KING EDWARD.

His Majesty Remained at Windsor Castle Today.

But the Queen With a Brilliant Suite Went to Ascot Heath.

LONDON, June 17.—The king passed a good night and his progress towards complete recovery is uninterrupted. The precautionary measures ordered by his physicians are due to the necessity for his Majesty's health. The king will remain at Windsor Castle today. He was keenly disappointed at being unable to attend the Ascot Heath race meeting today, which he intended to open with all the state ceremonial of the early days of Queen Victoria. His Majesty hopes, however, to be present on Thursday, Gold Cup Day.

The royal procession left Windsor Castle for Ascot Heath shortly before noon. Although King Edward was unable to attend the races, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall, and their guests at the castle and members of the court all participated. The procession was the first full state parade of that description since the death of the Prince Consort, and consisted of eight carriages each drawn by four horses. The mounted squadrons and gaily liveried postillions and outriders formed an imposing cavalcade.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather, immense crowds assembled about the course and the royal party was everywhere warmly welcomed. The royal enclosure was brilliant with ladies' dresses and the picturesque costumes of Indian princes. All the big houses in and around Windsor and Ascot contributed their quota to the fashionable throng.

The meeting promises excellent sport, as a large number of horses have arrived. The gold vase of 200 sovereigns given by the king for the three-year-olds, was won by George Fabe's Ice Maiden.

Rock Sand (Maher), won the Coventry stakes of ten sovereigns each, for two-year-olds. The La Fleche filly ("Skeets" Martin) was second and Red Lily came in third. This cleared the way for the big race of the day, the Ascot stakes (handicap) of twenty sovereigns each, which was won by Souillon.

BURNED AT SEA.

The British Bark Fannie Kerr, Laden With Coal.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 17.—News of the British bark Fannie Kerr, reported last night as having burned at sea, was brought to this port by the steamer Almada, which arrived from Honolulu last night. The bark was abandoned on May 29, about 300 miles northeast of the island of Kauai.

The Fannie Kerr left Newcastle April 7 with 4,700 tons of coal. The fire was not discovered until a heavy explosion made the hull quiver and sent the ventilators high into the rigging at 2 o'clock on the morning of the 28th. After fighting the flames for 24 hours, all hands took to the boats, making land June 7.

TORONTO.

Board of Trade Endeavoring to Avert Street Railway Strike.

(Special to the Star.)
TORONTO, June 17.—The meeting of the employees of the Street Railway, held early this morning, did not result in the anticipated strike decision. A committee of the board of trade was present at the meeting and after a long discussion it was resolved to have a meeting of all the employees called by the board of trade committee at midnight tonight. Officers of the company have agreed to receive a committee appointed by this meeting and discuss their differences with them. In the meantime the company agrees to take off during the negotiations all the spare men they have put on the cars since a week ago.

MOULDERS MAY STRIKE.

(Special to the Star.)
OTTAWA, June 17.—The Moulders' Union of Ottawa has filed a demand for a minimum wage of $2.40 a day for stove moulders and $2.45 a day for machine moulders. The demand of the stove plate men has been granted, but the employers object to establishing a union minimum wage for machine men. They offer a raise of ten per cent on the present scale all around, but the union is holding out for a uniform scale, and a strike may ensue.

THE DEATH ROLL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—Norman S. Byram, president of the Indianapolis Chair Co. and of the Byram Furniture Co., died last night, aged 71. For 40 years he was at the head of one of the largest wholesale dry goods establishments in the west. He leaves a large estate.

HAWAII.

Volcanic Action in Mount Kilauea—An Editor Pardoned.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
HONOLULU, June 17, via San Francisco, June 17.—Further reports from the island of Hawaii indicate that the eruption of Kilauea is continuing and many people here are planning to make the trip to witness the spectacle. At last accounts the eruption did not amount to more than a rise of lava from the smaller crater of Helemau-ma, with sheets of flame. The active crater, instead of being on an eminence is down a basin seven or eight miles in circumference.
Governor Dole has issued a pardon for Walter G. Smith, editor of the Advertiser, who was sentenced to 30 days in Oahu prison for contempt of court. Smith's offense was the publication of a cartoon attacking the judge, which was held to obstruct the trial of a pending case.

"DEFEND YOURSELVES"

Is the Advice of a Colored Bishop to His People.

CHICAGO, June 17.—"The time has come when the black man must depend upon himself for protection. I do not stand for mob, but every negro should be prepared to protect his home, his wife and children even to the death."

