Against Prohibition in House of Commons

Condemned by the Dom liance-To be Opposed Next Election. Toronto, July 19. - The Ontario

branch of the Dominion Alliance at yesterday's convention had a rather interesting discussion as to how prohibitionists should go on record as to the Dominion Government's actions. The Government was condemned for defiance of public opinion, and instruc-tion was given the committee of the Alliance to take immediate steps to provide for the organization of the Province, to secure the defeat in the approaching general elections of all members of Parliament who have failed to recognize the maindate of the electors regarding prohibitory legislation, and not to vote for any candidate of cities courty who is not a known of either party who is not a known and valued prohibitionist, and who will not agree to support such mea-

After a lengthy debate, in the course of which the secretary, Mr. Spence, said there were many Conservative prohibitionists who had never given the Laurier Government their confidence, and therefore could not withdraw it, the amendment was voted down and the report adopted.

The convention decided unanimously to ask for an Ontario, prohibition law at the next session of the Legislature, and also to oppose the withdrawal of temperance text books for the schools and the sale of liquor at military camps.

Washington, July 19.—The State Department has received a despatch from Consul-General Fowler, at Che Foo, saying that the Governor of Shan-Tung wires that his courier left Pekin on July 9. The legations were still holding cut. The buoyant and hopeful feeling of yesterday as to the Chinese situation has been strengthened by the addition of a confirmatory despatch from Consul Fowler, at Che-Foo, touching the safety of the legationers at Pekin on July 9. Of course, it is understood that Mr. Fowler's information came from the same fountainhead as did Minister Wu's of yesterday, namely, the famous Yuan-Shinsame fountainhead as did Minister Wu's of yesterday, namely, the famous Yuan-Shih-Kai, the military governor of Shan-Tung province. Because of the very intimate relations that have existed up to a very recent date between this official and the imperial court at Pekin, he having been commanded by the imperial body guard, there is a disposition here to attach more credence to his despatches than would be accorded to those of other Chinese officials. This is based on the presumption that he This is based on the presumption that he has no inducement to falsify the facts.

The memorial insisted upon the necessity of five points, as follows: - "First-Protection of foreigners in the Empire, wnether war breaks out or not, in order to preserve China's prestige as a civilized state. Second— The rescue of foreign ministers still The rescue of foreign ministers still living, as negotiations would then still be possible and the governments of those saved might use their influence in favor of China. Li Hung Chang added in his interview with the foreign consuls that in the event that the lega-tions were saved, the United States Great Britain and France had promis ed to recognize his good will as far as possible, and he expected a similar at-titude by the other powers.

London, July 19 .- In the House of Commons Parliamentary Secretary Broderick read a despatch from Admiral Seymour, duted at Taku, July 15, giving an account of the capture of the native city of Tien Tsin by the allied forces. IT WAS A GREAT BLUNDER.

The mistake that was made in admitting Indian corn free is one of the reasons why the Government should go, declares the Mail.

By the late Government it was held that the United States should not have Canada as a free market for corn without some reciprocal return, as, for example, freedom for our barley in the United States market.

Mr. Fielding, however, placed corn on the free list without receiving any reciprocal return whatever, and in the face of the Dingley additions to the United States' duties on Canadian pro-

By Mr. Charlton a strong protest was entered against this action. Mr. Charlton said corn was one of the keys to the situation, and we ought not to take the duty off until the United States gave us an equivalent conces-

In spite of Mr. Charlton's warning the duty was removed.

Now the men who came to office pro mising to reduce or remove the United States duties on Canadian produce have removed Canadian duties or United States produce instead.

In addition there are higher United States duties against Canadian pro duce, and our Government has volun tarily destroyed the lever which would have opened the American market to our barley, our hay, and our potatoes.

PROHIBITIONISTS NOT SATISFIED.

The manner in which the politicians have disposed of the prohibition question has not given complete satisfaction to the parties of the second part. The denominational journals are anything but pleased. The Christian Guardian, speaking for the Methodists, expresses its irritation. It says

The debate was purely political, and the arguments pro and con discussed in a style that was palpably and painfully perfunctory. Nothing was expected to come out of it, and nothing did, except the shelving for the time of a terribly inconvenient question, and the production of a poultice amendment to soothe the irritated nerves of prohibition constituents. In the division, party cleavage was obliterated, and the vote, we are told, was the noisiest of the session, the members freely joking one another on the position taken.

The report of the debate is very unpleasant reading for those who have track. The light will show a cow put heart and hope and labor and pains or horse at a quarter of a mile on a into the effort for prohibition, as thousands of the readers of this paper, have done, and as many thousands of other men and women have done of other men and women have done front of the locomotive boiler, just through the cork of a bottle of sugarare lessons to be learned from it that if learned thoroughly and put into practice, may tend largely to prevent similar flouting in future. Clearly, the politicians do not take prohibitionists seriously. Possibly, prohibitionists are not sufficiently serious in their estimate of themselves.

