Does It Pay

To dress well? No thinking man will answer but that the investment is a good one. Dressing well does not mean that one must wear broadcloth. Deeks & Munson, for instance, have upon their tables many fine samples of cloth that look well, wear well, and are put together on the best looms from only first-class material. They are goods intended for business suits, some of them; others are for "best." But any of them are fit for any occasion, if necessary, and they do not come high in price. They meet the demands of the times to a nicety. They cost no more than poorer stuff made up by inferior tailors, and that gives no satisfaction from the first week of its existence to its speedy end. Dress well. It saves your self-respect, saves your pocket, and extends your life by keeping out discontent.

Tale of Horrors From Pekin

Fatal Struggle of the Europeans Described.

How the Besieged Band Fought for Dear Life Till Everyone Had Perished—Success of the Allies at Tien Tsin—The Japs Did Splendid Work—Urgent Appeals of Americans in China.

London, Monday, July 16, 4:40 a.m.—It seems impossible to entertain any longer the least doubt as to the fate of the Europeans in Pekin. The Associated Press learns that Lady Hart, wife of Sir Robert Hart, director of the Chinese imperial maritime customs, on July 5 received the following telegram from her husband: "Our people, including the women, are in the legations. Prepare to hear the worst."

The European governments have received from their representatives at Shanghai a dispatch from the governor of Shan Tung, dated July 3, reporting that the European troops made a sortie from Pekin and killed 200 of Gen Tung Fuh Sian's forces, and that the Boxers were mounting guns to make a breach in the defenses.

HEAVY ONSLAUGHT.

Under date of July 12, the governor of Shan Tung wires: Native soldiers and Boxers have been attacking the legations for some hours, but have not yet effected an entrance. They are now all bombarding with large cannon to make a breach for a heavy onslaught. I fear that all the ministers and the government as well are in great danger. The government is intensely anxious.

THE FOREIGNERS KILLED.

Finally came the news from Shanghai that a breach had been made and the foreigners killed. All the dates probably refer to a much earlier period, but the presumption is that the successive dispatches give an outline of what has happened. The details of the horrible story will probably never be known.

AT TIEN TSIN—SUCCESS OF THE ALLIES.

Admiral Seymour gives the latest news regarding the situation at Tien Tsin. The Japanese cavalry and a mobile mounted battery did splendid work. Four hundred Chinese were killed and six guns captured. At noon the settlements were again vigorously shelled from the native city, and the hospitals and other buildings were repeatedly hit.

APPEAL TO AMERICANS.

The following is the text of an appeal of Americans in China, assembled in mass meeting in Shanghai, to their fellow-citizens at home:

"Urge the government to send adequate forces to act effectively in concert with the other powers. At present the American forces are quite disproportionate to the interests involved. Our commercial interests in the northern provinces are paramount, and we consider it a humiliating policy to intrust to other powers the chief task, that of protecting Americans. Anti-foreign outrages are multiplying daily. Officials and missionaries are massacred.

"The fate of the ministers and their families in Pekin is not known, but a general massacre is apprehended. Wholesale massacres of native Christians continue. The whole country is terrorized. Trade is paralyzed. The speedy restoration of order are duties pressing upon all civilized powers. The consequences of delay will be disastrous. Not only are foreign lives and property placed in jeopardy, but the loss of influence will be incalculable. Give no credence to statements of the situation sent by the Chinese Government to its ministers abroad. The present outrages are the result of the weak and vascillating policy of the powers in the past. We urge immediate, energetic and concerted action."

All Killed.

SAYS THE GOVERNOR OF SHAN TUNG.

Shanghai, July 15.—An official telegram was received tonight from the governor of Shan Tung, stating that a breach was made in the wall, after a gallant defense, and all the ammunition had given out. All foreigners were killed.

KNEW IT A WEEK AGO.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "I can assert positively that the Chinese authorities had the dreadful news from Pekin a week ago, and that Sheng knew all the foreigners in Pekin were dead when he asked the American consul to cable Washington a proposal to deliver the foreigners in safety at Tien Tsin on condition that the allies would suspend their operations to the north of Pekin."

According to his story, the members of the legations made daily sorties, and so successfuly as to compel the Chinese to retreat from the immediate vicinity. These reverses had a disheartening effect upon the Chinese, and there soon began to be open signs of disaffection. Ultimately Prince Tuan decided to make a night attack in three powerful columns.

JULY 6 THE FATEFUL DAY.

At 6 o'clock on the evening of July 6, says the correspondent, fire was opened with artillery upon the British legation, where the foreigners were concentrated. For two hours the walls were battered, and huge breaches were made in them.

Then a general advance was ordered, and the Chinese infantry moved toward the gaps. The fire of the defenders, however, was so accurate that hordes of Chinese soldiers and Boxers broke and fled, leaving large numbers of dead and wounded around the legation. Then Prince Tuan, making a desperate appeal, induced them to stand and return to the attack; but before the attackers could accomplish their object they were met by Prince Ching and Gen. Wang Wen Shao with their troops, who were going to the aid of the foreigners. A desperate battle ensued between the Chinese and Manchus. Unfortunately many of Prince Ching's troops deserted to Prince Tuan. Prince Ching fell, and was supposed to have been killed, but it is now believed he was only wounded and carried off. Gen. Wang Wen Shao, 70 years old, valiantly led his troops in person. He was killed and his force, which was completely outnumbered, was routed.

Throughout the night repeated attacks were made and repulsed. About 5 a.m. the allies had practically defeated the besiegers, who were wavering and withdrawing, but just then Gen. Tung Fuh Siah arrived from the vicinity of Tien Tsin with a large force. By this time the walls of the legation had been battered down, and most of the buildings were in ruins. The small band that was left took refuge in the wrecked buildings, which they endeavored hastily to fortify. Upon these the fire of the Chinese artillery was directed. Towards sunrise it was evident that the ammunition of the allies was running out, and at 7 o'clock, as the advances of the Chinese forces failed to draw a response, a rush was determined upon. Then, standing together, the little remaining band, all Europeans, met death stubbornly. There was a desperate hand-to-hand encounter. The Chinese lost heavily, but as one man fell others advanced, and finally, overcome by overwhelming odds, every one of the Europeans remaining was put to the sword in the most atrocious manner.

THE SORTIE.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, on the alleged authority of couriers, who brought the story, says: Maddened with hunger, after having been without food for many days, the members of the legation and the guards made a sortie on the night of June 30, and killed 200 Chinese in an unexpected attack. Gen. Tung Fuh Siah, enraged over the loss of so many men, brought up heavy guns, and Prince Tuan gave orders that every foreigners must be destroyed.

"In the final attempt to cut their way through, the legations formed a square, with the women and children in the center. When the Boxers realized that they were being attacked, they became like wild beasts, and shot each other in the darkness. The foreigners went mad and killed all their women and children with revolvers. Heavy guns bombarded all night until the buildings were demolished and in flames. Many foreigners were roasted in the ruins. The Boxers rushed upon them, and hacked and stabbed both dead and wounded, cutting off their heads and carrying them through the streets on their rifles. They then attacked the native Christiain quarters, massacred all who refused to join them, outraged the women and brained the children. Hundreds of mission buildings were burned." The correspondent adds: "All China is now aflame in revolt against foreigners. Only in the extreme west is there quietude. Every port, even Shanghai, is menaced. In the provinces of Hupe and Hunan thousands of native Christians have been murdered and tortured, the women being outraged and massacred.

Victory!

FOR THE ALLIES

London, July 16.—The following dispatches from Admiral Seymour were published last evening:

"Tien Tsin, July 9.—The enemy's position southwest of the settlement was attacked at 4 o'clock this morning. The Japanese, by a flank movement, drove the enemy out and captured four guns. Cavalry pursued and completed the route of the enemy, killing large numbers of soldiers and Boxers. The allied forces shelled and occupied the western arsenal, capturing the guns. The arsenal was burned, as the allies were unable to hold it. The enemy's loss was 350 killed. The loss of the allies were small."

"Tien Tsin, July 12.—The Chinese at 3 a.m. yesterday made a determined attack upon the railway station in great force. Finally they were driven off at 6 a.m., but the allies lost 150 killed and wounded. The Chinese loss is unknown, but it is believed to have been heavy. The allied forces have been increased by the arrival of 1,500 Americans.

FOREIGNERS FROM WEN CHOW SAFE.

London, July 15.—The only news from China last night was the following: "The foreign office has received information through the consul-general at Shanghai, that the whole foreign community from Wen Chow has been safely landed at Shanghai."

As no mention is made of the alleged statement of Sheng announcing the murder of the foreigners in Pekin, it is presumed that the story crediting Sheng with these assertion, and announcing that he blamed Prince Tuan for the attack on the legations is one of the many inventions emanating from Shanghai.

According to a dispatch from Berlin, the mobilization of Germany's expeditionary force is being carried out in splendid fashion. Some 10,000 volunteers and 416 officers have already been accepted.

Allied Forces Storm the Walls of the City.

Attack Reported to Have Been Repulsed With Heavy Losses.

7,000 Europeans and Americans Engaged—Chinese Force Estimated at 20,000.

Wounded British Soldiers Prefer Death to Being Left to the Mercies of the Chinese.

Tien Tsin, July 13, via Che Foo, July 15, and Shanghai, July 16.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon, 7,000 of the allied troops were attempting to storm the walls of the city. The attack began at daylight. The Chinese on the walls are estimated conservatively at 20,000. They are pouring a terrific hail of artillery, rifle and machine gun fire upon the attackers. American, Japanese, British and French troops are attacking from the west and the Russians from the east. The Americans suffered terribly.

The chief surgeon of the Ninth Infantry said it was a conservative estimate that 25 per cent of the Americans had been hit. Col. Emerson H. Liscum, is reported to have been mortally wounded. Officers declared that it was a hotter fight than Santiago. When the correspondent left the Americans were lying in the plain between the wall and the river under an enfilading and a direct fire. It was equally difficult for them to advance or retire.

The correspondent counted three hundred wounded men of all nationalities.

ALLIES REPULSED.

Washington, July 16.—The navy department this morning received official confirmation from Admiral Remey of the reverse of the allied forces at Tien Tsin on the morning of the 13th. The dispatch is dated, Che Foo, July 16, and says:

"It is reported that the allied forces attacked the native city on the morning of the 13th; Russians were on the right with the 9th infantry and marines on the left. The losses of the allied forces were large.

"The Russians lost 100, including their artillery colonel. The Americans lost over 30; British, over 40; Japanese, 58; French, 25. Col. Liscum, 9th United States Infantry, killed; also Capt. Davis, of the marine corps. Capt. Lemly, Lieuts. Butler and Leonard wounded.

"At 7 in the evening the allied attack on the native colony was repulsed with great loss. Returns yet incomplete; details not yet confirmed. (Signed) Remy."

London, July 16.—According to the Evening News dispatch, the allies were repulsed and compelled to retreat with a loss of more than 100 killed, the British losing 40 and the Japanese 60. The Americans and the Russians also suffered heavily.

Among the Americans killed were Col. French, of the 25th Infanty, and Col. Liscum, of the 9th Infantry. A Russian colonel of artillery was also killed.

The dispatch says that the Chinamen fought with great desperation and that their marksmanship was accurate and deadly.

THE RUSSIANS—A DENIAL.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—It is semi-officially denied that 30,000 Russian troops are marching to Pekin from the north.

SENSATIONAL STORY VIA NEW YORK.

The New York Journal and Advertiser has an alleged cable (unconfirmed) to the effect that when Admiral Seymour in his retreat found himself so hard pressed that he was unable to carry his wounded with him, he asked them: "Which do you prefer, to be left to the mercies of the Chinese, or to be shot by your own comrades?" "We prefer death to torture, shoot us now, that we may died like men," was the response of the helpless soldiers.

According to the Journal's story, the men were "mercifully shot by their comrades."

Worst Has Happened.

London, July 16, 6 a.m.—(Special to Globe.)—Confirmation of the awful rumors in reference to Pekin has now been received from Shanghai. Sheng, the director of telegraphs, obtained audience of the whole consular body on Saturday, and informed them that on or about June 30 the foreigners in the British legation were annihilated. The information had reached him officially from the governor of Shan Tung.

DINNER AND DINER

Change Places—Queer Story of a Snake and a Shoat.

New York, July 16.—Although she is safe in port after a long and hazardous voyage, the British steamer St. Regulus has a very disgusted captain aboard. When she left Singapore a few weeks ago she had in her hold three snakes and a pig. That was according to schedule. When she was a few days out she had the same three snakes, but one of them was dead.

The pig is still there all right, and therein lies the secret of the captain's disgust. The St. Regulus touches at a number of oriental ports, but her departure from Singapore was attended with more than usual interest. After all the regular cargo had been stowed, three enormous pythons were hoisted aboard in huge crates. While carefully superintending the placing of the pythons in a snug corner aft Captain McMullen was informed by the turbaned oriental dealer that the snakes would not require much food during the voyage.