This advice was given at a meeting of negroes last night by Bishop Alexander Walters of the colored church of Ohio, after he had warned his hearers that all signs pointed to a time of great trouble for them. Bishop Walters is president of the Afro-American council.

The meeting was held in the Olivet Baptist church and was called for the purpose of taking action on the prosecution of negro residents of Eldorado and Harrisburg, Illinois, and the lynching of Louis Wright in Missouri last winter. A resolution was adopted and telephoned to Gov. Yates, calling on him to take immediate steps to protect the lives and property of the colored people at Eldorado and Harrisburg, Illinois.

Gov. Yates, who is in Chicago, said last night: "The authorities have been ordered to proceed against any persons who may have been guilty of assaults against the colored people of that locality; and law will be maintained."

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Connolly drove to the depot, where they took the I. C. R. for Quebec.

After high mass at the cathedral this morning His Lordship Bishop Casey announced that in the future all services would be held according to Atlantic time. THE CORONATION.

John Bull Utilizes His Right to Grumble.

At the Hotel Keepers, the Seat Speculators and the Police Regulations.

LONDON, June 17.—The coronation, as a public spectacle, threatens to be a fiasco. So serious has this possibility become that the London Times and other papers are printing alarmist letters, urging the authorities to take steps to prevent its failure before it is too late. The rapacity of the hotel keepers and greed of the seat speculators are the reasons. With scarcely more than a week before the coronation, not 50 per cent of the seats on the huge stands have been sold. Frightened by the exorbitant demands, thousands of people residing in the suburbs and country who had planned to come and see the king crowned have now decided to stay away, while a large proportion of Londoners will avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy a holiday at the seaside or elsewhere, in preference to submitting to the inconvenience of the extraordinary police regulations which will be enforced on the coronation days. The hotels and health resorts on the south coast, and rooms in quiet country clubs throughout the United Kingdom, which are generally empty at the height of the season, are all booked for the coronation week. It is freely said that unless the stand proprietors admit the public in a body and gratis, or practically gratis, the king will pass to his coronation through an army of half filled benches. But that which chiefly contributes to today's serious state of affairs are the police precautions to make the procession to Westminster Abbey one which ticket-holders only can witness, except in the case of St. James' Park, where but a few thousands will be able to see the royal party. The published regulations, whereby all traffic within about a mile of the first day's route is to be stopped at three o'clock in the morning and pedestrians are to be stopped at 4 a. m., are terrifying enough. Solid timber barricades—twenty to thirty feet are the entrance of all the streets and alleys leading anywhere near the route, and barrier entrances for foot passengers and archways for vehicles await the gates which are to be swung on them. By the eve of the coronation these will be in place. The loyal British crowds will be huddled together by thousands and be unable to say anything but the bare sides of these barriers. As a correspondent in today's Times points out, the police have framed rules calculated in effect, if not in design, to keep hundreds from taking their places, owing to the probability of being unable to get their destinations, and this applies to the seat holders, who, having perhaps paid several guineas for places on stands, will be unable to occupy them.

What will happen to the unfortunate general public is a problem which has caused many of these protests in the papers. In the first place even ticket holders must all sleep in London on coronation eve, and then get out on the street about 5 a. m. According to the present arrangements only ticket holders will be allowed through the barrier wickets, so the streets within these areas likely to be the scenes of camp of patient enthusiasts who will take up their places June 25. Even these may be driven out by the police, should they think the route too thickly lined. As these conditions are becoming known thousands are relinquishing all idea of trying to see the show.

FILIPINO BRUTALITY.

Hewed the Bodies of Americans Limb from Limb.

MANILA, June 16.—The bodies of the sergeant, two corporals and four privates of the Fifth Cavalry, who were captured May 30, by Ladrones, at Binangonan, Rizal province, this island, have been recovered. Most of the bodies had been hewn limb from limb and it was found impossible to recognize four of the dead men.

A number of arrests in the matter have been made and nine men have been absolutely identified as belonging to the band of Ladrones which captured the Americans. The identified men include two members of the police force of Teresa, Morong province.

The American soldiers were buried today together; it was impossible to make separate interments.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The overthrow of the Colombian revolution appears to be complete, says a Port of Spain, Trinidad, despatch to the Herald, under date of June 16. Leaders of the revolutionary forces, including General Uribe Uribe and other commanders, have arrived in Caracas, Venezuela, disheartened after escaping from the Colombian troops by the Meta River. They were pursued for eight days. The leaders went first to Ciudad Bolivar, and hurried thence to Caracas, where they hope to obtain further assistance from President Castro.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 16.—In the course of the debate on the finance bill in the house of commons today the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Bencher, refused to accept an amendment to omit maize from the new duties on grain. He said he did not believe that the extra two pence per hundredweight would increase the price, and even if it did so the effects would not be so terrible as predicted by the Irish members.

