

GOVT RECEPTION PLANNED FOR 26TH BATTALION

All Other New Brunswick Units Will be Given Special Recognition on That Day.

Fredericton, April 11.—In the Assembly today Mr. Potts drew the attention of the house to the fact that New Brunswick would soon be coming to her shores a corps which had made the name of the Province famous.

He referred to the 26th Batt. For generations to come people would speak of what the Noble 26th had done for the Empire and at the same time, for Canada and the B. H. He thought it would be fitting on the part of the Government to make arrangements to welcome this unit on its arrival. It had been a long while before the opportunity presented itself again. It would be a grave oversight if the Provincial Government did not take official part in the reception which would be extended to this battalion.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that he had been aware that the 26th N. B. Batt. was expected to return to the province in the near future, and that arrangements were being made for a civil reception on the part of the city of St. John. He already had brought the matter to the attention of the Government, and had referred to the necessity of a reception on the part of the Province.

What form that recognition would take he did not yet know, but within a few days a conclusion would be reached.

Mr. Tilley pointed out that a considerable number of battalions, and other units had been raised in the Province of New Brunswick, and that every man who had fought deserved equal recognition. He would suggest that battalion colors of all units raised in the Province should be given a permanent place of honor in the Legislative Hall.

Hon. Mr. Veitot, said that while the Hon. Mr. Premier was arranging a reception for the 26th Battalion, he might receive a unit which had been raised in the Province, because this was the only one which had gone and was returning as a unit. There had been several other battalions raised, all of which were known to the house and the public. On their arrival on the other side they had broken up; but their members had rendered magnificent service. He had been informed, and he believed correctly, that the 26th New Brunswick Battalion was returning with out twenty-eight of its original members in its ranks.

The other men in the battalion had transferred from other New Brunswick units which had done as much as any. He believed that the welcome should be in the name of all these battalions.

Mr. Murray (Kings), said, he congratulated the remarks just made, and believed that other units should be recognized in the government's reception to the 26th. The latter battalion had a noble record, but there had been many thousands of New Brunswick soldiers not connected with it. They had fought in battalions, belonging to Quebec, Ontario and other Provinces, but their services in other units had not been just as great as if they had fought in the 26th. By the remarks, however, he intended in no way to detract from the splendid record of the 26th, the number of which were deserving of every recognition.

The House rose at six o'clock in resumption at 8:30 p. m.

LABOR UNIONS MAKE LARGE INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP

Annual Report of the Dept. of Labor Shows an Increased Enrollment of 44,257 for the Year.

Ottawa, April 11.—Figures which are being prepared in the Department of Labor for the eighth annual report on labor organization in Canada, covering the year 1918, show a considerable increase in trade union membership in Canada. At the close of 1917 the membership stood at 245,436, comprised in 1,974 local branches. The increase in 1918 was 44,257, bringing the reported membership to 289,693, comprised in 2,374 branch unions, an increase of 306.

Of the total trade union membership in the Dominion, 201,423 are connected with 1,537 local branches of international organization, an increase of 36,538 members and 195 branches for the year; 37,928 are affiliated with 333 branches of non-international bodies, an increase of 5,505 members and 88 branches, and 9,527 are members of independent unions, a gain of 2,134 members over the year 1917.

GERMAN-AUSTRIA UNDER INFLUENCE MUNICH SOVIETS

Workers Drive Managers Out of Smelting Plants Because They Refused to Grant Increased Wages.

Vienna, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—German-Austria is under the influence of Soviet governments at Munich and Budapest. At Donavitz, ten thousand workers in the iron smelting plants have driven out the managers because the latter have refused to grant increased wages.

The coal miners there are reported to have considered similar action, and there is prospect that the employees of the iron mines will take over control of the properties and elect their own managers.

"TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET—AHI

"Tiz" is grand for aching, swollen, tender, calloused feet or corns.

"Tiz" makes my feet smile."

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, aching, tender, weary feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "Tiz". "Tiz" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which afflict and inflame the feet, draws your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "Tiz". Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it!

OBITUARY

James W. Morrison.

Friends will be sorry to learn of the death of James W. Morrison, architect and real estate dealer, which occurred yesterday morning in the St. John Infirmary following sickness of the last seven months. Mr. Morrison was fifty-eight years old, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James R. Morrison. He is survived by three sisters—Mrs. Mary A. Currie and Mrs. H. B. Duke of St. John and Mrs. J. J. Ahearne of Roxbury, Mass.

William Francis Cleary.

The many friends of William Francis Cleary will be shocked to hear of his death, which took place at an early hour yesterday morning. He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cleary of 317 Main street, and was one of the most popular young men of the North End. He was a member of St. Peter's M. A., and was very active in his work. Mr. Cleary joined the 7th Canadian Garrison Regiment some time ago and last fall contracted a cold from which he was unable to recover. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Harold and Cyril, and one sister, Julia, all of whom will attend the funeral which will be held at the funeral home on Monday morning.

C. V. Gregory.

Word has recently been received in the city of the death in Winnipeg of Cyrus Young Gregory, a former resident of this city. He is survived by his wife, one son, Samuel Gregory of Kent County, one daughter, Mrs. Hazel Johnson of Bangor; one brother, P. C. Gregory of this city, and three sisters, Miss Laura Gregory of this city, Mrs. Marina Moore of California, and Mrs. Mary Watson of St. Stephen.

Mrs. J. H. Shaw.

Chatham Gazette, Wednesday. Word was received here yesterday of the sudden death of Mrs. J. H. Shaw at her home in Pleasant street, N. S., from influenza. Mrs. Shaw was formerly Miss Jessie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. McDonald. The deceased was 32 years of age and is survived by her husband and two young children. Besides these she is survived by her parents who now reside in Brookline, Mass., and two sisters, Bessie, who is training in a hospital in Boston, and Frances, at home. The late Mrs. Shaw was a singer of prominence, possessing a most sweet and melodious mezzo soprano voice, and during her earlier life here Miramichi had frequently been charmed with her vocal selections.

Mrs. John Flemming.

Port Eglis, April 7.—Many friends will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. John Flemming. She passed away at her home April 5, after a lingering illness. She leaves her husband and one daughter, Bernetta, at home, two sons, Roland, who is in Belgium, and Thomas, in South America; also one sister, Rebecca Allen, of Port Eglis, and one brother, George Allen, of Bayfield.

JUDGMENT NEXT THURSDAY.

Judgment in regard to the legality of the recall election will be given by the Appeal Court at Fredericton on April 17th.

EXPECTED HOME SOON.

Word has been received from Miss Eileen Coughlan, one of the St. John Y. A. D.'s, in London, that she expected soon to be home.

SOVIET COUNCILS ELECTED WITHOUT ANY DISTURBANCES

The Whole Process in Hungary Carried Out Under Coercion of the Red Army.

Budapest, April 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The elections in Hungary for the creation of Soviet councils passed off without reported incidents, Soviet organizations being formed in the country district by the means of this balloting.

The whole process was carried out under the coercion of the red army, with the majority of the voters in many places not appearing to know why they were voting.

Despite desperate earnestness of the communists, outsiders now in Hungary are still inclined to take the economic view of the experiment, which they feel will not develop into a lasting success, although whether conditions will become worse before they grow better is a debate to question.

ROTHESAY.

The Reading Club met this week with Mrs. W. J. Davidson, the leader being Mrs. John Davidson. The next meeting to be held after Easter, will be with Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Hibbard. The subject will be "Count Guido" from "The Ring and the Book," and the leader Miss Pitcher.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harvey P. Hayward of St. John were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leonard.

Major Walter A. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison, who have been at Ottawa and Toronto, during the past two weeks, are leaving Toronto today, Thursday, to visit Major Harrison's brother, Mr. Bortram Harrison, New York, and may be in Rothesay at the next week-end.

Among those who attended the reception given Miss Agnes Warner in St. John last Friday by the Royal Standard L. O. D. E., were Mrs. W. S. Allison, regent of the Duke of Rothesay Chapter, I. O. D. E., and members of the executive.

ADMINISTRATION BOARD TO HAVE FIVE MEMBERS

Act Respecting Vocational Training Provides Composition of Governing Board Who Shall Serve Without Pay.

Fredericton, April 10.—The new act respecting vocational education provides that the board of administration shall consist of the chief superintendent of education, the principal of the Normal School, the secretary for agriculture, the director of elementary agricultural education and five others, of whom one shall be a representative of farming, one of manufacturing, one of labor, and one of commerce.

No remuneration will be paid members of the board, but they will be reimbursed for expenses. The bill gradually permits towns and municipalities to establish separately, or in cooperation, vocational schools at their own expense. The government does not propose to grant any help on its own account, but it empowers its own board to appoint and fix the salaries of the officials necessary to administer the act.

The bill was reported, and ordered read a third time tomorrow.

MUNICH MANDATORIES HAVE BEEN DISPERSED BY THE COMMUNISTS

Revolutionary Movement in Bavaria Has Spread to Baden and Agitators Are in Karlsruhe.

Copenhagen, April 10.—The council of people's mandates which has been in control at Munich has been dispersed by the communists, who have formed a communist government there, according to a Nuremberg newspaper.

The council of people's mandates which has been in control at Munich has been dispersed by the communists, who have formed a communist government there, according to a Nuremberg newspaper.

Agitators are said to be attempting to start a revolution and to proclaim a Soviet republic in Baden. They would also unite Baden with the Bavarian Soviet Government.

PROHIB. ADVOCATES MORE CHEERFUL

Leading Temperance People in Quebec Believe They Secured a Substantial Victory in Thursday's Referendum.

Montreal, April 11.—With a large number of distant points in the province to be heard from the "wet" majority registered in the referendum yesterday in favor of light wines, elder and beer jumped to 110,000 this morning, and was expected to go higher.

The temperance element, which was inclined to be very downcast last night at the landslide, was this morning reported to be more cheerful. While the bone dry prohibition aimed at has not been achieved, leading temperance advocates here point out that a substantial victory has nevertheless been secured, because the people yesterday showed unmistakably, they say, that they want "bad stuff" done away with.

STEVEDORES AND POLICE CLASH AT BUENOS AIRES

Two Stevedores Killed—Riot Followed Landing by Stevedores of Insane Hindu.

Buenos Aires, April 11.—Two stevedores were killed in a clash with the police here yesterday. The riot followed the landing by a party of stevedores of an insane Hindu whom they had found on board a British ship in the harbor. Believing the Hindu was a maniac who was undergoing punishment on board the ship, the stevedores wrecked the vessel's brig, took the man out and escorted him to shore, when they were intercepted by police.

To Absorb Freckles And Other Blemishes

Every spring numerous inquiries are made by girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Very favorable reports have been received from many who have used mercolized wax during the freckling season. This wax seems to possess unusual properties which completely absorb the freckles, with no harmful effect whatever. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted. Get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at any druggist's, spread a thin layer of it over the entire face every night for a while, washing this off in the morning. For rough, spotty skin, sallowness, black heads, pimples and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any other.

CONVOY SYSTEM TURNED TABLES ON THE GERMAN PLANS

Overcame the German Submarine Menace and Figured Tremendously in Winning the War, Declares Rear-Admiral Sims on His Arrival in New York Monday.

New York, April 11.—The convoy system, which many navy men had termed impracticable, overcame the German submarine menace and figured tremendously in the winning of the war, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, commander-in-chief of the American navy's forces in European waters, declared today on his arrival here aboard the British liner Mauretania.

Depth charges and listening devices, he said, contributed materially to success in maintaining practically unbroken the trans-Atlantic "bridge" of transports and supply ships essential to the allied victory, as did the "magnificent work" of the merchant seamen, who "took their cargoes across a convoy or no convoy." But it was the navy that made the difference, he said in detail in the combined fleets of the allied powers, the officer asserted, which made possible transport-

ALLIES OUTNUMBERED ENEMY TWO TO ONE AT THE FINISH

When Germans Gave up the Central Powers Had Reduced Their Total Force to Fifteen Per Cent. of Strength.

Washington, April 11.—The Central Powers faced odds of greater than two to one in mobilized troops when Germany gave up the fight last November. The estimated aggregate strength of the enemy powers at that time, according to official estimates made public today by General March, chief of staff, was 7,830,000. The indicated aggregate allied strength on the date was more than 16,700,000.

This situation is disclosed in the figures received by the war department from France giving the present status of the belligerent armies. They show that the Central Powers on March 1 had under arms 1,125,000 men while the allied forces aggregated 12,366,000.

Following is General March's statement: "We have received from France some rather interesting figures about the demobilization of the Central Powers and the demobilization of the entire allied forces to include February. The demobilization has been going on, of course, since then, but the figures show what has been happening over there. The Central Powers' figures are:

Germany	4,500,000	820,000
Turkey	400,000	70,000
Austria	2,230,000	106,000

"The total force of the Central Powers on November 11 was estimated at 7,830,000. This had been reduced to include to February, to 1,125,000, or to fifteen per cent. of their strength. On the same day on which this report was made the strength of the allied forces was 13,366,000 or seventy-five per cent. of the strength which they had on November 11."

Turning to demobilization of the American army, General March said that the second anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the world war found the restoration of American manhood to civil life more than 40 per cent. complete. On returns up to April 1 the army had been reduced to an aggregate strength of 2,956,718. For that force, Gen. March has set a mark of 310,000 discharges per month toward which progress is being made. Actual discharges up to and including April 5, aggregated 1,624,171 officers and men.

"Every state in the Union," General March said, "is now welcoming its returning sons—the finest types of American manhood, clean and virile and deserving the thanks of the American people."

A Mother's Tribute

THIS letter from Mrs. Roberts gives such a fine idea of the value of Dr. Chase's medicines for use in the home that we shall publish it without further comment.

Mrs. Everett Roberts, 44 Endicott Ave., Halifax, N.S., writes:

"I feel it a pleasure as well as my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Ointment. After the shock of the Halifax explosion my system was all run down, and I was so weak that I could not walk. Night after night I lay awake unable to sleep. Nothing did me any good until one of my neighbors recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After a treatment of this medicine I can positively say that my health and strength have been restored, and I can now sleep well and do my work as well as ever.

"I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for my baby, who had ringworms all over his face. I tried almost everything I knew of without success until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This cured him in a short time. I would not be without either of these medicines in the house, and trust this may induce others to give them a trial and be convinced of their merits."

You can scarcely ask for a stronger guarantee of the value of a medicine than the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box. This is for your protection against imitations and substitutes. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

WILSON LONE HAND BLAMED FOR STR AGAINST LEAGUE

The "Morning Post" of London, has received from an independent journalist in America what it describes as a "frank statement of public feeling in the United States concerning President Wilson and his ways." It publishes the statement as follows:

"The trouble with the President is not that he is an idealist, but that he is a dogmatist. With all his talk about moral forces, he remains a very practical politician. He is the most partisan President America has had since Andrew Jackson. He has constantly discriminated against New England, New York and Pennsylvania in favor of the South and the Democratic sections of the West.

"Nor has he been willing to take the advice even of the leaders of his own party, but has tripped and upon a few subservient adherents in both houses of Congress to carry his measures through, much as George III depended upon those who were called 'the King's friends.' He has treated the members of his cabinet like clerks, giving them complete charge of the routine of the departments but seldom taking their advice. His attitude, in short, has been that of the schoolmaster.

"During his first administration he was able by this use of his personal influence, to secure some desirable legislation. His popularity in Washington was not great, but his skill in public speech won for him a large following among the people. Americans, despite their democratic ideas, have always admired the 'strong man' been willing to trust him. But in time of war the personal and partisan element may be a danger."

In spite of the apparent potency of the phrase 'He has kept us out of war,' so constantly reiterated during the election, it is fair to say that the country as a whole was far more ready than the President, though its military unreadiness was undeniable, to join the Allies. He prevented the preparation for an event clearly foreseen, on the ground that Germany would have a legitimate cause of complaint if we appeared to threaten her. Voices were raised in warning. Roosevelt, Lodge, Leonard, Wood, all spoke out bravely, and thereby earned the President's undying enmity.

"The pettiness which kept our most distinguished army officer at home all through the war because he had advocated preparedness at a time when the President opposed it reveals the weak side of Mr. Wilson's character. His refusal to allow Mr. Roosevelt to go to France was another example of the same unamiable quality.

"The truth is that the President has an exaggerated belief in the power of mere words. As a friend of mine once said, his attitude is that of the man of letters who writes something and thinks, 'Now that is over with.' He protested against Germany's illegal and inhumane acts, he warned her not to repeat them, but he took no steps to make the repetition impossible.

"If he had called the nation to arms when the Lusitania was sunk the response would have been immediate and enthusiastic. At such a time the people need a leader. Who doubts how they would have answered Theodore Roosevelt? Even without a leader the rising tide of anger grew slowly but relentlessly.

"The President was pushed into war; he did not set the pace. Up to the last minute he employed every possible expedient to stave it off. Nor was this all. After war was actually declared time was wasted in futile delays. It was not until England and France had urged the sending of the troops that troops began to be sent.

