OWEN SOUND'S BOARD OF TRADE VOTES APPROVAL OF RECIPROCITY

The Body Is Composed of Members of Both Parties.

CONFIDENCE IN LIBERAL GOVT.

South Wellington Liberals Pass Strong Resolution Approving Work of Laurier's Administration.

Owen Sound, March 5.—At the last regular meeting of the board of trade the following resolution, moved by Mr. John M. Kilbourn and seconded by Mr. F. W. Harrison, was carried on a vote of seventeen to fourteen:

"That the board of trade of the town of Owen Sound, composed of members of both the great political parties, representing a community largely engaged in manufacturing pursuits, yet situated in the midst of a large and flourishing district, long and justly celebrated for its splendid annual contributions to the national wealth in the form of grain, cattle, sheep, hogs, butter, apples, plums, lumber, cement, limestone and other building materials, view with great satisfaction the agreement proposed to be entered into between the Governments of Canada and the United States for the free exchange of farm and other natural products, unhampered by duties and other restrictions."

Bosanquet Liberals Approve.

Thedford, March 5.—At the annual meeting of the Bosanquet Liberal Association resolutions respecting Dominion and provincial affairs were unanimously passed as follows:

Moved by D. Whyte, president, and seconded by Robert Tidball, secretary: "That we, the Liberals of Bosanquet, assembled at our annual convention, desire to place on record our confidence in the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and particularly our appreciation of the success of the recent reciprocity agreement, believing that it is the most important measure brought into Parliament since confederation. We believe also that it will be a powerful aid in drawing Canada, Great Britain and the United States closer together in the bonds of peace, and that it will greatly add to the prosperity and happiness of our people."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

On motion of R. Thornton and Geo. Jaap, a resolution of confidence in Hon. A. G. MacKay was also passed.

Guelph, March 4.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of the Reform Association of South Wellington which has ever been held here was that of this afternoon. Mr. Hugh Guthrie, the local member, was present, and gave an outline of the effects of the reciprocity agreement, amid the applause of the large number present, including many Conservatives.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Dr. Angus MacKinnon; vice-presidents, Reeve U. Richardson,

BRITISH GOVERNMENT AFTER THE MORMONS

Will Investigate the Charge of Activity Amongst English Girls.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 6. — Home Secretary Churchill stated in the House of Commons today that the attention of the Government had been attracted to the recent allegations of Mormon activity among the women of this country and had begun an investigation. While he had no official information to support the assertions that young girls were being induced to emigrate to Utah, there was no doubt, he said, that the matter was causing deep concern, and he proposed to probe it exhaustively.

SPECIAL SESSION WILL PASS BILL

Says U. S. Consul-General to the Dominion.

MAJORITY ARE FOR IT

New Trade Agreement a Very Live Question in the United States.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, March 5.—"Everything I heard while in Washington seemed to indicate that the reciprocity bill will pass at the special session of the United States Congress called for April 4, by President Taft," said John G. Foster, United States consul-general, this morning.

Mr. Foster got back today from Washington, whither he had been summoned by the United States Government on an important matter, which, however, he said, had no direct bearing on reciprocity.

"The new trade agreement is, of course, a very live question in the States just now," continued the consul-general, "and the American Government seems as anxious to bring the matter to a vote as is the Government of Canada. In fact, the utmost effort was made by President Taft to secure congressional action before March 4, but the opposition in the Senate proved too strong. In the last few days of a session it is a very easy matter for a small group of senators who oppose a bill to prevent a vote being taken on it. It seems to be very generally agreed on in Washington, however, that had the vote been taken the result would have been a substantial majority in favor of the bill."

Mr. Foster declined to discuss the object of his visit to the American capital.

JONES VS. SHORE CASE UP AGAIN

Action Is Now in the Hands of Two Arbitrators.

The arbitration of the claim of John D. Jones in the case of Jones vs. Shore, which was referred to Messrs. Richard Piper and John Crinklaw, sen., as arbitrators, by Sir W. R. Meredith at the last assizes, commenced at the court house this morning, one witness, the plaintiff, being heard.

The action is one brought by John D. Jones against his aunt, Susan Shore, whose late husband leased a farm, which later became the property of the plaintiff. They have figured in much litigation during the past couple of years. The trouble commenced when Jones summoned Mrs. Shore to appear before Squire Chittick on a charge of damaging the property in question. The case was dismissed. Then Mrs. Shore retaliated by bringing an action for damages for false arrest. This action was thrown out by Mr. Justice Teetzel last fall.

Now Jones returns with a suit to recover the value of certain stock and implements which he says should have been left on the farm in question in Westminster Township by Mrs. Shore when she left after the death of her husband, John Shore, the lessee. He also asks damages from Mrs. Shore for not complying with the terms of the lease. Mr. F. E. Perrin is acting for the plaintiff, and Mr. U. A. Buchner for the defendant.

ST. THOMAS SUIT OVER ELOPEMENT

St. Thomas, March 6.—Irvin Moore is being sued for the alienation of the affections of the wife of Victor Young. The couple started for the United States but were deported. The case comes up at the spring assizes.

NEW C. P. R. ROUTE

Company's Surveyors Active in Vicinity of Perth.

[Canadian Press.]

Perth, March 5.—Surveyors have been active in this locality now for some time trying to strike the best route for the new C. P. R. from Toronto to Ottawa by way of Belleville. Rough country is encountered some few miles west of Perth, and several surveys have been run in search of the best bed fewest grades, etc. The last one runs between the third and fourth lines of Bathurst, and if this is settled on, Bathurst station would be left to the north of the new tract and the line would branch off at Perth or Glen Tay.

THAMES ST. MAN STRUCK BY HORSE

Mr. John G. Abel Was Knocked Down and Injured on Dundas Street.

CAR CAUSED TROUBLE

Animal Plunged Sideways and Ran Into Aged Gentleman as He Was Walking Over a Crossing.

Mr. John T. Abel, an upholsterer, living at 264 Thames street, was struck by a runaway team at the corner of Richmond and King streets late Saturday afternoon and painfully injured. His head was cut in several places, and his body badly bruised. He was removed to his home. It is expected that he will be about in a short time.

Abel was crossing the street, when a farmer drove up with a team. One of the horses was a colt. Becoming frightened at a street car it began to plunge, and running sideways struck Mr. Abel. He was knocked down, falling between the wheels of the wagon. The rear wheel passed over his body.

The farmer had a difficult time in controlling his team, and did not notice that he had run over a man. After working his way through the market he continued homewards.

The old gentleman was picked up and taken into a local drug store. Dr. A. Wood happened to be passing, and attended to his injuries for the time being.

"He is painfully cut and bruised, but he will recover," said Dr. Wood. "When I first saw him I thought he was seriously hurt, but that is not the case fortunately. It is a wonder he was not killed."

BRANDON LIBERALS MAY DEMAND SIFTON RESIGN

An Executive Meeting Called for Tonight to Consider the Matter.

[Canadian Press.]

Brandon, Man., March 5.—An executive meeting of the Liberal Association will be held tonight to consider the question of demanding Hon. Clifford Sifton's resignation as a result of his attitude on reciprocity. It is also proposed to adopt resolutions at this meeting setting forth the feeling in this constituency with regard to reciprocity.

TWO LONDONERS FOR THE CANADIAN NAVY

Messrs. Rutherford and Perkins Have Joined New Fighting Force.

London will have at least two representatives in the new Canadian navy. Things looked bad until Saturday when two enlistments occurred. This afternoon Edwin Robert Rutherford, aged 15, of 140 Egerton street, left for Halifax to serve two years on the training ship as an apprentice, after which he will graduate into the navy as a full-fledged seaman. On Saturday Postmaster Dr. McDonald received the application of Henry R. Perkins, of South London was left to join the Niobe as a stoker. Dr. McDonald has received visits from many youths, but so far only the two mentioned have decided to go.

"Some of the boys have left me very enthusiastic," said Dr. McDonald today. "A number of them are taking the matter up with their parents."

Peterboro Cheese Board For Reciprocity

Peterboro, March 5.—At the annual meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Board, representing about one thousand patrons in Peterboro and Victoria counties, held here on Saturday afternoon, a resolution was unanimously adopted in favor of the ratification of the pending trade agreement with the United States. Copies will be sent to the local members, Messrs. Sexsmith and Stratton, urging them to support the agreement. It was adopted after full discussion, only one member refraining from voting on account of not having considered the subject.

FIRST WIFE MADE TO POSE AS THE HUSBAND'S MOTHER A QUEER BIGAMY CASE

Man Known as George Pritchard, of Brooklyn, New York, Is Accused of Having Two Wives—He Is Said To Have Come From London, Ontario.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 6.—A peculiar case that is attracting the attention of people in and around the city of Newark today is one in which a woman accuses the man she has had arrested for bigamy with having forced her to aid him to commit bigamy by posing at the ceremony of wife No. 2, as his mother.

Mrs. Ellen Pritchard, in her complaint, alleges that she was married to George Pritchard, the prisoner, on July 29, 1891, in Hamilton, Ont., by the late Canon W. B. Curran, and offers as proof a certified marriage certificate, signed by the Rev. E. J. Etherington, now pastor of St. Thomas' Church, Hamilton, which bears the names of Harry, Sarah and Jennie Eland, as well as a copy of a Hamilton newspaper, which tells of such a marriage two days before.

Does He Come From London?

Mrs. Pritchard further alleges that under death threats, she was compelled to pose to her husband's new wife, whom she alleges he married April 5 last, as his mother, and that she—wife No. 1—lives at No. 453 High street, that city, the bills, rent, gas, food, clothes, etc., which are paid to this day by him.

Pritchard, who today is held on the bigamy charge for the grand jury, denies all the charges except that he pays for everything at the High street address, because he loves her company, nothing more.

He asserts that he never was in Hamilton, Ont., in his life, nor in London, Ont., as the marriage certificate reads that "George Pritchard is a native of." Mrs. Anna Hang Pritchard, who is accused of being wife No. 2, is almost prostrated with grief at her home, 18 Alpine street.

A PAIL OF MILK SAVED A CRUMLIN CHILD'S LIFE

Farmer's Little Daughter Ran to Father With Clothes in Flames and Presence of Mind Saved the Little One.

Marion Roulston, the six-year-old daughter of Charles Roulston, who resides north of Crumlin, was badly burned at the home of the parents this morning.

The child rushed into the barn, her clothing ablaze, and fell at the feet of her parents. Her father extinguished the fire with a pail of fresh milk, but not before the straw about the floor had beenignited. No serious damage resulted, however.

Dr. McWilliams believes that in spite of the terrible burns the child sustained she will recover. As far as can be learned, the child was left alone in the house and while playing too near the stove her dress caught fire. When she saw what had happened she rushed upstairs where another sister tried to extinguish the flames, but unsuccessfully. The child then ran outside.

INDIAN SEER SEES MURDER!

Says Little Freddie Wilson Was Lured Away and Killed by a Woman.

WILL TELL CHILD'S FATE

Bother Is of the Opinion That the Little Fellow Was Kidnapped or Fell Into the River.

That Little Freddie Wilson, the youngster who disappeared from the home of his parents on Nelson street near Clark's Bridge at Wellington street a month ago, was lured away and murdered by a woman in the neighborhood of his home, is the opinion offered by an Indian seer on the Muncey Reserve.

Some days ago an Indian from the reserve called at the home of the Wilsons and asked for some clothing which had been worn by the missing boy. He was given a pair of pants, which he returned after leaving them in the hands of an aged Indian woman for a short time.

Reveal Lad's Fate.

She declares that with the assistance of the child's apparel, she can reveal his fate and possibly the present location of his body. The Indian left his message and ordered the boy's parents to visit the reserve, where they would be conducted into the presence of the seer.

However, this did not appeal to the boy's family, who dismissed the matter, concluding that the scheme was merely for the purpose of securing money.

The Mother's Opinion.

Mrs. Wilson, when seen this afternoon by The Advertiser, declared that she is still of the opinion that her son was either carried off by someone or he slipped through a hole in the ice into the river. She is awaiting the breaking up of the ice in the vicinity of her home, she says.

Mrs. Wilson can give no reason why any person should carry the boy away, and ridicules a story to the effect that the boy is in possession of some of his relatives. She has only a couple of brothers, she says, and the boy is with none of them.

Alleged To Be Insane.

A Westminster man, arrested by Constables Corsau, and Shaver Saturday night, charged with being insane and dangerous to be at large. He was remanded until Saturday morning by Squire Chittick, and in the meantime his case will be investigated.

WOULD BAR BIBLE FROM THE MAILS

Lawyer Marks the Passages He Calls Immoral, But Fails to Convince.

Boston, March 6.—James W. Stillman, of this city, who has authority to practice law in three states, recently called on United States District Attorney French and complained that the Bible is a book which contains passages which ought to exclude it from the mails. He left with Mr. French a copy of the Bible in which he had marked many passages which he believes make it objectionable for mail distribution.

Today Mr. French sent Mr. Stillman a letter in which he said he had read the passages marked and saw in them no reason for barring the Bible from being transported or delivered by the United States postoffice department.

FOUR HAVE REFUSED INDEMNITY INCREASE

Will Devote the Four Hundred Dollars to Worthy Objects in Constituencies.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Ont., March 5.—Allan Studholme, James McEwing, William Nickle, and Valentine Stock, the four members of the Legislature who spoke and voted against the $400 increase in the sessional indemnity, will not accept their share for their own benefit. Mr. Studholme will divide his share of this and next year's increase among several charitable institutions in the city of Hamilton. Mr. Stock will spend his in providing the rural schools of South Perth with useful books not otherwise provided, and Mr. Nickle and Mr. McEwing have worthy objects in their respective constituencies, in their minds, which will receive the $800 which the last two terms of the present Legislature will give each of them.

INFANTE JAIME A MUTE

Second Son of King and Queen of Spain Deaf and Dumb.

Paris, March 5.—It is said that the King and Queen of Spain have been informed by experts that their second son, Infante Jaime, is deaf and dumb.

A Confirmation Class.

A confirmation class for adults is being prepared at St. Mary's Church, and on Sunday evening, March 19, his Lordship Bishop Fallon will confirm about 30 persons.

CANADIAN PACIFIC WANTS TO CHANGE EAST END STREETS

Council Will Have to Decide on Question of Allowing Company to Close End of Ontario Street and to Divert a Part of Central Avenue in East London.

The Canadian Pacific Railway today served notice on the city of London that the company intends to go ahead with its big improvements in East London at once.

A new roundhouse, station, sidings, etc., are to be erected, and a very large sum of money will be spent.

The company asks permission to divert a part of Central avenue, between Elizabeth and Ontario streets, to a point further south, so as to make room for the giant roundhouse and the necessary tracks for the locomotives, which will be constructed.

Further, the company asks permission to close the north end of Ontario street, at the point where that thoroughfare runs into the company's property.

Mayor Beattie stated to The Advertiser that the plan, as submitted, will likely be sent by the council tonight to the finance committee so that the proposed changes can be thoroughly inquired into. So far as can be learned there will be no serious objection on the part of the council or the citizens, as the diverting of Central avenue means practically nothing to anybody but the company, and the closing of the stub end of Ontario street is only a small matter.

THE LIBERALS OF EAST KENT A UNIT FOR RECIPROCITY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ridgetown, March 6.—Amid scenes of great enthusiasm the East Kent Liberal Association in convention here this afternoon unanimously passed a resolution favoring the reciprocity agreement and declaring confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. A. G. MacKay. The gathering was the biggest of its kind held here in some years, delegates being present from all points. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. B. A. Gordon, A. B. McColg, and James Congdon, the member for Yukon.

REV. MR. INKSTER ON THE THEATRES

Found Much That Was Good in the Picture Shows of London.

THE CENSURE OF OPINION

This Is All That Is Necessary to Keep the Show Decent—A Sermon in the Presbyterian Church.

"Theatres," was the subject of the sermon preached in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday night by Rev. J. Gibson Inkster, M. A., pastor of the church. He was one of the ministers who recently visited the picture shows of the city to obtain information for the Ministerial Association. Mr. Inkster took the position that picture theatres have come to stay, and it was the duty of the church and of the public to regulate them. The presence of children and youths at these places at night was roundly condemned.

In his opening remarks he outlined the reasons for the visit of himself, Rev. Mr. Stuart and Col. Chandler to the theatres. During a discussion at a meeting of the association a lot of second hand information had been given out, and it was determined that a committee should visit these places and report. Mr. Inkster stated that as chairman of the committee of the General Assembly on Amusements and Recreations, it was his duty to obtain as much information as possible on the subject, and bring it before the next general assembly.

The impression had been given out by the newspapers particularly, that the experience was in the nature of a frivolous and amusing jaunt. Nothing was farther from the truth. It was a serious undertaking, with a serious purpose in view.

What Was Found.

"We found pictures, good, bad and indifferent," he declared. "They were neither all good, nor all bad. We were received kindly by both managers and audiences, and for this I was glad.

TORONTO SCHEDULE WILL BE ADOPTED

Sad News for the Topers of the Forest City.

Local hotelkeepers have selected several delegates to go down to Toronto and oppose the proposed tax of 5 per cent on all revenue over $40 per day. Those appointed will go to Toronto some time in the next ten days and are at present awaiting word from Toronto as to when the measure will be brought up for discussion. Local hotelkeepers state that they think that the measure will go through, and that as soon as it does they will increase the prices of everything.

"We will adopt the schedule of prices that is in force at present in Toronto for all drinks," said one hotelman to The Advertiser this afternoon. "Toronto hotelmen have been getting more money for drinks than we charge here. They intend if the bill goes through to make no increase in intoxicating liquors, but to increase the prices of meals and room, and will keep no cigarettes, soft drinks or mineral waters on sale. We intend if the bill goes through to charge for everything just as it is charged for in Toronto."

Local men state that as nearly as they can size the situation up the proposed tax is nothing more than a scheme of the Government to increase its revenues.

All agree that if the tax is imposed there will be a general outcry from the travelling public, and other hotel patrons as a result of the extra charges that will at once be imposed to meet the tax.

MANY PASSAGES BEING BOOKED

A Local Steamship Agent Says Londoners Are Going Over in Large Numbers.

ALL CLASSES WILL SAIL

The Rich Man Has Not Got a Monopoly of European Trips in These Days, Says Mr. F. B. Clarke.

Mr. Frank B. Clarke, the local steamship agent, stated to The Advertiser today that the advance booking for England this summer is the greatest in the history of his office, which has been doing business in this city for very many years.

"It is astonishing how many Londoners are going over for the coronation," Mr. Clarke stated. "And they are people in all walks of life. Years ago only the wealthy crossed the pond, but now people in moderate circumstances deem it no extravagance to go to England or the continent and spend a couple of months there. Already I have booked a very large number for London, England. They include the men who have made their pile; travellers who are merely out for a good time, teachers who are seeking a polish for their education, and Britishers who are going back to see the old land once again.

"As far as I am able to judge London will be well represented at the coronation in its famous namesake this summer."

MINERAL PRODUCTION IS ON THE INCREASE

Value of the Total Output Last Year Was Over Hundred Millions.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 6.—The value of the minerals produced in Canada last year is estimated at $105,000,000, which is an increase of $13,000,000 over the production the year before. Gold was produced to the value of $10,224,000, copper $7,209,000, iron $11,245,000, nickel $11,181,000, silver $17,186,000, asbestos $2,476,000, coal $29,811,000, natural gas $1,312,000, cement $6,414,000, clay products (including lime) $1,131,000, stone $3,449,000. All of the provinces with the exception of New Brunswick showed an increase. Ontario produced $43,017,000, an increase of almost six millions, British Columbia $24,547,000, an increase of two millions, and Yukon Territory $4,737,000, a decrease of two hundred thousand.

BLACK HAND AT CHICAGO

Bomb Exploded in Hallway of Building Occupied by Italians.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, March 6.—A bomb was exploded early today in the hallway of a building occupied by Italians, and another placed in the doorway of a grocery was removed and extinguished before it could do harm. In the latter instance, when the policeman notified the grocer of the find, and the latter lighted the gas with a match, an explosion which partly wrecked the store showed the bomb-throwers had also saturated the floor of the building with gasoline.

No one was hurt in the first explosion, though the building was partly wrecked. The grocer, Ignazio Damico, and the policeman were burned in the fire following the gasoline explosion. Both bombs followed demands for money upon the occupants of the buildings.

SLANG IS VERY EXPRESSIVE

But Inspector Edwards Says Some of It Is Very Bad Grammar.

THERE'S GOOD AND BAD

A Talk With Londoners on the "Clean Mouth" Proposal From Kemptville, Ont.

The proposal from Kemptville to form a "clean mouth" league with the object of eliminating slang expressions and profanity as far as possible from the language, has created no little interest among citizens in general, and particularly among school teachers and clergymen.

"There is no doubt," said Inspector Edwards to The Advertiser, "that there is good and bad slang. Slang as a rule is most expressive, but there are many expressions that are most ungrammatical, and these should be eliminated. I urge the teachers to train the children to be careful in the language they use, particularly in the playgrounds, where there is a tendency to make a freer use of slang expressions. I think that too many people are content with a meager vocabulary. Boys, of course, are more prone to use slang than girls, although girls overdo such words as 'lovely,' 'sweet' and similar ones."

Mr. Edwards did not think there was much profanity in the schools.

Important Question.

"The question is an important one," said Rev. J. G. Inkster, "and any move to eliminate slang is in the right direction. I have frequently spoken about it from my pulpit, at boys' meetings in the Y. M. C. A., and at meetings of the mothers' clubs. As long as grown people are as careless in their use of words as they are we cannot expect the children to improve. They very often say words that they hear older people saying when they have not the slightest idea what they mean. No longer ago than yesterday I heard little children on their way home from the kindergarten making use of profanity. They had no idea what the words they were saying meant, and had probably heard older children or grownup people saying them. The school, the home, and the church can do a great work toward remedying conditions of this kind. There is a great deal of room for improvement."

Slang in the Home.

Various teachers spoken to said that young children apparently learn an immense amount of slang at home.

"Many of them," said one, "have a thorough knowledge of slang words, and it is extremely hard to get them to stop using them. Children find it much easier to express themselves sometimes by a slang expression than by lengthier but more dignified phrase. Very few children receive the training in correct speaking that they should get when they are very young, and the effects are hard to combat."

The police say that while there is a good deal of profanity used among boys of a certain class there is far more used by the average young man, who loiter about the streets. They make every effort to prevent bad language on the streets, and many arrests have been made in connection with such cases. Magistrate Graydon invariably fines those found guilty.