"I would advise, however," said the oriental, "that a small pig be put in the cage of the largest serpent over against the time when the python grows hungry.

The dealer happened to have a small pig handy—a plump little suckling rascal, calculated to tempt the appetite of the most jaded and sated python. In the cage of the largest serpent, accordingly, the small pig was placed, and the captain weighed anchor and set sail. The snakes were stupid. They lay motionless and torpid for hours at a time. Finally two of them began to sit up and look about, but the third was like a log. It lay in a stupor the whole time.

Meanwhile the small pig cowered in a corner. The day passed, the python lay motionless and the pig grew into a shoat. It became lively and showed signs of extreme hunger. No provision had been made for its appetite, however. It had been put in there to be eaten, not to eat. That plan had not been explained to the pig, however, and it at length cast gluttonous eyes on the sluggish fat sides of the sleepy python. Then it made up its mind the captain had made provision for some eating on that voyage, and some eating had to be done. In a word, it promptly turned to and ate the python.

Shiver my timbers," yelled the first mate, when he saw what had happened, "that bloomin' shoat has been and chewed the big snake."

The shoat had. There was a hole in the side of the python as big as the pig's head and in another day the snake was dead.

FOUND HIM

Ottawa Boy Who Was Kidnapped Discovered in New York State.

Brockville, Ont., July 16. — The strange disappearance of Oscar Gallagher, a 14-year-old Ottawa boy, has been solved. Ten days ago he was hired to a man who represented himself as a traveler of the Globe Spice Company, of Toronto, to assist him in the distribution of samples in that locality. Instead of doing as he agreed, he drove to Prescott in the night and took Gallagher with him. The horses were left on the roadside, and not a trace of either him or Gallagher could be secured. He gave the name of Harrington. The boy's mother received two letters from him, one written at Brockville and the other at Morristown, N. Y., opposite here. A search of the locality around Morristown revealed the presence of a notorious character named "Red Ned" Beaumont in a boat house. He was surrounded by a posse and captured. Gallagher, whom he acknowledges having kidnapped, was found in his possession. The prisoner was locked up in Ogdensburg jail.

Gallagher says Beaumont robbed a general store at a small village while they were driving from Ottawa in the night. He will be brought back for trial.

The prisoner has just completed a term in Dannemora prison. He was sentenced to sixteen years, but for an act of bravery in saving the lives of sixteen convicts during the fire in the prison four years of his term were commuted.

DEWET HAS SLIPPED OUT

Of the Corner Into Which He Had Been Driven.

Plucky Capt. Driscoll Captures a Quartet of Boer Scouts—Roberts' Men Want Boots—Strathconas in an All-Day Fight.

London, July 15.—A dispatch, dated Senekal, Orange River Colony, July 14, says:

"Gen. Rundle's rapid advance, it is said, forced the Boers into an obviously bad corner.

"President Steyn is reported to have given up all hope after the loss of Bethlehem, and would have surrendered, but Gen. Dewet threatened to shoot him, and it is believed he was imprisoned in his own laager."

GOT AWAY.

A dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez says that Commandant Dewet has slipped out from the encircling operations that have been so long conducted against him in the Orange River Colony.

PLUCKY DRISCOLL.

A dispatch from Senekal of Saturday, says: "Capt. Driscoll of D scouts, who went alone to Zuringkrantz to visit the Boer positions, was surprised at breakfast by four Boer scouts. He picked up his rifle and commanded them to surrender or he would shoot. The four surrendered, although Driscoll was ten miles away from the main body of the scouts, and close to a large Boer force."

STRATHCONAS FOUGHT ALL DAY.

London, July 14.—A report from Platkop says that the British engaged the Boers all day long. Scouts and mounted infantry arriving north located the Boers, 1,000 strong, occupying the ridge from which they were driven yesterday. Col. Thorneycroft's men held the ridge facing them. Members of the Strathcona Horse were driven in temporarily on the right by the heavy musketry fire. After a stubborn resistance the Boers forced the British to bring the howitzers into action. The infantry deployed for a general advance under Clery's direction. The Boers opened fire in all directions, shelling with the guns posted on the British right. The mounted infantry, in the face of a severe fire, attacked the Boers. A gun posted on an entrenched kopje four miles to the east forced the Boers from a number of ridges, detached parties retiring on the center, while a gun on the right was withdrawn through a ravine towards an entrenched hill.

WANT BOOTS.

The prolonged inactivity of Lord Roberts is explained in a dispatch from the London Daily Mail's correspondent in Pretoria, to the effect that the crying need of the British troops in South Africa is for boots, many of the soldiers actually going barefoot.

NO AMNESTY FOR REBELS.

W. P. Schreiner, the former premier of Cape Colony, refused to support the demand for unimpaired independence of the Boer republics. He says they should retain a certain amount of independence. He would not support a policy of amnesty to the rebels.

GOOD PROGRESS.

Isaac N. Ford says in a dispatch cabled this morning: "Lord Roberts' dispatch yesterday contained one statement which seemed to indicate progress in the clearance of the Orange River Colony and in bringing the South African war to an end. This was the fact that troops were moving up Van Reenen's Pass. If this pass has fallen into the possession of Sir Redvers Buller's forces, Harrismith will speedily be occupied and the transport difficulties will be diminished for retaining the operations in that quarter.

AN IMPORTANT POSITION.

Not only is Harrismith the terminus of the railway leading to Ladysmith, but it lies behind Bethlehem, close to the mountains. Its occupation by the British will complete the envelopment of Dewet's forces, which are among the hills near Fouriesburg, close to the Basuto frontier, and with Gen. Buller's Ladysmith reserves in Van Reenen's Pass, Gen. Dewet's forces will be shut out from their only line of retreat.

It is not yet clear whether Dewet's commandoes can be dispersed in the Free States without a prolongation of guerilla warfare for weeks, or even months, nor is it certain that Lord Roberts can resume offensive operations against Botha and prevent a repetition of the attacks upon isolated posts.

SLOW WORK.

Lord Roberts, not being able to offer the Boers any terms short of unconditional surrender, is compelled to conquer the country district by district, and gradually to narrow the field of operations. Botha and Dewet are brilliant leaders, and they are making a hopeless fight with obstinate courage, but 10,000 Boers must finally yield when there are 200,000 against them, enormous as are the difficulties of transportation on the British side.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Mr. Mulock's Bill to Reduce Newspaper Postage Killed by the Senate.

Ottawa, July 14.—Saturday night has come and gone and prorogation is in statu quo. The main estimates have all been passed, but a few items in the supplementaries remain, and all of concurrence has yet to be gone through, so that Tuesday night would seem to be the earliest date at which the business can possibly be concluded.

The members had made a night of it on Friday upon the estimates for work on railways and canals. The discussion resolved itself into a wordy duel between Mr. Blair and Mr. Haggart, ex-minister of railways, who was aided at frequent intervals by Mr. Foster. Mr. Gibson and Mr. McMullen also expressed their views in brief but vigorous terms upon the Stewart claims.

At the opening of Saturday morning's session of the house Mr. Clarke called attention to the statement in the Edinburgh Scotsman that a large number of Roumanian Jews, who were in great poverty, were coming to Canada to settle. He asked if the Canadian agents in Europe were catering for this class of people as settlers in the Northwest.

In the absence of the minister of the interior, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was unable to give any information. He assured the house that it was not the policy of the government to bring out paupers, but there was no restriction against able-bodied men who were able and willing to work coming into the country to settle.

At 9:30 o'clock the last public works estimate was passed and then the remaining postoffice items were disposed of. The remaining items in the main estimates and some of the remaining interior supplementaries were also passed. The committee rose and reported progress.

The house adjourned at 11:20.

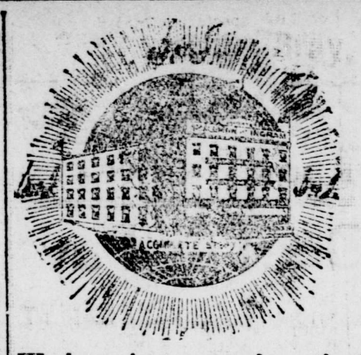

The Senate.

Ottawa, July 14.—The senate again makes itself most prominent by throwing out Mr. Mulock's postal act, reducing the postage on newspapers from ½ to ⅛ cent a pound within the province of publication. Although a question was raised as to the power of the senate to amend the bill, the statement of Sir Mackenzie Bowell that it would be allowed to pass if the provincial limitation was withdrawn shows the position taken by him and his followers, and shows who are the parties creating the favored classes to whom he refers. Sir Mackenzie Bowell says he approves of charging postage on newspapers. As a matter of fact, he and his followers have already approved of the principle of zones or limits within which newspapers may be carried at reduced rates, for the original act, passed without their approval, imposing this postage rate, provides for the free delivery of newspapers within close proximity to the office of publication. This exemption was included for the purpose of allowing county newspapers to be distributed within their respective counties free of postage. Mr. Mulock's bill only carries this principle further and permits provincial newspapers to be distributed within their respective provinces at a lower rate than beyond those borders. That some postage should be paid is admittedly just, but to meet the objection of the newspapers to the present rate this effort is made to make the reduction according to the principle of the bill. It must be admitted that this reduction will not bring as great relief to Montreal papers as to others whose circulation is more confined to their own provinces, but while the government have not hesitated to carry out the principle of the bill in the face of the protests of some papers friendly towards them, as Sir Mackenzie points out, the Conservative majority in the senate does not hesitate to use its power to try to assist its political friends. It seems a sort of dog-in-the-manger policy as far as newspapers in other parts of the country are concerned. No suggestion is made that other zones should be established. It is most unfair to ask the postoffice department, in view of the immense improvements that have been already effected, to forego more of its revenue from this work, or to do more than make a moderate reduction by extending the cheap area, and no other possible natural limitation than the provincial boundaries is suggested. Nothing is stated to show that any papers are favored, but only that some are not, and because that class includes the Conservative organ in Montreal the bill is voted down, though the government, on the other hand, have made no effort whatever to favor their friends in this matter. Surely the senate cannot claim that it is guarding the people's interest by such a course! Nor does the statement of Sir Mackenzie Bowell at the end of today's sitting that he required time to look up the constitutional points involved in the question between the senate and the commons as to the Quebec judges bill justify the inference that the action of the senate on this question has been prompted solely by a desire to compel more careful consideration of such legislation. It might have been well to study these points before throwing out a bill that is necessary to carry out the constitutional requirement that the provinces shall arrange their own civil courts and the Dominion Government shall appoint and pay the judges. The province has created these judgeships, and in no unmistakable way shown, both by unanimous resolutions of the bar and by legislation, that they are required, but the senate assumes practically to veto this act of the province, and say that they may not manage their own civil courts.

AN EXPLANATION OF THE DELAY

One looks for an explanation of the conduct of the senate in throwing out two bills at this late period of the session and the tactics of the opposition in the house, by which on Friday night only two items were passed by 3:30 a.m. most of the time being taken up explaining to Hon. Mr. Haggart events that had taken place in the department of railways and canals while he was its minister. Possibly the explanation is found in the fact that though tons of Conservative campaign literature have already been sent up from Montreal to be franked and sent out free, and though the passage is still blocked with over a hundred big sacks of it waiting to enter the postoffice, there is still more to follow, estimated at more than one hundred sacks, and unless the house is in session when that is delivered to the postoffice the country might be permitted to charge for its delivery.

WINDSOR WEDDINGS

There Were 371 in the Past Six Months.

Windsor, Ont., July 16.—City Clerk Lusted's report of the vital statistics for Windsor for the past six months shows that there were 371 marriages performed in that time. The number does not include the marriage licenses which have been issued. Numerous cases have been discovered where a man secured a license and told the woman that this was all that was necessary to constitute a marriage. The licenses are not registered with Mr. Lusted, and there is no way of finding out about these cases unless some person investigates the records of the issuers.

Rev. James Livingstone, pastor of the Windsor Avenue Methodist Church, leads with 137 weddings to his credit, while Rev. D. H. Hind, rector of St. John's Church, Sandwich, is a close second.

During the six months there were 137 births and 97 deaths.

ENDEAVORERS IN POLITICS.

Ottawa, July 16.—The old question that occupied the attention of the Ottawa Christian Endeavor Union last year as to whether it was advisable for the society to enter into active politics has again come up. The suggestion is made that the local union should print at its own expense a summary of the votes and records of all the men in the field, at the municipal elections on the leading questions. Then the union could select those whose influence they felt was for good citizenship and work for their election.

LACROSSE.

THE RED MEN WERE EASY.

London had things their own way with the Oneida Indians on Saturday afternoon. The red men were unable to solve their opponents' combination, and their style of play was not in it with the class of lacrosse put up by the home team. In the first half London scored 6 goals. In the second half London let up, and the red men had plenty of chances to score, but could not shoot. Big Chief Powles, the 300-pound player for the Indians, scored their only goal by scooping the ball through from a scrimmage near London's flags. The local team played good lacrosse all the time. London's lineup was as follows: Goal, Gibbons; point, Kelleher; cover, Smith; defense field, Heffernan, McDonald and Reid; center, Galbraith; home field, Foley, Vanderburg, Mills; outside, Fleming; inside, P. Foley.

