

NO HOPE FOR 27 MEN ON SUBMARINE

Pluivose Sent to Bottom Of The English Channel By Collision With Steamer—Crew Entombed.

ATTEMPTS AT RESCUE ARE BEING MADE

Calais, France, May 26.—After fruitless efforts made to reach the 27 men entombed in the submarine Pluivose, which was sent to the bottom of the English Channel this afternoon by the cross-channel steamer Pas De Calais, hope has been practically given up of bringing them to the surface alive.

A powerful undercurrent balked the divers in their attempt this evening to reach the Pluivose and if the imprisoned men are not already dead, it is almost certain that the delay will prove fatal. The submarine lies in many fathoms of water and the divers were only able to descend to a short distance. Powerful dredges and machinery will arrive from Cherbourg in the morning when all efforts will be centred in a final attempt to reach the ill-fated craft and bring her to the surface.

PATTEN FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS

JAMES A. PATTEN.

Noted Manipulator Himself Caught in May Wheat Squeeze and His Losses are Estimated in the Vicinity of $1,000,000—Theodore Waterman Forces Prices Away Down and Wins Out.

Chicago, Ill., May 26.—The private settlement of Theodore H. Waterman's "squeeze" in May wheat today caused a remarkable decline in prices. The unloading of 8,000,000 bushels of September wheat by James A. and George H. Patten and the announcement of their withdrawal from the brokerage firm of which they have been members for a generation and also their retirement at least temporarily from business, came coincidentally.

RICHMOND CASE TO JURY TODAY

Woman On Trial For Murder Of P. E. Island Man At Cambridge, Mass., Will Know Her Fate In Few Hours.

Cambridge, Mass., May 26.—When the night session of the Richmond murder trial opened Fred L. Page, a boarder at the hotel, was put on the stand. He told of engaging a room at the hotel the Wednesday night before the murder paying $2 in advance. Later he heard that Mrs. Richmond was complaining that he had not paid enough and sought her in her room. She would not answer his knocking and he threatened to get an officer. Della Hannigan, who registered at the hotel with Page as his wife, then took the stand. She testified that Mrs. Richmond asked her to tell Page not to get an officer saying that she was in trouble. She showed her also a roll of bills. John Abner, Michael Hordan, Wilfred McWilliams and Fred L. Page were then asked in turn by the prosecuting attorney.

PREMIER OF ALBERTA HAS RESIGNED

Rutherford Goes Out And Chief Justice Sifton Leaves Seat To Take Place At Laurier's Request.

C. W. CROSS MAY NOT STAY IN THE CABINET

Special to The Standard. Edmonton, May 26.—Premier Rutherford resigned at eleven o'clock today. Chief Justice Sifton was immediately sworn in as first minister. It is understood that several of the present ministers will be retained. It is more of a question as to whether C. W. Cross will stay in the cabinet. The regulars and two insurgents, it is said, have asked that he be retained, but other insurgents feel very strongly against him, and for the sake of peace and unity, Mr. Sifton may not retain him. The whole arrangement is a compromise intended to establish unity in the party and it is said that it has been made at the request of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The delay in putting it through is over the difficulty of giving Cross a place. It is said that Mr. Sifton consented to resign his seat on the bench and accept the premiership at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's request.

Coleman, a $12 a week bookkeeper of the National City Bank at the trial of his friend and New York companion Wm. J. Kellher. "I told Kellher, after I had taken $185,000 that the jig was up and that the bank examiner was coming round, but when that official passed my books without comment I continued to take the money and give it to Kellher to bet at faro," was one of the statements made by Coleman today.

PRESENT FAWCETT MEMORIAL HALL

FAWCETT MEMORIAL HALL.

Mount Allison Closing Exercises Begin With Brilliant Function at Taking Over of Splendid New Building—Dr. Inch Makes Formal Presentation on Behalf of Donors—Fine Concert.

