them, namely, helping the poor and weak. He was inclined to believe that therein lay the strength of the English-speaking system. Mr. Bayard dwelt upon the difference of opinion among his own countrymen and upon the value of inidvdual opinion. He said that since he came occasion to change his tone, and there was nothing he would say here that he would not say at home and vice versa. (Cheers.) He did not expect unanimity, and would also say God forbid it. An American should not be expected to say anything that would suit everybody. He rejoiced in the system of government that originated here and that had been carried beyond the Atlantic. There was something that enabled a man to speak according to his own conscience. (Cheers.) Therein, too, lay the strength of both countries.

When the time came when a man dare not speak the thoughts swelling within him for the public good, God help him and the country. He quoted Tennyson, voicing the sentiment, and said he be-

London, March 25,-"Tom" Hughes

the author of "Tom Brown's School Days," who died at Brighton Sunday, was one of those charming men who never forget that they have been schoolboys. He was a schoolboy in years ago-and up to the time of his death delighted in the society of schoolboys, and made schoolboys delight in his company. He could be stern, and often was so, but he al-ways remembered that he had been a boy himself, and his great sympathy with the joys and sorrows of the classic, "Tom Brown's School Days."

Dr. Arnold, father of the late Matthew Arnold, was its head master. It was Dr. Arnold who made Rugby the famous school it became. It was "Tom"

Hughes who told the public what manner of school it was. Arnold and Hughes on Oct. 5, 1880, in Tennessee, and was known as the Rugby colony. The col-

Sir Richard, upon his return to England, after many years in Bombay, translated a Persian tome, attributed to the poet Saadi, called "The Scented Garden." The tone of the production was exceedingly immoral, judged by western standards. On the day the translation was completed Sir Richard died. Although the widow was offered $50,000 for the manuscript and was pressed for money she refused to sell it and burned it page by page.

Bird Buries Its Talons in the Child's Flesh-His Newfoundland Saves Him.

Lexington, Ky., March 26.-But for his big Newfoundland little Willie Slone might have been converted into eagle food yesterday. He was playing in the front yard of the home of his father, W. J. Slone, whose house is at the foot of Jones' Fork Mountain, one of the highest of the Kentucky Ridge, when a large eagle alighted on him and buried his talons in his side. Willie is only two years old. and is somewhat small for that age. him was his big and faithful dog, which, upon hearing the cries of the boy, ran to him just in time to catch the eagle by the leg. The bird had made an awkward plunge and had to settle, putting one foot to the ground before it could Mr. Slone was sitting in his door and saw the eagle as it darted down from speed in the direction of the child and arrived in time to assist the dog in killing the eagle and to release the talons of the bird from the boy's clothing and flesh. One eye was cut so bad that it is believed he will lose the sight, and his left breast was torn considerably, but the injuries are not considered fatal. The bird is of the gray eagle variety and measures seven feet from tip to

He is suffering from heart failure, and Dr. John S. Fulton, his attending physician, says that recovery is hardly possible.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S VIEWS. The Noted Scholar Brings Out Points to Which Heed Must be Given.

Principal Grant, in the Globe, says to settle the Manitoba school question regard must be paid: 1. To the form and spirit of the constitution, remembering that the difficulty springs from a peculiarity of our constitution, which is both federal and parliamentary.

2. To provincial self-respect, which cannot be wounded in the least province without the greatest being also wounded sooner or later. 3. To religous sentiment, for though the state is distinct from religious organizations, it cannot discharge its own functions aright if it antagonizes the religious sentiment of even ill-instructed portions of the community. Now that the question has become complicated the ordinary methods of party government are too rough for its solution. Delay, in order to inquire, conference, and mutual concession, is imperative. Haste may involve the greatest perils. We are face to face with a question which is world wide in its significance. If, through having

Went to Jail!

An "Advertiser" Representative Calls at Noon Hour,

What the Prisoners Get But Does Not Indulge.

Luxuries Are Very Scarce-" Skilly" and "Hash" the Favorites Prisoners Get Fat-The Cost of Maintenance and Other Interesting Information.

A meal within the walls of the Middlesex county jail is something which none can boast of having except the men, women and boys who, by the folly of their ways, have been compelled by the arm of the law to serve time.

In fact, the general public have but little or no conception of the bill of fare that is generally provided the prisoners. The more youthful frequently have the idea instilled in their minds that if they did anything wrong they would be put in jail and fed on and Sons was a delightful manifestabread and water. This idea doubtless tion of Christian unity. After the ushas a good effect on some youngsters, while it apparently does not "fizz" on others, as the amount of crime among juveniles of late will show.

An "Advertiser" representative was accorded, and gladly accepted the privilege of visiting the county jail while dinner was being served yesterday. He found between 25 and 30 hungry men in the different wards shortly before 12 o'clock, and a huge boiler on the kitchen stove containing the soup for the noonday meal. The kitchen was "as clean as a new pin," so to speak, although it did not contain the most modern furniture or such cooking utensils as are usually found in the kitchen of a household. The stove is a very large affair-about twice as large as a good-sized range-but it is beginning to show signs of old age. The boilers and smaller vessels used in the preparation of the rations are copper, and also indicate by their appearance that they have done service for many a

The office of cook does not have attached to it any handsome salary. It is filled by one of the male prisoners, who works under the direction of the turnkeys. Hugh McCurdy is the cook at present. Hugh is a good-natured towns, viz., Brantford, Ingersoll and fellow, and one of the best carpenters Kintore. Hugh McCurdy smiled when the "Adyesterday. He had had his dinner, and as he was in good spirits, he fre- to dwell together in unity." quently joined in the conversation with the turnkey and the newspaper representative relating to the rations.

'Yes," said McCurdy once, "we had soup today for dinner. It was vegetable soup, too, for it contained rotten turnips and carrots, and a little black strap (molasses) to give it color. Some of the boys can go two dishes of it, but two spoonfuls is enough for me." Of course the assertion that the vegetables were rotten was considered to be a "stretcher," as all the supplies for the jail are first-class. "The men are always given plenty," eaid the turnkey, a rather portly gentleman. "You would wonder how some of them could empty all the dishes that are set before them.'

