and surely and leaves with him a telling lesson of the conquest of love and truth over the evils of jealousy and unbelief.

The vehicle affords an excellent opportunity for the members of the company—and particularly for Miss Duncan and Messrs. Col and Williams—to demonstrate their artistry. The story being built about the famous character, Father Kelly, Mr. Col in this role is perhaps the most prominent in the piece and he fills it well. Depicting the big-hearted, pious, but very human and very understanding clergyman, Mr. Col gave a very clever interpretation; people who saw him in a similar role in The Divorce Question last year can appreciate the wisdom of the management in picking him for this part.

Miss Duncan, cast in a dual role of twin sisters, had a part which demanded sympathetic rendition and her work in it was rewarded with gratifying applause. She was particularly good in the highly dramatic passages near the climax of the play.

To Mr. Williams fell a large share of the honors of the piece. He enacted the two-phase character—first of the happy contented husband, secure in the knowledge of his wife's affection, and then the man, haunted by the spectre of jealousy and driven almost to the depths of degradation. His was a finished performance.

Mr. Franklin, representing the medium through which the happy home was destroyed, gave a stirring interpretation. Mr. Swift and Miss DeWaele shared the comedy honors, which were in good hands.

Miss Gilmore made a charming Irish colleen, her dainty brogue and pretty appearance adding much to a well rendered role. As her temperamental lover who was not averse to acquiring a strong Irish touch to win her love, Mr. Pelette did well.

The play is well and handsomely staged and the accompanying musical programme is well selected and excellently rendered. Mr. Pelette's rendition of "The Rosary" in the last act is an added touch which was greatly appreciated. The play is likely to be one of the most popular played this year.

HER OWN FREE WILL AT UNIQUE

Helene Chadwick is Starred in Gripping Story—Comedy Also.

Nan and her husband have a whole of a battle in "Her Own Free Will," Helene Chadwick's first starring vehicle, playing at the Unique theatre. This screen dramatization of the Ethel M. Dell story is a mighty good picture. The plot is rather unusual. Nan is one of those impulsive, warm-hearted girls who act first and look afterwards. She marries a man she does not love, to save her father from bankruptcy. Fate seems to reward her by separating them even before the honeymoon, but he comes back and then the trouble begins. The story works up to a dramatic climax. Suffice it to say that it holds one breathless and to use an expression of the sweet young things, "thrilled to death."

Helene Chadwick gives a splendid portrayal of Nan. Holmes Herbert with whom husband roles seem to be a specialty, is good as the masterful Peter Craddock and Allan Simpson is convincing as Jerry Lister, the young chap who seeks to help Nan forget that she is married.

Director Paul Seardon did an excellent job in "Her Own Free Will." There's a good comedy on the bill, too, entitled "Lizies Of The Field."

Director Prefers Brains To Beauty

BY HAROLD E. SWISHER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Hollywood, Nov. 4.—(United Press.)—I would rather have an ordinary looking girl with plenty of brains than the most beautiful creature in the world who looked like a brain.

So says Sam Wood, prominent director and so say the leading producers of the motion picture industry. They are not avowedly beautiful through the use of make-up, lighting and camera effects. They must possess brains or they would not be stars.

WELCOME HERE MAN WHO CAME BACK

"The Man Who Came Back," a William Fox picture based on the story by George Fleming Wilson, opened at the Queen Square Theatre last night. It is greater than the stage version by Jules Eckert Goodman, which was produced by William A. Brady in 1917. George O'Brien in the title role, does excellent characterization work and the scenes of New York, are contrasted against others of Shanghai and Honolulu, for the story takes the characters all around the world. It opens in New York where the young ne'er-do-well son of a wealthy ship owner is going to the devil in the white lights of Broadway. He is sent to San Francisco to work in his father's shipyard, but lands in the lowest dives of the old Barbary Coast. There he meets a girl. How the boy drops to the depths, even to becoming a cut-throat in far-off Shanghai, goes to make a dramatic picture. On the way to Honolulu and back to New York, the boy is on the always in the foreground, sacrificing bravely that he may be saved from his own weakness. The story is a powerful romance and the acting and direction have made it a screen classic. Emmett Flynn was the director.