Special to The Standard. Sackville, N. B., May 26.—The celebration of Mount Allison closing week began this evening with the formal presentation of the Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall to the university and the presentation of the first of four concerts composing the grand musical festival which Dr. Borden is giving in connection with the closing. Dr. Inch, ex-superintendent of education of New Brunswick and one time president of the institution made the formal presentation and with him on the platform were the members of the University Faculty, Dr. Borden and Rev. Mr. Morton. After a brief introduction speech concerning his own connection with the institutions and with old Lingley Hall, the predecessor of the new hall, the chairman introduced Dr. Inch. Dr. Inch read the chairman that their memory went back to the days of small things when Mount Allison was not as large as it now was, which things however, had never been small to them. He could recall the days when Mr. Chas. F. Allison lived and moved among them. His mind went back to the days when Mr. Humphrey Pickard was first principal and first president of these institutions. His thought of Mr. Fawcett every time he visited the Mariner Wood, father of the chairman who had succeeded Charles F. Allison as treasurer and had been succeeded by his son, and mentioned other benefactors. Tonight another link had been added to the golden chain of the benefactors of Mount Allison. The fact that Charles Fawcett Hall had been erected on the residence of Charles F. Allison had linked the two benefactors together. Sackville owed Mr. Fawcett more than he was one of the captains of industry that had made Canada.

DR. ALLISON, President of Mount Allison

Dr. Allison, the Woods, the Blacks and the Fawcetts. He was glad that the children of his old friend did what they did, and he shared Dr. Inch's hope that this hall, so adapted to good use as it is, may remain to be of use to train up patriotic citizens.

The musical part of the programme was carried out entirely by local talent. The stirring Hallelujah chorus was wonderfully rendered by the Mount Allison conservatory choral class of over 100 voices, and orchestra of over 40 instruments. Two other numbers, Miriam's Song of Triumph and the Song of the Vikings, were especially well performed by the choral class and orchestra, and well received by the audience. There were six other numbers on the programme for all of which the audience showed their appreciation. The second concert, by the Boston Festival Orchestra Club, will be held tomorrow evening, and the other two of the series Saturday. That evening will be the reception in honor of the visitors at the ladies' college and on Sunday the baccalaureate and the theological sermons. University convocation is Tuesday evening and the business meeting of the board of regents Wednesday.

Special to The Standard. Toronto, May 26.—Hon. J. P. Mahoe, chairman of the Dominion railway commission, created a sensation at this sitting of the commission in connection with the express rate inquiry, by proposing an agreement which he said all employees of the Canadian Express Company were asked to sign waiving all claims for injury or death resulting from the negligence of the company and any of its employees. His lordship characterized the agreement as a "heathenish relic" and expressed the opinion which he said all employees of the Dominion Express Company's representatives in reply to an inquiry, admitted the company had a somewhat similar agreement.

TRADER STOPPED AT LONELY HOME OF FRANK CARR AND WAS SHOT IN FIGHT WHICH FOLLOWED.

Pittsfield, Mass., May 26.—Stopping at the house of Frank Carr, in the Black River district, of Stephentown, N. Y., just over the Massachusetts line, ten miles north of here, late today, Martin Casey, 60 years old, started a quarrel with Carr that ended, it is charged, in the latter shooting him dead. Carr, it is said, having fired in self defence. Casey, having aimed two pistol shots at him. Both participants are said to be horse traders. 40 COLLEGE ATHLETES AT ST. STEPHEN

Each Of The Three Institutions Sends Large Representations To The Annual Track Meet Today.

ACADIA CLAIMS A WELL-BALANCED TEAM

Special to The Standard. St. Stephen, May 26.—The town is full of young men tonight, lusty and clean appearing boys from the three big educational institutions, Acadia, Mount Allison and U. N. B., all intent upon making big records for their respective colleges in the track meet tomorrow. The three teams and their friends are quartered at the Windsor under Landlord Nicholson's good care. The Standard correspondent got in among them tonight and found each team in hopes for the morrow, but short on prophesies.