This made McCurdy laugh, and turning to the last speaker he remarked: "Yes, but judging by your appearance You get something better than skilly and hash to eat. You would not need such a big vest if you didn't."

It might be supposed by many that a person confined in the jail would lose flesh in consequence of the rations, but the very opposite invariably proves to be the case. On being released after serving a term of a month or more, a man has a decidedly healthy and cleanly appearance. The turnkey above referred to assured the newspaper man "that old Jack Turner, who serves numerous terms for vagrancy and drunkenness, generally gains about fifteen pounds in weight in a month or six weeks." He accounts for this from the fact that the meals are regularly supplied in the jail, and also that eleven or eleven and a half hours' sleep is secured every night. Under the method in vogue in many jails in the old country, Middlesex prisoners, no matter what their offenses or the length of their terms, receive the same rations. The average cost of maintaining a prisoner in the jail is about 5 cents a day, or $18 25 a year. To many this can hardly seem possible, but the returns of Governor Kelly will show such to be the case.

It showed in a practical manner the aim and scope of that organization, and brought before the minds of parents and teachers, through the local council upon pure literature, the danger of the impure literature which is being circulated in so secret and subtle a manner as to need the keenest watchfulness against its getting into the hands of young people.

The secretary's minutes showed that the circles have united to co-operate with the United Charities Organization of the city. One of the leaders testified to the great benefit her circle had already found working in conjunction with the society, and having a member of the circle present at the regular monthly meeting of the Organized Charities Society. The chairman advised each to have its own representative at these monthly meet-

Twice he struck her with all his might in the face. She threw her arms around him and screamed, without letting go, for

The struggling desperado dragged her into the hall and to the stairway. She clung to him, and they fell to the bottom of the stairs. Policeman George Brauwald and the bartender, who had started for home, found Mrs. Colligan and the burglar on their knees.

In Barrett's pocket was found $354 82, which he had taken from the satchel. He admitted to Chief Murphy that he knew Mrs. Colligan had money to cash the checks for railroad men. He refused to tell how he got in, but he probably sneaked in through the saloon. He said he was John Ward, of No. 330 East Twenty-eighth street, New York. Chief Murphy recognized him at sight.

Not Easy to Deceive Them About the Important Things of Lite.

A woman in search of "bargains" is a favorite subject for joking among the 'humorous' writers for the press. They ther against her time of trial; shortens the period of confinement; renders labor absolutely free from danger and comparatively easy. Provides the mother with recuperative energy and pro-motes the secretion of abundant healthy nourishment for the child. NO OTHER LIKE IT.

There is no other medicine which has been such a helper of womankind as the "Favorite Prescription." Dr. Pierce has received over ninety thousand letters full of gratitude and praise from women for health and strength restored by the "Prescription" alter all other means had failed. The "Prescription" is intended for just this one purpose and no other; the disorders and weaknesses of the organs distinctly femi-nine; and it fulfills this purpose more completely than any other medicine ever discovered or invented. Its sales are greater than the combined sales of all other medicines for women; which penditure of numerous car fares and prodigious energy, all in pursuit of some prodigious energy, all in pursuit of some place in this wonder-working remedy.

gentlemen know in their heart of be relied on to do what Dr. Pierce's hearts that when a woman sets out to Favorite Prescription does for women, save money she can do it in a fashion because it is the only medicine on the which makes the boasted acuteness of the male sex look silly by comparison.

When a man undertakes to buy his

the aid of womanly suggestion and advice he begins to realize that women are less easily taken in than he imagined. His philosophy may be very keen and scientific, but all the same he pays a dollar and a half for a poorer shirt than his wife or sister will buy him for 97 cents-when she wants to.

WOMEN KEEP THEIR EYES OPEN. Women usually know just which side of their bread is buttered. A woman milk being out of the question. On lusion was made to God's suffering dearly loves a bargain; she would snap people in Armenia, and the chairman up a bargain if it was offered to her by a pirate; but all the time she'd know he was a pirate and she wouldn't hundred are cura trust him. When women agree in Pierce's records. trusting any store or any business or, anything else, you may be certain that the confidence is well deserved. One woman may be deceived, but women in the aggregate know where to put their confidence.

THEY TELL EACH OTHER. Women tell each other about their experiences, one experience confirms another; in that way women learn where to place their confidence, and they usually place it where it is deserved. It is the same way about their own personal matters. When a woman finds a source of benefit and relief from mental or physical troubles, she tells her friends and they tell others; and what was the benefit of one soon becomes the benefit of thousands.

It means a great deal when hundreds of thousands of women have had their lives transformed from misery into happiness; when they have been raised from despondency and weakness and illness into cheerful, capable healthy womanhood.

GOOD REASON FOR CONFIDENCE This is what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription accomplished for thousands upon thousands of women. Is it any wonder that it has gained their confidence? It has gained it by deserving it. The "Favorite Prescription" is the one perfect specific for all forms of "female complaint." It was invent-Mrs. Colligan Captured a Burglar in Her ed by one of the most eminent men in the medical profession; Dr.R.V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the In-Buffalo, N. Y. THE WRONG AND THE RIGHT WAY A large proportion of these consultations have been by letter. Dr Pierce has proved that except in very rare instances there is no need of the dreaded "examinations" so repulsive to modestly sensitive women; and that the stereotyped "local applications" commonly relied upon by physicians are usually worse than useless, and frequently do more harm than good.

Dr. Pierce's splendid success continued for 30 years, proves that the true and rational cure of women's ailments is by restoring internal health and strength to the organs distinctly feminine. The "Favorite Prescription" is a direct internal tonic and strengthener of the female organism. It imparts the inward strength and vigor. without which there can be no permanent recovery. Yesterday afternoon was occupied with the reception of delegates from Canada and the American Swedish Union, the latter an organization of about 10,000 members, absorbed by the Royal Templars.