REV. MR. BIRKS ILL

Was Unable to Fill His Pulpit on Sunday.

Owing to the illness of Rev. A. K. Birks, the pulpit of Askin Street Methodist Church was occupied yesterday by Rev. S. A. Anderson and Rev. H. A. Graham. In the evening Rev. Mr. Graham preached from the text, II. Corinthians, iv., 2, "For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh." His sermon was an answer to the questions, "What is religion? What constitutes being a Christian?"

"To be a member of a church or religious denomination does not make a man a Christian, and there are many Christians who do not belong to any religious body. One is not a Christian because he believes that Christ was the most perfect of men; the most beautiful eulogies ever paid to Christ have been made by professing infidels. Nor to merely accept the teachings of Jesus does not insure being a Christian. To be a Christian is to manifest the life of Christ. Curt tianity is life. And we are Christians when we live the life."

At Bagdad the French system of weights and measures has superseded the old Turkish system.

INDIGESTION OR STOMACH DISORDER

Stops Food Fermentation and Relieves Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles." Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can get relief in five minutes.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH OF A LONDON LADY

Mrs. T. C. Pickard Passed Away While on a Visit Near Clinton.

Death came very unexpectedly yesterday morning to Mrs. T. C. Pickard, of this city, while she was on a visit with her son, Mr. William Pickard, of Holmesville, near Clinton. Not long after she had risen Mrs. Pickard fell to the floor in an unconscious condition and died shortly afterwards from apoplexy. Mrs. Pickard was the mother of Mrs. J. H. W. McRoberts, wife of Writing Master McRoberts, of the Collegiate, and had made her home in London for several years.

When she left on Saturday afternoon on the Bruce train, she was apparently in the best of health, and was looking forward with much pleasure to visiting her sons, William and Ezra, who reside at Holmesville. Mrs. Pickard was 68 years old, and leaves three sons and three daughters, Rev. of Toronto; William and Ezra, of Holmesville; Mrs. J. H. W. McRoberts, of this city; Mrs. C. T. Fisher, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. (Rev.) Hunter, in Dakota. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

"WHY SHOULD I BE A CHRISTIAN?

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Ross in St. Andrew's Church.

"Why Should I Be a Christian?" was the theme of Dr. Ross' sermon at St. Andrew's Church last night.

"Goodness," he said, "is the greatest thing in the world, and to be good is the highest duty of every man. Some men think that religion is merely one of the departments of life, just as their business is one, their social life another, and so on. They attend church regularly, sit gravely in their pews, or it maybe act as church officials, and think they are doing their duty. This is a mistaken conception. Religion should be the great transfusing influence that pervades all the departments of life, and makes them strong and righteous. It is thus a means towards goodness. Christ is the very highest type of goodness that is known, the only perfect man. The conclusion is that we should follow Him. Read the Scriptures, and lay your life beside His, compare the two. It is hard to live the true life. Anyone trying to do so will meet with many failures, but it is worth trying and worth meeting with many failures to try and live the life that Christ would have us live."

THE WAY OF THE CROSS

Subject of Address in the Auditorium on Sunday.

Dr. John T. Farrow, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the picture evangelist, addressed the men's meeting in the Auditorium yesterday afternoon on "The Way of the Cross." "Life is a journey," he said, "and the Christian life is not one of success, or ease, or comfort, or greatness. The Christian must go the way of the cross. The way of the cross called Christ to a sacrificed death, and it calls the Christian to a sacrificial life. The question of life is not a question of getting there' or how to achieve material success, but it is to help others, to reach down and lift up our fellows.

"We do not believe in a dead Jesus," said the speaker, "but in a risen Christ." Dr. Farrow's message contains nothing that is new. It is the old-fashioned gospel, and his address is illustrated with quaint, old-fashioned pictures. There is something quietly instructive in his lecture, something in its simplicity that appeals.

Among the pictures thrown on the screen were scenes representing the early persecutions of the Christians, who not infrequently were cast into dens of lions to be torn to pieces. Several famous paintings were represented in the course of Dr. Farrow's address. In showing some views of the Fiji Islanders he declared that the conversion of the native savages of these islands to Christianity and civilization was a greater miracle than was ever performed by Christ.

In the evening Dr. Farrow spoke on "God's Masterpiece."

PLENTY OF ICE FOR LONDONERS

There Will Not Be Any Increase in the Cost This Year.

The ice dealers of London have completed the work of harvesting this year's supply and as the season has been an excellent one for the purpose an advance in prices is not looked for.

While the temperature has taken no very prolonged dips during the winter the cold has been remarkably steady, and as a result the icemen have had little trouble. It is reported that a slight increase is being considered on prices charged the larger consumers, but the private houses will no doubt continue at the old scale.

NEW CONCERNS.

Toronto, March 5.—Among the new companies incorporated in Ontario last week are the following in Western Ontario:

Empire Paper Products Company, Limited, Sombra, capital $40,000.

Ideal Packless Valve Company, Limited, Walkerville, capital $40,000.

Brantford Lands, Limited, Brantford, capital $50,000.

The Ellis Underwear Company, Limited, Hamilton, capital $200,000.

Brandons Pressed Brick and Tile Company, Limited, of Milton, capital $100,000.

The Hoover Suction Sweeper Company, Limited, of Windsor, Canada, capital $10,000.

The capital stock of the Owen Sound Lumber Company, Limited, has been increased from $50,000 to $100,000, and the Knetchel Kitchen Cabinet Company, Limited, from $40,000 to $100,000.

D. M. Ferry & Co. are authorized to increase their amount of capital for use in Ontario from $100,000 to $200,000.

Surrender of the charters of the Napance Canning Company, Limited, and of the Tilbury Canning Company, Limited, have been accepted by the Provincial Secretary.

A TITIAN SOLD.

London, March 5.—Sir Hugh Lane, honorary director of the municipal art gallery, Dublin, and governor of the National Gallery of Ireland, has sold Titian's "Portrait of a Man in a Red Cap" to an English collector for $150,000. The portrait, which is supposed to be that of Lorenzo di Medici, became famous after Sir Hugh bought it at auction at Christie's in 1906. The present buyer is unknown, but is believed to be a London financier.

VICTORIAN ORDER NURSE MAY HAVE AN ASSISTANT

Scheme to Raise Funds for the Good Work in London.

A special meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held on Saturday afternoon at the new rooms of the Y. W. C. A., to consider a proposition which had been laid before the advisory board for their consideration.

The medical men present were Dr. Moorhouse, honorary president, and Drs. McLaren, Clement, Campbell, Stevenson, Niven and Tillmann, others being prevented from attending.

The result of their consultation will be handed to the V. O. N. board in the course of a few days, and will be anxiously waited for, as, if conditions offered are thought satisfactory it may possibly lead to the appointment of a coadjutor nurse to lighten the labors of Miss Edwards, who is doing so admirable a work single-handed.

Discussions followed on the necessity for a large supplementary board from which committees on special departments could be drawn, and the work of the order forwarded; and also on the proposition of the Dramatic Club to link with its own, financial interests by which the exchequer of the Victorian Order may once more receive a benefit from the crowded house which is sure to result from the forthcoming performance of the talented young citizens, who will shortly repeat the play, "Lady Huntworth's Experiment," which none who saw it could easily forget.

The many admirers of the actors, as well as the friends of the Victorian order, will assuredly once more join hands in making the repetition of this delightful experiment," an even greater success than it was too years ago.

A SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Will Likely Be Held to Consider the Courthouse Improvements.

The special session of the county council which is to be held within a month to consider a scheme for improvements to the courthouse in conjunction with the city will probably take place on March 30 and 31.

These dates have been favored by a number of the councillors, but the matter will be finally arranged at the meeting of the committee, which will confer with a committee of the city council here on Friday next.

The plans for alterations and additions to the courthouse are being prepared by the city architect and will be passed upon at the joint committee meeting next week.

The Melting Pot.

Israel Zangwill, the well-known Hebrew dramatist, is sticking to his chosen work of showing that the Jew is not as bad as he has been painted, and that in fact, if you look him over carefully, you will find that in many respects he is superior in honesty, charity and citizenship to the average Christian of the world today.

Mr. Zangwill is out to assist in the melting of the races of the world, particularly of the United States, and he is doing it in the very laudable and peculiar to his race manner of making money.

Perhaps some of the dramatist's lines are a little too strong for certain theatregoers, who are prepared to admit that one man is as good as another, but not as the Irishman said, "a darned sight better." But on the whole Mr. Zangwill has woven an interesting story, though it is not and never will be the wonder the press agents have endeavored to make it. The Jewish characters are a trifle too finely drawn, even though the dramatist may feel himself endowed with a mission to undo some of the injustice done his people by the master of all dramatic writers, William Shakespeare, in "The Merchant of Venice." No one today believes the Jew is bad simply because he is a Jew, nor does anyone believe he is any better because he happens to be of Hebrew extraction.

Mr. Walker Whiteside gave a very satisfying interpretation of the character of the Jewish musician, "David," who has been wounded in the riots of Russia, but who is broad and magnanimous, and when the Russian baron comes to America and sees his own faults, and asks David to do him a favor by killing him, the Jew, simply says he needs another string for his baulle.

Mr. Whiteside is a good actor, and he has many stirring passages which he delivers with a dramatic fire that is splendid. His support was of two kinds, good and bad. In the first class can be placed Miss Von Ottinger as the heroness, whose work was superb, in the second, that of Miss Florence Fisher as "Vera," was all and everything that it should not have been.

The play has had quite a run on the other side of the line, and no doubt will continue to do so for some time. As compared with the "House Next Door," which carries a similar lesson, it is crude.

"Three Twins" For Two Nights.

Joseph M. Gaites' merry musical comedy, "Three Twins," with the original New York company, comes to the Grand tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday evening. This musical comedy so magnificently produced by Mr. Gaites strikes a popular chord in music-loving theatregoers wherever the piece has been presented. The music by Karl Hoschna, composer of "Madame Sherry," "The Girl of My Dreams," and Mr. Gaites' latest success, "Katie Did," is tunefully catchy and strongly rhythmic; the lyrics, by Otto Hauerbach, and the incidental dances are cleverly conceived and admirably presented in every detail. Mayme Gehrue is the "Yama Yama Girl"; Daisy Leon has a great success in "The Girl Up There," introducing Myrtle Tyson in the "facegraph." The scenic effects and tableaux are said to be the finest ever seen, the chorus is a delightful feature and the costuming and electrical effects usually elaborate and original. Seats selling

"The City."

Clyde Fitch's last and best drama, "The City," a play which brought the eminent dramatist more posthumous fame than he won with any of the works produced during his lifetime, will appear at the Grand next Friday.

In "The City," Mr. Fitch made a wide departure from his former procedure. He dropped satire, flippancy and the foibles of frothy society, and got down to the hard, big, vital facts of modern life. In serious, deadly earnest, he grappled with the complex problem of life as presented in the maelstrom of existence in a great modern metropolitan idea of vast scope, and one well worthy the pen of America's keenest student of human nature and most careful observer of existing sociological and business conditions. The fine cast is the same which presented "The City" all last season at the Lyric Theatre, New York, and includes Tully Marshall, Wilson Melrose, Edwin Emery, Geo. Howell, A. H. Stuart, Mary Nash, Lucille Watson, Eva Vincent, Mary Servoss and others. Seats Wednesday.

"His Last Dollar."

The offering at the Grand next Saturday, matinee and night, will be the American comedy of character, "His Last Dollar." Mr. Higgins will be seen in the leading role, that of Joe Braxton, a Kentuckian, who has followed life as a jockey, cowboy, ranch owner, and finally Wall street financier. At the opening of the play he is seen entertaining his friends at his Long Island villa; he is engaged to Viola Grayson, whom he later discovers is in a plot to secure his fortune, and then run away with an old-time lover Eleanor Downs, a Blue Grass lassie, appears on the scene and discovers the plot. Joe laughs at her warning, but later finds that she is his friend, and it is about these two characters that the interest of the play centres. Seats Thursday.

MILLION FOR NEW ROLLING STOCK

Pere Marquette to Order Fifty Locomotives, Passenger Cars and Rails.

Detroit, March 6.—Within the next ten days the Pere Marquette Railroad Company will order equipment to the extent of $1,000,000, which will include 50 locomotives, 14 passenger cars, 40 caboose cars, and about 20,000 tons of new rails for main lines, which will provide 150 miles of relaying rails for new yards, passenger and necessary track facilities.

J. L. Cramer, vice-president of the company, has been elected a director to succeed Daniel Willard, retired, and Seward L. Merriam, general solicitor of the company, has been elected a director to succeed Oscar Murray. George F. Randolph has also retired from the directorate.

New Note Issue.

Issuance of the $8,000,000 five-year notes by the Pere Marquette will make no material differences in the fixed charges of the road, according to President Cotter and Comptroller Cramer. It has been pointed out that the property, in view of its poor showing during the last six months, was unable to increase its outstanding obligations. In this connection, Mr. Cotter said: "Speaking in general terms, it is simply a case of replacing one debt by another. There are certain current obligations which will be met and about $2,500,000 of the issue will be used for improvements on the system, wherever needed, and one million for locomotives and passenger cars. The interest on this amount will be approximately the only actual gain in fixed charges, and the greater earnings which we believe will accure from contemplated betterments, in the future, will much more than offset this immediate obligation.

"The road has been handicapped greatly during the last six months by heavier operating expenses, due largely to wage advances, but the principal feature in connection with the falling off in the net income has been due to congestion of traffic and the inability to handle it profitably. With the fresh funds available we shall be able to reverse this situation completely, and handle our business economically and profitably. The road has good possibilities. This will be seen by the fact that gross revenues increased from $14,000,000 in 1907, to $16,500,000 at the close of 1910. Even during the current year gross earning power has been well maintained."

The company has no outstanding bonds of any great amount maturing before July 1, 1912, when $5,000,000 Pere Marquette Railroad 6 per cent gold debentures fall due. There are, however, certain equipment obligations upon which current payments have to be made. These bonds aggregate about $4,500,000 and substantially bear out the statement of President Cotter that the road's fixed charges will sustain but little increase.

Report of the road for January and the seven months showed a falling off in net earnings of $712,890 as against an increase of $299,496 in gross. Seven months' deficit was $635,470, compared with a surplus of $453,470 last year.

INSANE MURDERER

Montreal Man, Who Killed Wife, Sent to an Asylum.

Montreal, March 6.—Incarceration in a criminal lunatic asylum is to be the lot of Thomas Waterhouse, who, having been committed to take his trial in the king's bench court on the charge of killing his wife, was Saturday brought before a jury and adjudged unfit, on the ground of insanity, to stand for trial. The accused was apprehended, on his own confession, after having beaten his wife to death with a baseball bat. Four medical men gave evidence yesterday, and they unanimously agreed that Waterhouse was suffering from senile melancholia.

A GENEROUS OFFER

To Whom It May Concern.

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity at this season of the year who need a blood-making, body-building and strength-creating tonic.

It is to all such, which comprise old people, delicate children, the weak, run-down, and convalescents, and all those who suffer from chronic coughs and colds, that we ask to come to our store and get a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil).

If it fails to build you up, create strength, and restore normal health, we will cheerfully return the money paid us for it. We take all the chances—you take none. As a matter of fact, we don't take much chance, either, because Vinol rarely disappoints us. Come in and get a bottle on these terms. Anderson & Nelles, druggists, 268 Dundas street, London, Ont. W. THRILLING SCENES AT GREAT WESTERN FIRE

A Fireman Makes Marvellous Rescue During Big Blaze at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—One of the most disastrous fires this city has ever known destroyed today the Syndicate Block, on Nicollet avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets. The total loss is estimated at $1,000,000, and it is possible that two lives were lost, although this has not as yet been definitely determined. Twelve persons were rescued from the upper stories of the building, while the flames were roaring around them.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The alarm was given by some passers-by on Nicollet avenue, who saw the flames bursting out of the second-story window. An alarm was quickly given, but before the firemen had arrived tenants of the building who were asleep in the upper rooms began to appear at the windows, calling frantically for aid.

A strong southwest wind was blowing, and in a very few minutes the west half of the building was a roaring furnace. The entire fire department of Minneapolis was called out, but it was totally inadequate to check the flames. Later a call was sent to St. Paul for help and this was immediately furnished.

The members of the Franson family, on the third floor, finding all exit by stairway and front windows cut off, made for the fire escape on the alley side of the building. Elmer Franson leaped to the fire escape through which a blast of flame was being driven by the wind past the window, out of which was his only escape. Holding to the hot irons of the ladder, he helped his mother to climb through the window and step upon the platform beside him.

As soon as her hands touched the rails, Mrs. Franson uttered a scream and shriek and would have fallen to the ground had not Fireman Caldwell leaped to her rescue from a ladder perched against the New England building, which adjoins the Syndicate Building. Caldwell made a leap of fully ten feet, and took a chance of falling to the pavement, 40 feet below, if he missed the fire escape. Fortunately he struck it right and reached Mrs. Franson's side not a second too soon.

He assisted her to the ground, while Elmer Franson followed, shouting, "There are two women back there in the flames. I saw them fall." The firemen made every effort to break into the building at this place, but the heat was too great, and they were repulsed.

NEW YORK HOTELS SUPREME

With the Hotel St. Regis at the Highest Attainable Point.

Says a prominent New York daily newspaper: "New York's hotels lead the world. Not only are they larger and finer than the great hostelries of Europe, but in convenience, service, cuisine—in fact, on all points—they excel anything that foreign lands can offer the travellers. * * Not only is there a greater degree of hotel comfort to be obtained in New York, but the service is a marked improvement over that found elsewhere."

The writer of the foregoing must have had in mind the Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street, New York. In the St. Regis nothing has been sacrificed to expediency. In its design and construction the St. Regis is the very best of its kind. In its fittings and furnishings, the personnel of its staff, and the quality of its service, there has never been the slightest departure from a standard that aimed at perfection and was satisfied with nothing less. The St. Regis restaurant has no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service; while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St. Regis will find accommodations of the very highest grade in every particular, and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom, and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

EDDY ESTATE SUIT

Nephew of Dead Christian Science Leader Claims Her Fortune.

Concord, N. H., March 5.—George W. Baker, of this city, a nephew of Mary Baker Eddy, today filed a motion to intervene in the suit in the superior court for Merrimac County for the possession of the fortune left by the founder of the Christian Science Church.

So far the contention is the same as that of George W. Glover and Dr. Ebenezer J. Foster Eddy the son and adopted son of Mrs. Eddy in their bill inequity already filed in the court here. Baker contends, however, that the residue can not legally be claimed by Glover and Foster Eddy as they had previous to the death of Mrs. Eddy relinquished all their claims to her estate by a family settlement which they entered into.

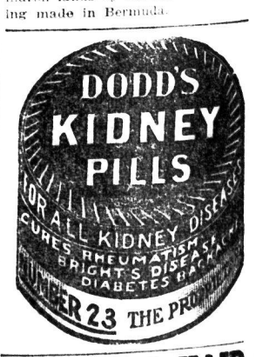

As the next of kin after these two he contends that he should now take the entire estate.

BIG CORONATION RENTS.

London, March 6.—Enormous prices are asked by London householders who desire to let their houses for the coronation season. It is stated that Mr John Hays Hammond, who is expected to be the official representative of the United States, is paying $50,000 for a six-weeks' tenancy of the Burdett-Coutts' house, No. 1 Stratton street, Piccadilly.

Agents agree, however, that the prices asked must be reduced before business can be done.

JOHN D.'S CHURCH CALLED FAILURE

The Rev. Dr. Aked, Its Pastor, Makes a Senational Statement.

MAY GO TO THE COAST

Says the Fifth Avenue Church Has Failed to Provide Suitable Edifice.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, March 6.—Frankly stating the disappointment he had experienced in his ministry to the wealthy and fashionable congregation of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, the Rev. Charles F. Aked, formally announced from his pulpit yesterday that he had received a unanimous and enthusiastic call to the First Congregational Church of San Francisco, and said he had been unable to find any good reason why he should not accept. He regretfully acknowledged his fears that the great enterprises which he had hoped to lead as pastor of one of the wealthiest churches in America, popularly known as the "John D. Rockefeller church," were only "such stuff as dreams are made of." Notwithstanding the $10,000 salary offered him when he came here from Pembroke Chapel, in Liverpool, England, barely four years ago, and the recent increase to $12,000, or his ties of friendship in the metropolis, he did not see how he could contemplate a permanent ministry here under present conditions.

He gave the Fifth avenue congregation ten days of grace in which to consider the situation before he should say definitely whether he would accept the call to the Pacific coast.

He chafed under the failure of the Fifth Avenue Church to provide a larger church and to undertake larger enterprises. "So far as we can see today," he declared, "there is no future for this church or for my ministry."

RECIPROCITY TALK FOR LEGISLATURE

An All-Week Debate Likely to Follow Government Resolution.

Toronto, March 5.—The Ontario Legislature tomorrow will be asked to adopted an anti-reciprocity resolution, which will appear on the order paper under the head of "Government orders." Probably the entire week will be devoted to the subject, as nearly every member will have something to say.

While the resolution will not be made public until tomorrow afternoon, it is understood that it avers that the Imperial ties which bind Canada to Great Britain and the empire will be broken if the treaty is adopted by the Dominion Government.

COURT DISCHARGES COND. FITZPATRICK

Did All He Could To Avert Fatal Accident at Thamesford.

Woodstock, March 5.—Conductor John Fitzpatrick, of the C. P. R., London, who has been on trial here for leaving the rear end of his freight train unprotected, thereby causing the death of Brakeman Lane, of Stratford, in a wreck at Thamesford, was discharged Saturday.

M. P. McDonagh, counsel for Fitzpatrick, put the defendant in the box when the hearing opened. Fitzpatrick told his side of the case, that he had sent Lane back to flag after their train stopped. He was unaware that Lane had not done this.

Magistrate A. S. Ball, who presided, acquitted Fitzpatrick on the charge. From the evidence, he said, the conductor did all that he could do to avert the accident.

JUSTICE IN RUNAWAY

Girouard Thrown From Cutter and Injured About the Head.

Ottawa, March 6.—Justice Girouard, of the supreme court, was in a runaway yesterday. With Mrs. Girouard, he was being driven home from the Country Club, when the horse ran away, throwing out the driver and its two occupants. The judge was found to be suffering from the shock, and was cut about the face, while Madame Girouard had her left arm broken. Both were taken to their home on Wilton street.

A KING'S SYMPATHY.

London, March 6.—His Majesty King George sent a message of sympathy yesterday to the Earl of Crewe, who is recovering from the effects of a fall which caused concussion of the brain.