U. N. B. The U. N. B. has Dever and Binney in the sprints and 220 yards. Willis, Johnson and Eastman will be in the 440 yards, while Willis, Johnson and Brooks are the hardy men for the mile. Armstrong, Kuhnring and Spicer will do the hurdles. Deedes, Lank and Grimmer will show what can be done with the hammer, while Lank, Johnson and Deedes will put the shot. Kuhnring, Spicer and Dever will climb the heights in the pole vault. Brooks, Robinson and Teed in the broad. Brooks, Robinson and Spicer in the high will do the jump. They will have 14 good men for the road work, but the principal hopes are believed to centre in Binney in the sprints, Kuhnring at the pole vault, Brooks, Robinson and Spicer in the jumping contests.

Mt. Allison. Sackville has Ryan, Hayes and Smith in the sprints and Cochrane for the 440 yards and the latter will also be in the hammer throw and broad jump. Murray will be its representative in the high jump. Gardner and Patterson in the pole vault. Thompson, Norris and White will put the shot and the latter will carry with Milton and Dickinson, Pickup and White will negotiate the hurdles. The Sackville men were early to bed and the solitary reporter of the Standard man could find at half past ten would only say that Ryan stood a good chance in the sprints.

Acadia. Acadia has an all round team of twelve men that is regarded as fully up to the expectations. Roy and Atkins are strong men for the sprints, with Camp the champion of former years in excellent condition. Roy and Atkins are expected to show the other colleges what can really be done in getting across the mile track. Atkinson and Robinson are believed to be a strong team in the 440 yards contest. Page and Howe are their heavy men and are expected to show up well in the weight contests. Porter and Spurr look good for the hurdles and Howe and Donaldson are expected to make it real interesting for all competitors in climbing the air in the pole vault and high jump. Ray Porter and Spurr are Acadia's men for the broad jump and they are all expected to do something. Porter has "got the habit" of springing a surprise and is expected to maintain his record tomorrow. Pitch and Page are Acadia's men for the shot put and much is expected of both, but particularly of the latter. Acadia has a well-balanced team with at least one man in every event.

Such is the prognostication for Acadia given by an Acadia student who does not figure in its track team.

Weather a Factor. A successful meet tomorrow depends entirely upon the clerk of the weather but it must be acknowledged that his promises are none too good. Our local organization, the Thistle Athletic Association, have done their part thoroughly and if the sun will only shine upon them the meet will be a success whether Halley's comet favors them or not.

COUNTY COURT ADDJOURNMENT AT HALIFAX COST NOTHING

D. King Hazen Makes Effective Reply To Silly And Malicious Statements By The Times.

To the Editor of The Standard:
Sir—Shakespeare in a beautiful scene makes one of his characters say: "I can easier teach twenty what were good to be done than be one of the twenty to follow my own teaching." The words are applicable to the editor of the Times. He professes to teach men to be men, but judging from his political writings he fails to follow his own instructions. He earnestly to be hoped that his example of meanness will not be adopted by men who wish to make their lives something more than a living lie, or by those who desire strength enough to resist the temptation of being bought by the "spoils of office." His example can make for a better manhood only by antithesis.

In the Wednesday issue of the Times there appears an article, inserted undoubtedly with the knowledge of the editor, which shows to what meanness and falsifying he will go in order to teach men to be men in political matters. The article is full of malicious statements that can only be excused on the grounds of ignorance. But when ignorance suits best the objects of a man who would teach to be mean, or a newspaper that stands for "honesty in public life," it is of course, excusable.

It is charged in the article that "Attorney General Hazen has cost the municipality a needless expenditure of money on account of his absence from his duty of crown prosecutor for the county court at the opening of the May session. Continuing, it explains in a manner that would reflect upon the representatives of the Crown, that "the application of D. King Hazen, the son of the Attorney General, on behalf of his father" to have the business stand over, "was opposed by counsel for two of the prisoners," that such an application is seldom made "without disclosing the grounds," that the Attorney General was in Boston; and that Hon. H. F. McLeod, "solicitor general, and the next crown lawyer was not in court."

