FIREMEN HAVE BUSY TIME WITH THREE NIGHT OUTBREAKS TO FIGHT

Police Bell Does Duty as the Flames Lick Around It.

Election returns barely had been announced to returning voters when a fire alarm rang in from Box 7 for a blaze in the building at the corner of Dock and North Wharf, owned by the Ogilvie Flour Mills, Ltd., causing much damage, which is covered by insurance.

Windows on the street entrance of the offices formerly occupied by the Great West Wine Co. Ltd., they found steel bars blocking further progress. All the other windows on this floor were similarly protected.

After the great fire that devastated St. John in 1877, the Central Police Station was built and the fire alarm bell installed in the tower. Since then, it has done its duty well by the fire fighters and citizens alike.

Records of the police court and city court were badly damaged as a result of the fire, which broke out in Central police station last night. They were locked up in a room adjoining the headquarters of the City Cornet Band.

The fire when first seen was burning in an anteroom off the main hall, occupied by the City Cornet Band.

The chief damage in the Ogilvie building was caused in the office occupied by the Remington Typewriter Co. Ltd. but this is fully covered by insurance.

The biggest fire of the night started after midnight in the Magee Block in Water street and it was not until 1:50 o'clock before it was noticed and the alarm sent in. When the firemen arrived, the fire had a strong hold on the southwestern portion of the building.

A SCIENTIFIC PUZZLE

Violet and Dalay Hilton of San Antonio, Tex., never will be parted. They are Siamese twins. Surgeons say it is impossible to separate them through an operation. Here they are occupying the same chair. One is sewing while the other's reading.

Other duties reduced The duties expire May 1, the Chancellor explained, but there was a period of three months additional for protection before the expiration actually became effective, therefore they would expire August 1.

No alteration in the income tax or the super tax was proposed by the chancellor.

The chancellor proposed no change in the postal rates. The budget provided for a reduction of three halfpence per pound in sugar. The tea duty is reduced one half.

The duty on dried fruit, he said, would not be renewed under the Budget provisions, and would lapse August 1.

The Budget schedule provided for reduction of one half on the duties on cocoa, coffee and chicory. He recommended also that the corporation profits tax be abolished.

The chancellor estimated the total cost of all the reductions in taxation recommended this year at $34,000,000, and in the full fiscal year at $40,448,000. He therefore would be left with an estimated surplus of $4,024,000.

Against Dominions Preference

Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in opening his Budget statement said a surplus of $48,829,000 in last year's accounts had been re-estimated. He said the surplus had gone to reduction of the debt. Of this surplus $27,750,000 was due to reduced expenditure.

National Debt The Chancellor said the expenditure for the national debt services amounted to $347,230,000, of which $40,000,000 was for the sinking fund.

The total debt weight of the debt on March 31 was $7,680,484,000, as compared with $7,772,897,000 on the corresponding date the preceding year. The floating debt had been reduced during the year by $30,500,000. A year ago this debt was $810,000,000, and on March 31 of this year $774,500,000, the Chancellor stated.

The total revenue on the existing taxation base the Chancellor estimated at $288,100,000, leaving an estimated surplus of $38,074,000.

The Chancellor recommended that the regime of Reginald McKenna had whittled curiously as to how the Government would deal with this burning question, upon the answer to which some political observers believe the continuance of the Labor administration may depend.

Other duties reduced The duties expire May 1, the Chancellor explained, but there was a period of three months additional for protection before the expiration actually became effective, therefore they would expire August 1.

GERTRUDE TOMALIN ON MAY 2ND.

The fingers of one hand would be more than enough for the reckoning of such reciters as can compare with Miss Gertrude Tomalin. Her recital at Steinway Hall on Saturday was a thing of unmitigated pleasure. Her gestures were simple and unaffected, and her diction was as clear as the tone of her voice was engaging. These, however, are possibly elementary virtues, though, even so, they need some acquiring. Miss Tomalin reinforced them with other qualities. Her humor was unfailingly subtle, and often very surprising. But if she was quick to seize every chance for making an unexpected point, she was equally deft in avoiding the conventional tricks. She proved beyond question that she could out-distance such rivals as she has in freshness, vivacity, and above all—naturalness. Miss Tomalin was assisted by the Gresham Singers, whose work was admirable, particularly in Elgar's part song "After Many a Dusty Mile."

The high cost of bread

The United States Senate has protested against the high price of bread. "Nine cents is too much for a loaf of bread," said one senator. This referred to white flour bread which does not contain the whole wheat grain—only the starchy centre of the wheat kernel. Shredded Wheat contains all the rich, body-building material of the whole wheat grain. You get twelve of the little loaves of baked whole wheat for a few cents. TELLS OF WOMAN'S LIFE IN OLD DAYS

Lecturer Gives Interesting Talk on English Customs 500 Years Ago.

There is not much doubt in the minds of anybody 500 years ago that woman was inferior to man, Professor W. R. Waugh of McGill University said in an address on "Woman's Life 500 Years Ago."

Women's lot varied in those days according to whether she lived in the town or the country, but in those days practically all England lived in the country, and the majority of Englishmen were engaged in agricultural pursuits.

Probably the wife of a successful manufacturer 500 years ago had more responsibilities than her city sister. In those days there was no large employer of labor and the employer carried on the industry in his own house, often working himself with his apprentices.

DANIEL CORNER KING LONDON HOUSE

of whom he might have twelve or more. To his wife fell the work of not only looking after her husband and family but all the apprentices, and to do this she had to be a woman of organizing ability. There were few labor-saving devices those days, but towns were small, shops accessible and people did not waste so much time in getting round.

Most women married, and those who did not stood little chance of finding employment. There was not much demand for women's labor, since women's work was all domestic, and most women who did not get married went into nunneries.

Big Contrast. The life lived by the wife of the country gentleman presented the most striking contrast to the life of women today, the lecturer said. She spent most of her time in the house, and that house would astonish the housewife of today. The house was a fine substantial building outside, but the modern woman would be instantly struck by its lack of accommodation. At first glance one would mistake it for a church, with its big windows and fine timbered roof. It was the living room of the whole establishment—master, wife and family and all the servants. Labor was cheap, too, in those days, and there were servants. There might be a small sitting room opening off one end of the hall, reserved for the master and the family, where they could sit when the hall was too noisy. Often it was used as a bedroom, but separate bedrooms, even in very large and splendid houses, were a luxury and few had more than one or two bedrooms. This lack of privacy, dreadful to the modern mind, did not appear to worry people in those days and apparently they set little store on privacy.

Other rooms were a kitchen, pantry and cellars used as storerooms. The kitchen was then simply a place for cooking, and servants did not live there, but spent their leisure in the hall. The great hall of the English noble, though splendid looking, was by no means comfortable, the speaker said. It was noisy and smoky. The fire was built on a hearth in the middle of the hall, and all the smoke did not go up through the roof. Seldom did the windows have glass, and people had to live in a perpetual draught or be unable to see anything. Tables were on trestles and there were benches for seats, with perhaps a chair or so for the head of the table.

Life appeared barbarous in some respects in those days, but on closer examination it was not so barbarous after all. For one thing, people wore very beautiful clothes, especially men. Men's dress nowadays was not beautiful, but 500 years ago it was always

Miss Josephine Brass. The funeral of Miss Josephine Brass took place yesterday afternoon at Fernhill cemetery, where the services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Bonnell, minister of St. Andrew's church, which Miss Brass had attended when she resided in St. John. Miss Alice Page (Thomson) accompanied the body from Neponset and returned to New York last night.

Miss Brass was a daughter of the late E. L. Brass, of this city. After completing her training as nurse in the Vincent Memorial Hospital in Boston she was appointed superintendent of the hospital afterwards known as the Children's Hospital at Neponset, Rockaway Beach, Long Island. Under her supervision the institution expanded and attained the high reputation which it has today. Its patients are children suffering from tuberculosis of the bones and they receive at Neponset the salt air treatment.

Miss Brass showed a genius for organization and her sweet personality won for her the affectionate regard of all her nurses and wide circle of friends. She had under her direction at the time of her death of 30 nurses. She was not of robust health at any time but she was unwilling to give in to her fatal illness and until a few days before her death she directed the work of the hospital from her bedside.

