British Counter-Attack Regains Ground and Takes Prisoners

LINER ST. PAUL TURNS TURTLE IN AMERICAN PORT

ARE DETERMINED TO MAKE GOOD BY CAMPAIGN SLOGAN

"Go On or Go Under" Watchword of Patriotic Drive Canvassers Today.

NEED BOOST OF $117,000

Fund Total Stands at $238,495, With Only Today to Bring It to $355,000.

"Go on or go under," the slogan under which the canvassers in the big patriotic and Red Cross drive have worked during the past two days, is their watchword today.

Today, with the campaign approaching its conclusion, the workers are out to better all previous efforts, and to put the campaign over with a crash.

In this, the only campaign to be put on this year, Londoners have a chance to give, and to share in the laudable work which is being carried on by the eleven organizations concerned, and it is pointed out if anyone should fail to take advantage of the opportunity offered today to donate, that person will not have another chance to give this year.

Though excellent work has been done so far, some hard work is needed to bring the joint fund up to its objective of $355,000.

"Are Londoners going to fall down for the first time?" is the question being asked by the committee in charge today.

Will London Fall Down?

It is pointed out that the need for the money is greater this year than ever before, and that other smaller cities, such as Guelph, have seen the need and have "come across." All other cities have exceeded their aim, and the workers are asking today: "Is London going to fall down?"

In view of the greater need, instead of many calls, one call is being made, and the committee wishes it understood that if anyone wishes to increase their subscriptions they now have the opportunity.

No further indication of the committee's determination to put the big tank over the top of London's trenches with a bang was needed after the big meeting had concluded

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

There are most encouraging indications to the canvassers that there are people who are giving to the limit of their ability. It was a prominent clergyman of the city who said: "The kind of thing that counts is when a woman has just $1 in the house, tucked away in a sugar bowl, and takes it out to give for the sake of the boys who are enduring so much, the men who have sacrificed their lives."

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

Two little children were swinging on the gate as a woman canvasser approached today. "Here they come; here they come, mama," they called excitedly, running towards the house. Each of the children proudly gave a subscription, and the mother a larger one. Daddy, they explained, is fighting overseas and they must back him up.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

Rev. John MacNeill of Toronto, another overseas chaplain, who has a vivid story of the front, will be among the speakers at the banquet this evening.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

Auctioning off of a well-bred colt will be one of the big features of the campaign's windup tonight. This animal, a 3-year-old saddle horse ready to be broken, is now at the McCartney Repository on Richmond street. It will be brought to the front of the Tecumseh House tonight and after the dinner will go under the hammer of the auctioneer to swell the proceeds of the campaign fund.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

The Ontario Furniture Company has increased its subscription from $600 to $1,000. This has been an encouragement to the committee, which will endeavor to induce other subscribers to increase their donations.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

The industrial committee today expects to double up their total of yesterday, which in itself was most creditable.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

The patriotic fund offices will remain open Friday to receive any late subscriptions which may come in.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

The drug stores will be asked also to receive subscriptions each month during the year, as they did last year. They have done excellent work in this connection, collecting the subscriptions monthly. The same machinery will be used this year.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

Members of the committee wish to warn the citizens against unauthorized canvassers. The case of a little girl who had been collecting on Wellington street north has been reported to campaign headquarters. She had no badge or other credentials, but told people that she was collecting for her teacher. Anything of this nature should be reported at once to campaign headquarters.

$$$ GIVE! GIVE! GIVE! $$$

The letter-carriers' staff at the postoffice come in for considerable commendation. The members of the staff got together, appointed their own secretary, and will make their own collection for the fund.

AMERICANS TO MAKE WORLD'S SHIP RECORD

Program For 1919 Calls For Ten Million Tons.

Washington, April 25.—For military reasons, the exact situation of the future building program has not been made public. From previous statements of Chairman Hurley, however, it has been estimated that the construction in 1919 will be in excess of 10,000,000 tons, the largest amount ever built in any one year by any nation. By January 1, all the shipyards will be in full operation, and many old yards which have demonstrated their ability to build efficiently will be extended. Of the total tonnage next year, approximately eight million tons will be steel.

It is expected that 2,500,000 tons of wooden ships will be turned out next year, virtually all on the Gulf and Pacific coasts.

Continuation of the navy building program may be expected.

S. S. St. Paul Topples Over at Her Berth in U. S. Port.

An Atlantic Port, April 25.—The American Line steamship St.Paul overturned at her pier today.

The vessel is lying on her port side. It is supposed her seacocks were left open. So far as known no one was injured. The military authorities have taken charge of the situation. The St. Paul is one of the crack steamships of the American Line, registering 11,629 gross tons.

The St. Paul did not sink. She lies overturned with her decks partly awash, but with her masts lying across the roof of the pier shed. Ropes are aiding in holding her afloat, placed there by workmen, some of whom jumped into the water in escaping. There were between 500 and 600 laborers aboard at the time she overturned.

PRICES ARE MADE FOR EXPORT CHEESE

Figures For Milk and Butter Will Soon Be Set.

Montreal, April 25.—The dairy produce commission which represents the British Ministry of Food and the Dominion Department of Agriculture, has authorized the following prices for cheese for exportation to Great Britain: 23 cents per pound for No. 1 grade, f.o.b. steamer at Montreal; 22½ cents per pound for No. 2 grade, and 22 cents for No. 3 grade. A committee has been appointed by the commission to work out the question of a relative price for condensed milk.

The price of butter will be arranged as soon as there is a surplus available for export.

SASKATCHEWAN GERMAN FORCED TO KISS FLAG

Davidson, Sask., April 25.—On Tuesday night a mob of 60 men went to the home of Henry Willner, a German, and made him kiss the Union Jack and give $100 to the Military Y. M. C. A.

Willner's son recently joined the army, and on returning home and telling his father he had enlisted, the father ordered him off the place.

The men of the town, hearing of the affair, immediately organized and forced Willner to apologize to his son and give other proofs of his loyalty.

DUTCH-GERMAN CLASH SERIOUS

The Hague Foreign Minister Makes Significant Statement to First Chamber.

The Hague, April 25.—Speaking today in the first chamber of the Netherlands Parliament on the sand and gravel question with Germany, the Dutch foreign minister declared he could not and must not conceal from the chamber the fact that the question was a very serious one. He said he could not say more about it.

O'CONNOR SAYS IRISH MUST HAVE PARLIAMENT, SO TELLS WASHINGTON

Washington, April 25.—T. P. O'Connor, the Irish Nationalist leader, who has been on a tour of the West, was in Washington today to lay before the Government officials the Irish attitude toward the British conscription plan. He said that Chicago Irishmen had urged him to come.

"With them as with myself," he added, "hostility to the present conscription proposal is induced. I need scarcely say, not by any desire to weaken in any way the arms of England or her allies in the vigorous prosecution of the war, but in the conviction that the way to attain the result we all want is to give Ireland at once her long-overdue parliament, which would then be in a position itself to throw Ireland's full strength into the struggle for freedom."

WAR CHAPLAIN CHIEF CALLS FOR MORE MEN

Montreal, April 25.—Lieut.-Col. The Rev. John Almond, C.M.G. of Montreal, director of Canadian chaplain services, who recently returned from the front, in an address at a mass meeting in Douglas Methodist Church last night, emphasized the need of more men at the front, to help hold the line against the Germans, and release the men who had held it for three years. Col. Almond said a compromise in this war was absolutely unthinkable, even if the war had to go for five or ten years longer.

NINE SONS IN KHAKI.

Montreal, April 25.—Nine sons of the late J. A. MacKay, bookkeeper for the Consolidated Rubber Company, are in khaki. The funeral of Mr. MacKay took place yesterday, only a few weeks later than that of his wife.

PRISON CAMP HORRORS.

Geneva, April 25.—Two French prisoners who escaped from a Bavarian camp arrived here yesterday, and declare that the camp is swarming with vermin, as their bodies showed. They said that the hungry German guards constantly stole food parcels sent from France to the prisoners.

A few American and British prisoners in the same camp, they added, were in the same state.

MEN WITHOUT HISTORY SHEET BEING CALLED

Those Who Were Exempt Without Being Examined Caught Now.

GO DIRECT TO THE ARMY

Officers Will Arrange for Examinations of This Class of Drafted Men.

Among the 3,500 men in this military district who are being ordered to report for duty on dates between May 1 and May 24 will be a number of men marked "no category." These men, of the ages of 20, 21 and 22 years, were granted exemption on various grounds, without having to submit a medical history sheet. As a result of the failure of these men to submit themselves for medical examination at the time they filed claims for exemption, they will now be obliged to report for duty. According to Acting Deputy Registrar H. F. Beresford, men who have not been examined will be turned over to the army authorities here, who will see that they are examined. If found in category A these men will remain in the army; if found in categories lower than A they wil be granted leave, it is expected, until called for. This rule may not hold good with B category, a ruling on this point being awaited now.

The dates at which the tribunals will sit to hear the claims of 83 men, whose questionnaire replies have justified a rehearing of their exemption claims, will be announced shortly.

NEWFOUNDLAND SEEMS SOLID FOR COMPULSION

St. Johns, Nfld., April 25.—All interest is centred on the conscription bill, which the public are accepting with much more favor than was thought likely. No public manifestation of disapproval is coming from any section. On the contrary, resolutions favoring conscription are being hourly received by the Government and published in the newspapers. The Government expects that a secret session of the House today will dissipate the last vestige of opposition to the measure.

POLISH UHLANS KILLED BY RUSSIAN PEASANTS

Amsterdam, April 25.—Three squadrons of the Fifth Polish Regiment of Uhlans have been annihilated in Podolia by Ukrainian peasants, who refused the soldiers' demands for food supplies, according to a Polish press agency dispatch, received by the Dutch press by way of Vienna. The peasants were armed with machine guns and mine throwers.

BISHOP FALLON CALLED TO ROME, CAPITAL RUMOR

Due to Clash Between Wings of Church Here, Is Belief.

WILL END FRICTION

French-Canadian Clergy May Get More Authority in Ontario.

Ottawa, April 25.—The departure of Bishop Fallon of London for overseas is exciting a lot of interest in Ottawa, but the reasons given for his departure differ widely from those emanating from London.

In this city it is rumored that he has been called to Rome to settle some differences that exist between the Irish and French wing of the Catholic Church in Canada. It is doubted here that he has gone to settle the Irish question. It is thought that he might possibly have something to do with the chaplain service, but his mission is to Rome direct, according to rumors here.

May End Friction.

For some years there has been much friction between Bishop Fallon and the French-Canadians. It started in Ottawa years ago, when he was teaching in Ottawa College, and has continued with renewed vigor since he became bishop of London. The Ford City rumpus was the culmination of a long series, and the hierarchy has called his lordship to Rome, according to information here, to settle the trouble. As a result, it is expected that the French-Canadians will be given more authority in Ontario. There is not a French bishop in Ontario, although the French-Canadian Catholics in Ontario number almost 50 per cent of the total Catholic population. Bishop Gauthier of Ottawa has a French name, but he is not French in his thinking, according to church dignitaries here.

GOVT. DIVIDED ON HOME RULE

Division of Views Has Prevented Committee Drafting a Measure.

London, April 25.—A division of views has prevented the cabinet committee appointed to draft a home rule bill for Ireland from elaborating a definite scheme as speedily as was hoped, the Yorkshire Post says in a dispatch from London. Certain members of the committee are standing for recognition of Ulster's position, according to the dispatch.

Meanwhile the federal plan is being discussed widely. The Unionists generally regard it as desirable in any scheme of federalism that Ulster should be included as a unit.

THREE MEN PERISH FROM EXPLOSION IN PLANT AT HAMILTON

Workmen Hurled Through a Brick Wall.

Hamilton, Ont., April 25.—Three men were killed and a number injured this morning in an explosion at the plant of the Hamilton Tar and Ammonia Company. The dead are: Alfred Ingram, superintendent; Harry Sylvester and George Cameron.

The direct cause of the accident is unknown. The force of the explosion hurled two of the men through a brick wall.

GOVT. SAVES BIG SUM IN NATIONAL PRINTING

Ottawa, April 25.—A saving in national printing of $175,000 in the first five and a half months of its existence is the record of the editorial committee, whose first report was submitted to Parliament yesterday by Sir George Foster.

The economies effected include the absolute stoppage of the printing of some reports, sweeping dielctions in the manuscript of others, and great reductions in the size of editions.

The editorial committee has cut down the editions of departmental reports by 45,000 volumes in English and 5,000 in French.

SHELLING PARIS AGAIN.

Paris, April 25.—The long-range bombardment of Paris was resumed again this morning.

British Win Back Ground Around Villers, Which Fell To Foe On Thursday—French Prevent Enemy From Debouching At Hangard—Attacks Continue On Wide Front With Large Casualties For Enemy.

London, April 25.—At 2 o'clock this morning the Germans put down an intense gas barrage on the Anglo-French front in Flanders, and two hours later deep waves of infantry delivered an assault. Fighting still is in progress.

With the British Army in France, April 25.—By the Associated Press.—The German attack against the French and British lines on the northern front in the Dranoutre-Kemmel section is continuing. The Teuton assault was intended to pave the way for the capture of Kemmel Hill.

Vigorous British counter-attacks toward Villers-Bretonneux apparently resulted in the reclaiming of a considerable part of the territory lost to the Germans yesterday. The battle still is raging, however, and it is too early to make claims.

London, April 25.—Three attacks made by the Germans on British positions east of Amiens have been repulsed, it is announced officially.

On the Flanders front late yesterday the Germans attacked French positions northeast of Bailleul and were repulsed. Early this morning, after an intense bombardment, they renewed their attacks in this sector and against British positions further east.

The British regained ground around Villers-Bretonneux by counter-attacks and took prisoners.

ALL-NIGHT FIGHTING.

London, April 25.—The official statement follows:

"Heavy fighting took place all night in and around Villers-Bretonneux, and still continues. Our troops regained ground by counter-attacks and have taken a number of prisoners.

THREE ATTACKS REPULSED.

"The fighting yesterday on the whole of this front was most severe and heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy by artillery, infantry and tanks. North of the Villers-Bretonneux-St. Quentin road the enemy three times attacked our positions, and on each occasion was repulsed with loss. During this fighting the enemy made use of a few tanks.

FIGHTING ON WIDE FRONT.

"Late yesterday evening the enemy also attacked French positions northeast of Bailleul and was repulsed. Early this morning the enemy renewed his attacks in this sector and on British positions farther east, after an intense bombardment. The fighting continues in this sector on a wide front.

"Severe fighting was in progress in and around Villers-Bretonneux, and still continues. Heavy casualties have been inflicted on the enemy there.

"On the Bailleul sector the battle is continuing over a wide front."

A RAID REPULSED.

London, April 25.—A raid attempted by the enemy during the night in the neighborhood of Bucquoy was repulsed.

The hostile artillery has been active during the night in the Festubert and Robecq sectors."

STRONG DRIVE ON FRENCH.

London, April 25—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The enemy heavily attacked the French front in Flanders this morning.

GERMANS CHECKED AT HANGARD.

Paris, April 25.—The war office announcement today says: "The battle continued with violence around the village of Hangard, on which the Germans concentrated their efforts during the night. French troops resisted valiantly, and counter-attacked several times with success. The village was lost, then retaken by the French, and finally remained in the hands of the Germans at the cost of heavy losses. The French are holding the immediate outskirts of Hangard, and the Germans have not been able to debouch from the town, in spite of repeated efforts.

HAIG'S POSITION IMPROVED.

London, April 25.—Heavy fighting continues on the sector east of Amiens, Reuter's correspondent at British army headquarters' reports. The Germans obtained a footing in D'Aquenne wood, west of Villers-Bretonneux, but the British counter-attacks drove them back to the fringe of the wood. At several places the British have retaken ground and their position has improved considerably.

GOOD TANKING.

Both British and German tanks participated in the fighting at Villers-Bretonneux. Two British tanks, the correspondent says, got among a mass of Germans, and did great execution.

The Germans made a determined attempt to rush towards Kemmel Hill yesterday, but without appreciable effect. The French counter-attacked and restored the position.

London, April 25.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—The resumption of the German offensive seems on a much smaller scale than formerly. Its objectives in yesterday's attack were obviously limited. It is possible that this is due to the realization of the great slaughter which has been attending the Teuton headlong rushes but the enemy has huge forces assembled in the neighborhood and if local thrusts like that which captured Villers-Bretonneux yesterday can be repeated, the enemy is sure sooner or later to take advantage of these gains to push on to the utmost at the best moment.

Two Thrusts Made.

As in the case of the attack which captured Armentieres, the enemy made two thrusts against Villers-Bretonneux yesterday. One was made against Mount Kemmel, and was repulsed. The other was launched against Villers and Hangard, where the Germans were evidently anxious to wipe out a salient and capture high ground on both sides of the road leading to Amiens before attempting another general advance. The other enemy attacks yesterday were clearly diversions. Correspondents at the front state that no British tanks have been in action for two or three weeks.

Many interesting relics have been sent home from France by Pte. Allen.

150 SCHOOL BOYS OF LONDON NOW PLACED ON DISTRICT FARMS

Officials Well Satisfied With Results of S. O. S. Call.

More than 150 schoolboys of this city have answered the "S. O. S." call and have been placed on farms for three months. R. E. G. Davis, director of boys' work of the Y. M. C. A., is satisfied with the way the schoolboys responded to the call.

Most of the boys secured their own employment, but all those whose applications were given to the Ontario Employment Bureau are now placed on farms. Many boys from the factories are securing employment on the farms for the summer. There are still many applications from farmers being filed at the Ontario Employment Bureau for boys.

BARGAIN PRICES OF MUNICIPAL FISHERY BROUGHT IN SURPLUS

Frozen Variety Sacrificed, But Alderman Smiles Again.

London's fishmonger-general, Ald. S. R. Manness, has changed his worried look for a smile of the June-bride variety. Since the winter departed, leaving glimpses of spring in its wake, the alderman has been looking closely to affairs pertaining to the municipal fish market.

The truth of the matter is that last year Ald. Manness and Mayor Stevenson were so enthusiastic over the fish business that they chartered a large hole in the cold storage and filled it with fish to keep the city stall going all winter. Spring arrived, and so did nice fresh lake fish, and the city market still had a ton of the frozen variety on hand.

The market, from a financial standpoint, had paid its way, but the selling of this ton of fish meant a nice surplus. If not sold it would put a crimp in the surplus. Ald. Manness, now piloting the fish ship alone, did not like to see that surplus go by the boards, yet the people would not buy the frozen fish when the fresh ones were to be had. The alderman decided that a small surplus was better than no surplus at all. He marked the frozen fish down, and those who previously had turned up their nose at it, fell for the lower price. They could not resist the opportunity to get something cheap when prices of everything else were soaring. The result is that the ton of frozen fish went like hot cakes.

Ald. Manness says he has a nice surplus, with everything paid for, and now he has turned his attention to shipments of fresh lake fish. The municipal fish market is a bigger success than it might have been.

NEW SUNDAY TRAINS ON GRAND TRUNK IN AMENDED TIMETABLE

Will Go On Next Sunday When Changes Are Made.

Two new Sunday trains are listed among the changes in the new G. T. R. timetable which becomes effective on Sunday morning next at 12:01 o'clock. These trains, which will operate between London and Toronto on Sundays only will be known as Nos. 35 and 36. Train No. 36 will leave here at 3:15 in the afternoon for Toronto, arriving in that city at 7:35 o'clock in the evening. Train No. 35 will leave Toronto at 8:40 o'clock every Sunday morning, arriving here at 12:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Both trains will run via Stratford and St. Marys, and will afford a Sunday accommodation along this branch which has not existed in years.

The Ontario Limited, which formerly left here at 9 o'clock in the morning, is one of the trains to be restored. Instead of departing from here at 9 o'clock, the Limited will leave here 10 minutes arlier. This train will proceed to Toronto via Hamilton junction cut and will not go into the city of Hamilton.

Ontario Limited passengers for Hamilton, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls will change at Brantford, making quick connections there.

The latest proof of the new timetable received today shows that the former timetable will not be restored in its entirety. Three trains which were cancelled in November last will still remain off. They are Nos. 115, 114 and 18. No. 115, formerly departed from London for Detroit at 12:35 p.m., and No. 114, from Detroit, was due here at 3:55 p.m. No. 18, formerly left Port Huron at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, was due here at 4:10, and left here at 4:25 for Toronto.

In all approximately 44 trains west of Toronto will be restored when the new timetable goes into effect on Sunday morning.

NOW IN FRANCE

Flight Lieut. William Hunter Cables of Entry Into Real Active Service.

A cable message from England to William Hunter of The Advertiser Job Printing Company, Limited, announced the departure for France of his son, Flight Lieut. William Hunter, jun., of the Royal Air Service. Flight Lieut. Hunter is one of The Advertiser boys in the Flying Corps. His departure for real active service was expected, as letters recently received from him referred to the fact that he expected a speedy transfer across the channel.

So far as is known Flight Lieut. Ivan Hunter, who joined the R. F. C. just before his brother William, is still in England.

SAYS NORTH LAND RAISED MORE MEN THAN OLD ONTARIO

Proportion Greater, Declares Ex-Mayor Taylor.

Ex-Mayor George Taylor of London, now of New Liskeard, and who has been visiting in London since his return from Florida, where he spent the winter months, is one of the most enthusiastic of north country boosters. That New Ontario has sent more men to the war, in proportion to its population, than the older and more densely populated sections of Canada, is just one of his declarations.

Mr. Taylor, who was in the hardware business in London before he left for the north in 1901, opened at New Liskeard the first hardware store in that district. Branches were later established at Cochrane and Cobalt. Four years ago Mr. Taylor retired from active participation in the business, which was turned over to his sons.

The first mining company organized in the Temiskaming district was the Temiskaming and Hudson Bay mines, founded by Mr. Taylor. It paid a 300 per cent dividend for several years, and is still producing, although not so heavily.

Mr. Taylor has made an attempt to grow apples in New Ontario, but his efforts were not successful. Small fruits, however, such as strawberries, currants and gooseberries, grow in abundance.

Mr. Taylor has not been in the best of health, and last fall he went to Florida. He is on his way home, and left London today for New Liskeard. Mrs. Taylor and two daughters, Mrs. Clara Ramsay, Miss Mary Taylor, and one grandson, Ralph Ramsay, are accompanying him.

DRAFTED MEN CAN JOIN TANKS UNIT, SAYS NEW ORDER

Only Provision Is Reporting Before Called.

Men who report for duty before their exemptions have expired are eligible for service in the Canadian Tank Battalion.