NEW BRIDGE AT NIAGARA. Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 25 .- A new bridge may soon span the gorge. The boards of directors from the Canadian and American sides of the Niagara Falls International Bridge met Monday evening and took under adcontracts with the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada to replace their present single railway suspension bridge with a new double track arch bridge of the spandril brace type, built for the heaviest traffic. The bridge and railway companies have been trying for two years to reach an Work on the bridge will probably be commenced this spring.

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than a half-bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Mr. Powell, Conservative M. P. for Westmoreland, says the subject of preferential trade between Great Britain and the colonies is a subject to be is sooner or later doomed to downfall. dealt with by our grandchildren. Mr. Powell may be right. But one thing is certain: increased trade can certainly be done between Great Britain and Canada to the benefit of Canadians as well as the people of the motherland, if we reduce the taxation on British imports sent to Canada. Great Britain imposes no tax upon what we send her. The obstruction is all on the part of Canada, as arranged by the present Ottawa Government. And what seems preposterous is the fact that while our rulers keep up obstructions to prevent trade with Britain with one hand, with the other they dive into the pockets of the Canadian taxpayers for money to pay subsidies to aid in increasing trade with Britain. It is a very foolish and a very expensive policy.

11 11 11 The Raines liquor license law, which Governor Morton of New York has just signed, effects great changes in the management of the traffic. By this measure, local boards having jurisdiction to issue licenses for the sale of liquor are abolished, and the whole subject is placed under the supervision of the State. Part of the license fees will go to the State and part to the municipality. In New York city a license will cost $800, in Brooklyn $650, in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and cities of that size $500; in other cities the license fees range from $30 to $500, and in rural regions from $30 to $150. The principle of local option in towns is retained, with the additional provision that if a town determines either for or against the sale of liquor by popular vote, that result cannot be changed within two years.

11 11 11 The Hamilton Spectator (Conservative) says: "The determination of Sir Charles Tupper to keep the House in continuous session from today until Saturday is nothing short of an outrage. There is entirely too much coercion going on at Ottawa." Yes, the country needs a change

11 11 11 Fresh strawberries are selling in New York at 50 cents a box, and peaches at $12 a dozen. They come high, but the luxury-loving Yankees must have them.

New Zealand will pass a law to prevent the landing of consumptives at its ports, and to heavily fine ship captains for attempting to land a consumptive, or one who exhibits any tendencies to be so afflicted. It is apparent that the New Zealanders do not wish their island to be regarded as a health resort. A law on these lines will be very hard to carry out.

Reduced County Councils.

The act for the reduction of county ecuncilors, which passed the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday, effects a much needed revolution in the management again. of county affairs. Taking Middlesex as an example, we will have the number of county councilors reduced from 48 to 16. The new county council will not be composed of members of the township councils, but will be elected by popular vote. Middlesex will be divided into eight districts, two councilors will be elected from each district, and each voter will have two votes. The change will effect a very considerable saving.

The Aldermanic Term.

The municipal committee of the Ontario Legislature has accepted the principle of a two-year term for aldermen in all the cities of the Province. For the change, the chief argument lies in the fact that no matter how good a man an alderman may be, he scarcely gets his bearings during his first year as a representative. In other words, an apprenticeship has to be served for alderman as well as for everything eise.

Cromwell and Kruger. Judge Steyn, the new president of the Crange Free State, seems to be sort of second Kruger. He recently paraphrased one of Oliver Cromwell's maxims by expressing the pious hope that the Afrikander would "never forget his Bible and his gun." In South Africa there seems to be too much gun and too little Bible. If the golden rule, inculcated in Scripture, had prevailed in South Africa in recent years, the Uttlanders would have been given their political rights, and no excuse would have been given for Jameson's raid on Johannesburg. The Boers were sympathized with when an attempt was made to annex them to Cape Colony against their will, but they have not many friends in lands where English-speaking freemen dwell, because they refuse to give voting power to every man who is a patriotic supporter of the commonwealth and a taxpayer. Memory Gone, or What? Mr. McNeill, Conservative M. P. for North Bruce, as a consequence of the resolution, was unwittingly the means of exposing Sir Charles Tupper to another humiliation. Sir Charles listened to Mr. McNeill's speech, and then gravely rebuked Mr. McNeill for having dared to introduce the resolution without having first consulted him. Mr. McNeill expressed the greatest surprise at the remarks made by the Nova Scotia knight. The member for North Bruce said that he had taken the first opportunity that had present-Tupper. He had even gone to his that of either of the other methods, house, where he had a long conversation with him on this very subject, and had a few days afterwards received a letter from Sir Charles, saying that he was greatly obliged to Mr. McNeill ing. for a copy of his resolution, and that he would have pleasure in supporting it. Mr. McNeill read the written pledge of the Minister, and scornfully tore the letter up, and cast the fragments on the floor. Sir Charles Tupper sullenly listened, but made no rejoinder to this explicit condemnation of his attack on a follower.

Export Meat Trade.

The Trade Bulletin claims to have additional proof in its possession that the export dead meat trade, which men in power at Ottawa they will go tato, if Parliament grants them the money, is doomed to failure. Our contemporary says it has received evidence from England in support of its view.

Large American provision firms, with millions at their back, tried the very scheme of opening up retail stores in England and selling "American Chilled Beef," guaranteed to be of the finest quality; and yet with all the facilities of cheap freights and manufacturing at the very lowest cost, the shrewd multi-millionaires have not been able to make the export dead meat trade pay. In fact they have reduced their shipments of chilled beef, and gone more into the exportation of live cattle, and why? Because the latter pays the best. Nothing can be more convincing than the following facts which the Bull in reproduces from an article of Feb. 28: "On Feb. 20, refrigerator beef sold in the English market at 6 1-4c to 7 1-4c per lb, while American steers sold at 9c to 9 3-4c dressed weight. Here, then, we have the in- ment, on payment of the usual fees, controvertible fact that dead meat from live steers landed in England, and slaughtered at point of debarkation, will bring 2 1-2c to 2 3-4c per lb. more than refrigerator beef." But if Tilbury Center; to further improve such shrewd and extensive exporters the Agricultural and Arts Act; reas Armour, Swift and Morris, of Chicago, cannot make the dressed meat trade pay, how is it possible that the Canadian Government can do any bet-

The Present Water Supply is Only Equal to the Demand.