WHEEL.

MICHAEL BEATS McFARLAND.

New York, July 14.—In the presence of 7,000 spectators, with scarcely a breeze to interfere with the riders, Jimmy Michael defeated Floyd McFarland, of San Jose, Cal., in a 20-mile motor-paced race at the Manhattan Beach track this afternoon. He also clipped 21⅖ seconds off the track record for the distance.

BLAMES THE RAILWAYS.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14.—Conway S. Sams, president of the League of American Wheelmen, issued a statement last night in regard to the 1900 meet. He says in part: "I cannot agree that there is special occasion for either the adverse criticism of the meet, nor despondency as to the future of the L. A. W., which has been expressed in some quarters." The small attendance, Mr. Sams points out, is owing to the failure of the eastern railroads to grand reduced rates. As to the racing, which is under the control of the N. C. A., Mr. Sams says that since the track trouble was remedied, the races are being run off most successfully.

FISTIC.

San Francisco, July 14.—Jack Moffatt, of Chicago, received the decision over Al Neil, of California, in the 20th round of a glove contest at the Mechanics' Pavilion last night. Moffatt had the better of the fighting in every round, except the eighth and fourteenth.

AQUATIC.

THE MARCH TO PAARDEBERG

Was Easy for the Canadian Boys Who Had Foot Elm in Their Shoes.

A Letter From W. B. Butler, "C" Company, Royal Canadian Infantry.

The famous swift march to Paardeberg, where Cronje and his army were rounded up and captured, will live as one of the memorable achievements of the South African war. There was many a sore-footed soldier, though, after that trudge through Africa's hot sand. The Canadian boys who were provided with "Foot Elm" came through with their feet in splendid condition. Here is a letter from W. B. Butler, C Company, Royal Canadian Regiment, that tells about it:

"Messrs. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont:

"Dear Sirs,—Yours to hand of March 3, and I must thank you for sending me another box of your 'Foot Elm.' It is the best cure for tender feet I ever tried, and I have tried several remedies. When I volunteered for active service and was accepted, the only fault I had was that I suffered from tender feet and dreaded the thought of the long marches. Thanks to your remedy I have not suffered from sore feet at all. When 'Foot Elm' was issued to us several men did not take it, so I managed to get two boxes, but these men were sorry afterwards. While on the march from Belmont to Paardeberg I gave some of mine to those who had none and they were surprised at the benefit they received from it, and I can safely say that my feet were in better condition on that trying march than they had been for years, and I hope with the use of your 'Foot Elm' they will remain so.

"(Signed) W. B. BUTLER."

Foot Elm is 25c a box at all druggists, or by mail, Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

DEATH OF DR. MOWAT

A Distinguished Scholar and Professor at Queen's University and a Brother of the Lieut.-Goaernor of Ontario.

Kingston, July 15.—Rev. John D. Mowat, D. D., professor of Hebrew at Queen's University, died this morning at 5 o'clock. Death was due to exhaustion as a result of a delicate operation performed last Tuesday. He had been a patient sufferer for years. About the 1st of March the Kingston Presbytery celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the ministry. The deceased was born in Kingston in 1825, being one of three brothers, the present lieutenant-governor, Sir Oliver Mowat, being also one of them. In 1845 he graduated in arts from Queen's, and attended Edinburgh University for two sessions. He was called to the pastorate of St. Andrew's Church, Niagara, in 1850, and in 1857 was appointed professor of theology in Queen's. In 1883 he received the degree of D. D. from the University of Glasgow. Dr. Mowat in 1855 married the eldest daughter of the late Rev. Dr. McGill, of Montreal, but she died in 1856. He married again in 1860 the second daughter of the late Hon. John McDonald, of Gananoque. His family consists of wife, two daughters and two sons, the latter being Mr. Herbert M. Mowat, Q.C., Toronto, and Mr. John McD. Mowat, of the law firm of Mudie & Mowat, Kingston. When Dr. Mowat was first appointed to Queen's he taught Hebrew, Chaldee, church history and Old and New Testament exegesis. The work he then did was latterly done by three professors and himself. Dr. Mowat was connected with Queen's during the regime of every principal of the university. When he was appointed a professor there were only 64 students; now there are 650. Last year he was relieved of part of his arduous duties by the appointment of Rev. Dr. Jordan, of Strathroy, who will in all probability succeed the deceased, and take over the full duties hitherto jointly occupied by himself and Dr. Mowat during the past year.

EGMONDVILLE.

Egmondville, July 13.—Mr. John Stewart of Cypress River, Manitoba, has been spending a couple of weeks in our village and vicinity with friends and relatives. He came down to see his mother, but was too late, as she was dead and buried before he reached here. While in Ontario Mr. Stewart paid a visit to his sister, Mrs. David Knight, of Melrose. Mr. Stewart was severely scourged by fire last winter, his home having been burned one very cold night, and his mother-in-law, who resided with him, was burned to death. The other members of the family barely escaped with their lives, some badly burned.

A large number of Orangemen and their admirers passed through our village on Thursday to celebrate in Seaforth. The "Orange walk" seems to retain all its old-time popularity, but perhaps the thousands who annually gather could scarcely give a good reason for so doing, as the organization has long since outlived its usefulness, and certainly the motto displayed and speeches made do not tend to cement out people into a strong nation.

The ladies of the Aid Society of our church are furnishing the pulpit platform with a handsome set of chairs.

Miss Martha Danby, of Hamilton, is a guest at Mr. William McDougall's this week.

Several of our citizens had their premises decorated in honor of the Twelfth. Mr. Bale displayed a gay yellow silk flag, and Mr. McGee had his flagstaff entwined with a wreath of orange lilies.

Everybody is pleased to see our genial friend, James McGee, reinstated on the old stage route.

Mr. George Graham, B.A., is holidaying at the home of his mother, Mrs. Charles Petrie, of this village. His many friends here hope to see him appointed to one of the vacant positions on the Seaforth Collegiate Institute staff.

Mrs. Louis Reinke has the first specimen of the Lilium auratum ever brought to bloom in this villege. It has six large beautifully delicate flowers in full show.

The treasury of Seaforth is $10 richer, since five of our village cows were released from pound one morning last week. It was a sharp lesson, but our people must remember that the lawns and gardens of our neighbors are not all fenced.

Miss Maggie McDougall is a welcome presence after her term as milliner in Alliston. She goes back in about six weeks.

Miss Aggie Beattie, of Brucefield, and Miss May Beattie, of Pond Mills, were the guests of Mrs. John Beattie, of this village, for several days lately.

RADWAY'S PILLS

Always Reliable. Purely Vegetable.

Perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. RADWAY'S PILLS for the cure of disorders of the Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Dizziness, Vertigo, Costiveness, Piles.

Sick Headache, Female Complaints, Biliousness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation and All Disorders of the Liver.

Dr. Radway & Co.—As an introduction I must make the following remarks: Had each one of the lawmakers of our country the virtues and power of your pills, America would soon become a paradise. That your pills would conquer the obstinacy of my complaint is more than wonderful. The movement of my bowels is as regular as the works of a good watch. I began with four pills and decreased to two, and for a time took one two hours before dinner, and have a free movement of the bowels every morning. It is seven weeks since I have taken any of your pills, but still have regular movement every morning.

Kind gentlemen, I wish further to tell you: A poor washerwoman that suffered from a tumor and would have paid $150 for an operation. I dissuaded her from doing so. Owing to her tumor she was obliged to stay in bed, but now she has gone to Pennsylvania, cured through taking your Pills and Resolvent as you direct in your treatise on tumor. Respectfully,

A. WITMER.
542 E. 134th St., New York.

Messrs. Dr. Radway & Co., New York:

Gentlemen—Please send me by return mail one box of your pills, for which you will find 25 cents inclosed. Having had a box before, I would not be without them. They are something every family should have. Yours truly,

T. A. PETERS,
Lancaster, Pa.

ONE TO THREE OF RADWAY'S PILLS, once in twenty-four hours, will secure regular evacuation from the bowels. Persons who for twenty years have not enjoyed a natural stool, and have been compelled to use injections, have been cured by a few doses of Radway's Pills.

True Comfort for the Aged and Others afflicted with Costiveness and Paralysis of the Bowels.

Persons advanced in life often suffer from indigestion, and from paralysis or inability to evacuate from the bowels; likewise from urinary difficulties. We have the evidence of a large number of aged persons from 60 to 80 years of age who had daily been compelled to resort to injections to empty the bowels, have been cured by the use of Radway's Pills. Two or three pills every night in all cases insure a natural evacuation from the bowels and the regular flow of urine. In cases where there is irritation of the bladder, Radway's Resolvent should be used with the Pills. If these organs are kept regular, life may be extended to a much longer period. By keeping the Liver, Stomach, Bowels and Kidneys in a healthy condition the blood will continue pure and dissolution checked. If Radway's Pills and Resolvent are used by the aged, life will be prolonged to the full measure of time. Another great end is secured by nourishing the body with these remedies—the faculties will remain in a healthy condition. A weak, feeble and decaying body enfeebles the intellect and clouds the brain.

PRICE 25 CENTS PER BOX.

Discussed by Cable Correspondents—Pronouncement Upon the Chinese Situation—Mr. Isaac N. Ford's Review—Australian Federation—British General Elections—Parisians Disappointed With the Prospects of Their Show.

London, July 15.—One of the clearest pronouncements upon China comes from Archibald Ross Colquohoun, the well-known correspondent of the London Times, whose study of far eastern conditions has made him an authority on the subject. Writing to Mr. Brodrick, the parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. Colquohoun declares that unless prompt relief is attempted the Europeans will be massacred, and if they are able to hold out until the revolt subsides there will be an indelible impression on the Chinese mind that their escape was due not to the strength and determination of Great Britain, but to their own forbearance." He adds: "The loss of prestige will be irreparable in either case. I am convinced that a determined assault on the native city of Tien Tsin would clear the situation and open the way to Pekin."

MR. FORD'S REVIEW.

Isaac N. Ford cables: "There is still no news from Pekin. An official statement has, however, been issued to the effect that the foreign office has received information that the whole community from Wen Chow had been safely landed at Shanghai.

A Central News telegram from Rome states that news of the massacres in China had not stopped the Vatican's arrangements for a fresh influx of Roman Catholic missionaries in to the Chinese provinces. The British consul-general at Shanghai, in repeating the message of the governor of Shan Tung province, has expressed the opinion that there can be little doubt respecting the fate of the foreigners in the capital. This is the closest approach to news from Pekin which has been made here within 24 hours.

BELATED NEWS.

There is belated information from Tien Tsin, describing in detail the earlier stages of the Chinese attack upon the foreign quarter and the effective Chinese artillery practice against the Russians and the French during a heavy rain storm. There are also two dispatches of a later date from Russian sources, stating that the telegraph service with Taku had been restored, that the railway was under repair and the allied forces were fortifying Tien Tsin and strengthening their line of communications with the seaboard. There was little else of importance at a late hour.

One fact of paramount importance was the silence of the ministers. Their last message was sent twenty days ago.

IMPROVEMENT AT TIEN TSIN.

There has been a slight improvement in the situation at Tien Tsin, but there is no prospect of an advance movement for a month or six weeks, until reinforcements have been received on a large scale. These additional forces will include nearly 50,000 troops from India, Germany, France and Italy. Russian troops are already in motion, but there is no official estimate of the strength of the army which will be employed. It will be the largest combined European contingent ever in the field. Japan has arranged to send 22,000 troops, and possibly will increase the force to 50,000 or 60,000.

RETRIBUTION.

There will be over 100,000 European and Japanese soldiers in China before the end of September, and this number may be increased to 150,000. Retribution will be their mission. There cannot be any possible means of securing adequate reparation for the slaughter of the missioners and from 700 to 900 foreigners. The partition of the empire, after the campaign, which will be arduous and costly, is the natural sequel to a crime against all modern nations.

WHAT GERMANY IS DOING.

Interest in the Chinese enigma in Berlin is deepening steadily, both with the government and the nation. The preparations for a special expedition occupy a large part of public attention. Among the officers who will go to China are a number of the best and most efficient in the German army. A score of them have belonged to the general staff, and the number will also include some who were formerly military instructors in Tien Tsin and elsewhere. The greatest care has been taken in selecting the officers and men. The authorities will send only the men recommended by the doctors for long and arduous service in a dangerous climate. In short, the German corps is going to be a really elite corps.

DIFFICULTIES OF CAMPAIGNING.

Lieut.-Gen. Pochhammer in Die Woche discusses the military situation in China, pointing out the difficulties of a campaign there for the allies, including the climate, commissariat, housing, roads, possibly lack of harmony and international jealousies, saying: "China evidently largely counts on the latter, or else she would not have been bold enough to defy the whole western combination. She expects a large mortality among the European troops during the rainy season just setting in there."