Thomas W. Russell (unionist), advanced the curious plea for an abatement of the tax that "Maize was not only used as food for animals in Ireland, but as human food by the poorest of the poor."

LONDON, June 16.—The chancellor of the exchequer agreed to reduce the duty on coffee from 12 to 11 pence, and said he would also consider a reduction in the duty on maize in the interests of the starch manufacturers.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 17, 1902.

HOME SEEKERS.

The Winnipeg Telegram says that the present rush of settlers to the Canadian northwest recalls the rush to the gold fields of the Yukon a few years ago. Many of the settlers are well-to-do American farmers. It is already being predicted that within ten years the balance of political power will be in the west.

The following table shows the returns of homesteads applied for that have so far reached the Winnipeg land office for May, 1902, and shows a comparison between May, 1902, and the same month of last year:

	1902.	1901.
Red Deer.	172	82
Prince Albert.	162	74
Brandon.	75	46
New Westminster.	48	35
Alameda.	208	103
Calgary.	247	284
Edmonton.	201	45
Dauphin.	53	34
Kamloops.	16	6
Winnipeg.	87	75

These figures show only a part of the increase in population. Thousands of acres of land have been sold by railway and private corporations and they are not included in the land office returns. Some land offices have not yet reported for May, and the returns for June will show a still greater percentage of increase, which for May was over 100 per cent.

THE TIMBER MARKET.

The London Timber Trades Journal's Liverpool correspondent says in the issue of June 17th:

The import of spruce for the month, nearly 9,000 standards, looks large on the face of the statistics, but we may just point out much of it has gone to Manchester direct, leaving the stock in Liverpool at only 9,500 standards, against 16,500 standards last year. There is, however, no change in the position abroad. Manufacturers in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are holding out stoutly for their prices, influenced by the strong demand now existing in the United States for spruce there. Judging from some private letters we have the pleasure of seeing, we come to the conclusion that there is no reasonable possibility of anything but firm prices for at any rate some time to come. The effect of peace will not have any influence on the market until the coronation festivals are over, and then we may expect a still better feeling throughout the timber trade.

The Globe yesterday published a London press cable with the heading: "Americans Set the Pace—Coronation Festivities are Dominated by Yankee Visitors." The title was entirely misleading, for the cable, which was prepared for American consumption, merely showed that the Bradley-Martins and persons of that ilk are making an ostentatious display of their wealth. That well-bred Americans would attempt to "set the pace" in London at this time is absurd. But the industrious Yankee newspaper correspondent will do his best to prove that his countrymen are the whole show, and King Edward and the British leaders of society mere incidentals.

Speaking in London, recently, at the formal opening of a new building for the School of Economics and Political Science, Lord Rosebery made these remarks:—"There is no want in this country and in this epoch so great as sound business training for the captains of our industries. (Hear, hear.) We had the lesson brought home to us in a way not particularly gratifying to our national pride and complacency in more than one instance during the last twelve months."

A despatch from Sault Ste. Marie to the Ottawa Free Press last week said that Dr. Seward Webb and F. H. Clergue had been in conference, and that it was reported the purchase of the Canada Atlantic railway was considered, as part of a plan to combine the Canada Atlantic, Canadian Northern, Manitoulin and North Shore and the Algoma Central, and complete a great transcontinental system to compete with the C. P. R. The story is probably not true.

Canada is an extravagant country as compared with the United States, for this dominion in times of piping peace steadily increases its foreign debt—Globe.

If the Globe does not like extravagance, why does it support an extravagant government??

If you wish to see the coronation, the last chance is by steamer leaving New York tomorrow. Of course the evening reprint man wouldn't go via New York, however, even if the Tunisian sailed from there. He has lost his chance.—Telegraph.

PRINCE AND KING.

The Former a Hindoo, the Latter an African.

Two Remarkable Characters Who Will Attend the Coronation in London.

(London Letter.)

An interesting feature in connection with the visits of the many eastern potentates who are coming to take part in the coronation of Edward VII. will be the advent of the first orthodox Hindoo who has ever visited the shores of England, in the person of His Highness Maharaja Singh, better known as the Maharaja of Jyepore, one of the largest native states in Rajputana, Central India. This prince will live and move and have his being while in London in the strictly orthodox Hindoo style. The true Hindoo is very strict in adherence to his ancient customs. The very idea of reform in any sense is a great sin and he can never dream of coming to Britain's shores, for that would mean the crossing of the "Kalaiani" (black water), which would entail the losing of his caste. Maharaja Sir Madhoo Singh was born in 1861, and is therefore now about forty years of age. Before he ascended to the throne of Jyepore his name was Kalm Singh and he was the younger brother of the Thakoor of Isarda, a descendant of the ancient Jyepore kings, who belong to the Kachwaha tribe of Rajputs, who claim descent from Rama, the great king of Aodhya of mythical celebrity. He was adopted by his predecessor on the throne of Jyepore and has ever been a clever ruler and greatly attached to his people.

