These, of course, were the largest items of expenditure. Of the $81,841.06 spent for Public Works, $24,179.95 were spent on bridges; $19,263.68 on ferries, and $18,-473.62 on roads. $3,838.78 were ex-pended on public buildings, and the balance was spent on packets, ferry wharves, Supervisors' salaries, etc.

wharves, Supervisors' salaries, etc.

From these figures it will be seen that the money has been spent for the best interests of the people, and that none of it has been recklessly squandered. The amount spent for education alone is about $44,000 more than the Davies Government paid for this service during the last year they were in office. Considering there has been no taxation, and that any move made by the Government for the benefit of the people has been streamously opposed by the Opposition, the Administration are deserving of all praise for having conducted the business of the year in such an economical and satisfactory manner.

The opponents of the Government say that the Province is in debt. They seem, however, to lose sight of the fact that when the present Government came into power, they found the Province in debt to a very considerable amount, notwithstanding that their processors in office had wrung from the people about $40,000 annually in the shape of taxes. If, therefore, we ware the shape of the people about $40,000 annually in the shape of taxes. If, therefore, we ware the shape of taxes. If, therefore, we ware the shape of taxes. "Virginia is a diagrace to the honored name of the United States. "To pay or not to pay?" has long been made a political question wherewith to catch votes. A few patriotic citizens are, says the report, in favor of settling up; but, from all we hear, they are about as few as the righteous in Sodom and Gomorrah. The Federal Government ought to be able, if it is not, to reach these shabby defaulters. Virginia is believed to be well abla to pay in full. An approximation of this shortage will be found in the Report of the Department for the year 1885. Of the $3.275 acres then estimated to be vacant or unattorned for, the conditions of the Government have since been compiled with in the case of yi 7,1364 acres. Of the lands which still remain unpurchased, a considerable and adverse holding had been maintained against the proprietor; at the same time it may be observed that some of the adverse holders are year by year coming in and attorning to the Government.

THE FATE OF UNRESTRICTED RE-CIPROCITY.

Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States, the latest development in the ever-changing policy of Canadian Liberalism, received its quietus in the House of Commons, on Wednesday morning, the 20th. A year ago a resolution on the subject was voted down; but, nothing daunted by failure then, Sir Richard Cartwright moved again in the matter this seesion, justifying his course by the action of the dying House of Representatives at Washington declaring in favor of Commercial Union, under which arrangement the fiscal affairs of Canada would be controlled by the United States Congress. The debate which closed Wadnesday morning, was protracted; but it cannot be said that much new light was thrown upon the subject, every phase of which had been fully discussed last session, and in the interim in the press and on the platform. We believe the very the controlled of the platform. much new light was thrown upon the subject, every phase of which had been fully discussed last session, and in the interim in the press and on the platform. We believe the verdict of the House of Commons on this question will be the verdict of the ecountry; for the great majority of the electors of the Dominion will hesitate about voting for a policy which if in operation would involve, besides others, the following consequences: (1) A very large falling off in the revenue of the country; (2) a resort to direct taxation to make up for lost revenue; (3) the annihilation of many Canadian industries; (4) the deprivation of thousands of Canadian median of chanals and workingmen of the means of earning a livelihood in consequence of the country being swarmed with surplus American products; (5) the breaking up of the relations existing between Canada and the mother country, for no sand an an imagines that those relations can be imported from the United Kingdom. Such a policy will not meet with the approval of the Canada poople, who will follow the example of the House of Commons of the Canada poople, who will follow the example of the House of Commons of the Canada poople, who will follow the example of the House of Commons of the Canada poople, who will follow the example of the House of Commons of the Canada poople, who will be follow the example of the House of Commons of the Canada poople, who will be commons by rejecting it when an opportu-