Instructions to this effect were received at district headquarters here today. There was some doubt at first as to whether men liable under the M. S. A. were to be allowed to man tanks, but Ottawa has now definitely decided that they may do so if they come in before they are notified to do so by the registrar.

The only restriction on the Tank unit now is that the men shall have university education or its equivalent. Men who report before their exemptions expire now have the choice of any unit for which they have the physical, intellectual or technical qualifications, as the case may be.

A coupon will be printed in The Advertiser at a later date which will admit school children to the special performance to be given in the morning. The picture will be shown on the regular program during the following week.

IMPORTANT CHURCH COURTS MEETING IN LONDON NEXT WEEK

Presbyterians and Anglicans to Gather.

HOLIDAYS FOR CLERGY

Month's Rest for English Church Rectors Provided by Amended Canon.

Two important church courts meet in London next week, the Synod of the Diocese of Huron and the Presbyterian Synod of London. Between them they will bring to the city a large representation of the two denominations in Western Ontario.

While the Anglican Synod does not assemble for business until 3 o'clock, Tuesday, April 30th, in Bishop Cronyn Hall, the official opening takes place with divine service in St. Paul's Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday, when the preacher will be Ven. Archdeacon Cody, M.A., D.D., LL.D., of Toronto. Archdeacon Cody will also conduct the quiet hour for the clergy in the cathedral on Monday evening.

Among notices of motion to be presented is an important one by Rev. W. J. Doherty, secretary treasurer of the diocese, to the effect that the following memorial be sent to the general synod: "The Synod of the Diocese of Huron respectfully petitions the general synod of the Church of England in Canada to devise and inaugurate immediately a plan for providing general beneficiary pensions (including superannuation for widows and orphans), for all clergy and missionaries of the Church of England in Canada."

Few of the clergy are likely to quarrel with an amendment to Canon No. 11, to be submitted by the bishop, to the effect that the canon be amended by the addition of the following clause: "Every clergyman shall be entitled to a holiday every year of not less than one calendar month, and the expenses of providing for Sunday and other services during the holiday shall be borne by the parish."

John Ransford of Clinton, a layman, who is always a prominent figure in the synod, and who for several years identified himself with the cause of votes for women in vestries, is again to take a part this year in connection with the presentation of a motion. A new section in the reports featured this year is the report of the committee on the Canadian Standard Efficiency tests to be submitted by Rev. Dr. Tucker. The committee on boy's work was appointed a year ago. Rev. C. R. Gunne, chairman, and Rev. H. B. Ashby, secretary of the Sunday school board, have a particularly encouraging report to make, the enrollment of pupils in the diocese showing a decided increase over last year.

SALVATION ARMY SOLDIERS' HOSTEL HEAD IS APPOINTED

Staff Captain From Toronto Named to Take Charge.

Staff-Capt. Ernest Tumner of Toronto has been appointed to take charge of the new Salvation Army Hostel for Soldiers here.

It is expected that the hostel, which is in the building formerly known as the Hotel Cecil, will be ready for occupation in about a month. Work on the building is being done at present, and Staff-Capt. Tumner is coming to London at once to assist in getting things in shape for the opening of the hostel.

ARE DETERMINED

at the Tecumseh Hotel last night, when the members of the hustling teams met and chalked up the results of their day's work.

Slowly, but with the sureness that is unrelenting, the tank is going ahead and will mount the parapet before the last signature is signed to a subscription card today.

With the members of each team vieing with each other to see who can secure the most for the cause, and with the teams in turn striving with one another in the competition to roll up the biggest total for the three days' work, the race promises some thrills today, when the canvassers enter upon the home stretch, and when every man and woman engaged in the work is determined to work the hardest during the last day of the campaign.

Total Is $238,495.

The grand total registered last night was $238,495.15, and with another day to go, the workers are confident that the last odd-$100,000 needed to reach the objective will be secured.

Come and Help.

"Come over and help us," was the message Captain MacGillivray, a returned chaplain, brought to his hearers from the boys at the front. In an appeal which, while describing the sublimity of the self-sacrifice displayed by the boys at the front as they enter into the fight, at times exposed the gripping pathos interwoven in their lives, Captain MacGillivray left with those present a strong inspiration to work harder than ever for the lads "over there."

"I can hear that call tonight as plainly as I can hear the street car passing by the door," declared the speaker. "Come over and help us,' and if you can't go and help in person, you can at least give."

The greatest man who ever trod the face of the earth had given utterance to the message: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." That was the spirit that buoyed up the boys at the front.

The men who carried the guns were the real builders of the nation, and from the seas of the war, watered by the blood of the boys who fall a new and better Canada would come forth. But, if Canadians were to have that new heritage, they must help those lads overseas.

Go Over the Top.

The citizens of London should go over the top and take the objective of $355,000. They could and they would, he said.

In the light of what the men over there had given, how small was the sacrifice of those at home! Among the other organizations to benefit from the funds was the British Red Cross, the grandest organization of its kind on God's green earth, without which the boys would suffer a veritable hell on earth, and one that had gone far to quench the awful flames of modern warfare.

Canada knew not that there was a war on. The only ones in Canada who knew anything of the world "sacrifice" were the fathers, mothers, wives and children, who had given their men.

"Shame on us to talk of sacrifice when we have made no sacrifice," declared the speaker.

"I look you every man in the face," he added, referring to the morals of the men, "when I say that compared with the temptation, the privation, and all that they have got to put up with, there is only one word to describe them, and that is 'excellent.' The man who will say that 90 per cent of them were drunk on Christmas Day is either intoxicated or insane.

Little Drinking.

"Of 11,000 men who came through our little casualty clearing station I didn't see five men intoxicated in three months. God have mercy on the man who is mean enough and base enough to throw mud at the boy who holds the gun while he is criticizing him."

No man could go over a battlefield in France or Belgium and not come back here willing to give his all for the cause, he said. The men there were fighting for womanhood, motherhood, wifehood and childhood, and accepted their wounds and privations in true British spirit.

The speaker made a strong appeal for unity of action here. People should get together here, as the boys get together at the front, he said. He had never heard of a Grit or Tory at the front. The greatest brotherhood in the world was the brotherhood of the boys in khaki.

In Common Grave.

It had been one of his duties to officiate every day at the services in the little cemetery near his station. There Protestant and Catholic were buried in the same grave, while he and the Catholic priest said their prayers together. When two lads had slept, ate, talked and fought together, was it not fitting that in death they should be together? he asked.

If the people here could get together here as the boys did over there, there would be no need to cry for funds. Everyone would come forward with all they had.

"Measure up to the demands of your patriotism here as do those brave fellows there," he added. "Some day the last tyrant will be dethroned, and the shout of victory will go forth. In the meantime get on your job. We are dwelling in a grand yet awful time. It is sublime if we measure up to our opportunities—it is a tragic time if we fail."

Roundly Applauded.

Capt. MacGillivray was roundly applauded, and when the results of the day's canvass were read out by the team captains the totals called forth cheer after cheer. Following the listing of the figures, Sir George Gibbons spoke briefly. Before he could get under way he was greeted with three rousing cheers.

Sir George paid a tribute to the Canadian soldiers who go over to the front without being told that they were doing anything particularly honorable, yet who when they get there prove themselves unselfish heroes, willing to make the greatest sacrifice if necessary.

Referring to a heading over an article in The Advertiser, he said that though unintentional, it was incorrect, as the boost of last year's big subscribers was not lacking in this campaign. The large subscribers here had in proportion to their means given more than had been given in any city in Canada.

Circumstances Vary.

The circumstances of many were different this year. Business in some lines had been affected adversely, and for those reasons everyone might not be able to give the same amount as they had last year. He was exceedingly proud, however, that the businessmen in responding with their $164,000 up-to-date had done as well as ever.

"I believe that 95 per cent of the people of London are willing to give all they can," declared Sir George. "The few, and they are very few, who do not are so unimportant that they are not worth bothering your heads about."

"Where people have means to give, stay with them till they give what you think they ought to give. If any man gives less than you think he ought to, go back to him and tell him the necessity of the call, and say that you don't want London to fall down, and you'll get more."

A. E. Silverwood and J. J. Foot urged all workers to stay on the job and put the fund over the top today. Donations will be received in goods, which will be auctioned off tonight at the final meeting.

Auctioned Articles.

A number of articles have been received already. Last night $150 was realized by Auctioneer Silverwood, who sold cigars, coffee and various other articles. Four pounds of coffee were sold, only to be donated and resold, until they brought the grand total of $57. Among the donations to be auctioned tonight are a 3-year-old colt, a case of matches, a picture by St. Thomas Smith, and a cigar presented to a Londoner by His Majesty the King.

The proprietor of the Star Theatre has also promised to donate the proceeds of next Monday to the fund.

A Fine Example.

An inspiring example was held up before the workers by J. J. Foot, who described an occurrence during the Liberty Loan campaign in Philadelphia. The campaign there was going a little slow, and the committee went to John Wanamaker, the large retail merchant. He so overwhelmed the city with advertising that Philadelphia was taken by storm, and in the sweep of enthusiasm the objective was reached and left far behind.

During the evening Percy King delighted the gathering with two excellent songs.

GUNMAN-CROOK, CAPTURED HERE, FOUND GUILTY

Jack Roberts Convicted of Shooting With Intent to Kill at Toronto Detective.

SENTENCE IN TWO WEEKS

Man Who Was Arrested So Sensationally in This City Presented Accident Alibi.

Jack Roberts, jail breaker, gunman, pseudo returned officer, and regarded by the police of many Canadian cities as one of the most daring criminals of the Dominion, was on Wednesday convicted at Toronto of shooting, with intent to kill, at Acting Detective Stewart of the Toronto police force.

Testifying in his own behalf, Roberts, whose arrest in this city by a posse of detectives and patrolmen was most sensational, swore that the discharge of the revolver was accidental.

Last November, after Roberts and Walter Burridge of this city, now serving a five-year sentence in Kingston Penitentiary, were arrested in Toronto as they attempted to dispose of furs which were later found to have been stolen from the Northway, Limited, store at Ingersoll the night that building and other adjacent stores were destroyed by a $100,000 fire. The two prisoners were being taken to detective headquarters in the Toronto City Hall. On the steps of the building, Roberts stooped down, presumably to tie his shoelace. Instead, he whipped out a revolver, struck Detective Stewart over the head with the butt and then fired point blank. The bullet missed.

In his evidence in the Toronto court, Roberts swore that he was making an effort to throw the gun away when it caught in his trousers and was discharged, the bullet passing through his own leg.

Would Have No Chance.

Roberts, asked why he wanted to escape from the detectives, replied: "I had as much right to fight for my liberty as the Allies are fighting for theirs. If I had been taken to the detective department I knew I would have had no chance, looking to my past record, and although I had nothing to fear, I felt I would be charged on some ground." This led County Crown Attorney Greer to remark to the prisoner: "You don't give yourself a chance, carrying a loaded revolver, especially with your record. You should play the game squarely and you would get a square deal."

Robert Eastwood, a Toronto broker, who was passing in an auto at the time of the shooting, and whose machine was commandeered by Roberts to make his get away, swore that the prisoner had forced him, at the point of a revolver, to drive to Queen's Park, where Roberts leaped from the car and made good his escape.

Mr. Eastwood was on his way home from a patriotic meeting, and was driving his automobile up Teraulay, just beside the city hall, when the prisoner jumped on the step of the car, and producing his revolver placed at the witness' head, shouting, "Drive, you ——, or I'll fire." Asked by Mr. Greer: "Did you drive?" witness replied, "I should say I did." While in Mr. Eastwood's car prisoner fired three shots. Mr. Eastwood graphically recited how he was forced at the end of a revolver to drive the prisoner up Teraulay, along College, and finally through Queen's Park, where he succeeded in persuading Roberts to alight.

Wounded Self in Car?

Judge Winchester, who heard the case, expressed belief that the prisoner had wounded himself while in the car. Had the wounding occurred at the city hall, his honor said, it would have been impossible for Roberts to have escaped.

Roberts will be sentenced in two weeks on the Toronto count. Whether he will be taken back to Ingersoll to stand trial there for burglary and arson, the charges on which Burridge was sentenced, had not been determined.

Posed as Officer.

Following his sensational escape from Toronto, Roberts went to Port Burwell, where he posed as "Lieut. Wallace," an officer returned from the front. His stories of war created a big impression in the Lake Erie port. Later he married an Aylmer girl, and it was this marriage which led to his capture. Abduction charges were to be preferred against "Lieut. Wallace," and the police of London were tipped off. They found that Wallace was none other than Roberts, and that the man had been married by Rev. A. A. Bice of All Saints' Church under his own name.

The girl wife found employment here in the McCormick factory, and it was at her boarding-house on Brydges street that Roberts was found. His 1,000-yard dash for liberty, over cast end fences and back lots, was a chase which smacked of "movie thrillers," but it ended ingloriously in his capture.

CONTENTION OF MOTOR OWNERS IS CALLED ERRONEOUS

City Clerk Declares Municipal Act Amended.

City Clerk S. Baker declares the contention of members of the London Motor Club that they are not liable for the dollar tax which the city is imposing on all vehicles is an erroneous one. Some of the auto owners contend that under paragraph one of section 46 of the municipal act they are exempt.

The contention of these objectors, it is said, is correct if this section of the act were in force, but it has been repealed. This section gave municipalities the right to regulate the use on highways of bicycles and all other vehicles not drawn by horses, but not including motors.

In 1914, however, Toronto was granted the power to tax all vehicles and in 1917 the Legislators extended the power to all cities of the province. This authorized them to require a license from all vehicles before using the same on any highway of a city, and determined that the fee shall be $1. Further, it said that the measures when enacted should be approved by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Mr. Baker contends that London complied with this. When the bylaw was read a second time it was sent to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, and, when approved by it, was finally passed.

The city's bylaw, Mr. Baker says, was drawn by City Solicitor T. G. Meredith. As to the contention that the Provincial Government will allow but one number on an auto, Mr. Baker says that the proposal that the numbers should be placed on the right side of all vehicles was suggested by Inspector J. W. McCallum for the convenience of the owners of vehicles only, so that they would not be bothered. The city does not care whether they are displayed or whether carried in their owners' pocket or on a watchchain.

The Motor Club is still waiting advices from Toronto before it makes any move to have autos relieved of the city tax. The city's income from the bylaw is estimated at $3,600. So far 1,734 licenses have been issued.

AIRBRAKE EQUIPMENT BEING ADDED TO TEN STREET RAILWAY CARS

The London Street Railway Company is equipping ten of its double-truck cars with air brakes, according to announcement made today by Manager C. B. King.

The company, said Mr. King, is pursuing a policy of maintaining its stock and equipment at the highest standard of efficiency. Five of the cars to have the new brake equipment are of the closed type now in service on city lines, while the others are the large open picnic cars used on the Springbank service. As five cars are sufficient to handle the Springbank traffic on days of normal travel, that service will be practically completely air-brake equipped.

Five new cars arrived in the city on Wednesday from the makers, and are being unloaded at the London and Port Stanley shops at Philip and Maitland streets. Meanwhile a number of other cars are being rebuilt and repainted at the company's shops on Lyle street.

NO ACTION YET ON REQUEST TO INCREASE FARES

Mayor Urges That Nothing Be Done in the Matter.

AMENDMENT IS CARRIED

Question Will Again Be Discussed Next Wednesday Night.

The finance committee of the city council had another go at the London Street Railway's application for increased fares, last night. The members of the committee delved deeply into the past of the company. Manager King was bombarded with questions. The matter is still in the air. Mayor Somerville presented a motion that no action be taken in regard to the application. Controller Merryfield presented an amendment that the question be laid over until next Wednesday night. Alderman Wilson and Alderman Holmes supported him. Alderman Mannes did not vote and so the matter stands.

It cannot be said that any startling information was adduced at the meeting. The discussion was really a repetition of the first, with a few added figures which allowed for a little wider scope in questions.

Mayor Opposed.

Mayor Somerville continued his strong opposition to the proposal. Ald. Holmes asked many pointed questions in regard to the financial history of the company. The trend of them was opposition, but not of the outright brand. Ald. Wilson was passive. Ald. Harley as chairman asked a few questions. He seemed opposed. Controller Merryfield was passive for the most part, but on one occasion he popped up bright as a real hope for the street railway, when he asked if schedule No. 2, allowing six and eight tickets for a quarter, would take care of the troubled situation which the company could see ahead. It was the most promising point of the discussion from the company's viewpoint.

It may be that if the council turns down the company's application the matter may not be ended. There may be an appeal to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board to have it pass upon the company's application.

Has Board Power?

Controller Merryfield asked Mr. King if the board had any jurisdiction.

Mr. King replied that he did not know. Its contract was with the city, and it thought that the first thing was to come to the city.

Manager King was a busy man. Questions were popped at him from all angles and in bunches. He handled them carefully, courteously, and his explanations were at all times lucid.

In reopening the discussion, Manager King, after reviewing the company's position, said that he would urge that some action be taken in the near future. He did not want to wait until the ship was on the rocks to act.

Not Losing Money.

Mayor Somerville contended that last year the company had increased its surplus from $186,000 to $194,000, and had earned 2 per cent. besides setting aside $35,000 for depreciation. He did not think that the company was losing money. It was crying before it was hurt. He said that it was because it could not pay 6 per cent dividends that it was appealing to the city. If the increase was granted and it could not then pay it, it might come back again. The mayor said that there were many people who were taking advantage of conditions and the spirit of the people to charge more.

Manager King replied that the company had always run its business on a close margin. He flattered himself that it had got along so well as it had. He also pointed out that it had just added five new cars, costing $6,800 each, and this must be taken care of. Later he added that this expenditure was to allow for running a car hourly to care for the peak load of the traffic. True, the new cars might be run all day, but they replaced old ones, and the old ones would earn as much as the new. Mr. King said that in the past they had been able to care for all expenditures, but now the time has arrived when they cannot.

Should Workers Pay?

The mayor remarked that the company could see these conditions ahead, and hoped that the city would take the money out of its pocket to help it out. He said that the workers were suffering from the increased costs as well as the company, and he asked why they should be asked to take the money out of their pockets to pay the company's 6 per cent dividend.

Controller Merryfield here asked about the six and eight fare rates. Mr. King said that the amount that this would produce would vary according to the decrease in traffic. He did not think that this would care for the increase in wages that was justly coming to the carmen.

Ald. Harley pointed out that the estimated deficit of the company for 1918 was just equal to its 6 per cent dividend.

When the discussion ended the mayor said that he was prepared to move, though it was not customary for the mayor to do so, that nothing be done. The others hesitated, and then Controller Merryfield's amendment followed a statement of Manager King's that he would be sorry to see such action taken, and on the vote the company was granted a new lease on its fondest hopes.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN COAL MEN AND CITY NOT YET ARRANGED

Civic Action Over Black Diamonds Still of Future.

The much-talked-of meeting between the coal dealers of the city and the finance committee of the city council to decide what steps, if any, should be taken to regulate the distribution of coal in the city, has not yet been called.

Fuel Controller J. W. McCallum says that some of the dealers were anxious that the city should take action.

In the meantime Ontario's fuel controller, Commissioner Harris of Toronto, has advised the public to secure their coal as soon as possible and get it into their cellars

HOUSES SCARCE, THOUGH RENTS ARE ADVANCING

Small Homes Hard to Secure for London Tenants.

House-hunting in London has become quite a task. House agents report that there is quite a scarcity of houses to rent, and especially smaller houses.

"The demand far exceeds the supply of the small type," stated one dealer.

Rents are also advancing somewhat when houses become vacant. Most of the jumps are about $2 a month, but in quite a few cases $5 has been tacked on. Londoners, however, are not used to such jumps, and in some cases houses have gone begging for some time before they are rented.

CABLE SERVICE RESUMED.

The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company announces that improvement in its cable facilities makes it possible to resume to a moderate extent its transatlantic deferred cable service at the rate of nine cents per word to Great Britain and one half the regular cable rate to other countries. This resumption, however, does not apply to the cable letter or week-end letters, which services are still suspended.

THEIR HOUR OF NEED

It comes, from distant lands across the sea,
The call for alms.
Oh, citizens, can you not hear it plain?
Your loved one's hour of need is here again,
Risking his life's blood for you and for me,
'Midst war's alarms.

Must we permit them to struggle on through Without our aid?
Stumbling and creeping through hell's fire and gas
To hold the lines so the Huns may not pass,
Faithful to country, to duty and you,
They're not afraid.

They have not a thought for death or its sting—
Freedom's their goal:
Freedom for country, protection for home,
Protection for yours, as well as their own;
The Red Cross is with us, we know they sing,
As on they roll.

Shall we permit them to say we did not
Help them along?
If we're not true to the boys over there,
If in our thoughts we should say "I don't care,"
Then I maintain we should perish and rot
For such a wrong.

Let us determine to all do our part,
Little or great;
We must not wait till the call comes again;
To do so will only cause grief and pain—
Consider the question deep in our heart,
They cannot wait.

We reap the fruit of the toilers out there—
Let's sow more seed,
Plant all available money we can,
To grow for the cause of the fighting-man:
'Tis in the trenches, on Flanders fields, bare,
Their hour of need.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send In Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser.

E. R. Q.—Can I be called to the colors? I have been honorably discharged as medically unfit before the act came into force.

A.—Yes, unless you have been discharged after service in any theatre of actual war. Great Britain and Ireland are not considered a theatre of actual war. If on examination you are placed in category E, you will not be called upon to serve again.

A. M. Q.—I was put in category A last fall, but I am not fit for that category. I was exempted because of farming. Now they are going to take all men. Can I claim another examination, and to whom will I appeal?

A.—Only those exempted men who at the date of application for exemption had not attained the age of 23 years are being called out at present. If you are within that age, you will be called up, and you will be given another examination when you report for duty. If you are not included in that age limit, you might write to the deputy registrar for Military District No. 1, Royal Bank Building, London, Ont., asking for another examination, and giving your reasons.

A. J. D. Q.—1. A man becomes past age limit in class one on June 12, 1918. Does that exempt him from class one and make him liable when class three is called?

2. A man is 33 years of age April 10, 1918. He has been exempted. If class three is called in April, 1921, will he have to apply for exemption in that class?

3. A man holds a certificate of exemption in category B. Must he return it at once when he applies for exemption, or in 30 days from the time he receives call?

A.—1. No; it does not exempt him. He cannot become past the age limit. Class one includes those whose 34th birthday did not occur before January 1, 1917.

2. You do not state why he has been exempted. He will have nothing to do with class three unless he has been transferred to that class, in which case he would then need to apply for exemption.