The funeral service was held on Friday at the hospital and amongst the relatives that attended was her cousin, Miss Ethel Milligan, of St. John. Miss Brass is survived by two sisters, the Misses Jean and Olive Brass, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; a half-sister, Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of Fredericton, who came to St. John for the interment, and one brother, William, in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bailey of Ripley, Sunbury county, are receiving the sympathy of friends in the death of their little daughter, Grace Roberta, aged 2 years, which occurred at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leonard, North Devon, on Saturday, April 26. Besides her loss she is survived by one sister, Phyllis and one brother, Gerald. The funeral service was conducted on Sunday night at the home of Mr. Leonard by Rev. E. Hallstone and the body was taken on Monday morning to Ripley for interment.

Mr. Davidson, who is 49 years of age, was employed by Charles Saunders in getting out the drives for Stanley Douglas, Ltd., on the tributary streams of the Nashwaak.

FINDS 12 TRUANTS. The monthly report of J. Boyd McMahon, trustee officer, presented at the last meeting of the St. John school board, showed the work being done in rounding up pupils that are not attending school. The trustee officer during the month made 99 visits to homes, 18 visits to schools and appeared in court three times.

ROADS CLOSED FOR SEVERAL DAYS YET. End of This Week or First of Next Before Ban Lifted. That the provincial roads would not be open for automobile traffic on May 1, and that it would probably be the end of the present or some time during the coming week before they would be open was the announcement of B. M. Hill, provincial road engineer, who was in the city last night.

The roads were apparently dry, he said, but this was far from telling their real condition. It was not the first hundred cars that brought up the frost, he said, but it was only when five hundred had passed over the road that they brought the frost to the surface and spoiled the road.

He could not last night, make any more definite announcement than to say that it would be the end of the present or some time next week before the roads would be open for traffic. By the cars keeping off the roads until they were perfectly dry, he said, was the only way to save them and make them fit to travel on later.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL ON LIBEL CHARGE. J. H. Jacobson, charged with criminal libel, by Mrs. Florence McLeelan, appeared in court during the afternoon session and was committed for trial. Daniel Mallin, K.C., appeared for the prosecution and S. H. Hunton for the accused. There was only one witness examined, Dr. Stanley Calne, who testified that a woman who resembled Mrs. McLeelan called on him for treatment, but he would not swear positively that it was she.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE KING OF THE GOLDEN TOUCH

"How do you do?" he said.

The next place the Twins went to in Once-Upon-a-Time Land was the castle of King Midas of the Golden Touch.

The little automobile bore the three travelers past seven vineyards and seven orchards and pretty soon they came to the famous castle.

The castle was on top of a high mountain and the only way one could get to it was by a narrow stone stairway cut out of the rock.

"My goodness!" panted Nancy when she reached the top, "I'd hate to live up here. If I had to climb these steps every time I did an errand for mother, there wouldn't be anything left of me."

"I don't think much of it myself," added Mister Muggs, shaking his legs one at a time to get the cramps out.

"Please don't talk so loud," his highness might hear you and it would make him hopping mad. Come into this summer house and I'll tell you a secret.

So Nancy and Nick and Mister Muggs went into the little summer house, and there sat a funny fellow with bells all over him, adding up sums.

"How do you do?" he said, bowing until all his bells jingled. "I am Hop-Skip-and-Jump, the court jester. It's my job to make the king laugh. It's also my duty to keep trouble away from the king. That's why I see all visitors first."

"Please sit down."

"I saw you coming miles away," said Hop-Skip-and-Jump. "I was looking out of my window. I can see around the world from here. So I always know when visitors are coming. Will you do as I tell you?"

"Certainly said Mister Muggs. "All right then," said Hop-Skip-and-Jump. "Take off your gold rings and gold watches and gold pins and everything that is gold about you. King

HOW TO BE HEALTHY

BY LILLIAN LEITZEL

World's Greatest Aerial Gymnast.

GET REAL EXERCISE

LILLIAN LEITZEL.

Most persons who do a daily dozen get little benefit from their efforts, for they do not know really how to exercise.

They go through their count, more or less diligently, and then quit—long before they are tired. No benefit can be derived from exercise unless one keeps at it until he actually feels it.

No matter what the form of the calisthenic or sport, one should never stop until he is tired. This doesn't mean work to the point of exhaustion, which is the other extreme, but work until it is felt.

Whatever you do, do it with interest. Don't merely play at it. Pitch right in with vim—be it dancing, hand standing, swimming or indoor exercise. Feel it. Don't be afraid; it won't hurt you.

If looked at in the proper light, even the most drudging housework can be made to be both pleasant and beneficial.

Take scrubbing floors, for instance. Take it as an exercise, not as a duty. With hand outstretched, shoulders back, and every muscle straining, wielding the scrubbing brush makes for grace and beauty.

The same with other household tasks—sweeping, dusting, or washing clothes. Do it as an exercise and make your housework pleasant.

And remember at all times—The only benefit derived from exercise starts from the time you begin to feel it. All that goes before is merely preparatory warming up.

But to derive the fullest benefit, you must also learn the art of relaxing.

Midas has a conviction fit if he sees so much as a gold tooth. It is one word he can't bear. Gold! That's why he ladd up the accounts out here, because he can't even think of money.

"Why?" asked Nick curiously.

"Well, once upon a time King Midas was poor. But a kind fairy said she would grant him one wish. So he wished that everything he touched would turn to gold."

"And so it happened. His wish was granted, and everything he put his fingers on instantly turned into gold. Even his daughter turned to gold when he kissed her. When he touched food and water it also turned to gold, and he was starving. I don't know what would have happened if the fairy hadn't come back and taken away the gift she had bestowed, and put things to rights."

"After that he moved here, away from the gold and glitter of the world, so he would not be reminded of his folly. That's the story. Now I shall take you to the king."

King Midas was a fine jolly king, and asked them to stay to dinner. But even the spoons were of wood—no silver or gold was to be seen anywhere. Which showed that King

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 thin, crisp piece bacon, 1 baked bean sandwich, 5 ounces rare lean roast beef, 2 baked onions, pineapple salad, 4 tablespoons dandelion greens, 2 strips dill pickle, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1234. Protein, 236; fat, 478; carbohydrate, 600. Iron, .0193 gram.

If desirable, the amount of roast beef can be reduced one or two ounces. This will reduce the number of protein and fat calories.

The onions should be baked in their husks and seasoned with salt and pepper, but no butter.

The dill pickle has practically no food value and is suggested merely to give a piquant touch to the baked bean sandwich.

As the different varieties of greens come into market they should be used freely. Cook them in boiling salted water and season with lemon juice or vinegar for the reducing diet.

Whenever possible use lemon juice for seasoning in place of vinegar. The fresh fruit juice is more wholesome than vinegar.

The pineapple salad is made of a slice of canned pineapple on heart of lettuce with a sprinkling of cottage cheese crumbs.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb 2 pieces bacon, 4 corn meal pancakes, 1 cup cream of tomato soup with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 baked bean and rye sandwiches, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup, 3 ounces rare roast beef, 2 medium-sized potatoes baked with meat, 4 tablespoons brown gravy, 4 tablespoons creamed onions, 4 tablespoons dandelion greens with hot tartar sauce, pineapple salad, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 toasted bran muffins, 2 pieces whole wheat bread, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 1-6 Washington cream pie, 1 blushing apple rolled in chopped nuts and marked with whipped cream, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4366. Protein, 561; fat, 1921; carbohydrate, 1884. Iron, .0195 gram.

The average serving of roast meats weighs about three ounces. This pineapple salad is made with Neufchatel cheese instead of cottage cheese crumbs. Nuts are added and a rich whipped cream dressing masks the pineapple and cheese.

The hot tartar sauce suggested for the greens can be substituted by the old-fashioned Dutch dressing, made with bacon fat, egg and lemon juice or vinegar. After the greens are drained they can be simmered slowly in fat from ham or bacon and served with hard-boiled egg and lemon juice.

