Stockholm, Oct. 9 .- There is a persistent rumor here that Emperor William has abdicated. London, Oct. 10 .- The demand for something more than unconditional surrender from Germany is becoming intensified in the newspapers here. Letters recalling the crimes of Germany and urging retribution include one from Prof. Spencer Wilkinson, who declares that a condition precedent for the cessation of hostilities should be the occupation by the Allies of Metz, Strassburg, Mainz, Trent, Triest and Pola.

Crossing the St. Quentin-Le Cateau railroad the French forces operating just south of the Americans and British along the line where the Hindenburg system has been smashed have made a new advance which appears to be important. Marcy has been captured from the enemy and the French have reached Fontaine Notre Dame and Fonsommes, well east of the railroad. Simcoe, Oct. 10.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—The racing events at the Norfolk County Show yesterday were the 2.10 and 2.30 classes. reddy Grattan, who led Tuesday in the three-minute class, was marked down and carried off the 2.30 yesterday in three straight heats. Andrew Dunn of Saskatchewan had to leave the stables for an hour and appear in police court. He had refused to show his papers to a Do-minion policeman, and it cost him $5.10 for freshness. He had a horse in each race. Both of these events were good specimens of the princely There was some delay in getting the heats of the 2,30 under way and the drivers were twice warned in succession, finally held back for the pole horse. In the 2.10 Walsh was accountable for most of the delay. It is due the management to state that the wires from the judge's stand which aroused some suspicion, were not a telegraph connection, but they erated a bell at the opposite side of the track to warn the gate man to suspend traffic when the heat was

Record Attendance.
There must have been over 8,000 people in the grounds yesterday. The gate receipts for both days including parking fees for autos, amounted to $2,348.40. The autos admitted to the centre of the horse ring and the occupants thereof would swell this perhaps $200 more and we are not aware that the grandstand and bleacher admissions were included. The total gate and stand receipts should therefore approach the $3.000 mark. The concessionaries paid a good figure, so financially the 1918 fair has been a success.

"Registration," says the report, has demonstrated beyond question that we have in Canada an abundant supply of labor, experienced in farming and willing, upon request, to devote itself to farming, but which is at present employed in other occupations. In the Provinces of Ontario and Manitoba alone there have been secured and placed in the hands of county committees, by means of registration, the names of over 140,000 culture, but for the present otherwise employed, whose services are available as harvest hands, should they be required.

"If the cards from all parts of Canada were thoroughly scrutinized for farm prospects the labor shown to be available would probably prove conclusively that, despite the number of men who have left the farm for overseas' service, we still have a force with which we can main tain our production at its present level or even increase it if necessary The report states that as a result of the registration the board could in the national interest mobilize labor quickly towards any form of produc-

Lesson from the Front!

The way the different organizations for the relief and comfort of soldiers, work together at the front is inspiring. They do not overlap; they co-operate. There is no question of creed or race. It is each for all, and all for the common cause—to mitigate pain and relieve distress.

There is a lesson for us at home in this hearty, healthy, brotherly spirit, and there is a chance to profit by it.

The Catholic Army Huts Association is asking for funds. Brantford should help substantially and solidly as it helped every other worthy cause. Every citizen should show his appreciation of the splendid work done by the Army Huts Association.

Fate of Coming Generation Rests on Relief Work.

MANY people have thought that the United States loans to Belgium have financed all the Relief Work necessary. As a matter of fact the loans provide the minimum ration to sustain life in a grown person.

The bowl of soup and two pieces of bread are totally inadequate to build bone and muscle for a growing child. The results are ghastly!

The results are ghastly!

"These cases, running into hundreds of thousands of sick and defective children . . . . . cannot be taken care of by the general funds", writes Mr. Hooper on July 8th of this year. I wist particularly to remove any doubt as to the acceptability of contributions to the Commission for Relief in Belgium for the special purposes above indicated."

Unless the sick and starving children of Belgium are given a chance for life, Tuberculosis, Rickets and kindred ills will claim the next generation. That is Belgium's outlook.

Establishment of Separate Department in Methodist Church Mooted

By Courier Leased Wire Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 9.—The question of the creation of a separate de-partment of evangelism for the Methodist Church was hotly debated this morning in the General Conference committee on social service and evangelism, but no decision was arrived at, the speakers being pretty evenly divided on the subject. sub-committees had been appointed to deal with the question, one of which reported in favor and the other against the formation of the new department. The feeling of some is that the cause of evangelism has suffered through the attention of the present department being diservice. Others hold that evangelism is best forwarded through social ser vice. It is considered that some com-

More Cases Reported in City To-day, But Officials Are Confident

There were no striking developnents in the influenza epidemic today. The disease is still spreading, but, according to health officials, it exists only in a mild form in

ON EVANGELISM Some Facts About Their Activities In England.

An interesting story of the work of the 126th Company, Canadian Forestry Corps in England is told by Sergt. Herman L. Porter, of the Y.M.C.A., who was stationed with the corps, in a small brochure he has published. Not only does he present a graphic description of the work of the Canadian Forestry Battalion, but he gives an idea of the way in which the United Kingdom is sacrificing her historic forests in order to supply timber for the army in France.