"PIMPLES"

Broke Out All Over Her Face.

Pimples are caused almost entirely by bad blood, and there is only one way to get rid of them, and that is to get at the seat of the trouble by using a good reliable blood purifying medicine.

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for 35 years, and is one of the very best blood medicines procurable. After using it you will find that the pimples have disappeared, and you will have a beautiful clear complexion.

Mrs Robert McNab, Badjeros, Ont., writes: "I am greatly pleased to report the benefit I have derived from the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. About a year ago I became so weak and run down I could scarcely walk, and pimples broke out all over my face. I tried one thing after another, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was advised by a lady friend to try B.B.B. and before I had used one bottle I felt it was doing me good so I used three bottles, and I am now well and strong, and the pimples have all disappeared."

EARLY ACTION ON RECIPROCITY PACT

Democrats Have Determined to Act Fairly Towards the Agreement.

WILL REVISE THE TARIFF

Changes Likely in the Woollen and Cotton Schedules of Payne-Aldrich Law.

Washington, March 5.—The Democrats of the House are beginning to draw up a form of procedure in dealing with the Canadian reciprocity. They propose to revise the woollen and possibly part of the cotton schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and will then pass a bill reducing duties on about 100,000 items, all necessaries of life, including certain articles of wearing apparel. With this accomplished the Democrats, according to present plans, will postpone a general revision of the tariff until later, after they have had an opportunity to make a more complete investigation.

How long the proposed legislation will take in the Senate is a matter for conjecture.

The Democratic leaders in the House intend to be practical in their effort to revise the tariff. They will frame their bills in a way that they hope will appeal to Republican insurgents in the Senate without whose support a Democratic revision will be impossible.

The Republicans in the Senate will have only a majority of eight, and it will take only five or six insurgents to enable the Democrats to carry out their programme, provided, of course, the Democratic party in the Senate is not divided against itself.

The Democrats of the House have determined to act fairly toward the reciprocity agreement and early action is expected upon it.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS BESIEGE QUEEN'S PARK

Ask for Passage of Studholme-Proudfoot Bill, But Get No Encouragement.

Toronto, March 4.—A deputation of women nearly 400 strong, representing the various women's suffrage organizations in the city besieged the Parliament buildings this morning to appeal to Sir James Whitney and his cabinet to support the Studholme-Proudfoot woman's suffrage bill, which has been introduced in the Legislature.

The usual pan-dried arguments were ladled out by half a dozen women, while the Premier, Hon. Frank Cochrane, Hon. J. J. Foy, and Hon. Dr. Pyne stood at the head of the main staircase patiently waiting for the end. The Premier's patience finally was exhausted, and he reminded Mr. Munns, who introduced the deputation, that there were not to be more than three speakers, and that the cabinet had other engagements which had to be kept. Thus by having too many speakers the women unwittingly overdid it, and lost any advantage they might have gained by getting access to the cabinet. The Premier did not attempt to go into the question, got off a few more or less complimentary pleasantries, and the interview was terminated with the intimation that they would get his views when the bill came up for its second reading in the House.

SAILS OVER THE SEA

French Army Aviator Makes a Record Flight.

Nice, France, March 5.—Lieut. Bague accomplished a sensational and daring feat today by flying over the Mediterranean from Antibes to the little island of Gorgona, on the Italian coast. He covered a distance of over 200 kilometres (124.5 miles), establishing a new record for over-water sea flights. This he did without the assistance of tugs, torpedo boats or any other craft to guide him or add to his confidence by their presence.

Lieut. Bague started at 7:30 o'clock this morning in a Bleriot monoplane, with the intention of landing on Corsica and proceeding thence, by way of Sardinia and Sicily to Tunis, to visit the colonel of the Fourth Algerian Rifles, from which regiment he resigned, to devote himself to aviation.

CUPAR, SASKATCHEWAN A PREY TO FLAMES

Cupar, Sask., March 5. — Fire in Beach's hardware store yesterday threatened to destroy the whole west side of the town, and before being subdued did damage estimated at $50,000.

The Beaver Lumber Company's store, the postoffice, Pechet & Barquet's stores, Beach's hardware store and the general store of Hastings & McLaughlin, were all destroyed.

This is the second serious fire the town has suffered in two days.

RELATIVES WANTED.

Hamilton, March 5.—The police are looking for relatives of Mrs. C. J. Carrigan, who died last Friday, as it is believed she left a considerable amount of money.

Mrs. Carrigan lived alone at 105 Queen street south. She was found lying in the hall a few days ago and removed to the hospital, where it was discovered that she was suffering from pneumonia.

About $1,000 worth of jewelry was found in the house, and it is believed that insurance and money in the bank will bring the total up to about $10,000.

LONDON, MONDAY, MARCH 6.

A BADLY-TRAINED CHORUS.

The anti-reciprocity chorus would be more impressive if any two members of it sang the same song. One says the agreement will raise the cost of living, another that it will flood the country with cheap farm products from the United States. Frequently the same person tells both stories. Even Mr. Sifton, who has been lauded as the author of the most logical argument against reciprocity, trips over his own feet. He solemnly predicts that the prairie farmer will get less money for his wheat under reciprocity and then goes on to say that the Canadian milling industry will be injured through the eagerness of the American millers to get Canadian hard wheat. A large part of his speech was an attempt to prove that the United States market held out no advantages to Canadian agriculture. As large a part was devoted to an attempt to prove that reciprocity would tie the prairie provinces to the Western States, and the other provinces of Canada to corresponding states of the Union—inferentially because of the attractions of the American market. His deliverance, which has been praised for its "closely-knit reasoning," does not even hang together.

No doubt the channels of trade between the United States and Canada will be deepened by reciprocity. Mr. Foster himself in December last advocated digging them deeper. But this operation has been going on for years with amazing rapidity. Since 1896 our trade with the United States has increased from $88,000,000 to $321,000,000. The worst enemy of the present Government will not say that there has been a progressive undermining of Canadian independence during that period. The idea of political union with the United States is non-existent in this country, though the baser Canadian partisans are endeavoring to create a contrary impression. In the last fiscal year we imported from the United States $217,502,000 worth of goods, and we sent them only $104,199,695 worth. An arrangement which will enable us to sell more products to the United States to pay for our imports, will be good business. A carload of American goods coming into Canada is politically innocuous. Why is a carload of Canadian goods shipped to the United States a menace to our nationality?

SPRING AND SPORT.

Spring is marching northwards. Having celebrated the Mardi Gras as a farewell to southern flesh pots, this General of Joy broke camp on Ash Wednesday, lifted his banners of life and love, and started on the 40 days' march for winter's capital in the far north. The enemy has strong outposts and makes so hard a fight that spring must more than once retreat and even run for it.

But his armies, the myriad spirits that "on the bat's back do fly," that hold career on bird or insect crying and buzzing in countless chorus, all keep coming on. Each advance is stronger. He carries the sun before him as a burning shield, which the frost may not look upon and live.

Not all are pleased at the conqueror's fitful advance. The splendid winter games, the skating, hockey and curling, must be laid aside, and a time of Lenten dullness will prevail between seasons, while spring and winter fight it out. The close of the hockey contest is usually unsatisfactory, through thaws and slush, just as the final baseball championship in October is decided amidst frost or even snow. Then comes that marked suspension of outdoor athletics for a time, such as the fall does not suffer from.

The little girl, it is true, takes to her skipping rope as soon as the walks are clear, and the small boys with barbaric tenacity of old tradition begin the serious game of marbles in the icy mud. This game is part of the boy's ritual calendar: there is a sort of sanctity in the regularity of its observance; it is a movable feast, though not very movable, depending on the duration of deep snow. When and how did this rite originate? Antiquity is implied in its etiquette, terminology and code, in the grave importance with which its days are solemnized each year. An oldster musing respectfully over a game in progress feels awed as by some ancestral whisper. He is in the presence of a primal mystery, well associated with the spring of the year. The child is father of the man, he is also the far off ancestor when he plays at this earnest gambling, prehistoric pastime.

But the Lenten period is tedious to the older athlete and sportsman. Quoits will hardly do. He longs for the time

When that Aprille with his showers sweet
The drought of March hath pierced to the root.

Easter come, he will go on Saturday pilgrimages to favorite streams and ponds, bent on reviving his skill in the gentle art of Walton, that first and last of summer sports. Then all the world rejoices, the flowers rush out between sun and shower, Our Lady of the Sunshine forgetting her snows makes ready her May crown, and the lacrosse or baseball player brings tender fingers into the eager air.

AN ECHO OF 1849.

Some English Liberals are excusably but unnecessarily alarmed over the possible effect on Canadian opinion of the Unionist attacks upon the Taft-Fielding agreement. The Westminster Gazette quotes a dispatch from Lord Elgin in 1849, in which he insisted that British opposition to a Canadian movement for reciprocity would quicken the existing tendency to annexation. At that time annexation sentiment was rife in Canada. Its causes were commercial, and Lord Elgin proposed a commercial remedy. There is a curious resemblance between the situation then and now. The party in Great Britain which had opposed the abolition of the British preference—the cause of Canadian discontent—cried out that reciprocity between Canada and the United States would be inimical to British connection. Today the party which is trying to restore the British preference raises a similar cry. The cry sixty years ago had as little sincerity and as little of divination as the cry today. It was raised for partisan purposes then; it is raised for partisan purposes now. If anything, there was more color of reason in the attitude of British Conservatives in 1849 than in 1911. There was a real annexation movement in 1849, and British North America was weak and divided. In 1911 British North America is united and powerful, and annexation feeling is dead and buried.

Canadians quite understand that the attacks of the British tariff reformers upon the reciprocity agreement are really directed at the Asquith Government. If the tariff reformers were in office they would not venture to use language which they use in Opposition. At the same time, it is satisfactory to know that at Westminster there is a party in power which is minding its own business and giving no encouragement to the mischief-makers in Canada.

Thoughtful Canadians and Americans should love the reciprocity agreement for the enemies it has made on both sides of the line.

Curious, isn't it, that if reciprocity means annexation so many United States senators should avoid it like the plague?

The Hamilton Spectator wants to know whether the London fixed assessments include school rates. They do not. All manufacturers must pay the full school tax.

Sir Donald Mann reaffirms his belief that reciprocity will greatly benefit the Canadian farmers, and therefore the railways. His testimony outweighs the ravings of all the politicians.

The Peterboro Cheese Board, representing a thousand dairymen, has unanimously declared in favor of reciprocity. Readers of some Opposition prints are given the impression that the agreement hasn't a friend in the country.

The illness of the Earl of Crewe is a loss to the Asquith Government at this juncture. The Government is weak in the upper chamber, and greatly depended upon Lord Crewe for the guidance of the anti-veto bill. The task falls upon the greatest intellect in public life—Lord Morley—but he is old and feeble.

Mr. A. E. Ames, the Toronto financier, protests against the cry that British investors will be prejudiced against Canada by the reciprocity agreement. He says that such conduct is mischievous. He sees no danger in the agreement, and the possibility of much benefit to the farming country. The utterances of Messrs. Cox and Ames show that not all the financial magnates of Toronto have their horizons bounded by the city limits.

YESTERDAY.

[Reginald Wright Kauffman.]

Here is Life's full calendar
Here are hours of rest,
Here are days and days of toil,
And time for tears and jest.
"None so good as those to come"
So the wise men say,
But to me the best must be Ever Yesterday.

Yesterday it never rained,
Yesterday was fair,
Not a sorrow dimmed the sun,
Not a tear was there;
Underneath the cloudless sky,
In the Always May,
All the earth was glad and young
Only Yesterday.

Now the difference? The hours
All have grown so long,
Half the flowers are withering,
Half the world is wrong,
All my friends are growing old,
I am growing grey,
Waiting till tomorrow's sun
Rise on Yesterday.

ONE MAN'S IGNORANCE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The Buffalo senator who introduced a resolution at a gathering of suffragettes, requesting all women to remove their hats at public meetings, must have a queer notion of what women go to public meetings for.

HUGE CRACKER APPETITE.

[New York Sun.]

Londoners have the largest appetite for crackers, or, as they call them, biscuits, of any people in the world. They eat fifteen carloads every day, while New York takes ten carloads and Paris five. As for the total daily consumption of the whole world, the Bakers' Weekly says it would take a line of freight cars extending from New York to Baltimore.

Even the far corners of the world are demanding crackers. Abyssinia wants seven carloads a day; Egypt takes eighteen, Liberia four, Morocco nineteen, Afghanistan eight, Ceylon seven, and even Manchuria wants seventeen carloads every twenty-four hours.

DISCRIMINATION.

[Cornell Widow.]

"What do you charge for your roses?"
"Five dollars up."
"But I'm a student—"
"Then it's five dollars down."

A DOMESTIC SERIAL.

[Suburban Life.]

Mrs. Littletown—This magazine looks rather the worse for wear.
Mrs. Neartown—Yes, it's the one I sometimes lend to the servant on Sundays.
Mrs. Littletown—Doesn't she get tired of always reading the same one?
Mrs. Neartown—Oh, no. You see, it's the same book, but it's always a different servant.

TAKEN FOR GRANTED.

[Saturday Night.]

Principal Hutton, of Toronto University, in a lecture, recently pointed out that patriotism in England goes without saying that it was not necessary to proclaim it from the housetop, nor was it necessary for an Englishman to wear his heart upon his sleeve. That he is British, that he dearly loves Britain, and will remain British, is accepted as a matter of course. We would do well here in Canada to take a leaf now and again out of the Englishman's book of life.

McBRIDE REPUDIATES IT.

[Victoria Times.]

Our Premier, to give him all the credit that is his due, rises higher than his friends at Ottawa in one particular. He has had the good sense and the good taste to put behind him the temptation of "waving the old flag." He has paid Canadians the compliment of refraining from an insinuation that they can be tempted from their allegiance to the British crown by the prospect of larger profits as a result of improved business relations with the United States. For that candid confession we thank him, because it will have the effect of clearing the way for a discussion on the only basis upon which it ought to be argued, from a purely economic or business standpoint.

THE LIMIT.

[Philadelphia Press.]

The most popular feature of the menu for dinner had been soup, of which the little girl had partaken heartily.

"Dear me," she sighed, as she went on with other things, "I've eaten so much soup that every time I swallow a piece of bread I can hear it splash."

A USEFUL REMEDY.

[Lippincott's.]

Little 4-year-old Billy was visiting his neighbor, Jerry. Billy showed every evidence of a bad cold. Jerry's mother asked with grave solicitude:

"Don't your mother give you anything for your cold, Billy?"

Whereupon Billy answered, feeling in all his pockets at once:

"Yes, ma'am; she gives me a clean handkerchief."

BARGAIN EXPERT'S REWARD.

[The Delineator.]

A little girl, upon being shown her twin brothers, which had arrived the night before on Mr. Stork's fast express, said: "Well, mother is always getting bargains."

WORLD-STRANGENESS.

[William Watson.]

Strange the world about me lies,
Never yet familiar grown—
Still disturbs me with surprise,
Haunts me like a face half known.

In the house with starry dome,
Floored with gemlike plains and seas,
Shall I never feel at home,
Never wholly be at ease?

On from room to room I stray,
Yet my Host can ne'er espy,
And I know not to this day
Whether guest or captive I.

So between the starry dome
And the floor of plains and seas,
I have never felt at home,
Never wholly been at ease.

A CIRCUS WITHIN.

[Philadelphia Press.]

Little Freddie had just made his first acquaintance with animal crackers. After eating quite an assortment of them Freddie became very thoughtful.

"What makes you so pensive, dear?" asked his mother.

"Oh, I was just thinking what a circus was going on inside of me."

MODERN WAR.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

"Your soldiers look fat and happy. You must have a war chest."

"Not exactly, but things are on a higher plane than they used to be. This revolution is being financed by a moving picture concern."

ONE OF OUR EXTRAVAGANCES.

[Wall Street Journal.]

We are anxious to see the fullest justice done to the genuine veteran, but no one who has investigated the subject, even on the pitifully inadequate information vouchsafed by the pension bureau, will fail to come to the conclusion that of the annual $138,000,000 spent upon pensions, at least one-third, and probably more, should never be disbursed at all. The whole list is honeycombed with fraudulent and unworthy cases. This is one of our extravagances, and it may be pointed out again that public extravagance is quite as bad as private waste.

MAY DRAG IN BRYCE?

[Ottawa Free Press.]

The men responsible for the British end of the reciprocity are W. S. Fielding and William Paterson, and they and their colleagues are prepared to take the consequences of that responsibility.

To drag in the British ambassador at Washington is the height of folly. What would these arch-imperialists have done? Would they have instructed Mr. Bryce to tell the Canadian envoys that they did not know their business, lest they must not enter into a trade agreement with the United States, and have ordered them home?

Not even the National Review would dare to suggest that. Yet it is the only course which would have been followed except the wise one of allowing Canada to conduct her own business and accept the consequences.

THOUGHT TAFT BLUFFING SEE ALL SUMMER JOB

President Gave Senators a Real Surprise in Ordering the Extra Session.

Washington, March 5.—Notwithstanding the positiveness with which President Taft had declared repeatedly in all but direct and official language that unless Congress should enact legislation to put into operation the Canadian reciprocity agreement he would summon an extra session to resume consideration of the subject, his fulfillment of that threat within two hours of adjournment was an actual surprise to many members of that body. It was especially so in the Senate. As late as an hour before final adjournment yesterday prominent senators and others about the capital made bets that there would be no extra session.

Pressure nothing less than tremendous had been brought to bear upon the Administration and upon members of Congress to prevent the calling of an extra session. Until the last moment rumors were incessant that a way would be found to avoid it.

Rumors of Withdrawal.

One of the most persistent rumors was that there were in progress some kind of negotiations between the President and the Canadian Government looking to the withdrawal of the agreement by one party or the other, so as to give excuse for withholding the special call. Another was that there was some kind of an understanding between the President and the Republican leaders in Congress to the effect that one or more of the great appropriation bills, preferably the general deficiency bill, was to be "lost in the shuffle," so that the special session would be unavoidable. Still another was that the leaders had determined to hold up some appropriation bill in which the White House was especially interested, and at the last moment make its passage conditional upon the abandonment of the extra session project.

Some go so far as to say that if certain senators had believed the President would actually make good his threat, they would have made strenuous effort to pass the reciprocity bill. Whatever may be the degree of absence of truth in any of these stories, there can be no doubt that the issue of the President's extra session proclamation met scant welcome at the hands of those members of Congress who after the stress of the past session will barely have time to go home for a brief respite and to adjust their affairs for another session, which many think will extend far into the summer. There are those who believe it will be so long as to leave only a "constructive recess" before the regular session begins in December.

FATAL CLEVELAND FIRE

A Greek Lodging House Furnishes a Spectacular Blaze.

[Canadian Press.]

Cleveland, March 6.—Fourteen men were injured, two of them fatally, in a fire which destroyed a three-story Greek lodging-house here early today. The fire was a spectacular one, nearly a score of the occupants saving their lives by jumping from windows on the second and third floors.

Most of the injured were hurt when when the first floor of the building collapsed precipitating them into the basement. This was the first the sleepers knew of the fire. More than 50 Greeks were asleep in the building at the time.

Early reports had it that three persons lost their lives, but the police, after an investigation, declared that these rumors were untrue.

BISHOP OF LONDON ON APOLOGETIC CATHOLICS

His Lordship Preached on Sunday Morning in St. Peter's Cathedral.

Bishop Fallon Sunday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral commenced a series of Lenten sermons dealing with the attitude of the Catholic Church in regard to different matters of importance.

"Apologetic Catholics," "humanitarians," and others who declare that Christ was a great and good man who taught all that was good and proper, but who deny his divinity, were spoken of particularly by his lordship. The apologetic Catholic is one, said the speaker, who admits what he does not have to go out of his way to live up to. No person respects a person who will not stand by his convictions, he declared. Humanitarians, who go about seeking to do charity, but who find it impossible to accept dogmatic principles and men of divided allegiance who desire to serve both God and man have no place in the Catholic Church. The reply of the Catholic Church to Christ's question: "Who do you say that I am?" is taken from his own lips, from the authentic records of his apostles from which the church has never swayed, God the Father Almighty.

Those who believe in the penitential season, have only half of it, concluded the speaker, for Lent is a season preparatory to the great event of holy week, of resurrection Sunday.

MAY ROW OVER RAILWAY

German Protest Against Great Britain's Policy in Persia.

Berlin, March 5.—The semi-official North German Gazette gives prominence to what is clearly an officially communicated statement of the Government's view on the Bagdad railway concession in relation to England's alleged claims and her desire to negotiate directly with Turkey on the matter.

It says that as the construction of the railway was finally settled betwen Turkey and the Germany company, the rumored negotiations could only refer to the section between Bagdad and the coast. The concession for the construction of this section, however, says the Gazette, has also been granted to the German company, so the talk of negotiations between Turkey and Great Britain regarding it are beside the mark. If Great Britain has any wishes regarding this section she must formulate them and communicate them to the two contracting parties. They will be considered so far as Germany is concerned in a friendly spirl.

The North German Gazette indorses a semi-official statement in the Frankfurter Zeitung, questioning Great Britain's pretended protectorate in Koweit, which serves as the basis of the English claims concerning the railway, and contends that however the Koweit pretensions may be settled, no sort of protectorate over the coast terminus of the railway can justify the smallest claim to a section of the railway itself.

ARMED NEGROES GUARD ZION CITY

[Canadian Press.]

Zion City, Ill., March 6. — Twenty-four negroes, armed with pistols, were stationed to guard the tabernacle here yesterday by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, who feared his enemies would attempt to burn the building, following the riots on Saturday, when scores were severely beaten.

$400 WILL BE ADDED TO THE PRIZE LISTS

Cattle Committee of the Western Fair Board Met Saturday.

At a meeting of the cattle committee of the Western Fair held on Saturday afternoon important recommendations were made regarding the prize lists by which about $400 more will be added.

A communication was read from the Shorthorn Breeders' Association, offering a grant of $250 in this class if the board would duplicate the amount. It was recommended that this be done, and this will bring the prize list for shorthorns up to about $800.

A communication from the Canadian Hereford Breeders' Association stated that they were willing to grant $150, and the American Hereford Breeders Association $50, provided the board would offer similar amounts. It was recommended that this be done.

The Holstein Breeders' Association renewed their offer made last year of $100 and a silver cup.

The board decided to add a new section for herds in the Aberdeen Angus class, and offer a first prize of $10 and a second prize of $5.