PRINCE HAD HIS TROUBLES.

His highness was in a great dilemma, being very anxious to attend the coronation of Britain's monarch, the Emperor of India, and at the same time wishing to give due weight to his religious scruples. He therefore called together in council his court pundits and requested them to discover some injunction or other from the sacred scriptures which should allow him to cross the sea and at the same time maintain his caste. The problem was difficult but the wise men at last found a solution. They decided that the ruler must take with him on the ocean travels Gopalli, his favorite image of Krishna, and must eat nothing but food which had been offered to Gopalli.

But here another grave difficulty presented itself. How could the Maharaja possibly take his powerful Gopalli on board a vessel which had been polluted by the killing or eating of a cow, the most sacred animal of the Hindoos? This almost insurmountable difficulty, however, has been overcome, and his agents secured for him a new boat, just built, the upper deck of which had to undergo some alterations to suit the requirements of Gopalli. An image of the Hindoo god was never before carried out of India, much less across the sea, and this carrying of Gopalli involves arrangements of a most elaborate character. All stores required for the kitchen of Gopalli were brought on board. Gopalli may not touch anything not grown in India and therefore, after the Maharaja has arrived in England all fresh Indian vegetables will be shipped from Bombay. Even Indian earth was brought on board in case it might be wanted at any time. The cost of the tour of this Hindoo prince has been estimated at something like a million and a quarter dollars.

AFRICAN KING ARRIVES.

A very interesting event during the past week has been the arrival in London of King Lewanika, the cool-black chief of Barotsche. Shortly after his arrival he travelled down to Dorsetshire as the guest of Colonel Harding. Your correspondent travelled down to Sherbourne in order to see this African chief enjoying the life of a country gentleman. His arrival had been announced and when the Royal Lewanika descended from the express train hundreds of the villagers, who were gathered around the station, set up a shout of welcome. At the little village of Marston, where he was to stay a few days as the colonel's guest, and which only boasts a population of about 200, the villagers led by the prominent men unharnessed the horses and dragged the carriage to the rectory amid loud cheers, while the king standing up in the carriage beamed smiles upon them. On Sunday the African chief attended church, and the service, which he could not understand, seemed to impress him deeply. King Lewanika has not yet been able, however, to see the force of Christianity. He possesses twelve charming wives and cannot see why he should give them up, as he would have to do were he to become a Christian. His son, however, is a Christian. In the afternoon tea at the Digby Hotel in Sherbourne. He wore the conventional English dress, consisting of a regulation Melton overcoat and a "Christy stiff."

MONARCH MEETS MONARCH.

On Tuesday the cool-black monarch came up to London to make the acquaintance of King Edward and incidentally to pay a visit to the London tailor. As he drove through the crowded streets to Belgrave square he expressed himself as "stricken speechless" and said, "I cannot talk." Yesterday Lewanika was admitted in audience by the king of Britain, and through an interpreter King Edward expressed the pleasure it gave him to see this African chief. Lewanika in reply said he had looked forward to the day when he should see the "great white father," and now his greatest ambition had been realized. He then presented the king with a valuable elephant's tusk and a rug, both of which King Edward graciously accepted. The audience lasted for some fifteen minutes. As I have stated Lewanika is cool black and wears a black beard. He is of medium height and stoops slightly when he walks. In manner he appears to be nervous, but this is hardly to be wondered at considering the strange sights on which he is gazing for the first time. His attendants also do not seem to be able to accustom themselves to the new ways and they do not seem to be wishful to sleep in their beds, but prefer to stretch themselves on the hard floor.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

TORONTO, June 16.—There was no afternoon or evening session of the assembly on Saturday. Many city pulpits of various denominations were occupied yesterday by members of the assembly, among them twenty-five Presbyterian churches, sixteen Methodist, nine Baptist, and three Congregationalist churches.