Had the editor of the Times been desirous of obtaining the facts he could without difficulty have found out that as the attorney general represents the King he is under no obligation to disclose reasons when he applies for a postponement; that there was nothing to be gained financially or otherwise, by Hon. H. F. McLeod attending; and that His Honor Judge Forbes, after hearing the objections of the counsel who opposed the postponement, stated that as no injustice would be done he would grant it.

Coming to the main charge however, how much does the municipality have to pay on account of "this needless expenditure of money" due to the attorney general's absence? Does it amount to even a very small fraction of the $46,583 that the Attorney General, who is now minister of public works, took from the treasury of this province in a period of six years? Does it amount to an infinitesimal part of the $34,533 that one of the owners of the Times obtained as a rake off on dredging operations?

No. This "needless expenditure of money" has cost the municipality $100,000, by the way, the clerk of the County Court, on the authority of the chairman of the finance committee of the municipality, absolutely nothing.

But after all, the editor of the Times is not concerned about protecting the treasury of the municipality, or about the government of the law. As long as he can circulate a falsehood that will in any degree be prejudicial to the local government, as long as he can cause a man to be savagely wharfed about classifications and dredging operations, he has performed his work, and like the packman's car, he is satisfied. He is tempted, something done, to gain a night's repose.

"What are you reading my lord?" asked old Polonius. "Words, words, words," was the blunt answer. Had the Prince of Denmark been reading the political matter in the Times he could have truly answered that words of four letters each that have different meanings and can never assist in "the moral advancement of our great Dominion."

Yours sincerely,
D. KING HAZEN.

Hampton, May 26.—The ordination and induction services in connection with the call of Mr. George Farquhar, M. A., to the ministry of the Hampton and Hammond River and Rothsay Presbyterian churches were held this evening at the church at Hampton Village in the presence of a large congregation. The arrangements made by the St. John Presbytery had to be considerably modified by reason of the absence of Revs. Gordon Dickie and A. A. Graham, on account of illness. The place of the former as moderator, was taken by the Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, and of the latter by the Rev. James Ross, superintendent of home missions. The Rev. Frank Baird of Sussex was also present in his capacity as clerk of the Presbytery. These, with the candidates, held a quiet meeting in a corner of the church previous to the service. A prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Anderson, the credentials of the candidate were examined and a programme laid out.

Order of Service.

The order of service was as follows: doxology by congregation, Scripture sentence and prayer by moderator, Psalm No. 13, Scripture readings, Ephesians IV; prayer by moderator; hymn No. 107; offertory; Hie Leadeth Me, by choir.

Steps of procedure in which the history of the congregation was set forth from its position as a home mission station to its present status of an augmented congregation was clearly set forth by the Rev. Frank Baird who also asked the questions to the candidate, followed by ordaining prayer by the moderator, with laying of hands and extending of the hand of fellowship and induction to the ministry. The charge to the minister was most comprehensive, searching and powerful address on the duties and position of the minister by Rev. F. Baird. Then came the singing of hymn No. 428 and an earnest appeal by the Rev. James Ross, as a welcome of the candidate to Presbytery congregation, hymn No. 461. Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. George Farquhar, M. A. At the close the new minister went to the door and was introduced to and shook hands with every one present.

"SOME MIGHTY BAD BOYS IN MONCTON"

Chief Rideout Has Poor Opinion of Youth in Railway Town—Brings Ernest Grey to Reformatory.

Chief of Police George Rideout of Moncton came to the city last night with the boy Ernest Grey, who was convicted of theft in Moncton and sentenced to a term of four years in the reformatory. Supt. McDonald met the chief at the train and took the boy to the reformatory after the necessary commitment papers had been procured from the mayor.