Those present were Captain T. E. Robson (chairman), Robert Sutherland, Dorchester; William McNeil, D. A. Graham, Lobo; A. Kalus and Col. McEwen, Byron; C. E. Trebilcock, The Grove; W. J. Reid, Wm. Moore, Napier; Thomas Russell, and Secretary A. M. Hunt.

WINGHAM.

Wingham, March 3. — There passed away at her residence on Victoria street Friday morning Miss Katherine McDermid Fisher, a highly esteemed resident of Wingham, who had been seriously ill for the last seven weeks, when death ended her sufferings.

She leaves a host of friends, three brothers and two sisters: Mr. Peter Fisher, postmaster, Wingham, Ont.; Mr. John Fisher, Regina, Sask.; Mr. Archie Fisher, farmer; Miss Margaret Fisher, at home, and Mrs. (Dr.) A. A. Cameron, of Ottawa. Deceased was in her 70th year, and will be greatly missed by the Baptist Church and Sunday school, in which both parts she took great interest.

The funeral will be private from her late residence, on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to Wingham cemetery, services being conducted by the Rev. George Victor Collins, pastor of the church, of which the deceased was a member.

Wingham, March 6. — Communion services were held in the Presbyterian Church yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis entertained a number of their friends the other evening. The time was pleasantly spent with music, games and dancing.

Miss Cora Beckworth has returend to Toronto, after visiting her parents here.

Rev. G. Victor Collins preached in his own pulpit yesterday. His evening text was: hosen from Luke xiii., 34, 35. Mr. John H. Christie rendered a solo, which was much appreciated.

The B. Y. P. U. will be addressed this evening by the pastor. Subject, "The Danger and Uses of Money."

Mr. Charles McGregor is still critically ill at Pleasant Valley.

The young son of Mr. Thomas Henderson, who was seriously injured last week by falling on a sharp stick, which penetrated his intestines, is recovering.

Mr. William Poole was visiting in Fergus last week.

Mr. Copeland was in Palmerston recently, and reports business good.

Mr. Blackhall, of Wallaceburg, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Sneath.

An address and presentation is to be made to Mr. Robert Maxwell by the congregation of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Maxwell is leaving for Leamington to take up fruit farming.

The condition of Miss Jennie Sneath is still unchanged. The three Simmons brothers called with their string musical instruments yesterday and helped to cheer the patient up.

THE HAITIEN TERROR

Condition Similar to Those of 1908 in Island Capital.

Cape Haitien, Hayti, March 6.—This city is experiencing a reign of terror approaching that of 1908 when citizens suspected of disloyalty to President Nord Alexis were taken from their homes at night and summarily shot.

Arrests by the military continue, and the prisons are filled. The local jail designed for the confinement of eight persons is now occupied by eighteen men. The prisoners as arrested are chained together in pairs.

The frightened peasants no longer come to town with food supplies and a famine is threatened. The hospitals are filled with soldiers ill and dying from starvation. Only the military authorities and foreigners are permitted on the streets. Civilians generally are in hiding fearing reprisals by the Government.

Foreigners, arriving here and Haytiens returning are not permitted to land until their trunks are opened and the contents examined by the port authorities. Letters that they may have on their persons are subjected to the same scrutiny.

FOUGHT OVER GIRL

True Bill on Murder Indictment For a Montreal Man.

Montreal, March 6.—In the court of king's bench, the grand jury has returned a true bill on the indictment for murder against Rossario Casavant, charged with killing Ernest Bigras. The young men had a quarrel over a girl residing in Seigneurs street, with whom Bigras was keeping company. Bigras worsted Casavant in a fist fight, but a few days later Casavant struck Bigras on the head with a stick, in the end of which there was a nail. The nail entered Bigras' head and four days later he died in the Hotel Dieu from the effects of blood poisoning.

OTTAWA'S EPIDEMIC

Conservation Commission Will Aid in War on Typhoid.

Ottawa, March 6.—Hon. Clifford Sifton, chairman of the commission on conservation, has offered to the city of Ottawa the services of the chief medical adviser of the commission Dr. Hodgetts, to make an exhaustive inquiry into the source of Ottawa's typhoid outbreak. To Mayor Hopewell Mr. Sifton stated that the commission's business included assisting in just such a case as this. Dr. Hodgetts, he said, would be given any assistance he required, and would be allowed all the time necessary to make a full inquiry. The mayor and the medical health officer both approve of the suggestion, and so the board of health has been called for a special session to consider acceptance of the offer.

Strain and serve with the fish.

How They Do It

London, March 3.—Nothing is sacred to the German statistician. Presumably basing his calculations upon information culled from fiction, he calculates that in the case of proposals of marriage 36 per cent of the suitors press the hand of their beloved, 24 per cent conclude their speech with an embrace, 4 per cent kiss the hair, 2 per cent kiss the hand, 2 per cent fall on their knees, and 20 per cent swallow nervously before they declare their passion.

Ten per cent open and close their mouths without being able to utter a single word, and 2 per cent make their proposals while standing on one foot.

With regard to the women, on the other hand, 60 per cent sink helpless into the lover's arms for whose proposal they have been waiting, 20 per cent blush and hide their faces, 1 per cent swoon away, 4 per cent are genuinely amazed, 14 per cent gaze silently into the suitor's eyes, and 1 per cent run away to tell a girl friend.

MARY'S COOK BOOK

Mock Angel Food.—One-half cup flour, one cup sugar, three rounded teaspoons baking powder and a pinch of salt. Sift all the above together five or six times and add the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs with flavoring; bake in a tin with a tube. Do not grease the tube, but as soon as taken from the oven turn upside down, and as the cake cools it loosens.

Stuffed Monkies.—For the dough mix half pound shortening with half pound granulated sugar. Work thoroughly together, put in the grated rind of one lemon, and then as much flour as will make a fairly stiff paste when two well-whipped eggs have been added and enough ground cinnamon incorporated to make the whole a light brown color. A few ground almonds are a great improvement. Mix well and roll it out several times. Roll it into sheets not more than a quarter of an inch thick, and cut it into rounds about three inches for the bases and two inches diameter for the tops. Lay the larger circles on the pastboard, and into the centre spread a teaspoonful of sweet stuffing; put a small circle on top, and wet edges of the bottom circle, which turn over the top one, and pinch so that they look like the edges of shortbread. Wash tops over with milk. Make a hole in the centre and lay a blanched almond over, so that the steam may escape when baking. Place on buttered tins and bake in moderate oven, not too brown. Sweet stuffing is made as follows: One pound of coarsely-broken loaf sugar, half-pound stoned and chopped raisins, half-pound currants, quarter-pound of sultanas and quarter-pound of orange peel chopped fine; quarter-pound blanched almost chopped, one ounce of mixed spice, a pinch of salt and one egg whipped to a froth. Mix all together the same as for mincemeat, and keep it in an earthenware pan in a cool place.

Correspondence

Edited by Cynthia Grey.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Please tell me how to clean light tapestry covered furniture. 2. Also how to clean white plumes. 3. When a neighbor calls, how soon should one return the call? READER.

A.—1. Take a small, clean bristle brush and scour warm cornmeal into the tapestry, then brush it off. Renew as long as meal looks at all soiled. Then lay damp cloth on upholstery and beat with rattan whip. 2. Wash in paste of gasoline and cornstarch. Let dry and shake clean. Be careful about fire. 3. Within two weeks.

Dear Miss Grey,—How soon should one's regrets be sent after receiving a wedding invitation? SELLA.

A.—A note of regrets and good wishes for the future of the bride and bridegroom-to-be should be sent as soon as possible.

Dear Miss Grey,—When a girl takes a man to an informal dance, is it her place to thank him, or should he thank her? CONSTANT READER.

A.—It would be an act of courtesy for him to express to her his appreciation, and for her to say in a friendly way that she is glad he was able to accompany her.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Please tell me an inexpensive preparation to polish hardwood floors. 2. Also for white enamelled woodwork. 3. What to use to remove finger marks from mahogany and oak furniture? MRS. A. B. A.

A.—1. Wash with soap and warm water, rinse and wipe dry. Then rub with cloth wet with equal parts oil and turpentine. 2. Simply wash enamelled woodwork and wipe dry. 3. Wash with suds made with a good white soap, warm water and a few drops kerosene. Rinse and polish with soft, clean cloth.

To beautify furniture try olive oil or raw linseed oil, rubbed into the wood according to the grain.

If you are a poor buttonhole maker, or pressed for time, try a machine-made buttonhole, especially for underwear or children's clothes. They are neat, quickly made, and last as long as if worked by hand. Cut the buttonhole perfectly straight, overcast the edges and ends by hand, then stitch all around two or three times by machine, and you will have a nice buttonhole with very little time and labor.

Saw the handle off an old broom obliquely, fasten is securely to a scrub brush, and use it to scrub the kitchen floor. This is a way to save one's knees.

It is quite easy to darn on the machine, and busy mothers will find it saves time. Stretch material to be darned in ordinary embroidery hoops. Remove foot from sewing machine, put hoop under the needle bar and put down the pressure bar. Move hoop back and forth while running the machine, forming threads as in ordinary darning. Then cross these threads by threads running in the opposite direction. The result is a nice smooth darn.

It's a wise plan to keep three soap dishes in the kitchen, one for toilet soap, one for laundry soal, and one for scouring soap. They will prove to be a great convenience.

To make a candle fit any candlestick, dip it in hot water to soften the wax, and then push it into the candlestick which would otherwise be too large or too small.

Latest Fashions

The vogue for velvet is, if anything, on the increase. We have had the velvet scarf, the handbag of velvet, the velvet shoe and slipper, and new ways of using velvet are invented daily.

Kilted skirts are promised for girls' wear again; also kilted flounces under one-piece loose frocks. Another idea is the "band" flounce trimming on girls' dresses of plain material.

Beads are used everywhere. No kind of trimming is so popular.

Where the coiffure is concerned there is a rumor that the little straight fringe—light, and very short—is being revived again in Paris. Some time ago it was tentatively introduced, and now many girls are frankly adopting it, especially in cases where the hair is firmly banded round the head a little above the forehead as a support to the clusters of curls on the crown.

The Steering Wheel

BY ROBERT ALEXANDER WASON.

"How much?" asked Lorrimer shortly.

Lorrain slowly took a cigarette from his case, as he estimated the amount which his brother should have accumulated during his residence in the country where fortunes were often made in a week. There was a keenness in his brother's face, a composed confidence which resembled the expressions of the successful business men he had met.

"Nearly ten thousand dollars, all told," he ventured.

"It is out of the question," said Lorrimer decisively. "I am not rich."

"I see you as a guest in this house," argued Lorrain. "I am sure you are not a friend of Dick's. Why should a poor man come to see the head of the Bannington Steel Plant?"

"I am in his employ," said Lorrimer.

"What! A common workman?"

"No, his private secretary," answered Lorrimer, a slight smile curving his lips. "That is better," admitted Lorrain complacently. "I could not bear to think of a Lorrain descending to common labor. Does not your position pay well?"

"The salary is fair, but it is chiefly valuable as a stepping-stone. I have studied the business closely, have been of service to the firm, and as soon as I can buy a little more stock I am to be made a director."

"This proves you to be in the confidence of the management. There is surely some way in which you can help me." Lorrain's tone was ingratiating.

"I know of none, and I must leave you now. Mr. Bannington is waiting for me and he insists on punctuality," replied Lorrimer coldly.

"Oh, he can wait a few minutes. I am in really a desperate fix, and you will have to assist me."

"Have to?" questioner Lorrimer, his eyes narrowing a little.

"Yes, have to," answered Lorrain, lowering his voice and speaking slowly. "You must not forget that you took the blame on your shoulders, and that it rests there yet. Would the old man desire a director who had confessed to forgery in France?"

It was an old, old situation, trite in fiction, hackneyed on the stage, and yet, in spite of its having hung over him for years, it suddenly took living shape before Lorrimer's eyes. For a moment his mouth weakened, and then it once more hardened into its habitual calm determination, typical of the modern man of business.

"You were the favorite," he stated in matter-of-fact tones. "I took the blame to temper the blow as much as possible to our father. I think that Mr. Bannington would believe me and understand. As neither of our parents is now living, there is no longer any inducement for me to retain my false position, and if you make any disclosures you alone would be the loser. You would lose even the false title you wear."

Lorrain appeared perfectly at ease. "It is not a question of choice with me," he said. "If I don't get the money I go under anyway. It is entirely up to you."

"I can wait no longer," said Lorrimer. "Here is my address; you may call and see me any evening."

"Don't forget that I must have part of the money by the day after tomorrow," said Lorrain, as his brother started to leave the room. Lorrimer made no reply, and after following him to the door Lorrain turned and walked back to the window. "I still have a leverage on him," he muttered, "and if he does not give in generously I shall squeeze."

Again he turned from the window, and again he found himself face to face with his brother. For the first time he noted the cornet case. "Since when did you become a musician?" he asked.

Lorrimer glanced down at the case, but paid no attention to the question. "I would help you if I could," he said, "but I cannot. I am willing to give you enough to leave the country, but as for advancing ten thousand dollars—it is out of the question."

The cornet case had given Lorrain an idea. He felt sure that no musical instrument was inside, but that the case was used to carry important papers without attracting attention. "I do not want to cause you trouble," he said candidly, "but I must have money. I have overheard the old man talking to Dick, and I know there is some kind of a big deal on. Give me a straight inside tip, and I'll find some way to turn it into money."

Lorrimer clenched his hand fiercely. "You may as well drop that," he said sternly. "I took blame for your forgery, but while this has ruined my reputation in France, it has not ruined my sense of honor. I shall never reveal a single secret."

"It would be much the easiest way," said Lorrain, with irritating composure. "I don't want to be forced to resort to extreme methods, but you can help me if you will—and I intend that you shall."

"You may do whatever you please," answered Lorrimer firmly. "I wash my hands of you."

He left the room abruptly, and Lorrain seated himself at the centre table. For a while he sat with a thoughtful frown on his brow, and then with a pleased smile he sprang to his feet and, crossing the hall, he left the house by the side door. Soon after this a low whistle floated out from a clump of bushes in which rested a bench.

CHAPTER XVI.

Dick Steers; Cupid Picks the Path.

It had been a busy day for Dick and Mulligan. He had come out from New York on the train that reached Minster at seven o'clock, and had hastened to the oak-tree postoffice at the far end of the park before entering the house. He found two little missives for each day that he had been away, and as he was careful to read them in exactly the order in which they were sent, and was quick to notice their progressive fervor, a strange buoyancy filled his bosom, as though his soul were dancing for joy. Well, probably it was.

Their affair had progressed amazingly, although kept strictly within the boy and girl limits which they had originally set; and the one time that he had kissed her she had refused to be mollified until he had produced a half-dozen standard child-stories to prove that this was an incident, strictly consistent with the game they were playing. Even then she had refused to permit a repetition, in spite of his convincing arguments that this bit of realism was positively necessary to give class to their purely histrionic production.

She had proved to be a rather exacting young lady, refusing to step foot on the Bannington grounds, even though the tangled seclusion was greatly preferable to the possible publicity of the country road where he had met her while riding Roland. Furthermore, she would not speak to him during the day, but insisted on using the oak tree and written communications. And this was carrying things to extremes, because she had caused a small pavilion to be erected in the corner of the Burton grounds, so close to the oak tree that she could write her missives in the pavilion and mail them without leaving it. Dick was getting his first personal experience of feminine unreason.

This pavilion had been erected to mislead the young lady's aunt, who was inclined toward eavesdropping and who demanded ample reasons for any change of routine. A book and a note-book seemed ample excuse for a maiden seeking the privacy of a pavilion, and Bayard, the collie, lent dignity and safety to the situation. Not that lying on a rug and waiting for something to happen was a career which Bayard would have selected had his choice been a free one. Humans are a straining trial to an intelligent and discriminating dog.

Strange as it may seem to those who have not observed closely, or who have forgotten, Dick and the girl scarcely touched on family affairs. While together they had even forgotten that they had any. Of course it is undeniable that scientific mating, which would take into account inherited tendencies, would greatly improve the human, as it has already many of the brute species, but, unfortunately, most marriages are arranged by impulsive young things who forget that there are more than two members of the human race, and what is even more disastrous, entirely overlook the possibility of the membership ever being increased.

After Dick had read, re-read and read over the notes, he scribbled a hasty answer which pleaded eloquently for a prompt interview, and then he hastened in to breakfast. As soon as this was finished he and Mulligan hurried back to the oak tree. It was still early and no answer was waiting. This so wrought on Dick's nerves that he tore through the underbrush, filling Mulligan with expectancy and causing the keepers endless annoyance. When at last they caught up with Dick, he made it perfectly clear that there was an incompatibility between himself and them which no amount of attention could bridge, and after they had acted on Dick's suggestion and had gone to guard the part of the park closest to the Staunton place, Dick returned to the woodsy postoffice with the disappointed Mulligan, and was elated to find an answer awaiting him.

SKETCHED IN FIFTH AVENUE'S FASHION SALONS

These three charming new costumes were sketched at New York by our artist on the scene of their creation, in the most fashionable and exclusive of Fifth avenue's fashion salons. The particularly new thing about No. 1 is the moire trimming of the bolero jacket. No. 2 is a toilet of brown cassimere, with velvet buttons and lace. The lace butterfly on the hat is tremendously new and illustrative of a novel millinery idea sure to be popular in many variations during the next few months. The gown was sent direct from the Fifth avenue store which designed it to a New York society woman spending the "season" at Palm Beach, Fla. No. 3 has big revers and a single button fastening, combining two late and popular ideas. The suit is made of light-colored broadcloth with black satin in effective contrast.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

Not One Woman In Twenty Has a Stong Back.

The kidneys are to blame nine times out of ten.

Mrs. A. H. Hutton, Jr., McCreary, Man., writes:—"Two years ago last spring I had a very severe pain in the small of my back. When I would rise it seemed as if my back would break. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I would have to get up three or four times during the night. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they effected a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

When the blood isn't properly filtered the poisons that ought to be carried off by the kidneys are sent back through the system, and it's hardly to be wondered that backaches and lame backs come to make life miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by expelling all the poisonous matter from the kidneys, and then heal the delicate membranes and make their action regular and natural.

OWEN SOUND BOARD OF TRADE FAVORS IT

Majority of Businessmen Decide That Reciprocity Would Benefit This Country.

Owen Sound, March 6.—At its regular meeting the Owen Sound Board of Trade adopted a strong resolution approving of the reciprocity agreement. The resolution was moved by Mr. J. M. Kilbourne, one of the "big men" of the Canada Cement Company, in a short, but well-reasoned address, in which he dealt with the arguments of opponents of the agreements, showing that there was little ground for fear for the material and none for the national welfare of Canada.

Ex-Mayor F. W. Harrison seconded the resolution, which was strongly supported by Mr. Christopher Eaton, of the Eaton Bros.' Malting Company. Mr. John Legate, ex-reeve, and Mr. D. J. Kennedy, of the Wm. Kennedy & Sons Company, opposed the resolution, not through fear of Canada losing its political identity, but on the ground that Canada was prosperous now, and it was better to let well enough alone.

The majority in favor of the resolution was sufficient to indicate clearly the feeling of the meeting. About 50 members were present. The resolution was discussed purely as a trade question, and so far as could be seen without political bias.

LLOYD HARRIS' DENIAL

Has Not Stated He Intends To Join Sifton and German.

Ottawa, April 6.—The statement that Mr. Lloyd Harris, M. P., of Brantford, has announced his determination to join Messrs. Sifton and German in opposition to the reciprocity agreement is given a denial by that gentleman. He says he has made up his mind, but he has told nobody what that decision is and he will make his decision known at the proper time early next week. The general belief is that after making a mild protest against the reduction of duties on agricultural implements he will sacrifice himself for the good of his party and his country, and will accept the agreement.

ST. THOMAS EMPLOYEE KILLED IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, March 5.—Robert S. Acton, a Michigan Central conductor, was instantly killed near Jackson this afternoon when he lost his footing and fell between two cars of his train. The body was fearfully mangled. Acton leaves a wife and three children. His home is said to be in St. Thomas, Ont.

LADY CASSAULT DEAD.

Quebec, March 5.—The death took place here this morning of Lady Cassault, the wife of the former Chief Justice Cassault. She was in her 70th year. Her death was somewhat unexpected, she having been ill for only a couple of days with what was supposed to be the grip, but was thought to be recovering.

In Search of Beauty

You Must First Win Health By Getting the Blood Rich and Red.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Every man and every woman has an individual idea of what constitutes beauty.

Is beauty skin deep or does it depend on the glow which health alone can give? Is it due to regularity of feature or to the gracefulness and elasticity which accompany health and vigor?

To win beauty you must first gain health. Rich, red blood is the secret. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is successful and popular because it forms rich, red blood, and in this way gives gracefulness to every movement, and a healthful, natural glow to the complexion.

Thin blood and weak nerves soon give one a tired, worn-out appearance. Worry and anxiety show themselves in wrinkles and care lines. Dr. Chase's Nerve food enriches the blood, restores vigor to the nerves, and drives away headaches and bodily pains.

By filling the arteries with new, red blood Dr. Chase's Nerve Food rounds out the form to healthful proportions, makes the muscles and tissues firm and strong, and gives vivacity to mind and body.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WOMEN ARE NOT TRAINED

This Is Why the Country Is Confronted by the Servant Girl Problem.

AN AMERICAN OPINION

Says the Young Woman of Today Does Not Know How to Keep House and Hence the Trouble.

Apropos of the servant girl problem, which is giving London women no little anxiety at present, because of the impossibility of securing the desired help, The Advertiser had an interview the other day with the superintendent of a large state employment office in the United States, who happened to be in London.

"Why cannot the problem of domestic help be solved?" he was asked.

"Why cannot it be solved?" and he repeated the question before answering it. "Because of the increased demand for the woman servant over ten years ago, and the increase of ten years ago over the previous decade, and the increased demand that is coming. The situation arises from lack of training of the young women of the country in the domestic arts and crafts. Most mothers nowadays do not make their daughters wash the dishes. Fewer make them help with the family washing, and fewer still in cooking or baking.

"It is a generation or so since this lack of training became common and the result is that the delicatessen shop and the bakeshop and the canned goods factory get the gold now. When I was a boy most of the mothers did their own baking, and fewer of them hired girls, as they were called then, and they had larger families, too. Most families then got along with the aid of a washerwoman one day a week.

Now It Is Different.

"Now it is different," he continued. "The young woman who marries does not know how to keep house and she employs a servant—a maid, also a washerwoman. Americans with small incomes try to live up to the pace set by their friends who earn more, and to do so must have servants. It is getting to be a case of employing servants, buying diamonds and furs, and an automobile, whether a mortgage goes on the house or not.