Fortunately, our navy was ready—no thanks to the Secretary. But the War Department was in the hands of a pacifist. At a critical period it had, as Senator Chamberlain said, 'ceased to function.' No one can say what the cost in blood and treasure was.

CANADIAN RED CROSS PLAYING IMPORTANT PART IN SIBERIA

They Have Already Shipped a Large Amount of Supplies Into the Interior to Combat the Typhus Plague Raging There—The Field for Work is Practically Unlimited.

By W. E. Playfair,
Official Correspondent With the Canadian Forces in Siberia.
Canadian Base Headquarters, Vladivostok, Siberia, April 11.—The Canadian Red Cross is playing an important role in combating the typhus plague in Siberia. Already large quantities of hospital supplies have been shipped into the interior for use in typhus hospitals, and every demand for assistance is promptly attended to. The field for work in this direction is practically unlimited, according to Col. John Dennis, C.M.G., Red Cross Commissioner.

It is somewhat surprising that the typhus epidemic is taking so coolly here, and this probably due to the fact that the Allied forces have not as yet suffered from the plague. In Vladivostok itself there are hundreds of cases of spotted typhus among the Rumanians, and every day or so several cases are found in the railway station, which is packed with refugees, who eat, sleep and have their being in the building. An effort was made by the British and Canadian Red Cross organizations, acting jointly to establish a hospital here for the treatment of the disease, but the Russian authorities decided that they would prefer to attend to the matter themselves, and the project was abandoned. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the Canadian troops against infection from the typhus-bearing rodents, and street cars, and crowded places have been banned.

A typical appeal for help was that sent to the British consul here by the vice-consul at Irkutsk, and passed to the Canadian Red Cross Commissioner for action. It read as follows:
"I beg to enclose list of drugs, etc., which has been handed to me by the civil representative of the government, residing in Irkutsk, and which are badly wanted by spotted typhus patients in the various prison infirmaries in the town."
"There are 690 patients suffering from typhus in the prisons alone. Most of them are Red Guards and in spite of the linen recently received (from Canadian Red Cross) for which the Government representative asks me to convey his heartfelt thanks to that organization, I wish to add my support to the appeal now made by the authorities here for more linen to be sent through as quickly as possible. There are several cases where prisoners have not had any clean underwear, etc., since last May and their condition is pitiable in the extreme. It is extraordinary that the epidemic is not more serious than it is, and preventive measures should be taken at once to cope with the disease.
There are no drugs or linen in the town and I sincerely trust the Canadian Red Cross will give the matter its very serious consideration if only for the sake of humanity.
As soon as this message was received a carload of goods was shipped to Irkutsk to relieve the more pressing need, and further shipments are in course of preparation. But this is only one appeal of many.
The Canadian Red Cross is also well represented on the Allied relief train which left a couple of weeks ago in charge of Capt. F. A. Deltyn, Toronto, hydrologist of the C. E. F. (Siberia). The purpose of this train is to cope with all infectious diseases and full supplies of inoculating serum were taken as well as delousing apparatus for the checking of typhus. Many of the supplies were given by the Red Cross.

A Hot Spot Chalmers Knows Neither Altitude Nor Weather

ANYONE who has motored much knows how a change of altitude—even of 600 feet—affects the average car. And when the weather changes, even if you never leave your home town, what a terrible affair it is to get your motor "running right."

A Hot Spot Chalmers knows neither altitude nor weather. For the Hot Spot device is proof against both.

No matter what the day, no matter where you are on the map, the Hot Spot carburizes the gas into a "dry" vapor from which all the power is wrung with amazing ease.

It is throbless, frictionless power, and on a cold day the engine runs warm in an instant or on a hot day runs cold consistently.

For "pulverizing" gas nothing yet has equalled the Chalmers Hot Spot and for racing it into the cylinders (a trick that is highly important), nothing has ever been made to approach the Ram's-Horn.

Either one of these two magnificent devices are worth an hour of any man's time. Both of them provide you a mental feast on modern engineering that you'll long remember.

Come see them. They've made the Chalmers one of the few great cars of the world.

Mothers' Advice

The responsibility for a daughter's future largely rests with the mother. The right influence and the information which is of vital interest to the daughter imparted at the proper time has not only saved the life but insured the success of many a beautiful girl. When a girl's thoughts become sluggish with headaches, dizziness, or a disposition to sleep, pains in her back or lower limbs and a desire for solitude, her mother should come to her aid and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities. Thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of this medicine, and what it has done for their daughters.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sticky and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from backache and dizziness and was without appetite. For 3 months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching so I did not know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. MILLIONS OF BRITISH ARMY SHOES SEEK FEET OF CIVILIANS

Government to Distribute Excess Military Footwear for Use of Farmers and for Outdoor Workers.

Millions of pairs of military footwear are looking for jobs in England on account of the unexpected termination of the war. Fortunately, the jobs are there, and it appears the British government is losing no time in bringing shoes and jobs together. We read in "The Manchester Guardian":

"It is a well known military maxim that an army which is improperly shod at once loses more than 50 per cent of its fighting efficiency, however well it may be equipped otherwise. It has been British policy throughout the war to keep her fighting men thoroughly and comfortably equipped with good footwear. As a result millions of pairs of used boots have been declared surplus by the army authorities and handed over to the Disposal Board, of which F. G. Kellaway, M.P., is chairman. The policy that is being adopted with regard to these surplus boots is as follows:
"In the first place they are collected at depots in London, Manchester, Southampton, Leeds, Huntingdon, Aldershot, Strling, Dublin and Belfast. At these points they are carefully examined by experts and many that may seem suitable for further military wear are immediately returned to the army. The remainder are carefully sorted into five grades, ranging from grade 1 boots—which have been discoloured through some slight technical fault, and which are otherwise perfectly sound and serviceable for heavy agricultural or industrial wear—down to grade 5, which consists of the residue of practically worthless boots. In some cases the uppers of grade 5s are being used for the manufacture of clops.
"The boots, having been graded, are offered for public auction in towns throughout the country in small lots of twenty-five pairs, thus enabling the humblest retailer to secure a supply for his customers.
"The Disposal Board is already in touch with agricultural societies who require supplies of boots for their members, and in particular it will welcome applications from organizations of farmers, allotment holders and discharged service men, who will be given every facility for making purchases.
"It is interesting to note that of the thousands of tons of boots that are becoming available, some may be sold for the use of the large refugee population in Belgium provided of course, that the requirements of our own home markets have been fully satisfied."

FRENCH SPIRIT BEAT TEUTON AT THE MARNE, VON KLUCK'S DEFENCE

"How did you lose the battle of the Marne?" This point-blank question was recently put to General von Kluck in a Berlin drawing room. The somewhat old general, who the Paris "Matin," smilingly consented to give his version of this old story, as he called it.
"I lost perhaps," he said, "because I was not able to follow my own ideas. Contrary to what has been said, I was not the author of the plan of campaign called the march on Paris. I never thought the fall of that town would force France to capitulate. But I was overruled, and, besides, a German flag containing 400 square yards of bunting had been prepared which it was intended to hoist on the Eiffel Tower. At one moment all seemed going well, and the Kaiser was in raptures. As for me, I was quite surprised.
"After Charleroi I expected a stubborn resistance, but I learnt hourly that the French armies were falling back in disorder. The entry into Paris was fixed for September 2. But August 31 we found that this army which had been all topsy-turvy had suddenly changed in appearance in a few hours—infantry, gunners and sappers all having got back into their right tactical places. To push on in the face of this surprise was folly, and in spite of pressing advice, not to say orders, I had to give up the idea."
The reason above all others of his defeat was "the special aptitude of the French soldier for rapidly pulling himself together. That men who had retreated for ten days and were lying on the ground half dead with fatigue should at a bugle call set to their rifles and attack was a thing on which we had never counted. We made a mistake, and it was not the only one. Perhaps we were too knowing."

For Every Paint Need Inside and Out

Nothing is more certain to improve the appearance of the home interior than well-painted rooms. And as for outside painting, not only does it beautify but it protects as well.

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT

Maxwell

—a car of rare charm and—able

YOUR first impression of this present day Maxwell as it passes you on the street is one of decided beauty. Your first ride in it, whether at the wheel or in the tonneau, tells you of its rare charm.

But after six months you find a new admiration for the Maxwell. You find it shuns the repair shop, that it runs and runs and never stops running.

Then after a year is past you develop an enthusiasm for it that dictionary words don't seem to fully describe.

And then after you have had it for more than the average life of a motor car and you find it far better than even the Maxwell salesman said it was you search for the reason.

This is what you find:

For 5 years Maxwell cars have been built on the single chassis plan. To date 300,000 have been turned out on this plan. Each car better than the other. Each one better looking than the other.

There have been more than 1000 refinements in the Maxwell, but never once have the Maxwell executives swerved from the original program.

You conclude that reliability was designed "into" the car and built "into" it, and that a policy of 300,000-all-alike is the soundest kind of reason for writing your check for a present day Maxwell.

ROADWORK IN KINGS.

This is the way Peter Veniot spends time. In the Parish of Cardwell, King's County, during the months of July and August, 1917, there were employed twenty-two men for work on the roads. Some of these men worked as much as half a day, another worked nine and three-quarter days, while the twenty-two between them put in fifty-two and a quarter days' work, which is an average of a little more than two days for each man. But as the majority of them brought their horses—in fact only three were employed who were not driving horses—it may be inferred that not even two of them were in the same place for more than a few minutes at a time. Yet during the same two months, Mr. Veniot employed Marshall Stewart, Supervisor for the parish of Cardwell, for a total of fifty days' work. Of course, Mr. Stewart being an honest man, would not do more than one day's work each day. He consequently spent his time supervising a horse and man one day, and two horses and two men another day, half a dozen men the following day and nobody at all for the next week. And he in fact put in as much time as the whole road-working force together did during the entire working season. Now, it would appear from the returns brought down that a man alone is worth two dollars per day in the Parish of Cardwell, and that a man with a horse costs four dollars per day, so that out of the total expended on road work there was paid for the labor of men one hundred and fifty dollars, and as these men practically all drove their own horses who needed no supervision apart from that of the drivers, the supervision extended to the men alone and for his superhuman efforts covering a period of fifty days, Mr. Stewart collected from the Department of Public Works no less than one hundred and fifty dollars. Thus he got forty-five dollars more than the whole working force put together. All of which is very nice for Mr. Stewart, interesting to the men who did the work, and no doubt gratifying to Mr. Veniot.

PUBLISH THE STORY.

The personal experiences of Miss Agnes Warner during her four years' service overseas should be published and circulated in every home in this country. Now that the war is over we are altogether too apt to forget the shocking cruelties perpetrated by German soldiers and people on the suffering inhabitants of the countries devastated by them. The desire for peace will tend to make us forget the horrors of war and while a wish for revenge should not be regarded as a desirable human attribute still in view of the dreadful sufferings of those who found themselves at the mercy of the Hun, it is not well that we should too soon forget. Miss Warner, who has been heard twice in public since her return, tells of things that she knows. Her stories are not stories communicated by others, but describe actual conditions which she herself saw, and deal with the experiences of those with whom she came in personal contact in the course of her hospital work abroad. Perhaps Miss Warner's outstanding personality makes the appeal of her experiences more effective than would be found in a printed recital, but the truths which she tells, so clearly exemplifying as they do the attitude of the Germans towards helpless opponents, should be known to every Canadian. And even the condensed sketches by Miss Warner which St. John people have been permitted to hear have created a very deep and lasting impression. The information which she is able to give is of too great value to be lost, and if it were presented in book form, which it ought to be, would no doubt be very warmly welcomed by the people of Canada.

MR. TWEEDDALE'S EFFORTS.

Possibly Hon. Mr. Tweeddale is entitled to more credit for the success of the Greater Production Campaign in New Brunswick than his well-known modesty has permitted him to claim. The Minister of Agriculture has shown a frankness and fairness that none of his colleagues except Hon. Mr. Robinson would have been likely to display; he has made the graceful admission that Providence assisted him somewhat in achieving his great success, and that the patriotic efforts of the farmers themselves were also a material help. And possibly if it were not for Mr. Tweeddale's praise-worthy habit of saying as little as possible, he might have proceeded to point out that the greater production campaign was also materially helped by the activities of municipal councils, agricultural societies, farmers' organizations, and by the larger grant made by the Union Government—to say nothing of the old Government, which had developed the Department of Agriculture to a considerable degree of efficiency, and by its progressive policies, sown the seeds of an agricultural development in this province which made it possible for farming communities to embark upon a greater production campaign with every hope of success.

OUR UNIVERSITY.

The University of New Brunswick requires a larger grant from the Province. At the present time it is receiving twenty thousand dollars per year, a ridiculously small amount, in view of the magnitude of the work which has to be done. Indeed, to the lack of funds provided for this provincial institution may be ascribed the failure of the University to carry on a more aggressive campaign. It has done everything possible with the funds at its disposal and has accomplished very excellent work under a serious financial handicap. But being a provincial institution, and generally so regarded, it is not in a position to solicit private contributions towards the creation of a proper endowment as has been done by other colleges in this province. It must depend almost wholly on what it receives from the Government, and the fees of students. For this reason its activities in the past have been limited by its available income from two sources, and while other Maritime Colleges have been able to improve their various departments and to carry on active campaigns for students, the University of New Brunswick has been compelled, despite the close personal interest of members of the senate, to run along in practically the same old groove, a condition which should not be permitted to exist any longer than is necessary. The University of New Brunswick should be the leading institution in the Maritime Provinces. That it does not occupy this honorable position is due to the fact that it has not been accorded sufficient financial support. Never in the history of that college has there been greater opportunity than at the present time, and an investment of ten thousand or twenty thousand dollars per year additional grant will bring it later years a return which cannot well be measured. Premier Posters point out that the province has been called upon to meet innumerable requests, but certainly nothing is more important than education, and even at the cost of neglecting other branches of the administration our educational system should be generously supported.

STILL UNSETTLED.

For the past ten days the railway commission has been considering the action of Canadian railroads in adopting daylight time. The decision of the Board, which should have been given early last week, passes the buck to parliament for no good reason. Meantime the country, excepting the sensible portions of it, is now in confusion. One after another, towns and cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific have been declaring in favor of daylight time, largely because of the example set by the railroads although it is still a little early in the season to make the change, but in many cases because of the desire of the people to make the change themselves. In New Brunswick many towns have made the change and are laughing at St. John for not having in its civic government enough backbone to put through the necessary order. As a matter of fact in this city the great majority of business houses and homes are on daylight time, but unfortunately the schools still follow the old time, so do some of the civic offices where time does not matter much. The delay in making the change in schools is really the only troublesome feature just now as it means that children whose homes are on daylight time have to get up an hour earlier for breakfast and hang about the house until school time, the noon meal must be kept waiting long after the usual hour until the boys and girls return from school, and children who imagine themselves to be living according to standard time cannot be persuaded to go to bed by the daylight system. Let us have the daylight system at once.

FOR THE VETERANS.

The G. W. V. A. will today appeal to the people of St. John through the medium of a tag day for assistance in paying for their homes. The Veterans in purchasing the property which is now occupied by them, assumed a heavy burden, but their success to the present in meeting payments is the evidence that their confidence in the people of St. John was justified. It is in every sense desirable that suitable quarters of this nature should be provided and the title vested in the Veterans' Association, and certainly our people will be only too pleased to assist by every means in their power in providing a reasonable portion of the funds required to meet payments on the purchase and maintenance of that institution. The taggers in the streets today should be given a very generous reception.

WHAT THEY SAY

Will Earn Its Way.—Los Angeles Times: If the proposed League of Nations accomplishes nothing but to compel Germany to keep its promises, that will be something.

Will Be No Glasses to Lift.—Cleveland Plain Dealer: It is said that men's coat sleeves are so tight this year that the wearer can't bend his elbow. Well, he won't need to after July 1.

Woes of Coast States.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer: California protests strongly against the Federal Government's abbreviation of the name of the State to "Calif." What would it do if it had to worry along on an abbreviation like "Wash"?

High Cost of Living.—New York Herald: As Germany turns over her first $5,000,000,000 installment, the fact that there are first real taste of what plundered Bolshevism felt for four long years. And this is only the tarty beginning.

Has Value.—Ottawa Journal: "I can see him always before me as one of the most valiant soldiers of the allied armies, one of the greatest servants of his country," writes Marshal Foch at the Chief of the British General Staff, Sir Henry Wilson. Such words from such a man are worth more than all the titles and medals in the world. General Wilson was the big "man behind"; his recognition now brings a thrill to all Britishers.

"God, Give us Men."—Natal (S. Africa) Mercury: South Africa, even above the other Dominions of the Empire, wants more and more men, and men of the most vigorous and progressive type. A great many of our local squabbles gain a spurious importance from the fact that there are too few white men in our country. Our inheritance is too rich for the heirs who are wrangling about it. Every man introduced into the Union who possesses youth, energy, ambition and industry, and above all, ideas, is a valuable asset to the country. For in all these qualities South Africa is today woefully deficient.