HAS SHELL LIKE ONE THAT INSPIRED POET

Natural History Society Museum Given a Chambered Nautilus

Two handsome specimens of the shell of the chambered nautilus have been presented to the Natural History Society by Mrs. Charles Sargeant, sr., of South Nelson. The specimens are welcome additions to the society's increasingly valuable collection of shells. Mrs. Sargeant wrote that the shells had been brought from Shanghai and were presented to her in 1873. They have had the dull outer coat of porcelain-like substance rubbed off and show delicate pearly tints both inside and outside. They are large shells, each the former home of an adult nautilus and are about five inches in diameter.

It was the shell of a chambered nautilus that inspired Oliver Wendell Holmes' familiar poem, "The Chambered Nautilus" with its well known line "about building more stately mansions." The nautilus each year makes a new home of pearly shell and moves out of the one it has outgrown sealing it securely behind him. When he is a full grown nautilus he has many empty residences in the beautiful spiral shell he inhabits. Although living in so handsome a home he is able to do some fearful execution in capturing his food with his sharp beak-like mouth. Crabs are his favorite dish. Vengeance sometimes overtakes the nautilus and the natives in the Philippine Islands make soup out of his flesh or eat it boiled. They also use his beautiful iridescent shell to make vases and spoons.

CLIFF-DWELLERS' WORK EXHIBITED

The exhibit in the window of the Natural History Society's museum this week is a collection of the pottery of the cliff-dwellers of Arizona and New Mexico, ancestors of the Pueblo Indians of today. The primitive tribes took possession of cliffs, probably in time of danger and built extensive villages there. Large quantities of pottery and other remains have been found in these dwellings and the specimens exhibited, although they are all genuine, are among the commoner forms which are abundant in the wonderful ruins of Central and South America.

They were obtained by the Field Columbian Museum's exploring parties. The pottery of the cliff-dwellers shows a wonderful wealth of art production indicating a long period of occupation by peoples of considerable culture. Many of the vases and vessels are so carefully and elaborately decorated as to lead to the inference that their use was in a great measure ceremonial. They hold a high place among the world's finest products for grace of form and beauty of decoration. The art of glazing was not known to these people nor did they use the potters' wheel.

COMMUNISTS ARE ACTIVE IN SCHOOLS

Delegates to Toronto Convention Plan for Work Among Children.

With the slogan "Every Communist Agitator," twenty-five young men and women who represented branches of the Young Communist League in Canada went back to their schools and to their work yesterday, says Thursday's Toronto Globe, after concluding a two-day convention under the auspices of the Communist Party of Canada.

The delegates ranged in ages from 16 to 22 years, and during the two days in which they were in session reviewed the world situation from a Communist point of view with the enthusiasm and interest of the Reds who direct the Communist party. The report, which dealt with the work of the party and with world problems contained twenty pages of typewritten matter.

Young Communists Numerous
According to Lewis Morris, secretary of the league for the coming year, there are 600 Communists in their teens in Canada. Morris did not include sympathizers, counting only those who were known to the leaders of the movement as espousing the doctrine of world revolution as it is laid down by the Third Internationale.

While the establishment of a paper for young people, the organization of young Communist groups in the workshops, the distribution of propaganda on the eight-hour day, social legislation and the work in political campaigns, are the objects to which the young Communists pledged themselves, the spread of the Red doctrine through public schools is the important aim for the year. The programme is:

1. Continuation of the former methods—debates, games, lectures, excursions, etc.
2. Organization of working groups with an elected leader.
3. Making full use of the struggle of the child in the schools against oppression, such as overcrowding, bad sanitation, tyrannical teachers, etc. "The school is for the children what the place of action, the place where they form a solid front."
4. Organization for the active support of other working class organizations, such as collections for strikers, for famine victims, support of the league and party, for the families of arrested comrades and other similar matters.
5. Systematic work in making known to the child the status of our class and its struggle. Broadening their outlook and conceptions. (Making known the meaning of factories, banks, barracks, police stations, churches, prisons, etc.) Getting them to apply the results of their observations to matters outside of the group.
6. Acquainting the child with the jurisdiction of capitalism with regard to child welfare, and how these things work out in reality. Protection of child in schools and factories, juvenile courts, etc.

Stimulating Imagination
7. Stimulation of children's imagination by accounts and explanations of the class struggle, utilization of the deeds of Marx, Lenin, Red Army, Liebknecht. Organization of games in which the children act the episodes.

8. School holidays present an important opportunity for activity. The children can be brought into direct touch with nature by means of rambles and excursions upon these days, and introducing to them the details of the struggle with nature, the difference between town and country, studying of animal and bird life, forms of labor, etc.

9. The methods of the Boy Scouts should not be rejected—it is only the aim that we oppose. The training mentally and physically, of the children can be based to a large degree upon the methods of the Scouts.

The sessions of the convention were held at 2 Gerrard street east. The National Executive Committee is composed of Leslie Morris, Charles Pears, A. F. Hill, W. Toukanini and Louis Steinberg.

$150,000,000 SPENT FOR WRECK-PROOF TRAINS

Wrecks (like the one shown in the lower picture) will be avoided by automatic brake control systems. Brake device is attached to tender and engine (upper picture); ramp, by which electric impulses are transmitted to the locomotive (shown in circle).

Chicago—Mechanical devices are being installed on three-fifths of the railroads in the country in an effort to make them wreck-proof. By order of the Interstate Commerce Commission 49 of the largest railroads must have an approved system of automatic train control installed on their 150,000 miles of track by Jan. 1. One line, the Rock Island, has completed to date.

First cost of installing this system has been estimated at $150,000,000, for all the roads affected. Cost of maintaining the devices would be about $15,000,000 more annually. Automatic train control furnishes the missing link between roadside block signal and the train. It makes train running proof against human error by working air brakes automatically in case of danger, whether the engineer sees the red signal or not.

The wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited near Erie, Pa., last winter, would never have occurred, say signal engineers, had this control system been in use. When the first section stopped, the second section would have been brought to a stop at a safe distance behind.

Out of the thousands of devices submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval, only that adopted by the Rock Island has gained its sanction. This is due, however, to the fact that the I. C. C. refuses to review a system until it has been installed on an entire line.

The automatic train control device adopted by the Rock Island is only one of two distinct types: the intermittent and the continuous systems. The intermittent system is one by

FIRST DEVICE
The earliest train control device on record is that tested by the Pennsylvania in 1888. An arm mounted on a signal mast swung over the track to indicate danger ahead. In that position it would strike a glass tube on the engineer's cab, which would operate the brakes and stop the train.

It worked well until an icicle, hanging from the arched entrance of a tunnel, broke the tube and stopped the train.

Double Precaution.
There is what the engineer call an "acknowledging feature" in connection with the speed control system by ramp or magnet that causes the brakes to work automatically. While current passes through these devices, the engineer gets a signal in his cab that the road is clear.

Under the continuous contact system, an electric current passes through the entire track, so that the train when it enters a block it deenergizes the track behind for one block and controls the relay system of electric control on blocks farther behind, so that trains following can be kept down to certain specified speeds.

There is a similar speed control system for the intermittent type. It is the de-energizing of the track, which a series either of ramps or of magnetic contacts are placed at regular intervals along the track to control the brake mechanism of passing locomotives. Thus, trains are subject to automatic control at intermittent intervals.

Under the continuous contact system, an electric current passes through the entire track, so that the train when it enters a block it deenergizes the track behind for one block and controls the relay system of electric control on blocks farther behind, so that trains following can be kept down to certain specified speeds.

which an engineer forced to go less than 20 miles an hour must press an "acknowledging button" to show he is alert and careful, or the train is stopped automatically.

This double precaution is taken by the train control system, for the safety of the passengers.

This double precaution is taken by the train control system, for the safety of the passengers.

According to a signal engineer of the New York Central, these devices would reduce railroad accidents, including personal injuries and crossing fatalities, by about 6 per cent. Considering only railroad wrecks, however, this rate of reduction would be more than half.