Commissioners Discuss Methods of Harnessing New Springs-Electricity, Steam or Compressed Air?

The water commissioners held their usual weekly meeting yesterday afternoon. The practice of meeting weekly instead of fortnightly keeps the work so well up that yesterday there was hardly anything to do but pass accounts and file the quarterly statement of the auditors. The latter document placed the receipts of the last quarter at $26,948 24. Twelve thousand of this was paid over to the city on revenue account; there is a balance at the Bank of Toronto of $5,889 27, and the following are the other principal items of expenditure, which are mainly interesting in that they give a general idea of how the money is used: maintenance, $199 46; grounds and dam maintenance, $337 69; expenditure account, $528 10; house service, $121 50; meter and hydrant, $105 30; main extension, $185 97; steam pumping machinery, $5,552. 410,000 gallons a day to the supply, and these springs will be purchased this year, in all probability. Then the methods of harnessing the new springs were talked of. Engineer Moore estimated that it would cost $8,000 for a storage pond and machinery.

According to figures secured recently, electricity was looked upon as the cheapest power, but the electric comhas signified its intention of amending the offer, which will make electricity no cheaper than steam. Compressed air is spoken of also. The first cost of this will be greater than but the subsequent cost of operation is cheaper, as it can be worked from the present pumphouse.

The commissioners will further consider the matter at their next meet-

The Bill Reducing County Councilors Finally Passed.

Toronto, March 25.-Mr. Hardy's bill for the reduction of the number of county councilors passed through committee. It was discussed in a nonpartisan spirit by members of the House, and, though it met with some opposition on both sides of the House, it was generally indorsed. Mr. Haycock, the Patron leader, wanted the measure given a trial. If it did not work, the law could be amended at

A Windsor Somnambulist's Queer Freak

-He Will Recover. Windsor, March 25.-Stephen Butts, a young married man, who lives at 10 Howard avenue, Windsor, and who is employed in the Champion mills, leads a very humdrum existence during his waking hours, but when he is asleep he engages in the most exciting adventures. Monday morning he arose early and began building a fire. This act, in the case of a married man, would have been prima facie evidence in any event that he was not in the possession of his waking senses, but there was further proof that he was still asleep in the fact that he tried to start the fire on his bedroom floor. Mrs. Butts detected him in time to save the family from being roasted. Yesterday morning, at 4 o'clock, Mr. Butts arose, took a revolver from his trunk, and then went back to bed. Shortly afterwards the revolver went off, a bullet entered his right shoulder and went as far as his collar bone, and then he awoke. A surgeon extracted the bullet, and said no serious harm would result from the accident.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM.

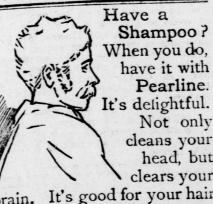

A Painful Malady for Which a Certain Cure Has at Last Been Found. Caledonia, N. S., Gold Hunter. This is a world of sorrow and suffering. All suffer. Such is our lot. One pains that one can hardly bear it. Yet if a person has not been afflicted likewise they lack that real sympathy and understanding which is the result therefrom. To a well person the reading of cures by Dr. Williams' Pinik Pills or any other medicine may be of little interest, but to one who is afflicted and suffering, anythinig that will cure, and is backed up by reliable testimony, is grasped as eagerly as the straw seized by the drowning man. Reliable testimony of the efficacy of Pink Pills comes not only from all parts of our Province, but from all pa minion. They are given by the free will and in gratitude by sufferers who have been benefitted and cured by the wonderful Pink Pills. Mr. Wilbert Awalt, a prominent merchant of Hemofrd Corner, Lunenburg county, is one of those who speaks strongly in regard to Pink Pills. The following are his own words: "For over a year I had such a pain in my hip that I could scarcely sit or talk, and when lying down had much difficulty to rise without help. The trouble seemed to be sciatic rheumatism, and I suffered terribly. During this time I was treated by a doctor, but I derived no benefit. At last I began to think there was no help for me. I was recommended to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and did so. After using them a short time I began to notice a decided im-provement. I continued until I had used several boxes, and I can honestly say that I am now entirely cured, and feel that I owe my cure entirely to Pink Pills, which I shall always recommend to suffering friends."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for all diseases arising from an im-poverished condition of the blood or a shattered condition of the nervous forces. They are also a certain cure for the troubles peculiar to the female system, correcting irregularities, suppressions, and all forms of female weakness, building anew the blood, and restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they restore in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excess of any nature. Sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper (printed in red ink), and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents a box. or six boxes

> Mr. Wallace astonished the House by presenting 70 petitions yesterday, urging that the Manitoba coercion bill should not be passed.

Mr. Harry Corby, Conservative M.P. for West Hastings, sailed from Liverpool yesterday for Canada. He is much improved in health after a trip to Cairo. He is not a candidate for reelection.

A big pretense has been made that the Liberals desire to obstruct the legitimate transaction of public business, and it was said prior to the sitting of last night, that in order to give this impression to the country it was intended to keep the House sitting from Tuesday night until Saturday morning. Mr. McCarthy raised important constitutional points and moved an amendment, yet this is described as obstruction. The best answer to this is the fact that the Minister of Public Works debated the amendment last night for an hour and a half. This is curious obstruction. So desirous were the Opposition to obstruct that one Conservative member stumbled over the other in endeavoring to get the floor. Curious obstruction again. Mr. Haslam, a Conservative supporter of the bill, followed Mr.Ouiimminent, and so they told off their supporters into relays to do duty on eighthour stretches. Cots and camp beds have been placed in a number of rooms in the building so as to be available for those who wish to rest. The debate, however, was well sustained on both sides, and before 1 o'clock a division was reached on Mr. McCarthy's amendwas reached on Mr.McCarthy's amendment, which was lost. Then an arrangement was made across the floor between Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Laurier that at the next sitting when the bill is taken up, all other amend-ments will be disposed of and the bill be taken into committee. This means that the bill will not reach the committee stage until late on Tuesday night, the 31st. After that there will only be fifteen Government working days left to this Parliament before April 24. This means that two weeks are left for the disposal of all the business before the House and for the concurrence of the Senate. The French Conservatives are indignant, and at the close of the sitting remonstrated with Sir Charles Tuppetactical blunder. Charles Tupper on what they term a

On Friday the cattle exclusion bill will be discussed, so that the remedial bill cannot be touched again until next Tuesday. On Thursday of next week the measure will again come up, but the debate must close at midnight of that night, the commencement of Good Friday.