Ignorant of Our Heritage.—Singapore Press: It is pitiful how little those who have not been out here know of our Eastland's greatness. Who has anything to do with the Straits Settlements, seems to be known by many at home merely as the one who had something to do with the founding of the Zoological Society and Singapore is known as a hot place with a bit of something to do with the tonnage of shipping that enters. Singapore is double that which entered Glasgow, Leith, Aberdeen and Dundee taken together.

The Root of All Evil.—London Daily Express: The cost of living will bring it later years a return which cannot well be measured. Premier Posters point out that the province has been called upon to meet innumerable requests, but certainly nothing is more important than education, and even at the cost of neglecting other branches of the administration our educational system should be generously supported.

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE.

Yesterday I swapped Fud's Skimins a roller skate for a pen nite, the roller skate being all rite except one roller was off and the other 3 wouldn't go around good, and the pen nite being all rite except it only had one blade left, this more dull than wat it is sharp, and last nite pop was smoking and thinking and I sed, I got a new pen nite, pop, I mean it ain't new for a pen nite, but its new for me, have you got any pen nites you want sharpened, pop?

Wey, yes, come to think of it, I just bawt a new 10 cent pencil and all it needs is a point to make it a perfectly usefull pencil, sed pop. And he took it out of his pocket and handed it to me, saying, Biggy men have no use for a pencil without a point or a point without a pencil, in union there is strength.

Yes sir, I sed. And I started to sharpen it, being a long shney yellow pencil with a red rubber on the other end in case of mistakes. And I started to sharpen it with the pen nite, the blade being so dull you had to feel twice to find out which way was the sharp side, and after I had bin sharpening it about 5 minutes the pencil started to look changed, being just as yellow but only about half as long, on account of me having to press down so hard that the point kept on breaking off every time it got big enough to use.

O, I shawt. And I sed to pop, Wouldn't you drather have a short pencil than a long one, pop?

Owel, I I don't keep them very long, look, sed pop. And I kept on trying to sharpen it, and pritty soon it was so small nobody wouldn't rekonized it if it hadent bin still yellow, and all of a suddin pop sed, Hah, he make a memorandum of that, Benny, wares the pencil!

Heer it is, I sed. And I handed it to him, having a point on it at last but not having hardly anything elts except the rubber, pop saying, Wares the one I gave you to sharpen?

That's it, I sed, and pop sed, The doose it is, and I sed, Yes sir, you can tell by the rubber. Wich pop just looked at it, saying, My noble long 10 cent pencil, how you have changed.

I sed, I sed, and pop sed, Heer it is, I sed, and I sed, Yes sir, you can tell by the rubber. Wich pop just looked at it, saying, My noble long 10 cent pencil, how you have changed.

The next time I want to sharpen a pencil for him to kindly don't.

DISCUSS AFFAIRS OF DALHOUSIE
Halifax, April 11.—His Honor Lieutenant Governor Grant had invited friends of higher education in the city to attend at government house, tomorrow evening, to discuss the affairs of Dalhousie University. When Earl Dalhousie was Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, he founded the University just one hundred years ago, and Lieut. Governor Grant is interesting himself in perpetuating the institution founded by his predecessor. It is understood a campaign will be launched to raise one million dollars, or at least half a million, to commemorate Dalhousie's century.

The Economy of a High Grade Watch
A finely built, carefully adjusted, high-grade watch pays for itself many times over in the satisfaction it gives. The difference in cost over the cheap watch is much more than made up by the economy of upkeep. The high-grade watch can be depended upon for accurate time. It makes fewer trips to the repair shop. With ordinary care in keeping it clean, it will give satisfactory service for a lifetime, and become a practical heirloom for your son. It is a credit to you wherever you are—a worthy representative of your position in the business and social world. Come in and see our fine watches.

A SPRING TONIC INCREASES

Lay the Foundation of Good Your Blood and Strength

The good old fashion of taking a good medical practice. No matter how even in the most favored climates, a healthy man, woman, and child must have strength they have stored up and grow increasingly pale as the spring and summer months draw on. At this time the blood and the cheeks and banishing that tired season of the year.

You can not be energetic if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You can not get refreshing sleep at night, or feel a tonic at this time to add to your strength after suffering later on. And in all this, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make you rich, red blood, which circulates through the system, strengthening faded nerves and bringing a new strength and energy to the men and children.

CURED BILIOUS HEADACHES.

Mr. D. C. McClure, Hefley Creek, B. C., says: "As a spring tonic I know of nothing else that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Last spring I felt weak and run down and suffered a great deal from bilious headaches. I got a half dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them I felt like a new man. The headache from which I suffered had disappeared, I had a better appetite, and was in every way stronger and better than before I began the use of this medicine. Almost everyone needs a tonic in the spring, and for this purpose I can strongly advise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

MISS BOATRICE BISHOP, Fendale, N. B., says: "I have never felt so well as I do since taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began their use I was very much run down. I had no color, no appetite, could not get up stairs without stopping to rest on the way. I had frequent headaches and a feeling of despondency. I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills regularly for about eight weeks and while I felt a benefit from them almost from the first, at the end of that time I felt in better health than I had ever enjoyed before. I freely give my permission to publish this letter as my experience may be the means of doing the world a new health to some other weak and run down girl."

Mr. Herbert Hansen, Lower Hainesville, N. B., says: "I have the very highest regard for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began their use I suffered greatly with sick headache, dizziness and a feeling of depression and tiredness. A short course of these pills fully restored my health. My daughter Blanche was suffering from anæmia, and through the use of six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills gained wonderfully in weight, strength and general health. We think so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that we are going to have them in the house, and I consider them my best friend."

HOW PRIVATE MET CAPTAIN

Returned Soldier Just Discharged Talked Freely to a Captain and Was Happy.

The scene of this dark plot is laid in the lobby of one of the leading hotels in the city. The characters are three, a captain of the Canadian overseas forces and two privates of the same. The time was Thursday afternoon.

The officer was leaning against the cigar counter, taking a lingering look at surroundings he had not seen for three years, when two privates in uniform, appeared from a nearby room, and after a short consultation, separated, one of them going towards him.

"Hello, Shorty," said the private, "how's everything?"
"Fine," said the captain.
"I'm fine, too," said the private.

A SPRING TONIC GREATLY INCREASES YOUR EFFICIENCY

Lay the Foundation of Good Health Now by Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves.

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. No matter how mild the winter it is a trying time, even in the most favored climates, for those who are not in rugged physical health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny, summer months, and grow increasingly pale as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands at this season of the year.

You can not be energetic if your blood is thin and weak, or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in all the realm of medicine there is no safer or better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. These pills make new rich, red blood, which circulates through every portion of the body strengthening faded nerves and run-down organs, and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

CURED BILIOUS HEADACHES.

Mr. D. C. McClure, Hefley Creek, B. C., says: "As a spring tonic I know of nothing else that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Last spring I felt weak and run down and suffered a great deal from bilious headaches. I got a half dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man. NEVER FELT SO WELL.

Miss Beatrice Bishop, Fendale, N. B., says: "I have never felt so well as I do since taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began their use I was very much run down. I had no color, no appetite, could not go up stairs without stopping to rest on the way. I had frequent headaches and a feeling of despondency. I freely give you permission to publish this letter as my experience may be the means of pointing the way to new health to some other weak and run down girl."

GAINED WONDERFULLY.

Mrs. Herbert Hansen, Lower Hainesville, N. B., says: "I have the very highest regard for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began their use I suffered greatly with sick headache, dizziness and a feeling of depression and tiredness. A short course with the pills fully restored my health. My daughter Blanche was suffering from anaemia, and through the use of six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills gained wonderfully in weight, strength and general health. We think so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that we are now without them in the house, and I consider them my best friend."

SEVENTY-EIGHT VETERANS ARRIVE Reached Here Yesterday Morning After Voyage to Halifax — Welcomed and Discharged Quickly.

When the Halifax Express arrived yesterday morning it brought seventy-eight New Brunswick heroes from overseas. They were met by Charles Robinson, Secretary of the N. B. Returned Soldiers' Commission and representatives of the V. A. D. workers in the city. The soldiers were given smokes, chocolate and the usual flags, and were then marched to the Armories and discharged. There were only a few citizens at the Depot to greet the men, owing to the early hour of arrival. Among those to arrive was Lance Corporal A. E. Belding, 270 Germain street. He went overseas in July, 1915, and crossed to France in the following October with the C. M. S. On the 3rd of June in the third battle of Ypres at Sanctuary Wood, where the battalion suffered enormous losses in the desperate fighting in that region, Corporal Belding was badly wounded by shrapnel. He was sent to Blighty and after a long period of hospital treatment returned to the front in April, 1917, and remained on service till New Year, 1919. He then returned to hospital and underwent an operation made necessary by his old wounds.

One Thousand Dollars in Fines

This Large Amount Collected Yesterday in Police Court and All for Liquor Cases—Other Charges Dealt With.

James Steen answered a charge yesterday morning in the police court of supplying liquor contrary to law. Three bottles were sold to a Glen Falls resident which cost $15. Inspectors McAlain and Garnett made the arrest. Steen paid a fine of $200. Alice McDonald, who conducts a beer shop in Sheffield street, for having liquor on her premises, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $200. Angus McDonald, husband of the accused, paid a fine of $5 for drunkenness. Murray Clements found on the premises was charged with being drunk, and with having liquor in his possession. His case was adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock. Mary Phelan for being drunk, paid the tax of $5.

Nine additional drunks paid a fine of $5 each. John Ruddle, for being drunk and with having liquor in his possession, pleaded guilty to both charges and paid fines amounting to $205. At the afternoon session of the court a respectable woman residing over a grocery store on Britain street, was charged by the liquor inspectors with having liquor in her possession which she had in her private dwelling house. The raid was made yesterday morning by inspectors Mann, Merryfield, Garnett and McAlain. The first witness called was Inspector Merryfield, who told of the four inspectors going to the store and from that dwelling about a quantity of liquor. Inspectors McAlain and Mann also testified, corroborating the statements of the former witness, but Inspector Mann dwelt on a conversation which he had with the elderly man accused while the raid was being made. Inspector Garnett next took the stand and told of the raid on the premises. Cross examined by William M. Ryan, who appeared for the accused, witness did not know how many empty bottles he had seen on the premises, and further could not swear that the liquor found on the premises was whiskey, as it had not been analyzed, to his knowledge. When asked by counsel what whiskey was witness replied he did not know. What was asked if he could swear positively that the liquor he found in a bottle (then in his hands) was whiskey, witness replied he could not. Witness was cross examined to great advantage by the defense, and he did not know whether the empty bottles found on the premises belonged to the beer shop or not. Further he could not swear that the amount found, as he had not counted them.

STRONG AND WELL AGAIN.

Mr. H. H. McKelvey, Orone, Ont., says: "My experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has been of the most favorable kind. At the time I began their use I was so weak and run down that I could hardly go about. My stomach was also out of order and the food I took did not seem to do me a bit of good. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came to my rescue, and under their use my stomach grew better, my general health improved, and I was soon as healthy and vigorous a man as I had ever been. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, with the use of Pinklets as a laxative when needed, is now our family medicine, and we would not be without them."

BUILD UP YOUR BLOOD.

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are, for this reason, an invaluable remedy in disease arising from bad or deficient blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, pains in the back or side and the after effects of influenza or fevers. If you are suffering from any troubles due to weak, watery blood or shaky nerves, a fair use of these pills will restore you to full health and strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"I'm a civilian now; discharged today."

"Is that so?" said the captain.

"You've got your uniform on yet," he added, "and you're not a civilian until you take it off."

"Well, I'm a civilian, uniform or no uniform, Shorty," said the private, reaching into his hip pocket. "Here, take a drink."

"No," answered the officer, "I haven't touched a drop for several months. By the way, where have you been?"

"Send me before? Why, you're my bloomin' conductor' officer, and came across with me on the Saturnia. Yesterday you had me on fatigue, weeping into the blazes of the rain."

"Well," said the officer, "look after yourself and see that you don't celebrate too much."

And with a hand-shake these two representatives of Canada's democratic army parted.

could not swear that O'Keefe brought the liquor into the house, as sometimes his husband had liquor there for his use. This completed the evidence, the accused remaining silent further hearing. At all cases yesterday, Chief Inspector Rev. W. D. Wilson prosecuted. A neat $1,000 was collected by the court yesterday on liquor cases alone, aside from the fines collected from the numerous drunks.

NEW BRUNSWICK POWER COMPANY MATTERS AIDED BEFORE THE MUNICIPALITIES COMMITTEE

Committee Room Thronged With Citizens of St. John When Strong Arguments Were Heard Both for and Against Currier Report—City Representatives Protest Against a Judgment Not Founded on Facts, and Claim Company Had a Poor Excuse for Holding up the Citizens for More Money.

Special to The Standard.

Fredericton, April 11.—Strong arguments against and for the Currier power bill were heard before the Corporations Committee at the morning and afternoon meetings.

Representatives of the City of St. John and the New Brunswick Power Company and its shareholders were given an opportunity to state their views in the Legislative Chamber, where practically all the members had assembled to hear them.

A considerable delegation of St. John citizens were in attendance to watch the proceedings.

The Power Company representatives urged the adoption of the bill, and claimed the company had a poor excuse for holding up the citizens for more money.

Fredericton, April 11.—P. R. Taylor for the Power Company said the situation had been reversed. Last year the city said the legislature was not the proper body to deal with the power question, and requested a commission to investigate the matter. The city had the commission's report, and wanted the legislature to deal with the question. Mr. Taylor said they were not going to ask the legislature to vary or reject the commission's report but they did protest against the attempt of the city to wipe out $1,350,000 of the city's property, properly sold to the Currier report would reduce the company's common stock by $500,000 and that was bad enough. The company's assets, said Mr. Taylor, had been handled by American houses which did not sell to clients until they had made investigations. Bodell and Company's experts reported that the company had assets of $3,200,000; the Sloan and Waterman commission appointed by the public utility board placed a valuation of a portion of the company's property at $2,850,000. In addition there was the Eastern Electrical Company's property valued at $1,224,000; working capital, $100,000 and other property, $51,452. This gave a total valuation of $2,840,000 exclusive of water powers. Other accountants estimated that the company's assets were over $3,000,000. The city's expert, Mr. Whiting, estimated the book value of the company's property at $1,850,000, but he used an "extraneous" system of allowing for depreciation, and also overlooked the building of a power house and a portion of the railroads.

Mr. Currier opposed the city's contention that public utilities should be controlled by the city council instead of by the legislature. The power company was not a local institution; it was authorized to develop property and do business in Charlotte County, New Brunswick, and it had no other property, $1,850,000. This would only pay off the bonds, and 25 per cent. of the preferred stock.

Mr. Frothingham, of Boston said there appeared to be a disposition not to heed the findings of the commission. If confidence in the reports of such commissions were disturbed his brokerage house and others would be shy of investing money in New Brunswick. After investigation he valued the company's property at $2,850,000 not including water powers, working capital and other tangible assets. Mr. Howall's estimate had been $2,900,000. Mr. Frothingham said the Currier commission estimate of $2,840,000 was low, as it omitted working capital and other assets. He figured that $3,200,000 would be a fair capital value for the power company. If it had not been for America's entrance in the war, and the company had been permitted to capitalize its assets, important development work would have been undertaken, much to the advantage of St. John.

Another Boston man, J. J. Bodell, of Providence, said his firm had purchased shares of the company's stock, but the company was in a position to pay dividends, and hoped his investment would be protected.

Dr. Allingham said he represented quite a block of 1st and 2nd preferred stock, bought with the idea that it would produce an income for heirs. He stated that the value of the shares were to be wiped out at the hearing of the city he did not see what inducement people would have to invest in public utilities.

Mr. Baxter for the City said that though the reorganization of the Power Company had greatly increased the capitalization, there had been no visible improvement of the plant. What had been called upon to increase the revenues of the company, and had the prospect before them of paying 7 per cent. on $1,850,000 of preferred stock, and the company's property had been sold under the hammer for $92,000. With every successive reorganization the property had been increased without corresponding enlargement of the plant. Mr. Agar said it was a well recognized standard that the value of a property had been manipulated in the past. The St. John promoters were only following in the footsteps of others elsewhere.

Mr. Taylor in Reply.

F. R. Taylor said the present company was furnishing power lower than N.B.

J. M. Robinson said the situation was a difficult one for anyone in the investment business. The city had agreed to accept the result of the Currier investigation, but had repudiated the underlying principle. If the city persisted in its peculiar course, they would soon have a situation, like they had in Ontario, where the private investor did not put his money in public utilities.

Mr. Kelly of St. John had put money in the Power Company, having faith in the two leading investment firms in New Brunswick, and other firms in Boston. He and thirty others had paid 100 cents on the dollar, and hoped their money would be protected.