In the cast are David Kirby, as the owner of a doubtful roadside inn near San Francisco; Edward Fiel, in the character of a Shanghai opium den owner; Harvey Clark, Emily Fitzroy, Cy Chadwick, as a globe trotting detective; Ralph Lewis, as father of the black sheep; and Walter Wilkinson and Brother Miller, juveniles, representing the hero in his childhood.

Dorothy Mackall, as Marcelle, the dance hall girl who loved the ne'er-do-well, plays the dramatic role of her career and does it with remarkable effect. O'Brien has everything that the part calls for—youth, good looks, a natural poise and talent which he uses to the best advantage. Patrons last night gave evidence of appreciation of "The Man Who Came Back."

BETTER IN EVERY WAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ingonar, N.S.—"I took your medicine for a run-down condition and inward troubles. I had pains in my right side so bad at times that I could not walk any distance. I saw about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and have taken five bottles of it. I am better in every way and you use my letter to help other women."—Mrs. ALVITA M. PERRY, Ingonar, N.S.

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ont.—"It is pretty hard to explain your feelings in nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, had pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to make me eat, and I must say I am feeling more jolly. I have great faith in your medicine because of what it has done for my husband's sister and she recommended it to me."—Mrs. A. SMITH, 10 Burleigh Ave., Toronto, Ont.

All druggists sell this dependable medicine, and women suffering from these troubles so common to their sex should give it a trial now.

IMPERIAL NOVELTY PLEASES CROWDS

Music and Dance Duo Gives Pleasing Act—Picture Feature Good.

Robert Buchanan, whose rich tenor pleased greatly in this city in years gone by during engagements at the Happy Half Hour, the Nickel and later at the new Imperial, reappeared on the Imperial stage yesterday in a charmingly dainty singing act with Dorothy Brower, a winsome Miss of teen age, family friend of the Buchanans, who has been prominent in vaudeville instrumental circles. Miss Brower played saxophone very artistically, offering a pot-pourri of popular airs and with costumed dancing and merry chatter collaborated in making the act a delicious item of dessert on the programme. The innovation was enthusiastically received by the large audience at both shows. In the evening Buchanan & Brower stage their act tastefully in vari-colored curtaining and with sparse furniture artistically placed. Miss Brower accompanied Mr. Buchanan, whose chief number was a florid rendering of the old English song, "Sally in Our Alley."

Few of us there who fell to respond to a tale of the sea. There is a certain fascination for bluesome folk about stories of men that go down to the sea in ships that is bound to get under the skin and hold the interest. This is especially true of motion pictures of this type and in the cast of "Women Who Give," the new Metro picture being shown at the Imperial, it is forcibly brought out. Here is a film play that is literally packed full of genuine drama, thrills and heart appeal, exceedingly well acted, capably produced, with the famous characters of a well-known novel brought to life on the silver sheet.

"Women Who Give" was directed by Reginald Barker from Sarah P. McLean Greene's classic of the New England coast, "Cape Cod Folks." It is a rousing tale and with the wide scope of the motion picture camera has been made into one of the most satisfactory pictures of the present season. Most of the action has been filmed in locations round about Cape Cod—a continuation of our own coastline—providing genuine atmosphere, with the balance of the settings in perfect keeping with the nature of the story.

This interesting story and well-made production also has the distinct advantage of a cast worthy of being called all-star. Barbara Bedford and Renee Adoree share honors in the leading feminine roles. It may truthfully be said that they have never been seen to better advantage. Robert Frazer is admirably suited to the role of the young

AGAIN HEADS 'LONGSHORE MEN'

Robert Carlin Re-elected President at Meeting Last Night.

Robert Carlin was re-elected president of Local No. 273, I. L. A., at the annual meeting last night. Aside from the election of officers and the transaction of routine business nothing of importance transpired at the meeting.

The state of officers for 1924-25 will be as follows: President, Robert Carlin; vice-president, Stephen Stephens; business agent, John McKinnon; secretary, Joseph Monteth; marshal, John Kindred; janitor, Isaac Northrup. The members of the executive include Charles Brown, James Mills, William Carlin, J. J. Donovan, John Wells, William Arbo, Albert Bassett, Harry Linton, C. H. Stephens, John Newman, Patrick O'Keefe and James Sharp.

The following delegates to the Trades and Labor Council were chosen: John Dougherty, John McKinnon, Stephen Stephens.