Mr. McMullen then resumed the debate on the remedial bill, justifying the course of the Manitoba Government and supporting the commission. On account of the sparse settlement of Manitoba it was not advisable to try to make the Province maintain two systems of schools, but it might be well to make concessions to Catholics living in towns in which they formed considerable portion of the population. He concluded by expressing the passed the bill extending the time for hope that the commissioners who have cessful in bringing about an amicable settlement. Sir Charles H. Tupper's recent speech on the question had done more than anything else to interfere with the success of the delegates.

> Dr. Borden said Sir Charles Tupper paraded himself as the emancipator of the Catholics of Nova Scotia, while the fact was all the concessions the Catholics ever got were obtained from the Liberals. He challenged contradiction of the statement that the Nova Scotia school law of 1864, which Sir Charles had boasted "guaranteed the rights of the Roman Catholics," did not contain a single provision giving any right either to Roman Catholic or any other denomination.

> Mr. White claimed that there was a provision with regard to the school commissioners of Halifax which allowed separate schools in that city.

Dr. Borden replied to this that the law did not recognize by one single word any denomination, but that in its administration it was made to be The Colonial Office has transmitted satisfactory to every class of people. He used this to point his argument that the best way to settle the question would be to allow the provinces to deal with education, and experience showed that the rights of the minority dian products are shipped to that would be safe. > Mr. Edgar held that the bill could not be discussed at this stage because the taxation clauses of the bill imposed a charge on a certain class of people, but the Speaker ruled against him.

Dr. Weldon (Conservative) thought the important legal points raised by Mr. McCarthy should have been sent to a committee of the House for calm consideration. He said the bill was a milk and water one, and was simply humbugging those in favor of separate schools. A further objection was that the Dominion had no authority to direct the imposition of direct taxation as proposed, but such taxes could be the bill proposed that if the Lieutenant-Governor did not appoint the Educational Board the Governor-General in Council would do so. Mr. Ouimet, one of the Quebec Ministers, argued that if this bill were not now passed, it would never be passed. Therefore he favored it, with all its imperfections. The whole of this trouble, if this law was passed, could be cured by the Government of Manitoba without going very much out of their

Mr. Ouimet, brought thus face to face with his statement, fumbled out of At by saying that this Parliament would have to legislate unless a settlement were arrived at satisfactory to the minority.

Mr. McCarthy's amendment was then put and lost.

Mr. Wallace moved the adjournment of the debate, giving notice of the following amendment: "That regard being had to the opinion that is entertained that the bill, if passed, will be absolute and irrevocable so far as this Parliament and the Legislature are concerned, and for the short period for which this Parliament exists, and that it is without any mandate from the electorate respecting this question, it would be exceedingly unwise and inexpedient to proceed with the said bill.'

THORNDALE.

March 25. - The home of Mr. James Harding, of this village, was the scene of a happy event last evening, March 24, it being the marriage of his daughter Elizabeth to Mr. James Woods. The knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Jeans. After spending the evening, the happy couple took their departure to their future home on the 3rd concession of West Nissouri.

No Disappointment.

Disappointments of one kind and another crop up all along life's pathway, for unfortunately it is the unexpected that always happens. There is at least one article of acknowledged merit that never disappoints. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is sure to remove the worst corns in a few days, and as no claim is made that it will cure anything else, it cannot disappoint. A GOOD MAN CONE.

Mr. John M. Denton Passes Away After a Lengthy Illness,

Forty Years a Citizen-Member of the Entomological Society and Fruit Growers' Association-Interesting Account of His Life.

Citizens of all classes will hear with regret of the death of Mr. John M. Denton, which occurred at his residence, Queen's avenue, at 12:30 last night. Mr. Denton was a man of philanthropic inclinations, a man of marked individuality, and one who will be greatly missed in the community in which he had labored for the last 40 years. Mr. Denton was born in Northampton, England, on Sept 19, 1829. His father, Joseph Denton, and his mo-ther, whose maiden name was Miss Ann Coleman, were both of English birth. The father was a farmer by occupation, and Mr. Denton spent his early days on the farm, where he doubtless acquired the love for natural history, and more particularly entomology, which became so marked in later years. Mr. Denton was apprenticed at 14 to a wollen draper and tailor, and in the seven years of apprenticeship he made himself a thorough master of his calling. In 1855 he was married to Miss Walker, of Somersetshire, England, and in the same year he sold out his business in England, and emigrated to Canada, settling in London. Mr. Denton had not much more than a hopeful heart and willing hands with which to commence business, but his practical and thorough English training served him in good stead, and he soon worked up a splendid business, which he retained to the last. Mr. Denton was one of the most active workers in organizing the Young Men's Christian Association, and he also took occasion to help on to success many a deserving young man in poor circumstances. He took much pleasure in many unostentatious acts of charity. Deceased was a deeply religious man, a Christian of a practical kind, and a leader of the Brethren, a body of earnest Christians, who meet at Gospel Hall, on Colborne street south.

Mr. Denton was one of the original members of the London branch of the Entomological Society, when it was organized on July 1, 1864. He was always an active worker, and at times held the offices of first vice-president, treasurer, and director. He was also ammember of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, where his intimate knowledge of the injurious insects and birds of Canada made him a valued and esteemed member.