The explanation is, he points out, few accidents nowadays are purely railroad mishaps. Most are crossing accidents.

HOLY ROLLERS TO SUPPORT PRISONER

Owing to Illness of Woodstock Girl Court is Held at Her Home

Woodstock, April 28—Owing to the illness of the girl in the case, Police Magistrate Noble held court at her home near Beechwood on Friday evening. The prisoner, Holmes, who is charged with a serious crime by the mother and father of the young woman who gave evidence, Holmes was committed for trial and the case will be before the May term of the County Court. C. J. Jones appeared for the prosecution at the preliminary hearing and F. C. Squires for the prisoner. On the arrival of Holmes today at the county jail he was visited by a delegation of Holy Rollers, who were allowed fifteen minutes by Deputy Moore to carry on their service. It will be remembered that Steves, who is now doing a term of 14 years in the penitentiary for a similar offence as is charged against Holmes, was a Holy Roller preacher.

The sect have been holding revival meetings for ten days in the old exhibition building and have attracted immense crowds. They finished today.

The mayor-elect is not new to civic politics, having served for two years as Commissioner of Public Works and Frink and Harding will sit at the council board for the first time.

The new council, which will begin its duties on Tuesday, May 6, will be composed of Frank L. Potts, Mayor and Commissioner of Finance; Mr. Frink, 3,742; Harding, 3,651; McInerney, 3,130; Corbet, 2,585; Vocational School, 2,582; No. 2, 228.

Hearty and prolonged cheering greeted Mr. Potts when he came forward to address the vast crowd that blocked the street in front of the Telegraph-Journal building.

He was quite unable to express to the people his feelings concerning the magnificent vote they had given him. He could only say that it was the voice of the people and that he would appear in no uncertain way. They had chosen him because his views and his promise to serve them had appealed deeply to their own interest.

He did not have any ill feeling for any one who had opposed him. He gave everyone the record of working for what they believed to be the best interests of the city.

"For probably the first time in the history of the city, you have elected a democratic mayor," declared Mr. Potts, saying that his election had not been brought about by the voice or the help of any quack. He assured the people that he was going to represent all classes and all creeds, and give to the fair and equal justice. His only desire was to be a man among the people so that at all times he might be able to take each and every citizen by the arm and say to each that as Chief Magistrate he had done his duty in respect to what the individual was and what that individual had done.

He claimed that he had worked against an unfair canvass. People had been paid to go out and look at a bright light like that which they saw in the street. (Laughter) That bright light the people were paying for and not using. It was his dream to use to the full that light and power for which the citizens were paying. He wanted

BLESSING OR CURSE, WHICH?

Mysterious Bacillus is Under Investigation by Leaders in Science.

London, April 29.—(United Press.)—Scientists here have discovered a mysterious new bacillus, that may be a blessing or a curse to humanity.

Carefully guarded in a laboratory, guarded by night and light, the accidental bacteria, which, frankly, they are afraid in an effort to determine whether it is a new means of combating disease.

The discovery was made by the chief physician at a London hospital who was looking for meningitis bacilli. A patient, brought to the hospital with a fractured skull, developed, also, symptoms of meningitis and died. The doctor made a spinal-cord puncture, cultivated the pus obtained therefrom, and found, to his astonishment, no meningitis bacilli at all. But he found another bacillus, a new, strange one he had never seen before, and that no scientist who has examined it has ever seen before.

He cultivated this new bacillus and shot it into rabbits, birds, cats and guinea pigs. They died. They died of a malady that seemed a cross between bubonic plague and black cholera, with touches of meningitis—a fearful disease unlike anything ever known.

A "what's why" guards stand day and night beside a battery of test tubes in a chemist's laboratory in London. If these tiny tubes are broken a terrible contagion may overpread the world.

If the scientists can subdue the new bacillus to their theories, they may evolve a prophylactic or preventative for that awful thing the world has feared centuries called "the plague."

Police to Prosecute Business Men's Association's, They Say

Toronto, April 28.—The holding of prize contests by business men's associations for which prizes are given away, is illegal and must be stopped, the police believe, they say.

The contests are an abuse of the trading stamp and lottery act of the criminal code.

"There is an element of chance in the holding of these contests," stated Chief Dickson, "and I am informed there has been considerable violation of the criminal code in the holding of these contests."

Donnelly was before Provincial Secretary Goldie for several hours before the arrest was made. He is held for $10,000 bail.

The B. C. Times-Star Election Services Were Enjoyed by Thousands.

CROWD AT OFFICE

The election returns were given to the public last evening promptly, completely and satisfactorily by The Evening Times-Star.

At the same time the Maritime Radio Corporation, with Don MacIntyre announcing and F. D. Thorne operating, broadcast the details by radio, and not only were the results picked up eagerly through some 500 machines in the city, but suburban residents reported this morning that they got the complete returns clearly as they were announced.

Then The Times-Star published an election extra, 8,000 copies of which were soon snapped up by the people who were waiting in the street to get the detailed results.

Besides making the announcements of the vote, booth by booth, Steve Matthews entertained the crowd in front of The Times-Star office with a rapid-fire series of comic songs and recitations, which caught the fancy of the throngs for which he was heartily applauded.

The Times-Star also was the first to announce to the new mayor that he had been elected. He came to the Times-Star office from his headquarters at the Coburg street, and addressed the assembled electors. It was an interesting thing to give the people the news they eagerly sought.

NEVER FORGOT

Halifax Chief of Police Quits

Halifax, April 28.—Further interest was aroused in the Halifax Police Force situation today when it was announced that Chief Frank Haaranah had resigned. No reason was given.

The City Council recently decided to substantially reduce the salaries of the police officers and to this laudable cause the chief has spent practically his whole life in the service of the local force.

On discovering that inquiries from prospective motor tourists are pouring into the office of the Nova Scotia Public Bureau at an average rate of forty daily the Gyros have notified the bureau, says the Halifax Mail, that they will undertake to befriended all motor tourists arriving in Halifax this year, guide them to places of interest and give information regarding fishing, shooting, camping, automobile tours, etc.

TO RESIDE IN BOSTON. Royden Colter, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Colter, Fredericton, left on Saturday evening for Boston. Mr. Colter says the Mail was one of the city's popular young musicians; he was a member of the Troubadours and will be very much missed not only in musical but social circles. He is a graduate of Rothesay College and Fredericton Business College and was for a time on the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

SKELETONS OF 214 ARE UNEARTHED

Find Will Throw Light on Obscure Period of English History.

FIGHTING MEN.

Spears Were Buried With Them on Banks of the Avon.

Stratford-on-Avon, April 28.—Skeletons of 214 men and women who lived in Warwickshire some 1,500 years ago have been dug up in a field at Biford-on-Avon, near Stratford, the birthplace of Shakespeare.

Sir Arthur Keith, the anthropologist, is to examine them, and he is able to reconstruct the appearance of these Anglo-Saxon warriors and their wives. The discovery is one of the most important of its kind ever made, and will throw light on the obscure period of English history which followed the Roman evacuation in 410 A. D.

Every scrap of evidence has been carefully preserved. "The skeletons of the men were lying surrounded by their spears," said Mr. Wellsted, a famous archaeologist who made the discovery, "and the women were lying with their necklaces round their necks and foot pots by their heads. The cords on which the beads were strung had decayed, and the beads had fallen in among the chest bones of the wearers. Many of them are amber."

"On one or two of the strings of beads we found a Roman coin, kept as a kind of memento, as a modern man might wear a Georgian coin on a watch chain. There was not a single sword buried with the warriors. They were evidently too valuable."

One of the warriors had been buried with his head enclosed in a large bronze pot. Tall and Strong. Both women and men were of a tall, strong, and evidently handsome race, their skulls showing no marked difference from those of modern men. The brain capacity was apparently the same.

One curious fact is noticeable. Some of the teeth are worn right down to the nerve chambers by chewing corn, but the rest of the teeth are sharp and pointed. This suggests that these people from incredible toothache agonies by providing a hard covering like enamel, which grew over the exposed nerves.