3. He need not return it until it ceases to be in force.

W. E. W. Q.—1. Would a young man in category B be considered physicaly unfit if he is subject to inflammatory rheumatism? Also, if flat-footed?

2. Would he be likely to get exemption on those grounds, and also because he is working on a farm?

A.—1. It is impossible to discuss questions of a medical nature here. It may have been on account of the troubles mentioned that he was put in category B.

2. He might secure exemption on those grounds if, after claiming exemption on the grounds of ill-health or infirmity, he were re-examined and placed in a lower category. He might also obtain it on account of being a farmer.

C. M. Q.—1. Can an exempted man in category A enlist in the mechanical transport?

2. To whom would he have to make application, and how long before he would be called?

A.—1. No; recruits are not being accepted for the mechanical transport at present.

2. If at the date of application for exemption made by him or on his behalf, he had attained the age of 20 years, and had not attained the age of 23 years, his exemption will be cancelled, and he will probably be called to report for duty during the first two weeks of May. Exempted men in category A, but not of the ages mentioned, cannot be called unless further orders are issued to include them.

B. S. C. Q.—I am in A2, exempted till May 1, and hired with a farmer on 100 acres of land. My present employer is seeking an extension of time. What steps should he take? Can the matter be taken up with the leave of absence board?

A.—If you are not within the ages mentioned in answer to C. M., your employer can apply for an extension by writing to the deputy registrar of Military District No. 1, Royal Bank Building, London, Ont. If you are within the ages mentioned, you can do nothing but report for service when notified. The leave of absence board has been abolished.

J. R. Q.—In view of the new order-in-council, will B2 men between the ages of 20 and 22 inclusive still be given an opportunity to apply for exemption?

A.—Yes; only A men and men who have no category are being called regardless of their exemptions at present, according to the deputy registrar's department. B men of those ages will have an opportunity to present their claims before a tribunal, just the same as B men of other ages.

A. C. R. Q.—1. Is there any distinction in category B, such as B1, B2, etc.? Why are they numbered, and are they drafted accordingly?

2. Are B men taken overseas, or are they placed in depot battalions in Canada?

3. Would it be safe for a man who is part owner of a farm to put in all spring crop, if such crop could not be harvested without his or other additional help? He is in category B2.

A.—1. The numbers added to the letter indicate military training or its effects. They have nothing to do with the order in which men are drafted.

2. B men are those fit for service overseas in non-combatant capacity, in units such as the Army Medical Corps, forestry, labor or construction corps. They train in Canada for a short time first.

3. If he originally claimed exemption, he will now be given a chance to put forward before a tribunal any claims he may have before being called upon to serve.

PTE. J. Q.—I was born in this country. I went to Detroit four years ago to learn the automobile trade, and took out my naturalization papers a year ago last January. In so doing, I renounced my allegiance to the British Empire. Last summer I went to the Canadian West for the harvest, returning to the United States in December last. This spring I decided to go out West and work on a farm. When I crossed over to Windsor, I was taken by the military authorities and drafted into the W. O. R. as a defaulter under the M. S. A. Am I a defaulter or am I not?

A.—The whole question rests on the matter of your citizenship. It would appear from your statement that you were no longer a British subject, and hence not liable for service under the M. S. A. Could you not prove this when arrested? The question is involved, and you should seek legal advice. It is possible that, while you were under the impression that you were no longer a British subject, you may in the eyes of the law have still been so.

Air Observation Reveals Important Results of Raid on Sub Bases.

GERMAN SHIPS DESTROYED

Berlin Makes Light of Damage Done and Dwells on British Losses.

LONDON, April 24.—Air observation shows a clear break of twenty yards in width in the Zeebrugge Mole at the inner end, and that a sunken object blocks the greater part of the channel in the harbor of Ostend, according to an official bulletin issued by the admiralty.

IMMENSE DESTRUCTION.

DOVER, April 24.—The crew of one of the British submarines which was used to destroy the German piers at Zeebrugge during yesterday morning's raid were rescued, according to a member of the crew, by an escorting destroyer. The sailor said that after the destroyer slipped the submarine at the entrance to the harbor, the underwater boat made straight for the target. A time fuse was set, and the crew abandoned the craft a few moments later. The submarine struck the objective and blew up. The sailors said the pier was blown to pieces.

Crews of the ships which took part in the raid on Zeebrugge have many thrilling stories of their adventure. One of them has described how, despite the fact that the Germans discovered their presence while they were still outside the harbor, they made their way in through heavy gunfire, the Vindictive reaching the wharf, where she remained for an hour and a half.

Capture German Guns.

"A landing party was put ashore," the seaman said, "and we captured the German guns on the breakwater and turned them around, firing them on the German fortified positions. As far as we could see, there was not a place of any military importance left—we destroyed a lot.

"We had to leave many of our landing parties behind, but they were taken off by motorboats. One of the destroyers received a salvo of shells in her engine room, and had to be beached. She was blown up after the survivors had been rescued.

"Motorboats destroyed every floating thing in sight, including two German destroyers and some submarines. Those of the landing party who remained behind to continue the work of smashing German guns knew they would either lose their lives or be taken prisoners. They were volunteers and a brave lot of fellows."

HEAVY BRITISH LOSSES.

BERLIN, April 24.—Via London.—In the British naval raid Tuesday morning on the German submarine bases on the Belgian coast the German admiralty announces that in addition to the five British cruisers sunk near the coast, three destroyers and a number of motorboats were sunk by the first of the coast batteries.

Beyond damage caused to the Mole by a torpedo, the official statement adds, the harbor works and coast batteries at Zeebrurge were undamaged. One German torpedoboat suffered slight damage.

200 GERMANS BLOWN INTO AIR ON BRIDGE AT ZEEBRUGGE MOLE

British Submarine, Exploded as a Mine, Does Immense Job.

LONDON, April 25.—An officer of one of the motor boats has given The Daily Mail a story of the blowing up of the Mole at Zeebrugge.

"The submarine which did it," he said, "went at it from the outer side. The German star shells helped very greatly in showing the way. We could see about two hundred Germans on the bridge leading from the Mole to the shore. They apparently thought that the submarine had lost her way and were relo'cing in the belief that they were going to tran her. But the submarine pushed under the bridge, and when her cargo of explosives was touched off, it blew the bridge and all standing on it into the air.

"For a little time afterwards, fragments of Germans and wreckage of the bridge were falling all around us, by the blowing up of the bridge the Mole was isolated, and it was on this island that the Vindictive's men were landed and the fighting occurred."

SUFFERED GREAT AGONY FROM PAIN IN STOMACH FOR OVER 5 YEARS

Most of the misery and ill-health that humanity is burdened with arises from disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. If you are feeling out of sorts, have pains in the stomach, especially after eating, bilious spells, headaches, sour stomach, coated tongue, sallow or muddy complexion, specks floating before the eyes, you should take a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and note the change.

Miss Ida Hoan, Dunrobin, Ont., writes: "For over five years I have suffered great agony from pains in the stomach. I tried several remedies, but got no relief until a friend advised me to take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I started with two vials, and before I had one quite used I found much relief. I continued until I used four vials, and they have completely cured me. That was fourteen months ago, and I have not had the slightest return since. The best praise I can give them is not enough."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SAM GOMPERS COMES TO ADDRESS SENATE AND THE COMMONS

President of A. F. of L. To Address Bodies Jointly Tomorrow.

OTTAWA, April 24.—Government bills of minor importance and public works department estimates occupied the attention of the House of Commons today. The afternoon sitting was probably the most uneventful of the session.

At the evening session when the House was in supply there was considerable discussion in regard to the new parliament buildings now in course of construction.

Hon. F. B. Carvell stated definitely that the building would not be ready for the next session of Parliament, but that it would be utilized as completed for office purposes. The expenditure up to date, he said, had been $3,000,000. It would reach the $5,000,000 mark by the time the building is completed.

In the Senate the announcement was made that Sam Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will address a joint session of the Commons and the Senate on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

GREAT SUCCESS FOR BRITISH AIR FORCES IN RAIDS AND DUELS

LONDON, April 24.—The official statement relative to air operations issued by the war office tonight reads:

"The weather on Tuesday was unfavorable for flying until 5 p.m., after which sharp fighting occurred in the air. Reconnaissances were carried out at a low altitude throughout the day. Merville, Estaires, Steenwerck, La Gorgue, the Chaulnes railway junction and the docks at Ostend were heavily bombed.

"Fourteen hostile machines were brought down, two were driven down out of control, and one was shot down back of our lines by anti-aircraft fire. One of our machines is missing.

"During the night 21 tons of bombs were dropped on different targets, including Roulers, Armentieres, Bapaume, the railway stations at Chaulnes, Tourout and Tournay and Cortrai and the docks at Zeebrugge. Direct hits were obtained on all these targets and several fires started. All our machines returned."

NO EXEMPTIONS TO ANYONE, BUT 'LEAVE,' MAYHAP

And Very Few Persons in Class "A" May Secure Leave.

LETTERS DELUGE OTTAWA

Half of Mail Reaching House of Commons Demands Information.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, April 24. — It is perhaps natural that the majority of the questions asked prior to the calling of the orders of the day should at present relate to various details of the new military service orders, in connection with which members of Parliament are not in their minds quite clear.

It is safe to say that half of the voluminous correspondence received at the House of Commons postoffice during the past few days has consisted of anxious, and, in some cases, bewildered, requests for information regarding the liability of such and such persons under the new order, for immediate and irrevocable service. It may be said that not a member of the House has escaped one or more requests for interpretations of the new order.

"Leave" Not Exemption.

The issuance today of "regulations respecting the granting of leave of absence to men called up under the military service act" has served to clear up many points on which members were not certain. These regulations make certain things very plain, indeed.

In the first place they lay it down definitely that the word "exemption" has been absolutely abolished in so far as men falling within the ages which the minister may peremptorily from time to time call out are concerned. In such cases leave of absence is the only substitute for immediate active service, and leave of absence is but sparingly granted.

Those Who May Help.

The minister of militia has power to grant leave of absence without pay only under one consideration. That consideration is set forth in the following paragraph of the regulation: "A claim for leave of absence without pay, made on behalf of a man who reports for duty as ordered by the registrar, on the ground of the death, disablement, or service of other members of the same family, while on active service in any theatre of actual war (not including the high seas, Great Britain or Ireland), will IF IT APPEARS THAT THE MAN CONCERNED, WHETHER HE IS IN CATEGORY A OR NOT, IS THE ONLY REMAINING SON OF MILITARY AGE, be immediately forwarded to the officer commanding the district for transmission to militia headquarters."

Farmers Not Favored.

Not only is the power of the minister to grant leave of absence limited to the case of men who are only remaining sons, but such sons must have attained the position of sole heir through the fact that a brother or brothers have been killed, disabled or are now on service in France or Flanders. So far as the regulations as they at present stand are concerned, the only son of a widow, providing he is physically fit, cannot secure leave of absence unless his family has had the honor of representing their country in "an actual theatre of war." This, it may be noted, applies to farmers as well as to other people.

It is in connection with such cases that a good deal of the correspondence received by members has been written. J. A. Robb, chief Liberal whip, who represents an agricultural constituency in the eastern townships, brought the matter to the attention of the Government before the orders of the day were called this afternoon. The premier replied that the question was under consideration, and that an announcement would be made by the minister of militia at an early date in connection therewith.

Below Class A Men.

Apart from the above provision leave of absence of a temporary nature may be granted to farmers in categories below A, upon recommendation of the district officer commanding, backed by a certificate from the agricultural representative of the Federal Government. Such certificates must testify that the man to be granted leave of absence is an efficient farm laborer, whose services are urgently required on the land. The leave of absence is to be granted in the first instance until the 15th of July, and may be extended for a further three months thereafter.

At the present time, however, it is difficult to ascertain how this provision applies. In answer to a question by Hon. Jacques Bureau in the House this afternoon, General Mewburn stated that the present intentions were that when the registrars served notice to men between the ages of 20 and 22, inclusive, to report notices would only go to men of category A. He declared that "we are anxious to get the men who are medically fit. If later on," he continued, "conditions get worse it may be necessary to have a new medical reexamination.

It would appear that the principle has been laid down, however, that every man falling within the ages called out must consider himself as a member of the Canadian expeditionary force, liable at any time to be called upon. For "exemptions" in such cases leave of absence has been substituted.

Give Some Idea of What the Great Food Cure Is Accomplishing in That Town—Certified by Local Justice of the Peace.

St. Marys, Ont., April 24.—Whatever mystery there may be about medicine we all like to know the experience of others who have used it. When we get the opinions of people we know and have confidence in we feel that we can use the treatment with the full assurance that the results will prove satisfactory.

Many readers of this paper will know these St. Marys ladies and be encouraged by their experience to put the great food cure to the test.

Mrs. Thomas Evans, St. Marys, Ont., writes: "Some years ago I felt run down in health, and also suffered from sleeplessness and nervous trouble. I had seen Dr. Chase's Nerve Food recommended for such cases, so started taking them. I found them to be all that was claimed of them — they strengthened and built up my complete system, and improved my health in general."

Mrs. A. MacNeill, St. Marys, Ont., writes: "For some time I suffered from neuralgic rheumatism, which affected me mostly in the hands. The pain used to be quite severe at times. I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and five or six boxes of this treatment broke it up. Since then I have not been troubled with those severe pains in my hands, and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone suffering as I did."

Mr. Wm. Weir, J.P., states: "I am acquainted with both these parties, and believe their statements to be correct."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Examining Board Gives Col. Labatt Pension for Life

Examination on April 4th Clinches It — Children Pensioned, Too.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, April 24.—A return tabled in Parliament today in regard to the pension awarded Col. R. P. Labatt, a member of the pensions board, who draws a salary of $5,000 per annum, shows that he is also in receipt of a total disability pension of $1,800 per annum with $120 per annum extra for each of his two children.

On November 27 last Col. Labatt was given a total disability pension to run for six months until further medical examination. On April 4, on recommendation of a re-examining board, he was granted a permanent pension of the full amount as stated above. The board states that Col. Labatt is suffering from valvular disease of the heart which prevents him earning his livelihood to the full extent.

LIQUOR FINES SWELL TREASURY AT WINGHAM

WINGHAM, April 24.—The effect of extra shipments of liquor into the province during the early months of the year by those who were preparing for the "long dry spell," will be seen for many weeks to come, and Huron County is no exception in this respect.

Inspector Mitchell, assisted by officers of the Huron County Temperance Alliance, made a few unexpected calls here last week, and as a result two businessmen, A. M. Knox and W. G. Patterson, appeared before Police Magistrate Morton to answer charges of being intoxicated, and both pleaded guilty, and paid $10 and $20, respectively, in fines, in addition to costs.

Mr. Wm. Weir, J.P., states: "I am acquainted with both these parties, and believe their statements to be correct."

Up to date, exemptions granted on account of medical unfitness have numbered 118,772, and for other reasons, 200,881. Appeals taken by applicants numbered 34,751, and by the military authorities, 45,981.

SECOND MURDERED MAN FOUND IN SAME SHED

Montreal Has Another Italian Crime to Unravel.

MONTREAL, April 24.—The body of Giovanni Bettiol, an Italian, was found with a number of wounds on it in Raymond Lane, at the rear of St. Urbain street, this morning. Joseph Logera and A. Fioda have been taken into custody by the police in conection with the crime, which was committed on Monday night. The body was found in a shed that was used by the murderers of an Italian named Fraletta to hide his remains several months ago.

RETURNED SOLDIERS AIR GRIEVANCES TO PENSION COMMITTEE

OTTAWA, April 24.—Complaints of returned soldiers, regarding the administration of the board of pension commissioners, were aired this morning before the special committee appointed by the House to inquire into the report of the commissioners.

N. Knight, who represented the G. W. V. A., demanded that the examinations of the original medical boards should stand.

It was not fair that a man who had been at the front and had broken down should be declared to have had some disease or infirmity before enlistment, and, therefore, ineligible for a pension.

The secretary of the war veterans called attention to the medical examinations given soldiers prior to their return to Canada. He pointed out that in his anxiety to return to his home a soldier might inform the board that he was in good health and so effect his return, although it might be the worst thing possible. This he thought, might be rectified by the soldier being cautioned.

SENATE DISCUSSES THE LABOR SITUATION

Canada at a Disadvantage Compared With the U. S.

OTTAWA, April 24. — The mobilization of labor for Canada was the subject of an interesting discussion in the Senate today. Valuable information was given by Hon. Mr. Robertson, who had participated in the negotiations with the United States for the use on Canadian farms of surplus American labor. There was also information given respecting the registration of Canadians for production, which the Government is about to undertake.

Senator Nicholl precipitated the discussion by calling attention to the questions of the interchange of agricultural workers, of mechanics, ship carpenters and other skilled workers. He asked if man-power registration would be applied for this purpose, and if there had been any agreement between Canada and the United tSates.

Senator Nicholl said that if Canada was going to continue the essential industries, the example of the United States in regard to labor mobilization should be followed. Canada was in a less favorable position than the United States, as a larger percentage of the Canadian man power had already been recruited for war.

BETTING IS LEGALIZED ON PIMLICO RACE TRACK

ST. THOMAS, April 24. — The board of governors of the Amasa Wood Hospital discussed tenders for an ambulance at a meeting this afternoon and decided to get new figures from Joseph Coffey and J. T. Webster. Mr. Webster claimed that the chassis originally offered by Mr. Coffey had been in use. A member of the board states that Mr. Coffey offered to supply a Studebaker chassis for $1,000, the frame to be provided by the A. B. Greer Company of London. Mr. Coffey would also provide the body at $1,400.

ARGENTINA MAY STOP EXPORTING OF FOODS

Buenos Ayres, April 25.—The Argentine cabinet held a special meeting last night to consider curtailing, and probably prohibiting, the export of all foodstuffs, in consequence of the increased cost of living in Argentina. It was decided to make no final decision in the matter until Finance Minister Salaberry has submitted a report which he was requested to make.

War has made Economy the National Buy-Word

TO-DAY each one must decide for himself what economy means. It doesn't mean to stop buying the things you need. It means getting full value for each expenditure so that your money will go as far as possible. It means saving that margin we used to spend thoughtlessly for the "highest-priced" things—imagining that they were necessarily the best. In fact, the Economy of to-day really means Thrift.

Take the matter of shoes. The money you spend on shoes is a very important item. You may be paying too much for your shoes.

You know, of course, that shoes, like everything else, have gone up in price. But there is a limit to the price which it is necessary to pay for good shoes.

For example: If you are paying a certain price for shoes and can get the same wear and appearance in a shoe for a dollar or two less, you want to know it.

It is not easy, even for a man in the shoe business, to judge the exact value of a shoe from its appearance. You may think, therefore, that it is necessary to pay the highest price always in order to get good shoes. That is not so.

For instance: Ames Holden McCready Men's fine Shoes are being made today to retail from $6 to $10. There are more expensive shoes on the market, but it is not necessary to pay over $10 for good shoes, and $6 will buy shoes that will give good service for the price.

There is quite a difference between $6 and $10, but shoes at both these prices are very similar in appearance. The difference is due to the grade of material used and to a certain extent extra trimmings and workmanship, which increases cost but adds very little to the wear or appearance.

For example: our men's shoes retailing at $8, $9, or $10 are made of genuine calf skin and first-class materials throughout, but you can buy shoes for $6 or $7 that are made of the skin of a large calf or a cow. This leather does not command such high prices because it is heavier in weight and not quite so fine in texture, but it will wear as well and only experienced shoe and leather men can appreciate any difference in its appearance.

Differences in price you will see do not necessarily affect the actual wear or stylish appearance of the shoe, but are mostly due to certain little luxuries and extravagancies which may be desirable in normal times but not justifiable now.

Therefore, if you want to economize in footwear, ask your dealer to show you Ames Holden McCready shoes that retail at the price you can afford to pay.

Ames Holden McCready make all kinds of footwear for men, women and children.

The next time you purchase shoes, look for the A. H. M. trade-mark. It is a guide to good values, because it is found only on shoes of good appearance which give excellent wear and satisfaction for the price. When you buy A. H. M. shoes you can always be sure that you have got full value. That's genuine economy.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why You "Feel Blue" On a Foggy Day---What to Do

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

Perhaps you have never stopped to figure out just why you find breathing more difficult on a foggy day. Perhaps you have never asked yourself why you are prone to feel blue on such a day. Maybe you could not attribute your depression to any particular cause.

Think a minute or two and you will quickly realize that you breathe heavily because the air is heavy. You take into your lungs not the pure air of a clear, sunny day, but the thick, dense air, made heavy by the solid particles of soot suspended in it. Your breathing machinery, therefore, has the double duty of transmitting the air and at the same time of filtering out the particles in it. In this latter piece of work they are overburdened, but in spite of all their dutiful diligence, they cannot prevent some particles from reaching your lungs, and in a little while you feel the effects of the presence of many soot particles.

It doesn't take very long, however, when you are indoors either to let your eyelids droop, if you are alone, or to stop and sigh and sigh. It appears as if the dim, dismal outside casts its gloom upon your usually cheerful room. Your mechanism often can't resist the alluring laziness of the day, and it bends in submission to its lingering, sleepy ways. In a short time you are off in slumber land, and your book or paper drops from your hand. But what care you, in your sweet sleep?

A Point in Proof.

An hour has passed and you are wide-awake again. You must hurry up, you think, to make up for lost time. You do twice the amount of work that you did before, for now you're feeling "just tip top."

Your eyes sparkle and your spirit is light. You feel bright and happy in spite of the dismal gloom outside. That little nap on that gloomy day was just the best thing you could have given yourself. It rested you, and, moreover, it kept your lungs away from dark influences.

Your "blues" have disappeared, and now you know they weren't due to anything but the weather. Sleep carried them away. Your mind is no longer heavy and depressed, but light, carefree and defiant to dark tendencies. "Too many things to think about," you say, "to feel blue. Funny that I felt so before."

Think what you have missed by that nap—an afternoon's wear and tear in dismal fog. If soot makes an average rail placed in a smoky town lose about one and a half pounds in weight a year you can imagine how much harm it does to an individual's weak mechanism. You can't weigh yourself, to be sure, for loss or gain due to the amount of smoke you take into your vitals.

If you are not very careful, however, to avoid as much smoke as possible, especially if you live in a smoky town, you will be bound, sooner or later, to feel the result in the form of a devitalized mechanism. Tuberculosis may be hastened or pneumonia may fall to your lot.

From Other Sources.