Mr. Denton had been ailing all winter, and for nine weeks had been confined to his bed. The liver was the seat of the trouble, and he bore the long and painful illness with Christian fortitude. There were no children. Mrs. Denton will have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends

Frank Sinclair, the boarding house dead-beat, was also in on a charge of vagrancy. He was remanded until Monday, to allow the police to collect evidence. It is said that Sinclair played on the sympathies of a north end woman for a square meal, and then turned around and told how easy it would be for him to kill her and say nothing about it. The lady gave Sinclair a small Bible, and he went away greatly pleased. He is believed to be slightly deranged.

Dennis Flannigan withdrew the abusive language charge he had laid against his son George, the latter paying the costs. "George has got a bad temper," said the father, when explaining the reason why the case had been withdrawn.

ORGAN RECITAL

In Askin Street Methodist Church -Splendid Success.

An organ recital and concert was given under the auspices of the choir in the Askin Street (South London) Methodist Church last night. From an artistic point of view, and also in point of attendance, the recital was a splen-did success, and not only creditable to the leader of the choir, Mrs. A. Callander, but also to the popular or-ganist, Mr. Frank Callander. The choruses by the choir were well rendered, while the work of the various soloists was all that could be desired. A glance over the programme will convince that the concert was meritori-

Millinery Openings

Bayley's Spring Opening. During Tuesday night Bayley's windows underwent a magic change. They are usually attractive, very attractive, but they were even more so yesterday, when they were given over to the exhibition of the very latest things in hats, while at the door was hung the alluring sign "Spring Millinery Opening Today." Working girls risked lateness and a fine to take a peep at the window, in the early morning; during the forenoon no woman was too busy to stop and look, and in the asternoon whole troops went inside and upstairs to the show rooms. These have been doubled in size since the last opening by the removal of a dividing wall. The tables hold a perfect forest of hats, and the receptacles about the room containing flowers, ribbons, laces and or-naments of all kinds and of every color, together with mirrors, and decorations, make the scene a most pleasant one. This is a season of colors. Flowers are distinctly in vogue, and taste appears to run to roses and chrysanthemums. Irridescent ribbons are most popular, and the Dresden shades are all the go. The "Virot" (Virot, the successor of Worth, Paris), a hat greatly admired, is made up in the apricot shade of roses with black tips and high osprays. The "Nor-mandy" is made with full crown, Honiton hairlaced brim, handsome jet ornaments across front, and very high ospray. The "Bishop's Mitre" is a square hat with full laced brim and five-pointed crown. Other hats that also attract much admiration are the "Vanderbilt," and "Butterfly Turban."

A feature of Bayley's opening is the lungs. The post mortem will probably show whether the delirium was the post of Kassala.

PORTE AGAINST BE

Sharp's Opening. The show-room at Mr. Arch. Sharp's, 120 Dundas street, is in charge of Mrs. Sharp, and is a veritable bower of beauty. It contains a large assortment of the very latest and leading shades and styles in millinery, and is daily thronged by purchasers.

The leading shades are green, heliotrope and Napoleon blue, while the hats which will be worn the most are the tams, Napoleon picture hats and turbans. In bonnets the poke and and butterfly are the leading sellers. While is the first to report the arrival of Mr. Mr. Sharp has everything that can be de-Robin Redbreast in the city this season. sired in the line of millinery and trimmings, he also carries in stock novelties in cotton goods, not to be seen in any other house in the city, including plisse muslins and dimities, in Dresden china patterns. selected stock. Smallman & Ingram's.

Although the hour was comparatively early day when a reporter called at Smallman & Ingram's, the millin-ery department was already crowded. The rooms are most accessible, an elevator doing away with the necessity of climbing stairs. Then, the mirrors are plentiful, the light good, and the hats nicely displayed. Off the showroom is the reception romo, which is gaily decorated, and where a staff of capable assistants look after the wants of visitors. The milliner in charge states that toques and turbans appear to be most in favor for early spring wear. There is the usual allowance of lacey hats, and combinations of black and white appear to be very popular. Some very choice hats, in handsome plaitings and chiffon and nets, are shown. Rhinestone ornaments in buckles, iping and small brooches are much used. vailing hat is square, trimmed with cornflower, blue and pale pink, with plumes. There is a big run in Leghorns. Heliotrope, roses and foliage particularly foliage, are in great demand, as are also jet Sequins on hair-lace. There is nothing on the market that cannot be found in the millinery department at Smallman & Ingram's. Today is the first day of the opening.,

Mrs. Martin's Opening. Visitors to Mrs. Martin's millinery ppening have simply to open the door, and they are in the midst of the most bewitching display of headgear imaginable. The fashions are by no means arbitrary this spring, and as almost any shape, size or color is good form, everybody ought to be able to get And nowhere will they get suited. suited more easily than at Martin's. All the latest French, English and Areerican novelties are there, and it is no trouble to show goods. The rooms were crowded, and chairs are supplied to those who wait. Mrs. Martin keeps a large and busy staff.

dows in London is that in connection with Miss Skimin's millinery store, 523 Richmond street, Here, as well as about the well-ordered interior of the shop, ladies will find as complete an assortment of fashionable spring hats as can be found at any more pretentious establishment. Miss Skimin makes no great boast; she allows her work to speak for itself, which it generally does most satisfactorily. She has a complete line of shapes, ornaments, flowers, ribbons, and all the other necessary accessories of an up-to-date millinery establishment.

Whiskard's Opening.

The millinery opening at Mr. T. G. Whiskard's, 220-222 Dundas street, is in full swing. Whiskard's opening is so well known to the ladies of London and the surrounding district, and so eagerly looked for, that but little need be said of it. The house is old-established, and has, during its long existence, been a favorite with the purchasing public, because of the fine quality of the goods always carried in stock, and the close prices which prevail. In the showroom this spring, Mr. Whiskard is carrying an unusually large display, and is selling at very low profits. THE CROWN WILL ACT.

