Better Times are coming FOR FARMERS WHO USE NEILY'S FERTILIZER
For the Growth of Crops.
This Fertilizer is equally well Suited for Grain or Root Crops.
It cannot fail to give satisfaction who properly used. It is excellent when alone, but will give still better results when used with half the ordinary quantity of stable manure, or thorough rotted black mud compost. Five year experience with leading farmers has proved it equal to the rarest and at a low price. Don't fail to give it a trial.
For further information write for pamphlet, giving some of the many testimonials in its favor, to EDWARD READ, Agt. at Sackville, or to L. O. NEILLY, Manufacturer, Aylesford, Kings Co., N. S., mail 183 M.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots, possibly due to age or handling. A faint vertical crease is visible near the right edge, and a small, dark, rectangular mark is present near the top center. The overall tone is a warm, off-white or light beige.

CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER.

SACKVILLE, N. B., JUNE 4, 1885.

—Some cases of genuine Asiatic cholera are said to have occurred in London.

—The Emperor of Germany has been seriously ill for some time and grave apprehensions are entertained.

—The New Orleans Exhibition is a complete financial failure and is reported to be hopelessly bankrupt.

—New Brunswick six per cent. bonds have advanced 1 1/2 per cent. in the English market. On the 20th of May they were quoted at 106 1/2.

—The United States has a small Indian war on their hands at present. The Apaches of Arizona are on the warpath and some settlers have been killed. Fresh ravages upon scattered ranches are reported and it is feared the Navajos, Utes and Paiutes may join the Apaches.

—The London Times, says the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway is a most important step toward the consolidation of the empire. It is a priceless advantage to have command of a great line uniting the two oceans, beyond reach of hostile attack and free from restraints of possible embarrassing neutrality.

—Gabriel Dumont, Riel's lieutenant, was captured near Fort Assiniboine, Montana, last Thursday, by United States soldiers. He was released next day by order of General Terry, who had received instructions from Washington to release the prisoner, as he had committed no offence against the laws of the United States or against the extradition law.

—The Manitoba Legislature has passed an act under which real estate under occupation is exempt from seizure for debt to the amount of $2,500, and furniture to the value of $500. The act applies to existing debts as well as to future transactions, and therefore looks out very much like a protection for the property of the immigrants.

—It will probably attract a certain class of immigrants to the Province, but it will also have the effect of restricting credit, and thus make the settlers honest in spite of the law.

—The funeral of Victor Hugo, which took place on Monday, is said to have been the grandest ever seen in Paris. The procession was four hours in reaching the Pantheon, where the remains of the dead poet were interred, and the streets through which the cortege passed were densely crowded.

—In the Commons last Friday a message from the Governor General was read, recommending the immediate granting of one million dollars to meet the expenditure in connection with the North-West troubles. Mr. Bowell, on moving the House into Committee on Supply, said it was absolutely necessary that the money should be voted. Hon. Mr. Caron stated that his department was very anxious that the pay of the men should be met without delay. He calculated the pay and subsistence of the men would come up to half a million dollars a month and the amount for the forage of 700 horses was also very large; also military supplies and hospital supplies. In reply to Mr. Cartwright he said they would exceed the vote now taken. It was extremely difficult to get in accounts from the remote districts, but in a short time he hoped to be able to lay before the House an approximate estimate more nearly approaching accuracy. The sum included nothing for munitions of war, purchase of horses, &c.

—A week ago, we accused the St. John Globe of furnishing its readers with misleading information respecting the Chignecto Marine Railway, and we assumed it was given for the purpose of aiding its editor in his prospective political campaign.

When this charge it was completed the Globe to back up its statements with facts or else to frankly acknowledge it was in error. It, however, does neither. It seems more concerned about making a little political capital than maintaining a reputation for truth and candor. What is its real purpose? It states that Mr. W. C. Milner is Collector of Customs and has leisure to write against the Globe, &c. Clever and convincing answer!

The Globe is right in stating that Mr. W. C. Milner is Collector of Customs. It is wrong in assuming he is editor of the Post. True, he has not written an affecting valedictory while he continued to write articles sub rosa, for that sort of thing, as the editor of the Globe well knows, has of late become rather discredited, but if his connection with this paper still continues, it necessarily concerns the winding up of the transaction of a few years' business—a connection that is temporary or otherwise, need not prevent the editor of the Globe giving some attention to the truth in dealing with public matters. That this editorship is a "fat" office, the Globe worries itself to impress the public. If "fat," we ask the editor of the Globe by what terms would he express his views as to a salary three times as great? Such, for instance, as he enjoyed as Postmaster of St. John. I will, however, compare to the "fat" office, we do not think the editor of the Globe ever found, amongst the Provincial editors, a milder soul influential enough to write up the fatness of his salary.

Statute Labor.

As the season for performing the annual labor on the highways required by law is again at hand, and as the condition of the public roads is a matter of considerable importance to all classes, an enquiry with regard to the best method of making repairs may not be out of place. The methods now in vogue in many districts may have been the best that could be adopted, when the country was new, but great changes have taken place since then, and it does not follow that a system should be continued at the present day simply because it was the best that could be devised at the time when the Loyalists landed. As at present conducted in many districts, the performance of statute labor is merely a struggle with the elements, and, in every case, the elements appear to get the best of it. The soil which has accumulated in the ditches and gutters during the year is thrown on the roads, where the first rain storm converts it into mud and washes it back to the place from whence it came, while the remainder, under the influence of the sun and wind, becomes dust and is blown on the roadside or whirled into the faces of travellers until they have a realizing sense of the discomforts of a sand storm in the desert. Of course it is difficult in some sections to procure suitable materials for repairing the roads, but, as the method now employed is often a mere waste of time and money, it would seem advisable to adopt a better system, even if only a small portion of the highway were repaired each season. The amount of statute labor nominally performed in some districts is sufficient, but judiciously expended, to keep the roads in excellent order, and if only a small part were permanently improved each year a change for the better would soon be visible.