Mayor Hayes said that overnight the capitalization of the Power Company had risen from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. The people had protested against the increase in capitalization rather than the increase of rates. There might be some justification for an increase of rates. The mayor said the finding of the Currier Commission had gone much further than its instructions warranted. The Currier report placed the actual physical valuation of the company's property at $2,335,000. They added to this various amounts, and got a valuation of $2,800,000. The Currier report itself was to blame for the attitude of the company; not the city. The claim was that the Power Company was a well run public utility. This people decried the value of an enterprise if it ran down so that it was charging $2.90 for gas, though in many cities gas was only 90 cents. If persons who sold stock over-capitalized an enterprise it was unfortunate for the investor. The city did not want to injure investors, but public utilities had been exploited in the past; company promoters and investors had only themselves to thank for the present feeling of distrust and unrest. Holders of common stock over-capitalized an enterprise if they controlled the company; the real investors had nothing to say.

Mr. Fisher's Views.

Commissioner Fisher said the city regretted having to come before the legislature, but they were forced to do that course. The Currier report created a serious situation for St. John; the bill was grossly unfair to the people. Mr. Robinson had said he could not hold up his head as a citizen of St. John. But the city was trying to uphold its name for fair dealing; it was the Currier report that was knocking St. John. The Currier Commission should have wiped out the common stock altogether. The public utility board's report that the company's property was worth $3,000,000 was a fair one. The city made no objection to an increase in rates recently raising the company's returns from 5 to 7 per cent. Mr. Fisher said there was water in second preferred stocks, much of which had been sold for 65 cents.

Mr. Robinson—"You're wrong. It sold at 85 and 93 cents."

Mayor Hayes—"The Currier report says between 65 and 70 cents."

M. E. Agar.

M. E. Agar said that though the reorganization of the Power Company had greatly increased the capitalization, there had been no visible improvement of the plant. What had been called upon to increase the revenues of the company, and had the prospect before them of paying 7 per cent. on $1,850,000 of preferred stock, and the company's property had been sold under the hammer for $92,000. With every successive reorganization the property had been increased without corresponding enlargement of the plant. Mr. Agar said it was a well recognized standard that the value of a property had been manipulated in the past. The St. John promoters were only following in the footsteps of others elsewhere.

Mr. Holgate, in a letter to the mayor, said the physical value of the property was $2,335,000 and added overhead expenses of about $380,000, working capital of $100,000 and new construction of $80,000, etc. Considering the cost of the investigation they might have been given more detailed information.

The Currier report was so drawn as to convey the impression that the company would never receive more than 7 per cent. but, under an intricate system of averages, it was provided that, if the cost of operation declined, the company would obtain an additional rate over and above 7 per cent. As to the argument that the city was not keeping faith, Mr. Baxter said no man was doing wrong who appealed from what he considered an erroneous judgment.

Mr. Taylor in Reply.

F. R. Taylor said the present company was furnishing power lower than N.B.

Mr. Frothingham—"I thought it was $185,000."

Mr. Baxter said that was the figure without taking into account the provision for accumulating $300,000. If the old company had asked the right to pay dividends on $2,300,000 nobody would have justified its position.

If, to Mr. Whiting's estimate, there were added various items the company said he had overlooked, the valuation would then be $1,850,000. The Currier report did not show how the estimate of $2,300,000 was arrived at.

If, to Mr. Whiting's estimate, there were added various items the company said he had overlooked, the valuation would then be $1,850,000. The Currier report did not show how the estimate of $2,300,000 was arrived at.

Mr. Holgate, in a letter to the mayor, said the physical value of the property was $2,335,000 and added overhead expenses of about $380,000, working capital of $100,000 and new construction of $80,000, etc. Considering the cost of the investigation they might have been given more detailed information.

The Currier report was so drawn as to convey the impression that the company would never receive more than 7 per cent. but, under an intricate system of averages, it was provided that, if the cost of operation declined, the company would obtain an additional rate over and above 7 per cent. As to the argument that the city was not keeping faith, Mr. Baxter said no man was doing wrong who appealed from what he considered an erroneous judgment.

Mr. Taylor in Reply.

POSEN FOR TEN CENTURIES HAS RESISTED GERMAN RULE

Prussia's Repeated Efforts to Overawe Poles Culminated When School Children Were Beaten for Refusing to Say the Lord's Prayer in Hun Tongue.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The province of Posen, in Eastern Prussia, to which Poland has been seeking to strengthen her claim by military occupation, is described in the following bulletin from the National Geographic Society:—

"Posen was the unhappy experiment station for some of Prussia's most vigorous and futile efforts to Germanize an alien population."

"Until the northern portion of Posen fell to Prussia, after the first partition of Poland in 1772, and the remainder was annexed to Prussia twenty-one years later, Posen's history was blended with that of Poland. In connection with the first partition, it will be recalled that Frederick the Great adopted the ingenious scheme of surrounding those parts of Poland he desired with a military force, on the pretext that he was seeking to check the spread of a cattle disease."

"Gnesen, early capital of Posen, thirty miles to the northeast of the city of Posen, was the residence of Boleslaus, so long as that regent warrior remained at his capital. There, in the year 1099, the Polish prince lavishly entertained Otto III., a social lobby effort so successful that Otto conferred upon Boleslaus the royal crown and made Osones a seat of an archbishop. For more than three hundred years Polish kings were crowned there."

"After being handed about for a brief period Posen fell to Prussia again in 1815 and for more than half a century Germany paid little heed to it."

"After the division of the vast estates and other economic changes, Polish middle classes in Posen began to prosper; whence, toward the last quarter of the nineteenth century, Prussia began to take notice of its provincial 'Topsy.' Germans had been immigrating there since the thirteenth century and the newcomers, at first, were welcomed. Severance of Posen from Poland changed that feeling, though open friction was not generated until Prussia began her repressive measures."

"Polish nobles had kept alive Polish traditions, but Prussia was more alarmed by the prosperity of the Poles than by what, today, might be called the nobles' propaganda. So she set about Germanizing Posen, both by colonization and by compulsion, much as she attempted to do to the French in Alsace.

"Prussia's first move was to make German the language of the schools. Police were ordered to disperse meetings where Polish was spoken."

"After sixteen years that program failed to make much of a Prussian impression on Posen, so a commission was set up in 1874 to buy land from the Poles for German settlement. Before the failure of this policy was openly admitted the original appropriation of 100,000,000 marks was supplemented again and again until, in fifteen years, more than half of Posen had been bought for German colonists. Still the Poles predominated. More kept coming from Poland and opposition to the German programme was intensified as the measures became harsher."

"Even Germany was scandalized when, in 1902, it was brought to light in the Prussian Parliament that pupils had been whipped by the wholesale for declining to say the Lord's Prayer in German. But the opposition of the grown-ups did not cause the world-wide interest aroused by the school children's strike in 1906, when about 100,000 Polish pupils took that means of protesting against being beaten when they would not answer questions in German. The Prussian government refused to accede to the request of the Archbishop of Posen that children be permitted to receive religious instruction in Polish. Parents who withdrew their children from school were imprisoned."

"Efforts to absorb or crowd out the Poles by German colonization having failed, a measure was passed for the expropriation of Polish land. Further laws were enacted compelling wider use of the German language. Then came the Kattowitz incident in 1910, crowning a series of petty persecutions which by degrees the absurd, wherein a number of minor officials who had voted for Poles at a municipal election were removed."

"Posen is smaller, territorially, than Maryland, but had half a million more population in 1910. About a million Poles, more than half the total population in Posen, were established there before the world war. Posen has mineral deposits of lignite and salt. Much of its land was tilled. Its manufactured products, besides those of its breweries and distilleries, were sugar, cloth, tobacco, bricks and machinery."

Canada's Greatest Known Price Tailors
The English & Scotch Woollen Co.

Are You One of the Men who Say "I'd Like to Wear Real Made-To-Measure Clothes"

But—Who Through Habit Carelessly Buys An Ill-Fitting "Ready-Made" Substitute

WE want you to know that Made-to-Measure garments decide your rating in the world in which you live. They get you position and promotion. The clothes you wear extends or limits your influence with others. They determine the number and kind of friends you have. They help achieve or halt your ambitions—and the man who accepts an ill-fitting "Ready-Made" substitute for Perfect-Fitting Custom Tailored Made-to-Measure Garments—is wearing the kind of clothes that holds him in the below-the-average-class.

As Canada's Largest Exclusive Made-to-Measure Custom Tailors, we are in a position to give you fabrics of a quality that you cannot duplicate in any other tailoring establishment on the continent. Your order will have individual attention as if you were our only customer.

Suits and Overcoats Made-To-Your-Measure

No connection with any other concern doing business in Canada.

TROUSERS

We are showing exceptional values in odd trousers from special trouser lengths. As many of these clothes are shown in very limited quantities, we will be obliged to ask customers for a second choice.

NO man, not even the professional woollen expert, can judge a fabric through a window-pane. The human eye is a "gay deceiver" when it looks into an alluring window and tries to form an idea of the quality of the merchandise inside.

The English & Scotch Woollen Co. fabrics are sold on "the thumb and finger test." We invite you to come to any of our 25 Conveniently Located Stores and Tailor Shops to feel and scrutinize the custom tailor wools we offer in Made-to-Measure garments. We invite you to compare our fabrics in weight, fibre and quality with those offered by local tailors and "Ready-Made" clothiers. We give the utmost in Genuine Custom Tailor Service.

Boys' and Youths' School Clothes

Made-to-Measure from good dependable wools—like dad wears, but the usual cheap cloth used in boys' clothes. Out-of-town customers, write for Boys' and Youths' Style Book.

a young man he has followed many trades in three continents. In Calcutta he managed a racing stable, and horses and mules kept him busy and satisfied his thirst for adventure while he awaited his predestined mission as an avenger of his people.

"There is a mistaken idea abroad that the Armenian, because he allows himself to be massacred, is without pluck. This supercilious, prejudiced view of him comes from travellers who derive their impressions from the original Levantine, the Port Said photographer, the poets and dracomans of Constantinople and Smyrna. Of the Armenian peasantry they know nothing. The massacres by the Kurds excite at the best a kind of impatient pity, which would be more generous if it were realized that the victims are forbidden arms whereas the assassins are armed by government and incited to murder and pillage. Murder is the service, pillage the reward. One must imagine the Irish question settled by the standards of the Stone Age to have an intelligent appreciation of the position the Armenian has held under the Turk.

"To the British officer in Mesopotamia who pictured the Armenians as unresisting hordes slain like sheep, Sabian was a revelation; and I do not think any of us who know him ever thought of his race quite in the same way as we did before we made his acquaintance. Everything the subaltern told me about him at Oelph confirmed what I had heard from his colonel on the spot. The man was a single-minded patriot, so temperate in all his personal habits and wants, yet a wild fantastic dreamer where his country was concerned.

"He was always nursing some extravagant scheme against the Turk. One day it would be to make our crossing by a tunnel under Tigris; another, he would have a gigantic scheme for a mine; or he would ask to be allowed to go through in disguise to bagged to blow up the arsenal; and he would be always plaguing his platoon officer to bring him up to the general with one or other of his explosive designs.

"Sabian lived in very neighborly relations with death. It is as wonderful to die as to live, was one of his sayings as he lay on his stomach in front of a Turkish trench before the last lap of the assault. But it was his coolness and resource as a scout for which he was best known in the brigade. During the three months' fighting on the Hai and in the Dahrs bend he was on patrol nearly every night, and this for Sabian meant crawling along the Turks parapet, listening to the talk in their dugouts and bringing back a report of everything he had heard."

LAST WORDS OF DAVID LUBIN URGED ITALIANS TO INTRODUCE AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL METHODS

Large Scale Production Was Basis of Interview Given Out in Rome a Few Days Before Death of Great Agriculturist.

Rome, April 10.—The prospect before Italy at present of becoming the greatest industrial and commercial power in the Mediterranean will be helped immensely by Italy's adoption of the American system of large scale production, according to David Lubin, founder of the Institute of Agriculture in Rome, in an interview granted to a newspaper of Rome a few days before his death. The following extracts are quoted from the interview:— "I believe that this Italy which arises from the war as a great political power in the Adriatic and Mediterranean now has before it the opportunity of becoming a great power economically as well. The disappearance of that dead weight, Turkey, which for centuries paralyzed the industrial and commercial progress of a large portion of the Mediterranean basin, gives Italy a splendid chance to assert herself in the markets of the Near East. "Italy has an enviable geographical situation, she is rich in intelligent and sober manual labor, she does not lack engineers, and a well directed industrial activity could place her within a few years on a solid basis for the production of merchandise to be exported to all countries on the Mediterranean and especially to the Balkans, Northern Africa and the Near East. "The present is an unusually opportune time for such a development. It is not for me to explain in detail the steps which Italy should take to effect this development. I shall limit myself to a consideration of what America's experience can teach Italy. In the United States during the last few decades a series of industries were developed to their maximum capacity by the extensive use of machinery as a substitute for manual labor. By a system of specialization and standardization of parts it has been possible to pay high wages, to produce high class merchandise and still to make a profit. "The adoption of American methods would mark a new era in the economic development of Italy. Whence does America get her billions? From her industries. If Italy were to create similar industries the billions would flow in Italy as they do in America. "The moment is propitious for beginning this work. The war has opened the way and the American public is at present disposed to send its assistance to Italy's undertakings. . . . "My first practical suggestion is that a group of men here in Italy form a corporation for establishing a clothing, shoe or any other industry, along the lines of a similar American institution. This corporation should turn to the United States for financial and technical co-operation. . . . The beginnings might be very modest, limited perhaps to a small model factory. If this proved to be a success it could soon be followed by many others. "The United States is a sincere friend of Italy, and if the industrial leaders of Italy will explain to America what Italy needs and is seeking, I feel certain that they will find in America a spirit of friendly and effective co-operation."

ARTIFICE HAS SAVED RAVISHED ARMENIAN FROM UTTER OBLIVION

Centuries of Unjust Treatment Have Taught Him to Bend, Not Break, When Opposed by Turks' Force.

Washington, April 10.—Armenia, the land to which America now is sending food relief and which recently suggested that it be placed under the direct protection of the United States, is discussed by Hester Donaldson Jenkins in a communication to the National Geographic Society. A portion of this communication, describing the Armenians before the devastations of the world war, follows:— "Armenia is a word that has widely different connotations for different peoples. To us Americans it means a vague territory somewhere in Asia Minor; to the makers of modern maps it means nothing—there is no such place; to the Turks of a few years ago it was a forbidden name, smacking of treason and likely to bring up that turgid "nationalism," than which Abdul Hamid II. feared nothing more, unless it were "liberty," but to nearly two millions of Russian, Persian and Turkish subjects it is a word filled with emotion, one that sends the hand to the heart and calls up both pride and sorrow.

Between Two Inland Seas.

"Armenia is not easy to bound at any period of history, but, roughly, it is the tableland extending from the Caspian Sea nearly to the Mediterranean Sea. Its limits have become utterly fluid; the waves of conquering Persians and Byzantines, Arabs and Romans, Russians and Turks have flowed and ebbed on its shores until all lines are obliterated. Armenia is not a state, not even a geographic unity, but merely a term for the region where the Armenians live.

"At the height of its ancient Kingdom of Armenia consisted of 800,000 square miles of fertile tableland, extending from the Black Sea and the Caucasus Mountains to Persia and Syria. It rises until it reaches 8,000 feet above the sea, then it ascends abruptly to the snow-capped peak of Mount Arat, which is 1,000 feet higher than Mount Blanc. The land is fertile, rugged and beautiful. "Into the soil of this beautiful and historic land the Armenians have thrust deep roots. No brief civilization is theirs dating back to Mayflower or even Norman Conquest, but one that is almost cotemporaneous with recorded history, and every Armenian feels behind him this vast antiquity, giving him personal dignity and great national pride. They begin their history with the Garden of Eden, which they claim was in Armenia, basing the claim on the native statement that the land is beautiful enough to have included Paradise, and also laughingly asserting that the apples of Armenia were worthy to tempt a most epicurean Eve. Their first recorded ancestors they find in the book of Genesis.

Have Oriental Appearance.

"Their appearance is definitely Eastern; swarthy, heavy-haired, black-eyed with aquiline features, they look more Oriental than Turk, Slav or Greek. In general type they come closer to the Jews than to any other people, sharing with them the strongly marked features, prominent nose and near-set eyes, as well as some gestures we think of as characteristically Jewish. The type is so pronounced that in those who are akin to them they seem often very handsome, while to Westerners they seem a little too foreign-looking. Of course, the type is not always preserved; white skins, even an occasional rosy cheek, may be seen, and there is a small number of fair-haired and blue-eyed Armenians. "The resemblance to the Jews does not stop with physical features, for the fate of the two peoples has been sufficiently similar to bring out common traits. Like the Jew, the Armenian has been oppressed and persecuted, and has developed a strength of nationality, a love for his own people and a persistence of type rarely seen elsewhere. Like the Jew, he has learned to bend, not break, before the oppressor and to succeed by artifice when opposed by force. How else has he survived? Like the Jew, he has developed strong business instincts and like him he has a talent for languages, a power of concentration and unusual artistic gifts. Both Jews and Armenians are very clever actors."

THE British are noted as great tea drinkers and are naturally good judges of tea.

So when we learn that over 70% of the tea used in Great Britain is Indian tea we can be sure that Indian tea is of the very best quality.