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the waterline so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result. The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede. If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gums, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

THE STORY OF FATHER JOHN'S

An Interesting Account of the Origin and Development of Father John's Medicine. How It Became So Widely Known and So Largely Used in Eastern Canada

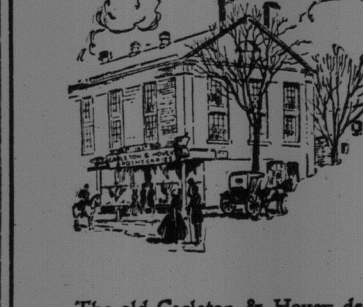

Father John rode over the hills to visit the sick

Father John arrives in Lowell, Mass., in 1848

Through exposure Father John became ill

The old Carleton & Hovey drug store

The story of Father John's Medicine is just such a story as appeals to the better nature of most of us, for it is a story intimately connected with one whose whole life was devoted to the welfare of those entrusted to his care and guidance. And the life of Father John has its prototype in those valiant churchmen of our own land, who were such potent factors in the upbuilding of New France.

Father John O'Brien, from whose name Father John's Medicine got its name, was born in Ireland and ordained to the priesthood there in 1828. Father John came to America in 1841 to take charge of a big missionary field in Martinsburg, W. Va., where, for over seven years, he travelled the mountains all sorts of weather, visiting the sick and afflicted and cheering the unfortunate. He became very dear to his parishioners and they were sorry to hear of his transfer to Lowell, Mass., in 1848, where he took up his duties as pastor of St. Patrick's Parish.

He was devoted to his work and exposed himself to many dangers in the rigid performance of his duty. Overcome finally with burdens and cares and weakened by unceasing efforts to help his parishioners, he contracted a cold and cough, in 1854, which medical skill seemed unable to relieve. As a last resort, his physician gave him a prescription which was compounded June 9th, 1855, at the old Carleton & Hovey drug store. This prescription gave prompt relief to his irritated throat and the cough soon disappeared, and the food elements of which the medicine is composed nourished and built up his entire system.

Father John, when able to resume his visits to his parishioners, advised the sick to have his prescription filled for their own use. Naturally when asking for the preparation at the drug store, they knew it by no other name than "Father John's Medicine" and, in this way, the people gave the medicine its name.

For many years the prescription was refilled time and again, being made up one or two bottles at a time, in the old-fashioned hand-operated mortar and pestle. Then about 25 years ago the proprietors of the Carleton & Hovey drug store realized that "Father John's Medicine" was steadily increasing in sales and that the demand for it was coming from many places outside the city of Lowell—from Maine and New Hampshire—from Vermont and New York—and even from far-away Canada. They improved the method of manufacture and began to advertise it in the public press; and from this modest beginning, the business has grown steadily until today Father John's Medicine is one of the most widely used preparations of its kind.

Father John's Medicine is well known throughout Eastern Canada; because many of those who live in the New England States (especially in Massachusetts) have used and are using this reliable preparation and have either mentioned it on their visits to Canada or have written about it in their letters to the folk back home. No doubt, when brother or sister, uncle or aunt here in Maritimes wrote to some member of the family who had gone to the "States" and complained of "having a cold" or of "being all run down," they were probably advised to get a bottle of Father John's Medicine; and these people, in turn, advised their friends and neighbors to do the same. Thus the demand began and has steadily increased through the years.

Father John's Medicine is a pure food tonic and is extremely easy to digest. It is composed of health-giving elements which strengthen the body and build new tissue. It enables the system to resist disease. It stops colds. It wards off colds and the more serious illnesses such as la grippe, influenza and pneumonia by its powers of building strength, and is of the greatest value as a reconstructive tonic.

Being free of alcohol and dangerous drugs of every kind, Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for children as well as older people, and is used today in thousands of homes to relieve coughs and colds and to build up the run-down system.

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the waterline so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result. The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede. If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gums, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

WILL CONFER ON ROAD MATTERS

Premiers of Provinces and Others to Gather in Toronto.

T. P. Regan, K. C., who returned recently after attending a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association in Quebec, announced this morning that an inter-provincial conference of the premiers of the various provinces, the ministers and deputy ministers of highways and the various provincial road engineers will be held in Toronto on November 23, 26 and 27 in Parliament Buildings. Premier P. J. Venoit, president of the association, will preside at the conference and New Brunswick will be represented by Mr. B. M. Hill, road engineer, and Mr. Regan. The main object of the conference is to secure uniformity in laws and customs relating to traffic.