The 126th Company was stationed on top of a hill on the Duke of Bedford's estate overlooking the town of Ampthill. The sergeant writes of the location and the attitude of the villagers as follows: "Here John Bunyan lived and did much of his work. From the camp doors could be seen each morning the 'Slough of Despond,' while in the dim distance the 'Delectable Mountains arose to form a delightful back ground. On the left, a wooded hilltop looked down upon the spot where once a castle stood, a favorite resort Queen Catherine spent her last days.

There the people of Bedfordshire and surrounding counties had come to spend their holiday, while upon the same hill the listening pines had heard the story of love, as told by each succeeding generation of Ampthill young. It thus happened, when by the for-tunes of war it became necessary to cut into many of England's great forest reserves, the beauty spots of the country, that the townsmen gave but scant welcome to the Canadians, who under the able leadership of Major A. B. R. Kenny, of Ottawa, had come to begin the work of destruction. And who could censure them if at first Sturgeon was a Chi-cago young man who had gone to Western Canada to farm on a large scale. He enlisted in the Canadian scale. He enlisted in the Canadian army, and for months drove ammunition trucks nightly out to the front. One night something blew up, and the next Sturgeon knew was three weeks later, in an English hospital. The doctors there mended his bones, but no one seemed to be able bones, but no one seemed to be able to fix his eyes, which could not distinguish objects beyond fifty feet. He raturned to this country to consult his former doctor, who succeeded in devising glasses which restored his vision completely.

The next day I had to go out to find some food for I was weak from hunger. The soldiers did not hurt me. They seemed to be too busy. They were rushing everywhere and cannon, hig trucks and men were passing through the village. I went to a neighbor's and asked for food, but she said the Germans had care everything in her house. For days and days I lived on raw carrots, turnips, cabbage and potatoes, which I gfole in the fields. Then an eld woman who lived near where our home had stood when the Germans set lire to it, took me in and gave me a little food each day—some petaboes and a silee of bread was the most I ever got. I became very sick, 'At last one day these came some English-speaking men who brought with them in wagons food for us. One of them was a doctor. He examined me and that night they put me in a train and look me to Holland. There I was taken care of by a Dutch family and later removed to England."

Keep Rooms at 64 Degrees.

The next requisite for health, The next requisite for health, so far as temperature is concerned, is that the rooms where people live and work should average about 63 or 64 degrees. During the part of the year when such temperatures prevail out of doors, we get up in the morning and eat breakfast with a temperature of about 60 degrees. By noon the temperature rises to about 70 degrees. Toward sunset it is perhaps 64 degrees, and by bediate it is down to 60 degrees. All day we are perfectly comfortable. We do not feel the need of a fire either in the morning or the even.

Brant reports the fall weather as fact, if the coal stipulation—should demand it, there is no reason why the temperature should not average as low as 60 degrees. Instead 56 degrees would actually do less harm than 72 degrees, which is a common temperature in many houses at present. Of course people would have to ent. Of course people would have to dress warmly. If they faithfully carry out the other recommendations of this article, however, they may expect better health and as great comfort at 56 degrees as at 72.

LADY'S WAIST.

One may have a choice of two very smart and new ways of getting into this severely simple waist-over the head or buttoning at the back. The slip-on style is very French, but the back fastening has its advantages because it is somewhat more convenient to put on. No. 8817 cuts from very little material, and the design is appropriate for striped silks, taffeta, voile, dimity or lawn. The sleeves are very accommodating, for they may be made either full length or three-quarter,' with two styles of cuffs. The lower edge of the waist is drawn in on an elastic.

The lady's waist pattern No. 8817 is cut in five sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust measure.

As on the figure, the 36 inch size requires 1% yards of 27 inch, 1½ yards of 36 inch, 1½ yards of 40 inch, with ½ yard of 36 inch contrasting material.

To Obtain This Pattern Send 15c to The Courier Office, or two for 25c.

to be variable, it does not need to average so high as when it is kept uniform. Under such conditions people's health improves and their capacity for resisance greatly in-creases. Thus people who have been in the habit of wanting the ther mometer at 70 degrees at breakfas time, find themselves comfortable if the temperature is only 60 degrees times. This is beneficial to health

THE CROPS

On the contrary, the shortage of coal will actually improve our health. With better health we shall have fewer doctor's hills. That will not only mean a saving of money for ourselves, but we leave the doctors more free for war service. It will have still another great advantage. It will give the whole country greater strength to put into the work of winning the war.

Do you doubt this Then consider these three facts:

1. An average temperature of 64 degrees is the best for the human race.

2. Moist air is more healthful than dry, provided it is not too warm

Do the contrary, the shortage of moisture. Thus we save coal will prove health, and make ourselves feel comfortable.

AT THE GRAND.