The business before the assembly this morning was the hearing of reports from the colleges and the dealing with remits which had been sent down to presbyteries with instructions to report a judgment upon them to this assembly. Knox and Manitoba colleges presented reports. Unlike some of the other seminaries, Knox reports no falling off in the number of its students, but rather an increase. Its funds also are in a flourishing state. It is proud of its teaching staff, but melancholy news was brought to Knox College and to the assembly. While they were congratulating themselves on their professors, and especially on Prof. Douglas, the last addition to the staff, there came a cablegram that he had just died in England. The announcement of the professor's death was made by the moderator. He then called upon W. Mortimer Clarke, chairman of the board of management of the college. Mr. Clarke moved that the sympathy of the assembly be cabled to Mrs. Douglas. He also summoned the college board to meet tomorrow at 12 o'clock. Principal McVicar led in fervent prayer, and the hymn, "A few more years shall roll," was sung by the whole assembly.

Manitoba college for several years maintained its classes in summer as well as in winter. The burden proved too heavy and the summer session is to be discontinued. The college is in a highly prosperous state.

The number of remits was five: (1) The first was re-permissible term service of elders instead of life service, as at present. Forty presbyteries disapproved and eight approved. The assembly laid it on the table.

(2) The second called for presbyteries' judgment on the question of reducing the representation in assembly from one in four in the presbyteries to one in six, and upon the question of providing a fund of the pay and of the travelling expenses of commissioners. The assembly passed the first part of this remit and approved the principle of the second part, appointing a committee to prepare a scheme for a travelling expense fund and to report at a later seditur.

(3) The third remit proposed the appointment of an executive committee or commission which could deal with matters arising between meetings of assemblies. The question was referred to a committee to report to the next assembly.

(4) The fourth remit proposed to permit presbyteries to print their records.—This was approved.

(5) Consideration of the fifth remit, concerning Sunday school field secretaries, was deferred till the Sunday school committee report is presented. Discussion of the memorial from Dr. Wilkie, late of Indore, was resumed in the afternoon, and eight approved. The assembly sustained the act of the committee. Dr. Wilkie was sharply criticised by Dr. MacMullen and defended by Principal MacVicar.

Augmentation and French evangelisation occupied the evening session. The committee of the evangelical section of which T. C. James is convener, was encouraged by the fact that four of its members have become self-supporting during the year, and other taining during the year.

The report of the committee of the women's section is a very encouraging one. For the first time in years the committee have a balance in hand exceeding $3,000; while the standard of giving in the augmented camp of women has increased 35 cents per cent. have cant, although all along they have been giving one-half more per cent. During the year seventeen congregations became self-supporting. The question of French evangelisation is ever deeply interesting to the assembly.

Dr. MacVicar presented the report which the Rev. G. L. Pidgeon of St. John's, Ontario, seconded. He referred to the strong anti-clerical movement in Belgium, France and in Austria, and pointed out that in Canada many of the most difficult and dangerous questions with which our government have had to deal have had their origin in the clericalism of Quebec. The greatest hindrance to French evangelisation is not the Roman Catholics, but the Protestant churches through their indifference and nigardiness. French Protestants in Canada and the United States thank God for the French evangelist work. The statesmanship which is concerned for Western Canada should be concerned equally for Quebec.

Three French Canadian ministers supported the motion, which was unanimously adopted by the assembly.

STEAMSHIP COMBINE.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—The Herald tomorrow will say: "Practically all of the steamship lines operating between ports in the British Isles and ports on the Atlantic seaboard have entered into an agreement by which a minimum rate has been established for the carriage of freight destined for Europe. It is stated that the German lines have not entered into the agreement. It is said to be an extension of the contract made some months ago, by which the lines established a minimum rate of 1½ pence on grain."

ACETYLENE SIGNAL LAMP. CITY BUILT ON MUD.

Invention of Lieut. Holland, V. C., is a Decided Success.

The test of the Holland acetylene signal light last evening was highly successful and those who witnessed it expressed their entire satisfaction with the merits of this lamp as shown by the demonstration. Among those who attended were Col. Cotton, Quarter-master General, Col. Cartwright, Lt. Col. Rutherford, Lt. Col. Jarvis, Major Brown, Major E. F. Taylor, Captain Cunningham, Lt. O'Hara and other officers of the Ottawa brigade.

The receiving station was situated on Parliament hill, near the library, and the apparatus was in charge of Lieut. Watson, and Signaller Dunlevie, Webb and Kingsland. Lieut. Edward Holland, V. C., Corp. Dier and Sig. Lieut. J. W. Watson went out on a point near Chelsea, taking with them the regulation oil lamp and also the new acetylene one. They gave notice of their arrival and were notified from this end to use the oil light. This was done, but could not be read by the naked eye, and only faintly with the use of the binocular. The acetylene was then tried and could be read as plainly from Ottawa as though it was only a few hundred yards away.