"In spite of their healthy muscular appearance it is evident," said Mr. Wellsted, "that these Anglo-Saxons suffered severely from rheumatoid arthritis. There is also evidence that they were a squatter race, as they were crouching round their fires. They apparently knew nothing about arm-chairs."

"One remarkable burial was that of a woman. She had been buried with a bronze pin, a bronze-tipped hair-ring, and a small vessel of black pottery, but there were no marked differences from those of modern men. The brain capacity was apparently the same."

Many of the objects found with the skeletons provide a new proof of the artistic skill of our forefathers. There is a fine bronze bowl beaten out of a single sheet of metal, and many of the ornaments on the skeletons are heavily plated with gold.

"The warriors' shields were crudely riveted with iron. One large bronze has the Swastika pattern on it, a sun emblem regarded as sacred from the earliest times."

The bodies were lying on their backs, generally facing north, and the majority were only 3 ft. 6 ins. below the surface.

Challenge to High Ideals Issued at Convention in Fredericton.

In his address to the Rotary District Conference in Fredericton this afternoon Everett W. Hill, International vice-president, reviewed the history of Rotary, and then said—

"There is one phase of Rotary that I would dwell upon for a few minutes. It is classed as a fundamental and as such is worthy of our thought—the business methods programme, stressing higher standards of business practice. Emerson says, 'Every man takes care of his neighbor does not cheat him. But a day comes when he begins to care that he does not cheat his neighbors. Then all goes well.'"

"There are four furies loose and at work today. They are hate, greed, envy and fear. Hatred of one class for another; greed which makes profiteers and encourages sloth; envy which breeds suspicion and causes mental blindness; fear which causes lack of decision and drives men and business to an early grave. Rid the world of these four furies, and we have rolled away a mountain. Rotary has this power."

"Here is where you the individual can enter the 'comich'. You can face these four furies to succumb to your business or profession. You can force your surrender to the code of correct business conduct. Here is your assignment: 'If you are not a member of your craft or professional organization, join it at once.'"

"If you are a member determine whether or not your craft or professional association is a 'back-to-school' campaign. Do you know that as nearly as we can figure Rotary has been responsible for thirty thousand boys finishing high school who would have otherwise quit at the end of the eighth grade?"

"What a wonderful future Rotary has! What a power it can be, training men for service to humanity, leadership in business ethics, and honesty in a world society. Rotarians the world round once in step together can overcome and destroy the enemies of civilization and peace, and fast bring about the sixth object of Rotary, which to my mind is really Rotary's goal: 'The advancement of understanding, good-will and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service.'"

Tracey Station, April 28.—E. J. Tracey, son of Postmaster Quebec Tracey, blew his brains out this afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock. He had been worried over business details and the only possible cause for the rash act is thought to be business troubles.

FIND MAN'S BODY NEAR CAMPBELLTON

Only Articles in the Clothes Were a Few Dollars to Identify Victim

Campbellton, April 28.—On Sunday morning the body of an unknown man was found lying on the beach at Point La Nim, about 11 miles from Campbellton. The body was fully dressed except for an overcoat, and was not in a very bad state of decomposition. Dr. Diabrow, of Dalhousie, was at once summoned and after getting in touch with Dr. Pinault, of Campbellton, it was decided to remove the body to Campbellton for identification, as no clue to his identity was found on the body.

The only articles in the clothes being a few dollars. This morning Dr. Pinault identified the body as that of Joseph T. Albert, of Gloucester county, who so mysteriously disappeared from the Hotel Dieu Hospital here during the night of December 7, 1923.

The Great Smoky Mountains, Which Soon May Be Set Aside as a National Park.

Knoxville, Tenn.—The southeast wants a national park, and is likely to get it, too.

A commission appointed by Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, is making a survey of several sites. Knoxville favors the Great Smoky Mountain region.

This range lies on the line between Tennessee and North Carolina. It's the highest in North America, east of the Rockies. There are 10 peaks rising more than 6,000 feet.

Bears and other wild animals still abound. But all are being rapidly killed off. Only national protection can save them.

The Smokies derive their name from the blue haze which envelops them.

"Well, they ain't but two kinds of things dat live in trees. Birds and monkeys, and you sho' ain't got no feathers on you."

PASS IN FIRST AID AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The matter of having booths at the various provincial exhibitions was under discussion at the meeting of the provincial council of the St. John Ambulance Association yesterday afternoon in the St. John Health Centre. Further information was to be obtained before definite plans were made.

Mothers know a dose of DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPIN Will keep them fit

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him, she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. G. R. Paquette, Pierreville, Que., and Mrs. J. F. Beale, 325 Johnson Av., Winnipeg, always give Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Laxative Syrup Pepin.

The Meaning of "Good" All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children — calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which con-

Men to Whom Motorists Tell Their Tire Experience Say All-Weather Cord Gives 27.5% More Miles Than Any Other Tire

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS hear thousands and thousands of tire experiences. Their owners praise or denounce the tires they are using. Prospective purchasers tell of the tire service they've had. Cars come in for service regularly and their mileage is noted. And the automobile dealer is unprejudiced, because his chief interest in tires is to have the cars which he sells make a good showing on tire mileage.

3 out of 4 say Goodyear All-Weather Best

We asked 243 automobile dealers if they thought Goodyear All-Weather Cords gave more mileage and if so, how much more than the next best. 74% said Goodyear All-Weather Cords gave most miles—and the average estimate gave them a greater mileage by 27.5% than the next best tire. Another 22% said All-Weather Cords are the equal of any tire. Only 9 out of 243 think any tire excels the Goodyear All-Weather.

How Dull Teeth

Are made whiter—all teeth safer—by combating film

There is a way to whiter teeth. The evidence is everywhere, for millions now employ it.

Film clouds teeth and wrecks them. Film is the great tooth enemy—that viscous film you feel. Dinky teeth and most tooth troubles are results of film.

Under old-way brushing, much film clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, forming cloudy coats, making teeth unsightly.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Such troubles are almost universal among people who don't fight film.

Protect the Enamel. Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel.

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

JOHNNY MINTYRE IS MAKING GOOD

Has Risen Rapidly in Mit Game—Has Interesting Story.

Johnny McIntyre of Portland, lightweight champion of Maine and the Maritime Provinces, who has been matched to meet Pete "Salor" Byron of Worcester, Mass., the New England lightweight champion at the Bennett-Barry show at the Chateau, Monday evening, May 5, is an interesting personality, says the Bangor Commercial. Scarcely 24 years old, he served through four gruelling years of warfare with the Canadian Army in France, worked his way to the far Northwest, earning his passage by his skill with the mitts, and has boxed in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, British Columbia, throughout New England and Minnesota, all in a very short space of time.

It is an interesting story, how McIntyre happened to take up boxing. He was only 13 years old, when as a bugler in the Canadian Army and up to which time he had never had a glove on, when his regiment first disembarked in England. A big topsporting in the British Army, who had grabbed off one of these soft jobs as physical instructor, was responsible for McIntyre's start as a fighter.

The big sergeant lined the boys all up in a row, and gave them their first boxing lessons. He took rather a malicious pleasure in roughing up the novices. He knocked McIntyre down during the first lesson. The Canadian boy bided his time and two or three days later he caught the sergeant square on the button and flattened him. After that he had no trouble with the bully.

While Johnny was fighting in the trenches in France, his opponent for the May 5th show at the Chateau was fighting for Uncle Sam in the United States. He was the lightweight champion of the fleet while aboard the U. S. S. Utah and on the same ship with him were Sailor Ullrich of Bangor and Tex Graven of the Portland welterweight.

In his bout with first Joe Monroe of Charleston, Mass., McIntyre gave Joe an old fashioned boxing lesson. He was in old time form and was as shifty and fast as a cat. The tar is a tall and slender shifty boy, and he had two or three inches in height and some reach on Johnny, but was game and willing, however, and shot crashing right hand punches, but McIntyre smothered them effectively and tied up his rangy rival. In the final round, McIntyre had the Bay Stater on the verge of a knockout when he took a blow through his eye and let up a bit.