The Provincial Authorities to Investigate the Wingham Outrage.

Light Wanted on Fields' Doings After He Left Wingham-Was Not Intoxicated When He Arrived at London,

The Ontario Government has decided to take up the investigation of the Wingham outrage, and within a day or so an officer will be sent from To-FREE to every housekeeper on ap ronto. This information comes from plication a valuable receipt book on the crown authorities at London, and the step has been taken, so that the attendant expense will be borne by the Provincial authorities, and not by either the municipalities of London or Wingham.

"We will have the witnesses here when we want them," said Coroner Flock yesterday, when spoken to about the case. The adjourned inquest is set for Tuesday evening next.

Now that the crown has decided to take the matter up, an attempt will doubtless be made to throw light upon what nothing whatever has been said about heretofore-namely, Fields' wanderings after he was put upon the train at Belgrave by his son and sent to Lansing, Mich

Did the old man ever go to Lansing? Why did he come back? He arrived at London early Monday morning, March 16, and was almost helpless. Night Constable Regan made him as comfortable as could, and, finding he was penniless, gave him a quarter, for which the old man replied, "God bless you."

When Constable Logan came on duty during the day he found Fields in the waiting room. He intimated that his feet were badly frozen, and that he would like to go to the hospital. Mr. Logan spoke to Dr. Piper, who was at the station, and asked him if it was necessary to have a medical certificate, and the doctor replied: "Not if the patient pays for his treatment."

-The Southern Congregational Church held a social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chapman, William street, last evening, in aid of the building fund. Refreshments were served, followed by an interesting programme of readings, recitations and songs. Quite a sum was realized.

-The first of a series of socials given by the ladies of Forest City Division 131, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was held at the residence of Sister Phipps, Simcoe street, last evening, and was a very successful affair. A great many were present, and they were entertained with recitations, music and dancing, after which refreshments were served, to which all did ample justice. The entertainment came to a close at a late hour, when the guests departed with many kind wishes for the future success of Division 131.

At the conclusion of the conference yesterday afternoon, the Y. M. C. A. secretaries visited the building now in course of construction on Wellington street for the local association. They were accompanied by Secretary C. R. Sayer and several other members of the London branch, and expressed themselves as highly delighted with the bright prospects ahead for association work in this city. At 6 o'clock the visitors had tea with the boys' Bible class, and subsequently indulged in an hour's Bible study. Several of the visiting secretaries also made short addresses on the association work in their own cities.

LONDON'S SEWAGE PROBLEM. Ald. Parnell, Dr. Campbell (chairman Board of Health), and City Solicitor Meredith left today for Toronto to interview Mr. Thos. S. Hobbs, M.P.P. Hon. A. S. PORTE AGAINST BRITAIN. Constantinople, March 25.—As a result of the extraordinary Cabinet Council, which lasted throughout Saturday, the Turkish Government has issued an appeal, addressed to France and Russia, asking them to intervene with the object of regulating the affairs of Egypt. Germany, it is added, was also requested by the Porte to exercise her good offices in this respect. -Mayor Little will be home from Instructions were dispatched to the Turkish ambassador at London to -Mr. A. W. Spry, of Dufferin avenue, make representations to the Marquis

In well-informed circles it is declared that the action of the Porte is due to the counsels of France and Russia, the Governments of which countries, it is claimed, have submitted -Mr. T. G. Davis, of this city, was elected grand vice-councilor of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends at of her suzerainty over Egypt, being practically usurped by Great Britain. There is no doubt that considerable annoyance is felt at the palace by the Porte at the fact that Turkey was not consulted in regard to the advisability of dispatching a British-Egyptia expedition up the Nile, and the feeling of irritation has been increased by the Khedive, also, ignoring the Porte entirely. Reproaches have, in consequence, been addressed to the Ottoman commissioners in Egypt for not taking steps to prevent the organization of the expedition, as it is feared that the effects of the advance up the Nile will be felt elsewhere than on the frontier of Egypt, and that the Arabs of Yemen may be encouraged to fresh hostility to the Turkish authorities.

In diplomatic circles it is not be-lieved that the steps taken by the Porte to protest against the expedition to Dongola will have anything more than a moral effect, and though it is admitted that France and Russia will refuse their consent to the use of the Egyptian reserve fund, it is generally understood that nothing short of the armed interference of France and Russia will prevent Great Britain from pushing the Soudan campaign. Indeed, there are people who believe that the protest of the Porte in the shape of appealing to France, Russia and Germany to intervene will have an effect in Great Britain contrary to the one hoped for. It is known that no great enthusiasm exists in England over the prospects of another bloody and expensive campaign in the Soudan, but the appeal of Turkey to the recognized enemies of Great Britain for intervention may arouse the jingo spirit of the British Isles, furnish the Marquis of Salisbury's advisers with the very spirit now lacking, and so the Sultan may play clearly into the hands of the British statesman while desiring to do the reverse.

Burke walked through the rooms, turning to the right about ten feet, when he came to the middle apartment -for the door here was not opposite to the others-but coming back again to his line of march as soon as he was on the other side. He proceeded until he reached the large cave, open at the top, which was the last of these apartments. This was an extensive cavern, the back part being, however, so much impeded by rocks that had fallen from the roof that it was difficult for him to make any progress, and the numbering of his steps depended very much upon calculation. But when he reached the farthest wall. Burke believed that he had gone about as a reat a distance as he had stepped off in the cave of the

"Ha! ha!" cried Burke; "the handle is on the other side of that slab, I'll bet my head!" and, putting down the or three nights if he knew what I know. No, sir! You just keep your lantern, he went to work.

With his hammer and chisel he had forced the top of the slab in less than two minutes, and soon he pulled it out-ward and let it drop on the floor. Inside the narrow, perpendicular cavity which was now before him he saw an upright metal bar.