"Another reason for the servant girl problem is the decrease in the supply. Some years ago there were many Irish, Swedish and German girls coming to this country with their parents who went into service. Now there is less of this immigration. Also the young people of these races who come over receive better educations before they attain maturity and they become stenographers, bookkeepers, and school teachers. They prefer the shorter hours, Sundays off and greater freedom. From the races that naturally would supply servants the factory forces are recruited. The servant girl problem is going to grow bigger, instead of smaller.

Domestic Science Compulsory.

"In Berlin domestic science is being made a compulsory study in the public schools. Some have advocated trying that here, but it will not alter the situation. You may force our girls to study domestic science, but you cannot force them to enter domestic service, and the Government cannot force a woman to do her own cooking if she wants a maid."

Imperial Free Trade and Its Implications

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your issue today, commenting on the suggested policy of free trade within the Empire, you speak of many people favoring this policy. Free trade within the Empire necessarily implies a tariff against all others. This is a very fascinating but exceedingly dangerous policy to meddle with. The opponents of the reciprocity agreement all make much of the disturbing of existing business arrangements and changing of channels of trading, but they are willing to ask Great Britain to change the whole fabric of her trade and commerce with the whole world, and which has made her mistress of the seas.

Just try to realize what this means—the British Empire versus the other parts of the world in a trade fight.

Take the cotton trade, the most important of Great Britain's manufacturing trade. Of course, we should have a world-wide trade war, and the United States, Germany and other powerful and wealthy nations against the British Empire. Imagine the States opening the skirmish with a prohibitive export duty on raw cotton. I lived in Lancashire at the time of the Civil War, and I remember the awful consequences of the lack of cotton to keep the mills of Lancashire, Cheshire and Yorkshire in operation. God grant we may never again see such misery, destitution and starvation as then existed among the mill hands and others—it was terrible!

Conditions then were not as favorable for the States to put the screw on as they are now. They have population and wealth now, and are at peace with themselves.

Imagine the result of such an export duty on raw cotton. The cotton industry of the Empire would be ruined, the mill hands would flock to the States and Germany, and the Empire probably lose her supremacy in this important manufacture.

Could anyone think of a quicker way to kill the goose laying the golden eggs than this restricting of trade within the Empire, and are its advocates prepared to face the consequences of applying the match to precipitate this condition of things?

The British markets are a grand asset of our Canadian trade, but those knowing most about it and closely identified with it, see the trend of this market today. The butter and egg export trade is a thing of the past; cheese is gradually going into other channels, and less to Great Britain, and the same can be said of apples, turkeys and other poultry.

Great Britain has an ample supply of all these things from the cheap producing countries of Europe, Russian and Siberia, etc., and from Australia and New Zealand, as well as an enormous production in Great Britain and Ireland, and here let me say that Ireland is coming very much to the front in farm products with the better conditions existing in land matters.

With the great advance in methods of farming in the older provinces, and the expansion of the country, Canada now needs more extended markets if anything like the present range of price is to be sustained.

Canadians are loyal to the core, but will these advocates of "Free trade within the Empire only" risk the consequences of a world-wide antagonism that would undoubtedly lead to actual war and spoil the whole game so far as prosperity to the British Empire is concerned?

Cruelty to Animals.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I am glad to see so many taking up the cruelty to animals question by their letters. I hope everyone will do all they can to help put it down. There are a number of ladies who belong to the Humane Society and are doing good work quietly. When they see a driver abusing the horse, they take down the name on the rig and tell the employer or drop him a card. In a number of cases they are thanked by them for doing so, and a few they are not, the employer saying the things have to be delivered by certain hours and a lot of ground to be gone over. But they don't know that a number of these boy drivers stop at their own homes and gossip, while the horse stands for one hour with blanket blown off him, and more often none on. Then he drives like mad to make up for lost time. This has been seen frequently. If the employers leave the feeding and watering to those boys who do not care for animals, it is no wonder that they look a number of them half-starved. Where there is one boy that attends properly to his horse after his work is over, there are ten that do not. If the animals could speak they would say so. A gentleman visiting here said he never, either in Toronto or Hamilton, saw such a poor lot of horses on the streets as he did here. Why? Because they are abused and neglected. People notice these things.

Professor Funk Replies to Edison.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The interview with Thomas A. Edison on immortality, published last October, is still awakening much interest, even in far-away countries. "No soul"; "death ends all"; "the brain a piece of meat-mechanism," that produces thought as the liver secretes bile, having an individuality only as has New York City, with its five millions of human brains, each brain a combination of millions of cells; when New York City disintegrates, its individuality is gone; when our brain dies, that ends us.

Is there, or not, another side to the "Great Divide?" At death does our boat sink to another sea, or are we and it wrecked for ever more? That interview with Mr. Edison, backed by his personality and by the memory of his seven hundred patents, seems destined, like the sunset gun, to travel around and around the earth. The storm may be over, but the sea runs high. As we are now in the more quiet aftermath, may I not venture to ask for space for a thought or two which I find granite under my feet at three score years and ten—at an age when Mr. Edison and myself are apt to think soberly of the "valley and shadow," and—what next?

If any man at whose gate the black camel is preparing to kneel, has a thought on this subject, especially if it is drawn from experience—a thought which he finds worth while—he owes it to his fellows to tell it.

Mr. Edison is right in this: none of our five senses, nor all combined, can reveal immortality, much less demonstrate it. The ear cannot see, the eye cannot hear. Magnify light a million times, yet the ear could not hear it. Every sense is shut up absolutely in its own realm, but he is a bold scientist who would say that there are no realms other than those covered by these five senses. There may be ten thousand other groups of five or more senses each. Why not? Does Mr. Edison say I am guessing in this? I might reply with equal reason that he is guessing when he denies it; and were these two guesses precisely equal, is it not more natural, if not more scientific, to choose the optimistic one? But they are not equal.

There are channels of knowledge other than these five senses. Beethoven, stone deaf, heard magnificent music which he wrote down in great oratorios that have stood the test of time. There is a whole range of spiritual senses, each of which takes in knowledge up to the level of its development. There is a beauty which the eye cannot see, a music which the ear cannot hear. Would Mr. Edison deny this? The brutal son can have no conception of a mother's love, although his five senses are perfect. He has eyes and ears, but sees and hears not what many other men see and hear clearly. Conceptions of right and wrong are absolutely real, but real only to conscience. The pure in heart see God, and others cannot. When Bishop Brooks spoke of God to deaf and blind Helen Keller she was not surprised. She said that she long knew there must be someone. By some channel other than the five senses this thought had got into her mind. That was a profound utterance of Jesus, that if a man would do right he would know. To do is to exercise, and to exercise is to grow. The exercise of a faculty develops that faculty, and then up to its level it will know truth.

Mr. Edison is sure the brain is not an organ of thought as the piano is an organ of the music is conveys to our ears from the soul of a Hofman; but Edison says the brain is a machine that creates thought. End the brain machine, he tells us, and you end the man; some bias, he admits, is given by heredity, for in some way in the catacombs of the brain cells our ancestors lie estombed. But what of the countless millions of thoughts that control the universe—thoughts that are other than man's? Whence comes these thoughts? Where is the "brain box" of the universe? Herbert Spencer, the chiefest thinker of modern times, closes his system of philosophy with the thought that there is in the universe a power other than man that makes for righteousness.

If there can be no thought without a brain machine, where is the brain machine of this power other than man's? Where is the brain power that is in control of the universe? If, on the other hand, there can be thought without brain, what becomes of Mr. Edison's argument that the destruction of the brain ends man? Is not his conclusion the baseless fabric of an unscientific theory? He has wandered all too far from the "watch-fires of the tribe."

But the pity of it is, his words do not hit upon rock, but upon palpitating heart and brain. There are 1,700,000,000 people on earth today, every one of whom is under sentence of death, and can be lifted above the slime and briar and rock of the valley and shadow only upon the wings of faith and hope. Will not the pitiful man, if he is wise, seek in every way to strengthen those wings and in no way break one of the least of them, unless impelled by absolute certainty?

Lightning is logic; yes, but at times there are other far more effective ways of reaching truth than by pure logic?

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade, I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured."

MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

KIND WORDS FOR LATE P. M. LOVE

Spoken by Mrs. Boomer at a Meeting of the Y. W. C. A.

A large and representative meeting of the Local Council of Women was recently held in the Y. W. C. A. building on Dundas street.

The president, Mrs. Boomer, touched on many phases of the work which had been carried on during her absence in England, and paid a warm tribute to the late Magistrate Love, who was always so willing to help in every good work.

Mrs. Yarker also spoke of some of the deserving causes encouraged and aided by the council, including play grounds, hospital work, Victorian Order of Nures, and read a letter from the Hon. Mackenzie King promising legislation to restrict the sale of cocaine and other harmful drugs in accordance with a resolution passed by the local council.

Mrs. R. M. Graham gave an excellent report of the executive meeting of the national council in Brantford, and the work, its various committees, chief among which is a project by the one on immigration to establish welcome hotels from coast to coast. An illuminate address is to be presented to the King and Queen, and steps have been taken to have a display of the work of Canadian artists in the exhibition in Italy this year. Mrs. Irwin explained the objects of the Mothers' Clubs, to be all the problems connected with the child, and expressed her belief that their efforts for a proper garbage system and for supervision of moving picture shows would not be in vain.

Other subjects discussed were the use of the covered patrol wagon for female prisoners, the white slave traffic, and the necessity of women voters using their franchise. The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory financial condition.

SMASH-UP IN ROCKIES.

Vancouver, B. C., March 5. — A broken rail caused a smash-up on Saturday night on the Nicola branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Three coaches and five coal cars went off the track, which was torn up for 200 yards. The passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously hurt.

The only thing that saved the train from going over the embankment into the river was the breaking of the couplings between the cars.

BAKERS WILL APPEAL THE INCREASED RATES

New Charges in Regard to the Return of Boxes Is Unsatisfactory.

Loal bakers say that they intend taking the matter of the increased rates on returned bread boxes to the railway commission, and ask for a reduction in the charges that are being made by the express companies under the schedule that went into effect on March 1.

"We consider that we should get these boxes sent back for nothing," said one of the city's leading bakers today. "We handle more bread out of London than is sent out of Toronto and Montreal put together, and the companies get good rates for carrying it. We send a lot of bread out on the traction lines, and they haven't raised any rates at all, and still carry back all our boxes for nothing. The bakers of London have built up their present tremendous trade through the facilities they have received from the express companies, but the whole business is in danger of collapsing if they make such charges that it takes all the profit off the bread."

The express companies take the ground that the empty boxes occupy an immense amount of valuable space in the cars, and that they have to keep extra men and horses to deliver them. For all this extra work and trouble they haven't been receiving any remuneration and they think that they are entitled to some pay for it.

CAVALRY REGIMENTS ASK FOR CHANGES

Say the Service Could Be Bettered in Several Ways.

Ottawa, March 4. — The Canadian Cavalry Association, which met here this week, formulated a number of requests to the militia department, based on experiences during the annual training period last summer, for the betterment of conditions in the service, has received the department's official reply. Very few of the requests were acquiesced in.

The department was asked that any horse taken on the strength of a regiment and later rejected by the principal veterinary officer should draw pay and allowance till date of arrival home. It was decided to issue return transportation in such cases, but not pay.

To the request that palace horse cars be provided for the cavalry in all cases of journey by rail, the answer was that the policy of the department since 1907 had been to provide such cars whenever practicable.

The request was made that the allowance for horses should be increased from $1 to $1 25 a day. This was refused.

The recommendation that permanent shelters for horses be erected at cavalry camps was also refused.

Many valuable horses brought to camp receive minor injuries, which, while not permanent, depreciate the value of the animal. It was recommended that in such cases a board should be authorized to make an allowance for the depreciation caused by such injuries. The department decided that no change from the present regulations could be made.

The question of pay for the cavalrymen is still under consideration.

The association urged that it was not fair for the horsemen to be placed on the same standing on the infantry as regards efficiency pay, based on rifle shooting, since the horsemen have so much other work besides shooting, as compared with the foot-soldiers. It asked that the trooper be given a flat rate of 75 cents a day, instead of 50 cents, and that efficiency pay for shooting be arranged in addition. A request for distinctive uniforms for the various corps was also refused. A few minor requests were granted.

DO NOT FEAR STRIKE

Shipping Men Say Seamen Not Likely to Go Out.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 4.—Southampton shipping men discredit the revived report of a general seamen's strike before the coronation.

Representatives of the Nord Deutscher-Lloyd, the Royal Mail and the Union Castle lines say there is nothing in the alarmist statements. They assert that the International Seamen's Association has no substantial following.

A White Star Line official, while regarding the outlook more seriously, believes there is no backbone in the strike movement.

THE FALLS EXPLOSION

The Ontario Government to Conduct a Special Investigation.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 5.—The jury empanelled by Coroner E. T. Kellam to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the deaths of Hendershot, Arthur Orchard and Charles McGongle, killed in an explosion at the Ontario Power Company's works on Friday, viewed the scene of the accident this afternoon. Evidence will be taken on Thursday night. It is understood that the Ontario Government will conduct a special investigation to fix the blame for the explosion, which the power company officials claim was due to a leak in the natural gas pipe. Crown Attorney Cowper is also investigating. Henry Byron, seriously injured in the explosion, was today removed from the General Hospital to his home. George Garvey is reported to be in a serious condition, and is not expected to recover. The others injured are out of danger.

CUT TO PIECES.

WEST AVERAGES 210 AND WINS EASILY

Londoner Defeats the Cleveland Crack on Buffalo Alleys in Match Series.

PUTS UP 267 AND 243

While Opponent Fails to Raise 230—Londoner Also Wins From Rochester Pin-Spiller.

West, of this city defeated Gilbert, of Cleveland, easily in a match game on the N. B. A. alleys at Buffalo Saturday night for a side bet of $200, six games of eleven was to decide the winner. Joe rolled some splendid games, his highest being 267 and 243, while Gilbert had 230. Joe beat Gilbert six out of nine, so that no more games were necessary.

The match was rolled on the tournament alleys, West averaging 210, and Gilbert 186. West has another match on with Glen Riddell, one of New York's crack bowlers.

The scores of the West-Gilbert match follows:

TALBOT ST. TEAM BEAT ST. JAMES'

Fast Game of Hockey in Westminster Rink.

Talbot Street defeated St. James' in a United Sunday School League game in the Westminster Rink last evening, the final score being 3 to 2. The game was a good fast exhibition of hockey, and there was little choice between the two teams. The half-time score was 1 to 1. In the second half St. James' were handicapped by the loss of McLean, who had to retire from the game with a bad cut on the head, as a result of being hit by the puck. Talbot Street scored the winning goal on what appeared to be a big offside, but Referee Blackwell did not see it, and the tally was counted. Talbot Street will play St. Peter's here on Monday night, and the final game for the championship will be played on Wednesday night, when St. Peter's and the Young Canadians will meet. The Young Canadians have already beaten St. Peter's, and they will have their best line-up on when they meet again.

The teams of last night's game lined up as follows:

Talbot Street—McCosh, goal; Scott, point; Orr, cover; Peel, rover; Dale, centre; Rossiter, right; Nichol, left.

St. James'—Fetterley, goal; McCrimmon, point; H. Garner, cover; Parkinson, rover; McLean, centre; McCallum, left; Leannington, right.

McALEER AND TWENTY NATIONALS ARE OFF FOR TRAINING CAMP

Washington, March 5.—Manager McAleer and a squad of 20 of the Washington American League baseball team left here Saturday for Atlanta, Ga., where for the next four weeks they will prepare for the opening of the baseball season. A part of the team which has been in early training at Hot Springs, Ark., also will report at Atlanta, Ga., on Monday.

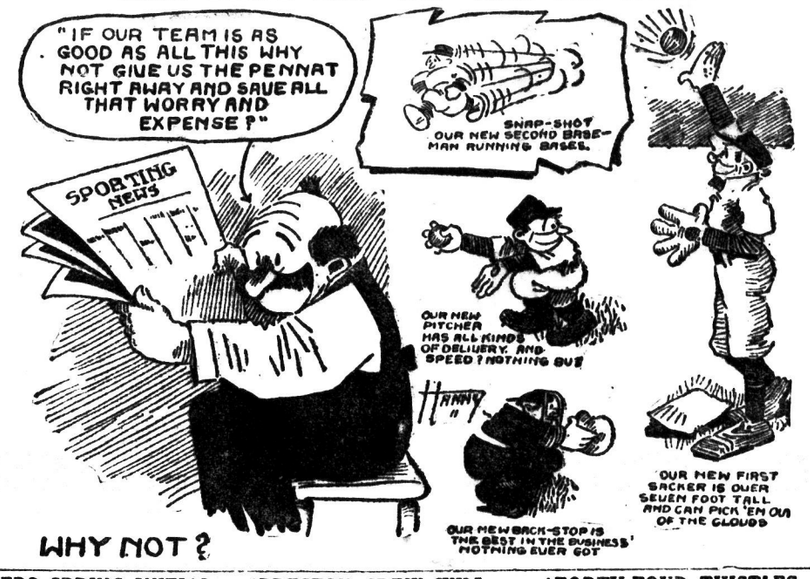

EVA CORD LOOKS GOOD TO GEERS FOR FAMOUS DETROIT CLASSIC

According to a Cleveland enthusiast on the trotting horse game, who recently met Ed. Geers in the south, the veteran reinsman has a great liking for the trotter, Eva Cord, which Frank G. Jones recently turned over to him for preparation for the M. and M., the famous Detroit classic. She has a three-year-old record of 2:23½, and, judging by the "Silent Man's" few casual remarks, he evidently likes her chances in the big race.

Jones had a friend buy Eva Cord for him at the recent New York show, and the Memphis sportsman had his eyes wide open when he went after the mare, for Geers had given her a trial last fall in 2:10¼, and a half in 1:03¼, although she was not in Geers' stable at the time. She may prove as good a racing mare for Mr. Jones as did Dudie Archdale, 2:06¼, in 1910, although Eva Cord cost him less than a quarter of what he paid for the biggest money winner of last season.

GREAT DOINGS WITH "OUR" TEAM THIS SPRING

TIGERS SPRING INITIAL TRIPLE PLAY OF SEASON

Work One Off in Saturday's Game at Munroe Camp—Recruit Infielder Injured.

Monroe, La., March 4.—One triple play, plenty of hard hitting and some bits of snappy fielding in addition to the three-play killing, featured the first game in which the youthful Tigers have appeared this season.

The triple play occurred in the last inning of the battle. Kirke opened this session with a snappy double to right and Mitchell worked Loudell for a base on balls. Cavet, the next hitter drove a fast grounder towards second and O'Leary after making a neat pick-up, stepped on the bag forcing Mitchell. A quick throw to Ness snuffed Cavet, and Ness got the ball to Beckendorf in time to extinguish Kirke, who had tried to score from second while two of his friends were being disposed of.

Westersill is Injured.

The success of the practice game was marred somewhat by an injury to Westersill, the young infielder who has been making a very favorable impression here. In fielding a ball, Westersill attempted to make a quick turn and in so doing wrenched his knee, which still is weak from an old injury. He was obliged to quit the game and Paul Bruske was drafted from the newspaper league to fill the vacancy. Trainer Tuthill says that Westersill's injury is so serious that he may have to go home and take a long rest before being able to play ball again.

EATON'S READY TO DEFEND CUP

Announce Position in Regard to That Allan Trophy.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, March 5.—The following telegram, which was dispatched on Saturday night, immediately after the Eatons-Argonaut game, shows the stand which is taken by the Ontario Hockey Association with regard to the Allan cup question:

"William Northey, secretary of the Allan cup trustees, Arena, Montreal:

"Eatons Hockey Club, of Toronto, won the senior championship of the Ontario Hockey Association tonight, and, according to the conditions of the deed of gift, now hold the Allan cup and are prepared to defend the same against all comers.

"Ice tonight the best of the season.

"Will have good ice in Toronto for the next three weeks. (Signed) W. A. Hewitt, secretary O. H. A."

TOD SLOAN TAKES TO AVIATION GAME

Jockey Does Some Work in Biplane and May Quit Horses.

New York, March 6.—Racing men here have received letters from Paris informing them that the latest enterprise of Tod Sloan, the jockey, is aviation.

Sloan is at Nice as an aeroplane pupil of LeGagneaux. During the annual fete of flowers at Nice, he mounted a biplane and followed the parade, circling over it and throwing flowers on the crowds.

In another flight Sloan flew to Cannes and circled the city and harbor, passing so close to the yachts at anchor there that the people on board could talk to him.

Sloan had a very successful season last summer at Brussels, and has got together a good stable of horses, but his friends say indications now are that he will become so infatuated with the aviation game as to lose his interest in horses.

WHITE SOX WIN TRAINING CONTEST

Defeat Fort Worth 5 to 1 in Opener of Exhibition Series.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 4.—The White Sox today inaugurated their spring exhibition series by besting the Fort Worth team of the Texas League by the score of 5 to 1.

It was an easy win for Duffy's men, and showed that they had progressed far in their training while at Mineral Wells, for they played almost perfect ball, while the pitchers, Olmstead and Scott, pitched as well as they do in mid-season. More than that, the White Sox seemed to be able to hit when hits meant runs, and as a result they clinched the game in the very first inning.

The Chicago lineup: McConnell, 2b.; Lord, 3b.; Corhan, s.s.; Dougherty, l.f.; Callahan, c.f.; McIntyre, r.f.; Collins, 1b.; Sullivan, c.; McGraw, c.; Olmstead, p.; Scott, p.

PRESTON CREW WILL PLAY LONDON TONIGHT

Fast Junior Outfit That Struck O. H. A. Semi-Finals to Meet Locals in Home and Home Set.

London hockey fans will have tonight a chance to see the fast Preston junior aggregation on ice, when they cross sticks with the local juniors for the first time this season in a series of home and home games.

The Preston team are a very fast septette of puck chasers, but it must be remembered that the local juniors are no second-raters at this game, so tonight's exhibition should be about the fastest of the season. The game will start at 8:45 sharp.

The following will be the line-up: Goal, Watts; point, Gillies; cover, Morrison; centre, McKay; rover, Arthurs; left wing, Densmore; right wing, Walden.

NEW LEADER IN SINGLES EVENT AT BUFFALO N.B.A.