Three of the special teachers who were engaged in England by Prof. Robertson, under the Macdonald-Sloyd school fund, to come to Canada (to take charge of the work of establishing manual training in connection with the public schools in the various provinces, have arrived in Ottawa.

The Ontario government will probaby have a much greater revenue this year from succession duties than was anticipated. The estimate, was $175,000, and already $130,000 have been collected. The Christie, Hallam and Alcorn estates in Toronto will yield at least $75,000.

The price of binder twine has dropped to 81-2 and 9c. a pound, yet the cost of the raw, material is the same as it was. Now, it is certain the binder twine combine is (not selling at a loss, even at the reduced price. How, then, can the minister of justice reconcile the reduction with his former statement that as far as Kingston penitentiary was concerned twine was being sold as low as the price of the raw article would permit? Was he keeping up prices then to help the combine or he selling at a loss now?

The people of the United States have been counted and, except in some remote districts, the returns have been made to the census bureau at Washington. It is likely to be some weeks yet before the figures are added up. Meanwhile there are many predictions as to the population the census will show. Mulhall, the great English statistician, places it at 76, 200,000; Prof. Pritchett, president of the National Institute of Technology, at 77,472,000, while the actuary of the treasury department estimates it to be 77,000,000. In 1870 the population of the United States was 38,558,371; in 1880 it was 50,155,730, an increase in ten years of 11,597,412; in 1890 it was 62,622,250, the increase being 12,466,463.

Preachers from New York and Boston change with others in London, England, or Edinburgh, Scotland. If it were possible to secure more interchange between the Maritime provinces and Ontario, we would be glad to see it accomplished, for we think that it would mean mutual profit."

A shortage of lumber is apparent at many points. Contractors and builders at Sault; Ste. Marie and other points in that part of Ontario, it is stated, are unable to get what lumber they require from the Ontario yards, and are now shipping in large quantory when it was necessary to bring lumber from the western province. The scarcity of lumber in Ontario is due to the increased building operations at Ottawa, and also the difficulty in floating logs on account of the absence of rain during June. Several large mills are being prepared for operations at upper lake points, and the supply before the building season ceases will, it is expected, be quite equal to the demand.

Electric headlights for railway lo comotives are coming very generally into use in the Western States and are paying for themselves in saving the railway companies large sums formerly paid for cattle killed on the or horse at a quarter of a mile on a ling the watermelon. With one trimming of carbons the headlight will burn eight hours without further attention.

INDIANA'S PREAK FARMS.

nes, Weasels, Toments, Skunks an

For freak farming Indiana certainly takes the lead. Instead of depending on corn, wheat, tye and the mainfold standbys, a great many farmers in Indiana are devoting their time and energy to raising other products, such as skunks, weasels, rabbits, frogs, gin-seng, tomcats and noxious weeds. Indiana has six large skunk farms, and the industry is becoming so extensive that recently a 'trust' has been formed. The pelts are very valuable, bringing from $1.50 to $2 apiece, according to the quality. The skunk farmers are now raising the brutes by the thou-The young are pretty and do not demand much care, and are cheapy maintained and easily placed on the market, and are profitable. At New Harmony, Posey county, there is a large family of Angora cats. Herman Eular, of that city, is a genuine farmer and tomcat jobber who has made a fortune in handling of this breed of cats. He has sold over 3,000 cats in the past year. He has sold some as high as $50, and none for less than $25. It will readily be seen that cats at $25. apiece will make a man more money than any of the manj cereals raised on the farm.

There is only one leech farm in Indiana, and that is probably the only one in the whole country. The industry is carried on in moss-filled vats. The breeding leeches are shipped from Germany some years ago, and all of the product is thoroughbred. leech market is nothing compared with what it formerly was when physicians prescribed an application of leeches for everything, from cold feet to a raging fever. Still there is a good demand for them and they bring a fancy price. The get plenty of food and will keep for an indefinite time.

There are four large rabbit farms in Indiana. The largest one is located at Wabash and covers sixty acres. The company is headed by Nathan Meyer and is known as the Wabash Belgian Hare Breeding and Importing Company. The company expects to raise 1,000,000 hares this year, The bunnies are fed on hay, and they contities from British Columbia, this sume about 280 pounds of green grass being the first time in Ontario's his-tory when it was necessary to bring mand and the meat is edible. Moreover, they sell as pets. From their hair the finest crush hats are made. Hares are easily handled and are preferable to skunks, and there is no danger of "off" year.

For many years the farmers thought peppermint weeds obnoxious, and grubbed them out. To-day there are three big peppermint farms in Indiana. The largest is located in St. Joseph county, and is owned by Mark Beeger. Another is on the Michigan-Indiana line and is owned by some Poles, and the other is in Lake county. Its uses are numerous, but the greatest demand comes from the manufacturers of print fabrics, who use it to make the colors more solid. The successful pe mint farmer can make from $75 to $156 an acre from his land. The most freakish line of freak farming is the new wrinkle in fattensweetened water.