The local fans can be assured of seeing another fast classy bout of the kind that Jimmy Frazzetti and Tansy Norton put up at the first show staged by Bennett and Barry. A first class semi-final with two boys who are main-bout calibre and two excellent preliminaries will make up the balance of the card.

McIntyre has defeated such boys as Willie Gradwell, Irish Dick Williams, Spike Hennessy, Pat Mills, Cleveland Johnny Downs, Eddie Kelly, Jimmy Murphy, Johnny Darcy, Sailor Monroe and a bunch of other good men.

TROJANS FORMING A SOCCER ELEVEN

Possibility That a Local League Will Operate This Summer.

There is a possibility that St. John may have a soccer league operating this summer, with one game a week on the Allison Grounds. Many years ago soccer was quite popular here, particularly when the post was garrisoned by British troops, but of late years only a few games have been played.

The energetic Trojans A. C. have announced their decision to try and form an eleven and have commissioned Eric Snow to take charge. Any bona fide amateur who is desirous of getting into the great game can hand their names in now to Snow by telephoning Main 112 early in the evening.

It is expected that the St. Andrew's F. C. will organize, and there is talk of the Garrison A. C. putting a team in the field. It is felt there are enough Old Countrymen now living here who would take an interest in the proposed league and sufficient players here now to form three teams and start the league. It is probable an organization meeting will be called in the near future.

Billy Evans Says

While the lively ball has been the source of much satisfaction to the batters and a great disappointment to the pitchers, it has also played a part in the work of the umpire.

The lively ball has considerably lightened the duties of the base umpire and proportionately increased the work of the ball game. One reason for this is that the lively ball has correspondingly brings more batters to the plate, making more work for the plate umpire.

MUST BE CAREFUL IN SIGNING UP

New Nova Scotia League Will Allow 3 Non-Resident Players.

Players who sign up in the self-styled Nova Scotia Amateur Athletic Association with any one of the three teams entered, Halifax, Yarmouth and Wolfville, are going to find it difficult to secure reinstatement into the amateur fold in view of a bulletin that is being issued from the Halifax branch of the M. P. B. A. U. of C. on behalf of Mr. J. W. Covey, president of the reason for the warning is that the new league is not affiliated and deliberately plans to break through the residence clause which was adopted at the annual meeting of the C. A. A. U. last fall. The new league allows each of the teams three non-resident players who must prove they are bona fide amateurs. According to a Halifax paper, other players on the team must be residents of the county they reside in for six months previous to the opening, which is set for the next day and ends on August 29. The winners of each section then play off for the title. Each team must post a bond of $500 to assure the officers that the schedule will be completed.

HELEN WILLS MAY FIND CLIMATIC CONDITIONS A BAR TO VICTORY IN MATCH WITH SUZANNE

WHAT PROMISES TO BE THE OUTSTANDING TENNIS EVENT OF THE YEAR WILL BE THE INTERNATIONAL BATTLE BETWEEN HELEN WILLS, LEFT, THE CALIFORNIA MISS, AND SUZANNE LENGLEN, RIGHT.

(By Joe Williams.) The dear ladies—heaven bless 'em and dread 'em—promise to monopolize the grandstand hurrahs in international tennis this summer. On the masculine side, the Olympics and the Wimbledon championship abroad, lacking the genius of Tilden, Johnston, Williams and possibly other American formidables, will be nothing more than a tea and cookie attraction. Whereas the one impending duel between Helen Wills, sensational Californian school maiden, and Suzanne Lenglen, sophisticated lady of Parisian bonards, forecasts fight and fire in sufficient quantities to lift the feminine programme high above the commonplace. What will be the outcome of this match, if we may ask, my dear Watson? Lenglen is indisputably one of the greatest tennis players of all time, and this despite a physical frailty which cuts deep into her vitality and imposes a grave hazard on overexuberance. In action the French girl combines the agility of a cricket and the alertness of a fox. She has all the strokes known to the game, a flawless technique and a native shrewdness that has lost nothing through added experience. What's more, Lenglen is a relentless crusader. To her the white-barred tennis turf is a battleground, where opponents—especially internationalists—battle to the death. She courts no patronizing smile of indulgence, and gives none. Young Helen Wills, however, is not likely to be frightened into defeat either by Lenglen's stern attitude or illustrious record. Those who saw her overwhelm Molla Mallory in the national championship at Forest Hills last summer are confident of her poise and nerve control. Climatic Conditions a Handicap? They are confident, too, that she has the game to give the French girl an interesting fight. Her own weakness is in her serve, and this is not particularly serious. She is better fitted as to endurance to carry the fight over a long stretch and is just as fast if not faster. But what part will atmospheric conditions play? That is more important than you might suppose. It seems to affect women more than men. American women seldom win their matches here yet without great effort. The invasion of the English women's favorites to win here, yet they were put to an exquisite rout by the American.

MODEL YACHT RACING TO FLOURISH IN LOCAL WATERS THIS SUMMER

Handsome Boats Built During Winter—40 Members in Local Club

Owing to the increased interest in model yachts, and as it will be only a matter of a few weeks when the owners of the small craft will be ready for racing, it is expected that the St. John Model Yacht Club will hold a special meeting towards the latter part of the week, when new members will be received and some unfinished business dealt with, along with a discussion on some plans for the coming season. Numerous yachts have been built during the winter months by members and non-members, and it is expected that the latter will send in their application for membership before the next meeting, as it will be necessary for all local owners to be members of the club if they wish to take part in the regatta which the club proposes to hold during the summer and fall months. There are at present nearly 40 members in the club. In addition to the

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

Says Jack Bentley, Pitcher, New York Giants

My opening tip to the amateur ball player is, select the position you like best and stick to it. Don't let them shift you around. The utility player never gets as far as the regular star, no matter how great his ability. I made the mistake of doing other things besides pitching, simply because I am fortunate enough to be a better batter than the average pitcher. My hitting has caused me to be used in the outfield, at first base and as a pinch hitter. While I am listed as a pitcher, I prefer first base, since that position gets you into the game regularly. My one best tip to the amateur is be original. If you have a peculiar style that isn't regarded as good form, but that results, stick to it. Hans Wagner had his own peculiar style, yet was one of the game's greatest infielders. They say my position at the bat is all wrong, yet I have done pretty well as a hitter. Any time I try to perfect my form, my hitting goes wrong. It's a mistake, be original.

SENIOR AMATEUR LEAGUE FORMED

Decide to Operate Whether or Not Sanction is Received.

Representatives of every team in the South End Senior Amateur Baseball League met last night and despite whether A. W. Covey, president of the M. P. B. A. U. of C. would grant them a senior sanction or not decided to carry on with their league and will play the first game on May 28. The meeting which was most enthusiastic was held in the South End Boys' Club and was presided over by Steven Payne. Representatives from the St. John Baptist, Royals, Trojans and Garrison clubs were present. A senior amateur league composed of the four teams, and to be known as the South End Senior Amateur League was formed. A constitution was adopted. A schedule commencing on May 24 and terminating on August 12 was drawn up. The opening game will be at 10:30 in the morning of May 24, between the Saints and the Garrison teams, and at 2:30 in the afternoon the Royals and the Trojans will oppose each other. The league was scheduled to carry on and finish its seasonal irrespective of Mr. Covey, president of the M. P. B. A. U. of C., granted them a sanction. The league is erecting a grandstand with a seating capacity of 500, and going to considerable expense in improving the grounds. They report that everything looks bright for a very successful season. St. John Baptist was represented by C. E. Dalton and Joe McDermott; Garrison, Mr. Markham; Royals, Messrs. Nelson and Hooper; Trojans, Walter Gidding and W. Hollis; South End Improvement League, Steve Payne and Mr. Scott and other officers of the league.

BABE HITS TWO AND TAKES LEAD

Makes Home Run Record for Season Five—Yesterday's Games.