Fighting Near Fort Pitt.

Big Bear Showing his Claws.

WINNIPEG, MAN., May 31.—A despatch received from Battleford states that a fight took place 12 miles from Fort Pitt on Thursday and Friday between Gens Strang and Big Bear. The troops engaged under Gen. Strang consisted of a detachment of North West mounted police, the 65th Batt. of Montreal, and five companies of the 92nd Batt. or Winnipeg light infantry. In all some 300 men. Big Bear, in addition to the 100 Indians, had a fine ambulance and determined to give the loyal troops battle. He had 500 fighting braves with him, most of whom had American experience in Indian wars. The country round Fort Pitt is very rugged, abounding in ravines, also covered with dense forest and well watered with lakes and rivers. The Indians were the first to open fire upon the troops and did so when they were marching through a line of trees, some of which were very tall and straight. The fight was very close, the Indians and soldiers were firing frantically. The troops retired upon Fort Pitt. A despatch from Ottawa, dated May 31, says:—Gen. Middleton left Battleford this morning for Fort Pitt by steamer, taking three regiments, two Gatling guns and cavalry to aid Col. Strang, who is holding Fort Bear and five hundred braves at bay at a place fourteen miles this side of Fort Pitt.

—The Pantheon, in which the remains of Victor Hugo have just been deposited, was originally the church of St. Genevieve, built at the time of the French Revolution in the closing days of the last century it was consecrated by the National Assembly to the memory of illustrious men, and Voltaire, Rousseau and other distinguished Frenchmen rest in the crypt beneath the edifice. The building has since been used as a church, but when it was decided that the body of Hugo should find a resting place within its historic walls the Pantheon was again secularized. The reason for adopting this course was that it was not thought fitting that the body of one who persistently refused the offices of the church should be placed within the precincts of a sacred edifice.

—Rev. James G. Hennigar, aged about eighty years, one of the grandfathers of the Methodist church in Nova Scotia, was married a few days ago to Miss Moore, of Antigonish, N. S. The venerable gentleman, who is well known in Sackville, celebrated his golden wedding with his first wife two or three years ago.

—The R. W. Grand Lodge of the World, of the I. O. G. T., opened its thirtieth annual session at Toronto last week—Hon. J. B. Finch presiding. The order is reported in a flourishing condition, with a membership of 803,000, some 10,000 of which were added during the past year.

—The approaching marriage is announced of a son of General Lord Alexander Russell, commanding the Imperial troops in British America, at Halifax, with a daughter of Sir John Russell, commanding the British fleet in North American waters.

—Not a few of those who listened this week to the sweet music of the Fisk University Singers will carry through life pleasant recollections of their concert. They aim to "sing to the heart" and they succeeded in doing this.—Wesleyan.

—A despatch from Ottawa says that the trial of Louis Riel will commence at Regina on the 22nd of June, before Sir Sidney Magistrate Richardson and a jury of six.

—Dr. Mulvany, formerly of this place, died at Toronto on Sunday.

From the North-West.

Another Letter from an Officer of the Halifax Battalion in the North-West.

SWIFT CURRENT, May 2nd, 1885.

DEAR PORT:—We left Winnipeg on Wednesday evening last at short notice, having no hint that we were likely to be moved that day until midnight, but as we wished to show that we were all ready, we lost no time, and bag and baggage were on board the cars and under way at 7.30 o'clock the same evening, after having lost two or three hours waiting for water bottles, extra tunics, etc., from the Government stores, we made no stoppage on the route for more than a few moments, except at Brandon about half an hour, and Moose Jaw for dinner, which takes about three hours, as no room in this part of the country will seat more than thirty or forty men at a time. We arrived here at 10.30 Thursday evening and remained in the cars all night, after breakfast got the camp and baggage landed and carried on the camp ground, which is directly opposite the station.

We are alongside the 7th Battalion of Infantry from London, Ont., the only other battalion now here; they are a fine body of men, and the officers a good lot of fellows. It took us all day to get up the tents and arrange our beds, etc. In the evening we had some fun trying to get hay to fill our mattresses and pillows; most of the officers had to sleep on blankets and are still doing so, but I managed to get my hay the first night (it is worth a cent), and I am now sleeping in a room which the Government have plenty, it is always under guard and consequently hard to get.

The settlement here consists of about a dozen buildings, two or three being shops. The country about here is more hilly than most places we passed, and is quite picturesque at some points along the river; the grass is coming up quite green and sun from eight in the morning till four in the afternoon is very hot. I expect that we will soon all be as black as Indians.

The nights are still quite cold, sometimes having frost. We are out every morning at 6.30. For drill, then breakfast and drill at 10 o'clock, after dinner we drill again, putting in about five hours every day. There are a few wigwags near the camp, occupied by squaws of the Cree tribe (the men, it is supposed, have gone to join Riel). They are the dirtiest and most miserable specimens of humanity I have ever seen. There have been reports brought in to General Laurier by scouts that the Indians are gathering in great numbers to wait for the coming of the army of horsemen (two or three) who have been passing over the prairie five or six miles off, and no one is now allowed to go more than a mile from camp as a consequence, and as we expected to have some shooting here, we don't like it a bit.

At Winnipeg most of the houses are under Gen. Strang consisted of a detachment of North West mounted police, the 65th Batt. of Montreal, and five companies of the 92nd Batt. or Winnipeg light infantry. In all some 300 men. Big Bear, in addition to the 100 Indians, had a fine ambulance and determined to give the loyal troops battle.