Lieut. Holland afterwards showed how the light could be advantageously used as an illuminant in camp or for general military purposes. Being such a strong light it did not require any protection as would be the case with oil.

report on the result of the test has been sent to the department, so that a decision of this lamp may be made at the end of the year.

AS THE POOL DIETH.

Drink a Quart of Whiskey and it Killed Him.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

After swallowing a quart of whiskey almost at a single draught, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, Thomas McLoughlin, aged 24 years old, employed in the jute mills of the American Manufacturing Company, reeled and fell on his back on the floor in the rear room of Dennis Gildea's saloon, 110 Franklin street, Greenpoint, and died within an hour. He still grasped the whiskey bottle, which he had emptied, in one hand, and for a minute he made efforts to get on his feet again, while the others in the place leaped at first and then stood, terror-stricken, watching him die. Two men finally picked him up and sat him in a chair, while a policeman was notified, who summoned an ambulance from St. Catherine's Hospital. McLoughlin was unconscious when Dr. Rorke got to the saloon. He still clung to the bottle with a grasp so strong that force had to be used to take it from him. The ambulance surgeon worked heroically for an hour to revive McLoughlin, but did not succeed. The man died without recovering consciousness. He was single and lodged at 120 Franklin street. He was a good workman and earned good wages, but he was a victim of the drink habit. He fought against it, but without much success. Recently in his sober moments he told friends that he was tired of the struggle.

"Whisky will kill me sooner or later," he said. "I might as well take a good lot of it at once and end it all." McLoughlin purchased the quart of whisky about midnight and later went into the saloon where he drank it. He was intoxicated then and sat at a table for over an hour when he suddenly jumped up, and staggering to the middle of the room, produced the bottle of whisky and cried:

"I am going to have a good long drink for the last one, boys." He put it to his mouth and never took it down until he emptied it and fell.

MR. BALDWINSON INTERVIEWED.
Member for Gilmli Talks to a Seattle Reporter.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer has the following:
"That Iceland is destined to become a sparsely inhabited fishing station of the Arctic is the opinion of many of the leading men of the colony," states B. L. Baldwinson, editor of the Winnipeg Helmskirkia, a newspaper published for the Icelanders who have emigrated to Canada and the United States.

"The country is rapidly becoming depopulated," said Mr. Baldwinson, "and this movement will doubtless continue, because of the generally successful progress made by those who have already moved to America. The emigration has spread over the whole of Canada, the northern states of the union and to some extent along the Pacific slope. During my term as emigration agent to the dominion government, I brought 7,000 people from the ice-bound island to Canada. The average capital per man of that number was $104. Some of them are now worth fortunes, and all have better farms and are living more comfortably than they did in their native homes."

"My visit to the Puget Sound country was made chiefly for the purpose of investigating the conditions of my people in this section of the north-west. I was greatly surprised at the prosperity I saw at every hand. This is my first visit to Seattle and the state of Washington, and I will admit that I had no idea of the wonderful resources of the section. I will make a favorable report on it, with the view of locating more of my people here, as I believe that I could direct them to no other section of the country offering more to the industrious emigrant."

Mr. Baldwinson is a member of the Manitoba legislature. During his residence in Winnipeg he has done much to improve the condition of the people of his native country. He believes, however, that the best aid that can be given them would be inducements to leave Iceland on account of the small resources of the island, as compared with the fertile farm lands to be had for the asking in Canada and the United States.

JOHN L. IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

(New York Telegraph.)

John L. Sullivan once again figures in a collapse venture. This time it is his Uncle Tom's Cabin company, which has been wrecked at Waterbury, Ct., all because the former heavyweight saloon-keeper, who played the part of Simon Legree, injected a shade too much realism into his artistic performance.

This, at least, was the complaint made by the negroes who played the part of the slaves. Sullivan piled a blacksnake whip with a great deal of force, and as it fell on the backs of the colored men, they declined to go on even for the sake of art.

The result was a general protest and a strike Saturday night, the negro strikers carrying off everything they could get at. Some of the trophies of John L.'s greatest battles disappeared, including the famous belt and likewise some clothes belonging to other members of the company.

Police aid was sought, and several of the colored men are now in Waterbury jail. Sullivan will have to go on to Waterbury to testify against them, and the proprietors of the show, will have to pay carfare for twenty stranded actors, whose presence is not desired in the Connecticut town. Meanwhile, a job lot of scenery and properties is at the freight yard waiting for some kind soul to pay the charges to get it to this city.