What Shooting Stars Really Are. It is hardly necessary to say that the shooting stars are not stars at all, as the name seems to indicate, and as people sometimes think, writes Protessor C. A. Young in the New Lippincott. This was the mistake of the sailor on the British naval vessel, who had been set on watch during the star shower of 1866 to count all the meteors he could see in a given fifteen minutes. When his time was up he begged to be allowed a minute longer, "because, said he, "I has my eye on a star that wiggles awful, and can't hold on much longer.

Shooting stars are only little masses of matter-bits of rock or metal, or cioudlets of dust and gas-which are flying unresisted through space, just as planets and comets do, in paths which, within the limits of our solar system, are controlled by the attraction of the sun. They move with the speed of several miles a second, far exceeding that of the military projectile, but are too small to be seen by us except when they enter our atmos phere, and, become intersely heated by the resistance they el.counter, light up and burn for a moment; for, to use Lord Kelvin's expression, a body rushing through the air at such an enormous velocity, is during its flight virtually "immersed in a blowpipe flame," having a temperature comparable with that of an electric arc. As a rule, they are completely consumed in the upper air so that nothing reaches the surface of the earth except, perhaps, a little ash, settling slowly as an imperceptible "smoke." Occasionally, however, some mass larger than usual survives in part the fiery ordeal, and its fregments fall to the ground as specimens of the material of "other worlds than

A lily grew in a garden far
From the dust of the city street,
It had no dream that the universe
Held aught less pure and sweet
Than its virgin self, so chaste was it,
So perfect its retreat.

When night came down, the lily looked In the face of the stars and smiled; Then went to sleep—to the sleep of

It bore the gaze of a hundred eyes
Where burned the flame of wrong.
And one came by who tore its heart
With a ruthless hand and strong. It caught no glimpse of a garden fair, It knew no other name For a world that used and bruised it

Than a world of sin and shame, And hopeless, crushed, its spirit passed As the evening shadows came.

Two Girls Formed it to Slay Their Father and Mother.

The Sweethearts of the Women Help ed to Work Out the Bloody Details for Money.

Anoka, Minn., July 19.-Eliza Wise the younger of the two Wise girls, whose parents were killed and four other members of the family wounded by shots fired through the windows of their home at night several months ago, detailed in court a horrible plot of whiich she said herself and her sister were cognizant. It was during the trial of James Hardy and Elmer Miller, who were arrested on suspicion.
Eliza was on the stand and was asked who she saw outside the house on the night of the murder. She wrote out a statement to the court accusing the defendants and practically admitting that the plot to shoot her pa-rents was formed with the knowledge of herself and her sister.

The mother had $1,500 in the bank which was to go to her daughter in case of her death, and according to Eliza's statement, the girls had said that they would divide with their suitors, Miller and Hardy, when Mrs. Wise was dead. The father had forbidden the boys to call on his daughters and so he was included in the plot.

Eliza testified that she saw the boys with their guns outside the house before the shooting. After the crime was committed she found some telltale shells outside the window and destroyed them. Her story made a profound sensation, as the defendants numerous witnesses.

The Chinese Would Have Aided Sir Robert Hart

To Escape From Pekin but He Refus ed to Desert Mis Friends.

London, Wednesday, July 19. - A Shanghai despatch to the Daily Mail says that Prince Ching and other friendly officials concocted a scheme to enable Sir Robert Hart, Director of the Imperial Customs, to escape from Pekin. Sir Robert was to avail himself of his ability to speak Chinese fluently which it was believed would make his escape practicable. The plan was to have been put into effect on July 4, but Sir Robert refused to leave the British legation, saying that he would not go any leave the other foreigners. He then addressed a note to Prince Tuan, urging that, in consideration of his many years of service to the Em-pire and the good he had done China, his life and the lives of his companions his life and the lives of his companions should be spared. He added that their destruction would bring vengeance and ruin on China. Prince Tuan did not answer, whereupon Sir Robert again wrote, but Prince Tuan maintained his silence. It is stated that the Europeans perished the next night. His death brought tears to the eyes of many of his old Chinese friends.

House

Once or twice a year the good house-wife has a thorough house cleaning. The house has been swept and dusted every day in the year, but the housewife knows that in spate of vigilance dust accumulates in cracks and corners, and is only to be removed by special effort.

It's the same way with the body. You look after it every day. You take all the ordinary precautions of cleanliness and health. Yet the body needs its special cleaning to rid it of the accumulations of waste and poisonous matter which invite disease. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, taken regularly once or twice a year, would save many a sickness. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and cleaness the body of poisonous accumulations.

Ended His Horrible Outbreak by Fatally Stabbing Himseif.

Paris, July 18 .- One of the most terrible tragedies which have happened in France in recent years took place at the village of Goult l'Univers, near Avignon, on Saturday evening.

For some months past a man named Jean Baptiste Allemand, a farmer of that neighborhood, 27 years of age, has been paying court to Marie W. Gregorie, the daughter of Hilarian Gregoire, the mayor of the village. The young lady, however, refused to have anything to do with him. About nine o'clock on Saturday evening the people of the village were assembled in the public square listening to the music of the band when Allemand, armed with a long butcher knife, suddenly threw himself, into the midst of the crowd, and began stabbing right and left like a ma The first victim was Mile. Gregoire, who received a stab in the left breast and another in the cheek, and nine in the abdomen. Death was instantaneous. The murderer then turned on her The murderer then turned on her mother and severed the jugular vein with a single blow of the knife.