A number of German papers contain communications condemning further sales of ships, ammunition and arms to China. One letter is from a retired German general, deploring the fact that German soldiers in China are being killed with German Krupps and Mausers.

SOUTH AFRICAN HOSPITAL SERVICE.

Mr. Burdett-Coutts' South African hospital service exposures continue to simmer. He explains his objection to Prof. Cunningham being selected by A. J. Balfour for membership in the investigating committee by the statement that Mr. Cunningham, though a professor of Dublin University, is also an examiner in the army medical department, and thus an employe of the war office. Mr. Burdett-Coutts' point is generally admitted, and Mr. Balfour's method of selection is criticised.

J. J. VanAllen, who equipped an ambulance corps and hospital for field service in South Africa. In referring to the charges made against the British army hospital corps, by William Ashmead Bartlett-Coutts, said substantially yesterday, the charges were true. With Roberts' army, men died of typhoid from lack of attention. Mr. VanAllen thought the cause of such a condition was the sudden and unexpected amount of sickness at the front. The army with Roberts, in the face of their heavy marches, had outstripped the medical corps, and the surgeons were not prepared.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT.

In parliament the week was redeemed from total tediousness by a remarkable expose of London's corruptness by Samuel Smith, Liberal member for Flintshire, and John Burns, Socialist member for Battersea. The allegations made by these members, and Home Secretary Ridley did not deny them, show conditions which equal anything discovered by the Lenox and Mazet committees in New York—immoral dens, blackmailing and bribery of the police apparently flourishing and greatly on the increase, especially in the west end. Degraded criminals, declared Mr. Burns, who were cleared out in 1898, are re-establishing themselves in large numbers in the metropolis, and he offered to show Sir Matthew White Ridley west end haunts "where the bestial form of vice of eastern origin is taking root." He also asserted that the west end club proprietors and brothel keepers have the police directly under their control."

HOME SECRETARY AGHAST.

Mr. Burns cited individual instances, and ended by telling the home secretary that if he did not stop this bribery the evil would 'deepen until they saw a state of affairs in London similar to what had been seen in the Tenderloin of New York, where a chief inspector had earned $50,000 a year by blackmailing gambling hells and prostitutes." All policemen in the west end, Mr. Burns suggested, should be paid better, as their present pittance made even trifling bribes terribly tempting. The home secretary was aghast, and said he would examine into the charges. Mr. Smith confined himself chiefly to exposing public obscenities. "Many things," he declared, "were tolerated in England which would not be allowed in America."

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

The appointment of the Earl of Hopetoun to be first governor-general of the federated Australian colonies at a salary of £10,000, meets with general approval. As governor of Victoria the earl became immensely popular in Australia, while the tact with which he has filled the duties of lord chamberlain has greatly added to the young peer's reputation. The location of the Australian capital has not yet been decided upon. By the terms of the new legislation it is to be in New South Wales, distant no less than 100 miles from Sydney. The inter-city rivalry makes the final selection a matter of grave importance. In the meanwhile Melbourne will be the temporary seat of the legislature.

BRITISH ELECTIONS.

There is a general impression that the elections will be brought on in October if Lord Roberts can succeed in winding up the war during August and September. It is highly probable that the elections will be hastened by the Unionists, and carried on Lincoln's maxim that horses ought not to be swapped in crossing a stream.

A NAVAL FLYER.

By making thirty-seven knots over a measured mile the turbine torpedo boat Viper has broken all records, and quite fulfilled the expectation of the builder, Parsons, who believes turbines can achieve the same results as larger craft.

PARISIANS DISAPPOINTED.

Parisians, says a cable correspondent, are beginning to realize that their calculations, based on a series of fetes, attending the expected visits of European monarchs, is going to prove still-born. They have had the king of Sweden and the shah of Persia to come for a short stay in a month's time, but that is all. The czar, Emperor William, Queen Victoria and the Prince of Naples, whose visits were once spoken of as certain, will not come. The absence of royalties represents a serious financial loss to the business community of Paris, who naturally counted upon a rich harvest out of the lavish expenditure which the entertaining of these visitors would entail, and also out of the money spent by the masses of foreign and provincial sightseers attracted to the capital by the festivities.

Another exposition fiasco which has disgruntled numbers of Parisians is the failure of a majority of the side shows which sprang up like mushrooms within and about the exposition, and the construction of most of which involved a heavy outlay.

WITH A HAMMER

An Aged East Seneca Farmer Kills His Wife and Then Shoots Himself.

Cayuga, Ont., July 16.—The people of this community were startled Saturday morning when they heard of the horrible deaths of James Swick and his wife, an old couple, about 70 years of age. The old man first killed his wife and then put an end to his own existence.

The scene of the tragedy is at a farm house in East Seneca, about four miles from the village of Canfield and ten miles from Cayuga.

The old man had acted strangely for some time past, but the family thought little about it.

On Friday, at noon, their son, Harvey, went to the field to cut wheat, leaving the old couple alone in the house. When he returned at night a dreadful spectacle was presented to him. The mother was lying dead with her head horribly bruised, apparently by a hammer, and the father was lying with his head almost blown off by means of a shotgun in his own hands. Death must have come almost instantly to him.

There were signs of a struggle between the old man and woman, as her throat showed finger prints, he evidently trying to strangle her first, then completing his work by means of a hammer, as her head was badly battered. The hammer was found hidden under the house, where the old man had put it after doing his terrible work. Then he completed his own destruction as already stated.

Suicidal tendencies are in the family, as one of his brothers committed suicide several years ago. They were well-to-do, and leave a grown-up family.

THE WORLD'S ENDEAVORERS

Ten Thousand Meet in Alexandra Palace.

Lethargic London Roused by the Enthusiastic Gathering.

Famine Areas of India Helped by Beneficent Rains—Rational Dress for Women.

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

London, July 16.—Alexandra Palace, rivaling in size and conspicuousness Madison Square Garden, New York, and surmounting one of the highest spots in all London, presented a brilliant spectacle on Saturday night, when 10,000 members of the Society of Christian Endeavor opened the world's convention. The night session was preceded by an afternoon organ recital, an immense chorus rendering familiar Christian Endeavor songs, accompanied by one of the greatest organs in all England. This was followed by a second musical service and six simultaneous secondary services. One of the most interesting meetings was held at Albert Hall. Crowds overflowed every available space, and it is safe to say that seldom have two such religious gatherings ever startled the lethargic London.

On one side of the royal arms in the center of the Alexandra Hall stage was displayed a magnificent picture of the capital at Washington, while the opposite side bore pictures of the Houses of Parliament. From the walls and roof hung United States and British flags interwoven with graceful festoons. Dr. Monroe Gibson, formerly of Toronto, now of London, welcomed the members of the Society of Christian Endeavor in behalf of all England. Honorary Secretary Rev. W. H. Knight also made an eloquent address. The responses were made by Chaplain Rev. W. Tracy, of Philadelphia; Dr. Newman Hall and Rev. W. Paterson, of Canada. Both addresses and responses were made in the most cordial terms.

Secretary Baer paid a high tribute to the chaplain of the steamer Saale, who, he said, had lost his life while doing all in his power to save others, many of who had lost their lives.

RATIONAL RAIMENT.

London, July 16.—Coroner Sylvester, of West Wilts, has branched out as a vigorous champion of rational dress for women. The death of a woman who tripped on her dress and fell downstairs afforded him an opportunity for a general indictment of that antiquated garment, the petticoat. It was, he said, the cause of many women falling from horses and carriages. At fires they were a frequent source of danger, and oftener still swept germs from the streets and carried them to their homes. The short skirt, so popular in America, but almost unknown in England, appeared to him to be both convenient and picturesque, and should, he declared, generally take the place of the present style of dress.

WELCOME RAIN.

Simla, July 16.—General rain has fallen over nearly all India during the past few days, and the prospects of the crops have immensely improved. The famine areas have generally benefited.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO ANDREE?

London, July 16.—The Daily Mail's Copenhagen special says that King Oscar has sanctioned the offer of a sum of money, which will vary according to circumstances, as a reward for the discovery of what has happened to Andree's polar expedition. This means that King Oscar has come to the conclusion that the expedition has miscarried, and that there is no hope of ever seeing its members again. Last Wednesday was the third anniversary of Andree's departure.

MAJUBA DAY, 1900.

London, July 14.—The press review at the Grave's galleries was held yesterday. Three new military paintings by the famous artist, Mr. Caton Woodville, attracted particular attention. One of them, "The Dawn of Majuba Day, 1900," is of peculiar interest to Canadians. It represents the Boer laager at Paardeberg, with the Canadians gathered on the nearby heights, and cheering at the sound of the "cease fire" after their famous dash which brought about Cronje's surrender.

AT BISLEY

Scores of the Canadians in the Daily Graphic and Other Matches.

Bisley Camp, July 14.—In the Daily Graphic match, one of the important features of the Bisley meeting, the Canadians did not give as good an account of themselves as in the past, and this was due principally to the weather conditions. The wind was strong during the progress of the contest, and blew straight across the ranges. This competition was established by the proprietors of the London Daily Graphic, who contributed a silver cup, valued at £52 10s, as a first prize. The shooting was placed at 200 yards, seven shots being allowed. In this day's match the marksman who captured the prize made the highest possible score. The points obtained by Canadians in this competition were as follows: Capt. Andand, 43rd Batt., 26; Lieut. Blair, 78th Batt., 28; Bomb. Bodley, 5th R. C. A., 28; Lieut. Corrigan, 59th Batt., 30; Lieut. Brooks, Q. O. R., 27; Sergt. Carruthers, 4th Hussars, 21; Gunner Fleming, 5th R. C. A., 21; Lieut. Graham, 77th Batt., 28; Capt. Kirkpatrick, Q. O. R., 31; Pte. Langstroth, 74th Batt., 30; Lieut. Munro, 48th Batt., 31; Sergt. Morris, 13th Batt., 24; Sergt. Morse, 69th Batt., 23; Pte. Milligan, 14th P. W. O. R., 30; Sergt. McVittie, 48th Batt., 30; Lieut. McCrimmon, 7th Fusiliers, 28; Lieut. Ogg, 13th F. A., 29; Lieut. Smith, 59th Batt., Sergt. Smith, 48th Batt., 25; Pte. Tink, G. G. F. G., 23. Lieut. Munro succeeded in getting the first place among the Canadian prize winners, winning the 36th place, £3; Capt. Kirkpatrick, in 63rd place; Pte. Milligan, 71st place; Pte. Langstroth, 74th place; Sergt. Corrigan, 106th place, each won £2. Sergt. McVittie, of the 48th Highlanders, got 124th place and £1 in Daily Graphic.

The Canadians also took part in the Graphic match, which was held today. The distance was 500 yards, seven shots, and the scores of the team were as follows: Capt. Andand, 30; Bomb. Bodley, 31; Lieut. Blair, 27; Sergt. Corrigan, 29; Lieut. Crooks, 21; Sergt. Carruthers, 27; Gunner Fleming, 29; Lieut. Graham, 21; Capt. Kirkpatrick, 22; Pte. Langstroth, 19th; Lieut. Munro, 32; Sergt. Morris, 26; Sergt. Morse, 28; W. Milligan, 28; Sergt. McVittie, 31; Lieut. McCrimmon, 16; Lieut. Ogg, 20; Lieut. Smith, 31; Sergt. Smith, 27; Pte. Tink, 19. In this match, as well as the Daily Graphic, the wind was strong and the shooting was poor all along the line.

Today the shooting in the Daily Telegraph match took place. In this contest the distance is 600 yards, seven shots. Those in the Canadian team who participated made the following score: Capt. Andand, 43rd Batt, 28; Lieut. Blair, 78th Batt., 27; Sergt. Corrigan, 59th Batt., 33; Lieut. Crooks, Q. O. R., 30; Gunner Fleming, 5th R. C. A., 28; Capt. Kirkpatrick, Q. O. R., 28; Pte. Langstroth, 74th Batt., 28; Lieut. Munro, 48th Batt., 28; Sergt. Morse, 69th Batt., 32; Sergt. McVittie, 48th Batt., 34; Lieut. McCrimmon, 7th Fusiliers, 30; Lieut. Ogg, 13th R. A., 34; Lieut. Smith, 59th Batt., 33; Sergt. Smith, 48th Batt., 32; Pte. Tink, G. G. F. G., 26. Bomb. Bodley, Lieut. Munro, Sergt. McVittie and Lieut. A. A. Smith secured places in the prize list in the Graphic match.

MAN-EATING SHARK

The Story of a Mississippi River Pilot Tells of His Own Seeing.

Will a shark bite a living human being? The question has been debated hundreds of times, and came up for discussion the other night among a little party at a suburban resort. "In spite of the current legend," said one of the group, 'I don't believe sharks will attack a living person. I have spent my life near the sea and have heard a hundred stories of swimmers being killed or bitten by the monsters, but all the tales were either at second hand or were so vague they would never have passed for evidence in court." "Well, sir," said another of the party, "I believe sharks do kill men, and I have the best of reasons for my belief. I witnessed such a tragedy with my own eyes." The speaker was Captain McLaughlin, one of the oldest and best known bar pilots in the Mississippi River service.