From Newfoundland to Vancouver the people like Red Rose tea.

Pittsburg today after four and a fraction innings of play. The score then stood: Pittsburg, 4; Boston, 1. Which had been threatening, came in a break shower after Wagner had struck out in the fifth inning. Empire Canfield refused to let the game go. Captain Long's request. The Bostonians adopted dilatory tactics, Mason holding the ball longer than after two of the visitors had singled and one scored. The crowd rushed on the field and began to climb into the grand stand. Canfield thereupon forfeited the game to Pittsburg.

In conversation after the game he declared that he was master of the field and proposing to exercise his authority at all times. The management had failed to issue rain checks and the crowd was a long time to get their money back. After an hour or so most of them concluded it was of no use, and walked home. Occasionally giving cheers for Collins and the American League.

A DAMAGED SAILOR.
Conflicting Stories About a Gash in His Head.

Last night a sailor applied for shelter at the Seamen's Mission, and upon being taken in stated that he had first gone to a house across the street, where he had left his clothes and paid four dollars in advance for a week's board. The mission people advised him to arrange with the proprietor of the other house, at which he did not desire to stay, before moving over to the mission. The sailor went across the street accompanied by a companion, who shortly afterwards returned with the information that the first man had decided not to come to the mission after all. In a few minutes, however, the sailor reappeared with a long gash in his head just over the right eye and the blood from it streaming down his face. He said that he had simply asked for his clothes and money, and had been assaulted. Dr. Scammell put a number of stitches in the wound.

The proprietor of the boarding house said that the sailor had gone in and created a disturbance, during which he had fallen and cut himself. The sailor at last accounts was determined to report the affair to the police.

THEY SAW MOOSE.

The train hands and passengers on the suburban from Marysville to Fredericton on Saturday afternoon espied a large moose leisurely walking upon the track ahead of the train. As the latter got near to him the monarch of the forest simply jumped over the fence and after looking at the train to his seeming satisfaction bounded off towards the woods.

James Barnes, M. P. P., driving from Fredericton to Newcastle, Queens Co., on Saturday with Colin Campbell, saw a large moose on the main road, near the Burpee stream. He preceded them for a distance of about one hundred yards, when he disappeared into the woods. Mr. Campbell says he was a monster, being three or four hands higher than either of the horses and did not seem to mind their presence in the least.

On Sunday a large moose swam across the river towards the village of Bristol, Carleton county, and landed just in front of L. A. Lockhart's. He walked leisurely up the bank and through the garden, jumped over the railway fence and started for the woods. About a week ago a moose went across the river, just above E. W. Bell's saw mill, near Bristol.

POLICE COURT.

Eight More Go to Jail and One Got Away.

Eight less at home. The charmed circles broken; eight dear sweet faces missed day by day from their accustomed place. But born to (rum) blossom in another sphere, eight more in jail.

None of the gang this morning could pay their fines, and Landlord Clifford has another batch of boarders. The need of extended quarters on the summer hotel is becoming more evident every day. There are now almost sixty receiving government protection and the prospects are still bright.

Of the batch of drunks who went in this morning four were sailors. They had just taken a run ashore after their voyage and endeavored to have a good time. Instead of getting aboard again they got things with sticks in them. Herbert Nash went in for ten days, William Leonard for thirty days, Carl Olson for ten and Daniel Smith for thirty.

George Bree and Barley Bree do not form a satisfactory combination. They refused to exist harmoniously and George was overcome. He got ten days.

John Donovan, for being drunk on Mill street, was fined eight dollars or thirty days.

When Annie Docherty, who was full on Duke street, was sentenced to two months, her expensive countenance broadened into a smile which seemed to brighten up the whole courtroom. Annie has friends in jail, and her joy at the length of the sentence was perhaps not unnatural.

Joseph Sullivan escaped from the police while he was being removed from the British street lockup to the central station. He is still on the absentee list.

DEATH OF WM. HENRY FLEWELLING.