Gregoire, who tried to go to the assistance of his wife, received two fatal wounds in the abdomen.

His next victim was a little girl, 12

died twelve hours later. In reply to the questions of the Procurator of the Republic he declared he wanted to revenge himself on Mile. Gregoire and on a Mile. Eloide Don-naud, to whom he had also paid court at one time. It was in trying to reach Mile. Don-naud that he stabbed Mile. Ripert.

Two Lives Freed From Suffering and the Hospital Avoided.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

The ramarkable adaptability of Dr Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets to all forms of kidney and bladder trouble is shown in the experience of Mrs. J. C. Paisley, Monro St., Toronto. A great feature of this medicine is its action is so gentle that women and children can use it without experiencing the ill-effects of other kidney medicines on either the bowels or stomach. Mrs. Paisley says: "I had been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and had been treated for it by kidneys." physicians. Afterwards my kidneys seemed affected. I know that they were. My back caused me much misery. I had dreadful headaches. I was nervous and could not rest at nights; the kidney secretions caused me much inconvenience, and a lang-mor mornings made me feel more weary than when I retired at night. I have used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and I can say that mot only my backache has gone,, but those other afflictions that I have de-tailed have disappeared, I can vouch their being a prompt and positive agent for relieving the kidneys. My little boy of ten years, was afflicted, his kidneys being inactive. I had concluded to send him to the hospital for treatment, but when Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets performed for me what other remedies failed in doing. I gave them to him, which resulted in a perfect cure."

Any reader of this paper can test the merits of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets free by enclosing two cents postage for trail package to The Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto. Regular father, when he would have been so roud of his boy. Poor, murdered Will! Poor, fatherless baby! I am glad God gave you to me. I did not deserve it. I've been so thoughtless and wicked, but I will be better now. Dear little baby, we will grow good together, so as to go some day where papa has gone."

She would not let them take the child from her. It was hers, she said. God had sent it to make her better, and she would have it. There was something in the touch of its soft, warm hands which kept her heart from breaking. And so they left it with her, and from the day that little life came to be one in the household, Rose began to amend, and, in her love for her child, forgot, in part, the terrible pain in her heart. Once her mother said to her:

"Will you call your baby William?" And she replied:

"No; there is but one Willie for me, and he is in heaven. Baby will be call-ed for brother Jimmie."

And so, one bright Sunday morning in March, when St. Luke's was decked with flowers from the Mather hot-house and the children of the Sunday school sang their Easter carols, Rose Mather, in her widow's weeds, went up the aisle with her mother, Annie and brother Tom, the latter of whom gave her bright-eyed, beautiful boy to the rec-tor, who baptized him "James Carle-ton." And all through the congregation there ran a thrill of pity for the widowed mother, whose face, though it had lost some of its brilliant color, was more beautiful than ever, for there was shining all over it the light of a new joy, the peace which comes from sins forgiven, and, after the baptism was over and the morning service read, Rose knelt with her mother, brother and Annie to receive for the first time the precious symbols of a Saviour's dy-

Rose had ceased to oppose Annie in her wish to join Mrs. Simms, who was then at Annapolis; and when Tom, a few days after the baptism, went back again. Annie would go with him as a regular hospital nurse. It might be that Jimmie would be among the number of skeletons sent up to "God's land," as the poor, fellows called it; and Annie's heart throbbed with the pleasure it would be to minister to him, to call the life back to his mornlight night, more than a year and a half ago, had been revoked, and where she had said no, her answer now heart, to awaken an interest in him for Between herself and Mrs. Carleon there had been a long talk, of which Jimmie and the little Pequot girl were the subjects, and the proud ady had asked forgiveness for the wrong done to that girl, if wrong there

"Something tells me you will find my boy," she said, "and if you do tell him how freely I give him this little Luly, and god bless you both!"