Sometimes you need not wait for a foggy day to fill your chest with a heavy layer of soot, and often you need not live in a smoky town, nor near a railroad line or even a factory. Often you can swallow right in your own house enough soot to paint a glass black.

If your fire, for exemaple, does not burn well on a cold spring morning it fills your house with clouds. You breathe and choke and allow the rushing, curling, fresh air of the outside to mingle with the smoky fumes within. Long after you imagine the smoke to have gone out, however, you may still be breathing some lingering particles. You cannot ventilate long enough thoroughly to rid the house of all the smoke. It is well, therefore, always to allow some fresh air to come in from some constantly open source.

It makes no difference from what source the smoke comes, it is equally dangerous.

B. F. J. Q.—Will you kindly tell me if white vaseline or ——— will make the eyelashes grow long and thick? Which of the two is the better?

A.—The white vaseline is much better—is very good indeed for the purpose.

P. E. R. Q.—I become exhausted after reading. What can be done to stop this?

A.—Those who fail to get plenty of sunlight and fresh air are troubled in this way. You should consult your physician about this.

C. W. T. Q.—Please suggest a way to increase my weight. I am 25 years old and weigh only 98 pounds.

A.—Your weight may be increased by 10 to 12 hours' sleep in the 24 in a well-ventilated room. Water or liquids of any kind drunk with meals help to make fat. Sugars, starches, butter, puddings, fatty meats, rich soups and gravies are fattening. Take but slight exercise. Be outdoors as much as possible, and keep the bowels active.

N. M. T. Q.—What can I do for a dark complexion?

2. What can I do for blackheads?

3. What can I do for freckles?

4. What can I do to make my hair grow?

A.—After any wash or bath and while still wet, dry the skin lightly with a little of the following:

Fine almond meal	4 ounces
Finely-powdered borax	6 drams
Oil of bitter almonds	3 drops
Oil of lily of the valley	3 drops
Finely-powdered orris root	2 ounces
Finely-powdered pumice stone	6 drams

2. For blackheads, massage them gently with a sterilized piece of absorbent cotton or chamois; follow by an application of paste made up of the following:

Fullers earth	4 drams
Vinegar	2 drams
Glycerine	3 drams

3. No matter what you use, freckles usually return. If the skin peels it is better to stop the use of all remedies because more harm than benefit may result. As a trial, use a little of 1 dram of salicylic acid to 1 ounce of alcohol.

4. Try a little of the following, about three times a week:

Quinine	1 dram
Pilocarpine	2½ grains
Salicylic acid	15 grains
Lanolin	½ ounce
Petrolatum	½ ounce

B. C. R., London, Ont.: Q.—Does carbonate acid gas have to be sprayed on the face by a specialist?

A.—This does not necessarily have to be done by a specialist. One treatment may be obtained in that way to teach you how to do it.

I. S., London, Ont.: Q.—Will you please inform me of something that will destroy nits?

A.—Wash the hair in acetic acid and water. Then brush the hair thoroughly. Repeat this several times on successive nights.

E. R. D., London, Ont.: Q.—What should be done for piles with a fissure?

A.—Piles are at times combined with a fissure. It is to be touched up with nitrate of silver, only by a good surgeon.

How to Make the Best Use of Spring Greens.

One way to ward off that tired feeling which comes in the spring is to enlist the services of nature's cleansing agents—the spring greens.

Dandelion is an edible weed that is not used nearly so much as it should be. It can be found growing wild early in the spring and should be picked while young and small, as it grows tough quickly.

Scald the dandelions and cook them slowly with very little water so that they practically cook in their own juice. When done chop them fine and season them with salt, pepper and butter, mixing well.

Dandelions are also used as a salad either cooked and cold or raw. If the raw leaves are used, be sure that they are only the tiny young leaves. They are also good when cooked with other greens and an especially good combination is a mixture of dandelions, spinach and celery leaves cooked together and seasoned well. Spinach and dandelions may also be cooked in any of these ways:

Spinach Souffle.

1 cupful of cooked spinach
2-3 cupful of hot milk
¼ cupful of flour
2 tablespoonfuls of butter
½ teaspoonful of salt
3 eggs

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter, salt and hot milk. Rub the boiled spinach through a colander and add it to the white sauce. Beat the egg yolks, add them to the mixture, then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn the whole into a buttered baking dish, set it in the oven in a pan of hot water, and bake slowly for 20 minutes. Serve as soon as baked.

Cream of Spinach Soup.

½ cupful of cooked spinach
5 cupfuls of milk
2 tablespoonfuls of butter
2 tablespoonfuls of flour
1 teaspoonful of salt

Press the boiled spinach through a colander. Make a white sauce of the other ingredients, add the spinach, heat and serve.

Creamed Spinach on Toast.

1 pint of cooked spinach
1 cupful of white sauce
1 slice of bread
½ teaspoonful of salt

Have the spinach drained, then chop it. Make the white sauce and add the spinach, then salt it and repeat. Trim the crusts from the bread. Cut the bread into triangles and toast it until nicely browned. Place a spoonful of the creamed spinach on each piece of toast. A garnish of hard-boiled eggs will also make it more attractive.

Spinach Loaf With Sardines.

1 cupful of boiled spinach
3 large sardines
½ cupful of breadcrumbs
2 tablespoonfuls of melted butter
1 teaspoonful of lemon juice

Chop the spinach and sardines together. Add the crumbs, seasoning, butter and lemon juice. Shape the whole into a loaf and set it in the oven for ten minutes. Garnish with sliced, hard-boiled eggs and slices of lemon.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Is the Meaning of That Whistle?

My mother-in-law's explanation of the mysterious flashing in the window of the Durkee house struck me at once as a most plausible one. But it disturbed me more than I cared to admit to her.

If our new neighbors were using the only window from which they could see our home to spy upon us with field glasses there was more reason than ever for me to believe that the tenants of Mrs. Durkee's house were men who knew me, and were living there disguised for some sinister, unknown purpose.

It was imperative, however, that my mother-in-law shouldn't suspect my fear. Such knowledge would pull down her nervous strength tremendously. I tried, therefore, to answer her observation carelessly.

"Impudence, indeed," I said. "But then, we can do nothing about it. And they can't possibly do any harm with their idle curiosity."

"Idle curiosity!" snorted my mother-in-law. "I'm glad that's what you call it. I tell you it's far more dangerous than that. Those men belong to a gang of thieves, I'm sure of it, and they're just spying on us to see how they can best break in. And just think of it, Margaret! We haven't a man in the house at all. Richard will be away for weeks and Jim is gone to the war."

"You forget William Trumbull," I said, smiling to hide the very real alarm I felt. I, too, had realized with a little cold fear at my heart, that we were a household of defenceless women. But it wasn't ordinary burglary that I feared.

"But He Is Very Strong."

"He's about as much protection as a rabbit," she replied caustically, but her eyes belied her words. They held the dawn of an idea which was just entering my own brain. I hastened to give it utterance.

"I think you're mistaken, mother," I said earnestly. "William isn't overburdened with brains——"

"You're stating his case very considerately," she returned grimly.

"But he's very strong," I went on, unheeding the interruption, "absolutely dependable and devoted to our interests. And, besides, he has a wonderful bull terrier. I'm wondering——"

"Don't tell me you're thinking of bringing that ourang-outang and that cur into the house," she interrupted, but there was no force in the tone of her protest.

"There's that small room at the head of the back stairs," I said reflectively, "the one we have never used. It's so isolated from the rest that if William did live in it for a while he wouldn't disturb the rest of us."

What Madge Heard.

"And we could have it scrubbed and disinfected after he left," my mother-in-law interposed with a shade of encouragement in her voice. "Well, goodness knows, I don't like the idea, but I suppose while Richard's gone we ought to have some protection, especially as I imagine your doing this work isn't the safest thing in the world for you or for the rest of us."

"I'm so glad you approve," I returned, trying to inject into my voice just the right shade of graceful deference to her opinions. "I'll attend to the matter at once, and get Katie started at the room before I go for my walk. Good-by."

"Good-by," she returned, evidently a bit startled by my abruptness. But I didn't intend to give her any chance to change her mind, and I walked swiftly to the door, unlocked it and threw it open.

Cousin Agatha was rapidly retreating down the hall. I knew that she had been trying to listen at the keyhole, but I pretended ignorance.

"Oh, Cousin Agatha!" I called sweetly. "I'm going now, and I think mother wants you."

"I'll be there in a minute," she returned sulkily without turning, and went down the stairs. Evidently she didn't care to meet my eyes.

With a sudden thought, born of my discovery that my new neighbors were watching the house through field glasses, I unlocked my own room door, and, going in, put into my handbag the little ammonia pistol which had done me such yeoman service before. Then, after locking everything securely again, I went to the kitchen and instructed Katie to get the small room ready for William Trumbull.

She made no remonstrance, but her round, wondering eyes followed me out of the kitchen as I walked toward the barn where William had his quarters.

I couldn't resist another look at the third floor window of Mrs. Durkee's house. Again I saw the flash of the sun on metal, then it disappeared. And I distinctly heard a whistle, such as would be made by a child's toy.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

She Learns How an Unusual and Very Smart House Gown Is Made.

"I'll give you three chances to guess who's going to pay us a visit today," said Madame, as I was hurrying through the studio on my way to the workroom.

Medieval House Gown, In Turquoise-Blue and Silver.

"I dropped into the chair beside Madame and risked one guess, which, of course, was wrong.

"It's someone you've been wishing would cross your path so that you could see her off the stage," Madame continued.

"Not Madame Arnaud?" I exclaimed.

"Even so," echoed Madame. "She's coming at 3 o'clock, so be on hand to see her."

Madame Arnaud proved to be a beautiful, queenly woman, as I had imagined, but her manner was as gracious and as unaffected as a child's. She told Madame that she would like to have a really beautiful house gown fashioned of such rich materials as were used for her operatic costumes.

After sending for some pieces of metal brocade, Madame spread the different designs so that Madame Arnaud could select the one that pleased her fancy. She preferred a lovely turquoise blue and silver brocade to all others. In this she displayed excellent taste, for the material was exceptionally elegant—the turquoise-blue background almost hidden by the elaborate design brocaded in silver.

The material having been chosen, Madame took her pencil and made a rough sketch of the house gown she had in mind for the opera singer.

"The medieval costume is especially becoming to you, Madame; therefore a house gown with the long sweeping lines of that period would be charming fashioned of the blue and silver brocade," she said, handing the sketch to Madame Arnaud.

Then she continued pointing out the many different features of the gown:

"The over-dress is a straight tunic formed of two panels of the brocaded satin, the panel at the back being extended to form a train of medium length. The panels are caught together upon the shoulders. The rounded neckline and the edges of the panels are outlined with a narrow cording of silver.

"The under-garment is of silver tissue, cut in one piece with long, kimono sleeves. The skirt of this foundation is quite narrow about the hem and extremely long. Several layers of silver-grey chiffon are used to line the gown.

"A ceinture of silver and blue embroidery trimmed with rings of blue enamel and a tassel of silver is clasped about the waistline, slightly confining the fullness of the robe.

"You see, I have added a turban of the brocaded material to the costume. The material is draped closely about the head, and a large silver tassel ornaments one side. From the crown is suspended a full veil of silver tissue, which extends below the knees, giving a most artistic and graceful touch to the costume. Silver slippers complete the harmonious whole. What do you think of the design? Can you suggest any changes?"

Madame Arnaud was delighted with the sketch, and begged Madame to begin the gown immediately. The appointment was made for Tuesday of next week.

After Madame Arnaud had left the studio, Madame took the brocaded satin and silver tissue and deftly draped them on me to get a general idea of the combination.

"We must do ourselves proud this time, Claire. This house gown must be a masterpiece."

"Well, did Madame Arnaud come up to your expectations" she asked.

"Far beyond them," I replied.

Then I ran away to find Julie so that I could rave about the diva to my heart's content.

Good Night Stories

A TRIP WITH THUNDER CLOUD.

Betty sat huddled in the big armchair. Outside the wind roared, the lightning flashed and great peals of thunder shook the house until it trembled.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betty, "I hate thunder!"

"Oh, no you don't," laughed a merry voice.

Betty turned to see Happy Giggles smiling up at her from the rug.

"Yes, I do!" replied Betty. "It isn't good for anything but to frighten children!"

"Oh, yes, it is!" laughed Happy Giggles. "Why, Thunder Cloud wouldn't harm a hair of your head. He's especially fond of little folks and I'm sure if we asked him real nicely he'd let us go with him on this trip—that is, if you aren't afraid."

Betty tried to be brave, but every roar of thunder was much louder than the one before. Then Happy Giggles waved his wand over Betty's head and the next peal of thunder Betty could hardly hear.

"See!" laughed Happy Giggles. "It isn't bad when you know that it won't hurt you. But hurry or we may miss Thunder Cloud," and, taking Betty by the hand, Happy Giggles flew out of the window just as a great big black thing followed by streaks of lightning dashed in sight.

Thunder Cloud stopped and Happy Giggles and Betty climbed upon his back.

"I'll Never Be Afraid Again."

"I'm late now, so we'll have to hurry!" cried Thunder Cloud, and away they dashed to the meadow where Thunder Cloud rode right along the ground roaring and howling terribly in a gruff voice:

Get up, get up, you sleepy thing,
Awaken now to greet the Spring!
The sun is out—gone is the snow,
Awaken or you'll lazy grow!

"What does he mean and who's he calling?" Betty asked Happy Giggles.

"Why, don't you know?" laughed Happy Giggles. "He's trying to awaken the little meadow folks. You know they sleep all through the cold winter days and never even peek outside their covers until Thunder Cloud calls them with his mighty roar of thunder."

"So that's what I was frightened at!" laughed Betty.

Everywhere Thunder Cloud passed and shook the ground with his terrible roar, tiny meadow folks threw off their coverlets and crawled out into the rain ready to be prepared to greet the sunshine.

Cheery Cricket, glad to be awakened, tilted on a blade of grass and sang merrily. Grasshoppers and spiders swung out into the sunshine glad to hear his cry. Down by the brook old Green Frog and his wife hurried from their bed and began their spring cleaning. The meadow seemed alive with merry little people glad to be awakened. Even Mr. and Mrs. Snake squirmed from their beds and joined the happy band.

Then with a terrible crash much louder than the rest Thunder Cloud whirled away toward the sea. But Happy Giggles bade him good-by and flew back into Betty's room again with her.

"Well, I'll never be afraid of thunder again as long as I live, for if Thunder Cloud loves the meadow folks enough to awaken them from their winter's nap, he'll never harm little children," laughed Betty.

When Happy Giggles set her down in front of her own house, Betty ran into the yard. And there the walk was covered with worms and off in the meadow she could hear the merry chirp of the cricket and the quick music of the grasshoppers as they sang happily.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, APRIL 28.

This will probably be a day of doubts and perplexity, with vague impressions as to conducting affairs, which will make for no definite results. It is a time for moving along the lines of least resistance, avoiding as much as possible important dealings and changes. Those in employment should be especially cautious as to their actions, avoiding superiors and deferring the seeking of favors, promotion or increase. Investment and speculation are likewise under the ban of planetary interference and disturbance, with the possibility of disappointment and obstruction along all lines.

Those whose birthday it is should proceed quietly, venturing little and protecting all they have. A child born on this day will be proud and obstinate, may well remain in employment of others, and should conduct its life with great discretion.

ALIENS IN CANADA.

A GOVERNMENT sage said in the House the other day that one of the reasons the Government had not conscripted alien labor was because certain promises had been made to these people when they came to the country. It was a solemn declaration. Had one of the opposition members asked further embarrassing questions he would have been asked by the Government sage whether or not he desired to treat the country's obligations to these foreigners as "scraps of paper."

"Let the action fit the necessity," says the Government opportunist. Expediency is the middle name of the Union combination. They howled down the naturalized German and Austrian and denied him a vote at the last election, excepting in certain specified ridings like North Waterloo, where "the only good German was a Billy Wiechel German."

But when it comes to a question of putting these aliens on a war footing to meet labor needs, the Government trimmers turn the mirror on the other side and see themselves as the defenders of a sacred bond.

Meanwhile fifty or more employees of a Windsor salt company, most of whom are stated to be enemy aliens, go out on strike presumably for higher pay. Canadian labor all over the country is holding off on strikes from patriotic motives. A strike is almost an unheard-of thing among the Canadian workers in Ontario cities. Yet the alien resident, no doubt glad to press home his distinct advantage over the native born, may strike or go on making money because Canadians have been conscripted.

One dollar ten a day is enough for these strikers and all aliens capable of performing useful service. If they cannot be trusted to fight, is it fair to let them escape labor service? Let them occupy their present positions, if necessary, but let the difference between their wages and those of a private soldier go to some worthy fund. The spectacle of a Bulgarian arrested in a Western Ontario city with $2,000 in his possession, and a desire to take it easy, will aggravate public opinion on this question.

AN UNINTENTIONAL TRIBUTE.

DUBLIN'S Lord Mayor has proclaimed to the world the wonderful liberty enjoyed by those who live under the British flag. He, a supporter of those who declared a workless day as protest against conscription of the Irish, an outspoken opponent of the measure and a declared agitator against the enforcement of the law that has been passed, has asked the Government which he is flouting to grant him passports to the United States in order that he and his friends may carry on propaganda against the laws of the land. Surely this is the greatest compliment that could be paid to British generosity and broad-mindedness, even if, at the same time, the request goes beyond the bounds of reason.

Can fancy picture any portion of the German empire which might be opposed to conscription or any other national measure appealing to Berlin for permission for representatives to leave the country to carry on a campaign against the Kaiser's Government? There is no difficulty in imagining the result and the consequences to those who dared to sign such a petition.

Prejudice is proving stronger than reason in a great part of Ireland today; it is to be hoped reason will prevail.

THE BODY AND THE SOUL.

IT IS a harsh thing to kill the body of a fellow creature. Most brutal and debased of crimes is murder rated in the category of evil deeds. The brand of Cain stamped upon the forehead of a man marks him for slaughter; he is not fit to live with his fellowmen and he is in turn murdered like a beast of prey by the legal order of the community. Life, with all its charms and cares, with its black storms and rainbows, is regarded as the most precious possession. One may not himself bring the dagger to his side; society will rush to stop him, saying "Here, you may say you cannot sustain this thing you call your body, nor can I help you very much, yet you have no right to destroy it." The implication is that one does not own his body and cannot do with it as he choose.

Yet what is a beautiful body of itself? The fairest-formed and most beautifully-featured creature who ever lived, what is she, if her mind be gone, if she must be restrained or imprisoned in an asylum? Even if her mind be capable of reasoning, what if she is simply a cold automaton? Without the marvellous, intangible presence of the soul, the human being is an empty house, however pleasing of design.

Without expression of the soul, the human being is only a body. The body, we are assured, is merely a temporary abode for the soul. It is as nothing in the value of life save as a vehicle for human consciousness. We cannot define a soul. Many of us base our whole faith in a future life in the belief that the soul cannot be killed with a bullet or a dagger thrust. But can the soul be killed with any other weapon? If it cannot be killed, it may be numbed and atrophied.

Who then is the greater criminal, the murderer of your soul or the murderer of your body? The body may stand like a beautiful temple long after the soul has been deadened, and to all intents and purposes become a thing without life. To kill a soul is like burning the people in a house; to kill the body is to burn the house.

The ideal is the thing for which the soul strives. All of beauty, all of poetic fancy, all of truth, all of desire to serve, all of good impulse and kindness come from the soul. The body is merely the rented home of a wonderful tenant.

As these ideals are developed, as the eyes of vision glow with the pure light of love for humanity, so is the soul developed. But as these ideals are warped and wrung and perverted and thwarted so is the soul dulled and sickened. Doubt in the good faith of humanity creeps in; the world becomes a penitentiary to the philosopher. "The downward path is laden with unbelieving souls."

Each great soul unhampered and reaching ever upward will gain its star unless collision with darkened comets of despair strews the path with destruction. The downward path may be laden with unbelieving souls, but perhaps it is also laden with souls that have been slain through the pressing weight of disbelief and skepticism that is cast across the trail.

Beware lest you kill the soul of a man. The law will not detect you in the deed; there will be no scaffold to mount; there will be no haunting terror of your victim's face. You will not know you slew his soul; he will meet you and you will not know that the great living motive within him, the inspiration of his life, is dead. Yet like a monster you may be slaying the souls of your fellow-men all about you. If you have burned the tenants of the house, what matters the fate of the human abode? Beware the poison you may throw into the cup of youth's ideals, youth's hopes, youth's wonderful vision and youth's desires to serve. Cynicism and disbelief and cruelty are the drugs that subtly kill the soul. Hope and faith and encouragement are the good waters that make the soul a benison to all the earth. Drink deeply of them and give freely to them that thirst.

BROKEN MUSIC.

All last night, I, roving, listened
To the singing of the moonbeams
Gaily telling of their love dreams,
In the branches of the pines;
In and out the shadows glistened,
In their weird and witching dances,
Fairy maids—with dove-like glances,
And they blent their song with mine!

Far above, the stars were singing
Such a melody heart breaking
That the sweetness of it waking
Memories I scarce could bear;
Then along the years came ringing
Pain exquisite, sweetness thrilling,
All my pulsing being filling—
Drooped my proud head—bowed and bare!

Then the music softly dying
Seemed to know my heart was bleeding,
Seemed to hush with joy exceeding,
All my yearning hopes of years;
And the pine trees, sadly sighing,
Bade me love my hopeless sorrow,
Tender lessons from them borrow,
Of the loveliness of tears!

So across the years we've waited
In that dreamed-of land—in keeping—
Where you hush your prayerful weeping—
I'll come back from war—to you—
We'll take up our dreams belated,
Though I come all weak and broken
You have given this sweet token
That your love for me is true!

LITTLE-HAT LADY.

[By Jane Osborne.]

Designing hats for a popular price wholesale millinery establishment was not Upton Pread's ideal of a stalwart, life-sized man's occupation. Still even young men with that innate feeling for line and color that marks them—or brands them—as artists before they have had a fair chance to determine for themselves whether they wish to follow an artist's career or not, have to eat and have to be clothed, and designing women's hats seemed at the time to be the only opportunity that afforded what Pread considered a living wage. Getting an occasional order for a portrait perhaps was more the sort of thing he had dreamed of, and more the sort of thing his friends expected, but it would not have provided for him a comfortable existence at the Stanley Arms, and Upton Pread found that living at that well appointed little hotel had advantages that offset the designing of hats.