In Canada the preference for Indian tea has become just as strong, as evidenced by the success of Red Rose Tea which consists chiefly of ASSAMS—the richest and strongest of Indian teas.

How Mrs. Smith Solved the Mystery

"I've followed the recipe most carefully in every particular," declared the bride. "I mixed and kneaded the dough properly. Why in the world does my bread not come out well like other folks'? It's a mystery to me!"

"It's simple," said her neighbor, "it's the flour. If you want your bread to come out always right you must have flour that is always the same unchanging good quality."

"Do flours vary in quality?" "Naturally they must," explained Mrs. Smith, "for wheats vary in strength in different localities. Some wheats contain more gluten than others. And plenty of gluten is necessary in the flour because that is the elastic substance which helps the yeast to make the bread to rise properly. It is highly nutritious."

"If you want your bread always to come out right, take my advice, follow the recipe exactly, but use

Cream of the West Flour

(Milled according to Government Standard)

"But why this particular flour?" asked the bride. "Because it is a good, strong, high gluten flour for bread, and its quality is always uniform; it never varies." "How can one know it never varies?" "Because Campbells test samples of all the wheat they get to find out just what it contains. So it is easy for them to keep it uniformly good. I'll show you my own bread," offered Mrs. Smith. She went across the way to her home and returned with a splendid swelling loaf. The bride tasted it and was delighted. "Oh, if I could only make bread like that!" she exclaimed. "Certainly you can," said her neighbour, "Cream of the West is a dandy flour for bread. I ought to know for I have used it for years, I'm sure you'll be just as satisfied as I am with it. Try it, my dear."

WEDDINGS

Storr-Watt.
A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Sheriff A. A. Wilson, Queen street, yesterday afternoon, when Rev. D. J. McPherson united in marriage Alexander Watt, formerly of Wislaw, Scotland, and now of Detroit, U. S. A., and Claudine Storr-Watt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Storr-Watt of Manse Road, Scotland. The bride arrived in the city yesterday morning on the Scandinavian accompanied by her father, and they were met on arrival by Sheriff Wilson and taken to his residence. The groom is a member of the congregation of Rev. Christopher Burnett, former pastor of Leinster street church. Both bride and groom were unattended and they left on the evening train for Detroit where they will reside.

BLINDED SOLDIERS VISITED BY SIR EDWARD KEMP

Presented Medals to Canadians at St. Dunstan's and Prizes to Tug-of-War Team.

London, April 11, (C. A. P.)—Sir Edward Kemp, Dominion overseas minister, visited St. Dunstan's hospital for blinded soldiers yesterday. He was received by Sir Arthur Pearson.

Sir Edward Kemp presented medals to Corporal Austin, of the 7th Regiment, Lalor, Ont., and Private R. Maylor, of the 3rd Regiment, Medicine Hat. He also presented prizes to the Canadian blind tug-of-war team which won against all other inmates of St. Dunstan's.

Forty Canadians still remain at the hostel.

U. S. STEEL UNDER NECESSANT PRESSURE ON STOCK MARKET

Broke to 97 1-2, Its Low Price of the Week, Closing Unchanged at 98 1-8.

New York, April 11.—A more general readjustment of prices on a deterring scale marked today's session of the stock market, leaders, particularly investment rails and U. S. Steel denoting further liquidation attributed in part to conservative interests.

In its hesitant course the market frequently indicated an over extension and consequent weakening of the sustained bull account which has controlled movements for almost two months past.

Technical conditions proved more potent than actual developments, although overnight despatches from Eastern Europe invited fresh bear aggression. Continued firmness of call loans, and paucity of time funds also served as a restraint despite the removal of all restrictions on brokers' loans.

U. S. Steel was under incessant pressure, breaking to 97 1/2, its low price of the week, but closing unchanged at 98 1/8. Steel heaviness was the more conspicuous because of the strength of related shares, notably Bethlehem.

Sindair Oil was strong and the most active of the petroleum, holding much of its four point gain; Atlantic Gulf led the shippings at a gross gain of 3 points. But American International added almost four points to the decline which followed yesterday's announcement of the coming $40 payment on the stock.

Reversals among rails mostly affected St. Paul Common and Preferred, Union Pacific and Norfolk and Western at recessions of 1 to 2 points.

Equipments, metals and tobaccos were unsteady, but food shares and secondary mining issues made variable gains. Sales amounted to 1,300,000 shares.

Irregularity in the bond market was chiefly due to reactions in high grade rails. Liberty bonds also yielded, but foreign issues were steady. Total sales, par value, aggregated $10,000,000.

Old United States coupon's gained 1-8 on sales.

CITIZENS AND TROOPS CLASH Sanguinary Collision Occurs at Danzig in Which Three Were Killed and Several Wounded.

Bulletin—Copenhagen, April 11.—A sanguinary collision occurred last evening at Danzig, between a crowd and the troops guarding the square in front of the railway station. Three persons were killed and several wounded when the troops fired on the people. The Danzig message, reporting the clash, says the troops fired after having been subjected, during the entire day, to abusive molestation.

Toronto, April 11.—Canadian National Railway gross earnings for the week ending April 7th, 1919, were $1,454,444, which indicated a decrease (the first decrease for some months) of $119,319, from those of the corresponding week of last year. The total gross earnings for the year from January 1 to date were $21,022,293, or an increase of $4,623,801 for the year.

NEWCASTLE MAYOR BY ACCLAMATION

Eleven Candidates Are Lined up for the Eight Aldermen Seats.

Special to The Standard.

Newcastle, April 11.—Alderman D. E. Doyle is mayor of Newcastle by acclamation. He has served seven years as alderman. There are eleven candidates for the eight aldermanic seats: Alderman Wm. L. Crocker, John Russell, Perley Russell, Allan J. Wichee, Charles Sargeant, Henry P. Stuart, Ex-Mayor Charles E. Fish, Ex-Alderman James J. Mackintosh, Messrs. John J. Witzell and Thomas J. Jettry.

BETHLEHEM STEEL STRONG FEATURE

(McDouGALL & COWANS.)

New York, April 11.—Bethlehem Steel was the strong feature of the afternoon while U. S. Steel sold off more than a point from the morning high. The strength in the former gave rise to gossip about new developments in the affairs of the company which had little tangible basis. Much talk was given to a conference between Mr. Schwab and the director-general of railroads, the inference being that Bethlehem might get some big railroad orders.

Pittsburg predicts that the quarterly extras will be discontinued and the regular rate made 6 or 7 per cent.

There was no news from the meeting of railroad executives and bankers with the railroad administration chiefs on the finances of the railroad administration. The market was strong at the close.

LOWER PRICES ON MEATS NOT EXPECTED FOR SOME TIME YET

Chicago, Ills., April 11.—The American Meat Packers' Association, in a statement issued today, declares that lower prices for meat may not be expected until the war-torn countries of Europe are enabled to resume their quota of production.

NATIONAL MOTOR TRUCKS

HAULAGE—An Important Question for Every Manufacturer to Consider.

Haulage is a vital feature of manufacturing efficiency. It affects production, deliveries, satisfaction of customers—and PROFITS. Have YOU ever thoughtfully studied the possibilities of increasing the efficiency of YOUR plant by using one or more National Motor Trucks?

Consider the possibilities of always-on-time deliveries of important orders. Think of the go-get-it ability of National Motor Trucks when you lack certain supplies to complete work in hand.

Imagine a fleet of National Trucks might easily pay for themselves in a few trips. Then think of the day-in-and-day-out haulage that must be done in the course of your business, regardless of railroad or material conditions.

Think of National Motor Trucks not from the expense standpoint, but from the INVESTMENT standpoint. Ask yourself THIS question: Can I invest $2,000, $3,000, $5,000, $10,000 in National Trucks and make the investment provide its own sinking fund, pay me liberal interest, and increase my business?

We will be glad to study your haulage problem carefully and give you an unbiased answer as to whether or not you can use National Trucks to advantage. If the facts show that you cannot profitably use National Motor Trucks, we'd rather not sell them to you.

National Motor Trucks are built in Canada for Canadian conditions. Six classes—1 ton, 1 1/2 ton, 2 ton, 3 1/2 ton, 5 ton trucks and 6 ton tractors. See them at our dealers or write for illustrated catalogues.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER

IMPORTANT DAYLIGHT SAVING CHANGE OF TIME AT TWO A. M., SUNDAY, MARCH 30th, 1919.

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railways will at 2 a. m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time.

If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the new railway time all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave Railway Stations on present schedule such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time. Therefore any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers must reach Railway Station ONE HOUR EARLIER than shown in current folders and public time posters.

Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change.

SUMMER SUGGESTIONS
Along with the days of balmy breezes and sunny languor comes the inextinguishable desire to change the house about; to shift the heavy pieces of furniture into the corners or banish them to the attic to make breathing space. There is a man wish to cover the overstuffed chairs and tapestry davenport with saucy slips of gay cretonne or braid-banded damask. It takes more ingenuity than cash to create a restful and spacious scheme for the summer rooms, and the housewife who can use her wifery to good effect along this line will surely have an added star in her celestial headress. It is impossible in this brief space to suggest more than a word about the tasteful employment of little things which will go far toward making the home safe for summer stay-at-homes. One idea to keep in mind when making changes in the rooms is to remember that crispness in curtains, greens, blues and clear yellows in drapes and light tones in rugs are three things worth sticking to.
In the matter of ornaments for the dining room, it is safe to have always a bowl of fresh fruit about.

Tail laced composes of white are lovely, but for those who had rather have just a bowl there are some new ones trimmed in gold bands which sit snugly on the face cloth. Powder cases holding sprays of dowers, or even a branch of leafy green, are quite attractive. If the summer dining room has enough of color in its hangings, plain crystal or porcelain vases filled with green leaves or white blossoms provide a pleasing note.
Speaking of between meal covers for the dining table, those of Italian felt seem to be on the crest of the wave just now. They are rather expensive, as all faces and linens will be used their making has taken on something more than the hull of an industry which it has had to be during the war. But this felt is indestructible and when frozen, the tubings are necessary this is an asset. Other runners of linen, crash have insets of flint medallions, Italian hand-painted and cut work. Perhaps except for the formal room Madeira is the best investment however, as it is dainty, durable and unpretentious.
Mirrors are becoming quite a rage for use in both formal and informal rooms. Painted consoles with mirrors to match suggest a charming arrangement, and when the console has doors, it is useful as well as ornamental. Gay Chippendale frames, those of black lacquer painted by master artists are some of the styles which are for formal use. Numerous mirrors in less ornate designs are to be had for the living room and small hall. They can do wonders toward brightening up a dark corner, or reflecting an unusually pretty arrangement of flowers.
A clever housewife can achieve wonderful effects with the new glazed chintz curtains which are placed at her disposal in innumerable patterns. The possibilities for transforming a hopeless room into a thing of joy are limitless if some of these delightful pieces are used singly or in combination. If used as shades, even those of brilliant colorings shed out the light sufficiently without darkening the room and at the same time pronounce the color note for the whole scheme. For instance, if one has a dining room which has a tendency to be somber, to place vivid chintz shades at the windows, use wide-hemmed serim curtains over them, and repeat the chintz in separate cushion covers for the chairs. Or in a hall, where there is a window at one end, one could have a shade of flowered chintz, over curtains of point d'esprit, and side drapes of apple green linen crash. A console holding a piece of Chinese porcelain or a bowl of garden flowers would complete the brightening scene.

MEN—Age 17 to 25. Experience unnecessary. Travel, make secret investigations, reports. Salaries; expenses. American Foreign Detective Agency, 728, St. Louis, Mo.
The one to occupy a bedroom done in gray and burnt orange, with a lamp and a rug of old blue. The draperies and chair covers of orange and gray striped linen with tiny East Indian figures, the bed covered in the gray with a pillow of the striped linen and candlesticks of gray painted wood with pale blue shades would be a most unusual and pretty fit for a room with a northern exposure.
One of the prettiest porch arrangements I have seen is many a season, had for its main furnishings nothing more than a drop leaf kitchen table and four chairs with split hickory backs and seats. The initial outlay of money for this set was very small, and the final achievements was a marvel of artistic decoration. The table was painted a deep golden yellow with lines around the edge of apple green and mahogany. The chairs were yellow and their round knobs were soft green. On the back of each was a round, flat cushion of black velveteen bound in mauve-woolen tape, stenciled in the three colors, and attached to the chair by an amusing fat laced or green shaded yarn. The same set in a larger pattern had been applied to the grass rug. The whole plan did not call for any wonderful amount of talent, yet the result was delightful in its originality.
Nearly all new houses and apartments now boast their little breakfast alcove, and many old houses are re-modelled in the kitchen for them. In the present day situation regarding the maid question, they are a boon. Some of them are quite pretentious, but the stunner ones have a stationary table, on each side of which are two built-in benches. If it is possible to include a window in the plan, it is of course that much better. A happy guest indeed would be wiser of a spring morning.

Remember Vimy Today and give.

THE CHIEF INSPECTOR.
Chief Inspector Rev. W. D. Wilson, under the Prohibition Act, who was in the city yesterday attending court proceedings in the interest of the Prohibition Act, returned to his home in Fredericton last evening.

TRAIL RANGERS' CLASS.
Captain S. J. Stokes, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., presided at the regular meeting of the Trail Rangers' class from the united churches in the Y. M. C. A. building last night. His topic was "Motto," illustrated and was much enjoyed by the large attendance of boys under fourteen years of age.

APPEAL FOR VIMY DAY.
At several of the theatres last evening speeches were made from the stage in reference to the Vimy Day for the W. V. A. A. Committee made arrangements for the brief addresses to be given, and the applause which the mention of the object of "Vimy Day" received showed that the cause is a popular one.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION.
The forty hours' devotion being conducted in the cathedral parish, ends tomorrow evening with special services. Special masses were celebrated yesterday at the commencement of the exercises. Today special masses will be celebrated. Tomorrow is Holy Name Society Sunday, when the members of the Holy Name Society will attend the early morning Mass in a body.

CARS WELL SUPPLIED.
The colonial troops which carried the returning imperial troops and dependents to their homes yesterday from this port were each provided with 30 mattresses, 72 heavy blankets and 24 pillows and slaps. This work is undertaken by the Dominion Immigration Department, which does the same service for every troop ship which docks here. The average number of cars so equipped is 15 to each vessel.

THIRTY-TWO DRUNKS.
Two lone drunks were gathered in by the police last evening. With memories of the $1,000 collected in fines at yesterday's session of the police court, the hebriatics refrained last evening apparently from the evil fluid. The grand total for the past week is thirty-two persons arrested for drunkenness, a bad record for a prohibition town.

FREE DENTAL TREATMENT.
The first report of Dr. Mabel Huntington, just made public, shows that out of one hundred and fourteen pupils examined in grade two, two of the city schools, Aberdeen and St. Thomas, only twelve were found to be normal. Bad teeth came first in the list of defects, no less than seventy of the number needing attention to their teeth. She strongly recommends free dental treatment for those unable to pay for the necessary service.

SALE OF SOLDIERS' WORK.
Some fine results of the teaching of handicrafts to soldiers were shown yesterday when the Royal Standard Chapter I. O. O. E. held at their room in Orange Hall a sale of baskets, trays and other articles. These were all made by the men in hospital and the making of them has proved a pleasant way of passing the time, which is so apt to hang heavily on their hands. Owing to the disagreeable day the attendance was not large, so the rooms will be open today. There was also on sale a number of articles of great beauty, wrought by hand from pure silver. The proceeds of the sale go directly to the men personally interested.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.
Mrs. Robert Tennant, of 244 Frascati street, received a very pleasant surprise yesterday, when her son, Pte. F. W. Tennant, arrived home on the morning train from Halifax, after nearly four years overseas. Pte. Tennant had written home nearly two months ago that he expected to sail for home almost immediately, and not bearing further news the relatives began to wonder why he did not return. Yesterday's surprise was all the more joyful therefore. Pte. Tennant went over with the 26th New Brunswick Battalion, and came through the war without a wound. He is being welcomed back by many friends.

HINES ORDERS BIG WAGE ADVANCE

The Increase to Railroad Employees Aggregates $65,000,000.

Washington, April 11.—Wage advances aggregating $65,000,000 were ordered today by Director-General Hines for four hundred thousand railroad engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors in both passenger and freight service—members of the "Big Four" railway brotherhood—retroactive since January 1, 1919.

DIED.

McARTHUR.—In this city on the 10th inst. Mary Ann McCarthy, wife of John A. McCarthy, leaving her husband, one son, one sister and one brother to mourn their loss. Funeral arrangements later.

Nearly Six and Half Feet Tall

Captain Brian Terence O'Grady of North Vancouver Returned Yesterday After Doing His Bit Since 1915—Was Decorated.

An outstanding figure among the imperial officers who returned home yesterday on the S. S. Scandinavian was Captain Brian Terence O'Grady of North Vancouver.

Nearly six and a half feet tall, lean and jovial, he seemed the perfect type of an Irish soldier of fortune, but his war record as shown on his right breast would surpass even a Kipling tale.