A few weeks later and news came to the Mather House that when the battle of the Wilderness was over, Captain Tom Carleton was not with his handful of men who came from the field. "A prisoner of war," was the next report, and then, as if her last hope had been taken from her, Mrs. Carleton broke down entirely, and, secluding herself from the world without, sat down in her desolation mourning and praying for her two boys, -one a prisoner at Andersonville, and one in Columbia.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The sun was just rising, and his red beams gilded the summits of the Alle-ghany Mountains which in the glory of the early morning seemed as calm and peaceful as if their lofty heights had never looked down upon scenes of carnage and strife, or their tangled passes and dark ravines sheltered poor, starv-ing, frightened wretches, fleeing for their lives and braving death in any form rather than be recaptured by their merciless pursuers. There were several of these miserable men hiding in the mountain passes now, prisoners es-caped from Selisbury and other points, but our story now has to do with but one, and that a young man, with a look of determination in his eyes, and the courage of a Samson in his heart. He had suffered incredible hardships since the day of his capture. He had been stripped at once of his handsome uni-form by the brutal Texans, who found him upon the field. His gold, which he carried about his person into every battle, hind been taken from him, and in this condition he had been sent from one prison to another, until Salisbury received him. At first he had suffered but little mentally, for the ball which struck him down had left him with his reason inpaired, and to him it was all the same whether friend or foe had him in keeping. Deprived of everything which could mark his rank as an officer, and always insisting that his name was "Rose," he passed for a demented creature, whom the brutal soldiery delighted to torment. Gradually, however, his reason came back, and woke to the full horrors of his condition. Then, like a caged lion he chafed and fumed, and resolved to be free. He could not die there, knowing that far away there was a blithsome little woman waiting for his coming, if, indeed, she had not ceased to think of him as among the living,—a state of things which he thought very probable, as he became aware of the fact that no one of his companions was acquainted with his real name. Rose was the only cogno-men by which he was known, and the heard that dear name uttered by the coarse, jesting lips around him. A horrid suit of dirty gray had been given him in place of the stolen uniform, and though at first he rebelled against the filthy garments, he began ere long to think how they might aid him in his escape, inasmuch as they were the garb of the Confederates. Day and night he studied the best means of escape, until at last the attempt was made, and he stood one dark, rainy night, out on the highway a free man, breathing the pure breath of heaven and ready to sell his life at any cost rather than go back again to the prison he had left. He had put his trust in God, and God had raised him up a friend at once, who had seen him leave the prison, and greatly aided him in his escape, just as he had aided others knowing the while that by so doing he was putting his own life in jeopardy. staunch Unionist at heart, he was willing to brave everything for the cause, and it was through his instrunentality and minute directions that Will Mather had finally reached the shelter of the mountains which separete North Carolina from Tennessee, He had found friends all along the route, true, loyal men, who had periled their lives for him; brave, tender women, whose hands had ministered so kindly to his wants, and who had so cheerfully divided with him their scanty meals, even though hunger was written upor their thin, haggard faces, and stared in their sunken eyes. And Will had taken down each name, and registered a vow that if ever he reached the North these noble self-denying people should be rewarded, and, if possible, removed from a neighborhood where they suffered so much from privation and from the hands of their former friends, who, suspecting their sentiments, heaped upon them every possible abuse. Ragged,

Surely that was no unfriendly voice, through the entrance to the cave, and a robin, in a shrub growing near, was notwithstanding the oaths of the morning, but still Will did not move until trilling its morning song ere he awoke. The air, though damp from the water which trickled through the rocks, was the stranger, who evidently knew close and stifling, and Will crept cauevery turn and nook of the cavern, tiously out from his hiding-place, and, was so near to him that the light from the dark lantern fell upon his face and betrayed him at once. It was a woman's shawl, Will knew, but it was very soft and warm, and he wrapped it closely round him, for he was shaking with cold, and his tattered garments wre wringing wet. Very few words were spoken, and those in a whisper, as they went cautiously down the mountain they reached what seemed to be a road winding among the hills. This they did not follow, but, striking into the field or pasture land beside it, kept to the right, and at a safe distance from it, lest some straggler might be abroad, and meet them face to face-Will Mather was enough acquainted with Southern customs not to be surprised to find here in the mountain wilds a substantial and even handsome looking building, which, with its white walls and green blinds, seemed much like the farm houses in New England. There was a light shining from the windows, and a woman's brisk step was heard as they went toward the door; Paul Haverill coughing to give warning of his approach:

"All right!" was the pass-word by which he entered, and Will soon stood in the wide hall which ran through the entire building, and opened in the rear upon a broad plazza. "Better take him to Miss Maude" room," the woman said and Will followed on to an upper chamber, which, he would have known at once belong ed to a young sacv.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness, such as impotency, varicocele, shrunken organs, nervous debility, lost manhood, night emissions, premature discharge and all other results of self-abuse or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the organs to full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M. D., 1710, Hull Bidg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. TAXES AND EXEMPTIONS.