The question of federal aid for roads, road building materials, urban financial responsibility in the construction of roads and the matter of danger signs will be taken up. It will be suggested to the conference that new symbols be adopted similar to the ones in New Brunswick, minus the lettering. This is to avoid confusion in printing in dual languages. Under the heading of the motor vehicular department, the advisability of uniform regulations will be brought forward as will also the question of headlights. The public interest demands that all kinds of vehicular traffic carry lights and the provinces will be asked to adopt some measure that will enable the municipalities to put into force compulsory measures in this respect. The question of a tax on gasoline will be discussed.

Under the heading of tourist traffic, the executive will urge the growing importance of this and ask that it be encouraged through co-operative advertising, camp sites, customs regulations and compilation of authentic statistics. In the matter of safety on the highways, a report of a special committee on level crossings will be presented and the question of inviting the Federal Government to assist in this matter will be advocated.

HAS PROSPERED ON PACIFIC COAST
G. R. Keith, Visiting Sister Here, Urges New Brunswick to Boost.

G. Reece Keith, of San Francisco, Cal., has been visiting his sister, Mrs. C. H. Niles of this city, after enjoying a short holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Keith, Havelock, N. B. Mr. Keith was principal of the court High School, at the early age of 18 years. After teaching one year he went to the Canadian west, and after spending four years in educational work went to the U. S. Pacific Coast, and entered the automobile business 18 years ago. His business has grown very rapidly and he now has 116 stores under his sole ownership handling all kinds of auto accessories, supplies, parts and shop tools. Mr. Keith spends a good portion of his time traveling to and from his different stores. His trip east was a combined business and pleasure one, and he visited various big manufacturers from whom his organization obtains merchandise. He is also president and sole owner of the C. C. Company handling a line of auto products. He is a 3rd degree Mason, also an Elk. Mr. Keith left on Saturday for Buffalo, Detroit, and Chicago, in which latter city he will attend the national convention of his industry. Mrs. Keith did not accompany him on this trip. Mr. Keith felt that if New Brunswick would extend its arms to the natural beauty like other world beauty spots have, it could attract thousands of tourists to the province. The Moncton Bore, the Reversing Falls, the Land of Evangeline and other places of interest or picturesque appeal could be made to draw tourists from all over the world, for the world, for which he has been pictured as more. Mr. Keith has given a very warm welcome by many friends in the province.

SAYS DEER SCARCE ABOUT CHIPMAN
Detective Biddiscombe Says Deep Snow of Last Year Responsible.

Detective Patrick Biddiscombe, who returned to duty yesterday after spending a vacation with relatives at Chipman, reports deer very scarce in that section of the country. Although he succeeded in shooting a good-sized buck he did not get a glimpse of another. Many hunters from the U. S., he says, have been seeking big game in that district and have shot many moose, but only three were brought down so far this season. He said the scarcity was attributed to many having starved to death during the winter of 1922 when the exceptionally heavy snow fall made it almost impossible for them to move about in the woods and find food. In the spring of 1923, he said, stream drivers found many carcasses along the banks where the animals had apparently strayed to the ice trying to find food, being unable to enter the woods. He said wild cats also accounted for many of the deer they had no difficulty running down their prey, handicapped as they were by the deep snow.

WELCOMED HOME.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Lowe arrived in the city at noon yesterday from Montreal where they had been spending their honeymoon. Upon their arrival, a reception was tendered them at their residence, 20 Haymarket Square, and a bountiful dinner was served by Mrs. M. Gray and Mrs. Thos. E. Owens. Among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Tedford, George Cox and Percy Cox.

The booths have been erected by George Lawson, contractor, and are elaborate. One of the features will be the exhibit of a three-legged bear. A voting contest for the most popular baseball player in amateur ranks, senior, intermediate or junior, will also be conducted. The fair will run for a week.

GRAIN CONVEYOR CONTRACT IS LET

Boone & MacDonald Get It at About $130,000—Start Soon.

The contract for the extension of the grain conveyor system at West St. John has been awarded to Boone & MacDonald, according to word received here this morning from the Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Gordon MacDonald, local member of the firm, said this morning the contract price was around $130,000 and that work would start immediately. Mr. Boone is a South Devon man and is well known here through his construction of the Marine and Fisheries wharf, West St. John.