It happened 21 years ago last April," said the captain, when pressed for the details, "but the circumstances are as distinct in my mind as if it had occurred only yesterday. I was out looking for ships, with my partner, Captain Tom Wilson, and the usual crew, and about 12 miles off South Pass we sighted a large sailing vessel, which proved to be the Zephyr, from Bath, in charge of Captain Switzer. There was a rival pilot boat near by, and we both made a rush for the ship to get the job of taking her in.

Our party was nearest, and Captain Wilson and two sailors put off in a small boat to go aboard, but in their hurry they made a miscalculation and were struck by the bow and capsized. It all happened in a flash, but Wilson and one of the sailors were lucky enough to get hold of the upturned boat and hang on. The other sailor was thrown some distance away into the water.

"He was a big, brawny six-foot Swede named Gus Ericsson, and when we saw him come up one of the crew tossed him a circular life buoy, which he seized almost immediately. The buoy was amply sufficient to sustain him, and he put his arms across it and held himself out of the water fully breast high. We had another small boat and started at once to pick up the three men, making for Ericsson first.

"When we were less than a hundred feet away I saw a gigantic tiger shark rise and start toward him, and at the next instant the poor fellow shot down out of sight, life buoy and all, like a man going through a trap. We were so horrified that we simply sat still and stared, and what seemed to be two or three minutes elapsed. Then the life buoy suddenly appeared. It must have risen from a great depth, because it bounded at least four feet into the air and fell back with a splash. Of Ericsson we never saw a trace. He went into that shark's jaw as surely as two and two make four.

"We rescued the other men all right," said Captain McLaughlin in conclusion, "and Captain Wilson is still alive to bear out what I say. That, gentlemen, is my reason for believing that sharks will attack human beings. However, if any one can tell me what became of Ericsson, I am open to conviction."

DRIEST SPOT ON EARTH.

The reputation of being the driest spot on earth is claimed by Payta, in Peru, a place about five degrees south of the equator on the coast that has risen forty feet in historic times.

In February there was a fall of rain of more than twenty-four hours, the first for eight years. The average interval between two showers is seven years. Sea fogs are common.

Of about nine species of plants noticed by a recent visitor seven were annuals, and their seeds must have remained dormant in the ground for eight years. In spite of the lack of rain the long-rooted Peruvian cotton is grown in the dried-up river bed, furnishing crops that yield subsistence to the natives.

American Markets.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Wheat was weak from start to finish today, and closed at a decline of 1¼c to 1⅜c. This makes over 4 cents decline in three days. The marked improvement in crop conditions in the Northwest kept prices on the down grade. Corn was strong on the continued drouth, and closed ½c higher. Oats advanced ⅛c, and provisions declined 5c to 7½c. Within ten minutes after trading had started in the wheat pit the price of September had been forced to a point over a cent below yesterday's closing figures. September opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 79c to 79¼c, and under selling orders from all the floor, the price was steadily pounded down until it had touched 77⅞c. The principal, in fact, almost the only, factor in the rapid decline was the crop condition in the Northwest. Rains and cooler weather in the Dakotas and Minnesota were reported to have greatly improved the condition of wheat, and a private estimate of a crop for those three states of 135,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels was given a great deal of credence by disgusted holders of wheat, who unloaded as fast as they could. At 77⅞c the demand, which up to this time had been slack, improved. The Northwest sent in good buying orders, while local shorts covered quite freely for a time. But in the last hour of the short session the market again became extremely dull and weak. With the stoppage of the demand prices again slipped off quickly, and shortly before the close the lowest prices of the day were reached, September selling down to 77¾c to 77⅞c. The final quotation for that option was 77⅞c. A good many top orders were received during the final decline. Chicago receipts were 86 cars, 23 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were 244 cars, against 137 last week and 611 a year ago. Total primary receipts amounted to 633,000 bushels, against 798,000 bushels a year ago.

A SERVER OF MEN

Presbyterian Missionary to the Yukon in the City Yesterday.

Enthusiastic in His Praise of the New Country—Notes of His Work for Religion—He Regards the Postmaster-General as an Especially Capable Minister—Administration of the Yukon Has Been Admirable.

Rev. John Pringle, Presbyterian missionary to the Yukon mining country, spent Saturday evening, Sunday and this morning in this city, leaving later for Ottawa. An Advertiser representative sought Mr. Pringle, and found him at Wolseley Barracks, surrounded by a number of the returned Yukon soldiers, by many of whom he was greeted as an old friend. Mr. Pringle possesses a tall and well-knit frame, and at once strikes the observer as being full of strong capabilities for hard work, and the endurance of hardship. Mr. Pringle, in speaking of the Yukon country, over which he is most enthusiastic, said: "It's a grand country, an unsurpassed country, and it has been much maligned and misrepresented. The summer there, lasting from May to October, is more enjoyable than in the older parts of Canada. Vegetables and the coarser grains yield good crops, while the smaller fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, pemmican berries, blueberries and other growths grow wild in profusion. There is also abundance of wild hay. The reports of the insect pests in summer have been much exaggerated, and the mosquitoes and flies are not as large or as troublesome as they are in Manitoba or Muskoka. The cold of winter, while seemingly extreme, judged from eastern standards, is quite bearable, owing to the dryness of the air, and the almost total absence of wind, and, altogether, the Yukon winter is quite as enjoyable as winter in any other part of Canada. For my part, I have lived for the past two years in a tent, summer and winter, have not worn an overcoat, and have worn an ordinary hat, with a silk handkerchief around my ears, and an ordinary pair of mittens. The higher altitude of the country makes the air lighter and less oppressive in summer, and the cold less painful in winter. The Yukon is a grand country for those who have good constitutions, but men with any organic weakness should avoid it.

"If I were a politician," said Mr. Pringle, strongly, "I would stake my political future on the construction of a railway through the Yukon country. At present the Yankees have the cinch on us, and Canadians should hasten to avail themselves of the extraordinarily rich heritage which has been given them." Speaking of his own work, Mr. Pringle said: "I have enjoyed the work, and I think I may say without vanity that I have met with wonderful success. I have tried to be a minister in the original sense of the word, that of a server of men. I have preached to 1,500 men at the trail side, and I have preached to four or five. I can say that generally they are a first-class set of men, and a wonderfully intelligent lot. During the past two years I have preached to more university graduates than any minister in Canada. I could say, than any five ministers in Canada, but the public might not believe me. There were more doctors and dentists on the trail than miners. That is one cause of some of the tragedies.

"My work has been for the year in the Atlin district, on the northern boundary of British Columbia, and the two years before that I was working east of Dawson, in the Glenora, Teslin and Hootalinqua districts. I leave for the west again at the end of this month, returning to Atlin, and later in the year going to the creeks around Dawson.

"My field is one demanding hard work and exposure. I have done more snowshoeing than falls to the lot of most missionaries. I have been 41 days on snowshoes without a break."

Mr. Pringle is now on his way to Ottawa, where he will meet Postmaster-General Mulock and Hon. Clifford Sifton, minister of the interior. "I have had some correspondence with Mr. Mulock," said Mr. Pringle, "and have been able to aid him with a little information and advice as to the Yukon mail service, and I have found him quite willing to meet more than half-way the needs and wishes of the Yukon people. The manner in which he took hold of the question of mail service there has convinced me that he is an extraordinarily efficient man for his position. He dispensed with red tape and gave his subordinates at Skaguay and other points instructions to put things right, and they were put right. The government have done well in their administration of the Yukon. As to the charges of maladministration, I consider them greatly exaggerated. Anything of the kind that occurred was only what was inseparable from the circumstances of a new country being opened up and officials being appointed for duties and conditions which were entirely new. The manner in which order has been kept, and the law administered, has been the admiration of all except the rascals whose schemes and aims have been frustrated."

Mr. Pringle showed his capacity for hard work in the busy day he put in yesterday. He preached to large congregations at Knox Church at 11 a.m., and at the First Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m. He addressed St. Andrew's Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., and in the afternoon preached at Ilderton.

WELCOME HOME!

Return of London's Brave Soldier Boys From the Yukon.

Escorted to the Barracks by the 7th Band—Welcomed by Their Former Comrades and Hundreds of Enthusiastic Citizens.

After more than two years in the Yukon, the London representatives on the Yukon field force arrived in this city yesterday morning. The delay in Toronto was very disappointing to the members of No. 1 Company, R. C. R. I. They had twice prepared dinner for them, and each time had received word that the men would not be here at the expected time. When at last the train rolled into the C. P. R. station, all disappointments were forgotten in the desire to give cordial welcome to the fourteen manly chaps who had been so long in the north. A crowd of several hundred citizens had gathered at the station, and the men were cheered lustily. They were played to the barracks by the Seventh Band, and on the way there, as they walked in heavy marching order in the hot sun, they had abundant evidence of the difference between the temperatures of Dawson and London. When they lined up on the square that they stood upon last some two years ago, the officer commanding the depot, Capt. Taylor, welcomed them in a short, soldier-like address, to which Capt. Thacker, who had charge of the men, replied, and then, when cheers of mutual good-fellowship were exchanged, the Klondikers were given freedom to intermingle with their old comrades. Their joy at being with them once again was apparent in every movement and word. The big, brawny men, attired in gray sombreros, red tunics, dark blue trousers, and high laced boots, walked about arm in arm with the men they had left behind in May of 1898, and talked of old times and their new experiences in the gold country.

At noon the men were all escorted to the dining-room, where the long-deferred dinner was partaken of with a soldier's zest and enthusiasm. The men of the barracks had prepared an excellent spread, but the meal was eaten with the decorum due to the Sabbath. A slightly less solemn time is promised for tonight.

The Yukon men left Dawson on June 26, making a portion of the journey to Skagway by rail, mostly by boat, and proceeding thence own the coast to Vancouver, reached Toronto in 17 days. They fared in good style on the way down, and when they came to this city they were as healthy and handsome a crowd of men as any officer could care to see. Their outdoor life in a country where the snow lies deep all the summer through, had hardened their flesh and made them strong and hardy. They were delayed in Vancouver for some time, disposing of $2,000,000 in gold that was taken from Dawson in their care. They had also a sadder duty to perform. The gold fields of the north had, as all know, attracted many from all portions of the country, who had despaired of being successful, and when the same ill-luck followed them to the north, their reason weakened beneath their troubles. There are no places in Dawson for the safe-keeping of these unfortunate ones, so they were sent to Vancouver in charge of the returning field force.

The men say that although great numbers left Dawson for Cape Nome, there is no apparent difference in the former's population.

Only two men of those who returned, Capt. Thacker and Pte. Larose, of Fredericton, were not of the London force formerly. Pte. Freeland, of this city, was sent to Quebec. Drill-Sergeant Davies stayed in Dawson, in the gold commissioner's office.

LABOR TROUBLES

Arbitration Proposed to the St. Louis Transit Co.

Citizen Shot Dead by a Motorman—Objected to the Name "Scab"—Car Wrecked.

STREET CAR WRECKED.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—As a Union Line car on the Lee Avenue division of the Transit Company was passing the intersection of Twenty-second street and Bremen avenue last night, the wheels struck a charge of dynamite, which exploded with terrific force. The car was blown from the track, the flooring and sides were wrecked and all the windows demolished. There were four passengers on the car, two of whom, Edward English and Mollie Shere, were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the city dispensary. The explosion was by far the worst that has occurred on the lines of the St. Louis Transit Company since the inauguration of the strike.

ARBITRATION PROPOSED.

Arbitration of the street railway strike has been proposed to the St. Louis Transit Co. by the citizens arbitration committee. The Transit Company attorney, to whom the proposition was submitted, discussed the matter with the committee men for three hours, and told the committee that he would immediately lay the matter before the officials of the Transit Company.

W. D. Mahon, national president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, who has resumed charge of the strike, said: "I find the men as determined as they were when they first went out in May, and that they still have the support, not alone of the trade unionists in the city, but of the great mass of the people as well. In fact, I find some people who were indifferent, and, if anything, were opposed to the men before, are now out and out for them, declaring they are in the right."

SHOT BY A MOTORMAN.

Herman Bande, an employe of the Union Ice Company, was shot and fatally wounded by William E. Herman, a motorman. Chas. Young, a striking street railway man, was also shot and wounded by Herman. Herman had entered a drug store when Wm. Gray, a striker, stepped into the place and told the druggist not to sell Herman anything, as he was a "scab." The remark enraged Herman, and he drew a revolver and fired four shots at Gray. One of the shots hit Baube, who was at the telephone, and another struck Young, who was in the store. Herman was arrested.

BELLE ISLAND STRIKE.

St. Johns, Nfld., July 16.—The mining companies at Belle Island have been obliged to close down the work indefinitely. It is impossible for them to secure any more laborers. The strikers are apparently more determined than ever. Since their leaders were placed under arrest schooner loads of strikers have arrived from other sections, thus swelling the numbers of the men, who refuse to work unless the terms agreed upon by the majority are granted. The police have been withdrawn and the men are peaceful.