To the Planet,-In my last article treated bonuses rathers with my quildipped in ridicule than in the serious dipped in ridicule than in the serious way in which so serious an evil should be treated. But let us proceed to study taxes and exemptions. That compact, which we, call society, must be maintained and cannot be maintained without costing something and all the people should contribute to that cost. Society in return owes to each citizen the protection of his rights and property and life, and repurights and property and life, and reputation. Society in order to fulfil its obligations to its eitizens, organizes courts, employs police, etc., and it necessary, standing armies. I shall justly call down the Christian church for dodging its obligation to society in the matter of taxes. Society is giving to the church all the control of the church all the church society is given to the church all the church al ing to the church all it owes to her while she is not contributing to so-ciety as other organizations contritribute, excusing herself because she is doing good, and tacitly saying let those who are doing, less good pay what I owe. As I think that tax exemptions are interlaced and interlocked with everything that is evil in our po down the church. The tax emptions have blinded the eyes and blunted the consciences of Christian men to a very sciences of Christian men to a very serious length and have closed the mouth of the Fulpit and the religious press to nearly all the wrongs that have crept into society right before the eyes of all. I have heard the statement and give it for what it is worth that nearly half of the property in Montreal is exempted, being the property of church, clergy, nuns, or other reigious orders. Suppose, Mr. Editor, you and I go to Manitoba and take up land. You decide on a lot of government land and I take the lot next yours from the C. P. R. My land is exempt for 20 years after 1 get my patent, and 1 can delay the issuing lof the patent for five more years, and that gives me 25 years of exemption. What effect has that upon you? You must pay double (extortion) taxes or the municipality must stand back and make an appropriate sither in schools or make no progress either in schools or roads or any other public works, as ey cannot come to me for taxes, but can use roads and schools which you pay for as freely as you can. So tax exemptions make tax extortions and detain the progress of society. Still, while it ruins you it does not benefit me, as I must pay a full equivalent to the C. P. R. for all this exemption in the price of the land. I surely don't need to expose the iniquity of exemp-ions in the county of Kent, where the Canada Company has got their work in in pretty good shape. Many a far-mer has three horses and a colt and anting to make two teams hitches he colt with a strong horse, but he res the double-tree in such a way hat the strong horse must draw much nore of the load than the colt, but I have shown you that exemptions as far as Manitoba lands are concerned make a very heavy burden to the the capitalist.

Now let us look at any business; say the carriage business at Chatham. The bonuses I spoke of in my last article and also the exemptions are given to the strong horse, while the weak horse must pay extortion. No wender the 15 or 20 carriage shops in and aroun Chatham have been driven to the wall since protective bonuses and exempions have been the order. While we low have a large shop or two, the men are not employed who were he old shops, and have nothing but exodus for it. Exodus, yes. Canada has become a land of bondage and her children are hunting a Canaan of liberty. Exodus rightly said. Protection has given us big mills but it is by driving 95 per cent of the old mills; to the wall. Protection has given us big tanneries by driving all he small tanneries to the wall. Tinthe small tankeries to the walk. It is mithing, carriage making, shoemaking, saddlery, tailoring, woollen mills and machine shops, the story is the ame, no employment for one man in ive. Protection has ruined them all and depopulated all the small cities and towns in Cornels. Well it nd towns in Canada, Will the new oryism destroy protection? Let us But, you ask, what would become f our country if protection bonuses nd exemptions were done away with The cepitalists would all leave! My next article will be a romance howing an exodus of capitalists and

The French Dec ared That the Inhabited Caverns Were Dens of Thieves. Oran, one of the chief ports of Algeria, is most picturesquely situated on a curving shore of the Mediterranean, at the foot of a frowning height to the west, on whose slope the forts, one above another, grimly guard the town, and are a standing menace to any nation who should conceive the idea of wrestling this African city from France. A number of ravines diverging from the city gates on the land side are the convenient caravan and wagon routes into the interior. Along the steep side of a ravine that leads inland from the Santon gate, some distance from the city, are a number of artificial caverns that were dug, no one knows when, in the igneous or volcanie rock known as tufa, which not being very hard lends itself readily to excavation. The entrances to these caverns are low and narrow, but within, the rock has been hollowed out into quite spacious apartments and in some cases has been partitioned into two or more rooms. Twelve of these caverns are known and, strange as it may seem, the authorities of Oran as-sert that there are others whose entrances have not yet been discovered. The largest cavern has four rooms and there are twenty-nine apartments in the twelve caves to which the City Fathers have recently been giving very serious attention. All these caves have been used as human habitations and their occupants were ostensibly innocent Spanish settlers and families of Gypsich. The real, fact, however, is said to be that the subterranean dwellings have become the homes of thieves, the dark recesses being used by brigands as a hiding place for their booty. It is more than suspected that they were originally excavated to serve the purposes of outlaw, and the fact seems to be established that of late years they have been restored to their early phase of utility.

So the government has recently undertaken a work of eviction. All these were proved guilty of lawless doings, modern trogladytes were turned into the outer sir and some of them, who were provided with other secluded quarters in the city jan. The one thing that can be said in their favor is that they had made their under ground homes quite habitable. are really far more comfortable living places than many of the apartments occupied by the poor in large cities of the most civilized lands.

Nearly all the rooms are found to be neatly whitewashed. The air is pure because from each apartment a ventilating shaft leads through the rock above to the open air. There are doors and chimney, and the largest cavern is a two story affair with a staircase dug out of the rock leading to the upper story. The drainage is perfect and every cavern is absolutly ary.

These homes in the earth are really ingenious and excellent in their way and it will be a pity if the people of Oran do not find some use for them. Their temperature is invariably cool and if they might be transferred to Germany they would probably be used as beer vaults. If we might plant them in the Palisades, some Yankee showman might turn many an honest penny by collecting in them a few mummies and other prehistoric relics and exhibiting the caves as the home of the "only original" troglodytes.

Twenty Million Pins Per Day.