Local playgoers will find much more than passing interest in Rich-ard Walton Tully's charming play. "The Bird of Paradise," which re-turns for its annual engagement at the Grand Opera House Friday, Oc-

The play stands out as a distinct contribution to American dramatic literature. It touches a virgin field, so far as the stage world is concerned, and it is probably the one worthy attempt to date to preserve in dramatic form and therefore to visualize, the vanishing customs, beliefs and legends of the Hawaiians. Mr. Tully had a rich field from which to draw his material and since he selected wisely and discriminately his play possesses high merit aside from its usual intrinsic value as a drama.

Manager Morosco has provided an exceptional cast for this season, which includes Miss Rita Romilly, a The play stands out as a distinct which includes Miss Rita Ro leading woman of wide experience, who will be seen as Luana; Guy Harrington has the role of Dr. Wilson; Brandon Evans, the beach-comber, and Miss Jane Haven as Diana, the American girl.

"BRINGING UP FATHER AT

Merry, meritorious and mirthful may well be applied to the latest of the "Bringing Up Father" series of cartoon plays. It is called "Bringing Up Father at Home," and will be the next attraction at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, October 12th. Those who have seen and enjoyed the other editions of these popular and side-splitting comics will no doubt endorse this one as the best of the entire crop. Gus Hill, who took "Father" out of the pages of the newspaper and made him the most-talked-about celebrity in the world, has invested the production the set style of entertainment which has marked all of the "Father" pleces in the past, aunouncement is made that the fun that occurs from this particular concoction is on entirely new lines. An elaborate scenic investiture, new ideas, innovations, jingling songs, tuneful melodies, and a competent cast are assured. The company besides a chorus of twenty-five of the most beautiful young women vocalists and dancers also includes John E. Cain, the creator of "Father" on the stage. Lida Kane, the original "Mother," and Blanche Newcomb, who is the daughter of Bobby Newcomb, in his day regarded as the king of jesters, a talent his daughter is said to have inherited.

The offering is in three acts and from all accounts is easily the laughing hit of the current season. Matinee as usual on Saturday, October 12th.

Position of Herr Harden

Is Not Easy to Interpret

In Connection With War

************** ANY theories have been advanced to explain the present cynical attitude toward German war policy of Maxi-nilian Harden, as expressed in Die Zukunft. During the early stages of the war, Herr Harden advocated the cause of Pan-Germanism, and German right of expansion at other people's expense, just as openly as he now espouses the justice of the Allies' cause. If Harden has often allies' cause. If Harden has often given the German Government pause as to whether it should praise him for upholding it or imprison him once again for ridiculing and opposing it, it must not be forgotten that, when the German armies burst into Belgium, he wrote, referring especially to that country, "There never was a more righteous war than this one which has crushed her, never one which conferred greater benefits on the conquered." As an expression of creed from the man who was once a friend and disciple of Bismarck, creed from the man who was once a friend and disciple of Bismarck, who consistently vilified Italy, and who declared that it was time enough to "talk of civilization, humanity, and other such stuff when the beaten adversary nations have been brought to the ground," the statement appeared faithfully to represent Herr Harden. But no better instance of his radical "conversion" could be found, perhaps, than his recently published criticisms of Count von Hertling's speech, in which the latter made the notorious reference to Belgium as a notorious reference to Belgium as a

In the course of his speech, which called forth a scathing rejoinder from Mr. Balfour, on Belgian Independence Day, the German Chancellor used the words, "The occupation and MAXIMILIAN HARDEN. mean that we have a pawn for future negotiations." The count went on explain that what he meant by the expression "pawn" was that "on does not intend to keep what one had in one's hand as a pawn if negotiations should bring a favorable result." In using those words the German Chanceller thus enunctated the present German policy toward Begium, free from all possible ambiguity. Belgium, to the Germans, then evidently is a country to be held to subjection in order to impose favorable terms. It is to be robbed an crushed, outraged and misgoverned and to be subject to a continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be to be subject to a continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be to be subject to a continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be to be subject to a continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be to be subject to a continuation of continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be subject to a continuation of pest horrors and abominations, he will be subject to a continuation of the subject to the specific terms have been stated by the German press with obliging cander. The include the restitution of Germany colonial possessions, recompense for her trade losses, and the abandonment by the Allies of all economic war after the war.

Now, whether or not the German Chancellor had ulterior political motives in making this statement, whether or not he hoped thereby to lay a bait for the pacifists among the Allies, it is important to remember that he has been taken with intense seriousness by Herr Harden, Mr. Balfour, in fact, has used no more bitter irony with regard to this "crowning insult levelled against Belgium" by the Bavarian "professor in polities" than has the notorious Munich publist himself. To Herr Harden justice to Belgium appears as a "question of decency, morality, and honer," and he goes on to say, "international law forbida Germany to retain even one pebble of Belgian streets, and commands Germany to

Then, we have to ask its forgivene and not force conditions upon it."

In judging of the effect whithese utterances by Herr Harden a likely to have upon the people of I own country, the wish may merror to be the father of the though Probably the majority do not take him seriously, or, like the courtie in Fulda's "Talisman," refuse to sthe truth even when it is bared is to them. The Allies are not likely yountarily to place themselves in the a fool's paradise as to believe in G man voluntary renunciation of B gium and in the likelihood of a G man request for "forgiveners," sugested by Herr Harden.