Semones, of Chicago, Goes Into Frst Place With 647—Hamilton Man Is Sixth.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—Two new high marks for the fifth National Bowling Association tournament were made today, L. Semones, of Chicago, bowling 647 in the individual series, dislodged E. R. Greenfield, of Cleveland, from the leadership. Greenfield had 646. Hehr and Hall, of the Fleamers, of Chicago, rolled 446 for their first game of their three in the doubles, Hehr's score of 242 being the best individual score in the double event thus far.

J. Graff, of Chicago, bowled 641 in the individual competition, and takes third place. Other high scores were:

Hamiltonian Sixth.

Martison, Hamilton, Ont., 619, sixth place; Hangard, Chicago, 611, seventh place; Woodbury, Chicago, 605, tenth place.

Forty-two two-men teams rolled their games this afternoon, only one pair, Bangard and Peterson, of Chicago, going over the 1,200 mark. The standing in the division follows:

Zeltzeman and Polachek, Chicago, 1,212.
Bangard and Peterson, Chicago, 1,206.
Roy and Hyde, Bradford, Pa., 1,206.
Waring and Harris, Newark, N. J., 1,198.
H. Phelan and F. P. Phelan, Toronto, Ont., 1,187.
Pennick and Unger, Cleveland, 1,181.
Hehr and Hall, Chicago, 1,180.

HONUS WAGNER ELUDES CLARKE

Despite Promise to Judge, Pirate Shortstop Fails to Sign Up.

Pittsburg, March 5.—Despite the fact that Honus Wagner promised the judges of common pleas court No. 3, when applying to be excused from jury duty a few days ago, that he would sign a Pittsburg contract, Wagner has not yet signed. Manager Clarke arrived today to have a conference with the big German, but the latter took an automobile trip. Clarke will make another effort tomorrow to see the Pirate premier shortstop and try to induce him to sign.

SOME BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL BRIEFS

PITTSBURG'S new outfielder, Max Carey, is a ministerial student.

CONNIE MACK says that he expects Pitcher Jack Coombs to win 35 games this season.

GOTHAM baseball fans are roasting Hal Chase for releasing Channell to Indianapolis.

PRESIDENT MURPHY and Manager Griffith are said to be talking of a trade of Pfiester for Downey.

"DAVIS DAY" at Shibe Park will be May 31. A big benefit will be given the veteran first baseman.

"I HOPE to be batting champion in 1911," says Sherwood Magee. "The only man I fear is Hans Wagner."

PITCHERS RAYMOND and Hendricks of the New York Giants, have to take off 20 pounds each before being down to weight.

HUB HART, the former White Sox catcher is angry because Cleveland has turned him over to Toledo, and threatens to quit the game.

LARRY LAJOIE has made 200 hits four times in the ten years he has played in the Johnson circuit. These were 1901, 1904, 1906 and 1910.

KID ELBERFELD wants to be an umpire when his day as a big league infielder is over, and he has asked President Johnson to remember him.

JACK KEHOE, who played the outfield for two seasons with Grand Rapids in the Central League, died at his home in Rochester, N. Y., last week.

ADDIE JOSS' arm is not in a plaster cast, and Trainer White, of the Cleveland club, says it won't be put in one, that it will be just as good as ever and that for this season.

THERE WILL be another Lake in organized baseball this season. His first name is Melvin, and he has signed with Victoria in the Northwestern League. He is an amateur from Portland.

THE LEFT-HANDED batters of the Highlander squad are Outfielders Hemphill, Wolter, Kauff and Bailey, Infielders Hartzell and Elliott, Catcher Sweeney and Pitchers Caldwell, Ables and Vaughn.

BAD BILL EVERITT, the former Chicago first baseman, who is now living in Denver, broke into print the other day as a thief catcher. Someone tried to break into Bill's barn, but Bill caught the culprit.

CATCHER MIKE SIMON, of the Pittsburg club, has turned farmer, like Fred Clarke, Cy Young and others. Simon has purchased a farm in Southern Indiana, about six miles from his native village, Hayden, Ind.

CHIEF ZIMMER had to decline the offer to go south with Detroit and coach the young Tiger pitchers because he could not get a vacation from his duties in the department of the city building inspector at Cleveland.

GEORGE GIBSON firmly believes the Pittsburg Pirates will win the 1911 pennant. Everything depends on the pitchers, says Gibby, and he is satisfied that the department is going to hold up its end.

A TRUCE has been declared between the Phillies and Umpire Klem, and the troubles that were so frequent between the indicator-holder and the players of President Foged last year, will not, it is promised break out again.

SHOULD SOMERLOTT fall down in his trial for the first baseman's berth with the Washington Americans, McAleer proposes to substitute either Jack Lelivelt, the former Hartford outfielder, or John Henry, the Amherst backstop.

CLAUDE RITCHEY, as second baseman for the Louisville team, takes what has been considered for years a "hoodoo" position on the Colonels. Many a good man has come under its influence and failed to do all that was expected and asked.

THE FUNERAL of the late Bert Briggs was held in Cleveland on Wednesday, Feb. 22, and on the following Friday night a benefit entertainment was given by Cleveland friends of the dead ballplayer and the proceeds turned over to his family.

MARVIN PEASLEY, the Maine giant, who will try to make good on Jennings' pitching staff this year, comes from the same part of Maine that Jack Coombs calls his home. And in this spot they say that Peasley should do better than Coombs.

THERE IS A POSSIBILITY that Frank Manush, drafted by the New York Nationals, may revert back to the New Orleans club. Johnny McGraw is said to be considering an application from Manager Frank to turn the player back for another season.

EATONS CAPTURE SENIOR O. H. A. TITLE

Defeat Argonau's in the Second Match of the Championship Series by 7 to 4.

TALLY OF ROUND 10 TO 7

Boatmen Finished Strong But Great Defence of Big Store Crew Saved the Day.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, March 5.—By defeating the Argonauts on Saturday night in the final game of their series, Eatons won the senior championship of the O. H. A., and lay a claim to the Allan cup, which they offer to defend against all comers.

Saturday night's score was 7 to 4 in favor of the big store, which, added to the tally of the tie game played on Wednesday, makes Eatons winner of the round by 10 to 7.

Never in the history of hockey in Toronto have two more evenly-matched teams met on the ice, and the game was in doubt until the final second, with Eatons fighting desperately to maintain their precarious lead.

Before the game started the Argonauts were considered to have the best chance of winning, but the betting was even. The ice was in splendid condition, and remained in fair shape to the end of the game.

The half-time score was 2 to 1 in favor of Eatons, but in the second half the Argonauts kept pace in the scoring until with three minutes only to play, Eatons had 6 goals to Argonauts' 4, but with the Argonauts pouring shot after shot at the net, the issue was still uncertain. In the dying moments of the game, however, the victory was won for Eatons by Preston and Meeking, who scored the sixth and seventh goals for their side.

Argos Finish Strong.

The Argonauts, meanwhile, had been sending in a perfect fusillade of shots, but they were balked by Eatons' splendid defense.

W. Murphy's zigzag rushes up the ice were the features of the Argonauts' play, while Rankin and Preston were the Eaton stars, Rankin playing a whole team in himself, and never failing to get away with the puck on the slightest opening. The game was as clean as it was fast, there being few penalties. The lineup.

EAST END LEAGUE WILL MEET FRIDAY EVENING

Baseball Will Commence to Roll at End of This Week—Teams Should Be Represented.

The East End League officials, who have been busy for the past few days arranging with teams for the coming season, have called a meeting for Friday evening next to organize.

The Ramblers and St. Mary's of last year, are both looking for berths in the league again, while St. John's A. C., pennant winners of last year's Springbank League, McClary's and the North End Stars are talking baseball. Any organizations desirous of getting into the league should get busy and appoint a delegate to Friday night's session, which will be held in the Ramblers' club rooms at the corner of Dundas and Adelaide streets, above the Bank of Toronto building. The season opened last year on the last Saturday of April, and will in all probability commence on the same day this year.

MAY BE AN AUTO SHOW

Local Dealers Meet This Afternoon in Regard to the Matter.

The members of the London Auto Dealers' Association have called a meeting for this afternoon, and may find it possible to arrange a show in the Armories this spring. A week or so ago permission was secured for the use of the Armories, but owing to a delay it was found impossible to get cars here on such short notice in the open dates between Montreal and Toronto. However, an effort will be made to secure cars for a suitable exposition providing that the Armories are still at the disposal of the association.

OUTFIELDER WOLTER REGAINS HEALTH.

San Jose, Cal., March 4.—Harry Wolter, outfielder, left here for Hot Springs, Va., this morning, to join the New York American Leaguers at their training quarters there. He has fully recovered from a recent attack of tonsilitis.

RECKLESS MOTORISTS KILL TORONTO MAN

Fast Moving Auto Knocks Down Aged Man and Wounds Prove Fatal.

Toronto, March 5.—Edward Jacobs, run down by an automobile on West Bloor street on Friday night, and left unconscious in the road by the reckless motorists, died early this morning in Grace Hospital.

He was terribly bruised, and the doctors from the first had little hope of his recovery. He never regained consciousness. It is thought that death was due to the cuts on the head and internal injuries. The police have been working hard to identify the occupants of the automobile that struck the unfortunate man, but they have very little to work on, and so far their labors have been fruitless. All the police could learn was that the automobile was of the touring car type, dark in color, and contained two men. The automobile was going so fast that its number could not be caught.

On Saturday afternoon the police were told over the phone that one of the men in the automobile was from near Hamilton, and that the machine was his. The police here will communicate with the authorities in Hamilton to see if anything can be made out of the clue. Chief Coroner Johnson will hold an inquest at the morgue tomorrow night.

The fatality is the first of the kind in Toronto, and no efforts will be spared to trace the guilty parties. The police will ask the Ontario Motor League to assist them, and claim that the apprehension of the men will be to the interest of all motorists.

Mr. Jacobs was 65 years old. He leaves a wife and a number of children. He came to Toronto from Brockville, and has been in business on Queen street west as a carpenter and repairer.

BROOKLYN TEAM IS BEATEN BY AMERICANS

Park Manager Is Placed Under Arrest for Desecration of Sabbath, But Play Proceeds.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 5.—Though the score would not indicate such a thing, the game this afternoon between the All-Americans and the Brooklyn team at Whittington Park was one of the best of the season, and resulted in a victory for the former team by the score of 11 to 1. The home run by Hummel, of the Brooklyn team, was the only score that team made.

The All-American team was made up of Detroit and Washington players, mostly Detroit players, and every one of them was an individual star. The infield at one time was entirely Detroit save one position, first base, and that was filled by a former Detroit player. Conroy at third, Bush at short, and Delehanty at second, with Stanage behind the bat, make a formidable infield, and that is how it stood for six innings in today's game.

Kidded the Constable.

Just before the game started, the constable appeared at the ball park and placed Doc Owens, manager of the park, under arrest on a charge of "laboring on Sunday," to satisfy the county officer. Owens sent word into the park to call off the game, but it had been arranged beforehand for him to do this, and word was received that the game would not be played and the constable left. He had no sooner boarded a car than the game was called by Umpire Bush, and one of the best games of the season was witnessed by nearly 1,000 fans. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
All-Americans	3 0 3 0 0 0 5 0 *—11	16	1
Brooklyn	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1	10	3

Batteries—Walker, Johnson, Otey and Stanage; Erwin, Ryan, Burk, Ragon and Miller.

WOLGAST'S ARM INJURED IN BOUT WITH BROWN

Champion Suffers Severe Injury to Punching Member Early in Fight.

New York, March 4.—It became known today that Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, suffered a severe injury to his arm in one of the early rounds of his fight here last night with "Knockout" Brown.

The arm was broken several months ago, and although it knit rapidly it was weak for a long time, and bothered the champion considerably.

Wolgast's doctors have not yet determined just how serious the injury of last night will prove. They probably will insist on his resting the wrenched member for a few days. By that time they hope that it will be as good as new again.

Boxing fans are already speculating upon the likelihood of another meeting between the two men. Hopes are expressed that it will be found possible to stage them somewhere in a finish fight. In many ways last night's battle was inconclusive.

Should Go Distance.

While Brown received the popular decision because he forced the fighting and landed the greater number of clean blows, Wolgast showed excellent spirit in the latter rounds, and gave evidence that in a longer fight he might have a decided advantage.

Neither of the contestants was in condition last night to show real championship form. Wolgast's arm was a serious handicap, while Brown's recent attack of grippe still showed. He had hard work breathing; his throat bothered him much of the time, and he weakened perceptibly after the fifth round.

M'ADAMS' CURVES BAFFLE GIANTS

Pitching in Mid-Season Form, the Dallas Twirler Gives New Yorkers a Beating.

Dallas, Texas, March 4.—A cornfed pitcher named McAdams took Larry Doyle's division of the Giants over the hurdles this afternoon with a bewildering assortment of curves, some luck and the assistance of a pair of New York errors. Although the visitors outhit and outfielded the locals, they were shut out until the ninth inning. The score was 3 to 1. Pitching of the mid-season brand was something that the Giants had not seen until today. The Dallas twirler trying hard for a place with the local team, asked to go the full route, labored diligently. The Giants played right into his hands, failing utterly to hit with runners on bases and leaving 13 men stranded on the bags. Dallas made six errors, but not one of them did any harm, while two of New York's three bubbles resulted in the tallies that won the game.

DEATH FOLLOWS BOUT IN RING

Angelo Venizona Succumbs—Opponent Is Locked Up.

New York, March 4.—Following the death of Angelo Venizona, a pugilist, in Newark, N. J., today, from injuries said to have been sustained in a four-round boxing bout, a charge of manslaughter has been placed against William Kennedy, his opponent. Kennedy was locked up with two others charged with aiding and abetting the fight. Examination revealed the fact that Venizona's skull was fractured.

BROWN GETS LARGER PURSE IN HIS BOUT WITH AD. WOLGAST

New York, March 5.—The Wolgast-Brown affair proved conclusively that New Yorkers want glove contests. A more representative body of citizens was never seen at a local club even during the days of the Horton law. The "reservations" netted close to $20,000, it is said, of which Brown received $6,000, and Wolgast $5,000 "for their services as entertainers." The Philadelphia scrap netted $5,000 for Wolgast and $2,300 for Brown, who less than two years ago was a penniless school boy.

RUSS. THEATRE FIRE TAKES TERRIBLE TOLL

Ninety Persons Burned to Death and Forty Others Injured.

St. Petersburg, March 6. Ninety persons, many of whom were children, were burned to death, and forty others injured in a fire that destroyed a moving picture theatre at Bologoie Sunday. Reports of the disaster were received here today.

The flames broke out while the exhibition was in progress, and quickly enveloped the building, cutting off every avenue of escape.

Futile attempts at rescue were made by those who happened to be close by the exits when the fire started and by others from the outside, but the fury of the flames drove them back before they could reach the shrieking victims, who in their efforts to get out of the building, fought desperately among themselves.

CARGO OF SHAMROCKS SENT TO CANADA

London, March 6.—The Mauretania, which left Liverpool Saturday, carries several thousand boxes of shamrocks from Ireland to friends and relatives in Canada and the United States to be worn by the recipients on St. Patrick's Day.

WAGNER'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY

To Be Published in May, and Will Create Sensation.

(Canadian Press.)

London, March 6. After nearly 40 years of secret existence, the autobiography of Richard Wagner is to be given to the world this spring. The book promises to be one of the most remarkable of modern times. The Constables have all the English-speaking rights exclusively, and will publish the book in May.

AVIATOR INJURED.

Baton Rouge, La., March 6. William G. Purvis, of Chicago, was perhaps fatally injured here Sunday when he fell in his Gates biplane and was buried beneath the tangled mass of wreckage. Physicians, however, express some hope of his recovery.

OWEN SOUND

of Elora, Reeve Alex. Steele, of Fergus, secretary, Wm. Laidlaw; treasurer, C. L. Dunbar.

Unbounded Confidence.

The following resolutions were unanimously carried. Moved by Kenneth McLean, seconded by A. White-law: "That we, the Liberals of the south riding of Wellington, at our annual meeting assembled, desire to place on record our unbounded confidence in the administration of the affairs of our great Dominion by the present Government under the distinguished leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

"There has not been a time in the history of our country when so many matters, both national and international, requiring the most skillful statesmanship, were pressing for solution, and we have every confidence that the fullest consideration will be given to all of these, looking always to the best interests of the great masses of the people.

"We also desire to tender our heartiest thanks to our able representative, Mr. Hugh Guthrie, for the devotion which he has shown to our interests and the interests of the people of Canada."

Moved by Thomas Mahon, seconded by T. Hepburn, "That this meeting of Liberals of the south riding of Wellington desire to express our continued appreciation of the leadership of the Hon. A. G. MacKay and our confidence in him and his associates in the local House. We feel that the day is not far distant when the Liberal principles which he so ably advocates will again triumph in this province."

Mr. Guthrie's Address.

In his address Mr. Guthrie took occasion to point out that as Guelph was once the centre of a large barley-growing industry, it would become so again. Under the proposed agreement it would be possible to take over to Buffalo one bushel of barley at 48 pounds and sell, buying there two bushels of corn of the same feeding strength, but 112 pounds, with the price. Horses would also be exported from this district, as the United States exports only mustangs, which, unlike Clydes and other heavy horses, are not in great demand in the west, so that local breeders would have the two markets.

Speaking on the annexation cry, he pointed out that the Conservatives say that if the farmer sends his produce to the United States he would be an annexationist, but Conservative bankers can take over one hundred and fifty millions of the people's savings to New York and still remain loyal.

QUEBEC FARMER WHILE DRUNK KILLS COMPANION FOR MONEY

Murders Man in His Own Stable and Leaves Body on Roadway —Admits Crime to the Chief of Police.

St. Leonard de Nicolet, Que., March 6. Hormidas Trepanier, a farmer, 45 years of age, of St. Leonard de Nicolet, was arrested at his home yesterday by Chief McCaskill, of the provincial police, for the murder of Maurice Plouff, whose body was found on the road between Three Rivers and St. Leonard de Nicolet, on Thursday night.

Later Chief McCaskill stated that Trepanier had confessed he had killed Plouff by stabbing him in the back and smashing his skull with an axe.

The murder was committed in Trepanier's stable, and the body afterwards taken out and left on the main road, where it was found on Thursday night by Joseph Lord, a general storekeeper, of St. Leonard de Nicolet, who was returning from a business trip to Three Rivers.

Trepanier confessed that he and Plouff had been drinking, and, while under the influence of liquor, he had killed Plouff for the money he was supposed to have in his possession. Trepanier said he had only got a few dollars.

Trepanier was placed under guard in a room in the Colonial Hotel, and today will be taken to Three Rivers and placed in the jail to await the inquest in the case. He has a wife and one child.

REV. MR. INKSTER

When we look into the problem of the theatre we must remember that both managers and audiences are bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh. They have the same hopes and aspirations as we have, and we should say nothing bitter or acrimonious against either. The evils of this world cannot be fought with anger they must be cured by love. There is too much hypocrisy nowadays. Too many pray, 'Thank God I am not as other men are.' That is one prayer that has no place in twentieth century civilization. The managers and those connected with the theatre are working to give good clean entertainment. It is our duty to give them some credit at last for what they are doing.

Some Good Pictures.

"We saw some fine pictures, with a moral to them. Some had an educational value. Some of the pictures were vulgar, too, but I have seen the same kind of pictures, and heard the same kind of vulgar songs in Sunday schools, in public schools, and in our homes. If they are vulgar in one place, they are vulgar in another. Let us condemn whatever is vulgar, whether in theatre or in home, or wherever it is.

"There has been a lot of second-hand information about these theatres. Some of the men who condemn them most vigorously will admit that they have never seen inside such places. They listen to a lot of gossip. If there is anything I would warn you against it is gossip. Close your ears to that. Open your eyes and see what is going on in the world about you.

"The criticism was made against the picture shows that they were dark, and all manners of evils were carried on during the darkness. The theatres were light, and I saw no evidence of the evils complained of. Even if there were that would be no reason to condemn them. There are evils taking place in our parlors. There are evils taking place in our parliaments. Should we condemn both? We can never have a paradise here. I am a firm believer in the half loaf. I will take that and look for more. That should be our attitude with reference to theatres.

Past Age of Puritanism.

"I want to discuss the theatre question in its broader sense. We are past the age of Puritanism. Amusements are necessary. The people must have them. Moving pictures are here to stay. They can be made of great educational value. There are many good plays, and there are many fine characters on the stage, men of the type of John Hare, Sol Smith Russell, Wilson Barrett, and Benson. Many of the managers and owners are good men, who have done much good in their way towards saving girls from lives of ruin and shame. Theatres are not wholly good, nor are they wholly bad. There are some criticisms to be offered. One that I make is the professionalism. It is bad whether in theatre or sport. Then there is the life of the actors. Conditions are changed. Night is turned into day, and what temptations follow. The demand makes the supply, however.

"The remedy lies with the public. If they would hiss certain plays off the stage, their kind would never be repeated. No manager would dare to go against such a body of public opinion. The lack of home life with the actors is another bad feature.

Where They Are Bad.

"The picture shows are bad in that they furnish a meeting place for boys and girls. I saw boys and girls not ten years of age out after 8 o'clock at night. It is time we had a curfew bell, when parents do not know enough or care sufficiently to put their boys and girls in bed after 8 o'clock. If parents will not, then the state should. If we cannot do it by law, then we should do it by public opinion. I say that these places are bad for boys and girls under ten years of age. They should be at home. We can stop that.

"Then it is a great waste of time and money. Four such theatres are too many for a city the size of London.

"I never quite realized before the awful danger of a false ideal of life. We cannot get a proper ideal in such places. We do not learn to love the best things there.

The Remedy.

"In conclusion, I would suggest some cures for the evils existing at present. The first is that of censorship. I understand the pictures are censored at New York and Toronto, but that is not the censorship I wish. It is the censorship of public opinion. Let the public condemn in no uncertain way all vulgarity and indecency, and the managers will not dare to offer such entertainment.

"Do not try to suppress the theatre, but regulate it. It is here to stay, at least, during your lifetime and mine. We cannot remove it. Let us make it better.

"If you are going to abolish the dime theatre, put something in its place. If we denounce the cheap theatres of the poor, let us denounce the dear theatre of the rich.

Must Substitute.

"Iconoclasm is dead—we no longer destroy, but substitute. Glasgow put money into entertainment for the poor—the very best kind of entertainment and the experiment is working wonders. Let the city council of London set aside money to furnish the best possible entertainment at a low figure. It would be money well spent, and would give a fine return in better and more law-abiding citizenship. It would be an investment worth while.

"After all is said and done these evils will not be cured until they are cured in the individual. Until he is right, these things will exist. Let every man come to Christ."