CASE TOOK ON A NEW ASPECT

To go to the police court to endeavor to have a woman bound over to keep the peace and while there to learn that there was a report against him for using abusive language to her, was an experience of John Sime this morning. When Mr. Sime asked to have Mrs. Robert Flanagan bound over to keep the peace, he was informed that she had done nothing to warrant it and was then requested to remain until a charge against him was laid.

Mrs. Flanagan told of language used, and Mr. Sime admitted using it, but it was after the heist had left a room in his hotel. He was adjudged guilty and a fine of $8 was struck and allowed to stand. Magistrate Henderson explained that if Mr. Sime did not wish the woman to stay in his hotel he was within his rights to order her out. She said she had gone there to get some money from her husband who is in Mr. Sime's employment.

NEED NEW VESSELS FOR WEST INDIES

President Barbour of Trade Board Says Present Service Inadequate.

Discussing the West Indies steamship service, at the Board of Trade meeting last evening, President George E. Barbour referred to the improvement made in the last 23 years, observing that older St. John men could well remember the beginnings of the service from this port, promoted by St. John men. Canada must now, he said, go much further and ship a service entirely ideal should be provided. The Government must not expect it to be profitable in the first year. The traffic of the Empire was not built in a day. All could remember the day of small things in West Indies trade. The Royal Mail Packet service did not meet the needs of today. It perhaps did so 15 years ago but if we were to have a modern service we must have new boats. They would cost more than formerly, but a service expected to stand on the basis of the earlier years. As to the competition by the C. G. M. M., Mr. Barbour held that the Royal Mail steamers engaged in service to ports the Royal Mail steamers do not reach.

NEW CHARGE MADE IN POLICE COURT

"Hitting a Policeman With Street Car" to be Heard.

"Hitting a policeman with a street car is a new charge to me," remarked Magistrate Henderson, in the police court this morning when handed a report made by a street traffic violation. The case, which is to be taken up this afternoon, is against Conductor Harry Tays, who was operating Street Car No. 80 and was reported by Traffic Policeman Quinn with starting his car at the intersection of Mill and Pond streets yesterday afternoon at 1:20 o'clock without waiting for a signal and in so doing striking him on the head.

CRUELTY CHARGE IS MADE AND DENIED

Allegation That Ammonia was Thrown in a Dog's Eyes.

Thomas Bird of 44 Camden street was summoned to the police court this morning to answer a charge of ill-treating a dog by throwing ammonia in its eyes. The charge was made by Miss Daisy Smith, who told of the occurrence which was alleged to have taken place on last Sunday morning. She said the defendant had thrown pepper in the dog's eyes on a previous occasion and had threatened to shoot it if it was not muzzled. The dog was said to have followed one owned by the defendant. Mr. Bird denied the charge and asked for time to procure witnesses. The case was set over until Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

STUDENTS OF FIRST AID NUMBER 385

A. G. Shakespeare, first aid instructor of the C. P. R. Eastern line, was in the city last evening and delivered a lecture to 38 members of the local staff. He left this morning for St. Stephen, where he will lecture this evening. There are 385 employees of the C. P. R. and members of their families taking the course this year as follows: St. John 35, St. Stephen 50, Woodstock 100, McAdam 100, and Brownville 50.

RIVER VERY LOW

St. John river men say that they never before so far as they can remember has the water in the St. John and Nashwaak rivers been so low at this time of the year and that unless heavy rainfall occurs soon the freeze-up of the streams will occur with the stream at a new low level. On the Nashwaak on Sunday people watched the progress of the salmon up-stream to their spawning grounds. The salmon were clearly observable due to the extremely low water.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "can you tell me why it is that when a lot of good people get together with two hours to spend in preparing a programme of action, they devote one hour and fifty-four and a half minutes to telling one another what they all know already, and then spend five and one-half minutes doing what they came to do?" "Yes, sir," said Hiram. "I kin so. When a meetin' is called the aivus some folks gets ready to make a speech. It's a kind of outpourin' of the spirit, you might say. It takes up a lot o' time an' brings in a lot o' what I'd call blather—an' it don't get you nowhere—but you jist got to make up your mind to stan' it. Now, I mind we had a meetin' out to The Settlement one time to talk about how we could improve the breed o' cats around there. Seth Snooks he got onto a strain o' talk about what he thought o' catfiskin boots in the lumber woods—an' we didn't get no to the business till it was time to go home—No, sir."