It requires an average of more than twenty million pins per day to sustain the falling skirts, replace the missing suspender buttons and meet the other needs of the American people. What becomes of all these pins is a question that nobody has been able to answer, but there is no falling off in the demand, so that this number must disappear in some manner every day. It is hard to imagine anything sim pler than a pin, and it is a striking proof of the complications of our mod ern industrial system that every pin in the course of its manufacture passes through a dozen separate processes, involving the greatest skill on the part of the operatives employed and the action of a great amount of automatio machinery. The pin makes its appearance at the factory in the form of barrels of coiled brass wire. The first process is that of straightening this wire. are placed on revolving racks, and fed from these into little machines, from the vice-like grip of which they emerge perfectly straight. Thence the wire is fed into the pinmaking machine, which is almost as complicated in the world. Surest Pile cure on as a printing press. A sharp knife earth. 25c. a box. Sold by A. I. Mecuts the wire off into uniform lengths of the desired size. As each little length of wire drops from the knife it falls upon a small wheel, the edge of which is notched into groves just large enough to hold the bits of wire. Each piece is carried along by the wheel until an iron finger and thumb seize and hold it firmly, while an auomatic hammer, by a single blow, puts a head on one end. Then the embryo pins fall upon another g poved wheel, which revolves horizontally. As they move on in the clasp of this second wheel the projecting ends pass over a number of circular steel files, which neatly grind them to a point. Further on they en-counter a pumics stone, which smoothes off the filed ends, and then they drop into a wooden receiving box. So 'ar no workman's hands has touched the pins in their progress from the reel. The cutting, heading, pointing and smoothing has all been done by the wonderful automatic machinery.

From the wooden boxes the pins go to the "whitening" room, where they are cleaned in revolving barrels filled with sawdust and receive a nickel coating in big vats. Then they are dried in the sawdust barrels and are run through a "sorting" machine. It is impossible to get the better of this machine. The big department stores and wholesale dealers buy their pins by the case. A case contains 108 dozen papers, 360 pins in each paper. A single, order from the largest stores usually calls for 100 cases, or nearly 50,-000,000 pins.

The great reason for the goodness of E. & D. bearings lies in their fourof E. & D. bearings lies in their fourpoint design. The load passes directly Since James M. Jones Graduated From Oberlin College.

He Attended the Late Reu 1 n - Seven of his class Still Left.

James Munroe Jones, the North Chatham gunsmith, who is a graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio attended the annual reunion of the old pupils on June 22nd and 23rd. Mr Jones belonged to the class of '49, he having entered the college in 1843. Of the eleven who graduated when Mr. Jones did, seven are still living. Three attended the rreunion. | They were the Rev. Edward Partridge Klisbee of Oberlin, O.; Henry W. Howe, postmaster at Ira, O.; and Mr. Jones, of this city. The Chatham graduate of Oberlin College enjoyed himself greatly and taked over old times with his ancient classmates. The class of which Mr. Jones was a member started in 1843 with 60 freshmen, but it dwindled till only eleven graduated.
Edmund B. Wood, who was appointed a Manitoba judge under the Sanfield Macdonald ministry, was a graduate of Oberlin College. He was captain of the football team in the year tain of the football team in the year ahead of Mr. Jones. A brother of P. D. McKellar and a brother of Post-master Barfoot attended this college some years later than Mr. Jones.

OBERLIN COLLEGE. The Globe of Saturday, July 7, co tained the following in regard to Ob tained the following in regard to Oberlin Collège:—Thirty-four miles west of Cleveland, Ohio, and ten miles south of Lake Erie, is a town of 4,300 inhabtants, with a peculiarly interesting and in some respects a most unique history. In the years '31 and '32 a great religious revival swept the States of New York and Ohio. Among those who came under the spell of that awakening were two young Vermont-ers—Philo P. Stewart, a missionary to the southern Indians, afterwards famous as an inventor, and John J. famous as an inventor, and John J. Shepherd, the Presbyterian pastor of the new settlement of Elyria. They the new settlement of Elyria. became imbued with the idea of Christian colony, the home of a Chris tian college, to be conducted along what in those days were regarded as very advanced lines. Partly by purchase and partly by gift a tract of land in Lorain County, eight miles south-west of Elyria, was secured. Here, on April 19, 1833, in the midst of a dense, unbroken forest, clothing a level, uninviting clay soil, the first settler, Peter P. Pease, built his cabin under the shade of an elm, which is still standing upon the college campus. The name given to the colony by its founders serves to perpetuate the memory of Pastor John Frederick Oberlin, whose labors in his parish on the borders of Alsace and Loraine, so full of self-denial and genuine human in the parish of them. sympathy had, in the reading of them, appealed strongly to their hearts.