HURRAH FOR PEGGY.

London, March 6.—All the dailies concur in the verdict of the Sunday newspapers that "Peggy," the musical comedy, which deals with the life of a manicurist in one of London's big hotels, is a great Gaiety success. All laud the scenery, costumes and songs, and say "Peggy" is bound to be a success.

A NEW MIND FOR HUMAN RACE

Dr. H. A. McCallum's Address Before Baconian Club on Saturday Night.

TO IMPROVE AFTER 33

This Is the Age at Which Men Should Cease Their Follies or Become Degenerate.

The human mind and its marvellous possibilities was made the subject of a thoughtful address by Dr. H. A. McCallum before the Baconian Club on Saturday night. In the opinion of Dr. McCallum the human race is marching forward to the possession of a new mind, and through the evolution of the mind the race is to become more Christlike, and the soul of man, which now exists only in a subconscious state, will enter into the actual life of human beings.

"Everything points to a new mind," said the speaker. "Nature herself has borne out the existence of it, by the three minds of man in the history of 100,000,000 years of life on this planet. If we have had three minds for so long, why not have a fourth or fifth mind?"

Having first outlined the different scientific theories of mind, some of which ascribe the possession of mentality to organisms of only one cell, and others which allow mind only to animals of growth and development, Dr. McCallum traced the early beginnings and the fascinating story of the evolution of the human mind.

Divisions of Mind.

"Mind originated with vital movement and the power of receiving stimuli. Vital movement is an attribute of a cellular organism in relation to its environment.

"Mind is divided into three divisions —perceptive, which is made up of simple sensations; receptive, sensations related together and capable of more varied and complex forms of emotion; and, thirdly, the conceptive division of mind, which is possessed of creative and initiative ability. The first two types of mind are common to animal life, the last is possessed by man alone. The lowest form of mind has been developed to the highest extent by the lowest forms of animal life. Where necessity demanded a higher form of mind than the perceptive, the receptive mind appeared. The receptive mind is to the perceptive as algebra is to arithmetic. It has the capacity of receiving receipts and making a choice, impossible to the animal possessing only the perceptive mind.

"The receptive type has been worked to the utmost in the higher animal kingdom. Where the receptive mind failed, the conceptive mind was evolved. The chief attributes of this type are language and the use of tools, not possessed by the lower animals. The value of language in thinking cannot be estimated.

100,000,000 Years of Life.

"In all the 100,000,000 years of the history of life, there have been three minds, no two of which have been alike. While it is true that the last mind embraces the other two, yet no new mind had been developed to the utmost, and the demand for the new mind was urgent. Have we arrived at the limit of the capacity of the present human mind?" asked Dr. McCallum. "There was a time in the history of the life of man when to possess all the world's knowledge was no feat. At present men are unable to keep up with the advance of knowledge even in a single specialized branch. If we are to progress in the future it will be by the advent of a new mind, which will reveal to us the hidden mysteries of the past."

Men as Gods.

Dr. McCallum quoted Emerson, who said, "Throughout the ages men have appeared who have been as gods to the rest of the race." "Emerson even goes further," said the speaker, and claims that the great books of all ages appear to have been written by one man widely different from the ordinary mortals of contemporary histories. This one man is the one mind, the new mind, that has been possessed by the few leaders who have formed the vanguard of the human race.

"The latest acquired powers of the present mind offer a clue to the secret of development into the new mind. The normal human being develops at the age of puberty a new faculty, that of moral sense, when love, aesthetic feeling, confidence, trust and hope rise to the foreground of consciousness. This faculty continues its growth throughout the period of adult development.

"The human mind is made up of 900,000,000 component cells or parts. These perpetual elements of the mind make living batteries with as many living nerves or wires. Man's bodily development ceases at 23 years of age, but his mental growth continues for ten years later. Why does the growth of the mind continue for this period following the point of physical completion, unless it is to develop another mind. If the Christ-type of humanity is to characterize the race, the mind must be the embodiment of faith, hope and love, which are, after all, the strongest attributes of moral strength.

Age of Reform.

"After 33 years of age, acts of folly, undesirable habits and criminal tendencies should disappear in a man's character. Up to this time he is an immature animal. Degeneracy and decadence are shown by acts of folly which appear after this age.

"The excess of an emotion, religious or other, is detrimental to health. In this way the mind is related to mental healing. Temperance in emotion is as desirable as temperance in other things. Emotion is a means of perfecting human growth. In the wild beast, fear and hatred were necessary for the maintenance of life, but man is moving under influences. We have no right to indulge in prehuman emotions. They are in direct opposition to moral sense. The nervous system granted free development, will grow in moral sense and tend to prevent exhibitions of these prehuman emotions. Love, trust, confidence, hope and joy enter the mind with the moral sense, and are healthful emotions. Anger, hatred, jealousy and worry, are destructive emotions, suited to the wild beast, but having no place in the human mind. Determination to overcome obstacles should never develop into anger. The higher up on the scale of moral sense an individual may be, the more serious the injury he suffers by giving away to prehuman emotions. The less remote he is from the wild animal, the less the harm that results to him from excessive emotion.

The Ideal Life.

"The striving of the human race for the Christ-life ideal will be attained through the medium of a fourth type of mind, the new mind which is being developed."

The question of heredity was brought up in the discussion which followed Dr. McCallum's paper. In regard to it, he declared that we have no right to complain of our heredity. Assuming that in the past 500 years, every adult at 25 years of age was the parent of a child, each of us will have had a half million ancestors in that time. All that was good in these half million progenitors has entered into the makeup of the individual, and it remains with environment to bring out that good.

"No man," said Dr. McCallum, "has any right to complain that he has not received a square deal in the matter of heredity."

Dr. McCallum's ideas provoked a keen discussion, and he was heartily thanked for his able effort.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS IN ANNUAL BANQUET

A Stirring Address From the President, William McBride, Feature of Successful Gathering.

The Life Underwriters of the London district turned out in about double the numbers at their fifth annual banquet at the Tecumseh House Saturday evening, that have ever attended a similar function in the past, and the record number of new members, twenty-five, were added on that occasion to the London association, making the membership over double that of a year ago.

The guest of honor was the president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, Mr. Wm. McBride, M. A., who has been for many years provincial manager for the North American Life at Winnipeg. He gave a most practical and witty address.

The toast-master was Mr. Vivian Reeve, president of L. U. A. of London. Mr. Reeve, who has a good supply of stories and tells them well, made an ideal toast-master. He first called upon the distinguished guest of the evening, Mr. Wm. McBride, M. A., who is making a tour of the whole of Canada, in the interests of the Life Underwriters' Association throughout the Dominion. He thanked the members of the London association and the London members of the Life Officers' Association, for their large turnout and kindly reception. He said the presence of his old friends, Messrs. John Milne and A. S. Macgregor, who had insured his life a quarter of a century ago, called back old memories and made him feel at home. London had, since he came on Thursday last, enrolled so many new members that he felt the association movement was kept very much alive and was very popular. He dealt particularly with the subject of duty, which he handled in scholarly style, cleverly driving each point home by humorous illustrations and apt quotations. He said that no real life underwriter could help having the firm conviction that there is dignity in his profession, that it is free from reproach, honest of purpose, and worthy of respect, as well as benvolent and philanthropic in its aim. He cannot help but feel that in responding to this call to duty he is engaged in performing a beneficial work, that he is equalizing life's burdens which would rest too heavily on some frail shoulders, were those burdens not distributed and placed to a certain extent on the strong shoulders of others better able to bear them. The true agent is responding to a call to duty similar to that of a young man entering the ministry. He said that life underwriters teach a man to make an unselfish preparation for death, so that when he is basking in the sunshine of the eternal city his wife is not sweltering over the washtub to earn a scant livelihood for his and her children.

"Like leaves of the forest, where summer is green,
Are the blessings we're giving, where widows are seen,
And the orphans are helped, and old age is not feared,
And at his hard labor the life agent is cheered.

For the angel of death spreads his wings
on each blast,
And cuts a man down when his life's
but half past;
Were it not for insurance, his home would be left
Of help for the helpless to poverty left.

While business is business, this business of ours
Scatters blessings around in plentiful
showers;
And the world is made better wherever we come."

The fact that life insurance is benign in its influences tends to minimize poverty, distress and crime, and inculcates into society the altruistic spirit of unselfishness, should make us agents feel that we are workmen who need not be ashamed."

"When you insure a man you have exerted a subtle influence over him for good, you have appealed to his higher qualities and nobler impulses, and his primary motive was an unselfish one, and the main incentive was love of wife and children."

The Agents' Duties.

In speaking of an agent's duty to the local and Dominion Life Underwriters' Associations, the speaker referred to the attitude of the life underwriters toward one another some years ago as that of enmity, and almost hatred, whereas agents were now "Beholding how good and how pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity," and "Take sweet counsel together." He said: "We are now glad to sit beside our competitor at the festive board and give him the right hand of good fellowship, and our motto now is—Peace on the insurance earth and goodwill to our co-workers."

He said that Mr. Goldman, president of the Life Officers' Association, had said that the change that had taken place in insurance methods within the last five years were little short of a revolution and the credit was largely due to our Dominion and local Life Underwriters' Association.

Mr. McBride urged every life insurance man present to join the association now, if not already a member, and to do all in his power to boost the good work, which he said had already influenced legislation so as to convert a draft bill, which would have driven many of us from the business, into an act which is as fair as could be expected for a new act. He hoped that the association would be incorporated in the various provinces, that there would soon be only licensed agents, that the universities would provide lectures on insurance, and that there would be a uniform life insurance law throughout the Dominion.

Mr. Bartholomew, of St. Thomas, then gave a couple of excellent comic selections.

Mr. John Milne, as a member of the Life Officers' Association, spoke most complimentary of the good work of the Life Underwriters' Association, and gave an interesting talk on his insurance experience and his conversion from society insurance to government reserve, or straight line insurance.

Messrs. E. E. Reid and W. S. Wallock, assistant managers of the London Life and Northern Life, respectively, spoke of the valuable work the Underwriters' Associations had done so far as getting a reasonably fair act for the life underwriters, if not for the head offices.

BROKE HIS PAROLE

And Was Filing His Way to Escape After Being Rearrested.

Windsor, Ont., March 5. — James Roland, a convict from Kingston Penitentiary, who had been released on parole a year before the expiration of his sentence, was taken back to that institution tonight in charge of Inspector Parkinson, of the Dominion Police, to serve out the balance of his term.

Roland broke his parole by leaving Canada and going into the United States, where he was arrested on Thursday last, and was brought to Windsor yesterday afternoon. When he was searched two small steel files were found concealed in his shoes, and on this account he was closely watched after being locked in his cell. Last night Sergeant Reid discovered Roland quietly filing his way to possible liberty. He had almost cut through one of the iron posts in his cell, and evidently intended using it for a lever with which to force open the cell roof. After that the result would have been comparatively easy, but for the interference of Sergeant Reid. Roland had managed to hide a file somewhere about his person, which the police failed to discover.

FOUND GUILTY OF STEALING OVERCOAT

And Garment Has Since Mysteriously Vanished.

Douglas McConnell, of Pall Mall street, who was arrested some days ago on a charge of being drunk and of stealing an overcoat, was found guilty at this morning's session of the court and was remanded for a week for sentence. The evidence against McConnell was entirely circumstantial, as no one saw him take the coat, which is the property of Kenneth McColl, of the Harrison House. P. C. Oakley said that on the evening of Feb. 25, when he was coming down King street, he saw McConnell wearing one coat and carrying another over his arm. He watched McConnell go into a King street pawnshop. Mr. Joseph Fox said that McConnell came to his shop and wanted $2 on the coat produced, and which McColl identified as his. Mr. Fox did not buy it. Mr. T. Fox said McConnell came to his place with the coat, and he also refused to purchase it. Mr. Jacob Fox says McConnell on the street with a black coat over his arm. Where the coat went to is a mystery. McConnell says he was too drunk to remember what he did with it. On Friday the detectives mentioned the matter to The Advertiser, and a story was printed requesting anyone who knew where the coat was to communicate with the police. Saturday two boys brought the garment to the Harrison House and left it without saying anything to anyone.

During the taking of the evidence Ethelwolf Scatcherd, who appeared for McConnell, questioned P. C. Oakley and asked him if he had made any report at the station on what he had seen. P. C. Oakley said he made a verbal report. Mr. Scatcherd intimated that he did not believe it.

"Such conduct is entirely uncalled for," said Crown Attorney McKillop warmly. "My learned friend has absolutely no business to intimate that the policeman perjured himself."

WHEAT TOOK A DROP ON THE LOCAL MARKET

Now Selling at 80c a Bushel—The Quotations Today.

Hay varied in price this morning from $11 to $13 per ton. Oats, barley, and even wheat, were not plentiful. Late on Saturday wheat dropped from 83 to 80 cents per bushel. Local reasons are ascribed for the fall in price. It is said that at present only one mill in town is buying, but it is not expected that the present low price will continue for long.

A fair-sized shipment of live hogs was made today at $6 75 per cwt. The demand for live hens still continues strong. At present the Hebrew population of Montreal offers a market for live poultry that cannot be satisfied. The live bird, are still worth 12 cents per pound, but when killed old fowls are only worth 10 cents.

Eggs and butter are still commanding high prices. Butter especially is firmer in price than it has been for some weeks. Dairy butter of the better class readily brings the same price as the creamery product, namely, 30 cents per pound.

COBALT AND PORCUPINE

It is nonsense to suppose that speculation in Cobalts is dying out. The leading brokers are busier these days than for months back, and why not? The camp is producing more and more every year, and new dividend payers are rapidly coming. Our experts unhesitatingly say that COBALT LAKE, HARGRAVE and BEAVER will pay dividends, and can therefore be purchased for a good profit later. Green Meehan, Gould Consolidated is the best stock to buy for a big profit among the cheap stocks. PORCUPINE.—Get information, prospectus and stock from me.

NOMINATIONS TONIGHT FOR THE CORONATION

Each of the Eight Companies of the Seventh to Name Representative.

At the regular weekly drill of the Seventh Regiment to be held in the Armories this evening, the nominations from the different companies will be received for the men who are to go to the coronation.

"Each of the eight companies will nominate a man," said Col. Campbell to The Advertiser this afternoon. "A committee of the officers will consider the names some time through the week and will select three who will represent the Seventh at the coronation."

GOOD MEN SUFFERING THROUGH BAD ONES

Englishman Complains That It Is Difficult to Get Farm Jobs Now.

The foisting of a number of practically useless persons as laborers on farmers in this vicinity has rendered it very difficult for English farmhands to secure employment now, it is said.

While there are numerous vacancies among the farmers, the employers are very wary in taking immigrants, an Englishman told The Advertiser.

A number of professional loafers, who know nothing about the business, and who cared little about learning, secured positions last year, according to his story, and as a result competent men are now interfered with in the securing of employment. As he spoke a young man approached a farmer in front of the weigh scales office on the market, and applied for a position.

"Are you an Englishman?" was asked. This all-important question having been settled satisfactorily by a negative answer, negotiations commenced.

THE BUILDING OF THE CHURCH

Paper Read by Rev. Mr. Hazen at the Ministerial Meeting.

The Methodist Ministerial Association met in Wesley Hall this morning. A paper was read by Rev. C. N. Hazen, of Centennial Methodist Church, reviewing "The Building of the Church," a book by Dr. Jefferson, of Broadway Tabernacle, New York. Dr. Jefferson emphasizes the importance of the church as the saving force in society. Following Rev. Mr. Hazen's paper, which was comprehensive and helpful, all the ministers present took part in a brief discussion of the subject. A deputation from the temperance forces of the city, consisting of Mrs. Thornley and Mrs. Ashplant, waited upon the association, asking the co-operation of the Methodist clergy of London in making the visit of Ald. McCarthy, of Toronto, to this city as great a success as possible. It was moved by Rev. Mr. Whiting and seconded by Rev. Mr. Hazen that the ministers co-operate in every way possible with the temperance organizations in effecting the success of the temperance rally. The question of the Methodist census of the city was laid over until next meeting.

Death of William Goode.

William Goode, of 611½ Duchess avenue, died very suddenly at his home this morning from heart failure. Mr. Goode started from his home shortly after 7 o'clock to go to Perrin's where he was employed. Not feeling very well he went back to the house and sat down in a chair. He complained of violent pains about the heart. His wife attended him as best she could, but before Dr. Davis could be summoned he died. Mr. Goode was 61 years old. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

LOCAL ITEMS

Meeting Postponed.

The monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Club, composed of the local Presbyterian clergy, which was to have been held this morning at the residence of Rev. J. G. Stuart, South London, was postponed on account of the unavoidable absence of some of the members.

Presbytery of London.

The regular meeting of the London Presbytery will be opened tonight in the First Presbyterian Church, and sessions will also be held tomorrow morning and afternoon. The time of the Presbytery will be largely devoted to regular routine business.

Sale of City Hall.

The matter of the city hall sale to the Royal Bank will not come up at the city council meeting tonight. The sale is as good as settled, however, and only the necessary inquiry into the title, etc., is delaying the transfer.

A Big Sale.

Manager Minhinnick announces a tremendous sale for the "Three Twins" at the Grand this week. A very few good seats are left, and those who are desirous of witnessing this attraction would do well to lose no time in getting to the box office.

Lectured and Fined.

Henry Barrett, of 228 Horton street, was fined $10 or 21 days in court today for being drunk and disorderly. Barrett's wife stated that he had come home and smashed nearly everything in the house except the stove, and had called her names and abused her generally. The court gave the accused a severe lecture.

Sunday School Institute.

The local Methodist churches are holding a Sunday school institute in Wellington Street Methodist Church this afternoon and evening. Addresses will be given this afternoon by Rev. George W. Dewey on "Evangelism in the Sunday School," and by Rev. F. E. Malott on "Some Lessons the Sunday School Can Learn From the Public School." Addresses will be given tonight by Rev. F. L. Farewell, of Toronto, and Mr C. E. German. The purpose of the institute is the increasing of interest, and results in the Methodist Sunday school work of the city.

Disorderly Poles.

Cash Skritch and Peter Wickoff, two Poles, residing on Nelson street, were fined $1 and $2 25 each in costs by Deputy Magistrate Graydon at the police court this morning for being disorderly. The men misconducted themselves and a complaint was laid by a neighbor against them. Mrs. Bertha Fox was charged with breaking the Lord's Day act, it being alleged that she had sold an umbrella on Sunday. The matter was adjourned until tomorrow. George Gorgan, a vag was let go, and James Brady, another vag, was fined $10 or 21 days.

A Missionary Meeting.

A meeting of the men of St. Paul's Cathedral will be held in Cronyn Hall on Friday evening next. A big banquet will be held and afterwards the men present will be addressed by Bishop Williams, Canon Gould, secretary of the Anglican Missionary Society; R. W. Allan, secretary of the laymen's missionary movement for the Church of England; Canon Tucker, Dr. Moorhouse and others. The object of the gathering is to discuss the work that is to be done in the city of London, the Diocese of Huron, the Province, the Dominion and the foreign fields.

Anniversary Services.

Elmgrass Avenue Church held Sabbath school anniversary services yesterday. Rev. H. D. Moyer, of St. Thomas, was the speaker morning and evening, and also delivered an address at a mass meeting in the afternoon. In the evening he spoke from the text, "Ye are workers together with God." The church was filled on each occasion. The orchestra rendered valuable service. The singing was led by a young ladies' chorus in the morning, and by the young men in the evening. Altogether it was one of the most successful anniversaries in the history of the school.

EAST LONDON NEWS

MR. JOSEPH HAY SURPRISED

G. T. R. Roundhouse Foreman Remembered by His Many Friends.

Mr. Joseph Hay, who for a long time has been in charge of the G. T. R. roundhouse staff in this city, having been transferred to Sarnia, was pleasantly surprised by the members of his old staff on Saturday afternoon and presented with a handsome travelling bag. The presentation was made by Mr. Robert Reid, and an accompanying address was read by Mr. W. Reid. Mr. Hay was also presented with a travelling-case by the local engineers, the presentation being made by Engineer Green.

FINED BY COURT FOR BLOCKING CARS

Housemover Smashed Guy-Rope and Tied Up Traffic.

At this morning's session of the police court, William B. Davidson, a housemover, was fined $1 and $2 85 costs and was ordered to pay the Street Railway Company whatever damages were assessed when a house which he was moving in East London came in contact with a guy wire causing it to break and delaying traffic. To make matters worse for Mr. Davidson the accident occurred just at noon and certain cars were delayed at an important time. Mr. Ivey, who represented the Street Railway, said that all the street railway wanted was protection from such cases as Mr. Davidson had not notified them in any way that he was going to cross their line with a house. The court agreed with Mr. Ivey, but said he would deal as leniently with Mr. Davidson as possible, provided he agreed to make all the damage good. The matter was enlarged for a week.

EAST END NOTES.

Mr. Charles Strongman, of the East End, has returned from attending the School of Cavalry at Toronto.

THE ELORA CALL

London Presbytery to Take Up Matter at Meeting This Evening.

The call of the King Street Presbyterian Church to Rev. W. R. McIntosh, of Elora, will come up tonight at the meeting of the London Presbytery, and after being passed upon will be sent on to the Guelph Presbytery. The Guelph Presbytery does not meet until March 21, and it will thus be two weks before it will be known for certain whether Rev. Mr. McIntosh will come to the King Street Church.

The pulpit of King Street Church was occupied yesterday by Rev. Hector Mackay, who preached morning and evening.

BANKERS FOR THE ISSUE:

London and South Western Bank, Limited, London, England.
Royal Bank of Scotland, London, England.

ORGANIZATION.

The more important points regarding the Company, as set forth in a letter from the President, may be summarized as follows:

1. After allowing for depreciation the value of the fixed assets as determined by the Canadian-American Appraisal Company, Limited, is $2,489,684.34, or nearly twice the amount of bonds issued. This is exclusive of the standing timber on the area on which the Company holds a concession.

2. The cost of producing Pulp has steadily decreased, while the price obtained has steadily increased.

3. The close proximity of the plant to the Middle West markets of the United States assures an increasing demand for the Company's output.

4. The net earnings of the Company as determined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., for the past three years, were as follows:

Year ending 31st December, 1908 ..... $ 50,893.81
Year ending 31st December, 1909 ..... 169,555.30
Year ending 31st December, 1910 ..... 207,899.93

The net earnings for 1910 show the bond interest earned almost three times over.

5. By reason of the operation of the Sinking Fund, which is calculated to retire the total bond issue by maturity, there is an ever-increasing equity behind the Bonds.