Chief Rideout says that Grey, who is ten years of age, is an incorrigible lad and if the reformatory can make anything out of him it will be a benefit to the community at large. The chief also remarked that this was the first case where a Moncton lad had been sent to the reformatory, and he added, "I have some mighty bad boys there too."

The Late Wm. P. Tole.

In order to dispose of the rumor that William P. Tole, whose death occurred mysteriously on Wednesday evening in Fairville, had died from contact with an electric wire, Coroner Macfarland yesterday instituted an inquiry which revealed that there was no foundation for the report. With Dr. J. H. Grey and Charles Clark, an electrician, the doctor visited the store where Mr. Tole died. They found the electric light cord broken, but Mr. Clark stated that death could not possibly have resulted from this source. It is believed that Mr. Tole was overcome by his fatal attack and in falling clutched at the electric light fixture, causing it to break as found.

Types of Immigrants Who Come to Canada from Southern Europe

Montreal, May 26.—During the spring and summer months the tide of immigration is at full flow, and every day between sunrise and sunset, hundreds of strangers are added to the population of Canada. "It is a sure sign that the future prospects of the country are very bright," said a custom officer who has not only watched immigration from this side, but has travelled to all countries that send immigrants here. When times are hard the tide turns the other way but the barometer says now that the prospects in Canada are excellent. For many of the immigrants have been carrying this message from telling folks in this country to their friends in other lands. The result today is that this great rush is made up of people who want to share in the coming prosperity.

The only trouble with these folks is that none of them plan to go onto farms. They all want to work in the cities. They are nearly all young folks, fine, healthy and full of hope.

WILL SAVE ONE MILLION

U. S. Treasury Department To Wash Germs From Silver Certificates And Not Destroy Them.

Washington, May 26.—The Treasury Department is going to wash the microbes from one dollar silver certificates so that they can be restored to circulation and not destroyed as at present. The scheme is a product of the brain of Assistant Secretary Norton. He submitted the idea of washing the paper money to Director Ralph of the bureau of engraving and printing and later to a committee consisting of C. S. Pearce, of the division of loans and coinage, chief secretary, and Brandon Smith, the department chemist.

The committee found that about 30 per cent of the paper money now destroyed can be saved by washing and put back into circulation after it is properly sterilized. Only silver certificates can be washed, because the ink in yellowbacks and national bank notes will not permit of such an operation.

The laundry machines will cost between $500 and $1,000 each and the government may save through their use about $1,000,000 a year. One machine will be installed at each Sub-Treasury.

JACK MUNRO MAKES OFFER

Ben Lomond, Cal., May 26.—An offer was received today from Jack Munroe to join the training forces at the camp of James J. Jeffries to assist in putting the former champion in shape for his fight with Jack Johnson.

Munroe is a Butte miner who, after an exhibition made with the champion in the Montana City, met Jeffries in San Francisco for the world's championship. Munroe was knocked out in the second round. The letter in which Munroe volunteers, was written in the miner's home on the Boulevard Islands, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia.

Munroe is so anxious to help that he agrees to pay his own railroad fare and expenses while in the Jeffries camp. Manager Sam Bergs acting for Jeffries, answered the letter, expressing thanks but gracefully declining Munroe's assistance.

Jeffries' morning jaunt on the road was the extent of his toll today. He had planned to box six rounds, but he did not awaken from his siesta until four o'clock. Then he announced that further exercise would be postponed until tomorrow.

Most of Jeffries' work will be in the morning tomorrow, so he can go to Ben Lomond on the afternoon train, for San Francisco.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Judge Gray, Senator Root and other appointed representatives of the United States sailed Saturday for The Hague where they will try to settle by arbitration a dispute that dates back to the early days of American independence. The issue is ably summarized in articles published at different times in the American Journal of International Law. An article in the January, 1907, number of that publication says that "the (Newfoundland) fisheries question is an perennial and inexhaustible as the fish which the skippers of Gloucester would fain catch off the shores of Newfoundland." Before the revolution the sealers on the western shore of the Atlantic enjoyed the right in common to fish wherever they saw fit along the coast. The fish were many, the fishery was comparatively few and there was more than abundance for all.