ITS DEVELOPMENT. Without wealth, but rich in faith, and devoted to a high ideal, they took up their work. One by one the diffi-culties vanished and success beyond their fondest hopes was achieved. As we trace the course of events we are impressed with the phenomenal char-acter of the growth of the institution Before the close of 1833 the colony numbered eleven families and possessed a preparatory school or academy, with forty-four puils, fifteen of these being young wo men. In 1835 a theological depart-ment was established, rather unexment was established, rather unexpectedly, and in this wise: The trustees of Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, undertook to muzzle their students, forbidding discussion upon the question/of slavery. The students came in a body to Oberlin. In one and a half years after the first tree was cut the college was fully organized, with thirty-five students in the seminary, thirty-eight in the college, and two hundred and four in the preparatory department. Hundreds of students were turned away, because there was no room. In 1867 a conservatory of music was added. To-day we find, offer these score and seven years, a was fully organized, fter three score and seven years, a ollege of seven departments, possessing fifteen commodious and substaning fitteen commonded and state that the tial buildings, with two more in the course of erection, a teaching faculty of eighty-four and a roll of students close upon fourteen hundred.

STIRRING INCIDENTS. Some of the most stirring incidents of pre-rehellion days clustered around Oberlin-her citizens exposing themselves to contempt, hatred and personal violence in their efforts to aid the runaway slave. The soldiers' monu-ment in front of the second church preserves the memory of those from Company C-the college company -who died during the war.

on June 22nd, to 27th there was a re-union of alumni, and such a reunion! Clothed in holiday attire, "Alma mater" welcomed her children from all ends of the earth and from all walks of life-missionaries from Natal, Mi-cronesia, China, Japan, Turkey; men eminent as lawyers, physicians, politicians, states governors, generals, all came and all rejoiced together amid old familiar scenes, now strangely changed. Still, it was home. Even the stranger from Canada, viewing them and their alma mater from the standpoint of college and schools of his own country—so different in many respects, but animated by the same high purpose of serving man and glorhigh purpose of serving man and glorifying God to the full measure of their powers, he, too, rejoiced in their joy.

Under the presidency of Dr. John Henry Barrows, best known through his associations with the World's Fair Parliament of Religions, with the sympathetic co-operation of a brilliant staff, trained in Germany, and the best postgraduate schools of America, numbering among them two distinguished graduates of Toronto University, there is for Oberlin a bright and beneficent future.

China is Making Organized War Upon Them.

Has Been Long Preparing for it-The Late Slaughter at Tien Tsin.

London, Thursday, July 19, 4 a. m. -While evidence accumulates daily hat China has long been preparing formidable organization in anticipation of the present conflict, and that the era of rebellion is continually extending, harmony among the allies, which is necessary to meet such a grave situation, is still deplorably lacking. The Russians have refused Admiral Seymour's request to hand over the restored Taku and Tien Tsin railway to the English company, and it is numored that Germany proposes taking a serious independent step, namely, to patrol the Yang Tse Kiang with German men-of-war. Such a step would be greatly resented by England. Still more alarming news has been conveyed to the Daily Express from Tokfo to the effect that the apparent feluctance of Germany and Russia to consent to a Japanes ommander for the army corps has led the Japanese government to delay the forwarding of the division already mobilized. HAS DECLARED WAR.

The Standard, in an alarmist torial, says:—It is useless to tell stories any longer to hide from our-selves the fact that China has declared war on civilization and has plunged into the conflict with rabid frenzy. It is equally futile to discuss whether the hostilities are being waged by the Chinese government, inasmuch as it is evident that an administration of some kind exists and is directing the anti-foreign move-ment. Unless unmistakable evidence, exculpating the Pekin government, is promptly, forthorning, the powers should treat China as a belligerent state and act accordingly." A similar line of comment is taken by the other morning papers. All applaud the course of Count Von Buelow, German Foreign Secretary, in stopping cipher telegrams from the Chinese legation in Berlin, and all urge the other powers to follow Germany's example. The Russians' general staff denies the report that the Chinese have cap-tured Blagovetchensk, capital of the province of Amur, and it is reported from Irkutsk that the Russians have taken Aigan.

LOSSES AT TIEN TSIN. A special despatch from Tien Tsin distributes the number of those killed at the capture of the native city as follows:—Russians, 100; Japanese, 57; British, 40; and 'Americans, 37. The correspondent who sends this asserts that thousands of Chinese were killed and that fighting was still going on when his despatch was sent in various parts of Tien Tsin. With reference to the rumors that Europeans were seen working the Chinese guns at Tien Tsin, the Standard correspondent learns that eight Russian military in structors, forcibly detained by the Chinese, were compelled to work guns. One escaped and reached Russian lines with his hands boun A special despatch from Tien Tsin contrasts the splendid work and per-fect equipment of the Japanese with the inadequate supplies of the British German and American contingents which are terribly lacking in the most bvious necessaries.'

The first Boxer proclamation has ade its appearance in Shanghai, eclares that Kwan, the war god, de sires the blood of the foreign governors of the provinces of Hu Nan, Hu Pl and Ho Nan have now openly joined Prince Tuan, and are marching verland with their armies to Pekin. A German, relief column, sent in he interior of the province of Shar Tung to endeaver to resome a party of 30 missionaries, German, American and English, has returned without any tidings of their whereabouts, and it is feared that all have been slain.