6. The ownership of the Company is in strong and practical hands, assuring conservative and successful management, and the Works on which the bonds are secured are well established and in successful operation.

The Dominion Bond Company, Limited, are prepared to accept applications for the above Bonds at the price of 97½ (unstamped), payable as follows:

5 % on application.
17½% on allotment.
40 % on 3rd April, 1911.
35 % on 3rd May, 1911.

97½%

Prospectus regarding the Company, together with application forms, will be furnished upon application.

LETTER FROM OTTAWA REGARDING CAMP

No Indication Is Made of the Attitude of Militia Department in Regard to Removal.

Mayor Beattie today received a letter from the department of militia and defence at Ottawa, saying that the representations made by the city of London in regard to the retaining of the annual militia camp in this city had been referred to Sir Frederick Borden, and that there would be a later communication on the subject shortly. Nothing was said in regard to the attitude of the department on the subject.

SPARKLER BELONGED TO A LOCAL MAN

That Five Hundred Dollar Ring Home Again.

The $500 diamond ring which was picked up on the floor of the Alexandra Cafe a couple of days ago by one of the young Greek assistants turned out to be the property of a local man. He had the ring in his pocket, and in some manner it slipped out while he was in the restaurant, and was found by the boy who was sweeping up later.

MAY RETURN TO CITY TO FACE CHARGE

The two young men who are alleged to have assaulted Conductor Bedggood on the Wellington north line a couple of weeks ago, will probably return to this city from Detroit, where they are at present located. It is said that they have communicated with the street railway officials and have agreed to return for a police court hearing. The conductor, whose face was marked, was compelled to lay off for a couple of days as a result of the trouble.

FOUR TORONTO STORES DAMAGED BY FIRE

Costly Blaze This Morning on King Street East.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, March 6. Four stores were damaged by fire which broke out this morning at 235 King street east. Damage to the extent of $2,000 to the buildings and about $1,500 to the furniture was done before the blaze was put out. Abraham Pusitz, who lives at ...o. 235, had left his secondhand clothing store to go out on business, while his wife had taken her little child to the General Hospital. A few minutes later the blaze broke out. Some of the firemen had narrow escapes in the buildign from falling debris, but escaped serious injury.

TORONTO TO HAVE INSTITUTIONAL CHURCH

Toronto, March 6. Rev. Lawrence Skey, rector of St. Anne's Church, is about to build a forty thousand dollar institutional Sunday school, and also provide a ten thousand dollar playground for the eleven hundred pupils of St. Anne's Sunday School. A manual training room, a gymnasium, miniature rifle range, and classrooms, where the children can be taught "anything they want to know," are among the details of the plan.

TRAVELLING AUDITOR HIT BY A TRAIN

C. P. R. Official Meets With Serious Accident at Toronto.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, March 6.—Struck by a train at the Royce avenue crossing, West Toronto, at 11:45 this morning, J. Reid, travelling auditor of the C. P. R., was seriously injured and was taken to the Inglehart private hospital in W. Speers' private ambulance. Mr. Reid had just come in on the Owen Sound train and had got off at West Toronto. He was walking south on the tracks when the train he had just got off, coming into Toronto struck him and threw him thirty feet. Mr. Reid is unconscious, and has several cuts about his head. To what extent he is otherwise injured is not known at present. He was identified by papers found in his pockets.

OBITUARY

The death occurred in Victoria Hospital yesterday of Mr. Albert Smith, of 378 Hill street. Deceased was 67 years old, and had resided in London for many years. He had been ill for some time. One brother, Mr. Chancey Smith, survives. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from Harrison's undertaking parlors to Woodland Cemetery.

OTTAWA BAKERS KNOW NOTHING OF MERGER

Say They Are Too Far From the Centre of Production.

Ottawa, March 6.—Ottawa bakers profess ignorance of the big bread merger, which is reported to be nearing completion at Toronto. It was stated that the merger would involve $5,000,000 capital, and include the leading bread manufacturers of Toronto, Hamilton, London, and Ottawa, but local bakers say that in their opinion the matter of distance from the other centres would keep Ottawa out of any such project for lessening cost of production.

County Engineer Charles Talbot has returend from Toronto, where he attended the annual convention of the Good Roads Association. The sessions were all well attended by road builders as well as the visitors at the Queen City Motor Show, and much good will no doubt result.

Moose at St. Thomas.

About 25 members of the Order of Moose of this city went to St Thomas on Friday night to assist in the initiation of twenty members into the lodge in that city. A number of the prominent officers of Detroit were present at the ceremonies.

Sold His Farm.

Mr. Patrick Fallon, of Wyton, has sold his 100-acre farm at that place to Mr. Walter G. Pitt, who has worked it for the past nine years for the sum of $10,000. It was bought some years ago for $7,000, and is considered one of the best farms in the district.

Young—Buller.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Palace by the Rev. Mgr. Aylward on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, when Mr. Charles Ernest Young and Miss Estella Mary Buller were united in marriage. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Gertrude Bell, while Mr. John Buller, brother of the bride, supported the groom. Mrs. Young will reside at 523 Dufferin avenue and will be at home to her friends after April 1.

Presented With Jewel.

At the regular meeting of St. George's Lodge, No. 42, A. F. and A. M., held on Friday evening, a past master's jewel was presented to Wor. Bro Oettinger. The presentation was made by Wor. Bro. S. Baker, who spoke in highly complimentary terms of the excellent work done by Wor. Bro. Oettinger during the time he acted as master of the lodge. The latter expressed his thanks to the lodge in a brief speech.

Orange Delegates.

A number of the delegates to the annual convention of the Orange lodges of Ontario, which opens in Barrie on Wednesday, left today to represent the local lodges. The Black Knights will be in session on Wednesday and Thursday, and on Friday and Saturday the Orange lodges will convene. Among those who will attend from London are Rt. Wor. Bro. E. T. Essery, County Master George Loney, Bros. E. J. Luck, J. Mulligan, J. Clive, W. B. Walker, Geo. Geoghagan, D. J. Patterson, Rev. T. B. Clarke, W. Martin of East Middlesex, and Rev. H. Mahon of Evelyn. The local brethren are going to make every effort to bring the annual meeting to London in 1912.

THE TRAGEDY OF THE CROSS

Evangelist Torrie Addressed a Large Congregation Last Night.

Maitland Street Baptist Church was filled to capacity last night. The large congregation listened with intense interest to Evangelist Torrie on the subject, "The Crowd Around the Cross." The sermon was a vivid word picture of various characters who gazed upon the tragedy of Calvary, and concluded with a tender appeal to the people to accept the gospel. A number responded. The meetings continue every night this week.

SHOOTS BETRAYER

Young New York Woman Fatally Wounds Lover.

New York, March 4—Less than an hour after she had shot and probably fatally wounded her alleged betrayer, Marla Adagnialo, 22 years old, was found by the police calmly eating a hearty supper at her home last night. She made no attempt, the police say, to deny that she shot Giuseppe Orsini, who, she alleged, had betrayed her and married another. "Yes, I shot him," she is said to have asserted over and over again. "I am glad of it, too, and I hope he dies." The man was shot four times on a street corner in the east side, where the girl had made an appointment to meet him last night.

When brought to Orsini's cot in a hospital, the girl was surprised to find that the man denied that she shot him.

"No," Orsini replied, "she did not shoot me."

"If I didn't," broke in the girl, "who did?"

"Don't get yourself in wrong," cautioned Orsini, and fell back semi-conscious from the pain of his wounds. He has no chance of recovery.

FIRE AT ARNPRIOR

Disastrous Blaze in a Store of the Twail Block.

[Canadian Press.]

Arnprior, Ont., March 4.—A bad fire broke out this morning in the Twail Block in a furniture store. It spread from there to E. C. Armands, where the damage was mostly by smoke and water. The Crown Timber office which was over Webster's furniture store was a total loss. George Tarivee's stock was also damaged by water and smoke. Insurance on Armands' stock was $3,000; on Webster's, $1,000. The extent of the damage done is not yet known.

A LENTEN SERMON BY CANON TUCKER

Self-Denial and Selfishness Contrasted by His Lordship.

At St. Paul's Cathedral Sunday morning, Canon Tucker preached a special Lenten sermon, in which he contrasted self-denial and selfishness. He pointed out that at the present time we are being educated to a larger view of life and duty.

"For many ages," he said, "Christian men thought that they personally were centres of God's plan, that everything existed for them, and that their chief duty was to save themselves. Now God is leading us to see that we should work with him not only for our own salvation, but for the salvation of the world.

"The great obstacle to this is self. This is not selfishness in the restricted sense that a man thinks more of himself than anybody else, but in the sense that he opposes himself to God and against his teachings. That causes sin and is entirely against God's purposes."

Canon Tucker showed that it is our duty to deny self, but said that a distinction must be made between denying ourselves something and denying ourselves.

"A person," he said, "may deny himself a few grains of sugar a day, a few ounces of tobacco, a few card parties, or a few social engagements, and think they are denying self, while the spirit of selfishness really reigns supreme in them, and as soon as Lent is over they return to all these things with an added zest. To deny self means to bring our wills into unison with God's and to make God's law the rule for our lives. This is the sort of self-denial practiced by Christ, who, even in the supreme moment of his life, said: 'Not my will, but thine be done.' This was what made him perfect and brought him the great happiness that was his."

A SUICIDE PACT

Couple Found Dead in House They Were About to Occupy.

Newark, N. J., March 6.—Harry D. Cox, a liveryman, and his wife, Winifred, who, it is said, intended to make public today their secret marriage last June, were found dead in the unfurnished rooms which they had planned to fit up for housekeeping. Gas was floating from a heater in the kitchen, and the police thought at first that the double fatality resulted from an accident, but after interviewing a woman at the home of Cox's parents, who claimed to have married him twelve years ago, and says she is the mother of his ten-year-old boy, the police commenced an investigation to determine whether the couple had fulfilled a suicide pact.

DISCUSSED THE POWER QUESTION

H. E. Commission and London Street Railway Had Heart-to-Heart Talk.

MATTER NOT SETTLED

Result of the Conferences Held on Saturday Will Not Be Given Out Officially for Some Time.

For several hours on Saturday, the representatives of the hydro-electric commission—Messrs. P. W. Sothmann, chief engineer; J. H. Storrer, Syracuse; L. H. Herbert, Toronto; Hon. Adam Beck, and also Chairman Philip Pocock, of the water commissioners, and Engineer Glanbitz—discussed Niagara power with the London street railway, who were represented by Manager C. B. King, Vice-President T. H. Smallman, W. M. Spencer, and A. Latour, of Toronto, consulting engineer, on behalf of the company.

The preliminary hearing was held in the afternoon, and later in the evening they met again, and continued the consideration.

Sufficient headway had not been made to enable the engineers to arrive at any definite understanding, and as a result further conferences were held today.

All the engineers have remained in the city, and at meeting today a final effort was made to settle the question.

The Commission's Offer.

The hydro-electric engineers presented the offer of the commission to the company. The exact terms were not given for publication, but it is understood that alternative propositions were given. They were all based, as nearly as could be learned, on a peak load basis. This was one of the main objections made by the company to the former offer of the commission, claiming that they would be penalized for doing big business.

The company were furnished with information as to the cost of machinery, etc., to correct the peak load, and also estimates for other machinery necessary to handle Niagara power.

In addition, efforts were made to arrive at an ideal proposition to be submitted to all city electric railways. Incidental to the discussion regarding local conditions, the street railway problem, as related to the power supply, was most thoroughly discussed. Engineer Storrer had a mass of information regarding American roads.

The offer of the hydro-electric commission has been found satisfactory to several rural roads, but so far the London street railway has been the first urban road to take up the proposition, and it was on account of this that more than ordinary care has been taken to work out a proposition that will be acceptable to any and all urban roads which may in the future need power.

Keeping It Dark.

The result of the conference will not be officially known for some time. The hydro-electric commission must receive the report of the engineers on the question before final action is taken. There are some modifications to the original contract made by the engineers that must be considered.

The London Street Railway Company will have to pass on the agreement also.

"We are now engaged in digesting the discussion," Manager C. B. King informed The Advertiser today. "We met and talked the question over at considerable length. We will meet Mr. Storrer later, and clear up some other points that are not exactly clear at the present time. Then we will work the whole thing over. We want to know exactly just where this proposition will land us before taking any definite action. I cannot say what the outcome will be, but we will go thoroughly into it before making any announcement."

As to the Result.

"The whole question was gone into most thoroughly," Chairman Pocock stated. Every phase of the subject was taken up, and discussed by the experts, who had a mass of information on it. As for the result, I am hopeful that we will sell power to the London Street Railway Company. The offer to my mind is a good one, and, I fancy, will work out to the best interests of the company. However, their engineers will go into the question thoroughly and will report later. I am hopeful that the question is about to be settled at last."

"We are working out an agreement," Hon. Adam Beck said. "The agreement presented to me was only a draft, subject to amendment. If a satisfactory scheme can be worked out it will be adopted by the commission as a basis applicable to the power zone."

The hydro-electric engineers are confident that the company will take 1,000-horsepower from the commission.

QUERIES ANSWERED

TROUBLED—My son, 18 years of age, a few weeks ago had a good steady job, by which he was well able to support himself. He went to two or more stores, and ordered suits of clothes and overcoat for which he did not pay or intend to pay for. He has now gone over to the States. Can I be compelled to pay for these, and can my wages on the railway be garnisheed for same?

ANS.—Upon the facts stated you are not liable for the debts of your son. If you are sued or your wages garnisheed, you should get a lawyer to defend you.

MIDDLEMISS—Your statement is too long for publication. You probably stated other facts to the lawyers whom you have consulted. You are entitled to be paid for the gravel taken from your pit in any court. Whether you are liable to the farmer for damages or not does not affect your right to be paid for the gravel. Upon the facts stated by you it is not clear that you were guilty of negligence so as to render you liable. If the farmer sues you for damages, you had better employ a fighting lawyer to defend you.

CHARLES BYRD DEAD.

Montreal, March. 5.—News was received today of the death of Charles Byrd, of the firm of Munderloh & Co., importers, shipping and commission merchants of this city, who had gone to Nassau, N. P., Bahama Islands, to escape the rigors of the Canadian winter. Mr. Byrd had been in poor health for over a year, suffering with heart trouble.

A SYNOPSIS OF EDUCATION BILL

Some of the Provisions of New Act Which Are of Local Interest.

THE TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

Appointment of the Committee Is Left in the Hands of the Chairman of the Board of Education.

Copies of the new bill introduced into the Provincial Legislature by Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, on education for industrial purposes, have been received in London. If the bill goes through, it will be known as the industrial education act, and there are some clauses in it of local interest. Probably the most interesting clause from the local trustees' viewpoint is that which provides for the appointment of technical school committees on the nomination of the chairman of the board of education. That is relegating to the chairman practically the whole say in the appointment of the committee governing technical schools.

Clauses in the act make provision for the following:

Technical high schools and departments of high schools for the training of duly admitted high school pupils for minor directive positions in industrial establishments.

Schools for instruction in the fine and applied arts.

Industrial, technical and art evening schools, in which workmen and work-women employed during the day may receive theoretical and practical instruction in their trades.

Subject to the regulations and with the approval of the advisory industrial committee hereinafter provided for, pupils may be admitted to a special or a general industrial school by the principal thereof, from the fourth form of the public or the separate school, upon the recommendation of the principal of such school.

Every technical school heretofore established and now in operation, and every school established under section 4 of this act shall be under the management and control of a committee composed of twelve persons, the members of which shall be appointed by the board upon the nomination of the chairman as follows:

(a) Six members of the board, including one representative of the board of public school trustees and one representative of the board of separate school trustees, if any.

(b) Three persons not members of the board who are engaged as employees in the manufacturing or other industries carried on in the local municipality or the county in which the school is situated. And,

(c) Three other persons not members of the board who are employers of labor or directors of companies employing labor in manufacturing or other industries carried on in the local municipality in which the school is situate.

The committee appointed under subsection 1 shall be known as the advisory industrial committee.

The twelve members of the advisory industrial committee shall be appointed at the meeting of the board at which a school is established under this act.

The members of the committee appointed at such meeting under clause A of subsection 1 of section 6 shall hold office until the first meeting of the board in the next following year.

One of the members appointed under clause B of sub-section 1 of section 6, and one of those appointed under clause c of sub-section 1 of section 6, shall be appointed to hold office until the first meeting of the board in the next following year; one of each class shall be appointed to hold office until the first meeting in the second year following that in which they are appointed, and one of each class to hold office until the first meeting in the third year following that in which he is appointed.

Advisory Committee.

The members of the advisory industrial committee appointed under clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section 1 of section 6 shall be British subjects and resident ratepayers of the local municipality or in the county in which the school is situate for which they are appointed, and shall be persons who, in the judgment of the board, are specially competent to give advice and other assistance in the management of the schools under charge of the advisory industrial committee.

(1) Subject to the approval of the minister and the board, every advisory industrial committe shall have authority: (a) to provide a suitable site and building and suitable equipment; (b) to arrange for conducting the school or any classes thereof in a high, public or continuation school or other building in the municipality; and, (c) to prescribe courses of study and provide for examinations and diplomas.

(2) Subject to the approval of the board, every advisory industrial committee shall have authority: (a) to employ and dismiss teachers and fix their salaries; (b) to visit and report on the school or schools in its charge; (c) to fix the fees payable by pupils in attendance; (d) to submit annually during the month of January to the board an estimate of the amount required to carry on the work of the school during the ensuing year; and (e) generally to do all other things necessary for carrying out the true object and intent of this act with respect to any school which may be established thereunder.

Subject to the regulations, the cost of establishing and maintaining every school established under section 4 of this act shall be provided in the same manner as in the case of a high school.

An Artist's Appreciation of The GREAT NEW SCALE
MISCHA ELMAN,
on closing his Canadian tour, shows his appreciation of the New Scale Williams Piano used at all his concerts, in the following:

MONTREAL, MARCH 2, 1911.
MESSRS. THE WILLIAMS' PIANO COMPANY, LIMITED, OSHAWA, ONT.:
Gentlemen,—In leaving Canada after this, my second tour, I do so with many feelings of appreciation, and foremost among these is the delight obtained from the use of the New Scale Williams Piano. As you know, this piano was used at all my concerts in both tours in Canada, and blended so perfectly and was in every way so satisfactory, with its full, rich tone, that I cannot say enough in its praise—only to call it perfect.
Wishing you a long continuation in your great success.
Yours very sincerely,

ESCAPED CONVICT CHIEF OF POLICE

Edgar Stripling Changed His Name to Morris and Arose in the World.

Danville, March 6—"I am confident when the governor of Georgia examines the evidence on which I was convicted he will issue a full and free pardon to me. I was justified in slaying William Corbett, and since my escape from prison I have shown to the world that my character is right. No true American would ask that a man be kept in prison for life just because he killed a man who tried to outrage his sister."

Defiant to the last, Edgar Stripling, who as R. E. Morris has for five years served as chief of police of this city, boarded the night train to go back to Harris County, Georgia, where he is under sentence of the imprisonment for murder. Friends of the former chief, who had learned of his trouble, were in the station to bid him goodbye and promise him their sympathy and active support in getting a pardon. Petitions for a pardon, addressed to Governor Smith of Georgia, are being freely signed throughout the city.

Stripling made no attempt to deny his identity. Discussing his plight while waiting for the train and after he had bade an affectionate farewell to his wife and family, which lasted for more than two hours, the ex-chief said:

"I have expected to be recognized for some time past. In fact, I have courted publicity, as I felt that I had done no wrong in killing Corbett, who had tried to outrage my sister, and who was armed and trying to draw his revolver when I fired. I simply got him before he could get me, but his friends were in the majority when I was tried and I was sent to prison for life.

Managed to Get Away.

"That was back in 1897, and while I was held in jail and my lawyers were working on plans for a new trial, I managed to get away. I lived for a time in several places under the name of Morris and when I came to Danville seven years ago and got a job as night-watchman with the Southern Railway Company I sent for my wife and they joined me. I think when Governor Smith looks up the facts he will pardon me. Then again, I may be able to have the case re-opened and get a new trial."

The arrest of Stripling was brought about through his being recognized by a Georgia drummer, who reported his discovery to the Harris County sheriff. Chief Morris was sitting in his office in full uniform when the Georgia sheriff came in, announced who he was, and placed the chief under arrest. He at once phoned to his wife that he had been arrested and changed to citizen's clothing, announcing he was ready to go. While waiting for the train, he saw his wife and ten children, and kissed them all good-bye.

Morris has been chief for five years, having been placed in that position by the prohibition element here and has been an excellent officer. The knowledge that he was actually an escaped convict amazed the town. Morris' successor as chief was to have been chosen Friday and there was no doubt that he would have been chosen to succeed himself.

STOP EXPORTATION OF ART TREASURES

France Plans a Bill to Keep Art Works at Home.

Paris, March 5—Rumors of the intention of the French Government to introduce a bill to prevent the exportation of works of antique art are, up to the present, according to M. Dujardin-Beaumetz, the minister of fine arts, without a definite foundation. A measure of that kind, he admits, however, is likely to be taken sooner or later.

It is the eager prodigality of Americans, of course, in purchasing such rare objects at tremendous prices and importing them to their own country which has led to the suggestion of preventive steps.

"It is obvious," the minister asserts, "that the public mind of France is much preoccupied with this question. For years there has been an increasing exflux of rare works of art from France, chiefly to America. As yet, however, legislative means of prevention have not been officially discussed. The matter has not even been broached in the council of ministers, and there is at present, so far as I know, no immediate prospect of formal action being taken.

"We in France highly appreciate the American interest in French art, both old and new. There is a happy sympathy between the two countries in regard to this, as well as in many other subjects. It is furthest from our wish that anything should arise to alter this feeling."

M. Dujardin-Beaumetz was asked whether he had heard anything of the reported combination made by American art dealers to profit, to the exclusion of others, by the prospective passage of a law forbidding the exportation of rare antiquities. He answered in the negative.

Current rumors had foreshadowed the introduction of a measure as drastic as the Italian law forbidding the exportation of art objects.

TENTING ON DECK.

New York, March 6.—Unique in the history of steamship accommodations are those provided for James M. Nelson, an English explorer and hunter of big game, who is sailing for Florida on the coast liner St. Louis. When he arrived here from London he found all the staterooms on the ship engaged. Accordingly he asked permission to rig up a tent, part of his hunting outfit, on the hurricane deck of the vessel.

"I am a believer in fresh air, oceans of it," he told the captain, "and I expect to get my fill between New York and Florida."