The change in political conditions in America and the establishment of boundary lines made the fisheries question a matter of international treaty. The treaty of September 3, 1783, imposed no restriction on the right of Americans to catch fish in Newfoundland or Canadian waters, but placed limitations on the right to land for the purposes of drying or curing the catch. This condition held until the war of 1812. The treaty of Ghent (December 24, 1814) left the fisheries question unsettled. In 1815 a British sloop was warned an American fisherman not to come within 60 miles of the Newfoundland coast. This was practically the beginning of an international dispute that has lasted for 95 years, at times temporarily adjusted by treaty or suspended by modus vivendi, and at times menacing seriously the relations between England and the United States.

Settled for Time.
The treaty of 1818 was intended and was supposed to define the fishery question, but it was not intended to open one question arose under it for 25 years. Then came the issue of the "three-mile limit." By the treaty of 1818 the United States renounced forever "any liberty heretofore enjoyed or claimed by the inhabitants thereof to take, dry, or cure fish on or within three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, creeks, or harbors of His Britannic Majesty's dominions in America" not included within certain declared limits. The pith of the controversy was the question whether the three-mile limit followed all the sinuosities of the coast of a general coast line irrespective of the width or depth of the various coast indentations. The diplomatic battle was dragged along until its suspension by the reciprocity treaty of 1854. That gave the American fishermen practically all that they claimed or desired. The denunciation of that treaty by the United States and its termination in 1866 brought the fisheries matter again into the arena of diplomatic contest. It was quieted for a few years by a system of colonial licenses to American fishermen, of which the Americans appear to have taken some unlawful advantages.

Home Missions Lead List.

The largest sum raised by the different Presbyteries was for home missions which varies in amount from $3,200 last year to $142,000 for the preceding year, the latest returns available representing the only decrease of the various schemes. Foreign mission takes second rank with about 125,000 raised.

The different reports indicate that the various departments of the work of the church for the year 1899, of the growing country and wherever the pioneer makes his way there a representative of the church is on hand to minister to his spiritual necessities. Services are held wherever it is possible to get even a few people together to listen to the Word. The mission reports are to be submitted from the well known mission fields in which the ministers of the church are ever at work.

Newspaper representatives were sent from all lands who are flocking to our shores to participate in the period of business and industrial expansion are invited to take special notice, and their religious wants attended to.

Executive of Exhibition Discuss New Feature for Big Fair—Apiary Exhibit Likely to be Arranged.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Exhibition Association, last evening, W. F. Burditt, chairman of the building and grounds committee, submitted his report. This report dealt in detail with the progress being made upon the various new structures and the demolition of the old grandstand. It was mentioned with much satisfaction that the city had already levelled off the area in the rear of the new grandstand, making a fine boulevard, which is being speeded for a growth of grass. The report also dealt with the improvements to be made in machinery hall, added power, greater facility for exhibitors and changes in the plant.

The matter of an apiary exhibit was also left with the manager. If such an exhibit is finally arranged it will be educational and entertaining, demonstrating the making of honey by thousands of bees. Lectures may be arranged, to be given by a competent apiary manager.

Board of Management of Old Ladies' Home Held Annual Meeting Yesterday—26 Now in Institution.

The annual meeting of the Board of Management of the Old Ladies' Home was held yesterday afternoon. In the absence of W. S. Fisher the president, E. P. Starr occupied the chair. All the officers were re-elected and Mrs. Walter Allison chosen to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mrs. A. L. Palmer last year. E. R. Armstrong, the secretary, reported that during the year two inmates had died and one had left the home. Three ladies were admitted to fill the vacancies. The inmates numbered 25. It was reported that the expenses of the institution were $800 greater than during the previous year. This was attributed to the increased cost of living. The matron, Miss Bowman, was granted three months leave of absence.