STRIKERS EVICTED.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.—Between 25 and 30 evicted families are encamped in an orchard just outside of Preston. One of the children in camp has died and another cannot last long. The men of the evicted families were employes of the Pressed Steel Car Company, and have been living in homes at Presston owned by the Fidlity Land Company, an adjunct of the car company. Two weeks ago the men went on strike and now they claim their eviction is the result.

GRAY & PARKER,

Instructions in Case Of Drowning.

In case of drowning the following instructions, which are now placed at all seaside hotels, landings and pier heads by the Volunteer Life-Saving Corps of New York, should be followed: Approach the drowning from behind, seizing them by the coat collar, or a woman by the back hair, and towing them at arm's length to boat or shore. Do not let them cling around your neck or arms to endanger you. Duck them under until unconscious, if necessary to break a dangerous hold upon you, but do not strike to stun them.

First: Immediately loosen the clothing about the neck and chest, exposing them to the wind, except in very severe weather, and get the water out of the body. First try tickling in the throat by a straw or feather, or ammonia to the nose; a severe slap with the open hand upon the chest and soles of the feet; if no immediate result, proceed as below.

Second: Lay the body with its weight on the stomach across any convenient object, buoy, keg, box, timber or your knee, in the open air, with the head hanging down. Open the mouth quickly, drawing the tongue forward with handkerchief or cloth, so as to let the water escape. Keep the mouth clear of liquid. Then roll the body gently from side to side so as to relieve the pressure on the stomach. Do this several times to force the water from the stomach and throat.

Third: Lay the body on the back, make a roll of coat or any garment, place it under the shoulders of patient, allowing the head to fall back. Then kneel at the head of the patient. Grasp the arms at the middle of the forearms, folded across the stomach, raise the arms over the head to a perpendicular position, drawing them back straight, then forward, overhead, to the sides again, pressing the arms on the lower part of ribs and side, so as to produce a bellows movement upon the lungs. Do this sixteen or eighteen times a minute. Smelling salts, camphor or ammonia may be applied to the nostrils to excite breathing. The clothing should be removed, the body dried and the limbs rubbed briskly upward.

Fourth: On signs of life, or when breathing is renewed, wrap in warm blankets or hot cloths. To encourage circulation brandy or any spirits may be given in small doses, with care to avoid strangulation, and brisk rubbing and warmth applied to the entire body. Keep at work for hours until recovery or death is pronounced certain by a physician

IS IT INFANTICIDE?

Inquest Tonight on a Baby Born on Saturday—Sad Story of an Unfortunate Girl.

At the police station tonight an inquest will be begun upon the body of an infant child. The circumstances surrounding the case are of a sad nature. About a month ago a girl named Lily Errol came from St. Catharines and secured a position as cook at the home of a prominent London citizen. On Saturday last the girl remained in her room all day, and refused to admit anyone. In the evening entrance was made into the room, and the girl appeared to be suffering great agony, and in a valise in the clothes closet was found the dead body of a newly-born female infant. The child was in a healthy and well-formed condition, while indications pointing to its death by suffocation were present. The body was taken charge of by the authorities, while the mother was removed to Victoria Hospital, where she now is. After hearing the circumstances Coroner Piper ordered the inquest.

FOR TIRED FEELING.

Exhaustion is Waste—Overwork Means Shorter Life—Dodd's Kidney Pills Mean Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense asks you to quit.

Overwork of any kind does more than tire; it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you ought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up.

The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual when you overwork.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than usual, and then work, to say nothing of overwork, is harmful.

As soon as your kidneys commence doing good work there is less and less poison in the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promptly and permanently.

In Siberia, acetylene gas is largely used to light up various operations along the line where work is carried on at night.

The kangaroos, which used to be a plague in Australia, are now getting so scarce that it pays to raise them in herds.

To Save Her Child.

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Gallegher, of LaGrange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by W. T. Strong & Co., druggists.

DO NOT DELAY.—When, through debilitated digestive organs, poison finds its way into the blood, the prime consideration is to get the poison out as rapidly and as thoroughly as possible. Delay may mean disaster. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a most valuable and effective medicine to assail the intruder with. They never fail. They go at once to the seat of the trouble and work a permanent cure.

The horse was thrown on its side, and the young lady thrown out of the buggy and slightly under the horse, but was not seriously hurt. A number of spokes were broken in the buggy wheels. Both ladies fainted from the excitement.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY.

Toronto Globe: Did you watch the clouds yesterday? It was St. Swithin's Day, and, as everyone knows, according as it rains or shines on the 15th of July, so shall the weather be for the forty days ensuing.

St. Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain;
St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair,
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair.

Poor Robin's Almanac so long ago as 1697 made declaration to the same effect. * * * It may be added, as a touch of nineteenth century prose, that a series of observations taken at Greenwich, extending over several years, do not bear out the notion that St. Swithin's Day has any particularly occult influence on its forty successors. In fact, between 1840 and 1860, the greatest number of rainy days after St. Swithin's Day were noticed to have taken place when the 15th of July was clear. The real explanation of the tradition is said to be found in the tract of wet weather, or the reverse, that is likely to occur after midsummer for reasons that are popularly believed to depend considerably on the state of the preceding months.

DEATH OF A FORMER LONDON LADY.

Word was received in the city yesterday of the sudden death, at Lake Linden, Mich., of Mrs. W. H. Goodburne, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Hockins, of 556 William street. Her death was quite unexpected, as the telegram containing news of her sickness was received only ten minutes before the second one bearing news of her death. Both Mr. and Mrs. Goodburne are well known in the city, Mrs. Goodburn living here up to the time of her marriage in September last. Mr. Goodburne is also an ex-Londoner, being a brother of Mr. Joseph L. Goodburne and an ex-color sergeant of the Seventh Regiment. Mrs. Goodburne was only 30 years of age. In addition to her husband and parents she leaves one sister, Miss Nelly Hockins, and four brothers, Messrs. Frank, Alfred, John and Charles Hockins, to mourn her loss.

POLICE COURT.

Thomas Culbert, of West London, appeared in the police court this morning and paid $1 fine and $1 50 costs for allowing his cow to be at large. On Culbert's last appearance he explained that he had sold the cow, but it evidently came back.

A charge of non-payment of wages laid against John Barnhart by Edward Bradley was withdrawn, Barnhart claiming that Bradley had not worked a full week, as he agreed. Bradley accordingly gets nothing for his five days' work.

Fred Bowley was charged with obstructing the street with a farm implement. The implement had been sold and was waiting to be removed by the owner, so the charge was dismissed.

Two sidewalk wheelmen paid $2, and a married lady was allowed to go on the same charge. One similar case was adjourned. A footpath wheelman was assessed $2, and it cost a citizen $1 for a little ramble on the Victoria Park grass.

RETURNED FROM THE WAR

Two Members of the First Canadian Contingent in the City.

Victor Marentette and George Graham, Two Canadian Heroes, Invalided Home—The Former Wounded at Paardeberg and the Latter Stricken With Fever.

Victor Marentette, of the 21st Regiment, Windsor, and George Graham, of the 28th Regiment, St. Marys, both privates of B Company, Royal Canadian Infantry, South Africa, arrived in this city at 12 o'clock today. Clad in their kaki uniform, their muscular limbs wrapped about in putties, and their great coats encircling their broad shoulders, their appearance, as they walked down Richmond street, proclaimed them as types of the sturdy Canadians who have done so valiantly for their Queen in South Africa. Their presence brought into prominence another fact also, that of the strongly cemented bond of union that exists among all races in Canada—for Marentette is of French extraction. His hair is raven black, his naturally dark skin is swarthy from the hot suns of battle fields beyond the equator. His dark eyes flash with fire when he mentions his southern experiences; while Graham is of wholly Anglo-Saxon type, his blue eyes have in them a continual twinkle of merriment, his hair is light, and even the rays of a South African sun have only slightly darkened his naturally fair skin. It took them just one hour to go from the C. P. R. station to the G. T. R., and they went to the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets in a car. Most of the time they were dodging people who wanted them to "have one on me." Everywhere it was "Hullo, boys, back from the front?" or "By Jove, I'm glad to see you, old man. Come and have something." The best that the city had to offer was theirs. They were members of the London's Company, and anything that London had they could have. Half a dozen aldermen grabbed them at the city hall, and Ald. Brener, chairman of the reception committee, could hardly wait for the mayor to ask the boys to dine the guests of the city, so eager was he to give them cordial welcome. As Graham's father, who had met them at the station, had already made arrangements for their dinner, they were not able to accept Mayor Rumball's invitation.

Both Marantette and Graham were invalided home, but to look at them, bronzed and brawny, one would suppose that they could still stand any amount of hardship. Graham was knocked out by fever and dysentery while at Bloemfontein. Marantette was shot in the left arm above the elbow at the famous battle of Paardeberg. "People wonder how a fellow feels in battle," he said. "Why, they don't feel at all. They don't think of anything but to get at the other fellows. You can't see them. They're behind rocks and trees, anything at all, peppering away. I was running towards them for all I was worth, holding my rifle so—when I was struck just here," he said, touching his arm above the elbow. "The bullet crushed the bone very badly, and broke it in two places. The doctors said they must cut off the arm to save my life, but I said, 'No, I want that arm,' and I'm mighty glad I did," he added.

Both boys were in hospital for some time before being sent to England. Marantette sailed from Cape Town on April 3, and Graham sailed on May 23. They were in Netley Hospital in the meantime. For one week they were at Shorncliffe camp before leaving on the Parisian. "When we landed at Quebec," said Graham, "they had hacks and cabs at the wharf to take the 'invalids' that they expected away. They said afterwards that they never saw a crowd of huskier chaps."

When speaking of the hospital arrangements in Africa, both boys said that they had no complaint to make whatever. "They treated us all right," one of them said, "and I've spoken to a good many men who were in hospital there, and they all said that there was 'no kick coming.' We did not expect the same treatment we'd get in a regular hospital. We were thoroughly satisfied."

Graham left for his home in St. Marys this afternoon. He will be given a befitting reception. Only one other St. Marys boy was at the war. He is Pte. George Peart. When Graham left he was ill with fever in the hospital. Marantette went to see Mrs. Donegan, whose son John was killed at Paardeberg, and for whom he had a message. He leaves for Windsor tomorrow.

Revenge!

Today, Mourning Tomorrow, is the Cry of Europe

In Regard to the Incredible Barbarities at Pekin.

London, July 16.—"Revenge today, mourning tomorrow," is practically the universal cry of Europe, but it is for the incredible barbarities that are reported to have marked the last scenes within the legations at Pekin. Nothing is clearer than that the anti-foreign conflagration in China is rapidly permeating hitherto quiescent provinces. The only ray of light extricable from the Pekin messages appear to be the statement that Ching and his follower did their utmost in defense of the legations. The rebels, however, are evidently in the majority, and the few loyalists are helpless before the hordes who have joined and are daily joining the blood-stained camarilla who have usurped authority in Pekin.

The fate of the capital appears to threaten other towns like Tien Tsin, Che Foo, and even Shanghai. The defeat of the allied forces at Tsin seems to place that town in desperate straits, and if retreat to Taku should be necessitated observers consider that it would be likely to decide the policy of wavering viceroys.

The departure of Admiral Seymour from Tien Tsin and the movement of warships towards Shan Hai Kuan, on the Gulf of Liao Tung, are taken to indicate this route may be adopted for an advance on Pekin, which is distant 170 miles from Shan Hai Kuan.

The members of the Chinese legation this morning still assert that they have no information concerning the fate of the foreigners in Pekin.

A CONTRADICTION.

Washington, July 16.—Consul-General Goodnow cabled to the state department from Shanghai under today's date, that there was nothing more to report since his cablegram of the 13th inst. That dispatch reported the attack on the legations at Pekin as about to begin. Mr. Goodnow's statement is a direct contradiction of the Shanghai story that all the foreign consuls were informed on Saturday by Sheng that the legatons had fallen, and the ministers had been killed.

U. S. CABINET COUNSEL.

Secretary Hay called a cabinet counsel this morning to consider the Chinese situation, not to formulate any plan, but simply to talk over the situation.

There is reason to believe that 8,000 or 10,000 troops will be gotten together as rapidly as possible, and hurried to China. If the situation required more men, congress will have to be called together to provide for them.

Washington, July 16.—An unofficial report has come to the attention of the Chinese officials here to the effect that 3,000 Chinese officials at Pekin petitioned Prince Tuan to protect the foreigners, whereupon Prince Tuan ordered all those who united in the petition to be killed.

It is officially stated at St. Petersburg that no report of the murder of M. De Giers, the Russian minister at Pekin, has been received there.

Chicago, July 16.—The battalion of the 5th United States infantry stationed at Fort Sheridan has received orders to go to China. Within two weeks the other two battalions of the regiment are expected from Cuba. A week's rest is allowed them, and then the entire regiment will start for China.