Captain O'Grady saw service as a private in the South African war and as a memento wears the Queen's and the King's medals. When the present war started he went overseas with the first contingent and early in 1915 secured a commission with the Lancashire Fusiliers, serving with the 2nd British Division.

With this imperial engineering battalion he saw considerable service at Salonica and for his services during the offensive attacks and retreatment there was awarded the Military Cross in September, 1918. Before proceeding to Salonica, Captain O'Grady was attached to the Allied staff of the Serbian army and for his splendid work in conducting the orderly and memorable retreat was awarded the Serbian Order of the White Eagle which was personally conferred by the Crown Prince in November, 1918.

Later Captain O'Grady fought in France and was severely wounded at the Somme engagement last year.

NOTHING DOING FOR RETURNED MAN

States When He Enlisted Employer Promised to Hold Position Open—Girl in His Place Now.

When the war outlook was not any too bright, back in 1916, a clerk in a local firm volunteered and was accepted for overseas service. He crossed to England that year, taking with him, he says, the promise of his old job back whenever he was ready for it. This boy retired after some days ago, battle-scarred and war weary, received his final discharge from the army and immediately applied to his former employers for work.

HAPPY HOME COMING FOR YOUNG OFFICER

Lieut. H. S. Cotterill Arrived on Scandinavian Yesterday to Receive Telegram That Baby Boy Was Born in Home in Wawata, Sask.

"Boys, this is the happiest home-coming any man could have," declared Lieut. H. S. Cotterill yesterday when he was handed a telegram stating that a baby boy had been born at the home in Wawata, Saskatchewan.

Lieut. Cotterill went over in the fall of 1914 with the Strathcona Horse and later was transferred to that branch of the imperial cavalry known as Knolly's Yeomanry. With this unit he fought through the early engagements at the Egyptian theatre, later returning to France and carrying on there with the British Tommies.

At the third battle of "Wipers," he won the military cross for frustrating a Hun raid and overpowering an enemy machine gun crew.

FISHING SEASON AND RESTRICTIONS

Deputy Minister of Trades and Commerce, T. C. F. O'Hara, writing to enquire relative to the fishing season and those restrictions which may govern the industry during the present year, states that he believes few, if any restrictions will be placed on the industry this year, as the war brings over the markets will be opened up and the trade will boom. As to the minor restrictions which might be placed on certain kinds of fish products, the minister believes these will be of a light nature, so that the fishery trade in the Dominion should be brighter. Local fishermen are preparing for the opening of the season's industry and expect a good run.

WANTED.—Several smart, neat looking young ladies to sell our 50c, 1.00, 1.50 and 2.00 "Kiddies," Girls and Misses' hats. Steady employment to the fishery industry. Come at 9 o'clock this morning prepared to transact.

Labor Conditions Over in England

Labor Leader J. C. Watters, Who Arrived on Scandinavian Yesterday, Says Conditions Still Serious But Believes Things Will Work Out All Right.

Among those who reached the city yesterday on the Scandinavian was J. C. Watters, the well known labor leader, who has been on the other side for about two and a half months.

Mr. Watters when asked about labor conditions in England said they were still serious but from what he saw he believed things would work out all right. The labor leaders, representatives of the employers and of the government were dealing with the problems in a broad minded way and he was satisfied would arrive at a solution of the problem which would be satisfactory to all concerned.

He had the privilege of attending the first meeting of the labor party, by invitation, at the opening of the British House of Commons and also of being present at the Industrial Conference held at Westminster, the latter gathering being probably the most unique in the history of labor. As a result of the conference he believed that labor would be given a larger measure of recognition than ever before.

Mr. Watters paid a visit to France and met his old friend, Sir Arthur Currie. He was personally conducted over the battle ground by Sir Arthur and highly appreciated the very highly the honor thus conferred, as he was the first civilian to be personally taken over the ground by the Canadian commander in chief. He was staggered by the devastation wrought and said it was absolutely impossible for anyone who had not seen the ravages committed to have any appreciation of the damage done to the country.

AMMUNITION CORPS COMES WITH 26TH

Unit is Now in England—Many Other New Brunswick Soldiers Are There Now Awaiting Transportation to Canada.

In a letter from a staff sergeant of the 2nd Divisional Ammunition Corps it is learned that that unit will probably return to St. John on the same vessel which will bring the Fighting 6th Battalion.

At present there are in England, awaiting transportation, the 1st Field Ambulance, the 1st Divisional Signalling Corps, the 1st Army Troop, the 1st Divisional Ammunition Corps, besides Major Magee's battery and the battery raised and commanded by Major Barker. On good authority it is learned that all these units will return before the 26th Battalion comes back and it is expected that they will each receive a hearty reception as that to be accorded to the infantry unit, particularly as most of the men are New Brunswick boys.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Shakespeare tells us there is nothing in it, if we have to believe the old adage, which has been accepted as the criterion. However, modern commercial progress has been fruitful in the matter of what's in a name. It gives the returning soldier a new name, which in his human relations has been especially constructive.

MISS ANNA CAE REGITAL.

Exchange tickets are still obtainable for the above regital, from the different chapters of the I. O. O. E., and from the Y. W. P. A., and from St. John's Society, up to April 24th. Also from the D. G. E. office, 164 Prince William street, Phone 464, or phone 816 up to April 26th, when the box office opens for exchange of tickets.

Everything new in vogue. We have a wonderful assortment of velvets by the yard; and the very latest novelty in the market—velvet in solid, ray, center, striped, and trench. During our remodelling sale these velvets will be marked at 60 and 70 cents each—worth double.

G. W. V. A. TAG DAY. All those who are tagging for Vimy Day are requested to meet at headquarters, the G. W. V. A. rooms, Wellington Row, at 9 o'clock this morning.

Nashwaak Mill Starts Monday

Manager Jones Speaks of the Arrangements Made—Notice Sent to Old Employees and General Workers.

R-NASHWAAK MILL.
Eugene Jones, manager of the Nashwaak Mill and Paper Company in referring to the announcement of the reopening of the plant next Monday, has informed The Standard that the Nashwaak mill is only one in a chain, and that the close down since that fall was in line with the general policy.

The mill is all ready now to start operations on Monday morning, and though some of the crews will be put on a two tour shift of sixteen hours, one week and thirteen hours the next, it is the intention of placing a large portion of the help on a straight eight hour basis.

In starting operation with many new workers it was thought that the present is the most favorable time to put this arrangement into effect, also such an arrangement would put far better than if the system were put in force while the mill were running. The new plan will affect 60 men in a working force of two hundred.

The notice sent to the old employees and general workers yesterday is as follows:

NOTICE.
We are pleased to notify our employees that we will start our plant on Monday, April 14th, the following wage scale to apply:

Two-four men formerly working 11 and 13 hours to be placed on three-four basis of eight hours each (7 a.m. to 3 p.m.; 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.; 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.) Same rate of wage per hour as applied on November 20th, 1918 plus 10 per cent. No extra pay for overtime.

Five men working nine hours will be paid at the same rate per hour as on November 20th, 1918, to also regular work, and time and one-half for all work over nine hours, or work performed on Sundays and Holidays.

LOCAL VENDOR PAID A VISIT

Liquor Inspectors Inspected Premises Yesterday as Result of Woman's Complaint—Everything Found Satisfactory.

The liquor inspectors made a visit on a local vendor yesterday to ascertain if the provisions of vendenship were being carried out, as possible, and detection of the law. It appears a complaint was laid by a woman, whose letter had not too much of the ground by the vendor, who immediately called upon the inspectors who journeyed to the place. After a lengthy explanation on the part of the vendor, and after looking over the place, the inspectors felt satisfied that the vendor was doing his lawful duty and found no fault with his particular system simply referred to, has held the vendenship for a short time, and took it as a matter of course, when others could not be found to take it. Last evening the vendor stated he was willing to surrender it to anyone at any time, as it was more of a source of annoyance than a benefit, although it was needed in a number of cases simply for medical purposes. At a former time, the stronger liquors, when prescribed by physicians, could not be obtained in this part of the province in order to be traversed in order to procure it.

FOUGHT WITH THREE ARMIES

Captain T. W. Rose of Quinton, Sask., Arrived Yesterday—Saw Active Service With French, Belgian and Italian Armies.

After seeing active service with the French, Belgian and Italian armies, Captain T. W. Rose, Quinton, Sask., and the E. E. Rose, both of whom were yesterday bearing on his breast the decoration of a member of the Order of the British Empire, the Military Cross and the Italian Silver Medal for Valor, during the battle of the Somme, in 1916, he was twice wounded, twice mentioned in despatches and won the M. G.

—DYKEMAN'S— Lovely Styles and Charming Fabrics in Easter Display

There can be no doubt about it now, we have come to the turn of the road. Spring and warmer weather beckons. In magnificent displays of lovely Suits, Coats, Blouses, Sweater Coats and delightful accessories presented in the store in Easter opening display, are reflected Paris and New York in their most attractive form.

Dykeman ability to give just the sort of service one could expect of leading fashion centres was never as great as it is today. With so much that is distinctly exclusive there is good cause for the stirring enthusiasm and pleasurable excitement so strongly in evidence among those who are busied here in their Spring and Easter preparations. Our entire Ready-To-Wear floor is abloom with Spring and Easter garden setting, and the music of feathered songsters add a golden melody to the beautiful setting—well worthy of a special visit.

SMARTLY TAILORED SUITS

It is the distinction of this shop to give complete and authoritative expression to the new Suit modes—to show not merely the general trend but the new and delightfully different departure—an almost endless variety, yet each garment bespeaks the refinement and quality characteristic of garments from this shop. $28.50 to $75.00.

THE FASHIONABLE WRAPS

Elegant interpretations of the Cape and Cape Coats with distinctive style touches and elegance of quality, each separate model, from this shop is not the usual and over popular styles—nothing is missing that is really smart and new.

THE FINEST GLOVES TO COMPLETE THE ENSEMBLE

Smart to her finger tips is the well dressed woman, and Gloves can make or mar a costume. There are many smart novelties of the finest kid from Europe with contrasting stitching, and plain. Price $1.50 to $3.00.

EASTER SILK HOSIERY

The soft subdued rich color so much in demand this Easter season will be found in our Hosiery section. A grand variety of colors, many pleasing fancy stockings will be shown. Plain Silk, 75c. to $2.75. Fancy Silk, $2.25 to $2.75.

FRILLS OF FASHION EVOLVED OF GEORGETTE AND ORGANDY

Dainty feminine touches introducing new color combinations. Frills to outline the new round necks smartly and becomingly featured in the large assortment shown today at Dykeman's.

How delightful it is when the styles which are in vogue are those which are almost universally becoming. So it is with the soft and graceful frills which form so many of the neck finishes of the Spring Dresses—soft Georgette or Crepe de Chine or crisp Organdy—these are the charming fabrics chosen for the development of the frills of fashion.

Lovely tucked Organdy frills are very crisp and becoming. These also launder in a satisfactory way. All color combinations and plain shades, including Victory Red, Pekin, Liberty, and Foche Blues, 69c. per yd.

Georgette Crepe, plain white and all colors, $1.75 per yd.

DELIGHTFUL IN THEIR MARVELLOUS COLOR BLENDINGS ARE THE NEW SEASON'S CHECKED, STRIPED AND PLAIN SILKS

Shimmering and soft, supple in texture, exclusive and distinctive in weave—daringly different in design, surely never were fabrics more ideally fitted to win approval both on the score of beauty and fitness. These lovely imported weaves are an inspiration of themselves from the achievement of the unusual in fashions. 30 in. to 36 in. wide, fancy stripes and checks. $1.89 to $3.75 per yd. Plain colors, 98c. to $2.75 per yd.

Spring Styles For Men

We find ourselves, like the fairer sex, on the verge of a new era in styles for spring and summer clothes.

It has always been conceded that fashions depend for their innovations on the trend of current events. If we take that for a fact, it is reasonable to suppose that we will have a heterogeneous array of styles to choose from. It is so with women's apparel, and with matters of decoration; that we do want as to clothes as well as government and silhouettes. But make, our tailors decided on one thing for us early in the spring, and to that end we shall stick, through the summer months at least, and leave it to the fall to bring a brand new set of rules for cutting our clothes.

According to this early decision of artists, the outline of the male figure is to be definitely discernible in the styles for the next few months. Form fitting is the rote, and from some of the samples, it is reasonable to fear that mature men with a decided tendency to plumpness will have to wear stays to get away with the last word in masculine decoration. The idea is to have the clothes dashing and youthful without being extreme, classy in cut but not conspicuous. Tailors realize that they have not the same figures to fit that they had in ante-war days, and they are allowing for the increased breadth of chest and muscular development of legs. The stoop-shouldered effect will be taboo, and in their stead will be coats a trifle longer and looser, but still fitting the figure, trousers not quite so skimpy, and plenty of room for the new strong backs which military experience has created.

The single breasted suit is the favorite this spring, and exceedingly good are the lines developed in these models. Shoulders are slightly wider, and the seams are accorded treatment which add to the total of good looks. Crescent and slash pockets are both seen a lot, but there is still no tendency to fancy effects in flaps. There are no buttons to speak of on sleeves and none at all on pockets. It is very evident that we cannot recover all at once from the embargo on such luxuries. Double breasted models are seen also, and there are plenty of discernible tricks to their fashioning which make them as popular with those who prefer them as the single breasted. All of the suits reflect the military influence in a general way, by the widening of the shoulders as mentioned above, and almost without fail they are all showing the new waist line which is very much used. Even plain, prosaic business suits will have this nipped-in effect imparted to it by the high waist and a long vent back.

In materials we will have as the most popular the unfinished woadens, chevot, homespun and cashmere for early wear. For sports and summer uses there are flannels, light weight serges, gabarines and mohairs. There is already a tendency toward recreational garments to be made of silk, linen or other delicate materials.

In patterns, stripes will be the vogue, with a second in overplaid effects. Narrow stripes will prevail, while those of the shadow type will also be good. Checks will not be used with as great prodigality as in former seasons, though there are men who cannot live through a spring trala, without their gambler's pincheck suit.

Green is the predominant color note in suits and overcoats, and we see a lot of brown, tan and gray represented in all the patterns. There are a few shades of blue, which is always good, but the two first named colors will have preference over others for every day wear. Materials of a very dark foundation have over treatments of a salt and pepper effect in reds and greens which are quite snappy for the young man.

Top coats for spring are practically the same as they were in the winter when it comes to lines, except like the suits they are more form fitting. The knee length style is the best buy, and the skirts flare a bit more this season. Few pockets are seen. Reversible motor coats of leather on one side and gabardine on the other are quite useful and come in a number of styles, some with patch pockets and others rather plain with only a belt. They are in three-quarter or full lengths.

Heather brown and green are the predominant notes in color for the new spots togetery. Riding suits in the former fabric have flaring skirts, a back vent running to the inevitable waist line, diagonal pockets and on some of the swager ones we find an extra outside flapped pocket in which to carry change. Golf suits show practically the same lines, with a little additional strapping and probably another tab or two for good measure. It was sports clothing that missed the extras most when we had to forego them.

Spring

The past few months have been a time of watchful waiting on the part of students of fashion. The great question—shall we have a new silhouette?—has been answered a dozen different ways. Some designers say we shall, and have gone so far as to contribute sketches of the new woman of the new era. We looked and read, and we are very well to consider for the slender figure, but when one just isn't vertical anywhere, the well laid plans of our dressmakers must come to grief. However, so far there is no radical change in the figure's outline, though there is no telling where the whims of the experts may land us before the summer is over. It is perhaps worth while to consider that other wars have had their effect upon styles but gradually, with no sudden difference in the mode, simply a slow drifting over a period of several seasons into a culmination of a new fashion.

After all, does a silhouette really matter? Women have become independent along other lines, and when we stop and take a look at the varied periods we see sponsored on the smartest dresses, it does look as if they were no longer slaves to their modiste's dictation. We see simultaneously on the newest and most dashing costumes any one of three styles of waist, high, low, and the new "near-waist" waist. We have skirts pleated, skirts short and skippy, skirts long and slit for ease in walking. We have long, light sleeves, flowing sleeves and short fitted sleeves. Variety in the word, yet it spells style as expressed by individuality.

Woolen fabrics which are the most popular for early spring suits are duvety, tricotine, gabardine, light weight broadcloth and the ubiquitous serge. Black, blue, gray, and combinations of blue and henna, black and tan, and gray and navy are seen in the popular coat dresses. Spring Styles in Silhouette and Fabrics

The past few months have been a time of watchful waiting on the part of students of fashion. The great question—shall we have a new silhouette—has been answered a dozen different ways. Some designers say we shall, and have gone so far as to contribute sketches of the new woman of the new era. We looked and read dubiously at the longer and perceptibly smaller waist-line; the full effect over the hips and the flatness in the back and in the front. This sounds very plausible, and is a hypothesis for countless depressions, except for those vertical lines in the back and front of the skirt. They are very well to consider for the slender figure, but when one just isn't vertical anywhere, the world's field plans of our dressmakers make us come to grief. However, so far there is no radical change in the figure's outline, though there is no telling where the whims of the experts may lead us before the summer is over. It is perhaps worth while to consider that other ways have had their effect upon styles but gradually, with no sudden difference in the mode, simply a slow drifting over a period of several seasons into a culmination of a new fashion.