NOT USURPING POWERS VESTED IN COUNCIL

Addition of Members of Board of Trade to Water Board Not Regarded as Dangerous Precedent—Interviews.

Speaking of an editorial in the Globe of last evening, censuring the Common Council for transferring to the Board of Trade, an irresponsible body, a share in civic management to which it was not entitled, Mayor Frink said last evening that as a matter of principle the position taken by the Globe was probably correct; but he did not think there was any good reason for anybody to worry over the possibility of the Board of Trade usurping the power vested in the Common Council.

A Board of Trade Opinion.

A prominent member of the executive of the board of trade when seen by the Standard, expressed the opinion that the Globe's censure was rather uncalled for. The board of trade, he said, had no intention of trying to usurp any civic powers. Its members were naturally taking a great interest in all matters relating to the water supply of the city and there were very good reasons why the water and sewerage board should listen to any representations of the mercantile interests of the city desired to make through the delegation appointed to attend the meetings at city hall. On some occasions the board of trade and sewerage board had not satisfied the underwriters and the mercantile interests had to pay the piper. In asking that two representatives of the business interests of the city should be permitted to attend the meetings of the civic board, and keep in touch with the board of trade, the water and sewerage board had led to complaint in the past would be removed.

SPORT HERE AND THERE Ketchel Taking Off Weight for Bout With Lewis--Jeff to Box in Public--Harness Racing in Danger. Stanley Ketchel and Willie Lewis, who will box ten rounds at the National Sporting Club, New York, to night, put in some vigorous work yesterday. As the condition of the match call for 158 pounds ringside, Ketchel will have to reduce materially to get under that limit. Lewis on the other hand is strictly a welterweight and will enter the ring scaling at about 146 pounds. Lewis really thinks he has a chance with Ketchel because of his superior cleverness and says he is not afraid of the latter's rushing and slugging tactics. He thinks he can punch hard enough himself to stop Ketchel if the latter boxes in as usual, with practically no defence. Tom O'Rourke will referee this affair.

CHAS. T. McLAUGHLIN ADMITS HIS GUILT

Boy of Sixteen Arrested Yesterday for Brutal Assaults on Young Children—Previous Police Record.

With the arrest yesterday by Deputy P. W. Jenkins and Detective P. Killen of Chas. T. McLaughlin, a 16 year old boy, the police have solved the mystery of a series of brutal atrocities committed against young children for the past month, and removed a weight of anxiety from the minds of many parents, who were beginning to fear for the safety and lives of their little ones.

Young McLaughlin's case is one of the most remarkable in the police annals of this city in recent years. His assaults upon young children were of such a cruel nature, as to be almost beyond belief, and bordered upon barbarity. The speedy manner in which McLaughlin was arrested undoubtedly prevented additional brutal actions and reflects great credit upon the officers in charge of the case who although continually upon the lookout for evidence by which they could lay hands upon the culprit, had scarcely a clue to work upon.

CHARLES T. McLAUGHLIN.

It was on Wednesday night after having explored several clues and theories that suspicion fell upon McLaughlin. Securing sufficient evidence to justify their belief in his guilt, Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen captured the boy in his mother's hallway on Brussels street shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday. He took his arrest quite unconcerned and was taken to central police station. Upon arriving at the station McLaughlin's pockets were searched and the suspicions of the officers were further strengthened upon removing a 32 calibre revolver with every chamber loaded, as well as a large knife. A bunch of keys and something over $2 in cash were also found in his possession.

Asked by the officers where he procured the gun, he replied that he had purchased it from a drunken sailor, for the sum of 15 cents. The deputy chief, and Detective Killen then left the station to bring the victims of the youthful prisoner before him that they might identify him.