New York, April 29.—The hope springing in the breast of every baseball fan attracted to a Yankee combat that "Babe" will hit one" was fulfilled beyond expectations for 10,000 at Philadelphia yesterday, when Ruth hit two home runs, took the major league lead in that department and equaled his figures for the same date in 1921, the year he established the record of 59 in one season. The homers, his fourth and fifth of the year, were made in consecutive innings. Ruth also caught eight flies in left field, the world's champions came from behind to beat Philadelphia, 11 to 6, and registered their eighth straight victory. Detroit retained first place in the American League by defeating Chicago 7 to 2. Pinch Hitter Wins. Pinch Hitter Evans drove home the run in the ninth inning that gave St. Louis a 4 to 3 victory over Cleveland. Washington and Boston played a 2 to 2 tie when a pitchers' battle between Nabrsky and Ferguson was stopped by darkness after seven innings. Bohne's two-base hit in the eighth and tenth innings tied and then won for Cincinnati over St. Louis in the National League, 5 to 4. Hornsby made four hits. Jess Barnes held Brooklyn to three hits and won for Boston, 8 to 0. Young Virgil Barnes won his second victory of the year for McGraw in the Giant's 4 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia. Pittsburgh pounced upon an opportunity presented by Adams' error and defeated Chicago 7 to 4. Hartnett, Traynor and Wright made homers.

NORMA TALMADGE DIVULGES INTERESTING DIVORCE SECRETS

(By NORMA TALMADGE) Hollywood April 29—Wives do not tell on husbands. Even in divorce court, the public confession of shattered romance, few women reveal the actual cause of disillusionment and disappointment. Men, making light of woman's inability to keep a secret, don't suspect how unutterably far that is from the truth. These observations I made after reading thousands of letters recently sent me by divorced wives from every section of the country in connection with my picture, "Secrets." While preparing this film play my husband, Joseph M. Schenck, suggested that I ask the women of America to tell me their real reasons for marital separation. Their identities, of course, will be masked. They were to confess to a stranger. Their replies, having every mark of frankness, were amazing. Desire to Shield. And out of these admissions this essentially maternal and gallant attitude is disclosed as the cause why so few wives tell the whole truth about discarded mates: The desire to shield even the meanest and most petty of men from public humiliation; the desire to save them from being made a laughing mark.

UNIQUE HAS FINE PICTURE FEATURE

"The Fair Cheat," a Comedy-Drama of Unusual Charm.

"The Fair Cheat," a comedy-drama of unusual charm and distinction, featuring dainty Dorothy Mackall, handsome Wilfred Lytell, and the famous Edmund Breese, and now being shown at the Unique Theatre, is one of the most laugh-provoking pictures that have ever been seen on the screen. Burton King, one of the ablest directors in the motion picture industry, has injected generous doses of subtle humor and piquant situations in this delightful story of a daughter of wealth who becomes a cabaret dancer to win the man of her heart. Her venture into the world of tinsel and lights and laughter is the beginning of one stimulating adventure after another, until convincing her father that she is able to earn her own living, he allows her to marry the man she loves.

Eddie Cantor, Who Makes Broadway Laugh Can't Get a Chuckle Out of Folk at Home

(By Maxwell Hyde.) Mount Vernon N. Y. April 29—Eddie Cantor, the famous comedian, likes Broadway, but it isn't his chief interest in life. That interest centres in four rosy-cheeked daughters, the youngest, two, the oldest, nine. That was evident as I sat this Sunday morning in the cozy Cantor living room in this little town. I had often wondered how funny a world-famous comedian was to his own family. "Yes," Eddie was saying, "Marjorie—that's the oldest—already is showing signs of following me on the stage as a comedienne. It's born in her." "And the others?" I asked. "Oh, so far they just eat." We talked about radio, movies and other things and finally he learned I recently had been through Philadelphia's famous underworld. At once he was all attentive. "I'd have liked to have been along on that trip," he said. "I have always felt that had I not gone on the stage, I have been a gangster. You see, I look like one!" "I laughed heartily, and looked around, expecting to see his family sitting in their sides over the funny turn he had given a serious subject. But Mrs. Cantor and her little children were very solemn. They were used to this. "Don't you think he's funny?" I asked. "Oh, yes," was the reply, "but we don't laugh outwardly any more." "I'm not encouraging the children to be funny," Eddie said, and he added quickly, "but I hope they'll get that way. Once I forgot myself and laughed at something Marjorie did, and she promised she would appear with me in a benefit performance some time. A few minutes later, all excited, she ran to her mother and asked Mrs. Cantor if I had been serious. A father who is never serious to his children is at a disadvantage. And he shook his head sadly. It was at this moment that the children decided they wanted to jump rope and Marjorie asked her dad for money to buy a rope. "But you'll get overboard," he cried in dismay. "Nothing doing!" "But Marjorie had kissed him, and he put protesting immediately. "But don't jump much," he warned seriously "not more than nine or ten hours!" Marjorie smiled understandingly. Cantor's success has brought him every luxury of life, a big limousine, a butler, a cook, and several maids—but he isn't too dignified to roam around the house on Sunday dressed in slippers, pajamas and a bath robe. On the particular subject of this writer to the Cantor home, the cook happened to be ill, and Mrs. Cantor scrambled the eggs for Eddie's breakfast, which he proceeded to eat in his slippers-pajamas-bathrobe attire. Even Mrs. Cantor never seems to be sure of what Eddie is to do or say, or when her serious expression will fade into a smile. He is an ever-present source of fun to her.

J. M. BARRIE COMEDY IS WELL PRESENTED

"Quality Street" Receives a Fine Portrayal by High School Alumnae.

A capacity house greeted the High School Alumnae last evening when they presented Sir James M. Barrie's comedy, "Quality Street," in the High School auditorium with credit. The stage settings, arranged by Victor Morisy, were exquisite and took one out of the present to the pre-Victorian period in England with its blue and white room, its quality beautiful gowns and its gallant soldiers. The costumes were the result of the fertile brain and nimble fingers of Miss Marjorie Thompson and her capable committee of girls. The men's costumes were brought from Montreal. Miss Marjorie Manning was general director. Stanley Clarke was responsible for the scenery. Miss Barbara Dobson was business manager. Professor William C. Bowen conducted the excellent music played by the High School orchestra, which received many encores. Gordon White was property manager. Much credit for the success of the play was given Miss Marjorie Johnson, who instructed the players. She is a recent graduate of the Mount Allison School of Expression. There were four acts in which scenes brought to mind the Napoleonic wars. "Miss Phoebe Throssel," Edie Spence, and her elder sister, "Miss Susan Throssel," Miss Helen Smith, did exciting work. Their attempts at teaching were pathetically ludicrous. Harold Holder, as Valentine Brown, the dashing young lieutenant, and Edward Walsh, as Ensign Blades, were types true to the time and had somewhat difficult parts to maintain. The latter was very funny as he held himself

Cherry Sisters Use Anti-Vegetable Net To Stop Fusillade From Audience

Council Bluffs, Ia., April 29—With their trusty anti-vegetable screen speeding to their protection, the Cherry Sisters required most of the local police to guard them against potatoes and turnips at their second "come-back" performance tonight. A Tom cat, which occupied a stellar role in the shower of missiles that greeted their first performance the previous night, was found dead at the stage entrance of the theatre. Apparently the animal had died of injuries received when thrown from the gallery onto the stage where the Cherry ladies were singing, as they sang of yore. Baked Potatoes. Instead of just plain baked potatoes by ones: After baking, scoop out the centre, add grated cheese and paprika, and a little onion if you like, and put back into the oven for a little longer. Those taking part were, besides those mentioned, Misses Kathleen Shaw, Norma Gregory, Dorothy Hickson, Muriel McAllister, Dorothy Sinclair, who was a model maid; Marian Patterson and Messrs. Arnold Kee, Paul Walsh and Travis Cushing. The children were Evelyn Frits, Marjorie MacPhail, Elizabeth Hamilton, Louis Green, Royden McLean and Stephen Livingston.

SOCIETY DRAMA IS WELL STAGED

"The Other Wife" at Opera House Receives Approval of Large Audience.