The handle of the bolt!" cried Burke. "Now I can unfasten the trap-door," and, taking hold the top of the bar, he pulled back with all his force. At first he could not move it, but suddenly the resistance ceased, and he pulled the bar forward until it stood at an angle of 45 degrees from the wall. Further than this Burke could not move it, although he tugged and bore down on it

If I have to break my back lifting it."
With his best speed Burke ran through the caves to the mound, and, mounting by means of the stone projections, he was about to descend by the ladder, when to his utter amaze-ment he saw no ladder. He had left it projecting at least two feet through the opening in the top of the mound, Lowering the lantern further into the mound, he peered in. Below, and immediately under him, was a black hole, about three feet square. Burke was so startled that he almost dropped the music from all the different kinds of but he was a man of tough nerve and maintained his clutch upon it, but he drew back; it required some seconds to catch his breath. Presently he looked down again.

"I see," said he; "that trap-door was made to fall down and not to lift up, and when I pulled the bolt down it went, and the ladder, being on top of it, slipped into that hole. Heavens!" he said, as a cold sweat burst out over him at the thought, "suppose I had made up my mind to cut that bolt!

Where would I have gone to?"
It was not easy to frighten Burke, but now he trembled, and his back was chilly; but he soon recovered suffi-ciently to do something, and, going down to the floor of the cave, he picked up a piece of loose stone, and returning to the top of the mound he looked carefully over the edge of the opening, and let the stone drop into the black hole beneath. With all the powers of his brain he listened, and it seemed to him like half a minute before he heard a faint sound, far, far below. At this moment he was worse frightened than he had ever been in his life. He clambered down to the foot of the mound and sat down on the floor.

"What in the name of all the devils does it mean?" said he, and he set himself to work to think about it, and Fitzgerald,

CHAPTER XXXV.

Now that his labors were over and the treasure of the Incas safely stored in the hold of the brig, where it was ignominiously acting as ballast, Capt. Horn seated himself comfortably in the shade of a sail and lighted his pipe.

He was tired of working, tired of thinking, tired of planning, tired in

The defense set up was that the young woman deserted her husgot hold of that bar, gave it a good pull, and let down all the gold, and what Spaniards might happen to be inside, to the very bottom of that black band and lived apart from him, and a number of witnesses were in court to testify to alleged improper acts on her part. Mysteries of a Big City-A Rich Philadelphian Arrested on a Suspicion of Murder. Philadelphia, March 25. - Samuel Langdon, a wealthy coal operator, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of having been implicated in the death of Annie McGrath, who was found lying dead in her bed in the house, 2,926 Girard avenue, Monday night. Langdon is 54 years old and the girl was 18. Although he has a residence at 3,400 Powelton avenue he and the girl had been living in the Girard avenue house for about a month. The only other occupant was a colored servant. The couple were known to the neighborhood under the names of McGrath, McDonald and Langdon. The impression was that they were man and wife. Langdon had been in the girl's room nearly all day Monday and took dinner at 1 o'clock. After the meal he went out and did not return until the body was discovered by the servant at 9 o'clock. There were no marks of violence on it, but the physicians say she had been dead 24 hours. One hand was clasping a handkerchief to the breast, and a wet towel lay over the forehead and eyes. Suspicion pointed to the suppose husband and he was arrested.

The dead women is described as having been very pretty. A post-mortem examina-tion has been made, but the coroner's physicians decline to disclose its results. Miss McGrath was the daughter of a well that opens downward. He's a strong known business man. Langdon is well known in financial circles. He occupies a costly suite of offices in the De Kalb building, employes a large force of clerks and is reputed to be one of the wealthiest coal operators in the state. Melbourne, March 25.-The Newcastle colliers have voted to go on strike in consequence of the refusal of the mine owners to increase their wages, on the ground that the increase demanded would disable them and prevent them from competing for the eastern and American trades.

Indianapolis, March 25 .- The executive council of the National Federation of Labor yesterday discussed the "best means of bringing about an eight-hour day." The Carpenters' National Union will probably be selected to make a test. If so, a strike extending throughout the country will be ordered Misspent Lives.

Within the past few weeks some striking instances have been afforded of the unvary ing success of the Lakehurst treatment for alcoholism in the extremes of old age and outh. In the one case the experience brings mingled pleasure and regret, in the other pleasure and self-congratulation, but both find common ground for thankfulness in the fact of having obtained a radical, lasting cure. Every young man who hastaken the treatment instinctively realizes that he has escaped a lifetime of misery and degradation and seems imbued with the determination to retrieve himself. If, on the other hand, a man only awakens late in life to the realization of his misspent past and wasted substance, his declining years will be haunted by the vain regret that he had not taken the cure while life with all its opportunities was before him. The man does not live who has used alcohol all his life who can truthfully say he has been the better for it. The earlier in life a drinking man makes up his mind to take the treatment at Oakville the greater will be his satisfaction. Toronto office, 28 Bank of Commerce Building.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION ASKED AND ANSWERED.

"Are you a lawyer, or a doctor, or a clergyman, or are you and your family dependent on some other profession or occupation for an income? How do you intend to provide for the continua-tion of the income after your death?" "Delve, plod and contrive as you may to secure comfort and ease to those who come after you, you find nothing so sure as a life insurance policy to do

"The objecting argument, 'I cannot afford to insure,' should teach a man the imperative necessity for insuring immediately. If so much difficulty is experienced in paying a small premium now, what a frightful condition the family would be thrown into by the husband's or father's death."

"A life insurance policy is the most valuable species of property, because it is available at a time when all other resources may fail." "The company to insure in is one which can point to a successful past record, having a low expense rate, large surplus and equitable plans." In respect to these and other important essentials the North American Life stands unexcelled. The success which attended the operations of that progressive Home Company during the year 1895 was umparalleled in its history. The excellent results which have vestment policies in the North American Life, combined with the Combeen paid to holder pany's unexcelled financial position, should commend it to the patronage of all classes of intending insurers.

Full particulars of the Company's attractive investment plans and copies of its last Annual Report will be furnished on application to William Mc Cabe, F.I.A., Managing Director North American Life Assurance Company, 22 to 28 King street west, Toronto, or to any of the Company's agents.