Still Upton did not like to have people know the nature of his "artistic" work. In the morning after breakfast he got out his drawing board and, shut up in his snug little chintz-room, he would call into being first the image of heads of fair women, and then, as if by magic, he would summon hats to crown them. Hastily and with quick stroke of his pencil he would sketch the pretty heads and then, with minuteness that made reproduction by a milliner possible, he would portray the hat. Having made some four or five sketches he would roll them up securely in his portfolio and, after having had luncheon in the hotel dining-room, he would sally forth to the millinery establishment, there to deliver his wares. They were not always accepted. In fact, he was expected only to deliver two designs a day, and he made sometimes as many as six. After his visit to the milliner's he had a good part of the afternoon free—not entirely free, either, for if he elected to go to one of the fashionable indoor ice rinks he always had before him the task of studying the women's hats, not so much to "get ideas" for designs but to learn—what to him was the hardest lesson—what women thought was becoming. Upton had ideas of his own about beauty in women's apparel, and often when he made a design that he thought was his masterpiece it was only to have the manager of the millinery establishment push the design aside, declaring that if he put out hats like that his business would be ruined. So Upton would carry back the rejected drawings and crush them into his waste basket and start fresh the next morning with an effort to suppress his own notions about hats.

Upton always worked in secrecy. You see he was not proud of his calling. If the substantial, slow-moving chambermaid happened still to be setting his room to rights when he returned from breakfast, he was loath to get out his drawing things, but lingered over his morning paper or walked idly about his room. One day after she had left the room and he had begun in earnest, there was a knock at his door and, without waiting for Upton to call out "come," the chambermaid stuck her head in the door. She held a waste basket in her hand. "You don't make a mistake, sir, do you, and throw away pictures you want?" she asked. "Some of these here pretty girl's heads, I mean, seems 'most too good to throw away."

"Oh, those," Upton said as the woman held up a crushed and crumpled girl's head wearing, what the day before he had judged one of his best designs only to have it condemned as impossible by the practical millinery manager, "those are rubbish. I just do them—to amuse myself, as it were." And the chambermaid withdrew, dragging her mop and carpet sweeper after her.

The hat in question was inspired by a muscle shell. Upton had seen hats that were inspired by roses and sweet peas and even by canary birds. That sort of thing was trite. He happened to have a few shells that he had gathered on the seashore the summer before and treasured for no very good reason, and it occurred to him one day that in the graceful curves of the muscle shell and in its deep, penetrating black with brown, green and blue shadings, he might devise a hat that would be worth designing. The head he drew for this head was the head of a sea nymph. He always made the faces first to suit the hats—if the hat showed Japanese influence the girl was slightly slant-eyed, if she wore a sombrero she was of Spanish features. The hat was of black silk above with shadings of brown and blue and the lining beneath the brim was of the shimmering grey of the inside of a muscle shell. Upton really reveled in this hat—only to have it rejected the next day at headquarters, while an insipid little hat of dark blue straw with a cherry dangling at one side was pronounced a "winner."

Upton had not learned his lesson. In another daring mood he designed a hat that he said was inspired by a German air raid at night, though the millinery manager did not even attempt to see the similarity. He did admit, however, that the design was original and might do for a theatrical costume, but for his purposes—never. And that was consigned to the waste basket, where a few days before had gone the muscle shell hat and on another day a hat that had been suggested by the colors and shape of a spring onion. Upton had had them for dinner the night before and had actually carried one to his room, put it in water and taken his design from life. That also was among the failures.

Upton knew that onion hat of his was original. Still someone else must have designed it simultaneously. For a week later as Upton sat at dinner he looked up and there two tables off the very pretty golden-brown blonde who dined alone and seemed to have few friends—Upton had seen her often and not infrequently recalled her face and coloring when summoning up imaginary models in his room—there, sat the little blonde wearing the onion hat. Yes, it was exactly like the hat he had designed, with the colors as given in his sketch reproduced exactly. An expert milliner could not have reproduced the sketch more faithfully, and the little blonde was just the model for that hat. Upton was in a fever of excitement. He wanted to tell his friends of the coincidence, but to do so would have necessitated telling of his own role as hat designer.

Then—and this was really too much for Upton's peace of mind—the little blonde appeared one tempestuous spring night when the rain was pouring outside and the wind could be heard rushing around the window panes—she appeared in the hat that he had designed when thinking of an aeroplane raid at night, and in the eyes that had seemed all tenderness and mildness under the spring onion hat there was now a haunting look of distress and sorrow. But it was unmistakably Upton's hat. Then appeared the real masterpiece—the muscle-shell hat, and this seemed to suit the little blonde's face better even than the others. It was a marvelous hat and it was worn by a wonderful model. Upton noticed the eyes of other diners focused on it and he realized then his success in designing it, though he could not guess how the hat had been made. There was nothing at all striking in the cut or coloring of the hat—in the usual acceptance of the word. That it attracted attention was, Upton knew, simply because it was distinctive.

After that Upton's models were all alike. The little blonde face haunted him and the millinery manager asked him to try and vary the type of hats he designed. They were all made for the same type of face. Upton began to lose sleep. It was not so much the mystery of the matter, though it was odd enough to have another person extract ideas from your mind in this way and bring into realization so successfully your thwarted dreams. The thing was that Upton was very much in love with the little blonde and that the little blonde was not absolutely indifferent as to his existence he might have learned to his own satisfaction from the way her eyes dropped to her plate whenever he looked toward her at dinner.

Finally after she had been wearing the three hats for three weeks, he could stand the suspense no longer and he bravely followed her out of the dining-room one night, and with the manner of an old friend bade her a good evening. Not being repulsed, he sat talking with her in the hotel reception-room.

Upton was a very direct sort of person and even before he sought to solve the mystery, he told her that he was more interested in her than he had ever been in any girl before, and she, sweet, frank child that she was, told him that she was very glad of that, for she was lonely in the big city and didn't know any nice young men. That was encouragement enough even for a faint heart, and Upton's was not faint. Then Upton spoke of the hats. When he told her that he had designed them, she turned very scarlet, and said she didn't know that it was from his room the chambermaid had got them. She said she had come to the city to study millinery, as the only talent she had ever displayed was that of making her own hats. So she had come and had expected to succeed in the school until she discovered that to begin with the pupils had to draw their own designs of hats, and she simply could not draw. She told the chambermaid her troubles because she had no one else to talk to and was all but decided to return home when the chambermaid discouraged brought her the crumpled drawings from one of the waste baskets. She had taken them to school and passed them off as her own work. It was dishonest but she was eager to succeed. Then she had worked out the designs and she had taken every prize the school offered. One of her hats was going to be sent to the international millinery exhibit—the muscle-shell one. The instructors were wild over it. And a very well-known artist who gave them lectures on colors had declared that another was a masterpiece in tones. It suggested an air raid at night, he said, though she couldn't see how he thought that.

"So they are masterpieces, after all," Upton sighed, and before the evening was far spent they had not only settled all the plans for the wedding, but were dreaming dreams of starting an exclusive shop in which they would combine their talents.

THE MAN WHO WINS

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are businessmen they are successful; if they are workmen they get the fore man's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerve and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this, and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are pure a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men, vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women plump, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, begin to cure yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Major D. Smith of the A. M. C. has returned to the city after spending a few days at his home in Embro.

A quiet wedding of interest to Londoners took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Stonehouse of Glanworth, formerly of Lobo, when their daughter, Miss Ella, was united in marriage to Mr. George Axford of Westminster. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Kennedy of Talbotville in the presence of a few of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Axford will reside near Lambeth, where they will be at home to their friends after May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and family are in Clandeboye.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Silverthorn on Saturday, April 20, when their daughter, Jennie, was united in marriage to C. Welby Taylor, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor, Scotland, Ont. The drawingroom was beautifully decorated with a bank of flowers and ferns, supported by an arch of evergreen and daffodils, under which the ceremony took place. The bride entered the drawingroom on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, nicely played by Miss Gladys Bartholomew of Vanessa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. Vail, pastor of Scotland Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. J. B. Moore, of Waterford, the latter having officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents some 30 years previous. During the signing of the register solos were rendered by Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. James Elliott. The bride was prettily dressed in duchess satin with silk embroidered net overdress trimmed with shell pearl and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Myrtle McDiarmid, of Ancaster, who looked charming in a gown of pale yellow crepe-de-chine with georgette crepe and bead trimming, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Eugene Taylor. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served in the diningroom, which was decorated in yellow and white, the flowers being daffodils. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver; to the bridesmaid a necklace; to the pianist a pearl sunburst, and to the groomsman gold cufflinks. The high esteem in which the bride is held was shown by the many handsome gifts she received. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left on a short trip to Hamilton and points east, the bride wearing a fawn coat trimmed with navy blue and tailored hat to match. Upon their return they will reside in Scotland.

JAPAN MISSIONARY TELLS EXPERIENCES AT MISSION CIRCLE

Mrs. Cunningham of Japan Guest of First Methodist Missionary Society.

The Easter meeting of the Mission Circle of the First Methodist Church, held on Tuesday evening, was one of the finest meetings of the year. Mrs. W. D. Cunningham of Japan gave an address, telling in a fascinating way the wonderful story of the establishment of the Yotsuma mission of Tokio, Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham had been appointed by the mission board of the Christian Church of the United States, and were on the eve of leaving for their field, when Mr. Cunningham was suddenly stricken with paralysis. It seemed an end to their hopes. However, in a couple of years' time he was sufficiently restored to again offer himself, but the board, fearing that he would not be able to stand the hardships of foreign work, refused to send him. But the consciousness of God's call was so strong in him that he decided to go to Japan, trusting that the Master whom he served would open up his way. The very day they landed in Tokio Mr. Cunningham secured a position as a teacher, thus being able to support his family, and yet have leisure for his missionary work. And with this beginning, after sixteen years of faithful work in his parish of 82,000, he has built ten chapels, and visits as well nine outstations. The story, so splendidly, yet simply, told, seemed indeed like a modern miracle. The work from its inception has been maintained by voluntary contributions. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham are home on furlough in order to place their two daughters in school. In his childhood, when he lived in St. Thomas, Mr. Cunningham was called the "boy preacher." Miss McKillop of West Lorne is returning to Japan with the missionaries, to aid in kindergarten work. She also goes at her own expense. At this meeting Miss Kathleen Allen sang very beautifully "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and "Tell of the Love of Jesus." Miss Mabel Steven's rendering of Chopin's Waltz, Opus Posthume, was most artistic and enjoyable. A splendid audience was present, and an offering of $150 received.

Young London Girl Gives a Recital at U. S. Aviation Camp

Miss Lorna MacGillivray of This City Delights Soldiers With Harp.

A young London girl, Miss Lorna MacGillivray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. MacGillivray, Bellevue Heights, has had the honor of being the first harpist to play for a United States of America army camp. Some days ago Miss MacGillivray, who is a student in Memphis, Tenn., gave a recital in the Y.M.C.A. pavilion at Parkfield Camp, the United States aviation camp in the Broad Valley, Tennessee, near Memphis, several cadets in training in Texas flying over for the event. Memphis papers, the Scimeter and the Commercial Appeal, tell with enthusiasm of the event. The stage was draped with the Union Jack, Stars and Stripes and tri-colors of France, and when the young harpist, standing in front of the flag of her country, was introduced as "Miss Canada" by Major Horsbeck, an English officer, the great audience rose and gave her three cheers. Amid wild applause, the press accounts add, she was escorted to her harp, playing as her opening number the inspiring strains of "The March of the Men of Harlech." After her first number she was recalled three times. The principal of the college of oratory, in which Miss MacGillivray is a student, has also written, giving a glowing account of the event. Miss Lorna has been engaged to give another concert for the camp before returning home in June. She is a pupil, by the way, of Angelo Cortese, a former London boy, who is considered the finest harpist in America.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

She's From Guelph.

Dear Miss Grey.—May I take the pleasure of writing to you, and am I welcome to your little corner? I don't want to take up too much of your space, but I would be very pleased if you or any reader could help me in sending a few recipes for making chow-chow, ketchup or catsup, and for mixed pickles. I would be very thankful, and perhaps I may be able to help next time. I remain, A GUELPHITE.

Ans.—Of course, you are welcome to "our little corner," for if folks ceased to write us letters there soon wouldn't be any "little corner," and C. G. would be minus a job! Following are recipes for chow-chow and catsup. Can anybody else supply a method for mixed pickles?

Tomato Catsup—Slice tomatoes, boil and strain; to a gallon of juice add one quart cider vinegar and salt to suit taste; mix 1 ounce whole black pepper, 1 ounce whole allspice, ½ ounce whole cloves, ½ ounce whole ginger (bruised), and 3 red peppers cut in small pieces; place these spices in a cheesecloth bag and boil in the catsup two hours or more until of the desired thickness. Near the last add 1 pound brown sugar and ¼ pound of mustard, dissolved in a little cold vinegar.

Chow-Chow (Uncooked)—One head cabbage, ½ peck green tomatoes, 6 large green peppers, 3 onions, 1 ounce celery seed, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce whole black peppers, 1 ounce mustard seed, vinegar. Cleanse everything thoroughly and remove the seeds from the green peppers; chop all fine, salt well and let stand over night, in the morning drain well and add all the spice. Cover with cold vinegar, and seal in glass-top pint glass jars.

Chow-Chow (Cooked) — Three-quarts cucumbers peeled and cut fine, 1 quart onions chopped, 2 quarts whole small onions, 2 quarts cauliflower cut fine, 6 green peppers chopped. Put in crock, cover with hot brine and let stand over night. Drain and add 2 cups of granulated sugar, ½ gallon cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons mustard seed, 3 tablespoons celery seed. Let come to a boil. Make a paste of 2-3 cup flour, 1 pound mustard, ½ ounce turmeric. Mix with cold vinegar and stir in slowly. Stir quickly, and let boil for a few minutes.

A Real Perplexity.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am coming to you in great perplexity, and sincerely hope you can help me. I am an only child, and am of age, being 22 years old. My mother is rather an invalid, but able to get around and do nearly all the work. What I want to know is this: My father and mother say I'm to stay with them always and keep a position in my home town. They say my duty lies towards my mother, and I must always stay with them. In the meantime much objection is raised whenever a caller—gentleman—comes to spend an evening with me. The parents either take it upon themselves to entertain the "company," leaving me an onlooker, or else they are simply rude, making it extremely unpleasant. On the whole, they object to anyone spending an evening with me. Now, Miss Grey, do you think it is fair to myself to stay there without any pleasure outside of taking my mother out, and the worst of it, that she won't go out, thus obliging me to remain indoors? I'm young and full of life, and do so enjoy young friends, but cannot have them with any comfort. As I said before, I am of age. Could my parents force me to stay with them, when there is a splendid opening in another city? Can they take any means to stop me if I desire to go? Do you think it would be wrong of me to go?

Now, Miss Grey and readers, I would like you to help me and give me your opinions. Should I stay at home and take care of my parents until I'm not needed, or should I get out and give myself a chance? I have a good profession, and want to advance, but cannot in this town. Please, I beg of you, which is the right course to take? As you may know, marriage, etc., is out of the question as it stands.

Don't you think my parents are not good to me? They give me everything I want in the line of clothes or little gifts—everything except their love and affection and effort for me to have a jolly girlhood. I have often wondered how an agreement between us would work out. What do you think? In distress and perplexity, I remain as ever, gratefully,

VIRGINIA.

Ans.—You have placed before us a problem of much gravity, affecting at least three lives, Virginia. Do you really think it wise to appeal to strangers in making your decision? Of course, I suppose their opinions are apt to be more impartial than those of people who know you and your parents. It would, in fact, be interesting to know if your perplexity finds an echo in the heart of any other girl readers, as your letter is perused.

I may as well confess that I hesitate to advise Virginia myself, as I believe rather in each one making these important decisions personally. However, since she has asked for opinion—what have you to say, readers?

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

JIMMY COON AND MR S. JIMMY START NORTH.

It was a very pretty sight the next night at twilight to see the Robins gather at the Persimmon tree at the edge of the rice field for their long journey to the north. The Robins had enjoyed the winter very much in the Sunny South, but now that the early spring had come they got restless and they longed for the beautiful north, with their dear homes, the pretty orchards and the blooming gardens and fields.

The Robins had been flocking for some days, and they had said their "good-byes" to their southern friends. They had many hundred miles to travel over mountains, rivers, ponds, great forests, pastures, fields and running brooks before they reached their summer home in the far north. But they had no fear of losing their way. For Mother Nature had given each Robin a little compass in his heart, and all he had to do was to follow that wonderful inner voice, and use his strong wings, and in time he would reach his lovely summer home.

Jimmy Coon had no such wonderful compass in his heart. He could never have made the long journey alone; he would have been lost a thousand times. But Robin Redvest had kindly offered to show him the way to his home in the far north.

Robin Redvest ...ped down on the rail fence, and had a talk with Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy Coon.

When Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy reached the starting place—the Persimmon tree—Robin Redvest jumped down on the rail fence and had a talk with Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy Coon, and this is what Redvest said: "Now, Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy, you must do just as I say, or you will get lost. Now, we shall fly in that direction tonight, toward that high mountain. And we shall stop there for two or three days to get food and rest."

And Robin Redvest pointed his bill towards a distant mountain to the north.

And Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy nodded their heads and said together, "Yes, we see the mountain, and we'll travel on and on through the woods, until we find you."

And Redvest continued: "Now, of course, we fly much faster than you can run. But when we get to the top of the mountain, we shall rest and feed, as I told you; and we promise to wait until you overtake us."

"All right, Robin Redvest," spoke up the cheerful Jimmy Coon. "You can depend upon us, for we will keep running through the fields, pastures and forests until we find you on the top of the mountain."

"And remember this," said Robin Redvest. "We shall sing every night and morning in our great chorus; and you just follow that sound, and in time you will find us waiting for you."

Tomorrow—Jimmy Coon and Mrs. Jimmy on Their Long Journey.

SOLDIERS' WIVES LEAGUE MEETS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Association Will Divide Into Five Working Divisions.

The first regular meeting of the Soldiers' Wives League was held in the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, the election of officers taking place. This association, which was organized many years ago, and holding its last regular meeting about a year and a half ago, is again being brought to life to meet a great need. Mrs. A. A. Campbell, in speaking of the object of the organization, made this statement:

"None could oppose the re-organization of the league who knew about the conditions which prevailed last winter in this city. There were many soldiers' wives and families who needed sympathy, fuel and clothing during the terrible winter which has just passed, and this league, the active members of which are officers' representatives and sergeants' wives is being formed to meet just such a need in the future. Until the present-time conditions are improved, it is imperative that this organization go on."

At yesterday's meeting it was moved by Mrs. Hill and seconded by Mrs. Wilson that the work of the League be carried on in five different divisions, which shall be called respectively: Overseas, Returned, Enlisted, Disabled (including work among disabled children), and Pensioned, each division with its own convener.

The nominating committee appointed at the special meeting held but a short time ago, submitted its report, and the following officers were elected, Mrs. W. G. Coles taking the chair: Honorary president, Mrs. J. W. Little; honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. Becher, sr., Mrs. Gartshore Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Smallman and Miss Carling; president Mrs. A. A. Campbell; secretary, Mrs. A. T. Little; corresponding-secretary, Mrs. A. B. Becher; treasurer, Mrs. Cameron Wilson; vice-presidents, representatives of the different military divisions in London.

A membership committee composed of Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. White, Mrs Powis-Herbert and Mrs. Cartmer, was also appointed. The association from now on will hold regular monthly meetings for the purpose of carrying on the work.

DAILY BIBLE QUESTION CLUB

Suggestive Question on the Uniform Lesson for Sunday, April 28, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION, By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Jesus Rebukes Selfishness. (May be used with temperance application) Mark, 9:30-50.

Questions for Today.

11. Verses 36-37.—What is true humanity?

12. Is it literally so, or not, and why, that a good deed or a bad deed done to a little child is the same as if done to Christ?

13. Verses 38-40.—Why do certain denominations not permit any but ordained clergymen to officiate in their churches or preach in their pulpits?

14. If we find one today who, without any ecclesiastical authority, is preaching the gospel with power, what should be our attitude toward him?

Golden Text—If any man would be first, he shall be last of all.—Mark, 9:35.

A Selfish Man Cannot Be a Happy Man.

Many selfish men do make money and become rich, but no selfish man has ever been truly happy. All who observe their own experience must be convinced that real happiness comes from helping others, and not by making gain ourselves. Worldly gain has never yet succeeded in making any person contented; the more one gets, the more one desires, and no matter how great the gain acquired it never seems as big as we expected; the general effect it has upon a selfish man is a keener desire to make more. Unselfish rich men are happy, because they have the divine nature in them, and they hold their money subject to the call of God and the needs of their fellow-creatures. These only are truly happy, but it is not their wealth which makes them so.

RED CROSS AND W. C. A. COLUMN

A "Thank You" From Our Boys.

A printed pamphlet arrived at Hyman Hall recently containing nearly one hundred letters from soldiers at the front. They are all written to the C.W.C.A. headquarters in England, and are full to the brim of thanks for the many good things we women are constantly shipping overseas.

The Red Cross Society, we must remember, works only for the sick and wounded men and the prisoners of war. So the C.W.C.A. is its right hand, and does a much-needed work among the fighting men. These poor lads have to face such fearful hardships that it is a mercy some women's work can follow them right into the firing line and make their life less terrible.

All these letters pour out the gratitude of the boys for what we have done through the C.W.C.A. It seems absurd that they should be thanking us for the little we can do, when we remember that everything we possess we owe to them; yet, even the privileges of doing Red Cross and C.W.C.A. work.

And though each letter was written representing several hundreds of men, let us not forget that we are not doing nearly as much as we might to mitigate the dreadful hardships of these boys' lives. There are so many of them that even a ton of maple sugar and a thousand or two pairs of socks and a shipload of candles and sweaters don't go very far. We Canadian women are getting like the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe, and have so many children we don't know what to do.

Well, we do know that we must just knit and knit and knit, day and night, for this big family of boys—knit and sew and save money to buy them a football or a box of candy or a trench towel. And when we have got them all supplied, even then the thanks will all be due them for what they are doing for us.

Gifts for Byron.

Several women's societies throughout Western Ontario have been remembering our soldiers at Byron lately, and such generous gifts of good things have been coming in. Centenary Church Ladies' Aid (Ilderton), Salem Women's Institute, Ailsa Craig Young Ladies' Club, the Women's War Auxiliary (Seaforth) and Mrs. Crawford of Wilton Grove have been the latest donors.

Their generosity suggests that possibly all we women of Military District No. 1 might do more for the poor, sick lads who spend such long, weary days there at Byron, on the hard, uphill road to health. The hospital visiting committee of the Red Cross Society is unfailing in its effort, but the work grows heavier with each new contingent of wounded who arrive, and its must look to all the war-working women for help.