"THE OTHER WIFE," a melodrama in three acts by Carl Mason, produced by the Opera House by the F. James Carroll Players, staged and directed by John Gordon, stage manager, Paul Broderick, scenic artist, R. C. Benjamin, orchestra under direction of T. H. Roberts. CAST OF CHARACTERS: Grace Vane..... Carleton Pinkney Myra Marsh..... Dorrit Kelton Robt. Bevington..... Clyde Franklin Richard Bender..... James G. Coote Isabelle Bevington..... Edna Preston Jack Stewart..... Virginia Odson Boss..... Riley Owen Col Officer Day..... Paul Broderick Frederick Gittelman..... John Gordon. Seldom has Clyde Franklin appeared in a role in which he is afforded an opportunity of displaying his artistic ability as that in which he appeared last evening. His part was the central figure about which was built a gripping, powerful drama, and it required all that artistry that was his to do justice to the character to which he was assigned. But Mr. Franklin held his audience from start to finish and frequent bursts of applause indicated that his fine acting was appreciated by the large audience which attended. The play is a melodrama of modern life, with a dash of good comedy to relieve the sombre strain. Never have the ladies of the company presented a more charming appearance than they did last night. Miss Bevington, the initial appearance of each was a signal for varied expressions of delight and approval from the people—particularly the ladies—out front. Miss Kelton once again demonstrated that character is not her only strong point—here is a "straight" role and she gave a fine impersonation; she also looked the part of the wife of a successful barrister. While the leading people of the company, Mr. Coote and Miss Preston, were forced to portray characters subservient to those of Miss Kelton and Mr. Franklin, their roles demanded much of them, and they gave it in good measure. Miss Odson and Mr. Swift made a fine happily married couple, the centre of whose world was their little son, and they were not loath to let the rest of the world know about him. They provided some hearty laughs. Miss Marsh played the part of the woman of the world, whose actions were the cause of a tragedy which formed the plot of the story, and she played it superbly. While her life on the stage lasted only through the first act, she made every minute of that time count. Messrs. Gordon, Broderick

UNUSUAL FILMS AT THE IMPERIAL

Elinor Glyn's "Six Days" is an Extraordinary Story, Well Presented.

In "Six Days" the new Goldwyn photoplay which was shown for the first time in the Imperial the yesterday, Elinor Glyn, author of the sensational novel, "Three Weeks," tells one of her most original and colorful stories. It has bold drama, swift action, with characters all drawn in bold relief. There are thrilling episodes and spectacular events in this screen story, which was directed by Goldwyn by Charles Brabin, one of the ablest directors in filmdom. He has made of the Elinor Glyn story a picture that enthralled the interest from start to finish, and is entirely credible in atmosphere and in action, and realistic in characterization. This production furthers his standing as one of the leaders in his profession and also gives a new angle on the literary genius of Elinor Glyn. The story is too complicated to be told here in detail, and such a telling would lessen the picturizers' pleasure in seeing it unveiled. It deals with mother's attempt to marry her daughter to a wealthy Englishman for social and financial reasons. The girl meets and falls in love with the man's son. They are married in circumstances that lead them to expect certain death. Rescued separately, the girl is forced to marry the father and is claimed by his son. Suspense is admirably maintained; the photography is clear with many extraordinary beautiful shots, and the story is one sure to appeal to every taste. Corinne Griffith, one of the popular screen stars of the day, is seen at her best as Laine Kingston, an American girl engaged to Sir Charles Shetwyn, but who falls in love with the latter's son of whom the father is in ignorance. Frank Mayo, who has been featured in many big productions, is featured, along with Miss Griffith, in the role of the lover. Both give extremely good and surprising performances. The cast contains many other notable names, such as Myrtle Stedman, Charles King, Maude George, Spottiswoode Aitken, Charles Gray, Evelyn Walsh Hall and others. The same picture will be repeated today and tonight, and it is assured that the same heavy volume of business will mark the repeat. Elinor Glyn's stories are very much read in picturized form they are most certainly done. Tomorrow the well known novel "West of The Water Tower" will be the featured picture. This is one of the Paramount Co.'s very best stories this year.

POPE PIUS SEEN IN MOVING PICTURES

Eucharistic Congress Films Shown at St. Vincent's Auditorium

His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, was presented to the audience at St. Vincent's auditorium last evening in a series of the Eucharistic Congress, recently held in Rome, Italy, was told in realistic manner by the films with appropriate titles and sub-titles in English and French. The address of His Holiness was full of spiritual sweetness and his face shone with benignity and sympathy. The crowds were immense in the Vatican, St. Peter's Cathedral and the Coliseum. The latter was shown in many phases of the pictures. There was a wonderful procession. The homage to the host was portrayed with clearness, showing the devotion in the face of the large throng of worshippers who filled the place where in the old days the Christians were made to combat the lions and to suffer great pain. Miss Anna McGarrigue presided at the piano and provided music that greatly enhanced the realism of the pictures shown. Rev. Francis Walker was in charge of the solemn entertainment. He held the drawing for the prizes for his recent fair for the building of his new church at the conclusion of the pictures. Paul C. Quinn won the wrist watch and Mrs. D. J. O'Neil of 67 St. David's street won the fruit cake, which can be obtained at the home of Mrs. A. J. O'Connor, Union street. The fancy work articles were awarded as follows: Miss Ted Murphy, 168 Waterloo street, the scarf, and Robert McArdle, Black River Road, the runner. Father Walker announced that his altar chest and the three other prizes which were given in the church model booth would be drawn this evening, when the pictures will be repeated. Another large crowd is anticipated.

SIGN SOLD IT.

Eight years ago Stuart Holmes bought a few acres of ranch land, a short distance from San Francisco. He bought the land for a song, and was in vogueville at the time, and his name, Holmes, says he has paid more taxes on the property during the time than it cost him, and during the period never had an offer from a prospective purchaser. Recently, Holmes took an automobile trip to San Francisco and discovered a huge oil storage tank on the property adjoining his land. The next day he had a sign erected on his acreage. "Here is the future home of the N. G. Powder Company." Within a few hours, Holmes declares, he had frantic bids for the property and made a satisfactory and profitable sale.

SAYS WITNESSES BLACKMAILING HER

Woman in False Pretence Case Claims Mistake in Identity.

That the witnesses were all making a mistake as to her identity and that, when they said positively that she was the one, they were attempting to blackmail her and should be afraid they would be struck dead, were statements made by Anna Chisholm, whose preliminary examination was taken up in the police court this morning before Magistrate Henderson. She was arrested in St. Stephen on a warrant charging her with unlawfully obtaining money and goods by false pretences from Scovill Bros., Ltd., and an additional charge for a like offence was made out this morning in connection with an alleged transaction with F. W. Daniel & Co., Ltd.

When the young woman was brought into court she smilingly took a seat in the dock. The only time she showed any resentment was when she was asked if she desired to examine the witnesses.

Miss Nellie Stanton said she was an employee of Scovill Bros., Ltd., and on April 25 the accused purchased a sweater, valued at $32.50, a middle valued at $4.75, and a sleeveless sweater valued at $1. She asked if the firm would cash her check on the Royal Bank of Canada, Toronto, for $60. The witness said she sent it to the book-keeper, Mrs. Dixon. She had the check cashed and took the goods with her and received $47 in currency. In answer to a question put by the defendant, the witness said she was sure she was not mistaken as to her identity.

Mrs. Jessie E. Dixon then told of receiving the check and of questioning the defendant. The defendant, she said, informed her that she was "Sandy" Chisholm's sister and was residing with him at 155 St. James street. She also showed a pass book of the Royal Bank of Canada. The witness said she had cashed the check because the defendant claimed to be a sister of Mr. Chisholm. She said she was sure she was not mistaken as to her identity.

When the ill-fated schooner Champion sailed from here a week ago Friday, bound for Windsor with a cargo of fertilizer, the gas schooner Shamrock sailed for up the bay about the same time, and the two sailed side by side for several miles. Captain A. A. Wilbur, of the Shamrock, now in port, says he recalled Captain Andrew Baxter in the Champion several times, but owing to the noise of the engines, conversation was impossible. Captain Wilbur says he noticed that the decks of the Champion were heavily loaded with bags of fertilizer, and it is his opinion that this made the schooner heavy and she fell prey to the waters off Spencer's Island at noon the following day.