MORE SOLDIERS WANTED.

Manila, July 16.—"More soldiers" is the demand coming to Gen. MacArthur from every department of the Philippine Islands.

UP GOES SUGAR.

New York, July 16.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 10 cents per hundred pounds this morning.

WHEN THE TRANSVAAL WAR IS OVER.

Cape Town, July 16.—When the war in South Africa is over 10,000 Boers, chiefly naturalized citizens of the Transvaal, will emigrate to the United States. Irish-Americans are arranging the preliminaries for this movement. The latest Machadodorp advices state that President Kruger still refuses to surrender until his supplies are exhausted.

A BRAVE PARTRIDGE.

The writer of "Who's Who and What's What," in Cassell's Little Folks, manages to furnish a store of interesting stories every month. In the July number he relates the tale of a brave partridge. When Dr. John Rae was exploring in the Arctic regions, he says, he went one day for a walk along with one of his crew. They met with a hen partridge and her chickens. As soon as she saw Dr. Rae and his companion she tried to turn their attention away from her young. She ran around them, over their feet and under their feet, striking at their hands vigorously when they attempted to catch a chicken. She even took no care of herself and allowed them to make her prisoner, so that her young ones might not be molested. The moment she was set free she began to attack the two men again, and kept up the onslaught so bravely and so perseveringly that they were at length glad to leave the devoted mother mistress of the field.

EASY WIN FOR THE PERRIN NINE

The D. S. Perrin Company's nine have not suffered a defeat this season. On Saturday they turned down the London Printing and Lithographing Company in a fast game at the west end diamond at Springbank. After the second inning the Perrin team started to pull away from the printers, and kept adding to their list of tallies in every inning. The score:

TRIC SHOCKS.

Engineering has an interesting article on this subject, in the course of which they point out that the electric resistance of the human body is neither constant nor one-valued, as in the analogous case of inorganic bodies. The tissues act as good conductors of electricity, offering but little opposition to a steady flow of current. The seat of obstruction is at the terminals, where difficulty is found not only in making an entrance, but also in effecting an exit. The skin, when clean and dry, is the arch-obstructionist, as we see by the singeings and burns inflicted upon persons incautiously touching live wires. Since the resistance of the tissues is small, very little of the energy of a passing current will be converted into internal heat, the greater part of the energy absorbed in transit being employed in doing electrolytic work. If this process of chemical change be kept up for some time, it is obvious that the comfort and health of the subject may be injuriously affected, and even permanently modified. With a pressure of 100 volts or so, a slight commotion is felt on closing and on opening the circuit, and likewise whenever the current is made to undergo any increase or diminution. Hence the grave danger that attends the sudden stoppage of a strong continuous current, and also the necessity of carefully slowing down the speed of dynamos, or gradually reducing the voltage by other means, for the purpose of rescuing a person from contact with the wires, who, as it frequently happens, is unable to free himself, owing to the tetanisation of the muscles by the current. The writer in Engineering states that on the occasion of a visit to the Giant's Causeway, a few years ago, he could not resist the temptation of giving a passing poke with the tip of his umbrella to the rusty sheet of iron that formed the insulated conductor of the Portrush railway. He received a violent shock; but a cyclist who ran up against the same conductor shortly afterwards was killed, which goes to prove that the physiological effects of industrial currents depend not merely on the numbers by which they are expressed, but also on the general health of the individual, the goodness of contact, and its duration.

A FATEFUL.... DIAMOND

CHAPTER II.

Louis Dunbar had lived in the city all his life, and was a veritable street Arab. Young as he was, he knew almost every nook and corner in the great metropolis, while not infrequently he made exploring expeditions into the suburbs and surrounding country.

On the day mentioned in the previous chapter he had wandered from the noisy, dusty town in an aimless sort of way, a desire for the sight of green grass, bright flowers, and waving trees—a longing for the sound of lowing of cattle, the song of birds and the hum of insect life, taking possession of his heart, and thus it was he had strayed to the gates of Wallace Houghton's elegant estate, and become the guest of the wealthy gentleman's daughter.

He was a poor, neglected waif whose mother had died very suddenly when he was but six months old, and of whose father no one seemed to know anything. He would have been consigned to the questionable mercies of an orphan's home or an almshouse but for the good nature and kindness of an humble woman, who, being childless at that time, had felt her heart go out toward the motherless boy, and had taken him into her home and given him such care and attention as she could bestow.

Had anyone observed him as he trudged back toward the city after the rare plasure and treat which he had enjoyed at the birthday party, he would have been impressed by the expression of gravity and resolution on his young face.

Reaching the city, he finally turned into a narrow alley in a poor locality, and climbed a somewhat dilapidated outside stairway leading into an humble dwelling.

Opening a door, on reaching the top, and entering, he was greeted by the shouts of noisy children, the steam of boiling clothes and the fumes of meat and vegetables, while a stout, red-faced woman looked up from the wash-tub over which she was bending, and recognized him with a nod and a weary smile.

Poor Mary Jones! She had led a hard life during the last few years.

John Jones, her husband, worked in the foundry near by, and when they were first married he was able to provide quite comfortably for himself and wife.

But he was one of those easy-going fellows, with no push or energy, satisfied with his scant earnings as long as he had enough to eat and drink, or if not really satisfied, too indolent or indifferent to bestir himself and find something better to do to improve his condition, so when added cares came in the form of little ones of their own, his wife had to put her shoulder to the wheel, and by taxing in fine washing and ironing, not infrequently earned more than her husband, besides performing her own heavy home duties.

But hard times and sickness kept them poor in spite of all this, and though the mother often sighed to have her children, and the boy to whom she had given a home, and whom she loved almost as well, go poorly fed and scantily clothed, yet she seemed powerless to help it.

"Where have you been, Louis?" she asked, as the boy entered his humble home, caught up the youngest child in his arms, and gave him a toss in the air, greatly to the infant's delight.

He set the little one down, threw his apology of a hat upon the table, and, running his sunburned fingers through the masses of dark hair upon his forehead, while a roguish twinkling gleamed in his eyes, he replied:

"Been to a party, Aunt Mary."

"What!" demanded the woman, somewhat sharply.

"I have, 'pon my word—out on the Brookline road, too—to one of them crack places; and I had ice cream, strawberries, and cake, with the cutest little gimcracks on top you ever saw," and the lad smacked his lips over the remembrance of those rare dainties upon which he had feasted with such gusto.

"Stop your fooling, Louis, and talk sense," returned the woman, gravely, while she bestowed a questioning glance upon him as if she feared he'd been up to some mischief that might get him into trouble.

"Truly, Aunt Mary, I'm not fooling," he answered, and then told the story of his adventure, greatly to the entertainment of all his listeners.

One thing he did not mention, however, and that was the gift he had received.

He feared that his Aunt Mary would tell him that he ought to give the money to her for the comfort of the family, and that he did not want to do.

It was not because of the value of the money, but because of the giver, that he wished to keep it.

Her touch, and the kindness that had prompted its bestowal, had rendered it sacred to him, and he had mentally resolved that he would keep it just as long as he lived.

His story told, he fell to musing again, and sat for a long time without speaking to anyone.

But later in the evening, after they had had their simple supper, when John Jones had taken his pipe and gone out for a social smoke with one of his cronies, and the little ones were all in bed, he suddenly burst out with:

"Why ain't everybody rich, Aunt Mary?"

The woman was standing at the table ironing some fine, beautifully trimmed clothes belonging to a wealthy lady for whom she worked, and perchance something of the same thought was in her mind, for she heaved a deep sigh, set down the iron with a heavy thud, and gave vent to a short, bitter laugh.

"It takes smart folks to get rich," she said sharply; "folks who are always on the lookout for the best chances, and who are willing to turn their hand to whatever comes along when it's hard times, instead of standing around on the corners, with their hands in their pockets and wondering when work will begin. I wish I was a man," she concluded with an energy which betrayed she was deeply felt on the subject.

"What would you do if you were a man, Aunt Mary?" Louis asked eagerly.

The woman's face flushed a burning red, and a quick sob heaved her chest. She was thinking of those children at Margaret Houghton's party, whom Louis had described in such glowing terms to her.

"I'd—never be content to settle down on a dollar or a dollar and a half a day, and let my children"—with a troubled look at the boy's poverty-stricken appearance, and a wistful look toward the room where her own little ones were sleeping—"go anyhow, and my wife stand six or eight hours a day at a washtub to help support them."

"But what if you couldn't get more than that?"

'I would get more than that! How do you suppose the rich get rich? Some are born with a silver spoon in their mouth, I know, but more make their own money, and have to begin on little, too. I suppose I'd take the dollar to begin with, but I'd keep my eyes open, and instead of walking about the streets with a dirty pipe in my mouth, or gossiping at a corner grocery, I'd look about me, after my day's work was done, for something better, and — I'd have it, too."

"But don't you suppose the men are tired working all day in the foundry?" questioned Louis, well knowing that she was referring to her husband.

"Tired? I suppose they are; but don't you suppose a woman gets tired, too?" demanded Mary Jones, bitterly; "and yet, instead of sitting down with folded hands to rest, or going to her neighbor's to gad after she has done her day's work for a family of six, she can stand at the washtub, or an ironing-table, half the night, and earn as much, if not more, than her husband has earned all day; while he, poor soul, thinks he can't do a few chores about the house to help her after his ten hours' task is done. I know scores of women who drudge sixteen hours out of every twenty-four, and half support their families, and yet their husbands grumble if they are asked to split a few kindlings, sift a little ashes, or mind the baby for half an hour."

"I'm sorry, Aunt Mary, that you have to work so hard," Louis said, regarding her tired face regretfully. "I wish you hadn't so many to care for."

The woman gave him a sharp, questioning look.

"La, child, I didn't mean to complain—the Lord knows there are harder lots than mine—only it seems to me sometimes, that if I was a man, well and strong, I'd want to be as smart as anybody else. I'd hate to see my children looking like little beggars, and my wife working her fingers to the bone, when perhaps my neighbors were tidy and thrifty and happy, and perhaps laying by a snug penny for a rainy day."

"I'm glad my children are all boys," she went on after a few moments of silence, during which she had been plying the iron vigorously, every stroke seeming to speak regret over hopes unfulfilled. "I'd feel bad to have a girl grow up to have three or four children of her own, and have to do both man's and woman's work to keep the breath of life in them, and then not half-live, either. Before I was married I used to think what a nice home I'd have when John and I got settled; what pretty things I'd make for it and my children; how neat and tidy they'd look when I sent them to school, and how, perhaps, I'd get time now and then to read a nice book myself; but, deary me, it has taken me every blessed minute to earn enough to keep them from going hungry, and I suppose I've got to drag on to the end in the same way."

A heavy sigh concluded the pathetic sentence, and, as she turned to the stove to exchange her iron, she slyly wiped a tear from her eye with the corner of her apron.

Louis saw it, however.

BRADSTREET'S

Report of the Trade Situation in Canada.

Toronto, July 16.—Bradstreet's trade review weekly summary says: Trade at Montreal has been fair for this season. The prospects for the wheat crop in Manitoba have improved from the worst condition attained this summer, and the yield will, it is expected, exceed what was estimated ten days ago. Values continue firm; failures are few and unimportant.

Trade at Toronto has been moderately active. Travelers report a fair business in fall lines, and the outlook is considered bright. Values are still firm for all domestic and imported goods. Country remittances are fair.

There has been a fair movement for the fall at Hamilton, and the demand for current needs is fair for this season. Values continue firm. Remittances are fairly satisfactory.

Business at the coast cities shows some improvement. The more settled feeling in political circles has improved the general situation. There is still over-competition in some branches. Remittances are slow.

At London there has been a fair inquiry for fall goods, while in the sorting business the demand has kept up unusually well. The outlook for the fall business is bright. Prices are being well maintained.

At Winnipeg there is a better feeling in trade, owing to the better reports of the crops. Reports from the Territories where the crops have not been damaged are encouraging.

The bank clearings for the past week are as follows: Montreal, $16,542,904, increase 3.2 per cent; Toronto, $11,947,373, increase 20.5 per cent; Winnipeg, $2,143,900, increase 11.1 per cent; Halifax, $2,690,061, increase 40.0 per cent; Hamilton, $815,573, decrease 4.4 per cent; St. John, N. B., $879,296, increase 24.3 per cent; Vancouver, $1,108,664, increase 26.0 per cent; Victoria, $916,679, increase, 46.8 per cent.