All sorts of dainties, such as the hospital cannot provide, would form a great treat for the sick boys. Fruit and flowers, ice cream and cake—a hundred things that kind hearts can think of—would help so much to make the days bright. The hospital fare is of the very best possible, but, of course, it cannot include the little dainties that tempt a sick man's appetite. And then when the fresh fruit season comes in we shall have no difficulty in choosing what to send.

How Much Money?

We are all holding our breath these days waiting to know how much money the campaign will bring us to carry on with. These busy needles and sewing machines eat up so much wool and flannel and cotton that the money goes out at a swift rate, and must come in as fast. But our faith in London is strong. We are sure we shall get all we and the men we are caring for need.

MARIAN KEITH,
Press Secretary.

KNITTING CONTEST NETS 388 PAIRS OF SOCKS

The knitting contest which has been going on in the eighth grade of Lorne avenue school has now come to a close, Miss Francis Brown's team winning. As a result of the contest 388 pairs of socks were turned in to the east end branch of the Red Cross. Great enthusiasm was shown among the little workers, even some of the boys helping to knit. Miss Beatrice Sherwin was the captain of the other team.

Canadian League Off, Says Knotty Lee

LEE ABANDONS IDEA OF CANADIAN LEAGUE

Knotty Gives Interview at Brantford, Saying That League Is Off, for This Season at Least—News to Jo-Jo Keenan.

BRANTFORD, April 24.—There will be no Canadian League baseball in Brantford this year. The announcement was made here today by T. J. Nelson and Fred Westbrook, following a visit to St. Catharines with Knotty Lee. While St. Catharines was considered a good prospect for a Canadian League, the general situation was considered such that postponement of the venture for another year at least was advisable.

Messrs. Nelson and Westbrook have plans for three cities in Michigan State, but a start at the organization was made too late this year. An ideal league can be formed, with Hamilton, Brantford and London on this side of the border, with short jumps for Sunday ball in Michigan.

Given League Idea Up.

Knotty Lee arrived here today from Niagara Falls and Lockport, N. Y., and stated he had given the proposition up for this year. Sunday ball cannot be played in New York State, and four Ontario teams would not be a success.

JOE KEENAN HASN'T HEARD.

Joe Keenan, manager of the London club in the proposed new Canadian League, stated to The Advertiser last night that he had heard nothing from Knotty Lee as to the abandoning of the idea of operating a league this season. Mr. Keenan said that he has been busy collecting men for this team, and now has a good squad in sight. The above dispatch was a surprise to him.

ALL OFF, SAYS LEE.

Toronto, April 25—"Knotty" Lee, the well-known baseball organizer, who has been trying to promote a Canadian League, has abandoned the project, he officially announced today. He was unable to stir up enough enthusiasm to make it worth while going ahead with the scheme, and he says he is through until after the war.

GERMAN-HELD RUSSIA WOULD JOIN UKRAINE

Amsterdam, April 25.—A deputation from the Crimea has arrived at Kiev to urge upon the Ukrainian Rada the incorporation of the Crimea in the Ukraine, according to a dispatch from Kiev to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin, by way of Vienna. The Government of Minsk and the District of Homel also have sent deputations requesting union with the Ukraine.

The German official statement of Wednesday said that German troops had reached Simferopal, capital of the Crimea. A great part of the Government of Minsk has been under German control for some time, as has Homel.

Gregg Holds Red Sox Tight and Philadelphia Scores Shutout.

DETROIT, April 24.—Detroit opened the local American League season today with a 5 to 2 victory over Cleveland, chiefly by bunching hits off Bagby in the first and third innings. Erickson was wild at times, but his team mates saved him with four fast double plays. Cleveland scored its two runs in the fifth, when Erickson passed three men and allowed two hits. Cobb made his first appearance of the season, and hit safely the first two times up. Patriotic exercises featured the opening of the season, and before the game Bill Donovan, the Tiger coach, auctioned off an autographed baseball for $400, the money going to the local navy recruiting office. Brig.-Gen. William A. Mann, commander of the east, threw out the first ball. Canadian soldiers, returned from France, and prominent actresses carried out a Liberty Loan drive before and during the game. The sum of $111,350 was subscribed. Score:

TAIL-ENDERS DEFEAT THE LEAGUE LEADERS

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—George Burns broke up today's southpaw battle between Ruth and Gregg, with a home run into the left field bleachers, with two men on bases, in the eighth inning, giving Philadelphia a victory in their opening home game.

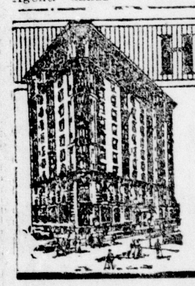

Gregg held his old team mates safely, scattering their six hits in as many innings. Bush, McInnis, Strunk and Schang, former Athletics, received presents from local fans. The crowd was small, due to the cold weather. Score:

SHUTOUTS MAKE CHRISTY MATHEWSON FANS' HERO

"Big Six" Always Does What Clark Griffith Avoided—Pitched 83 Runless Games in 16 Years He Was With New York Giants.

When Clark Griffith was a pitcher, one of the things he carefully avoided doing, unless he had to do it, was immersing a team in the whitewash bucket, and many a shutout the Old Fox had in his grasp he let escape by easing up in the ninth. Christy Mathewson, who broke into the National just as Clark Griffith was getting ready to break out of it, certainly went along on a different basis than Griff, for presenting the foe with consignments of whitewash was one of the Bucknell boxman's specialties. This specialty made Matty a great hero and a great drawing card. Griff, in his time, was neither—he was just one of the Chicago pitchers, undoubtedly the brainiest of the lot.

An Expert Whitewasher.

Just how expert a whitewasher C. Mathewson was is shown by the shutout records of the Giants for the last eighteen years, or since the National League owners reduced the circuit from twelve to eight clubs. The New York club in this time has hung 278 rows of horsecollars on the noble necks of the obstreperous opposition, Matty doing just about 90 per cent of these jobs.

"Big Six" kept his adversaries from the plate in 83 championship contests, pitching more shutouts for the Gotham team than any three of its other slabmen. And while Matty joined the Polo Grounders in 1900, he did only a little pitching for them that year, and he did none at all for them last season, his career as a Giant ending in July, 1916.

Eighty-Three Runless Games.

Matty, as told, pitched 83 runless games for the Giants. The no-tally contests hurled by Tesreau, McGinnis and Wiltse totalled 82, "Hooks" taking credit for 29 of these events, the Ozark bear hunter for 27 and the Iron Man for 26. No other New York pitcher passed the quarter-century pole.

The present leader of the Reds holds about every shutout record on the New York club. He was the only Giant hurler who ever reached double figures in whitewashes in one season, and the one man to blank all seven clubs during one pennant pursuit. The year Matty spilled the kalsomine the oftenest was 1908, when he pitched a dozen runless battles. The year he played no favorites in distributing zeroes was 1907.

HANK GOWDY LED LEAGUE WAS 594 AT KILLING STEALS

National String Lost Great Pegger When Gowdy Joined Army—Was Death on Steals.

The National League lost its best pegging backstop when Hank Gowdy enlisted.Sergt. Hank did not stay long enough in the parent organization last season to throw out more men than any of the other wind paddists, but he ranked first on the percentage basis, 69 attempts being made to steal on him and only 28 succeeding. He was a .594 thrower.

There weren't a great many men in the National who succeeded in thwarting half the steals that were tried. St. Louis had two such men, Philadelphia one, Pittsburg one, Chicago one, Brooklyn one and Boston, a stold, one. All the 55 receivers of 1917 except Gowdy will be visible on the National League circuit this year, though two of them will be wearing new uniforms, Bill Killifer having gone from Philadelphia to Chicago, and Art Wilson from Chicago to Boston. These were the seven men who stopped more than half the steals that were tried on them:

Gowdy, of the Braves, .594 thrower. Threw out 41 out of 69 men who tried to steal.

Snyder, of the Cardinals, .568 thrower. Threw out 88 out of 155 men who tried to steal.

Killifer, of the Phillies, .535 thrower. Threw out 84 out of 157 men who tried to steal.

Gonzales, of the Cardinals, .533 thrower. Threw out 49 out of 92 men who tried to steal.

Wagner, of the Pirates, .525 thrower. Threw out 31 out of 59 men who tried to steal.

Wheat, of the Superbas, .517 thrower. Threw out 15 out of 29 men who tried to steal.

Wilson, of the Cubs, .514 thrower. Threw out 54 men out of 195 who tried to steal.

Ivy Wingo was Cincinnati's best throwing catcher, and Lew McCarty New York's, their respective percentages being .492 and .355.

REDS MAY RELEASE MATHEWSON TO GO TO FRANCE FOR "Y"

Want "Big Six" to Organize Baseball League Among Soldiers.

New York, April 25.—A decision as to whether Christopher Mathewson will be released from the management of the Cincinnati Nationals in order to go to France to promote baseball among the American troops may be reached at a conference in Pittsburg tomorrow between Mathewson and August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Club. A telegram to this effect was received here from Mr. Herrmann today by William Sloane, chairman of the war work council of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Sloane yesterday sent telegrams to the Cincinnati president and Mathewson, asking that the manager be sacrificed from major league baseball so he might respond to an appeal received from France for Mathewson's services there. Mathewson is understood to be in Indianapolis today.

By a popular vote among the troops in France interested in baseball, Mathewson was selected as the man most desired to develop the game on the western front, according to a message received by Mr. Sloane yesterday from E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. activities in France.

MAGISTRATE LEGGATT IS BURIED AT WINDSOR

WINDSOR, April 24.—Funeral services for Police Magistrate Leggatt were conducted today at his late residence, 253 Sandwich street, by Rev. D. W. Collins, assisted by Rev. Arthur Carlisle. Interment was made at St. John's Cemetery. The pallbearers were: Police Inspector Wigle, Sergeants Giles, Dade and Jones, Patrolman Gates and Traffic Officer Best, while County Judge Dromgole, O. E. Fleming, K.C., Crown Attorney J. H. Rodd, T. M. Morton, F. W. B. Moore, George Mair, Dr. J. O. Reaume, Fred Wigle and Joseph Casgrain were honorary pallbearers.

Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, who is holding a non-jury sitting of the Ontario Supreme Court at Sandwich, adjourned the court at noon in order that the members of the legal profession might attend the funeral.

HOUSE AND HALL BURN IN BLAZE AT RUSCOMB

WOODSLEE, April 24.—Fire of unknown origin which broke out about 4:30 in the morning in C. A. Yorke's home at Ruscomb completely destroyed it, and spreading to the C. O. F. Hall adjoining, burned that building also. The M. C. R. station caught, but was saved by hard work. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knister and Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Knister occupied the house. There is no insurance. Some of the furniture was saved.

MAY ASK NEW TRIAL.

ST. THOMAS, April 24.—The seduction charge which was dismissed at the recent assizes may come up again shortly. A local railwayman is one of the principal figures in the case, and a new trial will be asked. Allegations that certain witnesses perjured themselves may be made and much new evidence offered.

TORONTO TO TRY OUT THREE AMATEUR PLAYERS

Leafs Will Give Three Queen City Stars a Chance to Make Good in "Pro" Game — Howley Gets Crack Catcher.

TORONTO, April 24.—Manager Dan Howley phoned at noon today from New York that he had signed Lew Wendell, catcher and utility infielder, who was with Rochester last season, and who played sensational ball against Toronto in the closing series of the season. Wendell belonged to the New York Giants, and is a husky chap.

Manager Howley said he would be home tomorrow at noon, and start the team in training. Today's practice was called off because of the cold weather.

TO TRY OUT AMATEURS.

TORONTO, April 24.—Alex. Hill, St. Marys Colts' crack left fielders and demon clouter, and conceded to be one of the most finished fielders in amateur ball circles, will be given a trial by the Toronto ball club. Hill had a chat with President McCaffrey last night, and at the conclusion Mr. McCaffrey said he would give Hill a tryout, and told him to report at the island.

Hill is the third amateur player who will be given a chance to show his wares. The other two are Pitcher Wilfred ("Lefty") Rutledge and Second Baseman Freddie Hamilton.

Is it a coincidence that this trio of amateur stars played together on the champion St. Marys Colts' team last year? Hamilton had a conference with President McCaffrey yesterday afternoon, and the Colts' second sacker will give his decision today. Hamilton is reluctant to take a whirl at the big stuff, for he realizes—and rightly so—that it is a huge contract for any amateur player to step into class AA ball and make good. In fact, it is next to impossible, and few amateur players have come through with the goods. Hamilton is not himself this year, and had decided to stay out of the game.

Hill Best Prospect.

In selecting Hill, the amateur fans who have followed the different leagues will argue that President McCaffrey has selected the best prospect among the amateurs for development in Toronto. Hill, who is only 22, is a big, rangy, loose-limbed lad, with a great flight of speed, and is a finished fielder. He is the fastest outfielder among the amateurs, and is a wonderful judge of a fly ball. He is also a dangerous hitter, gifted with natural hitting ability, and has a great eye for pitching, and stands up to the plate like a veteran. He is noted for long-distance hitting. George ("Pete") Irwin, the Judean star, who was the champion hitter with a .450 average, is the only outfielder who compares with Hill.

"JACK HENDRICKS' DAY" WITH WEEGHMAN'S CUBS

CHICAGO, April 24.—The National League season opened in Chicago today with a 2 to 0 victory for the locals over St. Louis. Vaughn held the visitors to one hit. It was "Jack Hendrix Day" in honor of the new manager of the St. Louis club, who is a Chicagoan. He was presented with a chest of silverware by his Chicago friends.

Meadows' wildness, coupled with opportune hitting by the Cubs, gave Chicago the victory.

Did Barrow Want Job With Red Sox? You Bet He Did!

Was Afraid to Ask for It for Fear He Would Get It.

BOSTON, April 24.—Ed Barrow, the new manager of the Boston Red Sox, said recently:

"I have a couple of hard-hitting outfielders in mind, and if I can secure them I am sure the Red Sox will win the pennant.

"It's funny how Frazee happened to pick me for this job of managing the Red Sox. Calling on him one afternoon he said to me: 'Well, Ed, it's about time for me to pick a manager. Barry can't get away from the navy.'

"I sat down to read a paper. Happened to look up and saw Frazee looking me up and down.

"'Say, Ed, I have just selected you as manager of the 1918 Red Sox,' he suddenly flung at me. 'Want the job?'

"Did I want the job? Say, I was so happy that I could hardly answer.

"'Well, Harry,' I finally replied. 'I wanted that job ever since I knew Jack Barry couldn't return, but I was afraid that if I asked for it you might say, "Get out of this opera house."'

"And that is how I was selected as manager."

CANADIAN COLORS WILL BE SEEN IN KENTUCKY DERBY

J. K. L. Ross Has Nominated Six Likely Colts for Event.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 24. — The colors of the Canadian sportsman, Capt. J. K. L. Ross, will be seen in the Kentucky Derby field for the first time this spring.

Capt. Ross is a lover of thoroughbred horses, and has gone quite extensively into the sport, having in the past year made purchases which put him in the front rank of turfmen. He has nominated six imported colts for the event. They are Hilhampton, an English-bred chestnut colt, by William Rufus-Estate, which raced prominently last year at Newmarket, England; Foreground, by Fugleman-Sketches; Bonnie Dance, by Lomond-Lawn Dance, which won the Phoenix Plate at Dublin, Ireland, last year; Coin Exchange, by Buckwheat-Glimmerglass, winner of the Juvenile Stakes and the Curragh Biennial Stakes at the Curragh, Ireland, meeting last year; Cause, by Lemberg-Wife of Bath, and Wigston, the son of Bavardo-Blue Tilt, which is bred on the most fashionable of English blood lines.

The arrival of the Ross horses at Churchill Downs will add to the already intense interest evidenced by racing followers in the coming meeting of the American and foreign-bred animals.

In the purchase of Cudgel from John W. Schorr, the Tennessee turfman, for a price said to exceed $30,000, and the acquisition of the stallion Marthon from J. B. Respass, of Covington, Ky., Capt. Ross has the nucleus in the matter of sires for his breeding establishment in Maryland. H. Guy Bedwell, who has led the list of horsemen in the number of races won by any stable for some years, has taken over the management of the Ross farm and racing string.

OPEN MEETING TO DISCUSS FIGHT

ST. PAUL, April 24.—Col. J. C. Miller, promoter of the Willard-Fulton fight, proposed for St. Paul on July 4, today decided to tentatively arrange for the bout, pending final decision by state authorities as to whether the contest would be allowed.

More protests were received at the capital today.

OPEN DISCUSSION.

ST. PAUL, April 24.—Chairman Frank B. Thompson, of the state boxing commission, announced this afternoon that an open meeting will be held at the capital on May 4, at which persons favoring or opposing the Willard-Fulton fight will be heard.

WILLARD AFRAID THAT HE WON'T MEET FULTON

Chicago, April 25.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, is skeptical regarding his proposed title bout with Fred Fulton, the Minnesota heavyweight. On his return today to Chicago Willard said:

"The difficulty encountered by Col. Miller in arranging for the bout at Minneapolis makes it look as though I won't get a chance to fight Fulton after all."

MINOR LEAGUES TAKE UP TORONTO'S CASE AGAINST COMMISSION

Try to Aid Leafs in Securing Schultz and Lalonge.

TORONTO, April 24.—The National Association of Minor League, of which John H. Farrell, president-elect of the new International League, is secretary, has taken up with the National Commission the cases of Joe Schultz and Mickey Lalonge of last year's Toronto club, who were recently awarded to the Kansas City club. Mr. Farrell evidently did not get any more satisfaction than the Toronto club, judging by the correspondence, but the end is not yet, and the National Commission will have a lot of trouble on their hands before they get through with this affair.

FRED GADSBY, FORMER BLUE LABEL PLAYER, TO TRY FOR LEAFS

St. Thomas Man Goes to Toronto for Once-Over by Howley.

Fred Gadsby, last year one of Ernie Dinsmore's star players on the Blue Labels, goes to Toronto today for a tryout with the Toronto baseball club. Gadsby, whose home is in St. Thomas, was well known here and was popular with fans as a good second-baseman. The Leafs got a line on him during the post-season tour of the All-Stars and the Toronto club through this district last fall. Manager Larry Lajoie singled him out as a comer and arranged to have him try out at Toronto this spring.

SULLIVAN'S SIGNALS BEST

To Billy Sullivan, former White Sox backstop, Fred Mitchell, Cub manager, gives credit for perfecting the best set of signals he had seen before. Mitch invented his famous thief-proof code for the Braves, which has been adopted by the Phillies through Dugey and Whitted, and which will be used by the Cubs this season.

"Billy was the despair of all opponents, who tried for years to discover the key to his signaling," said Mitch. "To all sleuths who observed Billy with the idea of copping off his signs he seemed to be making the same motions every time, yet the pitcher delivered various kinds of balls. Finally, in a game between the Athletics, with whom he played in 1902, and the White Sox, Lew Castro, the South American player, got wise to the system on second base.

"Lew tipped off the batter, and he singled. The other fellows were put next to the system, and we batted in enough runs to win, 5 to 4. As soon as we began to hit, Manager Clarke Griffith yelled to Sully that we had the signs, but Sully couldn't change them, and consequently he couldn't stop our hitting the rest of the game."

Pathe

The Simple "Why" of Pathe Superiority

SOME articles achieve fame by their intrinsic merit as viewed by the public. Others by the puff and blow of their producers. The Pathephone success is as simple as it is sure. It is due to its being an improvement upon anything which has come before it or since.

The original Pathe' Freres took the old-time talking machine and developed it until it is now the supreme achievement. Note these improvements: Instead of the old, scratchy, ever-changing steel needles—a genuine polished sapphire ball. Instead of a metal sound chamber—an all-wood one (on the violin principle). Instead of recording in narrow sound waves—a unique Pathe' method with long broad sound waves, more contact, more tone, richer music. Instead of "varnished boxes"—handsome cabinets—in historic period designs. Instead of playing only one or two kinds of records—the Pathephone will play all makes of records.

GRAIN.

Chicago, April 25.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 27¼; July, $1 49⅝.

Oats—May, 84⅛c; July, 74½c.

Chicago, April 25.—Warmer weather, likely to facilitate planting, had a bearish influence today on corn. Suggestions that advancing prices on grain were not in harmony with the Liberty Loan drive tomorrow, seemed also to have some effect as a handicap on the bulls. Trading was light and the market easily worked upon. Prices at the opening, with May at $1 27¾ and July at $1 49⅛@1 49½, were followed by a brief rally, and then a down turn lower than before.

Oats swayed with corn. Commission houses generally took the selling side on bulges. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, with May at 84⅜@84½c, the market hardened a little and then underwent a fresh sag.

LIVE STOCK.

COTTON TUMBLES.

New York, April 25.—The cotton market sustained another severe tumble this morning, prices breaking upward of $4 a bale, or about $10 a bale decrease in two days, and $35 from the highest of the season on April 4. July dropped to 26.76c, and October to 29.95c, representing new low levels for the season.

Wall Street was a heavy buyer early, but cotton came out in great quantities through warehouses with Southern connections, presumably reflecting favorable crop conditions and increased spot offerings. Japanese interests were large buyers on the break.

An active trade continues to be done in eggs, owing to the fact that the consumption all over the country is very heavy. LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, April 25.—The stock market opened quiet today, but was firm throughout, and business was more active after the publication of Field Marshal Haig's report. In the gilt-edge section the feature was the strength in war loan issues. Dutch loans were lower, owing to the political tension. Copper shares improved. Money was quiet and discount rates were tseady.

NEW YORK.

New York, April 25—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Price changes at the irregular opening of today's stock market were again confusing. Advances of 1 to 2½ points in Gulf States Steel, Sumatra Tobacco, Distillers, International Paper, Cotton Oil and Virginia-Carolina Chemical were balanced by a loss of 2¾ points in Royal Dutch Oil, and fractional recessions in United States Steel, the motors, coppers and active equipments. Dealings were light, the early lack of war news causing further restraint. Liberty bonds were easier.

Noon.—Many inactive specialties extended their gains in the first hour, chiefly fertilizers, Tennessee Copper and such utilities as Philadelphia Company, United Railways and Ohio Gas. Mexican Oils were unaffected by the break in Royal Dutch, which reflected tension in the relations between Holland and Germany. Later the market become dull and irregular, war bulletins exerting their usual influence. American Telephone was freely offered, losing almost 2 points.