One of the oldest inhabitants of Kingston, Kings Co., died quite suddenly yesterday at 10 a. m., at the residence of his son G. D. Flewelling. Mr. Flewelling was born at Upper Clifton in September, 1811, and for almost a century has been identified with the interests of his native village. He married in 1835 Margaret Jane Puddington, and had a family of twelve, of whom nine survive. In 1885 Mr. and Mrs. Flewelling celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage, and three years later Mrs. Flewelling died. Mr. Flewelling had enjoyed very good health and was enjoying a walk out of doors only an hour before his death. Naturally the blow came as a great shock to his family, as it will to a very large circle of friends. Besides seven daughters and two sons, he leaves thirty-six grand children and sixty-two great-grandchildren.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

On Sunday afternoon a man by the name of Allan, belonging to Oranmore, who is employed on one of the upriver tugboats, went out bicycle riding at Oak Point, where the tug was lying. While going along the road he ran into a dog and was thrown over the front of the bicycle, his head striking the ground. Mr. Allan was at once removed in an unconscious condition to Oshur Flewelling's house, where he is now being attended by Dr. John Gilchrist. On Saturday night he became conscious for a few minutes, but soon grew worse and as yet has not rallied. Dr. Gilchrist says that, although Mr. Allan is somewhat bruised, no bones are broken and there is not any sign of a fracture in the skull. He seems to be suffering from cerebral hemorrhage and will not likely recover.

BIG LABOR DAY PARADE.

A delegation from the Trades and Labor Union called on the management of the exhibition yesterday afternoon, to see what assistance could be obtained for the big celebration on Labor Day. It is expected that on that day there will be a procession of about three thousand laboring men from the different societies. Five hundred men will be mounted. An arrangement is now being sought with the exhibition management whereby they will supply music for the parade and assist in obtaining prizes for sports which are to be held on the Barrack Square. If the plan is carried into effect the parade and sports will be features of exhibition week. The matter will be laid before the directors of the Exhibition Association.

TOUGHS INVADE ROTHESAY.

Between eleven and twelve o'clock last night a telephone message was received at the central police station from Rothsay to the effect that a crowd of toughs from St. John had gone out there and were causing the residents considerable trouble. A number of persons had been beaten by them, and the assistance of the police was requested. The sender of the message was advised that the St. John police were not responsible for what occurred at Rothsay, and that warrants for the arrest of the offenders should be issued in Kings county. Persons living along the road state that they heard a crowd driving past during the night, singing and shouting.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge McLeod Refers to the Condition of the Jail.

Only One Criminal Case Before the Court at Present—Others Expected Later.

The June sitting of the circuit court opened this morning. His Honor Judge McLeod presiding. So far only one criminal case is before the court, but it is expected that before the sitting is over several now before the magistrate will come up for trial. On that expectation the grand jury men were not discharged today.

The members of the grand jury are: D. C. Clinch, foreman; B. R. Macaulay, M. A. Finn, Jas. H. Dooly, Geo. E. Holder, Thos. L. Coughlan, Geo. L. Barbour, Frederick A. Peters, William Rankine, Edward M. Slipp, William M. Barlow, W. Tremaine Gard, Frederick W. Daniel, Arthur W. MacMackin, Thomas Lunney, Richard O'Brien, William F. Leonard, Robert R. Patchell, William V. Barlow, Frank J. Bent, Alfred G. Blair, Edward Finnegan, William J. Dalton.

The petit jurors at this are: John B. Magee, Joseph B. Stubbs, Samuel L. Gorbell, Joseph A. Tilton, John R. Richards, Albert W. Vanwart, James A. Rogers, Charles Emerson, John Condon, Thomas C. Olive, Joseph W. Hasehurst, John Spence, J. Jackson Towne, Simon A. Jones, D. B. Nobles, H. N. Sharp, James A. Burns, Isaac H. Northrup, Robert B. Gilmour, Frederick Godard, E. H. Duval.

His honor in addressing the grand jury said: There was not much to come before them today. There may be some cases now in the police court that will come up later. The only case to consider today is that of Joseph Morris, charged with obtaining $25 from Arthur Van Tassel. It appears that the two were drinking together, and Van Tassel says that he felt Morris put his hand in Van Tassel's pocket and took out two ten and one five dollar bill. That is all that is before the grand jury at present, but you have also the privilege of examining the public institutions of the country. This is a duty which he felt that was neglected. If the grand jury had exercised their duty in that matter these institutions might have been better cared for. There was one example of that in an investigation which took place some time ago, and there is also another, the jail, which, if the reports that appear in the papers are correct, needs looking into. Either we have too many criminals or the jail is not a proper building. As there may be other cases come before the grand jury later on his honor said he could not discharge them at present. The grand jury then retired to hear the witnesses in the Morris-Van Tassel case.

The docket is:

- Jury Causes—New Docket.
1. Cormier v. Dom. Atlantic Ry Co.—C. N. Skinner, K. C.
 2. Galbraith v. McGillivray—D. Mullin, K. C.

In the case of the King v. Morris the jury brought in a true bill against the accused, and said, through their foreman, that of some matters on which they wished to make a presentment they had not at present sufficient information, and would make the presentment later.

The court adjourned till tomorrow at ten o'clock.