After all, does a silhouette really matter? Women have become independent along other lines, and when we stop and take a look at the varied periods we see sponsored on the smartest dresses, it does look as if they were no longer slaves to their modiste's dictation. We see simultaneously on the newest and most dashing costumes any one of three styles of waist, high, low, and the new "near-waist" waist. We have skirts pleated, skirts short and skimp, skirts long and slit for ease in walking. We have long, tight sleeves, flowing sleeves and short fitted sleeves. Variety is the word, yet it spells style as expressed by individuality.

Woolen fabrics which are the most popular for early spring suits are duvetyn, tricotine, gabardine, light weight broadcloth and the ubiquitous serge. Black, blue, gray, and combinations of blue and brown, black, tan, and gray and navy are seen in the popular coat dresses. Braiding is extremely popular again and is carried out in silk and wool combinations, with heavy stitching and beads.

Taffeta is, of course, the silken favorite of the moment, and is used almost to the exclusion of toulard which was such a rage last season. Satin seconds taffeta for the new afternoon frocks and quite a number of printed georgettes and chiffons are being shown for afternoon wear. Tricot is of course, irrefragable, but it is so frightfully expensive that it may only be whispered about or used sparingly in connection with less grand materials.

There has been a great fear that our designers would not permit us to wear capes again this season. But our minds were relieved with the earliest showing, and since we have seen many variations of this most graceful and useful of wraps. They are not quite so full as those of last year; in fact they are not unlike the dolmans our grandmothers wore, pulled in at the hem and squared off as to sleeves. Others are glorified coats, with very wide sleeves and the new loose effect about the waist which is very distinctive. Scarf collars of the material bordered at the ends with fringe are seen on some of the satin and tricotine capes.

Utility coats are made in serge, silvertone, tweed and novelty fabrics. Satin sleeves or raglan style are equally good, and on most of the motor coats we have patch pockets and wide belts.

As has been proved times without number, the Canadian woman will never give up her tailored suit, which she has always preferred but for which she in war times substituted the more practical one-piece dress and top coat. Suits for her most part are made on simple lines, following a general slim idea, and trimmed with buttons or braiding. The coats vary in length, but the two most popular styles are the new box jacket and the straight coat of fingertip length. Some suits have no collars at all, and no fastenings, merely a separate waist-coat of pluse, silk or linen which is basted in and has a belt of the suit material tied across it. Others have a new wide shawl collar which forms pockets at the bottoms of the coat, and still others along the mannish notched collar and a slightly flaring hem. Skirts tend to become fullness about the hips, and hug the ankles closely, giving a mere suggestion of the barrel silhouette which was in vogue a few seasons back.

One very smart suit seen on the avenue was of navy blue serge with a hip length jacket which opened over a belted waistcoat blouse of cream linen crash trimmed with crocheted buttons and edged with Irish picot. The three-quarter sleeves were semi-daring and the tight linen cuff of the blouse coming down over the wrists gave a jaunty air to the costume.

The question of blouses always seconds the motion of the tailored suit. Georgette is being made up into waists of brilliant colorings, and combining the most unheard-of materials. For instance, a poplin affair of sheersilk georgette crepe was trimmed with fittings on the collar and sleeves of white batiste. Another model of leaf green printed chiffon had a deep roll collar of handkerchief linen bound in green taffeta. These are simply sketches of what we have come to. But by far the smartest blouses for summer wear are those of finest batiste, made entirely by hand, and trimmed with hemstitching or inserts of Valenciennes lace. Net blouses are embellished with lace, pleatings and insertion, even to the sleeves. These are fresh looking for the first wearing, but they do not launder satisfactorily, and unless one has an unlimited supply they are not a happy investment.

Among the prettiest and most pleasing purchases one can make in the way of morning frocks are those of the new English prints. This quaint fabric has supplanted ginghams and percales to a large extent, and there are some unusual designs in solid blue, heliotrope, yellow and rose which will be popular for tub-dresses. The designs are small and not unlike the calicos we used to know except that they possess an indelible charm which cannot be duplicated.

A few designers have given birth with afternoon frocks, which may be of help to the girl who is clever enough to evolve her wardrobe from leftovers combined with new materials.

A narrow skirt of navy blue net ruffles is topped by a bodice of dark blue satin which has a waistcoat of lighter blue brocade, and a round collar of embroidery edged with ecru lace.

Rose colored voile forms the nucleus of a charming dress, the skirt of which is made with four large tucks which are hand hemstitched. The coat-like tunic is trimmed with collar and pockets of Irish lace dyed to match the voile. A clever touch is given the whole by a narrow sash of Nattier blue ribbon which is knotted loosely at one side.

Evening gowns, real, honest-to-goodness ones, are coming into their glorious own again. Every imaginable color is being shown, from flaming red to shimmering black satin embroidered in metal flowers. Often there are weird combinations which create an effect of ancient Egypt by their gorgeousness. Metal cloth continues to be quite a vogue, and it is oft-times embroidered in very large Chinese or Oriental motifs. Skirts of this material have tunic of vivid hue georgette gathered into a fitted band at the hips. This gives a cylindrical turn to the figure, and is used more for evening frocks than in daytime ones. It is another of the new silhouette angles, if it can be said to resemble an angle at all. It is quite trying, not to say bizarre, and there are those for whom it will provide a happy vehicle, and those to whom it will bring disaster. Returning to pastel colors made up rather plainly in loose effects and oftener than not with a panel back terminating in a train. This attractive fabric does not lend itself to draping with as much grace as some of the softer materials, but it has a shimmer and dignity which is very charming. Gold and silver lace combined with malines, or taffeta is made up into informal party frocks. Prettiest of all, however, are the unpretentious summer dresses whose simplicity sometimes belies the price on the ticket, but for which there is no real substitute when it comes to that effect of pristine freshness which is the most delightful attribute of a woman at any time.

Like petals of some lovely mystic flower, the new spring hats are scattered in colorful abandon in all our best shop windows. With fine disregard for the fitness of things, one sees velvet and chenille chapeaux displaying themselves amongst the attractions with absolute insouciance. Where in seasons just barely over the horizon we have heard the call of the service hat, for canteen wear or for motor corps, we are restored in the twinkling of an eye to the choice, many lines amplified, of pre-war days. Ours not to reason why, ours just to go and buy is all the encouragement we need, for the business of choosing from such a kaleidoscopic array is no task at all.

Designers have mixed a number of rare colors for popular wear this spring. Some of them are quite stunning, others should be adopted with caution except for those who have naturally irrefragable complexions. For instance, the new brick, or henna, or whatever you'd rather call it, which had its rumbling start in the winter, is a Lorlei to trifle with unless one doesn't give a whoop whether they come to grief on shallow shoals or not. It is distinctly a color for a blond with glints of gold in her hair or a brilliant brunette with color that doesn't come out of a box. Purple, scarlet, grass green and chrome yellow are seen in small hats, as complements to dull frocks, and for sports wear these bright shades prevail again this year.

Let us hope that the admiral shape, as it is generally known, will have had its day, or month, one should say, by the time frost comes again. One may reasonably say it has been the cause of many a deflected proposal in some cases, when one views the pitiless relief into which it throws women's faces. Like the flu, it affected young and old alike, with no regard for age, condition or previous leanings in matters of millinery. Far kinder and equally good style is the droopy sailor or the new cushion brim, and there is really no reason why we should run to any fashion just because somebody happened to look well in it once upon a time.

If one is making one's own hat, or directing it done, the thing to do, by all means, is to insist that all the flowers one can lay one's hands on be assembled, regardless of color, and sewed flatly against the crown or on the brim. If one's falling isn't for flowers, there are quite stiff or flexible, ostrich fantasies, burnt goose, dashing cock feathers, natural or dyed peacock, not to speak of bending, bridling wool and silk embroidery and the inevitable wheat.

Glazed straw is used extensively this summer, and it is a satisfactory sort of investment, as it sheds dust and has a look of perpetual freshness. One very attractive hat with a brim of this straw had a crown of soft corded satin in a burnt orange shade, and garlands of tiny field daisies were

SUITS, COATS, DRESSES, WAISTS AND RAINCOATS

Ladies:—
In view of the fact that it is already several years since we adopted a MOTTO not to economize on labor, we wish to call your attention to the outcome of our most earnest endeavors, and even though patience is required in sacrificing an immediate harvest, we are proud to state that our policy has proven an absolute success in every sense of the word. Our customers have already shown their appreciation and recognize the value of a garment with thorough workmanship and up-to-date style, and by comparison you cannot but become convinced how honestly we adhere to our MOTTO.

For the complete comfort and satisfaction of our trade, we make a specialty of making any garment, strictly according to the selection of style you wish.

We also carry an assortment of Ready-to-Wear Suits and Coats in a variety of designs. If you would like to have your garments made from your own goods, we shall be pleased to give you the best satisfaction; although we are in a position to give you a splendid assortment to select from of our own stock. We assure you of better value for your money here than elsewhere. Call and see for yourself.

Nothing so melts our adamant resolutions as a glimpse at the window which are just bursting with bridal finery. The spirit of the season which springs up with the coming of peace has pervaded the trousseaux with even more insistence than it has other things. The choice of lovely Magyar and top clothes is as limitless as it was before the war, and the new change of it all is irresistible. That is all very well for the girl who can pick and choose languidly and without reference to a dwindling bankroll. But for the bride who must make a little go a long way, who is perpetually dressing on "nothing a year" as one of the foremost fashion magazines puts it, there are a few suggestions for a spring trousseau which would fill normal needs, and which could be added to if one really needed more than is sketched.

First there is the suit, which is of utmost importance. For hasn't it been said and proved that when a man thinks of his best beloved, he mentally pictures her in tailored smartness? Dark blue is, of course, the safest color to choose, and should be developed in turtleneck or serge, or even satin, though the last named fabric is apt to have an oddish or a messy look if it is not made by an irreproachable modiste. Smart collars and fresh nosegays, not to forget crisp veils, are the little touches which go far toward making the simple costume average a total of alluring charm.

The summer wrap is this year a thing of many uses and varied style. Coats that are really coats are not seen a great deal. Instead we have capes or their imitations, made in tricot or tallois, and these answer many demands in looking equally well over a daytime frock or a party dress.

Here Comes The Bride

Nothing so melts our adamant resolutions as a glimpse at the windows which are just bursting with the spirit of gaiety which sprang up with the coming of peace has pervaded the trousseau with even more insistence than it has in other things. The choice of lovely lingerie and top clothes is as limitless as it was before the war, and the new charm of it all is irresistible. That is all very well for the girl who can pick and choose languidly and without reference to a dwindling bankroll. But for the bride who must make a little go a long way, who is perpetually dressing on "nothing a year" as one of the foremost fashion magazines puts it, there are a few suggestions for a spring trousseau which would fill normal needs, and which could be added to if one really needed more than is sketched.

First there is the suit, which is of utmost importance. For hasn't it been said and proved that when a man thinks of his best beloved, he mentally pictures her in tailored smartness? Dark blue is, of course, the safest color to choose, and should be developed in frockline or serge, or even satin, though the last named fabric is apt to have an oddish or a messy look if it is not made by an irreproachable modiste. Smart collars and fresh nosegays, not to forget crisp veils, are the little touches which go far toward making the simple costume average a total of alluring charm.

The summer wrap is this year a thing of many uses and varied styles. Coats that are really coats are not seen a great deal. Instead we have capes or their imitators, made in tri-colour or tulle, and these answer many demands in looking equally well over a daytime frock or a party dress. For afternoon or informal dinner wear, one needs a beaded and draped sporty cape, a beaded or organza or batiste, a handsome blouse or two and a well made silk skirt. Sports clothes are a matter of personal preference, and their selection depends largely upon what one's favorite sports consists of.

Lingerie is, after all, the keystone of the trousseau. It is over piles of frivolous lace things that the bride-to-be has her happiest happiest dreams, and about which she will have more thoughts than all the frocks and suits in the universe. There are those who are not yet over the notion that mere men are vastly impressed with billows of lace and dangling loops of ribbon. And they buy not wisely but too well of frothy, unsubstantial garments which emerge from their first tubbing and woe of their former selves. Men are more aware of a shapely shoulder when it is under a strap of exquisitely dainty embroidery than when it is under a faded ribbon or a bit of twisted lace.

And there is a delightful freshness about underwear which can be washed and balled time and again and come out prettier for the laundering. Nightdresses of batiste with hand hemstitched hems and designs in drawnwork are moderately priced and practical. Those of Porto Rican or Philippine embroidery are made in an endless variety of sheer styles, and they are within reason as to price.

Of course for those who prefer them there are nighties plain and hemstitched as well as slightly highly decorative of crepe de chine and satin. A new note is sounded in trimming by the little puffings of material put together with extra dexterity or footing. It is reminiscent of the christening robes we used to spend some making. Envelope chemises are given an empire effect by a row of this trimming, and often a hem is just run in by hand with the footing whipped to the edge.

There are times when one has need of simple, well-made lingerie to wear when one is athletically bent. Both dainty and practical knickers of reinforced batiste with elastic at waist and knees have a matching cambric made with an edging of rib and hemstitched straps. Petticoats are things of whimsical style. We have become accustomed by now to the divided skirt, or nee-bloomers, of silk jersey, which are quite satisfactory for wear with the new tailored snugness of our skirts. When the sun's rays are merciless there are skirts of white satin with double panels back and front and a scalloped hem. Less discreet, but who cares, are those of white muslin with a slightly fulled embroidery flounce finished at the top with wide insertion through which is run flesh colored ribbon. For festive party wear one must have one of those bewitching affairs of georgette or crepe de chine, with a flounce of thread lace, and bows of ribbon without end. Here at least one's extravagance may have leeway, and one may not bother about quality. For a party petticoat is a party petticoat and it has to be frivolous to the ninth degree or it hasn't achieved its purpose.

Nightgowns are becoming so intricately lovely, that one can see bright possibilities of evolving perfect dresses out of two lengths of satin and some of the family lace. One of the most popular styles is the slip-over of satin with a cape of lace and a long looped sash of contrasting ribbon. A flesh colored empire alp with elastic at the waist serves as a foundation for a number of bright colored chiffon jackets. These may be made in pointed, round or square style, and piped on the edges or finished with a narrow bit of lace. Housegowns of taffeta, or for warm weather, even those of dotted swiss are not so alluringly feminine, perhaps, but they have a crisp, fresh look which is equally attractive, and then too they are undeniably girlish.

It is important to consider hand markings and the fastenings value of that touch of individuality they give to lingerie. Hand hemmed handkerchiefs embroidered in one's first name are lovely additions to a trousseau. A single wreath of flowers or a monogram worked on a home made bit of lingerie makes all the difference in the world in its effect on, oh, well, anyway on the laundress, which is something!!! There isn't room here to dwell at length on the importance of the individual touch and what it means to the trousseau. It is even wiser if one must, to sacrifice the outer garments until one has at least the start for an irreproachable outlay of dainty though not necessarily expensive lingerie.

Evidence from Cape Breton that the Most Deeply Rooted Forms of Kidney Disease Yield to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Red River, Inverness Co., C. B., April 11.—(Special)—That even the most deeply rooted kidney disease yields to a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills is shown by the statement of Mr. James N. Timmons, a well-known resident here. Mr. Timmons says that he inherited his kidney trouble from his parents and suffered severely from it for six years.

"I used two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good," Mr. Timmons states. "If I had followed on with the pills I believe they would have completely cured. I am always glad to tell others how much benefit I got from using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The Powerful Influence of The Home Surroundings

We may be surrounded by pulsing life in the great out-doors of our daily activities and yet the worth-while things—the deciding factors—find their inspiration in that which awaits us upon the threshold and within the precincts of the home. Your household is the one abode, where shut in from the world's un-friendliness, man's home and its furnishings make up his intimate surroundings. How important then that the home be the utmost expression of man's individuality.

Last year when all of us were treading the path of service in the military boot, and those who weren't were wearing 'em anyway, there was talk of the shoe factories adopting a last which should then and thereafter be known as the standard by which all men's shoes should be made. It was a foregone conclusion that the soldier would never stand for or on anything else, having once known the solid comfort and absolute joy that a Munson last can give. The manufacturers were a bit dubious about making any fancy lines at all, for fear they would be scorned by the returned warriors as well as their civilian customers. But it seems that the reverse is bound to happen, even where men are concerned, and the retailers are having the surprise of their lives in the demands they are having for fancy goods in the shoe line. Those boys who have trekked the path to victory have no idea of leaving any more broad footprints behind them, but are insisting on as pointed toes and as fancy styles as can be shown them. The result is that new lines are having to be hurried out to meet this sudden change from the expected. Shoes for the early part of the season at least had been constructed along sensible lines, and reflected the military in the tipless vamps and broad last. But things have changed and are changing until one doesn't quite know what the styles will be, except that they will be fancy.