ENEMY PAPERS SHOW WAR WAS LONG PLANNED

Von Papen's Documents Prove Kaiser and War Lords Liars.

PREPARING MARCH, 1914

Letters to "Fired" Military Attache Expose German Government.

Washington, April 25.—Repeated declarations of the German Emperor and Hindenburg and Ludendorff that the war was forced upon Germany, and assertions from the same sources that Germany was taken by surprise by the Russian mobilization, attaches particular interest to certain papers taken from Capt. von Papen, late military attache at Washington.

Among the papers which have been published by the British Government in a white book appears a letter from R. von Wild of the German war ministry in Berlin to Capt. von Papen, seeking information regarding the best means of blowing up railroad trains "in the event of a European war." The significant point is that this letter was written March 12, 1914, about five months before the outbreak of war. This letter says: "According to newspaper reports several railway trains were blown up by revolutionaries during the troubles in Mexico. In order to form an opinion whether, in the event of an European war, explosions of this kind would have to be reckoned with, it is requested that, if possible, information should be obtained as to how these attacks have been carried out. Were mines and explosives placed on lines which were little guarded, or were the attacks carried out on the train by igniting a charge of dynamite, or by the employment of infernal machines?"

Von Papen Replies.

Capt. von Papen replying from Mexico, where it is now known that he was industriously planting the seeds of German propaganda and establishing connections for Germany to use in the event that she should war upon the United States, did not regard the operations of the American revolutionaries as of any particular value. For, four months later, he wrote from Mexico City:

"I am convinced from personal evidence that all the recent cases of destruction of railway lines by explosion were brought about by burying dynamite under the line itself and then igniting it by an electric current as soon as the train has reached the appointed place. I consider it out of the question that explosions prepared in this way would have to be reckoned with in an European war. They are only possible on lines that are ill-guarded, which, as in this country, often pass for miles through revolutionary districts, and have no protection other than a pilot train. . Infernal machines, so far as I know, have never been employed."

Another Proof.

Another letter to von Papen from the manager of the Potsdam branch of the Discono Gesellschaft has this postscript: "P. S.—We have never before seen such preparations for war as are being made at present. German Government stocks fell today one per cent. Kind regards. —R. Mimel."

This letter was regarded as of particular interest by the British compilers of the correspondence in view of its date—July 25, 1914, while negotiations were still in progress to avoid war.

DISTRIBUTES ESTATE OF $112,380 VALUE

Will of Late Jeffrey Hale Makes Bequests to Children.

The will of the late Jeffrey Hale, whose death occurred on February 5 last, shows that he left an estate valued at $112,380. The document drawn up on September 20, 1909, names four beneficiaries. They are: Mrs. Louisa Galt Hale, widow of the deceased; Major George Carleton Hale, a son; Mrs. Jessie Campbell Hensley, a daughter, and Mrs. Mary Caroline Percy Tennent, wife of Rev. Percy Tennent, vicar of Acomb, Yorkshire. Major G. C. Hale and George Stephen Hensley of Edmonton are named as executors.

Each of the children of the late Mr. Hale, for years manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, will receive $15,000, and Mrs. Tennent $2,000.

The remainder of the property will be invested and the income utilized by the widow during her lifetime, and after her death to be divided equally between the two children.

Stocks, cash, insurance and personal effects represent $111,608.22, the balance being in real estate.

NO COURT SESSION.—Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon did not find it necessary to ascend the police court bench this morning. One citizen, a teamster, charged with a violation of the traffic bylaw, called before court and contributed $2 and costs. Since the bonedry legislation prohibiting the importation of liquor from Quebec, a marked decrease has been noticed in the number of liquor law infractions.

Doubles Donation To Patriotic Fund To Put Tank "Over"

"Nothing Matters If Britain Loses," Wires Ex-Ald. Parnell From Winnipeg.

"Nothing matters if Britain loses. Make it $1,000. ED PARNEL."

This is the way ex-Ald. Edward Parnell, now of Winnipeg, but head of the Parnell Bread Company of this city, regards the necessity of London going "over the top" in its patriotic funds' drive. Yesterday his son, F. E. Parnell, manager of the local branch of the Parnell Bread Company, telegraphed to his father at Winnipeg that the campaign was not going as well as it might. The response of Mr. Parnell Sen., which speaks for itself, just doubles the firm's contribution for $500, which had already been donated by the company.

The telegram is regarded as one of the most cheering incidents in the day's final drive to reach the objective of London's fund.

PRAYER SERVICES IN CRONYN HALL TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK, TOO

Ministerial Alliance Decides to Continue Them.

Today's noon-day prayer service in Cronyn Hall was marked by a large attendance. Rev. W. E. Pescott of Dundas Centre Church, assisted by Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of Western University, and Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae, formerly of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, conducted the service.

At the close of the service a special meeting of the Ministerial Alliance was held, at which it was decided to continue the noon-day meetings next week. Bishop Williams has kindly offered the use of Cronyn Hall next week for this purpose. The meetings will be conducted under the auspices of the various denominations of the city.

BIG SAFETY MARGIN IN LONDON'S WATER RESERVE THIS YEAR

Capacity Increased by 2,100,000 Gallons, Says Manager.

London should have an ample supply of water this summer to meet all needs, according to General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the utilities commission. Last summer there was sufficient water, and this year the supply will exceed the 1917 one by 2,100,000 gallons. This is brought about by the addition of two Foster wells.

At present two Foster wells are being used, 1,600,000 gallons of water being pumped from these wells every 24 hours. Another 1,000,000-gallon pump will be installed within a month's time. Last summer only 500,000 gallons per day were pumped from the Foster wells.

DIFFERENCES FROM NEW TIME SETTLED AT WHITE FACTORY

The Daylight-Saving Measure Brought Employees' Protest.

Difficulties, which grew out of the imposition of daylight saving, between the employees and the firm of George White & Sons have been satisfactorily adjusted.

When daylight saving came into force the men objected to what they regarded as coming to work an hour earlier. The matter was taken up with the management, and has been adjusted by an agreement that the men should come to work at 8 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock, and should work nine hours a day, including Saturday.

PAST MASTERS PUT ON DEGREE WORK IN WAY TO IMPRESS MEMBERS

Hackett Lodge, L. O. L., Has Unusually Successful Meeting.

A large crowd was present at the semi-monthly meeting of Hackett L. O. B. L., No. 805, held in No. 1 District Orange Hall, Market Lane, Wednesday evening.

Six new applications were received, and if eligible, will be initiated at the next regular meeting, to be held on the second Thursday in May. Five candidates were initiated into the secrets and mysteries of the association, and six others were advanced to the Royal Blue Degree, and ten to the Royal Arch Purple Degree.

The Royal Arch degree was conferred by the past masters of the lodge, who did their work in real old-fashioned style.

Wor. Master J. W. Carson occupied the chair, and conducted the business of the meeting in an excellent manner. The meeting was a memorable one and the candidates were greatly impressed with the work.

The past masters were: Wor. Bros. Joseph Murray, Capt. Douglass, James Moorhead, Nelson Langford, Thomas B. Fox, Renest Langford, Gordon Walker, R. Carswell and A. Nevin. They were assisted by several other brethren.

The hall was filled to capacity, visitors being present from Kincardine L. O. L., Birr, Lucan, Granton, and all the city lodges. Eloquent addresses were given by a number of the prominent members. Refreshments were served before the lodge was closed, after one of the most successful meetings held here for a long time.

WHERE IS ORDER? IS QUESTION WHICH HAS NO ANSWER

Strange Mystery Over Power Ruling Grows Deeper.

FAILS TO APPEAR YET

No One Knows Anything Further of London Electric Operation.

The local power situation is still "in the air."

Sir Henry Drayton may have issued an order that the London Electric plant shall operate and take over the load of the London street railway, there are few that doubt that such an order has been issued, but the skeptical are asking "Where is the order?"

Mayor C. R. Somerville, Chairman Pocock and General Manager Buchanan of the utilities commission, are without further advices on the question.

Chairman Pocock is positive the order has been issued. That is all he knows about it. He has had no advices on the case. He suggests that there are some details to be worked out and this is delaying the sending on of the order.

Conjectures, however, are of little use in face of the fact that nothing further has been received in the city about the order other than what Chief Engineer Gaby told Manager Buchanan he "understood" from Sir Adam Beck.

Manager C. T. Barnes of the London Electric knows nothing "for publication." At least this is supposed to be the fact. Mr. Barnes says he has had no instructions from his principal whatever. In hydro circles there are other rumors, however, and it is said that there may be a start made this afternoon at replacing the London Electric plant.

In the meantime, the power controller has sent out a new order regarding store lighting. Some of the storekeepers have discovered that strong lights just inside their stores, make up in a measure for the lack of window lighting. There are offenders of this nature in London. To overcome this, an order has been made limiting store lighting to one watt per cubic foot. This is a generous allowance, but there are said to be stores in London with at least double this. They will have to cut their lights down.

BRITISH GUN LOSSES WERE ALL MADE GOOD

London, April 25.—The British have lost nearly 1,000 guns, between 4,000 and 5,000 machine guns, and the total manufacture o fammunition between one and three weeks since the present battle in France began, Winston S. Churchill, minister of munitions, told the House of Commons today. All these losses have been made good.

STEFANSSON VERY ILL AT HERSCHEL ISLAND; HELP SENT EXPLORER

Fort Yukon, Alaska, April 25.—Bringing an appeal for a doctor by Vilhajalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, who lies dangerously ill on Herschel Island, a messenger reached here late yesterday after a record trip.

In a message carried by the courier Stefansson told of delays, after being stricken with typhoid and pneumonia, followed by complications.

A Northwest mounted policeman and two Eskimos have died of typhoid, while several others are ill, the messenger said.

A doctor is on his way to Herschel Island from here, starting several days ago upon learning of Stefansson's illness. Stefansson's message said: "Ill fifty days. Still running. Temperature 102. Had typhoid and pneumonia, followed by complications. Managed to get to Herschel Island. Have been taken care of by missionaries."

THE WAR SITUATION

Yielding only slightly at the first shock of the German assault in the renewal of the drive in the great battle south of the Somme, the British and Franco-American lines are now standing firmly against the desperate continuing assaults of the enemy.

On the 10-mile front south of the Somme, where the intense force of the blow has been concentrated, the British have lost Villers-Bretonneux, and the French the village of Hangard-en-Santerre. Already Field Marshal Haig's forces have begun to react strongly. In the vicinity of the former places they have regained ground around it, and considerably improved their general position. Hangard has once before been in German possession during the Somme battle, and it changed hands twice in the present fighting before the French drew out of it and established themselves firmly on its western edge. The Germans have repeated attempts to debouch from the place but each time the French were solidly in the way.

Germans Desperate.

The fighting is continuing today, with the Germans desperately struggling to make the considerable headway they must if they are to gain anything but relatively valueless local advantages. Thus the decision in the renewal of the battle is by no means in favor of either side.

Meagre gains of the enemy, however, after a pause long enough for him to bring up his heaviest artillery, and when he must have been at the pinnacle of his strength, may well be compared with the sweeping successes achieved in the beginning of the battle last month, when he won miles of ground a day and captured tens of thousands of prisoners. Meanwhile the Germans have not abandoned temporarily, their efforts on the battlefront. They are centring their blows on the sector dominated by Mount Kemmel, with the object of forcing the defenders from this bulwark. They attacked the French last night in the region northeast of Bailleul, and after being repulsed returned to the attack today with assaults in the same sector and on the British front further east.

"Official permission for the issue of these securities, as required by Order-in-Council (3439) of December 22, 1917, has been duly obtained. Such permission, however, does not constitute an approval of the issue as regards its merits or security in any respect. It signifies merely that the sale of these securities is not considered to be incompatible with the requirements of Canadian war finance."

MAIL PARCEL EXPLODES IN MONTREAL HOUSE; FOUR PERSONS INJURED

Montreal, April 25.—A loud explosion followed the opening of a box delivered by a postman at the home of D. Boivin, 1017 Deserables street, this morning. The explosion blew out all the windows in the house and painfully scorched Mrs Boivin, her 16-year-old daughter, and her 9 and 7 year old boys.

Examination of the parts of the box found in the house by experts show that a revolver was exploded when the lid was raised,a bullet from which entered a receptacle containing dynamite and detonated it.

The box was posted in Montreal, the police assume, by some enemy of the family.

KUEHLMANN, CZERNIN ACTED SCANDALOUSLY WHILE AT BUCHAREST

London, April 25.—Count von Hertling, the imperial German chancellor, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, is officially reported to have brought a suit against the Deutsche Zeitung of Berlin for an article published Wednesday in which Dr. von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, and Count Czernin, the former Austro-Hungarian secretary, were attacked. The newspaper asserted that the two statesmen during the negotiations at Bucharest acted in a manner which abased their countries. Secretary von Kuehlmann, it was represented, was seen often with a well-known member of the underworld, while Count Czernin every evening visited a theatre where dancing girls were among the performers.

The German Liberal newspapers, it is added, sharply criticize the Deutsche Zeitung, saying that Dr. von Kuehlmann has not done anything worse than is often witnessed by the Berlin population when the annual meetings of peasants are held in the German capital.

The Vorwawerts says: "The entire affair is like an intrigue at the court of Louis XIV. The plotters went with their accusations about Dr. von Kuehlmann's 'immorality' to a very highly-placed lady, who is well known for her strict moral code, through whose influence they hoped to achieve his downfall."

GUELPH GIRLS UNABLE TO PLAY NEW ST. JAMES

Mrs. John A. Rose, manager of the New St. James' basketball team, received a letter from the Guelph Collegiate Institute girls team on Wednesday, in which Guelph turned down the locals' challenge for an exhibition series. Guelph won the Whyte trophy, and New St. James challenged them to a series of home-and-home games. The Guelph girls were willing to play the series but the principal of the Guelph Collegiate refused to permit them to play owing to the nearness of the examinations.

COSTLY LIMA, O., FIRE

Lima, Ohio, April 25.—Federal agents today are investigating three fires which broke out simultaneously in the Lake Erie and Western Railroad shops here last night, and practically destroyed the plant, valued at $500,000. One arrest has been made, and it is said others may be made during the day.

Property loss included at least ten locomotives urgently needed in war work, a new train of troop coaches, just completed, and a score of other coaches. Ten thousand dollars' worth of Liberty bond subscriptions were burned in the office of the shops. For some time a considerable part of Lima was threatened by the fire.

NO INVESTIGATION OF BOLO'S DOINGS TO BE MADE HERE

Mr. Rowell Replies in Negative to Question.

MEWBURN IN MUDDLE

Premier Says He Should Explain M. S. A. Regulations.

OTTAWA, April 24.—Hon. Charles Murphy in the House this afternoon asked if the Government was aware that in a report from Perley, Morse & Co. of New York to the attorney-general of New York State it was disclosed that Bolo Pasha had transferred the sum of $170,000 from his account in the Royal Bank of Canada to J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Murphy asked further if the Government had taken any steps to investigate the dealings of Bolo Pasha in Canada.

To each of the questions Hon. Mr. Rowell replied "No."

Mr. Baldwin asked if at the time the Government took over the Ross rifle factory the British Government had stated that it was in a position to manufacture all the Lee Enfields needed.

Major-General Mewburn—The British Government had at the time of the taking over of the Ross rifle factory stated that it was in a position to supply Canadian troops with the necessary rifle."

Mr. Rowell Says "No."

Mr. Casgrain questioned if prior to the general election last December the president of the privy council, Hon. N. W. Rowell, had an interview with Rev. Dr. Chown, Rev. Dr. Shearer and Rev. Ben Spence regarding the question of temperance or Dominion-wide prohibition.

Hon. Mr. Rowell—No.

Before the orders of the day were called Dr. J. E. Fontaine of Hull referred to the shooting of a man in that city by a member of the military police enforcing the military service act. He asked what information the Government had about the shooting.

Sir Robert Borden replied that the minister of justice would probably be in a position to make a statement with regard to this matter tomorrow.

Mewburn Should Explain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the minister of militia would confer a favor if he would explain clearly the meaning of all the new regulations under the military service act. Premier Borden agreed that it might be advisable to have a full explanation by the minister of militia and a discussion of the regulations.

Hon. Jacques Bureau asked the minister of militia whether men coming into medical category D would be required to report for service.

General Mewburn explained that registrars would be instructed to notify men who were physically fit. What was wanted was men who had been passed by the medical boards. Those who had not passed would not be required to report, and there was no intention of disturbing them at present.

Third reading was given to the $500,000,000 war appropriation bill.

Rapid headway was then made with Government bills. Third reading was given to the bill to encourage the organization and co-ordination of employment offices, and to the bill to amend the Indian act. The act to amend the companies act was then given a second reading and reported from committee.

Two hours of the afternoon sitting were spent in committee discussion of a bill presented by the minister of trade and commerce regarding the inspection of hay and straw. The discussion was still in progress when the committee rose for dinner recess.

MACKENZIE'S BILL TO HYDRO WILL GO UNPAID, SAYS BECK

Electrical Development Company Would Charge "Steam" Prices.

TORONTO, April 24.—Sir Adam Beck says that the hydro has no intention of paying the bill rendered by Sir William Mackenzie's company for the 13,500 horsepower which the power controller, Sir Henry Drayton ordered to be supplied to the hydro.

"Last November they took off three units, or 40,000 horsepower, from our supply at Niagara," stated Sir Adam. "The power controller ordered that they should give us back one unit, or 13,500 horsepower, but when they rendered their account they charged us for steam prices."

"What do you think of Manager Fleming's statement that the figures given by the hydro regarding the power it supplies to munition plants is rubbish?" asked a reporter.

"When Bob Fleming says that, he has no idea of what he is saying. If he will check up his own affairs we shall attend to ours. Unless all our engineers, who are university men, are scoundrels or are liars, I think that their figures shall be accepted," declared Sir Adam. "But what is the Electrical Development Company doing about these essential and non-essential industries?" he asked.

"We cut off a firm at Niagara Falls because we considered it was non-essential, and Mr. Fleming's company took it up. We were supplying them with power at $12.50 and they are charging $25 for it."

ENEMY DRIVEN FROM HEIGHTS DOMINATING THE VARDON VALLEY

Allies Push Advantage and Capture Two More Villages.

PARIS, April 24.—The official statement from Macedonia reads:

"Eastern Theatre, April 23.—Very spirited fighting activity has continued in the various sectors. The day was marked by a series of new successes for our troops. West of Doiran British detachments penetrated the Bulgarian trenches on an extended front; they destroyed shelters and inflicted very serious losses on the enemy. In the region west of the lakes a mobile reconnoitering column operating north of Davoli drove the enemy from the line of heights which dominate the right bank of the Vardar Valley, and pushing beyond, occupied the villages of Sals and Strelca, taking prisoners. On both sides of the Cerna bend and on the Serbian front we repulsed several enemy attacks, notably a new attempt by the Bulgarians to retake the work which the Serbians captured April 21."

AMERICAN AVIATOR WINGS TWO HUNS

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Major William Thaw, commander of the Lafayette squadron, brought down two German airplanes April 20, a dispatch from Paris today announced.

GALT.—Rev. A. A. Hovey of Hamilton, N. Y., has accepted a call to become pastor of the South Water Street Baptist Church, and will assume his duties here on June 9.

IS PARIS OR THE CHANNEL THE ENEMY'S OBJECTIVE?

Is the enemy driving at Paris, or is he striving for possession of the Channel Ports? Recent news of his offensive shows him attacking defences south of Arras at a point which is 60 miles from the coast, while the greatest depth of his drive reaches to a point little less than 60 miles.

WESTERN ONTARIO BRIEFS

Owen T. Gablin, 24, whose home is near Seaforth, has been brought to London from Sarnia, where he was turned over to the Dominion police after attempting to cross to the States. He had an exemption as a farmer, but no permit to leave Canada.

Two London boys were taken in charge by the Sarnia police on their arrival there Tuesday night. One is still being held while the parents of the second sent on money for his return ticket to London.

Bert Bradley, a hydro electric lineman, was instantly killed at Harriston when he touched a live wire. It was the second death from the same cause at the same spot.

At a Conservative caucus in Goderich it was decided to recommend ex-Mayor Charles Reid as magistrate to succeed W. E. Kelly, resigned.

Sarnia's patriotic campaign objective is set at $75,000. The campaign will be held in May.

Capt. Kenneth Torrance, M.C., son of R. L. Torrance, manager of the Royal Bank at Guelph, has been promoted to brigade major in the imperial army. In a letter home he says: "We are confident that we can hold the Hun now."

Miss Roberta MacAdams, M.P.P. of Alberta, the soldiers' representative in the provincial legislature, addressing the Winnipeg Woman's Canadian Club yesterday paid the greatest tribute to the way English women are "carrying on" with war work. Miss MacAdams will visit her old home in Sarnia before returning to the front as a nursing sister.

The Waterloo county board of agriculture has passed a resolution calling on all residents of the country to work for greater production.

Donald McMillan of Alexander, had his collarbone and shoulder broken when a culvert gave way and threw him under a load of logs.

Daniel Mathews, former reeve of Simcoe and of Wingham Township, died at Simcoe in his 77th year.

The funeral of Police Magistrate Leggatt of Windsor was held on Wednesday from his residence to St. John's Cemetery. The active pallbearers were members of the Windsor police force. Honorary pallbearers were members of the Essex County bar and personal friends. As a mark of honor the non-jury sitting of the supreme court at Sandwich was adjourned at noon by Sir Glenholme Falconbridge in order that the members of the legal profession could attend the funeral.

An advance in hydro rates at St. Thomas is forecasted.

Fire destroyed the home of C. A. Yorkes, Woodslee, and the C. O. F. hall. The M. C. R. station caught fire but was saved by hard work.

Further charges are expected to follow in the wake of the whiskey stealing case at Blenheim, in which nine men have been arrested for the theft of liquor from a bonded car at the station. Information has been laid against two more men for breaches of the O. T. A.

Farmers in the vicinity of Duart have been unable to secure spring wheat seed. The fact that the Government called for greater production of spring wheat and then failed to supply sufficient seed is the subject of adverse criticism. Although spring wheat has not been a profitable crop in Duart district many intended sowing it this year.

Accidental discharge of a revolver shot away two toes of Glen Smith, son of Gordon Smith of Woodslee.

On account of the increased cost of coal, Guelph water rates have been increased by reducing the discount to 10 per cent.

MARINES HUNTED HUNS FOR HOUR ON ENEMY MOLE

Chased the Germans Through Sliding Doors and Underground, Using Grenades.