Stuart Dryden, father of Hance Dryden, who was unmercifully beaten on the afternoon of May 23, brought the youngster, who is still very weak, to the station, as well as Larry Kaplan and little Beattie Patterson, also of City Road. Deputy Jenkins brought with him James Ingraham, 55 City road, and Detective Killen brought James Donovan from St. Malachi's school.

Face to Face. Face to face with the prisoner, the children drew back in terror, but assured the officers that McLaughlin was the boy who had assaulted and beat them. So terrified was the little girl at the sight of the boy that she burst into tears.

The prisoner was perfectly cool, and did not make any statement. The youngsters were then removed to their homes and McLaughlin placed in a cell.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock he was arraigned before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court. The different charges were read over to him, and when asked if he was guilty he replied in the affirmative. He was then remanded to jail.

CHAMPLAIN'S STATUE ON VIEW YESTERDAY

Fine Work by Hamilton McCarthy Placed on Pedestal in Queen Square—Some Points to be Noted.

A distinguished looking foreigner, with the heavy boots, long sword, plumed hat, flowing locks, and hanging cloak of a cavalier, his right hand pointing to the west, and his left clutching a crumpled chart, was hung in chains on Queen's Square yesterday afternoon, and then set upon a pedestal.

A great man certainly was Samuel Champlain, if he lived up to Hamilton McCarthy's conception of him—a more impressive figure of a man than his DeMontois enthroned upon a pedestal at old Port Royal. McCarthy's DeMontois looks the part—that of a gentleman adventurer. The bold forward face has the touch of hauteur of the man accustomed to both courts and camps, the look of reckless audacity that characterized the cavalier of his time.

The Champlain who revisits St. John is a different type of man from DeMontois, though the features are much the same. Champlain's visage is stark and stern, with the grim intense expression of man obsessed with some great and onerous mission—a face so full of power and purpose that the plumed hat, flowing locks, and gorgeous robes with which the sculptor has decked him, seem an impertinence. And withal that stark, stern face has the aloof and lofty look of the dreamer—the man who saw visions of a new and better France growing up in the new world.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR LOGS COMING OUT

John Kilburn Thinks Slight Rise in Water Will be Sufficient—Where Logs are Situated—The Owners.

John Kilburn the Fredericton lumber man who was in the city yesterday left last evening for Quebec on business. In spite of the fact that 40,000,000 feet of logs are practically hung up in the rivers and streams of the province for want of water to bring them out, Mr. Kilburn is disposed to be optimistic. Most of the logs are very near safety, he said, and a very little rain will suffice to bring them out all.

Asked as to an estimate of the logs hung up, Mr. Kilburn said that about 12,000,000 owned by Messrs. Cushing, Morrison, himself and others are at Black River Rapids and are in such a position that a little rise in the water will bring them out. At Little Black River there are about 6,000,000 and on the Alleghash is the Cunniff drive of 15,000,000. A large quantity of logs are also hung up on the St. Francis river.

PROMPTLY ARRESTED ON RETURN TO CITY

C. McCracken and W. Livingstone, Charged With Stealing Ernest Williams' Team on April 2, Nabbed by Police.

C. McCracken and W. Livingstone who disappeared from the North End on April 2 with a horse and calves belonging to Ernest Williams, 20 Sheriff street and who had not been heard of since, were rounded up by the North End police yesterday afternoon.

The men were employed on the afternoon of April 2nd hauling ashes with Mr. Williams' team, when they suddenly disappeared taking the team with them. Some days later the police discovered that the men had disposed of the horse and calves from Mr. Williams' property was returned and a warrant sworn out for their arrest.

No trace of them could be found until yesterday afternoon when Sergt. Kitpatrick discovered that they had returned to the city. A sharp lookout was kept and about 3 o'clock the sergeant and Officer Crawford arrested Livingstone on Mill street. In the meantime Officer Corbett espied McCracken in the vicinity of Elm street and took him into custody. Both men are charged with theft.