HAD NOT THE RIGHT

Provincial Legislation Should Not Be Interfered With by the Senate—The Premier's Spirited Reply to Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, July 16.—In speaking on the action of the house in dissenting from the Senate's amendments respecting the appointment of judges of the Provincial Court, Mr. Foster said the government simply wanted to make a campaign question out of it. It was part of the plan of campaign to stir up feeling in Quebec. He displayed a cartoon and quoted a passage from Le Soliel, saying that all Orangemen were bound together by solemn oath to exterminate the Catholic and French element in this British colony. The Liberal party would benefit by this, but the premier went about the country laying his hand upon his heart and saying that when he died the only inscription he wanted on his monument was that he had devoted his life to cementing Canada. What was the constituent question? It was whether the senate was a part of our parliamentary system or was not. No one doubted that it was. It was an absolutely free part of our parliament, legislating as it had a right to do, forming its opinion and expressing it in legislation. He did not think a judge was necessary. He was sorry the day had been wasted, and worse than wasted, because it was given over to making campaign literature out of the basest material.

THE PREMIER'S REPLY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if they were to go into newspaper cartoons such as that in Le Soleil, if they were to look to one side or the other side to appeals which unfortunately might be made to race and religious feeling, what was Le Soleil beside Mr. Foster's Hamilton Spectator and other newspapers that were every day working on the most vile passions of the people? It was not his misfortune, it was his pride that he was of French origin, but it was used by Mr. Foster and his friends every day against him in Ontario, and if his friends in Quebec should resent that he did not blame them; he excused them; but the man did not live who could say that ever in any circumstances in his life he had made the slightest appeal to religious or race feeling. (Aplause.) He had fought, and was fighting, an honest policy; he met the opposition on their policy; but never in his life did he do anything that could be pointed out as coming personally from him, making an appeal to racial or religious passion. If any friend of his, if any newspaper that supported him in Quebec, appealed to the popular passions of any race, he was not ready to support them, and he would be glad if Mr. Foster would likewise impose silence on the vile sheets that were making attacks on the French race and Catholic religion. That was not the way to discuss a great constitutional question. Mr. Foster was willing to let it go without any discussion at all. It was one of the most important questions ever discussed in the house. The salaries of three judges were not very much, but it was laid down in the law that the provincial governments should constitute the courts, and where a provincial government in its wisdom decided that it was necessary to have so many judges for the administration of the justice of the province, it was the duty of the house and the senate to give effect to that resolution. If the local authorities had the power to appoint the judges they would do it, and that would be the end. But they had not that power. It it was shown that a provincial government, in passing such legislation as this, had acted in bad faith, and that their action was indefensible, then the Dominion Parliament should not submit to any such thing; but on this occasion it was not pretended that the Quebec people had acted in bad faith. The administration of justice in two provinces should not be weighed in gold, but he pointed out that Ontario, with a population of 2,115,000, according to the last census, had 87 judges, while Quebec, with 1,700,000, had 41 judges—more than two in Ontario for one in Quebec. He stood on the broad principle of provincial rights today, and the senate had not the right—it had the power but not the right—to reject this bill. The very basis of our constitution rested upon the idea that provincial legislation should not be interfered with by the central government. For this reason it was important to have this discussion, to know where we stood, to know if we were to have a parliamentary system or the tyranny of the senate imposed on us and on the will of the people.

Owing to some difficulty the committee had to interview the supreme chief at Toronto, and the High Court were unable to make any announcement of the meeting sooner. Even the meeting place had been selected and all arrangements made, and delegates were under the impression that Goderich would be the meeting place this year. Under these circumstances the meeting will be held as usual.

JUMPED FROM A MOVING TRAIN.

Fireman Whitehall, of the G. T. R., has a badly sprained ankle, the result of jumping from a swiftly moving train. He was on No. 1 express, due here at 2:55 a.m., the other night, with Engineer Ranahan at the throttle, and on seeing a freight train on the track ahead, and the semaphore against them, he concluded that there was going to be a smash, and jumped. The freight, however, got out of the way in good time. The train was stopped, and Whitehall picked up in a dazed condition. His ankle pained him badly and he was slightly cut and bruised.

Rev. Dr. Bayne At St. Andrew's.

Rev. G. D. Bayne, Ph.D., of Pembroke, who preached in St. Andrew's Church, at both services yesterday, quite captivated those who heard him by his fine abilities, both oratorical and rhetorical. Mr. Bayne is a man in the prime of life, strong in intellect, buoyant in thought, manly and optimistic in spirit. His fine rich voice and flowing utterances command an attention that never flags while he is speaking. His sentences, often epigrammatic, were admirably direct, their terseness set off by periods of gracefully-expressed imagery.

His evening subject—"The Handicapped Man"—was evolved from the life of Ishmael, who, from his birth, was handicapped, because of the unbelief of his parents and the heathen blood in his veins. Afterwards he became a mere fighter, his hand being against every man and every man's hand against him. Dr. Bayne pictured several men who were handicapped as Ishmael had been, some whose future was dark and gloomy who lived in the "poverty that takes all the poetry out of life"; others who were held back by the great wealth that is the next worst thing to poverty; still others, whose life was marred by their parentage. "God does no injustice," he said. "He makes allowance and compensation for every handicap." Some come into the world more favorably equipped than did others, and it was often asked why a child was thus handicapped? Who had sinned? the child or the parents? And the answer was that neither had sinned; but it was so that the power of God might enter into the life. The law of heredity ruled for good as well as for ill, and no person would have to answer for that which he did not have. The handicaps of a man's life were to be fought and overcome, and not taken as excuses for weakness. The lesson that was to be learned was that God was just; that he made allowances; that his grace could be invoked to fight against all handicaps; that he was worthy of confidence and trust.

MASONIC BRETHREN ARE ARRIVING

To Attend the Forty-fifth Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Ontario—Board of General Purposes in Session.

On Wednesday and Thursday the 45th annual communication of the grand lodge, A., F. and A. M. of Canada in the Province of Ontario will be held at the Opera House, Dundas street. On Wednesday evening no session of the grand lodge will be held, and the time will be given over to the local committee, who have arranged with Bro. C. E. A. Carr for eight special motors and trolleys to convey the visitors to Springbank. Only those in possession of blue badges and members of the committee with white ribbons will be permitted on the cars aliuded to, and they are timed to leave the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets between 6:45 and 7:15 p.m. A special trolley and trailer will be at the service of the grand officers and members of the board of general purposes. The local brethren and citizens generally will be conveyed to the popular pleasure resort as soon after the hour named as possible. The meeting will likely close by 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, thus affording delegates both east and west to leave for their homes the same evening. In addition to the election of officers, it is altogether probable that a patriotic resolution will be offered, congratulating her Majesty the Queen (the patroness of Craft Masonry) and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the grand master of English Freemasons, upon the success which has attended the British arms in South Africa. The reports of committees and consideration of amendments to the constitution will also occupy the attention of grand lodge for a considerable time. The opening proceedings on Wednesday afternoon will be preceded by the presentation of an address of welcome from the city council, headed by the mayor, Bro. Rumball, and members of the city council. Subsequently the worshipful masters of the city lodges, accompanied by the D. D. G. M. of London district, R. W. Bro. George F. Morris, will also offer a congratulatory address, through W. Bro. R. A. Bayly, of St. John's Lodge, No. 20. Brief replies to both addresses may be expected from Grand Master Malone, after which routine business will engage the attention of the body, and following that will come the annual address of the grand master, which promises at this time to be a document of more than usual interest.

The notices of motion to come before grand lodge are eight in number. These will be passed upon by the committee on constitution and laws, which is composed of Past Grand Masters Walkem, Stevenson, White, J. M. Gibson and Tully, and R. W. Bro. Dr. Hillier, of Leamington.

The board of general purposes has been summoned to meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the consideration of business. This board, from the data submitted to them, prepares the bulk of the business to be dealt with by the grand body, and is composed of nine sub-committees. The composition of the board is as follows: President —R. W. Bro. R. B. Hungerford, deputy grand master, London. Vice-President —R. W. Bro. J. E. Harding, Q.C., of Lindsay. By virtue of office—M. W. Among others who have arrived here to take part in the deliberations are R. W. Bros, Burritt (Pembroke), McKay (Ottawa), Allen, Toronto), Hargraft (Cobourg), and one or two others. The remaining members arrived during this forenoon, and will hold sessions today, tomorrow and Wednesday forenoon, in order to complete the business referred to them for consideration.

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR.

Made White By Leaving Out the Part Which Helps Digest.

Modern methods of milling separate the parts of the wheat berry that contain the diastatic element, and furnish only the white flour made up almost entirely of starch.

One of the principal elements needed to digest this starch has been left out in this process, and therefore the person who eats much white bread is almost sure to have intestinal troubles, for the starch does not digest properly, and must, of necessity, decay and cause all sorts of trouble.

Grape-Nuts food, on the contrary, is made up of the entire wheat and barley, and the process of digestion as shown in the human body, are copied as exactly as possible, in a mechanical way, by the use of moisture, time and warmth. No chemicals or other ingredients are used, but the simple methods scientifically arranged.

In this way the starch of the grain is transformed into grape sugar, and the Grape-Nuts food, which appears in a granular form, shows on the outside of the little granules, glittering specks of this grape sugar, which is not put onto the food from the outside, but is the result of the change of the starch into grape sugar, which works out to the surface, very much as the sap of the hickory or maple tree will frequently show in the shape of white sugar on the sawed-off ends of logs.

A handful of Grape-Nuts held to the light will show the little glittering particles of grape sugar. It is naturally and scientifically predigested, therefore the food agrees with the weakest sort of a stomach. It must not be used in large quantities at one meal, for it is concentrated, and over-feeding of even the choicest food is not advisable.

Being perfectly cooked at the factory, the food can be served instantly, either dry or wet, cold or hot. When wanted hot, hot water, milk or cream can be poured over it. There is a definite, distinct and undeniable gain in nervous energy, and vitality when Grape-Nuts food is used.

ROBERT M. BURNS, Manager.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES

Among the Managers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce—Mr. O'Grady, of Woodstock, Coming to London and Mr. Dewar Leaving for Hamilton.

The Woodstock Times says: Extensive changes are on the eve of taking place among the managers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Although no official notification has been received by Mr. O'Grady, the rumor is, however, understood to be correct. The following is the list of managerial positions affected:

Mr. G. de C. O'Grady, of Woodstock, to London.

Mr. Dewar, of London, to Hamilton.

Mr. Roberts, of Hamilton, superannuated.

Mr. McKee, of Walkerton, to Woodstock.

Mr. McGillivray, of Toronto, to Walkerton.

By the promotion of Mr. O'Grady to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, London, Woodstock loses one of her most progressive citizens. His removal from the town will be felt keenly in both business and social circles. As a business man Mr. O'Grady has done much for Woodstock, and he has left his mark upon the business expression of the town. Ever to the front where some benefit for the business people of Woodstock was to be combated for, he always proved his value as a factor on their side. Mr. O'Grady is not only a progressive man in ideas, but possesses a restless energy, which is ever being directed to the interests of the community. Socially Mr. O'Grady was the center of a solar system that warmed everyone coming within the radius of attraction. Woodstock, commercially and socially, loses more than she can afford to in the loss of her citizen, Mr. G. de C. O'Grady.

USEFULNESS OF DRAGON FLIES

They Are Bred and Raised to Exterminate Mosquitoes.

Experiments are to be made within the next month in New Jersey and in one or two other places to see if the turning loose of dragon flies, or devil's darning needles, as the children name them, will not redeem some sections of the country from the pest of mosquitoes that makes them uninhabitable during certain seasons. The "darning needles" are bred in slowly running water. They will not mature under the stagnant conditions which make mosquitoes thrive. It is necessary to keep all fish and frogs out of the nursery of the dragon flies, because nearly all kinds of fish and certainly all frogs consider the hatching insects a delicacy. The dragon flies themselves in the larvae state are fed on cut-up fresh fish. If they don't get plenty of this food they turn cannibal and eat one another up. When the time is ripe they are transported to the mosquito water stretches and then turned loose.

C. H. Murray, of the United States fish commission, is authority for the statement that mosquitoes attack and kill baby trout when they come to the surface. It is also held by many scientists that the mosquito may carry a diseased germ from one person to another by means of its cutting and blood-sucking instrument. It is hinted that the spread of disease in this manner is more prevalent than people believe, and thus another reason has evolved for the forming of a dragon fly army. The hammer-head dragon fly, which may be known at once by a glance at the shape of its head, is said to be the most voracious of its kind. One of these creatures was injured accidently by an experimenter, who had knocked off with a blow at least seven segments of the insect's body.

To test its life tenacity and its appetite as well the seven segments were fed one after the other to the injured insect. It ate them readily and with apparent relish. If the people living near mosquito pools have not had the forethought to lay in a supply of embryo dragon flies let them sprinkle this spring a little crude petroleum over the surface of the infested water, and the result will be the dying of all the mosquito wigglers that lie in the depths. This means is inexpensive and certain, though far less interesting than the unleashing of a few battalions of darning needles to overwhelm and devour the stinging swarms.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WILL BLEAK HOUSE TRAVEL?

A wonder-loving American is considering the advisability of purchasing Bleak House, with the object of transporting it to the states for exhibition purposes. A similar proposal was considered some years ago, when an American showman desired to transport Carlyle's old home at Ecclefechan, but, happily, the project was defeated. The purchase price of Bleak House is placed at £3,000.—Sussex News.