We will see the same colors in leathers, black calf, chocolate brown, mocha and the different shades of tan which are always good. Patent leather will be seen in dress shoes as usual, though many men prefer the dull finish both for comfort and modestness. Contrasting color cloth tops are not seen so much as last year. Some very excellent combinations noted for afternoon wear are dull calf with dark gray tops, mocha brown with the same shade broadcloth top and lighter brown always with the same or slightly lighter uppers. Kangaroo has no equal in the leather line for ease and durability, and it is worth the extra dollar or so it costs. Russian leather and calf are next in popularity. As stated above, toes will be more pointed than they have been in some seasons. If popular demand is any criterion, which it usually is, heels will be about the same, maybe a trifle higher. Oxfords will have much of the wing tip and gingerbread treatment, and white sports shoes will again show the colored leather trim which has been such a leader. Spats are enjoying a huge popularity and are shown in shades of brown, heather and fawn to tone in with the new spring suits and top coats.

NEW SHOES FOR SUMMER.

For the past few seasons we have bowed to the inevitable, accepted the curtailment of variety in our footwear along with the curtailment of other luxuries, necessities, formerly considered. We wore the prescribed heavy walking boot, flatly sensible and appealingly uncomplaining as to weight, no matter how we squeezed the out. But this spring, praise be, we are to be allowed more latitude in our selection of working shoes as well as play slippers. We may be as frivolous as we like and nobody will say us nay. After all who can tell what a difference shoes may make in the paths we may tread? With skirts growing shorter and reenter as the days grow longer, it behooves us women to look to our feet and the prospect of their conspicuous consummating with no little concern and forethought.

French women have a habit of changing from their street shoes to house slippers as soon as they return from a walk or a shopping tour. Not that there is such a great difference in the two kinds of shoes as the Parisian wears them. Both are frivolous, absurdly high-heeled affairs, entirely feminine and far from coincident with our ideas of comfort and correct dress. But that is neither here nor there; the idea is a good one, and ours to adopt if we so fancy. There is a tendency to dressiness in most of our new summer oxfords. Former flat heels have taken on a layer or two, and soles are not quite so heavy as those of last season. Shoes are accomplishing the feat of being smart without sacrificing comfort, which fact attests once more the supremacy of Canadian artistry in boot-making.

Suede is the new fabric for all kinds of shoes. It even enters the realms of low heels and comes out victoriously swagging in appearance. Black, brown and gray are the prevailing colors, though it is permissible this year to have this soft, lovely, not to mention expensive and hard-to-clean material, made up in green, blue, henna or other odd shades to harmonize with one's trottetour. Heels are from spool to the three-inch French variety.

For morning wear mocha or black oxfords are the favorites among the smartest dressed women. Wing and straight tips are both seen in the shops and more than a few of the new shoes have their vamps unadorned by seams or attachments. This style is not to be courted, however, unless one has an extremely narrow and well-shaped foot.

Satin and suede vie with each other for strictly dress wear, and mat kid follows a near favorite. Black and gray with out steel and jet buckles are in excellent taste for afternoon slippers. One particularly chic oxford shown by an exclusive shop has a Louise V heel, four eyelets and a plain vamp encircled in jet beads. Brilliant buckles adorn many of the satin pumps, though one sees a great many less which are always smart and besides have a kindly characteristic, that of making the foot look smaller.

As to evening slippers, our metallic friends we still have with us, both plain or brocaded, buckled or bowed as one is inclined. Flesh colored satin continues to be seen also, and coming to the fore once again are slippers of satin dyed to match one's gown. One of the wonders of every spring is the white kid slipper with dull jet buckle, which was considered so smart a number of seasons ago, and whose popularity has never waned.

Sports shoes are returning to their original charm, in that the weird quiltings of bright leather which have had such a furor are left off of the smartest boots. Buckskin as soft as velvet and doing its own ornamenting with perforations and fancy tips is seen as the summer favorite. For those who feel that they cannot bring themselves to invest their year's savings in the previous leather, there are equally as attractive if not so durable styles in canvas and its followers.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN

MODISH SUITS ARE MOST FAVORED IN SEMI-TAILORED LINES FOR SPRING WEAR

Not Quite so Severely Mannish as Formerly and Allowing for Vests Which Brighten and Improve—Heavy Silk Cord Used as a Trimming for Suits—Very Bright Colors Predominate and There Are Many New Shades to Choose From.

An elaborate afternoon dress recently seen, in a collection of spring models was of black satin embroidered in peacock blue. This smart dress was a striped model, extremely long, narrow as two foot width but will boust-fant hip effect.

Mannish waistcoats and other vest effects are featured in many spring suits, particularly those of strictly tailored style.

Navy serge and natural-colored shantung is the strikingly smart fabric combination presented by Paquin in a new street suit.

Modish circular capes, more than generous in cut, with military or draped collars, persist in their attempt for popular acceptance as a spring wrap fashion.

For summer the smart separate skirt is being developed in such wash materials as pique, cotton, poplin and linen.

Many spring suit models show the rather extensive use of embroidery, as in most cases this embroidery is in the same color as the suit fabric, there is no offensive elaborateness in the general effect. Where contrasting colors are employed very careful selection of color contrast and harmony results in a pleasing effect.

Ribbon in irregular widths hanging in long streamers is a distinguishing feature of some attractive dress models by Paquin.

Foulards are used extensively for afternoon dresses by Paquin and several other Paris designers.

The vest idea is strongly emphasized in the spring fashions and many fancy ones of silk, lawn and new fabrics are seen. They are tucked as at the sketch shown in a block pattern or in groups of pin tucks.

Boudoir caps of lace are in many established styles and in such new forms as the Alsace bow effect and a shaped band type that fits down closely over the forehead and ears.

An audacious use of brilliant colors is the dominant note of interest in the Billoe collection and the extensive use of ribbon of many widths and varieties.

Long fitted sleeves predominate in afternoon dresses, and many dresses on chemise-lines are to be seen.

The model illustrated has a vest of contrasting color which matches the heavy cording on the coat of this costume. The narrow belt is edged on both sides with cord which also appears on the cuffs.

Sat Up in Bed To Get Her Breath.

Palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, inability to lie on the left side, feelings as if smothering, oppressed feeling in the chest, dizzy and faint spells, tired, weak, worn out feeling, involuntary twitching of the muscles, sleeplessness, restlessness, etc., all point to the fact that either the heart or nerves, or both, are not what they should be. Any of these conditions should be remedied immediately so as to avoid a complete breakdown of the whole system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring energy to the weakened constitution, strengthen and regulate the heart, and tone up the tired, overstrained nerves.

Mrs. William Steeves, Chemical Road, N. B., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart, which was so bad I had to sit straight up in bed to get my breath. I could not lie on my left side at all. I tried doctor after doctor, also several different remedies, but got no help from them. My mother insisted on me trying Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. By the time I had used one box, I was feeling very much better. I took in all three boxes, and now I am in perfect health, and can enjoy a good sound sleep, and can lie on my left side without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 60c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Vimy Ridge

Tread softly here! Go reverently and strive hard. Tea, let your soul go down upon its knees. And bowed head and heart abased, To grasp the future gain in this sore loss! For not one foot of this dank sod but drank Its surfeit of the blood of gallant men. Who, for their faith, their hope,—for Life and Liberty,—Here made the sacrifice,—here gave their lives. And gave right willingly—for you and me. From this vast altar-plate the souls of men Sped up to God in countless multitudes; On this grim cratered ridge they gave their all. And, giving, won The Peace of Heaven and immortality. Our hearts go out to them in boundless gratitude;—save bounds. If ours—then God's; for His vast charity All sees, all knows, all comprehends,—save bounds. He has repaid their sacrifice,—and God help us if we fail to pay our debt. In fullest full and all unstintingly! —John Oxenham.

Tips To Homemakers

Potatoes can be used like bread-crums for the stuffing of fowls and fish.

A fresh fruit cocktail is made of grapefruit, white grapes and pineapple.

Always take the outer skin from lamb chops, it gives them a strong taste.

To scrub a wooden floor which has not been properly finished is ruinous. A broad mixed mill is used successfully to mask a large quantity of potatoes.

The old-fashioned Indian pudding baked with beef suet might well be revived.

The most inexpensive and dainty bedroom curtains are made from cheesecloth.

Cauliflower can be served with rings of carrots cut in fine straws around it.

A bread sponge made with yeast is light enough to use when it is full of bubbles.

A flannel bag filled with hot sand or salt is a good substitute for a hot water bag.

Sandwiches made of brown bread filled with honey and chopped walnuts are delicious.

Delicious muffins may be made of dried bread-crums run through the meat chopper.

Every child should eat an apple a day. It will keep the system in good condition.

If one saves a teaspoonful of sugar a day, in one year five pounds will have been saved.

Lenten Recipes

Eggs, Rice and Tomatoes.

4 eggs, 2 cups strained tomatoes, 2 cups boiled rice, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt.

Dash paprika. Put the tomatoes into saucepan, and the rice; when hot, add the grated cheese stirring until heated through, but not boiling; add the salt and pepper; mix all well together. Brush bakedish with a little melted butter and make a border of the rice, tomatoes and cheese. In the centre break the 4 raw eggs, being careful not to break the yolks. Dust with a little salt and paprika, place in hot oven 4 or 5 minutes, or until done to suit your taste. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Onions Baked in Milk. Remove the skins and outer layers of good-sized onions and parboil them in salted water for an hour. (Re-

HOUSEHOLD EFFICIENCY

Madam Housekeeper, have you reduced your kitchen equipment to a scientific basis? Do you get full help value out of every pot, pan, dish, knife or other cooking tool in your food work-shop?

If not this is a good time to clean house, weeding out the non-essentials, sorting and organizing, and replacing outdoors utensils used every day, and adding to the equipment such pieces as have proved real time and step-savers to numberless housekeepers.

Mess kitchens are cluttered with tools seldom or never used—with pots and pans too large for use except on special occasions. These large utensils should be retired to upper shelves or store-room, where they will be out of the way and yet ready if needed. There is usually a motley collection of chipped enamelware, tins a little rusty or dented, chipped china and earthenware, and assorted pieces not used, but "too good to throw away."

All such things should be mercifully cleared out and sold to the junk man. They are space wasters and dust collectors. The table drawers, where forks, knives, spoons, beaters, fancy cutters, etc., are kept will also stand an elimination contest. Implements seldom used should be put in a separate box and set out of the way of the daily helpers.

A few tools of the proper kind and in good condition should replace all the doubtful or imperfect ones.

It is surprising how few tools a good housewife can manage, and also surprising at what small cost some of the best kitchen helpers can be purchased.

A spatula, that long, thin-bladed flexible knife-like tool, is one of the treasures of a good housewife—and can be bought for twenty-five cents.

The hair of dish-washer will will prairie and adore the simple plate-scraper made by inserting a flat piece of hard rubber in a metal holder and giving it a handle. It costs the whole sum of ten cents and is worth its weight in silver in the mussy job of scraping up after a meal. To keep sanitary, wash carefully in hot water after using, and then harden the rubber in cold water.

An egg-separator costs five cents and is worth a dollar when it comes to baking day. Separating the yolks and whites of six eggs is no job at all with this help. Set it over a cup, press the egg over it, and the yolk falls neatly into the centre, while the white slips through the slots into the cup.

Small aluminum measuring spoons—three on a ring—measuring 1/4, 1/2 and 1 teaspoonful. They save the bother of live spoons and dividing it and provide for exact measurements.

The glass measuring cup is the next convenient utensil. It costs fifteen cents and is worth it in its saving of spoiled dishes by insuring correct measures. A little pointer spot for pouring is handy.

The grape fruit knife is useful in loosening orange and grape fruit pulp from the skins, in getting the eyes out of a vegetable, coring apples, and in many other places where a curved knife-blade is handy.

THE SCAR. You can never take back an unkind word. You can never kill an unkind deed. There are some things you can never undo, any more than you can pull out a nailhole.

If you don't want to leave the ugly scar in the wood, don't drive the nail.

serve this water and together with the skins and outer layer use it as a basis for a vegetable soup? Drain the onions, place them in a buttered baking dish. Dust them with flour or fine dry bread-crumbs, cover with milk, add a sprinkling salt and pepper dot with butter, cover and bake gently for an hour longer. If desired grated cheese, mixed with an equal quantity of potatoes, coring apples, and in many other places where a curved knife-blade is handy.

The Scandinavian Arrived Yesterday

Brought 1,287 Passengers Including About Five Hundred Returned Men—Brigadier General Green-Wilkinson One of the Party.

Bringing 1,287 passengers from Liverpool, the S. S. Scandinavian docked at Sand Point yesterday morning about 5:30 o'clock. The passenger list included 466 golders who have been discharged from the Imperial army, and are now being repatriated, also 83 officers and cadets, 147 women and children.

With the reception committees looking after the wants of the passengers, and the Garrison Band playing lively music, those remaining were given a hearty welcome back to Canada. Among those who disembarked here was Brigadier-General Green-Wilkinson, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Salt Springs Island, B.C., who was accompanied by his wife, and Miss Wilkinson, who has seen service as a nursing sister.

The Brigadier General wears the C. M. G. ribbon, the D.S.O., and the badge for service in South Africa, the Sudan and Burma.

The large number of passengers for the West were given quick despatch. The following passengers were bound for New Brunswick points: Lieut. Guy Scovill, Hampton. Wm. K. McDonald, St. John. James T. Purcell, St. John. John W. Lorrain, Chatham. Charles N. White, St. John. Neil McDonald, St. John. Harry J. C. Ogley, St. John. Frank A. Karkula, St. John. Harry Demaine, St. John. George W. Hapwell, St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Thorne and two children. Michael Adams, St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leona, St. John.

Charles Sharpero, St. John. Marion M. Crockett, Fredericton. James Cameron, St. John. Wm. Howdle, St. John. A. Kavay, St. John. Wm. Thompson, St. John. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Phillips and two children, St. John. Charles P. Baker, St. John. Miss O. Lough, St. John.

Early in the season we had intimations of the dinky in our new head-gear, and by this time men in the case are wearing the brims so narrow that they give a man's head the semblance of the proverbial peanut. There are many things to be reckoned with, however, before this style becomes rationally adopted.

For instance, the returned soldiers, those of them who wore the kindly camo men hat, could hardly be induced to wear over a slightly narrower brim such as is seen on the average every day hat, much less would they consent to one of the southern cities, who need the extra width to shade their eyes from the hot sun's rays. And then the west-separates the real westerner from his Stetson if you think you can. They may all come to it sooner or later, but not in a heap.

The smartest materials are of course the soft, smooth finished felts, though there are some stiff hats shown. In the soft hats one can shape the edge of the brim to best suit one's facial contour, while the stiff hat is rather uncompromising along that line.

Following the colors shown in suits, brown and green will be the most popular. There will be the usual array of spring grays, light tans, oxford, fawn and maroon, these to be shown more for early wear in the silky velours of foreign manufacture.

Somebody has said that we shall wear our bows in the back this season, so in the back they are, and I suppose it is the exception that makes the rule, so they do have a few on the side. Braids binds some hats and others have raw edges.

Crowns are a trifle higher and reflect in their shapes the military note. There are no noticeable changes in derbies except for the afore-mentioned narrowing of the brim. Though we were told that we would be coming to stiff hats of pearl gray and light fawn before long as a sign of a case of history repeating itself, so far we have occupied this, and let us hope we do, unless we really go in for it and lose ourselves completely in Mid-Victorian ugliness.

Copenhagen, April 10.—The council of people's mandatories which has been in control at Munich has been dispersed by the communists, who have formed a communist government there, according to a Nuremberg newspaper.

Two "topps" of proud say Bavaria has spread to Baden, and agitators are working in Karlsruhe, Mannheim and other large towns, according to a Karlsruhe despatch received in Berlin.

The agitators are said to be attempting to start a revolution and to proclaim a Soviet republic in Baden. They would also unite Baden with the Bavarian Soviet Government.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday School Lesson for April 13 is "Christ Our Saviour,"—John 1:35-41.

Written on the surface of the world's social unrest, and yet unrecognised by those who are supposedly most concerned, lies a profound message for all of life.

Occasionally we catch glimpses beneath the surface of men's lives, seeing what lies deeper than the struggle for position and possessions and and women who are lonely in their souls will throng to hear it.

Whoever does not discern this message of spiritual search in our own day is a superficial observer.

The Questions. Ours is the day of the questions. Everybody has his search. Wrapped up in the one big word, "Reconstruction," all of us hope to find the fulfillment of our most cherished desires.

Stay-at-home philosophers, who have not felt the deep tides of France flooding their souls, and who know not the majestic simplicities of religion for our awestruck world.

Red Triangle Campaign

The second purpose of the $1,000,000 fund which forms the objective in the coming Campaign of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. is to permit increased service to 300,000 Canadian boys, and to extend Y.M.C.A. work to country places as an important offset to the shrinkage in the man power of Canadian citizenship.

That calls us back to the lesson of the first Christian discipline. The fellowship of the friends of Christ grew by personal testimony. Each person as he found the Lord, told some body else.

When I was a youngster in a newspaper office, we had a political correspondent who signed his letters, "More A-Coming." He never wrote anything but "More A-Coming."