London, April 25.—British marines who landed on the mole at Zeebrugge, according to an article in the Daily Mail, say that when the cruiser Vindictive got alongside the mole, it was found that of the fourteen gangways aboard all had been shot to pieces except two, which were damaged and shaky. Nevertheless, the men, headed by Capt. Edward Bamford and Lieut. G. C. Cooke, dashed over and landed on the first ledge of the mole, but lost severely from the terrible shellfire. From the ledge there was a wall to be climbed, and then a drop of 20 feet which was negotiated by ropes and rope ladders.

Chased Germans.

"They tried to take our ladders," said a marine, "but we let them come within ten yards and then blew them away with grenades. Everyone of us had grenades, and we made the place lively with them for an hour. We chased the Germans through sliding doors and underground passages. Some of them ran, but others got into corners and sniped at us with rifles and machine guns.

"Evidently they were prepared for a possible attack, as the whole place was stuffed with machine guns."

Charged Gun Crew.

"After sinking a German destroyer, we forced our way ashore at the point of the bayonet and charged a gun crew which had been giving much trouble, killing many, and dispersing the rest, and capturing the gun. When we got back, the Vindictive presented a sad plight. The upper decks were slippery with blood. The cries and moans were heartrending. All around lay dead, dying and wounded."

ALLIED AERIAL ARMY HAD GERMANS BLIND FOR AN ENTIRE WEEK

And on Day Boches Again Ventured Out Their Champion Was Killed.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS, April 24.—Via Reuter's Ottawa agency.—In a recent battle our airmen were assigned a new role. Our high command had foreseen that the enemy's advance would follow the roads leading towards Amiens, and consequently aerodromes of battle squadrons were so distributed as to flank and not face the line of the enemy's progress. Immediately battle was engaged in, our air squadrons not merely reported the movements, but delayed them by attacking troops and trains.

During the first two days of the battle mists prevented activity, but on March 23 there ensued the most severe air battle yet fought. The German air service was thought to have been defeated, and until March 29 we had unchallenged mastery of the air. For a week the German army was without eyes or ears. On the latter day the ill-fated Baron von Richthofen and his squadron appeared on the battlefield, but it was then too late. The delay the air service caused the Germans meant hours of invaluable time.

ALLIES CHECK

FOE STRIKES TWO BLOWS.

London, April 24.—After three weeks of preparation in the Somme, during which time they launched an offensive in Flanders, the Germans have resumed their hammering at the front door of Amiens. For days there has been heavy artillery firing along the northern sectors of the Somme salient, and finally the German infantry began their attempts to advance on the line passing Villers-Bretonneux, Hangard-en-Santerre and Castel. The first attacks were repulsed, but subsequent attacks centred about Villers-Bretonneux have caused a British withdrawal from the village, according to a report from Field Marshal Haig. This marks a German gain of about a mile. The French official statement says the enemy gained a footing in the woods north of Hangard-en-Santerre and in the eastern outskirts of the village.

Villers-Bretonneux is about eleven miles directly east of Amiens, and is on the northern end of the latest fighting front. It is situated between the Somme and the Luce Rivers, and while it is flanked on the south by the low-lying ground it is backed by rolling hills to the west and northwest.

Another Blow in Flanders.

This new drive has been made at the same time that another blow has been struck at the British and French lines northeast of Ypres. Savage fighting is reported at various points along the line from Bailleul to Merville, and Berlin claims that heights to the northeast of Bailleul have been stormed. Coincident with these attacks there have been assaults on the British forces near Bethune along the Lawe River, but there have been repulsed.

On the front in France, with the exception of the Somme salient, there has been little fighting of an unusual nature.

An attack on this particular part of the line in the Somme region had been expected. Recently a French counter-offensive at Castel won back considerable ground, and it was evident that unless the line farther north could be advanced materially, the Germans had little chance to make important gains in their operations to the south of Amiens.

VILLERS-BRETONNEUX AFTER LONG FIGHTING.

LONDON, April 24.—Field Marshal Haig reports that the Germans have taken Villers-Bretonneux.

The text of the statement reads:

"About 6:30 this morning, after a violent bombardment, the enemy attacked our whole front south of the Somme and the French on our right and was repulsed.

"Later in the morning an attack on this sector was repulsed, and although repulsed with loss on the southern and northern positions of the front, made progress at Villers-Bretonneux, where the fighting had been severe throughout the day. By evening the enemy had gained possession of the village, and the fighting was continuing.

"Other attacks by the enemy this morning on the north bank of the Somme and north of Albert were repulsed; we secured a few prisoners.

"By a successful local operation carried out this morning north of Festubert, a post captured by the enemy in this locality on the 22nd was regained. The hostile garrison offered strong resistance and lost heavily. We captured a few prisoners and machine guns.

"Early in the morning the enemy delivered a strong local attack without success, against our new positions east of Robecq. Our line was maintained intact and eighty-four prisoners were left in our hands. Additional prisoners were secured in successful minor enterprises in the forest of Niepe and in the neighborhood of Meteren."

FOE ENTERS WOOD NORTH OF HANGARD.

PARIS, April 24.—The battle on the whole front south of the Somme and on the Avre lasted all day and still continues, according to the war office announcement tonight. The Germans gained a footing in the woods to the northward of Hangard-en-Santerre and also in the eastern outskirts of the village, which the French are desperately defending.

Several enemy assaults were shattered near Hailles and attacks at Senecat wood and Hill 82 also failed.

The statement reads:

Americans Under Attack.

"An intense bombardment of the Franco-American positions south of the Somme and on the Avre was followed by a German attack carried out all along this front by a considerable force at 5 o'clock in the morning. The efforts of the enemy were directed against Hangard-en-Santerre, the region of Hailles and Senecat wood.

"South of the Avre the battle, which lasted all day, continues at the present hour. It was particularly stubborn in the region of Hangard. After a series of furious assaults the enemy succeeded in gaining a footing in the wood north of Hangard, as well as in the eastern outskirts of the village, which our troops are desperately defending.

Beaten Elsewhere.

"The fighting was less violent in the neighborhood of Hailles. Several enemy assaults directed against the ridge east of the village were broken down by our fire and our counter-attacks.

"Farther to the south the Germans were similarly checked in their attempts against Senecat wood and Hill 82, which remained entirely in our possession. On the right bank of the Meuse the artillery was quite active."

GERMANS USE TANKS IN DRIVE ON VILLERS.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, April 24.—2 p.m.—By The Associated Press—Hard fighting developed this morning on the southern battle front, the enemy attacking south of the Somme along the line of Villers-Bretonneux, Hangard-en-Santerre Hailles and Castel.

Early developments indicated that the Germans were trying only for limited objectives.

On the British sector, Villers-Bretonneux, which nestles on a ridge overlooking the long stretch of the Somme Valley, was the storm centre, and here the enemy, for the first time since the war began, had tanks in action. Three of these tanks accompanied the storming infantry, which had battled forward into the eastern outskirts of the town, where severe fighting took place. From the French sector came word that the Germans had made very slight progress.

Heavy Bombardment.

The assault was preceded by a heavy bombardment about Villers-Bretonneux. At the conclusion of this preparation, the Germans surged forward along the whole British front south of the Somme although it seemed evident that they had Villers-Bretonneux as their ultimate goal, because of its dominating position.

The first attack was thrown back, but the enemy immediately came forward again, and this time met with more success. In the face of heavy machine-gun and rifle fire the Germans pushed on toward the town, their three tanks leading. The British gave way slightly and the enemy got footing in the eastern fringe of the town.

Flare Up Near Albert.

Farther north, a little above the Alber region, the British infantry put up an "S. O. S." for artillery protection, about 4 o'clock this morning and what appeared to promise a serious attack, began to show. It turned out to be nothing more pretentious than an attempted raid, however, and the British artillery smashed the enemy infantry as they were leaving their trenches.

Between Robecq and Givenchy-La-Bassee there was also considerable enemy shelling this morning and the Germans made a small attack in an attempt to take a post near Givenchy. But this movement was quickly stopped by the British fire. The British carried out minor operations at Givenchy which resulted in the recapture of a strong position which the enemy held.

South of the Clarence River four German companies, which essayed a local attack, were repulsed.

Hatching For Days.

Trouble has been brewing in the Somme sector for days, the enemy maintaining a bombardment of more or less intensity over a wide area. Throughout yesterday Villers-Bretonneux and other places were heavily shelled and this morning the bombardment was greatly increased.

On the northern battle front the German artillery pounded the entente allied positions, and particularly in the Robecq and Merville sector, and this morning an intense bombardment was put down in the British positions on both sides of the River Lawe. Thus a large section of the northern battle front was seething today.

A British operation yesterday over a 2,000 yards front in the Riez-du-Vinage sector was a complete success, and greatly improved the defending lines. A nasty salient, about 1,500 yards wide and about the same depth, had bulged into the British territory, just north of Vinage. The British drove the enemy from the salient and straightened their lines.

LOST HIS LEG AT VIMY.

FOREST, April 24.—Pte. Arthur Bannister, who was so badly wounded at Vimy Ridge that his right leg had to be amputated, was given an enthusiastic public welcome at a meeting on Monday evening, which taxed the town hall to capacity. Mayor Hair, who presided, presented Pte. Bannister with an eulogistic address and a handsome gold medal suitably engraved. The hero made a short address, in which he told of some of his experiences. Addresses were given by Revs. David Cornish, Moorehouse, Murray and Dr. J. F. Hubbard.

WILLIAM LONG DIES SUDDENLY.

INGERSOLL, April 24.—A telegram was received here today announcing the sudden death on Tuesday at Fresno, Calif., of William Long, who left here only a few weeks ago with his wife and daughter. No particulars were given. He has a son at Fresno, and another son resides here.

Troubled for Years With BRONCHITIS

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Gave Instant Relief.

Bronchitis is a disease which is very prevalent during the late winter and early spring, when there are sudden atmospheric changes. It is a condition of inflammation of the bronchial tubes which produces mucous or phlegm. This irritates the throat and causes you to cough in order to get rid of it. The cough may be tight or loose according as to whether this mucous is sticky and hard to remove, or soft and easily expelled.

Bronchitis is not really dangerous, but the complications which are liable to follow makes it necessary to get rid of it on the first sign. This you can do by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A remedy that has been on the market for over 25 years.

John D. McFarlane, Jr., S. W. Margaree, N. S., writes: "I was troubled for years with bronchitis, and could not find any relief. I was especially bad on a damp day. I went to a druggist and asked him for something to stop the constant tickling in my throat. He gave me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I found gave me instant relief. It is the best remedy for bronchitis I know of, and I now take care that I always have a bottle of it on hand."

See that you get "Dr. Wood's." Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author Says

EVERY WOMAN EVERY MOTHER EVERY DAUGHTER NEEDS IRON AT TIMES

To help strengthen her nerves and put color into her cheeks

There can be no beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women without iron. The trouble in the past has been that when women needed iron they generally took ordinary metallic iron, which often corroded the stomach and did more harm than good. I always insist that my patients take only organic iron—Nuxated Iron. This particular form of iron is easily assimilated, does not blacken nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, irritable, careworn, haggard-looking women in ten days' time in many instances. I have used it in my own practice with most surprising results.—Ferdinand King, M. D.

NOTE: NUXATED IRON recommended above by Dr. Ferdinand King can be obtained from any good druggist with an absolute guarantee of success or money refunded. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists. [illegible]

Little Mary McAlister in "Do Children Count"?

Appearing in "The Uneven Road." Eighth episode of above serial. One of the features of an all-feature program, which includes beautiful Virginia Pearson in the "surprise" comedy photoplay, "All for a Husband." A capital comedy featuring Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew, and Donita and Dexter, two classy young ladies, in a refined character singing act. There is no more distinctive singing act in vaudeville today than that of Donita and Dexter.

MAJESTIC

Norma Talmadge is at the Majestic Theatre again today in the role of Margot Hughes, the butterfly heroine of "By Right of Purchase," directed by Charles Miller.

Urged by her mother, who is at the end of their financial tether, and despite her infatuation for Dick Derwent, a handsome waster of her set, she finally consents to marry Chadwick Himes, a rich patrician who is in love with her. Her consent comes only after he proposes to her that she become his wife in name only, and if, after three years, he has not succeeded in winning her love, he is to release her with an adequate pecuniary provision. After their marriage she comes to realize Chadwick's sterling qualities and Dick's worthlessness, and with the realization comes love.

$625,250 Represented by Shares in Imperial Oil Company.

According to the will of T. H. Smallman, entered for probate today, the late London financier and businessman left an estate of $778,960.25. This estate, the bulk of which is represented by a block of Imperial Oil stock valued at $625,250, is left to his widow Ellen, to be divided at her death between his two children, Capt. J. E. Smallman and Mrs. (Col.) Eleanor E. B. Morgan.

The will, which was dated February 12, 1908, was a short one. It places the value of the estate at $778,960.25, made up of:

Real estate	$ 14,985 00
Securities	46,191 25

The stocks represent holdings in banks and insurance companies, etc., in addition to the big block of Imperial Oil stock, while in the miscellaneous items are included motor cars, etc.

The executors of the estate are the widow and the two children. Provision is made that in the case of the death of any the place will be taken by the London and Western Trusts Company. The entire estate is willed to the widow during her lifetime, and at her death the crested silver will be given to the son, John Elton Smallman, while the household furniture, books, paintings, china and so on, will become the property of Mrs. Morgan. The remainder of the estate will be sold and the proceeds divided evenly between the two beneficiaries. In the event of the death of either of the two children their portion of the estate is to be held in trust.

WOMAN'S MUSIC CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR DESPITE CONDITIONS

Reports at Annual Meeting Most Favorable.

One of the most successful years, financially and educationaliy, in the 23 years' history of the London Woman's Music Club, was reported at the annual meeting which took place yesterday afternoon in Wesley Hall, instead of the Normal School, where the recitals have been held during several seasons.

Notwithstanding the difficulties presented by conditions of the fourth year of war, the club ends its season with a balance of between $30 and $40 in its regular fund, and within a short distance of the total of $500 for the special fund to furnish a ward in the Byron Sanatorium for Tuberculous Soldiers. The mission of furnishing the ward was undertaken a year ago the beginning of April, and by July $250 had been turned over to the Red Cross, and a balance of $32 or $33 placed in the bank as the nucleus of the last half. Nearly $200 has been raised since the end of October by the proceeds of the Carrie-Martin concert, which opened the season's musicales given in their homes by Mrs. John Daly and Mrs. Randle Brown, who themselves bore all the expenses, and the proceeds of a special recital for which the expenses of visiting artists were met by the convener, Mrs. E. B. Smith.

Valuable Assistance.

In her resume of the year's work and outlook for the future, Mrs. T. G. Dochstader, the president, especially referred to the assistance given by Mesdames Daly, Brown and Smith in helping to complete the Sanatorium fund, and also to the kindness of Mrs. Victor Blackwell, the secretary, in entertaining Isolde Menges, the famous English violinist, on behalf of the club, and affording the executive an opportunity of meeting her. Grateful thanks were expressed to the other officers, executive and members of the club for their loyal support.

Touching upon the work of the club for the past season, the president dwelt upon the high educational value of the fortnightly programs and the series of papers and lectures presented, covering the development of modern musical art from its early beginnings to ultra-modernism. Not only have the fortnightly recitals furnished recreation, entertainment and inspiration, but they have given something tangible to carry away, a distinct addition to the stores of knowledge of those who have attended.

Appreciate Lectures.

Mrs. Victor Blackwell, the secretary, in her report expressed appreciation of the lectures on phases of development of musical art by men musicians, Messrs. Charles E. Wheeler, George C. Lethbridge, Thomas G. Mitcheltree and F. L. Willgoose, and of the charming paper on "The Liszt House at Weimar" by Miss Grace Blackburn. Both Mrs. Dochstader and Mrs. Blackwell refered to the untiring service on the executive rendered by Miss Minnie Raymond and her hospitality in allowing the executive the use of her studio for meetings.

Miss Edith Greer presented the eminently satisfactory financial statement.

On behalf of the executive committee, Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler moved that instead of an election of officers, the officers of 1917-18, who had rendered such efficient service, be retained without any changes. This proposal was unanimously carried.

Votes of Thanks.

Hearty votes of thanks were moved to the officers of the past year, to Dr. Radcliffe for the use of the Normal School for recitals, to the press for generous publicity, to the men musicians, organists of churches and others of the city who have most generously assisted with programs, to Mrs. Daly, Mrs. Randle Brown and Mrs. E. B. Smith for the special service they have rendered the club, to Miss West for a handsome basket of flowers donated at the time of Mrs. Randle Brown's musicale to be sold to swell the Sanatorium fund.

Plans were made for a farewell recital which the club will give for Miss Florence Eggleston, violinist, on her last appearance here before going to New York to study for a couple of years with Spearing the famous teacher of the violin. Miss Eggleston, by the way, was studing with this eminent teacher, then located for a time in Germany, when war broke out. Her harrowing experiences before being allowed to leave Berlin created much interest at the time.

COMMUNITY CHORUS TONIGHT.

If you have not attended a meeting of the London Community Chorus go to the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium tonight and you will feel the thrill of a new movement which is more than a fad. Wherever community singing has been introduced in the United States the largest auditoriums have been taxed to capacity to accommodate those who want to sing, and already there have been some remarkable musical finds made through this medium. Max Rosen, the gifted young violinist that has taken New York (his home town) by storm, was discovered through the Music School Settlement, a junior community chorus in New York. As special features for tonight's sing-song Miss Frances Cullis and Mr. Carman Learn will sing some old favorites, and Miss Florence Eggleston will play the violin. No knowledge of music is necessary to become a member of the chorus. There are no voice tests nor any fees, but everyone is expected to sing. The program will be what you make it. Come tonight.

SEND POSTAL NOTE OR LETTERS COME BACK

The deputy postmaster-general at Ottawa has issued the following:

"With regard to the arrangement instituted whereby correspondence of a private and family nature can be forwarded from individuals in Canada to persons in enemy and enemy-occupied territory through the medium of Thomas Cook & Son, 530 St. Catherine street W., Montreal, difficulty is being caused owing to persons remitting the charge for forwarding these letters (35 cents) by postage stamps, instead of by means of a postal note for 30 cents with 5 cents in postage affixed thereto.

"The attention of persons sending such correspondence is particularly directed to this, as in future where the charges are remitted by means of postage stamps the letters will be returned to the senders."

SAY FEW QUIT "FAGS" BECAUSE OF INCREASE

Tobacconists Report as Big Sales as Ever of Cigarettes.

London retail cigar store owners declare that the advance in cigarette prices is not affecting trade to any appreciable extent. They claim that they are doing as much business now as before the price increase went into effect.

The 20 per cent increase in the wholesale price announced by press despatches from Montreal on Monday, was followed in London by the increase of 10-cent cigarettes to 13 cents or two for a quarter; an increase to 18 cents or two for 35 cents in 15 cent lines and a jump to 50 cents of 25 cent packets. All stores in the city are now on the new scale of prices. The majority put the increase into effect as soon as they opened business on Tuesday morning and the remainder followed suit Wednesday.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Several interesting letters have come to hand to which no names are signed. The rule is that a writer shall sign his name as an evidence of good faith, but reserving the right to have it withheld from publication. The Advertiser is anxious to encourage correspondence from its readers. Many vital facts are thus brought to light and a good purpose served, but the necessity for the signing of names will be apparent to those who realize a newspaper's responsibility to the public.

MR. OVINGTON ON THE OVINGTONS

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As a constant reader of your paper and to divert attention I often wander into Miss Grey's columns. I noticed a letter from "Pat" and one from "Clara's Mother."

The names Dennis and Saunders are of note presently in Canada, and I presume are connected with the County Wicklow, Ireland, Erin's garden.

Very probably, as middle-class Anglicans, they should find some sour grapes around Ovington Square, in the heart of old London—that memorable name that settled for ever the divine right of kings; same as Wilson represents freedom. And although said names figure in no small degree as opponents of British rule in the past, I fancy under existing conditions they are prepared to compromise, more especially as the Celtic race holds the balance of power as between the European great powers now in deadly conflict.

R. H. OVINGTON.

April 22, 1918.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have been requested to state publicly my reasons for requesting our Government to abolish capital punishment in Canada, and in reply would say that the death penalty is in flagrant defiance of the word of God as contained in both the Old and New Testaments, a relic of barbarism and a rebellious usurpation of a power which custom cannot justify.

The commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," applies equally well to the state as to the individual, that imperative command issued amid the thunders of Sinai leaves no room for debate or doubt; it is succinct, positive direct, and came direct from the Father. The command is still there, old, but ever new, immutable, imperishable, ineluctable, and leaves no space for quibbling or dissembling. "Thou shalt not kill."

In every country and state where capital punishment has been abolished, capital crimes have decreased and society can be just as well protected by sending our unfortunate criminals to penitentiary and putting them to some useful work and placing their earnings at the disposal of those whom he has deprived of a bread winner. This would be more humane than sending their unsaved souls into eternity.

There is a superstition, older than history, that if you do something as bad to your enemy as he has done to you, you have squared things up, have balanced the account and are ready to appear before the Throne of Justice with clean hands. In primitive times the doctrine of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth was recognized as sound religion and was taught from the pulpit on alternate Sabbaths with the statement, "Vengeance is mine; I will repay saith the Lord." Theoretically we still believe in the latter statement. We think that he who taketh the life of another will suffer in the next world and we are impatient with the Lord's slowness; we desire to expediate matters, to help Him out by sending the offender to his doom as quickly as can decently be done. So we hang him. This would be highly laudable could we exhibit the badge of a divine deputy sheriff, but lacking this, it is mere meddling with the affairs of the Almighty and raises the question whether we are not collectively as criminal as the fellow whom we hang. And if we analyze our feelings we are likely to find, underneath a distorted idea of ourselves as administrators of eternal justice, a large residuum of that very feeling of revenge which is without reason, the relic of savage impulse and often differing little from the motive of the murderer himself.

Yours truly,
ROBERT BICKERDIKE.
Montreal, April 22, 1918.

FACTS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I would like to call the attention of your intelligent readers to a fact which I feel sure you know of and possibly have commented on more than once. The fact that conscription in the first place would have saved Canada large amounts in the way of patriotic and government allowances is well known. In spite of this fact, there are at the present day a very large number of married men in England who are unfit for service in France. If single men were allowed to release these men for home occupations, it would be a great saving to the country. Not only that, but if you will allow this fact to be printed, the right men would be in the right place to produce more humanity. In this critical stage of the great world war, any measure that will eliminate wastage or tend to an increased production of what is most vital to the country's interest, should be a matter of the moment with the Government
